Q: I have read your last segment and I was tempted to write you, for a long time I thought about asking your input on a couple of astrological questions. Since 2002 after reading the Matrix second edition I started getting really interested in astrology, and my interest has never ceased since. I am an auto tutored astrologer i have made it my aim to understand through experience (reading many charts, many books and contemplating many concepts). Astrology made me understand "time" its movement and its potential reservoirs of experience. It made me understand different qualities of character and give real allowance to different incarnations and their unique filter of experience. And of course it made me understand my own very complex lessons in my incarnation. I understand you work a lot with the nodes, for me i have not found (so far) any satisfying. Underlying principles in order to work with them thoroughly. I understand the concept of a kind of magnetic poling, spirit wise, going from the south to the north nodes, that compels the growing needs of the incarnation in the most delicate sense, it is like those points encompass the whole incarnation purpose (that even the sun is subordinate to). And as a compass for the spirit ,while it grows to that direction, opportunities and associations open up that are helping the spirit strongly on its incarnational path, but i still don't seem to understand its different levels and how it operates with different planets, would you say for a basic example the a planet in trine to the north is a supportive influence to the path and a square hiders it (therefore a reflection of a strong incarnational lesson that has to do with that planet)? and in synastry would you say the same to aspects between nodes or planets from one person to node of the other (except from the symbolic of for example moon -mother in different life time etc..) or that every connection of the nodes ( even inconjunct and square) show a link that advances growth between those incarnations ( one of my closest friends that I also know from at least a couple of vivid incarnational flashbacks, has his nodes square mine ). I am very eager and passionate about those topics, and any input and further guidelines on the subject from your own experienced knowledge would make me so very grateful. Perhaps I even speak for other M5 readers who themselves study astrology and also would appreciate an in depth segment of your one of a kind matrix V perspective. . 10-20-07

A: While square aspects ARE obstacles, we could not succeed without them. They are obstacles and not roadblocks. Rewards working with them are worth the effort. Your Nodes refer to YOUR path ONLY. Other people's Nodes refer to theirs. Paths may, and do, intersect at times, but then go their own way. You are trying to read FAR too much into the Nodes between 2 charts. Keep it basic and simple which is difficult if you have Virgo placements. Surprise and lack of predictability are part of our paths which is why our Higher Selves are restricted with what they can let incarnations, EVEN Dominant and Final, know. I know others who are always straining to find a detailed (damned Virgo-ish again) blueprint for the rest of their lives, always wanting to know all their Higher Selves know. The more one tries to do this, the LESS they will discover they are able to access. It's partially a body ID thing...the body looking for loopholes (hmmm...should tell you something) to its mortality and finite nature. When comparing another's chart to mine, I look for basics (Moon ,Mercury, Venus, Mars to mine primarily), but never go digging into Nodal aspects beyond the obvious, simple comparison. Karmic (HATE that word) astrology deals with the study centering around the Nodes and incarnations. However it's flawed since they view incarnations sequentially. That should tell you who is behind the study in the first place. Should I ever find myself in the company of M5 read astrologers (not likely), I would probably have all kinds of answers to questions, but, for now, that segment will have to do.

Q: Glad to read your move is successful. I haven't written in a very long time. When I read you were thinking about writing an M5 Astrology book I had to write to give my personal encouragement on such a project. My Astrology studies are progressing but most books I sense are partial truths as expected. Steven Forrest and Evolutionary Astrology is the most helpful material I have found. My question is: Is there an Astrology aspect or Natal position that indicates a predilection toward the ability to Astral Travel? I have over half the planets in the 8th and 12th houses. Yet, they still are mysterious to me. You wrote the 12th house has information about the incarnation that is closest to me on the timeline. Can you add anything more? The M5 project has been of immense assistance. . 9-20-07

A: While an astrological M5 book was an idea I had back a while, it's nothing I've thought of till you brought it up again. Combining M5 and astrology would be a project that could only be understood by astrologers, not the general public. For that reason, I'm not likely to do it...very limited audience who could appreciate it fully. I recommend all books by Ivy Jacobson who is long dead. Also recommended is anything by Sophia Mason (outstanding) and Mae R Wilson-Ludlam wrote great basic astrology books. I learned most of my relationship/sex astrology from Sophia who was SO funny. She has also died at an old age.

Several astrological factors could indicate astral travel abilities. One needs at least 3 factors to indicate likelihood. Good aspects from Neptune (astral) to personal planets. Strong water placements make one sensitive to the astral. Good aspects from Uranus free you from your physical. These are just some, but give you something to work with. The bottom line is IF your current incarnation is to be an astral traveler, your Higher Self will see that it is so. It is not something that can be forced. Then, too, without proper training on the astral, one could have severe problems. My shamanic training gave me what I needed for that. The astral is not a place for curiosity seekers. We all will be there when we drop dead. Until then, trust in YOUR Higher Self when it comes to if/when you will experience this. Definitely your Final Incarnation will have this necessary ability..

Q: Yesterday i received a strange call from my father. It was three in the afternoon and he called out of the blue (he has never really called me in my life) he wanted to tell me that" whatever happens that he'll always, always, love me. I just needed you to know that." Now, my father works in the Pentagon along with Powell and all those guys. He just got back from six months in Iraq. The call itself was strange but the message was stranger and I felt a cold chill run through my body. Afterwards I felt powerless in my right arm and thought of suicide. Later that day I asked my higher self what was going on. I simply got that it was a two-sided message, but that something big was coming down the pipe. As we know of the end game scene I knew this already, but it seems that the boys in Washington are planning on launching some heavy shit soon. I have also seen some very active alien ships flying over here in Utah. I just thought I'd get that out and see how you were. 6-9-07

A: Thanks for sending me this info. I've been saying something VERY bad will happen to this country with this fall as likely - Sept or later and/or 08. Let me know if you hear any more.

Q: I just read your latest M5-Vol 3 segment regarding Lightsiders. As i have long suspected -- attracting favorable conditions for personal matters is one thing, but changing large events is another entirely. That changing crystal shape in the water with thought is a favourite amongst some people i know. To them, it is 'proof' that 'Thought creates Reality'. 6-8-07

A: I'm glad that you are enjoying the M5 segments. As for the water crystals, the effect is visible because it changes NOTHING in the Game, hence it is permitted.

Q: Thank you so much for sharing your knowledge. M5 has transformed my life. I am a female and completely understand the programming of women per Orion commands. It's difficult for me to find female friends because of that. I began reading M5 shortly after it came out, have read it several times over since, have also read Vol II and III and M5G, also several times each. Each time I get more out of the reading. When reading M5G recently I had a really incredible experience. I began to feel a strong energy running into my crown chakra; it kept flooding down through all my chakras and seemed to flood into every cell. My hands just kind of placed themselves about a foot into my aura around my head and just stayed there for about a half hour, without getting tired from holding themselves up. I could feel the expansion of my energy field. I was "told" that I was "receiving a download," and that I would understand the contents of it in time. This was such an emotional experience. Since then I have had so many "ah hahs" and new and deeper understanding of the material I've read over the years in M5. I don't know if this was a rote, or whatever, but it has been phenomenal, and I know it came directly from M5G's "energy." Could this have been a rote?

Also thank you for the recommendation of the particular version of Swan Lake. I listened to it in my car as I was driving on a back road through the northern California redwoods. I was crying all the way out of a kind of pure joy. In addition to what you mention concerning track 14, I could also see Earthers running around playing the Game in a couple of passages. Amazing.

Finally, I wanted to ask you a specific question. For some time now I have had visions that involve seeing people. Sometimes they are shadowy but often they are vividly clear, with clear details. They are usually of different time periods with specifically clear clothing of the time periods involved, and the individuals are doing things. An example, a man in snow type clothing--not sure of the time period--with snow boots, black hair waving in the cold wind. He was a "tracker" who's senses were very well developed. This picture was as clear as if I was there with him. I've seen a woman in Roman times who was wealthy and very much of a spoiled brat, bossing her slaves around. I've seen a battle scene of the Crusades with a close up of a Knights Templar soldier in full uniform with the red cross on his helmet ( I did not even "know" about the Knights Templar until I "saw" this and did some research). There have been many of these and my best sense is that they are other incarnations of mine. That's a statement, but also a question. Any suggestions about how to further evolve this? Thanks again for such a phenomenal assistance and awakenings in helping those who want to advance and spiral out of the Game.

A: I'm glad that M5 is beneficial to you on your path. It sounds like you received a rote from your Higher Self. One's Higher Self is never trivial, so you got something shim knew you need. As to your other experiences, you're on your own. See what develops.

Q: Today I was reading one of your writings that you have posted since Matrix (The Journey) was published. You mentioned a dental hygienist who you noticed had alien black eyes. This writing struck me since I was told many years ago (in the early 90's) that when I spared in karate that people noticed my eyes turned black.

I also had a dream many years ago that my mom and I were abducted. The aliens (very human looking) had us kneel in a circle. They then had a large alien go around the circle and cut off everyone's head and replace it with another head. When they got to me, the alien in charge told them to stop, that they could not touch me because I was a half-and-half. I woke up in a panic and have spent years trying to figure out what that dream meant. I also heard a name called out to me twice about 9 years ago. When I looked up this name and the history of this person, I was shocked to see that in history he was considered half man, half god.

I had a dream in the 90's that I was in a large floating warehouse, the colors were copper like and I saw floating barges with heads in them. All the barges had eight heads in them. The one barge I was in had one head missing. When I woke up I thought to myself that I am waking up and finishing my journey on Earth!!! I knew that all the heads were of me in some sort of way.

After reading your Matrix books I thought that I may be a dominant. Since your writing about the dental hygienist, I am not so sure.

My question is: Is it possible that there are half alien / half human beings that are on the Earth and do not know who they are? I was truly hoping to be a graduate (I am tired) but if it is my path to be the forerunner of my sequential playmates, I will accept this calling.

Your writings will help me no matter who or what I am. I know of the truth that you speak since I have searched all of this lifetime for the truth.

If you choose not to respond I will understand that you feel I need to find this info out for myself.

A: Yes, there are alien/Earther hybrids running around. I know one personally whose father was alien. As for your individual case, you will have to discover what is/is not important for your path. Remember that the spirit of an Earther counts when on the simultaneous path. The only advice I can give is to trust in YOUR Higher Self.

Q: "Is there anything else that you can reveal about energy and gender that you have not mentioned in the Matrix 5 series?"

A: M5 gives a lot of information on Higher Self path body ID and energy. Both the sequential and the simultaneous paths have the same gender energy structure. The males generate energy while the females store it and siphon it from the males in all heterosexual situations. The noted exception with females is in lesbian relationships. The spirit has been able to redirect body energy flows to support female to female interaction. Same gender relationships are spiritual in nature. Opposite gender relationships are incarnational/body ID in nature.

However, on the Nature Spirit path, there is no such gender energy structure. Both males and females generate energy. This is why monogamy is very rare on this path. One gender needs the other only for procreation and not a dependency relationship.

An example to note is with both dogs and cats. Both genders of animals radiate lots of energy. When a person is down or low in energy, holding/petting a dog or cat (of either gender) will allow the person to benefit from their energy. This is not a succubistic relationship. It is by design and part of the interaction between Higher Self and Nature Spirit paths. This does not mean that all animals will do this for you. Mammals are the potential energy source here (Earthers), not fish, amphibians, insects or reptiles. It is by design that certain animals willingly give their energy to us. This information is contained in greater detail in the Library on 27 and within our Higher Selves. After Graduation, you will have full access to an unbelievable wealth of knowledge.

Q: "A comment to your last post about Pluto, interesting to note that right now (24/8 when it was on the news) mars (ego oriented) in Virgo(rationalist scientists) is making a square to Pluto, reflecting nicely the attack on Pluto's place in the solar system. The second thing to note on Pluto conjunction the G.C is that it still didn't pass on the exact degree (26.56-57) and it will do that for the first time in the end of December , while ten days before there will be a new moon (with the sun close to its solstice point) in conjunction with the G.C Pluto point!. I guess that will be the birth of this new phase that has been climbing for a while now , and will open the gates for those last stages of world drama ,fascinating to see the cosmic clock ticking. No wonder the scientific community is demoting Pluto right now when it is so relevant to human and earth changes. I am waiting (if I will still be here) for the cosmic clock to go "click" on the alignment of the 2012 December solstice sun with the Galactic equator, that will be a hell of a sunrise!!"

A: Yes, the Galactic Center is a drama that is still unfolding. It is connected with the Graduation Key, all pre-Graduates and the Earth Planetary Spirit. It will be 'interesting' to see how it develops.

Q: "There are two topics I was hoping you could provide some additional information. In order to make the email easier to read and respond to, I am going to send it in two parts. The first topic is about the dealing with the succubistic nature of the female body. The second is about the use of occult energy without giving away one's power. I also have a book recommendation that may be beneficial for some of your readers.

After I read your material, I decided that there was enough validity to what you wrote to accept the parts that I had no reference to (our body being an alien creation for example) as an assumed truth and proceed from there. One of the decisions that I made after reading the material was to discontinue physical contact with women. I have been dealing with a lot of the 'rocks' that have come from that decision since then, although I have also had several positive experiences along the way that have left me satisfied with my choice.

The only physical contact that I had with women previous to that decision was from: 1. affection that I shared with my grandmother and mother, 2. shaking hands when being introduced to someone, 3. bumping into someone or sitting next to someone in public areas and similar types of situations that come up in 'daily life.' Both my grandmother and mother have accepted my decision, understanding it is something that I feel is necessary for my spiritual growth even though they don't like or understand my choice. With the second situation, when I introduce myself to a female I will explain I am following a spiritual discipline which prevents me from having physical contact with the opposite sex, which will either create an awkward social situation (always fun to deal with) or opens up the door to questions which I do my best to answer. With the third situation I have just been doing the best I can to be aware of my surroundings and keep accidental contacts to a minimum.

Most of what I need cleared up at this point come from questions I have been asked by other people that have come up based on the situations I described above. Whenever I make it to the point where I start talking about how the way our bodies are designed the female will drain the male of his energies, or how contact with the opposite gender impedes spiritual progress I run into problems. Most of the people I talk to are genuinely interested if these things are true or not, but below the level necessary to comprehend the MV5 material in its entirety. (So bringing anything up along the lines of aliens or information obtained via OBE is not going to help them understand.) Do you have any additional information or know of any books available on third density that I can use to gain a better understanding of this matter? Also, regarding accidental contacts, are situations like that to be expected/accepted as part of life or would you recommend I do everything within my power to avoid them at all costs?

A: When I met an M5 female reader in another state, she said she knew I didn't want to have opposite gender contact. I told her I knew how to handle casual contact and gave her a hug. Of course my shamanic training was significant in learning how to block unwanted energy transfers, but this is where I am and add the Awakened Final to the overall picture. You have to decide what is best for you at your stage of the current incarnation. Some do benefit from zero contact. Some just are too body ID'd not to have full sexual contact. Whatever is right for you IS right for you. Remember that the M5 materials are not for all Earthers and it is only my observations and advice that can be accepted or rejected in part or total. It doesn't matter to me, but I've done what I am suppose to.

When I see a female in the succubistic mode (making a bee-line for my energy), I ensure that she keeps her distance. I've been known to say to her, "Wrong gender for getting that close - keep your distance". That always puts them on the defensive, but I could care less. The same should work if a female M5 reader desires to keep males away from her field. Yes, the other may come out with Game approved comments, but they have no effect on me. Don't be concerned with accidental or professional contacts (like hand shaking in a business way). Keep yourself centered and gold light shield up.

No, there are no other books I know of that deal with this subject. There are many topics in M5 that are unique to M5, and that's the way it is designed by the pre-Grad Higher Selves and Game designer(s).

Q: "I have a question on the nature of those continuing in the next sector of the game when the Planetary spirit (not just Earth, but any past or future simultaneous planet). You have written many times that the Higher Self will designate a final and dominant incarnations when shim has decided to graduate on the upcoming simultaneous planet, but will not if shim decides to continue onto the next planet- so what happens to all of the incarnations on a previous simultaneous planet? As linear time is an illusion will all those incarnations be summoned once the Higher Self's Final (albeit on another planet) manipulates the Nexus of Time? Or do they return to the Higher Self when the Planetary Spirit dies on that simultaneous planet? So what I'm asking is if you or any of the other pre-graduates on this planet have incarnations on the previous simultaneous planet and if so are they still active, waiting to be summoned by the Final on this planet? Or have they already been re-integrated? Perhaps this is knowledge beyond my need to know at this time, but I desire a little more clarity and thought I'd ask.

A: When a simultaneous path Higher Self wants to continue on the next so-designated planet, shim does so with a new batch of incarnations. The rules for simultaneous path say that Higher Self's incarnations may not have their current incarnations with full memories of all lives (sequential). Remember, you are asking this from the position of the incarnation and not your Higher Self who retains ALL memories of both path incarnations.

The simultaneous path planet designated remains active until the Planetary Spirit Graduates. That brings physical death to all incarnations on the planet. These incarnational streams are processed directly by the Higher Self. The Final and Dominants don't exist.

Of course there are many Higher Selves on the Earth stage who have been on previous simultaneous planets. In this current group of pre-Graduates, some are a one shot adventure (Earth alone) and others are more than one but Earth is their Graduation point, hence Dominants and a Final.

Yes, you are asking more complicated questions that really do not concern the incarnations at this stage. What I have just given you here will have to do. Any more will have to wait till you Graduate. Just remember, your simultaneous path Higher Self has ALL the information. It's the incarnation/body ID that can inhibit you. This is also an area of interest for certain sequential path beings.

Q: "Your last two observations have been most interesting. Not only are there species extinctions, but notice how 'lightsider extinctions' are also occurring. Websites like Ickes, Artic Beacon, Wayne Madsen Report, Air America and others are having increasing difficulty financing their websites, radio shows and publications. Appeals for donations, loans, etc are a sure sign of the blanket of darkness descending upon lightsider efforts. At the same time, UN efforts like 'Agenda 21' and the new 'Security and Prosperity Partnership of North America' are advancing the one world agenda at astonishing rates in this part of the world.

On the other hand I find the details of all these initiatives, from both sides, increasingly boring. More of the same – same old fear tactics (raised to new technological levels), same old paradigm, same old hierarchical control structures – like an old movie once interesting, but now stale and passé. I am increasingly restless to 'move on'.

I do have a question: Is it typical that simultaneous planetary spirits 'trump' the endgame efforts on all simultaneous planets (dark or light sectors of the galaxy)? It seems that the final stages of 'converting' any simultaneous planet by sequentials to their own dark or light side agenda would trigger such a graduation of the planetary spirit – to bring an ending to the 'local' simultaneous experience and provide another planet to take its place in this galaxy game. Comment? "

A: Yes, ALL simultaneous planets go through similar shit as Earth is. While Earth is in a Dark sector, other simultaneous planets have been and will be in Light sectors and the Game addicts will harass the pre-Graduates with in-your-face power that they have. It's all part of the process of EndGame. It should be no surprise that this is so or that any reader, whom M5 is written, couldn't figure that out. All types of games have similar endings. In our Galaxy Game, there is a double path: Graduation or continuation of the Game. From the Earth stage, most have chosen continuation.

Q: "Hello - I'm an M5 trilogy reader. I was thinking about your writings on the Galaxy Endgame recently. It was very interesting to read. I got to watch a few documentaries with regards to outer space not long ago- it showed the countless galaxies lighting up the visible universe. Very neat. I remembered how you said each Galaxy game is like a different 'board-game'. This implies one game player does not intrude on another game in play. Does that mean the technologically advanced sequential incarnations in our Galaxy somehow cannot, or are unable to travel to other nearby galaxies? Some of the disseminated information on alien interstellar travel seem to imply that they can traverse across galaxies easily. I'm curious-- is it some force that prevents travel outside of each galaxy, or certain circumstances (eg. technological barrier) that does not permit such an intrusion into another Galaxy Game?"

A: To be IN a Galaxy Game, you must be incarnated, after accepting the rules/restrictions of THAT particular Galaxy Game, in order to be playing the Game. This is where one's Higher Self has decided that one particular version of the Game is best suited to shim's requirements for Advancement. Before accepting one Game over another, a Higher Self examines all the current Games from all angles.

Remember that no sequential path is superior to ANY simultaneous path. Technological superiority detracts from spirituality. This has been discussed in M5. Game addicts, like the reptilian, are most interested in subduing the galaxy they live in to their rule. As ancient and technologically advanced as the Orion Empire is, they have been unable to rule even 1/4 of this galaxy. Don't be taken in by technological advancement.

The designer(s) of our Galaxy Game have ultimate control of what happens within and the Game rules are unchangeable once the Game has begun. The Higher Selves who participate know this very well. If any group of incarnations thinks they can interfere with another Game on a physical level, something will happen to deny them this perceived opportunity.

I have astral traveled outside of our Galaxy Game, but have not entered another. It would be spiritually immature of me to do so. If I would have consciously entertained the thought of poking around another Game, my Higher Self would have kept me from developing the astral travel talent.

So the bottom line answer to your question is that it would fall to the incarnation's Higher Self to determine which incarnations develop astral travel talents. If this were to waiver, the Game designer(s) would 'remind' that Higher Self of the Game rules voluntarily agreed to. Forget what you may see on Star Trek or Stargate.

As far as what some aliens claim, remember that when any and all aliens, who dabble on Earth, make announcements, claims and predictions, they have an agenda that involves hindering the simultaneous path. I would not trust any alien or what they say. The sequentials do not respect our path and would love nothing better than to drag us backward. So, when one claims they are from another galaxy, those, for whom M5 is written, should ask why they aren't content on staying in their own galaxy. Also, for such an apparently technologically advanced race, why Earth? Why not one of this galaxy's tech-oriented groups, like the Orion or Sirian Empires? No, these aliens have agendas and they are not for our benefit

Q: "If all Simultaneous Higher Selves are gathering between 7 and 8th Density , would THIS PLACE be the New temporary home Robert Monroe is talking about on page 195 in Ultimate Journey?"

A: I have not said that the simultaneous path Higher Selves are between the 7th and 8th density. Some people assume this is what I mean since the body oriented are always looking to categorize everything. They are where they are and I leave it at that. As far as what Monroe is referring to, who knows besides him and he is no longer around to answer questions. If 'home' is where one resides, then, yes, where the simultaneous path Higher Selves are would be considered 'home' for now. Likewise for the sequential path Higher Selves who are on another level.

Q: "Why would Monroe have to return to a 'new' (4 D) Earth after the year 3000 if he is graduating the Game ? I'm under impression that only those who had one life on Earth would have to return to Earth after year 3000 , but Monroe had more than one life .

A: I really have no idea why Monroe wrote that section about harvesting on a post-Graduate Earth. I have never found anything to support this strange part of his book. Note that it is also heavily body ID'd where a male and a female physical body are kept around. This is contrary to the spirit ID that Graduates have. It may be that this was his fantasy. From what I have learned, once we Graduate Earth we move to new experiences and not clinging to the past in this way. Again, only Monroe can say why he wrote what he did, but he is long gone. His books are his experiences, but he was also secretive and selective in what he chose to write.

Q: "Monroe was told about Nonhuman Intelligences ( former humans ) on p. 194-5 ( Ultimate Journey ) . Are they human souls , who's been eaten up by Reptilians and others and the ones ( thousands ) which were taken in small metal containers off Earth by Spaceships to continue life in nonhuman bodies or environment ( or both ) . Andromedans didn't want to explain to Alex Collier where these souls were supposed to end up . And IT'S a difficult task for our Higher Selves to locate them and return to the cluster to become COMPLETE . There seems to be another way to insert Simaltaneous human souls ( low to mid level ) into nonhuman bodies with the help of Light , Tunnel and the Generator off the coast of South Africa here on Earth ( as you've mentioned ) .

A: All simultaneous path Higher Selves were, at some time, non-human intelligences. Reptilian incarnations are one of them, for example. Again, what Monroe exactly means is impossible to say. We should not be concerned with matters that do not touch directly on our current incarnation or try to 'save' anything from anyone on the level you are curious about. This is why I always say trust in YOUR Higher Self. Nothing can happen to any of shim's incarnations, to derail the incarnational paths, without that Higher Self's permission. A lot of the proposals that are given to New Age communities involved instilling fear. What you ask about is one of those. Fear, in any form, pulls one away from a spirit path to a body path. And, if you haven't learned anything else from M5, is that the aliens ALL lie. They have agendas and their agendas revolve around interference in simultaneous path areas. Be concerned about your current incarnation. Learn what you desire to learn, but be able to discern between propaganda (fear or salvation types especially) and genuine knowledge.

Q: I have a question that won't go away so I thought I'd give asking you a shot (long shot, I know). I don't understand why a Higher Self would need to continue on to the next Simultaneous path planet. I have read in M5 that before the Earth Simultaneous path incarnations begin the Higher Self plans for all the experiences Shim will need and Shim can have as many incarnations as Shim needs. So why would there be a situation where EndGame arrives and Shim isn't ready? Also is there a nexus of time operation to recall all the incarnations of a "continuing on to the next Simultaneous path planet" Higher Self? If so who handles that since there is no Final yet? I think I am a little worried that I may not be graduating and continuing on instead. Which on the one hand might not be so bad (I trust my Higher Self) but I think I'd rather graduate from Earth.

A: What do you expect from the perspective of an incarnation that is not a Final? You are not trusting in YOUR Higher Self, for one.

Here's something for you to consider: you are planning to go away. You think you have all your plans set without a flaw. Something(s) happen that throw the plans into the garbage. Game addiction is mentioned throughout M5. The simultaneous path is a new option. it can also bring addiction. Your incarnational perspective is flawed combined with the sequential concept of progressing as a planetary unit.

ALL Higher Selves have the Nexus of Time feature whether it be sequential or simultaneous. That is how a Higher Self extends into the incarnational matrix. Dominants and the Final are features that a Higher Self instills when shim chooses to become a pre-Graduate.

There is no need on your part to be concerned with what your Higher Self has planned. You should be enjoying your current incarnation. What will be for you is already decided By you as your Higher Self.

Q: The last time I had a clear OOBIE was about 23 yrs ago back in Montreal, some kind of astral parasite leeching off me, hadn't known how to protect myself. I've been having quite a few back then, then it stopped. HS will let know in the right time. Read Monroe's 3 books, and Frost, and ordered the Gateway tapes. Your information on creating gold light is invaluable. Fuck the 'White Brotherhood' and giving off white light and 'love'. I can say now that studying occult can be just as dangerous as drugs. I've stopped both. I like your style of writing, raw and to the point. There's a lot of energy in MVG. It's like tuning into a certain frequency, like a laser going thru steel.

A: Thanks for your comments. I'm glad that the M5 series is proving worthwhile on your path. Vol III takes the material even higher than the other two. It will add much to what you have in the first two.

Yes, the occult (hidden) can be dangerous. The Dark polarity has hidden many traps in there to keep knowledge from the genuine seeker. The Light polarity has other traps to lure the same seeker into false sense of security with dead-end loops. Working one's way around both polarity traps can be difficult, but

Q: The more I think of it I consider that you may be right concerning the M5 material. On this end I can't seem to "not" read it. There have been times when driving in California to buy the earlier volumes that I felt as though every emotion in my body was trying to prevent me from getting to the book store. I took that as a signal to push through even more. Over the years I have been disturbed and awakened all at the same time. I feel that I have to read it as I have already received much awareness from the earlier M5 volumes. I live in Sedona and as I'm sure you know there is a whole lot of fluff and buff out here. My awareness of these matters has served me greatly.

A: Yes, when it comes to the M5 material, all three volumes, having functioned as the editor, it has become a part of me - I am always right. You are correct regarding the challenge of being in Sedona, surrounded by lightside (and darkside) propaganda - it's like being a rose in a mud puddle. What is good for them, around you, is good for them in their incarnational perspective. What is good for you, you must determine. Very accurate description below, by you, of how body id programming tries to keep you in the game. I recommend beginning again, with the first volume of Gold Edition, segments AND Q&A, and progressing through the books. You may have to force the issue with this incarnation, due to the constant blather around you, where you live. It's all up to you ....

Q: My question regards the topic of shamanic journeys , I had a bit of training in the classic" new age" technique with good results but allot of things didn't add up in my mind, as I was contemplating the the inner works of the journeying process i came to the conclusion that the shamanic journeys are a form (imagery/ associations) for conscious intention to manifest and I paralleled the trance state to a between state of directed dreaming (hippnogogic imagery) to oobe. as I read more and practiced more I concluded that their are more direct ways of obtaining same results and without invoking all sort of spirits (animal spirits etc..) for help ( even if only by intention) also understanding that most of the guides are higher self extensions, I understand that imagery ( or any sensory input that has an outline) is a way of communicating in astral subtleties (even in the communication of the higher self to its incarnation) my question is ,is their a more direct/essential way of journeying that you can share?

A: While shamanic work has been touched on in M5, it is not the purpose of M5 to teach how. Unless one is properly taught by genuine shamans, as opposed to pseudo-shamanic hacks, one cannot ever become a shaman. True shamans are rare. I met 2 people locally who claim to be 'shamans'. When I asked about their training, they said they "read a couple books" and "went to a weekend seminar". They are deceiving themselves and any to whom they present themselves as "shamans". Pseudo/faux shamans are fairly common. One does not become a shaman by reading a book nor by attending a weekend seminar. It takes years of dedication. Unless I directly approach an individual, I will not teach shamanic practices or techniques. The only site I can recommend is www.medicinergarden.com Eileen is a shaman and has properly taught shamans available for commercial work. I have nothing more to say on this topic.

Q: I was totally enjoyed your segment Planetary Spirit Under Attack. I am curious about the other Final Incarnation who participated in this cleansing and anything else you can add to what you have written.

A: It was a special event, to be sure. No, I can't answer anything else about the other Final chosen by the Planetary Spirit for that event. My Higher Self knows but it is not necessary for me, as the incarnation, to be consciously aware of this person. I would not be surprised to discover that the other Final is well removed from the EndGame time period, although that Higher Self would definitely have Very Advanced incarnations during EndGame. Of course when something like that seemingly open-ended segment appears, the delusional as well as the deceptive ooze out of the woodwork. I have been contacted by such claiming to be that other Final, yet there is a certain way that I would be contacted IF it were the true other Final in the ritual. I told Val that the loons would appear: the 'I-want-to-be' delusionals. The Game as well may attempt to generate a false 'Final' in order to try and block or disrupt the M5 project. I have no time for this and the M5 project will not be interfered with in this manner either. My advice to M5 readers is to be very suspicious of anyone claiming to be the other Final in the ritual. Recall certain M5 segments where I write how Finals do not go around proclaiming who they are unless there is a specific (VERY rare) reason for this fact to be known. The Matrix V project is one of those VERY rare situations. Even so, I maintain my seclusion as much as possible and seek no personal publicity. Pre-Graduation is a critical time for us. Simultaneous path, pre-Graduate Higher Selves will not have this interfered with. Those, for whom the Matrix V series is written, know exactly what I mean.

Q: Your topic of health nuts, in the sequential body ID segment, was an interesting one. I myself can be a borderline health nut sometimes, but it is not to prolong my life, but rather because part of my advancement has involved developing a relationship with the body I am in and knowing what it needs to function optimally. I pay close attention to the food it requires: whether I crave raw vegetables or beef, my body is telling me what it needs and I listen... not because I think I'm supposed to, or because people tell me to, but because I feel better, think better, operate better when I treat it well and listen. It's similar to using high octane gas in your car. But this is just what I have decided works best for me. I hear so much talk about diets from people I know... people pushing the vegan diet, the this diet, the that diet. Diet is a personal thing above all! Every body requires something different, and that's why I am hesitant to ever make a blanket recommendation to anyone. I am also not strict at all; once a week I allow myself a hearty dessert, apple pie or similar. What's the point in being totally healthy if you can't allow yourself some pleasure too?

A: The whole core of the M5 materials deals with INDIVIDUAL paths. The health nut path is as valid of an incarnational choice as is the junk food junkie. It's ALL about experiences and individual Higher Self needs. That people are always bitching about the type of body one has or the food choices they choose shows the lack of comprehension of individual paths and Higher Self needs. It demonstrates their body ID mode. They all want conformity: she's too fat (be like me-sequential), he doesn't work out (be like me sequential), she's too this/he's too that...all these are shitty sequential, conformist wails. Anyone who is subject to this type of bullshit, tell them to "Fuck off! It's MY path and I'll do what the hell I please!" And, depending on YOUR path, either pass the donuts or munch on some sprouts or whatever! The preachy types: you shouldn't eat that/you must do this/you must conform are ALL sequential and body oriented. The unfortunate thing is that in EndGame Earth, we are loaded with the demands to conform on a global scale. This is part of the sequentialization and body orientation.

Q: I'm pretty lucky, I am 22 and I have worked in the film industry, adventure tourism, studied adventure tourism and film, lived all over New Zealand, surrounded myself around all different types of people and now I am a corporate whore (temping) attending business meetings with the game players. What a bunch of boring people, give me the money and get myself overseas is the new plan!...experience other cultures is my next objective.

My "obsession" with new experiences is constantly pushing me into new directions of experience and I am learning fast. I like Vals quote about how society wants us to be obsessed with goals, rather than experience and ever since reading his quote, I have become even more "experience" motivated. The next adventure is to go overseas, and go explore the consciousness lab in Portugal. Thank you Higher Self for making me an interesting person, and with YOUR ideas into "the mix" -- and my luck with having so many friends being able to understand your materials, which makes me relationships with them that much stronger, I am happy with being ME.

Now, in your Matrix V: Graduation Key edition, you say that Higher Self's do not chit-chat with an incarnation. The question I have is, last week, I was given an "image" in which I rarely receive, of a native American (about 60 years old, long platted hair) and I did not "hear a voice" in my head, but rather "felt" an energy of that image, being what I think was my Final Incarnation.

Is that "chit-chat" with my Higher Self, or is that visual images representing itself as knowledge?

Yay! It's End Game and I am glad that I am not anyone, but ME!

I'm on page 10 of the Graduation Key -- thanks to my friend, Gen who brought the book. I am wearing the t-1, have ordered another dose of brain lightning and have begun eating organic food (it's taken me 2 years, since reading Val's Matrix books to feel that I desire a healthier life). I know I am a light-sider (extremely passive when someone instigates a confrontation) and look forward to learning how to approach confrontation from a more balanced perspective. Maybe I won't learn in this incarnation, but the intent is now there.

A: Good for you! I, for one, would much rather live in New Zealand than fascist Amerika, but, yes, have whatever experiences you want while you still can.

I used the term "chit chat" on purpose because it conveys idle conversation. It is not that you cannot receive communications from your Higher Self or Dominants or even your Final, but these are brief and serve a specific, path-related purpose. One's Higher Self does not engage in conversation with an incarnation. Game rules and all.

Religions use praying as their way to communicate to non-existent deities. Prayer is a subservient communication. Making a request of one's Higher Self is not prayer nor subservient because you are your Higher Self, as those for whom M5 is written know. Yet this is NOT 'chit chat'. You don't say, 'So, how are you today and which other Higher Selves are you communicating with...and about what?' You should get my drift. There are times when your Higher Self may give you information that comes as a burst of inspiration without your initiating a conscious request. That's part of shim ensuring your path has the necessary course corrections, but it's definitely not 'chit chat'.

Be who you are and don't worry about what anyone else is doing on their path. Individuality, not conformity, is the answer. All this is, of course, taken further in Volume III which has just been published. Enjoy your path!
