

Now Geof Gray-Cobb reports how you can make the Sacred Harmony and Rhythm of the Universe work for you by tuning in to a mighty Tide of Cosmic Power!

Based on his understanding of the awesome power of the Pyramids, Geof Gray-Cobb shows you how New Psychic Energy Power can quickly and easily transform your present existence into a life of deep and lasting satisfaction, trouble-free health, and unending good fortune!

SECRETS FROM BEYOND THE PYRAMIDS

by Geof Gray-Cobb

SECRETS FROM BEYOND THE PYRAMIDS

by Geof Gray-Cobb

"This book takes you far above Pyramid Power, into a new discovery which you can simply and easily use, transforming your personal life into incredible shapes of satisfaction, riches, and contentment."
Geof Gray-Cobb

Now you can discover and reap the remarkable benefits of the Four Faces of the Pyramid, claims noted psychic investigator Geof Gray-Cobb. According to Gray-Cobb, scientific investigations have shown that the pyramid shape—whether the Great Pyramids of Egypt or the miniature cardboard model that you will construct in your own home—conjures up forms of energy and power that he says can affect material objects, change natural laws, and bring on sensational and unexplained happenings!

"TUNE IN" TO NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY POWER, SAYS AUTHOR

In this power-packed volume Geof Gray-Cobb shows you step-by-step methods he has evolved to help you develop your New Psychic Energy Power. All you have to do is identify some problem in your life and this proven psychic self-help tool will bring your dreams to fruition and smooth your life path to riches, love, protection, and health, says the author!

AUTHOR SAYS PSYCHIC ENERGY POWER REALLY WORKS

Within these pages you'll discover the life-miracles of such people as:

- Dexter D., who Geof Gray-Cobb says used his New Psychic Energy Power to become one of the richest people in Hollywood.
- James I., who, according to the author, used New Psychic Energy Power along with his standard medical treatment and overcame a terminal heart condition.
- Carol Y., who used New Psychic Energy Power to overcome a lifelong fear of men and was married soon after, according to Geof Gray-Cobb.

GRAY-COBB CLAIMS NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY POWER BRINGS PERSONAL MIRACLES

Inside this electrifying Psychic Power Guide, Gray-Cobb tells of the three pyramid tools

(continued on back flap)

SECRETS FROM BEYOND THE PYRAMIDS

Geof Gray-Cobb

Parker Publishing Company
West Nyack, New York

© 1979, by

PARKER PUBLISHING COMPANY, INC.

West Nyack, N.Y.

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced in any form or by any means, without permission in writing from the publisher.

This book is a reference work based on research by the author. The opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of or endorsed by the Publisher.

Library of Congress Cataloging in Publication Data

Gray-Cobb, Geof
Secrets from beyond the pyramids.

1. Success.	2. Occult sciences.	3. Pyramids—
Miscellanea.	I. Title.
BJ161L2.G73	131'.32	79-16415
ISBN 0-13-797886-3

Printed in the United States of America

Dedication:

To the Founders and Builders of the Astral City, without whose discipline and dedication I might never have been privileged to point the Way.

Previous books by Geof Gray-Cobb:

The Miracle of New Avatar Power
Amazing Secrets of New Avatar Power

Why This Book Will Fulfill Every Need

My most sincere greetings to you, a special person. A person for whom this book was especially written: someone who is nursing a dream—perhaps some call it a hopeless dream—of health, wealth, happiness, peace and companionship.

My warmest welcome to you as you read these opening words, because I wrote them for you. Between us now exists a bond, welded by destiny. The simple fact that my words are now in your hands proves the first step of a miraculous transformation has already taken place.

You may think chance alone put this book in your hands, but I ask you to consider a different idea. I knew when I set out to type the first draft of this book that fate would place it unerringly in the hands of the people who need it most.

You, therefore, are one of those people. And why do you need this book? Stay with me for a few more pages and I'll tell you.

BEYOND PYRAMID POWER

Have you heard about Pyramid Power, that mystic energy which researchers have found connected with all pyramids?

Whether we look at the Great Pyramids in Egypt, or model pyramids made in your own home, wonderful things happen in and around them. Investigators have discovered that the pyramid shape conjures up forms of energy which affect objects and change natural laws, bringing sensational and unexplainable happenings.

Whether or not you've heard of Pyramid Power is unimportant. This book takes you far above Pyramid Power into a new discovery which you can simply and easily use, transforming your personal life into incredible shapes of satisfaction, riches and contentment.

As we proceed together through this book we'll be looking at and creating personal miracle-working a quantum leap beyond yesterday's Pyramid Power. Simply stated, we will work together, safely and easily, changing your most secret dreams into stupendous reality.

I shall be beside you every step of the way, showing you what to do and how to apply the simple techniques which tune you in to a mighty Tide of Cosmic Power, a Tide I have named New Psychic Energy Power. You will also notice me calling this Psychic Pyramidic Power, Cosmic Energy, Pyramid Energy, Pyramid Power—they all mean exactly the same thing, identifying this life-transforming energy flow.

I have a very specific reason for so confidently stating that claim. Right at the beginning I greeted you as someone special, and that's precisely true.

You are special, because you're reading this book. The first step in your use of New Psychic Energy Power to transform your life is already a fact. The truth that you're reading this book is positive proof of that: fate arranged it thus, using New Psychic Energy Power to accomplish it.

The whole of this manuscript is being composed with the help of New Psychic Energy Power. I'm putting the words in order and attending to all the details of making sure the pages are numbered and the publisher gets the typed pages on time.

But behind, above and beyond that visible effort is an incredible, invisible reservoir of energy which is helping things along, making everything go right, ensuring that nothing can stand in the way of this vital message reaching you.

I've applied one of the techniques I discovered to make absolutely certain of this. And it has happened, just as I knew it would: you and I are united by New Psychic Energy Power to move you unerringly into new, exciting and satisfying conditions which you may have been awaiting throughout your life so far, just as did Dexter D. in the case history from my files which follows.

"EVERYTHING CAME UP ROSES" FOR PREVIOUS LOSER DEXTER D.

In one of the sumptuous homes on Hollywood's Sunset Boulevard lives a mystery man. Few people know where he came from, or how he acquired vast wealth. You are about to learn his story—or as much of it as he will permit me to tell you.

The trappings of big money surround his life. His antique and contemporary furnishings were all imported at great expense from Europe. His weekly "walking-around money" would keep the average family adequately sheltered and nourished for a full year. His 17 personal vehicles range from a custom-built golfcart with bar and TV, to a Rolls Royce which was originally built for an oil sheik. Word has it that when the sheik saw the bill for the option-laden package of gold-plated automobile he said he could not afford the price. Our man on Sunset Boulevard could, and did!

You'll rarely find him in Hollywood. He's often away in the jet-spots of the globe with his loving and beautiful showgirl wife and their two children.

Or if they're not lazing around in Cannes, the Bahamas, Australian beaches, Las Vegas or some other high life area, you might find them quietly savoring life in their luxurious chalet high in the Swiss Alps. And if they're not there, you might see if they're staying at one of the 23 luxury hotels this man owns worldwide.

He's known simply as "Mr. D." to the obedient staff of employees whose sole job is to see that he's as happy, contented, unharried and healthy as dedicated service can make him.

I was lucky enough to meet him in the plush offices of a large movie production organization near Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles. Mr. D. had decided he'd use some of his surplus cash to make a movie and he was enjoying himself hugely.

He greeted me like a long-lost friend—which you might say was almost true: I knew of Mr. D. when he was simply Dexter D., a hopeless and despairing unemployed laborer from Chicago.

Dexter had slipped across the border into Canada to see if it was any easier to keep body and soul together in Toronto than it had been in his home city.

"It most decidedly was not," he says. "Life went from bad to worse to abominable."

Because of his current high profile, Mr. D. has asked me not to list the specific degradations he experienced in two years which plumbed the depths of atrocious misery for him.

"I guess the turning point came when, out of try-anything-once desperation, I picked up a used copy of a psychic self-help book," Mr. D. said. "The guaranteed miracles offered a slim ray of hope. Yet I could not make it work. Despite chanting, prayer, affirmations, positive thinking and applying all the rest of the instructions, nothing good happened to me.

"I used my last few cents to write a bitter letter to the author of the book to say it was a rip-off."

Fate stepped in at that point. As occasionally happens in a large organization, Dexter's letter was misfiled at the publisher's offices. Instead of being mailed to the correct author, his letter was sent to me along with the rest of the packages of forwarded mail which reach me two or three times each week, year round.

This book was in draft form, so I sent Dexter a few suggestions which basically suggested how he might stop battling against destiny and instead flow with Cosmic Tides.

That early data is now updated, streamlined and improved in the pages of this book you're holding.

"The way to wealth opened up like magic," Dexter said. "Within two months I was working, with money in the bank. Inside six months I was my own boss. From there it was an easy ride to sheer opulence. Doors opened automatically, windfalls cascaded into my lap, I always seemed to be in the right place at exactly the right time. Dame Fortune was smiling on me fit to split her face—and she has never ceased beaming on me.

"I would prefer not to go into details because I value my privacy. Enough people want to know the secret of my success without my being asked to instruct them in the gentle art of using New Psychic Energy Power.

"We should merely say everything came up roses for me!"

You can emulate Dexter (which is not the name he now uses, by the way). Soaring from misery to ecstasy is just a few simple steps away, using a new improved version of the method I originally suggested to poor Dexter D. who promptly soared to an apex of everything that is best in life.

GAIN YOUR RIGHTFUL REWARDS WITH NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY POWER

To repeat: this book was destined to reach you, and the fact that it has done so shows we're well on the way to helping you reap the rewards which are your birthright, as a fully accredited member of the human race, a God-created intelligence in this Universe.

You'll read more of this as we proceed. You'll see how ordinary people just like yourself (and others in even deeper trouble) found their way quickly and easily out of turmoil, to become the peaceful, ongoing and happy beings Nature intended them to be.

This Universe works in a sacred harmony of rhythms and cycles. Astronomers, statisticians, astrologers, bio-rhythm users and many other disciplines recognize and use such cycles. The stars swing through space, grouped in galaxies; planets swim around their suns in well-defined paths; and on the inhabited planets, plants and animals grow in the midst of the ebb and flow of energies that govern the tides of existence.

Within that divine pattern only one single thing causes pain, turmoil and confusion. Anything that steps out of line, deliberately or accidentally, with the supreme swings of Natural Energies becomes opposed to the tidal cycles of Nature.

Then, just as swimming against any tide needs extra effort, whoever or whatever is out of tune with the natural pattern meets delays, chaos, exhaustion, pain and lack of progress.

Luckily, there's a simple cure: realignment with Natural Energies makes the pain recede, and progress begins again.

See where I'm taking you with my reasoning? What I'm saying is that if you're not as successful, happy, peaceful and harmonious as Nature and God intended you to be, then you must be struggling against one or other of the natural tides of Nature.

So all you need to do to achieve true happiness and harmony is to tune yourself in to Cosmic Energies, and automatically you'll see life changes which place you on a happy path to fulfillment.

Almost inevitably your next question will be: "How do I know which tide I'm battling against?"

And the answer is, "You do not necessarily need to find out. New Psychic Energy Power will do the identification and life-changing for you."

That's precisely what you, this book and I are doing together. I've found New Psychic Energy Power to be one of the greatest life-manipulating energies around. No doubt there are other hidden energies still awaiting discovery in this Age of Aquarius, but right now New Psychic Energy Power is the one for you to use. Destiny has proven that: into the Cosmic Flow of Akashic Happenings I deliberately requested that New Psychic Energy Power methods should reach those people who would gain most benefit from them—people such as you, or Betty S. whose delightful life transformation is described next.

BETTY S. SOARED FROM MISERY TO TOTAL CONTENTMENT

"One thing I did not have a while ago was the worst credit rating in the world," Betty S. writes. "By no means: I had no credit rating at all! I was so far in over my head that even if I'd found a good job and worked 100 hours a week I would still have been paying off debts at the age of 92.

"So how come I'm so happy now, with cash to spare and everything that makes life worth living? Let me tell you what happened to me in a few short months.

"I was the eldest of seven children born on a farm in the Ozarks. Mom and Pop were good people, grindingly poor, who worked from sun-up to dark, never making enough to go round.

"I grew up thinking that was the way it should be for the likes of us, until I met this smooth traveling man. He whisked me off to Nevada with empty promises, then left me cold after he'd knocked me up.

"I got hit by a hit-and-run driver and broke my hip, lost the baby and almost died. Downhill all the way from there. Standing was agony so being a waitress was out. I'd had precious little schooling so office jobs were closed to me.

"I was so rundown and shattered I took to booze, shoplifting and petty crime.

"Even that might have been bearable, but I never found a true friend down there. Always aching alone, never a smile from a familiar face, on the run from various cities where the law wanted me.

"I changed my name and tried to make a fresh start. That failed. All I put together was debts to go with my misery and loneliness.

"I was working part-time as a cleaner at a rundown motel for starvation wages when I came across a paperback book on Pyramid Power a guest had left behind. Figured a little reading would cost nothing so I spent long hours stumbling through it.

"But no sooner had I gotten the idea of pyramids into my head than things started to happen.

"First up was a new job. Still cleaning at a motel, but at better wages at a higher class establishment. That's where I met Fred, a guest who was passing through.

"By that time, although still in deep trouble moneywise, I'd managed to buy a few new clothes and afford a little make-up. And believe me, even those little things seemed like the most incredible luxuries after the dregs I'd wallowed in.

"Fred and I hit it off. We married, and his small trucking business boomed when I helped with the paperwork. We started a family, bought a good home, and added those touches of money I never thought I'd ever see.

"No, we're not part of the filthy rich. Very comfortable though, with no worries. With Fred's TLC you can mark me down as having gone from utter misery to total contentment."

In her own words, you have just read the amazing transformation that occurred for Betty S. after merely touching on the subject of pyramids and reading about their powers.

This is an unusual case which might not happen for everybody. But consider what you can do with the techniques in this book: pyramid methods distilled and refined so that you're in line to double or treble the bounty and luck which came Betty's way so easily.

NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY POWER BRINGS PERSONAL MIRACLES

By now you've read about two people who experienced their own personal miracles. As you'll know if you've read any of my other books, my firm opinion is that reading about people is fine and dandy, as it shows you what can be done and gives you targets at which to aim.

But I also know you want these marvelous things to happen to you, because reading about another person's miracles is very much like being a starving person peering into a warm restaurant watching other people enjoying fine fare.

Worry not: along with the case histories, which incidentally frequently contain valuable tips and wrinkles on exactly how to apply these techniques, we're coming to the exact and precise methods of creating personal miracles for you. It's almost as easy as reading about other people's, but infinitely more rewarding.

As I advise you on the "how" of it, step by simple step, in the following pages you'll understand how Pyramid Energies can be applied to your life.

You'll see how nature has equipped you with three pyramid tools which are part of your physical body, and from which you can draw an unending stream of vital energy to sweep away cares and replace them with happiness, to literally carry you to the most glittering peak of perfection you can imagine.

Together we'll travel the four faces of a pyramid, seeing how New Psychic Energy Power operates for you in various ways, to bring riches, love, protection and health.

We'll actually construct a New Psychic Energy Generator as a tangible and visible source of your miracle-working energy.

I'll show you mystic symbols which have come from the Egyptian pyramids, such as the Golden Square of Prithivi which creates money, and the Glacial Ring-Pass-Not which ensures that its user never again runs up a debt he or she cannot handle.

The Blue Circle of Vayu, the Scarlet Triangle of Tejas, the Sunshine Protection Routine, the Silver Crescent of Apas, the Western Water Technique ... all of those and many more I'll be offering to you as simple ways to create whatever you need or desire.

Yes, indeed, New Psychic Energy Power is a magnificent ally to have on your team. And to make doubly sure you're controlling the flow of this incredible energy, I'll reveal to you the New Psychic Energy Gestures which direct this Cosmic flow.

In addition I'll gladly show you something I personally have found the most thrilling and satisfying of all: the New Psychic Energy Healing Postures which have turned sickness into blooming health.

There's still more, much more, including a guided tour of the Astral City of New Psychic Energy Power to whose builders this book is dedicated.

All I ask from you is a little patience. Follow me as I lead you, one pace at a time. You'll gain greater benefit more quickly as we take this whole thrilling journey together.

JAMES I. WAS "MIRACULOUSLY" HEALED

You will find this case history carefully worded. For excellent legal reasons I must make no claims which imply New Psychic Energy Power can cure diseases or other human malfunctions.

So I merely record the sequence of events which took place in the life of Seattle, Washington resident James I.

Seven years ago, bothered by recurring chest pains, fatigue, dizzy spells, shortness of breath and other distress, 65-year-old James I. underwent a full physical from his doctor.

Diagnosis was cardiovascular disease. Prognosis suggested it could be progressive. James was given a maximum of three years to live if he exercised moderation in practically everything.

Despite regular treatment and care, within two years James could not climb stairs; he could not indulge in even the slightest exertion without sitting down to rest for a long while afterward; his chest pains were more frequent, often running down his left arm; his ankles were painfully swollen; he was suffering double vision; and he had persistent headaches. In short, James seemed to be heading for invalidism and possible death.

Casting around for anything to alleviate his distress and possibly prolong his life, James encountered a proponent of cone and pyramid power. While continuing his orthodox medical treatment, James installed several cones and pyramids in his home as instructed.

Today James is fit and well. His heart condition has improved to the extent that he no longer suffers any of the symptoms which were threatening to lay him low. He jogs regularly, makes furniture in his home workshop, eats and sleeps well, travels regularly, and expects "to outlive that young doctor who said three years was the best I could hope for, back in 1971. Was I cured by medicine, or 'miraculously' healed? Frankly, I neither know nor care: I'm well again and that's all that matters."

The pyramid and cone techniques James employed are incorporated in this book.

YOU HAVE BEEN CHOSEN TO BENEFIT FROM NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY POWER

I'm overjoyed that you have been chosen to prove the awesome abilities of New Psychic Energy Power. For you have been chosen, in a very real sense. I tell you solemnly that anyone who does not truly need the techniques and methods herein described will never even see this book.

This bedrock fact which I can hardly emphasize strongly enough is that Cosmic Forces have geared this assembly of paper, cloth, card and printing ink to arrive precisely when and where it will do the most good.

Have you fully understood that, Thou Chosen One? If so, read on, absorbing my words which have been composed for you personally. Apply the simple instructions and see your life change to true glory.

And herewith is a reassurance to those of you I know will write and ask, "Does New Psychic Energy Power conflict with my religion?"

I have more to say on that later, but be assured that New Psychic Energy Power is a name for one of the mystic and reverential powers of this Universe which God created. You will be attuning yourself with tides and streams of being as He intended you to. Your proof of that will be the holy peace which imbues your body and mind, and the beautiful happenings in your life which follow.

New Psychic Energy Power is a name coined for this day and age. I have no doubt that the Essenes, who may have taught Jesus his healing ministry, knew about New Psychic Energy Power. But they would have called it by some other name, since they spoke a language other than English.

What you call New Psychic Energy Power is unimportant. What is important is that you use New Psychic Energy Power to transform your whole being the way you wish it to be.

SKEPTICAL PENNY R. WAS CONVINCED
AFTER ONLY THREE DAYS

“Sure you can say it’s a load of garbage if that’s what you want to think. New Psychic Energy Power is not worried: it’s as impersonal as the gasoline in your car. No amount of denying gasoline will work will prevent it from driving a properly tuned engine, and similarly denials of New Psychic Energy Power’s abilities will have no effect.

“Everyone’s entitled to his or her opinions. All I suggest is you’re entitled to knock New Psychic Energy Power only after you’ve tried it.”

The above is part of a discussion I had with Penny R., a very skeptical young journalist in Oregon. She knew that all psychic stuff is fakery at worst, self-delusion at best.

Who was I to argue with her? Shattering anyone’s fondest beliefs is rank unkindness in my opinion. If she wanted to adhere to such ideas, I was not about to give her a hard time with disputation, refutation, case histories, and generally putting up a Federal case for the validity of New Psychic Energy Power.

But good for Penny! She grudgingly agreed it would not do her any harm to try a simple piece of New Psychic Energy Power work.

I asked her what she most wanted to achieve in her life. Something improbable, so that if it happened it would be a personal miracle.

“Tell New Psychic Energy Power to sell my novel,” she said, smiling wryly. “I’ve offered it to 17 publishers, they’ve all rejected it and I’m thoroughly discouraged. My dream is to have a best-seller published. If that happens I’ll send you a testimonial to the miraculous abilities of New Psychic Energy Power.”

“Frankly, I expect this to fail and when nothing has happened within six months I’m going to write a blistering

'told-you-so' article about you and New Psychic Energy Power that will curl your hair."

She also insisted she was "not going to spend hours each day meditating, affirming, working spells or anything spooky like that." New Psychic Energy Power must do its work with a single two-minute "treatment" before she left my home.

A tall order. Nevertheless, confident New Psychic Energy Power would not let me down, I had her hold a best-seller by another author while she gazed at my New Psychic Energy Generator, the psychic tool described for you in Energy Circuit 2.

"Just pretend that's your name and title on the book you're holding," I said.

She laughed at the simplicity of it all, and left, still laughing.

My turn to laugh came when I received a telegram three days later: "I AM CONVINCED. NOVEL ACCEPTED AND PROPOSED AS BOOK OF THE MONTH FOR LARGE BOOK CLUB. MOVIE RIGHTS ALREADY BEING NEGOTIATED. NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY POWER IS A WINNER."

ATTAIN YOUR DREAMS WITH NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY POWER

Have you ever watched one of those TV movies where the hero or heroine has everything? Leisured and successful, he or she basks in adulation from others, enjoys a stimulating and unpressured life where a crook of the finger brings worshipping partners, fawning maitre d's and obsequious financial advisers on the run.

The penthouse, ranch, boats, helicopter, fine clothes, best wines, French cuisine and blooming health are the visible symbols of the fulfillment which can be attained.

Maybe you've dreamed about emulating one of those stars. Perhaps not down to the last detail—no one, for instance, is going to force an executive Lear jet on you if you dislike flying—but in essence, you wish you had some of the attributes and success of the very rich.

New Psychic Energy Power will do that small thing for you, if that's your desire. We're going to learn how very soon. But above and beyond the status symbols, the jewels and the bulging bankroll, New Psychic Energy Power offers an even greater prize which is yours for the asking. That prize is peace and contentment, a reward which even some of the richest and most outwardly successful people spend their entire lives reaching for, yet fail to grasp.

All that's for you, if you'll come with me on a fascinating journey through the remainder of this book. In exchange for your companionship I'll show you the way to fulfillment. No messing, no half-baked theories, only proven techniques which I'll fully illustrate as we go along. Techniques which have taken ordinary people just like you and me sweeping to contentment. Instantly. Automatically.

This is a simple way to happiness, and you're already on your way there. I know: New Psychic Energy Power planned it that way!

Geof Gray-Cobb

Table of Contents

Why This Book Will Fulfill Every Need ..... 7

Beyond Pyramid Power • “Everything came up roses” for previous loser Dexter D. • Gain your rightful rewards with New Psychic Energy Power • Betty S. soared from misery to total contentment • New Psychic Energy Power brings personal miracles • James K. was “miraculously” healed • You have been chosen to benefit from New Psychic Energy Power • Skeptical Penny R. was convinced after only three days • Attain your dreams with New Psychic Energy Power

Energy Circuit 1:
Attuning Your Life with Psychic Pyramidic
Circuits ..... 29

The North Face of Material Wealth • Karen C. moved from Skid Road to Beverly Hills • The East Face of Love and Peace of Mind • Potential suicide Clive O. found a new life • The South Face of Protection and Offense • Ecstatic Iris P. says, “I overcame insuperable odds” • The West Face of Health and Strength • Larry F. “threw away his crutches” • Drawing New Psychic Energy Power to you • All negatives faded into sublime happiness for Nancy E. • The first glorious signs of New Psychic Energy Power in action

Energy Circuit 2:
How to Make and Use Your New Psychic
Pyramidic Generator ..... 46

Assembling your New Psychic Energy Generator • Good news came for Theo S. within hours of making his New Psychic

Energy Generator • Where to place your new Psychic Energy Generator • “My enemies packed up and left,” states Gladys T. • What to expect from your New Psychic Energy Generator • Janke L. struck it rich • When your personal miracles will come true • Married to an alcoholic, yet Laura N. says “I’m in control”. How does your New Psychic Energy Generator work? • Ludovic C. now knows “what happiness really is” • Earth, Air, Fire and Water symbols

Energy Circuit 3:

The North Face of Material Wealth . . . . . 65

Defining your material needs • Edythe A. literally sailed to prosperity • Money and possessions are yours with the Golden Square of Prithevi • “The first time I’ve seen my bank manager smile,” says Carl T • Create instant assets with the New Psychic Energy Image Technique • Lola V had a wad of hundred-dollar bills fall at her feet • Spark up your mundane life with the Northern Earth Application • Monotony “flew out of the window” for lucky Phil K. • Banish new debts forever with the Glacial Ring-Pass-Not • “In the black for the first time I can recall,” writes Dorothy M. • Improve your gambling luck with the Amazing Triad Attunement

Energy Circuit 4:

The East Face of Love and Peace of Mind . . . 80

Decide on your love desires and they’re yours • “I found my personal harem,” says Ahmed N. • Automatic freedom from despair with the Blue Circle of Vayu • Carol Y. met Mr. Right after years of misery • Dispel loneliness with the Magnetic Pictorial Technique • Elwood R. now has “more friends than I know what to do with” • Bring a perfect lover with the Eastern Air Technique • “He’s just what I’ve always dreamed about,” says Emily G. • Find total contentment with Skyscraper Attraction • Terry V. was wrong when he thought he was too old for complete fulfillment • Enslave your love target with the Multiple Quadratic Encirclement

Energy Circuit 5:

The South Face of Protection and Offense . . 99

Attack and defense decisions are simple with New Psychic

Energy Power • Pat Q. mysteriously vanquished her enemies • Nothing bad can touch you when you use the Scarlet Triangle of Tejas • “It’s better than having a guardian angel,” attests Reginald Y. • Overcoming opposition with the Sympathetic Portrayal Technique • Jean W. secured a coveted well-paid position • Dispel negative or evil conditions with the Southern Fire Technique • Floyd J. repelled a black magic attack • Defeating your enemies with the Sunshine Protection Routine • Judy I. says, “All my obstructions faded away like magic” • Bad is swiftly transformed into good when you employ the Mystic Pentafork Method

Energy Circuit 6:

The West Face of Health and Strength . . . . . 119

Pyramid Energy Circuits and your doctor: an unbeatable team • Charlie G. is fit after being given six months to live • Health blossoms when you apply the Silver Crescent of Apas • “I’ve had no repeat of my arthritis pains,” avows 83-year-old Eileen U. • Regain blooming youth with the Reverse Time Tableau • Walter B. was rejuvenated and mistaken for his own son • Expel pain and suffering with the Western Water Technique • Beverley L. can dance again now her varicose veins have disappeared • Your natural energies surge when you use the Mental Bridge Method • Earl M. remarried and fathered three sons at the age of 78 • Bodily and mental perfection can follow the application of the Six-Rayed Star Thought

Energy Circuit 7:

The New Psychic Pyramid Gestures . . . . . 135

These secret gestures make New Psychic Energy Power flow • Annie D. made a lawyer change his mind in her favor • The simple Digital Triad Gesture • Joseph H. made the Digital Triad Gesture and survived a catastrophe • The Quartet of Protection and Miracles • Facing certain disaster, Tamara F. used the Quartet of Protection and Miracles and lived • What can New Psychic Energy Gestures do for you? • “I never thought they were that powerful,” writes Waldo U. • When to use your New Psychic Energy Gestures • Mary J. has everything she wants, thanks to New Psychic Energy Gestures • All techniques are improved by adding New Psychic Energy Gestures

Energy Circuit 8:
Your Three Facial Psychic Pyramidic
Features ..... 151

Nature has given you three prime New Psychic Energy Features • Rudolf E. “thought it was stupid” but changed his mind when miracles happened to him • Your Rhinal Energy Focus • “I’m miles ahead since using my Rhinal Energy Focus regularly,” writes Jane O. • Your Optic-Glossal Energy Focus • Tom W. tripled his sales after learning about his Optic-Glossal Energy Focus • Locating your invisible Mandible-Pineal Energy Focus • Sue B. woke up profitable personal power by using her Mandible-Pineal Energy Focus • Making full use of your Facial New Psychic Energy Features • “The Facial New Psychic Energy Features knowledge has improved the quality of my life,” says Saul P. • Your Facial New Psychic Energy Features will work for you 24 hours each and every day

Energy Circuit 9:
The New Psychic Pyramidic Healing
Postures ..... 173

How to combine these Postures with West Face Techniques • Previously spastic and apparently retarded Edie M. now leads a normal life • The Pedal-Patella Healing Triad • “I can now lift 200 pounds,” attests accident victim Mel A. • The Finger Contact Tonus Technique • Chronic maladies left after Marilyn H. tried the Finger Contact Tonus Technique • The Cranial Cover New Psychic Energy Circuit • “They said I was dumb,” writes Dick W., “but the Cranial Cover New Psychic Energy Circuit helped to alter that” • Detecting the flow of new Psychic Energy Power • Sandy A. zoomed from welfare to wealth • When to adopt your New Psychic Energy Healing Postures

Energy Circuit 10:
The Amazing New Psychic Pyramidic Cone . 188

The New Psychic Energy Cone focuses a specialized form of metaphysical power • “I was unsure what to do, says Lew B. “The New Psychic Energy Cone automatically brought me happiness” • Make a New Psychic Energy Cone—or just a “pretend” one: equally effective in startling results • Ruth W. imagined New Psychic Energy Cones and good fortune arrived • How to visualize a 24-hour New Psychic Energy Cone anywhere • “I’m convinced my New Psychic Energy Cones helped clean up my debts,” writes Hank G. • Your New Psychic Energy Cone has unlimited power for you to use • “Miracles are mine,” states Gloria M., New Psychic Energy Cone user • How, when and where to use your New Psychic Energy Cone

Energy Circuit 11:
Creating Your Total New Psychic Pyramidic Environment..... 200

Making your Akashic List of Desires and Needs • “My Akashic List came true like one-two-three,” writes Ronald D. • Which techniques to use for most brilliant results • Marion S. “got it right first time” and is now a happy millionaire • A quick trip together around the Four Faces • The Horus Future Technique showed her what numbers to play • How to work the Horus Future Technique • Tom A. was “nowhere” a year ago; now he’s “on top of the heap” • Points to watch to refine your New Psychic Energy Power

Energy Circuit 12:
Journey to the Apex for a Lifetime of Miracles ..... 215

The journey together so far • The Astral City of New Psychic Energy Power • “Visiting” the Astral City turned life around for Scott B. • Explore the Astral City without lifting a finger • Peggy R. learned secret news in the Astral City • Creating life miracles by visiting the Astral City • Also-ran Mike H. is a big winner today • New Psychic Energy Power combines perfectly with your religion and philosophies • Terri L. tells her success story in her own words • Reach out for it and New Psychic Energy Power will bring it to you

Attuning Your Life with Psychic Pyramidic Circuits

Our material world is built on the power and stability of the number four. The ancients saw everything composed of the four “elements”—Earth, Air, Fire and Water, and the four “qualities”—hot, cold, wet and dry.

We fix our positions in the world with four directions—north, south, east and west. Our measurements of material things depend on the four attributes of length, width, thickness and duration. We spend much of our life between four walls. The sacred cross, with all its spiritual and mystic powers, has four arms.

I could continue adding to the list which shows how the number four is important to us—but what I would especially like you to notice is the way in which four is built into the pyramids, those monuments to Egyptian pharaohs who enjoyed wealth and power which has never been equaled in modern times. Compared with the gold and treasures of even the lowliest pharaoh, Howard Hughes was a welfare case!

A pyramid stands firmly on its base of four sides, usually arranged to face precisely north, south, east and west. Both occult and scientific researchers have shown us that the act of creating a pyramid does something wonderful to the local space-time continuum. For natural reasons which we have yet to fully unravel, building a pyramid focuses unseen energies.

Even more excitingly, those energies can be used by anyone who has the necessary know-how. And by the time you've finished reading this book, you will have that know-how, and the results are in your hands to create whatever kind of world you wish to live in.

We could theorize that the construction of pyramids was what made the pharaohs so tremendously wealthy. So, by extension, you and I are going to build pyramids for you, harness and channel the energies, and you can become as rich as any pharaoh.

And I speak not merely about cash and possessions. You can become rich in health, rich in happiness, rich in power, rich in all the intangibles without which money is just so much printed paper.

You're truly being given the chance to become a millionaire, with a bottomless purse containing all that so many seek, and so few find. Our path together can bring you priceless peace of mind, with all the material advantages necessary to enjoy it, in a vital and healthy body which you may have thought was eclipsed when your youth faded.

Our first step toward that sparkling dream is to look at the four pyramid faces, identifying the special powers of each face. And I would like you to realize a very important psychic truth at this point.

Pyramid Energy works on your mind and body, invisibly, and the very act of reading these words and thinking about them will place vital key phrases in your head, ready to use Pyramid Energy to bring your miracles to pass.

You may have been anticipating that I would tell you to build a pyramid in your living room, or in your back yard, and live inside the structure. You can do that if you wish—we will, in fact, be considering how to build a small pyramid in the next section of this book. But I tell you solemnly and truly that although having a pyramid you can see, touch and experience is very useful, by far the most important alignment with Pyramid Energy occurs in your mind, easily and automatically as you read my words.

As we proceed, study the case histories with care. I have selected them carefully, describing at some length how various people found happiness. Many of them followed precisely the techniques we are learning, so you can discover a great deal of how to apply these methods by observing the subjects in the case histories.

My idea is that you should, where applicable, emulate their methods of work with New Psychic Energy Power—examples being worth many pages of detailed explanation.

THE NORTH FACE OF MATERIAL WEALTH

North in the occult tradition is identified with the ancient element of Earth and the mighty Angel Uriel.

The Earth element is material and solid, and by tuning in to the North Face Psychic Energy Tide, you align yourself with acquiring whatever material things you need, such as money, real estate, furnishings, clothes ... any and all of life's necessities and luxuries you can see and touch.

It's all amazingly simple. In the following sections I'll guide you accurately into the main stream of the North Face Tide and let its bountiful energy sweep your inner dreams into tangible, material form.

KAREN C. MOVED FROM SKID ROAD TO BEVERLY HILLS

Although you'll often find me saying that health, strength and peace of mind should take priority over the acquisition of hard cash, some case histories are marked exceptions to that rule.

The case of Karen C. exemplifies the point. We can see how she chose to establish priorities about what she most needed. In her case, it worked admirably.

Karen came from a part of Harlem which even by local standards was reckoned to be rundown. Enough has been written, filmed, exposed and exploited for us to realize the squalor of her life without going into detail.

"Don't forget the stink," Karen said. "You can show bad things on TV to other folks, but you gotta live there to know how it smells. You gotta be part of it to feel the violence and hopelessness. You gotta be Harlem-born before you truly know about those diff'rent strokes."

Karen, now a suave and polished lady of leisure, is working with a well-known Los Angeles writer on her life story, so I must not infringe their copyright by writing at length about her. Heroin, street-walking, pimps, dirt, hunger and pain all form part of a past she's put behind her now. A desperate, lost existence where she never knew, and often did not care, if she would see the next gray light of dawn.

"I knew there was only one way out for me," she said, "and that was through the doors of the morgue. I figured the kind of miracle I needed to escape that hopelessness was reserved for good people."

Destiny had other ideas. One night Karen got talking to a trio of musicians in a bar.

"They were far out," she said. "They'd just been offered a fine gig uptown, and they said their pyramid had done it for them. See, they had this little cardboard gizmo on the table with bits of colored paper stuck to it.

"I was stoned out of my gourd at the time, and when they told me to look at the yellow square on one side and make a wish I just yelled, 'Karen needs a million bucks to get her out of this s**t.' Like they were cool guys and I played along with their funning."

Karen proved to be a classic example which sometimes occurs of an almost instant miracle happening.

One of her clients next day had just come back from Canada.

“When I counted the money he laid on me I found he’d also given me a lottery ticket tucked in with the greenbacks,” she said. “I kept it tucked in my bra until the draw was held.”

You’re ahead of me! Yes, Karen was a big winner. Her ticket matched one of the $1,000,000 prizes. Even with the deflated Canadian dollar, Karen suddenly owned around $850,000.

“That was close enough to a million for me,” she said. “Thank the good Lord I’d learned to handle money and knew my way around. I invested enough to bring me a healthy yearly income. Then I’m not saying any more than that I bought myself a piece of respectability in Beverly Hills. Nobody knows much about where I’ve come from or how I’m fixed. They’ll find out when my book hits the market, but that’s going to happen when I’m ready, not before.”

Of necessity, this case history is succinct, but you have the salient features. One touch of the musician’s pyramid (which was identical to the New Psychic Energy Generator you’re going to build for yourself) and Karen’s troubles were over.

THE EAST FACE OF LOVE AND PEACE OF MIND

Personally, I consider this face, aligned with the East Face Tide, to be more important than the North Face. Material possessions are fine if you’re able to enjoy them, but I’d like you to consider an occult maxim which states: “If you do not have love and peace of mind, you cannot gain benefits from the material things of life—and no matter what possessions you acquire, they cannot make you peaceful and loved.”

Stated another way, we say, “Money will not buy happiness.” That’s true. I often receive letters from my readers who tell me, “If I had $10,000 I’d be able to find peace of mind.” Sorry, but that’s not necessarily so: money can help a lot, but it’s by no means a surefire path to satisfaction and fulfillment.

What is more certain to lead to such a desirable state is aligning yourself with the East Face Psychic Energy Tide, drawing on the traditional power of the Air element, watched over (so it is said) by the power of Angel Raphael.

Whether you're rich or poor, I urge you to tune to the East Face Tide to bring you love and peace of mind as a prime move, even before you use the North Face Tide to bring you a sack of gold pieces!

POTENTIAL SUICIDE CLIVE O. FOUND A NEW LIFE

I am indebted to Clive O. for allowing me access to his personal diary to illustrate how the East Face of Love and Peace of Mind was instrumental in bringing him back from the brink of madness and suicide.

These relevant extracts, transcribed verbatim, reveal his case more graphically than any narrative I could write.

NOV. 17: The pain is worse today. Dr. B. says it is imagination and wants me to see Dr. Z. I won't go: Dr. Z is evil and would kill me. Yet I know I have a creeping cancerous condition eating its way into my brain. Martha says she will leave if I don't stop screaming in my sleep. Dreams very bad last night. I'm tired; nerves are shot. Getting drunk doesn't help.

NOV. 20: Martha packed and left today. She says not to call her until I'm prepared to accept help. How can I get help from that Thing hiding in dark corners? I see it out of the corner of my eye but when I look directly at it flicks away to the side. Paid September rent: must call the bank and tell them not to bounce the check.

NOV. 22: I saw it! The Thing is revolting. A slimy yellow and green shape with a black, gaping maw opening on limbo. It intends to swallow me while I sleep. So I stay awake and it lurks on the floor at my feet as I write this. If I don't look at it straight it stays still and I can feel it pulsing slowly with the alien life of the Pit. I threw a cup at it but it was too quick. The cup smashed and I cut my hand on the pieces. The Thing lapped up my spilled blood.

NOV. 27: The money's all gone. The telephone has been disconnected. Electricity and gas will be cut off in three days if I don't pay. Tried for a job downtown but I shake so hard I can't even shave properly. Why will no one help me? What do I do? The Thing still waits. It followed me to the bus today, and was still there when I came back.

DEC 1: It's closer. I hear the Thing now, making obscene sucking and slobbering sounds. I almost wish it would hurry and finish its awful game. I'm also hungry. Sitting in the dark and cold will be hell when the sun has gone. The shadows close in. Will I see another dawn?

DEC. 2: Very weak and feverish. I fought the Thing last night. Fell on it and stabbed it a hundred times with a steak knife. It hissed and wriggled away, leaving a trail like a giant slug. It will come closer again. It sits on the far side of the scars in the floor where I stabbed. Someone was screaming today. I stopped when I realized it was me.

DEC. 3: A man came to the door. Said he was from welfare. I wouldn't let him in. He shouted through the door about talking to me, help and hospital. Too late for that. I pulled the table across the door and he went away. I'm going to escape the Thing tonight. I can already feel the icy bite of the razor as it slices my throat to bring the pulse of warm blood throbbing my life away. I expect the Thing will enjoy its meal. But what if it follows me across the void into death itself? God, would evil incarnate pursue me for eternity?

DEC. 4: Martha called last night just as I was getting ready to end it all. I wouldn't go with her. Didn't talk much because the Thing was listening. It stayed behind Martha all the time she was here so she didn't see it. She said she would send two men around who would take me to a better place. I laughed and said they'd better bring lunch for the Thing because it would be coming along with me wherever I went. I made her leave. Strange, I haven't seen the Thing yet today and it's almost noon. I feel a mite calmer. Wonder why I decided to wait another day before using the razor? Almost forgot. Martha left a kerosene heater and candles. She also put a little pyramid thing on the table. She said it was a protective charm against the Thing. I need more than a charm to keep the Thing away.

DEC. 5: The Thing has been absent for 36 hours. Could it all have been in my mind? I've decided suicide would be stupid, solving nothing.

DEC. 6: Cold, bright day. I went out for the first time this week. Christmas is coming, yet so many people look sad and worried. Wonder why? Life is good. Still no job but I know I'll find one.

DEC. 7: Money in my pocket! Worked six hours at the market. If I make out good there's permanent work with prospects for me. Reading what I wrote in November, I wonder where my head was at. I must have been a little crazy. All behind me now. Martha says we'll keep the pyramid charm on the stereo. She's coming back to me tomorrow.

Clive continues to thrive. He's now a well-adjusted man, happily settled in a good job. He has had no recurrence of his hallucinations and fears.

THE SOUTH FACE OF PROTECTION AND OFFENSE

The powerful Angel Michael is said to reign over the South Face of the pyramid and the element Fire is associated with this face.

By attuning yourself with the South Face Psychic Energy Tide you align yourself symbolically with all the forceful things fire can do.

Like electricity, fire is a magnificent servant but a dangerous master. Fire can destroy, causing pain and loss, or it can be used to drive engines, or to turn raw meat or dough into delicious foodstuffs.

By tuning in to the South Face Tide, you become the symbolic master or mistress of Fire, being able to use its energy to perform personal miracles.

I hasten to add two points. First, we are talking about the idea of Fire and its powers; no way am I recommending actual use of arson or firearms as solutions to any problems.

Second, before using the awesome powers of the South Face Tide, consider all other solutions.

You understand that the South Face Tide gives you the ultimate power to destroy anyone or anything. This can literally be a dangerous power trip for some people, and bring hazardous consequences which take much work to turn around to positivity again.

Instead of angrily deciding to burn your enemy to a crisp with symbolic Fire, a better course by far is to use the Fire energy to erect a barrier to protect yourself.

Iris P. in the next case history from my files illustrates precisely how the South Face Tide can best be used.

ECSTATIC IRIS P. SAYS, "I OVERCAME INSUPERABLE ODDS!"

Appropriately matching her name, Iris P. owns a small flower shop in California. She runs it single-handed.

"I'd scrimped and saved for years to buy my business," she said. "With the aid of a bank loan and with perhaps more enthusiasm than experience I opened the doors and became my own person for the very first time in my life."

Despite long hours of dedicated toil, Iris found making a profit hard. Income always seemed to be slightly less than outgo. Unpaid bills began slipping beyond their credit time limits and interest charges grew. She had to arrange to miss a payment on her bank loan.

"It was all going sour on me," she said. "The big stores who ran flower and garden departments were also feeling the pinch of depressed business, but they could afford to absorb losses for a while. I had no other income to fall back on."

Soon Iris was hovering on the brink of bankruptcy. Creditors were pressing hard, she was behind with her rent, and the local newspapers would allow her no more credit for advertisements.

"I became nervous and fatigued. I was heading for failure and sickness, but what could I do?"

Resting sadly in bed one Sunday, trying to recover from the exhaustion of the week and store up energy for the new battle to survive which would begin next day, Iris idly flicked the pages of a book a friend had loaned her.

"I had had little time for reading, but by then I'd sold my TV and stereo to meet more pressing matters, so I became absorbed in the book," she said. "It was about the secret power of pyramids. I guess it was as much hopelessness as interest that had me make a little pyramid and try the method described."

What Iris had found was a South Face Tide technique which others had used to protect themselves from adversity.

"Staring at a colored piece of folded cardboard seemed futile," she said. "Yet it had a strange calming effect on me. For the first time in weeks I did not cry myself to sleep. I remember telling myself that worrying myself into an early grave would not help a bit."

Iris took her pyramid to her store next day, and was surprised to find three customers waiting to buy flowers.

"They told me one of the big stores down the road had closed its floral department because the manager had decided they'd put enough money into a losing sector," Iris said. "That was good news. I'd no sooner served my waiting customers than I had a phone call asking me to arrange all the flowers for a big wedding.

"Business turned positive from that day on. I acquired a reputation for reliability, willingness and fair prices, and was able to pay off the bank loan five months later.

"I keep the little pyramid on a shelf behind the counter. As business continues to expand I certainly feel it gives me solid protection from bad luck and has helped me overcome insuperable odds."

THE WEST FACE OF HEALTH AND STRENGTH

Watched over by the power of benevolent Angel Gabriel, the West Face Psychic Energy Tide is identified with the element of Water.

No matter how many pills, potions and nostrums you may have in your home, none of them is worth a wooden nickel unless you use them in tune with the West Face Tide which governs health and strength.

Strange as it may seem to some, your body was designed by its Creator to be strong and healthy. Given half a chance, a diseased or sick body will automatically battle hard to return to health. Any honest doctor will tell you that in many cases his prescriptions are merely assists to make the patient comfortable while the body heals itself.

The doctor does not cure you of a malady: you do that by giving your body a chance to use its miraculous self-healing powers. More and more, medical science is discovering that many diseases are caused by our mistreatment and outright poisoning of our physical bodies. And that poisoning is not only physical: even mental "poisoning" can occur, by entertaining powerful negative thoughts which eventually appear as physical disease.

Some researchers now believe that even the dreaded scourge of cancer can be defeated by using mind power to supplement medical treatment and give the body maximum chances to expel the cancerous body cells and replace them with healthy ones.

All the above can be summed up in this psychic method by suggesting you attune yourself with the West Face Tide. Allowing that energy to flow through you brings natural healing energies to a peak, so that aches, pains and weaknesses quickly become things of the past for you.

LARRY F. "THREW AWAY HIS CRUTCHES"

Badly injured in a car accident, 26-year-old Larry F. spent three full years going from one doctor and specialist to the next. Six operations later his surgeon told Larry everything possible had been done to repair his injured spine.

"They'd taken out a piece of my hip bone and used it to weld several crushed vertebrae," he said. "A silver pin held my hip in place, while my left knee was a jigsaw of slowly mending bone splinters.

"The pain was less than it had been before the first operation but I had to walk with crutches. I was not about to play football again: limping to the john was about my limit of strenuous activity!"

Larry resigned himself to spending the rest of his life on crutches, with the specter of a wheelchair existence hovering if his fractured body should take a turn for the worse.

"The doctors said it was only a matter of time before the repairs wore out," he said. "They said I should be prepared for even more restricted movement before I reached my 40's."

With his previously athletic life totally disbarred, Larry had to find other leisure pastimes.

"My pal Bob was into pyramid experiments," Larry said. "We'd meet a couple of times a week and discuss the latest research into such powers. I was very doubtful about it all, despite the written reports and evidence. I could not see how building a particular shape which had no working parts could have any effect on its surroundings."

Nevertheless, Larry agreed to be the "guinea pig" for Bob in a West Face Tide experiment.

"We used a six-inch pyramid, put the symbols and signs on it and I spent five minutes every day studying the West Face and remembering my earlier days when I was top scorer with the local football team," Larry said. "Two weeks later I took my first unsupported step since the accident. I naturally continued with my previous therapies, but I find it a strange coincidence that the first real signs I might be on the mend came after I began the pyramid work."

Progress was rapid. Larry's knee regained full mobility.

"My spine seemed less rigid, I was waking in the morning free of pain and I could walk several steps without aid," he said. "I was still very creaky, though, and I was glad to sit down after my brief excursions. But compared to my previous incapacity, I felt like a new man.

“I gained enough confidence and endurance to throw away my crutches. I’m gradually beginning to resume my old life. You’re unlikely to see me scoring a field goal this year, but I honestly feel that’s a later possibility.”

DRAWING NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY POWER TO YOU

Aligning yourself with New Psychic Energy Power is simplicity itself. In detail, I’ll be explaining how to do it later in this book.

In essence, you’re tuning your mind and body to unseen vibrations—and it’s no more tedious or difficult than tuning your radio or TV to your local studios by pushing a switch and turning a knob. This New Psychic Energy Power method shows you, exactly and precisely, which mental and physical “knobs” to turn, and thus effortlessly change your life.

You may be wondering why we’re going through this preamble before actually finding out what to do to become wealthy, peaceful, protected and healthy. You may even be tempted to skim through this section, seeking the practical techniques further on. Please refrain from skipping chunks of this book: if any parts had been unnecessary, I would have been pleased to leave them out, if only to reduce the sheer toil of all this typing and thus get the book to you more quickly.

This introductory stuff is very necessary, and I’ve already indicated why. I’m planting ideas in your mind, preparing you for the miracles to come.

Believe it: the “tuning in” has already begun, even though you’ve turned only a few pages of this book so far.

ALL NEGATIVES FADED INTO SUBLIME HAPPINESS FOR NANCY E.

Nancy E. was one of the unfortunate people who lost their homes and possessions in the 1978 floods which devastated parts of North America.

"I went down with bronchitis while we were in temporary housing provided by the authorities," she said. "We had carried no insurance, my husband and I were on welfare, and we'd never had children who might have helped us through the crisis.

"Not too long after the flood was a memory, we were deep in trouble. We'd rented a furnished room, I was still wheezing and under par. My husband had been able to find a job with a removal firm even though at 64 he was not really fit to carry heavy loads.

"Then the tax people were bugging us for $748 they said we owed from last year. I heard my aunt was desperately sick, yet we could not afford to visit with her. A final blow came when my husband tore a knee ligament and was laid up in bed. More bills piled up, we were evicted from our room and we just did not know which way to turn."

The future was dark for Nancy and her husband. Both sick, no money, little food, growing debts and no respite in sight.

"Desperation is just a word until you truly live with it," Nancy said. "We could not adjust to being residents of an old people's home for the indigent where we found shelter. I used to pray to God each night, asking for a miracle."

Pyramids came into Nancy's life unexpectedly.

"One person in the hostel whom I found totally peaceful and satisfied was old George," Nancy said. "He was 92 and still quietly enjoying life. He used to say he'd done everything and now he was ready to meet his Maker whenever He chose to call. Until then he'd wait patiently, playing with his 'toys.'

"He showed his toys to me: little card pyramids with signs and colored symbols on them. He'd spend hours just gazing at them. He said he could travel all over the universe in his mind while he sat looking at a pyramid."

Nancy thought this was all the harmless delusion of a senile mind, but one afternoon she joined George in his favorite corner, and listened while he told her how to tune in to the power of the pyramids.

“As I looked at each symbol I found different emotions stirring. I felt more peaceful, healthier, protected and hopeful. George grinned when I said it was all suggestion. His answer was that did it matter what it was if it helped to make life happier?”

That single session with George started a train of marvelous events for Nancy.

“Two days later George died quietly in his sleep, smiling happily at some private joke,” Nancy said. “He’d recently written his will, and we were surprised to find he’d left everything he owned to us. He’d written that I was the only person who had not poked fun at his pyramids, so he left them to me.

“We were touched at his gesture, but amazed at what followed. He also willed us the contents of a bank deposit box to help us a little.”

The deposit box proved to be a treasure trove. It contained a cache of antique jewelry, several hundred thousand dollars in old currency dating back decades, and the deeds to a luxurious apartment block which was being fully managed and maintained by a paid staff with the profits mailed to George each month.

“In the box was a note,” Nancy related. “It said: ‘Enjoy all this, whoever claims it. I had no need for it, for my pyramids opened the doors to greater riches than man can provide.’”

“Moving suddenly from abject poverty to opulence was almost too much to comprehend. But we managed it. And we keep George’s pyramids in pride of place in our penthouse.”

THE FIRST GLORIOUS SIGNS OF NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY POWER IN ACTION

You want proof, eh? You seek physical evidence, perhaps, that all this talk of Psychic Power Tides and Energies is not just a figment of my fevered imagination.

I agree that taking my words on trust entails a suspension of disbelief, and some of you will feel you cannot wait to actually prove out these Psychic Energy Tides by waiting for the miraculous results.

So here is a small test, a simple technique, which enables you to feel New Psychic Energy Power within you, so you know it's just waiting to change your most hopeless dreams into stupendous reality.

What part of your body is unhealthy? A pain, a twinge, any malfunction will do. Headache, kidney stone, toothache, cut, bruise, blister, carbuncle, pimple, charley horse or creaking joint—some part of you is not working quite as it should. Even if you're the world's greatest health buff, you're certain to have a tooth cavity, receding hair, a hang nail ... something you'd like to see cured.

All right: bare the skin over the hurt and lay your hand on it. Which hand? The most convenient one; it's not important which. Both hands if you like—this works well for indigestion, for instance, with both hands laid across the pain, with fingers touching.

Now breathe deeply.<sup>1</sup> Really deeply, about ten times, inflating your lungs to their fullest, then exhaling until you can almost feel your stomach wall touch your spine. Make the breaths faster than usual—force the air in and out a bit. You should be able to complete the ten breaths in less than one minute.

While you're doing this, and afterward as you allow your breathing to return to its normal rate and depth, feel what's happening under and in your hand.

You'll detect a prickling sensation, a tingling in your palm or fingers. Or maybe you'll feel a coolness or extra heat under the hand. Certainly you'll feel something.

Physically, the deep breathing has cleaned carbon dioxide gas from your bloodstream, temporarily changing the electrical balance of your body fluids, and thus altering the sensitivity of your nerves.

<sup>1</sup>If you have a heart condition and have been told or suspect that deep breathing is dangerous to your well-being, disregard this test.

You're feeling a symptom of New Psychic Energy Power doing its amazing work. If you had a pain when you started, you may have felt it increase slightly before it began to fade. Skin blemishes will heal quicker than usual with a similar daily application of New Psychic Energy Power. No matter what's wrong with you, regular treatment as described will begin to tune your body to heal itself.<sup>2</sup>

That was simple enough, agreed? And nothing to come is any more complicated or difficult, and you've now mastered a vital part of the West Face Tide techniques. We'll be looking at them in greater depth in Energy Circuit 6, later in this book.

But before that, let us move to Energy Circuit 2, which tells you about the miraculous New Psychic Energy Generator.

<sup>2</sup>This technique must not be used to replace professional health care and treatment. Use it in addition to your doctor's treatment if you need to be under medical care.

How to Make and Use Your New Psychic Pyramidic Generator

This section brings us to the construction of a simple little artifact with awesome powers. It's going to involve you in a minor amount of work with pencil, cardboard, scissors and tape or glue, but I assure you the small time and effort you invest in this can bring dividends out of all proportion to the physical energy and thought you expend in constructing it.

ASSEMBLING YOUR NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY GENERATOR

On the facing page you'll see Figure 1, made up of four triangles. This is the pattern for your New Psychic Energy Generator, and the very first vital point I wish to make is this: DO NOT CUT THE DIAGRAM FROM THE PAGE to make your Generator.

The reason is that on the other side of that page the text of this book continues. If you cut the page, two things will occur: first, you'll lose some of these instructions which you may need to refer to later. Second, and more important, if you construct your New Psychic Energy Generator from the diagram itself, when your Generator is completed it will have printing all over the inside of it. This is not the idea: the inside of your Generator needs to be blank.

FIGURE 1: Pattern for New Psychic Energy Generator

In summary, making your Generator by cutting the pattern from this book will be useless: the Generator will fail to operate as it should.

Your first task, then, is to trace the diagram on to a sheet of thin card, which need be no larger than four inches square. What thickness should the card be? Stiff but not rigid is the answer; about the thickness of the cover of the average paperback book, or a trifle thicker, is about right.

If you do not happen to have such a piece of plain card lying around your home, ask your local shoe store for a shoe box they're going to throw out—the card used to make that is ideal for your purpose.

The color of the card is unimportant, although white, gray or neutral buff is probably best.

When you've drawn your diagram on the card, cut around the outline and you're almost through. Lay the card flat on the table and score the four dotted lines with the point of the scissors, denting the card to make it easy to fold along the dotted lines.

Last, fold the card away from you at the four dotted lines, and tuck the end tab under the triangle on the left, securing it with a dab of glue or a bit of tape.

There, looking like my sketch in Figure 2, opposite, is your basic New Psychic Energy Generator in the shape of a small pyramid.

It's intended to stand on any flat surface, on its open base, just like its gigantic brother, the Great Pyramid of Gizeh—and you're going to find, despite its diminutive size that your Generator has enormous powers for good.

GOOD NEWS CAME FOR THEO S. WITHIN HOURS OF MAKING HIS NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY GENERATOR

Theo S. is pleased to be included in this book as a prime example of what can happen as soon as you begin to tune in to Pyramid Power and its higher energies. However, Theo would prefer his true identity to remain secret. To observe that request I have changed some salient features in this case history to make quite sure he is unrecognizable.

Theo (now known by a stage name you'd instantly recognize) was not always the popular star and show host he is today. He can easily recall his many years of struggling to stay alive. If you'd told him only three short years ago that today he'd be hosting his own nationwide TV program, applauded by audiences and loved by viewers, he'd have smiled sweetly and told you to go peddle your fantasy pills some place else.

FIGURE 2: Basic New Psychic Energy Generator

Because of rheumatoid fever, Theo was a retiring, timid child. Through his teen years he never showed initiative or spark.

"I was the butt of bullies," he says. "If they were feeling like taking out their frustrations on anyone, nine times in ten it was Theo who got roughed up.

"My parents divorced when I was 12 and I spent years in several foster homes. I did two years in jail for an alleged embezzlement which was a frame-up."

After coming out of his cell, Theo had much trouble finding work. He knows firsthand that despite rehabilitation promises, an ex-con carries a stigma for the rest of his life.

"I wanted to enter real estate but my license was refused when they found out I had a record," he said. "Time after time employers turned me down. I was tempted to live up to their expectations that an ex-con can never go straight. I'd have really taken up crime as a living, but I was afraid to."

So Theo persisted in seeking straight employment. Eventually he found work in a small radio station in New Jersey.

"I swept the floor, carried garbage, made coffee for the d-j's, greased the station truck, filed scripts and oiled typewriters," he said. "About the only menial job around the station I was not called on to do was to wipe the manager's nose."

Toiling 48 hours a week, Theo pulled down just enough to keep body and soul together.

"Lucky I was not aspiring to any luxuries," he said. "I was too busy working to need a car for joy-riding, and glad to sleep rather than go out on the town."

Theo's life continued unchanged for months, with no prospects of any kind of break.

The factor that coincided with Theo's life alteration was the visit of a psychic on one of the station's hot-line shows.

"During her discussion on air she was asked by a caller what she thought about the power of pyramids," Theo related. "Specifically, the caller described a combination of pyramid, symbols and sigils he'd put together which he said brought him good luck.

"The psychic was enthusiastic, so figuring I needed some good luck I built a pyramid and showed it to her before she left the station."

The busy psychic hurried out to her waiting cab.

"That's good," she called. "Now watch what happens!"

The first thing Theo noticed happening was a snow-storm, three feet deep and drifting. The cabs and buses headed for the garage and Theo was marooned at the station. The snow also prevented the evening shift of radio people getting to work.

"It was sheer necessity and shortage of warm bodies which prompted the station manager to tell me to get my head down and sleep and then take over a record show at midnight," Theo said. "He told me all I had to do was put discs on the turntable and switch in commercial cassettes and pre-packaged news tapes at intervals called out in a script."

By dawn Theo was totally bored with the routine and decided to take over a live microphone and talk to the waking city.

"I just went ad lib, played a little music from records I liked, told a joke or two, gave a spoof weather forecast, held an imaginary interview with Santa Claus, handling his voice as well as my own—silly things like that," Theo said. "I was having fun, and I figured no one was listening anyway."

Theo was still going strong when the day shift of announcers and staff showed. When the receptionist arrived she found her switchboard lit up like a Christmas tree with incoming calls. Those calls, all wanting to know who the great guy on the air was, continued long after Theo had handed over to a regular staffer.

Theo had caught the public's imagination. By some magic of warmth, personality and timing he was a hit. His own talk show started the following week, and his city had a day of mock mourning when he left for bigger and better things on the West Coast.

"I took my pyramid, of course," he said. "And I've never stopped going up since. Money? More than I need. Fame? Awards fill my den. Lovelife? Perfect. Contentment? Supreme!"

The pyramid Theo built is identical to the New Psychic Energy Generator I've shown you how to build. Truly identical: Theo was kind enough to show his pyramid to me and allow me to sketch it.

WHERE TO PLACE YOUR NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY GENERATOR

Despite its possibly humble beginnings as a discarded shoe box, you now own a true psychic tool to assist you in your search for happiness. Part of its potency, by the way, is due to the fact that you built it for yourself; all experienced psychic workers acknowledge the greater efficiency of artifacts which are self-made.

So although it's possible for you to buy a small pyramid, or even to have someone do this simple card-folding job for you, you're far better served by custom-building your Generator your own way, putting your time, labor and thoughts into it.

Your Generator forms a focus for the energies you will be using to reshape your life, so you need to find a place for it to sit and absorb and radiate. Some of the psychic techniques require you to sit and look at it, so you need to give it a few inches of space on a shelf, windowsill or table where it can sit relatively undisturbed.

Yes, you can put it away in a closet or drawer between times, but I've found it best to allocate a spot for your Generator and leave it there.

The final spot you choose for your Generator's "home" should be in a quiet room (if you have one!), away from the distractions of the TV, stereo or radio. Your kitchen, dining area or bedroom are fine.

Place your Generator as far as feasible from electrical sockets and trailing extension cords to appliances or swag lamps. If you happen to have aluminum siding on your residence, do not place your Generator against the outside wall of the room; aluminum has been found to screen off some of your Generator's more powerful energies.

Lastly, arrange your Generator to face the four points of the compass. That is, if it was out in the open, the rising sun would shine on its east face. Arranged that way, two of the parallel sides will run north and south. You can set it with a hiker's compass if you wish, or find the North Star on a clear night and use that as a reference point.

This orientation matches your Generator to the Earth's magnetic field which runs north and south.

"MY ENEMIES PACKED UP AND LEFT," STATES GLADYS T.

Gladys T. is much like the rest of us. She works hard, tries not to hurt her fellow beings, cares for her husband in sickness and in health as she promised at their wedding 20 years ago. She is doing her best to raise her children to be respectable citizens, she watches her budget carefully, and she recognizes the give and take necessary to a peaceful community.

"So I was totally shocked when a group of local residents ganged up against me," she said. "To this day I'm unaware what I did or said to earn their enmity unless they were jealous of our steady progress.

"All I know is a steady hate campaign began against us. My children were harassed on the school bus. Someone threw a dead cat on our lawn the week after our garbage pails, awaiting pickup, had been spilled across the driveway.

"Then a brick crashed through the living room window while we were shopping. Those were the material things that went on, but the rumors that began about us were worse.

"People were whispering I was bouncing checks, something I have never done. Yet that rumor alone was enough to close off credit in the town for me."

Harassing phone calls began at all hours of the day and night. When Gladys' husband answered, an obviously disguised voice told him obscene lies about what his wife was doing while he was at work.

"Our ornamental hedge died when acid was poured on the roots," Gladys related. "More foul rumors circulated, and even my friends were crossing the street when they saw me coming."

At the office where Gladys' husband worked the manager received an anonymous letter suggesting he check who in Gladys' family had been arrested for indecent exposure and sexual offenses.

"The answer was no one had," Gladys said, "but it was terribly embarrassing both for my husband and his boss."

Gladys went to the police who promised to investigate.

"They turned up nothing, and we could get no proof who was behind it all," Gladys said. "We had suspicions, but not solid enough to take legal action."

Six months after the hate campaign started, Gladys was heading for a nervous breakdown. She was afraid to answer the telephone, or even to move far from home, particularly after a dozen rotten eggs were splattered across their neat aluminum siding.

“Having explored all logical avenues, I finally consulted a card reader—one of those ladies who promise to solve all your problems,” Gladys said. “Although I know many are fakes, this one was not. She identified the fact that we were being attacked for no good reason, she described three families living in our suburb—but added we would never catch them out in their smear campaign.

“Her advice, which I felt at the time would be totally worthless, was to make a small pyramid and see my enemies defeated by working on South Face routines.”

Nothing else had worked, so Gladys duly made a card pyramid and added the symbols as she had been advised.

“I still fail to see any connection between viewing the Fire symbol and the subsequent results,” she said, “but our attack ceased. Only normal telephone calls came in. No one threw anything more at the house, our children reported the bullying children no longer used the bus, and our life returned to normal.

“One of the families we suspected watched their uninsured house burn to the ground a week later. Nobody was hurt but they moved to the other side of town.

“The husband in a second family of suspected malefactors was fired from his job and promptly took his wife and dependents far to the East, seeking new work.

“The third family put their home up for sale for no good reason we could discover and resettled a thousand miles away.

“It seems the pyramid caused my enemies to pack up and leave. I’m still startled, but truly grateful.”

WHAT TO EXPECT FROM YOUR NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY GENERATOR

What will happen as soon as you build and place your New Psychic Energy Generator in its position?

Visibly, nothing! And that can be a disappointment for some hopeful souls. They perhaps expect a humming and whirring, vibrations, lights, celestial music, a chime of bells and the rustle of angels' wings to announce this start of their journey to a new life.

No such phenomena are likely to occur. Your Generator will just sit there, four square, and nothing you can see or hear will happen. But at the level of the unseen, in the intangible world of luck, emotions, destiny, soul growth, progress and harmony, fantastic events are getting set to happen to you.

From spheres of influence which are as yet still subject to much research, the very forces which shape the future are gearing up to help you. Your part in the equation is to use New Psychic Energy Power techniques to indicate what you'd like to happen.

So here come the promised happiness, love, money, luxuries—all in your immediate future the moment you apply the techniques I'm going to explain in subsequent chapters.

JANKE L. STRUCK IT RICH

This case history, a personal experience, illustrates two things. First, that the search for the secrets of Pyramid Power have been going on a long while, and second, some people whom the rest of the world call "strange" use their metaphysical knowledge for vast material gains.

I knew Janke L. more than 15 years ago. That was in the early 60's when bearded hippies were coming on the scene. Janke had looked like a hippie for decades before that!

He use to stride through the town with a pet raven on his shoulder. Janke's clothes should have been deep-sixed years before. Not to put too fine a point on it, both Janke and his garments needed a wash. The pile of raven stuff on his shoulder and down his back bore witness to that, if your nose failed to signal his condition to you first.

He lived in a cave, under deplorable conditions. Nothing the local authorities did to him made him change his unsanitary way of life.

Yet he had once been a professor at a famous English school, although he seemed ashamed of that part of his life. His whole existence revolved around Mysticism, Magic and Metaphysics.

"I'm a one-man 3M company," he used to quip, "and one day when I get the hang of the pyramids I'll buy that outfit."

I learned a great deal from Janke in his noisome grotto, with water dripping down the rocks, the fire flaring and smoking and the raven croaking in its sleep.

Janke kept himself fed by prospecting, and despite expert geological evidence which said no gold existed within a hundred miles of his cave, he turned up enough flakes of that valuable metal to satisfy his meager needs.

I met Janke again last year. Rather, he came calling. It caused a bit of local flurry—and I was a mite surprised too—when a bright green helicopter swept in to land on the back acre behind my home.

Out stepped a truly splendid figure. Gold lamé suit, silver boots with diamond buckles. Gems, gold and platinum bejeweled his fingers. He wore a wide-awake hat with a mink band encrusted with emeralds. The fortune in pendants and bangles around his neck should have bowed his shoulders—and might have done so if he had not been so disgustingly healthy!

I did not recognize him. Even his beard was transformed from the old straggling shambles to a neat goatee. Only when he named himself did I realize it was Janke, transformed.

"I finally got the edge on that old pyramid stuff," he called. "Want to tell you about it."

We talked far into the night. He was delighted to share his pyramid discoveries. Much of what he told me is here in this book.

He buzzed off at dawn, heading for his retreat high in the Rockies. During the conversation I had heard of his world trips, fabulous castles he owns, his highly paid “slaves,” his pyramid-shaped house high in the Andes, his gold and treasure expeditions—the whole spectrum of a fantastic way of life.

I do not believe he bought the 3M company as he threatened so long ago. But he could. Mystic turned playboy Janke finally struck it rich!

WHEN YOUR PERSONAL MIRACLES WILL COME TRUE

“I tried one of the methods in your book the same day it arrived. Two days later nothing had happened. What am I doing wrong?”

That statement I read with sorrow in a few of the letters I receive. Similar correspondents ask: “When will my personal miracles come true?”

Good questions, and I truly wish there was a single answer which would fit each and every one of my readers. The first question’s answer is: “You’re doing nothing really wrong. Maybe you’re being a mite impatient for openers, but more than that I suspect you’ve looked up a subject in the index, found the page that attracts you, and used only that page, ignoring the rest of the suggestions in the book.”

If I could put this whole method on one page for you, I would—have no doubt about that! However, psychic energy takes a little more explaining and instructing than anything I can pack into about 400 words. What you’re holding at this moment is a complete self-contained method of applying psychic energy to your life. You may feel you can dip in and take parts of this book without reading and understanding the remainder, and I have to agree that some people can do that and achieve success.

But most readers need every word of this book, from the first to the last pages. The ideas and concepts expressed work changes at subconscious levels, and each alteration in your thinking patterns prompted by the sentences on these pages is another building block in the whole structure which enables your New Psychic Energy Power to flow free and clear to shape coming events to bring you all you could wish for ... and more!

Yes, you're setting yourself up for personal miracles, but you need all the help you can get. Approaching the matter piecemeal reduces your success chances.

And as to when you will finally find yourself surrounded by each and every luxury you can conceive, peaceful, rich, fulfilled by loving companionship, free of pressures, pain and woes for the first time in your life, that again depends on your circumstances.

First, it's a question of priorities. When you come to create your Akashic List of Desires and Needs (a psychic tidbit I've reserved for Energy Circuit 11), you'll decide on the right order of things.

Obviously, if you hanker after a full-size pool table, you'll first need to bring yourself a recreation room big enough to put it in! That's a very simple example, but it illustrates how your miracles come step by step, in the right order. You can understand that a pool table delivered to someone who lives in a three-room walk-up would be more a liability than an asset. Instead of bringing pleasure, it would produce turmoil—which is most definitely not the aim of this book.

So the answer to "When?" is this: "Your miracles will occur exactly when the time is right for them to occur for your maximum fulfillment and joy. Some can happen overnight; others will wait in the wings of the future before walking onto your life stage at the precise moment when everything else harmonizes with that miracle."

I'll extend that thought a little with an example, because it's important—especially to those of you who feel that winning a lottery tomorrow, or otherwise getting a large lump sum in cash will give you the peace of mind you desire.

A young acquaintance of mine, a lovely young lady of just 20 years, was sure that $30,000 would solve all her problems. She had her whole life before her, yet she was so out of tune with harmonious destiny that she was screwing it up badly.

Already she had had an illegitimate child, fathered by a married man she had lived with for a year. She was lonely, her child had been taken from her custody, and she decided that money would solve her loneliness and despair.

What she really needed was a partner to care for her, love her and give her sexual fulfillment. She figured that if she was rich she would automatically attract just such a desirable male.

I'm not aware whether she used psychic methods (if she did, she certainly did not use any that I support), but within a year she had her $30,000 in the bank.

She received the money from an insurance claim: she was involved in an auto accident, broke both legs and suffered painful internal injuries. She was paralyzed for six months, and medical costs over and above her insurance coverage cost her $7,000. The courts awarded her $37,000, which left her with the desired sum.

The money duly brought her the companionship of a male. She lavished her bankroll on him, buying him (among other luxuries) a Harley-Davidson motorbike. Inside of 12 months she had just $800 left, no income, and no prospects of a job. When the money dried up, the boyfriend walked out for good.

Two days later they found what was left of that poor little rich girl in a public park. Alone, unwanted, and again despairing, she had ended her earthly turmoil by blowing her brains out with a handgun.

Yes, she got her money. But no, it did not work miracles for her. She had her priorities wrong: the miracle she needed was a loving companion—then the money could have come, if she felt she still needed it.

That sad real-life example fully answers those of my readers who wonder why their psychic energy fails to win them a lottery the day after they start in on the techniques:

the time is not yet right—you have to change in some way, or some other miracle must happen first.

And of course the pure joy of this method I'm offering you here is that there's positively no danger of anything drastic happening to you such as what happened to the young lady whose harrowing tale I've just related.

Used as directed in these pages, New Psychic Energy Power knows the path to lead you to harmony and peace, and will unerringly do so, bringing changes in the correct order and degree so you're ready to gladly grasp them and handle the results with true cosmic harmony.

MARRIED TO AN ALCOHOLIC, YET LAURA N. SAYS "I'M IN CONTROL"

Laura N.'s case history is a trifle different from the average. She did not aspire to thousands of dollars, a new lover, rejuvenation or any other facets of high living.

Laura's need was simple and clearcut. She loved her husband, Joe, and wanted to be with him and help him. But Joe was an alcoholic.

"Our relationship was breaking up," Laura said. "I rarely wallow in self-pity, but I seemed to be eternally clearing up after him, trying to straighten out our debts and his working hassles, covering up for him. I contacted AA but their counselors said Joe would get well only when he decided to stop drinking. They were hopeful but not too helpful.

"I could not get through to Joe. In his rare sober moments he was sorry and guilty, but then he'd slip back and I'd feel that cold despair clutching my heart again. Where would it all end?"

Searching for anything which might help, Laura came across various psychic and mind-power methods, some promising overnight miracles. None of them stopped Joe drinking, no matter how assiduously Laura practiced the chants, techniques, rituals and affirmations.

“After exchanging letters with an author of a psychic self-help book I had a minor revelation,” Laura said. “These methods—the genuine ones at least—are exactly that: self-help.

“Unless I could get Joe to use mindpower, my efforts would almost certainly fail. So I began working on myself to bring peace of mind, acceptance and happiness.

“Joe still drinks. But not as much, and I can see the day when he’ll go to AA and quit for good. My own harmony and peace are radiating to him, and giving him strength. I believe we have the problem licked, now that I’m stronger, happier and in control.”

HOW DOES YOUR NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY GENERATOR WORK?

Your New Psychic Energy Generator is a cosmic apparatus which will change your life. Exactly how it does this is shrouded in mystery. We can talk wisely of vibrations and energies, manipulation of events, shaping the future—but truth to tell we have no more idea of how this all happens than we have of knowing why an apple falls off a tree.

The apple falls because gravity pulls it down. But what gravity is has yet to be fathomed by the world’s greatest brains.

Similarly, your Generator works miracles in an unseen manner, apparently by focusing the cosmic energy which rules creation. My suggestion to you is to accept evidence which scientists and statisticians would call “empirical.” Time after time, when used as suggested, miracles happen to people who employ their New Psychic Energy Generator. How it does it remains unknown for now, but the fact that it does indeed work is undeniable.

So use your Generator, literally in good health, and enjoy, enjoy!

LUDOVIC C. NOW KNOWS "WHAT HAPPINESS REALLY IS"

You could call Ludovic C. a student of New Psychic Energy Power who earned himself straight A's all across the board. He illustrates how attention to all life aspects with the various techniques brings total fulfillment.

"My existence could not have been described as desperate," Ludovic said, "but it sure was monotonous. A secure job with no chance of anything more than a cost of living raise each year. An affectionate wife, but without any fire of love between us. An average car, a few years old. Some debts, not enough to lie awake over, but just sufficient to put a kink in our plans if we wanted to live a little. A circle of good solid friends, all much like me.

"Some people might envy my security, but I wondered if that was all there was to life. I could see a steady diet of work, a beer or two with the boys, TV sports on Saturday, a brief yearly vacation, then retirement, a rocking chair, and quiet, stagnating end years. Call me ungrateful for wanting to change, but that was not enough for me."

Pyramid techniques pulled Ludovic out of his rut before the sides caved in and stifled him.

"I made a five-year plan," Ludovic said. "I began working steadily on a daily basis at changing the aspects of my life which were fencing me in.

"First I sparked up my energy and natural forces with West Face methods. You should have seen the way our marriage opened up!

"Then I moved into a higher income bracket with North Face work, and once I got moving, I went up and up.

"Minor South Face techniques kept at bay the negativity coming from others who envied the good luck which began raining down on us. Then the East Face ironed out frustrations, brought interesting new people into our circle and instilled a steadiness in me that the world recognizes and responds to.

“Everything dropped into place as I planned at the outset. Now I’m working on a more ambitious five-year plan. It’s fantastic: I now truly know what happiness really is.”

EARTH, AIR, FIRE AND WATER SYMBOLS

Having built your New Psychic Generator you can add further force to its miraculous abilities by inscribing it with four mystic symbols.

You recall I instructed you to arrange your Generator to face north, south, east and west. The addition I’m suggesting is to add a symbol on each face of your Generator to further focus the forces we’re using.

The face to the east is associated with Air; to the west we connect with Water; to the south with Fire; and to the north with Earth.

Figure 3 on this page shows simplified versions of ancient symbols which represent the four elements. Once again, I urge you not to cut them out: that’s the easy (and useless) way.

EARTH

AIR

FIRE

WATER

FIGURE 3: Earth, Air, Fire and Water Symbols

Take the time to draw them onto your Generator, in pencil, felt pen, wax crayon—any writing implement you may have at hand. No need to worry if they're not exactly as shown here: the important thing is that you have drawn them, using your hands and mind. If the finished sketches are not quite accurate representations of the symbols in Figure 3, that's fine: they are your personal interpretations of the symbols, tuned to your mind and body.

So add the appropriate symbol on each of the four faces of your Generator and you're another step closer to that ideal life you've only dreamed of so far.

The North Face of Material Wealth

We now begin our tour around the four faces of the pyramid. As we have already noted, the North Face is associated with things you can see and touch, and by tuning yourself in to the energies of this face you automatically bring money, possessions and luxuries into your life.

DEFINING YOUR MATERIAL NEEDS

You'll find as you experience the magnificent aspects of New Psychic Energy Power that the guiding principle behind it knows better than you do what is best for your progress and happiness.

You'll notice I emphasize this time after time: you set up the picture of what you wish to do, and then let Cosmic Energy decide how this will happen. And invariably it occurs in the most natural, harmonious and convenient manner, at the exact time when it will do you the most good.

And here we come to an unusual stumbling block which trips some people. Allow me to remove it immediately!

What stops some of my readers in their tracks is deciding exactly what the word "material" means. As you'll be realizing, we use each face of the pyramid and your New Psychic Energy Generator to bring various things to you.

What, then, is strictly "material" and connected with this North Face we're investigating?

If you can see it and touch it, it's material! Anything else—the intangibles like happiness, freedom, health, love, safety and similar concepts—belongs to another face of the pyramid.

Putting that another way, for maximum clarity: if you can't touch, see, smell, taste or hear it, then you're not dealing with a material item.

That's an important definition: although the Tides are very flexible and will make allowances for any confusion on your part, you'll find quicker and better results if you can lay down clear ground rules for the Tides to operate within.

And with that clarification behind us, we can move on to bringing all those material advantages which you currently lack and desire. The combined techniques explained here can ensure that you will never again have to worry where the next dollar is coming from.

EDYTHE A. LITERALLY SAILED TO PROSPERITY

Edythe A.'s husband, Wilson, is an invalid. A trucking accident crippled him when he was 23 years old, only six months after Edythe and he had married, hoping to walk happily side by side into the future.

"That was 20 years ago," Edythe said. "We've never been able to have children. But we've had each other, and it's been a true labor of love to care for Wilson.

"I've had to be the breadwinner to add to the disability pension Wilson receives; as prices rose over the years his check has bought less and less."

Edythe and Wilson stuck together through lean times and better times, but life was never easy or leisured.

"I suppose I should be thankful we always survived," Edythe said. "But I began to hanker after a break. Just a single week on a beach with other people to do the chores would have been pure heaven."

Despite every economy, Edythe's attempts to put together a small nest egg were always thwarted. Whenever she had salted away a few dollars, a rise in living costs, a rent hike or an unexpected expense cleaned out her savings.

"A miracle was the only thing that was going to break the vicious circle we were in," Edythe said, "and as my unaided efforts had failed, I began casting around for just such a miracle."

Reading an article in a tabloid newspaper about pyramids and their magic, Edythe wrote to the editorial offices, asking for the address of the man in the story who said he had become wealthy with pyramid power.

"To cut a long story short, I also discovered pyramid miracles," Edythe said. "My need was simple. We already had contentment and love, I was healthy and strong, no one was pressuring us unpleasantly. So I concentrated on North Face Tides.

"My target was to get us a beach cottage where we could spend a weekend or two just taking it easy now and again."

Wilson saw Edythe's pyramid involvement as a harmless diversion. Even today he refuses to get involved with what he calls "those tomfool gizmos." Yet a progressive sequence of events began almost at once for the couple.

"A radio station was running a contest," Edythe said. "I entered, and although I missed the big cash prizes, I won a week's vacation for two at a lakeside resort. That was not quite what I'd envisaged, but we gladly accepted."

During their brief vacation Edythe met the owner of a small fleet of canoes, rowing boats and sailing skiffs. The man ran a profitable summer business, renting the craft to visitors.

"He was getting on in years and was looking for a partner who could take over the business when he retired in a couple of years," Edythe said. "We looked at the options and agreed to give it a try for the rest of the season. We've never looked back since."

Edythe and Wilson have their beach cottage now. Bobbing in front of it is their fleet of brightly colored boats.

"The owner duly retired, we'd made enough to buy him out, and we're joint owners of the business now. I work in the fresh air and sun from May to September, and the rest of the year Wilson and I can relax," Edythe said. "Wilson is getting better since we've been able to afford specialist treatment for him. I always say pyramid power helped us to sail to prosperity!"

MONEY AND POSSESSIONS ARE YOURS WITH THE GOLDEN SQUARE OF PRITHIVI

How would you like to open a door to treasure? Imagine such a door swinging back on its hinges to reveal stacks of dollars, piles of gold pieces, sparkling diamonds, jewelry ... enough wealth to rouse the envy of a fabled sultan!

I'm about to show you such a door, and also reveal your personal key to opening it. And the fascinating feature of this door is that you do not have to move an inch to find it—and you decide what material things you wish to find behind it!

This is part of the North Face of Material Wealth, and illustrates just one single way of using your New Psychic Energy Power to generate your harmony, happiness and riches.

This fabulous "door" to wealth consists simply of a symbol named the Golden Square of Prithivi. By placing this symbol in conjunction with your New Psychic Energy Generator you achieve a vital attunement with the Cosmic Tides which bring material advantages.

Physically your square consists of a piece of paper, colored gold (or bright yellow). Once again, it's part of the process to create this symbol for yourself, to put you in tune with its unseen powers.

Find a piece of gold foil or yellow paper, and cut a one-inch square from it. If you cannot locate foil or colored paper, use white paper and color it (one side only is fine) with wax crayon, felt pen or any other medium that will turn the paper yellow.

Stand—or rather lean—your completed symbol on edge against the North Face of your New Psychic Energy Generator. If there's any danger of your square of yellow paper being blown away by drafts, secure it with a dab of glue or a bit of tape.

Following the next case history, I'll tell you how to make your Golden Square of Prithivi become the source of material gains which will amaze you.

“THE FIRST TIME I’VE SEEN MY BANK MANAGER SMILE,” SAYS CARL T.

When his employer went bankrupt and closed the doors of his factory, Carl T. joined several hundred others in search of work.

“I was up to my neck in debt at the time,” Carl said. “I’ve never been one to save a dime, and with a job that seemed secure I’d run my credit to the limit.

“When my job folded I added up my liabilities. I was staggered. Charge and credit cards were loaded to the tune of $3,000. I owed the bank $4,000 on my car, and there was over $26,000 still to pay on my house, if I managed to save it from foreclosure. Various utility, food and medical expenses added another $1,000.

“Where was I going to find $34,000 and enough over the top to live on?”

Wisely, Carl went to the bank to explain his position before creditors began getting worried and taking legal or collection action.

“I guess they were polite, but not exactly overjoyed to hear my story,” Carl said. “After some figuring, the manager told me the only way I could prevent myself following my employer into insolvency was either to come up with about $5,000 within 90 days or to find a spare $10,000 a year for the next five years.

“That was just to clear the debts; food, clothing and other living expenses would be over and above those figures.”

When all else fails, try psychic energy. Carl says that was the decision he arrived at in the following days. No work showed up, the mail brought more requests for money, the telephone became a nightmare—“Mr. T., when can we expect an installment...?”—and Carl entertained several insistent callers at his home with coffee and empty promises.

“I’d known about pyramids and the Golden Square of Prithivi for a while, but treated them as a joke,” Carl said. “A friend of mine who retired to Florida after a legacy made him filthy rich swore that the Golden Square had set it up for him.

“I thought I was more practical than that, figuring to be above such kookiness. But I was soon prepared to try anything once, and more than once if I liked it!”

Carl’s Golden Square of Prithivi did not bring him an inheritance.

“Better than that,” Carl said. “I’ve always been a bit of an inventor and ten years ago I made and patented an electrical generator for home use. No one wanted to back it at the time, I lacked the funds to develop it, so I let it slip into the past.”

On the tenth day after he began his daily Golden Square routine with his pyramid, Carl was contacted by an industrialist who was exploiting the energy shortage by creating new sources of energy. Search of the patent office had turned up Carl’s invention of so long ago.

“I sold the rights in a package deal,” Carl said. “Up front was a check for $100,000 and I signed a contract to collect a 10% royalty off each unit manufactured. The first quarterly payment to me was over $15,000, and sales are expanding.

“No more money worries for me. The Golden Square of Prithivi started something for me, and one of the best spin-offs happened when I deposited that first check. It's the very first time I've seen my bank manager smile!"

CREATE INSTANT ASSETS WITH THE NEW PSYCHIC ENERGY IMAGE TECHNIQUE

You're about to really start making Cosmic Energy work for you. This simple technique increases the "tuning in" process I've been talking about.

Your New Psychic Energy Generator and the Golden Square of Prithivi are the link between your material world and the unseen world where destiny arranges what is going to happen to whom. By slipping mentally into tune with the North Face Tide, you make certain that your share of the future is loaded with all the material assets you could possibly need—and then some!

Schedule a few moments of your day so you can sit comfortably and look at the North Face of your New Psychic Energy Generator. As you sit and view the yellow square, relax and consider what your material needs are. Close your eyes for a few moments and think about what you desire destiny to bring you in the material sense.

Worry not how it will come; no matter how desperate your condition, how hopeless life seems, it's destiny's job to turn that around and bring you everything you need. Your simple task is to strongly entertain thoughts of the physical items you wish to be around you.

Do your best to make your thoughts powerful: for example, if it's dollar bills you're seeking, think about their color, their shape, how they feel, how they smell.

But also be quite sure it's money you really require. When you get the cash, what are you going to do with it? Pay off bills, perhaps. So as part of this technique, instead of aiming for the money alone, go the whole way to the destined end of the process: revel in the idea that all your bills have been paid. In your mind, see the cancelled accounts, with a big fat "PAID IN FULL" stamped on all of them.

Maybe it's a new car you intend to bring with the money you're tuning in to. So think about that car: how it will feel as you sit behind the wheel, its design, name, color, model, options ... as many details as you can mentally conjure up.

Whatever it is you need, exert your thoughts and mental powers to imagine what it will be like when your desire has been fulfilled. For a few moments, do your level best to convince yourself that it has already happened.

And having run those thoughts through your mind as strongly as you know how, open your eyes again and view the Golden Square of Prithivi for a few more seconds before you stand up and carry on with your daily routines.

LOLA V. HAD A WAD OF HUNDRED-DOLLAR BILLS FALL AT HER FEET

Pyramid energy specializes in turning the impossible into reality, but sometimes its instant response is so incredible as to boggle the mind.

I'll grant I myself was skeptical when I was told the following case history until I checked with unimpeachable witnesses and found it to be factual.

Lola V. is an avid California Pyramid Energy user who firmly believes that the Great Pyramid of Gizeh contains all the secrets of the Universe.

"I've conducted many experiments with pyramids," she said, "and met with both successes and failures as I researched. My most amazing success came with the Golden Square of Prithivi.

"I had set a target of $5,000 as a desire. The object of the exercise was not to have money to spend but to see if the miracle would work. If I got the cash I would give it to charity."

Lola set up the Golden Square one morning and went downtown the same afternoon.

"I was passing a store when a man came sprinting out of a door clutching a leather satchel under his arm," Lola related. "Two men were chasing him, yelling their heads off.

"Across the sidewalk was a powerful car, engine roaring and a door swinging open. The running man was heading for it, and was going to make a clean getaway if no one stopped him."

Without stopping to think, Lola thrust her umbrella between the man's legs as he brushed past her.

"He went down in a heap, the satchel went up in the air, fell to the sidewalk and burst open. Money cascaded out, and a thick wad of hundred-dollar bills fell right at my feet," Lola said. "The pursuers fell on the fallen thief, picked up the cash with my help, had police chase and apprehend the accomplice in the car, and everything quieted down.

"It had all happened so quick I had no time to be scared."

The upshot of her adventure was that Lola was rewarded. The man had snatched the money from the accounts department of the store as they were getting it ready for the bank, and if Lola had not intervened the store would have been some $100,000 poorer.

"I was feted and praised for my heroism, my picture was in the paper, and the manager of the store publicly handed me a check for $5,000," Lola said. "That went straight to cancer research as I'd intended. My joy was to see the Golden Square of Prithivi prove its powers so immediately and convincingly."

SPARK UP YOUR MUNDANE LIFE WITH THE NORTHERN EARTH APPLICATION

Next time you're out in your yard, someone else's yard or a park, pick up a pinch of earth and take it home with you.

Put a few grains of this soil beside the North Face of your New Psychic Energy Generator. Even better, sprinkle a little of the earth on the sticky side of an inch-long piece of tape and adhere it to the North Face.

That small and simple gesture ties a further bond between you and the Earth vibrations of the North Face Tide, and adds strength to the attunement process with your Golden Square of Prithivi.

MONOTONY "FLEW OUT OF THE WINDOW" FOR LUCKY PHIL K.

Phil K. is yet another Pyramid Energy user who attests to the miraculous events which follow when anyone tunes in to those unseen Tides.

"Whenever I need something extra to make life more stimulating I set up my New Psychic Energy Generator and gaze on the Golden Square of Prithivi," Phil said. "It rarely fails, and I've conclusively proved to myself that the addition of earth to the North Face adds more zap to the powers and processes."

Phil's most memorable pyramid effort came just after he added the Northern Earth Application to his regular techniques.

"I desired a new car," he said, "one with everything. A fully-loaded Stingray in iridescent gold."

Using the precise method described above, Phil poured his heart and soul into the process.

"While I sat there I pretended I was charging my new wheels around a racetrack at 140," he said. "I imagined the purr of the engine, the rush of wind muffled by the music from the quadrophonic tape deck. I thought about the vibrating power of the quivering wheel under my hands, the controls under my feet, with the concrete unreeling before me, seen through the tinted glass surrounded by gleaming chrome.

"Within a week a friend who needed money offered me ... you've guessed it! ... his iridescent gold Stingray at a ridiculous price. I owned it for a while until the novelty wore off, then sold it for $1,000 more than I paid for it.

“Life is incredibly interesting since I took up with Pyramid Energy. Everything I desire is in my Generator, and as soon as I picture it, along it comes. Monotony flew out of the window for me when I discovered New Psychic Energy Power.”

BANISH NEW DEBTS FOREVER WITH THE GLACIAL RING-PASS-NOT

One of the more worrisome aspects of this modern life is the depressing frequency with which debts can accumulate. In addition to existing liabilities, it's all too easy to acquire new liabilities. The month-end pile of accounts can become a mountain of despair which grows ever larger no matter how hard you battle to stay ahead.

Even the “magic” of consolidation promised by some financial organizations often changes things only from many separate aggravations into a single crippling monthly burden.

Solution? Well, for openers you could try the Glacial Ring-Pass-Not, designed to prevent more debts from piling up. Many users of this technique say it provides a miraculous bulwark against going deeper in debt.

Miraculous, yes—but please note that stated purpose of the Ring-Pass-Not: it's designed to be used with other techniques if you wish to get out of debt. The Ring-Pass-Not merely prevents new debts being piled onto an already overloaded income.

You should consider this to be a powerful deterrent which holds the line for you while you call on other methods to clean up the financial mess you've gotten yourself into.

The Glacial Ring-Pass-Not works at deep mental and spiritual levels to bring results in the material world. While you're applying any of the other North Face techniques and processes, take the time to gather together all the unpaid bills, demand notes, statements and other physical evidence of your need to balance your budget more efficiently.

Create the Glacial Ring-Pass-Not in this manner. Look at the debt papers, and pretend a cool rain-laden breeze is blowing across them. If it's necessary to your visualization, blow gently at the papers to make them move a trifle.

Now pretend a shower of freezing rain is soaking the papers, encasing them in frost and gradually setting them firmly inside a block of ice.

If you have trouble imagining what that would look like, you could actually freeze a piece of scrap paper as an example. Float any old piece of paper in a saucer of water and leave it in the freezer section of your refrigerator overnight. Next morning your saucer will contain an example of what I'm suggesting you visualize with the application of the Glacial Ring-Pass-Not.

When you have the idea of the frozen bills firmly in mind, turn your gaze on the Golden Square of Prithivi for about half a minute, and then return to your regular household routines.

Childish pretense? So it may seem, yet it works. Many people tell me that such visualization literally "freezes" their debts and prevents the sum from growing larger.

"IN THE BLACK FOR THE FIRST TIME I CAN RECALL," WRITES DOROTHY M.

"My marriage got off on the wrong foot," wrote Dorothy M. "We bought everything on time, so we owned nothing and owed everything.

"The strain of keeping up payments chipped away at our newly wed adjustment to each other. We had heated arguments when Bill, my husband, had a night out with the boys, while I took my lumps from him if I dared to buy a new pair of shoes. Our overdraft grew as our mutual respect grew less."

Three years of hand-to-mouth existence, bad luck with employers and unexpected medical expenses found Dorothy and Bill barely tolerating each other, going deeper in the hole each week.

"First we fought to pay the bills, then we fought each other," Dorothy said. "We separated when neither of us could stand the strain any longer. I was saddled with almost half our debts, with two young children to care for into the bargain."

While talking to the lawyer who was arranging the terms of the separation, Dorothy was intrigued by a small home-made pyramid the lawyer kept on his desk.

"I tell my colleagues it's merely a keepsake," the lawyer told Dorothy, "but that's only to conceal the fact that I firmly believe Pyramid Energy keeps me solvent and successful."

If a logical lawyer could use pyramid power, Dorothy figured she might give it a try, even though the whole idea was strange to her.

"The lawyer said I was typical of people who needed to practice what he called the Glacial Ring-Pass-Not," Dorothy related. "It sounded to me like a restaurant dessert, but I took his instructions for building and using a New Psychic Energy Generator."

Dorothy is still wondering how it worked, but work it did.

"Sure enough, although I still had doubts, my total of debts stayed steady after using the Glacial Ring-Pass-Not," she related. "With the addition of other New Psychic Energy Power techniques I pulled myself out of trouble."

The postscript to this case history comes from a letter Dorothy wrote to a friend, describing her experiences with New Psychic Energy Power. "I was not one of those who saw an overnight miracle of troubles vanishing like magic. Just a feeling of certainty everything would turn out fine. It took a while, but I finally got my bank balance into the black—for the first time I can recall!

"Did you know I'd remarried? To whom? Why, to Ken, the lawyer who introduced me to New Psychic Energy Power in the first place. Seems he was using East Face techniques to find a suitable wife, and along I came, filling the bill precisely!"

IMPROVE YOUR GAMBLING LUCK WITH THE AMAZING TRIAD ATTUNEMENT

Before we get to this amazing piece of Cosmic attunement, please attend closely to the following.

I know from experience that many of my readers believe that the only way they can leave a life of hopelessness, debt and despair is to win big on a lottery. So their first impulse when they get their hands on a book such as this one is to turn to techniques for winning the lottery or beating the horses.

This works for some people ... but most definitely not for all. Relying on its working for you personally, quickly, can be disappointing. Winning a lottery (or coming out ahead in any other form of gambling) depends on catching destiny in a positive swing when you buy your ticket or when the gamble is made.

How do you know when such positive swings of destiny occur for you? If I knew the precise answer to that I'd gladly tell you, and all the casinos would go broke. What I can tell you is that it's easy to see when destiny is not swinging your way, and at such times you're very unlikely to win at any kind of chance.

If you're in trouble, you're into a low swing of destiny's effects on you. Within the concepts of this book, we can say you're out of phase with the Tides of the Cosmos, and need to apply the techniques designed to get you back into positive line with such Tides. Fighting against the Tides brings "bad luck," turmoil, pain and lack of progress—so if you're suffering from any of those, by definition you're not in a position to be able to hope for a lottery win.

Have I made that crystal clear? I certainly hope so, because what I'm proposing to you is that before you start trying to win at gambling, you should straighten out other areas of your life, and get those into harmonious shape. Once you've done that you'll at least know that you're riding with a positive Tide of Destiny, so you've improved your chances of winning.

And by adding the Amazing Triad Attunement, you (like many others before you) could get to be ultimately lucky—provided you do it at the right time. And that right time, as I've carefully explained, is after you've put yourself into a more progressive phase with the Cosmic Tides.

Performing this small mental ritual is simplicity itself. Conditions are the same as for viewing the Golden Square of Prithivi. Look at the Square, then turn your attention to the top point of your New Psychic Energy Generator. Pretend you're standing up there, with the Golden Square sloping down below you. Then along the north base edge of your Generator, in your mind's eye, see all the people you're competing against when you gamble. Got that picture? You stand at the apex, with the rest of the world down below.

That's the picture to hold in your mind for a few seconds. Then go out and buy your lottery ticket or whatever—but only when you know you've turned the corner towards riding with, not against, the Tides of the Cosmos. That evidence is shown by improvements occurring in the quality of your life: if you gamble before you see such positive changes, you're pouring good money down the drain.

The East Face of Love and Peace of Mind

Moving right around from the material rewards which come from the North Face, we now regard the East Face, identified with the ecstatic intangibles of love and peace of mind.

Before you figure you cannot put such things in the bank, and decide to skip this Energy Circuit, hold on one minute. Whether you realize it or not, you need love and peace before you can hope to enjoy life as your Creator intended you to. And when I use the word "love" I do not necessarily imply sex, or the pure carnality which is promoted so prominently on some newsstands these days.

In a more general sense than the skin-mags portray, you need love. Even if you're a hermit with little or no contact with other people, one person you need to love is yourself. The way you see yourself as a person is often the way the rest of the world sees you also. So if you do not like the person you are, it's likely that destiny will also seem to be at odds with you: others get the breaks while luck leaves you on the sidelines.

That's a facet of love you may not have thought about, but it's all part of the gloriously fulfilling bonuses the East Face Tide can bring you, once you turn yourself around and swim with the Tide instead of against it.

DECIDE ON YOUR LOVE DESIRES AND THEY'RE YOURS

Just as we defined the word "material" when we were exploring the North Face, so we now need to decide what the word "love" means to you. More important, you need to decide what parts of this overall idea of love are missing from your life, so you can have the partial picture completed and thus find true satisfaction and joy.

And please do not neglect the second vital aspect of the East Face: as well as fleshing out your love desires to their limit, the even more tenuous—but infinitely precious—attribute of peace of mind is yours when you are aligned with the East Face Tide.

However, most people who wish to use the powers of the East Face automatically think of attracting a partner. With loneliness on the increase in every stratum of modern society, that's hardly surprising—the human animal has a basic need to share, to jointly experience and, of course, to procreate.

The East Face Tide has all you could want of those for you. All you need to do is decide what love and peace of mind means to you, and it's yours. The only conditions under which the East Face Tide will fail to comply with your wishes is when your love aims would ultimately bring less harmony and satisfaction than you anticipate. Once again, you'll see the Tides and Cosmic Energy illustrating their principle that destiny knows better than you do what will be best for you. Your short-term picture of satisfaction may not be one which leads to long-lasting peace and fulfillment.

So when you begin your East Face techniques, give the Tide some latitude. By that I mean try not to insist on too many minor details (especially physical ones), otherwise the Tide will use much energy (and therefore time) to fulfill your desires.

An example will serve to illustrate that point. Jim K., a late-40's bachelor I knew, used the East Face techniques to improve his then-monotonous lovelife. As well as seeking a loving and fulfilling companion, Jim also fed in his own idea of a perfect lover: his visualization included a petite, blue-eyed, scantily clad, perfectly proportioned lady.

Within a year he was very happily married to an ideal wife, yet she hardly resembled the "perfect lover" fantasy Jim had been nursing. He used to joke with me about it—until two years after he entered the marital state. At that time the couple had a baby, which made their mutual joy supreme.

"Peace of mind, joy and happiness," Jim said. "It all came true with the harmony of the East Face Tide. And the baby added that final touch of perfection and togetherness. It took me quite a while to realize that Cosmic Energy had finally completed the picture I'd set up three years before ... I had indeed been brought a tiny, blue-eyed lady!"

Yes, the East Face Tide will assuredly bring your desires to pass—but if you insist on every detail being in accord with your conscious ideas, it may take some time for the picture to become complete in the material plane.

"I FOUND MY PERSONAL HAREM," SAYS AHMED N.

This case history aptly illustrates how Cosmic Energy swept into action for an individual who applied East Face techniques and brought himself harmonious results.

"Let's face it, my favorite reading matter was Playboy and similar magazines," Ahmed N. said. "I nursed the same fantasies as many other males, and the 'bunnies' represented my highest ideal in seeking a love partner.

"But I've never been one to bowl the girls over with good looks or a sparkling personality. Even after I outgrew my teenage acne I had precious little to offer in the shape of sleek cars, high-on-the-hog living or jetset goings-on.”

The facts were simple: Ahmed’s parents had immigrated from India; his father ran a store in an Eastern city; and the family lived in a neighborhood which, although friendly and comfortable, was not renowned for opulence.

Ahmed worked on the gas pumps at a garage and rarely had much money to spend on pleasure. Most of his spare time he spent studying to gain an engineering diploma.

“I was also painfully shy, and missed out on having a regular girlfriend,” he said. “By the time I was 25 my parents were wondering out loud when I would marry. Most people seemed to consider me the area’s least eligible bachelor.”

In the course of his studies and leisure reading Ahmed read various books on Pyramid Energy which caught his attention.

“The data on the East Face, where you could tune in to love, fascinated me,” he said. “I guess it was something of a sly personal joke, but I dreamed up a fantastic partner who would satisfy my every need and whim. Then, more in hope than any kind of firm expectation, I tried the East Face Tide routines.”

It took the Tide less than a month to work on Ahmed’s request and bring results.

“It was amazing. All I had to do was go along with events,” Ahmed said. “The sister of a guy I work with dropped by the garage to have her coupe serviced. Something went bing! between us, we started dating, and were married within six months of our first meeting.

“Our love nest is everything I ever dreamed about. My wife is a perfect hostess at home, a whiz in the kitchen, an ideal companion when we go out—and if I were a poet, I might try to describe what she is in the bedroom. Let’s just put it that the East Face Tide brought me my personal harem and geisha girl rolled into one!”

AUTOMATIC FREEDOM FROM DESPAIR WITH THE BLUE CIRCLE OF VAYU

The five techniques associated with the East Face are carefully graded. All lead to their promised target, but you'll notice their different approaches. You choose the one which best fits your personal conditions and needs, moving on to another technique as soon as the desirable changes have taken place.

This first technique has a very broad aim. Its purpose is to remove personal attitudes which can cause lack of love and peace of mind.

This is neither a psychological nor a psychiatric treatise, so we need not investigate the complexes which make one person attractive and another unattractive to others. We will simply say that if you're not attracting the people and conditions you desire, part of the problem is within yourself.

One source of unattractiveness is personal despair, where you are locked into a circle of negative emotions which feeds on itself. You've fought to be accepted and liked, failed, and retired emotionally hurt, convinced the world hates you. That kind of firm idea can, because of the attitude you radiate, become an actual reality.

The Blue Circle of Vayu is designed to reverse the effects of any such emotional spiral, as the symbol works on deep levels of your subconscious mind.

Just as you did with the Golden Square of Prithivi, you're going to create a symbol which you use with your New Psychic Energy Generator to attune yourself with Cosmic Tides.

Your circle is made from a piece of blue paper. Draw a circle about one inch across on your paper. The exact size is unimportant and the exact shade of blue depends on your personal preference. Laying a quarter on the paper and running a pencil around it will produce a circle about the right size, and if you have several shades of blue to consider, use the one you like best. And, of course, if you cannot find a piece of blue paper, use a white piece and color it blue with ink, crayon or paint.

Cut out your circle, and lean it against the East Face of your New Psychic Energy Generator. Stick it to the Generator with gum or tape if you're worried about its blowing away.

You have now personally created another link to the unseen realms of destiny, this time connecting you to the abstract world of emotions.

To start your basic tuning in to the world of emotional peace and attraction, set up conditions similar to those you set up for viewing the Yellow Square of Prithivi. The difference is that you arrange your seat so you can look at the East Face of your New Psychic Energy Generator.

Look steadily at the Blue Circle for a couple of minutes, then gently allow your eyes to close. Under some lighting conditions you will see an image of the circle floating against the darkness of your eyelids. Whether or not you see this is not critical: I mention it only as a point of interest and because someone is sure to ask why it happens. It's a purely physical phenomenon and occurs because the retina of the eye gets "tired" of looking at the color. It's neither dangerous to your sight nor significant to your psychic path.

Unlike the Yellow Square technique, this time there's no need to exercise your mind at visualizing your needs. What we're doing here is simple strengthening your attunement with the East Face Tide of Harmony and Peace.

If you should find your mind galloping along a mile a minute as you close your eyes, with worries and troubles tumbling over each other for attention, push them into the background for the moment. Think instead of a calm and happy incident in your life; think about quiet places, peaceful surroundings—the deep woods at dawn, for instance, or the holy quiet of a grand cathedral.

You'll feel some of that peace begin to spread through your being at once. Naturally, how much immediate effect the Blue Circle of Vayu has depends on exactly how uptight and desperate you are at the outset. But a couple of minutes a day

(or as often as feasible on a less regular basis) spent contemplating the Blue Circle will assuredly work fabulous changes in your outlook.

Keep your eyes closed for another couple of minutes, then open them. View the Blue Circle for about half a minute longer, then stand up and continue with whatever else needs doing in your life.

CAROL Y. MET MR. RIGHT AFTER YEARS OF MISERY

Carol Y. spent many of her adult waking hours in a haze of tranquilizer-induced fogginess. At age 10 she had been sexually assaulted by a psychotic male, and the experience had left her with deep-seated mental scars.

"I was scared of men," she said. "Even 20 years later, applying logic and adult perspective to that terrifying childhood experience, I could not relate comfortably to anyone of the opposite sex.

"I found myself freezing up or becoming bitterly vocal whenever a man began to get close to me. That wrecked any hope of my achieving a fulfilling lovelife, and even made me strained and nervous in employment situations."

Despite therapy, Carol's condition remained disturbing. Her doctor finally prescribed tranquilizers to dull her response to her subconscious fears, in the hope she would eventually adjust to normal relationships.

"I find it difficult to describe the frustrations of my emotional state," she said. "On the one hand I was reasonably attractive with the normal needs of any young woman. I had no problem attracting males who would have been pleased to be prospective partners.

"Yet no matter how I fought with myself, I withdrew from them all. My reactions ranged from insane laughter to loud and angry verbal responses, and that turned off boyfriends long before we could reach a meaningful level of interchange."

Eventually Carol had cut herself off from all contact with males except for unavoidable routine meetings in her daily life.

"Only someone who felt the way I did could even start to understand my misery," she said. "I could not come to terms with being condemned to spinsterhood because of that long-ago trauma.

"I had a small circle of female acquaintances but I was seen as an awkward friend by them: I fell apart if they happened to have their husbands with them when we met."

Casting around for a cure, Carol tried various meditation and psychic mind techniques which looked promising.

"Nothing worked very efficiently until I was introduced to Pyramid Energy," she said. "Learning about the East Tide of Harmony and Peace was followed by incredible improvements in my emotional outlook.

"I had merely hoped for peace of mind to accept my own psychology and to come to terms with the problem and perhaps be able to give up the tranquilizers. I never expected a total cure."

Carol found a daily viewing of the Blue Circle of Vayu brought a pronounced calming effect.

"I knew I'd turned the corner when I found myself smiling at the bus driver when I paid my fare," she said. "Previously even that minor transaction had caused me palpitations and withdrawal."

Carol's path to mental health opened up rapidly. She was able to abandon the pills, and she was soon dating regularly with several males.

"Then along came Ben, a photographer," she said. "He was everything I'd ever wanted in a man, and now I was able to reach out to him. He was gentle and understanding, and our relationship quickly bloomed into true love and mutual esteem."

Today Carol is married to Ben. They have a fine home in Michigan, three lovely and lively children, and a relationship which is the envy of their friends.

“It was truly worth waiting for,” Carol said, “and it could never have happened without the East Face Tide showing me the way.”

DISPEL LONELINESS WITH THE MAGNETIC PICTORIAL TECHNIQUE

Now we move a step closer to specifics. The Blue Circle technique previously described was designed to bring peace and harmony with no special aim in view. This extension of the method is designed to cure the conditions of those who feel lonely and unwanted.

You need a picture or a photograph for this stage of your attunement. From a newspaper or magazine, cut a picture of a person who is looking happy and friendly. You'll find one of the models posing in many advertisements fits the bill admirably.

The picture you use needs to be of a stranger, so do not use a photograph of an ex-lover, relative, or anyone else connected with your life.

The sex of the person in the picture is not important: the factor you need in the person you're going to look at is radiant happiness and warmth.

Carry out the steady viewing of the Blue Circle of Vayu as I previously described for you, but before you close your eyes, turn your gaze on the picture you've selected. Attend to the person's face: look at the curve of the lips, the facial expression, and particularly the eyes.

After a minute or so of this examination, allow your own eyes to close as before.

Again push away worries or troubles, this time by pretending you're walking along a path in warm sunshine, heading toward a city on a hill. Beside you is a companion, radiating warmth, friendliness and happiness.

Practice that for a full minute (or longer if you wish), open your eyes, and end the exercise just as you did the previous viewing of the Blue Circle.

Another link is firmly forged in your chain connecting you to ultimate peace of mind. The Magnetic Pictorial Technique you've now entertained is duly registered in the book of destiny and will assuredly come true for you as you keep practicing this every day, or whenever it is convenient for you to do so.

ELWOOD R. NOW HAS "MORE FRIENDS THAN I KNOW WHAT DO DO WITH"

Moing into the big city did wonders for Elwood R.'s bank account but it wrecked his social life.

"I was raised in a small Iowa town where everyone knew everyone else," he said. "People were naturally friendly, and I never had any problem finding friends to share my leisure time.

"Trouble was, when I left school I had too many spare hours. I was not anxious to work on my father's farm, and local job opportunities were not exactly copious. After a couple of years at carhopping, snack bar waiting and similar 'no future' work, I decided I'd have to move away to do better than that."

Elwood relocated to Los Angeles and worked hard at establishing himself. Always a good student, he gained a diploma in electronics and was soon making good money and advancing steadily as a technician with an organization manufacturing semiconductor devices.

"I was much happier," he said. "I was able to rent and furnish a good apartment, buy a reasonable car and surround myself with all the signs of the good life of a young bachelor.

"Only trouble was I had no one to enjoy it with. I'd made no social connections worth a plugged nickel. My workmates were mostly married or getting ready to be, and while I'd been poring over my books I'd never opened up to making friends. Consequently I was seen as a loner, and in typical city style, people left me alone to do my own thing."

Fate would not cooperate with Elwood's efforts to find worthwhile friends.

"I went to singles bars, discos and other clubs, yet nothing clicked. The types I met were either not for me, or they were transients who passed out of my life within hours or days," Elwood said. "I used to sit listening to my stereo recalling happy times past, when life was easy and unhurried in the country. I was sorely tempted to go back to that until I realized I'd have to give up a great deal I had worked hard for.

"The absence of true friends was the only fly in the ointment. The rest of my existence was pretty good."

Scanning the classifieds for ads which could lead him to meet people, Elwood noted a group of people who were looking for interested contacts "to experiment with psychic and occult disciplines."

As a pragmatic person to whom one and one always had to make two, Elwood had never been much interested in such subjects.

"Sure I scanned my astrology sign in the papers. I knew about ESP, telepathy and suchlike. But from the little I knew on the subjects I considered them to be a mixture of unscientific investigation and over-enthusiasm," he said. "Certainly I had never thought of any of those methods as useful in daily life for problem-solving."

Elwood met the group of psychic researchers and even then was not over-impressed.

"They formed a discussion group meeting weekly," he said. "I heard of many subjects I'd never before encountered, and Pyramid Energy caught my attention. I found a great deal of true scientific research had been done on it, mostly with inconclusive results. But I figured if universities could spend good money on electronic mapping of the Great Pyramid<sup>1</sup> there must be something in it.

<sup>1</sup>In 1972 scientists abandoned a program intended to map hidden chambers in the Great Pyramid of Gizeh. Patterns of received radiation within the structure altered inexplicably. Radar research by Stanford Research Institute was also interrupted in 1974 when equally anomalous results were obtained.

“With true scientific detachment and anticipating negative results I faithfully carried out the allocated Magnetic Pictorial Technique,” he said. “My notes taken at the time witness a record of success that I still find unbelievable.

“Within a couple of weeks the phone began ringing off the wall with invitations to parties, beach outings and sea cruises. A whole new world of delightful social involvement opened up for me. I can truly say I now have more friends than I know what to do with! I’m thankful I was able to prove the powers of the Blue Circle of Vayu.”

BRING A PERFECT LOVER WITH THE EASTERN AIR TECHNIQUE

“Unrequited” is the word. Hundreds—nay, thousands—of people in today’s world are unsatisfied with their lovelife. Despite all the TV and newspaper ads which promise that this deodorant, wine, toothpaste, mouthwash, pill, product or whatever will bring a lover to your side, many people are desperately seeking their ideal lover, the perfect person who is in harmony at spiritual, mental and physical levels.

Are you one of those folk? If so, the Eastern Air Technique is for you, in a further aspect of the power of the Blue Circle of Vayu.

A perfect lover is your need, someone to cherish and adore you, stimulate you, laugh, cry, work and play with you. So shall it be—if you’ll let the East Face Tide do the work, and do not insist on details which may seem important to you, but are merely surface, material appearances.

I know that many readers entertain a picture of their favorite movie star or C&W singer as their perfect lover. That may be fine for erotic fantasies, but for-the-rest-of-your-life love is likely to be a mite different from your sexual-fulfillment dreams. The achievement of love and harmony is much more than two people being physically suited—and the East Face

Tide will take all factors into consideration when bringing you a compatible companion.

The process, simple in essence, brings powerful forces to bear at inner levels of existence where your future is being formulated, and you insert the powers of the Blue Circle of Vayu and the Air Symbol into the equation to assure a favorable outcome when the time is right.

Carry out your observation of the Blue Circle of Vayu as if you are performing the Magnetic Pictorial Technique. But in place of the picture you were instructed to study for that technique, during this one substitute a small sketch of the Air Symbol, copied onto a piece of paper as you did when you inscribed the East Face of your New Psychic Energy Generator.

Try to engrave the shape of the Air Symbol on your mind and memory. Examine it closely so that at any time in the future you can recall its curves and shape, somewhat like a cursive letter "Y."

Having fixed this symbol in your conscious mind, close your eyes for a full minute, still continuing to think about the symbol. Then open your eyes and end this exercise by gazing at the Blue Circle of Vayu as previously instructed.

The results of this exercise depend partly upon what you do thereafter. Carry your Air Symbol with you in your purse or wallet, and be alert for all chances to meet the perfect lover who is now in your future.

Destiny welcomes initiative. You could sit at home and wait for your new love to phone, or to come knocking at your door. That's been known to work for a few people, but a far better plan is to place yourself in areas where you're likely to meet a responsive and compatible partner. In essence, the more variety and movement you voluntarily put into your life, the more you're inviting quick results.

Note Emily G.'s success in the following case history, and emulate her.

"HE'S JUST WHAT I'VE ALWAYS DREAMED ABOUT," SAYS EMILY G.

Nine years and three disastrous marriages convinced Emily G. she was doomed to accepting third-best and worse in her love relationships.

She had just gone through the disruption of her third divorce and had hit bottom emotionally.

"I had this raw certainty that Cupid used poison darts on my heart," she said. "Every man I had known had turned out to be a lush, a cheater or a monster. Better I should not go into the sordid details, but married life had been several varieties of Hades for me."

Strongly encouraged by a sympathetic friend, Emily hopelessly took up with Pyramid Energy which her friend assured her offered a ray of hope in her turmoil.

"My friend told me how her own fulfillment had increased a hundred per cent with the Eastern Air Technique," Emily said. "I told her it might work for her, but I was beyond hope, almost as if I'd been cursed. But to please someone who was going out of her way to try to help me, I agreed to practice it.

"It was something different to do other than moping around the house with sad memories as my only company."

The glad and sudden changes in Emily's emotional experiences make her a classic example of how Pyramid Energy can work miracles for some within days.

"I performed the Eastern Air Technique on a Friday evening, and again on Saturday and Sunday," Emily relates. "I tucked the Air Symbol in my purse and took it to work with me on Monday."

That same day a new manager was appointed to the credit department of the large store where Emily worked.

"He came around introducing himself to each of his staff, stopping to talk a short while with everyone," Emily said. "I'm afraid I behaved like a school kid when he spoke to me. I blushed and actually giggled—he was the type of man I'd always fantasized. But knowing my track record in the game of love I held out no hopes of anything."

Yet during the week the new boss singled Emily out for attention. First it seemed to be routine errands which brought her into his office, but before the end of the week they were taking coffee breaks together.

"He asked me if I'd enjoy an evening on the town at the weekend," Emily remembers. "Would I ever! It was perfectly lovely, with every detail a sparkling jewel of enjoyment.

"It took him a while to get me to open up to him, but that resistance came from me. I could not believe my good luck and was waiting for fate to kick me in the teeth again."

Fate had turned friendly. Instead of disaster, Emily's romance with the manager prospered until one sunny day in June they were wed.

"No expense was spared, and the reception was written up in the papers," Emily said. "I enjoy all the creature comforts of the good life now, but above and beyond all that I've finally found the man who loves me and whom I can love in return.

"The Eastern Air Technique changed that old saying. For me it was fourth time lucky, not third!"

FIND TOTAL CONTENTMENT WITH SKYSCRAPER ATTRACTION

You will note as we proceed that several of the techniques of the Faces are almost identical. They differ only in the aims and symbols employed.

This is one such technique. You can see it as the East Face equivalent of the corresponding North Face technique. Skyscraper Attraction is very much like the Amazing Triad Attunement we discovered in Energy Circuit 3: only the Face, Symbols and desired end result are changed.

As before, view the Blue Circle of Vayu for a couple of minutes. Then pass your attention to the uppermost point of your New Psychic Energy Generator. Pretend you're standing atop the pyramid, with the Blue Circle sloping down the East Face below you.

Now, in your mind, bring up pictures of people you'd like to attract. "See" them standing in a group around the east base edge of your Generator. Have them crowd around with their heads thrown back, looking up at you at the apex. With that picture firmly in mind, pretend that the Blue Circle of Vayu is lighting up, sending blue light shining all over you. Mentally bask in this light and pretend the crowd down below is cheering and applauding you, as if you're the greatest rock and roll star in the business!

Hold that picture in your mind as firmly as you can for about 30 seconds. Then let it go, and terminate the exercise as usual. Skyscraper Attraction will do the rest!

TERRY V. WAS WRONG WHEN HE THOUGHT HE WAS TOO OLD FOR COMPLETE FULFILLMENT

"When you hit 70 you expect to have lost some of your old pizzazz," Terry V. said. "But I was keenly disappointed to find my get-up-and-go had gotten-up-and-gone totally. I still nursed erotic ideas in my head, but that's where they had to stay; the rest of me just wouldn't raise a quiver to carry out my desires.

"Wrinkled face, thinning gray hair, dentures, failing eyes and arthritic joints were hardly likely to make me a favorite with the ladies. I guess if I'd had money I might have been able to get satisfaction—I read somewhere that although money does not buy love, it sure rents some fine affection!"

Terry had bought all manner of rejuvenation methods to try to recapture some of his natural energies, including herbs, vitamins, exercises and sundry mail order gadgets and potions.

"All useless," Terry reported. "Seemed like nothing was going to work for me. And even if I had gotten my aging body back into that kind of shape, I wondered who would be interested in an old goat like me."

During his continued search for the fountain of youth, Terry happened upon Pyramid Research. Like many others before him, he employed it as a last resort, anticipating as little success as he'd found with previous "miracle-working" methods.

"But I gave it my full shot," he said. "Never have been one for half measures, so I was prepared to give time and energy to it. Skyscraper Attraction was my key technique with some West Face additions."

The West Face methods are included in Energy Circuit 6 of this book. Terry's reading and practice of pyramid techniques made him something of an authority on the subject, and his friends took to calling him Terry the Pyramid Person.

"They laughed on the other sides of their faces when a lady reporter showed up from Florida," Terry said. "She'd picked up local gossip about me from another journalist and she thought there might be a story in my pyramid researches."

The resulting publicity brought Terry mail and calls from all over North America.

"For a short while I became the teacher of a group," he said. "I've gone on to greater things since. At the time it took me a while to realize Skyscraper Attraction was working as promised. I was indeed the center of an admiring group of people of all ages, with something they wanted. I'd become a minor celebrity!"

Among Terry's "pupils" was a trio of women who were skilled in many aspects of psychism and the occult, but who had never mastered Pyramid Energy techniques.

"That became a two-way street," Terry said. "I instructed them in Pyramid Energy, and in exchange they gave me a course in a most fascinating subject: Sex Magic."

Terry is not prepared to reveal the secrets of that latter subject, although he says he might write a book about it one day.

“Final results of my involvement with pyramids is that I’m duly admired for my knowledge. But much more than that, I’ve regained my natural energies,” Terry said. “You can forget about my previous physical failings—they’re in the past.

“I thought I was too old for complete fulfillment, but I’m pleased to report that tuning in to Pyramid Energy has proven me mistaken!”

ENSLAVE YOUR LOVE TARGET WITH THE MULTIPLE QUADRATIC ENCIRCLEMENT

At the outset I must tell you that this is not my favorite East Face technique. Its overtones of domination are out of line with my personal psychology, and (given the choice) I prefer to see people attract and manipulate by example rather than forcibly shape their fellow beings.

However, several people known to me have found a need to use this technique and have employed it (they say) with great success. So, for the sake of offering as many tools as possible to you, after much thought I have included it.

But personally I suggest you use all other love and peace techniques before this one, employing the Multiple Quadratic Encirclement only as a last resort.

This technique requires that you know whom you wish to enslave, and you should be able to call up a clear mind picture of him or her when required.

View the Blue Circle of Vayu in the usual manner, then turn your eyes to the apex point. Imagine yourself to be standing 'way up there, looking down into the interior of the Generator, through a skylight which you also should envisage.

In the space below, pretend your love target is imprisoned, enclosed by the four sloping walls of your Generator.

Mentally turn and look down at the south-east, south-west, north-west and north-east corners of your Generator, in that order. This means, in your mind, you make a full turn to the right. Then transfer your attention back to the Blue Circle of Vayu, looking at it as you allow the mental tableau to dissolve. Spend a few seconds on regarding the Blue Circle before concluding the experiment.

Placing this mental playlet in the Unseen on a regular basis puts the desired result of love enslavement of the party concerned firmly into your future.

The South Face of Protection and Offense

In this powerful section you will find I have inserted my own beliefs and philosophies—possibly they're biases—when advising when and how to use these powers we're investigating.

The South Face is undeniably one of the most titanic sources of energy when you tune in to it, and that energy, connected with Fire, can be used equally for good or evil.

We're all too familiar with the evil aspects of Fire: arson, murder and war are but three examples of symbolic Fire being used to cause loss and hurt.

I'm well aware that few of my readers will wish to use South Face attunement for evil purposes. Even if they try, it will not operate for them if their sole motive is to cause pain and harm.

Yet when we actually examine motives behind actions, we can sometimes see suffering being caused even though the underlying motive intends no such negativity. And motive, the ultimate aim, is the driving force behind all psychic energy techniques, and when we're using symbolic Fire, the results can indeed be harmful to others. Whether they seem to deserve harm or not, I feel personally that inflicting pain on others to be undesirable, no matter what the justification.

The Vietnam War is a classic example of symbolic Fire causing massive chaos and hurt, even though the guiding motives were good: no one could call aiding an oppressed people a bad motive, yet we can see the turmoil which resulted from such squeaky-clean motives.

The simple point I'm trying to impress on you is that when you use Fire for attack or offense, you need to be careful what the end results are. New Psychic Energy Power will prevent anything ultimately bad from happening to you, but in my reckoning it's probably better not to place yourself potentially in the position of collecting negativity from others by hurting them.

So my invariable suggestion when I am asked to commit myself is that protection techniques generally bring happier results overall than offense techniques.

On the other hand it would be foolish of me to pretend that such offensive techniques do not exist. Offense and attack have their uses, and I would be the last person to deny that. You can, in fact, see where they've been used with excellent effects by subjects in the case histories here. All I suggest, then, is that you try protection routines first, using the more energetic attack techniques as final measures if the protection routines do not solve your problems.

ATTACK AND OFFENSE DECISIONS ARE SIMPLE WITH NEW PSYCHIC POWER ENERGY

As already stated, New Psychic Energy Power will not permit you to hurt someone who does not deserve it. What it will do is return in equal measure any negativity that is directed at you.

So when deciding which South Face method best suits your purpose, all you need to do is ask yourself a few simple questions about the subject you intend to work upon. Your honest answers to these questions will assuredly direct you to the correct Fire technique to employ.

- “Has this person, group or situation caused me actual physical harm?” If so, you can use the devastating Southern Fire Technique to cause your tormenter equal material loss or pain. But if your target has not assaulted you or touched you or your material assets, the Southern Fire Technique will not be effective.

- “Has this person, group or situation caused me mental turmoil or pain?” If the answer to that question is in the affirmative, the Scarlet Triangle of Tejas is your weapon to employ most effectively. However, if you merely fear or believe you’re going to be hurt, the Scarlet Triangle is not being used at its full potential.

- “Is this person, group or situation blocking me from progress without actually causing me harm?” That kind of situation calls for the Mystic Pentafork Method which swiftly turns opposition into cooperation.

- “Is this person, group or situation one which may be opposing me, even though I have only circumstantial evidence to suggest this?” Here we find a situation where your hunches suggest you’re being held back, even if you have no solid proof that would stand up in a court of law. So use the Sunshine Protection Routine. If you are indeed being obstructed, the obstacles will vanish. If you happen to be wrong in your estimation of the situation, no harm will be done.

- “Is this person, group or situation opposing me personally, without necessarily being negative toward me?” This could describe the situation when City Hall passes a by-law which adversely affects the quality of your life, yet has not been especially aimed at you. It may, in fact, have been created with the best of intentions, so that its perpetrators would be amazed to find someone is being inconvenienced and upset by it. This is the type of circumstance which the Sympathetic Portrayal Technique can quickly put to rights, enabling you to once again live your life to the full.

PAT Q. MYSTERIOUSLY VANQUISHED HER ENEMIES

“When you’re going it alone in this cruel world you need to be stronger than your fellow beings,” avers Pat Q. “Insecure people who need the protection of a group or the paternal guardianship of an employer seem to focus in on you as if you are a revolutionary who should be executed.

“I’m not much for being protected from cradle to grave by any government in exchange for doing as I’m told by a boss. I’m one of the free spirits of this world, carving my own path, taking my bruises as they come and not running whining to welfare agencies when the going gets tough. If I’m in trouble, that’s my fault and I’ll battle my own way out.”

Pat is a free-lance artist and, as you may have gathered, is very forthright in her opinions on freedom. In a checkered career she has seen both feasting and fasting, but says she has done more of the former since she discovered Pyramid Energy.

“The prime way to get ahead is to overcome the opposition,” she said. “If I’m ever harassed or obstructed I use a South Face technique. Most often it’s the Mystic Pentafork Method that turns things around for me.”

Pat’s most memorable use of that method occurred a couple of years before she soared to the forefront of the art world. At the time she was a gifted but struggling unknown in New York.

“I saw myself as being in competition with the rest of the art community,” she said, “but in particular a local group in the Village was stopping my progress. I could not say they were causing me physical obstruction, but their sneaky ways were making sure I had to fight every inch of the way.”

Typical of the low tactics her opponents used was their making sure that Pat could never find space to exhibit her paintings in local studios.

“They spread half-truths about me and my work,” she said, “suggesting I was unreliable and might not provide paintings to fill allocated spaces. They also implied my works had no artistic merit and would downgrade the reputation of the gallery if they were shown.

“False telephone calls from alleged clients found me running across town to non-existent addresses at the precise time an art critic was in the vicinity of my home. If I’d been able to show the critic some of my work, as later happened, I’d have gained acceptance and sales much quicker.”

Adept at many intuitive disciplines, Pat mastered Pyramid Energy in a short time.

“As a student of form and harmony I could see the logic of aligning with Tides of energy,” she said, “and as I work with symbolism a great deal, the Elemental symbols on my New Psychic Energy Generator had great meaning for me.

“I especially found wisdom and truth within the five-armed Fire symbol, and the Mystic Pentafork Method had a certain mental majesty and force I knew would do my bidding.”

She was right. Only days later some of her tormenters went to jail on drug-related charges. Others turned their attention to other unfortunates, while the rest simply dropped out of sight.

Pat soon found her rightful level in the world of art. Today you can see her work in gracious homes throughout the world, and sitters pay thousands of dollars to come to her penthouse studio to have her paint their portraits.

“How it worked I do not know,” she said, “but I’m convinced of the authenticity of Pyramid Energy. I’m flowing neatly with all the Tides, and any enemies I may still have are unable to touch me. They’re all vanquished for good.”

NOTHING BAD CAN TOUCH YOU WHEN YOU
USE THE SCARLET TRIANGLE OF TEJAS

Just as you have previously created the Yellow Square and the Blue Circle, now you need to make a bright red (scarlet) triangle to place against the South Face of your New Psychic Energy Generator.

As before, a paper symbol is all you require, and a simple way to make the three-sided piece you need is to cut the corner off a piece of paper with one straight cut. Another way of creating a triangle is to draw a capital letter "A" and cut around its outline, erasing the horizontal crossbar afterward.

Having already made two other symbols and placed them against their respective faces, I need to offer little explanation to you on securing the Scarlet Triangle against the South Face of your New Psychic Energy Generator. The South Face is the one the sun shines on fully at noon, if your Generator sits on a window sill ... provided you live north of the equator.

You've now placed a strong protective symbol which can attune you with the South Face Tide which protects, defends and (where needed) attacks.

Remember what we're doing in these exercises. If you're under attack, repressed, blocked or hassled, at basic metaphysical levels this means you've somehow gotten yourself out of the main stream of the South Tide. Contemplation of the Scarlet Triangle of Tejas will change that for you in short order.

Set up the usual conditions and look at the Scarlet Triangle steadily for about two minutes, then allow your eyes to close gently. Just as when you viewed the Blue Circle, there are no demands on you to do more than sit quietly now. However, if your brain insists on fussing about things which seem important, think about less pressing matters as advised for the Blue Circle exercise.

This apparently insignificant routine can have tremendously large results. Any specific situation or person immediately begins to lose the ability to cause you mental turmoil.

Keep your eyes closed for another two minutes or so, open them to view the Triangle for another 30 seconds, then continue with your regular chores.

A few minutes spent on contemplating the Scarlet Triangle on any day you can manage it will work miracles of detachment and peace for you.

"IT'S BETTER THAN HAVING A GUARDIAN ANGEL," ATTESTS REGINALD Y.

Reginald Y. is a firm supporter of the Scarlet Triangle of Tejas. His problem is not unusual: his mother-in-law was causing him much mental anguish.

"Very subtle she was," Reginald said. "No way was she doing anything to me I could call material or physical damage. She did things which kept me on edge, chipping away at the stability of our marriage."

For example, Reginald would become furious when his mother-in-law dropped by when the big game was on TV and insisted he turn it off because she had some important matter to discuss which could not wait.

"After she'd talked for three hours and the game was over I would realize she was just wasting my time," Reginald said. "Her 'important matter' would be nothing more critical than the relative merits of cornflakes or oats for breakfast or some similar triviality."

Worse was the innuendo his mother-in-law would insert into discussions about Reginald with his wife.

"She would ask all sorts of questions with an air of total innocence," Reginald said. "Such as 'How can you be sure your husband is playing poker with his male friends on Saturdays?' Or she'd drop odd remarks into the conversation about cheating husbands and how many were known to be having affairs with their secretaries."

“Another sweet little number was to offer to help with the car installments as if I’d run us into debt and was about to be hauled off to jail for non-payment. Or she’d bring some delicacy and hand it to my wife, saying. ‘I’m sure this is something you cannot afford on the money your husband gives you.’

“She always called me ‘your husband’ and made it sound as if I was a dirty old lecher who was keeping her daughter imprisoned in sin.”

Reginald’s wife was intimidated by her mother and would never strike back, and the strain in the air after the old lady had left was almost visible to the unaided eye.

“It got so I dreaded seeing her car pull into the driveway,” Reginald related. “I would worry in advance about what new torture she had devised.

“One thing I’ll say for her, she was consistent. Always put me down whenever we met, and it only confirmed her stated opinion that I was ‘an immature loser’ when I occasionally blew my cork at her. But she had a skin like a rhino and always came back with more of her mischief.”

A clear case for Pyramid Energy to come to the rescue. How Reginald came across the Scarlet Triangle of Tejas perhaps confirms one of his mother-in-law’s suspicious remarks.

“Things were so stressful I was indeed looking at my secretary as a chance to cheat,” Reginald admitted. “But that passionate affair got no further than a coffee and sandwich one time only at a fastfood restaurant after work. A very perceptive girl, is my secretary. She’d already recognized the symptoms and was not about to spoil a good job by having an affair with her boss.

“Over coffee she got me talking. I was scornful when she told me of the miracles Pyramid Energy could work. But right there at the table she had me build a little pyramid from a blank file card from my briefcase. The waitress thought we were crazy as I sketched on the symbols and stuck bits of colored paper on the four sides.”

In the crowded cafe Reginald was instructed in how to view the Scarlet Triangle.

"Exactly the right phrase is to say it worked like a charm," Reginald said. "When I arrived home my heart sank to see my mother-in-law's car in front of the house. There I was, a full hour late, and I knew exactly how much mileage she'd make of that."

Reginald walked into his home to meet a verbal creeping barrage. His mother-in-law was in top form.

"She made me sound like a wife-beater, child molester, drug smuggler, indecent exposé, deserter and dedicated drunk," Reginald said. "Previously I'd have reacted and snarled at her. This time I smiled like the Mona Lisa and listened until she ran out of steam."

"Finally she stopped and there was silence for minutes. I was totally relaxed, smoking and sipping a coffee while waiting for my wife to serve supper. My mother-in-law actually spluttered in confusion and annoyance when I refused to be goaded into anger."

"She tried several more ploys during the meal but it all went straight over my head. From that day to this she's never been able to ruffle my feathers even a trifle. I got to be sorry for the neurotic old biddy when I realized she was lonely, and jealous because I'd 'stolen' her daughter from her."

Eventually his mother-in-law grew tired of her fruitless harassment, seeing it now no longer had the intended effect of annoying Reginald.

"What a difference," Reginald said. "She's almost human now. And to think it all began the night I met the Scarlet Triangle of Tejas. Amazing!"

OVERCOMING OPPOSITION WITH THE SYMPATHETIC PORTRAYAL TECHNIQUE

Whose cooperation do you need? Maybe you require a loan from a stiff-necked credit manager. Perhaps your boss is resisting giving you a raise you deserve. Your companion may be refusing to assist you in some vital project. Somewhere along the line of life we inevitably run into opposition of a type which needs only a sharp nudge at esoteric levels to bring a change of heart and smiling agreement.

Try the Sympathetic Portrayal Technique at such times. You'll be amazed at the results: you perform a simple mental routine, and the consequences appear quickly (sometimes instantly) in the material world.

You should apply the Sympathetic Portrayal Technique at the precise time when you fear you're going to get a refusal from someone.

Let's use that credit manager as an example. When you meet, recall a mental picture of the Scarlet Triangle, and pretend you are looking through the triangle at the person you're being interviewed by.

As you talk, discuss or make your case, continue to pretend to yourself that you're talking through the triangle. See it as a transparent red filter which allows your words and ideas to go through, like coffee going through a drip filter paper.

That's the only thing you need to do. If you've been working regularly at contemplating the Scarlet Triangle of Tejas, your batting average for getting cooperation from previously obdurate opponents will increase sharply and amazingly.

JEAN W. SECURED A COVETED WELL-PAID POSITION

High unemployment and lack of personal qualifications were hitting hard at Jean W. For months she had been tramping the cold wet streets of Chicago looking for work.

"My shoes were so thin I could have stood on a dime and told you if it was head or tail," she said. "But at that time, if I'd had a dime, I'd have put it toward a bite to eat."

The dollar may have been depressed but Jean refused to be the same.

"I had little going for me. Not much learning, a lot of odd jobs in my time with nothing long-lasting or secure, a spell in a remand home years back when I was a wild kid—all strikes against me," she related. "About my only plus was I'm bright and willing, given a chance."

That chance eluded her. Each day she woke shivering in her squalid little room, cold with the chill of not enough food and stiff with unrested, aching limbs. Her funds were almost exhausted and her final unemployment check had arrived the previous week.

"More days of knocking on doors and making calls had given me nothing more than 'We'll let you know' or 'Sorry, the vacancy has been filled.' I started panhandling for quarters as I walked wearily from block to block," she said. "I'd sunk that low, but I got little joy, and when the weeping gray sky turned dark I headed for my room. It was drier than the streets if I kept the newspaper stuffed in the broken window, and I had companionship—the roaches who seemed as hungry as I was."

Slumped hopelessly on her sagging cot, Jean was startled when someone knocked gently on her door. Only one person came calling and that was the rent collector. She knew his knock only too well; as her rent slipped further behind, his peremptory thump on her door grew heavier.

"I called out, asking who it was, and a guy outside said he lived across the hall and could he see me a minute," Jean said. "I'd seen him going in and out. Beard, jeans and beads—not your average mugger or rapist—so I opened the door."

An hour later Jean was feeling a combination of optimism and skepticism.

"The guy said he'd overheard me using the phone in the hallway and knew I needed a job," she said. "He had news of a vacancy I might be able to fill. But the extra curve he threw at me was to show me a little pyramid and explain what he called New Psychic Energy Power methods. He briefed me in making a pyramid for myself and how to carry out a little routine called the Sympathetic Portrayal Technique.

"Seemed to be a bunch of pure baloney to me, but I had nothing else to do in the long hours before sleep came so I did as he said and built a little pyramid with all its trimmings."

Next day Jean went to the address she'd been given and ran into a large obstacle.

"The interviewing guy was a creep," she said. "He made it clear he was against me from the start. I'm no Miss America, and shortage of cash had made sure I'd win no fashion contests. But added to that the interviewer coldly told me they had no need for any more black people on the staff... only he did not call me black: he used a real insulting Southern word.

"But that did not stop him from making a pass at me right there in the office, and he was visibly angry when I told him what he could do."

Yet Jean really needed the job, and in it she would be working for that prejudiced man. The vacancy was precisely fitted to being handled by Jean, but somehow she had to get by this obstructive male.

"I remembered the Sympathetic Portrayal Technique," she said, "and called to mind the Scarlet Triangle as my friend had suggested.

"From that moment on the interviewer began to thaw. He stopped looking down my blouse, interrupted himself as he was listing the reasons why I would not fit into the organization, and began listing my advantages instead.

"He sent out for coffee and cookies, and about 30 minutes later he smiled and asked when I could start work."

Jean says she's not the richest person in Chicago now but she's working steadily at a job she enjoys. She is gradually getting her life into shape, and has a more opulent apartment with heat and comforts.

"Having seen that Pyramid Energy turned a sour and opposing man into the soul of cooperation, I'm convinced it works," she said. "I only wish I could run into that bearded dude again to learn some more techniques from him."

DISPEL NEGATIVE OR EVIL CONDITIONS WITH THE SOUTHERN FIRE TECHNIQUE

As I pointed out earlier in this Energy Circuit, the Southern Fire Technique is remarkably powerful, but it does have specialized applications.

Up front, you can use it with success on an "eye for an eye, tooth for a tooth" basis. However, should you find that Biblical thought conflicting with your belief that you should "turn the other cheek" (another concept from the same Book), you'd better think awhile before you set out to use this technique. If smashing your enemy is going to make you feel guilty and worried, the cure could be worse than the existing disease!

And to repeat the basic necessity for this method: use it only on people who have caused you actual material or physical harm.

That word "physical" is important. In order to cause material hurt, the perpetrator has used energy, probably muscular energy. You are going to locate that energy at esoteric levels and return it whence it came, backed by similar motives of negativity with which it was applied to you.

Put yourself in your regular position for viewing your New Psychic Energy Generator, with the Scarlet Triangle of Tejas clearly in your line of sight. Look at it for about two minutes, then close your eyes.

Now fish around in your memory and bring up a clear replay of the event or events which caused you the pain or harm which you wish to repel.

NOTE: If at this stage you find it a problem bringing back clear and precise memories of the event and the parties concerned, this could be a sign that the situation is less critical than you believe. If you're having trouble recalling it clearly, it's probably not bugging you as much as you believe it to be. In such a case, stop this routine before going any further.

This memory work "calls back" the energy used in the event, and you should now feel yourself getting warm, cold, hot, or maybe moderately agitated. If there is no change in the way you feel, interrupt the routine and do something else: you're receiving clear evidence that the situation is less important than you feel it to be, and is not worth wasting effort on.

As you experience this energy phenomenon, imagine the energy you've generated flowing away from you and entering the Scarlet Triangle of Tejas.

That has put the wheels in motion, and destiny will take care of the affair from here on in. Open your eyes, look at the Scarlet Triangle for a few seconds, then go about your business.

FLOYD J. REPELLED A BLACK MAGIC ATTACK

"I was hurt, bewildered and ready to die," Floyd J. records. "How I got into that mess is ancient history now. My case is a warning to people who choose to dabble in witchcraft and the black arts.

"About a year before I reached the hairy edge of screaming madness and terror I had joined a society in Louisiana after answering an ad that promised to reveal to me secrets of voodoo and magic."

Floyd duly met the leader of the society and paid a heavy initiation fee.

"I was doomed to pay far more as the months passed," Floyd said. "Yet the money was not the chief factor. I was also paying in loss of self-respect, in being dominated by a powerful occultist and in seeing my life crumbling into ruins."

Floyd will not talk about the degrading rituals he was involved with, nor the terrifying sacrifices and ceremonies he took part in.

"The black magic was working," he said. "I was indeed getting my desires for power and wealth. But most of the money went to the society and I was becoming mentally disturbed. Sleep came late, my health suffered and my nerves were shot.

"Before I lost my reason entirely I told the High Priest I was cutting loose and going my own way. I was horrified when he grinned like Satan and said I could not do that—the blood ceremonies I'd taken part in made me his disciple for life. If I quit, he would pursue me with curses and evil."

Floyd nevertheless fled and vowed never to go near the Black Temple again.

"The society followed me and made my life hell on earth," he recalls. "They used their black powers to weaken my will, to disorganize my bodily functions, to turn people against me and to transform me into a frightened sleepless wreck. I could not believe the hollow-eyed skeletal face I saw when I looked in a mirror was truly me.

"They added physical assault to their spells. Evil-smelling liquids were poured under my front door. They slashed the tires of my car. The High Priest would call me in the dark hours before dawn and whisper obscene threats. Then a thug beat me up on the street, and told me the Black Chief would stop all this if I'd return to their Temple."

Floyd resorted to his own defenses. He worked all the psychic self-defense rituals he had learned during his occult studies.

"None of them was effective," he said. "Strange vapors began coiling through my room after midnight. Invisible slimy things left trails like giant slugs across my bed. Scratching on my doors began—and nothing visible was there.

"I was on the brink of madness when Pyramid Energy came to my aid."

Floyd had appealed to another powerful occultist to help him.

“That man told me he could do little for me himself, but he could show me how to help myself,” Floyd said. “He told me about the Southern Fire Technique, saying it was one of the most protective techniques he could give me, and fitted to my desperate circumstances.

“At the time I figured it was no more potent than the other methods I’d tried and seen fail miserably.”

Yet Floyd was free of the evil influences within one week.

“The first working of the Southern Fire Technique saw the departure of the horrible phenomena in and around my home,” he said. “Next day I was called as a witness for the prosecution who needed to prove a man had committed second degree murder. He turned out to be the thug who had beaten me, and my evidence of his viciousness helped to put him away for ten years.

“The Black Temple was the scene of a spectacular unexplained fire that week. It burned clear down to the basement, destroying it utterly. The High Priest was burned as he rushed into the fire to retrieve some of his Black Grimoires and icons. He is scarred for life, almost blind, walks with a cane and has lost the use of one hand.

“His acolytes all suffered varying degrees of injury or misfortune, apparently by accident.”

Floyd has had no further trouble from the society, but he has made a solemn vow never to meddle in the black arts again.

“Who needs them?” he says. “I’ve now got something infinitely more powerful and truly holy. Pyramid Energy is my path from here on in.”

DEFEATING YOUR ENEMIES WITH THE SUNSHINE PROTECTION ROUTINE

This fascinating technique is extremely useful when you’re having trouble putting your finger on the precise cause of your problems. You suspect someone or something is standing in the way of your progress, but have no real evidence to prove it.

So use the Sunshine Protection Routine, another powerful method of attuning yourself with the South Face Tide and batting away any obstructions to your planned path to peace, prosperity and plenitude.

Begin viewing the Scarlet Triangle of Tejas under your usual conditions. Look at it for the regular two minutes or so, then close your eyes. Push away fears and worries by thinking about peaceful surroundings, as in preceding techniques, but add one extra feature to your mind pictures.

Recall how the sun looks when it shines on calm water on a bright sunny day; think about the deep shadows which the sun casts from trees and buildings. Then recall your own shadow as it would lie on the ground if the sun were shining on you at this moment. Then pretend you're turning to face the sun, and you feel its warmth on your face, and your shadow falls behind you.

If you can carry out this routine when the sun actually shines on your face, arrange it that way. But do not open your eyes to look at the sun. That can be ultimately dangerous to your eyesight. Staring at the sun can be a quick and direct path to total blindness.

After bathing your face in the real or imagined sunlight for about a minute, turn your face to your New Psychic Energy Generator, open your eyes and view the Scarlet Triangle for another half-minute before concluding the routine.

JUDY I. SAYS, "ALL MY OBSTRUCTIONS FADED AWAY LIKE MAGIC"

"Why can I not get ahead? Will my troubles last for the rest of my miserable life? Was I born under an evil star? Does someone hate me? Where am I going wrong?"

Such questions occur to many of us at stages in our lives, and Judy I. had reached just such an impasse.

"I used to wake with a dull, heavy feeling, dreading what the day would bring. Nothing I did was right," she said. "No way could I put a finger on who or what was holding me back, but I failed at every turn."

Apart from hundreds of petty irritations, Judy found the quality of her life being eroded by unhappy events. She saw less worthy people at work promoted over her head. Her application for a better apartment in her block was mislaid and another party secured the prime location Judy had been coveting for months. Her paycheck was misprinted by a computer and the bank refused to cash it.

Her car unaccountably developed an expensive malady in its electric system and three tires punctured inside 14 days. Her TV broke down, a dryer at the laundromat scorched an expensive pantsuit, and her shower blocked, overflowed and ruined a hall rug she had just laid down.

Her boyfriend walked out after a misunderstanding and relocated two states away.

"It was ridiculous. If something could go wrong, it did," Judy said. "Nothing truly catastrophic, but the cumulative effect was wearing me to a frazzle. I seemed to have run into a combination of opposition from people and blows from an uncaring fate.

"I began to wonder when it would end, if ever. Worse: I began to worry that it would get steadily worse and I'd end up destitute and diseased."

Airing her misfortunes to a friend, Judy was introduced to Pyramid Energy.

"The result of a long and interesting discussion about pyramid research was that I decided to see if the Scarlet Triangle of Tejas could help me," Judy said. "From what my friend told me, it seemed the Sunshine Protection Routine could put me on a path back to serenity."

Pyramid Energy duly came up trumps for Judy. Her regular practice with the Scarlet Triangle coincided with quick improvement in her life style and conditions.

"The list would be endless if I wrote down all the happy things that came my way," Judy said. "Bottom line was where I'd been doing everything wrong, I now hit a delightful phase of being in the right place at the right time—and that's continued ever since.

"I zapped to administrative levels at work, leapfrogging above those people who'd passed me in earlier promotions. I met a car salesman at a disco, he traded my old banger for a new Monza, we fell in love and married.

Some of Judy's good luck rubbed off on her new husband. He was made area representative for a major vehicle distributor and he and Judy were soon on easy street.

"I keep my New Psychic Energy Generator in the window with the ocean view," Judy said, "so when we sit down for cocktails before dining in our solarium we can absorb some more of the Pyramid Energy tuning-in benefits.

"Now all my obstructive influences have faded away like magic, and I know what enjoying life is all about."

BAD IS SWIFTLY TRANSFORMED INTO GOOD WHEN YOU EMPLOY THE MYSTIC PENTAFORK METHOD

After reading the above headline, your first question may well be, "What's a Mystic Pentafork?" Simple answer: it's the name of the Fire Symbol you inscribed on the South Face of your New Psychic Energy Generator.

Attaching its powers to your destiny path with the following method can work miracles of change, with previous opposers quickly becoming cooperative and supportive.

Make a small diagram of the Mystic Pentafork on a piece of paper, just as you did for the Air Symbol for the Eastern Air Technique in Energy Circuit 4.

Sit yourself down in your now familiar position, and view the Scarlet Triangle of Tejas for two minutes. Then transfer your attention to the Pentafork which you can be holding or have placed suitably in front of you.

After a few seconds of gazing at the Pentafork, close your eyes. Consider why you're performing this routine, and what results you wish to be forthcoming. Think seriously about those results, and pretend that what you wish to occur has already happened.

Open your eyes, view the Mystic Pentafork for about ten seconds, return your gaze to the Scarlet Triangle for a further 30 seconds, then terminate this routine.

Put your Mystic Pentafork in your purse or wallet, and carry it with you, as you did with the Air Symbol. Of course, when you carry out this Mystic Pentafork Method again (and you should schedule it on a regular basis for best effects), you can use the same symbol for viewing; no need to draw a new one each time.