Ritual Six

The following voodoo charm can bind a lover to you for as long as their natural life.

Take a little of your own hair and a little of your lovers hair and mix them together. Take a black cloth and tie the hair inside it. Go to a graveyard and bury the cloth whilst reciting the following:

"I am binding you (name of lover) to love me unto death,"

Then leave the graveyard without a backward glance.

Ritual Seven

The following voodoo rite can ensure a woman the love and desire of her partner. She simply wipes some of her menstrual blood onto a piece of white linen. Taking a few strands of thread containing residue from the white linen she then introduces it into her lovers food. performed on a regular basis she will secure her partners love and desire for as long as she may want.

Ritual Eight

This rite is a powerful sexual spell of lust and carnal desire.

If a woman (or a man) wants a man to burn with lust and passion for her she can do the following:

She takes a carrot or any fruit or vegetable for that matter and inscribes upon the side with a knife the name of her desired.

She then masturbates using the carrot as a sexual toy inserting it into her vagina, mouth and anus if she wishes. All the time she is visualising she is with her proposed lover having sex. As she climaxes she shouts out the name of her lover nine times.

She then introduces as much of the carrot as is possible or whatever fruit or vegetable she has used into the food of her desired.

Ritual Nine

If a man wants to keep a woman faithful and interested in only him all he has to do is take an article of her intimate clothing and starting during the phase of a new moon sleep with it under his pillow for a period of nine nights. This is a Creole charm that will work for both sexes.

The following rituals will if performed with enough desire and energy compel any man or woman to reciprocate your sexual advances. Some of the spells and charms etc can be used by either sex and upon the same sex if that is your wish. Most are African or Creole in origin and as you will appreciate when you study the content are of a strong sexual nature.

They are tried and tested and even though very simple in application are so powerful they can work within minutes.

How lucky you are to have in your possession this small monograph containing the only sex rituals you will ever need....

Ritual One

If a man desires for a woman to unleash upon him a torrent of passion and sexual energy the like of which he's never before experienced he may perform the following voodoo ritual.

He must masturbate to a frenzy of sexual climax thinking and visualising only of the woman he desires. A little of this "charged" seed is then stored safely until an opportunity arises for him to introduce it into something the woman will eat or drink. Perform this ritual as often as possible to maintain and increase the desire of your sexual partner.

Ritual Two

If romance is more to your liking, you may wish to employ the following Creole spell.

To win the heart of your beloved bathe yourself as usual and then perform the following magickal ritual.

Using clean water wash your left foot with your left hand and repeat seven times the following:

"As she drinks of this water she will love me so much that she will even love the earth upon which I stand"

Simply use the water in preparation of her food and drink and her love for you will begin.

Use this spell as often as you wish and watch her love for you grow.

Ritual Three

The following voodoo ritual can be used to increase or win the sexual passion or love of anyone you may desire. you can also use this ritual to compel a lover who has taken another to return simply make your wishes.

Take a hens egg and wash it in the water you have used to bathe your entire body. When the egg dries out write seven times the name of your desired man or woman on the egg shell. Whilst doing this speak out loud your wishes with as much energy and passion as you can produce. On completion of the ritual bury the charm in the garden or in the earth in a park nearby.

Ritual Four

If a woman wishes to have a passionate and sexy relationship with a man (or woman) she may employ the following creole charm.

During the phase of a new moon she either trims or shaves off some of her pubic hair.

Holding this hair in her left palm she then recites the following:

“With this hair I do ensnare the heart and desire of (subjects name) to love me, adore me and be loyal to me”.

The hair (shavings are easier) is then introduced into the food of your desired during the phase of the same new moon.

Ritual Five

For a woman to increase the desire of her husband or lover to make wild and energetic sex with her she may perform the following voodoo rite.

Take a piece of chicken or other fowl that she is preparing for his meal and keep it within her vagina for several hours and return it to the rest of the meat and cook it as usual and serve it to him as part of his meal.

This ritual performed on a regular basis will ensure the loyalty and fidelity of her partner.
