PREFACE

In preparing this Vandana book we used some material from the Vandana book compiled by Bhikkhu Bodhi and myself for use at the Washington Buddhist Vihara. Also, we acknowledge with thanks the use of The Pali Chanting with Translation, Vandana and Vat Pirith, Mirror of the Dhamma and Toward Peace.

This book would not have been printed so soon with this quality if not for the kind help of Bhikkhu Rahula, Bhikkhu Dang Pham Jotika, Bhikkhu Sona, Samaneri Sama, Hal Barron, Dr. N. K. G. Mendis and Margo Born. I express my sincere thanks and gratitude to them, and Susila Mallawarachchi for designing the cover and the press for printing this book in time.

PALI PRONUNCIATION

As Pali writing does not have its own alphabet, people have adopted their own alphabet to write Pali and pronounce phonetically — pronouncing as it is written. The Pali alphabet is made of forty-one letters. These are divided into eight vowels, thirty-two consonants, and one pure nasal sound called Niggahita. The letters are classified into the categories represented in the following diagram:

8 vowels:	a,ā,i,ī,u,ū,e,o
5 gutturals:	k,kh,g,gh,ṅ
5 palatals:	c,ch,j,jh,ñ
5 cerebrals:	t,th,d,dh,n
5 dentals:	ṭ,ṭh,ḍ,ḍh,ṇ
5 labials:	p,ph,b,bh,m
5 semi-vowels:	y,r,ḷ,l,v
1 sibilant:	s
1 spirant:	h
1 pure nasal:	ṃ

Among the five classes of mutes, the gutturals are formed in the throat, the palatals with the tongue pressed against the front palate, the cerebrals with the tip of the tongue in contact with the back of the palate, the dentals with the tip of the tongue against the teeth, and the labials with the lips. Among the semi-vowels, l is cerebral and l is dental. Since a distinctive cerebral sound is not found in English, the pronunciation of the dental only is given below for those letters coming in both forms. The cerebral counterparts should be spoken with a similar sound, but uttered with the tongue placed against the palate rather than the teeth. Again among the mutes, k, g, c, j, t, d, ʈ, ɖ, p, and b are unaspirates; kh, gh, ch, jh, th, dh, ʈh, ɖh, ph, and bh are aspirates; and ñ, ñ̃, ŋ, n, and m are nasals. The aspirates are single letters. They are pronounced like their unaspirated counterparts except that a slightly forceful outbreath is added to them. Hence the pronunciation of the unaspirates only is given here.

The Vowels are pronounced as follows:

a	is like	u in hut
ā	is like	a in father
i	is like	i in pin
ī	is like	ee in beet
u	is like	u in pull
ū	is like	oo in pool
e	is like	a in bake
o	is like	o in hole

The Consonants:

k	is like	k in king
g	is like	g in gone
n	is like	ng in sing
c	is like	ch in church
j	is like	j in joy

ñ	is like	ny in canyon
ṭ	is like	t in top
t	is like	t in thigh
d	is like	th in the
n	is like	n in name
ḍ	is like	d in dog
ṇ	is like	n in not
p	is like	p in pot
b	is like	b in bat
m	is like	m in mother
y	is like	y in yes
r	is like	r in run
l	is like	l in long
v	is like	v in vine
s	is like	s in sun
h	is like	h in hot

INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this book is manifold. One is to teach the users of this Vandana book how to pronounce Pali words correctly. The most effective way of doing so is to repeat the same thing over and over again. The Vandana book is made for daily recital at the Bhavana Center in West Virginia. By the daily repetition of these Pali verses and Suttas people can learn the Pali pronunciation without much effort.

Secondly we intend to teach people the Pali language without much toil. Teaching Pali in the traditional method, such as using grammar books, translations, or exercises does not seem to work well with many people who have not been educated in the ancient methods of learning dead languages like Pali. Therefore we made one half of our chanting in English, so people learn the meaning of what they chant in Pali and later on they can compare the English with the Pali.

Thirdly, we intend to teach people Dhamma through devotional service. As Pali language is used primarily to teach the Dhamma and as we spend more than an hour each day — morning and evening in chanting, we thought of making use of this opportunity to teach people the Dhamma without a great effort. In order to fulfill all these purposes we decided to include certain Suttas which are not normally used in Viharas for vandana service.

The section that the monks and nuns at the Bhavana Center recite daily consists of Atita Paccavekkhana (recollection of the purpose of the requisites after using them) and Dasadhamma Sutta ( a sutta containing ten Dhammas for monks and nuns to reflect upon daily). The rest of the vandana book for everybody to recite daily consists of three of the most popular suttas: Mangala Sutta, Ratana Sutta and Karaniyametta Sutta. Other Suttas which are not used in traditional vandana books are: Anattalakkhana Sutta, Adittapariyaya Sutta, Khandha Paritta, Mettanisamsa Sutta and Atthamahapurisavitakka.

We added to the Paritta chanting section the summary of the Seven Factors of Enlightenment (Sattabojjhanga) in verses. Reminding oneself of the factors of enlightenment is so important that, according to the Mahacundatthera Bojjhanga, even the Buddha recovered from his illness by listening to that which he had expounded to his own followers.

In order to increase the devotee's confidence in the Triple Gem, we decided to add another most important and profound part of the Buddha's teaching i.e. The formula of Dependent Origination (Paticcasamuppada). It is said that the six-color aura of the Buddha radiated from his head when he was reflecting on these factors of Dependent Origination in the fourth week of his enlightenment. This law of causation explains the whole nature of the interdependency of our existence here in this life and in the next as well.

The Maha Jayamangala Gathas are a set of Pali verses of protection probably composed in Sri Lanka. Two of the sections most often chanted on any special occasion are the Karaniyametta Sutta and the Maha Jayamangala Gathas. Therefore we include them too in this vandana book for our monks, nuns and lay devotees to recite and memorize.

Devotional service and Meditation are not very much different from each other. What we learn in devotional service culminates in the practice of meditation. For instance, we recite in the Anattalakkhana Sutta the three characteristics — impermanence, unsatisfactoriness and selflessness — of all conditional things. One realizes the three characteristics when one attains the goal of meditation. What we learn in Adittapariyaya Sutta is also what we learn from our own meditational experience. What we recite when making such offerings as flowers and incense to the Buddha is the recollection of impermanence which is one of the three characteristics of all conditional things. Moreover, one of the benefits of the meditation practice is to deepen our devotion to the Buddha, Dhamma and Sangha through our understanding of Dhamma. And it is this devotion that we express in words when we spend time in vandana practice.

The Theravada Buddhist devotional service has been developed independently by different temples according to their own needs and feelings. Even today, each Buddhist Temple in the same country has its own vandana service. Therefore, there has not been one standard devotional service system accepted by every Theravada Buddhist temple in the world.

HOW TO SET UP A SHRINE

Those who wish to develop a vandana routine for themselves should set off a separate place in their residence to be used exclusively for devotional practice and meditation. If space permits, a small extra room could be turned into a shrine room. If such a room is not available one might use a spacious closet or separate off a small section of a room by hanging a curtain. If space in one's house is very small, then a reasonably large table could be set up or at least a corner table could be turned into an altar or a shelf high on a wall could be used to keep a Buddha image and treated as the focus of one's vandana.

Setting off a separate place for devotional service and meditation in one's own home creates a very peaceful and serene psychological atmosphere. As our association with the place increases, it becomes possible merely by entering it to create a calming and soothing feeling in the mind. The repeated practice of this can serve us as a constant reminder of the ultimate value of our lives — that beyond all our immediate aims and activities our final goal is to attain enlightenment and liberation from suffering. When one treats one's shrine area as a sanctuary where the Triple Gem — the Buddha, the Dhamma and the Sangha — reside, one can constantly be reminded of one's reverence towards them. By reciting daily devotions and chanting suttas one leaves wholesome and positive vibrations in one's shrine room. These vibrations also aid most positively one's practice of meditation.

The area set off for devotional practice and meditation should be a quiet, pleasant and private place. If the shrine is set up in a sleeping area it should stand in the direction of the head of the bed, not at its foot. As the head is the topmost part of the body, the head should be directed towards the shrine which has the objects of veneration. Entering the shrine, one should remove one's shoes. In winter one does not have to remove one's socks. This is a customary sign of respect. It promotes cleanliness in the shrine area. It also makes it easier to assume the correct postures for the devotional practice and the practice of meditation.

OBJECTS OF VENERATION ON THE ALTAR

The central figure on the altar is the Buddha image in sitting posture. If one cannot find a suitable Buddha image, one may use a Buddha picture. One should remember that the Buddha image is not alive, but is the most outstanding representation of the embodiment of perfected physical attributes of the Buddha, intended to render visible the distinguished qualities of the Master — his serenity, composure, peacefulness, and purity. The attention directed towards these attributes of the Buddha during the devotional practice helps generate confidence and devotion towards the Buddha, makes the mind calm, and arouses inspiration to follow the path laid down by the Buddha.

Training the mind to cultivate reverence and dedication towards the Buddha is an essential component of the practice of the Dhamma. Therefore, the Buddha image or the picture should be set up on a special table or stand reserved for it. The Buddha image should be placed a little higher than other articles of spiritual significance, such as images of great disciples, eminent teachers, Bodhi leaves, scriptural texts, Dhamma wheels, miniature stupas. And all of them must be placed a little higher than the head so that one is able to look up towards them at a gentle angle when kneeling down. The altar table should be covered with a clean cloth of colors and designs conducive to contemplative states of mind. A soft mat or rug can be laid out in front of the Buddha image, to be used for kneeling during devotional practice and meditation.

No other image should be placed above the Buddha image. One should not sit with the feet pointing to the image, remain sitting or standing with the back to it, or engage in worldly conversation in the shrine room. Buddha images should not be used as items of living room decoration.

Before the actual devotional practice begins one should place offerings on a small table placed in front of the main altar. If only one table is available for use, the Buddha image can be placed on a slightly elevated platform and the offerings, such as lights, incense, and flowers, can be set in front of the image. The lights may be either candles, oil lamps, or decorative electric lights. The flowers may be either artificial or natural but whenever possible fresh flowers should be offered. Other articles of offering may be water, fruits, sweets, and prepared food. However, food and fruits should be offered before noon. To hold lights, flowers, and incense, candle-holders, vases and an urn filled with sand should be used.

One should understand that the Buddha image does not use any of these items of offering. We use them to express our veneration of the Buddha and our self-abnegation. In order to show our gratitude and appreciation to the supremely enlightened Buddha we offer food that nourishes our bodies, flowers and incense that please our eyes and nose. They are a symbolic way of offering all that we cherish in the material world to the supreme emblem of spiritual perfection, the Fully Enlightened One. After placing these offerings on the table the verses of offering should be recited following the reverential salutation to the Buddha, the Dhamma and the Sangha.

THE WAY OF SALUTATION

The most appropriate devotional practice begins with a triple prostration before the Buddha image. The triple prostration ensures the understanding and conviction of one's sincerity. It is a formal act of deep commitment to any honest and mindful deed. While prostrating one should collect one's attention and bring it to bear upon the reaffirmation of one's faith in the Buddha, the Dhamma and the Sangha.

This act of prostration is called “five-point prostration” (pancanga vandana), because in this position both hands are placed together in front of the body with the thumbs and fingertips touching and slightly cupped at the palms. This is simply a form of respectful salutation used frequently as a greeting for monks or nuns and also for saluting parents and other elders. Holding hands in this position one should kneel down — the lower part of the legs under the thighs and the feet under the buttocks. Although there is no standard way of placing the hands down on the floor, we recommend that the palms be faced up or down and the hands separated, leaving enough room for the forehead to touch the ground. The forearms up to the elbows should be on the ground with the elbows touching the knees. Thus the body is resting on the ground at five points: the forehead, forearms, and lower legs. Following this the upper part of the body is raised and the hands rejoined in “anjali.” The full prostration should be done three times altogether.

The three prostrations are done in order to express reverence to the Triple Gem and to inspire a posture of devotion, modesty, and openness. It also brings the additional benefit of curbing pride and arrogance. Those who are humble open themselves to the guidance of others and thus become capable of learning and growing. Reverence and humility are considered to be blessings in Buddhism because with these two qualities one can lower one’s head which is the topmost part of one’s body holding the brain and the main sense organs. By bowing down before the image of the supremely enlightened Buddha one prepares oneself to accept his teaching and guidance leading up to the attainment of enlightenment.

FORMAL AND INFORMAL VANDANĀ

When you do vandana by yourself in your home or at a Vihara you may kneel down comfortably and start your vandana directly with the salutation to the Buddha, then proceed to the formulas for the refuges and precepts.

When you do formal vandana with a monk or nun present, you make a formal request to a monk or nun to administer the refuges and precepts. This procedure preserves the religious relationship between the laity and clergy in the heritage of Theravada Buddhist practice.

After you have made making the formal request the monk or nun begins the administration of the refuges with the following formula of salutation to the Buddha. “Namo tassa bhagavato arahato sammāsambuddhassa.” (I pay homage to the Blessed One, the Worthy One, the Fully Enlightened One.) The lay person repeats it three times after the monk or

nun. The word for word meaning of the formula is this: “Namo” = “I pay homage”; “tassa” = “to him”; “Bhagavato” = “to the Exalted One”; “Arahato” = “to The Worthy One”; “Samma Sambuddhassa” = “to The Fully Enlightened One.”

After the salutation repeat another formula three times to take Refuge in the Buddha, the Dhamma and the Sangha. These three are called the Three Refuges in the Buddhist religious tradition. They also are called the Triple Gem. By taking refuge in the Triple Gem one is initiated into the practice of the Buddha’s teaching. From that point on one can be considered to be a Buddhist. However, the real Buddhist is the one who lives a life following all the principles of the Buddha’s teaching with full understanding.

Therefore the recitation of the formula of taking the Refuge should be done with full understanding of the meaning of the Three Refuges. The first of the three Refuges is the Buddha who is the discoverer and expounder of the path to liberation. He is the supremely enlightened being who elevated human dignity to the highest spiritual attainment, purifying the mind through the practice of the path laid down by all enlightened beings including himself. The Dhamma is the Buddha's teaching of the truth. The Sangha is the community of enlightened disciples of the Buddha. They are four pairs and eight individuals. The four pairs are those who have attained the Stream-entry Path and Fruit, those who have attained the Once-Returners' Path and Fruit, those who have attained the Never Returners' Path and Fruit and those who have attained the Arahants' Path and Fruits. When these pairs are separated there are Eight Individuals. The definition and qualification of the Buddha, the Dhamma and the Sangha are given in the Vandana section of this book.

Taking refuge is purely a mental process of accepting the Triple Gem as one's own supreme guiding principles. In order to achieve the goal of these principles one has to follow their meanings. This means translating the Buddha's teachings into action and living by the Dhamma (Dhammam kayena passati).

The way of following the Triple Gem is, in fact, outlined in the next section following the Triple Gem, i.e. the precepts which are divided into several categories. In this Vandana book we have included only the five precepts and the eight precepts which lay devotees are expected to observe. These are training rules that each person takes upon oneself voluntarily to uphold without any sense of intimidation or supplication to anybody outside oneself. Although putting them into action is a real challenge to one's integrity, the serious devotee makes every humanly possible effort to maintain them. If one is fully committed to the Triple Gem one may not find it impossible to put these principles into one's daily practice.

By observing these precepts you practice loving-kindness in action. When you abstain from killing you respect all living beings. When you abstain from not taking what is not given, you practice appreciative joy — you rejoice in others' happiness of having what they have. By abstaining from sexual misconduct you respect and honor the dignity of other persons. By abstaining from telling lies, you not only honor and respect truthfulness but you also maintain your own dignity and self-respect. By abstaining from taking intoxicating drinks and drugs you remain sober with a steady state of mind which can easily be trained to cultivate mindfulness leading up to the attainment of enlightenment.

If you take the three Refuges and the Five Precepts or Eight Precepts from a monk/nun the monk or nun will admonish you to practice them diligently. Then he/she will summarize in a verse the benefits of putting these principles into practice.

This is followed by the recitation of the twenty-four attributes of the Buddha, the Dhamma and the Sangha each having nine, six and nine attributes respectively. These formulas go back to the time of the Buddha himself. He used them on many occasion to describe the Triple Gem. Reciting these formulas with full understanding of their meaning and with a calm and composed state of mind instills such a deep sense of devotion in the mind of the devotee that they have been included among the subjects of meditation as recollections (anussati). In the verses preceded by the Dhamma vandana you will read “Dhamman ca tividham varam” (excellent threefold Dhamma). The Threefold Dhamma is the Dhamma of scriptural study (paryatti dhamma), the Dhamma of practice (patipatti dhamma) and the Dhamma of realization (pativedha dhamma). Also, you will read “Sanghan ca tividhuttamam” (Noble Threefold Sangha). The threefold Sangha is the community of arahants, the community of learners, and the order of fully ordained monks and nuns.

SHARING OR DEDICATION OF MERITS

“Merits” means skills. When you have skills you can share them with others. In the ordinary sense of the word, “merits” means that which you can sell to or buy from others. You are promoted in your job or academic level according to your merits. Similarly, in the spiritual field, the things that you do to promote your peace and happiness are called meritorious acts. It is these acts that elevate your spiritual level and lead to the attainment of enlightenment. These spiritual merits are committed with a pure state of mind which follows you as your own shadow which never leaves you. When you do vandana you do it with a pure state of mind. You admire and appreciate the qualities of the Triple Gem and wish to emulate and adopt them in your own life. When you make such conscious effort to espouse them your mind creates room for them and you endeavour to live a life similar to those noble ones who are the embodiments of peace and happiness.

Having cultivated these noble qualities you wish to share them with your dear ones, known ones and even unknown ones. Sharing what you highly appreciate and admire with others is a very generous and compassionate act. Therefore in Buddhist tradition sharing merits with others is also a meritorious deed which is called the dedication of merit (anumodana). Rejoicing in other's merits also is considered to be meritorious. This means you support and promote the wholesome thoughts, words and deeds of yourself as well as those of others. As you do this with pure intention, this kind of wholesome deed is called wholesome kamma. What you really do in your vandana is make an effort to cultivate the thought of practicing the Noble Eightfold Path. By accepting the Triple Gem as your only guides and determining to practice the precepts you lay the foundation of morality. By contemplating the qualities of the Triple Gem, reflecting on the nature of all conditioned things and reciting the verse on Right Concentration, you develop the spiritual atmosphere to take steps in the practice of meditation. All these are meritorious thoughts.

In memory of deceased relatives people perform numerous merit-sharing ceremonies in order to purify their own minds. They may give something to religious places or to the poor, observe the precepts or teach the Dhamma. Some people may even become ordained for a short period of time and stay in monasteries. Having done one or more of these things relatives or friends perform a ceremony in seven days, three months, or one year in memory of the deceased.

Before the ceremony starts the lay people fill a pot with clean water and keep it before them during the chanting. They also have two bowls, a smaller bowl inside a larger one. Towards the end of the ceremony relatives or friends of the deceased pour water from a pitcher or tea-pot into an empty bowl placed in a larger bowl saying "May my/our departed relatives share these merits." (idam no natinam hotu sukhita hontu natayo.) They let the water overflow into the smaller bowl. Symbolically overflowing water signifies the generosity of living relatives or friends. Water represents life, for there is life where water is. The water in this ceremony also represents the merits without which none can be peaceful and happy just as without water none is able to survive. Just as water gives beings life, meritorious deeds give beings vitality to live. The empty cup represents the deceased relative or friend who is empty of happiness. Just as the cup fills up with water, so the minds of the deceased will be filled with joy and happiness after sharing the merits. Of course, not all the deceased will be in a position to share our merits. Only those who are born in an unfortunate state of existence called “spirits who subsist on the offerings of others” (Paradattupajivi peta) can share our merits. During the merit-sharing ceremony verses are recited by monks or nuns at the end of the pouring of the water into the empty cup.

This merit-sharing ceremony, according to the Tirokuddha Sutta, was introduced by the Buddha himself in order to help King Bimbisara of Magadha in sharing merits with his deceased relatives who had been reborn among the spirits who subsist on the offerings of others.

FORGIVENESS

At the end of vandana we ask the Buddha, the Dhamma and the Sangha to forgive us if we have done some wrong to them. Although the Buddha is not physically present in front of us, we have the image of the Buddha to represent and remind us of Him. The effect of paying respect to the name of the Buddha is not diminished in our minds whether the Buddha is present in front of us or not. Mere confidence in Him is what is necessary and sufficient for us to pay homage. The Dhamma taught by Him represents the Buddha. One who sees the Dhamma with wisdom sees the Buddha's wisdom, compassion and enlightenment in it. When we pay homage to the Buddha we feel that we are in front of the living Buddha. This feeling arouses our deep devotion and dedication to Him. Therefore when we request the Buddha to pardon us for the faults we have committed unmindfully, we humble ourselves and determine not to commit them again. Admitting one's faults becomes a sincere and honest confession.

UPOSATHA

We added the Uposatha section for lay people who live at the Bhavana Center to repeat every morning and practice while they live in this Center. The people who intend to become ordained at this Center are also expected to observe the Eight Precepts daily. People not living in the Meditation Center may use this section to intensify their effort in Dhamma practice on Uposatha Day which is determined by the lunar calendar, falling on the full-moon day, the new-moon day, and the two quarter-moon days of each lunar month. The full-moon day is considered to be the most important of all of them. On the Uposatha day the Bhikkhus and Bhikkhunis living in a community of four or more, gather to recite the rules of the monastic order (Patimokkha). In Buddhist countries lay Buddhists generally go to the Viharas to pass the day and night, often observing the three refuges and eight precepts which you find in this vandana book. They spend their time reading Dhamma books, listening to Dhamma sermons, meditating and discussing the Dhamma. Sometimes a lay Upasaka (man observing the precepts) or Upasika (woman observing the precepts) who is well versed in the Dhamma will preach Dhamma to the rest of the people if a monk or nun is not available.

On close scrutiny you will notice that all the precepts are meant to discipline your mind and focus your attention on the practice of the Dhamma. They are not formulated for parroting, but for putting into action. When the precepts are put into action they bring a very good discipline necessary for the practice of meditation, calming the mind, deepening the understanding of Dhamma and liberating our minds from numerous psychic irritants. The lay follower undertaking this code of discipline follows a monastic life similar to that of a novice monk or nun who observes these eight precepts and two additional ones.

FOUR PROTECTIONS

Regarding The Four Protective Meditations: recollecting the Buddha's attributes at the time you pay homage to him is absolutely necessary in order to reinforce your confidence in him. The Metta Sutta, the Mittanisamsa Sutta, the Khandha Paritta, and "Sharing Loving-Kindness" are verses which we selected so that you may cultivate benevolent thoughts during the vandana practice.

You can choose one to recite each time you have vandana, or if you have time, you may recite them all. The third protection is "Unattractiveness of the Body." This section has been introduced to vandana by ancient Buddhists in order to reduce our attachment to the body by reminding us again and again of the true nature of the body. This knowledge reduces our pride and thought of permanence of the body. The last section of this protection is the recollection of death. As most people do not want to know anything about death, there is no opportunity for them to know the true nature of life. This recollection brings us face to face with the reality of life. It helps weaken the attachment to life, treasure, and wealth; it produces a sense of renunciation and compassion; and, when the time for our own parting arrives, it enables us to die in calm and self-possession. It also is used in some countries for recitation during the funeral ceremony held for a deceased relative or friend and for commemorating a death anniversary.

For the convenience of the users of this book we divided the vandana book into two sections. We suggest that all devotees recite the first section daily and add one or two parts from the second section. It is advisable to classify, according to the user's convenience, the entire second section into seven parts and use one of them each day in addition to the first section, so in a week the entire book can be used. Then repeat this procedure each week.

HOMAGE TO THE BUDDHA

I PAY HOMAGE TO THE BLESSED ONE, THE WORTHY ONE,
THE FULLY ENLIGHTENED ONE. (Three times)

Such, indeed, is the Exalted One: worthy, perfectly enlightened, endowed with knowledge and conduct, well-gone, knower of the worlds, supreme trainer of persons to be tamed, teacher of gods and humans, enlightened and exalted.

To the Buddhas of the past,
To the Buddhas of the future,
To the Buddhas of the present
I offer my reverence always.

For me there is no other refuge,
The Buddha is my matchless refuge.
By these words of truth
May joyous victory be mine.

With my forehead I pay reverence
To the dust at His feet;
If I have done wrong to the Buddha
May the Buddha please forgive me.

HOMAGE TO THE DHAMMA

Well expounded is the Dhamma by the Exalted One,
directly visible, immediately effective, calling one to come and see, leading onwards, to be personally realized by the wise.

To the Dhammas of the past,
To the Dhammas of the future,
To the Dhammas of the present,
I offer my reverence always.

For me there is no other refuge,
The Dhamma is my matchless refuge.
By these words of truth
May joyous victory be mine.

With my forehead I pay reverence
To the matchless threefold Dhamma;
If I have done wrong to the Dhamma
May the Dhamma please forgive me.

HOMAGE TO THE SANGHA

The Order of the Exalted One's disciples is practicing well; the Order of the Exalted One's disciples is of upright conduct; the Order of the Exalted One's disciples has entered the right path; the Order of the Exalted One's disciples is practicing correctly, that is, the Four Pairs of Persons, the Eight Kinds of individuals, this Order of the Exalted One's disciples — worthy of offerings and hospitality, worthy of gifts and salutation, supreme field of merit for the world.

To the Sanghas of the past,
To the Sanghas of the future,
To the Sanghas of the present
I offer my reverence always.

For me there is no other refuge,
The Sangha is my matchless refuge.
By these words of truth
May joyous victory be mine.

With my forehead I pay reverence
To the matchless threefold Sanghas;
If I have done wrong to the Sanghas
May the Sangha please forgive me.

They go to many a refuge,
Those who have been struck by fear,
They go to mountains and forests,
To parks and trees and shrines.

But this is not a secure refuge,
This is not the refuge supreme,
Not by relying on such a refuge
Can one be freed from all suffering.

But one who has gone for refuge
To the Buddha, Dhamma, and Sangha,
Sees with perfect wisdom
The Four Noble Truths.

Suffering, the arising of suffering,
The transcending of suffering,
And the Noble Eightfold path
That leads to suffering's final end.

This is the refuge that is secure,
This is the refuge that is supreme,
By relying on such a refuge as this
One is released from all suffering.

OFFERING

I pay reverence to every shrine
that may stand in any place,
the bodily relics, the Bodhi Tree,
and all images of the Buddha.

I have gained a vast mass of merit
honoring the most honorable Triple Gem;
by the spiritual power of that merit
may my obstacles be destroyed.

With candle lights dispelling dark
I venerate the perfect Buddha,
the light of the triple world,
who dispels the darkness of delusion.

With this incense sweetly scented,
made from fragrant substances,
I venerate the One worthy of reverence,
the supreme recipient of offerings.

This cluster of flowers,
beautiful, fragrant, and excellent,
I offer at the holy lotus feet
of the noble lord of sages.

With these flowers I venerate the Buddha,
by this merit may I gain liberation.
As these flowers fade and wither
so will my body be destroyed.

By this practice of Dhamma, in accord with the Dhamma, I venerate the Buddha.

By this practice of Dhamma, in accord with the Dhamma, I venerate the Dhamma.

By this practice of Dhamma, in accord with the Dhamma, I venerate the Sangha.

THE NOBLE EIGHTFOLD PATH

This is the Middle Path which the Perfect One discovered and expounded, which gives rise to vision and knowledge, which leads to peace, wisdom, enlightenment, and nibbana — the Noble Eightfold Path:

1. Right Understanding: of suffering, of its origin, of its cessation, of the way leading to the cessation of suffering.
2. Right Intention: of renunciation, free from craving; of good will, free from aversion; of compassion, free from cruelty.
3. Right Speech: abstaining from false speech, abstaining from malicious speech, abstaining from harsh speech, abstaining from useless speech.
4. Right Action: abstaining from taking life, abstaining from stealing, abstaining from sexual misconduct.

5. Sammā ājīvo: micchā ājīvam pahāya sammā ājīvena jīvitam kappeti.

6. Sammā vāyāmo: samvarappadhānaṃ: anuppannānaṃ pāpakānaṃ akusalānaṃ dhammānaṃ anuppādāya chandaṃ janeti, vāyamati, viriyaṃ ārabhati, cittaṃ pagganhāti, padahati.

pahānappadhānaṃ: uppannānaṃ pāpakānaṃ akusalānaṃ dhammānaṃ pahānāya chandaṃ janeti, vāyamati, viriyaṃ ārabhati, cittaṃ pagganhāti, padahati.

bhāvanappadhānaṃ: anuppannānaṃ kusalānaṃ dhammānaṃ uppādāya chandaṃ janeti, vāyamati, viriyarh ārabhati, cittaṃ pagganhāti, padahati.

5. Right Livelihood: giving up wrong livelihood, one earns one's living by a right form of livelihood.

6. Right effort: to prevent unarisen unwholesome evil states of mind from arising by making effort, stirring up energy and exerting mind.

To abandon unwholesome evil states of mind that have already arisen by making effort, stirring up energy and exerting mind;

To develop wholesome mental states that have not yet arisen by making effort, stirring up energy and exerting mind.

To maintain and perfect wholesome mental states already arisen and not to allow them to disappear, but to bring them to growth, to maturity and to the full perfection of development by making effort, stirring up energy and exerting mind.

7. Sammā sati: kāyānupassanā, vedanānupassanā, cittānupassanā, dhammānupassanā.

8. Sammā samādhi: vivicceva kāmehi vivicca akusalehi dhammehi savitakkaṃ savicaraṃ vivekajaṃ pītisukhaṃ paṭhamajjhānaṃ upasampajja viharati.

7. Right mindfulness: mindful contemplation of the body, mindful contemplation of feelings, mindful contemplation of the mind, mindful contemplation of mental objects.

8. Right Concentration: Quite secluded from sense pleasures, secluded from unwholesome states of mind one enters and dwells in the first jhana, which is accompanied by applied thought and sustained thought with rapture and happiness born of seclusion.

With the subsiding of applied thought and sustained thought one enters and dwells in the second jhana, which has internal confidence and unification of mind, is without applied and sustained thought, is filled with rapture and happiness born of concentration.

With the fading away of rapture, one dwells in equanimity, mindful and discerning; and one experiences in one's own person that happiness of which the noble ones say: 'Happily lives one who is equanimous and mindful' — thus one enters and dwells in the third jhana.

DEPENDENT ORIGINATION

ARISING OF THE WHEEL OF EXISTENCE

Dependent on Ignorance arise Volitional Formations. Dependent on Volitional Formations arise Rebirth Consciousness. Dependent on Rebirth Consciousness arise Mind and Matter. Dependent on Mind and Matter arise the Sixfold Base. Dependent on the Sixfold Base arise Contact. Dependent on Contact arise Feeling. Dependent on Feeling arise Craving. Dependent on Craving arise Clinging. Dependent on Clinging arise Becoming. Dependent on Becoming arise Birth. Dependent on Birth arise Ageing and Death and sorrow, lamentation, pain, grief, and despair. Thus there is the arising of this whole mass of suffering.

Five things have been well taught by the Blessed One who knows and sees, the Purified One, Perfectly Enlightened by himself, that is, the subjects for daily recollection by women and men, monks and householders. What are the five?

I am of the nature to die, I have not gone beyond death.

All that is mine, dear and delightful, will change and vanish.

I am the owner of my kamma, heir to my kamma, born of my kamma, related to my kamma, abide supported by my kamma. Whatever kamma I shall do, whether good or evil, of that I shall be the heir.

THE NATURE OF DHAMMA

Thus have I heard: At one time the Exalted One was staying at Savatthi in Prince Jeta's Grove, in the Park of Anathapindika. Then the Exalted One spoke thus to the Bhikkhus: 'O Bhikkhus!' Those bhikkhus replied to the Exalted One, 'Lord'. The Exalted One then said: Bhikkhus, whether Tathagatas appear or do not appear, there is this established condition of Dhamma, this fixed Law of Dhamma. All that is conditioned is impermanent. To this a Tathagata fully awakens and fully understands. So awakened and understanding, He announces, points out, declares, deseti paññapeti paṭṭhapeti vivarati vibhajati

uttānikaroti sabbe saṅkhārā aniccā'ti.

uppādā vā bhikkhave tathāgatānaṃ anuppādāvā
tathāgatānaṃ ṭhitā vā sā dhātudhammaṭṭhitatā
dhammaniyāmatā: sabbe saṅkhārā dukkhā'ti taṃ
tathāgato abhisambujjhati abhisameti
abhisambujjhitvā abhisametvā ācikkhati deseti
paññapeti paṭṭhapeti vivarati vibhajati uttānikaroti
sabbe saṅkhārā dukkhā'ti.

uppādā vā bhikkhave tathāgatānaṃ anuppādāvā
tathāgatānaṃ ṭhitā vā sā dhātudhammaṭṭhitatā
dhammaniyāmatā: sabbe dhammā anattā'ti taṃ
tathāgato abhisambujjhati abhisameti
abhisambujjhitvā abhisametvā acikkhati deseti
paññapeti paṭṭhapeti vivarati vibhajati uttānikaroti
sabbe dhammā anattā'ti.

Idamavoca bhagavā attamanā te bhikkhū bhagavato
bhāsitaṃ abhinandun'ti.

establishes, expounds, explains and clarifies it: all that is conditioned is impermanent.

Bhikkhus, whether Tathagatas appear or do not appear, there is this established condition of Dhamma, this fixed Law of Dhamma. All that is conditioned is unsatisfactory. To this a Tathagata fully awakens and fully understands. So awakened and understanding, He announces, points out, declares, establishes, expounds, explains and clarifies it: all that is conditioned is unsatisfactory.

Bhikkhus, whether Tathagatas appear or do not appear, there is this established condition of Dhamma, this fixed Law of Dhamma. All Dhammas are without self. To this a Tathagata fully awakens and fully understands. So awakened and understanding, He announces, points out, declares, establishes, expounds, explains and clarifies it: all Dhammas are without self.

Thus spoke the Exalted One. Delighted, those bhikkhus rejoiced in what the Exalted One had said.

CLOSING RECOLLECTION

All actions are led by the mind;
mind is their master, mind is their maker.
Act or speak with a defiled state of mind,
and suffering will follow
as the cart-wheel follows the foot of the ox.

All actions are led by the mind;
mind is their master, mind is their maker.
Act or speak with a pure state of mind,
and happiness will follow
as your shadow that remains behind without departing.

ASKING FOR PARDON

If, due to negligence, I have done some wrong
by body, speech, or mind,
pardon me that offence, Bhante,
Perfect One of vast wisdom.

If, due to negligence, I have done some wrong
by body, speech, or mind,
pardon me that offence, O Dhamma,
visible and immediately effective.

If, due to negligence, I have done some wrong
by body, speech, or mind,
pardon me that offence, O Sangha,
practicing well and supreme.

By means of this meritorious deed
may I never join with the foolish.
May I join always with the wise
until the time I attain nibbana.

May the suffering be free from suffering,
may the fear-struck be free from fear,
may the grieving be free from grief.
So too may all beings be.

From the highest realm of existence to the lowest,
may all beings arisen in these realms
with form and without form,
with perception and without perception
be released from all suffering
and attain to perfect peace.
Excellent! Excellent! Excellent!

GREAT DISCOURSE ON BLESSINGS

Thus have I heard. One time the Exalted One was living near Savatthi, in Jeta's Grove, the monastery of Anathapindika. Then, in the middle of the night, a certain deity of astounding beauty, lighting up the entire Jeta's Grove, approached the Exalted One. Drawing near, she paid homage to the Exalted One and stood to one side. Standing thus the deity addressed the Exalted One in verse:

“Many deities and humans
have pondered on blessings,
desiring their well-being.
Tell me the blessings supreme.”

(Buddha's reply)

To associate not with the foolish,
to be with the wise,
to honor the worthy ones
this is a blessing supreme.

To reside in a suitable location,
to have good past deeds done,
to set oneself in the right direction
this is a blessing supreme.

To be well spoken, highly trained,
well educated, skilled in handicraft,
and highly disciplined,
this is a blessing supreme.

To be well caring of mother, of father,
to look after wife and children,
to engage in a harmless occupation,
this is a blessing supreme.

Outstanding behavior, blameless action
open hands to all relatives
and selfless giving,
this is a blessing supreme.

To cease and abstain from evil,
to avoid intoxicants,
to be diligent in virtuous practices,
this is a blessing supreme.

To be reverent and humble,
content and grateful,
to hear the Dhamma at the right time,
this is a blessing supreme.

To be patient and obedient,
to visit with spiritual people,
to discuss the Dhamma at the right time,
this is a blessing supreme.

To live austerely and purely,
to see the noble truths,
and to realize nibbana
this is the blessing supreme.

A mind unshaken when touched
by the worldly states,
sorrowless, stainless, and secure,
this is the blessing supreme.

Those who have fulfilled all these are everywhere invincible;
they find well-being everywhere,
theirs is the blessing supreme.

JEWELS DISCOURSE

Whatever, beings are here assembled,
whether terrestrial or celestial,
may all these beings be happy
and listen closely to my words.

Pay attention all you beings:
show kindness to the humans
who day and night bring you offerings.
Therefore guard them diligently.

Whatever treasure is here or beyond
or the precious jewel in the heavens,
none is equal to the Perfect One.
In the Buddha is this precious jewel.
By this truth may there be well-being.

The calm Sakyan sage found cessation,
dispassion, the deathless, the sublime;
there is nothing equal to that state.
In the Dhamma is this precious jewel.
By this truth may there be well-being.

That purity praised by the supreme Buddha
Called concentration with immediate result;
That concentration has no equal.
In the Dhamma is this precious jewel.
By this truth may there be well-being.

The eight persons praised by the good;
these four pairs are the gift-worthy disciples of the Well-gone One — gifts to them yield abundant fruit.
In the Sangha is this precious jewel.
By this truth may there be well-being.

With firm minds applying themselves
to Gotama's teaching, passionless
they reach the goal; plunged in the deathless,
they enjoy supreme peace.
In the Sangha is this precious jewel.
By this truth may there be well-being.

As a post firmly grounded in the earth
cannot be shaken by the four winds,
so is the superior person, I say,
who definitely sees the noble truths.
In the Sangha is this precious jewel.
By this truth may there be well-being.

Those who comprehend the noble truths
well taught by Him of deep wisdom,
even if they are very negligent,
do not take an eighth existence.
In the Sangha is this precious jewel.
By this truth may there be well-being.

For one who has attained to vision
three states are at once abandoned
views of self, doubt, and the clinging
to needless rules and rituals.
Freed from the four states of misery
that only cannot do six kinds of evil deeds.
In the Sangha is this precious jewel.
By this truth may there be well-being.

Though one might do some evil
deed by body, speech, or mind,
one cannot hide it; such is impossible
for one who has seen the path.
In the Sangha is this precious jewel.
By this truth may there be well-being.

Like woodland groves in blossom
in the first heat of summer
is the sublime Dhamma that He taught leading to nibbana, the highest good.
In the Buddha is this precious jewel.
By this truth may there be well-being.

He, the supreme sublime one,
knower, giver and bringer of the sublime,
taught the sublime Dhamma.
In the Buddha is this precious jewel.
By this truth may there be well-being.

Their past is extinct with no new arising
their minds not drawn to future birth;
their old seeds destroyed,
their desires no more growing,
the wise go out just like this lamp.
In the Sangha is this precious jewel.
By this truth may there be well-being.

Whatever beings are here assembled,
whether terrestrial or celestial,
we salute the perfect Buddha,

May I too triumph in such a way,
may I achieve joyous victory.

I revere the jewel of the Buddha,
the highest and most excellent balm,
beneficial to gods and human beings
By the power of the Buddha
may all misfortune be destroyed
may all suffering cease for me.

I revere the jewel of the Dhamma,

REFLECTION AFTER USING THE REQUISITES

That robe which has been used by me today without mindful reflection was only to ward off cold, to ward off heat, to ward off the touch of gadflies, mosquitoes, wind, sun and reptiles, only for the purpose of covering our nakedness causing shame.

Just as this robe is dependent upon and made up of mere elements, the individual that uses it also is not a permanent being, not a permanent life, void of self and made up of mere elements. All these robes are clean as they are, but when they are used by this body they become excessively unclean.

That almsfood which has been used by me today without mindful reflection was only to play, nor for intoxication, nor for fattening, nor for beautification, but only for the continuation and nourishment of this body, for keeping it unharmed, for helping the brahmacariya life, reflecting "I shall destroy old feelings (of hunger) and not produce new feelings (of overeating). Thus there will be freedom from physical discomfort and living at ease."

DISCOURSE ON TEN DHAMMAS

Thus have I heard, once the Exalted One was staying at Savatthi, in Jeta's Grove, the monastery of Anathapindika. There the Exalted One addressed the Bhikkhus: "Bhikkhus!" "Venerable Sir!" the bhikkhus replied. The Exalted One said:

"There are ten things, monks, which one who has gone forth (into homelessness) should often reflect upon. What ten?

1. "I am now changed into a different mode of life (from that of layman)," is to be reflected upon again and again.

2. "My life depends on others," is to be reflected upon again and again.
3. "I must now behave in a different manner," is to be upon reflected upon again and again.
4. "Would my conscience bother me regarding the state of my virtue?" is to be reflected upon again and again.
5. "Do my discerning fellow-brahmacarins having tested me, reproach me regarding the state of my virtue?" is to be reflected upon again and again.
6. "There will be a parting from all those who are dear and loving to me. Death brings this separation to me," is to be reflected upon again and again.
7. "Of Kamma I am constituted. Kamma is my inheritance; Kamma is the matrix; Kamma is my kinsman; Kamma is my refuge. Whatever kamma I perform, be it good or bad, to that I shall be heir," is to be reflected upon again and again.

8. Kathaṃ bhūtaṃ me rattim divā vītipatantī'ti

8. “How do I spend my nights and days?” is to be reflected upon again and again.

9. “Do I take delight in solitude?” is to be reflected upon again and again.

10. “Have I gained super human faculties? Have I gained that higher wisdom so that when I am questioned by fellow-brahmacarins when death is approaching I will have no occasion to be depressed and downcast?” is to be reflected upon again and again.

These, Bhikkhus, are ten things which one who has gone forth should often reflect upon.

Thus spoke the Exalted One, the monks rejoiced in the Exalted One’s words.

DISCOURSE ON THE CHARACTERISTICS OF SELFLESSNESS

Then the Buddha addressed the group of five Bhikkhus: “Bhikkhus, form is not-self. If form, bhikkhus, were self, then form would not be prone to affliction and it would be possible to say: ‘Let my form be thus, let my form not be thus.’ Because form, bhikkhus, is not-self, form is prone to affliction and it is not possible to say: ‘Let my form be thus and let my form not be thus.’”

“Bhikkhus, feeling is not-self. “Bhikkhus, perception is not-self. If perception, bhikkhus, were self, then perception would not be prone to affliction and it would be possible to say: ‘Let my perception be thus, let my perception not be thus.’ Because perception, bhikkhus, is not-self, perception is prone to affliction and it is not possible to say: ‘Let my perception be thus and let my perception not be thus.’”

“Bhikkhus, mental formations are not-self. If mental formations, bhikkhus, were self, then mental formations would not be prone to affliction and it would be possible to say: ‘Let my mental formations be thus, let my mental formations not be thus.’ Because mental formations, bhikkhus, are not-self, mental formations are prone to affliction and it is not possible to say: ‘Let my mental formations be thus and let my mental formations not be thus.’”

“Bhikkhus, consciousness is not-self. If consciousness, bhikkhus, were self, then consciousness would not be prone to affliction and it would be possible to say: ‘Let my consciousness be thus, let my consciousness not be thus.’ Because consciousness, bhikkhus, is not-self, consciousness is prone to affliction and it is not possible to say: ‘Let my consciousness be thus and let my consciousness not be thus.’”

Whatever consciousness whether past, future or present, internal or external, gross or subtle, low or high, far or near, all consciousness is not mine, I am not it nor is it my self. Thus it should be correctly seen with wisdom as it is.

Perceiving this, monks, the learned and noble disciple becomes disenchanted with the form, feeling, perception, mental formation and consciousness. And through this disenchantment, one becomes dispassionate, and by the absence of passion one becomes free, and when one is free one becomes aware that one is free; and one knows that rebirth is exhausted, that one has lived the holy life, that one has done what was to be done, and that one has nothing more to do.

Thus spoke the Exalted One. Delighted, those Bhikkhus rejoiced in what the Exalted One had said. While this exposition was being delivered, without attachment, the group of five monks became free from the defilements.

Then there were six arahants in the world.

THE FIRE SERMON

And there in Gaya, on Gaya Head, The Blessed One dwelt, together with the thousand monks. And there The Blessed One addressed the monks: All things, monks, are on fire. And what, monks, are all these things which are on Fire?

The eye, monks, is on fire; forms are on fire; eye-consciousness is on fire; impressions received by the eye are on fire; and whatever sensation, pleasant, unpleasant, or neutral, which originates in dependence on impressions received by the eye, that also is on fire. And with what are these on fire? With the fire of passion, say I, with the fire of hatred, with the fire of infatuation; with birth, old age, death, sorrow, lamentation, pain, grief, and despair are on fire.

The ear, monks, is on fire; sounds are on fire; ear-consciousness is on fire; impressions received by the ear are on fire; and whatever sensation, pleasant, unpleasant, or neutral which originates in dependence on impressions received by the ear, that also is on fire.

And with what are these on fire? With the fire of passion, say I, with the fire of hatred, with the fire of infatuation; with birth, old age, death, sorrow, lamentation, pain, grief, and despair are on fire.

The nose, monks, is on fire; smell is on fire; nose-consciousness is on fire; impressions received by the nose are on fire; and whatever sensation, pleasant, unpleasant, or neutral which originates in dependence on impressions received by the nose, that also is on fire. And with what are these on fire? With the fire of passion, say I, with the fire of hatred, with the fire of infatuation; with birth, old age, death, sorrow, lamentation, pain, grief, and despair are on fire.

The tongue, monks, is on fire; tastes are on fire; tongue-consciousness is on fire; impressions received by the tongue are on fire; and whatever sensation, pleasant, unpleasant, or neutral which originates in dependence on impressions received by the tongue, that also is on fire. And with what are these on fire? With the fire of passion, say I, with the fire of hatred, with the fire of infatuation; with birth, old age, death, sorrow, lamentation, misery, grief, and pain are on fire.

The body, monks, is on fire; touch is on fire; body-consciousness is on fire; impressions received by the body are on fire; and whatever sensation, pleasant, unpleasant, or neutral which originates in dependence on impressions received by the body, that also is on fire. And with what are these on fire? With the fire of passion, say I, with the fire of hatred, with the fire of infatuation; with birth, old age, death, sorrow, lamentation, pain, grief, and despair are on fire.

The mind, monks, is on fire; mental objects are on fire; mind-consciousness is on fire; impressions received by the mind are on fire; and whatever sensation, pleasant, unpleasant, or neutral which originates in dependence on impressions received by the mind, that also is on fire. And with what are these on fire? With the fire of passion, say I, with the fire of hatred, with the fire of infatuation; with birth, old age, death, sorrow, lamentation, pain, grief, and despair are they on fire.

Perceiving this, monks, the learned and noble disciple becomes disenchanted with the eye, with forms, with eye-consciousness, with the impressions received by the eye; and whatever sensation, pleasant, unpleasant, or neutral, which originates in dependence on impressions received by the eye, with that also he becomes disenchanted.

Perceiving this, monks, the learned and noble disciple becomes disenchanted with the ear, with sound, with ear-consciousness, with the impressions received by the ear; and whatever sensation, pleasant, unpleasant, or neutral, which originates in dependence on impressions received by the ear, with that also one becomes disenchanted

Perceiving this, monks, the learned and noble disciple becomes disenchanted with nose, with smells, with nose-consciousness, with the impressions received by the nose; and whatever sensation, pleasant, unpleasant, or neutral, which originates in dependence on impressions received by the nose, with that also one becomes disenchanted.

Perceiving this, monks, the learned and noble disciple becomes disenchanted with the tongue, with tastes, with tongue-consciousness, with the impressions received by the tongue; and whatever sensation, pleasant, unpleasant, or neutral, which originates in dependence on impressions received by the tongue, with that also one becomes disenchanted.

Vinaya I, Mahāvagga pp. 34–35

Perceiving this, monks, the learned and noble disciple becomes disenchanted with the body, with touch, with body-consciousness, with the impressions received by the body; and whatever sensation, pleasant, unpleasant, or neutral, which originates in dependence on impressions received by the body, with that also one becomes disenchanted.

Perceiving this, monks, the learned and noble disciple becomes disenchanted with the mind, with mental objects, with mind-consciousness, with the impressions received by the mind; and whatever sensation, pleasant, unpleasant, or neutral, which originates in dependence on impressions received by the mind, with that also one becomes disenchanted.

And through this disenchantment, one becomes dispassionate, and by the absence of passion one becomes free, and when one is free one becomes aware that one is free; and one knows that rebirth is exhausted, that one has lived the holy life, that one has done what was to be done, and that one has nothing more to do in this body-mind existence.

While this exposition was being delivered, the minds of the thousand monks, without attachment, became free from defilements.

DAILY ADVICE TO BHIKKHUS

Abstaining from all evil;
doing what is good;
cleansing of one's mind,
this is the teaching of all Buddhas.
Patience is the highest practice;
Nibbana is supreme, say the Buddhas;
a mendicant does not harm others;
a recluse oppresses no one.
Not insulting, not harming,
restrained according to the moral code,
moderating in food,
dwelling in solitude,
engaging in higher mental development,
this is the teaching of the Buddhas

VERSES ON THE BUDDHA'S JOYOUS VICTORIES

1. When Mara, seated atop his trumpeting, fierce elephant Girimekhala, surrounded by his troops, created a thousand arms bearing weapons, the Lord of Sages conquered him by means of his virtues such as generosity. By this power may joyous victory be mine.

2. When the fierce, obstinate demon Alavaka, more violent than Mara, fought with him all night, the Lord of Sages conquered him by means of his patience and self-control. By this power may joyous victory be mine.

3. When the royal elephant Nalagiri, terrible as a forest fire or thunder-bolt, came at him intoxicated, the Lord of Sages conquered him with radiance of his loving-kindness. By this power may joyous victory be mine.

4. When the terrible and fearsome murderer Angulimala pursued him for three leagues with upraised sword, the Lord of Sages conquered him by resorting to his psychic powers. By this power may joyous victory be mine.

5. When Ciñca, with a bundle of sticks bound to her belly to simulate pregnancy, tried to defame him in the midst of an assembly, the Lord of Sages conquered her by his calm and gentleness. By the power of this may joyous victory be mine.

6. Arrogant Saccaka, the famous disputant, was extremely blind and overconfident, but having deviated from the truth, the Lord of Sages conquered him by lighting the lamp of wisdom. By this power may joyous victory be mine.

7. The dragon Nandopananda was intelligent and powerful, but the Lord of Sages advised His son, spiritual son, the arahat Elder to subdue him with his psychic powers. By this power may joyous victory be mine.

8. When the Brahma named Baka — pure, radiant, and powerful — was bitten by the snake of wrong views, the Lord of Sages conquered him with his medicine of knowledge. By the power of this may joyous victory be mine.

9. The wise person who earnestly memorizes these eight verses on the Buddha's joyous victories and recites them daily will be freed from diverse misfortunes and gain happiness and liberation.

PROTECTION BY FACTORS OF ENLIGHTENMENT

The enlightenment-factors are reckoned thusly:
mindfulness,
then investigation of Dhammas,
energy, joy, tranquillity.

The enlightenment-factors continue further;
Collectedness, equanimity.

These seven, which the All-seeing Muni has rightly taught,
cultivated and frequently practised
bring about the superknowledges,
Nibbana and Enlightenment:
By the speaking of this truth
May I always be safe.

At one time the Lord,
having seen Maha Moggallana
and Maha Kassapa
suffering from painful sickness
recited the seven factors of enlightenment
and they, rejoicing,
instantly recovered from sickness.
By these words of truth
may I always be safe.

Once, when King of Dhamma
was afflicted by illness
Maha Cunda Thera on this occasion was kindly requested to recite.
And He rejoicing
recovered from sickness.
By these words of truth
may I always be safe.

Those three Great Sages,
were freed from their illness
Just as the Path destroys the defilements,
for those who attain it
By these words of truth
May you always be safe

THE VERSES ON THE THREE CHARACTERISTICS

Impermanent is all that is conditioned.
When one sees this with wisdom
One turns away from suffering.
This is the path to purity.

Unsatisfactory is all that is conditioned.
When one sees this with wisdom
One turns away from suffering.
This is the path to purity.

All dhammas are without self.
When one sees this with wisdom
One turns away from suffering.
This is the path to purity.

There are few among humans
who go to the Further Shore;
All the rest
run about on this hither shore.

But those well-established in Dhamma
those who practice Dhamma
are among those who will cross over beyond the realm of death, difficult to escape.

Abandoning the unwholesome dhamma
cultivating the wholesome dhamma
the wise go from home to homelessness
which is hard to enjoy.

Desiring that rare delight
renouncing pleasure, owning nought,
of defilements of the mind.
the wise person should cleanse himself.

Those whose minds are well-established in the factors of enlightenment
relinquish attachments
and delight not in clinging.

They, untainted and radiant,
in this very world attain Nibbana.

EIGHT GREAT NOBLE THOUGHTS

1. This Dhamma is for one who wants little, not for one who wants too much.
2. This Dhamma is for one who is contented, not for one who is discontented.
3. This Dhamma is for one who loves seclusion, not for one who loves society.
4. This Dhamma is for one who is energetic, not for one who is indolent.
5. This Dhamma is for one who is mindful, not for one who is unmindful.
6. This Dhamma is for one who is composed, not for one who is restless.
7. This Dhamma is for one who is wise, not for one who is unwise.
8. This Dhamma is for one who delights in freedom from impediments, not for one who delights in impediments.

FOUR PROTECTIVE MEDITATIONS

RECOLLECTION OF BUDDHA

The recollection of the Buddha, loving kindness, the unattractiveness of the body, and mindfulness of death are four protections which a virtuous monk should cultivate.

An intelligent monk should cultivate the recollection of the Buddha first, through the contemplation of the Sage's infinite and excellent qualities.

1. Destroyed He alone all the defilements without a trace.

Fully purified was his mental continuum, and He was ever worthy of offerings.

2. Having perfectly understood all temporal dhammas in every way the Sage alone attained to omniscience.

3. Vipassanādivijjāhi
sīlādicaranehi ca
Susamiddhehi sampanno
gaganābhehi nāyako

4. Sammāgato subhaṅ ṭhānaṃ

5. Anekehi gunoghehi

6. Eko sabbassa lokassa
sabbasattānusāsako

7. paññā'ssa sabbadhammesu
karunā sabba jantusu
Attatthānaṃ paratthānaṃ
sādhikā guna jeṭṭhikā

3. With knowledge born of insight with conduct born of virtue,
endowed with accomplishments was He,
as the sun in the sky.

4. He attained the best state.
Never vain were His words.
Knower in full
Of the threefold world was He.

5. By his ocean of virtue highest of all beings became He and with methods diverse
the tamable He tamed.

6. For the entire world He alone,
teacher of all beings became.
The Blessed Lord of qualities supreme and treasury of all virtues was He.

7. He was wise in all ways toward all beings compassionate.
For his own good and the weal of others
further high virtue had He.

8. Dayāya pāramī citvā
paññāya'ttānamuddhari
Uddhari sabba dhamme ca
dayāyaññe ca uddhari

9. Dissamāno'pi tāva'ssa

METTA BHAVANA

1. Attūpamāya sabbesaṃ

2. Sukhi bhavyeṃ nidukkho ahaṃ niccaṃ ahaṃ viya
Hitā ca me sukhī hontu
majjhatthāca'tha verino

8. Through pity He cultivated perfections, through wisdom liberated himself.

Penetrated He all phenomena
and through compassion rescued others.

9. Even the appearance of his physical body
was beyond compare;

unmatched was His great wisdom,
beyond words was His knowledge.

MEDITATION ON LOVING-KINDNESS

1. Having seen that all beings, like oneself,
have a desire for happiness,
one should methodically develop
loving-kindness towards all beings.

2. May I be happy, and free from suffering!
And, always, like myself,
may my friends, neutral persons,
and the hostile, be happy too.

3. Imamhi gāmakkhettamhi

4. Samanta cakkavalesu

3. May all beings in this village,
in this state, in other countries,
and in the world systems
be ever happy.

4. May all persons, individuals, beings, creatures
in all world systems
be ever happy.

5. So too, may all women, men,
noble ones, non-noble ones,
gods, humans, and beings
in the lower worlds be happy.
May all beings in the ten directions be happy.

May I be free from hatred! May I be free from affliction!
May I be free from worry! May I live happily! As I am,
so also may my parents, teachers, preceptors, friendly,
indifferent, and hostiles beings, be free from hatred!
May they be free from affliction! May they be free from worry! May they live happily! May they be released from suffering! May they not be deprived of their fortune, duly acquired! All have kamma as their own.

LOVING-KINDNESS DISCOURSE

One skilled in good, wishing to attain that state of peace should act thus:
one should be able, straight, upright,
obedient, gentle, and humble.

One should be content, easy to support,
with few duties, living lightly,
controlled in senses, discreet,
not impudent, unattached to families.

na ca khuddaṃ sāmācare kiñci
yena viññū pare upavadeyyuṃ

na paro paraṃ nikubbetha
nātimaññetha katthacinaṃ kañci
byārosanā paṭighasaññā
nāññaṃ aññassa dukkhaṃ iccheyya

One should not do any slight wrong
for which the wise might censure one.
May all beings be happy and secure!
May all beings have happy minds!

Whatever living beings there may be without exception, weak or strong,
long, large, middling,
short, subtle, or gross,

visible or invisible,
living near or far,
born or coming to birth
may all beings have happy minds!

Let no one deceive another
nor despise anyone anywhere.
Neither in anger nor enmity
should anyone wish harm to another.

As a mother would risk her own life
to protect her only child,
even so towards all living beings
one should cultivate a boundless heart.

One should cultivate for all the world
a heart of boundless loving-kindness,
above, below, and all around,
unobstructed, without hate or enmity.

Whether standing, walking, or sitting,
lying down or whenever awake,
one should develop this mindfulness;
this is called divinely dwelling here.

Not falling into erroneous views,
but virtuous and endowed with vision.
removing desire for sensual pleasures,
one comes never again to birth in the womb.

SUTTA ON THE PROTECTION BY LOVING-KINDNESS

May those with no feet receive my love;
May those with two feet receive my love;
May those with four feet receive my love;
May those with many feet receive my love;
May those with no feet not hurt me
May those with two feet not hurt me
May those with four feet not hurt me
May those with many feet not hurt me
May all beings, all those with life,
May all who have become, all in their entirety,
May all see what is good.
May suffering not come to anyone.

THE BENEFITS OF LOVING-KINDNESS

Thus have I heard. At one time the Buddha was living in Savatthi at Jeta's grove in the park of Anathapindika. There the Buddha addressed the bhikkhus: "O bhikkhus." "Yes, Venerable Sir," those bhikkhus replied. The Buddha said:

mettāya bhikkhave cetovimuttiyā āsevitāya bhāvitāya
bahulīkatāya yānīkatāya vatthukatāya anuṭṭhitāya
paricitāya susamāraddhāya ekādasānisamsā
pāṭikaṃkhā. katame ekādasa?

sukhaṃ supati, sukhaṃ paṭibujjhati, na pāpakaṃ
supinaṃ passati, manussānaṃ piyo hoti,
amanussānaṃ piyo hoti, devatā rakkhanti, nāssa
aggi vā visaṃ vā satthaṃ vā kamati, tuvaṭaṃ
cittaṃ samādhiyati, mukhavaṇṇo vipasīdati,
asammulho kālaṃ karoti, uttariṃ appativijjhanto
brahmalokūpago hoti.

mettāya bhikkhave cetovimuttiyā āsevitāya bhāvitāya
bahulīkatāya yānīkatāya vatthukatāya anuṭṭhitāya
paricitāya susamāraddhāya ime ekādasānisamsā pāṭikaṃkhā.

Idamavoca bhagavā. attamanā to bhikkhū bhagavato
bhāsitaṃ abhinandun'ti.

O bhikkhus, there are eleven benefits from loving-kindness that arise from the emancipation of the heart, if repeated, developed, made much of, made a habit of, made a basis of, experienced, practiced, well started, these eleven benefits are expected. What eleven?

One sleeps well; gets up well; does not have nightmares; becomes affectionate to human beings; becomes affectionate to non-human beings; the deities protect one; neither fire nor poison nor a weapon affect one; one's mind becomes calm immediately; one's complexion brightens; one dies without confusion; beyond that, if one does not comprehend the highest, one goes to the world of the brahmas.

O bhikkhus, there are eleven benefits from loving-kindness that arise from the emancipation of the heart, if repeated, developed, made much of, made a habit of, made a basis of, experienced, practiced, well started, these eleven benefits are expected.

Thus spoke the Exalted One. Delighted, those bhikkhus rejoiced in what the Exalted One had said.

MEDITATION ON THE UNATTRACTIVENESS OF THE BODY

1. Unattractive is the corpse
so too the living body.
Seeing the body as unattractive
one should meditate on this.
2. In this body are thirty-two parts unattractive in regard to their color, shape, smell,
location, and delimitation.
3. The outflows of the body
are as repulsive as filth.
The parts that support the body
are equally as repulsive.
4. Like a worm born in filth
this body was formed in filth.
Inside it is full of impurities
just like a full cess-pit.

5. Impurities always flow out like fat from a clay-pot.

The body is home to various kinds of worms
just like a compost pile.

6. Like a boil, a disease,
a wound-incurable,
repulsive, and frail,
this body is like a foul corpse.

MEDITATION ON DEATH

Like a flame blown out by the wind
this life-continuum goes to destruction;
recognizing one's similarity to others,
one should develop mindfulness of death.

Just as people who have achieved
great success in the world have died,
so too I must certainly die.

Death is harassing me.

uppattiyā sah'evedaṃ

kā to mādisake kathā

paccayānañ ca vekallyā
bahirajjhatt'upaddavā
maramoraṃ nimesā pi
maramano anukkhaṇan ti.

Death always comes along
together with birth,
searching for an opportunity
like a murderer out to kill.

Not the least bit stoppable,
always going forward,
life rushes towards its end
like the rising sun to its setting.

Like lightning, a bubble, dew drops,
or a water-line, life is destroyed;
death is like a murderer after his foe,
completely unrestrainable.

Death slays those great in glory,
in strength, merit, powers, and wisdom,
and even the two kinds of Conquerors;
no need to speak about one like me.

Due to a lack of the supports of life
or to some inner or outer misfortune,
I who am dying moment after moment
can die in the blink of an eye.

The life of mortals is signless,
its length cannot be known in advance;
it is difficult and limited
and tied up with suffering.

There is no possibility
that mortals shall not die;
having reached old age they die
such is the nature of living beings.

As fruit, when ripe,
has to fall,
so all beings live constantly
in the fear that they will die.

As a potter's earthen jars
eventually must all break up,
so too does the life of mortals,
eventually come to an end.

The young and the old,
the foolish and the wise,
all move in the grip of death;
all finally end in death.

PATTANUMODANA

Idaṃ no ñātīnaṃ hotu

(three times)

Yathā vārivahā purā

Impermanent are all conditional things,
subject to rise and fall away;
having arisen they then must cease
blissful is it when they subside.

Before long this body will lie
cast away upon the ground,
bereft of all consciousness
like a useless block of wood.

Uninvited he came here,
without leave he departed.
He went just as he came,
so why lament?

SHARING MERITS

so may that which is given here
go to the benefit of the departed.

By this may you achieve
longevity, good health,
a rebirth in the heavens,
and the attainment of nibbana.

May all your hopes and wishes succeed,
may all your desires be fulfilled
as if by the wish-fulfilling gem.
