1.1 Overview of the Northern Lands of Tamriel

Welcome to a massive guide to every location across the realm of Skyrim.

Since ancient times, the lands of Skyrim have been divided into nine separate Holds, and modern cartographers saw no reason to change this method of dividing the realm into manageable segments for you to reference.

Although Holds aren't visible on your in-game maps, the borders between each Hold have been drawn along roads, rivers, and steep mountains so you can visualize where you are more easily.

Overview and Legend

This Atlas is divided into ten sections. The first nine reveal each of the Holds of Skyrim (Haafingar, Hjaalmarch, the Pale, Winterhold Hold, the Reach, Whiterun Hold, Eastmarch, Falkreath Hold, and the Rift), running from northwest to southeast.

A tenth chapter is dedicated to Other Realms (locations not shown on the world map, such as the Dragon Cult's bastion of Skuldafn).

Each location within a Hold is split up into Primary Locations (which appear as Fast-Travel points on the world map once you locate them) and Secondary Locations (some of which appear on your local map).

For larger dungeons and settlements, interior maps have been provided. These help you explore major locations and flag important items. The following icons are used:

Primary Locations: These are usually large spaces requiring interior exploration and are listed in a number format. For example, the vampire hideout known as Movarth's Lair is listed as Primary Location [2.19].

This means it is in Hold 2 (Hjaalmarch) and is the 19th Primary Location within this Hold. Each Primary Location has a different icon depending on its type (e.g., a den, town, or capital).

Secondary Locations: These are smaller areas that rarely require interior exploration. They are listed in a letter format. For example, the Shrine of Zenithar in the Rift is listed as Secondary Location [9.U].

World Encounter: This icon indicates the possibility of a random World Encounter.

Map Marker (Interior Maps): This shows the general area to search for one or more important items (with a corresponding number to the text description), or a major room or route in an interior map.

Threshold Marker (Interior Maps): This indicates a door (with a letter corresponding to the text description), a locked door (a blank marker), or a blocked passageway (also a blank marker). If this is linked via a line, it shows a connection between two levels or floors of a structure or dungeon.

Area Statistics

Every location in Skyrim has a list of pertinent information to better inform you about what to expect within the settlement or dungeon. The following chart explains what all these statistics mean:

2.1 Haafinger: Overview and Services

Topographical Overview

Haafingar is a hold of fortifications and numerous caves weaving deep into the granite foothills and mountainous terrain that the Hold is famous for. Expect smuggling bolt-holes along the coast and a strong Thalmor presence; their embassy is atop the mountain to the northwest of Solitude. There are two large forts—Northwatch Keep and Fort Hraggstad—where you may face a large number of foes. And you haven't fully experienced Haafingar until you've seen the majesty of the Statue to Meridia and the light of Kilkreath Ruins...

ROUTES AND PATHWAYS

Haafingar Hold is dominated by the massive arch and fortified crenelations of the fortress city of Solitude. For those approaching from Hjaalmarch, this is indeed the landmark of choice.

The rest of the Hold has a main path that takes you around the base of the Haafingar mountain range, before petering out along the craggy western edge where progress cannot continue.

A few minor pathways shoot off from this main route, which is the recommended way to initially explore, as the rest of this Hold requires careful maneuvering over steep and snowy terrain.

Indeed, it is often impossible to reach a Primary Location by trekking over rocks and Tundra alone. The Karth River separates this Hold from Hjaalmarch, with the jagged border of the Reach encroaching just southwest of the Dragon Bridge.

The largest stretch of flat ground is the shoreline of the Sea of Ghosts along the northern flank of Haafingar, where travelers are few and the Thalmor are out in force.

Lore: City Overview

Solitude is the jewel of Imperial Skyrim. Ruled by Jarl Elisif the Fair, widow of the late High King, it is home to the headquarters of both the Legion and the Thalmor.

Part of the reason for this is the eminently defensible nature of Solitude itself. Set upon a great stone arch that towers above the mouth of the Karth River, and surrounded by the soaring peaks of the Haafingar Mountains, Solitude is both a reinforced and breathtaking stronghold.

Given the city's name, it may be ironic that over 80 percent of the Hold's population lives within Solitude's walls, but this is testament to the city's political importance, formidable defenses, and diverse population.

The Bard's College is located here, as well as the sumptuous Blue Palace. Both are constructed atop the huge, natural arch that the city rests on, affording spectacular views over the Sea of Ghosts and Hjaalmarch to the east. Solitude's accessible docks and wharfs are in relatively calm waters, making trade one of the many reasons why the wealthiest Nords hail from this capital city. Solitude is the one, true cosmopolitan city of Skyrim.

A variety of traders ply their wares in this southwestern district of the city. Aside from the traders, the marketplace is dominated by executioner's platform and the market stalls, which features a well said to be one of the oldest structures in Solitude.

A) MAIN GATE: EXIT TO SKYRIM

5) EXECUTIONER'S PLATFORM

The first time you enter Solitude, a small crowd has gathered to watch the execution of Roggvir for crimes against the Empire; he allowed Ulfric Stormcloak to escape the city after killing the High King. Unless you interrupt (a crime), Roggvir is beheaded while the citizens watch, some cheering. There is an entrance up onto the crenellations above the main gate, allowing you to move (or sneak) around the city's perimeter walls.

These stalls sell a variety of wares: Addvar sells fish from his cart. His wife, Greta, will take over for him should he die. Jala sells fruit and vegetables from her cart. Evette San sells spiced wine from her cart. The old well isn't used anymore.

B) CASTLE DOUR DUNGEON EXIT

This grating is inaccessible from the street. It is an escape route leading from a secret exit inside one of the prison cells in the Castle Dour Dungeon.

13) SOUTH GATE

C) SOUTH GATE EXIT TO SKYRIM

This windmill landmark can be seen from miles around. The ground-level gate leads to a spiral staircase down to the docks and out into Skyrim. The staircase up leads to a battlement and the rear (and unlocked) entrance to the Emperor's Tower.

2.3 Haafinger Hold Capital: Solitude II

Castle Dour

Dominating the city's northern district is Castle Dour. Thick-walled and imposing, it protected its inhabitants from invaders. As the city grew, walls were added to surround the other, newer buildings. During a long period of peace, the Blue Palace was built for the Jarl, and Castle Dour became a secondary fortress. It now houses the Imperial Garrison and the Temple of the Divines. Find a couple of Skill Books around the sleeping area here:

Should Beirand die, his apprentice Helmvar will take over. Beirand is married to Sayma and has a son named Kayd. Outside his shop is a full complement of crafting locations and a second grindstone inside the Blacksmith's. Up in Beirand's bedroom, there's a ledger, Skill Book, and strongbox.

16) COURTYARD AND CRENELATIONS

Captain Aldis

The ground-level features Solitude Guards practicing archery and sword strikes. Captain Aldis presides over this training, along with the execution you saw as you walked in.

Head up the stone ramp to the crenellations, allowing quick (and more stealthy) access above the castle grounds to an upper entrance into Castle Dour and the Thalmor Headquarters, the Temple of the Divines, and then back into the market district.

You can even drop off these crenellations, grabbing hanging moss or a bird's nest if you're facing southeast.

17) CASTLE DOUR (INTERIOR)

General Tullius

Legate Rikke

Ahtar the Jailor

Gianna

In ages gone by, there was just the castle keep. Thick walled and imposing, it protected its inhabitants from invaders. As the city grew, walls were added to surround the other, newer buildings. During a long period of peace, a separate palace was built for the Jarl.

Castle Dour became an oversized gatehouse. It was eventually converted into the city's Imperial Garrison. General Tullius is in charge of the Imperial forces in Skyrim. He lives and works here along with his second in command, Legate Rikke.

Follower: Ahtar the Jailor [2/47]

Unique Weapon: Headsman's Axe [1/80]

General Tullius's War Room (Ground Floor)

The main level of the castle is given over to a battle map of Skyrim, where General Tullius and Legate Rikke plan the countermeasures against the Stormcloaks. It is here you can join with them during the Civil War Quests.

Castle Dour Dungeon (Lower Floor)

Commit a crime in Haafingar and the guards will throw you in the dungeons of Castle Dour. Ahtar the Jailor (who was part of the execution when you first arrived in Solitude) runs this place. The upper level is a circular balcony overlooking the dungeon level. There are guards, scattered food and weapons, and three chambers along the outer wall to your right.

The first is an interrogation room, the second is a torture room, and the third is Ahtar's office, with steps leading down to the evidence chamber on the lower level. Notice the hole in the wall near the belongings chest? This allows you to recover your equipment when escaping through the secret passage.

Evidence Chest

Prisoner Belongings Chest

Castle Dour Dungeon (Dungeon Floor)

The roughly circular lower level features seven cells, most of them locked. Bjartur, a Stormcloak Soldier, is held in one of the cells if the Imperials control the city. You're usually placed in a cell on the jail's south side.

Instead of serving out your sentence, check the crumbling mortar on the wall behind you. It falls away, enabling you to flee into a dungeon corridor.

Check the small hole, allowing you to reach into the Prisoner Belongings Chest in the evidence room.

Then flee to the ladder, bringing you up into the Market District, [B] Castle Dour Dungeon Exit. Note that you can only do this once; after you escape, the guards repair the wall, and you'll have to serve your time or escape in the usual way in the future.

18) EMPEROR'S TOWER (INTERIOR)

Emperor Titus Mede III

Reviled by the Stormcloaks for his "betrayal" in the Markarth Incident and admired by the Imperials and Loyalists for his steadfastness during the Great War, Titus Mede is somewhat of a tragic figure, being forced by the weakness of the Empire to make deals with those he despises (the Thalmor) in order to preserve the Empire from total destruction.

This is the residence of the Emperor when he is in Solitude. You will come here for Dark Brotherhood Quest: To Kill an Empire.

Throne Room (Ground Floor)

Emperor Titus Mede III isn't usually here. This offers access to the kitchens and the upper floor.

Kitchens (Ground Floor)

Upper Landing (Upper Floor)

There's an empty bedroom and a door requiring a key, unlocked by the chef during the quest. A Skill Book rests on a table in the small sitting area.

Skill Book [Enchanting]: Catalogue of Weapon Enchantments

Banqueting Hall (Upper Floor)

This is where the Emperor and his trusted cohorts eat and talk about politics. There is an exit out to the South Gate (windmill).

19) THALMOR HEADQUARTERS

The hated Justiciars are headquartered in the garrison. Effectively run by the Thalmor, they oversee the terms of the peace accords signed by the Empire. Principally, this means rooting out Talos worshippers. Elenwen is the head of the Justiciars.

Sometimes she forces her opinion on General Tullius as well. He has little use for her advice, but his emperor has commanded him to follow her orders on matters related to the treaty.

Mostly this location is relatively empty, with the Thalmor more content to rule Skyrim from the remote Embassy in the mountains above Solitude. Check inside for a number of books to read, and the following:

20) TEMPLE OF THE DIVINES

Rorlund

Freir

Silana Petreia

Formerly the Temple of the Nine Divines, this is the largest temple in all of Skyrim. Unlike the other temples, it reflects the Imperial view of all eight divinities being equal and represented. Outside is a small courtyard where Vittoria Vici's marriage will take place.

There are several doors leading to and from the roof if you want a better look down onto this courtyard. Inside are shrines for each of the eight gods, plus an empty place where the Shrine to Talos once stood.

If you side with the Stormcloaks during the Civil War Quests and take Solitude for Ulfric, the Shrine to Talos is reinstated. Each provides a Blessing. Upstairs is a withdrawing area and exit to the crenellations. Downstairs is a storage room and a firmly sealed door, which can only be opened during Side Quest: The Wolf Queen Awakened. It leads to a second, dust-filled wine cellar, past a Health Potion to a hole in the wall and into Potema's Catacombs.

Sometimes referred to as "the Stately Avenues of Old Solitude," it's more commonly just called the Avenues. This is the residential section of the city.

21) HALL OF THE DEAD (SOLITUDE CATACOMBS)

Styrr

This mausoleum is filled with vaults. The dead of Haafingar are buried here. As the local priest of Arkay, Styrr is the cemetery caretaker. Although this could just be his demeanor, Styrr believes that darkness is drawn to Solitude.

Upstairs, Styrr's room has a long chest to pilfer from and a small chest behind the door. Into the cellar, there's the corridor to Solitude Catacombs.

23) VITTORIA VICI'S HOUSE

VITTORIA VICI

Vittoria Vici heads down from this house to supervise the shipping and distribution of goods from the port. She is a wealthy woman, about to be married. Her house reflects this opulence, as do the Shadowmarks etched near the main doorway. There are three entrances.

The main floor of the house is comprised of a hallway, living area, and kitchen. There are books to read and food to eat. Upstairs is a small balcony library and a bedroom with a chest to check. In the cellar, there's an exit and a display case with a valuable weapon in it to steal.

However, each has preferred instruments or instructors.

Cellar (Lower Floor)

This contains a sleeping area with four beds for the current students. There is a common area, Brendt's small bedroom, and a kitchen here too.

Main Entrance Hall (Main Floor)

The main entrance here is made to receive guests and is built to impress. Giraud Gemane and Viarmo are usually here. Nearby is a well-stocked library and a bar. If you are on Favor: Rare Item Hunt for Lami in Morthal, you can find a skill book on the counter in the library.

19) ERIKUR'S HOUSE

Erikur

Melaran

Erikur is a Thane of Solitude, and his house is a large, grand structure. Notice the Shadowmarks near the entrances. Inside, the cellar has little more than barrels and some stocked food. The main floor is dominated by the Arcane Enchanter, various potions, and a few ingredients. Upstairs is a balcony running around the entire perimeter, a small library, and a single bedroom with a long chest to steal from.

Sybille Stentor
Odar
Erdi

The following leaders of Solitude are loyal to the Imperials at the start of the Civil War. They remain in place, even if Solitude falls to the Stormcloaks, at the end of the Civil War Quests.

Jarl Elisif the Fair

With the recent death of Jarl Torygg, his beautiful widow, Elisif, rules Solitude for now. She is a young Nord woman, wholly unsuited to rule. The real power lies with General Tullius, technically an Imperial advisor. Personally, Elisif is sympathetic to the Imperial cause. She has a personal hatred for the Stormcloak leader Ulfric, who killed her husband, Torygg, and is just politically savvy enough to realize that her rule, and probably her head, are in place only so long as she is useful to the Empire. She believes that should the Empire regain control of Skyrim, she would be made High Queen.

Falk Firebeard (Steward)

Falk also serves as treasurer when necessary. He is a skilled bureaucrat, despite his years as a member of the Companions. He is loyal to Elisif but frequently gets frustrated at her foolishness. His hair is bright red, although shot with gray, hence his name.

Unique Item: Shield of Solitude [3/112]

Bolgeir Bearclaw (Housecarl)

Jarl Elisif never goes anywhere without Bolgeir. He is utterly loyal and highly competent. What he lacks in creativity and social sensitivity, he makes up for in ferociousness. As a youth, he hunted bears. Once, when a bear turned on him, he cut its paw off with a single blow of his axe.

Sybille Stentor (Court Wizard)

Although she has served the Jarls of Solitude for over 20 years, Sybille looks no more than 18. Palace gossip has a multitude of theories for her unnatural youth. The one about her being a vampire may hold most credence. Her role as Court Wizard is a convenience.

Trainer (Spell Vendor): Sybille Stentor [1/12]

Solitude's other awe-inspiring landmark is its ornate palace, where the newly appointed Jarl Elisif the Fair resides. It is built on the ruins of the old palace, which was burned to the ground when Queen Potema was finally defeated in the War of the Red Diamond. There is only one entrance: from the cloisters at the end of the Avenues District.

Entrance Staircases (Ground Floor)

Through the Receiving Hall is a pair of impressive curved staircases and guards dotted around. To the right (southwest) is a chest and a door to the Pelagius Wing, which is firmly sealed. To the left (northeast) is a corridor to the kitchens and private staircase.

Kitchens (Ground Floor)

A large array of food is stocked here, presided over by Odar the chef. There's a storage corridor to the northwest leading to wine barrels and a servants' bedroom.

Large Bedroom (Ground Floor)

Close to the private steps, there are two large beds in here but little to steal.

Cellar (Lower Floor)

Head down the private steps to a chamber of beds and a chest.

Chest

Jarl's Throne Room (Upper Floor)

Atop the curved stairs (or the private ones) is the main chamber where Jarl Elisif the Fair resides and listens to the news of the day and any worries her subjects may have. She is guarded by Bolgeir Bearclaw, her Housecarl. She is flanked by Sybille Stentor (Court Wizard), Falk Firebeard (Steward), and the two Thanes Erikur and Bryling.

Northeast Corridor (Upper Floor)

To the left (northeast) is a corridor where you'll find a book named Lost Legends on a low table (read it to start a quest). The corridor leads to the Court Wizard's bedroom. There's an Arcane Enchanter and some impressive staves, potions, and books on show here. To the north is Falk's small bedroom and the Jarl's bedchamber. This impressive room has a small alcove with a Skill Book and an Unusual Gem on the bedside cabinet.

This connection can be exploited by travelers to facilitate their trek through Haafingar's treacherous mountains.

UPPER TROLL CAVE

Beware when crossing the cavern's natural footbridge—it's a long way down. East Empire Company Warehouse

This area, located just south of Solitude, consists of a network of docks and an interior harbor, where workers patch up Haafingar's sea-worn vessels. A large merchant ship called the Red Wave remains docked to the south as well.

During Thieves Guild Quest: Scoundrel's Folly, you must tail an Argonian named Gulum-Ei through the warehouse. Continue to follow Gulum-Ei until you spy him changing a business ledger. Then shadow him through a passage hidden among the shelves along the northeastern wall of the warehouse into Brinewater Grotto. Here you will find an underground river where Gulum-Ei and his goons have been moving goods stolen from the warehouse. This is only open after starting this quest.

Note

If you kill Gulum Ei, you'll have to find evidence of the sale in Brinewater Grotto on your own. The Guild will not be pleased, and if you get a foothold in Solitude later, Gulum won't be around to act as a Fence.

EXTERIOR

At first, it seems there's little of interest along the exterior docks. However, if you dive into the nearby water, you'll discover a sunken chest not far from the warehouse doors.

EAST EMPIRE COMPANY WAREHOUSE (INTERIOR)

The cavernous warehouse is home to a network of docks and a small reservoir featuring two small docked ships. Don't let the guards or dockworkers spot you snooping around in here—they'll attack you on sight.

A) EXIT TO SKYRIM

1) SOUTHWEST DOCKS

A Smithing Skill Book, along with several ingots, are located on the shelves here, near the southwest docks' first flight of stairs. Go upstairs and spy a locked chest atop some shelves on the docks' second level.

Scale more stairs to find a second locked chest on the docks' top tier. From up here, you can sneak along a narrow ledge as you head north toward [2].

Brinewater Grotto

This sizable cave is located along Haafingar's frigid northeast shoreline; however, this location actually marks the cave's exit, not its entrance. Entering from this shoreline site only allows you to visit the cave's final, Horker-filled chamber.

To fully explore Brinewater Grotto, you must enter from the East Empire Company Warehouse [1.24]. This can only be accomplished by properly spying on Gulum-Ei during Thieves Guild Quest: Scoundrel's Folly. Regardless, when exiting the cave, be sure to loot the exterior chest.

Tip

After completing the "Scoundrel's Folly" quest, you can use the Brinewater Grotto passage to covertly enter the East Empire Company Warehouse for further plundering!

A) DOOR TO EAST EMPIRE COMPANY WAREHOUSE

1) WATERY PATH

Slay or sneak past bandits as you navigate this winding passage, and don't miss the chest that's hidden underwater to the north. If you like, you can tear through some thick spiderwebs here to expose a spider-filled passage that can help you slip past the guards.

2) TRAPPED PASSAGE CAVERN

More bandits lurk near a campfire in this area—the goons guard a chest with a tricky lock. Hanging rattles have been strung to prevent you from sneaking along the water. If you like, you can creep through a trap-filled passage in the west wall to get the drop on the bandits. Just beware of the passage's array of tripwires and bear traps, as well as a feisty guard dog.

He is somewhat of a tragic figure, being forced by the weakness of the Empire to make "deals with the devil" (Thalmor) in order to preserve his realm from total destruction.

3.1 Hjaalmarch: Overview and Services

Topographical Overview

The most impoverished of the nine Holds, Hjaalmarch's low-lying salt marsh is an eerie and mist-filled place. Known colloquially as "the Mouths of the Karth," this is where the mighty Karth River empties into the Sea of Ghosts by a variety of intricate channels. Also known as the Karth Delta, many adventurers have entered this dank bog, never to return. Most of the locals gravitate to the capital city of Morthal or the firmer (if colder) ground of the Tundra and farmland and the mountains flanking the Hold to the south and east.

Routes and Pathways

The protrusion of Solitude's giant natural arch is a useful marker, if only to remember how dominant the economy of neighboring Haafingar Hold is: Indeed, along the western edge is a path through the low country that leads to and from the strategically important town of Dragon Bridge (also in Haafingar).

Farther away from the mists and hidden terrors of the marsh is the more rocky and mountainous south and eastern parts of the Hold. This area is dominated by Eldersblood Peak to the southwest, part of the Skyborn Range that separates Hjaalmarch from Whiterun. Eating into the Pale to the east is the dwarven temple ruins of Mzinchaleft.

But the most impressive (and dangerous) portion of the Hold is a path cut through the mountains from the Tundra plains of Whiterun, which leads through the massive ruined city of Labyrinthian.

Lore: City Overview

Sitting on the southern edge of the Drajkmyr marsh, dry ground can be hard to come by in Morthal. The capital of the Hjaalmarch Hold, Morthal, is often shrouded in a thick fog, and ominous twisted trees grow from the surrounding marsh.

Morthal is foreboding to travelers approaching it, and the torches of the town glowing in the fog often give the impression of wisps at a distance. Many travelers choose to steer clear of the place altogether.

Morthal is a town shrouded in mystery. Its people are reclusive and wary of newcomers, and only a single lumber camp supports its weak economy.

The Jarl is among the most relaxed in Skyrim when it comes to taxation, but Hjaalmarch is also the poorest of the nine Holds.

The Hold is still part of the Empire, but the Jarl is unapologetically vague in her enthusiasm for the Imperial Legate stationed in her dwelling.

A number of the people in the town are concerned about the prospect of war. War brings outsiders, and outsiders are not a welcome sight in Morthal.

Most would rather the conflict were kept outside their home, leaving them free to pursue their own interests.

Important Areas of Interest

1) MAIN THOROUGHFARE

Lacking much in the way of paving, this main dirt track leads from one end of town to the other, with Highmoon Hall to the south and the lumber mill at the north end, after which the marshland encroaches and takes over.

2) DOCKSIDE

This deck passes the structures where the town's guards and two of the more interesting inhabitants live and leads to a jetty. This is where the civilization of Morthal stops and the wilds of the Drajkmyr marsh begin.

The bog isn't particularly deep, and many townsfolk spend time watching the water from the covered jetty, hoping the strange sounds during the night will go away.

3) HIGHMOON HALL

The following leaders of Morthal are (begrudgingly) loyal to the Imperials at the start of the Civil War.

Jarl Idgrod Ravenchrone

Aslfur (Steward)

Gorm (Housecarl)

Idgrod the Younger

Joric

Legate Taurinus Duilis

JARL IDGROD RAVENCRONE

Idgrod Ravenchrone is unlike the other Jarls of Skyrim: She is a hunched old woman, who speaks in riddles and parables and rarely ever directly. However, her wisdom is sometimes misunderstood as the ramblings of an old woman, and some are beginning to lose faith in her. Idgrod spent her younger years wandering Tamriel in search of wisdom. Some say that she returned from her trip "touched." Gorm is actively plotting to remove her.

ASLFUR (STEWARD)

Aslfur met Idgrod during the time she spent wandering Tamriel. A young warrior then, Aslfur protected Idgrod during her pilgrimage, and the two were married before returning to her home in Morthal.

Over the years, Aslfur has served as Idgrod's advisor, and now, in her old age (and some say her insanity), he is more protective than ever.

GORM (HOUSECARL)

Gorm was once loyal to Idgrod but has since come to think of her as insane and unfit for the throne in these trying times. Gorm has formulated a plan to remove her from power with little bloodshed. Aslfur and Idgrod are both aware of his plan, but Idgrod has refused to allow Aslfur to act on the knowledge, insisting that there is a larger role for Gorm to play.

IDGROD THE YOUNGER

Idgrod the Younger has heard the rumors that her mother is touched. In truth, Idgrod has been taught by her mother to seek insight and wisdom. Although neither recognize it, both are manipulating Magicka subconsciously in order to achieve their visions. The Younger Idgrod is much more adept at separating the visions from reality and is poised to make an excellent Jarl.

JORIC

Joric is the youngest child of Idgrod Ravenchrone and Aslfur. He's a young boy who seems to have lost his mind at a very early age. He doesn't say much, but when he does speak, he is oddly insightful, even if his words make little sense.

LEGATE TAURINUS DUILIS

The following residents of Hjaalmarch arrive to take control of Morthal, once this Hold has fallen during the Civil War.

Jarl Sorli the Builder

Pactur (Steward)

Teeba-Ei (Housecarl)

Jarl Sorli the Builder

Sorli the Builder is the great-granddaughter of the founder of Stonehills. She lives in the first building constructed in the town by her ancestors.

Leadership has been passed down through her family, but whatever that used to mean, it has little bearing on the present day.

Reduced to a single building and a marginally profitable mine owned by Bryling of Solitude, Sorli attempts to cling to whatever authority she currently has, while dreaming of something greater for herself.

PACTUR (STEWARD)

Pactur's life revolves around Sorli. He assists with running the mine, which means doing all the work Sorli doesn't care to, and he feeds her ambitions in whatever way he can.

TEEBA-EI (HOUSECARL)

The sole survivor of a wrecked trader vessel, Teeba-Ei wandered into Stonehills nearly frozen to death.

He was taken in and cared for, and was grateful that few questions were asked about how he came to be there. He now gladly serves Sorli, working the mine, and is willing to follow her everywhere, even if that means going to Morthal as her Housecarl.

Highmoon Hall is the central meeting place for all citizens of Hjaalmarch. Although, few seek audience with the reclusive and mysterious Jarl. She spends most of her days pottering around this sturdy Nordic structure.

Aslfur handles many of the citizens' grievances in the main hall, and some have come to question whether he is trying to remove that burden from his wife or trying to hide her deteriorating condition.

The war room manned by Legate Taurinus Duilis across from the Jarl's chamber is an inconvenience Idgrod is having to live with. Discover a Skill Book mixed in with other, less valuable books on the top shelf in the upstairs bedroom.

Benor

The guardhouse is not a picture of military order. The Jarl of Hjaalmarch had little need for an organized militia.

Lurbuk gro-Dushnikh

Jonna is the sister of Falion, both from Hammerfell. She and her brother have traveled together their whole lives, but when something “drew” Falion to Morthal, they both settled. The town was without an inn at the time, so Jonna modified one of the homes.

She doesn't get a lot of business, but she does appreciate visitors who stop by and can stand to hear Lurbuk's painful ballads. Search a woven basket that sits atop a dresser in one of the rooms to discover a hidden Skill Book.

7) MORTHAL CEMETERY

Too small for a Hall of the Dead, the few folks of Morthal make do with a more traditional Nordic graveyard to the west of town. Odd noises have been heard during the night there.

Alva spends her nights gathering herbs and tending her small herb garden. She has filled the house with all manner of dried ingredients and homemade remedies. She used to spend a lot of time with Lami but now refuses to leave her abode.

If you break into this dwelling, Alva wakes from her slumber and attacks. There's a key on her corpse. The cellar backs up the rumors of Alva's vampiric tendencies. If you kill Alva, Hroggar will stalk and attack you once you leave town.

11) FALION'S HOUSE

Falion is a Redguard. While his sister Jonna is accepted by the people of Morthal, Falion is looked at with fear and distrust. Falion has delved deep into the mysteries of Magicka and has become a master of the arts.

He has settled in Morthal because he felt drawn to the location and wishes to remain relatively close to the College in Winterhold.

He spends his time in his workshop and is the only person in the realm who knows how to cure vampirism. The house is cluttered and filled with trinkets of both superstition and genuine implements of Magicka. Peer around his residence for the following:

Dead Men's Respite

In the low mountains southwest of Morthal, stone steps lead up to a massive arch carved into the rock face. This is the tomb of King Olaf One-Eye, the ancient High King of Skyrim and also the de facto tomb of Svaknir, the bard who composed a legendary epic poem against Olaf's reign. In revenge, Olaf captured Svaknir, burned all the copies of his work save one, then threw him into a pit to rot, with only the final verse to console himself. It is said that Svaknir's ghost still haunts the tomb, hoping that someone will come to avenge him.

A) EXIT TO SKYRIM

1) CLAW CHAMBER

A ghostly figure beckons you forward as you enter this chamber. Take the Ruby Claw from the pedestal to open the portcullis, but beware—a swarm of vicious Draugr ambush you when you do. Collect a potion from the nook beyond the iron door before advancing to [2].

Dragon Claw: Ruby Dragon Claw [1/10]

Spider Nest

If you fail to disarm the trap, stop carefully by the candles to avoid the blades as they swing past. Pull the chain on the far side if you need to allow your Follower through, then take the upstairs door to reach [7].

Danger! Bone Alarm Traps, Spear Traps (pressure plate)

2) PUZZLE PILLAR CHAMBER

Daynas Valen's adventurers already solved the puzzle in this room, so there's little to do here during your first visit, but you can return after obtaining the Ivory Claw in [3]. 4) STAIRWELL 1

Use extreme care when entering this stairwell, which leads up to the dining hall's second floor. A trapdoor opens beneath your feet as you enter, dunking you into a watery pit.

The water actually spares you from falling onto lethal spikes—keep well away from the spikes as you carefully loot the sunken corpses, then swim onto the stairs (or pull the chain and let the trapdoor lift you up).

Loot the corpses near an upstairs keyhole to at last discover the Ivory Claw. Insert the claw into the keyhole to lower the drawbridge ahead, which leads toward several Draugr and a passage to the lower crypts. Before entering the crypts, return to [2] and use the Ivory Claw to access a treasure nook.

5) CRYPT CORRIDORS

Beware: Numerous Draugr roam these tight corridors, and pressure plates trigger lethal traps. Rotate three glyph pillars here, mirroring the glyph sequence in the previous chamber (Hawk, Hawk, Dragon). Then exit and pull the chain on the far wall to open the central stairwell.

7) SPIDER TUNNEL

Slay a few Frostbite Spiders in this final passage, and beware a surprise ambush as you approach the puzzle door. The lights suddenly go out, and Draugr emerge from the sarcophagi around you.

Cut them down, then inspect the Ivory Claw you found earlier and notice its three glyphs. Manipulate the puzzle door's three rings to mimic the Ivory Claw's glyph sequence (Hawk, Hawk, Dragon); then insert the Ivory Claw into the door's central keyhole to open the path to the crypt.

Mzinchaleft

Mzinchaleft Depths

Surrounded by rocks, these impressive dwarven ruins stand in the frozen wastelands in Hjaalmarch's northeast corner. South of the ruins, an ornate elevator grants passage to the Mzinchaleft Gatehouse, where a Dwarven Mechanism can be activated to grant passage to Blackreach [10.02]; however, you can't use this elevator until you've navigated all of Mzinchaleft and used it to exit the Gatehouse, which is the ruins' final area. During a Miscellaneous Objective for Mjoll the Lioness, you can discover a unique weapon here at Mzinchaleft called "Grimsever." See the Quests chapter for further details.

EXTERIOR

Mzinchaleft

Entering the ruins won't be easy, for a large group of bandits has made camp here as they work at ransacking the site. Slay a mob of brutes in the exterior area, and locate a locked chest atop one of the spiral-path towers.

Find one chest hidden among the southern Chaurus nest and another in an northern nook, deep underwater. Find two more sunken chests by opening the southeast underwater gate and following the submerged passage to a small room.

9) CONNECTING TUNNEL

When you've finished raiding this place, proceed up the northwest stairs to reach the door to the Mzinchaleft Gatehouse.

During the end of College of Winterhold Quest: The Staff of Magnus, you will obtain the unique Staff of Magnus.

Activate the next sigil, again by hitting the sigil with a ranged spell of its matching school, to drop into a short network of underground passages.

Simply go west and take a spiral staircase back up to the surface. You're now outside the maze again; loop around and enter from the north this time.

Stop and obtain a new Word of Power from the wall nearby, then activate the next sigil and open the north gate.

4.1 The Pale: Overview and Services

Topographic Overview

Dominated by ice fields and glacial deposits, especially along its northern shore, the Pale (named for the pallid Tundra and pigmentation of its Nord inhabitants) is one of the four oldest Holds in Skyrim. The harsh environment here makes life a chore rather than a joy, and the shape of the Hold has led some to refer to it as “the old boot.” Ragged peaks, snow-covered ground, and little sunshine means most of the Nords congregate at the city of Dawnstar, a popular port and mining town. The Pale lacks waterways, save for Lake Yorgrim, located in the southeastern part of the Hold.

Routes and Pathways

Possessing fewer roads and pathways than most other Holds, there is still a reasonable road connecting the Pale to Hjaalmarch, which continues past Fort Dunstad and eventually heads east into Eastmarch and Windhelm or south below the snow line into Whiterun Hold.

Hold 3: The Pale

This Hold's perimeters are dominated by mountains that run north to south along the western edge, and the Sea of Ghosts runs along the northern coast. To the east are the Winterhold Mountains, which follow the perimeter south and then east, to the partially frozen Lake Yorgrim. The River Yorgrim begins from here, merging with the mighty White River just east of Anga's Mill, this Hold's most easterly location. The rest of the dwarven ruins, barrows, and windswept catacombs are nestled between crags and the jutting, unforgiving mountains. Follow the often-elusive minor paths to find some of these locations, or venture off into the snow to locate them all.

Lore: City Overview

Dawnstar, capital of the Pale Hold, sits on Skyrim's northern coastline, halfway between Winterhold and Solitude. Because of the glacial icefields just to the east, it is the last port before Windhelm that is not icebound.

Dawnstar's economy is driven by its two mines, and the people of Dawnstar often find meaning in the stones. Like their leader, Jarl Skald the Elder, they stand unbreakable and firm despite all their troubles.

Residents of the city fight the weather, the beasts, and raiders every day in order to keep goods and ore flowing into and out of their port and market.

Important Areas of Interest

1) MAIN THOROUGHFARE

The main road (packed with snow and dirt) is in two tiers, with the structures built around the inlet to the Sea of Ghosts. The upper track houses the main structures, while the lower road connects all the buildings owned by individuals.

East and west of the roadways are the two mines that help bolster Dawnstar's economy. To the north, farther along the shoreline, is the entrance to an old, abandoned sanctuary. Dominating the town is the Nightcaller Temple, perched and ever watching over the rugged rocks.

2) NORTHSTAR PORT (AND THE SEA SQUALL)

Captain Lief Wayfinder

Located at the base of the cliffs under the Nightcaller Temple, these docks host incoming trade ships. The vessel currently docked in these frigid waters is the Sea Squall.

3) THE WHITE HALL

The following leaders of Dawnstar are loyal to the Stormcloaks at the start of the Civil War.

Jarl Skald the Elder

Skald has ruled Dawnstar since his father's death on the battlefield 35 years ago. He came into his rule in his teenage years and has never really lost the arrogance and sense of invincibility that comes with that age. He is quick to judge and doesn't change his mind once he has decided something.

Jod (Housecarl)

Jod is Captain of the Dawnguard. He takes his duty and his loyalty to the town seriously. He served on a ship in the Great War, and because of his experiences, he is not anxious to fight the Empire. Skald's fervent animosity toward the Empire has made Jod doubt him.

Bulfrek

Bulfrek's family has served the Jarls of Dawnstar for generations. He is not pleased with being born into a life that he considers to be without honor. Although he would never speak it out loud, he would do almost anything to be free of his duty.

Madena (Court Wizard)

Madena is far from home. She is a Breton who served as a battle-mage in the Imperial Legion during the Great War. After seeing the horrors of a large war firsthand, she moved to Dawnstar, hoping that being a court mage in a small hold would be free of complication. She refuses to take sides, insisting that her job is to help the people of Dawnstar. She will support whoever is in power.

Forkmar Banner-Torn

The following residents of Dawnstar arrive to take control of the capital, once this Hold has fallen during the Civil War.

Jarl Brina Merilis

Brina was once renowned throughout the Legion for her leadership and her tactical ability. She is a stern woman who tolerates no foolishness from those under her command. She does have a warm side that sometimes shows through, although it is rarely seen since the start of the war.

Horik Halfhand (Housecarl)

Horik has served with Brina nearly his whole life. With no command ambitions of his own, he is content to serve as her bodyguard. Horik has nothing but respect and admiration for his commander, and there are few things that would shake his loyalty to her.

The White Hall keep serves as both the Jarl's residence and the place where he holds court. The keep's main feature is the large combined throne room, mead hall, and council chamber that dominates the largest portion of the main floor.

To the right are the Jarl's Bedchambers, while Madena, the Jarl's advisor (and excellent spell vendor), resides on the upper floor, along with his manservant Bulfrek.

Madena's spell shop has been partly turned over to the Stormcloaks as a war room, with the blessing of Jarl Skald. Find a Skill Book on a small table upstairs and another tucked between a barrel and pony keg in the room with the training dummy.

4) DAWNSTAR BARRACKS

Jarl Skald's guards rest here after their patrols, murmuring about the nightmares all the inhabitants are suffering from. The Barracks has a main floor (where most of the drinking occurs) and an upper sleeping quarters leading to a balcony overlooking the shoreline.

Down the stairs is the Dawnstar Jail. Remarkably, a Skill Book is tucked away in one corner of the jail.

Erandur

Windpeak Inn is Dawnstar's only tavern and is run by Thoring and his young daughter Karita, who both live in the building. Karita serves as a bard, and their servant Abelone handles most of the menial chores, chopping wood or using the grindstone in the pen outside.

Currently, the place is a meeting spot where anxious townsfolk (such as Fruki and Irgnir the miners) gather to gossip and worry about the strange nightmares that have been keeping them from their beds.

6) RUSTLEIF'S HOUSE

Rustleif is a renowned weaponsmith, and he is often called upon to arm and outfit the Jarl's men. His Redguard wife, Seren, assists him and is currently with child. Inside, their home is comfortable but a little spartan.

Inside, their dwelling is where they sleep (in separate beds) and collect (rather than consume) a large amount of wine. Search the basket near the chest to discover a hidden Skill Book.

Beitild Iron-Breaker manages Iron-Breaker Mine. She's in constant competition with Leigelf Quicksilver, the owner of Quicksilver Mine and her former husband. Beitild lives in the house she used to share with her husband. She refuses to do much else but tend to her mine, eat, and sleep.

11) SILUS VESUIUS'S HOUSE (LOCKED: REQUIRES KEY)

Silus Vesuius

Also known as the Museum of the Mythic Dawn, the building is dedicated to the cult in Dawnstar. This is Silus's vain attempt to capture some attention and infamy for his family's past deeds.

The pride of the collection is his impressive assortment of Mythic Dawn memorabilia, as well as a piece of Mehrunes' Razor that is kept in a secured display case. This building is only accessible once Daedric Quest: Pieces of the Past begins.

Mehrunes' Razor Scabbard
Mythic Dawn Commentaries 1, 2, 3, 4
Mysterium Xarxes (Fragment; cannot be taken)
Mythic Dawn Boots, Gloves, and Robes

12) IRGNIR'S HOUSE

Irgnir
Karl

Karl and Irgnir, the workers of Iron-Breaker Mine, live here in this modest dwelling. They have finally saved up enough gold to purchase from Beitild. They sometimes board with Gjak and Bodil, who take the other shifts to keep the mine constantly productive.

Chest

13) IRON-BREAKER MINE

This mine is located on the outskirts of town to the east. Karl, Irgnir, Gjak, and Bodil work here. This mine produces iron and has a smelter for extracting steel from the iron. Under the watchful (some might say, stern and overbearing) gaze of Beitild, the mine is producing a large amount of ore and is a boon to the local economy.

Find a Skill Book resting atop a barrel near the firepit.

Fruki and Lond, the miners working the Quicksilver veins, live here in this small structure in which Fruki was raised. They occasionally speak with Borgny and Edith, who take the other shifts to keep the mine productive—when Leigelf isn't running the operation into the ground.

Chest

15) QUICKSILVER MINE

This mine is located on the outskirts of town to the west. Fruki, Lond, Borgny, and Edith work here. This is the only Quicksilver mine inside Skyrim's borders, but despite this, the mine is suffering—from marauders and falling production.

In fact, it is practically shut down as Leigelf spends his time obsessing over his wife and the competing mine. More proud than sensible, Leigelf's negligence is causing all of his workers to consider quitting in frustration or fear of attack. The mine holds a Skill Book. Find it inside the small crate on the ground floor of the farthest cavern.

This old tavern is one of the few places where one can find a warm bed and frothy pint in the southern end of the Pale. The unscrupulous can steal from a few chests here if they wish.

One particular Dark Brotherhood Quest leads you to this humble establishment, where you must kill an Orc named Balagog gro-Nolob and steal the important Writ of Passage that he possesses.

Area Is Locked

This small tower, located high up on the hills north of Nightgate Inn [3.25], doesn't appear as a Primary Location on the in-game map, but it's important enough to be considered one.

Beyond the tower's locked gate lies an elevator that transports you down to the legendary dwarven city of Blackreach [10.02], but you must pull the lever inside the tower to open its gate. This makes this a one-way trip until after you've used this elevator to exit Blackreach (the gate remains unlocked afterward).

Irknghand Arcanex

This massive dwarven city remains largely sealed off until you venture here as part of Thieves Guild Quest: Blindsighted. Only the exterior ruins can be explored until then. Use stealth whenever possible here.

EXTERIOR

Bandits have established a campsite at Irkngthand's exterior ruins. The front gate is sealed, so go west, pillaging a chest and swiping some potions from a wooden table. Go left and scale the stone steps, skirting bear traps and swiping some potions from a lean-to found at the top.

Find a chest tucked away beneath another wooden table near some bedrolls, then avoid a pressure plate trap in the tunnel-like passage that follows. Pull the lever beyond the tunnel to open Irkngthand's front gate.

Scale a series of narrow wooden stairs afterward to locate the bandits' leader. Loot two more chests that the chief guards. Scale the following ramps to reach the high door that leads to the Irkngthand Arcanex—these last few ramps appear only when the "Blindsighted" quest is active.

A) EXIT TO SKYRIM

1) ENTRY CHAMBER

Bandits lay slain near a firepit in this first chamber—likely the work of your quarry, Mercer Frey. Loot the large nearby chest if you're able to pick its tricky lock—an even more challenging dwarven chest sits nearby, tucked away near the middle of the west wall. Beware of a patrolling Dwarven Sphere as you make your way to [2].

Chest (Locked: Expert)

Chest (Locked: Master)

2) PIPEWORKS PASSAGE

Sneak through this passage to reduce the odds of alerting reinforcement sentries. Find two small dwarven chests at the far south end of the passage—one on the lip of the outside wall, the other near the foot of the nearby stairs.

3) GATE CHAMBER

Keep as close to the outside wall as possible to avoid this wide chamber's spinning Flame Pillars. Sneak or you'll alert Dwarven Spiders, which stand too short to be harmed by the traps.

You can just barely circle past the final spout without being seared. Open the gate beyond and navigate a passage that leads up to a high east balcony, raiding a couple of chests as you go. Use the Alchemy Lab if you wish before taking the elevator down to the Grand Cavern.

After meeting up with Karliah and Brynjolf, stand back after opening the door here—Mercer has left it trapped, and a mace will come swinging your way. (Alternately, you can try and disable the trap's hinge.)

Unlock an Expert-level gate a few paces farther to claim a chest and some potions. Continue out onto a balcony overlooking a huge cavern and you can spot Mercer offering a pair of Falmer. You cannot get to him yet, so continue down a sloping passage.

5) CAVERN A

Turn left as you enter this first massive cavern and creep across a pile of debris to locate a lever. Pull the lever, then creep back the way you came and loot a grotesque chest that sits near a Falmer tent with several potions.

Continue sneaking around the balcony and, if possible, unlock an Expert-level gate so you may fire a ballista down at the dangerous Falmer below.

Raid a chest at the balcony's other end and find the second lever there.

You must pull one of the levers, then race to the other side to pull the other lever to open the gate below or the levers will reset. You can tell that the gate is open when the dwarven lamps on either side are both lit.

Make your way downstairs, looting the chest that's tucked away near the steps. Avoid the road that follows—it's trapped with lethal spinning blades. Hop up and navigate the earthen ledges instead, finding a chest stashed near the north wall. Use stealth or you will alert the Sphere Centurions here.

8) CAVERN C

The third cavern is the largest of all, and it's teeming with powerful Falmer and a Dwarven Centurion. Do your best to avoid detection, and optionally jump off the bridge's right side, which you start on when entering the area.

Press the button at the base of the entry stairs to unleash the Dwarven Centurion on the unsuspecting Falmer. Scale the east steps and cross a long walkway to advance toward the cavern's south end, where more Falmer and a nest of Frostbite Spiders threaten you.

5.1 Winterhold: Overview and Services

Topographical Overview

The northeastern coast of the Sea of Ghosts around the city of Winterhold is by far the least populated area of Skyrim, and the same can be said for the entire Hold. It has no towns or villages other than the capital, and many adventurers perish in the glacial fields that surround the city. Winterhold boasts a vast stretch of sharp and rugged coastline, and even the mouth of the White River, but it is otherwise devoid of flowing water. Instead, the vast majority of the Hold is either encased in snow or ice or part of the vast and treacherous Mount Anthon range, interspersed with strange or ancient burial sites, including the ominous Saarthal.

Routes and Pathways

Hold 4: Winterhold

There is but a single main road from Winterhold and its college of mages, which connects to the Pale. With no rivers, the only other pathways are the minor goat and hunting trails that weave through the mountains. These are recommended routes when first exploring such a vast and foreboding wilderness.

The entire north and western part of the Hold is rugged coastline; don't forget your explorations can take you well into the Sea of Ghosts. To the west is Fort Fellhammer, a good marker since it is close to the border of the Pale.

Should you refrain from using the main road, the Wayward Pass is another option, as the path it connects to weaves through the Mount Anthon range and takes in many locations.

Otherwise, the edges of this Hold are less rocky and more glacial and feature a variety of lonely and lost barrows, including one said to be the tomb of the legendary warrior and founder of the Companions, Ysgramor.

College of Winterhold

Hold Capital: Winterhold

LORE: CITY OVERVIEW

Once a great capital rivaling Solitude in power and importance, Winterhold is now little more than a shell of its former self. Eighty years ago, a seemingly never-ending series of storms lashed out at the northern coast of Skyrim, eventually causing most of the city to plummet into the Sea of Ghosts, an event now known as the Great Collapse.

Strangely, the College of Winterhold was unaffected, remaining firm on a now freestanding spire of rock. Many inhabitants of Winterhold, both mages and magic-fearing Nords, were forced to abandon the city, and those who remained still eye the College with suspicion.

Since that time, the population of Winterhold has continued to dwindle. Other than the College, only a handful of buildings still stand. What remains of the town's economy is based around serving the needs of the College. As such, Winterhold has become something of a haven for mages in Skyrim, a safe refuge from distrustful Nords.

Important Areas of Interest

1) MAIN THOROUGHFARE

A single, snow-covered road winds past the dilapidated and collapsed structures of Winterhold, leading to the Winterhold Bridge and the domain of mages.

2) RUINS OF THE CATACLYSM

Four of the town's main structures lie abandoned and rotting into the snowy ground. There are no items to snag of any worth.

3) JARL'S LONGHOUSE

The following leaders of Winterhold are loyal to the Stormcloaks at the start of the Civil War.

Jarl Korir

Whatever optimism might have lived in Korir's heart was beaten down by decades of hearing how much better things used to be before the Great Collapse. Knowing nothing else, he carries on the grudges of his ancestors while refusing to abandon his home, so he's done everything he can to persevere. He'll maintain the traditions of his forefathers if it kills him, and he fails to realize the impact it's having on his son.

Thaena

Thaena's life isn't what it was supposed to be. The beautiful city she should've grown up in doesn't exist, her husband has turned into a bitter, cynical man, and the future for her son looks bleak. While Korir may stop short of assigning blame, Thaena has no problem pointing a finger at those responsible for her family's plight: the mages of Winterhold. Refusing to accept any responsibility for her situation, she's placed all the blame squarely on the shoulders of the College and spends every day cursing its existence.

Assur

Assur is confused by the reaction he gets when he repeats what his parents have always told him: mages can't be trusted, and anyone who uses magic is dangerous. He's been taught that warlocks and witches are even worse than elves, and no one but a Nord is a friend to Winterhold.

Malur Seloth

A slouch with few marketable skills, Melur has landed himself in what he perceives as a wonderful position. Korir is convinced that he's in cahoots with the mages of the College of Winterhold and therefore expects little of Malur in the way of servant's duties. Malur has done nothing to dissuade this misunderstanding; in fact, he's cultivating it to get away with as little work as possible. Naturally, he survives if the balance of power shifts to the Imperials.

Kai Wet-Pommel

The following residents arrive to take control of Winterhold, should this Hold fall during the Civil War.

Jarl Kraldar

Kraldar is, by all accounts, what may well be the last in a long line of nobility in Winterhold, due to the cataclysm. He understands that while the College may seem a bit of an eyesore to the rest of the province, being on good terms with the Arch-Mage is in Winterhold's best interest. Ever the optimist, he firmly believes that Winterhold will be restored to greatness someday, and often regales his Housecarl with his dreams for the future. He's less chatty with Malur Seloth.

Thonjolf (Housecarl)

Thonjolf's family has served the Kraldars for generations. It's all he knows. It doesn't matter that there's little for him to actually do or that the Great City of Winterhold doesn't exist anymore; he has a duty and he will perform it to the best of his ability. He's aware of Malur's abuse of his position and has repeatedly attempted to speak to Kraldar about it. Kraldar refuses to listen, so Thonjolf grows more frustrated with every passing day.

One of the buildings of old Winterhold has been repurposed as the Jarl's Longhouse, since the original home of the Jarl was lost in the Great Collapse. Korir rules from this new location, though currently there's very little "ruling" that actually takes place; the College remains separated from the mainland (both physically and socially), and the handful of residents left need little governing on a daily basis.

Korir is convinced that without the Imperials or the College, Winterhold will someday regain its former glory. Jarl Korir is grateful for any protection and actively encourages the Stormcloaks to plan their attacks from his war room. In the downstairs bedroom, a Skill Book has been stashed in a woven basket that sits atop a barrel.

Note

There is no jail in Winterhold, but that doesn't mean you can hack, steal, or annoy anyone you please. If you're caught committing a crime in Winterhold, you're taken to serve out your sentence on a remote glacial cave north of here in the Sea of Ghosts, aptly named the Chill. See the Secondary Location for the details.

4) THE FROZEN HEARTH

Dagur
Haran
Eirid
Nelacar
Angwe

The only profitable business left in Winterhold, the Inn serves as the sole place petitioners to the College may stay. As such, Dagur has put aside any personal feelings he may have toward wizards and does his best to look on the bright side.

Nelacar is paying Dagur good money to maintain a small room in the Inn, where he can do some research on his own, away from the College. He also takes a cut of Enthir's questionable sales downstairs in the cellar. Enthir (a member of the College) stays here during the Thieves Guild Quests and becomes a Fence for you. Down in the cellar, a Skill Book is hidden among a collection of crates and sacks.

5) BIRNA'S ODDMENTS

Ranmir
Birna

Birna's family has lived there for generations beyond count, and no amount of natural disaster or weird magic is going to drive her out now. Her family's house is also a small shop selling a variety of items. She'll even part with a strange claw if the price is right.

6) KRALDAR'S HOUSE

One of the last few holdouts, Kraldar refuses to give up and move away from Winterhold. Everything he has been through has instilled a great distrust for the mages of the College that borders on hatred. Kraldar is a pleasant sort, convinced that Winterhold will someday again be the shining jewel of Skyrim that it once was. Check inside the woven basket on the shelf to discover a hidden Skill Book.

1) WINTERHOLD BRIDGE

Many of the townsfolk in Winterhold think this bridge is being held up by magic alone, and they are correct. Faralda waits to greet (or halt) anyone thinking of entering the College, forcing them to prove they have an aptitude for magic.

Ignore her, and the gates into the College remain closed to you. Fall from the bridge, and expect a long death plummet. Walk on the shores of the Sea of Ghosts below, and you'll find the remains of fallen masonry and stones, but only Clams, Nordic Barnacles, and Slaughterfish Eggs to collect.

2) MAIN COURTYARD

Dominated by a statue of the first Arch-Mage of the College, this is the hub of the facility, offering access back out to the bridge and into the three Halls and one of the trapdoors into the murky depths of the Midden. The exterior windows offer exceptional views of the coastline.

Note

If you're looking for a specific member of the College, most move constantly throughout the Halls of Attainment, Countenance, and Elements. Any mages who are usually in a single location are mentioned below.

3) HALL OF ATTAINMENT

This is to the west of the Courtyard and is where the students and some of the teachers rest. If you join the College, the first room on your right is where you can sleep. There are two floors and a door up onto the roof where you can access the other main parts of the College, which can be accessed from ground level as well.

Chest (2)

4) HALL OF COUNTENANCE

The senior members of the College have a home here, which is a tower laid out in the same fashion as the Hall of Attainment. Check the upper floor and the roof access. There are many staffs here, but stealing them isn't wise.

The ingredients (and Soul Gems) on display near the Alchemy Lab (and Arcane Enchanter) can be used without penalty, so seek them out if you're looking for a particularly rare item (or gem) to craft. Also note the trapdoor entrance to the Midden at the base of the spiral steps.

5) HALL OF THE ELEMENTS

The College's grand central chamber is where students practice their magic and senior members discuss important matters. You attend your first lesson in magic here. Ancano usually mooches around these parts. This is a major location during the College of Winterhold Quests. The entrance is flanked by two doors, each leading to a higher level of the main tower.

6) ARCH-MAGE'S QUARTERS

You can reach the Arch-Mage's Quarters from the Hall of the Elements or the Arcanaeum. These are the chambers of Savos Aren, where he spends some of his time.

The circular chamber is lined with ingredients for mixing and features a fungal garden lit by magical floating lights. These aren't yours to take, unless you wish to incur the wrath of the College elders (or can manage it without being seen!) or you're patient enough to complete the College quest line, at which point the chamber becomes yours.

Crafting: Alchemy Lab, Arcane Enchanter

Unusual Gem: [5/24]

7) THE ARCANAEMUM

You can reach the Arcanaeum from the Hall of the Elements or the roof parapets. This is the home to Urag gro-Shub the Lorekeeper and his extensive collection of tomes (although he's always on the lookout for more research materials).

The Ysmir Collective, a selection of rare books, is on display, and many books are scattered about. If you want to read, you've come to the right place.

The Investigator's Chest has rings to be used in the Midden, as part of College of Winterhold Radiant Quest: Forgotten Names.

FROSTFLOW LIGHTHOUSE (INTERIOR)

Enter the tower to discover a butchered person. Search the corpse to gain a new Dungeon Quest and obtain an informative journal. A Torchbug in a Jar rests atop the mantel—this pertains to Side Quest: Captured Critters.

In the northern room, you find Sudi's Journal on the desk, Mani's Letter in the knapsack under the bed, and a Skill Book.

In the room adjacent, you find the journal of Ramati, the dead woman you just found. Piecing together the story from these journals will lead you to find Mani's Cellar Key, hidden in an urn on the mantel above the fireplace.

Ramati's Journal also mentions a promise to cremate her husband in the lighthouse fire in the event of his death (this is important later).

Take the key and use it to reach the cellar where you can clear out a cluster of Chaurus and loot a locked chest. Venture through the large hole in the basement's southeast wall to proceed to the Frostflow Abyss.

6.1 The Reach: Overview and Services

Topographical Overview

Over 600 years ago, historians described the Reach as the most cosmopolitan of Skyrim's Holds. Others stated "the Reach could be mistaken for one of the petty kingdoms of High Rock; it is full of Bretons, Redguards, Cyrodills, elves of all stripes, and even a few misplaced Khajitit."

Topographically, it takes up the entire western edge of Skyrim and is arguably the most difficult to traverse and easiest to lose your way in. The towering crags, the sheer number of locations, and the ferociousness of its Forsworn inhabitants (friendly hamlets are few and far between) mean that many fail to stop and marvel at the Hold's rugged beauty and numerous ruins.

ROUTES AND PATHWAYS

The Druadach Mountains rise to the west of this Hold, cradling Markarth and other settlements within its peaks, crags, and foothills. The Karth River and its tributaries are the waterways you can track as you familiarize yourself with the geography; pause every so often to explore the bisecting pathways from the main road, which loops in from Whiterun Hold to the east and circles back again. Then rejoin the road, until you can muster the stomach to venture into the scrubland and rocky ravines, ready to stumble upon a Forsworn camp...or worse! Karthwasten and Old Hroldan provide some degree of safety, and the Blades hideout known as Sky Haven Temple is another beacon of tranquility surrounded by hard terrain and harder adversaries. Fort Sungard and Broken Tower Redoubt are both fortifications to explore, and two Orc Strongholds (Mor Khazgur and Dushnikh Yal) are also here for you to find. To the northeast is Hjaalmarch, but the majority of the Reach borders Whiterun; once you step into the flat Tundra plains, you know you've left the Reach.

Lore: City Overview

Markarth is an epic canyon city built eons ago by dwarven stonewrights in the Druvadach Mountains. It is a defensive fortification constructed around the underground city of Nchuand-Zel.

Primitive Reachmen were the first to repopulate the sprawling city after the dwarves' disappearance. Hundreds of years later, Markarth is in a state of turmoil stemming from what some historians (and Nord nationalists) call "the Markarth Incident."

In 4E 174, at the height of the Great War, a tribe of native Reachmen called the Forsworn took advantage of the Empire's desperate straits by launching an open rebellion, wresting control of Markarth and declaring their independence from Skyrim. This was seen as a stab in the back by both the Empire and more radical Nord elements, but the Forsworn were left unchallenged for a time.

Two years later, in a short but very bloody war, Nord irregulars invaded the Reach and drove the Forsworn from Markarth. The Nords were led by the most vociferous adherents to Talos (whose worship had been outlawed by the terms of the White-Gold Concordat that ended the Great War), who claimed that they had been promised freedom of worship within the Reach in return for their help in retaking the Hold.

While true, this secret agreement violated the terms of the treaty. Shortly thereafter, the Thalmor ambassador arrived in the Imperial City to confront the Emperor. Faced with the threat of a second war, the Emperor was forced to send the Imperial Legion to back the Thalmor Justiciars.

The Nords refused to back down, and many were arrested or imprisoned. The Markarth Incident was a large step toward the eventual Civil War.

Aside from conflict and power struggles, Markarth is the center of silver mining in Skyrim. The city is a contrast between the beauty of its architecture, based on its dwarven heritage and the wealth of its silver mines, and the squalor and grime of the mining operation. Markarth simmers with tension between the ruling Nords and the native Reachmen who work the mines. Meanwhile, the surviving Forsworn hide in the hills, terrorizing the Reach and waiting for an opportunity to strike.

Important Areas of Interest

1) CITY GATES

The only way to enter Markarth (until you've visited Understone Keep and can Fast-Travel there) is to step through the giant dwarven doors. However, you can use the rocks to the north or the river to the south, and sneak into the guardhouse from either of these side entrances. There are some covered battlements from which the guards look out across the Reach and two watchtowers, one of which forms the side of the stables.

Crafting: Workbench

HIGHSIDE

Located on the spur's north side, behind and above the market, Highside is where the most prominent members of the city (besides the Jarl and his advisors) live and work, mingling with the lower classes who stagger around the canal streets during let-out time at the Silver-Blood Inn.

2) MARKETPLACE

Endon

Kerah

Adara

Hogni Red-Arm

An open-air market near the city gate, the Marketplace is where you'll watch a brazen Forsworn named Weylin attack one of the street traders (Margaret), meet Eltrys, and begin Side Quest: The Forsworn Conspiracy. One of the stalls has several necklaces to steal. Search Margaret's corpse for the key to her room inside the Silver-Blood Inn.

3) ARNLEIF AND SONS TRADING COMPANY

Lisbet
Imedhnain
Cosnach

Another of the ancient Markarth trading houses, this dwelling adjacent to the market functions as the general store for Markarth. Currently run by the widow Lisbet, the trading company has fallen on hard times due to the Forsworn situation.

4) SILVER-BLOOD INN

Kleppr
Frabbi
Hroki and Hreinn
Ogmund

The Silver-Blood Inn is a relatively successful establishment considering the problems Markarth is facing and is perhaps the most welcoming of Markarth's social dwellings. It is comprised of a central bar and roaring fire, with rentable rooms on either side.

Hire Vorstag to aid you in your adventures here, learn eloquence from Ogmund, and beckon Kleppr to ask him for the latest rumor around town and beyond. His wife, Frabbi, is a little more crabby. Search the rooms for , a few coins, and books. Continue Side Quest: The Forsworn Conspiracy by searching the only rented room that is locked (Adept), which belonged to the deceased Margaret. There's a journal in the end table that helps your progress.

6) THE TREASURY HOUSE

Thonar Silver-Blood
Betrid

This is an impressive building befitting one of Markarth's most important families, who take charge of the Reach should it fall into Stormcloaks hands (Thongvor will move to Understone Keep with Reburus and Yngvar, while Thonar, Betrid, Kolgrim, and the servants will remain in Treasury House). This family mansion of the Silver-Blood clan is the most elaborate dwelling in Markarth and also functions as a bank. It is where a frightening Forsworn insurrection is mounted during Side Quest: The Forsworn Conspiracy. Inside, a Skill Book rests on a stone shelf at the foot of the stairs. Behind the counter is a locked gate (Expert), behind which are some ingots and a safe. The rooms to the southeast are where the servants sleep. The locked door (Apprentice) to the northwest leads to Thonar's private chambers.

7) ENDON'S HOUSE

This is a small but well-appointed house where Endon and Kerah work as silversmiths, along with their daughter Adara. One of them sells their wares in the market during the day. The shop contains a number of fine necklaces to steal.

9) NEPOS'S HOUSE

Nepos the Nose
Uaile and Morven
Tynan

Nepos administers Cidhna Mine and the smelter. He's rather wealthy, for a native, and is collaborating with both the Silver-Bloods and Madanach in Side Quest: The Forsworn Conspiracy. His home consists of a large fireplace and a large feasting room with two tables. To the rear of the property are the bedrooms.

This is a cliff house in the upper part of the city. The Vlindrels were a Colovian merchant family. During the Reachmen Rebellion, the Markarth Vlindrels were driven out, and their former mansion has stood empty ever since.

The other main structure atop the Crag is the ancient Temple of Dibella. There is a Shrine of Dibella where you can get a Blessing Sybil's Antechamber: where the High Priestess sleeps. An Inner Sanctum (Locked: Expert) is where only women are allowed to go.

A small number of priestesses wander the temple grounds. Inside the Sanctum, more priestesses pray and seek sensual contemplation, including Hamal, who is an exceptional enchantress.

Aside from books (including a Skill Book on a shelf), ingredients, and a variety of trinkets, the following offerings are to be found. The door at the far end of the Inner Sanctum leads to an altar, where Dibella's fetish is prayed to and offerings are made.

13) SHRINE OF TALOS

This is a relatively grand chapel. During Imperial control, it will be deserted and "closed," but even the Thalmor know not to desecrate this place for fear of fueling the rebellion. The shrine functions again if the Stormcloaks seize control. Eltrys usually hides out here.

Shrine of Talos [6/17]

14) RIVERSIDE

This section of Markarth encompasses the area along the river, near the smelter, on the south side of the central spur. Reachmen laborers of Markarth live here; mainly they work in the smelter but are also maids and servants in other parts of the city. There's a slight feeling of despair cloaking the already-dirty air.

15) SMELTER AND SMELTER OVERSEER'S HOUSE

Mulush gro-Shugurz

The smelter is by the river, for all your ingot-creation needs. Above the smelter, by some half-hidden steps at the waterfall, is the locked entrance to Mulush's dwelling.

16) THE STOCKS AND DUCKING CAGE

For those who are unwilling or unable to work in Cidhna Mine to pay for their crimes, Markarth has another solution. The Stocks and Ducking Cage stands right outside the entrance to the mine, a reminder of the fate of any criminals who don't work or who talk back to their overseers. This can result in humiliation or death. Fortunately, you don't suffer either; you're put to work in the mines if you commit a crime in the Reach!

17) THE WARRENS

Degaine
Hathrasil
Omluag
Eltrys
Garvey

Weylin
Dryston

Most of the poor in Markarth live in the Warrens, an old crypt with run-down chambers for the poorest of the city's residents. Aside from the chambers that have suffered a cave-in, all six rooms are locked (Novice), and good practice for your Lockpicking skill.

Only Weylin's room has anything more than a few pieces of food in it; there is a chest inside with a Note important for Side Quest: The Forsworn Conspiracy.

This silver mine (Cidhna means “silver” in the Reach dialect) is the primary source of Markarth’s wealth. It is also a prison where criminals work off their sentences. Many of the prisoners here are Forsworn, imprisoned for life after the Nords recaptured the city. The mine is owned and operated by the powerful Silver-Blood clan.

A) DOOR TO MARKARTH

Urzoga gra-Shugurz and her Silver-Blood Guards patrol this area, which is usually off-limits to visitors. The main mine to the south has already been excavated and is sealed off.

5) CAMPFIRE

The large hub room has exits out of the mine, to the two tunnel areas. The entrance to Madanach’s Quarters are guarded by Borkul the Beast and a moping man named Uraccen who usually sits by the fire.

6) SOUTH TUNNEL

Mining occurs in these parts.

7) NORTH TUNNEL

Mining is coming to an end, and this area is home to more addicts than miners.

9) MADANACH’S QUARTERS (LOCKED: REQUIRES KEY)

The leader of the Forsworn Resistance is holed up in impressive surroundings given his imprisonment. He is the key to the Forsworn cause, during Side Quest: No One Escapes Cidhna Mine.

B) DOOR TO MARKARTH RUINS

This is only accessible during Side Quest: No One Escapes Cidhna Mine.

19) MARKARTH RUINS (LOCKED: REQUIRES KEY)

Part of an ancient dwarven city, these ruins have been slowly collapsing during earthquakes. No one ventures into these parts, due to the instability of the area and reports of mechanical monstrosities guarding the place. The only place with any items of worth is a ruined two-floor chamber with pipes and a dwarven automaton or two guarding. This area is used during Side Quest: No One Escapes Cidhna Mine. It connects Cidhna Mine to Markarth (Riverside).

23) UNDERSTONE KEEP

The following leaders of Markarth are loyal to the Imperials at the start of the Civil War.

Jarl Igmund

Raerek (Steward)

Faleen (Housecarl)

Legate Emmanuel Admand

Thongvor Silver-Blood

Reburrus Quintilius (Steward)

Yngvar (Housecarl)

Calcelmo (Court wizard)

Aicantar

Anton Virane

Rondach and Voad

Blacksmith: Moth gro-Bagol

Ondolemar

Jarl Igmund

Jarl Igmund, son of Hrolfdir and nephew of Raerek, recently took the throne when Hrolfdir was killed in battle with the Forsworn. Igmund is an Imperial supporter (some might say a puppet) and holds court all day and eats and sleeps in the Keep. He sits upon the Mournful Throne, a relic and seat of power famous for centuries across the Reach.

Raerek (Steward)

Igmund's Steward and successor manages the household, serves as the treasurer, and commands the palace guard.

Unique Item: Raerek's Inscribed Amulet of Talos [48/112]

Faleen (Housecarl)

She is completely loyal and very competent. She was Igmund's father's Housecarl and managed to escape from the ambush with the gravely wounded Igmund, although she blames herself for not being able to do more. As a result, she is almost paranoid about Igmund's security and will rarely allow him out of her sight.

Legate Emmanuel Admand

The following residents of Markarth arrive to take control once this Hold has fallen during the Civil War.

Thongvor Silver-Blood

Thongvor is the head of the Silver-Blood family, who controls the majority of Markarth's wealth. More involved in politics and Ulfric's rebellion, Thongvor leaves the business operations of the family to his brother Thonar.

Reburrus Quintilius (Steward)

Reburrus Quintilius is the steward to Thongvor. His family has served as the chief financial and political advisors to the Silver-Blood family for generations, and Reburrus has distilled the wisdom of the generations to a fine art.

Yngvar (Housecarl)

The huge housecarl to the Silver-Blood family, Yngvar has a reputation for cheerful brutality. He is completely loyal to the Silver-Blood clan and loves his job. He particularly loves it when he can beat someone to a pulp. But he is also surprisingly cultured; he attended the Bard's College as a youth, until he found better employment using his other talents.

The following citizens are staff of Understone Keep:

Calcelmo (Court wizard)

Calcelmo is here in order to study the Dwemer ruins in and around the city. He views his duties as the castle mage as a distraction from his main scholarly interest. He is completely uninterested (and mainly unaware) of politics. He has been quite put out by the Forsworn situation, which has prevented him from doing his usual wide-ranging travels. He is secretly in love with Faleen, although he has never told anyone else or done anything about it.

Trader (Spell Vendor): Calcelmo [9/12]

Aicantar

Aicantar is Calcelmo's assistant and nephew. He is less than enthused by his uncle's plans to study more dangerous Dwemer Ruins and prefers they spend time studying spells and enchanting. Aicantar is aware of Calcelmo's secret love for Faleen but is unlikely to do anything about it directly. Faleen scares Aicantar, and the thought of her being around the laboratory more makes him nervous.

Anton Virane

Anton is a genuine Breton from High Rock in a city of Reachmen, a fact that constantly annoys him (because everyone assumes he's a Reachman). He is particularly bigoted toward Reachmen. He is an excellent cook, though, which is why the Jarl continues to tolerate him.

Rondach and Voad

Moth gro-Bagol

Trader (Blacksmith): Moth gro-Bagol [12/33]

Ondolemar

Ondolemar is the head of the Thalmor Justiciars in Markarth, and a prime example of why most folk hate the Thalmor. Ondolemar is completely confident in the Dominion's ultimate victory over the Empire. He's a Thalmor true believer, and is not here if the Stormcloaks take this city during the Civil War.

Understone Keep is a gigantic dwarven structure, now used as the city's castle. Built by the Dwemer into the western wall of the canyon, the Castle Wizard, Calcelmo, has recently uncovered additional chambers (and worrying underground monstrosities) and a wealth of artifacts that he keeps in his museum. The sheer size of this place and ability to be well guarded negates some of the instability the location has recently suffered from.

UNDERSTONE KEEP (INTERIOR): ENTRANCE TO THE MOURNFUL THRONE

The first time you enter via the main doors, Thongvor Silver-Blood is having a heated discussion with Brother Verulus about the worship of the outlawed deity, Talos. At this huge intersection of stone and fire, head left to Nchuand-Zel's entrance, right to the Dwemer Museum or on to meet the Jarl, who is guarded by both Markarth Guards and Thalmor Soldiers. Jarl Igmund sits on the Mournful Throne, usually with his Steward and Housecarl by him.

Outside, on the upper top of the stairs where Ondolemar and his guards like to stride about, are two stone tables. The one to the right (northwest) houses a Skill Book.

Skill Book [Alteration]: Daughter of the Niben [B1/10]

KITCHENS

To the left (south) of the throne room are the kitchens. The two hounds around here are large but friendly. Inside, you usually find Voadia and Rondach and the short-tempered Anton Virane. As expected, there's a massive amount of food in here.

JARL'S CHAMBER (LOCKED: ADEPT)

Igmund rests here, behind the large golden door to the left (southeast) of the throne room. If you're going to sift through his personal belongings, remember to try the ones on the stone shelf facing the subterranean river that dominates the rear of the chamber.

Skill Book [Conjuration]: The Warrior's Charge [E1/10]

You are trespassing if you head into this area! To the right (northwest) are bedrooms for the more important members of the Jarl's counsel. Faleen's room (sometimes locked: Adept) is to the right, with the large dinner table, a Key to Markarth Keep that opens the two other nearby doors, and the Jarl's Quarters. Raerek (sometimes locked: Adept) houses the steward, a Key, and his secret Talos-loving reading materials. Up the stairs is a third room (sometimes locked: Apprentice) leading to the Imperial War Room, where Legate Emmanuel Admand is overseeing the Civil War in this territory.

DWEMER MUSEUM (LOCKED: ADEPT)

The Dwemer Museum showcases Calcelmo's collection of artifacts recovered from ruins across Skyrim. Only three guards patrol this area, keeping watch for intruders. This space is normally off-limits—the guards will aggressively arrest you if you trespass here—but you can get Calcelmo's permission to visit the museum in any number of ways; see Thieves Guild Quest: Hard Answers for details.

The Museum has the finest collection of Dwarven artifacts (weapons, armor, items, and books) in the entirety of Skyrim and the highest concentration of locked containers in any area of the game. There's even a small selection of Falmer items. To the south is a gate (Apprentice) leading to a small workshop with an Unusual Gem and locked chest (Expert). To the northwest is a locked gate (Adept) to a two-level storage room. Up the steps to the west is the laboratory door.

CALCELMO'S LABORATORY

This area is the main living and research quarters for Calcelmo and Aicantar, although they typically spend most of their time in the Keep, closer to the Nchuand-Zel Entrance. Most of this area is locked unless you're on Thieves Guild Quest: Hard Answers; see that quest for an exhaustive walkthrough of quest events in this space.

The laboratory is divided into a number of chambers. The Entry Room has oil on the floor, a dart trap, and a gate you can't normally open to the southeast.

Danger! Dart Trap, Oil Pool Trap

Unique Weapon: Spider Control Rod [30/80] (quest only)

The Throne Chamber consists of a main room with a raised throne and guard. Dwarven junk (or is it research?) is scattered around, along with several traps you can activate. To the northwest is Calcelmo's bedroom, which has some display cases (Apprentice) and scrolls to steal. To the south is Aicantar's bedroom and food preparation area.

Danger! Dwarven Ballista Trap, Dwarven Thresher Trap, Swinging Wall Trap

Display Case (Apprentice)

You cannot progress beyond the Throne door without a key, which you can only find during Thieves Guild Quest: Hard Answers.

Beyond the Throne Room is the Steam Hall. There's little to search for, except a few corpses of fallen foes. The valve at the far end activates the thresher traps in the floor, ideally against enemies following you.

Danger! Dwarven Thresher Trap, Poison Gas Trap

Next is the Statue Room, whose exit is flanked by two Dwarven Spheres. There are two side chambers here; take advantage of the guard's patrol to slip through the door when he steps away from it.

And finally, you emerge into a large workroom. The valve in the control booth sets off a frightening number of traps in the room that will send even the most stout-hearted guard running for cover. This area has the following items and two exits.

MARKARTH WIZARDS' BALCONY

The great balcony atop the keep connects Calcelmo's laboratory to his tower, a separate structure off the main body of the Keep. There's a great view of the city from here. One section of the balcony wall has broken away, exposing a path around the cliffside that ends in a waterfall. If you were in a hurry, you might just be able to jump from here.

CALCELMO'S TOWER (LOCKED: REQUIRES KEY)

The tower (accessible only during Thieves Guild Quest: Hard Answers) has a lower-level entry hall, an upper-level office, and a massive stone relic containing a text in Dwemer and Falmer on the same granite slab! This stone is the key to Calcelmo's current research, a secret he jealously protects.

NCHUAND-ZEL ENTRANCE

The epic cavern is usually where Calcelmo and Aicantar can be found, dedicating their lives to researching this mighty dwarven stronghold of historic significance. When you emerge from the entrance cavern close to the throne room, you are greeted by a rushing river, various curved passageways, and circular towers (one with seats to sit on and gaze down at the rushing water), as well as an entrance to the Hall of the Dead. Of more significance is the entrance to Nchuand-Zel itself. Enter here, either before speaking to Calcelmo (Locked: Adept) or after acquiring the key and agreeing to slay a large spider for him (Miscellaneous Objective: Neutralizing Nimhe*).

[5.P] Shrine of Zenithar: Four Skull Lookout

West of Four Skull Lookout, over the rise of the hill, is a narrow stone balcony leading to a small Shrine to Zenithar. A few offerings are available, but the main reason to visit is the blessing you receive. Fall off here, and you're likely to die.

Shrine of Zenithar [2/5]

[5.Q] Brush Strongbox: Riverside

Close to the chiming Nirnroot, just northeast of the long protruding rocks in the river, the bank rises slightly, and a collection of dead brush makes a less-than-competent hiding spot for a small dagger and strongbox.

Strongbox (Adept)

[5.R] Lost Treasure: Purewater Run

North of Purewater Run, on the south riverbank just east of where the two waterfalls meet but before the last waterfall cascades down toward the bridge, is a long-forgotten treasure chest.

Chest

[5.S] Forsworn Camp: Reachwater River

Follow the road west past Reachwater Rock until you see this small Forsworn Camp on the hill to the south. As you approach, two soldiers (Imperials or Stormcloaks, depending on who controls the Reach) attack the camp. Join in the assault, and they'll thank you for the help. Then loot the four tents and corpses, finding a Skill Book in a wooden bucket in one of the tents

Skill Book [Block]: Death Blow of Abernanit

Chest

Satchel

[5.T] Dragon Mound: Karthspire Bluffs

Related Quest: Main Quest: Alduin's Wall

This Dragon Mound is initially sealed. It opens during Main Quest: Alduin's Wall. If you visit during or after this point in the Main Quest, the resurrected dragon will likely be circling overhead. Challenge it on the high bluff near the mound, or lure to attack the nearby Forsworn camp at Karthspire Redoubt.

[5.U] Reachman's Altar: Red Eagle Redoubt

Among the rocks and scrub southeast (and downhill) of Red Eagle Redoubt is a clifftop promontory with the ruined remains of an old altar and a throne, along with a chest and bird's nest.

Chest

[5.V] Lovers' Camp

Two corpses lie in this remote camp, having been savaged by a wild animal. Kill the beast, then search Karan's body for a journal. It seems she was eloping with her lover, Talvur. The journal hints at a treasure nearby; search the tree stump behind the tent for a knapsack and some items. If you leave the camp and return later, you'll find that someone else (perhaps Karan's father?) has passed this way: The camp has been cleaned up, the bodies buried, and a Shrine to Mara has been erected to commemorate their love.

*Shrine of Mara [4/5]
Apothecary's Satchel

[5.W] River Rapids Treasure Chest

West of Old Hroldan, after the waterfall has cascaded and where the river runs quick and a small island has formed around the rapids is a locked wooden treasure chest to pry open.

Chest (Locked: Apprentice)

[5.X] Reachwind Burial Mound

Follow the path south from Dushnikh Yal as it curves around to the east, and head left at the junction to the hilltop, into which an ancient burial mound has been dug. At the bottom are a few outstretched skeletal arms and a chest.

Chest

[5.Y] Forsworn Camp: Gloomreach Pathway

Journey along the winding path from the main road by the river, toward Gloomreach, and you'll encounter a small cliffside Forsworn camp with two foes to defeat or sneak past.

[5.Z] Shrine of Dibella: Bridge at Old Hroldan

Cross the bridge spanning the rushing river, and you can stop to receive a blessing at this roadside Shrine to Dibella. You may not be the only pilgrim; one or more hunters can often be found resting here as well. Steal the offerings if you wish, but beware if there are hunters nearby, as they will take offense at this sacrilege.

Shrine of Dibella [5/8]

[5.AA] Juniper Tree Ruins

If you follow the dirt trail through the southernmost part of the Reach, you can find this small ruin perched near the edge of the bluff. Pick through the rubble to find a chest and Skill Book. Weather permitting, there's a great view from the edge of the cliff—just watch your step.

Skill Book [Enchanting]: Enchanter's Primer
Chest

[5.AB] Cradle Stone Crag

In the hills to the east of Valthume, you can find this animal den set into the mountains. When you approach, you'll see two trolls fighting for territory. Watch their fight play out, then move in to kill the survivor before he can recover. The ironically named Frofnir Trollsbane lies dead in this den. Search his twisted corpse for an excellent Troll-slaughtering weapon!
Unique Weapon: Trollsbane [38/80]

7.1 Whiterun Hold: Overview and Services

Topographical Overview

Whiterun Hold, named for the fortress city in the eastern part of its vast Tundra plain, is the most centrally located of the nine Holds. Roads are numerous and well maintained, and visibility across the plains is excellent.

This Hold is relatively flat, surrounded by the mountains of the Reach to the west, Hjaalmarch and the Pale to the north, and Falkreath to the south. However, Whiterun's southeastern corner is dominated by the gigantic and soaring Throat of the World—the highest mountain in all of Tamriel. It is here that many climb the 7,000 steps to High Hrothgar, home to the mysterious and reclusive Greybeards.

ROUTES AND PATHWAYS

Whiterun is certainly one of the most well-tracked Holds, with main roads and excellent access west to the Reach, with a border road north through the town of Rorikstead and up toward Dragon Bridge.

The Tundra plains have a number of odd barrows and giant camps to investigate, and the center is dominated by Fort Greymoor. The road here allows you to travel north, up through the mountains to reach the dreaded Labyrinthian in Hjaalmarch.

Farther east is Whiterun and the roaring White River and town of Riverwood on the southern border with Falkreath. Another road stretches north from here, into the wilds of the Pale.

There's yet another road that skirts the northern foothills of the Throat of the World, following White River valley into Eastmarch.

And although the first of the 7,000 steps that pilgrims take to reach the summit of the Throat of the World begins in Ivarstead (in the Rift), the actual mountain lies within Whiterun's domain.

However, only those possessing a Thu'um (Shout) powerful enough to impress the Greybeards of High Hrothgar will be allowed to finish the journey to the summit.

Lore: City Overview

(click here to view an interactive version of this map)

Whiterun is seen as the most “pure” Nordic city in Skyrim. In Whiterun, Nords live as they have for centuries: their lives are simple, harsh, and rooted in ancient traditions. Even the city’s fortifications—wooden and stone palisade walls and the sheer defensive advantage offered by its position on a large bluff that raises the city above the surrounding Tundra—are archaic by contemporary standards. So while Windhelm may serve as the Stormcloaks’ center of operations in the Civil War, it is the culture of Whiterun that best exemplifies what it means to be a “True Nord.”

Whiterun is located on the eastern end of its Hold, a cold and windy Tundra that fills the center of Skyrim. It was constructed around the Companions’ hall of Jorrvaskr, which, centuries ago, was the sole structure on the mountain. Now, Whiterun is a large city, albeit one that retains the feel of a smaller Nord village.

When approaching Whiterun, the towering fortress of Dragonsreach dominates the view. Its history can be traced back to the First Era, when King Olaf One-Eye subdued the great dragon Numinex in a legendary duel of Thu’ums atop Mount Anthon, and brought him back to the fledgling town as a captive. It was then that the magnificent keep was rebuilt and renamed to serve as a cage for Numinex, whose head still adorns the Great Hall.

Important Areas of Interest

1) CITY GATES AND DRAWBRIDGE

The winding stone path that leads from the outer gate to the drawbridge and to the entrance to the Main Gate is designed to keep marauders at bay. The drawbridge is open and utilized in the Civil War Quests.

PLAINS DISTRICT

This is the first district any visitor to Whiterun enters, so named because it is the lowest of the three and therefore closest to the plains outside the city. It contains all the major merchants and the marketplace.

2) MAIN GATE AND GUARD BARRACKS (WEST)

Persuade, bribe, or otherwise insist that the guard lets you into Whiterun the first time you reach these gates. There is a small guard barracks just over the bridge and a couple of Alik'r Warriors (Side Quest: In My Time of Need) you can speak to. Explore the rushing canal water under the bridge or the platform on top of the guard barracks roof if you wish. Inside, there's little but food and Nordic pottery to steal.

Chest

3) THE DRUNKEN HUNTSMAN

Anoriath

Elrindir

Nazeem

Ahlam

The Drunken Huntsman is a unique shop specializing in the needs of hunters. It sells bows, arrows, clothing, suits of armor, and anything else that may be useful to those who stalk Skyrim's game. But the establishment is also set up as a small bar, and customers can buy a small selection of alcoholic drinks, including a specially made Wood Elven wine.

The shop is run by the Wood Elf brothers Anoriath and Elrindir. Jenassa the Hireling is to be found here, too. There's also a Skill Book behind the counter. Check the back bedroom on the ground floor near the central cooking spit for a chest and strongbox. Upstairs is a single bedroom with an empty chest.

4) SEVERIO PELAGIA'S HOUSE

Severio Pelagia

Nestled above the market is the residence of Severio Pelagia, who owns the Pelagia Farm just outside Whiterun's walls. Aside from a cooking pot and some delicious long taffy treat, there's very little worth stealing in this single-floor dwelling, which has a small bedroom and office on either side of the main dining area and fire pit.

5) MARKETPLACE

Carlotta Valentia

Brenuin

Fralia Gray-Mane

The Whiterun Marketplace rivals the Bannered Mare as the most popular congregation spot in Whiterun. It is open during the day and closed at night.

When the marketplace is open, stalls sell various items, including fresh fruits and vegetables. The stalls are run by Carlotta Valentia (fruits and vegetables), Fralia Gray-Mane (trinkets and jewelry), and Anoriah (fresh meat).

6) THE BANNED MARE

Hulda

Mikael
Uthgerd the Unbroken
Sinmir

The Bannered Mare is Whiterun's most popular gathering place, a tavern and inn that offers cold mead, fresh food, and a warm and welcoming fire. Its sign is that of a majestic horse carrying a banner.

Hulda, the publican, is fond of telling the story of the horse, which belonged to a Nord king who died in battle; the king may have died, but his favorite filly carried his banner still, inspiring the leader's warriors to victory.

The building has a central tavern area and a side kitchen with a business ledger and strongbox near the roasting spit. To the rear of the main bar area is a small bedroom and office where shady deals may be done. There are two sets of steps to separate bedroom areas.

8) ARCADIA'S CAULDRON

Arcadia

Arcadia's Cauldron is Whiterun's apothecary. It sells potions and potion ingredients of all kinds and is probably the most respected of the city's non-Nord-owned businesses.

Aside from the goods she sells, she is an excellent trainer. Check the office at the back of the store for a Skill Book and the locked door (Adept) next to the lab; this leads to the area under the stairs and a chest. Upstairs is a landing balcony overlooking the shop and a cooking pot.

9) YSOLDA'S HOUSE

Ysolda

The young maid Ysolda lives in this house, making handcrafted goods that she hopes to sell. She is currently selling her goods to the Khajiit caravans, raising money to buy a shop of her own. Her dwelling is modest, locked, and has no loot to speak of, although there's a bowl of impressive potatoes.

Shadowmark: "Empty"

Marriage Prospect: Ysolda [28/62]

10) BELETHOR'S GENERAL GOODS

Belethor

The Wood Elf owner Belethor will buy and sell just about anything, and he's got a fair collection of items that could best be categorized as junk. From tomatoes to troll skulls, there's something here to steal, and a Skill Book on one of the shelves.

In the back is a kitchen, and upstairs is a balcony, bed, and ledger with a strongbox.

11) OLAVA THE FEEBLE'S HOUSE

Olava the Feeble

Besides being a seer, Olava is also something of a hermit. She rarely leaves her house, and her residence is usually locked. Inside, there's a small table with a Petty Soul Gem and a setup for a reading, but otherwise the place is devoid of valuables.

12) BREEZEHOME (HOUSE FOR SALE)

This dwelling is currently empty. Should you become the Thane of Whiterun (by completing Main Quest: Dragon Rising), you can purchase this abode from Jarl Balgruuf the Greater's Steward, Proventus Avenicci. Consult the Thane Quests for more information.

13) WARMAIDEN'S

Adrienne Avenicci
Ulfberth War-Bear

This is the house and shop of Adrienne Avenicci and features a number of smithing locations, which is handy to use if you've purchased the adjacent Breezehome or you've entered the city.

Inside, speak to Ulfberth War-Bear (or Adrienne, who also sells items) if you're interested in buying anything. Behind the counter is a door to a small kitchen and side exit. Upstairs is a landing overlooking the shop.

WIND DISTRICT

The Wind District is where most of Whiterun's residential buildings (including the mead hall Jorrvaskr) are located and was named because of the strong mountain winds that gust through the area.

14)15) GILDERGREEN TREE AND TEMPLE OF KYNARETH

Danica Pure-Spring

Acolyte Jenssen

Maurice Jondrelle

The Temple of Kynareth is a tall wooden building with a central praying chamber. The sick and weary gather here, and Acolyte Jenssen and Danica Pure-Spring cast their healing spells.

To the sides are an office stocked with books (one of them being a Skill Book found on a shelf) and a chest and a waiting area with an empty strongbox. The temple is receiving a steady flow of pilgrims, but these have started to wane as the ancient Gildergreen Tree in the main exterior gathering place and thoroughfare has begun to die.

Harbinger: Kodlak Whitemane

The Circle: Aela the Huntress; Farkas, brother of Vilkas; Vilkas, brother of Farkas; Skjor, the scarred

Member: Athis, Njada Stonearm, Ria, Torvar, Vignar the Revered

Housekeeper: Tilma the Haggard

Blacksmith: Eorlund Gray-Mane

Jorrvaskr is the ancient and honored mead hall that has served as headquarters of the mercenary company the Companions for untold generations.

According to local legend, Jorrvaskr is actually the oldest building in all of Whiterun and once existed by itself on the mountain, with the other buildings the town being built up around it over the centuries.

Jorrvaskr is a place of honor and courage, and to walk into the hall is to proclaim, "I am a warrior and will die as I lived—in glorious battle!" The mead hall is also the place where you may join the Companions as a Shield-Brother or Sister. The exterior of the building features two front doors and a rear outside dining and training area.

Inside, the main floor is dominated by the mead hall and fire pit. A Skill Book rests on a low shelf here. At one end of the hall is a sparring area, and around the sides are various shelves stocked with books and food. The door at the north end leads to a bedroom with another chest.

The stairs at the south end lead down to the living quarters. Displayed on the wall here are the pieces of Wuuthrad, a powerful weapon wielded by their founder, Ysgramor. Check Kodlak Whitemane's bedroom chambers to find an Unusual Gem that pertains to Side Quest: No Stone Unturned.

19) SKYFORGE AND THE UNDERFORGE

The Skyforge is the great forge used by Eorlund Gray-Mane to craft his masterful weapons, shields, and armor. It got its name due to the fact that it's a large, ancient forge, located outside on a mountain, close to the sky. The forge is large, and unlike most forges is rather ornate. It is in the shape of an eagle, with wings spreading out from each side. Eorlund is happy to train and trade his wares with you, but only after you join the Companions.

Underneath the Skyforge is a hidden area known as the Underforge, where those welcomed into the Circle of the Companions observe a special blood ritual. This is only accessible during the Companions quest line. You can return here to deliver or utilize Totems.

20) HOUSE GRAY-MANE

Olfina the Golden

Avulstein Gray-Mane

House Gray-Mane is the residence of Eorlund Gray-Mane and his children. It is a large, solid house, built by Eorlund over 35 years earlier. Recently, due to their differing stances on the Civil War, Clan Gray-Mane has bad relations with Clan Battle-Born, with whom they had always been friendly before the conflict started.

Jon Battle-Born and Olfina the Golden are said to be in love, but the families certainly do not approve of such activities. Outside the house is a small paddock with a cow. Inside the house is a central fire pit and dining area, with a small entrance alcove and Avulstein's bedroom. Upstairs is a landing and two bedrooms with some books and valuables (usually necklaces) lying around.

24) HOUSE OF CLAN BATTLE-BORN

Olfrid Battle-Born
Bergritte Battle-Born
Idolaf Battle-Born
Jon Battle-Born
Alfhild Battle-Born
Lars Battle-Born

This large house holds three generations of the equally large Clan Battle-Born. This warrior family—owners of the Battle-Born Farm outside Whiterun—has lived in the city for centuries; their ties to Skyrim and the ancient Nord ways cannot be disputed.

The Clan has come out vocally in support of the pro-Imperial forces in the ongoing Civil War. Recently, due to their differing stances on the Civil War, Clan Battle-Born has bad relations with Clan Gray-Mane, with whom they had always been friendly before the conflict started.

The rear door is usually unlocked, while the front door isn't (Novice). Inside, the ground floor is one large chamber with a cooking spit and dining table dominating the area.

To the northwest is Olfrid's bedroom, which has some valuables on display (including a Skill Book) and a locked door (Adept) leading to a small office with books and an Imperial Missive, useful during Side Quest: Missing in Action. These catacombs contain generations of Whiterun's dead, including the bodies of some of Skyrim's most honored departed—and not quite departed. There is also graveyard outside.

Cloud District

The Cloud District is the smallest of Whiterun's three districts. It was so named because it is located atop the mountain Whiterun was built on and is therefore closer to the clouds than any other. It is dominated by the imposing form of Dragonsreach.

26) DRAGONSREACH

The following leaders of Whiterun are loyal to the Imperials at the start of the Civil War.

Jarl Balgruuf the Greater

Balgruuf believes that Skyrim should remain a part of the Empire. This has become something of a confusing situation for the people of Skyrim, many of whom are decidedly anti-Empire. Balgruuf embodies the very best of what it is to be a Nord, but at the same time he supports the Empire's presence. This has actually caused some of these same anti-Empire residents of Whiterun to at least reconsider their thinking. After all, if Balgruuf the Greater supports the Empire, then maybe they are the key to Skyrim's future. Balgruuf is very close to his younger brother Hrongar.

Hrongar

Hrongar is Balgruuf's younger brother and is something of a warmonger. He believes his brother should organize Imperial forces and wipe out any Stormcloaks presence in Whiterun Hold. Hrongar divides his time among a few activities, most notably advising (and sometimes arguing with) his brother Balgruuf and practicing with his sword and axe against the town guard.

Frothar

Dagny

Nelkir

Farengar Secret-Fire (Court Wizard)

Farengar serves the Jarl because of duty, but Farengar has no interest in the Civil War and certainly has no love for the Empire. He is dedicated to the College of Winterhold and furthering the cause of magical research. So as long as he is able to maintain his laboratory and keep up his research, he really doesn't care what the Jarl believes.

Proventus Avenicci (Steward)

Proventus essentially tells Balgruuf whatever he wants to hear and is a politician through and through. In other words, Proventus is completely inept as a Steward. The only reason he's been able to achieve any manner of success and keep his position is because his daughter Adrienne is tactically brilliant and has been telling her father what to tell the Jarl.

Irileth (Housecarl)

Irileth is unusual for a Housecarl: She's female, a Dark Elf, and doesn't fit the role of muscle-bound protector. But that doesn't make her any less effective. Irileth is actually a skilled assassin, trained in Morrowind by the Morag Tong. She met Balgruuf several years prior and the two became fast friends and adventuring companions.

Commander Caius

The following residents arrive to take control of Whiterun, should this Hold fall during the Civil War.

Jarl Vignar Gray-Mane

Vignar was once a general and commander in the Legion during the Great War. He came to Whiterun to retire and be near his brother, the renowned smith Eorlund Gray-Mane. Because of his long experience as a soldier, Vignar holds a place of honor among the Companions, and the group welcomes his council. In the course of the Civil War, Vignar shifted loyalties to his home. He is angry at the Empire for surrendering to the Dominion and feels that Skyrim would be better off on its own, as in the ancient times. When the Stormcloaks control Whiterun, they call on Vignar's experience and wisdom to lead the city as its Jarl.

Brill (Steward)

Brill was once an adventurer who was injured by a Draugr axe a number of years ago. This brush with death left him shaken and broken. He took to drinking, spending much time and coin in the Bannered Mare. It was there he met Vignar, who he befriended. Vignar took Brill into his home, and he's never left.

Olfina Gray-Mane (Housecarl)

When Vignar is called upon to serve as Whiterun's Jarl, he names his niece Olfina as his Housecarl. Willful and determined, Olfina accepts the honorable duty and swears to defend her uncle's life with her own.

Sinmir

Dragonsreach is Whiterun's majestic keep. It was constructed in the ornate wooden style of the great Nord longhouses of old. Visually and politically, it is very much the focal point of the city. As is true of the keeps in other cities, Dragonsreach serves many important functions. There is an ornate bridge leading to the main double doors. Around to the side is an entrance to Dragonsreach Dungeon.

2) KITCHENS

Two large tables and an even bigger fireplace are where the Jarl's servants prepare the feasts of the long table.

EXTERIOR

Before entering the tomb, scale the rocky slope behind it and locate a hidden chest. Then enter the exterior enclosure and speak with a troubled man named Golldir. Agree to help Golldir confront a dangerous necromancer named Vals Veran within the crypt to gain a new quest. Golldir then unlocks the crypt's door.

HILLGRUND'S TOMB (INTERIOR)

Follow Golldir into the crypt. He will accompany you through here. Beware of the first trapped door in the entry passage, and ignite the oily floor behind the second door to help slay a mighty Draugr—or simply avoid the sleeping monster.

Loot a web-covered chest on your way to a bloodsoaked chamber, where you discover the remains of Golldir's poor aunt. Proceed through the west door and loot a chest that lies among the rubble. Sneak through the tight burial passages that follow to skirt pressure plates and avoid waking the resting Draugr.

Find another chest as you creep toward a Draugr-filled chamber. Pull a chain near a Bear glyph here to expose a secret passage, then go through and unlock an Apprentice-level door to access a treasure nook. Open the large north door to confront Vals Veran in a large chamber.

Defeat the foul necromancer to avenge Golldir and obtain a key that opens the nearby door. Raid a chest and collect more plunder on your way out of this unholy place. Golldir will also give you a small reward, and if you speak with him after you exit the tomb, he will agree to be your Follower if you desire.

The highest point in Skyrim, the Throat of the World stands at the apex of Whiterun's towering eastern mountain, which forms the border between its neighboring Hold, Eastmarch.

This site has great significance to the story surrounding the Dragonborn. It is also the place where special snow that never melts can be found—a necessary ingredient for "The White Phial" quest.

But after coming all this way, why stop here? Make your way up the final, rocky slope to reach the summit of the mountain and see all of Skyrim spread out below you.

Just below the peak is a vein of rare Malachite (Glass) ore, and a unique pickaxe is imbedded in the rock way up top—a nice little bonus for completing your epic climb!

Alduin cannot be harmed; he resurrects his brethren and flies off. But confront Nahagliv quickly, or he will attack Rorikstead and wipe out much of the town. Alternatively, you could lure him to the town and use the guards as a distraction to make the battle that much easier.

8.1 Eastmarch: Overview and Services

Topographical Overview

Historians refer to Eastmarch as one of the “old Holds.” Its ancient capital, Windhelm, sits in the northeast of Skyrim, where the White River races toward the Sea of Ghosts.

Windhelm remains the only sizable city in the otherwise determinedly rural Hold of Eastmarch, where the volcanic terrain limits farming and development.

The entire Hold is dominated by sulfur pools where very little grows and seems sunken in compared to the higher elevations of the Rift and the towering Throat of the World.

Most Nords congregate in the north, in and around the granite walls of Windhelm, where Ulfric Stormcloak plans his rebellion against the Empire.

Routes and Pathways

Hold 7

Travelers to this region should be satisfied with the well-maintained roads that connect Windhelm to Winterhold in the north, head across to the Pale and Whiterun to the west, and wind south into the Rift.

The White and Darkwater Rivers combine in this territory, allowing you to find your bearings more easily. These rivers then combine with River Yorgrim at the Windhelm bridge and flow out into Winterhold and the Sea of Ghosts, with Dunmuth Pass to the northeast.

The eastern edge of this Hold (and Skyrim itself) is dominated by the Dunmuth Pass at lower elevations, which merge into the Velothi Mountains; this impenetrable mountain range stretches south into the Rift and shrouds the Orc stronghold of Narzulbur and the hidden dwarven ruins of Mzulft.

To the south, the tumbledown Mistwatch and steep slopes buttressing the Rift dominate the area. More rocky terrain can be found to the southwest and west, toward the foothills of the Throat of the World.

The interior of Eastmarch is a no-man's-land of bubbling sulfur pools, giant camps, crests, slopes, and mines.

Windhelm

Windhelm sits on the northern bank of the White River and is an imposing sight, with its massive ice-covered stone walls. Travelers to the city are greeted by the majestic frozen bridge leading to the main gate, but it is the old Palace of Ysgramor (now known as the Palace of the Kings), towering over all other structures in the city, that truly takes the breath away. The city slopes slightly northward and has different levels of elevation, with the Palace located at the city's highest point, making it even more visible and striking. The streets are packed with snow, giving the city something of a claustrophobic feel; the sky is always white or overcast, and fierce blizzards batter the city with alarming regularity. It is within these snow-strewn streets and icy alleys that Windhelm's inhabitants live, usually with an overriding sense of tension. There's a lot on the minds of the city's residents these days. Skyrim is now in the throes of Civil War, and Jarl Ulfric Stormcloak leads the rebellion against the Empire. The Dark Elves in the Gray Quarter have grown increasingly disillusioned. Dragons have returned to the world and threaten to destroy all of Skyrim. And as if all that weren't bad enough, a mysterious killer has been stalking the snowy streets of Windhelm at night and has already claimed three victims.

Important Areas of Interest

EXTERIOR AND DOCKSIDE

The Docks, located just outside the city walls to the southeast, make up Windhelm's secondary economy. Here, merchants receive raw materials and other goods from all over the Empire, and ship out processed goods and raw materials unique to Skyrim. The Windhelm Docks are also where the East Empire Company has its only office outside of Solitude.

Most of the dockworkers are poor Argonians who live on the docks in a large, ramshackle residence known as the Argonian Assemblage. They are the lowest class in all of Windhelm, and the Docks district is their domain.

1) CITY GATES AND BRIDGE

Windhelm's large fortified main gate serves as the primary means of entry into the city. The bridge leading to the gate from the Stables has side parapets, mostly in disrepair, but offers a good view of the ominous main walls.

Head into the belly of the bridge (there's an interior barracks) to discover a Skill Book resting on a table. You can drop down to the dockside from the right edge of the bridge, by the gate.

2) EAST EMPIRE COMPANY

Orthus Endario

Adelaisa Vendicci (after Side Quest: Rise in the East has started)

The East Empire Company is the well-known Imperial Shipping organization and has spread its influence across Tamriel. A few years prior, the company made its first in-roads in Skyrim by establishing an office and shipping center in Windhelm.

The organization enjoyed a brisk business here, in direct competition with that of Clan Shatter-Shield's, but the office is now closed. It can be reopened as part of Side Quest: Rise in the East; if that happens, business will resume.

STONE QUARTER

The Stone Quarter is Windhelm's central district, the one visitors first enter when passing through the Main Gate into the city. It contains the marketplace and the most important shops and inn.

1) SOUTH GATE

Rolff Stone-Fist

Angrenor Once-Honored

Just inside the main gate are a number of stone steps and thoroughfares around the Candlehearth Hall. Rolff Stone-Fist is ranting his racism against Dark Elf Suvaris Atheron as his lackey Angrenor Once-Honored looks on.

This ugly undercurrent of racial tension clashes with the spectacular and sturdy ancient Nord architecture of this wondrous walled city.

2) EAST GATE

This allows you quick access to and from Docksideroad, and allows you to enter close to the edge of the Gray Quarter.

3) NIRANYE'S HOUSE

Niranye sets up her stall in the Stone Quarter Marketplace selling various goods, including Black-Briar Mead from Riften, fish from the docks, fruits and vegetables she must acquire from some outside contact, and various baubles.

Candlehearth Hall is the city's inn, but to the people of Windhelm, it is much more than that. It is a place of warmth, comfort, and security, where all the troubles of the outside world are drowned away by cold mead.

The inn gets its name from its giant fireplace, with a fire that is constantly attended. On the hearth above the great fire sits a lone candle that was lit 150 years earlier, when the inn was a smaller private residence, to mark the death of the great warrior Vundheim; since that day, the candle has never gone out.

Now, the home is locked up, but rumors around town (including talk from Idesa Sadri and Grimvar Cruel-Sea under the eaves of the house) are that young Aventus is inside—having escaped from the Honorhall Orphanage and returned home—and has gone mad with grief. That's the only reasoning that could explain the strange noises coming from the house at odd hours.

You can get a Blessing at the altar, and the priests sleep behind in the alcove, which has a number of books you might wish to read.

GRAY QUARTER

The Gray Quarter was so named because of the sheer number of Dark Elves who reside here. It was once named the "Snow Quarter," but that was a long time ago. Palace of the Kings

The following people of Windhelm are the leaders of the Stormcloaks at the start of the Civil War:

Ulfric Stormcloak (Jarl)

Ulfric Stormcloak is the leader of the Stormcloaks, who are attempting to make Skyrim independent of the Empire. He fought in the Imperial Legions during the Great War against the Aldmeri Dominion, 20 years ago, distinguishing himself in the battle at the Imperial City, which ended the war in the White-Gold Concordat. In 176, he was one of the key figures in the Markarth Incident. Soon after, he founded the Stormcloaks (initially as an underground group centered around the now-proscribed worship of Talos). He became Jarl of Windhelm after the death of his father Hoag in 183. In 201, he killed the High King of Skyrim in the throne room of the Blue Palace in Solitude, declaring him a lackey of the Empire and no true Nord (the slaying was based on the High King's support for the Empire's policy of suppression of Talos worship). A surprisingly swift and effective response by the Empire (possibly secretly aided by Thalmor informants) led to his arrest along with those of his associates. After escaping death in Helgen, he returned to his throne. Fiery and impetuous, he is a born leader but lacks the cool head of a military strategist. He passionately believes in his cause, though; he is not an opportunist—although the chance to become King of Skyrim certainly does appeal to his substantial ego.

Galmar Stone-Fist (Housecarl)

Galmar is old but still hale, a very experienced Nord warrior and Ulfric's right-hand man. He served Ulfric's father and is more concerned with winning the war than the politics behind it. He is one of Ulfric's most trusted allies and acts as the main field commander for the Civil War.

Jorleif (Steward)

Jorleif is an excellent advisor, especially in this time of war. Ulfric greatly values Jorleif's council and especially appreciates the man's honesty and realistic assessments of the ongoing conflict.

Captain Lonely-Gale

One of Skyrim's most respected citizens, Captain Lonely-Gale made his fortune as a trading ship captain working the rivers and coastlines of Skyrim. Those adventurous days are behind him now, but his authoritative, commanding nature remains and the people of Windhelm have a great respect for his fair and evenhanded views of the war. It is these qualities that cause Brunwulf Free-Winter to choose him as a Steward when he takes over as Jarl following a successful invasion of Windhelm by the Imperial forces during the Civil War.

Wuunferth the Unliving (Court Wizard)

An ancient and frail Court Wizard, Wuunferth is also an immensely powerful magic user and is obsessed with becoming even more powerful. The people of Windhelm are convinced the man has sold his soul to some Daedra or is only part human, and that's how he earned the title "the Unliving." For his part, Ulfric doesn't necessarily like Wuunferth and distrusts his sorcery, but he respects the great power the man holds and his possible use in the Civil War.

Unique Item: Necromancer Amulet [62/112]

Sifnar Ironkettle

Silda the Unseen

Trainer (Pickpocket: Expert): Silda the Unseen [1/3]

The following residents of Windhelm take control of Windhelm once this Hold falls during the Civil War.

Jarl Brunwulf Free-Winter

Brunwulf's reputation and natural leadership would be enough to make him the Empire's choice to replace Ulfric as Jarl of the city, but the fact that its people both love and respect him cements the choice. Brunwulf has no patience for those who exhibit prejudice, and this fits well with the Empire's cosmopolitan views. Notably, Brunwulf will forgo the naming of a Housecarl because he believes that he can defend himself capably enough, and he does not want anyone else to risk their life on his behalf.

Captain Lonely-Gale (Steward)

When Brunwulf ascends to the position of Jarl, he calls upon Captain Lonely-Gale to join him as Steward. In his days as a ship's master, the good captain earned his success by running a tight ship and managing his resources wisely. Brunwulf is counting on those same qualities as he works to heal his city and his Hold from the scars of war.

Palace of the Kings: Ground Floor

The Palace of the Kings is an ancient stone fortress that now serves as the city's main keep. These days, the palace serves as the headquarters of the Stormcloaks, under the leadership of Jarl Ulfric Stormcloak, who sits upon the ancient Throne of Ysgramor. And so the Palace of the Kings is the center of the pro-Nord war effort in the Civil War.

This imposing stone fortress stands at the southern edge of Eastmarch, not far from the mountains along the Reach's north edge. A group of bandits have taken control of the fort and must be dealt with.

EXTERIOR

Dispatch the handful of bandits who defend the fort's exterior, then pull a lever to lower the drawbridge and advance into the first of three interior towers.

NORTH TOWER

Speak with a man named Christer inside the tower to gain a new Side Quest and an important key that unlocks the nearby door. Make your way upstairs, then climb a ladder and use the key again to go outside. (Don't bother opening the upstairs holding cell—there's nothing of interest in the small room.)

Fjola is a powerful enemy, but she carries many valuables, so killing her is worth the effort. Agree to help her first, and you can slay Fjola and complete the quest with Christer by handing him her wedding band. Either way, search for a Skill Book that rests atop a dresser in this tower.

9.1 Falkreath Hold: Overview and Services

Topographical Overview

The Hold along Skyrim's southern border with Cyrodiil is known as Falkreath, and its capital shares the same name. The Hold's second largest town, Helgen, was the site of a recent dragon attack and prisoner escape.

Before its destruction, Helgen was “the Gateway to Skyrim,” a well-traveled town at an important crossroads in the foothills of the Jerall Mountains. As you move north, the rugged, mountainous south gradually gives way to pine forest lowlands.

Though initially tranquil to the untrained eye, the woods are a wilderness fraught with the prospect of enemies (wild animals or worse) lurking behind every tree.

Still, the people of Falkreath are reasonably prosperous farmers and loggers, thanks to the abundant supply of fresh water from Lake Ilinalta—the largest body of water in Skyrim.

Routes and Pathways

Falkreath is among the most-traveled Holds in terms of major roads and minor pathways. The lake is an excellent anchoring point, allowing you to get your bearings from almost any angle.

North of the lake are the sharp and protruding Brittlechin Hills—snowy peaks dominated by Bleak Falls Barrow that overlook the origin of the White River—and the town of Riverwood just across the border in Whiterun Hold.

Head east, and you brave the blizzards of the Jerall Mountains, bandit attacks in the high mountain passes, and the windswept caverns of Haemar's Shame.

To the south, the Jerall Mountains dominate, their icy crags making many locations difficult to reach and almost impossible to escape from without blade or spell.

Still, resolute hunters like Angi can still be found in this vast wilderness, determined to live life on their own terms.

Head west, and the pine forests give way to more rocky scree and sharper crags, where you can hear the howls of anger of the Forsworn from the Reach and find old or forgotten cuts into the earth, including the fabled Twilight Sepulcher.

Lore: City Overview Falkreath

The capital of Falkreath is infamous for its bloody history and sprawling graveyard. Its name is not Nordic in origin, but Elvish, though even they no longer remember its meaning. The town, and its graveyard, blossomed over the ages from a monument commemorating the Battle of Sungard. A statue once stood commemorating the spot where Kjoric the White fell in battle defending Falkreath from the First Empire, and legend has it that his son, Hoag Merkiller, fell in exactly the same spot when he retook Falkreath years later. The residents of Falkreath take a certain pride in this history and their cemetery, though some darkly refer to Falkreath as "Where heroes come to die."

In recent years, the Jarl's family has become bitterly divided between Siddgeir, the avaricious Imperial Jarl, and his uncle, the former Jarl Dengeir, who was forced from his position due to his growing Stormcloak sympathies. The people of Falkreath work hard just to keep the town functioning properly despite the political struggles.

Isolated and isolationist, the capital of Falkreath is unwelcoming to visitors, with stern facades and its haunting graveyard. Some say wisps flit across the graveyard at night, and lonely buildings feel surrounded by the graveyard and hidden foes on the treeline's edge, while gloomy interiors hold the court of a Jarl with a family divided.

Important Areas of Interest

1) MAIN THOROUGHFARE

Jarl Siddgeir's moneymaking schemes are paying dividends, as the settlement of Falkreath is well guarded, featuring fortified gates at opposite ends of town. The main thoroughfare is mostly paved, and there's always a guard presence. There's room for a small farm and lumber mill to support the local economy.

2) JARL'S LONGHOUSE

The following leaders of Falkreath are loyal to the Imperials at the start of the Civil War.

Jarl Siddgeir

The nephew of Dengeir and now the Jarl of Falkreath, Siddgeir has always had money and power, although he's done little to deserve either. He acts as Jarl now that his uncle has given up the position. Siddgeir mostly focuses on ways to acquire more money and protect his newfound power.

His main concern is busybodies like Valga Vinicia, Tekla, and Narri, who he fears might ruin his family's name. However, he has already amassed his own supporters: Solaf and Bolund, a pair of brothers who complete occasional dirty deeds on his behalf.

Nenya (Steward)

Nenya is an overworked High Elf who attempts to maintain order and is the brains behind the throne. She isn't conniving or plotting, just attempting to maintain order while in the service of an incapable leader.

Helvard (Housecarl)

A loyal bodyguard and skilled military tactician, Helvard serves as a bodyguard for the Jarl. While he has great respect for the position of Jarl, Helvard agrees with Nenyra that neither Dengeir of Stuhn nor Siddgeir are suited for the important decisions of the town, and he works with her to guide the Jarl's policies to what is best for the city.

Legate Skulnar

The following residents of Falkreath control the capital, once this Hold has fallen during the Civil War.

Jarl Dengeir of Stuhn

Once the Jarl of Falkreath, now "voluntarily" lowered to the position of Thane, Dengeir of Stuhn was a great warrior and virtuous hero of Falkreath in his youth. However, he has outlived his glory and is slowly descending into a creeping paranoia. He sees enemies hidden everywhere and rarely goes out in public.

Shortly before Imperial pressure forced him from his position as Jarl, Dengeir very nearly exiled all Imperials from Falkreath, a proclamation prevented only by Nenyra's careful council. Dengeir is a strong supporter of the Stormcloaks, but he knows to stay quiet about his support.

Tekla (Steward)

As further evidence of his growing dementia, Dengeir names his house servant Tekla as his Steward when the Stormcloaks restore him to the position of Jarl. He does this not because he believes that she is qualified to hold the position (she almost certainly isn't) but because she is the only person left who he trusts.

Jarl Siddgeir runs Falkreath Hold from this impressive Longhouse. His main reason for supporting the Empire is because it makes life more profitable for him, so he continues to find ways to line his own pockets with their help.

As a result, much of the day-to-day workings of the Hold are still handled by his overworked Steward, Nenyra, and she works with Helvard to deal with matters of military defense, such as bolstering the city from Civil War attacks.

He has welcomed Legate Skulnar into his hearth and home, and turned the wine storage room into a place where the Imperials can plot war. The Jarl's bedroom has two display cases ([Adept] and [Expert]), the latter of which has a Skill Book to read. There's another on a table in the War Room, and an Arcane Enchanter on one of the upstairs balconies.

3) FALKREATH BARRACKS

Sinding

The three floors of Falkreath's Barracks are where the town's guard sleep, drink, and return to drink some more. Find a Skill Book tucked between some wooden crates near the entry door.

The bedrooms are upstairs, and most of the meals (and brawling) occurs on the ground floor. Below is a cellar, or Falkreath Jail, where mainly petty thieves or drunkards are placed. However, one specially reinforced cell holds the "monster" Sinding, who is a threat to all the townsfolk after he murdered the child of Mathies and Indara.

The only obstacles to the brothers becoming the most powerful family in town are Valga Vinicia and her “daughters,” who Bolund sees as busybodies and gossips who have something against him. Solaf and Bolund’s sister Grelka left them for Riften a while ago, sick of their attitudes. Solaf and Bolund don’t particularly miss her.

A cozy tavern with a roaring fire and fine food, the Dead Man's Drink stands in stark contrast to the Jarl's court and is the far more inviting world for visitors. The owner, Valga Vinicia, is always glad to listen to a traveler's tales, and the server, Narri, collects gossip from around the town, particularly from her sister, Tekla, who works as a maid for Dengeir.

Valga Vinicia has slowly become aware of the Dengeir's paranoia and has long known of Siddgeir's corruption, and she grows concerned for the town. A Skill Book is kept behind the counter.

Currently, the pair are managing a bumper crop of potatoes, cabbages, and gourds.

However, he has outlived his glory and is slowly descending into a creeping paranoia. Dengeir of Stuhn is loathe to meet guests and sees threats and conspiracies everywhere. His rantings terrorize his servant, Tekla. Tekla will raise the alarm if you decide to break into this dwelling, if she's inside this location.

10) DEADWOOD LUMBER MILL

Hardly a hive of activity, the mill isn't utilized to capacity thanks to the lackadaisical attitudes of its owner, Jarl Siddgeir, and its abrasive foreman, Bolund.

11) HALL OF THE DEAD

Runil
Kust

Originally meant for the cemetery's groundskeeper, this now consists of a dwelling for Runil and Kust and a makeshift shrine for Arkay, the god of birth and death.

Unlike the larger Hold capitals, there is neither the room nor the coin to build a mausoleum to the fallen, who are buried outside in the cemetery instead.

Inside, a Skill Book is hidden under the bed near the chest.

12) CEMETERY

The graveyard encroaches into the town and is large compared to the population. Most of the graves have worn away, including a memorial statue commemorating Hoag Merkiller and Kjoric the White, who died defending Falkreath from outsiders.

By tradition, the graveyard at Falkreath is the central graveyard for all residents of Falkreath Hold, and the many battles for control over the Hold have provided it with no shortage of graves.

Because the town has a resident priest of Arkay, the grave sites are better maintained than in smaller cemeteries, and in many cases, the tombstones have long outlasted the bodies of those they were meant to commemorate.

Bones and bloodstains mark the entrance to this small cave, and a powerful mage stands watch outside. Nearly every square inch of this treacherous cave's interior is filled with traps and dangers—sneak and avoid rushing forward, or you'll suffer dearly. Protection against fire can be invaluable here.

A) EXIT TO SKYRIM

1) ENTRY PASSAGES

Avoid a pressure plate that releases a lethal rockfall as you sneak toward an unwary mage who's tending a fire inside the cave. Beware of another dangerous pressure plate trap in the small cavern that follows, which is guarded by a lowly skeleton.

Hug the right wall to dodge hanging rattles, then ignite the next tunnel's oily floor to scorch more foes.

Danger! Oil Lamp Traps, Bone Alarm Trap, Oil Pool Traps, Rockfall Trap (pressure plate), Mammoth Skull Trap (pressure plate)

2) STAIR CHAMBER

Knock down a hanging lamp to make a mage flee from his advantageous perch in the oily passage that leads to this small area. Beware of a lethal pressure plate trap at the passage's end, and find a chest in a nook near the wooden stairs. Another chest is tucked away atop the stairs as well.

(Alternatively, you can disable the trap's trigger on the door.) Mix some potions at the Alchemy Lab here, then loot a large, locked chest that lies in the west rubble—if you're able to pick its tricky lock.

Opening the Expert-level holding cell puts you close to a thick Iron Ore vein, but the same ore can be more easily mined from the vein that's just outside the cell.

Sneak around and slay the lone bandit worker, then mine plenty of ore from the surrounding veins and exploit the crafting stations to improve your gear. You can proceed up the ramp and go through the front door, or use the smaller cave hallway on the south end of this chamber to loop around to the back of the shack.

Approaching from the rear will allow you to jump on a pile of crates and enter the shack through a hole in the roof, dropping directly into shadow and giving you an easy chance to backstab the Champion of Boethiah.

5) FOURTH TRIAL: PATH TO SALVATION

Don't let this passage's swinging blades stupefy you into stepping on the pressure plate that lies before them. If you can, open the Master-level iron door to the south to sneak through [6] and bypass the blades altogether.

Otherwise, you must time it right and sprint straight through—you'll trigger another pressure plate midway through, so move to the left the moment you clear the passage to avoid being shot by arrows. The entrance to this cave lies just off the east-west road that runs across the southern Tundra. Kill the predators that lurk just inside, then hop onto the low ledge on the south side of the first clearing to discover a locked chest. Dive into a pond near the waterfall to discover another chest at the bottom.

You must next take one of two paths: for the purposes of this walkthrough, proceed along the trail closest to the pond, dispatching another predator and a Spriggan who emerges from a tree as you pass. Scale the stone steps that follow to locate a quiet shrine, where a large chest is found. Pray at the Shrine of Talos for a blessing. Then inspect the pedestal at the base of a statue for a note and a unique Blades Sword.

Descend the following stairs, slaughtering more animals and Spriggans as you proceed along the path. When you reach the clearing with the dead deer, look up to spot a rocky promontory. Scale the rocks here if you can (you may find it easier to backtrack and climb up the central ridgeline first) to claim a chest in a small nook behind the promontory.

Then continue down the path, and you'll find that you have come full circle, returning to the waterfall pond with the cave fully explored.

Crush a few more skeletons and a powerful mage in the cavern that follows, which features an Arcane Enchanter and Skill Book.

Scale some steps to reach the next windy chamber, where a trapped chest sits on a left ledge as you enter. Disable the trap hinge, or stand to one side of the chest and lift its lid from afar to avoid being struck by the mace that swings down when you open it.

Keep going to reach some open doors, then back up and use a ranged attack to detonate the rune trap on the floor beyond from a safe distance.

BLEAK FALLS SANCTUM

Swinging blades slice through the hall that leads to the Sanctum's first chamber. Before sprinting through, lure a patrolling Draugr to its doom by striking the monster with a ranged attack to make it charge recklessly into the blades.

Sprint past the trap afterward, then quickly pull the wall chain on the opposite side to deactivate it—this lets you safely retreat as the undead begin to swarm.

Next, inspect the Golden Claw that you found on poor Arvel, and notice the three glyphs that run down its palm. Mimic this same sequence of glyphs (bear, moth, owl) on the strange mural at the end of this passage by spinning its three glyph rings.

Once the glyphs have been properly aligned, activate the claw insignia in the mural's center to insert the Golden Claw and open the way forward.

Make your way to the far end of the large, sunlit cavern that follows the Nordic Puzzle Door. Raid a giant chest and then follow the sound of chanting to discover a Word Wall, which grants you a new Word of Power.

Learning this new talent causes a powerful enemy to rise from the nearby sarcophagus—fight hard to slay this worthy adversary, then obtain a special item from its remains. Scale the nearby steps afterward and exit this unholy place via the west passage, looting one last chest on your way out. Find a potion on the exterior ledge before fast-traveling away.

Pinewatch Bandit Sanctuary

Note

A skilled thief can slip through all of Pinewatch without having to fight a single bandit—see if you're up to the challenge!

A) EXIT TO SKYRIM

1) CABIN

Find a note in the cabin's basement that reveals the existence of a hidden passage. Spy a shelf with wind gusting out from its base, then locate a button on the nearby wall and press it to shift the shelf and expose a secret passage.

2) BODY DISPOSAL

Claim some potions and a Skill Book from a shelf to your left as you enter this first wide cavern. Slay the two guards who patrol the wooden walkways and see if you can open the Expert-level wooden door to access a potion-filled closet. Beware of bear traps on the ground floor, and raid a locked chest to the east. Enter the south tunnel to visit a gruesome pit with several lootable corpses.

Silently dispatch a sleeping bandit, then kill the group of ruffians to the east, near the bar. Find worthy gear and a few potions behind the counter.

8) RIGEL'S QUARTERS

Rigel Strong-Arm, leader of the bandits, sleeps behind this room's wooden wall—dodge the hanging rattles or you'll wake her. Loot the chest near Rigel's bed and see if you can pickpocket a few useful keys off of her without being caught. Try sneaking away if she wakes up. 9) TREASURE ROOM

Due to the attempts by her crew to steal her plunder, Rigel has placed a large amount of traps blocking the path to her treasure room. Watch out for a pressure plate on either end of the narrow bridge, as they will trigger a wide volley of darts traps.

A set of blade traps cover the hall just after this. Find the rhythm of their swings, then sprint through, but stop just short of the next hall—there is a pressure plate there that will trigger a battering ram to slam into the side of your head if you are not careful!

Crouch and stand back while opening the room's door to avoid being struck by a mace that swings through. Beware of another pressure plate near the table that holds Endon's Silver Mold, among other valuables. Raid the large nearby chest before exiting through the door to return to Pinewatch's entry chamber.

The village of Helgen is the very first location that you visit in Skyrim—you're brought here to be executed at the adventure's onset. Things don't go as planned, however, and you're soon making a frantic run through Helgen Keep. The soldier you choose to follow through the keep determines the enemies you face within.

After your escape from Helgen, the village remains in ruins for the rest of the game. Bandits will eventually move in; you can return here and wipe them out if you choose.

A) EXIT TO SKYRIM

1) NORTHWEST ENTRY

This is the room you enter if you choose to enter the keep with Hadvar. Allow him to free you from your bonds, then loot two chests in this first room to obtain vital gear.

A sunken trading vessel named Silvermoon has been resting at the bottom of Lake Ilinalta for as long as the inhabitants of Riverwood can remember. Dive down where the mast is jutting out of the water. Among the clams and Nordic barnacle clusters is a chest that's still intact.

Chest

[8.P] Nordic Burial Grove

At the fork in the main road, close to the shore of Lake Ilinalta, is a pauper's burial stone with six graves surrounded by Nightshade plants. Two skeletons are guarding these unknown graves.

[8.Q] Fisherman's Island: Lake Ilinalta

Directly south of South Brittlechin Pass on the opposite (south) side of the lake is a small island with a fisherman's camp. Expect a boat, a tent, and some drying fish, as well as the fisherman, usually resting near the indigenous flowers.

Knapsack

[8.R] Sunken Barrow: Lake Ilinalta

Southeast of South Brittlechin Pass on the lake's northern shore are three moss-covered standing stones that just break the lake's surface. Dive down, and you'll discover that they surround a submerged barrow with a chest at the bottom.

Chest

[8.S] The Indigestible Emerald

Southeast of Anise's Cabin, on a narrow grassy alcove among the rocky banks of White River, close to a single pine tree, lie the skeletal remains of an elk. It died with an extremely valuable Emerald, which can be picked from behind its rib cage.

[8.T] Riverwood Folly

Perched on the snowy rocks below and east of Bleak Falls Barrow is a dark stone folly, home to a small group of bandits. Access the area via the path from Riverwood or the steps from the north bank of the river. Head to the top for an amazing view and a chest.

Chest

Mineable ore (Iron)

[8.U] Wild Animal Den: Pinewatch Outcropping

Below a rocky outcrop facing the main road and lake, northwest of Pinewatch, is a wild animal den. Defeat the creatures and then inspect the den itself. Among the skeletal remains is a disintegrated old cart with a locked chest.

Chest (Locked: Novice)

[8.V] The Conjuror's Altar: Lake Ilinalta

A strange mist shrouds this small cluster of standing stones and an altar within. Face down a mage and his familial forces before inspecting the Skill Book on the altar. Travel a handful of paces to the southwest to discover a woodsman who met his end felling trees. His trusty axe is the only of its kind.
Skill Book [Conjuration]: 2920, Hearth Fire, v9
Unique Weapon: The Woodsman's Friend [60/80]

[8.W] Hunter's Camp: The Guardian Stones

Follow the short path to the river's edge from the Guardian Stones, and you'll spot a hunter near a boat, tent, and campfire who's been hunting and fishing these parts for years. You may elect to steal from the locked chest.

Chest (Locked: Novice)

Mineable ore (Iron)

[8.X] Bandit Camp: Ilinalta Foothills

Side Quest: The Great Skyrim Treasure Hunt*

Along the winding road southwest of the Helgen Cave, due south of the Guardian Stones, a short trail leads up the hill to a small bandit camp. Expect attacks from three of these foes, a group of tents with some scattered food, and the following crafting locations and items:

Crafting: Tanning Rack

Skill Book [One-Handed]: Night Falls on Sentinel [D2/10]

Treasure Map I [11/11]

Satchel

[8.Y] Shrine of Talos: Ilinalta Foothills

Up a short path off the main road that winds down to the lake is a rocky promontory, upon which stands a statue of Talos. Three worshippers have been recently murdered by a Thalmor agent, who also lies dead here, with orders signed by Elenwen.

Shrine of Talos [15/17]

Note: Thalmor Orders

[8.Z] Bandit Camp: Skybound Underhang

Follow the rough path across the snowy foothills toward Riverwood, and take the small switchback to reach a wooden platform with a bandit camp. Face down two foes, and rummage around for a few coins and the following:

Skill Book [Block]: Warrior

Chest

[8.AA] Bandit Bridge: Pinewatch

A little farther southwest along the main road from Pinewatch, two bandits stand atop a rickety wooden bridge, attacking you as you approach. Try to pass under the bridge, and they both release falling rocks; it is better to sneak from the east side along the second bridge, or drop them from range with spells or arrows.

Danger! Rockfall Trap

[8.AB] Bandit Camp: Pinewatch Heights

A group of bandits has killed a Dark Elf and taken over his camp. Now they come for you! Retaliate, and then search the small tent for a Skill Book.

Crafting: Tanning Rack

Skill Book [Alteration]: The Lunar Lorkhan

[8.AC] Hunter's Camp: Upper Pinewatch Ridge

Farther along the winding path, up into the snow, lies a windswept promontory with a hunter you can barter with. He has a few items that he's caught or skinned for sale.

Trader (Food Vendor): Hunter [9/13]

Food, Misc

Chest

[8.AD] Prospector's Shack: Bonechill Ridge

What appears to be a small prospector's shack is in fact the scene of gruesome carnage; two burned corpses bear witness to a recent dragon attack. Check inside the shack for a necklace and a note, which reveals the location of Ancient's Ascent.

Note: Letter to Authorities

Chest

[8.AE] Bandit Camp: Helgen Cliffs

On the main road west of Helgen is an overhang protecting what appears to be an empty campsite. Among the dead animals, there are a few loose items to steal, a Skill Book, and a locked chest. But be warned: touch the chest, and the bandits who dwell here will ambush you from behind! Watch for a few bear traps in the surrounding foliage.

Danger! Bear Trap

Skill Book [Light Armor]: The Refugees

Chest (Novice)

[8.AF] The Mauled Refugees

Related Quest: Main Quest: Dragon Rising

Once you complete Main Quest: Dragon Rising, this rocky promontory just below and northwest of Helgen becomes a small camp with two dead refugees, a wolf to defeat, and a whole lot of spilled blood.

[8.AG] Khajiit Caravan Massacre

Five Khajiit caravaneers have been murdered on the steep snowy road just south of Orphan Rock. As you approach the fallen tree blocking the path, three or four bandits attack; beware of the bowmen! Massacre them, then gather any you wish (check the lead wagon). Note that if the Falkreath Stormcloak Camp [8.36] is present, the Stormcloaks have cleared the bandits from the road.

Skill Book [Speech]: The Buying Game

Chest

[8.AH] Wild Animal Den: Orphan's Tear

Not far from the site of the Falkreath Stormcloak Camp [8.36] is an overhang where two snarling woodland predators (usually wolves) make their den. Their meals include a Nord corpse to loot for items. If the camp is present, the soldiers have driven the animals away, though you can still loot the den for any other loose items.

[6.AI] Dragon Mound: Bloodlet Peaks

Related Quest: Main Quest: Alduin's Wall

This Dragon Mound is initially sealed. It opens during Main Quest: Alduin's Wall. If you visit during or after this point in the Main Quest, the mound will be open and empty.

[8.AJ] The Headless Skeleton

North of the Southfringe Sanctum on the freezing rocky slopes is a pine tree overlooking Fort Neugrad. Someone has executed a long-dead Nord with an axe. The headless skeleton is slumped near a chest and Skill Book.

10.1 The Rift: Overview and Services

Topographical Overview

Nestled in the Autumnal Forest, high above the volcanic Tundra known as Eastmarch and bordering Cyrodill to the south and Morrowind to the east, is the prosperous and magical Hold known as the Rift.

This is one of the four “old Holds” mentioned in history, and the majority of the Rift’s population live and work around the lake port of Riften.

The large forest of deciduous birch trees, interspersed with pine and smoother rocks (the result of a gigantic prehistoric glacial movement northward) makes the Rift habitable year-round; indeed, many Nords make their living on and around Lake Honrich.

Two small towns lie within the Hold’s borders: Shor’s Stone, which is a small mining village north of Riften, and Ivarstead, which lies to the west, at the base of the towering Throat of the World.

Routes and Pathways

The Great Riften Road descends from the rugged mountain border with Falkreath to the west and winds east along the southern banks of the Treva River and Lake Honrich to Riften itself.

Spurs from this road stretch north, connecting Riften to Ivarstead and Shor’s Stone and beyond, descending the nearly sheer cliffs that form the border between the Rift and Eastmarch. To the east are the gates to Cyrodill, which are currently sealed.

Along the eastern edge of the Hold lie the Velothi Mountains, with a number of caves and secret retreats. The peak towering above Riften to the southeast is home to Forelhost, an ancient and vast Nordic temple.

To the west are the steep and treacherous mountains that connect the Rift to Falkreath, and the town of Ivarstead where pilgrims begin their journey up the 7,000 steps that lead to High Hrothgar, high on the steep slopes of the gigantic Throat of the World.

Delve into the Autumnal Forest of the Rift, and you'll find water mills, farms, and other more unspeakable places.

Lore: City Overview

Riften is situated in the southeastern corner of the Rift, at the eastern end of Lake Honrich, with a good portion of the city actually spilling over the water atop large wooden piers.

The entire city is bisected by a large canal that used to serve as access for small cargo boats but has lately fallen into disrepair and decay thanks to the lack of trade during the Civil War.

But don't think that Riften isn't a bustling center of commerce; the Black-Briar Meadery has almost a monopoly on the sale and distribution of a Nord's favorite pastime: drinking.

However, the city of Riften is a paradox. The city is located in the beautiful Autumnal Forest region of Skyrim, and that beauty has encroached upon the city, in the form of wondrous foliage and generally pleasant weather.

But most of the structures in Riften are wooden, and the city has a sort of old, run-down feel, which often takes visitors by surprise.

Not that this bothers the people who live there, who see Riften for what it truly is—a bustling, energetic city with a strong economy fueled by hard-working fishermen and mead makers.

The residents also understand that the city is, for all intents and purposes, owned and operated by the Maven Black-Briar, and in order to survive and thrive, everyone needs to adhere to her rules.

Important Areas of Interest

DRYSIDE

The eastern edge of the city (which isn't built over the waters of Lake Honrich) is called Dryside. The bulk of the town is located on Dryside and is split by Riften's canal.

Most of the more affluent homes are located on the eastern side of the canal, while most of Riften's shops and the marketplace are located on the western side. The southern portion of the city is dominated by Mistveil Keep and the jail.

A) NORTH GATE

The main gate of Riften, located along the northern wall, sees the most traffic of the city's three entrances. Foil the Riften guard's feeble attempts at shaking you down for money. Then speak with Maul, a gruff man waiting just inside the gates.

1) BOLLI'S HOUSE

Bolli Trout-Purse
Nivenor

This three-floor structure is one of the more impressive houses in Riften, which speaks to Bolli's station. The Note you'll find on the bedside cabinet reveals Bolli's marriage isn't as successful.

Tip

Talk to Maul. Afterward, the gates in this area are unlocked, once you enter an interior and return outside.

2) AERIN'S HOUSE

Mjoll the Lioness
Aerin

Aerin's home is small but tall, featuring three floors.

Follower: Mjoll the Lioness [40/47]

Marriage Prospect: Mjoll the Lioness [52/62]

3) SNOW-SHOD MANOR

Vulwulf Snow-Shod
Nura Snow-Shod
Asgeir Snow-Shod

This three-floor wooden structure is the house of Clan Snow-Shod, a wealthy and influential family of Nord that owns the Snow-Shod Farm outside Riften.

But even though the Clan has direct ties to the city's economy, it's their interest and involvement in the Civil War that really has people talking....

Shadowmark: "Loot"

4) RIFTWEALD MANOR (LOCKED: SPECIAL)

This property is owned by the current Guild Master of the Thieves Guild and is a fine structure. Mercer has cleverly integrated an isolated section of the Ratway into the sublevels of his home, which contains his private valued possessions.

This hideaway includes a minivault, a study, and escape routes. Mercer Frey has paid several bandits to act as guards here and has given them the order to kill intruders.

Outside, the front and back doors are barred from the inside, and the back grounds are locked by three gates, two requiring a key and the other locked (Expert).

You usually enter here during Thieves Guild Quest: The Pursuit and must shoot a mechanism to release a wooden ramp leading to an upper entrance (Expert). This cannot be done at any other time; exploration inside occurs only during or after this quest.

RIFTWEALD MANOR (INTERIOR)

Upper Floor: A storage room leads to a landing, a smaller storage closet, and Mercer's bedroom. The door's bar in the landing can't be budged.

Ground Floor: A large living and dining room dominates this area, along with an adjacent foyer. The doors' bars here can't be removed either. The foyer table has a note mentioning the mechanism construction that has recently taken place outside.

Chest

Potions

Secret Cellar: Accessed via the false back panel of the suspicious cabinet on the ground floor (which can be closed using the pull bar on the other side). Watch for numerous traps as you navigate the sewer passages; there's a spear trap in front of you, triggered by a pressure plate.

The next room has fire traps blasting up from the floor.

Puzzle Solution: Look at the floor and the nozzle holes where the fire blasts up from. These are divided into tiles. Each tile has a diamond shape; the fire traps that are activated are darker than those that are empty; simply step on the lighter-colored diamonds to avoid all fire damage.

There's a dart trap in the water-logged corridor (pressure plate) leading to a chest. At the corridor with the swinging blade and battering ram traps, dash between the blades and step left into the alcove.

Wait for the battering ram to swing, then sprint to the left of the low chandelier, dodging the remaining blades. At the door, look down and unlock the trap trigger (Expert) or face darts when you open the door.

Mercer's Secret Study: There is a wealth of loot here, including an excellent weapon in a display case (Expert). The note from "R" is likely to be from Legate Rikke in Solitude.

5) TEMPLE OF MARA

Maramal

Dinya Balu

The Temple of Mara offers services to the people of Riften and is devoted to the worship of Mara, one of the Nine Divines and the recognized goddess of love.

It is here that weddings are held (Side Quest: The Bonds of Matrimony). You can get a Blessing at the altar or at two smaller shrines on either side of the main chamber.

The first Note is from Anuriel warning of disturbances in the Hall of the Dead. The second Note is from Talen-Jei, regarding his forthcoming wedding. The cellar has some food and drink, and an entrance to the Hall of the Dead.

6) HALL OF THE DEAD

Alessandra

The Riften Hall of the Dead has two levels, underneath the Temple of Mara. The ground floor serves as a Shrine of Arkay; the bottom, underground level is actually a series of catacombs that contain some of Riften's most important dead.

Connected to the mausoleum is a graveyard, containing even more of the city's departed. There are two entrances: from the outside under the Temple of Mara balcony and via the cellar inside the Temple.

Inside, there are numerous skeletons from which you can remove a few coins, bone meal, and skulls.

Unique Weapon: Alessandra's Dagger [62/80]

Shrine of Arkay [12/12]

B) THE RAGGED FLAGON: CISTERN ENTRANCE

The secret entrance to the Ragged Flagon, Cistern, becomes available during the Thieves Guild Quest: Loud and Clear and becomes a world map marker (making it simple to return to the Guild).

It can't be opened until then but provides a quicker return route to Brynjolf and Mercer Frey, instead of navigating the Ratway. Note the Shadowmark on the coffin (which you press to open) and on the surrounding Hall of the Dead entrance walls.

If you're exiting from the Cistern, use the pull chain to open the coffin.

Sibbi Black-Briar

Black-Briar Manor is the home of the Black-Briar family, the wealthiest, most powerful family in all of Riften. The Black-Briar family are the owners of the Black-Briar Meadery, and as such control much of Riften's economy.

It is accessed via the front door (note the Shadowmark), a leap over the garden fence, and through the back gate (Expert).

Inside, the foyer end table has a Note regarding the loss of a mead shipment, and the rest of the ground floor has a dining table full of food and other stored items.

8) SHRINE OF TALOS

Nura Snow-Shod

Talos is worshipped openly when the Stormcloaks are in control of the city. When they are not, the shrine has less of a presence. Nura Snow-Shod is usually found here during the day, tending the Shrine.

Shrine of Talos [16/17]

9) DEAD GATE

The Dead Gate is so named for the number of people who died there thanks to repeated bandit raids of the city. The gate is now completely boarded up and no longer in use.

10) MISTVEIL KEEP

The following leaders of Riften are loyal to the Stormcloaks at the start of the Civil War.

Jarl Laila Law-Giver

Laila is a fervent supporter of the Stormcloaks, strongly believing that the Empire can do nothing but steal the heritage of their city away if they come to power.

She firmly believes in the old ways of Skyrim and is steeped in its traditions and mannerisms.

Even though she rules quite a corrupt city, she is blissfully unaware of the more nefarious goings-on in town thanks to her Steward, Anuriel, who has been known to accept bribes and payoffs from the seedier inhabitants of Riften.

Harrald

Harrald is the youngest son of Laila Law-Giver. He is largely indifferent to the events of the Civil War but sides with the Stormcloaks because his mother does. This situation has driven a wedge between Saerlund and Harrald, who constantly chide each other for their stances on the situation.

Saerlund

Saerlund is the oldest son of Laila Law-Giver. When he publicly spoke in favor of the Imperial forces in the Civil War, Laila refused to recognize him as heir.

There is a great deal of hostility between the two now, although Saerlund still lives in the Keep. Should Laila ever become exiled due to the Empire gaining control of Riften, Saerlund will remain behind and live in the Keep in defiance of his mother's beliefs.

Anuriel (Steward)

Anuriel's devotion to her Jarl is a guise for her true nature as a corrupt and greedy individual. She readily accepts bribes from influential people in the city and is extremely clever at covering her tracks (even if it means making loose ends disappear).

She has no desire to actually become the Jarl, seeing her position as a stronger link to her corrupt ties. She has gained some reputation as someone not to be trifled with.

Unmid Snow-Shod (Housecarl)

Unmid is the second to youngest child of Vulwulf Snow-Shod. He has dedicated his life to the art of combat, becoming highly adept at all sorts of martial weaponry.

Due to this incredible talent, he was hired as the Housecarl. On more than one occasion, Unmid has proved he cannot be bested in combat and has even put down several attempts on the Jarl's life. Unmid's single weakness is his infatuation for Anuriel, the Jarl's Steward.

Wylandriah (Court Wizard)

She spends most of her day in her laboratory performing experiments and only makes herself available to the Jarl when specifically summoned. She seems always scatterbrained, but this is an act, as Wylandriah would prefer to be doing her experimentation rather than matters of court.

By acting this way, she believes people leave her to herself most of the time (which is true).

Gonnar Oath-Giver

The following residents of Riften arrive to take control of this city, once this Hold has fallen during the Civil War.

Maven Black-Briar, Imperial Jarl

As matron of the Black-Briar family and a powerful businesswoman, Maven is virtually unapproachable and elitist. She's cold, ruthless and calculating—and also well connected within the Empire and Skyrim alike.

If the Empire takes control of Riften in the Civil War, Maven (thanks to powerful friends in Cyrodiil) is installed as the Imperial Jarl. She will also fill her court with family and allies.

Hemming Black-Briar, Imperial Steward

Hemming Black-Briar is the only son of Maven Black-Briar, and heir to family fortune. He is being groomed by Maven as a sort of protégé... someone to eventually take her place not only running the Meadery, but to also dabble in the same corrupt activities.

Hemming is often an errand-boy, and has come to admire his mother's ways and fervently defends her whenever a family squabble should arise.

Maul (Housecarl)

Maul is a close friend of Hemming Black-Briar; when he was ambushed by bandits, Maul dove into the fray to save him. Ever since then, they have been partners in crime, with Maul assisting Hemming in his more nefarious activities assigned by Maven Black-Briar.

He does not live within Riften, as he wants his identity to remain anonymous. Maul's brother is Dirge, part of the security at the Ragged Flagon.

MISTVEIL KEEP (EXTERIOR)

This ominous stone keep is where Jarl Laila Law-Giver lives and rules, but this important building also contains the city's jail and barracks. The barracks are to your left (southeast) and the jail to the right (southwest) of the main door into the Keep, with the banners on each side.

This is where the majority of the city's guards reside.

MISTVEIL KEEP (INTERIOR)

Banquet Hall and Throne Room: Guards, the Jarl, and her entourage are seated here. There's enough food here to feed a small army.

RIFTEN JAIL

Threki

Sibbi Black-Briar

Molgrom Twice-Killed

A jailor stops you from heading into the jail if you're visiting, unless you can persuade or bribe your way past him.

Inside, you can find the jail office on the right, with the evidence room just beyond; both are a bit of a mess. Note the sewer wall opening close to the chests, though you can't do anything with it from this side.

The cells are on two separate levels, with Sibbi Black-Briar and Threki the Innocent imprisoned on the top floor and Molgrom Twice-Killed on the lower level. All of the cell doors are locked (Adept).

A Skill Book sits atop a barrel in a dark nook above the stairs.

If you get imprisoned here, you can pick the lock on your cell door and sneak out—just keep an eye on the patrolling guard and time your movements to slip by them.

Or better yet, note the Shadowmark and the broken shackle on the wall in your cell.

Pull the shackle and a secret passage in the wall creaks open! Escape through this sealed-off section of the Ratway, which is filled with debris, and push open the sewer grate to retrieve your belongings from the evidence room.

Then head down the passage into a section of unexplored sewers. Fight any Skeevers you see, check the flooded area for a chest, and continue through the hatch into a second section of sewers.

Follow the rushing water to the exit, which leads you out to the edge of Lake Honrich, near the South Gate and Riften Warehouse: the Sewer Gate [G].

Note that you can only escape this way once: after doing so, the guards seal the passage and remove the shackle.

The Honorhall Orphanage is home to several orphaned young boys and girls whose parents have been lost to anything from fishing accidents, to battle, to the general harshness of life.

The institution is privately funded by Maven Black-Briar. The interior is on a single floor. Enter via the dining room and pantry. A side bedroom has a Skill

Marise Aravel

The marketplace is the central area of Riften. There are a number of small stalls set up that sell items during the day, mostly foodstuffs and trinkets. At night, the stalls are packed closed and locked.

Several beggars live here as well on bedrolls off to the sides of the plaza in a thicket of trees. They are too weak to handle life in the Ratway, so they huddle here or in Beggar's Row instead.

Talen-Jei

The Bee and Barb is a large tavern and inn, and while it easily accommodates the entire town, the establishment is especially dedicated to serving those who work in Riften's fishing and mead-making industries. Almost everyone important (outside of the Jarl's entourage) come to drink here. You'll also find Marcurio the Hireling, the unpleasant Sapphire, and the seedy Louis Letrush. Brynjolf hangs out here prior to beckoning you to join his Thieves Guild, but only at night. Maramal sometimes comes in here from the Temple of Mara; he has delivered a note to Talen-Jei upstairs to confirm the forthcoming Argonian wedding. Also upstairs are rooms to rent and a locked door (Apprentice) to Keerava's bedroom and business ledger, along with the strongbox. The cellar has a large amount of stored food, wine, and mead.

The Black-Briar Meadery, owned and operated by the Black-Briar family for generations, produces almost all of Skyrim's mead and employs many of Riften's residents. The honey for the mead comes from Goldenglow Estate, on the small island on Lake Honrich, to the west of Riften. The Meadery can be accessed from Dryside or Plankside. Inside, the small shop front has a couple of Notes revealing a no-nonsense attitude to working here and some coin under the bed. Head into the back, along the two-floor high balcony above the mead distillery, to Indaryn's bedroom, which has a note from Maven to read. Descend to the next balcony level, where the workers eat. The door at the far end of the lower balcony leads to Plankside. Down on the distillery floor are two large vats and a chest. You can also spend 10 gold for each bottle of Black-Briar Mead you want to purchase from the underhanded Romlyn Dreth. As these are worth 25 gold, you can make a little money selling it on. The locked chest requiring a key is a reward for Miscellaneous Objective: The Lover's Requitat*.

Haelga

Svana Far-Shield

Fastred

Bassianus Axius

Haelga's Bunkhouse provides long-term lodging for anyone who can keep up the rent and mostly caters to the fishermen and mead makers of Riften. There's something of a theme with many of the people who reside at the Bunkhouse: they do brutal, backbreaking work, and they're prone to abusing either alcohol or Skooma.

It is a large building and has private rooms as well as a larger barracks-like common area with food on the tables. During Thieves Guild Quest: Taking Care of Business, a Statue of Dibella is on display on the bookcase in the main room.

On the counter is a Note regarding an "experience" an anonymous patron had with Haelga. Behind the counter is Haelga's room, where she takes "clients" and writes in her ledger.

Elgrim's Elixers is Riften's lone apothecary. As it is located in the cramped and dangerous confines of the Canal Level, Elgrim's Elixers usually caters to the members of the Thieves Guild and other unsavory types and specializes in poisons.

The shop is filled with potions and ingredients. Find a Skill Book hidden inside a woven basket that sits atop the tall shelf near the fireplace.

Plankside

The western edge of the city, known as Plankside, is actually built on the waters of Lake Honrich and serves as the city's center of mead production and distribution (which is, in fact, integral to Riften's economy) and its fishing industry (Riften's secondary economy).

The buildings here have been built on wooden docks, and the district is very old and ramshackle. There are three main docks projecting from Plankside, one owned completely by Black-Briar Meadery and the other two used for general commerce and fishing boats.

F) HONEYSIDE (EAST ENTRANCE)

Interior: The Riften Fishery is owned by Bolli Trout-Purse and is the center of all fishing in and around Riften. Inside, sections of the floor have been removed, allowing direct access to a salmon hatchery where the cellar used to be.

It is here that Riften's Thieves Guild plies its trade and the rifferaff make their home.

Strangers are not usually welcome, fights and even deaths are not uncommon, and most people in the place on any given night are involved in criminal activity in some capacity.

It would be wise to enter here once you've befriended a thief named Brynjolf.

Note

The quality of furnishings and frequency of items, banners, Guild members, and traders appearing in the empty alcoves opposite the Ragged Flagon bar area actually increases as you restore the Guild to its former glory by completing the City Influence Quests (see Thieves Guild Quests for more information).

Aside from additional traders, this also occurs in the Cistern too.

This more secretive and expansive main sewage hub is the stronghold for the Thieves Guild. It is only accessible once Brynjolf leads you here during Thieves Guild Quest: Loud and Clear.

B) LADDER TO RIFTEN

This brings you up and through the mausoleum and into the small graveyard attached to the Hall of the Dead. When you first access this location, it is added to your world map, allowing quicker Fast-Travel back here between Thieves Guild Quests.

1) MAIN CISTERN CHAMBER

Once you're a member, Guild chests are free for the opening. Otherwise they are inaccessible. These containers are also safe to store items in; deposit inventory items you wish to keep and return for them later.

You should also read up on Shadowmarks by taking one of the books in this area. On Mercer Frey's table is a note regarding a tense relationship between the Guild and the East Empire Company. Near the ladder exit is a cupboard with another note, concerning the search for Rune's parents.

Ivarstead

This idyllic logging and fishing village sits along the west bank of Lake Geir, right near the foot of Skyrim's towering mountain, the Throat of the World [6.38]. Interesting things are occurring at Ivarstead, not the least of which being the supposedly haunted barrow that's just outside of town.

EXTERIOR

Speak with Klimmek, Narfi, and Temba Wide-Arm to obtain a set of Miscellaneous Objectives. Temba will also pay you for any firewood you happen to chop outside, and you can gain the Gift of Charity by giving poor Narfi a gold piece.

1) VILEMYR INN

Bring the informative journal you discover within Shroud Hearth Barrow [9.02] to Wilhelm, and he'll hand you a special Sapphire

Claw that lets you explore more of the place.

Lynly Star-Sung is also here. You can ask her to play an instrumental song for 5 septims (unless you can persuade her to play for free). Lynly is the woman who Sibbi Black-Briar is searching for in the quest "The Lover's Requit." Temba Wide-Arm and Gwilin both reside at the inn as well.

A) EXIT TO SKYRIM

1) LEVER PUZZLE PASSAGE

Obtain a bit of loot from a shelf on your way into this passage, where the ghost of Wyndelius Gatharian urges you to leave, then vanishes. Enter the nearby alcove, grab a Skill Book off the stone table, then face west, toward the far portcullis, so that two pairs of wall levers are visible. Looking at the portcullis, pull the leftmost lever, followed by the “inside” right lever, to manipulate the gates so that you may progress. Don’t touch the far-right lever—it triggers a trap. Pull the wall chain that follows to raise the next few portcullises, and optionally unlock an Adept-level iron door to access a dangerous nook with a trapped chest and a pressure plate trap.

2) WYNDELIUS’S STUDY

Visit this room to catch up with the specter that warned you before. The ghost of Wyndelius Gatharian now lashes out at you. Lay it to rest to discover that it was never a ghost at all—just a man who’d been drinking a special potion to disguise himself as a specter. Collect the nearby journal and a few samples of the potion to gain new insight and advance the plot.

3) HALL OF STORIES

Bring the journal that you find at [2] back to Ivarstead’s innkeeper, Wilhelm. In thanks, he’ll give you the Sapphire Claw, which you need to open the Nordic Puzzle Door here.

Beware of goutts of flame as you open the door and enter the passage (or look to the floor and disarm that particular trap), then inspect the Sapphire Claw and notice three symbols etched on its palm (Moth, Owl, Wolf).

Rotate the door’s three concentric rings to form the same pattern of symbols, then inspect the central keyhole to insert the claw and open the way forward.

Danger! Flamethrower Traps (trapped door)

4) DRAUGR AMBUSH

A number of Draugr burst out of sarcophagi as you move through this chamber, and portcullises fall to trap you inside. Deal with the undead, then pull the lever in the east alcove to open the portcullises and continue on.

5) SPIRAL STAIRWELL

A trapdoor plunges you into shallow water at the foot of this winding stairwell. Nab some gear from the bottom of the pool, then swim up and climb out (or pull the lever to lift yourself out).

Go all the way upstairs to locate a Master-level locked door. If you can pick this tricky lock, you should have no trouble opening the large chest in the nook beyond.

]Chest (Locked: Expert)

6) OIL PIT CHAMBER

Leap two pressure plates and slay a skeleton as you descend into this chamber, where a mob of skeletons are gathered in the center of the room below. Quickly knock down one of the central hanging lamps to ignite the oily floor beneath them and decimate all of the skeletons at once.

Before going downstairs, spy a handle near a sarcophagus and pull it to allow you to enter the treasure room. More Draugr awaken when you reach the room's far side. Deal with them, then proceed through the northeast door. Beware of the trip wire stretched across the passage beyond.

Danger! Battering Ram Trap (pressure plate), Dart Trap (pressure plate), Oil Lamp Trap, Oil Pool Trap

Chest

Potions

7) TRAPPED PASSAGE

Avoid triggering a trip wire and pressure plate as you battle a bow-wielding Draugr here. Jump the trip wire and sneak around the plate to avoid stirring more undead.

Once again, you find yourself locked in the room. Pick the lock on the far door, or take it from the corpse of the Draugr near the door once you kill it—again.

Danger! Swinging Blade Trap (trip wire/wall chain), Swinging Wall Trap (pressure plate)

8) DRAWBRIDGE CHAMBER

A waterfall pushes a gentle stream through this long, enemy-free chamber. Pull a nearby wall chain to open the portcullis at the end of the stream, then claim a coin purse from the bottom of the small pool beyond.

Find some gear behind the waterfall as well, then go upstairs and open the large southwest door to enter a chamber with a lone Draugr guard. Step on the pressure plate here to rotate the walls and catch glimpses of four glyphs.

Spin the four glyph pillars outside the room to mimic the same pattern (Whale, Hawk, Snake, Whale), then step on the central pressure plate to lower a drawbridge.

Potion

9) PATH TO THE DEPTHS

Avoid the pressure plate just inside the door, then deliberately hit the trip wire to trigger a rockfall trap that smashes the Draugr in this passage. See if you can open the Apprentice-level locked door to access a small nook with a gold bar, but beware the flamethrower trap that fires when you remove it.

Danger! Flamethrower Trap (pressure pedestal), Rockfall Trap (trip wire), Swinging Wall Trap (pressure plate)

Potion

B) DOOR TO SHROUD HEARTH DEPTHS

Your trip through the barrow has brought you to a cavernous underground temple. Slaughter all skeletons and Draugr that rise from their sarcophagi here—the last few are quite powerful.

Proceed to the back room when the northwest passage opens, and disarm the trap on the large chest (or carefully stand to the side) to avoid being shot by darts. Gain a new Word of Power from the far Word Wall before taking your leave of this haunted barrow.

Back out on the upper level of Lord Geirmund's Tomb [4], look to your right to see a small ledge. Jump down and disarm the trap on the door, then enter the small alcove to find a locked chest.

Cross the bridge (pulling another lever on the far side of the central platform), then carefully avoid the pressure plate as you move on to the next chamber. It activates a nasty set of swinging blades that are difficult to dodge once triggered.

Goldenglow Estate

West of Riften, the sprawling Goldenglow Estate spans several islands across Lake Honrich. A small army of rugged Mercenaries guard the compound, and the south gate remains locked at all times; however, you discover means of slipping onto the premises during Thieves Guild Quest: Loud and Clear.

1) MAIN GATE

Goldenglow is a secure compound with only one entrance, and the guards aren't about to let anyone in.

2) SEWER ACCESS

Approach Goldenglow Estate from the north to discover a low bank that you can climb onto, which is located here. This means of entry is only available during the "Loud and Clear" quest. Enter the nearby sewer to begin your infiltration.

3) NIRNROOT NOOK

Before entering the sewer, optionally swim over here to find a rare sprig of tingling Nirnroot growing down by the water.

GOLDENGLLOW ESTATE SEWER

Slay the Skeevers that scutter about the sewer, and safely trigger the trip wire near the oily floor with a ranged attack to ignite the oil and torch some more. If you can, unlock the Adept-level door that follows to claim a Skill Book and loot a chest. Beware of another trip-wire trap as you advance.

The sewer spits you out behind the estate building, close to its rear door. Unfortunately, the door features an Expert-level lock—if you can't pick it, you'll need to risk sneaking around front and slipping in through the manor's unlocked front door.

5) GOLDENGLLOW ESTATE (MAIN FLOOR)

The estate's ground floor features two locked closets. Avoid the guards who patrol the halls and open both Adept-level doors to claim valuable loot from within.

Cut through the central dining room to locate the stairs that lead up to the second floor, along with a Novice-level locked metal door that leads down to the basement.

This cavernous cave is located east of Riften, near the mountains that form Skyrim's border. Normally, Fallowstone Cave is filled with vicious predators, but during Daedric Quest: The Cursed Tribe, you'll find towering giants roaming the cave instead.

You're also able to delve deeper into the cave during this quest, visiting a remote grove that's home to Giants.

FALLOWSTONE CAVE (NORMAL)

Beware of hungry predators as you follow the rushing stream. Stick to the south wall to discover a bandit's corpse inside a web-covered nook—collect the nearby potions after looting the body.

Kill or avoid more predators as you follow the stream into an east passage. You can loot another slain bandit that lies in a southwest nook if you slay the nearby bear.

Decide if you wish to slay the mighty giant here, or let Yamarz do it. The chief will die if you tell him to go, forcing you to finish his work, but he’ll also attack you if you agree to slay the giant for him, hoping to keep your mouth shut about who really completed the task.

If you choose to battle this mighty brute, exploit the rocks and trees here to keep distance from him. Relieve the Giant of Shagrol’s Warhammer to advance the quest, then raid the large chest near the bloodstained altar before making your way back to Largashbur [9.36].

As you move into the Library, watch out for the magic casting trap that sits across the room. Either snipe the gem with a bow or time your movement and run from cover to cover to cross the room.

Swipe a special Glass Claw off a pedestal as you move through this cluttered area. Stand back and to one side of other pedestals before removing their contents to avoid traps. Unlock Master and Expert-level doors here to access a small, potion-filled closet and a little alcove with a Soul Gem.

Loot a locked chest on your way to [19].

19) ARCANE WORKROOM

20) CLAW DOOR PASSAGE

Inspect the Glass Claw you found back at [18] and notice three symbols on its palm. Rotate the three concentric rings of this passage's far door to imitate the same sequence of symbols, then inspect the central keyhole to insert the Glass Claw and gain access to the tomb's final chamber.

21) RAHGOT'S TOMB

An immensely powerful Dragon Priest named Rahgot rises from this chamber's central sarcophagus when you enter. Fight hard to slay the deadly villain, then obtain a valuable staff, key, and Dragon Priest Mask by sifting through Rahgot's remains. Use Rahgot's key to open the large door and head outside.

Speak to any of the Vigilants here, or touch the small shrine on the interior altar, to instantly rid yourself of all diseases. Collect the Skill Book that lies on a bedroll here, and carefully loot the chest found atop the vigil without being caught.

Find a valuable piece of gear near a skeleton that lies in the snow north of the tower as well.

[9.A] Darkwater Overhang

At the base of the steep waterfall and path to Ivarstead is an overhang with a troll inside. Amid the bones in the back of the overhang is a Stormcloak Soldier with a note detailing attacks in the area. The troll is possibly the culprit.

Note

[9.B] Wood Cutter's Camp: Lake Geir

A murdered woodcutter lies slumped over his logs at this one-tent camp on the upper copse close to the road to Ivarstead. There's some food and a little coin to scabble for.

[9.C] The Poultry Reanimator: Lake Geir

On top of the taller rocks, with the main road to the south, is a strange robed fellow attempting to resurrect a dead chicken. He succeeds in his creation and attacks as you close. Expect ingredients after you slaughter him.

[9.D] Treasure Hunter's Camp: Lake Geir

A small tent and a smoking fire off the main road indicates a small hunter's camp overlooking Lake Geir. Aside from some food, there's little to steal or scavenge, but a note on one of the barrels indicates there's treasure to be found on the island to the northwest.

Note

[9.E] Treasure Island: Lake Geir

Just northwest of the Treasure Hunter's Camp by the stump of the ancient tree, two treasure hunters have dug up a chest. They don't take kindly to your presence, so face them in combat before removing any treasure you find.

Chest

[9.F] Dragon Mound: Autumnwatch Woods

Related Quest: Main Quest: Diplomatic Immunity

This Dragon Mound is initially sealed. It opens during Main Quest: Diplomatic Immunity, and if you visit during or after this point in the Main Quest, the mound will be open and empty. Perhaps this dragon is the one that takes possession of nearby Autumnwatch Tower [9.14].

[9.G] Shrine of Talos: Froki's Peak

Above Froki's Shack is a steep pathway up to a mountaintop, where a stone Talos gazes across the Arcwind gorge. Receive a blessing, and search the offerings for the following:

Skill Book [Two-Handed]: King

Shrine to Talos [17/17]

[9.H] Medresi's Camp: Angarvunde

Related Quest: Dungeon Quest: Medresi Dran and the Wandering Dead*

Adjacent to the entrance to Angarvunde is a small camp. This was the base of operations for Medresi Dran and her cowardly mercenaries. Search the place for her notes and a Skill Book. Visit Angarvunde to find her yourself.

Skill Book [Speech]: A Dance in Fire, v7

Medresi's Notes

[9.I] Wild Animal Den: Mistwatch

A trio of hungry wolves, or other wild animals, have made this rocky alcove home, dragging rabbits and other meat to feast on later. Aside from Nightshade, there's little here except the prospect of a savaging.

[9.J] Bandit's Shack: Autumnshade

A ruined shack is home to a couple of bandits and their dog. Don't try a frontal assault, as the door is boarded; attack from the holes in the side walls. They all come out fighting if you're spotted. Explore the building to find the following.

Skill Book [Block]: Battle of Red Mountain

[9.K] Northwind Chest

At the base of the Northwind peak, just northeast of Boulderfall Cave, is a chest guarded by two skeletons of the nonanimated variety. Pry open the locked chest; there's usually gems and other baubles to stuff into your pockets.

[9.L] Altar in the Woods: Autumnshade

Deep in the Autumnshade forest, a Fire Mage is experimenting at an altar, surrounded by old and forgotten ceremonial stones. Slay the magician, picking up any of the Dwemer artifacts you wish, as well as a Skill Book.

[9.M] Dragon Mound: Autumnshade Woods

This Dragon Mound is initially sealed. It opens during Main Quest: Bleak Falls Barrow, and if you visit during or after this point in the Main Quest, the mound will be open and empty.

[9.N] Hunters' Camp: Autumnshade Hills

Skill Book [Archery]: The Gold Ribbon of Merit

[9.O] Troll Den: Rkund

Due west of the Ruins of Rkund is an old Nordic barrow entrance built into the side of the Jerall Mountains. However, this location hasn't been excavated and is home to a ferocious troll.

[9.P] Wild Animal Den: Crystaldrift Cave

A little farther east from the Crystaldrift Cave entrance is another indent in the Jerall Mountains—an animal den with few items of note. You may be attacked by a Skeever during your brief exploration.

[9.Q] Dragon Mound: Lost Tongue Pass

Related Quest: Main Quest: Diplomatic Immunity

This Dragon Mound is initially sealed. It opens during Main Quest: Diplomatic Immunity. If you visit during or after this point in the Main Quest, the mound will be open and empty. Perhaps this is the dragon that now rules the ruin of Lost Tongue Overlook on the hill above?

[9.R] Wild Animal Den: Shor's Stone

Southeast of Shor's Watchtower, along the path that runs north-south along the base of the Velothi Mountains, is a rocky hillock with a wolf den. Expect some items to find on the corpse of a bandit in the back of the den.

[9.S] Trappers' Dilemma

In the woods to the east of Fort Greenwall is a resting cage with a wolf in it. If you open the cage, the trappers return and attack! Fend them off with the wolf's help. If the wolf survives, it flees to the nearby wolf den [9.R].

[9.T] Miner's Camp: Velothi Mountains

The vicious blizzards that race across the snow-swept peaks above the Rift have killed and half buried a lone miner. Nearby are two veins to attack with your pickaxe (or use the one nearby). Go west from the miner to find a Skill Book lying near the skeletal remains of another unfortunate soul.

Skill Book [Destruction]: The Art of War Magic Mineable ore (Moonstone, Quicksilver)

[9.U] The Three Sentinels

The road leading north from Riften's North Gate and the Riften Stables is flanked by these three wooden watchtowers, where a small contingent of city guards keep watch for any sign of a bandit raid. At the top of each tower is a chest of items the guards have confiscated from brigands. Pick the lock, and you can help yourself.

[9.V] Shrine of Zenithar: Fallowstone

Along the road north of Riften, just beyond the Three Sentinels [9.U], the road forks. Instead of taking either fork, look up the hill to the east, where you can find a small ruin. Defeat the wild animal that guards it, and you can pray at this makeshift Shrine to Zenithar. Take any offerings you wish.

[9.W] Tumbledown Tower: Riften Outskirts

There's a reason one of Riften's gates has been sealed; farther along the old road east of town are the remains of a fallen tower, where you can find a couple of bandits picking through the rubble.

[9.X] Burning Farmhouse

Along the southern border, at the foot of the Jerall Mountains, is a small farmhouse burning merrily. Though you may think it the work of a dragon, inspect the summoning circle and the charred remains of a farmer clutching a Scroll of Conjure Flame Atronach to reveal how a familiar set fire to this abode. A Skill Book is hidden inside the hollow fallen log near the cabin.

Three Khajiit caravans wander Skyrim, traveling from town to town and offering various goods and services. Each caravan is made up of an owner and his entourage, and each caravan travels its own route between two major cities.

Caravans will pause to do business with you while on the move but are more commonly found outside of Skyrim's larger capital cities, where they make camp for brief periods. Befriending each of the three savvy caravan owners can lead to special benefits!

Ri'saad's Caravan

Ri'saad is the patriarch of the Khajiit caravan merchants. He's the richest of the three and enjoys the best trade route, with exclusive contracts among Skyrim's wealthiest cities. Ri'saad's route takes him from Markarth [5.00] to Whiterun [6.00] and back again.

Ri'saad offers a fine selection of wares, and Khayla can train you to be more stealthy.

Crafting: Tanning Rack

Ahkari's Caravan

Ahkari has the monopoly on the north-south Dawnstar [3.00] to Riften [9.00] run—a very profitable passage. Speak with Ahkari to buy and sell a variety of goods or to receive training lessons in Pickpocket.

Dro'marash can help you hone your Speech skill, while Kharjo will offer to serve as a Follower after you do him a special favor..

Ma'dran's Caravan

Ma'dran used to be the poorest of the three Khajiit merchants. Now, with the advent of the Civil War, his business is booming. Ma'dran's primary goods are weapons and armor, which are in high demand.

Speak with Ma'dran to purchase some fresh gear, or pay Ma'jhad to help you improve your Lockpicking skill.

Ma'dran's route is unique in that he shares a common stop with Ri'saad's caravan: Windhelm [7.00]. However, Ma'dran's route runs from Windhelm [7.00] to Solitude [1.00] instead of to Markarth [5.00].

The person you seek out to assist you in repairing the Broken Star of Azura determines the reward you'll receive at the quest's end:

You get Azura's Star (an infinite Grand Soul Gem) if you turn to Aranea lenith, and you get the Black Star (an infinite Black Soul Gem) if you seek out Nelacar.

Regardless of which person you turn to, you'll end up entering the star and chasing the nefarious Malyn Varen down a winding, crystalline pathway. Dremora will attempt to intercept you along the way. Defeat Varen when you reach the bottom to purify the star and claim a very valuable keepsake.

BLACKREACH

Note

Find additional Crimson Nirnroot plants inside of several of Blackreach's interior locations, such as Sinderion's Field Laboratory, the Silent Ruin, and the Derelict Pumphouse (among others).

B) Elevator to Alftand Cathedral [4.13]

C) Exit to Blackreach Elevator (Raldbthar) [3.33]

D) Exit to Blackreach Elevator (Alftand) [3.26]

E) Elevator to Raldbthar Deep Market [3.32]

F) Exit to Mzinchaleft Exterior [2.18]

1) REEKING TOWER

The dwarves' capital city of Blackreach has been abandoned for ages and now serves as home to vicious Falmer.

This great subterranean metropolis houses many secrets for those brave enough to probe its depths. Blackreach features multiple access elevators, but your first visit occurs during Daedric Quest: Discerning the Transmundane, in which you will likely travel through Alftand [4.13].

Therefore, the first time you enter Blackreach, you'll find yourself at [B], unless you chose one of the alternate routes.

Once you've accessed Blackreach, you may use any of the city's elevators to return to the surface. Some elevators connect to major dwarven ruins across Skyrim, such as Raldbthar [3.32] in the Pale.

Others simply lead to lone elevator towers that stand in the wilderness. Ride each of Blackreach's elevators to open more and more surface connections to Blackreach—this makes moving to and from the great hidden city much easier.

The terrain of Blackreach becomes tumultuous around the edges of the cavern but is otherwise quite level and easy. Expect to face a blend of dwarven security units, Falmer, and various cave dwellers like the Chaurus and Frostbite Spider. Encounters with other, more powerful creatures such as trolls and giants are rare.

Aside from exploring the Tower of Mzark [10] as part of the "Discerning the Transmundane" quest, you may also collect special Crimson Nirnroots as part of Side Quest: A Return to Your Roots. Around 50 of these special red plants grow throughout Blackreach.

Many are labeled on the map provided here in this guide, while others are found inside of Blackreach's interior points of interest. Use this resource to track them down, then pinpoint their locations by the soft ringing sound each plant produces.

Collect the requisite number of Crimson Nirnroot plants to advance the quest.

Scale a rocky slope to reach this tall northern tower, then circle around to locate its door. Enter and slay a handful of overgrown Frostbite Spiders on your way to the far elevator, which takes you back out to Blackreach.

You'll find yourself standing near a neighboring tower to the one you entered. Slay a few more spiders out here to cleanse this place.

2) SINDERION'S FIELD LABORATORY

This small lab is likely to be your first stop in Blackreach. Claim plenty of loot here and use the crafting stations to prepare yourself for the dangers that lurk in the dark. If you are planning on a long exploration of Blackreach, this is a great place to use as a base camp.

Inspect the remains of Sinderion to acquire his informative journal and obtain a new quest that involves collecting Crimson Nirnroot from around Blackreach.

4) HALL OF RUMINATION

The Hall of Ruminaton is one of three structures located at Blackreach's city center. Several lowly Falmer and Falmer Servants mill about the main chamber. Slay them and then notice a gate that you can't seem to open.

Pull a lever on the balcony to the east of the gate to open it, but head through the nearby east doors first to secure a sleeping area and a room with a chest. Now go through the west gate and head upstairs to discover another chest. Take the nearby elevator up to a high exterior balcony, looping around to discover some Crimson Nirnroot outside.

5) PUMPING STATION

Exit through the northeast door so you may reenter via the northwest door and access a chest on the west balcony.

6) DEBATE HALL

Plenty of Falmer and Falmer Servants lurk within the Debate Hall. The main attraction here is the Skill Book that lies on a small table near a skeleton in the east alcove.

7) SILENT CITY CATACOMBS

Nab some Crimson Nirnroot on your way into this sewer network, which lies just east of Blackreach's city center. Slay a Falmer and loot a chest in the first hall, then jump the pairs of pressure plates in the hall that follow, or use the lever in the nook beyond the gate to trigger the blades and slice up any patrolling enemies.

Proceed until you reach a watery chamber, then dive underwater to locate three submerged chests. Proceed through the next passage and slay another Falmer to obtain a useful key. Make your way through the south door to reach the final room, where you find more Falmer and a door that connects to Blackreach's Pumping Station [5].

Insert the Blank Lexicon into the Lexicon Receptacle, then press the third button from the left until the second button from the left becomes active.

Now press the second button from the left until the first button on the left becomes active. Press this button until all of the buttons deactivate. Collect the Transcribed Lexicon from the Lexicon Receptacle and approach the central mechanism to obtain the mysterious Elder Scroll.

Other Blackreach Locations

The following sites don't have quite as much going on as the aforementioned locations but are still worth exploring:

I) OVERPASS

This overpass was presumably used to monitor the travel of workers to and from the city.

II) WISPMOTHER ENCOUNTER

Beware of this clearing, where wisps flutter about. A dangerous Wispmother will attack if you draw near. Crimson Nirnroot grows by the planks that span the nearby stream to the east.

Crimson Nirnroot

III) GUARD TOWERS

Dwarven soldiers likely watched from these towers as workers traveled to and from the city.

IV) FUNGUS FIELD

Blackreach's giant glowing mushrooms are growing strong here. Find some Crimson Nirnroot growing near the pipes to the north.

Crimson Nirnroot

V) SLEEPING CHAURUS

Get the drop on a pair of giant, snoozing Chaurus by sneaking up to this site.

VI) BLACKREACH CITY: MAIN GATE

The gate to the dwarves' capital city lies here, allowing entry from the south.

VII) BLACKREACH ARENA

It is assumed that Falmer would have been made to fight at the small arena located here. Pulling the nearby lever causes a lethal spinning blade to stick up from the arena's floor. Collect the Skill Book that rests on the nearby stone table.

Unique Weapon: Wabbajack [72/80]

Area Is Locked (quest required)

This special section of the Blue Palace in Solitude [1.00] remains locked at all times and is accessible only during Daedric Quest: The Mind of Madness. After a brief exploration of the long-unused wing, you're soon whisked away to unfamiliar surroundings—the deceptively verdant mind of Emperor Pelagius III!

Speak with Sheogorath to advance the quest and receive a unique weapon called the Wabbajack—this is the only thing you can take with you when you leave this unusual place.

Travel down each of the three paths to encounter three very unusual situations, each a reflection of Pelagius's warped psyche. Use the Wabbajack to solve each of the situations as follows:

Arena: Shoot the spectating soldiers on the arena's far side, not the combatants.

Pelagius the Tormented: Shoot the sleeping Emperor to spawn a series of progressively more dangerous foes. Defeat them all.

Pelagius vs. Pelagius: Shoot the smaller version of Pelagius (named "Confidence") to make it grow. Shoot the Imperial Soldier named "Anger" to shrink it. Ensure that Pelagius's Confidence is as large as can be, then shoot the two specters of Self-Doubt that eventually appear to vanquish them.

Once you've returned from Pelagius's frightening mind, continue your search of the Pelagius Wing to discover a Skill Book on some crates downstairs.

Japhet's Folly is a special island that only be reached only by ship. You visit Japhet's Folly during Side Quest: Rise in the East, with the goal of slaying a dangerous mage named Haldyn, who's raised an impressive pirate base here.

Once you arrive at Japhet's Folly, leap from your ship and cross the broken ice, heading for the tower that stands atop the nearby glacier. You can't actually reach the tower—follow your objective marker to locate the entrance to a small cave instead.

SEA CAVE

Kill a few Mudcrab in the watery cave, and open a chest in the first cavern. Slay a lone Blood Horker bandit in the stone room you soon reach. Loot a second chest here, then grab the potions on the shelves before heading upstairs to the Japhet's Folly Towers.

If you like, go downstairs to face a few more guards and discover more loot, including a locked chest. Unlock the Expert-level door down here to discover the final resting place of Japhet, whose remains lie next to an informative journal and a large chest.

Go upstairs to slay Haldyn, raid his chest, and collect the key he carries. Then backtrack downstairs and use the Japhet's Folly Key to open the door in the connecting corridor, which leads outside.

Skuldafn is a special location that lies just outside the bounds of Skyrim's ninth Hold, the Rift. Once you've advanced to Main Quest: The World-Eater's Eyrie, you're able to visit Skuldafn by flying on the back of a dragon.

Your goal is to access Skuldafn's portal to Sovngarde [10.06], the legendary underworld of the Nords.

SKULDAFN (EXTERIOR)

Slay a dragon that ambushes you in Skuldafn's large exterior ruins, while simultaneously battling multiple Draugr. A second dragon strikes as you near the South Tower, and more Draugr are poised on the walkway beyond the east stairs.

Climb an open-air tower to locate a chest beyond the east stairs, then slay more Draugr as you scale the north stairs that follow. If you like, loop around to visit the North Tower, and raid the exterior chest on the table atop the south steps, before entering Skuldafn Temple.

Chests (2)

SKULDAFN SOUTH TOWER

This simple tower teems with Draugr, but there's a chest upstairs.

Chest

SKULDAFN NORTH TOWER

The North Tower's similar to its twin—full of undead and housing a chest on its upper level. Head outside through the upstairs door and reenter the tower via the other balcony door to discover a second chest in a small alcove.

Chests (2)

SKULDAFN TEMPLE (SECTION I)

The legendary portal to Sovngarde is housed within this temple. Beware of pressure plate traps and Draugr as you explore the cavernous entry hall, looting a chest on the right.

Spin the three Nordic pillars so that the two on the outside are mirroring the glyphs on the opposing walls (Snake, Whale). Then spin the central pillar so that its Hawk glyph faces toward the far portcullises.

Pull the central lever to raise the Hawk portcullis, then raid the chest beyond. Change the central pillar again so that its Snake glyph is facing the portcullises; then pull the lever a second time to open the Snake portcullis and advance.

Loot another chest at the bottom of the following chamber, then cut through Frostbite Spiders on your way to another room with a second Nordic Pillars Puzzle.

Find a fourth chest here. Solve the simple puzzle by spinning the three pillars so that the bottom one shows a Snake, while the upper two show a Whale and a Hawk, matching the glyphs on the walls about the room.

Pull the lever to lower the drawbridge that leads deeper into the temple.

Danger! Dart Trap (pressure plates)

Chests (4)

SKULDAFN TEMPLE (SECTION II)

Loop around the entry room, slaying Draugr on your way to a stairwell. Beware the pressure plate near the stairwell—stepping on it causes a hanging lamp to fall and ignite the oily floor, while also causing arrows to fly out from the far wall!

Go upstairs and raid a chest near more oil and another hanging lamp. Pull the nearby lever to open the north portcullis and sack another chest on your way down an oily hall, but beware another dangerous pressure plate.

Kill a powerful Draugr in the passage that follows to obtain the Diamond Claw, then use the claw to open the nearby puzzle door (Fox, Moth, Dragon).

Approach the Word Wall that follows to gain new power, then proceed toward the door that leads back outside to Skuldafn's exterior, swiping a few potions from a small embalming chamber along the way.

Skuldafn (Temple Apex)

Cut down the Draugr outside the temple, then descend the wooden stairs of the west tower to plunder a large chest at the bottom. Go back up and circle around the temple so you may scale its exterior stairs, at last arriving at the portal to Sovngarde.

Slay the mighty Dragon Priest that guards this wondrous site so you may claim its valuable mask and staff. Inspect the Dragon Seal to replace the staff and open the portal once more. Gather your courage and jump into the beam to journey to Sovngarde [10.06]!

Sovngarde is the storied underworld of the Nords—the place where the greatest Nord heroes go when they die to enjoy an eternity of feasting and merriment.

The only way a living mortal can visit this surreal realm is via the portal at Skuldafn [10.05], another special location that can only be visited during Main Quest: The World-Eater's Eyrie.

SOVNGARDE (EXTERIOR)

Use the Clear Skies Shout to clear a path through Sovngarde's misty exterior.

You can use Clear Skies to prevent Alduin from devouring the souls lost in the mist (they will aid you in the final battle against Alduin), but don't bother trying to attack Alduin—he's protected by his mist.

You can turn right or left at the first junction; the steps straight ahead merely lead to an overlook. Wind around the central hill and approach Tsun, the guardian of this place.

Defeat him to prove your worth, then cross the Whalebone Bridge and enter the towering Hall of Valor.

HALL OF VALOR

Skyrim's greatest heroes stroll the Hall of Valor. Ysgramor himself greets you when you first enter. Enjoy your peek at a true Nord's idea of paradise, then approach the three heroes of old to learn what you must do to defeat Alduin.
