I. Introduction

I write this expert report as a British Engineer, Inventor, Patent writer and weapons research scientist; an engineer with a material science background, and inventor of the World's first binocular optical wave guides, weapons sight systems, infra-red thermal imaging head up displays, molecular reactors, signal processing, and transducer design to name a limited few.

As Chief Technology Officer (CTO) at the company that designed and brought to market the World's first internationally approved head up display (HUD) product, accredited with a number innovation awards but more importantly regulated to a number of internationally recognised standards including; (DOT) Department of Transport ECE 22.05 as well as ANSI and others, I was relied upon in the establishment of international standards for augmented reality (AR) and virtual reality (VR) HUD systems. Refer to Exhibit 2a, from patent attorney, Ex. 2b from Recorder Nolan, Ex. 2c Cyber Command, Ex. 2d Standards for HUD systems, Ex. 2di appendix.

Cyber Command USA had been made aware of my expertise and specifically requested my advice with regard to an unusual 5G antenna design deployed across their country. I have been extremely fortunate that most (but not all) of my research and product development work has been carried out outside of the (OSA) official secrets acts legislation. I have acted as a witness and provided statements in several Court cases exposing the lack of any credible evidence that the 5G LED network and planned neural connection to the 5G grid are safe. This includes Nano Metamaterial Technologies which are contaminating vaccinations, that are not legal, or lawful and breach a number of international and domestic laws. The Judge Nolan at Newcastle Crown Courts stated “The 5G risk must be debated” “This is a democracy and the public have a right to know”. The evidence I presented to the Court defeated the attempt by the local authorities and actors in the British establishment to silence me from providing the published scientific evidence on the risks posed to the public and environment from the 5G urban radar network and its ultimate purpose. The failed Court action taken by the local authority created a publicity storm which helped to highlight the actual risks from the 5G deployment across the World as well as highlighting the total lack of care taken by regulators allowing this 5G deployment.

My involvement with several research and development projects span my entire working career and include some of which are of a sensitive nature due to Official Secrets Act 1911 restrictions and therefore I am not at liberty to disclose these in a public domain, hence to say this work has led to an understanding of, Department of Defence (DOD) contracts, the compartmentalization of weapon product design projects, Direct Energy Weapons (DEW), which up until recently their existence has been obscured and sometimes denied. I.1.

The use of directional microwave radiation weapons by unknown actors on US embassies known as Havana syndrome in Cuba, China, Russia, are still not fully recognised by the authorities. Havana syndrome bares all the hall marks of microwave radiation emissions that have left victims suffering significant irreparable neurological damage, etc. The US Gov. have been unable to keep these weapons secret and recently passed a bill to compensate the Embassy staff victims. I.2

The US intelligence agencies, in their communications with the Russian Government, confirm what they already knew of the existence and capability of microwave radiation weapons and the reason for the US intelligence agencies appeal to their assumed Russian adversaries, for the cessation of the weapons use against their embassies. I.3.

My research field also covers further battlefield interrogation and weapon systems including Lethal Autonomous Weapons Systems (LAWS). I.4

Autonomous Underwater Vehicles (AUV). Light Detection And Ranging (LIDAR), Phased Array radar technologies, including 5G for tracking weapons platforms as well as biological assets on and off the battlefield, that are increasingly used in a civilian setting to include; facial recognition technologies, autonomous electric vehicles, drones, none of which have been fully environmentally assessed for harm from their radiation emissions on the general public or wildlife. ## II.5G Urban radar, Ionizing Radiation and Critical infrastructure risks

5G, unlike all of the other (G) Generations of telecommunications, is technically identified as an urban radar direct energy in air emission, that requires antenna design to cause the focused energy in air for the high speed compression of data to and from antennas designed to send and receive focused energy through a theoretical collimated and coherent signal. II.1

The beam forming wave in the main lobe emission breaches the ICNIRP guidelines, (International Commission on Non-Ionizing Radiation protection) of 61V for a maximum exposure of 6 min. II.2

This ICNIRP Guidance is unlike the Council of Europe (COE) Courts 1815 Resolution and European 2016 Guideline which confirms the published peer reviewed science that anything over 600 mV/m should be limited to short term and long term exposure should be no more than 200 mV/m, This is of magnitudes lower than the 6 min 61,000 mV a biological cooking value Guideline promoted by ICNIRP, a recognised industry captured agency as confirmed in the Italian Courts. II.3

The sweeping nature of the beam wave over 13.6V causes the positive charging of air which is noxious to all biological life at significant distances from the antenna emission to the target acquisition zone, such is the capability of the 5G hard and software and the very reason this equipment is and has been used extensively on the battlefield as scanning environment radar and Direct Energy Weapons (DEW), to disrupt and disable enemy hardware, as well as biological assets. II.4

Typically 5G antenna design use larger power input and directed output to deliver focused high power data compression signals measured in Watts or Electron Volts. Recent concerns by the Aviation industry including Boeing and Airbus have been raised over 5G due to its capability to endanger passenger aircraft that do not have the military mitigation technologies in a Civilian setting to protect their pilots or aeroplane flight control systems against Direct Energy Emissions. II.5

Dubious assertions from the telecoms industry and other regulatory bodies have continually denied the real purpose, or existence, of the radiation dangers posed from the deployment of 5G technologies; they have actively misled the public by issuing demonstrably false press releases through local and national media as well as falsifying statements made in Courts in failed attempts to discredit experts including myself, even though they had been advised that the experimental, uninsurable-for-harm technology, was and is extremely dangerous to the security of the state by their own intelligence agencies II.6.

The backhauling element of 5G is the term used for the technological advance that can interrogate and uplift data from a multiple of devices and environments simultaneously; in other words spying across the whole area, leaving no chance of any privacy. The capability of interrogation and digitization of intelligence gathered would breach a number of human rights laws if a full knowledge of the 5G network was known to a wider audience. This Patent (II.7), one of a number that confirm the capability to interrogate sound and voice emissions through buildings to gather data on an unsuspecting population using electromagnetic hardware and software systems, are all part of the vast 5G tool box. Spectrum dominance of the 5G network from Sub 3 GHz to 300GHz poses a real bodily harm risk, from higher photon energy value frequencies that are coherent radiation emissions, that are currently unknown, untested or proven to be safe and uninsurable, with levels of radiation emissions in excess of anything that was imagined by earlier technologists. ICNIRP Guideline radiation values apply to single antenna device emitters, definitely not the massive increase and multiplication of radiation emission devices proposed across all cities and towns for the 5G network. The interconnected everything all at the same time using highly complex, biologically toxic, modulated microwave radiation in particular. II.8

This deployment is proposed by governments across the World in all city and townships without any of the obligatory environmental impact analysis or public insurance for harm instruments, (II.9), rendering the whole network as an illegal and unlawful act by authorities acting ultra vires in allowing unfettered access to the environment of known biologically toxic Ionizing and Non Ionizing Radiation Emissions. Telecoms companies generally self-certify to (out of date) ICNIRP guidelines, which allows telecoms companies to breach that guideline, without sanction, as there are no regulatory bodies making independent assessment that the ICNIRP guidelines are adhered too II.10.

The same ICNIRP Guidelines that have been shown to cause, ill health and cancers in the general population in proximity to the existing 4G networks. II.11

A further troublesome fact is confirmed by the telecommunications industry responsible for the deployment in confirming that they, the industry, have not carried out any scientific research and therefore have no current published scientific research data on the actual impact of 5G networks on the environment. Independent research studies on the subject refute industry and government propaganda about the safety of the 5G network II.12.

Government agencies who are tasked with protecting the population from the confirmed cancer causing properties of Non Ionizing and Ionizing radiation have failed in enabling a regulatory framework of safety standards or guidelines to protect the environment exposing an unsuspecting public to levels of radiation that can prove harmful and life threatening. Serious critical infrastructure risks have been ignored in the deregulated rush to advance the 5G network deployment. A number of serious scientifically established risks have been overlooked by industry and Government regulators across the World, that can be caused due to the mass densification of 5G, IOT and SMART City antenna systems, that require billions of large spectrum quadrature amplitude modulated (QAM) microwave radiation transmitters. Canada's own cellular network in 2018 was supported by approximately 33,000 large towers of up to 200 feet in height. The new 5G protocol will require many more, higher radiation beam wave emissions using precisely located towers across towns and cities - an estimated 273,000 - at much shorter height with significantly larger energy demands on the electric grid and network. II.14.

The propaganda narrative of industry and agencies claiming these 5G networks use less energy is demonstrably false due to a number of factors. The massive increase in antennas from large massive in massive out antennas (MIMO) for 5G, plus the mini and micro relay networks, as well as increased device data usage, which all require further power consumption in Watts. The continual, not-on-demand, scanning radar to pick out the target area, is continually in operation, with the added over laying of multiples of higher energy focused beam waves, created by the out-of-phase emission antennas. These focused high energy beam waves, operating across a larger part of the spectrum, use higher energy photon values in the compressed mm wave spectrum, to deliver high power data compression beams across urban areas and is the reason the aviation industry are very concerned at the risks posed to their critical communication systems to keep aircraft safely in the air.

The planned and currently deployed 5G mass antenna installations all add to an ever increasing requirement for more energy to produce the increased data transfer through radiation emissions across cities and towns. Microwave radiation emissions are known to increase thermal temperatures, contributing to the climate change challenges and life threatening effects in cities of raising temperatures. Heat Island impacts are defined as large urban areas that are affected by increases in city temperatures that have been recognized by the (EPA) Environmental Protection agency as causing detrimental health impacts and increases in energy consumption II.15

Energy Consumption in Heat Islands increase demand for air conditioning to cool buildings. In an assessment of case studies spanning locations in several countries, electricity demand for air conditioning increased approximately 1–9% for each 2°F increase in temperature. Countries where most buildings have air conditioning, such as the United States, had the highest increase in electricity demand. Heat Islands contribute to higher daytime temperatures, reduced night-time cooling, and higher air-pollution levels. These, in turn, contribute to heat-related deaths and heat-related illnesses such as general discomfort, respiratory difficulties, heat cramps, heat exhaustion, and non-fatal heat stroke.

Microwave radiation will also be affecting a large number of molecular structures in materials that increase building fire risk. This is due to hydrocarbon elements in buildings breaking down due to the effect caused by modulated microwave radiation, causing localised heating and the break down of materials. Microwave radiation at certain frequencies will excite water molecules and if there is no moisture available, other less volatile molecules will absorb the radiation and start to heat. Therefore, any material that has dried out, can overheat and ignite more easily in a microwave field, a type of priming. The risks particular to the 5G radiation emissions is caused because of the proposed mass densification and spectrum dominance of the radiation emissions. Also, any metal objects inside a microwave field can exhibit dielectric properties that can cause sparking which could lead to a fire; this is caused due to a build-up of charged particles, energy which produces a concentrated electric field at the edge of the metal. II.16

These are all scientific phenomena that have been ignored by the regulators and industry, but the most alarming, unrecognised and unregulated issue is fatigue of materials caused by the continual bombardment of 5G data compression and focused (QAM) modulated microwave energy fields. 5G requires far more complex and focused data package compression of energy. The potential for specific frequency causing the disassociation of molecular structures of solid building materials, priceless artworks, wine collections, cannot be understated due to the currently un-researched cross wave impacts of such large numbers of energy in air modulated radiation emissions. This cacophony of microwave radiation pollution could lead to severe failures in larger capital equipment including the electrical grid. Current critical infrastructure was never assessed or engineered with this pulse vibration energy in air value added to the fatigue materials calculation and ultimate life expectancy of the established infrastructure including the power grid. II.17

What has also been discovered, is unnecessary latent power capacitance built into the 5G SMART IOT hardware network. This large capacitance could easily be used for a possible Electro Magnetic Pulse (EMP) attack on cities and populations II.18

This would depend on the known interconnectivity and remote access of an easy hackable network to all emission devices in the built up radiation 5G Grid. II.19

5G operating systems have already been compromised and could pose a significant security risk, as EMP's can cause a major disruption to electromagnetic communication systems, the electric grid and electronics hardware; EMP emissions usually come from sources including the SUN and a number of developed weapons. 11.20

The Electromagnetic pulse wave from nuclear bomb testing was shown to cause large electrical grid disturbances at great distances, however, the recent 5G switch on in South Korea in April 2019 caused a number city fires due to the documented failure of the electrical grid transformers. The South Korean government and media passed this off as caused by forest fires at five separate cities all across the Country at the same time the 5G was turned on, but did not explain the electrical grid disturbance and destruction of critical electrical grid hardware. EMP risks identified in the USA continent II.21

The telecommunications narrative for Fifth Generation 5G is only a cover for its actual future capability and purpose, as confirmed by the total disregard of environmental risk research, with no insurance liability cover for harm. The future domain for the battle space and the ongoing deployment of 5G technological advance include 5G weapons for warfare across cities, towns and countryside. The domain includes psychological warfare technologies, including control and dissemination through social media of information to obscure the real purpose of 5G as a warfare system. “The Fifth Generation mission-space represents a new environment in which future operations will take place”. The complexity of the domain is exacerbated by uncontrolled and undefined actors directing or influencing the narrative. The greatest challenge of the new mission space is the total erosion of the concepts of the enemy and of war itself. The opponent will be much more ambiguous and warfare will become an insidious creep designed to degrade from within rather than attack from without”.II.22.

Special operations forces are already debating the opportunities and risks from the IOT 5G networks, with assassination through the LAW’s that can be used to eliminate target individuals. “Metamaterial adoption has been greatest in communications, antennas, and radar systems, with related RFID applications for tagging, tracking, and locating. The move to 5G communications and extraordinary radar capabilities will push developments even faster, with commercial sales forecasted to exceed $10 billion annually by 2030.20

Metamaterials are integral to future high-performance, high-impedance, low-profile, conformal, and fractal antennas for communications and radar systems. Immense potential exists for game-changing shifts in military communications and radar systems through metamaterials. Indeed, as metamaterials become more fully integrated into antenna technologies, they will reduce system costs, enable smaller devices with reduced power requirements, facilitate novel shapes and form factors, and deliver more agile beam forming and shaping capabilities” II.23

The military industrial complex across the World know only too well the advantages of using electromagnetic weapon systems for battlefield interrogation, namely 5G, and have done so since the emergence of the technology during the second World War. What is also well understood is the vast body of published scientific data showing the detrimental health and environmental effects from the current telecommunications networks. 5G adds a whole range of further risks to the environment, and the population’s health. II.24

This is not an argument that can now be disputed; mission creep and the planning of asymmetrical, unconventional warfare across cities should be of great concern, especially to the civilian population, in case they become the target for an Orwellian technocracy fascist regime. Who would be controlling the spying urban interrogation radar and Direct Energy in air Weapon systems ? II.25

Many opportunities are currently up for discussion across the defence industry focusing on the capability of the 5G urban networks to tag the population with metamaterial antennas, while serious concerns and risks are seemingly ignored. II.26

These agenda’s and future plans pose a significant risk to civil liberties, critical infrastructure and the rule of law.

III. Vaccination Meta materials, Nano particle contamination magnetic fields

Vaccines have been shown in a number of studies now to contain toxic metal contaminants including inexplicable levels of Nano Metal Contamination. III.1

This phenomena is far from inexplicable if the research scientists who carried out this study had knowledge of the defence industry goals and the metamaterial ingredients that can be used to enhance urban 5G interrogation technologies, as well as various other Nano Material development projects. III.2

Metals are almost universally radar-reflective and therefore are not invisible to its use as a means for detecting objects. Wetware is the name given to biological structures operating in the battle field space that are far more difficult to track and trace or attack using LIDAR, RADAR or DEW. Metals are strong reflectors of electromagnetic waves and allow for increased detection and resolutions from battlefield interrogation technologies. Specific metal shapes in polymers can be used for their dielectric properties to deflect and absorb the reflection and interrogation capability of current radar systems, III.3

However, without this precise shape and polymer encapsulation use, metal contamination in the form of metamaterials will allow for a higher resolution of the target. The target acquisition of Wetware is therefore far more precise and the technological field can be used to gather bio-metric data which would be gathered after the Covid 19 vaccine technology is injected into the body. It is envisaged that wearable and portable electronic devices that currently are used to connect the person to the cloud will become redundant due to these and further technological advances. The Neural Link control network is envisaged, through implanted Nano Technology Antennas that gather such data, that can be uploaded to the cloud; these innovations are well beyond the planning phase and all part of the future battle field space. III.4

Dr Robert Young's research confirms the COVID 19 injections have been fully loaded with metamaterials, namely Graphite, Ferrous Oxide Nano Particulates III.5.

This shocking discovery is confirmed through our own research carried out on victims, as well as thousands of anecdotal video's showing electromagnetic radiation emissions; together with magnets and metal objects reacting to injection sites of the actual COVID 19 vaccinated. Other bio markers, including SM-102, a toxic phospholipid present in the Moderna COVID 19 vaccines, is a synthetic luciferin that improves bioluminescence imaging luciferase. III.6

Luciferins can be activated using electromagnetic radiation to create a bio luminescence of the subject. Facial recognition technologies part of the 5G technology tool box can then be used to track and trace the contaminated subject across the environmental space.

The dangers posed to the population causing death, and significant biological damage by the COVID 19 Experimental mRNA vaccine medical intervention, are now documented in nearly one thousand published scientific papers. III.7. COVID 19 injections are now related to blood clotting, myocarditis, pericarditis, thrombosis, thrombocytopenia, anaphylaxis, Bell's palsy, Guillain-Barre, Cancer including deaths, etc. All of which are confirmed irrefutable science and government gathered data from the UK Health and Security agency on COVID 19, vaccines as unsafe and not effective.

IV. Radiation induced Corona virus Covid 19 symptoms.

The vast majority of the populations across the West, in particular the Five Eyes community, the Anglosphere intelligence alliance comprising: Australia, Canada, New Zealand, the United Kingdom, and the United States populations have been injected, without their knowledge, with nano metamaterial antennas and are unfortunately going to suffer increased mortality rates due to localised reflecting radiation emissions from the 5G urban radar. All of the known CORONA Virus symptoms can be attributed to Ionizing and Non Ionizing radiation pollution. IV.1, IV.2

5G has been identified in a number of published papers as the actual cause of the pandemic, which started coincidentally in WUHAN province with the switch on of the 5G network and a mandated vaccinated population. The potential for 5G to deliver Ionizing energy levels would cause immune system suppression that would leave the body at risk of other disease. IV.3

The COVID 19 pathogen has not been isolated or purified and currently no government agency can provide the isolate or evidence of its actual existence, apart from the in-silica modelling created from the Wuhan Institute, which is officially acknowledged to be China's most advanced virus research lab complex. China, a signatory to the Biological Weapons Convention (BWC) since 1985, had, in 1993, declared the Wuhan Institute of Biological Products as one of eight bio warfare research facilities covered by the BWC. Any individual working at or on that site would be legally obliged to adhere to any secrets caused by and through their employment at that facility and are not at liberty to speak. The Wuhan BSL-4 laboratory is dedicated to the research of severe infectious diseases. National Biosafety Level 4 Laboratory has the highest level of biological safety and covers many of the bio toxins and illegal gain of function SARS COV 2 bio weapons developments and was the source for the initial pathogen data for COVID 19 existence and consequential international pharmaceutical business vaccination program response. Coincidentally the PCR test was never able to identify a live virus or pathogen and is the fundamental basis for the lock downs across the World which have been used with great effect at terrorizing the World's ignorant population into a belief that COVID 19 exists as a live virus and that the only survival strategy is taking a bio weapon technology masquerading as a vaccine. IV. 4

The CDC have now removed the PCR test as a diagnostic tool, after it was misused showing a deliberate use of a test to create fear and distress among an often ignorant population. IV.5 Research Scientists and Medical Doctors across the World have been gagged, threatened and vilified in the popular press and discredited as conspiracy theorists by governments and their agents when they haven't supported this trans globalist agenda and spoken out. The Great Barrington declaration, with over 800,000 signatories, has been ignored and vilified by those pushing their terrorizing narrative. It was unconscionably ignored so that the populations in the West could be terrorized into participating in the largest illegal unlawful medical experiment in World history. IV.6.

V Augmented Humans increasing Mortality in 5G Radiation fields

Augmented humans and their so called biological enhancement are already forming part of Governments and defence industries wider digital connected World agenda. V.1.

Amazingly, in representative democracies across the World, this is happening without any public consultation, with zero public debate, by the proposed participants of this ideological, technological, political agenda. V.2.

It can be postulated that the only reason for this type of obscurity is that the Technocracy, including other driving forces that include (WEF) World Economic Forum and (UN) United Nations 2030 agenda, have created this lack of information from popular view, as the World's population would condemn and refuse to be participants in it. There are obvious serious legal and lawful implications surrounding this agenda; however the focus should be on the legal implications on allowing biologically harmful technologies that will have a detrimental impact on health, environment, mortality and genocide risks across the World from this augmented human digitized technological advance. Currently there is no credible safety data or research showing the deployment of this technology is safe. Virtual Reality (VR) headsets are a shocking example of a product brought to market with no optical safety standard norms or testing protocols before entering the market. Considering that artificial optical radiation is a known environmental and human hazard, these headsets require a magnification of optical radiation as a retinal display and confirm as an example the total disregard for safety and the law. A further example, the neural uplink technology requires insertion or injected Nano metamaterials that have antenna capability into the brains and bodies of humans across the planet. V.3.

Nano materials have already been shown in the published literature to produce detrimental biological effects causing cell death and potential fertility problems.V.4.V.5.

It is suggested that Nano antennas are used to receive and respond using coherent compression of QAM data within the body, without any corresponding safety data on the creation of a population of radiation emission entities, which under certain legal definitions would become electrical devices and most possibly not classed as human. The energy levels from these proposed coherent signals from and to antennas positioned within the body and brain, will increase the cellular damage from the radiation impacts, which have already been shown to be Genotoxic when exposed from emissions outside of the body. V.6.

The modulating levels operating in the Non Ionizing Energy spectrum, from low power mobile communication devices are shown to cause Reactive Oxidation Species (ROS) and are Genotoxic to animals during the largest independent National Toxicology Program (NTP) study, which is supported by the larger body of independent published science. These studies confirm the Genotoxic effect on animals from sub chronic ICNIRP guideline level exposures. 5G urban emissions are designed to deliver chronic radiation exposure that should necessarily increase the genotoxic effects on all biological life that the radiation comes into contact with. These radiation emissions are well over the 6min contamination levels recommended across certain spectrums by ICNIRP. Evidence from areas blanketed by less powerful, less densification radiation emission, 4G networks, have shown significant detrimental effects on wildlife V.7.

Smaller biological organisms that make up the whole ecosystem have less protection from man-made radiation emissions and can therefore be effected in a more visible, incontrovertible way. The acute lack of small insects has been shown to be caused primarily from the effects of new experimental man-made radiation emissions including (LED) light emitting Diodes that have been poorly studied for their detrimental effects on the environment. V.8.

The addition of Nano metamaterials through implant, injection, and environmental contamination will create a cytotoxic environment detrimental to all biological life. Localised reflection from the metamaterial antennas or the Nano metal contaminated vaccinated entities will add to a substantial increase in radiation exposures, especially across cities. 5G back haul technology can now capture and interrogate multiple data points, conversations, as well as bodily bio metrics and movements twenty four hours per day, every day for the rest of what should be a limited life expectancy for the COVID 19 vaccinated, as well as those unable to remove themselves from these 5G radiation networks and Nano particle polluted environments. Man-made magnetic fields accompany the digitized (QAM) beam wave, increasing emissions creating an energy vibration disturbance of the Nano metamaterial particulates in the contaminated vaccinated body; this will significantly increase the cytotoxicity of the technologies on an unsuspecting mass population of vaccinated persons. The mandating of this technological experiment in the form of a vaccine that increases sterility and untimely death, is a criminal enterprise by organisations and individuals who have not recognised the compartmentalized development of weapon systems required for the control and planned depopulation agenda. The mass depopulation intelligence was confirmed in Defence circles as early as 2017 by DEAGEL weapons hardware intelligence group with many millions of casualties occurring in countries across the West by 2025. Ignorance should serve as no defence to these criminals who are party to waging this asymmetrical war against an ignorant terrorized populace. A total disregard of obligatory environmental risk assessments and safety standard norms in regard experimental technologies and the precautionary principles that should be applied to them, should identify the criminals. UK Gov. Data shows clearly that the experimental vaccines don't work as a vaccine and are posing a significant risk to the population through serious adverse reactions in the millions, including death. There is no risk benefit for the injection of this poison into children, however we read, with utter horror, as the actors behind this planned murderous event ignore the science and the irrefutable data, as they press on with their covert warfare agenda against the most vulnerable in our societies. V.9.

The CDC Centre for Disease Control admit to the current life threatening dangers posed to the young from this experimental technology, with no long term data over the dangers posed by this bio chemical weapons deployment. The total disregard of ethical and legal obligations is due to the overarching military future battlefield agenda now waged against civilians.

V.1 Conclusions.

To quote Martin L Pal, PhD Emeritus Professor of Biochemistry and Medical sciences at Washington State University, “Putting tens of millions of 5G antennas, without a single biological test of safety, has to be about the stupidest idea anyone has had in the history of the World” Only it isn't is it. 5G is a compartmentalized weapons deployment, masquerading as a benign, helpful, technological advance for enhanced communications and faster download. The Globalist false propaganda falls away with one simple undisputed fact. Their PCR test patent for COVID 19 which was filed in 2015, was never able to identify a live virus, so it could be utilized to terrorize ignorant and unsuspecting populations across the World into taking a COVID 19 vaccine, polluted with a Nano antenna technology to hook the victim up to the 5G network.

From a regulatory safety standards perspective, emerging 5G, autonomous, augmented reality technologies, often referred to by the manufactures as killer tech, will prove to be exactly that. The lack of consideration, of the known biological harm from increasing levels of Ionizing and Non Ionizing Radiation from the mass deployment of these technologies, developed for battlefield use, has been caused due to the laissez faire approach by regulatory bodies and the telecoms industry. Non-Government bodies, individuals and groups have had to take Court action against Government safety regulatory organisations; as they have ignored the precautionary principle, have disregarded the requirement for standards which are inextricable in law for new and experimental product developments. The whole reason for their very existence has become a fraud and corrupted by criminals within these organisations who have destroyed an educated public's confidence in regulatory bodies. Basic safety requirements have been wilfully ignored by the industry and ICNIRP guidelines set up to confuse those less technically savvy. The COVID 19 Vaccine adverse reactions data read like the destruction of mankind, as millions of North American citizens die and are injured due to this medical experiment in breach of the Nuremberg Code and the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Courts. Levels of radiation emissions from the 5G network empirically exceed the COE 1815 Resolution and confirm the assault, causing actual bodily harm, on populations across the World. The fact that the COVID 19 vaccines vector data was developed in biological chemical weapons laboratories, should help to confirm that it is only masquerading as a vaccine, with the emerging data of sterilization ill health and death across the West as confirmation of its real purpose. The depopulation of those with no knowledge of the murderous agenda will continue, until the criminals involved in this mass murderous act are brought to justice. The 5G network has the capability to target acquire and attack the vaccinated due to their Nano metamaterial antenna COVID 19 vaccine. LAWS require the 5G networks to maintain their geo position and navigate their environment to the target; these weapons cannot rely on satellite communications due to the potential of inclement weather events and signal latency, so must have localised 5G networks for the upcoming city scape battle field environment, assassination capability and battlefield domination for planned future wars. Rogue actors are implementing the final solution, a Third Reich concept now realised and put into action by the (WEF) build back better, fourth industrial revolution against civilian populations, as proposed by the defence industry in breach of the Geneva convention as well as domestic and international laws and treaties.

For the avoidance of doubt, the definition of a weapon is a device, tool, or action that has been fashioned to cause physical or psychological harm in breach of the primary legislation. The compartmentalization of weapons systems development have played a crucial role in not alerting those within the regulatory authorities and telecommunications industry of the real purpose and intentions of those ultimately driving and funding the deployment of 5G and biological chemical weapons masquerading as Covid 19 vaccines, for a planned control and command kill grid. The World is literally flying blind following the technocracy's and military industrial complex's plans to terminate large numbers within populations across the World, with no regard to the primary legislation. GOD given rights and laws enshrined for the protection of man and women have been disregard by these cult like forces in their depopulation sterilization and mass murder agenda. 5G is a weapon system, a crime against humanity so large and so unbelievable, that even an educated person will find it unbelievable on first inspection of the facts; what chance would the ignorant have. The prima facie evidence of this Globalist depopulation agenda is unequivocal and should be tested in the Courts, so that the conspirators and bad actors involved in this murderous plan can be brought to Justice. This is the greatest crime ever to be perpetrated on Mankind and all of GOD's creation.
