About the author

William Shakespeare (born April 1564, baptised April 26, 1564, died April 23, 1616 Julian calendar, May 3, 1616 Gregorian calendar) is widely considered to have been the greatest writer the English language has ever known. As a playwright, he wrote not only some of the most powerful tragedies, but also many comedies.

He also wrote 154 sonnets and several major poems, some of which are considered to be the most brilliant pieces of English literature ever written, because of Shakespeare's ability to rise beyond the narrative and describe the innermost and the most profound aspects of human nature. He is believed to have written most of his works between 1585 and 1613, although the exact dates and chronology of the plays attributed to him are not accurately known. There was no standardized spelling in Elizabethan England, and Shakespeare's name is often rendered in contemporary documents as Shakespear, Shaksper or even Shaxberd.

William Shakespeare (National Portrait Gallery)

Shakespeare's influence on the English-speaking world is reflected in the ready recognition afforded many quotations from Shakespearean plays (<http://en.wikiquote.org/wiki/Shakespeare>), the titles of works based on Shakespearean phrases, and the many adaptations of his plays. Other indicators of contemporary influence are his inclusion in the top 10 of the "100 Greatest Britons" poll sponsored by the BBC, the frequent productions based on his work, such as the BBC Television Shakespeare, and the success of the fictional account of his life in the 1998 film Shakespeare in Love.

Act 1.

Scene I.

An open Place. Thunder and Lightning.

[Enter three Witches.]

First Witch

When shall we three meet again?

In thunder, lightning, or in rain?

Second Witch

When the hurlyburly's done,

When the battle's lost and won.

Third Witch

That will be ere the set of sun.

First Witch

Where the place?

Second Witch

Upon the heath.

Third Witch

There to meet with Macbeth.

First Witch

I come, Graymalkin!

ALL.

Paddock calls:—anon:—

Fair is foul, and foul is fair:

Hover through the fog and filthy air.

[Witches vanish.]

Scene II.A Camp near Forres.[Alarum within. Enter King Duncan, Malcolm, Donalbain, Lennox, with Attendants, meeting a bleeding Soldier.]*Duncan*What bloody man is that? He can report,
As seemeth by his plight, of the revolt
The newest state.*Malcolm*This is the sergeant
Who, like a good and hardy soldier, fought
'Gainst my captivity.—Hail, brave friend!
Say to the king the knowledge of the broil
As thou didst leave it.Soldier

Doubtful it stood;

As two spent swimmers that do cling together
And choke their art. The merciless Macdonwald,—
Worthy to be a rebel,—for to that
The multiplying villainies of nature
Do swarm upon him,—from the Western isles
Of kerns and gallowglasses is supplied;
And fortune, on his damned quarrel smiling,
Show'd like a rebel's whore. But all's too weak;
For brave Macbeth,—well he deserves that name,—
Disdaining fortune, with his brandish'd steel,
Which smok'd with bloody execution,
Like valor's minion,
Carv'd out his passag tTill he fac'd the slave;
And ne'er shook hands, nor bade farewell to him,
Till he unseam'd him from the nave to the chaps,
And fix'd his head upon our battlements.Duncan

O valiant cousin! worthy gentleman!

*Soldier*As whence the sun 'gins his reflection
Shipwrecking storms and direful thunders break;
So from that spring, whence comfort seem'd to come
Discomfort swells. Mark, King of Scotland, mark:
No sooner justice had, with valor arm'd,
Compell'd these skipping kerns to trust their heels,
But the Norwegian lord, surveying vantage,
With furbish'd arms and new supplies of men,
Began a fresh assault.Duncan

Dismay'd not this

Our captains, Macbeth and Banquo?

Soldier

Yes;

As sparrows eagles, or the hare the lion.

If I say sooth, I must report they were

As cannons overcharg'd with double cracks;

So they

Doubly redoubled strokes upon the foe:

Except they meant to bathe in reeking wounds,

Or memorize another Golgotha,

I cannot tell:—

But I am faint; my gashes cry for help.

Duncan

So well thy words become thee as thy wounds;

They smack of honor both.—Go, get him surgeons.

[Exit Soldier, attended.]

Who comes here?

Malcolm

The worthy Thane of Ross.

Lennox

What a haste looks through his eyes! So should he look

That seems to speak things strange.

[Enter Ross.]

Ross

God save the King!

Duncan

Whence cam'st thou, worthy thane?

Ross

From Fife, great king;

Where the Norweyan banners flout the sky

And fan our people cold.

Norway himself, with terrible numbers,

Assisted by that most disloyal traitor

The Thane of Cawdor, began a dismal conflict;

Till that Bellona's bridegroom, lapp'd in proof,

Confronted him with self-comparisons,

Point against point rebellious, arm 'gainst arm,

Curbing his lavish spirit: and, to conclude,

The victory fell on us.

Duncan

Great happiness!

Ross

That now

Sweno, the Norways' king, craves composition;

Nor would we deign him burial of his men

Till he disbursed, at Saint Colme's-inch,

Ten thousand dollars to our general use.

Duncan

No more that Thane of Cawdor shall deceive

Our bosom interest:—go pronounce his present death,

And with his former title greet Macbeth.

Ross

I'll see it done.

Duncan

What he hath lost, noble Macbeth hath won.

[Exeunt.]

Scene III.A heath.

[Thunder. Enter the three Witches.]

First Witch

Where hast thou been, sister?

Second Witch

Killing swine.

Third Witch

Sister, where thou?

First Witch

A sailor's wife had chestnuts in her lap,
 And mounch'd, and mounch'd, and mounch'd:—"Give me," quoth I:
 "Aroint thee, witch!" the rump-fed ronyon cries.
 Her husband's to Aleppo gone, master o' the Tiger:
 But in a sieve I'll thither sail,
 And, like a rat without a tail,
 I'll do, I'll do, and I'll do.

Second Witch

I'll give thee a wind.

First Witch

Thou art kind.

Third Witch

And I another.

First Witch

I myself have all the other:
 And the very ports they blow,
 All the quarters that they know
 I' the shipman's card.

I will drain him dry as hay:
 Sleep shall neither night nor day
 Hang upon his pent-house lid;
 He shall live a man forbid:
 Weary seven-nights nine times nine
 Shall he dwindle, peak, and pine:
 Though his bark cannot be lost,
 Yet it shall be tempest-tost.—
 Look what I have.

Second Witch

Show me, show me.

First Witch

Here I have a pilot's thumb,
 Wreck'd as homeward he did come.
 [Drum within.]

Third Witch

A drum, a drum!
 Macbeth doth come.

ALL.

The weird sisters, hand in hand,
 Posters of the sea and land,
 Thus do go about, about:
 Thrice to thine, and thrice to mine,
 And thrice again, to make up nine:—
 Peace!—the charm's wound up.
 [Enter Macbeth and Banquo.]

Macbeth

So foul and fair a day I have not seen.

Banquo

How far is't call'd to Forres?—What are these
 So wither'd, and so wild in their attire,
 That look not like the inhabitants o' the earth,
 And yet are on't?—Live you? or are you aught
 That man may question? You seem to understand me,
 By each at once her chappy finger laying
 Upon her skinny lips:—you should be women,
 And yet your beards forbid me to interpret
 That you are so.

Macbeth

Speak, if you can;—what are you?

First Witch

All hail, Macbeth! hail to thee, Thane of Glamis!

Second Witch

All hail, Macbeth! hail to thee, Thane of Cawdor!

Third Witch

All hail, Macbeth! that shalt be king hereafter!

Banquo

Good sir, why do you start; and seem to fear
 Things that do sound so fair?—I the name of truth,
 Are ye fantastical, or that indeed
 Which outwardly ye show? My noble partner
 You greet with present grace and great prediction
 Of noble having and of royal hope,
 That he seems rapt withal:—to me you speak not:
 If you can look into the seeds of time,
 And say which grain will grow, and which will not,
 Speak then to me, who neither beg nor fear
 Your favors nor your hate.

First Witch—.

Hail!

Second Witch—.

Hail!

Third Witch

Hail!

First Witch

Lesser than Macbeth, and greater.

Second Witch

Not so happy, yet much happier.

Third Witch

Thou shalt get kings, though thou be none:

So all hail, Macbeth and Banquo!

First Witch

Banquo and Macbeth, all hail!

Macbeth

Stay, you imperfect speakers, tell me more:
 By Sinel's death I know I am Thane of Glamis;
 But how of Cawdor? The Thane of Cawdor lives,
 A prosperous gentleman; and to be king
 Stands not within the prospect of belief,
 No more than to be Cawdor. Say from whence
 You owe this strange intelligence? or why
 Upon this blasted heath you stop our way
 With such prophetic greeting?—Speak, I charge you.
 [Witches vanish.]

Banquo

The earth hath bubbles, as the water has,

And these are of them:—whither are they vanish'd?

Macbeth

Into the air; and what seem'd corporal melted
As breath into the wind.—Would they had stay'd!

Banquo

Were such things here as we do speak about?
Or have we eaten on the insane root
That takes the reason prisoner?

Macbeth

Your children shall be kings.

Banquo

You shall be king.

Macbeth

And Thane of Cawdor too; went it not so?

Banquo

To the selfsame tune and words. Who's here?
[Enter Ross and Angus.]

Ross

The king hath happily receiv'd, Macbeth,
The news of thy success: and when he reads
Thy personal venture in the rebels' fight,
His wonders and his praises do contend
Which should be thine or his: silenc'd with that,
In viewing o'er the rest o' the self-same day,
He finds thee in the stout Norwegian ranks,
Nothing afraid of what thyself didst make,
Strange images of death. As thick as hail
Came post with post; and every one did bear
Thy praises in his kingdom's great defense,

And pour'd them down before him.

Angus

We are sent
To give thee, from our royal master, thanks;
Only to herald thee into his sight,
Not pay thee.

Ross

And, for an earnest of a greater honor,
He bade me, from him, call thee Thane of Cawdor:
In which addition, hail, most worthy thane,
For it is thine.

Banquo

What, can the devil speak true?

Macbeth

The Thane of Cawdor lives: why do you dress me
In borrow'd robes?

Angus

Who was the Thane lives yet;
But under heavy judgement bears that life
Which he deserves to lose. Whether he was combin'd
With those of Norway, or did line the rebel
With hidden help and vantage, or that with both
He labour'd in his country's wreck, I know not;
But treasons capital, confess'd and proved,
Have overthrown him.

Macbeth

[Aside.] Glamis, and Thane of Cawdor:
The greatest is behind.—Thanks for your pains.—
Do you not hope your children shall be kings,

When those that gave the Thane of Cawdor to me
Promis'd no less to them?

Banquo

That, trusted home,
Might yet enkindle you unto the crown,
Besides the Thane of Cawdor. But 'tis strange:
And oftentimes to win us to our harm,
The instruments of darkness tell us truths;
Win us with honest trifles, to betray's
In deepest consequence.—
Cousins, a word, I pray you.

Macbeth

[Aside.] Two truths are told,
As happy prologues to the swelling act
Of the imperial theme.—I thank you, gentlemen.—
[Aside.] This supernatural soliciting
Cannot be ill; cannot be good:—if ill,
Why hath it given me earnest of success,
Commencing in a truth? I am Thane of Cawdor:
If good, why do I yield to that suggestion
Whose horrid image doth unfix my hair,
And make my seated heart knock at my ribs,
Against the use of nature? Present fears
Are less than horrible imaginings:
My thought, whose murder yet is but fantastical,
Shakes so my single state of man, that function
Is smother'd in surmise; and nothing is
But what is not.

Banquo

Look, how our partner's rapt.

Macbeth

[Aside.] If chance will have me king, why, chance may crown me
Without my stir.

Banquo

New honors come upon him,
Like our strange garments, cleave not to their mould
But with the aid of use.

Macbeth

[Aside.] Come what come may,
Time and the hour runs through the roughest day.

Banquo

Worthy Macbeth, we stay upon your leisure.

Macbeth

Give me your favor:—my dull brain was wrought
With things forgotten. Kind gentlemen, your pains
Are register'd where every day I turn
The leaf to read them.—Let us toward the king.—
Think upon what hath chanc'd; and, at more time,
The interim having weigh'd it, let us speak
Our free hearts each to other.

Banquo

Very gladly.

Macbeth

Till then, enough.—Come, friends.

[Exeunt.]

Scene IV.Forres. A Room in the Palace.

[Flourish. Enter Duncan, Malcolm, Donalbain, Lennox, and Attendants.]

Duncan

Is execution done on Cawdor? Are not
Those in commission yet return'd?

Malcolm

My liege,
They are not yet come back. But I have spoke
With one that saw him die: who did report,
That very frankly he confess'd his treasons;
Implor'd your highness' pardon; and set forth
A deep repentance: nothing in his life
Became him like the leaving it; he died
As one that had been studied in his death,
To throw away the dearest thing he ow'd
As 'twere a careless trifle.

Duncan

There's no art
To find the mind's construction in the face:
He was a gentleman on whom I built
An absolute trust.—

[Enter Macbeth, Banquo, Ross, and Angus.]

O worthiest cousin!

The sin of my ingratitude even now
Was heavy on me: thou art so far before,
That swiftest wing of recompense is slow
To overtake thee. Would thou hadst less deserv'd;

That the proportion both of thanks and payment
Might have been mine! only I have left to say,
More is thy due than more than all can pay.

Macbeth

The service and the loyalty I owe,
In doing it, pays itself. Your highness' part
Is to receive our duties: and our duties
Are to your throne and state, children and servants;
Which do but what they should, by doing everything
Safe toward your love and honor.

Duncan

Welcome hither:
I have begun to plant thee, and will labor
To make thee full of growing.—Noble Banquo,
That hast no less deserv'd, nor must be known
No less to have done so, let me infold thee
And hold thee to my heart.

Banquo

There if I grow,
The harvest is your own.

Duncan

My plenteous joys,
Wanton in fulness, seek to hide themselves
In drops of sorrow.—Sons, kinsmen, thanes,
And you whose places are the nearest, know,
We will establish our estate upon
Our eldest, Malcolm; whom we name hereafter
The Prince of Cumberland: which honor must
Not unaccompanied invest him only,
But signs of nobleness, like stars, shall shine

On all deservers.—From hence to Inverness,
And bind us further to you.

Macbeth

The rest is labor, which is not us'd for you:
I'll be myself the harbinger, and make joyful
The hearing of my wife with your approach;
So, humbly take my leave.

Duncan

My worthy Cawdor!

Macbeth

[Aside.] The Prince of Cumberland!—That is a step,
On which I must fall down, or else o'erleap,
For in my way it lies. Stars, hide your fires!
Let not light see my black and deep desires:
The eye wink at the hand! yet let that be,
Which the eye fears, when it is done, to see.
[Exit.]

Duncan

True, worthy Banquo!—he is full so valiant;
And in his commendations I am fed,—
It is a banquet to me. Let us after him,
Whose care is gone before to bid us welcome:
It is a peerless kinsman.
[Flourish. Exeunt.]

Scene V.

Inverness. A Room in Macbeth's Castle.

[Enter Lady Macbeth, reading a letter.]

Lady Macbeth

“They met me in the day of success; and I have learned by the perfectest report they have more in them than mortal knowledge. When I burned in desire to question them further, they made themselves air, into which they vanished. Whiles I stood rapt in the wonder of it, came missives from the king, who all-hailed me, ‘Thane of Cawdor’; by which title, before, these weird sisters saluted me, and referred me to the coming on of time, with ‘Hail, king that shalt be!’ This have I thought good to deliver thee, my dearest partner of greatness; that thou mightst not lose the dues of rejoicing, by being ignorant of what greatness is promised thee. Lay it to thy heart, and farewell.”

Glamis thou art, and Cawdor; and shalt be
What thou art promis'd; yet do I fear thy nature;
It is too full o' the milk of human kindness
To catch the nearest way: thou wouldst be great;
Art not without ambition; but without
The illness should attend it. What thou wouldst highly,
That wouldst thou holily; wouldst not play false,
And yet wouldst wrongly win: thou'dst have, great Glamis,
That which cries, “Thus thou must do, if thou have it:
And that which rather thou dost fear to do
Than wishest should be undone.” Hie thee hither,
That I may pour my spirits in thine ear;
And chastise with the valor of my tongue
All that impedes thee from the golden round,
Which fate and metaphysical aid doth seem
To have thee crown'd withal.

[Enter an Attendant.]

What is your tidings?

Attendant

The king comes here tonight.

Lady Macbeth

Thou'rt mad to say it:
Is not thy master with him? who, were't so,
Would have inform'd for preparation.

Attendant

So please you, it is true:—our thane is coming:
One of my fellows had the speed of him;
Who, almost dead for breath, had scarcely more
Than would make up his message.

Lady Macbeth

Give him tending;
He brings great news.
[Exit Attendant.]

The raven himself is hoarse

That croaks the fatal entrance of Duncan
Under my battlements. Come, you spirits
That tend on mortal thoughts, unsex me here;
And fill me, from the crown to the toe, top-full
Of direst cruelty! make thick my blood,
Stop up the access and passage to remorse,
That no compunctious visitings of nature
Shake my fell purpose, nor keep peace between
The effect and it! Come to my woman's breasts,
And take my milk for gall, your murdering ministers,
Wherever in your sightless substances
You wait on nature's mischief! Come, thick night,
And pall thee in the dunnest smoke of hell
That my keen knife see not the wound it makes
Nor heaven peep through the blanket of the dark

To cry, "Hold, hold!"

[Enter Macbeth.]

Great Glamis! Worthy Cawdor!
Greater than both, by the all-hail hereafter!
Thy letters have transported me beyond
This ignorant present, and I feel now
The future in the instant.

Macbeth

My dearest love,
Duncan comes here tonight.

Lady Macbeth

And when goes hence?

Macbeth

To-morrow,—as he purposes.

Lady Macbeth

O, never
Shall sun that morrow see!
Your face, my thane, is as a book where men
May read strange matters:—to beguile the time,
Look like the time; bear welcome in your eye,
Your hand, your tongue: look like the innocent flower,
But be the serpent under't. He that's coming
Must be provided for: and you shall put
This night's great business into my despatch;
Which shall to all our nights and days to come
Give solely sovereign sway and masterdom.

Macbeth

We will speak further.

Lady Macbeth

Only look up clear;
 To alter favor ever is to fear:
 Leave all the rest to me.
 [Exeunt.]

Scene VI.

The same. Before the Castle.

[Hautboys. Servants of Macbeth attending.]

[Enter Duncan, Malcolm, Donalbain, Banquo, Lennox, Macduff,
 Ross, Angus, and Attendants.]

Duncan

This castle hath a pleasant seat: the air
 Nimbly and sweetly recommends itself
 Unto our gentle senses.

Banquo

This guest of summer,
 The temple-haunting martlet, does approve
 By his lov'd mansionry, that the heaven's breath
 Smells woingly here: no jutting, frieze, buttress,
 Nor coigne of vantage, but this bird hath made
 His pendant bed and procreant cradle:
 Where they most breed and haunt, I have observ'd
 The air is delicate.

[Enter Lady Macbeth.]

Duncan

See, see, our honour'd hostess!—
 The love that follows us sometime is our trouble,
 Which still we thank as love. Herein I teach you
 How you shall bid God ild us for your pains,

And thank us for your trouble.

Lady Macbeth

All our service
 In every point twice done, and then done double,
 Were poor and single business to contend
 Against those honours deep and broad wherewith
 Your majesty loads our house: for those of old,
 And the late dignities heap'd up to them,
 We rest your hermits.

Duncan

Where's the Thane of Cawdor?
 We cours'd him at the heels, and had a purpose
 To be his purveyor: but he rides well;
 And his great love, sharp as his spur, hath holp him
 To his home before us. Fair and noble hostess,
 We are your guest tonight.

Lady Macbeth

Your servants ever
 Have theirs, themselves, and what is theirs, in compt,
 To make their audit at your highness' pleasure,
 Still to return your own.

Duncan

Give me your hand;
 Conduct me to mine host: we love him highly,
 And shall continue our graces towards him.
 By your leave, hostess.
 [Exeunt.]

Scene VII.The same. A Lobby in the Castle.

[Hautboys and torches. Enter, and pass over, a Sewer and divers Servants with dishes and service. Then enter Macbeth.]

Macbeth

If it were done when 'tis done, then 'twere well
 It were done quickly. If the assassination
 Could trammel up the consequence, and catch,
 With his surcease, success; that but this blow
 Might be the be-all and the end-all—here,
 But here, upon this bank and shoal of time,—
 We'd jump the life to come. But in these cases
 We still have judgement here; that we but teach
 Bloody instructions, which being taught, return
 To plague the inventor: this even-handed justice
 Commends the ingredients of our poison'd chalice
 To our own lips. He's here in double trust:
 First, as I am his kinsman and his subject,
 Strong both against the deed: then, as his host,
 Who should against his murderer shut the door,
 Not bear the knife myself. Besides, this Duncan
 Hath borne his faculties so meek, hath been
 So clear in his great office, that his virtues
 Will plead like angels, trumpet-tongued, against
 The deep damnation of his taking-off:
 And pity, like a naked new-born babe,
 Striding the blast, or heaven's cherubin, hors'd
 Upon the sightless couriers of the air,
 Shall blow the horrid deed in every eye,
 That tears shall drown the wind.—I have no spur
 To prick the sides of my intent, but only

Vaulting ambition, which o'erleaps itself,
 And falls on the other.

[Enter Lady Macbeth.]

How now! what news?

Lady Macbeth

He has almost supp'd: why have you left the chamber?

Macbeth

Hath he ask'd for me?

Lady Macbeth

Know you not he has?

Macbeth

We will proceed no further in this business:
 He hath honour'd me of late; and I have bought
 Golden opinions from all sorts of people,
 Which would be worn now in their newest gloss,
 Not cast aside so soon.

Lady Macbeth

Was the hope drunk
 Wherein you dress'd yourself? hath it slept since?
 And wakes it now, to look so green and pale
 At what it did so freely? From this time
 Such I account thy love. Art thou afraid
 To be the same in thine own act and valor
 As thou art in desire? Wouldst thou have that
 Which thou esteem'st the ornament of life,
 And live a coward in thine own esteem;
 Letting "I dare not" wait upon "I would,"
 Like the poor cat i' the adage?

Macbeth

Pr'ythee, peace!
I dare do all that may become a man;
Who dares do more is none.

Lady Macbeth

What beast was't, then,
That made you break this enterprise to me?
When you durst do it, then you were a man;
And, to be more than what you were, you would
Be so much more the man. Nor time nor place
Did then adhere, and yet you would make both:
They have made themselves, and that their fitness now
Does unmake you. I have given suck, and know
How tender 'tis to love the babe that milks me:
I would, while it was smiling in my face,
Have pluck'd my nipple from his boneless gums
And dash'd the brains out, had I so sworn as you
Have done to this.

Macbeth

If we should fail?

Lady Macbeth

We fail!
But screw your courage to the sticking-place,
And we'll not fail. When Duncan is asleep,—
Whereto the rather shall his day's hard journey
Soundly invite him, his two chamberlains
Will I with wine and wassail so convince
That memory, the warder of the brain,
Shall be a fume, and the receipt of reason
A limbec only: when in swinish sleep
Their drenched natures lie as in a death,

What cannot you and I perform upon
The unguarded Duncan? what not put upon
His spongy officers; who shall bear the guilt
Of our great quell?

Macbeth

Bring forth men-children only,
For thy undaunted mettle should compose
Nothing but males. Will it not be receiv'd,
When we have mark'd with blood those sleepy two
Of his own chamber, and us'd their very daggers,
That they have don't?

Lady Macbeth

Who dares receive it other,
As we shall make our griefs and clamor roar
Upon his death?

Macbeth

I am settled, and bend up
Each corporal agent to this terrible feat.
Away, and mock the time with fairest show:
False face must hide what the false heart doth know.
[Exeunt.]

Act 2.

Scene I.

Inverness. Court within the Castle.

[Enter Banquo, preceded by Fleance with a torch.]

Banquo

How goes the night, boy?

Fleance

The moon is down; I have not heard the clock.

Banquo

And she goes down at twelve.

Fleance

I take't, 'tis later, sir.

Banquo

Hold, take my sword.—There's husbandry in heaven;
Their candles are all out:—take thee that too.—
A heavy summons lies like lead upon me,
And yet I would not sleep:—merciful powers,
Restrain in me the cursed thoughts that nature
Gives way to in repose!—Give me my sword.
Who's there?

[Enter Macbeth, and a Servant with a torch.]

Macbeth

A friend.

Banquo

What, sir, not yet at rest? The king's a-bed:
He hath been in unusual pleasure and
Sent forth great largess to your officers:
This diamond he greets your wife withal,
By the name of most kind hostess; and shut up
In measureless content.

Macbeth

Being unprepar'd,
Our will became the servant to defect;
Which else should free have wrought.

Banquo

All's well.
I dreamt last night of the three weird sisters:
To you they have show'd some truth.

Macbeth

I think not of them:
Yet, when we can entreat an hour to serve,
We would spend it in some words upon that business,
If you would grant the time.

Banquo

At your kind'st leisure.

Macbeth

If you shall cleave to my consent,—when 'tis,
It shall make honor for you.

Banquo

So I lose none
 In seeking to augment it, but still keep
 My bosom franchis'd, and allegiance clear,
 I shall be counsell'd.

Macbeth

Good repose the while!

Banquo

Thanks, sir: the like to you!
 [Exeunt Banquo and Fleance.]

Macbeth

Go bid thy mistress, when my drink is ready,
 She strike upon the bell. Get thee to bed.
 [Exit Servant.]

Is this a dagger which I see before me,

The handle toward my hand? Come, let me clutch thee:—
 I have thee not, and yet I see thee still.
 Art thou not, fatal vision, sensible
 To feeling as to sight? or art thou but
 A dagger of the mind, a false creation,
 Proceeding from the heat-oppressed brain?
 I see thee yet, in form as palpable
 As this which now I draw.
 Thou marshall'st me the way that I was going;
 And such an instrument I was to use.
 Mine eyes are made the fools o' the other senses,
 Or else worth all the rest: I see thee still;
 And on thy blade and dudgeon gouts of blood,
 Which was not so before.—There's no such thing:
 It is the bloody business which informs

Thus to mine eyes.—Now o'er the one half-world
 Nature seems dead, and wicked dreams abuse
 The curtain'd sleep; now witchcraft celebrates
 Pale Hecate's offerings; and wither'd murder,
 Alarum'd by his sentinel, the wolf,
 Whose howl's his watch, thus with his stealthy pace,
 With Tarquin's ravishing strides, towards his design
 Moves like a ghost.—Thou sure and firm-set earth,
 Hear not my steps, which way they walk, for fear
 Thy very stones prate of my whereabouts,
 And take the present horror from the time,
 Which now suits with it.—Whiles I threat, he lives;
 Words to the heat of deeds too cold breath gives.
 [A bell rings.]

I go, and it is done; the bell invites me.

Hear it not, Duncan, for it is a knell
 That summons thee to heaven or to hell.
 [Exit.]
 [Enter Lady Macbeth.]

Lady Macbeth

That which hath made them drunk hath made me bold:
 What hath quench'd them hath given me fire.—Hark!—Peace!
 It was the owl that shriek'd, the fatal bellman,
 Which gives the stern'st good night. He is about it:
 The doors are open; and the surfeited grooms
 Do mock their charge with snores: I have drugg'd their possets
 That death and nature do contend about them,
 Whether they live or die.

Macbeth

[Within.] Who's there?—what, ho!

Lady Macbeth

Alack! I am afraid they have awak'd,
 And 'tis not done: the attempt, and not the deed,
 Confounds us.—Hark!—I laid their daggers ready;
 He could not miss 'em.—Had he not resembled
 My father as he slept, I had done't.—My husband!
 [Re-enter Macbeth.]

Macbeth

I have done the deed.—Didst thou not hear a noise?

Lady Macbeth

I heard the owl scream and the crickets cry.
 Did not you speak?

Macbeth

When?

Lady Macbeth

Now.

Macbeth

As I descended?

Lady Macbeth

Ay.

Macbeth

Hark!—
 Who lies i' the second chamber?

Lady Macbeth

Donalbain.

Macbeth

This is a sorry sight.
 [Looking on his hands.]

Lady Macbeth

A foolish thought, to say a sorry sight.

Macbeth

There's one did laugh in's sleep, and one cried, "Murder!"
 That they did wake each other: I stood and heard them:
 But they did say their prayers, and address'd them
 Again to sleep.

Lady Macbeth

There are two lodg'd together.

Macbeth

One cried, "God bless us!" and, "Amen," the other;
 As they had seen me with these hangman's hands.
 Listening their fear, I could not say "Amen,"
 When they did say, "God bless us."

Lady Macbeth

Consider it not so deeply.

Macbeth

But wherefore could not I pronounce "Amen"?
 I had most need of blessing, and "Amen"
 Stuck in my throat.

Lady Macbeth

These deeds must not be thought
 After these ways; so, it will make us mad.

Macbeth

I heard a voice cry, "Sleep no more!
 Macbeth does murder sleep,"—the innocent sleep;
 Sleep that knits up the ravell'd sleeve of care,
 The death of each day's life, sore labour's bath,

Balm of hurt minds, great nature's second course,
Chief nourisher in life's feast.

Lady Macbeth

What do you mean?

Macbeth

Still it cried, "Sleep no more!" to all the house:
"Glamis hath murder'd sleep, and therefore Cawdor Shall sleep no more,—Macbeth shall sleep no more!"

Lady Macbeth

Who was it that thus cried? Why, worthy thane,
You do unbend your noble strength to think
So brainsickly of things.—Go get some water,
And wash this filthy witness from your hand.—
Why did you bring these daggers from the place?
They must lie there: go carry them; and smear
The sleepy grooms with blood.

Macbeth

I'll go no more:
I am afraid to think what I have done;
Look on't again I dare not.

Lady Macbeth

Infirm of purpose!
Give me the daggers: the sleeping and the dead
Are but as pictures: 'tis the eye of childhood
That fears a painted devil. If he do bleed,
I'll gild the faces of the grooms withal,
For it must seem their guilt.
[Exit. Knocking within.]

Macbeth

Whence is that knocking?
How is't with me, when every noise appals me?
What hands are here? Ha, they pluck out mine eyes!
Will all great Neptune's ocean wash this blood
Clean from my hand? No; this my hand will rather
The multitudinous seas incarnadine,
Making the green one red.
[Re-enter Lady Macbeth.]

Lady Macbeth

My hands are of your color, but I shame
To wear a heart so white. [Knocking within.] I hear knocking
At the south entry:—retire we to our chamber.
A little water clears us of this deed:
How easy is it then! Your constancy
Hath left you unattended.—[Knocking within.] Hark, more knocking:
Get on your nightgown, lest occasion call us
And show us to be watchers:—be not lost
So poorly in your thoughts.

Macbeth

To know my deed, 'twere best not know myself. [Knocking within.]
Wake Duncan with thy knocking! I would thou couldst!
[Exeunt.]
[Enter a Porter. Knocking within.]

Porter

Here's a knocking indeed! If a man were porter of hell-gate, he should have old turning the key. [Knocking.] Knock, knock, knock.
Who's there, i' the name of Belzebub? Here's a farmer that hanged himself on the expectation of plenty: come in time; have napkins
enow about you; here you'll sweat for't.—[Knocking.] Knock, knock!

Who's there, in the other devil's name? Faith, here's an equivocator, that could swear in both the scales against either scale, who committed treason enough for God's sake, yet could not equivocate to heaven: O, come in, equivocator. [Knocking.] Knock, knock, knock! Who's there? Faith, here's an English tailor come hither, for stealing out of a French hose: come in, tailor; here you may roast your goose.— [Knocking.] Knock, knock: never at quiet! What are you?—But this place is too cold for hell. I'll devil-porter it no further: I had thought to have let in some of all professions, that go the primrose way to the everlasting bonfire. [Knocking.] Anon, anon! I pray you, remember the porter.

[Opens the gate.]

[Enter Macduff and Lennox.]

Macduff

Was it so late, friend, ere you went to bed,
That you do lie so late?

Porter

Faith, sir, we were carousing till the second cock: and drink, sir, is a great provoker of three things.

Macduff

What three things does drink especially provoke?

Porter

Marry, sir, nose-painting, sleep, and urine. Lechery, sir, it provokes and unprovokes; it provokes the desire, but it takes away the performance: therefore much drink may be said to be an equivocator with lechery: it makes him, and it mars him; it sets him on, and it takes him off; it persuades him, and disheartens him; makes him stand to, and not stand to: in conclusion, equivocates him in a sleep, and giving him the lie, leaves him.

Macduff

I believe drink gave thee the lie last night.

Porter

That it did, sir, i' the very throat o' me; but I requited him for his lie; and, I think, being too strong for him, though he took up my legs sometime, yet I made a shift to cast him.

Macduff

Is thy master stirring?—
Our knocking has awak'd him; here he comes.

[Enter Macbeth.]

Lennox

Good morrow, noble sir!

Macbeth

Good morrow, both!

Macduff

Is the king stirring, worthy thane?

Macbeth

Not yet.

Macduff

He did command me to call timely on him:
I have almost slipp'd the hour.

Macbeth

I'll bring you to him.

Macduff

I know this is a joyful trouble to you;
But yet 'tis one.

Macbeth

The labour we delight in physics pain.
This is the door.

Macduff

I'll make so bold to call.
For 'tis my limited service.
[Exit Macduff.]

Lennox

Goes the king hence to-day?

Macbeth

He does: he did appoint so.

Lennox

The night has been unruly: where we lay,
Our chimneys were blown down: and, as they say,
Lamentings heard i' the air, strange screams of death;
And prophesying, with accents terrible,
Of dire combustion and confus'd events,
New hatch'd to the woeful time: the obscure bird
Clamour'd the live-long night; some say the earth
Was feverous, and did shake.

Macbeth

'Twas a rough night.

Lennox

My young remembrance cannot parallel
A fellow to it.
[Re-enter Macduff.]

Macduff

O horror, horror, horror! Tongue nor heart
Cannot conceive nor name thee!

Macbeth, Lennox

What's the matter?

Macduff

Confusion now hath made his masterpiece!
Most sacrilegious murder hath broke ope
The Lord's anointed temple, and stole thence
The life o' the building.

Macbeth

What is't you say? the life?

Lennox

Mean you his majesty?

Macduff

Approach the chamber, and destroy your sight
With a new Gorgon:—do not bid me speak;
See, and then speak yourselves.
[Exeunt Macbeth and Lennox.]

Awake, awake!—

Ring the alarum bell:—murder and treason!
Banquo and Donalbain! Malcolm! awake!
Shake off this downy sleep, death's counterfeit,
And look on death itself! up, up, and see
The great doom's image! Malcolm! Banquo!
As from your graves rise up, and walk like sprites
To countenance this horror!
[Alarum-bell rings.]
[Re-enter Lady Macbeth.]

Lady Macbeth

What's the business,
That such a hideous trumpet calls to parley

The sleepers of the house? speak, speak!

Macduff

O gentle lady,

'Tis not for you to hear what I can speak:

The repetition, in a woman's ear,

Would murder as it fell.

[Re-enter Banquo.]

O Banquo, Banquo!

Our royal master's murder'd!

Lady Macbeth

Woe, alas!

What, in our house?

Banquo

Too cruel any where.—

Dear Duff, I pr'ythee, contradict thyself,

And say it is not so.

[Re-enter Macbeth and Lennox, with Ross.]

Macbeth

Had I but died an hour before this chance,

I had liv'd a blessed time; for, from this instant

There's nothing serious in mortality:

All is but toys: renown and grace is dead;

The wine of life is drawn, and the mere lees

Is left this vault to brag of.

[Enter Malcolm and Donalbain.]

Donalbain

What is amiss?

Macbeth

You are, and do not know't:

The spring, the head, the fountain of your blood

Is stopp'd; the very source of it is stopp'd.

Macduff

Your royal father's murder'd.

Malcolm

O, by whom?

Lennox

Those of his chamber, as it seem'd, had done't:

Their hands and faces were all badg'd with blood;

So were their daggers, which, unwip'd, we found

Upon their pillows:

They star'd, and were distracted; no man's life

Was to be trusted with them.

Macbeth

O, yet I do repent me of my fury,

That I did kill them.

Macduff

Wherefore did you so?

Macbeth

Who can be wise, amaz'd, temperate, and furious,

Loyal and neutral, in a moment? No man:

The expedition of my violent love

Outrun the pauser reason. Here lay Duncan,

His silver skin lac'd with his golden blood;

And his gash'd stabs look'd like a breach in nature

For ruin's wasteful entrance: there, the murderers,

Steep'd in the colours of their trade, their daggers

Unmannerly breech'd with gore: who could refrain,

That had a heart to love, and in that heart
 Courage to make's love known?

Lady Macbeth

Help me hence, ho!

Macduff

Look to the lady.

Malcolm

Why do we hold our tongues,
 That most may claim this argument for ours?

Donalbain

What should be spoken here, where our fate,
 Hid in an auger hole, may rush, and seize us?
 Let's away;
 Our tears are not yet brew'd.

Malcolm

Nor our strong sorrow
 Upon the foot of motion.

Banquo

Look to the lady:—
 [Lady Macbeth is carried out.]

And when we have our naked frailties hid,

That suffer in exposure, let us meet,
 And question this most bloody piece of work
 To know it further. Fears and scruples shake us:
 In the great hand of God I stand; and thence,
 Against the undivulg'd pretense I fight
 Of treasonous malice.

Macduff

And so do I.

ALL.

So all.

Macbeth

Let's briefly put on manly readiness,
 And meet i' the hall together.

ALL.

Well contented.

[Exeunt all but Malcolm and Donalbain.]

Malcolm

What will you do? Let's not consort with them:
 To show an unfelt sorrow is an office
 Which the false man does easy. I'll to England.

Donalbain

To Ireland, I; our separated fortune
 Shall keep us both the safer: where we are,
 There's daggers in men's smiles: the near in blood,
 The nearer bloody.

Malcolm

This murderous shaft that's shot
 Hath not yet lighted; and our safest way
 Is to avoid the aim. Therefore to horse;
 And let us not be dainty of leave-taking,
 But shift away: there's warrant in that theft
 Which steals itself, when there's no mercy left.
 [Exeunt.]

Scene II.The same. Without the Castle.

[Enter Ross and an old Man.]

Old man

Threescore and ten I can remember well:
 Within the volume of which time I have seen
 Hours dreadful and things strange; but this sore night
 Hath trifled former knowings.

Ross

Ah, good father,
 Thou seest, the heavens, as troubled with man's act,
 Threaten his bloody stage: by the clock 'tis day,
 And yet dark night strangles the travelling lamp;
 Is't night's predominance, or the day's shame,
 That darkness does the face of earth entomb,
 When living light should kiss it?

Old man

'Tis unnatural,
 Even like the deed that's done. On Tuesday last,
 A falcon, towering in her pride of place,
 Was by a mousing owl hawk'd at and kill'd.

Ross

And Duncan's horses,—a thing most strange and certain,—
 Beauteous and swift, the minions of their race,
 Turn'd wild in nature, broke their stalls, flung out,
 Contending 'gainst obedience, as they would make
 War with mankind.

Old man

'Tis said they eat each other.

Ross

They did so; to the amazement of mine eyes,
 That look'd upon't.
 Here comes the good Macduff.

[Enter Macduff.]

How goes the world, sir, now?Macduff

Why, see you not?

Ross

Is't known who did this more than bloody deed?

Macduff

Those that Macbeth hath slain.

Ross

Alas, the day!
 What good could they pretend?

Macduff

They were suborn'd:
 Malcolm and Donalbain, the king's two sons,
 Are stol'n away and fled; which puts upon them
 Suspicion of the deed.

Ross

'Gainst nature still:
 Thriftless ambition, that wilt ravin up
 Thine own life's means!—Then 'tis most like,
 The sovereignty will fall upon Macbeth.

Macduff

He is already nam'd; and gone to Scone
 To be invested.

Ross

Where is Duncan's body?

Macduff

Carried to Colme-kill,
The sacred storehouse of his predecessors,
And guardian of their bones.

Ross

Will you to Scone?

Macduff

No, cousin, I'll to Fife.

Ross

Well, I will thither.

Macduff

Well, may you see things well done there,—adieu!—
Lest our old robes sit easier than our new!

Ross

Farewell, father.

Old man

God's benison go with you; and with those
That would make good of bad, and friends of foes!

[Exeunt.]

Act 3.

Scene I.

Forres. A Room in the Palace.

[Enter Banquo.]

Banquo

Thou hast it now,—king, Cawdor, Glamis, all,
As the weird women promis'd; and, I fear,
Thou play'dst most foully for't; yet it was said
It should not stand in thy posterity;
But that myself should be the root and father
Of many kings. If there come truth from them,—
As upon thee, Macbeth, their speeches shine,—
Why, by the verities on thee made good,
May they not be my oracles as well,
And set me up in hope? But hush; no more.

[Sennet sounded. Enter Macbeth as King, Lady Macbeth
as Queen; Lennox, Ross, Lords, Ladies, and Attendants.]

Macbeth

Here's our chief guest.

Lady Macbeth

If he had been forgotten,

It had been as a gap in our great feast,
And all-thing unbecoming.

Macbeth

To-night we hold a solemn supper, sir,
And I'll request your presence.

Banquo

Let your highness
Command upon me; to the which my duties
Are with a most indissoluble tie
For ever knit.

Macbeth

Ride you this afternoon?

Banquo

Ay, my good lord.

Macbeth

We should have else desir'd your good advice,—
Which still hath been both grave and prosperous,—
In this day's council; but we'll take to-morrow.
Is't far you ride?

Banquo

As far, my lord, as will fill up the time
'Twi'x't this and supper: go not my horse the better,
I must become a borrower of the night,
For a dark hour or twain.

Macbeth

Fail not our feast.

Banquo

My lord, I will not.

Macbeth

We hear our bloody cousins are bestow'd
In England and in Ireland; not confessing
Their cruel parricide, filling their hearers
With strange invention: but of that to-morrow;
When therewithal we shall have cause of state
Craving us jointly. Hie you to horse: adieu,
Till you return at night. Goes Fleance with you?

Banquo

Ay, my good lord: our time does call upon's.

Macbeth

I wish your horses swift and sure of foot;
And so I do commend you to their backs.
Farewell.—

[Exit Banquo.]

Let every man be master of his time

Till seven at night; to make society
The sweeter welcome, we will keep ourself
Till supper time alone: while then, God be with you!
[Exeunt Lady Macbeth, Lords, Ladies, &c.]

Sirrah, a word with you: attend those men
Our pleasure?

Attendant

They are, my lord, without the palace gate.

Macbeth

Bring them before us.

[Exit Attendant.]

To be thus is nothing;

But to be safely thus:—our fears in Banquo.
 Stick deep; and in his royalty of nature
 Reigns that which would be fear'd: 'tis much he dares;
 And, to that dauntless temper of his mind,
 He hath a wisdom that doth guide his valour
 To act in safety. There is none but he
 Whose being I do fear: and under him,
 My genius is rebuk'd; as, it is said,
 Mark Antony's was by Caesar. He chid the sisters
 When first they put the name of king upon me,
 And bade them speak to him; then, prophet-like,
 They hail'd him father to a line of kings:
 Upon my head they plac'd a fruitless crown,
 And put a barren sceptre in my gripe,
 Thence to be wrench'd with an unlineal hand,
 No son of mine succeeding. If't be so,
 For Banquo's issue have I fil'd my mind;
 For them the gracious Duncan have I murder'd;
 Put rancours in the vessel of my peace
 Only for them; and mine eternal jewel
 Given to the common enemy of man,
 To make them kings, the seed of Banquo kings!
 Rather than so, come, fate, into the list,
 And champion me to the utterance!—Who's there?—
 [Re-enter Attendant, with two Murderers.]
 Now go to the door, and stay there till we call.
 [Exit Attendant.]
 Was it not yesterday we spoke together?

First murderer

It was, so please your highness.

Macbeth

Well then, now
 Have you consider'd of my speeches? Know
 That it was he, in the times past, which held you
 So under fortune; which you thought had been
 Our innocent self: this I made good to you
 In our last conference, pass'd in probation with you
 How you were borne in hand, how cross'd, the instruments,
 Who wrought with them, and all things else that might
 To half a soul and to a notion craz'd
 Say, "Thus did Banquo."

First murderer

You made it known to us.

Macbeth

I did so; and went further, which is now
 Our point of second meeting. Do you find
 Your patience so predominant in your nature,
 That you can let this go? Are you so gossell'd,
 To pray for this good man and for his issue,
 Whose heavy hand hath bow'd you to the grave,
 And beggar'd yours forever?

First murderer

We are men, my liege.

Macbeth

Ay, in the catalogue ye go for men;
 As hounds, and greyhounds, mongrels, spaniels, curs,
 Shoughs, water-rugs, and demi-wolves are clept
 All by the name of dogs: the valu'd file
 Distinguishes the swift, the slow, the subtle,
 The house-keeper, the hunter, every one

According to the gift which bounteous nature
 Hath in him clos'd; whereby he does receive
 Particular addition, from the bill
 That writes them all alike: and so of men.
 Now, if you have a station in the file,
 Not i' the worst rank of manhood, say it;
 And I will put that business in your bosoms,
 Whose execution takes your enemy off;
 Grapples you to the heart and love of us,
 Who wear our health but sickly in his life,
 Which in his death were perfect.

Second murderer

I am one, my liege,
 Whom the vile blows and buffets of the world
 Have so incens'd that I am reckless what
 I do to spite the world.

First murderer

And I another,
 So weary with disasters, tugg'd with fortune,
 That I would set my life on any chance,
 To mend it or be rid on't.

Macbeth

Both of you
 Know Banquo was your enemy.

Both murderers

True, my lord.

Macbeth

So is he mine; and in such bloody distance,
 That every minute of his being thrusts
 Against my near'st of life; and though I could

With barefac'd power sweep him from my sight,
 And bid my will avouch it, yet I must not,
 For certain friends that are both his and mine,
 Whose loves I may not drop, but wail his fall
 Who I myself struck down: and thence it is
 That I to your assistance do make love;
 Masking the business from the common eye
 For sundry weighty reasons.

Second murderer

We shall, my lord,
 Perform what you command us.

First murderer

Though our lives—

Macbeth

Your spirits shine through you. Within this hour at most,
 I will advise you where to plant yourselves;
 Acquaint you with the perfect spy o' the time,
 The moment on't; for't must be done to-night
 And something from the palace; always thought
 That I require a clearness; and with him,—
 To leave no rubs nor botches in the work,—
 Fleance his son, that keeps him company,
 Whose absence is no less material to me
 Than is his father's, must embrace the fate
 Of that dark hour. Resolve yourselves apart:
 I'll come to you anon.

Both murderers.

We are resolv'd, my lord.

Macbeth

I'll call upon you straight: abide within.

[Exeunt Murderers.]

It is concluded:—Banquo, thy soul's flight,
If it find heaven, must find it out to-night.

[Exit.]

Scene II.

The same. Another Room in the Palace.

[Enter Lady Macbeth and a Servant.]

Lady Macbeth

Is Banquo gone from court?

Servant

Ay, madam, but returns again to-night.

Lady Macbeth

Say to the king, I would attend his leisure
For a few words.

Servant

Madam, I will.

[Exit.]

Lady Macbeth

Naught's had, all's spent,
Where our desire is got without content:
'Tis safer to be that which we destroy,
Than, by destruction, dwell in doubtful joy.

[Enter Macbeth.]

How now, my lord! why do you keep alone,
Of sorriest fancies your companions making;
Using those thoughts which should indeed have died
With them they think on? Things without all remedy

Should be without regard: what's done is done.

Macbeth

We have scotch'd the snake, not kill'd it;
She'll close, and be herself; whilst our poor malice
Remains in danger of her former tooth.
But let the frame of things disjoint,
Both the worlds suffer,
Ere we will eat our meal in fear, and sleep
In the affliction of these terrible dreams
That shake us nightly: better be with the dead,
Whom we, to gain our peace, have sent to peace,
Than on the torture of the mind to lie
In restless ecstasy. Duncan is in his grave;
After life's fitful fever he sleeps well;
Treason has done his worst: nor steel, nor poison,
Malice domestic, foreign levy, nothing,
Can touch him further.

Lady Macbeth

Come on;
Gently my lord, sleek o'er your rugged looks;
Be bright and jovial 'mong your guests to-night.

Macbeth

So shall I, love; and so, I pray, be you:
Let your remembrance apply to Banquo;
Present him eminence, both with eye and tongue:
Unsafe the while, that we
Must lave our honors in these flattering streams;
And make our faces vizards to our hearts,
Disguising what they are.

Lady Macbeth

You must leave this.

Macbeth

O, full of scorpions is my mind, dear wife!
Thou know'st that Banquo, and his Fleance, lives.

Lady Macbeth

But in them nature's copy's not eterne.

Macbeth

There's comfort yet; they are assailable;
Then be thou jocund: ere the bat hath flown
His cloister'd flight, ere to black Hecate's summons,
The shard-borne beetle, with his drowsy hums,
Hath rung night's yawning peal, there shall be done
A deed of dreadful note.

Lady Macbeth

What's to be done?

Macbeth

Be innocent of the knowledge, dearest chuck,
Till thou applaud the deed. Come, seeling night,
Scarf up the tender eye of pitiful day;
And with thy bloody and invisible hand
Cancel and tear to pieces that great bond
Which keeps me pale!—Light thickens; and the crow
Makes wing to the rooky wood:
Good things of day begin to droop and drowse;
Whiles night's black agents to their preys do rouse.—
Thou marvell'st at my words: but hold thee still;
Things bad begun make strong themselves by ill:
So, pr'ythee, go with me.

[Exeunt.]

Scene III.

The same. A Park or Lawn, with a gate leading to the Palace.

[Enter three Murderers.]

First murderer

But who did bid thee join with us?

Third Murderer

Macbeth.

Second murderer

He needs not our mistrust; since he delivers
Our offices and what we have to do
To the direction just.

First murderer

Then stand with us.
The west yet glimmers with some streaks of day:
Now spurs the lated traveller apace,
To gain the timely inn; and near approaches
The subject of our watch.

Third Murderer

Hark! I hear horses.

Banquo

[Within.] Give us a light there, ho!

Second murderer

Then 'tis he; the rest
That are within the note of expectation
Already are i' the court.

First murderer

His horses go about.

Third Murderer

Almost a mile; but he does usually,
So all men do, from hence to the palace gate
Make it their walk.

Second murderer

A light, a light!

Third Murderer

'Tis he.

First murderer

Stand to't.

[Enter Banquo, and Fleance with a torch.]

Banquo

It will be rain to-night.

First murderer

Let it come down.

[Assaults Banquo.]

Banquo

O, treachery! Fly, good Fleance, fly, fly, fly!
Thou mayst revenge.—O slave!

[Dies. Fleance escapes.]

Third Murderer

Who did strike out the light?

First murderer

Was't not the way?

Third Murderer

There's but one down: the son is fled.

Second murderer

We have lost best half of our affair.

First murderer

Well, let's away, and say how much is done.

[_Exeunt.]

Scene IV.

The same. A Room of state in the Palace. A banquet prepared.

[Enter Macbeth, Lady Macbeth, Ross, Lennox, Lords, and Attendants.]

Macbeth

You know your own degrees: sit down. At first
And last the hearty welcome.

Lords

Thanks to your majesty.

Macbeth

Ourselves will mingle with society,
And play the humble host.
Our hostess keeps her state; but, in best time,
We will require her welcome.

Lady Macbeth

Pronounce it for me, sir, to all our friends;
For my heart speaks they are welcome.

Macbeth

See, they encounter thee with their hearts' thanks.—
Both sides are even: here I'll sit i' the midst:
[Enter first Murderer to the door.]

Be large in mirth; anon we'll drink a measure
The table round.—There's blood upon thy face.

Murderer
'Tis Banquo's then.

Macbeth
'Tis better thee without than he within.
Is he despatch'd?

Murderer
My lord, his throat is cut; that I did for him.

Macbeth
Thou art the best o' the cut-throats; yet he's good
That did the like for Fleance: if thou didst it,
Thou art the nonpareil.

Murderer
Most royal sir,
Fleance is 'scap'd.

Macbeth
Then comes my fit again: I had else been perfect;
Whole as the marble, founded as the rock;
As broad and general as the casing air:
But now I am cabin'd, cribb'd, confin'd, bound in
To saucy doubts and fears. But Banquo's safe?

Murderer
Ay, my good lord: safe in a ditch he bides,
With twenty trenched gashes on his head;
The least a death to nature.

Macbeth
Thanks for that:

There the grown serpent lies; the worm that's fled
Hath nature that in time will venom breed,
No teeth for the present.—Get thee gone; to-morrow
We'll hear, ourselves, again.
[Exit Murderer.]

Lady Macbeth
My royal lord,
You do not give the cheer: the feast is sold
That is not often vouch'd, while 'tis a-making,
'Tis given with welcome; to feed were best at home;
From thence the sauce to meat is ceremony;
Meeting were bare without it.

Macbeth
Sweet remembrancer!—
Now, good digestion wait on appetite,
And health on both!

Lennox
May't please your highness sit.
[The Ghost of Banquo rises, and sits in Macbeth's place.]

Macbeth
Here had we now our country's honor roof'd,
Were the grac'd person of our Banquo present;
Who may I rather challenge for unkindness
Than pity for mischance!

Ross
His absence, sir,
Lays blame upon his promise. Please't your highness
To grace us with your royal company?

Macbeth

The table's full.

Lennox

Here is a place reserv'd, sir.

Macbeth

Where?

Lennox

Here, my good lord. What is't that moves your highness?

Macbeth

Which of you have done this?

Lords

What, my good lord?

Macbeth

Thou canst not say I did it: never shake
Thy gory locks at me.

Ross

Gentlemen, rise; his highness is not well.

Lady Macbeth

Sit, worthy friends:—my lord is often thus,
And hath been from his youth: pray you, keep seat;
The fit is momentary; upon a thought
He will again be well: if much you note him,
You shall offend him, and extend his passion:
Feed, and regard him not.—Are you a man?

Macbeth

Ay, and a bold one, that dare look on that
Which might appal the devil.

Lady Macbeth

O proper stuff!

This is the very painting of your fear:

This is the air-drawn dagger which, you said,
Led you to Duncan. O, these flaws, and starts,—
Impostors to true fear,—would well become
A woman's story at a winter's fire,
Authoriz'd by her grandam. Shame itself!
Why do you make such faces? When all's done,
You look but on a stool.

Macbeth

Pr'ythee, see there! behold! look! lo! how say you?—
Why, what care I? If thou canst nod, speak too.—
If charnel houses and our graves must send
Those that we bury back, our monuments
Shall be the maws of kites.
[Ghost disappears.]

Lady Macbeth

What, quite unmann'd in folly?

Macbeth

If I stand here, I saw him.

Lady Macbeth

Fie, for shame!

Macbeth

Blood hath been shed ere now, i' the olden time,
Ere humane statute purg'd the gentle weal;
Ay, and since too, murders have been perform'd
Too terrible for the ear: the time has been,
That, when the brains were out, the man would die,
And there an end; but now they rise again,
With twenty mortal murders on their crowns,

And push us from our stools: this is more strange
Than such a murder is.

Lady Macbeth

My worthy lord,
Your noble friends do lack you.

Macbeth

I do forget:—
Do not muse at me, my most worthy friends;
I have a strange infirmity, which is nothing
To those that know me. Come, love and health to all;
Then I'll sit down.—Give me some wine, fill full.—
I drink to the general joy o' the whole table,
And to our dear friend Banquo, whom we miss:
Would he were here! to all, and him, we thirst,
And all to all.

Lords

Our duties, and the pledge.
[Ghost rises again.]

Macbeth

Avaunt! and quit my sight! let the earth hide thee!
Thy bones are marrowless, thy blood is cold;
Thou hast no speculation in those eyes
Which thou dost glare with!

Lady Macbeth

Think of this, good peers,
But as a thing of custom: 'tis no other,
Only it spoils the pleasure of the time.

Macbeth

What man dare, I dare:

Approach thou like the rugged Russian bear,
The arm'd rhinoceros, or the Hyrcan tiger;
Take any shape but that, and my firm nerves
Shall never tremble: or be alive again,
And dare me to the desert with thy sword;
If trembling I inhabit then, protest me
The baby of a girl. Hence, horrible shadow!
Unreal mockery, hence!

[Ghost disappears.]

Why, so;—being gone,
I am a man again.—Pray you, sit still.

Lady Macbeth

You have displaced the mirth, broke the good meeting,
With most admir'd disorder.

Macbeth

Can such things be,
And overcome us like a summer's cloud,
Without our special wonder? You make me strange
Even to the disposition that I owe,
When now I think you can behold such sights,
And keep the natural ruby of your cheeks,
When mine are blanch'd with fear.

Ross

What sights, my lord?

Lady Macbeth

I pray you, speak not; he grows worse and worse;
Question enrages him: at once, good-night:—
Stand not upon the order of your going,
But go at once.

Lennox

Good-night; and better health
Attend his majesty!

Lady Macbeth

A kind good-night to all!
[Exeunt all Lords and Attendants.]

Macbeth

It will have blood; they say, blood will have blood:
Stones have been known to move, and trees to speak;
Augurs, and understood relations, have
By magot-pies, and choughs, and rooks, brought forth
The secret'st man of blood.—What is the night?

Lady Macbeth

Almost at odds with morning, which is which.

Macbeth

How say'st thou, that Macduff denies his person
At our great bidding?

Lady Macbeth

Did you send to him, sir?

Macbeth

I hear it by the way; but I will send:
There's not a one of them but in his house
I keep a servant fee'd. I will to-morrow,
(And betimes I will) to the weird sisters:
More shall they speak; for now I am bent to know,
By the worst means, the worst. For mine own good,
All causes shall give way: I am in blood
Step't in so far that, should I wade no more,
Returning were as tedious as go o'er:

Strange things I have in head, that will to hand;
Which must be acted ere they may be scann'd.

Lady Macbeth

You lack the season of all natures, sleep.

Macbeth

Come, we'll to sleep. My strange and self-abuse
Is the initiate fear that wants hard use:—
We are yet but young in deed.
[Exeunt.]

Scene V.
The heath.

[Thunder. Enter the three Witches, meeting Hecate.]

First Witch

Why, how now, Hecate? you look angrily.

Hecate

Have I not reason, beldams as you are,
Saucy and overbold? How did you dare
To trade and traffic with Macbeth
In riddles and affairs of death;
And I, the mistress of your charms,
The close contriver of all harms,
Was never call'd to bear my part,
Or show the glory of our art?
And, which is worse, all you have done
Hath been but for a wayward son,
Spiteful and wrathful; who, as others do,
Loves for his own ends, not for you.
But make amends now: get you gone,

And at the pit of Acheron
 Meet me i' the morning; thither he
 Will come to know his destiny.
 Your vessels and your spells provide,
 Your charms, and everything beside.
 I am for the air; this night I'll spend
 Unto a dismal and a fatal end.
 Great business must be wrought ere noon:
 Upon the corner of the moon
 There hangs a vaporous drop profound;
 I'll catch it ere it come to ground:
 And that, distill'd by magic sleights,
 Shall raise such artificial sprites,
 As, by the strength of their illusion,
 Shall draw him on to his confusion:
 He shall spurn fate, scorn death, and bear
 His hopes 'bove wisdom, grace, and fear:
 And you all know, security
 Is mortals' chiefest enemy.

[Music and song within, "Come away, come away" &c.]

Hark! I am call'd; my little spirit, see,
 Sits in a foggy cloud and stays for me.

[Exit.]

First Witch

Come, let's make haste; she'll soon be back again.

[Exeunt.]

Scene VI.

Forres. A Room in the Palace.

[Enter Lennox and another Lord.]

Lennox

My former speeches have but hit your thoughts,
 Which can interpret further: only, I say,
 Things have been strangely borne. The gracious Duncan
 Was pitied of Macbeth:—marry, he was dead:—
 And the right valiant Banquo walk'd too late;
 Whom, you may say, if't please you, Fleance kill'd,
 For Fleance fled. Men must not walk too late.
 Who cannot want the thought, how monstrous
 It was for Malcolm and for Donalbain
 To kill their gracious father? damned fact!
 How it did grieve Macbeth! did he not straight,
 In pious rage, the two delinquents tear
 That were the slaves of drink and thralls of sleep?
 Was not that nobly done? Ay, and wisely too;
 For 'twould have anger'd any heart alive,
 To hear the men deny't. So that, I say,
 He has borne all things well: and I do think,
 That had he Duncan's sons under his key,—
 As, an't please heaven, he shall not,—they should find
 What 'twere to kill a father; so should Fleance.
 But, peace!—for from broad words, and 'cause he fail'd
 His presence at the tyrant's feast, I hear,
 Macduff lives in disgrace. Sir, can you tell
 Where he bestows himself?

Lord

The son of Duncan,

From whom this tyrant holds the due of birth,
 Lives in the English court and is receiv'd
 Of the most pious Edward with such grace
 That the malevolence of fortune nothing
 Takes from his high respect: thither Macduff
 Is gone to pray the holy king, upon his aid
 To wake Northumberland, and warlike Siward:
 That, by the help of these,—with Him above
 To ratify the work,—we may again
 Give to our tables meat, sleep to our nights;
 Free from our feasts and banquets bloody knives;
 Do faithful homage, and receive free honours,—
 All which we pine for now: and this report
 Hath so exasperate the king that he
 Prepares for some attempt of war.

Lennox

Sent he to Macduff?

Lord

He did: and with an absolute "Sir, not I,"
 The cloudy messenger turns me his back,
 And hums, as who should say, "You'll rue the time
 That clogs me with this answer."

Lennox

And that well might
 Advise him to a caution, to hold what distance
 His wisdom can provide. Some holy angel
 Fly to the court of England, and unfold
 His message ere he come; that a swift blessing
 May soon return to this our suffering country
 Under a hand accurs'd!

Lord

I'll send my prayers with him.

[Exeunt.]

Act 4.

Scene I.

A dark Cave. In the middle, a Caldron Boiling.

[Thunder. Enter the three Witches.]

First Witch

Thrice the brinded cat hath mew'd.

Second Witch

Thrice; and once the hedge-pig whin'd.

Third Witch

Harpier cries:—"tis time, 'tis time.

First Witch

Round about the caldron go;
In the poison'd entrails throw.—
Toad, that under cold stone,
Days and nights has thirty-one
Swelter'd venom sleeping got,
Boil thou first i' the charmed pot!

ALL.

Double, double, toil and trouble;
Fire, burn; and caldron, bubble.

Second Witch

Fillet of a fenny snake,
In the caldron boil and bake;
Eye of newt, and toe of frog,
Wool of bat, and tongue of dog,
Adder's fork, and blind-worm's sting,
Lizard's leg, and howlet's wing,—
For a charm of powerful trouble,
Like a hell-broth boil and bubble.

ALL.

Double, double, toil and trouble;
Fire, burn; and caldron, bubble.

Third Witch

Scale of dragon, tooth of wolf,
Witch's mummy, maw and gulf
Of the ravin'd salt-sea shark,
Root of hemlock digg'd i' the dark,
Liver of blaspheming Jew,
Gall of goat, and slips of yew
Sliver'd in the moon's eclipse,
Nose of Turk, and Tartar's lips,
Finger of birth-strangl'd babe
Ditch-deliver'd by a drab,—
Make the gruel thick and slab:
Add thereto a tiger's chaudron,
For the ingredients of our caldron.

ALL.

Double, double, toil and trouble;
Fire, burn; and caldron, bubble.

Second Witch

Cool it with a baboon's blood,
Then the charm is firm and good.

[Enter Hecate.]

Hecate

O, well done! I commend your pains;
And everyone shall share i' the gains.
And now about the cauldron sing,
Like elves and fairies in a ring,
Enchanting all that you put in.

Song.

Black spirits and white, red spirits and gray;
Mingle, mingle, mingle, you that mingle may.

[Exit Hecate.]

Second Witch—.

By the pricking of my thumbs,
Something wicked this way comes:—
Open, locks, whoever knocks!

[Enter Macbeth.]

Macbeth

How now, you secret, black, and midnight hags!
What is't you do?

ALL.

A deed without a name.

Macbeth

I conjure you, by that which you profess,—
Howe'er you come to know it,—answer me:
Though you untie the winds, and let them fight
Against the churches; though the yesty waves
Confound and swallow navigation up;

Though bladed corn be lodg'd, and trees blown down;
Though castles topple on their warders' heads;
Though palaces and pyramids do slope
Their heads to their foundations; though the treasure
Of nature's germins tumble all together,
Even till destruction sicken,—answer me
To what I ask you.

First Witch

Speak.

Second Witch

Demand.

Third Witch

We'll answer.

First Witch

Say, if thou'dst rather hear it from our mouths,
Or from our masters?

Macbeth

Call 'em, let me see 'em.

First Witch

Pour in sow's blood, that hath eaten
Her nine farrow; grease that's sweaten
From the murderer's gibbet throw
Into the flame.

ALL.

Come, high or low;
Thyself and office deftly show!

[Thunder. An Apparition of an armed Head rises.]

Macbeth

Tell me, thou unknown power,—

First Witch—.

He knows thy thought:

Hear his speech, but say thou naught.

Apparition

Macbeth! Macbeth! Macbeth! Beware Macduff;
Beware the Thane of Fife.—Dismiss me:—enough.

[Descends.]

Macbeth

Whate'er thou art, for thy good caution, thanks;
Thou hast harp'd my fear aright:—but one word more,—

First Witch—.

He will not be commanded: here's another,
More potent than the first.

[Thunder. An Apparition of a bloody Child rises.]

Apparition—

Macbeth! Macbeth! Macbeth!

Macbeth

Had I three ears, I'd hear thee.

Apparition

Be bloody, bold, and resolute; laugh to scorn
The power of man, for none of woman born
Shall harm Macbeth.

[Descends.]

Macbeth

Then live, Macduff: what need I fear of thee?
But yet I'll make assurance double sure,
And take a bond of fate: thou shalt not live;

That I may tell pale-hearted fear it lies,
And sleep in spite of thunder.—What is this,

[Thunder. An Apparition of a Child crowned, with a tree in his hand, rises.]

That rises like the issue of a king,

And wears upon his baby brow the round
And top of sovereignty?

ALL.

Listen, but speak not to't.

Apparition

Be lion-mettled, proud; and take no care
Who chafes, who frets, or where conspirers are:
Macbeth shall never vanquish'd be, until
Great Birnam wood to high Dunsinane hill
Shall come against him.

[Descends.]

Macbeth

That will never be:
Who can impress the forest; bid the tree
Unfix his earth-bound root? Sweet bodements, good!
Rebellion's head, rise never till the wood
Of Birnam rise, and our high-plac'd Macbeth
Shall live the lease of nature, pay his breath
To time and mortal custom.—Yet my heart
Throbs to know one thing: tell me,—if your art
Can tell so much,—shall Banquo's issue ever
Reign in this kingdom?

ALL.

Seek to know no more.

Macbeth

I will be satisfied: deny me this,
 And an eternal curse fall on you! Let me know:—
 Why sinks that cauldron? and what noise is this?
 [Hautboys.]

First Witch-..

Show!

Second Witch-..

Show!

Third Witch

Show!

ALL.

Show his eyes, and grieve his heart;
 Come like shadows, so depart!
 [Eight kings appear, and pass over in order, the last with a glass in his hand; Banquo following.]

Macbeth

Thou art too like the spirit of Banquo; down!
 Thy crown does sear mine eyeballs:—and thy hair,
 Thou other gold-bound brow, is like the first;—
 A third is like the former.—Filthy hags!
 Why do you show me this?—A fourth!—Start, eyes!
 What, will the line stretch out to the crack of doom?
 Another yet!—A seventh!—I'll see no more:—
 And yet the eighth appears, who bears a glass
 Which shows me many more; and some I see
 That twofold balls and treble sceptres carry:
 Horrible sight!—Now I see 'tis true;
 For the blood-bolter'd Banquo smiles upon me,

And points at them for his.—What! is this so?

First Witch-..

Ay, sir, all this is so:—but why
 Stands Macbeth thus amazedly?—
 Come, sisters, cheer we up his sprites,
 And show the best of our delights;
 I'll charm the air to give a sound,
 While you perform your antic round;
 That this great king may kindly say,
 Our duties did his welcome pay.
 [Music. The Witches dance, and then vanish.]

Macbeth

Where are they? Gone?—Let this pernicious hour
 Stand aye accursed in the calendar!—
 Come in, without there!
 [Enter Lennox.]

Lennox

What's your grace's will?

Macbeth

Saw you the weird sisters?

Lennox

No, my lord.

Macbeth

Came they not by you?

Lennox

No indeed, my lord.

Macbeth

Infected be the air whereon they ride;

And damn'd all those that trust them!—I did hear
The galloping of horse: who was't came by?

Lennox

'Tis two or three, my lord, that bring you word
Macduff is fled to England.

Macbeth

Fled to England!

Lennox

Ay, my good lord.

Macbeth

Time, thou anticipat'st my dread exploits:
The flighty purpose never is o'ertook
Unless the deed go with it: from this moment
The very firstlings of my heart shall be
The firstlings of my hand. And even now,
To crown my thoughts with acts, be it thought and done:
The castle of Macduff I will surprise;
Seize upon Fife; give to the edge o' the sword
His wife, his babes, and all unfortunate souls
That trace him in his line. No boasting like a fool;
This deed I'll do before this purpose cool:
But no more sights!—Where are these gentlemen?
Come, bring me where they are.

[Exeunt.]

Scene II.

Fife. A Room in Macduff's Castle.

[Enter Lady Macduff, her Son, and Ross.]

Lady Macduff

What had he done, to make him fly the land?

Ross

You must have patience, madam.

Lady Macduff

He had none:

His flight was madness: when our actions do not,
Our fears do make us traitors.

Ross

You know not

Whether it was his wisdom or his fear.

Lady Macduff

Wisdom! to leave his wife, to leave his babes,
His mansion, and his titles, in a place
From whence himself does fly? He loves us not:
He wants the natural touch; for the poor wren,
The most diminutive of birds, will fight,
Her young ones in her nest, against the owl.
All is the fear, and nothing is the love;
As little is the wisdom, where the flight
So runs against all reason.

Ross

My dearest coz,

I pray you, school yourself: but, for your husband,
He is noble, wise, Judicious, and best knows
The fits o' the season. I dare not speak much further:
But cruel are the times, when we are traitors,
And do not know ourselves; when we hold rumour
From what we fear, yet know not what we fear,
But float upon a wild and violent sea
Each way and move.—I take my leave of you:

Shall not be long but I'll be here again:
 Things at the worst will cease, or else climb upward
 To what they were before.—My pretty cousin,
 Blessing upon you!

Lady Macduff

Father'd he is, and yet he's fatherless.

Ross

I am so much a fool, should I stay longer,
 It would be my disgrace and your discomfort:
 I take my leave at once.

[Exit.]

Lady Macduff

Sirrah, your father's dead;
 And what will you do now? How will you live?

Son

As birds do, mother.

Lady Macduff

What, with worms and flies?

Son

With what I get, I mean; and so do they.

Lady Macduff

Poor bird! thou'dst never fear the net nor lime,
 The pit-fall nor the gin.

Son

Why should I, mother? Poor birds they are not set for.
 My father is not dead, for all your saying.

Lady Macduff

Yes, he is dead: how wilt thou do for father?

Son

Nay, how will you do for a husband?

Lady Macduff

Why, I can buy me twenty at any market.

Son

Then you'll buy 'em to sell again.

Lady Macduff

Thou speak'st with all thy wit; and yet, i' faith,
 With wit enough for thee.

Son

Was my father a traitor, mother?

Lady Macduff

Ay, that he was.

Son

What is a traitor?

Lady Macduff

Why, one that swears and lies.

Son

And be all traitors that do so?

Lady Macduff

Everyone that does so is a traitor, and must be hanged.

Son

And must they all be hanged that swear and lie?

Lady Macduff

Every one.

Son

Who must hang them?

Lady Macduff

Why, the honest men.

Son

Then the liars and swearers are fools: for there are liars
and swearers enow to beat the honest men and hang up them.

Lady Macduff

Now, God help thee, poor monkey! But how wilt thou do for a father?

Son

If he were dead, you'd weep for him: if you would not, it were a good sign that I should quickly have a new father.

Lady Macduff

Poor prattler, how thou talk'st!

[Enter a Messenger.]

Messenger

Bless you, fair dame! I am not to you known,
Though in your state of honor I am perfect.
I doubt some danger does approach you nearly:
If you will take a homely man's advice,
Be not found here; hence, with your little ones.
To fright you thus, methinks, I am too savage;
To do worse to you were fell cruelty,
Which is too nigh your person. Heaven preserve you!
I dare abide no longer.
[Exit.]

Lady Macduff

Whither should I fly?

I have done no harm. But I remember now
I am in this earthly world; where to do harm

Is often laudable; to do good sometime
Accounted dangerous folly: why then, alas,
Do I put up that womanly defence,
To say I have done no harm?—What are these faces?
[Enter Murderers.]

First murderer

Where is your husband?

Lady Macduff

I hope, in no place so unsanctified
Where such as thou mayst find him.

First murderer

He's a traitor.

Son

Thou liest, thou shag-haar'd villain!

First murderer

What, you egg!

[Stabbing him.]

Young fry of treachery!Son

He has kill'd me, mother:

Run away, I pray you!

[Dies. Exit Lady Macduff, crying Murder, and pursued by the Murderers.]

Scene III.England. Before the King's Palace.

[Enter Malcolm and Macduff.]

Malcolm

Let us seek out some desolate shade and there
Weep our sad bosoms empty.

Macduff

Let us rather
Hold fast the mortal sword, and, like good men,
Bestride our down-fall'n birthdom: each new morn
New widows howl; new orphans cry; new sorrows
Strike heaven on the face, that it resounds
As if it felt with Scotland, and yell'd out
Like syllable of dolour.

Malcolm

What I believe, I'll wail;
What know, believe; and what I can redress,
As I shall find the time to friend, I will.
What you have spoke, it may be so perchance.
This tyrant, whose sole name blisters our tongues,
Was once thought honest: you have loved him well;
He hath not touch'd you yet. I am young; but something
You may deserve of him through me; and wisdom
To offer up a weak, poor, innocent lamb
To appease an angry god.

Macduff

I am not treacherous.

Malcolm

But Macbeth is.
A good and virtuous nature may recoil
In an imperial charge. But I shall crave your pardon;
That which you are, my thoughts cannot transpose;
Angels are bright still, though the brightest fell:

Though all things foul would wear the brows of grace,
Yet grace must still look so.

Macduff

I have lost my hopes.

Malcolm

Perchance even there where I did find my doubts.
Why in that rawness left you wife and child,—
Those precious motives, those strong knots of love,—
Without leave-taking?—I pray you,
Let not my jealousies be your dishonors,
But mine own safeties:—you may be rightly just,
Whatever I shall think.

Macduff

Bleed, bleed, poor country!
Great tyranny, lay thou thy basis sure,
For goodness dare not check thee! wear thou thy wrongs,
The title is affeer'd.—Fare thee well, lord:
I would not be the villain that thou think'st
For the whole space that's in the tyrant's grasp
And the rich East to boot.

Malcolm

Be not offended:
I speak not as in absolute fear of you.
I think our country sinks beneath the yoke;
It weeps, it bleeds; and each new day a gash
Is added to her wounds. I think, withal,
There would be hands uplifted in my right;
And here, from gracious England, have I offer
Of goodly thousands: but, for all this,
When I shall tread upon the tyrant's head,

Or wear it on my sword, yet my poor country
 Shall have more vices than it had before;
 More suffer, and more sundry ways than ever,
 By him that shall succeed.

Macduff

What should he be?

Malcolm

It is myself I mean: in whom I know
 All the particulars of vice so grafted
 That, when they shall be open'd, black Macbeth
 Will seem as pure as snow; and the poor state
 Esteem him as a lamb, being compar'd
 With my confineless harms.

Macduff

Not in the legions
 Of horrid hell can come a devil more damn'd
 In evils to top Macbeth.

Malcolm

I grant him bloody,
 Luxurious, avaricious, false, deceitful,
 Sudden, malicious, smacking of every sin
 That has a name: but there's no bottom, none,
 In my voluptuousness: your wives, your daughters,
 Your matrons, and your maids, could not fill up
 The cistern of my lust; and my desire
 All continent impediments would o'erbear,
 That did oppose my will: better Macbeth
 Than such an one to reign.

Macduff

Boundless intemperance

In nature is a tyranny; it hath been
 The untimely emptying of the happy throne,
 And fall of many kings. But fear not yet
 To take upon you what is yours: you may
 Convey your pleasures in a spacious plenty,
 And yet seem cold, the time you may so hoodwink.
 We have willing dames enough; there cannot be
 That vulture in you, to devour so many
 As will to greatness dedicate themselves,
 Finding it so inclin'd.

Malcolm

With this there grows,
 In my most ill-compos'd affection, such
 A stanchless avarice, that, were I king,
 I should cut off the nobles for their lands;
 Desire his jewels, and this other's house:
 And my more-having would be as a sauce
 To make me hunger more; that I should forge
 Quarrels unjust against the good and loyal,
 Destroying them for wealth.

Macduff

This avarice
 Sticks deeper; grows with more pernicious root
 Than summer-seeming lust; and it hath been
 The sword of our slain kings: yet do not fear;
 Scotland hath foysons to fill up your will,
 Of your mere own: all these are portable,
 With other graces weigh'd.

Malcolm

But I have none: the king-becoming graces,

As justice, verity, temperance, stableness,
 Bounty, perseverance, mercy, lowliness,
 Devotion, patience, courage, fortitude,
 I have no relish of them; but abound
 In the division of each several crime,
 Acting it many ways. Nay, had I power, I should
 Pour the sweet milk of concord into hell,
 Uproar the universal peace, confound
 All unity on earth.

Macduff

O Scotland, Scotland!

Malcolm

If such a one be fit to govern, speak:
 I am as I have spoken.

Macduff

Fit to govern!
 No, not to live!—O nation miserable,
 With an untitled tyrant bloody-scepter'd,
 When shalt thou see thy wholesome days again,
 Since that the truest issue of thy throne
 By his own interdiction stands accurs'd
 And does blaspheme his breed?—Thy royal father
 Was a most sainted king; the queen that bore thee,
 Oftener upon her knees than on her feet,
 Died every day she lived. Fare-thee-well!
 These evils thou repeat'st upon thyself
 Have banish'd me from Scotland.—O my breast,
 Thy hope ends here!

Malcolm

Macduff, this noble passion,

Child of integrity, hath from my soul
 Wiped the black scruples, reconcil'd my thoughts
 To thy good truth and honour. Devilish Macbeth
 By many of these trains hath sought to win me
 Into his power; and modest wisdom plucks me
 From over-credulous haste: but God above
 Deal between thee and me! for even now
 I put myself to thy direction, and
 Unspeak mine own detraction; here abjure
 The taints and blames I laid upon myself,
 For strangers to my nature. I am yet
 Unknown to woman; never was forsworn;
 Scarcely have coveted what was mine own;
 At no time broke my faith; would not betray
 The devil to his fellow; and delight
 No less in truth than life: my first false speaking
 Was this upon myself:—what I am truly,
 Is thine and my poor country's to command:
 Whither, indeed, before thy here-approach,
 Old Siward, with ten thousand warlike men
 Already at a point, was setting forth:
 Now we'll together; and the chance of goodness
 Be like our warranted quarrel! Why are you silent?

Macduff

Such welcome and unwelcome things at once
 'Tis hard to reconcile.
 [Enter a Doctor.]

Malcolm

Well; more anon.—Comes the king forth, I pray you?

Doctor

Ay, sir: there are a crew of wretched souls
That stay his cure: their malady convinces
The great assay of art; but, at his touch,
Such sanctity hath heaven given his hand,
They presently amend.

Malcolm

I thank you, doctor.

[Exit Doctor.]

Macduff

What's the disease he means?

Malcolm

'Tis call'd the evil:
A most miraculous work in this good king;
Which often, since my here-remain in England,
I have seen him do. How he solicits heaven,
Himself best knows: but strangely-visited people,
All swoln and ulcerous, pitiful to the eye,
The mere despair of surgery, he cures;
Hanging a golden stamp about their necks,
Put on with holy prayers: and 'tis spoken,
To the succeeding royalty he leaves
The healing benediction. With this strange virtue,
He hath a heavenly gift of prophecy;
And sundry blessings hang about his throne,
That speak him full of grace.

Macduff

See, who comes here?

Malcolm

My countryman; but yet I know him not.

[Enter Ross.]

Macduff

My ever-gentle cousin, welcome hither.

Malcolm

I know him now. Good God, betimes remove
The means that makes us strangers!

Ross

Sir, amen.

Macduff

Stands Scotland where it did?

Ross

Alas, poor country,—
Almost afraid to know itself! It cannot
Be call'd our mother, but our grave: where nothing,
But who knows nothing, is once seen to smile;
Where sighs, and groans, and shrieks, that rent the air,
Are made, not mark'd; where violent sorrow seems
A modern ecstasy; the dead man's knell
Is there scarce ask'd for who; and good men's lives
Expire before the flowers in their caps,
Dying or ere they sicken.

Macduff

O, relation
Too nice, and yet too true!

Malcolm

What's the newest grief?

Ross

That of an hour's age doth hiss the speaker;

Each minute teems a new one.

Macduff

How does my wife?

Ross

Why, well.

Macduff

And all my children?

Ross

Well too.

Macduff

The tyrant has not batter'd at their peace?

Ross

No; they were well at peace when I did leave 'em.

Macduff

Be not a niggard of your speech: how goes't?

Ross

When I came hither to transport the tidings,
Which I have heavily borne, there ran a rumour
Of many worthy fellows that were out;
Which was to my belief witness'd the rather,
For that I saw the tyrant's power a-foot:
Now is the time of help; your eye in Scotland
Would create soldiers, make our women fight,
To doff their dire distresses.

Malcolm

Be't their comfort
We are coming thither: gracious England hath
Lent us good Siward and ten thousand men;

An older and a better soldier none
That Christendom gives out.

Ross

Would I could answer
This comfort with the like! But I have words
That would be howl'd out in the desert air,
Where hearing should not latch them.

Macduff

What concern they?
The general cause? or is it a fee-grief
Due to some single breast?

Ross

No mind that's honest
But in it shares some woe; though the main part
Pertains to you alone.

Macduff

If it be mine,
Keep it not from me, quickly let me have it.

Ross

Let not your ears despise my tongue for ever,
Which shall possess them with the heaviest sound
That ever yet they heard.

Macduff

Humh! I guess at it.

Ross

Your castle is surpris'd; your wife and babes
Savagely slaughter'd: to relate the manner
Were, on the quarry of these murder'd deer,
To add the death of you.

Malcolm

Merciful heaven!—
 What, man! ne'er pull your hat upon your brows;
 Give sorrow words: the grief that does not speak
 Whispers the o'er-fraught heart, and bids it break.

Macduff

My children too?

Ross

Wife, children, servants, all
 That could be found.

Macduff

And I must be from thence!
 My wife kill'd too?

Ross

I have said.

Malcolm

Be comforted:
 Let's make us medicines of our great revenge,
 To cure this deadly grief.

Macduff

He has no children.—All my pretty ones?
 Did you say all?—O hell-kite!—All?
 What, all my pretty chickens and their dam
 At one fell swoop?

Malcolm

Dispute it like a man.

Macduff

I shall do so;

But I must also feel it as a man:
 I cannot but remember such things were,
 That were most precious to me.—Did heaven look on,
 And would not take their part? Sinful Macduff,
 They were all struck for thee! naught that I am,
 Not for their own demerits, but for mine,
 Fell slaughter on their souls: heaven rest them now!

Malcolm

Be this the whetstone of your sword. Let grief
 Convert to anger; blunt not the heart, enrage it.

Macduff

O, I could play the woman with mine eye,
 And braggart with my tongue!—But, gentle heavens,
 Cut short all intermission; front to front
 Bring thou this fiend of Scotland and myself;
 Within my sword's length set him; if he 'scape,
 Heaven forgive him too!

Malcolm

This tune goes manly.
 Come, go we to the king; our power is ready;
 Our lack is nothing but our leave: Macbeth
 Is ripe for shaking, and the powers above
 Put on their instruments. Receive what cheer you may;
 The night is long that never finds the day.
 [Exeunt.]

Act 5.

Scene I.

Dunsinane. A Room in the Castle.

[Enter a Doctor of Physic and a Waiting-Gentlewoman.]

Doctor

I have two nights watched with you, but can perceive no truth in your report. When was it she last walked?

Gentlewoman

Since his majesty went into the field, I have seen her rise from her bed, throw her nightgown upon her, unlock her closet, take forth paper, fold it, write upon it, read it, afterwards seal it, and again return to bed; yet all this while in a most fast sleep.

Doctor

A great perturbation in nature,—to receive at once the benefit of sleep, and do the effects of watching— In this slumbry agitation, besides her walking and other actual performances, what, at any time, have you heard her say?

Gentlewoman

That, sir, which I will not report after her.

Doctor

You may to me; and 'tis most meet you should.

Gentlewoman

Neither to you nor any one; having no witness to confirm my speech. Lo you, here she comes!

[Enter Lady Macbeth, with a taper.]

This is her very guise; and, upon my life, fast asleep. Observe her; stand close.

Doctor

How came she by that light?

Gentlewoman

Why, it stood by her: she has light by her continually; 'tis her command.

Doctor

You see, her eyes are open.

Gentlewoman

Ay, but their sense is shut.

Doctor

What is it she does now? Look how she rubs her hands.

Gentlewoman

It is an accustomed action with her, to seem thus washing her hands: I have known her continue in this a quarter of an hour.

Lady Macbeth

Yet here's a spot.

Doctor

Hark, she speaks: I will set down what comes from her, to satisfy my remembrance the more strongly.

Lady Macbeth

Out, damned spot! out, I say!— One; two; why, then 'tis time to do't ;—Hell is murky!—Fie, my lord, fie! a soldier, and afeard? What need we fear who knows it, when none can call our power to account?—Yet who would have thought the old man to have had so much blood in him?

Doctor

Do you mark that?

Lady Macbeth

The Thane of Fife had a wife; where is she now?—What, will these hands ne'er be clean? No more o' that, my lord, no more o' that: you mar all with this starting.

Doctor

Go to, go to; you have known what you should not.

Gentlewoman

She has spoke what she should not, I am sure of that: heaven knows what she has known.

Lady Macbeth

Here's the smell of the blood still: all the perfumes of Arabia will not sweeten this little hand. Oh, oh, oh!

Doctor

What a sigh is there! The heart is sorely charged.

Gentlewoman

I would not have such a heart in my bosom for the dignity of the whole body.

Doctor

Well, well, well,—

Gentlewoman

Pray God it be, sir.

Doctor

This disease is beyond my practice: yet I have known those which have walked in their sleep who have died holily in their beds.

Lady Macbeth

Wash your hands, put on your nightgown; look not so pale:—I tell you yet again, Banquo's buried; he cannot come out on's grave.

Doctor

Even so?

Lady Macbeth

To bed, to bed; there's knocking at the gate: come, come, come, come, give me your hand: what's done cannot be undone: to bed, to bed, to bed.

[Exit.]

Doctor

Will she go now to bed?

Gentlewoman

Directly.

Doctor

Foul whisperings are abroad: unnatural deeds
Do breed unnatural troubles: infected minds
To their deaf pillows will discharge their secrets.
More needs she the divine than the physician.—
God, God, forgive us all!—Look after her;
Remove from her the means of all annoyance,
And still keep eyes upon her:—so, good-night:
My mind she has mated, and amaz'd my sight:
I think, but dare not speak.

Gentlewoman

Good-night, good doctor.

[Exeunt.]

Scene II.The Country near Dunsinane.

[Enter. with drum and colours, Menteith, Caithness, Angus, Lennox, and Soldiers.]

Menteith

The English power is near, led on by Malcolm,
 His uncle Siward, and the good Macduff.
 Revenges burn in them; for their dear causes
 Would to the bleeding and the grim alarm
 Excite the mortified man.

Angus

Near Birnam wood
 Shall we well meet them; that way are they coming.

Caithness

Who knows if Donalbain be with his brother?

Lennox

For certain, sir, he is not: I have a file
 Of all the gentry: there is Siward's son
 And many unrough youths, that even now
 Protest their first of manhood.

Menteith

What does the tyrant?

Caithness

Great Dunsinane he strongly fortifies:

Some say he's mad; others, that lesser hate him,
 Do call it valiant fury: but, for certain,
 He cannot buckle his distemper'd cause
 Within the belt of rule.

Angus

Now does he feel
 His secret murders sticking on his hands;
 Now minutely revolts upbraid his faith-breach;
 Those he commands move only in command,
 Nothing in love: now does he feel his title
 Hang loose about him, like a giant's robe
 Upon a dwarfish thief.

Menteith

Who, then, shall blame
 His pester'd senses to recoil and start,
 When all that is within him does condemn
 Itself for being there?

Caithness

Well, march we on,
 To give obedience where 'tis truly ow'd:
 Meet we the medicine of the sickly weal;
 And with him pour we, in our country's purge,
 Each drop of us.

Lennox

Or so much as it needs,
 To dew the sovereign flower, and drown the weeds.
 Make we our march towards Birnam.
 [Exeunt, marching.]

Scene III.Dunsinane. A Room in the Castle.

[Enter Macbeth, Doctor, and Attendants.]

Macbeth

Bring me no more reports; let them fly all:
Till Birnam wood remove to Dunsinane
I cannot taint with fear. What's the boy Malcolm?
Was he not born of woman? The spirits that know
All mortal consequences have pronounc'd me thus,— “Fear not, Macbeth; no man that's born of woman
Shall e'er have power upon thee.”—Then fly, false thanes,
And mingle with the English epicures:
The mind I sway by, and the heart I bear,
Shall never sag with doubt nor shake with fear.

[Enter a Servant.]

The devil damn thee black, thou cream-fac'd loon!

Where gott'st thou that goose look?

Servant

There is ten thousand—

Macbeth

Geese, villain?

Servant

Soldiers, sir.

Macbeth

Go prick thy face and over-red thy fear,
Thou lily-liver'd boy. What soldiers, patch?
Death of thy soul! those linen cheeks of thine
Are counsellors to fear. What soldiers, whey-face?

Servant

The English force, so please you.

Macbeth

Take thy face hence.

[Exit Servant.]

Seyton!—I am sick at heart,

When I behold—Seyton, I say!— This push
Will chair me ever or disseat me now.
I have liv'd long enough: my way of life
Is fall'n into the sear, the yellow leaf;
And that which should accompany old age,
As honour, love, obedience, troops of friends,
I must not look to have; but, in their stead,
Curses, not loud but deep, mouth-honour, breath,
Which the poor heart would fain deny, and dare not.
Seyton!—

[Enter Seyton.]

Seyton

What's your gracious pleasure?

Macbeth

What news more?

Seyton

All is confirm'd, my lord, which was reported.

Macbeth

I'll fight till from my bones my flesh be hack'd.
Give me my armour.

Seyton

'Tis not needed yet.

Macbeth

I'll put it on.

Send out more horses, skirr the country round;

Hang those that talk of fear.—Give me mine armour.—

How does your patient, doctor?

Doctor

Not so sick, my lord,

As she is troubled with thick-coming fancies,

That keep her from her rest.

Macbeth

Cure her of that:

Canst thou not minister to a mind diseas'd;

Pluck from the memory a rooted sorrow;

Raze out the written troubles of the brain;

And with some sweet oblivious antidote

Cleanse the stuff'd bosom of that perilous stuff

Which weighs upon the heart?

Doctor

Therein the patient

Must minister to himself.

Macbeth

Throw physic to the dogs,—I'll none of it.—

Come, put mine armour on; give me my staff:—

Seyton, send out.—Doctor, the Thanes fly from me.—

Come, sir, despatch.—If thou couldst, doctor, cast

The water of my land, find her disease,

And purge it to a sound and pristine health,

I would applaud thee to the very echo,

That should applaud again.—Pull't off, I say.—

What rhubarb, senna, or what purgative drug,

Would scour these English hence? Hear'st thou of them?

Doctor

Ay, my good lord; your royal preparation

Makes us hear something.

Macbeth

Bring it after me.—

I will not be afraid of death and bane,

Till Birnam forest come to Dunsinane.

[Exeunt all except Doctor.]

Doctor

Were I from Dunsinane away and clear,

Profit again should hardly draw me here.

[Exit.]

--

Scene IV.Country near Dunsinane: a Wood in view.

[Enter, with drum and colours, Malcolm, old Siward and his Son, Macduff, Menteith, Caithness, Angus, Lennox, Ross, and Soldiers, marching.]

Malcolm

Cousins, I hope the days are near at hand

That chambers will be safe.

Menteith

We doubt it nothing.

Siward

What wood is this before us?

Menteith

The wood of Birnam.

Malcolm

Let every soldier hew him down a bough,
And bear't before him; thereby shall we shadow
The numbers of our host, and make discovery
Err in report of us.

Soldiers

It shall be done.

Siward

We learn no other but the confident tyrant
Keeps still in Dunsinane, and will endure
Our setting down before't.

Malcolm

'Tis his main hope:
For where there is advantage to be given,
Both more and less have given him the revolt;
And none serve with him but constrained things,
Whose hearts are absent too.

Macduff

Let our just censures
Attend the true event, and put we on Industrious soldiership.

Siward

The time approaches,
That will with due decision make us know
What we shall say we have, and what we owe.
Thoughts speculative their unsure hopes relate;
But certain issue strokes must arbitrate:
Towards which advance the war.

[Exeunt, marching.]

Scene V.

Dunsinane. Within the castle.

[Enter with drum and colours, Macbeth, Seyton, and Soldiers.]

Macbeth

Hang out our banners on the outward walls;
The cry is still, "They come:" our castle's strength
Will laugh a siege to scorn: here let them lie
Till famine and the ague eat them up:
Were they not forc'd with those that should be ours,
We might have met them dareful, beard to beard,
And beat them backward home.

[A cry of women within.]

What is that noise?

Seyton

It is the cry of women, my good lord.

[Exit.]

Macbeth

I have almost forgot the taste of fears:
The time has been, my senses would have cool'd
To hear a night-shriek; and my fell of hair
Would at a dismal treatise rouse and stir
As life were in't: I have supp'd full with horrors;
Direness, familiar to my slaught'rous thoughts,
Cannot once start me.

[Re-enter Seyton.]

Wherefore was that cry?

Seyton

The queen, my lord, is dead.

Macbeth

She should have died hereafter;
 There would have been a time for such a word.—
 To-morrow, and to-morrow, and to-morrow,
 Creeps in this petty pace from day to day,
 To the last syllable of recorded time;
 And all our yesterdays have lighted fools
 The way to dusty death. Out, out, brief candle!
 Life's but a walking shadow; a poor player,
 That struts and frets his hour upon the stage,
 And then is heard no more: it is a tale
 Told by an idiot, full of sound and fury,
 Signifying nothing.

[Enter a Messenger.]

Thou com'st to use thy tongue; thy story quickly.

Messenger

Gracious my lord,
 I should report that which I say I saw,
 But know not how to do it.

Macbeth

Well, say, sir.

Messenger

As I did stand my watch upon the hill,
 I look'd toward Birnam, and anon, methought,
 The wood began to move.

Macbeth

Liar, and slave!

[Striking him.]

Messenger

Let me endure your wrath, if't be not so.
 Within this three mile may you see it coming;
 I say, a moving grove.

Macbeth

If thou speak'st false,
 Upon the next tree shalt thou hang alive,
 Till famine cling thee: if thy speech be sooth,
 I care not if thou dost for me as much.—
 I pull in resolution; and begin
 To doubt the equivocation of the fiend
 That lies like truth. "Fear not, till Birnam wood
 Do come to Dunsinane;" and now a wood
 Comes toward Dunsinane.—Arm, arm, and out!—
 If this which he avouches does appear,
 There is nor flying hence nor tarrying here.
 I 'gin to be a-weary of the sun,
 And wish the estate o' the world were now undone.—
 Ring the alarum bell!—Blow, wind! come, wrack!
 At least we'll die with harness on our back.
 [Exeunt.]

Scene VI.The same. A Plain before the Castle.

[Enter, with drum and colours, Malcolm, old Siward, Macduff, &c., and their Army, with boughs.]

Malcolm

Now near enough; your leafy screens throw down,

And show like those you are.—You, worthy uncle,
 Shall with my cousin, your right-noble son,
 Lead our first battle: worthy Macduff and we Shall take upon's what else remains to do,
 According to our order.

Siward

Fare you well.—
 Do we but find the tyrant's power to-night,
 Let us be beaten, if we cannot fight.

Macduff

Make all our trumpets speak; give them all breath,
 Those clamorous harbingers of blood and death.
 [Exeunt.]

Scene VII.

The same. Another part of the Plain.

[Alarums. Enter Macbeth.]

Macbeth

They have tied me to a stake; I cannot fly,
 But, bear-like I must fight the course.—What's he
 That was not born of woman? Such a one
 Am I to fear, or none.
 [Enter young Siward.]

Young Siward

What is thy name?

Macbeth

Thou'lt be afraid to hear it.

Young Siward

No; though thou call'st thyself a hotter name
 Than any is in hell.

Macbeth

My name's Macbeth.

Young Siward

The devil himself could not pronounce a title
 More hateful to mine ear.

Macbeth

No, nor more fearful.

Young Siward

Thou liest, abhorred tyrant; with my sword
 I'll prove the lie thou speak'st.
 [They fight, and young Siward is slain.]

Macbeth

Thou wast born of woman.—
 But swords I smile at, weapons laugh to scorn,
 Brandish'd by man that's of a woman born.
 [Exit.]
 [Alarums. Enter Macduff.]

Macduff

That way the noise is.—Tyrant, show thy face!
 If thou be'st slain and with no stroke of mine,
 My wife and children's ghosts will haunt me still.
 I cannot strike at wretched kerns, whose arms
 Are hired to bear their staves; either thou, Macbeth,
 Or else my sword, with an unbatter'd edge,
 I sheathe again undeeded. There thou shouldst be;
 By this great clatter, one of greatest note

Seems bruited. Let me find him, fortune!
And more I beg not.

[Exit. Alarums.]

[Enter Malcolm and old Siward.]

Siward

This way, my lord;—the castle's gently render'd:
The tyrant's people on both sides do fight;
The noble thanes do bravely in the war;
The day almost itself professes yours,
And little is to do.

Malcolm

We have met with foes
That strike beside us.

Siward

Enter, sir, the castle.
[Exeunt. Alarums.]

Scene VIII.

The same. Another part of the field.

[Enter Macbeth.]

Macbeth

Why should I play the Roman fool, and die
On mine own sword? whiles I see lives, the gashes
Do better upon them.

[Enter Macduff.]

Macduff

Turn, hell-hound, turn!

Macbeth

Of all men else I have avoided thee:
But get thee back; my soul is too much charg'd
With blood of thine already.

Macduff

I have no words,—
My voice is in my sword: thou bloodier villain
Than terms can give thee out!
[They fight.]

Macbeth

Thou lovest labour:
As easy mayst thou the intrenchant air
With thy keen sword impress, as make me bleed:
Let fall thy blade on vulnerable crests;
I bear a charmed life, which must not yield
To one of woman born.

Macduff

Despair thy charm;
And let the angel whom thou still hast serv'd
Tell thee, Macduff was from his mother's womb
Untimely ripp'd.

Macbeth

Accurs'd be that tongue that tells me so,
For it hath cow'd my better part of man!
And be these juggling fiends no more believ'd,
That palter with us in a double sense;
That keep the word of promise to our ear,
And break it to our hope!—I'll not fight with thee.

Macduff

Then yield thee, coward,
 And live to be the show and gaze o' the time:
 We'll have thee, as our rarer monsters are,
 Painted upon a pole, and underwrit,
 "Here may you see the tyrant."

Macbeth

I will not yield,
 To kiss the ground before young Malcolm's feet,
 And to be baited with the rabble's curse.
 Though Birnam wood be come to Dunsinane,
 And thou oppos'd, being of no woman born,
 Yet I will try the last. Before my body
 I throw my warlike shield: lay on, Macduff,
 And damn'd be him that first cries, "Hold, enough!"

[Exeunt fighting.]

[Retreat. Flourish. Enter, with drum and colours, Malcolm, old
 Siward, Ross, Lennox, Angus, Caithness, Menteith, and Soldiers.]

Malcolm

I would the friends we miss were safe arriv'd.

Siward

Some must go off; and yet, by these I see,
 So great a day as this is cheaply bought.

Malcolm

Macduff is missing, and your noble son.

Ross

Your son, my lord, has paid a soldier's debt:
 He only liv'd but till he was a man;
 The which no sooner had his prowess confirm'd

In the unshrinking station where he fought,
 But like a man he died.

Siward

Then he is dead?

Fleance

Ay, and brought off the field: your cause of sorrow
 Must not be measur'd by his worth, for then
 It hath no end.

Siward

Had he his hurts before?

Ross

Ay, on the front.

Siward

Why then, God's soldier be he!
 Had I as many sons as I have hairs,
 I would not wish them to a fairer death:
 And, so his knell is knoll'd.

Malcolm

He's worth more sorrow,
 And that I'll spend for him.

Siward

He's worth no more:
 They say he parted well, and paid his score:
 And so, God be with him!—Here comes newer comfort.
 [Re-enter Macduff, with Macbeth's head.]

Macduff

Hail, king, for so thou art: behold, where stands
 The usurper's cursed head: the time is free:

I see thee compass'd with thy kingdom's pearl
 That speak my salutation in their minds;
 Whose voices I desire aloud with mine,—
 Hail, King of Scotland!

ALL.

Hail, King of Scotland!
 [Flourish.]

Malcolm

We shall not spend a large expense of time
 Before we reckon with your several loves,
 And make us even with you. My thanes and kinsmen,
 Henceforth be earls, the first that ever Scotland
 In such an honour nam'd. What's more to do,
 Which would be planted newly with the time,—
 As calling home our exil'd friends abroad,
 That fled the snares of watchful tyranny;
 Producing forth the cruel ministers
 Of this dead butcher, and his fiend-like queen,—
 Who, as 'tis thought, by self and violent hands
 Took off her life;—this, and what needful else
 That calls upon us, by the grace of Grace,
 We will perform in measure, time, and place:
 So, thanks to all at once, and to each one,
 Whom we invite to see us crown'd at Scone.
 [Flourish. Exeunt.]
