STUDIES IN DREAM SYMBOLISM

by MANLY P. HALL

THIS publication makes available a series of classes given in Los Angeles. The purpose of the instruction is to summarize systems of dream interpretation from the earliest times to the present day. Mr. Hall presents religious, philosophical, and psychological considerations, and extends the subject into the areas of extrasensory perception, prophecy, and mystical trances and visions. The following headings, taken from the Table of Contents, will indicate the scope of the work:

Dreams and psychic stress — The wisdom of the subconscious — Sleep patterns in animals — The twilight hour — Dreams as aids in interpreting personality — The role of conscience — Dream symbols — Symbolism of flowers, birds, animals, and people — Dreams of frustration — Religious dreams — Dreams of warning or premonition — Foreknowledge in dreams — Dreams involving telepathy and clairvoyance — Mystical experiences of Plotinus — The revelation of St. John — The directive nature of the archetypal dream — Characteristic symbols of visions — The mental coordinator in hypnosis and visions

The material has been transcribed from tape recordings of the lectures. An index is included. Typescript, printed by offset, 8½ x 11, art-paper cover with design by William Blake, 72 pages. Price: $3.00

THE SECRET OF THE UNTRoubLED MIND

by MANLY P. HALL

THIS booklet presents three important articles from the PRS JOURNAL, written by Mr. Hall in 1954 and 1956:

Hunger and Fatigue as Symptoms of Psychic Pressure

Overcoming the Feeling of Futility

The Secret of the Untroubled Mind

We all suffer to some degree from the problems discussed in these writings, and our happiness depends very largely upon the cultivation of serenity of spirit. This psychological study will help you to a better understanding of yourself and others. From Manly P. Hall's deep insight into human nature and universal law, you may gain the inspiration that will set you on the path where you will yourself experience the secret of the untroubled mind.

THE SOUL IN EGYPTIAN METAPHYSICS

and

THE BOOK OF THE DEAD

by MANLY P. HALL

TWO essays (reprinted from the PRS Journal) about the Egyptian religious philosophy. In the first, Mr. Hall outlines the Egyptian concept of the human soul, explaining its several parts and the symbols associated with each. The second, based on an original papyrus in the library of our Society, deals with what is popularly known as "The Book of the Dead" — the Egyptian rituals for guiding the soul through the underworld after death. This publication, illustrated with reproductions of the papyrus and other Egyptian symbols relating to the soul, provides a concise statement of Egyptian metaphysics during the Osirian Period.

40 pp., art-paper cover, $1.00

TWO LECTURES BY MANLY P. HALL

NOW AVAILABLE IN ONE ATTRACTIVE BOOKLET

The Four Seasons of the Spirit—The four seasons have always been considered symbolical of the four major divisions of human life. In art, literature, and poetry, each season is regarded as beautiful. There are wonders of the springtime and glories peculiar to summer. Autumn has a splendor of its own, and quiet winter brings with it a glistening mantle of snow. If each part of our own lives is made beautiful year after year, we shall find that joys belong to no one season, but are scattered throughout the changing moods of the year.

Achieving the Miracle of Contentment—There are ways in which each of us can enjoy more completely the span of years spent in this world. To live the best we know and to learn a little every day, are the natural processes that bring rich rewards in peace and understanding. To the degree that we make peace with problems and cultivate a contented heart, living is a vital experience.

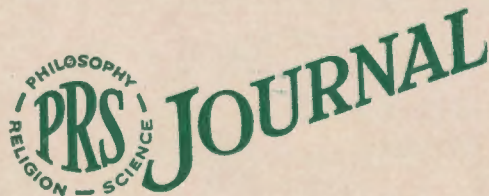

Art-paper cover, 5½ x 8½, 51 pages — Price: $1.25 (plus 4% tax in Calif.)
