¹ He was son of John Sempill of Beltries, whose conviction for Treason is recorded in vol. i. p. 72. Sir James was Ambassador to England 1599, &c. and was author of a Satire, 'The Packman and the Priest.' His son Robert Sempill was author of the well-known Elegy on 'Habbie Simson the Piper of Kilbarchan.'

² Conned lesson, got by rote. ³ Than.

Dec. 1602. more, and have the greater weight with them. Soe to be short, if this sort of service may be acceptable to the Prince, I am at command; if otherwise, I will hold me with the benefite that I have gotten, within the compass of obedience; and be God's grace, fall be unreprieveable of any. Having noe farther for the present, I rest, &c.¹

(14.) LETTER, Mr John Hall to Mr Robert Bruce.

SIR,

Jan. 1603. JAMES AIKENHEAD, bailiffe, gave intelligence to his Ma. that yee were purposed to preach this next Sabbath, God willing; and I being down in the Abbey, his Ma. gave me this answer, and ordained me to signifie the same unto yow: That is, because your advertisement was generall, and thereby he could not understand what yee was to doe in the matter, wherein he has been offended; also, he would assure yow, that if yee entered into the pulpit, and did not according to the Act of the Assembly, it would be a matter of great irritation: Therefore, be your tickett, ye would certifie againe that ye are ready to preache, and to satisfie his Ma. according to the Act of the Assembly; or otherwise it will not be heard as a sufficient offer. Sir, if yee write heerenant to mee againe, I fall be ready to deliver it, and shew yow the event.²

Your brother in Christ,

MR JOHN HALL.

(15.) MR ROBERT BRUCE'S LAST CONFERENCE with THE KING, on Tuesday the fifth day of April, 1603.

Apr. 1603. MEN of all qualities resorted to Edinburgh, to congratulate the King his preferment.⁵ Motion was made, by some brethren of the Presbytery of Edinburgh, that Mr Robert Bruce should be desired to come East to congratulate with the rest; for the King took it evil in part, as was reported, that he should be the last in giving signification of his humble affection. Upon Saturday, the 2 of Aprile, Mr Robert returned answer, that 'in respect of his Ma's last Conference, holdin with the Commissioners, he durst not take the boldnesse to draw neer to his Ma.;' alwise,⁴ did signifie the sinceritie of his inward affections, to the Lady Marr and some other noble women, who could bear witness of his integrity in that point: But, seeing he was informed that his Ma. would accept the offer of his affection, he should come with diligence, to try what might be done.

Soe, upon Monday, the 4 of Aprile, he came to Edinburgh and founded some stable men, his freinds, touching the King's disposition, whither he was willing to accept of him and his congratulation. Soe far as he could learne, he was not able to redeem his countenance and favour, but with confession of a fault, and that upon his knees; by which meanes he might eschew publication in the pulpit, and recover his Ma's favour also. Mr Robert findeth himself brought in as great a strait almost as ever he was; and answered to the Lords that interceded for him, that 'seeing he could not purchase his Ma's presence but upon these hard conditions, his earnest desire was, that they would make his excuse, in all humility, to his Ma. and to shew that notwithstanding he came to the town to congratulate, the press and throng of the people was soe great, because his Ma. was upon the point of his departure, that he could get noe access.' They take much in hand;³ but the King, understanding he was come to town, sent one of his domestick servants, James Murray of Powmais, the day following, Tuesday the 5 of Aprile, soon in the morning, before his Ma's departure, for him, before he was risen out of his bed. Mr Robert thought it hard, and that the King catched that peace of disgrace to his Ministry.

¹ (1602. Jan. 19.)—Mr Robert Bruce addressed a Letter to the Town-Council of Edinburgh, which is an echo of that to the Laird of Beltries. This was followed by George Heriot and Cornelius Inglis waiting on the King, on Bruce's part; who inhibited any preaching; whereupon he left the town. On 27th January, he intimated his design to preach next Sabbath, to James Aikenhead, one of the Bailies of Edinburgh.

² Much correspondence, &c. took place, till at last the Commissioners of the General Assembly, Feb. 25, 1603, 'declared that his re-entrance to the Ministry of Edinburgh came through his own default.'

³ To the English Crown. The King departed for England immediately after this Conference took place.

⁴ Nevertheless. ⁵ Undertook; promised largely.

Alwife he went down to the Abbey. The King was at his breakfast. Mr Robert fought occasion Apr. 1603. of speech with him, at that tyme; thinking, that in the presence of many strangers and noble men, the King would not urge him, as he did before. The noble men courteously gave him place. But when he was upon the point of bowing and entering in conference, Sir Patrick Murray, who stood upon his Ma^s left hand, and rounded somewhat in his ear, prevented him. He was referred to the King's bed-chamber, to be heard after the preaching; which was very cold. It was made be Mr Andrew Lamb. Mr Robert, all the tyme, prayed to God to direct him be his Spirit, in the end; as he had done in the rest of that action before. He resolved noe wayes to goe to the knees, against his conscience; but rather now, in the entry to this great Monarche, to urge his Ma. with a thankfull heart to God for his wonderfull and unlooked-fore blessing. He had all the words and mater conceived, which he communicated to Mr James Melvill, Minister at Anstruther, who was weil pleased both with the mater and the maner; wherby Mr Robert was greatly encouraged to persist in his resolution. In the meantyme, the Lord Fleming cometh for Mr Robert, and taketh him to the King's bed-chamber; where he found my Lord of Marr, my Lord of Blantyre, the Laird of Dunipace, Mr Peter Hewat, Mr Thomas Abernethie. The Lord Fleming went to the Chamber of Prefence, told the King Mr Robert was in the place appointed. The King ncontinent withdraweth himself, goeth in to his bed-chamber, his boots on, ready to ryde. Soe soon as he drew neer, he walked in circle about the house,¹ as his custome was. Mr Robert casteth himself to meet him, with all reverence and humble inclination of his body that he could, without going to knee. The King heard him graciously, in outward appearance. The summe and effect of Mr Robert's words were this. 'Sir, I have marked four things in this great work, touching your Ma^s high advancement: first, that the God of heaven and earth has placed yow in all these earthly thrones, without the losse of the credite of your holy Religion and hurt of the inward peace of your own conscience: Next, that he hes placed without shedding a drop of your Ma^s blood, which is lesse nor² conscience: Thirdly, without the hazard of your Ma^s subjects purfes, which is lesse nor blood: And last of all, that he hes soe wonderfullie directed the tongue of that worthy Lady and noble Queen, together with the affections of the whole Counsell, soe that if furth of your Ma^s own bowells, they could not have conspyred more effaldly³ to your Ma^s promotion. These things crave a twofold duty of your Ma.: First, that yee take heed to your own heart, that the glory and glance⁴ of these earthly things deceive you not; that ye make them not your reward, nor place the confort and consolation of your heart in them; but rather, as they are given, use them as steppes and degrees to stepp up to the Crown that cannot fade nor faile: Next, seeing the God of heaven hes manifested his unspeakable care, in preserving soe many Crowns and Kingdoms to yow, sir, your Ma. cannot eschew the note of ingratitude, if yee extend not your Ma^s credit, and imploy your whole care, for preservation of his own kingdome.' THE KING answered, 'Mr Robert, be God's grace I fall not place my confort or consolation in them, or in any earthly thing: As for the preservation of the kingdome, if I would preserve my own life, I must study to preserve it; for we have common freinds and commone enemies: The Papists that shutt⁵ at that kingdome, shutt at my life also, as I know certainly.⁶ As touching this wonderfull mercy of God, Mr Robert, if yee be remembered I oft tymes foretold you, that God would bring this work about, after this sort;' and named some places to him. But Mr Robert could not remember.

Mr Robert took his leave; and had as good a countenance of the King, as ever he had in his life, in his own judgement. The King did not urge him with any such thing as the Lords gave out; nor made mention of any thing, tending to that purpose. Ather the mediators were unfaithful, or God putt it clean out of his heart. When the King mounted on horseback, Mr Robert went to him againe,

¹ A mode of expression for chamber.

² Than.

³ Truly, sincerely; from 'afauld,' literally one-fold.

⁴ Dazzle, splendour, glitter; literally the reflection thrown from a mirror by the sun.

⁵ Shoot, aim at.

⁶ In allusion to the numerous Conspiracies which had been devised by the Papists against his person.

Apr. 1603. to take his leave ; and was as weil received as any subject, of his calling, in Scotland. Those that stood by heard the King say, ' Now all particulars¹ are past betwixt yow and me, Mr Robert.' But Mr Robert himself could not remember that he heard these words.

(16.) NOTES from Calderwood's Church History, MS.

Feb. 1605. (1.) MR ROBERT BRUCE, the year of the King's departure out of the country, gott peace and rest ; but the year following he was threatned of new, for the mater of GOWRY, to be deprived of life, living and stipend. He was very farr cast down. Whill he was ryding to Stirline to fetch the Erle of Cailliss to his house, it pleased the Lord that night to give him a comfortable vision in his sleep. He recommended his case to God, and soe fell asleep. He saw great difficulties presented to him, and it behoved him ather to passe through them, or to die be the way. At the last, he resolved, in God's obedience, to hazard ; and whill he was passing through, he feilleth a motion in his heart, moving him to say, in and through Michaell, the Captaine of the Lord of hosts, ' I fall prevaill, O Michaell ! Michaell ! Who is like the strong God !' Mr Robert was greatly comforted with this ; and putt it in write when he awaked.

This year the Commissioners of the Generall Assembly directed Summonds, warning him to compare at Edinburgh, the 27 of Februar, to hear and see himself removed from his function, in Edinburgh. He compared before them, and took Mr Thomas Gray with him. But none gott accessse but himself. After long reasoning, they removed him. He appealed from their sentence. They inhibited him to preach thereafter. He obeyed not. The Laird of Lowrestoun, Commissioner, had Commission to see the sentence of Removall pronounced against him.

Jul. 1605. (2.) CHANCELLOR SETON sent for Mr Robert Bruce, advertised him that he had gotten command from the King to discharge him from teaching, &c.

Aug. 1607. (3.) THE fifth of August was solemnie kept in Edinburgh. The Kings skoll was drunken be the Duke, his Commissioner, and some other noblemen at the crosse of Edinburgh, which was covered, for the greater solemnitie. Bacchus was sett up, and much wine drunken and sweete meats cast abroad. Much vanitie and pastime, beside ringing of bells, and getting on of bale-fires. The pest brake up soon after.

(17.) LETTER, Mr Robert Bruce to the Laird of Beltrise (Sir James Sempill.)

RIGHT HONOURABLE COUSINE,

Feb 1603. YE most give me leave to utter my friendly counsell against you. To what purpose should ye and Mr Ewart put me in esperance of my liberty, be your Letters ? Of yours I saw only one ; and I have four of Mr Peter's, assuring me of ane comfortable illue ; and, in truth, I gave such credit, and was so certainly perswadit be him, that I sent home my wife and children, and spoiled my self of all my outward comforts, and exponed my self to the extremitie of the seassone, in a cold lodging, in thir miserable and barbarious parts, that I have almost extinguished both my vitall and sensitive spirits. Why would ye not signifie his Ma's will plainly unto me, or to Mr Peter either ? His Ma. pleasure should have been a law to me. Yea, if his hienes would command me to the scaffold, I have a good conscience to obey him ; and it would be more welcome to me nor this lingering death that I am in. The time has been I have done his Ma. acceptable service, as his own hand writts besides me will beare record ; whilk I fall leave to my posterity as their rarest jewells. I thank God, I was never within the compasse of law ; and yett am war used nor either Papist or Atheist. Alwayes I crave noe more of you, but a Christian duty. As I prayed you in my last Letter, soe will I now ; feed me not with compliments : The worst shall ay be welcome to me, be his grace who sustaines me wouderfully. I am a man that hes tasted of many afflictiones, and I wote not who crosse me ! But be it Papiſt or Atheiſt, Feb. 1613. Biſhop or Miniſter, I will lay over all my vengeance where it belongs. As to my prayer, in the end of my laſt Letter to his Ma., I heare, be Mr Peter Ewart, that I was quarrellit, as if I had prayed for reconciliatione in that particular. Indeed, if it had been foe conceived, I might have been juſtly quarrelled. But the Lord knowes the contrary is moſt true. I had no more mind of that Treafone, at that time, nor the bairne that is yett unborne. As to the reſt of my faults yee make in my other Letters, they are but bairnly : For ſuppoſe I wrotte unto yow with my own ſubſcribing hand, yet it is not worthie to preſent his Ma. I waill¹ the beſt hand that I can gett, and for the omiſſione of my ſubſcriptione, what marvell ? Seeing I wrott not the body. And yet the writter therof conſtantly affirms that I ſubſcritvit, whilkes makes me to think that ye have not received my cloſed Letter to his Ma., but the copie therof, which I directed to your ſelſe to be peruſed, and not to be preſented, except ye knew it would not offend. I pray you, couſine, if ye delight in my converſatione, lett the effect declare it. Lett me find the fruit therof ; and if yee be not able, lett me be in no war caſe nor I am in, be your deid ; for that were needleſſe. Suppoſe ye have gotten new friends, men I grant that are more able to perſit you in your outward eſtate, yett I will looke that ye will obſerve a Chriſtian duty towards me. So wiſhing yow well in the Lord, I take my leave, and reſts

¹ Quarrels, causes of offence.

Your moſt loving couſine to his power, in God,

INUERNESSE, the 10 of February 1613.

ROBERT BRUCE.

No. XIX.

COLLECTION OF ADDITIONAL ORIGINAL LETTERS AND MISCELLANEOUS DOCUMENTS ILLUSTRATIVE OF GOWRIE'S CONSPIRACY.

(1.) LETTER, *George Nicolson, Queen Elizabeth's Ambaſſador in Scotland, to Sir Robert Cecil, Secretary of State.*²

IT may pleaſe your honor,

THIS daye morninge, at 9 howers at that tyde, the K.[ing] wrote to the Chancellor, Secretary, Aug. 1600. and others, and to ſome of the Kirk ; and word came hither in this maner, and the L.[ord] Secretary told me, That yeſterday th' Erle of Gowry ſent the M^r his brother, M^r Alex^r Riven, to the K.[ing] hunting in Fawkland Parke ; ſhewing the K.[ing] that where, for his adoies, he had muche troubles to git treaſor, &c. his brother th' Erle had founde in an old towre, in his houſe at S^t Johnſton's [Perth] a great treaſor, to helpe the K.[ing's] turne ; wth w^{ch}, he faide, his brother wolde faine have the K.[ing] to go to ſee quietly, that day. Whereon, after the K.[ing] had hunted a while, and taken a drink, he tooke freſhe horſe and diſcharged his company (to wit), the D.[uke] and Erle of Marr then in company wth him, taking onely a few wth him ; yett the D.[uke] rode, and the Erle of Marr followed, and the K.[ing] met by the way the L.[ord] of Inchclaffray, who alſo rode wth him to S^t Johnſton's ; where the K.[ing] cominge, th' Erle meting him, caryed him into his houſe, and gave him a good dynner ; and after went to dynner wth the D.[uke] and his company. The M^r, in the meane tyme of their dining, perſwaded the K.[ing] to go wth him quietly to ſee it ; as the K.[ing,] diſcharginge his company to follow, went wth the M^r from flaithe to flaithe, and chamber to chamber, locking ſtill the doors behinde him, untill he came to a chamber where a man was, w^{ch} the K.[ing] thought had ben the man had kept the treaſor. There the M^r cleked hold on the K.[ing] and drew his dagger, ſayeing he had killed his father, and he wolde kill him ! The K.[ing,] wth good wordes

¹ Select, chooſe. ² The Original is in the State Paper-Office, London.—See Chalmers' Life of Raddiman, p. 443.

Aug. 1600. and meanes, fought to difwaid him; fayeing, he was younge when his father was executed, and dyvers others honest men; that he was innocent thereof; had restored his brother, and for amends, made him greater then he was; that if he killed him, he could not efchape, nor be his heir: That he prefumed Mr Alexander had learned more divinity than to kill his Prince; affuring him, and faithfully promiffing him, that if he wold leave of his enterprice, he wold forgive him, and kepe it fecret, as a matter attempted upon heate and rafhenefs onely. That to thefe the Mr replied, what was he preaching? that fhould not helpe him; he fhould dye: And that therewith, he ftroke at the K.[ing,] the K.[ing] and he bothe going to the ground, that the Mr called to the man there prefent to kill the K.[ing.] That the man answered, he had nether harte nor hand; and yet is a very curragioufe man. That the K.[ing] having no dagger, but in his hunting cloths wth his horne, yet defended himfelf from the Mr; and in ftugling, got to the windowe, where he cryed Treafon! w^{ch} Sr Tho^s Erkin, John Ramfay, and Doctor Harris, hearing, ran up after the K.[ing], but found the doors fhut, as they could not paffe; yet John Ramfay, knowing another way, got up and in to the K.[ing,] who cryed to John he was flaine; whereon John out wth his rapier and killed the Mr. In this tyme, that th' Erle fhould tell the Duke, Marr, and the reft, that the K.[ing] was gone away, out at a back gate; that they ran out and Gowry wth him, and miffing him, that th' Erle faide, he wold go back and fee where the K.[ing] was. That he, wth 8 wth him, wth a fteele bonnett and two rapiers, ran up the ftaires; that John Ramfay, meting them wth drawn fwordes, Sr Tho^s Erkin and Doctor Harris being then comed to John, after fondry ftrokes, in the end killed the Erle alfo; Sr Thomas being hurt, and Doctor Harris mutulate and wanting 2 fingers. That this fir being, the townes men and Gowrie's friends, in evil appearance, faid, they wold have accompt where th' Erle was, or they wold pay the grene cotes! To pacifie w^{ch} the D.[uke] and Mar were fent to the Magiftrates; and fo quieted the matter, as the K.[ing] and his company gott away; the K.[ing] thanking God for his deliverance. And yefternight, knighted, as I heare, John Ramfay and Doctor Harris; but the Secretary told it not me.¹

Upon thefe, Lettres comed from the Courte, The whole Council here convened; and in end, at one of the clock rofe, and came all to the market croffe, and there by found of trumpett intimated, but in bref, the happie efchape of the K.[ing] and their Act, that they made in Council, for the people to thank God for it; and in joy thereof, to ring bells and build bone fires. Mr David Lindfay, ftanding with the Council on the Croffe, made a pithy and fhort Exhortation to the people, to prayfe God for it; and therewth praied and praifed God for the fame; the whole Council on their knees on the Croffe, and whole people in the ftretes, in like forte. The peces of the Caffe alfo fhotte in joy; the few bells yet ringing; the youthes of the towne gone out to fkimith for joye, and bone fires to be bilded at night: And the Council to go, this tyde, over to the K.[ing,] for further deliberation in this matter. The K.[ing] at his retorne to Fawkland, prefentlie caufe thruit out of the houfe, from the Q.[ueen,] Gowrie's two fifters in cheif credyt wth the Quene; and fwears to roote out that whole houfe and name. Upon the conveninge of the Council, the portes of the towne were fhutt, for apprehendinge Gowrie's other brethren; and the lands are to be given to thefe new knights and others. This is the information and reporte comed yet hither, by the K.[ing's] command; w^{ch} fome yet doubted to be fully fo. What will follow, I remit to the fequell; being glad the K.[ing] is fafe, without hurte. Gowrie's Secretary is taken, and matters hope to be difcovered by him. Some falfe lyenge villains gave it out, I fhould have ben this day morne at Leith, by 3 of the clock, and fhould fay, being asked by one, that I was there attending ftrange newes from beyond the water. I tolde the Secretarie of it, that it was falfe, as God be thanked it is; and that if I were charged by any fuch devilifh devices, I wold refufe no debofhed fwinger or bloody villaine that fhould be fo fuborned to put doubt towards me; praying the Secretarie to remember it, and fay it for me, if he hard it. That your honor fees how the malicious here fpite me; in what danger I live, and how fubject I am to all accufation here; and ſome practiſing knaves wold whiſper it, that this plot ſhould be drawne and divided in other parts, [England.¹] But thus much, for this tyme, in haſte, wth myne humble duty and ſervice. I p^{ay} God preferve yo^r hon^r. Edenburgh, the 6th of Auguſt, 1600.

¹ Mr James Hamilton is this day gone to England.

Yo^r honor's, &c. &c.

GEO. NICOLSON.²

I have no copie of this.

(2.) EXTRACTS from LETTER, Sir Henry Neville to Mr Secretary Cecil,³ Paris, 27th Feb. 1599—(1600.)

Right Honorable,

THE EARLE GOWRY, a nobleman of Scotland, who hath ſpent ſome time in theſe parts, is purpoſed to returne home through England; and deſires to have the honor to kiſſe her Majeſties hands, as he paſſeth. And becauſe I know him well, and have had good communication with him, and therein found him to be of very good judgement, and exceedingly well affected both to the common cauſe of Religion, and particularly to her Majeſtie, and that which may concerne her honor and ſervice, I have thought good to recommend him eſpecially, unto your honor; and to beſeech you to be a meanes, that he may receive that honour and favour that he is worthy of; that ſo he may depart, confirmed in that good devotion and reſpect which he beares already towards her Majeſtie. If your honor pleaſe to conferre with him about theſe alterations feared in Scotland, I beleve he will give you good ſatiſfaction; and that you will finde him to be a man of whom there may be exceeding good uſe made. I have given him my paſſport, to ſerve him till he come to her Majeſties Court, in as ample and favourable fort as I could. The reſt I referre to your honor's good favour towards him; whereunto I humbly recommend him. And ſo, &c.

Your honor's very, &c.

HENRY NEVILLE.

THE Lord Hume purpoſeth ſhortly to returne likewiſe, as he telleth me, and hath already prayed my paſſport, which I cannot deny him. But you will be pleaſed to have regard to ſome of my former Letters.

(3.) EXTRACT from LETTER, Sir Henry Neville to Mr Winwood, London, 28th Aug. 1600.

Now to the occurrences of theſe parts, you ſhall underſtand, that the Erle Gowry, and a brother of his, have been lately ſlayne, in Scotland, in the Erle's own houſe, and in the King's preſence. They are charged to have conſpired the King's death at that time, but God would not ſuffer them. They had prepared for it, to execute their deſſeign, although they attempted it; and ſo they fell into the pitt themſelves had digged.

This is the relation ſent hither of it; which, notwithstanding, is diverſely cenſured, according to men's divers affections. But howſoever, her Majeſtie hath ſent Sir Henry Bronkard thither, to congratulate the King's eſcape, and to doe ſome other offices to him. There is alſo one Hambledown come from thence, to reſide here at leaſt for ſome tyme.

¹ This word is interlined. ² This muſt be allowed to be a very intereſting letter; as it exhibits a ſtriking picture of that ſingular transaction, at the moment, and of the manners of the times. In it we ſee, that the King had on a hunting-horn; that the King and his attendants wore grene cotes; and that the Earle of Gowrie's two ſiſters lived in the palace, at the moment of the conſpiracy, and were in cheif credyt with the Quene. The foregoing diſpatch of Nicolſon proves very clearly, that Queen Elizabeth had no finger in that pye, particularly when Nicolſon's declarations are coupled with the ſubjoined Letter, from Lord Willoughby.' (No. 8.)—Chalmers.
³ In theſe and the following Extracts, it has been deemed unneceſſary to give any thing farther than what relates to the Conſpiracy. The above Letters to Cecil and Winwood, have been taken from that valuable and authentic Collection, Winwood's Memorials and Affairs of State, Vol. I. pp. 156, 249, and 274.

Nov. 1600. (4.) EXTRACT from LETTER, Sir Henry Neville to Mr Wimwood, (in cipher,) London, 15th Nov. 1600.

OUT of 205 (Scotland) we hear there is no good agreement, but rather an open diffidence between 165 (Counsaill,) the King of Scots, and his wife; and many are of opinion that the discovery of some affection between her and the Earle Gowry's brother, (who was killed with him) was the truest cause and motive of all that Tragedy.

(5.) EXTRACTS from LETTERS, *Sir John Cary, (son of Lord Hunsdon), Governor of Berwick, to Sir Robert Cecil.*¹

(i.)

Aug. 1600. (Aug. 10.)—THE KING has made great feareh, and lays great wait for the two younger brothers, who, by great fortune, escaped from the schools; and not daring to tarry in Scotland, they are this day come into Berwick clofely, in disguised apparel; and being brought to me, they only desire, that their lives may be safe, and they may have a little oversight here, till the truth of their cause may be known: And the pitiful case of the old distressed good Countess hath made me, the willinglier, to give my consent, for their stay here a while; till I may, by your honourable means, know the Queen's Majesty's pleasure, whether they shall stay here, or go some whither farther into the country; for they only desire the safety of their lives; and the old Countess's case is pitiful and lamentable. I beseech your honour, let me know her Majesty's pleasure, with as much speed as may be; for that I would do nothing to offend her Majesty. The poor gentlemen stole into the town this morning clofely, and I could not well turn them out again; seeing they come for refuge, to save their lives, till I know her Majesty's further pleasure therein.

(ii.)

(Aug. 24.)—UPON the receipt of your letter of the 16th August, according to the contents thereof, I did send for the tutor of the two gentlemen, the Earl of Gowrie's brothers; who, for my own part, I have not yet seen, since their coming into the town, so close have they kept themselves; as they have never yet stirred out of their chamber which they first entered into, to look abroad. I conferred with their tutor, which might be the surest way, for their own safety; advising them, for their better security, to go farther off from these bordering places, where the King might not so easily hear of them, and their being. I wished them to repair towards Richmond, or to Rippon, or to about Hull, or to some other such inland towns, out of the way, where the King might not so easily have intelligence of them; and so they to be free from the danger of their countrymen, who are very conversant upon the street-ways. He liking very well hereof, yielded willingly thereto; desiring only, for that they came very meanly in, without either money, horse, or apparel, to have three or four days respite, that they might send to their friends for money and mags, and such other necessaries as should be fit for their journey; then will they presently depart, as secret as may be; and in the mean time, they shall remain very close, till their necessaries be gotten, which will be within four days.

(iii.)

Sept. 1600. (Sept. 4.)—BEFORE this day, I could not by any means get the present Earl of Gowrie and his brother out of the town; for that they had sent to their mother for maintenance, and could not hear till now any thing from her; and now it falls out so ill with them, as she hath sent them no manner of maintenance, hoping they should have staid here still; neither dares she trust many of her servants. For if it should be known, that she did, any manner of way, either give them succour or maintenance, or any manner of help, she should presently forfeit, and be thrown out of all that she hath. Such Sept. 1600. secret search and privy spial is there through the whole country for her and her sons, as no friend either dare or can travel between them; such privy search is laid for them in all places, as almost no man can travel, in their country, but he is searched. And if I had sent them sooner away, I should but have sent them to very great danger, either of being killed or taken; for that they being very poor themselves, and having no friends, nor any acquaintance, could neither have told whither to have gone, or what to do. But, finding their necessities, and their willingness to submit themselves to any appointment, and for that I would have them out of the town, before any fault were found, I have found means, that they are furnished with some money, and are stolen privately out of the town. I have sent them, with a man of mine own, to Durham, where they shall be secretly for a twenty days, till their mother may take some better order for their maintenance; and then they mean to travel to Cambridge, and there to study for a time. They have none but themselves, and their schoolmaster with them. All the time of their being here, they were as in a prison; for nobody ever saw them, neither did they ever stir out of their chamber; so as there can be no certainty known of their being here, but only upon mistrust; and as secretly are they gone out of the town.

¹ These extracts were obtained by Lord Hailes from the Originals, in the Paper-Office, London. According to his plan, they are modernized.—Cecil's Secret Correspondence, p. 161.

(iv.)

(Sept. 21.)—I HAVE even now presently received your letter of the 15th of this instant, understanding thereby the Queen's Majesty's pleasure for the Earl of Gowrie's two brothers. All that hath been said of them, touching their behaviour here in Berwick, is but furnishes and supposes, by the contrary party. For I will assure your honour, upon my faith, it could not have been better carried, nor closer handled by any creatures living, than by them, during their being here. For myself did never see them but once, and that was at midnight, only myself; and for any other, I know they kept themselves close enough; for they durst do no otherwise, they were so afraid of themselves. They went away as secretly; and to Durham they went long since, with an intent to pass onward to Cambridge, as I did before signify to your honour. So as what is now become of them, I know not, neither where they be; for since their departure, I have not heard of them any thing; so as I know not where to hear of them. Thus much I thought good with speed to certify you; that with speed there may be some course taken for their dispatch, according to her Majesty's pleasure.

(6.) LETTER, *King James VI. to Mr John Caldeleuch.*¹

TRUSTY friend, We greit you hertlie weill. We have taiken occasioun heirby, richt ernestlie Aug. 1600. to will and desire you, that ye fail not, all excuisis set a part, to be at Falkland, upoun Wedynsday at evin nixt, the twenty day of this instant, for your best advyfs and opinioun to be had, anent the planting of Kirkis of Edinburgh; the forme and maner of the univerfall thankis and prayis that shall be gevin to God, in every Congregatioun and Kirk within this realme, for our miraculous delyverie of that treasonabill Conspiracy, intendit laillie aganis us, at Sanct Johnstoun, be umquile Johne Erl of Gowrie, the M^r his brother, and thair associattis; and for your advys to be gevin in sic uther, our great and wechtie effairis, as falbe particularly impairtit to you at your coming: ffor the quillk, luiking precessly that night, that on the morne thaireftir, they materis may be handellit and put to ane point; We commit you in Godis protectioun. From Halyruidhous, this xiiij day of August, 1600.

JAMES R.

To our trusty friend, Mr Johne Caldeleuch, Minister of Newburgh.

¹ Wodrow's MSS. Advocates' Library, Vol. LXIX. Jac. V. l. 12. It is proper to mention, that this seems to be one of the numerous circulars which were addressed to the Clergy, as may be seen from the preceding Extracts from the Lord High Treasurer's Books, No. VIII. See Note, p. 239. No doubt each Letter would vary from another in some minute particulars, and according to the favour the respective parties enjoyed at Court.

Aug. 1600. (7.) EXTRACTS from LETTERS, *Rowland Whyte, Esquire,*¹ to *Sir Robert Sydney.*²

(i.)

(Aug. 16.)—THE King of Scots had lately like to have bene murthired. Young Goory³ (the Erle of Gooryes brother, whom the King restored to his honour and living, and bestowed on them both, great gifts and advancements) told the King in secrete, that in the Castell, which he kept vnder the King, he found a great chest buried, of that waight which cold not choofe but be treasure. He wold not presume to open yt, but in his Majesties prefence; and therefore besought him to take the paines to goe himself and see yt brooke open: Which the King did, leauing his traine below in a safe-court, and went alone with young Goorey vp the stairs, and from chamber to chamber, which Goorey locked as he went, till he had brought the King where he had appointed. And then he told the King that the time was come which he had long wished for, to be revenged vpon him for his father's death: That he had traid him to that place to kill him, which instantly he wold doe; and drew out his dagger to haue stabd him. But the King catcht him by the hand, and defyred hym to heare hym speake. Then sayd, that when his father was put to death, he was but an infant; and therefore, cold not be accessory to his death. That during his Minority, many things were comitted, by the Regents of his Kingdom, which he was forry for; which appeared by the great fauors he had bestowed vpon him and his brother. Bot all wold not serue; for he strugeld to stabb him; and the King, in defence of his life, shewed a great resolution and courage; which young Goorey perceuing, called to a seruant of his own, who was a partner in this Conspiracy; but he stoode still, and swore he had neither hand nor hart to kill his anointed King; and tooke part with the King, who had time then to put his head out of a window, and cryed 'Treason!' and called for speedy help! Then his traine went vp the staires, where they found the Earle Goorey, and some others, with weapons, to resist them; but they made way, with the death of the Earle of Goorey and his companions, and so rescued the King, and before his face slue the young Goorey.—LONDON, Saturday the 16 of August, 1600. By post.

(ii.)

(Aug. 26.)—HERE is one Hamelton come from the King of Scots, to reside here as his Agent, and to deliuer to the Queen the maner of the Conspiracie against his Master.—STRAND, (London,) this 26 of August, 1600.

(iii.)

Sept. 1600. (Sept. 12.)—ONE PRESTON, Capten of the King of Scots Foote-gard, a very proper and discret Gentleman, was with the Queen, sent from his Master, to deliuer more matter discovered of the Treason intended against his Maiestie by the Earle Gowrey and his Complices.—STRAND-BRIDGE, this Saturday, the 12 of Septemb. 1600.

(iv.)

Oct. 1600. (Oct. 3.)—SIR HARRY BRUNCKAR is returned out of Scotland; and from the Kings own mouth, receues the maner of the Conspiracy against hym; which is as yt is sett down in the printed booke I sent you the last week. The K. hath knighted all his seruants that assisted hym out of that perill. Some displeasure the King conceanes against the Ministers; for that they wold not, in the pulpitt, preach against the horibleness of the fact.—STRAND, Friday night, late, the 3 of October, 1600.

¹ This gentleman was employed by Sir Robert Sydney to solicit his affairs at the Court of England, and to relate to him all that took place; for which he received a salary. His Letters are minute and valuable, as they contain much private information not elsewhere to be found.

² Lord Governor of Flushing, afterwards Lord Chamberlain to King James. He was brother of the celebrated Sir Philip Sydney. See Sydney State Papers, or Collins's Letters and Memorials of State, Lond. 1746. Folio. Vol. II. p. 211.

³ The Master of Gowry, Mr Alexander Ruthven.

(8.) LETTER, *Lord Gray*¹ to Sept. 1600.

SIR,

I LANDIT that fame nicht I left you laft, at eight houris, and ves in danger amongft the craiges, and never in my lyf fo feik. Heir I met v^t Thomas Hendryfone of Edinb: He hes no newes, faue of Th' Earle of Gouryes death. He tellis it in the fame forte as ye haue hard it. Ther is execute M^r Th: Cranftoun and George Craigingelt, v^t fevin honeft men of S^t Jhonftoun. They ar executed, for that they ver fund to be in armes before the reft. His man, who ves v^t him, is bootit, M^r William Rynd, and hes deponit no thing, faue that my Lord ftudiit Magik in Italie and France, and had fprittis. His chamberlane, vho fould haue flaine the King,² is yet keipit. M^r Patrik Gallouay hes preatchit all this in the pulpit of Edinb., bothe of the Magic and Treafoun; bot all vho ar dead, confeft no thing. The King, efter the preatching, fueir folemnely, that all ves treu he hed preatchit, by his faluation and condemnation. The reft of the Minifters ves preafit to fubferyue that it ves treu; bot they refufit: Yet they grantit to thank God for his Ma^{ties} delyuerance: And fo they ar banifit.

Richart Preftoun is at Loudoun; bot as yet I knou not vhat they fay to him. From Loudoun ye fhall heir all. And I remaine your loning freind and coufing, GRAY.

DOVER, 28 Sept. 1600.

I forgot, amongft vther thingis that M^r Gallouay preatchit that Th' Earle of Goury ves a dealler betuene the Pope and the Kingis Ma^{tie}: Bot the reft of the Minifters vill not beleue him.

(9.) EXTRACT from LETTER, Mr Winwood to Secretary Cecil,³ Paris, May 17, 1601.

THE Ambaffador of Scotland hath been advertifed of a dangerous practice againft THE SCOTS May, 1601. KING: That lately, one called Glarnet hath been fent out of Scotland, with Letters to BOTHWELL, to haften home with diligence, where he fhall find fufficient affiftance. The principal perfon who employed this perfon is THE QUEEN OF SCOTLAND; and Letters have been intercepted out of Scotland, from Mr Gray, that the death of GOWRIE fhould fhortly be revenged.⁴

(10.) EXTRACT from LETTER, Lord Henry Howard (afterwards Earl of Northampton) to Edward Bruce, (Lord Kinlofs),⁵

[Without date, but previous to Aug. 24, 1602.]

OUT of the Archduke's Camp, one of her Majefly's greateft commanders heth been advertifed, that Aug. 1602? a fire will break out in Scotland, before it be long; which makes Cecil to fear, knowing in what ftate King James ftands with England at this day, that other trains, made under ground by fecret pioneers, within the body of that ftate itfelf, may break out when it is leaft looked for. Add hereunto, the gallant maintenance of Gowrie's fon,⁶ fo near Scotland, and with fo great fhews; though no man knows from whence, befide Sir John Cary,⁷ who is holden to be very inward in that courfe, as certain gen-

¹ From the original in the Advocate's Library. The envelope is lost, and no trace remains in any other Letters in the same valuable Collection. It does not appear whether this Letter is from Patrick, sixth Lord Gray, or his son, the well-known intriguing Patrick, Master of Gray, who acted so base and treacherous a part in England, during the latter part of the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and the earlier portion of King James VI. The families of Ruthven and Gray were nearly related by intermarriage.

² Andrew Henderson.

³ Winwood's Memorials, i. 326. See also Pinkerton's Dissertation, (appended to Laing's Scotland, (First Edit.) 1800, Vol. 1. p. 534, &c.) who strongly asserts the Queen's participation in schemes against her husband. The inferences he draws from the alleged intrigues of Queen Anne are quite fanciful; and the hypothesis he then maintained, in regard to the Conspiracy, quite untenable. Laing discarded Pinkerton's Dissertation from the subsequent editions of his History.

⁴ See Notice prefixed to the case of Francis Mowbray, Jan. 31, 1603, &c.

⁵ From Cecil's Secret Correspondence with King James VI, edited by Lord Hailes; who has purposely modernized the style. Cecil employed Howard, and the King Bruce, as the medium of correspondence.

⁶ Patrick Ruthven, the son of William Earl of Gowrie, whose daughter, as has been remarked before, was married to Sir Anth. Vandyke. It was he who wrote the admirable Letter to the Earl of Northumberland, published in the Cabala, (Scrinia Sacra, 4to. Lond. 1654, p. 106.) which shews talents of no ordinary description.

⁷ See Extracts of his Letters to Cecil, (5.) p. 316.

Aug. 1602? tlemen in the North, making several collections of tokens visible, and words let fall, have advertised their own conceits, in consequence, with those other fears which have been formerly advertised.

The Master of Gray hath had long conference with Queen Anne; since which time his style is heaved up cothurno altiore, as Cicero said of Anthony. Divers of Gowrie's nearest and dearest friends have secret access to persons of great quality.¹ They keep old issues open, and feed spleen against all those that are employed and trusted in the courses of the present state; which the King's wisdom tempereth.

(11.) LETTER, *Lord Willoughby, Queen Elizabeth's Governor of Berwick, to Sir Robert Cecil.*²

SIR,

Oct. 1600. I RECEIVED your packet to Mr Hudson, the 18th of this month; and another to Mr Ralph Gray, this morning; both which I have dispatched accordingly, but such is the negligence of the posts, that the packets are 7 or 8 dayes in coming. For occurens yt is uncertain, whether the convention hold; but the King is resolved to have bishops: The Marquis of Huntley have reconciled the King and Queen. The Erle of Mar is retired to Stirling; who hath very dishonorably suggested [to] the King, that I was privy to the practice of the Earl of Goury: his reason to induce him to believe yt was, because I gave the said Earle kind entertainment, at his being at London. Other newes hear is none, but that the contry is in very good quiet; which course I will endeavour to continue in the town, to my utmost. But such are the contentions of the Council heer, that unless Sr Will. Bowes had carried himself very discreetly, and I myself presently prevented yt, they had quarrelled in my bed-chamber, being at Council. Thus, not willing to trouble you any further, I rest

Yours faithfully assured to doe you service,

Berwick, this 21 October 1600.

P. WYLLOUGHBY.

(12.) LETTER, *Sir James Coluill of East Wemyss to Sir Edward Bruce, Lord Kinlofs.*³

COUSING,

Jan. 1603. EFTER my hartly commendation, I culd not omit thir feu luyis, that ye may know of my prosperus ariuel to this toune; desyring you to haue my maist humble service recomendit to his lines. It greifis me mekil, in my passing throuche Ingland, the los he hes, for the laik of sum (resident⁴) honest man, in quhom hartlie his M. might confyd; and sik as interly low him, nicht assir them selfis. For, to be plain, I dout vtheris, for causis I vil not vret. I pray the Lord grant him that grace, that he may fauour them quha louis him aboue al. I dout not bot, or now, ye haue refaut my Letter from London, desyring earnestly to know the succes of that maiter aganis his M. I hoip, vithe the grace of God, to discouer mair in that, nor his M. hes sit hard; as also, in findrie vther practifes aganis him, at my first cumming. . . . I man sit earnestly request you to remember my cousing Capitane Coluill to his M., quha hes lost al his esperance, for his M. service; and hopis he shal shortly gif better prouf nor he has sit doon. I wret to you awfor, tuichin Mester Dauid Foulis. Let him mak

¹ It appears, from the Letters of Nicolson to Cecil, preserved in the Paper Office, that Beatrix Ruthven, sister of Gowrie, was privately admitted into the presence of Queen Anne of Denmark.—Hailes.

² The Original is in the State Paper-Office, London.

³ From the Original, preserved in the Advocates' Library, Edin. (Denmylne Collections, A. I. 31.) Colvill was then serving with reputation in the armies of Henry IV. of France. He was created Lord Colvill of Culross, Apr. 25, 1604. It is proper to mention, that his first wife was Isobel Ruthven, second daughter of Patrick Lord Ruthven, and sister of William, first Earl of Gowrie. His second wife, Helen Shaw, was widow of Robert Mowbray younger of Barubogle. This connexion with the family of Gowrie, may account for the reliance placed in his information; but no farther trace is to be found of the matter, in any collection to which the Editor has had access. In an interleaved copy of Lord Cromarty's account of the Conspiracy, Lord Hailes remarks, 'there was another Colvill at Paris, then a spie of E. Essex (perhaps his 'cousing Capitane Coluile.)' Earl Bothwell was also then in France.

⁴ Interlined.

30u priué to the maister, for the man is content, and defyris only the furtie of convoy. Al vther Jan. 1603.
 thingis, to neu occasion; and my hartly commendationis to 3our brother: Praying 3ou, that this may ferue 3ou and Sir Thomas Erkyne, I remain 3our maift loving coufing,

FROM CALYS, our first of Januar (1603¹).

JAMES COLUILL of Est Weimes.

THER vas neuer fo mayny passageris heir a vay.² I pray the Lord it be for gud: Bot hes M. hes gret caus to luik to him self.

To my Lord, MY LORD OF KINLOS.

(12.) LETTER, *Andro Henderfoun of Latoun, Chamberlain of Scone, to King James VI, informing his Majesty of certain conduct of David Lord Scone, &c.*³

MAIST nobill, gratiows, hie, renownit, deir Sowerane, and my onlie confort vnder God,

IT WILL pleis 3our Maieftie, (albeit ouer bauld) all kynd of dewtie commandis me to wisite 3our Jul. 1608.
 Maieftie with thir few lynnis, fen I have owermekill mater for me. It will pleis 3our Maieftie to caufe stay þe passing of the executioun of Scone,⁴ that it pass nocht conforme to 3our Maieftis last Gift: ffor, S^r, I protest affor⁵ God, sic as is prowidit þairto mereitis nocht at 3our Maieftis hand:⁶
 And, S^r, fen I have thair awin hand wret, for my Warrant, I can do na lefs nor mak 3our Maieftie frequent thairwith, quhilk 3our Maieftie fall sic, or ellis lat me nocht have that grace to sie 3our Ma-iefteis face. S^r, thay have gevin 3our Maieftie ane werie improper style, saying in þair Letter, direct frome Restowne⁷ to Scotland, in þe Pakald be post, quhilk wes þe tyme I wes at 3our Maieftie.
 The wordis of þe Letter ar þir; ‘3our Maiefties promifes ar bot dissimulatione;’ and that ‘3our Maieftie is bot lyke thais that ar about 3our Maieftie.’ S^r, quhen as thay wrait swa, iudge quhat thair speeches wilbe amongis þair familiars! And my pairt of þe Letter is, S^r, that I ‘merit rather hanging nor ony wther rewarid!’ S^r, this is bot ane pairt of þe Letter. S^r, quhen this Letter wes red in Scotland, it wes na small reiouying to þe Ruthuenis; ffor in guid faith, S^r, skarce, quhen thai hard thais newis, that þe twa pairt of þe calfay culd content þame for pryde; as sum of þair awin name quha wret þe Letter had experience of. S^r, pleis your Maieftie, feing (prayfit be God) thair is appearance of forder licht of þat Treffoun,⁸ S^r, for Goddis caufe, lat it be exactlie tryit; ffor in guid faith, S^r, be all thay traitowris faouwaris, 3our Maieftie is callit ‘þe Murtherar!’ And my parte, ‘ane manefuarne knaiff!’ S^r, thair is twa in particular, quhilk in guid faith 3our Maieftie is oblisit to, wiz. Schir Jhone Moncreif and þe Laird of Bogie; ffor in guid faith, I cum newer in þe pairt, bot þair language mett me, that thay tuik it on þair conscieuce that quhilk I deponit aganis thay tratowris wes þe treuth. I pray God, gif 3our Maieftie knew þe hundreth part of þe greifis I haif sustenit, þir fywe 3eirris bygane; quhat be the infamows lybellis, and speeches of thay tratowris faouwaris.

Thus taking my leif, on my kneis, craifand at þe Almichtie, to 3our Maieftie, þe Quene and Prince graces, with all the rest of 3our Maieftis royall posteritie, mony guid and ioyfull dayes, with a hap-pie and ioyfull refurrectioun. 3our Maiefties most humbill and daylie oratour,

[This Letter bears no date, but probably in July, 1608.]

ANDRO HENDERSOUN of Latoun.

To þe most nobill, gratiows, and hie renownit Pryns, KING JAMES of Britaine, ffrance and Yreland.

¹ The date may be fixed to be 1603, as mention is made of the Duke of Savoy's attempt on Geneva. ² ‘Hereawa,’ in these parts. ³ From Collection of Autographs, formed by Sir James Balfour of Denmylne and Kinnaid, Bart. Lion King at Arms, preserved in the Adv. Library, Edinburgh. ⁴ This word had been originally left blank. The person whom Henderson employed to transcribe the Letter was probably kept in ignorance of the fact. Henderson inserts ‘Scone’ in his own hand. ⁵ Before. ⁶ Sir David Murray of Gospertie, created Lord Scone, and afterwards Viscount Stormont. He obtained the barony of Ruthven, and the lands attached to the Abbey of Scone, of which the Earl of Gowrie was Commendator. ⁷ Royston, one of the royal residences in England. ⁸ This proves the Letter to have been written previons to the Examinations, at least, before the Trial of George Sprot.

Jul. 1608? (13.) LETTER, DAVID LORD SCONE to KING JAMES VI., *exculpating himself and his nephew from the charges brought against them by ANDRO HENDERSONE.*¹

PLEIS YOUR SACRED MAJESTIE,

I wes conveynit heir, before my Lord of Dunbar, and confronted with Andro Henryfoine, wpon sume wnwreuerend speiches spoken be me of your Ma^{tie}, quhilkis wer alluterly denyit, in the presence of Sr Alex^r Hay, your Ma^{ties} secretar, that euer he had spokin or wrettime any thing in my preiudice, ather to your Ma^{tie} or any vther man leiveand; quhilk, if I haid euer hard spokin be ony vther man in the world, wnehallengit, I nicht bein thoelt the onlie wngrate and wnworthie man in the world: Bot I leave this to your Ma^{ties} gracious consideratione, what all my actiones hes bein in your Ma^{ties} service, bothe in word and deid; quhair of I will be glaid content to be censuret, be my grittest enemyis. Now, Sr, to qualesie the informatione of Andro Henryfonis, he hes produceit ane Lettre of my brother soneis, direct fra England to me, about the space of four zeiris and ane half fence; at quhilk tyme, your Ma^{tie} will be remembrit, I maid eirnest sute, to haue haid the fauour to have remayneit with your Ma^{tie}, and to haue haid some place of credit thair; whereanent, it pleasit your Ma^{tie} to fay to me, that your Ma^{tie} wold advyse with some of the Inglis Counfall, to gett sume place to me; and at my way-comeing fra your Ma^{tie}, I delt with sik of your Ma^{iesties} Counfall, as come vp with your Ma^{iestie}, to be my freind, in absence; seing all the rest of the Scottis Counfall that come with your Ma^{iestie} wer preferrit to placeis of credit (bot I): Of quhome I ressaueit verrie fair promiseis, nocht only to remember your Ma^{iestie}, bot to be my particular freind. And my brotheris sone beand thair, vpone some vther biffinesse of his awin with your Ma^{tie}, I defyreit him to hald sic of the Counfall, as haid promiseit to be my freindis, in remembrance; quhilk he did, according to my Directioun, and wrett heir to me to Scotland with Mr Dauid Murray, that he had kiffit your Ma^{iesties} hand, and ressaueit verie guid wordis and fair promiseis, that yee wold nocht onlie remember your Ma^{tie}, and advyse with same on the meynis, how some place might be gottin to me. Quhilk Letter pat me in hop to beine fend for sehortlie thairefter: And within fyf or sex dayis efter pe receipt of this Letter, my brotheris sone wrett to me ane vther Letter, produceit now be Andro Hendersone, wherein he affuiris me, he is certefeit, be sum speciall freindis of myne, that the fair promiseis that wer maid be sum of pe Counfall, wes nothing bot diffimulatione; and speciallie of thame pat I trustit maist into; ffor be sum speicheis that he haid hard, he feirit pat pei sould rather kyth my vnfreindis, and that your Ma^{tie} wes informeit be sic as wer about you, that I haid sent Andro Hendersone to beg sumthing fra your Ma^{tie} that I could nocht mak sute for my self: And quhateuir your Ma^{tie} haid grantit to gif to him, your Ma^{tie} wes informeit, he haid transactit with me for pe same; and I wald gett pe same to my self. Thir speicheis beand reportit, be sum freind, to my brotheris sone, and he, seiring I nicht be moveit fra the loue I buire to Andro Hendersone, to pas his Gift, quhilk your Ma^{tie} haid grantit to him, and that the famin nicht be layd to my chairge sum vther day; and out of the love my brotheris sone buire to me, he gave me this aduerteiment; and alsefone as this Letter came to my handis, I sent it to Andro Hendersone, to the effect that he sould tak na exceptionis of my guidwill, albeit I haid refusit to pas his Gift, in respect of the premis; bot I gaif him suretie that I wald deill with your Ma^{tie} for ane benefit to him, quhilk I did; and obtenit of your Ma^{tie} better nor Sevin hundrethe merkis be zeir, quhilk he possesses presentlie; quhilk wes thoelt, be maney of pe cuntrie, mair nor he meretit; zit, in respect he did your Ma^{tie} no evill, being quhair he nicht haue done it (if God haid nocht bein your Ma^{iesties} better freind;) and euer fence that tyme, I haue reteynit him in my service, and hes protectit him and euer fall; and he hes haid pe commandement of all pat I haue, in theis partis. Bot your Ma^{tie} will knaw, in the awin tyme, that pis is nocht come fra Andro Henryfone; for he wes neuer very wyfe, and he hes loft ane guid pairt of þe witt quhilk he haid; for it appeiris he is nocht his awin Jul. 1608? man; for the quhilk I ame maift forey: And I will neuer tak me to him, for ony thing that can be reportit of me to 3our Matie; and in the awin tyme, 3our Matie will knaw how this comeis, fra quhome and how this pure man hes bene abufeit. Always, I man leave this and all my vther actionis, bothe in word and deid, to 3our Maties gracious confiderationne, fra the first tyme I haid þe honour to ferve 3our Matie, quhilk is threttie tua 3eiris fence; and I neuer haid caus to weyrie; ffor 3our Matie hes nocht onlie honorit me, bot gevin me all I haue in the world, and brocht me vp fra nothing; and if I fould prove vngratte and wnthankfull to fa gracious maifter, I merit punefment aboue all tratouris in the world. Sa wiffing 3our Matie all happines, withe þe contenance of 3our Maties guid helthe, I ref 3our Maties humill and obedient fervitour,

¹ From the original, in Sir James Balfour's MS. Collection, Adv. Library.

D. SCONE.

[THE envelope has not been preserved, but the letter is marked, at the top of the folding, 'L. Scone to the K.' No date is noted.]

(14.) LETTER, SIR ANDREW MORAY of Balvaird, to KING JAMES VI., *defending himself against the accusations of ANDRO HENDERSOUN, Chamberlain of Scone.*¹

MAY IT PLEIS 3OUR SACRED MAIESTIE,

I HAVE bein, be vertew of 3our heichues commandement, accufit be the Erle of Dumbar, as gif I had bein ane moft ondwitfull fubiect vnto 3our Maieftie, kything the malice of my hart by the vtter- ing of onreverent fpeiches. 3our Maiefties informer is Androw Henderfoun, of quhom I will forbear to fpeak any thing, leaft I fould feim to haue no better defence nor² the accusing of my accufer. The first point of my accufatioun is, that I haue callit 3our Maiefties promifis bot diffimulatiounis; and quhatfoeuer may, by confequence, be inferrit vpon this point; for verificatioun quherof, he hes producit vnto the Erl of Dumbar, ane Letter, wrettin by me, from Roiftoun, the laft of March, 1604, directit vnto my vncle, my Lord of Scone. The woordes are thefe. 'My Lord, Efter I had wrettin at lenth vnto 3our lo. with Maifter David Moray, I have tryit fum thinges, quherof my dewtie bindes me to aduertife 3our lo. notwithstanding of that quhilk I wret to 3ow in my laft Letter, that his Maieftie had faid vnto my felf, concerning 3ow; I fear it be al bot diffimulatioun.' Quhilk woordes, how far thay man be wrefit befor they can prooue the thing alledgit, I am perfuadit that 3our Maiefties felf, without any apologic of myne, will moft gratiouffie confider. Neuertheles, to the end 3our Maieftie may the moir cleirly onderftand how far this malitious imputatioun diflagreis from my trew meaning, I will bot fehortly fay this meikill. That former Letter, quherof I maik mentioun, fent be Mr David Moray, had in it tua pairts; the firft, was ane declaratioun, how 3our Maieftie had not only moft gratiouffie admittit me to 3our prefence, bot alfo gracit me with moft fauorabill countenance; and mairouer moft bountifullie had givin commandement to gif me tua hundreth pund. The vther part was, that I had rememberit my vncle vnto findrie of 3our Maiefties Counfell, and fum of 3our favorites, from quhom I had refauit great proteftationes of affectioun vnto him, and as great promifis of friendfchip, in his adoes.³ Bot befor the wretting of this laft Letter (quherof I am now accufit), I was certainlie informit, be fum of my vncles fpecial freindes, that they from quhom I had refauit faireft woordes, wer his greateft enemies: Quhilk, monit to call their promifis diffimulat. Sa that the fence of my woordes ar very cleir, after this maner; 'notwithstanding of that quhilk I wret in my laft Letter, that 3our Maieftie had faid and done vnto my felf, 3et that quhilk I wret concerning my vncle I tuik it al to be bot diffimulatioun.' Gif my former Letter wer as weill to the foir, to be producit vnto 3our Maieftie, as this laft is, it wald maik this mater moft cleir. Bot as God fchal be my iuft judge, I

¹ From the Denmyne MS. Advocates' Library, Edinburgh.

² Than.

³ Concerns.

Jul. 1608. haue fet down vnto your Maieftie, moft trewlie, beath the contents of the one, and my meaning in the vther. Then fallowis, in my Letter, ‘ I knew his Maieftie to be, as they ar that be about him; and I affiur you, ye haue na fauour of them that ar in greateft credit heir.’ To this I anfuwer, that I neuer fic a fott to think that your Maieftie was fo fimpill to be guidit be them that ar about you. I proteft, befor God, that I had na fic meaning. I haue baith hard and fein to muche of your Maiefties wifdom and refolutionn to think fa vyld a thocht. Bot my meaning was, ‘ feing my vncle had no fauour of them that wer in greateft credit about your Maieftie, (the quhilk I was moft certanlie mead to belieue,) therfor I greatlie fearit that their hard informatioun might muif your Maieftie agenft him, he not being prefent to answer for him felf, and hauing about your Maieftie fo many enemies.’ Their reftis yet more in my Letter. ‘ I heir fay that their is ane turne paft heir, in fauoures of Androw Henderfoun, into the quhilk your lo. hes great neid to tak head to your proceding; for albeit his Maieftie hes paft it vnto him, I fear it be rather to try how ye behaue your felf, nor for any good mynd they had to pleafour Androw Henderfoun.’ Theis woordes I honp neid no apologie. Befor God I had mynd of no thing concerning your Maieftie. I knaw, and that be experience, that al your Maiefteis grantes ar and haue bein euer moft frie and absolut. My only meaning was, of the advantage they that wer about your Maieftie might maik of my vncles behaviour in this matter; ffor it was directlie faid, be fum of them, that he wald content Androw Henderfoun with a fmal part, and tak the reft to him felf. From this point, it will pleis your Maieftie to confider, that the grund of my accufatioune proceeds, and not from that zeal and affectioun my accufer professis to bear vnto your Maieftie: or els he had communicat this vnto your heichnes, at the firft, and not keipit the fam befids him thir four yeires and moir; and now at leuth reveilit it, be the infligatioun of vther men, as him felf partily confeffis. Their is no man could moir iuftlie accufe me vpon this mater nor the Erl of Dumbar, gif his lo. had knawen my trew meaning; for it was his lo. of quhom I cheiflie meanit in my Letter: And I haue crauit his lo. moft humblie pardoun, for that I was fa folifche, vpon any informatioun, to belieue, that his lo. thocht vtherwayis nor he had faid vnto my felf. Gif I durft haue prefumit, vithout your Maiefties leue, I wald, with profrating my felf at your Maiefties feit, be woord, and not be Letter, mead this my moft trew Declaratioun; and vnto the tym your Maieftie grant me that libertie (quhilk be thir prefents I moft humblie beg at your gracious handes) my hart fehal neuer be pertaker of any contentment; albeit my confeience bears me witnes, that I neuer fa mekill as thocht onreuerentlie of your Maieftie, yet am I grevid about meafur to think that any thing fould haue efcapit my hand, quhilk, in the hardeft construction, can be accomptit for ondewtifulnes againft your heichnes. Their is na thing in this world can difcontent me mair than to want your Maiefties fauour; bot to want it throch my awen juft deferuing wer to me infupportabill. I wer to be accomptit the moft ingrate wrech that euer had lyf, gif euer I had sufferit any fuch thocht to haue had place within my mynd; confidering the manifold fauoures your Maieftie hes fchawen, baith to my felf and al my kynred. Their remains yet the laft point of my Letter, into the quhilk I maik fum mentioun of my Lord Secretar. My fimpill meaning was, that his lo. at that tyme had not fa great fauour as he defyrit to haue had, of theis that wer in credit about your Maieftie. I will ceafe to trubill your Maieftie any moir, w^t my idill woordes; not dowting bot your Maieftie will, according to your accuftomit goodnes, confider that the affectioun I careit vnto my vncles weill, mead me the moir ernest in my Letter; and gif their be any woordes in it onadvyfit, or not weill chofin (as I do confes their is many) your Maieftie will imput them to want of witt and laik of discretioun (quhilk euer accompaneis youth,) and not to malice, quhilk I proteft, in the prefence of God, is as far remouit from my hart, as it fliks neir to their hart that does accufe me. Praying vnto the Eternall to grant vnto your Maieftie ane moift happie and prosperous regne, ane bliffit and ane long lyff, I reft your Maiefties moft humbill and moft obedient fubiect,

S. ANDROW MORAY
of Baluaird.

EDINBURGHE, the 13 of July, 1608.

(15.) LETTER, Alexander Blair in Colone, to (David Lord Scone,) charging Apr. 1610.
*Hary Ruthven with using treasonable expressions.*¹

THIS is to latt your ll. wnderstand the wordis that Hary Ruthven spak. He vas cumand downe betuix your ll. park dykis, aboue Scone; quhair he and William Wallace, feruitour to my ll. of Blantyr fell in conference about ane SPROTT, quha was execut in Edinburg at that tym. William Vallace fayis to Hary Ruthuen, 'this mater is mead cleirer nor it was.' Hary Ruthuen anfuers him agane, and fayis plainely, 'Ha! ha! THE ERLE OF GOWRY was faiklely put downe! And the King, and all that was thair that day, vas Tratenris to the Erle of Goury!' And William Vallace anfuering, forbade him to speik sik langage, for it wold do him evill. This I thought good to advertice your ll. that his Ma^{tie} our gratius foueran might be acquent therwith. I have subferyvit this with my hand, and am redy, for my dewty to his Hienes, to seale it with my bluid.

ALEX^R BLAIR.²

M. G. Graham⁵ B. of Dumblane, vitnes to this subferipne.

(16.) DEPOSITIONS, relative to the Treasonable expressions made use of by
*HARY RUTHVEN alias FREELAND.*⁴

(i.) AT EDINBURGHE, the xxvj day of Aprile 1610, IN PRESENCE of Alexander Erle of Dunfermyne Lord Chancellor, David Lord Scone, the Prefident, Aduocat, and Schir William Hairt Justice depute.

ALEXANDER BLAIR in Colone, maryed, of the age of xxxviij yeiris, sworne vpoun his great aithe, being humblit vpoun his kneis, and demandit, 'What war the wordis he hard Hary Ruthuen speik, for the whilk he hes bene wardit thir diuers oukis bigane?'⁵ Deponis, that vpoun the aucht day of September, the yeir of God I^m.vj^s and aucht yeiris, Hary Ruthuene, William Wallace fervand to the Lord of Blantyre, and the depouner, having mett togidder in Colone, and being comeand thairfra towards the burgh of Perth; as thay war betuix my Lord of Scones Park dykis, aboue Scone, Williame Wallace fayis, that 'This mater of GOWRYIS TREASOUN is maid cleirar nor it wes, be the Execution and Confessioun of one named Sprott.' Vnto whome Hary Ruthuen anfuert, that 'The Erll of Gourye was ane honnest man, and that he wes faiklely putt down!' And that 'Thay wer all traytouris that wes at his Slauchter, King and all!' Quhairpoun William Wallace replyt, 'Speik not sik language!' And this depouer said to him, 'That is sclanderous language: You do not weele to speeke sik language.' And the depouner fayis, that Hary Ruthuen and the depouner wer in goode termis of freindschip, at that time; and that Haryis wyffe and the depouner ar thridis of kin: And deponis, that Hary Ruthuen and William Wallace ar vnder very grite freindschip and kyndnes; and that Hary Ruthuen is doar and factour to Williame Wallace, in this rowme of Colone; and Hary aggreit Williame Wallace and Agnes Seytoun, anent hir lyverent of the rowme; and that Hary Ruthuen fend to Williame Wallace, ane hundreth merkis, in Januair last. Demandit, 'ffor quhat caus he conceald this mater, fra the moneth of September, quhill the moneth of August thairefter, that he reveilled it to the Lord of Scone?' Deponis, that thortlie thairefter, he tauld to Henry Rattray, goode-bruther to the said Hary Ruthuen, that the said Henry Ruthuen had spokin sclanderous wordis of the King; and that the depouner wald haif reveillit the same to the King, yf he wes in the cuntrey: And feing his Ma^{iestie} wes absent, that he wald tell it to my Lord of Scone: To whome Hary Rattray anfuert, 'He will defye your ll. and my Lord of Scone bothe; for he hes already biddan the prwffe of

¹ From the Original, among the Warrants of Parliament, &c. General Register House. ² There is written in a very small hand, as a memorandum at the foot of this document, 'From Justice Clerk, Mr W^m Hairt this day xv dayis.' The date is likely to have been in April, 1610. ³ Mr George Graham, Bishop of Dumblane. He was translated to the see of Orkney anno 1614. ⁴ Originals in General Register House, among the Warrants of Parliament, &c. ⁵ Weeks past.

Apr. 1610. the cannoun! And deponis, that findrie tymes, he focht the occaſioun to haif tauld it to my Lord of Scone, but could not haif it; and that ſhortlie thairefter, he come to my Lord of Scone, being walking vpon the Greene of Scone, and tauld him that he had ſome mater to commvnicate vnto him; and my Lord anſwerit, ‘Come to me ane vther tyme and I will heir ſow.’ Deponis alſua, that afor that tyme, he reveilled this fame mater to Andro Henderfoun, who adviſit the depouner to ‘tell it to my Lord of Scone; and that nane hard this conference bot Andro Henderfoun and the depouner: And the depouner ſayis, that he tauld this to Andro Henderfoun, within fourtene dayis after that Hary Ruthuane ſpak it; and he tauld it to Hary Rattray, within ane moneth after the ſpeiking of it. Deponis alſua, that lang afor Hary Ruthuane ſpak thir ſpeeches of his Maieſtie, the depouner hard him ſay, ‘Andro Henderfoun is going to big (build): Lat him big quhat he will, I hoip to ſee the day that I fall putt him out of his houſe and duell in it!’ And that Adame Hepburne in Scone, and David Blair thair, wer preſent, and hard thir ſpeeches, quhillkis wer ſpokin in Sanct Johnneſtoun, in Andro Boydis houſe thair, as thay wer come from the buryall of ane woman callit Coke, as he rememberis; and that Hary Ruthuane directit his ſpeeches, on this mater, to the depouner, bidding him ‘Go tell the fame to that fals knave Andro Henderfoun!’ Deponis forder, that after Hary Ruthuane had ſpokin thir wordis, concerning Andro Henderfoun, that Andro Henderfoun and the deponer, being walking together on the brig of Perth, Andro Henderfoun perſavis Conſtene¹ Hynd vpon the brig, and left the depouner, and paſt to Conſtene Hynd; and as thay war ſpeiking togidder, Hary Ruthuane come by, gaif Andro Henderfoun ane grite touke² and almoſt putt him over the brig, ſaying vnto him, ‘You may hold out of my gait!’ And this wes fourtene dayis afor the falling of the tree-brig of Sanct Johnneſtoun.

(Sic ſubſcribitur)

ALEX^R BLAIR.

HARY FRIELAND, ſumtyme callit HARY RUTHUEN,³ of the age of xl yeiris, maryed, duelland in Sanct Johnneſtoun, being humblit vpon his knees, ſolemnlie ſworne vpon his grite oathe, and demandit, ‘Yf he rememberis, that in Harveſt wes a yeir, in the moneth of September, he and Williame Wallace, with Alexander Blair come from Collone to Sanct Johnneſtoun?’ Deponis, [he rememberis⁴] that he⁵ come from Collone that day, towardis Sanct Johnneſtoun,⁶ and that Williame Wallace and Alexander Blair come [in company] togidder, and that [a litle afor thame] Henry Balnavis, Johnne Broun notair, [and Andro Gairdner,] and the depouner went [in company] togidder; and thay wer a large ſpace befor Williame Wallace and Alexander Blair, and ſtayed for thame vpon the top of the parkis of Scone, beſyde the ſtane brig: And that the cauſ of thair being at Colone, wes, for geving of feaſing of the Landis of Coloine to Williame Wallace; and that thai come all togidder fra Colone, in companyis, as is aforſaid [to Scone.] Demandit, ‘Yf ther hes been ony grudge or evill will betuix Alexander Blair and the depouner?’ Deponis, that thair hes bene ſome miſlykeing and drynes this langtyme betuix thame, becauſe this depouner gaif information and adviſe to the Lady Roſſy to perſew Alexander Blair, for ane horſe, quhillk violentlie he ſpulzeit and tooke from the Ladyis dochter; and becauſe he aſſiſtit and fortifeit William Wallace and his tementis aganis Alexander Blairis oppreſſioun; and becauſe the depouner wes a doar, in procuiring of Agnes Seytoun lyvrent of the rowme of Colone, in William Wallace favour. Demandit, ‘Yf at that tyme of thair cominge from Colone, he hard Williame Wallace ſay, that the Treafoun of GOURY wes now cleirit and maid maniſeſt, be the Depoſitioun and execution of one namit SPROT?’ Deponis, vpon his grite oathe, that he never hard William Wallace ſpek ony ſik ſpeeches; and that he never hard William Wallace name Sprottis name: And deponis, vpon his grite oathe, that thair wes never ony ſuche anſwer maid be him to William Wallace, as is aſſermed be Alexander Blair; and that thair wes no kynd of conference betuix thame, concerning that mater of Goury or Sprott. Demandit, ‘Yf at ony tyme, he

¹ Constantine.

² A smart ſtroke or blow, by pushing or running at one.

³ The Surname was formally abolished by Act of Parliament.

⁴ These and the following words, within brackets, are interlined.

⁵ Altered

to ‘they.’

⁶ ‘Perth’ deleted. Being the original paper, the corrections, on reading over the Depositions to the witnesses, are of course, made by the clerk.

fayd, that he fould duell in Andro Henderfonis houffis, latt him big as he wald?' Deponis vpoun his Apr. 1610.
 grite oathe, that he neur fpak ony fuch mater. Demandit, ' Yf afoir the falling of the brig of Sanct Johneftoun, the depouner toukit Andro Henderfoun vpoun the brig?' Deponis, that at the tyme fpecifeit in Alexander Blairis Depofitioun, this deponer, comeing alongis the brig, with his horfe in his hand,¹ he forgadderit vpoun the brig with Andro Henderfoun, the Perfone of Bonhard, Alexander Blair, and Conftene Hynd, quho wer all ftanding togidder; and thay fufferit the depouner to go by thame vpoun the midis of the brig, becaus he had ane horfe; and at his by-paffing, his fhoulder tuicheit Andro Henderfoun, who tooke no offens thairat; and when the depouner was by² thame, Alexander Blair looked over his fhoulder and fayd to the depouner, ' Yow mycht haif gevin ws the gait!' ³ And that Andro Henderfoun wes angerit at Alexander Blair for thir fpeecheis. And deponis, vpoun his grit aithe, that he fpak na thing to Andro Henderfoun at that tyme. Demandit, vpoun his grite oathe, to declair, ' Quhat is his opinioun anent GOURYIS TREASOUN, feing he wes prefent with the Erl in the chalmer quhair his Maieftie wes perfewit?' Deponis, vpoun his grite oathe, that he is and ever wes of opinioun, that the Evllis pairt wes worft; feing he faw the King's Maieftie haif na thing but ane hunting horne about his neck. Demandit, ' When he mett laft with his bruther Alexander?'
 Deponis, vpoun his grite oathe, that he faw him nocht for aucht yeiris; and that the laft tyme he faw him wes in Hull, in England, afoir the deceis of the Quene of England.

(Sic fubferibitur)

H. R. of Freland.

ALEXANDER BLAIR, re-examinat, grantit that he met with Hary Ruthuen and Williame Wallace, at the taking of Williame Wallace feafing of Colone; and that after the giving of the feafing, Henry Balnaves, Johnne Broun and Andro Gardiner paff away, and that Williame Wallace and Hary Ruthuene ftayed a quhyle behind, to tak ordour with the tenmentis; and then thay tua, with the depouner, come togidder.

HENRY RUTHUEN, confronted with Alexander Blair, anent the forme of thair comeing frome Colone :
 Deponis, as ofbefoir, that Williame Wallace, Alexander Blair, Henry Balnaveis, Johnne Brom and Andro Gairdner come togidder frome Colone; and that Williame Wallace and Alexander Blair fell togidder in company; and the depouner and the vtheris perfonis foirfaidis fell togidder, and wer ever afoir Williame Wallace and Alexander Blair, whill thay come to the Hoill-brig, quhair the depouner and his company ftayed for thame; and then this depouner fell in company with Williame Wallace and Alexander Blair; and that the vther perfonis foirfaidis wer within the breid⁴ of this chalmer of the tolbnith to thame, and hard every worde that wes fpokin betuix thame.

ALEXANDER BLAIR deponis constantlie,⁵ that at this tyme, the vtheris perfonis foirfaidis wer the fpace of three pair of buttis frome thame; and that he with Hary Ruthuen and Williame Wallace wer half ane hour togidder, at that tyme, going thame felffis allone.

HARY RUTHUEN denyis this altogidder.

(Sic fubferibitur)

ALEX^R BLAIR. H. R. of Frelandis.

WILLIAME WALLACE, feruand to Walter Lord Blantyr, fworne vpoun his grite oathe, being vpoun his knees; and demandit, ' Yf he knawis Hary Freeland and Alexander Blair?' Deponis that he knawis thame very weele. Demandit, ' Yf in September 1608, quhen he tooke feafing of the hauch of Colone, yf Alexander Blair, Henry Freeland, Henry Balnaveis and Johnne Broun wer thair?' Deponis, that thair wer all thair. And that efter the geving of the feafing, Alexander Blair tooke this depouner in to his houfe to drink; and the vtheris perfonis foirfaid went afoir, and the depouner and

¹ He led his horse over this frail wooden bridge, which must have been in a very crazy condition, and probably without ledges, for in 'tuiking' Andrew Henderson, he 'almaist patf him over the brig.' ² Past. ³ The most honourable part of the way was 'the crown of the calsay,' or middle of the street. 'To usurp this privilege was attended with as much danger, as 'taking the wall,' in the days of Addison or Sir Richard Steele. A great deal of bloodshed took place in both countries, on such trifling matters of mere punctilio, between hot-blooded 'gallants.'

⁴ Breadth.

⁵ Without varying, with constancy.

Apr. 1610. Alexander Blair followit, and our-tooke thame at a mylne, qubair Hary Freeland and his cumpany went in to drink;¹ and the depouner and Alexander Blair stayed vpoun thame beyde the mylne, quhill thay come out; and then thay come altogidder fra the milne, in company, to Scone; and drank in my Lord of Scones sellair, as the depouner rememberis. Being demandid, ‘ Yf thair was ony speeche or conference betuix the depouner and Hary Ruthuen concerning GOURYIS TREASOUN or GEORGE SPROTT?’ Deponis vpoun his grite oath, that thair was nevir ony kynd of speeche, talking, or conference amang thame, concerning that mater of Goury or of Sprott; and that the affirmatioun of Alexander Blair, in that mater, is ane vntreuthe. And denyis that hail mater, and all the circomefanceis thair of, and all that is deponit, writtin and subferyuit be Alexander Blair, concerning that particular: And deponis, vpoun his grite oath, that, as he rememberis, thair wes no privat conference betuix the depouner, Alexander Blair, and Hary Ruthuene, that day: And deponis, that he had priue conference, that day, with Alexander Blair, anent the roume of Colone; and that Alexander Blair maid ane offer of iij^m markis² for the fame, quhilk the depouner refusit.

(Sic subfcribitur) WILLIAM WALLACE.

ALEXANDER BLAIR, confronted with Williame Wallace, anent the conference betuix thame and Hary Freeland, in thair comeing frome Colone: The said Alexander abydis be his former Deposition, anent the mater of Gourie and Sprott; and Williame Wallece denyis the fame altogidder.

(Sic subfcribitur) ALEX^R BLAIR. WILLIAM WALLACE.

(ii.) AT EDINBURGHE, the xxvij day of Aprile 1610. IN prefence of the Examinatouris about writtin.

ALEXANDER BLAIR and HARY RUTHUENE being re-examinat and confrontit, vpoun the speecheis past betuix Hary Ruthuen and Williame Wallace, concerning Goury and Sprott: The said Alexander Blair abydis constantlie be his formair Deposition, in that mater; and the said Hary Ruthuene altogidder denyis the fame. The said Alexander Blair offerrit, in the said Haryis prefence, to try this mater BE SINGLE COMBAT betuix thame, quhenver it fall pleis his Maiestie or Counsaill to appoint thame tyme and place; althocht it wer this fame nycht: And sayis, that he is content to be hangit, yf in the combatt he move not the said Hary to confes the treuthe of this mater, as he hes deponit aganis him. The said Hary Ruthuen anfuerit, that he can not be vrgeit, be law, to fecht in fuche a quarrell: And that he will abyde the ordinair tryall of the law; and refusit the Combatt.

ALEX. BLAIR. H. R. of Frelandis.

WILLIAME WALLACE, being re-examinat, abydis constantlie be his formair Deposition maid yiflerday.

AL. CANCELL^R. D. SCONE. JO. PRESTON. S. T. HAMILTON. S. WILLIAM HEART.

(iii.) AT EDINBURGHE, the last day of Junij 1610. IN prefence of the Erll of Dumfermylne Chancellour, David Lord of Scone, Mr Johne Prefioun of Pennycooke Prefident, Sir Alexander Hay Kingis Secrectair, Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnies Aduocat and Mr George Young.

HENRY RATTRAY of Kincarrady, maryed, of the age of xxx yeiris, or thairby, sworne vpoun his grite aith, and demandit, ‘ Yf Alexander Blair come to him, and tauld him that he hard Hary Freeland speeke some outrageous speeches aganis the Kingis Maiestie?’ Deponis, vpoun his grite aithe, that Alexander Blair nevir spak ony fuche mater to him. And sayis, that Williame Wallace haveing chargeit Alexander Blair to find him law souirtie, the said Alexander Blair come to this depouner, ane moneth afoir Hary Freeland wes maid prisouner, and sayd to him, ‘ Can I not be quyte of your goode-bruther? I vow to God, yf I be not quyte² of him, I fall putt ane fleche³ in his hoise!’

¹ This word deleted, and five words interlined. ² 3000 merks. ³ Fr. quité, requited. ⁴ Fr. fleche, a shaft or arrow.

ALEXANDER BLAIR, being confrontit with Henry Rattray, and being re-examinat, vpoun that pairt Jun. 1610. of his formair Depofitioun, concerning Henry Rattray, the faid Alexander, with mony aithis, abydis be his Depofitioun, in that point : And the faid Henry Rattray, with mony aithis, denyis the fame, and that thair wes nevir ony fueche purpois or conference betuix thame, as is contenit in that Depofitioun.

DAVID BLAIR in Scone, maryit, of the age of xl yeiris, fworne and demandit, ‘ Yf he rememberis that Alexander Blair, Henry Freeland and the deponer wer drinking togidder in Andro Boydis hous ?’ Deponis, that he rememberis weele thairof, and that Henry Rattray tooke thame in, to gif thame ane pynt of wyne, they being come frome the buryall of ane woman in St Johnneftoun. And deponis, that the company falling in difcourfe, ‘ who had the beft aill in the cuntrie ?’¹ It wes anfuerit, be one of the company, that ‘ Andro Henderfoun Chalmerlane of Scone haid the beft aill.’ And then Henry Freeland fayd, ‘ Andro Henderfoun is bying, and bigging, and conquessing. It is evill to witt quho may brooke and poffefs thame heirefter, for all his goode aill !’ And deponis, that he directit thir fpeeches to the hail company ; and fayd, that ‘ he caired not quba wald tell it to Andro Henderfoun.’ And the depouner rememberis not that he called Andro Henderfoun ‘ ane falfe knaif ;’ bot fayis, ‘ he gaif evill wordis anew.’ And fayis, that the Parfone of Bonhard wes present, and hard thir fpeecheis.

CONSTANTYNE HYND, in Brigend, vnder the Baillie of Errole, maryed, of the age of xl yeiris, fworne and demandit, ‘ Yf he rememberis, that a litle afoir the falling of the tree-bridge of Perth, this depouner, Andro Henderfoun, and Alexander Blair wer walking togidder vpoun the bridge ?’ Deponis, that he rememberis very weele thairof ; and that in the meantyme, Hary Freeland come alongis the bridge, with ane naig in his hand ; and the deponer, with his company, having thair bakis to Hary Freeland, he faid to thame quhen he come to thame, ‘ Gif ws the gate !’ And in his by-ganging, the paffage being narrow and frait, the depouner is of opinioun that he rubbit clokis with Andro Henderfoun, and pafit by without ony forder fpeecheis. And deponis, that Alexander Blair fayd to Hary Freeland, when he wes by, ‘ The half of the gait mycht haif ferved yow, when yow crapt vnder the boorde !’

AL. CANCELL^s. D. SCONE. ALEX^r HAY. S. T. HAMILTON.

NO. XX.

LETTERS OF JOHN, EARL OF GOWRYE.

[THE following Letters of JOHN EARL OF GOWRYE, are the only specimens of his literary compositions now known to be extant. The original of the Letter to King James VI. was presented to the College of Edinburgh, by Drummond of Hawthornden, in 1626 ; but it has unfortunately been either mislaid or lost, (with other autograph Letters in the same Collection,) subsequent to the year 1757. About that time, it had been transcribed and published by Sir David Dalrymple, Lord Hailes, in a reprint of the ‘ Account published by authority,’ (No. IV. of the present Collection of Illustrative Documents,) and which was intended by him to serve as a specimen of his projected Collections relating to the Gowrye Conspiracy.

The other Letter is preserved in a volume of Original Papers, collected by David Calderwood the historian, who was a fellow-student, under Principal Rollok, with the Earl of Gowrye, at the College of Edinburgh ; where they took the degree of Master of Arts, in 1594. At the time of writing these Letters, the Earl was in his 17th year, prosecuting his studies at Padua. They are also given, pp. 351-6, of the valuable ‘ Miscellany’ of the Bannatyne Club. A fac-simile of the Earl of Gowrye’s subscription to the last of these interesting reliques concludes this Collection of Papers.]

¹ ‘ Toun’ is deleted.

Nov. 1595.

I. LETTER, the Earl of Gowrye to King James VI.

PLEASE YOUR MAJESTIE,

GIF the bestowing of great benefites fould moue the receauers theroff to be thankfull to the giueris, I haue mony and extraordinar occasionis to be thankfull to your Majeste; not only being fauored with the benefite of your Majesteis gude countenance at all tymes, bot also that it hath pleasit your Majeste to accept fo weill of me, as to honour me with your Majesteis most louing letter, as with ane certane signe and vine testimonie of your Majesteis gude fauor and gracioufnes tonartis me; wheroff I esteime so much, that I wald think my selff very hapie, if it fould please your Majeste to comand me in any thing, that therby your Majeste might haue ane tryall of my prompt and fathfull obedience; for your Majesteis worthines and valor, attour the particular courtelis schauin to me, merits whatsomeuer I am able to do, and ane hundreth thousand tymes more. In end, I pray your Majeste to haue me excused that I haue taine the audacitie to wrett againe to your Majeste, for not hauing the comfort of your Majesteis prefence, could not declare my willing mynd better then be vsing of the nixt remede. In the meane tyme, I fall repose my selff still on your Majesteis constant fauor, quhill God of his mercie grant that I se your Majeste in fuche ane gude estate as I wishe, whilk will give me the gretest contentment of all.

Sua crauing earnestly of that Creator of all thingis to blifs your Majeste with all felicitie and satisfacione in health, with ane increas of mony prosperous dayis, I kifs most deuotly your Majesteis hands.

Your Majesteis most humble subiect and obedient seruitor in all deuotione, GOWRYE.

ATT PADUA, the 24th of November 1595.

2. LETTER, *the Earl of Gowrye to Mr Johne Malcome, Minister at Perth.*¹

Ἐυλογητον εἰσω το ονομα τε θεε εις αιωνα.

BELOVED BROTHER,

HAUING taken occasione to wrett to Scotland, wald nocht omitt my deutie to you, in visiting you with this letter, that therby ye myght vnderstand of my present estate, quhilk continues as ofbefore; praising God, from my hairt, that of the riche abundance of his gude grace and mere mercie hes maid the beames and licht of his countenance, to shine vpon me most fauorably; to be ane guide to conduct me saiffie per hunc Auernum, quherin mony here, (quorum oculi densa caligine et nebulis obfuscati sunt,) ó miserum spectaculum ! are drowned, in his iustice ; I meane nocht all, absit ; for I am acquainted with diuers heir, qui, etiam inter has paludes fligias, hes neuer bowed ther kne to Baal : Quhat ane meruell is this ? and quha can beleue it ? and zit it is certanly true ; glorificetur igitur Deus in operibus suis, ac eo magis quo sunt mirabiliora et παρα την φύσιν. There wes ane notable exemple of constancie not long ago, in ane Silesian Minister, of some threscore yeares and mair, quha, efter he had beine deteined in prisione about nyne yeares, and the Jesuites had trauailed with him to recant ; bot perfaiffing that thei could preuaile nothing at his handis, caused bring him to the fyre, lyke bludie dogges ; quhere, efter he had maid ane excellent discourse and harang to the people, shauing them the gret honour he wes callit to in suffering for Christes sake, and exhorting them to conuersione, abode most patiently, without ony shrinking, all tormentis ; magnifeing Godis holy name, and praying that ther sinnes mycht be forgiuen them. Efter he wes brunt, not being zit satisfied of the crueltie that they had vsit against him, quhen he wes liuing, did cast ane gret heap of stoness vpon his ashes, multo scruiores quam erant Iudei aduersus Stephanum. There were vtheris, quha for feare of death, at that same tyme, maid filthie apostacie fra the true Religione to that damnable idolatrie ; and at that instant that ane of them begane to deny Christ, in making defectione, there isshued blude out of his nose in suche gret abundance, that all did see him thoelt he sould haue dyed presentlie. This wes ane visibill signe of the hand of God, that chopped on him quha had done such ane villanie against his conscience, for to purchase his auin lyffe, quhilk he wes not worthie to bruike, be the losse of his soule. Bot thir renegates not the les escaped not their auin punishment, for they all were fend ad triremes, vbi non vnus hore spatium vitam finituri, sed morientes semper, nec tamen morientur. Laitlie, efter these thingis, ane certane Inglishe man, being moued on zele to cast ther sacra hostia (as thai most fallsie callis it) out of the priestis handis, that wes caring it in processione, to the grund, and to stramp on it with his fete, wes apprehendit and denudit of his clothes, thereafter ane hude putt on his heade, quheron wes painted the deuils image, and some with bleasis, quha brunt him continually in the backe and brest as he walked forduart ; bot he, in the meane tyme, wes occupiet in schauing the people how thai were schamfullie abused by these miscient idolaters, quha were leading them to their auin damnatione. In end, he spake with such ane vehemencie, that the enymies caused knett his toung, fearing some vprorre to enfeu, if he had gottin ony forder libertie to speke : So he wes brought to the place of executione, quhere, lifting vp his eyes to heauen, and on his knees kissing the chain he wes bund with, they caused first cut of his hand for the fact he had committed, and nixt burne him quicke. All thir thingis were done in Rome, Nov. 1595.

¹ Mr John Malcolm, one of the Regents, and afterwards Principal of St Leonard's College, St Andrews, was ordained Minister of Perth, 4th November, 1591. He was the author of a Latin Commentary on the Acts of the Apostles, a work of considerable learning, printed at Middleburgh, 1615, 4to. He died at an advanced age, at Perth, 3d October, 1634.

Nov. 1595. that mother of all vyce, and hoorifhe fynagog of deuils. I am fory that my abfence will not permit me to kyth my mynd and gudwill, in helping to fett furth Godis glorie there, cui totus ex animo incumberem; bot quhen, at his gude pleasure, I returne, fall with his grace, indeuore my felff to amend quhatfomeuer is omitted for laike of my prefens. I thank you most hartfully, of your remembrance of me in your prayeris; defyryng you earnestlie to contineu, according to the loue ze cary to the faluatioune of my foule. Thus, remembering my loving commendationis to your felff, with the hail nychtbouris of the toune, Committis you with them all to the protectione of the Omnipotent.

Youris aluayis affectionat,

GOWRYE.

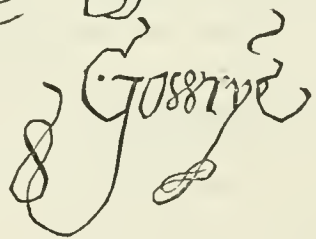

AT PADOUA, the 28 of Nonember, 1595.

I DOUT nocht bot ze haue hard, long fince, of the Papes benedictione given to the King of France; quhilk hes turned to ane maledictione. No vther neuis occuris heir for the present; bot nou agane, latlie, there is some Inglishmen put in the hous of Inquifitione, in Rome.

To my beloued brother, MR JHONE MALCOME, Minister at PERTH.

No. XXI.

FAC-SIMILE OF THE SUBSCRIPTION OF JOHN EARL OF GOWRYE.

Youris aluayis affectionat.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Writing Slanderous Pasquils against the King, &c.—Sedition.

Oct. 10.—FRANCES TENNENT, merchand burges of Edinburghe.¹

[THE TRIAL of Francis Tennent forms one of the series, in a black catalogue of Cases, which must leave an indelible stain on the character of King James VI. Owing to the scrupulous care adopted by the Lord Advocate to suppress these offensive papers, the precise nature of the Pasquils alluded to, cannot now be correctly determined. The likelihood, however, is, that besides 'detracting' the King and his 'maift nobill progenitouris,' and publicly branding the King as the 'Sone of Seniour Davie,' (a popular soubriquet for his sacred Majesty,) these offensive squibs had contained matter relative to the recent Conspiracy of THE EARL of GOWRIE. Such a conjecture is fortified by the circumstance of the well-known Mr Robert Bruce and Mr John Davidson, the persons to whom the Pasquils are fictionally addressed, having publicly asserted the story of the Conspiracy to be an entire fabrication, and that the Murder was devised and perpetrated by the King and the Court faction, to rid themselves of a powerful rival.

¹ On the margin, 'Convictus et Suspendus.'

After a minute and careful search, the Editor has not been able to obtain copies or fragments of these papers, or to get even a tolerable abstract of their contents. The only light we obtain from any contemporaneous writer, is from that amusing and minute Chronicler, Robert Birrell; who only ventures to say; 'The 8 of October, Frances Kennaird hangit at the Croce, for Treaffone aganis his Maieftie, for making of Plakketis and wreittis, sic as Cokkolentis.'¹ The latter part of this mysterious intimation would lead us to believe, that these pasquils contained, amongst other satirical remarks, reflections on the Queen's conjugal infidelity. It is certain, at all events, that this shot took effect; and it is equally clear, that his Majesty retaliated, in a most ungenerous and cruel manner. In the course of investigating the public Records, &c. the only notice which the Editor observed, was in the Lord High Treasurer's Accounts; where, in the month of October, the following entry is made: 'ITEM, to the Officeris of Justiciare, for summoning of ane Affyis to Francis Tennent, xlf.'

Should the Editor, afterwards, be so fortunate as to obtain inspection of these papers, or authentic contemporaneous transcripts, amongst the MS. Collections of Thomas first Earl of Haddington, then Secretary of State, Lord Advocate, &c. or from similar sources, they shall be given in the Appendix.]

Dilatit for fals, malicious and vndeutfull wryting and disperfing of sklanderous, calumnious and reprochefull Letteris, to the dishonour of the Kingis Maieftie,² his hienes progenitouris, Counsale and proceedingis; conform to the Dittay, produceit (by) Mr Thomas Hammiltoune Aduocat to our fouerane Lord.

DITTAY against Frances Tennent.

FRANCES TENNENT, merchand burges of Edinburgh, 3e are Indytit and accufit for 3e fals, malicious, vndewtiefull wryting and disperfing of sklanderous, calumnious and reprochefull Lettres, to 3e dishonour of 3e Kingis Maieftie, his maift nobill progenitouris, counsale and proceedingis; and steiring vp of feditioune and contempt in 3e hairtis of his fubiectis, aganis his Maieftie; in maner, substance and effect contenit in twa of 3our Lettres writtin, heirwith produceit, and vfit as ane pairt of 3our Dittay; The ane of the saidis Lettres, writtin with 3our hand, and fuferyuit be the feinzait name of 'JAMES SYMPSOUNE, SCOLLER,' and directit 'to Mr Robert Bruce,' off the dait, at Newcastle, 3e xvij day of Januar, the 3eir of God Im.Ve.lxxxxvij 3eiris; and the vther, lykewyis writtin with 3our hand, and fuferyuit with the feinzait name of 'JOHNE STRATHAUCHIN;' and directit vponne the bak, 'to Mr Johne Davidfoune;' Quhilkis twa Lettres, 3e laid doune in the Kirke of Edinburgh, to the effect the famyn mycht haif fallin in the handis of the pepill; thairbye to bring his Maieftie in contempt, and fteir vp his pepill to feditioune and difobediencie; exprefslie aganis the Lawis and Actis of Parliament maid aganis Lefing-makeris and authouris of feditioune and infamous fpeicheis and writtis. Quhilk 3e can nocht deny; Lykeas, 3e haif confest 3e famyn, be twa feuerall Depofitionis, fuferyuit with 3our hand.

¹ Perhaps for 'Cokkoleingis,' cuckoldings. ² See Cases of Diksoun, Aug. 3, 1596; Cornuall, Apr. 25, 1601; and Ross, executed Sept. 10, 1618.

The Aduocat produceit his Maiesteis Warrant, for perfute of Frances Tennent.
The said Frances Tennent produceit certane

DEFENSES, in writt, aganis the Dittay; quhair of the tennour followis.

‘IT IS alledgeit, for þe pairt of me Frances Tennent, that na proces aucht to be gevin aganis me, in þe Criminall actione persewit be my Lord Aduocat contrair me; becaus I am nocht deprehendit, in recenti crimine, bot is convenit vpoune ane deid, alledgeit done thre 3eir sence or pairbye: And conforme to the Actis of Parliament, I aucht to be summond vpoune fyftene dayis wairning, and ane copie of þe Dittay gevin me; quhilk is nocht swa done; bot I am summarlie presentit on pannell, without ony citatioune preceding. Secundlie, gifand¹ 3our lordschip wald proceed aganis me the said Frances, nochtwithstanding the alledgeance foirsaid; 3it I aucht to haif ane copie of þe Dittay, and ane day assignit to me, to ansuer þairto; seing I am convenit on my lyffe; And gude ressonne vald I had ane day to be avyfit þairwith; And to remember the Dittay to be speciall, anent the cryme; And to allege, that speking generallie, without cursing,² is na lawfull cause to tak ane mannis lyffe. Thridlie, alledgeit, the Law Intitulat ‘Si quis Imperatori maledixerit,’³—and produceit the buik to instruct the Law, quhilk is ane Defence to me the said Frances in this cause.’

It is ansuerit be my lord Aduocat, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay contening the cryme of Seditioun aganis the Prince, quhilk may suffer na delay. As to the last Defence maid vpoun the Law, ‘Si quis Imperatori maledixerit,’ the samin aucht to be Repellit, in respect of the Actis of Parliament maid anent the crymes lybellit; ordaning the authouris of sklanderous speichis and writtis aganis the Prince, his progenitouris, Counfall or proceedingis, to be puneist to the death.

The Justice findis proces: Quhairvpoune the Kingis Aduocat askit instrumentis.

The samin day, twa Letteris being produceit be the Aduocat, maid and writtin be Frances Tennent, togedder with his Depositionis; the said Frances acknowledgeit and confessit in judgement the samyn to be his handwrit: Quhairvpoune the Aduocat askis instrumentis; and in respect thair of, and of the ij^e and fyft Act of the Kingis xiiij Parliament, and vther Actis thairin mentionat, protestis, gif the Assyis clenge the said Frances, for Wilfull Errorr.

The Aduocat produceit

HIS MAIESTEIS WARRANT to pronounce dome aganis Frances Tennent, in maner following:

¹ Giving or granting, that your lordship, &c. ² ‘Cursing’ had been originally written, and is deleted in the record, to make way for the improved orthography ‘cursing.’ ³ Codicis, lib. 9, tit. 7, l. unic. ‘Quoniam si id ex levitate processerit, contemnendum est: Si ex insania, miseratione dignissimum: Si ab injuria, remittendum.’

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clerk and your Deputis, We greit you weill. It is our will and We command you, that youne ye fycht heirof, ye pronounce the dome following, youne frances Tennent burges of Edinburgh, efter his convictionne, of the forgeing and casting doune of certane seditious Pafcallis:¹ That is to say, that he fall be takyn to the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and his toung cuttit out at ye rute; and that thair falbe ane paper affixit youne his brow, bering, that he is convict for forgeing and geveing out of certane vyild and seditious Pafcallis, detracting ws and our maist nobill progenitouris: And thairefter, that he fall be takyn to the gallous and hangit, ay quhill he be deid:² As ye will answere to ws youne your offices and obedience: Quhairnent, thir presentis falbe your Warrant. Subscryuit with our hand, At Lynlythqhw, the xxij day of September, 1600 yeris.

(Sic subscritur)

JAMES REX.

The said Frances produceit ane vther Warrant, subscryuit be his Maiestie, dispensing with the former Warrant, quhair of the tennour followis:

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clerk and your Deputtis and Aduocat, We greit you weill: forfamekill as, albeit be our vther Warrant direct to you, We commandit you to put frances Tennent to ye torture of ye buittis; and pairefter to pronounce dome aganis him, that he fuld be careit to ye mercat croce of Edinburgh, and pair his toung to be cuttit out, and syne hangit: Nochtwithstanding, for certane causses moving ws, We haif thocht gude to mitigat that sentence, be dispensing with ye tortoring of ye said frances, other³ in the buittis, or be cutting out of his toung; and ar content, that ye onlie pronounce dome aganis him to be hangit, without any forder: Quhill We command you to do, be thir presentis; and to forbeir the said tortour. Quhairnent thir presentis falbe your Warrant. Subscryuit with our hand, At Dundie, the xxvij day of September, 1600 yeris. (Sic subscritur) JAMES REX.

VERDICT. For the quhill crymes, the said Frances was put to the knowledge of ane Affyis,⁴ &c.; and (they) being throuchlie avyfit thairwith, reenterit agane in Court, quhair thay, be the mouth of George Dowglas, callit of Bengowre, chancellor, ffand, pronounceit and declarit the said Frances to be fylit, culpabil and convict of the dittay abouewrittin, and crymes thairin contentit.

SENTENCE. The Justice-depute, be the mouth of Robert Galbraith, dempstar of the said Court, Decernit and ordauit the said Frances Tennent to be tane to ane Gibbet, befyde the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit quhill he be deid; and all his movabill guidis to be escheit and inbrocht to our souterane lordis vse, as convict of the saidis crymes.

NOTA. Immediatlie efter dome pronouncing, Mr Thomas Hammilton take vp the tua Lettres, writtis and Pafcallis, the ane direct to Mr Robert Bruce, and the vther to Mr Johne Davidfone, Ministeris; quilkis twa Pafcallis he vald nocht haif insert in proces.

¹ Pasquils. ² This seems to be a dreadfully severe and barbarous sentence, when compared with the trivial nature of the offence; and marks a shockingly vindictive spirit on the part of the King. The case of Archibald Cornuall, Apr. 25, 1601, is another of many melancholy instances of the sanguinary temper of James VI. in all instances of infringement on his kingly dignity. Although the application of the torture, and cutting out of this unlucky libeller's tongue, were ultimately dispensed with, certainly the punishment was vastly disproportioned to the measure of the offence. The recent Conspiracies may perhaps have induced the King to make some severe examples; and poor Francis Tennent was offered up as the first suitable victim. Independently of his wounded kingly dignity, the wealthy burges's escheat had proved too great a bait to James's cupidity, to admit of his passing scot-free. ³ Outher, either. ⁴ Consisting of merchants of Edinburgh, but persons of no note.

Purchasing Poison—Poisoning Fowls.

Nov. 5.—THOMAS BELLIE, burges of Brechin, and James Bellie his sone.

Dilatit and accufit for contravening of our souerane lordis Actis of Parliament for bying, haifing and keping of poyfoune; mixing the samyn with daich,¹ and casting doune thair of in Jonet Clerkis zaird in Brechin, for destructioun of fowlis; be the quhilk poyfoune they distroyit to the said Jonet twa hennis. And being persewit be Mr Robert Lyntoune, subfitute for Mr Thomas Hammiltoune, aduocat, for the said cryme, they refuit to pafs to Assyis, bot come in our souerane lordis will for the said cryme: Quhairvpoun the said Mr Robert askit instrumentis.

The Justice continewis the said dyet to the morne.

Nov. 6.—Continewis in cras, the sevint of November.

Nov. 7.—Comperit Mr Johne Marschell, Minister of Brechin, and produceit his Maiesteis will; quhair of the tennour followis.

REX,

WE, vnderstanding that Thomas Bellie, induellar in Brechin, is become in our will for haifing and keping of poyfoune, and poysoning thairwith of certane hennis: Thairfor we declair our will as followis, to wit; That the said Thomas fall, within the space of fourtie dayes, remove and depairt furth of our realme, and remane as a exylit and baneist perfoune furth pair of, during all the dayis of his lyffe; vnder the pane of deid: Commanding heirbye our Justice, Justice Clark and thair deputtis, to pronunce and delyuer pis our Will, iudicialle; and caufe registre the same in our buikis of Adior-nall. Subferiuit with our hand, At Halyrudehous, the saxt day of Nouember, 1600.

(Sic subferibitur)

JAMES REX.

SENTENCE. According to the quhilk, the Justice, be the mouth of James Lowrie, dempster, Ordanit the said Thomas, within the space of fourtie dayis, to remove and depairt furth of this realme, as ane exylit and baneist perfoune, furth thair of, during all the dayis of his lyfytyme; vnder the pane of deid.

Slaughter.

Nov. 12.—WILLIAME HOME of Ballicafs.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Mr Alexander Dikfoune, sone to vmq^{le} Robert Dikfoune elder of Haffingtoune-maynis; committit the xxj day of Aprile, 1597 yeiris.

PERSEWAR, Johne Dikfoune.

THE Justice continewis this mater, to the saxt day of Marche nixtocum. ‘Plegio, Wilelmo Home de Ballandyne.’

[*Mr Williame Borthuik, Justice-Depute.*²]

Namesucken — Forcible Abduction — ‘Rapt and Ravingh.’

Jan. 13, 1601.—JOHNE KYNCAID of Craighous.

[THE CASE of Kyncaid of Craighous, which follows, affords a lamentable instance of perversion of the ends of justice, while, at the same time, it contains a most amusing illustration of the cupidity and meanness of 'King Jamie the sapient and fext.' At this period, it was by no means an uncommon thing, in Scotland, to make short courtships with heiresses and rich widows, by 'captivating' them by a coup de main and getting married, according to the briefest form recognized by the laws of the land; and, no doubt, some of these unceremonious courtships, in the long run, proved happy to all parties. The Laird of Craighouse, a Cadet of the ancient family of Kincaid of that Ilk, in Stirlingshire, (as were the Kincaids of Warriston, Craiglockhart, Coates, &c.) was possessed of considerable wealth. From the whole complexion of the following story, it appears pretty clear, that this luckless gallant had been regularly trained to carry off a certain buxom 'wedo.' It is not even alleged in the Dittay, that any violence had been done to the lady, farther than the fact of carrying her off. Perhaps it may be thought by no means improbable, that the Bailie of the Water of Leith, out of whose house she was said to have been carried, in the face of open day, was one of the parties concerned in facilitating the 'abduction;' for it is very unlikely, that a 'wedo' could be thus forcibly taken, (after breaking up the doors of her dwelling,) and that she could, by any ordinary force, be carried, against her inclination, through the Village of the Water of Leith, and also through a populous part of the country, in the immediate vicinity of the City of Edinburgh, to the foot of the Braid hills, where Craighouse is situated; without raising the hue and cry, and being released, ere she had been carried a couple of miles. But it is still more incredible, that the perpetrators of this outrage should, in addition to the palpable indiscretion of committing this crime in broad daylight, be such bunglers, as 'all by accident' to ride into the heart of the King's hunting party! The machinery of the imprisonment, trial, and subsequent proceedings, were admirably contrived to practise on the fears of the unlucky Laird; until, at length, he fell into the snare which was so craftily laid for him—he 'become in our fouerane lordis Will!' It appears from the Acts of the Privy Council, that, on Dec. 18, 1600, 'John Kincaid of Craighous (was) committit to waird, within the Castell of Edinburghe; thairin to be detenit, vpoun his awin expensis, ay and quhill he be presentit to the Justice,' &c.; and the matter, as is proved by the Books of Justiciary, was hung up till Feb. 17, 1601; all which time poor Kincaid lay 'in durance vile,' and was finally forced, by squalor carceris, to accept of almost any terms. This 'Will,' it may be affirmed, is matchless! A fine of two thousand five hundred merks is imposed, which, considering the relative value of money at that time, was an enormous sum. To wind up the transaction, the King demands the Laird's guid 'broune horfe', to quench the remainder of his wrath; and perchance the King would think, with the reader, that 'the rapt of Craighous' was the best day's sport he had had for many a year.]

¹ Dough.

² He also officiated on Nov. 20, 22, 25, Dec. 17, and Jun. 7.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the Rapt and Reveifching of Iffobell Hutchefoun, wedow; taking of hir captine, &c.

PRELOQUUTOUR for the pannell, Mr Johnne Drowling.

PERSEWAR, Mr Robert Lyntoun, substitute, for the aduocat.

The quhilk Johnne Kincaid of Craighous, hauing enterit on pannell, declarit, that he will becum in his Maiefteis will, ffor taking of Iffobell Huchfoun, wedow, his hienes frie leige furth of Johnne Johnneftoune, baillie of the Watter of Leithis hous, and taking of hir to his awin hous of Craighous; committit the xvij day of December laft.

(Signed) JOHNNE KINCAID.

DITTAY against Johnne Kyncaid of Craighous.

FORSAMEKLE as he, with conuocatioun of the perfonis vnderwrittin, and diuerse vtheris our fouerane lordis leigis; To wit, Robert Kyncaid, foue to Edward Kyncaid, burges of Edinburgh, David Watfoun, sifter-sonne to Johne Johnestoun, baillie of the Water of Leith, Johne Watfoun, his seruand, Alexander Barcar, baxter in Edinburgh, Johnne Qubippo, baxter thair, and Williane Hepburne, with diuerse vtheris his complices, of his speciall convocating, causing, command and directioun, laitlie, vpoun the xvij day of December lastby-past, being bodin in feir of weir, with swordis, secreteitis and vtheris wappynnis, invafine, contrair the tennour of our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, come to Johne Johnestoun, baillie of the Water of Leith duelling-hous thair; quhair Iffobell Huchfoun wedow was, in sober, quyet and peceabill maner for the tyme, dredand na evill, harme, iniurie or perfuit of onye personis, bot to haife levit vnder Godis peax and our fouerane lordis: And thair, he way of hamefuckin and comuocatioune of our fouerane lordis liegis, as said is, violentlie and forceablie brak vp the duris of the said duelling-hous, enterit thairin be way of deid, and pat violent handis in the said Iffobellis persoun, tuke hir captiue, rest, reveischit and tuke hir away with him to his place of Craighous; quhair he detenit hir, quhill his Maiestie, being vpoun the feildis, accompaneit with Johne Erle of Mar, Sir Johne Ramfay and diuerse vtheris, his Maiesteis domestik serwandis, heiring of the committing of sik ane horribill fact, directit the saidis Johne Erle of Mar, Sir Johne Ramfay and diuerse vtheris his hienes serwandis, to follow hir, and to releve hir furth of his handis; quha haifing cum to his place of Craighous, and requyring for hir relive, he refusit to grant the samyn, quhill thay manassit to bring his Maiestie about his said house, and raise ffyre thairin; and fwa compellit him to releve hir: Committing thairbye, Rapt and Reveisching of the said Iffobell, Hamefuckin, Convocatioun of our fouerane lordis liegis; and hes tressonablie vsurpit his hienes auctoritie, in taking and violent and forceabill detening the said Iffobell his frie liege, expres contrair the lawis and Actis of Parliament; and he being airt and pairt thairof: Quhairbye he hes incurrit the panis, contenit in the said lawis and Actis of Parliament; quhilkis fuld be execute aganis him, with all rigour.

Continewit to the morne, the xiiij day of Januare.

[Mr Williame Hairt and Mr Williame Borthuik, Justices-Deputes.]

(Feb. 17.)—The quhilk day, Johne Kyncaid of Craighous, being enterit on pannell, appointit to heir and see our fouerane lordis Will declarit, in the quhilk he become, in ane Court of Justiciarie, haldin in the Tolbuith of Edinburgh, the xij day of Januar, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^o. and anc yeiris, be Mr Williane Borthuik, Justice-depute, for taking of Iffobell Hutcheoune wedo, his hienes frie liege, furth of Johne Johnestoune, baillie of the Water of Leith hous thair, and taking of hir to his awin duelling-houfe thair; committit the xvij day of December lastwas:—Comperit Mr Williame Brois, seruitour to Alexander Master of Elphingfoune, Thefaurer to our fouerane lord, and produceit ane Warrant direct to the Justice, Justice Clark and thair deputtis, contening his hienes Will; and defyrit the Justice to pronunce and declair the said Will, according thairto; and to caufe infert the samyn in the buikis of Adiornall, to haif the frenth of ane Act and decret thairof. The quhilk Warrant being red, the Justice pronunceit his hienes Will conforme to the tenour thairof, and ordanit the samyn to be infert and regiftrate in the buikis of Adiournall; to haife the frenth of ane act and decret thairof; with executioun of horning and poinding, to be direct aganis the said Johne and his cawtioun, for fulfilling of the said Will; and the horning to be vpoune ane simple charge of fax dayes warning; quhairof the tenour followis:

JAMES, be the grace of God, King of Scottis. To our Justice, Justice Clark and pair deputis, greeting. Forfamekill as Johne Kyncaid of Craighous, is becum in our will, for þe Reveifching of Ifobell Huchefoun, wedo: Thairfoir, We declair our will as followis, to wit; that the said Johne Kyncaid fall mak payment to ws and our Thefaurer, in our name, or to sik vtheris as our said Thefaurer fall appoynt and affigne, of the fowme of xxv^s (2500) merkis money of our realme: As also, that he fall delyuer to ws and our said Thefaurer his broune horse: Commanding heirbye 3ow our said Justice, Justice Clark and 3our deputis, to caufe pronunce and declair þis our will aganis þe said Johne, judiciallie, and infert þir presentis in our buikis of Adiornall, to haif the frenth of ane act and decret; that executioun of horning and poinding may be direct aganis þe said Johne, vpoune ane simple charge of fax dayes. Subferyuit with our hand, at Halyrudehous, the last day of Januar, 1601 3eiris.

(Sic subferibitur)

JAMES REX.

Slaughter.

[Mr Williame Borthuik, Justice-Depute.]

Jan. 22.—WALTER SCOT, James Scot and William Scot in Schoftanis, all brether to Robert Scot of Bowhill, and John Scot in Quholp-law, alias callit Johne of Bonytoun.

Comperit Mr Allane Hammiltoune, feruitour to Sir Arcebald Naper of Edynbillie, knycht, and as procuratour for the said Sir Arcebald, and produceit our fouerane lordis lettres, deulie execute and indorfat, purchest be Alefoune Edmeif-toune the relict, and the said Sir Arcebald Naper as fader, with the brether and remanent kyn and freindis of vni^q Arcebald Naper, Gudeman of the Wowmet;¹ to tak fouertie of Walter Scot, &c. that thay fuld haif comperit befor the Justice or his deputis, this day and place, in the hour of caufe, and vnderlyne the law for the Slauchter of the said vni^q Arcebald;² be the quhilkis lettres the saidis perfonis ar denunceit our fouerane lordis rebellis, and put to the horne. The said Mr Allane Hammiltoune protestit for releve of Johne Naper, 3ounger of

¹ Woolmot, near Edinburgh. ² George Birrel gives the following notice in his 'Diarey,' p. 52, 'The aucht of November (1600), Arcebald Napier ilane be fyve of the name of Scot and Thomas Crichtoun, ryding hame to his awen hous to the Wowmet.'

Merchintoune, cawtioner for productione of the faidis lettres : quhairvpoune he askit actis and instrumentis.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Breaking into the Place of Boningtoun—Chest of Title Deeds, &c.

Mar. 31.—JAMES WOD, ffeare of Boningtoune, and Williame Wod of Latoune.

Dilatit of the breking of the Place of Boningtoune, &c.

PERSEWAR.

Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne, Aduocat to our souerane lord, for his hienes interes. PRELOQUUTOURIS for James Wod, Mr Johne Ruffell, Mr Alexander King, Mr Laurence M^cGill, Capitan Andro Gray, Robert Gray.

The Aduocat produceit his Maiesteis Warrant, subferyuit with his hienes (hand,) ordaining him to insift in perfuit, &c. ; quhair of the temour followis.

REX,

MR THOMAS HAMMILTOUNE of Drumcarne, our Aduocat, We greit 3ow weil. It is our will, and We command 3ow, that estir pe sycht heirof, 3e compeir before our Justice or his deputis, in our Tolbuith of Edinburgh, the last day of March instant, in pe hour of caus ; and insift in perfuit of James Wod, feare of Boningtoune, and Williame Wod of Latoune, tane and dilatit of breking of pe Place of Boningtoun, and of pe tressonabill and thifteous steilling and away-taking furth pair of, of certane ewidentis, writtis and pleneiffing, pertening to Patrik Wod, eldar of Boningtoune, and to pe Lady Vlane :¹ As also, for contravening of pe Actis of Parliament in heiring of Mefs ;² and ressetting of Lueis,³ ane Seminarie Preift : ffor pe quhilk thir presentis salbe 3our Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyrudhous, the last day of March, 1601. (Sic subfcribitur) JAMES R.

Thairefter, the said Mr Thomas Hammiltoune produceit the Dittay following.

DITTAY against JAMES WOD and WILLIAME WOD.

JAMES WOD, feare of Boningtoun, and WILLIAME WOD of Latoun ; Ye ar indytit and accusit : fforfamekill, as it is statute and ordenit be our souerane lordis Actis of Parliament, and speciallie, be ane Act maid in his hienes Parliament, hauldin and begun at Edinburgh, the xxix day of Julij I^m.V^c. lxxxvij yeiris, that incaise it sal happin ony laudit men to be lauchfullie and ordourlic convict of the crymes of Thift, Ressett thairof or Stouth-reiff, in tyme cuming, thay fall incur the cryme and payne of Tressoune ; that is to say, tinfall of lyffe, landis and guidis ; as the said Act at mair lenth beris : And trew it is, that ye and ather⁴ of yow, being landit gentilmen, accompaneit with Thomas Daw, fnyth in Brechin, Alexander Daw, in Carrestoun, his brother, and vtheris your complices, laitlie, vpoun the xvj day of March instant, came, vnder fylence and cloud of nycht, fra the citie of Brechin, to the Place of Boningtoun, pertening to Patrik Wod, eldar of Boningtoun, fader to yow the said James ; quhair Alexander Daw schott the haill 3ettis⁵ of the said place, and preiffit⁶ to pryise⁷ the irne ȝett thairof, and to enter thairin perforce: And becaus ye could nocht pryife the said irne ȝett, ye pryfit vp ane stainehell¹ of ane laich volt windok,² and enterit thairby to the said place: And efter your entrie, ye opnit the haill duris, and schot the lokis of all the kiftis³ within the said place, and spaciallie of the Chartour kift, standing in the chalmere of dace⁴ of the said place, perteing to your said fader; ffurth of the quhilk ye tressonable (and) thisteouslie stall, concealit, reffett, stouthfullie rest, and away-tuik, the haill evidents being thairin; and findrie vther writtis furth of ane vther kift, within the Galrie of the said place, and opnit the haill remanent kiftis and cofferis being thairin; ffurth of the quhilkis lykewyife, ye tressonable and thisteouslie stall, stouthfullie rest, reffett and away-tuik nyne pair of scheitis, foure buird-clathis,⁵ twa dosone and twa of feruettis,⁶ ane pair of blankettis of fustiane, and ane peace of vnbleicht linning claith: And efter that the haill kiftis wer opnit, and that ye wer paking vp the writtis and plenneiffing foirsaid, within the saidis buird-clathis, Matho Wod in Croftis, James Wod his sone, and Dauid, ane ryner boy to the Maister of Ogilvie, came to the Place of Boningtoun to yow, and helpit to pak vp the graith: Lykeas, ye the said Williame Wod of Latoune, with Matho Wod, James Wod and Dauid, and ilkane of yow, thane thisteouslie convoyit away and bure vpoun thair bakis, the haill plenneiffing aboue writtin, writtis and evidents, togidder with ane lytill coffer with writtis, pertening to the Lady Vfsane, furth of the said Place of Boningtoun, towardis the Place of Boschene; quhair ye wes reffett be Johne Ogilvie, seruand to the Maister of Ogilvie, and be yow the said James Wod, fear of Boningtoune, haifing borrowit the said Place of Boschene to that purpos: And vpoun the Thurisday thaireftir, being the xix day of this instant, ye thisteouslie transportit and convoyit the saidis evidents, writtis and plenneiffing, fra the said Place of Boschen to the Place of Inchtur; quhair ye the said James Wod, be your self, and vtheris of your causing, reffett the famin: And swa, ye and ather of yow ar art and part of the thisteous breking of the said Place of Boningtoune, and of the tressonabill and thisteous steiling, conceeling, away-taking and stouth-reiff, furth thairof, of the plenneiffing, writtis and evidents aboue writtin, pertening to the said Patrik Wod of Boningtoune, fader to yow the said James, and to the said Lady Vfsane; and of the reffett thairof: Of the quhilkis crymes, ye, being landit gentilmen, and being ordourlie and lauchfullie convict, ye and ather of yow hes incurrit the cryme and pane of Tressoune, viz. tinfall⁷ of lyffe, landis and guidis: To the takin⁸ that ye and ather of yow ar art and part of the saidis crymes, ye haif confest the famin be your Depositionis; as the famin, subscryuit be your handis, beris.

¹ A strange corruption, for Ulysses-haven, in the shire of Forfar. ² There is no notice of this branch of the Dittay having been insisted on, and no farther notice is taken. Birrel says, in his 'Diarey,' p. 54, 'The last day of Marche, James Wood of Bonnytoun and his guid-brother Williame Wood ibolit ane Affyze for being at the Mefs in Andro Napier's hous ; but continewit the executioun.'

³ Name left blank. ⁴ Either, each. ⁵ Shot or unbolted the bars and bolts, or other fastenings, of the gates. ⁶ Made a strenuous endeavour. ⁷ To prize or wrench open by means of any lever, such as a 'pinch' or crow-bar, &c.

The famin day, the Laird of Latoune, efter reding of the Dittay produceit be the Aduocat, declarit that he wald becum in the Kingis Maiesteis Will for the famin: Quhairvpoun the said Mr Thomas Hammiltoun askit instrumentis.

The parteis, requiring that this mater mycht continew to the morue, THE JUSTICE repellis, and ordanis proces.

The preloquitouris for James Wod desyrit that thay may haif licence to propone declinatouris aganis ony Assessor that he fall speir att.—It is alledgeit be the said James Wod and his preloquintouris, that na proces can be led aganis the said James; becaus he is challengeit vpoun crymes of Tressoune, and that he is nocht summond vpoun fourtie dayes, to vnderly the law for the said cryme, quhilk aucht to be; in respect he is nather tane in flagranti crimine, nor putt to the horne.—To the quhilk it is anfuerit, that it is nocht necessar to warn him vpoun fourtie dayes, becaus he is accufat of Tressfoune, and brocht fra the Kingis waird to the bar.

¹ Stancheon. ² The window of a low vault or cellar. ³ Chests. ⁴ The presence chamber, or room of state. Properly speaking, it is that part of a hall which was raised higher than the rest; the place of honour. ⁵ Chawmer o' dais is still used to signify a parlour, in remote parts of the country. ⁶ Table-cloths. Servets, towels, or table napkins. ⁷ Loss; from the verb to lyne, or lose. ⁸ In token, evidence, or proof.

THE JUSTICE ffindis proces, and repellis the alledgeance; quhairvpoun my Lord Aduocat askit instrumentis.

It is alledgeit, that the Dittay is nawyis relevant, becaus it is difconforme to the Act of Parliament; becaus the Act of Parliament is anent commoun thift, reffett of thift, or stouth-reiff; and trew it is, that the propositioun of the Dittay is nocht fa sett down, but only vpoun simpill thift; quhair that the wordis of the Act of Parliament is extendit only to commoun thift, commoun reffett, commoun stouth and reiff.—The Aduocat anfueris, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Actis of Parliament and Dittay; speciallie, feing thair is na thing obieetit aganis the tua poyntis of Dittay, anentis the reffett of thift and stouth-reiff, quhilkis ar baith fenerallie (separately) releuant.—It is anfuerit be the defender, that thay wordis of the Act of Parliament, anent reffett of thift, stouth-reiff, man (must) be eiusdem nature with thift; that is to say, commoun thift: And forder, the haill strenth of this Dittay, sa far as is qualefeit aganis Bouningtoun, is qualefeit vpoun the alledgeit actuall deid of thift, alledgeit committit be him, quhilk of all necessitie man be, be the Act of Parliament, commoun.—The Aduocat anfueris, that the wordis of the Act of Parliament ar confaut dif, and ewerie poynt thairof is relevant, lyke as the pannell is perfewit for the thift, reffett of thift and stouth-reiff.—It is anfuerit be the pannell, that that word ‘commoun’ is vnderstand to be repetit in ewerie pairt of the dif ; and as simpill thift is nocht Tressfoune, nullo minus is simpill reffett or simpill stouth-reiff, Tressfoune; for thay man be eiusdem nature.—The Aduocat alledgeis, that the said alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the wordis of the Act of Parliament.

(2.) Forder, it is alledgeit be the defender, that the Dittay is nocht relevant, becaus it condiscendis nocht quhat landis the excipient hes; for, without it wer speciallie condiscendit vpoun, the Dittay can nawyis be relevant to infer Tressfoune: And forder, gif the Aduocat wald condiscend, we mycht and wald allege, that gif ony Infeftment the defender had of thay landis, he wes, lang before the alledgeit committing of the cryme lybellit, denudit of thais landis, be Decreit of Redemptioun obtenit att the instance of his fader; and we declair that the alledgeance is only proponit to elide that pairt of the lybell concerning Tressfoune; vnder protestatioun, that he nawyis grantis the cryme lybellit.—The Aduocat anfueris, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay; ffor gif he haif land, the conclusioun anent the Tressfoune standis relevant; and gif he want land, the rest of the Dittay will tak his lyffe and all his gudis.—It is anfuerit, that my Lord Aduocat man say positiue, that he is landit, and condiscend quhat land he hes ; for it man be lybellit and cognoscit be Assyife, quhidder he be ane landit gentilman or nocht ; and ane presumpitioun can nocht be put to ane Assyife, bot (without) ane affirmatioun and ane speciall condiscending vpoun quhat land he hes ; and the partie man be hard, to propone his defenslis aganis the famin.—The Aduocat repetis his former anfuier.

(3.) Forder, of all necessitie, the Aduocat man condiscend vpoun the names of the landis, becaus gif he wald condiscend, that same condiscending wald be ane sufficient exceptioun to the defender, to purge him of the hail Dittay ; be reafoun that the eidentis, alledgeit stollin, will be fund to be the eidentis of the landis quhairof he falbe condiscendit to be heretour ; and swa, can nawyis be thift ; for ane man can newir be callit and convict of thift, for steilling of his proper guidis ; that is contrar to the definitioun of thift, quhilk is contractatio rei aliene, invito domino.—The Aduocat repetis his former anfuier and the Dittay.

(4.) ITEM, it is allegeit that the Dittay is nocht relevant, in respect that it condiscendis nocht, quhat eidentis and of quhat landis thay ar of ; quhilk man be condiscendit vpoun, in respect the defender wald sufficientlie purge the hail Dittay and away-taking thair of, be schawing that the saidis eidentis wer his awin proper eidentis.—The Aduocat repetis the Dittay for anfuier.

(5.) ITEM, it is forder allegeit, that this Dittay can nocht be putt to the knawledge of ane Assyife, becaus it man reffane ane Ciuile precognitioune, quhilk is nocht¹—The Aduocat anfuieris, that thair is na Ciuilitie in Trefoun, and the allegiance mereitis na anfuier.—The defender sayis, he will say na mare at this tyme.

(6.) ITEM, anent the seruiettis, non relevat, et est res parvi momenti ; and per se can work na thing.

INTERLOCUTOR of Relevancy. THE Justice ffindis the Dittay relevant ; and remittis the famin to the tryell of ane Inqueist, nochtwithstanding of the hail alledgeances aboue writtin, proponit for the pannell ; and to be verefeit to the Inqueist, as accordis.

Vpoun the quhilk Interloquontour, the Aduocat askit instrumentis.

ASSISA.

Sir Patrick Creychtoun of Strathaird,	Mr Patrik Balfoure of Pitculloch,	Johne Mathefonne of Brochtoune,
Patrik Hepburne of Riccartoune,	James Richefoune of Smetoune,	Alexander Fairlie of Braid,
Patrik Levingtoune of Saltecoittis,	Johne Houstoune of Lany,	Patrik Johnestoune of Elphing-
George Lyle of Stanypeth,	Johne Fairlie of Comeistoune,	stoune.
Mr Patrik Hepburne of Smetoune,	Williame Congiltoune of that Ilk,

The Adnocat askit instrumentis of the swering of the Assyife ; and that my Lord Justice will nocht reffane the Laird of Latoune in will ; bot will put him to ane Assyife. The Aduocat (also) askit instrumentis of the reding of the Dittay to the Assyse; and of the production of the Act of Parliament; and of the production of the foure Depositionis, maid and subscryuit be the pannell; beirand the haill contentis of the Dittay.

¹ Left blank.

The Defender acceptis the Dittay, the haill verificatiounis and Judgeis Interloquontour, and repetis the haill allegeancis proponit ofbefore, to be cognofcit be the Assyse; And alledgis, to the Assyis, that feing the Act of Parliament is ane part of the Dittay, and the fundament and ground of the famin; and feing, the haill Dittay and verificatioun consistis vpoun thift; in caise the Assyse find nocht the pannell giltie of Commoun Thift, protestis, that he be chargeit of the said Dittay and Act of Parliament; and ane cryme or poynt of Thift, of the law and practik of this realme, man newir be estemit Commoun Thift; and ane persoune can newir be convict of Commoun Thift, for ony ane alledgeit poynt or cryme; ffor he, of the law and practik of the realme, is estemit ane Commoun theif, quha is convict of thre feuerall poyntis and crymis of Thift; quhilk is nather qualescit in the Dittay nor verifeit. And forder, the Defender takis instrumentis, that thair is na thing producit to verifie him to be ane landit gentleman; and thairfore, of all necessitie, man be clangeit of all poyntis of Tressoune; ffor except it had been relevantlie qualifeit in the Dittay, and sufficientlie instructit, that the Defender wer ane landit gentilman, Tressoune could nather be inferrit nor concludit vpoun that dittay. Forder, the defender alledgis, that the remanent of the crymes contenit in the said Dittay, for the alledgeit away-taking of the eidentis and the Confessioun maid be him of the famin, is na cryme of Thift; haifand consideratioun, that the eidentis is confessit to appertene to his fader, to quhome he is eldest sone and apperand air; and the away-taking of his faderis eidentis, can newir import Thift; haifing consideratioun, that his fader, quhom-fra the eidentis is alledgeit tane, is na persouwar nor complenar; and thair is na actione that can be compitent for the awaytaking thairof, bot¹ only ane simple action of spuilzie; ffor that wer ane dangerous preparatiue² to the haill realme of Scotland, that quhen ane sone offendis his fader, ather be alledgeit away-taking of his eidentis, horse or vther graith, the fader newir complenand nor syndand falt with the doing of the said deid, that the committeris falbe convict of Tressoun or Thift, at the Aduocatis instance.

To the quhilk, it is answert be the Aduocat, that the Assyse aucht navyis (to) respect the alledgeance proponit, in safar as this Dittay is consauit aganis William Wod of Latoune; becaus he nather proponis nor adheris to itt, bot hes ratifeit his Depositionis, and hes becum in his Maiesteis will, for the haill poyntis of the Dittay; in respect quhairof, in cais the Assyis onywyis clange,³ protestis for Wilful errour. And in safar as the alledgeance is proponit for Boningtoun, the fyrst pairt, anent the Commonne Thift, nawyis concernis the Affyis, bot the dittay foundit vpoun the Thift, Reffett of Thift and Stouthireiff, specialle fett down in the Dittay, in ewerie speciall poynt thairof, is fund relevant be my Lord Justice; and the confideratioun of the relevancie of the famin, only pertenis to the Judge, and nawyis to the Affyis, quhais dewtie is only to try, declair and determine, gif the fact and deid contenit in the Dittay to haif bene done and committit be the Pannell; and gif thay be giltie thairof, thair giltienes of the quhilk Dittay being manifest, be thair awin Depofitiounis, fubferyuit with thair handis and red in thair prefens before the Affyis, thay nor nane of thame can pretend ony ignorance thairof: And quhair it is alledgeit, that it is nocht verifeit that the faid James Wod is ane landit gentilman, that aucht to be repellit, in respect of the notorietie that he is eldest fone and apperand air to the Laird of Boningtoun, and fear of the faid lewing; as his fubfcriptioun of his awin Depofitioun, produceit, beris: Nether is it neceffar that the Aduocat, perfeward for his Maieftis interes, fal verifie, be writt or production of the pannellis euidentis, that he is ane landit gentilman; quhilk wer impossibill, the writtis being in the defenderis awin handis; quhilk, poffible, can nocht be prefumit to be habill to be recoverit be the perfewar; bot in crymes of Treffoun, fyve yeiris poffeffioun of heretage, be the rebell, is loco tituli, and makis the rebell to be repute to haif bene heretabill proprietor of the faidis landis, and the heretabill rycht of the famin to befall to the King, be fforfaltour. And it is of veritie, that the defender hes poffeft the Landis of Birnie, as heretabill proprietour thairof, be the fpace foirfaid: in respect of the notorietie quhairrof, and of his awin affirmatione foirfaid, it being manifest and notour that he is ane landit gentilman, and that he hes committit the hail crymes contenit in the dittay, as is cleirly verifeit be the Depofitiounis produceit, and Latounis Confessioun, and becuming in will; in caife that the Affyfe clange him of ony of the pointis libellit, protestis for Wilfull error aganis the faid Affyfouris, and all payne that can follow thairvpoune. As to the laft pairt of the alledgeance, that the fader, to quhome the euidentis and geir pertenis, perfewis nocht, and that the fact is committit be his eldest fone and apperand air; anfueris, that albeit the partie grewit keipis fylence and perfew nocht, the Aduocat hes fufficient interes, be exprefs Act of Parliament, to perfew all crymes, without concurrence of the partie: Lykeas, the perfewar acceptis that pairt of the alledgeance, that the deid contenit in the Dittay is committit be the Laird of Boningtounis eldest fone, quhilk beris ane judiciall Confessioun of the treflonabill fact contenit in the Dittay, and fand be interloquoutour of the Judge to be ane treflonabill cryme.

¹ Unless, excepting.

² Precedent, example.

³ Cleansc, or acquit.

It is anfuerit, that the Dittay and ewerie heid thairof aucht to be verifeit; and quhair it is alledgeit, that he man be prefewmit ane landit gentilman, becaus he subferyves ‘ffear of Boningtoun,’ that argument can work na thing, becaus na thing can mak ane man ffear, bot Chartour and feafing ; and forder, gif that may verifie, ergo, it is confest be the perfewar, that the eidentis tane away ar the defenderis awin proper rychtis, and fa can nocht be Thift : As to the Act of Parliament, the famin militatis na thing in this caice, ffor in the caice of the Act of Parliament, it is the cryme that makis the man tratour ; and this cryme pe, et sua natura is na Treffoun, except it be committit be ane landit gentilman ; quhilk man (must) be verifeit.

VERDICT of the Affyse.

QUHILKIS perfounis of Affyis, being chofin, and the said JAMES WOD, fear of Boningtoun, and WILLIAM WOD of Latoune, being accufit oppinlie in judgment, be reding of þe said Dittay, &c., thay removit altogidder furth of Court, to the Counfal hous of the said Tolbuith ; quhair thay, being convenit, electit and chufe the said James Rychardfoune of Smetoune Chancillar, and reafonit and votit vpoun the poyntis of the said Dittay ; and efter lang deliberatioun, being throwchlie auisit thairwith, thay reenterit agane in Court, and thair, be the mouth of the said James Rychardfoune Chancillar, all in ane voce, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said Willame Wod of Latoune to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the Dittay aboue writtin, and haill crymes thairin contenit ; in respect of his Depofitiounis, and that he become in his Maiefteis Will thairfore : AND als, the said perfounes of Affyfe, for the maist pairt, be the mouth of the said James Rychardfoun of Smetoun Chancillar, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said James Wod, ffear of Boningtoun (as ffear of Boningtoun, quhilk he confest to, be his awin subferiptioun at his Depofitiounis) to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of airt and pairt of the thifteous breking of the Place of Boningtoune, entering thairin perforce, accompaneit with the perfounes contenit in the said Dittay, and of opning of the haill duris and lokis of all the kiftis within the said Place ; and speciallie, of the Chartour-kift, standing in the chalmer of daice of the said Place, pertening to Patrik Wod of Boningtoun his fader ; and of the thifteous steilling, conceling, stouthfullie reifing, refletting and away-taking furth of the said kift of the haill eidentis being thairin, and fudrie vther writtis furth of ane vther kift, standing within the galrie of the said place ; and opning of the haill remanent cofferis and kiftis being within the said place ; and of the thifteous steilling, stouthfullie reifing, refletting and away-taking furth thairof, of nyne pair of fcheitis, foure burdclathis, twa dofone and twa feruettis, ane pair of blankettis of fusteane, and ane piece of vnbleachit linning claith, pertening to the auld Laird of Boningtoune ; and of ane coffer with eidentis, pertening to the Lady Vlane ; committit vpoun the xvj day of March instant, vnder fylynce and cloud of nycht.

‘ Hary Stewart of Craigiehall and George Dowglas of Langnurdrie, anerciati in þe pane of ane hundreth markis’ each ; for not appearing ‘ to haif past vpoun the said Affyfe.’

SENTENCE. Apr. 1. THE quhilk day, JAMES WOD, fear of Boningtoune, and WILLIAME WOD of Latoune, being presentit on pannell, to heir and fie dome pronunceit aganis thame, as thay that war lawfullie and ordourlie convict and fund guiltie, be ane Affyis, in ane Court of Justiciarie, baldin in the Tolbuith of Edr the last day of Marche lastbypast, be the said Justice-depute, of airt and pairt of the thifteous breking of the place of Boningtoune, &c. as at lenth is contenit in thair Convictionis : Thairfoir, the said Justice-Depute, according to the tennour of the Act of Parliament, hes fund, be the Convictioun of the said James Wod, as feare of Boningtoune, and the said Williame Wod of Latoune, be ane Affyis, of the crymes of thift foirsaidis, that thay and ather of thame hes incurrit the cryme and pane of Treffoune, viz. tynfall of lyffe, landis and guidis : ffor the quhilk canse, he, be the mouth of Robert

Galbraith, dempstar of Court, hes Ordanit and Ordanis thame and ather of thame to be tane to ane gibbet, standand be-eift the mereat-croce of Ed^r, and thairvpoune to be hangit, quhill thay be deid:¹ And all thair landis, heritageis, takis, steddingis, rowmes, possessiounis, coirnis, cattell, guidis and geir to be forfaltit and inbrocht to our souerane lordis vfe, as conviet of the saidis crymes.²

[Mr Williame Borthuik, Justice-Depute.]

Breaking into the Place of Bonningtoun—Stealing Title Deeds, &c.

Apr. 3.—THOMAS DAW, fynyth in Brechin, and Alexander Daw, fynyth, his brother, in Correstoune.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the thifteous Steiling, conceing, ressetting and away-taking of certain eidentis and writtis, with pleneiffing, furth of the Place of Bonningtoun;³ with certane pleneiffing, scheittis, blankettis and buirdclathis; and ane coffer, with writtis, pertening to the Lady Vlane.

The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the Confessioun of the pannell, of thair being at breking of the Place of Bonningtoun; and that Thomas Daw gat thre crownis, and Alexander Daw gat ane crowne, for thair panis: And protesting, gif the Assyis clenge, for Wilfull errorr: Repeittis lykewyis the Depositionis of Latoune and Bonningtoun; quhilkis ar produceit to the Assyis.

VERDICT. The Assyis,⁴ be the mouth of Thomas Somervell, merchand in Ed^r, chancellor, stand, pronunceit and declarit the saidis Thomas Daw and Alex^r Daw to be ffylit, culpabill and conviet of airt and pairt of the thifteous steling, conceing, ressetting and away-taking of the saidis writtis and eidentis, &c.

May 7.—The Justice-depute, be the mouth of Robert Galbraith, Dempstar, ordanit the said ALEXANDER DAW to be tane to the gibbet on the Castle-hill, and thairvpoun to be hangit⁵ quhill he be deid; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to our souerane lordis vfe, as Conviet of the saidis crymes.

¹ It is probable that great interest was made for the young Laird of Bonningtoun. The sentence was not carried into execution till Apr. 27; under which date, Robert Birrell records as follows:—‘James Wood of Bonnyntoun beheidit at the crossè, at 6 houres in the morneing, for breaking the Place of Bonnyntoun, quhillk appartenit to hes father, and fould haif beine hes awen.’

² Since the above was written, the Editor has found the following interesting notice:—‘UPON Moun-day pe 27 of Aprile (1601), THE LAIRD OF BONYTOUN was beheaded at pe Crossè of Edinburgh, betwixt six and fevin in the morning, be a Commission from the King, directed to pe Bailliffes of Edinburgh, tymonfly in the morning; for howbeit great intercession was made be Huntly, Erroll, Hume, and operis, yett pe Ministers were insiant with the King, to have a prooffe of his sincerity. He died ane obstinat Papist, ever looking for pardon till the last gasp. He pretended he suffered for the Roman Catholic Religion, but it was noe point of his Dyttay; only the steeling of his father’s evidences and writtes was layed to his charge. LATOUN gatt Remission, be pe moyen of Courtearis.—Calderwood’s Church Hist. MS. Adv. Library. ³ In an abstract of their Dittay, which is inserted, it is stated, that they, ‘accumpaneit with the Wodis,’ &c. ‘vnder sylence and cloude of nycht, come to pe Place of Bonningtoun, and pair thifteoullie clam ye barnekyn wall with ane ladder,’ &c. ⁴ Composed of ‘merchandis’ and ‘burgessis’ of Edinburgh. ⁵ Birrell says, ‘The 7 of Majj tua men wer hangit on the Castell Hill, the ane callit Williame Crihtoun, for thift; and the uther, Alexander Smythe, dager-maker, for opining of the lockis to the Laird of Bonyntoun.’

Perjury — Hearing of Mass, &c.

Apr. 24.—MR WILLIAME BARCLAY, brother to Sir Patrik Barclay of Towie, (Tollie) knycht.

Dilatit of Periurie; and Heiring of Mefs, contrair the Actis of Parliament.

Comperit Daud Hairt, seruitour to my lord Thesaurer, and produceit the lettres deulie execute and indorsat, purchest be Mr Thomas Hammiltoune, his hienes aduocat, aganis Mr Williame Barclay, for the crymes within contenit. ‘Continewit in cras.’

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Apr. 25.—DITTAY. THAT quhair, it is expresse provydit, statute and declarit, be Act of Parliament, maid in the tyme of his hienes derrest mother, vinq^{le} Marie Quene of Scottis, that the panis of Periurie falbe to the personis committeris thairrof, confiscatioune of all thair guidis movabill, warding of thair personis for yeir and day, and langer, induring hir Maiesteis will; and to be infamous personis, never abill to bruik office, honour, dignitie nor benefice, in tyme to cum: And als, it is statute and ordanit, be Act of Parliament, maid in his hienes Parliament, haldin and begun at Ed^r the viij day of Junij the yeir of God J^m.V^c.lxxxiiij yeiris, that in all tyme cuming, all Wilfull Heraris of Mefs, and conceallaris of the samyn, be execute to the death; and thair guidis and geir escheit to our fouerane lordis vsf, sa fone as thay fall be fund gyltie and convict thairrof, or declarit fugitiue for the samyn, befor the Justice-generall and his deputtis, or the lordis of his hienes Privie Counsale; as the saidis Actis, at mair lenth beris. AND trew it is, that the said Mr Williame Barclay, haifing, in pe moneth of lastbypast, sworne and subseryuit befor the Presbyterie of Ed^r that he wes of the Religioune presentlie profess within this realme; nochtwithstanding thairrof, vpoun the xx and xxj dayes of Marche lastbypast, he assistit and hard twa Messis, quhilkis war said be Mr Alex^r M^rQuhirrie, ane Jesueit Preist, within Andro Naperis duelling house in Ed^r; be the heiring quhairrof, and assistit thairto, he hes profest and sworne the contrair Religioune; and sua, hes committit the cryme of Periurie, and incurrit the pane thairrof abouewrittin, contenit in the said Act of Parliament: Lyke as, he, be the wilfull heiring of pe saidis twa feuerall messis, at the twa feuerall tymes respective abouewrittin, hes incurrit the panis contenit in the vther Act of Parliament, maid anent Wilfull heraris of Mefs, viz. the pane of death and confiscatioune of all thair movabill guidis.

The said Mr Williame refusit to abyde the tryell of ane Assyis; bot become in his Maiesteis Will for the samyn crymes: Quhairvpoune the said Mr Thomas Hammiltoune askit Actis and instrumentis.

[Mr Williame Borthuik, Justice-Depute.]

May 2.—The said Justice-depute produceit his Maiesteis Warrant, concerning his hienes Will; quhilk he pronuceit and oppinlie red in jugement; quhairrof the tennour followis.

JAMES, be pe grace of God, King of Scottis. To our Justice, Justice Clark and his deputtis, greting: fforfamekill as Mr Williame Barclay, brop^r to pe Laird of Towie, is becum in our will, in ane Justice Court, haldin in our Tolbuith of Ed^r, vpoune pe xxv day of Apryle lastbypast, for Periurie, and hering of Mefs, contrair pe tennour of our Actis of Parliament: Thairfoir, We declair our will, as followis, to wit: ffor pe Periurie, We ordane pe said Mr Williame to be declarit Infamous, and nocht habill, now, to bruik office, honour, dignitie or benefice, within our realme: And for pe hering of Mefs, we decerne and ordaine him to be Baneist our realme, during all pe dayis of his lyfetime, and never to returne within pe samyn, vnles, be satisfactiounne of pe Kirk, he obtene our speciall Licence to pat effect; vnder þe pane of deid : And that he remoue or depairt furth of our realme, within fourtie dayis nixt efter his libertie furth of his present waird. Commanding, heirfoir, 3ow, our said Justice, Justice Clark and 3our deputtis, to pronunce and deliuer þis our will, iudicialle, aganis þe said Mr Williame : And pair-estir, caufe commit him to waird agane, within our Castell of Ed⁵, pair to remane quhill the forder know-ledge of our will and plefour towardis him. As 3e will anfuer to ws pairvpoune : Quhairnent þir presentis falbe 3our Warrant. Subferiuit with our hand, At Dalkeith, the last day of Apryle, and of our regne þe xxxiiij 3eir, 1601.

(Sic subferibitur) JAMES REX.

Quhilk being oppinlie red and declarit in judgment, the Justice-depute inter-ponit his authoritie thairto.

[Mr Williame Haert, Justice-Depute.]

Exhibiting the King's Portrait, on the Public Gibbet, &c.

Apr. 25.—ARCHEBALD CORNUALL, ane of the toune officiaris of Edin-burghe.

[THE following Trial is perhaps unparalleled in the Annals of Criminal Jurisprudence, in any coun-try ; and cannot be read without exciting feelings of the utmost disgust and indignation, at the cold-hearted and vindictive, nay, sanguinary spirit, which dictated the pronouncing and carrying into execu-tion of so awful a sentence, for an offence of so trivial a nature, probably originating in pure accident or inadvertency, or at most in a foolish jest of the officer, who would, no doubt, for his own interest, as well as that of his employer, in making a sale, endeavour to dispose of the picture to the best advan-tage. The Dittay only accused him of 'preiffing to haif hung the same' upon the gallows ; but that he was prevented from doing so by the people.

It is evident that the King instigated these disgraceful proceedings ; and it is equally certain, that the unhappy victim of this most tyrannical act suffered death accordingly. The 'Affilse' bears all the marks of a selected 'set of worthless and pluckless wretches.' No less than eight of their number are Tailors, who have at no time been famed for extraordinary firmness or independence. The voracious Robert Birrel gives the following account of the matter. 'The same day (Apr. 27), Archibald Cornell, toune officer, hangit at the Croffe, and hung on the gallows 24 houres : And the caus quhairfore he wes hangit : he being an unmerciful, greedie creatur, he poyndit ane honest manis hous, and amongst the rest, he poyndit the King and Queins picturis ; and quhen he came to the croffe to compryfe the same, he hung thame up upon twa naillis on the same gallows, to be compryfit ; and thai being sene, word 3ead to the King and Queine, quhairupone he wes apprehendit and hangit.' If Birrell is correct with regard to date, (which it would appear he is,) it makes the matter still worse, so far as the King is concerned ; for it puts violent and sudden rage out of the question. The 'treffonabill fact' took place upon the 15th day of April ; so that the trial, condemnation, and execution must have proceeded on cruel, deliberate, and malicious determination : The proceedings before the Justiciar are dated Apr. 25 ; and the poor town officer did not suffer death till Apr. 27.

Unfortunately for the character of King James VI. this is by no means a solitary instance,—witness the Cases of John Dickson, in Lyne, Aug. 3, 1596 ; Francis Tennent, Oct. 10, 1600 ; Thomas Ross, son of Ross of Craigie, in 1618 (executed Sept. 10), and many others. Another very remark-able instance of the arbitrary and despotic character of James, in the month of October the same year, is given in the new and accurate edition of Lord Hailes' Annals, 8vo, Edinburgh, 1829, Vol. iii. p. 106, and which is reprinted here, in illustration of the above remarks. The object of this latter act of tyranny is abundantly clear. Mr Peter Narne was a victim offered up to the English nation, at a time when the King was plotting with Cecil, &c. to secure his succession to the throne of Elizabeth ; as a foretaste, doubtless, of the protection he would afford them against every encroachment of his Scottish subjects. There is no doubt that this unfortunate man suffered, for his supposed intention to murder ; as the torture was directed to be used, till he should confess; and then the Judge was directed to pronounce sentence of death!

So extraordinary is this Case of Archibald Cornwall, in all its bearings, that the Editor deemed it requisite to investigate the matter, as minutely as his opportunities permitted. The result of these inquiries are appended, and left to the reader's consideration, without farther observations.]

Dilatit of the ignominious Dishonouring and Defaming of his Maiestie, in taking of his Portratour, and laying of the samyn and setting thair of to the stowpis and vpperaris of the gibbet, preiffing to hing vp the samyn thairvpoune.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoun, Aduocat to our Souerane Lorde.

ASSISA.

Patrick Acarfane, wrytter,	Johne Blak, tailzeour thair,	Edmond Smyth, tailzeour (' in the Cannogait,')
William Tailzeour, deacon of the	Johne Horne, fruitman in Edr,	James Sympfoun, tailzeour thair, tailzeouris in the Cannogait,	Johne Pillons, cordiner thair,	William Bauchop, wryter thair,
Johne Rankene, tailzeour, burges	James Aikman, tailzeour thair,	Alexander Lyell, ikyner thair,
of Edinburghe,	Dauid Bennet, tailzeour thair,
Patrick Somervell, burges thair,	Adame Carkettill, tailzeour thair,	Patrik M'Gregour, fruitman.

The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the Admissioun and svering of the Assyis. The Aduocat protestis for Wilful Errour, in case they acquitt; in respect of the notoriety of the deid, knawin to thamefelffis.

The quhilk day, Archibald Corneuell, ane of the toune officeris of Edinburghe, being enterit on pammell, dilatit, accusit and persewit, be dittay, producit be Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne, aduocat to our souerane lord, for the trefsonabill and ignominious dishonouring and defaming, sa far as in him lay, of our souerane lord the Kingis Maiestie, be taking of his hienes portratour to the publick mercat place of this burgh, and thair schamefullie and wyildlie (vilely) setting the samyn to the stowpis and vpperaris of the gibbet; and in mair, and manifest and trefsonabill contempt and disdane of his Maiestie, he stuid vp vpoune ane buird or furme, besyde the said gibbet, and cald ane nail thairin, sa heich as he culd reiche it, and listit vp his hienes portratour foirsaid, and held the samyn vpoun the gibbet, preiffing to haif hung the samyn thairin, and to haif left it thair, as ane ignominious spectacle to the hail world; gif he had nocht bene stayit, be the just indignatione of the hail people, minassing to stane him to deid, and pulling him perforce fra the said gibbet, to stay his trefsonabill fact foirsaid; committit be him, vpoune the xv day of Apryle instant.

VERDICT. The Assyis, be the mouth of the said Johne Rankene, chancillar, ffind, pronunceit and declarit, for the maist pairt, the said Archibald Cornwall to be fylit, culpabill and convict of the trefsonabill setting of his Maiesteis portratour to the tramme of the gibbet; and presenting of the samyn, to be hung heich vpoun ane nail infixt in the said gibbet.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk cause, the said Justice-depute, be the mouth of Robert Galbraith, dempstar of the said Court, decernit and ordanit the said Archibald Cornwall to forfalt lyffe, lands and guidis, and to be tane to the said gibbet, quhairvpoune he preiffit to hing his Maieftis portratour, and thairon to be hangit quhill he be deid; and to hing thairvpoun, be the fpace of xxiiij houris, with ane paper on his foirheid, contening that vyild cryme committit be him.

(1.) NARRATIVE *taken from Wodrow's MSS.*¹

IN the faid moneth of Aprile (1601), one of the officeris of Ed^r, having rowping at the Croce of Ed^r certane poindit geir, amang the quhilk the Kingis picture wes; and to the effect that the bred² and picture nicht be the better fene (the officeris stand being hard beyde the gibbet) vndifcretlie and rafchelic the officer wes calling³ in ane nail in the gibbett, to haue hung vp the bred, as wes reportit, and yit hang not vp the famin, bot ceiffit, being admonifchet be fum of the pepill ftanding by, that it wes not weill done to put vp ony nail to the effect foirfaid: Allwyfe, vpoun the faid prefumptioun, the officer wes challengit and put in wairde, within the tolbuith: And the Kingis Maieftie, being informit thairof, caufit examine certane witneffes thairvpoun; and thairefter the faid Officer wes put to ane Affyfe, and convict vpoun the faid prefumptioun; and dome gevin vpoun him, to be hangit xxiiij houris, with ane paper on his foirheid, declaring the faid caus. Lyke as, he wes fua done with, vpoun the faid xxvij of Aprile, about fax houris at evin; and fufferit to hing on the gibbet quhill the next day, at evin, at the fame time: And thaireftir, the gibbet wes takin down and brunt with fyre.

(2.) ACCOUNT taken from Calderwood's MS. Church History.

Apr. 27, 1601.—UPON the fame Mounday, at fax houres at even, ane Officer of Edinburgh, named Archibald Cornwall, was hanged upon a gibbet, at pe Croffe of Ed^r. At pe rowping of fome poynded gear, at pe Croffe of Edinburgh, finding a broad wherein was the King's picture, and ftanding hard beyde the gibbett, undifcretly and rafhly was driveing in a nail in the gibbett to hing up the board, as was reported: but being admonifhed by fome of pe people ftanding by, he ceafed and hanged it not up: Alwayes, upon the fame prefumption, he was putt in waird, in the jayle. The King, being informed, caufed examine certaine witneffes; and thereafter, he was putt to ane Affife, convicted and condemned to be hanged, and to hing twentie four houres, with a paper on his forehead: which was done; and thairefter the gibbett was taken down and burnt with fyre.

(3.) EXTRACTS from THE RECORDS of the Town Council of THE CITY OF EDINBURGH.

Apr. 17, 1601.—FOR the honour and reverence thai aught to our foueran lord, his darrest fpos and children; Statutes and ordanis, that nane of thair Maieftis and graceis pictures and portraits be poyndit, rowppet or compryfet, for ony maner of caus, publictlic or privatlic, heirefter: Difchargeing thair officeris and feriandis of the fam and of thair offices in that pairt, vnder the payne of tynfall of thair faid offices, and wairding of thair perfounis for the fpace of twenty dayes.

(Apr. 22.)—The Bailleis, deyne of gild, thefaurer, and maift pairt of the Connfall being convenit, appoyntis George Todrig baillie, David Williamfoun and Patrik Sandelandis, to pas to his Maieftie, prefentlie at Dalkeyth, and to inform his Maieftie of the trewth, anent the offence confaet be his Maieftie aganis Archebald Cornuell, officer, for the alleget hinging of his Maieftie and fpos picture at the gibbet, in ane rowping.

(May 1.)—Thomas Hammiltoun appointed in place of 'vniq^e Ar^d Cornuell.'

(4.) COMMISSION OF JUSTICIARY to Robert Lord of Roxburgh, for the Torture, Trial and Execution of Mr Peter Nurne.

JAMES, be the grace of God, King of Scottis; To all and findrie our lieges and fubditis, quhomever it effeiris, to quhais knowlege thir our letters fall come, greeting. FORSAMEKLE as MR PETER NARNE, haveing maist traiteouslie devifit and confpyrit the Murther and deftruction of Englishmen ; and for executioun of this vyld and abhominable fact, haveing trained thame within oure realme, promiffing unto thame to get thame advancen in credite and service with us ; and haveing brocht thame to the town of Kelfo, he thair refolvit to have accomplifhen his faid vyld Murther ; and being in the actual executioun, he was, be the providence of God, stayed, the pur innocent strangearis releivit, and himself apprehendit, and is presentlie in handis. Quhilk vyld and detestable coyfnage and Conspiracie of an intendit and confpyrit Murther, being of fo rare ane example and preparative, and carrying with it fa foull ane sclander and reproche to our natioun, giff the fame be not accordingly tane order with and punifheit : And albeit, thair be na law maide againe practizars and Conspiratours of ane Murther, unexecute ; and that this fact, naikedlie considerit, will not appeir punefthable to the death ; yet We, haveing regard to the circumstanceis thair of, with the interest quhilk it carryis to our service, and the sclander and reproche to our natioun, We have thairfoir, of our awin absolute auctorite and power, Ordanit the faid vyld and detestable Conspiracie to be punefheit to the death ; to the terror of all uthiris to interprife the lyke heireftir. For quhilk purpois, We have maid and constitute, and be the tenor heirof Makis and Constitutis, our richt trust coufing and counfallor ROBERT LORD OF ROXBURGHE, our Justice in that parte, to the effect undirwritin ; Gevand, Grantand and Committand to him, our full power and Commissioun, expres bidding and charge, to try and examine the faid Mr Petir, upoun the forme, maner and circumstanceis of the faid Conspiracie, and upoun the vyld Murther, quahirof he is suspect gilty ; And, giff neid beis, for the better discoverie of the treuth, to put him to Tortour : As als wa, to put him to the knowlege of ane Affize for the same, and giff he cry gilty of the faid Conspiracie and intendit Murther committit be him, that he caus execute him to the deid for the same ; and in special, for the foull and treterous Conspiracie foresaid : And for this effect, Justice Courtis, at quhatfomevir placeis convenient, to sett, begyn, affix, have and continew ; fuitis to make to be callit ; absentis to amerciat, unlaws and escheitis of the saidis Courtis to ask, lift and raise, and for the same, giff neid beis, to poind and distrenzie ; Assifers neidfull to this effect, respective, under the pane of forty pundis, to summond, warne, elais, and cauis to be fworne ; clerkis, serjands, dempstair, and all uthir officiars of Courte neidfull to make, ereat and ordane, for quhome he sal be haldin to answer ; and generallie, all and findrie uther thingis to do and use, quhilk for executioun of this our Commissioun ar requisite and necessar ; ferme and stable halding, and for to hald, all and whatfomevir thingis in our name fall be done herein. Given undir our signet, and subferivit with our hand, AT BRECHIN, the tent day of October, and of our reign the xxxv, and yeir 1601.

¹ Wodrow's MSS. Adv. Library, Edinburgh, Vol. IX. Rob. III. 2, 9. ² Board; a painting on panel. ³ Driving.

(Locus figilli.)

JAMES R.

Breaking into the Lord Chancellor's House—Theft, &c.

May 7.—WILLIAME CREYCHTOUNE, sumtyme indweller in Edinburgh.

Dilatit and accusit, ffor samekill as he, accumpaneit with John M^cCulloch and Robert Ahamay, laithie, in the moneth of September lastbypast, cam to Johne Erle of Montrois chancellaris houfe, besyde the Abay of Halyruidhous, and thair, vnder sylence of nycht, brak the samyn, and thifteouslie stail, concealit, reflert and away-tuik furth thair of, fourtie-fyve pound pecis, ane cloik, twa dowblettis, ane bow and foure arrowis, with ane pair of silk schankis, pertening to James Grahame, sone to the Chancellor, and vther seruandis to the Chancellor : Att the leift, for airt and pairt of the steilling, concealing and away-taking thair of.

As at mair lenth is contenit in the Dittay, quhilk wes verifeit be his avin Depositiounis and Confessionis.

VERDICT. The said Williame wes putt to the knowledge of ane Assyse, and thay being chofin, sworne and admittit, be the mouth of George Frenfche in Edinburgh, chancillar, stand, pronunceit and declarit the said Williame Creychtoun to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the crymes foirfaidis.

SENTENCE. ffor the quhilk caus, the said Justice-depute, be the mouth of Robert Galbraith, dempstar, ordenit the said Williame Creychtoun to be tane to ane gibbet to be affixit vpoun the Castel-hill of Edinburgh, and thairvpoun to be hangit quhill he be deid; and all his movabill guidis to be escheit, &c.

[Mr Williame Hairt and Mr Williame Boirthuik, Justices-deputes.]
Treason—Purchasing, Forging, and Vending of Counterfeit and Adulterated Coin — Theft, &c.

Maij 29.—THOMAS M^cALEXANDER of Drumochreyn; James Johnestoun, sone to Johnestoun in Kirkealdie, funtyme seruitour to Johne Johnestoun, wryter; George Dowglas, funtyme in Bengoure, now in Edinburgh; Williame Maxwell, sone to George Maxwell in Haik; Cuthbert Home, sone to vmq^{le} Robert Home of Reidheuch; and James Moffat, sone to Moffet of Helbeth.

Perfewis be Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne, aduocat to our souerane lord, for his hienes interes, of the crymes following, that is to say,

DITTAY against M^cAlexander and Johnestoun,

FOR airt, pairt, red, counsale and conceiling of the tressonabill Outing^t amangis our souerane lordis liegis, in the Tounis of Gawyefyde, Dalfarf, Hammiltoun, Clochftane, Air, Irvin, and vtheris pairtis, of certane fals and counterfit ten schilling peices, to the similitude of his hienes trew coingie; committit ane yeir senfyne in harvest. Item, for airt, pairt, red, counfall and conceilling of the tressonabill forgeing, counterfitting, casting and prenting of xxx false ten schilling peiceis, within the cite of Glasgw, in Daud Hallis bak chalmer thair; quhair thay, togidder with vmq^{le} Marioune Hepburne and ane ferwand woman of hirs was lugeit; off the quhilkis, thay tressonablie outit ane to the said Daud Hallis wyffe; and the said Thomas M^cAlexander delynerit twa of the saidis pieceis to the said James Johnestoun, at the Bridgend of Glasgw; and als delyuerit to him fyve pundis w^t2 thairof, in ane lytill zaird at the said Brigend, quhilk he tuk bak fra him agane. Item, for airt, pairt, &c. of the tressonabill fforgeing, prenting and casting in calmis² of trie, fillit with calk,¹ within the place of Tourlandis, of twa fals foure merk pecis, to the similitude of his Maiesteis trew coingie of foure merk pecis of silver; quhair of the said Thomas outit ane to ane honest man in Air: Lyke as, the said James, be direction of the said Thomas, convoyit the calme out of Irving to the place of Tourlandis, quhair he and Sandie of Tourlandis wes present at the tressonabill fforgeing of the saidis pecis, quhilk wer maid of ane pewder plait: Committit in harviſt, bygane thrie ȝeir. Item, the ſaid Thomas being accuſt ffor airt, pairt, &c. of the treſſonabill reſſaueing fra George Dowglas, callit of Bengowre, of fourtie poundis in fals fyve pound pecis, foure pound pecis, and crounis, to haif bene outit amangis our ſouerane lordis liegis, as trew and guid gold; quhairof he outit twa fals crounis to Johne Johnſtonn in Mayboill, and lent the reſt thairof (except ane foure pound peace and twa crounis, quhilkis he refernit to him ſelf) to Gilbert Makalexander in Air; and delynerit the foure pound peace to Bruce, his ſernant. Item, the ſaid Thomas dilatit and accuſt, fforſamekill as he, accompaneit with William Boirthuik of Johnſtounburne and twa of his ſeruandis, betuix Martines and ȝwill,¹ in the yeir of God Im.V^c.lxxxvij yeiris,² paſt owre att the Queinis-ſferrie, towardis Caſtell Campbell, or thairby, quhair thay brak ane hous, and thiſteouſlie ſtall, concealit, reſſett and away-tuik furth thairof foure hors, and cam about be Stirling to Falkirk, quhair his naig³ tyrit: And ſwa, wes airt and pairt of the thiſteous ſteilling of the ſaidis foure hors. Item, the ſaid Thomas being dilatit of airt and pairt of the thiſteous ſteilling, conceſſiog, reſetting and away-taking of ane naig fra ane ſeruand of the Erle of Caſſilis, quhilk Bruce his ſeruand ſtall be his directionne, and William Maxwell delyuerit the ſamyn to Gylbert Mealexander.

¹ This term corresponds with the modern law term 'uttering'; literally, putting out, circulating. ² Probably for 'worth,' although it is also an usual abbreviation for 'wecht,' weight. ³ Moulds. ⁴ Wood bedded with chalk or plaster.

DITTAY againſt George Douglas, ſumtyme in Bengoure, now in Edinburgh.

DILATIT for the treſſonabill bying of fourtie pecis of fals gold, in fyve pound pecis, foure pound pecis and crounis, and the maift pairt of them wer crounis, fra vni^q^{le} Dauid Johnſtonne, quhilk he reſſaut in the moueth of Junij, or thairby, in Kingorne, to be treſſonable outit; ffor the quhilk he payit fourtie merk in guid ſiluer, quhairof Johnſtounburne, his partiner, payit tuentie merkis. Lykas, he, togidder with the ſaid William Boirthuik, William Maxwell, Moirlie and James Hoppringill his ſernandis, paſt, at Mydſomer was ane yeir, to ane fair in Air, for outing of the ſamin, quhair he, in the ſaid fair, coſt⁴ ane broune meir;⁵ ffor the quhilk, he treſſonable outit and payit xxiiij poundis of the ſaid fals gold: And als, bocht ane naig fra James Hammiltoune, ſeruand to the Maifter of Cathcart; for the quhilk he treſſonable outit and payit xxvj or xxvij lib. of the ſaid fals gold; The quhilk gold the ſaid James Hammiltoune, being outand in Aire, for certane Lundoune wairis, the ſamin wes cryit fals; the ſaid James immediatlie thaireſtir followit the ſaid George, fra the bureht of Air, be the ſpace of foure myles, raſt the countrey and owertuik him and his cumpany, and compellit him to reſſaue the fals gold, and reſtoir the ſaid naig to the ſaid James Hammiltoune: Eſtir the quhilk, he, accompaneit with Thomas McAlexander apperand of Drummochrone, William Boirthuik of Johnſtounburne and his ſeruandis, fatt doue be ane brae-ſyde, and pairt⁶ the fals gold quhilk he left vnoutit,⁷ and delyuerit fourtie poundis worth thairof to the ſaid Laird of Drummochrone, in fals fyve pound pecis, foure pound pecis and crounis; and outit and delyuerit to the ſaid William Boirthuik, his partiner, tuentie poundis worth thairof; and reteuit thrie crounis thairof to him ſelf; quhilk he thaireſtir outit and delyuerit to the ſaid Williame Maxwell; and ſua, hes committit Treafoun.

DITTAY of Williame Maxwell, ſone to George Maxwell in Haik.

INDYTTIT, acenſit and perſewit, ffor airt, pairt, red, counfall and conceilling of the pairting of the ſaid fals fyve pound pecis, foure pound pecis and crounis, quhilkis George Dowglas, callit of Bengoure, pairtit and delyuerit att ane brae-ſyde, cumand out of Air, att Mydſomer wes ane yeir, to Thomas McAlexander, apperand of Drummochrone, and Williame Boirthuik of Johnſtounburne; quhairof he delyuerit fourtie poundis worth to Drummochrone, and xx lib. thairof to the ſaid Williame Boirthuik, quha delyuerit the ſamyn to the ſaid Williame Maxwell, quha convoyit it to Edinburgh; and att his cuming, reſtorit agane to the ſaid Williame Boirthuik, quha thairefter outit ane of the ſaidis fals crounis in , and ane vther in Lauder; and thairby, the ſaid William Maxwell committit Treafoun.

¹ Yule or Christmas.

² Anno 1598.

³ Horse, nag.

⁴ Purchased, bought.

⁵ Mare.

⁶ Parted, divided.

⁷ Uncirculated.

Item, indytit ffor the trefounable reffauing fra George Dowglas of thrie fals crownis, to be outit as guid gold amaugis our feuerane lordis leigis; quhairof he delyuerit ane to Jeane Reid, fpous to James Lewingftoune, in wad¹ of ane faiddill, and the vther twa he delyuerit to the Guidman of Johnftounburne. Item, accufit, fforfamekill as he, being in cumpany with vmq^{le} Morlie, and being feruandis to Williame Borthuik of Johnftounburne, be his fpeciall directioun and command, pait to Weft Lowtheane about Caldermure or thairabout, and thifteouffie ftall, concelit, reffett and away-tuik furth thair of, twa meiris; quhilk he convoyit to the weft end of the toune, and thairfra directit thame hame with Morlie to Johnftounburne; and cam in him felf to Edinburgh to James Lewingftounis hous thair, quhair ye mett the Guidman of Johnftounburne and tauld him how ye fped.

DITTAY againft James Moffet, fone to Moffet of Helbeth.

FORSAMEKILL as he, accompaneit with Petir Daveis Johnftoun of Kirkhill, Thomas Stewart feruand to Rob of Kirkhill, Jony Lyall and Cryftie Brydene feruandis to the Guidman of Cairtertoun, and James Wilfoune vnder Geordie of Kinmonth, in the moneth of I^m.V^c.lxxx yeris, cam to ane hill pertening to Mr James M^cMath of Dalpever, and thair thifteouffie concelit, reffett and away-tuik aff the famin, fourfoir of fcheip, pertening to the faid Mr James; off the quhilk he gatt fourtene for his pairt.

DITTAY againft Cuthbert Home, fone to vmq^{le} Robert Home of Redheuch.

FORSAMEKILL as he, accompaneit with Johne Broderftanis, younger fone to Johne Broderftane, fefchour in Tranent, and Richard Paterfoune, in the moneth of March, or thairby, I^m.V^c.lxxxvij yeris, cam, vnder fylence and cloud of nycht, to John Creychtounis duelling-hous at Preftoun-grangemyll, and thair thifteouffie brak the faid hous aboue the dur, enterit thairin, and brak vp his kift, and thifteouffie ftall, concelit, reffett and away-tuik furth thair of, foure hundreth poundis worth of gold and filuer, or thairby, and maift crewallie dang the faid Johne Creychtoun and his wyff, and left thame for deid: Of the quhilk foune he gatt fiftie pound for his pairt. Item, ffor the thifteous Refetting of faxtene fchep, or thairby, pertening to Sir Patrick Hepburne of Lufnes, knycht, and Williame Caldeleuch in Eifter Gemmilfeheillis, his feruand and fchiphird; quhilkis fcheip wes thifteouffie ftollen be Mertene Hall: Committit in the moneth of Januar I^m.Vj^c. yeris. Item, ffor Commoun Thift, Commoun Reflett of thift, inputting and outputting of thift, fra countrey to countrey, fra land to land, bayth of auld and new.

FOR the quhilkis crymes, the faidis (perfonnes on pannell) wer putt to the knowledge of ane Affyife, of the perfonnes after fpecifeit; they are to fay.

ASSISA.

Johne Steuhoip of Stenhopifmyll,	Johne Logane of Cowftoune,	Alex. Horfburcht of Horkas,
Williame M ^c Clellane Tutour of W ^m Annand in Tranent,		Johne Henderfoune in Preftoun,
Bombie,	Johne Fargnyfoune of the Yle,	Rob ^t Anderfoun burges of Perth,
Dauid Seytoun, elder in Tranent,	George Hereis, fumtyme of the	Williame Polwart, fumtyme of
Capitan Patrik Herring,	Kirktonne of Effie, now in	Rottinraw,
James Dalzell eldar, in the Water of Leith,	Edinburgh,	Williame Halyburtonne, fumtyme
	Johne Boifwall of Afflek,	of Inchkairney.

The Aduocat proteffit for Wilfull Errour, in cais thay acquit.

VERDICT. Efter the accusatioun of the faidis perfonnes be Dittay of the faidis crymes, quhilk wer verifeit be thair awin Depofitiounis and Confessioun, (the Affyis) removit altogidder furth of Court to the laich Couufal-hous; quhair

¹ Pledge, security.

thay, eftir chefing the faid Johne Boifwall of Afflek Chancellar, reafonit and votit vponne the faid Dittayis refpective, and ewerie point thairof, &c. ; and be the mouth of the faid Chancellar ffand, pronunceit and declarit the faid Thomas McAlexander and George Dowglas, James Johnftoune, Williame Maxwell, James Moffett and Cuthbert Home, to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of ewerie poynt of the Dittayis refpective aboue writtin, quhairof ewerie ane of thame refpective wes accufit, and quhilk wes laid to thair charge.

DOME pronounced againft the Pannels.

FOR the quhilk caus, the faid Mr Williame Haert, Justice-depute, be the mouth of Robert Galbraith dempftar, ordanit the faid Thomas McAlexander, as convict of Treafoune and thift; James Johnftoun, as convict of Treafoun; George Dowglas, as convict of Treafoune; Williame Maxwell, as convict of Treafoune and thift; to be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair to be wirreit at ane ftaik quhill thay be deid, and all thair landis, heretagis, takis, ftedingis, rowmes, poffeffiounis, cornis, cattell, guidis and geir, to be fforfaltit and efcheit, and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vfe: AND als ordanit, be the mouth of the faid dempftar, the faidis James Moffett and Cuddie Home to be tane to the faid Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit vpon ane gibbett, quhill thay be deid; and all thair movabill guidis to be efcheit and iubrocht to our fouerane lordis vfe, as convict of the faidis crymes of Thift.

[Mr Williame Haert, Justice-Depute.]

Treason — Uttering base Coin, &c.

JUN. 6.—THOMAS GLASS in Fowles, and Johne Gib at the Wodheid of Condie.

THOMAS GLASS was dilatit for the treflonabill Outing of xij falfe fyftie-fchilling peiceis of gold, to the fimilitude of our fouerane lordis trew coinzie, amangis his hienes liegis; off the quhilkis peiceis, he reffauit foure fra vmq^{le} Walter Murray in foure fra Johne Murray his brother, and foure fra Patrik Drummond of the Lenach. Item, for the treflonabill reffauing fra George Drummond, faidler in Perth, of twentie peice of falfe fyve-pund peiceis, hat-peiceis, and fyftie-fchilling peiceis; and for the treflonabill outing thairof amangis our fouerane lordis liegis, as trew gold; quhairof he gaif ane pairt to Robert Schedden, nolt dryuer. AND ficylke, JOHNE GYB, for airt and pairt of the cumming in cumpany with vmq^{le} Mr Williame Balfoure, brother to the Laird of Burlie. Johne Olyphant and vmq^{le} Harie Cuke, his ferwandis, Patrik Murray of Gallwallis, his ferwandis, in the moneth of Februar laftbypaft, vnder fylens and cloude of nycht, and thair thifteoufflie breking vp the dur of the faid hous, entering thairin perforee, and thifteous fteling, concealing, reffetting and away-taking furth thairof, ane purfe with foure fcoir and twelf merkis, pertening to the faid Andro; quhilk the faid Johne delyuerit to the faid Mr Williame; togethir with ane horfe and ane meir, and his haill infyecht pleneiffing.

VERDICT. The Affyis, be the mouth of William Stalkar, goldfmyth in Edinburgh, Chancellour, stand, pronunceit and declarit the saidis Thomas Glas to be flylit, culpabill and convict of the crymes aboue writtin, quhair of he was accusit; and als, stand and pronunceit the said Johne Gib to be flylit, &c. of the crymes whair of he was accusit and persewit.

SENTENCE. THOMAS GLAS to be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair to be wirreit at ane staik quhill he be deid, and his bodie to be brunt in asses; and all his landis, heritageis, takis, stedingis, rowmes, possessionis, coirmis, cattell, guidis and geir to be forfalt and escheit to our souerane lordis vse, as convict of the crymes foirsaidis: AND als decernit and ordanit the said JOHNE GIB to be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit quhill he be deid; and all his movabill guidis to be escheit, &c.

Horse-stealing — House-breaking — Theft.

JUN. 18.—NICOLL alias NIKKIE MOFFETT, at the Brigend of Cramond, and David Adiesoune, sone to Johne Adiesoune, in Dyfert.

NIKKIE MOFFETT was dilatit and accusit for airt and pairt of the thifteous steling of twa naigis fra James Bannatyne, tement to the Laird of Cleghorne, twa yeir senfyne or thairbye, furth of ane burnesyde bevest¹ Calder. Item, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steling of ane blak naig fra Patrik Clarksoune in Blakburne; of ane gray meir; and for commoune thift and commoune ressett of thift.—AND siclyke, DAVID ADIESOUNE being accusit for the steling furth of Margret Strathachinis hous, in the Cannogait, of ane naipkyu, quhairin thair was xij aucht mark peiceis, ane hairt of gold, ane pair of grene silk gartonis, and ane cloik of Inglis hewit² grene claith, pertening to David Drummond, seruitour to Sir Johne Ramsay, committit at Martymes lastwas: Item, for bryking of Mark Lord Newbottill chalmer, and steling furth thair of ane veluot cloik, ane raise veluot gounne furrit, and vtheris guidis and geir: Item, for the thifteous steling furth of Robert Erskyne hous, in the fit of the Cannogait, of certane gold, siluer, claythis, guidis and geir, with thre hundreth markis: Item, for commoune thift, &c.

VERDICT. The Affyis, be the mouth of Hector Davidsoune, sword-flipper in Edinburgh, Chanceller, stand the pannels to be flylit, &c.

SENTENCE. To be tane to ane gibbet, standand vponne the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thairvponne to be hangit quhill thay be deid; and all thair movabill guidis to be escheit, &c.

¹ To the westward of.

² Coloured.

Striking a Person, while the King was sitting in Judgement, &c.

JUN. 20.—JOHNE DUNDAS of Newlistoune.

Dilatit for contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in stryking of Mr James Hammiltoune, sone to James Hammiltoune, at the Vest-port of Lynlythqw ; committit the 3d of¹ PERSEWAR, Mr Robert Lyntonne, aduocat, substitute for Mr Thomas Hammiltoune.

PRELOQUUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Johne Scharpe, Mr Will. Oliphant, Mr Robert Leirmonth.

DITTAY against Johne Dundas of Newlistoune.

THAT quhair, be our souerane lordis Actis of Parliament, maid in the moneth of Julij Im.Vc.lxxxxij yeiris, it is statute and ordanit, that quhofoewir fall stryke or hurt in ony tyme thairestir ony perfoune, before his hienes Justice or his deputis sittand in judgement, or within the inner 5ett of our souerane lordis Palice, quhair his hienes fall mak residence for the tyme, or within the outar Tolbuith of Edinburgh, the tyme that the Lordis of his hienes Sessioun (sit) for administratioun of Justice, fall incur the pane of death, and falbe accusit criminallie thairfore ; as att mair lenth is contenit in the said Act of Parliament maid thairanent : AND trew it is and of veritie, that the said Johne Dundas of Newlistoune, being forgetfull of his dew obedience and reverence, quhilk he aucht to our souerane lord and his hienes autoritie, laitlie, vpoun the ferd day of Junij instant, he being within the Tolbuith of the burcht of Edinburgh, in the bak hous thair of, quhilk is betuix the owtar Tolbuith and the inner Tolbuith, his Maiestie being for the tyme, in proper perfoune, sitand in the Inner hous with the Lordis of his hienes Counfall and Sessioun for administratioun of Justice, he than enterit in conference and speiche with Mr James Hammiltoune, eldest lauchfull sone to James Hammiltoune, att the West-port of Lynlythqw ; and estir sum contentious and hett langage past betuix 5ow (them) twa, 5e (he) maist dispytesullie, butt respect or regaird of his Maiesteis personall prefens in the Inner-hous and Tolbuith, or to the tyme and place, the before none, in the tyme of the sitting of the Lordis of Sessioun, invadit and persewit the said Mr James, and straik him with 5our (his) neave vpoun the face, and had nocht failzeit to haif followit out 5our (his) persuit, with all rage and crewaltie, againis the said Mr James, war nocht 5e (he) wes stayit be ane number of our souerane lordis guid subiectis, awaiting in the Tolbuith vpoun his hienes, or vpoun thair awin actionis for the tyme : Quhairby he, be strykeing of the said Mr James vpoun the face, quhen our souerane lord in proper perfoun wes sitand in the inner Tolbuith, and the tyme that the Lordis of Sessioun wes sitand thair for administratioun of justice, hes incurrit the pane of death ; quhilk sould be execute aganis him, conforme to the said Act of Parliament, with all regour.

(The pannell) declarit, insafar as his Maiestie, as is contenit in the Dittay, wes sitand in the Tolbuith, the samin was by his knowlege ;² and that vpoun the occasioun of sum contentious wordis fallin furth betuix him and Mr James Hammiltoune, quhairwith he wes movit to mak sum mynt³ for revange thair of, and thairby maid sum truble in the Myd-hous, quhairwith his Maiestie is justlie offendit ; That he will cum in his Maiesteis will for ony fact or offence committit to our souerane lord, or the Lordis of his hienes Sessioun, the tyme and place contenit in the Dittay ; to be confidderit be his Maiestie, according to his hienes guid will and pleasour, and according to his accusomit clemencie, schawin to vtheris his hienes liegis for the lyke crymes of before.

¹ The fourth of June instant. See Dittay.

² Unknown to him.

³ Attempt, motion.

With the quhilkis premisses, the Justice tuik him to be anisit quhill Tyifday nixtocum, the xxij day of this instant, that he mycht knaw his Maiesteis will thairin : And ordenit the Bailleis of Edinburgh present, to tak the said Johne Dundas to waird to the Castell of Edinburgh : And fielyke, caufit Andro Home, ane of the Officeris of Court, to warne the perfounes summond vpoun the said Johne Dundas Assyis, to compeir in the Tolbuith of Edinburgh to pas vpoun his Assyis, vnder the panis contenit in the Actis of Parliament.

Jul. 9.—THE following Precept ordanit to be infert in the buikis of Adiornall.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deutes. We greit 3ow hairtie weil : Forfamekill as Johne Dundas of Newlistoune, being indytit and accufit in ane Court of our Justiciarie, haldin within our Tolbuith of Edinburgh, pe xx day of Junij lastbypast, for pe invading and perfewing of Mr James Hammiltoune, lauchfull sone to James Hammiltoune, att pe West-port of Lynlythqw ; and strykeing of him vpoun pe face, vpoun pe serd day of pe said moneth of Junij, &c. And We having ressauit the said Johne Dundas in our will, and having weyt and confidderit the hail circumstance of pe cryme contenit in pe said Dittay, and quhatsumeur thing wes done be the said Johne the day and place foirsaid ; the said Johne, according to our will notifeit be ws to him selff, hes payit the soun of ane thousand sewin hundreth and fiftie merkis, quhilkis wer debarfit in sum of our necessar affairis ; quhairof we discharge the said Johne for ewir be pir presentis. And fielyke, according to our directioun gevin to him, as ane vpir pairt of our will, hes comperit in presens of our Chancillar, President and Lordis of Sessioune, thay being convenit in full nowmer in pe said Inner counsal-hous for administratioun of justice, and thair hes füllelie satisfeit pame for ony offence done be him to pame, the saidis day and place. We Will thairfore, and be pir presentis declairis, that the said Johne Dundas salbe fred and relewit furth of pe waird, quhairin presentlie he is ; and We command 3ow to freith and releve him of pe famin : As also, we declair that the said Johne Dundas fall nocht att ony tyme heireftir be indytit, perfewit or accufit for ony fact or deid committit he him the day and place foirsaid ; bot We acqyite and mak him frie pairof in all tyme cuming : And thairfore We command 3ow, that, in our Justice-Court to be hauldin in pe said Tolbuith of Edinburgh, the said nynt day of Julij instant, in presens of pe said Johne Dundas, 3e mak publicatioun of pe declaratioun of our Will, estir pe forme and tenour of pir presentis ; and that the said Johne hes obeyit and fulfillit the famin in all pointis : Kepand pir presentis for 3our Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, att Halyruidhous, the sewint day of July, the 3eir of God, 1^m.Vj^e. and ane 3enis.

(Sic subscribitur)

JAMES R.

MONCRIF CANCELLARIUS. FVIE SECRETARIUS. HOME COMPTROLLER. J. HALYRUIDHous.

Wamesucken — Brigancy — Oppression — Horse-stealing — Foraying, &c.

Aug. 1.—THOMAS CWININGHAME, sword-flipper, serwand to (William Cwninghame) the Laird of Tourlandis.

Dilatit of certane crymes of Thift, and for taking of captive and presoner Patrik Gemmill.

DITTAY against the Pannel.

THOMAS CWININGHAME, sword-flipper, sumtyme seruitour to William Vaus, armorar in the Canogait, being enterit on pannel, dilatit and perfewit : Forfamekill as he, accompaneit with Alexander and Hew Cwninghames, breper to the Laird of Tourlandis, vmq^{le} Johne Cwninghame alias Potter, Marioune Parker, Isbøbell Parker hir sifter, Williame Speir, ferwand to the said Alexander, and ane vther boy, laitlie, in the moneth of Januar lastbypast, vnder feylence and cloude of nycht, be way of Hamefuckin and Brigancie, come to Patrik Gemmill duelling-hous in Tempilhous, quhair he, his wyffe and familie was, in söber and quyet maner, takand the nychtis rest, dredland na evill or harme; and thair brak vp the dur of the said hous, enterit thairin perforce, and tuke the said Patrik and his wyffe furth of thair bedis, band his wyffe fit and hand, and kaist hir in ane mekill kift,¹ manassit² the said Patrik to delyuer to thame his siluer and gold; and becaus he refusit to do þe samyn, thay band ane tedder³ about his nek, and hang him vp vpoune ane balk,⁴ quhair he hang ane lang space, quhill⁵ the said Thomas for pitie cuttit him doune; and thairefter thay pakkit vp his haill infycht guidis and pleneissing in seheitis, and causit the saidis thre wemen convoy the samyn thisteoullie vpoune thair bakis: And thairefter tuke and apprehendit the said Patrik Gemmill captiue and presoner, and convoyit him, being ane ageit man of threfoir of yeiris, in ane grit florme, be the space xxviij myles fra his awin house, quhill he come to Clyddisholme, quhair he was releuit be the Bailles of Lanerk: Vfurpand thairbye omr souerane lordis auctoritie vpoune thame; the said Patrik being his hienes frie liege; and the said Thomas was airt and pairt of the saidis crymes. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the cuning vpoune ane Sabboth day, ten onkis senfyne or thairbye, in tyme of preching, accompaneit with Williame Cwninghame of Tourlandis, Alexander Cwninghame, his brother, vmq^{le} Johne Cwninghame, the potter, and vtheris ferwandis of the young Laird of Blaquhannis, and vtheris thair compliceis, to the nowmer of xiiij personis or thairbye, and rynnng of ane forrow⁶ with the Laird of Cwninghames heidis tennentis, for the thifteous steling and reving fra thame of xij horse and meiris, qubilkis war fauld in the cuntrey. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steling and away-taking of twa naigis, ane foir⁷ and ane vther broune, pertening to Thomas Bigger in Byres furth of the landis of Warreikhill, committit in Junij lastwas. ITEM, for commoune thift, commoune reffett of thift, &c.

VERDICT. The Assyis, be the mouth of Johne Farguesoun of the Yle, Chancellor, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said Thomas Cwninghame to be ffyld, culpabill and convict of the haill poyntis of the Dittay aboue writtin, and crymes thairin contenit.

SENTENCE. To be tane to ane gibbet, vpoune the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thairvpoune to be hangit quhill he be deid; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Striking Ministers — Obstructing the Designing of Mause and Glebe.

Aug. 18.—SIR DAVID WOD of Craig, knyght.

Dilatit, accusit and persewit of the crymes following.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune, aduocat to our souerane lord.

PRELOQUUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Johne Scharpe, Mr Lowrence M^cGill, Mr Robert Cokburne.

DITTAY against the Pannell.

FORSAMEKILL, as it is expresse statute and ordenit be Act of Parliament, maid in our souerane lordis Parliament, hauldin and begun att Edinburgh, the xxix day of Julij, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. lxxxvij yeiris, that quhatsumewir perfoun or perfounes invadit ony Minister, or puttis ony violent or predatory incursion.

¹ Chest.

² Menaced, bullied.

³ 'Tether,' halter or rope.

⁴ Beam.

⁵ Until.

⁶ Foray,

⁷ Sorrel. Fr. saure, Ital. sauritto, a dark reddish colour.

handis in him, for feiking of thair lewingis,¹ or sic vther cauffis or quarrellis spacificit in the said Act, falbe pwneist thairfore with all regoure, and incur the pane of tinfall of thair movabill guidis for the said invasioun and violence allanerlie, albeit na Slauchter nor mutilatioun follow thairvpoune; the half of the said movabill guidis to be applyit to our souerane lordis vse, and the vther half to the partie offendit, but² preiudice of the heichar pwneifchment, gif ony gritar eryme concur with the violence and invasioun foirfaid; and to be callit criminallie thairfore, before our souerane lordis Justice or his deputtis, att particuler dyettis: As the said Act att mair lenth beris. And trew it is, that Sir David Wod of Craig, knyecht, accompaneit with vtheris his complices, with convocatioun of our souerane lordis liegis, to the number of tuelf perfounis or thairbye, all bodin in feir of weir with swordis, gantillettis and vtheris wappinnis, inuafine, incontrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament, laillie, vpoun the xxvj day of March lastbypast, cam to the Kirk of Fordoun, and to the landis occupyit be lyand beyde the said Kirk, and within the Sheref dome of Kincardin, quhair Mr Adam Walker, Minitter att Fordoun wes, accompaneit with sum of the Presbiterie of the Mernis, according to the ordinance of the Act of Parliament, and the directioun of the said Presbiterie, cum to haif designit³ ane Manse to Patrik Bonkle, principall Minister att Fordoun, and to his successouris; dredand na ewill, harme, iniurie or perfeit of ony persoun, bot to haif lewit vnder Godis peax and our souerane lordis; and thair, fyrst boifit,⁴ manassit and threatint the saidis Ministeris, and speciallie the said Mr Adam Walker, for thair bodellie harmes; and thairefter, sett vpoun the said Mr Adam Walker, and invadit and strak him with the gaird of his sword vpoun the heid, putt violent handis in him, and with his sword, behind his bak, strak att him, and dang him to the eird;⁵ and with thair drawin swordis hurt and woundit him in baith his handis, to the effusioun of his blude in grit quantitie; and thairby, for the quarrell of the designatioun of ane gleib⁶ and manse, quhilk is ane pairt, at the leill, fould be ane pairt, of the said Mr Adamis lewing, he beand ane of the Ministeris of Fordoun, and helper to the said Patrik Bonkill to the cuir⁷ thairof, thay haif put violent handis in the said Maister Adam, invadit, fraik, dang and bled him with the gairds of thair swordis, and with drawin swordis, in maner foirfaid; and he wes airt and pairt thairof: Quhairby he hes incurrit the payne of tinfall of all his movabill guidis; the ane half thairof to be applyit to our souerane lordis vse, and the vther half thairof to be applyit to the vse of the said Mr Adam Walker, as partie offendit.

The pannell takis instrumentis of his entrie, and proteftis for releve of his cautioner summond for his entrie; and that thair is na partie persewar bot my Lord Aduocat; and that na persoune assistis him in this perfeit; and that the lettres ar rasit at his lordschipis instance allanerlie.⁸

The Aduocat passis fra all vther persounes, nor⁹ the Laird of Craig; and passis fra that pairt of the summondis, ordaning ony vther persounes guidis to be efcheit, pro loco et tempore.

The Judge declaris, that na pairt of the pane contenit in the Act of Parliament fall fall to the partie,¹⁰ bot only to the Kingis pairt, conforme to the Act of Parliament.

¹ Livings, stipend.

² Without.

³ To designate or appoint a place for the Minister's manse, or dwelling-house, &c.

⁴ Intimidated, brow-beat.

⁵ Struck him to the ground.

⁶ The glebe (gleba) is a piece of arable and pasture ground, uniformly allotted to the Parochial Clergy of Scotland, and usually adjoining the manse.

⁷ Viz. the cure of souls.

⁸ At the instance of the public prosecutor alone; not at the instance of the private party, with the Lord Advocate's concurrence.

⁹ Excepting, but, other than.

¹⁰ Viz. that the private party injured shall have no share of any penalties which might be awarded; but that the whole should fall to the Crown, as sole prosecutor.

It is alledgeit be Sir David Wod, that this mater aucht nocht to be putt to ane Affyis, except it wer verifeit, be writt, that Mr Adam Walker is the Minister of the Kirk of Fordoun, and that he had commiffiounne to mak defignatioun of the gleib and manfe that day. Anfweris the Aduocat, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in refpect of the Act of Parliament and of the fummondis; and thay thingis are meri facti, and only pertinent to the Affyfe.

Forder, it is allegeit be the faid Sir David and his preloquoutouris, that the lettres ar alluterlie¹ irrelevant, takand thair ground and fundament vpoun thais wordis of the Actis of Parliament, ‘ anent the invafion and putting of violent handis in ane Minister, vpoune quarrell, for feiking of his lewing;’ and that particuler caufe is only proponit in this lybell; and it is fubfunit, that diuerfe of the Ministeris of the Mernis, and fpeciallie the faid Mr Adam Walker, wes boiftit and manaffit² the day lybellit, quhilk alledgeit boifting and manaffing is na relevant caufe to induce the penaltie lybellit. Forder, that pairt is generall, nocht condiscendand vpoun the names of the vther Ministeris. Item, thair is ane manifft irrelevantie in ane vther pairt of the faidis lettres and fubfumptioun thairof, berand, that the gleib alledgeit defignit wes ane pairt of the faid Mr Adam Walkeris lewing, att the leift fould be ane pairt thairof, becaus he is alledgeit to be fuceffour to Patrik Bonkill, quha be the letteris thame felffis is grantit to be the Minister of Fordoune: As alfo, it is grantit that the faid pretendit defignatiounne wes maid be the faid Patrik, and fwa is grantit to be alluterlie the faid Patrikis lewing: And the Act of Parliament vnderftand in that pairt, to be, of the lewing of the perfounes that ar offendit, and nocht of the lewingis he hopis for to be fuceffour; quhilk is de futuro contingenti; for he may be depryvit, or deceife, before the deceife of Patrik Bonkill.

The Aduocat repeitis the fummondis and Act of Parliament, for ane anfuer.

The Judge, in refpect that this fummondis is only execute aganis the Lairdis felff, quhairby he is accufit vpoun his awin deid done be him to Mr Adam Walker, alledgeit Minister att the Kirk of Fordoune, and craving defignatioun of the gleib and manfe, as the faid fummondis beris, to Patrik Bonkill, principall Minister thairatt; and that his coadiutour wes ftrikin and invadit for that caufe, fufstemis the fummondis.

Quhairvpoun Mr Thomas Hammiltoun askit instrumentis.

ASSISA.

Willieme Raitt of Halgrene, Robert Arbutnet, feare of that Ilk,
Johne Allerdas of that Ilk,
Patrik Falconer of Kilhill,
Johne Irving in Quhyterigis,

David Rait feare of Halgrene,
David Arbutnet of Fyndowrie, Alexander Sybbald (Sibbett) in Watterftoune,
Robert Strathauchin in Munbodo,
Andro Gray of Kinggornie,

Robert Rait in Sillieflat,
Robert Arbutnet in Barkhill, Willieme Sybbald (Sibbett) in Carnetoune,
Archebald Irving in Reidmyre,
James Tullo in Allertoune.

¹ Altogether, entirely.

² Intimidated and menaced or threatened.

The Aduocat proteftis for Wilfull Errour, in caife thay Acquyte; becaus the Laird of Craig hes confest the deid, and maid his repentance thairfore.

VERDICT. The Affyis, be the mouth of Robert Arbuthnet, fear of that Ilk, Chancillar, for the maift pairt, fand, pronunceit and declarit the faid Sir Dauid Wod to be Acquyte, cleane, innocent and clangeit of the hail crymes aboue writtin, quhair of he wes accufit and perfewit: Quhairvpoune the faid Sir Dauid Wod afkit actis and instrumentis; and proteftit for his Testimoniall.

Sir Johnne Wifchart of Pittarro, knycht, Johnne W. his fone and air, Robert Falconer of Balandro, Johnne Allardes, fear of that Ilk, Johnne Ramfay, eldar of Balmayne, Alexander Lyndefay of Brodland and Patrik Craig in Kinneth, and ilk ane of thame, wes vnlawit in the pane of ane hundreth merkis, for nocht comperand on the faid Affyis.

Murder.

Nov. 13.—WILLIAME NUKILSOUNE (NICOLSOUNE) in Dirltounne.

Dilatit, accufit and perfewit,

FORSAMEKILL as he, and Adame Nicolfoune, his fone, with thair complices, being bodin in feir of weir, with fwordis, forkis, quhingear and viheris wappynnis, invasiue, laitlie, vpoune the xiiij day of September lastbypast, haifing confaut ane deidlie hatrent and malice aganis vniq^{le} Williame Jakfoune in the Cannogait, for taking of ane fchaeff of peis off thair land, fett vpoune him, vnder feylencc and cloude of nycht, befyde the Place of Dirltounne, quhair he was in sober and quyet maner for the tyme, doand his lefull effairis and buffines, dredand na evill, harme, iniurie or perfuit of ony perfonis, bot to haif leuit vnder Godis peax and our fouerane lordis; and first straik him with ane fork in at the leask;¹ and thairefter, strake him with quhingearis aboue the left palp,² and throw the bodie; and thairefter, bare him to the faid Williamis duelling-houfe in Dirltounne, and cauft dicht³ the blude fra his woundis, and fyne tuke him furth of the faid houfe, and careit him to the Place of Dirltounne, and kaift him behind the 5et thairof, to the effect that the faid crewall Murthour fuld nocht haif cum to lycht: And swa, maift crewallie and vnmercifullie flew and mordreift him; and he was art and pairt thairof.

VERDICT. The Affise, viz. 'George Dewar feruitour to the Lady Gowrie, George Bettie, cuke and brewfter to her in Dirltounne,'⁴ &c., be the mouth of Hew Baillie in North-Beruk, chancelar, fand the pannell to be Innocent and Acquit of art and pairt of the Slauchter of the faid Williame Jakfoune, &c.

Murder of the Warden of the West Marches.

Nov. 14.—THOMAS ARMSTRANG, fone to Ringanis Thom. (In the Dittay he is styled 'fone to Sandeis Ringane.'⁵)

Dilatit, accufit and perfewit be Archbald Carmichell of Edrom, brother to vniq^{le} Sir Johnne Carmichell of that Ilk, knycht, Warden of the West Marcheis of Scotland, for the tyme, of the cryme following: that is to say, ¹ The groin or flank, sometimes spelt leask or lisk. ² Breast. ³ Wipe off. ⁴ The rest of no note. ⁵ This last seems his proper designation, as the Dittaymentions 'the faid Ringane (Nimian) his fader.' The loose mode of designating persons, in the rank of life of the pannell, which was prevalent in the Borders at this period, is apt to lead modern readers into confusion as to identity of persons.

FORSAMEKILL as he, accompaneit with the said Ringane his fader, Lancie, Hew, Archie and Watt Armstrangis his brether, Sym of the Syde, Lancie of the Syde, Rob Sandie, Rob Scott, Thome Tailzeour, Williame Forrester, Williame Grabame of the Braid of the Grange of Medop, and divers vtheris his complices, to the number of xx, commoun thewis and traittouris, all bodin in feir of weir,¹ with jakis, steilbonettis, lances, hagbuttis; haifing, be the instigation of vtheris qubais names he knew, confultit, dewyfit and interpryfit the crewall, tressonabill and schamefull Slauchter of vmq^{le} SIR JOHNE CARMICHELL of that Ilk, than Warden of the West Marcheis, vpoun ane Soneday, in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. yeiris, att ane meitting at the fute-ball,² quhair diuers borderaris and freindis wes conuenit to that effect: Quhilk purpois being plattit and fett down³ be him and thame, and being fuirly aduertit that the said vmq^{le} Sir Johne was to keip Court⁴ at Lochmaben, vpone the morne thairefter, being Monunday and the . . . day of the said moneth of Junij, the yeir of God foirsaid; ffor executioun of the quhilk tressonabill and vngodlie fact, thay mett altogidder, att thair trytling place⁵ of the Blerieheid, quhair thay lay att waitt for the said vmq^{le} Sir Johne Carmichellis passing by; and as he wes in fobir and quyet maner passand by to the said Court, dredand na ewill, harme, iniurie or perfit of ony personnes, bot to haif lewit vnder Godis peax and our souerane lordis, he being his Maiesteis Wardene for the tyme, thay altogidder fett vpoune him at the Rae-knowis, schott thair hagbuttis att him, and thairwith maist schamefullie, crewallie (and) tressonablie schot the said vmq^{le} Sir Johne Carmichell throw the body, and slew and mordreift him thair; vpoun fett purpois, provisioun and foirthocht felony.

VERDICT. The Assyis, be the mouth of George Ferrie, portioner of Restalrig, Chancillar, ffsand, pronunceit and declarit the said Thom Armstrang to be culpabill and convict of airt and pairt of the tressonabill and crewall Slauchter and Murthour foirsaid.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk caus, the said Justice-depute, be the mouth of Robert Galbraith, dempstar, Decernit and Ordanit the said Thom Armstrang to be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thair his rycht hand to be strickin fra his arme; and thaireftir to be hangit vpoune ane gibbett, quhill he be deid;⁶ and thaireftir, to be tane to the Gallows on the Burrowmure, and thair his body to be hangit vp in irne cheinis;⁷ and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit, to our souerane lordis vsfe.

¹ Arrayed or furnished in warlike manner. ² At this period, especially on the Borders, it was by no means uncommon to have such meetings for playing at foot-ball, archery, &c.—and these games were often taken advantage of, for the perpetration of deeds of violence; at least, they were frequently terminated by bloodshed and violence, through the feuds of neighbouring clans or districts. ³ Plotted and arranged. ⁴ A Warden's Court, for punishment of excesses committed on the Borders, &c. ⁵ Appointed place of meeting. ⁶ Robert Birrel thus notices this event.

'The 11 of July (1600), the Laird of Carmichael buriet; quha wes slaine be the Armstrangis and Carliles, he doing and executing his office of Wardenrie, vpone the 16 of Junij befoir.' He thus notices the execution of Armstrang and the Peck, whose trial immediately follows. 'The 14 of November, Thomas Armstrang and Adam Steill, alias callit the Peckit, wer baith hangit at the croffe. This Thomas had his hand strak aff with ane stroke, befor he wes hangit, becaus he wes at the slaughter of James Carmichael. This Pecket wes ane of the maist notabill thieffes that evir raid.'⁷ This is the earliest notice in this Record of a Criminal being hung in chains which the Editor has yet met with, and was evidently, in this instance, suggested by the atrocity of the crime, and the dignity of the person so basely murdered. The deficiency of facts, in the earlier Volumes, may account for this circumstance; as the particulars were then seldom recorded.

Horse, Cattle, and Sheep-stealing — Slaughter, &c.Nov. 14.—ADIE SCOTT, callit the Peck.

Being enterit on pannell and accusit,

FOR the thifteous steilling, conceilling and away-taking of certane oxin, furth of the Drochellis, pertening to the Erll of Mortoune and his tennentis. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling of certane scheip furth of ane rowme beyde Lammingtonne. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling (and) conceiling of fourfeoir heid of nolt, furth of the landis of the Cairne, pertening to certane Lowthian men, quhilk wes in gerfing¹ on the famin landis. AND for airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Hary Rannald, feruitour to Sir James Sandielandis of Slewmanna-mure, and vmq^{le} Andro Smyth in Auchnowlis-hill, committit in the moneth of August, I^m.Vj^e. yeiris. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling of foure hors furth of Corfwodburne, pertening to Sir James Sandielandis of Slewmanna-mure. ITEM, for airt and part of the thifteous steilling of xvj oxin furth of Lestoun-scheillis, pertening to Alexander Dowglas. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling of certane guidis fra the Guid-wyff of Garvell-fute. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling of certane guidis furth of Ingerstoun-burne, pertening to Rychard Hodge thair. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling of certane claith furth of Caringtoun-mylne. ITEM, for the cuming to Johne Ker Minister of Lynis hous, breking thair of, taking of him selff presoner, and steilling of his infycht and pleneiffing furth thair of. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling of twa naigis furth of Hairburneheid, pertening to Adame Johnestoun thair. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling of threttie gers oxin² furth of Corfwodburne, pertening to certane Lowthean men. ITEM, for the steilling of certane oxin, pertening to Adamfoun in Lestounscheillis. ITEM, for the setting uponne vmq^{le} Rodger Schaw in Craiganbae, George Schaw thair, Quintene McMillane in Craigneill, Downie McMillane thair, Sandie McMillane thair, Johne Chalmeris in Clatteran-schawis, Johne McMillan in Dasseloch, George McMillan his brother, George McMillan in Craiginbae, Andro McMillan in Powschakene, James Reid in Stroneschakene and Williame Gordoune in Knokschene, att the Sandiehillis; quhair he and his complices slew the said vmq^{le} Rodger Schaw in Craiginbae, and thifteouslie stall xxij naigis fra thame. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling of nyntene nolt furth of the byre of Nether Quhitlaw, pertening to Thomas Ker of Caveris; committit at Martimes 1600 yeiris. ITEM, for Commoun Thift and Commoun Reflett of Thift, inputting and outputting of thift.

VERDICT. The Assise³ ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said Adie Scott to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the haill cryme of Thift and slauchteris aboue writtin, laid to his charge.

SENTENCE. The Justice Ordanit him to be tane to ane Gibbett att the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thairvpoun to be hangit quhill he be deid; and all his movabill guidis to be escheit, &c.

Uttering Adulterated Money, &c. — Treason.

Nov. 27.—GEORGE DRUMMOND, burges of Perth.

Dilatit and accusit of,

THE Tressonabill outing⁴ of fals and adulterat money, sic as Hatt-pecis,⁵ crounes, foure pound pecis, ¹ Grazing.

preceding Trial.

² Oxen sent from the Lothians to pasture or graze.

⁴ Uttering, issuing.

³ The same as in
⁵ An early coin of James VI. in which the head is surmounted with a hat, in place of the crown or laurel.

and foure merk pecis, amangis our fouerane lordis liegis, as trew money and coinzie, att the ffairis of Perth, Striuling, and in vther mercattis in the North pairtis; quhill fals coinzie he bocht fra Hanis Johnestoune, Fleming, Charles Hereis, Fleming, and Arthour Smyth, a fuyth duelland beyde Banff, and wes coinzeit be thame in Banff, Elgyn, Abirdene and Lenoeh, fyve or sax yeiris fyne.

VERDICT. The Assyis, be the mouth of Petir Spens, dagmaker in the Cannogait, chancellor, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said George Drummond to be culpabill, ffylit and convict of the cryme of Treafoune aboue written.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castell(hill) of Edinburgh, and thair to be wirreit att ane staik quhill he wes deid, and his bodie to be brent in affis; and all his landis, heretageis, guidis and geir to be forfaltit, efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vfe, as convict of the saidis crymis.

[Mr William Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

ASSESSORS, Lords Halyruidhous, Dunkeld and Fentonbarnes.

Treason—Keeping the House of Cuninghamehead against the King's Commissioners — Slaughter.

Dec. 15.—WILLIAME CUNNINGHAME of Tourlandis.

Dilatit, accusit and persewit be Mr Thomas Hammiltone of Drumcarne, aduocat to our fouerane Lord, of the crymis following, contenit in Dittay produceit be the said Aduocat.

DITTAY against the Pannel.

WILLIAME CWNINGHAME of Tourlandis, ye ar indytit and accusit, fforsamekill as Alexander Cwninghame, your brother, and certane his complices, hyrit and condeuceit fuddartis,¹ haifing, in the moneth of March the yeir of God I^m.Vj^e. yeiris, tane the Hous of Cwninghameheid, and being chargeit be vertew of our fouerane lordis lettres to haif randerit the samin within², vnder the payne of Treffoune; Neuirtheles, it is of veritie, that ye, within fourtie aucht houris efter the taking of the said place, and eftir the charge gewin for randerit thair of vnder the pauen of Treffoun, convoyit youre selff and enterit within the said place and hous of Cwninghameheid, and tressonnable affistit the said Alexander Cwninghame, your brother, in keping of the said hous aganis the Lairdis of Duntraith and Vrchill, his Maiesteis Commissioneris, quha wer assageing the said place, and that be the space of xxiiij dayes eftir your entrie within the samin; during the quhillk tyme, ye and your compliceis tressonnable fshot out of the said place diuers hagbutis att the saidis Commissioneris and thair affist-eris; committaud thairby oppiu and manifest Treafoune, and incurrand the tinfall of lyffe, landis and guidis; quhillkis aucht and fould be execute aganis yow, with all regour. To the takin³ that ye ar gyltie of the said cryme, ye haif confest the samin, be youre Deposition. ITEM, ye ar indytit and accusit, fforsamekill as ye, accompaneit with Alexander Cwninghame, your brother, and vtheris your compliceis, being bodin in feir of weir, with seereitis, steilbonnettis, dagis and pistolettis, prohibite to be borne, worne, vfit or fclot with, be our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, laitlie, in the moneth of September, or thairby, the yeir of God I^m.V^e.lxxxvj yeiris, haifing confaut ane deidlie feid, rancour and malice aganis vniq^{le} James Stewinfoune in the Myltoune of Robertoune, come to the Landis of the Myltoune of Robertoune, quhair the said vniq^{le} James wes in fobir and quyet maner, doand his lesull effairis and buffines, dredand na ewill, harme, iniurie or persuit of ony perfounes, bot to haif lewit vnder Godis peax and our fouerane lordis; and thair, with your wappinnis foirfaidis, maist schamefullie, crewallie and vnumercifullie slew the said vni^q James; and ye was airt and part of the said crewall Slauchter; committit vpoun sett purposis and provisioune, and foirthocht fellony. To the taikin that ye ar airt and part of the said Slauchter of the said vni^q James Stewinfoune, ye wes, vpoun the xxij day of Januar I^m.Ve.lxxxxvij yeiris, denunceit rebell and putt to the horne, for nocht comperand befor the Justice or his deputis, in the tolbuith of Edinburgh, the xxiiij day of November, the yeir of God foirfaid, to haif vnderlyne the law for airt and part of the Slauchter foirfaid; att the quhilk horne ye haif remainit continewallie senfyne, and as yit remanis: as the Letteris of Hoirning, produceit heirwith, beris.

¹ Waged, or stipendiary soldiers.

² Left blank.

³ In proof, token, or testimony.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne, Aduocat to our fouerane lord.

PRELOQUOTOURIS for the pannell.

Mr Williame Olyphant,

Mr Johne Ruffell,

The Laird of Reidhall,

Mr Alexander King,

The Laird of Glengarnok,

The Laird of Capringtoun.

The Preloquoutouris produceit ane Warrant of the Lordis,¹ commanding thame to compeir in Defence of the Laird of Tourlandis, now enterit on pannell; quhilk Warrant is subseryuit be the Chancellor, in presentia Dominorum.—The pannell takis instrumentis, that the Justice declaris that Sir Johne Cockburne of Ormifoun, Justice clark, fall nocht be judge nor Assessour, nor yit Justice clark in this mater.² Alledgeis, that Sir George Home, thesaurer, can nocht be Assessour, becaufe he may win and tyne in the cause, in caise of convictioun. The Aduocat answaris, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect he is nocht partie. The said Sir George Home declarit he wold nocht voit in that mater.—The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the admitting of my Loirdis of Halyruidhous, Dumkerd³ and Fentounbarnes to be Assessouris in this cause.

The pannell alledgeis, that he fould be cited vpoun fourtie dayes wairning, for the alledgeit Treasoune of keping of the hous. The Aduocat answaris, that it hes bene the inviolabill practik, quhen ony is tane⁴ for Treasoune, to putt him to ane Assyis for the said cryme of Treasoune, but⁵ citatioun.

The Justice repellis the alledgeance maid be the pannell.

It is alledgeit that the Dittay is nocht relevant, in respect of the generalitie thairof, nocht condiscendand att quhais instance the charge wes gevin to rander the place, quhom to, or ex qua causa. The Aduocat alledgeis that it aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay.⁶ Forder, the Dittay is nawyis relevant, becaus I wes nocht chargeit, nor na intimation wes maid to me of the charge, ¹ This form was usual, especially in cases of Treason, in order to screen Counsel from the consequences of defending one who must be inferred to have been most obnoxious to the King. A Supplication was, in the first instance, presented to the Lords of Council and Session, by the pannel, praying them to name 'prolocutors' for the defence, and suggesting various names. The prayer was generally granted, as a matter of course.

² 'Declinator' of the Judge was competent, on the ground of relationship, or that he had a pecuniary or other interest in the case, &c.

³ Bishop of Dunkeld?

⁴ Taken or apprehended and put in ward.

⁵ Without.

⁶ It will be noticed, in the course of this Collection, that this loose and unjust mode of answering a special objection was usually sustained by the Court, seemingly on the ground, that such must of necessity be held to be inferred, from the general scope of the Indictment. Much of the apparent obscurity in such matters, however, may arise, from the brief manner in which these circumstances are recorded in the Books of Adjournal.

nor na qualificatioun of the Dittay of my knowlege. The Aduocat anfuervis, it aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay.

The Justice ffindis the Dittay relevant, and refernes the hail defensis proponit aganis the verificatioune of the Dittay to the Assyis; ffindis the proces for the slauchter.

The Aduocat passis fra the taking away of the horse, pro loco et tempore.

ASSISA.

Nicoll Carnecroce of Calhill,	Capitan Patrik Herring,	Thomas Alexander, portionar of
James Weitchie of North Syntonne,	Archebald Layng, merchand thair,	Drummeldrie,
Robert Hepburne of Markill,	Johne Fairlie, merchand thair,	Williame Dowglas of Erlifmylne,
Johne Baillie of S' Johnes Kirk,	James Johnestonne, merchand	Johne Dunbar of Moynes,
Edward Edizer, merchand burges	burges thair,	Thomas Hay of Scrogis,
of Edinburghe,	Robert Home of the Heuch,	Andro Logane of Grantonne.

Qubilkis perfounes being chofin, sworne and admittit, eftir the accusatioun of the said Williame Cwninghame of Tourlandis, of the crymes contenit in the Dittay fairsaid; ffor Verificatioune of the fyrst poynt thairrof, the said Mr Thomas Hammiltoun, aduocat, produceit the said Williame Cwninghames Depositionnis and Confessiounis; quhairof the tennour followis.

DEPOSITION and CONFESSION of the Pannel.

AT ED^B, the xij day of December, 1601 3eiris. In presens of Johne Erll of Montrois, chancellor, S^r George Home of Spott thesaurar, Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne Aduocat, Sir Johne Cockburne of Ormiston Justice Clark, and Mr Williame Haert of Lewielandis Justice-depute, WILLIAME CWINNINGHAME OF TOURLANDIS, being sworne, and being demandit, anent pe last taking of pe Place of Cwninghameheid and keping of pe famin, anfuervis, that the hous wes fyrst tane be his broper Alexander, vponn quhais aduerteifment, vnderstanding that thair wes sum variance betuix him and the sūdartis within the place, the deponer cam to pe place, and enterit pairin, and remanit within pe famin be pe space of twentie or xxiiij dayes; be pe quhilk space he wes besaiget be pe Lairdis of Dunraith and Vrchill, haifing the Kingis Commissioun; during pe quhilk tyme thair wes sehuting out of pe hous and sehuting in: Declaris, that his broper Alexander had nocht enterit in pe place of Cwninghameheid fourtie aucht houris, before the deponer cam to him; and the taking of pe place wes about March, 1600 3eiris: Denyis that he wes chargeit or putt to pe horne, for nocht randerig of pe Place of Cwninghameheid; bot his broper wes chargeit, vnder pe payne of Treasoun, befoir pe deponer enterit in pe hous, and gatt knowlege pairof quhen he enterit.

And als the Aduocat produceit the Extract of the Lettres, vnder the signe and subseription of Mr Robert Young, for chargeing of the Toune of Glasgw to assift the Kingis Commissioner, for Assageing of the said hous, and to head fourtie haggbutteris thairto, in respect of the Commissioun and Lettres of Treasoun, direct and execute aganis the Laird of Tourlandis and his complices; quhilk wes disobeyit. Quhilk Extract of the Letteris, is of the dait, at Halyruidhous, the sewiut day of March, 1600 yeiris.

And for verification of the last poynt of the Dittay, concerning the Slauchter of the said vinq^{le} James Stewinfoune, the Aduocat produceit Extract of the Letteris of Hoirning, vnder the subſcriptioun of Mr Johne Skene, clark of Register, quhairby the ſaid Williame Cwninghame of Tourlandis wes putt to the Horne.

VERDICT. Eftir productionne quhairof, and diuers alledgances maid aganis the ſamin, and anſueris maid thairto be our ſouerane lordis Aduocat, the hail perfounis of Affiſe paſt altogidder out of Court to the Counſal-hous; quhair, eftir cheſing of the ſaid Nicoll Carncorſe of Calſhill chancellor, &c, they ſſand, pronunceit and declarit the ſaid Williame Cwninghame of Tourlandis to be Cleane, innocent and acquit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the ſaid vniq^{le} James Stewinſoune, committit in the moneth of March, in the yeir of God J^m.V^c.lxxxvj yeiris, as the Dittay beris: AND als, ſſand, &c. the ſaid Williame to be ſſylit, culpabill and convict of the aſſiſting of Alexander Cwninghame his brother and his complices, in the keping of the Place of Cwninghameheid aganis the Lairdis of Duntraith and Vrehill, his Maieſteis Commiſſioneris; the ſaid Alexander being chargeit, vnder the payne of Treafoune, to haif randerit the ſamin, conforme to his Depoſitiounes, ſubſeryuit with his hand.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburghe, and thair his heid to be ſtrikin fra his body:¹ And als his lands, heretageis, takis, ſtedingis, rowmes, poſſeſſiounes, coirnes, cattell, guidis and geir to be ſſoirfaltit, eſcheit and inbrocht to our ſouerane lordis vſe, as convict of the ſaid cryme.

Adultery.

Dec. 16.—DAUID GRAY, fyſchemonger in Edinburgh.

Dilatit for the cryme of Adulterie, committit with Elſpeth Hiſlope, indueller in Edinburgh, and Margaret Gourlay, wedow in Edinburgh.

The ſaid Dauid confeſſis that he had ado with baith Elſpeth Hiſlope and Margaret Gourlay, as the Dittay beiris; bot kuawis nocht quhither the bairnis be his or nocht. For the quhilk he askis Godis mercie, and cummis in the Kingis will.

VERDICT. The Aſſyis, for the maiſt pairt, ſſylis Dauid Gray of the cryme foreſaid.

Dec. 26.—SENTENCE. The Juſtice, be the mouth of Robert Galbraith, dempſtar, Ordenit the ſaid Dauid Gray to be baueiſt the burecht of Ed^r, and during all the dayes of his lyff; and nocht to return thairin, without his Maieſteis licence, vnder the payne of deid: And als, Decernit and Ordanit the ſaid Dauid to pay to the Baillie of the Quarter of Ed^r quhair he duellis, the ſoume of fourtie poundis money, to be applyit to the vſe (of) the Kirk: And to paſs in waird in the Tolbuith of Ed^r, thair to remane quhill the ſamin be payit.

¹ The 16 of December, Cuninghame of Tourlands beheidit at the croſſe, for Treafoune.—Birrel's Diary, p. 55.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

ASSESSOURIS. My Lord Chancillar, The Bifchop of Dunkeld,
The Lord of Halyruidhous, The Comptrollar, My Lord Collectour.

Slaughter — Wearing and Shooting Dags and Pistolets, &c.

Dec. 18.—THOMAS TRUMBILL apperand of Mynto ; David Dauidfone of Kames ; George, Raff, James and Williame Dauidfoune, his fones ; Jaquie Laidlaw of Rafflat ; Hector Trumbill of the Firth ; James Trumbill, callit baneift James ; Mark Trumbill in Bewlie ; Andro Trumbill, his brother ; Walter Trumbill, callit Sir Davidis Wattie.

Accusit and perfewit be Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne, aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hienes interes, being affifted be Mr James Ker, brother to vniq^{le} Thomas Ker of Craling, of the crymes following.

DITTAY againft the Pannels.

FORSAMEKILL as it is statute and ordenit be diuers of our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, that na maner of perfoun or perfoues, of quhatfumewir eftait, degrie or conditionn thay be of, fall fehuit, weir or beir culveringis, dagis or piftolettis vpoun thair bodeis, or in thair cumpaneis, in ony pairt of this realme, ather to burecht or land, vnder the payne of cutting aff of the rycht hand, and confiscatioun of all thair guidis movabill, being conuict be ane condigne Affyis thairof : Neuertheles, it is of veritie, that the faidis perfounis, accompaneit with diueris vtheris thair compliceis, with convocatioun of our fouerane lordis liegis, to the number of xxx perfoues or thairby, all bodin in feir of weir, with jakis, steilbonettis, lagbuttis, daggis, piftolettis, lances and vtheris wappinnis invafuie, of thair caufing, command, affiftance and ratyhabitoune, the faidis dagis and piftolettis being expreffie forbidden, vpoun the fourtene day of September laftbypaft, being the mercat and flair day of the burecht of Jedburgh, cam to the faid burecht in ane profellit hoftilitie, nochtwithftanding publict Proclamatioun maid in our fouerane lordis name, and in name of Sir Andro Ker of Pharnyherft knyecht, Proveft of the faid burecht of Jedburgh, and of the bailleis thairof, that nane fould repair to the faid flair or mercat bot in fobir and quyett maner, keping oure fouerane lordis and the faid Proveft and bailleis peax : And yit, in manifft contempt of the faid Sir Andro Ker, thay haifing confaut ane deidlie feid aganis him and vniq^{le} Thomas Ker his brother, and haifing of lang tyme before invadit and perfewit Thomas Ker of Caveris, thair freind and kynnisfouan, for his flachter and hurt, and woundit him in diuers pairtis of his body, to the grit effufioune of his blude, nawyis repenting thame of thair former wickit deidis and wrangis, bot continewing thairin, thay addrest thame felffis before his ludgeing in the burecht of Jedburgh, foirantent the mercat croce thairof, he being within the famin in fobir and quyett maner for the tyme, with his (wife ?) and famelie : and thair, in publict mercat tyme of day, eftir diuers bragis, infulent behavioure and manaffingis vfit be thame foirantent the faid Proveft ludgeing, in contempt of him and his feruandis, feiking the occafioune of ane new quarrell, without ony offence, harme or iniurie done to thame, nocht only thay wure vpoun thair bodeis and in thair cumpaneis piftolettis and gunnis, bot als fehote the famin att the faid Sir Andro, his feruandis, and diuers honest inhabitantis of the faid burecht, of fett purpois, provifoun, auld feid and foirthocht fellony ; bot fpecially, fehote the faid vniq^{le} Thomas Ker and vniq George Glaidner, domeftik feruand to the faid Sir Andro : And fwa, thay maift crewallie and vnmercifullie flew the faid vniq^{le} Thomas Ker and vniq^{le} George Glaidner with thair wappinnis foirfaisdis : And thay and ilk ane of thame ar airt and pairt thairof ; and confequentlie, thay and ilkane of thame ar nocht only giltie of the faidis flachteris, bot lykewyis of fehuiting and weiring of the faidis dagis and pistolettis, in maner foirfaid; with convocatioun of oure fouerane lordis leigis: And in respect thairof, thay and ilkane of thame aucht and sould be pwneit in thair personnes and guidis, according to the lawis of this realme, in example of vtheris.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne, aduocat to our fouerane lord; Mr James Ker, brother to (the faid v^mq^{le} Thomas and to) the faid Sir Andro Ker of Phairnyherst.

PRELOQUOUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Johne Scharp, Mr Williame Oliphant, Mr Johne Daling, The Scheref of Roxburcht, The Guidman of Buchtryg, The Guidman of Hwtounhall, The Laird of Mynto 3ounger.¹

Williame Erll of Angus comperit and defyrit Jaquie Laidla, duelland in Ancrum, quhilk is ane pairt of the Regalitie of Jedburghie-Forreft, to be Replegeit to his Regalitie. The Justice findis him to be replegeit.

The pannell defyris that thir materis may be continewit quhill Tyisday,² and that it may cum in pari passu with the vther caus;³ becaus letteris being rasit be thame ofbefore, before my lord Justice and his deputis, againis the Laird of Phairniherst and his complices, to ane day of lang tyme bypast, before ony Lettres wer rasit be the partie aganis thame, it pleasit his Maiestie to command to defert that dyett: And summondis being rasit now be my lord Aduocat aganis bayth the parteis to this day, for deidis alledgeit committit be thame aganis vtheris⁴ vpoun ane day, viz. the xiiij of September last; it hes pleasit my lord Justice, with auise of the Nobill men, counsalouris and assessoris, to continew the perfuit of thais parties nixtocum the xxij day of this instant; off all reasoun, this perfuit aganis thame aucht to be continewit to the samin day; and tryell tane of the factis committit be ather of the parteis aganis vtheris, pari passu, and be ane Inqueist, but ony diuision of the caussis.⁵

THE JUSTICE, nochtwithstanding of the defyre, Ordanis proces.

The Aduocat declaris he will infist aganis all the personis enterit vpoun pannell: And passis fra thir wordis in the lybel, 'be way of Hamefucken.'

THE JUGE Ordanis the Aduocat to condiscend, in speciall, vpone the tyme of the hurting of the Gudman of Kaveris.

The Aduocat condiscendis and declaris the hurt done to the Gudman of Kaveris, wes committit be the hail persones perfewit, awcht yeris fyne, or thair-by, lastbypast.

The pannell takis instrumentis of the Interloquuntour and the Aduocattis speciall condiscending vpone the tyme foirfaid of the hurting of the Gudman of Kaveris.—My lord Aduocat declaris he infistis aganis the pannell for the crymes of Slauchteris libellit, vpoune foirthocht felony; and for the bering and wering

¹ His name is only inserted at the second dict, after the case was continued to the Air of Roxburghie.

² Tuesday.

³ A counter pursuit against Sir Andro Ker of Phairnyherst, and others, which was delayed till Dec. 23, (q. v.)

⁴ Against each other.

⁵ Without any separation of these two cases.

of piftolettis; with convocatioune, and being airt and pairt thair of.—The pannell allegit that the lybell, in that pairt anent the Convocatioune, is na wyfe relevant, quhairvpon the perfonis vpon pannell or ony of thame may be put to the knowlege of ane Inqueift; vnder proteftatioun, that thai one na wyfe grant the famyn to be of veritye; becaus the perfonis of the pannell, famony of thaim as convenit in Jedburgh, the tyme libellit, convenit at the command and directione of the Sheref of Roxburgh, quha ofbefoir, with concurfe of the Laird of Phairnyhirft, than Proveft of the burgh of Jedburgh, had tane affurance betuix vni^q^{le} Thomas Ker and vni^q^{le} Robert Trumbill of Bewly and vtheris thair freindis; to the effect, that the Sheref mycht haif convoyit thame furth of the faid burgh, but ony trubill, at the Burne-wynd-Port, quhairin thai enterit, vpon conditione accordit vpon betuix the Sheref and the Proveft: Lyke as, the Sheref, according to the faid conditione, convoyit thame furth of the faid Point, in quyet maner, but offence of ony man; in refpect quhair of, thair repairing to the faid Sheref can nocht be comptit ony Convocatioune, quhairvpon ony cryme may be inferrit; alwyfe this allegeance is proponit for the haill pannell, vnder proteftatioune forfaid, that thai grant na Convocatioune.

My Lord Aduocat askis instrumentis vpon the declaratioune forfaid, and that it is proponit for the haill pannell.

THE JUSTICE flyndis the lybell relevant, notwithstanding the allegeance; and Repellis the fame loco quo; and Referris the cognitioune thair of to the knowlege of the Affyfe.

Quhairvpon the pannell askit instrumentis.—The pannell denyes ony bering or wering of hagbuttis or piftolettis the tyme libellit; and takis instrumentis that it is affermit in the libell, difertis verbis, that thai wer fchot to the deid with hagbuttis and piftolettis.—My lord Aduocat askis instrumentis, that it is affermit in the lybell, that thai wer fchot and flane with hagbuttis, piftolettis, ‘and vtheris wappynis.’

It is allegit be the pannell, that my lord Aduocat can never be hard to allege that thai wer flane with ‘vtheris wappynis;’ in refpect of the exprefs affirmatioun in the lybell, that thai wer fchott with hagbuttis and piftolettis.—My Lord Aduocat paffis fra thai wordis in the lybell, ‘to be deid.’

The pannell defyrit tyme to avyfe with the lybell, in refpect of the paffing fra the wordis forfaid be the Aduocat.

THE JUSTICE ordanis proces.

The procuratouris allegis for the pairt of the haill pannell, vnder proteftatioun that he on na wyfe grantis the lybell, nor na cryme thairin contenit, nor na pairt thair of to be of veritie; that the pannell aucht not to be put to the knowlege of ane Affyfe, becaus vni^q^{le} Thomas Ker and George Gladner, his fervand, wer ordourly enterit our fouerane lordis rebellis, the tyme of the allegit Slauchter; and proponis this allegiance vnder protestatioune forsaid. And for verificatioune of the said allegiance, produceit the extract of the Horning; be the quhilk lettres thai wer denunceit to the horne, for the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Henrie Olypher.

My Lord Aduocat allegis the saidis personis wer lawfully relaxit fra the Horning produceit, befor the cryme libellit; and thairfore the forsaid allegiance aucht to be repellit; and produceit the said Relaxatioune; and askit instrumentis of the productione of the Horning, and allegis the famin to be null, in respect of the executioun not contening ony copy of the saidis lettres to haif bene gevin to the said Thomas Ker and George Glaidner, or affixt vpone thair dwelling place. To the quhilk it is ansuerit be the pannel, that the said Horning is lawchfull, being for ane criminal caus, to witt, for Slauchter, quhilk meritit na favour; be the quhilk letteris thre personis being only summond to vnderly the law, Thomas Ker and George Glaidner ar bayth personally apprehendit,¹ and the personis lykwyse lauchfully summond at the market croce, and ane copy affixt; and the letteris beris expresly, that the messinger 'deliuerit to the said Thomas ane,' quhilk of all necessity man be supponit and preswmit to be 'ane copy,' being deliuerit be the officer, quha had na vther erand with the said Thomas, bot to charge him and deliuer him ane copy: And be the subiect of the letteris, can be referit to na thing bot to ane copy; and the omiffioun of that word in the extract of the Horning furth of the Register can nocht preiuge the partie.—Ansuerit my Lord Aduocat, that the Horningis, being of thair awin natour odious, and nevir vsit to ressave ony favorabill interpretatioune in iugement, this Horning being vsit to stay the tryell of the partyes vpone pannell, for the crwell Slauchteris and vtheris crymes libellit, the Horning wanting ane necessar solempnity requisit be the Act of Parliament, is manefeist null, and sa can not stay proces.

THE JUDGE Repellis the allegiance proponit aganis the nullity of the Horning. Quhairvpone the pannell askit instrumentis.

My lord Aduocat ansueris, the saidis personis wer lawchfully relaxit fra the said Horning befor the crymes committit be the pannell and produceit the said Relaxatioune. The pannell yit, as ofbefoir, desyres continuatioune quhill Tyf-day, or to the morne, that thai may, in the mene tyme, aduysé with the Relaxatioune produceit. My lord Aduocat craves proces, and dislasentis fra all continuatioune.

THE JUSTICE ordanis forder proces.

¹ A technical phrase, employed when the officer 'serves' or 'executes,' as it is termed, the Letters or writ upon the party against whom directed, by delivering a copy to him personally.

It is allegit yit be the pannell, that in respect the maist part of thame hes bene detenit in waird this lang tyme bigane, swa that thai culd not provyde thame felffis for defence, and this Relaxatioune is bot laitylly produceit, and laitylly writtin as apperis, delay awcht to be grantit presently, in respect of the tyme of the nycht.—It is anfuerit be my lord Aduocat, sik ane allegance blekkit¹ never this buk ofbefore.—It is allegit, vnder protestatioune forsaid, that thir perfonnes vponne pannell awcht not to be put to the knowlege of ane Inqueist, for the allegit Slauchter of the said vniq^{le} Thomas Ker, becaus, the tyme of the committing of the Slauchter, he wes enterit our souerane lordis rebell and put to the horne, and herewith produceit the said Horning, vsit at the instance of James Maistertoune, for nonpayment sevin scoir ten li. (L.150) mony, and xl li. for expenslis.—It is allegit be the pannell, that the Relaxatioune producit for the first Horning, vsit aganis Thomas Ker and George Glaidner, is null, becaus it is expresly providit be Act of Parliament, that all registrationis falbe in the Sheref Court bukis of the schyre quhair the pairtyes wer demuncit, or quhair thai dwell. This Relaxatioune is nether affermit to be regiftrat in the Sheref bukes nor be the Sheref clerk, nather declarand befor quhame it is regiftrate, nor be quhame, nor befor quhame it wes produceit.—The Aduocat anfuerit, the allegance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Relaxatioune produceit, quhilk is minut,² produceit and regiftrate in the Sheref bukes of Roxburgh, and subferyvit be the ordiner clerk thairof.—It is allegit be the Aduocat, that the Horning produceit, at the instance of James Maistertoune, aganis the said Thomas Ker (is null?) becaus it is nocht lauchfully regiftrate, within xv dayes efter the denunciatioune, conforme to the Act of Parliament, nor yit subferyuit be the Sheref clerk.—It is forder allegit be the pannell, for the fortificatione of the allegance proponit for the nullaty of the said Relaxatioune produceit, that it is null; for this caus, becaus it is not regiftrate nor affermit to be regiftrate be ony Sheref clerk; and insafer as it apperis to be subferyvit be ane callit Dowglas, thair wes never ane of that name Sheref clerk of Roxburgh, except ane Mr George Dowglas, quha deceiffit twa yeir before the said Relaxatioune; and he never affermes him felff to be clerk to the Sheref of Roxburgh. My lord Aduocat anfueris, as ofbefore, the Relaxatioune is sufficient notwithstanding the allegance, and declaris that this Relaxatioune was regiftrat be Mark Dowglas, Sheref Clerk of Roxburgh, quha wes reput sheref clerk, and vsit the office by registratione of Horningis and Relaxatiounis, and geving furth of extractis thairof.—Vponne the quhilk declaratioune the pannell askis instrumentis; and forder allegis, that Mark Dowglas wes never sheref clerk, nor affermes him to be sheref clerk, bot be the contraire, be deceis of Mr George Dowglas, Sheref clerk, Robert Trumbill wes lawfullie providit to the said office, quha vsit and exerceit the said office of clerkship, dyueris yeris after the deceis of the said Mr George Dowglas.

¹ Never blackened, defiled, disgraced.

² Minuted, noted in the 'Minute book.'

The pannell declairis thai haif na mair to say, nor will say na mair, befor this mater be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse.

THE Juges continewis the said mater quhill the morne.

Dec. 19.—THE Aduocat allegis, that he will insift only aganis HECTOR TRUMBILL of the Firth, JAMES TRUMBILL, MARK TRUMBILL and ANDRO TRUMBILL.

It is alledgeit for the rest of the pannell, that my lord Aduocat can nocht pass fra thame, in respect of the stait of the proces, quhairin the pannell comperit and proponit sundrie defensis, quhairvpone Interloquoutouris ar gewin, with auise of the Assessoris: and eftir the proponing of the alledgancès and anfuers maid thairto, and Interloquoutour gewin be my lord Justice; partie being willing to abyde tryell of Justice, my lord Justice may nocht pass fra perffit in thair preiudice.

THE JUSTICE findis, that my lord Aduocat may pass fra thame.

The pannell allegis the Relaxatioune produceit, makis no mentioune that it wes registrate in the Sheref bukis of the sherefdom of Roxburgh; in respect quhairof, na respect aucht to be had to my lord Aduocatis allegance made thairanent.

THE JUGE, ex officio, desyrit the ayth of James Dowglas of Kaveris, Shereff of Roxburgh, being present, gif he knowis that Mark Dowglas wes Sheref clerk of the said sherefdom, and wes in vse to keip Courtis, and register and extract Horningis; quha being sworne, declairis, he knew not the said Mark to be Sheref clerk, be his knowlege; and that he wes never ressavit nor admittit be him to the said Office of clerkship. Quhairvpone the pannel askit instrumentis.

My lord Aduocatt askis instrumentis that my lord Justice declairis he will heir the parties be word, (and) he will gif his Interloquoutour thairvpone.—It is anfuert be the pannell, that the allegance proponit be my lord Aduocat aganis the validity of the extract of the Horning product, subferyvit be my Lord Clerk of Register, awcht to be repellit, in respect of the extract, quhilk is ane Extract furth of the Register of the Horningis of the Sherefdom of Roxburgh, and as the originall buk of the Register makis na mentioune of the clerk, swa the extract furth of the Register can mak na mentioune, becaus the Extract respectis the Register, and the Register of every sherefdom awcht not to mak mentioune of the clerk, of the productione of ilk fenerall horning; becaus it being the Register of the Sherefdom, is merkit be the clerk, quhilk is sufficient for the hail horningis thairin contenit: And my lord of Register makis na mentioune of the Sheref clerkis in the Extract of ony Horningis gevin furth be him; and gif this Extract falbe fund null, for the argument foirfaid, the hail Extractis iufcryuit be my Lord of Register, and the hail declaratiounis gevin be the Lordis of Sefsioune thairvpone, will be fund null: And it is not proper for my Lord Justice to fynd all the faidis Extractis null, for the quhilk thair is ane fufficient Warrant be Actis of Parliament, gevand my Lord Register power to extract all Horningis furth of the Registeris, and that they fall mak als grate fayth as the principall; and gif fik ane Relaxatioune had bene, as is now produceit, thefe wald haif bene alfo in the Register of that yeir.

THE JUGE ffyudis the Extract of the Horning produceit, vnder my Lord of Registeris fufcriptione, to be fufficient. Quhairvpone the pannell askit inftruments.

It is forder allegeit be the pannell, that this Extract of the Relaxatioune produceit, is nocht contenit in the Register of the Sheref dome forfaid, nor is nocht contenit in the Register thair of that yeir, quhilkis ar extant in my Lord of Registeris handis.

THE JUSTICE Repellis the alledgance maid aganis the Relaxatioune, and fuffenis the faid Relaxatioune produceit.

Quhairvpone my Lord Aduocat askit inftrumentis.

THE JUSTICE declaris he and the Affefforis will heir bayth the faidis parteyis, be word; and gif thair allegeanceis be worthy writting, he will heir thaim to writt; vthirwyfe nocht.

Quhairvpone my lord Aduocat askit inftrumentis.

ASSISA.

Adame Quhytefurd of Myltoune,	Gilbert Pennycuik of that Ilk,	George Heiflop, armurare, burges
Neill Montgomerie of Langfehaw,	Petir Collace, indueller in the	of Edinburgh,
Matho Fynlafoune of Killeithe,	heid of the Cannogait,	George Waldye, fkyunner, burges
William Weir of Auchterfardell,	Andro Naiper, burges of Ed ^t ,	thair,
Robert Cairncorfe, burges of Ed ^t ,	Andro Scott, chirurgean,	Johne Dowglas, burges thair,
James Hoppringill of Quhyte-	James Stalker, indueller in the	Williame Fyddes, baxter, burges bank,	heid of the Cannogait,	thair.

The quhilk day, James Ker, brother to the Laird of Phairnyhirft, being perfonally prefent in jugement, fwoir the Dittay to be trew, in prefens of the Aillyfe; quhairvpone my lord Aduocat askit inftrumentis.

To the taikin¹ that this deid being done vpone the Ruid day,² the ffair day of Jedburgh, be thir perfonis vpone pannell, thair wer takin ryd hand³ be the Proueft of Jedburgh; and at his Maieftis command brocht to the tolbuith of Edinburgh, and hes bene kepit captives thairin continually fenfyne.—The pannell takis inftrumentis, that thair is na verificatioune vfit nor produceit, for verifeing

¹ In proof or evidence.
fact, 'with the bludie hand.'

² Holy Rood, or Holy Cross day, Sept. 14.

³ Red-hand, in the

of the Dittay, bot the aith of Mr James Ker, informer. The pannell produceit ane Testimoniall, subferyuit be the Sheref, togidder with ane new Declaratioun of the maner and trewth of the Slauchteris of vmq^{le} Thomas Ker and George Glaidner; quhilk thay defyrit to be infert in proces.—The Aduocat protestis, that the informatioun of partie fould nocht be reffaut, nor the Testimoniall of the Shereff fould be reffaut.—It is agreit vpoune, that George Gybfoune and Williame Mayne fould be reffaut witness.

The Aduocat protestis, in respect that George Glaidner is flayne with ane hagbut or pistolet, quhilk is na wappin of defence, bot vnlauchful wappin, in caise the Affyis Clange, for Wilfull errour. And the Pannel protestis for Wilfull errour, in case thay Convict thame, albeit he wes flane with ane hagbut or pistolet, feing thay were nocht the slayaris of him, nor had na hagbut nor pistolet; bot thair wes that he gaue away with the saidis crymis.—And the Aduocat alledgis that the pannell are airt and pairt of the saidis crymis.

THE JUSTICE ffindis that the Testimoniall fould nocht be reffaut.

SPECIAL VERDICT of the Affyise.

Quhilkis perfonas of Affyis being fworne, &c. thay removit altogidder furth of the Court to the Laich-Counfal-hous, quhair, eftir chesing of the said Neill Montgomery of Langschaw chancillar of the said Affyis, and after examinatioun of George Gibfoun and William Mayne, burgeffis of Edinburgh, quha wer reffaut as witnessis, with consent of our fouerane lordis Aduocat and of the perfonas on pannell; and eftir lang reafoning and voting vpoune the poyntis of the Dittay foirsaid, being throwchlie auisit thairwith, thay reenterit agane in Court, in presens of my lord Justice; Quhair thay, be the mouth of the said Chancillar, ffind, pronunceit and declarit Hector Trumbill of the Firth, James Trumbill, callit 'baneiff James,' Mark Trumbill and Andro Trumbill, brether to vmq^{le} Robert Trumbill of Bewlie, to be flylit, culpabill and convict of airt and pairt of the slauchteris of the saidis vmq^{le} Thomas Ker, brother to Sir Andro Ker of Pharneyhirst, and of vmq^{le} George Glaidner his seruand, committit vpoune the xiiij day of September lastwas, in the Burne-wynd of Jedburgh: And als, be the mouth of the said Chancillar, ffind, pronunceit and declarit the saidis perfonas to be Acquit of Convocatioun of our fouerane lordis liegis, and of bering, weiring and schuting of pistolettis and hagbuttis, and of foirthocht felony, and of all the rest of the lybell.

The Justice thaireftir continewis all pronunceing of Dome, till he get his Maieftis mynd thairanent; and committit the perfonas convict to waird within the tolbuith of Edinburgh.

On Dec. 26, the following is inserted in the Record.

DOME ffor Andro Trumbill, brother to the Guidman of Bewlie.

Dec. 26.—THE JUSTICE, be the mouth of Robert Galbraith, dempftar of Court, decernit and ordanit the said Andro Trumbill to be tane to the mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and thair his heid to be strikin fra his body; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vfe, as convict of the saidis crymes. Quhilk wes pronunceit for dome.

Shooting with Hagbutts, &c. — Slaughter — Demembrement — Convocation of the Lieges, &c.

Dec. 23.—SIR ANDRO KER of Pharnyherst, James Ker of Lyntellie, Williame Ker, his sone; Michaell Ker in Oxnem, (stewart to the Laird of Pharnyherst,) David Anislie, younger in Falaw, Johne Anislie, his brother, Lancelot Anislie in Oxnem, Adame Anislie, his sone, Thomas Robsoun, callit Prettie-fit; Matho Robsoun in Burnesit, Thomas Gay in Tounheid, John Gay thair, Williame Rutherford, callit Gray Will, burges of Jedburghe; Johne Rutherford, his sone; James Hislop in Eschiesteill, Mr James Ker, brother to the Laird of Phairnyherst; Williame Robsoun in Burnewynde, Thomas Ker, brother to George the Browster.

Dilatit for contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in beiring, weiring and schuting with hagbuttis and pistolettis: And als, for airt and pairt of the slauchteris of vni^q^{le} Robert Trumbill of Bewlie, and vni^q^{le} Johne Middilmest, brother to Williame Middilmest of Lillie-chapell: And for airt and pairt of the schuting of James Dowglas, apperand of Todhoill, with twa bullettis in the wambe, hurting and wounding of him thairwith: And als, for hurting and wounding of James Dowglas in Cruik, in the neife, and demembrement of him of ane pairt thair of: And for demembrement of Henrie Davidfoun, sone to David Davidfoun of the Kamis, of his rycht hand: And for demembrement of Mark Trumbill, brother to the said vni^q^{le} Robert Trumbill of Bewlie, of the thowme of his left hand: And for demembrement of Andro Trumbill, his brother, of the lytill fingar of his left hand; and for hurting and wounding of Williame Trumbill in Tounheid, in the wambe, be the schot of ane pistolet with twa bullettis; committit the xiiij day of September lastbypast: With convocatioune of our souerane lordis leigis; vponne fett purpois, provisounne, auld feid and foirthocht felonye.

PERSEWARIS, Mr Thomas Hammiltoun, aduocat, Nicolas Trumbill, the relict of vni^q^{le} Robert of Bewlie, Thomas Trumbill, apperand of Mynto.

PRELOQUUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Johne Russell, Mr Thomas Craig, Mr Johne Leirmonth.

Comperit Williame Erll of Angus, lord of the Regalitie of Jedburghefforrest, and desyrit the persones following, duelland within the boundis of the said Regalitie, to be replegit to the privilege thair of: to witt, Sir Andro Ker, &c.; and produceit his Infeftment of the Regalitie, contenant expres privilege of Regalitie, and desyrit the said personis to be repledgit.

The Aduocat allegis, that the said Laird of Pharnyherst, and remanent personis, can nocht be replegit; becaus the seasing prewis nocht Pharnyherst to be in Jedburghefforrest, or within the regalitie thair of; and except he preve itt, they can nocht be hard to replege. The Lord Angus anfueris, that Pharnyherft and landis thairof ar pairt and pertinent of the lordſchip of Jedburghe-fforrefst, haldin of my Lord Angus.—The Aduocat takis instrumentis, that Thomas Trumbill, apperand of Mynto, declaris, as he is informit, that the Place of Pharnyherft is nocht within the boundis of the Regalitie: And als, the Aduocat allegis, that my Lord of Angus can nocht be hard to preve, be witnefes, the Place of Pharnyherft to be pairt and pertinent of Jedburghe-fforrefst.

THE JUSTICE findis that it man be verifeit be writt, that the Place of Pharnyherft is pairt and pertinent of Jedburghe-fforrefst.

Thairefter, it wes fund be Interloquoutour that it may be verifeit be witneffis, that the Place of Pharnyherft lyes within the boundis of the ſaid Regalitie.

The Lairdis of Aytoun, Broxmyth, Traquair, being produceit as witneffis to preve as above; and the Aduocat anfuerand, that thay wer kyn and freindis to the Laird of Pharnyherft, the Justice fand that thay could nocht be reffaut for the reſpect fairſaid.

The Laird of Drummalzear wes ſworne, that he cam nocht heir to defend the Laird of Phairnyherft, and wes produceit as witneffis to preve Pharnyherft to be within the Regalitie; and being ſworne, deponis that he knowis the Place of Pharnyherft to be within the Regalitie of Jedburghe-fforrefst.

Gylbert Pennycook of that Ilk, being ſworne, previs na thing.

James Aniflie, being ſworne and produceit, the Aduocat allegis that James Aniflie could nocht be reffaut, becaus he is of the name of Aniflie, of the quhilk name diuers wes att the Slauchter aboue writtin; and ſwa the perſewaris, declarand that thay bure feid aganis all the name of Aniflie, the ſaid James could nocht be reffaut: And the Justice referrand the mater to the declaratioun of the ſaid James, quha wes ſworne, and declarit he bure feid att na man, reffaut the ſaid James witneffis, nochtwithſtanding that the informeris alledgeit feid: Deponit, that he knew Phairnyherft to ly within the boundis of the Regalitie.

Allegis the Aduocat, that the Laird of Pharnyherft can nocht be repledgeit, becaus he being Proveſt of the Kingis frie burcht of Jedburghe, and accuſit of ane capitall cryme committit within the ſamin, he can nawyis be repledgeit to ony Regalitie, in reſpect of the qualitie of the place and perſoun; nather can his hienes Aduocat be drawin to inſiſt in ſic ane perſuit before ony inferiour Judge, bot aucht only perſew him before his hienes Justice Generall.—It is anfuerit for my Lord of Angus, proponer of the exceptioun of Replegiatioun, that albeit the Laird of Phairnyherft acceptit vpoun him to be Proveſt of Jedburghe, that can nocht preiudge my Lord of Angus of his privilege of Regalitie within the hail boundis of the lordſchip of Jedburghe-fforrefst; nather yit preiudge the Laird of Pharnyherft of ony benefite compitent to him, in reſpect of his duelling-place : And albeit ane capitall cryme be committit within the Regalitie, ather within burcht or land, that can nocht preiudge the lord of the Regalitie of his priviledge, quha is Judge compitent to all and quhatfuneuer perfounes duelland within the boundis of his Regalitie, quhairwir the cryme be committit ; And forder, the Laird of Pharnyherft is nocht perfewit as Provest, vpon the discharge of his office, or for ony failzie¹ committit be him, in vsing or exerceing thair of, bot as ane privat man, for the crymis contenit in the Dittay : And albeit my lord Aduocat is nocht obleift to compeir befoir ony vther Inferiour Judge, that is na caus to preinge the lord of the Regalitie of his privilege, feing the parteis offendit may perfew, and any lord Aduocat may perfew be his substitute ; and gif that argument sould be respectit, the hail heretable Regaliteis sould be vnprofitabill, and na replegiatioun sal be admittit in favouris of the lordis of the Regalitie and thair bailleis : And forder, his Maiesteis Aduocat is ordinarlic partie in all criminall perfuitis.

The Laird of Pharnyherft, being inquiryt, gif he wald adhere to my lord of Angus' desyre and alledgeance, he ansuerit, that he wald gif his procuratouris leif to ansuer for him : And Mr Jolme Ruffell, as procuratour for the Laird of Pharnyherft, declarit he wald keip sylence, quhill² the discussing of my Lord Angus' alledgeance ; quhairvpon he askit instrumentis.

DENUNCIATION against William Ker, &c. for the above crimes.

THE quhilk day, Sir Andro Ker of Phairnyhirft knight, oftymes callit as cawtioner and fouertie for WILLIAME KER, brother to Robert Ker of Ancrum, George Moserope, burges of Jedburghe, David Moserope his brother, thair, George Ker in Oxnem, Johne Ker in Redden, Andro Ker thair, Charles Robsoune in Wallis, George Pyle in Mylneheuche, David Pyle his brother, and Symmie Hall in Haviesyde, to haif enterit and presentit thame befoir our souerane lordis Justice or his deputis, the saidis day and place, in the hour of cause, to haif underlyne the law for the above crymes ; lawfull tyme of day biddin, and nocht enterand the personis abouewrittin, as he that become cawtioune for thair entrie, as said is : Thairfoir the Justice decernit and ordanit the said Andro Ker, as cawtioner foirsaid, to be vnlawit and amerciat for thair nocht entrie, in the panis contenit in the Actis of Parliament, vid. for nocht entrie of the said Williame Ker, in the pane of twa hundreth markis, and for nocht entrie of the remanent ix personis, for ilk ane of thame in the pane of ane hundreth markis : And als Adjudgeit the saidis Williame, &c. to be dennceit our souerane lordis rebellis, and put to his hienes horne ; and all thair movabill guidis to be escheit and inbrocht to his Maiesteis vse, as fugitiues fra his hienes lawis for the saidis crymes.

PERSEWARIS.

Margaret Trumbill, freind³ to John Middilneft,
Mark Trumbill, brother to Bewlie.⁴

PRELOQUUTOURIS for the pannell.

The Erl of Crawford, My Lord Vchiltrie,
My Lord Newbottill, The Lard of Lytildene.

Dec. 24.—My Lord of Angus declaris, that he insiftis only to haif James Ker of Lintellie and Williame Ker, his sone, replegeit ; but vnder protestatioune was discussed. ³ Relative, blood relation.

¹ Failure, malversation.

² Until Lord Angus's allegation of being lord of this Regality, &c.

⁴ These 'persewaris' and also the 'preloquutouris' here noted, are inserted in the Record, in addition to those formerly entered.

that he passis nocht fra the priviledge of his Regalitie, nochtwithstanding that he requyres not the land of Pharnyherst replegeit.

THE JUSTICE Admittis the replegiatioun to my Lord of Angus, for replegiatioun of James Ker of Lintellie and Williame Ker, his sone: And my Lord of Angus appointis the thryd day of the nixt Justice-air of the Regalitie of Jedburghe-fforest, or soner, vpoun fyftene dayis warning, for administratioun of Justice; and ffind Ker (of Caveris) cautioner for administratioun of Justice; and James Commendater of Melroise¹ become fouertie for thair entrie; and the Guidman of Lintellie obleist him to releve my Lord of Melroise.

The Laird of Pharnyherst takis instrumentis that Mark Trumbill of Bewlie insistis in persuit of his lyffe.—The Laird of Mynto refusis to persew; quhairvpoune the Laird of Pharnyherst askit instrumentis.—The Laird of Pharnyherst askit instrumentis, that Mark Trumbill insistis in persuit of his lyffe.—The pannell, except the Laird of Pharnyherst, askit instrumentis that Mark Trumbill wold nocht insist aganis thame.

The pannell askit instrumentis that thay offerit thame selffis to ane Tryell, and to abyde ane Assyse.—The said Mark Trumbill lykwayis declaris, that he will nocht persew the Laird of Pharnyherst, att this tyme, in respect he can nocht gett ane Assyis to him.—The Laird of Pharnyherst askit instrumentis of the declaratioun of Mark Trumbill; and speciallic, in that poynt, that he being inquiryt, gif he had just caus to insist aganis the Laird of Pharnyherst? Declarit, that in respect his lyffe wes faitit be him, and in his handis, he wald nocht persew: And nochtwithstanding of the said declaratioun, to testifie his obedience to his Maiesteis Justice, and that he cravis na subterfuge, in respect of his innocencie, and that he did na thing bot as ane publict Magistrate, thairfore he willinglie offeris him selff presentlie to ane Tryell: And becaus this persuit is only movitt att my lord Aduocatis instance, he cravis his lordschapis declaratioun.

The Aduocat desyrit this mater to be continewit quhill Setterday; becaus that he had informatioun of his Maiestie to insist in persuit; and vpoun informatioun of partie, quha hes past fra the persuit.

SIR ANDRO KER of Phairnyherst, and Sir Johne Ker of Hirfell, as cawtioneris for Mr James Ker, Michael Ker, Thomas Ker, brother to George the browster, and James Hillop, to haif enterit thame, &c. were amerciit in the panis following, viz. for nocht entrie of Mr James 200 markis, and for ilk ane of the rest 100 markis: And these parties were ordered to be denounced rebels, &c.

Dec. 26.—Continued to Justice-air of 'Roxburghe, tertio Itineris, vel super premonitione xv dierum, plegiis, Patricio Home de Aytoune, D. And. Ker de Phairnyherst et D. Joanne Ker de Hirfell.'

¹ Afterwards named 'Johne,' in the Record.

Slaughter in Single Combat, in France.

Jan. 13.—CAPITAN JOHNE RIG, Archeour of the Gaird of France.

Dilatit for the Slauchter of v^mq^{le} Mr Thomas Strathauchin, alias Meirnis.

Comperit Mr George Strathauchin, alias Meirnis, and produceit our fouerane lordis lettres, deulie execute and indorfat, purchest be him self aganis Capitan Williame (Johne) Rig; and desyrit proces.

Comperit Mr Thomas Hope excusatorio nomine for Capitan Johne Rig, and produceit ane Warrant subscryuit be the Kingis Maiestie, ordaning the dyet aganis the said Capitane Johne to be desert; of the quhilk Precept, the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deuttis, We greitt you weill. Forfamekill as Capitan Johne Rig and v^mq^{le} Mr Thomas Strathauchin, Archeouris of the Gaird of France, and swa being ferwandis to our darrest broder Henrie King of France, the said Mr Thomas Strathauchin appeillit to the said Capitan Johne Rig to the Singolar Combat; in the quhilk Combat the said v^mq^{le} Mr Thomas was hurt and woundit, and be evill handling and cure of cherngeanis, deceifit: Quhilk Combat, and all that followit pairvpoune hes bene tryit be our said darrest broder Henry King of France and his Jugeis, as Jugeis compitent to the said Tryell, the said v^mq^{le} Mr Thomas and the said Capitan Johne Rig being baith subiectis to our said darrest proper: And nochtwithstanding, as We ar informit, the freindis and kyn of the said v^mq^{le} Mr Thomas Strauchin hes raist our vperis letteris, and hes summond the said Capitan Johne Rig, to compeir befor you in our Tolbuith of Edinburgh, the xiiij day of Januar instant, in the hour of caufe, to vnderlye our lawis for the Slauchter of the said v^mq^{le} Mr Thomas, albeit it be of veritie, that We nor our Justices can nawyis be Jugeis compitent to the said Capitan Johne Rig, he being ane Archeour of our said derrest properis Gaird, and swa his subiect; befor quhome and his Jugeis he hes bene alreddie tryit: Lyke as, also, the said Capitan Johne Rig being vpoune the poynt of his voyage, to pass in France to his seruice, can nocht gudlie attend vpoune the famin dyett: QUHAIKFOIR, We haifug tane sufficient tryell in the said mater and of the proceeding pairof, hes concludit that the said Capitan Johne Rig salbe nawyis trublit in tyme cuming for the said slauchter. Commanding you, that you onnawyis proceid aganis him nor his cawtioner, at the said xiiij day of Januar instant, nor in na tyme cuming, for the Slauchter of the said v^mq^{le} Mr Thomas; discharginge you pairof, and of your offices in that part: And for the said Capitan Johnis mair securitie, cause registre the presentis in our buikis of Adiornall, ad perpetuam rei memoriam, and for your Warrant. Subscryuit with our hand, at Halyrudehous, the first day of Januar, 1602 zeiris.

(Sic subferibitur)

JAMES REX.

To the quhilk it is ansuerit be the said Mr George Strathauchin alias Meirnis, persewar, that the said Letter was ane priuie Letter, and aucht nocht to be admittit.—With the quhilk Letter and ansuer maid thairto, the Justice being throughlie avysit, admittit his Maiesteis Warrant, and desertit the said dyett: Quhairvpoune the said Mr Thomas Hope askit instrumentis; and the said Mr George protestit, that the admissioun thairof preiuge nocht his persuit in tyme coming.

Treason — Forging and Uttering Base Coin, &c.

Jan. 13.—PATRIK DRUMMOND, in Lenach.

Dilatit of airt, pairt, red, counsale and conceilling of the tressonabill fforgeing, prenting, coinzeing and out-putting of false and adulterat money, sik as false fyve-pund-peices and fyve-schilling-peiceis; quhilkis, fyve yeir senfyne, or thairbye, was coinzeit be Hans Johnestoune, Fleming, and vmq^{le} George Drummond, saidler in Perth, in the kill of Lenach and vpoun the Craigis thairof, of his knowlege and conceilling; ffor the quhilk he ressaui ten false fyctie f. peiceis.

VERDICT. The Assyis, being sworne and admittit; and the pannell accusit be dittay, quhilk wes verefeit be his awin Deposition, and the Depositionis of vmq^{le} Walter Murray in Dunfermling, vmq^{le} George Drummond, saidler in Perth, and vmq^{le} Thomas Glas in Creif, and Thomas Reid, serwand to the said Hans, &c.; they, be the mouth of Andro Naper, merchand, burges of Edinburgh, stand, pronunceit and declarit the said Patrik to be fylit, culpabill and convict, &c.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair wirreit¹ at ane staik quhill he be deid; and thairefter, his bodie to be brunt in asses; and all his landis, heritageis, coirnis, cattell, guidis and geir to be florfalt, and be inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vse.

House-breaking — Theft — Horse-stealing.

Jan. 13.—PATRIK MURRAY of Galwald.

Dilatit of the cryme following, viz. Forfamekill as he, being in cumpany with vmq^{le} Mr Williame Balfoure, brother to the Laird of Burlie, vmq^{le} Johne Gyb, Hary Cuik, Johne Oliphant, and vtheris thair compliceis, in the moneth of februar lastbypast, cam, vnder fylence and cloud of nycht, to the duelling hous of Andro Fluikar, in the Brigend of Gairny, and thair brak vp the dur of the said hous, enterit thairin, and steilling furth thairof his haill infycht pleneiffing in ane feak, with ane meir; and had and convoyit the samin away with thame to the place of Strowie. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling, conceling and away-taking of ane horse furth of ane stabill in the Cannogait-heid, pertening to Toscheoch of Monyvaird; committit twa yeir fyne, or thairby.

VERDICT and SENTENCE. The pannel being 'fylit' by the Assise, the Justice Ordanit him to be tane to ane gibbet standand in the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thairvpoun to be hangit quhill he be deid; and ordanit all his movabill guidis to be escheit, &c.

¹ Strangled.

Slaughter.

Jan. 23.—THOMAS JAK, wrycht in Haltoune.

Dilatit, accusit and perfewit, fforfamekill as he, accompaneit with Johne Herring in Lang-Forgoun, bodin in feir of weir, with fword and vtheris wappinnis invafive, laitlie, vpoun the xxix of Julij lafbypaft, haifing confaut ane deidlie feid aganis the faid vmq^{le} Alexander, fett vpoun the faid vmq^{le} Alexander foirnent¹ his duelling hous, at the Kirk of Forgoune, and thair crewallie hurt and woundit him in the heid, and claif his harne-pan² with fwordis, and thairby flew him; and he wes airt and pairt of the flauchter of the faid vmq^{le} Alexander Moncur.

PERSEWARIS.

Andro Moncur, fone to the defunct,
Patrik Moncur of Chapeloune,

Johne Flouris, fifter-fone to the defunct,
Mr Thomas Hammiltoune, (King's Advocate.)

The pannell, nochtwithftanding that he is innocent of the Slauchter of the faid vmq^{le} Alexander Moncur, he becummis in the Kingis will for the famyn, and for beiring of piftuletis.

VERDICT. The Affyis, be the mouth of Robert Gyb in Lochtoune, chancillar, ffand the faid Thomas Jak to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of airt and pairt of the Slauchter.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thair, his heid to be strikin fra his body, and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.³

Murder—Theft.

Jan. 29.—JAMES CRUIKSCHANK, feruitour funtyme to Mr David Ogilvie.

Dilatit, accusit and indytit, fforfamekill as he, accompaneit with Andro zoung alias Davidfone, hantand⁴ in Sanct Johniftoun, laitlie, vpoun the fourt day of Januar instant, fett vpoun vmq^{le} Robert Innes, merchand att the Kirk of Inch, one Carnboddo-mure, and thair, in the dawing of the day,⁵ maift crewallie (and) fchamefullie Mordreift and flew the faid vmq^{le} Robert Innes, be cutting of his thrott: And als, thifteouflic flall, conceillit and away-tuik fra him his pak,⁶ contening merchand-geir, with his purs and certane money thairin.

VERDICT. The Affyis, be the mouth of Robert Varnour, fkyinner in Edinburgh, chancillar, ffand the faid James to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the crewall Murthour of the faid vmq^{le} Robert Innes; and of the fteilling of his pak and purs, with certane money thairin.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Caftell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit vpoun ane gibet quhill he wer deid; and thaireftir his heid and rycht

¹ Before, immediately opposite to.

² Skull, 'brain-pan.'

³ On the margin, 'Convict et decollat.'

⁴ Literally, haunting, dwelling, but without any fixed occupation.

⁵ At dawn,

immediately before sunrise.

⁶ Travelling pack, he being what is termed a 'packman,' or small-ware merchant.

hand to be strikin fra his body; to be affixit, the hand in Dundee, and the heid in Carnbodo-mure; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Stouthreif — Cattle-stealing — Horse-stealing, &c.

Feb. 12.—JAMES VALLEM and George Vallem, fonis to David Vallem of Woodwrae.

Dilatit, accusit and persewit, be Dittay following,

FORSAMEKILL as thay, accompaneit with Williame Ogilvie, Williame Cumming, Archibald Dowglas, Rikard, Ramfay, and vtheris their complices, commoun thevis and brigandis, in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God 1^m.Vc.lxxxxvj yeiris, being bodin in feir of weir, with swordis, secreteittis, pistolettis and vtheris wappynniss invafue; vmbefet¹ the lie way and passage to Williame young and James Blak, cadgearis,² duelland vpoune the fourth fyde of the fierrie of Dundie, and to twa of thair fervandis, at the Coittoune of Melgum, lyand within the Sherefdom of Forfar, quhair thay wer dryvand fevin pakis of merchand-geir, on fevin horsis, towardis Brechin, to the sfair thairof; quhilkis packis pertentit to Patrick Wedderburne, burges of Dundie, and Johne Alexander, burges of Edinburgh, vmq^{le} John Wrycht, burges thair, and Thomas Allane, tailzeour, burges of the Cannogait; and thair fet vpoune thame oppinlie, in day lycht, at xij houris in the day; and, be way of Stouth-reif, violentlie reft, ftall and away-tuke fra the saidis cadgearis, the saidis fevin pakis and fevin horsis; and thifteouffie and masterfullie convoyit the famyn away with thame, togidder with the saidis cadgearis, to the mouth of Glenmoy, and dispoit vpoune ane grit pairt of the said merchand-geir, at thair pleafour: AND als, the said James being accusit, fforfamekill as he, accompaneit with Williame Cummyng and vtheris his complices, in the moneth of October laftbypast, come to the toune and landis of Auchterlony, pertening to Johne Carnegie, gryuter,³ and thair thifteouffie ftall, conceillit, reffett and away-tuke furth thairof, fax oxin and twa ky, pertening to the said Johne Carnegie and James Pittilach his fervand; quhilk thay draif to the North and fauld, at thair plefour. ITEM, the said James indytit and accusit for airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling of ane quhyte horfe furth of Mr Williame Gairdyn stabill, Vicar of Abirlennoch, pertening to Johne Mortimer younger of Flemingtoun, committit foure yeir fenfyne, or thairbye. ITEM, the said George Valleme being indytit and accusit for the thifteous steilling, conceilling and away-taking of ane horfe fra Johne Kyd.

PERSEWAR.

PRELOQUOUTOURIS for the pannell.

Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne, aduocat. Mr Thomas Craig, Mr Johne Russell.

It is allegeit that the Dittay fould nocht be putt to ane Affise, becaus thay fould be fummoud vpoun xv dayes wairning, and thay fould haif ane copy. The Aduocat anfueris, that in respect of the Dittay, quhilk is vpoun thift, the alledgeance aucht to be repellit.

THE JUSTICE findis proces.

¹ Forcebly beset, &c. by stopping or blocking up the way. ² In this sense 'cadgers' were carriers, who travelled through the country with their pack-horses, and were employed by small-ware merchants to transport their goods to fairs and markets. At this period, all distant carriages were effected by means of pack-horses; and (as is the present custom of carriers) they usually travelled in companies, for mutual protection and security. The modern term cadger, is commonly applied to persons who collect eggs, fowls, butter, &c. from small farmers, &c. and bring them to market for sale. Their present equipage consists of a horse or ass, with creels, or panniers, placed across the animal, when foraging and bargaining with small farmers and cottagers; but when they go to market, their accumulated store is commonly brought in carts. ³ Properly, one who keeps or takes charge of a granary or farm. It is sometimes spelt 'grainter, or 'graitour.'

It is allegeit, that this mater, concerning the taking away of the pakis, fould nocht be putt to the knowlege of Affyis, becaus it is ane mater of depredatioun; and be Act of Parliament maid in the tyme of King James the ffyft, cap. xxxvij, all depredatiounis and maisterfull reiffis fould be fyrft Ciuilie difcuffit before the Lordis. The Aduocat anfueris, that the faid alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in refpect of the Dittay contening Stouth-reif and thift. The preloquoutouris takis instrumentis, that thay defyrit to putt thair alledgeance in writt thame felff; and to dyte itt; and that the Justice anfuerit that he, be the auife of the Chancillar, Collectour, Thefaurer, Lord Hereis and vtheris¹

THE JUSTICE Repellis the alledgeance, in refpect of the Dittay.

The Pannell takis instrumentis, that na partie comperis to perfew, bot my Lord Aduocat; and na perfoune can be putt to ane Affyis, without ane fworne Dittay. The Aduocat anfueris, that he fould nocht fweir.

VERDICT. The Affyis, be the mouth of Alexander Kerfane in Balbethie, chancillar, ffand the faidis George and James Vallemes to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the crymes refpective aboue writtin, laid to thair chairge.

SENTENCE. To be tane to ane gibbet at the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thairvpoune to be hangit quhill thay be deid; and all thair movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.²

[Mr William Boirthuik, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter — Bearing of Pistolets, &c.

Mar. 3.—PATRIK LORD GLAMMIS; Johnne Lyon, fone to Johnne Lyon in Rouchalhill; Johnne Lyon, fone to . . . Lyon, burges of Dundie; Johnne Scryngeoure, Johnne Edmestoune, and Fargus Murray, feruaudis to the faid Patrik Lord Glammis; William Lyon, feruand to the faid Johnne Lyon, fone to Johnne Lyon in Rouchalhill.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the Slaughter of vniq^{le} Patrik Johnnestoune of Mof-toun; and for beiring and weiring of pistolettis, contrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament; committit vpoun the faxt day of September laftbypaft.

Comperit Mr Williame Oliphant, and produceit ane Warrant, direct be his Maieftie; quhair of the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice clark and 5oure deutes, We greit 5ow weill. Forfamekill as the thryd

¹ Assessors to the Justice. The sentence is left unfinished; but it is probable that it referred to the right of the Justice to dictate the 'allegiances' and replies, in cases where the matter was disputed between the King's Advocate and the Counsel for the pannel. ² 'The xiv of Februar, twa brether hangit, viz. David Volume and his brother, for oppreffion and fpuilzie.'—Birrel's Diary.

day of March nixtocum is appointit and assignit to Patrik Lord Glamis, and certane his friendis and feruandis for pair comperance before 3ow, to vnderly oure lawis for pe slauchter of vmq^{le} Patrik Johnnestoune; nochtwithstanding, for certane cauffis moving ws, it is oure will, and We command 3ow to continew the said dyet, vnto pe tent day of Maireh nixtocum; and that 3e dispens with the personall comperance of the saidis perfounes, and tak new caution of pame, that thay fall compeir befoir 3ow, the said tent day of March nixtocum. As 3e will anfuer to ws pairvpoun. Quhairanent thir presentis salbe to 3ow ane Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, At Halyrudhous, the faxtene day of Februar, 1602.

(Sic subferibitur) JAMES R. MONTROIS, Can^{rius}, S. G. HOME,¹ The^r.

Quhilk Precept the Justice admittit.

The quhilk day Sir Johne Murray of Tillybairdyn, knycht, comperand be Mr Williame Oliphant, his Aduocat, be his letteris obligatouris, subferyuit with his hand, at Glamis, the last day of Februar, 1602 yeiris, become plege and fouertie for Patrik Lord Glamis, &c. that they fall compeir befoir our fouerane lordis Justice or his deputtis, the tent day of Marche nixttocum, &c.

The quhilk day, Johnne Gordoun of Boigis, Sheref-depute of Abirdene, and Johnne Arbuthnett of Carnedaw, oft tymes callit as cautioneris and fouerteis, coniunctlie and feuerallie, for reporting of our fouerane lordis letteris, dewlie execute and indorfat, and perfewing thairof, purchest be Margaret Arbuthnett, the relict, Johnne, Robert, Gylbert and Alexander Johnnestounis lauchfull bairnis, with the remanent kyn and friendis of vmq^{le} Patrik Johnnestoune of Mostoune, &c.; lauchfull tyme of day biddin, and nocht produceand the saidis letteris dewlie execute and indorfat, and nane compeirand to perfew thame; thairfoir the Justice-deput, be the mouth of James Lowrie, dempstar, decernit the said cautioneris, conjunctlie and feuerallie, to be vnlawit and amerciat, for nocht reporting thairof, and for nocht perfuit thairof aganis the said Patrik Lord Glamis, in the pane of . . . thowsand poundis; and vpoun ilk ane of the remanent fax perfounes, in the pane of ane hundreth merkis.²

[Mr Williame Haert, Justice-Depute.]

Stealing the Poor's Box of Cokpen — Adultery, &c.

May 21.—WILLIAME NORWALL, scolemaister in Cokpen.³

Dilatit, accusit and perfewit, for the thiftious steilling, away-taking and conu-eling of the puir folkis box, furth of the Kirk and Sessioun-hous of Cokpen, vpoun the xj day of Apryle lastbypast; quhairin thair wes aucht poundis money, or thairby, gewin in almous to the pure; quhilk he brak vp at the watter-lyde, beyde Mountounhall.⁴ ITEM, ffor the cryme of Adulterie, committit fourtene or fyftene yeir fyne, or thairby, with Christiane Dowglas; he haifing ane mareit wyffe, callit Margret Morifoune, than on lyffe.

¹ Sir George Home, afterwards Earl of Dunbar, Lord High Treasurer of Scotland.

² 'The-

faurario deliberat.'

³ See June 9, 1602.

⁴ Monktonhall?

The said Williame become in our fouerane lordis will; and the Justice, refaneand him in will, ordanit the said Williame to be Baneift this realme, during all the dayes of his lyffe; and to depairt furth thair of within aucht dayes eftir the dait heirof, and nocht to returne thairin vnder the payne of deid. And the said Williame obleift himfelf to the effect foirfaid; vnder the payne to be hangit, but Affyfe.

Barbarous Murder of a Dumb Young Man.

JUN. 2.—WILLIAME GEIKIE Younger in Kethynnis.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the crewall Murthour and Slauchter of vmq^{le} Patrik Cathrow, in Kethinnis ('ane dumb borne 3oung man'); committit vpoune the xx day of Februar laftbypaft.

PERSEWARIS.

David Cathrow, myller at the mylne of Kethinnis, fader-bother to the defunct; Mr Tho^s Hammiltoune.

PRELOQUUTOUR for the pannel, Mr Williame Oliphant (advocate.)

DITTAY *againft the Pannell.*²

FORSAMEKILL as he, with his complices, being bodin with ane grit ftng or rung,³ laitie, vpoune pe xx day of Februar, the 3eir of God I^m.Vj^c. ane 3eir is, haifng confaut ane deidlie hatrent, rancour and malice aganis pe said vmq^{le} Patrik, quha was ane fimpill, pure, dum 3oung man, fett vpoune him within pe toune of Cowper-in-Angus, quhair he wes in fober and quyet maner for pe tyme, doand his lefall effairis and buffines, traifling na ewill, harme, iniurie or perfuit of ony perfonis, bot to haif leuit vnder Godis peax, and our fouerane lordis; and pair, crewallie invadit him for his flauchter, hurt and woundit him with pe said rung on the face and neife, and brak pe girfell of his neife,⁴ to the effufioun of his blude in grit quantitie; and gaif him diuerfe vperis bauch, blae and bludie fraikis, vpoune his heid, bak, wambe and feholderis; Lyke as, the said Williame Geikie, nocht being fatisfeit with pe crewaltie done to pe said vmq^{le} Patrik Cathrow, in day lycht; he, vpoune pe said xx day of Februar, pe 3eir of God foirfaid, vnder feylenec and cloude of nycht, vmbefet pe hieway and paffage to pe said vmq^{le} Patrik, in the Rafche-myre, lyand betuix Cowper and Kethynnis, as he was in fober and quyet maner paffand on the hie way towardis the toune of Kethynnis, to his said faper-broperis duelling hous pair, dredand na harme or iniurie to haif bene done to him be pe said Williame, in refpect of the bludie woundis gevin to him ofbefoir; and pair, of new, fett vpoune pe said vmq^{le} Patrik, and with ane rung, beft,⁵ fraik and dang him vpoune pe heid, face, bak, fillettis and wambe, and brak his haill intrallis, that it was piteous to haif hard pe lamentabill routis⁶ and eryis of the pure dum man; and left him nocht, quhill⁷ be pe saidis crewall fraikis he flew and murdreift him, and left him deid vpoune pe ground: Committand pairbye crewall, fehamefull and abhominabill Slauchter and Murthour, being ane dumb borne 3oung man, vnhabill to haif defendit him felf; vpoune fett purpois, provifounne and foirthocht fellonye.

The Aduocat proteftis for Wilfull Errour, in cais thay acquit, in refpect of the Dittay and taikinnis.⁸

¹ To be hanged without farther Trial. ² This Dittay, it need hardly be observed, has been preserved here chiefly on account of the extraordinary nature of the case, and the remarkable phrases with which it abounds. ³ A large bludgeon or cudgel. ⁴ The gristle, cartilage, or flexible part of his nose; perhaps implying also the 'bridge.'

⁵ Beat, Old Fr. basté, basted. It may be 'best,' bast, a synonymous word.

⁶ Bellowings, usually applied to the lowing of cattle, especially when impatient to be milked, or to be driven home in the evening. 'The kye stand routin' in the loan.'

⁷ Until.

⁸ Evidence, tokens, proof.

VERDICT. Eftir acenfatioune of the faid Williame, be Dittay, of the crymes aboue writtin, quhilk he alluterlie denyit, the Affyis, be the mouth of Sampfoune Ker, in Auchterhous, Chancellar, ffand the faid Williame Geikie to be Clene, innocent and acquit of airt and pairt of the crewall murthour and flauchter foirfaid, &c. Quhairvpoune the faid Williame Geikie afkit actis and instrumentis.¹

Exercising the Office of Notary without lawful Warrant.

JUN. 9.—WILLIAME NORVELL, fcole-maifter in Cokpen.²

Accufit and perfewit be Dittay, at the instance of Mr Robert Lyntoune, fubftitute to our fouerane lordis aduocat, for the crymes following.

DITTAY againft the Pannel.

FORSAMEKILL as, it is flatute be the Actis of Parliament and lawis of this realme, that na maner of perfoune gif him felf furth for ane Notour, or vfe or exerce the office of Notarie, vnles thay be firft presentit be his Maieftie, be his hienes Letter of Presentatioune directit to the Lordis of the Sefsioune, and thaireftir admittit be the faidis Lordis to the faid office, efter tryell; and thair Prothogoll-buik fychtit and markit be the Clark of Register and his deputtis; and gif ony man prefwme to do in the contrair, to be pwnieft to the death: As the faidis Actis of Parliament at mair lenth beiris. And trew it is, that the faid Williame Norvell hes vfit and exerceit the faid office of Notarie, as ane ordinar Notar, in fyndrie deidis, fik as in Contractis, Obligatiounis, Seafingis, Requititiounis or Redemptionis; and generallie in all thingis, quhen he was requyrit, continewallie fen the moneth of November, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxv yeiris, to the day of his apprehenfionne; albeit it be of veritie, that he was never admittit to the faid office of Notarie; lyke as, he never had his Maiefties Presentatioune direct to the faidis Lordis of Sefsioune, for his admissiounne to the faid office; nather had he ane Prothogoll-buik, markit be the Clark of Register or his deputtis, conforme to the ordinance preferyuit be the faidis Actis of Parliament: Quhairin he hes fallie circumvenit and difflaut our fouerane lordis leigis, as ane falfe difflaear; geveing him felf furth to be ane Notour, he being nane: Quhairbye he hes incurrit the panis contenit in the faidis Actis of Parliament.

VERDICT. The Affyis, be the mouth of Robert Smyth, merchand in Edinburgh, Chancellar, ffand the faid Williame to be ffylyt, culpabill and convict of the faidis crymes.

SENTENCE. To be tane to ane gibbet, standand vpoune the Castel-hill of Edinburgh, and thairvpoune to be hangit quhill he be deid; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Slaughter.

JUN. 15.—JAMES CWININGHAME of Glengarnok.

Dilatit of art and part of the flauchter of vniq^{le} Williame Cwninghame, in Walzaird.

¹ It is likely that the Lord Advocate abandoned his writ of Error against the Assise; at least no mention is made of the matter, in the Record. ² See May 21, 1602. Although the former Assise had acquitted Norvell, yet the public prosecutor had set his seal upon him; and, in his next charge, crnshed this ill-fated thief, adulterer, and 'fals notour.'

PERSEWARIS, Katherine Crawford, the relict; Gabriell Cwninghame, as brother.

PRELOQUUTOURIS for the perfewaris.

The Laird of Cwninghameheid, the Laird of Craigance, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune.

PRELOQUUTOURIS for the pannell.

The Laird of Caprintoune, the Laird of Honftoune, the Laird of Blair, Williame Porterfeld of Ilk at Ilk, Mr Johne Scharp, Mr Williame Oliphant.

The Justice continewis this dyet to the morne, the xvj day of this instant. (Plegio, Roberto Hammiltoune de Irehemauchan.)

Jun. 16.—The perfewar askis instrumentis, that he is reddie to perfew, and will infist conforme to the cautioune fundin contrar the Lard of Glengarnok; and protestis for releif of his cautionar.—The Aduocat declaris, that he will nocht infist in perfuit, becaus he hes na informatioune of the partie nor the Thesaurer.—The pannell takis instrumentis, that Gabriell Cwninghame and the preloquutouris infistis in his perfuit.

THE JUSTICE, being auisit with my Lord Chancellor and the rest of the Assessoris, declaris, that vpoun occasioun moving thame, will nocht putt this mater to the knowledge of ane Assyis this day; bot continewis the famin to the thryd day of the nixt Justice-air of the sherefdom of Perth, or soner, vpoun (xv dayis warning.)

The Laird of Glengarnok, present, takis instrumentis, that the partie perfewar, rafar of the letteris, hes comperit this day judiciallie, and offerit him reddie to perfew; lyke as, the said Laird of Glengarnok, being enterit on pannell, offeris him to (abide) ane tryell, for the cryme lybellit, according to the law.

Johne Blair of that Ilk becomes pledge and fouirtie for James Cwninghame of Glengarnok, that he fall compeir, &c.

Slaughter — Stouthreif.

Jun. 24.—JOHNE MURE of Auchindrane.¹

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Sir Thomas Kennedie of Culzean, kny^t: And of stouthreif² of his purse, worth ellevin scoir rois-nobillis; sax dofoun of goldin buttounis; ane ryng of gold, contenand nyne dyamountis set thairin; his sword, belt and quhingar;³ committit the xij day of May lastbypast.

PERSEWARIS, Dame Elizabet McGill, the relict of vmq^{le} Sir Thomas Kennedie of Cullane, kny^t, James Kennedie as sone, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne, Aduocat to our fouerane lord.

PRELOQUUTOURIS for the pannell, the Laird of Langschaw,⁴ the Laird of Rowallane,⁵ the Laird of Auchinlek,⁶ the Laird of Blair,⁷ Mr Williame Oliphant, Mr Johne Russell.

The Laird of Langschaw takis instrumentis of the entrie of Johne Mure of Auchindrane; and protestis, that he be releuit, as cawtioune.—The perfewaris takis instrumentis of the productione of the letteris ; and protestis for releve of thair cawtionne.

¹ See Jul. and Nov. 1608, Feb. 1609, and Jul. 1611. ² Theft accompanied by violence. ³ A kind of short sword or hanger. ⁴ Sir Niel Montgomery. ⁵ Mure. ⁶ James Boswell, ⁷ John Blair of that Ilk.

Compeirit Johne Maister of Orknay, and produceit the Warrant vnderwrittin ; quhair of the temour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputtis, We greit your hairtie weil. Forfamekill as We, vnderstanding, that the xxiiij day of Junij instant is appoyntit be vertew of our vperis Letteris, direct at pe instance of Dame Elizabeth Mc Gill, relict of vmq^{le} Sir Thomas Kennedie of Culzeane, kny^t, and James Kennedie, thair eldest lawfull sone, with concurrence of our Aduocat for our intres ; for tryell of Johne Mure of Auchindrane, and certane vperis personis his complices, for pe crewall murthour and slauchter of pe said vmq^{le} Sir Thomas Kennedy ; committit be pame in pe moneth of Maj lastbypast. And We, willing to be condinglie tryit, for pe part of pe said Johne Mure of Auchindrane ; and for better tryell pair of, necessar it is, that the boy callit,¹ quha was directit fra Mayboill to pe said Johne Mure of Auchindrane, as also the boy callit,² quha come to Thomas Kennedie in Bargany, a lytill befor pe committing of pe said murthour, war apprehendit and examinat and tryit, quhilk we vnderstand is nocht sit done ; and that the saidis twa boyis ar fugitiues ; quhairbye pe veritie is suppressit. Thairfor it is oure will, and We command your, incontinent efter pe fycht heirof, your continew your Court, and all proceding aganis the said Johne Mure of Auchindrane in pe said mater, quhill the thrid day of pe air ;³ or that he be new summond, be pe partie, to pat effect. As alwa, that your proceed and minister justice aganis all the remanent personis contenit in our saidis Letteris comperand, and that war summond to vnderlye our law for the cryme aboue specifit. And this your fail nocht to do, without ony delay. As your will ansuer to ws vpoune your obedience. Anent the quhilk, pir presentis falbe your Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, at Falkland, the twentie-four day of Junij, 1602.

(Sic subferibitur) JAMES REX.

The said Johne Mure of Auchindrane disassentis to all continewatioun of this mater ; and offerit him reddie to vnderlye the law for the crymes aboue writtin.

Sir Neill Montgomerie of Langschaw become pledge and fouirtie for Johne Mure, that he fall compeir the thrid day of the nixt Justice-air of the Sherefdom of Air, or soner, vpoune xv days wairing.

Thett — Shooting of Pistolets — Barbarously Burning a Woman on a red-hot 'Girdill,' &c.

JUN. 29.—ALEXANDER ROWANE, sone to Nicoll Rowane of Sandiedub.

Dilatit of certane crymes of thift, schuting of pistolettis, and for burning of Katherine Huggoune, in the Burnefyde of Saling, vpoune ane girdill.¹

Comperit James Wynrahane, and produceit the Warrant vnderwrittin ; quhair of the temour followis.

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputis, and Aduocat, We greit your weil. Forfamekill as pe xxix day of jis instant wes appointit and assignit to Alexander Rowane, for his personall comperance befor your, to haif vnderlye our lawis for certane odious crymes, att lenth specifit in pe criminal letteris direct pairnent : Thairfore, and for findrie vper our wechtie occasiounes moving ws, especiallie, becaus oure Thesaurer, quba aucht to perfew in þat mater, will nocht be present, att þat day : It is our will þairfore, and We command 5ow to continew the said dyett, vnto þe fyrst day of Julij nixt ; and in þe meane tyme, that 5e keip þe said Alexander Rowane in fuir ward : As 5e will ansuer to ws pairvonne. Quhairnent thir presentis falbe 5our warrand. Subferyuit with our hand, att Perth, the xxvij day of Junij, 1602. (Sic subferibitur) JAMES R.

¹ William Dalrymple. ² There was only one boy. Dalrymple, however, had been prevailed on to change his name several times. This unfortunate youth was afterwards murdered on the Sands of Girvan, by the elder and younger Mures and James Baunatyne, under circumstances of peculiar atrocity. See Jul. 1611, &c. That Case is perhaps one of the most remarkable, in all its parts, of any one on record. ³ The Justice-air of the Sheriffdom of Ayr.

⁴ A large circular piece of hammered iron, still in common use in Scotland, in place of an oven, for toasting oat-cakes, &c.

Jul. 1.—THE JUSTICE continewis the mater to the thrid day of July.

PERSEWARIS.

James Stewart, portioner of Sandiedub, Katherine Huggoune, at the Burnefyde of Sawling, Cristian Hammiltoune in Lynmylne, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune for his hienes intres, Mr Johne Gib.

PRELOQUOUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Vmphra Blyndfcheillis, Mr Alexander Peblis.

DITTAY against the Pannell.

FORSAMEKILL as, the said Alexander, with his complices, in the moneth of Januar lastbypast, come to the landis of Overtoune of Pitvar, and thair thifteouslie stall, concelit, reffett and away-tuke furth thairof, ane gray horfe pertening to Robert Tempilman thair. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling, conceling and away-taking of ane blak kow, fra James Inglis, in the Pow of Adie ; committit in the moneth of August or thairbye, the yeir of God I^m.Vc.lxxxxvij yeiris. ITEM, for contravening of our souerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in schuiting of ane pistulet, chargeit with twa bullettis, at the said Cristian Hammiltoune, and schuting of hir throw the courchet¹ thairwith ; committit in the moneth of August lastwas. ITEM, forsamekill as, he and his complices, in the moneth of December or thairbye, the yeir of God I^m.Vc.lxxxxvij yeiris, come to Katherine Huggoune duelling-houfe, at the Burnefyde of Sawling, and thair put violent handis in hir persoune, and fet hir bair erfe vponne ane reid hett² girdill, standand vponne ane ingill ;³ held her perforce thairon, quhill⁴ ane grit pairt of the fefche of hir hipis was brunt. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling of certane blak aittis fra the said James Stewart ; committit in the moneth of Februar lastwas. ITEM, for commoune thift and commoune reffett of thift.

Jul. 3 —The pannell takis instrumentis, that thair is na persounes compeiris to perfew, except the persounes aboue writtin ; and farther, that nather Johne Broune in Fairnyherst, James Gibsoune, Agnes Rowane, Johne and Thomas Hornes, compeiris nocht to perfew, nather to informe my Lord Aduocat.—Alledgeit for the pannell, that the burning of Katherine Huggoune is nocht relevant, and aucht nocht to be put to ane Assyis, becaufe scho was nocht brunt to the deid.—The Aduocat ansuerit, that this being ane extraordinar and odious cryme, the attempting of it, and proceeding to the verie executioun, be setting of hir vponne ane burning girdill, as conatus cum effectu, mereittis the deid,⁵ and aucht to pafs to ane Assyis.

THE JUSTICE ordanis this matter to be (put) to the knowledge of ane Assyis.

The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the swering of the Assyis ; and also of the sweiring of that poynt of the Dittay concerning Cristian Hammiltoune, of schutting of hir with ane pistulet throw the hair of the heid : And further, of the fweiring of Katherine Huggonne, concerning the burning of hir vpoune the girdill ; and of the fweiring of James Stewart, of the pairt of the Dittay concerning him, aganis Alexander Rowane.—The Aduocat proteftis for Wilfull Errour aganis the Affyis, in cais thay clenge,¹ in respect of the notorietie of the crymes laid to his charge, and of the fweiring of the Dittay be the perfewaris.

¹ Often spelt courche, or curchey, a sort of cap or mutch, shaped to the head like a close hood, but the back part so formed as to descend on the shoulders, and a little over the ears. Old Fr. couvrechef. ² Red-hot. ³ Fire. ⁴ Until. ⁵ The punishment of death.

VERDICT. The Affyis, be the mouth of David Bruce of Brathieburne, Chancellor, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the faid Alexander Rowane to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the hail crymes and poyntis of Dittay aboue writtin.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk caus, the Justice, be the mouth of Walter Pirie, dempftar, decernit and ordanit the faid Alexander Rowane to be tane to ane gibbet, ffandand vpoune the Caftel-hill of Edinburgh, and thairvpoune to be hangit quhill he be deid ; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Barbarous Murder, &c.

Jul. 3.—PATRIK STEWART, in Innervak.

Dilatit, accufit and perfewit be Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne, aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his lienes interes, of the crymes following, to wit.

DITTAY againft the Pannell.

FORSAMEKILL as he, accompaneit with Stewart, his brother, and Allefter Reoch, his ferwand, laithie, in the moneth of November, the yeir of God Im.Vj^e. yeiris, haifing confaut ane deidlie malice aganis vmq^{le} Angus Dow M^eEwir, his ferwand, for alledgeit abufing of Stewart, his dochter, in fornicatioune, tuke and apprehendit the faid vmq^{le} Angus, band him hand and fit as ane malefactour, brak his rycht leg with ane ax, and thaireftir, with ane fcharpe knyffe or durk, cuttit away his fecreit memberis fra him, and put in het affis and emmeris² in the bag of his fecreit memberis, quhilk reftit vncuttit ; and crewallie demanit, hurt and woundit him thairbye ; and thairefter kuift³ him on horfbak, and convoyit him to the toune of Blair-in-Atholl ; quhair the faid vmq^{le} Angus tuke bed, and continewand bedfast, in grit dolour and difeas thairof, be the fpace of fyve dayes or thairbye ; at laft, he, in the faid moneth of November, deceffit, be the faid crewall handling ; and fwa was crewallie and vnmercifullie flane be thame : The faid Patrik being airt and pairt of the faid crewall flaughter ; the lyke of the quhilk crewaltie and tyrannie was never hard to be committit within this cuntrey, nather in hieland nor lawland.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne, aduocat.

PRELOQUOUTOURIS for Patrik Stewart, Mr Johne Ruffell, Mr Alexander King.

Williame Stewart of Tullich takis instrumentis of the entrie of the faid Patrik ; and proteftis, that he, as his cautioner, be releuit ; quhilk wes grantit.

The pannell denyis the cryme ; quhairvpoune his preloquoutouris takis instrumentis : As also the pannell takis instrumentis, that na partie compeiris to perfew, except our fouerane lordis Aduocat ; or that na perfoun fwoir the Dittay.

¹ Cleanse, acquit.

² Hot ashes and live-embers.

³ Cast, tossed.

ASSISA.

Johne Stewart Neilfoune in Fofs, Alexander Robertfoune of Faf- Duncan Robertfoune of Glen-Williame Stewart in Duntulleich, calze, gennet, Johne Tarlafoune, apperand of Johne Farguefoune, callit Bar- Mr Robert Rois of Craigie, Moingzeis, rounne Farguefoune, Duncan Robertfoune of Piteaftell, Tarloch Robertfoune in Calie- Johne Farguefoune in Cluny, James Robertfoune of Killifehawie, bruer, Dauid Barroune in Faudowie,¹ Andro Boyd, portioner in Litill Robert Robertfoune of Strowan, Alexander Stewart in Bifehoprie, Dunkeld.

The Advocat proteftis for Wilfull Errour, in caife thay acquit, in refpect of his awin Confefiounne; quhair he confest, that he wald haif flayne his brother, for the latting of the faid vmq^{le} Angus gang.

VERDICT. Eftir accufatiounne of the faid Patrik be Dittay, quhilk was veri-feit be his Depofitionis, the Affyis, be the mouth of the faid Chancelar, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the faid Patrik Stewart to be fylit, culpabill and convict of airt and pairt of the flautcher of vmq^{le} Angus Dow M^cEvir.

SENTENCE. To be tane to ane place beyde the mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and thair his heid to be ftrykkin fra his bodie; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

THE famin day, George Leslie Capitan of Blair, Neill Stewart in Fofs, Robert Stewart in Faucaftell, Alexander M^cIntofch in Tirenne, George M^cIntofche, his brother, Alexander Stewart in Bohefpik, John Butter in Eifter Dunfallandie, Andro Burt, eldar in Cult, Johne Stewart M^cRobert in Archgowll, George Nafmyth in Laclache, and James Nafmyth off Inwar, vnlawit, ilk ane of thame in the pane of ane hundreth markis; for nocht compeiring and paffing vpounne the Affyife, &c.

Rapt and Ravinghing — Besieging House of Auchmedden, &c.

Jul. 6.—JAMES CHENE of Pennan.²

Dilatit of the Rapt and Reveifching of Mariorie Cuke, dochter to Williame
 Cuke in Vriuach: And ficlyke, for the aflageing of Gilbert Baird of Auchmedden
 (his) houfe: And for fchuting of piftolettis at Lilius Baird, and caufing of hir pairt with barne; and vtheris crymes.

PERSEWARIS, Mr Thomas Hammiltounne, Williame Cuik of Vrinoch, for Mariory.

PRELOQUUTOIRIS for the pannell.

Mr Thomas Craig,
 The Laird of Donypaice,

My Lord Home,
 Mr Johne Ruffell,

My Lord Sanquhar,
 Mr Alexander King.

DITTAY againft the Pannel.

FORSAMEKILL, as it is exprellie provydit, ftatute and ordanit be our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, maid in the tyme of his hienes prediceffouris, that na maner of man commit Rapt or Reveifch-

¹ This person's name affords an instance of the difficulty and uncertainty of Genealogical enquiries, and the immense research requisite for tracing Family-pedigrees, especially in the North of Scotland. He is here described as 'Dauid Barroune in Faudowie;' when chosen Chancellor of the Assise, he is designed 'Dauid Farguisoun, Barroun of Faudowie;' and he subscribes the verdict of the Assise, 'DAUID M^cDUF OF FAUDOW!' Another person in the same Assise, 'Johne Farguesounne, callit Barroune Farguesounne;' still farther illustrates this remark, regarding the labour and indefatigable industry which must be displayed by the correct Genealogist and Historian. ² See Jul. 9, 20, and 30. The pannel was brother of Patrik Chene of Essilmonth, a person of considerable note and influence.

ing of wemen, vnder the panis contenit in the saidis Actis: And trew it is, that James Chene of Pennan, accompaneit with Alexander Chene, sone to Williame Chene in Oreheartoune, Geddes and Thomas Davidfoune, seruitour to Patrik Chene of Effilmonth, accompaneit with diuerse vtheris thair complices, with conuocatioune of his hienes liegis, to the nowmer of twelf personis or thairbye, all bodin in feir of weir, with secreittis, plait-flevis, gantilettis, fleil-bonnettis, swordis, dagis and pif-tolettis, expresse prohibite to be borne, worne, vsit or schot with, be his hienes Actis of Parliament and Secreit Counsale, vnder diuerse panis contenit in the samyn, laillie, in the moneth of July, the yeir of God Im.V^c.lxxxvij yeiris, come, be way of Hamefuekin, vnder scyence and cloude of nyecht, to the said Williame Cuke duelling-hous in Vrinach, lyand within the Sheref dome of Abirdene, qubair the said Mariorie Cuke was, in sober and quyet maner for the tyme, doand hir lesfull effairis and buffines, traifing na ewill, harme, iniurie or perfuit of ony personis, bot to haif leuit vnder Godis peax and our fouerane lordis; and thair pat violent handis in hir bodie, take hir captiue and presoner, and perforce reveifchit,¹ and convoyit hir away with thame to the said James Chene duelling-hous in Pennan; qubair the said James deforeit and abusit hir bodie, and held and detenit hir in captiuitie within the said James houfe, be the space of xij dayis or thairbye; vsurping thairbye our fouerane lordis autoritie vpoun thame, in taking of the said Mariorie, his hienes frie liege but² commissioun or autoritie: And fwa, be being airt and part of the saidis crymes, hes contravenit the tennour of the saidis Actis of Parliament, in rapt and reveifching of the said Mariorie, being than ane virgyn; and hes incurrit the panis contenit in the saidis Actis, quilkis aucht and suld be execute aganis him with all regour, in exampl of vtheris to commit the lyke in tyme cuming.

The pannell being³ desyrit quha wald insift in this perfuit, The Aduocat declaris that he insiftis, togidder with Williame Cuik, fader to Mariory Cuik: And the said Mariorie, being chargeit to insift, sche is excusit, be Testimoniall of the Minister, that sche is lyand in chyld-bed-lair.

ITEM, ffand that my Lord Aduocat has interes to perfew, albeit that the principall letteris ar nocht rasit at his instance, for the Reveifching of Mariory Cuik; the Walkning⁴ being rasit in my Lord Aduocattis name, nocht contenand Mariory Cuikis name.

The Aduocat takis instrumentis, that he passes fra the wordis, ‘as administratour, tutour, gyder and gouernour,’ and kepis the wordis ‘as fader.’

THE JUSTICE ffindis Williame Cuik, as fader, hes interes to perfew for the iniurie done to his dochter; albeit sche wes of perfyte aige quhen the principall Summondis wes rasit, and is nocht present to perfew.

The said Mr Johne Ruffell preloquoutour desyris, that his alledgeance may be recordit be writt.

It is alledgeit, for the part of James Chene, that he aucht nocht be putt to ane Assyise for the reveifching of Mariory Cuik, becaus he opponis exceptio spontaneæ voluntatis aganis the force and violence; as he, being fyrst mareit with Katherene Ruthirfurd his spous, and insafar as it is offerit to be provin, before the tyme lybellit, that the said James had carnall deill with the said Mariory; and thairefter, in respect of the familiaritie betuix him and hir freindis, sche frelie, of hir awin meare will, cam to the said James, in cumpany with Marioune Cullen and Helene Qubyte, remanit in his hous be the space of xiiij dayis alto-gidder, he being absent all the tyme furth of the said hous, and sche mycht haif returnit to hir faderis hous att hir pleasour, it being distant bot ane myle or twa att the farrest, hir fader and freindis haifing acces to hir ; the said James being absent be the space of xxxij mylis att the leift, purpoffie fend to Abirdene to by hir clathis ; during the quhilk tyme sche nocht only administrat hir effairis, bot tuik of hir kiftis and coifferis sic geir as sche pleasit, quhilk thaireftir wes ressaunt aff hir hand be hir fader and mother : Quhilk being done, sche wes perswadit be hir fader and Rychart Vgiftoune to affirm, that sche wes reveist, and sche fould gett geir fra him for hir aduancement. In respect quhairof, the said alledgeance being verefeit presentlie, the mater can nawyis be putt to ane Assyis ; att the leift, this exceptioun and tryell thairof man be tane coniunctlie with the lybell ; and takis instrumentis, that thay offer presentlie to verifie the said alledgeance, before the mater be putt to ane Assyise.

¹ Carried away by force.² Without.³ Having?⁴ Process of Wakening.

The Aduocat alledgis, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the summondis ; and na probatioun can be ressaunt in the mater, be the Justice.

THE JUSTICE, with auise of his Assessoris, repellis the alledgeance, in respect of the summonds.

The pannell protestis, that nochtwithstanding thair alledgeance be repellit hoc loco, that thay may haif place to verifie the said alledgeance to the Assise.

THE JUSTICE continewis this mater to the nynt of July.

PRELOQUUTOR for the pannell, My Lord Erle of Crawford.¹

Jul. 9.—Allegeis, that the bering of pistolettis or schuting thairwith, can nocht be put to ane Assyise, becaus thair is Commissioun grantit to the Laird of Effilmonth¹ and vtheris thairin contenit, to tak the Laird of Troupe and vtheris, in quhais cumpany the said James wes present, att the executioun of the said Commissioun ; vnder protestatioun, he affermis nocht that he wure pistolettis, att the tyme lybellit ; and produceit the Commissioun.—The Aduocat allegeis, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Commissioun grantand na Commissioun to the said James Chene ; nather wes he defyrit be the Commissioun, att the tyme lybellit, to assist thame.—Allegeis James Chene, that gif he wure ony pistolettis the tyme libellit, he did na wrang ; vnder protestatioun, becaus his Maiestie directit his Commissioun to certane his Commissioneris, speciallie to Patrik Chene of Effilmonth, his brother : Quhilk Commissioun is ane sufficient to him to beir pistolettis ; and gif ony wyis he hes borne or worne the saidis pistolettis, it wes done with his said brother and vtheris his Commissioneris, in executioun of the said Commissioun.—The Aduocat alledgis that the said alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Commiffioun berand na anfuert.—Anfuert the pannell, the Commiffioun gevis ane Warrant to convocat the Kingis liegis.

¹ In addition to those formerly entered.

² Patrik Chene, brother of the pannell.

THE JUSTICE Repellis the alledgeance, except that thay instantlie verifie that he wes with the Commiffiouneris the tyme lybellit; and that thay wer in the executioun of thair officeis.

ASSISA for the Reveiffing.

Alexander Fairlie of Braid,	Robert Flefehour, burges of	William Bandene, alias Ruth-
Johne Traill of Blebo,	Dundee,	vene, 3ounger of that Ilk,
Johne Johnestoune, callit Johne	Patrik Lyoune, merchand, burges	Hector Rae, merchand, burges
of Elphinstoune, burges of Edr,	thair,	of Edinburghe,
Andro Logane of Grantoune,	Gabriell Merfer, burges of Perth,	Thomas Somervell, merchand,
Alexr Wod of Lammieytham,	Mr David Home, brother to the	burges thair,
David Kynneir of that Ilk,	Laird of Wedderburne,	Mr Archibald Wilkie, in the
Johne Fairlie of Comeistoun,		Cannogait.

The Affyis being fworne, and the Dittay red, my lord Aduocat produceit for takyn,¹ Letteris of Horning aganis the said James; quhair the said James gaid² to the horne, for the rapt and reveiffing of the said Mariorie Cuke; and als produceit ane proces of the Presbiterie of Deir, fynding the said James gyltie of the said cryme; and als vfit the said William Cuke ayth, to be gewin, quha wes present to offer his aith.³

Repellis the foure-half-about.

It is allegeit that William Cuik can nocht gif his aith, becaus the deid wes nocht done to him; and his dochter is absent. Secundo, he can nocht gif his aith, becaus that he offeris him to prove, that sen the last Court, the said William offerit to compeir at the bar, and fuert that the reweiffing is nocht of veritie.—The Aduocat takis instrumentis, that he repetis the Interloquoutour pronunceit, that William Cuik had guid interes to persew in this caus, and that he offeris him reddie to sweir the Dittay; in respect quhair of, and of the Letter of Hoirning produceit aganis the pannell for the said cryme, and of the proces and sentence gewin aganis him be the Presbiterie of Deir, for this famin caus; gif the Assyise clange, protestis for Wilfull Errour.

The pannell atkis instrumentis, that gif the King and Kirk wer satisfeit, he wald forgif the said James. The pannell takis instrumentis, that William Cuik declaris that he can nocht, of his conscience, ffile or clange the said James, bot⁴ Mariorie Cuik his dochter tuik vpoun hir conscience, that the said James tuik hir away and reveiffit hir.—The Aduocat thaireftir produceit the said Wil-

¹ Token, or proof.
evidence upon oath.

² Went, suffered himself to be put to the horn.

³ Testimony, or

⁴ Unless, except.

liame Cuikis Depofitiounis, maid before the Counfall, quhairvpoun he askis instrumentis.

The pannell askis instrumentis that the Aduocat vſes na forder probatioun. Item, James Chene produces ane Teftimioniall, ſubſcryuit be Dauid Howiefoun, Miniſter of Abirdowr, teſtifeing, that the witneſſes contenit in the proces produceit aganis James Cheyne, teſtefeit na reveiffing.—The Aduocat takis instrumentis, that Mr Johne Ruſſell produceis and gewis in the Teftimioniall ſubſeryuit be Mr Dauid Howiefoun, Miniſter of Abirdowr. The ſaidis Maif-teris Thomas Craig, Alex^r King, and Thomas Craig (Johne Ruſſell) vſes the ſaid Teftimioniall, as preloquoutouris for James Chene, quhilk wes ſend to thame be Mr Alex^r Cheyne amangis the reſt of his writtis, to be vſit in Defence of the ſaid James Cheyne.—The Aduocat produceit ane vther Teftimioniall, ſubſeryuit and writtin be the ſaid Dauid Howiefoune, teſtifeing the ſubſcriptioun of the vther Teftimioniall to be falſ.

SPECIAL VERDICT. The perſones of Aſſyſe being choſin, ſworne and admittit, and the ſaid James being accuſit be Dittay of the crymes foirſaidis; and our ſouerane lordis Aduocat, for verificatioun thairof, haifing produceit to thame our ſouerane lordis Letteris, purcheit at the inſtance of the ſaid Meriorie Cuke and Williame Cuke, hir father; be the quhilkis the ſaid James was denunceit rebell and putt to the horne, in default of fynding of fouirtie, that he ſuld haif comperit befor the Juſtice or his deputtis, to haif vnderlyne the law for the ſaidis crymes; and als, haifing produceit the Extract of the proces led and deduceit aganis the ſaid James, for the away-taking and violent reveiffing of the ſaid Meriorie Cuk, befor the Preſbiterie of Deir, the fourt day of Auguſt, the yeir of God 1597 yeiris, Mr Duncan Dauidfoun being Moderatour; togidder with the Depofitiounis maid be the ſaid Williame Cuke, at Falkland, the firſt day of July inſtant, in preſence of my Lord Chancellor, Theſaurer, Biſchops of Roſs and Dunkeld. Aganis the quhilkis writtis and verificatioune, the ſaid James Cheyne and his preloquoutouris maid diuerſe alledgeanceis for elyding of the ſamyn, and anſueris maid thairto be the Aduocat; the ſaidis perſonis of Aſſyis removit altogidder furth of Court to the Counfall-hous, quhair thay, efter cheſing of the ſaid Dauid Kynneir of that Ilk chancellor, &c., ſſand, pronunceit and declarit the ſaid James Chene to be Clene, innocent and acquit of the rapt and reveiffing of the ſaid Meriorie Cuik, dochter to Williame Cuik in Vrinach; and of detenuing of hir in captiuitie, be the ſpace of xij dayes; and of the deſorceing of hir, committit in the moneth of July, the yeir of God 1^m.V^c.lxxxvij yeiris:¹ And als ſſand, pronunceit and declarit him to be ſſylit and convict of the lying with hir in the place of Pennan, at the tyme foirſaid, without violence, Quhairvpoun the ſaid James askit actis and instrumentis.

THE JUSTICE continewis the nixt dyet to xx day of this moneth.²

Treason — Forging Mark-pieces.

Jul. 13.—ALEXANDER REID, cuitlar in Edinburgh.

Indytit, accuſit and perſewit, ſſorſamekill as he, being ane prentar in our ſouerane lordis Coinzie-hous thir diuers yeiris bygane, and haifing the credite to his hienes trew coinzie, ffor the quhilk the Maister-coinzeour fatisfeit him honestlie and payit him for his panis; nochtwithstanding thair of, he, vmyndfull of his dewtie, fyrst to God, nixt to his Maiestie, and last to the said Maister-coinzeour, the said Alexander Reid, vpoun the xxviiij day of Junij lastbypast, gatt ane fals half-merk-peace of copper prentit, with the ballance on the ane fyde, fra Cristian Reid, spous to David Lowriestoun, in Corstorphene; and als bocht ane fals batterit peace, blank but prent,¹ fra Williame Smyth, seruitour to William Weylandis, lorymer,² burges of Edinburghe, vpoun the fyrst day of July instant; the quhilkis twa fals pecis, he, vpoun the thryd day of the said moneth of Julij instant, maist tressonablie prentit, fforgeit and past his Maiesteis trew prenting irlis with the prent of the mark peace; and thairby hes committit Tressoun.

¹ 1597. This method of marking the year aroſe from the mode of expreſſion then in uſe, viz. An thousand fyue hundredth, thre ſcoir ſeuintene 3eiris. ² See Jul. 20, 1602.

ASSISA.

Williame Stalker, goldfmyth, burges of Edinburghe,	James Lethingtoun, juster in the Coinzie-hous,	Robert Thomfoun, goldfmyth, burges of Edinburghe,
Alex ^r Bruce, cuitlar, burges thair,	Dauid Lyndfay, fmyth, burges of Edinburghe,	Robert Tailzefer, cuitlar in Leith wynd,
Williame Myller, meltar in the Coinzie-hous, ³	James Mynto, forgear in the Coinzie-hous,	George Seytoun, forgear in the Coinzie-hous,
Thomas Myller, cuitler, burges of Edinburghe,	Walter Mathie, forgear thair,	Moreis Gray, forgear thair,
Johne Quhyte, cuitler,	Patrik Schaw, prentar thair,	Williame Sinclair, forgear thair.

VERDICT. The Assyis, be the mouth of the said Patrick Schaw, chancillar, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said Alexander Reid to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the tressonabill prenting of twa mark pecis, vpoun his Maiesteis trew irlis, as his hienes trew coinzie.

Jul. 20.—SENTENCE. The Justice, be the mouth of Walter Pirie, dempstar, decernit and ordanit the said Alexander Reid to be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburghe, and thair to be hangit quhill he be deid; and all his movabill guidis to be escheit, &c.

Jamesucken — Besieging House of Auchmedden — Adultery.

Jul. 20.—JAMES CHENE in Pennan.⁴

The quhilk day, James Chene being enterit on pannell, dilatit, accusit and perfewit of the crymes efter specifeit, thay ar to fay,

For contravening of our souerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in beiring and weiring of hagbuttis and pistolettis vpoune his persoune, and in his company, oppinlie, outwith houffis, in the monethis of September, October, November, December, Januar, Februar and Marche, the yeir of God 1597, vpoune the landis of Pennan, Auchmedden, and diuerse vtheris boundis, within the sheresdome of Abirdene. ITEM, fforfamekill as he, accompaneit with diuerse vtheris, his complices, forneris and brokkin men, all bodin in feir of weir, with hagbuttis and pistolettis and vtheris wappynnis, inuafue, incontrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament, laitlie, in the moneth of Marche, the yeir of God

¹ Without any impression.

² Old Fr. spur-maker, lormier. Lorimers, besides selling small iron wares, generally dealt in saddlery.

³ The Royal Mint.

⁴ See Jul. 9, 1602.

1597, haifing confaut ane deidlie feid, rancour and malice aganis Gilbert Baird of Auchmedden and Lilius Baird his spous, come, be way of Hamefuckin, vnder feylenge and cloude of nycht, to the said Gilbertis duelling-place of Auchmedden, quhair the said Lilius Baird was for the tyme, in sober and quyet maner, accompaneit with hir bairnis and ferwandis, hir husband being absent, and thair clam¹ the cloife dykes of the said place, pullit out the stanchellis² of the kitchen wyndois, brak vp sum duris, and affageit the said Lilius and hir ferwandis within the said place, be the space of thre houris or thair-bye; clam vp to the tops of thair houffis, kaift in stanes at the chymnay heid, schot in hagbutis and pistolettis at the duris and wyndois of the said place; schot the said Lilius throw the claytbis, scho being grit with barne;³ ffor feir of the quhilk schot, scho schortlie thairefter pairtit with the said barne,⁴ quhilk was crewallie slane be the said James; and swa, ye committit Hamefuckin, Affageing of houffis vnder feylenge and cloude of nycht, and hes contravenit the tennour of the saidis Actis of Parliament, in beiring, weiring and schuting with hagbuttis and pistolettis. ITEM, for contravening of our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament in abusing of his bodie in notour Adulterie, with Mariorie Cuke, dochter to Williame Cuke in Vrinot, within his awin duelling-place of Pennan, in the monethis of July and August, the yeir of God 1597, he being mareit with (Katherine) Rutherfurd, his spous, and being vndeureit.

The said James declarit, for obedience of his Maiestie, that nochtwithstanding that he was maist innocent of the saidis crymes, and that he may vse his lawfull defence aganis the samyn, he vald become in our fouerane lordis will; provyding alwayes his lyffe may be saiff: Quhairvpoune the said Mr Thomas Hammiltoun, and als the said James Chene, askit actis and instrumentis.

Jul. 30.—The Justice produceit HIS MAIESTEIS WILL, quhair of the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice clark and your deputis, We greit you hairtie weil: fforfamekill as James Chene of Pennan, being accusit before you for findrie crymes, he voluntarie become in our will, for the cryme of Adulterie and fyndrie Oppressiounis committit be him. Heirfoire it is oure will, that you fall gif furth dome aganis the said James, that he fall be Baneisbit this cuntry, and fall nawyis returne within the same, without onre Licence, vnder the pane of death, to be incurrit be him, and of the sowne of thre thousand markis to be incurrit be his cautioner, quhome you fall ordane him to fynd for his remaning furth of the cuntrey; and that befoir he be put to libertie. Quhairanent thir presentis falbe to you ane sufficient Warrant. Subscryuit with our hand, At Falkland, the xxvij day of Julij, 1602.

(Sic subseribitur) JAMES REX.

The quhilk Will the said Justice-depute pronunceit, &c.; and the said James askit actis and instrumentis.

Slaughter — Shooting of Hagbuts and Pistolets.

Jul. 21.—DAVID GRAHAM of Craig, and Alexander Kennedie of Bal-iarrak.

Dilatit of art and part of the Slaughter of vniq^{le} Richard Spens, seruitour to Johne Erle of Cassillis; and for beiring and weiring and schuting of hagbuttis and pistolettis; committit in December.

¹ Climbed.

² Iron stanchcons.

³ Pregnant.

⁴ Miscarried.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne, aduocat.

PRELOQUUTOIRIS for the pannell, Mr Thomas Craig, Mr Alexander King.

Comperit Rychard Spens as fader, . . . Spens and . . . Spens, as brether to vmq^{le} Rychard Spens, and declarit thay wald nocht infist in perfuit of Dauid Grahame of Craig, att this present, and att na tyme heireftir ; and als defert. The said Dauid Grahame declaris, he offeris him reddie to vnderly the law, for the crymes contenit in the letteris.—The said Rychard Spens and his sonis defyrit that the perfuit of Alexander Kennedie sould delay, quhill thay may haif tyme to fummmond ane Affyis.—The said Alexander Kennedie takis instrumentis that he offeris him to vnderly the law, for the crymis lybellit ; difassenting to all continewatioun now, as ofbefore.—‘ DESERT’ as to Grahame : And as to Kennedie, continued to the Justice-air of ‘ Air, tertio Itineris.’

Adultery.

Aug. 19.—ELSPET HEISLOP, lait fervand to Archibald Bauld, indueller in Edinburghe.

Dilatit and accufit for contravening of our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in abusing of her body in the filthie and abhominable cryme of Adulterie with Dauid Gray,¹ fischmunger in Edinburghe ; committit in the monethis of March, Apryle, Maij, Junij, Julij, August, September, October, November, December, Januar and Februar, in the yeiris of God 1594-5-6-7-8-9, 1600 and 1601 yeiris, att the leift, in ane or vther of the saidis monethis and yeiris respectiue foirsaid ; and that within the burcht of Edinburghe, att the West-port thairof and vtheris pairtis, about the said burch : In the quhilk cryme sche hes procreatt and borne to the said Dauid foure findrie bairnis, quhair of twa deceiffit this lyffe, vnbapteift ; and ane is yit on lyfe, vnbapteift.

Quhilk cryme the said Elspett confest, and become in our fouerane lordis will for the famin.

(Nov. 27.)—SENTENCE. The Justice ordanit the said Dauid Gray and Elspeth Hislope to be kairtit throw the Toune, and ane paper vpone thair heid, contening thair cryme : And to be banisheit the said burgh ; and nocht to return thairin, during all the dayis of thair lyftyme, vnder the pane of deid.

Slaughter.

Nov. 10.—JOHNE CONGILTOUNE, gairdner, in the Plesance (of Ed^r.)

Dilatit of art and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} George Spottifwod, brother-german to vmq^{le} Ninian Spottifwod of that Ilk ; committit in Junij 1588 yeiris.

¹ See Jan. 12, 1602.

PERSEWAR, Agnes Spottifwood, onlie dochter to the said vmq^{le} George.
PRELOQUUTOUR for the pannell, Andro Blak.

The said Johne Congiltoune allegeis that this mater can nocht pass to ane Assyis, in respect he hes our fouerane lordis Remiffiounne, grantit for the slauchter of the said vmq^{le} George, vnder our fouerane lordis Previe Seill, of the dait, at Edinburghe, the thrid day of Marche, the yeir of God 1588. And als, produceit ane Letter of Slaynis, grantit be Williame Spottifwod of that Ilk, Mr Johne Spottifwod his father-brother, Williame Spottifwod, Alexander Spottifwod and . . . Spottifwod, brether to the said vmq^{le} George, and Cristian Thomefounne, the relict of the said vmq^{le} George, to the said John Congiltoune, daitit at Edinburghe; the xxij day of Februar 1588.

Dauid Corfbie, merchand burges of Edinburghe, James Dauidfounne, flefcheour burges thair, become cautioneris and fouerteis, coniunctlie and feuerallie, to satisfie the partie persewar, as law will; Lykeas, that he fall pass the said Remiffiounne the Grit Seill, vnder the pane of ffourtie pundis.

Slaughter — Shooting of a Pistolet.

Nov. 19.—WILLIAME WAUCHOPE, sone lauchfull to vmq^{le} Johne Wauchope, baillie of Nudrie.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Symfoun, messinger in Edinburghe; committit in the moneth of October or thairby, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxxix yeiris. ITEM, for contravening of our fouerane lordis actis of Parliament, in schuiting of ane pistolet at James Wadie, sone to vmq^{le} Wadie, wrycht.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Archibald Geddes elder, burges of Ed^r, chancellor, sfind, pronunceit and declarit the said Williame Wauchop to be Giltie and ffylit of the saidis crymes respectiue aboue writtin.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburghe, and thair his heid to be strukkin fra his body; and all his moveabill guidis to be escheat, &c.

Child-murder.

Nov. 27.—AGNES COWANE in Corstorphin.

Dilatit for the crewall Murthour and Slauchter of ane young infant barne, procreat be her to George Kyle, seruitour to the Laird of Corstorphin.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Patrik Home of Polwart, chancellor, sfind, pronunceit and declarit the said Agnes to be culpabill and convict of the saidis crymes.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castelhill of Edinburghe, thair to be hangit vpon ane gibbet quhill scho be deid, and all her moveable guidis escheit, &c.

Adulterating and Uttering Base Coins, &c.

Dec. 15.—ALLANE NAPER, culteller in Glesgow.

Dilatit ffor the tressonable gilting of twenty fevin fals aucht-merk and foure-merk peces, of the number of threfoir fals aucht-merk and four-merk peces; quhilkis war fend to him to his duelling-hous in Glesgow, be Campbell of Glenlyell, about tua yeir syue or thairby; togidder with tua licht angell-nobillis, and that with Donald M'nair, serveand to the said Campbell of Glenlyell.

VERDICT. The Assise, be the mouth of James Hoppringill of Quhytebank, chanceler, fstand, pronunceit and declairit the said Allane Naper to be ffylit, culpable and convict of the crymes aboue writtin: and that, in respect of his awin Confessioun maid in jugement, and of his cumming in the Kingis Maiesteis will thairfoir.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburghe, and thair to be wirreit at ane staik, and his body brint in affis; and all his moveabill guidis to be escheit, &c.

Slaughter.

Jan. 4, 1603.—WILLIAME WAUCHOPE, brother to vmq^{le} Archibald Wauchope of Nydrie.¹

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} David Edmestoun of the Wowmett, committit in the moneth of PERSEWERIS, Aliesone Home, relict of the said vmq^{le} David, Ewfame Edmestonne, sifter.

PRELOQUUTOURIS, David Home of Rowiestonne, George Home brether to the said Aliesonne.

PRELOCUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Laurence McGill, Mr George Wauchope.

The pannell takis instrumentis, that nane compeir to infist in his persute, bot the partie. It is allegit be Williame Wauchope that this matter can nocht pas to the knowledge of ane Assyse, nor that the partie hes na entreis to persew, bot ressaunt ane Assythment.²—Anfuerit that thair is na thing produceit to verifie.

THE JUSTICE repellis, in respect nathing is producet to verifie.

It is forder allegit that this matter can nocht pas to ane Assyse, in respect his Maiestie hes remittit the samyn, be his speciall Letter of grace, quhilk is produceit, blank in the dait, and subseryuit be his Maiesteis allauerlie.—It is anfuerit be the persewer, that this Letter is only ane Letter, blank, sinisterullie purchest, contrair the Act of Parliament, vndaittit, vncomposit be the Thesaurer, and subseryuit only be his Maiestie; quhilk is nocht sufficient of the law.—It is declairit be the defender, that he cumis in his Maieftis Will, baith concerning the fact and the imperfectiones of the Letter.

¹ See Feb. 2, 1603.

² A fine or compensation made to the relations of the party slain, as a solatium for the Slaughter.

The parteis produceit ane Letter, fubfcriyuit be his Maieftie, commanding the Justice to proceid and minifter Justice, and put him to the knowledg of ane Affyfe, for Slauchter and beiring of piftolettis.

THE JUSTICE continewis this mater to Thurisday nixt; and wairnit the Affyfe, apud acta, to the faid day.—(Jan. 6.)—‘DESERT.’

Importing and Uttering Base Coin.

Jan. 13.—ALEXANDER THOMESOUN, mariner in Borrestounes.

Dilatit, accusit and persewit for the tressonable hame-bringing of fourfcoir fax false merk-peices furth of the realme of Ingland to Scotland; and for the tressonabill out-putting of sex of them to . . . Gray, Baillie in Eyemouth; committit in the moneth of Januare instant.

VERDICT. The Assyis, be the mouth of David Home of Rowistoun, chancellor, ffand, pronuncet and declaret the saidis Alexander Thomesone to be ffylet, culpable and convict.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburghe, and thair to be hangit vpon ane gibbet, quhill he be deid; and his guidis, geir, landis, heritageis and possessiones, gif he ony hes, to be fforfalt and efcheit, &c. As also, ordanit the saidis fourfcoir fax false merk-peices, quhilkis war produceit in jugement, to be meltit and distroyit at the said croce.

Murder — Theft.

Jan. 20.—JOHNNE RAMSAY, sumtyme in Meluill mylne.

Dilatit of the crewall Murthour and Slauchter of vinq^{le} James Roife, sumtyme thesaurer and burges of Edinburghe; committit vnder filence and clud of nycht, vpon the aughtene day of September, I^m.Vj^c. and ane yeiris; and thifteous Steilling and away-taking fra the said James, of his horse, cloik and pursé, at the tyme foirfaid.

VERDICT. The Assyis, be the mouth of David Fairlie merchand, chancellor, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said Johnne Ramsay to be ffylet, culpable and convict of the saidis crymes.

SENTENCE. To be tane to ane gibbet, besyde the corse of Edinburghe, and thair to be hangit quhill he be deid: And thaireftir, his heid to be strukkin fra his body, and put on the Nether-boll of Edinburghe; and the remanent his memberis to be vsfet at his Maieftis directioun, and his haill moveabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Hamesucken—Rapt, Ravishing and Forcing.

June 21.—HENRIE SINCLER of Quhytkirk.

Dilaittit, accuset and perfewit at the instance of Mr Tho. Hammiltoune of Monkland, aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hienes entreis, of the crymes following, viz.

FORSAMEKILL as the said Henrie, being accompaneit with James Hepburne, serveand for the tyme to the Laird of Roisling, Andro Anderfone, and vtheris thair complices, with convocatioune of our fouerane lordis leigis, to the number of aucht perfones or thairby, all bodin in feir of weir, with fwoirdis, fecreitis, steil-bonettis, &c. laitlie, in the moneth of December, 1^m.Vj^c. yeiris, come be way of Hamefukkin, vnder silence and clud of nicht, to vmq^{le} George Carkettillis duelling hous of the Monkirig, quhair Margaret Carkettill, now spous to Archibald Hammiltoune of Bairfute, was, in sober and quyet maner for the tyme, takand the nichtis rest; and thair brak the said hous, enterit within the samyn, and put violent handis in the said Margaret, had and raveifchet hir away with thame perforce; and convoyit hir away to the place of Merkill; quhair the said James forcet and abufet her body: And thaireftir, transpoirtit hir to the place of Qubitekirk, quhair scho was detenit all the nicht captiue and priffoner, and keipit and detenit hir in captiuitie with the said Henrie and remanent perfones foirfaidis, be the space of aucht dayis thaireftir, or thairby; scho being our fouerane lordis frie leige; vsurpand thairby his hienes auctoritie vpon thame: And sua, the said Henrie was airt and pairt, red and counfall of the taking of the said Margaret, and of the Rapt and Raveifching of hir, and keeping of hir in captiuitie; scho being his hienes frie leige; and of the forceing and abusing of hir body, to the greit contempt of our fouerane lord, his hienes auctoritie and lawis: At the leift, of Resfetting of hir, in maner foirfaid.

Comperit, Johne Home, Constable of the Castle of Edinburgh, and takis instrumentis of the entrie of the pannell.

ASSISA.

Sir Johne Ker of Spylaw,	Henrie Lauder, in Dunbar,	Adam Hepburne of Bonhard,
Stevin Brantfield of Gryndlawdene,	Adam Scott, brother to the Laird of Dryop,	James Henderfone of Drydane,
		And nine others,

(Feuars and burgesses, excepting ' Mr Thomas Levingstoune, sone to the Laird of Hayning.')

The said Henrie denyit the Dittay, and ewerie poynt thairof.

The Aduocat alledgeit that the said Henrie could nocht deny the Resfett.

VERDICT. The Assyis, be the mouth of the said Adam Hepburne, chancellor, in respect na pairtie comperit to sweir the Dittay, nor that nathing wes product be our fouerane lordis Aduocat for verifeing thairof, stand, pronuncet and declairit the said Henrie to be Clene, innocent and acquyte of the baill poyntis of Dittay aboue specifcit. Quhairvpon the said Henrie Sincler askit instrumentis.

High Treason—Doom pronounced upon the Dead Body of a suspected Traitor, produced at the Bar of the Court.

Jan. 31.—FRANCES MOUBRAY, deceased, (son to the Laird of Barnbowgall.)

[THE Case of FRANCIS MOWBRAY may, perhaps, be considered as one of the most extraordinary of its kind, in the whole range of the Criminal Records of this or of any other country. There is something monstrous in the idea of wreaking vengeance on the lifeless remains, even of the most atrocious criminals; but in the present instance, the victim had only been imprisoned in the Castle of Edinburgh, on vehement suspicion of Treason; and, in his endeavour to effect an escape, he was precipitated over the rocks, and killed. The production of the mangled body of the suspected criminal, at the bar of the Supreme Criminal Tribunal of the country, and the subsequent sentence of Forfeiture, however repugnant to modern ideas and to every proper feeling, were by no means, in themselves, solitary examples of such procedure, in cases of High Treason. To avoid repetition, reference is made to a Notice prefixed to the Forfeiture of Logan of Restalrig, (see Vol. II. p. 276,) for several illustrations of a similar nature. In addition to these instances, it may be noticed, that Robertson, in his History of Scotland, observes, that after the battle of Corriehie, the dead body of the Earl of Huntly was presented in Parliament, before sentence of Forfeiture was pronounced against him; and other cases might easily be mentioned.

In order to arrive at the facts of this case of Francis Mowbray, which are of themselves of considerable historical importance, the Editor found it necessary to institute an examination of various contemporary Histories and MSS. preserved in the Advocates' Library.

The most accurate account of Mowbray's Treason, however, is detailed by Archbishop Spotswood, (p. 471,) in the following brief passage. 'About the same time, the King had intelligence given him, that one FRANCIS MOWBRAY, son to the Laird of Barnebowgall, who had lived a while in the Infant's Court at Bruxells, had undertaken to kill him. This brake out first at London, by an Italian, a fencer, whose name was Daniel; which coming to the Queen's ears, she commanded Sir Robert Cecil, her secretary, to call the persons (for they were both in the city) and examine them. The Italian abode by his speeches. Mowbray denied, and offered to prove him a liar, in combat; which the other accepted. Both being sent into Scotland, they were tried (examined) first severally, then confronted before certain of the Council. The Italian produced witnesses, who verified all that he had deposed: Whereupon Mowbray was committed to the Castle of Edinburgh; where, seeking to escape by night, at a window of the chamber where he was detained, the sheets proving too short, by which he thought to descend, he fell from a great precipice; and was found, the next morning, dead, at the foot of the rock. The corps was the same day, being the last of January, presented to the Justice, and Sentence of Forfeiture pronounced against him; his body hanged for a space upon the gibbet, and afterwards quartered, and affixed to the gates and most open places of the town. His friends (for he was well born, and a proper young gentleman) gave out, that he had been strangled, and his corps thrown down at the window. But this carried no appearance, and was believed of few.'¹

From the various Collections of State Papers of this period, we find, that King James was kept in constant alarm, from the incessant machinations of British as well as Foreign Papists and Jesuits; and, owing to many previous communications from the English Court, advertising the King of the certainty of such attempts being on the eve of execution, his Majesty had probably considered it necessary to make very severe examples of the first plotters who should be detected.

These Popish plots were in constant agitation, until the remarkable discovery of the Gun-Powder Treason, Nov. 5, 1605. Culderwood records one instance, in his MS. Church History, not mentioned by other historians, where the King certainly acted with unwonted lenity, no doubt in consequence of Instructions from Queen Elizabeth. It is thus briefly told. 'About the end of April (1602,) an English gentleman addressed himself to Court; and got presence of the King, upon the last of Aprile; and conferred with him a little space, in Dumfermline. Therafter, he went to his lodging. He flew ¹ Robert Birrell gives the following account of this monstrous proceeding. 'The 3d of Januar, Francis Mowbray brake ward out of the Castell; and he fell owir the wall and brake his craige. Thairefter he was trallit to the gallows and hangit; and thairefter was quarterit, and his heid and four quarteris put one the four Portis.'--Diary, p. 57.

James Chambers, one of the Kingis servants, and hurt the barber that was peling his head, before they were aware. He was apprehended and putt in the Tolbooth of Dumfermline. He cryed like a mad man, "The hour! The hour! The King!" &c. Being examined, he confessed that he and ane Italian fould have slaine the King. As is reported, he was transported to the Castle of Edinburgh, and kept in the irones; but within a quarter of a year was sett at liberty. It was reported that the King thought not much of the matter, but tooke the man to be some what distracted in his witts.'

Without further remarks, the remaining Papers which have been collected are appended, and left for the reader's deliberate consideration.]

THE JUSTICE ordanit his Maiesteis Precept to be insert and regiftrat in the buikis of Adiorvall.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice clerk and your deputis, We greit you weill. Forfamekill as v^mq^{le} Frances Mowbray, being accuset of maist heich, horrible and detestable poyntis of Treffone and Lesinaestie, aganis us, our persone and Estait, and for ye samyn, committit to waird within our Castell of Edinburgh; and the samyn being sufficientlie verifeit be ye Depositiones of twa or thre witnessis, and ye tryell pairof sa cleir, yat pair remanit na obscuritie of ye same. The said v^mq^{le} Francis, obduret in mynd, and to all appearance seducet be Sathan, quha was the first motioner of theis his devillische interpryses, hes, vpon intention to escaip furth of our waird, procurit his awin miserable and schamefull death; and hes maid his giltines (be his breck of waird) mair nottour and manifest. It is our will heirfoir, that ye cause give dome and sentence aganis him, to be demaynit, quarterit and hangit; and his heid and quarteris to be put vponne ye maist publict pairtis and places of our burghes of Edinburgh; as ane quha is gillie of ye saidis crymes. And yat ye direct ye officiaris (to quhome ye executioun of theis turnes belang) to do ye same, with all ye formes accustomed in sic caissis: Quhairnent pir presentis fall be your Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, att Halyrudhous, ye last day of Januare, 1603.

(Sic subferibitur)

JAMES R.

MONTOIS, CAN^{RIUS}. MAR. HEREIS. HALYRUDHOUS.

S^R G. HOME, THE^R. JO. PRESTOUN. M. T. HAMMILTOUNE.

SENTENCE. According to the quhilk Precept, and for obedience thairof, the Justice, be the mouth of Walter Peirie, dempstar, decernit and ordanit the said v^mq^{le} Frances Mowbray, now presentit on pannell, to be demanit as ane tratour, as eftir followis: That is to say, To be hangit be the craig vponne ane gibbet, beyde the mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and his body to be quarterit; and his heid, ane leg and ane airme to be put vp above the Nether-boll, ane elne above the rest; and ane vther leg to be hung on the West-poirt of Edinburgh, and ane vther airme to be hungin vpon the Potter-raw-poirt: And all his landis, heritageis, takis, steidingis, rowmes, possessiones, coirnes, cattell, guides and geir to be ffoirfalt and inbrocht to our souerane lordis vse, as gillie of the saidis trefsonabill crymes. Quhilk wes pronuncet for dome.

PAPERS illustrative of MOWBRAY'S TREASON.

1. EXTRACTS from Calderwood's MS. Church History.

(Oct. 1602.)—IN October, the King was advertised, out of England, of a Conspiracie. Ane Italian, who had been in this countrie eight years, alledged upon FRANCIS MOWBRAY, sone to the Laird of Barnbougall, that he solicited him to take part with him in cutting of the King, by poyfone or some other means. They were both presented before the Counsell of England. At the Kingis desyre, they were sent to Scotland. The Italian affirmed constantly,¹ before the King, and offered to fight the Single-combate with Francis. Francis, being examined, be certaine of the Kingis Counsell, denyed; and offered to fight with the Italian.

(Jan. 5, 1603.)—IT was ordained that FRANCIS MOWBRAY and the Italian, who accused him of Treafone, would fight, hand to hand, in the great clofe of the Abbey of Halyrudhouse. The 5 of Januar was appointed for the combat. The baraffe being made and preparation, advertifement was sent two or three dayes before, out of England, to stay the Combate; because there was certaine Scotifh-men, who would verifie the Treafone. Soe, upon hope of further tryell, it was delayed.

(Jan. 29, 1603.)—IN the meantyme, upon the 29 of Januar, the King and Counsell were occupyed, for the most part, all that day, in the examination of FRANCIS MOWBRAY and the Italian, and confronting Francis with other two Scotifh men sent out of England, bot of light accompt, because they had spent their moyen, and wes forced to leave the country,—to witt, Mr Walter Mowbray and John Anderfone. The day following, that is to say, the Lord's day, the penult of Januar, Francis Mowbray assayed to come down the wall of the Castle upon peeces of the blanketts of his bed, sewed together on the night before. The blankets were too short; so he fell, and falling, feld himself upon the craig, about eight houres at night. He was apprehended immediately, but was speechlesse, and dyed about three houres in the morning.

Upon Monnday the last of Januar, his body was drawn backward to the Tolbooth, where the doome was pronounced, that he shold be drawn backward to the gibbett, and there hang for a certaine space; and then be quartered; and the members of his body to be sett up in publick parts of the town. It is marked, that when he was examined, he said, before the King, 'If ever I thought evill, or intended evill against my Prince, God, that marketh the secreits of all hearts, make me to fall at my enemies feett; make me a spectacle to all Edinburgh; and cast my soul in Hell forever!' And, being required, subscribed these words. He fell at his enemies feet indeed! For the Italian was above him in a Chamber. He was made a spectacle to Edinburgh. As for the third, we remitt to God, who saveth and condemneth whom he pleaseth. It is reported, that he fought his supper sooner than at other tymes, as though he had some Letters to write: After supper, he rave the blanketts in four pieces, and sewed them together; and that he was minded to doe the like with the sheets. The keeper, coming to the door, and finding it clofe, cryed. He thrust himself, for haste, out at the window, and cometh down upon the blanketts. The blanketts being short, he falleth. Some horsemen were awaiting on, to carie him away; but finding him unable, they spoyled him and departed; and his body was brought up to the Castle. The Italian was fet at liberty, and was to be rewarded.

2. EXTRACT from an Anonymous MS. History of Scotland.²

(Jan. 30, 1603.)—FRANCIS MOWBRAY, being warditt for allegit Treffoune aganis (his) Majesty, brak waird; and being aschaipitt³ be the wathe of the Castell, thay schaikis him out of the claitthis quhilke he wes gangand doune into; quhairby he fallis, and flays him self be the fame.

3. EXTRACTS from Cecil's Secret Correspondence with King James.

(i.) MOWBRAY, to Daniel and others, did confes a purpose, in his own heart, to be made an instrument against the person of the King, whensoever he were fet in hand; and to affect all persons opposite to the present carriage of your affairs, as he would demonstrate upon the first opportunity. If other embryones, which are yet informes, but yet dangerous, come any nearer to the likelihood of any formal shape, his Majesty shall be advertised; though, in the mean, we repute it a great indiscretion to reveal our uttermost, before the desire of utterance, out of a sound affection, becomes so strong as the son of Cræfus would, by straining, break the strings of his tied tongue, to deliver what his love and duty binds him to.¹

¹ With constancy, without prevarication.

² Advocates' Library, A. 4. 35.

³ Escaped. Perhaps for espied.

(ii.) CECIL and I are very glad that the Laird of Weemes² had no better warrant for his traffick with this busy body.³ The man is not honest, nor was drawn to this discovery of Mowbray's Treason by love to the King, but merely upon spleen and malice to the party, upon the fractions of old amity. In this point we will say no more, but only wish, for the good of the King's service, that he neither have encouragement to come, nor entertainment, though he should chance to come; which I do not think will happen, because Cecil's angels⁴ have him in charge, for the working out of more stuff, if it be possible; and his pension seasons him in the giddiness of his natural and habitual uncertainties.

From Francis Mowbray, Cecil did never hear word, since the last which was advertised; which makes him wonder, both at the pause, and at the motive that may cause it, after so large promises. Cecil will observe the King's direction, as well in mining, by invention and subornation, into his ends, as by continuing the pension, though he have very ill deserved it. He doth concur with the judgement of King James, touching the peril that may grow by driving him into despair, for want of provender, before the close decks be discovered. You may, in like sort, assure King James, that Cecil will take no extraordinary course with him, about King James's particular, till he take him with more meat in his mouth, and the matter be so pregnant as negatives would be found both ridiculous and impudent.⁵

Bearing, Weaving, and Shooting Hagbuts and Pistolets, &c.

Feb. 1.—SIR HARIE LYNSDAY of Carrestoun.

Perfewit be Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcaine, aduocat, of the DITTAY following, product be the said prisoner.

SIR HARIE LYNSDAY of Carrestoun, Ye ar indytit and accuset, forfamekill as it is statute and ordanit be dyuerse our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, that na maner of persone or persones tak vpon hand to beir or weir hagbuttis or pistolettis, or ony vther ingyne of fyre-wark vpon thair persones, and in thair companeis, oppinlie, outwith housis, or schute thairwith at ony persone or persones, vnder the pane of cutting af of thair rycht hand, and vtheris panis thairin contentit: Nochtwithstanding quhairof, it is of veritie, that ye, being forgetfull of your deintifull obedience and reverence, quhill ye fould haif gevin to the saidis Actis and lawis, and of the guid exampill quhill ye fould haif gevin to vtheris his Maiesteis leigis, in respect of your place, office and seruice in his Maiesteis houthald; ye, laillie, vpon the . . . day of Januare lastbypast, with convocatioun of our fouerane lordis leigis, to the number of ten or tuelf persones, all bodin in feir of weir, with secreitis, steil-bonetis, hagbutis and pistoletis, past fra the Palice of Halyrudhous towardis Perth, quhair ye was informet Patrik Eviot, brother to Colene Eviot of Balhouslie,⁶ was in the South-Inche thairof for the tyme; and thair set vpon him, and crewallie invaidit him for his slaughter, and chaiffit him to ane cok-boit, quhill he wes compellit to tak, and enter in the watter of Tay, for saiftie of his lyfe: And he being thairin, ye and your company schot and dilaschet the number of ten or tuelf schott of hagbuttis and pistolettis at him, of purpois to haif flane him ; quhilk ye had nocht failz it to haif done, war nocht he lay darnet¹ on his face, in the boddome of the said boit. Be beiring, weiring and schuitting of the quhilkis hagbuttis and pistolettis, ye haif contravenit the tennour of the saidis Actis of Parliament, and incurrit the panis contenit thairin ; quibilk fould be execute aganis yow with all rigour, in exampill of vtheris, &c.

¹ Lord Henry Howard to Mr Edward Bruce; without date, but about Aug. 1802. See Vol. II. p. 319, Note.
² See Vol. II. p. 276, Note. ³ The Master of Gray. ⁴ Golden angels, bribery. ⁵ Lord Henry Howard to Mr Edward Bruce—probably written soon after that of the 27th August, 1602.—Hales. ⁶ Although Eviot escaped this barbarous attack, he was murdered, five years afterwards, by his wife and her paramour. Fleming gives the following graphic account of this transaction, in his curious MS. Chronicle, preserved in the Library of the Faculty of Advocates. (8th Apr. 1608.) 'PATRIK EVIOT, brother-german to the Laird of Balhousie, wes murtherit in Blelok, be his wyfe Jonet Ross, quha wes air to the Lairdschip of Craigie and Kynfawnes both (also.) He wes schote with ane gun in his bed, sleijping, be James M^cNair. Thairefter, they wer both taikin and execute; and brunt, efter they wer hangit, in the Playfeild of Perth, the 17 May 1608. His heid and arme putt wp on the Castell gawill port.'

The said Sir Harie Lyndfay declairit, for obedience of the Kingis Maiestie, and for the offence done to his hienes, mynding nawyis to vse ony defensis be law, albeit he mycht vse thame ; he will becum in his Maiesteis Will for the Dittay producet be the Aduocat : Protesting, that his becuming in will preiudge him nocht, anent ony defens that he will vse aganis ony pairtie that fall happin to persew him, heirefter, for the saidis crymes : Quhairvpoun he askit instrumentis ; and lykwayis our fouerane lordis aduocat askit instrumentis of his becuming in his Maiesteis will.

The samyn day, Patrik Eviot protestit, that the said Sir Harie Lyndfayis becuming in will fould nocht preiudge him of ony actione that he had to persew aganis him.

Slaughter — Sentence of Banishment.

Feb. 2.—WILLIAME WAUCHOPE, sone to v^mq^{le} Robert Wauchope of Nydrrie.²

Compeirit Johne Mayne, and producet ane Precept contening HIS HIENES WILL, togidder with ane delyuerance of the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, quhilk the Justice ordanit to be infert and registrat in the buikis of Adiornall ; quhair of the tennour followis.

REN,

JUSTICE, Justice Clerk and 3our deputis, We greit 3ow weill. Forfamekill as Williame Wauchope, sone lauchfull to v^mq^{le} Robert Wauchope of Nydrrie, being laillie persewit befor 3ow, to haif vnderlyne our law, for airt and pairt of pe slauchter of v^mq^{le} Dauid Edmestoune of Wowmett ; ffor pe quhilk slauchter he is becum in our will, in hoip of our clemencie and fauour : We pairfoir, for dyuerse considerations moveing ws, temperand the rigour of justice with clemencie, haif declairit and declairis our will towardis him, as followis : That is to say, That the said Williame fall depairt furth of our realme to quabafumenuir pairtis he pleiffis, betuix pe dait heiroy and pe first day of Marche nixtocum ; and nawayis to returne agane within pe samyn, without our Licence first had and obtenit pairto : And for pat effect, to find sufficient cautionne actit in pe buikis of Adiornall, vnder the pane of fyve hundred pundis, to be payit to our Thesaurer in our name, in cais of failzie. And forder, in cais it fall happin pe said Williame to returne agane within our realme, eftir his departour, without our licence, as said is, that, in pat caise, he fall die pe deathe pairfoir, quairenir he can be apprehendit, be ony of our Justices or ministeris of our lawis : And pat p^{ir} presentis salbe ane sufficient Warrant and Com^{missi}oune to pat effect. Subferyuit with our hand, att Halyrudhous, pe secund day of Febrnare, 1603.

(Sic subscribitur)

JAMES R.

Followis the (Supplication and Warrant.

VNTO 3our Maiestie and Lordis of Secreit Counsell, humlie menis and schawis 3our seruitour, Williame Wauchope, sone to the Laird of Nydrrie : That quhair, eftir I haif remanit this lang tyme in waird, within the Tolbuith of Edinburgh, and haif cum in 3our hienes will and pleasour, for airt and pairt of the slauchter of v^mq^{le} Dauid Edmestoun of Wowmet, it hes pleist 3our Maiestie, of 3our hienes fauour and mercie, to grant ane Warrant for puting of me to libertie furth of the said waird, I findand cautionne actit in your graces buikis for my departing furth of the cuntrie betuix and the first day of Marehe nixtocum, vnder the pane of fyve hundreth pundis, and onnawayis to returne agane within the samyn, without your hienes Licence, vnder the pane of deid. As ye said Warrant heir present to sehaw beris. Out of the quhilk waird I am nocht as zit releuit, albeit I haif done quhat in me luyis to find cautionn and fouirtie, conforme to ye said Warrant, and hes offerit Johne Robiefoun, flescheour, burges of Edinburgh, cautioner for me to pat effect; and it nawayis lying in my power, as I fall anfuere to God, to get ony vper persone to becum cautionn for me, bot sic perones as ar nocht responfall in landis and guidis, as the said Johne is, quhair of your Maiestie and lordis as zit haif had a fauourable confideratioun of me and my estait in tyme bygane; sua I maist humlie besek your lordshipis, that ye will freith and releue me furth of the said waird; and that I may haif command to your Maiesteis Clerk of Counfall or Justice Clerk, to reslaue ye said Johne Robiefoun cautionn for me: Conforme to the said Warrant and your anfuere.

¹ Ibid, concealed.

² See Jan. 4, 1603.

(Sic deliberatur) APUD Halyrudhous, primo Februarij, anno tertio Im.Vje. Fiat ut petitur, Johne Robiefoun and John Mayne, coniunctlie and feuerallie, cautioneris.

(Sic subscribitur)

MONTROIS, CANRIUS. M. R. YOUNG.

Conforme to the quhilk Precept and Will producet, the Justice, be the mouth of James Lowrie, dempstar, pronuncet his Maiesteis will to be, &c.¹

House-breaking — Theft, &c.

Feb. 15.—ANDRO REID in Bervie.

Dilatit for cuming to George Sincleris house, accompaneit with Johne Bennet and Thomas Welsh; breking of the said George house, streking vp of kiftis, and taking furth thair of certane abuilzementis,² clothing, and gold and siluer, pertening to Dame Agnes Sincler Lady Errole, Barbara Sincler and Thomas Sym, messinger, hir seruantis.

PERSEWARIS.

Barbara Sincler, Thomas Sym, messinger.

PRELOQUOUTOURIS for the pannell.

Mr Vmpra Blindsehell, Mr George Frazer.

Compeirit the Lady Errole, and insitit in the persute of Andro Reid, according to the Dittay; and producet ane Rolment of Court.—Mr Vmpra Blindsehell, for the pannell, allegit, that he can nocht be put to the knowledge of ane Assyse for the hail Dittay, except the plaittis; in respect he was put to the knowlege of ane Assyse for the samyn, befor the Scheref of Kynearne; and the Judge hes fund him nawayis worthie of daith thairfoir, as the proces producet beiris. The pannell askit instrumentis of the production of the Rolment of Court furth of the perseweris handis, quhair Andro Reid is put to the knowledge of ane Assyse be our fouerane lordis Commissioun, of the poyntis of Dittay producet, and of the Judges decret.—It wes anfuereit be the perseweris, to the former allegeance, that he fould be put to the knowledge of ane Assyse for the said crymes, becaus he was nather ffylit nor claugit be the Assyse thairfoir: And for the verificatiounne thairof, producet the proces subferyuit be Neilfoun, clerk thairto : And thairfoir the faid allegeance aucht to be repellit.

¹ In terms of the Warrant, which is repeated.

² Apparel, dress. Fr. habiliment.

The Judge continewis Interlocutor to the morne.

Feb. 16.—The Justice continewis this mater to the morne.

Comperit the haill perfonis of Affyfe, and declairit that thai haif onwaittit this tua dayis vpon thair call, and ar superexpendit ; and proteffit that thai be nocht vnlawit heirefter, in cais of thair non-compeirance.—Continued to 17th, and afterwards to 18th.

PERSEWAR,¹ Mr Thomas Hammiltounne.

PRELOCUTOR for the pannell, Mr Johne Scharp.

Feb. 18.—The Advocat askit instrumentis of the productione of the Rolment of Court, producet be the pannell, subferyuit be Mr Johne Foullertoun, and proteffis (that) the famyn remane in proces ; and adheris to the alledgeances, that he is fyllit of the cryme, be his awin Confessiounne, be ane Affyfe alreddie ; and desyres only that dome may be pronuncet aganis him, conforme to the lawis : and that in respect of the Rolment producet ; and consentis he pafs to na Affyfe.—It is anfuerit be the pannell, that na dome aucht of new to be gevin, becaus thair is a judgement alreddie gevin be the Judge, conforme to the Rolment of Court ; and that in respect of the Act of Parliament, quhair it is provydit, that a man anis being clanget, can nocht be of new persewit for that cryme —The Justice continewis this mater to Wednisday nixt.

JUN. 10.—SENTENCE. The quhilk day, Andro Reid in Bervie, being enterit on pannell, as he that was convict be ane Affyfe, in ane Justice-Court halding in Stanehyve, the xv day of September, the yeir of God I^m. sex hundreth and tua yeiris, be Johne Keyth in Coltoun, Sheref-deput of the scherefdome of Kincairdin, and Capitane Andro Stewart Judge, be vertew of our fouerane lordis Commissiounne, direct to my Lord Shereff of Kincairdin, for cuming to George Sincleris hous, &c. ; quhairvpon na dome wes pronuncet : For the quhilk cause the Justice-depute decernit and ordanit the faid Andro Reid to pafs furth of this realme, betuix the day and dait heirof, and the tent day of August nixtocum ; and never to returne within the famyn ; bot to remane Baneifchit during all the dayis of his lyfe, vnder the pane of deid : And all his moveabill guidis to be escheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vse, as convict of the faid crymes ; quhilk was pronuncet for dome.

Compeirit Capitane Andro Stewart, and proteffit, that the sentence and dome of Baneifchment pronuncet aganis the faid Andro Reid in Innerbervie, be na wayis prejudiciall to the actiounne of Errour, to be intentit aganis the Affyfe, for Clangeing of the faid Andro Reid of the crymes confest be him.

¹ In addition to those formerly entered.
10, 1603.

² No farther proceedings are entered, until June

Slaughter.

Feb. 24.—DONALD M^cANGUS of Glengarie, John Dou M^ckeane V^cdonill voir, Donald M^ckeane V^cdonill voir, Angus M^ckeane V^cdonill voir, his brether; Findlay M^cdonill V^cdonill voir, Alexander M^cdonill V^cdonill voir, John M^cdonill V^cdonill voir, thair brether; Rorie M^cmurchie V^cdonill oge, Donald M^cmurchie V^cquhonchie, Tormot M^cmurehie V^ckeane, Johne Moir M^cmurchie Vic doull oige, Johne Dou M^ckeane V^cdoull oige, Inving M^cindowy, in Glengarie, and Eweyne Ockerdane Carfar.

Compeirit Williame Makiefoun, and produceit our fouerane lordis letteris, deulie execute and indorfate, purchest be Angus M^cindowie, as brother to Donald M^ckeane V^cdoum, Johne and Dougall M^cmurdo Boweis, as nerrest of kyn to vniq^{le} Donald M^cdonald M^cvolddonich; Johne M^cdonald V^cJok, as brother to Donald M^cdonald V^cJok, with the kyn and freindis of the saidis vniq^{le} perfonis; aganis Donald M^cangus of Glengarie, &c.; be the quhilkis Letteris thay ar denuncett rebellis and putt to the horne, in default of finding of fouertie to haif compeirit this day and plae, to haif vnderlyne the law for the Slauchter of the saidis vniq^{le} perfonis: Quhairypoune he askit instrumentis; and protestit for relief of Rorie M^ckenzie of Cultellan, cautioner.

Slaughter.

Mar. 3.—JAMES STEWART, sone to vniq^{le} James Stewart, Maister of Buchan.¹

Sir James Scrymgeour of Dudop, kny^t, oft tymes callit, as cautioner and fouertie for James Stewart, sone to vniq^{le} James S. M^r of Buchan, to haif enterit and presentit him to haif vnderlyne the law, for airt and pairt of the felloune and crewall Slauchter of vniq^{le} Patrik Brysone, tailzeour, burges of the Cannogait; committit in the moneth of October lastbypast, vpon fet purpos, &c.: The Justice unlawit Sir James Scrymgeour in the pane of tua hundreth merkis, and als adjudget the said James Stewart to be denuncet, &c., and his moveabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Murder — Stouthrief, &c.

Apr. 28.—ALLASTER M^cKIE, Gilchrist Kittoche alias Makilmoyle,
 M^cynroyer, Fyndlaw Dow M^colean.

Dilatit of certane poyntis of Thift, and for cuming to the Laird of Luiffis

¹ 'Patrik Brysone slaine in the Cannogate be ane James Stewart of Buquhane; quha wes apprehendit and wardit in Sir James Ballendine's hous; quhair he remanit still, till the 26 of November, on the quhilk day he brake ward out of Sir James Innes hous.'—Birrel's Diary, p. 56.

boundis, in companie with the Laird of M^cGregour, and airt and pairt of the Murthour and Reif committit thairon in Februar last.

DITTAYS against the Pannels.

ALLASTER M^cKIE, ffor airt and pairt of the thiftious Steilling, conceilling and away-taking of foure 5owis, pertening to James Galbraith in Bolgair, furth of Barroun M^cewins corrie or glen ; committit about Michaelmas last. ITEM, for steilling fra the said James of tuelf schein furth of the said glen. ITEM, for the thiftious steilling of tua lames in Balglafs, pertening to the Lady Keir. ITEM, for the steilling of tua meirs furth of the landis of Galgeraehene ; committit about Midfomer last. ITEM, for the thiftious steilling of thre meiris or fillies furth of Campsie-mure. ITEM, for commoun thift, &c.—GILCHRIST KITTOCHE, &c., ffor being in company with the Laird of MakGregour and his complices, and airt and pairt with him of the crewall Murthour and slaughter of dyuerse the Laird of Lufes freindis, feruandis and pairtakeris, to the number of sevin seoir perfones ; committit within the Laird of Lufe boundis, in the moneth of Februar last : And for the harieing and spulzeing and reveing of the haille cuntrey thairabout ; and thifteous steilling and away-taking with thame, of the number of aucht hundreth ky, horse, nolt, schein and vther bestiall ; committit be thame at the tyme foirfaid.

Quhairof the saidis perfones war airt and pairt, accoirding as thair Depositiones and Confessiones beiris.

VERDICT. The Assyse stand, pronuncet and declairit the pannell to be ffylet, culpabill and convict of the haille crymes respectiue aboue specifieit.

SENTENCE. The Justice, be the mouth of James Henderfone, dempfter of Court, ordanit thame, and ilk ane of thame, to be tane to the Burrowmure of Ed^e, and to be hangit vpon the Galloife thairof quhill thay be deid ; and all thair moveabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Intercommuning with the Clan-Gregor.

May 17.—AULAY M^cCAULAY of Ardincapill.

Compeirit Johnne Dunlop, seruitour to my Lord Duik of Lennox, and producet ane Warrant, subfcryuit be his Maiestie ; quhairof the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE GENERALL, 5our depute, Justice clerk, Aduocatt and 5our deputtis, We greitt 5ow hairtie weil : fforfamekill as our louit Aulay M^ccaulay of Ardincapill is summond at pe instance of 5ow our said Aduocat, to compeir on the xvij day of Maj nixtocum, to vnderly the law for the allegit intercommuning with Allaster M^cgregour of Glenstra, and vni^q^e Johnne Dow M^cgregour his proper, our rebellis, and for certane vperis crymes and poyntts of Dittay, specifieit and contenit in pe summondis raisit pairnent. And We, vnderstanding that the said Aulay M^ccaulay is altogidder frie and innocent of pe saidis allegit crymes laid to his charge ; and that he is to accompany ws to our realme of England, with our darrest coufing the Duik of Lennox, his maister : Thairfoir, and for certane vperis guid cauffis and considerationes-moveing ws, it is our Will, and We command 5ow, to desist and ceise fra all calling or accuseing of the said Aulay M^ccaulay, the day foirfaid ; or ony wayes proceiding aganis him or his cautioner in the matter foirfaid ; bot suffer the dyett, appoyntit to that effect, to desert in it self, as gif ony sic Letteris had nevir bene raisit ; naiper 5it trubill nor molest pe said Aulay M^ccaulay, for the pretendit cause foirfaid,¹ at ony vper dyet paireftir, quhill the returning of our said derrest coufing furth of our realme of England. As 3e will anfuer to us vpon 3our obedience; and pat nochtwithftanding of ony vper Warrant gevin or to be gevin in the contrair: Quhairnant pir prefentis fall be to 3ow fufficient Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, att Beruik, þe fevint day of Apryle 1603. (Sic fubfcribitur) JAMES R.

¹ See Note to the Laird of MacGregor's Declaration, Jan. 20, 1604.

The quhilk Warrant the Justice admittit, and defertit the faid dyet.

Adultery — Child-Murder.

May 18.—JOHNE RYBURNE of that Ilk.

Robert Montgomerie of Heflilheid produceit our fouerane lordis letteris, purcheft at the instance of Mr Thomas Hammiltoune, aduocat to our fouerane lord, aganes Johne Ryburne of that Ilk, for Adulterie and the Murthour of ane infant bairne, gottin vpoun Agnes Dunlop: Be the quhilk Letteris the faid Ryburne of that Ilk is put to the Horne.

Murder of Seven Score Persons in the Lennox by the Clan-Gregor, &c.

May 20.—GILLESPIE M'DONALD M'INNES DOW, Donald M'clerich alias Stewart, and Johne M'coneill M'condochie.

Dilatit, accufit and perfewit for being in company with the Laird of M'gregour: AND for airt and part of the lait grit flauchter and crewall Murthour of fevin feoir perfones in the Lennox,¹ all freindis and fervandis to the Laird of Lufe: AND of the thiftious Steilling and Reiffing of aucht hundreth oxin, ky² and vther beftiall, and herrieing the haill cuntrie; committit in the moneth of Februlare laftbypaft: ITEM, for the thiftious Steilling of tua horfe and ane meir furth of Strabrand, fra Johne Stewart Neilsoun and his man; committit at Lambes³ laft: AND for commoun Soirning,⁴ &c.—Donald M. Clerich dilatit and perfewit for airt and part of the thiftious Steilling of nine ky and oxin, tua yeir fyne or thairby, fra Patrik Stewart furth of Imervaik, in Athoill; and for commoun Thift and commoun Soirning, &c.

VERDICT. The Affyfe, be the mouth of Johne Douglas, burges (of Edinburgh), chancellor, ffand, pronunceit and declairit the faidis thre perfones to be culpabill and convict of the foirfaidis crymes.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Caftel-hill of Edinburghe, and to be hangit thair on ane gibbett, quhill thay be deid, &c.

¹ See Apr. 28, Jul. 5 and 14, 1603, &c. 'The 9 of Februartii, the Laird of Macgregor, with four hunder of hes name and factioun, enterit in the Lennox; quhair he maid Spulzie and flauchter to the number of sixty honest men, befyde women and bairnis. He spared nane quhair he came.'—Birrel's Diary, p. 58. ² Kine, cattle. ³ Lammas-day, 1st August. ⁴ Taking free quarters by force, (q. d. sejournant?)

Invasion of a Minister, near the Tolbooth, where the Privy Council were Sitting in Judgement.

JUN. 29.—WALTER GRAHAME, seruitour to Mr Robert Williamfoun, wryter.

Dilatit, accusit and perfewit be DITTAY of the crymes following, viz.

FORSAMEKILL as it is statute and ordanit, be oure souerane lordis Actis of Parliament, specialie be ane Act maid in his Maiesteis ellevint Parliament, cap. 27, that quhatfumeur persone or persones Invaidis ony Minister,¹ or putis ony violent handis in him for ony forget² querrell, fall be pwneist thairfoir with all rigour, and incur the payne of tynfall of all thair moveabill guidis for the said invasioun and violence allanerlie, albeit na slauchter nor mutilatioune follow thairvpon; the ane half of the saidis guidis to be applyit to our souerane lordis vse, and the vther to the pairtie invaidit or offendit, but preiudice of the gritter pwneischment, gif ony heicher cryme concur with the violence and invasioun foirfaid: And als, Proclamatioun was maid, in our souerane lordis name and auctoritie, vpon the . . . day of Junij instant, in the yeir of God, J^m.Vj^e. and thre, befoir the Trinitie flair, that na persone sould invaid or perfew ane vther within this burch, during the tyme of the flair, vnder the pane of deid: And forder, it is provydit be dyuerse Actis of Secreit Counfall, that na persone fall invaid ony man, be drawing of ane sword, within ane myle to the Kingis Palice, or to his hienes Counfall, vnder the pane of deid. AND trew it is, that the said Walter, in lie and manifest contempt of our souerane lordis Actis of Parliament and Proclamations foirfaidis, vpon deidlie malice confauct be him aganis Mr Thomas Douglas of Stannypeth, Minister at Balmirrieno, and haifing forget a quarrell aganis him, for the revenge of certane injurious speiches, allegit gevin be the said Mr Thomas Douglas to the said Mr Robert Williamfoun, his maifler, vpoun the xxj day of Junij instant, he, vpone the xxij day of the said moneth of Junij, preparit to him selff ane grit foure-nuikit³ battoun, of aik, of purpois to haif fellit the said Mr Thomas Douglas thair: Lyk as the said Walter fet vpone him, behind his bak, vpone the hie streit of the burch of Edinburghe, in the tyme of the said flair, a lytill beneth the Stinkand-style,⁴ the Lordis of Secreit Counfall being within the said burch, and haifing sittin at Counfall in the Tolbut of the said burch, nocht passand ane half hour befoir the violence and invasioun following; and thair, maif schamefullie, barbarullie and crewallie, without regard of the person of ane Minister, and haifing never spokin with him ane word of befoir, invaidit him for his slauchter with the said batoun, strak him thairwith tua straikis vpone the heid, behind the richt lug,⁵ and hurt and woundit him thairwith, to the effusion of his bluid in grit quantitie; vpone fet purpois, persuasioune,⁶ precogitat malice and foirthocht felony. And efter the committing of the said crewall and schamefull Invasioun, and hurting of him, as said is, the said Walter fled and gat away; and thaireftir was tane and apprehendit for the said barbarus crewallie; and he hes confessit the samyn. Quhilk batouning of the said Mr Thomas, sa neir to his hienes Counfall, mereittis gritter pwneischment, nor gif⁷ he had drawin ane sword to the effect aboue speifeit, in respect of the vyle indignitie thair of: Quhairby he hes contravenit the tennour of the saidis Actis of Parliament and Proclamatioun foirfaid, and incurrit the payne of daith, quhilk aucht and sould be execute aganis him with all rigour, in exampill of vtheris, &c.

PERSEWAR.

Mr Johne Nicolfoun of Lefwaid, Aduocat, substitute to Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcairne.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of James Lyndesay of Dowhill, chancellor, ffaud, pronuncet and declairit the said Walter Grahame to be ffylit, culpable (and) convict of the saidis crymes.

¹ Clergyman. ² Forged, feigned, simulate. ³ Four-cornered, square. ⁴ Near the Tolbooth, and almost opposite the door of Haddo's-hold, to the eastward of the late New North, or 'Little Kirk.'

⁵ Ear. ⁶ In common style, this word is usually 'provision.' ⁷ Than if.

(Aug. 12.)—Mr Williame Borthuik, Justice-depute,¹ (pronounced Sentence against the pannel,) be vertew, and at command of ane Warrant of the Lordis of his hienes Secreit Counfall, quhair of the temour followis :

APUD EDINBURGHE, vltimo Junij 1603. The Lordis of Secreit Counfall Ordanis þe Justice and his deputis to pronunce dome vpon Walter Grahame, for þe streking of Mr Thomas Douglas, Minister, with ane batoun ; in maner following, viz. : That þe said Walter fall be seurgit fra þe Castell hill to the Neper boll, throw þis bur^t, and his richt hand to be strukin af at þe Neper boll : And þairefter, Ordanis him to be Banischet his Maiesteis hail dominiones, and onnawwis to returne agane within þe samyn during his lyftyme, vnder þe pane of deid. And that he remove furth of þe saidis realmes betuix and þe last day of September nixtocum, vnder þe pane foirsaid.

(Sic subscribitur) MONTROIS CANRIUS. AL. VCHILTRIE. ELPHINGSTOUN. A. FYVIE. NEUBOTLE. J. COKBURNE. R. COKBURNE. JO. PRESTOUN. CRANSTOUNRIDDELL. QUHITTINGHAME.

SENTENCE. The Justice, be the mouthe of Walter Peirie, dempster of Court, decernit and ordanit the said Walter Grahame to be seurgit throw the bur^t of Ed^r,² &c., within tua moneth nixt following, vnder the pane foirsaid : Quhilk was gevin for dome.

Slaughter.

Jun. 30.—JOSEPH BONCLE, burges of Dunbar.

Dilatit and accufit for the Slauchter of vinq^{le} James Loche, induellar in Dunbar, committit vpoun the xxviij day of Junij instant, be the fraik of ane sword in the lifk³ and the wambe.⁴

Compeirit Williame Kellie, Thesaurer of Dunbar, in name of the Proveist and bailleis thairof, and product the letter vnderwritten ; quhair of the temour followis.

PROVEIST and bailleis of the bur^t of Dunbar. IT is our will, and for findrie guid respectis and considerationes moveing ws, We command 3ow, that 3e caus sailie convoy, bring and present Joseph Boncle befor our fouerane lordis Justice and his deputies, within þis bur^t of Edin^r, to vnderly the law and justice for þe slauchter of vinq^{le} James Loch, smyth, committit be him vpoun þe xxviij of Junij instant. Quhairnent þir presentis falbe 3our Warrant : And but⁵ preiudice or ony derogation to quhatfameuir 3our liberteis and privilegis of Scherefschip, disponit and grantit be his Maiesteie in 3our faouris, and contenit in 3our new Infestment, maid pairvpoun. Subscriuit with our handis, at Edinburghe, þe xxix day of Junij, 1603.

(Sic subscribitur) MONTROIS, CANRIUS. J. ELPHINGSTOUN. A. FYVIE. A. VCHILTRIE. QUHITTINGHAM. JO. PRESTOUNE. ED3ELL. CRANSTOUNRIDDELL. R. COKBURNE. J. COKBURNE.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Patrik Nisbet in Dunbar, chancillar. ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said Joseph to be ffylit, culpable and conviet of the Slauchter of the said vinq^{le} James Loch.

SENTENCE. To be tane to ane place befyde the mercat croce of Edinburghe.

¹ On Aug. 12, 1603.
groin or flank.

⁴ Belly.

² In terms of the above Warrant of the Privy Council.

⁵ Without.

³ The

and thair his heid to be strikin fra his body ; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Treason — Forging and Uttering base Money.

ROBERT DOW alias MEINZEIS and Allester M^cclaren, finyth.

Dilatit ffor airt, pairt, red and counsale, and conceilling of the tressonabill sforgeing, counterfitting and outputting of fals and adulterat coinzie, sic as fyve-pound-pecis and foure-merk-pecis, quhilkis Arthour Smyth coinzeit fyve zeir fyne or thairby, in his smiddie besyde Banff: And for outing¹ of ane pairt thairof, amangis our fouverane lordis liegis.

VERDICT. The Assyis, be the mouth of Williame Stalker elder, Goldfinyth, ffind them to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the tressonabill conceling of the sforgeing, prenting and counterfitting of fals coinzie, prentit and forgeit be the said Arthour Smyth, in his smiddie beside Banff, conforme to thair Depositionis.

SENTENCE. The said Allester M^cclaren to be tane to the gallow on the Borrowmure, and thairvpoun to be hangit quhill he be deid : And all his landis, heretageis, takis, stedingis, rowmis and possessionis, guidis and geir, coirmis, cattell, infycht pleneiffing to be forfeitit and efcheit, &c.

Continewis dome vppone Robert Dow to the morrow quhill he auise with the Counfall.²

Slaughter of the Laird of Luss's People by the Clan-Gregor, &c.

Jul. 5.—GILLIEMICHELL M^cHISCHOK, seruant to vmq^{lc} Johne Dow M^cgregour, and Nicoll M^cpharie Roy M^cgregour.

Dilatit for being [' at the ffield of the Lennox³ aganis Sir Vmphray Colquhoun : And for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of sewin feoir perfounes,⁴] in cumpany with the Laird of M^cgregour and his complices, at the ffeild of the Lennox, aganis Alexander Colquhoun of Lufe : And for airt and pairt of the slauchter of the said Laird of Lufe freindis, servandis, assisteris and pairtakeris, to the number of sevin feoir perfones or thairby : And for reifing and herreing of the haill cuntrey, and steilling and away-taking of ky, oxin, horse, scheip, gaittis and vther bestiall, to the number of aucht hundreth bestiall or thairby ; committit in the moneth of Februare lastbypast.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Robert Oisteane in Edinburghe, chancellor, all in ane voice, but⁵ variance, ffind, pronuncet and declarit the saidis

¹ Uttering, putting out.

² On Jul. 5, he is ordained ' to be tane to the Castellhill of Edinburghe, and thair to be hangit quhill he be dead ; and all his moveabill guidis to be efcheit, and his lands and heritageis, gif he ony has, to be forfeitit,' &c.

³ See Notice prefixed to the Trial of Allaster M^cGregour of Glenstrae, Jan. 20, 1604.

⁴ This sentence occurs at the first entry. See also Apr. 28 and May 17, &c.

⁵ Without.

Gillie-Mitchell M^cifchok, alias M^cgilliechallum, and Nicoll M^cfarie Roy M^cgregour to be ffylit, culpable and convict of airt and pairt of the crymes foirfaidis.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburghe, and thair to be hangit on ane gibbet quhill thay be deid ; and thair guidis to be efcheit, &c.

‘ Field of the Lennox ’ — Slaughter of the Colquhouns, &c.

Jul. 14.—JOHNE (DOW M^cANEVALICH) M^cGREGOUR, at the Kirk of Comerie.

Dilaitit for being in cumpanie with Allafter M^cgregour of Glenstra¹ and his complices, at the feild of the Lennox, againis the Laird of Lufe and his freindis : And airt and pairt of the Slauchteris, thiftis, robbereis committit be thame ; quhairin thair was flane vij feoir perfonis ; committit the aucht day of Februare laft.

VERDICT. The Affyfe, be the mouth of James Chalmer, burges of Edinburghe, chancellor, ffand the said Johne Dow M^canevalich M^cgregour to be ffylit, culpable and convict of the faidis crymes.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburghe, and thair his heid to be strikin from his body ; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Slaughter — Unmerciful Oppression — Shooting ‘ Hagbuttis,’ &c. Cattle and Sheep Stealing, &c.

Jul. 19.—GEORGE TRUMBILL, of Belfis.

Dilatit, accufit and perfewit of the crymes respectiue following, viz.

FOR airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johne Hammiltoun, callit of Cumnock ; committit the xxij day of Januare, I^m.V^c. threfeoir nyntene yeiris. ITEM, of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Williame Trumbill, fone lauchfull to vmq^{le} Walter Trumbill of Raflat ; committit in the moneth of Apryle, I^m.Vj^c. yeiris. ITEM, for Vfurpation of our fouerane lordis authoritie, in taking of Adame Trumbill, sumtyme fervand to the said vmq^{le} Walter Trumbill of Raflat, he being his hienes frie fubject, and binding him with fetteris, and linging him be the feit and fhoulderis, ouer ane balk, for the fpace of xij dayis, quhairthrow his feit rottit fra him ; without Commiffioun gevin him to that effect. ITEM, for contravening of our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in beiring and weiring of hagbutis, dagis and piftolettis ; and in fchuiting of Walter Trumbill, younger of Raflat, betuix the toun of Jedburgh and the place of Belfis, in the airme and thie ; committit in anno I^m.Vj^c. and tua yeiris. ITEM for the thiftious Steilling of four nolt fra Johnne Donaldfoune, in Melrois ; committit thre yeir fyne or thairby. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thiftious Steilling of fax ky and oxin, xx fcheip, tua horfis, with the infyecht pleneiffing and eidentis pertening to Daud Riddell, in St Bofuellis ; committit in the moneth of I^m.V^c.lxxxxviiiij yeiris, or thairby. ITEM, for the thiftious Steilling of xvj nolt, pertening to the Laird of Bemersfyde ; committit in anno I^m.V^c.lxxxvij yeiris. ITEM, for the thiftious Steilling of tuentie nolt, ane yeir fyne or thairby, pertening to the Lady Newtoun. ITEM, for the thiftious Steilling furth of the landis of Belfis, in the moneth of . . . I^m.Vj^e. and ane yeiris of fyve feheip, pertening to ane fervand of George Davidfones. ITEM, for the thiftious Steilling and away-taking of ane meir, pertening to George Wilfoune in Langnewtonne, furth of his duelling hous in Langnewtonne ; committit ane yeir fyne or thairby. ITEM, for a commone briggane¹ and notorious cowmone theif, reffet of thift, outputing and inputing of thift.

¹ In the Verdict of the Assise, it is said to have been in company with ‘ the Laird of McGregour ;’ so that Allaster of Glenstra was the Chief of this Clan, either by right of blood, or Chieftain for the time, by election, as was usual among the Clans. See Jan. 20, 1604.

PERSEWARIS, Iffobell Trumbill, as dochter (to Walter) and fifter (to Williame Trumbill) ; George Rutherford, as kinsman ; Mr Johne Nicolfonne, substitute for our fouverane lordis aduocat.

PRELOQUUTOIRIS for the pannell, Mr Johne Ruffell, Mr Thomas Craig, Mr Williame Douglas, David Ramfay.

It is allegit be the pannell, that na proces aucht to be grantit vpon the Dittay, vnto the tyme he be fummond vpon xv dayis wairning, in respect the deidis contenit in the Dittay is done xxiiij yeir fyne.—It is anfuerit be the Aduocat, that he was denuncet rebell and put to the horne for ane of the flaughteris contenit in the Dittay, viz. ffor the flaughter of vniq^{le} Williame Trumbill, and ane Commiffionne grantit be the Kingis Maieftie and Counfall for taking of him ; be vertew quhair of he was takin and apprehendit and presentit to the Counfale, vpon the fyft day of July ; att the quhilk tyme, in presens of the persewer and defender, than present, this day (being that day xv dayis) was affignit to the persewer to perfew him for that cryme and all vther crymes could be laid to his charge : And thairfoir, thair being xv dayis grantit to the Counsell to deliberat vpon his defence, thair aucht to be na forder citatioune grantit.—To the quhilk it is anfuerit be the pannell, concerning the Hoirning, he is relaxt. Secundo, as to the Commiffionne, na Commiffionne can be grantit to preiudge him of his lauchfull defenssis, parte non citata. As to the last, he gat na coppie of the Dittay, and thairfoir man be fummond on xv dayis wairning.

As for the flaughter of vniq^{le} Williame Trumbill, fayis he was flane be him in his awin defense, he being affageit within his awin hous. As to the flaughter of vniq^{le} Johne Hammiltoune, denyis, and offeris him to the tryell of ane Affyse. As to the flaughter of Walter of Raflat, fayis he was flane at the horne, and producet the hoirning for verifeing thair of, raist at the instance of Andro Com-mendater of Jedburgh, quhair the said Walter, for nocht removeing fra the landis of Raflat, and half ane quarter of the town and landis of Belfis ; quhilkis letteris ar of the dait the xx day of Apryle 1581, and of our fouverane lordis regne the xiiij yeire ; denuncet the xij day of Julij, anno foirfaid.—It is alleget be the Aduocat, to the last pairt, that albeit he was at the horne, the pannell aucht nocht to vsurpe the Kingis auctorite vponne him, to slay ony man at his awin hand.

THE JUSTICE continewis Interloquitour to the morne.

Jul. 20.—THE JUSTICE Remittis the hail poyntis of Dittay, except for the flaughter of vniq^{le} Walter Trumbill of Raflat, to ane Affyse.

It is allegit aganis James Waddell, burges of Jedburgh, that he can nocht pas

¹ Robber ; Fr. brigand.

vpone this Affyse, becaus thair is deidlie feid standand betuix the hail name of Trumbill, on the ane pairt, and the Laird of Pharnherft, the hail Keris, and the hail inhabitantis of the toune of Jedburghe, on the vther pairt, for the Slauchter of Thomas Ker, brother to the (Laird of) Pharnherft.

The Aduccat proteftis for Wilfull errour, in caice that thay acquit George Trumbill of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Williame Trumbill, becaus he confest the committing of the Slauchter out of his hous, he being affageit, and allegeit in his defence.

The Aduocat, for instructing of the Dittay, producet ane Testimoniall, beiring the pannell to be excommunicat for Slauchteris, Murthouris, Incestis and Adultereis, &c.; subfcryuit be Mr George Douglas, clerk of the Presbiterie of Jedburghe.

VERDICT. The Affyse, be the mouth of Walter Eleife, in Danielstoun, chancellor (be pluralitie of voittis), ffind, pronunceit and declairit the said George Trumbill to be flylit, culpabill and convict of beiring, weiring and schuiting with hagbuttis and pistolettis, contrair the tennour of our souerane lordis Actis of Parliament; committit betuix the toune of Jedburghe and the place of Belfis, in anno I^m.Vj^c. and tua yeiris: And to be Clene, innocent and acquit of the hail remanent crymes aboue specifeit, mentionet in the said Dittay; and speciallie, of the slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Williame Trumbill, becaus the samyn was done in his awin defens.

Quhairvpoune the said George Trumbill askit instrumentis.

(Aug. 18.)—SENTENCE. The Justice decernit and ordanit the said George Trumbill to be tane ‘ to the mercat-croce of Edinburghe, and thair his richt hand to be strukin frome his airme, as convict of the said cryme; quhilk wes gevin for dome.’¹

Sorcery — Charming — Abusing the People.

Jul. 21.—JAMES REID, sumtyme serveand to George Anderfoun in Mussilbur^t.

Dilatit, accusit and persewit, be Dittay, of the crymes following, to wit,

FOR ane cowmone Sorcerer, charmer and abuser of Godis peopill, be geving him selff out to hail all kynd of seiknes: Quhilk craft he lernit fra the Devill, his maister, in Bynnie-craigis and Corstorphin-craigis, quhair he met with him and consultit with him to lerne the said craft; quha gaif him thrie penneis, at ane tyme, and a peice creische² out of his bag, at ane vther tyme; he haifing appeirit to the said James dyuerse tymes, quhyles³ in the liknes of a man, quhyles in the liknes of a hors: with quhome he lykwayis dyuerse tymes consultit seu his first meiting, quhilk is threttene yeir syne or thairby; quhilk lykwayis lernit him to tak fouthe-rymand-watter¹ to cuir the saidis diseiffis. ITEM, for cureing of Sara Borthuik, be his Sorcerie and devilrie, quha was grevouffle trubillit and diseasit, be bringing of fouth-rymand-watter fra the Schyreff-brayis-wall, and casting a certane quantitie of falt and quheit about hir bed; be the quhilk cuir scho was hailit. ITEM, fforfamekill as he, be the speciall persuasione of Jonet Cryftie, dochter to Johne Cryftie at Cryftiesounis mylne, and his mother, consultit with the Devill, for distructionⁿ of David Libbertoun, baxter, burges of Edinburghe, his spous, thair coirne and guidis; quha causit him tak a peice raw flesche, quhairvpone he maid nyne nekkis,² and inchantit the samyn, quhilk he delyuerit to the said Jonet, and causit hir lay ane pairt thairof vnder the mylne dur, and the rest vnder the stabill dur, for distructione of his hors and cattell. And als, inchantit to him nyne stanis, quhilk the said James cuist vpone the said David Libbertones landis, for distructione of his coirnes. Lyk as, the said James and the saidis Jonet Cryftie and hir mother infformet³ and maid ane pictour of walx, quhilk the Devill inchantit; and he and the wemen turnit the pictour at ane ffyre, in the said Johnne Cryftiesones hous, for distruction of the said David Libbertones selff. ITEM, for cureing of the said Johnne Cryftie, being diseasit of a swalling, in putting of thre silk poyntis,⁴ in his devilisch maner, about his waist, quhilk remanit ten oulkis⁵ with him; and went away fra the said Johnne, be quhat way he knew nocht.

¹ See Aug. 23, 1602.

² Grease, fat.

³ Sometimes, occasionally.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Johne Howie, merchand, chancellor (all in one voce), fstand, pronuncet and declarit the said James Reid to be ffylet, culpabill and convict of the haill crymes aboue specifreit.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castel-hill of Edinburghe, and thair to be wirreit⁶ at ane staik; and his body to be brunt in assis:⁷ And all his moveabill guidis to be efcheit, and inbrocht to his hienes vse, as conviet of the saidis crymes.

Murder — Robbery.

Jul. 27.—THOMAS HORSBURGH, burges of Peiblis.

Dilaitit and accusit of the Murthour and Slauchter of vinq¹⁶ Williame Chifholme in Peibillis, with his awin quhinger, vnder silence and clud of nycht: And als, of the thiftious steilling of ten sax li. peces,⁸ and tuentie merkis in quhyte siluer, pertening to the said vinq¹⁶ Williame, vnder the said Williames bed-heid; committit in the moneth of Marche lastbypast: And siclyk, for the thiftious steilling of tuentie tua li.⁹ fra his guid-mother,¹⁰ committit nyne yeir syne, or thairby.

¹ This superstition still obtains, in many remote places of Scotland; where the virtues of such water are firmly believed in. ² Nicks, notches. ³ Formed, constructed. ⁴ Laces, ties. ⁵ Weeks. ⁶ Strangled. ⁷ The 21 of Julij, James Reid brunt, for consulting and using with Sathau and Witcheis; and quha was notably knawin to be ane counsellor with Witcheis.—Birrel's Diary. ⁸ Ten £6 pieces. ⁹ £22. ¹⁰ Mother-in-law.

VERDICT. The Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouth of Michell Hunter of Polmwid, chancellor, stand, pronuncet and declairit the said Thomas to be flylet, culpabill and convict of the saidis crymes.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburghe, and thair to be hangit on ane gibbett quhill he be deid ; and thaireftir his heid and richt hand to be strukin fra his body ; and the heid to be fet vpone ane prik vpoun the flepill-heid of Peiblis ; and his richt hand to be put on the Eist-pairt thairof : And all his moveabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Usurpation of King's Authority—Hurting and Wounding.

Jul. 29.—ALEXANDER SEYTOUN, in Boigin-Johne.

Dilatit for the taking and apprehending of Mr Johne Cardno, convoying him to his hous in Boigin-Johne, and detening him captiue and prisoner, be the space of xxiiij houris ; and hurting of him with ane rapper¹ in the body, and vsurpation of our souerane lordis authoritie vpoun him, in taking of the said Mr Johne ; committit in Nouember lastbypast.

The pannell askis instrumentis of his comperance on pannell, and protestis for releif of his cautioner ; and als, he offerris him reddie to vnderly the law for the said cryme, disassenting till all continewatioune.

The Justice continewis to the Justice-air of ' Abirdene, tercio Itineris, (vel super premonitione) xv dierum.' James Chene of Straloch, cautioner.

Slaughter.

Jul. 30.—GEORGE HARRETT of the Coittis.

Dilatit for the Slauchter of vni^o Williame Dowglas, in Muffilburgh, feruitoure to Williame Erll of Angus, lord Douglas, &c. ; committit in the moneth of Julij, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and twa yeiris.

Marioune Wilfoun, the relict, producit our souerane lordis Letteris, dewlie execute and indorsat, &c. Thomas Harrett in Lintoune, his cautioner, vnlawit and amerciat in the panis contenit in the Actis of Parliament, viz. in the payne of ane hundreth merkis ; and als adiudget the said George Harrett to be denunceitoure souerane lordis rebell, and putt to the horne ; and all his movable guidis ordanit to be efcheit.

Murder.

Jul. 30.—MARIOUN WARDLAW, spous to Johne Kennedie, gantillet maker, burges of Edinburghe.

Dilaitit of airt, pairt, red and counfall of the Murthour committit be Williame Boirthuik, tutour of Boirthuik, Johne Boirthuik his brother, and vtheris thair complices, in cuning to James Frammis duelling-hous in the Cannogait, vnder scyence of nycht, and strykeing of him nyne straikis in the body and heid, to the effusioun of his body ; and levand him for deid.

¹ Rapier.

PERSEWAR, James Framme, gantillet-maker in Edinburghe.

Continued to the air of Edinburghe, ‘tercio Itineris (vel super premonitione) xv dierum.’

‘Field of the Lennox’—Slaughter of Colquhouns—Stouthreif, &c.

Aug. 12.—DUGALL M^cGREGOUR and Neill M^cGregour Pudrache.¹

Dilaitit and accufit of the crymes following ; to wit, the said Neill M^cgregour of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Patrik Layng and of vniq^{le} Johne Reid, wobster, fervandis to the Laird of Lufe ; committit in December lastwas : AND scilyke, of airt and pairt of the thiftious Steilling of tuelf scoir guidis furth of the Laird of Luffes boundis, in the Lennox ;² committit the tyme foir-said. AND scilyk, the said Dougall M^cgregour, of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of foure men, fervandis to the Laird of Lufe, in the lait ffeild of the Lennox ;³ and being in companie with the Laird of M^cgregour and his companie at the same feild ; and airt and pairt of the Slauchteris, reiffis, thiftis and foirningis committit that day, in the moneth of Februaire last.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of James Broun, burges of Dumfreis, chancellor, stand, pronuncet and declairit the saidis Neill M^cGregour Pudrache, and the said Dougall M^cgregour to be fylit, culpabill and convict of the hail crymes aboue specifcit.

SENTENCE. Thairfoir the said Justice-depute, be the mouth of Walter Peirie, dempster, decernit and ordanit the saidis Neill and Dougall M^cgregour to be tane to the Burrow-mure of Edinburghe, and thair, vpone ane gibbet, to be hangit quhill thay be deid ; and all thair moveabill guidis to be escheit, &c.

Incest—Adultery—Theft, &c.

Aug. 23.—GEORGE TRUMBILL, in Belfis.⁴

Dilaitit, accufit and persewit, be DITTAY, of the crymes following, viz.

FORSAMEKILL as it is expresse provydit, statute and ordanit be our foueraue lordis Actis of Parliament, that all notorious and manifest Adultereris and Incestuous perfones sould die the daithe, and thair hail moveabill guidis to be escheit to our foueraue lordis vse ; and all sic perfones quba ar excommunicat for Adulterie, ar be Act of Parliament estemit for notorious and manifest adultereris ; as the saidis Actis at mair lenth beiris : And trew it is, that the said George Trumbill lies in the monethis of Januare, Februaire, Marche, Apryle, Maij, Junij, Julij, August, September, October, November and December, in the yeiris of God I^m.V^c.lxxxvij, lxxxix, 1600, 1601, and I^m.V^c. and tua yeiris ; at the leif in ane or vther of the saidis monethis and yeiris, abuset his body in the filthie cryme of Incest and

¹ Pudrache signifies of the country or district of Balquhiddier. ² See Mar. 20, 1603, &c. ³ See Jan. 20, 1604.

⁴ See Jul. 9, 1603, and Aug. 18, when he had his right hand struck off for shooting pistols, &c.

Adulterie with Marioun Trumbill, spous to Jok Trumbill in Belfis, his brother sones wyfe; ffor the quhilk fact he is excommunicat within the Presbiterie of Jedburcht; as the sentence of excommunicatione proportis. ITEM, for the thifteous steilling of ane gray horse furth of the landis of Raflat, pertening to vmq^{le} Walter Trumbill of Raflat; committit in the moneth of September, 1577. ITEM, for the steilling of xx oxin and ky furth of the landis of Raflat, fra the said vmq^{le} Walter; committit in the moneth of September lxxix yeiris. ITEM, for the thiftious steilling and reifing of foure horse, fra foure mylleris of Jedburcht; committit thre yeir syne, or thairby. ITEM, for the steilling of ane naig fra Walter Trumbill now of Raflat.

PERSEWERIS.

Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Monkland, kny^t, aduocat to our souerane lord; George Rutherford.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, Mr Johne Russell, Mr Williame Douglas.

It is allegit be George Trumbill, that he fould nocht be putt to ane Assyis for the crymes of Thift in the Dittay; becaus, within this moneth, he wes chargeit befor your lordships of findrie particuler poyntis of thift and commoun thift; comprehending all pointis of thift, except itt wer for pointis of thift committit sen his clangeing. The Aduocat alledgis it is nocht relevant.

THE JUSTICE ordanis George Trumbill to be putt to the Assyfe, for all crymes contenit in the Dittay, except sic as he is alreddie changeit of.

The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the sivering of the Inqueist; and of production of the Presbiteries Testimoniall, testifeing George Trumbill to be excommunicat for Incest and Adulterie, contenit in the Dittay: And protestis Wilfull Error, in caice thay acquit. And further, produceis Letteris of Hoirning, to verifie the vther foure poyntis of Dittay, and of his lang remaning vurelaxit; and protestit for Wilfull Error, in caice thay acquit, in respect foirfaid.—The pannell takis instrumentis of Halyburtoune of Moreislaw comperance, and sivering of the twa pointis of the Dittay, viz. of the mylleris naigis, and Watt Trumbillis naig. The Aduocat askis instrument of the sivering of the Dittay, be the Guiduan of Morislaw.

VERDICT. The Assise, having ‘be pluralitie of voitis’ chosen Williame Cokburne of that Ilk chancellor, thay ffind, pronuncet and declairit the said George to be ffylet, culpabill and convict of the hail crymes respectiue abone writtin.

SENTENCE. And thairfoir the said Justice-depute, be the mouth of Robert Scott, dempster of Court, decernit and ordanit the said George to be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and to be hangit on ane gibbett quhill he be deid; and his hail landis, heritageis, tenementis, annuelrentis, possessionis, coirnis, cattell, infycht pleniffing, guidis and geir, to be forfaltit and escheit to our souerane lordis vsé, as convict of the saidis crymes.

Slaughter — Woughing Oxen — Stouthcreif, &c.

Sep. 23.—JOHNE JOHNESTOUN, callit of Loch-hous.

Dilatit, accuset and persewit be Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Monkland, knycht, aduocat to our fouerane lord, ffor airt and pairt of the flaughter of vmq^{le} Johnne Cunninghame, fervand to the Erle of Glencairne ; committit in the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxvij yeiris, or thairby, within the burch of Edinburgh. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the flaughter of vmq^{le} Gilbert Roriefoune. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the hoching¹ of Robert Cuninghames oxin. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the maifterfull and stouthfull reveing fra James Lichtoun, Johnne Kello, Johnne Byres, George Cuninghame, merchandis burgefiss of Edinburgh, . . . Hunter in Glefgow, and Williame Walker at Bellis-mylne, of thair purffis and money being thairin, estimat to thre thousand (and viij^c) merkis ; and away-taking of thair nagis fra thame ; committit in the moneth of Julij 1602 yeiris, at the Rowne-tre-barne, betuix Air and Wigtoune.

ASSISA.

Charles Campbell of Horfleuch,
Charles Campbell of Skeringtoun,

George Campbell of Gelt,
Williame Campbell of Walvoid.²

VERDICT. The Assyse all in ane voce, be the mouth of the said Charles Campbell of Horfleuch, chancellor, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said Johnne Johnnestoun of Loch-hous, accoirding to his awin Confessioun, maid in judgement, and Depositiones subferyuit with his hand, to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the haill poyntis of Dittay aboue reherfit.

SENTENCE. To be tane to ane scaffald at the mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and thair his heid to be ftrukin fra his body. And all his moveabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

[*Mr Andrew Kneilland, Justice-Depute.*³]

Dict continued owing to Plague in Edinburgh.

Nov. 8.—JOHNNE COLQUHOUN, younger of Campstradden,⁴ Dougall M^cFarlen, and Johnne M^cConell V^cneill M^cFarlane and others.

Compeirit Antoun Whyte, wryter, and producet ane delyuerance grantit be the lordis of Secreit Counfall, subferyuit be my Lord Chancellor, &c. as follows.

MY LORDIS OF COUNSALL, vnto your lordschipis humlie menis and schawis we your feruitouris, Sir Johnne Murray of Tulliebarden, kny^t, and James Hadden of Glennageis : That quhair, we and ather of ws haif purchest lettres, quhairwith we haif caufet charge Johnne Colquhoun, younger of Campstradden, Dougall M^cFarlane, Johnne M^cConell V^cneill Makfarlane, and certane vtheris perfones thair complices, specifeit in the saidis letteris direct thairvpoune, to find cautionn, that thai fall compeir befor our fouerane lordis Justice and his deputis within the Tolbuthe of Edinburgh, the aucht day of November instant, to vnderly the law for certane crymes mentionet in the saidis letteris : At the raising of the quhilkis letteris, we and ather of ws ffand cautionn actit in the buikis of Adiornall, for repoirting of the saidis letteris, deulie execeute and indorfate, at the day foirfaid, vnder the panes contenit in the Actis of Parliament. And be reffone of the fuspitioune and danger of the plaige of pestilence within the said burcht of Edinburgh, quhilk hes intervenit sen the raising of the saidis letteris, we nor the personis summond on the Assyse of the persones dilaitit, may nocht guidlie repair thither, for feir of the said plaigue. Quhairthrow, necessar it is that the day foirsaid be prorogat and continewit to ane certane vther competent day thairefter, that (gif it pleis God to stay the said plaigue) we may sailie resoirt and repair to the said burcht of Edinburgh, to the effect aboue specifeit. Heirfoir, we besek your lordschipis, that ye will give command to our fouerane lordis Justice, Justice-clark and thair deputis, to continew the day foirsaid, to ane certane vther lauchfull competent day thairefter; and to wairne the partie and the persones summond vpon the said Assyse thairto; quhairthrow we may the mair sailie repair to the said burcht to the effect aboue writtin: Quhairnent it will pleis your lordschipis to dispense with us, and all panes and vnlawis, quhairinto we or ather of ws, or ony of the persones summond vpon the said Assyse, may ony maner of way be vnlawit or adiudget, for our non-compeirance, at the said viij day of November instant: And your lordschipis anfuere humlie we besek. [FIAT UT PETITUR.] (Sic subscribitur) MONTROISS, CANRIUS. M. R. YOUNG.

¹ Hamstringing. ² James Johnneston of Lochwood beheidit at the crosse of Edinburgh, for oppression, slaughter, and raising of fyre and vthir maney crymes.—Birrel. ³ The rest of the Assise composed of merchants. ⁴ This Judge is first noticed, Nov. 3, 1603. ⁵ See p. 432, where he is said to have been killed, 7th February preceding !

According to the quhilk Warrant, the Justice continewit the said dyet to the said xxij day of December nixtocum; and ordanit the parteis to be summond, and ane Assyse also to be summond to the said day; and the cautioner to stand obleift for repoirting of the saidis letteris, dewlie execute and indorfate, agane the said day.

Slaughter.

Nov. 17.—JAMES KYNNAIRD in Inchtur, Williame Haitlie in Balgay, and Williame Kynnaird, sone to the Laird of Kynnaird.

Patrik Bruce of Fyngask and Johnne Kynnaird, fear of that Ilk, amerced in the pane of ane hundreth merkis, for ather of the saidis James, &c. for nocht entrie of thame to haif vnderlyne the law, for airt and pairt of the felloun and crewall Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Scherp, seruitour to the Laird of Ruthven; committit vpon the first day of July lastbypast, vpon set purposis, prouisioun and foirthocht felony. And James Kynnaird, &c. to be demuncet rebellis, and put to the horne, &c.

Slaughter.

Nov. 23.—JAMES CUMING, fear of Alter, Johne Cuming, his seruand.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Thomas Hay of Edinvaill; committit the xx day of July lastbypast, betuix the place of Alter and the town¹ of Edinvaill, vpoun sett purposis, prouisioun and foirthocht felony.

Williame Hay, as brother, and Robert Hay, as sone, to vmq^{le} Thomas Hay, produced the letteris, dewlie execute, &c.—Alexander Rychardfoun, Minister of Dolese, declarit vpoun his grit aith, tane vpoun ane buik, that the said James Cuming wes heavelie diseisit with ane flux of natour, and ane flux of his body, and that he wes subiect to the said seiknes: And Mr Alexander Cuming offered to prove that ‘he may nocht travell,’ &c.—Williame Cuming, fear of Ernfyde, as cautioner. was vnlawit for non-entrie of the said James Cuning, in the pane of ane thousand mark, and for nocht entrie of Johne Cuning, in the pane of ane hundreth merks; and they ordanit to be denunceit, &c.

¹ Farm-steading.

Nov. 24.—Letters of Horning given in by Robert Hay, seruitour to Frances Erle of Erroll, to be regiftrate against the pannell, with executions and denouciatiounis, &c.

[CURIA tenta per Archibaldum Ergadie Comitem, Justiciarum Generalem et Magistrum Willelmum Hairt ejus deputatum principalem.]

Treason — Hamesucken — Oppression — Stouthreif, &c.

Jan. 12, 1604.—GEORGE MELDRUM, younger of Dumbrek.

Dilatit, accuset and perfewit be Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Monkland, aduocat to our fouerane lord for his hienes entreis, of the crymes following, to witt.

FORSAMEKILL as the said George, haifing confaut ane deidlie feid, rancor and malice aganis Andro Meldrum, his brother, he, accompaneit with dyuerse vtheris his complices and servandis, to the number of ten perfonen, or thairby, all bodin in feir of weir,¹ with hagbutis, dagis and pistolettis, expresse prohibeit to be borne, worn, vsed or schot with, be our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in the moneth of or thairby, the yeir of God Im.V^c. fourfoir nyntene yeiris, being four yeir syne, or thairby, come to the Mylnetoun of Dumbrek, quhair the said Andro was, in sober and quyet maner for the tyme, &c.; and thair fet vpon him, and crewallie inuidit him for his Slauchter, and hurt and woundit him in his . . . hand, schoulder and face, to the effusioune of his bluid in greit quantitie: And thaireftir tressonabillie tuik the said Andro captiue and priffoner, had and convoyit him to the place of Dumbrek, quhair the said George detenit him as captiue, be the space of aucht oulkis, or thairby, in strait firmance and captiuitie; and thaireftir transportit him to the place of Ernefyde, quhair the said George and his servandis keipit the said Andro in strait firmance, be the space of fyftene or tuentie dayis, quhill he escaipit fra thame perforce: Vsurpand thairby our fouerane lordis auctoritie vpon him, in taking of the said Andro, his hienes frie lege man, but² Commissioun, and detening him in captiuitie, be the space foirsaid; committing thairby manifest Tressone: AND als, for contravening the tennour of the Actis of Parliament, in beiring, weiring and vseing of the saidis hagbuttis and pistolettis. ITEM, fforamekill as the said George, haifing confaut ane deidlie feid, rancour and malice aganis Andro Meldrum of Aelquharteis, laitlie, in the monethis of September or October, the yeir of God Im.Vj^c. yeiris, being accompaneit with Patrik Scheill and Alexander Meldrum, his servandis, bodin in feir of weir, with hagbuttis and pistolettis, contrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament, come be way of Hamefukkin to the place of Aelquharteis, vnder silence and clud of nycht, about foure houris in the moirning, befoir day; and thair, the said George darnit³ him selff and his servandis in ane out-hous, belonging to the said Andro, neir to the said place, quhair he remanit quyet, quhill about elleuin houris of the day, that the said Andro Meldrum come furth to ouersie his awin turnes,⁴ and thair fet vpon the said Andro Meldrum, and tressonabillie pat violent handis in his persone, tuik him captiue and priffoner, and convoyit him away with him as ane malefactour, fra his said duelling-hous, and brocht him south ower to Andro Fyfes hous, in the Burrow-nure of Edinburgh, besyde Merchintoune; quhair the said George detenit him captiue, be the space of thre or foure dayis thair-efter, quhill the said Andro ('eschewit,' or 'escaipit'⁵) furth of the said hous, by⁶ his knowledge and aganis

¹ Arrayed in warlike manner.

² Without.

³ Hid, concealed.

⁴ Concerns, business, affairs.

⁵ Until the said Andrew escaped. A word is omitted in the Record.

⁶ Beside, without or contrary to his knowledge, unknown to him.

his will : Vfurpand thairthrow our fouerane lordis authoritie vpon him, in taking and keiping captiue of the said Andro Meldrum of Acqubarteis, his hienes frie liege man, but¹ commissioun or auctoritie, and committing thairby manifest Treffone : AND als, for contravening of our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in beiring and weiring of hagbutis and pistolettis. ITEM, fforamekill as the said George, haifing confauct ane deidlie feid, rancour and malice aganis Mr Alexander Gibfone, ane of the Clerkis of our fouerane lordis Counfell and Sessione, he, accompaneit with Nicoll Jardane, Robert Jardane, Johnne Johnstoun, callit Swyne-fute, Johnne Ker, fone to the Tutour of Gradane, and Alexander Bartilmo, with tua fute-bovis, ane company of cowmoune and notorious thevis, brigandis and murderouris, all bodin in feir of weir, with fuordis, hagbutis and pistolettis, expresse prohibeit to be borne or worue, as said is, laitie, in the moneth of October or September, the yeir of God, I^m. fax hundreth and ane yeiris, being adverteit of the said Mr Alexanderis dyett, be ane fellow callit Craik, the said George Meldrumis awin man, quhome he fend to espy the said Mr Alexanderis dyet within the Citie of St Androis ; at the quhilk tyme, he fet vpon the said Mr Alexander Gibfone, Mr Alexander Levingstoun, aduocat, and Robert Guthrie, seruant to the said Mr Alexander Gibfone, within the boundis of the scherefdome of Fyffe, besyde the Watter-fyde of Dundie, quhair thay war in sober and quyet maner rydand for the tyme, dreidand na harne, iniurie, or persute of ony persones, bot to haif leuit vnder Godis peax and our fouerane lordis : and thair crewallie Invaidit thame for thair Slauchteris, and compellit thame to rander thame sellis to the said George and his compliceis foirfaidis ; and tressonabillie pat violent handis in thair persones, tuik thame captiues and priffoneris, had and convoyit thame away with him out of the way, and besyde Couper-in Fyfe, (he being ane landit gentilman,) tressonabillie, be way of maisterful Stouthreif, rest fra thame thair purffis, with certane gold and siluer being thairin, extending to the quantetie of thre hundreth merkis or thairby ; and thaireftir convoyit thame to the toun of Kinghorne, quhair he demittit² the saidis Mr Alexander Levingstoun and Robert Guthrie : And thairfra convoyit the said Alexander Gibfone, and brocht him with thame sellis ouer the fferrie of Kinghorne to Leyth, and convoyit him captiue to Williame Kayis hous in Leyth, quhair Serjand Moffet come to thame ; and thairfra the said George maist tressonabillie convoyit the said Mr Alexander Gibfone captiue by³ the Palice zet of Halyrudhous, throw ane gritt pairt of Louthiane and throw Tueddell, to the toun of Melrois ; and befor thair entrie within the said toun, the said George, with his complices, devydit the gold that was in the tua purffis amangis thame, quhair of ilk ane of thame gat tuentie merkis, or thairby, for thair partis ; and fra the said toun of Melrois thay convoyit the said Mr Alexander captiue vnto Ingland, to George Rattleiffis hous ; quhair thair detenit him captiue and priffoner be the space of aucht dayis or thairby : Vfurpand thairby our fouerane lordis auctoritie vpon thame, in taking the saidis persones, thay being his Maiesteis frie leigis ; haifing na power nor Commissioun to that effect ; in manifest contempt of his Maiestie : committand thairby manifest Treffone : LYK AS, the said George, being ane landit Gentilman, committit maist tressonabill Thift and Stouthreif, in reiffing of thair purffis, and gold foirfaid being thairin ; AND siclyk, for beiring and weiring of hagbutis and pistolettis, contrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament. Off the quhilkis crymes respectiue aboue writin, the said George was speciall actour ; at the leist, airt and pairt thairof. AND last, the said George being indytit and accusit, fforamekill as he, accompaneit with Johnne Meldrum, his brother, and dyuerse vtheris, his complices, laitie, in the moneth of November lastbypast, being bodin in feir of weir, with hagbuttis, dagis and pistolettis, prohibeit to be borne or worne, as said is, be our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament and Secreit Counfall, come to the place of Dumbrek, pertening heritable, and being in the lauchfull possession of Andro Meldrum, his brother, keipit be him and his seruantis, and tuik the samyn place perforce, and held and detenit the samyn be the space of sevin oulakis or thairby.⁴

¹ Without. ² Suffered to go, dismissed. ³ Past. ⁴ This latter part of the Dittay is thus shortly given in another place of the Record : ' And for taking of the place of Dumbrek, and keiping of the samyn aganis the Kingis gaird, quha, be vertew of ane Commissioun, was commaunded to pas to the said hous and charge him to rander the samyn ; quhilk he dissobeyit.

ASSISA.

James Tennent of Kairnes,	Williame Foullertoun of Arde,	Jo. Creichtoune, Y ^r of Strathurd,
J ⁿ Kynneir, younger of that Ilk,	Alex ^r Falconer of Halkertoun,	Da. Haddene, tutour of Glennageis,
Mr Patrik Balfour of Pitcullo,	Johnne Veitche of Dawik,	Thomas Ker of Caveris,
George Murray of Brochtoune,	Williame Burnet of the Bairnes,	Geo. Hereis of Kirkstone of Eshe,
Archebald Ogilvie of Keillour,	Aulay M ^c caulay of Ardincapell,	Johnne Boyle of Kelburne.

For verificatioun quhairof, the said Sir Thomas Hammiltoun producet the said George Depositiones, subscryuit with his hand, beiring his Confessioun of the hail crymes aboue specificit. The Advocat askit instrumentis, (1.) Of the sweiring of the Assyis : (2.) That George Meldrum declairis he becumis in his Maiefteis will, for the taking and hurting of his brother, and for the taking of the Guidman of Acquhariteis. (3.) Of George Meldrumis cuming in will, for the offence done to Mr Alexander Gibsounne and his company. (4.) Of the reiding of the pannellis Depositiones to the Assyfe judiciallie : And (5.) In respect thair- of, and of his Confessioune thair- of, in judgement, and becuming in will for the hail Dittay, protestis for Wilfull Errour, in cais thai acquit.

VERDICT. The Assyfe, be the mouth of the said Alexander Falconer of Halkertoun, chancellor, ffind, pronuncet and declairit the said George Meldrum, younger of Dumbrek, to be ffylet, culpabill and convict of the hail crymes aboue specificit.

SENTENCE. And thairfoir, the said Justice-generall and Mr Williame Hairt, his principall depute foirfaid, be the advyfe of John Erll of Montrois, chancellor of this realme, and dyuerse vtheris Lordis of his Maiefteis Secret Counfall and Sessioun, than sitting in judgment, as Affessouris, (ffinding the saidis crymes to be tressonable), be the mouth of Robert Scott, dempfter of Court, Ordanit the said George Meldrum to be tane to ane scaffold, befyde the mercait croce of Edin- burghe, and thair his heid to be strukkin fra his body ; and all his landis, heri- tageis, takkis, fteidingis, rowmes, possessiones, coirnes, cattell, inficht pleniffing, guidis and geir to be sforfalt, efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vfe, as convict of the saidis tressonable crynes.—Quhilk wes pronunceit for dome.¹

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

‘Field of the Lennox,’ or ‘Conflict of Glenfruin’ — Slaughter of the Colquhouns — Stouthreif — Treason — Fire-raising, &c.

[THE proscription and the cruel and systematic persecution of the CLAN-GREGOR, for a long series of years, although, in the abstract, a subject familiar to every reader of Scottish History, has hitherto been very imperfectly explained. The Criminal Records, and the Acts of the Privy Council, throw much light on all the various branches of this extraordinary event. To save the necessity of future repetition, it appears to the Editor to be necessary, at the outset of these proceedings, to give a very brief sketch of the circumstances which led to ‘THE FIELD OF THE LENNOX’—or ‘THE RAID’ or ‘CONFLICT OF GLENFRUIN’; and of those events which ultimately terminated in the Execution of the Laird of MacGregor, and of many others of his name. All the future oppression and persecution of the race of the MacGregors ostensibly take their rise from this Conflict.

¹ ‘The 12 of Januar, George Meldrum of Dumbrek beheidit, for Oppression and uther odious crymes.’—Birrel.

The Clan-Gregor, which, from whatever causes, had been for some time looked upon as an unruly tribe, was, for some years previous to 1603, placed under the control of ARCHIBALD (seventh) EARL OF ARGYLE, who, as King's Lieutenant in the ' Bounds of the Clan-Gregor,' was invested with very extensive powers, and who, by his acceptance of the office, was made answerable for all excesses committed by the Clan. In these circumstances, it might be supposed that it was Argyle's interest, as it certainly was his duty, to have done all in his power to retain the Clan-Gregor in obedience to the laws; but, on the contrary, it appears that, from the time he first, as King's Lieutenant, acquired the complete control of the MacGregors, the principal use he made of his power was artfully to stir up the Clan to various acts of aggression and hostility against his own personal enemies, of whom, it is known, COLQUHOUN OF LUSS was one. It is to this crafty and perfidious system of the Earl, therefore, that we must solely trace the feud between the Colquhouns and MacGregors, which proved, in the end, so hurtful to both; a result, no doubt, all along contemplated by this powerful but treacherous Nobleman. But it is unnecessary to enlarge upon this point, as the Dying Declaration of the Laird of MacGregor places in a very clear light the cruel and deceitful policy pursued by Argyle, and which was too frequently resorted to by others, in those days, for quieting the Highlands. It may be remarked, that this interesting document, besides undoubtedly bearing internal evidence of truth, is corroborated, in almost every part of it, by the Public Records.

It is also to be remarked, as particularly worthy of notice, that at the period of this fatal Conflict, both of the contending parties were, in a manner, equally armed with the Royal authority; the Laird of Luss having raised his forces under a Commission, emanating from the King himself; while the Laird of MacGregor marched to invade the Lennox, under the paramount authority of the King's Lieutenant!

The popular accounts of this transaction charge the MacGregors with two atrocities, committed after the battle, viz. the Murder of Sir Humphrey Colquhoun, who had fled from the field of battle, and had taken refuge in the Castle of Bannachra; and the Slaughter of a number of defenceless boys, from the Grammar School or ' College ' of Dumbarton,¹ who, from curiosity, came to see the fight, and had, by Colquhoun's order, been put into a barn for safety; where, on the success of the Highlanders, they were said to have been murdered. In justice to the Clan-Gregor, it is but fair to mention that, on investigating this subject, it clearly appears that Sir Humphrey was murdered in his Castle of Bannachra, in July 1592, above eleven years before this Conflict, by some of the MacFarlans, under circumstances of extreme atrocity. He was succeeded by his brother Sir Alexander, who was alive anno 1610. The then Laird of Luss must therefore have fled from the field of battle, leaving his vassals to be cut to pieces by their victorious antagonists. As to the Slaughter of the schoolboys, it is enough to state that this circumstance forms no point of any of the Dittays against those of the MacGregors who were tried for their share in this battle, although every criminal act which could possibly be adduced against each of them is carefully inserted in their Indictments. Such an atrocious fact could not have escaped the notice of all his Majesty's Advocates, for such a length of time—and there was no lack of informers. It is thought that this massacre is alluded to in the Records of the Privy Council, Jan. 5, 1609, where it is stated, that ' Allan Oig McIntnaeh, in Glenco,' when aiding the Clan-Gregor at Glenfrune, ' with his awne hand, murdered, without pity, the number of forty poor perfons, who were naked and without armour.'

According to the Editor's usual plan, some passages from contemporary MSS. are appended, in illustration of the facts.]

¹ So called, probably, from their education being conducted in the Collegiate Church there, or under the auspices of the Clergy of that establishment, by virtue of some charitable endowment.

Jan. 20.—ALLASTER M^cGREGOUR of Glenstra, Patrik Aldoche M^cgregour, Williame M^cneill his seruand, Duncan Pudrache¹ M^cgregour, and Allaster M^cgregour M^ckean.

Dilatit, accufit and perfewit, at the instance of Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Monkland, knyecht, aduocat to our fouerane lord, &c. off the crymes following : FORSAMEKILL as thay and ilkane of thame, accompaneit with vinq^{le} Johnne Dow, brother to the said Allaster M^cgregour of Glenstra, and vtheris thair kin, freindis, and of thair counfall, haifing concludit the distructione of Alexander Colquhoun of Lufe, his kyn, freindis and alya, and the hail surname of the Balquhamanis, and to herrie² thair landis ; thay conuenit to thamefelffis the Clanhamrone,³ the Clanauverich,⁴ and dyuerse vtheris brokin men and foirneris,⁵ to the number of foure hundreth men, or thairby, all bodin in feir of weir, with hagbuttis, pistolettis, murrionis, mailzie-coittis, pow-aixes,⁶ tua-handit-fwoirdis, bowis, darloches, and vtheris wappones, invasiue, incontre the tennour of the Actis of Parliament : And, for the performance of thair wicked conclusioun, vpon the sevint day of Februaire lastbypast, come fordward, in arrayit battell, to the Landis of Glenfrwne, pertening to the Laird of Lufe ; quhair the said Laird of Lufe, accompaneit with certane of his freindis, war conuenit, be vertew of our fouerane lordis Commiffioun, to resist the saidis perfonis crewall interpryfes ; and thair fet vpon him, his kyn and freindis, and crewallie invaidit thame for thair flaughteris, schamefullie, crewallie and barbaruslie mordreift and slew Peter Naper of Kilmahew ; Johnne Buchamane of Buchlyvie ; Tobias Smallet, bailzie of Dumbarten ; Dauid Fallefdaill, burges thair ; Thomas and James Fallafdaillis, his fones ; Walter Colquhoun of Barnehill ; Johnne Colquhoun, fear thairof ; Adam and Johnne⁷ Colquhones, fones to the Laird of Campstradden ; Johnne Colquhoun of Dalmure, and dyuerfs vtheris perfonis, our fouerane lordis leigis, to the number of sevin scoir personis or thairby ; the maist pairt of thame being tane captiues be the saidis M^cgregouris befor thair pat violent handis in thame, and crewallie slew thame : And tressonabillie tuik Williame Sempill and dyuerse vtheris, our fouerane lordis frie leigis, and convoyit thame away captiue with thame, and be way of maisterfull Stouthreif, staw, rest and away-tuik sax hundreth ky and oxin, aucht hundreth scheip and gait, fourtene scoir of horse and meiris, with the hail pleniffing, guidis and geir, aff the fourscour pund land of Lufe ; and at the samyn tyme, tressonabillie raisit ffyre in the houffis and barne-5airdis thairof, brunt, waiftit and distroyit the samyn, with the coirnis being thairin. And the foirsaidis perfonis and ilk ane of thame ar airt and pairt

¹ Of the country of Balquhider.

² Spoil, plunder and devastate.

³ Clan Cameron.

⁴ Quere, the Clan Ian Averiche (Abroch), viz. the MacDonalds of Glencoe ?

⁵ Sorners, persons who violently took free quarters, and committed acts of violence, having no fixed home.

⁶ Morions,

coats of mail, poll-axes.

⁷ See Note, Vol. II. p. 426.

of the faidis crewall, horrible and tressonabill crymes; the lyk quhairof was nevir committit within this realme: Committing thairby manifest Tressone, in hie and manifest contempt of our fouerane lord, his hienes auctorite and lawis.

ASSISA.

Sir Thomas Stewart of Garnetullie, Johnne Blair younger of that Ilk, Thomas Fallafdaill burges of Colene Campbell younger of Johnne Grahame of Knokdoliane, Dumbartene, Glennorehie, Moyfes Wallace burges of Ed^r, Johnne¹ Herring of Lethindie, Alexander Menzeis of Weyme, Sir Robert Creychtounne of Clwny, Williame Stewart, Capitane of Robert Robertfoun of Strowane, kny^t, Dumbartene, J^{no} Naper fear of Merchinstounne, Robert Robertfoun of Falkeilzie, Harie Drummond of Blair, Johnne Blair elder of that Ilk.

For verificatioun quhairof, the said Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Monkland, aduocat, producet the faidis perfonos Depositiones and Confessiones, maid be thame in prefens of dyuerse lordis of his hienes Secreit Counfall and Sessioum, subscryuit with thair handis.—The Aduocat askit instrumentis, (1.) Of the sweiring of the Assyse, and protestit for Wilfull Errour aganis thame, in cais thay acquit. (2.) Of the sweiring of the Dittay be the Laird of Lufe. (3.) Of the productionme of the pannels Depositiones to the Assyse.

VERDICT. The Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouth of Johnne Blair, elder of that Ilk, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the faidis Allaster M^rGregour of Glenftra, &c. to be fylet, culpable and convict of the crymes aboue spacificit.

SENTENCE. And thairfoir, the Justice-depute, ffinding the faidis crymes to be tressonabill, be the mouth of James Henderfoun, dempstar of Court, Ordanit the faidis perfonos to be tane to the mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit vpon ane gibbet quhill thay be deid; and thairefter thair heidis, legis, airnes and remanent pairtis of thair bodeis to be quarterit and put vpon publict places, and thair haill landis, heritageis, annuelrentis, takis, steidingis, rowmes, possessiones, coirnes, cattell, guidis, geir and sowmes of money pertening to thame, to be fforfaltit, efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vse, as convict of the faidis tressonabill crymes.

DOCUMENTS illustrative of 'THE FIELD OF THE LENNOX,' or 'CONFLICT OF GLENFRUNE,' and of the Proceedings against THE LAIRD OF MACGREGOR and his CLAN.

(I.) EXTRACT from Calderwood's MS. Church History, Advocates' Library, (Vol. V. p. 677.)

UPON the eight of Februar, a great company of forners and brocken Highland men of the CLANE of MACKGRICORE, the number of 400 men, came down to Lennox, to reave and spoyle. The people of the country conveened to make impediment. There were flaine of the country people, specially of the furname of COLQUHOUN, to the number of foufcore persons or therby; of which number were landed men of good rank.² The Laird of Luce himself, Chief of the Colquhouns, escaped narrowly.

¹ In another place called David. ² The matter is thus noticed by Birrel and Fleming. 'THE 9 of Februar (1603,) the Laird of Mackgrigour, with four hunder of his name and factiounes, enterit in the Lennox, quhair he maid spuilzie and slaughter, to the nwumber of 60 honest men, besyid wemen and bearnis. He spairit nane quhair he come.'—Birrel's Diary. ('Apr. 9.) Proclamation sumonding all the McGregouris to comper and wnderly the law for the slaughter of the Laird of Luss, and the men of Dumbartane.—Fleming's MS. Chronicle.

They carried away a thousand head of cattell, beside other insight and plenishing. It was reported, that that was done at the instigation of the Duke of Lennox his lady, seeking the wrack of the Laird of Luce, who held of the King, and not of the Duke !

(II.) EXTRACT from MS. History of Scotland, Anon. Advocates' Library, (A. 4. 35.)

Now, on the secund day of October (1603), THE LAIRD OF ARKINLES takis in hand to THE ERLL OF ARGYLL, to tak THE LAIRD OF MACGREGOUR ; and callis him to ane bankatt¹ in his hous, quhilk hous stuid within ane Loche ; and thair takis him priffoner, to fend him to Argyill. And putting him in ane boitt, with fyve menne with him, by² thame that rowit the boitt ; he, feing him selff betreisfit, gettis his handis lowfe ; and striking him our burd that was narrest him, he lowpis in the watter, and out-fowmis³ to the land. And so efcheappis wntene,⁴ for the presentt. Now the Erll Argyill, perfeassing that he wes efchapitt, he fendis to him, defyring him to cum to him, that he mycht confer with him, vnder promeis to lett him gang frie, gif thay culd nocht agrie. Wpoun the quhilk, the Laird McGregour come to him ; and, at his cuning, was weill reffaut be the Erll ; quha schew him, that he was commandit be the King to bring him in ; bot he had no doubt bot his Majesty wald, at his requiest, pardoun his offence ; and he fuld, with all diligenfe, fend tua Gentill menne to Ingland with him, and fuld with all diligenfe follow him selff. Wpoun the quhilk fair promiseis he was content ; and come with the Erll of Argyll to Edinburgh ; quhair, on the 10 day, he was be the Gaird conwoyt to Berwick, within Inglis grund, and fyne brocht back to Edinburgh. And on the 20 day was hangitt at the Corfe, with tenne of his kin and freindis hangit with him ; to the gritt diseredit of the Erll Argyill, quha wes the doare of the famin.⁵

(III.) EXTRACT from Robert Birrel's Diary, MS., Advocates' Library, (p. 138.)

THE 2 of October (1603), ALLESTER M^cGREGOUR of Glainfre tane be the Laird of Arkyndles, bot efcapit againe ; bot efter, taken be the Earle of Argyill the 4 of Januar ; and brocht to Edinburgh the 9 of Januar 1604, with 18 mae of his freindis, M^cGregouris. He wes convoyit to Bervick be the Gaird, conforme to the Earlis promefe ; for he promesit to put him out of Scottis grund. Swa he keptit ane Hieland-manis promes ; in respect he sent the Gaird to convoy him out of Scottis grund : Bot thair wer not directit to pairt with him, bot to fetche him bak agane ! The 18 of Januar, at evine, he come agane to Edinburgh ; and vpone the 20 day, he wes hangit at the Croce, and ij (eleven) of hes freindis and name, upone ane gallous : Himselff, being chieff, he wes hangit his awin licht aboue the rest of hes freindis.

(IV.) EXTRACT from Calderwood's MS. Church History.

UPON the 18 of Januar, MAKGREGORE was conveyed be the guard who attended upon the Counfell to Berwick, becaufe Argyle promised to him, when he rendered himself, that he should be caried to Ingland : But a post was appointed to meet him to caus bring them back againe, which was done ! Immediatly, upon the 20 of Januar, he and fundrie of his Clane were hanged in Edinburgh. Sevine of thair number came in, long before, as pledges for performance of certaine conditions, which were to be filled by their chief ; but they were hanged with the rest, without the knowledge of ane Assyfe. They were young men, and reputed honest, for their own parts. The Laird of Makgrigore was hanged a pinne above the rest. A young man, called James Hope, beholding the execution, fell down, and power was taken from the half of his body. When he was caried to ane house, he cryed, that ' one of the Highland men had shott him with ane arrow ! ' He died upon the Sabbath-day after.

¹ Invites him to a banquet. ² Forbye, over and above, besides. ³ Swims out, outstrips the boat by his swift swimming. ⁴ Untaken. ⁵ Fleming, in his Chronicle, (MS. Adv. Library.) thus records the event. ' The Laird of McGregour hangit at Edinburgh and xj of his unhappie kin. They hang all night on the gallous.'— This almost unexampled act of perfidy, on the part of Argyle, the King's Lieutenant, and the Justice-General of Scotland, gives a lamentable picture of the features of those unhappy times ; and it would appear that the government seemed to think it no discredit to take advantage of such an infamous breach of trust.

(V.) THE LAIRD OF MCGREGOURS DECLARATIOUN, producit the tyme of Conviction.¹

I, ALLESTER MAGRIGOUR of Glenstra, CONFESSE heir before God, that I have bein persuadit, movit and intyfit, as I am now presentlie accusit and trublit for; also, gif I had usit counfall or command of the man that hes Intyfit me,² I wald have done and committit findrie heich Murthouris mair; ffor trewlie, seu I was first his Majesteis man,³ I culd never be at ane eife, by my Lord of Argylls fallshete and inventiones; for he caufit M^cClaine and Glenchamrowne⁴ committ herfchip and slauchter in my roum of Rennoche, the quhilk caufit my pure men therefter to bege and steill: Also, therefter, he moweit my brother and sum of my freindis to commit baith herfchip and slauchter upone the Laird of Lufs: Also, he persuadit myfelfe, with message, to weir⁵ aganis the Laird of Boquhanene, quhilk I did refuse; for the quhilk I was contenowalie hostit⁶ that he sould be my unfreind; and quhen I did refuse his desire in that point, then he intyfit me with uther messingeris, as be the Laird of M^cknachane and utheris of my freindis, to weir and trouble the Laird of Lufs; quhilk I behuffit to do for his fals boutgaittis:⁷ Then, quhen he saw I was at ane strait, he cawfit me trow⁸ he was my guid freind; bot I did persave that he was slaw⁹ therin: Then I made my moyan¹⁰ to pleis his Majestie and Lords of Counfall, baith of fervice and obedience, to puneishe faultouris and to saif innozent men;¹¹ and quhen Argyll was maid foresein¹² thereof, he intyfit me to flay and start fra thay conditionis, causing me to understand, that I was diffavit; bot with fair wordis, to put me in ane snair, that he mycht gett the lands of Kintyre in feyell¹³ fra his Majestie, begane to putt at me and my kin:¹⁴ The quhilk Argyll inventit, maist schamfullie, and persuadit the Laird of Ardkinlaifs to dissave me, quha was the man I did maist trest into; bot God did releif me in the mean tyme to libertie, maist narrowlie.¹⁵ Neuertheless, Argyll maid the oppin brutt,¹⁶ that Ardkinlaifs did all that fallheid by¹⁷ his knowlege; quhilk he did intyfe me, with oft and findrie messages, that he wald mak my peace and saif my lyfe and landis, only to puneis certane faltouris of my kin, and my innozent freindis¹⁸ to renunce thair surname, and to leif peaceable. Vpone the quhilk conditionis, he was suorne be ane ayth to his freindis; and they suorne to me; and als, I haif his warrand and handvrytt therevpon. The quhilk promeis, gif they be honestlie keipit, I let God be Juge! And at our meting, in oure awin chalmer, he vas suorne to me, in witness of his awin freind. Attour,¹⁹ I Confess, befor God, that he did all his craftie diligence to intyfe me to flay and destroy the Laird Ardkinlaif, M^ckallay,²⁰ for ony ganes kyndness or freindfchip that he mycht do or gif me.²¹ The quhilk I did refus, in respect of my faithfull promeis maid to M^ckallay of befor.²² Also, he did all the diligence he culd, to mowe me to flay the Laird of Ardkyndlas, in lyk

¹ THE Original of the very interesting and important Paper now given, is preserved in the General Register House, and is in the hand of the then Clerk of Secret Council, James Primrose. It is marked as—'PRESENT BE MA WILLIAME HAIRT,' (of Levilands) as an article of evidence of his guilt, at his Trial. It will be recollected that this person officiated as Justice Depute on the occasion. Glenstray had surrendered to Argyll, on condition of his being permitted to go to England; by which the former meant that he should visit the English Court, and have, if possible, access to the King. It was obviously Argyll's policy to prevent this; but, that he might fulfill his promise, he sent him, under a strong escort of troops, to beyond the river Tweed, at Berwick, where the soldiers, wheeling to the right about, made MacGregor retrace his steps. He was two days only in Edinburgh, after his return from England, when he was executed.—See Sir James Balfour's Annals, and Nos. II. and IV. of these illustrative documents. ² The Earl of Argyll, King's Lieutenant in the Bounds of the Clan-Gregor, since July, 1596.—Records of Secret Council. ³ He had taken the usual oath to be his Majesty's 'household-man,' 27th July 1596, as appears from the Record of Secret Council. ⁴ Clan-Cameron. ⁵ Wage war. ⁶ Threatened. ⁷ Deceitful courses; literally, 'round-about ways.' ⁸ Believe. ⁹ Slow, slack. ¹⁰ Did my endeavour, moyen. ¹¹ This point is illustrated by an Original Paper, preserved in the General Register House, of date Jul. 24, 1599. ¹² Advertised, informed. ¹³ Fee, feufarm. ¹⁴ This refers to the Royal promise of reward to Argyll, after Feb. 7, 1603, for apprehending Glenstray; which reward, as he had earned it, he afterwards received; and it was confirmed to him by the Parliament, 1607. ¹⁵ This refers to that escape from Campbell of Ardkinglass, hereditary Sheriff of Argyllshire, mentioned by Sir James Balfour and by Birrel. ¹⁶ Report. French, bruit. ¹⁷ Without, contrary to his knowledge. ¹⁸ Such of them as were innocent of the crimes charged against the Clan generally. ¹⁹ Moreover. ²⁰ Awlay MacAwlay. ²¹ In the Lord Treasurer's Books of Scotland. Nov. 1602, is the following entry: 'Item, to Patrik McOmeis, messenger, passand of Edinburgh, w^t Lettres to charge Ar^d Earle of Argyll to compeir personallie befor the Counsall, the xvj day of December next, to ansuer to sic things as salbe inquirit at him, touching his lying at await for the Laird of Ardkinlaif, vpon set purpois to have slane him, xvj li. ²² GLENSTRAY and MACAULAY had entered into a Bond of Clanship, May 27, 1591, in which the latter owns his maner; bot I neuer grantit therto:¹ Throw the quhilk he did invy me grettumly.² And now, feing God and man feis it is greidenes of warldlie geir quhilk caufis him to putt at me and my kin, and not the weill of the realme, nor to pacifie the famyn, nor to his Majesteis honour, bot to putt down innoſent men, to caufe pure bairnes and infanttis bege, and pure wemen to perifeh for hunger, quhen they ar hereit of thair geir: The quhilk, I pray God, that thais faltis lycht not upon his Majeſtie heirefter, nor upon his ſucceſſione. Quherfor, I wald beſeik God that his Majeſtie knew the weratie, that at this hour I wald be content to tak Baneifment, with all my kin that was at the Laird of Luſſis ſlauchter, and all utheris of thame that ony falt can be laid to thair charge: And his Majeſtie, of his mercie, to lat pure innoſent men and young bairnes pas to libertie, and lerne to leiſſ as innocent men: The quhilk I wald fulfill, but ony kynd of fail; ³ quhilk wald be mair to the will of God and his Majeſteis honour, nor⁴ the greidie, cruell forme that is devyſit, only for leuf of geir, haeing nether reſpect to God nor honeſtie!

Field of Glenfrume — Murder — Fire-raiſing, &c.

Feb. 17.—JOHNNE DOW M^cEWIN M^cGREGOUR, Patrik M^cilvarnoch, his man, Duncan M^cenham M^cgregour, Duncan M^cAlleſter Vrek, Alleſter M^cEwin V^ccondochie, Johnne M^cean V^cgregour, Ewin M^ccondochie clerich, Johnne Ammonoche M^cgregour, Duncan Beg M^cgregour V^ccoull chere, Gregour M^cNicoll in Dalveich, Johnne Dow M^ccondochie V^cewin.

Dilatit of certane crymes of Murthour, Thift, Soirning; and for being at the feild of Glenfrume, in companie with v^mq^{le} Allaſter M^cgregour of Glenſtra,⁵ his kyn and freindis; and of the Slauchteris, fyre-raiſing, Reif and Hierſchippis committit in the moneth of ffebruare 1603 yeiris, aganis the Laird of Luſe, his freindis and pairtakeris, viz. (1.) Johnne Dow M^cewin M^cgregour, for his intercowmoning with v^mq^{le} Allaſter M^cgregour of Glenſtra, v^mq^{le} Patrik Aulauch M^cgregour and vtheris thair complices, quha war at the treſſonabill burning of Robert Watterſones barne of Kallechoit, and at the ſteilling of the Laird of Merchinfstones oxin; committit in September laſt. ITEM, of airt and pairt of the thiftious ſteilling, furth of Andro Allanes houſe in Kipine, of fyve ky; committit in October laſt. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the ſlauchter of v^mq^{le} Johnne Drummond in Drony of Cowgask; committit in Auguſt laſt. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the ſteilling of ane milk ſow⁶ fra Patrik M^cboricht, furth of his duelling-hous of Glenmawak; committit in September laſt. AND ſicyk, of cowmone Thift and cowmone reſſet of thift.—(2.) Patrik M^ckilvarnoch, ſervand to the ſaid Johnne Dow, of airt and pairt of the hail crymes aboue writtin; as being in companie with his ſaid maifter thairat.—(3.) Duncan M^cinham V^cgregour, ffor airt and pairt of the thiftious ſteilling fra Eduard Reidoche of being a Cadet of the Houſe of the former, and promiſes to pay him 'THE CALP.'—Paper in the General Register Houſe. This instrument had, as would ſeem, been diſcovered by the Government, and led to the ſuſpicion, alluded to in a former part of this work (See May 17, 1603), that MacAulay had aided Glenſtra in the feud of Glenfruin. MacAulay ſeems to have eſcaped death, by being under the protection of the Duke of Lennox, and forming one of his train or 'Tail,' in the King's journey to England, to take poſſeſſion of the English Throne.

¹ Arkinglaſſ, as appears from the Book of Taymouth, was Glenſtra's near kinsman.

² Bore a great or mortal grudge at me.

³ Without failure or evasion.

⁴ Than.

⁵ See Jan. 20, 1604.

⁶ Ewe.

fyye horfe and meiris ; committit in the moneth of I^m.V^c. fourfcoir and fourtene yeiris. ITEM, of airt and pairt of the thiftious fteilling fra Allafter M^ccondochie Vic James Robiefone, in Callewin, of ten horfis and meiris ; committit in the moneth of yeiris.—(4.) Daucane M^cAllafter Vrek in Farne, ffor airt and pairt of the thiftious fteilling furth of the landis of Air-liewicht of fourtie ky, pertening to the Laird of Bandrane ; committit ten yeir fyne or thairby. ITEM, for the thiftious fteilling furth of the Laird of Strowanes crandoche¹ of his haill inficht, worth I^m. lib.² ITEM, for airt and pairt of the flachter of v^mq^{le} Donald Dereif. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thiftious fteilling furth of the landis of Downance in Menteith, of fourtie ky, tuelf horfis ; committit in the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir aucht : And for intercowmoning with the Laird of M^cgregour : And for cowmone Thift and cowmone reffet of thift.—(5.) Ewin M^ccondochie Clerich, ffor his treffonabill intercowmoning with the Laird of M^cgregour, and fclāwing of fauour and fupplie to him : And for cowmone thift, and cowmone reffet of thift.—(6.) Johanne Dow M^ccondochie V^cewin, ffor treffonabill intercowmoning with v^mq^{le} the Laird of M^cgregour, and geving him fupplie and conforte.—(7.) Johanne Ammonache M^cgregour in Kingart, ffor airt and pairt of the thiftious fteilling of fax fcheip furth of Schandballie ; committit aucht yeir fyne or thairby. ITEM, for cowmone Thift and cowmone reffet of thift.—(8.) Allafter M^cewin V^ccondochie, in Couldar, ffor airt and pairt of the heirfchip of the Downance in Menteith ; and of the flachteris than committit ; and fpeciallie of the flachter of v^mq^{le} Andro Grahame.—(9.) Gregour M^cneill alias Cowanache, ffor airt and pairt of the crewall Murthour and Slauchter of v^mq^{le} the ffidler M^ckillope, within his awin hous in Dalvey ; committit at Anderfines,³ I^m. fax hundreth and tua yeiris. ITEM, ffor the thiftious reflcting and treffonabill intercowmoning (of v^mq^{le} the Laird of M^cgregour ?) eftir he wes difcharget be proclamationne.—(10.) Johanne M^ckean V^cgregour, in Glenogill vnder Tawie-barne, ffor the crewall Murthour, flachter and drowning of M^ckillopis wyfe, that duellt in Glenartnay, being in company with v^mq^{le} Patrik Aulaeh ; committit in harveft laft. ITEM, for reffet of the brokin men of the M^cgregouris, within his duelling-hous, and treffonabill intercowmoning with thame, aganis his hienes Proclamationn.—(11.) Duncan Beg M^cgregour V^ccoull Chere, ffor airt and pairt of the crewall Murthour and flachter of fevin feoir perfones flane at Glenfrwne ; and heirfchip than committit thairin, in the moneth of ffebruare 1603. ITEM, for cowmoun thift and cowmoun reffet of thift : And for the treffonabill intercowmoning with v^mq^{le} the Laird of M^cgregour, eftir he was difcharget be proclamationne.

¹ Or crandoche, a Highland gentleman's dwelling-house.
Andrew's-mass, the 30th day of November.

² £1000.

³ St Andrew's day,

ASSISA.

Mr Moreis Drummond of Cal- Mungo Buchannane in Tullie- Jacobi¹ Edmestoun of Newtonn, cherie, chewin, Danid Drummond in Drymmen, James Spreull ffear of Cowden, James Dennyftonne of Cowgrane, Johnne Naper of Kilmahew, Colene Campbell of Abernuchill, Thomas Fallafdaill in Ardoche, Johnne Mufchet at the mylne of Mungo Lyndfay of Ballull, Dauid Mufchet of Orcheardheid, Tor, Robert Naper of Blakzairdis, Johnne Buchannane of Ibert, Harrie Mitchell in Darra.

The Aduocat askit instrumentis of the sweiring of the Affyse; of Johnne Dowis Declaratioune, that Patrik M^cilvarnoch his man hes bene with him this tua yeir bygane, and is pairtaker of all his factis. The Aduocat, for verifeing the poyntis of Dittay, producet the Kingis Proclamatioune, Actis of Secret Counfall, contenit in the buik of Secret Counfall producet, and askit instrumentis thairvpone: And protestit for Wilfull Errour aganis the Affyse, in caife thai acquit.

VERDICT. The Affyis, be the mouth of Dauid Drummond, chancellor, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the saidis perfones to be ffylet, culpable and convict of the perticuler poyntis of Dittay aboue writtin.

SENTENCE. The Justice-depute decernit and adjudget the said John Dow, &c. to be tane to the mercait-croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit vpoun ane gibbet quhill thai be deid; and all thair moveabill guidis to be escheit and inbrocht to our fouverane lordis vse, as convict of the saidis crymes.²

'Field of Glenfrune' — Slaughter of the Colquhouns, &c.

Mar. 1.—NEILL M^cGREGOUR in Meirie (Mewie,) Patrik Gair M^cgregour, Donald Roy M^cgregour, Duncane M^cgregour, Donald Graffiche M^cCadanich.

Dilatit, accuset and perfewit for being in company with vmq^{le} Allafter M^cgregour of Glenstra and his complices, at the ffieild of Glenfrwne,³ and of airt and pairt of the slauchter of fevin fcoir perfones, being all freindis, servandis, affisteris and pairtakeris with the Laird of Lufe at the said ffieild, and of the heirfchipis thair committit be the said Laird of M^cgregour and his complices: And of the tressonabill raising of ffyre and burning of dyuerse houffis, within the boundis foirfaid; committit in the moneth of Februare, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and thre yeiris: And siclyk, for intercowmoning with the said Laird of M^cgregour and perfones foirfaidis, his complices, that war at the said slauchter and heirfchip, sen the committing thairof.—AND als, the said Patrik Gair M^cgregour being indyttit and accuset for the hounding out of his thre fones to the said ffieild, and murthouris and slauchteris than committit vpone the said Laird of Luffis freindis: And of airt and pairt, red, counfall, foirknowledge, assistance and ratihabitoune of the said murthouris and heirschippis : And fiedyke, for the reffett and intercowmoning with the Laird of M^cgregour and his complices that war at Glenfrune, and reffetting of thame with the bludie hand, fen the tyme foirfaid of the said heirschip and slauchteris.

¹ This person is so named in various places of the Record. ² 'The 18th of Februar, 9 of the name of MacGregor hangit, quho had lain lang in the Tolbuith.'—Birrel. ³ See Jan. 20, 1604.

ASSISA.

Mungo Lyndfay of Ballull,	Constene Moirtoun,	Robert Buchannane in Kippen,
Johnne Buchannane, burges of Dumbarten,	Hew Glen of Lynthillis, Johnne Buntene of Ardoche,	Robert Buchannane Walterfoune, Dongall M ^c farlen in Murnagane,
George Buchannane in Ladrifch,	Thomas Naper of Barriekynrayne,	Walter Blair of Fynnech,
Thomas Fallafdaille, burges of Dumbarten,	Johnne Naper of Kilmahew, Johnne Sempill of Foulwoid,	Dauid Hadden (Haldene,) Tutour of Glennageis.

VERDICT. The said Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouth of the said Robert Buchannane Walterfoune, fband, pronuncet and declairit the saidis fyve perfones to be fylet, culpable and convict of the haill crymes abone spicifeit.

SENTENCE. And thairfoir, the Justice-depute, be the mouth of Robert Scott, dempstar of Court, decernit and ordanit the saidis perfones to be tane to the galloufe of the Burrow-mure of Edinburghe, and thairupoune to be hangit quhill thay be deid ; and thair haill moveable guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to his hienes vse, as convict of the saidis crymes.

Chett — Reset of Laird of MacGregor — ‘ Field of Glenfrune,’ &c.

Mar. 2.—MALCOLME M^cCOULL CLERICH (M^ccherich,) in Innerlochlarg ; Duncan M^cfadrik V^cconll Chere, in Innerlochlarg, vnder the Laird of Tulliebardin ; Johnne M^ccoull Chere, in the Bray of Balquhiddier, and Neill M^cWilliame V^cNeill.

Dilaitit of certane poyntis of Thift ; and for Intercowmoning with vmq^{le} the Laird of M^cgregour, fen the Raid of Glenfrune, viz.(1.) Malcolme M^ccoull Cleriche (Cheriche), ffor airt and pairt, and being on the grundis at the crewall Slauchter of vmq^{le} Hew Stewart, ferveand to my Lord Athole ; committit threttie yeir fyne, or thairby. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Patrik M^cgregour, in Glenbokie ; committit in the moneth of September, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. threfcoir faxtene yeiris. ITEM, for geving of counfall to vmq^{le} the Laird of Makgregour, his kyn and freindis, to pas fordward aganis the Laird of Lufe to Glenfrune ;¹ and for convoying² the said Laird of M^cgregour agaitwart³ to the fyd of Lochloun, afoir the ffeild : And for airt and pairt of the slauchteris and heirschippis committit at Glenfrune be the said Laird of M^cgregour and his complices, in the moneth of Februare 1603 yeiris. ITEM, for the tressonable Intercowmoning with the said Laird of M^cgregour, and Reffett of him and his freindis and pairtakeris that war at the ffeild of Glenfrune, and geving of thame herbrie, help and fupplie, in meit, drink and bedding, wittinglie and willinglie, at dyuerſe tymes, ſen thai war denuncet our ſouerane lordis rebellis and declairit tratouris, and ſen his Maieſteis Proclamatioune, iuhibeiting all our ſouerane lordis leigis to intercowmone, reſſett or gif countenance or ſchaw fauour to the ſaidis rebellis.—(2.) Duncan M^cfadrik V^ccoull cheir, ſfor airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the ſaid v^mq^{le} Patrik M^cgregour; committit in September 1576 yeiris. ITEM, for geving of counſall to the Laird of M^cgregour to pas forward to the ſfeild of Glenfrune aganis the Laird of Luſe, and conuoying him to the ſyde of Lochloune, agaitward, to the ſaid ſfeild. ITEM, for wilfull Intercowmoning and geving of counſall to the Laird of M^cgregour, and conuening with him in dyuerſe meittingis and conventionnes, had and keipit be him and his freindis, ſen thai war denuncet his Maieſteis rebellis, for the Murthour, Slauchteris and heirſchipis committit be thame at the ſaid ſfeild of Glenfrune, incontrair to his Maieſteis proclamatioune.—(3.) Neill M^cWilliamne V^cNeill, ſfor the treſſonabill Intercowmoning with the Laird of M^cgregour, his kin and freindis that war at the murthour and heirſchipis in Glenfrune, and reſſett of thame within his hous, and geving meit and drink to thame wittinglie and willinglie, at dyuerſe tymes ſen thai war denuncet rebellis, &c.—(4.) AND ſiclyk, Johne M^ccoull Cheire, ſfor airt and pairt of the crewall Murthour and Burning of auchtene houſhalderis of the Clanlawren,¹ thair wyves and bairnis; committit fourtie ſax yeir ſyne, or thairby. ITEM, off airt and pairt of the Slauchter of v^mq^{le} Hew Stewart, ſerveand to my Lord of Athole; committit threttie yeir ſyne, or thairby: And in taking pairt with the Clan-Gregouris at the Heirſchip, committit the tyme ſoirſaid, aganis the Tutour of Bofrak. ITEM, for Intercowmoning with the Laird of M^cgregour and his complices that war at the ſfeild of Glenfrune, ſen thair denunciatioune; and geving of conforte, ſupplie and freindſchip to thame, contrair the tennour of the Proclamatioune. ITEM, for cowmone Thift, cowmone reſſett of thift, outputing and inputing of thift fra land to land, fra cuntrey (to cuntrey), baith of auld and new.

¹ See Jan. 20, 1604.

² Escorting.

³ On the way or gait.

VERDICT. The Aſſiſe, be the mouth of Mungo Lyndſay of Ballull, chancellor, ſſand, pronuncet and declairit the ſaidis Malcolmne, Duncan and Neill to be ſyylit, culpable and convict of the haill crymes and poyntis of Dittay aboue writtin: And the ſaid Johnne M^ccoull Cheire to be Clene, innocent and acquit of the ſaidis crymes.

SENTENCE. And thairfoir the ſaid Juſtice-depute, be the mouth of Robert Scott, dempſtar of Court, decernit and ordanit the ſaidis Malcolmne M^ccoull and Duncane M^cFadrik to be tane to the gibbet at the mercat croce of Edinburghe, and thair to be hangit quhill thay be deid; and all thair moveabill guidis to be eſcheit and inbrocht to his Maieſteis uſe, as convict of the ſaidis crymes.

¹ The M^cLawrens, or Maclarens, a Clan reſiding in Balquhiddier.

Slaughter — Fire-raising.

Mar. 2.—DAUID ARMESTRANG, fone to Sandeis Niniane.

Dilaitit, accuset and perfewit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vinq^{le} Johnne Johnneftoun, Perfone of Turnergarth. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of Robert Currie, fervand to the Baillie of the Watter of Leyth, and thre mafones with him, at the Oifleris-hous in the Lwn : And for the treflonabill Raifing of ffyre, and Burning of the faid Oifleris-hous.

VERDICT and SENTENCE. The fame Affife, as in the above cafe, pronounced a fimilar Verdict of Guilty againft Armftrang, who was hanged along with M^ccoull and M^cfadrik.¹

Masterful Stouthreif — Theft, &c.

Mar. 10.—THOMAS HARDIE, fone to James Hardie of Bowmylnerig.

Dilaitit of the crymes following, viz. Forfamekill as he, with his complices, laithie, in the moneth of Apryle laftbypaft, vnder fylence and cloud of nycht, betuix nyne and ten houres att ewin, vmbefett the hie way and paffage, betuix Leith and Edinburghe, to Jaques De la Berge, ane Fleming and ftrangear, he being rydand, in peceabill maner, vp fra Leith to the burgh of Edinburghe ; and thair fett vpon him, tuik his horfe be the heid, and caufit him lyeht fra his horfe, and thaireftir rypeit him ; and thifteouflic, be way of maifterfull stouthreif, ftall, reft and away-tuik fra the faid Jaques De la Berge twa purfis, ane mair and ane vther lefs, with ane grit quantitie of gold and filuer contenit thairin, being for the maift pairt Inglis money : togidder with ane gold ryng, fett with ane dyamond, with ane broun naig quhairon he raid : And he wes airt and pairt of the thifteous fteilling, reiffing, reffetting and away-taking thairof. ITEM, ffor the thifteous fteilling, conceiling, reffetting and away-taking of ane blak horfe fra James Libbertoun, in Nethir Libbertoun ; quhilk horfe he fauld thaireftir in Bow-castell, in England.

VERDICT. The Affife, be the mouth of . . . Cokburne of Chouflic, chancellor, ffand, pronounceit and declarit him to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the poyntis of Dittay, &c.

SENTENCE. To be tane to ane gybbet, ftandand beneath the mercat croce of Edinburghe, and thairvpoun to be hangit quhill he be deid ; and all his moveabill guidis, takis, fteidingis, &c. to be efcheit, &c.

Horse, Cattle, and Sheep-stealing.

Mar. 10.—WALTER DAUIDSOUN, callit of Callelie.

Convicted by the fame Affife, and ordained to be hanged along with Hardie,

¹ Birrel remarks, ' 7 MacGregors and Armftrangs wer hangit at the croffe.'

for stealing of horses, oxen and sheep, &c. from lands of Pittalishleuch, belonging to Dickfoun of Buchtrig, Sir Johnne Cokburne of Ormiftoun, kny^t, Justice clerk,¹ &c.

[Mr Williame Borthuik, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Mar. 15.—HECTOR TRUMBILL of Stanyledge; Hector Trumbill of Barnehillis; George Trumbill, his brother; and Gawin Trumbill, thair father-brother.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Williame, James, Robert, Johnne, Andro and Thomas Grameflawis, fones to vniq^{le} Johnne Grameflaw of Lytill Newtown.

Mr Robert Home of Carolyde, Hector Trumbill of Belfis and James Douglas of Caveris, as cautioners, amerciated for non-entry of the pannels, viz. the two first in 400 merks; and Douglas of Cavers, along with Trumbell of Barnehillis, in 1000 merks, 400 merks, and 400 merks. The pannels ordained to be denounced rebels, &c.

Cattle-stealing — Stouthreif, &c.

Mar. 20.—JOHNNE RENTOUN of the Scheillis.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the Steilling of ffourtene nolt fra James Burnet, &c. LYK AS, in the moneth of September, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfoir aucht yeiris, or thairby, vmbeset the lie way and passlage to certane cadgeris at the Brokin-mofs, quha war dryveand thre or four pakis of Inglis clayth, pertening to certane merchandis, inhabitantis of the burgh of Edinburghe, and thair, be way of Maisterfull stouthreif, staw, rest and away-tuik fra the saidis cadgeris foure pakis of Inglis clayth, and speciallie ane pak of Inglis clayth, pertening to Gray, mercheand burges of Edinburghe, estimat worth the fowme of Thre thousand merkis, money of this realme, &c. &c.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Mr James Home of Goddiferoft, all in ane voce, ffand the said Johnne to be Cleane, innocent and acquit of the hail crymes.

Wilfully hearing Mass celebrated.

May 9.—ARCHIBALD MACBREK, burges of Perth.

Dilatit, accuset and persewit, be Mr Robert Lyntoun, Aduocat substitute to Sir Thomas Hammiltoun, &c. for the crymes contenit in the DITTAY following.

ARCHIBALD M^cBREK, burges of Perth, Ye ar indytit and accuset; fforsamekill as it is statute and ordanit, be our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, and speciallie, be ane Act of his hienes fourtene

¹ The 10 of Marche, twa notabill thieffes hangit at the crosse, ane Thomas Hardie, and ane Davidson.—Birrel.

Parliament, haldin and begwn at Edinburghe vpon the aucht day of Junij, the yeir of God I^m.Vc. fourfoir fourtene yeiris, that in all tymes cuming, all wilfull heiraris of Mefs and conceillararis of the fame fall be execute to the death, and thair hail guidis and geir efcheitit to his hienes vfe, as thay fall be fund giltie and convict thairof, or declairit fugitiue for the fame, befoir the Justice or his deputtis, or the lordis of his Maiefteis Previe Counfall, as the faid Act at lenth beris : And trew it is, that Mr Robert Abercumbie, ane Jefuite and Preift, in the moneth of Marche laftbypaft, in the oulk (weck) befoir Palme Sunday laft, being reffet and ludget, with his man, in the faid Archibalds dwelling hous in Perth, ane hail nicht ; the faid Mr Robert maid the faid Archibald foirfene, that he was to fay ane Mefs vpon the morne, airtie in the moirning, in George Bofuallis hous in Perth, quhair my lord Inchaffera y and his famelie war ludget, and perfuaidit the faid Archibald to cum and heir the famyn : Lykas, vpon the morne, airtie in the moirning, in ane of the dayis of the oulk befoir Palme Sunday, the faid Mr Robert pafit firft over to the faid George Bofuallis houfe ; and the faid Archibald followit him, and pafit vp to the vpper Eifter chalmers of the faid ludgeing, quhair the faid Mr Robert Abircumbie faid ane Mefs : And ye, the faid Archibald, wilfullie and willinglie (being of the trew Religioun befoir your away-paffing furth of this cuntrie, and in your abfence furth of the famyn, made defectioun thairfra to Romifch Religioun), hard the faid Mefs, and reffaut the Communion after the Romane maner ; and conceillit the faying and heiring thairof, quhill ye was challanget. For the quhilk wilfull heiring of the faid Mefs and conceilling thairof, ye, the faid Archibald, being convict of the famyn, befoir the Justice-generall and his deputis, be Act of Parliament, ye aucht to be pwneifchet to the daith ; and your hail moveabill guidis and geir efcheit to our fouerane lordis vfe : To the taikin,¹ ye haif confeffit the hail premisses to be of veritie, be your Depofitiones, fubferyuit with your hand ; quhilk ye can nocht deny.

VERDICT. The Affyfe, be the mouth of James Nicolfoune, tailzeour in Edinburghe, chancellor, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the faid Archibald to be ffylet, culpabill and convict of the Wilfull heiring of Mefs, wittinglie and willinglie, but² compulfion ; and conceilling of the fame, quhill he was challanget ; accoirding to the faid Dittay, and accoirding to his Confefioun maid thairof in judgement, and Depofitiones productet, fubferyuit with his hand.³

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter—Horse and Cattle-stealing, &c.

May 15.—JOHNE BATESOUN, alias Jok of the Scoir ; Archibald Batiessoun, alias Priket vp Archie, brother to the faid Johnne ; and Adie Batiessoun, brother to the faid Johnne and Archie.

JOK OF THE SCOIR, dilatit, ffor airt and pairt of the flautcher of vniq^{le} Williame Tuedie of Olipher and thiftious fteilling of ane grit number of ky, oxin and naigis furth of Tueddell ; committit threttie yeir fyne, or thairby. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the fteilling of foure naigis furth of Sandiehillis ; and of threfcoir nolt furth of Langvrd. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the fteilling of four ky and tua horfe, with certane inficht, furth of Bankend in Craufurd-Johnne, pertening to Thomas Weir ; committit tua yeir fyne. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the fteilling fra William M^ccalla, in Glenbaithe, of ane meir, and certane inficht of his house; and hurting and wounding of the said Williame. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the steilling of tua naigis fra ane servand of Sir Johnne Keris, furth of the Spittellis. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the steilling of fyftene scoir of ky and oxin, with ane grit number of vther guidis, furth of my Lord zesteris boundis; committit a xvij yeir fyne, or thairby. ITEM, for steilling and away-taking of tua naigis fra Johnne Symfoun, with his cloik, quhinger and purse, quhairin thair was xxx s. ITEM, for cowmoun thift and cowmoun reffet of thift. —PRIKIT VP ARCHIE, dilaitit of airt and pairt of the thiftious steilling of fourtie nolt, furth of the Schereff of Airis boundis; and hurting and wounding of ane servand of the Schereffis, in redding thairof. ITEM, for airt of the steilling of tuentie naigis furth of Sandiehillis fra the pair cadgeris;¹ committit a thre yeir fyne: And for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of ane of the pair cadgeris, at that samyn tyme. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the steilling of sax nolt furth of the Nethir Snab; committit aucht yeir fyne, or thairby. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the steilling of ane grit number of scheip furth of Brigend, pertening to the Laird of Fawlydes servandis. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the steilling of xxxij oxin furth of Lammermure, pertening to the Laird of Innerleith. ITEM, for cowmoun thift and cowmoun reffet of thift, &c.—ADIE BATTIESOUN, dilaitit for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Johnne Naper, in company of the said Johnne his brother; and steilling of ane grit number of ky and oxin furth of Clydheid. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the steilling of the said Williame Mcall his meir, and haill inficht of his house; and hurting of the said Williame. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the steilling of ten scheip furth of the Hill-hous of Clyde, fra Gilbert Johnnestones men; committit a yeir fyne. ITEM, for the steiling of tua naigis a foure yeir fyne, furth of Sandiehillis, fra certane pair cadgeris. ITEM, for cowmoun thift, cowmone reffet of thift, outputing and inputing of thift, fra land to land, fra cuntrey to cuntrey, baith of auld and of new.

¹ In evidence, or testimony whereof.

² Without.

³ The sentence is not recorded.

VERDICT. For the quhilkis crymes, the saidis thre persones wer put to the knowlege of ane Assyse, and thair all, in ane voce, be the mouth of Donald Thornetoun, burges of Edinburghe, chancellor, stand, pronuncet and declairit the saidis Johnne, Archie and Adie Batiefones to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the crymes aboue specifeit, accoirding to thair Depositiones, gevin vp be thame thairof, and Confessioun of the samyn in Judgement.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercait croce of Edinburghe, and thair to be hangit on ane gibbet, quhill thair be deid; and thair haill moveabill guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht, &c.

¹ The Carriers, who, for hire, transported goods on pack-saddles, &c. By means of this useful class, most part of the merchandise and heavy carriages were conveyed to all parts of the kingdom. They usually travelled in companies, for mutual protection; but were often overpowered, and in many cases slain, in faithfully defending the property committed to their charge.

[Mr Williame Borthuik, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter — Bearing and Wearing of Pistolets.

May 16.—HECTOUR TRUMBILL of Lylsle (Lilliesleaf.)

Dilaitit for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Thomas Ker (of Craling), brother to the Laird of Farnihirst, and George Glaidner, his fervand : And for contravening of our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in beiring and weiring of Pistolettis : And vtheris crymes contenit in our fouerane lordis letteris direct thairvpoun.

Hectour Trumbill of Belfis vnlawit and amerciati, as cautioner, for nocht entrie of the said Hectour, in the panes contenit in the Actis of Parliament ; and the pannel adiudget to be denuncet rebell and put to the horne, and all his moveabill guidis to be efcheit, as fugitiue fra his hienes lawis for the saidis crymis.

Slaughter.

May 18.—WILLIAME STEWART, brother to my Lord Vchiltrie, Williame Stewart, sone to Sir Williame Stewart of Carftairis, kn^l.

Dilaitit for the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Robert Cathcart, wryter.¹

Maufe Aikman, relict of the said vniq^{le} Robert, producet our fouerane lordis letteris, deulie execute ; and offerit hir selff reddie to perfew.

THE JUSTICE continewis to the thrid day of the nixt Justice-air of Air, quhair thay duell, or sone vpon xv dayis wairning. Andro Lord Stewart of Vchiltrie and James Stewart of Lekprevik, become pleges and fouerties, coniunctlie and feuerallie. Johnne Grahame of Knokdoliane relieved of his caution.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Jun. 6.—WILLIAME MYDDILMEST of Lillie-Chappell and James Myddilneft, his brother-germaue.

Dilaitit for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of Thomas Ker of Craling, &c.²

Thomas Trumbill of Mynto, as cautioner, vnlawit in the pane of ane thousand merkis and four hundreth merkis for nocht entrie of the saidis pannels. The Justice ordainit thame to be denuncet rebell and put to the horne, and all thair moveabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Murder of the Laird of Warristoun — Punishment of breaking on the Wheel.

[FEW Cases of MURDER have excited so lively an interest in the public mind, at the time of their occurrence, as that of THE LAIRD OF WARRISTON. He was a person of considerable note in Edinburgh, and nearly connected with the ancient family of Kincaid of that ilk in Stirlingshire, then in possession of extensive estates in the counties of Edinburgh, Linlithgow, &c. JEAN LIVINGSTON, the young and beautiful murderess, was likewise a person of considerable rank, being a daughter of John Livingstone of Dunipace, and related to many of the first Families in Scotland.

¹ See Mar. 4, 1600.

² See May 16, 1604.

The property of Warriston being situated about a mile from the City of Edinburgh, news of the Murder instantly reached the proper authorities. Officers were dispatched, who succeeded in taking, 'red-hand,' 'THE LADY WARRISTOUN,' 'the faufe nourife,' as usual, the prime mover of this deed of darkness and treachery, and her two 'hyred women.' Weir alone, the actual perpetrator, escaped for a time, having refused to take the Lady along with him, in his flight; saying, 'You thall tarry still; and if this matter come not to light, you thall fay, "he died in the gallery," and I thall return to my Master's service: But if it be known, I thall fly, and take the cryme on me; and none dare pursue you!' Being taken 'red-hand,' the parties were immediately put to the knowledge of an Assise (without the formality of serving a Dittay, &c., as in ordinary cases), before the Magistrates of Edinburgh; or the Trial may have perhaps taken place before the Baron-bailie of the Regality of Broughton, within whose jurisdiction the property of Warristoun was situated, and sentence of death was passed upon them. Unfortunately, the greater part of the Criminal Records of the City of Edinburgh are lost; and, after many fruitless searches, no trace of the proceedings in these Cases can now be elsewhere obtained. The result is thus briefly and quaintly stated by two contemporaneous writers:— 'JOHNE KINCAID of Waristoun murderit be his awin wyffe and fervant man; and her nurishe being also upone the conspiracy: The said gentilwoman being apprehendit, scho was tane to the Girth-crosse,¹ upon the 5 day of July, and her heid struk fra her bodie, at the Cannagait-fit; quha deit very patiently. Her nurishe wes brunt at the same tyme, at 4 houres in the morneing, the 5 of July.—Birrel's Diary. 'UPON Fryday the 4 (5) of July,² (1600) THE LADY WARISTOUN, daughter to the Laird of Dunipace, was beheaded in the Cannogate, for the Murther of her husband. The Nurfe and ane hyred woman, her complices, were burnt in the Castlehill of Edinburgh. The horse-boy fled, being guiltie.'—Calderwood's Church History, MS. Advocates' Library.

An authentic and extremely interesting 'MEMORIAL' of her 'Conversion,' 'with an account of her carriage at her Execution,' was privately printed, in small Quarto, pp. 48, Edinburgh, 1827, from a paper preserved among Wodrow's MSS. in the Advocates' Library, by Charles Kirkpatrick Sharpe, Esquire, to whose learning, ingenuity, and high accomplishments, the Public has been so often indebted. The very limited impression of this morceau recherché, may plead the Editor's apology for stating, as briefly as possible, that this 'Tractate' is entitled, 'A Worthy and Notable Memorial of the great Work of Mercy, which God wrought in the Conversion of Jean Livingstone Lady Warristoun; who was apprehended for the vile and horrible Murder of her own husband, John Kincaid; committed on Tuesday, July 1, 1600; for which she was execute, on Saturday following: Containing an Account of her obstinacy, earnest repentance, and her turning to God; of the odd speeches she used, during her imprisonment; of her great and marvellous constancy; and of her behaviour and manner of her death: Observed by one who was both a seer and hearer of what was spoken.' From internal evidence, the writer seems to have been Mr James Balfour, the colleague of the notable Mr Robert Bruce. They were the appointed Ministers, in the North-west part of Edinburgh.

¹ The Cross, situated near the girth, or sanctuary of Holyrood, an ancient place of refuge, and still affording protection to debtors, when properly registered; who have liberty to walk within the precincts, free from the molestation of their creditors.

² It is probable that the sentence bore, that the pannels should be executed on the evening of Friday the 4th day of July. The subsequent early execution, at sunrise next morning, was effected, at the solicitation of the family of Dunipace, who indecently urged the Magistrates precipitately to lead Lady Warristoun to the scaffold, before sunrise, shortly after three o'clock in the morning. Owing to a plan, evidently preconcerted, the 'nourishe' and 'hyred woman' were burnt on the Castlehill at four o'clock, so that the populace, who might be so early astir, should have their attentions distracted at two opposite stations, nearly a mile apart from each other, and thus, in some measure, lessen the disgrace of the public execution. It is recorded that the Laird of Dunipace behaved with much apathy towards his daughter, whom he would not so much as see previous to her execution; nor yet would he intercede for her, through whose delinquency here reckoned his blood to be for ever dishonoured.

A great portion of this Memorial is occupied with a very affecting account of the state of her mind, and a faithful and striking delineation of its gradual opening and developement, through the patient and affectionate attentions of her spiritual advisers, from a state of perfect callousness and indifference to every thing connected with Religion and the awful situation in which she was placed, to perfect resignation to her fate, and a cheerful, but unfeigned repentance for all her past offences and crimes. So far as relates to her CONFESSION, it cannot be better related, than by quoting her own energetic words.—‘ I think I hear presently the pitifull and fearfull cries which he gave when he was strangled! And that vile sin which I committed, in murdering mine own husband, is yet before me. When that horrible and fearfull sin was done, I Jedyred the unhappy man who did it, (for my own part, the Lord knoweth I laid never my hands upon him to do him evil; but as soon as that man gripped him and began his evil turn, so soon as my husband cryed so fearfully, I leapt out over my bed, and went to the Hall; where I sat all the time, till that unhappy man came to me and reported that mine husband was dead;) I desired him, I say, to take me away with him; for I feared Tryall; albeit flesh and blood made me think my father’s moen¹ at Court would have saved me!’ ‘ As to these weemen who was challenged with me, I will also tell you my mind concerning them. God forgive the Nurse, for she helped me too well in mine evill purpose; for when I told her that I was minded to do so, she consented to the doing of it; And upon Tuesday, when the turn was done, when I sent her to seek the man who would do it, she said, “ I shall go and seek him; and if I get him not, I shall seek another! And if I get none, I shall do it myself!” (This the Nurse also confessed, being asked of it before her death.²) ‘ As for the other two weemen, I request that you neither put them to death, nor any torture, because I testify they are both innocent; and knew nothing of this deed before it was done, and the mean time of doing of it: And that which they knew, they durst not tell, for fear; for I had compelled them to dissemble. As for mine own part, I thank my God, a thousand times, that I am so touched with the sense of that sin now: for I will confess this also to you, that when that horrible Murder was committed first, that I might seem to be innocent, I laboured to counterfeit weeping; but do what I could, I could not find a tear: And so now I suffer; for the Lord would not have that high sin concealed, but would have it manifest, as it is his gracious will to be done.’

Owing to the rank of Lady Warristoun, and the powerful influence of her father and his friends, the manner of her death was, on their intercession, mitigated to decapitation by the well-known ‘ Maiden.’ The usual form of death, for females, in such cases, was of the most ignominious and shocking description,—burning, after being strangled at a stake,—and in atrocious instances, the Criminal was ‘ burnt quick!’ A very unbecoming zeal was displayed by her relations, to have her executed as privately as possible, and at such a time as would be unknown to the populace. They had first intended and applied for the unusual hour of 9 o’clock on Friday evening, as the time for her execution; which, however, was overruled. The ‘ Memorial’ states, that, ‘ After 3 o’clock in the morning, upon Saturday, the Magistrates wer brought into prison by her friends,³ to take her forth to suffer. Amongst them, some were too earnest to hast her away, that she might be execute, before any should know of it; albeit she was far otherwise minded, herself; for she purposed not to have gone forth till between 5 and 6 in the morning. On this, many, whom I will not name, came and said, “ Will you deprive God’s people of that comfort which they might have, in that poor woman’s death? And will you obstruct the honour of it, by putting her away, before the people rise out of their beds? You do wrong in so doing; for the more publick the death be, the more profitable it shall be to many; and the more glorious, in the sight of all who shall see it,” &c. The Magistrates granted also, that she might stay till sun-rising; but her friends⁴ were so importunate that it was not granted!’

The youth and beauty of Lady Warriston have been much expatiated upon, in the whole of the

¹ Fr. ‘ moyen,’ influence, interest.

² This is remarked by the writer, for the Lady Warriston was beheaded before the burning of the Nurse.

³ Relations.

⁴ Blood-relations.

numerous popular ballads which were made on this occasion; several of which are still sung and recited in various parts of Scotland! To those who feel curiosity in such matters, reference may be made to Jamieson's Ballads, I., 109, Kinloch's Ancient Scottish Ballads, p. 49, Buchan's Ballads, I., 56, &c.—Although, as the 'Memorial' expresses it, she was 'but a woman and a bairn, being the age of 21 years,' 'in the whole way, as she went to the place of Execution, she behaved herself so cheerfully, as if she had been going to her wedding, and not to her death! When she came to the scaffold, and was carried up upon it, she looked up to the Maiden with two longfome looks, for she had never seen it before, &c. This I may say of her, to which all that saw her will bear record, that her only countenance moved,¹ although she had not spoken a word! For there appeared such a majesty in her countenance and visage, and such a heavenly courage in her gesture, that many said, "That woman is ravished with a higher spirit than a man or woman's!"'

'THE summ of her CONFESSION, which almost was in a form of words, upon the four parts of the scaffold, to which she presented herself, was this.²

"THE occasion of my coming here, is to shew that I am, and have been a great sinner, and hath offended the Lord's Majesty; especially, of the cruell murdering of mine own husband; which, albeit I did not with mine own hands, for I never laid mine hands upon him all the time that he was murdering; yet I was the divider of it, and so the committer! But my God hath been alwise mercifull to me, and hath given me repentance for my sins; and I hope for mercy and grace at his Majesty's hands, for his dear son Jesus Christ's sake. And the Lord hath brought me hither to be an example to you, that you may not fall into the like sin as I have done: And I pray God, for his mercy, to keep all his faithfull people from falling into the like inconvenient as I have done! And therefore, I desire you all to pray to God for me, that he would be mercifull to me!"'

Her conduct on the scaffold appears to have been most heroic. After her devotional exercises were completed, 'then came to her one of her friends, with a clean cloath, to bind about her face.' To the fastening thereof, she took out of her mouth a pin, and gave it out of her own hand. The minister, after receiving her last farewell, 'could not abide longer beside her; but immediatly left the scaffold and departed. But she, as a constant faint of God, humbled herself on her knees, and offered her neck to the axe, laying her neck, sweetly and graciously, in the place appointed; moving to and fro, till she got a rest for her neck to lay in. When her head was now made fast to the Maiden, the Executioner came behind her, and pulled out her feet, that her neck might be stretched out longer, and so made more meet for the stroak of the axe; but she, as it was reported to me by him who saw it, and held her by the hands at this time, drew her leggs twice to her again, labouring to sitt on her knees, till she should give up her spirit to the Lord! During this time, which was long, for the axe was but slowly loosed, and fell not down hastily; after laying in of her head, her tongue was not idle, but she continued crying to the Lord, and uttered with a loud voice, those her wonted words, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit! O, Lamb of God, that taketh away the sins of the world, have mercy on me! Into thy hands, Lord, I commend my soul!" When she came to the middle of this last sentence, and had said, "Into thy hand, Lord," at the pronouncing of the word "LORD," the axe fell; which was diligently marked by one of her friends, who still held her by the hand, untill this time, and reported this to me.']

JUN. 26.—ROBERT WEIR, sumtyme fervande to the Laird of Dynniepace.³

Dilaitit of airt and part of the crewall Murthour of vinq^{le} Johnne Kincaid of Warieftoune; committit (on Tuesday) the first of Julij, 1600 yeiris.

PERSEVERIS.

Patrik Kyncaid, tutour of Warieftoune, Thomas, Archibald and Adame Kyncaid, all brether to the defunct.

¹ Her countenance alone would have excited emotion, although, &c.

² That is, she repeated her Declaration or Confession at each of the four corners of the scaffold; which was a stage or platform erected in the centre of the street, at the foot of the Canongate, near the Girth-cross.

³ On the margin, 'Convict and brokin on the row,' (wheel.)

ASSISA.

George Dewer in Pleafance,	David Hoipis fynyth,	John Couttis fkyner,
Johne Gairdner thair,	Henrie Kello in Leyth-wynde,	William Chalmer in Brochtoun,
Johne Henderfoun thair,	Johne Roger, Maifter of fence,	John Myller in the Canno-mylne,
James Nicolfoun tail ⁵ our,	Robert Taillifeir maltman,	Williame Bannatyne thair,
Johne Airmour merchand,	Thomas Galloway of Cairnehill,	George Roife thair.

The Affyfe cheiffis Thomas Galloway chancellor.

QUHILKIS perfones of Affyfe, being chofin, fworne and admittit, efter accufatioun of the faid Robert Weir, be Dittay, of the crymes following, to witt : FOR-SAMEKILL as vmq^{le} JEANE LEVINGSTOUNE, Guidwife of Warieftoune, haifing confauct ane deidlie rancour, haitrent and malice aganis vmq^{le} Johnne Kincaid of Warieftoune, for the allegit byting of hir in the arme, and ftreking hir dyuerfe tymes, the faid Jeane, in the moneth of Junij I^m.Vj^e. yeiris, directit Jonet Murdo hir nwreife to the faid Robert, to the Abbay of Halyrudhous, quhair he was for the tyme, defyreing him to cum down to Warieftoune, and fpeek with hir, anent the crewall and vnnaturall taking away of hir faid husbandis lyfe. And the faid Robert haifing cum douw twyfe or thryfe to the faid vmq^{le} Jeane, to the faid place of Warieftoune, he could get na fpeich of hir. At laft, the faid vmq^{le} Jeane, vpone the firft day of Julij, 1600 yeiris, directit the faid Jonet Murdo hir nwreife to him, defyreing him of new agane to cum down to hir ; quhairto the faid Robert grantit : Lykas, at eftir none the faid day, the faid Robert cam to the faid place of Warieftoun, quhair he fpak with the faid vmq^{le} Jeane, and conferrit with hir, concerning the crewall, vnnaturall and abhominable murdering of the faid vmq^{le} Johnne Kincaid. And for performeance thairof, the faid Robert Weir was fecreitlie convoyit to ane laich feller, within the faid place, quhairin he abaid quhill mydnycht : About the quhilk tyme, he, accompaneit with the faid vmq^{le} Jeane Levingftoun, cam furth of the faid laich feller vp to the hall of the faid place, and thairfra cam to the chalmer quhair the faid vmq^{le} Johnne was lyand in his bed, takand the nychtis reft ; and haifing enterit within the faid chalmer, perfaveing the faid vmq^{le} Johnne to be walknit out of his fleip, be thair dyn, and to preife ouer his bed ftok, the faid Robert cam than rymmand to him, and maift crewallie, with thair faldit neiffis gaif him ane deidlie and crewall ftraik^{le} on the vane-organe,¹ quhairwith he dang the faid vmq^{le} Johnne to the grund, out-ouer his bed ; and thaireftir, crewallie ftrak him on his bellie with his feit ; quhairvpoun he gaif ane grit cry : And the faid Robert, feiring the cry fould haif bene hard, he thaireftir, maift tyranouffie and barbarouffie, with his hand, grippit him be the thrott or waifen, quhilk he held faft ane lang tyme, quhill he wirreit him ; during the quhilk tyme, the faid Johnne Kincaid lay ftruggilling and fechting in the panes of daith vnder him.² And fa, the faid vmq^{le} Johnne was crewallie

¹ The jugular vein. It has often, but improperly, been fuppofed to fignify the flank or iliac vein.

² This is preciesly the mode which was, more than two centuries afterwards, adopted by the infamous murdreift and flaine be the said Robert ; and he is airt and part thairof : As at mair lenth is contenit in the said Dittay.

VERDICT. The Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouth of the said Thomas Galloway, chancellor, chofiu be thame, ffind, pronuncet and declairit the said Robert Weir to be flylit, culpable and convict of the crymes aboue specifeit, mentionat in the said Dittay ; and that in respect of his Confessioun maid thairof, in Judgement.

SENTENCE. The said Justice-depute, be the mouth of James Sterling, dempster of Court, decernit and ordanit the said Robert Weir to be tane to ane skaf-fold, to be fixt besyde the croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be brokin upoune ane Row,¹ quhill he be deid ; and to ly thairat, during the space of xxiiij houris. And thaireftir, his body to be tane vpon the said Row, and fet vp, in ane public place, betuix the place of Wareftoun and the town of Leyth ; and to remane thairupoune, ay and quhill command be gevin for the buriall thairof. Quhilk was pronuncet for dome.

Burning of House of Langholm — Horse and Cattle Stealing, &c.

Jan. 11, 1605.—INGRIE AIRMESTRANG, in Inzjeholme ; Archie Airme-strang, the Mercheand, in the Hoilhous ; Niniane Arme-strang, in Tortwne ; Johnne Arme-strang, in the Hoilhous ; Johnne Michelfoun, in Tortwne ; Cristie Airme-strang, thair, callit Nausé Cristie ; Johnne Thomefoun, in Dwmefcheilburne ; Archibald Arme-strang of Flaskholme ; Archibald Arme-strang, callit Nausé Archie ; Niniane Airme-strang, callit Roweis Niniane, in Murthome ; Cristie Airme-strang, sone to the Guidman of Langholme (Johnne Airme-strang ;) Mathow Twrnour in Hoilhous, and Johnne Couthird.

Dilaitit for airt and pairt of the tressonable Burning of the Houfe of the Langholme ; and taking of Harbert Maxwell of Cavenfe captiue and priffoner : And for the thiftious steilling of certane horse, vult, scheip, gait : And burning of certane coirnis, pertening to the said Harbert, Alexander Bell in Eikinhohne, Williame Bell in Gallofyde and George Irwing in Holmeheid ; committit in the Bushe and his gang, at the West-port of Edinburgh, to suffocate the wretched victims of their hellish traffic. The quaintness of the ancient style even aggravates the horror of the scene.

¹ The cruel and horrible punishment of death on the wheel, has ever been very infrequent in Scotland. Weir was literally broken upon a cart-wheel, as appears by the following entry in Robert Birrel's Diary : ' Robert Weir broken on ane cart-wheel, with ane couler of ane plench, in the hand of the hangman, for murdering the Laird of Warriston, quhilk he did, 2 Julii 1600.' The case of Weir is the first recorded instance of such punishment having been inflicted. This lingering and agonizing manner of execution, borrowed from the practice of France, Germany, &c. had perhaps been suggested by the unprovoked and barbarous nature of the murder. It was well calculated to make a deep impression on the minds of the people, corresponding in some measure to the great excitement created in the public mind, by the occurrence of a deed of so deep a die, and perpetrated so near to the metropolis.

moneth of September, I^m.V^c. fourfoir ane yeiris; and vtheris crymes spicfeit in our fouerane lordis letteris.

PERSEWARIS, Harbert Maxwell of Kavenfe, Alexander Bell in Ekieholme, Williame Bell in Gallofyde, George Irving in Holmeheid.

PRELOCUTOR for the pannell, Mr Johne Ruffell, (advocate.)

It is allegit be the pannell, that be the lawis and Actis of Parliament, in all eriminall actiones, the pairtie defender aucht to haif ane antentik coppie of the Dittay and contentis of the fummendis: Bot trew it is, that thair is na coppie delyuerit to the defenderis, bot only tikkettis; and for verifeing thairof, producet the faidis tikkettis, viz. four in nummer: And thairfoir na proces.

THE JUSTICE repellis the allegeance, in respect of the executiones.

The pannell askis instrumentis, that the Guidman of Kavenfe abydis at the letteris and executionis, and of the vsing thairof.—It is allegit, that Johne and Cristie Airmeftrangis, defenderis, the tyme lybellit of the crymes lybellit, war within yeiris (in minority;) the faid Johne of the age of viij yeiris, and Cristie of the age of foure yeiris; and fa war nocht doli capaces; and be the law of this realme, can nocht be put to the tryell of ane Affyse.

The haill perfeweris, vnderftanding that Archie Airmeftrang the mercheand, Agnes Cristie Airmeftrang and Anneis Archie ar Innocent of the crymes lybellit, paffis fra thame: Quhairupoune thay askit instrumentis. The perfeweris also paffis fra Roweis Niuiane Airmeftrang simpliciter; quhairnpon he askit instrumentis.

Mr Airthour Scott of Newburcht and Gemilfclench become pledge and fouertie that Harbert Maxwell, his wyfe, bairnis, &c. fall be harneles and fkeytblis in thair bodeis, landis, guidis and geir of the faidis Johne and Cristie A., fones to Johne A. of the Langholme; the faid Johne vnder the pane of ane thowfand pundis, and the faid Cristie vnder the pane of fyve hundreth pundis.

Continued to the air of ‘Dumfreis, tertio Itineris, (vel super premonitione) xv dierum.’ (See Vol. II. p. 479.)

Burning the Castle of Langholme, &c.

Jan. 11.—JOHNE AIRMESTRANG of Langholme.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the treflonabill Raifing of fyre about Harbert Irwingis hous in Murthholme, and burning ane grit pairt thairof: And lykways for airt and pairt of the treflonabill Raifing of fyre at the Castell of Langholme, and burning of ane grit pairt of the barnes, byres, stables and vther office-houffis of the faid Place of Langholme: And burning of the haill inficht pleneiffing being thairin; togidder with thre barnes full of heir and corne; and xxiiij ftakkis of corne, ftanding in the barne yaird; and fourfcoir dargis¹ of hay, with ane kilfull¹ of malt : And for airt and pairt of the thiftious steilling of threttie nolt, with fax or fevin horfe and naigis, furth of the said Place of the Langholme : Qubilkis all and findrie guidis, geir, coirnes, horfe, nolt and remanent guidis, pertenit to Harbert Maxwell of Kavenfe : committit be the said Johnne, the moneth of September, I^m.V^c. fourfcoir ane yeiris: And fielyk, for airt and pairt of the tressonabill vsurpation of his Maiesteis autoritie vpon him, in taking in of the said Harbert Maxwell of Kavenfe captiue and priffoner ; and transpourt- ing him in England, at the tyme foirsaid. ITEM, for Burning of Williame Bellis housse in Gallowfyde, with tua barnes full of beir, and tua stakkis of aittis stand- ing in his barne-3aird : AND for the thiftious steilling fra him of tuentie nolt, threfcoir scheip and tuentie gait, &c. ITEM, for Burning of Alexander, Richerd and Fergie Bellis houffis in Dikinholme, and steilling threfcoir nolt, tua hun- dreth scheip and threfcoir gaittis : ITEM, for Burning and destroying of David and George Irwingis duelling houffis in Holmeheid, with fax barnes full of beir and corne, and aucht roukis of corne, standing in thair corne-3aird, and tuentie dargis of hay ; committit the tyme foirsaid ; vpoun set purpois and prouisioun.

¹ Darg usually signifies a day's work, as much as one man can accomplish in a day, or ‘dayis-werk.’

Sir James Johnnestoun of that Ilk of Dunskeillie, kny^t, as cautioner, vulawit and amerciat in the pane of ane thousand merkis money.—The Justice adjudge the said Johnne Armestrang of Langholme, to be denuncet our souerane lordis rebell, and put to the horne ; and all his moveabill guidis to be escheit, &c.

Arsetting Denounced Rebels, &c.—Resisting his Majesty's Guard.

Mar. 12.—RINGANE² AIRMESTRANG, callit New-maid Ringane, and Will Airmestrang of Rowan-burne.

Dilaitit of contravening the Actis of Parliament, in Ressetting and assisting the Kingis Maiesteis rebellis, &c.

DITTAY at the instance of Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Monkland, knycht.

FORSAMEKILL as it is statute and ordenit be our souerane lordis Actis of Parliament, that nane rebell aganis his Maiesteis persoune nor his autoritie ; and quha fa makis the said rebelloun, falbe pweist thairfore, eftir the quantitie³ of that rebelloun ; As the said Act beris. And als, be ane vther Act of Parliament, it is statute and ordanit, that na maner of man, within this realme, wittanlie or wilfullie resset, supplie, mantene, defend or do favouris to ony of our souerane lordis rebellis, and att his hienes horne, vnder the pane of deid and confiscatioun of all thair moveabill guidis ; and to be accut heiryvoun att particuler dyettis ; as the said Act beris. And trew it is, that Johnne Murray of Stable-Gortoune, Cuddie of the Bankhous, Cristie of Langholme, Andro of the Langholme and Johnne Baittie of the Scheill, fugitives and outlawis, being denunceit rebellis and att the horne, att the instance of Bernard Lyndfay of the Grange, for nocht making redres and payment to the said Bernard, of the particuler guidis contenit in the Decreit obtenit be the said Bernard aganis thame, for thair maisterfull Stouthreiff and Murthoure, committit be thame, viz. For the maisterfull stouthreiff fra Archbald Lyndfay of his horse and armour ; and fra Williame Lyndfay, brother to the Laird of Co-

¹ Kilfull.

² Ninian.

³ Extent, measure.

vintonne, of his horſe and armour; and fra James Baillie, guid-fone to the Laird of Covintonne, of his hors and armour; and fra James Lyndſay, of his hors and armour; fra Jok Braidwod, of his hors and armour; fra Thomas Fiſcher, of his hors and armour; fra Robert Gybfoun, of his hors and armour; fra Williame Thomſoun, his hors and armour; Jok Fiſcher, his hors and armour; Jok Kay, his hors and armour; fra Alexander Lyndſay, his hors and armour; Johnne Tod, his hors and armour; Robert Kay, his hors and armour; George Brown, his horſe and armour: Cuthbert Boyd, his horſe and armour; Andro Haddo, his hors and armour; Jok Lyndſay of the Myll, his hors and armour; vmq^{le} Johnne Lyndſay and Edward Tynto, thair horſſis and armour: Qnhilkis vmq^{le} Johnne Lyndſay, Edward Tynto, togidder with Symone Fiſcher, feruitour to Sir James Hammitoune of Libbertoune, wer crewallie flayne be the ſaidis perſones, in following of thame, to red¹ leill mennis guidis, in oppin day-lycht; the ſaidis rebellis being rynnand ane day forrow² and heirſchip throw the countrey: AND Robert Hepburne of Aulderſtoune, Leutennent of his Maieſteis Gaird, accompaneit with ane number of the ſaid Gaird, being direct to aſſiſt and concur with the ſaid Barnard Lyndſay, vpoune the . . . day of Nouember laſtbypaſt, to poynd and diſtrein³ie the ſaidis rebellis guidis and geir, for the valour³ of the ſaidis hors and armour, conforme to ane Decreit gewin aganis thame be Andro Lord Stewart of Vchiltrie, Leutennent and Warden of the Weſt Marchis of this realme, in ane Court of Redres, hauldin in the Tolbuith of Drimfreis, the xxix day of December, I^m.V^o.lxxxvij yeiris: IT IS of veritie, that thay and ather of thame, being foirſene of the ſaid Robertis cuning, thay being accompaneit with the ſaidis rebellis, with convocatioun of our ſouerane lordis liegis, all bodin in feir of weir, with jakis, lanceis and vtheris wappinis, invaſiue, raiſe in hoſtile maner foirſaid, vpon the day foirſaid, at aucht houris before ſone ryſing, within the boundis of Esk,⁴ and thair mantenit, defendit, ſuppleit and aſſiſtit the ſaidis rebellis, and ſett vponn the ſaid Robert Hepburne and remanent his Maieſteis Gaird, in executioun of our ſouerane lordis authoritie, in poynding of the ſaidis rebellis guidis; perſewit thame of thair lyves, and chaiſſit thame be the ſpace of aucht myles for thair ſlauchteris: And ſua, thai and ather of thame hes committit maniſeſt rebellious aganis his Maieſteis authoritie; and he (they) oppinlie mantenit and defendit the ſaidis rebellis, being at his Maieſteis horne, for the ſaidis crymes: And thairthrow, hes contravenit the tennour of the ſaidis Actis of Parliament; and the panis thairin contenit aucht to be execute aganis (them.)

The Aduocat takis iſtrumentis of the ſweiring of the Aſſyſe, and proteſtis for Wilfull Errour, in cais they acquit. The Aſſyſe takis iſtrumentis of the pannellis Confeſſioun maid be thame, that thai arraife and perſewit the Gaird.

VERDICT. The Aſſyſe, be the mouth of Johnne Weir of Clowburne, chancellor, ſſand, pronunceit and declarit the ſaidis Ringan and Will to be culpabill, ſſylit and couict of the crymes aboue writtin.

SENTENCE. The Juſtice-depute, be the mouth of James Henryfoun, dempſtar of Court, decernit and ordenit the ſaidis Ringan and Will to be tane to ane gibbet beſyde the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit quhill thay wer deid; and all thair movabill guidis to be eſcheit, &c.

‘Falſet’ — Perjury — ‘Man-swearing’ — Cruel Oppreſſion.

Mar. 15.—ALEXANDER CHENE, in the Haltoun of Balhalvie, Alexander Waſtland, his ſerveand, and Alexander Croy, feruitour to the Laird of Auchterallane.

¹ To get reſtoration, &c. ² Literally, running a day-foray through the country, openly carrying on their violence and depredations in broad daylight. ³ Value, ‘avail.’ Lat. valor. ⁴ Eskdale.

Dilaitit of Periurie and menfweiring of thame felffis, in prefens of the Lordis of Secreit Counfall.

DITTAY, at the inflance of Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Monkland, Aduocat.

FORSANEKILL as thay and thair complices, being perfewit befor the Lordis of his hienes Secreit Counfall, ffor cuming vpoun the xxvj day of December laft, att mydnycht, to George Duncanis duelling hous in Ardo, quhair he, with his wyffe and famelie, wer in peciabil and quyet maner for the tyme, takand the nychtis rest, lipning¹ for na iniurie nor oppreffiou to haif bene offerit to thame; and thair, violentlie brak vp the dur of the faid Georgis duelling hous, enterit thairin, and tuik the faid George and his wyffe, fcho being grit with chyld, out of thair naikit beddis, band thame with coirdis, and maift crewallie and vnmercifullie, but² pitie or compaffioun of the faid Georgis wyffis eftait, fcho being grit with chyld, as faid is, frak and dang thame with rounGIS³ and batounis brocht with thame for the purpoife; fa that the faid George wyfe almaift pairtit with bairne; and haifing maift fchamefullie ftrukin and leifchit the faid George him felff with beltis: Committing thairby maift oppin Oppreffioune. For the quhilk Oppreffioune, the faid George, haifing rafit oure fouerane lordis Letteris, and thairwith fummond the faid Alexander Chene to compeir before the Lordis of his hienes Secreit Counfall, the fourtene day of March instant, to anfuer to the faid Complaint; and haifing, be vertew of the faidis Letteris, lykwyfe fummond the faid Alexander Waffland and Alexander Crag to beir witneffing in the faid mater; quhom the faid Alexander Chene, haifing fallie fubornit to periure and menfweir thame felffis, to depone fallie aganis thair knowledge and confcience in the faid mater, and to conceill the treuth thairof: The faid Alexander Chene and remanent perfounes, compeirand before the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, the faid xiiij day of March instant, and being deiplie fworne, be thair grit aithis, to depone and tell the treuth in the faid mater, and to beir leill and fuithfaft witneffing thairin; being vnmyndfull of thair dewtie towardis God, and haifing na regaird nor reverence to our fouerane lordis auctoritie and lawis, and his hienes maift honorabill Counfall, fallie, be thair Depofitiounes, Periureit and Menfweir thame felffis; the faid Alexander Croy and Alexander Waffland deponing, that thay wer nather present att the faid deid, nor knew nathing in the faid mater; and the faid Alexander Chene, be his Depofitiounis, declairit, that he fould be content to be hangit,⁴ in caice it fould be provin or tryit that he frak the faid George Duncan or his wyffe: And lykewyfe denyng that he had fubornit the faidis witneffis, or instructing thame to deny or conceill the treuth: AND nochtwithftanding thairof, the faid Alexander and the faidis witneffis being re-examinat, hes all deponit that thay wer all present att the faid fact and Oppreffioune, and that the faid Alexander Chene frak the faid George Duncane with ane rung, and beltit him naikit with ane fword-belt; and wer all present att the faid manifest Oppreffioune: And als confellit, that the faid Alexander Chene had instructit, feducit and fubornit the faidis Alexander Croy and Alexander Waffland to Periure and Menfweir thame felffis, and depone before the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, that thay wer nocht present with him att the faid fact, and knew na thing thairof: AND SA, thay and ilk ane of thame hes nocht only committit manifest Oppreffioune be the faid fact and hes Periureit and Menfworne thame felffis: bot als, hes committit manifest ffalfett; and as periureit and fals perfonis ar nocht worthie to leue; aucht and fould be pwneift, conforme to the Lawis of this realm and to the Commoun-Law; in terrou and example of vtheris faull-les⁵ perfounes, to commit the lyke Periurie and ffalfett in tyme cuming.

ASSISA.

Robert Hog, fumtyme feruitour to my Lord of Marfchell, Johnne Ramfay of Quhytehill, Daudid Wod, brother to the Laird of Balbegnocht, James Stewart, agent for my Lady Atholl, Robert Crawford of Caverhill, Johnne Mowbray, portioner of Crawmond.

The remainder are burgeffes, &c.

¹ Trusting that no injury, &c. ² Without. ³ Cudgels. ⁴ Other instances are on record of witnesses perjuring themselves, and making this awful asseveration, being taken at their word. ⁵ Soul-less, devoid of conscience.

VERDICT. The Assise, be the mouthe of the said Johnne Ramsay, chancellor, ffand, pronunceit and declairit the pannell to be ffylit, culpable and convict of the crymes aboue writtin, conforme to thair Depositiounis and Confessioun.

SENTENCE. The Justice-depute, be the mouth of James Stirling, dempftar of Court, decernit and ordained the said Alexander Chene to be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburghe, and thair his heid to be strikin fra his body: And the said Alexander Wajiland to be tane to ane gibbet befyde the mercat croce of Edinburghe, and thair to be hangit quhill he be deid: And the said Alexander Croy to be skurgeit throw the toune; as he that fyrst confest the veritie: And all thair movable guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to our souerane lordis vse, as fugitiue fra the lawis for the saidis crymes.

Slaughter.

Mar. 28.—JOHNE SPOTTISWOID OF THAT ILK.

Dilaitit for airt and pairt of the fellow and crewall Slauchter of vmq^{le} Thomas Quhippo of Leyhouffis; committit in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God 1^m.V^c.lxxxv yeiris; vpoun fet purpois, provisoun and foirthocht felony.

James Tennant of Lynhous, as fouertie, ordanit to be vnlawit and amerciati in the pane of ffyve hundreth merkis for nocht entry of the said Johnne, to vnderly the law, &c.; and als, adiudget the said Johnne to be denunceit our souerane lordis rebell and put to his hienes borne, and all his moveabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Messenger Forgeing and Signeting False Letters and Executions, &c.

Mar. 28.—WILLIAME STRAUCHANE, messenger.

Dilaitit ffor the ffalshefeing, fforgeing, Counterfuteing, devyfeing, subseryveing and fignetting of foure fals Charges and Executiones, with the Denunciatioun of Hoirning following thairupoune, ffalslie vset and execute be him. Quhilkis charges and denunciatioun, and everie ane of them, are, be Decreit of the Lordis of Sessioun, of the dait the fevint day of Marche instant, civillie and lauchfullie Improvin, and ffund be the saidis Lordis to be ffals and ffenzeit in thame selffis, &c.

VERDICT. The Assise, be the mouth of Peter McDowell of Machermoir, chancellor, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said Williame (in respect of the said Lordis Decreit, productet aganis him, ffinding the saidis Executiones to be ffalfe and ffenzeit) to be Fylit, culpabill and convict thairof.

SENTENCE. The Justice-depute, be the mouth of James Henderfoun, dempfter, decernit and ordanit the said Williame to be scurget throw this burgh; and to be depnyet of his office of messengerie and notarie, and nevir to vse the samyn in ony tyme cuming; vnder the paue of hanging, but (without) fauour; as he that was convict of the crymes aboue writtin.

Hurting — Wounding — Mutilation.

Apr. 9.—PATRIK CARKETTILL of Markill, George Carkettill, his brother, Johnne Broune, brother to the Laird of Colstoune, and Robert Smyth, seruant to the said Patrik.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Hurting, Wounding and Mutilatioun of James Libbertoun, seruant to James Lord of Balmirrienoeh of his left eie; and remanent crymes contenit in the Letteris.

PERSEWARIS, James Libbertoune, Mr Thomas Hoip, Aduocat-substitute.

PRELOCOUTOURIS for the persewer.

The Laird of Henderstoun, Mr Robert Lyntoun, Aduocat-substitute for the Kingis Aduocat. PRELOCOUTOURIS for the pannell, the Laird of Wauchtoun, the Laird of Innerleyth, the Laird of Craigmiller, Sir Johnne Prestoun of Valafeild, Mr Johnne Russell, Mr Alexander King, Aduocattis.

My Lord President¹ productet the Kingis Maiesteis Warrant; quhair of the tennour followis.

JAMES R.

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and 5oure deutes, We greit 5ow weil. In þe tryell of þe particular mater persewit before 5ow, at þe instance of James Libbertoun in Neper Libbertoune aganis Patrik Carkettill of Over Libbertoun and his complices, for þe mutulatioun of þe said James; committit be þame in þe moneth of . . . lastbypast: In cais (it) be fund be 5ow that 3e can nocht, for þe present, ressaue þe tryall of þe said mutulatioun, in respect of þe sehortnes of tyme interuening, and before the expyring of 3eir and day estir þe committing of þe fact; and swa 3e falbe forceit to continew 3our proceeding in þe mater: In quhilk cais, it is our speciall will and pleasour, that 3e fall command the saidis persounes to enter þair persounes in waird, within þe Castell of Blaknes, thairin to remane, quhill thay be ffynit be our Counfall þair, for þair cryme and offence committit be þame; and frome þame obtene Warrant for þair releif. Quhairanent thir presentis falbe 3our Warrant. Gewin att Grenewiche, this tuentie day of March, 1605.

THE Justice continewis this dyet to the saxtene day of Maij nixtocum; and ordanis the persounes on pannell to entir in waird, within the Castell of Blaknes, within xlvijj houris; and to find caution to that effect.²

Sir George Prestoun of Craigmiller, kny^t, become pledge and fouertie, &c.; and that thay fall enter in waird, &c. thairin to remane, and onnawayis to depairt furth thair of, quhill thay be fred be ane Warrant; and that vnder the panes following, viz. ffor the said Patrik ane thousand merkis, the saidis George and Johnne fyve hundreth merkis, and the said Robert tua hundreth merkis.

Intercommuning with MacGregors.

Apr. 26.—COLENE BRUCE in Middilhauch of Ruthven (Huntingtour.) Patrik Bruce thair and Alexander Bruce thair.

Dilaitit ffor the tressonable Resfet, Supplie and Intercowmoning with Johnne Dow Galt M^cgregour, Johnne Dow M^cewin M^cgregour and Gregour M^cewin, ¹ James Lord Balmerinoeh, President of the College of Justice.

² The case was farther delayed to May 29, but no entry occurs of that date; so that it is likely the parties compounded with the Treasurer and private party, by payment of a stipulated fine.

cowmone theivis, tratouris and rebellis to his Maieftie; and that within thair houffis in the Middill-hanch of Ruthven and dynerfe vtheris places, mony and dynerfe tymes, in the yeiris of God, I^m.Vj^c. and thre and foure yeiris; eftir the Murthour of Glenfrwne,¹ and eftir the faidis perfones war declairit rebellis and tratouris, and all our fouerane lordis leigis war lauchfullie prohibeit and difchargit to reffett, fupplie, affist or intercommown with the faidis M^cgregouris, rebellis and fugitiues, as faid is, vnder the pane of Treffone.

For the quhilkis crymes aboue writtin, the faidis perfones on pannell becum in our fouerane lordis will. Qubairupone Sir Thomas Hammiltoune (of Monkland, kny^t, Aduocat to our fouerane lord) askit instrumentis.

Aug. 6.—THE KING'S WILL was this day declared against the pannels, as follows.

JAMES R.

JAMES, be pe grace of God, King of Gritt Britane, France and Ireland, defender of the ffaith. To our Justice, Justice clerk and your deputis, greting. Forfamekill as Colene, Patrick and Alexander Bruces in the Mydilhauch of Huntingtour, being callit and conuenit befor you, ffor the Affisting, Reffett, Supplie and Intercommowning with the CLANGREGOUR, aganis the tennour of our Proclamations maid pairanent; thay ar becum in our will for the fame: And albeit thay haif incurrit and mereit the pane of deathe, for that cryme, zit We, of our fpeciall grace and mercie, ar content to difpenfe with the rigour of the law; and haif declairit and declaires our Will as followis, to witt: That pe faidis perfones fall be Baneift the haill boundis of our dominiones, during pe haill dayis of pair lyf-tymes; vnder the pane of deid, and to be hangit but forder proces: And that thay find fufficient and refponfall cautioneris and fouerteis, actit in the buikis of our Adiornall or Secreit Counfall, that betuix the day and dait heirof, and the tuentie day of August nixtocum, thay fall depairt and pafs furth of our dominiones; and nocht returne agane within pe famyn, during thair lyf-tymes, vnder the pane of ffyve thoufeand merkis, to be payit be the faidis cautioneris coniunctlie and feuerallie, in cais pe faidis perfones or ony of thame failzie in the premiffes; the ane half of the faid pane to ws and our Thefaurer in our name, and pe vper half to Dauid Lord Scone,² our Comptroller, befydis the pane of deid to be incurrit be pe criminallis pame felffis; with this prouifion, that in caice the faidis criminallis or ony of thame fall happin to returne within our dominiones, and nawayis commit ony violence, harme or iniurie aganis ony of our fubiectis afoir pair apprehenfion, in that caice pair cautioneris perfeward and apprehendand thame, and prefenting thame to Justice, the executioun of pe faidis criminallis fall liberat pe faidis cautioneris of all payment of the pecuniall fowme foirfaid: And gif thay fall happin to commit ony violence or harme aganis ony of our fubiectis, eftir pair returning within our dominiones; in that caice, pair cautioneris to be fubiect to the payment of the pecuniall fowme foirfaid, and the criminallis thame felffis to vnderly the perfonall pweifchment foirfaid: Commanding heirby you our faid Justice to pronunce this our Will judiciallie; and to caus thir prefentis be infert in the buikis of our Adiournall. Gevin att Grenewiche, the . . . day of Junij, 1605.

(Sic fubfcribitur) MONTROTS, Commiffionar. AL. Cancell.³

Patrik Bruce of Fingask and Mr Alexander Bruce, fear of Culmalindie, become cautioners, and the Bond is registered at length; the witneffes are George Bruce of Carnok, Sir Johnne Bruce of Airth, knycht, Johnne Kincaid, writer, and Johnne Kemp, his feruitour.

¹ See Jan. 20, 1604. ² Sir David Murray of Gospertie, afterwards Viscount Stormont, whose name fo frequently occurs in the matter of Gowrie's Conspiraey. ³ Alexander Lord Fyvie, Chancellor, afterwards Earl of Dunfermline.

Hurting and Wounding — Mutilation.

May 9.—GEORGE FORRESTER, sumtyme seruant to my Lord of Roxburcht.

Dilaitit, accusit and persewit be James Skirving in Gilkerstoun of the DITTAY following, viz.

FORSAMEKILL as the said George, haifing confaet ane deidlie feid, rancour and malice aganis the said James Skirving, sumtyme in Humbie and now in Gilkerstoun, for the allegit hurting of him ; the said George, to be revenget thairof, without regard of justice, in the moneth of Januar, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfoir fyftene yeiris, vnderstanding that the said James was to cum furth of the Place of Humbie, and to pas hame to his awin duelling-hous, than in Humbie mylne, he darnit him selff in ane bourtrie bus,¹ at the heid of Wolfstait ; and in the said James bycuning, sett vpon him, and be way of brigancie,² vnder silence and clud of nycht, betuix aucht and nyne howis at evin, with ane swoird and quhinger in his hand, maist crewallie persewit him for his slauchter, hurt and woundit him in his richt airme and richt hand, and hes mutilat and made him impotent of the samyn ; and gaif him auchtene bludie and deidlie woundis ; and left him lyand for deid vpon the grund : And the said George was airt and pairt of the hurting, wounding and mutilatioune of the said James Skirving ; committit in maner and at the tyme soirsaid, vpon set purpos, prouisioun and foirthocht felony.

PERSEWER, James Skirving, sumtyme in Humbie, and now in Gilkerstoune.

PRELOCOUTOUR for the persewer, Mr Walter Bellenden.

PRELOCOUTOURIS for the pannell.

Mr Johne Ruffell, Sir Jedione Murray, My Lord Cranstoune, Mr Laurence M^cGill.

It is allegit be the persewer, that the pairtie defender is at the horne ; and thairfoir na prelocoutouris can compeir and defend in this persute.—It is answert be Mr Johne Ruffell, that albeit he be at the horne, and lauchfullie at the horne, yit he may compeir for the rebell. Secundo, the Hoirning is null, becaus the pannell being than seruant to my Lord of Roxburcht,³ the denunciation at the mercait croce of Edinburghe, and registratioune in the Schereffis buikis of Edinburghe is nocht lauchfull, nor accoirding to the Act of Parliament, bot sould haif bene denuncet at Jedburcht, and registrat in the Schereffis buikis of the Scheredom of Roxburcht.—It is replyt be the persewer, that my Lord of Roxburcht duelt, the tyme of the denuncatioune, within the burgh of Edinburghe ; and thairfoir the Hoirning, in the hail poyntis thairof, is sufficient ; and the Hoirning standis vnreduct, quhairin he was charget, personallie apprehendit, to haif fund cautioune for his compeirance, vpon xv dayis wairning.

It is allegit be the pannell, that this matter can nocht be put to ane Assyfe, becaus he is persewit for Mutilatioune, and nocht tane in recenti crimine, and nocht charget vpon xv dayis wairning, nor na coppie of the Dittay is geuin him. Answert be the persewer, that he is summond alreddie, vpon xv dayis wairning, personallie apprehendit, and a coppie delyuerit, and put to the horne, and be vertew of Letteris of Captioun, tane and apprehendit and presentit to pannell.—It is allegit that he is nocht summond to this day vpon xv dayis wairning ;

¹ Concealed himself in an elder bush.

² Robbery. Old Fr. briganderie.

³ Sir Robert

Kerr of Cessford was created Lord Roxburghe, anno 1600 ; and Earl, in 1616.

and gif he was fummond ofbefoir for this cryme, be vertew of vther letteris, and put to the horne, the famyn Hoirning is null ; for the caufis aboue writtin. It is anfuerit, the Hoirning standis vntereduct.—It is forder allegit be the pannell, that befoir this matter pafs to ane Affyfe, this mutilatioune man be tryit be Chirurges. It is anfuerit be the defender, that he referris the cognitioun of the Mutilation to the Affyfe.

THE JUSTICE findis this matter to be put to ane Affyfe, nochtwithftanding the former allegeances.

It is allegit, that my Lord Justice Clerk and his deputis can nocht be Clerkis in this proces, becaus this perfewer is Tennent to my Lady Humbie, fþous to my Lord Justice Clerk,¹ to quhome he payis maill and deutie, and thairfoir na proces ; and Mr Walter Bellenden, as prelocoutour for the perfewer, is brother-in-law to my Lord Justice Clerk ; and thairfoir my Lord Justice Clerk can nocht be Clerk in this proces.—It is allegit be Mr Johnne Ruffell, that, in refpect Mr Walter Bellenden, prelocoutour for the perfewer, compeiris and perfewis, and the perfewer is Tennent to my Lady Humbie, his lordfhipis fþous, my Lord Justice Clerk can nocht be Justice Clerk in this proces. It is anfuerit, that Mr Patrik Bannatyne is ordiner clerk to the Justice, to all the legis.

THE JUSTICE Ordanis Mr Patrik Bellenden, ordiner Clerk, to proceid as Clerk in this proces.

Forder, it is allegit that na proces can be grantit, becaus my Lord Justice Clerk can nocht be Clerk in this proces, feing Mr Walter Bellenden, the prelocoutour for the perfewer, is his brother-in-law ; as alfo, the perfewer is Tennent to my Lady Humbie of the landis of Gilkerftoun and Gilkerftoun-mylne ; as alfo, is tennent to my Lord him felf. Anfuerit, thair is ane ordiner clerk, viz. Mr Patrik Bannatyne, aganis quhome thair is na exceptioun, quha is ordiner Clerk to all our fouerane lordis leigis.—The anfueris foirfaid meittis nocht the declinatour, becaus the alledgeance is proponit aganis the Justice Clerk, without ony mentioun of Mr Patrik Bannatyne.

THE JUSTICE findis proces, and Mr Patrik Bannatyne to be clerk, vules he propones a relevant alledgeance aganis him as ordiner clerk.

Thaireftir the pannell and prelocoutouris declairit that thair only propone the declinatour foirfaid aganis my Lord Justice Clerk, quhy he fould nocht be clerk ; and ar content, that quhan his lordfhip is removet furth of Jugement, in refpect of the declinatour foirfaid, gif fa be fund, Mr Patrik fall remane as clerk ; but² preiudice of sic lauchfull exceptiones as may be proponit aganis him, the faid declinatour being first discussit. It is allegit be the pannell and his prelocoutouris, vnder protestatioun that the former declinatour be first discussit, and na vtherways, that Mr Patrik Bannatyne can nawyis be admittit to be clerk in this proces, for tua caussis; first, becaus he is Depute to my Lord Justice Clerk, aganis quhome the former exceptioun declinatour is proponit, and hes his office only of his lordship presentlie; and sua the exceptioun competent aganis the Clerk-principall, man be also competent aganis his Depute: Nixt, becaus Mr Walter Bellenden, quha is prelocoutour, and Mr Patrik is thridis or ferdis of kyn to Sir Johne Bellenden of Auchmoull, and James Bannatyne of Newtyle ar thridis or ferdis of kyn; and declairis that Sir Johnne Bellenden,¹ father to Mr Walter, and James Bannatyne, father to Mr Patrik, ather thair guidfchiris or grandfchiris war brether.—And Mr Patrik Bannatyne being sworne, declairit that the former alledgeance of kynreid was nocht trew.

¹ Sir John Cockburn of Ormiston, Lord Justice Clerk, married Elizabeth, the eldest daughter of Sir John Bellenden of Auchnoule (by his second wife, Janet Seton), and widow of James Lawson of Humble.

² Without.

THE JUSTICE findis proces; and ordanis Mr Patrik Bannatyne to be Clerk to this proces, quha is ordiner Clerk to all our souerane lordis leigis, to the Justice.

The pannel takis instrumentis of the Justice Interlocutour; and protestis for remeid of law.

The Defender declairis he will nocht feik the perseweris ayth, vpon the verificatioun of the Dittay; bot ony craves quhat the persewer produces to verifie. The persewer declairis that he fall schaw his mutilatioun to the Assyse.

VERDICT. THE ASSYSE, be the mouth of Williame Johnnestoun in Over Keyth, chancellor, be pluralitie of voittis, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said George Forrester to be ffylit, culpable and convict of the Hurting, Wounding and Mutilatioun of the said James Skirving of his richt airme and richt hand, in maner specifeit in the said Dittay.²

Slaughter.

May 22.—WILLIAME THOMESOUNE in Reddene.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vinq^{le} Niniane Edzer.

Sir Andro Ker of Hietoun, knycht, become pledge and fouertie that he fall compeir befor the Justice or his deputis in the Tolbuth of Edinburghe, the tuintie-fyve day of July nixtocum, to vnderly the law, &c. vnder the pane of Ten thousand markis; quhair of the ane half fall be payit to the Kingis Maiesteis Thesaurer, and the vther half to the pairtie perseweris.—On Jul. 25, the Justice continued the case to the air of Roxburcht, ‘ tertio Itineris (vel super premonitione) xv dierum, Plegio, Joanne Ker de Bowdene.’

Slaughter — Shooting with Pistolets and Guns.

May 31.—JOHNNE MURE of Auchindrane,³ Johnne Mure of Craigskene,

¹ Of Auchmoule. ² The Sentence is not contained in the Record. ³ See the Trial of this infamous man, Jul. 7, 1600, &c., for the atrocious Murder of Sir Thomas Kennedy of Culzeane, &c

Moyfes Lokhart, brother to the Laird of Bar, James Bannatyne in Chapel-Donall, David Kennydie, younger of Maxwallow, Charles Dalrumpill, burges of Air, George Campbell, younger of Schankstoune, and Gilbert Kennydie in Machar.

Dilatit, accusit and persewit, be Richart Spens, in Vgftoune, as father to vmq^{le} Richart Spens, feruitour for the tyme to Johnne Erll of Cassillis, and Sir Thomas Hammiltoune of Monkland, Aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hienes interes, ffor airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Richart Spens; and for bering, wering and seluteing of pistolettis and gunnis,¹ contrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament; committit vpoune the nynt day of December, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and ane yeiris, vpoune the laudis of Pennyglenne.

PERSEWER, Richerd Spens in Vgftoune, Sir Thomas Hammiltoune of Monkland, Aduocat.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, My Lord Vchiltrie, The Laird of Drumlanrig, The Laird of Rowallane, Jofias Stewart (of Boningtoun), Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Williame Oliphant.

(The two Mures, Lokhart and Bannatyne,) tuik thame to our fouerane lordis Respett,² produceit, vnder the Previe Seil, of the daitt, att Falkland, the tuelff day of Junij, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and tua yeir, for the saidis crymes. Quhilk Respett the Justice admittit; and ordanit thame to find caution and fouertie to fatisfie the pairtie, for airt and pairt of the said slauchter: Lyke as, Matho Stewart of Dunduff, Jofias Stewart of Boningtoun, and George Campbell younger of Schaulestoun become cautioneris and fouerteis with thame selffis, coninunctie and fenerallie, to fatisfie the pairtie, for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said Richard Spens.

George Campbell also obtained 'oure fouerane lordis Respett, produceit, vnder the Prewie Seill; of the dait, at Halyruidhous, the last day of November, 1602.' Matho Stewart of Dunduff, Jofias Stewart of Boningtoun and Johnne Mure of Anchindrane become pledgeis, &c.

The case was continued, as to the remainder of the persons on pannel, to the Justice-air of 'Air, tertio Itineris (vel super premonitione) xv dierum.'

[Mr William Hairt of Levelandis and Mr William Borthuik, Justices-Deputes.]

Mutilation and Demembration.

Jun. 11.—EDUARD JOHNNESTOUNE, younger, merchand burges of Ed^r.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the Demembring of Johnne Broun, goldsmyth, of the thombe of his left hand; committit vnder nycht, the fevintene of May last.

PERSEWERIS, Johnne Broun, goldsmyth, Sir Thomas Hammiltoune of Monkland, Aduocat.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, The Laird of Johnnestoune, The Laird of Wafraw, Mr Alexander King, Mr Thomas Gray and Mr Johnne Johnnestoune (Advocates.)

It is allegit be the pannell, that this matter can nocht be put to the knowlege

¹ This is the first instance in the Record of the term 'gun;' 'hagbut' being the prevalent name for that weapon.

² Remission, respite.

of ane Affyse ; becaus the fact lybellit is committit vnder feilence of nicht, and the said Johnne Broune, being convenient befor the Lordis of his hienes Secret Counfall, he is convict on ane manifest Ryote, for the wrangus invading, trub-billing and molesting of the defender, his wyf and fervand, vnder filence of nycht, and sua, quhatfumeuir fell out be that occasioun, the falt was in the per-fewer ; and of the law, albeit he had been flauie, the said defender had bene in na danger : In respect quhairof, the famyn aucht nocht to be put to the know-ledge of ane Affyse. For verificatioun quhairof, producet the Lordis of Secret Counfellis decret, daitit the xxij day of Maij last, 1605. It is anfuert, that the allegiance nawayis meittis the Dittay ; seing the Dittay is the said Johnne Brounes persute, for redress and pwneishment of the Mutilatioun and Dismem-bering of him, quhairof thair was nather complent nor tryell, befor the Secret Counfall ; nather can ony thing, done in that judgement, stay the puting of ane relevant Dittay to ane Affyse, befor the Justice ; seing, the Counfall could nocht be Judges to the famyn ; and the matter being put to ane Affyse, the Affysouris will try, quhither the fact was done in lauchfull defense of the pannell or nocht.

THE JUSTICE continewis this Interlocutour to the xvij of this instant. ‘ Plegio, Waltero Ker, portionario de Diriltoun.’

(Jun. 18.)—On xvij June,¹ The Justice findis proces, nochtwithstanding of the allegiance proponit the last dyett, and left at Interloquutour. And eftir the pronouncing of the said Interloquutour, of consent of bayth the parteis, continewis this persute (quhill the) xxvij day of Junij instant. ‘ Plegio, M^{ro} Joanne Johnnestoun, aduocato.’

DITTAY against Edward Johnnestoun, Younger.

FORSAMEKILL as, vpon the sevintene day of Maij lastbypast, vnder nicht, thair fell out ane debait² betuix the said Eduard Johnnestoun and Patrik Robertsoune, seruitour to George Cuninghame, gold-smyth, burges of the Caunougait, vpon the hie streit of the burgh of Edinburghe, aboue the Stink-and-style³ thairof : and for eschewing of hurt that nicht haif fallin to aither of the saidis parteis, the said Johnne Broune, amangis vther honest nichtbouris, preissit to red⁴ thame : Nochtwithstanding, it is of veritie, that the said Eduard Johnnestoun, persaveing the said Johnne Broun to cum and resist and stay his furie, he left the said Patrik, and but⁵ offence gevin be the said Johnne Broun to him, ather be word or deid, he set vpon the said Johnne with ane drawin swoird, and maist crewallie invalidit him for his slachter, hurt and woundit him in his left hand, to the effusione of his bluid in grit quantitie ; and hes Mutilat and dismemberit the said Johnne of the thombe of his said left hand, and cuttit the famyn away ; and sa hes maid him alluterlie vnhabill to wyn his leving, in his airt of goldsmyth-craft ; to his vtter wrak, and to the grit contempt of our fouerane lord, his hienes authoritie and lawis : And the said Eduard Johnnestoun is airt and pairt of the said Mutilatioun, demembring and cuting away of the said Johnne Brounes thombe of his said left hand. For the quhill he aucht and fould be pwneishet, conforme to the lawis of this realme, in exampill of vtheris to commit the lyk, in tyme cuming.

¹ Mr William Oliphant is added to the Prelocutouris, and on 27 June, Mr Thomas Craig. ² An altercation and scuffle. ³ A narrow passage to the eastward of the entrance to Haddo's-hold, New North Church, and celebrated for similar rencontres. ⁴ Separate. ⁵ Without provocation, excepting the proverbial fate of those who indiscreetly interfere in such matters. The ‘ redding-strail’ was no child's play in those days, when sword and dirk were the swift ministers of vengeance !

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Daud Fairlie, merchand burges of Edinburghe, chancellor, for the maist pairt, fand, pronunceit and declairet the said Eduard to be Clene, innocent and acquit of airt and pairt of the Mutilatioune, &c. ; in respect, vpon thair consciences, as thay haif tryit and considerit, the famin proceidit vpon the said Johnne's awin default ; and was committit and done be the said Eduard, the tyme foirsaid, in defence of him self, his wyfe and servand, quha war invaidit and molestit be the saidis Johnne Broune and Patrik Robertfoune, vnder nycht. Quhairupoune the said Eduard askit instrumentis.

' Umbesetting'—Rape — Child-murder.

JUN. 18.—JOHNE BROUNE, goldfmyth, burges of Edinburghe.

Dilatit for Umbesetting of Katherene Rae, spous to Eduard Johnnestoune, younger, merchand burges of Edinburghe, and preiffing to fforce hir ; and cauffing hir to pairt with bairne.

PERSEWAR, Eduard Johnnestoune, younger, merchand burges of Edinburghe.

PRELOQUUTOIRIS for the pannel, The Laird of Phillorth, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr James Donaldfoune.

THE JUSTICE continewis this matter to the xxvij day of Junij instant.

DITTAY against Johnne Broune.

(Jun. 27.)—FORSAMEKILL as, vpon the sevintene day of May lastbypast, the said Katharene and Eduard, hir husband, haifing souppit in pair saperis hous, and being returning estir supper, about ten houris at evin, fra pair said saperis houe to pair awin ludgeing, in peceable and quyet maner, lipning for na harme, iniurie or persute of ony perfonen, bot to haif past in peceable maner throw the Hie-streit of pe said burgh of Edinburghe to pair said ludgeing, vnder Godis peax and our souerane lordis ; it is of verritie, that pe said Johnne Broun, goldfmyth, accompaneit with Patrik Robertfoune, burges of Aberdene, persaneing the said Katharene to be hir self, allane, accompaneit allanerlie¹ with ane servand woman ; and finding pe gait² to be quyet, sa that nane was pairupone, to mark pair doingis, or to stay thair intendit schamefall and villanuse interpryse ; the said Johnne Broun and Patrik Robertfoune resoluet violentlie to haif fforceit pe said Katharene and hir servand woman : And for pis effect, the said Johnne come to the said Katharene, and brak furth in findrie vncumlie and vnhonest speiches to hir, beleifing to haif perswaidit hir to haif yeildit to his filthie lust and beistlie appetite ; and finding him self disappointed of pat meane, he, in his beistlie rage and furie, as ane posselt with ane wikket spreit, maist schamefullie and crewallie grippit pe said Katharene Rae be the gorget, and violentlie drew hir aff pe hie streit to ane cloise-heid,³ vnder ane stair ; and pair crewallie, with his faldit neiffis, strak and dang hir in the face, and causet hir to bleid at mouth and neife in grit quantitie ; raif hir courche⁴ and remanent ornamentis of hir heid, and cuist pe samyn vnder his feit ; and, with his kueyis, punchet pe said Katharene in the bellie, scho being grit with chylid ; and had nocht failit to haif abuset hir chaslitie, gif pe said Eduard, hir husband, and vperis nychtbouris (heiring hir and hir said servand gif pe sprache and cry⁵) had nocht cum, with diligence, and releinit hir furth of his cruell grippis. Be occasioun quhairrof, the said Katharene was led hame to hir awin hous, quhairin scho hes layne continuallie bedfast senfyne, in grit pane and dollour, vnder pe cuir of Doctouris and chirurganes ; sa that, vpon the xxj day of May lastbypast, or pairby, scho pairtit with ane deid bairne ; and scho hir self hes bene, and as

¹ Only. ² Street, way. ³ The numerous narrow alleys running downwards from the north and south sides of the High-street of Edinburgh, are termed cloises ; the close-heid signifies the entrance to one of these passages.

⁴ Tore her curche, a sort of cap or head-dress. Old Fr. ⁵ Give the alarm ; the hue and cry.

3it is, in grit haiſard and danger of hir lyfe: Committing pairthrow manifeſt villany, vnder nycht, within the ſaid burch of Edinburghe, vpone þe Hie-ſtreit þairof, quhilk ſould be ane faitie and place of refodge to all honeſt men and wemen; ſpeciallie, to the honeſt nychtbouris, inhabitantis pairintill; Lyk as, þe ſaid Johnne Broune is airt and part of the ſamyn villany and barbarus cryme: As alſo, is airt and part of the Slauchter and diſtructione of the ſaid Katharenes infant bairne, quhairwith ſcho hes pairtit, be occaſioune foirſaid. For the quhilkis, the ſaid Johnne aucht and ſould be pwneifehet, conforme to the lawis of þis realme, as ane brigane¹ and Murtherour vnder nycht; to the terrour and exampill of vtheris to commit the lyk, in tyme cuning.

It is allegit that the Summondis is nocht relevant; in reſpect the fact lybellit is only ane naikit intentione. It is anſuerit be the perſewer, that he conioynis the hail crymes lybellit togidder, to be tryit be the Affyſe.

THE JUSTICE findis the ſummondis relevant, in reſpect of the anſuer.

It is forder alledgit, that this matter can nocht paſs to ane Affyſe, in reſpect it is tryit alreddie, befor the Secreit Counfall, and ane Sentence gevin thairin alreddie. It is anſuerit be the perſewar, that the Secreit Counfall ar nocht Judges Criminall, and that na Precognition tane be thame can be in preiudice of deciſioun to the Juſtice, to put crymes to ane Affyſe; as was laitlie decydit betuix Johnneſtounne of Newbie contrair Williame Maxwell.²

THE JUSTICE remittis this matter to the tryall of ane Affyſe.

VERDICT. The Affyſe, be the mouth of Dauid Fairlie, merchand burges of Edinburgh, ſſand, prommet and declairit the ſaid Johnne Broune to be flylet, culpable and convict of the Invaiding and moleſting of the ſaid Katharene Rae, vnder nycht; committit the tyme foirſaid, contenit in the ſaid Dittay: And declairit the ſaid Johnne to be Clene, innocent and acquit of the Murthour and diſtruction of the ſaid infant bairne, committit the tyme foirſaid; in reſpect thair was nathing producit for verifeing thairof: Quhairupoun aither of the ſaidis parteis akit instrumentis.³

[Mr Williame Hairt, Juſtice-Depute.]

Hamesucken — Beſieging the Tower of Newbie — Shooting Pistolets — Taking Captive, &c.

Jun. 21. — WILLIAME MAXWALL of Gribtounne, Barbara Johnneſtounne, his ſpous, Elizabeth Johnneſtounne, relict of vmq^e Johnne Johnneſtounne, appeirand of Newbie (mother to the ſaid Barbara.)

Dilaittit, acenſit and perſewit, be vertew of THE DITTAY following, viz.

FORSAMEKILL as, albeit be dyuerſe guid Actis of Parliamant and Secreit Counfall, reſpective, oure fouerane lord hes prohibeit and diſcharget the beiring and weiring of hagbuttis and piſtolettis vnder certane panes mentionet in the ſaidis Actis; nochtwithſtanding, it is of treuth, that ſic is the wicket diſpoſitioun of ſum perſones, quha preferring thair awin inordinat appetite and revenge, to the dew reuerence and obedience of his lienes ſaidis lawis, thay and thair domeſtik ſervandis daylie and conti-

¹ Fr. brigand.

² See Jun. 21, the following Case.

³ The Sentences are not Recorded.

nuallie beiris and weiris hagbuttis and pistolettis, as thair ordiner and accufetnet wappones; of fet purposis and prouifoune to put thair vngodlie determinatioun to executioun, aganis sic of his hienes peceable subiectis, aganis quhom thay beir ony querrell or haittent: As nanelie, the saidis Williame Maxwell of Gribtoun, Barbara Johnnestoun his spous, and Elizabeth Stewart hir mother, haifing, this langtyme bygane, borne ane secreit and hid malice aganis the said Robert Johnnestoune of Newbie, in respect of the dependance of certaine actiones, depending befor the Lordis of Counfall and Sessioun, movet be aither pairtie aganis vtheris; and speciallie, ane actioun of Reduction intentit, and the Summondis thair of lauchfullie execute, at the instance of the said Robert aganis the said Williame Maxwell, Barbara his spous, and the said Elizabeth hir mother, for Reductioun of the Retour of vinq^{le} Johnne Johnnestoun of Newbie, that last deceffit, spous to the said Elizabeth, and for Reductioun of his Seafing following thairupoun, and of certane vtheris pretendit Infeftmentis, allegit maid be him to the said Elizabeth his spous, and to the said Barbara his dochter: And ane vther actioun and cause, persewit be the said Barbara and the said William hir spous, for his entreis, aganis the said Robert Johnnestoun, for randerung to thame the Toure and ffortalice of Newbie: And the samyn actioun being oft and dyuerse tymes callit, in presence of the saidis Lordis, and dyuerse guid exceptiones and defensis proponit be the said Robert and his procuratouris in his name, quhilk as yit ar vndiscussit, the saidis Williame, Barbara his spous, and the said Elizabeth hir mother, nocht being content to abyde the event of the saidis Lordis Judicatorie in the saidis caussis, bot rather to contempne our fouerane lordis autoritie and lawis, and to tak Justice at thair awin handis, as gif thair war na ordiner justice within this realme; thay, during the saidis dependances, and estir raising and lauchfull executioun of the saidis Summondis, in maner aboue writtin, haifing consultit and devyfit with Johnne McBrair, Robert Johnnestoune callit of Brwme, seruitouris to the said Williame Maxwell, Thomas Jardane callit of Birnok, Eduard Maxwell, brother to the Laird of Conbath, and Thomas Jardane, servitour to Johnne Lord Hereifs; the saidis fyve perfones immediatlie befor namet, being all bodin in feir of weir,¹ with jakis, suordis, steilbonnetis, lang gwnes, pistolettis, and vtheris wappones invafive, prohibeit to be worne in maner foirfaid, laitlie, vpon the six day of Merche lastbypast, be directione, causing, command, hounding and convoy, refett, assistance and ratihabitoun of the saidis Williame Maxwell, Barbara Johnnestoun his spous, and Elizabeth Stewart hir mother, come ryding to the place of Neubie, pertenung to the said Robert Johnnestoun, and being in his peceable possessioun, than, and dyuerse monethis ofbefoir; quhair the said Robert was deidlie feik for the tyme: Estir thay had fend bak thair horsis fra thame, quhairby thair being thair fould nocht be knawin, thay privatlie, be the moyane of the said Elizabeth Stewart and Barbara Johnnestoun, convoyit thame felfis, vnder clud and silence of nycht, within the laiche² hall and houffis of the said place of Neubie, inhabeit be the said Elizabeth Stewart and Barbara Johnnestoun, be quhome thay war refett within the saidis houffis; and thair, the saidis perfones, awaiting thair awin opportunitie, be way of foirthocht ffellony and hamesukin, and vsurping vpon thame our fouerane lordis autoritie, besaiget and invaidit the said Tour,³ thay being in the said Robert Johnnestounis possessioun, as sone and appeirand air mail and of tailzie⁴ to the said vinq^{le} Johnne Johnnestoun of Neubie, his faither: And the saidis fyve perfones maist schamefullie, crewallie and vnumercifullie preiffand, be violence and vulawfull force, to assaige and tak the said Tour and ffortalice, invaidit and hurt the said Eduard Johnnestoun, brother to the said Robert, and maist crewallie schot him throw the body with ane pistolet; and also maist crewallie invaidit, hurt and woundit the said Airthour Johnnestoun, servand to the said Robert, in the face, with the schot of ane vther pistolet; to the effusioun of thair bluid in grit quantitie, thay being in cumpany and servie with the said Robert, and in defence of him and his Tour and ffortalice of Newbie; and than, per force, be way of foirthocht ffellony and Hamesukkin, as said is, and vsurpeand and takand vpon thame our fouerane lordis autoritie, thay enterit within the said Robertis Tour and ffortalice of Newbie, and tuik the said Robert and the said Airthour, his fervand, captiues and priffoneris; the said Robert being lyand deidlie feik and bedfast within the samyn; crewallie inuidit thame, band thair handis behind thair bakis, and violentlie and perforce schot¹ thame and thair haill cumpanie furth of the said Tour, thay being our fouerane lordis frie subiectis. QUHILKIS crewall, schamefull and abhominable crymes aboue writtin, viz. Vfurpatioun of our fouerane lordis auctoritie, Hamefukkin, Beiring and weiring of pistolettis, and remanent Invasiones, factis and deidis respectiue aboue specifit, was done and committit be the foirfaidis fyve perfones, of the speciall command, hounding out, directioun, consulting, devyse, reflett, assistance and ratihabitoun of the saidis Williame Maxwell, Barbara Johnstoun his spous, and the said Elizabeth his moder: And thairby, thay, and everie ane of thame, ar airt, pairt, red and counfall, and ratiefearis of the saidis haill crymes aboue expremitt, and everie ane of thame, viz. Vfurpatioun of our fouerane lordis auctoritie and Befageing and taking of the said hous, Convocatioun of his Maiesteis leigis, Beiring and weiring of bagbuttis and pistolettis, contrair the tennour of the saidis Actis, Inuiding, schuiting, hurting and wounding of his hienes frie lieges and subiectis, and Inuiding and taking of thame captiues and priffoneris, be way of Hamefukkin and floirthocht ffellony, binding of thair handis behind thair bakis, schuiting and expelling of thame violentlie furth of thair awin houffis, but² Commissioun; thay being our fouerane lordis frie leigis and subiectis, in maner foirfaid.

¹ In warlike array.² Low or under-hall.³ Tower.⁴ Son and apparent heir-male and of entail.

PERSEWARIS.

Robert Johnnestoune of Newbie, Eduard Johnnestoune his brother, Airthour Johnnestoune, fervand to the Laird of Newbie, Sir Tho^s Hammiltoune of Monkland, kny^t, Aduocat to our fouerane lord.

PRELOCUTOURIS for the pannell.

The Laird of Gairleis,
Mr Alexander King,

The Laird of Hempisfeild,
Mr Robert Lyntoun,

Andro Ker of Fentoun,
James King.

It is allegit be Mr Alexander King, prelocutour for Barbara Johnnestoun, that na proces can be led aganis hir, becaus scho being convenit ofbefoir, befoir the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, vpone the haill contentis of this lybell, factis and deidis lybellit, at the instance of my Lord Aduocat and Robert Johnnestoune, perfeweris, scho is affoilzeit³ simpliciter, be Decreit of the Lordis of Secreit Counfall; and that thairefter the said Lybell was admittit to the said Aduocat and Robert Johnnestoune's probatioun, and thair succumbit⁴ thairintill: For verificatioun quhairrof, thay producet the said Decreet-abfoluitour, of the dait, at Edinburgh, the secund Maij last.—It is anfuerit be the perfeweris, the allegiance aucht to be repellit, becaus nathing done befoir the Secreit Counfall, ather be Sentence abfoluitour or condampnitour can stay the Justice to proceed in ane Criminall cause; as was practiket⁵ betuix Eduard Johnnestoune Younger and Johnne Broune:⁶ And gif the Counfall can nocht judge vpone sa heich crymes as ar lybellit, or geve ony penall sentence vpone the samyn, conforme to the law, thair precognitioun can nocht stay the proceeding of the Justice. Last, the summondis befoir the Counfall was fund relevant, and the abfoluitour proceedit vpone nocht probatioun; and as crymes capitall can nocht be provin be Witnesses, bot be the tryell of an Affyse, sa the nocht probatioune of the samyn, befoir the Counfall, can nocht stay the same to pas to ane Affyse.

¹ Thrust, ejected. ² Without. ³ Absolved, acquitted, freed. ⁴ Yielded. ⁵ Decided, made matter of precedent or practice. ⁶ See the preceding Case, Jun. 18 and 27, 1605.

It is answert be the pannell, that the absolutour befoir the Lordis of Secreit Counfall will stay the Justice of ony forder proceeding: And as to the Practique betuix Eduard Johnnestoune and Johnne Broune, the samyn militatis nathing in this caice. That in that caice, Johnne Broune was convenit befoir the Counfall, for the wrangus Invaiding of Eduard Johnnestoune's wyfe, vnder clud and silence of nycht; and the proces befoir the Justice was ane persute, persewit at the instance of Johnne Broune aganis Eduard Johnnestoune, for Mutilatioune; sua that the Decreit of Secreit Counfall naways met that persute befoir the Justice: And also, as for the authoritie and power of the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, the perseweris can nevir be hard to oppone the samyn; in respect thay authorizet that judgement, callit and persewit befoir thame, as Judge-ordiner, for the factis lybellit, led and deducet probatioune eftir that the summondis was fund relevant in their fauouris, and thaireftir succumbit, as said is; and thairby, can nevir be hard to impunge the said Decreit and sentence. In respect quhairof, the allegiance standis relevant.—The Aduocat adheris to his former answert.

The Justice findis proces. Quhairupone the Aduocat askis instrumentis.

It is forder allegit, that we ar nocht disputing heir vpon the authoritie of the Counfall or of the Justice, bot infistis only on this poynt, that thai ar maid fré of the fact afoir the Counfall.—It is answert be the Aduocat, he is nather acquit be ane Affyse, nather yit be ane Remissionne.

The Justice Repellis the allegiance, locoquo; reserving the pannellis informationne thairof to the Affyse.—The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the Justice interlocutour.

It is allegit that the Summondis is nocht relevant, in respect that the ffactis and deidis lybellit ar nocht capitall, and can nocht be put to the knowlege of ane Affyse.—The Aduocat answertis, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Summondis.

The Justice findis the summondis relevant; and ordanis the samyn to be put to the knowlege of ane Affyse.—The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the Interlocutour.

ASSISA.

George Hadden of that Ilk,	Robert Frenche younger of	William Hay of Lynplum,
Thomas Portious of Glenkirk,	Frencheland,	Johnne Tennant of Kairnis,
Williame Twedie of the Wrae,	James Flemyng of Spittel,	Williame Sincler of Roidding,
Mr Alex ^r Menzies of Culterrawis,	James Crawford, goldfnyth, bur-	George Hay of Monktonne,
Patrik Lanctoun elder of Erlef-	ges of Edinburgh,	Ja ^r Cranstoun of Monktonhall, hauch,	Alex ^r Fairlie elder of Braid,	. . . Sydferff of Ruchlaw.

The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the sweiring of the Affyse; and Proteftis for Wilfull Error, gif thay Acquit.

The Pannell reptis the allegiance proponit of befoir to the Affyse; and in respect that the Decreit of Secreit Counfall gevin aganis the perseweris, efter probatioun led be thame, in foro contradictorio, vpoun thair awin perfute, Barbara Johnestoune is declairit frie of the hail factis lybellit, the Assyse can nawayis ffyle hir. As lykwyis, Williame Maxwell and Elizabeth Steuart are fund Clene and innocent of the deidis and factis lybellit; that the samyn was nocht done of thair causing, command, (or) assistance, but only of ratihabitoun,¹ eftir the committing of the factis: That thai can nawayis be convict, be the Assyse, of the deidis lybellit, as done be thair causing, command and assistance, airt and pairt: And gif thai be clauget, as thai man be of necessitie, of the premiffis, thay can nawayis be convict of this lybell, because ratihabitoun per se nather is relevant, nor induces a cryme: And forder, befor the Stewart² of Annandaill, the hail pannel being accuset, as culpable of the factis and deidis lybellit, and thairfoir to haif incurrit the vnlawis for schedding of bluid; thay ar Clauget be ane condigne Inqueist, and fund innocent, baith of the bluid and bludwyte;³ as the Decreit, heirwith productet, beiris. In respect quhairof, the Assyse nawayis can ffyle or convict thame; and in cais thay do, Protestis for manifest and Wilfull Errour.

The Aduocat, for informatioun of the Assyse, and to the effect thay be nocht led and inducet to commit Errour, acceptis the Decreit of Secret Counfall productet be the pannell, togidder with the Testimoniall of the clangeing of the pannell befor the Stewart of Annandaill, in sa far as the samyn makis for the perfewaris, and na vtherwayis: And first, allegis that the summondis perfewit befor the Lordis of Secret Counfall was fund relevant be the Lordis thairof, and the samyn fund provin, in effect and substance, aganis the said Williame Maxwell and Elizabeth Stewart; and gif ony appeirance be of absolutour gevin in faouris of ony of the defenderis, the samyn proceedit vpoune the Depositiones of the Witnessis; becaus Depositiones of Witnessis can haif na forder fayth nor⁴ thay depone to knaw of thair certane knowlege; and thairfoir, that quhilk is nocht deponit be the Witueffis to be done, in thair presence, sicht and certane knowlege, is nocht fund provin, quhairupoune absolutour may be gevin: Bot becaus crymes, as thai ar vnawabill of thame selfis, sa thai are devyset and done secreitlie, in sic maner as na Witueffis can knaw the samyn; and thairfoir, can nocht depone thairintill; thairfoir, be the lawis of this cuntrie, it is provydit, that crymes neidis nocht, nor may nocht be provin be Witueffis, bot are referrit to the knowlege of ane suorne Assyse; quhais determinatioun, according as thay ar persuadit in thair consciences, is ane sufficient warrand to thame selfis, and ane iust cause of convictione of the pannell; and it is sufficient to thame to convict, gif thai find nocht cleirlye, thay can iustlie quyte.⁵ And thairfoir, albeit⁶ the Witueffis knew nathing, that was first vsed, and thairby thair Depositiones

¹ Confirmation or approval; from the Law Lat. ratihabere. ² Steward, Senescallus. ³ The bloodwit was a fine paid for the shedding of blood. ⁴ Than. ⁵ Acquit. ⁶ Although.

gaif occasionne of sum absolutour, for laik of probatioun be thame; yit that warrandis nocht the Assyse; bot thai man ather ffyle, or commit Wilfull Error, in respect of the notoriety of this Dittay; to witt, that the Houfe of Neubie was tane, in maner contenit in the Summondis, be the perfonis quha for the famyn hes bene continuallie fugitive fenfyne; tua of thame being Williame Maxwellis feruands, and the vther thre his speciall freindis, haifing na entreis nather to tak nor keip the houfe for thame selffis, on thair awin respect, bot only at the delyre and be the causing and to the behuif of the said Williame and hail remanent defenderis: Quhilkis defenderis, pretending rycht to the said houfe and landis; as the verificatioune of tua fenerall dependances for the famyn befor the Lordis of Sessioun, heirwith product, beiris. The saidis defenderis, expresse aganis the Act of Parliament maid anent the flauchter and trubbillung of parteis, in persute and defence of thair actiones, being the 219 of the Kingis xiiij Parliament, and vtheris Actis maid thairanent, intyset and causet the saidis flugitiues violently to Afflage and tak the said houfe, persew, invaid and demane¹ the said Robert Johnestoune and his assistaris being thairintill, in maner contenit in the summondis; quhilk being committit be thame, thay nather pretendit nor retenit ony richt or possessioun thair of; bot only keipit the famyn, quhill² Williame Maxwell come to thame in all haift; to quhais behuif thay haifing tane the said houfe, thay incontinent delynerit the famyn to him; quha fend thame away vpon his awin horse, and his freindis that come with him. And as to the Gentilwomen, the said fact being lykwayis done to thair behuif, thay resset and hid the committeris, being of intentioun and preparatioune to commit the famyn; and thai ran out of the ane into the vther; and thairby suppryset the said Tour, vpon the occasioun, to the behuif, and of the ratificatioune foirsaid: Lykas, be the Decreit, it is fund to be done of the ratificatioun of the said Williame Maxwell and Elizabeth Stewart; quhilk ratihabitoune, of Law, in ane matter done to the behuif of ony man, is compairit and pwneifchet as ane preceeding command, be the first Law de vi et vi armata, in the xiiij paragraph, in thir wordis: ‘rectius enim dicitur in maleficio ratihabitionem mandato comparari’; to wit, it is richtlie said, that ratihabitoune in crymes is richtlie comparet to ane preceeding command: And the thrid Law of the said Tit. in the tent paragraph, in thir wordis, ‘cum procurator armatus venit, et ipse dominus armis dejicisse videtur, siue mandavit, siue ut Julianus ait, ratum habuit’; that is to say, quhan ane mannis servand cumis airmet, his maister is reput to haif expellit or reiectit with airmes, quhither he commandit, or, as Julian sayis, he ratifeit the famyn. And thairfoir, seing thir servandis and freindis come airmet and did this violent deid, be ratihabitoune of the pannell, togidder with the

¹ Treat, use, handle.² Until.

Decreit finding the famyn, makis thame giltie thairof. Lyk as, the Act 151 of the Kingis 12 Parliament, makis ane criminall Summondis to be relevant, gif it beiris that the defenderis ar airt and pairt of ane relevant cryme ; and it is trew that that cryme is fund relevant be the Justice, and remittit to the Assyse ; and the notorietye of the pannellis being airt and pairt thairof is befor deducet, feing thair knowlege of the said fact, thair benifeit rypet¹ thairby, and ratihabitoune thairof, is manifest. And as to the clengeing productet, the famyn makis aganis the producer ; becaus the perseweris, as pairtie grevit, and the Kingis Aduocat, for his hienes entreis, being necessar and only parteis, and the defenderis knawing thair awin giltines, purchest and deducet ane led Tryell, befor thair awin freindis, being bayth Judges and Assysouris ; na pairtie haifing entreis being present nor wairnit thairto. In respect quhairof, gif the Assyse Clenge, the perseweris protestis for Wilfull Errorr.—The Aduocat askit instrumentis of the sweiring of the Dittay be the perseweris, in presens of the Assyse ; as lykwyis the taiknis² productet, also suorne be thame.

It is ansuerit for the pannell, to the alledgeance immediatlie preceeding, that the Aduocat wald haif the Assyse, quha kennis³ nathing of the factis and deidis lybellit, bot the commone bruit,⁴ and be thair awin allegeance, to ffyle, nocht-withstanding that the multitude of the Witnesses productet be the perseweris could nawayis preve the fact ; thay being Witnesses, duelleris vpon the landis, and round about the famyn ; and ane grit number of thame come to the deid, and yit thay wad nocht tak it vpon thair consciences to depone ony thing by⁵ the verritie ; sua, the Assyse, quha kennis far less, can nocht convict vtherwyis nor⁶ accoirding to the first probatioun. As to the secund pairt of the allegeance, the famyn contenis only ane repetitioun of the Dittay and taiknis, and mereitis na forder ansuer nor is ansuerit of befor. As to the thrid pairt, beiring that Ratihabitoune equo paratur mandato, and allegeing the first and thrid lawis de vi et vi armata ; to that, it is ansuerit, that as, in criminalibus, Ratihabitoune is never relevant per se, sua the famyn can be comptit na cryme, nor na grund to convict the pannell ; sfor in crymes, thair is thre thingis to be considerit, airt, pairt, and ratihabitoune : Airt, is command, or devyse, or counsell of doing of the deid ; quhairof we ar declarit innocent : Pairt, is participant of the ffact ; quhairof we ar lykwayis declairit innocent : Ratihabitoune, is allowing of the ffact, eftir the famyn be committit ; quhilk is nawayis drawin bak to ony of the premisses, in criminall matteris : And albeit the said Williame had allowit in taking of the housè, eftir it was tane and the deid committit, yit that makis thame nocht giltie of the ffactis or deidis committit be the personis takeris of the housè, the tyme befor or eftir the taking thairof. And feing the Witnesses examinat, be thair grit ayth, hes maid the pannell Innocent and clene of the ffactis lybellit ; as lykwayis, thay ar declairit Innocent, be ane condigne fuorne Inqueist, befor thair Judge-ordiner ; the Assyse can nawayis ffyle thame, except thay commit manifest Errour, and declair contrair to the probatioun alreddie led and deducet, and depone contrair to thair awin confience and knowledge.

¹ Reaped. ² Tokens, evidence. ³ Knows. ⁴ Excepting the common report or talk of the country. Fr. bruit. ⁵ Past, besides. ⁶ Than.

SPECIAL VERDICT of the Assise.

THE ASSYSE removet altogidder furth of Court to þe Counfall-hous, quhair þai, be pluralitie of voitits, electit and choisit the said Alexander Fairlie of Braid in¹ Chancellor of the said Assyse ; and þairefter reffonit and voitit vpon the haill heidis and poyntis of the said Dittay ; and being ryplie and at lenth advyset þairwith, and with the haill taikines and writtis producet for verificacionne þairof, allegeances and anfuers maid, hinc inde, in the said matter ; thay re-enterit agane in Court, quhair thay, be þe mouth of þe said Alexander Fairlie, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the saidis Williame Maxwell, Barbara Johnnestoun his spous, and þe said Elizabeth Stewart hir moþer, to be ffylet, culpabill and convict, as followis, viz. THE said Williame Maxwell of Gribtoun, to be ffylet, culpabill and convict off airt and pairt with the saidis Eduard Maxwell, broþer to þe Laird of Couhathie, Thomas Jardane callit of Birnok, James Jardane, fervand to the said Johnne Lord Hereis, Johnne McBrair and Robert Johnnestoune callit of Brwme, of the violent taking of the said Tour and ffortalice of Newbie ; committit be the saidis fyve perfones, the tyme contenit in the said Dittay. THE said Elizabeth Stewart, to be ffylet, culpable and convict off þe reffet of the saidis fyve perfones, quha committit þe crymes specifeit in the said Dittay, and of the Ratihabitoune of þe violent taking of þe said Tour and ffortalice of Newbie : AND þe said Barbara Johnnestoune to be ffylet, culpable and convict of the Ratihabitoune of the violent taking of þe said Tour and ffortalice of Newbie, be þe saidis fyve perfones takeris þairof. AND siclyk, ffand and declairit þe saidis Williame Maxwell, Barbara Johnnestoune his spous, and þe said Elizabeth Stewart hir moþer, to be Clene, Innocent and Acquit of the haill remanent crymes and poyntis contenit in the foirsaid Dittay, viz. of airt and pairt of þe vfurpatioun of our fone-rane lordis autoritie, in besageing of the said hous, convocatioun of his Maiesteis leigis, beiring and weiring of hagbuttis and pistoletis, contrair the temour of the Actis of Parliament, Invaiding, schuitting, hurting and wounding of þe saidis Robert Johnnestonn, Eduard Johnnestoun and Airthour Johnnestoun, his hienes frie subiectis ; and Invaiding and taking of thame captiues and priffoneris, be way of Hamefukkin and ffirthocht ffellonie, binding of pair handis behind pair bakis, and schuitting and expelling thame violentlie furthe of the house and ffortalice foirsaid ; committit be þe saidis fyve perfones, takeris þairof, þe tyme and in maner aboue writtin, mentionet in the said Dittay.

Jun. 25.—The Justice continued the case to the 28th of Junij. ‘ Plegio, Alexandro Stewart de Gairleis, sub pena in Acto predict.’

Jun. 28.—Alexander Stewart of Gairleis become pledge and fouertie for Williame Maxwell of Gribtoun, &c. to enter and present thame befor the Justice and his deputis, in the Tolbuith of Edinburgh, the thrid day of Julij nixtoem, in the hour of cause, to heir dome pronuncet vpon thame ; vnder the panes following, viz. ffor the said Williame, vnder the pane of V^m li. (£5000,) and for the saidis Elizabeth and Barbara coniuunctlie, vnder the pane of vther fyve thousand pundis.

Jul. 3.—Alexander Stewart of Garleis of new becomes pledge and fouertie, that thai and ilk ane of thame fall compeir befor the Justice or his deputies.

¹ To the office of.

quhair evir thay or ony of thame fall be charget, vpone xv dayis wairning, to heir and sie dome pronuncet, &c. ilk ane of thame vnder the pane of tua thousand merkis. Maxwell binds himself to 'warrand releif and keip skaythles' the said Alexander Stewart.

Slaughter.

JUN. 26.—JAMES GLEDSTANES of that Ilk.

Dilaitit ffor airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Thomas Peiblis, burges of Peiblis; committit in the moneth of Februare, I^mV^c.lxj yeiris, vpone the landis of Kaidmure, befyde the said burgh of Peiblis; vpone set purposis, profioune and floirthocht fellony.

PERSEWERIS.

Thomas and Johnne Peiblis, as fones; Johnne and David Peiblis, fones to the said Thomas, (Junior.)
PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, Laurence Scott.

The pannell tuik him to our fouerane lordis Respett, producet be him, vnder his Maiesteis Priuie Seill, of the dait the . . . day of Junij instant.

It is allegit be the perseweris, that the Respett producet be the pannell aucht nocht to be admittit, in respect the famyn is grantit contrair to the Act of Parliament; na Letter of Slanes being grantit be thame, for Assythement of the partie.—It is anfuert be the pannell, the allegiance aucht to be Repellit, in respect of the Respett; and that thai ar willing to fatisfie, conforme to the lawis of this realme, and offeris Cautioune to that effect.—Quhilk Respett the Justice admittit, and ordanit the said James to find cautioune, &c.: Lyk as, Johnne Gledstanes of Wynnintoun-hauch and Mr Johnne Rutherford, bailzie and burges of Jedburgh, become bundin and obleist, coniunctlie and feuerallie with the said James Gladstanes of that Ilk, his selff, to fatisfie the partie for the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Thomas Peiblis.

Murder under Trust.

JUN. 27.—JAMES KYNNAIRD, sone to the Laird of Incheture,¹ Williame Haitlie in Balgawie, Williame Kynnaird, sone to the Laird of Kynnaird.

Dilaitit, accuset and perfewit be Siluester Chopman in Kindevin, conforme to our fouerane lordis Letteris, raifit and direct at the instance of Marioun Chopman, as mother, Margaret Scherp, as sifter, the said Siluester Chopman and Thomas Chopman in Ragolny, as mother-brether,² with the remanent kyn and freindis of vmq^{le} Johnne Scherpe, seruitour to the Laird of Ruthven, aganis the saidis Williame, &c. and als aganis James Ramfay in Flacraig-mylne; as thay that war culpable and giltie of the crymes contenit in the DITTAY following.

¹ Vmq^{le} Patoun Kynnaird.

² Maternal uncles, mother's brothers.

FORSAMEKILL as the saidis Williame Kynnaird, &c. haifing laitlie, vpon the ffyft day of July, the yeir of God, 1^m. fax hundreth and thre yeiris, conuenit thame selfis within the toun of Rait, quhair the said vmq^{le} Johnne Scharp was for the tyme, attending¹ the cuming of certane his freindis and gentilmen that war at the buriall of the Laird of Bandane, and doand vtheris his lauchfull effairis and bussines, lipning for na harme, iniurie or perfute of ony perfones, bot to haif leuit vnder Godis peax and our fouerane lordis: And thair, in all hamelic and freindlie maner, come to the said vmq^{le} Johnne, and requeistit him to pas with thame to the drink; quha, vpon meir simplicitie and benevolence, past to ane drinking hous with thame, and haifing fallin in reffoning with the said vmq^{le} Johnne, anent sum speiches that past betuix him and the said James Ramfay in Flacraig-mylne a few dayis befor; the saidis perfones in the meane tyme directit one of thair companie for the said James Ramfay, desyreing him to cum to thame, and thay fould assist him to be reuengeit on the said vmq^{le} Johnne: At quhais cuning, the foirsaidis perfones, togidder with the said James Ramfay, being all bodin in feir of weir, with fuordis, quhingeris, gantilletis, plait-flevis and vtheris wappones, inuafue, incontrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament, fett vpon the said vmq^{le} Johnne Scherp, vnder trest, and maist traterusslie and barbarusslie, everie ane of thame with thair drawin wappones foirsaidis, perfewit him for his slauchter; and as murthereris, thevis and brigganis, haifing drawin the said vmq^{le} Johnne to drink, as said is, strak the said vmq^{le} Johnne in dynerse pairtis of his body, and gaif him nyne bludie and deidlie woundis, viz. thre straikis in his heid, thre in his bak, ane throw his wambe, ane vther vnder his okter, and tua vpon his schoulder blaid: Off the quhilkis straikis and crewall woundis the said vmq^{le} Johnne immediatlie deceffit amangis thair handis. And the saidis perfones, and ilk ane of thame, ar airt and pairt of the said crewall Murthour and Slauchter, committit vnder trest, vpon set purposis, prouifoun and foirthocht fellony; in hie and manifest contempt of our fouerane lord, his hienes auctoritie and lawis; and to the evill exampill of vtheris, his Maieftis obedient subiectis, to commit the lyk sehamefull and barbarus crueltie and Murthour, in tymes cuning, gif the foirsaidis perfones committeris thair of be sufferit to remane vnpwneifchet.

VERDICT. Lauchfull tyme of day biddin, and (the perfeweris) nocht compeirand,² the Justice-depute patt the saidis Williame, &c. to the knowlege of ane Assyse, who all in ane voce, be the mouth of Robert Hog in Gally, sumtyme fervand to my Lord Marshell, chancellor, ffand the saidis Williame, &c. to be Clene, innocent and acquit of airt and pairt of the fellowne and crewall Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Johnne Scherp, and haill circumstances aboue writtin. Quhair-poune the saidis defenderis askit instrumentis.

[Mr Williame Hairt and Mr Williame Borthuik, Justices-Deputes.]

Masterful Chest — Stouthreit — Lifting of Cattle, &c.

JUN. 28.—JOHNNE ELLOTE of Copschaw, Robert Ellote, his sone, Johnne Rutledge and Adam Rakefe, fervandis to the said Johnne.

Being enterit on pannell, quha war summond be vertew of our fouerane lordis letteris, purchest at the instance of Hectour Trumbill of Wauchope, Thomas Trumbill, younger of Wauchope, George Trumbill, secund lauchfull sone to the said Hectour, George Trumbill in Wauchope, Thomas Scheill thair, Hob Olipher thair, Harie Trumbill thair, Pait Trumbill thair, Gawin Trumbill in Bullerwall, ¹ Waiting. Fr. attender. ² The matter had been compromised with the relations of the deceased, &c. and by the absence of the pursuer, and no evidence being produced, the Jury acquitted the pannell.

Adame Trumbill in Wauchope, and Eduard Scheill in Langhauch : And perfewit be the saidis Thomas T. younger, and George his brother, for thame selffis, and in name and behalf of the said Hectour Trumbill of Wauchope thair fader, and haill remanent perfoness aboue writtin, thair tementis, of the crymes following.

DITTAY against the Pannels.

FORSAMEKILL as the saidis Johnne Ellote, &c. with thair complices, to the number of ane Hundreth perfoness, allswell brokin-men and borderaris of England, as of Scotland, all bodin in feir of weir, with jakis, speiris, fleil-bonnettis, lances, lang-lagbuttis, daggis and pistolettis, expresse prohibeit to be borne, worne, vsed or schote with, be the Actis of Parliament, laitlie, in the moneth of September, the yeir of God, I^m. fax hundreth and tua yeiris, come opinlie, in the day lycht, to the landis of Wauchope; and thair, be way of Maisterfull thift and Stouth-reif, staw, rest and away-tuik, of the saidis landis, fourfcoir of ky and oxin, ane hundreth scheip, and tuelf horse and meiris, pertening to the saidis perfeweris; had and convoyit the samyn away with thame, and disponit thairupoun at thair pleafour: And thay and ilk ane of thame ar airt and pairt of the saidis crymes of Thift and Stouth-reif; ffor the quiblik thay aucht and sould be pwneifhet, conforme to the lawis of this realme, in exampill of vtheris.

PERSEWERIS, Thomas Trumbill, younger of Wauchope, George Trumbill, his brother.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, Mr Alexander King, Robert Elliot, Mr Thomas Henderfoune.

The perfeweris protestis for Wilfull Errour, in caice thay acquit; in respect of the notorietie of the fact, and that thay haif gewin thair aithes thairvpoune.

Hectour Trumbill, elder, and the remainder of the pursuers, find Robert Home, younger of the Heuch, as cautioner, that they shall ratify whatever Thomas and George Trumbill do in their names, in this perfeit; and 'William Erle of Angus band and obleist him, his airis, executouris and successouris to warrand, releif and keip skaythles the said Robert Home, his airis, executouris and assignais, of his cautionurie foirsaid, and of all danger, perrell and expensis that he may incur thairthrow.'

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Robert Wauch of Keip, chancellor, stand the saidis perfoness to be Cleane, innocent and acquit, &c. Quhairupoun the saidis perfoness on pannell askit instrumentis.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Mutilation and Demembration.

Jul. 2.—JOHNNE HAMMILTOUNE, Perfone of Crawford-Johnne, Airthour Colquhoun, than his servand, now in Kirmure, Gawin Murray of Vdstounheid.

Dilaitt of airt and pairt of the Hurting, Wounding and Mutilatioune of Alexander Lokhart, Tutour of Wikketschaw, of his left hand, and demembring of him of his mid-finger, nerrest his littill finger, of his said hand: And beiring and weiring of pistolettis; committit in Apryle, I^m.V^c.lxxxv yeiris.

Robert Chancellor of Sheilhill become pledge and fouertie, that thai and ilk ane of thame fall compeir befor the Justice or his deputis, the thrid day of the nixt Justice-air of Lanerk, or soner, vpone xv dayis wairning, to vnderly the law, &c.

Slaughter.

Jul. 3.—CHAIRLES CARUTHERIS of Warrambie.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Roger Gordoun in Lochinkitt.

PERSEWER, Roger Gordoune, brother-sone.

Continued to the air of ‘ Annandaill, tertio Itineris, (vel super premonitione,) xv dierum.’

Forcing (Rape.)

Jul. 3.—WILLIAME BELL, workman in Edinburgh.

Dilaitit, accuset and persewit be Jonet Falconer in Karingtoun, ffor the forcing of hir aganis hir will ; and drawing hir furth of the way at Boddorne-mure, betuix Caringtoun and Lefuaid, and abusing hir in ane coill-pott-hoill ; scho being ane young maid of tuelf zeiris of age, or thairby, &c. ; committit the xxj day of Junij lasthypsast, about tuelf houres in the day.

VERDICT. Eftir accusatioun of the said Williame Bell, be Dittay, of the saidis crymes, and verificatioun thair of be the said Williamis Depositiones ; the Assyse, be the mouth of James Ramsay in Caringtoun, chancellor, stand, pronuncet and declairit the said W^m Bell to be flylet, culpable and convict of the saidis crymes.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercait-croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit vpon ane gibbet, quhill he be deid ; and all his moveabill guidis and geir to be escheit, &c.

Slaughter.

Jul. 4.—JAMES TAIT in Kelfo, brother to George Tait of Bairerfe.

Dilaitit, accuset and persewit by Williame Tait of Chirritreis, as father, Williame and Johnne Taittis, his sones, as brether, with the remanent kyn and freindis of vniq^{le} James Tait, sone to the said Williame Tait of Chirritreis, off airt and pairt of the crymes following, viz.

FORSAMEKILL as the said James Tait in Kelfo, with his complices, being all bodin in feir of weir, with suordis, knapska-bonnettis,¹ lances and pistolettis, expresse prohibeit to be borne, worn, vsed or schot with be our souerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in the moneth of July, the yeir of God I^m.Vc. lxxxxvij yeiris, haifing confaet ane deidlie feid, rancour and malice aganis the said vniq^{le} James Tait, come to the Grene of Chirritreis, quhair the said James was, in sober and quyet maner, &c., and thair fet vpon him, and with thair pistolettis and suordis, maist schamefullie, crewallie and vnmerefullie slew the said vniq^{le} James Tait : And the said James Tait in Kelfo is airt and pairt of the said slauchter ; committit vpon sett purposis, prouisioun and foirthocht felony, in hie and manifest contempt of our souerane lord, &c.

PERSEWERIS, Williame Tait, Johnne Tait, as brether.

PRELOCUTOURIS for the pannel, Mr Thomas Craig, Mr Thomas Henderfoune.

VERDICT. The Assyse, (amongst whom, Thomas Ker of Pryoraw, Thomas

¹ A steel bonnet, or skull-piece.

Tait of the Hoill, and Johnne Ryddell, appeirand of that Ilk¹) be the mouth of Johnne Mow of that Ilk, chancellor, ffand the said James Tait in Kelfo, to be Cleane, innocent and acquit of airt and pairt of the said Slauchter. Quhairvpon he askit instrumentis.

[Mr William Boirthuik, Justice-Depute.]

Perjury before the Lords of Council and Session.

Jul. 10.—MR WILLIAME CARBRAITHE (GALBRAYTHE), sumtyme Minister at Pennycuik.

Dilaitit of Periurie, in deponing contrair to his former Depositiones, eftir he was re-examinat thairupone, in the cause perfewit be the Tennentis of Laffudane, contrair Sir Johnne Ker of Hirfell, knycht.

DITTAY against the Pannel.

FORSAMEKILL as the said Mr Williame Galbrayth, compeirand befor the Lordis of Counfall and Sessioun, vpon the thrid day of July instant, as he that was sammond to compeir befor the saidis Lordis, to heir witnessing in the cause perfewit be the Tennentis of Lessudane aganis Sir Johnne Ker of Hirfell, knicht, anent the resait of certane evidentis and writtis be the said Sir Johnne, pertening to the saidis Tennentis, maid his Depositione as followis, viz.—‘ MR WILLIAME GALBRAITHE, Minister, of the age of fourtie yeiris, or thairby, solutus,² Deponis, that in the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfoir fevintene yeiris (the speciall tyme and day rememberis nocht,) the Deponar, being in James Kingis chalmer in Edinburgh, quhair he presentlie duellis, quhair he saw present, for the tyme, Sir Johnne Ker of Hirfell, knicht, ane of the defenderis; Oliver Sincler of Ravinfuik; Enoche Dewar, servand to the said Olipher; Adame Scheill, servand to vmq¹⁰ Mungo Tennent, and the said James King; and in all the saidis perfonis prefens, Oliuer Sincler presentit vpon the buird,³ in all thair prefens, ane littill box, coverit with ledder, of Flanderis mak;⁴ and the said Oliuer said to the said Laird of Littildane, “ Thir ar the writis quhilk I promiseit to lat 50w sie;” and then the box being opnit, James King tuik out all the saidis evidentis furth of the said box, in all thair prefens, and red the samyn, ane be ane. Interrogatus, vpon the perticuler contentis and daitis of ilk ane of the saidis evidentis, rememberis perfytlie, that all the evidentis than red be the said James King maid mentioun and dispositioun of the landis of Lessuddane and Newtown; and rememberis that ane of the saidis Chartouris bure dispositioun of the foirsaidis landis of Lessuddane and Newtown to Airthour Sinclair, and his airis mentionat thairin; and rememberis nocht of ony forder particuler contentis of the foirsaidis evidentis; bot fayis, that thair was ane grit quantitie of thame, all in parchement, and haiffand feillis: And immediatlie efter the reiding of the saidis writis, thay war all put within the said box agane; and ane Obligatioun maid and writtin in all the foirsaidis parteis prefens, beirand the said Sir Johnne Ker to be bundin and obleift to the said Oliver Sincler in the sowe of Fyve hundreth merkis money, how sone he or ony of his fould obtene the richt of the landis of Lessuddane: And this Deponer saw the said Sir Johnne Ker subseryue the said Obligatioun; and James King and this deponer subseryuit the same Obligatioun, as witnes: And at the samyn tyme, Sir Johnne Ker and his servandis tuik away the said box with thame, and the said Oliuer Sincler tuik the said Sir Johnne Keris Band with him; and sen that tyme, the deponer newer saw ony of the foirsaidis evidentis, in ony of the defenderis handis, nor in nane vther perfonis handis; reddens causam scientie, becaus this Deponer was present, hard and saw as he deponit.’—ESTIR the making of the quhilk Depositione, the said Mr Williame Galbraithe being re-examinat, vpon the fourt day

¹ The remainder are fenars.

² According to more modern form, ‘purged of malice and partial counsel.’

³ Board, table.

⁴ Manufacture, workmanship, make.

of July instant, in prefens of my Lord Chancellor and hail remanent Lordis of Sessioune, he past fra his former Deposition, maid be him the said thrid day of July, and declairit the samyn Deposition to be altogidder ffals and vntrew in the self; and that he was nevir in James Kingis Chalmer, quhair he saw the evidendis delyuerit to Sir Johnne Ker, nather yit saw he euir Oliver Sincler and Sir Johnne Ker, togidder, in James Kingis chalmir; nor newir saw he aue Obligiatioun subferyuit be Sir Johnne Ker to Oliuer Sincler; nor nevir subferyuit the samyn as witnes: And being inquyret, quha movit him to mak the said Depositione? Declairit, that Daudie Plumbar sehew him aue Obligiatioun, extractit and subferyuit be the Clerk of Register, allegit subferyuit be Sir Johnne Ker, quhair he was witnes, as was allegit; and bad him Depone, conforme to the Obligiatioun: The quhilk Obligiatioun, eftir the ficht thairof, movet the deponer to depone as he deponet; and said, that he gat only fra Daudie Plumbar his denmar, yisterday, and fourtie schillingis eftir his denner. As at mair lenth is contenit in the saidis Depositiones. BE the making of the quhilkis tua contrair Depositiones, the said Mr Williame Galbraithe hes schawin him self to be manifestlie Periuret, ffalse, and vntrew: For the quhilk Periurie and ffalfet he aucht and fould be puneifchet, conforme to the Lawis of this realme, in exam-pill of vtheris.

Quhilk cryme aboue writtin, the said Mr Williame confessit to be of veritie; and offerit him self, and become in our fouerane lord and his hienes Counfallis Will for the samyn; quhome the Justice ressaunt in will. And thairfoir the said Justice-depute, at command and for obedience of aue Warrant directit to him, of the dait, the tent day of July instant; subferyuit be my Lord Chancellor and vtheris Lordis of his Maiesteis Secretit Counfall; quhair of the tennour followis.

DECIMO Julij, 1605. THE Lordis of Secretit Counfall ordanis the Justice-generall and his deputis to gif this dome following, vpoun Mr Williame Galbraithe, eftir that he be convict of Periurie befoir thame, or pat he becum in will, viz. That he fall be tane to the mercait-croce of Edinburghe, with aue paiper on his heid, declairand him to be Men-sworne, Perjuret and Infamous, and to Banifche him the Ile of Britane for euir: And that he depairt furth of the said Ile, betuix and the fyftene day of August nixtocum; and gif euir he repair within the famin Ile agane, without the Kingis Licence, or 5it fall remane within the samyn, and nocht depairt furth pairof, betuix and the said fyftene day of August nixtocum, that he fall be execute to the daith, without any forder dome to be gevin vpone him.

(Sic subferibitur) AL. CANCELL(arius,) SECRET(arius,) QUIHTTINGHAM, R. COKBURNE.

SENTENCE. The Justice, be the mouthe of James Henderfoune, dempfter of Court, decernit and ordanit the said Mr Williame Galbraithe to be tane to the said mercait croce of Edinburghe, and thair to stand, for the space of aue hour, or thairby, with aue paper vpone his heid, contening thir woirdis, in grit letteris, ‘MENSUORNE, PERIURET AND INFAMOUS:’ And to be Banifchet the Ile of Britane for euir, &c.¹

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Sorcery — Witchcraft, &c.

Jul. 23.—PATRIK LOWRIE, in Halie (Ayrshire.)

Dilaittit, accuset and persewit, be Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Monkland, knyght, aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hienes entreis, off the crymes following, viz. FOR consulting with vmq^{le} Jonet Hunter, ane notorious Witche, and quha was execute to the daith for Sorcerie and Witchcraft: Quhilk vmq^{le} Jonet and the said Patrik, at Witfouday, in the yeir of God I^m.V^c. and four yeiris, convenit thame felffis vpon the cowmoun waist Sandhillis in Kyle, maist ewest¹ to the burgh of Irwing; quhair the Devill appeirit to thame and conferrit with thame, vmq^{le} Katharene M^cTeir, ane vther Witche in Halie, and Margaret Duncane in Lones being alsò in companie with thame, at the samyn tyme. AND siclyk, the said Patrik, being in company with the saidis vmq^{le} Jonet Hunter, Katharene M^cTeir and Margaret Duncane, Witches, Sorcereris and abuseris of the peopill, att Hallowevin, in the yeir of God foirsaid, assemblit thame felffis vpon Lowdon-hill, quhair thair appeirit to thame ane devillische Spreit, in liknes of ane woman, and callit hir selff Helen M^cbrune; att the quhilk tyme, efter lang consultatioune had be thame with the said wikkit Spreit, the Devill, in the liknes of the said Helen M^cbrune, presentit to the said Patrik ane hair belt; in ane of the endis of the quhilk belt appeirit the similitude of foure fingeris and ane thombe, nocht far differrent frome the clawis of the Devill: Lyk as, the samyn belt, being presentit be the said Jonet Hunter to the persones that past vpon hir Assy^{te}, the tyme of hir Convictionne for the said cryme of Witchcraft, was brunt in ane ffyre. LYK AS, at dyuerse tymes thaireftir, thay assemblit thame felffis, in dyuerse Kirkis and Kirk-⁵airdis; quhair the said Patrik, and remanent his affociatis foirsaidis, raist and tuik vp findrie deid persones furth of thair graves, and dismemberit the saidis deid corpis² for the practizeing of thair Witchcraft and Sorcerie. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the Bewitcheing, be Inchantment and Sorcerie, of Bessie Saweris coirnes, and taking away the substance and fisnowne³ thairof, be the space of ten yeiris, yeirlic astir vtheris.⁴ ITEM, for airt and pairt of the Bewitcheing of certane milk ky, pertening to Johnne Fergushill, younger in Halie, at Beltane, I^m.Vj^c. and foure yeiris; quhairby the said ky gaif na milk bot bluid and worsome⁵ thaireftir. ITEM, ffor cureing, be Inchantment and Sorcerie, of vmq^{le} Margaret M^cguffok, callit ‘the Witch of Barneweill,’ hir horse, quhairon seho raid; committit a tuentie yeir syne, or thairby. AND siclyk, ffor laying ou of Sorcerie and Inchantment and devillery vpon Jonet Lowrie, the streking of hir blind; and be cureing and taking af of the said Witchcraft af hir agane, and restoiring hir to hir former sight. ITEM, for cureing and helping, be Inchantment and Sorcerie, of Elizabeth Craufurdis bairne in Glesgow, quha had bene deidlie seik of ane strange incureabill diseise, be the space of aucht or nyne yeiris ofbefoir, be taking ane clayth af the said bairnes flace, and sayneing and croceing with his hand the said bairnes face; keeping of the said clayth, be the space of aucht dayis; and thaireftir, haifing returnit to hir with the said clayth, couerit hir face agane thairwith, quha sleipit a tua dayis altogidder, and walknit nocht; and at the tua dayis end, ane of the said barnes eyne, that was ofbefoir tynt, throw the said diseafe, was restoirit to hir; and within fyve dayis thaireftir, the said barne was, be the said Inchantment, curret and mendit be the said Patrik. AND finallie, for ane Cowmone and notorious Sorcerer, Warlok and abuser of the peopill, be all vnlawfull charmes and devillifche Incantationes, vset be him, this xxiiij yeir bygane.

¹ The terms of the Council's Warrant are recited.

¹ Nearest. ² This seems to have been a favourite practice. It is elsewhere called ‘jointing,’ (jointing) as may be seen in the description of the midnight orgies of Annie Samson and others of the unhappy wights who suffered for their deceptions of this sort. ³ ‘Fushion’ (foison.) pith, strength, flavour, &c. ⁴ For ten successive years. ⁵ Blood and purulent matter.

For the quhilkis crymes respectiue aboue writtin, the said Patrik Lowrie was put to the knowlege of ane Assyse.—The Aduocat askis instrumentis of the sweiring of Assyse.

MR DAVID MYLL,¹ being sworne, att the defyre of Patrik Lowrie, to mak Declaration of his brute² and behaviour; deponit that he wes bruteit and comounlie callit ‘Pait þe Witch!’ And declaris, he gatt his fatheris mafoune,³ and said he wald mak ane ill end: And declaris, that he wes ordanit to mak his repentance, for the brute and sklander he sustenit; and that he maid his repentance.

And thaireftir the said Patrik Lowrie defyrit the Justice and Assyse to trow⁴ the said Mr David Myll.

My Lord Aduocat protestis for Wilfull Errorr, in caice thay acquit him of the Dittay.

VERDICT. Eftir accufation of the said Patrik, be Dittay, of the crymes respectiue aboue specifeit, and verificatioun of the samyn, be productionn of certane writtis be the said Sir Thomas Hammiltoun, aduocat; the Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouthe of Johnne Wallace in Lonese, chancellor, stand, pronuncet and declairit the said Patrik to be flylet, culpabill and convict of the haill crymes respectiue aboue specifeit.

SENTENCE. The said Justice-depute decernit and ordanit the said Patrik Lowrie to be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair to be wirreit at ane staik, quhill he be deid; and thaireftir, his body to be brunt in asches; and his haill moveabill guidis and geir, gif he ony hes, to be efcheit, &c.

Fire-raising — Taking Captive and Prisoner, &c.

Jul. 24.—INGRIE AIRMESTRANG in Inzieholme;⁵ Archie Airmestrang of Flaskholme.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the tressonabill Raifing of ffyre, [within the Houfe of the Langholme?] burning and deftroying thairof, pertening to Harbert Max-reputation. Fr. bruit.

¹ Probably the Minister of the parish where this unhappy creature dwelt.

² Curse, malediction.

³ Credit, believe.

⁴ Report, fame,

⁵ See Vol. II. p. 450.

wall of Kavenfe : Taking of the said Harbert captiue and priffoner : Schuiting of hagbutis and pistolettis, &c.

Mathow Findlafoun of Killeyth become pledge and fouertie for Ingrie, and Archibald Batie, burges of Dumfreis, for Airchie Airmeftraug, that thay fall compeir befor the Justice or his deputis, the thrid day of the nixt Justice-air of the scherefdome of Dumfreis or Stewartrie of Annandaill, quhair thay duell ; or foner, vpone xv dayis wairning, to vnderly the law, &c. ; aither of the saidis perfones vnder the pane of Fyve hundreth merkis money.

Slaughter.

Jul. 25.—GEORGE ANGUSE, notter ; James Blair, burges of Air ; David Kennydie of Corflis ; and Gilbert Grahame, younger of Craig.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Richerd Spens, seruant to the Erle of Cassillis.¹

PERSEWERIS, Richerd Spens, in Vgftoun, as father ; Robert Spens, his sone, as brother.

The perfeweris passis simpliciter fra the saidis George Anguse, &c. and declairis thame to be Innocent of the said Slauchter : Quhairupoun the saidis perfones on pannell askit instrumentis, and protestis for releif of thair cautioneris ; and that thai be nocht callit or perfewit for the said cryme, in tyme cuming.

Slaughter.

Jul. 26.—ALEXANDER BRUNTFEILD of Hardaikeris, and Nicoll Bruntfeild, sone to the Guidman of Eistfeild.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Bruntfeild, younger in Tennendrie.

PERSEWER.

Robert Bruntfeild, as brother.

PRELOCUTOURIS for the pannell.

Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Williame Oliphant.

It is allegit be the pannell, that the defunct, for quhais slauchter thai ar perfewit, was slane at the horne, for four feuerall cauffis, contenit in the four Hoirningis presentlie product be the pannell : Vpoun productioun quhairof, the pannell tuik instrumentis ; and the pannell protestit, that the producing thir Hoirningis fould nawayis affirme thame to be culpable of the factis lybellit.—Continued to Nov. 24.

Nov. 28.—Robert Bruntfeild, fear of Todrig, and Nicoll B. of Quhyte-hous become pledge and fouertie, conjunctlie and feuerallie, that thay fall compeir befor the Justice or his deputis, the thrid day of the nixt Justice-air of the scherefdome, quhair they duell (Roxburghe,) or foner, vpone xv dayis wairning ; vnder the pane of ane thousand merkis for the entrie of the said Alexander, and 500 for the said Nicoll.

¹ See Dec. 6, 1605.

Murder under Trust — Stouthreif — Adultery, &c.

Jul. 26.—WILLIAME ROISE of Duinkeithe.

Dilaitit, accufet and perfewit be Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Mounkland, kny^t, Aduocat to oure fouerane lord for his hienes interes, of the crymes following, viz.

FORSAMEKILL as it is flatute and ordanit be our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, that the Murthour or Slauchter of quhatfumewir his Maiefteis liegis, quhair the pairtie is flayne vnder traift, credite, affurance and power of the flayer, all sic Murthouris and Slauchteris to be committit in tyme enning, eftir the dait of the faid Act, quhilk is of the dait the xxix day of Julij, the yeir of God, 1^m.V^o.lxxxvij yeiris, the famin being lauchfullie tryit, and the perfoune dilatit, ffund giltie be ane Affyife thairof, falbe Treafoun; and the perfounes fund culpabill fall fforfalt lyffe, landis and guidis: As the faid Act att mair lenth beris. AND trew it is, that the faid Williame Roife, haifing concludit in his haert the crewall Murthour and Slauchter of v^mq^{le} Alexander Gybfoune in Nig; ffor performance of his wicket intentionn, he, accompaneit with Farquhair Roife, domeftik fernitour to Nicolas Roife of Pitcalany, Andro Graffich, fone to Alexander McGilliepedder and Thomas Mcconchie, vponne the fourt day of Februar laftbypaft, being Monunday, he being vnder freindfchip and familiaritie with the faid v^mq^{le} Alexander, trytit to meit the faid v^mq^{le} Alexander, in Huchfoun Brabneris hous in Pitcallene; quhair the faid Williame Roife and his compliceis foirfaidis, in ane maift freindlie and loving maner intertineit, vnder traift of affurance, the faid v^mq^{le} Alexander all the day, till the ewening, drinking and making mirrie: And about aucht houris att ewin, vponne the famin day, being ane dark nycht, baith mark and moneles,¹ convoyit and broecht the faid v^mq^{le} Alexander furth of the faid Huchfoun Brabneris hous, and caufit him to vnderftand that he wald tranfport him to his awin hous; att the quhilk tyme, he maift treffonablie drew and convoyit the faid v^mq^{le} Alexander out of the way, to ane burne-fyde, nocht far diftant fra the faid Huchfounis hous, he being than vnder the faid Williamis traift, credite and affurance, lipning for na harme, iniurie or hurt to haif bene done to him be the faid Williame and his complices, that war with him in his company, bot to haif bene preferuit and defendit be him thair. Efter the faid Williame, in forme of freindfchip and familiarite, defyrit the fychet of the faid v^mq^{le} Alexanderis fword, the faid Williame and his complices maift treafonablie difarmit him of his armour and wappinnis that wes about him, and maift treafonablie mordreift and flew him, ffyrft be ftryking aff his . . . hand, nixt be gewing to him ane crewall and deidlie fraik in his heid, with ane half lang fword, and diueris vtheris crewall and deidlie woundis in diueris vtheris partis of his body; and thairby, maift crewallie and treffonablie, vnder traift, freindfchip and affurance, mordreift and flew the faid v^mq^{le} Alexander Gybfoune; and he wes airt and part of the faid crewall and treffonabill Murthour; ffor the quhilk he aucht and fould be pwneift as ane Traittour, viz. be ffoirfaling of his lyffe, landis and guidis. To the takin² that he wes culpabill of the faid treffonabill fact, he immediatlie eftir the committing of the faid crewall Murthour, and to the intent the famin fould nocht haif cum to lycht, he delyuerit to the faid v^mq^{le} Williame McStein, his cotter, the foun of foure fchilling, and the faid Farquhar Roife gaif vther four fchilling, to the faid Andro Graffich, for bureing³ of the faid v^mq^{le} Alexander in the eird,⁴ or cafting of him in the fea: Lyke as, the faid v^mq^{le} McStein and Andro Graffich, being thaireftir tane and apprehendit for the faid fact, be thair Depofitiounis, grantit and confeffit that the faid Williame wes the principall ftrykear and mordreifar of the faid v^mq^{le} Alexander, with his awin hand; and att the place of execution, quhair thay fufferit, thay pafit to death thairwith. To the takin alfo, the faid Williame Roifis being perfewit before our fouerane lordis Juftice, to haif vnderlyne the law for the faid cryme, he pafit to the horne, and continewallie fenfyne hes bene fugitiue thairfoir; as the Letteris prefentit beris. ITEM, the faid Williame, being indytit and accufit, fforfamekill as it is flatute and ordanit, be diuerfe our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, fpeciallie, be ane Act of his hienes ellewint Parliament, begun and hauldin att Edinburgh, the xxix day of Julij, 1^m.Vc.lxxxvij yeiris, that in caice it fall happin ony landit men to be lauchfullie and ordourlie convict of the crymes of Commoun Thift, Reffett of thift, or Stouth-reiff, in tyme cuming, thay fall incur the cryme and payne of Trefboune, that is to fay, tynfall¹ and fforfaltour of lyffe, landis and guidis; as the said Act att mair lenth beris. And trew it is, that the said Williame Roife of Dunkeith, being ane landit gentilman and heretour of the saidis landis of Dunkeith, accompaneit with the perfonnes foirfaidis, his complices, immediatlie at the tyme of his trefsonabill Murthring and flaying of the said v^mq^{le} Alexander Gibfoun, in maner and at the tyme aboue writtin; he, be way of Maitterfull Thift and Stouthe-reiff, trefsonable, violentlie and thiftiounlie staw, conceillit, reffett, rest and away-tuik, fra the said v^mq^{le} Alexander, the fowme of ane hundreth merkis money, or thairby, quhilk the said v^mq^{le} Alexander had vpone him, and in his purse, the tyme of the said Williame Roife committing of the said trefsonabill Murthour and Slanebter foirfaid: and the said Williame is airt and pairt of the Stouth-reiff, steilling and away-taking of the said money; and thairthrow, the said Williame Roife, being ane landit gentilman, in maner foirfaid, hes committit manifest Trefboune, and the panes and pwneilment specifeit in the saidis Actis of Parliament, viz. tynfall and fforfaltour of his lyfe, landis and guidis, aucht and fould be execute aganis him with all rigour, in exampill of vtheris. To the taikin, that he, being culpabill of the saidis trefsonabill crymes of Thift and Stouthe-reiff and Murthour vnder trest, the said Williame was perfwit criminallie thairfoir, befor the Justice and his deputis, to haif vnderlyne the law for the famyn, in the moneth of Maij last bypast, he than past to the horne, and hes bene continuallie fenfyne fugitive for the saidis crymes: As the saidis Letteris of Hoirning, producet judiciallie be our said fouerane lordis aduocat, at lenth proportis. Lykas, be his awin Depositiones, he hes confessit the Murthour aboue writtin, and that he was airt and pairt thairof. ITEM, the said Williame, being indytit and accuset, fforfamekill as he, haifing thir dyuerse yeiris bygane interteneit and keipit in companie with him Marie Rannaldoche, ane harlot, committing Adulterie with hir, he being mareit with v^mq^{le} Agnes Rose, his lauchfull spous, and the said Marie being with bairne to him, scho and v^mq^{le} Williame McStene, seruant and hyred man to the said Williame, togidder with the said Williame him selff, consultit and concludit, at diuerse thair tryftis and meittingis, the trefsonabill Murthour of the said v^mq^{le} Agnes, his lauchfull spous, vnder trest, credeit and assureance; lyk as, for performance of thair wilket purpois and intentione, the said Marie, be the said Williame's directioun, gaif to the said v^mq^{le} Agnes, his spous, poysonet drinkis; quhilkis trefsonabill drinkis, nocht haifing wrocht vpone hir to the deith, bot the famyn, at findrie tymes, being vomeitit bak agane be hir; and finding himselff disapoyntit be that trefsonabill meayne,² and hir daithe postponit and delayit, he thairfoir of new consultit and devyfit with the said Marie Rannaldoche and Williame McStene, quba, in the moneth of May, 1^m.Vj^o. and foure yeiris, be the said Williame's speciall causing, directioun and command, maist trefsonabillie, crewallie and vnmercifullie Strangallit and wirreit the said v^mq^{le} Agnes, his spous, in her bed, within hir awin hous, vnder silence and clud of nycht; ffor performance quhairof, he promeit to the said Marie Rannaldoche to marie and tak hir to wyfe: Lyke as, the said Williame McStene, being apprehendit for the trefsonabill Murthour of the said v^mq^{le} Alexander Gibfoun, and examinat be certane of the Ministrie³ and gentilmen of the cuntrie, Confessit and declairit that he, at the said Williame Rossis command and direction, accompaneit with the said Marie Rannaldoche, murdreist and trefsonabillie strangillit the said v^mq^{le} Agnies, his spous; ffor doing of the quhilk trefsonabill deed, the said v^mq^{le} Williame McStene Confessit he ressauit fra the said Williame, as ane rewaird for his panes, ane rig of beir,⁴ togidder with the hail clething that was vpone the said Williamis bak the tyme of the said Murthour, viz. his bonet, fark, coitt, doublet, breikis, hois, fokis and buittis. Lyk as, for testificatioun of the treuth of the said trefsonabill Murthour, and that the said Williame was airt and pairt thairof, the said Williame, be his Depositiones maid in prefens of Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-depute, and the Bailleis of Edinburgh, the xxv of this infant, hes confessit that the nycht appoyntit be him and his complices for perfurmeing of the said tressonabill Murthour, he withdrew him self furth of his awin hous of Dunskeith, fra his said spous, to his chief the Laird of Balnagounes house, quhair he remanit quhill midnycht; about the quhilk tyme, his conscience being sa tuchet and trubillit for the said tressonabill fact, quhilk, be his counfall and directioun foirsaid, was that nycht to be put in executionne, be the perones foirsaid, he arraise out of his bed, putt on his claithes and come to his awin house, of purpos (as he declairit) to haif stayit the said wicked fact: And he, finding the turne done afoir his cunning, he reterit him self bak agane. Quhilk tressonabill fact he hes continuallie sensyne conceillit to the tyme of his Examinatioun foirsaid. And thairthrow, he is airt, pairt, red and counfall of the said tressonabill Murthour and strangelling of the said vmq^{le} Agnes his spous, vnder tress, and aucht and fould be puneilhet thairfoir, conforme to the tennour of the said Act of Parliament. ITEM, the said Williame, being indyttit and accuset, that he, being ane landit Gentilman, as said is, with his complices, cownone thevis, in the moneth of the yeir of God thiftioulle, and be way of Maisterfull Thift and Stouth-reiff, staw, rest and away-tuik, fra Williame Micain M^cWilliame in Gany, tua schein, had and disponet thairpoune at his pleasour; and he, being ane landit Gentilman, be committing of the said maisterfull thift and stouth-reiff, hes committit Tressone; for the quhilk, he aucht and fould be puneschet, conforme to the said Act of Parliament. To the taikin, he being challanget for the samyn, maid redrefs and satisfioun to the said Williame M^cean, at command of Huchon M^cTullie, his maister. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thiftious Steilling, conceilling, resseting and away-taking of ane ox, fra James Corbett in Arkbole, in the moneth of yeiris: And he, being ane landit Gentilman, hes thairby committit Tressone, &c. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the steilling, conceilling, resseting and away-taking fra Findla Mansoun, Minister in Nig, in the moneth of October 1^m, sax hundreth and foure yeiris, of sax geise, had and convoyit the samyn away with him, and disponit thairpoun: And the said Williame, being ane landit Gentilman, hes thairthrow committit Tressone, &c. ITEM, the said Williame, being indytit and accuset, for cunning with his complices, in the moneth of December, the yeir of God 1^m.Vj^c. and foure yeiris, to David Fairnes barne in Nig, and thiftioulle, vnder silence of nycht, brak the said barne, and staw, conceillit, resset and away-tuik furth thairof ane sek full of victuall, contening sax sirlottis. To the taikin, he come to the said David Fairne, and offerit to get the samyn tryit furth¹ to him, for ane rewaird; and he was airt and pairt of the thiftious steilling, conceilling and away-taking thairof; and thairfoir, he being ane landit Gentilman, hes incurrit the cryme and pane of Tressone. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the steilling, conceilling and away-taking of saxtene schein, pertening to Alexander Mansoun, Donald Beroch and Andro Bane, in the moneths of October and November last-bypast, in the yeir of God 1^m.Vj^c. and four yeiris, had and convoyit the samyn away with him to the Craigis of Dunskeith, quhair he slew the said schein and cast thair intrallis in the sea; and thairefter, careit the boukkis² thairof to his awin hous in Dunskeith, quhairin he and his complices did eit the samyn: And he, beand ane landit Gentilman, be committing of the said theft and maisterfull Stouth-reif, hes committit Tressone, and incurrit the panis contenit in the saidis Actis of Parliament. ITEM, for Cownoun thift, cownoun resset of thift, inputting and outputting of thift fra land to land, fra cuntrey to cuntrey, baith of auld and of new: And thairfoir, he being ane landit Gentilman, be committing thairof, hes committit manifest Tressone, and aucht and fould be puneschet conforme to the Actis of Parliament, viz. be foirfaltour and tynfell of lyfe, landis and guidis, in exampill of vtheris to commit the lyk in tyme coming.

¹ Dark (mirk) and moonless.² In token or testimony.³ Burying.⁴ Earth, ground.

¹ Loss.² Mean, Fr. moyan.³ Clergy.⁴ Ridge of barley.

For the quhilkis crymes, the Justice-depute ordanit the said William Roife to be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse, of the perones following.

¹ Searched out, discovered.

² Bulks, carcasses.

ASSISA.

Huchon Roife, fear of Balmukie,	William Dumar of Hemprigis,	Mark Mawer of Staynies,
Alex ^r Bane of Wefter Logie,	Walter Kynnaird of Cowbyn,	Mr James Dumar of Taibett,
Donald Thornetoun, burges of Edinburgh,	Johnne Burgie in Haltoun,	Capitane Andro Bruce,
Mr Rannald Bane, burges thair	Alexander Watfoune in Grange,	Robert Dumar of Burgie,
Ja Adamfoun, burges of Kinlofe,	Alexander Cruikfchank in Lyttill	Patrik Dumar of Blarie.
	Pynnik,

The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the fwering of the Affyfe; and that Williame Rose grantit the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Alexander Gybfoune.

The Pannel, befor his Convictione, declairis that Ferquhair Roife wes nocht in company with him at the slauchter of vniq^{le} Alexander Gybfoune; nathier wes he ather airt or pairt of the said Slauchter.

VERDICT. The Assyfe, be the mouth of the said Mr James Dumar, chancellor, all in ane voce, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said Williame Roife to be flylet, culpabill and conviet of airt and pairt of the tressonabill and crewall Slauchter and Murthour of the said vniq^{le} Alexander Gibfoune, indueller in Nig, committit the tyme foirfaid, vnder trest, affurance, freindschip and familiaritie, in maner aboue writtin: AND als, ffand, pronuncet and declairit him to be flylet, culpabill and convict of airt and pairt, red and counfall of the tressonable Murthuring, strangling and wirrieing of the said vniq^{le} Agnes Roife his spous, committit the tyme foirfaid, vnder trest, credeit and affurance, in maner as is aboue writtin: AND lykwayes, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said Williame Roife, to be Cleane, innocent and acquit of the haille poyntis of Thift, quhair of he wes accusit be Dittay, in maner aboue writtin, and of everie ane of thame.

SENTENCE. For the quhilkis tressonabill crymes of Murthour, of the quhilkis he was convict in maner foirfaid, the said Justice-depute, be the mouth of James Henderfoune, dempster, ordanit the said Williame Rose of Dunskeathe to be tane to the mercait croce of Edinburghe, and thair his heid to be strukin fra his body: And decernit and ordanit all his landis, heritages, takis, steidingis, rowines, possessiones, coirnis, cattell, insicht pleniffing, guidis and geir, to be ffoirfaltit and escheit to our fouerane lordis vse, as convict of the saidis tressonabill crymes.

Slaughter — Shooting of Hagbutts and Pistolets.

Jul. 30.—DAVID JARDANE in Wandeldyke, Alexander Jardane in Wandell, Johnne Symfoun in Mylnehill, and twelve others.

Delaitit, accuset and persewit for the crymes following, viz.

FORSAMEKILL as the saidis David, &c. with thair complices, with convocatiom of our fouerane lordis leigis, to the number of tuentie-foure perfones, or thairby, all bodin in feir of weir, with jakis, secreitis, speiris, steil-bonnettis, swoirdis, hagbuttis and pistolettis, expresse prohibeit to be borne, worne, vsed or schot with, be our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament and Secreit Counfall, vnder dyuerse panes contentit thairintill; haifing confauet ane deidlie feid, rancour and malice aganis vmq^{le} James Clelland¹ (in Vnder-the-bank,) in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God 1^m. fyve hundreth fourfoir fourtene yeiris, came to Wandellholme, upon Clyde, befye Daviefchaw, quhair the faid vmq^{le} James was, in fober and quyet maner for the tyme, ryding at the hunting, in company of Sir James Hammiltoun of Libbertoun, lipning for na harme, iniurie or perfute of ouy perfones, bot to haif levit vnder Godis peax and his Maiefteis, and thair fett vpone him, fchet and dilafchet² thair hagbuttis and piftolettis at him, quhairby thay fchott him throw the body, and with fuoirdis, quhingeris and remanent wappones foir-faidis³, hurt and wondit him in dyuerfe pairtis of his bodie, to the effufioun of his bluid in grit quantitie: Off the quhilkis fchottis and ftraikis, the faid vmq^{le} James immediatlie thaireftir depairtit this lyffe; and fa, the faid vmq^{le} James Clelland was crewallie and vnmercifullie flane be the faidis perfones: And thay being all vpone the grund, purfuing him with fuoirdis and remanent wappones aboue fpecifeit, thay and ilk ane of thame ar airt and pairt of the faid crewall Slauchter, committit vpon fett purpois, provifioun and foirthocht felony; in hie and manifet contemptioun of our fouerane lordis auctoritie and lawis, in ewill exampill to vtheris his hienes lieges to commit the lyk crewall Slauchteris, PERSEWERIS, Gawin Kneilland, Roger Kneilland, as fones.

PRELOCUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Johnue Ruffell, Robert Hammiltoun.

VERDICT. The Affyfe, be the mouth of David Blair in Corflaw, chancellor, ffind, pronunceit and declairit the faidis Dauid Jarden, &c. to be Cleane, innocent and acquit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the faid vmq^{le} James, and of the haill poyntis of Dittay aboue writtin.³

[Mr Williame Hairt et Mr Williame Boirihuik, Justices-Deputes.]

Slaughter — Shooting of Pistolets.

Aug. 6.—ARCHIBALD MAXWALL of Cowhill,⁴ and Williame Maxwall, appeirand of Cowhill, his fone.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Robert Maxwall of Kirkhill (Kirkhous, or Crovestanes,) committit in the moneth of Junij 1583 yeiris: And for beiring and weiring of piftolettis, contrair the Actis of Parliament.

PERSEWERIS, Williame Maxwall (of Kirkhouse,) Chairles Maxwall, James Maxwall, Robert Maxwall, Dauid Maxwall, Sir Thomas Hammiltoune.

PRELOCUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Williame Oliphant, Mr Johnue Ruffell, Mr Alexander King, Sir Rob^t Maxwall of the Schottis, Williame Maxwall of Gribtounne, Eduard Maxwall of the Hillis.

DITTAY against the Pannell.

FORSAMEKILL as the faidis Archibald Maxwall of Cowhill, and Williame Maxwall appeirand of Cowhill, with thair complices, with convocatioun of our fouerane lordis lieges, to the number of fax perfones, or thairby, all bodin in feir of weir, with fvoirdis, fecreittis, gantillertis, plait-flevis, lang hagbuttis and piftolettis, expreflie prohibeit to be borne, worne, vset or fchet with, be our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, vnder dyuerse panes contentit in the famyn, in the moneth of Junij, or thairby, the yeir of God 1^m. fyve hundreth fourfoir thre yeiris, vpone deidlie feid, rancor and malice confanet aganis the faid vmq^{le} Robert Maxwall of Kirhous, for teynding⁵ of the faid Archibald Max-

¹ Kneilland. The name was indifferently spelt Kneilland and Clelland, at this period. ² Old Fr. deslacher.

³ With regard to the rest of the pannells, the pursuers 'past fra' a number; and the remainder were 'repleget to the regalitie of Dalkeyth, be my Lord of Mortoune.'

⁴ See Nov. 6, 1605.

⁵ Tything his lambs and other small tythes, as having a heritable right to the teinds or tythes of Cowhill. The drawing of small tythes was always considered an oppressive act in Scotland, and had for a long period been disused.

wall of Cowhillis lambes and vtheris small teyndis, thay fett vpon the said vmq^{le} Robert, vpon the landis of Redbank, lyand within the parochin of Kirkhous, and stewartrie of Kirkcubrycht, quhair he was, in sober and quyet maner for the tyme, doand his lesfull effaires and bussines, in teynding of lambes; dredand na evill, harme, iniurie or perfute of ony perfones, bot to haif levit vnder Godis peax and our souerane lordis; and thair, sehott thair hagbuttis and pistolettis at him, and maist crewallie, schamefullie and vnmercifullie slew the said vmq^{le} Robert Maxwell: And thair and aither of thame ar airt and pairt of the said crewall Slauchter; quhairby thay haif nocht only committit crewall Slauchter, vpon set purpos, prouision and foirthocht felony, bot in lyk maner hes contravenit the tennour of the said Actis of Parliament, in beiring, weiring and schuiting of hagbuttis and pistolettis, and hes incurrit the panes contenit thairin, quhilk aucht and sould be execute aganis thame with all rigour, in exampill of vtheris to abstene frome the lyk in tym cuming.

It is allegit for Williame Maxwell, younger of Cowhill, that the tyme of the committing of the fact lybellit, viz. in Junij, 1583, that he was nocht past xij yeiris of age, et sic non doli capax; and can nocht thairby be put to the knowlege of an Assyse, for the crymes lybellit; and offeris to prove his age instantlie.—It is answert be the Aduocat, the allegeance aucht to be repellit, as nawayis releuant to stay the mater to pas to the knowlege of an Assyse, becaus all thingis in facto man be tryit be the Assyse: And albeit he had been minor, the contrair quhair of is maist manifest, yit the samyn procures na impunitie, in crymes of this natour; speciallie, being committit eftir the manner lybellit.

THE Justice, nochtwithstanding of the allegeance, ffindis proces; and Remittis the cryme lybellit aganis Williame Maxwell to the knowlege of ane Assyse; and Remittis to the Assyse anent his age, to tak cognitioun thairin as thay think expedient.

It is forder allegit, that this matter can nawayis pas to the tryell of ane Assyse, becaus the pannell, in the moneth of Februare, yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourscoir aucht yeiris, hes obtenit our souerane lordis Respett, quhair of thair is dyuerse yeiris as yit to ryn: As the Respett producet beiris.—The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the production of the Respett, be bayth the perfones on pannell. It is allegit, that the Respett is null, becaus the samyn is nocht past be the Thesaurer and the Register, conforme to the Act of Parliament. It is answert, aucht to be Repellit, in respect of the Respett, quhilk is past the Previe seill.—It is forder allegit, that the Respett producet is null, in respect of the Act of Parliament, quhilk makis all Respettis to be null, the samyn nocht being grantit be satisfiourne of partie and Letter of Slaines¹ grantit be the pairtie thairvpone.—It is answert, that the Act of Parliament allegit, is only temporall.²

THE Justice declairis, during the tyme of this Respett, he will nocht, for the Slauchtir lybellit, put the pannell to ane Assyse.—Quhairvpoun the pannell askit instrumentis.

¹ A writ granted by the nearest relations of the deceased, acknowledging themselves to be satisfied for the slaughter. It frequently bore their consent to a free pardon by the King. ² Temporary.

The Aduocat producet the Kingis Maiefteis Letter, direct to the Justice, &c. ; quhair of the tennour followis.

JAMES R.

JUSTICE, Justice Clerk and your deputis, We greit you weill. Forasmuche as Archibald Maxwell of Cowhill and Williame Maxwell his sone, being summond to compeir befor you, in our Tolbuith of Edinburgh, the saxt day of August instant, to vnderly our law for airt and part of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Robert Maxwell of Crovetanes, and for contravening our Actis of Parliament, in beiring, weiring and schuiting with hagbuttis and pistolettis, as We are informet, intendis to vse ane Respett allegit grantit to thame by ws, quhair of we nevir had ony knowlege: And gif ony be producet be thame, the same is fenisterassie purchest by our knowlege,¹ and contrair to our lawis, Actis of Parliament, and equitie. Thairfor, it is our will, and We command you, that incontinent estir the sicht heir-of, ye put to ane knowlege of Assyse, for beiring, weiring and schuiting of hagbuttis and pistolettis: And gif thay be convict, that ye caus pwneisch thame conforme to our Actis of Parliament, by cutting af pair rycht hand; and forder as our saidis Actis preseryues. And gif ye delay the tryell of the Slauchter, vpoune the production of the said allegit Respett; than, estir pair tryell and pwneischment, for beiring and weiring of hagbuttis and pistolettis, in maner soirsaid, ye fall put them in sure firmance and keeping within the Tolbuith of Edinburgh, quhill we be adverteit of your proceedingis, and our forder Will be signifeit vnto you pairament. This ye fall naways fail to do, as ye will answer pair-upoune: Quhairanent pir presentis fall be to you sufficient Warrant. GEVIN at Houghtoun, the penult day of July 1605.

And accoirding to the said Warrant, the pannell aucht to be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse.—It is answerit be the pannell, that the Kingis Maiefteis Previe Letter is na sufficient Warrant to derogat the Respett, past the Previe Seill; speciallie, in respect that sic privat Letteris ar reprobat be the Actis of Parliament.—It is answerit be the Aduocat, that sic previe Letteris as ar purchest for stay of justice, ar disallowit be Act of Parliament; bot this Letter is direct, of certane knowlege, and furtherance of justice, and pwneischment of ane odious cryme.

THE Justice findis as of befor, for the Slauchter allanerlie.

It is forder allegit, be the pannell, that that pairt of the Dittay, concerning the schuiting of ane hagbut, can naways be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse, becaus thair is ane Respett producet for the Slauchter; quhilk Respett is fund relevant for the Slauchter, to stay the pannell to pas to ane Assyse; and thair is na thing contenit in the Dittay, for schuiting, beiring and weiring of pistolettis and hagbuttis, bot that the defunct was slane with ane hagbut; quhilk is the maner how the said fact was committit: And as the fact is elydit be Respett, fa the maner of the committing thair of is superceidit be the said Respett; sua that, during the said tyme comprehendit in the Respett, nather can the pannell be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse, for the slauchter, nor schuiting of the hagbut, quhilk was the instrument be the quhilk it is allegit the deid was committit.—It is declairit be my lord Aduocat, in respect of the Justice Interloquitour, he Restrictis his summondis only for persute of the pannell for beiring, weiring and ſchuitting of hagbuttis and piſtolettis : And allegis, that the Reſpett producet can nocht ſtay proces for that cryme; becaus Reſpettis, being odious of the Law, as grantit for impunitie of crymes and ſtay of juſtice to parteis greivit, thay can nevir be extendit fauourabillie, be interpretation of the Judge, to ony forder nor (than) the expreſs woirdis thair of beiris : And thairfoir, the bering, weiring and ſchuiting with hagbutis and piſtolettis, being ane cryme pwneifheable of the Law, and nawayis mentionet in this Reſpett, the pardon of the cryme of Slauchter, contentet in the ſaid Reſpett, can nevir be extendit to the vther cryme of ſchuiting with hagbutis, &c. ; ſpeciallie, in reſpect of the woirdis of the Reſpett, pardon- ing the Slauchter allanerlie, and of his Maieſteis Warrant producet ; quhilk removes all doubtt that evir his Maieſtie had intention to pardoun the cryme of the hagbuttis and piſtolettis to the pannell.—It is anſwerit, that the Advocattis declaratioun alteris nathing the tennour of the Letteris, contentis thair of, and Interlocutour producet. Thair is na mention maid in the Letteris of beiring and weiring and ſchuiting, bot only of ane ſchot, be the quhilk it is allegit the Slauchter was committit : And forder, the Reſpett producet is nocht only extendit to the Slauchter, bot all that mycht follow thairupoune ; quhilk was the ſchuit- ing of the hagbut, be the quhilk the Slauchter was committit : And quhair it is allegit, that the Reſpett grantit for ane cryme can nocht be extendit to ane vther, aucht to be repellit, in reſpect of the Reſpett, and the coniunctioun of the factis : And forder, of the Law and practik of this realme, ane Reſpett or Remiſſioun grantit of ane gritter cryme comprehendis leſs crymes, albeit na men- tioun be maid of the leſs ; ſpeciallie, haifing conſideratioun, quhan the leſs crymes ar ane pairt of the gritt cryme, quhairfoir the Reſpett is gevin, and all done vnico contextu, at ane tyme ; and the leſs cryme the inſtrument of the gritt, quhilk is reſpettit.

¹ By sinister means, procured without our knowledge.

It is forder allegit, that this Reſpett man comprehend the ſchuiting with the hagbut, in reſpect it is expreſſie ſtatute, be Act of Parliament maid in the dayis of King James the Fourt, Parlamento ſexto, cap. 62, That in all Reſpettis and Remiſſiounes, mention fall be maid of the gritteſt cryme, ſa that be the expreſs meaning of the ſaid Act, the gritteſt cryme being remittit and contenit in the Reſpett, the leſs crymes man be lykwayis comprehendit thairintill ; ſpeciallie, in thir crymes, quhilkis ar ſa coherent and conioynet togidder, that the Reſpett or Remiſſioun comprehending the gritteſt, of all neceſſitie man comprehend the leiſt.—It is anſwerit be the Lord Advocat, that that Act of Parliament militatis only, quhair thair is Remiſſioun or Reſpet, tane only for ane perticuler cryme, and ane generall claufe of Remiſſioun ſubioynit thairto ; bot in this caice, the Reſpett producet contenis only the cryme of Slauchter allanerlie, without ony generall claufe of vther crymes ſubioynit thairto : In reſpect quhair of, the allege-ance aucht to be repellit.—It is anſwerit, be the pannell, that the Reſpet nocht only comprehendis the ſlauchter, bot alſo all thingis that can follow thairupoun, quhilk is the ſchuiting.

It is forder allegit, be the pannell, that the cryme of ſchuiting and weiring of hagbuttis and piſtolettis was nevir in viridi obſervantia, and ſic a cryme quhairupoun ony accuſatioun or puneiſchment followit, befor the Act of Parliament, in anno I^m.V^c.lxxxxvij; fra the quhilk tyme and Act, that cryme hes only bene obſeruet, and the pwneiſchment contenit in the ſaid Act hes only had place. And albeit, be Act of Parliament maid in anno I^m.V^c.lxvij, it is ſtatute and ordanit, that the weiring, vſing and ſchuiting of hagbutis and piſtolettis, ſhall be tynfall (loſs) of the rycht hand, yit be ane poſterior Act, maid in anno I^m.V^c.lxxix, the pane of the ſchuiting and vſeing is only pecuniiall, contening the ſowme of x li. and tynfall of the hagbut or piſtoll: And ſa, haifing conſidderatioun that this fact is allegit to haif bene done in anno 1583, lang befor the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxxvij, the panes of the ſaid Act can nawayis be extendit aganes thir defenderis. It is anſwerit be the Lord Aduocat, that the Act of Parliament, in anno I^m.V^c.lxxix, maid lang befor the committing of the cryme lybellit, levis to the Kingis Maieſtie, his optioun of the inflicting of the corporall pwneiſchment for the ſaid cryme; quhairanent, his Maieſtie hes declairit his will, be the Warrant product.

It is forder allegit be the pannell, that the Act of Parliament, maid in anno lxxxxvij, declairis the penaltie of the former Actis to haif place, with the additioune; ſa that befor the tyme, the Kingis Maieſtie nevir declairing his Will, his Maieſteis Will and penaltie man be only extendit fra the dait of the laſt Act.—The Aduocat anſweris, the maiſt ſolempne Declaratioune of his Maieſteis Will is be Act of Parliament.

THE Justice Repellis the allegeance, in reſpect of the Act of Parliament, Reſpett product, and his Maieſteis Warrant; and Ordanes forder proces.

It is forder allegit, be the pannell, that the pannell, for weiring and vſeing of piſtolettis, can nawayis be put to the knowlege of ane Aſſyſe, becaus it is confeſſit in the Dittay, that the weiring and ſchuiting of the hagbut or piſtolettis was committit vpoun the landis of Reidbank, quhair the defenderis duelt and remanit for the tyme; and it is nawayis prohibeit be the Act of Parliament, bot be the contrair, it is permitted to perſones to beir, weir and ſchuit hagbuttis and piſtolettis, within thair awin houffis, yairdis and cloiffis: And trew it is, gif ony hagbut was ſchott, borne or worne, the ſamyn was within the houſe of the ſaidis landis, at the leiſt, hard be the yettis and durris thair of: And albeit ony perſone wald ſchuit and weir within his awin houſe, or at the yettis or within the cloiffis thairof, that is na cryme of the law. And now it man be respectit, that thair is na mair in our Dittay, bot only the beiring, weiring and schuiting, &c.; vnder proteftatioun, that the pannell nawayis grantis the famyū.

ASSISA.

Johne Lyndfay of Auchinkeach, Jo. Mertene, bailzie of Blaikfehaw, Michell Anderfoun, burges of George Reidik of Airdrie, Adame Strudgeoun of Myllerland, Dumfreis, Johne Turnour of Ardwell, Harbert Strudgeoun of Towcroce, Clement Edjer of Kirkblane, Williame Williamefoune, burges of Johnne Richiefoune, burges of Harbert M'kie in Prestfoun, of Dumfreis, Dumfreis, Robert Edjer of Blaikfehaw, Johne Slowane¹ of Garroche, Johnne Gibfoun, burges thair. Robert Rediche of Barnehowrie.

OBJECTION to an Affifor.—It is allegit that Williame Maxwell of Merfyde can nocht pass of this Affyse, becaus he was nocht of perfyte age, viz. vpon the age of xiiij yeiris, the tyme of the committing of the fact lybellit.—It is anfuorit, be the Aduocat, the allegeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of his present age.—The said Williame Maxwell being inquiryt be the Justice and fuorne, ‘Quhat age he was presentlie of?’ Declairit he was outwith xxv yeiris of age.—It is allegit be the pannell, that the said Williame Maxwell of Merfyde, the tyme of the committing of the fact lybellit, was nocht foure yeir auld.

THE JUSTICE Repellit Williame Maxwell, in respect of his awin confeffiounne, quia declairit that he was tement to Harbert Maxwell of Kavenfe.

The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the sweiring of the Affyse, and proteftis for Wilful Errour gif thay acquit: As also of the sweiring of the Dittay be the perfeweris; and that the defunct was flane be Williame Maxwell appeirand of Cowhill, be ane schott.

SPECIAL VERDICT of the Affise.

THE saidis perfonas of Affyse, be the month of the said Johne Lyndfay of Auchinkeach, chancellor, stand, pronuncet and declairit, all in (ane) voce, the said ARCHIBALD MAXWALL elder of Cowhill to be Clene, innocent and acquit of the beiring, weiring and schuiting of hagbuttis and pistolettis, committit vpon the saidis landis of Reidbank, in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfoir thre yeiris: AND sicklyke, stand, pronuncet and declairit, all in ane voce, be the mouth of the said Chancellor, the said WILLIAME MAXWELL, appeirand of Cowhill, to be ffylet, culpabill and convict of the beiring, weiring and schuiting of ane hagbut; committit in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God I^m. fyve hundreth fourfoir thre yeiris, vpon the grund of the saidis landis of Reidbank, within ane speir-lenth to the hous thairof, pertening than to the said Archibald Maxwell; the said Williame Maxwell than being within the age of fourtene yeiris. IN witness quhairof, the chancellor, for him self, and in name of the hail remanent perfonas of Affyse, hes subferyuit thir presentis with his hand.

(Sic subfcribitur)

JHONE LYNDESAY.

Quhairupoun the saidis Archibald and William Maxwellis askit actis and instrumentis: and the said Charles Maxwell, in name of our said souerane lordis Aduocat, Proteftis for remeid of Law and Wilfull Errour aganis the said Affyse.

¹ ‘Allowane’ in another place. ‘A’ was then a common prefix to many names in the south of Scotland, as Amulligan, Acannan, Alasone, Abannay, &c.

[Per Comitem de Ergyle, Justiciarium Generalem; et Magistrum Wilclmum Hairt, ejus Deputatum.]

Fire-raising — Burning the Place of Littlegill — Slaughter — 'Rapt' — Adultery — Theft, &c.

Aug. 9.—THOMAS JARDANE of Birnok, Vmphra and Alexander Jardanes, his sones.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the treffonabill Raifing of fyre, burning and diftroying of the Place of Littillgill, with the haill laiche houffis, barnes and byres thairrof, and haill inficht and pleniffing being thairin; and for the crewall Burning and flaying of vmq^{le} Alexander Bailzie of Littillgill, Rachaell Bailzie, dochter to Mathow Bailzie, now of Littillgill, and vmq^{le} Achiefone, fervand to the faid Mathow; the faidis vmq^{le} thre perfones being all within the faid place the tyme of the burning and diftroying thairrof; committit in the moneth of . . . the yeir of God, I^mV^c fourfcoir nyne yeiris. AND ficlyk, for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Robert Broun in Culter; committit in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God I^mV^clxxxvj yeiris: AND ficlyk, for airt and pairt of the Rapt and Raviefching of Katharene Johneftoune, fpous to . . . Airmeftang of Arkiltoune; committit in anno I^mV^clxxxvj yeiris: AND for the cryme of Adulterie, committit be him with hir, contrair the tenmour of the Actis of Parliament,¹ &c. &c.

Williame Creichtoun of Darnehauche and Johnne Carmichell younger of Potiefchaw, as cautioners for the appearance of the pannels, vnlawit in the pane of tua hundreth merkis for ilk ane of thame. The Jardaues ordained to be denounced Rebels, and their moveables to be efcheit, &c.

[Mr Williame Borthuik, Justice-Depute.]

Bestiality.

Sep. 17.—JOHNNE JAK, alias SCOTT, fervand to Thomas Boirthuik, in Roiffing.

Dilaitit of the abhominabill and monftrous fact of Sodomie,² &c.

SENTENCE. 'To be tane to the Caftell hill of Edinburghe, and thair, he to be firft bund to ane ftaik and wirreit thairat; and thaireftir, with the faid meir to be brunt in afches, as he that, vpone his awin Confeffioun, was convict of the crymes aboue writtin; and his haill moveabill guidis to be efcheit to his Maifteis vfe,' &c.

¹ There are also numerous acts of theft of horses, cattle, sheep, &c. enumerated, but unnecessary to be noticed here. ² A case of a similarly disgusting description (the only instance in the early part of the Record) was purposely omitted, Sep. 1, 1570. The crime (Sodomy) is designated 'wyild, filthie, execrabil, detestabil and unnatural.'—'Johnne Swan and Johnne Liffter, fmythis and fervandis to Robert Hannay, the pannell, were likewise burnt on the Castle-hill of Edinburgh.

Slaughter.

Nov. 5.—WILLIAME JARDANE in Yle, Johnne Carfane in Erfik, Fergus Heroune at the Kirk of Glastrune, Johnne Aflowane in Tyllochbloun, Nicoll Dungalfoun in Claymadie, Robert M^cBay in the Maynes of Qulithorne, James M^cconene in Caringdone, and Harie Stewart in Lagane.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Harbert Maxwell, callit Harbert of the Coittis; committit in September I^mV^{cl}xxxxvij yeiris.—Johnne Dumbar of Mynnieweik become plege and fouertie, that thai fall compeir befor the Justice, the xvij day of December nixtocum.

(Dec. 17.)—Johnne Dumbar vnlawit in the pane of ane hundreth merkis, for ilk ane of the faidis perfores: The Justice ordanit that thay be denunceit rebellis, &c., and all thair moveabill guidis to be escheit.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Nov. 6.—HARBART MAXWALL of Kavenfe.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Sir Robert Maxwell of Dynwiddie, knycht.

PERSEWARIS, Archibald Maxwell of Cowhill,¹ Williame Maxwell, appeirand of Kowhill, Archibald Maxwell, his brother, Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Monkland, knycht.

The Guidman of Kavenfe takis instrumentis of this entrie, and protestis for releif of his cautioner.

The Justice continewis the matter to the Air of Dumfreis, or soner, vpone xv dayis wairning. Johnne Broune, of the Land, cautioner.—Archibald Myller, bailzie-depute to my Lord of Moirtoune, of the Regalitie of Moirtoune, Protestis, that the Guidman of Kavenfe finding of Cautioune, preiudge nocht the previledge of my Lord of Moirtoune's Regalitie; quhilk the Justice admittit.

Mutilation and Demeubration.

Nov. 23.—ROBERT M^cDOWELL and JOHNNE M^cDOWELL, fones to Peter M^cdowell of Machirmoir.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Mutilatioune of Patrick Murdoche of Camloddene and Alexander M^ckie, his fervand, of thair richt handis.

PERSEWER, Patrik Murdoche of Camloddene, Alexander M^ckie, his fervand, Sir Thomas Hammiltoune (knycht), Aduocat to our fouerane lord.

PRELOCOUTOURIS for the pannel, Mr Alexander King, Peter M^cdowell of Machirmoir, The Laird of Mondurk, Robert Dougall, merchand.

Peter M^cdowell of Machirmoir become pledge and fouertie for Robert and

¹ See Aug. 6, 1605.

Johnne M^cdowellis, his fones, that thay fall compeir befor the Justice or his deputis, the thrid day of the nixt Justice-air of the Sherefdom of Kirkcud-brycht, or foner, vpon xv dayis wairning, to vnderly the Law,¹ &c.

[Mr Williame Borthuik, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Dec. 6.—DAVID MARSCHELL, messinger.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of v^mq^{le} Richard Spens.²

Continued to the Justice-air of 'Air, tertio Itineris (vel super premonitione), xv dierum. Plegio, Roberto Stewart de Pitheveles.'

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Murder — Shooting of Hagbutts and Pistolets.

Dec. 11.—JOHNNE JOHNNSTOUNE of Auchrymie ; James, Johnne and Patrik Forbes in Mylnebowie.

Dilaitit, accuset and perfewit off the crymes following, viz.

PERSEWER, Alexander Irwing, as fader.

PRELOCOUTOURIS (for the pannell), Mr Laurence M^cgill, The Laird of Corfindae.

FORSAMEKILL as thai, with thair complices, with convocatioun of our fouerane lordis leigis, to the number of ten perfones or thairby, all bodin in feir of weir, with jakis, fecreitis, feil-bonnetis, plait-flevis, speiris, lauce-stalfis, fuordis, quhingeris, gantilletis, hagbuttis, dagis and pistolettis, expresse prohibeit to be borne, worne, vset or schot with, be dyuerse our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament and Secreit Counfall, vnder dyuerse panes, mentionat thairintill ; haifing confaet ane deidlie feid, rancour and malice, caufeles, aganis v^mq^{le} Robert Irwing in Baddis, laillie, in the moneth of Februar last-bypast, come to the toun and landis of the Kirktoun of Skene, quhair the said v^mq^{le} Robert was for the tyme, accompaneit with certane freindis and nichtbouris in the cuntrey, at ane bankett, making mirrie, lipning for na harme, iniurie or perfute of ony perfones, bot to haif levit vnder Godis peax and our fouerane lordis ; thair, about ten houris at evin, vnder silence and clud of nycht, enterit within the said hous of the Kirktoun of Skene, quhair the said v^mq^{le} Robert was, as said is, and schot and dilaschet thair hagbuttis and pistolettis at him, quhairwith thai schot him throw the body ; and thaireftir, with thair fuordis, hurt and woundit him in dyuerse pairtis of his body. Off the quhilkis schotis and crewall fraikis, the said v^mq^{le} Robert depairtit this lyfe ; and sa, was maist crewallie flane and mureidit, vnder nycht, be the saidis perfones ; and thai, and ilk ane of thame, ar airt and pairt of the samyn Slauchter and Murthour, committit vpoun fet purpois, prouifoune and foirthocht felony ; in hie and manifest contempt of our fouerane Lord, his hienes auctoritie and lawis.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Robert Watfoune in Auchincloche, ffland, pronuncet and declairit, all in ane voce, the saidis Johnne, &c. to be Clene, Innocent and Acquit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said v^mq^{le} Robert Irwing ; and hail remanent poyntis of the said Dittay.

¹ ' James Gordoune, burges of Kirkcudbrycht (and 26 others) amerctiat in payne of ane hundreth merkis,' each, for not appearing to pass upon the Assise of the M^cdowells. ² See Jul. 25, 1605.

Hamesucken — Slaughter.

Dec. 11.—Mr ROBERT IRWING of Moncoffer, David Gray in the Lyn, Alexander Maynie in Adiestoune, and Andro Many in Auchquhartene.

Dilaitit of the crymes vnderwritten, viz.

PERSEWARIS, Johnne Forbes of Mylnebowie, as father; Patrik Forbes, James Forbes, brether; Sir Thomas Hammiltoune of Monkland, Aduocat.

PRELOQUUTOURIS for the pannell, the Erle of Home, the Maister of Marschell, the Maister of Moirtonne, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Robert Lyntonne.

FORSAMEKILL as thai, with thair complices, with convocationne, &c. laitlie, vpon the tent day of Februar lastbypast, haifing confaet ane deidlie feid, rancour and malice aganis Johnne Forbes younger in Mylnebowie, be thame selfis and thair complices, of thair speciall causing, sending, hounding out, ressetting with the bluidie hand, airt, pairt-taking, command, assittance and ratilabitionne, come be way of Hame-sukkin to James Hallis duelling hous at the Kirk of Skene, qubair the said vmq^{le} Johnne Forbes was for the tyme, doand his liefull effaires and bussines, traifing na evill, &c.; and thair violentlie brak vp the durris of the said hous, enterit within the samyn, set vpon the said vmq^{le} Johnne, and maist crewallie and vnmerciefullie slew the said vmq^{le} Johnne, be geving of him of dyuerse bluidie wondis, in the wambe; and thai and ilk ane of thame ar airt and pairt, &c.

The perfeweris passis simpliciter fra the perfute of Mr Robert Irwing, for the crymes contenit in the Letteris.—The perfones accuset denyis the hail Dittay, and hail circumstances thairof; alsweill of the Slauchter as of the beiring of pistolettis. Mr Johnne Ruffell, prelocoutour for the pannell, declairis, that David Gray and Andro Many war absent fra the Slauchter; and David Gray, the tyme of the committing thairof, was sleipand in his bed, and knew nathing of the doing thairof, quhill¹ it was done.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of the said chancillar, all in ane voce, stand the saidis David, &c. to be Clene, Innocent and Acquit, &c.

[APUD LYNLYTHGOW, Mr Williame Hairt of Levelandis, Justice-Depute.]
Treason—Declining the Jurisdiction of the Secret Council—Holding a General Assembly of the Kirk, after being charged, &c.

Jan. 10, 1606.—Mr JOHNNE FORBES, Minister at the Kirk of Airfurd, (Moderator,) Mr JOHNNE WELSCHÉ, Minister at Air, Mr ROBERT DURIE, Minister at Anstruther, Mr ANDRO DUNCANE, Minister at Carrail, Mr ALEXANDER STRAUCHANE, Minister at Creiche, Mr JOHNNE SCHERPE, Minister at Killmany.²

Dilaitit, accuset and perfewit be Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Monkland, kny¹,

¹ Until. ² As the circumstances are so very fully detailed in the course of the following proceedings, it seems to the Editor only to be necessary to refer the enquiring reader to Wodrow's Church History, pp. 506—516; Hailes' Memorials and Letters, James I. pp. 1—4; Cook's History of the Church of Scotland, II. 160, &c. An elaborate account of this remarkable struggle is also given, by the learned Dr M-Crie, in his interesting Life of Andrew Melville, Vol. II. p. 201, &c.

Advocat to our fouerane Lord, for his hienes entreis, off the crymes of Treffone ſpecificit in the DITTAY following, viz.

FORSAMEKILL as, be the firſt Act of our fouerane lordis Parliament, haldin at Edinburgh in the moneth of Majj, 1^m.Vc. fourſcoir four yeiris, it is ſtatute and ordanit, that our Souerane Lord, his airis and ſuceſſouris, be thame ſelfis and thair Counfallis, ar, and in tyme cuming falbe, Judges competent to all perſones his hienes ſubiectis, off quhatſumevir eſtait, degre, functioun or conditione that eur thay be, of ſpiritual or temporal, in all matteris quhairin thay or ony of thame falbe apprehendit, ſummond or charget, to anſveir to ſie thingis as falbe inquyret of thame, be our ſaid Souerane Lord and his Counfall; and that nane of thame, quhilk fall happin to be apprehendit, callit or ſummond, to the effect ſoirſaid, preſume ar tak vpon hand to declyne the Judgment of his hienes, his airis and ſuceſſouris, and thair Counfall, in the premiſſes; vnder the pane of Treffone: NOCHTWITHSTANDING it is of veritie, that the ſaidis Mr JOINNE FORBES, &c. being charget be our fouerane lordis Letteris, raiſit at the inſtance of his Maieſteis Advocat, for his hienes entreis, to compeir befor his Maieſtie and the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, vpon the xxiiij day of October laſtbypaſt, to haif anſuerit for thair vnlawfull and contemptuous convening, proceeding and halding of ane pretendit Generall Aſſembly,¹ at Aberdene, the ſecund day of July laſtbypaſt; and appointing of ane new Generall Aſſembly, to be haldin at Aberdene, the laſt Tyſday of September thairefter; without the conſent, and eſtir the expres reſufeall of the Laird of Lowrieftoun,² his Maieſteis Commiſſioner, being than preſent in Aberdene; and in contempt of the charges of Hoirning, lauchfullie execute vpon the firſt day of the ſaid moneth of July laſtbypaſt, at the ſaid mereait croce of the burgh of Aberdene, diſchargeing, in our fouerane lordis name, all convening and halding of ony ſie Aſſembly, at that tyme and place, vnder the pane of rebellious; and againis the will and command of the Lordis of his hienes Secreit Counfall, ſignifeit to the ſaidis Miniſteris be the Counfallis Letter than delyuerit to thame be the ſaid Laird of Lowrieftoun, befor thair ſaid proceeding, beiring, that becaus thair Lordſchipis vnderſtuid that the halding of ane Aſſembly, thair, at that tyme, wald heichlie offend his Maieſtie, and be eſimat be his hienes ane heich contempt, thairfor it was thair Lordſchipis will and pleſour, that the ſaidis Miniſteris ſould noch hald ane Aſſembly, at that tyme, nor mak ony indictione of ane new Aſſembly, but ſuffer the ſamyn to deſert. As lykwayis, the ſaid Mr JOHNNE WELSCH, Miniſter at Air, being charget to haif comperit befor the Loirdis of his hienes Secreit Counfall, the ſaid xxiiij day of October laſtbypaſt, to haif anſuerit for his vnlawfull reſorting to the ſaid burgh of Aberdene, vpon the fourt, fyft and ſaxt dayis reſpective, of the ſaid moneth of July laſtbypaſt; and vnderſtanding, as it was maift nottour and maniſeſt to all men thair, how vndentifullie and contemptuoullie the ſaidis Miniſteris procedit, in the halding of thair ſaid vnlawfull pretendit Generall Aſſembly, to the contempt of his Maieſteis authoritie, and of the directione of the Lordis of his hienes Secreit Counfall, in maner aboue ſpecificit; neuertheles, the ſaid Mr Johnne Welſche, without all ordour, forme, neceſſitie or proceeding exampill, conveinit vnlawfullie with ane number of his complices, within the Kirk of the ſaid burcht of Aberdene, the time ſoirſaid, and Ratifeit and approvet the proceedingis of thair ſaid bretherene ſoirſaid, in halding of thair ſaid vnlawfull Aſſembly, and making indiction of ane new Aſſembly, as ſaid is, and taik instrumentis thairuponne. And in reſpect of the premiſſis, all the ſoirſaidis Miniſteris, being charget as ſaid is, to compeir befor the Lordis of his hienes Secreit Counfall, to haif hard and ſene it ſtundin and declairit, that thai had verrie contemptuoullie conveinit thame ſelfis, and proceedit in thair ſaidis actiones, the tyme ſoirſaid; and thairfor, the ſaid Aſſembly, and approbatioun thairof, declairit vnlawfull, and ſua to be repute and haldin in tyme cuming; and thay to be puneiſchit in thair perſones and guidis, for thair vnlauchfull conuening, halding and approveing of the foirfaid Affemblie, in maner aboue writtin : AND the foirfaidis Ministeris, all compeirand befor the faidis Lordis of Secretit Counfall, the faid xxiiij day of October lastbypast, to anſuer in the faid cauſe, the ſamyn being ane actionn maift competent and propper to the Jurifdictioun of the Lordis of Secretit Counfall, becauſe the ſamyn concernit the tryell and puniſchment of ane heich offence, contempt of his Maieſteis authoritie, and diſſ-obedience of his Maieſtie and Lordis of his hienes Secretit Counfall : Neuertheles, the foirfaidis Ministeris, and ilk ane of thame, treſſonabilie declynit the judgement of his Maieſtie and Lordis of his hienes Secretit Counfall ſimpliciter, be thair Declinatour, ſubſcryuit be everie ane of thair handis, and gevin in be thame, in Judgement, befor the faid Lordis ; to the quhilk, it being replyit be the faid Aduocat, that the ſamyn ſould be Repellit, in reſpect of the faid Act of Parliament, declairing all ſic Declinatouris to be null, and the proponeris thairof to incur the pane of Treſſone : And, in reſpect of the quhilk anſuer and reply, your faid Declinatour was repellit be the faidis Lordis of Secretit Counfall, all in ane voce : The faidis Ministeris, neuertheles, perſiſtit ſa obſtinatlie thairin, that eftir the ſamyn was repellit be the faidis Lordis, as faid is, quhairby thai could nocht pretend ony probable dout or ignorance of thair Jurifdictioun, the faidis Ministeris gaif in thaireſtir, thair remanent Defenſis, in writt, vnder proteſtatioun alwayis, that thai adheirit to thair faid Declinatour : Be proponing quhairof, as alſo be adheiring to the ſame Declinatour, eftir that it was Repellit, thay, and euerie ane of thame, hes committit Treſſone, and ſould incur the panes thairof.

¹ Of the Church of Scotland. ² Sir Alexander Straiton of Laurenſtoun, knight, one of the Commiſſioners for the Union of England and Scotland, July 11, 1604. A Letter of Gift and Pension, for all the dayes of his lyfetyme, of the blenche-deutie of the Lordſchip of Scone, extending to 1000 merks, was Ratified by Parliament, July 11, 1606. Vid. Acta Parl. Straiton was appointed to represent the King, in Eccleſiaſtical Judicatories.

PERSEWER, Sir Thomas Hammiltoun, Aduocat to our ſouerane lord.

PRELOCUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Thomas Gray, Mr Thomas Hoip.

THE LORDIS OF SECRETIT COUNSALL, vnderwritten, declairis thay will aſſiſt the Juſtice, as ASSESSOURIS in this cauſe.

ASSESSORS.

Johnne Erle of Montroiſe,	James Lord of Balmyrrienoche,	Mr Johnne Preſtoun of Pennycuik,
Alexander Erle of Dumferme- ling, Lord Fyvie, Chancellor,	Secretar to his Maieſtie, and Preſident of his hienes College	Collectour to his Maieſtie, Sir Richard Cokburne of Clerking- toun, Lord Previe Seill,
Johnne Erle of Mar,	of Juſtice,	Johnne Lord Murray of Tyllie- bairne,
Alexander Erle of Lynlythgow,	Mark Lord Neubottill,	Johnne Lord Murray of Tyllie- bairne,
George Erle of Dumbar,	Walter Priour of Blantyre,	Sir Robert Meluill of Mourdocar- ny, kny ^t ,
Patrik Lord Glamis,	Johnne Commendatour of Haly- rudhouſe,	Alex ^r Maifter of Elphingſtoun, Levinſtoun of Kilſythe.
Alexander Lord Elphingſtoun,	Sir James Douglas of Quhitting- hame,
James Lord Abercorne,
Dauid Lord Scone, Comptroller to his Maieſtie,

It is allegit be the pannell, that thai aucht to haif bene charget vpon xl dayis wairning, ſeing thay ar to be accuſet for crymes of Treſſone.—The Aduocat anſueris, that it is daylie practik, in bringing the perſones put in waird to pannell, to put thame ſummerlie to ane Tryell ; and ſpeciallie, the practik of the Laird of Bonytoun, quha was tane and put in waird for the breking of his fatheris houſe and cofferis, and ſteilling and away-taking of his fatheris euidentis, &c., was brocht fra the waird to the bar, and put to ane Aſſyſe.

THE Juſtice Repellis the allegiance, and findis forder proces :—Quhairupone the Aduocat aſkit inſtrumentis.

It is forder allegit be Mr Thomas Hoip, prelocutour for the pannell, that this matter can nocht pass to ane Assyse, vpon the declinatour gevin in be thame aganis the summondis persewit contrair thame, befor the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, in sa far as thay ar persewit vpon the first Act of Parliament, haldin in May 1584 yeiris; becaus the meaning and intentione of the said law is only to establishe the Kingis Maiesteis royall power and Jurisdictione ouer all persones; quhilk the pannell, in all humilitie and submissioun, confessis: And albeit the said law appeiris to be generall, and vniuersallie to comprehend all matteris, yit the samyn can nocht be vniuersallie vnderstuid; becaus, quhairsoenir a law speikis generallie, gif vpon the generall speiking, ony absurditie or incommoditie may follow, quhilk may tak away former lawis, or confound distinct and diuerse¹ jurisdictiones, establischet be lawis of befor, the samyn, in that caice, man be restrictit to thais matteris that may fall vnder the compts of the law; quhilk speciallie aucht to haif place, quhair the matter is odious: But sa it is, gif this law war vniuersallie vnderstuid, of all matteris, it fould follow, that the Jurisdictiones of the Secreit Counfall, the Lordis of Sessioune, and Justice Generall, quhilkis ar supreme, Jurisdictiones Ciuill fould be counfoundit, insofar as the woirdis of this law being attendit, na persone being conuenit befor the Lordis of Secreit Counfall for ane cryme quhilk is competent to the Justice, or for ane ciuill debt, quhilk is competent to the Sessioune, nicht nocht, nor could nocht, without the perrell of the Law, allege² that the Lordis of Secreit Counfall ar nocht Judges competent in Criminall or Ciuill cauffis: Bot this is sic ane inconuenient, and sa improppter for the caise, mynd and intentione of the law, that thair is na persone will mak questioun thairin: And as this war competent in the distinct Jurisdictione of the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, Sessioune, and Justice, sua the samyn is alsé competent in Jurisdictione Ecclesiasticall, quhilk is an fererall and distinct Jurisdictione be the self, haifing the Warrant and grund of the word of God, and being authorizet be his Maiesteis lawis; speciallie, be ane Act of Parliament maid in anno I^m.V^c.lxxix, ane vther in the lxxxj and lxxxij yeiris; sua that the pannell, being than conuenit befor the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, in ane matter quhilk was altogidder Ecclesiasticall, pertening to the Jurisdiction of the Kirk, quhair of the cheif poynt consistit vpon the lawfulness or vnlawfulness of the Assemblie haldin be thame, thay nicht lauchfullie, without the perrell of this law, haif gevin in thar Declinatour, declyneing the saidis Lordis of Secreit Counfall, as nawayis Judges competent of the vnlawfulness or lawfulness of the Assemblie; and in doing thair of, thay could nawayis, nor can nawayis be decernit to haif committit aganis the said law; seing the said law, possibillie, can nocht be extendit bot to sic caiffes quhilk hes nocht ane speciall, ane seperat, or distinct Jurisdiction, be the self; and quhair, it may appeir, that the pannell, in the Summandis befor the Secreit Counfall, war nocht famekill ceitit vpon the vnlawfulness or lawfulness of the Assēblie.—As for the contemptuous convening being dischargit be his Maiesteis Letteris, aganis the requēst of the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, and the Commissioner of the Kirk, quhilk matter mycht properlie appeir to pertene vnto the Jurisdictionne of the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, and that thairby the Declinatour man fall vnder the compas of this law; it is ansuerit, that it fould nocht be considderit, quhat was the middis¹ quhairupoune thay war convenit befor the Secreit Counfall; bot the conclusioun of the Summondis man be attendit, seing it is the conclusioun and nocht the premisses that maks the natour of the actionn, quhairvpon ane cause and grund²; and vpon ane fact thair may concur of the law twa actiones or ma,³ quhilk ar dinofcet⁴ be their conclusiounes; as in an actionne of spuilzie, persewit ciuillie, the cognitioun thairof will pertene to the Lordis of Counfall, the lybell being fa formet, that it concludit the restitutionne of the guidis spuilzeit; and vpon that same fact, the spuilzeit may be convenit befor the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, for Oppressioun, the Summondis concluding to heir and sie ordour tane with him for committing of the said fact; fa that albeit the fact be ane, yit tua diuerse conclusiounes produces tua feuerall actiones, the cognitioun quhair of pertenis to tua feuerall Jurisdictiones. And as this is trew, in all vther matteris Prophane, fa it is alyk trew, into the cause intentit and persewit aganis the pannell befor the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, quhairin it aucht nocht to be respectit, quhat was the deid quhairupoune thay war summond, bot it aucht to be considderit quhat the summondis concludit: Sa that albeit the allegit fact or deid committit be thame mycht be punefchet be the Secreit Counfall, and fa pertene to thair Jurisdictionne; yit, seing the conclusioun beiris nocht allanerlie for the said fact, quhilk gif it had bene fa confaet, the pannell could nevir nor would nevir haif declynit, lyk as, in facto, thay haif nocht declynit the samyn; bot concludis to heir and sie the Assēblie haldin be thame vnlawfull: Quhilk conclusioun makis the matter to be altogidder Ecclesiasticall, only subiect to the Jurisdictionne of the Kirk establischet be his Maiestie and be the lawis of this cuntrie; the actionne being comptit of that nature, quhair of the conclusioun is, of all dentie and conscience thay aucht and mycht haif declynit the samyn, without the perrell of the said law; and thairfoir, &c. Secundlie, It is allegit, that the Act of Parliament can nocht be extendit to the Declinatour vsēt and proponit be the pannell; becaus in all Lawis, the intentionne and reffone of the Law aucht to be attendit; bot fa it is, that the intentionne and reffone of this Law was only maid, in sic matteris, quhair ony persone was summond super inquirendis, as appeiris be the verrie expres woirdis of the Law, saying, in all matteris quhairin fall be apprehendit, &c. sua that the law being only confauet vpon ane fingular¹ caice, it can na wayis be extendit to ony vther caiffis or matteris, quhilk ar nocht expreffit in the Law; and confequentlie, can nocht be extendit to the actionne perfewit aganis the pannell befoir the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, becaus thair war nocht perfewit super inquirendis, bot vpon ane perticular fact and lybell; and the reffone of this Law, quhairfoir it fould nocht militat super inquirendis, becaus gif ony perfone, being fummond super inquirendis, wald declyne the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, the fact nocht being knawin to him, it war ane manifet contemptuous Declinatour of his Maieftis fouerane authoritie, and ane exeilling of his perfoun fra his Maieftis maift royall power, quhilk war maift worthie of the pane of Treffone; fua that this reffone, nocht being militat in the caufe of the perfute perfewit aganis the pannell befoir the Secreit Counfall, the faidis perfones, in vring of thair Declinatour, hes nawayis fallin vnder the compas of the faid Law. And forder, the faid Law can nocht be perticulierlie extendit aboue the perticuler caife mentionet thairintill quia odiosa sunt restringenda; and that, be the consent of all Doctouris, is countit odious, quhilk is aganis the difpofitionne of the Cowmoun Law, or quhilk may preiudge a thrid perfones lauchfull rycht; quhilk is the nature of this Law; feing by it the punefment of Treffone is imponet² vpon ane fact, quhilk nather be the Cowmoun Law, nor be the Lawis of this cuntrey is treffonabill. Thridlie, the pannell can nawayis be accufet for committing of Treffone, be proponing of the Declinatour, becaus, be the Law, the proponeing of the Declinatour is nocht comptit ane treffonabill deid, bot only prohibeit to do the ame, vnder the pane of Treffone; fa that the Affyfe, without committing manifet Errour, can nocht convict thame of the faid fact, as Treffone. Finallie, the pannell can nawayis pas to the knowlege of ane Affyfe, for the Declinatour, be vertew of this Act of Parliament, becaus, fen the making thair of, viz. in the moneth of . . . , anno 1592, all lawis, actis, ftatutes and ordinances, quhilk may derogat to the Jurisdiction of the Kirk ar abrogat and annullit; lyk as, be the fame Law, it is declairit be his Maieftie and the thrie Eftaitis, that the foirfaid Act of Parliament quhairupovn the pannell is accufet, being the 129 Act of the Parliament haldin in Maij 1584, fall nawayis be preiudiciall, nor derogat ony thing to the privilege that God hes gevin to the fpiritual office-beiraris in the Kirk, concerning heidis of Religioun, matteris of errofie,³ excommunicationne, collatioun and deprivationne of Ministeris, and vtheris ficyke effentiall cenfours ecclesiasticall, expreflie groundit and haifing warrand of the woird of God; be the quhilk Law, the Kingis Maieftie and the Eftaitis hes declairit, that the faid Act of Parliament quhairupoune the pannell is accufet, fall nawayis be preiudiciall to ony Ecclesiasticall effentiall cenfours, foundit vponne the woird of God, being of that nature quhair of the particuleris preceding thairin contenit ar: Bot trew it is, that the Generall Affemblic is an essentiall Ecclesiasticall cenfour, exprefslie warrandit be the woird of God, and be that fame Act in the fourfcoir tuelf,¹ Ratiefeit and approvin be his Maieftie, and decernit to be lauchful and Godlie in the felf, and is of the lyk natour with the particuleris contenit in the faid Act; becaus the intreating of the heidis of Religioune, matteris of errafie,² excommunicatioune, collatioune and deprinatioune of Ministeris, ar proper pairtis of the General Affemblic, and of the office and Jurifdictioun of the fame, et ejufdem est nature cum fuis partibus: And thairfoir, the pannell, in the proponeing of the faid Declinatour, haifing done nathing bot that quhilk pertenit properlie to the Jurifdictioun of the Kirk, in defyring the queftioune anent the faid Generall Affemblic to be remittit to the Kirk, thay did na wrang in proponeing of the faid Declinatour, nor yit can the faid Declinatour be drawin in queftioun, be vertew of the faid Act, quhilk be the foirfaid posteriouir Act, in that poynt, is tacite abrogat be ane expref declaratioune, that the famyn fall nawayis be extendit to the essentiall cenfouris of the Kirk; fua that the pannell was in optima fide, in refpect of the faid posteriouir Declaratioun, to vfe the benifeit of the famyn; and thairfoir, &c.

¹ Separate. ² Plead. This verb is almost universally made use of throughout these Records, and indeed in nearly the whole of the Forensic proceedings of that period, chiefly in that sense.

¹ Medium, means.² Illegible.³ More.⁴ Lat. dignoscere, distinguished, judged of.

¹ Special, individual.² Imposed.³ Heresy.

Thaireftir, the pannell for cleiring to his Maieftie of thair intentione in vfeing of the faid Declinatour, hes declairit, and be thir presentis declairis, that thair nawayis thairby meanit to exeme³ thame felffis fra ony lauchfull fubiectioun to his Maieftie's royall authoritie, nor yit frome the Jurifdictioun of the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, in ony thing quhairin ony vther fubiect is fubiect to thair authoritie; bot only, to haif that caufe, tuiebing the lauchfulnes or vnlawfulnes of the faid Generall Affemblic, being ane mater meir fpirituall, to be judget be his Maieftie and the Kirk, as only Judges competent thairto, accoirding to the law of God, and eftableifchet Actis of Parliament within this realme; declairing be thir presentis, that his Maieftie fould judge Ecclesiasticall matteris with Ecclesiasticall perfones, lyk as he judges Ciuill matteris with Ciuill perfones; and acknowledgeing thame felffis, in all matteris Ciuill or Criminall, to be fubiect to his Maieftie (and) all the lauchfull Jurifdictiounes eftableifchet for sic caiffis within this land; vnto the quhilkis, in all humble reuerance, thay fubmit thame felffis; lyk as, in all Ecclesiasticall matteris, thair ar reddie to be judget be his Maieftie with the Generall Affemblic, and vtheris eftableifchet ordouris of the Ecclesiasticall Jurifdicties.

IT IS ANSUERIT to the ffirft allegiance, that the Actis of the Parliament lxxxix and lxxxj can mak na derogatioune to the Act of Parliament maid in Maij, anno 1584, quhairupoun the Dittay is foundit, being posteriouir to thame, geveing expref Jurifdictioun to the Kingis Maieftie and Lordis of his lienes Secreit Counfall over all perfones, ather fpirituall or temporall, accoirding to the tenmour of the faid Act: And as to the nature of the caus perfewit aganis the pannell befoir the Loirdis of Secreit Counfall, accoirding to the tennour of the Dittay and Decreit of Secreit Counfall product, the Lordis of Secreit Counfall was maift competent Judges to the hail contentis thairof, alsweill anent the tryell and punefchment of thair contempt, as of the vnlawfulnes of thair Affemblic, at that tyme and place, thay being exprefflie difcharget be his Maieftis Letteris of Hoirning and be the Counfallis command, in writt, to hald na Affemblic at that tyme, or indiet ane new Affemblic to ane new tyme and place: Lyk as, thay haifing proponit thair Declinatour befor the faidis Lordis, the famyn was Repellit, and Decreit gevin in the hail caufe; in refpect quhairof, the Dittay ftandis relevant.—To the fecund allegiance, anfueris, that the woirdis of the Act of Parliament, anent Declinatouris to be proponit in actiones super inquirendis, befor the Secreit Counfall, can nocht exeme the caife contravertit, fra thair Jurifdictionne; albeit that fauour was fchawin to the pairtie, to foirwairne thame of the caufe thair war to anfuer: Bot generallie, the Law is vnderftand, and hes alwayis bene interpret, that all Declinatouris proponit in matteris competent to the Jurifdictionn of the Counfall ar of thame felffis treflonabill, as was folempnatlie decydet in the Kingis Maieftis awin prefence aganis vni^q^{le} Mr David Blak: And thairfoir the Declinatour proponit be the pannell, and adheirit to be thame, eftir the famyn was repellit be the Counfall, fallis vnder the woirdis, meaning and tennour of the Act of Parliament.—To the thryd allegiance, anfueris, that all crymes ordanit to be pwneift be the payne of Treafoun ar treflonabill.—To the ffourt allegiance, anfueris, that the claus of the Act of Parliament, in the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxix, being ane exceptioun frome the Act of Parliament, in the yeir of God 1583, confermis the famyn Act, in all heidis nocht exprefflie exceptit; lyk as, the exceptioun is only of heidis of Religioun, materis of errasie, excommunicationn, collatioun or deprivationn of Ministeris, or ficylke essentiall cenfours, fpeciallie groundit and haifing warrand of the word of God; and it is of veritie, that the keiping of ane Affemblic at ane certane tyme and place, and appointing of ane new Affemblic, aganis the Kingis Maieftie expres charge vnder the payne of rebellioun, and aganis the will and command of the Counfale, and aganis the difaffenting of his Maieftis Commiffioner, is nather ane heid of Religioun, mater of errasie, excommunicationn or essentiall cenfou; and thairfore, is nocht exceptit fra the faid Act, bot fallis vnder the prohibitoun and danger thairof: And thairfore, nochtwithftanding of the alledgance and declaratioun foirfaid, the Dittay fould be putt to the knowlege of ane Affyfe.

¹ A.D. 1592.² Heresy.³ Exempt, free.

It is lykwyife alleget be the Pannell, that the Justice can nocht putt thame to the knowlege of ane Affyfe, for Treafoun, becaus thay ftand at the horne vnrelaxit.—The Aduocat anfueris, that the Justice hes admittit the preloquouris to compeir in the faid mater; and thairfoir the Dittay for Treafoun fould be putt to ane Affyfe.

THE JUSTICE admittit the said preloquontouris to compeir as preloquontouris in the said mater : And with auise of the hail Affessouris, in aue voce, in respect of the anferis maid be my Lord Aduocat, Ordanis the Dittay to be putt to ane Assyse.—Quhairuponne my Lord Aduocat askit instrumentis.

ASSISA.

Sir Johnue Home of North-Ber- nik, knycht,	Sir Archibald Sterling of Keir, kny ^t ,	Gawin Home of Johnnefclench, Johnne Levingstoune of Donypace,	Thomas Levingstoune of Pantoun,
Sir George Home of Broxmouthe, knycht, elder,	James Schaw of Sauchie,	Ro' Levingstoune of West-Quarter,
Sir James Forrester of Carden, knycht,	Mark Swyntoun in Inperkething, Harie Stewart of Craigiehall,	James Gib younnger of Carriber, Alexander Home of Rentoune,
	George Home of Deanes,	Sir Patrik Home of Polwort, kny ^t .

The Aduocat askis instrumentis of the admitting and fueiring of the Assyse, and eftir accusatioun of the personis on pannell, be Dittay.—The Aduocat, for verificatioun of the Dittay, produceit the Declinatour, subseryuit with thair handis acknowledged be thame selff in Judgement ; Repetit the Act of Parliament ; produceit the Decreit of Secreit Counfall, the charge of Hoirning, and the pretendit proces,¹ subseryuit be the pretendit Moderatour and the pretendit Clark of the Generall Assemblie, granting the ressalt of the Counfallis Missiue, of the temour lybellit, and the Declaratioun of his Maiesteis Commiissioner, bering that he disassentit fra thair hail proceeding ; and seing my Lord Justice, be the auise of the hail Counsale present, hes discussit the pannellis hail defensis, and ffund the Dittay relevant ; and that thair ressalt na forder to the Assyse bot to declair, quhidder the factis contenit in the Dittay haif bene committit be the pannell or nocht, the famin fact being sa manifestlie provin be the writtis produceit, and navyise denyit be the pannell, bot ratifeit and renewit in Judgement, as the proces beris ; in caise thay acquit the pannell, the Aduocat protestis for Wilfull Error and remeid of Law, with all regour.—The pannell protestis for Error aganis the Assyse, in caise thay ffyle thame of Treasoune.—The Aduocat askis instrumentis, that the pannell confessis to gefing in of the Declaratour.

VERDICT. The Assise, be the mouth of the said Harie Stewart of Craigiehall, chancellor, ffund, pronuncet and declairit the saidis fax Ministeris, and ilk ane of thame, to be ffylet, culpable and convict of the tressonabill declynceing of the Judgement of his Maiestie and Lordis of his Secreit Counfall, conforme to the Dittay aboue specifeit.

WARRANT and DOME of BANISCHEMENT² pronuncet aganis THE MINISTERIS, in Pretorio de Lyulythgow, xviij die mensis Octobris, 1606, per Magistrum Willielmum Hairt de Prestoune, Jusficiarium Deputatum.

[Oct. 23.]—COMPEIRIT M^{ris} Thomas Henderfoun and Robert Lyntoune,

¹ The procedure which took place at their Assembly.
to insert the ' DOME' here, rather than under its proper date.

² It has been thought most convenient substitutis to our sowerane lordis Aduocattis, and producet to my Lord Justice his Maiesteis Warrant; quhilk the Justice causit be oppinlie red in Judgement, and ordanit the samyn to be infert in the buikis of Adiornall; quhairof the tenuour followis.

JAMES R.

WHEARAS, in our Justice-Court, held at Lynlythgow, the tenth of Januare lastbypast, Mr Johnne Forbes, &c. war convicted of the cryme of Tressone, for pair contemptuous and tressonable declyneing pe Judgement of us and pe lordis of our Secreit Counfall, simpliciter, be a declinatour subferyuit with pair handis, and gevin in be pame, in Judgement, befor the saidis Lordis of our Counfall; as in the said proces of Convictione at mair lenth is contenit: And pe pronunceatioun of the Dome being by our Justice, vpon grave and wechtie respectis continewit, till our sarder plesour war knawin pairin, WE now considering pe grit insolence of that proud contempt, and quhat dangerus exampill it micht be, if it fould pas vnpwneifched, haveing, in our accusomed lanity, gevin to thaise declared Traitoris moir pan sufficient tyme to haif implored and maid humble sute for our mercie; zit, finding in thame nathing bot a continwing obdured obflinacie and wilfulnes, without liklieloid or appearence of respiscence and repentance in thame, for pair former committed soleis: And albeit pe gritnes of pair offence, and speciallic in men of that functioun (quhais lyves fould be lanternes and lichtis to vperis, to cary thame felvis in all dentie and obedience, and pairfoir pair ouersightis requyreing pe moir seveir animaduershoun and pwneifchment,) hath most iustlie demereited the extremitie of the regour to be inflicted vpon thame, for ane exampill to affray all vperis to attempt pe lyk; zit, becaus heirtofoir that Law haith nevir bene putt to executioun, quhairby sum men may perhaps pretend that pai had pe moir probaill ignorance pairof, (albeit in reasone the same can be no excuse,) We haif with our wounted clemency, vpon that respect only, spareid to inflict the rigour of the Law, at pis tyme: It being our Will and pleafour, that our Justice or his depute fould fence and affix a Justice Court, to be held at Lynlythgow, or ony vper pairt else that our Counfall fall think expedient, the xxij day of October nixtocum, and pair cause Dome to be gevin out against the saidis traytouris, to be BANISHED all our dominiones, during all pe dayis of pair naturall lyves; vnder pane of death: And pe Dome being pronounced, oure Will and plesour is, that pai be returned to pair wairdis, thair to remane for pe space of ane moneth, for making pair preparatiounes for pair departour; befor pe expyreing quhairof, gif pai do nocht depart, wind and wedder surveing, oure Will and pleafour is, that pe ordinarie death vsuallie inflicted vpon Traytouris be directed to be execute vpon thame: And gif pai fall nocht departe within pe said space, or being departit, fall returne into oure dominiones, without our Licensie, thay fall incur pe pane of death, and all vper panes dew to perfones convict of Tressone. Quhairanent these presentis fall be to our said Justice a sufficient Warrant. AND becaus this our spare dealing and grit clemencie, extendit towardis those abone named offendouris, in this thair so haynous a cryme and offence, may perhappes move in sum vtheris sum presumptioun to think, that for trespassis of this qualitie no gritter rigour will be heireftir vsed: ffor removeing of which pair foolische opinione and conceate, and that everie ane may haif notice of our full determinatioun in any suche lyk case heireftir, Oure Will and pleafour is, that in our said Justice Court, to be keipit pe said day, for pronunceing of pe said Dome, speciall intimatioun be maid, in open Court, by our said Justice, to all our leigis pair present, that it is our resolutioun, that gif any heirefter fall offend, in such a heich trespas, that pai fall be proceidit against with all severitie; and that the death dew vnto Traytouris fall be inflicted vpon thame with all rigour; the example of this our present lenitie at pis tyme, nevir remayning any motiue to induce us to schaw any such clemencie to such as fall commit pe lyk offence heireftir: And our will is, that pir presentis be recoirdit in the buikis of Adiornall, and that publicatioun be maid heirof at the mercait croce of Edinburgh, and all vper places neidfull. GEVIN at our Court of Hamptone Court, the xxvj day of September, 1606.

Accoirding to the quhilk Warrant, the said Justice-depute, be the mouth of Henrie Wilfoume, dempfter of Court, pronuncet dome, and decernit and ordanit the saidis perfones to be Banifchet all our fouerane lordis dominiones, during all the dayis of thair naturall lyves : And ordanis thame to returne to thair wairdis, thairin to remane for the fpace of ane monethe, for making of thair preparatioun for thair depairtour ; befor the expyreing quhairof, gif thay depairt nocht, wynd and wedder ferving, the said Justice-depute, accoirding to the said Warrant, decernis and ordanis the ordinarie daeth vsuallie inflictit vpon perfones convict of Treffone to be execute vpon thame : And gif they fall nocht depairt within the said fpace, or being depairtit, fall returne within his hienes dominiones without his Maiefteis Licence, decernis and ordanis thame, accoirding to the said Warrant, to incur the pane of daeth, and all vther panes vsuallie inflictit vpon perfones convict of Treffone : Quhilk was pronuncet for dome.

[Mr Williame Hairt of Prestoune, Justice-Depute.]
Murder of the Warden of the West Marches.

[THE Clan or 'Name' of ARMSTRONG was perhaps the most distinguished of the warlike Thieves of the Scottish Border, having possession of the largest portion of Liddisdale and the Debateable Land. For the exploits of many individuals of this name, reference may be had to the Works of Sir Walter Scott, and especially to the Introduction to the Border Minstrelsy, and the Notices prefixed to 'Johnie Armstrong' and 'Kinnmont Willie,' &c. The almost unparalleled act of bravery of the LAIRD OF BUCCLEUCH, who achieved the deliverance of Kinnmont Will from the Castle of Carlisle, in April 1596, has been adverted to in a former part of this Collection.¹ A very interesting 'Relation' of this remarkable feat, taken from a contemporary MS., is also given in the Minstrelsy,² which the reader will find well worthy of perusal. This event is likewise narrated in the Anonymous History of Scotland, already quoted;³ and as his Narrative is very brief, it has been thought proper to preserve a transcript here.—'NOW Auld WILL ARMISTRANG of Kenmont being tane be Inglis men, and is wairdit in the Castell of Cairleill, within ane strait priffoune, and yrnifs on him ; and being to thoill the tryall of the Law, knew perfythie that thair was no saifty for him. He vrittis in Scotland to his freindis, to sic gif thay culd mak him releiff. Quhairupoun THE LAIRD OF BALCLEUCH past within⁴ thrie scoir tenne horfe to the saidis Castell, and with ladderis clam the fame, and brak the priffoune ; and bringand the said Williame Kinnwnt hame with him, he cauffit blaw his trumpett and cry sum slughorns,⁵ puttis the toune and cuntry in sic ane fray, that nene durst stirr: Quhairby, he brocht the said Will Kinnmont away, but⁶ ane straik, to the grit honour of his cuntry. This wes done the sext day of Apryll, 1596.'

The Murder of SIR JOHN CARMICHAEL, knight, the Warden of the West Marches, sealed the fate of many of the Armstrongs, and led to the adoption of measures of the utmost severity against all those of the name who were thereafter convicted, or even suspected, of mal-practices.⁷ On Nov. 14, 1601, Thomas Armstrong, 'sone to Sandeis Ringane,' was convicted for being accessory to this barbarous act of butchery, and is the first instance on record, in Scotland, of a criminal having been hung in chains. The above mentioned Anonymous Historian⁸ narrates the event very quaintly, in the following terms. 'Now the Bordouris being werry euill brokin, thair war dyuerse Reidis⁹ in all fydis, bayth be Scotland

¹ Vol. I. pp. 363—365.
 Library, A. 4. 35.
 pp. 450, 451, and 452.

² See Scott's Poetical Works, Svo. 1821, Vol. I. p. 180.

⁴ Under the number of.

⁵ Slogans, war crys.

⁶ Without.

⁸ MS. Advocates'

Library.
⁷ See Vol. II.

⁸ MS. Advocates' Library.

⁹ For Raids, hostile incursions.

and England; and THE ERL OF ANGOUS, heaffand gewin the famin owir, quha wes Wardane, the King makis THE LAIRD OFF CARMICHAEL Wardane; quha, finding the Airmiftrayngis to be the grüttest occasionne of the trubbillis, wes myndfull to pvneife sum of thame, quha wes notorius theiffis; and thay heaffing intelligense thairoff, fendis to him ane broder of auld Williame Airmiftrayngis of Kenmunt, quha wes callit Alexander Airmiftrayng, alias Sandeis Ringand. This Ringane being in his cumpany, and entiring in conferance with the Wardanis, findis that thair wes na frendfchip to be luikit for at his handis; and also, thair wes sum young menne with the Wardane, quha begane to mok this Ringan, be steilling out of his fuord, and putting 30kis of egis in the skabert, quhairby the famin wald not draw; quhilk he perfaiffing, said, that “he awowit to God, that thair fuld sie his fuord out, and (if) he and thay vent on the grond quhair he mycht be partie!”¹ And cuming hame to his awin hous, in this readge, sayis to his fommis, that he wes “maid schame of som,” awowing to God, “to be equal with the famin!” And knawing THE WARDANE to ryd on the morne, he and his sonis fettis for him with sum wtheris, and flayis him be the schott of ane hagbutt. And thaireftir, for the famin cans, this Ringane and his sonis wer tane and execut to deith, as Tratoris to his Maiefty, be putting handis in the Kingis Wardane. This was done the 16 day of Junij, yeiris 1600.’

Sir Walter Scott supposes the well-known verses, ‘Armstrong’s Good Night,’ to have been composed by Thomas Armstrong, who is called by him ‘Ringan’s Tam,’ previous to his execution, Nov. 14, 1601. The reader is referred to the Minstrelsy for the exploits of the Armstrongs, and of other Worthies of the Scottish Border, whose names frequently occur in the Criminal Records.]

Feb. 13.—ALEXANDER AIRMESTRANG, callit Sandie of Rowaneburne.

Dilatit and accuset be Johnne Commendater of Halyruidhous, sone-in-law to vinq^{le} Sir Johnne Carmichell of that Ilk, knycht.

FORSAMEKILL as he, accompaneit with Thom Airmstrang, sone to Sandeis Ringane,² the said Ringane and vtheris, his sonis and complices, to the number of fewintene perfonis, or thairby, commoune thewis and tratouris, the maist pairt being on horsbak, and he on fute; came all bodin in feir of weir, with hagbuttis and pistolettis, lance-stalfis and vtheris wappinnis, invasue, to the Murthumleis; quhair thair, in the moneth of Junij, I^m.Vj^c., altogidder confukit and dewysit the crewall and treasonabill Slauchter of the said vinq^{le} SIR JOHNNE CARMICHELL of that Ilk, knycht, WARDEN OF THE WEST MARCHES;³ and for performance thairof, past fra Murthumleis to Coloneheid, quhair he and his complices lay att wait for the said vinq^{le} Sir Johnne passing by to ane Court; and as he wes, in sibir and quyet maner, passand by to the said Court, vpone the . . . day of the said moneth of Junij, quhilk wes to be hauldin in Lochmahene, he and his complices fett vponne him att the Raeknowis, quhair, with schottis of hagbuttis and pistolettis, thay schot him throw the body, and crewallie slew and mordreift the said vinq^{le} Sir Johnne Carmichell, being his Maieftis Wardane for the tyme: And the said Alexander Airmstrang wes airt and pairt of the said

¹ Where he might avenge his own quarrel.

² See Vol. II. p. 363, where he was sentenced to be ‘hangit vp in irne-cheinis,’ after having his right hand struck off.

³ Robert Birrel gives the following notice, in his Diary, Jul. 11, 1600. ‘The Laird of Carmichael bareit; quha was flaine be the Airmstrangis and Carliles, he doing and executing his office of Wardaurie, vpone the 16 of Junij befor.’

crewall and trefsonabill Murthour, he being than vpoun the ground with his complices, att the committing of the said vngodlie fact : To the takin¹ he confest the famin be his depositiounis ; lyke as, he, be Depositoun, declarit him self to be innocent of ony vther haynous crymes, except the foirsaid innocēt² Slauchter of the said vinq¹⁰ Sir Johnne ; quhilk he declairit he wes brocht vpoun aganis his will. ITEM, for commoun Thift, commoun Ressett of thift, inputting and outputting of thift, fra land to land, fra cuntry to cuntry, baith of auld and new.

PERSEWER, My Lord (‘ Johnne Commendater’ of) Halyrudhous.

ASSISA.

Robert Mcbrair of Almagill,	Andro Ker of Mylnerig,	Michell Adamefoun, flescheour in
Johnne Weir, brother to Auchtie-	Gylbert Halyday, merchand bur-	Edinburghe, fardell,	ges of Edinburghe,	Williamme Mow, hatt-maker thair,
R ^t Johnnestounne, burges of Ed ^r ,	Allane Cathcart, staibler thair,	Andro Greir, burges thair,
Vthrid McDonell of Mondurk,	Robert Dalzell, Y ^r of that Ilk,	Alexander Bowie, staibler thair,
. . . . Hunter of Polmude,	James Johnnestounne or Waftraw,	J ^{on} Steill, fumtyme of Houstounne.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of the said James Johnnestounne, chancellor, fand, pronunceit and declarit the said Alexander Armstrang to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of airt and pairt of the crewall Slauchter and Murthour of the said vinq¹⁰ Sir Johne Carnichell, conforme to his Depositounis. And als, to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of commoune thift, commoune ressett of thift.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburghe, and thair to be hangit vpoune ane gybet quhill he wes deid ; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vse, for the said crymis.

Slaughter — Shooting Hagbuts, &c.

Feb. 21.—ADAME BROUNFEILD, in Gordone maynes.

Dilaitit for airt and pairt of the fellone and crewall Slauchter of vinq¹⁰ Thomas Cranstoun ; committit vpone the xxij day of July, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourscor fyftene yeiris, within the boundis of the landis of Moriestoun, at that pairt thairof callit the Kame, be the schot of ane hagbut throw his body ; vpone set purpos, prouisioun and foirthocht felony.

PERSEWER, Johnne Cranstounne, as brother.

PRELOCUTORIS in perfute, Sir Johnne Cranstounne of that Ilk, Mr Thomas Cranstounne.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, Mr Williamme Oliphant, Aduocat, James Brounfeild of Nether Maynes.

It is allegit be the pannell, that he can nocht be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse, vpone this Dittay, and crymes contenit thairin ; becaus the Kingis Maiestie hes grantit his Remissionne, vnder the Grit Seill.³—It is ansuerit be the persewer, that this Remissionne, anent the tyme of the committing of the said (slauchter) lybellit, meittis nocht the tyme specifcit in the Dittay.⁴

¹ In token or testimony whereof. ² Sic. ³ Apud Edin. Dec. 20, 1605. ⁴ ‘ In menfe . . . 1594, commissl.’

THE Justice admittis the Remiffiounne product.

It is allegit be the perfewer, that the Remiffioun vset be the pannel, is contrair to the Act of Parliament, ordanang na Remiffiounne to be grantit, without satisfiounne of pairtie, and productione of ane Letter of Slanes, vtherways to be null.—Anfuerit, the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Remiffiounne; and offeris cautionne to fatisfie the pairtie, conforme to the Lawis of this realme.—James Brounfeild in Nether-maynes, Johne Brounfeild in Gordone-maines and the said Adame (become) cautionne, coniunctlie and feuerallie, for satisfiounne of pairtie, &c.

Slaughter — Shooting Hagbutis and Pistolets.

Feb. 25.—HEW CAMPBELL in Mauchline, sone to vniq^{le} Thomas Com-mendator of Halywoid.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the fellone and crewall Slauchter of vniq^{le} Johne Glencorfe of that Ilk, be schottis of hagbutis and pistolettis; committit vpon the xiv day of September, the yeir of God 1581 yeiris, vpon the ground and landis of Gribtounne; vpon set purpois, pronifioun and foirthocht fellonie.

PERSEWERIS, Iffobell Glencorfe, sifter; Robert Glencorfe, neir kynfman.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pamell, Mr Robert Lyntoun.

Tuik him to our fouerane lordis Remiffiounne, for the said cryme. ('Apud Edinburgh, Feb. 14, 1606.') Williame Campbell in Grienoek-maynes, Alexander Nisbet of Grenholme, and the said Hew, become cautionne and fouertie, coniunctlie and feuerallie, to fatisfie the pairtie, as law will.

Slaughter.

Feb. 26.—WILLIAME M^cINTOSCHE, sone to the Laird of M^cIntosche; Angus Williamsone of Termet; Donald M^cintosche, sone to Perfone M^ccondowie; Williame M^cJames, sone to James Glas; Angus M^cRannald, sone to vniq^{le} Johne M^cAngus; Lauchlane Williamesone, eldest sone to Angus.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vniq^{le} Alexander Anderfoune in Balnaglak and vniq^{le} Johne Barrone thair.

PERSEWER, Johne Elphinstoune of Balnaglak, as neir kynfman to the saidis vniq^{le} perfones.

The said Johne Elphinstoune, perfewar, for himself, and takand the burding on him for Thomas Anderfoun, brother to vniq^{le} Alexander Anderfoune, past fra the perfute of the perfones on pannel, pro loco et tempore. Lauchlane M^cintosche of Dymnachten becomes fouertie for the entrie of the perfones on pannel, the thrid day of the air (of 'Inuernese,') or soner, vpon xv dayis wairning; vnder the panes contenit in the Actis of Parliament.

Breaking the Place of Kilbirnie — Theft, &c.

Feb. 26.—JOHNE CRAUFURD, sumtyme in Auchincloch, now in Auchinbothie.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Breking of the Place of Kilbirnie; and steilling of certane eidentis and abulzementis, pertening to Johnne Craufurd of Kilbirnie, &c. viz.

FORSAMEKILL as he, accompaneit with Thomas Wilfoun in Wallafe, with divers vtheris thair complices, cownoun thewis, in the moneth of Nouember, the yeir of God Im.Vc. and twa yeiris, come to the Place of Kilbirnie, the Laird being than furth of this realme, and his Lady being than in Grenok, ten myle distant fra the said place of Kilbirny; and thair, vnder sylence and cloud of nycht, brak the said Place, at the North syde thairof, enterit within the samin, and thiftioullie stall, concealit, ressett and away-tuik, furth thairof, and furth of the cofferis thau standing within the said Place, ane figuret velvet goune, ane blew bend of taffetie, ane ryding cloik and skirt of broun cullerit claiith, wrocht with siluer pafment; ane blak velvet dowblet, cuttit out and wrocht with silk cordounis; ane pair of broun veluet breikis, wrocht with cordounis of gold; ane lowfe gown of grograne, ane skirt of broune fatene, ane broun faittene dowblet, twa hwidis with craipis; togidder with ane pair of blankettis, qubairin he band all the saidis clathis and abulzements: Quhilkis guidis and geir pertenit to the said Johnne Craufurd of Kilbirnie and his spous. LYKE as, att the samyn tyme, he with his complices, brak vp the said Johnne Craufurd's Charter-kist, standing within the said Place, and thiftioullie stall, concealit, ressett and away-tuik, furth thairof, ane grit number of the said Laird of Kilbirneis speciall eidentis and writtis,¹ togidder with the saidis guidis and geir and abulzements, he and his complices had and convoyit away with thame, and disponit thairvpoun att thair pleasour; and he wes airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling, concealing, ressettting and away-taking of the saidis guidis, geir, writtis, eidentis and vtheris aboue writtin, and of the breking of the said Place, in maner, and att the tyme foirfaid; qubilk wes notourlie knawin. To the takin,² he, with his wyffe and seruand-wemene, delyuerit bak agane to the Lady Kilbirny, within the duelling houe of Cuthbert Craufurd in Parkfut, in presens of the said Cuthbert Craufurd, Hew Gawin in Boig, Williame Allane in Manis, Thomas Harvie in Brokklirhill, Mungo Allane in Sarlie, Hew Starrie in Bankfyde, and George Kelfo in Brighill, the perticuler abulzementis following, viz. the saidis cuttit out velvet dowblet, the broun velvet breikis, the lowfe grograne goune, the broun fatene skirt, ane broune fatene dowblet, the said figurit velvet goune, the said broun ryding cloik and skirt, with the saidis twa huidis, quhilkis wer thifteoullie stollin and away-brocht be him and his complices, furth of the said place, att the tyme foirfaid: To the takin also, he being examinat him selff, in presens of the Minister, eldaris and deakinnis of the Kirk of Kilbirnie, he grantit and confessit the haifing of the said blew taffatie bend, with certane of the said Laird and Ladies writtis and eidentis, bot wald nocht declair how he came be thame; as the Extract of his Confessioun, heirwith produceit to sehaw, beris: To the takin lykwayis, the said Johnne, being charget of befoir to find cautionne to haif comperit before tho Justice, at ane certane day bygane, to vuderly the law for the foirfaidis crymes, he than, for dissobediencie of the said charge, past to the horne; as the Hoirning lykwayis sehawin beiris.

PERSEWARIS, Johnne Craufurd of Kilbirnie, Sir Thomas Hammiltoune of Monkland, kny^t, Aduocat. PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, Mr Johnne Russell, Williame Speir, wryter, Mr Patrik Hammiltoune.

The Laird of Kilbirnie takis instrumentis of the productionne of Thomas Wilfoune at the horne, and lykwayis of the productionne of the Letteris aganis the cautioneris for the Entrie of Johnne Craufurd, and of the roll of his Affise; and offeris him reddie to persue the said Johnne for the crymes contenit in his Dittay; and protestis, in respect thair of, that he be relevit of his cautionerie.

¹ Principal title-deeds and writings.

² In token, or proof.

VERDICT. The Affise, be the mouth of Williame Orr in Lochrig, chancellor, for the maist part, stand, pronuncet and declairit the said Johnne Craufurd to be Clene, innocent and acquit of airt and part of the breking, &c.

Slaughter — Demembration.

Mar. 7.—NINIANE AIRMESTRANG, callit Niniane of Tueidane, Andro Henderfoune, servand to the Laird of Mangertoune, Archibald Airmestrang, callit Fair Archie.

Dilaitit of the Slaucher of vmq^{le} Andro Smyth, and demembring of Thomas Tueidie of his neife (nose.)

PERSEWERIS, Johnne Smyth, sone to vmq^{le} Andro Smyth, Thomas Tueidie in Dwafyre.

The perseweris passis fra the persones in pannel, pro loco et tempore.—Robert Scott of Hayning become fouertie for the entrie of Niniane and Andro, and Sir James Johnnestoune of that Ilk, for the said Archibald, the thrid day of the air (of Dumfries) or soner, vpone xv dayis wairning, to vnderly the Law, &c.

Mutilation and Demembration.

Mar. 7.—GAWIN ELLOTE of Fiddeltoune, callit Johnne's Gawin.

Dilaitit for Dismembring of Thomas Twiedie in Dunfyre of his nise (nose.)

Robert Ellote younger of Fallinesche oftymes callit, as cautioner for the said Gawin, to haif enterit and presentit him befor the Justice this day, vnder the pane of thre thousand merkis; as he that become fouertie actit in presens of Sir Williame Seatoun of Kyleshure, Sir Johnne Charteris of Amisfeld, and Sir Jedione Murray of Elibank, kny^{ts}, his Maiesteis Commiffioneris, in ane Court of Justiciarie held be thame, within the tolbutth of Peiblis, the tuentic tua day of December lastbypast. The said Robert vnlawit in the said pane.

Cattle and Horse Stealing — Slaughter — Fire-raising — Shooting of Pistolets — Cutting down Timber, &c.

Mar. 19.—HECTOUR TRUMBILL of Wauchope, George Trumbill his sone, Adame Trumbill in Bullerwall, ('past fra,') George Trumbill in Howa, ('past fra,') Johnne Trumbill, sone to Hectour of Wauchope, Hectour Trumbill of Stanyledge, ('past fra,') Andro Trumbill, brother to Bullerwall, ('past fra,') Hectour Trumbill in Clarielaw, and Thomas Trumbill of Hoppisburne.

Dilaitit, accuset and perfewit for airt and pairt of the crymes respectiue following, viz.

FOR the thiftious Steilling, conceilling, reffetting and away-taking, fra Margaret Trumbill Lady Apotefyde, furth of the toun and landis of Hairwood, tua hundreth ky and oxin, threttie feoir of fcheip, threttie horfe and meiris, with the haill inficht and pleniffing, worth the fowme of ane thousand pundis money; committit in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir auchtene yeiris (1598). ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thiftious fleilling, conceilling, reffetting and away-taking furth of the landis of Apotfyde, of ane hundreth ky and oxin, tua hundreth fcheip pertening to the faid Margaret, with hir haill infycht and pleniffing being within the faid place, worth V^c lib.; committit in Junij, the yeir of God foirfaid. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thiftious fleilling, conceilling and away-taking, be way of Maifterfull thift and flouth-reif, furth of the faidis landis of Apotefyde, of xxx ky and oxin, pertening to the faid Margaret Trumbill, with hir haill inficht pleniffing, worth the fowme of V^c merkis; committit in Januar, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir nyntene yeiris. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the treffonabill and awfull Raifing of ffyre about the place of Apotfyde, and burning and diftroying of dyuerfe houffis within the faid place, togidder with tua horffis, price of the peice¹ V^c pnaid; with certane inficht and pleniffing; committit in the moneth of Maij, I^m.V^c. fourfcoir nyntene yeiris: And for airt and pairt of the crewall Slauchter of vmq^{le} Williame Lorane,² ane young boy of xij yeiris of age; committit in the moneth of Julij, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. yeiris, within the wood of Lorane, vpone fet purpois, prouiffoun, auld feid and foirthocht felony. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the crewall Slauchter of vmq^{le} Hectour Lorane of Harwoid, with fchotis of hagbutis and piftolettis; committit in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and foure yeiris. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Lyell Broun, fervand to the faid Margaret: AND als, for airt and pairt of Steilling fra the faid vmq^{le} Lyell, furth of his landis of Harwoid, of threttie ky and oxin, threfcoir fcheip, thre horfe and twa meiris, with the haill inficht and pleniffing of his hous, worth the fowme of thre hundreth merkis; committit in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God, I^m.V^c fourfcoir auchtene yeiris. ITEM, for contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in beiring, weiring and fchuiting of hagbutis and piftolettis, vpone the faidis landis of Harwoid, Apotefyde and remanent places foirfaidis, fchuitting and flaying of the faidis Hectour Lorane of Harwoid, and vmq^{le} Williame Lorane, his brother, the tymes respectiue aboue writtin of the committing of thair faid Slauchteris. ITEM, for contravening the Actis of Parliament, io cutting down and diftroying, in the monethis of Januare, Februare, Marche, and remanent monethis of the yeiris of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir auchtene, 1599, 1600, 1601, 1602, 1603, 1604 and 1605, at the leift in ane ar vther of the faid monethis and yeiris of God, of the haill grit growand trayis,³ within the woidis of Apotefyde, pertening to the faid Margaret Trumbill, viz. ane thousand birch treyis, fyve hundreth grit aikis, thre hundreth allouris, four hundreth haiffaillis;⁴ and hes waiffit and deftroit the faidis woidis.

PERSEWERIS.

Margaret Trumbill, Lady Apotfyde; Mr Robert Lyntoun, Aduocat, substitute to my Lord Aduocat.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, Mr Alexander King, Mr Lawrence M^cGill.

Compeirit personallie WILLIAME ERLE OF ANGUS, Lord of the Regalitie of Jedburghe-florrest, and producet his Seafing, comprehending the faid Regalitie, and defyrit to Repledge the particular perfones following, duelling within the faid Regalitie, viz. The Laird of Wauchope, George and Johnne Trumbillis, his fones, and Thomas Trumbill of Hoppifburne, as houfhold man to Thomas Trum-

¹ Price of each, £500.

² Brother to the Laird of Harwood.

³ Large growing timber.

⁴ 1000 birch trees, 500 great oaks, 300 allers (elder, or mountain ash), 400 hazels.

bill younger of Wauchope, all duelland within the said Regalitie. It is anfuert be the Aduocat, that the perfonnes defyrit to be repleget can nocht be repledget for Treffone, viz. ffyre-raifing,¹ contenit in the Dittay.—It is anfuert be Mr Alexander King, that thair aucht to be repledget, nochtwithftanding of the Aduocatis allegeance; becaus (thair is) na Treffone, bot that quhilk is committit aganis the kingis awin perfone.—It is duplyt be the Aduocat, that ffyre-raifing is Treffone; and thairfore the said perfonnes can nocht be repledget, bot fould pafs to aue Affyfe, quhither it be committit aganis his Maieftis perfone, or for ony vther cryme impoirting Treffone.

THE Justice, eftir probatioune led that the saidis perfonnes duelt within the Regalitie, Admittis my Lord of Angus Replegeatioum, repledeand thame for the hail crymes contenit in the Letteris, except the Treffone of ffyre-raifing: And my Lord of Angus, prefent, fand cautioune, viz. Adame Trumbill in Bullerwall, to adminifter Juftice, in Lyntelleis, the xv day of Apryle nixt; and the said Adame become cautioune for the entrie of the saidis perfonnes.²

The perfewer paffis fra Hectour Trumbill of Clarielaw, for the cutting and diftroying of the greine-woid, contenit in the Dittay, pro loco et tempore.

Treasonable Fire-raising — Cattle-stealing — Slaughter, &c.

Mar. 19.—HECTOR TRUMBILL of Wauchope, George Trumbill and Johnne Trumbill his fones, Hectour Trumbill of Clarielaw, and Thomas Trumbill of Hoppisburne.

Dilaitit, accuset and perfewit of the crymes refpective following, viz.

THE said Hectour Trumbill of Wauchope and Hectour Trumbill of Clarielaw, of airt and pairt of the trefonabill and awfull Raifing of ffyre, vpon the landis of Harwod, and burning and diftroying of fourtie dargis of turves,³ pertening to the said Margaret Trumbill Lady Apotefyde; committit in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God, I^m.V^c.lxxxviiij yeiris. ITEM, the saidis Hectour Trumbill, elder of Wauchope, George and Johnne Trumbillis his fones, Hectour Trumbill of Clarielaw, and Thomas Trumbill of Hoppisburne, ffor airt and pairt of the trefonabill Raifing of ffyre about the Place of Apotefyde, and burning of findrie houffis of the said Place, togidder with tua horffis, worth ane thoufand pundis, and hail infycht and pleniffing within the saidis houffis, worthe ane hundreth pundis; committit in the moneth of Maij, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir-nyntene yeiris. ITEM, the said Hectour Trumbill of Clarielaw, for airt and pairt of the Steilling of tua hundreth ky and oxin, threttie fcoir of fcheip, threttie horfe and meiris, pertening to the said Margaret Trumbill Lady Apotefyde; with the hail inficht and pleniffing of hir houffis, worth the fowme of ane thoufand pundis; committit in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir auchtene yeiris: AND of the hail remanent crymes of Thift, Slauchteris, Cutting doune of grene growand treyis and vtheris contenit in the Act of adjudicatioun of Thomas Trumbill, of the dait of thir presentis.⁴

¹ Being one of the pleas of the Crown.

² This, evidently, is one of the instances which the Editor has before referred to of the evil effects resulting from the Heritable Jurisdictions possessed by the Barons of Scotland, before the Act, abolishing such powers, was passed. The purpose of the 'Replegiation' was undoubtedly to quash all proceedings, and suppress the administration of justice.

³ Darg usually signifies a day's-work. This may, therefore, signify a quantity of peats or turfs, equivalent to the labour of forty days' work, in casting, &c.

⁴ See the first Dittay.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Williame Ryddell in Woidhous, chancellor, all in ane voce, stand, pronuncet and declairit the saidis Hectour Trumbill of Wauchope, &c. to be Cleane, innocent and acquit of airt and pairt of the crymes perticularlie aboue spceifeit.

Theft — Slaughter — Fire-raising, &c.

Mar. 19.—THOMAS TRUMBILL, younger of Wauchope.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the thiftious Steilling, conceilling, reffetting and away-taking fra Margaret Trumbill Lady Apotefyde, &c.¹

THE Justice decernit and ordanit James Gledstanes, appeirand of Coklaw (as cautioner for his entry), to be vnlawit and amerciati in the panes contenit in the Actis of Parliament, viz. ffor nocht entrie of the said Thomas, to the effect foir-said, in the pane of Fyve hundreth merkis money: And siclyke, Decernit and ordanit the said Thomas Trumbill, younger of Wauchope, for his non-compeirance, to be denuncet our souerane lordis rebell and put to his hienes horne, and all his moveabill guidis to be escheit and inbrocht to his Maiesteis vse, &c.

Slaughter.

Mar. 20.—LAURENCE LORD OLIPHANT.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Gilbert Gray in North Bann-dirrane; committit in the moneth of September last.

PERSEWERIS.

Helene Rattray, the relict, Mr Thomas Henderfoun, Aduocat-substitute to his Maiesteis Aduocat.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, Mr Williame Oliphant, Mr Alexander King.

My Lord Aduocat takis instrumentis of the productione and reding of his Maiesteis Letter, direct to the Connfall; quhair of the temour followis.

JAMES R.

RIGHT trustie and weilbelouit conseignis and counfallouris, WE greit 3ow hairtlie weil. Quhairas it is heavilie complened vnto us, be Patrik Gray, of the crewall Slauchter of vniq^{le} Gilbert Gray his faper, by certane perfones speciallie houndit out be þe Lord Oliphant, and sum of þame being his domestik seruitouris; quich offence doith so muche þe moir greve us, that now, quhair as in the lait Bordouris and in þe verrie Hielandis of þat our realme, þair is such vniuerfall obedience, that nocht-peles in þe verrie hairt of þat cuntrey, and so neir to þe ordiner place of residence of our Justice þair, such ane vyld fact sould be committed, without pwneishment inflicted vpon the doaris þairof; and þat to delude our Justice, any of our nobilitie þair, absenting him self from þe actionn, sould hound out vperis to execute his privat revenge, and be his craftie conveyance of þe malefactoris out of þe way, sould tak away all meanis of þe tryell of his awin giltines in that cryme; quich doing, inferring so dangerus ane preparatiue² as that nane of our subiectis, gif þis be nocht prevented, can be in suretie of his life. WE ar þairfoir to recommend to 3our speciall care and dilligence, as 3e respect our pleafour and seruice, that na menis be vnassayed by 3ow, to bring þe treuth of þis matter to light; ffor as WE ar most grevoullie offendit with þe cryme committed, so if þe doaris be nocht apprehendit, þe matter halylic tryit, and justice miniftrat accoirding pairto, it will fo much pe moir difcontent us. And fo We bid 5ow fairweill. FROM our Court at Quhytehall, the eglht of Januare, 1606.

¹ See the first Dittay.

² Example, precedent.

Eftir the reiding of the quhilk Letter, my Lord Aduocat defyret, that, accoirding to the faid Letter, this matter fould be tryit, and my Lord Oliphant committit, quhill¹ the perfones contenit in the Letteris be exhibeit and presentit to justice.

The quhilk day, Lawrence Lord Oliphant, being enterit vpon pannell, be him felf, with Mr Williame Oliphant and Mr Alexander King, aduocattis, his prelocutouris, exponet and declairit,² fforfamekill as he, being charget, be vertew of our fouerane lordis Letteris, purchest at the instance of Patrik Gray, in North Bandirrane, eldest fone, Gilbert and Johnne Grayis, alfo fones, with the remanent kyn and freindis of vmq^{le} Gilbert Gray, in North Bandirrane, and Sir Thomas Hammiltoune of Monkland, knycht, aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hienes entreis, to find caution, actit in the buikis of Adiornall, that he fould compeir befor the Justice and his deputis this day, and place, in the hour of caufe, to vnderly the law, ffor airt and pairt of the felloun and crewall Slauchter of the faid vmq^{le} Gilbert Gray, allegit done and committit be the faid Laurence Lord Oliphant, vpon the . . . day of September lafbypaft, vpon the landis of North Bandirrane; at the leift, the famyn being done of the fpeciall caufing, fending, hounding out, devyfeing, airt, pairt-taking, directionn, counfalling, refetting with the bludie hand, command, affiftance and ratihabitoune of the faid Laurence Lord Oliphant, as the Letteris beiris. For obedience of the quhilk charge, he than fand Williame Moncreif of that Ilk fouertie for his entrie, this day and place, to the effect foirfaid; ffor quhais releif and tryell of his innocencie in the faid matter, he compeirit, and offerit him felf reddie to abyde the tryell of the law for the faidis allegit crymes, quhairof he was maift innocent: difaffenting to all continuatioune. And in refpect that the faidis Patrik, Gilbert and Johnne Grayis, perfeweris fpecifeit in the faidis Letteris, being oft tymes callit, compeirit nocht to infift in his lordfchipis perfute, for the crymes abone fpecifeit, proteftit for releif of the faid Williame Moncreif of that Ilk, his cautioner, of his cautionerie foirfaid; and that he be nocht callit nor perfewit at the instance of ony pairtie, for the faidis crymes, in tyme cuming.

THE Justice continewis this matter to the thrid day of the nixt Justice-air of the fherfdome of Forfar, or foner, vpon xv dayis wairning: And ordanis my Lord Oliphant to find cautione for his compeirance, to the effect and in maner foirfaid; quha fand Sir George Toures of Innerleyth, knycht, fouertie for his entrie, vnder the panis contenit in the Actis of Parliament.

¹ Until. ² It is thus expressed in a sentence immediately preceding, ' My Lord Oliphant offeris him felf reddie to abyde the tryell of the Law, difaffenting to all continuatioune; and feing thair is ane fufficient number of noble men in this burgh to pas vpon his Affyfe, defyres he may be put to the Tryell of ane Affyfe, instantlie, for the crymes lybellit.'

Slaughter — Bearing and Shooting of Hagbuts, &c.

Mar. 22.—GILBERT GRAY of Bandirrane, Patrick Gray, his sone, and Williame Broun in Hagishhall.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Maister of Oliphant and of James Reid, sone to David Reid of Thridpairt, &c.

Compeirit Hew Reid, and produceit our souerane lordis Lettres, deulie execute and indorsat, and askit instrumens of the production thair of; and protestit for his cautioneris releif, and offerit him selff reddie, with the assistance of the Kingis Maiesteis aduocat, to persew Patrik Gray and Williame Broune for the slauchter of vmq^{le} James Reid, his brother. Compeirit Mr Johnne Ruffell and Mr Thomas Hoip, aduocattis, and presentit the Kingis Maiesteis Letter, quhair of the tennour followis.

JAMES R.

JUSTICE, Justice Clerk and your deputtis, We greit you weil. Forfamekill as it is vnderstand to us, that our vtheris Letteris ar direct at the instance of ye kyn and freindis of vmq^{le} James Reid, sone to David Reid of Thrid-pairt, and our Aduocat for our intreis, ffor calling of Gilbert Gray, &c. to vnderly our lawis befor you, for airt and pairt of ye Slauchter of ye said vmq^{le} James, as our saidis Lettres beiris: As lykways, for Convocatioun of our leigis in airmes, and beiring, weiring and schuiting of hagbuttis and pistolettis, aganis ye tennour of our Actis of Parliament and Proclamatiounes, maid and direct, expresse prohibeiting ye same: Nochtwithstanding, being informet pat ye said Slauchter was committit, and ye saidis forbidden wapones borne and vsed in the executioun of our Commissioun, direct for searching and apprehensioun of Gilbert Gray, sumtyme fervand to Gilbert Gray of Mekill Bandirrane, our denounced rebell, for ye crewall Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Shiphird, for findrie crymes of Thift and vperis odious crymes committit be him: And that vmq^{le} Johnne Maister of Oliphant, and ye said vmq^{le} James Reid, in not withstanding of our saidis Commissiouneris, and assisting and plane partaking with ye said Gilbert our rebell, wer baith slane: ffor quhilk beiring, weiring and schuiting with ye saidis hagbuttis and pistolettis, our said Commissioun, conteneing a speeciall Remissioun to our saidis Commissiouneris, and all vtheris our subiectis assisting same, in executioun pairt: And considering pairwith, pat ye executioun of pis our Commissioun, in pat foirt, may terrifie ye lyk malefactoris to continew¹ in thair wicked deidis, contempt and rebelloun. It is pairfoir our Will, and We command you, that vpon ye sicht heirof, ye stay all maner of proceeding againt ye saidis Gilbert Gray of Bandirrane, Patrik Gray his sone, and Williame Broun, for ye said Slauchter of ye said vmq^{le} Maister of Oliphant and James Reid, the beiring, weiring and schuiting with ye saidis hagbuttis and pistolettis, or ony vtheris crymes exprest in our saidis Letteris, alreddie raisit, or to be raisit aganis same for ye same, in tyme cuming, sua pat pai may inioy ye benefeit of our Remissioun, exprest in our Commissioun foirsaid: As ye will answere vpon your office and obedience; Quhairnant pis present fall be your sufficient Warrant. Gevin at our Court, in Quhytehall, ye penult day of Maij, 1604.

Mr Robert Lyntoun, Aduocat, substitute to my Lord Aduocat, allegis ante omnia, the persones persewit aucht to be enterit on pannel; and thairfoir, in respect of thair nocht entry, desyres of the Justice that thair cautioner may be vnlawit, and thai, for thair nocht compeirance, adiuget to be denuncet rebell and put to the horne; and that in ane Criminall persute, according to the daylie practik, the defenderis, befoir ony proces, fould be first enterit. The said Mr Johnne Ruffell allegit in the contrair, in respect of his Maiesteis Warrant; and forder, that his Maiestie, be his auctoritie, may ather command the Justice to hald Court or to continew the dyet, at his Maiesteis plesour.

¹ From continuing.

THE Justice, in respect of his Maiesteis Letter, product, continewis this matter to the thrid day of the air,¹ or soner, vpon xv dayis wairning, in the samyn estait as it was of befoir, aganis Patrik Gray and Williame Broune: And ordanis Johnne Lyndefay of Evlik, cautioner, in respect of thair nocht entrie this day and place, to remane still cautioner, conforme to the Act of Adiornall maid thair-upoune of befoir. Quhairupoun the saidis perseweris and the said Mr Johnne Ruffell askit instrumentis.

Cattle and Horse-stealing.

JUN. 13.—ROBERT BEIROPE of that Ilk.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Steilling of certane ky and oxin, pertening to Sir Johnne Ker of Hirfell, viz. fforfamekill as he, accompaneit with Robert Selbie of Bittildane, Loukie Davidfoun and diuers vtheris, his complices, common and notorious thewis, broken men, in the moneth of November 1596 yeiris, cam to the said Sir Johnnis place of Lytildane, and thair, vnder sylvence and cloud of nycht, brak vp the byre-duris of the said place, and thifteoullie stall, concelit, reffet and away-tuik furth thairof saxtene ky and oxin, with sax horse and meiris, &c.

PERSEWER, Sir Johnne Ker of Hirfell.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannel, The Lairdis of Phairilherst, elder and y^r, Mr Johnne Ruffell.

VERDICT. Found by the Assyse² to be 'Clene, innocent and acquit.'

Slaughter.

JUN. 18.—JOHNE M^cDOWELL of Freuchie; Johnne M^cdowell, his ser-vand; Eufame Dunbar, Lady Garthland; Alexander M^cdowell of Barjarg; Alexander Neilfoun, fhear of Craigecaffie;³ Patrik M^cdowell of Creoches; Williame Bigholme in Galderioch; Gilchryft M^cmaister, thair; Vthreid M^ckie in Innermessene;⁴ and Nicol M^cgowne in Trottingcoroche.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slaucher of vniq^{l^e} Quintene Boyd; committit in the moneth of Apryle lastbypast.

¹ Of Perth. ² Chiefly feuars. The chancellor was Johnne Mow of that Ilk. Johnne Halyburton of Mertoun, James Ker of Steilstokbrayis, Johnne Robfoun of Burvanes, and Patrik Dikfoun of Belchefer, are the only persons of note who appear on the Inquest.

⁴ 'Past fra simpliciter.'

³ 'Past fra simpliciter.'

PERSEWER, Adame Boyd, as brother.

The perfonnes enterit on pannell askis instrumentis of thair entrie, and protestis for releif of the Laird of Mondurk, thair cautioner: And in respect of thair innocencie of the crymes lybellit, offeris thame selffis to the tryell of the law thairfoir, and disaffentis to all continuatioune.—The perfewer passis fra the Lady Garthland simpliciter, in respect of hir innocencie.

THE Justice Ordanis the remanent Defenderis to find caution to the thrid day of the air, or soner, vpon xv dayis wairning.

QUESTION of the Pannels being entitled to their expenses.

It is allegit be the perfonnes on pannell, that in matters Ciuill, protestatioun being admittit in fauouris of the defender aganis the perfewer, the Lordis are in daylie vse to modifie the parteis expensfis; multo magis, in matteris Criminall, a partie being perfewit and compeirand, offerand him selff to abyde the tryell of the law, for the cryme quhairof thay ar indyttit, thair expensfis aucht to be modifeit, and the perfeweris decernit to pay the samyn.

THE Justice declairis to this perfewer, gif he raise Letteris of new agane, contrair thir defenderis, vponne the crymes foirsaidis, gif thay fall happin to be claget, he fall be adiudget to pay the defenderis expensfis, bayth for this dyet and the dyet following: And ordanis the Clerk to tak cautione of him at the raising of the Letteris to the effect ffoirsaid: Quhairvponne the perfonnes on pannell askit instrumentis.

The ‘Affyfouris’ also protested, that ‘thai be nocht summond heirefter, for this cause.’

Oppression — Taking Captive — Murder.

Jun. 20.—THOMAS CALDER in Clwues, Johnne Oir in Calder, and Walter M^robie Roise in Mekil Geddes.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Taking and Apprehending of v^mq^{le} David Dumbar of Lochileis captiue and presoner; and convoying him captiue to Erygill, and deteing him in captiuitie, be the space of tuell oukkis.¹ And for airt and pairt of the Slauchter and Murthour of v^mq^{le} Williame Lyoun and v^mq^{le} Alexander Daidfoun, seruandis to the said v^mq^{le} David; committit in the moneth of October, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxviiij yeiris, within the toune of Alderne.

PERSEWARIS, Alexander Dumbar of Lochieleis, (as sone,) Johnne Lyoun, as sone to v^mq^{le} Williame Lyoun, Andro Daidfoun, as brother to v^mq^{le} Alexander.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, Mr Thomas Henderfoun, aduocat, Mr Henrie Kynroise.

The saidis Thomas, &c. tuik thame to our souerane lordis Remission, producit, vnder the Greit Seill, of the dait, at Halyruidhous, the thryd day of Apryll, the yeir of God, I^m.V^c.lxxx and nyne yeiris ; Quhilk Remiffioun, the Justice admittit, and Johnne Campbell of Calder, with thame felffis, become cautioneris and fouerteis, coniumctlie and feuerallie, to fatisfie the pairtie, as law will.

¹ Weeks.

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE f. d. n. Regis, tenta in Aula Inferiori de Ormestoun-hall, per M. Willielmum Hairt, Jusiciarum Deputatum.]

Murder of a Pregnant Woman — Child-murder.

NOV. 10.—PATRIK DEANIS, in Gilcherstoune.

Dilaitit of the crewall and vnnaturall Murthour and Slauchter of vmq^{le} Katharene Butler his spous, and of ane infant bairne in hir wamb ; be streking hir with his feit vpon the wamb, and with ane fwyngill-trie,¹ on the bak and fchoulderis, and dyuerse vtheris pairtis of hir body, scho being with quik bairne for the tyme ; be occasioun quhairof, scho immediatlie thaireftir, with the said bairne in hir wamb, depairtit this lyfe : Committit the fevint of Nouember instant, at his awin hous-dur in Gilcherstoune, betuix aucht and nyne houris at evin, &c. ; conforme to his awin Confessioune.

VERDICT. The Assise, be the mouth of Johnne Harlaw in Laistoune, chancellor, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said Patrik, conforme to his awin Confessioune, maid judiciallie in thair presens, to be ffylet, culpabill and convict of the said crewall and detaiftable Murthour.

SENTENCE. And thairfoir the said Justice-depute, be the mouth of Johnne Hammiltoun, dempster of Court, decernit and ordanit the said Patrik to be tane to the ground quhair the said fact was committit, and thair to be hangit vpon ane gibbet, quhill he be deid ; and all his moveable guidis to be escheit, &c.

Slaughter.

Dec. 19.—EDUARD NISBET, merchand burges of Edinburghe, and Thomas Nisbett, sone to the Laird of Nisbet.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} James Carmichell, sone to the Guidman of Vderine.

PERSEWERIS, Richerd Carmichell, brother, Williame Carmichell, father-brother, Marioun Carmichell, father-sister ; and Mr Johnne Ruffell, Aduocat, Mr Robert Boyd, curators to the said Richerd.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, Mr Alexander King, Aduocat, Sir Williame Cranftoune, Mr Thomas of Moriestoune, Mr Johnne Nisbet, James Nisbet, merchand.

Compeirit Richerd Carmichell, &c. with Mr Johnne Ruffell and Mr Robert Boyd, curaturis to the said Richerd ; and the said Mr Johnne, as spous to the said Marioun ; and producet his Maiesteis Warrant to the Justice ; quhairof the tennour followis.

¹ The wooden-beam, or 'tree,' to which the plough-traces are attached.

JAMES R.

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputes, We greit you weil. Having directit to continew the perfute of Thomas and Edward Nibettis, for the slauchter of your^{le} James Carmichell, quhill the information gevin unto us of pair committing of that fact in pair awin defence, was fyrst tryed by our Counfall; from quhom we have ressaunt ane cleir testimony of pair innocency of that fact: And being most willing that Justice be administrat to all our living subiectis: It is thairfore our Will, that you affix and keip your Justice Court against the saidis personis, att sic place as salbe maist convenient; and putt same to the knowledge of ane Inqueist; so that the accusatiounes and defences of both the pairteis may be weil considered of by you, before that mater be adiudgeit: And that, nochtwithstanding ony command or direction gevin by us or our Counfall in the contrair; as ye will answer to us upon your office and obedience: Quhairnent for presentis salbe your Warrant. Gevin at our Court of Roytoun, the xiiij day of October, 1606.

And siclyk, producet our foverane lordis Letteris of Assyse and Dittay forment aganis the pannel; and tuik instrumentis of the productione thairof.—The pannel declairis, nochtwithstanding of thair innocencie of the Slauchter, they are content to enter in cownoning, and to offer satisfiounne and assythement for the slauchter, at the sicht of freindis.—The perseweris declairis, in respect that the bairne is minor quha persewis; and thairfoir, the remanent perseweris can nocht tak the burding of that mater vpon thame; and desyret proces. Thairafter Mr Alexander King, prelocutour for the pannel, producet his Maiesteis Warrant, direct to the Justice, for continuatioun of this matter to the xxviiij day of Januar next; quhairof the tennour followis.

JAMES R.

It is our pleassour and Will, that ye continew all actione and proces before you, at the instance of the kyn and freindis of your^{le} James Carmichell in Dyfert, aganis Edward and Thomas Nibettis, for the Slauchter of the said your^{le} James; committit in the moneth of . . . lastbypast; and nawayise proceed and grant ony proces thairin, before the xxviiij day of Januar nextocum: for the quhilk your delay and continewatioun, thir presentis salbe to you sufficient Warrant. Gevin at our Court off Quhytehall, the nynt of December, 1606. To our Ryt^t trustie and weilbelouit, our Justice, Justice-clark, and pair deputis.

It is answerit be the perseweris, that the said Warrant of continuatioun aucht nawayis to be respectit be the Justice; bot nochtwithstanding thairof, the persones now on pannel aucht presentlie to be put to the knowledge of ane Assyse; for tua caussis: ffirst, In respect of the former Warrant producet, quhairin tua speciall poyntis are maist remarkable; ffirst, his Maiestie thairby hes declairit, that he hes ressaunt na cleir testimony of thair innocencie, be the tryell¹ tane at Leyth, befor the Counfall; and thairfoir, accordring to his hienes good affection to justice, of his certane knowledge and proper motiue directit the first Warrant: The next, is the command gevin thairin to the Justice, with this qualite,² that he shall obey the samyn, nochtwithstanding of quhatsumevir vther command thair gevin be his Maiestie or Counfall in the contrair. Secundo, the faid pretendit laft Warrant is direct expres contrair the Act of Parliament 1592, quhilk fayis, it is statute and ordanit, be his Maieftis speciall will and direction, that na Warrant for continuatioun of Justice Courtis fall be admittit be the Justice and his deputis, in tyme cuning. Laft, nocht only is it expres aganis the faid Act of Parliament, bot aganis the daylie ordour and practik obseruet baith befor the Lordis of Counfall, in Ciuill cauffis, and befor the Justice in Criminal cauffis, that Warrantis purchest be the fute of partie, finifter information, and for stay of Justice, fall nevir be respectit; quhilk is alfo conforme to the cowmoun law.—It is anfuert, that the haill allegeances aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Kingis Maieftis Warrant.

¹ Examination, preognition.

² Qualification.

THE Justice, accoirding to his Maieftis Warrant and direction, continewis this matter to the xxvij day of Januare nixt: And ordanis the perfones on pannel to be wairdit within the Tolbuith of Edinburgh to the faid day,¹ and the Assyse, fummond to this day, wairnit, apud acta, &c.

Cruel Slaughter.

Dec. 19.—JOHNNE and WILLIAME RUTHERFURD, fones to Stewin Rutherford in Chatto, boirne vnder James Ker of Greneheill.

Dilatit, accuset and perewit be DITTAY,

FORSAMEKILL as, thay haifing confaut ane deidlie feid, rancour and malice aganis vmq^{lc} Thomas Bell in Spiddope-fute, in England, becaufe he had hurt and lameit the faid Williame, vnderstanding the faid vmq^{lc} Thomas to haif bene in his fomer-scheill beyde the fellis,² in the moneth of Junij, or thairby, laftbypast, thay, vpoun cullour and in a counterfute forme, feimzeing thame fellis to be in feiking of ane kow that was tynt³ amangis the scheillis, come to the faid vmq^{lc} Thomas Bell, in an howp⁴ callit Spittope-howp, quhair he wes, in sober and quyet maner for the tyme, with his wyfe and ane young lafs, milking thair ky; and thair, the faid William Rutherford, haifing ane grit grene kent and squarit batoun⁵ in his hand, eftir fun wordis past betuix the faid Williame and the faid vmq^{lc} Thomas, he crewallie invadit him for his Slaughter, and gaif the faid vmq^{lc} Thomas ane crewall and deidlie straik in his heid, and claif the famin afunder: Off the quhilk straik he immediatlie thaireftir fell down deid. Lyke as, the faid Johnne Rutherford, for quhais caufe the faid deidlie feid was confaut, stude afyde, awaiting gif his brother had bene overthrawin, or the faid vmq^{lc} Thomas, to haif fortifeit and affistit him. And immediatlie eftir the famin Slaughter wes committit, thay baith mett togidder at the nik of the fell,⁶ and hering the sprai⁷ch⁷ ryife, and the countrey to follow thame, thay baith fled in England; quhair thay were fugitiue, quhill⁸ thair apprehensioun for the faid Slaughter. And fa, the faid Slaughter wes committit be thame; and thay and ather of thame ar airt and pairt thairof, vpoun fett purpois, provisioun, auld feid and foirthocht felony; in hie and manifest contempt of our fouerane lordis auctoritie and lawis, &c.

¹ There is no entry on Record of further proceeding in this case; but it is likely the Nishets compounded with the private prosecutors, and obtained Letters of Remission.

² The summer scheills or scheillings on the 'fells' or hills, were temporary huts, for the use of those who attended the cattle during their grazing on commons, &c. They are still kept up in many parts of Scotland. It is the practice to dismantle them at the end of the grazing season.

³ Lost. ⁴ Or hope, a sloping hollow between hills, a common term in the south of Scotland. Sluck is synonymous.

⁵ A large runq, staff, or bludgeon, and a batoun or stick made square, (i. e. with angular edges,) to give a more severe and deadly blow.

⁶ Nik is a narrow cleft or opening, at the summit of two hills.

⁷ Hue and cry. By reference to the Works of Sir Walter Scott, it will be seen with what astonishing alacrity the country was 'raised,' on such occasions. The pannels showed no small address in effecting their escape.

⁸ Until.

VERDICT. Eftir accusatioun of the pannell, be Dittay, of the crymes aboue writtin, quhilk wes grantit be the said Williame, and alluterlie¹ denyit be the said Johnne, the Affyse, be the mouth of Murray of Brochtoun, chancellor, fand and pronuncet the said Johnne to be Cleane, innocent and acquit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Thomas Bell, and of the hail heidis of the Dittay aboue writtin: And als, fand, pronuncet and declairit the said Williame to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of airt and pairt of the said Slauchter.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk cause, the said Justice-depute decernit and ordanit the said Williame Rutherford to be tane to the Castellhill of Ed^r, and thair, his heid to be strikkin from his body; and all his movable guidis to be escheit, &c.

Breaking into the Place of Torwoodlee — Taking Captive — Murder — Stouthrief, &c.

Jan. 8, 1607.—JOHNNE ELLOTT of Cappschaw.

Dilaitit, accuset and perfewit be George Hoppringill of Torwoidlie, James and David Hoppringillis, as oyis,² with the remanent kyn and freindis of vmq^{le} George Hoppringill of Torwoidlie, thair guidfchir,³ of the crymes following, viz.

FORSAMEKILL as the said Johnne Ellote of Copschaw, Robert Ellote, callit Mairtenis Hob, and Jok Airmestrang, callit the Lairdis Jok,⁴ with thair complices, with convocatioun of the hail Clannis of the Airmestrangis, Ellotes, Batiefones, Grahames and remanent Clannis, duelland alfweill on the Inglis as Scottis Bordonris, all cowmone thevis, outlawis and brokin men, to the number of thre hundredth perfones or thairby, bodin in feir of weir, with jakis, speiris, steil-bonnetis, lance-stalfis, hagbutis and pistoletis, expresse prohibeit to be borne, worne, vsed or schot with, be dynerse our Actis of Parliament and Secreit Counfall, in the moneth of December, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. threfcoir aucht yeiris, (1568,) come fordward, in hosteill maner, baith on horse and fute, to the Place of Torwoidlie, and thair, vnder silence and clud of nycht, with foir-hammeris and geitis,⁵ dang up the zeittis⁶ of the said Place, and be force and violence enterit within the samyn; and tuik the said vmq^{le} George [Hoppringill] furth of his bed, and convoyit him away, as captiue and priffoner with thame, to the Skaldeneife, within the Sherefdom of Selkirk; and thair maist crewallie and vnmercifullie Murdreit and slew the said vmq^{le} George: Committing thairthrow, nocht only crewall and abhominabill Murthour and Slauchter, bot also Vfurpatioun of our fouerane lordis auctoritie vpon thame, in taking of the said vmq^{le} George Hoppringill captiue, but⁷ power or commissioun, he being our fouerane lordis frie lege. AND siclyke, at the samyn tyme, the said Johnne Elliott and remanent perfones, with thair complices, to the number aboue writtin, at the tyme soirfaid, brak up the hail kiftis, coffers and lokfast houffis within the said Place, and thiftiouffie staw, conceillit, resset and away-tuik with thame, furth of the said Place of Torwoidlie, and stabillis thairof, sevintene horsis pertening to the said vmq^{le} George, price of the piece ourheid⁸ ane hundredth pundis money; togidder with the sowme of ane thousand pundis of gold and money furth of the said vmq^{le} George Hoppringillis purse. ITEM, thre siluer peices,⁹ wey-

¹ Altogether, wholly.

² Grandchildren.

³ Grandfather.

⁴ A personage well known to the public, from various anecdotes contained in the Border Minstrelsy, and the graphic story contributed by Sir Walter Scott, in that exquisitely beautiful Annual, 'THE KEEPSAKE,' for 1829; to which publication (pp. 186-192) the Editor refers for interesting Notices of this Border worthy, his family and associates.

⁵ Forehammers, and joists or beams.

⁶ Broke up the gates.

⁷ Without power.

⁸ Overhead, on an average.

⁹ The nature of these massive pieces of plate is not elsewhere specified. They convey a favourable idea of the wealth and splendour in which many of the Border Chieftains lived.

and fourfoir vnecs of filuer or thairby, price of the vnec fourtie schillingis. ITEM, tua duffane of filuer spvnes, ilk spwne weyand tua vnec of filuer, price of the vnec fourtie schilling: Togidder with the hail bedding, naiprie, clething, abuilzementis, inficht and pleniffing being within the said place, worth the fowme of fyve thousand merkis money of this realme, had and transpourtit away with thame, and dispoit thairvpoun att thair pleafour.

THE Justice decernit and ordanit Williame Elliot of Fallinafeh, cautioner and fouertie for the entrie of the said Johnne Elliot of Capsehaw, to be amerciat and vulawit for his non-entrie, in the payne of fyve hundreth merkis: And als, adiudget the said Johnne to be denunceit our fouerane lordis rebell, and putt to the horne; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vse, as fugitiue fra his hienes lawis, for the saidis crymes.¹

Justice-Depute appointed.

Jan. 20.—THE quhilk day Mr ROBERT COKBURNE, Aduocat, was creat JUSTICE-DEPUTE; and gaif his ayth de fidei administratione, during his office.

[Mr Robert Cokburne, Justice-Depute.]

Liability Anent the General Band.

Jan. 21.—SIR JAMES JOHNESTOUNE of Dunskeillie, kny^t (of that Ilk).

Compeirit the Laird of Johnnestoune, and producet the Warrant vnderwrittin, superferuyit be his Maiestie; quhair of the tennour followis.

JAMES R.

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputis, We greit you weil. Forfamekill as it is knawin to us, that thair ar diuerse Criminall perfuitis movit at þe instance of findrie perfounes aganis Sir James Johnnestoune of Dunskeillie, kny^t, his kyn, freindis, pairt-takeris, men, tennentis, seruandis, and sic vperis, for quhom the (said) Sir James is anfuerable, be þe Generall Band and law of our realme; and that, for diuerse crymes alledgeit committit be þame, befor þe moneth of Apryll, 1^m.V^c. thre 3eiris, quhilk wes þe tyme of owre repair hither: Albeit it be naper our will nor mynd, that the regour of þe lawis be profecutit aganis thais perfounes for ony crymes or offences committit be thame before þe foirsaid tyme; hoping that our lenitie fall move þame to keip our peax, and be þe moir obedient subiects in tyme cuming: IT IS þairfore our Will, and We command you, that þe on nawyis gif proces in any of þe saidis Criminall perfuitis alreddie movet aganis the said Sir James, his kyn, freindis, pairt-takeris, men, tennentis, seruandis, and sic vperis for quhom he is anfuerable, be þe Generall Band and lawis of our realme; nor that ye on nawyis direct any Criminall Letteris, for perfuit of þe saidis perfounes, or any of þame, in tyme cuming, for any cryme or offence allegeit committit be þame or any of þame, preceding þe moneth and tyme aboue specificit; nor nawyfe gif proces þairvpoune heireftir: Dischargeing you þair of, and of all haulding of Courtis to þat effect, and of your office in þat pairt: Dispensand als wa with þe saidis perfounes and everie ane of þame, anent þair non-comperance att quhatsumewir dyettis. As ye will anfuer to us þairvpoun: Quhairanent thir presentis salbe your sufficient Warrant. Gewin at our Court of Quhytehall, the saxt day of Apryll, 1606 3eiris.

THE JUSTICE Depute continewis the admitting of this Warrant to the fourt day of Februar nixtocum: And ordanit the perfoune that stand cautioner for their entrie to this day, to find new caution for thair entrie to the said fourt day of Februar nextocum.

¹ The denunciation and letters are recorded, at full length, on Jan. 9.

The samin day Sir James Johnnestoune (of Dunfkellie, kn^t.) becom pledge and fourtie for Johnne Grahame in Dryffe, Mungo Johnnstoun in Lokarbie, &c.

(Feb. 4.)—Sir JAMES JOHNNSTOUN of Dunfkellie, kny^t, is ‘americiat for nocht entrie of the saidis fyve persounis, for ilk ane of thame in the payne of ane hundreth merkis.’ He is also americiated in 1100 merks, for the non entrie of Johnne Johnnestoun in Howgill, and ten others.¹

THE Justice adjudgeit the principall persones nocht comperand to be denunceit our souerane lordis rebellis, and all thair movabill guidis to be escheit.²

Cutting Growing Timber.

Jan. 28.—GEORGE HENDERSOUN in Wynningtoun.

Dilatit, accusit and perfewit be Robert Ellote of Reidheuche, of the crymes following, that is to say,

THAT quhair, it is exprellie provydit, statute and ordanit be our souerane lordis Actis of Parliament, specialie, be ane Act of the ellevint Parliament, cap. lxxxij, that quhatsumewir persoun or persounis wilfullie cuttis doune and destroyis growand treis and coirnis, salbe callit and perfewit thairfore, before the Justice or his deputis, at Justice-airis, or perticuler dyettis; and being convict thairof, to be pwneiffit as thewis to the death; as the said Act at mair lenth beris. And trew it is, that the said George Henderfoun, with his complices, expres contrair the tennour of the Act of Parliament, in the monethis of Junij, Julij, August, September and October respectiue, at the leist, in ane or vther of the saidis monethis, in the yeir of God 1^m.Vj^e. and fyve yeiris; and siclyke, att the fleist of Martimes last-bypast, come to the said Robert Ellottis wod, callit Birkwod, and thair, wilfullie, by³ the said Robertis knowlege or consent, cuttit doune and distroyit, at ilk tyme, the perticuler number and quantitie of growand treis following, to witt, ane hundreth grit growand birk treyis, thre hundreth grit growand allouris, thrie hundreth grit growand heiffillis, with foure hundreth grit growand sauch treis;⁴ quhilkis growand treis, the said George and his complices had and transpoirit away with thame, and dispoit thairvpone att thair pleafour; and the said George is airt and pairt thairof.

PERSEWER, Robert Ellote of Reidheuche.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, Mr Thomas Henderfounne, Mr Johnne Dempster.

It is allegit be the pannell, that this matter can nocht be put to the knowlege of ane Inqueist, becaus the persewer sehawis na sufficient entreis to persew, nather is this persute raisit at the Kingis Aduocatis instance.—Ansuerit be the persewer, that he referis the notorietie of his entreis to persew for the cuting of the treyis lybellit, to the defenderis ayth; in respect that he knowis him to be sufficientlie infest in the woid lybellit; and as to the secund pairt, anent the Aduocattis compeirance, ansuerit, he may persew without the Aduocatis compeirance. It is allegit be the pannell, that he can nocht be vrget, vpone the

¹ (On margin) ‘Nota, ordanit to be gewin out be pe Counfall.’

to be given out.’

³ Without, contrary to.

² Nota, ‘this nocht ordanit to be given out.’

⁴ Birch, allar (alder or elder), hazel, and willow trees.

perfewaris exceptiounne, to geve his ayth; feing the famyn will tend to the hazaird of his life.—The perfewer in the contrair.

It is allegit forder be the pannell, that this matter can nocht be Cryminallie tryet, without a Ciuill precognitiounne, before the ordinar Judge; becaus the famin is a maisterfull depridatiounne.—It is anfuert, that the perfewer repeitis the Act of Parliament, quhairupoune the fummendis is foundit.—It is anfuert be the pannell, that the Act of Parliament of the 1587, concernis the puneifchment allanerlie; and navyis invertis nor derogatis the Act of Parliament made be King James fyft, Parlamento quarto; and speciallie, feing of the daylie practik, ffalfetis man be first Ciuillie tryet, befor it cummis to ane Criminal Judge; Wilfull errour in Affyse in Reductioun of Retouris man be first Ciuillie tryit, befor it tak effect befor the Criminal Judge.—The perfewer, as of befor, repeitis the Act of Parliament.

THE Justice continewis this matter, and Interlocutour vponne the allegeances foirfaidis, to the fourt of Februar nixt. The pairties and Affyse wairnit apud acta.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

(Feb. 4.)—THE Justice, nochtwithstanding of the allegeances maid be the pannell, the last dyet, Ordanis this matter to pas to ane Affyse.

VERDICT. The Affyse, be the mouth of Johnne Gledftanes of Winningtoun-law, chancellor, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said George Henderfoune to be Cleane, innocent, acquit, &c.

[Mr Robert Cokburne, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Feb. 14.—JOHNNE BEK in Lytill Kirkbryde.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of v^mq^{le} James M^cCulloch of Barholme.

PERSEWER, Thomas M^cCulloch in Barholme.

The said Thomas tuke him to ane Remiffiounne vnder the Grit feill, of the dait the xxj day of Februar, 1606; and fielyke, produceit ane Letter of Slaynes, fufberyuit be Elizabeth Kirkpatrik, relict of v^mq^{le} James M^cCulloch of Barholme, Henrie M^cCulloch hir spous, and Thomas M^cCulloch now of Barholme, and Johnne M^cCulloch burges of Kirkeubreyelit, off the dait at Edinburgh, and the xvij and . . . dayes of Februar, 1607 yeiris.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Witchcraft — Sorcery — Incantation, &c.

Mar. 10.—ISSOBEL GREIRSOUNE, spous to Johnne Bull, warkman in the Pannis.¹

¹ Prestonpans. Of all the Trials for Witchcraft, &c. hitherto published from the Record, this is perhaps the most absurd and outré; and the circumstantial detail is perhaps unique. It is of course

Indytit, accusit and perfewit of the crymes vnderwritten, viz. FORSAME-KILL as scho, haifing confaut ane crewall haitrent and malice aganis Adam Clark in Prestounpannis, scho has continewallie, this hail yeir and ane half bygane, vfit all develifch and vngodlie meanis to be avangeit vpoun him ; speciallie, in the moneth of Nouember, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and fax yeiris, betuix xj and xij houris at ewin, the said Adam being lyand in his bed with his wyffe, and his feruand woman being in ane vther bed ; att the quhilk tyme, scho, in the liknes of hir awin catt, accumulaneit with ane gritt number of vther cattis, in ane develifch maner, enterit within hir hous, quhair thay maid ane grit and feirfull noyse and trubill ; quhairby the said Adam, than lying in his bed with his wyffe, and feruandis that wer than in the hous, apprehendit sic ane grit feir, that thay wer liklie to gang mad : At the quhilk tyme, the Devill, in liknes of ane blak man, apperit in the hous, eftir ane feirfull maner, com to the feruand woman, than standing in the flure, and drew hir vp and down the hous be the hair, eftir he had cassin hir curfch² aff hir heid, and cassin the samyn in the fyre : Quhairvpoun the pure woman contractit sic ane grit feiknes, that scho lay bedfast, in grit danger of hir lyffe, be the space of fax oulkis³ thairefter ; and as yit hes nocht returnet to hir perfyte health ; quhilk is notourlie⁴ knawin.—ITEM, scho wes accusit, fforfamekill as scho, haifing confaut ane deidlie feid, rancour and ewill will, aganis vniq^{le} Williame Burnet in Prestoun-pannis, spous to Margaret Myller, wedow, scho dewysit be all devillifch and vngodlie meanis to bereif him of his naturall lyffe ; and for performance thair of, scho, as ane manifest Sorcerer and Wich, in the moneth of Januar, I^m.Vj^c. yeiris, laid on ane feirfull and vncouth feiknes on him, be casting in of ane tailzie⁵ of raw inchantit flesch att his dur : And thaireftir, the Dewill, in liknes of ane naikit infant bairne, nichtlie, for the space of half ane yeir, appeirit in his hous ; quha appeirit befor the ffyre, haifing ane inchantit pictour in his hand : And thaireftir, the Dewill appeirit, in hir liknes, within the said vniq^{le} Williamis hous, before the ffyre thair of, and in diuers vtheris pairtis within the said hous ; quhair, in ane maist vn-honest and filthie maner, scho pischt vpoun the said Margaret Myller, and in diuers pairtis of the said hous ; that in end,⁶ the said vniq^{le} Williame, haifing namit the said Isobell, be hir name, scho immediatlie thaireftir vaneifchit away : Eftir the quhilk tyme, the said vniq^{le} Williame Burnet continewallie dwynit and pynit away, in the said vnkawin feikness, for the space of thre yeiris, nocht habill to obtene ordinar cuir ; and at last, in the moneth of September, or thairby, I^m.Vj^c. and ffyve yeiris, he, in grit dolour and payne, departit this lyffe : And given literally from the Books of Adjournal. The reader is left to draw his own inference as to the death (murder?) of the luckless mate of John Bull.

Fr. courche.

² Six weeks.

⁴ Notoriously.

⁵ Taille, Fr. A piece, 'gobbet,' or cut.

⁶ At last.

fa, wes maift dewelifchlie bewichit be hir, in maner forfaid; and fcho is airt and pairt of the faid vni^{le} Williamis death and feiknes.—ITEM, accufit for cafting of ane greit feiknes, be hir develifch meanis, vpoun Robert Peddan, in the Pannis; and that in the moneth of October, I^m.V^c.lxxxiiij yeiris; quha, haifing remanit feik be the fpace of ane yeir and auchtene oulkis, fwerving and vaneifching away;¹ and vring all ordiner meanis to recover his health, hot daylie growing war,² att laft he callit himfelf to remembrance, that he wes addettit to the faid Ifobell in nyne fchillingis and iiij d.; and that, befor the taking of the faid feiknes, becaus he refufit to pay hir the faid foume, vnto the tyme fcho delyuerit to him certane plaittis that fcho kepit of his; fcho then, eftir vtering of diuerfe blaſphemous ſpeichis to the faid Williame, faid, he ‘fould repent itt!’ And ‘fould nocht haif bayth his health and haill clathis togiddir!’ Quhairvpoun, he than come to hir, and fatisfeit hir the faid foume, and thryſe aſkit his health att hir, for Godis faik; faying, ‘Gif ze haif done me ony wrang or hurt, repair be famin and reſtoir me to my health!’ And thaireftir, the faid Robert Peddane, within, xxiiij houris, recoverit his health.—ITEM, fcho wes accufit, that in the moneth of Junij laſtbypaft, or thairby, fcho, haifing wantit hir katt, be the fpace of half ane yeir befor, in hir bycumming the faid Robert Peddanes window, fcho patt in hir hand and drew furth hir catt; at the quhilk tyme, thar wes working in the fattis³ ane brewing of guid new aill, quhairof fudrie honeft neychtbouris wes than drinkand; bot be hir develifch Incantatioun and Sorcerie, fra that tyme furth, the faid brewing of aill turnit,⁴ in fic foirt, that it becam altogidder rottin and blak, thik lyk gutter-dirt, with ane filthie and peſtilent odour, that na man mycht drink nor feel the ſmell thairof.—ITEM, being indytit and accufit, fforſamekill as fcho, haifing confaut ane deidlie ewill will, haitrent and malice aganis Margaret Donaldſoune, ſpous to the faid Robert Peddane, about Hallowevin, in the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and fyve yeiris, fcho, in hir devillifch maner, come vnder ſcilence and cloude of nycht to the faid Robert Peddanes houſe, and enterit efter ane devillifch and vnknawin way within the faid houſe, the faid Margaret Donaldſoune being than lying in hir bed with hir faid huſband, found ſleeping; at the quhilk tyme, fcho drew the faid Margaret be the ſpald⁵ out of her bed fra her huſband, and violentlie ruſclit hir to the fluir; be occaſioun quhairof, the faid Margaret hir ſpreit faillit hir, that fcho continewit ane lang ſpace aſound;⁶ and thaireftir, cunning to hir ſelff, fcho fell in ane feirfull and vncouth feiknes, that anes in ilk xxiiij houris, her hed and breift was fa vehementlie trublit, that fcho was, for the ſpace of ane hour, mad, and knew nocht quhat fcho did; quhilk continewit the ſpace of fyve or fax dayes thairefter, in grit vehemencie : And at the fax dayes end, scho heiring hir selff to be bruittit¹ with the said wicked and devellifch turne, scho defyrit the nychtbouris to caufe hir and the said Margret to drynk togidder ; quhilk being done, scho recoverit agane hir health, and fa continewit in perfyte health, the fpace of aucht or ten dayes : Eftir the quhilk time, scho heiring hir name to be fklanderit, and scho to be namit a Witche, quha had fkill to lay on and tak af feiknes ; scho, movit with rage and invy, of new agane, come to the said Margrattis hous, and fpak to hir mony devillifch and horribill wordis, faying to hir, ‘ The fagget of Hell lycht on thé, and Hellis culdroune may thow feith in !’² And with thais, and vther the lyk devillifch fpeicheis, scho pafte away. Eftir the quhilk tyme, the foirfaid feirful feiknes tuke the said Margaret ; quha continewit thairin ilk xxiiij houris, for the fpace of ane hour, be the fpace of nyne oulkis³ togidder, in maift feirfull maner ; vnto the tyme ane pure woman come to the said Margrattis hous-dur, to ask meit ; quha, feing the said Margret wiffet⁴ with the said feirfull feiknes, declairit to hir, that scho was witcheit, and had the rycht champ⁵ thairof : Eftir the quhilk tyme, the feiknes ceiffit, and came nocht to hir agane, quhill the beginning of December laft, that scho, cuning thair by hir dur, with ane creill⁶ on hir bak, faid to hir, ‘ Away theiff ! I fall haif thy hairt, for bruitting of me fa fallic !’ And immediatlie thairefter, the feiknes of new agane come vpoune hir ; quhairintill scho hes bene maift havelie vexit and trubillit fenfyne, to the xxvij day of Januar laft, that scho and scho war confrontit togidder, and examinat, in prefens of my Lord Justice, of your devillifche crymes abouewrittin.—ITEM, for ane commoune Sorcerer and ane Witche and abufer of the peple, be laying on and taking af of feiknes and difeiffes, and vfeing all devilleifch and vngodlie meanis to wyn hir leving ; and Vfer of charmes and vther devilleifch practizes.

¹ Swooning and fainting away.² Worse and worse.³ Vats or tuns.⁴ Ale is ſaid tobe turned when it is affected by lightning, &c.; milk, when ſoured by ſun or heat, &c. A large nail is uſually thrown into the churn, to prevent this diſaſter. By attracting the electric fluid, it is ſaid to preſerve the contents ſound.⁵ Fr. epaule, the ſhoulder or ſhoulder-blado.⁶ In a ſwoon.

PERSEWAR, Adam Clark, fmyth in the Pannis, Margaret Myller, relict of vmq^{lo} Williame Burnet, Robert Peddane, and Margaret Robiefone, his fpous.

PRELOCUTOR for the pannel, Robert Hammiltoune, John Bull in the Pannis.

VERDICT. The Affyfe, be the mouth of Daid Seatoun, (bailzie in Trauent,) chancellor, ffand, pronunceit and declairit the said Ifobell Grierfoune to be ffylit, culpabill and conviet of all and findrie the heidis and poyntis of Dittay aboue writtin, and crymis contenit particulerlie thairin.

SENTENCE. The Justice-depute, be the mouth of James Henderfoun, dempftar, decernit and ordanit the said Ifobell to be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair to be wirreit⁷ at ane flaik quhill scho be deid ; and her body to be brunt in affis, as conviet of the faidis crymis ; and all hir movabill guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vfe, as conviet of the faidis crymes.

¹ Issobel hearing herself to be reported. Fr. bruit. ² Caldron may thou feethe in. ³ Weeks.
⁴ Visited, tormented. ⁵ Stamp, mark, token. ⁶ Basket, creel. ⁷ Strangled.

Forstalling and Regrating.

May 19.—JOHNNE REULL, indueller in Leyth.

Dilaitit for contravening the Actis of Parliament, in ffoirstalling and regraiting of tymmer.¹

PERSEWER, Sir Thomas Hammiltoune of Monkland, knycht, Aduocat.

PRELOCUTOURIS in defence, Mr Alexander King, James King.

It is allegit be the pannell, that he can nocht be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse for the cryme lybellit, becaus the tymmer lybellit was bocht be his seruand in Norruay, enterit in the townes buikis, as his awin proper tymmer, and hes payit his Maiesteis custome thairfoir : And for verificatioun thairof, productet the entrie of the tymmer in the townes buikis of Edinburgh, as his proper tymmer, and quhair he payit the custome thairof.—It is anfuertit be my Lord Aduocat, that the allegiance aucht to be repellit, in respect nathing is productet to preve the bying of the tymmer, be him self or his seruand ; and is contrair to the summondis, quhilk beiris the ffoirstalling of tymmer, befor the samyn was presentit to marcat.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of James Forman, (water bailzie,) chancellor, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said Johnne Reull to be ffylit, culpable and convict of cowmone Regrating and ffoirstalling of all foirtis of tymmer, cumand and aryveand at the said Poirt and hevin of Leyth, and sa to be repute and haldin : And Clanget and acquit him of the hail remanent poyntes of the said Dittay.—Edward Edzer, merchand burges of Edinburgh, become fouertie for the entrie of the said Johnne the morne, to heir dome pronuncet, &c.

SENTENCE. The Justice, being resoluert thairwith, and with the Act of Parliament maid thairanent, Decernit and Ordanit the said Johnne Reull to content and pay to our souerane Lordis Thesaurer and his deputis, the sowne of fourtie pundis money of this realme of North Britane,² as penaltie designat in the said Act of Parliament aganis cowmone Regraiteris and ffoirstalleris, for the first falt. And als, ordanit the said Johnne to find cautioune actit in the buikis of Adiornall, to abstene fra all maner of foirstalling or regraiting of tymmer in tyme cuning, vnder the pane of ane hundreth merkis.³

Appointment of a Justice-Depute.

Jun. 2.—MR ALEXANDER COLUILL, sone to Alexander, Commendator of Culrois, Gaif his ayth de fidei administratione in the Office of Justice-deputrie ; and thaireftir was creat and admittit Justice-depute.

¹ Timber. ² This is the first time Scotland is so designated in this Record. Indeed it is very unusual, even for a century after this period. ³ Edzer again becomes his suretie.

Slaughter.

JUN. 26.—WILLIAME GUTHRIE of Ravensbie.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the Slauchteris of vniq^{le} Patrik Gairdin of that Ilk, and vniq^{le} Robert Gairdin of Tullois, committit in the moneth of . . . I^m.V^c. threfcoir auchtene yeiris.

PERSEWER, Mr Robert Gairdin Younger of Blairtoun.

George Leslie, fear of Kiucragic, become plege and fouertie that he fall compeir befor the Justice or his deputis, the thrid day of the nixt Justice-air of the scherefdome of Abirdene, or foner, vpoun xv dayis wairuing.

Slaughter — Leuying 'Skatt' or Black-mail — Stouthreif, &c.

JUN. 27.—ALLASTER STEWART M^cGILLIECHALLUM, brother to Johnne Stewart, alias Johnne Dow M^cgilliechallum of Temandrie.

Dilaitit, accuset and persewit be DITTAY following, viz. That is to say, of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Johnne Stewart of Bonskeid; committit in the moneth of December, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and fyve yeiris, betuix Duukeld and Atholl, vpoun sett purpois, provisioun and foirthocht felony. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Johnne Stewart, secund sone to the said vniq^{le} Johnne Stewart of Bonskeid; committit about Paifeh,¹ in the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and sax yeiris, vpoun the landis of Kilbrochene. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Williame Leith, att the Kirk of Crathie in Cromar; committ about tuell yeiris fyne, or thairby. ITEM, for cuning with Johnne Dow, his brother, to the boundis of Strathardill, in the moueth of July lastby-past, and compelling of the tementis of the landis of Strathardill to pay to thame ane skatt² of foure hundreth merkis or thairby; committand thairby manifest Oppressioun. ITEM, for the thiftious Steilling and reving, be way of maisterfull Stouthreif, fra . . . Donaldfoun, chapman, of his pak, with certane merchandice thairin; committit thre yeiris fyne or thairby.

PERSEWER, Mr Robert Lyntoun, Aduocat-substitute.

ASSISA.

Alexander Dumba, schereff of Murray,	Patrik Moneur of Chapelton,	Tho ^s Farguifoun of Bellewehane,
Sir Thomas Stewart of Garnetullie, knycht,	Johnne Moneur, sone to the Laird of Moneur,	Williame Stewart of Kynnaird,
Dauid Drummond, Chalmerlaue to my Lord Drummond,	Mr Alex ^r Hay of Kynmwdie,	Colene Campbell of Boshe,
	Alexander Flemyng of Monefs,	Angus Williamfoun of Termet,
	Thomas Otterburne of Reidhall,	Robert Chryffie, tailzeour, burges of Edinburgh.

VERDICT. The Assyfe, be the mouth of Thomas Otterburne, chancillar, fband, pronunceit and declarit the said Alexander Stewart to be ffylit, culpable and con-

¹ Pash, Lat. Pascha, Easter.

² A compulsory tax, contribution, or fine, somewhat similar (in vict of airt and pairt of ilk ane of the pointis of Dittay, respectiue aboue writtin, and of the crymes contenit in the famin, conforme to his Confessioun product in judgement, quhilkis he ratifeit.

SENTENCE. And thairfore, the said Justice-depute, be reafoun thairof, and of his speciall Convictioun, of the thiftious steilling and reving, be way of masterfull Stouthreiff, fra . . . Donaldsoun, chapman, of his pak and merchandice contenit thairin, be the mouth of Robert Montgomerie, dempstar, Ordanit the said Alexander Stewart to be tane to the mercat Croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit vpoun ane gibbet, quhill he be deid; and all his landis, heretageis, takis, ftedingis, rowmis, possessiounis, coirmis, cattell, guidis and geir to be fforfalt and efcheit, &c.

Slaughter of Alexander Lord Spynie.

Jul. 8.—DAVID LYNDSEY, fear of Edzell; Thomas Lyndsay, sone naturall and feruitour to Dauid elder of Edzell; Harie Lyndsay, sone to Dauid L. of Kymettillis; Mr Johnne Lyndsay, sumtyme Minister at . . . , sone to Johnne L. of Barrefe, feruitour to the auld Laird of Edzell; George Lyndsay, brother to the Laird of Covingtoun, also feruitour to the Laird of Edzell elder; Mr James Lyndsay, sone to . . . L. of Brodland; Andro Stratoun; . . . Home, sone to Robert Home of the Heuche; Gawin Lyndsey, father-brother to the said Laird of Covingtoun.

COMPERIT George Guthrie, feruitour to vinq^{le} Alexander Lord Spynie, and product our fouerane lordis Letteris, dewlie execute and indorfat, purchest att the instance of Dame Jeane Lyoun Lady Spynie, the relict; Alexander Maister of Spynie, eldest sone; Dauid Erle of Craufurd Lord Lyndsay, &c., Sir Harie L. of Carriestoun, knycht, Sir Johnne L. of Woidwrae, knycht, as brether, with the remanent kyn and freindis of vinq^{le} Alexander Lord Spynie; to tak fouertie of the said David, &c., that thai fould compeir befor the Justice or his deputis this day and place, in the hour of cause, to vnderly the law, for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said vinq^{le} Alexander Lord Spynie. Be the quhilkis Letteris, the saidis personis war denunceit our fouerane lordis rebellis and put to the horne. Vpone the productioun quhairof, the said George Guthrie askit instrumentis, and protestit for releif of Harie Lyndsay of Carrestoun, cautioner for reproductionne thairof.

this instance at least) to Black-mail. Scatt, properly, was a feudal tax anciently paid, in Shetland, to the King of Denmark; and at present Lord Dundas draws a considerable sum of Scatt; which is understood to be payable chiefly in kind, e. g. butter and oil, &c.

Treason — Celebration of the Mass, &c.

Sep. 25.—WILLIAME MURDOCHE alias M^cKIE, Preist, borne in Dunkeld.

Dilaitit, accuset, and persewit be Mr Robert Lyntoun, Aduocat, substitute to our souerane lordis Aduocat, FOR contravening his Maiesteis Actis of Parliament, in the treffonabill faying of Mefs, at dyuerse tymes, within the houffis and places following, in the monethis of Januare, ffebruare, Marche, Apryle, Maij, Junij, Julij, August, September, October, November and December, in the yeiris of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir fourtene, fyftene, faxtene, sevintene, auchtene, nynthene, fax hundreth, fax hundreth ane, tua, thre, four, fyve, and fax hundreth and fax yeiris ; at the leift, in ane or vther of the saidis monethis and yeiris of God : And that within the places and houffis of Strabogie, Boig of Geicht, the Lady Sutherlandis houfe in Suderland, Dwnrobyn, the Lady Auchindownis houfe, in Mr Alexander Leslieis hous, Patrik Butteris houfe, belyde Aberdene. ITEM, for faying of ane Saul-mefs (soul-mass) for the Lady Auchindoun, in ane puir mannis houfe in Strabogie, a littill eftir hir deceife. ITEM, in the Guidman of Carrones hous, callit Grant, and in Williame Leslie of Comrakis houfe ; and in dyuerse vtheris places and houffis in the North ; being accompaneit with dyuerse our souerane lordis leigis at the saidis Messis : Committing thairthrow the cryme of Treffone, and incurring the panes specifeit in the saidis Actis of Parliament, maid aganis the fayeris of Mefs, viz. tynfall and fforfaltour of lyfe, landis and guidis ; as at mair lenth is contenit in the Dittay and Depositiones maid be the said Williame thairupone.

VERDICT. The Assyfe, be the mouth of Abrahame Hammiltoune, snyth, chancellor, in respect of his Confessioun, maid judicillie, of the hail Dittay and Depositiones producet, stand, pronunceit and declairit the said Williame Murdoche to be ffylit, culpable and convict of the crymes aboue specifeit.

Thairefter, the said Mr Robert Lyntoun, substitute to our souerane lordis Aduocat, producet ane Warrant of his Maiesteis, vnder his hienes hand-writt, desyreand the Justice, accoirding thairto, to pronunce DOME aganis the said Williame Murdoche, Preist, quhair of the tennour followis.

To our right trustie and weilbelouit counsers and counfallouris, the Erle of Dumfermeling, our chancellor, and remanent Lordis and vperis of our Previe Counfall, in our kingdome of Scotland, these.

JAMES R.

RIGHT TRUSTIE and weilbelouit counseingis and counfallouris, We greit 3ow weil. Whearas, ane Murdoch alias M^ckie, Preist, was apprehendit by the Bischope of Murray, and is presentlie in waird, within the tolbuthe of Edinburghe, wher he hes lyne this long tyme past : Our pleafour and Will is, that 3ow cause him be proceidit aganis, in maner following : first, that he be presentit befor our Justice pair, and abyde his ordiner tryell, wherin no dout he will be fund culpable, vpon his awin Confessioun ; and than our pleafour is, that our said Justice do pronunce the judgement eftir following aganis him ; in appointing him to be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburghe, being clad in his Mefsclaithes, in the same forme that he wes takin; and eftir he hes bene presentit to the vew of the hole people, he than be strypped of all his Mefs-clothes; and the same, with all his vther Popishe baggadde that was apprehendit with him, to be presentlie cast into the ffyre, pair reddie for the purpose, to be confvmed and brunt to asches: And pairwith, that he be adiudget to be BANISCHET furth of all our dominions, indureing his naturall lyfe; vnder the pane of daith, in caice of his returne bak to ony pairt of pe same: And willing 3ow to give vnto our Justice particuler directioun heiranent, and to be cairfull to see the same, in everie poynt, execute, We bid 3ow hairtlie fairweill. FROME our Court at Theobaldis, the xvij of September 1607.

SENTENCE. According to the quhilk Warrant and directioun, the Justice-depute decernit and ordanit the said Williame Murdoche, preist, to be takin, on Monunday next, to the mercait Croce of Edinburghe, cled in his Mefs-claythis, and thair to stand chenzeit,¹ fra ten houris to tuelf befoir none; and thaireftir, ane fyre being kyndillit at the said Croce, the said Mefs-claithes to be cassin af him and brunt in the said fyre, with all his vther Popishe baggadde that war apprehendit with him. Quhilk solemnitie being vsed, Ordanis the said Williame to be Banischet furth of our fouerane lordis hail dominions, during his lyfityme; and naways to returne within the sanyn, vnder the pane of daith: And to be transportit bak agane fra the said mercait Croce to the said Tolbuith of Edinburghe, thair to remane quhill ane schip be in reddines to transport him. Quhilk was pronuncet for dome.²

Cruel Oppression — Murder.

Nov. 5.—WILLIAME BONAR, in Condy.

Dilaitit, accuset and persewit be Dittay following, viz. FORSAMEKILL as he, in the moneth of October, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and fyve yeiris, haifing re quyret Patrik Philp in Condy, his coitter,³ to geve him the lane⁴ of his horse, for leiding of certane his schorne peis, than standing stoukit⁵ vpon ane pairt of the saidis landis of Condie, occupyt be him; lyk as, for satisfeing of the said Wil liames desyre, haifing directit his naig, with vmq^{le} Robert Quhyte, his servand, and ane sled,⁶ to the leiding of his peis. Trew it is, that the said Williame, vpon the . . . day of October, the yeir of God aboue writtin, at the said vmq^{le} Robertis cunning to the feildis, quhair the saidis peise war roukit,⁷ becaus the said Robert refusit to tak on sic extraordinar burding as the said naig was vnhable to draw, he thairfoir maist prouddie and contemptiounlie lousit his belt, and with the bukillis and remanent irnes thairof, maist crewallie strak the said vmq^{le} Robert in the heid and face, and with his feit and kneysis strak him in his breift, bellie and fydis, and brak his hail intrallis within him: And thaireftir, fchot¹ him fra him down ane watter-bra,² quhair he fell in ane watter, and remanit bleiding thairin ane grit fpace thaireftir, at mouth and neife; be occaſioun of the quhilkis crewall woundis and ſtraikis, gevin to the ſaid vmq^{le} Robert, he immediatlie thaireftir tuik bed, quhairin he continewit bedfaft, in grit dollour and diſeaſe, be the ſpace of tuentie dayis thairefter, or thairby; and at laſt, vpon the . . . day of November thaireftir, he departit this lyfe, of the ſaidis hurtis and woundis; and ſa, he was maiſt crewallie flane be the ſaid Williame Bonar: And he is airt and pairt thairof; committit vpon ſet purpois, prouifion and foirthocht felonie.

¹ Chained. ² Sept. 27, 1607.—A Preist, who had been a certaine time in ward before, in the Tolbuith of Edinburgh, was brought down, on the mercat day, to the Mercat-croce, with all his Messe-cloaths upon him, wherewith he was taken, with his chalice in his hand. He slayed at the Croce from ten hours till twelve. Then all his Masse-cloathes and chalice were burnt in a fire beside the Croce, and himself carried backe to ward.—Calderswood's MS. Church History. ³ Cottar.

⁴ Loan. ⁵ Put up in stouks or shocks, to win or cure. ⁶ Sledge, a sort of cart without wheels, still in use, in mountainous districts, for leading in meadow hay, turf, &c. ⁷ Put up in racks, ricks.

VERDICT. The Aſſyſe, be the mouth of Williame Birſoun in Clow, ſſand, pronuncet and declarit, all in ane voce, the ſaid Williame Bonar to be Clenget, innocent and acquit of the cryme aboue writtin, and hail circumſtances thairof. Quhairvpoun the ſaid Williame aſkit inſtrumentis.

Slaughter — Shooting of Hagbuts and Piſtolets.

Nov. 6.—JOHNE FORBES, brother to Williame Forbes of Corſindae.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Williame Broun, ſervand to Johnne Irwing of Ardtanfurd, committit be him and his complices, callit ‘THE COMPANIE AND SOCIETIE OF THE BOYIS,’ vpon the landis callit the Peill of Lumfannen, in the moneth of November, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and fyve yeiris. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Robert Merſar in Tombeg, committit be him and his complices foirſaidis, in the moneth of Junij laſtbypaft, at Magnus Garioches hous, in Drumnahoy. AND laſt, for contravening of our ſouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in beiring and weiring of hagbuttis and piſtolettis, daylie and continuallie, this thre yeir bygane; ſpeciallie, for invading and perſewing of Williame Irwing, brother to the Laird of Drum, and ſchuiting of ane piſtolet at him, betuix his awin duelling hous and the Kirk of Kyncairdin, in the moneth of July or thairby, I^m.Vj^c. and ſax yeiris.

PERSEWAR, Sir Thomas Hammiltoun.

PRELOCUTOR in defence, Mr Johnne Ruſſell.

The Aduocat producet the Dittay aganis Johnne Forbes, with the Letteris of Hoirning, and deſyrit proces.—Mr Johnne Ruſſell producet ane Letter of Relaxatioune, be the quhilk he is relaxit fra the horne, for the crymis contenit in the Dittay, and thairupoun aſkit inſtrumentis.—The pannell takis inſtrumentis that na partie inſiſtis in the perſute of this Dittay, except my lord Aduocat. It is allegit, that na proces can be led in this matter, becaus he aucht to be ſummond vponne xv dayis wairning, ſeing he is the Kingis frie ſubiect; and for inſtruct-ing thair of, citit the practik betuix the Montgomeries and Cuninghame, and the vther of Newarkis.—It is anſwerit, aucht to be repellit, in reſpect of the Relaxationne producet, beiring the pannell to haif bene at the horne of befoir, for the crymes contenit in the Dittay ; vpon the quhilk Hoirniug Commiſſiounne was direct to apprehend the pannell, rebell and at the horne ; and being apprehendit, is brocht fra the waird to the bar ; and thairfoir, na delay aucht to be grantit vpon xv dayis.

¹ Forcibly pushed, shoved.

² A brae or ſloping bank above a ſtream.

THE Juſtice findis proces, nochtwithſtanding of the Alledgeance : Quhair-vponne the Aduocat takis inſtrumentis.

It is alledgit be the pannell, that the Juſtice can nocht proceed in the mater aganis Johme Forbes, for the crymes contenit in the Dittay ; becaus, be Act of Secreit Counfall, my Lord Forbes wes maid Juſtice to pronounce dome (of) Baneifment aganis the ſaid Johme ; quho hes pronunceit the ſaid Dome, in ane Juſtice Court, hauldiu be him ; and gif he hes nocht pronunceit the ſaid dome, the ſaid Johme offerit him to be Baneift, and to find cautionn, actit in the Buikis of Adiornall, to paſs aff the countrey, vnder ſic panis (as) the Juſtice will moderate ; and thairfoir na proces : And for verificatioun thairof, producet the Act of Counfall ; and eikis,¹ that he was tane before the expyring of the tyme appointit to his baneifment. The Aduocat anſwerit, that the Act of Counfall can nocht ſtay proces ; ſeing that (there) is na thing producet, declaring him to be exilit ; nather yit is the Dome pronunceit : And ſiclyke, the ſaid Johme mau² be putt to ane Aſſyſe, except he can ſchaw Reſpectt, Remiſſioun or clangeing ; and alſe, the Aduocat acceptis the Secreit Counfallis ordinance.

It is allegeit, that the pannell can nocht be putt to ane Aſſyſe for Merſar, ſeing he wes ordauit to be Baneift for Brownis Slauchter ; and thairfoir the Sentence and dome of Baneifment ſtanding, he can nocht be put to ane Aſſyſe for Merſar. It is anſwerit be the Aduocat, the Argument makis him nocht lauchfull to ſlae in Junij, he being baneift in March. ITEM, it is allegeit that na proces for Merſaris ſlauchter, becaus he wes nocht apprehendit for the ſamin. It is anſwerit, he wes att the Horne for the Slauchter, and he may be challengeit for the ſamin ; and producet the Hoirning.—The Commiſſiounn of apprehenſiounne being producet, it is alledgeit, that Commiſſiounn fallis, in reſpect of Aſſythemment, and ane Act, makeand Arthour Lord Forbes Juſtice, to pronounce dome of Baneifment. It is anſwerit be the Aduocat, that the caus of the Commiſſiounn wes rebellium, quhilk wes nocht purget, quhill eftir his taking.

THE Juſtice findis proces, nochtwithſtanding of the pannellis fyrſt alledgeance maid, that Brownis Slauchter ſould nocht be put to ane Aſſyſe.

It is allegeit, of new, that gif ye will pitt the mater to ane Aſſyſe, and be convict, ye can nocht pronounce na forder Dome nor¹ according to the Act of Counfall. It is alleget for the Slauchter of Merfar and weiring of pistoletis, he can nocht be putt to ane Assyse, feing he wes nocht tane for that cryme; and that wes nocht in rerum natura quhen the Commiffioun wes grantit. It is anfuerit, that the pannell wes summond vponn xv dayis warning, for the saidis crymes; and being in waird, he may be brocht out and put to ane Assyse. And the Aduocat produceit the Hoirning aganis the pannell for the Slauchter of Merfar.—The Letteris (of Hoirning being) produceit, it is alleget that the famin s null, becaus the said Johnne Forbes is summond only att the mercat croce of Abirdene. The Aduocat anfueris, that he aucht (to) reduce; and the Justice is nocht Judge to the nulling² of Hoirningis.

¹ Adds farther, ſubjoins.

² Must.

THE Justice Ordanis the mater to be putt to ane Inqueist, nochtwithstanding of the allegeances.—The pannell offeris him felf in his Maiesteis Will, for the weiring and schuiting of pistolettis.

ASSISA.

James Cunningham, father-brother to the Laird of Barnis, James Dikfoun of Hirdrig, Andro Abircrumbie of Straruthie, Williame Sydferff of Ruchlaw, Johnne Airmour, mercheand burges of Edr.³

The Aduocat, for verificatioun of the Dittay, produceit twa Letteris of Hoirning, and the said Johnne Forbessis Depositionis, confessing the crymes contenit in the Dittay.—It is allegit aganis Harie Skirving,⁴ that he can nocht be ressaunt on this Assyse, becaus thair is feid⁵ standing betuix the Laird of Drum, on the ane pairt, and the name of Forbes, on the vther pairt; and the Erle of Marshell, to quhom this Assyfour is vassall, is sister-bairnes to the Laird of Drum. It is anfuerit, aucht to be repellit; in respect of the Act of Parliament discharging all feidis; and that thair is na deidlie feid qualifeit betuix the Erle Marshell and this pannell.—The pannell, eftir reiding of the Dittay, denyis the Slauchter of Robert Merfar, or that he was ather airt or pairt thairof.—The Aduocat repeittis to the Assyse the pannellis Confessioune, with the Letteris of Hoirning for the crymes contenit in the Dittay and Act of Counfall. The Aduocat protestis for Wilfull Error aganis the Assyse, in cais thay acquit; and that the Assyse be reteanit in the Tolbuth, quhill the Kingis Maiestie and his Counfallis will be knawin.—The pannell takis instrumentis of the Assyses determinatioun, in Clengeing of the pannell, for the Slauchter of Broun; and desyres the Justice to be advyset with the Counfall, anent the dome, in respect of the Act of Counfall, producet be him in this proces.

VERDICT. Eftir accusatioun of the said Johnne Forbes, be Dittay, of the hail crymes aboue writtin, and verificatioun thairof, be his Depositiones, subferyuit with his hand, as also subferyuit be my Lord Halyrudhous and Mr Johnne Prestoun, Collectour, producet be my Lord Aduocat, togidder with the Letteris of Hoirning, &c., the Assyse, be pluralitie of voittis, be the mouth of the said Williame Sydferf of Ruchlaw, chancellor, fband, pronuncet and declairit the said Johnne to be Clene, innocent and acquit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said vni^q^{le} Robert Merfar : AND fband, pronuncet and declairit, be pluralitie of voittis, the said Johnne to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of airt and pairt of the flauchter of the said vni^q^{le} Williame Broun ; and for beiring, weiring and fehuiting of pistolettis, contrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament. And that, in respect of his awin Depositiones and Confessioun producet, subferyuit with his hand.

¹ Than. ² Annulling, reducing. ³ The remainder of the Assise composed of 'mercheandis.'
⁴ Of that ilk. ⁵ Feud, deadly enmity.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk caufe, the said Justice-depute decernit and adjudget the said Johnne Forbes, be the mouth of James Henderfoun, dempfter, to be tane to the mercait Croce of Edinburgh, and thair, vpon ane scaffold, his heid to be strukin frome his body ; and all his moveabill guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to his hienes vse, as convict of the crymes aboue-writtin : Quhilk wes pronuncet for dome.

Sorcery — Witchcraft — Incantation — Poisoning, &c.

[THE singularity of the following Trial cannot fail to be remarked by all who have bestowed any attention upon the history of the Superstitions of their native country. In illustration of several of the circumstances detailed, the Editor considers that the CONFESSIONS of ISSOBELL HALDANE, preserved amongst the Warrants of the Privy Council of Scotland, will prove an acceptable accompaniment. The Editor has not yet discovered whether that unfortunate woman suffered the usual death which awaited such a Confession. It is, however, but too probable that she was put to death, by being ‘brunt,’ at Perth, in terms of her own Depositions.]

Dec. 18.—BARTIE PATERSOUN, tasker in Newbottill.

Dilaitit of the cryme of Sorcerie and Witchcraft, in abusing of the peopill with charmes and dyuerse foirtes of Inchamentis ; and ministring, vnder forme of medecine, of poyfoneable drinkis : AND of airt and pairt of the Murthour of Johnne Myller in ffurd-mylne, about Martinus last, and of vni^q^{le} Elizabeth Robiefoune, be the saidis poyfonable drinkis, viz. FOR cureing of James Broun in Turnydykis of ane vnknawin diseafe, be ministrating to him of drinkis, rubbing him with sawis¹ maid of dyuerse grene herbis, and causing him pas hame to his awin hous : and at his bed fyde to sitt down on his kneis, thre feuerall nychtis, and everie nycht, thryse nyne tymes, to ask his helth at all levying wichtis, aboue and vnder the earth, in the name of JESUS. And thaireftir, ordanit the said James to tak nyne pickillis of quheit, nyne pickillis of falt and nyne peeces of rowne-trie,¹ and to were thame continuallie vpon him, for his helth ; committing thairby manifest Sorcerie and Witchcraft. ITEM, for abufeing of the people, with ane certane watter, brocht be him furth of the Loch callit the Dow-Loche, befyde Drumlanrig, and cureing of his awiu bairne with the said Loche watter, be wafching of the said bairne, at everie nuke thairof, thryfe ; and cafting in of the bairnis fark² in the said Loche, and leveing of the fark behind him ; affirming, that gif any fould come furth of the Loche, at that tyme, the patient wald convalefe, and gif na thing appeirit to him, the patient wald die : AND for cayreing of the said Loche watter to findrie of the cuntrie, that war viffetit with feiknes, or quhais beiftis war feik or foirspokin :³ Speciallie, for the miniftrating thairof to Alexander Clerk, in Creichtoun, for his helth ; be caufing him, at ilk tyme quhan he liftit the ftoupe,⁴ quhairin it was, to fpaik thir woirdis : ‘ I lift this watter, in the name of the Father, Sone and Holy Gaiſt, to do guid for thair helth for quhom it is liftit ;’ quhilkis wordis fould be repeatit thryfe nyne tymes. AND for vfeing of thir charmes following, for charmeling of cattell ; ‘ I CHARME thé for arrow-ſchot, for dor-ſchot, for wondo-ſchot, for ey-ſchot, for tung-ſchote, for lever-ſchote, for lung-ſchote, for hert-ſchot, all the maiſt, in the name of the Father, the Sone and Holy Gaiſt. AMEN.’ AND for behaifing him ſelf as ane cowmone Sorcerer, in abufeing of our fouerane lordis leigis, thir diuerſe yeiris bygane, be his devillifche practizes, vpon dyuerſe feik folk and feik beftiall ; and vfeing of dyuerſe vther ſoirtis of Inchantment, expres aganis the lawis of God and Actis of Parliament.

¹ Salves.

As at lenth is contenit in the ſaid Barteis Depositiones, maid in prefens of the Prefbiterie of Dalkeith, and Dittay formet thairupoune.

VERDICT. The Aſlyſe, be the mouth of Thomas Megget of Maiftertoun, chancellor, ſtand, pronuncet and declairit the ſaid Bartie to be flylet, culpable and convict (conforme to his awin Confefſioun) of the hail crymes aboue writtin.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Caſtell-hill of Edinburghe, and thair to be wirreit at ane ſtaik, quhill he be deid ; and thaireftir his body to be brunt in aſches ; and all his moveable guidis and geir, gif he ony hes, to be eſcheit and inbrocht to his hienes vſe, &c.

¹ The mountain-ash. Its virtues are even yet held in great repute, as a charm againſt Witchcraft, &c.

² Shirt. The purpoſe of ſo doing was to leave the diſeaſe on the ſhirt, and to make an offering to the genius loci. In Ireland, at this day, ‘Holy Wells’ are commonly reſorted to by the ſick, &c., who, after ablution and drinking of the ſpring, leave pins and pieces of rag, torn off ſome part of the patient’s dreſs.

³ Bewitched, charmed.

⁴ A ſort of wooden bucket or pitcher, uſed for holding or carrying water.

DEPOSITIONES of ISSOBELL HALDANE, suspect of WISCHCRAFT, CONFESSIT be hir the 15 of Maij 1623, as followis.

BEING convenit befor the Sessioun of Perth, estir prayeris maid to God to oppin hir hairt and loufe hir toung to Confes the treuth:—Being askit, ‘Gif scho hed onye skeill of cureing men, wemen or bairneis that war diseifit?’ Scho anfuert, that scho had nane. Being requirit, ‘Gif scho cureit Andro Duncanes bairne?’ Anfuert, that, according to the directioun of Jonat Kaw, scho went with Alexander Lokart dwin¹ to the Turret-Port, tuik watter frome thence, being dwin; brocht it to Andro Duncanes houfe; and thair, wpone hir kneis, in the name of the Father, Sone and Halye Goost, weufsch² the bairne! Estir that, tuik the watter, with the bairneis fark, accompaneit with Alexander Lokart, and kniif³ baith in the burne; bot in the going, scho skailit⁴ fwm, quhilk scho rewis ane evill rew,⁵ becaus that if onye hed gone ower it, thay hed gottyn the ill.⁶ ITEM, being askit ‘If scho hed ony conversatioun with the ffarye-folk?’ Anfuert, that ten yeiris syne, lying in hir bed, scho wes taikin furth, quhiddir be God or the Denill scho knawis nocht; wes caryit to ane hill-syde: the hill oppynit, and scho enterit in. Thair scho stayit thrie dayis, viz. fra Thurisday till Sunday at xij houris. Scho mett a man with ane gray beird, quha brocht hir furth agane.

ITEM, that same day JOHNE ROCH deponit, that about that same tyme, he beand in James Chrystie the wrichtis buith, causing the wricht mak ane cradill to him, becaus his wyff wes neir the down-lying; the said Issobell Haldane com by, desyret him nocht to be sa haistie, for he neidit nocht; his wyff fould nocht be lichter⁷ till that tyme fywe onkis,⁸ and then, the bairne suld neuer ly in the cradill, bot be borne, bapteisit, and never souk, bot die and be tane away. And as the said Issobell spak, so it cam to pass, in euerie poynt.

THE said Issobell being demandit, ‘How scho knew that?’ Anfuert, that the man with the gray beird⁹ tauld hir. ITEM, the said Johne Roch deponit, that Margaret Buchannan, spous to David Rind, being in helth, at hir ordinare wark, the said Issobell Haldane come to hir, and desyret hir mak hir for deith;¹⁰ ffor befor Fastingis-ewin, quhilk wes within few dayis, scho suld be taikin away. And as scho said, so it wes; befor that terme the woman died. Being askit, ‘How scho knew the terme of hir lyfe?’ The said Issobell anfuert, scho hed speirit at that same man with the gray beird, and he hed tauld hir.

THE xvj day of May 1623. PATRIK RUTHUEN, skynner in Perth, compeirit and declarit, that he being wischit¹¹ be Margaret Hornisclench, Issobell Haldane com to sie him; scho com in to the bed and strauchit¹² hir self aboue him, hir heid to his heid, hir handis ower him, and so furth, mumbling sum wordis; he knew nocht quhat they war.

THE said Issobell Confessit the said cure; and deponit, that befor the said Patrik wes wischit, scho mett him, and foirbad him to go till scho had gone with him.

THE xix day of Maij 1623. Compeirit STEPHANE RAY in Maretonne, and deponit, that thrie yeiris syne, that Issobell Haldane haueing stollin sum bere furth of the Hall of Balhouslye, he followit hir, and brocht hir bak agane; scho chaipit¹³ him on the schulder, saying, ‘Go thy way! Thow fall nocht win thy self ane bannok of breid for yeir and day!’ And as scho threttinit, sa it cam to pas. He dwynnit,¹⁴ hanelie diseifit.

THE said Issobell Confessis the away-taking of the bere, the diseife of the man, and affirms, that onlye scho said, ‘He that delyneret me frome the ffarye-folk fall tak amendis (on) thé!’ ITEM, the same day scho confest scho maid thrie feuerall caikis, euerie ane of thame of ix curneis¹⁵ of meill, gottin fra ix wemen that wer maryit madynnys; maid ane hoill in the crowne of euerie ane of theme, and

¹ Down. ² Washed. ³ Cast, threw. ⁴ Spilt some. ⁵ Regrets or rues bitterly. ⁶ Had any one stepped over the place, the evil or disease would have been transferred from the sick child to him. ⁷ Lighter, i. e. delivered of her child. ⁸ Five weeks. ⁹ This familiar spirit seems to be the same as ‘Thom Reid,’ mentioned in the extraordinary Trial of BESSIE DUNLOP. ¹⁰ Prepare for death. ¹¹ Bewitched, fore-spoken.
¹² Stretched. ¹³ Clapped. ¹⁴ Pined away, without any apparent cause. ¹⁵ Handfuls, small quantities.

pat ane bairne throw it thrie tymeis, 'in the name of the Father, Sone and Halye Goost,' to wemen that pat the saidis bairnes thryfe throw bakward, wfeing the saidis wordis. ITEM, the said Iffobell confest, that scho went, silent, to the Well of Ruthuen,¹ and returneit silent, bringing watter from thence, to wafch Johne Gowis bairne: Quhen scho tuik the watter frome the Well, scho left ane pairt of the bairnes fark at it, quhilk scho tuik with hir for that effect; and quhen scho cam home, scho weufche the bairne thairwith. In lyk maner, scho Confest, scho had done the elyk to Johne Powryis bairne.

THE xxvij day of Maij 1623. THE said Iffobell confessit, that scho had gewin drinkis to cure bairneis; amongis the rest, that David Moreife wyff com to hir, and thryfe for Goddis faik askit help to hir bairne that wes ane scherge:² And scho send furth hir sone to gether fochsterrie leaweis,³ quhair-of scho directit the bairnes mother to mak a drink.—Bot the bairneis mother deponit, that the said Iffobell Haldane, on-requirit, cam to her house and saw the bairne; said, 'it wes ane scherge taikin away,' tuke on hand to cure it; and to that effect, gaiff the barne a drink; efter the ressaie quhairof the bairne died.

WILLIAME YOUNG, Scribe to pe Presbiterie of Perth, at command of pe samyne, with my hand.
JONAT. DAUIDSONE, Notare Publict and Clerk to the Sessioune of Perth, at thair command and directiounne, with my hand.

[Mr William Boirthuik, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Feb. 3.—JAMES MURE, Younger of Auchindrane.⁴

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Sir Thomas Kennedyie of Cullane and Williame Dalrumpill.

PERSEWER, Sir Thomas Hammiltounne of Bynnie, knycht.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell.

The Lairdis of Blair, Cauldwall, Heiffilheid, Rowallane, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Laurence M^ogill.

My Lord Aduocat producet the Letteris deulie execute and indorfat, quhairby the defenderis thairin contenit ar denuncet to the horne. Mr Johnne Ruffell producet Letteris of Relaxatiounne, of the dait the thrid of Februare instant; be the quhilkis the pannell is relaxit for the crymes aboue writtin. The pannell takis instrumentis of his entrie; and efter reiding of the Summondis, offeris him self reddie to abyd the tryell of the Law, for the crymes contenit thairin-till; and disassentis fra all continewatiounne. The Aduocat producet the Counfallis Warrant for continuatiounne of this dyet to Fryday nixt; and committing the pannell to waird in the meane tyme.

THE JUSTICE, for obedience of the Counfallis Warrant, continewis this matter to Fryday nixt, and ordanit the pannell to be wairdit in the Tolbuith of Edinburgh, in the meane tyme.

¹ The superstition of fetching water from Holy-Wells, as they were and still are often called, was very prevalent in Scotland, as well as in all Catholic countries. Some shred of dress belonging to the diseased person was left on the brink of the well, in token of the disease having passed away along with it. In Ireland, the bushes near to such wells are entirely covered with rags of every colour, as offerings to the Genius loci.

² SHARG, a creature pined away, by Witchcraft, an evil eye, &c. A changeling.

³ Leaves of an herb. Perhaps star-grass, bog-star-grass.

⁴ Vid. Jul. 17, 1611.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Feb. 5.—THE JUSTICE continewis this matter to the secund day of Marche nixtocum; and ordanis the pannell to be wairdit in the Tolbuith, in the meane tyme.¹

Slaughter.

Feb. 5.—GEORGE MURRAY of Brochtoune.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} James M^cCulloche, appeir- and of Torhouse; committit in November last.

PERSEWARIS.

Johnne M^cCulloche, as brother; William M^cCulloche of Mertoune, Thomas M^cCulloche of Barholme.

THE JUSTICE continewis this matter to the morne.²

Feb. 6.—The persewaris passis fra the perfute of the Laird of Brochtoun for the said Slauchter, conforme to the cowmoning.³

Mutilation.

Feb. 19.—JOHNNE DUNCANE, elder, myller in the Brig of Hailes, and Johnne Duncane, younger, meilmaker in Edinburgh.

VERDICT. Fylit, culpable and convict of airt and pairt of the Mutilatioun of Robert Daidfoun of tua fingaris of his left hand; committit be thame in the moneth of September I^m.Vj^c. and fax yeiris, vpone fet purposis, prouifoun and foirthocht felonie.

SENTENCE. To be wairdit within the Tolbuth of Edinburgh, thairin to remane vpone thair awin expenffis, ay and quhill thay haif satisfeit the said Robert Daidfoun, pairtie, for his hurt and skayth aboue writtin, and obtene his letteris of Slanes thairupoune: And alse, Ordanit thair haill moveabill guidis to be efcheit to our fouerane lordis v^{ie}, as convict of the said cryme.

Slaughter.

Feb. 23.—WILLIAME KEITH, sone lauchfull to Alexander Keith of Auchquhirfk.

Dilaitit, accuset and persewit be Mr Thomas Henderfone, Aduocat, substitute to our fouerane lordis Aduocat, of the crymes following, viz. fforfamekill as, vpone fryday the nyntene day of ffebruar instant, the said Williame haifing fallin out, in som iniurious speiches with vniq^{le} Thomas Colstoun, Inglifinan, at the drink, in Griffell Ruffellis hous in Bruntieland; he thaireftir rauncounterit with the said vniq^{le} Thomas, befyde the selhoir of the said bureh of Bruntieland; and thair, maist crewallie, with his drawin swoird, strak the said vmq^{le} Thomas vnder the left pape, and flew him thairwith: And the said William is airt and pairt of the slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Thomas.

¹ It is again continued; and Mure ordered to be kept in ward. ² Plegio, Johanne Vaufe de Barnebarroche. ³ Commoning. It is likely that the private parties compromised the matter, and that Letters of Remission were procured upon their joint application, on producing Letters of Slains.

PERSEWERIS, Mr Thomas Henderfonne, Mr Robert Foullis, aduocat.

PRELOCOUTOUR for the pannell, Mr Johnne Ruffell.

ASSISA.

Anlay M ^c canlay of Ardincapill,	Arch ^d Edmestone of Ballintone,	Hew Dalzell, merchand burges of
George Murray of Brochtoun, ¹	Johnne Ahannay, Provoist of	Edinburgh,
James Lokhart of Ley,	Wigtoun,	Symone Brentoune, burges thair,
Williamie Blair of Balgillo,	Patrik Somervel, merchand	George Redik,
. . . . Leith of Hartbill,	burges of Ediuburgh,	Geo. Rollok, portioner of Craigie,
Sir Alex ^r Colquhoun of Lufs, kny ^t ,	Donald Thornetoun, burges thair,	Vthreid M ^c dowell of Mondurk.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of the said Vthreid M^cdowgall of Mondurk, chancellor, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said Williamie Keith to be ffylit, culpable and conviet of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Thomas Colfoun; committit in maner and at the tyme specifeit in the said Dittay.

SENTENCE. To be takin to the mercait croce of Edinburgh, and thair, vpon ane skaffold, his heid to be strukin frome his body; and all his moveabill guidis and geir to be efcheit and inbrocht to his Maiesteis vse, as conviet of the said cryme. Quhiik was pronuncet for dome.

Child-murder.

Feb. 24.—ISSOBELL THOMESOUNE, dochter to Robert Thomesoun in the Watter of Leyth.

Dilaitit of the crewall and vnnaturall Murthour and distructioun of hir awin infant bairne; committit be hir, immediatlie eftir hir delyuerie thairof, vpon the aucht day of Februare instant, secrethie, within hir fatheris dwelling hous in the Watter of Leyth.

VERDICT. The Assyse, in ane voce, be the mouth of Thomas Clerkfoun, buterman, chancellor, ffand, pronuncat and declairit the said Issobell, conforme to hir awin Confessioun, to be ffylet, culpable and conviet of the crewall Murthour and distructioun of the said bairn.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit, quhill scho be deid; and hir hail moveabill guidis, gif scho ony hes, to be efcheit, &c.

Treason — Murder under Trust, &c.

Mar. 2.—JAMES WATSOUN, sone in law to James Hammiltoun of Scheirell; and James Hinchelwoid, seruitour to James Hammiltoun Younger of Spittelcheill.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt, red, counfall and foirknowledge of the crewal Mur-

¹ See Feb. 5, 1508.

thour of vmq^{le} George Tuedie; committit be the said James Hammiltoun of Spittelcheill, vpon Sanct Leonardis-evin, in Nouember last, within ane barne of Spittelcheill; the said James, the tyme of the committing thair of, haifing consultit and devyset the samyn with Robert Craufurd, his guid-brother, and with the saidis James Watfoun and James Hinchelwoid, of the forme and maner thair of, viz. THAT the said James Hinchelwoid fould secreteilie convoy ane mell¹ in the barne, quhair the said George Tuedie fould be murthourit; and that the said George (his) bed fould be maid in the said barne, and the said James Watfoun to ly with him: LYK AS, about tuelf houris at evin, in the said nycht, the said vmq^{le} George Tuedie being lyne down in his bed, within the said barne, luiking for the said James Watfones cuming to ly down with him, the said James Hinchelwoid, James Hammiltoun and James Watfone come all in togidder within the said barne; and as the said James Watfone was taking af his claites, the said James Hammiltoun, with the said mell in his hand, in prefens of the said James Watfoun and James Hinchelwoid, come to the said George Tuedeis bedheid, and thair maist crewallie gaif him tua grit sfracis in his heid, and Murdreift him thairby; the said James Hinchelwoid haifing brocht in the candill in his hand, and delyuering the mell to the said James Hammiltoun, to commit the said Murthour; AND eftir the committing thair of, the said James Watfone, taking away with him the said vmq^{le} George Tuedeis horse, with the sadill and brydill, and the said James Hinchelwoid helping the said James Hammiltoun to beir him to ane lyme hoill, ane littill frome the hous, quhair he wes bureit.

VERDICT. The Assyse electit and choisit Hammiltoun of Sillertoun-hill² chancellor, ressonit and voittit vpon the poyntis of the said Dittay, and being ryplie and at lenth advyset thairwith, togidder with the saidis James Watfone and James Hinchelwoidis Depositiones made be thame in the premiffes; thay, be the mouth of the said Chancellor, stand, pronuncet and declairit the saidis James Watfone and James Hinchelwoid to be ffylet, culpable and convict of airt, pairt, red, counfal and foirknowledge of the said abhominable Murthour, and conceilling of the samyn, sa lang eftir the committing thair of.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit quhill thay be deid; and all thair moveabill guidis escheit to our souerane lordis vsé, as convict of the saidis crymes.

Cattle-stealing.

Mar. 11.—THOMAS FRAM, sumtyme fervand to James Hammiltoun of Spittelscheill.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the thiftious Steilling, conceilling, ressetting and away-taking of thre oxin and ane kow pertening to James, Lord of Balmirrinoch, furth of his landis of Mulruun; committit in the moneth of August I^m.Vj^c. and fax yeiris.—VERDICT. Guilty. James Levinstoun of Jerifwoid, chancellor.

¹ Mallet. ² Robert Bailzie of Jerristoun, Johnne Grahame brother to Wastraw, and James Mureheid younger of Lachope, are the only other landed persons. James Levingtoun of Jeriswoid was fined 100 merks for non-appearance.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercait croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit quhill he be deid; and all his moveabill guidis, gif he ony hes, to be confiscat to our fouerane lordis vfe.

[Mr Williame Borthuik, Justice-Depute.]

MURDER.

Mar. 18.—JOHNNE SWAN, burges of Dumbar.

PERSEWERIS, Williame Clerkfoune, brother-fone, Johnne Kellie, sifter-fone, Johnne Learmonth, guid-fone, Williame Ruthven also fone-in-law.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the crewall Murthour and Slauchter of v^mq^{le} George Clarkfoune, merchand burges of Dumbar; committit be him within the said v^mq^{le} George awin barne, lyand at the bak of the toune of Dumbar, vpon the fyftene day of Marche instant, betuix thre and foure eftir none; be geving to him of ane crewall and deidlie straik vpon the left syde of his heid, alangis his vane-organe,¹ with ane grit fork, quhairof he immediatlie depairtit this lyfe.

VERDICT. Guilty. Johnne Kellie, elder in Dumbar, chancellor.

SENTENCE. To be takin to the mercait croce of Edinburgh, and thair his heid to be strukin frome his bodie; and all his moveabill guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to his hienes vfe, as culpable and convict of the said cryme.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

SORCERIE, WITCHCRAFT, &c.

Maj 27.—BEIGIS TOD, in Lang-Nydrie.

Dilaitit, accuset and perfewit, at the instance of Mr Robert Foulis, Aduocat, substitute to our fouerane lordis Aduocat, of the crymes of Sorcerie following, viz. FORSAMEKILL as scho, accompaneit with v^mq^{le} Cristiane Tod, hir sifter, Johnne Graymeill, Margaret Dwne and Ersche Marioun,² in the moneth of August, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. four scoir fourtene yeiris,³ convenit thame selffis, with thair complices, all Witches and abufearis of the people, at Deane-fute of Lang-Nydrie, quhair the Deuill appeirit to thame, and reprovet the said Beigis Tod verrie scherplie, for hir lang tayreing; to quhome scho maid this ansuer, 'Sir, I could wyn na foner!' And immediatlie thaireftir, thay past altogidder to the said Beigis hous in Lang-Nydrie; quhair, eftir thay had drukkin togidder a certane space, thay, in thair devillifche maner, tuik ane katt, and drew the samyn nyne tymes throw the said Beigis cruik;⁴ and thaireftir come with all thair speid to

¹ Jugular vein.

² Irish or Highland Marion, a personage who figured in the Witch Trials of that period.

³ A.D. 1594.

⁴ Of iron, on which the 'kail-pat' is usually hung over the fire.

Seaton-thorne,¹ be-north the zet;² quhair the Devill callit for the said Cristiane Tod, and past to Robert Smartis hous, and brocht hir out; and as scho was cumand with him, scho tuik ane grit fray,³ and said to the Devill, ‘ Sir, quhat will ye do with me?’ Quha answert her, ‘ Tak na feir, for ze fall gang to your sifter Beigis, and to be rest of hir cumpanie, quha ar stayand vpon your cunning at the Thorne!’ And thay theireftir past altogidder, with the Devill, to the irne zet of Seatoun, quhair of new thay tuik ane cat, and drew the samyn nyne tymes throw the said Irne-zett: And immediatlie thaireftir, come to the barne, foiranent George Feudaris dur,⁴ quhair thair cristenit the said catt, and callit hir Margaret: And thaireftir come all bak agane to the Deane-fute, quhair first thair convent, and cuist the kat to the Devill. For the quhilkis devillische practizes the saidis Cristiane Tod, Johne Gray-meill, Ersche Marioun and Margaret Dwayne war convict and brunt. And the said Beigis Tod is airt and pairt of the cryme of Sorcerie and Witchcraft abone writtin; quhilk wes nottourlie knawin: ITEM, fforfamekill as the said Beigis Tod, haifing fallin furth at variance with the vng^{le} Alexander Fairlie in Lang-Nydrrie, scho, to be revendget vpon him and his bairnis, in the moneth of Junij I^m.V^c.lxxxj yeiris, be hir Sorcerie and Witchcraft, cuist ane heavie and vnkawin seiknes vpon Alexander Fairlie, his sone, quha vanischet away⁵ with vehement sueiting and continuall burning at the heart; quhilk seiknes indurit with him the space of tua monethis, that nane luikit for his lyfe;⁶ and nichtlie the said Beigis appeirit to him, in hir awin similitude; vpon quhome he cryit continuallie for help: And in the day, scho appeirit to him, in schape of a dog; quhilk pat him almaist out of his witts: Vpon occasioun quhair of, the said Alexander, his father, past to the said Beigis Tod, and efter he was reconceillit to hir, maist earnestlie besocht hir to cum and remedie his sone of the said seiknes; quha refusit to cum; yit, at the earnest desyre of Archibald Galloway, scho, accompaneit with hir tua sones, come to the hous, and sa sone as the said Alexander saw hir, he eftir that tyme became bettir and bettir, and convalescit of the said seiknes. And sa, scho committit manifest devilrie and Witchcraft, in on-laying and aftalking of seiknes, in maner foirsaid. AND lykwayes, was accuset be the said Aduocat and Robert Woid, lister, for the casting of the lyk vncouth seiknes vpon the said Robert, be hir devilrie and Witchcraft, in the moneth of Nouember last.

VERDICT. The Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouth of David Seatoun, bailzie of Tranent, ffylet the said Beigis of the first tua poyntis of Dittay aboue writtin: And, be pluralitie of voittis, stand, pronuncet and declairit hir to be Cleue

¹ Thorns were favourite trysting-places of witches as well as lovers.

² To the north of the gate.

³ Fright. Old Fr. frayeur.

⁴ Door.

⁵ Swooned, fainted away.

⁶ None

thought he could possibly survive.

and acquit of the Sorcerie and Witchcraft vsēt be hir aganis the said Robert Woid, in laying the said seiknes vpone him ; in maner specificit in the Dittay.

SENTENCE. For the quhilkis tua crymes, quhair of she is convict, the Justice ordanit hir to be tane to the Castell-hill of Ed^r, and thair to be wirreit at ane staik, and her body to be brunt in asches ; and hir haill guidis to be escheit, &c.

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE f. d. n. Regis, tenta in Pretorio de Lynlythgow, ultimo die Maij 1608, per M. Willielmum Hairt de Prestoun, Justiciarium Deputatum.]

ASSESSOURIS TO THE JUSTICE.

My Lord of Balmirrienoeh,¹ My Lord Abercorne,² My Lord Lynlythgow,³ Sir Peter 5oung.⁴

Abstracting Pearls and Jewels belonging to the Queen.

May 31.—MARGARET HERTSYDE, spous to Johnne Buchannane, sum-tyme fervand to his Maiestie, and the said Johnne Buchannane, for his entreis.⁵

Dilaittit, accuset and persewit be Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnzie, knycht, Aduocat to our souerane lord.

DITTAY against the Pannell.

MARGARET HERTSYDE, 5e ar indyttit and accuset, sforfamekill as 5e, being many 5eiris in credeit and service with oure souerane lordis darrest spous, the Queinis Maiestie, and haifing restait with grit benifeittis frome hir Maiestie, during þe tyme of 5our seruice, at dyuerse tymes, to 5our heich advancement, baith in credeit and welth : 5e, nochtwithstanding thair of, maist vnlaufullie and vndewtiefullie substractit, staw and detenit frome hir Maiestie, furth of our souerane lordis Palices of in Ingland, at the leifst furth of ane or vther of our saidis Palices, ane Perle, of the valour and pryce of ane hundreth and ten pund sterling, pertening to hir Maiestie ; togidder with dyuerse vtheris perles, precious stanes, jowallis and goldsmyth wark, lykwayis pertening to his Maiesteis darrest spous, worth the fowme of thre hundreth pund sterling ; committit be 5ow in the monethis of, the 5earis of God I^m. sax hundreth thre, sax hundreth foure, sax hundreth fyve, sax hundreth sax, and I^m.Vj^c. and fevin 5eiris ; at þe leifst in ane or vþer of þe saidis monethis and 5eiris. For the quhilkis, 5e being sworne and examinat, first vpone the fyft day of October 1607, and þairestir vpone the thrid day of Nouember lastbypast, anent 5our vnlaufull haifing of findrie of hir Maiesteis jowellis ; and haueing declairit, vpone 5our grit aithe, that 5e had nane, and gif it war fund that 5e had ony vther jowallis of worth, quhilkis pertenit to hir Maiestie, that þe perticularis than confessit be 5ow, (quhairin the jowallis lybellit war nocht comprehendit,) 5e acknowlegit that 5e had thame nocht lauchfullie : And lykwayis declairit, be 5our said Deposition, that at 5our first cuning frome Court to Scotland, 5e had delyuerit to hir Maiestie all þe jowallis quhair of 5e had þe credeit,⁶ and nevir senfyne had charge of þame, or mellit⁷ with ony of thame. NOCHTWITHSTANDING quhair of, 5e þairestir, vpone the said thrid day of Nouember last, Confessit that 5e had abtractit frome hir Maiestie ane grit perle, pertening to her hienes, quhilk cam to 5our handis, amangis ane number of counterfute stanes, and many perles pairwith : Quhilk grit perle, 5e fauld, for ane hundreth and ten pund sterling, estir that 5e had presentit the same, hung at ane diamond, to be fauld, to hir Maiesteis self ; sfor the quhilk 5e cravet her Maiesteis pardoun, and be your said Deposition cum in hir Maiefties gracious Will for it. And lykwayis Confessit, be your Deposition foirsaid, that, without hir Maiefties knowlege or gift, ze had fauld and convenit to your awin proffit and vse, vther precious stanes and perles, worth thre hundreth pund sterling, pertening to hir Maieftie; and acknolegit pat your ouersicht and offence committit, in melling with the jowallis confessit be your at pat tyme, pat your in hir Maiefties Will: And ze ar airt and pairt of ze saidis crymes: ffor ze quhilkis ze aucht and fould be pwnfeiched, conforme to ze lawis and daylie practik of your realme.

¹ For his interest ; only as husband to the pannell. ² Sir James Elphinston, first Lord Balmerinoch, Lord President of the Court of Session. See his Trial, Mar. 10, 1609. ³ James Hamilton, first Earl of Abercorn. ⁴ Alexander, seventh Lord Livingston, was created Earl of Linlithgow Lord Livingston and Calendar. ⁵ His Majesty's ' Elimosinar' or Almoner, &c. ⁶ Trust, charge of. ⁷ Meddled, had to do with. Fr. Meler.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnie, knyght, Aduocat to our fouerane lord.

PRELOCOUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Williame Oliphant, Mr Thomas Hoip, Mr Alexander King, Mr Johnne Russell, Aduocatis, Mr Robert Buchamane, Minister at the Kirk of Ceres, Mr Williame Buchamane, Minister at Methven.

The Aduocat producet our fouerane lordis Letteris, deulie execute and indorfate, purchest at his instance, as Aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hienes entreis. The Aduocat, eftir cheifing of the prelocoutouris for the pannell, producet his Maiefties Warrant to the Justice to proceid and minister Justice; togidder with ane vther Warrant, directit to my lord Aduocat, to insift in this persute.—Mr Johnne Russell, for him self and the rest of the prelocoutouris, producet ane Warrant of the Lordis of Secret Counfall, commanding thame to compeir, as prelocoutouris, in defence of the pannell.

My lord Aduocat producet ane EIK to the Dittay, for cleiring thair of, and circumstances of the poyntis of Dittay contenit in the Letteris.

Margaret Hertfyde, olim in carcere, and now at libertie, producet ane Letter, contening ane desyre, ane Renociation and protestation, quhair of the tenuour followis.

I, MARGARET HERTSYDE, acknawleging my long captiuitie, and that I haif bene seperat fra my husband, dyuerse tymes examinat and demandit vpon sundrie wechtie matteris and articles, to the quhilkis I was forcet to ansuer, nocht being weil resolut, bot be ze contraire, being hevelie trubillit, be apprehensoun¹ of my husband, my self, wairding of our perfones, and ceasing² vpon our haill guidis; my Depositionis nocht perfytlie knawin to me, and I being ane woman, juris ignara, nocht haifing sa guid memorie as is requifat in sic ane wechtie caus; I desyre that now, being ane frie persone, exhibit in Judgment,³ my Declaratioun and Deposition may be producet, to the effect that I may reduce my self to ane perfyte memorie; and, gif my Declaratioun be set down according to ze treuth, I am content to abyde pairt; vtherwayis, in caice pair be any thing omittit or erroneoullie declairit, that I may be hard to correct my errour and eik⁴ pairto, quhatseuir is omittit: And in cais of non production of my said Declaratioun and Depositiones, to the effect foirsaid, I, be pir presentis, revoikis quhatsumeur Deposition maid by me, concerning the lybell and Dittay pairin contenit, and haill contentis pair of: And protestis, in caice ze said Deposition be producet, at any time heireftir, in this Judgement, that ze famyn be oppinlie red in my presence, to the effect foirsaid.

The Pannell, vpon productione of the Eik to the Aduocat, desyrit this matter to continew to the morne, to be advyfet thairupoune. My Lord Aduocat declairis, that he vffis this Eik producet, as ane qualificatioun and explanatioun of the Summondis; bot intendis nocht thairby to challenge the persewar of ony new cryme; and thairfoir desyrit present proces.

¹ Imprisonment.

² Seizing.

³ Presented in Court.

⁴ Add, subjoin.

THE JUSTICE and ASSESSOURIS continewis this mater to the morne, at viij houris; and hes delyverit the Eik product to the Prelocoutouris, to be advyfet thairnpoun.

OBJECTIONS against the Affeffors.

(JUN. 1.)—It is allegit aganis Sir Peter Young, that he can nocht be Affeffour in this cause, becaus he is his Maieftie's domestik feruitour; and Margaret Hertfyde being callit in this Judgement for steilling and substracting of Jowellis pertening to hir Maieftie, quhilk also pertenis to his Maieftie, na domestik feruitour to his Maieftie can be Judge or Affeffour in this cause.—To the quhilk it is anfuerit, be the Aduocat, the allegeance is nocht relevant; becaus it hes bene practikket¹ in this Judgement, of befoir, that his Maieftie's fervandis and domestikis hes bene admittit vpon Assyses: speciallic, the praktik of Barbara Naper² and Mr Thomas Cranstoun and George Craigengelt.³

It is allegit aganis my Lord of Lyndlythgow, that he can nocht be Affeffour, becaus his Lordschippis spous and the Kingis Maieftie ar of kyn.⁴—It is anfuerit be my lord Aduocat, the rekning was nocht relevant, becaus kyn to the King makis nane suspect, in his caus.—It is allegit aganis my Lord Balmerinoch, that he can nocht be Affeffour, becaus the Aduocat being perfewar, be directioun of the Queenis Maieftie, that the Aduocattis spous and my Lord President ar ferds of kyn; and sa can nocht be Affeffour.—To the quhilk it is anfuerit, the allegeance is nocht relevant; and thairfoir mereitis na anfuer.

THE JUSTICE, be Interlocoutour, finds that the noble men nominat Affeffouris may fit as Affeffouris in this cause, nochtwithstanding of the allegeances proponit be the pannell in the contrair. Quhairupone the Aduocat askit instrumentis.

My lord Aduocat declairit, that he insistit nocht aganis Johne Buchamane, bot allanerlie as spous to Margaret (Hertfyde) for his entreis; quhairupone Johne Buchamane askit instrumentis.—The pannell acceptis the Summondis and Dittay contenit thairin, as the samyn is qualifeit.

It is allegit be the pannell, that the Summondis is blank, bayth in the tyme and place of the committing of the fact lybellit; quhilk man be fillit befoir forder proces. It is anfuerit be the Aduocat, that the pannell man say, quhairin the blankis ar prejudiciall to thair defensis.—It is duplyt, that the exceptionne standis relevant, nochtwithstanding of the anfuer maid thairto, in respect that of the Law Ciuill thair is a solempne forme preseryuit anent accusationis, that thairin tyme and place fall be determinat; quia non oportet in Criminibus vagari: Lege libellorum § de accusationibus, &c. significasti, extra de libelli obligatione. Bald. Confilio, 1420, vol. iv. Julius Clarus, paragrapho finali, questione xij. Speculator, in titulo de furtis, numero 2. Quhilkis solemniteis ar vniuersallie obseruit, bayth in Scotland, and in the hail world. And forder, thair is ane grit necessitie to condiscend vponne the speciall moneth, becaus the Dittay beiris, anno 1603; and it is nottour, that in dyuerse monethis of the said yeir, hir Maiestie was resident in Scotland, albeit the Dittay beir the place to be, 'out of his Maiesteis Palaces in England.'—It is answert be my lord Adnocat, that I haif alreddie declairit the Crymes lybellit to haif bene committit sen (since) the passing to England, furth of some of his Maiesteis Palaces thair; quhairby the Summondis is speciall aneuch, vnles the pannell wald allege, quhat particuler tyme and place wald mak the fact lybellit lauchfull.—It is answert, that my lord Aduocattis declaratioun is mair generall nor the lybell; and of the law, debet prius constare de delicto, &c., quhilk man be circumscribit, tempore et loco definito. This Julius Clarus, libro v. Sententiarum—finali questione, iv. et v.

¹ Decided, made matter of practise (practice) or precedent. ² Witchcraft. ³ Gowrie Conspiracy. See Aug. 22, 1600. ⁴ Alexander, seventh Lord Levingstoun, married Lady Helenor Hay, only daughter of Andrew, seventh Earl of Errol. They were entrusted with the care and education of the Royal children.

SECUNDO, it is allegit that thair woirdis of the Dittay, 'subscriuit and detentit,' ar nocht relevant, et non sunt verba juris, to infer a cryme.—It is answert, that the Lybell standis relevant, as it is confauct.¹

TERTIO, it is allegit, that the last pairt of the Dittay, anent the generall woirdis of 'perles, pretious stanes and goldsmyth-wark,' is nocht relevant, becaus the particuler number is nocht designet, and qualitie thair of; becaus of the Law, in furto rerum plurium, designandus est numerus; quia, sine designatione numeri, non possunt res intellegi, ubi sunt plures. L. in actione furti, § de furtis. In auro infecto pondus in facto et signato numerus et inteste color dicendus est. And the expres text of the same matter, in L. si quis uxori, § si linea margaretarum surrepta est, dicendus est numerus, et non satis est res surreptus demonstrari per estimationem: With this woird, that vponne ane generall clause, neque in Civili neque in Criminali, na proces can be grantit.—It is answert be my Lord Aduocat, that the conclusioun of the argument is, that gif he fra quhome ane chenge, or perles, or ane Jowell compofet of mony stanes is stown, can nocht condiscend vponne the particuler number thair of, the theif fall bruik the samyn, but remeid² of Law; quhair of I refer the relevauncie and consequences to the Justice and Assessoris.—The pannell repeittis the exceptiones, quhilk is foundit vponne the Law; and as to my lord Aduocattis answert, it meitis nawayis; becaus the samyn speikis de corpore unito et de gemmis inclusis in vno auro, and the exceptioun oppingis directlie the lybell; becaus it condiscendis nocht vponne the stanes, Jowellis and goldsmyth-wark, quhilk ar bayth distincta corpora, numero et specie. mony of thame and of dyuerse natures. To the quhilk is maid na answert.

QUARTO, it is allegit, that, feing the Dittay is foundit and makis expres relation to certane Depositiones, allegit maid be the pannell, at tua seuerall tymes, in

¹ Conceiv'd, fram'd.

² Without legal remedy or redress.

October and November, thairfoir my lord Aduocat, of all reffone, aucht to produce the saidis Depositiones, nocht only to the effect that the pannell and hir prelocoutouris may confidder thame, for the caufe contenit in hir first Proteftatioun, bot also, to the effect fcho and thay may be hard to reffone befoir the Judge, anent the conformitie and difconformitie of the saidis Depositionis and with the Dittay ; quhilk man be confidderit and tryit be the Judge ; feing the famyn confistis in jure : And gif this be nocht done, thair will follow ane grit inconvenient, to wit, that the Affyse, gif this matter fall pas to thair knowlege, fall be forcet to reffone and difcufs vpon the said conformitie and difconformitie, quhilk is nocht proper to thame, the famyn being juris et non facti.—It is anfuerit be my Lord Aduocat, that vules ather the pannell, be thair consent, or the Justice, be his Interlocoutour, will find the Summondis relevant, he can nocht be astrictit to produce his probatioun.

QUINTO, it is allegit, that the Dittay is nawayis relevant, setting down only generallie that the perles, allegit substractit, pertenis to the Quenis Maieftie, and nawayis condiscending in quhais possessioun thair war, the tyme of the allegit substracting thair of ; quhilk man be condiscendit ; for gif thair war nocht in the Quenis Maiefteis possessioun, than the pannell could nocht commit Thift, in melling¹ thairwith ; for of the Law, in Lege prima, § si qui testamento liber, &c., it is said, quod furtum est tantum possessionis : And Baldus, Concilio 238, vol. ii., sayis, quod proprietatem nemo alteri subtrahere potest, &c. ; and gif thair wer in the pannellis possessioun, fcho could nocht commit Thift be disponing thairvpon, Lege, qui vas, § qui voluntate, ff. de furtis, qui ex voluntate domini servum recepit, qui neque fur neque plagiarius sit, plusquam manifestum est ; quis enim voluntate domini habens fur dici potest, &c.—Anfueris my lord Aduocat, the exceptioun aucht to be repellit, in respect of the lybell, vules the pannell will allege and instantlie verifie, that fcho obtenit lauchfull possessioun of the guidis lybellit, and had hir Maiefteis consent and allowance to the alienatioun thair of, quhilk is nevir subsumit.—It is duplyit, that na pairtie, of the Law, can be compellit to propone, be peremptour (defence), or verifie the famyn, except the Dittay be fund relevant : And forder, allegis, that gif my lord Aduocat will produce the Deposition, quhairupoune his lybell is foundit, the famyn Depositionis will verifie, that the perles lybellit can in the pannellis hand lauchfullie.

SEXTO, the pannell acceptis the summondis and Dittay thairin contenit, speciallic that pairt thair of, beirand, that the said Margaret was mony yeiris in credeit and seruice with hir Maieftie, and hath refflaut many grit benefeitis from hir Maieftie, the tyme of hir seruice, at dyuerse tymes, to hir heiche advancement, baith in credeit and welth ; and that the said Margaret vndewtifullie and vnnaturallie, at the tyme lybellit, ftaw, &c. : And allegis, that the Summondis is nawayis relevant aganis the said Margaret, being ane woman of credeit, as is confest ; lyk as, it is nottour to the Judges and Affefouris, that scho was ane fervand of credeit, at the tyme lybellit, befoir, and dyneris yeiris thaireftir ; sua, of neecessitie, in respect of hir credeit, the maner and forme of the steilling of the ftanes and perles lybellit man be condiscendit vpon, viz., quhidder the samyn was committit be force and violence, be breking vp of the durris of the houffis, and lokis of the cofferis, quhair the samyn war ; or was done priveleie, in the nycht, be taking the samyn af hir Maieftis garmentis, or fra hir hienes jowellis, or out of hir hienes cabinettis ; or that scho, vpon the conscience of the said cryme, fled furth of hir Maieftis seruice, and transportit the samyn with hir ; quhilk may be condiscendit vpon, of all neecessitie ; becaus ther can nocht Thift be committit, be ane fervand of credeit, except the saidis qualiteis concur, to manifest violence et animum furandi in the seruand ; quia, de jure, furtum sine affectio furandi fieri non potest L. 1. ff. de ffurtis et ut ait Bart. ad L. 5, is qui rem § si tu Titium ff. de ffurtis. ffurtum est nomen juris, hoc est, non omnis contractatio rei aliene est ffurtum, nisi accedat dolosus animus furandi L. Potest. et L. furtum ff. de vfu, &c.¹—It is answerit to the fact exception, be my lord Advocat, that, nochtwithstanding thair of, the Summondis is relevant, becaus the qualitie of the defender is nocht ane occasione to extenuat the cryme, bot to aggravat the samyn, seing the gritter credeit scho had, scho sould the mair faythfullie dischargit the samyn : And it is expresse lybellit, that it was sa far fra the Quenis knowlege or consent, that the pannell sould haif convertit ony of thir jowellis to hir awin vse, (in quhilk caice na policie neidit to haif bene vsed) gif hir Maieftis consent had bene had thairto, that the pannell, to mak hir Maieftie to misken hir awin grit perle, causit hing the samyn to ane dyamont, and offerit to sell the samyn to hir Maieftie, as ane jewell nocht pertening to hir self. Forder, the persewar acceptis the instance proponit be the defender, anent ane scheip-herd steilland his maisteris scheip, for the quhilk he may nocht be persewit Criminallie ; quhairin the persewar is direct contrar to the defendar, and affirms, that of the law and cownone practik of the cuntrie, scheip-herdis steilling scheip, committit to thair keiping be thair maister, is ordinarlie hangit thairfoir : Lyk as, David Forrester greve to my Lord of Menmuir, and Robert Loch, his fervand, being acenset for steilling fra him of aittis, beir, woll and lynning clayth, the summondis was ffund relevant, albeit the greve had charge of all theis thingis, be his office, and had his maisteris credeit ; and being put to ane Assyse, was convict for the maist part thair of : Quhairby, it is manifest, that servandis put in trust and credeit be thair maister, and steilling ony pairt of the geir, quhair of thay haif the keiping and credeit, ar ordinarlie put to the knowlege of ane Affyse, and convict, gif thai be ffund giltie: And quhair, it is exceptit, that in thift committit be ane fervand of credeit (forceing?¹) of duris or kiftis is requisit, the perswar affirms to be ane absurd allegiance.—It is answert (replied), that the pannell, in hir last and saxt exceptioun, querrellis only the irrelevancie of the Dittay, and nawayis meanis to extenuat ane cryme committit be ane fervand; for gif it be certane and tryit that ane fervand hes committit ane cryme, he is maist worthie of double pwnishment, bot the thing that the pannell contendis for in the exceptioun, is, that na Dittay for Thift can be relevant aganis ane fervand of credeit, except sic qualities and actiones be contenit, quhilk may infer animus furandi; and the instances proponit be my lord Aduocat beiris, that fervandis committand crymes and ffund culpable war justifeit;² quhilk nawayis meittis the said exceptioun.—It is declairit be my lord Aduocat, for eschewing of disputatioun vncecessar, that he insiftis only vpon tua poyntis of Dittay; to wit, the steilling, &c. the grit perle of the pryce of an hundreth and x li. sterling, for the first article; and the vther jowellis, perles, stanes and goldsmythwark, for the secund poynt of Dittay: And vffis the hail rest of the lybell, nocht as ane feuerall³ cryme, bot only for explanatioun and qualificatioun thair of; and intendis nocht, at this tyme, to accuse the pannell of contrair⁴ Depositiones.

¹ Meddling, intromitting. Fr. meler.

¹ Here a number of sentences abridged from the Doctors follow.

THE JUSTICE, with advyse of his Affesouris, ffindis the lybell and Dittay relevant; nochtwithstanding of the hail exceptiounis proponit be the pannell.

Quhairvpon my lord Aduocat askit instrumentis.

It is allegit, peremptourlie, be the pannell, that this Dittay can nocht be put to ane Affyse; becaus of the law, ane fervand of credeit haifing the custodie of his Maiesteis guidis, being willing to rander ane compt of his intromissionne, nevir haifing committit ony violent deid, can nocht be accuset of Thift; the intromission, fra the begyning, being lauchfull: Bot trew it is, that Margaret Hertfyde, as is confest in the lybell, bothe the yeiris lybellit and dyuerse yeiris ofbefoir, was, lyke as scho is presentlie, hir Maiesteis fervand, vndischarget, with credeit, and willing to gif compt of hir intromission, nevir haifing committit ony violent deid.—My lord Aduocat, of his awin motiue, nocht being inducet be my Lord Justice, bot at the pannellis desyre, producet the Depositiones, quhairvpon the Dittay is foundit; quhilk he vffis, at this tyme, for verifeing thair of; vnder Protestatioun, that this be na preparatiue in this Judgement,⁵ at ony tyme heir-estir: And thairvponne askit instrumentis; and that this is the only Depositionne that he vffis at this tyme. Quhairvponne the pannell also askit instrumentis.—My lord Aduocat allegit that the Depositionn producet, man⁶ mak full

¹ Obliterated.

² Punished with death. L. B. justificare.

³ Separate or distinct.

⁴ Contradictory.

⁵ That this be no precedent in this Court.

⁶ Must.

fayth, and is valid, of the law, nochtwithftanding of the Reuocatioun maid and ingroffit yifterday in proces, be the defender; becaus na Depofitioun is revo- cable, of the Law, quhilkis ar maid voluntarlie, in prefens of thame that hes power to examine the pairtie, without ony tortour or feir of tortour. And trew it is, that this Depofitioune producet, was maid lauchfullie and voluntarlie, and thairfoir is nocht reuocable. Julius Clarus, L. quinto, § finali, questione 55, etq. 65, verfaculo, fed quero: And in refpect thairof, defyres the reuocatioune producet to be reiectit, and the proteftatioun refuifet.

It is allegit, that the pannell can nocht be put to knowlege of ane Affyfe for hir intromiffioun and melling with the perles and jowellis lybellit; becaus it is fet down and confest in the Depofitioun producet be my lord Aduocat, that the faidis jowellis and perles war gevin be the Quenis Maieftie to the defender, for the vfe thairin contenit; quhilk vfe was accomplifchet and perfyttit to hir Maiefteis contentment; and as to the refidu, the defender, fupponing that hir Maieftie fould nevir re-demand the famyn, fcho difponit thairupoun, quhilk can nawayis be comptit nor eftemit ane cryme of Thift, of the Law: firft, becaus the faidis jowellis and perles cam, fra the begyning, lauchfullie to the defenderis poffeffioun, and fua fcho could nevir commit Thift, be difponing thairupoun. Lege, qui vas, § qui voluntate, ff. de furtis, &c. Lege, qui re ff. de cod. titulo, qui re fibi commodata vel apud fe depofita, r fus est non committit, ffurtum, precipue fi putauit dominum confensuram; ut Cuiacius, ad Legem, fi furem, ff. de pro emptore non omnis rem alienans fur dici potest, fed initium poffeffionis refpicendum est, et fi initium poffeffionis iustum fuit, furtum fieri non potest. Nixt, the Confeffioun, contenit in the Depofitioun, can nocht be ane cryme; becaus furtum non potest fieri sine affectu furandi; and the pannell had nocht affectum furandi; becaus the Depofitioun beris, fcho fupponit hir Maieftie fould nocht re-demand thame: And in this caice, that Thift can nocht be committit, of the Law it is provin; § *placuit de institutionibus, &c.*¹ And this aggreis verrie weill with the Depofitioun, quhilk, in effect, meanis that hir Maieftie had forzet² the famyn, and had thame pro derelictis; fua that the faid Depofitioun preuis the Defenderis exceptioun and everie member thairof: Quhilk Depofitioun my lord Aduocat can nawayis be hard to deuyd; feing, of the Law, vbi actus est legitimus in se, nunquam prefumitur delictum, nifi probetur. And to excufe the committer, folu negligentia fufficit credulitas, immo temeritas. Gothophredus, § placuit. Alexander, vol. iv. Phelinus, cap. sicut noxius. ac delicti extra de accusationibus. Baldus, Confilio 98, vol. v, &c.— And gifand³ that qualitie anent hir credulitie war nocht infert in hir Depofi-tiounes, yit of the law, quhair the possessioun cumis lauchfullie to ony perfonas handis, be the will of the maister, gif ony questioun arryfe anent the credulitie or opinioun of the pairtie, quhither he intervertit the possessioun animo furandi, of the law, the opinioun or credulitie is provin be the parteis ayth: This is decydit per Bartol. ad dictum 59 ‘recte,’ quhair he disputis the said matter ad longum, on baith the sydis; and concludis, in end, that the parteis ayth shuld be tane, cheiflie quhair the partie is abill to produce ony probable conjectouris or argumentis, to cleir hir mynd and intentioun; and quhair hir accuser is nocht able to produce ony probable conjectouris, to preve the contrair; and the coniectouris and presumptiones quhilk may infer malam fidem in furto, is set down in the Law, in autentica, si vero de exhibendis reis, Lege si ffurtum, ff. de Adulterijs; to wit, si per vim, si clam, si aufugit, si persona male et suspecte fame. Bot nane of thir conjectouris may be qualifeit aganis the pannell. Scho committit nather fraud nor violence: it was nocht committit be hir in the nycht; and the Depositioun beiris the perle was fauld to George Heriot, hir Maiesteis principall Joweller; and gif thair had bene ane intentioun of Thift, in the pannellis mynd, it can nocht be presumet that scho wald haif fauld the samyn to the Jowaller quhom scho knew wald schaw the samyn agane to hir Maieste: And it is constant,¹ that scho fled nocht away fra hir Maieste; bot, be the space of dyuerse yeiris thaireftir, remanit in hir Maiesteis fernice, in grit fanour and credeit: And quhat was hir estimatioun, quhither scho was repute ane pyker² or steiller or no, remittis to the conscience and notorietie of the Judges. And as thair is na suspitioun of Thift aganis hir; sa, on the vther pairt, thair is mony vehement presumptiones to mak cleir the mynd and intentioun of the pannell, quhilk is nocht necessarlie to be writtin; bot referris the samyn to the Judges.

¹ Various other clauses are here shortly, but very obscurely and hastily cited.

² Forgotten.

³ Granting, allowing for the sake of argument.

It is answerit be my lord Aduocat, that nochtwithstanding the haill incompatible memberis of the exceptioun, the Summondis standis relevant and cleirly verifeit be the Depositioun producet; first, becaus the pannell had nevir lauchfull possessioun of the guidis lybellit, seing the possessioun of the servand of the maisteris guidis, to the maisteris vse, is the maisteris possessioun; nixt, the vse pretendit be the defender, to wit, to imploy the jowallis delyuerit be hir Maieste to hir; to wit, to busk babeis,³ was nocht performet be hir, becaus thair war nocht imployit to that vse; bot be the contrair, the babeis buskit and sent, and thir Jowallis lybellit, subtractit in maner lybellit; quhairin the pannell had nevir hir Maiesteis allowance or consent; and, of the Law, converting of stuff to vther vffis nor⁴ is commandit, is Thift, Lege 88 eod. titulo et Lege 82, ffullo et sarcinator qui polienda et sarcienda vestimenta accepit, si forte his vtatur eo con-

¹ Lat. constat.
(dolls) to the Princess.

² A commiter of petty theft or pickery.

⁴ Than.

³ Deck, adorn, or dress babies

tractatione, eorum ffurtum feciffè videtur ; quia non ob eam causam ab eo videtur accepta. And quhair, the pannell wald excuse thame selfis per animum et excusationem delinquentis, that excuse is commone for all offenderis, and relevant for nane ; nather can the defender pretend simplicitie or guid intentionn, in respect of the fraud vset to caus hir Maieftie misknaw hir awin perle, be hinging it to ane dyamond, and presumptiounne to offer it to be fauld to hir Maieftieis self ; and the Confessionne producet, beiring hir vnlauchifull intromiffiounne with this perle, and converting of it to hir awin privat vfe, man be ane necessar caus of convictiounne, quia confessio probat contra confitentem, pro eo autem non probat. Glossa in cap. finali in verb. Confessio, vericulo, item, quod contra se ; et ibi post alios ; Abbas, numero 13, extra de confessis et confessio qualificatu scindi potest et pro parte rejici : Bartolus, in Lege, eum qui ff. de iurejurando. Julius Clarus, 51, finali questione 55 vericulo, possèt quoque reus ; affirmeing, that ane Confessioun, contening the Dittay, and haifing adioinit any qualitie that may releve the Defender, aucht to be ressaunt aganis the proponer ; and the qualitie adiectit can nevir be respectit, vnles it be provin. Prosper Pharinacius, questione 81, numero 127, quando quis a principio negavit delictum, et postea, vel timore probationum, vel ex quacunque alia causa, illud qualificate confessus est, tunc racione doli qui presumitur ex precedenti mendatio et negatione, talis confessio scindi potest et pro parte acceptari, pro parte impugnari. Et Boerius decisione 165 ; et Laurentius, in practica cautelarum, cap. 28, numero 7, aiunt reum si qualitatem adiectum non probaverit, condemnari debere in penam ordinariam ; quhilk is our direct caice ; seing the Depositioun producet beiris the Jowallis lybellit to haif bene hir Maieftieis, and fauld be the deponer, to hir awin privat vfe, without hir Maieftieis knowlege or consent ; and the qualitie adiectit, of hir ressaueing of thame frome hir Maieftie to busk babeis, is nather relevant ; becaus scho convertit nocht thame to that vfe, nor provin in ony way ; and thairfoir fould nocht be respectit ; speciallie, seing the deponaris Declaratioun, in hir awin fauouris, can nocht prove forder : And thairfoir, the Summondis is relevant, and is cleirlye provin be the Depositiounne.

It is ansuerit (replied), that the possessioun naturall of the perles lybellit, war in possessioun of the pannell ; and the possessioun-ciuill, quhilk hir Maieftie had, scho tynt and amittit it, be directing thame to the perticuler vfe ; quhilk perticuler vfe contenit in the Confessionne, was fulfillit to her Maieftieis contentment ; the intentionn of the partie being provin by her aith, accoirding to the Law, and assistit be probable conjectouris, is sufficient to cleir ony partie accuset, quhair the possessiounne cam lauchfullie to hir handis. The Confessioun and Depositioun maid be the pannell can nocht be devydet, bot be the contrair, the samyn previs hir exceptionne cleirlye. The lawis quhilk my lord Aduocat alledges, quhair Confessio qualificata potest scindi, is only trew, quhair Confessio facti in se est crimen, ut in Homicidio; quhilk is the exampill, in the place of Julius Clarus, citit be my lord Aduocat; sed Confessio non potest scindi, of the Law, quhair the Confessioun of the deid, without the qualitie of ffelonie, is nocht a cryme; bot is only trew in his tyme, sunt utroque jure prohibita et natura sua delicta, cap. circa delectionibus. 6 cap. si vero aliquis de sententia Excommunicationis. Bartolus ad legem, genero. ff. que notantur Infamia; et ad legem si cui § eisdem. ff. de Accusationibus; et ad legem si ex lege. ff. de Adulterijs. Baldus, Consilio 1424, vol. v. cap. estote misericordes, &c. § recte et Bartolus, ibi. The coniectouris aganis the pannell, in respect of the offer maid to the Queen, is contrair to hir Deposition, for it was nocht scho, bot George Heriot quha offerit the famyn, eftir it (wes) fauld. The Lawis allegit be my lord Aduocat, Lex fullo, &c., it is answert thay contene onlie legem Communem; and myne contenis exceptionem; and the perticuler caiffis of the Ciuill Law can nocht be obseruit with us, quia variatur pena; nam in jure pena furti est dupli apud nos capitalis.—My lord Aduocat repeatit the practikes concernig the shiphird, my lord of Menmuir grevis, and the Laird of Bonyngtones steilling of his fatheris euidentis; and protestit that he may haif ane speciall and direct answert to everie article that is proponit or writtin in the proces; speciallie anent Revocatioun, and the effect of the probatioun be this Depositione.

THE JUSTICE, with advyse of my Lordis Assessoris, findis, that in caice the pannell will nocht consent that the Reuocatioun of her Depositiones maid at Dunfermeling be deleit, that the famyn falbe Repellit; in respect of my lord Aduocatis answert maid thairto. And also, with advyse foirsaid, Repellis the foirsaidis peremptour exceptiones proponit for the pannell; and Ordanit the Summondis and Dittay to be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse, to be verifeit, as accoordis of the Law.—Quhairupoun the Aduocat askit instrumentis.

It is allegit be the pannell, that it is lauchful to hir to revoik quhatsumeur Depositionis maid be (hir) to hir preiudice: becaus the famyn war maid be hir metus causa, viz. carceris metu,—et amissionis bonorum,—et metu amissionis vite,—et reuerentia Principis,—and want of hir husband; and the Confessiounne bindis nocht the confessor, except he perseveir thairin; per legem primam, de Questionibus.—The Aduocat, for answert, repeatit the Justice and Assessoris Interlocutour. [My Lord Chancellor declairis, that he fall mak his declaratioun to the Assyse, quhan he fall be inquiryt.¹]

¹ This is partially deleted. The uncommon nature of the Crime, and the interest of these pleadings, have induced the Editor to insert the entire arguments. The real cause of the Criminal prosecution of this servant of the Queen is understood to have originated in Mrs (afterwards Lady) Buchanan's being too deeply versed in certain Court intrigues; and it was deemed necessary to get rid of her, even in the face of the most strenuous remonstrances on the part of her Majesty.

ASSISA.

Sir Johnne Prestoun of Valafeild, Harie Guidlet of Vphall, Johnne Forbes of New, James Somervell of Garidwoid, Mr Moreis Drummond of Auch- Joⁿ Scott, bailzie of Muffilburgh, Johnne Hammiltoun of the termuthill, Thomas Eplene of Newbiging, Grange of Kilmarnok, Andro Boyde, brother to Kil- Joⁿ Broune, bailzie of Muffilburgh, Mathow Bailzie of Littilgill, marnok, Dauid Dundas of Preiftinche, Johnne Corbet of Ardbo, Ro^t Logie, bailzie of Quenis-ferie, James Hammiltoun of Garene.¹

The Aduocat repetis the Depositionu produceit, and my Lord Justice Interloquoutour, findand the haill Dittay relevant: And in respect thairof, and of hir becoming in will, in hir Depositiones, protestis for Wilfull Errorr.

VERDICT. THE said perfonas of ASSYSE, be the mouth of the said Dauid Dundas, chancellor, all in ane voce, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said Margaret Hertfyde to be ffylit, culpable and convict of the vnlawfull and vndewtifull substracting and detening frome our fouerane lordis darrest spous, the Quenis Maieftie, furth of his hienes Palices of in England, at the leift furth of ane or vther of the saidis Palices, of ane perle, of the valour of ane hundreth and ten pund sterling; togidder with dynerfe vtheris perles, precious stanes, jowellis and goldfmyth wark, lykways pertening to hir Maieftie, worth the fowme of thre hundreth pund sterling, or thairby; committit be the said Margaret, in the monethis of, the yeiris of God I^m.Vj^c. thre, fax hundreth foure, fax hundreth fyve, fax hundreth fax and I^m.Vj^c. and fewin yeiris, at the leift in ane or vther of the saidis monethis and yeiris: Lyk as, the saidis perfonas of Assyfe, be the mouth of the said Chancellor, for the maist pairt, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said Margaret Hartfyde to be Clanget of the steilling of the said perle, togidder with the remanent perles, precious stanes, jowallis and goldfmyth wark foirfaid. In witnefs quhairof, the chancellor of the said Assyfe hes subferyuit the said deluyerance, with his hand.

(Sic subferibitur)

DAUID DUNDASS.

[Apud Lynlythgow, Aug. 10, 1608. Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

DOME contrair Margaret Hairtfyde.

Aug. 10.—The quhilk day, Margaret Heartfyde and Johnne Buchannane² hir spous, for his entreis allenerlie, being presentit vpone pannell, to heir his Maiefteis will and plesour declairit aganis hir, as scho that was convict be ane Assyfe, in ane Court of Justiciarie, haldin in the tolbuith of Lynlythgow, the first day of Junij lastbypast, &c. Compeirit Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnie, knycht, and producet his Maiefteis Precept and Warrant, quhilk the Justice caufit to be publictly red; quhairof the tennour followis.

JAMES R.

JUSTICE GENERALL, Justice Clerk, Clark and your deputis, We greit you weill. QUHAIR AS, Margaret Hairtfyde was, vpone hir awin Confessioun, convicted for pe vnlauchfull and vndewtiefull abstracting and detening of certane jowellis belonging to our darrest bedfellow THE QUENE, and pairpoun remittit to prissone, till our further plesour sould be declairit concerning hir: We haif thocht guid, be this presentis, to signife our said plesour to you; quhich is, that ye fall, with all convenient expedition, cause affix and fens³ ane ordinaire Justice Court, at our burgh of Lynlythgow; and pair, (scho and hir husband, for his entreis, being present,) it be declairit, that howfoenir the Allyfe acquit hir of the cryme of Thift, zit, in regaird that, vpon hir awin Confessioun, scho was fund giltie, as is afoirsaid; in that respect, We accopt hir fact alse infamous, as gif it had bene done be direct felth: And that, fecing pair can be no difference betwene the vnlawfull meddling with any thing belonging to the Quene, our darrest bedfellow, hir persone, and our awin, and lykwayis that pe exampill is most pernitions, and alluterlie intollerable, that any face or cullour fould be pute vpon pe coofening or abstracting frome aper of ws any pairt of our jowellis or moveabillis, by such as ar in trust, or haif pe keping of thame, We most conclude, that scho hes delt so dithonestlie heirin, as We account her als worthie to be repute and declaired INFAMOUS,¹ (lyk as, it is our plesour that ze declair hir to be so) as gif scho had bene directlie convict of Thift: ze fall lykwayis declair, that it is our plesour, that scho fall with all expeditionn repay, out of the reddiest of hir and hir husbandis guidis, to Henrie Wardlaw, Chalmerlane to our darrest bedfellow the Quene, of hir Lordschip of Dunfermeling, the liquidat valew of theafe jewallis, contenit in hir proces, to be convertit to suche vse as our said darrest bedfellow fall think convenient: And lastlie, ze fall declair, that it is our plesour, that hir persone fall be, for hir said dithonest offence, confynit to pe YLES OF ORKNAY; thair to remane, and nocht exceid the boundis pairof, induring hir lyfytyme; vnder all hiest pane and charge: QUHICH Dome being pronuncet, ze fall cause hir be sasse convoyit bak to our Castell of Blaknes, pair to remane in fure firmance, till scho find guid and sufficient cautionn, alswell for payment of the said sowme, contenit in hir proces, within fyftene dayis nixt eftir scho salbe charget for the same, as also for entrie of hir persone, in the place of hir confining, within fourtie dayis nixt eftir scho fall be fred out of our Castell of Blaknes: FOR Dome and performeing of everie of pe which premisses, theafe presentis fall be vnto zow ane sufficient Warrant. GEVIN at our Mannour of THEOBALDIS, pe tuentie day of July, 1608.

¹ ' Sir James Sandilandis of Slamanno' is deleted from the roll of Assise. ² ' John Buchanan and his wyffe, Margaret Hartesyde, that had layn longe in prissone heire, for the allegeit stealing some of the Queins Jewells (but the Courtiers talked, that it was for renelling some of the Queins secretts to the King, wich a wyse chalumbrmaide wold not haue done,) was, by ane sentence, condemned to perpetnall exyle, in the Iylandes of Orknay, and declared to be ane infamous persone, in Aguste this yeir' (1608.)—Sir J. Balfour's Annals, II. 26. ³ Fence, hold.

Accoirding to the quhilk Warrant, the said Justice-depute, be the mouth of Henrie Wilfoun, dempster of Court, Declairit the said Margaret Hairtfyde to be INFAMOUS; And lykwayis declairit and decernit the said Margaret to repay, with all expeditioun, out of the reddiest of hir and hir husbandis guidis, to Henrie Wardlaw, Chalmerlane to our foueraue lordis darrest bedfellow the Quene, of her lordschip of Dunfermeling, the sowme of foure hundreth pund Sterling money, extending, in Scottis money, to the sowme of foure thousand and aucht hundreth li., as the liquidat valew of thois Jowellis, contenit in hir proces, to be convertit to sic vse as hir Maiestie fall think convenient: And lastlie, decernit and ordanit that hir persone fall be, for hir said dithonest offence, confinet to the Iles of Orknay, thairin to remane and nocht exceid the boundis thairof, induring hir lyfytyme; vnder all hiest pane and charge. Quhilk was pronuncet for Dome, &c.

Mr Johnne Dalzell, burges of Edinburgh, become cautionn and fouertie for the saidis Margaret and hir spous, for his entreis; and they all, conjunctlie and feuerallie, Band and obleist thame to pay and delyuer to the said Henrie Wardlaw the said sowme; and that within fyftene dayis nixt eftir thay be charget to that effect. And sicklyk, the said Mr Johnne Dalzell become buudin and obleist, as cautioner and fouertie for the said Margaret, that scho fall entir hir persone in the place foirsaid of hir confining, within fourtie dayis eftir the dait of thir presentis, (the morne, viz. the ellevint day of August instant, being comptit for the first day,) vnder the pane of Ten thousand merkis Scottis money, &c.

¹ (On the margin.) 'Thir wordis of Infamie is ordanit to be deletit, conforme to his Maiesteis expres Warrant, insert in the Register of Adionall, pe xv of December, 1619.'

JAMES R.

JUSTICE GENERALL, Justice Clark and your deputtis, We greit you weill. Quhair as, our trustie and loyall fernitrix MARGARET HEARTSYDE, the spons of Sir Johnne Buchannane, kny^t, was, by the finisterous informatioun of certane hir vnfreindis for the tyme, persewit criminallie befor you; and being put to ane Affyse, was Acquitt and absolt of that speciall point of hir Indytement, which of the Law sustenit the samyn to be relevant to be tryit and cognosct be thame, and onlie was fund gilty of certaine adminicles insert in hir Dittay, for qualificatioun of hir alledget cryme. Vpon the whilk convictioun, doome and sentence, accordring to our Warrant and Declaratioun pairtill, in ane Justice Court, haldin be you, within our tolbathe of Lynlythgow, vpon the tent of August, 1608, was gevin out aganist hir, Declairing hir to be Infamous. Quhill doome and sentence being maist humlie and with grit patience and modestie imbracet and vnderlyne be hir, and hir behauiour continuallye sensyne being verrie deutfull. THAIRFORE, and that the foirsaid Doome gevin out aganist hir may nocht be a precedent, nor haif force heiristir, It is our gracious Will and plesour, that the foirsaid Declaratioun of the said Margaret Heartsyde to be INFAMOUS, insert in hir proces, be haldin as deleit furth thair of; and on naways to be extractit or gevin out to ony persone or persoues, in tyme cuming; bot that this our Warrant and Declaratioun be insert in our Registeris of Adiornall, for reponing of hir to hir fame, aganist the samyn Sentence; Whilk We command you to be done. Sua, nothing douting of your cair and reddines heirintill, We bid you hairtie fairweill. ffrome our Courte, at Roystoun, the fyftenth day of Nouember, 1619.

Slaughter.

JUN. 21.—MR ALEXANDER INNES, sumtyme Minister at Birnay.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Agnes Leslie, relict of vmq^{le} Douglas, proveist of Elgyn, and of vmq^{le} Williame Hay, father-brother to Williame Hay of Mayne; committit vpon set purpois, prouisioun and foirthocht felony.

James Hay younger of Mayne, as neir kynsman to vmq^{le} Williame Hay, his guidsehires brother, and Alexander Bischope of Murray, as sone to vmq^{le} Agnes Leslie, producet our fouerane lordis Letteris, deulie execute and indorsat at thair instance aganis Andro Meldrum, callit of Dumbrek,¹ as cautioner and fouertie for the entrie of Mr Alexander Innes, &c. and offerit thame felfis reddie to persew.

THE Justice ordanit the said Andro to be vnlawit in the pane of tua hundreth merkis, becaus the said Mr Alexander Innes was at the horne of befor, and fugitiue for the saidis crymes: And siclyk, ordanit the said Mr Alexander, for his nocht compeirance, to be denuncit rebell and put to the horne; and all his moveable guidis to be escheit, &c.

[Mr Alexander Coluill, Justice-Depute.]

Treason, &c.

JUN. 22.—JOHNE LORD MAXWALL.

Mr Williame Broun, ane of the clerkis in his Hienes Thesaurarie, producet our fouerane lordis Letteris, deulie execute and indorsate, vpon Johnne Lord

¹ ' Brother-germane to vmq^{le} Meldrum, sumtyme of Dumbrek.'

Maxwall; be the quhilkis he hes past to the horne, for dyuerse tressonable crymes contenit thairin; and thairupoun askit instrumentis.¹

Slaughter.

JUN. 29.—SIR ROBERT GORDOUN of Lochinvar, knycht.

Dilaitit of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} James Gordoun, his padge.²

The Aduocat producet the Letteris raisit at his lordschipis instance, deulie execute and indorsate vpon the said Sir Robert, Johnne Gordoun of Airdis and Johnne Gordoun of Collindach, cautioneris, coniunctlie and feuerallie, for the entrie of the said Sir Robert, to vnderly the Law, for the crymes contenit in the Letteris.—Compeirit Mr Williame Oliphant, Mr Johnne Ruffell, and Mr Alexander King, Aduocattis, as procuratoris for Johnne Gordoun of zelstoun and Johnne Gordoun of Collindach, be thair Letteris of procuratorie Producet; and declairit na proces aganis thame, in respect of the Proclamatioune; and thairfoir, can nocht be vnlawit.—It is anfuert be my lord Aduocat, that thair excufe can nocht be ressaunt, becaufe thair ar nocht charget for thair awin personall compeirance, bot to enter the Laird of Lochinvar; quhilk lauchfullie mycht be done, thay being absent. Secundo, the Raid has nocht as yit tane effect, and the cautioneris and principall pairtie ar yit in thir pairtis.—It is anfuert be the procuratoris for the cautioneris, excusatorio nomine, that thair ar nocht obleift to attend at Edinburgh vpon the Leutenent, bot only at Hay, conforme to the Proclamatioun, as place appointit vpon the viij day of July, to pas fordward to the Raid; and thairfoir the Justice, in respect of the Proclamatioun, can nocht vnlaw the cautioneris.

THE Justice continewis his Interlocutour, vpon the saidis allegeances, to Setterday nixt, the secund of July.

JUL. 2.—Compeirit Johnne Belscheillis (Belches), aduocat, as procuratour for Sir Robert Gordoun of Lochinvar, knycht, and his cautioneris, and producet ane Warrant of the Counsell, subferyuit be my lord Chancellor and my Lord of Dumbar, for deserting of this dyet: quhair of the tennour followis.

JUSTICE, Justice Clerk and 3our deputis, it is his Maiesteis Will and pleasour, that 3e defert pe dyet appointit for tryell of Sir Robert Gordoun of Lochinvar, knycht, for pe Slauchter of his padge: Ordinand alwayis the cautioneris, fand of befor for his entrie, vpon xv dayis warning, befor 3ow, to vnderly the law for the said Slauchter, to stand. Quhairanent pir presentis fall be 3our Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, AT EDINBURGH, the second day of July, 1608.

(Sic subferibitur) AL. CANCELL. DUMBAR.

The quhilk dyet the Justice desertit; and ordanit the cautioneris to remaine caution, as of befor. Quhairupoun Johnne Belsches askit instrumentis.

¹ See the Trials and proceedings against this remarkable person, and the Account of the singular escape of Lord Maxwell and Sir James Maconeill from the Castle of Edinburgh, &c. in a future Part of this Collection.

² Page.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Resisting the King's Guard — Treasonable Slaughter, &c.

Jul. 14.—NINIANE ELLOTE, sone to Williame Ellote of Fiddeltoun, Williame Ellote, sone to vmqle Johnne Ellote of Burnegraues.¹

Dilaitit, accuset and persewit in the proud and contemptuous Refisting of his Maiesteis Guaird, and remanent crymes contenit in the Dittay following, viz.

FORSAMEKILL as, the saidis Niniane and Williame, being fugitiue fra dyuerse Justice Courtis, haldin be his hienes Commissionis, at Jedburgh and Dumfreis, for cowmone Thift, cowmone resset of thift, outputing and inputting of thift, and for dyuerse perticuler Thiftis, Murthouris, Slauchteris and Oppressionis; as the Dittayis and actis, gevin out thairpoun, at lenth beiris: ffor the quhillis crymis, thay reteirit thame self out of thair awin cuntrie, to the West cuntrie, to seruice, quhair thay remanit thir dyuerse yeiris bygane; quhill that laitlie, the Lordis of his Maiesteis Counfall, vnderstanding quhair thair wer, directit Sir Robert Hepburne of Alderftoun, knycht, Lieutenant to his Maiesteis Gaird, to tak and apprehend thame: Quha, vpon the tuelf day of July instant, accompaneit with vmq^{le} Williame Bailzie and dyuerse vtheris of the Gaird, come to the oistler-hous² vpon the Laird of Watterheidis landis, quhair the saidis persones had reteirit thame selfis vnto, for the tyme: And haifing, in peceable maner, requyret thame to rander thame selfis to him and his companie, as haifing Commiffioun of the Lordis of Counfall to that effect: Nochtwithstanding quhair of, the said Niniane and Williame Ellotes, the said day, maist prouddie and contemptioulie resistit the said Commiffioun, and in grit contempt of our fouerane lordis auctorite, schot furth of the said hous at the said Lieutenant and his companie, his hienes Commissionis in that pairt, and Gaird, to the number of tuentie schot of Hagbutis and Pistolettis; and thairwith schot and slew the said vmq^{le} Williame Bailzie, being ane of his Maiesteis Gaird; and nawayis wald rander thame selfis, nor cum furth of the said hous, quhill, accoirding to the said Commiffioun,³ flyre was raifit thairaboutis: Quhairthrow, to thair former wrangis and oppressionis, hes conioynet haynous and crewall Slauchter with hagbuttis, and proud contempt of his Maiesteis auctoritie: And thay and ather of thame ar airt and pairt of the said crewall and presumptuous Slauchter, and of beiring, weiring, schuiting of pistolettis and hagbutis, and slaying the said vmq^{le} Williame Bailzie thairwith; committit in maner and at the time foirsaid; in hie and proud contempt of his Maiesteis auctoritie and lawis.

ASSISA.

. . . Carutheris of Howmaynes, Robert Power, burges of Ed^r, James Cranftoun, indueller in Ed^r, Geo. Hereis, sumtyme of Essie, Thomas Hill, ane of the Gaird, Thomas Smyth, burges of Ed^r, Johnne Trumbill, ane of the Gaird, Johnne Leyis, burges of Ed^r, Johane Mafoun, burges thair, Thomas Moffett, wryter, James Haitlie, ane of the Gaird, Robert Cryttie, burges thair, Tho^s Mow, b^r to the Laird of Mow, George Smyth, burges of Ed^r, R^t Stewart, bailzie of Lynlythgow.

The Aduocat protestis for Wilfull Errorr, in cais thay Acquit. And atkit instrumentis of the Leutenentis Declaratioune to the Assyse, concerning the Commiffioun gevin be the Counfall; and of the forme and maner, how the pannell resistit him and his companie, in the executioun thair of.

VERDICT. The Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouth of the said Carutheris of Howmaynes, chancellor, ffand, pronuuet and declairit the said Niniane and

¹ They are, in another place, described thus,—'Niniane Ellote, sone to vmq^{le} Jok of Burgranes; Williame Ellote, sone to Will of Fiddeltoun.'
² Hostler-house. Old Fr. hostellerie.
³ A Commission, containing warrant of 'fire and sword.'

Williame Ellottis to be ffylet, culpabill and convict of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Williame Bailzie, and of beiring, weiring and schuiting of hagbutis and pistolettis, and of the contemptuous resisting of his Maiesteis Gaird, in maner specifeit in the said Dittay.—SENTENCE. For the quhilk cause, the said Justice-depute, be the mouth of Johnne Cheillie, dempster of Court, decernit and ordanit the saidis Niniane and Williame to be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburghe: and first, thair richt handis to be strukin af thame, as culpable and convict of the beiring, weiring and schuiting of hagbutis and pistolettis, contrair to the Actis of Parliament; and thaireftir, to be hangit vpon ane gibbet, quhill thay be deid: And all thair moveabill guidis to be escheit and inbrocht to his Maiesteis vse, as convict of the Slauchter and remanent crymes aboue writtin: Quhilk was pronuncet for dome.

[Mr Williame Hairt of Prestoun and Mr Alexander Colwill, Justices-Deputes.]

Treasonable Murder, &c.

Jul. 15.—JOHNNE MURE elder (and James Mure Y^r) of Auchindrane.¹

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the tressonabill Murthour and Slauchter of vmq^{le} Sir Thomas Kenydie of Culzeane, knycht, and Williame Caldwell (Dalrymple?)

PERSEWAR, Mr Robert Fonlis, aduocat, substitute to our fouerane lordis Aduocat.

COMPEIRIT Gilbert Rofs, Proveist of the Colledge Kirk of Mayboill, feruitour to my Lord of Cassillis, and producet our fouerane Lordis Letteris, deulie execute and indorfate, the ane purchest be my Lord of Cassillis and his hienes Aduocat, for his Maiesteis entreis, aganis the Lairdis of Auchindrane elder and younger; and the vther Letter aganis the Lairdis of Bombie, Caldwell, and Young Langschaw, as cautioneris for the said James Mure younger of Auchindrane, for his entrie this day and place.

The Aduocat producet the Counfalls Warrant, direct to the Justice, for continuatioune of this dyet to the xxij day of November nixt; quhair of the tenour followis.

MY LORDIS OF SECREIT COUNSALL, vnto your lordshippis humlie meanis and schawis I, JOHNNE ERLE OF CASSILLIS, that quhair I haif raisit criminall Letteris aganis Johnne Mure of Auchindrane and James Mure his sone, for pair compeirance befor pe Justice or his deputis, vpon the xv day of July instant, to vnderly the Law, for pe Slauchter of vmq^{le} pe Laird of Culzeane and Murthour of Williame Dalrympill, and hes causit summond ane Assyse to pat effect; bot in this meane tyme, pis expeditioun for pe Ilis hes interuenit, sua that naper may I compeir, to concur with his Maiesteis Aduocat in pis persute, nor 3it may the perones summond vpon pe Assyse compeir, bot ar vpon pair preparatione for pat seruice: And sua, seing pat pis delay proceedis nocht vpon ony ocaasioun of myne, bot vpon necessitie of his Maiesteis seruice, I maist humlie besek your Lordshippis to gif command to pe Justice, (Justice) Clark and pair deputis, to continew pe said dyet to sum certane dyet, eftir pis seruice in pe Yles. And becaus pe cryme laid to pair charge is tressonabill, that the said Jus-

¹ See Jun. 23, 1602, Nov. 23, 1608, Jul. 1611, &c.

Justice Clerk cause commit þe saidis perfonis to waird, in the Tolbuith of Edinburghe, þairin to remane, vpon þair awin expensis, ay and quhill þe nixt dyet, to be appoyntit be 3our lordschipis. And 3our lordschipis anfuere humlie I befeik.—[Followis the Lordis delyuerance.]—APUD EDINBURGHE, xiiij July, 1608. THE Lordis of Secreit Counfall, Ordanis and commandis þe Justice, Justice Clerk and þair Deputis to continew þis dyet within writtin, to þe xxij day of November nixtocum : And to returne Auld Auchindrane bak agane to his waird, within the Tolbuith of þis burch of Edinburghe : And to caus 3oung Auchindrane caus his former cautioneris consent, of new, to enter him befor the Justice, þe soirsaid day, vnder the pane contenit in the former Act ; and failzieing þairof, that he find als sufficient caution, to þe contentment of þe Counfell, for þe same effect ; and in þe meane tyme, quhill þis caution be fund, þat he caus 3oung Auchindrane be committit to waird, within þe Tolbuith of Edinburghe. (Sic subscribitur) AL. CANCELL^r.

Mr Johnne Russell, prelocutour for Auld Auchindrane, and Auchindrane him self, Offeris him self to the tryell of the Law, for the crymes contenit in the Letteris ; difafenting to all continuatioune : And as to the Warrant product, the samyn aucht nocht to be respectit, in respect it is purchest only be the pairtie. Compeirit Mr Johnne Russell, as prelocutour for the Lairdis of Bombie, Caldwell and Young Langschaw, and allegit that thai can nocht enter James Mure, younger of Auchindrane, in respect of the Proclamatioune.—It is anfuereit be the Aduocat, for Auld Auchindrane, that, in respect of the Proclamatioune, the dyet man continew, conforme to the Counfellis Warrant : And as concerning Young Auchindrane, the cautioneris aucht to present him, or vtherways incur the vnlaw.

THE JUSTICE Ordanis the Auld Laird of Auchindrane to be committit to waird, conforme to the Counfallis Warrant. Quhairupoun the Aduocat askit instrumentis. And as concerning Young Auchindrane and his cautioneris, continewis this dyet, in the same forme, force and effect as it is now, to the xxij day of November nixtocum : and ordanis the cautioneris that day, to exhibeit the Young Laird of Auchindrane, vnder the panes contenit in the former Act : And Ordanis Letteris, gif neid beis, to be grantit to the pairtie perfewar, for chargeing of the saidis cautioneris to enter him the said day.

Quhairupoun the said Gilbert Rofs askit instrumentis.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Cattle-stealing — Murder — Shooting of Pistolets, &c.

Aug. 12.—JAMES HAMMILTOUN of Spittelscheill.

Dilaitit, accuset and perfewit, be James Lord of Balmirrenoche, President of the College of Justice, and Sir Thomas Hammiltoun, knyght, for his hienes interes, of the crymes following, viz.

FOR airt and part of the thiftious steilling, conceling, resseting and away-taking of thre oxin and ane kow furth of the landis of Mulroun, pertening to the said James Lord of Balmirrenoche ; committit in the moneth of August, or thairby, the yeir of God 1^m.Vj^c. and sax yeiris. ITEM, for airt and part of the thiftious resseting of ffyve oxin, within his landis of Spittelscheill, quhilk pertenit to Williame Flint in Breichmilne, and wer thiftioufflie stollin furth of the laudis of Breichmyll, in the moneth of September laftbypaft. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thiftious Steilling, concealing, reffetting and away-taking of tuell hydys furth of ane barkhoill,¹ fra Cordiner, befyde Lauchop, committit in the moneth of . . . Im.Vj^c. . . yeiris. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the crewall Murthour of vmq^{le} George Tuedie, within the faid James Hammiltounis barne, in Spittelfcheill: committit vpoun Sanct Leonardis ewin laftwas. ITEM, for contravening of oure fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in beiring, weiring and fehuitting of piftolettis; and specialie, for fehuitting ane piftolett att . . . Lokart of Ley, in the taking of yow; committit in the moneth of July laftbypaft. ITEM, ffor commoun Thift, commoun Reffett of thift, inputting and outputting of thift, fra land to land, fra countrey to countrey.

ASSISA.

Mr Patrik Lyndfay, indueller in Ed^r, Mr Johnne Methven of Barnfeild, James Bailzie of Hillis, Johnne Weir, feruand to my lord Angus, Sir Robert Scott of Thirlftane.²

VERDICT. The Affyfe, be the mouth of the faid Johnne Weir, chancellor, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the faid James Hammiltoun to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the haill crymes and poyntis of Dittay.—SENTENCE. To be tane to the Caftel-hill of Edinburghe, and thair his heid to be ftrikin fra his body; and all his landis, heritageis, takis, &c. to be fforfaltit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vfe, as convict of the faidis crymes. Quhilk wes gewin for dome.

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE, tenta in Pretorio burgi de Ed^r per Magifros Olivarium Colt juniorem et Dauidem Prymrois, Aduocatos, Juficiarios Deputatos, per Commiffionem Dominorum Secreti Confilij.]

Slaughter.

Sep. 29.—WILLIAME NISBET in Newtoneleyis.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Gilbert Wauchope in Goddifcroft; committit be him and vmq^{le} Thomas Richiefoune in Cokburnefpethfcheillis, in the moneth of Auguft laftbypaft.

Compeirit Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnie, knycht, aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hienes entreis, and producet ane Commiffioun, grantit be the Lordis of Secretit Counfall; quhair of the tennour followis.

MY LORDIS of Secretit Counfall, vnto 3our Lordfchipsis huimlie menis² and fehawis 3our lordfchipsis pur oratrice, Marioun Heiflop, the relict of vmq^{le} Gylbert Wauchop in Goddifcroft, Williame Wauchope of Stoddinleuch, broper to pe faid vmq^{le} Gylbert. That quhair, vpone pe . . . day of . . . , being ane Sondag, the faid vmq^{le} Gylbert wes crewallie and fchamefullie Mordreift, vnder fylence and cloud of nycht, haifing naper fwird, quhingar nor na vper kynd of wapponis to defend him felff, be Williame Nibbett in Newtounleis and his compliceis, vpon deliberat purpois and foirthocht felonie: Lykeas, the faid Williame being, be his Maieftis Gaird, tane and apprehendit, with reid-hand, within xxiiij houris eftir pe deceis of pe faid vmq^{le} Gylbert, was, be 3our lordfchipsis ordinance, putt to libertie; he finding caution that he fould compeir pis day, befoir pe Justice, and vnderly pe law for pe faid crewall Murthour: To pe quhilk he wes ofbefoir fummond, and pat vnder pe payne of thre thowfand merkis, the ane haif pairof to his Maieftie and pe vper half to pe partie grewit; quha, conforme to 3our lordfchipsis faid ordinance, fand caution to pat effect: And We, being now maift willing to follow out the ordour of law aganis the faid Williame, and to pat effect hes fummond ane fufficient number of honeft men for ane Affyfe, the faid Williame and his faid cautioneris, taking occafion of his Maieftis Justice abfence furth of pe realme, labouris, be all meanis poffible, contrair to all law and reaſoun, to elude the courſe and ordour of Juſtice, and to haif aper the ſaid dyett deſert, that he and his cautioneris may be fred of your lordſchipis ordinance, and fruſtrat ws of all the effect of our juſt perſuit ; or the mater to be continewit, to wearie bayth the perſewaris and þe Aſſyſe, except your Lordſchipis, quha ſufferit him to be fred vpoun caution, haifing committit ſo haynous and recent Murthour, provyde remeid, be your lordſchipis Act and ordinance, be eſtableiffing, in abſence of þe Juſtice ordiner, ſum vper Judge, be Commiſſioun, for miniſtrating juſtice in þe ſaid caus and perſute, or be vper convenient ordour, as beſt pleiffis your lordſchipis. HEIRFOIR We moſt humblie beſeik your honorable lordſchipis, quha is the only mantenaris of juſtice and chaſtiezaris of ſic haynous enormeteis withiñ þis land, in his Maieſteis abſence, to conſtitute certane Judge or Judgeis, be Commiſſioun, coniunctie and feuerallie, viz. Mr Olipher Colt, younger, Mr James Sandielandis, Mr Dauid Prymroſe, to hauld Juſtice Court and miniſtrat Juſtice in þe ſaid perſute, that throw inlaik thair of the cours of law and juſtice may nocht be eludit and fruſtrat ; and We that hes our blude ſpilt and tane, be nocht diſappointit of þe ordiner cours of Law and juſtice, and your lordſchipis ordinance of finding of Caution be nocht ineffectuall. According to Juſtice ; and your lordſchipis anſuer maiſt humblie we beſeik.

¹ Tan-pit.

² The remainder of the Assise, burgeses.

³ Complains; literally, moans.

[Sic deliberatur.] APUD ED^R, xxix Septembris, 1608.—FLAT Commiſſio vt petitur. And the Lordis Ordanis the Judgeis within writtin, to hauld Court this day, in þe mater within writtin.

(Sic ſubſcribitur) AL. CANCELLARIUS. LOWTHIANE. ABIRCORNE. JO. PRESTONE.

[Sic notatur infra.] APUD ED^R, xxix Septembris, 1608.—The quhilk day, in preſens of the lordis of Secreit Counſall, compeirit, perſonallie, Mr Olipher Colt, younger, and Mr Dauid Prymroſe, Aduocattis, and gair thair aith for doing of Juſtice, faithfullie and vprychtlye, in the mater within writtin ; as thay will anſuer to God.

J. PRYMROSE.¹

Philp Niſbet of that Ilk and George Lyell, ſfiar of Stanypeth, vilawit in the panes of tua thowſeand pundis, for nocht entrie of the ſaid Williame, &c.

Williame Niſbet ordanit to be denuncet his hienes rebell, &c.

[Mr Alexander Coluill, Juſtice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

NOV. 9.—ALEXANDER TULLOCHIE, appeirand of Tannacheis, &c.

Johne Dumbar of Moynes, cautioner for repoirting of the Letteris, purcheft at the inſtance of Normand Torrie and remanent bairnes² of vinq^{le} James Torrie, ſumtyme in Logiehauch, aganis Alexander Tulloche, appeirand of Tannacheis, James Tulloche, his brother, Williame Cuik, in Forreſs, Rorie M^ccoilziechar-char, alias Rorie Buſſache, in Mordant, and Donald M^clauchlane thair, that thai ſould compeir befor the Juſtice or his depute this day and place, in the hour of caus, to haif vnderlyne the Law, for the Slaughtre of the ſaid vinq^{le} James Torrie and vinq^{le} Agnes Douglas, his ſpouſe, &c.

Compeirit Mr Johnne Dempſter, Aduocat, as procuratour for Johnne Dumbar, quha become cautioner for repoirting of the ſaidis Letteris ; and allegit, that, nochtwithſtanding of the nocht repoirting of the ſaidis Letteris, deulie execute and indorfat, this day and place, conforme to the Act, that the ſaid Johnne Dumbar, as cautioner, fould nocht be vnlawit ; becaus it is of veritie, that the saidis Letteris, being delyuerit to James Dunbar, Messinger (at arms), to haif charget the defenderis thairin contenit, to haif fund cautioune to haif vnderlyue the Law for the crymes thairin contenit, the fyftene dayis being bypast, within the quhilk the Defenderis fould haif fund cautioun ; Alexander Tulloch, one of the principall defenderis, being joynit in marriage with Iffobell Dunbar, mother to Alexander Dunbar, scheref of Murray, and principall of the cuntrie quhair he duellis, conpyret malicioufflie, with the said Schereff, and instigat him to tak and apprehend the said Messinger, be force, put him in waird, and thairby to preuene that he had na power to denunce the said Alexander and his complices to the horne, for nocht finding of the said Cautioun, quhairby the saidis Letteris mycht haif bene formerlie repointit, deulie execute and indorsate to this day : Quhilk Scheref of Murray, vpon the sevint of October last, eftir the charge gevin to the saidis defenderis, be infligatioune foirsaid, barbaruslie maid eruptioun in Patrik Dunbaris hous, in Gowfurd, quhair the said Messinger was for the tyme ; entering within the said hous, accompaneit with the said Alexander Tulloche and certane vtheris, to the number of sevint personis, or thairby, with drawin fuordis, assailzeit the said Messinger : and eftir mony outrageous woirdis, affirmeing to tak the saidis Letteris from him, and to bereif him of his lyfe ; ffirst denudit him of his fuord, gantiletis, dager and vtheris wapponis, tuik and apprehendit him, perforce, led him captiue to the Castell of Forres, being the said Schereffis awin duelling hous, and sua carcer privatus, bot¹ ony lauchfull Warrant : In the quhilk priffon the said Messinger was detenit, maist wrangufflie ; luiking at all tymes to haif bene bereft of his lyfe, be the space of ten dayis ; and at last, be intercession of freindis, the said Scheref wald nawayis put the said Messinger to libertie, quhill² he had foret and compellit him to ryve³ our said soueraue lordis Letteris, with the executiones vpon the bak thairof, with his awin handis. Lyk as, the said Messinger, for justifeing the treuth of the said matter, hes raisit his hienes Letteris, be delyuerance of the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, for chargeing the said Scheref and Alexander Tulloche and remanent perfones, thair associattis, to ansuer to the said complent. Quhilk allegiance, the said Johnne Dunbar, cautioner foirsaid, offeris him to verifie instantlie, be productioun of the saidis Letteris, revin ; be the said Messingeris awin Declaratioun, present at the bar, with his ayth of veritie vpon the ryveing thairof, and be the saidis Letteris raisit befor the Counfall, beiring the said complent. In respect quhairof, the said cautioner fould nawayis be vnlawit : At the leift, the Justice can nawayis vnlaw the cautioner, quhill the tryell of the premisses befor the Counfall. And thairupoun, the said procuratour, in name of the said cautioner, askit instrumentis.

¹ Clerk of the Privy Council.

² Alexander, Walter and Robert.

¹ Without.² Until.³ Tear in pieces.

THE Justice ordanit the said Johnne Dumbar to be vnlawit in the panes contentit in the Actis of Parliament.¹

[Mr Alexander Coluill, Justice-Depute.]

Treasonable Murder under trust, &c.

Nov. 23.—JOHNNE MURE, elder of Auchindrane, and Johnne (James) Mure, younger of Auchindrane.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the crymes following, viz. the Auld Laird, for the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Sir Thomas Kennydie of Culzeane, knyecht, and vmq^{le} Williame Dalrumpill: And the Young Laird, for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Williame Dalrumpill.

PERSEWARIS, Sir Thomas Hammiloun of Bynnie, knyecht, Aduocat to our fonerane lord for his entreis, Johnne Erle of Caffilis, (Bessie Dalrumpill, as mother.)

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, the Laird of Caldwell, The Laird of Bombie, The Laird of Blair 5ounger, Mr Williame Oliphant, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Williame Mure of Randerfoune.

My lord Aduocat protestis that this dyet may continew, in respect of the grit disorder of this hous, this day; ² vnto the tyme the Justice tak ordour thairwith.

THE Justice continewis this dyet to the last day of November instant; and Ordanis the Laird of Auchindrane elder to be of new committit to waird within the Tolbuith of Edinburgh, and Young Auchindrane to be committit to waird within the Castell of Edinburgh, thairin to remane quhill the said day.

Nov. 30, 1608.—THE Justice, be directioun of the Counfall, continewis this dyet to the thrid day of ffebrulare nixtocum; and Ordanis the pannell to enter to thair wardis of new agane, &c.—Vnto the quilk continuation the Lairdis of Auchindrane baith disassentit; and nochtwithstanding thair of, and in respect of thair innocencie of the allegit crymes aboue writtin, offerit thame selfis to the tryall of the Law for the samyn, and thairupon askit instrumentis.

Feb. 3, 1609.³—THE Justice, be command of the Counfall, (continewis) this dyet to the aucht day of ffebrulare nixt.—(Feb. 8, 1609.) THE Justice continewis the dyet to the thrid day of May nixtocum.⁴

Slaughter.

Dec. 21.—ALEXANDER TULLOCHE, appeirand of Tannacheis, and Williom Cuik in Forres.

¹ This at first sight appears to be a very arbitrary mode of proceeding; but his recourse against the party would be reserved entire.

² The influence of these atrocious malefactors was such, that by false representations, and the incessant complaints made by them and their friends to the public, of the oppression of the Lord Advocate, in cruelly delaying their case, though he knew them to be innocent, they succeeded in raising such a popular ferment, that the Court had to be dismissed on this and perhaps on other occasions.

³ Sir Williame Hairt officiated as Justice-depute on this and the following diet.

⁴ No farther notice of proceedings before the Court of Justiciary occurs until Jul. 17, 1611.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} James Torrie in Logiehauche, and Agnes Douglas, his spous.—Continewit to the fyftene day of Junij nixt.¹

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Forcing—(Rape.)

Dec. 30.—JOHNE ERROLE, cowmone post.

Dilaitit of the filthie and detestabill cryme of the abuseing and fforceing of Jonet Craig, ane young virgane of xj yeiris of age.

PERSEWAR, Mr Robert Foullis, Adnocat, substitute to our souerane lordis Aduocat.

DITTAY against the Pannell.

JOHNE ERROLE, cowmone post, 3e ar indyttit and accuset, sforsamekill as 3e, haifing schaiken af all feir of God, reuerance to our souerane lordis lawis, or regard to ciuill honestie, as a dissolute and vyld persone, ouercum with the beistlie rage of 3our awin filthie lust, about ane half 3eir syne, or pairby, to get 3our filthie appetite quenchet, drew acquentance with Jonet Craig, dochter to vmq^{le} Andro Craig, mercheand burges of Edinburgh, ane honest manis bairne, and ane 3oung virgane, nocht past the age of elleuin 3eiris; and haifing forgadderit with hir, upone the Hie streit of this burgh, vnderstanding hir to be at the scole, maist craftillie and vnhonestlie seducet and tryffit hir to gang with 3ow to Hammiltone close-fute, quhair 3e was myndit maist barbaruslie to haif abuset hir; and pan gaif hir certane billis, with vther allureing woirdis, to gang with 3ow: And becaus, at that tyme, 3e gat nocht 3our beistlie desyre satisfet, persauing the simplicitie of the bairne, and how easlie scho might be circumvenit, 3e, a tuentie dayis syne, or thairby, estir foure houris at evin, and ringing of the Prayer-Bell, awaitit the said Jonet at the mercat croce of this burgh, and be geving to hir of apillis and vther frute, of new, agane maist craftillie seducet and intyfet hir to gang with 3ow; quha, vpone bairnlines and meir simplicitie, haifing past with 3ow to Bellis-wynd-heid, 3e tuik hir in to ane bak turnepyke, within the said wynd, and behind the 3et pairof, maist filthielie forcet pe said bairne, and did quhat in 3ow lay to haif carnall deilling with hir, and to haif bereft hir of hir virginite: At the quhilk tyme, scho haifing cryit that 3e crewallie hurt hir, 3e maist barbaruslie and crewallie, to haif 3our filthie appetite satiat, pat 3our handis vpone hir mouthe, that hir cryis sould nocht be hard, and pairby stoppit hir braith and almost suffocat hir, and had nocht fail3eit to haif filthielie defloirit hir, gif 3e had nocht bene skarrit be tua wemen at pat instant. Lyk as, 3e, perseuering in 3our former beistlie rage of lust, vpone the fevintene day of December instant, being Saterdag, at fyve houris at evin, 3e awaitit, of new agane, the said Jonet Craig at the mercate croce of this burgh, quhair scho, with vther honest menis bairnis war playing thame for pe tyme, and pair, with walnuttis, chestennes and appillis than gevin be 3ow to hir, 3e maist craftillie seducet pe said bairne to gang with 3ow; quha haifing refusit to gang with 3ow, 3e maist forceable harrillit hir down the streit with 3ow; and 3e, being demandit be dyuerse persones that met 3ow, quhair 3e was taking hir to, 3e maist dissimulatlie and falslie gaif thame ansuer, that scho had bene frome hame all that day, and pat nane of the house knew quhair scho was, and pat pairfoir 3e was taking hir hame; at the quhilk tyme, 3e tuik hir to pe said bak turnebeck in Bellis-Wynd; quhair 3e, aganis pe bairnis will, tuik vp her claithes, and maist filthielie forcet 3our self to haif ado with hir, and wald nocht pairt frome hir quhill 3e gat 3our beistlie will satisfet, and was within hir body; and scho, haifing in maist pitious maner cryit, that 3e hurt hir, 3e, as ofbefoir, pat 3our hand vpone hir mouth and held in hir braithe; quhilk is noutourlie knawin. Lyk as, 3e and pe said bairne being laitlie examinat, in prefens of pe Ministrie and Magistrattis of this burgh, 3e and scho haif confessit pe treuth of pe premissis, be 3owr Depositionis. Quhairin, 3e haif committit the maist haynous, detestabill and odious cryme of Rapt, Raveifching and Violent fforceing of the said young bairne; the lyk quhairof ancht nocht to be namet within any Cristiane kingdom subiect to a Cristiane Prince, or amang Cristiane people reulit with guid lawis.

¹ No farther notice of this case occurs on the Record. See the preceding case, Nov. 9, 1608.

The Aduocat, for verifeing of the Dittay, producet the saidis Johnne Errole and Jonet Craigis Depositionis, subfcryuit be his hand, and be certane of the Ministeris and Magistrattis of Edinburgh and Elderis of the Sessioun of the Kirk; and in respect thairof, Protestis for Wilful Errour, in caice the Assyse Acquit.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Williame Trumbill, mercheand in Edinburgh, chancellor, all in ane voce, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said Johnne Errole to be ffylet, culpable and convict of the fforceing and abusing of the said bairne, in maner, and at the perticular tymes and places aboue speceifeit and fet down in the said Dittay.—SENTENCE. For the quhilk caus, the said Justice-depute, be the mouth of Johnne Lawfone, dempfter of Court, decernit and ordanit the said Johnne Errole to be tane to the Castell-hill of this burgh; and thair to be hangit vpon ane gibbet, quhill he be deid; and all his moveabill guidis, gif he ony hes, to be efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vse, as culpable and convict of the saidis crymes; quhilk wes pronuncet for dome.

[Mr Alexander Coluill, Justice-Depute.]
Stouthreif—Hurting and Wounding.

Jan. 3, 1609.—JAMES HUNTER of Hagburne.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Steilling of ffourtie pundis furth of Robert Hogis purfe, potter in the Potter-Raw (of Edinburgh); committit in the moneth of October, I^m.V^c.lxxxviiij; and Hurting of the said Robert in his heid, and leifing him for deid, at Theyuis corse.¹

PERSEWER, Robert Hog, potter.

Continued to the air of ‘Roxbur^t, tertio Itineris (vel super premonitione) xv dierum.’

[Sir Williame Hairt of Prestoun, Justice-Depute.]
Slaughter.

Jan. 31.—ANDRO AIRMESTRANG of the Langholme, Ebbie¹ Airmestrang of Kirktonehill, James Airmestrang of Cannabie, Thomas Airmestrang callit the Mercheand, and Johnne Murray, myller in the Cruikis.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slaucher of vmq^{le} James Somervell in Eirdhouffis; committit in the moneth of PERSEWAR, Robert Somervell, fervand to the Laird of Wastraw, as neir kynfman.

PRELOCOUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Laurence M^cGill, Adame Cunninghame, (Advocates.)

¹ Thieves' Cross. ² Perhaps a clerical error for Ekkie (Hector,) a common name in the south at that time. Habbie was also a favourite name. It may, however, be a familiar abbreviation for Ebenezer, though the name was unusual among the Armstrongs, whereas Ekkie was very prevalent.

The perfewar declairis, that at the raising of thir Letteris, informatioun was gevin to him that the personis aboue writtin, presentlie enterit vponne pannell, war culpable of the Slauchter aboue specifeit; and now, senfyne, he is certanelie informet, that thai, nor name of thame, war present at the committing thair of: In respect quhair of, and that thai ar altogidder Innocent of the said cryme, he passis simpliciter fra the perfute. Quhairvpoune the saidis perfones on pannell and thair prelocoutouris askit instrumentis.

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE, f. d. n. Regis, tenta in Pretorio de ST ANDROIS, decimo Marcij 1609, per Dominum Willielmum Hairt de Prestoun, Jusficiarium deputatum principalem.]

ASSESSOURIS.

The Erll of Dumbar, ¹	The Erll of Montroife, ²	The Erll of Lowtheane, ⁵
The Collectour, ⁴	The Clark of Register, ⁵	My Lord Previe Seill, ⁶
My Lord of Wrychtislandis, ⁷	Sir Robert Meluile of Murdocarny. ⁵

Treason—Corresponding with the Pope, in the King's name.

[THE history of (Sir James Elphinston) LORD BALMERINOCHE'S TREASON has been so fully related by Spottiswood, Johnstone, Calderwood, Robertson, Laing, &c. and by Mr Wood, in his edition of Douglas's Peerage and History of the Parish of Cramond, that it only seems necessary for the Editor to supply the real facts, so far as they appear on the face of the Criminal Records; and further, by way of Appendix, to give a few authentic Letters, and other documents, which have been preserved.

Whatever may have been the real or alleged participation of this eminent Lawyer and Statesman in this Treason, it seems clear, as Laing remarks, that 'if Balmerino deceived his master, it was neither with a criminal intention, nor to a treasonable extent. But his ruin was secretly projected by Spottiswood, Dunbar, and Cecil, his implacable enemies; and, according to his own Narrative, much address and many secret intrigues were employed to persuade him, by a more ample and explicit Declaration, to exculpate the King. His life and estate were secured by promises; his offices were to remain at the King's disposal; and, on these conditions, he acknowledged that the Letter was surreptitiously obtained, when James had refused to correspond with the Romish See.' Thus, in order that he might fully exonerate the King, this unfortunate Nobleman was led into the fatal snare, and confessed more than the truth; under the full expectation, doubtless, that not only would the Royal promise of sparing his life and fortune be observed, but that he would, after a short period of retirement from the Court, be reinstated in all his lucrative and honourable offices.

It may be proper to remark, briefly, that SIR JAMES ELPHINSTON was the third son of Robert third Lord Elphinston. He was successively a Lord of Session (Lord Innernoctie), one of the Commissioners of the Treasury, called 'THE OCTAVIANS,' Secretary of State, and, Feb. 20, 1604, was ¹ Sir George Home, Lord High Treasurer of Scotland, was created Baron Home of Berwick, Jul. 7, 1604, (English Peerage,) and Earl of Dunbar, in Scotland, 3 Jul. 1605. This celebrated person was also Chancellor of Exchequer, in England. The King employed him as the chief leader in the restoration of Episcopacy in Scotland, in the Parliament at Perth, Jul. 9, 1606; for which service, and for acting as High Commissioner to the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, in a manner highly acceptable to the King, he was installed a Knight of the Garter, May 20, 1609.

² John fourth Earl of Montrose, afterwards President of the Council, married Margaret, eldest daughter of William first Earl of Gowrie. It was this nobleman who fought the remarkable combat with Sir James Sandilands, 19 Jan. 1695, at the salt-tron of Edinburgh, as recorded by Birrel. See Diary, p. 34.

³ Robert second Earl of Lothian, who, when Master of Newbottle, had been Master of Requests to King James VI. ⁴ 'Mr Johnne Prestounne of Pennycke.'

⁵ Sir John Skene of Curriehill. ⁶ Sir Richard Cockburn of Clerkington.

⁷ Sir Lewis Craig, one of the Ordinary Lords of Session. ⁸ Sir Robert M. 'of Brint Iland' is named in Reg. Mag. Sig. They were both Extraordinary Lords of Session.

created Lord Balmerinoch. In the same year he was nominated one of the Commissioners to treat for an Union with England; and on March 6, 1605, was appointed Lord President of the Court of Session. Notwithstanding of his holding, at the same time, the 'incompatible offices' of Lord President of the Court of Session and Secretary of State, (which, however, were in like manner enjoyed by his successor, Sir Thomas Hamilton, afterwards Earl of Haddington, &c.) 'yet he stemmed the secret and corrupt influence of Dunbar, on the bench, with a spirit that probably accelerated his fall.'¹

The sentence of death, as is well known, was not carried into execution. His Lordship was allowed 'Free-ward' in Falkland, and within one mile around that place. Having endured this nominal restraint for a short time, he was permitted to retire to Balmerinoch, his own estate, where he lingered about three years, and at length died, of a broken heart, A.D. 1612.

His son, John Lord Balmerinoch, was formally restored in blood, and to the dignity of the Peerage, by writ, under the Great Seal.²

Mar. 10.—JAMES LORD OF BALMIRRIENOCH.

Dilaitit of the tressonabill, fraudulent, and surreptitious procureing of ane LETTER, past be his Maieftis hand, without his hienes knowledge, direct to Pope Clement the Aucht, in the zeir of God 1598, tressonabillie adding (eftir the subscripioum of the said Letter) of the styles of 'SANCTITAS' and 'FILICUS' to the said Letter; and tressonabillie affixing his Maieftis Signet thairto; committit in the yeir of God 1598, or thairby: And tressonabill affixing Sir Eduard Drummond, in his tressonabill trafficking, for the advancement of Papist courfes, at the tyme forsaid.

DITTAY against James Lord Balmerinoch.

JAMES LORD BALMIRRIENOCH, ye ar indytit and accuset of the crymes of Leafmaieftie and Heich-Tressone following. Forfamekill as, 5e, being honouret and advancet be his Maieftie, nocht only to heich and eminent places in Sessioun and Counfall, bot also trustit with the office of Principall Secretarie to his hienes, quhairby ye war in dewtie bund, aboue all vthers, to haif bene most cairfull of his Maieftis honour and preferuatioune; nochtwithstanding quhairof, ye, preferring your awin vudewtifull and vnlawchfull privat respectis, to his Maieftis reputatioun and fastie, and being informat, in the yeir of God 1^m.V^c. four-coir aughtene yeiris, by your neir kynfman, Sir Eduard Drummond,³ [quhome ye knew to be ane professit Papist, maist ferventlie affected to the furtherance of all Papische courfes, and to haif bene ane Secretare to ane Cardinal at Rome, and thairfoir the vnfitter to haif bene maid chofe of and trustit by yow, for wryting or playing the clerkis office to his Maieftis Letteris directit that way,] that he come to this cuntrie, directit be the Bischope of Vaizon,⁴ to deall for procureing of his Maieftis Letteris of recommen-

¹ Laing's Hist. III. 57.

² See REHABILITATIO, Reg. Mag. Sig. Lib. XLVIII. No. 152, dated August 4, 1613.

³ Marjory, the second daughter of Alexander second Lord Elphinston, and paternal aunt of James, first Lord Balmerinoch, married Sir Robert Drummond of Carnock. Sir Edward was perhaps her son, and cousin german of Lord Balmerinoch. ⁴ Robertson, in History of Scotland, and Wood, in Peerage of Scotland, call him Drummond; but he was William Chisholme, 2d of the name and surname, Bishop of Vaizon, and paternal nephew of the 1st, who had, a short while after 1561, been, by Papal Brief, created Bishop of Dunblane; and on his finding it inexpedient to live in Scotland, he was appointed Bishop of Vaizon; which situation he resigned, in favour of his nephew, when he became a Carthusian Friar of Grenoble. Both of these distinguished Churchmen were younger sons of the Cromlix family, Perthshire. Sir James Chisholme of Dundurn and Cromlix, who was concerned in the Popish Plot, in 1593, seems (Balfour's Annales, II. 29) to have been brother of the younger of the Bishops of Vaizon. The Chisholmes of Cromlix had, above a century, been hereditary Baillies and Justiciaries of the Ecclesiastical Lordship of Dunblane, and had furnished three Bishops of Dunblane; James and William Chisholmes, brothers, and their nephew William Chisholme, the elder of the Bishops of Vaizon above mentioned. William Chisholme tertius, was kinsman of Sir Edward Drummond and of Lord Balmerinoch, though in what degree is unknown.—The Editor is indebted to the industry and research of the Reverend Mr MacGregor-Stirling for the information contained in the preceding Note. That learned gentleman has collected much original matter relative to the See of Dunblane, which it is hoped he may, some time, be induced to lay before the public.

datioun to Pope Clement the Aucht, for making the said Bischope ane Cardinall ; being in grit hoip that his Maieftis recommendatioun to the said place wald be ane grit furtherance to that his expected promotioun : YE, nochttheles, nocht only treffonabillie assenting to the said motioun, bot most willinglie and readelie taking vpon you to be ane assister to him in that imployment, did dyuerse tymes prease his Maieftie thairin, and did offer to his hienes the frame of suche ane Letter as ye wald haif had signed, by his Maieftie, to the Pope ; whome yow fand, nocht only vnwilling to wryte at all, bot absolutelie to condampne the motioun for correspondance with such ane persone ; who, allweill in respect of the irreconceillabill contrarietie betuix his Maieftie (in respect of his professioun in Religionn) and the Pope ; as also, for that the said Pope could nocht bot expect those tytillis and attributtis whiche his Maieftie, out of his conscience, could nocht yeild him, for any cause quhatsoever : YE, neuertheles, nocht desisting frome your vndewtiefull instance, replyit to his Maieftie, most craftillie, ‘ that quateur schew of discontentment his Maieftie vtterit against Puritanes, ye could persuaue nathing bot his Maieftie wald turne mair preceise nor any of thame ! ’ Thairby, as it war, spurring his Maieftie to inclyne to such ane politique course, which none bot foolische or preceise sottis wald refusit to imbrace : And nochtwithstanding of his Maieftis oftin and flat denyallis, and refusifallis to harken to your motioun, ye nocht only desistit nocht, (as ye aucht to haif done,) bot still resoluet to prosecute your treffonabill intent : WHEARVONE, ye conspyret with the said Eduard Drummond, vpon the meaynes how to disseue and beguyle his Maieftie, in the procureing of suche ane Letter, and did devyse and cause to be drawn vp suche ane Letter, with the said Sir Eduardis Drummond hand, as frome his Maieftie to the Pope, expressing thairin thankis for the Pope’s kyndnes and favour, in former tymes, [albeit ye knew in your conscience that his Maieftie nevir had any deilling with the Pope, nather had he euir expected, requyred, or reslaueit ony kynd of fauour frome him,] subioyning thairto ane recommendatioun of the Bischope of Vaizon to be ane Cardinall ; thairby to be the moir able to further him in all his effairis ; [nochtwithstanding that your self, best of all vtheris did vnderstand, by the most constant answeris gevin, at all tymes, by his Maieftie, to your frequent and importune persuasions in that purpos, that his Maieftie wald neuir consent to haif any dealing or correspondance with him,] and quhat forder woirdis of compliment or specious promiseis vpon his Maieftis behalf yow did insert in that Letter, [as weill appeiris yow did] by thease woirdis of that pamphlet of Tortus,¹ (quibus preter cætera) your self best knawis. AND for the better conveyance and passage of this Letter by his Maieftis hand, yow did contriue this course ; ffirst, that it should be schifit in amangst dyuerse vtheris Letteris to be signed ; secundlie, that the same, with the rest, should be presented to his Maieftie, at sum tyme of his going out haiftillie to the hunting, so as, being on the suddane surprysed, he should haif no lasour to obserue and peruse the Letteris ; and, thridlie, that such woirdis of tytill and style as ar vsuallie gevin to the Pope, should be forborne to be set down in it, lest perhappis his Maieftis eye lichting vpon ony of thame whilles he war signeing, he nicht thairby tak occasioun to obserue that Lettre, and so discover your fraud ; and convenient spaces being left for thame, thay should efterwardis be accomodatit and insert : ACCORDING to quich course, ye, abusing the trust reposit in yow be his Maieftie, ane day, in the moirning, quhen his Maieftie was going to hunting, in haift, estir that ye had excusit your self of cuming to truble his Maieftie with the signeing of any Lettres, att fo vnseasonabill ane hour, in respect, as ye informit his Maieftie, Sir Edward Drummondis stay any langar in the cuntry wald bot irritat the Ministeris, and breid occasioun of jealousie and fals and scandalous bruites ;²

¹ This alludes to the reply by CARDINAL BELLARMINÉ, under the feigned signature of MATTHEUS TORTUS, to a book published by King James, anno 1607, under this Title, ‘ TRIPLICI NODO TRILEX CUNÆUS, OR AN APOLOGY FOR THE OATH OF ALLEGIANCE AGAINST TWO BRIEVES OF POPE PAUL V., AND THE LATE LETTER OF CARDINAL BELLARMINÉ TO BLACKWALL THE ARCH-PRIEST.’ In this reply, the King is accused of having abandoned his former sentiments, in favour of the Roman Catholic Religion ; and the Letter to Pope Clement VIII. is quoted, in proof, by his antagonists, who assert, that Lord Balmerino fell a victim to the King’s crooked policy, and that that able and distinguished Nobleman had been induced, through his devoted attachment to his royal master, to criminate himself, in a matter wherein he was really innocent, having merely acted by the King’s express instructions.

² Reports. Fr. bruit.

and thairfore, that ye wer forceit, att that tyme, to present his Dispatch to be signet by his Maieftie, contening no thing, bot sum two or thrie Letteris, in Latine, to the Duikis of Florence, Savoy, and such vtheris, in the said Bischopes recommendioun¹: And thane, in place thair of, ye did present the said Letter to the Pope, and vther thrie, to sa many Cardinallis in Rome; and procureit the samin to be signed, in place of thais vther Letteris, quhich only feruit for youre cloik, in the convoy of that buffines: Quhilk being done, Sir Edward Drummond, by your directioun, did efterwardis add and insert the Popes tyillis and styles, boith in the beginning of the Letter and in the end thair of, betuix the Letter itt self and his Maieftieis subscriptioun, as the word ‘Sanctitas,’ and the word ‘Filius,’ and such vtheris as ye thocht propper for the Letter to the Pope, (quhich verry twa wordis of ‘Sanctitas’ and ‘Filius,’ his Maieftie had oftin before forewairnit yow, that he wald rather loife his lyffe than wryte any of thame to the Pope): AND, be your directione, the Letter being clofet by ane of your feruandis,² his Maieftieis Signet (quhair of the keping wes committit to yow, be vertew of youre Office of Secretarie,) wes by yow, aganis the honour and dewtie of your place, trust, and credite reposit in yow be his Maieftie, most vndewtifullie, fallie and tressonable affixit to your said forgeit Letter.³ BE occasioun quhair of, quhen his Maieftie cam efterwardis in questioun, in the lait Quene of England, of blissit memorie, hir tyme, by meanis of hir Ambassadoure, quho, in the 5eir of God 1^m. VI^o. yeiris, expoſtulatit with his Maieftie concerning such ane Letter writtin by him to the Pope; ye than, being alkit thair of be his Maieftie, did vterlie deny thair wes any such mater: Lyke as, for justificatioun of your denyall, ye fend Sir Edward Drummond, quho, att your desyre, being cum from beyond sea to this countrey, and being examinat thair of, did, att your perswasoun, deny that he careit any such Letter to the Pope: As alſwa, quhen Sir Edward Drummond wes committit to waird for this caus, within the Castell of Edinburgh, ye becam ane ernist suiter to his Maieftie for his libbertie, and wes the meanis to obtene itt; quhairvpoun the said Sir Edward being efterwardis to returne to Rome, ye delt ernistlie and instantlie with him, to lawboure to recover agane the said Letter to his handis, and to distroy itt; quhich he promesit to do, gif be any meanis he could: And ye lykewyse gaif his Maieftie full and absolute affurance, that that report, quhairvpoun the said lait Quene of so wordie⁴ memorie did expoſtulat with his Maieftie, wes vterlie fals: And that nather his Maieftie had ewir writtin any Letter to the Pope, nor yet that Sir Edward Drummond had ewir delyuerit any, in his Maieftieis name, to him: Quhilk frong denyall, to his Maieftie, of your and Sir Edward Drummondis giltynes in that mater, wes the occasioun that movit his Maieftie to grant to Sir Edward Drummond his libertie: And althocht that the constant sinceritie of his Maieftieis professioun in Religioun wes so weill knawin to the world, by his daylie word, writt, and praktise, as nather that lait Quene of happie memorie, nor the religious people of the Estait of England did any langer dout of his Maieftieis innocence in this caice, howfone thay had hard of his Maieftieis denyall thair of, (as he mycht most justlie haif done,) yit lay it nocht in your handis; bot, gif God had not movit thair heart to judge so honorabile and justlie of his Maieftie in this caice, the jealousie and mistrust of his Maieftieis sinceritie in Religioun, being thus spred, in both realmes, mycht have reffaut such ineres and grouth, as mycht haif hafardit thairby, alsweill the present securitie of his Maieftieis persoun and estait, att that tyme; as also, his Maieftieis happie attening to his just clame and rycht, in England: THE ground of all this calumny and sklander, and quhatſunnewir such lyk hafardis mycht haif followit heirvpoun to his Maieftieis persoun and estait, arryng and having the only fundatioun by this your occasioun and tressonabill dealing, quhilk weill apperit by the consequent; ffor how fone it pleasit God to call that Quene, of renownit remembrance, to his mercie, and his Maieft-

¹ Had such a warm debate and altercation, as that before recited, taken place, is it to be conceived as at all likely, that a person of James's jealous disposition, would have signed such Dispatches and Recommendatory Letters, without first carefully perusing and scanning every phrase contained in them? Unquestionably the King would either have postponed his hunting, or, at least, would have desired the papers to await his return, when he could at leisure consider the import of such important documents. On the other hand, it must be admitted, that the Confession of Lord B. is unqualified, and apparently sincere, and is conceived in the strongest terms which language could devise.

² Clerks to the Secretary of State.

³ Dated at Holyroodhouse, Sep. 24, 1599.

⁴ Worthy.

tie to the lauchfull poffeffioun of his rychteous inheritance, with moir perfyte ioy and vninerfall applaufe of all his fubiectis, nor any vther Prince obtenuit the poffeffioun of his prediceffouris Croun, his Maieftie, alfweill by his fincere profeffioun as by his actiounis and lawes, publeiffing to the world his moft conftant zeale to mantene and propagat the trew Religioune, and to fuppres Papiſtrie, and all contrarie profeffioun, the hoill Papiſtis within this Ile, and ſpeciallie, in his hienes Kingdome of England, finding thairby thame ſelffis vterlie difapointit of thair former hoipes, foundit vpoun thais Letteris, quhairby thay promefit to thame ſelffis all libertie and tolleratioun of thair ſuperſtitious, in his Maieſteis dominiounis; and eſteming, that his Maieſtie, in nocht performing thairof, had delt wrongfullie and vniuſtie with thame, nocht only did Clark and Watfoun and thair complices, Preifts, and vtheris Papiſtis, in the fyrſt yeir of his Maieſteis regime of England, conſpyre aganis his lyffe, poſteritie and eſtair, bot alfo the incomparable CONSPIRACIE of the POWDER TRESSOUN (exceeding in malice and crewaltie all vther Treſſounis, that euir wes attemptit, in any aige or countrey) wes devyſit and proſequitit by ane damnit crew of merciles Papiſtis, to the extreame danger of his Maieſteis moſt ſacred perſoun, his moſt gracious Quene, thair Royall iſſew and hoill body of that Eſtair; for no vther quarrell, bot becaus thay thocht thame ſelffis wrongit by his Maieſtie, for nocht accompliſching the hoipis gevin by thais Letteris to all Papiſtis in his dominiounis: Lyke as, ſenſyne, Cardinal Bellermine, or Matheus Tortus, his chaplain, and vtheris, moſt impudent and infamous Popiſch wryteris, haif, (ſa far as in thame lay,) preiffit by thair fals, calumnious and leing lybellis, groundit vpoun your treſſonabill Letteris ſoirſaidis, to ſteingie (ſully, ſtain) his Maieſteis moſt pure, perfyte and vusſpotted reputatioun. OFF the quhilkis treſſonabill crymes aboue writtin, of ſurreptitious, fraudulent and fals ſteling his Maieſteis hand to the ſaid Letter, without his Maieſteis knowlege, and contrarie to his Maieſteis declarit will, and treſſonabill affixing of his Maieſteis Signet to the ſaid fals Letter, and aſſiſting knawin profeffit Papiſtis, in thair treſſonable confis, to the danger of ſubuerſioun of Religioun and overthrow of all trew profeffouris thairof; and drawing his Maieſteis lyff, eſtair, Croun of this realm, with his rycht of ſucceſſioun to the Croun of England in moſt extreme perrell, and bringing moſt fals and ſcandalous imputatiounis to his Maieſtie, both in poynt of honour and Religioune, ye ar airt and pairt: And the ſamin hes bene done and committit by yow, and vtheris in your name, of your cauſing, command, aſſiſtance and ratihabitoun. For the quhilkis treſſonabill crymes ſoirſaidis, ye aucht and ſould be pwneiffit, be ſforſaltrie of your lyffe, landis, and guidis to his Maieſtie; according to the Lawis and practik of this realme.

THE ſaid James Lord Balmirrenoch, being inquyret be the Juſtice, gif he wald deſyre the aſſiſtance of any freindis or Aduocattis to be his preloquoutouris, according to the benefite of the law and ordour of the Court, quhilk ſould be obseruit to him? He anſuerit, that he had neuer ſa grit neid of preloquoutouris and (ſa) grit neceſſitie to ſpeik; the caus being ſic as concernis his lyffe, his eſtair, and all that he poſſeſt; bot he ſaid, he had gritar neceſſitie to keip ſilence, his offence being ſik as could admitt na excuſe; and his greif and ſorrow, that he could haif ſa far abuſit the truſt his moſt gracious Souerane reposit in him, being ſa grit, as he deſyrit na thing mair, than his cryme may be notiſeit to all men: And ſeing, na freind wes acquent with his fact, he deſyrit nane to ſee the miſerie thairof: And ſaid, he could deſyre na Laweir to compeir and defend that fact, quhilk him ſelff had ſa oft and juſtie condemnett; as no place wes left to him nor any vther, to vſe any defence thairin: And thairfoir, his awin haert witneſſing moir aganis him nor any vther could ſay, he deſyrit all men to knaw his cryme to be als haynous as it is; and did erniſtie intreat all thais that wer preſent, and wiſſit that all the world mycht heir him, to declair two poyntis, quhairof he wiffis his Maieftie to be cleirit : ffyrft, of all fufpicioun that his Maieftie was ony wayis acquent with the wryting of that unhappie Letter, that fwa his hienes innocencie and finceritie mycht be knawin to the haill warld ; ffor he declarit, as he wald wif God to be mercifull to his faull, in the grit day, that his Maieftie wes moft falllie and vniuftlie chargeit with that Letter writtin to the Paip ; and that he could newir draw his Maieftie to lyk, or with patience to heir of that wickit motioun ; bot his Maieftie did vterlie and abfolutlie refufe, vpoun ony refpect or conditioun, to wryte to the Pope, as ane mater altogidder aganis his confcience to tak ony sic cruikit courfis, or to gif to the Paip thais ftyles and attributes quhilk the Paip affumit to him felf. Quhilk refusall could nocht fatisfie nor content him, bot in his politik warldlie reach, as ane naturall man, he went fordwart, in his awin vayne confait, aganis his Maiefties declarit will, to that quhilk he thocht fould (have) advancit his Maiefties tytill, as hoping thairby to ftay the censure of the Paippis Excommunicatioun, intentit aganis his hienes, quhilk he ferit mycht haif brocht him preiudice to his Maiefties fuffeffioun, nor yit could he be ftayit from his unhappie courfis, by his Maiefties moft religious refolutioun ; quha, att findrie tymes, proteftit and declarit to him, that his hienes wald nevir burdene his confcience with ony sic vnlanchfull and cruiket courfis, bot wald only leane and refte vpoun Godis Providence and his awin rycht, with sic vther lanchfull and rycht meanis as his Maieftie mycht iuftlie vfe : Befekand all gentilmen and vtheris prefent, to beir trew recoird of his Confeffioun of fa haynous ane offence, committit aganis fa grations and bountyfull ane Souerane, quho, be his vnderfervit fauour, had raifit his bafe fortoun fa bountifullie, that his landis, guidis and lyffe could be na reparatioun for fa grit ane offence.

The fecund poynt, quhairof he defyrit his Maieftie mycht be fred and cleirit, is ane opinioun, quhich ather fum in malice, or his freindis in the commiferatioun of his eftait, mycht confaue and think, that his Maieftie, in ane mater of this moment, (the fuffeffioun of ane Letter of Recommendation,) mycht ferne to proceid with grit regoure and crewaltie aganis his lyffe and eftait ; bot he wald haue thais and all vtheris to remember, that his Maieftie hes gevin mony testimoneis of his clemencie, in materis gritlie concerning him ; and thairfore, thay fould nocht judge of his Maiefties difpofitioun to mercie, by his hienes proceiding, be iuftice, aganis him, bot wiffit thame rather to turne thair eis to his unhappines, quha hes offendit his facred Maieftie, in sic ane poynt, as na fauour can be extendit to him, without the hurt and interes of his Maiefties honour, quhilk being deirar to his hienes than his lyffe, he man think and confefs, that tuentie thowfand sic lyves as his is, ar nocht to be comparit with it, or ballanceit aganis it ; nor did he defyre that his lyffe fould be fpairit, att fa deir ane rait as the leift tuich (Fr. tache) of his Maiefties honour.

Forder, he cravit pardoun to proteft thais tua thingis, for him felff. Fyrft, that he had na sic intentioun, as fimm hes fupposit, to draw in ony alteratioun of Religioun or tolleratioun, or quhat thay pleis to terme it; bot any meane warldlie courfe and devyfe, quhilk he confaitit mycht be for the behuif of his Maieftie, quhilk he proteftit to be of treuth. The fecund thing is, he wald haif na man to think, that itt wes any gayne or priuat commoditie that drew him to that wicket cours; ffor he proteftit that he nevir reffautit norexpected ony reward, from ony Prince leving, except from the Kingis Maieftie, his maifter, allanerlie.

And fa concludit, that he had fpokin fa much of the treuth aganis him felff, that he wald defyre na man to fpeik for him; and wald gif als littill buffines to the Aduocat, Justice, Affeffouris and Affyfe, as he could; and was content that the Dittay fould pas to the knowlege of ane Affyfe.

IN respect of the quhilkis, THE JUSTICE Ordanit the faid Dittay to be putt to the knowlege of ane Affyfe, of the perfonis following. Thay ar to fay.

ASSISA.

DAVID ERL OF CRAUFURD, Lord Lyndefay, &c.	JOHNE ERL OF TULLIBAR- DIN, Lord Murray,	SIR ROBERT GORDOUN of Lochinvar, knycht,
GEORGE ERL OF MARSCHELL, Lord Keith and Altrie, Grit Marfchell of Scotland, &c.,	ALLANE LORD CATHCART, JOHNE LORD SALTOUNE, DAVID LORD SCONE,	SIR WILLIAME LEVING- STOUN of Killyth, knycht, SIR JOHNE HOUSTOUN of that Ilk, knycht,
JOHNE ERL OF WIGTOUN, Lord Fleming, &c.,	ALEXANDER LORD GARLEIS, WILLIAME MAISTER OF TIL- LYBARDINE,	SIR PATRICK HOME of Pol- wart, knycht.
PATRIK ERL OF KINGORNE, Lord Glammes, &c.,	SIR JAMES DOWGLAS of Drum- lanrig, knycht, Quhilkis perfounnes of Affyfe being chofin, fworne and admittit, and Instrumentis tane thairvpoun, be our fouerane lordis Aduocat; the faid James Lord Balmirrenoch, being accusit be the faid Dittay, oppinlie red in judgement to him, in prefens of the faid Affyfe; and for verificatioun thairof, the Aduocat, haifing produceit the faid James Lord Balmirrenochis Depofitioun, fubferyuit with his hand; togidder with his Letter, writtin all with his hand and fubferyuit be him, contening his fpeich, vterit be him befor the Lordis of his Maiefteis honorabill Previe Counfall of Ingland, togidder with ane Letter fend be his Maieftie to the Aduocat, contening fimm of the Lord Balmerinochis fpeichis to his Maieftie, att sic tyme as he preiffit to haif perfwaidit his hienes to wryte to the Pope: And the faidis three writtis, being oppinlie red in judgement, in his prefens and in prefens of the faidis Affyfouris; quhairof the tennour followis.

And fyrft, followis the tennour of HIS DEPOSITIOUN.

ATT FALKLAND, the fecund day of Februar, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and nyne yeiris. THE DECLARATIOUN and CONFESSION of THE LORD BALMER-RENOCHE, concerning ANE LETTER fraudulentlie and surreptitiouslie procureit to be writtin and sent from his Maieftie to POPE CLEMENT (VIII.) in the yeir 1598; maid in presens of my Lordis of his Maiefties Secrett Counsell of Scotland, eslir namet; The Earles of Dumbar, Wigtoun and Lowtheane, the Lordis of Scone, the Justice Clark, the Collectour, Justice and Aduocat.

THE LORD BALMIRRENOCHE, being examinat, sworne and chargedit with þe offence of praktesing and surreptitious procureing of þe said Letter, (quhairby hath growne ane most fals and scandalous imputation to his Maieftie, both in poynt of honour and of Religioun,) eslir diuers meanis vsit by him, of denyall, conceilling, transferring and extenuatting the said offence, doeth att þe last expresse acknowledge and confes: That, in þe 3^eir of our Lord 1598, att þe motioun of þe lait Archbisshop of Glasgou,¹ his Maiefties Ambassadour, than resident in France, the Bisshop of Vaizon,² and sum vtheris, and att þe sollicitioun of Sir Edward Drummond, directit from þame, for procureing of sum correspondence betuix his Maieftie and THE PAIP, be the said Lord Balmirrenoch, assenting to þe said motioun, did diuers tymes preise his Maieftie þairin, and did offer to his Maieftie the fram of sic ane LETTER as he wald haif had signed be his Maieftie to þe Paip; quhom, quhen he fand nocht onlie vn-willing to wryte att all, bot absolutlie to condem the motioun, or any correspondence with a persoun that did expect thais tyillis and attributes, quich his Maieftie, out of his conscience, could nocht 3eild him, for any caus quhatfumeur; he, the said Lord Balmirrenoch, conspyring with Sir Edward Drummond, on þe meanis how to dissaue and begyle his Maieftie, in þe procureing such a Letter, with þe said Sir Edward Drummond's hand, as from his Maieftie to þe Paip, expressing þairin (as he sayeth) only thankis for þe Paip's kyndnes and favour, in former tymes, with recommendatioun of þe Bisshop of Voyzin to be a Cardinall; thairby to be moir abill to forder him in all thingis neidfull for his effairis. For the better convoyance and passäge of þis Letter by his Maiefties hand, the said Lord Balmirrenoch confesseth this course to haif bene by him contryveit; fyrst, that itt fould be chestit³ in amangis diueris vperis Letteris to be signed; secundlie, that the samin, with the rest, fould be presentit to his Maieftie, att sum tyme of his going furth haistlie, on hunting, so as, being on the sudden surpyrit, he fould haif nocht laifour to obserue and peruse the Letteris; and thrydlie, that such wordis of tytill and style (as) ar vsuallie gevin to þe Paip, fould be forborne to be sett down in itt; leif perhappis his Maiefties eé lichtung vpon any of þame, quhillis he wer signeing, he mycht þairby tak occasioun to obserue that Letter; and that convenient specis being left for þame, thay fould efterwardis be accomodatit and infertit: According to quich course, he the said Lord Balmirrenoch confessing, that he, abusing the trust reposit in him be his Maieftie, one day, in þe moirning, quhen his Maieftie wes going on hunting in haif, amangis vperis Letteris, writtin in Latine, to þe Duikis of Florence and Savoy and sum Cardinallis, in favour of þe Bisshop of Veyzon, did also present to his Maieftie (haveing formerlie reselit to wryte to þe Pope, and na thing suspecting that any such fould be offerit to his hand) the said Letter to þe Paip, and procureit it to be signit; quich being done, he the said Lord Balmirrenoch confessit, that by his directioun, Sir Edward Drummond did efterwardis add and infert the Popes tyillis and styles, baith in þe beginning of þe Letter, and in þe end þair of, betuix the Letter itt self and his Maiefties subscriptioun, as the word 'Sanctitus' and the word 'ffilius,' and such vperis as he thoct proper for þe Letter to þe Paip: And that, by his directioun, the Letter wes feilit vp be ane of his seruandis, and the Signet also putt to itt. Concerning þe Letteris to the Cardinallis, he the said Lord Balmirrenoch sayeth, that thay wer cloife sealit vp; bot left without superferiptioun, and so delyuerit to Sir Edward Drummond, to be directit be þe aduise of the (Arch)bisshop of Glasgw: And that he did efterwardis vnderstand, that two of þe saidis Letteris wer gevin to þe Cardinallis Aldobrandino and

¹ James Beaton, (2d) Abbot of Aberbrothock, elected 1551, quitted the see in 1560, and was restored by Act of Parliament, in 1588. ² Williame Chisholme. See Note on Dittay, p. 569. ³ Shifted, shuffled.

Bellarmino, and þe thrid to Cardinall Caietane, Protectour of the Scottiſh Natioun. ffordermore, the ſaid Lord Balmirrenoch Confeſſeth, that quhen his Maieſtie cam efterwardis in queſtioun, in þe lait Quenis tyme, (by meanis of hir Ambaſſadour, that expoſtulattit with his Maieſtie, concerning ſuch a Letter writtin from him to the Pope,) he the ſaid Lord Balmirrenoch, being aſkit pairof by his Maieſtie, did vterlie deny that thair was any ſuch mater: And lykwayis Confeſſeth, that he deſyred Sir Edward Drummond (being cum att þat tyme from beyond the Seas, and examinat pairof, vpoun þe Lord Balmirrenochis ſending for him,) to juſtifie his denyall; and that Sir Edward Drummond did, att his deſyre, accordinglie deny that he had careit any ſuch Letter to þe Pope; as alſo, that quhen Sir Edward Drummond wes committit to preafoun for þis caus, to the Caſtell of Edinburghe, he the ſaid Lord Balmirrenoch becam ane erniſt futear¹ to his Maieſtie for his libertie, and wes the meanis to obtene it; quhairvpoun Sir Edward Drummond, being efterwardis to returne to Rome, he the ſaid Lord Balmirrenoch Confeſſit, that he delt ernestlie and instantlie with Sir Edward Drummond, to labour to recover agane the ſaid Letter into his handis, and deſtroy itt; quhilk Sir Edward Drummond promiſit to do, gif by any meanis he could; and that the ſaid Lord Balmirrenoch pairvpoun deſtroyit the copie of þat Letter, quhilk before he had retenuit with him ſelf.

J. BALMIRRENO^r.

DUMBAR, WIGTOUN, LOWTHEANE, D. L. SCONE, (R^d) COKBURNE,
S^r TO. HAMMILTOUNE, JO. PRESTOUNE, S^r W^m HAERT.

Followis the tennour of

THE LORD BALMIRRENOCHES LETTER, writtin and ſubſcryuit be him, containing his SPEICHES, vttered be him to the Lordis of his hienes Prerie Couſal, in Ingland.

MY VERRIE HONORABLE LORDIS,

I FIND trew this day, in experience, that which I haif oft red and hard, that no exceiding joy nor exceiding ſorrow can be cayried bot with ſilence. Leues curæ loquuntur (ſayeth the tragique) ingentes ſupent. From this it is that þe heaue greif and vnſpeikable ſorrow of my hart and ſoul, for my haynous offence aganis my moſt gracious Souerane, and his Maieſteis diſpleaſour that he bes moſt juſtlie conceaved aganiſt me, makis me that I haif no wordis whearwith I can expre þe ſame: Quhen I luik vnto his Maieſteis innumerabill fauoris beſtowed vpone me, haifing raiſed my fortunoues (moſt miſerable and vnworthie wretch!) far aboue my mereit and my foule abuſe of his Maieſteis truſt: which hes brocht this fals imputatioun vpone his Maieſteis vnſpotted innocencie: I think þair is nothing in me may amend the ſame; and þairfoir I find no vther end of my ſorrow, bot, with the ſorlorne ſone,² to ſay to his moſt ſacred Maieſtie, peccauit in calum et in terram!—My offence is ſo greit that it can nocht be pardonet,—I am nocht worthie to be rekonet ony moir among his ſubiectis or createuris! I haif ſinceirlie confeſſit the veritie of my fact, in all the circumſtances, nocht for obedience, or to liberat his Maieſtie, (as ſum wald fallie geve out,) bot for þe treuthes ſaik, and that his Maieſteis innocencie may be knawin to all the world: Bot allace! what vnhappie man was I, that my devilifch affection and erroneous courſe ſould haif led to ony thing ſould haif offendit my moſt gracious Souerane! Nicht nocht his Maieſteis rair pietie, ſinguler wiſdome, and vnſpotted ſinceritie, in all his actiones, whearof I had ſo long experience, taucht me, that quhen his Maieſtie was vnwilling, and did refuiſ ſuche ane cruikit wordli³ courſe, the event of it could nocht prove bot vnhappie! Thairfoir, ſince his Maieſteis ſoule is frie of it, let no pairt of the ſlayne ly vpone his Maieſteis honour; bot, gene⁴ his Maieſtie can nocht vtherwayis be liberat of this imputatioun brocht vpone his Maieſtie by that devilifch Letter, let naper my lyfe, my eſtate nor credeit be ſpared; bot, as I haif all by his Maieſteis fauour, ſo, let all go, to the laſt drop of my bloode, befoir any proche for my moſt haynous offence ſould be broght vpone his innocent Maieſtie: Bot my miſerie, aboue all, is þe gritter, that it behoued me

¹ Sutor.

² The Prodigal Son in the Parable.

³ Worldly.

⁴ Gif, if.

offend evin in that point whairin his Maieftie hes ever bene moft tender, his confcience, which for ane thowfeand kingdomes he wald nocht hurt, and his reputatioun for finceir deilling, quhilk hes maid him famous throw all the world! In all theafe, his Maiefteis extraordinier delyuerances, miraculouffie wrocht be God, for no caufe fo muche as for his Maiefteis incomparable finceritie of heart to God, and juft dealing to all the world. My Lordis, it fall nocht be neceffar to tranfmit my Confefsioun to Scotland, or to remit my judgement or tryell pair, fence for my offence, and his Maiefteis difpleafour confaut pairpoun, I haif abfolutelie fubmitted my felf in his Maiefteis royall will. I raper¹ my life and all war takin, befor I fould ly ony longer vnder this moft importable² burding of his Maiefteis heavie difpleafour. Thairfoir, my humbill fute to your lordfchipis is, that ze will, in commiferatioun of my miserabl eftait, move his Maieftie to be plesed to luike vpone my Confefsioun, accept my becoming in will, and but³ more delay, declair what oucht be done for reparatioun of his Maiefteis honour, which, to my greit greif, is tauched be my moft haynous offence; which, in all reuerance and humilitie, evin with the laft drope of my bloode, I will obey and performe.

J. BALMERINO⁷.

Followis the tennour of the LETTER send be HIS MAIESTIE to my LORD ADUOCAT, aient THE CONFERENCE betuix his Maieftie and the Lord Balmerinoche, befor the purcheffing⁴ of his hiegnes fubfcriptioun to the LETTER to the POPE.

TO OUR trustie and weilbelouit Counfalour, SIR THOMAS HAMMILTOUN of Bynnie, kny^t, our Aduocat, in that our Kingdome of Scotland,
JAMES R.

TRUSTIE and weilbelouit counfalour, Wee greit zow weil. Quhairas, We haif concludit to haif pe Lord Balmirrenoche tryed before certane our Juftices, by Commiffioun, vpoun that his moft treffonabill and damnabill fact, committed by him, in the thifteous purcheffing and steilling throwch of Letteris, vnder our hand, directed to THE POPE OF ROME; We nocht being of pe knowlege pairof; bot vtherwayis, vpoun his moving of pat mater vnto ws, wer altogidder difaffenting pairfome: We haif thocht mete, (for your better informatioun and gritar licht in pis matter, and to pe effect that zow may pairvpoun ground your Dittay, and in his accufatioun vrge the fame as ane particular evidence of his giltines heirin,) to fett doun, fo far as our memorie can ferue, the verie wordis of pe Conference past betuix ws att pat tyme, quhen he moved ws for pat Letter, quich fo falllie and vndewtiefullie, without our knowlege, he thaireftir purchest to be past our hand, about fun nyne or ten zeiris ago. One day, he infisted that We wald be plesed to wryte a Recommendatioun to pe Pope, in favouris of pe Bifchop of Vaizon, with a request for promoting of him to pe batt:⁵ He than fehewit vnto ws, that by the vther⁶ his continewall flay att Rome, and by reafoun of the aduertementis he wald mak from tyme to tyme, he wald ferue for a fpie to acquent ws with quhat courfes they had there; and that therewith, it wald be a greit credite to pe Natioun to haif thair countreyemen Cardinalis: At quich tyme We fehewed vnto him, that We could nocht, in confcience, zeild vnto pe Pope thais tytillis quich he did affume vnto him felf; and that We wald nocht, for any warldlie respect, do that, quhair-of We had no warand in confcience: The wryting to pe Pope, in fuch foirt as he wald accept pair-of, being vnlauchfull for ony trew Cristiane: Vnto pe quich, We do perfytelie remember, that he did then anfuer, that nochtwithftanding quhatfoevir fehew of discontentment We vterit aganis Puritanis, he could perceave no thing but We wald turne more preceife than any of pame, quha for fuch a small mater as a naked Letter of Recommendatioun fould be fo squeamifch and nice. He farther added, att pe fame tyme, that We fould nocht cair quhat wer done pairin; bot willit ws to leue to Sir Edward ¹ I would rather that my life, &c.

² Unbearable, intolerable.

³ Without farther delay.

⁴ Procuring.

⁵ A Cardinal's hat.

⁶ Viz. By the uninterrupted residence of the Bishop of Vaizon at Rome, &c.

Drummond and him the filling vp of these styles ; and We being ignorant pairof, and done without our knowlege, itt could be no touch¹ nor greif to our conscience : Quhairvnto, We then anfuert, that as We evir difallowit of all dowble deilling, so We loued nocht that slicht, bot wer resolved nevir to do nor consent to any thing, but quhat We wolde approve before pe hoill worlde : And nochtwithstanding of our reiterating of our dislyke pairof, zit wes pe famin most thiftioullie past our hand, without our knowlege. And thinking fit to aequent zow with this particuler circumstance, for zour better informatioun, We bid zow farewell : FROM oure Court, att Quhytehall, the 9 Januarye, 1609.

Followis the tennour of,

HIS MAIESTEIS WARRANT direct to the ASSESSOURIS.

TO OURE rycht trustie and weil belouit Coufinges and Counfalouris, THE ERLES OF DUMBAR, MONTROISE, LOWTHEAN ; and our trustie and weil belouit Counfalouris, THE LORDIS PREVIE SEALE, THE CLARK OF REGISTER, THE COLLECTOURE, SIR LUEIS CRAIG.
JAMES R.

QUHAIRAS We haif directit our Aduocat to insist in persute of pe Lord Balmirreno^t before our Justice, for his most haynous and detestabill cryme and offence committit aganis ws, our honour and reputatioun, We haif maid speciall choise of zow, in pe foirsaid Tryall, to be Assessoris to pe said Justice : And pairfore We ar to will zow to assist him, and to see justice dewlie ministrat pairin, as ze wald do ws most acceptable seruice : And thir presentis salbe zour Warrant sufficient. GEVIN att Quhytehall, the thryd day of March, 1609.

Followis the tennour of

HIS MAJESTEIS WARRANT direct to my Lord Aduocat, to persew James Lord Balmirrenoche.

TO OURE trustie and weilbelouit Counfalour, SIR THOMAS HAMMILTOUN of Bynnie kny^t, our Aduocat, in pat our kingdome of Scotland.
JAMES R.

TRUSTIE and weilbelouit counfalour, We greit zow well. This haynous offence committit by the Lord Balmirreno^t aganis our honour and reputatioun, being so lang conceillit and now laittlie discoverit, movis ws, for the clering of our innocencie, and freithing² owre selffis of thais wrangous imputatiounis quich We haif hithertill vnderlyne, to geue ordoure for prosequuting his Tryall, befor our Justice, with all regour : And becaus the leif extenuating of jis offence can nocht bot breid in the evill disposit a distrust of his giltines : And We being fullelie auiset by thais of best judgement, heir, concerning the qualitie of pat offence, to find pe famin, insafar as it is done aganis the securitie of pe Prince, a speciall poynt of hie Treffoun and Lefemaiestie ; ffor heirby, nocht only wer We brocht in danger, both in persoun and estait, bot also our honour, credite, and reputatioun, moir deir vnto ws then our lyffe, hes bene by pe same brocht in questioun : And pairfore, We will zow to vrge the Judgement aganis him, as for a cryme of pe qualitie aboue writtin, that so all exception that may be maid aganis proceding, a^per of collusioun pairin, or in extenuating the offence, may be removed, that justice may be dewlie ministrat, and our innocencie, so much pairby wrangit, may be heireftir clerit to pe hail world : And perswading our selffis of zour cair, diligence and dexteritie heirin, as ze wald do ws acceptable seruice, We bid zow fairwell. FROM oure Court, at Quhytehall, the nynt of January, 1609.

VERDICT. THE said James Lord Balmirrenoche Confessit the said Dittay, and hail contentis of the writtis foirsaidis ; and thaireftir, the saidis perfounes of Assyse removed altogidder furth of Court to the Counsal hous of the said Tolbuith, quhair thay being convenit togidder, fyrst electit and chusit the said

¹ Fr. Tache.

² Freeing, absolving.

George Erll Merfchell Lord Keyth and Altrie, grit Marfchell of Scotland, Chancillar of the Affyfe; and thairefter, reafonit and votit vpoun the poyntis of the faid Dittay; and eftir long reafoning thairvpoune, and being throuchlie refolnit thairwith, re-enterit agane in Court, in prefens of my Lord Justice and his Affeffouris, and the faid James Lord Balmirrenoche; quhair the faidis perfoumes of Affyfe, all in ane voce, be the mouth of the faid Chancillar of the faid Affyfe, ffand, pronunceit and declairit the faid James Lord Balmirrenoche to be Giltie of the treffonabill, furreptitious, fraudulent and fals fteling of his Maiefteis hand to the Letter fpecifeit in the Dittay, without his Maiefteis knowledge, and contrair to his Majefteis declarit will; and of the treffonabill affixing of his Maiefteis fignet to the faid fals Letter; and affifting knawin profellit Papiftis in thair treffonabill courfes, to the danger of fubuerfioun of Religioune, and overthrow of all trew profeffouris thair of; and drawing his Maiefteis lyffe, eftait, Croun of this realme, with his rycht of fucceffion to the Croun of Ingland, in moft extreme perrell, and bringing moft fals and scandalous imputationis to his Maieftie, both in poynt of honour and Religioune: And of airt and pairt of the haill treffonabill crymes aboue writtin, att lenth contenit in his Dittay aboue fpecifeit, MARSHALL, Cancellarius.

Quhairvpoun Sir Thomas Hammiltoune, Aduocat to our fouerane lord, askit instrumentis.

THAIREFTIR, my lord Justice, confulting with his Affeffouris, Declarit to the faid James Lord Balmirrenoche, that thay war nocht to proceed ony forder in that buffines, for the present, till thay fould knaw his Maiefteis forder pleafour: Bot, in the meanetyne, aduifet him to bethink himselff (haifing fa horribill ane fentence pronunceit aganis him) quhat caice he fluid into, wiffing him to lay his compt with the world, and draw neir to his God.

And thaireftir, gaif commandment to the Capitan of his Maiefteis Gaird to convoy his body to his Maiefteis waird in Falkland; thairin to be kept in furetie, as he wald anfuer to his Maieftie, vpoun his dewtie and allegiance.

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE, f. d. n. Regis, tenta in Pretorio burgi de Edr, primo die mensis Aprilis 1609, per D. Will. Haert de Prestoun, Justiciarium, &c.]

Apr. 1.—The quhilk day James Lord Balmirreno^t being presentit on pannell, to heir dome pronunceit aganis him, &c. the faid Justice produceit the Warrant vnderwrittin.

WARRANT from his Majesty, for pronouncing DOOM against Lord Balmerinoch.

JAMES R.

SIR WILLIAME HAERT of Prestoun our Justice, We greit 3ow weil. Forfamekill as James Lord of Balmirreno^t being conuict by ane Affyfe, in ane Court of Justiciarie hauldin by 3ow, in our tolbuith of Sanctandrois, the tenth day of March instant, of þe tressonabill crymes contenit in his Dittay and convictioun; wes pairvpoun remittit till preiffoun, quhill our forder Will and plefour wer knawin pairin, concerning him: WE have thairfore thoct meit, be þir presentis, to signife our said pleafour vnto ʒow, quhilk is,—THAT ʒow with all convenient expeditioun cause fens ane Justice-Court, to be hauldin by ʒow in our tolbuith of Edinburgh, and thair Deerne and ordane the said James Lord Balmirren^o to be taken to þe place of Executioun, and þair to be demanit and execute as a Traitour; his heid to be strikin from his body; and all his landis, heretageis, lordschipis, baroneis, takis, stedingis, rowmis, possessiounis, officeis, beneficeis, coirnis, cattell, infycht pleneiffing, goodes and geir, to be fforfaltit, efcheit, and inbrocht to our vse, as convict and guyltie of þe saidis tressonabill crymes: Anent þe pronouncing of þe quhich dome, thir presentis salbe ʒour Warrant. GEWIN att our Court of Quhytehall, the xxiiij day of March, 1609.

My LORD OF BALMIRRIENOCHIS DOME.

Apr. I. OUR said fouerane lordis JUSTICE, be the mouth of Andro Quhyte, dempfter of Court, conforme to ane Warrant direct be his Maieftie to him, Decernit and Ordanit the said James of Balmirrienoche to be tane to the place of his executioun, and thair to be demanit and execute as ane Traitour; and his heid to be strukin frome his body,¹ &c.

DOCUMENTS ILLUSTRATIVE OF LORD BALMERINOCHE'S TRIAL.

I. *EXTRACT from an Anonymous History of Scotland, MS.*²

ANE litill befor this,³ SIR JAMES ELPHINSTOUN, President and Seeretar, went wp to England; quhair he was accusit, in presense of THE KING and Counsell of England, for heiche Tressoune aganis his Ma^y, in counterfeitting the Kingis writt, and sending tha famin Letteris of Recommendationis to THE PEAP, by⁴ his Ma^{ties} knowlege. The quhilk being confessit be him, he was thair disgridditt⁵ of his honouris quhilk he had befor, as ane off the Counsell of England: And thaireftir, was on the v day of December brocht to Leith; and on the sext day convoyit to Falkland, quhair he remainit to the 10 day of March, 1609; and thane convoyit to Sanet Androise; quhair, being putt to ane tryall of ane Assyse, was convict: And thaireftir convoyit to Falkland agane; and on the last day of Marche was brocht to Edinbrughe; and on the first day of Apryll brocht to the tolbuith, and thair, befor the Justice, condannit as ane tratour, and his heid to be strukin off; bot neather the day nor place decernit: Quhairupone, the secund day of Apryll, he is convoyit bak to Falkland, in waird.

II. SIR JAMES BALFOUR'S *contemporary Account.*⁶

IN this fame mounthe of Nouember (1608), James Elphinstone Lord Balmerinoche, principall Seeretary of Estait to his Maiefties, for the kingdome of Scotland, being this yeire challenged, in England, anent some Letters wrettin be him, in his Maiefties name, to POPE CLEMENT VIII. befor the King did atteine the Crowne of England; bot he confessed, (simulatly, as was thought by thesse that wnderstood the Courte, and hou matters then went,) to liberat the King of such grossnes, being examinnd by some Priuey Counsellers of bothe kingdomes; that, in anno 1598, he had wrettin to the Pope, in his Maiefties name, for a Cardinalls hate, to be bestoned one Chifolme, a Scotts man, then Bischope of Wearfone in France, brother to the Laird of Crouneriggis,⁷ in Perthshyre; in which Letter

¹ The terms of the 'Warrant' are repeated here. ² Advocates' Library, A. 4. 35. Folio. ³ This is preceded by the following notice: 'On the aucht day of Nouember, thair wes sik ane earthe quaik, throw mony pairtis of Scotland, as the lyk wes not sein this mony day.'

⁴ Without, past, contrary to.

⁵ Degraded, stripped.

⁶ See his ANNALES, vol. ii. p. 29.

⁷ A mistake; Cromlix is the proper name.

(he hauing gottin the Kinges hand to it) he styles the Pope ‘Beatissime Pater,’ with wther fuche phrafses; which almost wronged the Kings honor and reputatiōe, with all the Proteſtant Princes and States in Europe.

His trayell and puniſhment (he being a Scotts Nobleman) was remitted to the Juſtice of Scotland; and he ſent home thither, vnder a guard, from thyre to thyre; of all wiche the King adwertifes his Priuey Counſaill of Scotland, the 21 of the mounthe of Nouember, by Spotswood, Archbiſchope of Glaſgow.

After his arrivell in Scotland, he was firſt imprifoned in Edinburghe Caſtle, and from thence removed to the Tower of Falkland; and arraigned at St Andrewes, in the ſubſequent yeire; and ſentenced to loſſe his head: Bot, by the Kings ſecrett commands to the Earll of Dunbar, he was againe remitted to the cuſtodey of the Lord Scoone, as a cloſſe priſoner, to be kept at Falkland: And from thence was enlarged, and conſyned to his auen houſes in Angus thyre, and Balmerinoche in Fyffe thyre; quher he deyed of a feuer, and waicknes in his ſtomache, ſome few mounthes after the death of his arch-enimy and competitor, Ceicill Erle of Salisbury¹ (after quhome) if aney tyme he had furuiwed, (as was talked by them that beſt knew the Kings mynd) he had beine in grater crydit with his maſter then euer.

III. EXTRACTS from the Records of the Privy Council of Scotland.

Mar. 4, 1609. THE Privy Council, ‘conſidering that his ſacred Ma^{tie} hes ſend down his faithfull and worthy counſellour the Erll of Dunbar to be aſſiſtant to this Tryall, the ſaidis Lordis findis it verie meete, neceſſar and expedient, for the gittair auctoritie and regaird to be had to that actionn, that the ſaid Erll of Dunbar be accompaneid with a ſufficient number of the Nobilitie and Counſale; ffor wiche purpois, the ſaidis Lordis hes nominat and appointit David Erll of Craufurd,² &c. to be preſent with the ſaid Erll of Dunbar at the ſaid tryall, commanding thame, in his Majeſteis name, to aſſiſt the ſame tryall, by thair preſence, counſale and adviſe; and ſo to do and performe that which becometh faithfull, worthy and trew counſellouris to do, in a mater ſo heichlie importing his Maieſtie, in his honnoure, fame and credite.’

Mar. 17, 1609. WARRANT commanding the Director of Chancery ‘to omitt the ſaid Lord of Balmerinochis name, furth of all fuche Infeſtmentis, Letteris, writtis and grantis to be paſt and exped the Chancellarie, heirefter, wherein his name formarie hes bene accuſtumat to be infert.’

IV. *EXTRACT from the Earl of Haddington's MS. Collections.*⁴

Mar. 28, 1609. LETTER⁵ from his Ma^{tie} to the Chancellar, commanding him to ſeaſe the Lord Balmerinois landis, try the rentis thairof, the maner of his purchaſe, and wrongis done be him; to be tryed by indifferent⁶ Counſallouris, that the King nicht tak ordour, for ſatiſfactioun of thoſe quho war wronged.

V. *LETTER from WILLIAM CREICHTOUN, Jeſuite, [to SIR ANDREW MORAY of Balvaire].*⁷

RIGHT WORSHIPPFULL S^r,

My humble and heartlie dewtie rememberit. I haif hard with extreame dolour, the extremeties to ¹ He died at Marlborough, on Sunday, May 24, 1612, of a complication of dropsy and scurvy. Sir E. Brydges' Memoirs of the Peers of England, p. 481.—His other ‘arch-enimey’ Dunbar predeceased him. ‘Vpon Monnday, fourth of Februar, aduertisement came that the Erle of Dunbar wes dead, vpon Wednesdai, threttie of Januar, 1611.’ Haddington's MS. Collections, Adv. Library.

² Here follow the other names before mentioned, already marked as Assessors and Assise, together with Walter Lord Buccleuch, Walter Lord Blantyre, James Lord of Bewlie (Sir James Hay) comptroller, and Sir John Cockburn of Ormiston, Justice Clerk, who had probably absented themselves.

⁴ Preserved in the Advocates' Library, Edinburgh. ⁵ After a careful examination of the Warrants of the Privy Council, no traces of the original Letter are to be found. ⁶ Disinterested, impartial. ⁷ The envelop of this Letter has unfortunately not been preserved; but, from internal evidence, Sir Andrew Moray of Balvaire seems to have been the person to whom it was addressed.—The original is among the Denmylne MSS. Advocates' Library, A. 2, 40.

the whilkis S^r JAMES ELPHINSTOUN President of the Sessioun of Scotland is reduced, for the Letter sent to THE POPE and Cardinalis by Mr Eduard Drummond; and speciallye, becaus the President is so neir to you by alliance. As twiching the Presidentis Confessioun to haif sent that dispathe to POPE and CARDINALIS, without his Ma^{ties} consent or commandement, I will not mell me with that; nor any thing what it may merit; bot, becaus I assifted Mr Eduard Drummond in all that negotiatioun, thinking it to be to the Kingis weill and service, and communicatioun of all the Lettres¹ that was broght for that affairis, I thocht it expedient to informe you of the veritie of all. There was no thing wrought in that negotiatioun, which was not thocht to be for the Kingis Maieftis service; which was, to procure the Bischope of Wefone advancement to the degrie of Cardinal; to the end, that his Ma^{tie} fuld haif in the Colledge of Cardinalis, one of his trew and faithfull subiectis, to advance his Ma^{ties} service, and dasche and stop that which might be to his preiudice; and specially, that thay fuld not excommunicat his Ma^{tie}, or abfolue his subiectis from his obedience, as there was some at that same time bissie to procure it: And therefor, was alledgit, that siche rigorous proceidingis in other Popes dayes did not advance, bot hinder the Catholick cause: And therefore, Pope Gregorius XIII. was constrained to grant to the Catholick, to acknowledge and obey the last Q. of England, in all thingis; which was expresse against the Catholick faith.² It was not gevin to vnderstand to the Pope, that the Kingis Maieftie was in any dispositioun ather to come or favour the Catholick Religioun; for the contrair was conteyned expresse in the Letteris;³ saying, that albeit he remaned constant in that Religioun in the which he was nourished, frome his cradle, yit he wald not be eniyme and persecutour of the Catholikes, so long as thay fuld remaine faithfull and obedient subiectis to him; as indeed his Maieftie had evir done, vntil the horrible and barbarous Conspiracie of the Goone-pouder: ffor in Scotland, to thame of our ordour,⁴ who ar holden the most odious, and persecuted to the death be the Ministeris, he did nevir vse more rigour nor to banishe thame out of the countrey, and constraine there parentis⁵ to obleis thame, vnder paines, to cause thame depart. The calumneis of sum passioned writteris, and speciallie of him who anferis the Apologie or traite, intituled 'TRINO NODO TRIPLEX CUNEUS;' who improperatis to the Kingis Maieftie to wald haif deceived the Pope, to whome he gave hoip to favour or imbrace the Catholick Religioun, is onlie to disgrace, in what he may, the Kingis Maieftis self, and some Catholicks whome thay haitt without iust caus, without veritie or charitie; which fuld not be imputed to all Catholickes, nor to the CARDINAL BALARMINE, who is not authour of that booke. Amongst the Catholickes ar many honest men, affectioned to his Maieftie service, in all things thay may with goode conscience, and faittie of the Catholick Religioun; amongst whome I wald not be the hindmest, as I haif ever bene and falbe to my lyveis end. And heir I leif to trouble your worship, with my humble and heartly recommendatiounis redoublet to your goode affectiounis, as to my L. Vicount of Fentoun⁶ your Vncle.⁷ FROM AUIGNON, the 27 of Januarie, 1609.

Your worship most humble and affectioned counseing and servant,

(No address)

WILLIANE CREICHTOUN.

VI. LETTER from SIR THOMAS HAMMILTOUN to KING JAMES VI.⁸

PLEASE YOUR MOST SACRED MAIESTIE,

HAVEING ressaued from the Earle of Dumbar, the LORD BALMERINOES Confessioun of his most beynous offensis, committed aganis your Maieftie, togidder with your Maiefties two Letters, contean-

¹ The words 'and instructions,' added on the margin, in another hand, and deleted. ² Inserted on the margin, in the same hand, 'and sick service, who evir had done it, ather with or without Commissioun, apperis to mereit rather thanks and revoid nor hard traitment.'

³ On the margin, in another hand, afterwards deleted, 'and instructions.'

⁴ Jesuites and Seminary Priests.

⁵ Blood relations.

⁶ The celebrated Sir Thomas Erskine of Gogar, who killed Alexander Ruthven, at Perth, Aug. 5, 1600. He was created Earl of Kellie, Mar. 12, 1619.

⁷ This seems to prove the Letter to be addressed to Sir Andrew Moray of Balvaud. See his ingenious Letter to the King, Jul. 13, 1608, No. XIX, (14.) of the Collections relative to Gowrie's Conspiracy, vol. ii. p. 323.

⁸ From the Original, preserved in the Dennythe MS. Collections, Adv. Lib. A. 2. 40.

ing sum materiall poyntis of his cairiage, in the practeifing of that mischeivous pourpofe, not conteaned in his Confessioun; I have, according to the iuste and wyfe direction of your priue Letters, formed his Dittay, heirwith to be presented to your Maiestie, to the effect that these treasonabill crymes, which offered so dangerous woundis to your immaculat fame and royall honour, being considered be your most excellent judgement; that which is imperfyte, in my frame of this Dittay, may be amended by your Maiesties most judicious censure.¹ I have also ressaued from my Lord of Dumbar the resolutions of the graue and learned Ciuilians presented to your Maiestie, concerning this same fact, whairin they have expressed thair sufficiencie in thair proffession and faithfull affection to your Maiesties seruice; bot, being vnacquented with the grounds and course of oure Criminall Justice heir, have leaned to sum warrands, whairvpon I dar not weill relye: Becaus, I foresie that I am to persue ane man, more skilfull to pleade his lyfe nor any that wes broght to the bar in this your Maiesties kingdome thir hundreth yeiris bygane; and who may expect suche assistance of the best of oure lawyers, as many vthers offendours, most guiltie of hieft crymes, hes fund heirtofore: And albeit I think that the sentence gevin aganis him be his owne confcience, and vndeniabill treuth of the cryme, confirmed be his owne Confession, fould tak from him all desyre of contradiction, and hope of any gude by his defence; yet, knowing it to be my dewtie to be reddie for the worst which he or his assistants can abill to intend, I fall be cairefull so to prepaire all thinges necessar for that persute, as your Maiestie, with Goddis grace, fall have full satisfaction, by the performance of your royall commandement, in the verie forme and substance whilk your Maiestie hes preseryved. Gif the Judges do that dewtie, whilk in reason and justice thay owe, and I dowl not will faithfullie performe to your Maiestie, speciallie, feing my Lord of Dumbar² is to be ane ey-witnes of thair proceedingis, whois caire hes bene suche in directing the first pairt of the proces, which lyes to my chairge, and exacting accompt of my diligence thairin; that, vsing the lyke with the rest of the Memberis of this Judgement, as I am assured he will, thay will nether get leifour nor leive to neglect or ouerse thair dewtie. In my chairge, his instance fall be bot spurris to ane fast running hors; yet can I not deny that his judgement hes availed to remark and reforme dyuers things to the better. So wiffing to your Maiestie, in this and all vther your Royall defenses,³ most honorabill and happie succes; and to myself, your Maiesties gracious acceptance of the weak indeuours of ane most faithfull hairt and affection in your Maiesties seruice, I commit your most excellent Maiestie to Goddis blifed protection. ED^r, this 9. Feb 1609.

Your most sacred Maiesties most faithfull and most bundin servant,

S. TH. HAMILTON.

VII. NARRATIVE drawn up by LORD BALMERINOCII, containing an Historical Account of the various Proceedings adopted against him, in England and Scotland.

[SINCE the preceding sheets were sent to press, the Editor, being anxious to investigate the truth or falsehood of Lord Balmerino's Treason, has pursued as extensive an enquiry as his present limited opportunities permit. It must be satisfactory to all who take an interest in such investigations to learn, that the indefatigable Wodrow has preserved a Transcript of a Memoir, bearing every mark of authenticity, and which is said by Calderwood, in his MS. Church History, to have been prepared by this unfortunate Nobleman, during his exile. Although somewhat prolix and verbose, which is common to all similar compositions at that period, it must for ever set this point of History at rest ; and not being written for the purpose of publication, but professedly for the information of his personal friends, and of the private perusal and instruction of his son, and for his warning, in the event of his entering into public life, it is so much the more impressive, and carries with it an air of candour and truth, ' nought extenuating,' nor ' setting down aught in malice.'—During the search which it was necessary to make among contemporary MSS. the following remarkable passage, which occurs in Anderson's History of Scotland, seemed to be worthy of preservation. ' His freindis and intereift servantis maid the word go abrod, that the said Prefident not only had a Commission for wrytting of the said Letteris to THE PAIP and CARDINALLIS, bot also that he had a Remission for the samyn, if ever thei should be querrelled ; as in sum missur appeared ; for he was no wayis frayed for the said Sentence, be reason, efter his returning to ward, his imprifonment was enlarged still mair and mair, till in¹ he tuik feiknes and died. Bot for feir of bakcalling and renewing the saidis proces, he was quyetlie buried, no man knawing quhar, except a few only of his awin freindis. And within 3 or 4 yeiris efter, his hail landis and honours was restoired bak again to his son and children.²]

¹ This amended draught has been preserved by Sir James Balfour, and contains very minute and laboured corrections. The King was very partial to such employment, and the crafty Hamilton ministers here to the King's vanity, in no measured terms. ² The reader has already seen how 'earnestly' this Nobleman 'travelled' with the Judges, &c. in the matter of Logan of Restalrig's forfeiture; and the corrupt modes which he scrupled not to adopt, to gain his ends. See this Coll., vol. ii, p. 292, for another extraordinary Letter of Sir Thomas Hamilton to the King; and also Robertson's Hist. ii. 223. Hailes' Memorials of James I. p. 16, &c. ³ It seems doubtful whether this is a lapsus for 'business'; or whether the word 'designs' is meant.

THIS LETTER³ and Instructions, written be Sir Edward Drummond, with the rest of that Dispatche, I presented unto his Ma. shewing it was Drummonds dispatche for the Bishope of Vizone. So all the Letters were signed, without asking to whom they were directed, closed and sent to the Archbishop of Glasgow,⁴ to be directed at his discretione. So Sir Edward received them not in Scotland, but they were sent in Monsieur Bethun's packet, lest otherwise they might be intercepted. It may be easilie considered how necessar this service was for his Ma. as matters then went, there being small hope of Englands favour ; Essex being then in his triumphe, and Valentine Thomas his proceffe at the very tyme in deducing, in his Ma's prejudice, to disable him in his clame to the Crowne ; and what respect could I have had then, other then my faithfull duty. For it proving, as it did, verie profitable for his Ma. in such fort, as by directione from Rome, all the Catholicks in England prepared themselves in armes and horses, for maintenance of his Ma's title ; and, at Rome, the Spanishe courses were crossed. It was reputed by them that truelie loved his Ma. the best service that euer was done him in that kind ; Likeas Sir James Lindfay's employment followed after it, and speciall dealing with diverse Catholicks of England, wherewith the greatest guiders of England being terrified, and Essex taken out of the way, the Earle of Salisburie, then Sir Robert Cecil, by Lord Harie Howard, now Earle of South-Hamptoune, sought means to his Ma., by Catholicks. They sought means to his Ma., and they were then the surest fort his (Ma.) had there : Likeas HIS MA., in his first Speeche in the Parliament-hous, extant in print, and a printed Proclamatione under his Ma's hand, did not dissemble how farre, as a Prince, he was bound to POPE CLEMENT, what great loyaltie and affectione he had found in Catholicks, and ever, whill⁵ that detestable Powder Treafone (abominable in God's fight, and detestable and damnable to be remembered and recorded, by all memorie,) his Ma. continued not farre from that same minde, whill the policie of some curious heads, fearing lest his Ma. should have looked more narrowlie in his owne estate and their actions, and knowing his inclinatione to be tickle in these points of Religione, sett him on work to that Triplici nodo triplex cuneus, which procured that answer of TORTUS, Bellarmin's Chaplaine, unknowne, as I am credible informed, to Bellarmine, and not unknowne to some flats-men ther, to exasperate his Ma. not onlie against the Court of Rome, and his owne subjects in England, but to vouchsafe his charitie upon me, against whom their malice, although not deserved for any particular of my owne, is weill enewgh knowne. Their malicious intention, thus founded, was weill fecounded by the malice of my enemies at home, the insolencie of some of the Bishops, and ambition of ane, of whome I had deserved better. The Plott is secretlie contrived, that I shall be brought to a Confessione of it—his Ma. to disallow it—and, consequentlie, my undoing.

¹ He is said, by Calderwood, to have died in the end of May, 1612. See No. VIII. of this Appendix. ² Anderson's MS. Hist. of Scot., Adv. Library, Fol. 652. ³ A copy of the Letter to the Pope precedes this Memorial.

⁴ James Beaton, second Archbishop. ⁵ Until.

There came never anie thing of this to my knowledge, before I came to St Albans, in the beginning of October 1608, the verie night before I come to Roifoun to his Ma. The advertifment that I had, was, that I had procured Letters, unknown to his Ma., under his hand, to THE POPE, whereby he had promised, that how soone he should come to the Crowne of England, he should either declare him self Catholick, or at least he should grant a toleratione to all Catholicks within his dominions; and had procured to make the Bylhope of Vaizon a Cardinall. The last part, because it was true, I thought it not to be denied; but the first, which was alluterlie false, I refused.¹ At my coming to Royfoune Sir Alexander Hay, (in whom I reposed as great trust as in my self,) having formerlie perswaded me, most traterouslie, that his course of accepting to be secound Secretarie,² which at first I disliked, was a plott of my enemies, to his prejudice and mine both; and so, had perswaded my most assured and worthie friend Mr Thomas Murrey of his h(ighmefs) affection to me, which I did over credulouslie beleave. Coming to me, I compleaned that I was wronged, in so much that I had not gotten more tymous wairing of their calumneis and his Ma^s discontentment against me;—excused himself, that he had sent me a packet, but that (I) had missed it be the way;—that it was a mater that I needed not to care fore, feing his Ma. desired no more, but to know the truth; and would not be discontent, if, in the point of his Religione, he were not ingadged. So, I confessed the simple truthes. He, in the meane while, had his dailing, unknowne to me, with the Bishop of Glasgow, who incensed his Ma. that, so long as I was officer,³ their state could not be raised:⁴ And having assayed manie other means to disgrace me, could effectuat nothing. Having the authoritie of the greatest there to concurre to my overthrow, they did so dispose his Ma. as, without anie shew of discontentment, he askes of me Sir Edward Drummond's Dispathe, and speciale, of that Letter to THE POPE. I could not denie that which was weill knowne to his Ma.; and that which was contained in Tortus book, was not farre different from the truthes; for the words are, (speakeing of his Ma.,) *Literas humanitatis et officii plenas scripsit ad PONTIFICEM MAXIMUM, quibus præter cætera rogavit, ut ex suis subditis aliquis Cardinalis S. R. E. crearetur.*⁵ But his Ma^s promises of conformitie or to alteratione of Religione are not ascribed to my Letter, but to the promises of some of the Ministers. Nixt, his Ma. asked, 'if ever he had consented to call THE POPE his Father?' I granted that he still refused—and in that, I had presumed, for the good of his Ma. service, after his Ma. had subscribed the Letter, to cause Sir Edward adde the Pope's ordinarie stiles; wherein, if his Ma. conceived anie offence, I was to crave his Ma. pardone to be disfavoured in that, and to cleare his Ma. so farre as anie would tuiche him therewith.

This past in Royfoun, on Sunday, in the morning, before Sermon, betuixt his Ma. and me, privatlie, in his withdrawing chamber. Sir Alexander Hay, who had still his practises with the Bishop of Glasgow, having learned of his Ma. how farre I confessed, advised his Ma. that my Confessione should be retreated,⁵ in the hearing of some others: And, to the end that I should not suspect their intentione, at my ¹ Denied. ² It is difficult to get at the truth of State intrigues, and to detect the real causes of such a change as that referred to by Lord Balmerinoch in his interesting Narrative, even at the time of their occurrence. His Lordship is, no doubt, very particular in his details, which are likely to be correct; for his Narrative was evidently intended for the perusal of those who must have had the best opportunities of knowing the facts. In a valuable Collection of State Papers, preserved in the General Register-House, Edinburgh, transcribed by Sir Thomas Hamilton (Earl of Haddington,) there occurs a transcript of the original Warrant of Sir Alexander Hay's appointment to the Office of Joint-Secretaryship, in the following terms.

'HAEVEING choissing MR ALEXR HAY to be on of our Privie Counsell of that our kingdome; and thinking it no way fitt that he sould still attend vs heir at Court, for Scottis dispatchis, as deput to ony wther, We have thairfor joyued him in office with the Lord of Balmerinoch, our Principall Secretar, (quho being enforceid, be his greitt employmentis in our service, to continew thair, for the moist part,) We intend to have the said Mr Alexr ane attendar and resedentiare heir at Court, for the better dispatche of the effaires of that Kingdome. And our plesour is, that yow caus tak his oath, as Secretarie wnto vs. Quhairnant thir presentis salbe your Warrant.' [JAMES R.]

To our rycht trustie and weilbeloveit cusine and counsellour, the Erl of Dumfermling, our Chancellar of that our Kingdome of Scotland.

³ Secretary of State. ⁴ Episcopacy could not be restored. Balmerinoch had obtained large grants of Church Lands, &c., and it was, therefore, his interest to preserve matters in their present state, for fear of a resumption of these livings taking place, which would thus strip him of a large portion of his income. ⁵ Rehearsed, reiterated; not retracted, which at first sight it would seem to import.

second Examinatione was present but Sir Alexander Hay, whom yett (as God judge me, I trusted as my self.) There I confessed, before his Ma., as befor, that his Ma. ever disaffented to yeild the Pope any files; and, at the subscribing of the Pope's Letter, I acquainted him no farther, but (in) generall, that it was to Sir Edward Drummond's Dispatch, auent the Bilhop of Vaizon. That I caused Sir Edward add the files; and for that, upon my knees, most humble I craved his Ma. pardone. Then, be his Ma. countenance, and some rounding¹ that past betuixt his Ma. and Sir Alexander Hay, I beganne to be in some suspicione. The King commanded me that I should repair to Londone,—remaine there whill I knew his pleasure—and in no case to repaire to the Queen's Court. Immediatlie, Sir Alexander Hay, the Bishops of Glasgou and Galloway conferred with the King, auent my Confessione; and were discontent that I had not presentlie sett it down, under my hand; yett, fearing least I should have inspected their policie, they would not then urge me anie farther.

The next Mounday I raid to London. Sir Alexander Hay and the said Bishops raid before me; and Sir Alexander went to my Lord Salisburie, (and) acquainted him with all was past. Then begane I to suspect the course, and to repent me I had gone so farre. I sent to the Earle of Salisburie, desired I might have an assignatioun to come to him; who did returne answer, that he was advertised from his Ma. that I was commanded to keep my houie; and so it was not fitt I should come to him. Thus did I mistake his Ma's command; for in that (I) was forbidden to repair to the Queen, then lying at Hamptoun Court, I thought all other places, within Londone, were free to me. Likeas, I went to Lambeth, to the Archbilhop of Canterburie,² and to Whithhall, to the Earle of Dumber; the said Sir Alexander allwife in companie with me, never giving me notice of his Ma's pleasure to the contrarie, whill³ I had it of the Earl of Salisburie; of purpose, as I have since found it, to exasperat his Ma., as a contempt not ordinarie there, where his Ma's commands are verie ceremoniouflic observed. But, as God shall judge me, I never heard anie other command from (his) Ma. but to attend his pleasure at Londone, and not to repaire to her Ma's Court.

Wedinsday thereafter, Sir Alexander Hay, having repaired to his Ma. comes with a Note, under his Ma. hand, commanding me that I should sett doune in writte the passing of that Letter to the Pope, and the circumstances, so far as I could remember. Beginning then to apprehend the buffinesse, and having gotten warning of his Ma's displeasure, and the advantage my enemies presumed they had gotten, I become more spairing; and by my Letters to his Ma. desired that I might be excused that I could not sett down the particulars of that, under my hand, after so long a tyme; except that either I were in Scotland, where my papers might bring me to remembrance, or that I had mett with Sir Edward Drummond; begging his Ma's patience, whill³ I might send for him; which I offered to doe with convenient speed, who should bring with him the just copy of that Negotiatione, and should give his Ma. and all the world satisfacione of the truth. But that was not intended; but contrarie to the truth, to big upon me an unjust imputatione; wherof the production of the Letter would have made me cleare.

THE COPIE of the LETTER sent to HIS MA. the 12 of October (1608.)

Please your most sacred Ma.

IN these particulare points your Ma. did demand of me, so farre as I can remember, I answer for your Ma's satisfacione; That your Ma. (of my knowledge) did never command or direct any Letter to be writtin to THE POPE, neither was I present when Sir Edward Drummond moved your Ma. for any such Letter. That your Ma. did never style your self 'FILIUS' in any Letter, but to your Mother-in-law, the Queene of Denmark. That your Ma. did never writt 'FATHER' or 'HOLINESSE' to any. As to the Letter written be your Ma. to POPE CLEMENT, although I doe remember that there was some such Letter, conteaining nothing but a Recommendatione of the Bilhop of Vaizone, I humble crave your Ma's pardone, if I can make no declaratione how it was past, whill Sir Edward Drummond, who was the author, bearer and procurer thereof, be first examined; whom I am about prefentlie, with your Ma. permiffione, to fend for, by whom the whole circumftances of that mater fhall be clearlie detected. For I proteft before God, for the prefent, I cannot perfetlie remember how that mater was paf; moft humblye craveing your moft facred Ma. (fince I am moft willing, for your Ma^s obedience, to clear your Ma. of that before all the world) that in remembrance of my loving and affectionate humble fervice, yee will be pleafed to accord me the tyme and meanes, wherby the veritie of my part in all that mater may be manifested; which as I doe expect, out of your Ma. princely accustomed clemencie, fo fhall I ever pray, &c.

¹ Private communings; whispering.

² Archbishop Bancroft, formerly Bishop of London.

³ Until.

COPIE of the LETTER to HIS MA. the 15 of October 1608.

I DOE remember that I moved his Ma. divers times to have written to THE POPE, both to have taken notice of his kindneffe, and to have recommended the Bifhop of Vaizon; and that his Ma. did refufe, onlie for that he could not, with safe confcience, yeild him thefe titles of ‘Father’ and ‘Holineffe,’ which he¹ did allow: But if otherwife the Pope would have accepted his Ma. Letters, with the Titles of other Temporall Princes, he would have written him. As to the circumftances of paffing of that Letter, I proteft before God I cannot call them to my memorie; but by conference with Sir Edward Drummound, and with fuch as ferved me at that tyme, and with fuch other admiraucles as I will find in my own papers, I hope I fhall give his Ma. fatisfactione.

HIS Ma. not content to admit my delayes, remembring the circumftance of that negociatione better then I, he fetteth down a number of interrogationes, under his hand, with a Letter to the Counfell of England, commanding them to examine me. Being brought before them, I at firft declined their Judgement, till they declared that they would not take upon them to judge me; but, following his Ma. commandement, to examine me and remitt me to my ordinarie Judge. In end, to all the particulars, I answered, in fuch fort, that they could not mend themfelves, nor bring me in compaffe of any Law. The Earle of Dumbar, the Lord Skoone and Sir Alexander Hay present.—Thereafter his Ma., being difcontented of my unwillingneffe to cleare him, and to burthene my felf with the fault, yea to tak upon me fome points (which his Ma. affirmed he remembered,) which, in truth, I could not call to my memorie, the Earle of Dumbar directed the Lord Burlie² to me, a verie favourable and faft Nobleman, and who had, immediatlie before the Earle of Dumbar’s parting out of Scotland, renewed a friendfhip between him and me, which was the greateft caufe of my repair to Court, that it might be confirmed there, before the Queen’s Ma.; and his Ma. fatisfied, by the Earles meanes, of whatfoever hard opinion he had conceived either againft the Chanceler or me, by fuggeftione of the Bifhops. His credit from the Earle of Dumbar was to advife me, for my own good, fince it was confefled by me that fuch a Letter was purchafed, and that his Ma. had denied it, that rather, ere the imputatione fhould lye upon his Ma., I fhould take it upon me. When I obtended the perrell of my eftate, his Ma^s difcontentment and their malice, the Lord Burlie gave in this affurance, that my life, eftate, nor Ropar’s Reverfione fhould be in no dangere. As to my Offices, to leave them to his Ma^s difpofitione; whither he would take them from me or not. I finding manie enemies there, and being fraitlie kepted, I enter, be the Lord Burleyes meanes, who from the beginning has ever kepted ane honeft part to me, in a more particular freindfhip with the Earle of Dumbar. And, becaufe the Lord Skoon and Sir William Hart had diverfe tymes travelled with me to have married one of the Earle of Dumbar’s fifter-daughters, I was content to give him my eldeft fone to be difpofed upon in marriage at his pleafure, to give the Palace and Park of Hallyroodhoufe; and if he desired Reftalrige, he fhould have it for the price I bought it. Thefe conditions, as the Lord Burlie told me, pleafed him, and fo he would take upon him my protectione, if I would follow his advice, which I was content to do, knowing what power he had, and how eafie it was to him to calme all ftormes; allwife defiring him to carie his affectione to me fo fecreitie, as the Bifhops, Sir Alexander Hay, the Earle of Wigtoun and others my fmall friends, should know nothing of it. He was so diligentlie allwife attended be some of these, that after he had appointed me diverse meetings, he could never meete with me; alwise, he assured me what ever the Lord Burlie should say, in his name, I might trust it, and he would performe the same. And hear-upon I desire my friends to enquire the Lord Burlie, if this assurance was not given be the Earle of Dumbar, that my life, my estate, and Ropar's Reversione should be sure; as for my Offices, they should rest in his Ma. dispositione; and it might be I would not want them.

¹ Viz. the Pope.

² Sir Michael Balfour, created Lord Balfour of Burleigh, in Kinross-shire, Aug. 7, 1606.

The Earle of Dumbar thus entered in conditions with me; and the Lord Burlie putt in trust, for him and me both, for all conditions on both parts. The first directione was, that I should writte a Letter to him, desiring he should convene the Earles of Salisburie, Northampton and Suffolk, befor whom I should grant all the King's Articles; and thereafter writte a Letter to his Ma. to the same effect. He willed me to use these three Noblemen to strengthen his credit, that they being engadged to be my friends, he might the more easilie worke that he had undertaken; and all the said Noblemen promised upon their honours that they should be my friends, and would joyne with the Earle of Dumbar to satisfie his Ma. All which I performed. Then was I delivered in the Earle of Dumbar's keeping, who promised that I should allwise be his prisoner; and at my returning to Scotland I should be warded in the Castle of St Andrewes. By this advise, I wrotte a becomming in his Ma. will, which the Lord Burlie gave him. He returned me an answer with him, that his Ma. was weill pleased with it, and all would go weill; onlie, I was desired to adde this, that I would renew the same judicialle, when I should be required; which I did.

THE COPIE of the LETTER to HIS MA. 24 of October 1608.

Most gracious and dread soverane,

IT is over great presumptione to offer to your most princelie eyes these lynes, from the hands which have so highlie offended your most sacred Ma.; but, because it was continuance in my offence to labour to obscure the cleare soule of your Ma^s unspotted integritie, and that the imputatione of my misdemanour, which I justlie deserve, may lye upon my self, and your Ma^s innocencie cleared to all the world, I have truelie fett down here, how that Letter to POPE CLEMENT, wherewith your Ma. is fallie taxed, was, without your knowledge, past your hand, amongst other Letters which I did present to your Ma., by the abuse of your Ma^s trust, whereof I was not worthie. In the year of God 1598, at the earnest sute of the late Archbishops of Glasgou,¹ your Ma^s Ambassader then resident in France, the Bishop of Vaizon and divers others your Ma^s weill affectioned friends and servants, both in Italie and France, who were verie earnest to have had some correspondents betuixt your Ma. and the Pope. Sir Edward Drummond being directed by them in Scotland, to follow that businesse, I presumed divers tymes to move your Ma. therein; and did offer to your Ma. the frame of such a Letter as I would have signed be your Ma. to the Pope; whereunto I never found your Ma. so unwilling as your Ma. did altogether refuse to writte; denying ever to writte anie Letter, with these stiles which the Pope did assume to himself. But I being in my too great zeale, and assured hops were given me by greater statesmen then my self, of the benefite would come to the strengthing your Ma^s title,² by the Pope's friendship, overcome with weaknesse, and presuming that the successe of my true intentione should efface the memorie of my offence, I caused draw up a Letter, with the said Sir Edward's hand, as from your Ma. to the Pope; but verie spairinglie, onlie containing thanks for his kindnesse and bygainne favour, with Recommendatione of the Bishop of Vaizone, your Ma^s native borne subject, to be made a Cardinall. To the which Letter, among others of that kind, written to the Duke of Florence, Sawoy and some Cardinalls, in favours of the said Bishop, (all presented be me unto your Ma. one day in the morning, when your Ma. was going a hunting, in haste,) your Ma. did fett your hand: For your Ma., finding the Letters all in Latine, and the Bishop of Vaizon's Recommendatione the subject, and having formerlie refused to writte to the

¹ James Beaton, the second archbishop of that name.

² To the Throne of England.

Pope, did nothing suspect that anie such thing should have been offered to your hand. And after your Ma. had signed it, Sir Edward Drummond did adde the Pope's stiles, both in the beginning, and above your Ma's subscriptione in the end of it. Some Letters, two or three as I remember, signed by your Ma. to some Cardinalls, containing nothing but thanks and recommendatione of the said Bishope, were given to the said Sir Edward cloffe, catcheted, to be directed, by the Bilhop of Glasgows advice, to such of them as were, in his judgement, best affected to your Ma.: And I did hear, after, two of them were given to Aldobrandine and Bellarmine, and the thrid to Cajetan, who was Protectour of the Scottish Natione. Here was my first fault of preposterous zeale, weaknesse, and presumptione. My next was fear of your Ma's displeasur; because the late Queen's Ambassader having expostulated for your Ma's dealing with the Pope, and I being asked therof, be your Ma., I did pertinacioullie denie that there was anie such mater; and for your Ma's better satisfacione, I moved Sir Edward Drummond to returne into Scotland; who, being examined, did at my desire justifie my deniall, and that he had caried no Letter for the Pope. I pressed him, verie instantlie, at his returning, to labour to reter the said Letter, and to destroy it, fearing least the knowledge of it hereafter might breed your Ma's discontentment, as it hes done at this tyme, to my exceeding great sorrow. And because my attestatione in this kind, which I protest, before God and his angels, is true, and yett will not be a sufficient liberatione of your princelie honour, which is dearer to me then my life, I am not hearby to beg anie pardone, but that your Ma. in your most rare and princelie wisdom, will take such course, but¹ any respect unto me, whereby your Ma's innocencie and my offence may be made knowne to the world. And so, in all humilitie, attending to suffer what your Ma. will impose, and to obey whatsoever your Ma. will be pleased to command, I pray God grant your sacred Ma., according to the sinceritie of your heart, a true and just constructione of all your actions befor all the world, and, after a long and most prosperous raigne, eternall felicity.

COPIE of my becomming in Will, 3 November, 1608.

Please your most gracious and sacred Ma.,

As at the verie first I did ingenouly Confesse my offence, and have particularly sett down under my hand the whole circumstances of it, and likewise answering to the severall interrogatours whereupon I was examined, I have in everie point declared the veritie; so, still continuing most desirous that your Ma's honour should be free of any such imputatione, and my offence without anie longer delay knowne to the world, doe, by these presents, in all humilitie, freelie and absolotlie submit my self, and become in your Ma's Will; that since onlie against your Ma. my offence is committed, so your Ma. will irrogat unto me such punishment as in your true justice and princelie clemencie I have deserved. And this my becomming in Will, I will renew, or reiterat in Judgment, or without, so oft as I shall be required.

AFTER this, the Earle of Salisburrie causes be drawn up, upon his Ma's Interrogatours and my Answeres, a forme of a Depositione, making everie particular deid to be Treafone—that I had trateroullie conspired with Sir Edward Drummond to deceave the King, and steall his hand to a Letter to the Pope—that I had trateroullie caused put the catchett to it—and that I had commanded Sir Edward, above the King's subscriptione, to writte 'Sanctitatis v. obsequentissimus filius,' so like the King's hand as could be—and so, I had made him fallie to counterfoote the King's hand. This Depositione being offered to me to subscribe, I refused (at) the first; because it made that to be Treafone and treasonable which was not; since the Letter contained nothing but meere complements, and a recommendatione of a Scottishman to be a Cardinall; and that ane Officers trust was greater then to procure a common recommendatione; and the putting of the Catchett to it was lesse treasonable; seing by that Letter his Ma's honour, nor state, nor Religione, was not harmed, nor no damages nor inconvenience had followed upon it. The last part was directly crimen falsi; and as I had not deponed it, so it was not true. At this meeting were present the Chancellor of England, Salisburie, Northampton, Suffolke,² my lord Duke of Lennox, the Earle of Dumbar, Sir Thomas Smith Clerk of the Counsell, and Sir Alexander Hay.— My answere to the last, the Chancellor granted to be true, and that it was but a mistaking; and so it was mended, and that article deleted, in so farre as it concerned the counterfooting of the King's hand. As to the first, my Lord of Salisburie answered me, that what they had sett down was onlie to give his Ma. satisfacione; and it was nothing to me, since his Ma. had accepted me in Will, was to deale gratiouſlie with me, and not to proceede judiciale with me any more. Whatever might please his Ma., and in his Ma's opinion give the world satisfacione, and clear his honour, since it was not to harme me, it was unfit that I should refuse his Ma. to give his Ma. what should please him, seeing it was not to prejudice me. And upon this assurance, and the Earle of Dumbar's former Declaratione, that the King had weill accepted of my becoming in Will, and that my not subscribing of this Depositione hindred the progresse of the King's answere to TORTUS booke, wherof this Depositione behoved to be a part, I sett my hand to it, in presence of the Noblemen and others above written, who, I am sure, upon their honour, will not denie it. And hearupon I desire my friends to inquire the Duke of Lennox, the Earle of Dumbar, and Sir Alexander Hay.

¹ Without.

² Thomas Howard, Earl of Suffolk. He was Lord Chamberlain at the time of the Gun-

LAST, the King's Ma. having concluded to returne me in Scotland, because all this matter was carried with a great show (as was said to his Ma.) to cleare his honour, but in effect to disgrace me, and make me odious, I was brought before the Counsell. (Not only) all the Noblemen, both English and Scottish, (and) all the Judges were brought, but all the Court, so many as the Counsell-Chamber could contane. The Chancellor declared the cause of that solemne meetinge, made my Depositione to be read, and with a long harrange and many reasons did aggravat my offence, to his Ma's great praise; and in the end, remitted the matter to Scotland, to be judged there. Nixt, the Earle of Salisburie had as long a discourse, all to disgrace me, to flatter the King, and to shew his eloquence. Thridlie, the Earle of Northampton, to testifie his zeale as a witnesse, how alien his Ma. was from anie dealing with the Pope, these 18 years he had keepe correspondence with his Ma., damned all my proceedings. I had wairning the night before that I was to be so used, as the Lord Burle,¹ who had bene mediator betwixt the Earle of Dumbar and me, being departed to Scotland, I was forced to send for James Bailzie, a verie trustie young man, to whom I am infinitie bound, and who (nixt my Lord Burle) was verie privy betwixt the Earle of Dumbar and me; whom I desired to shew his lordship, that I understood that I was to be brought before the Counsell the nixt day, and that they were to rail upon me. That he should not think it evill if I should say, for my owne defence, that which I would make good; that there was no point which they were to lay against me, which I would not answere. He returned James Bailzie to me, with this answere, earnestlie praying me, since that was the last that in that earand was to be done, not for my prejudice, but for his Ma's honour and satisfacione, that I would answere nothing; but in all humilitie acknowledge my offence, cleare and liberate his Ma., renew my becoming in Will, and desire my Lords of Counsell to become interestors, that his Ma. would end the processe, by his Declaratione. This would be most acceptable to his Ma., who would be behind a peece of tapestry,² and if I played my owne part right, his Ma. would be best pleased. Which I also obeyed.

The Chancellor, in Counsell, produced his Ma's Warrant, declaring his Ma's Will, that I should be no more one of that bodie. Which Declaratione of his Ma's Will, having no Convictione nor Warrant, but my becoming in Will was ane acceptatione of it; so, having declared a part of his Will, by no law, thereafter, he might have proceedede judiciale with me. Immediatlie after the Counsell, the Earle of Dumbar sent James Bailzie to me, to give me thanks; and to shew how weill his Ma. was pleased; powder Plot, and was, with Lord Mounteagle, the chief means of detecting that remarkable Conspiracy. See Carte, 111. 757—Winwood's Memorials, 11. 171. Suffolk was turned out of his office, in 1618, for embezzlement, &c.

¹ Sir Michael Balfour, Lord Balfour of Burleigh. ² This was by no means an uncommon practice of 'his most sacred Majesty,' and conveys no favourable idea of the course of his proceedings, in this remarkable transaction. It reduces the whole matter to a mere stage trick, and a solemn mockery of the highest Tribunal and personages of the Country.

and that his Ma. would have that in writt, which I spake. Which also I fett doune. And because there was some words his Ma. (as he affirmed) desired to be added, which he affirmed I spake,¹ the words written with his hand, and brought to me be the said James Bailzie, I insert with my hand and subscribed; and send them to him, with the said James. And hearupon I desire, if need, that my friends may inquire the said James.

The summe of the Counsell of England's proceedings, on Sunday, the 13 of November, 1608.

THE said day, in the after noone, the whole Counsell being convened in the Counsell-chamber, the whole Judges, and all the Noblemen, both Scottish and English, that were at Court, THE LORD CHANCELLER² beganne a verie grave speech, wherein he did earnestlie require audience and attentione, in respect of the great consequence of the mater he was to speake of. It was so much the greater, that it was a novitie wherof he had never heard, nor (to his knowledge) in all his books read of any the like president, of before. It was of great consideration, because it did touche the Kings most sacred Ma. and royale persone, both in his honour and his safetie, wherein did consist the safetie of the whole estate. The mater was also weightie, in respect of the persone whom it did concerne; a Nobleman of Scotland, raised to that estate by his Ma^s favour, and a Member of that board. As to the mater, because he might perhaps faile in the relating of it (which he was very unwilling to doe, in a mater of that kinde and weight,) therefor he desired the Instrument, containing the Lord Balmerinoch his Confession, and signed with his hand, should be read. The same being read, and acknowledged be the Lord Balmerinoch to be his owne Confession, then he said to the Lords of the Counsell, that he did perceave, by their countenances, that they all did looke on that mater as if it were a mater wherin they were to give their sentence and judgement. But he prayed them not to thinke so; and that he would releave them of that burthen; because neither were they convened to that end, neither was the said Lord Balmerinoch brought down to make any answer; because that mater was transcendent, and of a greater weight than that board, or any Counsell board, could judge of it; but, because it was a fact committed in Scotland, be a Scottishman, before his Ma^s happie coming to the Crown of England, they would not doe that prejudice to Scotland, that was as ancient and free a kingdome; as they are so well governed, with so many grave and ancient Noblemen; whose Nobilitie is continued and reserved with a farre greater respect and antiquitie nor their owne; so wise a Counsell of Estate, so learned and grave Judges, as in all these perfectionis they were nothing inferiour to them. Onlie, for the present, he would point out and offer to their considerations, that were present, some heads of that Confession, which had been the consequents of that fact; and so remitt it to the own Judgement,³ and the Lord Balmerinoch to his own answer before his owne Judge. First, he desired they should attend the tyme when his Letter was written; to witt, when his Ma. was, in possessione, King of Scotland; in his title and undoubted royall descent, apparent of England. How this fact might have perrelled him both the one and the other, if it had been knowne that his Ma. had had any dealing with the Pope; for, in Scotland, the most of all the Nobilitie, gentrie, and whole bodie of the kingdome, being of the Religione they presentlie professè, would not have failed to have made insurrectione, if they had knowne that his Ma. had any dealing with the Pope. In England, the late Queene, of happie memorie, being a Prince verie jealous and narrow looking in all his Ma^s actions, if she had knowne that his Ma. had had any course with the Pope, she would have quicklie objected unto his Ma., that since he was taking a forane course to strengthen him, speciallie with these who had so often futed⁴ her life, she would likewise take another course, for her owne preservation; and so might have endangered his Ma^s just clame. Like as, in effect, the same dealing coming to her knowledge, she did incontinent send her Ambassader, and did most bitterlie expostulat with his Ma.; and the dealing, at that time, was denied; and so smoothered over. Nixt, he did mightilie aggredge¹ the great inconveniences that had fallen out, all (as he did affirme,) upon the dealing mentioned in that Confessione; first, that it had given occasione of an infinit number of scandalous books and pamphlets to be written, wherin his Ma. was verie bitterlie taxed; and speciallie, he did there produce Bellarmines late book, under the inscriptione, which he did read, of one whose name being TORTUS, he did allude therunto that he was alwise tortus.² The parcell³ he read, was the fault found with Pope Clement's Breave; wherby he did command the body and estates of this kingdome of England not to admitt or receive a King, in case of the Queen's decease, but a Catholicke; and so did exclude his Ma. from his just title. To the which clause, contained in the book of Triplici nodo triplex cuneus, Bellarmine made this answer, that by that Breave, the Pope did not meane to exclude the King, because the name 'Jacobus' was not mentioned in it; and withall, the Chancellor did observe, in the words he read, that Bellarmino did give the author of the book a lye, in the word 'mentitur;' nather could it be meant of his Ma., because his fervants and Minister had given great hopes to the Pope, that 'non erat valde alienus a fide Catholica;' and thereafter, 'quia etiam Rex ipse scripsit ad Pontificem ipsum, Literas humanitatis plenas, quibus, præter cetera, rogavit ut aliquis a Natione sua Cardinalis S. R. E. erearetur, per quem facilius cum Pontifice res suas tractare possit:' Which words being conforme to the Lord Balmerinoch's Depositione, the same had given occasione of the writing of that booke; in manie parts wherof his Ma. was bitterlie touched. Nixt, upone the occasione, contained in that Depositione, did grow all the Conspiracies that, since his Ma^s commeing to England, had fallin furthe; for by this dealing with the Pope, unknowne to his Ma. great hopes were given to the Catholicks, that when his Ma. should come to the Crowne of England, his Ma. should either declare himself a Catholicke, or, at the least, the Catholicks should have a toleratione of Religione, within his dominion; wherof, finding themselves disappointed, they did move their Conspiracies. For fearelie was his Ma. warmelie sett down in this kingdom of England, when Watfone the Preist and a number of his adherents did attempt against his Ma^s royall persone; for the which a number of them were apprehended and punished. Nixt, upon it came the devilish intentione and practise of the Powder Treafone, wherin was intended the taking away of the King, Queene and their posteritie, the Counsell, Bishops, Nobles, Judges, Gentry, and whole bodie of the realmes; for the which a number were punished, and a great many, in his Ma^s clemencie, spared. Therafter, that none should mistake their proceedings, in the tryell and examination of the Lord Balmerinoch, he declared all the points therof, adding, that although it was a case might receive judgement in England, in respect it did concerne his Ma^s persone, which hath so many priviledges that it draweth all Judgments⁴ after it; and that the Lord Balmerinoch that was to be judged was present, and so might receive his judgement there, yett such was his Ma^s respect to his ancient native kingdome of Scotland, and they were so farre from encroaching upon the liberties therof, and knowing the tender regarde that the Nobilitie and Estate would have to a mater that did so highlie concerne his Ma.; after a long reiterated discourse, in the praise and honour of that kingdome, Counsell, Nobilitie and government of it, declared, that they would remitt the mater to receive judgement there.

¹ Balmerino was thus led forward by one piece of artifice after another, until, at length, he was so completely in Dunbar's toils, that retreat was impossible. ² Sir Thomas Egertoun, Lord Ellesmere, afterwards (1616) created Viscount Brackley. ³ To the natural and proper Court or Jurisdiction, in Scotland; where he would be tried by an Assise of his peers. ⁴ Pursued.

NIXT, THE LORD TREASURER⁵ begane a verie grave speech. After the dew commendatione of the Lord Chancellor, that had spoken before; that he was verie sorie to have occasione to speack of a mater of that kind; but since it did concerne, so highlie, the life and honour of his most sacred Ma. (whose life was dearer to him nor his owne) he should be thought verie undutifull, being so manie wise bound, if he were silent in it. There, having given his Ma. his owne dew praise, at great length,⁶ he did next adde that he was sorie to speake of it, in respect of the persone whom it did concerne,—a Nobleman, by his Ma^s favour, a Counsellor of State, yea more, a Secretarie of State, and one against whom, his dentie reserved in this, he would be loath to have spoken. The fume of his speech grew to that same end of my Lord Chancellor's former Speech, that his Ma^s dealing with the Pope might have breed him, in his owne kingdome, disobedience, and done him prejudice in his title to England; that if his Ma. had beene of the counsell of writting of that Letter to the Pope, he would affirme that he had bowed his knee to Baal; being desirous to establishe, for his affaires, ane Advocat at Rome. Nixt, by the words of Bellarmin's booke, then produced, he shew, that the Pope took upon him to declare the Crown of England elective; because, by the words of the Pope's Breeve, the estate and bodie of England were commanded, first, 'non admittere;' next, 'non instituire, nisi Regem orthodoxum et Catholicum'—so the heretable descent of the Crown of England was taken away, and behoved to be holden in almous¹ of the Bishop of Rome; that he would not be content to be Bishop of Rome, but would have all Europe at his dispositione. And, in another place of the booke, he shew ane conclusion more offensive to his Ma.—'ergo REX JACOBUS neque est Catholicus, neque est Christianus.' That, for himself, he did never say so much of any Catholick; and that he did verilie beleave that a true Catholick was Christianus. Nixt, he fell out upon the office of a Secretarie, the great credit and trust thereof; that in a Secretarie's breast is laid in store, the treasure of all the secrets of the kingdome; that fides and trust is of that nature, that fides quæ semel accedit nunquam revertitur;—that he feared, in tyme to come, his Ma. behoved ather to have no such officer, or ells divide the trust of maters of no importance to one, and common affairs to another;—that of a King's hand-writte, if it may be caried by² the knowledge of the Prince, is more dangerous nor ane army of twentie thousand men; because the one may be fore-seene, the other not. Nixt, in the nature of the fact, he compared the King's Seall with his hand-writt; that the Great Seall was but the King's image, but his hand-writte was his minde; but if any thing should be added above the Great Seall, for himself, he would think it verie near Treafone, leaving them to consider what it was to adde any thing above his Ma^s hand-writt. He desired to be excused if he were a little kindled, and did remember the manie favours he had of his Ma., that he possessed manie places that were fitter for others, yett none should goe before him in trust nor affectione.³ To testife his Ma^s unwillingness to have dealing with THE POPE, he did remember how his Ma. refused to receive anie Ambassâder from him; and how he commanded the Ambassâder Lieger in France, to shew the Pope's Nuncio in Parise, that if anie of his Ministeris in his name had promised more then they had warrant, the Pope should not expect anie performance therof from him. Last, he made (as he called it) a punctuall discourse of all the proceedings in the Lord Balmerinock's Examinatione, and how his Ma^s memorie was a great deall better in that mater then his; and by his particular interrogations, had brought him to a Confessione: And, after ane example and verie large commendatione of the Kingdome of Scotland, and wise and grave government of it, did remitt the judgement of that mater to them, not doubting but they would proceed in it, as his Ma^s interest and the weight of the mater did require.

¹ Aggravate. ² Crooked, perverse. ³ Portion, passage. ⁴ Jurisdictions, Tribunals. ⁵ Sir Robert Cecil, Earl of Salisbury, Principal Secretary of State. He succeeded to the office on the death of Sackville, Earl of Dorset, in 1608. ⁶ Well knowing his Majesty to be behind the tapestry!

After him, THE LORD PRIVIE SEALE⁴ had a Speech, wherof this was the preface. If he had had libertie of speech, as he had not, he would have chosen these two noble lords who had so gravelie and learnedlie spoken to have gone before him; for they had taken up the crope of all was to be collected of the present mater, so cleanlie, as they had left nothing behind to him to glean; but he did remember to have read of the nature of the bee, that at first comming upon the flowre, she did gather the honie, and after the honey being collected, she did gather the waxe. So would he, since there was no

¹ In alms; as an eleemosynary gift.

² Without, contrary to.

³ The whole of these Speeches and gratuitous affirmations were in reality addressed to the King 'behind the arras,' and they were all so constructed, by these Court sycophants, as to be most palatable to the royal taste. The knowledge of this circumstance must sink the speakers in the estimation of all who read such abominablerodomontade, and convert all their fulsome adulation into solemn mockery or absolute farce.

⁴ The celebrated Henry Howard, Earl of Northampton, who was styled by the French Ambassador, Monsieur de Beaumont, 'one of the greatest flatterers and calumniators that ever lived?' He was deeply involved in the murder of Sir Thomas Overbury; but died before that atrocious affair was publicly investigated. The private and intriguing Correspondence between King James and Cecil, previous to his accession to the throne of England, was carried on through the medium of this individual. See Lord Hailes' Letters, &c.

honey left, gather up some waxe to seale up the mater with. And first, after a large commendatione of his Ma^s so manie rare and princelie qualities, whom that mater did so highlie concerne, (which he protested he did not as a sycophant or flatterer,¹ but as a true and faithful Counsellor,) he did say some thing of his affectione and dutie to the Lord Balmerinoch, with great sorrow for his error in that kind, that he should have thought it a fave way for his Ma. to have left his assured true friend, which was the Queene and Estate of England, to follow after a stranger, speciallie since of his own knowledge (for the space of 19 years) it had pleased his Ma. to keepe intelligence with him. He perfittie knew that his Ma. was most unwilling to anie such course. First, how in the 88 (1588) the Bishop of Dumblane cam in Scotland with so many great offers; and if his Ma. would have given him anie, never so little hope, the Pope would have stayed that great Armado. Nixt, come Sir James Chisholme, who dealt in the same course, and because he did not prevaill, he did break his heart, and so died. Watfone the Preist having come in Scotland and dealt with his Ma., did confesse to his lordship, that he could never have more of his Ma.—but if ever he came to the Crowne of England, that he would not come to break the law, but to keepe it: And that the said Watfone, being in prison, some few dayes before his executione, his lo. went, by his Ma^s commandement, to examine him in that point; who declared to him, that he could never gett anie farther grant of his Ma. nor is before said: not-the-lesse, to the end he might keepe the Catholicks in better dispositione towards his Ma. he did give them better hopes. That Sir James Lindsay did bring his Ma. a Letter from the Pope, which he refused, and would not so much as suffer the same to be unclosed. Last, since his Ma^s coming in England, there come one from the Duke of Lorane to his Ma., who being weill received, as the Duke of Loran's fervant, having thereafter secretly shewed unto his Ma. that he was the Pope's gentleman, and had some directions from him to his Ma., he would heare no more of him; and his Ma. did mightilie complaine that the Duk of Lorane did use him in that kind. And hereupon did he condemne the Lord Balmerinoch his course, in respect of his Ma^s unwillingnesse to have anie dealing with the Pope. He said farther, that if at that tyme when the Queen's Ambassader did expositulat, the course had been revealed, the fault had been the lesse. That it was God's singular caire over his Ma., that by the coming furthe of such a book, at such a tyme, when the Lord Balmerinoch was present to reveale the truth, his Ma^s innocencie in it was so cleared. And because that some doe justifie the couns, because of the good intentione of it, that he had read, that in good intentions three things were requisit, Ist, that they should be in things indifferent; nixt, that they should not be contra preceptum; last, that they should not be in prejudicium tertiæ personæ. Nather of which was observed in this; because it was not a thing indifferent to the King to keepe correspondence with the Pope, being a mater prejudiciall to his estate; next, that it was contra preceptum, because he was not of his Religione; last, it was prejudicium tertij, because the Queene of England was thereby intereffed; so as the intentione of it could not procure it anie allowance. In end, after a large commendatione of the countrie of Scotland, and his best wilhes that the Kingdome of England would looke carefullie in their honour, and not admitt everie one so indifferentlie to it, following the example of Scotland, he did likewise remitt the mater to be tried and judged there; not doubting but it would be carefullie done, according to the weight of the mater and his Ma^s expectatione.

Thereafter, MY LORD CHANCELLER declared, that since that Board was his Ma^s bodie representative, and all the members of it were at his Ma^s dispositione, and alterable with the breath of his mouth; that it was his Ma^s pleasure, that the Lord Balmerinoch should no more be one of that boord. Whereupon he did produce a Warrant, signed be his Ma.; which being read by the Clerk of the Counsell, the Chancellor desired that all the Lords of the Counsell should take notice of it.

¹ 'Hem!' His Majesty must have been a 'glutton' indeed, and his appetite for flattery altogether insatiable, if these Speeches did not give him a complete surfeit! It is evident that this intriguing politician well knew what would best please the royal palate. Strange as these things may now appear, such was the King's taste,—and de gustibus non disputandum!

[THIS, or near this, I would have answered, for my own justificatione; if that, by three several commandements from the Erle of Dunbar, I had not been defired to the contrarie. James Bailzie was the carrier of the message.]

To the first Speeche, it might have been answered, that if the reverence and majestie of the person, (whom the mater was affirmed to touch in honour and safetie) the gravitie and eloquence of the speaker, and the hatefull dispositione which was against the persone which was to be censured, had not extraordinarie concurred, although the deed wanted a precedent, yett manie offences of greater importance and more perrellous precedents were smothered up, with silence: And wher,¹ it was now first said, that the Letter might have procured his Ma. the tinsell² of the Crown of Scotland, which he had in possessione; ther was no such appearance, because ther was no Scottish man, of whatsoever qualitie, so little sensible of his Soveran's wrong, but would rather have wished his Ma. to have had correspondance politick much more with the Pope, before he had been prejudged of his undoubted title to England, speciallie since that Letter (nor no constructione can be made upon it) does carie any prejudice to Religione, or other conditione hurtfull ather to his Ma's honour or estate. Nixt, where it was said, that the said Letter might have lost him the Crown of England, to the which he had undoubted right apparent, because the Queen might have taken exceptione att it, and so inclined some other way; first, it might have been answered, that his Ma's title was not at her dispositione, and if she had been discontent, there was no reason; for since she did ever refuse to yeild him anie assurance of his successione after her, (and Spaine avowedlie, and France under hand, besides others, as competitors, daylie talked of,) although he had laboured for the friendship of all the Christian Princes in Europe, upon just and honourable conditions, and without breach of dutie to her, she had no just cause of offence: Beside that, some did not spare to talke of some unseemly plots contrived in England, about that same time, to his Ma's prejudice. Secoundlie, where it was with great vehemencie and rare eloquence amplified, that that Letter had given subject and occasion to the writting of many pamphlets, wherein his Ma. was bitterlie touched, it might have been answered, that by the contrarie, it had stayed the writting of many and doing of many worfe turnes, had procured his Ma's good at the Court of Rome, the favour of all the Catholicks of Europe, but speciallie in England; and if his Ma. had been offended by anie books, they have had other grounds than that idle Letter; wherein Bellarmino alledgeth not, that ther was anie more, but a Letter full of courtesie, and a requit for a Cardinall; and if it had contained any other thing whereby his Ma. had been ingadged to the Pope's advantage, it had not been forgotten. Look therefore if the writting of the former books, or some other conditions then that Letter, hath not given occasion of this offence. Thridlie, where it was said that all the Popish Conspiracies did flow from that Letter, because the Catholicks, finding themselves disappointed of their hopes, did attempt all those devilish Treasones, it might have been answered, that if that Letter giveth anie such hope ather of the Kings Ma. being a Catholick, or toleratione, then is the argument good; but if not, then it holdeth not; and these hopes most be found out another way, and the authors of them charged with that imputatione.

The secound Speech, in so farre as it was carried out with the first, the same answers might have been repeated; but, where it was said, that if his Ma. had been of the knowledge of that Letter, he would have bowed the knee to Baal, appointing ane Aduocat at Rome;—that conclusion holds no more nor³ if it should be said, that the Queen, for writting manie Letters to the Turk, and appointing ane agent there, should have become a Mahumetan. Neither is there any that can doubt, but that great Statinane, who had the speeche, does know verie weill, that Princes of different Religiones have their Leagues and Amities, their intercourses of Negotiatione and civill affairs, without bowing their knees to strange Gods. As to the invectives against the Pope, they were all just, and verie pertinentlie and eloquentlie delivered; yett they did not aggravat that fact, neither was there any thing in that Letter that did allow of them. As to the objections of violating the trust of a Secretarie, that could not be denied; and so the partie doth grant his offence, pretending onlie, that as an expert Phisician, in a disperat disease, or a perfitte Pilot, in an extraordinarie tempest, is not alwise tyed to the precise rules of his art, so some things are permitted to Statfmen in their places; and he, perhaps, feing his Ma^s great danger; and that, for writing a stile to a Pope, he would give his enemies so great advantage, and perrell a Kingdome, he did temerarioullie adventure his credit: And for that was talked of the nature that fides quæ ubi semel recessit nunquam revertitur, that politick maxime giveth ane answer, si violandi regni causâ, and the more is he excusable, that it was to his master and not to himself; and as he durst and should have adventured his life to have foughten for it, so did he perrell his trust to conserve it. To that, that a King's hand-writt, if it might be caried by his knowledge, was more dangerous than 20,000 men, that is an argument ab incommodo, which since the deid is past long since, and no harme followed upon it, neither to his Ma. nor his dominions, it followeth no more. To that of the comparifon of the broad-seales to the King's hand, and what is the danger to writte above any of them, belongs to the Judges and Lawyers, to determine; but in the law of reafone and civill justice, where there is no fraud meant, no harme done, nor no inconvenience can ensue, the fault is the lesse.

¹ Whereas.² Loss; from tyne, to lose.³ Than.

In the last Speech, most gravelie and eloquentlie delivered, because it was for the most part a narratione of particulars, testifeing his Ma^s unwillingness to writt or have any dealing with the Pope, it is like enough to be true; for if his Ma. had been willing, or wittinglie had sett his hand to the Letter, then there had been no fault committed, so that causeth the Confessione of him who abused his Ma^s trust. And where as, his good intentione to his Ma^s service, did furnilhe him some excuse, that was most learnedlie taken away by three caveats, which the Divines doe require to make intentions justifiable; first, that they be in things indifferent; nixt, that they be not contra præceptum; thridlie, that they be not in præjudicium tertii: To all which it might have been answered, first, generallie, that the politicke courses, so weill knowne to so great a wise man in state maters, are not to be ruled according to the strick rules of Divinitie; and particularlie, to everie caveat there can be nothing more indifferent, nor¹ a free Prince to writte a kind Letter to his neighbour, and to make to him a reasonable and just sute, hurtfull to no man; as for the secound, there is none of the commands that did forbid the King to writte to the Pope, for so præceptum in that mater is to be understood; thridlie, by that Letter there is no prejudice done to anie persone; and since his Ma. was by no League nor Bond bound to the Queen in the contrarie, no man will think that his Ma. should be answerable to ane imaginary prejudice, there being nothing contained in the said Letter that in any sort could hurt her, or any other persone. In all the Speeches, as they were most gravelie and eloquentlie delivered, so did they yeild, everie one of them, a rare and extraordinarie commendatione to the countrie of Scotland, the grave and ancient Nobilitie, the wise Counsell of Estate, the learned Judges, and the most tender regard, in all their actions, to his Ma.; wherof, as everie man did consider the end, so they ought² no small obligatione to them, for their exceeding kindnesse.

COPIE of the SPEECH which I/jpak, indeid, to THE COUNSELL, after the three Harangues before written.

MY verie honourable Lords, I find true this day in experience that which I had oft read and heard, that no exceeding joy,³ &c.

The Bishope of Glasgow,⁴ I think, with the counsell of the Erle of Wigtonne,⁵ despaired, before my coming to Court, that the Letter to the Pope should doe me anie harme; thinking, either that I should be denied it, or that it was of so small consequence as it could import no cryme. They had invented againſt me ſome interrogatours, whereupon the King ſhould have examined me, anent the Powder Treafone, which were kepted cloſſe from me, till immediatlie before my comming away: Then they were brought to me by my truſty friend Sir Alexander Hay, never letting me know of them, albeit they had been in his hands three moneths before. The juſt copie I have incloſed hearwith, and my anſwers. They are as frivolous as they are falſe; alwiſe I will my friends may ſee what hee beene the malicious curioſitie of my enemies to my diſgrace. I ſuſpect the Biſhop of Glaſgow, the Earle of Wigtoun and Sir Alexander Hay; and whatſoever the Earle of Wigtoun knew, was not kepted from Killſyth.¹

¹ Than. ² Owed. ³ See Vol. II. p. 578. Opposite the words 'but alace!' &c. (line 10 from bottom of the page,) there is written on the margin, 'These words added at the E. of Dumbar's desire, to please his Ma.' ⁴ John Spottiswood, afterwards Lord Chancellor (1634). He was translated to St Andrews, 1615. ⁵ John, sixth Lord Fleming, was created Earl of Wigton, Mar. 19, 1606. He married, 1st, Lillias, only daughter of John, 3d Earl of Montrose; 2dly, Sarah, eldest daughter of John, Lord Herries, and relict of Sir James Johnston of that Ilk.

In a Proclamatione, made at Weſtminſter, the 22 of February, 1603, which is imprinted, there is contained theſe words, in ſpeaking of Foreign Princes: ‘ Among which forran powers, although We acknowledge ourſelves perſonallie ſo much beholden to the new BiſHOPE OF ROME, for his kind offices and privat temporall cariage towards us in manie things, as We ſhall be ever readie to requyte the ſame toward him, as Biſhops of Rome, in ſtate and conditione as a ſecular Prince:’ Yet conſerr this Proclamatione with his Ma^s firſt Speeche in the Parliament Houſe, which is alſo printed, wherein he acknowledgeth his particular obligation to POPE CLEMENT, whereby it may be preſumed, as matters then were, what great diſcontentment it could have beene to his Ma. to write a Letter to him. Like as, many other Negotiationes which his Ma. had with him are more nor notoriouſlie known.

THE ſumme of the DECLARATIONE, ſubſcribed 18 November, 1608.

THAT at my firſt Examinatione I did denie, extenuatt and transferre the knowledge of that Letter; therefore, I did Confeſſe, that, at the ſoliſtatione of the Biſhops of Glaſgow, who was his Ma^s Ambaſſader, and the (Biſhop) of Vaizon, I laboured to have a correſpondence betwixt HIS MA. and THE POPE, I moved his Ma. in it, and found him unwilling. Therafter, I conſpired with Sir Edward Drummond to gett a Letter under his Ma^s hand to the Pope. Sir Edward drew up the Letter. I ſaw the draught of it, and corrected it. That one day, in the morning, when his Ma. paſt to hunting, I brought him a number of Letters to be ſigned, in favours of the Biſhop of Vaizone, to the Dukes of Sauoy, Florence, and ſome Cardinals; among the which Letters I ſhifted in that Letter to the Pope, having no ſuperſcriptione in the beginning, nor above his Ma^s name; and ſo gott his Ma^s name to it without his knowledge. That the Letter contained nothing but thanks to the Pope for his bygane kindneſſe, and deſire of continuance; that he would be pleaſed to advance the Biſhops of Vaizone to be a Cardinall, that his Ma. might have more intelligence of his affairs at that Court. That the Letters to the Pope were written in Roman Letters. I directed Sir Edward to writte the Popes ſtiles in the beginning; and in the end, ‘ Sanctitas’ and ‘ Filius.’ That the ſaid Letter was caſhetted at my command, be one of my ſervants who kepted the caſhett.² That in the late Queen’s tyme, ſome expoſtulation being made by her Ambaſſader anent the ſaid Letter, I did denie it, and cauſed Sir Edward, being come home, juſtifie my denyall, and that he had caried no ſuch Letter; being examined therupon be ſome of the Counfell. That he, being committed in ward, I laboured for him and procured his releefe. That I dealt earneſtly with him to returne the principall Letter, who promiſed to doe ſoe.³

[The Narrative is here interrupted by Calderwood’s own work. It is afterwards reſumed, being introduced by Calderwood in the following paſſage: ‘ About the beginning of December, the Secre-

¹ Sir William Livingſton, Lord Kilſyth, one of the ordinary Lords of Session. ² A ſtamp contrived to imitate the King’s ſignature, to ſave him the manual labour of ſigning certain official documents. It is ſtill in uſe, and is applied to particular writs not requiring the royal ‘ Sign-manual.’ ³ CALDERWOOD remarks here. ‘ The Preſident was ſent back to Scotland as a priſoner, with a Guard attending upon him, to be further tryed. When he came to Newcastle, he ſent the Laird of Pitloure to informe Mr James Melvill how he was dealt with, for ſtanding for the freedom of our countrie, and croſſing of the Biſhops and their proceedings; and deſired Mr James to writte to the good brethren at home, as he thought meet himſelf. When he came out of Newcastle, it was marked that he ſhed tears, which was a verie baſe thing in him. At Berwick he was heard to utter theſe words, “ I wiſh I had beene made a ſheep-keeper when I was made a ſcholler.”’ tare Sir James Elphinstone, President of the Colledge of Justice, came to Berwick, accompanied by the English Guard and some of the Earle of Dumbar's servants. He was received by the Captain of the Scottish Guard, Sir David Murrey Lord Skoone, latelie Comptroller, accompanied with the Scottish Guard and some of his friends; and was convoyed to waired to Falkland. The manner of his parting from London to this countrie he has sett down himself, as hear followeth, continuing his former relatione.']

ORDER hereafter being taken about my returning, my Lord Dumbar sent James Bailie to shew me, that there was some of the Guard, onlie for a shew, appointed to attend me; desireing I would not take it in evill part. They would ride with their coats till they were past Roydstoun, where his Ma. was; and from that, as other privat servants. He sent me word divers times that he would meet with me; but whill¹ the Earle of Wigtonne and the Bishops were gone, he could not, for suspicione.² So the verie day they parted, in the morning at ten hours, his lo. came to my house, although I had offerred to make the travell; but, because I was under commandement, it could not be. All this tyme I was attended to be two of his Gentlemen, who used me verie kindlie. The one was Alexander Auchinmowtie, brother to John Auchinmowtie; the other, James Carmichaell, sone to Watt Carmichaell of the Park; to whome I wishe my friends or to anie of theirs to be thankfull. At our meeting, I renewed to him what had past betwixt my Lord Burlie and me, my particular offers, for assurance of his Lordship's friendship, what I did expect mutuallie of him, as the Lord Burlie had promised in his name. All which he was well pleased with, and how soone my trouble was ended, which should be upon his coming in the countrie, he would enter in the due performance of every particular, and would establish such an alliance with me as should not be discovered. I complained that my waired³ was altered, because he had promised that I should remaine in the Castle of St Andrewes: He excused the estate of the house, and that he had as great credit in Falkland as in St Andrewes. Nixt, that the Lord Skoones Warrant was so trait: His answer was, that that was onlie done for the fashione; that the Bishops and Sir Alexander Hay procured it; but he would desire the Lord Skoon, by James Bailie, to use me well. He desired me to keepe all secret; and, as he was a Christian, every thing should (be) performed with no less care than I were his own brother, or his two daughters. He willed me not to be suspicious of any his actions, because it behoved him to follow the King's honour, please the Bishops and others that were my unfriends, in outward shewes, that he might the more easilie worke my turne to my contentment. I think that he entered in a speciall friendship with my Lady Drummond, and gave her that assurance of my life, estate, (and) Ropars office that he gave to the Lord Burlie.

Being come to Falkland to my waired, and more hardlie used nor I did expect, I directed to Court my cousin Pitlowre to put the Earl of Dumbar in memorie. My worthie friend the Lord Burlie tooke the pains likewise to go there, to make all former conditions sure; and, as I was informed, his Ma. directed no further, but that, in a Justice Court to be holden at St Andrewes, (for I desired it should not be in Edinburgh,) I should become in Will, and his Ma. to declare his Will, at his pleasure. But when my Lord of Dumbar came to Edinburgh, and found that Sir William Hart (who had gotten a promise of my place in Sessione) to putt me to ane Assise, and my Lord Collector⁴ to be Assessor, and a number of Assise that would convicte me upon my own Confessione, which is more than to gett me in Will. The Earle of Dumbar having advised with the Bishops, durst leave nothing undone of extremite against me; and the Collector, being more circumspect nor the rest of his fellows, and most desireous to have me sure, resolved the Earl, that none of my Depositiones made in England would serve against me, except I ratified them here. Whereupon, the coming of the Counsell to Falkland was appointed; and although I had been verie carelesse of the mater, because I was certified that there was no more ado but to take me, judicallie, in Will; yett, knowing of their coming to Falkland, I imagined at first the cause of it, and was resolved to have past from everie point of these Depositions, except onlie the naked veritie of the deid, wherupone no crime could follow; for most lawfullie I could have come against my Depositione, becaufe it was made extrajudicialle. And, in case they would make the Counsell of England a judicator, first, it was subscribed, not before the Counsell, but in the Earle of Salisburie's cabinet, before so many of the Counsell as are before mentioned; next, the Counsell of England could be no Judges competent to me, likeas I had lawfullie declined them of before; farther, it was made upon the conditione above mentioned, which I would have referred absolute to the Earl of Dumbar's oath; last, it was revocable, as made for fear of my life, or perpetuall imprisonment in the Towre. If they would have made my Dittay Treafone, becaufe it is so called in my Depositiones, the calling of a deed Treafone, non mutat naturam facti; as if I would confesse I had traitoroussie conspired to kill one of the King's bucks, would not convict me of Treafone; or that I had treasonable broken waird, being committed for fourtie pound of civill debt; so, the procuring of a common Letter of Recommendation, containing no Treafone, prejudice to the King, nor Estate, could never be Treafone. And whear as, it was affirmed to tuiche the Princes honour, the King did never refuse to acknowledge the Pope as a Catholick Prince, to whom he acknowledged himself bound; and so it was no dishonour to him to writte to him, seing the greatest Princes in Europe doe it ordinarlie, both of the Reformed Religione and others. That that Letter was prejudiciall to his Ma., his Religione, countrie and Estate, it could never be verified; for, except my own Depositione, (revoked, as I have said,) there could be no other verificatione, either by writte or witnesses; so no honest Judge or Assessor that had either conscience or honour could have sustained such a Dittay. And if they would have made it Crimen Falsi, out of the Lawes of the Majestie, (Reg. Maj.) I would have denied that my life could have been judged be the Majestie; more then ane hundredth kyne may be satisfactione for the King's Murther, which the Majestie calles killing. I remember, Mr Thomas Craige answered to generaliter verum, generaliter falsum, in a civill mater, quibus casibus tenetur hæres præstare factum paternum, which is lesse nor my life. Lastlie, that word, Charta domini Regis, is not to be understood of a privat Missive, wherby the King or a partie is not prejudged; but a Charter, or evidence, wherby either the King or subject may losse his right. If they would have made it out of the Decretals, cap. 5, de Judiciis, albeit it say, non esse immunem a Crimine Falsi, yett, according to all the Doctors, it most be understood to be scriptura damnosa et fraudulenta, for omne Crimen Falsi is not capitall, ubi neque est damnum, neque esse potuit, but onlie to be punishable arbitrio Judicis, pro ratione rei et personarum. And this is the cleare resolutione of Julius Clarus and all the Doctors; so that albeit I had never consulted anie Advocat, nor had never any bookes to studie the mater, yett the light of reafone was so cleare, as no Judge but Sir William Hart, whom I might have lawfullie declined, would have sustained such a lybell.

¹ Until. ² Viz. in case the Earl and Bishop should suspect collusion between the Chancellor and Balmerino.

³ Place of confinement.

⁴ Mr John Prestoun of Pennycaik.

The Earle of Dumbar, fearing I should alter, upon this new alteratione sent the Lord Burlic unto me; who, as he dealt ever honourable with me, so I was plaine with him, that I would not stand to my Depositiones made in England, and that I would challenge the Earle, upon his oath, of the conditione made unto me at the subscribing therof. There was great intercessione made that I would have a regarde to the Earle of Dumbar's credit, and the advantage both my publick enemies and his seereit ill-willers would make, if that turne were not done to his Ma's contentment; and that, however I might resist his Ma. at this time, wherof the event, in respect of the honest dispositione of the Judge and principall Assessor was uncertaine, yett I would be keeped in continuall prisone; and, seing the Earl of Dumbar was willing to secure all things promised before, a sentence of Conviction was no more hurtfull to me nor either a coming in Will, nor in entering in a contestatione with the King, having so great enemies both at Court and at home. In end, upone promisses renewed, and my desire of quietnesse, and that my enemies should acquire no more credit be my troubles, and conditiones past betuixt the Earle of Dumbar and me to stand sure, I was content to abide at my former Depositiones.

So the Earle of Dumbar, in prefence of the Lords of Skoone and Burlie, both after particular affurance and folemne oathe to my felf, renewed what he had promised before, anent my life and eftate, and that he knew perfectlie it was never his Ma^s minde to (take) my life.

Nixt followed my Conviction at St Andrewes, wherin I was the onlie actor my felf, to give his Ma^s fatisfactione; following, in every point, the Lord of Dumbar's direction, brought to me either by the Lord Burlie or the Lord Skoone.

A COPIE of the SPEECH I had at St Andrewes, at the time of my Convictione.

THERE is none of your Lordfchips but understand fufficientlie that if I would stand contentioufflie to my Defences, no Depofitione, made by me in England, could prejudice me in any Tryall Criminall I was to fuffaine; nevertheleffe, as in all this actione, from the beginning, I have preferred the truth of his Ma^s innocencie to the prefervatione of my life and eftate,¹ fo I am fo farre from retreating what I have faid there, before that noble and moft grave Counfell; that if, in more cleare termes, I could aggravat the juft defert of my own haynous offence, and make his Ma^s undefiled finceritie and innocencie knowne to all the world, I would moft willinglie doe the fame. I were not worthie life, if my life, that hes had no happineffe but under the glances of his benignitie, I fhould labour to be preferved, with the fmalleft imputatione that might ftaine his Ma^s honour. No man knoweth better his Ma^s naturall clemencie, and how unwillinglie his Ma. is forced with this feveritie to profecute the truth of this callumnious imputatione; which, by my abufe of his trust, is drawn upon his moft innocent Ma. Therfor, I ratifie whatfoever I have formerly depoune; and, if no otherwife his Ma^s honour may be fufficiently exonered, I willinglie offer my blood and poore eftate to expiat my offence; and to teach others, by my exampill, to goe no farther in thair mafter's fervice then they have fufficient Warrant.

BUT immediatlie after the Ratificatione of my Depofitiouns, in Falkland, the Earle of Dumbar fent my Lord Burlie to Court, to fhew his Ma. what fatisfactione I had given, to procure me all the favour he could, and to hold my friends there buffie. Likeas, the Earle concluded, that immediatlie after my Convictione, my brothers fone fhould goe poft to Court, for my Remiffioun; and that the Lord Burlie fhould ftay his coming, and concurre with him to that effect. And albeit it was promised to me, by my Lord Burlie, in the Earle of Dumbar's name, that Ropar's Reverfione fhould be fafe to me, yett the faid Earle, fearing Sir Robert Ker's credit,² made me to yield to paffe that to him, which was the beft hope I had of relief of my great debt, and help of my children. So as I have in all this, from the beginning, allutterlie reposed upon the Earle of Dumbar; and, by his onlie meanes, am brought in this mifery, out of the which, if, according to his manie promiffes, he releave me, I and all mine are the more bound to him; otherwise, there is a God in Heaven will have regard to his dealing; and, either here or hence, he will suffer for it! The vile and detestable ingratitude of Sir Alexander Hay, I am sure, the Lord will not suffer unpunished! As for others of our Nation, who have little regard wherefore I suffer at Englishmen's hands, God forgive them! The day will come, that they and theirs will weep for it! I pray God bless his Ma.; and that his undeserved rigour against me (who, I am sure, is persuaded, in his heart, I never thought an undutiful thought against him, his Crown, country, nor estate,) be not layed to his charge, in that great day, when his crown and scepter will be layed at his feet, and he must yield a reckning of his stewardship! And, so may I be judged, if I had anie other course, in all that or anie other service that ever I was putt in trust of be his Ma., but his Ma's weale and honour, and the libertie and good of my country, which is miserable, comming in a vile servitude; the foresight wherof is all my wracke!

¹ It may be proper here to notice, that Lord Balmerinoch, besides his numerous Offices, was possessed of very extensive landed estates, such as the baronies of Balmerinoch, Barnton, Barrie, Ballumbie, Innerpeffer, Dingwall, Balgregie and Restalrig, &c. By his first wife, Sarah, daughter of Sir John Menteith of Kerse, he had (1.) John, afterwards second Lord Balmerinoch. And by his second wife, Marjory, daughter of Hugh Maxwell of Tealing, he had (2.) James, who was created Lord Couper. (3.) Anne, married to Andrew, first Lord Frazer; and (4.) Mary, married to John Hamilton of Blair.—See Wood's Peerage, &c. ² The corrupt favourite, Sir Robert Kerr or Carr, who attended King James to England, and was invested with the Order of the Bath at his Coronation, for a long period had unlimited sway at Court, and had the absolute disposal of all the Royal favours. He was successively created Gentleman of the Bedchamber, Lord High Treasurer of Scotland, 1611; Viscount Rochester, Mar. 25, 1612; Knight of the Garter, May, 1612; Earl of Somerset and Baron of Brancepeth, Nov. 3, 1613; Chamberlain of the Household; and sworn a Privy Councillor, the same year. The character of this infamous person, his shameless marriage to the divorced Countess of Essex, the murder of Sir Thomas Overbury, for which he and his Countess were convicted, May 24, 1616, (see Howell's State Trials, II. pp. 951 to 1022); their subsequent release from the Tower, Jan. 1621-2; and their pardon by the King, under the Great Seal, Oct. 7, 1624, in the face of his Majesty's solemn and awful imprecation, in reference to the murderers of Overbury, that 'IF I SPARE ANY THAT ARE GUILTY, GOD'S CURSE LIGHT ON ME AND MY POSTERITY FOR EVER!' All the circumstances of his life are so well known, that it is only necessary to recall these few leading points to the reader's memory. He died in London, and was buried in the Church of St. Paul's, Covent-Garden, Jul. 17, 1645. It may be interesting to refer to the numerous Memoirs and Histories relating to this remarkable period, in illustration of the above remarks. In particular, reference may be made to Lord Bacon's Works, I. 87, also to his Correspondence, and to Weldon's Court of K. James, p. 99, &c., for the almost incredible dissimulation practised by James on his parting with Somerset at Royston, when his fate was for ever sealed, and when he had determined that 'he should see his face no more for ever.'

This the naked truth of all this mater, written in such haste, and at such occasions as I could, in respect of my frait keeping; and whatever, for his Ma's satisfacione, I have written or said upon the false promises and traterous intygements of those whom I trusted, different from this my cleare and true Depositione, as God is my witnesse, it is false! FALKLAND, the 10 of May, 1609.

BALMERINOCHE.

VIII. CALDERWOOD'S ACCOUNT¹ of Lord Balmerinoch's conduct, from the period of his Conviction to his Death.

WHEN he was brought from Falkland to Leith, after his Convictione at St Andrewes, and was received be the toun of Edinburgh, in their armour; when he came to Leith-Winde foote, or the Nether-bow-Port, he was commanded to light off his horse, for they receive no ryding prisoners. He excused himself with the infirmitie of the goute in his feete; and willed them to shew him that much courtesie, as to suffer him to ride forward. One of the toun, standing hard beside, answered *Pamfara, tantara!*² my Lord! Now, when some directed from the Counsell of Edinburgh, long before his fall, requisted him not to mainteane one of his dependers against them, in ane actione they had against him, for they could be more stedible³ to him then that man, he answered Pamfara, tantara! This taunt is now repeated to him with a taunt, and he was forced to light off his horse. Thirdlie, Its to be observed, that the Doome being delayed, after his convictione at St Andrewes, till his Ma's farther pleasure were knowne, in the tolbooth of Edinburgh upon the first of March, in presence of the Justice and the Lords of Counsell, after reading of his Convictione, that he should be beheaded, quartered, and demeaned like a tratour, and his members to be sett upon the Ports, and cheif touns, yett he appeared to have some good hope of releef. He would have spoken something, but could not utter his minde: The Earle of Dumbar commanded to remove him incontinent! After dinner, he was conveyed to Leith-Winde-foote, and delivered to the Shireff of the shire; but manie wondred wherefore he was suffered, when he went out of Edinburgh, to carie his sword about him. It was thought strange that such a thing should be suffered in a condemned tratour. Some thought, therefore, there was no danger; others thought he was caried to Falkland, that he might suffer there, where the fault was committed, and died after in displeasure, fearing ever the worst. Fourthlie, it is to be observed,

¹ See Cald. Church Hist. MS. Adv. Library, VII. 283.

² An exclamation in some measure equivalent to 'Nonsense!' 'Humbug!' &c. expressive of contemptuous incredulity and derision; and applied by those who have a bombastic or high-sounding parade of empty words addressed to them, which, like the idle flourish of a trumpet, seem calculated to convey no meaning. Perhaps this contemptuous expression took its rise from the remarkably alliterative and playful line of Old Ennius, a rough soldier, who sacrificed rather liberally to Bacchus, and who wrote his heroics best when under the influence of the rosy God. Many of his verses smell strongly of the goblet!

³ TUM TUBA TERRIBILEI SONITU TARATANTARA DIXIT!

The words tantafara, tantafarata, are still used in Italy to signify nonsense, &c.; and the French also familiarly use tarare! and tarare-pon-pon! 'pour marquer qu'on se moque de ce qu'on entend dire—ou qu'on ne le croit pas.' &c. Dict. de l'Acad. Fran. 1813. This reproachful retort, and the taunt of the Edinburgh citizen, must have stung the fallen courtier to the quick.

⁴ Be of more service to him; stand him in better stead.

that about the same time, the King's reply to Mathæus Tortus, with a monitorie preface to the Emperour and all Christian Princes come furth in print, no mention was made in that booke of Sir James Elphinstoune's Confession or Depositions; which might have served to great use, to have purged him of Tortus his imputations. Yea, when he was in England, and had come in the King's will, the King could not be content till he subscribed his Depositions, as Dumbar assured him; because the not subscribing hindred the progresse of the Kings Answer to Tortus booke, quhairof his Depositione behooved to be a part. He therefore sett too his hand, in presence of some Noblemen and others, as yee may see in his own Relatione. Because the Depositiones were omitted in the Answer to Mathæus Tortus, and upon other considerations, manie doubted of the sinceritie of this proceeding against him; and suspected, that he had taken upon him the crime to currie the Kings favour, he keeping his credit. Mr Andrewes, indeed, in a Letter written the 23 of March to his Nephew Mr James, setteth down his opinioun in these words. *De judicio quid ego sentiam uno verbo accipe; in glorie fuit, est et erit, ut ego presentio, contra nos vero serua omnia et seruo—nescit regnare qui nescit dissimulare.*¹ Since heart is free,² &c. Fiftlie, it is to be observed that Bishops, notwithstanding of his paines and dilligence taken at Linlithgow, and the manie Proclamations penned be him, spytfull enewgh against the Ministers, they prove now at this tyme his great enemies, and none so busie to seeke his overthrow! It may be, the small countenance he kythed, in Counsell, in favour of Mr John Murrey, or the like occasions, have given them occasione to seeke his removell out of the way; that another Statfman, more forward for their course, may be placed in his roome. But then we may see the deep malice and hatred of aspiring Prelats, that seek the overthrow of all that stand in their way!

About the beginning of October (1609), there came a Warrant from the King to give libertie to the President to have free ward in Falkland and a myle about; he finding cautione not to escape, under the paine of Fourtie Thousand pounds.

Mr James Elphinstone, Lord of Balmerinloch, and latly Secretary, ended his dayes, about the end of May (1612).

IX. LETTER from THE KING to THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF SCOTLAND, *informing them of the Examination and Confession of the Lord Balmerinloch.*³

RIGHT trustie and weilbeloveit cosines and counfallouris, We great 3ow weell. TYME, the moder of trewth, haveing now discovered and brocht to lycht that long obscureid and moift heynous offence and cryme committed be the Lord of Balmerinloch aganes our honour, credeitt, and reputatioune, and which now by his cleir Confessioune is manifest to all the world, and We thairby purgeit of thoife moift wniust and wrangous imputations, quhilkis We did wnderly, by his foull abuse of that trust we had in him; quhairof both We and all our subiectis have no small caus to thank God; since the careage of the actioun, in the discoverie of it, may justlie be said to have bene done by Godis awin finger! And as We have hithertillis spaired to acquent 3ow particularlie, with the hole circumstances of his Confessioune and Examinatioune, vntill such tyme as the same wes here finished; so, by the rycht reverent Fader in God and our rycht trustie counfallour the Archbillope of Glasgou, (quho wes ane eie witnes and heirar of the same, and now is returning thither,) 3ow may be at lenth informed of the same. Bot, becaus the Devill wants his awin suppoistis reddie to mak falsse subgestiounes, in preassing, by misconstruing of thingis, to harme the trewth reveilled; and that thair man be perhappis

¹ So in the original, but very obscure, and evidently a wrong reading.

² Perhaps referring to the old saw,

' Since word is thrall and thought is free,
Keep well thy tongue, I counsel thee.'

³ This and the two following Letters are taken from a valuable Collection of State Papers transcribed by Thomas Earl of Hadington, (Sir Tho. Hamilton,) preserved in the General Register House, Edinburgh; which did not come to the Editor's knowledge till nearly the whole of the preceding Appendix was printed.

fum false rumouris and bruttis thair spred, in extenuating the qualitie of the offence one his pairt, and deryeing in fum fort a pairt of the blame of that mater on ws; as it is a proud malapairt baldnes and presumptiounne for the best of our subiectis to medill in ony thing that may concerne our credeit and honour, without a varie good warrant; and that all pretenssles of mistaking our trusting to wncertane reportis ar so far to be misregairdit, as thay rather justlie deserue the greater seueretie to be vsed aganes such as will excuse tham selfis thairby; so, to repress such insolent wantonnes, in any of our subiectis pair, who either out of malice doe forge thame, or out of thair vaine, folethe, and idill breanes do frame thame, We will and command 3ow to tak particular tryall of all such as hes bene or heir-ester false spreddaris of ony rumouris or bruttis in this mater, wtherwayis nor false by the said Archbishop reportit wnto 3ow; and that 3ow caus the rigoure and extremitie of our lawis to be execut aganes thame! that thairin We may have a speciall prooff quhat dew accompt 3ow mak of our reputationne and credit, which wnto ws (is) moir deirar nor our varie lyffe! And referring all farder to the Archbishopis relationne, whome We will 3ow to trust, We bid 3ow fairweill. FROM our Court, at Roystoun, the 21 of November, 1608. [JAMES R.]

To our rycht trustie and weilbelouit cosinges and counfallouris, the Erl of Dumfermeling, our Chancellor, and remanent Lordis and wtheris of our PRIVIE COUNSALL of that our Kingdome of SCOTLAND.

X. LETTER from THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF SCOTLAND to THE KING.

Moist gracious Souerane,

WE ressaueid your Ma. Letter of the 21 of November; and hes hard, at greitt lenth, the relationne made by the reverend Fader in God 3our trustie Counfallour the Archbishop of Glasgow, anent the Confessioun and hole circumstances of that lang obscured and moist heynous and inexcusable offence committit be the Lord Balmerinoch aganes 3our credeit, honour, and reputatioun; quhairin, as fencible and feeling memberis of so glorious and gracious a head, finding our awin interessis, greiff and sorrow that 3our Ma^s most famous and vnspotted name, honoure, and credeit, which 3our heyne hes to this houre so religiousely conservit in all puritie, should have bene so unworthellie, and in so heich a point, brocht in questioun be ony of our number, quho hes that honour to be selectit be 3our Ma. to the cheiff credeit of 3our service heir; so, with moist joyfull, humbill, and thankfull hartis to God, we acqnaueg that greit blissing and benefeit which it hes pleisit his Devyne Ma^{tie} to schew wnto 3our hienes by the detecting and discoverie of that purpose, and vindicating the sinceretie and innocencie of 3our royall hart frome all suspitiounne of the wrangouse and wniust imputations which 3our heyne wnderlay thairin; manifesting thairby his Devyne caire and Providence which he hes evir had over 3our sacreid persoune, honour, and estait, and in quhat detestatioun he holdeth all practizes and purposes prejudiciall thairvnto. And quhairas, in the censuring of this fact befor 3our Ma^s honourabil Previe Counfall of that kingdome, thay, be 3our Ma. directiounne, (we doubt not) have remittit the full tryall pairof to the lawis and formes of this country, with many demonstratiounnes and oppin Speeches, concerning the good opiniounne thay have of the equitie of our lawis, and cinferitie of our effectiounne in 3our Ma. service, we have not onely infinite occasiounne, with all humilitie, first to thank 3our sacred Ma., and nixt thame, for so respective a reservatiounne to ws of that whiche 3our Ma. knowis to be proper and dew to the privilege and freedome of this 3our auintient and nobill Crowne. Bot we hop, God willing, to give wnto 3our Ma. a prooff, with all fidelitie, caire, and sinciretie, we fall prosequete and follow out quhatevir it fall pleis 3our sacreid Ma. in 3our princely wisdom to command, als weil in this as in any wther thing els, tuiching 3our hienes, in honour and estate. And, in the meantyme, if any of 3our Ma. subiectis hes bene or false so wndewtiffull, fooleithe, and unworthie, as to give oute any false bruittis and rumouris aganes the wndouttit trewth and varitie of this mater, or to the extenuating pairof in any poynt, we fall not fail so exactlie to examen, try, and punceithe the samen, as wtheris false terriset to fall in the lyk error heirefter. And sua, praying God still to vp-bold your sacreid Ma. with all your royall progenie wnder his Dewyne protectionne and fauffgaird, we rest for ever

Your Ma. most humbill and obedient subjectis and feruitouris,

A. CANCELL^s. SANTAND^s. MAR. PERTH. LOTHEANE. BUGGLEUCHE. TORPHICHEN.
HALIRUDHOUSE. BEULIE. GAIRLEIS. ROISS. J. COKBURNE. R. COKBURNE.
S. T. HAMILTOUN. JO. PRESTOUN. S^r ROBERT MELULL. P. ROLLOK.

ED^r, 6 December, 1608.

XI. LETTER from THE KING to THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF SCOTLAND, with WARRANT for the enlargement of Lord Balmerinoch.

RIGHT trustie and weilbeloveit counfines and Counsfallouris, We greete you weel. WNDERSTANDING of the evill constitioun in helth, and seiknes in body, of the leat Lord of Balmerinoch, by refoune of his detentioun and cloise keeping within our Palife of Falkland, and in the foire Toure¹ pairrof; and humill sute, for this caus, being mead wnto us, for his enlargement, in sum foirt; We haif bene pleiffit to grant our Licence, for his libertie and friedom, within our said Palice and a myle in circuite round about the same; upoun condition always, that he doe not transcend the boundis prefixit; and that he find sufficient resposuall laudit gentill men actit in your buikis, as cautioneris and fouerteis for his performance of the said conditione, vnder the pane of xl^m li.² vsual Scoittis money. For whiche caus, We haue thocht meet to will you to direct to the said Court of Falkland, quhair his present place and residence of abode is, your Clerk of Counfell, with the Licence heirwith sent, commanding your said Clerk to reslaue the foirfaid act of caution of sufficient landit men, boundin vnder the soume aboue specifieit, for performing the conditione aboue writtin, of his containing him selff and not exceeding the boundis of his confynning; and heiryvpon the said Clerk to delyver vnto him the foirfaid Licence, to be his warrant of this his enlargement. And so We bid you fairweele. ROYSTOUNE, first of October, 1609. [JAMES R.]

Slaughter.

Mar. 14, 1609.—JOHN GLENDONING of Drumrasche.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} George Stewart, brother germane to vmq^{le} Mathow Stewart of Dunduf.

PERSEWAR, Williame Stewart of Dunduf, brother-son.

THE JUSTICE, of consent of ather partie, Continewis this dyet to the thrid day of the Air,³ (' Kirkeuldbricht?') or soner vpone xv dayis wairning.

¹ Fore or front tower. ² L.40,000. ³ What took place at the Justice-air has not fallen under the Editor's observation. It is likely the case was compromised by payment of a pecuniary fine to the private prosecutor; on which 'Letters of Slaines' would follow, as a warrant for the King's Remission. In cases of Slaughter or unpremeditated Homicide, in a skirmish, it was a common manner of withdrawing the instance, for both parties to coneur in a continuation of the diet to the Justice-air. Another mode was to use influence with the 'Baron of the Regality,' &c. within whose jurisdiction the parties resided, to repledge them to his Court, and where the matter was easily hushed up. The King's Remission, in case of accidents, was also afterwards procured, lest future feud should occasion a renewal of the prosecution, and perhaps terminate fatally to the homicide.

University of California
SOUTHERN REGIONAL LIBRARY FACILITY
405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90024-1388
Return this material to the library from which it was borrowed.

UCLA LAW LIBRARY

MAR 28 1996

I.L.L. _____

REC'D LIB-ORC

NOV 4 1987

3 1158 01140 1832

JC SOUTHERN REGIONAL LIBRARY FACILITY

D 000 012 202 8

NEX

SPECIMENS of the MSS.

from which the present Collection of Criminal Trials has been taken

Nº I

See p IV

1/10th for ye underhand of anyust 1568 to ye under hand of, indit in ye pinn Edie Mac dythys of Jynkname Kydall in 230 essons of ye post and rychts Bond Jynkname

Nº II

See p 111

(Ine wefoband dreyght of my ze gleyfyt)
Fulwit of ye forcellible rocellall unpalupull of swyffnabell
Ine geyt of myghter and paitide of myghte of pndtyme lode Sinnest pndtyme Edmud King of Otkottis of gnynd Indimod and Vid Kroppnabell synned somptel al ye of hyme and in mnd al Contf bndnre Etky a a a a

Nº III

See p 257

It is my felit of my of hnd yuly or and (in my gnynd) for gnyndt pndt pldge of ye hnd & pldge of all gnynd of all gnyndt be
In my hnd name of gnyndt of gnyndt ye hndt in hnd and lode we all ye gnyndt of ye mef and ye hndt ye hndt ye ye hndt ye hndt ye hndt
ye hndt ye hndt ye hndt
ye hndt ye hndt ye hndt
ye hndt ye hndt ye hndt
ye hndt ye hndt ye hndt
ye hndt ye hndt ye hndt
ye hndt ye hndt ye hndt

CRIMINAL TRIALS
IN SCOTLAND,

FROM A.D. M.CCCC.LXXXVIII TO A.D. M.DC.XXIV,

EMBRACING THE ENTIRE

REIGNS OF JAMES IV. AND V., MARY QUEEN OF SCOTS, AND JAMES VI.

COMPILED FROM THE ORIGINAL RECORDS AND MSS.

WITH

HISTORICAL NOTES AND ILLUSTRATIONS,

BY

ROBERT PITCAIRN, ESQ.

WRITER TO HIS MAJESTY'S SIGNET, F.S.A. SCOT. AND HON. F.S.A. PERTH, &c.

VOLUME THIRD.

EDINBURGH:

WILLIAM TAIT, PRINCE'S STREET; AND LONGMAN, REES, ORME, BROWN, GREEN, AND LONGMAN, LONDON.
M.DCCC.XXXIII.

322107 167145102
105.000

105.000

PRINTED AT THE BANNATYNE CLUB PRESS BY BALLANTYNE AND CO.

TO

THE HON. DAVID HUME,

ONE OF THE BARONS OF THE COURT OF EXCHEQUER, IN SCOTLAND.

LATE

PROFESSOR OF SCOTS LAW,

IN THE UNIVERSITY OF EDINBURGH,

AND

AUTHOR OF COMMENTARIES ON THE CRIMINAL LAW, &c. &c.

THIS THIRD VOLUME

OF A COLLECTION OF THE MOST ANCIENT TRIALS, NOW ON RECORD,

BEFORE THE

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICIARY,

IS, WITH EVERY SENTIMENT OF ESTEEM AND RESPECT,

DEDICATED

BY

THE EDITOR.

CRIMINAL TRIALS
AND OTHER PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THE
HIGH COURT OF JUSTICIARY.

[Sir Williame Heart, Justice-Depute.]

Treasonable Fire-raising — Cruel Oppression — Treason — Breaking Ward out of the Castles of Blackness and Edinburgh.

[THE almost incredible wickedness and atrocious cruelty of SIR JAMES MAKONEILL (MACDONALD), the individual whose Trial follows, and the horrible facts which the reader will find therein disclosed, afford a lamentable picture of the barbarous state of manners prevalent in the Western Islands of Scotland, even at so comparatively recent a period as the reign of King James VI. Did we not know that such outrageous proceedings were but too common in Scotland at this melancholy period, and especially in the Highlands and Islands, which were then far removed from the feeble arm of the Law, Sir James's misdeeds would hold a most conspicuous place in the dark catalogue of crimes. Without entering into any narrative of similar acts of violence and bloodshed, but merely to shew that Makoneill was not a solitary instance of the perpetration of such execrable deeds, and that he was by no means unworthy of his descent and kindred, the reader need only refer to a previous portion of this Collection,¹ where a few of the acts of Angus Makoneill of Dinnievaig, his father, and of Maclane of Dowart, his maternal uncle, are rehearsed.

It would be rather out of place to enter here into a detail of the frightful and bloody feuds and conflicts between the contending tribes of CLANDONALD and CLANLAIN; which are fully recorded by Sir Robert Gordon of Gordonstoun, in his valuable Genealogical History of the Family of Sutherland, who informs us, that these inveterate hostilities were long and fiercely 'proseecuted, to the destruction almost of both their families!'²

Of the personal history of SIR JAMES MAKONEILL little can now be collected, saving from the Books of Adjournal and of the Privy Council, and from the public transactions in the Isles, after he had effected his second escape from 'ward.' It is certain, that he could boast of a very honourable descent, being sprung from the ancient Norwegian family of the Lords of the Isles, who long maintained their independence of the Scottish Crown, and used and received the title of KINGS OF THE

¹ Vol. I. p. 224, Jan. 19, 1590-1.

² This is now rendered the more unnecessary, as the Editor has (since this Notice was in types) been informed by his friend, DONALD GREGORY, Esquire, one of the Secretaries to the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, that he is now engaged in preparing, for publication, a HISTORY OF THE ISLES and adjacent HIGHLANDS, embracing a minute account of the various rebellions, feuds, and conflicts of the various families, who, after the fall of the Lords of the Isles, rendered this part of Scotland a scene of almost uninterrupted warfare and bloodshed: which MR GREGORY purposes to compile from Original Documents, the result of a laborious investigation into the Public Records, and other genuine and authentic sources of information. The publication of MR GREGORY'S History of the Isles, &c. will save the Editor the necessity of giving many of the Documents which he had prepared for publication, in illustration of various Trials; for they ought rather to form a part of such an historical work, which is a great desideratum, and cannot fail to be favourably received by every lover of Scottish History.

ISLES. JOHN OF YLE, or de Insulis, eldest son of John Lord of the Isles, was unquestionably the common ancestor of the Macdonalds of Dunniveg and Glynnnes, the Marquis of Antrim, in Ireland, &c., and predeceased his father; who, Nov. 15, 1369, gave his grandson Angus as a hostage to King David II, for his obedience, &c. Some of the descendants of this John, having settled in the North of Ireland, acquired by force, and afterwards maintained by violence, the Route and the Seven Glynnnes,¹ and soon distinguished themselves by their services against the Scots. Alexander Mac-Donell was, in 1557, for his valuable assistance, presented by the Earl of Sussex, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, with a gold sword and silver-gilt spurs; and others of the family were equally active against their ancient mother country. A brother of this Alexander, named Sorley-buy,² having seated himself elsewhere, built and fortified the strong Castle of Dunluce, in the county of Antrim: and, as being of the Scottish-Irish race, was by patent, dated at Westminster, Apr. 14, 1573, created a free denizen of Ireland. Having rebelled, Sir John Perrot, Deputy of Ireland, took the Castle of Dunluce, with all his islands and loughs; and, next year, having sued for the protection and favour of Queen Elizabeth, he entered into indentures for preservation of the peace, Jun. 28, 1586. Sorley-buy married Mary, daughter to Con O'Neill, afterwards created Earl of Tyrone. Their eldest son, Randal, was created Earl of Antrim.

The purpose of stating this connexion is to prevent Sir James Makconeill of Knokrynsay and Knokrynsay, the Chief or eldest son of the Chief of the powerful Clandonald or Clan Ian More of Kintyre and Ilay, from being mistaken for another Sir James Makconeill, one of his Irish relatives (the second son of this Sorley-buy), who, at this period, visited Scotland, and was honourably received by the King, when he had the honour of knighthood conferred upon him. He was afterwards created a Baronet, by Privy Seal, dated Southwicke, 20 June, and by Patent, at Dublin, Nov. 30, 1627, 'as well for his service done unto him, as for his other virtues';³ and was known, in Ireland, by the title of Sir James Mac-Sorlye-Boye. The first notice of the latter Sir James, which the Editor has met with, is in an Anonymous MS. History of Scotland, in the Advocates' Library, where mention is thus quaintly made of him. 'The 20 day of Aprylle, (1597,) JAMES M^cONEILL, alias Soirlbowy,⁴ cam to Ed^r, quha wes maid kny^t be his Ma^{ty}, the 24. This Schir James wes ane Scottis manne, of bluid, albeit his landis lyis in Yrland. He was ane brow manne of perfoun and behaviour, bot had nocht the Scottis toung, nor na langage bot Eirfe.' Birrel, in his gossiping Diary, contents himself with remarking, that 'Serlie Bui cam to the toune, ane Hyland man.' And (May 4) 'JAMES M^cONEILL, alias Serle Bui. The 7 day of Maii he went homeward; and, for honour of his bonyalla, the canons sbott out of the Castell of Edinburghe.'⁵

With regard to Sir James Makconeill of Knokrynsay and Kintyre, as he lived in a district so remote from the seat of Government, and seems to have had his hands full at home, the first known mention made of him is—(Aug. 5, 1598,) 'M^cLEANE was slayne be M^cONEILL,⁶ in Ylla, he being moder-brother to the faid Schir James M^cconeill, and ane of the brow man that wes in this cuntrey, in his tyme. Thair wes slayne that day betuix thame, on bayth fydis, to the number off 150 menne.'

These few imperfect sketches prove that Makconeill was reckoned a personage of considerable note, even at Court, and in the Capital, previous to the King's accession to the English throne.

The next prominent circumstance in the life of Makconeill which can now be collected, after the ¹ It is worthy of remark, that, from the age of Donall de Insulis, who flourished in 1449, to Angus, the father of Sir James of Knokrynsay, the lineal descendants of John de Insulis above noticed, resident in the Isles, are uniformly styled 'Lords of Dunnoway and Glynnis.' Whether they merely assumed the title as feudal superiors of the Irish branch, or whether they were actually the proprietors of the soil, of whom the Irish Macdonalds held, Mr Gregory will probably be enabled to explain.

² The yellow-haired Somerled. B. Lat. Sorletus, or Sorlie, and in Irish and Gaelic, Sanhairle, long a prevalent name in the family of the Isles.

³ Lodge's Irish Peerage, I. 106.

⁴ 'Surlé-Bouie' is interlined. ⁵ Anon. Hist. of Scotland, MS. Adv. Library.

⁶ 'NEIL (HECTOR) M^cLANE slaine, and twentie of his narrest freindis, and his awen sone, be M^cConnell; thair being at ane tryst, under trust.—Birrel.

period of his apprehension and imprisonment, is the extraordinary attempt to escape out of Ward, from the Castle of Edinburgh,¹ which was so boldly planned, and so successfully accomplished by John Lord Maxwell. The event is thus briefly described in the above mentioned Chronicle, where the cause of Sir James Makcaneill's failure is rightly attributed to the circumstance of his having been unable to extricate himself from his heavy irons, whereby he dislocated or broke his limb, in leaping over the wall. This breaking of ward forms one of the leading Articles of Dittay against Makcaneill. (1607, Dec.) 'In the beginning of December, THE LORD MAXWELL, being wairded in the Castle of Edinburgh, devifeth a play² for the keepers, whereby it behoved them to runne out of the houfe where he lay. They lay afide their fwords; Maxwell and another gentleman who came purposlie to assist him, with the advice of Mackoneill, take their fwords, cloffe them in a house, come to the Castle gate, hurt the porters, lappe the Castle-wall at the utter-gate. Maxwell and his friend departed. Mackoneill, because he had the boyes³ on his legges, wrested his kute⁴ in leaping; yett he creeped to a dunghill. The crye⁵ rising, he was diligentlie fought, found casting the muck upon himself, and was brought to the Castle agane. This fell furth in the gloming.⁶ The rest of the Wairders were kepted the fraiter. Clofburne was intifed be thame, but refused to breake waird.'

The anonymous Chronicler, before quoted, thus narrates the proceedings which followed on the recapture of this refractory prisoner. 'Now as ye have hard befoir, Sir James M'caneill of Kintyre, being in waird in the Castell of Edinbrughe, was, one the 13 day of Maii (1609), brocht to the tolbnyth of Edinbrughe, and thair, befoir the Justice, put to the tryell of ane Affyife, for findrie poyntis of Treffoun, to witt, for Slachter, wnder trest, of fun Heland-men, in his awin hous of Kintyre; as also, for diuerse flyris that he had raiffit, contrair the Act of Parliament; and, in speciall, for the cryme of Treffoune, in breking of the Kingis waird, and streking of his Maiesteis seruandis: And, being conuict, condemnit, as ane Tratour to his Maiefty, to haue hes heid strukin off,—bot nather the day nor please defignit. Quhairwpon he was conwoyit bak to the Castell, to remayne during the Kingis will.' This History, unfortunately, terminates before Makcaneill's final escape.

Without rehearsing the substance of the interesting ORIGINAL LETTERS of Sir James Makcaneill and others, after the date of his second escape, (which at length he effected, and made a successful retreat to the Isles, and maintained himself and a considerable force which he had collected,) it is sufficient to mention, generally, that, according to Sir Robert Gordon, 'Sir James Mackonald was thereafter, by the Earle of Argyle his meanes, wairded in the Castell of Edinburgh, and kept prisoner ther a long tyme; from whence he escaped, by the meanes and diligence of his coufen Mackrenald, who then fled with him into Spain;⁷ wher they were weil interteyned. And vpon the Earle of Argyle his flight from Scotland to the King of Spain, they were both recalled home from thence by his Majestie, into England, the yeir 1620; and had there ane yeirlye pension of ane thousand merks sterling; wher Sir James Mackonald remained vntil his death, which happened the yeir 1626.' The Documents given in the APPENDIX explain fully all that can now be satisfactorily ascertained, so far as is necessary to elucidate the details of this Trial. It is certain that Sir James was pensioned, and was permitted to reside, without molestation, in England; but it is not so easy to account for the extraordinary policy of the King and his advisers, not only in sparing the life of so notorious a criminal and rebel, but in giving him likewise so liberal a pension, for so many years

The arm of Government must have been weak indeed, when, after the forfeiture of Sir James, his brother Angus Oig should have been able, in defiance of the various Royal Lieutenants sent to reduce him to obedience, to maintain the Castle of Dunnievaig, until 1615! The same barbarous policy which Argyle adopted in reference to the MacGregors, was resorted to with Angus Oig; who, under promise of safety, was trained to Edinburgh,—also by the Campbells, his feudal enemies; who had long been eagerly soliciting, and, by their treacherous conduct, finally obtained, a grant of the ancient inheritance of the Macdonalds,—and executed for Treason!

¹ See also Lord Maxwell's Trial, Jun. 24, 1609, and the Appendix of Original Documents, for farther particulars of this remarkable attempt. ² Sport, frolic. ³ A cant phrase for gyves, or heavy irons used for desperate offenders.

⁴ Sprained or dislocated his ankle. ⁵ Spraiche; hue and cry. ⁶ After sunset; towards nightfall.

⁷ 'During Sir James Mackonald his stay in Spain, his brother ANGUS MACKONALD (Angus Oig), standing out against the Earle of Argyle, was trained into Edinburgh by the Lord Ochiltree and the Campbells, vpon promise to sail his lyff: And the Castell of Doumnivag was randered vnto them, vpon the same termes. Nevertheless, the said Angus was executed, and put to death, at his coming to Edinburgh.'—Hist. of Earls of Sutherland, p. 239. See also this Collection, Jnl. 3, 1615.

Sir James Balfour of Kinnaird and Denmyhne has fortunately preserved a body of original and authentic information, relative to the state of the Western Islands, in his extensive and truly valuable MS. Collections,¹ which the Editor shall have frequent occasion to refer to, in the course of this Work. A selection from these Original Papers, given from time to time, will better, and much more forcibly, illustrate the causes and effects of those various commotions in 'THE ISLES,' which excited such lively interest during King James VI's reign, than any detailed Narrative, which, owing to the nature of this Collection, must necessarily be brief.

After considerable research, the Editor has the satisfaction of being enabled to append to the ensuing Trial, and to that of Angus Oig, a number of valuable Letters and Papers, taken from the Originals still extant amongst the Records of the Privy Council of Scotland, and in the Advocates' Library. These Documents will be found of considerable importance, as not only affording satisfactory elucidation of points connected with Sir James Makconcell's Trial, but as supplying much curious information relative to the state of the Western Islands, during that unhappy period.

The History of Scotland, so far as concerns the various Expeditions against the Islesmen, which were fitted out at the public expense, as well as the numerous feuds and conflicts between contending Chieftains and Clans, is necessarily meagre and unsatisfactory; and, as is well known to those who have attempted such investigations, it is extremely difficult to obtain authentic information on the subject.²

It may, however, be proper to remark here, generally, that, owing to the inaccessible nature of their country, and the facilities which the natives possessed for carrying on a most harassing warfare against any invaders, however well appointed and disciplined these might be, the most vigorous steps taken by the ablest Royal Lieutenants or Commanders ever sent to quell the Islesmen, frequently proved abortive or nugatory. At other times, the natives contrived to protract the warfare, without coming to decided hostilities, in order that the season might elapse without any considerable advantages being gained by their enemies; and then, they had the whole winter and spring to repair their losses, and to arrange for a more vigorous resistance, should a landing be effected, during the next summer. On almost every such occasion, the largest expeditions ever fitted out by the Privy Council of Scotland, even when assisted by English vessels of war, (after King James had succeeded to the throne of England,) were baffled by the ingenuity and military skill of this handful of hardy and active Islesmen. Some of the Royal Lieutenants appear to have been furnished with large complements of troops; but this very circumstance, formidable as it might otherwise appear, frequently tended to their discomfiture. The castles of the Island Chiefs were usually places of great strength; and, on such occasions, were well victualled; and besides, many of them were, by nature, situated where the clumsy battering-trains then in use could not be brought to bear upon them. The setting fire to the wretched huts of the natives, and laying waste the country, was attended with comparatively little loss to them. Indeed, this was a measure often resorted to, on emergencies, by themselves; for it deprived the more effeminate Lowland troops of that shelter which was absolutely necessary for their health.

From the hour of their disembarking, the Royal troops knew no repose; and they suffered the most dreadful privations from cold, famine, incessant watching, and fatigue; for the Islanders, besides their usual annoyances, harassed them chiefly during the night, by making continual attacks and skirmishes, setting fire to their huts, tents, &c. Besides all these hardships, owing to the tempestuous seas and the imperfect state of navigation at the period, the invaders were frequently cut off from their supplies for a long time. On the other hand, the vigilant Islanders, when they happened to be very hard pressed by a determined pursuit and onset, merely flitted from one Island to another, in their curraghs or light boats, which they easily carried with them over land; and, almost before their enemies had prepared to rest from their fatigues, they were surprised and attacked during the night.

¹ Preserved in the Library of the Faculty of Advocates, Edinburgh. ² MR GREGORY'S Historical enquiries must throw much light on every point connected with the Isles and adjacent Highlands; and the authentic sources from which his materials are derived, must stamp the highest value on the work he has undertaken.

The chief cause of the numerous successes gained by the Islanders over their invaders seems to have arisen from the minute knowledge which they possessed of the fastnesses of the country, and their determination to avoid a general engagement. A common ruse de guerre was, for a party of active men to make a bold attack on the encampment, as if to carry off plunder, &c., at a time when the Royal troops were unprepared; and when pursued, they gradually fell back on the hilly ground, so as to lead their invaders into ambushes, which were frequently formed not far from the tents. In this way great numbers fell ‘in detail.’ When the King’s soldiers endeavoured to penetrate into the country, in pursuit of the enemy, they appeared to meet with little actual resistance, but were artfully decoyed farther and farther, by the occasional appearance of numbers of the Islesmen, as if in full retreat. The Royal troops, as soon as they were considered to be fatigued with the day’s march, were, in their turn, severely galled, and the stragglers systematically picked off. Vigorous attacks were also occasionally made on the main body; and, on their finally returning to the tents, they found their guards killed, and the whole encampment plundered and destroyed by fire!

Thus, for want of a substantial enemy wherewith to contend, each campaign was, of necessity, terminated before any decisive blow could be struck; and while the Royal troops were greatly thinned in their numbers, by fatigue and famine, as well as by the ceaseless assaults of their enemies, the hardy Islesmen, trained to hardships, and inured to almost daily privations from their infancy, thought little of their toils and dangers. Indeed, they were often enriched by considerable booty, carried off from the enemies’ camps; and, in reality, they almost always triumphed over their formidable, numerous, and well-disciplined foes, by stratagem, and the skilful employment of the most approved tactics then known in Highland warfare.]

May 13, 1609.—SIR JAMES MAKONEILL of Knokrynfay, kny^t.¹

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the treffonable Raifeing of ffyre and burning of the hous of Askomell in Kyntyre, in the moneth of Januare, I^m.V^c.lxxxxvij yeiris; and vtheris treffonabill crymes, contenit in his DITTAY vnderwrittin.

SIR JAMES MAKONEILL of Knokrynfay, kny^t, 3e ar indyttit and accufet: Forfamekill as, frome 3our verrie 3outhe, 3e, being tranet vp in all maner of crewall barbaritie and wicketnes, and following the pernicious exampill of 3our godles parentis, kynfimen and cuntrie people, haifing committed infinit Opprefiones and violences aganis sic perfonas as 3e millykit, in þe cuntreyis of Kyntyre, Ila, and vtheris Hielandis Iles of this Kingdome, to the heich offence of God, displefour of the Kingis Maieftie, contempt of his authoritie, and violatioun of his Lawis: For forder manifestatioun of 3oure extreame and maift vnnaturall mischancie,² vnderstanding þat þe fones of þe vni^q^le Tutour of Loupe war in 3our faperis hous of Askomell, in Kyntyre, and that the Laird of Loupe (quho had flane your fader¹) was verrie defyrous to haif pair lyves ; ze, accompaneit with your broper, Angus Oig, and the said Laird of Loupe, with tua or thre hundredreth barbarus, wikked and bludie Hieland-men, foirneris, and avowed maliefactouris, all bodin in feir of weir, with hagbutis, pistolettis and vtheris forbidden wappones, vpon the . . .² day of Januar (fyftene dayis or þairby eftir zule) in þe zeir of God, I^m.V^c. fourfoir sevintene zeiris, (1597) come in the nycht to the said hous of Askomell, quhair þe said Tutour of Loupis fones war, takand þe nychtis rest, lipning for no trubill, danger or invasioune to haif bene maid be ony man aganis þame ; and invironed þe famyn, in all fydis, with grit numberis of your airmet men ; and about þe brek of day, calling in to theas who war within, to rander þe hous and þame selffis to zow, thay, for feir of þair lyves and of þe mercieles crewaltie of zow and your bludie affisteris, refuiseing to rander ; albeit ze knew that Angus M^cconceill,³ your faper, was within the hous, with whome ze had privat and freindlie meiting and conference that same nycht, and had pairtit frome him in sic professioun of love and naturall dentie and reuerence, as ze had presentit and gevin to him ane pair of pistolettis : NEUERÞELES, casting of all bandis and respectis of conscience, honestie, and of nature, to your faper, and to your moþer Fynwall Nikelane,⁴ quhome ze knew to be also within þe said hous, ze godleslie, barbaruslie, viprouslie and tressonabillie, be your self and your complices, in your name, of your causing, command, assistance and ratihabitoun, set fyre in all þe four coirneris of þe said hous ; quhairby your saidis parentis, and hail remanent perfonis being within þe said hous, being brocht at þe verrie instant to extreme danger of þair lyves, and your moþer crying out to zow, ‘ THIEF ! Will thow burne thy moþer ? ’ ze nawayis causit stay or slokin⁵ þe fyre, bot sufferit þe famyn to rage, quhill⁶ þe ruif of þe hous began to fall ; and your faper, haifing sufferit most crewall extremitie, and being brunt in thre or four pairtis of his body with þat fyre, was foreet to rusch to the dur, quhair ze had prepairit ane number of grit treyis to be laid croce þe dur, aþer to stay his furth cuming, to þe effect he micht be brunt within the hous, or micht be so hinderit in his furthcuming, as he sould indoutitlie fall in your mercieles handis : According to the quhilk proiect, he, falling amangis þe said treyis, was pudillit in ane myre⁷ be your servandis, in your sicht ; and þaireftir transportit, in his sark, to Smerbie, tuo myles distant from Askomell, quhair ze fetterit him in irnes, with ane vther

¹ See Jul. 3, 1615, &c.

² Recklessness, wickedness. Old Fr. meschanecté.

¹ Probably father-in-law ; the father of Margaret Campbell, his wife. ² ‘ Thretein ’ is partially erased. ³ Angus Macdonald of Dynnievaig and Glynnies. ⁴ Nyc, ‘ daughter,’ is sometimes, in the public Records, used as a prefix to the patronymic, in the case of a female. Mac, ‘ son,’ is the masculine, though, in modern practice, generally used indiscriminately for the patronymic of both sexes. Nik is considered to be a compound of Nyn and Vic, which is the genitive of Mac. Nik thus signifies Daughter of the son of, or Grand-daughter of. This Lady was a daughter of Maclane of Dowart. See Vol. I. 224, Jan. 9, 1590-1. ⁵ Quench, slake, extinguish. ⁶ Util. ⁷ Dragged through a miry puddle.

of your priffoneris, and detenit him in þat moſt vnnaturall, mercieles and miſerabill eſtair, be þe ſpace of ane quarter of ane zeir: AND ſua, be þe crewall and wilfull ffyre-raifing, committit be you, and vþeris in your name, of your cauſing, command, aſſiſtance and ratihabitoun, in maner aboue writtin, quhair of ze war and ar airt and pairt; ze committit moſt heigh and manifefſt Treafone, and aucht and ſould be pwneift þairfore, accoirding to þe Lawis and practik of this realme: Quhilk is notourlie knawin, and ze can nocht deny. SECUNDLIE, ze ar indytit and accuſet, fforſamekill as his Maieſtie, (quhome þe warld knowis, and þis cuntrie hes evir experimentit to be ane moſt godlie, juſt, and gracious Prince,) deteſting your vnnaturall crewaltie and wikketnes, haifing cauſit tak and apprehend you, and commit you to waird in þe Caſtell of Blaknes, for þe ſaid treſſonable cryme of ffyre-raifing, committit be you at þe tyme and in maner foirſaid, and many vtheris your haynous offences and crymes, ze, in the moneth of, or þairby, þe zeir of God 1604 zeiris, moſt treſſonabillie interpryſet, be þe aſſiſtance of ſum of your auld complices, to haif treſſonabillie foret þe ſaid Caſtell of Blaknes: Quhilk purpois being diſcloſet and diſapointit, and ze, for your moir ſaif keiping, being transportit to þe Caſtell of Edinburgh, ze þair lykwayis interpryſet, in the moneth of, the zeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and ſax zeiris, and prepared meanis to haif brokin your waird: And being alſo diſapointit of that attempt, ze war þairin detenit in irnes, till at laſt, in the monethis of Nouember and December, the zeir of God 1607 zeiris, ze treſſonabillie conſultit, devyſet, reſoluēt, and concludit with Johne Lord Maxwall, and Robert Maxwall callit of þe Tour, being bothe his Maieſteis Wardouris,¹ fforceable, violentlie and treſſonabillie to force his Maieſteis Caſtell of Edinburgh, and brek waird furth þair of; conforme to þe quhilk reſolution, ze and your ſaidis complices, vpone þe day of December, the zeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and ſevn zeiris, haveing preparit all thingis neceſſar for executioun of your devillifch proiect, be ſubteill meanis, maid your ſelffis maifteris of your keiperis wapones; and than ruſching furth of þe chahner, and loking þame in within þe ſame, quhairby thay ſould naper be able to ſtay your purpois, nor to diſcouer you, ze come to þe Inner-zet of the ſaid Caſtell, quhair, being accompanyeit with þe ſaid Lord Maxwall and Robert Maxwall, with drawin ſuordis in your handis, ze treſſonabillie invaidit Alexander Struperis,² keiper of þe ſaid zett, for his ſlauchter; and becaus he, accoirding to his dentie, reſiſted you in your ſaid treſſonabill interpryſe, ze gaif him dyuerſe grit and dangerous woundis in his heid and airme, to the grit eſſuſioun of his bluid and danger of his lyfe; and haifing left him lying for deid, ze and your ſaid complices forceable and treſſonable opnit þe ſaid Inner-zet, quhair

¹ Prisoners, persons detained in ward or captivity; not Warders, in the English ſeuſe of the word, ² Struthers.

3e lykwayis vnhoneftlie, crewallie, and treffonabillie hurt and woundit Margaret Phillope, wyfe to the faid Alexander, in þe heid, with 3our fuordis, to þe grit effufioun of hir bluid, and left hir alfo lying for deid: And then, haifing no forder refiftance, 3e 3eid¹ forwartis to þe Myd-3et of the faid Caftell; and þair 3e and þe faid Lord Maxwell treffonabillie inuaidit Archibald Cunninghame, Maifter-porter of þe faid Caftell, for his flauter; and becaus he wald nocht delyuer to 3ow þe keyis of þe faid 3et, 3e gaif him ane grit and dangerus ftraik, in þe left airme; be þe paine quhairof, and abundance of þe bluid rynnng frome him, he being almoft in found,² 3e reft the keyis frome him, and treffonabillie forcet þe faid 3et, and paft furth þairat; and than going to þe Bak-wall, 3e and 3our faidis complices lap ouer þe fame; and þairby treffonablie brak þe faid waird, and fled to haif efcaped; quhill³ 3e, being followit be þe Conftable of þe faid Caftell, and vberis, his Maifteis guid and faithfull fubiectis, 3e war tane and brocht bak to þe faid Caftell. QUHILKIS treffonabill crymes war moft wiketlie and contemptiouflie committit be 3ow and 3our faidis complices; and 3e war and ar airt and pairt þairof: And þairfoir aucht and fould be pwneifchet be tynfall and fforfaltour of 3our lyfe, landis and guidis; accoirding to þe lawis and practik of þis realme.

THE faid Sir James, eftir reding of the faid Dittay, produceit certane Articles; togidder with ane Inftument, of the dait of thir presentis, quhair Margaret Campbell, his fpous, paft to Mr Johnne Ruffell, Aduocat, and presentit him the Counfallis Warrant to compeir in his defence; quha refufit to compeir, as the Inftument beris: And als produceit the Lordis of Secreit Counfall Warrant and delyuerance, quhair thay grant Licence to procuratouris to compeir. Quhilkis being red, the Aduocat tuik inftumentis thairvpoun, and fpeciallie, vpoun the productioun of the Warrant gewin be the Lordis of Secreit Counfall to Aduocattis to compeir.—The Aduocat produceit ane Act of Counfall, for his Warrant to infit in perfuit of Sir James M^cconnell.

Mr Johnne Ruffell, Aduocat, compeirand judiciallie, in prefens of the Iuftice, declairit he wald nocht compeir in defence of the pannell, without his Maifteis fpeciall Warrant and Commiffioun, commanding him to compeir.⁴

THE Iuftice declairit and anfuerit to the faid Mr Johnne, that gif he wald compeir, bayth the Act of Parliament gevis him Licence, and the Counfall hes gevin him ane particular Warrant for his compeirance: And thairfoir, gif he will nocht compeir,—delay nocht the Jugement ony langer.—The said Mr Johnne refuifet altogidder to compeir.

¹ Went. ² In a swoon or fainting-fit. ³ Until. ⁴ This refusal does not seem to have proceeded from personal fear of the consequences of undertaking this defence; for in numerous instances, this learned man undertook as desperate cases; and in the present instance, he had a special Licence. It must have proceeded from the utter hopelessness of Makconell's defence; and the detestation naturally felt at the almost unparalleled cruelties committed by this ferocious barbarian. He absolutely refused to appear, unless commanded by his Majesty.

Quhilk Dittay, eftir reiding thairof oppinlie in Judgement, the Justice ffind relevant: And thairfoir referrit the fanyn to the knowlege of ane Affyfe, of the perfones following.

ASSISA.

Andro Lord Stewart of Vchiltre,	Rob ^t Chennen of Chennentoun,	W ^m Sinclair of May, younger,
The Laird of Drumlanerig, elder,	David Arnote of Chapell,	Mr Frances Bothuell, brother to
Sir James Douglas, kny ^t ,	James Tennent of Lennox,	my Lord Halyrudhous,
Sir James Cunninghame of	(Linhoufe,)	Williame Trumbill of Airdrie,
Glengarnock,	Thomas Sibbald, Tutour of	Johnne Johnneftoun, Bailzie of
Mr Robert Fawfyde, elder, of	Rankelour,	the Watter of Leith, that Ilk,	Sir James Balfoure, brother to	Johnne Achiefoun, portioner of Laurence Gordoun of Glenluce,	my Lord of Burlie,	Innerask.

The said Sir James produceit to the Affyfe ane Warrant, fubfcryuit be his Maieftie, allowing¹ the taking of his father Angus M^cconceill, the maner, forme, and circumftances done thairin; quhilk is of the dait, att falkland, the aucht day of Auguft 1598: Quhilk he tuik vp agane, and wald not vfe.

It was allegeit (by the pannell,) that ony verificatioun that is product of Depofitiounis, tane be my Lord of Ergyll, can nocht be availzeable; in refpect my Lord Ergyll hes mellit with his blude and leving.

Our said fouerane lordis Aduocat, for verificatioun of the said Dittay, product to the saidis perfones of Affyfe, Angus M^cconceill of Dynnivaig, father to the said Sir James, and Fynwall Nickelane, his mother, thair Depofitiones; togidder with his awin Depofitiones; made be thame, in prefens of the Lordis of his hienes Counfall; for verifeing that article and poynt of Dittay, anent the raifeing of the ffyre, and burning of the hous of Afkomell. And ficlyk, for verificatioun of the laft article of Dittay, repeittit the said Sir James awin Judicial Confefioun, maid be him in the said Justice and Affyfouris prefence; confefing the breking of the said waird of the Caftell of Edinburgh: And als produceit, for verificatioun thairof, the saidis Archibald Cunninghame, Maifter-porter, and Alexander Strutheris, thair Depofitiones maid and fubfcryuit be thame, in prefens of the saidis Lordis of Counfall; quhilkis tua Depofitiones was ratifeit and approvyn, in Judgement, be the saidis Archibald and Alexander, in prefens of the said Sir James: Quhilkis our fouerane lordis Aduocat also repeitit. And in refpect thairof, proteftit for Wilfull Errour, in cais the saidis perfones of Affyfe Clange or Acquit him of the saidis crymes.

VERDICT. The Affyfe, be the mouth of the said Andro Lord Stewart of ¹ Sanctioning, permitting; not admitting or confessing, as the word usually fignified, in ancient legal pleadings.

Vchiltrie, all in ane voce, ffind, pronuncet and declairit the said SIR JAMES M'CONNELL of Knokrynfay, knycht, to be Giltie and convict of airt and pairt of the Raifeing of ffyre in the hous of Alkomell and burning of the famyn, accoording to his Dittay, in all poyntis; cleirlye verifeit to thame be his awin Depositiones, and vtheris probationes producet in proces. AND lykwayis, the saidis perfones of Assyfe, all in ane voce, ffind, pronuncet and declairit the said Sir James to be Giltie, culpable and convict of the Breking of his Maiefteis waird of the Castell of Edinburgh: And of airt and pairt of the forcing of the zettis of the said waird: And of airt and pairt of Hurting and Wounding of Archibald Cuninghame, Maister-porter, Alexander Strutheris and Margaret Phillope, his fuous, ordiner fervandis and porteris of the said Castell.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the place of his Executioun, and thair to be demanit and execute as ane tratour; and his heid to be ftrukkin frome his body;¹ and all his landis, heritages, barroneis, takis, fteidingis, rowmes, poffeffiones, coirmes, cattell, inficht pleniffing and annuelrentis, guidis and geir pertening to him, to be fforfaltit, efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vsê: as convict and culpable of the saidis crymes.

APPENDIX OF ORIGINAL PAPERS.²

[THE following Documents are carefully taken from the Originals, which are preserved in Sir James Balfour's Collection of MSS. Advocates' Library. Had the Editor been earlier informed of Mr Gregory's proposed History of the Isles, &c. he would have left it to that gentleman to give the substance of them. It was, however, too late to cancel this Appendix; but indeed, this is the less to be regretted, as it is believed that Mr Gregory merely intends to give the spirit of such Papers as the present, and to incorporate the information conveyed, in the body of his work; which is all that is necessary for such historical purposes.]

I. DEPOSITION of Sir James Makconell.³

AT the Castell of Edinburghe, the xv day of Januare, 1608, in prefence of my Lord Aduocat, and Mr William Hairs, Justice depute, and Sir Johne Arnote, Thefaurare depute.

SIR JAMES M'CONNELL, knycht, fsworne and demandit, How lang is it fen he hes bene detenit and haldin prifoner? Deponis, that he wes tane be his fader, in Kintyre, vpoun informatioun maid to his fader, that he wes to tak some courfe aganis him; and efter he had remanit ane certane fpace with his fader, he wes delyuerit be his fader to Auchinbrek,⁴ be whome he wes detenit ane certane fpace; and ¹ It has already been stated, in the Notice prefixed to this Trial, that Sir James Makconell was not executed; but that he again effected his escape, went to Spain, and returned in the reign of King Charles I, from whom he received a large pension, and died a natural death, in England, in 1626.

² The remaining Papers fall more properly under the proceedings against Angus Oig, Jul. 3, 1615, where they shall be inserted.

³ From the Original, preserved among the Warrants of the Privy Council, General Register House.

⁴ Sir Dougald Campbell.

thairefter delyuerit to the Erll of Ergyll, who keipit him whill he wes chargeit be THE COUNSAILL to exhibite him; quhilk he did at Sanct Johnneftoun: fra that, he wes fend to the Castell of Blaknes. Demandit, yf at ony tyme he had tane his fader? Deponis, that he tuke him in Kintyre, in ane houfe callit Afkomihue, the deponer haueing his bruther, young Angus, (and) a cumpany of the gentilmen of Kintyre with him. And that this wes about Candilmes, aucht yeir fyne, or thairby. Denyis that he rafed ony ffyre in the houfe; and depones, that he hes Warrant of HES MAJESTIE, allowing¹ the taking of his fader as gude fernice.

Anent the interprife of his Breking of Warde furth of the Castle of Edinburgh, and demandit yf he wes the first mover to THE LORD MAXUELL, or yf the Lord Maxwell wes the mover thair of to him? Deponis, that vpoun Sunday at even, afoir the interprife, Robert Maxwell of Dynwiddie come to the deponer, and tauld him, that within few dayis he fould heir the best newis that he had hard this lang tyme bigane; and the deponer anfuerit, that he wald fane heir gude newis. And the deponer infisting with Robert, diuers times thairefter, to haif vnderftand quhat gude newis thefe wes? Robert evir conceillit the mater, whill² Fryday thairefter, quhilk wes the day that thair interpryfe wes putt in executioun. And grantis, that the said Robert cam to the deponer, about tua efter none, and putt him in remembrance of the wordis that he had fpoken to him vpoun the Sunday preceding; and tauld him, that that nyght the Lord Maxwell wes to brek warde, and wald tak the deponer with him; and craved the deponeris opinioun, quhat he thocht of that mater? To whome it wes anfuerit, be the deponer, that the executioun of that interprife wes fa suddanelie to be done, that the deponer could gif no avife thairin; and he thocht that the Lord Maxwell fould haif communicat that mater to him felf, yf he wald haif had him to be ane affifter thairin. And depones, that fchortlie thairefter, about foure efter none, the Lord Maxwell come in to the deponer, satt down befyde him, drank tua pypis of tabaca,³ and fpak no thing of his interprife to the deponer, quhill the deponer pafst to the windo, to haif maid watter. The Lord Maxwell come to him to the windo, and tauld him, that he wes refolued that nyght to efchaip and brek warde; and defyrit the deponer to prepar him to go with him; for he had men attending vpoun the yettis, to hald them oppin, and had horfes awaiting vpoun the feildis to carry thame away:⁴ And the deponer anfuerit to the Lord Maxwell, that fik ane interprife required goode advife and deliberatioun; and defirit him not to be suddane, bot to be weill advifit and refolued thairin. To whome the Lord replyis, ‘Tufhe, man! sic interpryfes ar nocht effectuat with deliberationis and advifments, bot with suddane refolutionis!’ And then the Lord caufit fetche in tua quartis of wyne; and, haveing maid some confaitis of paflyme in the houfe, he defirit Williame Simfone, ane of the deponeris keiparis, to gif him his fwerd; whilk he refufeing to rander, he thored the said Williame, held ane drawin quhingear quhilk he tuke fra Williame Maxwell, avowing to haif his lyfe, yf he randerit nocht the fwerd; and fua, violentlie tuke the fwerd fra Simfone: Tuk ane vther fwerd fra James Stewart, ane vther of the deponeris keiparis; and tuke ane vther fwerd fra Williame Armeftange of the Gyngellis: And haueing the fwerdis, he then tauld planelie, that he wald brek warde; and fayd to Young Clofburne, ‘Yee ar heir for a civile caus, yf it pleis yow to go, yee falbe welcome!’ And Clofburne defifting, the Lord Maxwell, with Robert of Dynwiddie, Williame of Kirkhous, and the deponer, pafst out of the chalmer, and come to the yettis; quhair fum of the portaris wer hurte: Bot denyis that he hurte ony of thame him felf. And fua, haueing forceit the yettis, they lap ower the wall. Demandit yff William Maxwell delt with the deponer in this interprife? Deponis, vpoun his aithe, that he nevir delt with the deponer in that mater; and that he knawis no thing of Williames doing; bot that he oppynnit the Nether-yett of the turnepyke, quhare the deponeris chalmer is.

(Sic fubferibitur) S^r J. MAKDONALL. S^r T. HAMILTON. S^r J. ARNOTE. M^r W^m HEART.

¹ Admitting, approving of, acknowledging. ² Until. ³ This was a phrase in common use, shortly after the introduction of tobacco into Scotland. The Editor has seen the term ‘quaff’ similarly used, which may be the origin of ‘whiff,’ a vulgar phrase now in use. ⁴ See the particulars of this desperate and admirably executed escape, in the Trial of John, Lord Maxwell, Jun. 24, 1609.

II. LETTER, *Sir James Mackconell to the Duke of Lennox.*¹

PLEIS YOUR GRACE,

I AM in verie greit misery, as this beirar can tell. Your grace knawis I have depended vpon your fawor, befor I was put to this miserie; and now, I wil befeik your grace to gett his Ma^{tie} power to talk ordour with me, at your graces cuming heir. I am willing to acceptt quhatt his Ma^{tie} wil bestow on me, ather in my awin kyndly rounne, or in oney vther partt of his Kingdwmes; and fall find caufione for my obedience; quilk I will befeik your grace to report to his Ma^{tie}, and patt your grace will gett me patt fawor as to be bainifhid, rather or I be in this miserie. As for my bastard brother, quha hes brokin your graces ward, iff your grace talk ane doing for me, and talk me in your awin hand, I fall find pe way he falbe putt in your graces reverence, as he was befor. Befeiking your grace to remember my miserie, and gett me libertie or banifmentt. I rest on your graces faworable doing, quhatt I vrett anentt Archibald, Your grace will hald it quyett till your grace cum hame.

FROM ED^B CASTELL,

Your graces serwand duiring lyfe,

27 Junij, 1607.

S^R J. MACDONALL.

To my very gud Lord, my Lord DUIK OF LENNOX.

III. LETTER, Sir James Makconell to the King.

MY GRACIOUS SOVERAN,

MAY it pleis your Maieftie to apardoune my importunitie, being inforfid pairto, throw the grett misery q^{lk} I aknawleg to have maist justly deseruid, for my bypast offences towardis God and your Ma^{tie}: 5ett my foueran, your Ma^{tie} hes graciously forgiuein gretter offenceis; 5ea, the gretteft Trefon 5att euer was deuyfid aganist aney Prence, 5our hienes hes forgiwein. For Chlyrtis caus, Sir, ance forgiue me my bypast offenceis, and with Godis grace I fall euer behawe my selff deutiffully heirefter; and fall find caufion to obey quhatt your Ma^{tie} will injune² to me; befeiking pat pe Declaratioun of your Ma^{ties} will may be sent to pe Confall; seing, without pe same I can gett na ansuer of pair Lordschipis. Humblie kissing your Ma^{tie} handis, I commit your Ma^{tie} ewer to Godis protectione.

Your Maiefties maist humble and puir subiect

FROM EDINBRUCHE CASTELL,

to be imployid to dethe,

28 of Junj (1607.)

S^R J. MAKDONALL.

TO THE KING HIS MAIST EXCELLENT MAIESTIE.

IV. LETTER, *Sir James Makconell to the Earl of Caithnes.*³

MY VERIE HONOURABLE GUD (LORD,)

FEIRING that your lo., to whose fawor I am so much obifhid,⁴ fuld not mistaik pe caus of this my last offence, in braicking of Ward, I haue beine this⁵ bauld to vrytt to your lo. the only motion quhilk, I protest to God, maid me to braik Ward. It is trew, my lord, patt the Laird of Calder said to honest men, wha can beir record, patt how soever my pairt was anent Donnoveg, 5ett he had ane Warrant past be HIS MA^{TIES} hand, quhilkis pe Confall saw nott, to command pe Confall, presently efter pe sicht of patt Warrant, to putt me to exsecutioun; and how lyttill refone I had to trust my lyfe to Calder, your lo. self and vthers of pe Counfall knawis; for, be his misreport, he did all he culd to have perallid my lyfe. And jis trewly was pe caus I fled with my avin lyfe, and for no mistrust I had in HIS MA^{TIES} clemence, or in the Confallis fawor; nor 5ett, for oney feir I had off oney thing pay culd try aganes me, anentt Dunoveg; for as I said when I was in ward, I will say now; God is my vittnes, my pairtt, ever, anent pe taiking or keiping of Dunoveg aganes HIS MA^{TIES}, hes beine ever most honest and lyall;¹ and efter all just tryall, I will defy my onfreindis² prive³ vtherwayis. And fence þe braik of Waird I maid with þe Lord Maxwell,⁴ by⁵ my exspectatione, to þis night I brak Ward last, be God him self, I was never privie nor a confenter to aney Platt aganes HIS MA^{TE} or my euntre, I mein his MA^{TES} dominions. And now, seing my braik of Ward was nott, as God is my judge, for no defyre of Rebellion, nor no vther defing,⁶ bott only for faistie of my avin pur lyfe, I will most humble befeik your lo. speik such as is your freindis in Consfall, patt HIS MA^{TE} might be moveid, nott to tak no heste or violent curfe⁷ aganis me, onto⁸ the tyme thatt pair lo^s will heir my Peticione. And give⁹ your lo. will gett me þat fawor that my Peticion falbe hard, and patt oney whom I fall send with my Letters to your lo. fall nott be trubled; and I being advertesid by your lo., I will, be your lo^s advyse, do aney thing patt may best satisfie HIS MA^{TE} and Consfall; my lyfe, and the lyfis of these patt helpid to faif my lyfe being faiff. So, with þe remembrance of my humble deute, I rest

¹ This and the following Letters are from the Originals preserved among the Denmylne MSS. Adv. Library. When procured from other sources, the circumstance is explained in the Notes. ² Enjoin. ³ George, fifth Earl of Caithness. He married Jean, only daughter of George, fifth Earl of Huntley. ⁴ Obliged. ⁵ Thus.

Your lo^s pur freind euer to serve you,

S^R J. MAKDONALL.

To my verie honourable gud lord, my Lord ERLE OF CAITTHNES.

V. LETTER, Sir James Makconeill to the Earl of Caithnes.

MY VERIE HONORABLE GOOD LORD,

PLEAS your lo., the ondeserved fauour and courtesee which I refaued by your lo., in showing your selue my frend, that tyme at Court, when my onfrendes did misreporte of me to his Maieftie, makes me now this bold to befeek your lo. to continew my frend, according to my reasonable fute. And, in speciall, that your lo. will meane my caise to your frendes in Counfall; for I protest my beeng ten yeeres in warde in the Castle of Edinburgh, and the disponeing of my kyndlic landes, made me not so much to tak that haistie resolution to esheap, as when I was assured, by his owine frendes reportes, that my lyf wes geven over in the Larde of Caddelles handis; who beeing, as your lo. knowes, nowife my frend, or one to trust my lyf to; alwise¹⁰ now I befeek your lo., as yee shall till death have my poore service, try by the Counfall, yf vpon any conditiones, not diminishing his Maieftis comoditie,¹¹ I may have this peece of old possessiounes, which is Illa, to susteane my selue and all my kinne that now folowes me; that his Maieftie may have his owine, with honour and ease, and wee to leeve in peace and offend no manne, and I, getting suretie of my lyff and of this peece land, shall find sufficient suretie, both for my obedyance and good ordour, keeping by all my kinne and frendes. As your lo. learns in this, or can be hable to do me fauour in getting me his Maieftis peace, your lo. will aduertese me. And I befeech your lo., so far as you can, crosse the Campbells to gett any employmentes againes me—for they caire not how much they trouble the countree¹² and put his Maieftie to charges needles. As for the Houfe of Dwnoveg, I tooke it from Calderis menne, in the speace of one day,¹³—killed parte of thame, vpon the Greene of the Houfe,—chaifed in the rest,—tooke there watter and the two Barmkines¹⁴ from tham,—and forced thame to yeeld in my will, the next morning. So I have the Houfe, neuer to be gevin to these that is not worthie of it. But yett, his Maieftie may ever command it and my selue, I feeng how I may leeve with the assurance of my lyff and my poore frendes. So, abyding your lo. aduertement, with the remembrance of my humble seruice, I shall ever remaine,

Your lo. assured frend to serve you,

S^R J. MAKDONALL.

ILA, 2 Julii.

I BESEECH your lo. let me know how my lord Secretar is towards me?—Or who is most for Calder?—Or how he is now thought of be HIS MA^{TE}?

TO THE ERLE OF CAITHNES.

¹ Leal, loyal. ² Enemies. ³ Prove. ⁴ See Lord Maxwell's Trial, Jun. 14, 1609. ⁵ Against, contrary to. ⁶ Design. ⁷ Course. ⁸ Until. ⁹ If. ¹⁰ At all events; nevertheless. ¹¹ Pecuniary interests; the King's Rental. ¹² Disturb the public peace. ¹³ See p. 14, &c. ¹⁴ Fr. Barbacane, i. e. propugnaculum antemurale; being the outer fortified works or ramparts of the Castle. There wer often several lines of circumvallation, to prevent surprises.

VI. LETTER, Sir James Makconcell to the Earl of Caithnes.

MY LORD,

GEVE the Confall be curius to knaw whom it was patt *Calder*¹ fend to, he had the Warand for taiking my lyfe. *The Pryar of Archattan*² and *M'kwoll*³ his sone, Allan M'dowgall is my authours; and they will not, nor can not deny itt. Also Calder's avin agent, James Movatt, maid no secreitt pairof; for he tauld it both to *the Erle of Crawford*⁴ and to M'intois.⁵ I wald not nov, becaus I had nott ane beirar of my avin, haifart to vryt to je Secrettar,⁶ bott itt is only in your lo. and his lo. patt I trust. I know Calder and je Cambellis wilbe buiffie to feik employment of fervice aganes me; bott the same fall nott be neidfull, for your lo. and my Lord Secrettar may better bring me to that quhilk falbe most to HIS MA^{TE} commodite and je quyetnes of je contre, without bestoving oney chargis nor all je Cambellis liveand may or can do by HIS MA^{TES} fors, quhilk I will ever except; and honour, and respeck what your lo. wryttis to me, onles the Confall dereck one to me. Your lo. may fend your Letters to my lord Tuillibairne,⁷ to be sent be his lo. to the Officer of Lochaber, wha will fend same to me whair ever I be. So abyding your lo. anfuert, I rest,

Your lo^s ever to serve you,

(Without date.)

S^r J. MAKDONALL.

To my verie honourable gud lord, my lord ERLE OF CAITTNES.

VII. LETTER, Sir James Makconcell to the Bishop of the Isles.⁸

MY VERIE GUD LORD,

I DOU^t nott bott, or⁹ now, your lo. hes hard of my braiking of Ward; and je only caus quhilk maid me ventour je fame, quhilk, as God knawis, was for no vther caus bott only for je saifte of my lyfe, quhilk je Laird of Calder said was in his will only. Allways,¹⁰ prais to God, I am out of Calder's denger; and yett, geve¹¹ be oney meines I may have HIS MA^{TES} graciuis pardon to my self and these gentill men patt asifted me, I will latt your lo. fe HIS MA^{TE} commodite fall novayis be impaired, je pace of je contrie fall novayis be trublid, nor HIS MA^{TE} putt to no chargis, be giveing employment to je Cambellis, wha crawis ever to fish in drwmly¹² watters; and pairfoir, I pray your lo. deill with HIS MA^{TE} and Confall, for a continewatioun of oney violent curfe¹³ to be tane be HIS MA^{TE} aganis me, untill yow may gett one of your avin to cum to me; and with patt man, or with your lo. self, geve I know how to fie you, I fall fend such Offers as I hop fall content HIS MA^{TE} and Confall. So, as my trest is and was ever in your lo., I pray you vryt to me, what I may luik for? As for pat erand of Dwnveg, God is my vittnes, I am inofent pairof; and I pray your lo. try pat erand, as geve I war in ward; and I trest je will find my pairrt honest. So, luiking your lo. anfuert, I committ you to God; and rest

Your lo^s ever att command,

Junij 3.

S^r J. MAKDONALL.

I PRAY your lo. gett me Lifence to fend ane man or boy with my Letters to your lo.

To my verie gud Lord, my lord BISHOP OFF THE IYLLIS AND RAPHO.

¹ John Campbell of Calder, or Caddell, as he was often styled. ² . . . Campbell. ³ . . . M'Dougal of Dnnollych, Laird of M'Dougal. ⁴ David, eleventh Earl of Crawford. ⁵ Sir Lauchlan MacIntosh of that Ilk, whose father, Angus, had married Lady Jean Campbell, daughter of Archibald Earl of Argyle.—Douglas. He was heritable Steward of Lochaber, and one of the Gentlemen of the Bedchamber to Prince Charles; and married Agnes, daughter of John Grant of that Ilk. ⁶ Lord Binning, afterwards Earl of Hadington. ⁷ William, second Earl of Tullibardine, who, for his services to the King, in the affair of Gowrie's Conspiracy, Aug. 5, 1600, had the heritable Sheriffship of Perthshire. His second wife, Lady Dorothea Stewart, being eldest daughter of John, fifth Earl of Atholl, and the male line having become extinct, their eldest son John was created Earl of Atholl. ⁸ From the Original, preserved among the Dennylie MSS. Adv. Library. Andrew Knox, Parson of Paisley, the first Protestant Bishop of the Isles, was translated to the See of Raphoe, in Ireland, but held both Bishoprics for some time. He assumed both titles. ⁹ Ere; before. ¹⁰ At all events; nevertheless. ¹¹ If. ¹² Who ever crave to fish in 'troubled waters.' A well-merited, though bitter, sarcasm. ¹³ Course.

VIII. LETTER, Sir James Makconell to the Bishop of the Isles.

MY VERIE GOOD LORD,

PLEIS your Lo. war not I hard your lo. was in Ireland, and could find no meanes to wreit to yow, I was not four nightes out of Ed^s, quhan I would have writtin to your lo. as to one quhom I haue euer found my friend. And now, my Lord, I protest, albeit I was xij 5eires in waird, and all my kyndlie landis disponed to strangeres, my lyff left in his Maiesties handis, 5ett the same maid me not so myche to braik ward as it did quhan I was offered be the Laird of Calderes awin freendis, quha can not deny it, that his Maiestie, be his secrete Warrant, had gevine ower my lyff in the Laird of Calderes handis. And now, my lord, I protest to God my desyre is not to rebell or truble the Esteat of the cuntrie, bot ferue his Maiestie with all humilitie, and mak my kin and freindis paceable men, iff I may haue his Maties^s pace, with the assuurance of my lyff and the lyfe of my pur freendis, and some meanes to susteane ws rather nor to fors ws, for want, to opres otheres. Heirfoir I beseeke your lo., seing my Race has bene tenne hundreth yeeris kyndlie Scottis men, vnder the Kinges of Scotland; and war I willing to leive vpoun ane pur pairt of that quhilks our foibeiraris had, and I to find gud furtie for all that becomes loyall subiectis to do, both for myself and my quholl kin that followes me, that 5our lo. will, as 5e euer did, interfeed for me at his Maties^s handis to sie quhat grace or fauour 3our lo. may obtien to me; and in speciall, to sie give, without diminisching his Maties^s commoditie, I may have the Iland to my self and my kin to susteine ws; wtherways that 3our lo. will get that fauour that no hefté curse falbe taine againes me, be geveing employment to my onfreendis, till your lo. may have tyme first to speek with me; att quliche tyme, albeit I gett not the Iland, 5ett, provyding his Maiestie will hauld it in his awin hand, I will shaw your lo. how his Maties^s commoditie heir may be increffed, and I to be fatisfied, and this cuntrie to be frie of ony truble of me or my freendis.

As for this Hous of Dunovege, I protest to God, give aither his Maieftis Gaird or your lo^s men war keepares of it, I wald neuer enter within it, albeit it war without keeping—but finding in it fuche as ferued them quha focht my lyf and landis, and quho crewally opprest this pur Iland in such fort, that I protest to God thair defing was rather to waift it, nor mak it able to pay his Maties^s rentes. The same maid me preferwe the hous; and albeit that Hous cost his Matie^s muche money in putting it in Calderis handis, it pleased God that, in one day (I took it), with the lose bot of one man. And now if your lo. may get me ony fauourable conditiones be his Matie^s, 5e may assuir 3our self I will give yow the Hous, provyding it be in your handis, and nane of the Cambellis to gett it. As your lo. does in this, or is lyk to do, advertis me. And so, reposeing in your lo^s constand freendship, I committ your lo. to God, and restis

Your lo^s ever assuired to command,S^r J. MAKDONALL.

IN hope, with Goddis grace, I will geve 3our lo. 5itt ane better propyne, I pray your lo. fend me ane Inventare¹ with this bearer, for I am far from the clock.

S^r J. MAKDONALL.

TO THE BISCHEOP OF THE ILLIS.

IX. LETTER, *Sir James Makconell to the Privy Counsell of Scotland.*²

MY VERIE HONOURABLE GUD LORDS,

PLEIS 3our lo^s, my offence in braiking ward fuld mak me to be loth to presume to vrytt vnto 3our lo^s, 5ett, seiring the mosioun quhilk maid me to eschep fuld be vtherways thocht be 3our lo^s nor the trewth of my intencion, I am this³ bauld to deleaitt vnto 3our lo^s the only caus quhilk maid me to braik ward; and this is itt. The Laird of Calder said to twa fewerall honest gentillmen, patt how ¹ This is from a copy. The word should be 'mounter,' Fr. montre, a watch. ² In a Letter from Lord Binning to Lord Tullibardin, Jun. 13, 1615, he states that the Council would not forward such Letters to the King; and that 'so long as he remaynes within his Maties^s dominions, and hes societie and dealing with rebellis and broken men, I cannot expect that his Petitions can be received be his Matie^s, vnles he wold do such notable service aganis some principall Rebellis, as might perswade his Matie^s to think him wourthie of mercie!' ³ Thus.

foever my tryall past anent the erand of Dwnoveg, sett he had ane Warand, in his avin keiping, past be his MA^{TE} quhilk pe Confall novayis did fie, commanding, immediatly efter the presenting pair of putt me to exsecutione, butt¹ farther profes; and so, my lyfe as itt war gevin be HIS MA^{TE} over in the hands of him wha had not only medlid with my kyndly lands, my frends lyfes, and withall pe only man who reportid warft of my self, to haue gottin my lyfe with my lands, pe only feir pair of maid me lie with my lyfe, and no desire of Rebellion; nether aney mistrust I had of HIS MA^{TES} clemencie, nor of your lo^s favor; nether wald I braik ward for oney thing (they) culd try aganes me, anent pe erand of Dunoveg; for God is my vittnes I am inofent pair of. And I beseik your lo^s try pe same, as giwe² I war in ward to be accusid, and I trest your lo^s fall find my pairt, in all that buiffines, honest and loyall. And now I will, in all humilyté, beseik your lo^s to pité my cace, and grant me patt fauor as to suffer me to fend in ane humble Peticione to your lo^s, be the quhilk I hop to give such fatisfaction to HIS MA^{TE} and your lo^s as I may best, to fatisfie his Ma^{tes} will and your lo^s in all thingis, my avin lyfe and these wha hes assistid me being saiffe. And, in pe meintyme, praye your lo^s most humblé, befor I be hard, not to wis³ oney violente curse aganes me, ether to putt his Ma^{te} to expenceis, and me to disparatione. So, beseiking pe grett God to move HIS MA^{TES} hartt and your lo^s to pité me, according to the intencione I have to be ane paceable man, with the assuirance of my lyfe; only luiking your lo^s will latt me know what fauor I may luik for, committing your lo^s in Gods protextione, I humbly taks my live, and rests

Your lo^s humble fervitour,

Junij 3.

S^R J. MAKDONALL.

To my verie honourable gud Lords, my LORD CHANCELLAR of SCOTLAND, and the remenent of HIS MA^{TES} honourable PRIVIE CONSALL.

X. LETTER, *Sir James Makconell to the Earl of Crawford.*⁴

MY VERIE HONORABLE GUD LORD,

It may be your lo. think it streng patt I obscurid my intenciou of braiking Ward, fra your lo., in regair of our luif and familiarité; sett I hop your lo. will excusis me. For pe reveilling pair of to your lo. nicht do you hairme, being whair ye ar, and no furthurance to my intencione. Allwayis, as God fall judge my faule, my braiking ward was nott throw aney mistrust I had in HIS MA^{TIS} clemencé, nor in the Confalls fauor, nor sett for feir of oney thing culd try aganes me, anent patt trefon of Dunoveg; bott the only thing which moued me was only thatt I was credably informid, be honest men, patt C Calder said it to (pame,) patt howfoever pe erand of Dunoveg sed,⁵ he had ane Warand past be HIS MA^{TE} patt com never in pe Confallis sicht, commanding to put me to exsecutione, immediatly efter pe presenting pair of. Your lo. self and *Mintois*⁶ nicht heir James Movat fay pis; bott my authors ar better nor James. Allwayis,⁷ as I said aft⁸ to your lo. self, when I was in ward, I will now fay; patt, as God fall judge my faule, I was never airt nor pairt of the taking or keiping of Dunoveg aganes HIS MA^{TE}, nor of no vther plaitt,⁹ fence pe braik of ward pat I maid with pe Lord Maxwell till now, and give¹⁰ efter such long miseré of imprifonment, lose of lands, and kin, my braiking ward for pe saiffé of my lyfe, be thoecht be ye sensuir of my onfrendis,¹¹ such ane offence as will not be pardonid, I most tak pacience; for I am better now, prais to God, nor¹² as I was; and I will, as long as I liwe, pray for HIS MA^{TE} long and prosperus regne. Sett, seing give I be croft now, it cumis moir be my onfrends nor be HIS MA^{TE}, albeit I will never preis¹³ to liue long in HIS MA^{TES} dominions, by¹⁴ his hienes ovin will, altho I nicht; I wov to God, or¹⁵ I liwe¹⁶ pe contré, I, and moir nor I, fall ether lose our lyfes, or than I fall, God willing, liwe¹⁶ ane remembrance to my onfrends; I meiu only fik of pe Cambellis as wilbe my onfrends, patt itt salbe hard of when both they and I is deid and gone! I hop, to pair

¹ Without.

² If.

³ Use.

⁴ David, eleventh Earl of Crawford.

⁵ Went.

⁶ Sir Lauchlan

MacIntosh of that ilk.

⁷ Nevertheless.

⁸ Often-times.

⁹ Plot.

¹⁰ If.

¹¹ Enemies.

¹² Than.

¹³ Strenuously endeavour; press.

¹⁴ In opposition to.

¹⁵ Ere; before.

¹⁶ Leave.

small commodité: Bott I had rather gett liwe¹ to live in pace, and find gud fuirté for my obedience and gud ordour. I wilst to God, with HIS MA^{TRES} contentment, 5our lo. war ane fré man, both for your avin weill and þe weill of 5our friendis; and seing itt lysis in your avin hand, better be fré nor liwe pair with fik crofis as I knaw men will have in patt place.² I heir maney of the Keipers of patt Cassell ar putt in ward, for my braik;³ bott, as God fall judge me, pair was nane of þe keipers of patt Caitell þat ever I thoct to mak privé to my defing. I protest to God, I love þe gud Constable and all patt is pair. I haitt none of þame; bott I culd nott bott love my self befor. Thair is nane within patt Castell to whom I am adebtet, þat falbe ouey wayis intrest⁴ be me, if God grant me HIS MA^{TRES} pace. I defyre Petie Gilerijf keip my stare.⁵ Remember on our last discourfe, patt fame nicht I braik ward, anent Margarett. Sik nowis as may nott be thoct offenceive, I pray your lo. vrytt to me. My Lord Tuillibairne and þe men of Atholl, on þat Fryday after I brak waired, persewid me fo hardly, patt I was almost tane. We lost our hors, and all our clais. His lo. maid me to gett mair speid on fuitt, in one hour, nor⁶ I thoct to have gottin in ane 5eir, give⁷ fik fudent medefin⁸ had nott bein aplyid to me. Liewing⁹ to truble your lo. with longer discourfe, wilhing 5ou ever all hap-pines, I rest
Your lo^s avin euer to command,

S^R J. MAKDONALL.

I PRAY your lo. as 5e do vther thingis, lovfe¹⁰ my mvntour¹¹ fra Pettfindie, for 48 lib; and get my buiks fra him, and fra Elizabeth Gib. Sho hes twa buiks. Commend me to Christiene. When your lo. vrytis to me, send itt to my Lord Tullibairne to be sent to me. For sum of your lo^s avin perticular, I wald glaidly fê your man William Rattra, or oney of 5ours; the erand tuichis only 5our self. To my verie honourable gud lord, my lord ERLE OF CRAWFUIRD.

XI. LETTER, Sir James Makconell to the Earl of Craufurd.

MY VERIE HONORABLE GOOD LORD,

I WES not four nightes out of the Castle when I wrotte to your lo., but be not sure if your lo. hes reffaued my Letter. I have now wrotten thir few lynes, praying your lo. to remember me 5our promefe and conference with me. As for my felue, I am well, praifed be God, and all my kyndlie men hes reffaued me most glaidlie. I will do all I can to have HIS MA^{TRES} peace, and find also good fuiretie for my obedience and yeirlye dewtie¹² as may suffice. And if my onefrendis crofe me, I trest in God, how fo euer the mater go, to be evin with thame. I pray your lo. see if it be possible yee may gett outhier manne or boy to come speak with me, and aduertese me moir of all your awin estate and dyett, and of all such newes as occurs. Any of my bookes that your lo. can gett, send them to me, and vse your moyen to gett from the Erle of Atholl the bookes that wes tane from me at that onfett in Atholl. They gatt the thrie converfiones of England, Burnes book, and it that Phillip fett out on the controverted heades, it 5e saw Makcartney wrotte, the Mekle old Cornikle, in wrett. Ther wes other bookes that I remember not, bot your lo. may seek thame all to your felue. I pray your lo. gett me word from Pittfindie, and try if I will gett my mounter and chifter¹³ to lovfe.

This wes the forme of the taking of Duneveg. We lay in ane buis¹⁴ about the hous, till the Captane and tuelf of his best men com out. We persewed ouer rathlie or they come far from the hous. The Captanes men fled, bot¹⁵ him felue and three or foure, they wer slane. We 5eid in at the vtter Barnkin with the rest, but they clofed the 5ett of the inner Barnkin. Or tuelf hours we took the vatter,

¹ Leave.

² This evidently alludes to a proposal for breaking ward; which, it may be conjectured, is the meaning of the Postscript. It is very probable that this and other of Sir James Makconell's Letters had been intercepted.

³ On suspicion of aiding his escape out of confinement. ⁴ It is left to the reader to settle whether this word is used for 'interested' or 'increased.'—It seems to signify that none of them could hope for reward from him; so that bribery was out of the question.

⁵ The word is written so as to read stane or starc. The article intrusted may therefore have been some precious stone or jewel, or an order of merit. ⁶ Than. ⁷ If.

⁸ Sudden or powerful medicine. ⁹ Leaving; ceasing. ¹⁰ Loose; release from pledge. ¹¹ Watch. ¹² Fr. montre. ¹³ Annual-rent. ¹⁴ Probably his coffer or chest. Old Fr. chestron. ¹⁵ Perhaps for bush, or thicket; or, more probably, it may be a slip of the pen for ambush.

the vtter tour, and the tuo Barmkyns from thame, and fett fyre to the 3ett of the inner Barmkin, brunt it, killed and hurt some of there menne in with our thott; for we thott from four in the morning till efter tuelfue. Tuo of myne wes killed, a thouldiour and ane boy; tuo lightlie hurt. The hous wes promefed to yeeld or ten hours the morn. And so wes the Pryour and all that come out gatt thair lyff and there cloathes.

I trest in God that all the Campbells in Scotland, without HIS MA^{TIES} powar, shall not recouer it, so long as they live. I heare Patie Kilchriest is troubled for me; bot I protest to God he is innocent of my break, and all that is in that Castle. No more, but remember me to all frendes, specialie to Margrate, to Cristian, and all your owne frendes in the breathing; and also my homble service remembered, I rest
Your lo. owin to command,

July 3, Fra Duneveg.

S^R J. MAKDONALL.

TO THE ERL OF CRAUFURD.

XII. LETTER, *Sir James Makconell to Lord Tulliebardin.*¹

MY VERIE HONORABLE GUD LORD,

TREULY the tyme hes beine, when I wald never a luiked patt your father sone fuld persew me so hardly of my lyfe; for I protest I was never so hardly followid; and was so neir tane, patt your lo. self, and sum few with you, was within thre pair² to me. Bot I am much oblist to your lo., for in faith 3e maid me to be ane better fuitt-man, in one hour, nor I thocht to have beine in ane 3ier. Always,³ seing itt was HIS MA^{TIES} service your lo. did, I forgiwe you with my hartt; and I wish att God, my self had pe place to serve HIS MA^{TIES}, quhilk in my hartt I fall ever do. And this offence quhilk I have now committitt, I protest to God, is nott for desyre of trubles or Rebellion, nether for oney mistrust I had in HIS MA^{TIES} clemencé, or his honourable Confall, nor 3ett throw feir of aney thing patt can be tryed⁴ aganes me, anent patt erand of Dwnoveg; bot, as God knawis, my braiking Ward was only for pe saifté of my lyfe; for it is fertan, and I will gett veré honest wittnessis, to whom the Laird of Calder said itt, patt he had ane Warrant from HIS MA^{TIES}, quhilk the Confall never sawe, for to put me to present exsecutione, efter pe presenting of patt Warrant; so patt my lyffe was in Calder's will; and how lytill refone I had to trust to Calder, pairt of pe Confall self knawis; for, not only all vther vrangis he did me, he vrett both to HIS MA^{TIES}, and vthers att Court and in Confall, shawing, I was giltie both of pe talking and keiping of Dunoveg, pat pairby my lyfe might be tane. Bott now, pat pe warld may se his mailish, whan I am, as I hop in God, out of his denger, I will say to your lo., as I fall ansvér to God, I am and was ever as inofent of pe talking or keiping of Dwnoveg. aganes his MA^{TIES} as your lo. is; and when all is tryid, I defy my onfreindis to try⁵ vtherwayis, be oney just tryell. And pairfoir, seing, efter such long miseré, and pe los of all my kyndly⁶ lands, I bott only fled with my awin lyfe, I hop pe Confall will evin pité me. And I besaik your lo. to be my freind, so far as 3e may, without offence to HIS MA^{TIES}; only, in moving your freinds in Confall nott to be over hesté,⁷ att 3e desyre of my onfreindis, to tak oney violent cursis aganes me, whairbé thay may gett preferment, and cairis nott what may follow, in expence to HIS MA^{TIES}, or truble in pe cuntre; quhilk fall nott be neidfull: For, give⁸ your lo. will gett me an assurance, pat HIS MA^{TIES} honourable Confall will heir pe same, I will give in such ane humble Peticione to pair lo^s in fullfilling HIS MA^{TIES} will, and pair lo^s in aney thing posebill to me; my lyfe and liberté being only reservid: And give HIS MA^{TIES} dispence with my lyfe, and offences, fall mak gud fuirté to truble no man, by⁹ ordour off law. So luiking for your lo^s ansvér, be pe Barron Rid's meins, committing your lo. in God's protexion, I rest
Your lo^s affliured freind to command,

Junij 2.

S. J. MAKDONALL.

To my verie honourable gud lord, my lord ERLE OFF TULLIBAIRNE.

¹ William, second Earl of Tullibardine. See No. VI. Note. ² Three pair of buts; three buts' lengths.
³ Nevertheless; at all events. ⁴ Verified; proved; established. ⁵ Prove; establish. ⁶ The lands which he held as 'kindly Tenant' to the King.
⁷ Precipitate; hasty. ⁸ If. ⁹ Contrary to.

XIII. EXTRACT OF A LETTER from Sir Rorie Makcleud¹ to Lord Binning (received June 30, 1615.)

Now, since I perhave Sir James (Makoneill) hes brocken warde, and come to Lochquhaber, and out of that come to Moror and Knoddort, where he took per force a young youth, the secund sone of *Glengarrie*² on a worfe,³ and keeps him still in custodie; and the Captanes sone, a son of Donald McAllan McEan, Captain of the Clan-Ronald. And thereafter, come to Sleat, to Donald Gorme's bounds,⁴ where he gott a bigg boat, with oares, faile, and taikleing; and intercomoned at lenth with Donald Gorme there; and a number of Donald Gorme's folkes of Sleat, called Clann Tarlich,⁵ is gone with him. And thereafter, passed till the Yle of Egga, where he mett *Coill*⁶ and his companyee, togidder with his bafe sone, and a sone of Sir James Makforle of the Route.⁷ And they ar in number, as I lerne, tuelfue or threttein score, at the present tyme. And whidder they go South or North I can not tell, at the writteing heerof. It is my advyfe to your lo. and Counfall, that your lo. derect a ample command and charge, till all and findrie the Superiours of the Yles, till convocat thame selues in armes, with a full Commission till⁸ everie one of ws, till perfew the said rebelles, by sea and land, with fyre and sword, in this form, in thrie severall armyes and companyees. That is, *Makelaine of Doward*⁹ and *Makcleane of Lochbuy*¹⁰ in a companye and armie; Donald Gorme and *the Captane of Clann Ronald*¹¹ in a other armie; and I, *the Lairde of Coill*¹² and *Mackynnoun*¹³ and *my Lord of Kyntaile's*¹⁴ forces, in a other companyee; and lett everie one of thir armies endeavoire thameselues in HIS MA^{TIES} service; and he that doeth best therein, have the greatest honour, and preferment, and reward of HIS MA^{TIE} and Counfall. And becaus the said Sir James and his companyee hes taken thameselues to the sea, in two barkes and findrie other boates, it were expedyent that your lo. and Counfell would fend me ane Commission and powar to embark any ship I can apprehend, in thir Iles, to the better perfute of thame in thir Iles; otherwise, your lo. and Counfell till furnishe out two or three shippes, well provyded, to thir Iles; and derect one of thame to me, that I and they may concure togedder, in his highnes service. And I desyre the Iles Superiours to be devyded in three factions, for this caus. Sir James and the rebelles of the Clanndonald ar of kynn, blood, and alia¹⁵ to Donald Gorme and to the Captane of Clann Ronald; and Sir James and his rebelles ar deedlie enemies to Mackelene and his name, and they will never agree in a¹⁶ companyee and armee. And as for me, your lo. knowes verie well that I have given a proof of my obedience and service to HIS MA^{TIE} and Counfell allredyde, in taking, and apprehending, and delynering my own name and blood, the rebellis of the Lews;¹⁷ and in making these landis peaceable to HIS MA^{TIE}. Lett the rest do the lyk service now to HIS MA^{TIE}, and it is verie well knownen to HIS MAJESTIE and Nobilitie of Scotland, that my hous neuer rebelled, nor yett shall rebell.

Your lo. humble seruitor at powar,

S^r RORIE MAKCLEUD.

DUNVEGANE, 18th of June, 1615.

XIV. LETTER, Lord Tullibardine to Lord Binning.

MY VERRIE HONOURABILL GOOD LORD,

I HAUE reffawit McAllane McEan, Capitane of the Clan Ronald, his ansuer of my Letter, quhair-

¹ Sir Roderick Makleod of that Ilk, and of Harris, called Rorie More, who married a daughter of Donald Mac-Angus MacAlister of Glengary. ² Donald MacDonell, afterwards of Scothouse; who married Mary, daughter of Sir James Macdonald of Sleat. ³ Unawares. ⁴ Of Sleat in Skye. ⁵ Clan Tarlich, that is, the descendants of Charles. ⁶ Coill Makgillespik. ⁷ See Notice prefixed to this Trial. ⁸ To. ⁹ Hector Maclean of Doward, called Eachin Oig. ¹⁰ Hector Owir Maclean. He married a daughter of Lauchlan More, Maclean of Dowart. ¹¹ Donald MacAlban MacEan. ¹² Lauchlan Maclean of Coll; who married a daughter of Sir Roderick Macleod of Harris. ¹³ Lauchlan MacKinnon of Strathordill, Laird of Mackinnon. Strathordill is in Skye. He was knighted before his death. ¹⁴ Colin, second Lord Kintail, created Earl of Seaforth, Dec. 23, 1623. ¹⁵ Alliance by marriage. ¹⁶ One. ¹⁷ Lewis.

by I perceave þat he is nocht previe to Sir James his brekking of Waird, and is refoluit nocht to mell¹ with þair courffis, ffor Sir James and McRonald did all þat þai culd, be meffages, to haue met with þame, vpone pretence to haue delyuerit him his fone; bot he onnawyis wald haue ony midling with þame, nor wald nocht reffawe his fone, becaus he wes in thair cumpany, without ane Warrant of 3our lo^s of þe Counfell. Bot I heir þat fenfyne, quhan Sir James taik þe fea, he fend him frome him. Sir James, at his passing out of Lochabber, wes onlie accompaneit with fourtene men and boyis, and McRonald followit him with sextene men and boyis. They past out þat to *McEan of Ardnamurchais*² cuntrie, quhair I heir þat McEan him selff, with all his cumpany with him; att þe leift, þair is an great pairte of þame. He gat sum boittis þair, and past þairfra, langis þe coift; bot he culd haue no landing, nather in McAllane McEane his cuntrie, Mcclawd Hereis,³ nor Donald Gormis cuntrie;⁴ ffor þai pat foreis on all þe sea-poirtis, to stop his landing; and I think þei had maid sum onfet on him, if þair boittis had not bene all sunk ofbefoir, for feir of suppryng þame.

I heir he landit into þe Isles of Rowme and Eg, quhair Coull McGillefpic did meit him with ane cumpany of hagbutteris, about þe number of fewin scoir of men. Thair forme of meiting, as I heir, wes this. Sir James and his cumpany stude in ane plaice be þame selffis, quhair þe vper with his cumpany went round about him, onis;⁵ and at þe nixt going about, salutit him with þair wolly of schoittis;⁶ and continowit sua schuitting and inuiring⁷ of him, for þe sspace of half ane hour; and þairefter com to him euerie man, particularlie,⁸ chapping handis.⁹ Wpone þe morne, þai conuenit all þe haill bestiall, horfe, and ky, to one plaice, quhilk þei thoct to haue flayne haill;¹⁰ bot, vpone better aduyfement, þei flew onlie ane number of ky, for meat, quhilk þei caryit immediatlie to þair boittis; and þairefter taik þe fea,¹¹ to þe number of Thre hunder men, of all. *Cold*¹² brocht him tua crearis,¹³ with sum wpir boittis þat Sir James him self gat in Ardmurche, and suppryfit in wpir pairtis. It is thoct þat þei haue tane þair woyage to Ilay; and if þe cuntrie be vpone þair gaird, as þai fuld, I think þai fall nocht proffit mekill. The occasioun of my mannis stay; it wes long befoir he could get tryell¹⁴ quhair McAllane McEan wes; for he wes buffie, in gewing of ordour, þat Sir James fuld nocht land¹⁵ on any of his Isles; and abseuring¹⁶ him selff, þat þei fuld nocht get him. I vnderstand he hes fend him Letteres to the Counfell, quhilk I think 3our lo. knawis of befoir now. I will request 3our lo. to lat me vnderstand, quhat directioun is cumit 3it frome HIS MA^{TIE}, concerning Sir James Mcconneill, and quhat conclusioun 3our lo^s of Counfell hes taiken pairanent. Sua, hawing na farder at þis present, committis 3our lo. to þe protectioun of God; and restis 3our lo. eur affiurit freind and seruant,

PERTHE, þe 24 of Junii, 1605.

TULLIBARDINE.

I VNDERSTAND *Glengarrie*¹⁷ is presentlie in Ed^o, and is trublit be *my Lord Lowatt*¹⁸ in some actionis betuix þame. I wald request 3our lo. to be his freind and to forder him lame ouir; for I mynd to meit with him, in his by-cuming, and fall lay him rycht to any thing þat concernis HIS MA^{TIE}'s seruice, to my power. And becaus he is dealler betuix me and McAllane McEane, Capitane of the Clan Ronnald, pleas 3our lo. wret to me, quhat particular 3e wald haue me to lay to thair charge; and I fall do þe best.

The pretext þat Sir James Mcconneill and McRonald myndit to haue vsit, to haue persuadit McAllane McEane and Glengarry to haue taikin þair pairte, is þis auld actioun þat my Lord Lowat hes

¹ Meddle; interfere; mingle. Fr. meler.
Ardnamurchan, a powerful branch of the Clandonald.

² Maedonald of Ardnamurchan, Chief of the CLAN IAN of ³ Sir Roderick MacLeod of that Ilk, commonly called Rory More. He married a daughter of Glengarrie's, and was the founder of the families of Talisker, Bernera, Muiravenside, Hammer, Grisernish, &c.

⁴ See Note relative to Donald Gorme, (No. XXII.) III. 25.

⁵ Once.

⁶ Volley; feu de joie. ⁷ Encircling. ⁸ Separately; individually; one by one, ⁹ An impressive mode of swearing feudal obedience, and to live and die in his service. ¹⁰ Entirely; wholly. ¹¹ Set sail ¹² Coill

Makgillespiek Maedonald. ¹³ A crayar, sort of large galley; or rather a bark or sort of sloop. Cray is used in

O. E. in a similar sense. ¹⁴ Advice; satisfactory intelligence. ¹⁵ Should not be suffered to effect a landing.

¹⁶ Obscuring, concealing. ¹⁷ Donald Maedonald of Glengarrie (Donald MacAngus MacAlister.) ¹⁸ Simon, seventh Lord Lovat. See History of the Frasers, by John Anderson, Esq. W.S.; a work of great ability and research.

aganis pame, and þe taking of M^cAllane M^cEanes landis our his head be Sir James Stewart. In my oppinnoun, your lo^s of the Counfall fuld do weil to delay þe discuffing of þir debaittis for ane quihlye till þir wper materis of Sir James war fetlit.

XV. LETTER, Sir James Makconell to Lord Binning.

MY VERIE HONOURABILL GUDE LORD,

PLEIS your lo. I wald haue writtin to your lo. long or now, had not I culd find no bearer, becaus nane of my awin dar go thair. Aluys,¹ I will euer think myself bund for the fauour your lo. schew me at my being laft in the Caffell,² whanne God knawis vtheris wes bent to wrong me be thair fals accusationis; whose feir, and the report they gave out that my lyfe was onlye in thair willis, was the onlye motione of the braik of ward; and no intentione nor desyre I had, or hes, to live as ane Rebelle or outlaw; whiche traid, the Lord knawes, I abhorre; bot that I wald glaidlie live at libertye with my lyfe faif. And now, my lord, I befeik your lo., for the fauour of God and my perpetuelle seruice, pitie me and be my freind, that his Maiestie may be graciouflye moved not to yeld to my vnfreindis, to ruit me and my whole race out, being fyve or sex hundreth 3eiris possessouris, and now willing to obey and serue his Maiestie, in all humilitie, I, seing how I and my pure freindis may live; and if your lo. culd find the meanis that HIS MA^{TIE} and Counfall may be moved to let me posses this pure Iland, paying for it as anie vther may or hes 3it offerit to do, and getting my pardone, fall find sufficient suretie, both for my 3eirlie dewtye and the peace and quyetyne of me and all that dwellis vnder me. Gif your lo. may or will do me any guid in this, I will not onlie be ane to do your lo. guid seruice, bot, with Goddis graice, let your lo. fie my thankfulnes. befeik your lo., for Goddis cause, be playne with me, and if HIS MA^{TIE} may not be moved to let me haue this Iland, diminiffing nothing of HIS MA^{TIES} commoditie, that your lo. will let me know, be your advise, be what vther meanis HIS MA^{TIE} may be moved to grant ane generall pardone to me and all myne; and that we may haue to susteine ws in sum meafour, leif we be forcit, being without oure living, to opprefs vtheris. This abyding your lo. anfuair, committing 3ow to God, I rest

Julij 1.

Your lo. euir to command,

SIR J. MAKDONALL.

MY LORD, If HIS MAIESTIE be not willing that I fall be his heighnes tennent in Ila, for Goddis cause let HIS MA^{TIE} hauld it in his awin hand; for that is certane, I will die befoir I fie a Campbell posses it. And HIS MA^{TIE} haulding it in his awin hand, HIS MA^{TIE} may haue ane thousand merkis mair be pat, nor Calder fuld pay; I making it quyt of me and my kin, whiche I will do vpoun suche reasonabill conditiones as I will schow your lo., if 3e may assure me that 3e may get HIS MA^{TIE} brocht to this poynt, and in the meintyme no employment³ be gevin aganis me, till your lo. fie how this may be brocht to pas. As for this House of Dunveg, which I tuik in four and twenty houris from Calderis menne, your lo. getting me fauour of HIS MA^{TIE}, the house salbe to serue HIS MA^{TIE}, and neuer to be keipit aganis his hienes. And if HIS MA^{TIE} awin Gaird or the Bischopes had bein in the House, befoir God I wald neuer persew it; bot finding these in it, who crewellie opprest the pure cuntrie, wes the onlie suitteris of my lyfe and landis, I wald I culd do thame mair disgrace! Referring all to your lo. consideratione and anfuair, I rest

Julij 1.

Your lo. euer to be commandit,

S^r J. MAKDONALL.

TO MY LORD SECRETARE.

XVI. LETTER, Sir James Makconell to Mr James Knox.

RIGHT WORSHIPFULL,

I HAVE, for some buffinesse, partly concerning your father, sent this bearer to Edinburgh; and geve

¹ At all events. ² Of Edinburgh. ³ This is taken from a copy. The sense appears to be, that, in the interim, no one should be employed against him by Commission, or Letters of fire and sword.

my lord be gone to England, I pray yow fail not, as yee respect his lo. well,¹ to fend his Letter to him, with suretie that it may com to his handes; for I have wrotten to his lo. the thing that I hope thall come to his lo. honour and credite; and there is none leaueand vnder his Maiestie that I will do mor to, till do be, and do him all the honour and credite I can. Heir I will entreat yow, give² 5e be in Ed^r, and any of my Letters come to 5our hand, yee will delyver thame to fuche as I have wretten thame to. And so, reposeing in 5our good will, and assuering 5ow I am to ferve and honour 5our father and 5our selue, I rest 5our assured frend to command,

FROM ILA, 4 Julij.

S^r J. MAKDONALL.

(Postscript.) Sir,

ALBEIT it be too great paines, yet in hope I will, God willing, do 5ow yett more seruice, fend one of 5owr servandis with all the rest of my Letters to such as thay are derected to, and what answer bees gotten, geve it to the berar. I rest 5our assured frend,

S^r J. MAKDONALL.

TO MR JAMES KNOX, sone to my Lord Bishope of the Illis and Raupho.

XVII. LETTER *from Archibald Campbell*³ to Lord Binning,⁴ ' auent his persute of Sir James Makoneill.'

RIGHT HONORABELL,

AS I writ to 5our lo. from the Wode of Messen, SIR JAMES M^cONEILL and M^cRANALD went by pat way; and, as I was informed, he had staid Wednisday night and Thurfday in Murthlie. So I, heaving riddin Wednisday night and Thurfday all day, I wachit at Murthlie all pat night, bot pay maid no itay pair: Bot M^cRanald sent a man of his for a 5oung boy of his awin pat he had in Murthlie, and convoyed him with him. On Wodnisday, at night, they were in a pure man's house in Strabrane; and on Thurfday, at night, pay wer in the East end of Ranoch, quair I might haue bene sex houris before pame, gif I had bene sartane of thair way. *The Erle of Atholl*⁵ was advertified by pe Erle of Mar,⁶ and he followed pame. And on Fryday, in the morning, com in fight of pame; bot my lordis men had ran so far, and his spayis pat went before him so vnprovedent, pat Sir Jeames and his companie wer advertified be Strowan his wyf,⁷ quho is M^cRanald his dochter. They wer forfidd to leive pair horffis and clothes, and teake pame to pe wodis. The Erle of Atholl apprehendit Sir Jeames his man, pat was with him in the Castell, and quho stayed efter him in pe Castell pat morning he brake ward, and too men of M^cRanaldis; bot my lord tels me he difmist pame all. My lord, so far as I culd learne, the Erle was exceeding willing in this persute, bot pair was sum wronge done him, pat I beleive his lo. as 5it knows not of. Those pat I fend to be before pame ar not as 5it returned, nor no word from pame. I hope in God 5our lo. fall heir pat pay haue mett; for pay can hardlie pas by pame. The Erle of Atholl assuris me pat pair cam a compane of men to meit M^cRanald. My lord, if pair wer bot too hunder men and ane honest commander on pe feildis, they wer not eabell to do any thing be land; nor culd pay haue tyme to mowe⁸ any to follow pame: Bot in treuth, if pay be permitit, they will no dout grow stronge. Sir Jeames man pat pe Erle of Atholl apprehendit, told, pat pay resoluit to burne *Cadell*⁹ his landis of Mukarne; and pat he thocht a grait many Illenderis ver on pair course.¹⁰ My lord, so schune as I heir from those I derectit estir pame, and pat I kno quat course ¹ Weal; advantage. ² If. ³ Son of Sir James, and brother of Sir John Campbell of Lawers. Afterwards Sir Archibald. ⁴ Sir Thomas Hamilton, afterwards Earl of Haddington, Secretary of State. ⁵ James, second Earl of Atholl, son and heir of John, sixth Lord Innermeath, who had obtained the Earldom, Mar. 6, 1595-6. He married Lady Mary Stewart, second daughter of John, fifth Earl of Atholl, by his stepmother, Lady Mary Ruthven, and died without issue, anno 1625.—Wood's Peerage. ⁶ John, seventh Earl of Marr, who had been intrusted with the education of Prince Henry, and was, in Dec. 1615, appointed Lord High Treasurer of Scotland. He married Anne, 2d daughter of David, second Lord Drummond, and died Dec. 14, 1634, æt. 77. ⁷ Robert Robertson of Strowan married a daughter of Maedonald of Keppoch. ⁸ Induce; persuade; more. ⁹ John Campbell of Caddell or Calder. ¹⁰ Were his abettors and maintained his cause.

Sir Jeames teakis first in hand, or quhich way he teakis him to pe seie, I will, God willing, returne ; not douting bot *my lord Thefaurer*¹ will haue some confideratioun of my peans,² as I fall be reddie at all occasiouns to adventur my self in HIS MA^{TIES} seruice ; I rest

FROM the FURD of LYON, pis Setterday at xij hours of pat day.

3our lo. ewer to ferue 3ow,

AR. CAMPBELL.

I pray 3our lo. adverteife Cadell, pat he may fend word to his men of Mackarney, to be war of pe rebels.

To pe right honorabell, and my speseall good lord,
MY LORD OF BINNING, Secreter, &c.

XVIII. LETTER, Lord Binning to Archibald Campbell.

LOVING FREIND,

I RESSAVED your Letters of the 15 of this moneth, from Dunoveg ; bot now newes in thame ; becaus, vpon the 12 day, I hard the substance of all that your Letter beares ; quhilk that same 12 day was writen to Court be my Lord Chancellour. I am glad that my Lord is maister of these strentis, and forie that all the principall men are escaped, except Coll, who hes gottin conditions ; bot I hope that my lordis diligence, wisdome, and gud luk, fall owertak thame, and red HIS MA^{TIE} and the cuntrie of thair cummer, for if it fould fall vtherwayes furth (as God forbid) yow know quhat constructions men wald mak of the great preparatioun maid be sea and land, at so great charges to HIS MA^{TIE}, without any effect, bot the wrak of the poore beggarlie tennentis of Ilay and Kintyre. For, since Sir James and his sone, with M^cRannald and his sone, and Glengarries sone, and M^cSorle,³ ar all escaped, and *Coll*⁴ pardoned, I know not quhat ringleaders these ar, whome ye wryt 3e ar to bring in. Allwayes, it is gud that thair forces ar scattered, without harme or danger ; yit, so long as the heades ar all to the fore,⁵ the Rebellioun will never be thought quenched. Quhairfor, I know my Lord will have such cair as agrieth with his honour and HIS MA^{TIES} expectatioun. I have no certantie of the Thefaurer deutes dyet, bot I hope he will be heir about Hallowmes, and will assuredlie performe his promeis, yours being observed, quhilk I hartelie wishe. So, remembering my loving commendatiounis to your brother Collin, and praying you to prevent your curious nighbouris in the adverteifments of my lordis proceedingis, quhilk I wishe may be prosperous, I rest

Your verie loving freind, at powar,

[BINNING.]⁶

XIX. LETTER from Sir Dougal Campbell of Auchinbrek to the Chancellor (received Aug. 4, 1615.)

HONORABLE GOOD LORD,

MY humble dewtie remembrit, please 3our lo. to wit, that I am heer in the Tarbet, attending vpon our enemies coming farder in the cuntrie. 3our lo. fall vnderstand, since my last wryting to 3our lo., Sir James the traitour hes latlie directit out ane *fyrie croce*⁷ from the head of Lockerrane, quhair he makes his residence for the tyme, to the Tarbart, vpon the pretence that all maner of man betuix the Mull of Kintyre and the Tarbart fould come and tak land of him. And to preveine this, that the cuntrie fould get no skaithe, I have directit for to get more assistance of men throw Argyle and Lorne. 3our lo. fall know that I was not anfuert, according to my Commissioun. The monyest⁸ that came to me was ane hundreth men ; the number of the baill thrie hundreth men. Withing 3our lo. to tak ordour with the cuntries disobediencie, for farder inconvenience ; quhilk I fear will come to more looked for, to quicken his zeal.

¹ Sir Robert Carr, Earl of Somerset, held the office at this time.

³ A son of Sir James MacSorle of the Route, formerly mentioned, both in this Appendix and in the Introduction to this Trial.

⁴ Coll Maegillespiek Macdonald.

⁵ In being ; existing.

⁶ From a copy, marked by Lord Binning himself.

⁷ See Notes to Sir Walter Scott's Lady of the Lake, &c.

⁸ Most ; greatest number.

ikaith, if they be not punischt for thair fault. I fall give vp in forow to your lo. the particular disobeyars. These Rebels ar in readines with fyve nichtis provisioun and lone. Quhair they ar to mak thair onfet I know not; bot they ar mor in number than I wret to your lo. in my last Letter. I dowt not bot your lo. remembers the dait of my Commisshion, quhilk approchis neir to the fext day of August; quhairfor I thocht good to mak your lo. forsein of this, that your lo. may tak ane ordour farder with thir Rebels. So, not troubling your lo. with farder writ, committis your lo. to the protectioun of the Almighty God.

TARBART, 30 July, 1615.

Your lo. to be commandit to my powar,

AUCHINBRECK.

XX. LETTER, Lord Binning to the Earl of Argyle, 5th Aug. 1615.

MY MOST HONO^{LL} GOOD LORD,

THINKING my self assured that your lo. wald, according to your promeis, contenit in your Lettre of the 24 sent to me, begin your journey homeward ypone the nixt day, and end it, at fardest, within ten or tuell dayes; I certified the Counsell pairof, and be Letteris to Auchinbrek and vtheris officeris, wudowtedlie that your lo. wald keip that dyet; but now, wnderstanding your lo. cairlesnes of that weightie charge, quhilk ze have wndertaine againis the Tratoris, who daylie growis in number, force, and presumptioun, becans they find no resistance, far les perfute aganis them, quhairby they have left sum forces in Ila, to keip Duneveg and Lochgorne; and Makoneill self and sex hundreth with him, having maid thanefelstis maisteris of Kintyre, ar so swelled in pryde, that they have sent the fyre-corse¹ throw the cuntrie, and wairned all the inhabitants betnix Tarbert and the Mull of Kintyre, to tak their land of the Traitour Makoneill. We heir of so much boldnes in the rebels and fear in the cuntrie people, as we expect daylie to heir of thair farder futing vpon your lo. cuntrie of Argyle; which your owne people does fearfullie apprehend. We ar assured of Auchinbrekes faithfulness to HIS MA^{TIES}, and your lo. do exceidinglie distrust his governement, in respect of his owne feiklines, the disloyaltie of many of the Irische people, and boldnes and subtiltie of the Rebels, too able to keip advantage of him. Nather will I conceall, that your lo. name² is envyed, your owne autoritie and wounted estimatioun infinitlie impared, be your absence and neglect of your cuntrie; and releiff of your freindis, engadged and wraiked for your debitis: And now, if your lo. fall kythe³ cairles, or slouthfull and sluggithe in this great charge, ze will increas the libertie of your ewil-willaris, who have boldlie spokin to your disadvantage and discredit, discourage HIS MA^{TIES} good subiects, embolden the Rebels, and mak your task more difficile nor⁴ your lo. apprehends. My affection to my maisteris honour, and respect and good will to your lo. self, makis me to wryt more liberallie⁵ in this mater nor vtheris will, which I hope and request your lo. may tak in good pairt; earnestlie befeiking your lo., all empeschments removed, to come heir with all possible expeditioun and resolution, to go fordwart with wisdom and diligence. Your lo. will find that your following your owne will, aganis my opinioun, in purchassing ane Commisshion in this service, to ane particular number of the Counsell, will do hinder to the bussines. Bot the nixt best must be done; nothing being able to remove all difficulties, but your lo. prefence and diligence; which I recommend to your lo., as ze affect your maisteris favour and your awne honour. So, luing for your lo. extreame diligence, to amend bypast sleuth and ouersights, I commit your lo. to the protectioun of God.

Your lo. verie affectionat to serve you,

ED^R, the fyft of August (1615.)

[BINNING.]

XXI. EXTRACT from *Minutes of Privy Council, Jun. 20, 1615.*⁶

THE *Marques of Huntly*⁷ hes gotten a verie ample Commisshion for perfute of the Rebelles, espe-

¹ The Fiery-cross so often described by Sir Walter Scott in The Lady of the Lake, &c. ² Clan Campbell.
³ Prove careless. ⁴ Than. ⁵ Freely. ⁶ From the Dennyline MSS. Adv. Library. ⁷ George, sixth Earl and first Marquis of Huntly, the same person who was concerned in the traitorous correspondence with Spain, the burning of Dunibirse, and slaughter of the Earl of Moray, &c.

cialie of *Macronnald*¹ and his sone, who ar his owne tennentes; and the Counsaile hes wrotten vnto him to fend his sone the Erle of Enyee,² with diligence, to Lochquhaber,—to perfew the rebelles, to tak, demolishe, and destroy Makronnaldes houffes, to meddle with his whole goodes, and with the goodes of such as did reflett and supplie Sir James Makdonald and Makronnald, and not to come out of that countrie, whill he affaure the countrie to be kept vnder his Maiefties obedience.

There is a Proclamation sett oute againes Sir James Makdonald and his sone, Coill Macgillefpik,³ and some othere of the principall ringleadares in this rebellion; conteaneing a reward to any such persone or persones as will tak or slay onie of thame; to witt, for Sir James McDonald there is a promese of fyve thousand pundis; for Makronnald and his sone and Coill Makgillefpik, fyve thousand markes a peece; and for some others of the rebellis, thrie thousand markes. And there is a promese of pardon proclaimed to such of the rebels thame selues, as will tak, and exhibite, or slay onie of there owene companie, being of a better rank and qualitie nor thame selues.

Sir James Makdonald and Makronnald, in there going towards the Isles, took a sone and a feruand of the Larde of Glengarries;⁴ information whereof being made to Young Glengarrye,⁵ he, with such forces as he could mak vpon the suddane, followed thame to the sea fyd, and in a conflictt betweene thame, he hes taken two of the principallis of Makronnaldes companie, ffor whose releef Makronnald offerred delyuerie off Glengarryes sone; bot Glengarrye refuised to delyuer his two prifoners, and hes promised to exhibit thame heere within ten dayes.

*Donald Gorme*⁶ and *the Captane of Clannronnald*⁷ hes by there wryttinges promised to continew in there obedience, and to do the best of there endeoures in the perfute of the rebelles.

XXII. EXTRACT from 'The Historie of King James the Sext,' (published for the Bannatyne Club.)⁸

IN the moneth of Maij (1615), Sir James Makoneill, eldest sone to unquhile Angus Makoneill of Dunnevaig, who was before condemnit for certen crymis committed be him, and for escaping furth of the Castell of Edinburgh, in cumpanie of Johne Lord Maxwell, as is before tauld, escapit furth therof; becaus it was constantly supponit that he had gevin counsell, be word and writt, for the violent keeping of that Castell; and fearing the cryme fould have bene tryit aganis him, be witnes, he tuik therefore tyme and occasioun to efchew unpuneifit. This Castell of Dunnevaig was ombeset be certen of the Kingis ships, be sea, that nane of the Kepers fould escape that way, nor be furneifit with viuers be sea. And the knyecht of Caddell, brother-in-law to the said Sir James, took in hand to ombeset the same be land; as he did; and wan the same. Sum of the preafoners he put to death ther; uthers he convoyit faiflie to Edinburgh; and the greateft nomber escapit, be sea, and became Pirats. In the meane seafone, the Erle of Argyle, having maid long residence at Court, and understanding that Sir James Makoneill was destroyand his laudis and tennents, maid narrative thairof to the King; and obtenit ane ample Commiffioun of his Maieftie, to pas aganis him, with fyre and sworde, and to apprehend him, ather quick or deid, as he best could; and so, haifted himself towart Scotland, with all speed, for the purpose. His voyage maid no good fuecefs, as falbe, God willing, declairit heirefter, at mair lenth.⁹

¹ Alexander Mc Donald or Mc Ronald of Keppach or Gargavache. ² George Earl of Enzie, afterwards second Earl of Huntlie, who was beheaded at Edinburgh, Mar. 22, 1649. ³ Father of Alister Mc Donald, Lieutenant to the great Marquis of Montrose in the civil wars. He was popularly styled Coll Keitach, i. e. Left-handed Coll, from which his son Alister took his designation of Mc Coll Keitach, abridged to Colkitto. ⁴ Donald Mac Angus of Glengarrrie. ⁵ Alexander or Alister, father of the first Lord Macdonell of Arras. ⁶ Of Sleat, called Sassenach, having been educated in England. He married Mary, daughter of Hector MacLean of Dowart, leaving three sons. ⁷ Donald More, the eldest, married Margaret, sister to Colin Lord Kintail; and dying, without issue, in 1616, his nephew, Donald Gorme Oig, son of his brother Archibald, by Margaret, daughter of Angus Macdonald of Dunnevaig and Glynnis, succeeded. See (Archdall's) Lodge's Irish Peerage, VII. 115. ⁸ Donald Mc Allan Mc Ean. ⁹ Edited by Thomas Thomson, Esquire, quarto, Edin. 1825, p. 388. ¹⁰ The author either did not live to fulfil this intention, or at least did not complete his History, which terminates abruptly, anno 1617.

XXIII. THE EARL OF ARGYLE'S REPORT TO THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF SCOTLAND of his Comission of Lieutenantry.¹

(1615, Sep.) IMMEDIATLIE efter that the Erle of Ergyle had receavit his MAIESTEIS Commiffioun of Lieutenandrie over THE ILLIS, he addressit him self, with all convenient diligence, in Duntroone,² quhair the greatest pairt of his forceis did meete him. And being fairlie informit, that the Traytour Sir James M^cConcill, and his complices, to the nowmer of sevin or aucht hundreth men of weere, for that present in KINTYRE, and of full intentioun thair to remane, quhill³ thay wer by the gritter power forcit out of it, his lo. resoluit to mak ane onfett without ony delay, alfwieill on thair vefchellis as on the Rebellis thame felffis; and thairfore commandit the Laird of Caddell, who had the conducting of the forceis of Lorne, to mak his onfett on thair vefchellis, quhair he could heir thame to be, ather in YLE OF GIGA, the ILE OF CARA, or on the MAINE-LAND OF KINTYRE. Lykewyle so, his Lordschip gaif command to the Laird of Auchinbrek,⁴ and to some speciall of Auchinbrekis freindis, to merch over land to the Tarbart, with his lordschipis forceis of Ergyle. My lord him self, being accompaneid with the men of Coule,⁵ went by Sea to the Tarbart, on the vther syde of the Maineland. My lord went from Duntroone on the _____ day of September, and wes that nicht in the Tarbart; quhair Auchinbrek, with the men of Ergyle, did meete him that same nicht. Coll M^cillefpik haiving⁶ Coline Campbell of Kilberrie, fet out to him, come with fyftie men the foirfaid nicht to Loch Tarbert, quhair he apprehendit the faid Coline, and some foure or fyve with him, quhome he maid his prifonairis. Airlie the nixt moirning, Coll M^cillefpik, being on his way bak agane, towardis the Ile of Cara, quhair he had left M^cRannald, and his fones, and Sorle M^cJames, who wer appointit to remane in Cara, for keiping of the Rebellis vefchellis; he being on his way, as faid is, perfault my Lord of Ergyle his forces of Lorne, failling towardis Gigza; and some of thame, haueing gone in the bak syde of Gigza, maid ane onfett on the Rebellis who wer in Cara, bot wer preventit⁷ by some of *the Laird of Largy*⁸ his servandis, who perfault my lord of Ergyle his forces going towardis Ergyle, quhair the Rebellis wer, and fet on grite beikynis⁹ to mak thame warr.¹⁰ The foirfaid Ila not being diftant frome land above twa or thrie myllis of sea, zit before the Rebellis could get away in thair boitis, thair wer some of M^cRannald his men apprehendit and slane. Coll M^cillefpik, as faid is, being on his way to the Ile of Cara, wes adverteit be a servand of the Laird of Largyis, that my Lord of Ergyle his forces had chasit M^cRannald and those that wer with him out of the Ile of Cara, and had plantit thame felffis thair; so he immediatlie was forcit to land in Kintyre. Some of the Erll of Ergyle his men, haueing forgadderit¹¹ with him in his landing, killit a fyftene or faxtene of his men, and took his foure vefchellis frome him. My lord of Ergyle, the foirfaid day, fend his forces of Couell and Ergyle, within twelf myles to the place quhair Sir James M^cConcill and his complices wer; bot he being adverteit that my Lord of Ergyle his forceis wer comeing, by sea and land, vpoun him, fled away to the Ile of Rachlie,¹² quhair he remanit twa nichtis, and thairefter went to Ila. My Lord of Ergyle being adverteit thairof, and heiring that his Ma^{te}is schippis wer arryvit at the Ile of M^caeharunnik, his Lordschip went with his forces of Lorne and some of the men of Ergyle, who had thair vefchellis on that syde of the Meane-land, towardis his Maieftis schippis; quhair he was flormestayd for the space of thrie dayis. And thairefter went to Loddummes in Ila, a harbour convenient for his Maieftis schippis to abyd in, and good for landing of his lordschipis forces, out of the danger of

¹ Presented to the Privy Council by 'Archibald Campbell,' (Brother to the Laird of Lawers,) 'sermitour to Archibald Erle of Ergyle,' Nov. 23, 1615.

² Probably meant for Dunoon, of which the Duke of Argyll is still nominally the Heritable Keeper. The Dun on which the ancient Castle stood is all that remains to point out its site.

³ Until. ⁴ Sir Dugald Campbell. ⁵ Cowell, a district of Argyle. ⁶ Some words appear to be omitted here, such as 'set for,' or 'laid in wait for.' ⁷ Frustrated. ⁸ Macdonald, ancestor of Sir Charles Macdonald Lockhart.

⁹ Large beacons. ¹⁰ To make them aware; put them on their guard. Such beacons were usually large fires placed on the tops of the highest mountains or eminences, and carefully fed with tarred wood, &c. until answered from adjacent heights. ¹¹ Met; rencountered. ¹² Rachlin or Rachrin.

the enemy. Hauing stayed thair twa dayis, for refrescheing of his men, and till he fould heir quhair the Rebellis wer, immediatlie being adverteist that Sir James, with his complices, wer in the Rindes of Ila, and in a little Ile neir by, called Illannourfay, my Lord maid onfet on thame, by sea; quhairin his lordschipis men wer preventit by some, who set on beakynis in the O of Ila, quhairby Sir James was adverteist that my lord his forces wer comand on him, so as Sir James, McRannald and his fones, and Sorle McJames fled over that nicht to Inchdachele, ane Ile on the coast of Ireland. Coll Mcillispik hauing the keiping of the CASTELL OF DUNYVAIG and the ILE of LOCHGORME, randerit thame bothe to the Erll of Ergyle and Colin of Kilberrie, quhome he had taikin captine; and apprehendit Mciphie,¹ on of the principallis who followit Sir James, and deliuerit him to the Erll of Ergyle; and I haue presentit him this day before your Lordschipis, with vther fyve of Sir James his complices. Efter that the Castell of Dunyvaig and force of Lochgorme wer taikin in, my Lord apprehendit fyftene of the principall men of Ila, who wer leadairis of the poore ones, to follow Sir James; whome he caufit be execute thair. And hauing deliuerit the fairfaid Castell of Dunyvaig and the force of Lochgorme to the Laird of Caddell, his Lordschip come frome Ila in his Maiesteis schipis, and arryved in *Lochicarrane*² on the sextene day of October last. His Lordschip no thooner come thair, than thair come on of the faid Sir James his followaris who went with him to Ireland, and vndirtook to bring some of my lordis servendis to the place quhair he left the faid Sir James; and gif he were not to be found thair, he wes suire to find him in the toun of Galloway, in Ireland, in Vallentyne Blak his houfe, or Robert Blak his houfe, thair; two, who are alledgeit to be reffettairis of Jesuitis. My Lord being thus fuirle informit of the faid Sir James his proceedingis, hes directit threttie of his men, in two onfettis, to Ireland, efter him. As to Sorle McJames and the twa and twenty that he had with him, thay ar in the Route and Glennes of Ireland:³ It is alledgeit that the sub-officer thair hes gevin thame promeis of protection for two monethis. As to McRannald and his fones, thay ar fled to Lochquhair; and my Lord his forces ar in persute of thame thair. As to Glengarrie his sone, he is refat in his fatheris boundis, and my Lord hes some of his servendis efter him. At my Lord his coming to Kintyre out of Ila, he apprehendit some of the principallis thair, who had followit Sir James, and those who maid warning to the Rebellis of the Erll of Ergyle his forces coming to Cara. Lykwyfe his Lordschip dismissit Capitane Wood, Capitane Monke, with his Maiesteis Schipis, and the Bark quhairin his Maiesteis cannoun and munitioun wes, on the tent day of Nouember instant.

As alswa, the faid Archibald Campbell gaif in the ARTICLES following, quhaironto he craved the faidis Lordis aduise and ANSUEW; off the quhilkis Articlis and Answueris the tennour followis.

ARTICLES and ANSWERIS.

FIRST, to inquire, gif your lordschipis thinkis it not ane sufficient exoneratioun to the Erll of Ergyle, that Sorle McJames is in Ireland, and hes tua monethes Respett,⁴ as is allegit?

ANSWER. The Lordis thinkis that the Lieutenant hes done his dewtie, and fould be exonerat of Sorle McJames, gif he be in Ireland, as is alledgeit; seeing, his lordschipis Commissioun giris him nocht pouer to persew Sorle McJames, in Ireland.

SECUNDLIE, to crave thair Lordschipis opinionis, gif thair Lordschipis thinkis it nocht sufficient, that gif McRannald his fones may nocht be apprehendit my Lord of Ergyle his travellis, before my Lordis coming to the Commissionairis, that my Lord prove in quhais boundis thay haif had actual residence?

ANSWER. Gif McRannald and his fones can nocht be had afore the Lieutenents coming heir, gif the Lieutenant will verifie and prove quhair and by quhome they are restet, and within whos boundis thay haif thair actual residence, he dois his dewtie, in that point.

THRIDLIE, to inquire thair Lordschipis, gif Glengarrie will nocht be obleigt for his sone, it being cleirlye provin, that he has actual residence within his fatheris boundis?

¹ Mcaphie of Colonsay. The modern name is McFee. Mac-Sorle-Boye, mentioned in the Notice to this Trial.

² Loch-Kilkerran.

³ The property of Sir James

⁴ Respite.

ANSUER. Glengarrie wilbe halidin to anſuer for his ſone, it being prouin that he is reſſet and hes his actual reſidence within Glengarryis boundis.

FOURTLIE, to ſchaw thair Lordſchipis, that my Lord of Ergyle findis the haill cuntrey people of KINTYRE, ILA, COLONSAY, JURA, and EIGA, guiltie in being in cumpany, and beiring wapponis, and muſturing with Sir James M'conell, at ſuche tymes as he appointit; and in geving of meite, drink, and harborie to him, his followaris; and for the moſt pairt thay neur left Sir James, nather in KINTYRE nor ILA, vntill he was conſtrayned to leive thame; yit my Lord of Ergyle, finding the nowmer ſo grite, and that thay alledgeit that it was throw juſt feir that thay went with him, or ſchew him ony fauour; thairfoir my Lord hes put to the knowledgement of ane Affyſe, ſuche as had commandiement of companyis with him, who might haue done ſeruice on Sir James and his followairis, and haue left thame at thair pleaſoure; and forbeiris the reſt, vntill he know the Commiſſionaris pleaſoure; altho' the extremitie of the law wald tak all thair lyveis.

ANSUER. The Lordis ar of the Lieutenentis opinioun, concerning this Article; bot thay will firſt acquent the KINGIS MAIESTIE thairwith, and haue his Maieſteis will and pleaſour thairanent, afore thay gif thair aduiſe to the Lieutenant.

FYFTLIE, to ſchaw thair Lordſchipis, that the CASTELL OF DUNYVAIG and the ILE OF LOCHGORME, being randrit to the Erll of Ergyle, he hes delyuerit thame to the Laird of Caddell; and deſyris THE COUNSALLIS allowance of the ſame.

ANSUER. At the comeing of the Lieutenant and of the Laird of Cadell heir, this Article fall reſſae an anſuer.

(SAXTLIE,) To ſchaw thair Lordſchipis, that he who hes vndirtaikin to bring my Lordis ſervandis to the place quhair Sir James M'Conell hes reſidence in Ireland, thew my Lord, gif Sir James wer out of that place, quhair he houpit to find him, he wald fuirlie be in the toun of Galloway, in Ireland, ludgeit ather in Vallentyne Blakis houſe, or in Robert Blakis houſe, for thay dwell in that toun—and hes a certane ſowme of money payit vnto thame, yeirlie, for reſſaueing of Jeſuitis; and Sir James had his moyen maid, that be thair meanis, he ſould be tranſportit out of the cuntrey.

ANSUER. The Lordis will wryte to the Lord Deputie of Ireland, concerning this Article.

Treason — Breaking the King's Ward — Treasonable Murder, &c.

[JOHN, seventh LORD MAXWELL, of the ancient and distinguished family of Caerlaverock, and brother of the first Earl of Nithsdale, was a powerful but turbulent Border baron, and was one of those individuals, whom a daring and restless temperament, and their crimes, have 'damned to eternal fame.' He appears to have fallen a victim to an unhappy indulgence in those reckless and deadly feuds, which were alike the disgrace and the curse of the Scottish Nobles and gentry, for many centuries.

In order more clearly to comprehend the history and causes of his crimes, originating in disappointed ambition, to which at length Lord Maxwell fell a sacrifice, and account for the hereditary feud, which terminated in the perpetration of the disgraceful Murder for which he was eventually brought to the scaffold, it seems necessary to premise, that his father, John, sixth Lord Maxwell, Warden of the West Marches of Scotland, &c., had the address and fortune, shortly after the Execution of the Regent Morton, to obtain, as in right of his mother, Lady Beatrix Douglas, the Regent's second daughter, a Charter to the Earldom of Morton, Jan. 5, 1581. This grant he had also interest enough to get publicly ratified by Parliament, Nov. 19 thereafter. Lord Maxwell, however, did not long enjoy the title of Earl of Morton, and the domains annexed to it;—for, in Jan. 1585, the Attainder was solemnly rescinded by Parliament,¹ and the title and estates were declared to revert to Regent Morton's lawful heir. Sir Walter Scott informs us,² that the Laird of Johnstone (John) was employed to apprehend Lord Maxwell, who had been declared his Majesty's rebel, on account of his Religion, &c. in 1585; and was intrusted with two bands of hired soldiers for that purpose, who were destroyed by the Maxwells. Johnstone himself was subsequently defeated and made prisoner, and his house of Lochwood taken and set on fire, 'that Lady Johnstone might have light to put on her hood!' This Laird³ shortly afterwards died of grief, in April 1586;⁴—and to these circumstances we must unquestionably ascribe the origin of the deadly hate between the two Clans, and especially between their chiefs.

Maxwell, thus baffled in his aspiring hopes, was speedily imprisoned on account of his religious tenets, and for his share in the above-mentioned outrages. He was afterwards liberated, on condition of leaving the country; and being strenuously attached to the Religion of the Church of Rome, he shortly left Scotland, in the highest disgust. Having proceeded to Spain, he instantly offered his services to 'His Catholic Majesty,' who had, about that time, commenced active preparations for his threatened invasion of England and Scotland, which he arrogantly intended to overwhelm and subjugate, by means of his 'Invincible Armada.' There, Lord Maxwell matured his plans; and after being furnished with pecuniary assistance, and having received full instructions from his new sovereign, he returned to Scotland, in 1588, and immediately commenced to levy men on the Borders,⁵ where his influence was still indisputable. News of his Plot having reached Edinburgh, the most active preparations were made, and he was quickly surprised by the King in person, at Dumfries, made prisoner, and his Wardenship of the West Marches bestowed on his rival, the Laird of Johnstone, the son of the last Chief of that name, one of the most powerful of the lesser Barons on the Borders, and ancestor of the Noble family of Annandale.

SIR JAMES JOHNSTONE of that Ilk, the new Warden, besides being thus distinguished by the Royal favour, in being intrusted with so honourable and important an Office, was afterwards Knighted at the Queen's Coronation, in 1590. However, owing to some political reasons, and principally, the King's desire to conciliate his Roman Catholic subjects, by the display of a few popular acts of clemency, the Wardenship was restored to Lord Maxwell, on his submitting to certain reasonable conditions. The frequent transference of so envied a dignity, and that, too, upon powerful rival Chieftains, was unquestionably providing fuel to feed the fire of ancient jealousy, and more recent deadly feud, which had been rankling in the breasts of both parties, and only required the intervention of some such occurrence to be fanned into the fiercest flames.

Besides the occasional skirmishes with the Maxwells, it appears that the Johnstones, as well as Lord Maxwell, had given assistance to the Earl of Bothwell, in his numerous daring attempts in 1592, &c. It is probable that, on this account, Sir James had been warded in the Castle of Edinburgh, either for his own personal conduct, or as responsible for his Clan, and for failing to give security, &c. Nevertheless, it is certain, that (from whatever cause he was confined) he contrived to make his escape from the Castle, Jan. 4, 1693.⁶ Through powerful mediation, the rival Chiefs were induced to enter into mutual alliance, and bound themselves to support each other in all their lawful quarrels. On the faith of this, the Clan of Johnstone concluded they had little to apprehend from the justice of the new Warden, provided they did not plunder any of the name of Maxwell. They accordingly made a descent upon Nithsdale, where they committed sundry depredations on the Lord Sanquhar, the Lairds of Drumlanrig, Closeburn, and Lagg, and killed eighteen persons, who had 'followed their own goods.' Counting upon the hereditary enmity subsisting between the two names, a Commission was given to Lord Maxwell, who was instructed to pursue the Johnstones with all hostilities. Being appointed Warden of the West Marches and Justice in 1570.

¹ Acta Parl. ² Tales of a Grandfather, 2d Series, I. 93.

³ John Johnstone of that Ilk. He was ⁴ Wood's Peerage, I. 73. ⁵ Robertson's
Hist. 11. 357. Redpath's Border Hist. 672. Moyse's Memoirs.
⁶ See this Collection of Trials, I. 359.

informed of this, Johnstone obtained assistance from Annandale, and was joined by the Scots of Teviotdale, the Grahames and Elliots of Eskdale; and besides, according to the Records of the Privy Council,¹ ‘diners Englishmen, tressounable brocht within this realme, armed in plane hostilitie,’ &c. On the other hand, Maxwell, contrary to Law, entered into ‘Bonds of Manrent’ with the Lord Sanquhar, Drumlanrig, and others who had been pillaged by the Johnstones, wherein they bound themselves to maintain each other’s quarrels; so that each party thus possessed a large force.

MAXWELL, in his capacity of Warden, and also as holding the King’s special Commission, summoned the Laird of Johnstone to surrender; which he refused, on the ground of the illegal bonds into which Maxwell had entered. The Warden, therefore, without further parley, sent forward Captain Oliphant with some troops, to Lochmaben, to await his arrival in Annandale; but the Johnstones, marching suddenly upon them, killed the Captain and a number of his soldiers, and set fire to the Parish Kirk of Lochmaben, whither a number had fled for shelter, but were thus forced to surrender. In revenge, Lord Maxwell, intending to raise the inhabitants of the different towns in his aid, as his Majesty’s Lieutenant, entered Annandale; but Johnstone, having obtained early information of his motions, suddenly attacked him, and overthrew his forces, and slew Lord Maxwell ‘and sindrie Gentilmen of his name.’² This fatal affair took place, Dec. 7, 1593, and is well known by the name of THE BATTLE OF DRYFFE SANDS, having been fought close by the river of that name, near Lochmaben. Archbishop Spotswood remarks, ‘The Lord Maxwell, a tall man and heavy in armor, was in the chafe overtaken and striken from his horse. The report went, that he called to Johnston, and desired to be taken,³ as he had sometime⁴ taken his father; but was unmercifully used; and the hand that he reached forth cut off; but of this I can affirm nothing. There always⁵ the Lord Maxwell fell, having received many wounds. He was a Nobleman of great spirit, humane, courteous, and more learned than noblemen commonly are; but aspiring and ambitious of rule.’⁶

The issue of the Conflict of DRYFFE SANDS, or battle, as it may almost be termed, (for Maxwell had above two thousand men on his side, and it is stated that Johnstone had not quite so many,) was evidently accomplished by manœuvre. Johnstone sent ‘forth some prickers to ride and make provocation,’ after the Border fashion, which succeeded in drawing out a number of the other side, ‘who, encountering with a great company, were beaten and chafed back to the stall or main host; which, by their breaking in, was wholly disordered. Johnston, that stood on a piece of high ground, beholding the issue of the skirmish, took the advantage of their confusion, and breaking upon them, without any resistance made, put them all to flight.’⁷ The Maxwells suffered very severely, and in their retreat great numbers perished. They were pursued through the streets of Lockerby, where they were cut down in scores. Those who escaped bore on them, to their dying hour, marks of this fatal day, which occasioned the proverbial phrase of ‘a Lockerby lick,’ to denote a frightful gash over the face or skull. So dreadful was the carnage in this disastrous Conflict, that not fewer than Seven Hundred of the Maxwells and their adherents were slain! The routed enemy were pursued as far as the Gotterby-ford of the Annan, where many were drowned.⁸ It is worthy of remark that there still exist, in the Holm of Dryfe, about half a mile below the old Church-yard of Drysdale,⁹ two very aged Thorn-trees, with a tumulus at their base, called Maxwell’s Thorns, evidently in commemoration of the fight, and probably marking the place where he fell.

It is evident, then, according to the sentiments of those times, imbibed from their earliest years, which

¹ See Trials, I. 305. ² Ibid. and I. 360. Marj. Annals, p. 57. Balf. Ann. I. 394. Birrell’s Diary, p. 19.

³ Viz. called or begged for quarter. ⁴ Formerly or previously granted quarter to Johnstone’s father, by taking him prisoner, instead of putting him to death. ⁵ At all events; nevertheless. ⁶ Spots. Hist. 407.

⁷ Whatever opinion may be entertained of the treasonable conduct of Johnstone, in thus openly resisting the King’s Lieutenant, merely because he happened to be his personal enemy, it is impossible to withhold admiration at the masterly manner in which this skirmish was conducted, which showed military talents of a very high order. ⁸ Statistical Account, IX. 424. ⁹ Q. d. Dryfe’s-dale.

‘grew with their growth, and strengthened with their strength,’ that natural duty and filial piety required such a feud should become hereditary, and behoved to be handed down from one generation to another! The attempts by the King and his Council to procure an effectual reconciliation, although strenuously made and often repeated, at length proved abortive. The re-appointment of the Laird of Johnstone to be Warden of the West Marches, in 1596,¹ appears to have served as a signal for the resumption of immediate mutual aggressions. Birrel records ‘an feicht or combat betuix the Laird of Drumlanrick and the Laird of Johnstoun and thair affiteris,’ Jul. 13, 1597;²—that, on May 27, 1598, ‘the Laird of Johnstoun his pictor (was) hung at the Crosse (of Edinburgh) with his heid downwart, and declarit ane manfworne man; and upone the 5 of Junij, he and hes complices wer put to the horne and pronuncit rebellis at the Crosse, be opin Proclamation.’³ This gossiping Chronicler farther informs us, that, on Jul. 2, 1600, he was ‘restorit to hes honours, at the Crosse of Edr, be the Proclamatione of a Herald and four trumpettis.’ It is likely that Sir James Johnstone did not long retain the Wardenship at this time; for, as may be seen in a former part of this Collection,⁴ Thomas Armstrong, ‘son to Sandies Ringane,’ was condemned to be hung in chains, &c. for the Murder of Sir John Carmichael of that Ilk, Warden of the West Marches, in the month of June, 1600. How long Sir John had filled that office has not yet fallen within the Editor’s observation. From the above announcement by Birrel, that Johnstone had been ‘restorit to his honours,’ it may be inferred that he succeeded Sir John Carmichael, and once more held the ill-fated dignity of Warden of the West Marches.

The principal parties, as well as their dependents and kinsmen, lived at such mortal and bloody feud, and the peace of the country was so much disturbed, that mutual friends, for their own personal safety and comfort, suggested the expedient of an amicable and private meeting between Lord Maxwell and Sir James, for finally arranging all their differences. At length, they were prevailed upon, under solemn pledges, to meet at a particular spot, each having one attendant, on Apr. 6, 1608, when the principals, with Sir Robert Maxwell of Orchardton, (Sir James’s brother-in-law,) as a mutual friend, having removed to some distance, to converse apart, a quarrel arose between the two attendants. Sir James, having turned about to separate them, or to admonish them to keep the peace, Lord Maxwell suddenly and traitorously drew his pistol, fired at him, and shot him through the back with two bullets. There is some reason to suspect that this rencontre between the attendants had been plotted by Lord Maxwell, and arranged before the parties came upon the ground. From the evidence adduced, it is evident that no provocation was given, but that Maxwell, without any previous intimation, drew his pistol, and instantly shot Johnstone dead.⁶

The perpetration of treasonable Murder, as ‘Slaughter under trust’ was then termed, was one which, in any circumstances, but especially in such a country as Scotland, at the beginning of the seventeenth century, could not be pardoned. Accordingly, notwithstanding Lord Maxwell’s great connexions, (having married Lady Margaret, only daughter of John, first Marquis of Hamilton, and being related to many of the principal nobility of the kingdom,) the strictest search was made, and Lord Maxwell was at length committed ward, in the Castle of Edinburgh.

His admirably contrived, and boldly executed, escape from this fortress, is fully detailed in the Appendix to this Trial. He was denounced rebel for breaking his Majesty’s ward and failing to underlie the law for the treasonable Murder of Sir James Johnstone. After this, his lordship took refuge abroad, where he remained till 1612, when he returned to Scotland; but so hardly was he pressed, in the Borders, that he had instantly to prepare for embarkation to Sweden. His kinsman, George, fifth Earl of Caithness, dissuaded him from this project; and easily prevailed on him to accept of his pro-

¹ Rymer’s Fœdera, XVI. 60 D.

² Birrell’s Diary, 41.

³ Ib. 46.

⁴ Vol. II. 363, Nov. 1, 1601.

⁵ Ib. 49.

⁶ For a number of extremely interesting and minute particulars, the reader is referred to Tales of a Grandfather, Second Series, which the Editor had not had the advantage of perusing, until this Notice was written. The difficulty of procuring minute and authentic information on such points of history is best known to those who have made the attempt; and even after the most laborious research, the most anxious enquiries often prove fruitless.

tection. He lured him to Castle Sinclair, under the pretence of affording him shelter and secrecy until he could conveniently prepare for his voyage. The real motive of this treacherous Noble, however, was, that he might obtain favour at Court,¹ by delivering up so great an offender.

The Countess of Caithness, (Lady Jean Gordon, only daughter of George, fifth Earl of Huntley,) who was Lord Maxwell's cousin, and greatly interested in his safety, was likewise deceived by her husband, who had told her that a report was spread abroad that it was already known at Court that Lord Maxwell was in hiding in Caithness; and that it was necessary, for their mutual safety, to set off for Edinburgh, to explain the matter; and thus, time would be afforded for Lord Maxwell's escape. The unfortunate Maxwell, then in poor health from his great exertions, was trained to leave Caithness, and pass through Sutherland, in order that he might be taken there; and thus spare the Earl the imputation of having so basely violated the laws of hospitality! But so anxious were his servants to execute their commission, that Maxwell was actually taken within the county of Caithness, conducted to Thurso, where Captain George Sinclair² was impatiently awaiting his arrival, and carried him back a prisoner to Castle Sinclair, where he had so lately been apparently a favoured and honoured guest.

By command of the Lords of Privy Council, Lord Maxwell was shortly afterwards delivered up; and was, upon May 21, 1613, beheaded at the Cross of Edinburgh. It may be gratifying to know that the Earl of Caithness obtained no reward for his most traitorous conduct;—but, on the contrary, his treachery served as a source of constant reproach to him and his family.

A variety of interesting DOCUMENTS are appended, which throw great light upon this matter, and upon the extraordinary state of the country at that period. If the Editor has been too minute or prolix, it is hoped that the singular interest and importance of this remarkable passage of History will prove his best excuse; especially, when it is considered that the previous materials were so very meagre and unsatisfactory.]

[APUD EDINBURGH, Jun. 24, 1609, per Georgium Comitem Mariscalli, Virtute Commissionis, de data apud Grenwitche, Jun. 6, 1609, et per omnes Regni status; vnacum Jacobo Stewart pro Mariscallo, Willelmo Hay pro Constabulario, M. Roberto Lermonth pro Vicecomite de Ed', et Dauide Lyndesay, Adiudicatore.]

Jun. 24.—JOHNNE LORD MAXWALL.

Sir Thomas Hammyltoun of Bynnie, knycht, aduocat to our fouerane lord, producit, lyk as he did diuerse tymes ofbefoir, ane funmondis of Treassoun, rafit and perfewit be oure fouerane lord and be his hienes Aduocat, aganis John Lord Maxwell, to haue anfuert to the pointis of the said funmondis and to the crymes of Treassoun and lese-majestie contenit thairintill, the quhilk funmondis, and reafones and causses thairin contenit, being first red in presens of the Lordis of Articlis of this present Parliament, they fand the samyn funmondis relevant: And thaireftir, this instant day, the samyn funmondis of Treassoun being red in ¹ In June, 1612, the Earl got in bad odour at Court by creating a broil on the High Street of Edinburgh, where he assaulted George Lord Gordon; and great slaughter might have been committed, but for the extreme darkness of the night, owing to which the parties could hardly distinguish their own friends.

² This person was bastard nephew to the Earl, and afterwards raised 150 men, and joined the unhappy expedition of Colonel Ramsay and Captain Hay, who had volunteered to assist the King of Sweden, in his war against the King of Denmark. 'They were all miserablie cut in peeces by the bours,' in their journey thither through Norway.—Gordon's Hist. of Sutherland, p. 289.

prefens of the said lord Commiffionar and of the haill eftaittis of this present Parliament, the said Lord Maxwell, being thyrfe callit at the tolbuthe windo, to haue anfuert to the said fummondis of Treaffoun; and compeirit nocht, the saidis haill Eftaittis ffand the saidis fummondis, rafit be oure said fouerane lord and his hienes Aduocatt, aganis the said Lord Maxwell, and the haill thrie reffones and cauffes thairin contenit, and euerie ane of thame relevant: And thairfoir admittit the famyn to the said aduocattis probatioun. And immediatlie thaireftir, the said Aduocat, for preving of the pointis of the said fummondis of Treaffoun and haill reffones and cauffes contenit thairin, Repetit all the Depofitionis of the Witneffes, examinat befor the lordis of Articlis, and lordis of Secreitt Counfaill, ofbefoir, ffor preving of the saidis haill thrie reffones and euerie ane of thame; togidder with diuerfe Actis of Parliament, lawes and constitutionis of this realme, Sir James M^cConeillis Convictioun¹ for braking of waird fforth of the Castell of Edinburgh; Lettre of Horning aganis the said Lord Maxwell, for nocht compeirance befor the Lordis of Secrete Counfaill, to anfuert befor thame, for his breking of waird fforth of the Castell of Edinburcht, for the Burning maid be him at Dalfeble, and for Slauchter of the LAIRD OF JOHNSTOUN; with diuerfe vtheris wryttis and probatiounes producit be the said lord Aduocatt, for preving of the foirfaid fummondis of Treaffoun, and haill thrie feuerall reffones and cauffes contenit thairin, and euerie ane of thame; and renuncit forder probatioun: And thairvpoun the said Aduocat askit Instrumentis. AND lykwayes, the said Aduocat producit, in prefens of the said lord Commiffionar and haill eftaittis, Lettres of Relaxatioun, beirand the said Johne Lord Maxwell to be relaxit, be James Dowglas, meffinger, fra the proces of all Horningis, at the marcatt croces of Lochmaben, and Dumfreife, vpoun the xv day of March 1609 yearis, and at the marcat croce of Edinbur^t, be Johne Moncur, meffinger, vpoun the xxiii day of Marche, the yeir of God abonewrittin: As at mair lenth is contenit in the saidis lettres of Relaxatioun, fubseryuit be James Primrofe, clerk to the Secrete Counfaill, of the date the fext day of Marche laftbipaft, and regiftrat in the clerk of Registeris buikis, the xxiiij day of Marche, 1609 yeiris: And vpoun the production of the saidis Lettres of Relaxatioun, the said Aduocat lykwayes askit Instrumentis, and defyrit the said proces of Foirfaltour to be advyfit be the saidis haill Eftaittis.²

SUMMONS OF TREASON and FORFEITURE, &c. againft John Lord Maxwell.

JACOBUS, Dei Gratia, Magne Britannie Francie et Hibernie Rex, fideique defenfor; dilectis nostris Leoni Regi armorum, Ilay, Albanie, Rofs, Rothefay, Snawdown, Merchmont, heraudis; David Bryfoun, Alexandro Dowglas, Jacobo Chahneris et M. Willelmo Stewart, clavigeris; Ormont, Bute, Vnicorne, Carrik, signiferis, nuntiis, et eorum cuilibet, coniunctim et diuifim, vicecomitibus noſtris in hac parte ſpecialiter conſtitutis, Salutem. Mandamus vobis et precipimus, Quod ſummonetis legitime et peremptorie, coram teſtibus, JOANNEM DOMINUM MAXWELL perſonaliter, ſi eius perſonalem preſentiam commode habere poteritis ; ſi minus, per publicam proclamationem apud Cruces forales burgorum noſtrorum de Edinbur^t et Drumfreis, et apud Arces de Carlaverok et Drumfreis, et domicilia dicti Joannis Dominum Maxwell, ante ſuam a legibus fugam et rebellionem ; necnon apud portum vulgo lie ſehore and peire of Leith, aliaque loca neceſſaria, ſuper premonitione ſexaginta dierum, quia extra regnum noſtrum Scotie eſſe exiſtimatur ; quod compareat coram nobis noſtroue Commiſſionario et Juſticiario ac regni noſtri Scotie ordinibus, in Parlamento noſtro apud Edinburgh, vel vbi nos dictumve noſtrum Commiſſionarium et Juſticiarium, ac dicti regni noſtri ſtatus pro tempore convenire contigerit, tenendo duodecimo die menſis Aprilis proxime futuri, hora cauſarum, cum continuatione dierum, ad reſpondendum nobis noſtrove Commiſſionario et Juſticiario, in preſato Parlamento ; necnon ad inſtantiam dilecti et fidelis conſiliarii noſtri Thome Hamnyltoun de Bynnies militis Aduocati noſtri, pro noſtro intereſſe, pro ipſius Joannis nefarijs, ſceleratis, et proditorijs Leſe Maieſtatis criminibus infraſcriptis, per ipſum et alios eius mandato, perſuaſione, conſilio, auxilio, et ratihabitione perpetratis et commiſſis ; ac quarum conſcius, particeps, ars et pars fuit et eſt : Necnon dictus Joannes Dominus Maxwell ad videndum et audiendum per nos noſtrumve Commiſſionarium et Juſticiarium, ac dicti regni noſtri Scotie ordines, decerni ſe crimina Leſe Maieſtatis infraſcripta modo ſubſequenti commiſſiſſe, penaſque illas conſtitutas, vitæ, ſcilicet, terrarum, et bonorum omnium, mobilium et immobilium, dignitatum, officiorum, jurium, aliorumque omnium, infra dictum regnum noſtrum ad ſe pertinentium, vel que vlllo modo ad illum ſpectare vel pertinere poterunt, amiſſionem incurriſſe ; ac dicta omnia bona, predia, terras, tenementa, officia, dignitates, jura, et commoda quecunque, illi infra dictum regnum noſtrum competentia, vel que ad illum vlllo modo ſpectare poterunt, nobis Foriſfecerit ; eaque ad nos pertinere et nobiſcum in perpetuum remanere, juxta leges et Regni noſtri conſuetudinem ; ob cauſas et rationes ſubſequentes. IMPRIMIS, quod non ſolum chariſſimi quondam avi noſtri Jacobi V. Regis illuſtriſſimi conſtitutione, in Parlamento ſuo, anno 1528 promulgata, ſed etiam lege per nos in Parlamento noſtro anno 1567 lata, cautum eſt, quod quecunque homines infra domicilia ſua comburunt, omneſque incendiarii edificiorum et frumentorum, omneſque alii voluntarii et maligni incendiarii, dictum crimen certo propoſito et deliberato conſilio committentes, Leſe Maieſtatis rei erunt. Ac certum eſt, quod dictus Joannes Dominus Maxwell, ab ipſa iuventute ad contumaciam, rebellionem, legum et authoritatis noſtre contemptum, tum natura et prava conſuetudine deditus, quum plurimis literis nostris, in annis 1598, 1599, 1600, 1601, et 1602, sub pena rebellionis ei imperatum fuisset, ut redditus prediorum suorum de Duncow, Trive, Grange, et molendini eiusdem, que pars domini corone nostre unite et annexate sunt, et per dictum Joannem Dominum Maxwell et predecessores suos tanquam emphiteutas feudifirmarios et tenentes nostros possesse fuerunt, persolveret: Necnon ut rationes nobis de aliis redditibus et taxationibus infra senescallatus nostros Vallis Annandie et Kireudbricht, predictis annis, multisque alijs precedentibus, nobis debitis, tanquam dictarum provinciarum et limitum Senescallus, ut ei ex officio incumberebat, nobis et nostris Scaccarii auditoribus redderet; et dictos redditus, deurias taxationes, aliasque pecuniarum summas, ubi debuerat, sub pena rebellionis persolveret: Ac etiam, ut coram Consilij nostri dominis, per se, in dictis annis compareret, ad respondendum pro variis suis contemptibus, rebellionibus, carcerum nostrorum effractionibus, et violentis extra custodias nostras eruptionibus, aliisque delictis et maleficijs per ipsum commissis et perpetratis: ILLE tamen, omnia nostra imperia et mandata pertinaciter contemnens, easque ob causas multasque alias rebelliones ad cornu nostrum existens, quo tamen omnem venie sibi a nobis spem prescinderet, et flagiciosissimis criminibus extremas legum penas mereretur, . . . die mensis Februarij, aut eocirca, anno 1602, comitatus Carolo Maxwell vocato de Kirkhous, Roberto Maxwell de Dunwiddie, et aliis suis satellitibus et criminum socijs, ad numerum viginti hominum illegitime convocatorum, galeis, lanceis, loricis, bombardis, sclopis, alijsque armis prohibitis munitorum, pro inveterato odio et malicia, diu ante per dictum Joannem contra quondam Gulielmum Johnestoun fratrem Wilkini Johnestoun de Elcheschellis, et Joannem Johnestoun fratrem Jacobi Johnestoun de Hिलliebray, concepta, ob capitales inimicitias inter MAXWELLIOS et JOHNESTONES, accessit ad villam de Dalfibbill, infra parochiam de Kirkmichaell et vicecomitatum nostrum de Drumfreis jacen.; ibique, per seipsum, dictosque Carolum Maxwell vocat. de Kirkhoufe, Robertum Maxwell de Dunwiddie, aliosque servos et socios suos, dictum Willelmum Johnestoun, in dicta villa de Dalfibbill quiete et pacifice degentem, nullasque iniurias, infidias, aut invasionem suspicantem, immaniter et maliciose aggressus, eundem infra habitationis sue domum in dicta villa de Dalfibbill fugavit; ut omnis salutis spes ei auferretur, dicti Willelmi domum, certo proposito et per industriam, proditorie incendit et flammis vastavit; cumque ignis violentia dictum Willelmum erumpere coegisset, crudeliter eum interfecit: Ac statim ad domum Cuthberti Brattene, in eadem villa existentem, accedens, eam pariter maliciose, crudeliter, consulto et deliberato animo, proditorie incendit; ac dictum quondam Jacobum Johnestoun vocat. de Briggis infra eandem vivum combussit; domumque dicti Cuthberti incendio penitus consumpsit. Eaque proditoria crimina ipsius Joannis Domini Maxwell consilio, mandato, auxilio, et rati-habitione, perpetrata sunt ; dictusque Joannes Dominus Maxwell eorum ars et pars, vulgo airt and pairt, fuit et est, et dictas penas Proditionis et Lese Maieftatis iisdem criminibus, de jure constitutas, subire et perferre debet. SECUNDO, quia per nos et dicti regni nostri Scotie ordines in Parlamento nostro vndecimo statutum est, quod Homicidium alicuius subditi nostri, quando is qui trucidatur existit sub fide, fiducia, assècuratione, et potestate occidentis, vulgo vnder the trust, credit, assurance, and power of the slayer, omne tale Murthurum et Homicidium imposterum committendum, Lese Maieftatis crimen erit ; et qui illius criminis legitimo juris ordine convictus fuerit, vitam, terras, et bona omnia nobis forisfaciet : Atque verum est, quod dictus Joannes Dominus Maxwell, vndecimo die mensis Junii, aut eocirca, anno 1605, coram Dominis Secreti nostri Consilij, in gratiam et amicitiam cum quondam DOMINO JACOBO JOHNSTOUN de Dunskellie milite rediit, ac omnium preteritarum inimiciarum oblivionem sancte promittens, in signum sincere reconciliationis et future amicitie fidem, et dextram ei dedit, et ab omni iniuria, damno, invasione, et periculo, a se, parentibus, affinis, amicis, clientibus, servis, alijsque omnibus assistentibus suis, imposterum inferendo, se dictum quondam D. Jacobum saluum et incolumem prestiturum, magno interposito sacramento, promisit ; et Reconciliationis literas, vulgo anc Letter of Slaynes, manu sua signatas, ad premissorum testimonium et confirmationem dedit : Quarum fiducia illectum, dictum quondam D. Jacobum, quum negligentius et incautius se gerere dictus Joannes Dominus Maxwell intelligeret, summa fedissime vindicte cupiditate flagrans, consilium cum dicto Carolo Maxwell vocato de Kirkhouse, in mensibus Martio et Aprili proxime preteritis, iniit, quibus potissimum dolis dictum quondam D. Jacobum Johnstoun in infidias pertrahere et proditorie occidere possit ; tandemque concluderunt D. Robertum Maxwell de Spottis militem, nominibus vtrique charum et fidum, ad dictum D. Jacobum in infidias pertrahendum maxime idoneum futurum ; ideoque vocato ad se dicto D. Roberto, dictus Joannes Dominus Maxwell diligenter cum eo egit, vt dictum quondam D. Jacobum ad colloquium ad se pertraheret, vt et arcitiorem amicitiam et familiaritatem contrahere, et dicti D. Jacobi opera criminum suarum veniam obpredictarum rebellionum, multarumque aliarum, propter Literarum nostrarum in annis 1603, 1604, 1605, 1606, 1607, et 1608, contra se, sub pena rebellionis et ad cornu nostrum denunciationis, directarum contemptum, a nobis obtinere possit : Quod quum dictus D. Robertus revera expeti existimaret, dicti Joannis hortatu, fide prius ab eo data, congressum dum tutum et regressum pacificum et indemnem futurum, cum dicto quondam D. Jacobo sepius egit, eidemque tandem persuasit vt dictum Dominum Maxwell vno tantum comitatus amico, se arbitro, ad effectum predictum pacifice conveniret, sancte promittens, nomine et mandato dicti Joannis Domini Maxwell, accessum et recessum ei securum, tutum, et incolumem futurum ; quibus adductus perſuaſionibus et promiſſis, dictus quondam D. Jacobus, ſexto die menſis Aprilis vltime elapſi, accito ſecum Gulielmo Johnſtoun vocato de Lockerbie, gladio, ſine vllis alijs armis, accinctus, dictum D. Robertum Maxwell ſecutus ad moram inter Arthurſtane et Trailflat pervenit, vbi duos equites adventum ſuum operientes percepit, dictique D. Roberti hortatu paulatim in eo loco ſubſtitit, donec D. Robertus progrediens dictoſque duos equites Joannem Dominum Maxwell et Carolum Maxwell vocat. de Kirkhous eſſe perſpicens, adduxiſſe ſe dictum D. Jacobum Johnſtoun ad deſtinatum colloquium declaravit, a dicto Domino Maxwell jurisjurandi privs dati, pro dicti D. Jacobi et Gulielmi Johnſtounes incolumitate, ſaluoque et tuto acceſſu et reſeſſu a dicto colloquio, renouationem exegit ; et Dei nomine et Numine interpoſito, a dicto Domino Maxwell pro ſeiſo et dicto Carolo Maxwell obtinuit : Sicque dictum quondam D. Jacobum Johnſtoun, tot promiſſis et juramentis fidentem, ad locum colloquio deſtinatum ad dictum Dominum Maxwell aduxit, et mutua data et accepta, vt inter amicos fieri ſolet, ſalute, detectis capitibus congreſſi, dicto Carolo Maxwell et Gulielmo Johnſtoun imperarunt vt ſeorſum ſubſiſterent, ipſique ad colloquium ita progreſſi ſunt, vt, D. Roberto Maxwell medio, vnus ei ad dextram, alter ad ſiniſtram obequitaret : Dumque de rebus ob quas convenerant pacifice et vti videbatur amanter colloquerentur, dictus Carolus Maxwell, ita vti prius inter eum et dictum Joannem Dominum Maxwell convenerat, ad dictum Willelmum Johnſtoun, contra quem conſtitutum erat, acceſſit ; et vt diſcordie et rixe auſam naciſceretur, adeo ingratum ſibi illum congreſſum eſſe affirmavit, vt ſi illius cauſam prius intellexiſſet, ei ſe haud affuturum profiteretur. Reſpondenti vero Gulielmo, ſperare ſe colloquii illius finem dictis nobilibus viris amicisque et clientibus eorum gratum et vtilem futurum : Id fieri non poſſe Carolus aſſeruit, dictumque D. Jacobum, omneſque alios Johnſtones, latrones et proditores vocavit. Gulielmus autem, ne ſua culpa diſcordie initium preberetur, dixit ſe quamlibet iniuriam paſſurum, potius quam duorum colloquium diſturbaturum ; et quamvis, tanta dicti Gulielmi patientia fruſtratus, Carolus nullam pugne occaſionem inueniret : Illud tamen quod prius intenderat omnino peracturus, dictum Gulielmum, nec verbo nec facto prouocatus, crudeliter et proditorie parato ſcelo inuaſit, et pallium et veſtes eius duobus globalis tranſmiſit ; cujus fragore, et Gulielmi voce proditorie vim vite ſue inferri clamantis, turbatus quondam D. Jacobus Johnſtoun, ab eo ſe convertens, et que tam fedi facinoris cauſa eſſe rogans, dictus Joannes Dominus Maxwell, a tergo, dicto quondam D. Jacobo Johnſtoun, nil tale metuenti, imminens ſcelo, quem ſub palio clam paratum habebat, in dictum D. Jacobum, proditorie directo, per humerum duabus glandibus plumbeis venenatis¹ in corpus et

¹ See May 13, 1609, in the preceding Trial, Vol. III, 1, &c.

² See Acta Parl. 1609, 414.

¹ This circumſtance of the two lead BULLETS having been previously POISONED, is a very ſtrong fact againſt Maxwell ; and if borne out by the evidence, ſatisfactorily proves the deadly intention of vitalia eius addictis, eum inhumaniter, crudeliter, fede, et proditorie occidit ; ac sub fide, fiducia, affecuratione, et potestate sua, vulgo vnder his trust, credit, assurance, and power, trucidavit ; contra fidem datam et amicitiam initam coram dictis Consilij nostri dominis, et dicti D. Roberti Maxwell, interventio sepius juramento, per dictum Joannem Dominum Maxwell renovatam. QUORUM criminum dictus Joannes Dominus Maxwell est conscius, et particeps, ars et pars ; ideoque penas Lesæ Maiestatis iis jure constitutas, vt antea dictum est, subire et perferre debet. TERTIO, quia, tam Communi gentium omnium quam Civili Romanorum Jure, et regni nostri Legibus statutum, et vltra omnem memoriam recepta et approbata consuetudine observatum est, eum qui Maiestatem publicam leserit, cuiusque opera, consilio, dolo, malo, consilium initum est, quo quis contra Rempublicam arma ferat, aut qui Lesæ Maiestatis reum in vincula coniectum dimiserit, Maiestatis teneri : Ac vero manifestum est, dictum Joannem Dominum Maxwell, in Arcem Edinburgenam, quia nostris Consilii nostri mandatis obtemperare pertinaciter recusauerat, in custodiam missum, consilium cum JACOBO M'CONNELL de Dwnyveg milite, in eadem Arce, ob multa Lesæ Maiestatis et Proditionis crimina in vinculis detento, inisse ; quibus potissimum rationibus de dicta custodia violenter et proditorie, in Maiestatis nostre manifestum contemptum et lesionem, erumperent, et assito in sceleris conscientiam dicto ROBERTO MAXWELL de Dunwidie, conspirasse, ereptis custodum armis illis, sibi exitum e dicta Arce per vim proditorie parare ; quod vt facilius perfecerent, . . . die mensis Decembris, anno 1607, ad hilariorem et liberio rem computationem novitatis, invitatis custodibus, gladiisque illorum per vim ereptis, ipsos deinde custodes in cubiculum obseratum inermes incluserunt, et ad interiorem dicte Arcis januam armati accedentes Alexandrum Strutheris ejus custodem, quia pro sua in nos fide eos exitu prohibere conatus est, multis vulneribus, in capite, brachio, manu, aliisque corporis partibus, faucium et prope exanimem prostraverunt ; et ob parem causam Margareta Philop, vxore eius, barbare et crudeliter etiam vulnerata, per dictam januam interiorem ad mediam Arcis portam pervenerunt, vbi Archibaldum Cunyng-hame illius custodem, claves tradere recusantem, proditorie etiam invaserunt, et in brachio crudeliter vulnerato claves ei violenter eripuerunt ; et aperta per vim porta proditorie erumpentes, muro qui Portam vrbis Occidentalem pertingit transeundo, dicti Joannes Dominus Maxwell, et D. Jacobus M'Connell, proditorie et

Lord Maxwell, who, in appointing this meeting, had unquestionably predetermined the destruction of his rival. On the other hand, it seems clear that the Laird of Johnstone, his attendant, and Sir Robert Maxwell, their mutual friend, were only possessed of their side-arms, the distinguishing mark of a Gentleman at that period. It is well worthy of remark, that Sir Walter Scott relates, that ' while the gallant old knight lay dying on the ground, Maxwell rode round him, with the view of completing his crime ; but Johnstone defended himself with his sword, till strength and life failed him.' It is unnecessary, here, to enter into any detail on these points, as such copious illustrations have been given in the Notice and Appendix to this Trial.

violenter aufugerunt ; donec sub Castellam nostri et aliorum fidelium subditorum insequentium diligentia, captus et in carcere retractus est, dictus Jacobus M^cConnell ; dicto Joanne Domino Maxwell celeri fuga euadente : Sicque, Joannes Dominus Maxwell Maieftatem noſtram leſit, eiufque opera, confilio, dolo, malo, confilium initum eſt, quo arma contra nos per ſeiſum et dictos Jacobum dominum M^cConneill et Robertum Maxwell de Dunwiddie lata ſunt, ac etiam dictum Jacobum M^cConneill militem Maieſtatis reum in vincula coniectum dimiſit, dictorumque omnium Leſe Maieſtatis criminum conſcius, et particeps, ars et pars fuit et eſt, et penas iis a jure conſtitutas ſubire et perpeti debet. ET PROPTEREA, dictus Joannes Dominus Maxwell ad videndum et audiendum, per nos, dictumve noſtrum Commiſſionarium et Juſticiarium, ac dicti noſtri regni Scotie ordines, decerni et ordinari, ſe, predicta Leſe Maieſtatis crimina, per ſeiſum et alios ipſius mandato et perſuaſione, confilio, auxilio et ratihabitione comiſiſſe et perpetraviſſe ; ac eorum conſcium et participem, vulgo airt and pairt, fuiſſe et eſſe ; ideoque penas dictis Proditionis et Leſe Maieſtatis criminibus competentes ferre et ſubire debere, vite, ſcilicet, et bonorum omnium, mobilium et immobilium, terrarum, tenementorum, dignitatum, officiorum, juriurum, aliorumque omnium ad ſe ſpectantium, amiſſionem et conſiſcationem ; dictaſque terras, predia, bonaque omnia, mobilia et immobilia, dignitates, officia, jura, aliaque omnia ad dictum Joannem Dominum Maxwell ſpectantia et pertinentia, vel que ad illum ſpectare et pertinere vlllo modo potuerunt, nobis conſiſcari, ad nos pertinere et perpetuo nobiſcum in proprietate permanere : ET ulterius, in premiſſis reſpondendum et juri parendum : Intimando dicto Joanni Domino Maxwell, quod ſiue, dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, comparuerit, ſiue non, nos tamen dictuſue noſter Commiſſionarius ac Juſticiarius, et dicti regni noſtri ordines, in premiſſis, juſticia mediante, procedemus et procedent. Inſuper ſummoneatis ad comparandum coram nobis, noſtroue Commiſſionario ac Juſticiario, et dictis regni noſtri ſtatibus, in dicto Parlamento, dictis die et loco, hora cauſarum, cum continuatione, ad perhibendum fidele teſtimonium in premiſſis, ſub pena legis : Et preſentes literas debite executas et indorſatas earundem latori reddatis. Et vos qui preſentes executi fueritis ſitis ibidem dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, coram nobis dictoue noſtro Commiſſionario et Juſticiario, ac tribus regni ordinibus, portantes vobiſcum veſtre ſummonitionis teſtimonium, in ſcriptis, pro premiſſis aut ipſos teſtes. Ad quod faciendum, vobis et veſtrum cuiſlibet, coniunctim et diſiſim, vicecomitibus noſtris in hac parte, noſtram plenariam virtute preſentium committimus poteſtatem. Datum ſub teſtimonio noſtri magni Sigilli, Apud Edinbur^g vigefimo ſexto die menſis Januarii, anno domini milleſimo ſexcentefimo nono, et regni noſtri annis quadrageſimo ſecundo et ſexto.

THE quhilk ſummondis, with the executiones and indorſationes thairof, being this instant day red, in presens of our fouerane lordis Commiffionar and Estaittis of Parliament, first in Latine and thaireftir in Scottis, the said Johne Lord Maxwell, being oft tymes callit of new at the tolbutth window of the said bureht of Edinburcht, to haue compeirit, &c. And he nocht compeirand to haue defendit in the said mater, and to haue answerit to the said summondis, the said Sir Thomas Hammyltoun of Bynnie, kny^t, Aduocat to our fouerane lord, defyrit the saidis Estaittis declaratioun, gif the reffounes of the said summondis wer relevant aganis the said Lord Maxwell. The quhilkis Estaittis fand the said summondis, and the reffones and causses thairin contenit, and euerie ane of thame relevant. Thairfor the said Aduocat, of new, for preving of the foirfaidis thrie reffounes and euerie ane of thame, beirand and contenand as is abone writtin, repetit all the Depositiones of the Witneffes, examinat befor the saidis Lordis of Artielis, and Lordis of the Secrete Counsaill, respectiue, with diuerse Actis of Parliament, Lawes and constitutionis of this realme, Sir James M^cConcillis Convictioun, &c. with all vtheris wryttis and probatiounes productit of befor, this instant day, be the said Aduocat, ffor preving of the foirfaidis summondis of Treassoun, and hail thrie reffounes and causses contenit thairin, and euerie ane of thame; and defyrit the saidis Estaittis of Parliament to advyse the probatiounes foirfaidis led and deducit in the said mater, and to pronunce thair Sentence of Parliament thairintill, according to the famin probatiounes, and thair consciences: And thaireftir, the hail wryttis, Depositiones of Witneffes and probatiounes being red, sene, and confiderit be the saidis hail Estaittis of Parliament, and they thairwith being rplye advyfit, VERDICT. The saidis Lord Commiffionar and Estaittis of Parliament, ffindis, decernis and declaris, that the said Johne Lord Maxwell Committit and did oppin and manifest Treassoun, in all the pointis, artielis and maner contenit in the said Summondis: And thairfoir, it wes gevin for dome, be the mouth of David Lyndfay, dempfter of Parliament, in maner and forme as followes:

SENTENCE. This Court of Parliament sehawes for law, the said JOHNE LORD MAXWELL to haue committit and done all the foirfaidis crymes of Treassoun and Lefemajestie, be him self, and vtheris of his causing, command, assistance and ratihabitoun, aganis oure said fouerane lord and his autoritie; and that he is and wes giltie and pairtaker, airt and pairt, of the famin crymes of Treassoun; all in maner at lenth contenit in the reffounes of the said summondis: And thairfoir, Decernis and Declairis, that the said Johne Lord Maxwell aucht and sould vnderly and suffer the paynis competent to the saidis crymes of Treassoun and Lefemajestie, to wit, the tynfall and confiscatioun of his lyfe, and all his guidis, moveable and vnmmoveable, landis, tenementis, digniteis, offices, richtis, and all vtheris thingis belanging to him; and all the saidis landis, rowmes, and all gudis moveable and vnmmoveable, digniteis, offices, richtis, and all vtheris belanging and pertening to the said Johne Lord Maxwell, and quhilkis may ony way belang and pertene to him, to be confiscatt, to pertene to our said souerane lord, and to remane with his Maiestie for euir in propertie. And this I gif for dome.

APPENDIX OF ORIGINAL DOCUMENTS, ILLUSTRATIVE OF THE TRIAL OF JOHN LORD MAXWELL.

I. DEPOSITIONS taken before THE LORDS OF PRIVY COUNCIL, relative to the Escape of LORD MAXWELL and SIR JAMES MAKONEILL from the Castle
*of Edinburgh.*¹

(1.) DEPOSITION of Archibald Cunynghame, Master Porter of the Castle of Edinburgh.

AT the Castell of Edinburgh, the xv day of Januar, 1608.

ARCHIBALD CUNYNGHAME, Maister porter of the Castell, sworne and demandit what he kuawis of the mater foirfaid of the breking of Warde? Deponis, that he, being sittand in his chalmer in the yett,² he fend his boy to hane fetchet him a drink: In the meantyme, Williame Maxuell of Kirkhous come to the deponer and defyrit him to oppin the yett; and that immediatlie the Lord Maxwell him self come and cryed, ‘ffals knave, oppin the yett!’ And the deponer refuseing, and begunmand to hane fpokin to the Lord, he cryed agane, ‘ffals knaif, oppin the yett!’ And with a drawin sward gaif the deponer ane greit fraik vpoun the arme; and mynting³ again to haif struckin the deponer, he wes stayed be Williame Maxwell of Kirkhous, who threw the keyis frome the deponer, efter that he wes hurte, and oppynit the yett. And deponis, that the Lord Maxwell wald haif flane the deponer, wer nocht he wes stayed be Williame of Kirkhous.

(2.) DEPOSITION of Alexander Struthers, Porter of the Castle of Edinburgh.

ALEXANDER STRUTHERS, Porter, sworne and examinat vpoun his knowlege of the interprise foirfaid, deponis, that Williame Maxwell of Kirkhous come to the yett,⁴ and cryed, ‘Porter, oppin the yett, and latt me oute!’ And the deponer having oppynnit the yett, Williame Maxwell past oute,⁵ and then patt his bak to the wickett of the yett, to haif stayed the deponer fra closing of it: And the deponer preasing to haif clostie the yett, the Lord Maxwell and Sir James M'coneill and Robert of Dynwyddie come to the yett; and the Lord Maxwell, with a drawne swerde, fraik the deponer vpoun the hand, and Sir James gaif the deponer ane fraik with ane sward vpoun the heid: And thay haueing past oute at that yett, the deponeris wyffe meiting with thame betuix the yettis, and trying to have releuit the deponer, hir husband, the said Sir James gaif hir ane fraik vpoun the heid; and that scho refflaued fundrie vther fraikis, bot knowis nocht who gaif thame.

(3.) DEPOSITION of Sir James Makoneill, knight.

AT the Castell of Edinburgh, the xv day of Januare, 1608, &c.⁶

(4.) SECOND DEPOSITION of Archibald Cunynghame, Master Porter of the Castle of Edinburgh.

APUD ED^B, xx Junij, 1609. WITNESSES producit be the Advocat, for proving of the Third Reffounne of Tresfoun anent the Breking of Ward furth of the Castell of Edinburgh.

ARCHIBALD CUNNINGHAME, Porter of the Castell of Edinburgh, of the aige of lxij yeiris, or thairby, deponis, that vpoun the fourt day of December, the yeir of God 1607 yeiris, this deponar for the tyme, about fyve horis befoir supper, sittand in the myd Porter-hous of the Castell of Edinburgh, and

¹ The following Depositions are taken from the Originals, preserved in his Majesty's General Register House, Edinburgh.

² In the Guard-house, at the inner gate.

³ Essaying.

⁴ Viz. the second gate, kept by the under Porter, or ‘Keeper of the Inner-yett.’

⁵ As a visiter permitted to see his friends in ward.

⁶ See his Trial, May 13, 1609, Vol. III. page 10, where this Paper is given at length.

the key being in the wicket of the said mid-3ett, Williame Maxwell of Kirkhous cummis furthe of the Castell, and defyris this deponar to oppin the wicket; and as the deponar was villing to haif oppinnit the said wicket, the Lord Maxwell come vpoun this deponar with ane drauin fuerd, faying, ' Fals knaif! oppin þe 3ett, or ellis I fall hew the all in bladdis!' The deponar anferit, ' Schamit theif! quhat ar 3e doand heir?' And then the Lord Maxwell incontinent fraik at this deponar with his drawin fuord, and mwtilat him of his left arme; and gif the said Williame Maxwell had nocht favit the deponar from the said Lord Maxwellis furie, he had flane the deponar. Then the Lord Maxwell oppinnit the wicket, and he and Sir James Makconneill paste furthe thairof, and past to the vest Castell vall that gois to the West-port of Edinburgh, and haveing elwme that wall, the said Lord Maxwell eschapit with fuitht¹ flycht; and the Constable of the Castell, with vtheris keparis thairof, apprehendit Sir James Makconneill, and brocht him bak agane and pat him in the irnis; and Williame Maxwell left the Lord Maxwell at the vtter 3ett, quhair he was lykwayis tane by the Constable; and hard nocht quhen Alexander Strutheris, kepar of the Inner-port, was forcit and hurt be the Lord Maxwell; and nevir hard any tumult quhill the Lord Maxwell come vpoun him self.

(5.) SECOND DEPOSITION of Alexander Struthers, Keeper of the Inner Yett.

ALEXANDER STRUTHERIS, kepar of the Inner-3ett of the Castell of Edinburgh, of the aige of 1² 5eiris, or thairby, mareit, deponis, That vpoun the ferd day of December, 1607 yeiris, this deponar, about fyve horis at night, sittand in the Inner-porter-hous of the Castell of Edinburgh, and haveing the keyis of the Inner-3ett hyndand² vpoun his arme, Williame Maxwell of Kirkhous, feruand to the Lord Maxwell, come to this deponar and defyrit him to oppin the 3ett, and the deponar haveing oppinnit the inner weiket, and the said William haveing past furth thairof, the said William stayit the deponar to cloife and loik the weiket of the Inner-3et, and in the mentyme of the stryiff, Johne Lord Maxwell, Sir James Makconneill, and Robert Maxwell of the Tour, all thrie with drawin fuordes in thair handis, come to this deponar, and the Lord Maxwell with his fuord first fraik at the deponar, and cuttit his left hand: Thairefter Sir James M^cconneill and Robert Maxwell, ilkane of thame, gaif him bluidie fraikis in his heid, and the deponar cryand ' Fy! Tressfoun!' Margaret Philp, his vyiff, come furthe to help the deponar, (quha was lykvyis voundit be the foirfaidis perfonis,) and gat four bluidie fraikis in his bodie: And in the mentyme, quhill Robert Maxwell and this deponar war in gryppis and stryiff, the said Lord Maxwell and Sir James M^cconneill past furthe of the said Inner-3et, the quhilk Inner-3et this deponar than lokit and held in the said Robert Maxwell, quha incontinent thairefter lap the said Castell vall, and eshapit furthe thairof; and within ane hour thairefter this deponar saw Sir James M^cconneill brocht within the said Castell be the Constable, quhair he 3it remanis, lyand in irnis.

(6.) DEPOSITION of Thomas Home, Constable of the Castle of Edinburgh.

THOMAS HOME, Constable of the Castell of Edinburgh, of the aige of lx yeiris, or thairby, mareit, deponis, That vpoun the said ferd day of December, 1607 yeiris, the twa Inner-portis of the Castell of Edinburgh being forcit and oppinnit be the Lord Maxwell and Sir James MacConeill, efter that thai had hurt the tua portaris, and had loppin the wall about the Vest Port. This deponar, vpoun the cry of the wechemen, followit tham with diligence; and as he cam neir the Barres,⁴ certane men at the West Port tauld to this deponar, that ane of tham that had brokin ward was lyand in ane meiddane,⁵ and had irnis vpoun him: And thairefter this deponar brocht Sir James M^cconneill bak agane to the Castell of Edinburgh, quhair he yit lysis in irnis. And the deponar saw the saidis tua Portaris bayth hurt, quhen he come in with Sir James M^cconneill to the Castell of Edinburgh agane.

(7.) DEPOSITION of William Symfone, soldier in the Castle of Edinburgh.

WILLIAME SYMSONE, ane of the suldaris of the Castell, of the aige of xxvj yeiris, or thairby, mareit, deponis, that vpoun the ferd day of December, 1607 yeiris, about fyve houris, befoir supper, the Lord

¹ Hasty, precipitate. ² Fifty. ³ Hanging. ⁴ The Hastitudium, or ' Barras,' under the Castle, where, for a long series of years, the Tilts and Tournaments had been held. It was situated near what are still called the King's Stables, at the West Port of the city. ⁵ A midden, or dunghill.

Maxvell come to Sir James M^cconeillis chalmer to pas his tyme, according to his custome; quhair war present, for the tyme, the Lord Maxwell, Sir James, Young Cloiburne, Robert Maxwell of the Tour, William Maxwell of Kirkhous, William Armstrang of the Gingillis; and efter that the Lord Maxwell and his colligis had marchit throuche the chalmer, be way of pastyme, for the tyme, he come to this deponar, quha than vas speciall kepar of Sir James M^cconeill, and haveing put his hand within this deponaris fuord gardis, preiffit to haif drawin the famin, bot being impedit be this deponar, the Lord Maxwell tuik from William Maxwell his quhinger, and held the famin to this deponaris breift, sueiring with ane great ayth, that gif he lat nocht the fuord cum, he suld stik him with that quhinger. Then this deponar, for feir of his lyiff, deliuerit his fuord with the scabert to the said Lord Maxwell, and thairefter the Lord Maxwell come to James Stewart, his awin kepar, and William Armstrang, and tuik from thame ilkane of their fuordis; and gaif ane of the fuordis to Sir James M^cconeill, the vther to Robert of the Tour, and keptit the thrid to him self, vtterand thir wordis, ‘ All gud fellowis that luiffis me, follow me! For I fall ather be furthe of the Castell pis nycht, or ellis I fall loife my lyiff!’ And then the Lord Maxwell and his colligis haveing past furthe of the said Sir James chalmer, he clofit within the famin chalmer, Young Cloiburne, William Armstrang, James Stewart, and this deponar, and feschynnit the famin dure with the catbande, that thai mycht nocht oppin the famin; saying, he rowit to God, that, ‘ Gif ony of them suld cry, he suld cum bak agane and tak thair lyiffis!’ And this deponar haveing maid the dure fast within, cryit furth at the Southe vyndow towardis the West Port, ‘ Tressoun! Tressoun!’ And be that cry the men of the West Port come and apprehendit the said Sir James M^cConeill.

(8.) DEPOSITION of William Armstrang in the Chengillis.

WILLIAM ARMSTRONG in the Chengillis, of the aige of xxx yeiris, or thairby, mareit, deponis conformis immediate preceden. Gulielmo Synfoun, in omnibus; reddens eandem causam scientie; becaus that famin nycht that the Lord Maxwell and Sir James M^cconeill past furthe of the Castell of Edinburgh, this deponar was present in Sir James M^cconeillis chalmer, in cumpanie with the Lord Maxwell and remanent personis soirfaidis, all myrrie be drinking of wyne. This deponar saw the Lord Maxwell tak the thrie fuordis from the soirfaidis thre personis, and past furthe of the dure, and clois the famin efter him, saying, ‘ Gif ony of tham cryit, he suld tak thair lyiffis!’ And this deponar was ane of tham that was clofit within the chalmer, be the Lord Maxwell; be resioune that he refusit to accompanie the Lord Maxwell, in breking ward.

II. DEPOSITIONS taken before the Lords of Privy Council, relative to the Treasonable Murder of SIR JAMES JOHNSTONE of that Ilk.

(9.) DEPOSITION of Sir Robert Maxwell of Spottis.

AT Edinburghe, the xxviiij day of Aprile, 1608, In presence of the Lords of Secrete Counfaill.

SIR ROBERT MAXWELL of Spottis, sworne and examinat vpoun the forme and maner of the Slaughter of the Laird of Johnstoun, and of the said Sir Robertis awne cariage and behaviour, in that mater; Deponis as followis: Firft, that the Laird of Johnstoun desyrit the deponar, being in his house of Lochwood for the tyme, to speik the Lord Maxwell, quhen he fand the oportunitie, to sie yf the deponar could mak a good in the materis betnix thame. To quhom the deponar answert, that he was a feiklie man, and had no credite at the Lord Maxwellis hand; becaus the Lord Maxwell haid evir a mislyking of him, becaus he maryed Johnstones suster. And deponis, that he said to the Laird of Johnstoun, that he had no will to mell in that turne, becaus it wes so wegtie a mater; and the Lord was a perellous man to haif ado with! And denyis that evir he proponit that mater to the Lord Maxwell, in the Laird of Johnstonis name, as haveing directioun from him. DEPONIS, that aucht or nyne dayis afoir the Slaughter of the Laird of Johnstoun, the Lord Maxwell send Edward Maxwell, fone to the Laird of Tynwall, to the deponer, to defyre him to ‘ come and speik with his lordship.’ And the deponer, mislyking the messinger, refusit to gang to my Lord, saying that he stood in that estait that he nicht not weill speik with him. And yit the principall caus that movit the deponer to refusit to go with him, wes the mislyking of the messinger, fering that he fould reveill it. Thairefter, that same day, the deponer fend Johnne Maxwell, his awin fervand, to my lord, to vnderstand his l. will and pleafour, and defyre his l. to schaw ony thing he had to fay to the said Johnne, als yf the deponer haid bene present : And that my lord refusit to schaw ony thing to Johnne, quhill he mett with the deponer him self; and willit Johnne to tell the deponer, that he desyrit to meitt with him at efter none. Quhairvpoun the deponer raid to him to Kirkennane hill; and at thair meeting, my lord sayd to the deponer, ‘ Cosine, it wes for this caus I fend for you. Se see my estait and danger I stand in; and I wald crave your counsell and advise, as ane man that tenderis my weill.’ To quhom the deponer answereit, that the mater wes so far past, as hardlie could he gif his l. ane counsaill; and gif he haid a counsaill, he wald gif him the best he could. The deponeris opinioun wes, that he fould keipe him quiet, and do no thing quhill nicht offend the Kingis Maiestie farder nor he had done; and that he wald move the noblemen, who wer his freindis at Court and Counsell, to report the best of him to his Maiestie and Counsell. And the Deponer sperit at him ‘ In quhat estait his l. and his nichtbouris, the Barones of the countrey, stood into?’ His answere wes, that he could not weill tell that him self. Vpoun thir speiches, thay fell in speiking with the Laird of Johnnstoun; and my lord desyrit to gett him knowledge, yf the Laird of Johnnstoun had bene ane platter aganis him, sen thair aggreement? And quhat he nicht look for att his handis in tyme comeing? The Deponeris answere wes, that he knew no thing of that mater, whill he haid spokin with Johnnstoun, or gottin his answere, in wryte; and at that tyme he could not meete with him, becaus he wes to ryde to Edinburgh for some of his awne adois. And my lord desyrit the deponer to wryte in his awne name to the Laird, to vnderstand quhat certantie my lord nicht haif of him. And my lord promesit to fend to the deponer, in wryte, the headis quhairvpoun the deponer fould forme his bill to the Laird, the next morneing; quhill my lord did. And the deponer said to my lord, ‘ Yf this be a mater that your l. thinkis, in your hairte, se can tak vp and remett to the Laird, I will very willinglie travell in the mater and do the best I can; vtherwise, I desyre nocht to mell in it.’ To quhom my lordis answere wes, that of all evillis the least wes to be tane, seing he had at the Kingis commandment done it alreedy. Yf he saw ony willingnes in the Laird to do his dewytie to him, he wald willinglie pas it over, and if he ressaunt ane ressonable answere of the Laird, he wald be content to meete with him, at ony convenient place: And promesit, that he fould keepe honnestlie, for his pairt and these that wer with him, providing it war keepit quiet, for both their weillis. AND upoun the morn, the deponer ressaunt the headis in a Tickett sent to him to his awne house; quhairvpoun my lord desyrit him to wryte to the Laird; quhill the deponer thinking mistie, the deponer wryte bak agane to my lord, and fend his Tickett clost in hes awne Bill, schawing my lord that he wald not deale in that turne, quhill he spok with his lordship, and that he haid the Heidis mair cleirly fett down. Quhairvpoun my lord write bak to the deponer, and desyrit him to meit his lordship at the Kirk of Butill: And the deponer comeing thair and missing my lord, and persaving some persouis attending to meit his lordship, the deponer raid away, and wald not meit with him at that tyme; and left ane fervand to tell my lord that he haid bene thair, and was riddin away: And that same nicht, my lord caufit the deponeris man come bak to the deponer, and desyre him to meit him, about the setting of the sone, besyd the place of Butill, at the water syd; quhill the deponer did: And the deponer asking of him quhat he meant be these Articles and headis he had sent vnto him? My lord answereit, that he wes not a good wreater, and wald not commit the trust of this to ane vther; alwise, his meaning wes, that the deponer fould desyre the Laird to cleir him self that he had not bene a dealer aganis him in tyme bigane, and to lat my lord vnderstand quhat he nicht look for at his handis in tyme comeing. According to the quhill, the deponer wryte to the Laird, and get his anfwer within tua or thrie nichtis. AND deponis, that he promeist to my lord, yf his lordschip wer in these feldes, that he fould gett his lordschipis ane (own) anfuere, and bring it to him; bot yf his lordschip wes not in these fieldis, the deponer fould be in Terriglis vpoun Monunday thairefter, quhair my lord fould find him. According to the quhilk, my lord appointit his man, Johne M^cbrair, to attend the deponer at Terriglis; and efter the deponer liehtit (alighted), Johne M^cbrair defyrit him to go and speik with my lord, who attendit him besyd Haliewode. And deponis that thay mett in the wod, quhair the deponer lute my lord see the Lairdis answer in wryte; quhilk he red, and (was) weill content thairwith. And thairefter, the deponer takand my lordis faithfull promeis, with my lordis hand strekit in the deponeris handis, that he, nor the man he fould bring with him, fould do no wrang, bot keepe honnestlie, quhidder thay aggreit or not, my lord, with the deponer, sett down the tryit to be vpoun Wodnisday thairefter, beyond the Houfe of the Beal, betuix thrie and four efter none; quhair ather pairty fould come accompanied with one onlie, and na vtheris to be present bot the deponer: And my lord promeist to bring Robert Maxwell of the Tour with him, or ane vther quhom the deponer fould lyk als weill of, for quhom my lord fould be anfuerebill. And, parting with his lordschip, the deponer, vpoun the morne, raid down to the Laird of Johnnstoun, and tauld him of the appointing of the tryit; who being verie willing to it, and his faithfull promeis to keepe honnestlie, for his pairte, he, with the deponer and Willie Johnnstoun of Locurbie, come, vpoun the morne thairefter, agaitward to the tryit, within a myle or thairaboute to the place appointit; and in the way, the Laird say¹ to the deponer, that quhatevir courfe he tooke with the Lord Maxwell, he wald ever reserve his dewtie and allegiance to the Kingis Matie, and that he wald counsell my lord to begyn with Sir Williame Craufoun, to be at ane point with him, that by his meanis and procurement the Erl of Dunbar nicht be intreatit to interceid for his lordschip, at the Kingis handis; and sua, comeing within a myle to the place appointit, the deponer lute the Laird sie quhair my lord wes; and the deponer causit the Laird flay thair, and he raid forward to my lord, who wes attending at the place appointit, as said is, and tauld my lord that the Laird was come, according to the appointment; and that he reposit so grite traist and confidence in my lord, that he wes onlie ryding vpoun ane amling naig; and that Willie of Lockarbie wes with him and na mae, as his lordschip himselff saw. And than the deponer of new took my lordis promeis for keeping of his former promeis and credite, and quhilk my lord frielie gaf: And my lord desirit the deponer to tak Charlis Maxwellis promeis lykwife, who wes with him; quhilk the deponer refusit to do; and wes verie miscontit (miscontent?) that Charlie wes thair. And than my lord promeist to be anfwereable for him. Sua the deponer raid bak to the Laird, and brocht him forward, and took the lyk promeis of the Laird that he fould be anfwerebill for his man Willie Johnnstoun: And afoir the deponer come from my lord, baith my lord and the Laird commandit Charlie Maxwell to ryd af theme, and not to go towardis Willie Johnnstoun. And the deponer and the Laird gaf the lyk command and directioun to Willie Johnnstoun to ryd af them, and not to go toward Charlie Maxwell. AND sua, my lord, the Laird, and the deponer mett; and mutuall salutationnis past betwix thame, and they raid togidder, the deponer in the midis, my lord on his left hand, and the Laird on his richt hand; and efter some speiches, my lord directit his language to the deponer, and the Laird and the deponer directit thair language to my lord; and ryding thus way, and thair bakis to the vther tua, the deponer lookis about and saw Charlie Maxwell go fra the place quhair he wes appointit to flay, directlie towardis Willie Johnnstoun, and efter some few speiches betwix thame, quhilk the deponer hard not, the deponer saw Charlie Maxwell schoote a pistolett at Willie Johnnstoun; quhairvpoun Willie gaf a schoute and cryed. And thairefter the deponer clappit to my lord, and preist to haif tane him be the brydle-renzeis, and, missing his renzeis, gat ane grip of his klok, quhilk he pullit to him—and cryed to my lord, ‘Fy! my lord! Mak not your selff a Trator and me both!’ To quhom my lord anfuereit, ‘I am wytes!’² With this, the Laird of Johnnstoun slip-pit af³ the deponer, and wes ryding for relief of his awne man; and my lord followit him, and behind his bak, shot him—and raid his way: And the Lairdis horfe making some sturr,¹ his girdis² brack, and the Laird fell; and efter his fall gat vp agane on his feitt: And Charlie come agane, and offerit findrie straikis; bott gat not leave to do any harme.

¹ For said.² Free of wyte or blame.³ Slit or stole away unperceived.

ROBERT MAXWALL OF SPOTTIS,
Tenet cum principali, J. PRYMROIS.³

(10.) DEPOSITION of William Johnston of Lockerby.

APUD ED^B, decimo nono Junij, 1609. WITNESSES producit for preveing of the Secund Reffoun of Treffoun aient the Slaughtre of the Lard of Johnestoune.

WILLIAME JOINESTOUN, callit of Lockerbie, of the aige of xl yeiris, or thairby, mareit; deponis, that vpoun the sext day of Aprile, the yeir of God 1608, this deponar cumming to the place of Lochwod, about ane efter none, THE LARD OF JOINESTOUN tuik this deponar to the clois, and said to him, ‘ 5e ar velcum, for I haif ane gritar turne ado with 5ou nor ewir I had befor this day; I am to meit with the Lord Maxwell, and 5e fall go with me, and loip on vpoun 5our horfe, and raik fordwart to Lytill Lochwod, quhill I owirtak 5ow, and let nane ken quhair 5e ar rydand to.’ Immediatlie thair-efter the Lard of Johnestoun and Sir Robert Maxwell of Spottis owirtuik this deponar within ane myle from the Lochwod; and thei raid altogidder towartis the place appoyntit, quhill thai come to the Cowart-croce, quhilk was within a myle quhair THE LORD MAXWELL and Charlis Maxwell was huif-fand⁴ on horfbak togidder. Then Sir Robert Maxwell directit the Lard of Johnestoun and this deponar to stay thair, quhill his returne to thame, or ellis that he gif thame ane sing to cum fordwart, quhilk was be haldin vp of his nepkyn vpoun his wand end.⁵ Schortlie thaireftir Sir Robert Maxwell cumming from the Lord Maxwell, about the mydway betwix the saidis pairteis, the said Sir Robert held vp his nepkyn vpoun his wand end; and vpoun that finge the Lard of Johnestoun and this deponar raid fordwart to the said Sir Robert. At thair meting the said Sir Robert flew to the Lard of Johnestoun, that the Lord Maxwell, accompaneit with Charlie Maxwell allane, war awayting vpoun thair cumming, and that the Lord Maxwell inquiryt of Sir Robert quho was with the Lard of Johnestoun? The quhilk Sir Robert anfuert, that he had tauld to the said Lord Maxwell, that this deponar was onlie in companie with the Lard of Johnestoun; and that the Lard of Johnestoun, for secrecie of the tryft, was rydand vpoun ane naig, and had left his best hors behind him. Then the Lard of Johnestoun anfuert, that he was weil content that Charlis Maxwell was rather thair nor ony vther, be reffoun he was John Murray of Cokpullis sifter-son; and at that famyn tyme, Sir Robert tauld to the said Lard of Johnestoun, that he had tane the Lord Maxwellis ayth and promeis, vpoun his fayth and honour, that he fuld meit fairlie, and depairt fairlie. And that the Lord Maxwell defyrit the said Sir Robert to tak Charlis ayth thairvpoun; the quhilk Sir Robert refusit to do, faying, that ‘ he wald haif na promeis bot the Lord Maxwellis awin promeis for his man.’ Lyk as, at that famyn tyme, Sir Robert tuik the Lard of Johnestonis ayth and promeis, be his hand laid in his, that he fuld meit fairlie and depairt fairlie with the Lord Maxwell, quhidder thai aggreit or nocht. Immediatlie thairefter Sir Robert raid to the Lord Maxwell, the Lard of Johnestoun and this deponar followand adreiche;⁶ and thaireftir, Sir Robert haveing an thort space spokin with the Lord Maxwell, they turnit towartis the Lard of Johnestoune, and the Lard of Johnestoune towartis thame; and eftir salutatioun, the Lord Maxwell, the Lard of Johnestoune, and Sir Robert, raid togidder to and fro, the said Sir Robert being in the myddis; bot quhat thai spak togidder kennis nocht, be reffoun the said Charlis and this deponar stayit about ane pair of but-landis, or thairby, from thame, as Sir Robert Maxwell had directit tham of before: And schortlie eftir that the said Charlis and this deponar had stayit pairt and findrie,⁷ the said Charlis Maxwell cummis first to this deponar, and said to this deponar, ‘ Gif I had knawin of this tryft, the Lord Maxwell nather culd nor fuld haif brocht me heir.’ The deponar anfuert, ‘ I hoip in

¹ Growing restive.

² Girths.

³ Clerk to the Privy Council.

⁴ Riding; literally, hoofing.

⁵ The end or point of his riding switch.

⁶ Leisurly, loiteringly.

⁷ Apart and separate, or asunder.

God, Charlis, 3e fall nocht rew of 3our cumming heir! For pir twa noble men hes bene lang in variance, and I hoip now 3ai fall aggrie.' Then Charlis anfuert, that 'The Lard of Johnstoune was nocht able to mak ane amendis, for the great kcyth and injurie he had done to tham!' This deponar anfuert, that 'The Lard vald cum in vill, and do to his powar to fatisfie the Lord and his freyndis.' Charlis anfuert, that 'The said thryift was onlie maid to the prejudice of the said Charlis and his freyndis, for that man' (luikand towartis the Lard of Johnstoune) 'had focht his wraik; and thairfor we fuld nocht haif met 3ow, for 3e ar all Traitouris!' The deponar anfuert, 'Charlis, say quhat 3e will 3is day, I will mak no anfuert thairto, be resoun of my maisteris promeis.' Then Charlis said, that '3e ar all Traitouris! be resoun 3e slew Francie of Carlile vnder trest.' Then this deponar anfuert, 'Say quhat 3e will this day, I will gif 3ow na anfuert; bot within ane day or twa, gif 3e will fend 3our man to me, I fall fatisfie 3ow.' And incontinent vpoun that last speiche Charlis schott ane pistolet at this deponar, and fhoit him throuche the cloik; and than this deponar preiffit to haif fhoit his awin pistolett, and it misgaif, cryand 'Treaffoun!' And the Lard, vpoun that cry, raikit fordwart from the Lord Maxwell; and then the Lord Maxwell, with his pistolett, fhoit at the Laird of Johnstoune behind his bak; at the quhilk fhoit the Lard shortlie thaireftir fell, and incontinent Charlis fhoit ane vther fhoit at the Lard and this deponar, being bayth standing togidder: And this deponar, preiffand to haif put the Lard vpoun this deponaris meir, quha throuche waiknes vas vnhable to loup on, the deponar fett the Lard vpoun the grund; and the deponar halding the Lard vp, and inquiring quhat he had to say; the Lard luikand vp to hevins and said, 'Lord haif mercie on me! Chryst haif mercie on me! I am disflavit.' Then the Lord Maxwell cryit to Charlis, 'Cum away.' Then the said Charlis anfuert, 'My Lord, will 3e ryid away, and leif this bludie theif behind 3ou?' Then the Lord anfuert, 'Quhat rak of him—for the vther hes anewche!' And then thair bayth raid away togidder.

III. (11.) CONTEMPORARY NARRATIVE of the *Escape of LORD MAXWELL and SIR JAMES MAKONEILL from the Castle of Edinburgh, taken from MS. History of Scotland.*¹

Now, my Lord Maxwell being put in ward, in the Castell of Edinbrughe, and nocht feing how he was to be releiffit, dewyffis with Schir James M^cConeill and Robert Maxwell of Dinwiddie, quhat way he and thay mycht efcheap. And on the fourt of December, he callis ane gritt number of the Keiparis of the Castell into his chalmer, quhair he drinkis theme all fow;² and desyring quhilk of thame voir the best fuord, he gaif ane fuord to Schir James M^cConeill, and heaffand ane him selff, drawis to the Chalmer dur and lokis them all in. And thay thrie passis fordwartt to the 3ett, quhilk he had cauffit ane feruand of his to keip the 3ett fra nocht cuming to;³ bot the porterris, nocht being willing to lett thame go, maid resistance: Bot my Lord Maxwell, being resolut to depairt, strak the Maister porter, and wondis him in his airme; and also findrie of the rest; and ane woman, that maid sum resistance, thay hurtt also: And vinnand out at the inner-3ett, he lopus the wall. Schir James, heaffand the irnis⁴ on him, he, lowpand the toun wall, hurttis his leg; quhairby he was nocht abill to fleir; and so was tane and brocht bak in the Castell. Bot the Lord Maxwell, heaffand horse preparitt, raid his wayis, and Robert Maxwell of Dunwody with him. Quhairat the King was werray far offenditt; and maid Proclamatioune, that nane sould refett him, wuder the payne of death. Bot Maxwell remaynand in the cuntry, thocht thatt the Laird of Johnstoune had the wyt of all his trubill: And feing that thair was (na) meanis to gett the Kingis gude will, bot be the Laird of Johnstoune moyane, quha had slayne his fader, as 3e have hard, and had cauffit the King compell him to tak him be the hand, he was in ane grit reade aganis the Lard of Johnstoune, bot buir the fame within him selff. And on the wther pairt, the Laird of Johnstoune, thinking that this wes the best tyme to winne the hairtt of my Lord Maxwell, giff (be) his meanis and trawell he mycht purches his Maieftis gude will to his lordfchip : Quhairwpone, he fendis to Schir Robert Maxwell of Orchortt-toune, kny^t, quha had mareyit the Laird of Johnestonis fifter, as, alfo, Johnestoun had mareyit his fifter, to trawell with Maxwell, to fie gif he wald fpeik with him : And quhat he wald direct him, in that turne, he wald do to the wtirmeft of his power. The quhilk the faid Schir Robert did, and brocht thame to ane meitting, the fext day of Apryll, the 5eir of God 1608 ; and Chairlly Maxwell with my Lord, and Williame Johnestoun of Lochirbie with the Laird of Johnestoun. Thay mett on the hill befyde the pleace of Ellifeheillis, the faid Schir Robert being with thame ; quhair thay, being mett, the tua ferwandis rydis a pairt off thame, leaffand my Lord and the Laird and Schir Robert ; bot, or euer thay had conferrit ony fpeace, the tua ferwandis fallis in wordis, and alfo in fehottis of pistollattis, the fame cuming be this Chairlly Maxwellis motioune : The quhilk, quhen the nobill menne feis, Johnestoun cryis, ‘Fy ! Red !’¹ and spurris to thame. And my Lord, being ryding with pistollattis, cumis behind Johnestoun and sehuttis him throw the hartt, quhairof he fallis : And yit his curragge maid him to draw his fuord ; bot being fehott neir to the hairtt, he fallis deid. The Lord Maxwell, feing him fallyn deid, giffis him na ma fraikis, bot rydis his wayis. Bot albeit he had gottin his lyff, zit he gat the fame with fehame, it being gottin wnder tryfting. Quhairfor the King eftemeit the fame as Treffoun, being done vnder tryft.

¹ Advocates' Library, A. 4. 35.² Drunk, intoxicated.³ From closing or shutting.⁴ Fetters.

IV. LETTERS from THE KING and Privy Council of Scotland relative to LORD MAXWELL.

(12.) LETTER *from THE KING to THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF SCOTLAND, as to the escape of Lord Maxwell from the Castle of Edinburgh.*²

RIGHT trustie and weilbelouit counsingis and counfallouris, We greitt 5ou weelle. The leatt efcheap of THE LORD MAXWELL furth of our Castell of Edinburgh, haveing gevein to ws moir nor juft caus of difcontentment at his foly, We have thoct meitt heirwith to direct 5ow how to proceid aganes him. And first, We will this Proclamatioun, heirwith fent, to be publeiffed at all placeis neidfull ; and that 5ow pairefter tak ordour for tryall of all reffeatares and fuppleares, and caus the extremetie of the law to be profequit aganes thame. And alfo 5ou fall, upon reffait heirof, presentlie fend chairges of Treffonne, for the randering of his Castellis and houffis, and 5ou fall put garefounes and keiparis in everie one of the fame, to be interteined vpon the rentis belonging to the houffis, wnto fuch tyme as We doe tak farder ordour thairwith. And als, our will is, that 5ou give particular directiounne to fuche as fall reffave the Castell of Lochmabene, that thay mak delyverie of the fame to our rycht trustie coifing and counfallour the Erll of Dumbar, or to ony wther quhome the faid Erll of Dumbar fall direct, with our wther Warrant, for reffaveing pairof. Furthermore, 5ou fall caus charge the principallis of the faid Lord Maxwell his name and followaris, being ony way men of mark, to find cautione and fuertie, wnder gritt pecuniall panes, that thay fall noway reffaitt, fupplie, nor intercommoune with him. 5ou fall in lyk maner geve speciall ordour to our garifoune, wnder the Lord of Scones command, and als to that wther, wnder Sir W^m Cranftounes charge, that thay mak speciall fearches, for the faid Lord Maxwell his taking and apprehending. And heirof, willing 5ou to be cairfull, and to omit nothing that may haiften ane exemplar pwneihment vpon him, for his prowde contempt, We bid 5ow fairwelle. FROM our Court at ROYSTOUNE, this 14 of Dec. 1607. [JAMES R.]

To our rycht trustie and weilbeloveit counsingis and Counfallouris, the Erll of Dumfermling, our Chancellar and remanent Lordis and otheris of our PRIVIE COUNSALL in that our Kingdome of SCOTLAND.

¹ Agree ; separate ; make up your quarrel.

² From a Collection of State Papers formed by the first Earl of Hadington (at that time Sir Thomas Hamilton), preserved in the General Register House.

(13.) LETTER *from Sir Thomas Hamilton to the King.*¹

Pleafe your moft sacred Maieftie,

KNOWING that your Maieftie will expect and requyre of me ane difcharge of my dewtie, in performing your Maiefties commandement, genuin for perfewing the LORD MAXWELL and SIR JAMES MAKONEILL, for thair treafonabill breaking wairle furth of your hienes Caftell of Edinburgh, becaus I have hard that fum, whois opinion may have place in fum of the circumftances of thair tryell, inclynes to juge, that, vnles the crymes for the whilk they wer imprifoned have bene treafonabill, that thair break of wairle can not import Treafoun, I have bene the more folift to inquire of thair vther offenfis, which may be found treafonabill of the law: And albeit the Examination and re-examination of Sir James Makoneill I have had fmall aduantage, in refpect of his refolution to deny all the poyntis of his crymes, at the Slauchter of his vnle, and taking of his parentis, whilkis might infer Treafoun; yet I hope that fufficient information fall verie fchortlie cum, of the trewth of his moft heynous and vnnatural factis, from thofe to whom my Lord Chancelar hes writtin, to that effect. As to the Lord Maxwell, I have hard of his raifing of fyre at Dalffibill, whan he flew Willie Johnftoun, callit of Efchiefchiellis and ane vther Johnftoun; bot becaus he hes fenfyne had the honour to be admitted to your Royall prefence, I wald not prefume to fummond him for that fact, whill firft I fould knaw your Maieftis mynde thairanent; the knaulege whairof fall lead me to proceid or defit. The progres of the Commiffionars at the mynes² I hope your Maieftie hes hard from thamefelis, and what I know I have writtin to my Lord of Dumbar; becaus I fand him moft defyrous to vnderftand the fucces of that whilk concernit your Maiefties feruice and contentment. Swa, attending moft humblie your Maiefties farder pleafour for my directioun, I pray God long to bleffe ws with the continuance of your moft gracious regne, and your Maieftie with all honour and wiffed contentment. ED^R, this 28 Januar, 1608.

Your moft fared Maiefties moft humbill and bundin feruand,

S. TH. HAMILTON.

(14.) LETTER *from THE KING to the Privy Council to apprehend Lord Maxwell.*³

RICHT truftie and veilbeloveit counfines and Counfallouris, We great 5ow weell. We ar informed that, notwithstanding of the treffonable fact committit be the Lord Maxwell in efchaiping fourth of our Caftell of Edinburgh, and in forcing and hurting of the keipares and poirtaris of the fame, and of our fpeciall commandis and Proclamatiounes fend doune for his taking and apprehending, that, nevertheles, in plane contempt of our authoritie, that he oppinley travellis throuche the countrie, acenmpaigneid with no fewar than twentie horfe, and hes mead his repaire, at fyndrie tymes, to our burgh of Drumfreis; quibiche infolence is no way tollerabill, and fkairfe excuffabill one 5our pairtis, that ony of our declarit tratouris fould affume to theme felffis fo mutche libertie, without controlment. And thairfoir, our pleafour and will is, that vpoun refait heirof, 5ow direct that our Gaird, vnder the command of the Lord of Scoone, to repair to the burgh of Dumfreis, and thare, with that Gaird, vnder Sir W^a Craufounes chairge, to make a prefent diligent fearchie for the faid Lord Maxwell, and either to apprehend him or put him out of thofe boundis. Thairwith alfo the Baillies of Drumfreis wald be chairgit to compeir befor 5ow, and if 5ow can try any thing of thair knowledge of the faid Lord Maxwellis being in thair toune, We ar to will 5ow to inflict ane exemplare pwneithment vpone thame, baith by fynning and wairding. And als, 5ow ar to proceid in rigoure, according to the warrant of our lawis aganes all refleattares and accompaniaris of the faid Lord, that fo wtheris may be affrayed frome coming within the compas of the lyk contempe. And, remitting thofe matteris to 5our fpeciall cair, We bid 5ow fairweill. AT our Palice of QUIHYTHALL, the 2 of Feb^r^y, 1608. [JAMES R.]

¹ From the original, preserved among the Denmylne MSS. Adv. Library.

² At this period the King was deluding himself as to the discovery of silver mines, &c.

³ From Haddington MS. General Register House.

(15.) EXTRACT from Letter, the Privy Council to the King,¹ relative to Lord Maxwell, &c.

MOIST SACREID SOVERAGNE,

WE have hard, to our gritt greiff and forrow, by the report of your Ma. Secretare and be the In-structiones committit be your moist sacred Ma. to his credeit, how far your hienes is discontented with the governament of this Estaitt, as of the hail misfordouris and accidentis that fallis out heir. . . .

As to the particular prosecuting of the Lord Maxwellis reffettares, thair is a number of thame callit, fynned, and wairdit. The rest ar fummondid to particular dyettis, and falbe pwneifchid. As to the particular Slauchter of Cowhill, that feid is weall knawin to your Ma^{tie}, and no complemt of it maid by ony to the Counfall, and these brether of Kirkhoufe had alwyis favour, bot not for the Coun-fall; and the committer of it is come in England. And quhairas your Ma. is informed, that these who wer appoynted to prosecute the Lord Maxwell hes keipit companie with him, theafe that hes commandement of your Ma^s Guairdis humlie craves tryall of that calunnie; as alsua, that that Cove, quhilk is the allegit place of his reffeat, may be designed; for we cannot find any countrie man that knavis any place in Nithisdail or Galloway that careyis that name.

The tryall of that royat, at Drumfres, wes wnder tryall befor your Ma. directioun cam, and falbe prosecuted with all regour.

The buriall of the Lord Maxwell wes a calunnie quhairwith many mo (than) your Ma. is importuned; for he lyeis still wburied quhair he wes. And lykwayis the slauchter of Johnestoune of How-gill ves alyk false.²

AL. CANCELLS. LOTHEANE. VCHILTRE. BALMERINCH. SCONE. HALIRUDHOUS.
S. T. HAMILTONE. BEULIE. COMPTROLLER. JO. PRESTOUN.

(16.) LETTER, the Privy Council to the King, for Instructiones.³

MOST GRACIOUS SOUERANE,

ACCORDING to your Maiesteis directioun, We wryte for the Laird of Johnnstoun, his moder and goode dame, to vnderstand of thame, gif thay wald persist in the persute of that Petitioun, exhibite vnto your Maiesteie in thair names, whairby thay craved iustice to be execute vpon the sforfeyted Lord Maxwell, for the Slauchter of the laite Laird of Johnnstoun? Thay come all to this burgh, and the Laird of Johnnstoun, with his moder and Tutour, presentit thame selffis before ws, and declairit that they wald insift in that persute and prosecution of that mater, according to the tennour of thair Petitioun. The auld Lady Johnnstoun, through seiknes and inhabilitie of hir persone, being vnable to compeir before ws, haueing, with grite difficultie, come to this burgh for this fame errand, we directit and send the Bischop of Caithnes, the Lord Kildrymmie and Lord Preuey Seale to hir, to vnderstand hir will and pleafoure in this mater; vnto quhome scho declairit, that scho come heir purpofelie for that mater, and that scho wald insift, accoirding to the tennour of the Petitioun; sua that now thair restis no farder bot your Maiesteis will and pleafoure to be declairit, quhat forder your Maiesteie will haif to be done; wherein, althocht the conclusioun of your Maiesteis Lettre beiris, that we sould proceed to the administratioun of iustice, 3itt, in respect of a worde cassin in the preface of the Lettre, beiring that your Maiesteie had not as 3itt gevin a direct ansuer to thair Petitioun, we haif presomed, first, to acquint your Maiesteie afoir we proceed ony forder; and whateuir it fall pleis your Maiesteie to direct, in this mater, falbe immediatlie and without delay execute. Thair was a Petitioun gevin in this day vnto ws be Robert Maxwell, bruthir to the said laite Lord, with some offeris to the partie; bot, becaus the mater concernit not ws, we wald not mell thairin; alwyse, we haif heirwith send the fame to your ¹ From the Haddington MS. General Register House. The remainder of the Letter (which is very long) relates to a great variety of subjects, entirely unconnected with each other. ² The date of this Letter is omitted, but it must be between Apr. 28 and May 9, 1608. ³ From Original Dennyhne MSS. Advocates' Library.

Maiestie, to be confidderit of as your Maiestie shall think goode. So, praying God to blisse your Maiestie with all happynes and felicitie, we rest

ED^R, 28 Aprile, 1613.

Your Maiesteis maist obedant subiectis and seruitouris,

AL. CANCELL^S. HAMILTON. MAR. GLENCAIRNE. ALEX^R HAY. LINLY^TGW. GLASGOW. KINGORNE.

TO THE KING his most sacred and excellent Maiestie.

V. (17.) OFFERS OF SUBMISSION by LORD MAXWELL for the Settlement of all differences between him and the surviving relatives of SIR JAMES JOHNSTONE *of that Ilk, knight.*¹

THIR OFFERRIS following ar maid be me, Johnne, sumtyme Lord Maxwell, for my selff, and in name of my kyn and freindis, to _____, now Laird Johnstoun, and his Tutouris and Curatouris, Dame Sara Maxwell Ladie Johnstoun, younger for the tyme, his mother, Dame Margaret Scott Ladie Johnstoun, elder, his guddame, and to thair kyn and freindes, for the vnhappie Slauchter of vmq^{le} Schir James Johnstoun of that Ilk, kny^t, committit be me.

IN THE FIRST, I humblie confes my offens to God, the Kingis Maiestie, and to the foirfaidis perfones, for the said vnhappie slauchtir, and declairis my selff to be maist penitent thairfoir; craveing first, mercie at the Almihty God for the same, nixt, favour and grace of the Kingis Ma^{tie}, my fouerane lord, and forgifnes of the great offens done to the foirfaidis perfones; testifeing be my soleme aith, vpone my saluatioun and condempnatioun, that the foirfaid vnhappie slauchter was nawayis committit be me vpone foirthocht felonie or fett purpois, bot vpone meir accident: Lyk as, for cleiring thairof, I am content to purge my selff be my greit aith in publict, quhair it pleiffis the parteis to appoint, and do quhat farder homage salbe thocht expedient.

SECUNDLIE, I am content, not onlie for my selff, bot for my haill kyn and freindis, to forgiff the slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Lord Maxwell, my fathir, committit be the said vmq^{le} Laird of Johnnestoun and his complices, and to mak all perfones quha wes ather gyltie, culpabill, or airt and pairt of the said slauchter, in securitie thairfoir, sua that thair nor nane of thame fall nevir be trublit for the same be me, nor be nane of my kyn and freindis, directly nor indirectly, in tyme cuming; and, for that effect, fall mak sik forme of securitie as fall agrie with reasonn.

THRIDLIE, becaus Johnstoun, dochter to the said vmq^{le} Sir James, wes; by the suddant and vnhappie Slauchter of hir said vmq^{le} fathir, left vnprovydit of ane sufficient tocher, and for the better avoyding of all inimitie that may arryfe betuix the houffis of Maxwell and Johnstoun, and for mair sair establisching of freindschip amangis thame in tyme cuming, I am content to marie and tak to my wyffe the said, without ony tochir.

FOURLIE, I defyte that the Laird of Johnstoun may be mareit to Dame Maxwell, eldest dochtir to Johne Lord Hereis, and sifter dochtir to me, quha is a person of lyke aige with the Laird of Johnstone. Lyk as, I salbe obleift to pay to the said Laird of Johnstoun, in name of tochir with my said sifter dochtir, tuentie thowfand merk Scottis; and quhat farder salbe thocht expedient, be the sicht of freindis.

FYFTLIE and last, I am content, for the farder satisfioun of the house of Johnstoun, to be Banischt his Maiesteis dominions, for the space of fevin 3eiris, and farder at the will and plesour of the Laird of Johnstoun.

Thir Offeris to be angmentit, at the sicht and discretioun of newtrall freindis, to be chofyn to that effect. Vnder protestatioun alwayis, that thir Offerris befor wryttin, maid vnto the pairtie, be nawayis offensue to the Kingis Maiestie, nor to his hienes Counfall.

¹ From Sir James Balfour's MS. Collections, Advocates' Library.

VI. (18.) SUPPLICATION by ROBERT MAXWELL, brother to John, sometime Lord Maxwell, to THE LORDS OF PRIVY COUNCIL, to intercede with THE KING, *and with the private prosecutors, &c.*¹

MY LORDIS OF COUNSAILL, vnto your l. humble menis and schawis your l. fervitour, Robert Maxwell, brothir to Johnne, sumtyme Lord Maxwell: That quhair, it is not vnknawin to your l. the miserabill estait of my said brothir, be the offences committit be him, to his God, the Kingis Maiestie, to the Marques of Hammiltoun and that name, and to the Laird of Johnnestoun and his freindis, besyde manifold vperis misbehaviouris; for þe quhilkis (being now, throw his miserabill estait, brocht to þe knowlege þair of) he moit humblic cravis mercie of God, favour and grace of his Maiestie his Prince, and forgifnes of his offence done to the Marques of Hammiltoun and his freindis, and to the Laird of Johnnestoun and his freindis: Lyk as, for cleiring of his penitencie for þe offence committit be him in Slauchter of þe Laird of Johnnestoun, he, with all humbilnes of mynd, is maist willing to mak satisfacioune to the partie; vnder protestatioun, that the offer of satisfacioune to þe partie fuld nawayis be offensive to his Ma^{tie} nor your l. And his hail freindis haifing, for þat effect, caufet pen certane Offeris in his name, to haif bene presentit to the Laird of Johnnestoun, his moþir, and guddame, and for presenteng thair of, haifing desyrit and eirnistlie entreitit certane of þe Ministrie of Ed^r, and sum of the Bischopis to haif presentit the same; thai and all vper men of qualitie hes alluterlie refusit þe same, without þai had your l. Warrant for þat effect: Sa þat now þair restis na menis quhairby þe Offeris may cum to þe pairteis handis, except your (l.) will athir appoint sum perfones to present the same, or vperwayis that your (l.) wald convene þe partie befor your l., that þe same, in your l. audiens, may (be) red and delyuerit to þame. HEIRFOIR, I maist humblic besaik your (l.) to haif consideratioun of þe premisses, and þat your l. wald gif directioun to sum of þe Ministrie of þis burgh to present þe said Offeris, or vperwayes, that your (l.) wald call þe partie in your presens, to þe effect foirsaid. And sielyk, that it nicht pleis your l. to acquent þe Kingis Maiestie, our souerane, of þe willingnes of my proper, both to satisfie þe pairteis offendit, and maist humblic, and with all dewtifull obediens, to submit him selff in his Maiesteis handis:—And your l. ansuer.

VII. NOTICES relative to LORD MAXWELL'S EXECUTION, his behaviour and dying Confessions on the Scaffold, &c.

(19.) ACCOUNT *taken from the Denmylne MSS.*²

VPOUN the xvij^o of this monethe adverteifment being maid be the balzies of Ed^r to the late Lord Maxwell, that vpon the nixt Fryday, xxj of this Maij, justice wes to be excuted vpon him, at the mercat croce of this burgh of Edinburghe, and he willed to prepair his conscience and dispoise him selff to die, he professit to thame his willingnes to abyde the pleafour of God and his Prince, and obtenit Licence of the Counfall that fuche ane number of his freindis nicht haue accessse to speik with him, as he fuld requyre, by name. He had diuerse conferences with findrie of them, in presens of ane of the Balzies, bot refusit to ressaue ony assistance or confort from the Ministeris, professing him selff not to be of thair Religioun, bot ane Catholik Romane; wherby, it being foirsene be the balzies of the toun and wtheris, that gif he fuld at his death enter in any discourse of that subiect befor the people, it nicht breid offence and selander, he wes desyrit, and yelded to bind him selff, be promise, to forbear at his death all mentioun of his particular opinioun of Religioun, except the professioun of Cristianitie; whiche he senfyne repented, as he declared to the balzies, when they wer bringing him to the scaffald, whare he declared that as he had iustlie deseruit his death, so he wes reddie patientlie to suffer it, asking mercie of God for his sinnis, and hartlie wishing that his Maiestie nicht be gratioutlie pleased to accept his lyf and blood as ane different¹ punishment of his offences; and to relent, and remoue his wrathe from his brother and hous, being pleiffed to restore his brother to the rank and place of his predeceffoure, where he nicht, and, as he hoped, wald, do his Maiestie guid and faithfull seruice, as his fairbearis had done to his Maiesties Royall progenitouris. Nixt, he askit forgiuenes of the Laird of Johnestoun, his mother, grandmother and freindis, acknawelegeing the wrong and harme done to theme, with protestatioun that it wes without dishonour or infamie (for the worldlie pairt of it—for so wer these his wordis reported to me.) He lykwayis crawled pardoun of Polloke, Calderwode, and his wther freindis, being present, acknaweleging, that whare as he was borne to haue bene authour of thair honour and faiftie, he had procured to thame hairme and diseredit. And then he retired him selff neir the block, and maid his prayeris to God; which being ended, he tuike his live of his freindis, and of the balzies of the toune; and, suffering his eyes to be covered with ane handcourchef, offered his head to the axe, and suffered deathe, the xxj of Maij, at four a cloke in the efternone.

¹ From the Denmylne MSS., Advocates' Library.

² Advocates' Library.

(20.) NOTICE from Minutes of the Privy Council.²

Maij 18, 1613. Ane Warrant past and expd to the Prouest and Balzies of Edinburghe, to tak the lait Lord Maxuell to thair mercat croce, vpoun the xxj of this instant, and thair to caus strik his head from his body. The delay of tua dayis wes thocht meit to be grantit, to the effect he nicht haue leafer to be resolued; and that the Ministeris nicht haue tyme to confer with him, for his better resolutioun.

(21.) NOTICE preserved by Calderwood.³

THE Lord Maxwell was beheaded at the mercate cross of Edinburgh, betuixt three and four after noone. He died confortlesse, having none of the Ministrie present to pray for him, or make exhortation to him or the people. He desired them not, neither was he content to receive informatione from them tuiching his Religione. This executione was procured be the Laird of Johnstons friends, specially be Sir Robert Ker, Erle of Rochester, the chief guider of the Court at that time. Papists, nevertheless, tooke boldness to profess their Religione, in fundry parts of the country; for it was well known to them, that Maxwell suffered not for his Papistry.

(22.) NOTICE by Sir James Balfour.⁴

THE 21 day of this mounth, Johne Lord Maxwell of Caerlauerock, was takin from the Tolbuith of Edinburghe to the mercat Croffe of the same, quher, on a scaffold, he had his head chopped offe from his bodey, for the slaughter of the Laird of Jhonstone.

Slaughter.

JUN. 28.—HENRIE BLAK, Capitane of the Castell of Kirkwall (Orkney), William Kirknes, Robert Hammiltoun, Williame Davidfoun, alias Liericcok, Magnus Bankis, alias Johnnestoun, Ar^d Dundas, Magnus Draver, Gilbert Brabner, fudartis,⁵ and keiparis of the hous of Grencroft; Johnne Reid in Selfkarie, Gilbert Blak in Farray, Malcolm Mowat in Etha, and James Mowat, thair.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vinq^{le} Donald Grote, (of Wairis,) Walter Grote, and James Stewin, all in Duncanifbey.

¹ Sufficient?

² Minutes of Privy Council Proceedings, Dennylne MSS., Adv. Library.

³ MS. Church History, Adv. Library.

⁴ Balf. Ann. II, 42.

⁵ Soldiers.

Williame Sinclair of Etha, oftymes callit, as cautioner for repoirting the Letteris duellie execute and indorfate and perfewing thair of, purchest be Margaret Grote, the relict of vmq^{le} Donald, Malcolme, his sone, Johnne Grote, brother to vmq^{le} Walter, and Allafter Stewin, as brother-sone to vmq^{le} James Stewin.

Compeirit Mr Johnne Mansoun, seruitour to my Lord of Cathnes (Caitness), and producet ane Warrant of the Lordis of Secret Counfall, anent the deserting of this dyet; quhair of the tennour followis.

JUSTICE, Justice clerk and your deputis. Forfamekill as the xxvij day of Junij instant is appointit to Henrie Blak, Malcolme Mowat, Williame Kirknes, and certane vperis pair complices, tennentis and servandis to þe ERLE OF ORKNAY, for pair compeirance befor ȝow, to vnderly the law for þe Murthour of vmq^{le} Donald Grote of Wairis, and sum vtheris, tennentis and servandis to þe ERLE OF CAITHNES: And feing, all differences and questiones standing betuix the saidis Erles of Orknay and Caithnes ar reconciliat and agreit, except þe said Murthour, the perfute quhair of, be baith the saidis Erles consentis, is continewit to ane vper dyet, to be persewit, aper befor þe Justice or his deputis in the bur^t of Ed^r, or in Caithnes. Thairfoir, theas ar to command ȝow to desert þe said dyet, and desit fra all proceeding pairin; dispensing with the personall compeirance of þe pairtie. Quhairanent thir presentis falbe ȝour Warrant. Subferyuit with our handis, ATT ED^r, þe xxvij day of Junij, 1609.

AL. CANCELL^{RIUS}. DUMBAR.

The Justice Desertit the said dyet: Quhairvpoune the said Mr Johnne askit instrumentis; and protestit for the said Williame Sinclair of Etha, his releif of his cautionerie; quhilk the Justice admittit.

Burning the Place of Littlegill — Slaughter — Stouthreif — Horse and Cattle-Stealing, &c.

Aug. 9.—THOMAS JARDANE of Birnok, and Vmphra Jardane his sone.¹

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Tuedie of Southwoid, . . . Broun of Coulter, Williame Campbell of Walwoid: And certain other crymes of Thift, &c.

PERSEWARIS, Elspeth Bailzie, mother to vmq^{le} Johnne Tuedie; Bessie and Sibilla Tuedeis, his sisteris; Robert Tuedie, his brother; Williame Broun, brother to vmq^{le} Robert Broun; Williame Broun, as sone to the said Robert; Mathow Bailzie, brother to vmq^{le} Alexander Bailzie; and as fader to vmq^{le} Rachael Bailzie, persewis Vmphra Jardane allanerlie; Charles Campbell of Horfclench, neir kynfman to vmq^{le} Williame Campbell of Walwoid; Hew Campbell of Garallane, for himself; Johnne Farquhar in Cavill, for himself; George Slowane in Knokburne, for himself; Williame Campbell, as sone to the said vmq^{le} Williame; Charles Murray, for himself. Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnies, kn^t, Aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hienes entreis.

PRELOCOUTOURIS for the pannell, The Laird of Lamnyngtoun, The Laird of Carmichell, The Laird of Covington, Williame Carmichell of Rownetricorfe, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Aduocat.

DITTAY against Thomas Jardane.

FOR airt and pairt with the said Vmphra, his sone, of the tressonabill Raifeing of ffyre, burning and distroying of the Place of Littlegill, with the baill offices, houffes, barnes, insicht and pleniffing, being thairintill, worth the fowme of ffyve thowfeand pundis; committit vpon the faxyt day of July, I^m.V^c.

¹ See Jul. 30, Aug. 9, and Nov. 5, 1605.

fourfour nyne zeiris: And of the tressonabill burning to deid, at that same tyme, within the said Place, of vmq^{le} Alexander Bailzie of Littilgill, Rachaell, dochter to Matthow Bailzie, now of Littilgill, Andro Achiefoun and Katharene Forrest, ordiner fervendis to the said vmq^{le} Alexander, within the said place. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Robert Broun in Coulter; committit be the saidis Thomas and Vmphra, in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfoir faxtene yeiris, vpone the Grene of Coulter, with schottis of hagbuttis and pistolettis. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling of the hors, pryce of the peice ane hundreth pundis; with ane grit ox, pryce thairof fyftie merkis, pertening to Williame Broun in Coulter; committit be him and the said Vmphra, his sone, at Mertines, or thairby, in the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfoir faxtene yeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the Slauchter of Johnne Tuedie of Southwoid, committit be the said Thomas and Vmphra his sone, vpone Harlaw-mure, befyde St Ninianes Kirk, in the moneth of July, I^m.Vj^c. yeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the Steilling of faxtene scheip furth of the landis of Scornefald, pertening to Johnnestoun, put be him vpone the saidis landis in girseing; committit be the said Thomas and Vmphra his sone, in the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. yeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the thiftious Steilling, at the leift refetting of faxtene stowin scheip, stowin at his command be vmq^{le} James Thomefoun his man, in the moneth of November, in the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxxix yeiris. AND ffor Cowmoun Thift, and Cowmoun Resset of Thift, fra land to land, fra cuntrie to cuntrie, baith of auld and new; preceeding the nynt day of Maj, I^m.Vj^c. and fyve yeiris.

DITTAY against Vmphra Jardane.

INDYTIT, accuset and persewit of the crymes perticulerlie aboue writtin: And als, accuset and persewit of the crymes respectiue and perticulerlie following, viz. FOR airt and pairt of the Steilling of ellevin nolt, price of the peice ten pundis, pertening to Johnne Farquhair in Cavill, furth of his duelling hous thairof; committit be the said Vmphra and his complices, in the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and tua yeiris. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the Steilling of ane hors and ane meir, price of the peice ane hundreth merkis, fra George Slowane in Knokburne, furth of his duelling hous thairof; committit be the said Vmphra and his complices, vnder silence and clud of nycht, in the moneth of Junij, the yeir of God I^m. fax hundreth and foure yeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the taking fra William Craufurd in Silliehoillis, furth of his duelling hous in Silliehoillis, of ane naig, pryce thairof fyftie pundis; committit be him and the said Thomas his father, in the yeir of God I^m. fax hundreth and thre yeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the thiftious Steilling, be way of maisterfull Thift and Stouth-reif, fra Charles Murray, of tua hors, price of the peice, ane hundreth merkis; togidder with his cloik, suord, pistolettis, steilbonet, and purse, with threfcoir pundis, being thairin; committit be the said Thomas and Vmphra Jardanes, vpone the Brokin-calfay, betuix Davieschaw and Littilgill, in the yeir of God I^m.V^c fourfoir fevintene yeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling fra Hew Campbell, sone to Hew Campbell in Garallane, furth of his landis of Eistmark;¹ committit be the said Vmphra and his complices, in the 5eir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxxix yeiris.

For the quhilkis crymes respectiue aboue writtin, the saidis Thomas and Vmphra Jardanes tuik thamefelfis to our souerane lordis Remiffioun, producet be thame, vnder his hienes Grit feill, of the dait the nynt day of May, the yeir of God I^m. fax hundreth and fyve yeiris. Quhilk Remiffioun the Justice admittit.

LYK AS, the said Thomas Jardane, elder of Birnok, being indytit and accuset,

FOR putting handis in vmq^{le} James Thomefoun, his man, binding of him hand and fute; and at his awin hand, bot² ordour of Law or ony Commiffioun gevin to him, drownet and execute to daith the faid vmq^{le} James Thomefoun, his man, in Robertoun burne; and sa, is and was airt and pairt of his daith and slauchter; committit in the moneth of November, the yeir of God I^m. fyve hundreth fourfoir nyntene yeiris. ITEM, ffor Cowmone Thift, Cowmone Reffet of Thift, outputing and inputting of Thift, fra land to land, fra cuntrie to cuntrie, at dyuerse tymes, sen the moneth of May, in the yeir of God I^m. sax hundreth and fyve yeiris; quhilk is the dait of his Remiffioun. AND SICLYK, the faid Vmphra Jardane his sone, being indyttit and accufet, ffor airt and pairt of Steilling of ane broun horfe of four yeir auld, price ane hundreth merkis, fra Andro Slowane in Laneheid, furth of the landis of Watterheid in Cumnok, in the moneth of Junij, I^m.Vj^c. and fyve yeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the Steilling fra Williame Rankene of ane gray hors, pryce thairof I^c li. furth of the landis of Boigcorroche; committit in the moneth of Junij, I^m.Vj^c. and fyve yeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling of fourfoir hogis,¹ price of the peice fyftie schillingis, furthe of the landis of Woulferuikis, within the barronie of Douglas, pertening to the Erle of Angus and his tenntentis; committit in the moneth of October, the yeir of God I^m.Vj. and sax yeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Williame Campbell of Walwoid; committit be him and his complices, at the Kirk of Douglas, be hurting him, deidlie, in his heid and vtheris pairtis of his body, in the moneth of October, or thairby, I^m.Vc. and foure yeiris; at the leift, sen the yeir of God I^m. fyve hundreth fourfoir fevintene zeiris; quhair of he depairtit this lyfe, in the moneth of I^m.Vj^c. and sax yeiris thairefter. ITEM, ffor Cowmone Thift and Reffet of Thift, &c. sen the dait of his faid Remiffioun, viz. the nynt day of Majj, I^m.Vj^c. and ffyve yeiris.

¹ The articles stolen are not detailed in the Record. ² Without.

THE pannell and thair preloquuntouris declarit thay will nocht feik delay, nochtwithftanding thay ar nocht fummond, and hes nocht gottin ane copie. Quhairvpoun my Lord Aduocat askit instrumentis.—The pannell askit instrumentis, that na partie competent to perfew thame, bot the perfonis aboue writtin.

The Advocat allegit that Mr Johnne Ruffell can nocht be hard to compeir and defend, becaus the pannell ar att the horne.—It is anfuerit, that defensio est juris naturalis; and thay haif obtenit ane delyuerance of Relaxatioun (from the horn) —The Aduocat in the contrar, becaus he producet Hoirning aganis the pannell. —The Aduocat passis fra the allegance.

The pannell allegis, that na proces can be led aganis thame, for ony cryme committit be thame, preceding the moneth of Majj Vj^c. and fyve; becaus his Maiestie hes grantit thame ane Remiffioun, for all crymes committit be thame before the faid moneth. Quhilk Remiffioun thay produceit; and tuik instrumentis thairvpoun; and this but² preiudice of thair defence aganis ony vther cryme.—Allegis the Aduocat, this Remiffioun can nocht fatisfie for the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Tuedie; becaus it is gewin only to Alexander Jarden; nixt, becaus it is grantit vpoun ane fals cause, viz. vpoun satisfioun of partie, quhilk is nocht; for the mother, or brother, and the sifteris of Johnne Tuedie ar nocht fatisfieit. —The Aduocat askis instrumentis, that the pannell vfis the Remiffioun for the haill crymes contenit in the Dittay, preceding the dait of the Remiffioun.

It is allegeit, that the Remiffioun is null, be Act of Parliament, quhair the pairtie is nocht fatisfieit; and na cryme contenit in the Remiffioun is fatisfieit.—

¹ Young sheep of a year old, or unshorn.

² Without.

The Pannell anfueries, that the Remiffioun standis ; and thay ar content to find Cautioun to fatisfie the pairtie.

Allegis the Aduocat, the Remiffioun can nocht be extendit to Williame Campbell ; becaus it is provydit, that itt fould nocht extend to ony Slauchter, bot thais quhilk ar committit fen the fourfcoir aughtene yeiris.¹—The Aduocat askis instrumentis, that Mr Johne Ruffell grantis the Slauchter ; bot it wes committit befor the fourfcoir and aughtene yeiris.—It is allegeit, that the Slauchter of Williame Campbell can nocht be putt to ane Affyfe ; becaus thay offer to prove that he levit tua yeiris eftir his hurting ; and that he fall offer to be verifeit to the Affyfe, that he reparit to kirk and mercat, be the fpace of twa yeiris eftir his hurting.

The quhilk day, Sir Alexander Jardene of Apilgirth, togidder with Thomas Jarden of Birnok, and Vmphy Jarden becom fouerteis, coniunctlie and feuerallie, to fatisfie all parteis for the quhilkis the faidis Thomas and Vmphy vft Remiffioun, as Law will.

The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the fweiring of that poynt of Dittay, anent the Slauchter of Williame Campbell ; fuorne be Williame Campbell his fone.

QUHILKIS feuerall crymes, aboue writtin, being nawayis comprehendit vnder the faid Remiffioun, and haillilie² denyit be the faid Thomas and Vmphyra to be of veritie, the Justice referit to the knowlege of ane Affyfe of the perfones following.

ASSISA.⁵

James Tailziefeir, in Strangcleuch, ⁴	Williame McCall of Boighous,	Mairtene Mure, in Boigend,
Williame Wallace of Wallacetoun,	George Dunbar of Knokfchyn-	Williame Chamlay, in Nethirtoun,
Johne Broun, in Schaw,	noche,	Mungo Reid of Drumfork,
James Tailziefeir, in Abingtoun,	Anthone Couthird, 3ounger, in	Johne Robfoun, in Craigheid,
James Wallace of Boigheid,	Nethirtoun,	Johne Wilfoun, in Crnik,
Jo. Makmorrane, elder of Glaspen,	Williame Craufurd, in Creoch,	Johne Thomefoun, in Bankend,
Ja ^s Makmorrane, y ^r of Glaspen,	Dauid Durie of Hielare,	Patrik Wilfoun, in Craig.

The Aduocat askis instrumentis of the fvering of the Affyfe ; lyk as, the perfewaris and defendaris, hinc inde, Proteftis aganis the Affyfe for Errour, gif thai follow nocht thair knowlege in this matter.

VERDICT. The Affyfe, be the mouth of the faid Dauid Durie of Hiellar, chauceiler, in prefens of the Justice and Lordis of his Maieftis Previe Counfall, thair present, ffand, pronunceit and declairit, be pluralitie of voittis, the faid Thomas Jardane elder of Birnok, to be ffylet, culpable and convict of airt and pairt of the drowning and puting to daith of the faid James Thomefoun, his man, committit be him in maner and at the tyme fpecifeit in his Dittay : AND the faid Vmphyra Jardane to be ffylet, culpable and convict of airt and pairt of the Slauch-ter of v^mq^le Williame Campbell of Walwoid, committit fen the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir fevintene yeiris ; in maner contenit in his Dittay : AND ficylk, ffsand, pronuncet and declairit the faidis Thomas and Vmphra, to be Clene, Innocent and Acquit of the remanent crymes contenit in the faid Dittay, nocht comprehendit vnder the faid Remiffioun, viz. of the Steilling of the faid Andro Slowanes browne hors, of the quhyte-gray hors pertening to Williame Rankene, and of the steilling of the faidis fourfcoir hogis ; in maner, and at the tyme contenit in the faid Dittay : And ficylk, of Commone Thift and Cowmone Reffet of Thift, &c. fen the faid nynt day of May, I^m.Vj^c. and ffyve yeiris.

¹ Since the year 1598. ² Wholly. ⁵ This Assise, nineteen in number, is one of the largest which the Editor recollects to have observed as being sworn and officiating on any Criminal Trial, in Scotland. ⁴ ' Straukla,' in another place.

SENTENCE. For the quhilkis tua Slauchteris, contenit in thair convictioun aboue fpecifiet, committit be thame, as faid is, the Justice, be the mouth of Johnne Laufone, dempfter of Court, decernit and ordanit the faidis Thomas and Vmphra to be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburghe, and thair heidis to be ftrukin frome thair bodeyis ; and thair hail guidis, geir, inficht and pleniffing, to be efcheit and inbrocht to his Maiefteis vfe, as culpable and convict of the tua Slauchteris aboue fpecifeit. Quhilk was pronuncet for dome.

Hamesucken—Remembrance.

Sep. 14.—ANDRO HENDERSONE, fone of v^mq^le Johnne Henderfoun, merchand burges of Edinburghe.

Dilaitit, accufet and perfewit of the crymes contenit in the DITTAY vnderwrittin.

FORSAMEKILL, as ye, haifing confauct ane deidlie feid, rancour and malice aganis Williame and Adame Montgomeris, tua honest men, merchandis burgefis of Edinburghe, for concuring, affifting, mantening and fortifeing of David Johnneftoun, ane of the Bailleis of the faid bur^t, in the executioun of his office, in the taking and apprehending of yow at your motheris hous, about ten oulkis¹ fyne or thairby, for the crewall and fchamefull hurting and wounding of . . . Harper, than your motheris fervand, in the heid, to the grit effufioun of hir bluid ; ye, in revenge of the Law, haveing ferchet and focht the faid Williame Montgomerie dyuerfe tymes at the yet² of his duelling hous, be way of Hamesuckin for his flauchter, leitlie, vpoun the fecund day of September instant, being bodin in feir of weir,³ with ane grit battoun and ane fuord, awaittit the faidis Williame and Adame Montgomeris in Libbertones-wynd-heid, at the yet of the faid Williames duelling hous thair, as thay war, in fober and quyet maner for the tyme, cumand frome thair mercheand-buthes, a littell afoir aucht houres at evin, hame, towardis the faid Williames duelling hous, dreidand na evill, harme, iniurie, or perfute of ony perfones, within sic ane reformet toun, bot to haif levit vnder Godis peax and our fouerane lordis : And thair ye, vnder nycht, fet vpone thame, and crewallie invaidit thame for thair Slauchter, frak at the faid Adame with the faid battoun, preiffing to haif ftrukin him thairwith in the heid, and to haif fellit him : Quhilk ye had nocht failzeit to haif done, war nocht, be the Providence of God, he drew his dager, for defence of his lyfe ; vpone the quhilk⁴ ye brak the faid battoun. And finding yow difapoyntit of your firft intioun, quhilk was to haif ftrukin the faid Adame in the heid with ane battoun, ye thaireftir drew your fuord, and of new fett vpone him, and crewallie invaidit him for his flauchter, hurt and woundit him thairwith in the left hand, to the effufioun of his bluid in grit quantitie ; and

¹ Weeks.

² Gate.

³ Arrayed or provided in warlike manner.

⁴ Upon which dagger.

hes demembrit him of thre fingaris of his left hand ; committit be way of Hamefuckin and brigancie, vnder silence and clud of nycht, vpon set purposis, prouisioun, precogitat malice and foirthocht felonie : And ye ar airt and pairt of the saidis crymes, committit in maner foirfaid : In hie and manifest contemptioun of our soverane lordis autoritie and lawis, in evill exampill of vtheris to commit the lyk barbarus, crewall and inciull crymes and offences, within ane reformat cite, gif ye be nocht rigoroullie pwneist thairfore, be ane seuere and examplarie pwneishment, conforme to the lawis and practik of this realme. To the taikin,¹ ye, estir the committing of the said crewall fact, fled vp the Hie-gait to the Over-bow,² quhair ye was apprehendit with the drawin bludie fuord in your hand, and was committit to waird, within the Tolbuth of Edinburgh, quhairin ye haif remanit, in the irnes, quhill now that ye ar brocht to the bar, to be tryit and pwneischet as said is.

PERSEWARIS, Adame Montgomerie, Williame and Alex^r, his brothers, Sir Thomas Hammiltoun, &c.

PRELOCUTORIS in defence, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Oliver Colt, younger, Mr James Halyday.

My Lord Aduocat passis fra that poynt of Dittay of Mutilatioun, pro loco et tempore ; and infistis vpon the Dismembring.

It is allegit, that the dismembring of ane finger, tua, or thre, aucht not to be put to the tryell of ane Assyse, quia non est crimen ; et digitus non est membrum, sed tantum pars membri ; and for verificatioune thair of, allegit the lawis and textis of Julius Clarus, and the Ciuill Law.—It is ansuerit, aucht to be repellit. in respect of the Dittay and daylie practik of this judgement.

THE Justice findis proces ; and repellis the allegeance.

The pannell acceptis the Dittay ; and takis instrumentis of the conclusioun of the Dittay, beirand puneishment conforme to the lawis of this realme.—It is allegit, that gif ony dismembring was done be the pannell, (nocht granting the samyn,) that the samyn was done in his awin defence ; in sa far as thair was tua persewaris of him, viz. Adame Montgomerie and his brother, the ane haifing ane battoun, and the vther ane dager ; and thairfoir, the fact lybellit, done be the pannell, was lauchfull.—It is ansuerit be the Aduocat, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay.—The pannell desyres the persewer, present at the bar, to geve his aithe, quhidder the pannell did the hurt to him in the pannellis defence ; or gif the pannell persewit him first ; quhairupoun the Aduocat askit (instrumentis.)

Adame Montgomerie, present, vpon his grit ayth, declairit, that Andro Henderfoun was the first fetter vpon him, in his brotheris clofe, at his ganging hame to his hous ; quhair, with ane battoun, he inuidit the deponer, of purposis to haif fellit him thairwiith ; quhilk the deponer foirseing,³ drew his dager and kepit⁴ the straik of his battoun thairupoun : And thairupoun and thaireftir, Andro Henderfoun steppit bak and drew his fuord ; at quhilk tyme, the deponer tuik vp Henderfones cloik, quhilk he cuist about his left airme and left hand, of purpose to gaird himself thairwiith : And that the said Andro thaireftir, with his

¹ In proof or testimony.

² Up the High Street to the Over or Upper Bow, now called the West Bow.

³ Perceiving, foresceing.

⁴ Caught the blow ; keppit the stroke.

fuord, gaif him ane ftraik vpon his left hand, and throw the cloik, tua ply,¹ cuttit the deponer, and ftrak fra him his thre fingeris.

The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the fweiring of the Dittay be the perfewar, in prefens of the Affyfe; and proteftis for Wilfull Errour, gif thay acquit.—Mr Johne Ruffell producet ane tiket of fax perfones, as witneffis, quha can declair to the Affyfe, that the pannell was perfewit be the tua brether, the tyme contenit in the Dittay; and that the hurt was gevin to Adame, be the pannell, in his awin defence; and thairupoune aikit instrumentis.—The Aduocat anfuerit, that thair is na neccffitie to the Affyfe to reffaue ony witneffis, becaus thair ar witneffis thame felfis,² and duellis within this burgh, and vnderftandis that this fact was committit be the pannell, in maner contenit in the Dittay; and proteftis for Wilfull Errour, gif the Affyfe acquit.

VERDICT. The Affyfe, be the mouth of Dauid Fergushill, mercheand, Proveift of the burcht of Air, chancellor, all in ane voce, fhand, pronunceit and declairit the faid Andro to be Giltie, culpable and convict of the difmembring of the faid Adame Montgomerie of thre fingeris of his left hand; committit at the tyme contenit in the Dittay, vpon fet purpois, prouifoun and foirthocht fellony.—Efter publicatioun of the quhilk Convictioun, THE JUSTICE ordanit the faid Andro to be tane bak agane be the Magiftratis of Edinburgh to his waird, within thair tolbuith thairof; thairin to remane in fure keiping, in the irnes, as ane convict perfone, quhill he war forder advyfet anent his dome and pwneifchment.

(1610, April 18.)—THE pannel was prefented at the bar, by ‘Robert Bannatyne, ane of the Bailles of Edinburgh,’ by virtue of an Act of the Privy Council, dated at Edinburgh, April 12, 1610; in confequence of his Majefty, ‘in his princelie wifdome,’ having fignified to them his Will.

SENTENCE. FOR obedience of the quhilk act and ordinance, the Justice, be the mouthe of Johnne Laufoun, dempfter of Court, decernit and ordanit the faid Andro Henderfoun to be Baneift our fouerane lordis haill dominionis, during his lyftyme; and nocht to returne agane within the famyn, vnder the pane of deid: And thaireftir, ordanit the faid Andro to be tane bak agane to his waird, be the Magiftrattis of Edinburgh, to the tolbuith of the faid burgh, thairin to remane with the remanent wairdouris, quhill he be reddie to imbarque; and that ordour be tane for convoy and tranfpoirt of him to his fchip.

¹ Two folds thick. Lat. plica. ² This is a strong illustration of the anomalous office of an Assisor or Juryman, in early times. From the peculiar mode in which he was chosen, from among those of the pannel’s peers, who were resident nearest the spot, and knew the common report of the country, he was himfelf presumed to be a witness; and, in many instances, de facto, was a witness of the whole circumstances of the case;—but it is obvious that this very circumstance must have frequently proved a real difqualification to the honest difcharge of fo important a duty. For the hiftory of the ancient modes of choofing Affises, &c. fee the valuable Commentaries of Baron Hume, Burnet on the Criminal Law, Maclaurin’s Trials, &c.

[Mr Alexander Colvill, Justice-Depute.]
Slaughter of Alexander Lord Spynie.

[SIR ALEXANDER LINDSAY, LORD SPYNE, whose life unhappily fell an untimely sacrifice to one of those deadly feuds, which the demon of domestic strife then too frequently, indeed almost universally, stirred up in the breasts of our Scottish Nobility and Gentry, of all ages and ranks, urging them to the commission of the most frightful excesses and crimes, and whose wrath and rancour, even the nearest ties of relationship could not appease,—was the fourth son of David, ninth Earl of Crawford. Having accompanied King James VI. to Denmark, in his matrimonial expedition, and enjoying his Majesty's intimate personal friendship, the King, on his return to Scotland, in fulfilment of a promise then made, erected the lordship of Spynie, Kinnedder, Raffart, and other lands in the shires of Elgin, Banff, and Inverness, formerly pertaining to the See of Moray, into a free Barony, and conferred upon him (then designed 'Vice Chalmerlane to oure fourane lord') the title of Baron of Spynie,¹ May 6, 1590. This Letter is so extremely characteristic, that the Editor needs no apology for transferring it from the original to this Collection.²

'SANDIE,

'QUHILL³ youre goode happe furneis me with sum better occasion to recompence youre honest and faithfull seruice, utterid be your diligence, and cairfull attendance upon me, speciallie at this tyme, lett this assure, in the inuiolabill worde of your awin Prince and maister, that quhen God randeris me in Skotlande, I fall irreuocablie, and with consent of Parliament,⁴ erect you the temporalitie of Murraye in a temporall Lordshipp, with all honouris thairto appartaining: and lett this serue for cure of youre present difeafe. FROM the Castell of Croneburg, quhaire we ar drinking and dryuing our, in the aulde maner. J. R.'

He also obtained another Charter, creating him a Peer of Parliament, Apr. 17, 1593.⁵ This distinguished Nobleman married Jean, eldest daughter of John, tenth Lord Glamis, she being also the relict of Robert, Master of Morton, and of Archibald, Earl of Angus. It is probable that this marriage took place on the suggestion, or through the influence, of the King, who thus notices the Countess in one of his Letters;—'Mind Jean Lyon, for her auld tout will make you a new horn!'

In order to arrive at the facts relating to this feud, a few quotations shall be made from contemporary sources, the only authentic and satisfactory mode of treating such a subject in a Work of this description. We are informed by Birrel and by Sir James Balfour, that previous to the fatal skirmish, when Lord Spynie was slain, there had been a similar rencontre, also on the streets of Edinburgh, on the 17th day of June, the same year; which the authorities and the citizens had been wholly unable to put down. That affair is thus related, in the expressive language of the day.

'THE 17 of Junij, (1605,) ane Combat or tulzie foughten at the Salt-tron of Edr, betuix the Laird of Edzle, young, and hes complices, and the young Laird of Pittarrow, Wischart. The faucht lastit frae 9 hours at night till 11 at night, twa hours! Thair wer fundrie hurt one both fydes, and ane Guthrie slaine, which was Pitarrow's man; ane verie prettie young man. The 18 day they wer acufit befor the Counfell, and wardit.'⁶ 'THE 17 day of Junij, a combat betuix the Lairdes of Edzell and Pittarrow, one the Heighe Streite of Edinbrughe! The fight lasted from 9 in the night till almost 2 in the morning, befor they wer separtated! In this fight diners wer hurte; and one only killed. They wer sumond to compeir befor the Lordes of his Maiesteis Priuey Counsaill, and wer bothe of them committed to priflone.'⁷ Sir Thomas Hamilton, then Lord Advocate, preserves the following interesting notices in his Minutes of the proceedings of the Privy Council,⁸ which tend to throw much

¹ Reg. Mag. Sig. Lib. xxxvii, No. 415.

² It has been published before. See Dalyell's Fragments, App. 83.

Wood's Peerage, II. 517. And a fac-simile of the Letter has been given by Mr J. T. Gibson Craig, in his Contribution to the Bannatyne Club, being 'Papers relative to the Marriage of King James the Sixth.'

³ Until.

⁴ Acta Parl. III. 650.

⁵ Reg. Mag. Sig. Lib. cxxxix, No. 130. Robertson's Proceedings, p. 426.

⁶ Bir-

rel's Diary.

⁷ Balfour's Annals, II. 7.

⁸ Lord Hadington's MSS. Adv. Library, A. 4. 22.

light on the matter. ‘EFTIR the Combat in Edr betuix Young Pittarro and Mr Alexr Lindfay,¹ vpon the xvij day of Junij, vpon the morne thairefter, Auld Pittarro and his sone, and my lord Chancelloris message, be his fervand, is send to thame to keip pair houffis, and certane pair bairnes thairin; and that thair not obeying and doing pairof gif occasione of the skaithe and slauchter that followed: Thairfoir thay wer commandit to enter in the Castell of Edr; and furthe pairof, Pittarro elder and younger to the Blakness, and Edzell to Dunbartane. That same day, or the next day thairefter, vpon the Laird of Edzellis Supplicationone, be arand, that he wes informed, that the Lordis, having respect to the Slauchter of William Guthrie, seruitour to Pittarro, had commandit him to waird, albeit he vnderstude pe said Guthrie to have reffaued na woundis, bot to have been smored² in the throng; at his desyre, thay send for David Pringall, pat had handlit him, and examined him vpon his woundis, and quhidder thay war deidlic or not? And also directed David Bailzie and twa vther chirurgiens to vesie the corps, and hand pair report; quhilk monie thoct ane strange and extraordinar forme.’

The occasion of this preliminary quarrel probably arose out of some family difference, which, it would appear, the heads of the respective Houses could not prevent. SIR DAVID LINDSAY, YOUNGER OF Edzell and of Glenesk, married Margaret Wishart, who, likely, was sister of young Pittarrow.

The cause of the second quarrel, which unfortunately resulted in the death of Lord Spynie, can be more satisfactorily accounted for. ‘DAVID LINDSAY, younger of Edyel, seeking to revenge the slaughter of his Uncle, Mr Walter Lindesay, whom David, Master of Crawford, had killed, as he lay in wait of the said Master, (who was then, by the decease of his father, succeeded in the Earldom,) through a pitiful mistake, did invade Alexander Lord Spynie, and killed him instead of the other! The Nobleman’s death was much regrated, for the many good parts he had, and the hopes his friends conceived, that he should have raised again that noble and ancient Houfe of Crawford to the former splendor and dignity; all which perished with him. He that was in place, and escaped the peril, being a base unworthy prodigal, and the undoer of all, that, by the virtue of his ancestors, had been long kept together.’³—‘THE 5 day of July, in rewendge of the Slachter of Sir Walter Lindfay, the young Laird of Egell fettis for the Maister of Crawford in the hie toune of Edinbrughe; the Lord of Spynnies being with the Maister, quha was trauelland betuix thame, to haue had thame agreitt, the Maister being his broder-sone, and Eagill his sifter-sone; and being bayth Lindfayis, had grit reffone to mowe (him) to rewell to haue them at concord;⁴ bot this perfruit being betuix nyne and ten houris at nycht, thay culd nocht knaw ane be ane wther; Egell being the number of aucht men, in geir; and thair being nane with the Maister bot my Lord of Spynnies and the Laird of Drumlaymerig,⁵ quha being all hurt with schottis and straikis, the Maister hurt and my Lord of Spynnies with mony straikis, thay had gottin ane Drumeldry schott throw the airme; Eagell passis his wayis in faiftye, and his folkis with him. The Lord of Spynnies depairtit off the said hurttis, the 16 day of Julij; bot the Maister recoverit his health, bot with grit los of his blude.’⁶

This unhappy Feud was kept alive for many years, and was productive of mutual misery to every member of these families. The diet was not finally deserted against the Earl (formerly the Master) of Crawford, until Jun. 9, 1613.⁶

Before closing this Notice, it is proper to state, that SIR DAVID LINDSAY, ELDER, was called Lord Edzell, from the circumstance of his being one of the Ordinary Lords of Session, having succeeded his brother, Sir John Lindsay of Balcarras, the Parson of Menmure (Lord Menmure), on the appointment of that distinguished person to the office of Secretary of State, Feb. 23, 1597.¹ He was the eldest son and heir of David, eighth Earl of Crawford; to which title Lord Edzell would have succeeded, had not his father generously conveyed back the title to David ninth Earl of Crawford, the grandson of David the seventh Earl, who had disinherited his sons for their 'unnatural barbarity' to him.² In order to cement that transaction, and to preserve the most intimate terms with the House of Crawford, Sir David married Lady Helen Lindsay, the daughter of the person who had thus obtained the Earldom on his father's voluntary resignation, viz. David ninth Earl of Crawford, who had been a steady adherent to the interests of Mary Queen of Scots; and who married Margaret, daughter of Cardinal Beaton, in April 1546. However piously this respectable man was inclined to preserve the most friendly terms, the deadliest passions seem to have rankled in the bosoms of his son, the Young Laird, and of David, Master of Crawford, the only son of David the tenth Earl,³ who had succeeded his father previous to Dec. 11, 1581,⁴ and died, Nov. 22, 1607. At the date of this Trial, therefore, THE EARL OF CRAWFORD, alluded to in these proceedings, and in the Letters, &c., is the eleventh Earl, who, at the time of the skirmish on the streets of Edinburgh, was Master of Crawford. 'THE YOUNG LAIRD OF EDZELL' was Sir David Lindsay, younger of Edzell, and of Glenesk, and as has already been remarked, married Margaret Wishart, one of the family of Pittarrow. His father having been interdicted from giving him harbour, in any of his houses, 'he built for himself a small Castle called Auchmull, in the parish of Edzell, and another, called Innermusk, in Lochlie, as lurking holes, while he was forced to skulk several years, for the murder of Lord Spynie.'⁵

¹ This Notice is preceded, in Lord Hadington’s Minutes, by the following remark. ‘EDZELL and Pittarro committed to waird; becaus thair neglecting to contene thair sones in thair houses (as thay war commandit be my Lord Chancellor) was the occasion of tumult and slauchter. At desyre of my Lord of Edzell, the deid corpses of William Guthrie was visited be the Bailzeis of Edinbur and the Chyrurgians, that saw him examined, gif his woundis wer mortall, and gif he died of thame?’
² Smothered; suffocated. ³ Spotswood’s Hist. p. 504. ⁴ Had great reason to move him to rule (or exercise his authority) to reconcile them. ⁵ Sir James Douglas of Drumlanrig, ancestor of the Marquis of Queensberry, a powerful baron, who was most active in suppressing disturbances on the Borders. ⁶ Anon. Hist. Scot. MS. Adv. Library, A. 4. 35. ⁷ See this Collection under that date.

The Appendix of Original Papers which follows, contains all the additional information on the subject of this deadly Feud, which the Editor can at present obtain.]

Sep. 19.—SIR DAVID LYNDSEY of Edzell, kny^t, (LORD EDZELL,) ane of the Senatouris of our fouerane lordis College of Justice, and Mr Alexander Lyndsfay of Canterland, his sone.

Dilaitit for the Slauchter of vinq¹⁰ Alexander Lord Spynie.⁶

Compeirit and producet ane Act of the Secretit Counfall, extract furth of the buikis thairof, be James Prymrois, ordiner clerk, of the dait the tent of Auguft lastbypast, beirand, that this fix of September instant was appointit to David Erle of Craufurd, of his awin consent, for him self, and takand the burding on him for the remanent perfonas contenit in the Act, to perfew the said Sir David and his said sone, for the foresaid allegit Slauchtir. Accoirding to the quhilk Act, and tennour thairof, the said Sir David and Mr Alexander his sone offeris thame reddie to abyde tryell for the said allegit Slauchter, quhairof thai ar alto-gidder innocent. And proteftis, becaus na partie compeiris to perfew, that thai never be hard heireftir to infist in the perfute for the said allegit Slauchter; and thairupoune askit instrumentis.

¹ Wood's Peerage, I. 165; but according to Lord Hailes' Catalogue, Feb. 23, 1598. He was afterwards one of the Commissioners of Treasury and Exchequer, called from their number the Octarians, Jan. 5, 1595; and was in Mar. 1595 appointed Lord Privy Seal; and, likewise, was Chancellor of the University of St Andrews, &c.

² Peerage, ibid. and I. 379.

³ Who married Lady Grizel Stewart, eldest daughter of John fourth Earl of Atholl.

⁴ Wood's Peerage, I. 380. Reg. Mag. Sig. xxxv. 467-769, &c.

⁵ Statistical Account of Scotland, X. 102, which asserts that 'THE CASTLE OF EDZELL' is one of the most magnificent ruins any where to be met with. It consists of two stately Towers, evidently in different styles, and built at different periods. These are connected by an extensive wall; and large wings went backwards from the Towers. Tradition says that the square Tower, the most ancient, was built and possessed by the Family of Stirling, from whom it descended to Lindsay of Glenesk.

⁶ See Jul. 8, 1607, and Jun. 2 and 9, 1613. It appears that he died of his wounds, July 16, 1615. See the foregoing Notice prefixed to this Case.

Compeirit Gilbert Rynd, feruitour for the tyme to vmq^{le} Alexander Lord Spynie, and in name and behalf of the Lord Spynéis bairnes, protestis, that quhatsumeur be done in this Judgement and Justice Court this day, preindge nocht the perfute to be movet at the instance of the said vmq^{le} Lord of Spynéis bairnis, for thair fatheris Slauchter : And thairupoun askit instrumentis.

APPENDIX OF DOCUMENTS illustrative of the preceding Case.

I. LETTER, *the Laird of Edzell to the King.*¹

MAIST SACRED SOUERANE,

IT MAY pleise your Ma^{tie} albeit I hawe stayit hier in Ed^r ane yeir and three moonthifs bygane, craving ewer to be tryit of the onhappie Slachter of my wmq^{ll} LORD OF SPYNIE, quhairof I protest befoir God and your M^{te} I am maist innocent, *my Lord of Crawford*² will nather call me thairfoir, nor staye, baithe privatlye and pwbliklye, yea in face of yo^r M^{ties} ho^{ll} ³ Priwye Counfell, to caluminat me : Quhairfoir, seing my modesté moowife⁴ nocht my Lord of Crawford rightlye to consider my innocencye, I maist humilye pray your M^{te} to direct yo^r Thesaurar and Advocatt to call and pwt me to ane honest and onsuspect Triall ; and being tryit innocent, that I maye hawe suretye to liewe in peace, to ferwe y^r M^{te}. I hawe swfferit manye injureise, specialye fyiwe of my servitouris sehott with pistoillis and hwrt, yit hes nocht compleit ;—my self also, during the space foirsaid, nocht wairdit onlye, bot banishit from my verteu ; and yit my Lord of Crawford his insolence no^t moowit nor stayit from feiking of my wraik. Praying yo^r M^{te} to consider and to cause ordour be pwt to the premissis, I pray God to grant y^r M^{te} ane lang and prosperus reigne, and to bliss yo^r Royell progenie. Sa kissing humilye y^r handis, I rest ewer,

ED^r, 1608. 16. Aug. Yo^r Sacred M^{teis} maist humill and obedient subiect and servitour,

To HIS MAIST SACRED M^{TE}.

EDZELL.

II. EXTRACT from LETTER, the Privy Council of Scotland ' To THE KING *his most sacred and excellent Ma^{tie}, Mar. 28, 1609.*⁵

THAIR was a Petitioun presentit vnto ws, in name of THE LAIRD OF EDYELL, complaining that THE ERL OF CRAUFURDE, vnder the pretext and cullour of a Commissioun granted be your Maie^{stie} to some of his domestiquis and seruandis, for perfute of the Criminallis for THE LORD OF SPYNEIS SLAUCHTER, intended to persew and assedge his HOUSE OF EDYELL, wherein his mouablis and euidentis⁶ ar, and his ludging in this burgh whair he presentlie duellis ; and sua, vnder the pretense of Law, and of your Maie^{stie}s auctoritie, to execute his privat revenge aganis him ; and thairfoir, he craved, that this Commissioun, and the executioun thairof, aganis him and his Houffis, myght be suspendit and dischargit. We could not judge vpoun the tennour and natour of this Commissioun, because it wes never shawne nor presentit in Counsaill, and, as we ar informed, it is nouthir registrat nor signett ; and we wold not presome nor tak vpoun ws to discharge your Maie^{stie}s Commissioun, without your heynes awne allowance ; alwayes,⁷ becaus Edyell hes found caution not to resset thir hornaris in his saidis Houffis, vnder the pane of ten thousand merkis, we haif suspendit the executioun of the said Commissioun aganis the saidis tua Houffis, allanarlie,⁸ vntill the tent day of Aprile nixttocome, that in the meantyme we may know your Maie^{stie}s will and pleasour thairanent, and in all vtheris Commissionis of the lyk nature, not presentit nor showne in Counsaill.

¹ Denmylne MSS. Adv. Library.

² David eleventh Earl of Crawford, who, at the date of the rencontre at which Lord Spynie was killed, was the Master of Crawford.

³ Honourable.

⁴ Moves.

⁵ Denmylne MSS. Adv. Library. The Letter, which is very long, craves instructions on a great variety of subjects.

⁶ Title-deeds of his property.

⁷ Nevertheless.

⁸ Only.

III. LETTER, *the Laird of Edzell to the King.*¹

MAIST SACRED SOVERANE,

IT MAY please your Maieſte, Being advertest that THE ERLE OF CRAWFWRD hes sent exprefs to your hienes of that certane Lettres as written be me to my sone, and recoverit be him within the Howſe of Auchinwll, quhair my sone was wont to dwell; quhilkis informis, it was my will and command to slaye the wmq^{ll} Lard of Spynie, and sa, plotter and contriver of that vuhappye and wyilld slauchter; thinkand thairbye to avert your Maieſtes woontit fawor from me, and to disgrace me at the hands of all honest men; I hawe chofine and presumit to tak the hardiment humblye to pray your hienes nocht to giwe credit to anye cople of anye Lettre cwming from the handis of my enemyis, wnto the tyme the principall be tryit² to be wrettin, subſcriwit, or directit be my self; for I protest, in presence (of) God, I newer had anye sick innaturall and ongodlie interpryise in my hart, mekle less directit the doing thairof. And to mak this mair manifest to all the world, I have inventit³ Improbatioune, that all liwing may know howe injustlye I am vrit be the Erle of Crawford, and howe he quha was the beginner of all thir trowblis, be the Murder of my wmq^{ll} brother *Sir Walter*⁴ onder traist, wald nowe eik⁵ craft to his cruelteis; and in place of repentance, be fals calumnyes, wald also bereawe me of my fame and lyiff, albeit I hawe ewer beine, and yit am maist willing to abyed all ordinar tryell of Lawe. Farther, I most also regrait that the said Erle, being laitlye at Cowrt, hes privelye obtinit ane Commiffione wnto ane numer of hes rioteris and defenderis, for ferching of my sone; and onder colour thairof, hes intentit nocht onlye to surpryise my howſe of Edzell, quhair my haill evidentis, and of vther freindis yit remanis, bot also to berawe me of my lyiff within my awin lwdging in Edr. And to the effect foirſaid, wearis daylye pistollettis and hagbwttis, prohibitit be your Maieſteis Actis, alledging ewer they ar seiking Rebellis. For remeid quhairof, and my awin securitie, in respect of the reafonis foirſaidis, specialye, because your Maieſties honourabill Priwe Counfell hes alreadye grantit ane verie ample Commiffioun, excepting onlye my Howſe of Edzell, within the quhilk I have fwnd Cautione nocht to recept⁶ my sone, nor anye of theise Rebellis, onder the paine of ten thousand merkis, toties quoties, I will maist humblye praye your Maieſtie to direct ane Warrant to your hienefs Priwe Counfell of this countrie, to suspend the last priwatlye obtinit Commiffione, as your Maieſtie will have me free of that schaddowe,⁷ be the quhilk my ondeferwit enemye crawis⁸ my lyiff and land; for vtherways, the Counfell, for the reverence they carye to that Commiffione feygned be your hienefs, will nocht mell⁹ thairwith. Hoping for your Maieſteis woontit protectione, nowe, sa mekle the rather that I am so onkyndlye, onnaturalye, and without deserwing, trwblit be that Howſe,¹⁰ of the quhilk ewer of ald, nocht onknowin to your Maieſtie, in thair trowblis, I hawe sa weill meritit vtherways. Yf I find nocht securite hier, I wilbe forcit, altho' be sea, in respect of my aige and inhabilitye, vpon my kneise to beg the faving¹¹ at your hiechnefs self. Thws, maist humblye kissing your hienefs handis, and praying the Eternal lang to preferve your Maieſtie and Royell progenie, I rest ewer,

Your Sacred Maieſteis maist humble and obedient subiect and serviteur, ED^h, 1609. Penult. Mar^{thi}.

EDZELL.

Slaughter of James Lord Corthorwald.

[THE following Trial, in addition to the preceding Case of the feuds of the Lindsays, affords another, among the many melancholy instances, of the 'deadly feuds' which unhappily existed in Scotland at this period. The arrogant CAPTAIN JAMES STEWART of Bothwell-muir, second son of Andrew Lord Ochiltree, well known as the EARL OF ARRAN, and who had been successively Governor of the Castles of Edinburgh and Stirling, Lord Privy Seal, and Lord Chancellor of Scotland, was, in the year 1596, slain, in revenge for his rigorous procedure against his uncle, at Symontoun, near Douglas, in Lanarkshire, by Sir James Douglas of Parkhead, nephew of the Regent Morton. Archbishop Spotswood thus notices these remarkable events.

¹ Denmylne MSS. Adv. Library. ² Judicially proved. ³ Should be intetit; raised. ⁴ Sir Walter Lindsay of Balgavies, who was murdered betwixt Breechin and the Place of Edzell, Oct. 25, 1695. See Jun. 2 and 9, 1613, &c. ⁵ Add; join. ⁶ Resett. ⁷ Pretence; mockery. ⁸ Craves. ⁹ Meddle; interfere. Fr. meler. ¹⁰ Viz, the House of Crawford. ¹¹ Same.

‘ A little before these stirrs with the Church, Captain James Stewart (who had been sometime Chancellor, and carried the title of the Earl of Arran) was killed by James Douglas of Tortherald. This man, after he was put from Court, had lived obscure, in the North parts; and was entertained by the Lady Salton, his sister-in-law. Being in hope to come again by the office of Chancellery, which was yet void, by the death of Lord Thirlestean, he came South, and had a long conference with the King, which did greatly encourage him; but till matters might be better prepared, he took purpose to visit his friends in Kyle. Taking his journey by Symington, nigh unto Douglas, he was advised by his friends in those parts to look to himself, and not ride so openly, because of Tortherald, that lived not far off, whose uncle he had followed (as he spake) to the death. His reply (as he was a man proud and disdainfull) “ that he would not leave his way for him, nor for all the name of Douglas !” being overheard by a fellow, and reported to Tortherald, did so inflame him, the old ulcer remaining uncured—as he avouched, “ to have his life, at all hazards !” So, getting intelligence that he had taken horse, he made after him, with three of his servants; and overtaking him in a valley called Catflack, after he had stricken him from his horse, did kill him without resistance. It is said, that when Captain James saw the horsemen following, he asked, “ How they called the piece of ground on which they were ?” And when he heard the name of it, he commanded the company to ride more quickly—as having gotten a response to beware of such a part ! He was a man full of violence; and, when he was in place of rule, executed it with much cruelty—which was now paid home in the end !¹ *Mr Wood*² relates, that ‘ his head was cut off, and carried on the point of a lance, in a kind of triumph, through the country; and his body was exposed to dogs and swine before it was buried !’ In accordance with the usual feelings of those times, dictated by a blind and barbarous revenge, (which was, in those days, considered merely as indicating proper spirit in a man of gentle blood,) Sir James was, in his turn, murdered on the streets of Edinburgh !

Two contemporary writers thus briefly state that fact to have occurred, simply, as a matter of course :—‘ THE fewint of Julij, James Douglas of Torthorwall flayne be William Stewart, sone of Sir William Stewart, in rewendge of Captane James slaucher.³—‘ The 14 day of Julij, this yeire, James Douglas of Torthorwall was killed, one the Heighe streit of Edinbrughe, betuix 6 and 7 houres in the morninge, by William Steuart, sone to Sir William Steuarte; quho escaped.’⁴—‘ The 18 day of this fame mounth (May, 1613,) the Lord Ochiltreie foelndie, by his grate othe, purged himselfe (in presence of the Lordis of his Maties Priuey Counfall,) in being airte or pairt, ore aney wayes accefforey to the Murthour of the Lord Torthorell’s father; and so thay war reconceilled by the Lordes, hartly chapen bandes, and mutually embracing one ane another.’⁵

A very interesting LETTER from the Privy Council to the King, taken from the Haddington MSS., General Register House, is appended. It gives the most authentic account of the matter which can now be procured.]

Sep. 20.—ANDRO LORD STEWART of Vchiltreie, and Andro Stewart, his fervand.

Dilaitit of the Slaucher of vniq^{le} James Lord Torthorell. Compeirit and producet ane Act of Secreit Counfall, extractit furth of the buikis thairof, vnder

¹ Spotswood’s Church Hist., 433.

² Wood’s Peerage, I. 123.

³ Anon. Hist. Scot. MS.,

Adv. Library. 28.

⁴ Balf. Ann., II.

⁵ Ibid. 42.

the figne and fubfcription of James Prymrois, Clerk of Counfall, of the dait the tent day of Auguft laftbypaft; beirand, that Williame Lord Douglas and James Lord Torthorrell compeirit perfonallie befor the faidis Lordis, and promeit in thair prefens, that betuix and the tuentie day of September than nixtocum, quhilk is this day, thay fould ather perfew the faid Andro, criminallie, befor his Maiefteis Justice and his deputis, in the Tolbuthe of Ed^r, ffor airt, pairt, red and counfall of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} James Lord Torthorrell, or ellis, that thai fould reconceill thame felffis with the faid Lord Vchiltrie, and be agreit with him.—And in refpect, that thai tuik betuix and this day to perfew him, quhilk is the laft day contenit in the Act; thairfoir, the faid Lord Vchiltrie, for tryell of his innocencie of the faid allegit cryme, now compeiris, and offeris him reddie to abyde the tryell of the law, for airt, pairt, red and counfall of the faid Slauchter; quhairof he is altogidder Innocent, difaffenting to all maner of continuatioun; protefting, that the faid Williame Lord Douglas and James Lord Torthorrell, nor na vtheris perfones be hard to perfew him for the faid allegit cryme, in ony tyme cuming; in refpect that thai nor nane of thame compeirit to infit in this perfute.

And lykwayis, the faid Lord Vchiltrie askit instrumentis, of the entrie and production to the Justice of Andro Stewart, his fervand, to abyde quhatfumeuir tryell can be laid to his charge, for the faid allegit Slauchter. Lykas, the faid Andro Stewart, for himfelf, being perfonallie prefent, offerit himfelf to the tryell of the law, for the Slauchter aboue fpecificit; quhairof he declairit himfelf to be maift Innocent; difaffenting to all continuatioune; and thairupone askit instrumentis.

LETTER, *the Privy Council to the King, anent the Slauchter of the Lord Torthorwall.*¹

MOST SACREID SOUÉRAYNE,

THAIR hes ane wnhappie accident fallin out heir, this morning, betuix fex and fevin of the klok, by the slauchter of James Douglas of Torthorwell, committit be W^a Stewart, fone to wmq^{ll} Sr W^a Stewart, quho, althocht the principall pairtie had agreied with the faid wmq^{ll} James, and reflaveit Afflythment and fatisfacioune to his awin contentment, the faid W^a misknew this agrement, paft to the horne for not geving affurance, and awaittit the occafion of this morning; quha, finding the faid James fimplie accompaunid vpon the Hie Streit, a littill beneth Croce, he difparatlie fett upone him, and, with ane fraick, flew him; and the gaitt² being quyett, he efcheapid. We have cauffit chairge the partie compeire and anfuer, and fall profequent and follow out all wther ordinarie courfe of law and justice quhilk is vfuall and accuftumed in the lyk caiffis. And, in cais of his not compeirance, fall caus denunce him, and pairvpon fall direct Commiffionnes to the ordinarie Magiftratis of the country for the perfute of him, with Proclamatiounes, containing a promes of reward to ony perfones quho will tak him. Quhairof we haif thoct meitt to mak your facred Ma^{tie} aequented, and in all reverence fall conforme our felffis to quhatfumevir forder directioun it fall pleis your hienes to give in this mater.

¹ From the Earl of Hadington's MSS., General Register House.

² Street.

And sua, praying God to grant wnto your sacreid Ma. a long, happie, and prosperous regnne and eternall felicitie, we rest

Your Ma. moift humbill and obedient subjectis and servitouris,
A. CANCELL^s. DUMBAR. CRAFURD. LOTHEANE. LOVAT. BLANTYRE. BALMERINOCH.
HALIROODHOS. BURLY. R. COKBURNE. S. J. SKRYMGER of Dudop. S. T. HAMILTOUN.

[DATE not preserved ; but Jul. 7 (or 14) 1608.]

Child-Murder.

NOV. 9.—BEATRIX WEIR, spous to Johnne Ferrie, buikbinder.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the distructioun of an infant bairne, procreat in Adulterie.

Compeirit James Hammiltoun, seruitour to my lord Aduocat, and productet ane Warrant of the Secreit Counfall ; quhair of the temour followis.

JUSTICE, Justice Clerk and your deputtis. Forfamekill as the nynt day of November instant is appointit to Beatrix Weir, spous to Johnne Ferrie, buik-binder, and Bessie Pook, dochter to Williame Pollok, for pair compeirance befor you, to vnderly the lawis for the crewall, barbarus and detestable Murthour of the said Beatrix bairne, procreat be hir in Adulterie: And seing the said Beatrix constantlie abydis be hir denyell of that odious and vyld fact, thinking pairby to eschew pwneifchment, althocht the said Bessie Pollok hes confessit pe fact and Murthour to haif bene committit be pame two, and constantlie standis be hir Confessioun.—It is our Will pairfoir, and We command you, to continev the said dyet for a systene dayis, to pe effect, in this meayne tyme, the tua women may be confrontit, and fuche ordinarie meanis as may discouer and bring to licht the certane treuth of that matter: And that you gif ordour and directioun for committing thame bothe to strait waird, within the Tolbuth of Edr, thair to remane quhill the nixt dyet to be appointit for pair tryell: ffor doing quhair of, thir prententis fall be your Warrant. Att Edr, the sevint of November, 1609.

Jo. PRESTOUN. S^r. R. COKBURNE. L. CRAIG, Cl^s Reg^{ri}.

Conforme to the quhilk Warrant, the Justice committit the said Beatrix Weir to Waird, &c.¹

Witchcraft — Administering Enchanted Drink.

NOV. 9.—JAMES MURE in Mynniehagen.²

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of Bewitching of Margaret Wicht in Dalmellingtoun, and taking fra hir of hir Wittis, be ministrating to hir of ane Inchantit drink.

PERSEWAR, Margaret Wicht. PRELOCOUTOUR for the pannell, Joseph Myller, Aduocat.

The pannell takis instrumentis of his entrie, and offeris him self to the tryell of the Law, disaffenting fra all continuatioun; and protestis for releif of his caution.

THE JUSTICE, in respect thair is na sufficient number of Assyse compeirand this day,³ continewis this dyet to the 3 day of the (Justice) air (of the shire of Air), or soner, vppone xv dayis wairning, to vnderly the law for the said cryme, vnder the panes contenit in the Actis of Parliament; quha fand Sir Johnne Wallace of Carnell, kny^t, cautioner for his entrie, to the effect foirsaid.

¹ No entry appears to show the result of this matter. ² A dependor of the Mures of Auchindrane and Minibagan. See their Trial for Murder, Jul. 17, 1611, &c. ³ All the Assisers absent, eighteen in number; 'ilk ane of thame vulawit in the pane of ane hundreth merkis.'

(1610, Feb. 7.)—For the relief of his cautioneris, and tryell of his awin innocencie of the saidis alegit crymes,¹ he now compeiris, and maist willinglie offeris him self to the tryell of the law for the samyn, disassenting fra all continuatioun. And in respect that the said Margaret nor na vtheris compeiris this day to infist in his persute, for the saidis allegit crymes, and that this is the secund dyet keipit be him, for abyding tryell thair of, haifing cum threfcoir myles, or thairby, to that effect; and that the samyn persute is bot malicioullie inventit aganis him, be the said Margaret, for hir awin previe advantage, be raising of Letteris aganis him; and the persones summond be hir vpon his Assyse, of quhome scho hes ressaute grit sowmes of money in compositioun, to abyde at hame: Protestis, in respect of the premisses, for (Sir) Johnne Wallace of Carnall his releif of his cautionerie, and that he be nocht callit, trubellit, or persewit, at the instance of the said Margaret, or ony vther pairtie, for the allegeit crymes aboue specifieit; nather yit that my lord Justice suffer Letteris to be direct aganis him to that effect, in ony tyme cuming: Quhilk protestation the Justice admittit, &c.

[Sir Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Hurting and Wounding — Shooting of Pistolets.

NOV. 17.—ALEXANDER FRENCH, brother to Johnne Frenche, Tutour of Thornydikis.²

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Hurting and Wounding, with schottis of pistolettis, of George Home of Bassinden and Andro Home, his brother, as in the following DITTAY.

FORSAMEKILL as it is expresse provydit, statute, and ordanit, be the Actis of Parliament, that na manner of persone nor persones tak vpon hand to beir, weir, or schute with hagbuttis or pistolettis, or have the samyn in thair cumpanies, oppinlie, outwith houffis, vnder the pane of cutting of thair richt hand; as the saidis Actis of Parliament at lenth beiris: And trew it is, that the said Alexander French, accompaneit with Johnne French, Tutour of Thornydykis, his brother, and vtheris thair complices, nocht only hes borne and worne pistolettis vpon thair persones and in thair cumpaneis, oppinlie and avowedlie, within dyuerse pairtis of the boundis of the scherefdome of Beruik, and bailzerie of Lauderdaill, thir dyuerse yeiris bygane, daylie and continuallie, as thair ordiner wappones; bot also, the said Alexander and Johnne, his brother, being surelie informet, that the said Andro Home was to cum furth of the said Place of Basfinden to Reidpeth, for doing of certane his necessar effairis and buffines; thay, vpon the xxv day of September lastbypast, being bodin in feir of weir, with secrettis, plait-slevis, lances, hagbuttis and pistolettis, lay at await in the said Andro his hie way, befyde Fawnes-furd, and thair fet vpon him, and crewallie invaidit him for his Slauchter, schot and dilaschet¹ thair hagbutis and pistolettis at him, hurt his horse, and chaisit him self to the Place of Carolefyde; contravening thairby the tennour of the said Actis of Parliament. Be occasioun of the quhilk perfute, thay being raisit in the cuntrie, and the bruit passand, that the said Andro was slane and tane in to Carrolefyde, and the samyn haifing cum to the said George knowlege, he, to try the certantie thairof, lap on vpon horsebak, and cam ryding to the Place of Carolefyde, in sober maner, him self allane, lipning for na harme, iniurie or perfute to haif bene done to him,—the said Alexander French, accunpaneit with his said brother, and vtheris thair complices, nochtwithstanding of the former iniurie done as said is, being bodin in feir of weir, with hagbuttis, pistolettis and vtheris wappones, invasive, convenit thame selffis at the Chapel-wallis befyde Corrbie and dykis² thairof, quhair thai lay darnit³ in secreit maner, awaiting, gif ony wald cum and revenge the former deid; and thair, at the Chapell-dykis, in the said George cuming to the said Place of Carolefyde, vmbiefet his hie-way, and maist crewallie invaidit him for his Slauchter, schot and discharget thair pistolettis and hagbuttis at him, quhairwith thay schot sewin bullettis in his left thie, hurt and woundit him thairwith, to the effusioun of his bluid in grit quantitie: And the said Alexander is airt and pairt of the saidis crymes; and hes thairthrow incurrit the panes and punisichment prescryuit be the said Act of Parliament.

¹ Having been summoned to appear before the Justice this day.

² The pursuers passed from the pursuit of 'Patrik Cranstoun of Corlbies, Robert Ker of the Schaw, Patrik Tait, and Williame Cranstoun, his tua fervandis, Johnne Frenche, callit the Bassard, sone naturall to Robert Frenche of Thornydykis; and Thomas Erikyu.'

PERSEWARIS, George Home of Bassindene, Alexander Home, his brother; Sir Thomas Hammiltoun.

PRELOCUTOR for the pannell, Mr Williame Oliphant.

It is allegit aganis the first article of the Dittay, anent the generalitie of the beiring and weiring of pistolettis, that the samyn is nocht relevant, nocht condiscending the speciall tyme and place, quhair and quhan the samyn war borne or worne. The Aduocat declairis he persewis the pannell for beiring and schuiting of hagbuttis and pistolettis, the tyme lybellit, outwith the boundis of his duelling houffis, cloiffis and yairdis. Andro Hone, ane of the persewaris, declairis, that in his perfute be the Tutour of Thornydykis, Alexander his brother was in company with him, with ane lance; the Tutour haifing pistolettis, and schuitting at him thairwith.

It is allegit be Alexander French, that this Dittay can nocht be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse; under protestatioun, that he nawayis grantis the Dittay, becaus the samyn was done within the Place of Corrbie, and yairdis thair-of.—It is anſwerit be my lord Advocate, aucht to be repellit, in reſpect of the ſummondis and place thairin deſignit, viz. outwith the Place of Corſbie; nather yit was the Place of Corſbie the ſaid Alexander Frenches duelling place.

¹ Deslacher, Old Fr. to discharge, to let off. ² Walls, stone fences. ³ Hidden, concealed.

It is allegit for the ſaid Alexander, vnder proteſtatioun foirſaid, that the ſaid Alexander, the tyme lybellit, and the ſpace of the moneth befor, duelt and maid his reſidence within Corſbie; lyk as, the perſewar, George Home, aſſitit with ſome perſones, bodin in feir of weir, with hagbutis and piſtolettis, perſewit and invalidit the ſaid Alexander, and ſchot thair hagbuttis and piſtolettis at him, he being then ganging within the corne yaird of Corſbie, at the barne-dur thairof; of the quhilk ſchot the barne-dur can yit record: And vnder proteſtatioun, that he nawayis grantis ony ſchuting, as he ſchot nocht, he aucht nawayis to be put to the knowlege of ane Inqueiſt for the ſaid cryme lybellit, becaus he mycht haif lauchfullie borne and worne piſtolettis, and vſet thame for his awin defence, within his awin duelling place, he being perſewit, as ſaid is.—Anſweris, vnder proteſtatioun, that I nawayis grant Corſbie to be the defenderis duelling place; that he aucht to be put to the knowlege of ane Aſſyſe, becaus the fact lybellit was committit outwith the place of Corſbie and yairdis thairof, in the place lybellit; nather is hagbuttis or piſtolettis wappones of lauchfull defence.

THE JUSTICE referit the ſamyn to the knowlege of ane Aſſyſe.

George Home of Baſſinden, be his aithe, declairit, that Alexander French, being outwith the dykes of Corſbie, ſchot ane piſtolet at his ſervand Johnne Baird, the tyme contenit in the Dittay. The ſaid Andro Home, his brother, lykwayis ſuorne, declairis, that he, being perſewit be Johnne French, Tutour of Thornydikis, with hagbuttis and piſtolettis, the tyme lybellit, the ſaid Alexander Frenche, his brother, followit him with ane lance in his hand, being vpone fute, and perſewit him. The ſaid George Home, be his ayth, declairis, that Alexander French, this tua yeir bygane, hes borne and worne piſtolettis, as his ordiner wappones; contrair the Actis of Parliament.—Upone the quhilkis Declarationis, be the perſeweris athis, gevin as ſaid is, aſkit inſtrumentis.

VERDICT. The Aſſyſe, be the mouth of Johnne Cranſtoun in Baſſinden, chancellor, for the maift part, Clenges the ſaid Alexander Frenche of beiring, weirring and ſchuitting of hagbuttis and piſtolettis; and of ſchuitting of hagbuttis and piſtolettis at Andro Home, brother to George of Baſſinden; and of the tua firſt articles of Dittay foundit thairupoun: AND all, in ane voce, ſindis the ſaid Alexander to be Giltie of his being in cumpanie with Gilbert Cranſtoun; quha, the tyme contenit in the Dittay, ſchot ane hagbute or piſtolett at George Home of Baſſinden, and hurt him thairwith in his left thie; quhilk ſchote was ſchote be the ſaid Gilbert, outwith the barne-yaird-dykis of Corſbie, the ſaid Alexander being remaning within the barne-yaird for the tyme.

THE JUSTICE ordanit the said Alexander Frenche to be committit to waird, within the Tolbuth of Edinburgh, thairin to remane vpon his awin expenffis, vnto the tyme he war advyfet with the Counfall, anent his dome, to be pronuncet thairupone.

Hurting and Wounding — Shooting of Pistolets.

Nov. 17.—JOHNNE FRENCHÉ, Tutour of Thornydkis, and Gilbert Cranftoun, father-brother to Patrik Cranftoun of Corfbie.

THE JUSTICE ordanit Laurence Symfoun of Craighous and James Sandilandis of Gillifwallis, cautioners for the said Johnne, to be in amerciament in the pane of ij^c merkis, for his nocht entrie; and Robert Hepburn in Eist Fentoun, brother to the Laird of Craig, as cautioner for the said Gilbert, in the pane of ij^c merkis: And siclyk, that the said Johnne and Gilbert fould be denunciit rebellis and put to the horne, and all thair moveabill guidis to be escheit, &c.

Resetting and Maintaining Alexander Ruthven — Gowrie's Conspiracy.

Nov. 17.—DAVID SPALDING of Effintullie

Compeirit with M^{ris} Williame Oliphant and Henrie Balfour, his prelocutouris, quha enterand him self vpon pannell, exponit and declairit, that fforfamekill as, vpon finifterus informatioun gevin to the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, command was gevin be thair lordschipis to Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnies, kny^t, Aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hiences entreis, to perfew him befor the Justice or his deputis, for the allegit tressonable Ressetting, suppleing, and maintaining of Alexander Ruthven, burges of Perth, his Maiefties declarit tratour, within his duelling places of Effintullie and Enoche, at the tymes particulerlie fet down in the said informatioun; lyk as, crimminal Letteris being direct at the said Aduocattis instance, aganis the said Dauid, be the quhilkis he was charget to find caution actit in the buikis of Adiornall, that he fould compeir befor the Justice or his deputis, this day and place, and vnderly the Law for the saidis allegit crymes, and vtheris contenit in the Letteris direct thairupoun, quhair of he is altogidder innocent: ffor obedience quhair of, vpoun the fourt day of July lastbypast, he stand Harie, Lord St Colme,¹ cautioner for his compeirance this day, &c.; for quhais relief, and tryell of his awin innocencie, he now compeirit; dissassenting fra all maner of continuatioun: And in respect our fouerane lordis Aduocat, nor na vtheris his lordschipis informeris wald infist in his perfute, tuik instrumentis, &c. ; and protestit for his said cautioneris relief ; and that he him self fould nocht be callit, trubillit, nor perfewit for the allegit crymes aboue mentionet ; bot that he fould be affoilzeit simpliciter thairfra, in all tyme cuning.

¹ This Nobleman was the second son of James, Lord Down, and brother of James, Earl of Moray. He had the monastery of St Colme's Inch and lands belonging thereto, erected into a temporal lordship, with the title of a Peer of Parliament, as Lord Saint Colme. He died Jul. 12, 1612.

Striking a Person within the Tolbooth of Edinburgh, during the Sitting of the Lords of Session.

Nov. 18.—Mr JOHNNE KERR, sone to Andro Ker of Mylnerig, and George Lokhart, seruitour to the Laird of Corstorphin, younger.

Dilaitit, accuset and perfewit, be DITTAY, of the Crymes following.

FORSAMEKILL as, be Act of our souerane lordis threttene Parliament, his Maiestie and estaittis ordanit, that quho enir fould strek or hurt in any tyme thaireftir, any persone within the Vtter-Tolbuth of Ed^r, the tyme that the Lordis of Sessioun fittis for administratioun of Justice, sal incur the pane of daitt ; and fall be accused criminallie thairfoir : Without regard qubairof, and of that respect and reuerance quhilk it became the saidis Mr Johnne and George, or ather of thame, to haif borne to the Lordis of Sessioun, being conuenit in the Inner Tolbuthe of this burcht, for administratioun of Justice to his Maiesties legis, and thairby representing his Maiesties persone and autoritie ; the said MR JOHNNE, vpon the auchtene day of November instant, cam to the Vtter-hous of the said Tolbuth, callit the Mid-hous, and seing the said George Lokhart, seruitour to the Laird of Corstorphin, Younger, following his maister, in companie with my Lord of Kilsithe,¹ defyrous to enter within the said hous ; and he beiring grudge and malice aganis the said George, vpon sum former discoidis betuix the said Mr Johnnes father, him self, and his vmq^{le} brotther Andro Ker and the said George Lokhart, the said Mr Johnne stuid in the said dur, and wald nocht suffer him peceable to pas by, bot forceable rusched the said George, in the bygoing, and had almost strukin him to the grund ; and immediatlie thairefter, drawing his dager, inuidit him thairwith, and strak at him for his Slauchter ; and strak the said George throw the cloik, within the said hous, and had nocht faillit to haif slane him, gif the said Mr Johnne had nocht bene stayit and red be sum gentilmen being present for the tyme, quho wer commandit be my Lord of Kilsith to red² thame ; and tuik the said Mr Johnne to ward, for his said offence : Quhairby he hes transgressed the said Act of Parliament, and incurrit the panes contenit thairin. LYK AS, the said GEORGE LOKHART, vpon the said auchtene day of November instant, about nyne houris, or thairby, befoir none, haifing of lang tyme of befoir confaut ane deidlie feid, haitrent, and malice, aganis the said Mr Johnne Ker, sone to the said Andro Ker of Mylnerig, for certane iniurious langage past betuix thame, and for the said George hurting of Andro Ker, brotther to the said Mr Johnne, in the hand ; and this day, finding the said Mr Johnne standing in the dur of the Mid-hous of the said Tolbuth, quhilk cumis in frome the bak-turnepeek thairof, the said George violentlie rusching the said Mr Johnne fordwaird within the said dur, immediatlie thaireftir drew his dager, and strak at the said Mr Johnne thairwith, for his slauchter, vpon the heid, with the said dager ; and had nocht faillit to haif slane him, gif the said George had nocht been stayed be sum gentilmen, being present for the tyme, quha entred betuix thame, and be commandiment of my Lord of Kilsithe, in quhois presence the said cryme was committit ; quha causit apprehend the said George, and put him in ward : Quhairby he hes lykwayis transgressit the said Act of Parliament, and incurrit the panes thairin contenit.—To the taikin, the said Lordis of Sesshoun, haiffing callit thame, and ather of thame, befor thair Lordschipis, for tryell of the said cryme, thay, be the saidis perfones awin Confessioun, and Deposition of dyuerse famous witnesses, fand that the saidis Mr Johnne and George, and ather of thame, had contravenit the said act; and Ordanit thame to be put to ane Tryell for the samyn.

¹ Sir William Livingston of Kilsyth, one of the ordinary Lords of Session, and afterwards a Privy Councillor, &c.

² To separate them ; by no means a safe or easy office in those times, when ' qubingaris' and ' pistolets' were the swift messengers of vengeance. The redder's portion, in an affray of this sort, became proverbial—for both parties often joined in punishing his temerity ! Hence, the redding-straik was frequently one of the deadliest in the ' tuilzie.'

Eftir reiding of the quhilkis tua Dittayis, and accusatioun of the said Mr Johnne Ker and George Lokhart, be vertew thair of, our fouerane lordis Aduocat, for verifeing thair of, producet the said Mr Johnne and George awin Confessioun, togidder with certane Depositiones of dyuerse famous¹ Witnesses, suorne and examinat in presens of the Lordis of Sesshoun, in the said matter.

The pannell, Mr Johnne Ker, denyis that poynt of Dittay, quhair he was 'within the Tolbuth,' the tyme of the committing of the cryme; bot was vpon the stair and entrie of the dur. Lyk as, the saidis perfones on pannell, being inquyret, judicillie, be the Justice, Gif thai had any thing to say, quhy the saidis Dittayis producet aganis thame sould nocht be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse? ffor ansuer thairto, maist humlie acknowlegit and confessit the premisses to be of veritie; and referrit thame selfis in his Maiesteis will for the samyn. In respect quhair of, the Justice Ordanit the saidis perfones to be tane bak to waird to the Tolbuth of Ed^r, thairin to remane quhill his Maiesteis will war schawin thairanent.

Wamesucken—Murder under trust.

Nov. 22.—JOHNNE STEWART, sone to vniq^{le} James Lord of Doun, (brother-german to Harie Lord St Colme.)²

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the murthour of vniq^{le} Johnne Gib in Over Lef-foddie; committit in the moneth of Junij 1608 yeiris.

PERSEWARIS, Bessie Dik, the relict of vniq^{le} Johnne Gib. Sir Thomas Hammiltoun.

THE said Johnne Stewart, being accuset of the said slauchter, maist humblie, vpon his kneysis, in presens of the Justice and Lordis of Secreit Counfall, Confessis the slauchter, and craves God and the Kingis Maiestie pardoun; And offeris to the partie quhat satisfioun he is able to content thame with, be the advyse of his frendis. Quhairupoun the Aduocat askit instrumentis.

The Aduocat producet the DITTAY, following.

JOHNNE STEWART, sone to vniq^{le} James Lord Doun, 5e ar indytit and accuset: Forfamekill as 3e, hauing confaet ane deidlie feid, haitrent, and malice, aganis vniq^{le} Johnne Gib in Over Lef-fodie, caules, without any occasioun gevin be him to 5ou; bot only, for ane suddane discord falling furth betuix 5our horfe-boy and fervand, quhair of the said Johnne was altogidder innocent and ignorant, 5e, vpon the . . . day of Junij, the 5eir of God I^m.Vj^r. and aucht 5eiris, drinkeand at Keltieheuch, in the hous of Johnne Greve pair, avowit maist crewallie and maliciously to bereif pe said vniq^{le} Johnne Gib of his lyfe: And for perforceing pairof, being instantlie bent to feik him at his awin hous, and 5e being slayit be James Craufurd, and sum vtheris quha hapnit than to be in 5our company, 5e, to red your self of pat impechment,¹ faythfullie promittit and gaif your hand² to the said James Craufurd, that 3e fould nocht pat nycht go towardis the said Johnne Gibis hous, bot pat 3e wald ryd towardis the brig of Gairny: Nochtwithstanding quhairof, sa fone as 3e gat your horse, 3e raid in all haist to 3e said vmq^{le} Johnne Gibis hous, in Over Lessodie, about pe glomyng of the nycht,³ and chopping⁴ at pe dur, and calling vpone him be his name, he being than lyand in his naikit bed, takand the nychtis rest, and feiring na iniurie, invasioun, nor harme to haif bene done to him, be any perfones, and specialle by 3ow, quha in all tyme preceeding had bene in professit freindschip with him, and had ressaunt dyuerse plesouris and gratitudis of him, sa fone as he hard your voce, instantlie raise in his fark,⁵ and oppint his dur to 3ow; quhair 3e, without ony caus, vpgeving of freindschip, or adverteising him of his skaith or danger, straik him with your dager in the breist, neir the heart, and gaif him pairwith aue deidlie wound, vnder trest, freindschip and credeit: Of the quhilk wound he depairtit this lyfe within les nor fourtie aucht houris pairrefter. AND sua, 3e maist crewallie and vnmerciefullie slew the said vmq^{le} Johnne Gib, vnder clud and silence of nycht, within his awin hous, be way of Hame-suckin and vnder trest; to pe grit contempt of our fouerane lord, his hienes auctoritie and lawis, &c.

¹ Persons of good fame and credit.

² So described in the second diet. See Note to Nov. 17, 1609.

TO THE TAIKIN,⁶ that, incontinent pairrestir, 3e returnet bak to the said Johnne Grevis hous in Keltieheuch, and calling furth vpone Nicoll Rowane, inqyret of him, 'quhais man⁷ Johnne Gib was?' Quha answert, that 'he was my Lord Chancelloris man;' 3e said, 'and⁸ he war the Devillis man, 3e had gevin to him the thing that wald flaik⁹ him!' To the taikin also, pat vpone pe morne pairrestir, 3e, cuming in, in the moirning, to ane house in Aberdour, quhair James Baveredge, in Keltieheuch, and Alex^r Kellok war drinking, 3e demandit at James Baveredge, 'Quhat newis?' Quha answert, that 'He hard na newis that was guid!' and, 'That 3e mycht haif bene in your bed that nycht, quhan 3e gaif that hurt to Johnne Gib, quhairof he wald die!' 3e, taking out your bludie dager, said, 'he could nocht be the war,¹⁰ becaus 3e had gevin him bot ane po^r!'¹¹ To the taikin lykwayis, 3e, being charget to find caution, to compeir befor the Justice, at aue certane day bygane, to haif vnderlyne the law for the said cryme, past to pe horne; quhairat 3e haif lyne continuallie senfyne.

THE JUSTICE continewis this matter, anent Johnne Stewartis tryell, to Fry-day nixt, quhill¹² he be advyset with the Counsell.

(Nov. 24.)—THE JUSTICE Ordanis the pannell to be put to ane Assyse; nochtwithstanding his becoming in Will, the last dyet.

ASSISA.

Williame Trumbill of Airdrie; Johnne Dunbar of Mynnieweik; William Cuming of Ernesfyde; The Laird of Partoone, 3ounger; Johnne Johnnestoun of Raiccleuch, tutour of Johnnestoun.¹³

THE pannell of new agane Confessis the Dittay, and craves Godis mercie, &c.

VERDICT. Eftir accusatioun of the said Johnne Stewart, be Dittay, and the said Johnnes Judiciall Confessioun, maid in presens of the Justice and Assyse, granting the said fact; and maist humblie, vpone his kneyis, craveing God, our fouerane lord the Kingis Maiestie, and the partie, pardoun thairfoir; the said Assyse, be the mouth of the said Johnne Johnnestoun, chancellor, all in ane voce, ¹ Hindrance, old Fr. ² A solemn mode of affirmation and promise, still used amongst the peasantry of Scotland; and considered as sacred and binding as an oath. ³ Twilight. ⁴ Knocking at the door. ⁵ Night-shirt. ⁶ In token; proof, or testimony of the above. ⁷ Fendal vassal. ⁸ If; an'. ⁹ Literally, quench; stoken, or stake. ¹⁰ Worse. ¹¹ Probably for power, only one blow or stroke. 'Purr' is still used, to denote a push made by a bull or an ox, &c. when he runs at and gores another. ¹² Until. ¹³ The rest were 'mercheandis,' and persons of no note.

ffand, pronuncet, and declairit the said Johnne Stewart, accoirding to his awin Judiciall Confessioun, to be ffylet, culpable, and convict of the crewall Murthour and slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Johnne Gib: committit in maner, and at the tyme specifreit in his Dittay.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the place of his Executioune, and thair his heid to be struckin from his body; and all his moveabill guidis to be escheit and inbrocht to his hienes vsê, as convict of the said cryme. Quhilk was pronuncet for dome.

Wearing of Hagbutts and Pistolets—Perjury.

Nov. 22.—ROBERT JOHNNESTOUN, seruitour to my Lord Forbes.

Dilaitit of the beiring and weiring of hagbuttis and pistolettis, contrair the Actis of Parliament; and of Periurie, as the Dittay beiris.

PERSEWAR, Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnie, kny^t, Aduocat to our souerane lord.

PRELOQUUTOURIS for the pannel, Mr Alexander King, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Robert Learmonth.

My Lord Aduocat produceit ane Decreit of the Lordis of Counfall, decerning the said Robert to haif contrauenit the Actis of Parliament, in bering and weiring of hagbutis and pistolettis; of the dait, at Ed^r, xxvij of Junij. The Aduocat infisit vpon the beiring and weiring of hagbutis and pistolettis, quhairupoun the pannel askis instrumentis. My Lord Aduocat producis his Maiesteis Letter, as Warrant of this persute.

It is allegit be Robert Johnnestoun, that he can nocht be put to ane Affyse, for weiring of hagbuttis and pistolettis, lybellit; becaus, be Act of Parliament, in November, 1600 yeiris, it is speciallie provydit, that sic personis as fall be persewit befor his hienes and Lordis of Secreit Counfall, and tryit be probatioun of Witnesse, giltie of bering and weiring of hagbuttis or pistolettis, fall nocht incur the corporall punisfment in the former Actis, be amputatioun of the rycht hand; bot only to be puncifchit, be wairding of thair personis, escheit of thair guidis-moveabill, or payment of sic pecuniall sowmes of money as his hienes and lordis of Secreit Counfall fall declair: And trew it is, that in the persute, intentit be my lord Aduocat, quha is now persewar aganis Airthour Lord Forbes, for the particuler factis contenit in the persute intentit thairupoun; bot specialiie, of his Lordschip being accompaneit with Dauid Forbes of Petlethie, his brother, Williame Garioche, younger of Kinstair, and the said Robert, now enterit vpon pannel, was challanget per expressum; in maner as is contenit in the said Decreit: Be the quhilk Decreit, the saidis Lordis of Counfall, nocht only tuik tryell anent the said Lord Forbes, for him self, bot also anent the saidis Williame Garioche and Robert Johnnestoune thair beiring and weiring of hagbuttis and pistolettis; and finding thame giltie thairof, ordanit the said Robert Johnnefloun and Williame Garioche to be committit to the tolbutth of Ed^r, and that for weiring and beiring of piftolettis, in the tyme contenit in the Dittay : And thairfore, the faid Robert Johnneftoun can nawayis be put to ane Affyfe. And for verificatioun, producet the Act of Parliament, with the Decreit of Counfell.— It is anfuerit, be my lord Aduocat, that the Act of Parliament ordanis na proceffes intentit befor the Juftice for weiring of hagbutis and piftolettis to ftay, bot quhair the faidis defenderis has been perfewit befor the Lordis of his Maieftis Secreit Counfell, be his Maieftis Thefaurer or Aduocat : And the Decreit of Secreit Counfell produceit beiris na actioun to haif bene intentit or perfewit, be his Maieftis Thefaurer or Aduocat, befor the Counfell, aganis the pannell, for the cryme contenit in the Dittay. Thairfoir, the Decreit of Counfell producet can nocht ftay proces.

It is allegit, that the Juftice can nocht proceid aganis the pannell, for the Periurie, in refpect thair is na Warrant gevin for his perfute thairfoir. And forder, the Warrant producet refolues only anent the puneifchment to be inflicted, be amputatioun of his rycht hand, he being convict of beiring and weiring of piftolettis.—To the quhilk, it is anfuerit, be my lord Aduocat, aucht to be repellit, in refpect of the Warrant gevin to him be the Lordis of Secreit Counfell to perfew the pannell, baith for the beiring and weiring of piftolettis, and for the Periurie contenit in the Dittay.

THE JUSTICE continewis this matter to the xxiiij infantis, quhilk is Fryday ; and ordanit the pannell to be tane bak agane to waird.

(Nov. 24.)—THE JUSTICE, haifing acquentit the Lordis of his Hienes Secreit Counfall with the proces perfewit be his hienes Aduocat, aganis the faid Robert Johnneftoun, for bering and wering of hagbutis and piftolettis, and with the haill allegiances and defenffis proponit hinc inde be thame, and anfueris maid thairto ; Eftir reding of the Act of Parliament and Decreit of the faidis Lordis of Secreit Counfall, quhairupoun the defenderis alledgeances and defence is foundit, and produceit for verificatioun thairof ; ffindis, with expres auife of the faidis Lordis of Secreit Counfall, that this mater aucht nocht to be put to the knowledge of ane Affyfe, in refpect of the foirfaid Act of Parliament, and Decreit of the faidis Lordis of Secreit Counfall, produceit : And Ordanis the faid Robert to be tane bak agane to the Tolbuthe of Ed^r, thairin to remane, vpone his awin expenffis, quhill he fatisfie his hienes Thefaurer, accordring to the Counfall modificatioune.

Slaughter.

Dec. 29.—WILLIAME GUTHRIE of Ravinfbie.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slaucher of vinq^{le} Patrik Gairdin of that Ilk ; committit in Maij I^m.V^c. lxxviij.

PERSEWERIS, Robert Gairdin, oy¹ to the defunct, Mr Tho^s Henderfon, substitute to the Lord Aduocat.
PRELOCUTOUR for the pannell, Mr Thomas Hoip.

The pannell takis instrumentis of his entrie; and producet ane Respett, vnder the Previe Seill, of the dait, Jan. 24, 1600, maid and grantit for the space of xix yeiris: And, in respect thair of, allegit that the Justice could nocht put him to the tryell of ane Assyse.—It is anfuert, that the Respett is null; in respect, conform to the Act of Parliament, he fould haif satisfieit the pairtie, and schaw ane Letter of Slanes thairupoune.

THE JUSTICE admittis the Respett producet; and Ordanis the pannell to find caution to satisfie the partie; quha fand Alexander Guthrie, ffear of that Ilk, cautione with himself, to satisfie the partie; conforme to the lawis of this realme.

[Sir Williame Heart, Justice-Depute.]

ASSESSORES JUSTICIARIO.

Mr Johnne Prestoun, Prefident,² Walter Lord Blantyre, My Lord Previe Seill,⁵ My Lord Kilsyth.⁴

Barbarous Murder—Shooting with Hagbutts, &c.

Feb. 2, 1610.—JAMES GORDOUN, in Over Auchinrath, eldest sone to Johnne Gordoun of Liecheftoun, and Alexander Gordoun of Oxhill.⁵

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Alexander Abircrumbie of Pitmedden.

PERSEWERIS.

Hectour Abircrumbie of Westhall, Adame, M^cWalter, and Robert Abercrumbie, all fones; Williame Abercrumbie, as oy; Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnie, kny^t.

PRELOCUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Alexander King, Mr Thomas Mawer, The Laird of Lesmoir.

DITTAY against the Pannels.

FORSAMEKILL as the saidis JAMES GORDOUN and ALEXANDER GORDOUN, with thair complices, with convocatioun of our fouerane lordis legis, to the number of systene perfones, or thairby, all bodin in feir of weir, with jakis, seereittis, steil-bonnettis, lance-stalfis, fuordis, lang culveringis, dagis, and pistolettis, exprellie prohibeit to be borne, worne, vset, or schote with, be the Actis of Parliament, vnder the panes mentionat thairintill; vpon the tuelff day of Marche, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxiiij yeiris, haifing confaueit ane deidlie feid, rancour, and malice aganis the said vniq^{le} Alexander Abercrumbie of Pitmedden, fet vpon the said vniq^{le} Alexander, at the Moss of Cokftoun, lyand within the scherefdom of Elgyn and Forres, quhair he was passand his tyme at the halking, but⁶ ony company, except his falconeris, in sober and quyet maner, dreidand na evill, harme, iniurie, or perfute of ony perfone, bot to haif levit vnder Godis peax and our fouerane lordis; and thair, expres contrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament, schot and dilaschet⁷ tuentic schote of hagbuttis and pistolettis at the said vniq^{le} Alexander; quhairby thay schote dyuerse and findrie bulletis in dyuerse pairtis of his body: And haifing circuit him round about, that he was nocht abill to estaipe, thay thairefter pat violent handis in his perfone, tuik frome him his awin horse, and cuist him vpone ane bachillane naig.⁸

¹ Oe or Oye, grandson.

² Of Fentonbarns, President of the College of Justice.

³ Sir Richard Cockburn of Clerkington.

⁴ Sir William Livingston of Kilsyth, one of the Ordinary Lords of Session.

⁵ The case was argued before the Justice-Depute on Jan. 31; and in consequence of objections being started to the production of a Remission in favour of Alexander Gordon, and of a Relaxation granted to James Gordon by the Duke of Lennox, &c., the Justice continued the diet to this day.

⁶ Without.

⁷ Old Fr. delascher, to discharge, &c.

A foundered jade of a horse; selected, no doubt, for the greater dishonour, and to give greater pain to the wounded man by its unsteady and jolting motion. Shauchilland has a similar signification.

quhairvone thay convoyit him, as ane captiue and priffoner, the space of ane myle, or thairby, fra the said Mofs, towardis the Place of Licheftoun: And being the lenth of ane half myle to the said Place, ane of the personis that war of thair companie, of the speciall knowlege of the rest, haifing ane charget hagbut in his hand, charget with thre bullettis, preparit for the purposis, at thair speciall command and directioun, behind the said vmq^{le} Alexanderis bak, schot him with thre bullettis throw the body; and thaireftir, maist barbarullie and crewallie, with thair drawin fuordis, cuttit him all in peces; and, as monfteris in nature, left nocht sax inche of his body, airmes, legis, and heid vndevydit, and cut afunder: And sa, was maist monstrouflie and crewallie flane and Murthorit be the personis foirfaidis: And thay and ilk ane of thame ar airt and pairt of the said crewall slauchter; and aucht and fould be puneit thairfoir, and for contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in beiring, weiring, schuitting, and slaying with hagbuttis and pistolettis, in maner foirfaid.

The said James and Alexander Gordoun tuik thame to tua feveral REMISSIONES, producet be thame, for the crymes aboue writtin. The ane, grantit be our fouerane lord, vnder his hienes Grit Seill, to George Marqueis of Huntlie Erle of Enzie Lord Gordoun and Badzenoche, Sir Thomas Gordoun of Glwne, kny^t, the said James and Alexander Gordones, and dyuerse vtheris perfones, thair affisteris and pairt-takeris, for thair tressonable cuming, in opin hostilitie and armour, to the landis of Auldquhannoquhen and Glenlivat, aganis Archibald, Erle of Ergyle, his Maiesteis Lieutenant for the tyme, and aganis his Maiesteis oift and cumpaneis, vnder the said Erles leiding and command, in the moneth of October 1594 yeiris; and for the Slauchter of quhatfumeuir perfone or perfones, committit aganis his Maiesteie or his hienes Lieutenant foirfaid, quhais names ar haldin as for expreffit, in the said Remiffioun; and namlie, for the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Robert Fraiser, his hienes Herauld, &c. As the said Remiffioun, of the dait at Halyrudhous, the secund day of Apryle, 1603 yeiris, in the self proportis.—The vther of the saidis Remiffiounes, grantit be Ludovick, Duik of Lennox, his Maiesteis Lieutenant and Justice, ouer the North partis of this realme, for the tyme, Remittand Johnne Gordoun of Licheftoun, the said James appeirand thair-of and Williame his fones, Alexander Gordoun in Fernauchtie, and Williame Ewin, fervandis to the said James; ffor thair tressonable being in cumpanie, affisting, airt and pairt-taking with George, sumtyme Erle of Huntlie, ffrances, sumtyme Erle of Errole, and certane vtheris his Maiesteis declairit traitouris and rebellis, at the lait Conflict aganis Archibald Erle of Ergyle, &c.

It is allegit, befoir Interlocutour, be Mr Alexander King, that now he may compeir for James Gordoune, becaus he is relaxt; quhilk relaxatioun he producet.—It is allegit, be my lord Aduocat, the Relaxatioun is null; becaus it is execute at Ed^r, and nocht at the mercait croce of the head bur^t of the schyre.—It is ansuerit, the Relaxatioun is guid aneuch at the mercait croce of Edinburghe.

It is allegit that the perfones on pannell can nocht be put to ane Assyse, becaus thay haif obtenit Remiffioun fra the Duik of Lennox, quha had Commiffioun of his Maiesteie to that effect; quhilk Remiffioun he producet. It is allegit, that the Remiffioun is null, gevin be the Duik of Lennox; becaus his Commiffioun gevis him power to grant Remiffioun, be advyfe of his Counfall; lyk as, the Remiffioun producet beiris, 'with advyfe of his Counfell,' and yit name of his Counfell hes fubferyuit the famyn. It is anfuerit, that thair is na fpeciall perfones nominat Counfallouris in the Remiffioun, and thairfoir thair is na neceffitie of thair fubfcriptioun; and haldis him at his Remiffioun, quhilk he referris to the Lordis. It is forder allegit, that the Remiffioun is nocht pafte the Seillis, and is exped be ane quha had na place in the office of Thefaurer for the tyme; and forder, the faid Remiffioun has pafte the Register, and thairfoir fould pafte the Seillis.—It is anfuerit, thair is na neceffitie of paffing the Seillis, feing it is grantit be his Maieftis Commiffioun.

THE JUSTICE, with advyfe of his Affeffouris, appointit be the Lords of Secret Counfall, ffindis, that this matter can nocht be put to the knowlege of ane Affyfe, in refpect of the Remiffiones producet. And ordanis the pannell to find caution, for fatisfacioune of the partie perfewaris, according to ordinance of the Lordis of Seffioune.

Quhairupoun the perfones on pannell afkit instrumentis: And ffand my Lord Saltoune and the Laird of Lefnoir cautioneris, conjunctlie and feuerallie, to fatisfie the parties: And the Laird of Lefnoir become obleift to warrand my Lord Saltoune.

The perfewaris proteftis, that this perfute now intentit be thame, and Interlocutor aboue written, gevin thairupoun, be nawayis preiudiciall to thame in ony vther perfute movet aganis the pannell, in ane vther nature or qualitie, in ony tyme cuming: Quhilk the Justice admittit.—Lyk as, the pannell proteftit in the contrair; and afkit instrumentis thairupoune.

Slaughter.

Jul. 25.—WILLIAME GUTHRIE of Ravinfbie, lauchfull fone to vmq^{le} Alexander Guthrie of that Ilk.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Robert Gairdin of Tullois; committit vpon the Mure callit Carbundow-mure, in the lie-way betuix Brechin and Dundie, in the moneth of Nouember, 1589; vpon fet purpois, prouiffioun, and foirthocht felony.

PERSEWARIS, Robert Gairdin, as only fone to vmq^{le} Robert Gairdin of Tullois; Mr Robert Gairdin, appeirand of Blairtoun; Commiffar Clerk of Aberdene, as neir kinfman; Mr Robert ffoullis, fubftitute to our fouerane lordis Aduocat.

PRELOCUTORIS in defence, Mr Johnne Ruffell, The Laird of Guthrie.

The faid Williame Guthrie tuik him to our fouerane lordis Refpett, gevin and grantit to him be his Maieftie, vnder the Previe Seill, for the faid Slauchter, for the space of nyntene yeiris eftir the dait thairof; quhilk is of dait, at Halyrud-hous, the xxiiij day of Januar, I^m.Vj^c. yeiris; and in respect thairof, allegit, that the said Dittay could nawayes be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse, for the said Slauchter.—To the quhilk it was anfuerit be the Aduocat, that the Respett is null, becaus, conforme to the Act of Parliament, na Respett nor Remiffioun can be grantit without satisfioun of partie; and this perfewar nocht being satisfeit, the Justice aucht to put the pannell to the knowlege of ane Assyse.

THE JUSTICE, nochtwithstanding of the Aduocattis anfuer, eftir reiding of the Dittay and Respett aboue specifeit, Admittis the said Respett; and ordanit the pannell to find caution to satisfie the partie perfewar, conforme to the lawis of this realme; but preiudice alwayis of his lauchfull defensis: Quha, for obedience of the said Justice ordinance, stand, with him selff, Alexander Guthrie ffear of that Ilk, cautioneris, &c.

High Treason — Tyrannical Oppression of the Inhabitants of Orkney and Zetland, &c.

[As the subsequent Trials of PATRICK, second EARL OF ORKNEY,¹ and of ROBERT STEWART² and others, contain the most ample information relative to the infamous and almost unparalleled cruelties and oppressions committed by this tyrannical individual, against the unoffending Inhabitants of Orkney and Zetland, it is unnecessary, in this place, to anticipate the extraordinary circumstances which are there detailed. The Editor has been at much pains to procure the most authentic Documents, in illustration of these very remarkable Trials; to which the reader is referred. They contain the fullest and most minute accounts of the shocking atrocities committed by this savage and relentless Noble, whose life, estates, and honours, were at length forfeited, in atonement, so far, for his frightful crimes. He was beheaded at the market-cross of Edinburgh, Feb. 6, 1614.]

Aug. 2.—PATRIK EARLE OF ORKNAY LORD ZEITLAND, &c.

Dilaitit of certane Treffonable crymes, at lenth specifeit and fett down in our fouerane Lordis Letteris, vnderwritten :

FOLLOWIS the tennour of the Letteris (DITTAY.)

JAMES, be the grace of God, King of Grit Britane, ffrance and Ireland, defender of the faith. To our Louittis [Johnne Blinell, Ilay Herauld] Messen-geris, our schereffis in that pairt, coniunctie and fenerallie, speciallie constitute, greting. fforfamekill as it is hunlie meanit and compleit to ws be our trustie and weilbelouit counsalour Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnies, kny^t, our Aduocat, for our intreis, vpon PATRIK, EARLE OF ORKNAY, Lord Zeitland, &c. : THAT quhair, it is expresse statute, ordanit, and obseruet, be our lawis and Actis of Parliament of this our realme, and be the Cowmoun Law and consuetude inuolabillie obserued in all Christiane and ciuile Nationes, that quha euir dois Treafone aganis the Kingis perfone, or his Maieftie; or vfurpes vponethame his fouerane authoritie, in poyntis of royall fouerantie, falbe pweifched as Tratouris. AND trew it is, and of verritie, that the faid Patrik, Erle of Orknay, altogidder vnmynndfull of that dewtie, quhilk, be the bandis of nature, fubiection, and allegiance, he aucht¹ to ws, and infinite fauouris and benifeitis reffaut be him frome ws, hes, be him felff, and vtheris in his name, of his caufeing, command, reffet, affiftance, and rathabitoune, in contempt of ws and our auctoritie royall, committed and perpetrat the moft (cruel) and trefoneable crymes following, at the tymes and in maner vnderwritin: And was and is airt and pairt of the famyn. IN the firft, the faid Patrick, Erle of Orknay, be him felff, his deputis, Magiftrattis, and Judges, appointed and depute be him, in the offices of Scherefschip, Stewartrie, and Bailzerie of our feherefdome and bifchoprik of Orknay, and lordfchip of Zeitland, refpectiue, of his caufing, command, affiftance, and rathabitoune, monethlie and ilk moneth, in the yearis of God I^m.V^c. fourfoir nyne, 1590, 1591, 1592, 1593, 1594, 1595, 1596, 1597, 1598, 1599, 1600, 1601, 1602, 1603, 1604, 1605, 1606, 1607, 1608, 1609, and ane thoufeand fax hundreth and ten yeiris, at the leift in ane or vther of the faidis monethis and yeiris, perfewed, accused, proceidit, and pronunced dyuerfe decreittis and fentences aganis vmq^lc Sir Patrik Bellenden of Evie, kny^t, Balfoure of Montquhanie, Robert Menteithe of, Williame Bannatyne of Gairfay, Sinclair 3ounger of Etha, Bruce of Cwltmalundie, Henrie Wardlaw his fervand, Adame Mudie,² with mony vtheris our faithfull and obedient fubiectis of the countreyis of Orknay and Zeitland, accoirding to lawis treffonabillie maid and practized be him felff, direct contrair and repugnant to the lawis of our realme, and Actis of our Parliament, maid be ws and our maift noble progenitouris, Kingis of this our realme, to quhome only the power to mak lawis belongis, as ane peculiar poynt of our and thair regall fouerantie; and thairby decernit thame to haif committit capitall and treffonable crymes; and of his awin prefumptioun and vfurpatioun of our authoritie royall, without ony warrand of ws, hes treffonabillie difpenfit with the poyntes of death, and ordanit the faidis perfones quha war convict and condemned, in maner foirfaid, only to be banifched furth of the faidis boundis of Orknay and Zeitland; and hes treffonabillie adiudget thair landis, guidis and geir to be fforfaltit and efcheit to him felff. AS ALSO, the faid Patrik, Erle of Orknay, be him felff and his foirfaidis, in the monethis and yeiris of God foirfaidis, att the leift, in ane or vther of the faidis monethis and yeiris, treffonabillie perfuadit, induced, counfallit, and commandit Williame Sinclair of Etha, Henrie Sinclair of Tenquhie, Mr Robert Henderfoun, Williame Irwing of Saba, and mony vthir gentilmen of the faidis countreis of Orkney and Zeitland, to subferyve and delyuer to him ane Band callit Band-mutus,¹ and thairby obleife thame selfis and thair airis, that thai fould ferue and mantene him aganis quhat-fumeuir perfones, without ony referuatioun of ws;² and that thay fould nevir heir nor know his hurt or skaith, bot fould reveil it within tuentie foure houres, without ony exceptioun of impossibilitie or distance of place, contrarietie of wind, wedder, or vther impediment; vnder the pane of tynfell³ of lyfe, landis, and guidis; contening also this claufe, ‘that gif it happin that þe contravening of this Band, be ony of the saidis subferyveris, fould (fall) nocht cum to þe said Erles knowlege, quhill⁴ eftir the committeris deceife, it fould (fall) be leifum to him to try the samyn eftir þair daithis aganis þair airis, and pwneife þair saidis aris as he mycht haif done the principall offendour: And that the said probatioun of þair contravening of the said Band fould (fall) be sufficient be tua witnessis: Bindand lykwayis the saidis Gentilmen and vtheris of the cuntrie to be judged be the said Erle; and nevir to feik to King, Counsell, nor Sessioune!’ Quhilk Band the said Erle hes debaited to be lauchfull, and hes confest the reffaucing and haveing thairof; althocht it be maist vnnaturall, uniuft, tyrannicall, impossible, and tressonable; bindand men to impossibilities, and inioyning to thame, in caice of contraventioun, the paynes of Treason, ffor naiked conceilling and nocht reveilling his skaith, generallie, in ony matter; it being of verritie, that no man hes power to preseryve or exact such paynes, bot only fouerane poyntes, and that in matteris treasonable allanerlie. Quhairby, the said Erle hes manifestlie and treasonable usurped vpone him our royall authoritie and princelie power, in poyntis of our absolute foueranitie. LYK AS, the said Patrik Erle of Orkney hes tressonable tane vpone him, in the saidis yeiris and monethis, at the leif in ane or vther of thame, to call and persew befor him and his pretendit deputtis and Judges, in his pretendit Jurisdictiones of Orkney and Zeitland, Adame Mudie, and many vtheris our frie and obedient subiectis; and eftir his pretendit maner, haifing accused and convicted thame of dyverse crymes, hes nocht only pronounced aganis thame the Sentence of Banishment, and sforfaltour to him selff of thair landis and guidis; bot thaireftir componed, transacted, and agreid with thame, and treasonable vsurped our royall authoritie and fouerane power, be Remitting to thame the saidis capitall crymes; quhilk no man hes power to do, within this our realme, bot the King and fouerane of the same. AS LYKWAYIS, the said Erle, bereifing our faithfull subiectis of the benifeit of our peace and generall protectione, and the fredome of thair travelling and traffique be sea and land, hes, in the yeiris and monethis foirfaidis, att the leift in ane or vther of thame, discharged the passageis and ferreis of Orknay and Zeitland, that nane fould haif entreis or outgoing furth thairof, without his Pasport and Licence; and did incarcerat, in stokis and irnes, the servandis of James Stewart of Granesay, for transpoirting of Robert Menteithe his guidbrother,¹ without his licence; and caused incarcerat the servandis of Frances Mudie, for transpoirting thair said maister;—the men of Sowna, for transpoirting Williame Bannatyne;—and the men of Flottay, for transpoirting of, thair maister; held and detenet thame captiues and priffoneris, in irnes, stokis, cloifs-priffone and firmance, dyuerse dayis and oulkis;² vsurpeing thairby, most tressonablie, our autoritie royall, and bereifing our lauchfull subjectis of the vse and benefite of thair natiue libertie, dew to thame, in thair frie passage and traffique, vnder our peace and protectioun, throw all the pairtis of this our kingdome, be sea or land. AND nocht content thairwith, the said Erle, leifing na foirt of extraordiner Oppressioun and tressoneable violence vnpractized aganis the saidis Inhabitanes of Orknay and Zeitland, at the tymes perticulerlie aboue reherfet, at the leift in dyuerse of the monethis and yeiris foirfaidis, hes compellit the maist pairt of the gentilmenis tennentis of the saidis contreyis of Orknay and Zeitland to work to him all maner of work and laubour be sea and land, in rolling³ and failling his schipis and boittis, working in the flane-querrel,⁴ wynning and beiring furth thairof stanes and red furth thairof, laidning his boittis and schelopes⁵ with stane and lyme, and loifing the same, biging his park dykes, and all vther foirtis of ferveill and paynefull laubour, without ather meit, drink, or hyre.⁶ AND, to conclude the vtter rwyne of the possessouris of the saidis landis and Yles, hes, in the saidis yeiris and monethis, att the leift in dyuerse of the same, imposed, exacted, and tressonabillie vplifted frome thame, dyuerse grit and exorbitant taxationes and impositiones, quhilkis na man may lauchfullie do, within this our realme, bot We, of our souerane power allanerlie; vsurpeand thairby, maist tressonabillie, vpon him, our autoritie royall. FINALLIE, the said Erle, in the saidis monethis and yeiris, at the leift in ane or vther of thame, hes tressonabillie discharget the saidis Inhabitantis of Orknay or Zeitland, to by or sell meill, malt, meit, drink, fische, flesche, butter, nolt, scheip, or ony vther commoditeis, without his Licence, vnder grit penalteis; lykas, he

¹ See Feb. 1, 1615.

² The Trial of Robert Stewart, 'base sone to vniq^{le} Patrik, lait Erle of Orknay,' and others, will be found under Jan. 5, 1615, of the present Collection.

¹ Owes.² A blank of about six lines is left here in the Record.

¹ Query, Band-mutus? A bond for mutual protection and defence, secretly and solemnly binding the obligants to maintain each other, in their quarrels, ‘against all deadly.’ These illegal engagements were formally put down by various Acts of Parliament; as ‘Bonds of Manrent’ were the principal means of encouraging and keeping alive those deadly feuds which disgraced the country, and rendered the state of society in Scotland very insecure, and in many instances almost intolerable. ² Without even reserving their lawful allegiance to the king. ³ Loss. ⁴ Until.

¹ Brother-in-law.

² Weeks.

³ Rowing with oars.

⁴ Stone quarry.

⁵ Shallops; small vessels.

⁶ This inhumanity of the Earl of Orkney appears, by existing documents, to have been carried to the most frightful excess—and the lives of the unfortunate natives rendered utterly wretched, worse than the condition of galley-slaves, or that of the Christian captives in Barbary—being only paralleled by the ‘ Egyptian bondage and oppression of the children of Israel, under King Pharaoh!’—Reference may be made to the Trials and Documents before quoted.

hes oft and dyuerse tymes, with all rigour, exacted the saidis penalties aganis findrie of the saidis Inhabitantis, for thair lauchfull bying and felling of thair commoditeis and necessaris without his licence. QUHILKIS Treasonable crymes aboue writtin, and ilk ane of thame, war done, committed, and perpetrat be the said Patrik Erle of Orknay, be him selff and his complices, and vtheris in his name, of his causing, command, assistance, and ratihabitoune : And thairby, the said Patrik Erle of Orknay hes committed Treafone aganis Ws, and hes tref-soneabillie usurped vpon him the poyntis of oure fouerantie, and inseperable partis of our Royal power and authoritie : And he is airt and pairt thairof : And aucht and fould be pwneisched thairfoir, be the paynes of Treafone, with all rigour ; in example of vtheris to attempt the lyke, gif sa be. OURE WILL IS HEIRFOIR, and We charge yow straitlie, and command, that incontinent thir our Letteris sene, ye pas, and in our name and authoritie command and charge the said Patrik Erle of Orknay, committer of treafoneable crymes aboue writtin, in maner foirsaid, vpon fourtie dayis wairning, to find sufficient and responfall cautoun and fouertie, actit in our Buikis of Adiornall, that he fall compeir befoir our Justice or his deputis to vnderly our lawis for the samyn, in our Tol-buth of Edinburgh, the secund day of August nixtocum, in the hour of caus, vnder the paynes contenit in our Actis of Parliament : And that ye charge him personallie, gif he can be apprehendit, and failzeing thairof, at our Castell of Edinburgh, quhairin he hes his remaning for the present, and be oppin proclamatioun at the mercat croce of our burgh of Edinburgh, to find the said fouertie actit, in maner foirsaid, within sax dayis next aftir he be charget be yow thairto : vnder the pane of rebellioun, and putting of him to our horne. The quhilkis sax dayis being by past, and the said fouertie nocht being fundin, that ye incontinent thaireftir denunce the said Patrik Erle of Orknay our rebell, and put him to our horne, and escheit and inbring all his moveabill guidis to our vse, for his contemptioun ; and caus Register thir our Letteris, with your executiones thairof, within fyftene dayis thaireftir, conforme to our Act of Parliament made thair-ant : And gif he find the said fouertie, that ye summond ane Assyse heirto, nocht exceeding the number of fourtie five persones, quhais naines ye fall res-saue, in Roll, subscryuit be the compliner ; ilk persone vnder the pane of ane hundreth merkis. Accordring to Justice. As ye will ansuer to ws thairvpoun. The quhilck to do, We commit to yow, coniunctlie and seuerallie, our full power, be thir our Letteris, delyuering thame be yow, deulie execute and indorsate agane to the beirar. GEVIN vnder our Signet at EDINBURGH, the fourt day of Junij, and of our regne the aucht and fourtie thre yeiris, 1610.

Ex deliberatione Dominorum Consilij.

*J. BANNATYNE.*¹

¹ Writer to the signet, and nearly related to the now celebrated George Bannatyne.

FOLLOWIS *the tennour of the EXECUTIOUNE*¹ of the saidis Letteris.

VPOUN the tuentie day of Junij, the 5eir of God I^m. fax hundreth and ten 5eiris, I JOHNNE BLINSELLIS, Yla Herald, past, at command of thir our fouerane lordis Letteris, within writtin, to his Maiesteis CASTELL OF EDⁿ; and thair, with my displayit coit of airmes, and be found of trumpet, foundit be Siluester Ramfay, trumpeter, I commandit and charget PATRIK, ERLE OF ORKNAY, personallie apprehendit, within the said Castell, and delyverit to him ane just and autentik coppie of the saidis within writtin Letteris, subferyuit with my hand, to find sufficient and responfall caution and fouertie to the Justice Clerk and his deputtis, actit in the buikis of Adiornall, that he fall compeir befor the Justice or his deputis, day and place within specifeit, in pe hour of caus, and vnderly the Law for the tressonabill crymes within reherfit; within fax days nixt estir this my charge; vnder the pane of rebellious and puting of him to the horne. This I did, estir the forme and tennour of thir our fouerane lordis Letteris, in all poyntis; befor thir Witneffis, George Kirkwoid, Albanie herald, Robert Logane, messinger, Siluester Ramfay, trumpeter, and Williame Dalglefche, post in Ed^r, with dyuerse vtheris. And for the mair verification of this my Executioun, subferyuit with my hand, my signet is affixt.

JOHNNE BLINSELL, Ilay Herald. (L. S.)

Thaireftir, my Lord Aduocat producet ane Warrant of the Lordis of his Maiesteis Secreit Counsaill, direct to my Lord Justice, ffor continuation of the said dyet, to the nynt day of August instant. Off the quhilk Warrant the tennour followis.

JUSTICE, Justice Clerk and 5our deputtis. fforfamekill as the secund day of August nixtocum, being appointit to PATRIK, ERLE OF ORKNAY, for his compeirance befor 5ow, to vnderly the Lawis, for certane crymes specifeit and contenit in the Letteris raised pairant: Neuertheles, for some speciall considerationes of his Maiesteis seruice, it is oure Will, and we command 5ou to continew the said dyet, to the nynt day of the said moneth of August nixtocum; conforme to the ordour obseruet in the lyk caiffis: Whearant, thir presentis falbe 5our Warrant. AT EDINBURGH, the xxvij day of July, 1610.

AL. CANCELL^r. DUMBAR.

THE JUSTICE, for obedience of the said Ordinance, continewit the said dyet to the said nynt day of August instant.

My Lord of Orknay takis instrumentis of his compeirance, and declairis quhat

¹ The Legal antiquary will peruse this curious document with much interest. The 'pomp and circumstance' of Ilay Herald, arrayed in his tabard, and attended by Albany Herald, and their respective Pursuivants and Witnesses, after a flourish by one of the trumpeters attached to the Herald's College, personally apprehends, as it is legally termed, the Earl of Orkney, and formally charges him, by virtue of the Royal Letters. The present unmeaning and empty form employed by Messengers-at-Arms (being still attached to the Lion King-at-Arms College) bears traces of this ancient ceremony; and still, in the event of the party being denounced rebel, the instrument bears this to have been done, 'after three several blasts' of a horn or trumpet, at the market-cross of the head burgh where the rebel (fictione juris) resides, or where his usual domicile is situated. If 'furth' of Scotland, the ceremony is supposed, by a practical fiction, to be denounced at the market-cross of Edinburgh, pier and shore of Leith; but in truth, it is effected by the Messenger sitting snugly in his chamber, perhaps up eight or ten pair of stairs, signing an attestation, which is also subscribed by two witnesses, termed concurrents. It is in the recollection of some practitioners of the Law, that a few Messengers, of the old school, actually went to market-cross, pier and shore, and in these 'good old times,' every man was 'his own Trumpeter!' A rigidly conscientious person of this class, actually carried a model of a horn in silver, regularly perforated, and at each of the places requisite gave 'three several blasts,' by breathing through this curious instrument, much to the edification of the bystanders, who naturally inferred the man to be insane! But he sternly performed his duty, 'through good report and through bad report,' in despite of all such taunts; and was, moreover, the best employed Messenger of his day.

evir allegit cryme is fett down in his Dittay, he had sufficient power and authority grantit to him to do the same; nocht granting thame to be crymes: As fall be justifeit be him, in the awin¹ tyme and place.

(Aug. 9.)—MY Lord Aduocat producet ane Warrant of the Lordis of his Maiesteis Secreit Counsell, anent the continuatioun of this dyet appointit for my Lord Orknayis tryell, to the faxtene day of August instant.² The Erle of Orknay askit instrumentis of his entrie; and offerit him selff to the Tryell of the law, for the allegit crymes contenit in the Letteris, nochtwithstanding of the said continuatioun.

(Aug. 16.)—THE JUSTICE Ordanit this dayis dyett, appointit for tryell of my Lord of Orknay, &c. to defert; in respect that my Lord Orknay was nocht presentit upone pannell.

(Nov. 22.)—MY Lord Aduocat producet the summondis, &c.³ Thaireftir my lord Aduocat producet to the Justice, ane Warrant of the Secreit Counsell, direct to him, anent the continuatioun of this dyet to the nyntene day of December nixtocum.⁴ My Lord of Orknay takis instrumentis, &c.

(Dec. 19.)—ANOTHER Warrant is produced for continuatioun of the trial to Mar. 8, 'nixtocum,' dated Dec. 19, 1610: and is signed 'Al. Cancell⁵. Jo. Prestoun. Blantyre. R. Cokburne. Kilfythe.'

[Mr Robert Cokburne, Justice-Depute.]

(1611, Mar. 8.)—A WARRANT, dated March 7, 1611, is again produced, continuing the Trial to 'the fyftene day of May nixtocum,' signed by the Chancellor, 'Jo. Prestoun. A. M. Elphinstoun. R. Cokburne.'—My Lord of Orknay takis instrumentis of his entrie, and nochtwithstanding of the quhilk Warrant of the Counsell, offeris him selff to the Tryell of the Law, for ony crymes that can be laid to his charge; disassenting simpliciter to all forder continuatioun.

THE JUSTICE Ordanit the said Erle of Orknay to be returnit back agane to his waird.⁵

[Sir Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Treason—Declining the Jurisdiction of the King and Privy Council.

Aug. 29.—MR ANDRO CREICHTOUN, brother to the Laird of Innernytie.⁶ Dilaitit of the Declyning of his Maiestie and Lordis of Secreit Counsal Judgement; and thairby committing Treafoun, contrair the Actis of Parliament.

¹ In its own, or in its proper time and place. ² The Warrant is verbatim the same with the former; and is subscribed by the Lord Chancellor and Earl of Dunbar. It is dated Aug. 9, 1610.
³ The Letters and Execution are repeated. ⁴ In same terms as the others. Dated Nov. 20, 1610, and signed by 'E. Glencairne. Sanctandros. Blantyre. Jo. Prestoun. R. Cokburne.'
⁵ An attested copy of the above proceedings, by Sir John Cokburn of Ornestoun, knight, Clerk of Justiciary, is preserved in the General Register House, with various other papers relative to Orkney. ⁶ See Arnot's Crim. Trials, p. 37, 67, and 328. The Case of Ogilvie the Jesuite, 1615, in this Collection, &c.

DITTAY against the Pannell.

MR ROBERT CREICHTOUN, proper to the Laird of Invernytie; 3e ar Indytit and accuset: for famekill as, 3e, being takin, be directioun of the Lordis of his Maiesteis most honourabill Previe Counfall, and broght befor þame, vpon the fastene day of August instant, to be examinat vpon sum materis concerning his Maiestie and the estait of this his Kingdome, and requyred be thair Lordschepis to geve 3our aith to thame, that 3e fould faithfullie and treulie ansuer to thame, and declair the veritie of sache thingis as suld be demanded of 3ow, 3e treasoncabillie refused to acknowledge his Maiestie and the saidis Lordis of his most honourabill Previe Counfall to be 3our Judges, bot maist treasoncabillie declyned þair judgement: And efter þat þai had put 3ow in remembrance of þat deutie and subiection quhilk 3e aucht¹ þe our said souerane lord, both in respect 3e was his naturall borne subject within þis realme, and þat 3e war now actuallie resident within þe samyn: And that, be Act of Parliament, maid in þe moneth of May, the 3eir of God I^m.V^c. four scoir four 3eiris, our said souerane lord was declairit, be him selff and his Counfall, to be Judge competent to all persones his hienes subjectis, of quhatfumenir degre, functioun or condition thay be of, spirituall or temporall, in all matteris quhairin thay or ony of thame fould be summond or charget to ansuer to; and that nane fould tak vpon hand to declyne the Judgement of his hienes and his successoris, or þair Counfallis, in the premisses, vnder þe pane of Treafone. Lyk as, for 3our better informatioun and resolutioun, þe said Act of Parliament was than schawin and red to 3ow: 3e neuerþeles, vnnaturallie, rebellioullie, and treasonablie persisting in 3our mischevous purpois, still refused to acknowledge þe Jurisdiction of his Maiestie and his Secret Counfall. Lyk as, vpon the xxiiij day of August instant, 3e being of new broght befor þe saidis Lordis of Secret Counfall, and admonished and exhorted to acknowlege and amend 3our treasoncabill offence, and to acknowlege his Maiestie to be 3our superiour, and his hienes and þe Lordis of Secret Counfall to be 3our lauchfull Judges, and to haif jurisdiction over 3ow, 3e answered, as ofbefoir, that 3e was nawayis better resolved, bot that 3e still abaid be 3our former Deposition and ansuir, that his Maiestie and the Lordis of Secret Counfall was nocht 3our superiouris or Judges. And sua, 3e haif treasoncabillie contemned and declyned the authoritie of our said souerane lord and þe Jurisdiction of his hienes and Lordis of his Secret Counfall; and þairly haif incurret and fould suffer the paynes of Treafone, to be executed aganis 3ow, in 3our body, lyfe, landis, guidis, fame, and memorie; in example of vtheris: Quhilkis 3e can nocht deny; in respect of your Depositiones, extant, and heir productet in Judgement, subscryuit with your hand, most cleirlye verifeing all þe premisses.

Eftir reiding quhair of, and accusatioun of the said Mr Andro, be vertew of the same, and Confessioun maid be the said Mr Andro, in judgement, to the Justice, granting the treuth of the said Dittay, and abyding still at his former Depositiones; quhair vpon instrumentis was tane be our said souerane lordis Aduocat, the Justice referrit the said Dittay to the knowlege and tryell of ane Assyse of the persones following: Thay ar to say;

ASSISA.

James Stewart of Grameslaw, Robert Menteith of Eglislaw, Thomas Lyell of Murchill, Vthreid McDowell of Mondork,² Mr Robert Henderfoan of Holland, Mr Gilbert Gordoun of Chirnes.³

Quhilkis persones of Assyse being chosin, sworne, and admittit, eftir accusatioune of new agane of the said Mr Andro Creichtoune, be Dittay, of the said treasonable cryme, quhilk in the said Justice and personis of Assyse awin prefens and audience of new agane was grantit and confest, judiciallie, be the said Mr Andro to be of verritie; the said Sir Thomas Hammiltoun, for forder verificatioun of the said Dittay, producet the said Mr Andro Creichtones Depositiones, subferyuit with his hand, in presens of the Lordis of his Maiesteis most honourabill Previe Counfall, and repeittit thairwith the Act of Parliament, the pannellis Judiciall Confessioun, maid in presens of the Justice and Assyse; and thairupoun askit instrumentis; and protestit for Wilfull Errour aganis thame, gif thai acquit him.

¹ Owed.² Chancellor of the Assize.³ The rest of the Assise, 'mercheandis,' &c.

VERDICT. That the said MR ANDRO was Culpable and convict of the trefonable Declyneing of his Maieftie and Lordis of his hienes Secretit Counfall to be his Judges, accoirding to his accusatioun aboue writtin, contenit in his Dittay, sufficientlie verifeit to thame be his Depositiones, producit to thame, subferyuit with his hand; as also, be his Judiciall Confessioun, maid in the Justice and thair presence.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercait croce of the burgh of Ed^r, and thair to be hangit and demanit as ane Tratour; and all his landis, heritages, tenementis, annuelrentis, takis, steidingis, &c. to be fforfalt and escheit to our souerane lordis vs^e, as culpable and convict, &c.¹

[Mr Alexander Coluill, Justice-Depute.]

(1611, Feb. 27.)—THE quhilk day, Mr Andro Creichtoun being, at command of the Counfall, brocht furth of waird out of the Tolbuth of Ed^r, and presentit vponne pannell, to heir Dome of new agane pronuncet vponne him, the Justice ordanit the Counfallis Warrant vnderwrittin, delyuerit to him be my Lord Chancellor, to be oppinlie red in judgment, viz.

JUSTICE, Justice clerk, and your deputtis. Forfamekill as althocht Dome and Sentence was pronuncet aganis Mr Andro Creichtoun, proper to be Laird of Innernytie, ordaning him to haif bene tane to the place of his Executionn, and pair to be hangit and vperwayis demanit as ane tratour, for his trefsonabill declyneing of the Kingis Maieftie and his Counfallis judgement, and for certane vtheris trefsonabill crymes specifeit and contenit in the Sentence and Dome of Convictioun pronunced aganis him: Neuertheles, it hes now plefit the Kingis Maieftie, out of his accustomed gracious dispositioun to clemencie and mercie, to mitigat the rigour of the Sentence pronuncet aganis the said Mr Andro, and to Ordane him to be Banischet his Maiesteis haill dominions; and nevir to returne agane within the same, during his lyve tyme, vnder the pane of deid, to be execute vponne him without forder dome or Sentence to be pronuncet aganis him. THAIRFORE, zow fall, vponne ye sicht heirof, appoint and set ane Justice Court, caus ye said Mr Andro to be exhibit befoir zow, and pronounce new Sentence aganis him, conforme to his Maiesteis gracious fauour, clemencie and mercie, Ordaning him to be BANISHED his Maiesteis haill dominions, and nevir to returne agane within the samyn, during his lyfytyme, vnder the payne to be Hangit quhill he be deid, without ony forder dome or Sentence to be pronunced aganis him; and that, for contravening of pis present Sentence. EFTIR the pronunceing quhairof, zow fall caus returne him bak agane to his waird, thairin to remane, quhill the commoditie be had of some schip going out of the cuntrie; quhairby he may be caryed to hir be þe Magiftratis of Ed^r, and sua fend away. And this 5ow failt nocht to do: Whearant þir presentis fall be 5our Warrant. AT ED^r, the xxvj day of Februar, 1611. JAMES R.

¹ Mr. The Dittay, with the pannellis Depositiones, gevin vp to my Lord Aduocat the day foirsaid.

The Justice, for obedience of the command thairin contenit, be the mouthe of Alexander Kenmydie, dempfter of Court, decernit,¹ &c. Whilk was pronounced for Dome.

[Sir William Heart, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter — Intercommuning with Rebels — Treasonable Theft and Stouthreik, &c.

Sept. 6.—WILLIAME DOUGLAS of Lyncluden and Grenelaw,² (callit Williame of Pinzerie,) eldest sone and appeirand air of Williame Douglas of Baitfurd.

Dilaitet of dyuerse crymes of Slauchter; beiring and weiring of pistolettis; and of the tressonabill crymes of thift committit be him, he being ane landit Gentilman; in manner spacificit in his DITTAY, vnder writtin.

FORSAMEKILL as 5e, haifing confaut ane deidlie ffeid, rancour, and malice, without ony caus, aganis vmq^{le} Thomas Softlaw, burges of Dumfreis, vpon the fyft day of Apryle, or pairby, the 5eir of God Im.Vj^c. and sewin 5eiris, and haifing convocat with 5ow Johne Cunninghame, 5our seruand, and vperis deboifchet men, 5our complices, to þe number of tuentie perfones, or pairby, all bodin in feir of weir, with lance-stalfis, fuordis, quhingeris,³ and with hagbuttis and pistolettis, prohibeit to be borne or worne be dyuerse Actis of Parliament, came to the Brigend of Dumfreis, quhair the said vmq^{le} Thomas was, in quyet and fober maner, vnder Godis peax and the Kingis; and pair, 5e fearcelie fet vpon him, and perfewed him for his slauchter, hurt and woundit him with 5our pistolettis, and vtheris wappones foirfaidis, in þe heid, and dyuerse vperis partis of his body; to the effusioun of his bluid in grit quantitie; off the quhilkis fraikis and woundis he schortlie paireftir departit this lyfe; and sa, was crewallie and vnmerciefullie flane, be 5ou, and 5our saidis complices, of 5our causing, command, assistance, and ratihabitoun; and 5e ar airt and pairt pairof. To the taikin,⁴ that 5e, and 5our saidis complices, being charget to find caution to compeir befor þe Justice, and vnderly þe law for þe said Slauchter, 5e past twyse to the horne for þe said cryme, as the Letteris of Hoirning heirwith producet verifeis.—ITEM, 5e ar indytit and accused, as airt and pairt of þe crewall and fellone Slauchter of vmq^{le} Eduard Maxwell of Croftoun, committed at þe Brigend of Dumfreis, vpon the day of September, or pairby, the 5eir of God Im.Vj^c. and aucht 5eiris, be 5ow þe said Williame Douglas of Lincluden, Johnne Schitlingtoun, 5our servand, Johnne Greir, suordflipper at the Brigend of Dumfreis, and Johnne Dempfter in the College of Lincluden, quho of 5our speciall causing, sending, hounding out, airt and pairt-taiking, resset with the bludie hand, assistance, and ratihabitoun, with pair fuordis, lances, and vperis wappones, invafue, invaidit and perfewit þe said vmq^{le} Eduard Maxwell, for his Slauchter, and hurt and woundit him in þe heid, and dyuerse partis of his body, to þe grit effusioun of his bluid. Off the quhilkis woundis he nevir thaireftir convalesced; bot lying in extreame and deidlie payne, be þe space of fyve or sax dayis, in end, vpoun the . . . day of September, ¹ The words of the warrant repeated.

² The family of Douglas of Penzire was descended from George Douglas, the third son of Sir William Douglas of Drumlanrig, who was killed July 22, 1484, near Lochmaben. William of Penzire married Agnes, second daughter of John, sixth Lord Maxwell, (the father of John the seventh Lord Maxwell, whose Treason, escape, &c. form part of this Dittay,) by Lady Elizabeth Douglas, second daughter of David, seventh Earl of Angus. This circumstance explains satisfactorily that part of the Dittay which refers to his resetting, and other transactions with Lord Maxwell, his brother-in-law.

³ A short sword or hanger; a kind of cutlass.

⁴ In token, proof, or testimony whereof.

or pairby, the 3eir of God 1608 3eiris foirfaid, he depairtit this lyfe; and sua, was crewallie flane be 3ou and 3our faidu complices, of 3our causing, command, refset, affitance, and ratihabitoun: And 3e ar airt and pairt pairof; ffor þe quhilk, 3e haif lyne at þe horne thir tuo 3eiris bygane. 3e ar also Indytit, fforfamekill as þe faid Johnne Greir, being tane with the bludie hand, and immediatlie efter þe committing of þe faid crewall Slauchter of þe faid vmq^{le} Eduard Maxwall, being committit to Waird for þe fame, in our fouerane lordis ordiner Priffone and Pledge-chalmer of Dumfreis, and pair keipit priffoner in the irnes, be the space of foure dayis, the faid Johnne Schitlingtoun, 3our fervand, at 3our command, and be 3our speciall convoy and affitance, haveing provydit him self of gavillokis,¹ craw-irnes,² fyles, and vperis work-lowmes,³ furneist and preparit to him be 3ou and 3owr meanis, come vpon the . . . day of þe faid moneth of September, or pairby, and 3eir of God foirfaid, and in the nyght seafoun brak þe vout and pend⁴ of þe faid prifone, and schure⁵ af þe irnes, quhairin the faid Johnne Greir was loked, and violentlie and forceable relevit him furth of our fouerane lordis Prifone foirfaid, and cayreid him to 3our duelling hous in Lyncluden, wher 3e refset, keiped, and interteneid him dyuerse dayis, nychtis, and oulkis⁶ paireftir: And sua, 3e ar airt and pairt of the contemptuous, insolent, and violent breking of our fouerane lordis prifone, and taking furth pairof, violentlie and perforce, of the faid Johnne Greir, giltie and captiue for þe faid crewall Slauchter of þe faid vmq^{le} Eduard Maxwall of Corstoun, and of þe wilfull refset, supplie, and intertenement of þe faid Johnnie Grier, giltie and fugitiue for þe faid crewal Slauchter; and aucht and fould be pwneifched with the lyk and self fame paynes quhilk þe law hes preseryved aganis þe faid principall malefactour, for his crymes foirfaidis. To the taikin,⁷ that þe faid Johnne Grier and 3e war bothe fugitives, and at þe horne, for þe cryme foirfaid.—ITEM, 3e ar indytit of 3our treaffounabill Intercowmoning with JOHNNE sumtyme LORD MAXWALL,⁸ in the toun of Dumfreis, and in the Castell-3aird pairof, and dyuerse vtheris places within the scherefdomes of Nyddisdail, Annandaill, Kirculdrycht, and Galloway; and for Refseting and suppleing him in 3our hous of Lyncluden, and vperis 3our duelling places, in þe moneth of December, the 3ear of God I^m.Vj^c. and fevin 3eiris, and in þe monethis of Januar, februar, and remanent monethis of þe 3eir of God 1608 3eiris, at þe leift dyuerse dayis and nychtis of þe faid 3eir, eftir that he had committed nottour and manifst Treafone, be his violent and forceable breking Waird furth of þe Castell of Edinburgh, vpon the fourt day of December, or pairby, þe 3eir of God I^m.Vj^c. and fevin 3eiris, and perfewing the Porteris and Keiperis pairof for pair Slauchter, hurting and wounding dyuerse of þame in findrie partis of pair bodeis, to þe grit effufioun of pair bluidis, and perrell of pair lyves; and preiffing, so far as in him lay, treafoneabillie to relief SIR JAMES M^cONEILL, detenit in irnes and frait prifoun within þe faid Castell, for dyuerse odious and treafoneabill crymes;⁹ ffor þe quhilkis manifst Treafones, the faid Johnne Lord Maxwall was nocht only denuncet rebell and tratour, and all our fouerane lordis legis discharget, be Proclamatioun, to intercowmone with, refset, or fuplie him, vnder þe panes of law; bot also, he sforsaltit, be Decreit of Parliament, for þe samyn. To the taikin, that 3e, being dyuerse tymes charget to compeir befor þe Counfell, to anfuer for þe faidu crymes of Refset, supplie, and intercowmoning with þe faid Johnne, sumtyme Lord Maxwall, 3e, knowing 3our awin giltines, difobeyit the charge, and past to þe horne; at the quhilk 3e haif lyne continuallie fenfyne vnrelaxit.—ITEM, 3e ar indytit and accuset, sforsamekill as Johnne Lord Hereis, being directed be þe Lordis of his Maiefteis Secreit Counfall to tak and apprehend 3ow and Eduard Maxwall of Craigtoun, ane nottour rebell and fugitiue, for Thift, Stouth-reif, ffyre-raifing, suppleing and affisting my Lord Maxwall, and dyuerse vtheris treafonable crymes, quhilk þe faid Eduard him self declared vnto 3ow; the faid Lord Hereis, vpon the fyftene day of August lastbypast, cuming, for executioun

¹ A lever used by quarriers of stone, a pinch or prize.

² Crowbar.

³ Tools.

⁴ Vault and arch.

⁵ Literally sheared, as with a reaping-hook.

⁶ Weeks.

⁷ In testimony or proof whereof.

⁸ See

May 13 and Jun. 24, 1609, &c. That nobleman was beheaded, at the Cross of Edinburgh, May 21, 1613. See also Appendix.

⁹ See his Trial, III. 1, &c. Jun. 24, 1609.

of the said directionne, to the hous of Johnne Couthird, in Reid-Castell, whear 3e, with þe said Eduard, and dyuerse 3our complices, war then assemblit, and he him self, and his servendis, commanding 3ow and þe said Eduard, in our souerane lordis name, to be tane with him, and to randir 3our selfis and 3our wappones, 3e trefounabillie difobeyit þe said charge, and with 3our fuordis, pistolettis, and vperis vnlauchfull wapponis, inuaidit and persewed the said Lord Hereis and his servendis for þair Slauchter, hurt and woundit Johnne Geddes, Johnne Couthird, and dyuerse vtheris of thame, in sindrie pairtis of þair bodeyis, to the grit effusioun of þair bloudis, violentlie and forceablie hinderit thame to tak the said Eduard Maxwell, rebell, releifit him fra pame, and gaif him meanis and occasioun to escaip furth of the said hous; and sua, violentlie and trefounabillie withstuid the said Lord Hereis, haifing the Counfallis command and direction to tak 3ow and þe said Eduard Maxwell, standing rebell for Trefone, as said is; and assistit and tuik part with him, in his trefoneable withstanding of the said Lord Hereis, and in his trefoneable persewing of þe said Lord and his companie, for þair Slauchter, and had ane pistolet vpone 3ow at þat tyme: And 3e ar airt and pairt þairof; as 3our awin Depositionn, subferyuit with 3our handis, and þe Depositionn of sum of thais that war present at 3our apprehensioun, cleirly verifeis. ITEM, 3e þe said Williame Douglas of Grenelaw and Lyncluden, eldest sone and appeirand air of James Douglas of Baitfurd, 3e ar indytit and accused, forsakmekill as 3e, being ane landit Gentilman, and heritable proprietor of the saidis Landis of Grenelaw and Lyncluden, and dyuerse vperis landis and heritages, haif committed the trefoneable crymes of Thift and Stouthe-reif vnderwritin, be 3our self and 3our complices, and vperis in 3our name, of 3our causing, command, resset, assistance and ratihabitoun, quhairof 3e war and ar airt and pairt, that is to say, for 3our coming to Dauid Welfches chalmer, in the place of Grenelaw, and trefonabill breking vp, perforce, of his lettrone¹ pair, and steilling furth þairof xxxv li. money, or þairby, quhairof þair was tuo half ducattis, pertening to the vmq^{le} Proveist of Lyncluden, his maister, quhairof 3e sone þairestir wiffillit² ane half ducat with Alexander Gordoun, violor in Wigtoun, for fyve merkis; quhilk being tryit and maid nottour to all þe Proveistis servendis and hail nychtbouris in the countrie, and cuming at last to the Proveistis awin knowlege, he was so heichlie offendit with 3ow for þe same, that he boifit³ aper to droun⁴ 3ow, or at leif to put 3ow af þe cuntrey, and nevir to do 3ow any benefeit or guid; quhilk 3e heiring þairof, be þe counsell of the said Dauid Welfche, past in to þe Proveist chalmer in Grenelaw, quhair he was lyand in his bed, and pulling 3our breikis and schankis⁵ af 3our kneysis, 3e sat doun befor him vpone 3our bair kneysis, cravet God and him pardoun and forgevenes, for þat 3our offence, and swoir and promiseit to him nevir to do þe lyk thairestir. Quhilk trefoneable Thift was committed be 3ow, about nyne 3eir fyne, or þairby; quhilk 3e can nocht deny; lyk as the samyn is cleirly verifeit be þe Depositionnes product. ITEM, 3e ar indytit and accused for þe trefonable Steilling, conceilling and away-taking frome Thomas Fergusoun, seruitour to þe said vmq^{le} Proveist of Lyncluden of an Angell of gold, and sum siluer, furth of his purse, in the 3eir of God Im.Vj^c. and tua 3eir, or þairby. ITEM, 3e ar indytit and accused for the trefoneable Steilling, conceilling and away-taking, vnder silence and cloud of nycht, of tuentie-aucht pecis of gold fra Johnne, sumtyme Lord Maxwell, committed be 3ow in the place of Langholme, quhair 3e war lyand in the chalmer with the said Lord Maxwell, in the 3eir of God 1605 3eir, or þairby. To þe taikin, 3e wiffillit ane of þe saidis peces of gold, being ane double-doubill pistolet, in an oifler-hous besyde the Langholme; and 3e was þairestir apprehendit, and challanget wiffelling sum vper of þe saidis peces, in Dumfreis: for þe quhilkis crymes, 3e war indytit and arreistit to þe Justice Court haldin be my Lord Erle of Dumbar, his Maieftis Heich Commiffioner, in the Middle schyres, in July, 1609 3eir; and was

¹ Literally a reading-desk or pulpit where prayers are read, from O. Fr. letrin, lectrin, lutrin. It is frequently employed to signify a box, chest, or desk for holding papers, &c.

² Exchanged; 'changed;' sometimes spelt quhissellit.

³ Threatened, as Lord of the Regality, and entitled to sit as Criminal Judge on his trial.

⁴ A common punishment, in the inferior Judicatories, for Theft, &c.

⁵ A kind of long hose.

fugitive pairfoir. ITEM, 3e ar indytit and accuset for 3our treafonabill breking of Johnne Grahame, in the Gait, his kift,¹ vnder clud and filence of nycht, and maisterfull and thiftious Steilling and reveing, furth of þe said kift, of flourtie-foure pundis, being all foure-merk-peces, pertening to þe said Johnne, committed be 3ow in þe 3eir of God 1601 3eiris. ITEM, 3e ar indytit and accused for 3our tressonabill airt and pairt of þe steilling, reifing, and away-taking and conceilling of ane kow, pertening to Meg Miller in Croftis, with þe haill insight of hir hous; committed be 3ow in Julij lastbypast: To the taikiu, 3e brocht ane kift full of meill to (and?) ane lynning wob of hiris,² and fauld (thame?) in Johnne Grahames of the Gait. ITEM, 3e ar indytit and accuset for 3our treafonable Stouth-reif of ane naig, pertening to Robert Symontoun at þe Mylne of Corsemichell; committed in July 1610, lastbypast: To þe taikin, 3e wald nocht restoir þe naig eftir he was tryit vpone 3ow, quhill³ 3e gat fyve pundis money frome þe said Robert for þe samyn. ITEM, 3e ar indytit and accuset for 3our Maisterfull and treafonable Stouth-reiff of ane naig from Johnne McGill in Grenelaw, in August, 1610: To þe taikin, 3e was rydand on him, immediatelic befoir 3e was tane. ITEM, 3e ar indytit and accuset for 3our treafonable Stouth-reif of ane kow, frome Robert Welfche in Dillovodie; committed three 3eir fyne, or pairby; quhilk was than instantlie flane and disponit vpone in 3our hous. ITEM, 3e ar indytit and accused for 3our tressonabill Stouth-reif from Johnne Jehunestoun in Lyncluden, of ane kow, tua 3eir fyne, or pairby; and caufit flae and dispone vpone hir, in 3our hous, at 3our plefour. ITEM, 3e ar indytit lykwayis, for contravening of our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in beiring and weiring hagbuttis and pistolettis vpone 3our persone, and in 3our companie, oppinlie, outwith houffis, within þe seheredom of Drumfreis and stewartrie of Kirkculdbrie; and þat monethlie and daylie; at the leif, in ane or vper of þe monethis, in þe 3eiris of God 1^m.Vj^r. fevin, 1608, 1609, 1610 3eiris: To the taikin, 3e was tane with ane pistolet vpone 3ow, quhilk 3e presentit to Johnne Geddes at 3our taiking. ITEM, 3e ar indytit for Cowmone Thift, Cowmone Reffett of thift, outputing and inputting of thift, fra land to land, fra cuntrie to cuntrie, baith auld and new, notourlie knowin. BE the quhilkis Treafonable crymes aboue writtin, and ilk ane of them respectiue, committed be 3ow, and vperis in 3our name, of 3our causing, command, assistance and ratihabitoun, as said is, and quhairof 3e war and ar airt and pairt, 3e haue deferuet and incurrit the paines of Treafone, quhilkis sould be execute vpone 3our body, lyfe, landis and guidis: And 3e haif sforfaltit to the Kingis Maiestie, 3our haill landis, steidingis, rowmes, possessiones, takis, contractis, bandis, reuerfiones, richtis, securiteis, hoip and appeirance of successioun, and all vperis landis, rychtis, guidis and geir quhatsumeuir, moveabill or vnmoveabill, quhilk 3e had, or quhilk 3e mycht haif appertenit, or ony wayis haif befallin to 3ow, and þe samyn sould be adiudget to haif befallin to our said fouerane lord, and to appertene to his hienes, and to remane with him, his croun and successouris, now and in all tyme cuming.

Eftir productioun of the said Dittay, be our said fouerane lordis Aduocat, the said Williame Douglas was put to the tryall of ane Assyse of the persones following, viz.

ASSISA.

Williame Creichtoun of Ryhill,	Thomas Hunter in Burne,	George Mcne in Lyncluden,
Alexander Maxwell of Logane,	Williame Douglafs of Lache,	Thomas Welfche thair,
Johnne Broun of Mullennis,	James McRerik of the Kerne,	Niniane Myller in Ryhill,
James Mairtene in Airdis,	Johnne Greirfoun of Ingliftoun,	Hew Douglas of Belliebocht,
Jo ⁿ Fairies in Carfe of Kynneill,	Johnne Carmichell elder in Spoth, Rodger Padzeane of Newtoun,

My lord Aduocat askit instrumentis of the sweiring of the Assyse. (1.) My lord Aduocat producet the tua Letteris of Hoirning for the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Thomas Softlaw, togidder with ane Dittay aganis the pannell, and publicatioun of his absence, and Declaratioun of his being fugitiue fra the Justice Court, haldin at Drumfres be my Lord Dumbar, for the said Slauchter. (2.) Lykwayis, my lord Aduocat producet tua Hoirningis aganis the pannell, for the Slauchter of Eduard Maxwall of Troftoun. (3.) For verificatioun of the thrid Article of Dittay, respecttis the tua Hoirningis producet. (4.) ffor verifeing the fyft (fourth) Article, my lord Aduocat repeittis the notorietie of my Lord Maxwallis fforfaltour, and producet tua Hoirningis aganis the said Lord Maxwall, togidder with Letteris of Publicatioune aganis all our souerane lordis legis, that nane sould reffet him: As also producet Letteris direct aganis the pannell, quhairby he was charget befor the Counfall, and past to the horne for dislobedience. (5.) ffor verificatioune of the fyft Article, repeittis the Judiciall Declaratioun maid be my Lord of Dumbar, anent the Warrant gevin to my Lord Hereis, for apprehending of the pannell and Eduard Maxwall of Craigtoun: And sicklyk, producet Letteris of Hoirning, beiring the said Eduard Maxwall to be fugitiue. (6.) Repeittis, for verifeing the sart Poynt, the notorietie of the cryme with certane Depositiones. (7.) ffor verificatioun of the 7 Poynt, producet his Depositiones, togidder with his Indytement at the Justice Court of Dumfres, and of his being fugitiue thairfra. (8.) ffor verificatioun of the Pistolettis, repeittis his Deposition producet. (9.) ffor verificatioune of the quhilkis thiftious crymes, tressonable committit be the pannell, and that thairin he hes committit Tressone, my lord Aduocat producet the pannellis Infestment of the Landis of Lyncluden, togidder with ane Contract subferyuit betuix him and the Lard of Lochinvar, subferyveing him self to be 'ffear of Lyncluden;' and repeittis that Act of Parliament, beiring Landit Gentilmen, committing Thift, to incur the cryme of Treadone.

¹ Box, chest.² Hiers.³ After you was publicly accused of the theft, until you got L.5, &c.

Eftir reiding of the hail poyntis of Dittay, the pannell confessis the samyn to be of veritie, for ffear of his lyfe; and thairfoir becumis in his Maiesteis Will.— My Lord Aduocat repeittis the writtis producet, and the Act of Parliament maid aganist the committeris of Thift, be(ing) landit Gentilmen; and in respect thairof, Protestis for Wilfull Error aganist the Assyse, gif they will acquit.— My lord Aduocat declairit to the pannell, that nochtwithstanding of the admitting of the Assyse, he is content, gif it be admittit be the Justice, that the pannell fall be reponit to his defensis, and haif the assistance of his prelocoutouris to that effect; and lykwayis, to obiect aganis the perfones of Assyse, gif he hes ony lauchfull exceptioun to propone aganis thame, albeit it be nocht the forme of this Judgement: And thairupoun askit instrumentis. Nochtwithstanding of the quhilk offer maid be my lord Aduocat, the pannell offeris him self in his Maiesteis Will, for the hail crymes contenit in his Dittay.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Williame Creichtoun of Ryhill, chancellor, ffand, pronuncet, and declairit the said Williame Douglas of Lyncluden, to be ffylet, culpable and convict of the Reffet with the bludie hand of Johnne Greir, principall committer of the Slauchter of vni^q^{le} Eduard Maxwall of Trof-toun, immediatlie eftir the committing thair of: And ficlyk, to be ffylet, culpable and convict of the haill crymes of Treafone, and vtheris crymes at lenth fpecifeit and fett down in his Dittay, aboue mentionet.

SENTENCE. The Justice, be the mouthe of Alexander Kennydie, dempfter of Court, decernit and ordanit the faid Williame Douglas to be tane to the Mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and firft, his richt hand to be ftrukin frome his body; and thaireftir, the faid Williame to be hangit at the Mercat-croce vpon ane gibet, quhill he be deid: And all his landis, heritages, &c. to be fforfaltit and efcheit to our fouerane lordis vfe, as giltie and culpable of the faidis treffonabill crymes:—Quhilk was pronuncet for dome.

Sorcery — Witchcraft — Murder.

Sep. 7.—GRISSELL GAIRDNER, relict of vni^q^{le} Johnne Baird, burges of Newburgh.

Dilaitit of certane crymes of Witchcraft and Sorcerie, committit be hir, in maner and at the tymes fpecifeit in hir DITTAY following.

PERSEWARIS, Mr Robert Foullis, fubftitute to our fouerane lordis Aduocat; Alexander Wentoun in Newburgh, for himfelf, and as Informer.

PRELOCOUTOUR for the pannell, Mr Johnne Ruffell, (Advocate.)

IN þE FIRST, for on-laying, be Witchcraft and Inchantment, of ane grevous difeas and feiknes vpon the faid Alexander Wentoun; quhairin he lay in a feirful madnes and ffurie, þe fpace of ten oulkis¹ togidder; and in end, for af-taking of þe faid difeas and grevous feiknes af him, be certain directiones gevin, and vperis devillifche practizes vset be hir, for his recoverie; committit be hir in the moneth of Februare laftbypaft. ITEM, for hir devillifch Sorcerie and Witchcraft, practizet be hir, in laying on the lyk feirfull difeas and vnknawin feiknes vpon Williame Anderfoune, wricht in Newburcht, for certane allegit injuries done be him to Andro Baird, hir fone; in the quhilk grevous feiknes he continewit the fpace of ten dayis togidder, tormentit in maift feirfull maner; and af-taking of þe fame feiknes, be hir, be repeiting thryfe of certain woirdis, quhilk fcho termet prayeris. AND ficlyk, for Bewitching of ane kow, pertening to þe faid Williame, quhairthrow þe haill milk that fcho þaireftir gaif was bluid and worfam;² committed be hir devilrie and Inchantment, in the monethe of Maij laftbypaft. ITEM, for þe Bewitching, be hir devillrie and Inchantment, of James Anderfoune, fone to Margaret Balfour in Newburcht, in on-laying of ane grevous feiknes and difeas vpon him; quhair of, in ane grit ffurie and madnes, within foure dayis eftir on-laying þair of, he deceiffit; and þairthrow, for airt and pairt of his Murthour and deid,¹ committed be hir, in þe 3eir of God I^m.Vj^c. and fyve 3eiris. ITEM, for ane cowmone and notorious Witche and abusfeare of þe people, by laying on of feiknes vpon men, wemen, bairnes, and bestiall; and be geving of drinkis, and vseing of vper vngodlie practizes, for af-taking of þe saidis feikneffis and diseases; and be consulting with the Devill, and feiking of responffis fra him, at all tymes this fourtene or fyftene 3eir bygane, for effectuating of hir devillifch intentiones.

¹ Weeks.

² Blood and corrupted or purulent matter.

It is allegit be Mr Johne Ruffell, as ordiner prelocutor, as he allegit, for my lord (Archbishop) of St Androis,² that my Lord Justice can nocht proceed in this matter, aganis the pannell, vnto the tyme a Precognitioun be tane of the cryme of Witchcraft, for the quhilk this pannell is to be accuset; conforme to ane Commiffioun gevin to my Lord of St Androis, and certane Nobill men, to that effect.—It is anfuerit be my lord Aduocat, that thair is na sic Commiffioun grantit, nather is the Commiffioun product; and albeit thair war ony sic Commiffioun gevin, the samyn is nawayis derogatorie to my lord Justice Jurisdiction; bot that the pannell man be put to ane Affyse, for the crymes lybellit.

It is allegit be the pannell, that the first pairt of the Dittay is nawayis relevant; nather is the samyn relevantlie qualifeit, bot altogidder friuolus and generall; and thairfoir, can nocht be put to ane Affyse. It is anfuerit be the Aduocat, that the allegeance is nawayis relevant, bot man be repellit, in respect of the Dittay and circumstances thair of.

THE JUSTICE remittis the Dittay to ane Affyse, to be cognosset and tryit be thame.

The Aduocat askit instrumentis of the chesing and swering of the Affyse; And protestis for Wilfull Errour, in caice thay acquit hir; in respect of the notorie of the Dittay, and takinnis³ gewin to ilk poynt of the Dittay, and of the swering of Alexander Wentoune.

It is allegit that Stevin Philp can nocht be ressaunt vpon this Affyse, becaus Philpis wyfes guidane⁴ and the persewar Alexander Wentounes mother war sifteris.—The said Stevin Philpis ayth being tane thairupoune, declairit thai war sib,⁵ bot knawis nocht how neir of kyn thai war.—James Durie repellit be the Justice, af this Affyse, in respect of his declaratioun and ayth gevin thairupoun, that he buir the pannell at na guid will.—It is allegit aganis Robert Allane, that he can nocht be admittit Affysour, becaus Anderfones wyfe, quha is pairtie offendit in the Dittay, and Allane are thridis of kyn,⁶ as was reknit.

THE JUSTICE admittis Allane vpon this Affyse, for the hail poyntis con-

¹ Death. ² George Gladstones, who was translated from the See of Caithness, anno 1606; but was not consecrated Archbishop, until 1610. ³ Proofs. ⁴ Grandmother. ⁵ Of kin, consanguinity, or relationship by blood. ⁶ Within the third degree of consanguinity.

tenit in the Dittay, except vpon the article confaut in preiudice of Anderfone's wyfe allanerlie.¹

It is allegit that George Henderfone can nocht be admittit vpon this Affyse, becaufe the pannell hes Letteris of Lauborrus againft him, quhairupoun fcho hes gevin hir ayth of hir bodelie harme.—Anfueris, nocht relevant, becaus the Letteris ar raiffit fen² the pannellis apprehenfioun for the fact lybellit, and fen the Counfallis ordinance, appointing hir to be tryit.

The pannell, befoir the outpaffing of the Affyse, takis instrumentis, that na poynt of the Dittay is fuorne to the Affyse, bot³ the firft Article, anent Alexander Wentoun, allanerlie.

The Aduocat defyres, for forder informatioun to the Affyse of the pannellis Giltines of the haill crymes lybellit, that the Ministeris⁴ Declaratioun, anent hir lyfe, tred⁵, and converfatioun ; as alfo, Daid Orme, Bailzie of Newburcht, ayth and declaratioun of that pairt of the Dittay, concerning Anderfones wyfe and bairnis, be reffaut.—It is anfuerit be Mr Johnne Ruffell, that thair Declarationis can nocht be reffaut, except thair war infert as perfewaris in the Summondis.

The pannell proteftis that the Declaratioun to be maid be Mr Johnne Cauldeuche, Minister, in this matter, quhairupoune fcho is dilaitit, be nawayis respectit or advertit vnto be the Affyse.—*Mr Johnne Caldeuche, Minister,*⁶ being fuorne maift folemmelie, be the Justice, Deponis, that a fourtene yeir fyne this Griffell Gairdner was than fufpect to be ane wicket woman, and ane Sorcerer ; and be the Depositiones of the Witches execute for Sorcerie and Witchcraft, at Abernethie, Falkland, and Newburcht, fcho was reput to be ane manifest Witch ; bot becaus thair was na precedent fact qualifeit aganis hir, the Prefbiterie thairfoir delayit hir Tryell and accusatioun. And as concerning hir lyfe and converfatioun fen fyne, fcho hes bene fufpect to be ane verrie evill woman ; and for hir privat revenge aganis sic as fcho buir ony malice vnto, hes vset devillifche and vngodlie meanis, be Sorcerie and Incantatioun, to lay on dyuerfe grevous difeaffis on thame ; and fpeciallie, on the perfones fet down in hir Indytement ; quhairthrow the cuntrie and parochin⁷ quhairin fcho duellis hes bene gritlie fclanderit, in fuffering fic ane perfone vnpwneift : For the quhilk caus, the Prefbiterie, efter tryell of the former offences done be hir, alweill to the perfones contenit in hir Dittay as vpone dyuerfe vtheris that ar nocht nominat thairin, direct the Deponer, as thair Moderatour, to notifie the treuth of the premisses to the Counfall, that fume ordour might be tane anent hir Tryell and pwnifchment.—Quhairupoun my lord Aduocat alkis instrumentis.

¹ Only, alone. This remarkable decision of the Justice, however inconsistent with modern practice, was by no means infrequent during the reign of King James VI. ² Since. ³ Excepting.

⁴ Clergyman of the parish of Newburgh. ⁵ Trade ; employment ; occupation. ⁶ See the King's Letter to this Minister, relative to Gowrie's Conspiracy, in this Collection, II. 317. ⁷ Parish.

VERDICT. The Assyse, for the maist part, be the mouthe of Williame Ramfaye, burges of Newburgh, chancellor, ffind, pronuncet, and declairit the said Griffell to be ffylet, culpable, and convict of the haill crymes aboue mentionat.

SENTENCE. The Justice Decernit and ordanit hir to be tane to the Castell hill of Edin', and thair to be wirreit¹ at ane staik quhill scho be deid; and thair-efter hir body to be brunt in asches; and all hir moveabill guidis and geir to be efcheit and inbrocht to our foueran lordis vsé.

Horse and Cattle-stealing.

Oct. 23.—GEORGE BROUN, sone to James Broun, in Cokpen.

Dilaitit, accuffet, and persewit be Dittay, at the instance of Robert Erle of Louthiane, and Mr Thomas Henderfone, Aduocat, substitute to our fouerane lordis Aduocate, of airt and part of the steilling of ane waith naig² a tua yeir fyne, or thairby. ITEM, of steiling of ane naig³ furth of the Park of Newbottill, pertening to Mr Alexander Ambroise, Minister; and of ane staig,⁴ pertening to Thomas Stewinfoun, foster⁵ of the said Park; committit ane yeir and ane half fyne, or thairby. ITEM, for the steilling of ane blak meir,⁶ pertening to Johnne Fyndlafone, furth of the croftis of Leslie; togidder with ane blak staig, pertening to James Clerk; and ane little foirdy⁷ staig; committed vpon the xxvij and xxix dayis of September last. ITEM, for the steiling of thre oxin, pertening to my Lord of Louthiane, furth of Newtown-maynes; committit the xxvij day of September lastbypast.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Barnard Borthuik in Caringtoun, chancellor, ffind, pronuncet, and declairit the said George Broun to be ffylet, culpable, and convict of the haill crymes of Thift, contenit in his Dittay aboue specifreit.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Park of Newbottill,⁸ and thair to be hangit vpon ane gibbet quhill he be deid; and all his landis, heritages, annuelrentis, heritabill bandis, and vtheris his guidis and geir quhatfumeuir pertening to him, or quhairvnto he is provydit, to be fforfaltit and efcheit to our fouerane lordis use, as convict and culpable of the saidis thiftious and tressonabill crymes.

Compeirit Mungo McCall, bailzie of Edinburgh, and eftir convictioun of the said George Broun, and pronunceatioun of his Dome, askit instrumentis of his entrie vpon pannell; and that he was delyuerit af the toun of Edinburgis handis, be the Justice, to my Lord of Lothiane, to be execute, conforme to his dome.

¹ Strangled. ² A strayed horse; or perhaps a horse kept for waithe or hunting. It may be stated, however, that the general acceptation of the term 'waithe horse,' is a stallion who escapes from pasture, and wanders in quest of mares; but in this instance, he seems to have been wayff, or strayed. ³ Riding horse. A young unbroken horse; a stallion. ⁵ Forester. ⁶ Mare. ⁷ Sorrel-coloured; reddish. ⁸ The practice of executing Criminals near the spot where their crime was committed, did not seem to be much attended to at this period; but this is one among the few instances of a pannel, tried in Edinburgh, being carried to some distance and executed for the greater example.

Theft, &c.—Following the Gipsies, &c.

Nov. 30.—ELIZABETH WARROK, dochter of . . . Warrok in the Potterrow, [Edinburgh].

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the thifteous Steilling, conceilling, reffetting and away-taking of ane filuer mafer,¹ pertening to Quintene Bouftoun, mercheand burges of Edinburgh, a thre yeir fyne or thairby. ITEM, for ane cowmone Vagabund and follower of the Gipseis, and taking pairt with thame in all thair thiftis and juglareis this ten yeir bygane, contrair the Actis of Parliament. ITEM, for ane cowmone reffetter of Thift.

VERDICT. Fylet, culpable and convict of the saidis crymes.²

(Dec. 8.)—SENTENCE. The Justice Ordanit hir, togidder with GEORGE RAMSAY, sone to Nicoll Ramsay in Lefuaid, (quha become in will, for certane 30wis³ stowin be him furth of the landis of Libertoun, pertening to the tementis thairof, quhilkis war restorit bak agane to the awneris, &c.) to be SCURGET throw the Burgh of Edinburgh: And to be BANISCHET the hail liberteis thair- of, and nevir to be fund within ffoure myles thairto; vnder the pane of deid, viz. The said George Ramsay, vnder the pane of Hanging, but⁴ forder Dome; and the said Elfpeth, vnder the pane of Drowning,⁵ but forder Dome or Law, to be haldin or pronuncet aganis thame.

Piracy, &c.—‘The Englische Pirattis’—Oppression, &c.

[THE transactions of the bold and lawless men, whose trial ensues, and the violence and murders perpetrated by other Pirates, natives of both countries, but chiefly Englishmen, after the accession of King James to the British throne, excited the liveliest interest at the time, both in Scotland and England. Instead, however, of entering into a lengthened detail of the crimes and the punishment of these desperadoes, the Editor will content himself by giving the result of pretty laborious searches, in an Appendix of Original Documents, which sets the matter in the clearest point of view. The sources from which these various and highly interesting Papers have been procured, are, as usual, noted.]

Dec. 8.—PETER LOVE, borne in Lewis,⁶ in Suffex; Johnne Cokis, borne in Walderfweik in Suffolk; Williame Hollane, callit ‘the Batifinan,’ borne in Suffolk; David Howart, Welchman; Nicolas Phillopes, borne in Waillis; Jasperd Staffurd, Irifchman; Anthony Colenis, borne (in Tregwne) in Cornel-seyre,⁷ in Ingland; and Abrahame Mathie, Inglichman.

Dilaitit of the crymes of PIRACIE, contenit in thair Dittay, viz.

¹ Mazer, or drinking cup. Mazers were usually, of old, made of the maple-tree. ² The sentence is not recorded. ³ Ewe-sheep. ⁴ Without farther sentence or trial. ⁵ The usual punishment of death inflicted upon women for theft, &c. In cases of Treason they were beheaded—and for Murder, Witchcraft, &c. burning at the stake was adjudged. It seems to have been then considered barbarous, as well as indelicate, to hang females, for any crime. ⁶ Most probably Lowestoffe, Suffolk, which was likely pronounced Lowes or Lewes, by popular corruption. ⁷ Tregony, in the county of Cornwall, navigable by barges from Falmouth.

FORSAMEKILL as from 3owr verrie 3outh, as pernicious and wicket Impes of the Devill, being gevin ower to all foirtis of villaneis, robereis, and oppreffiones, nawayis to be allowed within any Christiane cownone-welth, schaiking af all lauchfull tredis and callingis, but¹ feir of God, reuerence to the Kingis Maiestie or his hienes lawis, 3e betuik 3our selffis to þat damnable tred of Pirracie, as rooges, thevis, and sea-robberis, pillicieing² and oppressing all maner of people, of quhatfumeuir natioun or cuntrie, cuning within þe compas of 3our mercieles power : And namelie, be committing of the perticuler Pirraceis, heirschipis,³ and barbarus Oppreffiones vnderwrittin, quhairof 3e and ilk ane of 3ow ar airt and pairt, in manner as followis. In þe first, 3e and ilk ane of 3ow, being in companie with Capitane Cowart, Capitane Barret, and dyuerse vtheris 3our complices, notorious Pirattis, Revearis,⁴ and Sea-robberis, in the monethis of Maij and Junij lastbypast, lowfed af Ireland,⁵ in þis schip callit þe Pream,⁶ quhairin 3e was takin and apprehendit, be Neill M^cCloud of Lewis and his clan, &c. ; 3e faillit towardis þe French coist, quhair 3e, be way of Pirracie, faucht, affailzeit, buirdit, and be plane force tuik, þe number of fax schipis and tua boittis ; the first þairof, beingane Inglisch schip of þetoun of Bastable ;⁷ the nixt, ane French schip ; thethrid, ane French schip ; the fourt, ane Inglisch schip ; the fyft, ane pink⁸ of Dunkirk ; the saxt, ane Dutch schip ; and þaireftir, tua fischer boittis ; sfurth of þe quhilkis schipis, and speciallie furth of þe French schipis, 3e pilleit, maisterfullie staw,⁹ rest and robbed sevin hundreth Indiane hydys, with tua hundreth pundis Sterling of gold and money ; and siclyk, tuik þe said Dutche schip, quhilk 3e brocht with 3ow as ane pryfe to Ireland, laidnit with ane hundreth kiftis¹⁰ of succour,¹¹ tua kiftis of silverplait, ane kift full of ryellis of aucht ;¹² togidder with ane box of Jewallis, the box being of siluer and moþer-of-perle, of tua fute lang, and coverit with reid crammasie veluet, in þe quhilk was four baifer-ftanes,¹³ with certane bloode-ftanes and dyuerse dyamontis and precious ftanes of grit valew. LYK AS, 3e pilleit and robbed furth of Thomas Snellingis bark, in South-Hamptoun, tua kiftis of quhyte succour, tua pakis of cannell,¹⁴ ane hundreth littill barrellis of conferves, tua grit barrellis of pepper, fourtene bagis of ginger, ane barrell of cuscheneill¹⁵ of ane hundreth wecht ; quhilk box with þe xxix siluer plait, with þe cannell, gynger, pepper, cuscheneill and hydys aboue writtin, 3e turnet out of þe saidis schipis vnto þe Pream, and cayreit þe samyn to þe Lewis,¹⁶ quhair þe samyn was tane, within this present schip, be þe Hieland men. LYK AS, 3e, in þe monethis foirfaidis, pilleit and robbed furth of þe faid Dutche fchip, and Inglis fchipis, þair victuallis, faillis and men, quhome 3e compellit to ferue 3ow, as slaves, in all ferueill and flauifch exerceiffes; and brocht the faid Pink to the Blak-rok, in Ireland,¹ quhair þe faidis Capitane Barrett and Capitane Cowart, with nyntene of þair company, paft on fchoir, and was þair fuppryfet; þe faid Pink tane and apprehended be certane boittis with men that come af þe fchoir: And 3e, for feir of apprehenfioun, eftir ane combat fell out betwix 3ow, þe faid Capitane Love, and þe fkipper of the fchip callit þe Pream, loufet out of þat raid,² and come with ane futherlie wynd to the Lewis, quhair 3e tuik and apprehendit Thomas Flemyng (Richiefone) in Anfturper, and his fchip, and ane Flemifche bufche,³ out of þe quhilk bufche 3e tuik fyve Flemyngis, and pat in hir fyve of 3our awin companie; quhilk þaireftir, be ftorme of wedder, was feperat frome 3ow and drevin to Schyteland, quhair þai landit, and detenit þe faid Thomas Richiefone and his fchip with 3ow, to be 3our gaird in the Lewis; ay and quhill 3e and thay, with the faidis tua fchipis, war tane and apprehendit be the Hieland men. AND 3e and ilk ane of 3ow ar airt and pairt of the Robereis and Pirraceis aboue writtin: To þe taikin, 3e and ilk ane of 3ow, at þe leift fum of 3ow, hes Confeffit þe haill premisses to be of veritie, be 3our Depositiones. ITEM, for cownone and notorious Pirattis, Sie-Revaris and Robberis, Spuilziaris⁴ and revaris of leill⁵ menis guidis, alfweill on fie as land, quhaireuir 3e mycht apprehend þe famyn.

¹ Without. ² Pillaging. ³ Plunderings. ⁴ Persons who live by plunder, who berave others by violence of their property. ⁵ Loosed and set sail off the coast of Ireland. ⁶ Priam ?
⁷ Barnstable, in Devonshire. ⁸ A small ship built with a round stern, the bends and ribs compassing so as that her sides bulge out very much.—Bailey. ⁹ Stole. ¹⁰ Chests, boxes.
¹¹ Sugar. ¹² Rials, or Pieces of eight. ¹³ Bezoar-stones, supposed to be an antidote against poison. ¹⁴ Cinnamon. ¹⁵ Cochineal, a scarlet dye. ¹⁶ The Island of Lewis, one of the Western Islands of Scotland, the property of the Clan M^cLeod.

ASSISA.

James Lokhart of Ley,

Mathow Baillie of Littilgill,⁶ &c.

The Aduocat afkis instrumentis of the fwering of the Affyfe: And for verifeing of the Dittay, repeittis thair Depofitiounes producet.

VERDICT. The Affyfe, for the maift pairt,⁷ be the mouth of the faid James Lokhart of Ley, chancellor, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the faidis aucht perfones on pannell, to be ffylet, culpable and convict of the haill perticular Pirraçeis and Robberies perticulerlie fet down in the faid Dittay.

DOME. To be tane to ane Gibbet vpon the Sandis of Leyth, within the ffloides-mark, and thair to be hangit quhill thay be deid: And all thair moveabill guidis and geir pertening to thame, and being in thair poffeffioun the tyme of thair taking, alfweill fchip as guidis, geir, jewellis and vtheris being within the famyn, to be efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vfe; as culpable and convict of the faidis crymes.

¹ There are two places bearing this name; one in Sligo bay, the other four miles distant from Dublin.

² Road-stead.

³ A Dutch fishing-vessel, called a buss.

⁴ Spoilers.

⁵ Leal,

loyal. ⁶ The remainder of the Assise, merchants.

⁷ By a marking in the Record, it appears that seven of the Assise, including the chancellor, voted for Cleansing or Acquitting the prisoners; probably from some remarkable deficiency in the evidence adduced by the public prosecutor, for popular feeling against the Pirates was very strong; and slender evidence in such instances was, in those days, enough to convict such pannels as those who were at the bar.

APPENDIX OF PAPERS ILLUSTRATIVE OF TRIALS FOR PIRACY.

I. LETTER Neill Mccloud of Harris to the Privy Council.¹

MY LORDIS of Counsell. My dewitie (and) seruice being rememberit, I ressaunt your l. Lettre frome this beirair, Patrik Greve, desiring me to delyner him the Inglishe Pirott, whiche wes tane be my men, with all hir equippage and apparrelling. Suirle, my Lordis, I wes not at the takinge thair-of, for had I bene thair, I fould haif send the said Pirott, as sho wes tane, to his Ma. and Counsell; for fairlie I delyuerit hir to the said Patrik, with all her munitionn, as I ressanit hir my selff, to witt, with all hir faillis, towis, and tua ankeris, with xiiij peeple of grite cairte peeles,² with hir Capitane and nyne of his. As for pe rest, thay war slayne at the taking of pe said Pirott, and foure Dutcheis³ that wer tane be the Capitaue, aucht dayis befor the hulk past to the Meane-land; for I wald nocht hald thame as prifounairis, in respect thay war takin perforce be the Capitane, with twa that deceffit; and I did keepe ane Scottis man in my awin company, to⁴ forder aduife. So I rest.

LEWIS, the 16 of October, 1610.

NEILL M^cCLOUD.

II. TRIAL of Thirty English Pirates, before the Vice-Admiral of Scotland, his Deputes, and certain Lords of the Privy Council.

[THE following remarkable Trial is taken from an Official Extract preserved in the Charter-room of THE CITY OF EDINBURGH; and is presented in this Appendix, in illustration of the extent to which Piracy had been practised, and of the unrelenting severity with which it was universally punished in this country, as well as in England. The Editor begs to acknowledge the ready and liberal access which has been afforded to him, and the polite attention of the Town-Clerk, in facilitating this and former researches. A very interesting LETTER by the Privy Council to the King, which follows, (No. III.) fully explains many minute circumstances, and the course of proceedings adopted by them to check Piracy, and prevent, as far as possible, the recurrence of such atrocious and daring crimes.]

CURIA JUSTICIARIE ADMIRALITATIS SCOTIÆ, tenta in Pretorio burgi de Edinburghe, coram Domino Jacobo Weymis de Bogie milite, Vice Admirallo Scotiæ, et Magistris Roberto Lermonth et Archibaldo Atchefone Advocatis, Admirallis deputatis ac Supremæ Curie dictæ Admiralitatis Presidentibus (presentibus ibidem nonnullis ex nobilissimo Ordine Senatorum, Regiæ Majestati a Secretis Consiliis) vigesimo sexto die mensis Julij, anno Domini millesimo sexcentesimo et decimo. CURIA AFFIRMATA.

THE quhilk day, in presens of the said Judges, sittand in judgment, Compeirit perfonallie Maister Robert Cokburne, Advocat, Procuratour Fiscall of the said Admirallie, speciallie constitute, and producet ane Dittay aganes certane Pirates, Sie-thives, and Rivers,⁵ to the number efter mentionat; in-dytting thame and ilk ane of thame vponne the committing of certane manifest barberous robereis and maisterfull stealthes vponne the Sie, thir dyvers yeires bygane; togidder with ane Precept of the said Great Admirall of Scotland, fummondng ane number of famous perfonnes to pas vponne the saidis Pirates thair Assyse; and to determine thairin affirmativé or negativé, conforme to the said Dittay, as they knew or fuld be speirit⁶ at thame, vnder the panes thairin contenit; and defyrit justice to be minifrat

¹ From Orig. in Dennylyne Coll. of MSS. Adv. Library. This Letter is superscribed 'JESUS.'
'pieces' mounted on carriages, similar to the heavy ship guns long in use on board of Pirate-vessels.

² Perhaps

³ Flemings;

Dutchmen.

⁴ Until.

⁵ Reivers; robbers.

⁶ Asked; enquired.

in the said mater, conforme to the lawis and practique of this realme, rait and custome of the said Admiralltie, aganes the perfones Criminallis vnderwrittin; quha, and ilk ane of thame, as they ar efter nominat, enterit and war present vpone pannell. Off the quhilk Dittay and Precept, the tenor followis.

Followis the tennour of THE DITTAY.

INTRANTES.

CAPT. WM. RANDELL,	Rodger Codgen,	Aschtoun Courtney,
Captane Johnne Parkins,	Richard Robiefone,	Robert Croudiss,
George Nicolfone,	Alexander Wifche,	William Peirfie,
Jacob Janfone,	Johne Frieman,	Thomas Peirfie,
Thomas Thomlene,	Edward Brux,	Johne Grafe,
Robert Em,	William Tailzour,	Robert West,
Andro Rawling,	Johne Web,	Johne Schiphird,
Walter Cornifche,	Richard Robifone,	Francis Richtop,
Cornelius Jacobfone,	Benedict Ferres,	Nicolas Dartnoll,
Johne Williames,	Francis Wallace,	Johne Dawfone,

3ea ar indyttit and accusit of 5our lyffes, That 3e and ilk ane of 5ow, in maner, and at 3e tymes respectiué efter specifeit, haveing schaikin aff all feir of God, and dew obedience to our soverane lord the Kinges Maiestie, within quabais dominions 3ea and everie ane of 5ow war borne, misregairding his Maieftis auctoritie royal, and loveabill lawis of his hienes realmes and kingdomes, and contempnand all humane societie and honest forme of traid and liveing, as becom Cristiane men borne within sua civill kingdomes, quhairin the trew feir of God is professit and 3e Holie Evangill preichit; takand 5our selffes to ane maist wyld, barbarous, savage, inhumane, and crowell form of lyff, hes amassit¹ 5our selffes in crewis and vnhappie companeis, in maist hosteill and cruell maner, with all ingyneis of ffyre-wark and vapors invasive, of set purpos and intentione to live as commoun roberis, thives, murthereris, and opin Pirates be Sie. LYKAS, 3ea and everie ane of 5ow, in maner and at 3e tymes efter mentionat, hes committit the wyld, filthie, and abhominable Reiffes, Thiftes, Robereis, and Piraceis efter reherfit, als weill in forren Seis as within his Maieftis awin Seis and watteris, not onlie aganes his Maieftis freindis, confiderates, and allayas, bot also aganes his Maieftis frie leiges, being in thair lauchfull traidis of navigatioun, by lying in thair wayes, and thair, maist cruellie and barberoullie, by way of Thift, opin Reiff, Roberie, commoun and avowit Piracie, perfewing of thame in all hosteill maner, as said is, taking of pair perfones captives, puting of thame in feir and dredour of pair lyves, robing and reiveing of thame of pair schipes and gudis, drowning, flaying, and tortering of pair perfones, maist vnumercfullie, ranfomyng, and be setting of vthers vpoune schoir in barbarous and vncouth² pairtes, leif 5our cruell practeiffis and Piraceis fould have bene be thame detectit; and be practeiffing of all vther Sie-Thifts, Robereis and Piraceis, as is particularlie efter deducit. Quhairof 3ea and ilk ane of 5ow ar speciall actoris, doeris, airt, pairt, red, and counsell; quhilk 3ea can not deny. Quhairby, 3ea and ilk ane of 5ow hes demereit and worthilie incurrit the panes of death, to the terror and exempill of vtheris to attempt 3e lyk crymes in tyme cuming; according to the prescript of his Maieftis lawis, and the maist loveabill custome of this kingdome. AND NAMELIE, 5ow Capitane William Randell, than Captane of 3e Schip callit THE GRYPHOUND,³ vpoun the first day of Julij, or pairby, 1609 5eiris, being at 3e Long Iland, in Ireland, ane plaice of resort of all Pirates and opin Roberis, accompaneit with 5ow the saidis Jacob Janfone, Thomas Thomlene, Roger Codgen, Richard Robifone alias Dik Couper, Alexander Wifche, Johnne Friman, George Nicolfoun, Edward Brux, Aschtoun Courtney, and Robert Croudiss,

¹ Joined; gathered; confederated.

² Strange; unfrequented.

³ Griffin; or, as it is here emphatically styled, Grip-bound.

with dyveris vtheris 5our complices, haveing amassit 5our selffes togidder, with all hosteill maner, within the said schip, as said is; AND 5ow the said Capitane Johne Parkins, being than Captane of the Schip callit þe IRON PRYSE, being lyand in the same Rod¹ of Long Yland, with 5our fellow Pirates and complices, in the said Schip, bodin and furnischt lykwayes in hosteill maner, as said is, accompanit with Captane Harvie, Captane Cowvard and dyvers vther Pirates, Sie-Roberis, and Reifferis, consultand, lurkand, and waittand vpoune þe practeiffing of all kynd of Robercis and Piraceis, vpoun all maner of perfones without exceptionne; 5ea first devydit 5our selffis, in maner efter following, viz. 5ea the said Jacob Janfone, Thomas Thomlene, Richard Robifone, Roger Codgen, Alexander Wijche, Johne Friman, George Nicolfone, Edward Brux, Afchtoune Courtney, and Robert Croudiss, the said Captane Williame Randill being than abuird in the said Captane Williame Parkins Schip foirfaid, in the said month of Julij or þairby, at the leift vpoune dyvers days of the samyn moneth, haveing consultit and plattit with the said Captane Harvie maist thifteoullie and piraticallie rest and away-tuik þe said Captane Randellis Schip, and tuk faill and coms toward the West-waird, vnder the conduct of þe said Captane Harvie, quhom 5ea all, of commoune consent, than choyfit for 5our Captane; and cumand fordward, in the lattere end of þe said moneth of Julij or August, in the said 5eir 1609, at þe leift vpoune sum dayes of 5e samyn monethis, respectiue,² 5ea onbefet,² perfewit, and burdit,³ at þe leift ane great number of 5ow, at command and be advyse of the rest, ane pur fischer-man and his bot,⁴ and robit him of his wictuallis and all that he had. AND thairefter, in the said moneth of August, at þe leift vpoune sum dayes þairof, 5ea the saidis Pirates affoirsaidis onbefet and perfewitt, in all hosteill maner, ane French Bark, cumand from þe New-found-land, quhair 5e forceable enterit abuird of þe same, robit and rest þe haill victuallis being pairintill. AND thairefter, in the said moneth of August, October, November, December, or vpoune sum dayis of þe saidis monethis, respectiue,⁵ 5ea, haueing returnit bak agane to Ballendræ, vpoune the West pairt of Ireland, and haueing trymit⁵ 5our said Schip, and talking faill and cours to þe Seis for catching of 5our prayes,⁶ vpoune dyvers dayes of þe saidis monethis immediatlie aboue writtin, or sum of thame, 5ea then forgadderit with Captane Peirfie; ane comoune and deiteistabill Pirat and Sie-river, and joyning 5our selff in vnhappie societie with him, vpoune þe thrid day of þe said moneth of November or þairby, or sum dayes of þe samyn, being aff and on with the North Cap,⁷ or neir thairby; and thair, all togidder of on mynd and wickit resolutionne, avaitting and lurking for catching of 5our pray, 5ea the saidis Pirates immediatlie affoirsaidis, forgadderit with ane Schip of Midilburgh callit THE SANCT JOHNE, quhairof Daniell Abeg was maister, being than boun to Lighorne⁸ in Italie, and thair 5ea altogidder being actoris and deid-doeris, airt, pairt, red, and counfell with vtheris, in all hosteill and forceabill maner, invadit and perfewit þe said Schip, buirdit, rest, and variet⁹ hir away to the Coast of Barbarie to Sanctieruce, quhair 5ea and everie ane of 5ow forceable extrudit and pat out þe said Capitane Harvie; and haveing electit Capitane Barrett to be 5our Captane, enterit into þe said Dutch pryse, and gave þe said schip callit the Gryphound to þe said Captane Peirfie and his company; and þair violentlie tuik William Sanderis and Michaell Paterfone his boy, with sex mo captives and prifoneris; and sua deteinit thame in the said Schip, quhair the said Captane William Randell and Captane Johne Parkins being arryvit at Sophie in Barbarie, with 5our haill crew, and vicket companie foirfaid, enterit 5our selffes in societie with þe said Captane Barrett, and thair 5ea all, accompaniet and assisit with the said Captane Peirfie, being tua Schipes togidder, in the monethis of December, Januar, Februar, Marche, Apryll, Maij, Junij, at the leift vpoune dyvers and fundrie dayes of the saidis monethis, or sum of thame, past to the West Yles,¹⁰ quhair 5ea haveing rancounterit at þe Yle Sanct Michaellis with tuo Englissh Schipes, and þair 5ea, with all kynd of hosteill maner, invadit and perfewit the saidis tua Schipes, buirdit thame, and rest and robit thame of þair haill victuallis, and vther furnitur being pairiutill. LYKAS, also 5e þe saidis Pirates immediatlie aboue namet, in the saidis monethis of December, Januar, Februar, March, Apryll, Maij,

¹ Road; road-stead. ² Attacked; beset. ³ Boarded. ⁴ Boat. ⁵ Trimmed; refitted. ⁶ Prey; booty ⁷ The North Cape. ⁸ Bound for Leghorn. ⁹ Wore away; varied her course, &c. ¹⁰ The Azores.

Junij lastbypast, at þe leift vpoune sum or dyveris dayes þairof respectiué, 5ea, being boune altogidder to þe North Cap, and haueing forgadderit and met with ane French Schip, 5ea all and everie ane of 5ow, actoris, airt and pairt with vtheris, maist cruellie invadit and persewit an French Schip, callit,¹ quhilk 5e violentlie manit and buirdit, rest and cariet hir away, and maid þe haill cumpanie and trew men being þairintill 5our prifoneris and captives. AND siclyk, vpoune þe nixt day þairefter, being vpoune sum dayes of þe saidis monethis respectiué, at that same plaice, or neir by to þe North Cap, 5ea haueing forgadderit with ane Dutch Prem, 5ea altogidder being actoris, airt and pairt with vtheris, in all hosteill maner, invadit and persewit þe said Schip, manit and buirdit hir, tuik all her men and companie captives and prifoneris, and brocht þe said Schip, with hir haill laidnyng, gudis and geir, to þe Cost of Ireland, at þe said Long Yland; in the quhilk journey, 5ea the said Robert Em was present, and voluntarie enterit in thair companie, and remanit with thame senfyne, in all þair roberis. AT the quhilk Long Yland, in the saidis monethis of December, Januar, Februar, March, Apryll, Maij, Junij, or sum dayes of þe saidis monethis respectiué, haueing strukin fail and cassin anchor, and thair 5ow the saidis William Peirse, Thomas Peirse, Johne Williames and Nicoll Dartnoll, being thair present, vpoune þe schoir, as maisterles men and vagaboundis, cuming of set purpos from Londoune to Ireland to þe said Long Yland, being ane comoune plaice of resort of all Pirates and Roberis to enter in the wickit fellowschip of Roberie, 5ea all, of 5our awin voluntar accord, and of devyce and plat foirsaid, com to þe said schip, quhairn the said Captane Parkins, Captane Randell, and þair wickit companie wer, and enterit in the said schip callit þe Dutch Pryse, as assisteris with þe foirsaidis vther Pirates; AND haueing, in þe saidis monethis respectiué aboue writtin, or sum dayes þairof, louffit and maid fail thairfra, vpoune þe same Cost of Ireland, 5ea alltogidder forgadderit with tua French schipes, and þair, in all hosteill maner, as said is, maist cruellie invadit and persewit þe saidis tua French Schipis and þair companie, and violentlie buirdit thame, rest, and robit, and pillied² thame, and away-tuik þe saidis Schipes, with þe haill gudis and geir being þairintill; and pat þe haill men and companie on schoir, in findrie vncouth and barberous partes, to þe mercie of þe Seis; AND thairefter, 5ea all, the foirsaidis Pirates and 5our complices, in the saidis monethis of December, Januar, Februar, March, Appryll, Maij, Junij, and Julij instant, vpoune sum or mae days of þe saidis monethis respectiué, be storme of wedder being driven to þe said Long Yland, and thair haueing cassin anchor, and haueing met and forgadderit, consultit, plattit and devysit with Captane Esson, Captane Bischop, and vther Pirates and Sie-Roberis; In this mene tyme, 5ow the said Robert Wast, Walter Cornishe, William Tailzour, Francis Wallace, Francis Richtop, Cornelius Jacobstone, Johne Schipherd, Richard Robifone, callit Dik þe Hoyser, Johne Gryse, Andrew Rawling, Johne Web, Benedict Ferres, and Johne Dawfoune, enterit in societie and assistance with þe saidis Captane Parkins and Captane Randell, and þe rest of þair wicket crew, of 5our awin voluntar accord, 5ea being all maisterles men and vagaboundis, as said is. LYKEAS, vpoune sum of þe dayes of þe saidis monethis respectiué abovewrittin, 5ea louffit all togidder, and tuk fail fra the said Long Yland, and cam in 5our cours to þe Cost of Norroway; and thair, haueing foirgadderit with ane Flemis schip, being laidnit than with cornes, and thair 5ea, in all hosteill forme and maner, as said is, enterit abuid of þe said schip, tuik hir and hir haill laydnyng, gudis and geir, and robit hir of hir curceabill³ gudis being þairintill, and detenit þe said schip in 5our companie captive and prifoner be þe space of four dayes or þairby. AND SICLYK, in the saidis monethis of December, Januar, Februar, March, Appryll, Maij, Junij, and Julij instant, and vpoune sum or vther dayes of þe saidis monethis respectiué, 5ea all, persisting in 5our vngodlie and deteitabill traid of lyff, haueing foirgadderit vpoune þe same Cost of Norroway, with ane Dutch Schip, callit,⁴ 5ea, being actoris, doeris, airt, pairt, red and counsell with vtheris, in all hosteill maner, as said is, violentlie persewit and enterit abuid, manit and tuik þe said schip and her haill company, as prifoneris and captives, and made ane pryse of þe samyn. AND ALS, 5ow, þe foirsaidis Pirates, in the monethis immediatly affoirfaidis, at þe leift vponne sum or findrie dayes of þe famyn, continewallie lurkand and awaiting for ʒour pray, haveing foirgadderit vponne þe Coft of Norroway with tua Dutch ſchipes, quhairof þe ane was ane Schip of Dankene, qubilk Schip ʒea all as actoris, doeris, airt, pairt, red and counfell with vtheris, in all hoftell forme invadit and perfewit, as faid is, buirdit þe fame, robit and ſtrypit þe hail companie being pairintill off thair gudis and geir, reft and tuk out of þe faid Schip of Dankene tua peice of ordinance. AND LYKWAYES, in the faidis monethis of December, Januar, Februar, Marche, Appryll, Maij, Junij and Julij instant, or vponn sum or vther dayes of þe faidis monethis respectiué, ʒea, the foirfaidis Pirates and Sie-Thives and Rivers, being actores, doeris, airt, pairt, red and counfell with vtheris, haveing foirgadderit vponne þe Coft of Zetland, within this Kingdome, with ane Carvall of Zermouth, quhairof Mr Muriall was maifter, and in all hoftell forme, as faid is, perfewit and invadit þe faid ſchip, as faid is, robit and away-tuk furth þairof, fra the faid Mr Muriall tuentie-fye pund ſtrivling; and from tua Falconeris, being paſſingeris boune to Norroway for bying of halkis,¹ four pund ſtrivling; and thairwithall tuk Johne Colman and Peter Inkiping furth þairof, as captives and priſſoneris with ʒow; and cariet thame quhair ʒe pleaſtit. AND ALSO, in the faidis monethis respectiué immediatlie above writtin, and vponne sum dayes thairof, lurking and awaiting continewallie for the compaſſing and catching of ʒour pray, vponne trew ſubiectes, ʒea haveing ſene and foirgadderit with ane Bark of Cathnes, vponne þe Coft of Zetland, quhairof was maifter, ʒea the foirfaidis Pirates, at þe leift þe maift pairt of ʒow, and ʒe all as actoris, doeris, airt, pairt, red and counfell with vtheris, vnder cloud and ſilence of nycht, invadit and perfewit þe faid Bark, buirdit þe famyn, ſtrak and brak vp þe kiftes and vther lokfaſt lumes² being pairintill, robit and tuk furth þairof ane hundreth merk ſterling; and tuk furth ane certane number of ſteikis³ of braid-claith pertening to þe faid maifter, and cariet þe famyn to ʒour ſchipes. AND ʒea and ilk ane of ʒow gat ʒour ſkair⁴ of þe faidis robit gudis, and ſua, at this ſelff fame tyme. AND vponne þe dayes of þe monethis respectiué foirfaidis, haveing ʒour cours direct towardis Orknay, thair to have lurkit, landit at þe Caſtell of Kirkwall, and com to þe toune þairof, quhair ʒea and ilk ane of ʒow, as opin and avowit Pirates and Sie-Roberis, behavit ʒour ſelffis maift barberoullie and baſtlie, being eveir and at all tymes drukin, and fechtand amanges ʒour ſelffis, and ſubiecting and giuing of ʒour ſelffis ovir to all kynd of wyce and villanie. LYKAS, ʒe, þe faidis Robert Croudis, Richard Robiſone, callit þe Hoyſier, and Andro Rawling, in ʒour madd and drukin humoris, perſiſting than in ʒour accuſtomit traid of Piracie, violentlie and perforce enterit and buirdit ane bark pertening to my Lord Erll of Orknay, lyand vponne þe ſchoir, off plane plat and intentione to have robit, ſpolʒiet, and reft hir; quhair ʒe was, in that attempt, tane and apprehendit. LYKAS, ʒe, þe foirfaidis Pirates preſent on pannell, and ilk ane of ʒow, war thair lykwayes tane and aprehendit with the faid Dutch Schip, being laidin with hydys, leid, caunon, arteilʒerie and vther furnitur; and ʒea and ilk ane of ʒow ar actouris, doeris, airt, pairt, red and counfell of þe famyn cryme, and of all and findrie þe premiſſes; As ʒe and ilk ane of ʒow can nocht deny, and ar all comoune Roberis, Thives, and Rivers, auld and new.

¹ The name is left blank.² Pillaged; plundered.³ Merchantable; staple.⁴ Left blank.

Followis the tenor of the PRECEPT.

LUDOUIK DUX OF LENNOX, Erll of Darnlie, Lord Torboltoone, Methvene, and Obigney, &c. Great Admirall of Scotland: To our Louittis, &c. [It is unnecessary, in this place, to insert the Precept of Executions at length, which are in common form.]

QUHILK Dittay and Precept affoirnamet being productit, in preſens of the faidis Judges, and the foirfaidis hail Pirates and Criminallis iudyttit, compeirand and enterand vponne pannell, as faid is, the faid Procuratour Fiſcall aſkit inſtrumentis and Act of Court thairvponne: And than deſyrit the faidis Criminallis to be put to the knowlege of ane Affyſe; and for that effect deſyrit the faid Affyſe to be callit, and the foirfaid Dittay red, as is aboue-ceauit,⁵ in preſens of the pannell and perſones of Affyſe;

¹ Norway was celebrated for the best breeds of falcons, &c., for the sport of hawking, then so much in vogue.

² Literally, looms; implying lockers, chests, &c. in which valuable goods and money were stowed away.

³ Webs;

⁴ Share, portion. ⁵ Perhaps for 'conceavit.'

quhilk desyre the saidis Judges thocht reffonabill, and thairfoir Ordanit the officeris of Court to call the names of the said Affyse, efter the Clerkis publict nominatioun, conforme to the Precept about writtin, direct thairanent; quhairof the names compeirand followis.

NOMINA ASSISÆ.

John Landis, merchand,	James Borthuik, merchand,	Williame Duff, skiper,
Robert Halybartoun, merchand,	Johne Mairtene elder, skiper,	Williame Ridoch, skiper,
Johne Maffonne, merchand,	Johne Mairtene younger, skiper,	Johne Watfone, skiper,
Johne Mitchelbill, merchand,	William Weir, skiper,	Johne Moir, skiper,
Johne Hutchehone, merchand,	Johne Wilfonne, skiper,	William Mureheid, merchand.

Quhilkis perfonis of Affyse being reffaut, be consent of the haill Criminallis being vponne the pannell, quha declairit they had na obiectionne nor imputatioune againes thame, nor na caus quhy to repell and fet thame or ony of thame: In the quhilk respect, the foirsaidis Judges tuik the saidis perfonis of Affyse and ilk ane of thame deiplye and solemplye fuorne, vpon 'thair greit aithes,¹ that they and ilk ane of thame fuld leill fuith fay and na fuith conceill, for na thing that be mycht, bot to determine verilie vponne the said Indytment, be thair pairt of Hevin, and as they fould anfuere to God at the dreadfull day of Judgement: Quha instantlie passit vponne the said Affyse. And thairefter caufit reid the foirsaid Dittay to the pannell, in presence of the said Affyse, in maner and conforme to the particular tenour and contentes above mentionat. Quhilk Dittay being judiciallie red, with findrie taikins² and informatiounis of everie ane of thair giltines; compeirit the haill perfonis of the pannell, and heirand the famyn, being accuffit thairvponne, could schaw na lauchfull nor reffonabill caus of thair innocencie of the saidis crymes layd to thair charge; ilk ane of thame for thair awin pairtes, conforme to the said Dittay, and according to thair awin Depositiounis red to thame, and in presens of the said Affyse, quhilk they Confessit; and referrit thame to the Tryell of the said Affyse. Quhairvponne the said Procuratour Fiscall askit instrumentis and Act of Court; and desyrit the said Affyse mycht be removet out of Judgement, and to be incloisit, to the effect they mycht give thair Verdict and determinatioune thairintill, according to thair aithes alredie solemplye gevin in maner foirsaid.

VERDICT. Quhilkis perfonis of Affyse, being removit out of Judgement and incloisit, electit and choysit all with ane consent, the said James Borthuik, as chancellor of the said Affyse; and efter lang deliberatioune, reiding of the said Dittay, togidder with the said perfonis Criminallis thair Depositiounis, and vther notices and informatiounis, and als with thair Confessioune vpoun pannell, being ryplie and at lenth advyfit, and all aggrieand in ane voice, but discrepance or varriance, be the mouth of the said James Borthuik, chancellor, re-enterand agane in Judgment, Decernit and Declairit, and Decernes and Declaires, the foirnamet haill perfonis Criminallis on pannell, and everie ane of thame, to be GILTIE, airt and pairt of the foirsaidis Robereis and crymes contenit in the said Dittay, and Fyllit and Fyllis thame and everie ane of thame thairof, and (that) of everie heid, point, and circumstance of the said Dittay.—Quhairvponne the said Procuratour Fiscall lykwayes askit instrumentis; and Remittit the Dome to the saidis Judges.

Followis THE DOME,

At command of the saidis Judges, be the mouth of Patrick Leveraunce thair Dempfier of Court.

FORSAMEKILL as the saidis Captane William Randell, &c.,⁵ present on pannell, and everie ane of thame, ar ffund, be ane conding Affyse, Giltie, art and pairt of the committing of certane vyld Robereis, Piraceis, and Reiffis, contenit in the said Dittay immediatlie befoir writtin, quhairfoir I adijudge thame and ilk ane of thame to be tane to the Peir and schoir of Leith, within the Sic-fluid and mark thairof, and thair to be Hangit vponne ane gibbett till they be deid. And Ordlanes the foirsaid greit Dutche

¹ This singular form of oath illustrates in the strongest manner the anomalous office of a Jury-man, in those times; they being called as witnesses of the facts charged against the pannel, as well as Assisors, as has formerly been explained. ² Proofs; evidence. ³ The names of all the prisoners recited here.

Schip callit the Pryfe,¹ haill arteiljirie, ornamentis and apperrelling thairof, bydis, leid, and vther furnitur being thairintill, apprehendit with thame, and all vtheris moveabill gudis and geir, to be efcheat and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis use (but preiudeice to my Lord Admerall of the efcheates of Pirates and Sie-Roberis in tyme cuming). And this I give for Dome.

EXTRACTUM per me, Joannem Young, Scribam et Clericum Principalem dictæ Admiralitatis Scotiæ, sub meis signo et subscriptione manualibus. (L. S.²) JOANNES YOUNG.

III. LETTER, the Privy Council of Scotland to THE KING, 'anent the Ingliſche Pyratis,'³ (Captains Randall and Parkins, &c.)

MOST GRATIOUS AND SACRED SOUERANE,

VPOUNE advertiſment gevin to ws that ſome Pirott ſchippis had bene ſeene in the mouthe of the Firth,⁴ and the ſame ſecundeit by the complaintes of a grite many of your Ma^{ties} ſubiectis, bothe on the Weſt Coaſt and heir on the Eift, of the vnquietnes and hafaird of paſſage, by reaſſoun of the frequencie of Engliſche Pirottis on the ſea; and ſpeciallie, of one of Caithnes, who, in his paſſing home, wes robd' of all that he had: And boith by him, and the repoirt of otheris who mett ſome of theſe Pirottis on the ſea, being certified, that they wer gone toward the Orknay Ylandis, We, being moved and grevit with the complaintis of your Ma^{ties} poore people, and being loathe to impeſche⁵ your Maieſteis vtheris weyghtie affairis, with the aduertifment thairof, whill⁶ we had done ſome thing thairin our ſelfis; and wiſeing that, in a mater of this qualite, (admitting hardlie ony delay, wherin the omitting of the preſent occaſioun nicht do much harme,) your Ma^{tie} ſould rather find ws cairfull of our dewyite, then vtherwayes remiſſe or negligent, we did heirupoun preſentlie direct thrie of the beſt ſchippis at that tyme within the harbour of Leithe, weill mannit and furneiſſit with all weirlyke prouiſioun (your Ma^{ties} awne ſchip at that tyme not being arryved heir.) And hauing gevin vnto thame expres direction and charge to make ſearche, and to follow quhiddelſoever they could apprehend thoſe Pirottis; and our Schippis having mett with thame vpoun the coaſt of the Mayne-land of Orknay, thay having tua failis, the one a Schip aboue 200, the vther a Choife-pinnacle⁷ of 100 (twyn of birth,⁸) eſter a bloodie conflict, in whiche tua of oure men wer killed and ſindrie hurte; the Pinnacle, being excellent in failling, maid choife rather by flicht to faife hir ſelff, then, by ony langer ſtay, to abyde the hafard of taking: and albeit ſho wes followed for a ſpace, yitt did ſho ſtill gayne ground. Wherupoun, the perſuite being left of, the vther gritt Schip in the meane quhyle being boordit, wes broght away be oure ſchippis; and in hir wer takin to the number of threttie able men, beſydes ſome few priſounaris, whom theſe Pirottis did keepe aboorde. Who, after thay had bene dewlie and feuerall tymes examined, at laſt all theſe threttie wer putt to thair tryell and found guiltye: Of whiche number xxvij ar execute and putt to deathe; of whome thair were tua Capitaines, by name Capitaine Perkyne and Capitaine Randell. The other thrie are repyvit and continewit vntill ſuche tyme as your Maieſteis pleaſour be knowne, in regairde that thair is hoip, by thair forder examinatioun, to learne oute ſome thingis tuitcheing the eſtait. We haif alreddy diſcouerit ſome mater of abuſe, hoiping to

¹ There is in the Charter-room of the city of Edinburgh, from which the above remarkable Trial has been taken, a GIFT OF THE ESCHEAT of the Dutch Ship noticed in the foregoing 'Dome,' paſſing under the Privy Seal, and dated at Edinburgh, Aug. 7, 1610, in favour of 'Thomas Young, induellar in oure burgh of Edinburgh, his airis and assignayes aue or ma;' which narrates that theſe Pirates 'wer juſtlic and worthelic execute to the dead, vpoun the morne thaireſtir.'

² The ancient Seal of the Court of Admiralty is remarkable, hauing a Veſſel of War in full ſail, with the arms of Scotland, England, and Ireland, on three ſhields introduced in the centre of the ſmaller ſails; and on the main-ſail is a large eſcutcheon of pretence, containing the quartered arms of the Duke of Lennox, as Hereditary Lord High Admiral, with the motto, 'KEIP.' The legend is, 'SIGILLVM. OFFICII. ADMIRALITATIS. REGNI. SCOTIÆ.'

³ From the Original, preſerved in the Dennylne MSS. Adv. Library, A. 2. 40. It is alſo tranſcribed by the Earl of Haddington, in his MS. Collection, General Register Houſe, Edinburgh, but probably from an imperfect ſeroll or copy, as there are many minute variations. The moſt important of theſe are noted here.

⁴ Of Forth.

⁵ Fr.; hindrance.

⁶ Until.

⁷ Called a 'Chace-pinnacle' in Had. MS.

⁸ Added in Had. MS.

in Had. MS.

find more oute, wherby this grite increffe of Piracye hathe bene by some, far aganis thair deuyteis to your Ma^{tie}, too muche fosterit and mantenit; bot of the particularis of the same, as vnwilling to commit thame to wryte, your Ma^{tie} falbe certifyed at lenth by your Maiesteis Secretarye of this Kingdome, who is schortlie to mak his repair thither. In the mean quhyle, the personis of those men whose lyves ar spaired falbe faillie kept and maid furthcomeand, ather for forder examinatioun heir, or, vpoun knowlege of your Maiesteis pleafour, falbe broght thither to be tryed. Thair wer also mony pregnant presumptionis that howeur these men now spairit wer deprehendit in the societie of the rest, that the same wes more by enforcement then by consent, which wes¹ affirmed by the most parte of thame who war executed. This company of Pirottis did interteyne one whome they did call thair Perfoune, for saying of Prayeris to thame twyfe a day, who belyke ather wearyed of his cure, or fearing² the ensening (dainger and³) destruction of his flock, had foirfaikin thame in Orknay, and priuelie conveying him felff over land, wes at lenthe deferyed and deprehendit in the burgh of Dundie; and being broght hither, did so cleirly confes and gif evidence aganis the rest; and, being confronted, broght mony of thame to confessioun. Thair being heirwith some likliehoode that his stay with thame had bene by constraint, we haif heirvpoun, in lyke foirt, continewit him frome being putt to tryall vntill your Ma^{ties} pleafour be knowne.

We do vnderstand, by aduertisement from Orknay, that thair be some fyve or sex Pirottis mo deprehendit; bot quidder thay be of this company or not, it is vncertane; alwayes, we do expect thame by the first occasioun of any schipping that dothe come from thense. And since none of ws ar ignorant, that by reafoune of aduertisements, not onlie frome all the corneris of your Ma^{ties} awin dominionis, bot alsua frome foreyne pairtis, your Ma^{tie} hes never almost ony intermissioun or respitt, (your Maiestie, by Godis Prouidence and to your subiectis vnspeakable happynes, being the great Oceauen vnto whiche all revaris and brookis do rinne,) as in dewytie we could not omitt to acquent your Maiestie hierwith, so the feir of troubling your Maiestie with too long a Letter hathe moved ws to refer the particular⁴ relatioun of all the incidentis in this busynes to a more proper occasioun. And concerning all suche other directionis as it pleisit your Ma^{tie}, ather by Commiffioun sent be the Lord Burley, or by Letteris wryttin vnto ony of ws, concerning the Marques of Huntley, the Erl of Errole, or ony vther mater worthie of the advertising, your Maiestie falbe certifyed⁵ of all these oure procedingis by the Secretarie, at his repair be your Maiestie. And so, praying God to blisse your Maiestie with a long, happy, and prosperous reigne, we rest for ever,

Your Maiesteis most humble and obedyent subiectis and seruitouris,

EDINBURGH, 27 July, 1610.

DUNFERMELINE. DUMBAR.

TO THE KING his most sacred and excellent Maiestie, &c.

IV. EXTRACT from Minutes of Privy Council Proceedings,⁶ Jul. 4, 1615.

THERE is one CAPTANE MAISONNE of Lyne, with fyve or sex others of his companye, in wardie within the Tolbuith of Edinburgh, upon verie probable suspitiounes of Piracye. The estate of the cause is this. Captane Mason, some foure yeeres fence, or therby, having purchasid a yeere Tak⁷ of the Assyise-hering⁸ of the Northe Ylles; and vpoun occasion of his haunting of the Ylles that yeere, having enterred in some acquaintance with the Bischop of the Ylles, and haveing transported him to and from Yreland,⁹ he procures of the Bischop, in the moneth of Apryll, 1612, a Lease of a lytle Ylle called Rona; bot neuer com to tak possession of the Ylle, nor to try the worth thair of, whill¹⁰ this yeere.

¹ The Had. MS. reads, 'And the same also.'

² 'Foirseing,' in the Had. MS.

³ These words added in the Had. MS.

⁴ 'Plaine,' in Had. MS.

⁵ 'Aduertyset,' in Had. MS.

⁶ Denmylne MSS.

Advocates' Library, A. 4. 15.

⁷ One year's lease.

⁸ A tax paid to the Crown upon the quantity of herrings caught at the fishery; which, owing to the expense of collection, was usually farmed out annually.

⁹ Andrew Knox,

Bishop of the Isles, and Abbot of Icolmkill, had livings in Ireland. He was translated to the see of Raphoe, in Ireland, anno 1622.

¹⁰ Until.

Hes a pretty bark, wherewith this last yeere bygone he made fundrye voyages betweene Amsterdame and Lyne, haveing none in equyppage¹ but sex perfoncs. This yeere, when he resolues to come to our Ylles, he takes in at Yairmouth one CAPTAN WILMAN, who had beene a notable Pirott, and had obtaned his Maiefties Remiffion, with two of his brether: And pretending, as he affermes, to come to Rona to have taken poffeffion of the Ylle, and to have tryed the fifheing there, (althoght he was nouthcr prouided with falt, trees, victualles, nor no kynd of outredd for the fifheing,) he comes firft to Orknay, where he takes in other two perfoncs, the one to be a cook and the other to be a pyllot, and makes his adreafs for Rona; but the winds being contrarions, and not darring tak land there, he comes about the Ylles to Mull, where he ftayed foure dayes. In which tyme, there comes to M^cCLEANE a derection and Commiffion from the Counfall, for the perfute of Coll M^cGillefpik and the others Rebels of Ila.² Captane Mafone being acquainted heerwith, he ingyres him felf in that feruice, geveand M^cclaine vnderftand that he would hafard his perfon and fhip in perfute of the Rebelles, vpon hope of his Ma^{ties} confiderationne and rewarde for his feruice. M^cclaine geveand trust to his difcourffis, encourages him to follow that enterpryfe; and furnifhes him with fome victuales, for he had lytle or non of his owne: And fo, leaving M^cclaine his country, he comes bak againe that fame way he went, towards Rona; and having ftayed there fome half a day, and getting information that the Rebelles wer in the Lews, he derectis his courfe from that towards Orknay, to tak in mo men, as he pretended, for the bettar ftrenthening of him againft the Rebelles. In Orknay he taks in fex men, which made his number to be feavintenth perfoncs. And whereas he fhould have gone to the Lews, he directes his courfe for Zetland, and from that to the coaft of Norroway, where, going into a bay under a craig,³ and lying there at ankar couertlie vnder the craig, there comes by a fhip of Copmanhouen.⁴ Vpon the fight wherof, Mafones fhip immediatlie loufes, follows the Copmanhouen fhip, takes her, and bringes her in to the bay, takes the wholl equyppage⁵ oute of her, which wer four or fyve perfoncs, and ftowes thame in Mafones fhip.

Captane Mafone, to excufe him felue of this deide, makes this difcourfe, that when he came to Zetland, Captane Wilman perfaveing ther voyage lyk to proof fruitles, there was no appearance of the Rebelles, he layed to his charge, and earneftlie delt with him to go feek fome adventur by fea; and becaus he refufed to yeeld to fuch a vnhoneft and vnlawfull motion, Captane Wilman ftirred vp the wholl companye of his fhip againeft him, vferped vpon him the charge and commandement of the fhip, depryved him of all charge, and took him aganeft his will to Norroway; and when the pryife was perfewed, ftowed him beneth—and at laft patt him in the pryife, whiche wes a ould lek⁶ fhip, with three of his companye that would not yeeld to follow Wilman, fpoiled him of his owne fhip, which wes a tight and good fhip, and fett him to the fea, to the haifard and perrell of his lyf.

For difcouerie and tryeing of the troth of this difcourfes, the Counfall hes been verie carefull in the examinatioun of fuch of Captane Mafones companye as ar broght heere, and by there examination it is funden that (there) wes neuer any mater of conteftation betweene Maifone and Wilman, that Willman ftirred vp the companye againeft Maifone; and that there was neuer once fuch motion in the fhip, concerning that mater; that Mafone difwadad none of his companye to joyne with Wilman, nor neuer told any of thame that Wilman had a purpofe for Pirracye; but that thay aggreid verie well in all thingis. And the Maifter of the Copmanhouene fhip fayd planelie, that Mafone wes aboue,⁷ in his fhip, when he wes perfewed and taken; and when his fhip wes broght in to the bay and faftened to the other fhip, that Mafone enterred in his fhip, and that Wilman and he fuped togidder and made mirrye vpon the prouifion that wes in his fhip, and drank out his wyne and his beir; and that Mafone lay all night in the pryife, and vpon the morn called for the Maifter of the pryife, and tould him that he behoofed to tak his fhip, feeing Wilman had taken his fhip; and faves, that vpon the morne, common name then in use for Copenhagen.

¹ Crew.² See Papers appended to the Trial of Sir James Makconell, III. 1, &c.³ Rock.⁴ The

⁵ Crew.⁶ Leaky.⁷ On deck.

both shippes loufe and come togidder the space of foure myles, to witt, Maifon in the pryife, and Wilman with the wholl companyee, except three men and a boy, in Mafones fhip; and when they finder, there wes gryte mirth amonges thame, with drinking mouy good nightis; and the Maifter of the pryife fayes forder, that his fhip is iij^c dollouris bettar nor¹ Mafones fhip.

The two companyees being finder, Captane Mafone come bak againe till Orknay in the Copmanhouen pryife, of purpofe, as appeires, to have taken in fome ma² men; but beeing guyltie, in his owne confcience, of Pirraeye, he durft not tak land, but took him to the fea, and by storme of wedder wes dryven upoun the coaft of Caithnes; and being lyand there, in a harborry, he wes boorded by a fone of the Larde of Markles, and he and his foure men were taken and fend heere.

Captan Wilman in Mafones fhip pafte bak againe to that fame bay from which they loufed, and the nixt morning took a fhip of Ruftok, loadned with fifhes, and fet the wholl companyee of the fhip, being nyne in number, vpon a rock in the fea, and kept onlie one with thame; and Wilman come with the pryife and Mafones fhip till Orkney vpon a Sunday, and he pafte to land and wes entertained by the country people, and fome come aboorde and wer mirrie with him. Vpon the morn, being Mononday, two of the Lairde of Grymmiffayes fones, and one Robert Elphinfoun, comes aboorde of the pryife, wherin Wilman and his fkippar war both for the tyme; and haueing fome conference and fpeatch with thame, and efpying there ftrengh, they commanded Wilman to rander; and he refufeing, the youngest of Grymmiffayes fones immediatlie gave him a deadlie ftroak, wherwith he dyed prefentlie; and at that fame infant killed the fkippar by an other ftroak. And fo; the Captane and fkippar being both killed, the reft of the companyee and both shippes randered. In this meantyme there is a Waughtar lyand in Zetland, attending the Fledes Fleitt³ at the fifcheing, and being enformed by Mr Williame Levingfoun fchiref-depute, that a Pirote with a pryife wes gone by towards Orknay, this Waughtar, refaueing a pylote from the Schiref-depute, followes the Pirote to Orknay, and comes directlie to this fame harborry where the Pirote and the pryife lay, takes thame both and bringes thame to Leyth, faying, that he had a command and directioun from his Maifteris, the Eftates, that what euer Pirrottes he fand in the Scottifhe Seas, he fhould tak thame and prefent thame with there shippes and goodes to the Kinges Maiefties Counfall here. The Orknay men who killed the Pirrotte and his fkippar followed the Waughtar, and greeveonflie complained of the wrong alledged done to thame in taking of the shippes at there handes, which thay had recouered with the hafard of there lyues; and they alledged that they wanted findrie of there goodes which they had put in the shippes, they being of purpofe to have broght thame aboute to Leyth. The Captane of the Waughtar excufed him felue, that he knew nothing that they had recouered the shippes; but believing the shippes wer ftill in the poffeffion of the Pirrottes, he tooke thame and broght thame heere to the Counfall—and tutching the goodes which they alleged they wanted, the Captane conftantlie affermed, and fo did the Orknay Pylote, that the Shiref-depute delyuered him, that they wanted not a pennie worth of that which he gott in the shippes. The Counfall accepted verie well of the Waughtars doings, hes returned him bak, with thankes, and hes propnyed⁴ him with a coup of lx vnce⁵ weight.

Directioun is geuen for delyuerie of the Copmanhouene fhip to the owuar, he geveand fome reafonable fatisfacioun to the gentlemen who recovered the fame from Captane Mafone.

Bycaus the owners of the fhip of Ruftok are not heer to refaue there fhip and goodes, and becaus the goodes will not keepe in the fhip, therefor derectioun is geuen to roup and fell the wholl goodes beeing within the fhip, and to mak pennie of the fame; to be furth-cumand to the ownaris, whan they fhall come heere; they geveand reafonable fatisfacioun to the gentlemen who recovered the fhip and goodes from the Pirrottes.

¹ More valuable than.

² More.

³ Flemish Fleet.

⁴ Gifted; presented.

⁵ Sixty ounces.

Mutilation and Demembrement.

Dec. 19.—JAMES FORRESTER, sone to vniq^{le} James Forrester, ffather-brother to Sir Robert Forrester of Strahenrie, kny^t.

Dilaitit, accuset, and persewit be Mr David Anderfoun at Ballingarrie, off airt and pairt of the Mutilatioun of the said Mr David of his richt airme; committit vpoun the tuentie day of October I^m.Vj^c. and nyne yeiris, foiranent¹ the said Mr Davidis duelling-hous dur, at the Kirk of Ballingerie; vponne sett purpois, prouisioun, and foirthocht fellonie.

The pannell, eftir reiding of the Dittay, acknowlegis the offence; and maist humblie craves God and his Maiestie pardoun, and the pairtie, for the fame; and offeris him selff in his Maiesteis Will thairfoir.

VERDICT. The Assyse, in ane voce, be the mouth of Andro Cokburne in Treatoun, chancellor, ffland, pronuncet and declairit the said James, conforme to his awin Judiciall Confessioun, to be ffylet, culpable, and convict of the said Mutilatioune.

In respect quhairof, the Justice ordanit the said James to be committit to waird within the Tolbuth of Edinburgh, thairin to remane, as ane convict persone, quhill he be advyset with the Lordis of Secretit Counfall, anent his Dome, to be pronuncet aganis him for the said cryme.

[Mr Alexander Colvill Justice-Depute.]

Theft—Fire-raising—Slaughter—Intercommuning with the Clan Gregor—Fight of Bintoich, &c.

[THE interest which now attaches to the proscription and subsequent history of the Clan MAC-GREGOR, induces the Editor to prefix a few explanatory remarks to the present Trial; and especially relative to 'THE FECHT' or 'skirmisch' of 'BINTOICHE,' which is taken notice of in the Dittay. The difficulty of obtaining accurate information regarding such proceedings, and the obscurity in which almost all Highland transactions at this period are involved, render this the more necessary; and it is hoped will plead the Editor's apology with those who deem such enquiries uninteresting.

This Fight or Skirmish of Bintoich, then, is likewise known as 'the Chase of Ranefray,' having been fought, partly, as would seem, at both places; or more probably the Fight took place at Bintoich, and the Chase or pursuit reached as far as Ranefray. 'The Book of Taymouth'² thus narrates the transaction:—'Attoure, Robert Campbell, second sone to the Laird (of Glenurquhay) Sir Duncan, persewing ane great number of them (the Clan Gregor) through the countrie, in end overtuik them in Ranefray, in the Brae of Glenurquhy; quhair he slew Duncan Abrok Makgregor, with his son Gregor in Ardehylie, Dougall Makgregor McCoulchier in Glengyle, with his son Duncan, Charles Makgregor (M^c) Cane in Bracklie, quha was principallis in that band; and twenty utheris of thair compleifes slain in the chais.' A contemporary historian, Sir Robert Gordon, in his History of the Earldom of Sutherland,³ p. 247, says of this affair, that 'here (meaning at Bintoik, which he had previously mentioned) Robert Campbell, the Laird of Glen-Vrquhie his sone, accompanied with some of the Clanchamron,

¹ Directly before or opposite.

² An extremely interesting Family Chronicle, containing valuable notices of Highland History, and illustrating the genealogy of many families in those districts. The Original is in possession of the Noble family of Breadalbane, and, as the Editor has been informed, is likely to be privately printed for the use of THE BANNATYNE CLUB.

³ This curious work might with much propriety have been styled a History of Scotland.

Clanab (M^cNabs), and Clanronald, to the number of tuo hundred chofen men, faught againft three feore of the Clangregar ; in which Conflict tuo of the Clan-Gregar were flain, to wit, Duncan Aberigh, one of the Chieftanes, and his fone Duncan (Gregor ?) Seven gentlemen of the Campbell's fyd wer killed ther, though they feemed to have the victorie'

It appears rather singular that the slaughter of one of the ClanGregor, at the very time when that Clan was the subject of Letters of fire and sword, should, by the Government, be held a crime ; more especially when the MacGregors were again in the very same predicament.]

Mar. 2, 1611.—Johnne M^ckewin, in Kilbryde ; Archibald M^cilvoyll M^clowrin, Donald M^cinowie, in Glencho ; Duncane Caird M^cgregour, Patrik M^cean Dow M^cgregour, Allafter Bowie M^cgregour Clerache, Dougall M^cgregour Clerache M^cgregour, Duncane M^cneill M^cgregour, [Donald M^ceandich M^cgregour,¹] Johnne M^candro.

Dilaitit, accuset and perfewit be Mr Robert Foullis, substitute to Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnie, kny^t, Aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hienes intereis, of the crymes respectiue following, viz.—THE said Johnne M^cewin, ffor airt and pairt of the thiftious Steilling of tuelf fcheip fra the Barrone M^ccaflan, furth of his landis of Innerthonoling ; committit in the moneth of August lastbypaft 1610 yeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the thiftious Steilling of tua gait² and ane fcheip fra Adame Colquhoun in Point, furth of the landis of Barrie, in the moneth of December I^m.Vj^c. and fax yeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling of ane pair of pleuch-irnes fra Williame Myller in Schennekillis, furth of the landis of Schennekillis, in the moneth of Apryle I^m.Vj^c. and aucht yeiris. ITEM, ffor cownoun Thift and cownone Refset of thift, inputing and outputing of thift, &c. AND for daylie Intercowmoning and keiping cumpanie with the M^cGREGOURIS, affifting and taking pairt with thame, in all thair thiftious deidis, heirfchipsis, robreis and oppreffiones, this thre or four yeir bygane.—THE saidis Archibald M^cilvoyll M^cLowren, and Donald M^cInnowie, fervandis to Allafter and Allane M^cIndowie in Glencho, ffor airt and pairt of the tressonabill Raifeing of ffyre about Johnne Stewartis hous in the Camrone, in the Lennox, in the moneth of December lastbypaft ; affageing of Duncane, James, and vinq^{le} Johnne Stewartis thairintill ; AND ffor airt and pairt of the slaucher of the said vinq^{le} Johnne Stewart, at the tyme foirfaid.—THE said Duncane Caird M^cGregour, ffor cownone Thift and Refsett of thift, outputing and inputing of thift, &c. AND ffor daylie Intercowmoning and keiping of tryftis and confultationes, with the M^cGregouris, affifting and taking pairt with thame in all and findrie thair thiftis, reiffis, and oppreffiones, committit be thame this thre yeir bygane.—THE said Patrik M^cean Dowie M^cGregour, ffor being in company with the M^cGregouris, at the fecht or skirmisch of Bintoiche, in the moneth of Apryle I^m.Vj^c. and four yeiris. AND ffor airt and pairt of the tressonable

¹ ' Tane bak agane to waird, and nocht put to ane Affyse.'

² Goats.

Raifeing of ffyre, burning of the Caftell of Achallader, and of tuentie houffis in Glenlochic; and for the crewall Slauchter of ffourfoir ky¹ at the faid fecht. AND ficklek, ffor airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vinq^{le} Patrik Dow M^cnab, and ane feruand of the Laird of Glenvrcheis, namet M^cLayne, baith flane in the faid fecht of Bintoich. AND, ffor cowmone Thift, cowmone Reffet of thift, outputing and inputing of thift, &c. AND, ffor Intercowmoning and keiping cumpanie with the M^cGregouris, in all thair wicket deidis, &c.—THE faid Allafter Bowie M^cGregour, ffor Cowmone Thift and cowmone Reffet of thift, outputing and inputing of thift, fra land to land, fra cuntrie to cuntrie: AND ffor Intercowmoning and keiping daylie tryftis and conventiones with the M^cGregouris, and taking plaine pairt with thame in all thair violent and thiftious deidis, thir dyuerfe yeiris bygane.—THE faid Dougall M^cGregour Clerach M^cGregour, ffor the crewall Slauchter of vinq^{le} Gregour M^cGregour, fone to vinq^{le} Duncane Abroche M^cGregour, be fchuteing of him with ane arrow behind his bak; committit in August I^m.Vj^c. and four yeiris. ITEM, for Intercowmoning with the M^cGregouris, contrair the temour of his Maieftis Acts and Proclamationes, at dyuerfe tymes, fen the publicatione of the faidis Proclamations.—THE faid Duncane M^cNeill M^cGregour, ffor cowmone Thift, cowmone Reffet of thift, &c. AND als, ffor Intercowmoning with the M^cGregouris, affifting and plane pairt-taking with thame, in all thair thiftious deidis, thir dyuerfe yeiris bygane.—THE faid Johnne M^cAndro, ffor airt and pairt of the Burning of Johnne Stewartis hous, and Slauchter of the faid vinq^{le} Johnne Stewart; committit in the faid moneth of December, I^m.Vj^c. and ten yeiris; at the leift, for keiping cumpanie with the faidis Archibald M^cilvoil M^cLauren and Duncane M^cInnowie, and the remanent perfones thair complices, quha come furth of Glenco, to the doing of the faidis crymes.

ASSISA.

Johnne Buntene of Ardoche,	Johnne Buchannane,	Williame Colquhoun,
Parlane M ^c Walter of Auchin-	Andro Cuninghame,	Mr Malcolme Colquhoun,
vannell,	Johnne Logane, fear of Drum-	Malcolme Crawford, feruitour
Mungo Buchannane in Tillie-	chapell,	to the Laird of Blair, chewin,	James Colquhoun, feruitour to	Robert Blair,
Tho ^s Fallafdaill of Ardoch-beg,	the Laird of Kilbirnie,	Dauid Drummond,
Johnne Stewart in Camrone,	Robert Bradie, feruitour to the	Duncane Menzies.
Jo ⁿ Smyth in Auchindownarrie,	faid James Colquhoun,

VERDICT. The Affyfe, be the mouth of the faid Thomas Fallafdaill, chancel-ler, ffand, pronuncet and declairet the faidis Johnne M^cewin in Kilbryde, Archibald M^cilvoill, Donald M^cInnowie, Duncane Caird M^cGregour, Patrik M^ceandow M^cGregour, Allafter Bowie M^cGregour, and Duncane M^cNeill M^cGregour, to be ffylet, culpable and convict of the feuerall crymes refpectiue aboue writtin, con-

¹ Cattle; kine.

tenit in thair Dittayis: AND the said Dougall M^cGregour Clerach, to be ffylet, culpable and convict of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said v^mq^{le} Gregour M^cGregour, committit be the said Dougall, he being within the age of tuelf yeiris for the tyme; and ficlyk, for Intercoomoning with the M^cGregouris, conforme to the Article of his Dittay. AND ficlyk, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said Johnne M^cAndro, to be Clene, innocent and acquit of the Burning of the said Johnne Stewartis hous in Camrone; and Slauchter of the said v^mq^{le} Johnne Stewart; and remanent poyntis contenit in his Dittay.

SENTENCE. The Justice, be the mouth of Alexander Kennydie, dempfter of Court, decernit and ordanit the saidis Johnne M^cEwin, Duncane Caird M^cGregour, Patrik M^cIndow M^cGregour, Allaster Bowie M^cGregour, and Duncan M^cNeill M^cGregour, to be tane to the Burrow-mure of Edinburgh, and thair, in the ordiner place of Executioun, to be hangit quhill thay be deid; and all thair landis, heritages, guidis, geir, moveable and v^mmoveabill, &c., to be fforfaltit and escheit to our souerane lordis v^{se}, as convict of the saidis crymes.—AND supereidis the pronouncing of Dome vpon the vther thre, quhill he be advyfet with the Lordis of Secreit Counfall thairanent: And ordanit thame to be tane bak agane to their priffone, &c.

[Mr Robert Cokburne, Advocate, Justice-Depute.]
Slaughter — Shooting with Pistolets, &c.

Mar. 8.—JOHNE CARUTHERIS in Netholme, funtyme seruitour to Robert Lord Sanquhair.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the crewall and v^mmerciefull Slauchter of v^mq^{le} Andro Lyndfay of Raskarrell, brother to v^mq^{le} James Lindfay of Fairgirth, and seruitour for the tyme to my Lord Hereis, be schuiting of him throw the body, with ane pistolett; committit be him and be George Graham, seruitour for the tyme to the said Robert Lord Sanquhair, at the West end of the Brig of Dumfries, vpon the xvij day of September or thairby, about the down-fetting of the sone, in the yeir of God I^m fyve hundreth fourscoir saxtene yeiris; off the quhillk schotte, and be dyuerse vtheris crewall and deidlie woundis, gevin to him with fuordis, quhingeris, and vtheris forbiddin wappones, he schortlie thaireftir depairtit this lyfe.

PERSEWARIS, James Lyndfay of Fairgirth, Hew Lyndfay, his brother, as brether fones; Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnies.

PRELOCOUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Thomas Hoip, Aduocat, Mr Johnne Dauling, The Tutour of Bombie (William M^cClellan), The Laird of Enterkyn.

The Aduocat producet the Dittay, and takis instrumentis thairupoun.—The pannell producet Letteris of Relaxatioun, quhairby he is the Kingis frie lege.—The said Johnne Carutheris producet ane Remiffioun, for all crymes preceeding the dait thairof, and takis him thairto ; and in respect thairof, can nocht pas to ane Affyse. Off the quhilk Remiffioun, of the dait at Quhytehall, the xvij day of November, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and fax yeiris, grantit to him and to Alexander Erle of Home, Lord Jedburgh and Dunglas, Sir Johnne Home of Huttonehall, kny^t, and dyuerse vtheris thair complices, the tennour followis.

REMISSION in favor of the pannell, the Earl of Home, &c.

JACOBUS, Dei gratia, Magne Britannie, francie et Hibernie Rex, defensorque fidei, Cancellario nostro salutem. QUIA, ex nostris specialibus gratia et fauore, Remissimus Alexandro Comiti de Home, domino Jedburt et Dunglas, et Jacobo Cranstoun in Huntlie-woid, omnem rancorem animi nostri, sectam regiam et actionem quem seu quas contra dictas personas habuimus, habemus, seu quouismodo in futurum habere vel clamare poterimus, pro arte et parte Oppugnationis et Interfectionis quondam Leonardi Hailli in Pleuland, intra domum suam de Pleuland, et Incensionis et Combustionis ejusdem domus per ipsos, in mense Octobri, anno domini millesimo quingentesimo octagesimo octauo commissis. AC ECIAM Remissimus dicto Alexandro Comiti de Home, Domino Joanne Home de Huttone hall, militi, Magistro Samueli Home, ejus fratri, Thome Tyrie Tutori de Drumkilbo, Alexandro et Joanni Frenches, fratribus quondam Roberti French de Thornydykis, Joanni Home in Kello, Roberto Home in Huttone, Roberto Auehineraw seruitori dicti Comitis de Home, Joanni Cranstoun filio Joannis Cranstoun de Morestoun, Niniano Chirneyde seruitori dicti Comitis, Waltero Trumble de Ramflat, Roberto Home filio Willielmi Home de Aytoun, Willielmo, Niniano et Archibaldo Homes, filiis quondam Willielmi Home de St Leonardis, et JOANNI CARUTHERIS, et eorum cuilibet, omnem rancorem animi nostri, sectam regiam et actionem quam seu quas contra dictas personas aut eorum quamlibet habuimus, habemus, seu quouismodo in futurum habere vel clamare poterimus, pro arte et parte Interfectionis quondam Willielmi Lauder, Balliui burgi nostri de Lauder, vocat. Willieme at the West-Poirt, intra Pretorium nostrum de Lanark; ac pro arte et parte proditorie Incensionis et Combustionis dicti nostri pretorij per dictas personas, in mense Maio, anno domini millesimo quingentesimo nonagesimo octauo commissis. AC pro omni actione et crimine que desuper sequi aut contra dictum Comitem seu aliquam reliquarum personarum antedict. inde quouismodo imputari poterint: Et pro omnibus alijs criminibus, transgressionibus et offensis quibuscunque, per dictum Comitem, vel aliquam reliquarum personarum supra specificatarum, vilo tempore preterito, datam presentium preceden. commissis. (Proditione in nostram personam, Raptu mulierum, et fabricatione false et adulterate monete, tantummodo exceptis.) QUIA dictus Comes, pro seipso, ac nomine reliquarum personarum antedict. eius complicitum, partibus pro dictis Interfectionibus, ac etiam Balliuis, consulibus et communitati dicti nostri burgi de Lauder, pro reparatione nostri Pretorij antedicti, satisfecit, prout nobis lucide constat. VOBIS Precipimus et mandamus, quatenus Literas nostras Remissionis nostro sub magno sigillo, in forma Capelle nostre debita, supra nominatis personis, super premisis, fieri faciatis. DATUM sub secreto sigillo nostro, Apud Quhytehall, decimo septimo die mensis Novembris, anno domini millesimo sexcentesimo septimo, et regnorum nostrorum annis quarto et quadagesimo.

The Aduocat allegit that the Remiffioun is null ; becaus, be Act of Parliament, it is speciallie provydit, that na Remiffioun fall be grantit for Slauchter without satisfioun of pairtie, and is null be way of exceptioun ; and this pairtie is nocht satisfeit, ergo, &c.—The pannell offeris to find caution to satisfie the pairtie, conforme to the lawis of this realme ; and allegit that his Maiesteis Remiffioun anes being grantit, can nevir thaireftir be callit in questioun, conforme to the daylie practik of this realme ; and repeittis the lyk practik of Abercrumbie of Pitmedden contrair Gordones, quhair the lyk Remiffioun was fuftenit, vpon finding of cautioun.

It is forder allegit, that this Remiffioun nather designes quhair the pannell duellis, nather is the cryme it felff speciallie expreffit in the Remiffioun; and thairfoir, except the faid fact war speciallie expreffit in the Remiffioun, and the pannellis duelling and refidence speciallie designet, the faid Remiffioun is null, and can nocht be admittit.—It is anfuerit, that the pannell is remittit be his Maieftie for Burning of the Tolbuth of Lauder, and Slauchter of the Baillie of Lauder, and all vtheris crymes preceeding the dait of the Remiffioun; and was than fervand to my Lord Home, quha hes tene Remiffioun; and the faid Johnne Carutheris name is infert in the Remiffioun with the remanent perfones committeris of the faid Burning and Slauchter, as being in cumpany with him at that fact: Quhilk designatioun of his name to be Johnne Carutheris, with his style, and that he is the perfone remittit, he offeris to preve be famous witneffes present at the bar.—My Lord Aduocat defyret that my lord Justice and Justice-Clerk fould notifie this matter to the Counfall, and to defyre thair Lordfchips to wryte to his Maieftie, to vnderftand of his Maieftie, quhither this Johnne Carutheris be the perfone quhome his Maieftie hes remittit or nocht.

THE Justice continewis this mater to this day aucht dayes, the xv instantis.

(Mar. 15.)—The Justice, befoir Interloquitour, inquiret of the perfewaris, gif thai wald verifie ony vther perfone to be namet Johnne Carutheris nor (than) this perfone on pannell, quha was at the fact at Lauder, and wald instantlie preve the famyn? To quhome the perfewar anfuerit, that he wald verifie that thair is dyuerse vtheris fa namit, but had nocht witneffes present; and could nocht verifie that thair was ony vther Johnne Carutheris at the Burning of the Tolbuth of Lauder.—And the defender, being inquyret, Gif he wald verifie him felf to be the perfone fpecificit in the Remiffioun? Anfuerit, that he wald verifie the famyn be the witneffes present at the bar. And for verifeing thairof, producet Johnne Cranftoune, Niniane Chirnefide, Patrik Chirnefide, and Alexander Haitlic. It was allegit be the Aduocat, that thai can nocht be reffaut as witneffes in the faid matter, becaus they ar infert in the Remiffioun as socij ejusdem criminis with the pannell, at the fact of Lauder.—Thaireftir it was anfuerit be the pannell, that thai aucht to be reffaut, feing thay war nocht at the Slauchter of Lyndfay, for the quhilk he is this day perfewit; and fa war nocht socij illius criminis.

THE Justice reffaut Johnne Cranftane, &c. : Quhilkis all being fuorne, Declarit, that this Johnne Carutheris, present vpon pannell, was in feruice and companie with my Lord Home at the Burning of the Tolbuth of Lauder, and is the felf-fame Johnne Carutheris fpecificit in the Remiffioun: Quhairvpoun the pannell askit instrumentis.

THE JUSTICE, be Interloquitour, ADMITTIS the Remiffioun productet; and Ordanis the pannell to find caution to fatisie the partie perfewar, conforme to the lawis of this realme; according to the modificatioune of the Lordis of Seffioun: And als, that the Remiffioun fall be exped throw the Seillis within fourtie dayis, conforme to the Act of Parliament, vnder the pane of tua hundreth pundis: And that being done, the said Johnne Carutheris to be put to libertie.

For obedience quhairof, the said Johnne Carutheris fband Williame M^cClellane, Tutour of Bombie, with him self, caution to fatisie the partie; conforme to the Lordis modificatioun. Lyk as, Johnne Cranftoun, brother to my Lord of Cranftoun, obleift him to exped the said Remiffioun throw the Seillis, within fourtie dayis, under the pane of iij^e merkis.

Mr Johnne Hay, in name of the Bailleis of Edinburgh, tuik instrumentis of the said Johnne Carutheris entrie vpon pannell, and of the Justice Interloquitour aboue writtin, and the pannellis finding of cautione aboue specifreit; and in respect thair of, and that the Justice had ordanit him to be put to libertie, Proteffit that the Bailleis of Edinburgh fould incur na harme nor inconvenient for setting of him to libertie. Quhilk protestatioun the Justice Admittit, prouyding the said Johnne Carutheris be nocht arreiftit at the instance of ony vther partie, for ony vther caufe.

A bidding from the Raid of the Isles.

Mar. 15.—GILBERT M^cADAME of Watterheid; Donald M^cmillane of Knokingarroche; Robert M^cadame of Smeiftoune; George M^cadame, thair; Johnne M^cnacht of Doungucht; Gilbert Achannane of Murdochat; Robert Ferguffone of M^ckillieftoune; Johnne M^ckill, elder; Johnne M^ckill, younger; Williame Makadame of Craigullane; Thomas Gordoun of Crago; Johnne Neilfon of Corfok.

Dilaitit for the allegit contravening of his Maieftis Proclamatiounes, in nocht accompaneing and passing fordwardis with Andro Lord Stewart of Vchiltrie, his Maieftis Lieutenant, in the profecutioun of his hienes feruice, towardis the repressing of the infolencies of certane the difobedient Inhabitants of the Iles of this kingdome; according to his hienes Proclamatiounes maid to that effect, in the monethis of Maij and Junij, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^e. and aucht yeiris.¹

Compeirit judicillie the saidis Gilbert, &c., and in respect that thai and everie ane of thame had furneiftit furth sufficient able men to the said Leutenent in the foirsaid Expeditioun, and thairupoun had purchest the said Lord Leutenentis Testificat, with his Licence to abyde at hame them selfis, and nocht to pas fordward with his Lordschip, in the said Airmie: Quhilk Licence thay productet in Judgment to the Justice, vnder the said Lord Leutenentis subscription, daitit at Air, the xxvij of Julij, I^m.Vj^c. and aucht yeiris. And protestit, that thai nor nane of thame sould be ony wayis trubillit, vnlawit, or persewit for the cauffis aboue mentionet; bot that thai and ilk ane of them sould be Affoizzeit simpliciter thairfra, in tyme cuming: Quhilk Protestatioun the Justice admittit.

¹ See Notice prefixed to the Trial of Sir James Makconcell, May 13, 1609, Vol. III. p. 1, &c.

And in respect that the said Andro Lord Stewart of Vchiltrie, his Maiesteis Lieutenant foirsaid, being personallie present, quha affirmet the Licences aboue written, and granting thairof to be of veritie, Ordanit that nane of the persones foirsaidis sould be callit or trubillit for abyding fra the said Raid of the Iles, in ony tyme coming. Quhairupoun the saidis persones askit instrumentis.

Slaughter.

Mar. 16.—JOHNNE HAMMILTOUN of Hairschaw; Gawin and Archibald Hammiltoun, sones to the said Johnne; Symone and Williame Hammiltoun, brether to Hairschaw; Williame Hamniltoun, brother-sonne to Hairschaw; James Lyddell, sone-in-law to Hairschaw; and Mathow zounge, in Langlie.

Dilaitit of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Findlay in Eglischem; quha was flane at the Kirktown of Eglischem, vpon the xvij of ffebruarie, 1611.

PERSEWAR, Archibald ffindlaw, as brother to vmq^{le} Johnne Fyndlaw.

The Justice, of consent of partie, continewis this matter to the thrid day of the nixt Justice-air of the scherefdome quhair the persone abouewrittin duellis¹ (Lanerk.)

[Sir Williame Heart, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter of Probest of Wigtoun—Shooting Hagbutts, &c.

Maij 22.—JOHNNE KENNYDIE of Blairquhan, and Johnne Bairdis, brother germane to the Laird of Kilquhinzie.

Dilaitit of airt and part of the felloun and crewall Slauchter of vmq^{le} Patrik Ahannay of Kirkdaill, Proveist of Wigtoune; committit be thame and thair complices, with schottis of hagbuttis and pistolettis, at the Cruves of the Watter of Crie, in the moneth of December, I^m.Vj^c. yeiris, vpon set purposis, prouifoun, and foirthocht felonie: And for beiring, weiring, and schoitting of hagbutts and pistolettis, contrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament.

PERSEWARIS, Patrik Ahannay of Kirkdaill, as sone to vmq^{le} Patrik A.; Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Byris, kny^t, Aduocat to our souerane lord, for his Maiesteis intereis.

PRELOCUTOURIS for the pannell, My Lord of Cassillis, My Lord Vchiltrie, Gilbert Roifs; Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Thomas Hoip, and Mr Laurence M^cgill, Aduocatis.

The pannell acceptis the summondis, and speciallie that pairt thairof quhair

¹ ‘Plegijs, Hugone Montgomerie de Auchinhuid, et Joanne Hammiltoun de Hairschaw, pro omnibus; et ipsi ad relevand.’

the defunct was schot with peiftis¹ or dropis, with ane charget hagbut. It is allegit, that this matter can nocht pas to ane Assyse; becaus his Maiestie, of his speciall grace, hes gevin to the perfonen on pannell ane Remiffioun, quhilk thai producet to the Justice, of the dait at Edinburgh, the xvij day of Maij instant: And offeris Cautiounne to fatisfie the pairtie.—It is anferit that this Remiffioun can nocht flay the matter to pas to ane Assyse; becaus, be Act of Parliament, in anno 1593, it is provydit, that all Remiffiounes ar null that ar purchest eftir ane pairtie passis to the horne for the tyme; quhilk allegeance is ressaute be way of exceptioun, the pairtie nocht being fatisfeit.—It is anferit,² that this Act of Parliament is nocht in viridi obseruantia, nor hes nocht tane effect in this Judgement of befor: Quhilk allegeance he offeris to verifie, be my Lord Cassillis, and vtheris heir present.

THE Justice continewis Interloquitour vpon this allegeance to ffryday nixt.

(Maij 24.)—My Lord Aduocat, befor Interlocutour, passis fra his lordschipis former allegeance: Quhairupoun the pannell takis instrumentis.

THE Justice, be Interloquitour, Admittis the Remiffioun producet be the perfonen on pannell and thair prelocutouris; and Ordanit thame to find sufficient and responfall Cautioun and fouertie to fatisfie the pairtie grevit; conforme to the lawis and daylie practik of this realme.

Quhairupoun the said Johnne Kennydie of Blairquhan and Johnne Bairdis askit instrumentis: And ffor obedience of the said Justice Ordinance, nominat my Lord of Cassillis, my Lord Vchiltre, Sir Robert McClellane of Bombie, kny^t, Williame Cunninghame of Capringtoun, and Sir James Kennydie of Culzeane, as cautioneris, coniunctlie and feuerallie for thame; lyk as, being all personallie present, in prefence of the Justice, Band and obleist thame, coniunctlie and feuerallie, thair airis, executouris and assignais, to fatisfie the pairtie, viz. the kyn and freindis of the said vmq^{le} Patrik Ahannay of Kirkdail, ffor the slauchter aboue writtin; conforme to the Lawis of this realme.³

¹ Pellets, small shot; but, most probably, what is now termed slugs. ² Replied. ³ The arguments are thus expressed in an after part of the Record. As the point started is interesting, and the Counsel engaged were the most eminent of their day, it has been deemed proper to preserve the arguments at length.—It being peremptourlie allegit for the part of the saidis perfonen on pannell, be Mr Johnne Russell, with concurrence of Mr Thomas Hoip and Mr Laurence McGill, Aduocattis, thair preloquitouris, that the said fummondis and Dittay could nawayis be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse, becaus our foverane lord, of his speciall grace and mercie, had gevin and grantit to thame ane Remiffioun for the saidis crymes, and producet the said Remiffioun, past the Grit Seill, of the dait at Edinburgh, the xvij day of Maij instant; quhairvnto thai tuik thame selfis, and offerit responfall cautioneris and fouerteis, at the bar, to fatisfie the pairtie for the crymes contenit in the said Remiffioun, accoirding to the modificatioun of the Lordis of Sessioun, lawis and practik of this realme. To the quhilk it was anferit be our foverane lordis Aduocat, that the foirsaid allegeance aucht to be repellit, and the pannell, nochtwithstanding thair of, should be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse; becaus, be Act of Parliament maid in anno 1593, it is statute and ordanit, that na Respekt nor Remiffioun be grantit at any tyme thaireftir to any persone or perfonen passand to the horne for Thift, Reif, Slauchter,

The pannels bound themselves to relieve their cautioners; and the cautioners also obliged themselves to free each other, pro rata, &c.

Slaughter—Shooting with Hagbutts and Pistolets, &c.

JUN. 7.—ROGER GORDOUN in Glasniche, and Johnne Glendoning of Drumrafche.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} George Stewart, brother to vmq^{le} Mathow Stewart of Dunduff; committit the xxj¹ of September, 1601 yeiris, vpone fett purpois, prouifion and foirthocht fellonie: And als, for beiring, weiring, and schuitting of hagbuttis and piftolettis, contrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament.

PERSEWARIS, Williame Stewart of Dunduff, Johnne Stewart, brether fones.

The perfewaris producet the Letteris deulie execute and indorfate vpone the said Roger Gordoun and Johnne Glendoning; and als, vpone Alexander Gordoun of Hillis, Williame and Robert Gordones, his tua brether, Robert Gordoun of Bannernie, Alexander Creichtoune in Garrick, and Thomas Creichtoun in Balcaffie, quha ar past to the horne for the crymes contenit in the Letteris: And vpone the productione thairof, askit instrumentis; and protestit for the cautioneris relief for repoirting thairof.

Continewit to the morne. Plegio, Wilelmo M'culloche de Mertoun.

PRELOCOUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Aduocat, The Laird of Lochinvar.

(Jun. 8.)—The perfewaris declairit, in respect that this Roger Gordoun is only airt and pairt of the Slauchter, and nocht principall actor of the fact, and thairfore, vnto the tyme the principall maliefactouris be apprehendit, quhairby the pannell his giltines or innocencie of that crewall slauchter may be tryit, defyres that he may be continewit to the thrid day of the air [Wigtoun], or soner, vpone xv dayis wairning; and that caution be fund be him to that effect, vn-

Burning, or Heirschip, &c. quhill the pairtie skaithed [viz. until the party shall previously have received pecuniary satisfaction or damages for the loss sustained] be first satisfeid: And gif ony sic Respet or Remiffion fould happin to be grantit, befor the pairtie grevit be first satisfeid, the samyn fall be null, and of nane availl, be way of exceptioun or reply, without ony forder declaratour. Bot trew it is, that the perfonen on pannel, lang befor the purchessing of the said Remiffion, war denounced rebellis and at the horne, and war declairit fugitiues fra his hienes Lawis for the saidis crymes contenit in thair Dittay; the pairtie nawayis being satisfeid as zit: And thairfoir, the said Remiffion vsset and producet is null, be way of reply. And for verifeing thairof, producet the Extract of the Hoiring aganis the pannell.—To the quhilk it was duplyit be the pannell, that thay offerit thame to preve, be my Lord of Caffilis, and tua Ministeris, at the bar, that satisfacioun was offerit be thame to the pairtie grevit, lang befor thair passing to the horne, or purchessing of Remiffion; quhilk was refusset: Secundo, it wes nevir in viridi observantia that the foirfaid Act of Parliament was authorifet in this Judgement; nather yit could euir his Maiestis fauour and pardoun, being anes grantit, be callit thair-estir in questioun. And thairfoir, takis thame, as ofbefoir, to his Maiestis Remiffion; and offerit caution to satisfe the pairtie.'

¹ In the act of caution the slaughter is stated to have been committed on the 'ellevint.'

der the panes contenit in the Actis of Parliament. [Plegio, Wilelmo M^cculloche de Mertoun.]

The Laird of Mertoun americiated ‘in the pane of ffyve hundreth merkis, for nocht entrie of the faid Johnne Glendoning’ on June 8, and Glendoning ordained to be denounced rebel, and all his ‘moveabill guidis to be efcheit,’ &c.

Slaughter.

Jun. 28.—PATRIK MAXWALL of Newark.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} Robert Montgomerie of Skelmourlie, and vniq^{le} Williame Montgomerie apperand of Skelmourlie; committit in the moneth of I^m.V^c.lxxxiiij yeiris.

PERSEWAR, George Montgomerie.

The Laird of Newark productet ane Warrant of the Lordis of Secreit Counfell, direct to the Justice, anent the deferting of this dyet, for the reffonis contenit in the Supplicatioun gevin in to thair Lorfchipsis thairanent; with ane Command on the bak of the faid Supplicatioun and Warrant aboue writtin, commanding the Justice to tak cautoun of ather of the pairteis, befor thair cuming out of Judgement, that thai fall remane and keip waired within this burgh, quhill Tyfday nixt; and that thai fall compeir befor his Maieftis Counfall the faid day, vnder the panes following, viz. of Newwerk, vnder the pane of tua thousand merkis, and George Montgomarie, vnder the pane of ane thousand merkis. Quhilk Warrant is daitit at Edinburgh, the xxvij day of Junij 1611 instant.—For obedience of the quhilk Warrant, and ordinance thairin contenit, the Justice Defertit the faid dyet; and Ordanit the saidis tua pairteis, hinc inde, to find cautoun for thair compeirance befor the Lordis of Secreit Counfell the faid day, viz. the fecund day of Julij, vnder the panes aboue specifcit: Lyk as, for obedience of the faid Justice ordinance, compeirit Williame Lord Kilmaweris, and became plege and fouertie for the faid Patrik Maxwell; and siclyk, compeirit James Dunlope of that Ilk, and become fouertie for the faid George, &c.

Slaughter.

[THE Records of the Court of Justiciary do not afford sufficient information regarding the facts connected with the following Case; and, as it relates to individuals of considerable rank, the Editor thought it proper to select even such meagre notices as those which do occur. The Young Laird of Closeburn seems to have been one of the active spirits of these times, and to have been engaged in a laudable share of affairs of honour, and in quarrels quantum sufficit, and ‘befitting his degree!’]

In Lord Hadington's MS. Collections, the following remarkable entry occurs, under date Feb. 27, 1610. ‘The Lady Hemptisfeild, haveing defyred Andro Quhyt, keiper of the Tolbuith, to bring to hir Young Cloisbyrne, who wes in the Tolbuith wairedit, to speak with hir in his house; he doing it at her desyre, Young Cloisburne schiftit him self away. ffor the quhilk caus, scho being put in the Tolbuith, and thairafter transported to the Castell, socht Licens of the Counfall to be transported to the toone; quhilk the Lordis refused, vnles scho wald either enter Young Cloisburne, or find cautione to satisfe all parteis be quhome he wes wairdit or arreifted.¹

Closeburn's escape had been effected by his exchanging clothes with the Lady Hemptisfield, a method which has often proved successful in similar emergencies. It may be remarked, that the jailor's house was commonly attached to, or rather consisted of one or more apartments of, the prison.]

JUN. 28.—ALEXANDER KIRKPATRIK, sone to Sir Thomas Kirkpatrick of Cloisburne, kny^t.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} James Carmichell, sone to Johnne Carmichell of Spothe.

PERSEWARIS, Johnne and William Carmichell.

THE Justice, of consent of pairtie, continewis this dyet to the xxiiij of Julij nixt. [Plegio, D. Tho. Kirkpatrick de Cloisburne, milite.]

(Jul. 24.²)—THE Justice, of consent of pairtie, continewis this mater to the thrid day of the nixt Justice-air of the scherefdome of Dumfreis, or soner vppone fyftene dayis wairning: And ordanis caution to be ffund for that effect. [Plegio, D. Thoma Kirkpatrick de Cloisburne.]

Treason—Murder under Trust.

JUN. 29.—PETER WEIR, funtyme in Goitnow in Rig.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the crewall Slauchter and Murthour of vmq^{le} Johnne Hammiltoun, merchand burges of Edinburgh; committit, vnder trest, vppone the sevint day of November 1608 yeiris, befyde Monharig burne-fute.

PERSEWARIS, Jonet Small, the relict; Patrik Hammiltoun, as brother; Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Byres, kny^t, Aduocat to our souerane lord, for his hienes intres.

PRELOCUTOUR for the pannell, Robert Bannatyne, wryter.³

DITTAY against Peter Weir, the pannell.

FORSAMEKILL as vmq^{le} Johnne Hammiltoun, merchand burges of Edinburgh, haifing conqueift⁴ and acqyret to him self the richt of certane landis, occupyit and posselt be Johnne Weir in Over Quhytecleuch, the said Peter Weir, and Margaret Weir in Bagra; and haifing thairupoun obtenit Decretis of Removing, aganis thame and remanent tennentis and occupyeris of the saidis Landis; and for disobediencie of the charges of Hoirning, haifing denuncet the said Peter owr souerane lordis rebell, and put him to the horne, the said Johnne Weir, Mungo Weir, his brother, the said Peter Weir, and Margaret Weir, consultit and devyset anangis thame selffis, how to bereiff the said Johnne Hammiltoun of his lyfe: And for effectuating thairof, caufit certane freindis travell with him, and to cum in tryfing,⁵ and to meit at Monharig, to cownone⁶ thairupone; and affixt the

¹ Minutes of the Proceedings of the Privy Council, Had. MSS. A. 4. 22. Advocates' Library.

² The pursuers marked at this diet, are designed 'Johnne C. of Spothe, Williame C. his sone.'

³ One of the brothers of the celebrated George Bannatyne, in honour of whose valuable compilation of early Scottish Poetry, the Club of that name was formed.

⁴ Purchased, in contra-distinction to having inherited.

⁵ By special agreement or appointment.

⁶ Commune.

sevint day of November I^m.Vj^c. and aucht yeiris to that effect : Lyk as, the said v^mq^{le} Johnne Hammiltoun, for keiping of the said tryft, accompaneit with James Creichtoun in Bar, being cuming rydand furth the hie way, in sober and quyet maner for the tyme, vpone the said sevint day of November, to the appointit place aboue writtin, the saidis Johnne Weir, Peter Weir, Mungo Weir, and Margaret Weir, accompaneit with dyuerse perfones thair complices, being bodin with fuordis, quhingeris, kent-stalfis and otheris wappones invasiue, darnit¹ thame felfis in the hie way, befyde Monharig, quhair thai lay at await for the said v^mq^{le} Johnne Hammiltounes by-cuming ; and thair, vnder trest and friendschip, maist crewallie invaidet him for his slauchter, drew him af his hors, and with quhingeris, gaif him threfcoir² bludie woundis, in dyuerse pairtis of his body, to the effusoun of his bluid in grit quantitie ; and crewallie slew and murdreift him out of hand : And the said Peter was and is airt and pairt of the said Murthour. To the taikin, he and the said Margaret Weir, being in cumpanie with the said Johnne Weir, com to the said James Creichtoun, and drew him down af his hors, and held him be force down, quhill the said v^mq^{le} Johnne was murthourit out of hand ; quhairthrow the said James mycht nocht releif him.

James Creichtoun, being suorne, Declairit, that he, being in company with the defunct, the tyme lybellit, vpone the grund of the Land quhair the fact was committit ; and thair, this Peter Weir, with Margaret Weir, drew him af the hors and held him down ; quhairthrow he was nocht able to defend the defunct. — Quhairupoun my Lord Aduocat askit instruments ; and Protestis for Wilfull Errour, gif the Assyse acquit.

VERDICT. The Assyse,³ being ryplie and weill advyset thairwith, togidder with the said Peteris Depositiones, producet be our fouerane lordis Aduocat ; togidder with the Letteris of Hoirning, quhairby the said Peter was fugitiue fra his hienes lawis, for the said cryme, lykwayis producet, for instructing of the Dittay ; thai, be the mouth of Robert Phillope, burges of Sanquhair, ffand, pronuncet, and declairit the said Peter Weir to be ffylet, (be pluralitie of voitis,) of airt and pairt of the Murthour of the said v^mq^{le} Johnne Hammiltoun.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair his heid to be strukin from his body : And his haill guidis and geir to be escheit to our fouerane lordis vse, &c.

Treason—Slaughter—Murder under Trust, &c.

[THE TRIAL of the MURES of AUCHINDRAYNE may, without hesitation, be pronounced to be one of the most remarkable, in the whole range of the Criminal annals of this, or perhaps of any other country. In it are unfolded their most hidden transactions, and the secret springs of their most private and craf-

¹ Concealed. ² Three score ; sixty.
and James M'Morrane younger of Glaspen.

³ Among their number were George Maxwell of Drumcowtrane, tily contrived plots, all of them leading to the perpetration of crimes so singular in atrocity, and of so deep a die, that one can hardly expect to meet with their parallel, even in the pages of Romantic fiction. By the clew, now afforded, may be traced almost the secret thoughts of two of the most accomplished and finished adepts in crime—individuals who murdered by rule, and who carried forward their deadly schemes of ambition, by means of a regularly connected chain of plots and stratagems, so artfully contrived, as to afford them every reasonable prospect of success—and even in the event of the entire failure of their plans, almost to ensure their escape from suspicion; at the least, in their estimation, to warrant their security against ultimate detection, and consequently exempt them from the penalty of capital punishment.

Ambition and the lust of power appear to have been the immediate procuring causes of all the crimes in which these infatuated men were involved. Theirs was not the sudden burst of ungoverned passions, which might have hurried them on to the commission of a solitary deed of frightful but unpremeditated violence—nor were their crimes the consequence of ancient Feuds, inherited from their restless and vindictive ancestors—nor yet had they the too common apology that they originated in impetuous assaults made upon them, and that their hasty quarrels sprung from a fiery and unbridled temper, which had unfortunately terminated in fatal results. On the contrary, the whole of their numerous attempts and crimes may be characterised as cool, calculating, and deliberate acts, anxiously studied, and by slow and patient, but sure degrees, matured and prosecuted, for a long series of years, until at length ‘the measure of their iniquities overflowed,’—and the unlooked-for concurrence of an extraordinary train of circumstances, the most unlikely to have happened, eventually led to a triumphant discovery of their enormous crimes.

It is quite unnecessary here to enter into any detailed account of the facts connected with the crimes of these individuals. Their leading features are already familiar to all, ever since the publication of ‘AUCHINDRANE, OR THE AYRSHIRE TRAGEDY,’ from the pen of Sir Walter Scott; in the preface to which dramatic sketch, the origin and progress of these dark transactions are so fully discussed, that the Editor begs simply to refer the reader to a reperusal of that work.

In addition to the information contained in the ‘Dittay,’ and in the pleadings in this Trial, the Editor has been anxious to collect and lay before the reader the most remarkable circumstances connected with the history of the elder and younger Mures. For this purpose he has for some years past used all exertions to extend his researches in every direction, where authentic illustrative Documents and Records could be procured—and he has now the satisfaction of appending to this highly interesting Case a variety of Papers, which may almost be said to throw all the light that can now be reasonably expected, on proceedings which occurred now above two hundred and twenty years ago.

For the sake of saving too copious quotations in this work, the Editor has, through the liberal permission of the Curators of the Library of the Faculty of Advocates, Edinburgh, published in a separate volume ‘THE HISTORIE OF THE KENNEDYIS,’¹ from the Original MS. in their valuable collection. That History, besides the numerous interesting notices of the Mures of Auchindrayne, Sir Thomas Kennedy of Colzean, who ultimately fell their victim, the Earls of Cassilis, &c., enters most minutely into the Feuds and Conflicts of the Kennedies, Mures, Crawford, &c., and satisfactorily develops the causes out of which the various crimes of Auchindrayne and his son sprung. The state of society, and the habits and manners of the people of Carrick, are very graphically delineated by the author, who was evidently an eye-witness of the many interesting transactions he has recorded.

For the purposes of the present Introductory Notice, it is enough to state, as in reference to the persons who principally figure in this dark tragedy, that so far as respected birth, the MURES OF AUCHINDRAYNE were of most respectable and ancient extraction, and were connected with many of the most opulent and influential families in Ayrshire. They also for a considerable period held a conspicuous station in all the transactions and feuds of the district of Carrick. There is no reason to doubt that the Mures of MONYHAGEN and Auchindrayne (which last title was only latterly assumed by them) were cadets of the very ancient and honourable Family of Mure of Rowallan, now represented by the present Marchioness of Hastings, as Countess of Loudoun, &c. In confirmation of this fact, Sir William Mure of Rowallan, knight, in his History of that House,¹ states, that Andrew Mure of Monyhagen, the first of the family, was either a son or a grandson of Sir Gilchrist Mure, who died circa ann. 1280. It does not appear how or when they became possessors of the Lands of Auchindrayne; but it is certain, that previous to the Wars of Bruce and Baliol, Auchindrayne (i. e. the Field of Thorns) belonged in property to Robert Brown; and was, upon his forfeiture, granted by King Robert the Bruce to Henry Annan. By a Charter, dated March 16, 1498, James Mure of Monyhagen granted certain lands, in Wigtonshire, in favour of James Mure, his son, and Margaret Wallace, his spouse. One of the witnesses to this deed, is John Mure, ‘grandson and heir apparent of the said James;’ which shews him to have been a very old man at that period, and that he was born circa 1430. This John Mure must have been the grandfather of the old Laird of Auchindrayne, who figures in the present Trial.

¹ A limited impression of the ‘HISTORIE OF THE KENNEDYIS’ has been printed, uniformly with the works of THE BANNATYNE and MAITLAND CLUBS, and may be had of the Publishers of this Collection.

It is pretty evident, as appears from a Charter of Novodamus of the Lands of Leffenhill, dated Sept. 29, 1671, by Chalmers of Gadgirth, in favour of John Mure of Auchindrayne,² that the elder Mure must have been nearly eighty years of age at the period of his execution! The grantee is described as heir of John Mure of Monyhagen, ‘proavi,’ who had in like manner had a Charter of same Lands from Campbell of Loudoun, Sep. 2, 1550.³—This John Mure, who obtained the above mentioned Charter 1671, married Bethia Hamilton, daughter of Hamilton of Dalzell, by whom he had at least one son James, who probably predeceased him—for he conveyed Auchindrayne to his brother Hugh Mure, whose son or grandson sold it early in the last century; and the Family, it is believed, is now extinct in the male line.

To return to John Mure Elder, and James Mure Younger of Auchindrayne, the subjects of the following Trial, it is worthy of notice, as proving their rank and consequence in the most convincing manner, that John Mure the elder married Margaret Kennedy, second daughter of Sir Thomas Kennedy of Bargeny, (obit, Nov. 7, 1597,) by Lady Agnes Montgomery, sister to Hugh, third Earl of Eglinton,—and that James Mure the younger married Helen, second daughter of Sir Thomas Kennedy of Colzean, Tutor of Cassilis, by Dame Elizabeth MacGill, daughter of David MacGill of Cranstoun-Riddell, King’s Advocate, and relict of the celebrated Robert Logan of Restalrig.

On occasion of John, fifth Earl of Cassilis, going on his travels to France, he conferred THE BAILLIARY OF CARRICK upon the elder Auchindrayne, for all the period of his life, an office of high trust and respectability, having the Civil and Criminal Jurisdiction of the whole of that extensive and populous district. It had previously been enjoyed by Kennedy of Blairquhan, one of the most powerful Chiefs of the name of Kennedy. The Earl had previously given Auchindrayne grants of a five-merk-land and a two-merk-land, in return for his fealty and service; and besides, ‘the said John to be one his chargis enier quhan he ves out of Carrik.’⁴ Through the influence, as was asserted, of Sir Thomas Kennedy of Colzean, the Tutor of Cassilis, this office was recalled on the Earl’s return, which probably gave rise to the deadly grudge of Auchindrayne, and, after the lapse of many years, eventually terminated in his murder. After the period of this recall, Auchindrayne returned to the allegiance of the Laird of Bargeny, and took a most active lead in all the feuds of that disturbed country.

As the most copious materials occur in the Illustrations appended to the present Trial, and in the ‘Historie of the Kennedyis,’ relative to all the transactions of Auchindrayne, the Editor will not encroach on the prescribed limits of this work, by entering into farther detail. It is hoped that enough is there given to gratify the most anxious enquirer.

¹ Written in or prior to 1657, and printed from the original MS. Crown 8vo, Glasgow, 1825. ² He was eldest son of Sir John Mure of Auchindrayne, who was eldest son of James Mure younger of Auchindrayne, executed along with his father for the Murder of Dalrymple.

³ See Particular Register of Sasines for Ayrshire, II., 613, where numerous entries occur; but it would be foreign to the purposes of the present work to enter into lengthened genealogical detail and proofs.

⁴ See Historie of the Kennedyis, 4to, Edin. 1830, pp. 18, 19.

Among other curious matters which are mentioned in the present Trial, there occurs the ancient and almost universal superstition, that the body of a murdered person bleeds at the approach, or at least on the touch, of the Murderer! This test of guilt, or ordeal, is so remarkable, that the Editor has made every investigation which his opportunities admit; and lays the result before the reader, in the Appendix.]

Jul. 17.—JOHNE MURE OF AUCHINDRANE, elder; JAMES MURE, younger of Auchindrane; and JAMES BANNATYNE of Chapeldonall.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the tressonabill Murthour of vmq^{le} SIR THOMAS KENNYDIE of Culzeane, knycht, Tutour of Caffilis, vnder trust, &c.; committit be the said Johnne Mure of Auchindrane elder, in forme and maner, and at the speciall tyme fett down in his Dittay. AND als, for the tressonabill Murthour of vmq^{le} WILLIAME DALRUMPILL, in Air; committit be the saidis Johnne Mure, elder of Auchindrane, (James Mure, younger of Auchindrane,) and James Bannatyne, in forme and maner also contenit in the Dittay, produceit be our fouerane lordis Aduocat aganis thame.

PERSEWARIS, James Kemydie of Culzeane, as sone to vmq^{le} Sir Thomas Kennydie of Culzeane, kny^t, Tutour of Caffillis; Bessie Dalrumpill, as mother to vmq^{le} Williame Dalrumpill; Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Byres, knycht, Aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hienes interes.

PRELOCUTOURIS for the perfones on pannell.

Mr Johnne Ruffell, Aduocat; Mr Thomas Nicolfone, Aduocat; Josefhe Myller, Aduocat.

My lord Aduocat producet the Dittay aboue (under) writtin.

DITTAY against JOHN MURE, elder of Auchindrane; JAMES MURE, younger of Auchindrane; and JAMES BANNATYNE, sometime in Chapeldonane.

JOHNE MURE, elder of Auchindrane, James Mure, younger of Auchindrane, and James Bannatyne, sumtyme in Chapeldonane, Ye and everie ane of yow, for your owne pairtes, respective, ar Indyted and accused of the haynous, crewall, and tressonabill crymes vnderwrittin: FORSAMEKILL AS, be Act of Parlement, maid be oure fouerane lord and Estaittis of this kingdone, in the moneth of July, 1587 yeiris, cap. 51, it is statute and ordaned, that the Mourthour or Slauchter of whatsumever our fouerane lordis liegis, whair the pairtie flayne is vnder the traift, credit, assurance, and power of the flayer, all sik Mourthour and Slauchter to be committit efter the dait of the said Act, the samin being lauffullie tryed, and the perfoun dilaited, fund guiltie be ane Affyse thairof, fall be Treasoun; and the perfones fund culpabill, fall forefault lyfe, landis and guddis. AND TREW IT IS, that ye, the said Johnne Mure, elder of Auchindrane, haiving, without any juste cause, conspyred the Mourthour of vmq^{le} SIR THOMAS KENNYDIE of Cullayne, knycht, in the moneth of Januar, or thairby, 1597 yeiris, accompanyed with fevin or aucht of your complices in the said interpryse, came to the Towne of Maybole, and being furelie informed that the said Sir Thomas wes than foupping, vpon the day of the said moneth of Januar, in the howse of Sir Thomas Nisbett in Maybole, and wes to pas, efter supper, from that pairt to his owne howse; ye and your said complices, bodin in feir of weir,¹ with hagbuttis and pistolettis, and vtheris forbiddin and vnlauffull wapinis, dairnit² your self, vnder silence of night, about nyne or ten houres at evin, in ane obscure place, by the whilk³ the said Sir Thomas Kennedies passage laye; and, so sone as ye persaued him, ye fercelie set vpon him, persewed him with all violence and crueltie for his slauchter, schot and delaschit⁴ at him ane great number of schottis of hagbuttis and pistolettis, and still chaiffit and persewed him; whill,⁵ be the Providence of God, and releif of honest nightbouris, he wes delyuered from your crueltie. For the whilk vyld and barbarous offence, ye being summond to vnderly the law, (wes) forced be your owne notour guiltines to go to the horne. THAT feid and inimitie wes schortlie thairefter removed, not onlie be publict and sworne reconciliation maid betuix the said vmq^{le} Sir Thomas Kennedie and yow, the said Johne Mure of Auchindrane, bot also confirmed and strenthened, be allyance and mairiage of your eldest sone vpon the said Sir Thomas his dochter; whairby the said vmq^{le} Sir Thomas wes drawin vnder sik traift, assurance and freindschipe with yow, that he, lipning⁶ altogidder to the same, vpon the tent day of May, the yeir of God 1602 yeiris, being of intentione to ryde to Ed^r for his lauffull buffines, and having no lesf cair of your turnis⁷ nor of his owne,⁸ he send his seruand, Lancelot Kennedie, to wryte aduerteisment to yow, that he wes to tak his jouny towardis Ed^r vpon the nixt day, whilk wes the elleuint day of May, 1602 yeiris, or thairby; to the effect ye might meit him vpon the way, at the Duppil, a littill be-west the burgh of Aire, and informe him of sik buffines as ye wald desyre him to do for yow in Ed^r. Whilk aduerteisment, being writtin at desyre of the said Lancelot Kennedie, be Mr Robert Mure, than schole-maister of Aire, your kinsman, he sent that his Letter to yow, with ane scollar boy, being in his schole for the tyme, called Williame Dalrumpill; whilk letter cumming to your handis that efternone that it wes writtin, vmq^{le} Walter Mure in Cloncaird being than in cumpanie with yow, in your place of Auchindrane, ye dispatchit bak the said William Dalrumpill, in haist, directing him to returne to Maybole with diligence, and to deny that he had met with yow, or delyuered the Letter to yow: And incontinent thairefter, consult-ed and resolued with the said vmq^{le} Walter Mure of Cloncaird, to aduerteis Thomas Kennedie of Drumvrquhie, your gude-brother,⁹ of the certaintie of the

¹ Arrayed in warlike manner. ² Hid, concealed. ³ Past which. ⁴ Let off, fired.
Fr. delascher. ⁵ Until. ⁶ Trusting, confiding. ⁷ Affairs or matters. ⁸ Than of his own.
⁹ Brother-in-law.

faid vmq^{le} Sir Thomas Kennedie of Cullayne's journey, and of the way whilk he intended to ryde, advyſing the faid Thomas Kennedie of Drumvrquhie to vſe that occaſion to Mourthour the faid Laird of Cullayne, in reuenge of the Slauchter of the vmq^{le} Laird of Barganie; whairof the Laird of Cullayne wes altogidder innocent: And conforme to your faid develifh reſolution, ye, having aduerteifed, and perſuaded, and inſtigat the faid Thomas Kennedie of Drumvrquhie to interpryſe the faid treaſonabill Murthour, alſweill be your meſſage ſend to him be the faid vmq^{le} Walter Mure of Cloncaird, as be ane vther Letter ſend be yow to him with Makadam, your eldeſt ſones ſeruand for the tyme; the ſaidis Thomas Kennedie of Drumvrchie and the faid vmq^{le} Walter Mure of Cloncaird, accompanied with fyve or ſax of thair complices, vmbefet the faid vmq^{le} Sir Thomas his hie-way, neir the pairt whair he had tryſted to meit yow, and vpon the faid ellevint day of May, 1602 yeiris, be your aduerteifment, counſall, and inſtigatioun foirſaid, cruellie and treſſonablie Mourthoured and ſlew him, vnder traift, credit, and aſſurance; of your cauſing, command, counſall, and ratihabition;¹ ffor the whilk treaſonabill cryme, the faid Thomas Kennedie of Drumvrquhie ſtandis forfeitit be Parlement. Notwithſtanding whairof, ye, at all tymes ſen the faid treaſonabill Murthour, aſſiſted and ſupported the faid Thomas Kennedie, bothe within this cuntrie and ſen his going furth thairof; and hes keiped ordinar intelligence and correſpondence with him. AND ye, the faid Johne Mure of Auchindrane, ar airt and pairt of the faid cruell and treaſonabill Murthour, and aucht and ſould be forfeitit, and vnderly the pvneifment of treaſon for the ſame. LYKE AS, ye, feiring the diſcoverie of your guiltines of the faid Treafonabill Mourthour, be the taking, tryall, and examinatioun of the faid Williame Dalrumpill, for eſchewing thairof, ye cauſed quyetlie convoy him to your place of Auchindrane, immediatlie efter the faid Murthour; and cauſed your wyfe keip him quyet within the ſam, ſumtymes within the barne and ſumtymes in the turnepyke-heid;² appoynting James Cuninghame, your ſeruand, to cairie his meit to him for the maiſt pairt, and to ly in bed with him; keiping him verie quyet and ſecret from all vtheris. And nevertheles, finding that, pairtly be his weireing to be keiped as ane cloſe priſoner, and pairtly be the diſcoverie of ſum of your ſeruandis, who got knouledge of his being in your howſe, that he might be more publictly diſcovered, and ye thairby tryed³ guiltie of the faid Mourthour, ye ſend him to Loch-Ranfay, in Arrane, to the Laird of Skelmurlie,⁴ your freind,⁵ convoyed be your ſeruandis, Johne Mure called the Barroun, and James Gordoun, now ſtabler in Ed^r, and at that tyme your houſhold ſeruand; whare he, being deteand for your caufe, ane lang ſpace, and he lykwayes weireing to remayne in ane barbarous cuntrie, amang rude peopill, who nothing reguardit him, being ane ſtrenger to thame, leivand vnder ane counterfute name of Williame Mure, as ye had directed him; efter ſun difcord betuix him and ane of the Laird of Skelmurlies ſeruandis, he came bak to yow to Auchindrane, whair ye cauſed keip him darned¹ in the barne and turnepyke-heid reſpectiue, till ye learned that your freind James Mure of Fleit wes going to the Warres in the Low Cuntries; and than ye, be your ſelf and your Lady, perſuaded the ſaid James to tak the ſaid Williame to Flanders with him; whilk he conſenting to do, your wyfe gaued to the ſaid James ane naig, to help to mak the ſaid Williames expenſis; and ye recommended to him the cairefull and ſaif tranſport of the ſaid Williame Dalrumpill, and ſend the ſaid James Gordoun, your ſeruand, to convoy thame and await vpon thame, to the Place of Cauldwell, in thair way to Leith. Lyke as, the ſaid James Mure of Fleit ſend the ſaid Williame to Flanderis to the Warris; whair he ſerved dyueris yeires, and reſſaued dyueris woundis, and ſuſtained many vther miſeries in the ſame: Whairthrow, he, becumming deſyrous to returne to his natiue cuntrie, ye no ſoner hard of his hame-cumming, bot incontinent thair-efter ye ſend for him to the duelling howſe of Walter Mure in Glenheid of Auchindrane; and thairefter, vpon the . . . day of September, or thairby, the yeir of God 1607 yeiris, ye directed the ſaid James Cuninghame, your ſeruand, to convoy him from the ſaid Howſe of Glenheid to James Bannatyne houſe of Chapel-Donald; and caſting yow, to forgadder with him be the way,² ye, the ſaid Johnne Mure, elder of Auchindrane, and ye the ſaid James Mure, eldeſt ſone and apperand aire of the ſaid Johnne Mure, elder of Auchindrane, meitting with the ſaid Williame Dalrumpill, in the hieway, betuix Auchindrane and Chapel-Donald, ye keiped cumpanie with him be the ſpace of aucht myles, and held dyuers pourpoſes, ſpeeches, and conferences with him; tryed of him the eſtate of the Low Cuntries, and findrie vther materis; till ye, cumming altogether to the houſe of Chapel-Donald, ye, the ſaidis Lairdis of Auchindrane, deſyred the ſaid James Bannatyne to keip the ſaid Williame Dalrumpill, whom ye than named ‘Williame Montgomerie,’ whilk he ſould vnderſtand farther of your pourpoſe: And ſending vpon the morne thairefter, being Setterday the . . . day of September, 1607 yeiris, for the ſaid James Bannatyne, ye, the ſaid Johnne Mure, elder of Auchindrane, deſyred him to bring to yow, to the Sandis of Girvan, the ſaid Williame, about ten houris at evin; whairin he³ obeying yow, at his cumming with the ſaid Williame, he ſand yow, the ſaid Johnne Mure of

¹ Confirmation. Law Lat. ratihabere. ² The top of the turnpike or circular ſtaircaſe, common to the towers and reſidences of the principal families in Scotland, at this period. In the courſe of the Trial, it is ſpecified that he was kept 'in pe chalm in pe turnepyke-heid.' ³ Found on trial to be guilty. ⁴ Sir Robert Montgomery. ⁵ Blood-relation; one related by the ties of conſanguinity.

¹ Secreted, concealed.

² Contriving that you ſhould, as if by accident, meet with him on the road.

³ On the margin there is written, ‘he ſimplie lipning (truſting) to trait and freindſchip, cam ſimplie to yow,’ but without a mark where it is meant to be taken in. The Dittay in Hadington’s MS. Collections ſeems the original ſcroll, and bears numerous corrections, in his own hand.

Auchindrane, and James Mure, your eldest lafull sone, attending thame :¹ And at your meitting, ye, the said James Mure, demanding whair the boy wes? And the said James Bannatyne, schawing to yow whair he had lichter fra behind him,² he past fordward to yow, the said Johne Mure elder of Auchindrane; wha, schawing to him that boy wes he wha broght to yow the Letter of aduerteifment of Cullaynes dyet before his Mourthour, and that ye hauing vfed diuers meanes to put him by the way, for eschewing the discouerie of your pairt and guiltines of the said Mourthour, he still returned within the cuntrie; whairby ye, feiring that he sould be the meanes of your wraik, ye wes forced to resolue to mak quyte of him: And the said James Bannatyne, perswading yow rather to giue him sumwhat and fend him away of new, when, as he had almost perswaded yow, and that he and ye wer returning towardis your sone, to move him to allow of the said resolutioun, so sone as ye approached neir vnto him, he crewallie invaided the said Williame Dalrumpill for his slauchter, rusched him to the ground, and, setting his kneyis vpone his airnes, he pat his handis in the said Williames throt, and thairwith worried and slew him: In the whilk fact, ye, the said Johne Mure, elder of Auchindrane, helped, with your owne handis, to hald him downe and finore³ him. AND incontinent thairefter, ye, the saidis Johne Mure, elder of Auchindrane, and James Mure, your sone, and ye, the said James Bannatyne, taking ane spaid and schule, reddie prepared be the said James Mure for the pourpoise, caist⁴ hollis in the sand to have buried him; whilk still schutting and filling with sand and water, swa that ye wes not abill to get his corps covered, ye, the saidis James Mure, younger of Auchindrane, and James Bannatyne, cairied his deid corps in the Sea, sa far as ye could waid, and left his corps thair, to be cairied to the mayne Sea,⁵ be ane vterlie wind;⁶ notwithstanding whair of, within fyve or sax dayes thairefter, the wind and tyde broght bak the dead corps of the said vmq^{1c} Williame, neir to the pairt where ye had mourthoured him: WHILK being tryed,⁷ and the authoris of his Mourthour referched, be all lafull meanes, the constant and vniuersall bruit⁸ and opinion of the haille peopill of the cuntrie, blamed yow and evrie ane of you of the sam: Lykeas, in treuth and veritie, ye thrie are the verie and onlie Murthouraris and slayeris of the said vmq^{1c} Williame Dalrumpill, vnder your traift, credit, assurance, and power; in respect that he wes knowne to you, the said Johne Mure, elder of Auchindrane, at the tymes and in maner before specified; and wes not onlie knowne to yow, the said James Mure, younger of Auchindrane, whan he wes ane scoller in Maybole, and whan he wes keiped in the place of Auchindrane, ¹ Waiting for them. Fr. attendre. ² Alighted from horseback, on which Bannatyne and Dalrumpill had 'rode double.' ³ Smother, suffocate. This horrid manner of death is in all respects the same as that lately pursued by the infamous Burke and his associates! ⁴ Cast, dug. ⁵ The Ocean. ⁶ An off-shore wind. ⁷ Examined or investigated by the proper legal authorities. ⁸ Report. Fr. bruit.

in anno 1602 yeiris, befoir his going to Arrane, and efter his bak-cumming thairfra to Auchindrane; bot also at his going fra Glenheid to Chapel-donald, whan ye, the saidis Johne Mure of Auchindrane, and James Mure, your eldest sone, convoyed him to the howse of Chapel-Donald, recommended him to the said James Bannatyne, and left him in the keiping of the said James Bannatyne; and, thairefter, send for him to cum to yow to the Sandis of Girvan; whilk message he obeyed, and most willinglie and reddelie cam to yow; whan he, being vnder your traift, credit, assurance, and power, ye treasonable slew and murdered him, in maner aboue-writtin: AND yow, and evrie ane of yow, ar airt and pairt thairof, and aucht thairfoir be Decerned to forfeit lyfe, landis, and gudes, and to amit all landis, heretageis, takkis, steidingis, rowmes, possessionis, teyndis, cornis, cattel, gudes and geir, titillis, proffitis, commodities, and rightis whatsumever, directlie or indirectlie perteaning to yow, or ather of yow, at the committing of the saidis Murthouris, or senfyne, or to the whilk ye, or any of yow, had richt, clame, or actioun.

IT IS ALLEGET be the pannell, that na proces can be led aganis thame, becaus thai ar nocht summond to this dyett.—My lord Aduocat anfuers, that thai war summond for thir same crymes of befoir, and being presentit and enterand, wer wairdit,¹ sum of thame in the Castell of Edinburgh, and vtheris in the Tolbuith of Edinburgh; and being accuset for Treasone, may be brocht furth of thair wairdis, and put to ane Assyse. And for verification of the premiffes, producet the Letteris of Horning, quhair thay being summond, past to the horne, for nocht finding of caution to compeir and vnderly the law.

The pannell desyres xxiiij houris to be advyset with the Dittay, becaus the matter, substance, persones, and subiect of the first Dittay is alterit.—The Aduocat in the contrair, becaus the Dittay and the first Letteris agreis in substance, tuiching the Murthour of Sir Thomas Kennydie and Willyame Dalrumpill.—The pannell anfuers, thay differ in circumstances.

The Aduocat thairefter producet the first Summondis, and desyret the famin to be red; and the Justice to advyse, quhidder thay differ fra the Dittay, in substance, or nocht.—THE JUSTICE Ordanis proces, without delay.

The Lairdis of Auchindrane, elder and younger, askit instrumentis, that James Bannatyne is accuset and pannellit with thame, in this proces.—My Lord Aduocat declairis, that he infistis vpon the Summondis, as it is tressonabill.

It is allegit, that this Act of Parliament, quhairvpon the Summondis is foundit, was never in viridi obseruantia, in this Judgement, quhill this persute.²

¹ Imprisoned, kept in ward.

² That the act in question was never observed in the practice of this Court; and that this is the first instance of its having been founded on.

—It is anfuerit, that this Act of Parliament hes tane effect aganis Thomas Kennedy of Drummorchie.

It is allegeit, that the affumption of the first pairt of the Dittay, aggreis nocht (with the) woirdis of the Act of Parliament, in thir woirdis, ‘ vnder power, trust, credeit, and affurance ;’ becaus the Laird of Auchindrane had na power over the Tutour of Caffilis : And as to the woird of ‘ affurance,’ it is repointit in the Summondis, that the feid was taikin away, and thairfoir, na affurance.—To the quhilk it was anfuerit, be the Aduocat, that the allegeances aucht to he Repellit, in respect of the Dittay.— For, it is sufficientlie knawin, that foure perfones may haif ‘ power’ over ane ; and the pannell, haifing gevin aduerteifment and directioun to fax to stay the Tutour, thair was mair nor sufficient power : And as to the rest of the allegeance, ‘ credeit, trust, and affurance,’ the Dittay standis relevant, feing thair was na feid standing, and thairfoir, behovet to be flane under trust.

It is allegit, that the Dittay can nocht be relevant, vnles the famyn beir that the pannell was actuall committer of the cryme ; becaus the Act of Parliament beiris, quhair the fact is committit and done be ane man, haifing power and authoritie of the perfone flane ; bot sa it is, that the pannell was nocht present at the committing of the fact ; and sa the perfone flane was nocht vnder his power.—It is anfuerit, that the Dittay standis relevant, in respect that the Pannell was airt and pairt of the fact ; and thairfoir the allegeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay.

THE JUSTICE ffindis the Dittay relevant, and Ordanis the famyn to be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse, except the pannell fay forder.

It is forder allegeit, that the naikit affertioun of power, authoritie, and affurance, except the pannell had bene present at the committing of the fact, is nocht relevant. Item, thair can na proces be led vpon this Dittay, feing the famyn is foundit vpon ane writ quhilk is nocht product. Anfueris, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay.—It is allegit, that the Dittay is nocht relevant to infer Treafoun, becaus it is never subsumeit in the Dittay, that the Laird of Cullane was vnder the power of Auchindrane. Anfueris, vt supra, that the famyn aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay.—It is allegit, that the wryting of ane Letter be Auchindrane to Thomas Kennedy is nocht relevant to infer, that the pannell was airt and pairt of Cullanes slauchter. Anfueris, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay.—It is allegeit, that thair is na thing qualifeit in the Dittay, that the cryme was committit be the pannellis causing, counfall, or command ; becaus counsell can nocht infer airt or pairt. Anfueris, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay.

THE JUSTICE Repellis the hail former allegeances ; and ffindis proces.

It is allegeit, gif the principall slayeris fallis nocht vnder the danger of the Act of Parliament, the perfones nocht present, and yit accuset of airt and pairt, can nocht fall vnder the danger of the said Act: Bot sa it is, that the Tutour of Caffillis was nocht vnder the power or assureance of Thomas Kennydie of Drum-murchie, principall slayer; and na assureance betuix thame, bot feid standing betuix thame. It is anfuert, that thair was na feid standing betuix Drum-murchie and the Tutour of Caffillis; and thairfoir the said allegeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay, as it is sett down.

THE JUSTICE Repellis the allegeance, in respect of the Dittay.

Forder, allegis that the principall actouris is nocht discussit. Anfuert, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay beiring airt and pairt; and that the principall committeris ar fugitiue, and thairby hes tane the cryme vpon thame.

It is allegit, concerning the Slauchter of Dalrumpill, that the auld Laird reptis the haill allegeances maid aganis the Act of Parliament, vnder trest, credeit, power, assureance, &c. And for Young Auchindrane, sayis, that Dalrumpill was nawayis vnder his power, credeit or assureance; becaus it is nocht qualifeit, that he was vnder the young Lairdis power; and thairfoir, can nocht infer Treafone aganis him. The Aduocat anfuert, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay.

THE JUSTICE, be Interloquoutour, Sustenis the Dittay, as it is confauet, alsweill aganis the young Laird as his father.—Quhairvpoun the Aduocat askit instrumentis.

ASSISA.

Sir James Scrymgeour of Dudope, kny ^t , elder, Conftable of Dundie,	Duncane Bayne of Tulliche, Dauid Weir of Auchtiefardill,	Williame Sinclair of Blaufe, George Seatone of North-Rig,
Sir George Elphingstoun of Blithifwod, kny ^t ,	Patrik Stewart of Baithe, Vthreid McDowell of Mondork,	Johne Corbett of Arboill, Patrik Carkettill of Markill,
James Scrymgeour, younger of Dudope,	Robert Merfer of Salene, Mathow Brisbane of Raffene,	Johne Kneiland of Fokane, Sir Dauid Woid of Craig, knycht.

My lord Aduocat tuik instrumentis of the fweiring of the Assyse. My lord Aduocat askit instrumentis of the fweiring of the Dittay, be Bessie Dalrumpill, moder to vmq^{le} Williame Dalrumpill, in that article thairof, concerning the Murthouring her sone.

THAIREFTIR, my lord Aduocat, ffor verificatioun of THE DITTAY to the perfones of Assyse, reptitit to thame the notorietic of the fforfaltour in Parliament of Thomas Kennydie of Drum-murchie, for the tressonabill Murthour of the Laird of Culzeane; reptitit the Hoirning vset aganis the said Thomas, Cloncaird, Thomas M^cAlexander, and remanent thair complices; and the citatioun of the Laird of Auchindrane elder, for the said crymes, in anno 1602; producis the Hoirning vset be the Laird of Culzeane aganis Auchindrane, ffor the intendit Murthour of the said Laird of Culzeane, in anno 1597; and repeittis the Laird of Auchindranes Confessioun thairof, in Judgment. And for verificatioun of the said Laird of Auchindrane elder his giltines of the Laird of Culzeanis Murthour, and of the giltines of his sone and James Bannatyne, of the Murthour of William Dalrumpill, producet the Hoirning execute aganis thame for the said cryme, in februar 1608; quhairby, thay ganging to the horne, and fleing frome the Law, thay haif tane vpoune thame the giltines of the saidis crymes.

To prove that Auchindrane elder ressuait the Letter sent to him be Mr Robert Mure, contening aduerteisment of Culleanis dyet, and broght to him be Williame Dalrumpill, Walter Mure of Cloncaird being present, producet the Deposition of James Mure of Fleit, markit with the Letter O. pagina tertia; the Deposition of James Gordoun, O. p. 5; the Young Laird of Auchindranes awin Declaratioun, O. p. 6. And that M^cAdame carreit aduerteisment from Auchindrane to Thomas of Bargaunie thairof, produceit James Gordones Deposition, markit with the said Letter O. p. 10.

For Auchindranes knowlege of Cullanes Murthour, vses the Deposition of the Laird of Cauldwell, markit with the Letter G. p. 1, beirand, that Auchindrane sehew to them, that he knew of Cullanes Murthour, befor it wes done, and wald nocht flay it. And vses lykwayis the Deposition of James Mure younger of Auchindrane, his sone, O. p. 6, beirand, that he knew that his father was hevelie suspectit of the Slauchter of the Tutour of Cassillis.

To verifie Auchindrane's keiping of Williame Dalrumpill in his hous of Auchindrane, in the chalmer in the turnepyk-heid, and in the barne of Auchindrane, sehortlie eftir the Slauchter of the Laird of Cullane; vses the Deposition of Young Auchindrane, E. p. 6, and D. p. 5; the Deposition of Johnne Mure of Woidland, L. p. 6; the Deposition of Johnne Mure, callit Blak-byres, O. p. 1; and of James Gordoun, O. p. 5 et 10.

To verifie Auchindranes sending of Dalrumpill to Arrane, quhilk Auchindrane denyes; vses the Deposition of Patrik Dalrumpill, H. p. 5; of Johnne Mure, in Blak-byres, O. p. 1; of James Mure of Fleit, O. p. 4.; off James Gordoun, O. p. 5 et p. 10.

To verifie Dalrumpillis sending to Flanderis, be Auchindrane, quhilk Auchindrane denyis; vses the Deposition of Walter Mure in Glenheid, A. p. 2; off Johnne Mure, in Blakbyres, O. p. 1; of James Mure of Fleit, O. p. 2 et 3; of James Gordoun, O. p. 5.—And that the Lady Auchindrane causit Williame Dalrumpill change his name, and call him self Williame Mure; vses the Deposition of James Mure of Fleit, O. p. 9; and of James Gordoun, O. p. 10.

To preve Williame Dalrumpellis being in Walter Mure of Glenheidis hous, ester his returning frome Flanderis, to wit, vpone the Thurisday befor his Murthour, quhilk Auchindrane denyis; vses the Depofitioun of James Dalrumpill, G. p. 1 et 2; and of Walter Mure, in Glenheid, A. p. 2.

To preve the bringing of Williame Dalrumpile from Glenheid, be James Cuninghame, at directioun of the Laird of Auchindrane, quhilk he denyis; vses the Depofitioun of Walter Mure, in Glenheid, A. p. 2; and of James Gordoun, O. p. 5.

To preve the Lairdis of Auchindrane, elder and younger, thair meitting with Williame Dalrumpile, in the way betuix Auchindrane and Chapel-Donane, and keiping cumpanie and conference with him the space of fevin or aucht myles, quhill thay thre and James Cuninghame come to Chapel-Donane, quhilk Auchindrane preffis to deny; vses Auld Auchindrane's Depofitioun, E. p. 2; and Young Auchindrane's Depofitioun, E. p. 7; the Depofitioun of Andro M^cAllexander, B.; Johnne Mure of Woidland, C.; Patrik Bannatynes Depofitioun, D. p. 1; Young Auchindrane's Confessioun, D. p. 5; James Dalrumples Depofitioun, G. p. 1 et 2; Williame Roife, L. p. 5; Johnne Mure in Carvell, L. p. 1; James Bannatyne, M. p. 1.

To verifie the bringing of Williame Dalrumpile, be James Bannatyne, to the SANDIS OF GIRVEN, to the Lairdis of Auchindrane, elder and younger, and MUR-THERING HIM VNDER nycht, in that place; making ane hole for his burrall, and casting of him in the fea; vses the Depofitioun of Johnne Mure of Woidland, C.; Patrik Bannatynes, D. p. 1.; James Dalrumpillis, G. p. 1 et 2; David Merferis Depofitioun, L. p. 4; Williame Roife, L. p. 5; Johnne Mure in Cairve, L. p. 7; James Bannatyne, M. p. 1 et 2; Johnne Mure in Blak-byres, O. p. 2 et 11; James Gordoun, O. p. 5; James Pennycuiks Depofitioun, maid 27 of Maij; the Young Laird of Auchindrane's Depofitioun, F. p. 2, beirand, that he hard be the bruit of the cuntrie, that his father knew of Dalrumples Murthour, becaus he was fugitiue.

To verifie that Auchindrane's denyall that he knew Williame Dalrumpile, or that he brocht him M^r Robert Mures Lettir, is vntrew; and that he knew him, and reffaut the faid Letter from him; vses the Depofitioun of James Dalrumpile, G. p. 1 et 2; James Mure of Fleit, O. p. 3; James Gordoun, O. p. 5; the Depofitioun of James Mure, younger of Auchindrane, D. p. 5.

To verifie James Mure, younger of Auchindrane, his knowlege of Williame Dalrumpill, and of his keiping quyet in Auchindrane; and of his being at hame, immediatlie befor his Murthour; and his father and the deponneris meiting and conference with him in the way betuix Auchindrane and Chapel-Donane, the day befor his Murthour, and thair cuning altogidder to Chapel-Donane that nycht; produceit the Depofitioun of the faid James Mure, younger of Auchindrane, D. p. 5. Item, the Depofitioun of the faid Laird of Auchindrane younger, D. p. 7.

To verifie the dilligence, craft, and subtilitie vsfet be the Lairdis of Auchindrane, to suppres and eschew the tryell of Williame Dalrumpillis Murthour, and of thair awin giltines thair of ; ffirst, my Lord Aduocat vses the verificatioun of thair intentioun to Murthour Hew Kennydie of Garriehorne, onlie devyset and attemptit be thame, to cullour thair going to the horne, and to eschew the haynounsnes of thair fleing fra the law and tryell of thair giltines, of sic ane horrible and abhominable Murthour as Dalrumpillis; the Depositioun of James Dalrumpile, K. p. 1 et 2; and the Depositioun of James Bannatyne.

Defyres lykways the Assyse to haif confideratioun of thair continuall resoirt and friendschip with James Bannatyne, eftir the said Murthour; and thair being at the horne for the samyn; thair suffering the reproches and iniuries, be woird and deid, offerit be him to thame, quhilk thay wald nevir haif induret, gif thair had nocht bene affrayit, that, thair discoirding with him, he sould haif discoverit thair giltines of the said Murthour; vses the Depositioun of Patrik Bannatyne, D. p. 3; the Depositioun of Auld Auchindrane, M. p. 3; and of James Mure of Fleit, O. p. 3.

The geving be the young Laird of Auchindrane to James Bannatyne, ane Lyfrent Tak of his rowne of Chapel-Donane, all writtin with Young Auchindrane's awin hand, contening fourtie penneis be yeir of deutie, denyit and menfuorne be Young Auchindrane; and thairefter confessit, quhan the Tak was recoverit and product, E. p. 8.

The deilling of Young Auchindrane, be him selff and his freindis, with James Bannatyne to go to Ireland, and furnessing of him, to that effect, ane boit, meit and drink, quhilk Young Auchindrane denyit; vses for verificatioun thair of, the Depositioun of Allane Pyper, L. p. 3; David Marfchellis Depositioun, N. p. 1, et O. p. 4 et 8; David Mure, in Girven, his Depositioun, O. p. 4; and James Bannatynes, O. p. 8.

That Young Auchindrane wrait ane Letter with the said James Bannatyne, and in his fauour, to Thomas Kennydie of Drummurchie, the Kingis forfalt Tratour; vses for verificatioun thair of, the Confessioun of the said Young Laird of Auchindrane, O. p. 7; and the Depositioun of Williame Kennydie of Garfar, O. p. 8.

To preve that the fermes (rents) of Chapel-Donane, was continuallie payit to James Bannatyne, sen his banishment; vses the Depositioun of James Roise, tenant thair, L. p. 5.

To preve the furnessing of pleniffing, money and necessaris be the Auld Lady Auchindrane to James Bannatyne, continuallie, since his going to Ireland; vses the Depositioun of Williame Pyper, L. p. 1; David Marfchell, L. p. 4; Williame Roise, L. p. 5; James Roise, L. p. 5; James Gordoun, O. p. 10; and be Auchindrane's awin Letter sent to James Bannatyne; Moyfes Lokhartis Letter to James Bannatyne; Young Auchindranes Letter sent to James Bannatyne; the Lady Auchindranes thre Letteris to James Bannatyne; and hir Letter to James Bannatynes wyfe.

The perfewar defyres the Assyse to haif confideratioun, as of ane verrie materiall circumstance, that James Cuninghame, being the man imployit be Auchindrane to keip Williame Dalrumples quyet in the place of Auchindrane, and to convoy him fra Glenheid to Chapel-Donane, the nycht befor his Murthour, quhairby he, being for the tyme, his actuall fervand, and in his hous of Ballach-toule the nycht of Dalrumpillis Murthour, and thairby mair abill to haif discoverit the circumstances of the Murthour nor (than) ony vther; the Laird of Auchindrane hes absentit him, for eschewing of the said tryell: And how the said James Cuninghame, being in the Laird of Caldwellis hous, and the Erle of Abercorne geting knowledge thairof, haifing, as ane Counsalour, commandit Caldwell (Mure) to exhibeit Cuninghame befor the Counfell; he, contrair to his pomeis, sufferit him to escaip: He being challangeit for it befor the Counfell, grantit the pomeis, and declairit that Cuninghame was sent to his hous be the Lady Auchindrane; and that, contrair to his pomeis, he sufferit him to escaip; ffeiring, gif he had enterit him befor the Counfell, he fould haif done liarme to his freind. For the quhilk, he become in the Counfellis will; as his Depositioun beiris, H. p. 1.

As lykwayis, how Auchindrane elder directit the said James Cuninghame, by the way to the Laird of Vaynes hous, in Angus, causing him change his name, and to call him self Williame Broun, and geving him that name, quhan he recommendit him to the Laird of Vayne, albeit the man was the said James Cuninghame; Quhilk Auchindrane denyis; bot the contrair is provin be James Gordoun, O. p. 5 et 10; be the Laird of Vayne, O. p. 11; Andro Lokhart, O. p. 12, and George Blakis Depositioun, maid at Lundoun, 28 Maj.

Forder, it is defyrit that the Assyis will consider the grit substance contenit in the Letter writtin be Auchindrane to his sone, with his awin hand, impudentlie denyit be him; and nevertheles cleirly verifeit be the Depositionis of David Drummond, seruitour in the Castell, E. p. 15; and be Thomas Home, Constable, ibid.; and be the Declaratioun maid be my Lord of Mar, in Counfell; quhilk the Lordis of Secret Counfell, present in this Judgment, hes verifeit.

Thay haif to consider the Lady Auchindranes adverteiffing of James Bannatyne, be Letters, of all the Dyettis of proces led betuix the Laird of Auchindrane and her sone; and hir recommending of him to Thomas Kennydie of Drumurchie, hir brother; provin be Williame Pyper, L. p. 1; James Gordoun, O. p. 10; and be hir awin Miffaue Letter to James Bannatyne.

The Lady Auchindranes absenting hir self, and nocht compeirance befor the Counfall, quhan scho wes charget thairto, vnder the pane of Hoirning, to compeir and Depone hir knowledge of the crymes quhairof hir husband and sone ar accused ; Thomas Mure, sone to Auchindrane, and Andro Sinclair, half brother to Auchindrane, thair going to the horne, for nocht compeirance to depone in the saidis crymes, quhilk of necessitie man be presumeit to proceid of the stay maid to thame be Auchindrane, elder and younger, for feir that thair Depositiones sould discouer the giltines of the saidis Lairdis. The lyk man be presumet of Thomas Wallace, Johne M^ccaig, and dyuerse vtheris of the Lairdis servandis, going to the horne, for the lyk cause.

Thay haif also to considder verrie cairfullie, the Laird of Auchindrane's hyring James Pennycuik to go to Ireland to Murthour James Bannatyne ; denyit be Auchindrane, and verifeit be the Deposition of the said James Pennycuik, and George Small his servand. And the lyk directioun sent be Auld Auchindrane with George Blak to Ireland, to Williame Carmichell younger of Rowntrie-croce ; verifeit be the Depositiones of George Small, O. p. 11, and be the Examinations of the said James Pennycuik and George Blak, in Lundoun, in May last.¹

Last, thay haif to considder the Letter sent be Auld Auchindrane to the Laird of Stair,² and the forme of Band sent thairwith, to haif bene obtenit, subscriuit be the Laird of Stair, and his freindis, of the name of Dalrumpie.

IN respect of the quhilkis premisses, verifeing the crymes lybellit, and haill materiall circumstances thair of, with so cleir evidences and manifest probatioun, as na man could haif expected, in so covered and craftie Murthouris ; quhairby all dout of obscuritie and scruple is cleirly removet ; in caice the said Assyse or ony part of thame fall happin so unhappellie to forget thame selfis, as to clange³ the saidis Lairdis of Auchindrane, elder and younger, or the said James Bannatyne, quaha hes Confessit his awin giltines, in Judgement ; my lord Aduocat protestis for Wilfull and manifest Errour ; and for all payne that of the Law can follow thairupone.

IT IS ANSWERIT be the pannell to the perticuleris aboue writtin, that the samyn, nather in haill nor in part, aucht to be respectit ; and speciallie, in sa far as the samyn is foundit vpon Deposition of Witnesses ; becaufe, it is speciallie provydit be the Act of Parliament, maid in the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir sevin,⁴ cap. 90, that in all causses Criminall, the haill proces and probatioun, and vther instructiones quhatsoeuer, ather be Writ or Witneffis, fall be alleget, reffonet and deducet in presens of pairtie accusit, in face of judgment, and na vther wayes ; quhilk is according to the Cowmoun Law ; seing na witnesses can be reffaut contra non citatum ; to the effect that the pairtie may be hard to oppone aganis thame. And trew it is, that all thir Depositiones and writtis, vset be my Lord Aduocat, and speciallie the saidis Depositiones of Witnesfes, hes bene resflaut out of prefens of pairtie ; the pairtie nevir being summonit to obiect aganis thame, done extraiudiciall, and nocht in Judgement : And thairfoir, quhatfoeir the Lordis of Counfall, per medium inquisitionis, hes done of befoir, out of prefens of pairtie, aucht nawyis now to be respectit be the Assyse ; according to the decifioun of the Act of Parliament : ffor, as in Ciuile causses, na fayth will be gevin to ony Witnesfes out of prefens of partie, multo minus in Criminalibus.

¹ It may be stated here, once for all, that unluckily the DEPOSITIONS, LETTERS, and other productions, which are here so regularly quoted by their proper numbers and pages, are lost ; at least, if among the Records of the Justiciary Court, are in a room filled with loose and unarranged papers, tied up in bundles in such a manner, as to render any ordinary search entirely hopeless—as it would occupy many months' constant investigation. ² John Dalrymple, chief of that name. ³ Cleanse ; find innocent, acquit. ⁴ Anno 1587.

And now, anfuering perticulerlie, ffirst, as to the Forfaltour of Thomas (Kennedy) of Barganie, (Drummurchie,) thair is na thing product. Nixt, he was nocht forfalt for the factis lybellit, bot only for the burning of the house of Auchinfoule. Tertio, it tuiches nocht our cause. As to the Hoirmingis, the pannell vses fyve feuerall Relaxatiounes of Auchindrane, elder and younger, respectiue ; quhilk thay product. And albeit the Lairdis of Auchindrane, elder and younger, war put to the horne, for thair nocht compeirance, the first dyet, yet that importis na taking of the cryme upone thame ; becaus, thay being giltie for vther crymes, and speciallie, schuiting of pistolettis, ffor the quhilk thing mycht haif bene pwneist be the lawis, thay durst nocht compeir, quhill first thay had obtenit ane Remiffioun of the saidis crymes, quhilk thay mycht lauchfullie do ; becaus, thay knew certanlie, that thair going to the horne wald be purget be thair compeirance and offer to Tryell. As lykwayis, Young Auchindrane compeirit at the first Dyet ; and also Auchindrane elder wald haif enterit willinglie, and to that effect offerit to comper¹ and tak his Remiffioun for the pistolettis, but culd nocht obtene the samyn ; as is notour to my Lord Chancellor and Thesaurer.²—As to the repetitioun of the Deposition of James Mure of Fleit, and James Gordoun, it is anfuert, ut supra. And forder, in caice the pairtie had bene wairnit, as he was nocht, he wald haif repellit the said James Muir, he being ane vagabund, without ony residence, nocht worth the Kingis vulaw ;³ and richt sua, that he was denunceit rebell and put to the horne, for steilling of tua horse and thre oxin fra the Tutour of Nuntoun ; and also, for steilling of ane quhyte naig out of the landis of Skeltoun. Lyk as, the Tutour of Bombie, to move him to be ennemie to Auchindrane elder and younger, and to depone aganis thame, he aggreit⁴ the Tutour of Nuntoun and the said James Mure, anent the steilling of the said guidis. And forder, the Laird of Blairquhand hes promeist him geir and guid deid, to depone aganis thame ;⁵ and (Mure) hes now becum his seruant.

¹ Compromise ; make a composition, or purchase his Remission from the Crown. ² Both of whom, it will be remembered, were then sitting as Assessors. ³ Not being worth, i. e. unable to pay the fine or amerciament to the king, for his own appearance, &c. ⁴ Reconciled them, and made up their quarrel.

⁵ For the reason of Blairquhand's feud with Auchindrayne, see Hist. of the Kennedyis, p. 19, &c.

And as to Gordoun, can nawayis be respectit, becaus he was nocht aucht 3eiris,¹ the tyme of the committing of the factis quhairvpon he was examinat. Lyk as, the pannell desyres that Gordoun may be presentit in presens of the Affyse, and confrontit with the pannell.—Forder, it is allegit be the pannell, that the Depositiones for (of?) the said James Mure and James Gordoun, and all vtheris of the lyk nature, aucht nawayis be respectit; becaus, it is of veritie, that the lybell and Dittay consits of tua pairtis; the ane substantiall, to infer the pwneifchment lybellit, viz. the committing of the factis lybellit; and the advyse, consent, persuasioun, instigatioun, causing, command, counfall, and ratihabitoun, quhilkis ar the only substantiall poyntis contenit in the lybell and Dittay: And the rest of the poyntis of the said Dittay are only presumptiones, coniecturis, and liklienes.² And seing, the speciall cause quhy the Justice Sustenit the lybell, was the advyse, presumptioun, instigatioun, counsell, command, assistance, and ratihabitoun gevin, be the Auld Laird of Auchindrane, to the saidis Thomas Kenmydie, for Murthouring of the said Laird of Culzean; and that thair is na thing of the said substantiall poyntis provin be nane of the Depositiones; quhatfoeuer Depositiones is maid be the saidis tua persones, or ony vther remanent Witnesses, in materis of the lyk nature, anent ony probabilities or presumptiones, albeit thair war maist violent presumptiones, and indoutit, thay can produce na sentence condampnatour³ in Criminall caussis, bot only ar adminicles to the tortour and questioune. And forder, the Depositiones of the saidis tua persones, being only anent the ressaith of ane Letter, nocht contening the contentis and qualitie thair of, can nawayis induce ony presumptioun, far less probatioun. Item, it is to be rememberit, that thir Depositiones tuiches nocht Young Auchindrane. Item, tuiching that pairt of Young Auchindrane, and Caldwellis Deposition, thay prove nathing, nather of the fact, nor yit of the knowlege. As also Young Auchindrane's Depositiones previs far les; becaus he mycht haif lauchfullie deponit that his father was suspect befor he was pannellit.

And forder, as to the Depositiones of Young Auchindrane, and Johne Mure of Woodland, thay can work nathing, seing thair preve na pairt of the Dittay, or factis thairin contenit; ffor as to Young Auchindrane's Depositiones, anent his knowlege of Dalrump to haif bene in his fatheris hous, that previs na pairt of the Dittay. And, quhair it might appeir, be the said Deposition, and vtheris Depositiones conforme thairto, that the said Laird of Auchindrane is improvin, as quha deponit that he never knew the said Dalrumpill,—it is ansuerit, that the same can impoirt na probation of ony pairt of the Dittay; becaus, gifand⁴ and

¹ Eight years old.

² Probabilities, likelihoods.

³ Condemnatory.

⁴ Giving or allowing for the sake of argument, but not granting; a common form of expression used in ancient legal proceedings, when Counsel was illustrating a point by arguments, &c.

nocht grantand that the pairtie pannellit had maid ane leising,¹ or vareit and bene inconstant, and sa waverit in his Depositioun, the same can impoirt na probatioun; speciallie, quhair the said vntreuth, &c. is nocht in the substantiall pairtis of the Dittay, bot in vther accidentis and externall circumstances. And as to Johnne Mure of Woidlandis Depositiones, it can nawayis be respectit, for thair particular caussis:—first, he is tenent removeable² to the Erle of Cassillis, and his household seruant; nixt, he is Chalmerlane and factour to ane grit pairt of his lordschipis landis; bot in speciall, is Bailzie of the Barronie of Dalrumple. Secundlie, he was vpon the ground, in companie with the Erle of Cassillis, at the slauchter of Barganie, at quhilk time Auchindrane was deidlie hurt. Thridlie, he was also in companie with the Erle of Cassillis, at the persute of Auchindrane, in his awin hous. Fourtlie, he was in companie with Hew (Kennedy) of Garriehorne, and his convoy throw the landis of Auchindrane, quhair he come in bragging maner, and socht Auchindrane at his awin hous. Fyftlie, befor he was examinat befor the Counsell, the Erle of Cassillis causit him sett down sic woirdis as his lordschip thocht expedient, and to be subseruit with his hand; quhilk he nawayis durst alter, befor the Counsell; et sic prodiit testimonium. The quhilk writ was producet to him in Counsell, befor he wald depone; quhairby he nicht keip my lordis injunccionis.

ITEM, as to the Depositioun of Johnne Mure of Blakbyres, it preuis na pairt of the Dittay, becaus he deponis nathing of knowlege that he hes of Auchindrane, bot a repoit that he had of vther seruantis. And forder, the said Johnne could nevir haif bene witnes fra the beginning, ffor thir caussis:—Becaus, he slew the Laird of Auchindrane's seruand callit Williame Geddies, for the quhilk he was baneischet the countrie; nixt, he come in vpon fair promeissis and conditiones maid to him be the Erle of Cassillis, to purches to him ane Remissioun for that Slauchter, and for the quhilk caus, he promesit to the said Erle to depone quhat he desyret: And last, the said Johnne Mure hes intruset³ him self in ane grit pairt of Auchindrane's lands, and thereby⁴ thinkis to bruike⁵ the samyn.

As to Patrik Dalrumple's Depositiones, na fayth can be gevin thairto, becaus he is uncle to the murtherit man.

It is ansuerit, to the Depositioun of Walter Mure, and to the rest of the Depositiones befor the allegit Presbiterie, that the saidis Depositiones can mak na fayth; becaus thair ar extra-judiciall, na proces depending aganis ony pairtie, na pairtie haifing intres being callit, bot only ane naikit conventioun of tua or thre Ministeris, nocht Presbiteriallie convenit, quha had na power to tak sic Depositiones: And as the saidis Depositiones, gif thair had bene tane to the saidis Mi-

¹ An untruth or falsehood; leasing.

² Tenant at will.

³ Intruded; thrust himself into.

⁴ By perjury, or giving false evidence, &c.

⁵ Enjoy; possess as his property.

nifteris in ane Ciuile caus, wald haif maid na faith, far les in ane Criminale. Secundlie, the said Walteris Depositionis preuis na pairt of the Dittay: And albeit the Depositiones war trew and valid, yit thay ar ineffectuall; becaus, albeit it war grantit that Dalrump was fend to Flanderis, that impoirtis nocht the probatioun of ony Dittay.

ITEM, it is anfuerit to James Dalrumples Depositionis, that the same can nawayis work aganis thir perfonis pannellit: Becaus, in the first pairt of the said Depositionis, he deponis nothing aganis thame: And as for the last pairt, beirng ane plott to mak ane onfett vpon Garriehorne, the samyn can nawayis work aganis the perfonis pannellit; nather can his Depositionis be regairdit, in respect he deponis his awin turpitude, viz. the forgeing and contryveing of the slauchter of Garriehorne devyfit be him self, as is confessit; and quhilk devyfe of his, he counsellit the perfonis pannellit to put in executioun; and sua, he being devyfer and contryver of the fact, he can nevir be hard to depone in preiudice of the perfonis pannellit. And to purge the onfett maid vpon Garriehorne be Young Auchindrane, the verritie is, that the caus of that onfett was accidentlie, they meitting togidder at the end of the Toun of Air, and Young Auchindrane meiting him in the way, had just caus to mak the onfett vpon him: ffirst, becaus he had tane his fatheris bluid, and nixt, he was at the Slauchter of his mother-brother.¹ And forder, the said James Dalrumpillis Depositionis can nawayis be respectit, becaus he is ferdis of kyn² to Williame Dalrumpill, quha is flane, and is secund and thridis to the Laird of Culzeane. And forder, befor he was present in Counsell to depone, he was movet to depone the samyn, vncitet,³ be my Lord of Abercorne, quhair of he maid adverteisment thairefter⁴ to the Laird of Auchindrane and desyret him tō fett him; becaus he had put all that he had, be submissioun, in Sir Claud Hammiltone's handis.

ITEM, as to the Depositionis of M^cAlexander, it preves na pairt of the Dittay nor factis lybellit, bot rather purges the samyn; and forder, can mak na faith, becaus it declairis, that the Lairdis of Auchindrane war content to cum and tuich the corps,⁴ sua that⁵ thay mycht do the samyn in Air, my lord of Cassillis nocht being thair. And to verifie the samyn, produces ane Instrument.⁶ And forder, at that tyme Young Auchindrane was deidlie hurt; and sa could nocht cum. And forder, the said Depositionis can nawayis be respectit, becaus it is extra-judiciall, and one in presens of the partie adverfar, viz. the Erle of Cassillis.

¹ Uncle; mother's brother. ² Within the fourth degree of relationship. ³ Without having received lawful citation. ⁴ Alluding to the well-known popular test, or ordeal, of calling upon the accused or suspected person to come forward and touch the corpse of the murdered party! The superstitious notion then held was, that THE CORPSE WOULD BLEED, immediately on the approach or touch of the Murderer! Powerful use of this circumstance has been made by Dramatists and writers of Romance. See a variety of interesting notices in the APPENDIX to this Trial, with an enquiry into the origin and practice of our ancestors in such cases. ⁵ On condition; provided that, &c. ⁶ A Notarial attestation.

ITEM, as to Patrik Bannatyne's Deposition, it aught nawayis to be respectit, for thir cauffis :—Firft, becaus he is secund and thridis of kyn with Culzeane, quha is ane pairtie accuser; as also to the Erle of Caffillis: Nixt, becaus he is brother to James Bannatyne, quha is socius criminis, and is callit and accuset for the samyn cryme: And last, his Deposition can mak na fayth, becaus the samyn proceedis onlie ex auditu, be relatioun of his brother James Bannatyne; in the quhilk Deposition, he confesses the said James Bannatyne to be thryse contrair¹ in his relatioun. And sua, his Deposition, depending vpon ane contrair relatioun, makis na fayth.—Aganis the hail Depositiones depending vpon James Bannatynes relatioun, it is allegit,—gif James Bannatynes fall, all his relations man fall.

And forder, as to Williame Roifes Depositione, it is allegit, that the samyn can nocht be respectit, becaus Williame Roifes wyfe and the Laird of Culzeane ar thrydis and ferdis of kyn. As also, his wyfe is father-sifter to James Bannatyne, quha is accuset of the same crymes.—It is allegit aganis the Deposition of Johnne Mure in Curver, that the samyn can nawayis be respectit: Becaus the samyn is only ane relatioun made be James Bannatyne: Secundo, becaus the samyn is contrair to the Dittay; in sa far as the Dittay beiris, that James Bannatyne, haifing brocht Dalrump to the Sandis of Girven, left him behind him, and raid forwardis to the tua Lairdis of Auchindrane, quhair the Auld Laird conferring with him, the Young Laird past to the said Dalrump; and eftir ane space, Auld Auchindrane and Bannatyne cuning neir thame, he slew him: And in this Deposition it is confessit, that James Bannatyne sould haif said to the Deponer, that Young Auchindrane drew this Dalrump after him, and slew him; quhairby it is eident, that James Bannatyne is contrair, infasar as the Deposition beiris, conforme to the Dittay.

As to the Deposition of James Bannatyne, it aucht nawayis to be respectit, for thir argumentis.—Firft, becaus he hes tane the cryme vpon him, and for the samyn hes maid offeris baith to the Kirk and pairtie: Secundlie, he standis yit at the horne vnrelaxit: As also, is vnder the censure of excommunicatioun; and so is nather Godis man nor the Kingis: Thridlie, he is secund and thridis of kyn to the Laird of Cullane and the Erle of Caffillis: Ferdlie, he is cum in vpon promeis and condition of his lyfe, quhilk was fet down to him be Jofias Stewart, bruther to my Lord Vchiltrie, James Stewart, and the Laird of Girvenmaynes; and his Band gevin to that effect, that he fall cum baith saif to Scotland and returne saif to Ireland. Eftir meiting and conference in Ireland, and quhat he had sett down the conditiones, he come over to Buit to his coufing the Laird of Cames,² to quhome he schew the conditiones, and brocht Cames brother, callit Rannald Bannatyne, with him to the Largis, quhair he mett with James Stewart, quha brocht him to Kilwinning; and than Josias and James Stewartis mett with him befyde Irwing, to haif fett down the conditiones perfytlie, for his sure returning to Ireland, quhilk sould haif bene put in Rannald Bannatynes handis; bot, vpon fair promeffis, he was movet to leve Rannald behind him: And thairefter, he wes brocht to my Lord of Abercorne, with quhome he was tuentie dayis, or thairby: And thairefter, he was fend to Cliddisdail, to the Laird of Corhous;¹ and sua, be this progres, it is evident, quhat hes bene the indirect deilling of James Bannatyne, fra the beginning. Speciallie, quhan fouir ane pairtie is accuset for ane cryme, and is fugitiue for the same, as in this caise, he can nevir be hard, be his Confessioun and Depositioun, to work ony preiudice to ony vther pairtie; nather can his Depositioun work, sa mekill as the tortour, to the parties, vules he first be subiect to the tortour him self; as is obseruit in the Justice Courtis of all Christiandome: Nather can his Depositioun be regairdit aganis Young Auchindrane, becaus the samyn proceidis vpon malice aganis him; infasar as he was informet that Young Auchindrane had offerit to the Thesaurer, for cleiring of his awin innocencie, to set cautioun, vnder the pane of Fourtie thowseand pundis, to exhibeit the said James Bannatyne befor the Justice:² And it is nocht to be presumet, that ane man giltie of ane haynous cryme, being at his awin libertie, wald willinglie cum in to his awin deid,³ bot vpon promeffis and conditionis. And forder, this argument is infallable; na gritter fayth can be gevin in this matter to James Bannatyne, nor gif⁴ Dalrumple, vpon his deid-bed, had maid his Declaratioun that he was slane be Auchindrane, elder and younger: Bot trew it is, that na fayth wald haif bene gevin thairto, without vther probatioun. This was cleirly decydit, quhan as Robert Ramfay, notter in Stirling, was execute to the death, confessing that the Instrument of Denunceatioun maid be him self, quhairto he was notter aganis the Tennentis of Halbarnes and Auldlistoune, was fals, and past constantlie to the deid with it; yit, quhan as the caus of Improbatioun was advyset be the Lordis of Counsell,⁵ thay respectit nather his first, secund, nor thrid Depositioun, in preiudice of the producer, accoirding to the Cowmoun Law; becaus the Confessioun of ane malfactour may weill preiudge him self, bot na vther.

¹ Contradictory.

² From Ireland to the Island of Bute, to his cousin, . . . Bannatyne of Kames.

It is Anfuerit to the remanent Depositiones, depending vpon James Bannatyne's relation—aucht nocht to be respectit, vt supra.

As to the Depositiones of James Pennycuik, thay aucht to mak na fayth, becaus he is ane personage infamous and notorioufflie knawin to be infame ; he is denuncet rebell and put to the horne at the instance of Capitane Williame Rig, for steilling of his cloick and his fuord, accompaneit with sevin vtheris, betuix Leyth and Ed', vnder clud of nycht : And this Hoirning, staning for ane manifest Ryote and Oppressioun, is sufficient to mak him infame : And produceit the Hoirning for veryfeing thairof : Secundlie, the Depositionn of James Penneucik can nocht be regairdit, in respect the samyn is improvin, in the speciall poynt thairof, befor the Lordis of Secreit Counsell ; in sa far as he, haifing deponit the Obligiatioun ressauit be him from Auchindrane for the sowme of Four-score pund, to haif bene gevin for Murthering of the said James Bannatyne—the contrair thairof was verifeit befor the saidis Lordis, and the said Obligiatioun (proven) to haif bene gevin for borrowit money : Lyk as, the Witnesse quha war examinat thairupoun, deponit, that thai saw the numeratioun¹ of the said money. And sua the said deponer being improvin, in the maist substantiall poynt of his Depositionn, thair aucht no credeit to be gevin to the rest. Forder, the said Depositionn concernis na pairt of the Dittay, nather substantiall nor circumstances thairin contenit. Laft, he is testis singularis, deponeing vpon his awin turpitude, viz. that he was hyret to the Slauchter of ane man ; and thairfoir, his Depositionn can nocht be regairdit ; speciallie, haifing consideratioun to the circumstances thairof, viz. that vncoactit or compellit, he past furth of Scotland to London, to mak his Depositionn to his awin guid-brother,² Sir James Hamiltoun, in the quhilk he confessis him self to be restranit fra his allegit pretences, and to mak the said Depositionn for the love and reverence he bure to my Lord of Abercorne, quhome the perfonnes pannellit acknowleges³ as pairtie. Quhilkis haill circumstances, concurrand with the notorietye of his bypast lyfe, verifeit be the Decreit of Secreit Counfall, his Depositionn can mak na fayth.

¹ Bannatyne of Corhous, in the county of Lanark. ² They omit a material part of the offer, viz. to present him 'dead or alive!' It being their purpose to have him murdered in Ireland, by authority, and thus for ever to have suppressed evidence of their nefarious wickedness! ³ Death.

⁴ Than if Dalrymple upon his death-bed. ⁵ When the process of Reduction, for the purpose of annulling and setting aside the Instrument, was advised before the Civil Court.

As for the Depositiones of George Blak, the samyn can mak na fayth : becaus he depones that the Laird of Auchindrane sould haif hyret ane Williame Carmichell, being ane discreit Gentilman, integre fame, is nevir examinat thairupoun ; and sua the said Georges assertioun, being testis singularis in that Depositionn, can nocht worke.

To the presumptioun obiectit aganis Young Auchindrane, beiring, that gif he had nocht bene giltie of the Murthour of Dalrumple, he wald nocht haif sufferit the iniurious woirdis and langage of James Bannatyne ; it is ansuerit, that gifand the presumptioun war trew, yit it is nawayis pregnant to infer Treafone aganis Young Auchindrane, seing na substanciall fact is provin. And forder, the caus of his forbeiring of him, at that tyme, was, in respect the said James Bannatyne vtterit his iniurious woirdis and boifing, in his drukinnes, quhairvnto he is always subiect. As lykwayis, it was na honour¹ to Young Auchindrane to put handis in his awin man, being in that estait : Lykas, he was reconfeillit with him, at the requiest of Williame Kenydie of Garfar, quaha was examinat befor the Counfell.—It is anfuert, to the presumptioun concerning the Tak² maid be Young Auchindrane to James Bannatyne, quhilk Young Auchindrane denyit that he nevir gaif any to the said James, quhill³ the samyn was provin and producet, &c. ; that the samyn presumptioun is nawayis sufficient to infer the cryme of Treaoun ; becaus the same is nocht ane presumptioun concerning the committing of the cryme lybellit, bot only ane illatioun⁴ vpoun ane vnnecessar consequence ; ffor it nawayis followis that, albeit ony Gentilman gaif ane Tak, for nocht, to ony of his servandis or dependeris, that thairfoir he was airt and pairt with him in committing of ane tressonabill act ; vnles it war sufficientlie verifeit to haif bene done for that caus ; nor yit dois the production of the Tak mak Young Auchindrane's Depositioun to be vntrew ; becaus it is nevir provin that the Tak was gevin to James Bannatyne ; bot, be the contrair, the samyn was tane out of Thomas M^cAllexanderis kift, in quha's handis it was confignit, quhill the conditiones betuix thame war endit ; viz. that the said James sould haif maid richt to Young Auchindrane of the sowme of I^m (1000) merkis, quhilk he had vpone Langschawis land, quhilk he could nocht than presentlie do, in respect the said James had maid his awin wyffe assignay thairto ; quhilk Assignatioun is producet in judgement : Nather is it probable that gif the Tak had bene maid to the said James, conforme to the presumptioun, bot the samyn wald haif bene put in his awin hand, and nocht confignit in ane thrid perfon's hand.

¹ Telling, or counting out of the money.

² Brother-in-law.

³ Recognise.

[My Lord Aduocat takis instrumentis of James Bannatynes Declaratioun maid judicially be him ; quaha being demandit, ‘ Gif the Tak grantit to him be Young Auchindrane was delyuerit to him self ? ’ Declarit, it was first delyuerit to him, and thairefter, be consent of him self and Young Auchindrane, it was put in the handis of Thomas M^cAllexander, vpone Auchindrane's feir that the deponent had allegit the production of that Tak sould haif done him grit harme.]

As to the Depositioun of Allane Pyper, it aucht nocht to be respectit, becaus he is tennant to my Lord of Cassillis of the foure merk land of Sallachan ; and forder, the said Depositioun proves nathing, nather of the substance nor circumstances of the Dittay. As to the Depositioun of Williame Roise, can mak na fayth ; becaus his wyfe and the Laird of Cullane are thridis and ferdis of kyn : And forder, the payment of the maill and deutie inferris na presumptioun. As to the Depositioun of Williame Pyper, auent the Lady Auchindrane's furneiffing of James Bannatyne, aucht nocht to be respectit, becaus he is man, tennent, and

¹ It would have been dishonourable.

² Lease, or tack.

³ Until.

⁴ Inference. Lat. illatio.

servand to the Erle of Cassillis ; as also, is tennent removeable to the Erle of the foure merk land of Sallachan ; nixt, he fauld his maister Ardmillane and Thomas of Bargany to my Lord of Cassillis ; for the quhilk he promeist him V^c merkis. It is anfuert to the presumpitioun anent the Laird of Cauldwallis Deposition, of the suffering James Cunninghame to pas away, contrair to his promes, that the samyn is nawayis pregnant aganis the persones pannellit, seing thair is na fact or deid contenit in the same, allegit to be done be thame. It is anfuert, to the presumpitioun resulting vpon the Letter producet—First, the same wrikis nathing aganis Young Auchindrane, becaus it is ane Lettir allegit writtin fra his father to him, never ressaunt be him ; and sa can infer na preiudice aganis him : Item, it can work nathing aganis the father, becaus the samyn is nocht subscryuit be him ; lyk as, he denyis the samyn being re-sent ; and thairfoir, he nocht confessing the samyn, nor being subscryuit be him, can work nathing aganis him : And quhair as, it wald appeir the same to haif bene delyuerit to the Counsell be my Lord of Mar, quha is allegit to haif ressaunt the samyn fra the Constable,¹ quhilk Constable is allegit to haif ressaunt the same fra Dormond, ane of the ordineris of the Castell ; and the said Dormond is allegit to haif ressaunt the samyn fra Auchindrane elder, to haif bene delyuerit to his sone : The samyn can mak na fayth, ffor albeit my Lord of Mar and the Constable thair Depositions may be trew, as the persones on pannell will nocht impunge the samyn, yit it followis nocht bot that Dormond hes bene subornet be the vnfreindis of the saidis persones to mak the said narratioune to the Constable : to the effect that thairby he mycht caus ane falsfeit Letter cum in the Counsellis handis :—And to mak the said mater mair cleir, the said Laird of Auchindrane elder offeris to preve and verifie instantlie, be dyuerse famous witneffis subscryveand, and, in speciall, be James Pennycuik, ane of the persones producet aganis him, and vtheris, &c., that Eduard Mekiljohnne, sumtyme seruitour to James Prymrois,² come to the Laird of Auchindrane, thay being baith wairdit in the Tolbuthe, and said to him, ‘ Sir, I haif sene your writ ofbefoir ;’ and being demandit, ‘ Quhair ?’ anfuert, ‘ I was imployit to counterfute ane Letter of youris, allegit directit be you to be Castell of Ed’ to your sone,³ the quhilk contenit ane half-throche of paper⁴ on bayth be sydis, and was nocht subscryued ; the quhilk I counterfute as neir your hand writt as I think was possible.’ Being demandit, ‘ How was it be þis writt quhilk I am now wryting ?’ Anfuert, ‘ It was sumthing smaller.’ Being demandit, ‘ Quhat was be caus be Letter was nocht subscryuit ?’ Anfuert, ‘ It was to mak the matter mair suspitious !’ ffor, sayis he, ‘ it wes gevin me vpon

¹ The Constable of Edinburgh Castle, viz. Thomas Hume.

² Clerk to the Privy Council.

³ Directed from Old Auchindrane, then in the Tolbooth of Edinburgh, to his son, then in ward in the Castle.

⁴ A half through, or half a sheet of writing-paper, then usually of the size which is now termed ‘ foolscap.’

ane grit secreit in the Tolbuthe, and I nevir reveillit nor opnit þe matter quhill now ! James Pennycuik ſpeiris at him, ‘ Quha gaif ʒow this ? ’ Anſuerit, ‘ I will keip þat to my ſelf ! ’

As for the doingis of the Lady Auchindrane, the ſamin can nawayis preiudge hir huſband or hir ſone, ſcho being ane woman ; and hir abſenting of hir ſelff was for ane lauchfull cauſe, viz. feiknes, authorizet be ane lauchfull Teſtimoniall.

As for Thomas Mure and the reſt going to the horne, for non compeirance, it can be no pregnant preſumptioun to infer Treafone vpon the perſones pannellit.

Eduard Mekill-Johnne, being ſend for, and preſenting him ſelff, ſuorne and examinat, deponis, that he reſſaut the Letter direct be Auld Auchindrane to his ſone, being wairdit in the Caſtell of Ed^r, ffra my Lord of Mar, in preſens of Archibald Prymrois, writter, to be coppeit be the Deponer. Eftir the coppieing quhairof, the deponer, ane grit ſpace thaireftir, cuming to the Tolbuith of Ed^r, and finding the Laird of Auchindrane wryting at ane buird, he come to him and ſaid as followis : ‘ Laird of Auchindrane, I think I haif ſene ʒour writ of befoir.’ Quhairvnto Auchindrane anſuerit, ‘ Quhair ſaw ʒe it ? ’ The Deponer replyt, ‘ I remember I coppeit ane Letter verrie lyk ʒour writ, quhilk I reſſaut to coppie fra ane Noble man ! ’ Bot wald nocht declair to him the Noble man his name that gaif the directioun : And as to the alleget declaratioun than maid be the deponer, that he counterfute the ſaid hand writt, denyis the ſamyn ; bot that the ſamyn was coppeit be him, be directioun, as ſaid is. Quhairvpon my lord Aduocat aſkit inſtrumentis.

Archibald Prymrois, alſo preſent, being ſworne, Declairis, that he was preſent quhan my Lord of Mar delyuerit the Letter to Eduard Mekil-Johnne to be coppeit ; quhilk my Lord than declarit, was interceptit betuix Auld Auchindrane and his ſone ; and the ſamyn Letter being than preſentit be my lord to the Deponer, he verrie hardlie could get the ſamyn red, being ſa evill writtin and evill ſpellit ; Bot to put Auchindrane in remembrance anent that matter, the ſamyn Letter being producet to the Lordis of Secretit Counfell, eftir intercepting thair-of, and ſchawn to the Laird of Auchindrane, and he than inquiryt, ‘ Gif he knew that Letter or the hand writ thairof ? ’ Auchindrane anſuerit, ‘ It was nocht his hand-writ, bot was verrie lyk it.’ And being deſyret to reid the Letter, he red the ſamyn in thair Lordſchipis preſens, verrie diſtinctlie, without ony ſtope : At quhilk tyme, the Lordis of Secretit Counfell, my Lord of Dumbar being preſent, cauſit Auchindrane wryte with his awin hand ane particuler anſuer of all that was demandit him in that matter, to the end thai mycht the better recognoſce and try quhidder the ſamin was writtin be him or nocht : And forder, the deponer knawis nocht.—Quhairvpon my Lord Aduocat alſe aſkit Inſtrumentis.

IN fortificatioun of THE VERIFICATIONIS producet be the Aduocat, and vſet to the Affyfe, my lord Advocat affirmes, that it is lauchfull and vsuale to the Lordis of his Maiefties Secreit Counfell to examine Witneffes, out of prefens of pairtie, in all crymes treffonable; quhais Depositiones being producet to the Affyfe, makis full faith, vules thai be impugnet be sum lauchfull particular exceptioun proponit aganis the famyn; and can nocht be impugnet, for want of power in the examinaturis; or the Depositiones was reffaut, the pannell nocht being callit thairto.—The Depositiones of James Pennycuk and George Blak, tane at Court, ar lauchfull, as tane by expres command of the Kingis Maieftie, and in prefens of ane of the Lordis of his Counfell of this Kingdome.—It is abfurd to excufe the pannellis going to the horne, for the treffonabill cryme lybellit, for feir, gif he had compeirit, to haif bene challanged for piftolettis; feing, his being fugitiue for this cryme, inferris aganis him prefumptioun of Treafoun: And in caice he had compeirit, his fchuitting of piftolettis without ony harme done with thame, wald haif inferrit na forder danger, nor (than) the panes of ane fyne.—The perfewar neidis nocht to produce Thomas Kennydeis fforfaltour for this cryme, becaus the famyn being deducet in Parliament, is judget nochtour to all the fubiectis, and na man can pretend ignorance thairof.—The Relaxationes producet, purges nocht the prefumptioun of thair giltines of the crymes contenit in the Hoirningis; becaus, Auchindrane elder was nocht relaxit fra the hoirning, for lying (in wait) for Collayne in Mayboill, quhill efter his reconciliatioun with the pairtie; at the quhilk tyme, na man was to perfew him: Nather was he relaxt fra the horne for the treffonable crymes lybellit, quhill he was tane and imprifonet in the Tolbuith of Edinburgh, and fa could nocht efchew his tryall.—To the obijectioun aganis James Mure of Pleit, it is vntrew and malicious: And he being confrontit with the Deponer, Auchindrane proponit na objectioun aganis him, that tuichet ather his fame or welth.—Attour, the perfewar takis instrumentis, that the Erle of Caffillis, being fuorne, in prefens of the Affyfe, vpoun the obijectioun offerit to be verifeit be his aith, hes declairit the famyn to be vntrew. And lykwayis, that Sir Williame M^clellane of Auchleane, kny', being fuorne vpone the poynt of Thift, and reconciliatioun thairof, offerit to be provin be his aithe, he declairit the famyn to be vntrew: And forder, he declairit, befoir the Affyfe, that gif ony imputatioun could be laid to James Mure for the fufpitioun of that Thift, the famyn was cheffie to be imput to Auld Auchindrane, quha houndit him out to the doing thairof.—To the obijectioun aganis James Gordoun, for his youthe, the tyme of the factis quhairvpone he hes deponit, anfueris that he was paf ten yeir auld, befoir the committing of the firft of the faidis factis; And being now ane man of perfyte age, may lauchfullie depone of thingis done quhan he was young, the famyn being recent in his memorie.—Attour, the faid James, being confrontit with the Laird of Auchindrane, he than deponit nathing aganis his persone, age, nor lauchfulnes of his Depositione.—To the generall objectioun, that the Depositiones in Criminall cauffis makis na probatioun, bot ar presumptionis and cauffis of tortour, it is manifestlie vntrew, and contrair to the Law and practiques of this cuntrie.—To the objectioun, that the Depositiones concerning Mr Robert Mures Letter ar generall, and preves nathing, it is vntrew ; becaus the Depositiones contenis, that the Letter buir aduerteifment to Auchindrane of the Laird of Culaynes dyet to Edinburgh.—For the Depositiones maid be Caldwell and Young Auchindrane, referris the confideratioun of thame to the Assyse, it being out of dout, that nather Young Auchindrane wald hurt his father, nor Caldwell his freind, be thair Deposition.—The objectiones aganis Woodland ar proponit in jeaft ; becaus at all tymes quhan he cumis to the toun, he viffeitis the Defenderis, his freindis,¹ in ane freindlie maner.—For Johne Mure, callit of Blakbyres, he was Auld Auchindrane's houshold fervand, sa lang as he had ane hous, and senfyne hes duelt in Blakbyres, vpon Auchindrane's land, familiar with his Lady and him self, frie of all perfute, convictioun, hoirning, or suspitioun of cryme. And the perfewar takis instrumentis of the Erle of Cassillis Declairatioun to the Assyse, that his lordschip nevir maid promeis to Blakbyres, to purches² to him Respett, Remiffioun, or vther fauour, for his compeirance.—The Depositionis maid to the Presbiterie, ar verrie lauchfull and formell ; haifing the force of ane Inquiftioun, for tryell of ane murthourit man and the authoris thairof.³—Walter Mure was tenent and fervand to the pannell, and convoyit by the way⁴ by his meanis, becaus he mycht haif controllit his denyall of his sending James Cuninghame to the said Walter Mures hous for Williame Dalrump.—James Dalrump his Deposition is lauchfull, albeit thai allege it to be maid to his awin turpitude, and that, be his awin confessioun, he is socius criminis; becaus in abhominable and extraordiner crymes, sic as Murthour vpon set purposis, complices ar lauchfull Witneffis, and thair Depositionis makis full faith ; becaus it is confiderit be the Law-makeris, that sic secreit and denyable crymes, can nocht possiblie be provin, bot be complices. James Dalrumpillis kynreid with Cullayne and the Erle of Cassillis, can nocht mak him suspect, becaus he is sifter-son⁵ to the Lady Auchindrane, and sifter-bairnis⁶ with Young Auchindrane, and sa presumet of the Law to beir gritter affectioun to thame.

The perfewar desyres the Assyse to remember Auld Auchindrane's Declariation, in thair presens, that James Dalrumpill maid him adverteifment to set precognition held for the purpose of discovering the perpetrators of a murder; and for bringing them to justice for their crimes, if guilty. ⁴ Put out of the way. ⁵ Nephew. ⁶ Cousin-german.

¹ In this instance, and indeed generally throughout this Trial, the term 'freind' signifies relative or blood-relation, as in the preceding reference to Caldwell, &c. ² Procure. ³ An inquest or

him,¹ quhilk detectis his fauour to the defenderis, and his vnwillingnes to depone to thair prejudice.

Patrik Bannatynes Deposition man mak fayth, becaus it was maid quhan he was the Kingis lauchfull subiect, frie of all cryme; and his kindreid with the Erle of Cassillis, can nocht mak him suspect; becaus, sen the feid,² he hes bene in speciall freindschip and familiaritie with the Defenderis; quhilk thair can nocht deny: Nather can the said Patrikes Deposition, nor the Deposition of any of the remanent Witneffis, be impungeit, as foundit only super auditu, and be relatioun of James Bannatyne; becaus that relatioun was maid be James, quhan he was in verrie grit freindschip with the Lairdis of Auchindrane, elder and younger, and ressauit many fauoris and suppoirtis fra thame.—The Defenderis impungis Johnne Mure in Curveris Deposition anent the pulleing of Williame Dalrumpill af James Bannatynes hors; bot never anfuoris to the materiall poyntis thair of, anent thair sending of Cuninghame for Dalrumpill to Glenheid; convoying of him to Chapeldonan; sending for him to Girven Sandis; and Murthouring of him thair.—James Bannatynes Deposition man mak full fayth, albeit he be at the horne, and excommunicat for this cryme; but hoirning and excommunicatioun can nocht work famekill aganis him as his awin Confessioun; quhilk Confessioun can nocht stay him to be Witnes, seing he is so necessar a Witnes, as without him na probatioun can be had in this caus, bot be his Deposition; except, be the Confessioun of the remanent defenderis, quhair of thair is no hoip, in respect of thair effronterie, obstinacie, and induratioun. His kinreid with the Erle of Cassillis and Cullzeane is proponit in scorne; becaus the Lairdis of Auchindrane can nocht deny, bot that the said James was professit pairt-taker with thame, in all feidis and querrellis aganis the Erle of Cassillis, and assistit thame in the Invasioun of Garriehorne for his Slaucher. Thair allegeance, that he comes in vpoun promeis and conditioun of his lyfe, is absurdlie qualifeit, as grantit be thame quhois protectioun and faif conduct can (nocht) faif ane hair of his heid. Thair allegeance of his malice aganis Young Auchindrane is impertinent, in respect of Young Auchindrane furneiffing and sending of him out of the countrie, and recommending of him, be his Lettres, to his uncle; and of the fauour and help maid to the said James Bannatyne senfyne, be the Lady and the pannellis remanent freindis. Quhair thay propone, that he wald nocht haif willinglie cum in to his awin deid; it is faiffer for him to cum in and depend vpone Godis fauour and the Kingis mercie, or failseing thair of to die, weill preparit in ane Christiane resolutioun, vpone the scaffold, nor³ to haif bene in hourlie danger to haif bene murthourit, be procurement of the Defenderis, as he mycht haif bene in danger—nocht haifing lafour to haif callit for Godis mercie.

¹ To cite him as a witness.

² Feud.

³ Rather than.

Robert Ramsfayis practise is impertinentlie citet in this caice; becaus he deit for his manifest periurie, and false and contrair Depositiones, justlie working aganis him selff; quhilk maid nocht the evident¹ to fall, and sa verifeit na punifcheable falsset aganis ony vther. Bot heir, thair is ane actuall Murthour, quhair of the Lairdis of Auchindrane ar provin als giltie as James Bannatyne.—The perswar takis instrumentis that James Pennycuik, being solemnelie suorne befor the Assyse, hes ratifeit, in thair presens, his hail Depositiones maid in Ingland. His Hoirning makis him nocht infamous, becaus it proceidis vpon ane Decreit of Secreit Counsell, quhilk can nocht be gevin in ane mater impoirting infamie; besyde, that fen² the said Hoirning, he remanit priffoner dyuerse oulkis in the Tolbuith of Edinburgh, quhair ony man that lyket to haif accuset him mycht haif drawin him to pannell, in despyte of his heart.—The Deposition of Mr Johnne Edmestoun aganis him can nocht be respectit; becaus Mr Johnne is infamous, being deprehendit and tryit authour of ane infamous lybill aganis the Lordis of Secreit Counsell, Sessioun, Prelattis of this Kingdome, and Magistrates of this Burgh.—Quhair thay allege that James Pennycuikis Deposition concernis nocht this Dittay, the perswar declairis, that he vses his Deposition as ane probatioun of ane consequent fact, quhilk cleiris exceedingly the preceiding Murthour of Dalrump: ffor Auld Auchindrane wald nevir haif hyret ane man to haif murthoret James Bannatyne, gif James Bannatyne had nocht bene able to haif verifeit aganis Auchindrane ane mair dangerous cryme. He is nocht meir lie testis singularis, becaus his Deposition is strentened by the Deposition of his fervand George Small; and his Deposition vpon his allegit turpitude can nocht repell him in this caice; becaus he is, in effect, ane complice with thame aganis quhome he deponis, and hes purget his giltines thairof, be his tymous repentance, and desisting frome the prosecution of the said purpos. His Deposition can nocht be elydit³ be ony thing writtin to him be Sir James Hamiltoun; becaus that Deposition is maid judiciall, alsweill be his Declaratioun, befor the Lordis of his hienes Secreit Counsell, in Ingland, and be his approbatioun of his hail Depositiones, this nycht, in presens of the Assyse. George Blakis Deposition is verrie famous,⁴ and can nocht be drawin in suspicioun, vpon the allegeance of ony malice confauct for want of fourtie merkis of fie.—*Young Auchindrane*s suffering of the iniureis offerit to him be James Bannatyne, standis cleirly verifeit be the reiterat Depositiones of William Kennydie of Garfur, he being confrontit with Young Auchindrane.—*Auld Auchindrane*s denyall of his Letter to his sone, can nocht be respectit, seing it is so cleirly verifeit to the Counsell, be Dauid Dormond, and Thomas Home, Constable of the elidere. ⁴ Worthy of credit.

¹ The writing or Title-deed referred to in his case.

² Since.

³ Evaded; got quit of. Lat.

Castle, and the Erle of Mar, quho ar Witnesses aboue all exceptioun, that the samyn was send be Auld Auchindrane to his sone.—The persewar repeitis the Depositiones maid be Archibald Prymrois and Eduard Mekill-Johnne, in judgement; and namelie, that pairt, quhairby Archibald Prymrois callis my Lordis of Counsell treulie to memorie, that Auld Auchindrane, at the verrie first sicht of his Letter, red the samyn so ryplie and perfytlie, as gif he had it perquier,¹ quhilk no vther man, nor² the wryter of the Letter, was able to haif done. Repeitis lykwayis the said Eduard Mekill-Johnnes Deposition, quhairby the treuth of his copping of Auchindranes Letter to his sone, at the desyre of ane most honourabill and famous Noble-man, detectis the knaverie and complete of ane socieatie of malefactoris and dyverse.³

Finallie, the persewar repeitis the just suspitioun consauet vpon the pannellis absenting of his wyfe, sone, and brother.

THE DEFENDERIS allegis, that the Young Laird of Auchindrane is frie of the presumptioun of the Hoirning, becaus he compeirit at the day.—Auld Auchindrane is nocht pannellit for lying at wait aganis the Tutour of Cassillis, at Maybole; and sua, na presumptioun can arryse vpon that Hoirning. As for the rest, thay ar purget be compeirance.—As for that pairt anent James Gordoun, he being confrontit with Auchindrane, he opponit nothing at that tyme, ather concerning his youthe or vtherwayis; ansueris, that was nocht the place convenient; bot now, debito tempore, in this Judgment, he proponis the samyn, conforme to the Act of Parliament; and all vtheris of the lyk nature.—It is ansuerit to that article, ‘that Depositiones ar manifest probationes,’ that the Depositiones vpon conjectouris and presumptiounis of na Law nor practique, ar manifest probatione, bot only sufficient to induce tortour: And trew it is, that all the Depositiones lybellit ar vpon conjectouris.—Walter Mure, estir that Auchindrane younger was twyfe enterit, and Auld Auchindrane lang in the Tolbuthe, was duelling actuallie in his awin hous, tane and apprehendit be the Erle of Cassillis, and demittit be his lordship; and sa, his absenting him self can nocht be presumet for this cause.—The malice of James Bannatyne towardis Young Auchindrane is cleir, becaus he will preve, be James Gordoun, ane of the witnesses producet aganis him, that James avowit to haif Young Auchindranes lyfe, becaus he offerit to the Counsell to inbring him vnder the pane of Fourtie thousand pundis.—The Depositione of Mr Johnne Edmestoun is nocht vsæt as ane sufficient probatioun; but his Deposition, with the vther Deponer with him, aganis quhome thair is na suspitioun, is mair pregnant to tak away James Pennyckis Deposition, than James Pennyckis Depositione is to infer Treafone:

¹ By heart; by rote. Fr. par cœur. ² Excepting; but. ³ Detects the knavery and plot (conspiracy) of a society, or association, of malefactors and bankrupts (dyvouris)

As James Pennycuik is at the horne, sa George Small, his seruand, is at the horne, for the same fact; and George Small deponis nathing in speciall.—Last, the perones on pannell desyres your honouris of the Assyse to haif confideratioun of the lybell and Dittay; as the samyn was admittit be my Lord Justice, viz. that the speciall poynt making the samyn relevant, was, that Thomas Kemyddie of Culzeane was flane be the advyse, instigatioun, causeing, command, counfell, and ratihabitoun of Auchindrane elder, quhilk is the first pairt of the Dittay; quhairin, thair is nathing provin aganes Auchindrane elder, of those substanciall poyntis; nather can the samyn be ony wayes imputtit to Auchindrane younger. And as for the secund pairt, quhilk is lybellit conjunctlie aganis Auchindrane elder and younger, and James Bannatyne; the substanciall pairt quhairof is the allegit committing of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} (Williame) Dalrumpill: And the rest of the hail lybell, ar only accidentis, conjectouris, and presumptiones; and seing na pairt of the substanciall poyntis is provin, albeit the hail actiones, presumptiones, and conjectouris war provin, quhilk is nocht grantit; off all law and equitie, obseruit in all cuntreyis, the maist that can be inferrit thairupoune, is the tortour of the perones aganis quhome the presumptiones ar militant; quhilk specialle man haif place in the persone of Young Auchindrane, aganis quhome few or nane of the presumptiones ather contenit in the Dittay, or proponit by¹ the samyn, dois militat.

VERDICT OF THE ASSISE. Quhilkis perones of Assyse, estir accusatioun of the saidis perones on pannell, be Dittay, of the Tressonabill and crewall Slauchteris and Murthouris respectiue, aboue specifeit, and fuering that article thairof, anent the Murthour of the said Williame Dalruple, be the said Bessie Dalruple, his mother; and estir production of the hail Depositiones aboue writtin, and vther writtis and probatioun for cleiring of the Pannellis giltines of the saidis crymes, be our said souerane lordis Aduocat; the saidis perones of Assyse remouet altogidder furth of Courte, to the Counsal-hous of the said Tolbuthe; quhair thai, be pluralitie of voitis, electit and choiset the said Sir James Scrymgeour of Dudope, kny^t, chancellor; Ressonet and voitit vpon the crymes contenit in the said Dittay, and hail circumstances thairof; and being ryplie and at lenth advyset thairwith, togidder with the hail writtis and probatioun vset and producet be our souerane lordis Aduocat, for instructing thairof; togidder with the Pannellis objectiones proponit be thame, and thair preloquitours aganis the samyn, with my Lord Aduocattis ansueris maid thairto; thay reenterit agane in Court, quhair the saidis perones of Assyse, be the mouth of the said Sir James Scrymgeour of Dudope, kyn^t, thair chancellor, Pronuncet and gaif furth thair determinatioun vnder writtin, subseryuit be the said chancelloris hand, quhairof the tennour followis.

¹ Independent of; besides; forby.

“ The Assyfe, for the maist pairt, efter reffoning and voiting vpon the first article of the said Dittay, find JOHNNE MURE ELDER OF AUCHINDRANE to be Giltie, culpable, and convict of airt and pairt of the tressonable and crewal Murthour of vniq^{le} Sir Thomas Kennydie of Culzeane, kny^t, committit in forme and maner contenit in the first pairt of the Dittay. AND siclyk, the saidis perfones of Assyfe, for the maist pairt, findis and declairis the said Johnne Mure elder of Auchindrane, and JAMES MURE OF AUCHINDRANE YOUNGER, and ather of thame, to be Giltie, culpable and convict of airt and pairt of the tressonable and crewal Murthour of vniq^{le} Williame Dalrumple, in maner specifreit in the Dittay.—AND last, thai all, in ane voce, findis and declairis the said JAMES BANNATYNE, callit of Chapel-Donane, to be Giltie, culpable, and convict of airt and pairt of the said tressonabill Murthour of the said vniq^{le} Williame Dalrumple, committit be the saidis perfones, in maner contenit in the Dittay.”

SENTENCE. Efter the pronunceing and declairing of the quhilk determination and delyuerance of the saidis perfones of Assyfe, “ THE JUSTICE, in respect thair of, be the mouth of Alexander Kennydie, dempster of Court, decernit and adiudget the saidis Johnne Mure of Auchindrane elder, James Mure of Auchindrane younger, his eldest sone and appeirand air, and James Bannatyne, callit of Chapel-Donane, and ilk ane of thame, to be tane to the mercat croce of the burcht of Edinburgh, and thair, upone ane scaffold, thair heidis to be strukin frome thair bodeyis: And all thair landis, heritages, takis, steidingis, rowmes, possessiones, teyndis, coirnes, cattell, inficht pleniffing, guidis, geir, tyillis, profiteis, commoditeis, and richtis quhatfumeuir, directlie or indirectlie pertening to thame or ony of thame, at the committing of the saidis tressonabill Murthouris, or senfyne; or to the quhilkis thay, or ony of thame, had richt, claim, or actioun, to be forfalt, escheit, and inbrocht to our souerane lordis vse; as culpable and convict of the saidis tressonabill crymes.”

Quhilk was pronuncet for DOME.

APPENDIX OF PAPERS AND DOCUMENTS ILLUSTRATIVE OF THE TRIAL OF THE MURES OF AUCHINDRAYNE.

I. LETTER *by Sir Thomas Hamilton of Byres, knight, to a Nobleman at Court, relative to the Trial of the Laird of Auchindrayne and his Son, &c.*¹

[THE following LETTER is a rough draught of a Letter transmitted by Sir Thomas Hamilton to some Nobleman high in power and favour at Court, (probably the corrupt Earl of Somerset); and is evidently intended for the King's perusal. This successful Lawyer and Statesman knew well how to please his Majesty's taste for flattery—but, if this is to be taken as a specimen, King James must have been much more of a glutton than an epicure! In the same Collection from which this is taken (Haddington's MSS., Adv. Library, Edinburgh), there is preserved another draught, which is evidently the original, and is extremely corrected and altered—but it is so characteristic, that it shall also be preserved here in the original state, though merely a fragment.

¹ Dec. 11, 1601.—Now, on the tent of December, ane variance being betwix the Erl of Cassillis and the Laird of Bargany, thay mett in Carrik, quhair the Laird of Bargany and sindrie wtheris war slayne, and diuerse Gentilmenne hurtt. This was on 11 day of December, 1601. And on the 12 day of Maij, 1602, Thomas Kennedy, brother to the Laird of Bargany, slew Schir Thomas Kennedy of Colzeane, kny^t, quha had beine Tutour of Caisillis, in the rewenge of the slauchter off his brother. The quhilk Fead continewis as yitt onreconseellit.—Anon. MS. Hist. of Scotland, Adv. Library, A. 4. 35.

‘HONORABIL AND VERTUOUS LORD,

‘BEING informeit be ane wourthie freind, that your lordschip wes very defyrus to have ane trew and ample relatioun of the proces deduced aganis the Lairdis of Auchindrane elder and younger, for the Mourthouris of Sir Thomas Kennedie of Cullayne, knight, and of Williame Dabrimple, I wes exceeding glaid to have rencountred that occasion to offer to your lordschip this discour, as an earnest of my faithful dispositioun to expres my thankfulnes in matters of greater moment, when ever God fould grant me the abilitie to performe any seruice worthie of your honour, and correspondent to that great obligatioun whairin your singular fauour and courtesfis haue exceidinglie engaged to your lo. Bot when I had written at lenth, all that did concerne that pourpofe, and had it reddie to be sent to your lo., report cumming to this cuntrie of his Maiesteis gracious pardoun granted to James Bannatyne, whairas I did confaue that all men wald acknouledge it as ane commendabill effort of his Maiesteis most iuste, gracious, and judicious clemencie; yet, finding that some deuclilh peopill als venomoullie inclyned to find mater of calummie in his Maiesteis most vertuous actionis, as the wesþ to suck poyson out of the sweitest and most holesome floures, I have delayed my first proiect, to send to your lo. the simpill discour of the proceeding aganis those malefactoris, quhill (until) efter Tryell of all that has bene murmured aganis his Maieftie in any circumstance of this action, I might mak the more full and perfyte report, allweill of the materiall circumstances of the proces, as of these incidentis, whairin his Maieftie, having expresse his rare and wonderfull iugement, his vnalterabill constancie and’]

[HONORABIL AND VERTUOUS LORD.]

KNAWING, by informatioun of ane wourthie freind, that efter your lordschip hard the vulgar report of the conuictioun and pvnishment of THE LAIRDIS OF AUCHINDRANE, ELDER and YOUNGER, for the Mourthour of Sir Thomas Kennedie of Cullayne, knight, and of Williame Dabrimple, yow did desyre to have a full and verie particular relation of the whole proceedingis of that mater, becaus my being ey wites from the beginning to the last act of that proces, makis me abill to giue ane true accompt of euerie circumstance thair of; and the great faouris and courtesfis ressaue of your lo. haue engaged me in stronger bandis of dewtie nor¹ want of abilitie will permit my seruice to discharge; I haue presumed to send to your lo. this discour, rude, informall, and voyde of all ornamentis except treuth, as ane earnest of my desyre to proue thankfull to your lo. and obedient to your commandementis; whilk fould haue foner cum to your lo. handis, had not this tyme of vaicance² impeded me to find, so speidlie as I did with, the helpis of sum ferollis of the lawers and clerkis, to whom the deduction of that proces was speciallie committed; I did coniecture that your lo. cheif respect in this desyre wes to have the justice of his Maiesteis directionis, in that action, maid als manifest to the worlde as thay ar in the sight of God, and persuaasion of his owne conscience (albeit his providence, wisdom, justice, and mercie haue fund peopill als abill to suck venome owt of these Royall vertues as the wesþ to extract poyfoun furth of the most beautifull and healthfull floures, whilk in thay owne place,³ I have remarked, naikedlie, as does best befeme treuth,) acknowledging how vnhabill I am to giue the dew luster to these eminent and abundant vertues; and thairfore, if your lo. fall ever think that proces wourthie of the sight of the worlde, I know your wourth and bontie has gevin your lo. power and ane great many rare and excellent spirits, who will be glad to bestow the best floures of thair ingyne and learning, to giue the right foyle to that whilk may concerne his Maieftie, in fame, or your lo.

¹ Than. ² Time of Vacation, when the Courts of Justice do not sit, and when the Lawyers are frequently in the country. ³ The own or proper place.

in contentment. And, to the effect the proces may the more easelie to vnderstand, before I cum to the Report thairof, I will premit (premise) ane trew Narration of the first motiues which involued the Laird of Auchindrane evill nature in the labirinth of these mischevous interpryffes; which, be the justice of God, and his Maiesteis admirabill providence and inflexibill constancie, being brocht to light, have overthrowne his life and fortunes.

ANE TREW NARRATION of the first Motiues which involued the Laird of Auchindrane's evill Nature, &c.

YOUR lo. hes heir the particular Discours of ane Proces, whilk, vpon dyeris respectis, many wyfe men have judged to be verie memorabill. Sum, remarking the bad nature of malicious men, who, measuring be their owne merciles disposition, the affection of vther menis hairtis, can never hope to ressaue frie pardon of those whom thay have mightelie offendeit; and thairfore, forgetting the courtiffie ressaue of those who have remitted to thame great iniuries, faillies nocht to requit thair gude with evill; and at their first advantage, to bereave those of thair lyfe from whom thay ressaue thair owne, as Auld Auchindrane did to Sir Thomas Kennedie of Cullayne.

Vtheris, did consider, with horrou, the craft and diligence of the Devill vfeis keip in his bondage those who he anis fetteris in his snaires; offering to thame allurements to facilitat to thame the Interpryfes, whilk, in thair worldlie considerationis thay judge most liklie to procur the wished endis of thair proiectis; as Auld Auchindrane's resolution to cut af all meanis of discouerie of his guiltines of Cullayne's Mourthour be the Mourthouring of Dalrumpill; whairin his sin apperis to have bene so odious in the sight of God, as, for his pvneishment, God permittit his sone to be involued in the guiltines of that sam haynous cryme, as ane preparatiue of the vther ruyne of that house: Whilk succedid altogidder contrare to thair expectatioune, and the verie elementis concurring to the discouerie of thair secret sin, that did not oppin thair eyes and hairtis to sie that manis wit is fillie before God, and that thair strenght is bot duft; bot thay fall be blinded with the presumptionne of thair owne judgement; and thairby thinking, that if Bannatyne, who wes ey witnesse and actour with thame of Dalrumpilis Murthour, wer killed, that thair rested no vther meanes to proue thame guiltie thairof; whilk being constantlie denyed be thame, wald lykwyse cleir Auld Auchindrane of Cullaynes Murthour. Thay intended to vse Penicuke in the Murthour of Bannatyne; and feiring lest Penicuke might efteruardis discouer that he had bene moved be Auld Auchindrane to kill Bannatyne, being fugitiue, as pairtaker with Auchindrane and his sone in Dalrumpilis Murthour, it aucht (to) put all men in iuste suspicioun that it wes done, for cutting away the meane of the discouerie of Dalrumpilis Murthour; thairfore it wes thought expedient that Quintene Mure of Auchneill sould kill Penicuke, in reuenge of his Mourthouring Bannatyne; and sfa, Auchneill, knoweing no thing of Dalrumpilis Murthour, and being not onlie innocent of Bannatyne's Murthour, bot the avenger thairof, he sould be frie of all suspicioun of the fyrst Murthouris, and thay secured of all probatioun that could have bene led aganis thame thairanent; whilk being disapoynted, be Pennicukis remorse, and James Bannatyne's resolution to end his dangeris and miferies, ather be his Maiesteis mercie, or, be ane fetled resolution, to accept his death, as the iust pvneishment of his great finnis, in patience. It is evidentlie remarqued that the courfes, grounded vpoun the presumptionne of ane manis owne wit, ar the verie instrumentis whilk God vfes to confound thame in the folie of their owne imaginatiounis.

Nather could wyfe men neglect to admire, how loath the Devill is to quyte his possessioun of ane sinneris soule; having so contended to menteane Auld Auchindrane in his denyall and impenitence, that efter his convictioun, when his constancie could nothing avall him, thair wes no appearance that he sould aither confes or publictlye repent the crymes for which he was condemned; whilk (until) efter ane notabill conflict betuix his sone (Young Auchindrane) and the Devill, who still persuaed him, that thair wes no hope of mercie to ane sinner, who had wilfullie and oft periured him self, with horribill execrationis; sum godlie Bischoppis and Ministeris, be lang conference, and many comfortabill af-furanceis gevin to him of the reddines of Godis frie grace and mercie to all finneris, who, with vnseyued repentance, ar displeasid for thair finnes; and can dispoſe thair foules to hope for pardoun, and beg it at his handis;—he wes moved to mak plane and particular declaratioun of the vnhappy Murthour of Dalrimpill, committit be his father and him ſelf, according to Bannatynes Confeſſioun and thair conuictioun. Qubairby, finding his conſcience wonderfullie diſburdened, and his foule fullie repleineiffed with affured hope of Goddis abundant mercie; did cheirfullie diſpoſe him ſelf to death, as the only way to ane better and ever permanent lyfe; and vſing his beſt perſuaſionis to his father, that as they wer joyned by bloude, and lykwayes conioyned in the equal guiltines of ſo hynous ane ſin, ſo he wald conſent that thay might joyne in repentance and trew conuerſioun; he did ſo muche peruale with him, that being aſſiſted be the godlie travels of the Biſchopis and Miniſteris, the father wes broght to ſo frie and ſenſibill contritioun, as, in the laſt houres of thair lyfe, and at the tyme of thair death, thair godlie reſolutioun to mak haift to reſſaue the eternal joyes, whilk thay expected affuredlie at Goddis merciſull handis, gawe als great confort to the behalderis of thair Executioun, as thair wicked lyves had bene offenſiue, to thoſe who knew the actionis thairof.

THE dependance of this Proceſ kept menis myndis in great ſuſpens, dyuerſlie diſtracted, in the expectation of the incertane event thairof; the vulgar multitude, alwayes piteing ſuche as ar miſerabil, without reſpect of the dangerous conſequence of the impvritie of ſuche crymes, wiſhing ſaiftie and releif of the priſoneris: wyfe and godlie men, longing for the plaine diſcouerie and exemplar pvneiffment of the haynous tranſgreſſouris, whairof, in thair conſcience, thay judged the defendaris culpabil; and vthers, diſallowing the preparative of the long imprifonement and rigourous Tryall, ever glaid to ſie the appeirances of thair eſcaip; till God, in his owne appoynted tyme, be ſuche meanes as ar before reherſed, did juſtlie determine this long dowtſum cauſe.

And albeit I have many tymes earniſtly conſidered, both the groundis of this cauſe, and meruellous incidentis and accidentis in the progres thairof, yet no thing hes ever appeired ſo ſtrange and extraordinar to me, as the blindnes or rather malice of ane great number of oure peopill of all fortis; who, forgetfull of oure happines in the wyfe, equitabil, clement, and moderat regime of oure moſt excellent King, became dowtfull of the juſtice of his directionis, in this cauſe, [For whan I call to memorie, the whole courſe of his lyfe, from his firſt concepioun to this hour, and do compaire the ſame with the regnes and lyves of vther Kingis, I think we have more reaſon, with thankfulneſs to God, to acknowledge his regne, to be the renouatioun of ane golden aige, nor be¹ malicious pryeing in his holie intentionis and juſte doingis, to reſemble thoſe, who, vewing moſt pure and precious jeuellis, dois not ſo mutche delyte thair eyes with the preſence thairof, as exerciſe thair curioſitie to eſpy taſches² in thame.] For God, having, as it dois weill appeir, decreed in his eternal wiſdome, to appoynt oure King to be the inſtrument of more happines to this Ile, nor³ in oure wiſhes we durſt haue requyred: knowing, that the wonders of his preferuatioun, and of the happines of his moſt rare, moſt excellent, and moſt difficill actionis, ſould mak his Maieſtie more auguſt and venerabil, it fall be eaſie to any man, who fall with ane honeſt mynd and vnpartiall ey, conſider the courſe of his yeiris, manifeſtly to remark, that it hes bene ane continueall exerciſe of perfyte virtue, beautified with the ouercumming of all ſuche difficulties as the wiſdome and courage of man could foircaſt; and whan the dangeris did exceed that meaſour, than did God viſible interpoſe the ſtrength of his owne hand, as the pledge of his loue, and prouf of his caire, not to ſuffer a King, ſo neceſſar for the Chriſtian worlde, to be ouer ſuddenlie tranſlated thairfra, to thoſe bliſſingis, whilk in end he hes prepared for him, among his moſt deir Elect. Bot to deduce the abrege of his lyfe to the owne right ordour, we muſt acknowledge, that it pleaſed God, in his eternal wiſdome, to aſſigne the meanis of his convoy vnto this worlde, to be the happy conjunction of two of the moſt nobill, beautifull, and hopefull Princes, who at that tyme wer to be fund vpon earth;⁴ the ſuces⁵ whairof, being foreſene be the Devill, in his viperous wiſdome, to

¹ Than by. ² Flaws, blemishes. Old Fr. tasche.

³ Than.

⁴ Henry Darnley and Mary Stewart, Queen of Scots.

⁵ Success.

be the ouerthrow of his kingdome, in this Ile,¹ he did stir vp vnfaithfull subiectis to be instrumentis of so terrabill tempestis and deidlie stormes, that his Maiesteis lyfe wes, in his motheris wombe, reduced so neir to the durris of the death, as the tender and most delicat stay of that faire excellent lady, be the accurfed poynntis of the crewall daguers of hir faithles treasonabill subjectis, Murthouring in hir owne presence ane of hir seruandis;² bot as hir courage, surpassing the imbecillitie of hir sexe, and ouercumming her dangeris, did offer this ritche present to the worlde, in the yeir of God 1566; whairbye, his Royall parentis, hauing confaued so extraordinarie joy, as thay did accompt it to be the perfection of thair earthlie felicitie. God, who will not suffer those who he hes destinat³ to ane more happie habitation, to abuse thame selfis with the delytis of the wayne schaddowes of this lyfe, suffered the hellisli complottis of damned subiectis, so far to preuaile aganis thame, as the vertuous actionis of the King his father, being interrupted be that most execrabil Tragedie, practised and performed be that infamous and never-aneuch abhorred traitour, Bothuell, aganis his lyffe. The contagious exampill of that vnnaturall Treasoun, did so infect the mynd of ane great number of hir Maiesteis powerfull subiectis, that thay wer not afrayd to ryse in oppin rebelloun aganis hir, lay violent handis vpon hir sacred persoun, confyned hir libertie within the miserabill boundis of the wylde and vnuholosome Craig of Lochlerin, force hir to the abdication of hir Royaltie; and whan, as the dexteritie of hir courageous devyse, faithfullie assisted be sum of hir vncorrupted subiectis, had fred hir furth of that miserabill bondage, hir rebellis did suddanlie assembl thair forceis, and in oppin Battell, ouerthrowing that number of dewtifull subiectis who did assist hir, did so maliciouslie pursue that victorie, as scho could nocht find in the whole boundis of that lairge Kingdome, which was hir natie inheritance, ane place of saif retrait; wharby hir hard destinie, dryving hir to seik refuge in England, sche found be effectis, that 'incidit in Scyllam cupiens vitare Caribdim,' not enioyeing in it hir libertie one houre, during the whole space of eighften yeiris of hir lyfe spent in that Kingdome. Bot these afflictionis of hir lyfe, did sa strengthen hir mynd aganis the terrouris of death, and prepaire hir so happelie for the entrance to ane better lyfe, that whan the catastrophe of hir miseris brocht hir to ressaue death, efter ane manner so rare and vnaccustomabill to ane Princeffe of hir birth and estait, as the hardest harted beholders, touched with the strangenes of that rigorous exampill, were driven to extreme grief and compassioun; hir godlie resolution and invincibill courage wes so constant, that scho appeired nocht onlie content bot joyfull, that God, haveing vsed hir troubles in this lyfe for ane expiation of hir sinnes, had gevin hir so full assurance of his mercie and fauour, whair of scho promised to hir self, be the beginning of that dayes passage, ane most blifed and endles fruitioun.—Be thir meanes, his Maiestie being destitute of these helpes of Royall education, whilk the caire and knowlege of so excellent parentis wald have procured to him, and standing subject to the danger of the cruell plottis of those who, having treasonable overthrowne his parentis, could never think thame self frie of impunity for so vnpardonabill Treasoun, so long as he, who, besyde the commoun interest of Princes in the pvneishment of vsurpeing Traitoures, wes bund, be dewtie of bloude and nature, to pvnes those who had vsed bot butcherlie violence aganis the lyves, libertie, and estate of his parentis. Yit God, in his Providence, did so cairefullie watche over him, as haveing disperfed that tracheourous combination, and with progres of tyme turned thair wittis and vapines⁴ of these rebellis to wourk aganis vtheris; his Maiesteis lyfe wes not onlie thairby preserved, bot his quarrell wes be thame reuenged. During this tyme and thir dangerous passages, his Maiestie, growing in graccis and yeiris, and finding his realme so miserablie disordered, as be the ciuill factionis and warris, not onlie the accustomed barbaritie of the Bordouraris and Hielandmen wes increasfed, bot, be infectioun, had so polluted the whole cuntry with crueltie and dissensions, that publict factionis, and privat deidlie feidis, did so disquyet everie manis estait, as thair jakkis, knapscacs, plait-sleves, and pistoles, wer als ordinar apparrell, to the most pairt, as thair doublettis and breachis; becaus, whatever wes the cause of thair conventionis or meittingis, fightis or frayes wes the occasioun of thair departing, not onlie at Parleментis, conventionis, tryftis, and mercatis, bot lykwayis at Churcheyerdis and Churches, and places appoynted for exercifes of Religioun. The purgatioun of so extraordinar and vniverfall corruption, being the task of his Maiesteis¹

¹ In allusion to the overthrow of the Papal power in Scotland, and the blessings to follow from the Reformation of Religion. ² Alluding to the murder of David Rizzio. ³ Predestinated. ⁴ Wappinnis; weapons.

Bot that which I have ever thoght most strange and vnnaturall, in all this actioun, is, that efter so many, so lairge and sensibill praiffes of his Maiesteis pietie, justice, clemencie, extended to all the cornaris, and almost to all the particular² persones of his Kingdome, so many subiectis fould haue bene fund, who, in fauour of two men of so wicked lyfe, fould so lightlie have regarded, and so malicioussly detracted his Maiesteis directionis, gevin for tortouring of Young Auchindrane, and refusing libertie to him self and his father, efter so many yeiris imprisonment: Never considering how his Maiesteie, being errie way iuste and equitabill, had, in thir menis particular, so small cause to vse thame with rigour, that if the aspired opinion of his cleir conscience had not certanlie perswaded him of thair guiltines, he wald never have either vexed thair persones, or restrained thair liberties, aganis the courses of ordinar justice of his kingdome.

It is fouslish presumption in subiectis to think, that the Kingis whom God hes chosen as his lieutenantis, to regne ouer so great Nationis, fould haue hairtis of no greater excellence than the vulgar fort! If God had not prepared the hairt of Solomon, in his youth, to command the houris child³ to be deuyded betuix hir and hir neighbour who claimed the leving bairne, what Judge in the world could certanlie have determined to which of the two the living childe did belong? Whilk nevertheless, Salomon, be ane sentence, feming at first most cruell and vniust, did in end most admirablie determine,⁴ to the manifestatioun of the singlar wifdome, whilk God had put in the Kingis hairt.

When oure King, the trew Salomon of oure aige, and the most Godlie, wyfe, and learned King that ever bure ane Regall crowne in any Christian kingdome, trowelie representing, having fra his owne infancie gevin so extraordinar promissis of his iugement⁵

THE just determinatioun of the Proces which did long depend aganis THE LAIRD OF AUCHINDRANE and his eldest sone, having greatlie contented the myndes of manie faithfull subiectis; not that thay did reioice in the calamitie of Gentilmen of that fort,⁶ bot becaus thairby, the justice of God, in the discoverie and pvnishment of most subtile and dark crymes, was maid manifest to hard haired and vnbelieving peopill; hes also buffied many menis pens to send the report thairof to thair freindis abroad; whairin, albeit at first I did intend to keip silence, and remit the publicatioun of that memorabill actioun to those who wer more curious and skilful nor myself; yet, calling to my remembrance sum notabill circumstances, which, during the incertane event of that procedure, did giue bauldenes to peruerfed peopill, to calumniat the true justice of his Maiesteis directiones; which now, to his differred commendatioun, is approued to the whole worlde; I have since thoght it my duetie, truelie to informe your lordship (whom I know to be so curious and cairefull of no thing as of his Maiesteis honour) of the whole substance of that persute, craving your Lo. pardoun, if omitting sum parcellis, scairce necessarie to be recorded, I fall tak bouldenes, in place thairof, to remark, that in the course and progres of the most notabill actionis of his Maiesteis lyfe and regne, whairof no Prince's aige and fortune hathe ever bene more fertile, his holiest, happiest, and most iuste intentionis have never bene frie of the bitter sting of calumnious detractaris.

In this Discours, I will not follow his methode, qui in medias res non sicus ac notus auditorem rapit, bot studie to mak the mater so plane to your Lo. as possibill I can, be deduction of the occasionis whilk innoued Auchindranes evill nature, in the laberinth of these mischevous interpyfes, which, be the justice of God and his Maiefties inflexibill conftancie, being broght to light, have ouerthrowne his lyfe and fortunes.

¹ This is left unfinished; a page is left blank to fill up the rest. ² Individual. ³ The well-known story of 'the Judgment of Solomon.' Sir Thomas had, in the course of the long digression which he made regarding the King's 'rise and progress,' touched on very dangerous ground, and travelled very far out of his way, for the purpose of lavishing the most fulsome praise; being certain that the Letter would be subjected to his Majesty's perusal. ⁴ Terminate; result.

⁵ Here the scroll again breaks off, and three blank pages are left, for farther digression and flattery. ⁶ Rank; condition in society.

BE birth, he (JOHN MURE OF AUCHINDRANE) was a Gentilman of wourfchipfull difcent, fucceeding to that inheritance, which his prediceffouris in bloude and name had poffeffed almoft foure hundreth yeires. By marriage of the dochter of Sir Thomas Kennedie of Barganie, one of the mightiest fubjectis in the cuntrie whair he dwelt,¹ having increffed the ftrenth of his freindfchip and prefumptioun of his haire; and thinking, that no thing could impeid the abfolute power of Barganies freindfchip, in Carrick, bot the Erle of Caffillis howfe, whilk, be ane long difcent of vertuous Nobilmen, for wourthie feruices done to thair Princes and cuntrie, had differued and reffaued fo lairge recompens in landis, honouris, and iurisdictionis, as extending thair branches in all the cornaris of that cuntrie, and keiping faithfull dewtie and obedience to thair Prince, they had, be lawful meanes, obtaned aduantage of honour and commandement ouer all thair nightbouris; till of lait, the father of this Erle deceaffed, and leiving his fones infantes, thair did not rest of that cheif howfe, any man, abill to menteane the dignitie and rightes thair of, bot for Sir Thomas Kennedie of Cullayne, brother to the deceaffed Erle, and vnclie and Tutour to this Erle of Caffillis; whom, vpoune emulation and inuie, before mentioned, Auchindrane intended to Murthour: for which pourpofe, having associat to him felf nyne or ten weill chosen compliceis, thay, vpon the day of (January), or thairby, in the yeir of God 1597, come to the towne of Maybole, whair the Laird of Cullayne maid than his ordinar refidence, and tryeing² that he wes at fupper in the houfe of (Sir) Thomas Nifbet, and wes thairfra to go to bed to his owne ludgeing; Auchindrane and his complices darned³ thame felfis in (Sir) Thomas Nifbetis gairdine, throw which the Laird of Cullaynes way lay to his owne howfe, and, in his paffage, having delaifched⁴ at him aucht or ten fchot of hagbuttis and piftolettis, in the boundis of ane ftraight allay, yit he being faif of any hurt thairwith, and perfaving thame with thair fuourdis, moft cruellie to perfew his lyfe, he being alone, (becaus his feruandis, not thinking that any man had reason to offer him harme, did not attend him,) he was forced for his faiftie to flie; in which chaice thay did approche him fo neir, as he had vndoutedlie bene ouertane and killed, if he had not aduentured to rin afyde and couer him felf with the ruines of ane decayed houfe, whilk, in refpect of the darknes of the night, they did not perfave; bot fill followed to his ludgeing, and fearched all the corneris thair of, till the confluence of the peopill of the towne⁵ reforting, whair thay hard fuche a fray, forced thame to retire. For which fchamefull and barbarous attempt, the faid Sir Thomas Kennedie of Cullayne, having focht redrefs be law, did thairby dryve Auchindrane in fuche danger of ruyne, as neceffarlie did conftayne him to couer his malice with fchew of repentance: And for fatisfacioun of his bypaff offence, and gadge⁶ of his future dewtie, to offer his eldeft fone in marriage to Sir Thomas Kennedie's dochter: Whilk, be interceffion of freindis, being accepted, and thairefter the marriage accomplifhed, the Laird of Cullayne did fo affect the gude of the Laird of Auchindrane and his hovfe, as it was no lefs dere to him nor⁷ his owne; confidering, that in thair hopes and wifhes, it wes to be poffeffed be the posteritie of thair conioyned difcentis.

In which termes, materis continowed, vpoune Cullayne's part, faithfullie and in haire, and vpoune Auchindrane, in trefonabill profpectionis; whilk,⁸ be the deceas of Sir Thomas Kennedie of Barganie, his fone, Gilbert Kennedie of Barganie, ane young Gentilman of great courage, fucceeding to him, his inexperienced youth wes feduced be Auchindrane to beleve, that the tyme wes proper to raife his houfe, from the fecund place in the cuntrie to the firft, be the ouerthrow of the Erle of Caffillis houfe; whilk he proponed not to be difficill, for many probabill reasonis: Which, finding approbation, in the ambitious mynd of the young Gentilman, all occafionis of haitrent wer fo foftered be feditious instrumentis on thair fyde, that in fclort tyme the pairties wer broght to fuche profpection of inimitie, as the Laird of Barganie, intending, in contempt of the Erle, to go by his zet,⁹ in his paffage from Aire to

¹ In the Bailliary of Carriek and shire of Ayr.

² Ascertaining after enquiry; discovering.

³ Concealed; hid;

secreted.

⁴ Let off; fired. Old Fr. delascher.

⁵ Maybole.

⁶ Pledge. Fr. gage.

⁷ Than.

⁸ Until.

⁹ Contemptuously to go past the Earl's gate, without so much as enquiring after his health, he being his Chief, &c.

., and the Erle, resolving rather to die nor¹ digest that publick indignitie; having bothe firethened thame selfis with fuche forceis, as vpon so suddane occasioun thay could assembill;² thay rencountred vpon the ffieldis, neir the Erles howse of, whan ffoure or ffyve hundred men entring in flight, it wes verie liklie that the eagernes of the Cheifis sould have broght thair peopill to great butcherie, if Barganies courage had not carried him so headlong to the rasche invasioun of the Erles peopill, lying at cover, vnder the advantage of ditches, as him self rassaving ane deidlie musket schot, and Auchindrane, being also maid vnhabill to brak his horse, be ane verie dangerous schot in the thigh, thair trowp, wanting leaderis, fled, and left the feld to the Erles better fortune.

Which, no thing abating Auchindrane's malice, he did not cease to stir vp Thomas Kennedie, brother to the lait slayne Barganie, to be assistand to him, in daylie ambushes, for the Erles death; whairin, not prevailling, in respect of the Erles power and circumspectioun; at last, Auchindrane, determining rather to ouerthrow honour, promes, conscience, and all bandis of dewtie, nor³ to misf sum fort of reuenge; he concludit to Murthour the before named Sir Thomas of Cullayne, ane mater most easie to be atcheved; becaus the Gentilman wes, in his owne confait, fullie secured of all parrell fra thair factioun, for that he had absteaned from assisting his newew the Erle in his querrell aganis Barganie, alsweill becaus he wes godfather to Gilbert Kennedie of Barganie, as that his mother and the Erles grandmother be his father, wes ane dochter of the house of Barganie: Which respectis, making him exceidinglie to regrait thair vnnaturall inimitie, he thocht it more agreabill to his dewtie to referue him self newtrall, in thir vnhappie diffentionis of his kinsmen; thairby, to watche occasiounis and referue equall credit and trust of bothe pairties, to be ane instrument of thair reconciliatioun, nor be his kyndnes to one of his kinsmen, be vnnaturall and vndewtifull to the vther.

In this estait, being onlie intentive to his owne adois,⁴ whilk in the moneth of, in the yeir of God,⁵ did requyre his resort to Edinburghe, thair to consult with his lawers in his wech-tie bussines; he send his seruand to Maybole, to seik Auchindrane, and aduerteis him of his purpose; with direction, if he missed him thair, that he sould certifie him, be Letter, of his intended journey; to the effect Auchindrane might, vpon the nixt day, meit him vpon the way, at, and informe him of any thing he wald wish him to do for him in Edinburghe, seing it wes bot one travell for him to do his freindis bussines and his owne. This seruand of Cullaynes, missing Auchindrane in Maybole, desyred Mr Robert Mure scholemajster at Maybole, to wryte ane Letter of that substance to Auchindrane; who did so, and sent it be ane boy of his schole, called William Dalrumpill, who finding Auchindrane at his house of Auchindrane, with his cusing, Walter Mure of Cloncaird, ane deidlie ennemie to the Erle of Cassillis; so sone as he fand him self certified of Cullaynes pourpouse and dyet, he dismissed the boy, commanding him to returne bak in haist, caireing the Letter with him; directing him farder to schaw to his maister and Cullayne's man, that he had not fund him at his howse: And immediatlie thairefter, resolved with his cusing Cloncaird, that this occasioun of reuenge of Barganies Slauchter, be Cullaynes Murthour, wes nocht to be onelipped: And, efter sum deliberatioun, concluded vpon the choise of the actonris, and maner of the execution; making aduertisement thairof, alsweill by Letter sent to Thomas Kennedie of Drummerquhie, be Makadam, futeman to Young Auchindrane, as by message to Cloncaird; who, finding Thomas most reddie to embrace that opportunitie, the said Thomas Kennedie, Walter Mure of Cloncaird, and foure or ffyve seruandis with thame, weill armed and horsed, conuoyeing thame selfis neir the way appoynted be Cullaynes Letter, for his meiting with Auchindrane, didly at await, till Cullaynes hy-cumming; who, being in full securitie of his dangerles estait, ryding vpoun ane paiffing naig,⁶ and having with him ane seruand onlie, thay suddenie surpysed him, and with thair pistoles and suourdis gauie him ane number of deidlie woundis:

¹ Than. ² See a full account of these proceedings in 'THE HISTORIE OF THE KENNEDYIS' before referred to— and also ORIGINAL PAPERS in this Appendix. ³ Rather than be deprived of some sort of revenge against the name of Kennedy. ⁴ Affairs; concerns. ⁵ 11th May, 1602. ⁶ A pacing, ambling nag; a hackney, for his journey; not a swift and powerful horse, by which he might possibly have escaped. See 'The Historie of the Kennedyis.'

And, nocht content to haue so barbarouſſie and traitrouſſie bereft him of his lyfe, ſpoyled him of ane thowſand merk of gold, being in his purſe, ane number of golden buttonis vpon his coat, and ſum ringis and vther jouallis: For the which villanous fact, the actual Mourthouraris being firſt outlawed and thairefter ſforſalted, and Auchindrane, vpon vehement preſumptionis of his devyſe and cauſing execute ſo execrabil ane cryme, being ſummond to vnderly the law, did bouldlie compeir: And ſeing that the perſewaris, for want of ſufficient evidences, wer not than to aduenture his Tryell, fearing that he might be cleuged,¹ and ſo, perpetuallie fred of that cryme; whan he ſaw them adiourne thair perſute, he ſeemed greived thairat, as bragging exceidinglie of his innocencie, whair of he had gevin pruiſ, be offering him ſelf to tryell of law, if thair wer within the kingdome any man of Cullaynes kindred or freindſchip, who wald advow² him any wayes participant of the devyſe or executioun of that Murthour, he wald reddelic offer him ſelf in that querrell to the tryell of COMBAT to the death: And ſo, wanting ane pairtie,³ wes diſmiſſed; more frie, in the perſuaſioun of the moſt pairt of ſuche as wer preſent, nor in his owne conſcience, whilk geiving him many alarmes, that ſo long as Dalrumpill, who wes carrier of the Letter, wes within the cuntrie, the mater might be diſcovered be him. Heiring that Young Cullayne, ſone to Sir Thomas Kennedie, had begun to try him verie rudelic, Auchindrane drew Dalrumpill to his houſe, and keiped him cloiſe, be the ſpace of nyne or ten oulkis;⁴ whairwith the boy weireing exceidinglie, he ſent him thairefter to the Ile of Arrane, to the Laird of Skelmurlie,⁵ his great freind, willing him to keip him as ane boy of Thomas Kennedie of Drumvquhies: Whair he being reſſaued and reteaned ane long ſpace, the boy, finding him ſelf neglected and vnprovyded of many neceſſaris, returned to Munctoun, to the houſe of ane vncle of his owne;⁶ which came no ſoner to Auchindrane's knowledge, bot incontinent he ſent for him to his houſe of Auchindrane, whair he of new kept him cloiſe, whill, be paction with ane of his couſingis, called James Mure of Fleet, he ſend him to Leith, to be transported to the Low-cuntries, to ſerve as ane ſodgeour in the Lord Baleleuchis Regiment;⁷ hoping that he might either thair end his life, be ſuche accidentis as daylie befallis to ſouldiouris, or at leaſt be ſecure from diſcouerie or perſute of ſuche as he did ſtand in feare off. But whan the ſenſeles blindnes of his conſcience had gevin ſentence of perpetuall ſecuritie to him from all diſcouerie of his abominabil tranſgreſſioun, in reſpect of Dalrumpillis abſence, be the ſpace of fyve or ſax yeiris; the ey of Goddis juſtice, whilk never ſleipis, convoyed him back to Aire, the place of his natiuetie, whar, having onlie ſlayed with his mother and ſiſter ane night or two, he did addreſs himſelf to Auchindrane, who, aduerteiſed of his returning, and thairby ſtinged with fearfull tormentis of conſcience, he tuke ordour for Dalrumpillis ſtay in the houſe of his ſeruaud, Walter Mure of Glenheid: And the nixt day, in the afternone, being the . . . day of September, in the yeir of God . . .,⁸ he ſend his houſehald ſeruaud, James Cuninghame, to bring him to him; and rencountering with thame, in his way from his houſe of Auchindrane to ane vther houſe of his, called Ballachtovle,⁹ him ſelf and his ſone, Young Auchindrane, had conference with Dalrumpill ane great pairt of the way, till they came neir the Houſe of Chapeldonan,¹⁰ perteaning, by inheritance, to Auchindrane, and poſſeſſed be his tennent and allye,¹¹ James Bannatyne, with whom they left that night Williame Dalrumpill, calling him be ane changed name, 'Williame Montgomerie:' Whair he ſtayed all the next day, whill, be directioun of Auld Auchindrane, James Bannatyne did bring Dalrumpill, about ten a clok in the night, to the Sands of Girvan, whair John Mure, elder of Auchindrane, and James Mure, younger of Auchindrane, wer attending¹² thair cuming: At meitting, Auld Auchindrane began to declaire to his man Bannatyne that he had bene in perpetuall feare, since Cullaynes Slaughter, to be difcouered as guiltie thair of;—that for efchewing that danger, he had fent furth of the cuntrie this Dalrumpill, who broglt to him the Letter of aduerteifment of Cullaynes dyet; and whan as he had materis at that poynt, as be his trauelis,¹ Young Cullayne and Thomas Kennedie wer maid to allow of the conditionis whilk he had fet downe for reconciliatioun of thair querrell, for the Murthour of Cullaynes father, this man wes unhappellie returned, be whom his whole devyfe wald be difapoynted, and his danger renewed. That he faw no remeid bot to red Dalrumpill furth of this lyfe, fince he could not vtherwayes be kept out of his way. Whairvnto Bannatyne making anfuer, that it wes ane cruel pourpofe to Murthour the poure innocent youth, fpeciallie feing thay might fend him to Ireland, to be faiflie keiped thair, till the agrieance wes perfytted betuix Cullayne and Drumrquhie: Auld Auchindrane femed to inclyne fumwhat to that expedient; and in the uncertaintie of his refolution, turning towardis the pairt whar his fone fluid, of pourpofe, as appeired, to have confulted with him, Young Auchindrane perfaved thame no foner (draw) neir, bot, thairby affuring himfelf of thair affiftance, in executioun of that whilk his father and he had formerlie concluded, he did violentlie inuade Dalrumpill, rufhed him to the ground, and never left him till, helped by his father, with his handis and kneis he had ftrangled him. And then, thinking to have buried him in the Sandis, whirby no mark fould remayne² whilk might raife any fufpicion of his Murthour, in that place, thay preaffed to mak vfe of ane fpead and fchoule whilk Young Auchindrane had broglt with him for the pourpofe; bot finding that no hole wes foner caffin be thame in the Sand, bot wes alfone filled agane with the water and fand that fchot in it, thay wer forced, efter lang travell, to draw him in the fea, alsfar as they durft wade, hoping that ane vtterlie wind³ fould carie his deid corps to the Coaft of Ireland: Whilk not fuceceiding according to thair expectatioun, the corps ftaying all the nixt day in the verie place whar they left it, they paffed that day in meruelous anxietie, for feir of difcouerie; till the nixt night, fearching the corps to have buried it, they could not, be any fearcher, find it, becaus the winde had carried it to the Sea, whair it wes toffed continuallie be the fpace of fyve nychtis, till the Fryday following, that God, deineing (deigning) to vfe that meane, for manifefatioun of thair hid iniquities, broglt Dalrumpilis corps bak to the verie place whair, fex or feven dayis before, he had been Murthoured: Whilk being perfaved be fum cuntrie peopill, the corps wes cairied be thame to the nixt Church yeard, and thair buried.

¹ Literally cleansed; acquitted. ² Avow; openly challenge. ³ Pursuer or proſecutor. ⁴ Weeks. ⁵ Sir Robert Montgomery. He married Margaret, eldeſt daughter of the Laird of Drumlanrig, Sir William Douglas. ⁶ It cannot be traced who this individual was. ⁷ SIR WALTER SCOTT, who raiſed a regiment of his name, and ſerved in the Wars of Maurice, Prince of Orange, againſt the Spaniards. For his ſingular merit and ſervices, he was, Mar. 16, 1606, created Lord Scott of Buccleuch, being the firſt perſon of that celebrated Family who had been ennobled. His ſon, Walter, ſecond Lord Scott of Buccleuch, alſo commanded a Regiment in the ſervice of the States of Holland, and was created Earl of Buccleuch, Lord Whitecheſter, and Eskdale, Mar. 16, 1619. ⁸ 1607. ⁹ Situated near Girvan. ¹⁰ Situated about a mile and a half from Girvan, on the ſea-ſhore. ¹¹ 'Kinnisman to his wyfe' is deleted, and 'allye' interlined. ¹² Waiting. Fr. attendre.

Bot the report of fo ftrange ane accident, having raifed fufpicion in the Erle of Caffillis and fum of his friendis, who had heard of Dalrumpilis returning in the cuntrie, that it might be he had pairt in that turne, it wes thought fit be the Erle and dyueris of the Miniftrie⁴ of that boundis, that intimation fould publictly be maid in Aire, being the heid burgh of the fchyre, and at the Paroche-Kirkis to landward, that fuche ane corps, being fund deid vpoun the coaft, wes to be fene at the Church of Girvan. Whilk being accordinglie publeiffed, the corps wes raifed, and amongs vtheris, fighted be Dalrumpilis mother and his ffifter, who efter diligent confideration of the propoition and markis of his bodie, affured thamefelfis and vtheris, that he wes the mourthoured man! The opinion of *Auchindrane*s guiltines of that Murthour becam fo vniuerfall, as it began to be talked of amongis his owne feruandis and in his owne houfe, and thairby himfelf, his fone, and thair man Bannatyne, fo confuted, as thay knew not how to cleir thame felf of that vylde imputation; till going to Aire, and meitting with James Dalrumpill,⁵ eufing germane to Young Auchindrane, by his mother, he did informe thame of the fchamefull opinion wes had of thair guiltines of that foule Murthour; advyfing thame, that feing it wes not faif for thame, to offer thame felfis to the Tryell of Law, for ane Murthour, whair of all men thought thame fo guiltie; and if thay, being challanged be the Erle of Caffillis, fould be fugitive for fo haynous a cryme, thair freindis could not with credit do for thame.⁶ It was fitter, that they fould kill Hew Kennedie of Garriehorn, fervant to the Erle of Caffillis, for dyueris proba-bill querrellis whilk they had against him : Whair of the occasion did presentlie offer, in respect of his being singill ¹ in Aire ; whilk being done, thay might ever pretend, that the danger of that cryme, and feir of the rigour of the Erle, wes the onlie caus for the whilk thay wer fugitiue ! In whilk caice, nevertheles, thair freindis might, without reproche, do for thame ; becaus, albeit the fact wes vulaufull, it wes not dishonest, since it proceeded vpon professed querrelis, and might be done publictie ; and so, thay be fugitiue, without infamie ! They presentlie imbrafed the expedient, and provyding thame selfis of pistoles and vther armour, thay invaded Gariehorne,² schott thair pistoles, and vsed all vther meanes to have killed him. Bot finding, that it wes ane mater more difficill, to ouirthrow ane gentilman, armed with gude courage, in ane lauffull defense, nor³ to Murthour innocent men, voyde of apprehension of danger and meanes of defence, all that thay reported of that inuasion, wes ane hurt of Young Auchindrane in his right hand, whairby he became almost lame of it.

¹ Pains; trouble.² By burying him within the flood-mark; so that, on the reflux of the tide, all marks of the struggle and foot-marks, &c. might be effaced.³ An off-shore or outward wind.⁴ Clergy; Ministers.⁵ 'Sisteris sone to the Lady Auchindrane, and so eufing,' deleted.⁶ Support or maintain them, while fugitive.

Be this new iniurie, THE ERLE OF CASSILLIS persaving that thair lyves wald end, before thair malice aganis him sould diminish, he resolued to strengthen him self be all siche aduantage as Law sould giue him ; and having chalenged thame bothe for the Murthour of Dalrympill, and for the Inuasion of his seruant with prohibit vapinis,⁴ thay go to the horne ;⁵ professing alwayes, that if thair vsing pistoles aganis Gariehorne might be remitted to thame, thay wald ever be reddie to enter and abyde Tryell of Dalrumpillis Murthour. Bot his Maestie, being trewlie informed of thir proceedingis, efter serious considerationn of the circumstancis, than confaued so constant ane opinion of Auchindrane and his sones guiltines of Dalrumpillis Murthour, that he assured him self, that if thay wer tane and dewlie examined, thay wald vndoutedlie be brocht to confess it. And thairbye, inspyred with his accustomed zeale to justice, gave secret Commissioun to the Erle of Abercorne, that he wald not omit ony occasion to apprehend those suspected personis ; whairin the Erles diligence had so gud succes, that within schort space, he did rencounter and tak Auld Auchindrane, and enter him prisoner in the Towbuith of Edinburgh ; whair of, hes sone had no sone knowledge, bot imaging with him self, that it wer easie for his father and him self to conceall thair crymes, be obstinat secrecie, if Bannatyne sould not be brocht, by examination and confrontation, to reuale the treuth and discredit thair denyall ; he instantly raid to Ballintrae, whair Bannatyne wes for the tyme, persued him, for all thair saifties, to retire to Ireland ; provyded and furneissed him with victuallis and necessaris, aue bot⁶ for his transport, recommended him, by his Letteris, to his vnclie Thomas Kennedie of Drumviquie,⁷ gave him assurance that be his absence, he sould not tak any profiteit of the land quhilk he had of thame, nor no vther help, whil thay wer abill to mak to him. And be Bannatynes remove, becuming confident, did suspend his Horningis, be caution for his compearance to vnderly law ; desyring no thing so muche as that he might be precipitatlie put to ane Assyse ; vpon hope, that the lak of verification, in ane mater so clandestine and obscure, and the assistance of his great and gude freindis, sould procure to him vndouted absolutour ;⁸ and thairby, being frie of all dangeris of law, wald be more abill to procure his ffatheris libertie and declaratioun of his innocencie. Bot, being anis entered, examined, and vpon great caution⁹ lett to libertie, and thairefter his cautioner chaired to re-enter him, he, remitting no jote of his former confidence, compeired the day appoynted, and being than re-examinat, and be the commendabill industrie of my Lord Chancelar, and vtheris of the Counfall, appoynted for his Tryall, drawne in sum materiall contrarietie ; vpon signification thair of to his Maestie, directioun wes returned, that not onlie he sould be reteaned, bot if he wer obstinat, sould be coerced, be Tortour, to discouer the trewth ! Whilk being accordingly performed, be those of his Maesties Counfall, to whois secrecie and faith that charge wes committed ; the Young Auchindrane, pairtlie confirmed be the strenth of his great courage, unhappelic bestowed in pruiffis of that kynd, and pairtlie be the craftie advyfes and aduerteifments of his ffather, convoyed to him be the counfile of fum thair welwillaris, who take the advantage of the cairelefines of thair keiparis; he did endure the extremitie of that infufferabill torment, with fuche conftancie, that whairas, it wes hoped that the veritie of the accusation and extremitie of payne fould have forced him to ane trew Confefioun, the event proved fo far contrarie, as he refolving, with filence, and fouffrance of ane fchort payne, to redeme his libertie, and to adde the hope of many yeiris to his lyfe.

¹ Single ; unaccompanied. ² Hew Kennedie of Gariehorne, called in the Act of Secret Council, Feb. 5, 1602, ' The Guidman of the Ballot,' probably from being Lessee or tacksman of that farm. ³ Than. ⁴ Wappinnis, weapons, which were by Act of Parliament prohibited from being used by private gentlemen, excepting in his Majesty's service. ⁵ Permit themselves to be denounced rebels and put to the horn, by virtue of Letters of Horning passing under the Signet, rather than present themselves for trial, as was previously arranged. ⁶ Boat.

⁷ One of the forfeited murderers of Sir Thomas Kennedy. ⁸ Acquittal. Lat. absolvere. ⁹ Bail ; security.

The moft pairt of thofe who hard of the event of that Tryall, the forme whairof wes muche miflyked, did confaue fo constant opinion of his innocencie, as not onlie the vulgar fort did publeis the fame, and regrait the extraordinary rigour vfed aganis him, bot fum Nobilmen and Counfallouris did affist his Supplicationis for his libertie, alledgeing many reafonis, why, with reafon, it could not be refufed him: That ane man of his birth and qualitie had reffaued hard aneuch meafour, being put to Tortour for ane cryme whilk nather did concerne his Maiefties perfone nor eftait, albeit, efter fo gude prui of his innocencie, be his fingular conftancie in fuffering that tryell; whilk no thing could have refifted, bot the integritie of ane vnfpotted confcience; he fould not be ouercharged with ane fecund oppreffion, in denying to him his natie and lafull libertie; fince he did offer aither to vndergo preffent tryell, or, if his enemies did rather chufe, to prorogat it to ane tyme more fit for thame, he wes content to find caution, not vnder the pane of ane thoufand merkis preferyved be Act of Parlement to ane man of his eftait, bot, for removing of all fcruple of his not compeirance, he fould bind his freindis vnder the payne of Twentie Thousand poundis for his re-entrie, whanfoever he fould be chairged to that effect: Which wes fo oft requyred and vehementlie preaffed, that my Lord Chancellor, ouereum with the continouall importunitie of Young Auchindranes favouraris, did yeild, that aduerteifment fould go from the Counfall to HIS MAIESTIE, of Auchindranes fate, and of the inclination of ane great pairt of the Counfall to yeild to the fam. Whairwith, his Maieftie, no whit diverted from his former refolution, fignified his pleafour to be, that in no caice, nor vpoun no condicioun, he fould have ony libertie; being refolved in his confcience, that he wes moft guiltie of that Mourthour; and that God, in his iufstice and appoynted tyme, wald manifef the fam: Whairby, my Lord Chancellor, ftrenthened be the exprefs Warrant of his Maiefties directioun, proceeding of his Royall motine and certain knowledge, did fo dewlie obey his Maiefties command, that many tymes thairefter, whan the moft pairt of the Counfall, abufed with vntrew probabilities, and inclining to muche prepofterous pitie, did preafs that Young Auchindranes Supplication might be red and refaue anfueir from the Counfall, be the voices of the moft pairt of thofe who wer preffent, according to the inftitution thairof and cultume inviolablie obferued.

My Lord Chancelar, perfaving, be thair vttering of thais preconfaued opinions, that be pluralitie of voeces it wald be ordaned that libertie fould be granted to Auchindrane, vpoun caution, vnder great fowmes for his re-entrie whan he fould be chairged; did oppone to thair opinioun, grounded vpon the vfual forme of that judicatur, his Maiefties expres commandement, proceeding from his abfolute Royall power, whilk he wald never bring in queftioun, fince no man could deny that his Maieftie, vpon caufes knowne to him felf, might commit and reteane in wairde any of his fubiectis, who in his confcience he knew to differue the fam; and that it wes prefumption to his fubiectis, fpeciallie Counfallouris, any wayes to conteft in that poynt, efter his Maiefties lafull pleafour fo oft and fo expreffie declaired.

My nobill Lord, it wer heir verie eafie for me to iufstie the courfe of HIS MAIESTIES proceeding in this particular, and not onlie refute the popular errour of the prefumptuous multitude, bot alfo, with infallibill reafonis, to condemn the vntymous pitie of fum of better fort, nather remembring the obligatioun of thair place, nor the pruiffis of fo many bypaff accidentis, whairin his Maieftie, voyde of all paffioun and particular,¹ and onlie moved by confcience, and loue of iufstie, had funnwhat diuerted from the common pathe of ordinar Justice, without respect to popular murmour ; so let the world to sie, in end, be his most notabill conclusionis, how his purposes, tending to vnpartiall Justice, wer assisted be the fauour of God, and be heavenlie inspirationis, conducted to endis, confortabill, and almost miraculous ! Bot, becaus I falbe more abill perfittie to performe that pairt, whan in the end of this actioun I falbe strengthened be the credit of ane faithfull and conscionabill Assyse, and muche more be the Confessioun of the pairties, extorted be the power and Providence of God, I will referue it that place ; and following furth the course of this Narratiue, subioyne thairto the Judicial Procedure and Sentence, whilk was never thocht to be in the way of any probabill expectatioun, till the Erle of Abercorne, by secret and instant dealling with sum of his freindis in Ireland, fand meanis to tak James Bannatyne, and bring him to Scotland, to his howse of Paislay ; whair Bannatyne, efter the reherfall of all that Tragedie of Dalrumpills Murthour, having subioyned the maner of his owne taking, whairin he feimded to acclame sum promeis, maid for the saistie of his lyfe : The Erle did forthwith iudge that dealling, so contrare to his honour and his Maiesties intention, as he instantlie assured Bannatyne, that he never did intend to haue him vpon any futch conditionis. Bot being vnwilling that whan he sould be presented to justice, he sould reproche to him the brek of condicion maid be any whom he had employed for his apprehensoun, whairby the heararis might tak libertie, aither to beleve or not beleve Bannatyne's affirmatioun, and thairby bring his honour in question ; he gaue to him libertie to go frie out of his house, with assurance, that for the space of ten dayes he sould be vnperfewed be him or any of his, geving him space to provyde for his saistie, aither within this realme, or be removing furth thairof ; aduerteising him thairwithall, that that terme being expyred, he wald bestow his owne travels and the assistance of all the friendis he had in the world to apprehend him, whairever he might be had, either quick or dead ! So Bannatyne, being left to ane bodelie libertie, whilk neuer fred him of terrour of conscience, and fear of death, alswell in respect of the suorde of his Maiesteis Justice hanging aboue his head, as that endles perfute, whilk he knew the Erle of Abercorne did intend against him ; bot most of all, in respect of his knowedge, that Auchindrane had, of lait, devyfed and practeifed many meanes to cause Murthour him in Ireland, thairby to prevent the danger quhilk Bannatynes Confessioun might bring vpon him, if, be falling in the Erle of Abercornes handis, he sould haue bene broght to Ed^t, examined and confronted with him and his sone : Being also informed, that whan Young Auchindrane caused deale with the Erle of Dumbar for his libertie, he had offered that his cautioneris sould bring Bannatyne in, aither quick or deid ! The Erle had verie judiciouslie ansuered, that he did well believe that Young Auchindrane, being frie, wald vnfaynedlie do his best to bring in Bannatynes head, whairof for his pairt he wald be sorie, as losing ane of the best meanis of the discoverie of thair guiltines, whairof he in his conscience wes resolued ! Thir considerationis did force Bannatyne to profrat him self at the Counsals seit, offering him self, without any condition, to reveill the whole treuth of that Murthour, and to verifie all that he sould say in Auchindrane and his sonis face ; hoping, be the assistance of Gods gude Spirit, to bring thame to ane Confessioun of that vdenyabill treuth ; onlie craiving, that if the Counfall fand him trew in all his speachis, and to be ane meanes to discover the wickednes of these men, who, having drawn him vnhappellie in the participation of thair mischief, had so ingratelie and wickedlie devyfed to Murthour him self, thar Lordschips wald be pleased to recommend him to the Kingis mercie, whois pleasour he sould joyfullie fulfill, wer it in his lyfe or in his death !

¹ Partiality; bias, or leaning to the quarrel or caufe of either of the parties.

He wes commanded to mak ane trew Narration of the maner of Dalrumpills death ; whilk being writt be the Clerk of Counfall, and Auld Auchindrane broght in and examined and confronted with him, and being contrare to him in all the poyntis of his Deposition ; afferming impudentlie, that Bannatyne wes seduced and conduced be his vnfreindis (enemies), for desyre of his lyfe and landis, to avow these vtreathis vpon him. They wer so directlie opposite to vtheris, as Auchindrane appeired more craftie and Bannatyne more simple and trew in his Deposition ; bot bothe of thame so confident, that not onlie evrie ane of thame menteaned thair owne Declaracione; bot whare as Bannatyne had prostrat him self vpon his kneis, and directing his eyes and handis to Heaven, had, with tearis, exhorted Auchindrane 'to have remorfe of his great wickednes, and to confes that Murthour, whilk God wald not suffer him any longer to conceale! Assuring him, that if he had bene innocente of that cryme, all the land of the Kindome, se¹ the faitie of his owne lyfe, fould never haue persuaded them (him) to pre-judge his maister, who he had so deirly loved and followed in many dangeris, whairin he had adventured his lyfe and estait, without feir or respect of the best subiectis in the cuntrie.'—AUCHINDRANE answered, that 'he hoped God wald nocht so reiect him, as to permit him to confes so infamous vntrewth of him self, and douted not bot God wald move Bannatyne to beir witnes to his innocencie, and how, be what perfonis and meanes, he had been seduced fallie to accuse him!'

Whairby, the Counfall, being broght in admiration² of so great obstinacie, and hoping that the sone, being confronted with Bannatyne, might be fund perhappis lefs confident: When thay wer broght in thair presence, and examined, confronted, re-examined, and tryed, be all the best meanes that the experience or judgement of wyfe and well affected Counsalouris could affurd; nothing wes hard bot direct contrarieties, confidentlie confirmed be execrabil oathes! So dyeris whole dayes being spent in Examination of these parties, and many Witneses who wer thought ony wayes abill to furneis light to this obscure caice.

At last, whan no hope of any farder discouerie wes expected, THE LORDIS OF SECREIT COUNSALL concluded, that vpon the day of July instant, these perfonis fould be put to thair TRYALL: And for that pourpose caused Summond ane sufficient number of Gentilmen of gud report, to pas vpon thair ASSYSE; and did lykwayes appoynt my Lords President,³ Secretar,⁴ Justice Clark,⁵ Meidhop,⁶ Killyth,⁷ and Wrightifland,⁸ to be ASSESSOURIS to the Justice in this singular cause, whairin the inclination of the peopell wes so fauorabill to Auchindrane and his sone, that verie many did allege, that it wes requirit that Bannatyne fould be first put to an Assyse; and being convict, as of necessitie he behoued to be, in respect of his owne Confessioun, and Execute to the death, as he had well deserved; his constant ratification vpon the scaffald of his former Depositionis, and seilling the fame with his bloude, at his death, might than put thame in sum opinion of Auchindrane's guiltines, whair of vtherwayes they had never sene any appearance. Bot the Lordis of Counfall, thinking it more agreabill to reason, that⁹ [those?] who wer thought all guiltie of ane fact, fould go to ane com [mon Assise?] and that the gentilmen of Assyse, whos consciences [might?] susteane the chaarge of the Judgement to be gevin in so we [ightie?] a cause, fould haue all the thrie Defendaris at ones in thair presence, that so thairby they might be resolued of whatsoeuer they fould think fit to demand of thame. Thair Lordschipis followed thair first ordonnance, and vpon the said [17th] day of Julie, efter ellevin a klok, cumming to the ordinar place of Jugement, did cause bring the Defendaris from thair feural prisonis to the bar, whair Sir Thomas Hamilton of Byres, Knight, his Maiesties Aduocat, compeiring as persewar, did exhibit ane DITTAY aganis the saidis Defendaris, desyring my LORD JUSTICE to put thame to the Tryall of ane Assyse; who, intending no wayes to preiudge the Defendaris of the benefite of Law, gave to thame libertie to name those whom thay desyred to be forespokeris¹⁰ for thame in thair defence; who naming¹¹ ['Mr Johne Ruffell, Aduocat, Mr Thomas Nicolson, Aduocat, and Joseph Myller, Aduocat,'] thay wer presentlie called be thair names; and having accepted vpon thame the Defense of the Lairdis of Auchindrane, elder and younger, the Dittay wes oppinlie red in judgement: Aganis which James Bannatyne did not oppone any thing; bot declaired, that as he wald not vse any defence why this mater fould nocht pas to the knowledg of an Assyse; so when the

¹ Yea. ² Astonishment. ³ Sir John Preston of Fenton-barns, President of the Court of Session. ⁴ Sir Alexander Hay.

⁵ Sir John Cockburn of Ormiston. ⁶ Sir Alexander Drummond, an Extraordinary Lord of Session.

⁷ Sir William Levingston, an Extraordinary Lord of Session. ⁸ Sir Lewis Craig.

⁹ The MS. torn at this and the following places, which the Editor has supplied from conjecture, within brackets.

¹⁰ Counsel, or Prelocutors. ¹¹ Left blank. The names within brackets are taken from the Record.

Affyre fould be chofen, he fuld mak thair burding light, granting in thair prefence fo muche of the Dittay as concerned him, albeit he take God to witnes, that he wes the maift innocent of the thrie.

Thairefter M^{rs} Johne Ruffell and Thomas Nicolfoun, having exponed to my Lord Justice the groundis of the caufe, the qualitie of the Defenderis meriting fauour and respect, the rigour vfed aganis thame in thair lang captiuitie, and extraordinar Tortour of the young man, did craive, that thay might have the benefite of law, whilk allowed to the Defenderis citatioun vpoun fiftene dayes wairning; whairby, reffaving the Copie of the Summondis, containing the Inditement to the whilk thay wer to anfuer, thay might, be that fpace, be advyfit of thair wyfe freindis and learned Counfall, to prepar thair juft Defenis. Whairvnto it wes anfuered, be his Maiefties Aduocat, that thair defyre could not be granted in this caufe, be reafoun, the crymes whairof thay wer to be accused wer treasonabill; in which caice, ane prifoner, being broght from his Maiefteis prifon to the bar, wes, be the ordour of this Judgement,¹ put to prefent Tryall, without any delay or continewation; whilk, with no reafons, could be granted to thame at this tyme; becaus, thrie yeiris ago, thay had bene fummoned for the fame crymes, vpon xv dayes wairning; at whilk tyme, they going to the horne, for thair contumacie, the Auld Laird wes takin be his Maiefties Commiffion, the Young Laird relaxing his [Summondis and entering] had bene deteaned be his Maiefties direction; fo that they had not onlie fyvetene dayes, bot full thrie yeires to prepara thair defenis.

The Defenderis than alledged, that the fummonds, produced be the Lord Aduocat, could not juftlie feclude thame of thair defyre of delay, becaus the Dittay this day produced be him, wes fo different from the tenour of the ould Letteris, in many fubftantiall heidis, and did fo aggravat the cryme, be many circumftances, nowayes mentioned in the former Letteris, that it wes eafie to my Lord Justice and the Lord Affeffouris to difcerne, that no thing conteaned in the former Letteris, could have gotin thame information to prepara thair Defenfes aganis the tenour of the Dittay now layd to thair charge. Which, being confidered be the Lord Justice and Affeffouris, and the auld Letteris and prefent Dittay exactlie conferred;² be Interlocutour, thay ordained prefent proces, refufing to give the Defenderis any vther copie of the Dittay, or delay of proces, till the nixt day.⁵

II. PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF SCOTLAND, in reference to the Feuds and Conflicts recorded in the preceding Trial, &c.

(i.) WARRANT of Privy Council, (Apud Edinburgh, Decimo tercio Decembris, 1601.) commanding the Earl of Caffillis to fet Mure of Auchindrane and others at liberty.

FORSAMEKILL as it is vnderftand to the Lordis of Secrete Counfall, that at the lait CONFLICT and Combat, quhilk hapnit and fell out betuix JOHNNE ERLE OF CASSILLIS, and certane his freindis, on the ane pairt; and GILBERT KENNEDY OF BARGANY, and certane his freindis, on the vther pairt, vpoun the elleviut day of December infant; the faid Erle tuik and apprehendit MURE OF AUCHINDRANE, DAUID KENNEDY of Maxuelfoun, and certane vthers of the faid Laird of Auchindrane and Barganyis fernandis; and prefentlie hes thame in his custodie and keeping: And in respect of the Slauchter and bluid quhilk hapnit and fell out at the faid Conflict, it is verie fufpicious that the faid perfonis fould be fufferit to remane in the powar and handis of the faid Erle. THAIRFOIR, the faid Lordis Ordanis Letteris to be direct, chargeing the faid Erle of Caffillis to defist and ceis fra all proceeding aganis the perfonis foirfaidis, tane and apprehendit be him at the faid Conflict, be vertew of his office of Bailzerie, or of ony powar or commiffioun grantit to him for that effect; difchargeing him thair of and of his office in that part : As alſua, chairgeing the ſaid Erle to cauſe ſett the ſaid Laird of Auchindrane and David Kennedy of Maxwelfoun, and all vtheris perſonis tane be him at the ſaid Conflict, at frie libertie, within the toun of Air, without ony violence or harme to be maid to thame be the way, within tuentie four houris nixt efter the chairge ; vnder the pane of rebellious, &c. And, gif he failzie, &c., to denunce him rebell, &c.

¹ The practice of this Tribunal. ² Collated; compared with each other. ³ Here the Narrative ends abruptly. As the Report of the Trial is so full, it is likely that the writer had abandoned his original intention of giving a report of the proceedings which took place at the Trial—but merely to resume his Narrative, and continue it down to the period of their execution. This, however, if ever completed, has unfortunately been kept out of the scrolls. An account of the subsequent conduct of these atrocious criminals between the period of their condemnation and execution, must have possessed great interest.

(ii.) WARRANT of Privy Council, (Apud Haltryuidhous, quarto Februarij, 1607.) to denounce JOHN MURE of Auchindrane and others.

SEDERUNT.

Lennox,	Fyvie,	Lowdown,	Kinlofs,	Previe feill,	Kilfyth,
Chancellor,	Vchiltrie,	Maifter of El-	Haltryuidhous,	Aduocat,	Tracquair,
Angus,	Newbottle,	phingftoun,	Theſaurar,	Collectour,	Brunt-Iland,
Mar,	Spynie,	Rofs,	Comptrollar,	Clericus Regiftri,	Sir Patrik Mur-
Wyntoun,	Roxburgh,	Dunkeld,	Juſtice-Clerk,	Elimoſinar,	ray.

ANENT oure ſouerane lordis Letteris, raifed at the inſtance of Sir George Home of Spott, knyght, his Maieſteis Theſaurer, and Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcainre, his Maieſteis Aduocat, for his hienes entereſe ; makand mentioun : That quhair, vpoun the ellevint day of December inſtant, JOHN MURE of Auchindrane, Thomas Kennedy of Drummurchy, Hew Kennedy of Bennan, Walter Mure of Cloncard, Hector Kennedy in Bargany, Johne M^calexander in Auchingregane, Thomas M^calexander his broder, James Bannatyne in Chapeltonane, Johne Cathcart of Carloun, Johne Cathcart ſounger of Carloun, Johnne Eccleis of Kildonane, Williame Irwing, Thomas Wallace ſeruitour to the Laird of Bargany, Johne M^calexander of Dalreoch, Thomas Dalrumpill brother to the Laird of Stair, Gilbert Kennedy in Pynmaehir, Gilbert Ramſay ſeruitour to the Laird of Bargany, Moſes Lokhart brother to the Laird of Bar, David Kennedy in Maxvelſtone, Alexander Kennedy ſone to Hew Kennedy in Craigneill, Robert Kennedy ſeruitour to Walter Mure of Cloncard, Mairtene Wilfoun in Newwark, Robert Campbell in Carnychell, Williame Cauldwell of Lochirmoſs, Williame Kennedy in Garfer, Johne Mure of Craigkeane, Johne Mure in Quhytleis, Robert Wallace of Holmiſtoun, George Angus notar in Air, Symone Gilmour thair, Peter Hammiltoun thair, Andro Kennedy thair, Henry Dalruple thair, Hew Kennedy thair, James Blair thair, Johne Blair thair, George Dumbar thair, George M^calmont thair, James Dumbar thair, and . . . Kennedy cowpar thair, with convocatioun of his hienes leigeis, to the nowmer of . . . perſonis ; all bodin in feir of weir, with jakis, corflettis, ſecrettis, lancis, and vtheris waponis, inuaſive, and with muſcattis, haquebuttis, and piſtolettis, prohibit to be worne be the lawis of this realme, Actis of Parliament and Secrete Counfall, come furth of the burgh of Air, towardis the toun of Mayboill, reſoluit and diſpoſit to haue attemptit ſome heich interpryſe aganis JOHN ERLE OF CASSILLIS, in cais thay had found him vpoun the feildis : LYKES AS, thay perſaving the ſaid Erle and ſome of his frendis and ſervandis to be vpoun the feildis, befyd the toun of Mayboill, thay immediatlie ſet vpoun thame, ſchot and diſchairgit a nowmer of muſcattis, haquebuttis and piſtolettis amang thame, quhairwith thay flew v^mq^e . . . Spence, maifter of houſhold to the ſaid Erle, and hurt and woundit ſindrie vtheris of his ſervandis : Quhairthrow, as thay haue convocat his hienes leigis in armes, without powar or commiſſioun, ſua haue thay violat his hienes lawis and Actis of Parliament, maid aganis the beiring and weiring of haquebuttis and piſtolettis ; and with that, thay haue brokin his hienes peace, to the diſturbance and ſchaikin lowſe of the hail eſtait of that cuntrey, without remeid be prouydit. AND anent the chairge gevin to the ſaid JOHN MURE OF AUCHINDRANE, &c. to haue compeirit perſonallie, befor the Kingis Maieſtie and Lordis of Secrete Counfall, at ane certane day bigane, to haue anſuerit to the premiſſes, and to haue vnderlyne ſic ordour as ſould haue bene tane thairanent ; as alſua, tuicheing the obſeruatioun of his hienes peace and keiping of guid reull and quyetnes in the cuntrey, vnder the paine of rebellious and putting of thame to the horne : With certificatioun to thame, and (if) thay failzeit, Letteris ſould be direct ſimpliciter to put thame thairto : Lyke as at mair lenth is contenit in the said Letteris, executionis and indorfationis thair-of. Quhillkis being callit, and the saidis Perfewaris compeirand personallie, and the saidis Johne Mure of Auchindrane, &c. being oftymes callit and not compeirand, The Lordis of Secrete Counfall thair-foir Ordains Letteris to be direct, to denunce thame rebellis, and put thame to the horne, and to escheit.

(iii.) DECRET OF ABSOLVITOR, (Apud Haliruidhous, quinto Februarij, 1602,) by the Privy Council, in favor of JOHN EARL OF CASSILLIS and others, 'for convocatioun of his hienes lieges, and beiring and weiring of hacquebuttis and pistolettis, breking of his hienes peace.'

SEDERUNT.

Chancellor,	Fyvie,	Blantyre,	Secretar,	Prevey feill,	Kilfyth,
Ergyll,	Lowdown,	Haliruidhous,	Comptrollar,	Aduocat,	Sir Patrik Murray,
Angus,	Roxburgh,	Thefaurar,	Collectour,	Tracquair,	Elimofinar.

ANENT OURE fouerane lordis Letteris, raised at the instauce of Sir George Home of Spot, knycht, hie hienes thefaurane, and Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcairne, his Maiesteis Aduocat, for his hienes intereffe; makand mentioun: That quhair, vpoun the ellevint day of December instant, JOHNE ERLE OF CASSILLIS, Johne Corrie of Kelwod, Hew Kennedy of Penquhirry, Johne Davidfoun of Pennyglen, Oliver Baird of Culleingie, Patrik Mcilveane elder of Gremnat, Johne Mcilveane 3ounger of Gremmat, Hew Kennedy of Garryhorne, vtherwayis callit the Guidman of the Ballot, George Fergufoun of Thraif, Alexander Schaw tutour of Gremmat, Johne Mure of Wodland, Johne Mure of Kingmarloch, Johne Dik of Barbesburie,¹ Hew Kennedy of Dangar, Anthone Kennedy 3ounger of Barfalloch, Johne Mure merchant in Mynyboill (Maybole), Quintene Crawford 3ounger of Silliholl, Johne Kennedy of Smetoun, Williame Kennedy of Turneberry, Johne Campbell in Barnefurd, Johne Smyth 3ounger in Caffillis, Johne Calderwode in Girmerstoune, Johne Fultoune in Giltryhill, Johne Fultoune in Mofend, Alexander Baxter porter, Williame Harlaw hagbutter, Robert Fultoun in Giltryhill, Johne Fultoune in Bargennoch, David Fultoun his brother, Thomas Fultoune in Giltrie, Thomas Wode in Caffillis, Quintene Tod in Caffillis, James Davidfoun in Burnemoith, Johne Davidfoun his sone, Johne Mcolme in Mcolmestoun, Johne Malcome in Blairbouy, Johne Bell in Mcolmestoune, Thomas Mortoune in Caffillis, Johne Mortoun his broder thair, Johne Mcary thair, Johne Smyth in Dalruple-holme, Williame Huntar thair, James Corry in Bray of Dalruple, David Mcquhorta in Batlewand, William Campbell in Bra thair, Robert Cunynghame in Bateifloun, Johne Smyth in Drumgoblis, &c.² all men, tenmentis, fervandis, and proper dependaris vpoun the said Erle, with convocatioun of his Maiesteis liegeis, to the nowmer of hundreth perfonis, all bodin in feir of weir, with jakis, steil-bonnettis, corflettis, lancis, and vtheris waponis invafue, and with hacquebuttis and pistolettis, prohibite to be worne be the lawis of this realme and Actis of Parliament; come in hostile and weirlyk maner furth of the toune of Mayboill, and lay at await for vmq^{le} GILBERT KENNEDY of Bargany, his freindis and fervandis, as thay wer comeing the hie way fra the burgh of Air towardis the said Lairdis awne duelling hous, and invadit and perfewit thame of thair lyffis, schot and difchairgit a nowmer of hacquebuttis and pistolettis at thame, quhairwith findric of the said Laird of Barganyis cumpany wer hurt and woundit; and at that fame tyme, thay schamefullie, cruellie, and vnmercifullie stew the said vmq^{le} Gilbert Kennedy of Bargany: QUIAIRTHROW, as thay haue convocat his hienes liegeis in airmes, without ony lauchfull Warrant or autoritie, sua haue thay violat his hienes lawis and Actis of Parliament maid aganis the beiring and weiring of hacquebuttis and pistolettis, and with that, thay haue brokin and diffoluit his hienes peace in that cuntrey; quhairby mony inconvenientis are lyke to fall out, to the trouble and disquyeting of the hail cuntrey, without remeid be provydit. AND anent the charge gevin to the saidis Johne Erle of Caffillis, Capitane Johne Forrester, ¹ Barbestoune. ² A List of one hundred and thirty more names follows. They are unnecessary to be inserted here, though they might no doubt be of some local interest. None of them are persons of rank.

Mr Cristopher Cokburne, Quintene Craufurd, Patrik Reidpeth, Williame Maitland, Williame Fleming, Alexander Forbes, household-men to the said Erle, Anthone Kennedy younger of Balscheroch, Arthour Kennedy his brother, Mr Williame Boyd, Andro Cuninghame, David Girvan, Thomas Kennedy, David Cathcairt, Alexander Baxter, Williame Harlaw, David Craufurd, David Gray, Johne Blair, alsua his householdmen and seruantis, Johne Corrie of Kelwode, Hew Kennedy of Penquhirry,¹ &c. to haue compeirit personallie: As alsua anent the chairage gevin to the said Erle of Cassillis, to haue enterit and presentit the personis particularlie aboue writtin befor the Kingis Maiestie and Lordis of Secreit Counfall at ane certane day bigane, to haue anfuert to the premisses, and to haue vnderlyne sic ordour as fould haue bene tane thairanent; as alsua, tuicheing the obseruatioun of his hienes peace and keiping of guid ruell and quyetnes in the cuntrey, heirefter, vnder the paine of rebelloun and putting of thame to the horne, with certificatioun to thame and² thay failzeit, Letteris fould be direct simpliciter to put thame thairto; lyk as at mair lenth is contenit in the saidis Letteris, executionis, and indorfationis thairof. QUHILKIS being callit, and the saidis perfewaris compeirand personallie, and the said Johne Erle of Cassillis being lykwayis personallie present, for him self, and in name of the remanent defendaris foirsaidis; quha producit tua Commissionis, subscryuit be his Maiestie, and past his hienes Register and Signet: The ane aganis Blairquhane younger,³ Girvenmanis, Hew Kennedy of Bennan, Thomas his brother, and Walter Mure of Cloncard, quhais names ar infert in the said Commissionioun with his Maiesteis awne hand, knowing thair misdeidis, geving powar to the said Erle of Cassillis to convocat his hienes liegeis, and to searche, seik, tak, apprehend and perfew, with fyre and sword, the personis aboue writtin, and to weir hacquebuttis and pistolettis to that effect; as the said Commissionioun, of the dait the nynt day of Julij, the zeir of God Im.Vj^c. and ane zeiris, at lenth beiris: And the vther Commissionioun, direct to the said Erle, for the perfute, taking, and apprehending of Robert Gordoun of Barnerino, Alexander Gordoun of the Hillis, Williame Mcneilie, Alexander Mckie of Balfair, and Thomas Kennedy of Drummurchy, as suspect guilty of Murthour, Oppressioun, and Refsett of Thift; as in the said Commissionioun, geving powar to the said Erle to convocat his hienes liegeis, assiege houffis, raise fyre, and perfew the saidis personis with all extremitie, and beiring dait the tuentie-ane day of July Im.Vj^c. and ane, at lenth is contenit: Be vertew of the quhilkis Commissionis, the said Erle allegit, that he had lauchfullie proceidit in the hail actioun aboue writtin, quhairvpoun he wes accuset, seing the said Thomas Kennedy of Drummurchy and the said Walter Mure of Cloncard, and dyuerse vtheris his Maiesteis rebellis, vpone quhome the said Erle presentlie producit Horning deulie execute and regiftrat, and quha standis zit at the horne vnrelaxt, wer present and vpoun the grund with the said vmq^{le} Gilbert Kennedy of Bargany, the tyme foirsaid; and the said Erle, being in executioun of his Maiesteis Commissionis, in searching and seiking of the said Thomas, and of the remanent personis thairin contenit, all that fell out in that mater wer lauchfull. QUHAIRUNTO it wes anfuert be the said Mr Thomas Hammiltoun, that the said first Commissionioun can be na Warrant nor autoritie to the said Erle; becaus that lang befor the committing of the crymes aboue writtin, quhairvpoun he is now accusit, the same Commissionioun wes dischairegit be his Maiestie, for the hail personis thairin contenit, except Young Blairquhane; and lauchfull intimatioun and publication wes maid to the said Erle of the said dischairege, lang befor the said tyme, viz. in the moneth of August lastbypast; quhilk the said Adnocat referrit to the said Erles aith: And sua, in respect of that dischairege, and that the said Laird of Blairquhane Younger wes not in cumpany with the said Laird of Bargany the tyme foirsaid, the same Commissionioun can be na Warrant to the said Erle: And as to the last Commissionioun, it was anfuert be the said Adnocat, that the same can be na sufficient Warrant to the said Erle; because the same Commissionioun wes not deulie regiftrat aganis the said Thomas Kennedy of Drummurchy, bot his name infert thairin, lang efter the same wes past the Register and Signet: And thair was na powar nor licence contenit in the said last Commissioun for beiring and weiring of hacquebuttis and pistolettis; and seing his Maieftie's Register is the reull be the quhilk the said Commissioun fould have been directit, the same can be na Warrant to the said Erle: Vnto the quhilk it wes replyt be the said Erle, that, albeit the first Commissioun wes dischairegit aganis the hail perfonis contenit thairin, except Young Blaquhane, zit it stude in full force and effect aganis him; and he being his Maieftie's rebell, and continewing disobediēt to his Maieftie, and being a ordinary hantar and keipar of cumpany with the said Laird of Bargany, oftymes ofbefoir and senfyne, and suspectit to haue bene with him that day, he had gude Warrant and powar to searche him quhaireuer he mycht get knowlege of his being: And as to the said last Commissioun, it wes replyt be the said Erle that he had a special Warrant and directioun fra his Maieftie, to the Keipar of the Register, to register the said Commissioun, as it wes productit to the Register; quhilk Warrant he productit befor the saidis Lordis; fra that it was lauchfull to him to insert ony names thairin, quha wer rebellis, or guilty of sic crymes, in his plefour: And albeit thair wes na mentioun maid in the last Commissioun of hacquebuttis and pistolettis, zit, in respect of the first Commissioun standing vndischarget, as said is, and that the last Commissioun gais him powar to vse all weirlyk ingyne quhilk he could deuyse for apprehensioun of the perfonis thairin contenit, the executioun of the same, in forme and maner as it fell out, was lauchfull: And forder, it wes replyt be the said Erle, that he being the ordinar Judge and Magistrat of the cuntrey, and not a privat persone, thair fould na sic dischairege haue bene purchest quhill¹ first he had bene wairnit to the geving thair of, and that the perfonis, in quhais fauour the same wes grantit, had gevin thair obediēce to his Maieftie, and purgit thame selfis of the Horingis quhilkis thay vnderlay. WITH the quhilkis Anueris and Replyis, and dyuerse vtheris the reffonis and allegatiōis of baith the saidis parteis, the Lordis of Secrete Counsell being weil and ryplie advyset,—THE LORDIS of Secrete Counfall FINDIS and DECLAIRIS the tua Commissiōis aboue written, productit be the said Erle, to be guid, valid, and sufficient; and that thairby he had gude powar and authoritie to searche and seik the saidis perfonis, and vse the same Commissiōis. AND thairfoir the saidis Lordis Affoilzeis² simpliciter the saidis Defenderis fra that pairt of the saidis Letteris, tuicheing the convocatioun of his hienes liegeis, and beireing and weiring of hacquebuttis and pistolettis, and breking of his hienes peace: And Decernis thame quyte thairfra in all tyme comeing, and of all offence (that) may be impute to him in the vsing of the saidis Commissiōis.

¹ Here the remainder of the names are repeated.² If.³ Blairquhan.

(iv.) ACT of Privy Council, The Laird of Cullane against Williame M^cPhadrik.³

ANENT our souerane lordis Letteris, reasit at the instance of JAMES KENNEDY of Culzeane, making and mentioun: That quhair, albeit his Maieftie, be the space of aucht yeiris syne, maid and set furth diuerse edictis and Proclamatiōnis, prohibiting and dischaireging all his heyneis leigeis, that name of thame fould reffet, supplie, nor intercommoun with Thomas Kennedy, Thomas M^cAlexander, Thomas Wallace, and William Irving, during the tyme of thair rebellious and remaneing at the horne, for the odious, cruell, and detestable Murthour of vni^q^{le} Sir Thomas Kennedy of Culzeane, father to the said complenair, committit be thame, in maner specificit in the said Proclamatioun, vnder certane panes mentiounat thairintill. Nochtwithstanding, it is of treuth, that William M^cPhedrice, seruitour to the Laird of Girvanmanis, hes continewallie, and almaist ilk day sen the dait of the said Proclamatioun, aganis the tennour of the same, reffett, suppleit, and intercommonit with the said Thomas M^cAlexander, and remanent rebellis abouenameit, within his awin duelling house in Air; hes keipit mony tryftis and meitingis with him, as namelie, vpoun the xxvj Junij, I^m.Vj. and aucht yeiris, the said Thomas M^cAlexander being in his dwelling hous in Air; and informatioun thair of being maid to JOHNE ERLI OF CASSILLIS and the said Complenair, and thay haueing warrand, power, and commissioun for the perfit of the said Thomas M^cAlexander, and being than vpoun the feildis agaitward⁴ towards him, it is

¹ Until.

² Absolves; acquits.

³ Regist. Secr. Conc. (Acta), Aug. 3, 1609.

⁴ On the road or gait to apprehend him.

of treuth that the said William M^cPhedrice, being vpon the knowlege and counfall of the said Erll and the said Complenaris said purpois aganis the said Thomas, he lap on horfe and convoyit him self fecritelie away to the said hous, quhair the said Thomas wes for the tyme, and thair intercommvnit with him, reveillit, and difelosit vnto him the said purpois and plat layd down for his perfute: And that he mycht the more saulfe eschew, the said William M^cphedrice horfit him on his awin horfe, and pat him away; in heich and proud contempt of his Maiesteis auctoritie and lawis. For the quhillk the said Williame aucht to be perfewit and pvnist in his perfone and guidis, to the terrour of vtheris to commit the lyke heirafter. And anent the chairage gevin to the said William M^cphedrice to haue compeirit personalie before the Lordis of Secrite Counfall this present thrid day of August instant, to haue anfuert to this complaint, and to haue hard and sene sic ordour tane thairanent, as appertenit; vndir the pane of rebellion and puting of him to the horne: with certificatioun to him and¹ he failzet, Letteris fould be direct simpliciter to put him thairto; lyke as at mair lenth is contenit in the saidis Letteris, executionis, and indorfationis thairof; quhilkis being callit, and the said perfewar compeirand personalie, and the said Defender being oftymes callit, and not compeirand, The Lordis of Secrite Counfall thairfoir Ordanis Letteris to be direct to Officearis of airmes, schireffis in that pairt, chargeing thame to pas and denunce the said Williame M^cPhedrice his Maiesteis rebell, and to put him to the horne; and to eschete, &c.

(v.) ACT of Privy Council, *The Kingis Aduocat against Johnne Mure.*²

ANENT our fouerane lordis letteris, reasit at the instance of Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnies, knycht, aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hienes interessie, makand mentioun: That quhair the cruell, unworthie, and detestabill Murthour of vmq^{le} SIR THOMAS KENNEDY of Culzeane, knycht, and of vmq^{le} WILLIAME DALRUMPLE, sone to Williame Dalruple in Aire, haueing thir mony zeiris bigane lyne obscure and hid, and no perfyte discouerie nor knowlege being had of these who wer the cheiff and principall divifariss, practizaris, and conspiratouris in the same Murthour, the said Aduocat is now informed that the personis following, thay ar to say, JOHNNE MURE, cook in Auchindrane, Thomas Wallace, feruitour to Auchindrane, Andro M^cAlexander, fometyme feruitour to *James Bellindane*³ in Chapildonane, James M^ccaig, sone to Adam M^ccaig, in Girvane, and George Small, in Plesance, doeth knaw something in that mater, and can gif some licht, evidence, and probable presumpcioun and circumstanceis, for cleiring of the same: Quhairfore, necessar it is, that thay be examinat heirvpon, in presence of the Lordis of his heynes Preuey Counfall. AND anent the charge gevin to the saidis Johnne Mure, cook, Thomas Wallace, Andro M^cAlexander, James M^ccaig, and George Small, in Plesance, to haue compeirit personalie, befoir the Lordis of Secrite Counfall, this present xx day of Junij instant, to haue anfuert to fuche thingis as fould have bene speirit at thame tuitching the Murthour of the personis foirsaidis, vnder the pane of rebelloun and puting of thame to the horne; with certificatioun, &c. The Lordis ordanis Letteris to be direct, &c., chargeing to pas and denunce the said personis, who compeirit not, his Maiesteis rebellis, and put thame to the horne; and to eschete, &c.⁴

(vi.) SUSPENSIOUN, *James Bannatyne, in Chapeldonall.*⁵

ANENT oure fouerane lordis Letteris, reasit at the instance of James Bannatyne in Chapeldonall, makand mentioun, That quhair as, he is informed he is denuncit rebell and put to the horne, be virtew of Letteris, reasit at the instance of Johnne Erll of Cassillis and Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnies, kny^t, his Maiesteis Aduocat for his heynes interessie, ffor the complenair his allegeit not compeiring personallie before the Lordis of Secrite Counfall, at ane certain day bygane, to haue anfuert to ane complaint maid be the said Erll and Lord Aduocat vpon him, tuicheing his allegit beiring and weiring of hagbuttis and pistolettis, and invading and perfewing of Hew Kennedy of Garrihorne and Thomas Mcquhary, both feruitouris to the said Erll, and schooting and dischairing of pistolettis at thame, &c. The Lords suspended the said Letters, simpliciter, on the ground of Bannatyne's not having been cited to appear, &c.

¹ An, if. ² Reg. Secr. Conc. (Acta), Jun. 20, 1611. ³ Bannatyne. At this period the name Bannatyne was indifferently spelt, Ballendyne, Bellenden, Bannatyne, and Ballantyne. ⁴ A similar entry occurs, of the same date, to denounce 'THOMAS MURE, sone to (Johnne) Mure of Auchindrayne, and ANDRO SINCLAR, halff-brother to the Laird of Auchindrane, for not appearing to answer at ane certane day bygane.' ⁵ Regist. Secr. Conc. (Acta), Sep. 27, 1611.

III. PROCEEDINGS IN PARLIAMENT, as to the Forfeiture of Thomas Kennedy of Drummurchie, for the Burning of Auchinsoull,—Murder of Sir Thomas Kennedy, &c.

(i.) The Forfaltrie of Thomas Kennedie.

Apr. 26, 1604.—SIR Thomas Hamilton, King's Advocate, took instruments of the Production of the Summons of Treason and executions, &c. in Parliament.¹

Jul. 11, 1604.—The Summons and other documents were again produced in Parliament,² which were of new verified in presence of the Lord Commissioner, (John Earl of Montrose,) and haill Estaittis: And siclyk, the said Aduocat produceit Lettres of Relaxatioun, relaxand the said Thomas Kennedie frome all proces of Horning led and deducet aganis him, for quhatfumeuir cause. And thaireftir, the said Thomas Kennedie being thryse callit at the tolbuith windo, to haue answerit to the said Summondis of Treassoun, he comperit nocht to anfuert hairto, and thairfoir the said Aduocat (estir that the foirfaid caus of the said Summondis of Treassoun wes fundin relevant be the saidis haill Estaittis aganis the said Thomas Kennedie of Drummurchie) ffor preving of the pointis of the said Summondis of Treassoun aganis the said Thomas Kennedie, and of the reffoun and caus contenit thairin, repetit the Depositiones of the Witnesse reffaut, admittit, sworne, and examinat in prefens of the saidis haill Estaittis vpon the foirfaid reffone and cause; and als repetit the notorieit of the fact of the Burning, and the said Thomas Kennedie acknowlegeing his awin giltines, and taking of the saidis crymes vpon him, throw being fugitive and denuncit Rebell for nocht comperance befor our said fouerane lordis Justice and Lordis of his hienes Privie Counfall respectiue, in maner contenit in the Lettres of Horning rasit thairvpon: And lykwayis, the said Aduocat producit diuerse vtheris wryttis and probatiounes, for preving of the said Summondis of Treassoun, and desyrit the saidis Estaittis of Parliament to advyse the foirfaidis probatiounes, and to gif furth thair Dome and Sentence thairintill, according to justice. And thaireftir, the foirfaidis haill probatiounis and Summondis of Treassoun being red, hard, sene and considerit be the saidis Estaittis, and they thairwith being ryplie advysit, the saidis haill Estaittis of Parliament FINDIS, Decernis, and Declaris that the said Thomas Kennedie of Drummurchie hes committit TREASSOUN, in Raifing of the said Fyre, and Burning of the said Place of AUCHINSOULL, in maner specefeit in the foirfaid Summondis: AND thairfoir, Decernis and Ordanis THE DOME vnderwritin to be pronuncit and gevin furth aganis him, be the mouth of David Lyndefay, dempster: Off the quhilk Dome, the tennour followis.

DOME. This Courte of Parliament schawes for Law, that the said THOMAS KENNEDIE of Drummurchie hes committit Treassoun in Raifing of Fyre and Burning of the said Place of Auchinsoull, pertenyng to the said Duncane Craufurde, the tyme and in maner specefeit in the said Summondis of Treassoun, perewit be his hienes said Aduocat, for his grace entres, aganis him: And thairfoir Findis and Declaris, That the said THOMAS KENNEDIE hes amittit, and tynt, and Foirfaltit for euir, all his landis, heretages, rowmes, possessionis, gudis, and geir quhatfumeuir, belonging to him ony maner of way, and quhilkis he hes, had, nicht haue, or clame, within this Realme of Scotland: And Decernis the samin to haue appertenit and to appertene to our said fouerane lord, to be confiscat, and to remane with his hienes, as his propirtie, in all tyme cumming. And als Findis and Declaris, that the said THOMAS KENNEDIE hes amittit and tynt his fame, honouris, and dignitie: And he to be pvnisht as anc Tratour, conforme to the Lawes of this realme. And this I gif for Dome.

¹ Acta Parl. iv. 260.

² Acta Parl. iv. 267.

(ii.) THE SUMMONDIS OF TRESSOUN of vmq^{le} WALTER MURE OF CLONCARDE, pass^o fra simpliciter be our *souerane Lordis Aduocat.*¹

Jul. 11, 1604.—THE quhilk day Maister Thomas Rollok, depute for Sir Thomas Hammyltoun of Monkland, knycht, Aduocat to our souerane Lord, and in his lienes name reproducit, in prefens of ane nobill and potent lord, Johne Erle of Montrose, Lord Grahame and Mukdok, Great Commissionar of this present Parliament, and in prefens of the haill Estaittis thairof, the Summondis of Treassoun vnderwrittin; quhilkis wer producit be the said Aduocat, ofbefoir, at Edinburgh, in prefens of the Lordis of Articlis, vpoun the tuentie aucht day of Aprile last bipast: Off the quhilk Summondis of Treassoun the tennour followes.²

[SUMMONS OF TREASON *against Thomas Kennedy of Drummurchie and Walter Mure of Cloncarde.*³]

JACOBUS, Dei Gracia Rex Anglorum, Scotorum, Gallorum et Hibernorum, &c. Fideique defensor: Dilectis nostris Leoni Regi Armorum, Albanie, Snawdoun, Merchemont, Rothefay, Ilay, Rofs, Bute, Carrik, Ormond, Vnicorne, signiferis; Dauid Bryfoun, Robert Stewart, Alexandro Dowglas et Jacobo Chalmeris clauigeris nostris; necnon Joanni Ferguffoun et Joanni Wilkefoun nuncijs, et eorum cuilibet, coniunctim et diuisim. Vobis precipimus et mandamus quatenus legitime summoneatis THOMAM KENNEDIE de Drummurchie, fratrem germanum quondam Gilberti Kennedie de Barganie, personaliter, si ejus personalem presentiam habere poteritis, seu aliter apud locum sui domicilij et habitationis; ac etiam apud cruces forales burgorum nostrorum de Air, Irving, Mayboll ac apud portus nostros de Air et Leith, et alia loca necessaria, super premonitione sexaginta dierum, eo quod dictus Thomas de presenti extra regnum nostrum Scotie morari dicitur. Necnon summoneatis legitime ROBERTUM MURE, fratrem germanum et heredem apparentem quondam Walteri Mure de Cloncarde, JOANETAM MURE eius sororem germanam, personaliter, si eorum personalem presentiam habere poteritis, vel secus apud locum suorum domiciliorum et habitationis; ac etiam dictos Robertum et Jonetam aliosque agnatos et cognatos dictj quondam Walterj Mure de Cloncard, omnesque alios interesse habentes vel habere pretendentes, necnon Tutores et Curatores dictorum Robertj et Jonete Mures, si quos habent, apud dictos cruces forales dictorum burgorum nostrorum de Air, Irving, Mayboll, et alia loca necessaria, quod compareant coram nobis et nostris Commissionarijs et Locum tenentibus, necnon coram Regni nostri Scotie Ordinibus, Edinburgi, vicesimo die mensis Aprilis proxime futuri, in Parlamento nostro incipiendo decimo die dicti mensis, hora causerum, cum continuatione dierum: ad respondendum nobis, necnon ad instantiam dilecti et fidelis nostri consiliarij Domini Thome Hammyltoun de Monkland, militis, nostri Aduocatj, pro nostro interesse, dictum viz. THOMAM KENNEDIE de Drummurchie, pro sua nefaria, scelestâ, facinorosa, et proditoria Occisione et Interemptione quondam Thome Kennedie de Coiff militis⁴ per se suos complices et confortes secum conspiratores in dicto Homicidio, per summum nefas vt sequitur, perpetrato, vndecimo die mensis Majj, anno domini 1602: NECNON pro suo scelesto, nefario, et manifesto Furto, cum violenta rapina coniuncto, vulgariter vocat. Stuth-reiff, marsupij seu crumene dicti quondam Thome Kennedie de Coiff militis, cum magna pecunie summa auro et argento signato, summam duorum millium mercarum extenden. quam dictus quondam Thomas cum eo portabat; cum varijs annulis aureis, gemmatis et alijs, ac multis fibulis aureis diploidi tunice et femoralibus dicti quondam Thome confutis, ad valorem mille librarum extenden. in ipso actu Homicidij perpetrato: NECNON pro sua proditoria et nefaria Obsidione, per se et suos complices, ad numerum quinquaginta virorum armatorum, Mansionis et Maneriei terrarum de AUCHINSOULL, jacen. infra vicecomitatum nostrum de Air; ad quod, per occasionem subscriptam, dilecta consanguinea nostra JEANNA COMITISSA DE CASSELLIS, comitata septem vel octo seruis ac comitibus confugerat, salutis sue causa, cum dicta Domina Jeanna et eius serui iter

¹ Acta Parl. IV. 271.

² Here the Summons which has already been given is inserted.

³ To prevent repetition, this Summons (which is a transcript of the other against Drummurchie, with the additions relating to Cloncard) has been preferred.

⁴ A mistake for Cassilis. However, Sir Thomas was often so designed.

facerent a domicilio suo de INCHE in Gallouidia, versus aliud suum domicilium in Villa de MAYBOLL, in balliatu de Carrik et infra vicecomitatum nostrum de Air, decimo octauo die mensis Maij ultimo elapsi, 1603. Et pro maleuolo, crudeli, nefario, abhominabili, et scelesto Incendio Maneriej, in quod, causa euitandi periculi mortis, dicta Domina Jeanna Comitissa de Cassellis et ferui sui confugerunt; e qua mansione et manerie de Auchinsoull, cum idem maneriem combustam essent vndique et conflagraret, metu mortis vehementia flammaram et fumi egredi coacti sunt, vbi post egressum dicte Domine Joanne Comitisse de Cassellis quondam HUGO KENNEDIE, frater germanus et heres apparens dilecti nostri consanguinej Joannis Comitis de Cassellis, Domini Kennedie, Joannes Mcilveiane junior de Grwmnett, Johannes Dik de Barbastoun, Andreas Cunynghame in Knokdone, Quintinus Craufurde, Robertus Hay, Willielmus Kennedie, ferui et comites dicte Comitisse pro tempore, per dictum Thomam Kennedie de Drummurchie et suos complices captiui facti sunt, et vt infra dicitur abducti, et in privatis carceribus detenti. ET PROPTEREA, dictum Thomam ad videndum et audiendum se crimen Lese-Maiestatis per decretum et censuram nostri Parlamenti et regni Scotie Statuum incurrisse; et ideo, tanquam reum, Lese-Maiestatis puniri debere, capitali et vltimo supplicio; necnon amissione omnium bonorum suorum, mobilium et immobilium, terrarum et tenementorum, que dictus Thomas in regno nostro Scotie habet, habere, vel clamare poterit, in futurum. NECNON, dictos ROBERTUM MURE, fratrem germanum et heredem apparentem dicti quondam Walterij Mure de Cloncarde, et JONETAM MURE eius forem germanam, omnesque alios cognatos et consanguineos dicti quondam Walteri, ac tutores et curatores dicti Roberti et Jonete, si quos habent, omnesque alios interesse habentes vel habere pretendentes, ad videndum et audiendum, per regni nostri Ordines in Parlamento nostro supradicto decerni et declarari, quod dictus quondam Walterus Mure de Cloncarde fuit et est reus Lese-Maiestatis, vt qui fuit actor, factor, et perpetrator dicti criminum cum dicto Thoma Kennedie de Drummurchie modo et forma quibus infra dicitur. PRO QUIBUS eiusdem quondam Walteri memoria et fama damnari et aboleri debet, ac eius omnia bona mobilia et immobilia, terre, tenementa, et omnia alia que habuit in regno nostro Scotie, vel habere potuit, ad nos pertinere decerni debeat; et quod ab eisdem dictus Robertus frater et Joneta eius soror, omnesque alij ab eo descendentes, debent excludi imperpetuum, propter rationes et causas subsequentes. PROPTEREA quod in Parlamento nostro tento apud burgum nostrum de Edinburgh, in Scotia, vicesimo nono die mensis Julij, anno domini 1587, per nos et tres dicti nostri regni Ordines statutum est, quod si contigerit aliquem subditorum nostrorum dicti regni Scotie, qui habet terras sibi hereditarie pertinentes, viz. vt vulgariter in dicto statuto dicitur ony landit man, fore legitime et secundum juris ordinem, aliquo tempore post dictum statutum futuro, de manifesto furto et vi rapine admisso, id est Stouth-reiff esse convictos, incurrent propterea crimen et penam Lese-Maiestatis, hoc est omissionem et forisfacturam vite, terrarum, et bonorum; prout in dicto statuto apertissime continetur. SED sic est in rei veritate, quod dictus THOMAS KENNEDIE de Drummurchie, et prefatus quondam WALTERUS MURE de Cloncarde, cum suis complicibus et consortibus, numero septem, armis, machinis bellicis, et felopis, prohibitis et lege vetitis, instructi, et equis insidentes, dicto duodecimo die mensis Maij 1602, existentes Rebelles et ad cornu nostrum positi, prout per Literas nostras et denunciationem rebellionis clare constare poterit; et ex precogitata feloniam dictum Thomam Kennedie de Coiff militem, imparatum et non-opinantem, ac iter facientem, vno seruo comitatum, a domicilio suo de Coiff versus dictum burgum nostrum de Air, ac inde profecturum Edinburgum negotiorum suorum gerendorum causa, apud Capellam Sanctj Leonardi nuncupat. dimidio miliaris a dicta Vrbe de Air distan. aggressi sunt, ac eundem inuaserunt machinis bellicis ac lanceis transfixerunt et crudeliter occiderunt, et furto, rapina, et vi furtum comitante, id est le Stouth-reif, ex marsupio et crumena dicti quondam Thome Kennedie de Coiff predictam summam bis mille marcarum in auro signato, lie Rois-nobillis, et Fyve-pund-peices, Angell-nobillis, et Portingall-doucattis, violenter furati sunt et abstulerunt, cum varijs annulis, gemmatis, ac alijs, et multis fibulis aureis diploidi tunice et femoralibus dicti quondam Thome confutis, ad valorem mille librarum extenden. Pro quoquidem crimine, coram Iusticiario nostro vocati, vt lege subirent, contumaces facti Rebelles declarati sunt, et ad cornu nostrum positi, prout per Literas nostras et denunciationem rebellionis satis clare constare poterit. AC ETIAM statutum est, per aliud actum Parlamenti illustrissime memorie quondam Jacobi V. Scotorum Regis, avi nostri, tenti et inchoati, apud Edinburgh, vicesimo secundo Januarij, anno 1538, quod si quis comberit aliquos in domibus suis, reus Lese-Maestatis erit: Ac etiam, quod omnes Combustiones domorum vel granorum, et omnia Incendia voluntaria seu malitiosa, sicut crimina Lese-Maestatis; idque in odium Incendiariorum, quos leges propter criminis atrocitatem seuerius plecti iubent; sicut in eodem statuto plenius continetur: Quodquidem statutum in Parlamento nostro tento apud Edinburgh, quinto die mensis Decembris, anno domini 1567, repetitum et renovatum est, idque merito crescente in regno nostro Incendiariorum numero et audacia; prout in dicto statuto posteriori latius continetur: SED sic est, quod dictus THOMAS KENNEDIE de Drummurchie et dictus quondam WALTERUS MURE de Cloncarde, comitati circiter quinquaginta armatis equitibus, per insidias obsiderunt iter dicte dilecte consanguinee nostre JEANNE COMITISSE DE CASSELLIS, proficiscentis e domicilio de Inche in Gallovidia, in vicecomitatu nostro de Wigtoun, versus aliud domicilium suum in Villa de Mayboll et balliati nostro de Carrik et vicecomitatu de Air, die xvij^o mensis Maij, anno domini 1603, et equis citatis in dictam dilectam nostram consanguineam, et eius seruos ac comites, impetum facientes, iter et viam publicam deferere, metu vite sue, compulerunt: Illa autem cum refvgii causa versus Mansionem quandam de AUCHINSOWLL, quam tum inhabitabat Duncanus Crawfurde de Auchinowll, cum comitibus et seruis suis citatis equis accederet; qui locus, cum ad effugium commodus videtur, et viderunt ex eo loco dilectam consanguineam nostram seruos et comites eius nisi domo incensa extrahi non posse, illico illato igni domum et eius ambitum vndique incenderunt, e qua crescente fumo et irrumpentibus flammis, ad extremum periculum omnes redacti, in manus dictorum Latronum Incendiariorumque dilecta nostra consanguinea cum suis seruis et comitibus, deditione facta, captiui devenerunt; ex quibus vnus, nomine Joannes Mcgrane, flammis superatus predictam domum combustam egressus priusquam respirare potuerit, crudeliter et nefarie gladijs et machinis bellicis, a dictis Thoma et quondam Waltero et complicibus predictis crudeliter interfectus est: Ac reliqui comites dicte nostre consanguinee, viz. HUGO KENNEDY, frater germanus et heres apparens dicti dilecti nostri consanguinei et consiliarij Joannis domini de Cassellis, Joannes Mcilveyane junior de Grwmsett, Joannes Dik de Barbestoun, Andreas Cunynghame de Knokdone, Quintinus Craufurde, Robertus Hay, Willelmus Kennedy, per dictos Latrones, Predones, et Incendarios captiui facti sunt, et eorum arbitrio abductj, et per eos in domibus, fortalicijs, et Castris de Ardslinchell, et lie Coiff de Craignett, infra dictum vicecomitatum nostrum de Air, proditorie custoditi et detenti sunt, per dies quindecim, aut eo circiter; Nec ab illa captiuitate liberati et redempti fuerunt, donec per se et fidejussores suos obligarentur, quod dictum dilectum consanguineum nostrum Joannem Comitem de Cassellis, cui vt domino et hero suo seruire tenebantur, omnino defererent, et si fecus facerent, magnam pecunie summam soluturos se promitterent, compulsi etiam diris seipfos deuouere, si contra fecissent: IN QUO, non solum Latrocinij, Stuthreif, Infidiationis viarum, ac proditorij Incendij crimine irritati sunt; sed etiam, proditorie Vsurpationis autoritatis nostre reos sese facerent. Ac vt hec omnia notoria fiant, idem Thomas Kennedie de Drummurchie ac dictus quondam Walterus Mure de Cloncarde vocati coram Dominis Secreti Consilij nostri responsuri predicto proditorio crimini Incendij et Captiouis dictarum liberarum personarum et liegiorum nostrorum et alijs suprancementationis, contumaces effecti sunt; Ac propterea etiam Rebelles nobis declarati et denunciati sunt; prout in Literis nostris, ea de re executioni mandatis, latius continetur. QUARE, dictus THOMAS KENNEDIE de Drummurchie, per Decretum et censuram Parlamenti nostri et regni nostri Ordinum crienen Lese-Maestatis incurrisse decerni; et ideo, tanquam reus Lese-Maestatis puniri debet capitali et vltimo supplicio, necnon amissione omnium bonorum suorum, mobilium et immobilium, terrarum, et tenementorum, que dictus Thomas in regno nostro Scotie habet, vel clamare et habere poterit in futurum; ac etiam per dictum nostrum Parlamentum et regni nostri Ordines decerni et declarari debet, quod dictus quondam WALTERUS MURE de Cloncarde fuit et est reus dicti criminis, Lese-Majestatis, vt qui fuerit actor, factor, et perpetrator dict. criminum respectiue supramentionat. cum dicto THOMA KENNEDY de Drummurchie, modo et forma antedict. ; pro quibus, etiam eiusdem quondam Walteri memoria et fama aboleri et damnari debent; ac etiam eius omnia bona, mobilia et immobilia, terre et tenementa, et omnia alia que habuit in regno nostro Scotie, vel habere vel clamare potuit, vel prefatus Robertvs et Joneta agnati, cognati, consanguinei, et omnes ab eo descendentes, habere vel clamare potuerunt, in futurum, ad nos pertinere decerni debent, et ab eisdem dictus Robertus nunc frater germanus et dicta Joneta soror germana dicti quondam Walteri, et omnes alii ab eo descendentes, ascendentes, collaterales, et alii quicunque, excludi debent imperpetuum, propter rationes et causas suprascriptas; intimando supradictis personis, et eorum cuilibet, respectiue, quod siue dictis die et loco cum continuatione dierum comparuerint, siue non, nos, dictusque noster Iusticiarius in premissis, iusticia mediante, procedemus et procedet. INSUPER, citetis peremptorie, coram testibus, Alanum Cathcart de Drumjowan, Petrum Algeo feruum Magistri Jacobi Donaldsoun Aduocati, Dauidem Craufurde, Alexandrum Craufurde feruos Domini de Kerse, Duncanum Craufurde, Joannem Mure de Tarquyne,¹ Jacobum Martour in Knokdone, Gilbertum Mure de Auchinsoull, Gilbertum Kennedy de Monunsoun, Arthurum Kennedie filium Dauidis Kennedie de Balfcherocche, Joannem Wilfoun in Dalrumpill, Archibaldum Gellis coquum, Hugonem Kennedie de Garryhorne, Allanum Mctir in Layne, Jacobum Gowdie in Lauderdale, Jacobum Mctrutour in Traboyak, ad comparandum coram nobis dictone nostro Iusticiario, dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, ad perhibendum fidele testimonium in causa predicta, sub pena legis. ET presentes Literas debite executas et indorsatas earundem latori reddatis. ET vos qui presentes executi fueritis, sitis ibidem dictis die et loco, coram nobis seu dicto nostro Iusticiario, portantes vobiscum summonitionis vestre testimonia inscript. pro premissis vel ipsos testes. AD quod faciend. vobis et vestrum cuilibet, coniunctim et diuisim vicecomitibus nostris in hac parte, nostram committimus potestatem. DATUM sub testimonio nostri magni sigilli, apud Edinburgh, xij die Februarij 1604, et regni nostri Scotie tricesimo septimo, anno Anglie, Gallie et Hibernie primo.

THE quhilk Summondis, with the executionnes and Indorsationes thair of, wer producit be the said Sir Thomas Hammyltoun of Monkland knycht, Aduocat to oure souerane lord, in presens of the said Erle of Montrose, Great Commissionar of this present Parliament, and hail Estaittis of the said Parliament, first vpoun the tuentie sext day of Aprile last bipast; and thairefter the said wes producit in thair presens, and presens of the Lordis of Artielis, vpoun the tuentie aucht day of the said moneth of Aprile last bipast: Vpoun the quhilk tuentie aucht day of Aprile, the said Sir Thomas Hammyltoun, Aduocat to oure souerane lord, in his hienes name, past simpliciter fra the persute of the said ROBERT MURE, brother germane and apperant air to the said vmq^{le} Walter Mure of Cloncairde, and Jonet Mure his sister, and thair Tutouris and Curatouris, for thair interessis; as also, past simpliciter frome the hail ressones, hail pointis and artielis contenit in the said Summondis of Treassoun, beirand and contenand as is abonewrittin, sua far as the said extendis or may be extendit to the saidis Robert and Jonet Mures. Lyk as, also this instant day, in presens of my Lord Great Commissionar and hail Estaittis of Parliament, the said Sir Thomas Rollok, Aduocat depute, in absens of the said Sir Thomas Hammyltoun, principall Aduocate, lykwayes past simpliciter frome the persute of the saidis Robert and Jonet Mures, and thair saidis Tutouris and Curatouris for thair interessis; and also past simpliciter frome the hail ressones, hail pointis and artielis contenit in the said Summondis of Treassoun, sua far as the said extendis or may be extendit to the saidis Robert and Jonet Mures, and thair saidis Tutouris and Curatouris: Lykas, the said Sir Thomas Hammyltoun, principall Aduocat foirsaid, vpoun the said xxvij day of Aprile last bipast, had past simpliciter frome the saidin, of befoir, in presens of the saidis Lordis of Articles. Vpoun the quhilkis hail premissis, the said Robert Mure, for himself and his said sister, askit Instrumentis.

¹ In Act. Parl. IV., 269, he is described John Mure de Carquhene.

IV. LORD FOUNTAINHALL'S Abstract of the Case of Mure of Auchindrayne.¹

THE story of the fact is remarkable. AUCHINDRANE, having conceived a deadly feud against THE TUTOR OF CASSILLIS, comes one day to Maybole, with intention to kill him, assaulted him under night, thought to have killed him, had he not been rescued by some of his neighbours. For which fact, Auchindrane and his complices past to the horne. (The Horning was produced by the Advocat.) At lenth, this enmity was taken away, not only by publick and fworn reconciliation, but also by marriage of the said Auchindrane's eldest sone on the Tutor's daughter. After which, the Tutor lived with Auchindrane in all friendship, trust, and assurance imaginable. And going in to Edinburgh, and willing to do Auchindrane's busines there, as weill as his oune, he caused his man leive at the Schoolmaster of Air his house, a Letter for Auchindrane, signifying that he was going for Edinburgh to-morrow, and would gladly meet with him at the West end of Air, at the Duppils, or² he went. This advertisement was sent with a schoolboy called WILLIAM DALRIMPLE, who delivered it to old Auchindrane, sitting with Walter Muir of Cloncaird; who, immediately upon his reading of it, sent back the boy, and entreated him to say, that he had neither got him, nor delivered him the Letter. Then, resolved with the said Walter, to advertise THOMAS KENNEDY of Drummurchy of the certainty of Culzain's journey, and the way he intended to ride; advising him to use that occasione to revenge himselfe on him. The advertisement, with this advice, (he) sends with on³ Macadam, as is clearly proven by the Deposition of Witnesses. Drummurchy, by the advertisement, counsell, and instigation forsaid, waites the gentleman, in the place he had tryted⁴ Auchindrane; and most treasonably murderours him. Wheirfor,⁵ Drummurchy stands forfaitured by Act of Parliament.

He, having turned fugitive, was much assisted and supported by Auchindrane; who, fearing that discovery of his accession to the said treasonable Murther might be made by the said William Dalrumple; to eschew it, caused him first to be secretly conveyed to his house, wher he keiped him long quiet; at last, sent him to Arran, to the Laird of Skelmortly. After some tyme, returning from thence, he sent him away with one that was going to the wars in Flanders, hoping he sould never see him againe. Wheir, having staid some tyme, the boy longed to returne. Being returned, and Auchindrane getting notice theiroy, he was troubled—immediately fetched him to his hous, and put him with ane JAMES BANNATYNE, in Chapeldonald, his tennent; whom he caused fetch him with him to THE SANDS OF GIRVAN, at 10 a'clock of even; wher they murdered him, and throw him in the Sea, so far as they could waid.

This treasonable Murder, with all its circumstances, is most clearly made out, by the Depositions of Witnesses, who also deponed of a speciall friendship after that, pretended to the said James Bannatyne; so that they gave him a life-rent Take⁶ of Chapeldonald. Then they persuaded him to go out of the way to Ireland, giving him a Letter of recommendation to Drummurchy: And after he was there, he lacked for nothing. Frequent correspondence betwixt him and Auchindrane and his wyfe: Then, caused James Cunninghame, his seruand ther, who knew of their concealing of William Dalrumple, absent himself, for eschewing of tryall. Also, the Lady Auchindrane, for the same reason, absented herselfe.—Proven by Witnesses, that Auld Auchindrane would have hyred James Penny-cuick to go to Ireland, and their to murder Bannatyne.—Then he wrote to Stairs, that because he was bruted for the slaughter of William Dalrumple, he was willing to transact with him theiroy.⁷

¹ From Fount. Abstract of Books of Adjournal, MS. Adv. Library. It was thought proper to preserve the account given by this eminent Lawyer;—but at same time, it appears unnecessary to point out to the reader in how many particulars his traditional Account differs from the Record; which renders it probable that his lordship wrote from memory, or noted down the facts from reports then prevalent. ² Before; ere. ³ One. ⁴ Appointed to meet. ⁵ For which fact. ⁶ Tack; lease. ⁷ That is, he was willing to enter into terms of compromise with the relations of the deceased. As they were not wealthy, he considered he could, through the mediation of their Chief, the Laird of Stairs or Dalrymple, easily bribe them to silence; so as either to procure from them 'Letters of Slains,' or at all events, get them to abstain from prosecuting him and his son for the Murder.

All which are so clear evidences and manifest probations, as could hardly be expected, in so covered and crafty Murthers.

V. ILLUSTRATIONS relative to the POPULAR SUPERSTITION of touching the Corpse of a Murdered person, as an ORDEAL or TEST for the discovery of the Innocence or Guilt of suspected Murderers.

(1.) OPINIONS entertained by the Ancients on the subject of the Blood.

FROM the earliest periods of History, sacred and profane, it appears to have been the general opinion of mankind, in all Nations, that the soul, as well as the vital principle, had their existence in the blood. This idea was greatly strengthened by the strong and repeated testimonies afforded in the Sacred Scriptures, under the Mosaic dispensation; where it is expressly laid down, as an undeniable principle, that THE BLOOD, with the spirits therein contained, is *the seat and support of life.*¹ Without multiplying quotations from the Pentateuch, which are extremely numerous, it is enough for the purpose of this enquiry, to instance the frequent injunctions of Moses to the Children of Israel, to abstain from blood. One of the most remarkable of these passages is, ‘Blood with THE LIFE thereof, which is THE BLOOD thereof, shall ye not eat;’²—and the same injunction was repeated throughout the Law of Moses, in almost every various form, which the wisdom and sagacity of the Legislator could devise. It is not unworthy of remark, that the early Christians strictly observed this command, which had been repeated by the Apostles, to abstain from ‘things strangled, and from blood.’ This Divine command having been given to the Jews, in the subordinate instance of abstaining from the blood of the lower animals, in making use of their flesh for the ordinary purpose of food, it was by no means unnatural that they should have thence concluded, that THE LIFE or vital principle resided in the blood after Death, even after its particles were apparently dissolved, and after the whole mass had returned into its native dust.

A similar opinion is to be found in *Lucretius*³ and other profane writers, as Empedocles, Critias, &c. who held that THE SOUL was a suffusion of blood about the heart—and consequently, that *it is the blood itself.*⁴ According to this opinion, Homer gives death the epithet, purple: πορφύρεος δάνατος.—Iliad, v. 5, 83;—Virgil likewise alludes to it: ‘Purpuream vomit ille animam.’—Æneid ix., v. 349. ‘Undantoque animam diffundit in arma cruore.’—Æneid x., v. ult. Nor are we without frequent instances of this in our English poets. Milton says of Abel,

‘He fell, and deadly pale,

 Groan’d out his soul with gushing blood diffused.’

Sir Robert Blackmore also has the following passage:

‘Gasp’g he lay, and from the griesly wound
The crimson life ebb’d out upon the ground.’

Lee, in the tragedy of Nero:

‘With many a wound she made her bosom gay;
Her wounds, like floodgates, did themselves display,
Through which life ran in purple streams away.’

And Cowley, David 4:

‘His life for ever spilt, stain’d all the grass around.’

It was likewise a very early popular opinion, among profane Greek and Latin authors, that the blood springs naturally towards that part whence a blow is received¹—and they also affirmed that the soul pursued with enmity a Murderer of the body.² In conformity with this latter idea, we find that the blood, according to the ancients, and especially the Jews, was figuratively, but most emphatically, represented as crying to Heaven for vengeance!—and that that cry could only be appeased by the shedding of the blood of the Murderer. In the powerful language of Holy Writ, the Almighty, when denouncing Cain, the first murderer, is represented as exclaiming to him, ‘The voice of thy brother’s BLOOD crieth unto me from the ground!’

¹ Gen. ix. 4. See also Levit. &c. passim. ² In modern times, that highly distinguished physician, HARVEY, the discoverer of the circulation of the blood, maintained the hypothesis, that the blood was actually possessed of a living principle, and that the life of the whole body is derived from it; in which opinion he was supported by the celebrated Mr John Hunter, and other anatomists and physicians of eminence. It would be foreign to the subject of this Notice to enter minutely into the opinions of modern writers, who are extremely divided upon the point. ³ ‘That they know well, the soul consists in blood.’ Creec’h’s Lucret. B. iii. p. 43. ⁴ Aristotle de Anima, lib. I. c. 2; Cicero, Tuscul. 1; Macrobius on the dream of Scipio, lib. I. c. 14; Tertullian of the Soul, cap. 4.

Accordingly, in pursuance of this sentiment, the Jews had an Avenger of blood, who was the next of kin to the murdered person—and whose awful, but imperious, duty it was, relentlessly to pursue the Murderer to the death.

There is no doubt that this ancient opinion of the life being in the blood, continued to be entertained by THE EARLY CHRISTIANS of the Western Churches of Europe, so late as the tenth century. An able writer³ asserts, that ‘the Holy Church throughout the world did, in its first and purest, and even in the darker ages of the tenth century, or later, observe and keep the precept to abstain from eating blood—and that the Churches of the East and of the South, to this day, reproach the Western Church with the violation of this Apostolical constitution.’ On this point it may likewise be remarked, that Tertullian is said to have written in defence of the doctrine, that the soul was indissolubly connected with the blood.

From these few scattered hints, the application of the doctrine to the instance in question appears to be natural and easy. The soul of a murdered man was considered to linger about the body until the Murderer could be convicted, and his blood shed to appease the manes of the deceased. According to the remains of this superstitious principle, which are still to be traced in modern times, in various countries, but especially in Great Britain and Ireland, and in Germany, &c., the prevailing idea was, that (even after the blood was dried up and the corpse decayed and mouldered into a mere skeleton, nay, though disjointed into separate bones and fragments) the TOUCH or PRESENCE of the MURDERER would act upon these decayed relics, and that the life or blood would, upon Appeal being made, return to manifest the Murder.

A very curious instance of this branch of the superstition has been preserved by Sir WALTER SCOTT,⁴ who, in an early work, relates the circumstances in his usual felicitous manner:—‘Two young men, going a-fishing in the river Yarrow, fell out; and so high ran the quarrel, that the one, in a fit of passion, stabbed the other to the heart with a fish-spear. Astonished at the rash act, he hesitated whether to fly, give himself up to justice, or conceal the crime; and, in the end, fixed on the latter expedient, burying the body of his friend very deep in the Sands. As the meeting had been accidental, he was never suspected, although a visible change was observed in his behaviour, from gaiety to a settled melancholy. Time passed on, for the space of fifty years; when a smith, fishing near the same place, discovered an uncommon and curious bone, which he put in his pocket, and afterwards showed to some people in his smithy. The Murderer being present, now an old white-headed man, leaning on his staff, desired a sight of the little bone. But how horrible was the issue! No sooner had he touched it, than it streamed with purple blood! Being told where it was found, he confessed the crime, was condemned, but was prevented, by death, from suffering the punishment due to his offence.’

(2.) INSTITUTION of the BAHR-RECHT or LAW OF THE BIER, and FORM of the CEREMONIAL.

THERE cannot be a doubt that, from very early times, TESTS or ORDEALS were instituted by the common consent of almost all Nations, for the detection of hidden and atrocious cases of Murder, which had baffled all the ordinary methods of judicial scrutiny. The mysterious doctrines taught by the Metaphysicians of the dark ages, on the subject of an universal sympathy and antipathy existing in nature, would lead those who believed in their theories to approve of such an obvious Test as that of compelling suspected persons to come forward and touch the murdered corpse—and accordingly, the BAHR-RECHT, or LAW OF THE BIER, was early recognized, even by Judicial authority, throughout all civilized Europe. It is extremely probable, that such a striking ceremonial as that just referred to, would first be seized upon by the Clergy; for it would tend, in a great measure, to strengthen their own hands, while it would also promote the interests of ‘Holy Mother Church;’ and, at the same time, the almost miraculous discovery of secret crimes would directly lead a superstitious and ignorant people to give God the glory, and to ascribe to His immediate presence and intervention, the detection and subsequent punishment of the Murderer.

¹ See quotation from Lucretius, ‘Idque petit corpus,’ &c. in Del Rio’s and De L’Ancre’s notices. ² Plato, &c.
³ Dr Deacon. ⁴ Minstreys of the Scottish Border, II. 425.

Perhaps it may be premised, that, properly speaking, the recognized ORDEALS or Appeals to the immediate interposition of God, being what was termed the Vulgaris Purgatio, or Judicium Dei, were the Judicium Ferri callidi, Aquæ, et Ignis, i. e. Trials by RED-HOT IRON, FIRE, and WATER. In process of time, the JUDICIAL COMBAT, the ORDEAL OF THE CROSS,¹ and the CROSSED,² or consecrated bread and cheese, were added to the other Appeals. In the East, no less than nine Ordeals are still in use, viz. the Balance, the Fire-ordeal, the Water-ordeal, the Poison-ordeal, Trial by the Cosha or three draughts of consecrated water, the Rice-ordeal, the Ordeal by hot oil, the Ordeal by a red-hot Iron ball or lance-head, the Ordeal by Dharmarch, or drawing forth from a jar of certain Images, cloth, &c. Amongst all these various forms, the touching of a Murdered corpse is not reckoned as a proper Ordeal; but, as will be immediately shown, it was adopted and recognized as a Test, or popular Ordeal, both on the authority of the Church and of the Criminal Tribunals of civilized Europe.

In regard to THE FORM OF THE CEREMONIAL, it must have been extremely imposing; and especially, when regulated by the Church, who increased the otherwise solemn spectacle by Processions, the exhibition of their holy relics, lighted tapers, and all the usual machinery of the Romish Church, was admirably calculated to have inspired the guilty mind of the already conscience-struck Criminal with awe and terror, and eventually compel him to confess his enormous crimes, in the face of the assembly.

The mangled body of the murdered person was stretched upon a bier, covered with a fair linen cloth, and placed before the High-Altar; when, after a procession of Priests hymning an anthem, the suspected person was conducted forward to the High-Altar, where, after performing his devotions, the face of the deceased was uncovered before him. He was then called upon to place one hand upon the mortal wound, and often the other upon the mouth of the deceased—and, in that posture, to invoke Heaven to attest his innocence—at the same time calling down its curses and instant vengeance on his head, should he, after such asseverations, be guilty. If, on his approaching the body, or during the above ceremonial, the blood should gush from the mouth, nostrils, or wound—this was held sufficient evidence of his guilt.

¹ Two pieces of wood were prepared exactly like each other; but on one of them was the form of the Cross. Both being wrapped up in fine wool, were laid on the altar, and after prayers, &c., a Priest approached the Altar, and took up one piece, which if it proved to be that on which the Cross was cut, the accused was found innocent. Other solemnities, unnecessary to be noted, also took place. ² This primitive Ordeal was thus performed. A piece of barley bread and a piece of cheese were laid upon the Altar; and, after various Prayers, at length the Priest fervently petitioned, that ‘if the party accused was guilty, God would send his angel Gabriel to stop his throat, that he might not be able to swallow that food.’ This ended, the accused advanced to the Altar, took up the bread and cheese, and commenced eating. If he swallowed deliberately and freely, he was declared innocent—but if he could not swallow them, he was pronounced guilty! This coincides with the Eastern Ordeal of the Rice, &c., and originates in this well-known circumstance, that persons labouring under violent mental excitement, such as accusation of a crime of which they are conscious of guilt, are, in a great measure, deprived of the natural supply of saliva necessary for the process of mastication and deglutition; and, consequently, it would generally happen, that the strong mental struggle under which the accused was suffering, would be the means of preventing his fulfilling, what, at first sight, appears so foolish and simple a Test. It is hardly necessary to remind the reader, that barley bread which has been baked for several hours, requires a considerable quantity of liquid to enable one to swallow it. The pungency of the cheese would act as a sufficient stimulant to assist an innocent person who was required to undergo this Ordeal; but would merely increase the confusion and hasten the discomfiture of one whose mouth was already parched with conscious fear and remorse. It was almost universally noticed, that the guilty greedily snatched large mouthfuls, under the mistaken idea of getting sooner over with it!—and that usually a second or a third attempt to swallow produced cough and constant choking, so as to force them to desist, and either to confess their crime, or permit sentence to be passed against them in silence. On the other hand, innocent persons leisurely ate the portion given them, with little or no inconvenience. It will be found, upon examination, that many similar Ordeals and rites proceeded on the like minute knowledge of natural causes.

The reader may here be reminded, that the Ceremony, thus shortly and imperfectly described, was only reserved for extreme cases, where all legal proof had failed; and where there was strong circumstantial evidence to implicate the party accused, either as ‘guilty actor, art, or part’ of the Murder. It is impossible to state precisely what Nation first practised this Ordeal,—but it was obviously founded on a deep knowledge of human nature. Few even of the most hardened and practised villains could have undergone such a Test unmoved; and when it is considered that the act was performed in the presence of the Judges, Clergy, and the accusers, it would generally be easy to distinguish between the confusion of an innocent person accused of the crime, and the terror and conscience-struck countenance and demeanour of the Murderer; and even should he have nerve enough to brave the worst part of this severe Ordeal, his very confidence and studied boldness would prove the means of his detection. The accidental bleeding of the corpse, also, might overthrow the assumed courage of the Murderer,—and, in fact, was often the means of producing the most abject Confession of the crime; and compelled the recreant felon to utter cries for mercy, which even the torture had failed to extort.

Nothing can so well illustrate this remarkable Ceremonial, as the following powerful passage from the pen of the greatest living writer of this age, who has bestowed much attention on such subjects; and has done more towards the elucidation of the manners, customs, and superstitions of this country than any preceding author. ‘The eastern window, richly and variously painted, streamed down a torrent of chequered light upon the high altar. On the bier placed before it were stretched the mortal remains of the murdered man; his arms folded on his breast, and his palms joined together, with the fingers pointed upwards, as if the senseless clay was itself appealing to Heaven for vengeance against those who had violently divorced the immortal spirit from its mangled tenement. The face was bare, as were the breast and arms. The rest of the corpse was shrouded in a winding-sheet of the finest linen, so that, if the blood should flow from any place which was covered, it could not fail to be instantly manifest. He paused before the Bier, and his voice faltered, as he swore by all that was created in six days and six nights, by Heaven, by Hell, by his part of Paradise, and by the God and author of all, that he was free and sackless of the bloody deed done upon the Corpse before which he stood, and on whose breast he made the sign of the Cross, in evidence of the Appeal. No consequences ensued. The body remained stiff, as before. The curdled wounds gave no sign of blood.’¹

Another writer, to whom the Antiquities and History of England has been vastly indebted for the large stores of information rescued by him from sources which may be termed as generally inaccessible, even to the great bulk of antiquaries, has, in a posthumous work, professedly undertaken for the purpose of illustrating the Superstitious observance now under consideration, embodied the result of his enquiries in the following striking passage.²

‘BARON. At thy request th’ Ordeal is prepared:
I grant thee this appeal! What, though it claims
With me no faith? By custom authorized,
Let it be made. At least, this good results,
We better satisfy the common mind.

BENEDICT. Experience, good my Lord, has often proved

¹ Sir Walter Scott’s Fair Maid of Perth, vol. ii. p. 306.

² Strutt’s Test of Guilt, or Traits of Ancient Superstition; Quarto, Lond. 1808, p. 79;—a posthumous work of the celebrated English Antiquary, Joseph Strutt, published by his son. Unfortunately Mr Strutt did not live to compose the notes which he had intended to prepare illustrative of this remarkable subject, which would have put the Public in possession of all that was worthy of knowing about it. As it is, the Editor has done his best to pave the way, by providing materials for some abler and more successful Antiquary doing justice to such an enquiry, in a regular treatise.

That Providence, in such Appeals as these,
Has manifested suddenly its power,
And struck the guilty mind with sharp remorse—
Enforced confession—or abash'd the heart,
That, coward-like, th' offender has shrunk back
Confused, and manifested signs of guilt
Too plain to be mistaken.

BAR. I, indeed,
Have heard such tales.—Well, Father, then proceed.

BEN. Before the holy Altar lies the corpse—
Here let th' accused come—and come with him
All his accusers—no exception made :
They all must touch the body. 'Tis with us
To scrutinize with care each countenance—
For then 'twill be an index of the heart,
Unless the heart be callous to all good,
Devoid of feeling, nay, be changed to stone.

BAR. Proceed—and may success clear up my doubt !
But miracles, I ween, are out of date.

BEN. Let young Fitzhugh approach—and bring with him
All his accusers.—Now begin the rites.

[A procession of priests, singing a dirge—and when ranged on both sides of the altar, conclude with a chorus.]

BEN. HENRY FITZHUGH, come forward !—Touch the corpse—
May Holy Saints protect the innocent !

HENRY. Thy mangled body, Dorothy, I touch—
And make, with all my soul, Appeal to Heaven !
Ah ! could those ghastly wounds bot speak, they would Proclaim mine innocence !—But I submit.

BEN. Pass on, my son.—You see, no change appears—

[Aside to the BARON.]

Come forward, his accusers—and first, thou,

[To GRIM.]

Most loud against him—touch, and make Appeal !

GRIM. Why should I touch her ? No ! I will not yield To such fond Superstition !—I stand not Within the pale of accusation !—No !

BEN. What then can hinder thee to make Appeal ?
If thou be guiltless, Heaven is thy friend !

GRIM. Or friend or foe, I will not make Appeal !

BEN. Thou art afraid.—Thy conscience is not clear !

GRIM. 'Tis false !—I'm innocent !—Well, if I must Join in the folly—What is to be done ?

BEN. Look up to Heav'n, and touch the breathless corpse.

[GRIM strikes his hand down suddenly—and then starts from the body.]

RALPH. See ! Where Grim touch'd, the blood has gush'd afresh !—

.....

(3.) OPINIONS relative to the abstract question, whether the CORPSE of a Murdered person BLEEDS on the touch of THE MURDERER? And the causes and consequences of such an exhibition.

It is the Editor's conviction, that the most satisfactory, as well as the most faithful, manner of treating matters of an abstruse and forgotten description, such as the Superstition under examination, is, to afford to the reader miscellaneous extracts from writers of various ages and countries, who have commented on the subject. Besides being the plan laid down at the outset of this work, this mode enables the reader to examine their theories and conclusions in the very language of the respective authors themselves, many of whose works are now of rare occurrence, and are very seldom consulted, excepting for the explanation of similar facts.

In the preceding remarks it has been shown that the ancient opinion was, that the Soul of a Murdered person lingered about the body, until appeased by the discovery of the foul deed, and by the subsequent shedding of the Murderer's blood. It is obvious, therefore, that on the original institution of this Test or Ordeal, during the earlier and in the dark ages, the purpose of requiring the accused to prove his innocence before the Corpse, originated in the idea and belief, that by the Murderer's approach, and especially by his polluted touch, the Soul was excited to an instant manifestation of its indignation, by appearing in the form in which it was supposed to subsist, viz. in that of blood.

(i.) To commence, then, with the examples alluded to, Delrio,¹ who is the great authority on such subjects, remarks, 'Cadaver coram occifore, propter præcedentem contactum, fanguinem folet fundere. Resp. Varias reddi causas, quidam miraculo tribuunt; quidam casui, quo factum fit aliquando, ut cadaver tum cruorem mitteret, cum præfens erat reus Homicidii. Recenfui alio loco multas hæc de re sententias et auctores laudavi:² Neque adhuc dum video, quid folidius adferatur illa antipathia, ex vehementi odio occifi in occiforem; quod qualitatem latentem et arcanam imprefferit corpori, cum cadavere permanentem: Et huc referendum illud Lucrctii:

Idque petit corpus mens unde est faucia amore.
Namque homines plerumque cadunt in vulnere, et illam
Emitat in partem fanguis, unde icimur ictu.
Esti cominus est, hostem ruber occupat horror!

Ut fit vivi amantis et mortui hostis comparatio.³—In treating of ORDEAL BY WATER he thus expresses himself:—'Octavum argumentum, teste Binsfeldio, Indicium homicidii ex cadauere fanguinante coram occifore petitur, videtur soli Divino miraculo adferibendum: Ergo sentiendum fimiliter de fagis supernatantibus? Respondeo, quid de antecedente sentiam, hoc opere non semel me indicasse; sed esto, fit adferibendum miraculo: An eadem ratio huius probæ? Dicis non probas. Ego qui nego discrimen dabo. Nulla in fanguis illa missione causa fubeft suspitionis de pacto cum Dæmone: nihil illic miscetur superstitiofi: non queritur illic a Deo signum; et proinde nec Deus tentatur,' &c.⁴

(ii.) HE also mentions in another place:⁵—'Ex communi opinione Doctorum et Judicum, si cadaver positum coram reo fanguinem emittere inciperet vel ex vulnere, vel ex ore, vel ex naribus, hoc indicium quidam magni faciunt, et de ejus cum alias a me disputatum hoc eodem opere. Ego istud indicium nunquam existimarem sufficere ad torturam, quicquid graves doctores quidam in contrarium dixerint.⁶ Moveor, quia verè est indicium remotum, et quasi prodigiosum, de ejus cum non constat, et incertissimum, quod nullo jure vel causâ juridicè probatâ nobis constat, et tortura maximi est prejudicii. Quare nisi accedant fama, minæ, inimicitæ, vel simile adminiculum, nunquam ad torturam ex hoc indicio Deum timenti judici procedendum, affirmavit Farina, nu. 156 post Ant. Gomez, lii. fufé et prudenter hoc difcutientem d tom. 3 cap. 13 a num. 15, et Marfl. in pract. et diligenter num. 181. Mafeard et alios.

¹ Disquisitionum Magicarum libri sex, &c. Martini Delrio, Edit., Venetii, 1606. Lib. i. cap. 3, q. 40. ² Comment. in Octaviam Senecæ, ver. 127. ³ Sic Lemnius, lib. 2; De occultis naturæ miraculis, cap. 7; Langius, epist. 40. Pictorius, Dialog. 9; Gemma, lib. 1; De caracterism, cap. 6. ⁴ Delrio, Lib. iv. cap. iv. quest. v. de proba aquæ frigidæ, &c. ⁵ Delrio, lib. v. p. 25. ⁶ Post Aug. et Parid. Boerius decisi. 166; Blanchus de ind. ad l. fin. de quest. n. 408; Carrer. tract. de indic. ; Indi. 27, n. 2; Novel. regn. 181; Menoc. de arb. cas. 270, n. 16; et de præsu. l. 1, q. 89, n. 128; et alii.

(iii.) ANOTHER author, who was Counsellor of State to King Louis XIII of France, makes the following interesting observations, under the Title,—‘DES ATTOUACHEMENS DES HOMMES : Sçavoir fi vn Meurtrier s’approchant, ou touchant le corps d’un homme qu’il a meurtry, en peut faire reiaillir du fang.—‘ JE commenceray par ce traict commun, que le Corps d’un homme meurtry, eftant touché ou approché de Meurtrier, fait reiaillir du fang, tefmoignant qu’il entre auffi-toft en accusation, et crie vengeance contre luy, voulant comme tirer à compaffion tous ceux qui le voyent, et comme les efmouuoir à luy en faire auoir raifon. Theodoric vit dans vne efcaille ou tect de poiffon, qui luy fut feruy à table, la teſte de Symmachus, qu’il auoit tué, laquelle le menaçoit, verfant du fang en quantité, dequoy il eut fi grande frayeur, qu’il en mourut bien-toſt apres. Et ne ſçay fi ce qu’on dit y eſt neceſſaire qu’il faut que ce ſoit vn corps fraiſchement aſſaſſiné. Veu qu’un homme d’honneur, faiſant le procez à vn Meurtrier, m’a aſſeuré, que, l’ayant approché du corps qu’il nioit auoir tué, ietta du fang par le nez aſſez abondamment, apres le ſeiziéſme iour de l’homicide commis. Sur quoy Del-Rio dit, qu’il ne voit aucune raifon plus folide que celle de l’antipathie qui eſt entre le Meurtry et le Meurtrier, et leur haine, la quelle aggraué certaine qualité latente et cachée, et la tient imprimée dans le corps demeurant encore avec le cadauer; employant là-deſſus ces vers de Lucrece : “ Idque petit,” &c.¹ Comme ſ’il auoit quelque conuenance et raport, entre vn amy viuant, et vn ennemy mort !

‘ Mais la verité eſt, qu’on ne ſçauroit colliger de là nulle forte de charme, cauſé par la veuë ou par l’attouchement, vn corps mort eſtant bien d’autre nature, que celui d’un homme viuant. Et de dire que c’eſt quelque diſſenſion cachée, qui tefmoigne l’inimitié qui eſt entre eux, laquelle ce corps ainſi outré, fait encore paroître apres la mort, le declarant par ceſte eſmiſſion de fang. On ne ſçauroit rendre nulle raifon valable de ceſte diſſenſion. Et ſe peut dire, qu’aucuns ont auancé et tenu ceſte experience pour veritable, pour l’auoir parauanture eſſayée ou veuë vne ſeuſe fois et par cas fortuit. Car il ſe peut faire que le corps d’un homme mort, qui a demeuré ſeize iours giſant en repos en quelque lieu, eſtant remué pour ſouffrir quelque viſite de Chirurgiens, eſmouuera par ce mouuement le fang qui ſ’eſt retiré és veines, et le fera fortir en abondance. Mais cela n’arriuera pas pluſtoſt en la preſence du Meurtrier, que du Juge qui luy fait le procez, ou deuant quelqu’autre que ce ſoit.’²

(iv.) THROUGH the kindness of DR SAMUEL HIBBERT, late Secretary to the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, F.R.S.E., &c. whose philosophical, geological, and antiquarian researches have juſtly entitled him to a very conſpicuous rank in the literature of his country, the Editor has an opportunity of giving the following interesting extract from a rare volume in his Collection, entitled,—‘Physiologia Epicuro-Gaffendo-Charltoniana : or a Fabrick of Science Natural, upon the Hypotheſis of Atoms, &c. &c. By Dr Walter Charlton, Phyſician to the late Charles, Monarch of Great Britain.’ London, 1654. In this ſingular treatiſe, the author, in diſcuſſing ‘the cauſe of the freſh cruentation of the Carcaſſ of a Murthered man, at the preſence and touch of the Homicide,’ thus expreſſes his opinion :—‘THE cruentation (and, according to ſome reports, the opening of the eyes³) of the Carcaſſ of a Murthered man at the preſence and touch of the Homicide, is, in truth, the nobleſt of antipathies : And ſcarce any writer of the ſecrets or miracles of nature, hath omitted the conſideration thereof. This Liſe in Death, Revenge of the Grave, or loud language of ſilent Corruption, many venerable and Chriſtian Philoſophers have accounted wholly miraculous or ſupernatural, as ordained and effected by the juſt judgement of God for the detection and puniſhment of the inhumane Aſſaſſine !

¹ The ſame verſes as in Delrio’s quotation are here repeated. ² DE L’ANCRE, Conſeiller du Roy, Lnd. XIII. en ſon Conſeil d’Eſtat, ſur l’Incredulité et Meſcreance de Sortilege. Quarto, Paris, 1622, fol. 153. The curious reader is likewiſe referred to the following old authorities,—Vair, l. 2, c. 10, De Fascino. Del Rio, de Contactu. Lemnius, de Occultis naturæ miraculis, cap. 7, &c. ³ See the Case of Jane Norkott, afterwards quoted, p. 152.

And, lest we should seem too forward to expunge from the mind of any man the belief of that opinion, which to some may be a more powerful argument than the express command of God, to deter them from committing so horrible and execrable a crime as Murder, we shall so far concur with them as to conceive this effect to be Divine only in the infliction, but merely natural in the production or immediate causes. Because the appearance seems not to transcend the capacity of natural means, and the whole syndrome and series of its causes may be thus explained. It is an opinion highly consistent, that in every vehement passion there is formed a certain idea, as well of the object whereupon the imagination is most intent, as of the good or evil connected unto, and expected from, that object; and that this idea is, as it were, impressed, by a kind of inexplicable figillation upon the spirits, at the same instant the mind determineth to will the present prosecution or avoidance of the object; so that, by the mediation of the spirits (those angels of the mind), the same idea is transmitted to the blood, and, through the arteries, diffused into all parts of the body, as well into the nerves and muscles, which are intervient to such voluntary motions as are requisite to the execution of the decrees and mandates of the will concerning the prosecution or avoidance of the object. This being so, we may conceive that the phantasy of the person assaulted by an assassin, having formed an idea of hatred, opposition, and revenge; and the same being characterized upon the spirits, and by them diffused through the blood; though the blood become much less fluid in the veins after death, by reason the vital influence and pulsifick faculty of the heart, which animated and circulated it, is extinct, yet, because at the presence of the Murderer, there issue from the pores of his body such subtle emanations as are consimular to those which were emitted from him at the time he strove with, overcame, and killed the patient; and those emanations entering the dead body, do cause a fresh commotion in the blood, remaining yet somewhat fluid in its veins, and, as it were, renew the former collocation or duell betwixt the yet wholly uncondensed spirits of the slain and those of the Homicide; therefore is it that the blood, suffering an æstuation, flows up and down in the veins to seek some vent or sallyport, and finding none so open as in that part wherein the wound was made, it issues forth from thence! And where the Murdered person is destroyed by strangulation, suffocation, or the like unbloody death, so that there is no manifest solution of continuity in the skin or other exterior parts of the body, in that case it hath been observed that the carcass bleeds at the mouth or nose, or both; and this only because in all vehement strivings, and especially in collocation for life, the spirits and blood flow most plentifully into the arteries and veins of the head, as is visible by the great redness of the eyes and face of every man that fights; and where the blood fixeth in most plenty, there will be the greatest tumult, æstuation, and commotion when it is ferment, agitated, and again set afloat, by the Discordant Effluvia emitted from the body of the near approaching or touching Murderer—and, consequently, there must the vessels suffer the greatest stress, distension, and disruption, or apertion of their orifices.*

This passage fully explains the extraordinary opinions which were formerly entertained by the most eminent physicians, in England, during the reign of King Charles II.

(v.) DR HIBBERT likewise transmitted the following extract from the well-known work, entitled, ‘Ludovici Lavateri Theologi eximii de Spectris, Lemuribus, variisque præfagationibus Tractatus vere aureus.’—‘Aliquis à latronibus interceptus fuit; accedentibus latronibus ad cadaver, statim cepit recentem sanguinem stillare, aut aliis signis præsentiam latronis significari. Plato, 1, Legum 1,² tradit eorum qui occisi sunt animas, sæpe interfectorum animas hostiliter insequitendi. Marcellus Ficinus fortè contingere putat, ut occisi hominis vulnus etiam jacente cadavere in eum qui vulneraverat, si modò ille cominus inflet, vulnus ipsum inspiciens, sanguinem rursus eiciat, quod quidem evenire Lucretius affirmavit, et Judices observarint. Dido apud Virg. minetur Æneæ: Et cum frigida mors anima se duxerit artus, omnibus umbra locis adero; dabis, improbe, pænas.—Similis locus est apud Horat. et alios

¹ Lugduni Batav. Apud Henricum Verbiest. Anno 1659.

² Lib. xvi. cap. 5, De Animorum Immort.

Poetas. Latro affedit menſæ, everſo poculo, vinum per ſolidum lignum menſæ manavit omnium magna admiratione.'

To conclude theſe Notices, the Editor, without offering farther obſervations on this branch of the ſubject, preſents a variety of other extracts, all bearing on the ſame point, and tending to ſhow the univerſal concurrence of Lawyers, Divines, Hiſtorians, Phyſicians, and Philoſophers, in the ancient opinions already related as obtaining ſo general a belief over the civilized world, and eſpecially in Europe.

(vi.) 'IN a ſecret Murther, if the dead carcaſſe be at any time thereafter handled by the Murtherer, it will gush out of blood; as if the blood were crying to Heaven for revenge of the Murtherer.'—King James VI, Dæmonologie, p. 136.

(vii.) 'I HAVE heard, by credible report, that the wound of a man murdered, renewing bleeding at the preſence of a dear friend or of a mortal enemy. Divers alſo write, that if one paſs by a murdered body (though unknown), he ſhall be ſtricken with fear, and feel in himſelf ſome alteration, by nature.'—Scot's Discovery of Witchcraft, p. 170.

(viii.) 'WHO can allege any certaine and firme reaſon, why the blood runnes out of the wounds of a man murdered, long after the Murder committed, if the Murderer be brought before the dead bodie? Galeotus Martius, Jeronymus Maggius, Marſilius Ficinus, Valleriola, Joubert, and others, have offered to ſay ſomething thereof.—Who (I pray you) can ſhew why, if a deſperat bodie hang himſelfe, ſuddenlie there ariſe tempeſts and whirlwinds in the aire?'—Living Librarie, fol. Lond. 1621, p. 283.

(ix.) 'WHY dead bodies bleed in the preſence of their Murtherers? Becauſe nothing is ſo hidden from Juſtice as Murder, they uſe not only torments of the body, but alſo the torture of the ſoule, to which its paſſions doe deliver it over, of which Feare diſcovering itſelfe more than the reſt, the Judges have forgotten nothing that may make the ſuſpected perſon fearefull. For, beſides their interrogatories, confronting him with witneſſes, ſterne lookes, and bringing before him the Inſtruments of Torture, as if they were ready to make him feele them, they perſuade him that a carcaſſe BLEEDS in the preſence of his Murtherers, becauſe dead bodies being removed doe often bleed; and then, he whoſe conſcience is tainted with the ſyntereſis of the fact, is troubled in ſuch fort, that by his mouth or geſture he often bewrayes his own guiltineſſe, as not having his firſt motions in his owne power.'—Five Philoſ. queſt. answered, 4to, Lond. 1653.

(x.) IN the Athenian Oracle, I. 106, there is inserted a particular relation of a corſe falling a-bleeding at the approach of perſons ſuppoſed to have in any way occaſioned its death. The phenomenon is thus endeavoured to be accounted for. 'The blood is congealed in the body for two or three days, and then becomes liquid again, in its tendency to corruption. The air being heated by many perſons coming about the body, is the ſame thing to it as motion is. 'Tis obſerved that dead bodies will bleed in a concurrence of people, when Murderers are abſent as well as preſent; yet legiſlators have thought fit to authorize it, and uſe this trial, as an argument at leaſt, to frighten, though 'tis no concluſive one to condemn them.' Vid. alſo p. 193.

(xi.) 'IT is a thing known, yea, by many undeniable inſtances witneſſed, that marvellous diſcovery of concealed Murder, by the bleeding of the body, upon the touch of the Murderer! I confeſs, it should be hard to assert the lawful and warrantable practice of such an Appeal to so extraordinary and stupendous a sign from the Lord, where Scripture goeth not clearly before us. But, on the other hand, such a thing so surely tried for such an end, and in the case where all ordinary means of discovery have been wanting, I think, calleth us to a serious remark thereof, while it so visibly seemeth to witness his hand who doth make inquisition for blood!

¹ 'What is it that ſhould make men's guilt ſo legible oft in their countenance, even when they ſtudy moſt to conceal it; and thus cauſe them give their tongue the lie, yea, bewray to byſtanders whether they will or not ſome

(xii.) SIR KENELM DIGBY takes it for granted that a Corpse often bleeds on such occasions—and thus accounts for the phenomenon. ‘And to this cause, peradventure, may be reduced the strange effect which is frequently seen in England, when, at the approach of the Murderer, the slain body suddenly bleedeth afresh. For certainly the Souls of them that are treacherously Murdered by surprize, use to leave their bodies with extreme unwillingness, and with vehement indignation against them that force them to so unprovided and abhorred a passage! That Soul, then, to wreak its evil talent against the hated Murderer, and to draw a just and desired revenge upon his head, would do all it can to manifest the author of the fact! To speak it cannot—for in itself it wanteth the organs of voice; and those it is parted from are now grown too heavy, and are too benumbed, for to give motion unto: Yet some change it desireth to make in the body, which it hath so vehement inclination to; and therefore is the aptest for it to work upon. It must then endeavour to cause a motion in the subtlest and most fluid parts (and consequently the most moveable ones) of it. This can be nothing but THE BLOOD, which then being violently moved, must needs gush out at those places where it findeth issue!’

(xiii.) EXTRACT from a Letter, the Rev. H. Cross, Caithness, Jun. 11, 1712, to the Rev. Robert Wodrow.² ‘Some Murders in this cuntry have been discovered, by causing suspected persons touch the dead corps; which upon their touching have immediatly bled; whereupon some have confessed guilt, and have been executed. I cannot tak up time in telling the particular circumstances thereof.’

(xiv.) MR BURNETT,³ in treating of presumptive evidence, remarks, that ‘in various Trials for Murder, we find the notion of the corpse bleeding, if touched by the Murderer, a circumstance founded on. In Stewart Abercrombie’s Case,⁴ we see it stated, in the Information for the prisoner, as a circumstance in his favour, that he had, without fear or dread, gone and touched the body of the person murdered. And in the Case of Howatson,⁵ before Lord Justice-Clerk Cockburn, we find it stated and insisted on as a strong circumstance of suspicion against him, that he had refused to go to the lifting of the corpse. This even is stated as one of the circumstances in the Interlocutor of relevancy; and perhaps rightly so, on the supposition of the popular belief of THE MURDERER’S TOUCHING THE CORPSE.’

(4.) PARTICULAR INSTANCES where the CORPSES of Murdered Persons have been TOUCHED, as a TEST OF GUILT—REMARKABLE CRIMINAL TRIALS, in which this circumstance was founded on—THE OPINIONS OF LAWYERS, &c.

(i.) THE earliest recorded notice which the Editor has been able to find, in British History, of this superstitious custom, is in Buchanan’s History of Scotland;⁶ who relates, that, in A.D. 972, after the atrocious Murder of KING DUFFUS⁷ by the assassins hired by Donald, Governor of the Castle of Forres, they ‘carried him out so cunningly a back way, that not so much as a drop of blood appeared,’ secret trouble and sore they have within? Doth it not clearly show the power of Conscience, which hath such authority on men, that without violence or constraint from others, doth even force them to confess the truth, and supply the room of witnesses.’—Fleming’s Fulfilling of the Scripture, 3d edit. Glasg. 1681.

¹ Ibid. ² Wodrow MSS. Orig. Letters. Quarto, XIX. ‘Remarkable Providences.’ Adv. Library, Edinburgh. No traces can be had of the particular instances to which the Rev. Gentleman alludes. They would doubtless prove of much interest, could they be still discovered. ³ Burnett on Crimes, p. 529. (Note.) ⁴ Jan. and Feb. 1718. ⁵ James Howatson, tried for Murder, at Dumfries, May 1727. ⁶ Buchanan’s History of Scotland, Ed. 1762, i. 247. ⁷ Son of King Malcolm I. He was murdered A.D. 972.

&c.—‘ The executioners of that bloody fact were sent out of the way by Donald ; because there is an opinion, received from our ancestors, which as yet obtains amongst the vulgar, That BLOOD will issue from a dead body, many days after the party's being murdered, IF THE MURDERER BE PRESENT ; just as if the fact had been newly committed.’ This takes it for granted, that the understanding was, that the TOUCHING of the corpse must have been infinitely more available, towards the discovery of the Murderer.

(ii.) RAPIN¹ records a circumstance, as having occurred at the interment of KING HENRY II. of England, A.D. 1189. That monarch having fallen sick at Chinon, caused himself to be carried into the Church, before the Altar ; where, after confessing himself, and expressing repentance, he expired. ‘ His corpse was removed to Font-Evrard, in Anjou, where he was buried, according to his own order. An extraordinary accident rendered the funeral of his body very remarkable. His son RICHARD (Cœur de Lion) coming to meet the funeral pomp, in order to attend his father to his grave, upon his approach THE BLOOD in great abundance gushed out of the mouth and nostrils of the corpse ! RICHARD, though naturally very hard hearted, was so moved at this sight, that he burst out into tears, and openly accused himself of being the occasion of his father's death.’ *Hume*² adds, that ‘ he exclaimed, agreeably to a vulgar SUPERSTITION, that he was his father's MURDERER !’

(iii.) BUT, without attempting too laborious an investigation of our early Historians and Chroniclers on so insulated a point, it is enough for our purposes to preserve the memory of such Cases as have been peculiarly striking, and which have occurred nearer to our own times. Accordingly, one of the most remarkable instances of Touching as a Test of Murder,³ is the Case of the Murder of JOHAN NORKOTT, wife of Arthur Norkott, the incidents of which were fortunately preserved amongst the papers of Sir John Maynard, Sergeant at Law,⁴ and afterwards one of the Lord Commissioners of the Great Seal of England, &c. who noted the particulars at the Trial, at the bar of the King's Bench, 4th Car. I. (1628.) This eminent Lawyer's Notes are followed here, as closely as possible, in his own words.

‘ Johan Norkott having been murdered, the question was, How she had come by her death ? The Coroner's Inquest, on view of the body, and Depositions of Mary Norkott, John Okeman, and Agnes his wife, inclined to find JOHAN NORKOTT Felo de se ;—for the evidence persuaded the Coroner and Jury that she was found dead in her bed, the knife sticking in the floor, and her throat cut—that the night before, she went to bed with her child, her husband being absent—and that no other person, after she had gone to bed, came into the house—the Examinants lying in the outer room, and they must needs have seen or known if any stranger had come in. Whereupon the Jury gave up to the Coroner their Verdict, that she was Felo de se.

‘ But afterwards, upon rumour among the neighbourhood, and their own observation of a variety of circumstances, which manifested, that she did not, nor, according to those circumstances, could possibly murder herself—the Jury, whose Verdict was not yet drawn into form by the Coroner, desired that the Body, which had been buried, might be taken up out of the grave. The Coroner assented to their desire ; and THIRTY DAYS after her death, she was taken up, in presence of the Jury and a great concourse of people ; and, in consequence of what transpired, the Jury altered their former Verdict.

‘ The persons accused were tried at Hertford Assizes, and Acquitted ; but so much against the Evidence, that Judge Harvey expressed his opinion, that it were better an Appeal were brought, than so foul a murder should escape unpunished.

¹ Rapin, Fol. Lond. 1784, i. 221. ² Hume's Hist. of England, 8vo. Edin. 1805, i. 484. See also Bened. Abb., p. 547. Brompton, p. 1151. Mat. Paris, p. 107. ³ See also Gent. Mag. (Sep. 1731,) i. 395. Ellis's Brand's Popular Antiquities, ii. 543. ⁴ See Howell's State Trials, xiv. 1324. But especially History of the Works of the Learned, for the year 1739, Art. 12, to which curious publication Sir John Maynard's Papers were originally communicated by Dr Rawlinson.

‘ Accordingly, at the ensuing Easter term (Pafcha, 4 Car.), they were tried on the Appeal, which was brought by the Young Child againſt his father, grandmother, and aunt, and her huſband Okeman.¹ *The Miniſter of the Pariſh*² where the Murder was committed, depoſed, “ That the Body being taken up out of the grave, thirty days after the party's death ; and lying on the grafs, and the four defendants being preſent, were required each of them to TOUCH THE DEAD BODY. Okeman's wife fell upon her knees, and prayed to God to ſhew a Token of her Innocency, or to ſome ſuch purpoſe—her very words I have forgot. The Appellees did touch the dead body ;—whereupon the brow of the dead, which before was of a livid and carrion colour,³ begun to have a dew or genile ſweat ariſe on it, which increaſed by degrees, till the ſweat ran down in drops on the face. The brow turned to a lively and freſh colour, and the deceaſed opened one of her eyes and ſhut it again : And this opening the eye was done three ſeveral times. She likewiſe thruſt out the ring or marriage finger three times, and pulled it in again ; and the finger dropped blood from it on the grafs.”

‘ SIR NICHOLAS HYDE, Lord Chief Juſtice, ſeeming to doubt the Evidence, aſked the Witneſs, “ Who ſaw this beſides you ? ” Witneſs. “ I cannot ſwear what others ſaw—but my Lord, (ſaid he,) I do believe the whole company ſaw it ; and if it had been thought a doubt, Proof would have been made of it, and many would have atteſted with me.” The Witneſs obſerving ſome admiration⁴ in the auditors, he ſpoke further. “ My Lord, I am Miniſter of the Pariſh, and have long known all the parties ; but never had any occaſion of diſpleaſure againſt any of them, nor had to do with them or they with me, but as I was Miniſter.—The thing was wonderful to me, but I have no intereſt in the matter ; but as called upon to teſtify the truth, that I have done.”—Whereupon, applying himſelf to the Chief Juſtice, he ſaid, “ My Lord, my brother, here preſent, is Miniſter of the next Pariſh adjacent—and I am aſſured ſaw all done that I have affirmed.”

‘ Therefore that perſon was alſo ſworn to give Evidence, and did depoſe, in every point, viz. the ſweating of the brow—the change of the colour—opening of the eye—and the thrice motion of the finger, and drawing it in again. Only, the firſt Witneſs added, that he himſelf dipped his finger in the blood which came from the dead body, to examine it—and he ſwore he believed it was blood!’

Sir John Maynard adds, ‘ I conferred (my Notes) afterwards with Sir Edward Powell, Barrifter at Law, and others, who all concurred in the obſervation—and for myſelf, if I were upon oath, can depoſe, that theſe Depoſitions (eſpecially of the firſt Witneſs) are truly reported, in ſubſtance.’

‘ The other Evidence was given againſt the Priſoners, viz. the Grandmother of the Plaintiff, and againſt Okeman and his Wife—that they confeſſed they lay in the next room to the dead perſon that night, and that none came into the houſe till they found her dead the next morning ; therefore, if the did not Murdler herſelf, they muſt be the Murdherers. To that end further proof was made.

‘ Fiſt, That ſhe lay in a compoſed manner in her bed, the clothes nothing at all diſturbed, and her chibi by her in bed.—Secondly, Her throat cut from ear to ear, and her neck broken ; and if ſhe firſt cut her throat, ſhe could not break her neck in bed, nor contra.—Thirdly, There was no blood in the bed, ſaving there was a tincture of blood on the bolſter whereon her head lay—but no ſubſtance of blood at all.—Fourthly, From the bed's head there was a ſtream of blood on the floor, which run along till it ponded in the hollows of the floor, to a very great quantity ; and there was another ſtream of blood on the floor at the bed's foot, which ponded alſo on the floor, to another great quantity,—but no continuance or communication of blood of either of theſe two places from one to the other, neither upon the bed—ſo that ſhe bled in two places ſeverally : And it was depoſed, (that on) turning up the mat of the bed, there were clotts of congealed blood in the ſtraw of the mat underneath.—Fifthly, The bloody knife was found in the morning sticking in the floor, a good distance from the bed; but the point of the knife, as it stuck, was towards the bed, and the haft or handle from the bed.—Sixthly, There was a print of the thumb and four fingers of a left hand. Sir Nich. Hyde, Chief Justice, said to the Witnesses, “How can you know the print of a left-hand from the print of a right-hand, in such a case?” Witnesses, “My Lord, it is hard to describe—but if it please that honourable Judge to put his left-hand upon your left-hand, you cannot possibly place your right-hand in the same posture.” Which being done, appeared so.

¹ The individuals on whoſe Depoſitions the original Verdict had been pronounced. ² ‘ A very reverend perſon, as I gueſſed, of about ſeventy years of age. His teſtimony was delivered gravely and temperately—but to the great admiration (wonder, aſtoniſhment) of the auditory.’ ³ ‘ That was the verbal expreſſion, in terminis, of the Witneſs.’

⁴ Wonder, aſtoniſhment, amazement.

‘The Defendants had time to make their Defence—but gave no evidence, to any purpose.

‘THE JURY departed from the bar—and returning, ACQUITTED Okeman, and found the other three GUILTY; who, being severally demanded, “What they could say, why Judgement should not be pronounced?” said nothing—but (saying that) each of them said, “I did not do it! I did not do it!”

‘JUDGEMENT was given accordingly, and the Grandmother and the Husband executed; but the Aunt had the privilege to be spared execution, being with child.

‘I inquired if they confessed any thing at their Execution; but did not, as I was told.’

(iv.) THE next case which shall be mentioned, is that of MARIOUN PEEBLES,¹ alias Pardone, spouse to SWENE, in Hildiswick, who was, on March 22, 1644, sentenced to be strangled at a stake, and burnt to ashes, at the Hill of Berrie, for WITCHCRAFT and MURDER. Marion and her husband having ‘ane deadlie and venefical malice in her heart’ against Edward Halero in Overure, and being determined ‘to destroy and put him down,’ being ‘transformed in the lyknes of ane pellack-quhail, (the Devill changing her spirit, quhilk fled in the same quhail,)’ and the said Edward and other four individuals being in a fishing-boat, coming from the Sea, at the North-banks of Hildiswick, ‘on ane fair morning, did cum under the said boat, and overturnit her with ease, and drowned and devoired thame in the sey, right at the thore, when there wis na danger wtherways.’ The bodies of Halero and another of these hapless fishermen having been found, Marion and Swene ‘wir sent for, and brought to see thame, and to lay thair hands on thame, dayis after said death and away-casting, quhaire thair bluid was evanished and defolved, from every natural cours or caus, shine, and run; the said unquhill Edward bled at the collir-bain or craig-bane, and the said ,² in the hand and fingers, gushing out bluid thairat, to the great admiration of the beholders—and revelation of the judgement of the Almytie! And by which lyk occasionis and miraculous works of God, made manifest in Murders and the Murderers; whereby, be many frequent occasiones brought to light, and the Murderers, be the said proof brought to judgment, conuict and condemned, not only in this Kingdom, also this countrie, but lykways in maist forrin Christiane Kingdomis; and be so manie frequent precedentis and practising of and tuitching Murderis and Murdereris, notourlie known: So, the foirsaid Murder and Witchcraft of the saidis perfons, with the rest of their companions, through your said Husband’s deed, art, part, rad,³ and counfall, is manifest and cleir to all, not onlie through and by the foirsaid precedentis of your malice, wicked and malishes⁴ practifes, by Witchcraft, Confessionis, and Declarationis of the said unquill Janet Frafer, Witch, revealed to her, as said is, and quha wis desyrit by him to concur and assist with you to the doing thereof; but lykways be the declaration and revelation of the justice and judgementis of God, through the said issuing of bluid from the bodies!’ &c.

(v.) A SIMILAR and very remarkable instance is related in the following Trial: In the Dittay of CHRISTIAN WILSON, alias the Lanthorne,⁵ accused of Murder, Witchcraft, &c., (which is founded upon the examinations of James Wilson, Abraham Macmillan, William Crichton, and Fyfe and George Erskine, &c. led before Sir William Murray of Newtoun, and other Commissioners, at Dalkeith, Jun. 14, 1661,) it is stated, that ‘ Ther being enimitie betuixt the said Christiane and Alexander Willfone her brother, and shoo having often tymes threatned him, at lenth, about 7 or 8 monthes since, altho’ the said Alexander was sene that day of his death, at three houres afternone, in good health, walking about his bussinesse and office; yitt, at fyve howres in that same night, he was fownd dead, lying in his owne howfe, naked as he was borne, with his face torne and rent, without any appearance of a spot of blood either wpon his bodie or neigh to it. And altho’ many of the neiboures in the toune (Dalkeith) come into his howfe to see the dead corpe, yitt sho newar offered to come, howbeit her dwelling was nixt adjacent thairto; nor had shoo so much as any feirning greiff for his death. Bot the Minister and Bailliffes of the towne, taking great suspitione of her, in respect of her cairiage, comandit that shoo should be browght in; bot when shoo come, shoo come trembling all the way to the howfe—bot shoo refused to come nigh THE CORPS or to TUITCH it, saying, that shoo “ nevir tuitched a dead corpe in her lyfe!” Bot being earnestly desyred by the Minister, Bailliffes, and hir brother’s friends who was killed, that shoo wold “ bot twitch the corpses sofastlie,” shoo granted to doe it—but before shoo did it, the Sone being shyning in at the howfe, shoo exprest her fesse thus, humbly desyryng, that “ as the Lord made the Sone to shyne and give light into that howfe, that also he wald give light to discovering of that Murder!” And with these words, shoo TUITCHEING the wound of the dead man, verie fastlie, it being whyte and cleane, without any spot of blod or the lyke!—yitt IMEDIATLY, whill her fingers was wpon it, THE BLOOD RUSHED OWT OF IT, to the great admiratioun¹ of all the behoulders, who tooke it for discoverie of the Murder, according to her owne prayers.—For ther was ane great lumpe of flesh taken out of his cheik, so smowthlie, as no rafor in the world cowld have made so ticht ane incisionne, wpon flesh, or cheis—and ther wes no blood at all in the wovnd—nor did it at all bleed, altho’ that many perfones befor had tuitched it, whill² shoo did tuitche it! And the howfe being searched all over, for the shirt of the dead man, yitt it cowld not be found; and altho’ the howfe was full of people all that night, ever vatching the corpses,³ neither did any of them tuitch him that night—which is probable⁴—yitt, in the morneing, his shirt was fownd tyed fast about his neck, as a brechame,⁵ non knowing how this come to pass! And this Cristian did immediatlie transport all her owne goods owt of her own howfe into her dowghter’s, purposing to flie away—bot was therwpon apprehendit and imprisoned.’

¹ See Dr Hibbert's Hist. of Orkney, &c. to which this remarkable Trial is appended. ² The name left blank. ³ Rede; advice. ⁴ Malicious.

⁵ The name given her at her baptism by the Devil. From Collection of Original Documents, belonging to the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, MS. As a specimen of the other charges, take the following: “Williame Richardstone, in Dalkeith, haiving felled ane hen of the said Cristianes with ane stone, and wpon her sight therof did immediatly threatne him, and with ane frowneing countenance told him, that he ‘should never cast ane vther stone!’ And immediatly the said Williame fell into ane franicie and madnes, and

(vi.) THE next instance which shall be cited, refers immediately to the Case of THE MURES OF AUCHINDRANE; being an extract from a ‘ RELATIONE of quhat past betwixt the Commitie⁶ and MR JAMES MITCHELL,’ &c.⁷ January 18, 22, and 24, 1676. In the course of the pleadings as to the lawfulness of inflicting Torture, the following interesting passage occurs. “ Bot in this preparative, the practife is wnparalleled, to put a perfon to it be such a Tortour, to turne (contrarie the cowrse of nature and expresse law of God) to be his own accuser; no, not in Peiter Aroy, the Highland Rober tooke his bed, and newer rose agane, but died within a few dayes: And in the tyme of his sicknes, he alwayes cryed owt, that the said Cristiane wes present befor him, in the liknes of ane gray catt! And some tyme eftir his death, James Richardstone, nephew to the said Williame, being a boy playing in the said Cristiane her yaird, and be calling her Lautherne, shoo threatned, that ‘ if he held not his peace, shoo sowld cawse him to die the death his nephew (uncle) died of!’ Whairby it would appere that shoo tooke wpon hir his nepheas (uncle’s) death.”

¹ Wonder; amazement. ² Until. That is, many previous trials had been made of other persons suspected, or of those who were near neighbours, perhaps living at enmity with the deceased, who had voluntarily offered themselves to this solemn ordeal, or had been called upon thus publicly to attest their innocence of his blood. ³ Holding the lyke-wake. ⁴ Can be proved, by testimony or probation. ⁵ The large collar which goes about a draught-horse’s neck. ⁶ Of the Estates of Parliament. ⁷ Wodrow’s MSS. as to ‘ the Sufferings,’ Adv. Lib. xxxvi. Quarto, No. 2. This Document relates to the Tortures used to Mitchell, who had been accused of an attempt to Murder, by shooting a pistol at Archbishop Sharpe, and the Bishop of Orkney, Jul. 9, 1668, &c. 29 Car. I., Jan. 7, 1677. See for the particulars of her Trial, Salut. State Trials, p. 331, &c.

and Murthrer ! Bot he, being legalie convicted himself, was put to the Tortour, to cause him declaire who was his confederats and affociats in committing of such horrid crymes. Bot if any man shall object that about THE LAIRD OF AUCHINDRANE, I answer : 1st, Thair is no paritie in the cawfe ; becaufe he was accused of an horrid and privat Murther, quhair thair was altogether penurie of Witnesses, and not of a deutie contraverted be Apofrats : 2dly, GOD, in a foveraine and fingular way, witnesed it from Heaven, by his own immediate hand, and proved the Deed against him ! viz. the Corpes of the man Murthered, being buried in Girvane Kirk-yard, as a man cast away at sea, and cast owt thaire, the Laird of Coleaine, whose servant he had beine befor, driming¹ of him in his sleipe, and that he had a muse-marke wnder his left pape ;² and when he awook owt of his sleipe, wpon searck, found it to be trwe—came to the place, and taking wpe the Corpes owt of the place quhair they were buried, found him to be Murthered. Wpon which, he sumoned in all the men in that pairt, to touch the Corpes, as the custon was in such cafes ; and all compeiring, except the saids Laird and his son, who were the Murtherers ; and his dwelling house and familie being neire to the place, ane young chyld of his, MARIE MURE be name, seing the people, went to the place ; and when she drew neire to the Corpes (to the admiration of all the people,) did spring owt wpon her in abundance of blood ! Wpon which they were apprehended and put to tryell.”

(vii.) A VERY singular incident is related by Law, in his ‘Memorialls.’³ Two men having been executed at Glasgow, Jun. 14, 1683, for the Murder of a gentleman (David Monroe) at Inchbelly-bridge ; in consequence of the enormity of the offence, their bodies were appointed to be hung up in irons. For this purpose, the bodies of the Criminals were conveyed to the spot, where, according to the terms of the Sentence, they were to be gibbeted. Law relates, that “Though their entrails were taken out, and their bodies cleansed from all blood, yet when it (the body of one of the culprits) came to the place where the Murther was committed, did gush out in blood, in the arm which was cut ; teitified to be a truth by the beholders ; which was a testimony of their guilt !”

(viii.) OF a like nature with the last instance, a strange story is told in the Biographia Scoticana, which has likewise been elsewhere repeated. That a few days after Mr James Guthrie was executed, and his head placed upon the Netherbow Port of Edinburgh, Middleton’s coach coming down that way and passing through the Port, several drops of blood fell from the head upon the top of the coach ; —which, as the legend goes, ‘all their art and diligence could not wipe off !’ Physicians were called, and desired to enquire if any natural cause could be given for this event—but they could give none ! “This odd incident being noised abroad, and all means tried, at length the leather was removed, and a new cover put on !!! But this was much sooner done, than the wiping off the guilt of this great and good man’s blood upon the shedders of it, and the disgrace from this poor Nation !”

(ix.) FEW instances of this description are entitled to the consideration which the following Case possesses, as well in a legal as in a philosophical point of view. In the very remarkable Scottish Trial of PHILIP STANFIELD,⁴ for Parricide, (executed Feb. 15, 1688,) the circumstance of the body of Sir James Stanfield of Newmills, who was Murdered near Haddington, in Dec. 1687, having bled on the touch of his son Philip, the Parricide, was urged and argued with the utmost earnestness, in Court. James Muirhead, Surgeon, one of the Witnesses, swore, that “upon the prisoner’s affitting to lift the body of his deceased father, Sir James Stanfield, after it had been sewed up,⁵ and clean linen

¹ Dreaming. ² A mouse mark under his left breast. ³ Law’s Memorials, p. 252. ⁴ See Howell’s State Trials, XI. 1371.—Salmon’s State Trials, p. 610.—Fountainhall’s Decisions, I. 484.—See also Fountainhall’s Diary.—Arnol’s Criminal Trials, p. 33, Note.

⁵ The body had been opened and examined, by Judicial authority, for the purpose of determining the precise cause of the deceased’s death. The surgeons to whom this remit had been granted, reported, that Sir James had died from strangulation, not from drowning—and that the idea of felo de se, which had been attempted to be proved by the son, was utterly impossible.

put on, it DARTED OUT BLOOD through the linen, from the left side of the neck, which the pannell TOUCHED—but, that when he (the Witness) and the other Surgeon, James Crawford, put on the linen, and stirred and moved the head and neck, before, he saw no blood at all!"

This fact was corroborated by other Witnesses—and it is, perhaps, worthy of notice, as the most striking peculiarity of that Case, that Sir James had not been stabbed, shot, or assassinated by the cutting of his throat—but was strangled, and then thrown into a water; so that there was no external wound on the neck.

A singular feature in this Case of Stanfield, is the rank and eminence of the Public prosecutors, Sir John Dalrymple, younger of Stair, Sir George Mackenzie, and the gravity with which these superstitious circumstances are argued. The Dittay states, "When his father's dead body was sighted and inspected by Chirurgions, and the clear and evident signs of the Murder had appeared, the body was sewed up, and most carefully cleaned; and his nearest relations and friends were desired to lift up his body to the coffin: And accordingly, James Row, merchant (who was in Edinburgh at the time of the Murder), having lifted the left side of Sir James, his head and shoulder, and the said Philip the right side; his father's body, though carefully cleaned, as said is, so as the least blood was not on it, did (ACCORDING TO GOD'S USUAL METHOD OF DISCOVERING MURDERERS) blood afresh upon him, and defiled all his hands; which struck him with such a terror, that he immediately let his father's head and body fall with violence—and fled from the body!—And, in consternation and confusion, cried, Lord, have mercy upon me!—and bowed himself down over a seat in the Church, (where the Corps was inspected,) wiping his father's innocent blood off his own murdering hands, upon his cloaths!" But as the arguments are fortunately preserved, and as they shew many of the peculiarities of these superstitions, and give the reasonings of the most eminent Lawyers of that time, it may be proper, and can hardly fail to be interesting, even to the general reader, to enter a little into details.

Sir Patrick Hume,² Counsel for Philip Stanfield, urged, that this is but a superstitious observation, without any ground, either in Law or reason. And Carpzovius relates, Part 3, quest. 122, no. 31, that several persons had been unjustly challenged, and that he, in his own experience, had seen a dead body bleed, in presence of the person who was not guilty! And Matheus de Criminibus is of the same opinion, Tit. 16, de questionibus, num. 12, "de sanguine porro de Cadavere profluente, quod dicitur id de plurimis experimentis comprobetur, tamen cum experimenta falsa sint—ratio vero idonea nulla reddi possit, non putaverim iudicium ad Torturam sufficiens esse, non enim sapientis Iudicis est incerto experimento credere, quod certa ratione dirimendum est." And the truth is, the occasion of the dead body's bleeding was, that the Chirurgeon that came out to visit the body did make an incision about the neck, which might be the occasion of the bleeding;—and also the very moving of the dead body, when it was taken out of the grave and out of the coffin, might occasion the bleeding; especially, seeing the body did not bleed for some time after, which certainly was made by the motion and by the incision: As also, a further evidence that it could not be the defender's touching the body, the Chirurgions did likewise touch the body, as well as he, and several others present; so that the bleeding could no more be ascribed to his touching, than the touching of the other persons present.

Sir James Dalrymple, Lord Advocate, answered, that "although the deceased's servants had made a mutiny ament the Burial, till the Corps were sighted, yet the pannel caused bury the Corps that same night! without shewing them!" After Warrant for raising the body had been obtained, the inspection by Surgeons, and the touching, as before detailed, took place; when the pannel let his father's head fall to the ground, and cried out, O God!—and ran away and went to a desk in the Church, where he lay groaning and in confusion, and durst never return to touch the Corpse. And that as there could no natural reason be given, but an ordinar and wonderful Providence of God in this kind of discovery of Murder, so the fact was never more evident and sure. Though half a dozen of persons were bearing the Corpse, no man's hands were bloody but the pannels! That the Corpse being two entire days in the grave, in that weather and season, the blood, by the course of nature, was become stagnant and congealed—so that the former tossing and lifting of the Corpse, and even the incision itself, had occasioned no such effusion, but only some water or gore—but upon the first touch of the pannel, the Murderer, there appeared abundance of liquid florid blood!

¹ This may, no doubt, have been resorted to, for the purpose of proving Philip's participation in the Murder—but, of itself, this ceremony is still universally observed in the middle and lower ranks of life; and is a most affecting spectacle to those who are so deeply interested. It is called "the chesting" or "coffining" of the corpse—a duty almost never (in Scotland) intrusted to hirelings—but is most solemnly performed by the nearest relations, as the last endearing act of respectful and affectionate regard, which they can offer, to the breathless remains of those who had been nearest and dearest to them. ² Along with this gentleman were Sir David Thoires, Mr William Moniepenney, and Mr William Dundas, as counsel for the prisoner.

Sir David Thoirs, in reply, argued, that the falling of blood from the wound could neither be a ground nor presumption for guilt—and though the pannel was surprised to see his father's blood, yet the same did only proceed from natural duty and affection, and not from any apprehension of guilt! Sir Patrick Hume added, that he offered to prove, that the pannel had touched his father's body before the incision, AND IT DID NOT BLEED.

Sir George Mackenzie, in his address to the Jury, asserts that 'GOD ALMIGHTY himself was pleased to bear a share in the testimonies which we produce; that Divine power which makes the blood circulate during life, has oft-times, in all Nations, opened a passage to it, after death upon such occasions,—but most in this case!'

The sentence of the Court was, that he should be 'hanged on a gibbet till he be dead—and his tongue to be cut out and burnt upon a scaffold—and his right hand to be cut off and affix on the East Port of Haddingtoun—and his body to be carried to the Gallowlee, betwixt Leith and Edinburgh, and there to be hanged up in chains,' &c.

(x.) BESIDES the class of notices which has already been afforded, it is natural to expect that vestiges of so prevalent a superstition should appear in the ancient Popular Poetry of all Nations. The Editor's present leisure and opportunities do not admit of his entering upon so wide a field as that just alluded to, for the illustration of such an enquiry. It is sufficient to mention, generally, that such traces do appear in the Ballads of Scotland, England, Germany, and other European Nations. The ancient Romance also, and the Drama of all these countries, abound with allusions to this superstition; and some of them make use of the ceremonial of touching the Corpse, as a powerful aid in exciting the feelings, and in heightening the interest of the reader, or auditory.

As a specimen of one of the Scottish Ballads illustrative of this superstition, the Editor may cite the conclusion of the Romantic Ballad of Young Huntin, or Earl Richard,² as it is too long for insertion at length:—

“PUT na the wite³ on me,” she said,
 “It was my may⁴ Catherine!”
 Than they hae cut baith fern and thorn,
 To burn that maiden in.—

‘It wadna tak upon her cheik,
 Nor yet upon her chin,
 Nor yet upon her yellow hair,
 To cleanse the deidly sin!

¹ The same night the body had been found in the water, having been incrustated with frozen ice, owing to the inclemency of the season; the Murder having been perpetrated in the month of December, during a storm. ² See Minstrelsy of the Scottish Border, II., 420—Herd's Ballads—Chambers's Ballads, &c. ³ Blame. ⁴ Maiden.

‘ The Maiden touch’d the clay-cauld Corpse,
 A DRAP IT NEVER BLED;
 The Lady laid her hand on him,
 And soon the ground was red!

‘ Out they hae ta’en her, may Catherine,
 And put her mistress in.
 The flame tuik fast upon her cheik,
 Tuik fast upon her chin,
 Tuik fast upon her fair bodye—
 She burn’d like hollin green!’¹

(xi.) BEFORE concluding these notices, it may be remarked, for the benefit of the curious inquirer into the superstitions of his native country, that absurdities greater by far than this Test or Ordeal have been gravely stated and maintained, even before the Supreme Criminal Tribunal of Scotland. Perhaps the most extraordinary instance of this description occurred in *the Trial of THE MARQUIS OF ARGYLL,*² before Parliament, 1661, where the Indictment, after setting forth a variety of alleged Murders and cruelties, proceeds, ‘ That THE LORD from Heaven did declare his wrath and displeasure against the aforefaid inhumane cruelty, by striking the tree whereon they³ were hanged in the said month of June, being a lively fresh growing ash-tree, at the Kirk-yard of Dunoone,⁴ among many other fresh trees with leaves. THE LORD struck the said tree immediately thereafter, so that the whole leaves fell from it, and the tree withered, never bearing leaf thereafter, remaining so for the space of two years; after which, being cut down, there sprang out of the very heart of the root thereof a *spring like unto BLOOD, popling up, running into several streams all over the root; and that for several years thereafter,*⁵ till the said Murderers or their favourers, perceiving that it was remarked by persons of all ranks resorting there to see this Miracle, they caused hock out the root,⁶ covering the whole with earth, which was full of the said matter like blood!’

There cannot be a doubt that the foregoing Case, monstrous and shocking in the extreme as it is, is merely an improvement upon the popular Superstition we have been considering; and the inference they wished to deduce from the whole matter is,—that ‘ blood will have blood,’—that God will not suffer Murder to pass over unavenged, even in this world;—and farther, that if man fails to discover guilt, the Almighty will, by extraordinary and even miraculous means, disclose the Murderer’s horrid secret.

¹ Green holly. ² State Trials, (old Edit.) III. 422, and VII. 379.—Howell, XI. 1380. ³ The persons thus mercilessly murdered by the commands of Argyll, and massacred by his followers, were thirty-six in number; who were hanged on this single tree, being ‘ special gentlemen of the name of Lamond, and vassals to Sir James Lamond of Innerin,’ (that Ik.) And on the same day, they ‘ Murdered with durks, and cut down with swords and pistols,’ a number of other unhappy creatures, among whom John Lamond in Auchinshalach, ‘ who being about the age of fourscore years, &c. they most cruelly and barbarously stabbed with durks and skanes at the ladder-foot.’ The Provost of Rothesay was shot through the body thrice, yet finding some life in him, they thrust at him with durks and skanes, and at last cut his throat with a long durk; others they cast into holes, their victims ‘ spurning and wrestling, whilst they were suffocated with earth; having denied to them any time to recommend themselves to God!’ These are part of the atrocities of the Marquis’s followers, detailed in the remarkable Dittay above alluded to; and besides this, they murdered and massacred a number of innocent women, and inhumanly left their bodies as a prey to ravenous beasts and fowls, and ‘ young and old, yea suckling children, some of them not one month old!’ The reader is referred to the State Trials for other particulars, which are too circumstantial to be enumerated here. ⁴ An ancient Castle on the Clyde, of which the Family of Argyle are still the nominal heritable Keepers. It has long since been razed with the ground. The Dun, on which it was situated, has a very peculiar and commanding form, and is a beautiful and picturesque object from the opposite coast, and from the river. The ‘ Kirk-yard’ is still surrounded by lofty trees. ⁵ Ovid’s Metamorphoses are a trifle to this; but still such execrable and almost blasphemous ravings were not only tolerated, but gravely discussed before Parliament! It ought, however, to be kept in mind that the fanaticism which then prevailed had a large share in producing this gross and shocking exhibition, which can only be viewed as solemn mockery of all judicial proceedings, and indeed of every thing sacred. ⁶ Dig up; extirpate.

Slaughter — Shooting of Pistolets, &c.

Jul. 24.—ALEXANDER DUMBAR, Younger of Kilbowak;¹ Robert Dumbar, his brother; Niniane Dumbar, sone to Williame Dumbar of Hemprigis; James Dumbar, sone to Gawin Dumbar, Archedeane of Murray; Thomas Falconer, seruitour to the said Alexander.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Alexander Dumbar of Waftfield (Scheref of Murray); committit the first day of Junij last: And contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in beiring and schuiting of pistolettis, &c.

PERSEWARIS.

Johnne Dumbar of Waftfield, as brother to the defunct; Sir Thomas Hammiltoun.

PRELOCUTOURIS for the Pannell.

Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Thomas Hoip, Mr Thomas Nicolfoun, Aduocatis; the Constable of Dundie, elder, the Laird of Monymusk, the Laird of Halkertoun.

The Justice, of consent of ather parteis, continewis this dyet to ffryday nixt. The Affyse wairnit apud acta, ilk persone, vnder the pane of twa hundreth merkis.

(Jul. 26.)—The Justice continewis this dyet, as ofbefoir, with consent of ather partie, to Wednisday nixt, &c.

(Jul. 31.)—The persewar passis simpliciter fra the persute of the persones on pannell; and is content that thai be put to libertie. Quhairupoune the pannell askit instrumentis.—Compeirit Patrik Dumbar of Blarie, and producet the Counfallis Warrant to the Justice, quhairof the tennour followis.

WARRANT for the Dumbaris libertie.

JUSTICE, Justice Clerk, and 5our deputis: Quhear as, Alexander Dumbar of Kilboyak,² (&c.) are to be presentit befor 5ow this present day, to vnderly the lawis for þe slauchter of vmq^{le} the Scheref of Murray: And We, vnderstanding that þe partie persewar will nocht insift in the persute of þir persones, bot ar content and will consent that þai be put to libertie and fredome: Thairfoir 5ow fall tak guid caution of thame, that þai fall compeir befor his Maiesteis Justice, the thrid day of þe nixt Justice-air of the scherefdome quhair þai duell,³ or soner vpon a fyftene dayis wairning, and vnderly þe law for the Slauchter foirfaid; vnder þe panes contenit in the Actis of Parliament: And this caution being fund, 5ow fall put them to libertie and fredome, and suffer þame pas quhair þai pleis: Quhairanent þir presentis fall be 5our Warrant. AT EDINBURGH, the last day of Julij, 1611.

AL. CANCELL^s. JO. PRESTOUN.

Patrik Dumbar of Blarie and Robert Falconer of Ballandro became cautione for thame, coniunctlie and feuerallie, to the effect aboue writtin.

THE Justice, according to the directioun of the former Warrant, ordanit the saidis persones on pannell to pas frie, and nocht to returne to the said Tolbuthe furth of the quhilk thai war brocht. Quhairupoune Alexander Clerk, ane of the Bailleis of Edinburgh, askit instrumentis.

¹ See Jul. 31, 1616.

² The rest of the names are recited.

³ Elgin.

Egyptians remaining within the Kingdom after Proclamation.

Jul. 31.—MOYSES FA, DAUID FA, ROBERT FA, and JOHNNE alias WILLIE FA, EGIPTIANIS.

Dilaittit for Abyding and remaining within this Kingdome, they being Egiptianis; contrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament.

THE ÆGIPTIANIS DITTAY.

MOYSES FA, DAUID FA, and JOHNNE FA, 3e ar indytit and accuset; That quhair, be Act of Parliament haldin at Edinburgh the xxiiij day of Junij, the 3eir of God Im.Vj^c. and nyne 3eiris, it was statute and ordanit that all the vagabundis, foirneris² and cowmone thevis, cowmonlie callit EGIPTIANES, fould haif past furth pairof, and nevir returnet within þe samyn, eftir þe first day of August, the foirsaid 3eir of God Im.Vj^c. and nyne 3eiris, vnder the pane of deathe: And that it fould be leifum to all his Maiesteis guid subiectis, or ony of thamé, to caus tak, apprehend, impriffone, and execute to death, all maner of Egiptianis, alfewill men as wemen, as cowmone, notorious, and condempnet Thevis, only to be tryit be ane Assyse, that þai ar callit, knawin, repute, and haldin in⁵ Egiptianis: NOCHTPELES, 3e and ilk ane of 3ow being vagabundis, foirneris, cowmone thevis, repute, callit, and haldin Egiptianis, in contempt of his Maieftie and his Lawis, hes presumet to remane in this Kingdome, and hes nocht depairtit and abiddin furth pairof, sen þe said first day of August, þe 3eir of God Im.Vj^c. and nyne 3eiris foirsaid; bot be the contrair, 3e and ilk ane of 3ow hes remanet within this Kingdome, in contempt of þe said Act of Parliament, and ar notorioullie knawin to be Egiptianis, and sua repute and haldin: And pairfoir 3e and ilk ane of 3ow aucht to be demanit to þe death, and suffer þe panes pairof; conforme to the said Act of Parliament.

PERSEWAR, Mr Robert Foulis, substitute to our souerane lordis Aduocat.

The Pannell, viz. Moyfes Fa, producet ane Licence, grantit to him be the Counsell; quhilk the Aduocat acceptis, in quantum.—It is allegit be the Aduocat, that the conditiones specifeit in the Licence grantit to Moyfes Fa is nawayis keipit be the pannell, viz. that he fould find cautionn for fulfilling the perticular injuncciones specifeit in his Licence: Quhilk cautionn,⁴ for his nocht entrie afoir⁵ the Counsel, is vnlawit in the pane and penaltie of ane Thowseand pundis; and the cautioner being charget for payment to the Thesaurer of the said penaltie, hes past to the horne: And thairfoir, in respect of the wordis of the Act of Parliament, and of the nocht payment of the penaltie, as also in respect that the conditiones specifeit in the Licence is nocht keipit, the said Moyfes Faw hes fallin vnder the danger of the said Act of Parliament, and the pane of daith inflietit vpon him; and the remanent perfones, his complices, aucht and fould be pyneist to the daith, conforme to the said Act: And protestis for Wilfull Errorr aganis the Assyse, gif thai acquit, according to the said Act: And produces the Counfallis Act contrair the cautioner, quhair he wes vnlawit in the sowme;⁶ togidder with the Letteris of Hoirning vset aganis him: And repeittis the Depositionn of James Ballache, testifeing the said Moyfes being in companie and societie with the Egiptianis, and of his geving Band to the said James, for redressing of dyuerse Thiftis: And repeittis the Act of Parliament to the Assyse.

¹ See Jul. 19, 1616.
surety. ⁵ Before.

² Who forcibly take free quarters, &c.

³ As.

⁴ Cautioner;

⁶ The sum or amount.

THE Justice, nochtwithstanding of the allegiance proponit be the said Moyfes Fa, vpon the pretendit Licence producet be him; and in respect of the answeries maid thairto be the Aduocat, referrit the samyn Dittay to the knowlege and tryell of ane Assyse.

VERDICT. The Assyse all in ane voce, be the mouth of Williame Murehead, mercheand burges of Edinburgh, chancellor, ffind, pronuncet, and declairit the saidis Moyfes Fa, Daud Fa, Robert Fa, and Johnne alias Willie Fa, notoriouflic knawin to be Egypatianis, at the leif sua repute and haldin, to be ffylit, culpable, and convict of contravening the tennour of the said Act of Parliament, in thair contemptuous remaining and abyding within this kingdome, continuallie, sen the said first day of August, in the foirsaid yeir of God I^m. fax hundreth and nyne yeiris, expres contrair the tennour of the said Act.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Burrow-mure of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit quhill thai be deid: And all thair moveabill guidis and geir pertening to thame, to be escheit and inbrocht to our souerane lordis use, as culpable and convict, &c.

Abiding from the Raid of the Isles.

Sept. 17.—JOHNNE M^cMILLANE in Merkelloch, Johnne M^cMillane in Bank, and Cuthbert M^cmillane in Drumreifehe.

Dilaitit for contravening of his Maiesteis Proclamatioun, maid in the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and aucht yeiris, in nocht passing forward with his Maiesteis Lieutenant to the Raid of the Ilis.

For releif of thair Cautioneris, and in respect that thai thame felfis ar na ffriehalderis nor landit gentilmen, haifing nather landis nor rentis, bot ar removeable Tennentis, and sa nocht comprehendit vnder the saidis Proclamatioun, thay thairfoir compeirit this day and place, in the hour of caus, and offerit thame felfis to the Tryell of the Law, and to vnderly the rigour thairof, gif it war fund that thai war ony wayis comprehendit vnder the said Proclamatioun: And forder, offerit to mak the Kingis Maiestie assignay to thair hail landis and heritages within this realme, gif thai ony had, at that tyme. In respect of the quhilk premisses, and of thair compeirance this day and place, in the hour of caus, and offer maid be thame in maner aboue specifeit, thay Protestit for thair cautioneris releif; and that thai sould onnawayis be callit, charget, or trubillit for the said allegit cryme in ony tyme cuming.

Resset and Intercommuning with Mr Alexander Ruthven, &c.— Gowrie Conspiracy.

Nov. 7.—DAVID SPALDING of Effintullie.

Dilaitit of the tressonable Resset and Intercowmoning with Mr Alexander

Ruthven, sone to vmq^{le} Alexander Ruthven of Freland, and suppoirting of him with money and vther intertenement, he being his Maiesteis declairit Tratur, fforfalt in Parliament, and fugitiue, for airt and pairt of the treaffonable assist- ing and pairt-taking with JOHNNE, funtyme ERLE OF GOWRIE, Alexander Ruthven his brother, in the treffonable Conspiracie devyset aganis his Maieftie, at Perth, vpon the fyft day of August, 1600 yeiris.

THE Justice continewis this dyet to the fourt day of Marche, quhilk is the first Wednisday thair of : And ordanit the defender to find caution for his compeir- ance that day. Plegio, Johanne Spalding de Innerrydray.

PRELOCUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Thomas Nicolfoun, Mr Andro Aytoun.

(Mar. 4, 1612.)—My Lord Advocat desyres that this mater may be con- tinewit to the tuentie day of Maij nixtocum, in respect that, be his Maiesteis Letter, directioun was gevin that probatioun sould be ministrat to the Assyse, of the pannellis giltines of the fact lybellit : And that, in the meane tyme, his Maieftie may be acquentit with the informeris flaknes in the perfute.

THE Justice continewis this matter to the tuentie day of Maij nixtocum. Plegio, ut supra.

PRELOCUTOURIS in defence.

Mr John Ruffell, Mr Andro Aytoun, Mr Thomas Nicolfoun, Mr James Oliphant.

(Maij 20, 1612.)—Compeirit Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Byres, kny^t, Aduocat to our souerane lord, and declairit, that informatioun was gevin to him be his Maieftie, to follow furth this perfute aganis the pannell, his Informeris furneiffing probatioun in that matter, vtherways to desist : And in respect na diligence is vsed be the Informeris in this eirand, for fortherance of this perfute ; he thairfoir declairit, that he wald nocht insist in perfute of the pannell, at this tyme, bot desyret that the dyet sould desert.—Quhairupoun the pannell and his prelocutouris askit instrumentis, and protestit, that he be nocht callit, charget, or perfewit for the crymes aboue specifeit, in ony tyme cuming. And nochtwith- standing of the premisses, in respect of his innocence of the saidis allegit crymes, as he affirmet, offerit him selff instantlie to the tryell of the Law, disflassenting to all maner of continuatioun ; protesting also, that na Letteris be direct aganis him for the said Cryme in tyme cuming ; becaus this is the fourt dyet keipit be him in this matter.

Slaughter.

Nov. 8.—JOHNNE FARQUHARSOUN of Innerchald, Allaster Farquhar- foun, his brother, Donald Farquharfoun younger, Allaster Farquharfoun, his brother, James Farquharfoun in Achalater, Johnne Robertfoun of Straloch, alias Barrone Reid, Johnne Gairdin in Balliemoche, Findla Farquharfoun in Glenylay.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} James Clerk in Auldranie ; committit in anno 1610 yeiris.

Compeirit Thomas Sinclair indueller in Edinburgh, and Robert Auchinlek, wryter, as procuratouris, speciallie constitute be Elspeth Kow the relict, and be Andro Howie, now hir spous, for his entreis ; and be vertew of the Letter of Procuratorie grantit to thame, of the dait at Aberdene the third day of November instant, subscryuit be James Daidfoune and Mr Andro Clerk counoteris,¹ in name, and at command, of the said Elspeth and hir spous, past simpliciter fra the persute of the hail perfonen on pannell, &c.

The pannell protestis that thai nor name of thame be callit or persewit for the said allegit slaughte in ony tyme cuming.

Slaughter—Stouth-reif—Shooting of Culverings, &c.

Nov. 27.—WILLIAME FORBES of Monymusk.

Dilaitit, accuset, and persewit off the crymes following, viz.

FORSAMEKILL as vpon the nynt day of Maij, the 5eir of God I^m. Vc. fourfoir 5eiris, vmq^{le} Alexander Menzeis, sone to vmq^{le} Gilbert Menzeis of Culrie, Proveist of Aberdene, being directit be the said vmq^{le} Gilbert Menzeis of Culrie, his father, to vissie² ane Halk-nest appointit be him to haif bene keipit and preferuet to our fouerane lordis vse and plesoure,³ within the Craig⁴ of Findoun, pertening heritabillie to the said Gilbert Menzeis, oy⁵ to the said vmq^{le} Gilbert Menzeis of Culrie, lyand within the Scherefdom of Kincairdin ; the said vmq^{le} Alexander Menzeis, estir visitatioun of the samyn, and that he had ordanit the tennentis of the saidis landis of Findoun to geve verneft attendance to the keiping of the said halk-nest⁶ for his Maiesteis vse, as said is ; he being in fober and quyet maner returne- and thairfra, cumand agaitwardis to the burgle of Aberdene, trusting in the meane tyme na inquieta- tioun, truble, harme, nor iniurie to haif bene done to him, be ony perfonen ; bot to haif frelie past furth the hie way, as his lienes frie subiect, in respect that he had offendit na man, nather be word nor deid : Neuertheles it is of veritie, that the said Williame Forbes of Monymusk, accompaneit with Alexander Robertfoun, Thomas Dik, and Mylne, then his servendis, and vtheris thair complices, with convocatioun of our fouerane lordis legis, to the number of aucht perfonen, or thairby ; bodin in weir- lyk maner, with secreitis,⁷ steil-bonettis, gantiletis, fuordis, culveringis, and pistolettis, expresse prohibeit to be borne, worne, vsed vpon thair perfonen or in thair companeis, privatlie or oppinlie, outwith houffis, or sekote with, be the Actis of Parliament, vnder the panes thairin contenit ; vpon the said nynt day of May, the yeir of God foirsaid, the said Williame Forbes, with his complices, came tym- oullie in the moirning, befor the sone-ryfeing, to the Cairne⁸ of Loriestoun, lyand within the sche- refdome foirsaid, quhair thay darnet⁹ thamefelfis, maist obscuirly, behind the said Cairne, with thair

¹ Co-Notaries.

² Inspect.

³ King James VI., like many others of his ancestors of the Royal House of Stuart, was passionately fond of the sport of Hawking, and appears to have spared no expense in procuring the finest breeds, from various parts of Scotland (chiefly from the North of Scotland and from the Western Islands and Orkney.) The choicest kinds seem to have been brought from Denmark and Norway ; and, in many instances, the Falconers, who had trained them in those countries, were taken under the King's immediate protection and patronage.

⁴ Craig, a precipitous rock or crag.

⁵ Grandson ; oe.

⁶ The books of the Lord High Treasurer abound with entries of payments to men ' for watching a halkis-nest' at such a place, so as to secure the brood, and give timely notice when they were fledged and ready to take wing.

⁷ A shirt of chain-mail, secretly worn under the ordinary dress. ⁸ A heap or pile of stones, commonly erected on an eminence, which marks the place of sepulture of some remarkable persons. Cairns were often reared to preserve the memory of a remarkable Murder, &c.

⁹ Concealed ; hid.

chargit culveringis, placet vponc restis,¹ awaiting the said vmq^{le} Alexanderis bycuming, for his slauchter : Lyk as, thay lay at await for his slauchter behind the said Cairne, continuallie, fra befor the foueryfeing, quhill about aucht houris in the moirning; till at last, haifing perfauet the said vmq^{le} Alexander foliter, him self allane, in sober and quyet maner, cumand by the said cairne, thay, af thair restis, difchargit thair culveringis at him, or euir he was circumspect of thame; and thairwith schote him throw the heart and body with tua bullettis; and thairby, maift schamefullie, crewallie, and vnmercifullie slew him, upone fet purposis, prouifoun, be way of Brigancie,² in vmbefetting the lie way, and sfirthocht fellonie : AND nocht being fatisfeit thairwith, thay feing him fall doun deid with the said schote, thay incontinent thaireftir ruschet fordwaris to him, and with thair fuordis and quhingeris maift schamefullie, crewallie, and tirannoullie gaif the said Alexander nyne bludie woundis about his heart, nochtwithstanding that thay had persanet him lyand deid and flane be thame of befor : AS ALSO, at the samyn tyme, be way of stouthreif, staw,³ rest, and away tuik with thame his fuord, quhinger, cloik, and uther graith being vponc him; had and convoyit the samyn with thame, and disponit thairupoun at thair plesour : And the said Williame Forbes of Monymusk is airt and part of the said crewall Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Alexander, and of the Maisterfull stouth-reif of his fuord, quhinger, cloik, and vtheris aboue writtin. FOR the quhillis, and for contravening the tennour of the said Act of Parliament, in beiring, weiring, and schuiting of the saidis Culveringis, dagis, and pistolettis, he aucht and fould be puneift, conforme to the Lawis of this realme.

PERSEWARIS, Gilbert Menzies of Pitfoddellis, as eldest brother-sonc; Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Byres, kny^t, Aduocat, &c.; David Menzeis of Tilliepowreis, as brother.

PRELOCOUTOURIS in defence, My Lord of Mar, My Lord of Moirtoun, Mr Thomas Henderfoun, Mr Alexander Peiblis, Mr James Oliphant, Aduocattis.

Efter the reiding of the said Dittay and accusatioun of the said Williame Forbes of the saidis crymes, the Aduocat, with the pairteis persewaris aboue writtin, his informeris, befor all forder proces, past fra that article of the Summondis anent the ‘Stouth-reif,’ pro loco et tempore : As also declairit, that he wald nocht insift vponc that woird of the Dittay beiring ‘foirthocht fellonie :’ And adherit allanerlie⁴ to the Slauchter and committing thairof, in maner contenit in the Dittay, be schottis of hagbuttis and pistolettis; and in beiring and weiring of the saidis hagbuttis, contrair the Actis of Parliament : Quhairvponc instrumentis was tane be the said Williame Forbes of Monymusk and his prelocoutouris; quha, nochtwithstanding thairof, offerit thame selfis reddie to defend for the saidis crymes past fra. And as concerning the Slauchter aboue writtin and remanent crymes lybellit, allegit that the Justice could not put the samyn to the Tryell of ane Assyse, becaus nocht only had the said Williame obtenit tua feuerall Letteris of Slanes fra tua of the brether to the defunct, in respect of thair fatisfacioun contenit thairin; bot also, the Kingis Maiestie, of his special grace and mercie, hes, be his Letteris of Remiffioun, pardonit and remittit the said Williame Forbes of Monymusk for the saidis crymes : And for verificatioun thairof, producet tua feuerall Remiffiones, baith vnder the Grit Seill ; the ane, for the Slauchter aboue writtin, daitit vpon the xxvij day of Junij laft, and the vther, daitit vpon the first day of August laftbypaft, for beiring and weiring of the hagbuttis and piftolettis ; and vpon the productioun thairof askit instrumentis. To the quhilkis Remiffiones, and his Maieftis pardoun fet down thairin, the faid Williame Forbes tuik him selff, and offerit caution to fatisfie fa mony of the kyn and freindis of the faid vmq^{le} Alexander as ar nocht fatisfeit alreddie, according to the modificatioun of the Lordis of Sessioun, and thair Declaratour to be gevin thairintill.

¹ When the culvering or musket was first introduced, the barrel was so heavy as to require a separate staff, called a rest, from which a deliberate aim could be taken. The circumstance of the culverings being placed upon their rests, is noted as an aggravation of the crime, and a strong proof of the malice of the parties. Specimens may be seen in Grose, or in the more recent publication of Meyrick on Ancient Armour, &c. ² Fr. brigand, brigancie. ³ Stole. ⁴ Alone; only.

Quhilkis tua Remiffiones, the Justice admittit ; and ordanit the faid Williame Forbes of Monymusk to find the faid Caution for the parteis satisfioun, in maner aboue specifreit : Quhairupoun the faid Williame Forbes askit instrumentis.

And for obedience of the faid Justice Ordinance, ffaid Williame Forbes of Port-Lethem cautionn with him self, coniunctlie and feuerallie, to fatisfie fa mony of the kyn and freindis of the faid vmq^{le} Alexander, as ar nocht fatisfeit alreddie, for the Slauchter aboue specifreit ; conforme to the modificatioun of the faidis Lordis of Sessioun, and thair declaratour to be gevin thairintill, as law will : Quhairupoun the faid Gilbert Menzeis of Pitfoddellis, as eldest brother-sonne, and the faid David Menzeis, as brother to the defunct, askit actis and instrumentis.

Murder under colour of Law—Drowning for a petty Crime, &c.

[THE Case which follows seems to have taken its origin from feelings of vindictive malevolence, on the part of a Notary in Lanark, a dependent of the Laird of Lee ; who, to gratify his base and revengeful temper, adopted the plan of conspiring against his patron's life and fortune, by accusing him of Murdering a poor man, under colour of Law ! This tale was so well got up, that the Lord Advocate entertained his complaint, and raised Criminal Letters against Lockhart. A more effectual channel was likewise made use of by Weir the Notary, who directly complained, through the Marquis of Hamilton, to the King, who was at all times accessible to such accusations of oppression ; from the double motive of desire to redress the wrongs of his injured subjects, and from his overmastering ' greed of filthy lucre : ' for many were the schemes resorted to by the British Solomon to enrich his coffers with the proceeds of the heaviest fines and pecuniary compositions which could be exacted, as peace-offerings, to appease his Majesty's inflexible justice ! A doubt having arisen in the mind of the Editor as to the truth of the accusation contained in the Criminal Record, he made a pretty extensive search, and has fortunately been enabled to trace the matter to its origin. Without proper vouchers having been produced, the reader would naturally have inferred, from a close inspection of the Record, that the Lord Advocate had been tampered with by some powerful friends of this influential Baron of Lee—and that Lockhart had been really guilty of the atrocious crime imputed to him by his accusers. The Letter from the Privy Council to the King, and the Deposition of Weir, which are appended, satisfactorily explain the matter, and clear the character of the Laird of Lee from the slightest suspicion on this score.]

Dec. 3.—JAMES LOKHART of Lie.

Dilaitit for Drowneing and puting violentlie to death of vmq^{le} James Watfone, in Aucheat-burne, and vtheris crymes specifreit in his Dittay.

In respect of the Advocate's absence, he protestis for relief of Johnne Lokhart of Bar his cautioner : And he farther protestet for relief of George Auchinlek of Balmanno, cautioner for ' his compeirance befor my Lord Justice and his deputis, in the Tolbuth of E^r, vpon the xx day of December instant, and that he be nocht haldin to compeir the said day,' &c.

Dec. 20.—Compeirit James Lokhart of Lie, quha proponit and declairit, fforfamekill as he being charget, &c., in the moneth of October lastbypast, to find cautionn to haif compeirit befor the Justice or his deputis, vpon the saxt day of November thairefter, now lastbypast, in the hour of caus, to haif vnderlyne the Law for the allegit Murthour and putting to death of v^mq^{le} James Watfone, vnder cullour of Law ; as he that was convict of sic meane crymes, as, be the Lawes of this realme, the dome of death could nocht be inflicted vpon ; and for certane vtheris allegit crymes, at lenth specifit in the Letteris direct thair-ament. The said James Lokhart of Lie, the tyme of the geving of the said charge, being furth of this realme, in the pairtis of Ingland, yit nevertheles, be the advyse of his freindis, in his absence, efter knowlege gevin to thame of the said charge, and for eschewing of the danger of Hoirning contenit in the saidis Letteris, in caice of disobediencie, George Afflek of Balmanno became cautioner for his entrie, the said saxt day of November, to vnderly the Law for the saidis crymes ; at the quhilk day, the said George Afflek haifing, in respect of the said Laird of Leyis nocht returning, obtenit of the Lordis of Sessioun thair Lordschipis Warrant, direct to the Justice, for continuatioun of the dyet that day, to this present day : The Justice, for obedience of the said Warrant, of consent of my lord Aduocat, personallie present that day, as persewar, continewit the said dyet to this day. Lykas, the said George Afflek than become cautionn, &c.

In respect that my lord Aduocat nor na vther pairtie compeirit this day and place, as persewaris, to insift in his persute, being oft tymes callit to that effect, thairfoir Protestit for releif of the said George, &c. Quhilk Protestatioun the Justice admittit : Quhairupoun the said Laird of Lie askit instrumentis.

I. LETTER, the Privy Council of Scotland to THE KING.

MOST GRACIOUS AND SACRED SOUERANE,

ACCORDING vnto your Maieftie's directionn, send vnto me, for trying of those contradictorie informationis maid to your Maieftie be the MARQUES OF HAMMILTOUN¹ and THE LAIRD OF LEE, anent the executioun of vmquhile James Watfoun, and setting to libertie of Jannet Forreft, his spous, I caufit warne the Marques and the Laird of Lie to compeir this day, for iustifeeing of thair informationis. The ¹ James, second Marquis of Hamilton, a nobleman high in favour with the King, who granted him the Abbey of Aberbrothock, which was erected into a temporal Lordship, appointed him a Privy Councillor, one of the Gentlemen of the Bed-Chamber, Lord Steward of the Household—and subsequently, created him an English Peer, with the titles of Baron Ennerdale, and Earl of Cambridge, Jun. 16, 1619. Besides other great appointments, he was High Commissioner to the Parliament at Edinburgh, August 4, 1621, and was installed Knight of the Garter, Jul. 7, 1623. He died at Whitehall, Mar. 2, 1624-5, ætat. 36. He married Lady Anne Cuninghame, fourth daughter of James, seventh Earl of Glencairn.

Marques comperit be Sir Jolme Hammiltoun, his brother, who affermed, that Jedeone Weir, notair in Lanerk, and Clerk of the proces led againis the said vmq^{le} James Watfoun, declairit and shew vnto the Marques, that this Watfone and his spous wer onlie callit and convict, and Watfoun execute, for steilling of ane lamb, and that the wyffe, after her convictioun, wes sett at libertie. And for verificatioun of this his affermatioun, he exhibite the said Jedeone Weir; who, vpoun examinatioun, confessit that he had gevin this informatioun to the Marques, as alwa to your Maiesteis Aduocat, the tyme of the raising of the Criminall Letteris aganis Lie; as your Maiesteie, be his Depositioun, heirwith fend vp, will perfaue. The Laird of Lie compeirand, affermed constantlie, that this Watfoun wes callit and convict, vpoun his awin judiciall Confessioun; and accordingleie execute, for the steilling of nyne scheepe. And for verificatioun heirof, he produceit the proces, writtin every worde with Jedeone Weiris awne hand; whilk, being showne vnto him, he could not deny the same.

This is all that hes bene tryit in this mater; whairby it appeiris, that the Marques hes bene abusid¹ be the said Jedeone Weir, who, vpoun some priuat passioun and miscontentment aganis the Laird of Lie, maid this informatioun. And as for the wyffe, thair wes no thing verifeit aganis hir, bot the stealing of ane lamb, confessit be hir self. Whairpoun she wes dimittit,² in respect that the Assise could gif no verdite aganis hir. At this examinatioun, I wes assistid be the Archiebischop of Glasgw,³ the Erll of Glencairne,⁴ the Lord of Scone,⁵ the President,⁶ Preuie Seill,⁷ Secretair,⁸ Justice Clerk,⁹ Aduocat,¹⁰ and Sir Robert Meluill,¹¹ who all thocht meete that Warrant and directiounould be gevin for deserting of the dyet appointit for the Laird of Lies tryale; whilk accordingleie wes done, whilk the forder knowledge of your Mat^{ies} gracious will and pleafour heirament, whairvnto I fall conforme my telff. And so, with my humble and hartie prayeris vnto God, recommending your sacred Mat^{ie} and all your royall progenye to his faderlie and devyne protectioun, I rest for ever,

Your Maiesteis most humble and obedyent subiect and seruitour, (EDINBURGH), 28 Nouember, 1611.

DUNFERMELINE.

TO THE KING his most sacred Majestie.

II. ' JEDEAN WEIR, his DEPOSITIOUN, 27 Nouemb. 1611, anent Laird Lie Lockhard,' referred to in the foregoing Letter.

JEDEONE WEIR, notair in Lanerk, sworne, and demandit vpoun the forme and maner of the Dittay and accusatioun of vmqhile James Watfoun in Lie Mure, and Jonnet Forrest, his spous, and of the convictioun and executioun following thairpoun: Deponis, that the said vmqhile James and his spous wer only callit and persewit for the stealing of ane lamb; and that thay wer convict thairof: And that the said James Watfoun wes drownit for the stealing of the lamb; and that the said Jonnet Forrest, his spous, wes sett at libertie: And that this Deponer wes Clerk of the proces; and that the proces is writtin with his awne hand: And this he deponis, so fer as his memorie seruis him. And deponis, that he gais this informatioun to the Marques of Hammiltoun, as alwa to Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Byris, knight, his Maiesteis Aduocat.

TENET cum principali, J. PRYMOIS.

Chest—Falset (Forgery)—Imposture—Perjury, &c.

Dec. 12.—DAVID DONALDSOUN, chopman in the Cannogait.

Duped; imposed upon. ² Dismissed simpliciter from the bar. ³ John Spotiswood, the Church Historian, &c. ⁴ James, seventh Earl of Glencairn. ⁵ David, first Lord Scone, who, while he was Sir David Murray of Gospertie, was successively Cup-bearer, Master of the Horse, Captain of the King's Guard, and Comptroller. For the share he had in rendering the King so essential service, on occasion of Gowrie's Conspiracy, he got the Barony of Ruthven, with the Abbacy of Scone, which last was erected into a temporal Lordship; and he was afterwards created Viscount of Stormont. ⁶ John Presten of Fenton Barns, President of the College of Justice. ⁷ Sir Richard Cokburn of Clerkington. ⁸ Sir Thomas Hamilton, afterwards Earl of Haddington. ⁹ Sir John Cokburn of Ormistoun. ¹⁰ Sir Thomas Hamilton. ¹¹ Of Bruntisland, one of the Extraordinary Lords of Session.

Dilaitit of the ffalfiefeing, fforgeing, and counterfuteing of ane fals Assignatioun, &c. fpecifeit in his Dittay following.

PERSEWARIS.

Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Byres, kny^t, Johnne Alfhunder,¹ indueller in the Cannogait.

DAVID DONALDSOUN, chopman in the Cannogait, 3e ar indytit and accuset, fforfamekill as 3e, haifing ingyret² 3ourfelf in the acquentance of Johnne Alschander, indueller in the Cannogait, ane puir, aged, fimple³ man, wanting childrene and freindis;⁴ of fet purpos to mak 3our advantage, vnlauchfullie, of him, and to defraud him of that fmall portioun of geir quhilk refted⁵ to him for his intertenement,⁶ in his decriped and decayed age; and be 3our flatteris and fubtelteis, promeffing to him 3our affiftance in his actiones and effairis, with his intertenement in 3our houfe; haifing pairby obtenit of him credeit to handill and pervyfe his writtis and eidentis; 3e, in the moneth of September, or pairby, in the 3eir of God I^m.Vj^c. and ellevin 3eiris, thiftiouflic flaw and conceillit frome him, and retaynit in 3our handis, tua Obligationis maid to him; the ane pairof, of the dait the xxj day of Januar, I^m.V^c.lxxxxvij 3eiris, quhairby Johnne 3oung in Dudingftoun was obleift to pay to him the fowme of ane hundreth pundis, and fail3eing pairof to infest him (in) ane annuel-rent; and the vper, of the dait the fyft day of Februare, I^m.Vj^c. and ten 3eiris, quhairby Johnne and Thomas Carffis was bund to the faid Johnne Alschunder to pay to him 3e fowme of ane hundreth and tuelf pundis: And redelyuering to him 3e rest of his writtis, 3e affirnet to him, that 3e had delyuerit to him his hail writtis and eidentis. AND eftir that 3e had thiftiouflic ftowin fra him his faidis Obligationis, in maner and at 3e tyme aboue fpecifeit, and had confiderit with 3our felf that 3e faidis Obligationes wald be vnprofitable to 3ow vnles 3e war maid assignay pairto, and knawing alfo that 3e puir man was nocht altogidder fo fenfles as to denude him felf of his hail guidis, geir, obligationes, and dettis in 3our fauour, being ane ftranger, to quhome he was nawayis obleift, and quhome he had no reffone to trust with his hail moyane and eftait; 3e, falllic, wicketlic, and effrontellie refoluet to fforge, counterfute, and ffalfiefie to 3our felf and 3our awiu behuife ane Assignatioun to the faid Johnne Alschunderis foirfaidis Obligationes and hail remanent guidis and geir: ffor performeance quhairof, knawing that 3e behovet to haif 3e affiftance of fum man quho wald tak vpone him 3e name and represent the perfonage of the faid Johnne Alschunder, 3e firft delt with Ramfay, ane aged begger, to play that perfonage; and eftir 3e had craftillie intyfed him to confent pairto, 3it foirfeing⁷ with 3our felf the grit and mony

¹ Alexander. ² To ingratiate, by artifice and circumvention. From Lat. in, and gyro, to twist or turn round; to entwine, &c. ³ Weak; facile. ⁴ Childless, and having no blood-relations, &c. to care for him in his old age. ⁵ Remained. ⁶ Livelihood; maintenance. ⁷ Foreseeing differences, in fauour and stature,¹ betuix him and þe said Johnne Alschunder, wald easlie bewray ʒour falsset, ʒe delt with Cuthbert, cordiner in the Kowgait, quha haifing refuifet to be actour in so pernicious and wiked ane interpryse, at last ʒe delt with Johnne Henrie, cobler in the Cannogait, and finding him bothe fit and willing to play the pairt of so damnable a tragedie, and knawing that gif his face fould be sene bare and vncoverit, it wald be paireftir easlie discoverid, that he haifing the sicht of bothe his eyis nicht easlie be discernit from Johnne Alschunder, quho is blind of one of his eyis, ʒe causit þe said Johnne Henrie cover one of his eyis and þe syde of his face with ane blak clothe, vpon the tuelf day of November lastbypast, and than informet him sufficientlie of all the circumstances necessar to be vsed be him in the representatioun of the persone of the said Johnne Alschunder, for accomplieffing ʒour wicket, pernicious, and fals purposis: And immediatlie paireftir, convoyit him with ʒow to the toun of Leith; and þair travellit with Patrik Glasfurd, notter, to forme ane Assignatioun to ʒow of the foirsaidis Bandis, and of the said Johnne Alschunderis haill remanent guidis; quhilk being done at ʒour desyre, ʒe paireftir convoyit the said Johnne Henrie, cobler, to þe wryting-buithe of the said Patrik Glasfurd in Leyth, in quhais prefens, and in þe prefens of Archibald Norwell, connotour,² and dynerse honest witnesses, altogidder ignorant and innocent of ʒour false, disfaueabill, and wicket purposis, the said Johnne Henrie, cobler, quhome ʒe supposed in place of þe said Johnne Alschunder, and quho, of ʒour speciall causeing, command, counsell and persuasioun, taking vpon him, falselie and mischantlie,³ þe name and personage of þe said Johnne Alschunder, gaif command to the saidis connoteris to subscriue to ʒow and in ʒour fauouris the foirsaid Assignatioun⁴ to the said Johnne Alschunderis Obligationes and guidis. Quhilk being done, and subscriuit be þe saidis Notteris and witnesses insert; and þe Notteris, for dischairge of þair deutie, haifing proponit to ʒow, that resson and conscience requyret that ʒe fould provyde for þe pure auld man Johnne Alschunderis intertenement, during his lyfityme, ʒe consented that þai fould forme ane Bak-Band, obleiffand ʒow to him to þat effect, during his lyfityme; quhilk ʒe subscriued and delyuered to the said Johnne Henrie, affirmeing him self falllie to be the said Johnne Alschunder: AND schortlie paireftir ʒe causet registrat the foirsaidis Obligationnes, and gaif in the said Assignatioun to the Register; and pairupoun and vpone the said fals Assignatioun 3e raifet Letteris of Poinding and Intromiffioun, and fallie, wicketlie, and thiftiouflic mellit¹ and intromettit with fourtene fcheip pertening to the said Johnne Alschunder, flew and difpouit vpone tua of thame, fauld and difpouit vpone the reft, and waifed and confumed the price pairof in fatifeing the gluttonie of 3our deboifched² affociattis: AND being callit befor þe Lordis of Secretit Counfell, 3e abaid at þe verritie of the said Assignatioun, vpone 3our grit aith, and vpone the perrell of 3our lyfe: LYKAS, 3e haifing abiddin þairat, in prefens of the Lordis of Seffioun, and periuredlie avowed the fame to be ane trew evident, eftir that be þair dilligence in 3our Examinatioun, 3e was put frome all cullour of iuftifeing pairof, 3it 3e maliciouflic and impudentlie preifed to cleir 3our felff, and bring wrangus imputatioun pairof vpone 3our innocent wyfe and hir ffather. QUHAIRBY, 3e haif committed the crymes of Thift, Impofture, Periurie, Falfet, and Diffaitful fuppositioun of ane counterfute perfonage, fallie, wicketlie and diffaueabillie to affume and vfurpe the name and perfonage of the said Johnne Alschunder, to his diffait, preiudice, and manifft oppreffion, in maner aboue writtin. For the quhilk, 3e aucht to be exemplarlie puneifchet, as ane Theif, abufear, impofture, and periured falfer, and perfuader of ane pernicious villane to vfurpe, affume, and tak vpone him the name and perfonage of ane of his Maieftis trew fubiectis, for his diffait and ouerthrow.

¹ In point of looks, complexion, personal appearance, and stature. ² Co-Notary. ³ From O. Fr. meschant, wicked, worthless, &c. ⁴ By the Law of Scotland, blind or maimed persons, and those who cannot write, may execute Last-wills and deeds of the greatest importance and solemnity, through the medium of two Public Notaries, who, in presence of four or more witnesses, read over and explain the nature of the Deed to be then completed; and on getting the instructions of the party, write out an official and Notarial schedule, or 'docquet,' as it is called, attesting the fact, and stating precisely the reason of their being called upon to subscribe the deed in question. On the Notaries adhibiting their official signatures—the witnesses likewise, in attestation of the fact, subscribing their names—the writing is perfectly valid in Law.

THE perfones of Affyfe being chofin, fuorne, and admittit, eftir accusatioun of new agane of the said Dauid Donaldfoun, be Dittay, in thair prefens and audience, of the crymes aboue writtin, and eftir production to thame, be our said fouerane lordis Aduocat, of ane Decreit of the Lordis of Seffioun, of the dait the elleuint day of December instant, ffinding and declairing the foirfaid Assignatioun allegit, maid and grantit to the said Dauid Donaldfone be the said Johnne Alschunder, in maner fpecifeit in his Dittay, to be ffals and fenzeit in the felf, forget, and devyfet be the said Dauid; and thairfoir, decerning and ordaning him to be puneifchet in his perfone and guidis thairfoir with all rigour, in exampill of vtheris.

VERDICT. The Affyfe, be the mouth of Johnne Mathie, bonat-maker, chancellor, ffand, pronuncet and declairit the said Dauid Donaldfoune to be Giltie, culpable, and convict of the crymes of Thift, Impofture, Periurie, Falfet, and Diffaitful fuppositioun of the said Johnne Henrie, cobbler, ane counterfute knaif, fallie, wicketlie and diffaueabillie to affume and vfurpe the name and perfonage of the said Johnne Alschunder, ane pur, aget, fimple man, to his diffait, preiudice, and manifft Oppreffion; in maner fpecifeit and at lenth fett down in the said Dittay.

¹ O. Fr. mesler, to intermeddle, &c.

² O. Fr. desbauché, debauched, worthless, &c.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit vpon ane gibbet, quhill he be deid; and his hail moveable guidis and geir to be efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vse, as culpable and convict of the saidis crymes:—And lykwayis, Ordanit thir woirdis, ‘FOR THIFT, FOR FALSET, FOR IMPOSTURE, AND PERIURIE,’ to be writtin in grit letteris vpon tua feuerall paperis, and affixt, ane vpon his bak, the vther vpon his breift, the tyme of his executioun. Quhilk was pronuncet for Dome.

[Sir Williame Heart, Justice-Depute.]

ASSESSORES nominat to the Justice be the Lordis of Secreit Counsell.

Mr Johnne Prestoun of Pennicuik, Prefident of the Colledge of Justice; Sir Richard Cokburne of Clarkingtoun, Lord Previe Seall; Sir Alexander Drummond of Medope; Mr Williame Oliphant of Newtown.

‘Invasion’—Taking Captive—Wearing Hagbuts, &c.

Dec. 21.—WILLIAME DOUGLAS, Younger of Drumlanerig.¹

Dilaitit of the Invaiding and persewing of Williame Kirkpatrick of Kirkmichell; and for Vfurpatioun of our fouerane lordis royall pouer and authoritie, in taking him Captive and Priffoner at Dressitland, and thairfra transpoirting him to the place of Drumlanerig, quhair he was detenit; and keiping him in cloise priffone, within the Tour of Drumlanerig, for the space of sax or sevin dayis, or thairby, he being our fouerane lordis frie lege; committit vpon the fyftene day of July, 1610 yeiris: And for contravening of our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in beiring and weiring of hagbuttis and pistolettis.

PERSEWARIS, Williame Kirkpatrick, appeirand of Kirkmichell; Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Byres, kny^t. PRELOCOUTOURIS in defence, Mr Alexander King, Mr Thomas Hoip, Aduocatis; my Lord of Angus; my Lord of Wigtoun; Sir James Douglas elder of Drumlanerig; my Lord Sanquhar.

It is allegit—na proces at Kirmichellis instance, becaus he is rebell; and producet the Hoirning for verificatioun thairof, at the instance of the Laird of Cloisburne elder, for nocht payment of the pryces of certane victuall. It is ansuerit, aucht to be repellit, in respect he is relaxt; and producet the Relaxatioun thairupoune.—It is forder allegit, that he is at the horne for nocht payment of the Taxatioune.—Thaireftir, my Lord Aduocat declairit that he had Warrant of his Maiestie to persew, and conforme thairto, declairit he wald infit in the pannellis persute, for the crymes contenit in the summondis.

It is allegit be my Lord Aduocat, that this Hoirning for the Taxatioun aganis Kirkmichell can nocht debar him to persew, becaus, be Act of Parliament, in anno 1597, it is appointit that all Hoirningis execute aganis ony pairtie, fall ather be producet judiciallie, or in presens of ane Notter and foure witnesses: And trew it is, that the Regiftratioun thairof is contrair to the said Act. It is anfuert that the Act of Parliament in anno 1597 is tane away by a posteriour Act of Parliament, viz. in anno 1600.—It is allegit be my Lord Aduocat, that this Hoirning is nocht competent in the perfone of the pannell, feing it is nocht execute at the pannellis instance for ane criminall caufe; and forder, the pairtie perfewar is relaxt, albeit he haif nocht his Relaxatioun vpoun him. It is anfuert, it is verrie competent to allege na proces at the instance of the perfewar, fa lang as he standis rebell.

¹ See the Case of Alexander Kirkpatrick, sone to Sir Thomas K. of Cloisburne, kny^t, Jun. 28, 1611.

THE Justice, with advyse of the Assessoris, ffindis na proces at the instance of Kirkmichell, fa lang as he standis rebell, vnrelaxt.—Quhairupoun the pannell askit instrumentis.

My Lord Aduocat declairis he infistis, for his Maiesteis intreis, in perfute: quhairupoun the pannell askit instrumentis.

It is allegit, that my Lord Aduocat man (must) condiscend in the Summondis: Firft, that the pannell, anent the beiring of Pistolettis, thai war borne on his perfone: Secundo, gif thai war borne in his companie, man¹ condiscend vpone that perfone: Tercio, non fuit dolo, becaus gif any was borne in his cumpany, it was by² his knowlege.—It is anfuert, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Summondis beiring that the Laird of Drumlangrig and his complices, at the leift ane or vther of thame, buir pistolettis at the tyme lybellit, viz. thais quha ar exprefit in the Summondis, and euerie ane of thame, at the leift ane or vther of thame.

THE Justice, with advyse of the Assessoris, ffindis the summondis, as thai ar fett down, to be relevant, beiring that the pannell, with thair complices, lurkit and darnit³ thame felfis in maner lybellit.—Quhairupoun my Lord Aduocat askit instrumentis.

It is allegit, that the pannell can nocht be convenit for Williame Douglas of Reidhous, becaufe the said Williame, being convenit for pistolettis afoir the Counsell, was fynet be the Counsell thairfoir; and producet ane Decreit of Counsell, for verifeing thairof: And in respect of the Act of Parliament, in anno 1600, can nocht be perfewit afoir the Justice, for that cryme, of new agane.—It is anfuert, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Summondis. It is allegit, that Williame Douglas being perfewit at the instance of the pannell, befoir the Counsell, for bering of pistolettis, and the (injury) done to the pannell the tyme lybellit; as the Decreitis beiris: It is thairby tryt,⁴ that the beiring thairof was in Kirkmichellis companie, and nocht in the pannellis company: Secundo, feing Douglas is fynet befoir the Counsell fen that cryme, as be the said posteriour Act of Parliament he fuld nocht be of new perfewit befoir the Justice for that cryme, per consequentiam the pannell can nocht be perfewit as haifing Douglas in his companie.—It is anfuert be the Aduocat, that it is a verrie evill consequence,⁵ and the allegiance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Summondis.—It is allegit for Hob Hunter, that he was deid before the tyme lybellit; quhilk he offeris to preve, be Witnesfes present at the bar.—It is anfuerit, that that probatioun can nocht be reffaut, bot man be tryit be the Affyse.—It is allegit that the Summondis is nocht relevant, except the perfones contenit in the Summondis war the pannellis houshald ferwandis, or cum furth of his houfe with him, be his directioun, and that thai¹ war borne ex mea scientia: And that na fact or deid is done with pistolettis to the hurt of ony perfone, quhilk is nocht exprest in the Summondis.—It is anfuerit, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Act of Parliament and Dittay foundit thairupoun: And forder, seeing the lyk perfute hes oft tymes bene decydet and fund relevant in this Judgement ofbefoir, desyres my lord Justice to advert thairvnto.—It is anfuerit be the pannell, that the preceis wordis of the Law is not to be respectit, bot anima et ratio legis, for the Law-maker is nocht to punice perfones for haifing pistolettis in thair cumpany by² thair knowlege, bot³ the breker of the Law be schuting of pistolettis, and beiring of thame of purposis to offend thairwith.—Anfueris the Aduocat, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Act of Parliament, quhairto he referris him self.

¹ Must. ² Without; contrary to. ³ Concealed; hid. ⁴ Decided. ⁵ A very false conclusion.

THE Justice, with advyse of the Affessouris, Repellis the allegiances, in respect of the lybell as it is fet down, except for Reidhous, quhilk the Justice continewis that matter quhill⁴ the Counsell be advyfet thairwith.

It is forder alleget for the pannell, that feing the Judge has ffund the Dittay relevant, in respect he and his complices darnit and lurkit in maner lybellit; that thairfoir, the pannell can nocht be convenit for Williame Douglas beiring of pistolettis; becaus it is cleir, be the Decreit of Counsell producet, that Reidhous wes vpon the Ball-grene, playing with him, Kirkmichell, the hail lycht, and sa possibillie could nocht be darnit ofbefoir in the leght; and the perfewer is nocht able to afferme that thai war darnit eftir the boilspell⁵ dissoluit.—It is anfuerit be the Aduocat, it is nawayis contrair, feing Williame Douglas mycht haif bene in Kirkmichellis company afoir none, and with the pannell (efter none).

It is allegit be the pannell, that the taking of ane man is nocht capitall, bot is only perfewit as ane Ryote befoir the Counsell; and producet tua practikis⁶ led afoir the Counsell for the lyk cryme.—It is anfuerit, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the cowmoun Law and practik obseruit befoir the Justice in the lyk perfutes ofbefoir: Repeittis Dumbrekis practik, M^cgregouris, and Fintreis for verifeing thairof.—It is anfaerit, for Dumbrekis practik, that he is nocht fa

¹ Viz. the pistols.

² Without.

³ Unless.

⁴ Until.

⁵ After the party broke up. This term is commonly written and pronounced Bonspeil, signifying a contest between two parishes or parties at 'curling' on the ice, archery, golf, &c. It is likely, in the present instance, to have been a match at 'golf,' or, more probably, foot-ball, both of them favourite games in Scotland. The Ball-green favours this conjecture.

⁶ Decisions; instances; parallel cases.

mekill convict for taking of the Kingis frie lege, as for Thift and Stouthe-reif; quhilk he referris to his convictioun.—It is allegit be the Aduocat, that Dumbrek is convict of Treffone, for the taking and detening of Meldrum of Aquhorteis, and Andro Meldrum his brother. Allegis the lyk for M^cGregouris, quha war bayth convict and put to the death for the faidis crymes: And as for Fintrie, the Summondis was ffund relevant, albeit he was abfoluet be þe Affyfe.—It is anfuerit be the pannell, thair was ma¹ cryme conioynet in thair Dittayis, nor² fimple Taking only, and mair nor ane Taking; and the Law Ordanis exercitium Privati carceris, only to be ane cryme, loco, ‘Jubens, codice, de Privatis carceribus, et Baldus ibid.: Quhilk Law is also derogait be ane posteriour Law in that famyn Title, be quhilk (exercitium privati carceris) is only punifchet pena and the praetyk of³ is only to puneife pena pecuniaria; and allegit Julius Clarus.⁴

It is allegit, the Laird of Kirkmichell, the tyme of his taking lybellit, was at the horne, and be vertew of Letters of Captioun, was tane be the Scheref of the fchyre, quhome the pannell affistit allanerlie⁵ in the Taking: And producet the Hoirning and Letteris of Captioun, be the quhilk the Scheref-Depute, Robert Creichtoun, was charget to tak him, being rebell. It is anfuerit, that the allegiance aucht to be repellit, in respect the Letteris quhairupoun the Laird of Kirkmichell is denuncet war suspendit simpliciter, in foro contradictorio, and he relaxt be the fpace of ane half yeir of befoir.—It is allegit be the pannell, that the tyme of Kirkmichellis taking, thair was na Relaxatioun fchawin, and na knowlege was gevin of his Relaxatioun to the Schireff; and fa he was in optima fide in taking of the Kingis rebell, nocht knawin to him to be relaxt: And forder producet ane Act, quhair Robert Creichtoun was constitute Scheref-depute. It is forder allegit, that gif the Scheref had been perfewit for Taking of the Kingis fre lege, nocht knawn to him to be relaxt, bot charget to tak him; as na Dittay could be relevant aganis him, in lyk manner, na proces aganis the pannell for being in his companie, and affisting the Scheref at that tyme.—It is anfuerit, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Summondis, Decreit fufpending the Hoirning, and Relaxatioun producet; and the lybell beiring that Young Druulanerig and his complices hurt and woundit Robert Creichtoun for ftaying them to flay Kirkmichell; and fua can nevir allege that thai affistit him in execution of his office.

It is forder allegit, that this Dittay can nocht be comptit ane cryme, in respect the perfone tane was the Kingis rebell; and for verifeing thair of, repeittis the Hoirning producet for nocht payment of the Taxation; and thairfoir the Dittay can nocht be put to ane Affyfe: Quhilk Hoirning is daitit the xj of Februar

¹ More. ² Than. ³ Obliterated in Record. ⁴ An old Commentator. ⁵ Only; merely.

1601. It is anfuerit, that it is nocht onlie for Taking of the Kingis frie lege that the pannell is conuenit, bot for Vfurpatioun of the Kingis authoritie.—It is allegit, that exécept the perfone tane, the tyme of his taking, had bene the Kingis frie lege, it can nocht be fund that the pannell vfurpiti the Kingis authoritie.—It is anfuerit, that the taking of ony perfone but¹ Commiffioun of the Prince is Vfurpatioun of the Kingis authoritie, quhidder he be rebell or nocht.

THE Justice continewis, with advyfe of his Affeffouris, Interlocutour vpon the former allegeances to Tyfday nixt.

It is forder allegit, that as of the Law, bannitus potest impune occidi, sic multo fortius capi et incarcerari; quhilk is exprefflie decydit be Baldus, in the foir-faid Law ‘Jubens,’ codice ‘de Privatis carceribus,’ numero finali: And be Julius Clarus, L. sententiarum § Homicidio.—It is anfuerit be the Aduocat, that Banniti, of the Cowmoun Law, was only thay quha war declairit rebellis for ane capitall cryme.—It is duplyit for the pannell, that of the Ciuill Law, that Banniti war alfweill rebellis for crymes, as for pecuniall fowmes; and for preving thairof citit Julius Clarus, L. sententiarum § Homicidium.

THE Justice Continewis Interlocutour, with advyfe of his Affeffouris, to Tyfday nixt.²

Dec. 24.—Compeirit Williame Douglas, younger of Drumlanerig, quha declairit that he offerit him felf reddie to anfuer and abyd tryell vpon the Summondis and Dittay, at the instance of his hienes Aduocat: And als, is content, that nochtwithftanding the Laird of Kirkmichell be rebell, and was declarit be Hoirning the laft dyet, to pas fra the faid Hoirning vset aganis him, and that he haif place and perfone to ftand in Judgement aganis him, and to infift in his perfute on the Summondis and Dittay producet aganis him: And in respect thairof, the pannell defyret my Lord Justice to pronunce Interlocutour vpon the allegeances and anfueris maid in this caus vpon Setterday laft, quhilk was the laft dyet of this proces.

THE Justice Defertis this dyet, and that in respect that my lord Aduocat and the Laird of Kirkmichell, parteis perfewaris, quha war oft tymes callit to infift in this perfute, compeirit nocht to that effect.—Quhairupone the pannell askit instrumentis; and that nochtwithftanding thairof, he offerit him felf to defend according to the Law, for the haill crymes contenit in the Dittay.

(Apr. 24, 1612.)—MY Lord Aduocat declairit that he wald infift for baithe the crymes contenit in the Summondis, alfweill for taking and incarceration, as beiring and weiring of piftolettis.—The pannell, ffor cleiring of his Innocencie of the first pairt of the Summondis, concerning the taking of the Laird of Kirkmichell, &c., producet ane Letter, subscryuit be the Laird of Kirkmichell, and certane famous Witnesfes; quhair of the tennour followis.

¹ Without. ² [On the margin of the Record,] “This haill proces preceeding, be ane Act maid vpon the xxiiij day of Apryle, 1612, is be the Justice, with advyfe of the Lordis of Secretit Counfell, ordanit to be deletit furth of the Buikis of Adiornall,” &c.

I, WILLIAM KIRKPATRICK, appeirand¹ of Kirkmichell, Testifeis and declairis, that þe tyme I went with Young Drumlanerig to the place þair of, quhilk was vpon the xv day of July, I^m.Vj^c. and ten zeiris, it was at my speciall desyre to gang with him, for eschewing of farther inconvenient to my brother and sic vtheris as war in my companie, for allegit wrangis done to his faper; quhair of I was innocent: And declairis þat I wes nocht tane þair against my will; and that efter I come to the Place of Drumlanerig, I was honestlie and courteoullie interteneit, haifing frie libertie to pas quhair I pleisit, as ane frie Gentilman: And being on the morne þaireftir oft and dyuerse tymes requyret be Young Drumlanerig to pas quhair I pleaset, I refuset to go forth, in respect of sum informatioun I had ressaunt; and remanet þair against his will, quhill he forcet me to pas away, always with sic forme of courtesie as he could vse to sic ane Gentilman: And that I was nawayis detenit nor keipit as Captiue or Prisoner: And that þe Letteris raisit at my instance aganis him befoir þe Justice, was by² my knowlege or advyse: Quhilk I testife to be of treuthe. AND consentis þat þir presentis be insert and registrat in the Buikis of Counsell or Adiornall: And to that effect, Constitutis Mr Alexander King, aduocat, my Pro^r, to compeir and consent to þe registering heirof; quhilk is writtin be Williame Penman, wyter in Edinburgh, and subscryuit with my hand, AT ED^B, the ellevint day of Januar, the zeir of God I^m. fax hundreth and twelf zeiris, befoir þir Witnesfes, Thomas Greirfone of Bariarg, James Greir his broþ^r, Sir Williame Greirfone of Lag, kny^t, James Dowie, wyter, and George Bryce, inferter of þe dait and witnesfes heirintill.

KIRKMICHELL, Younger.

LAG, witnes, THOMAS GRIERSONE, witnes, JAMES GRIERSONE, witnes, J. DOWIE, witnes, GEORGE BRYCE, witnes.

Compeirit the said Mr Alexander King, as pro^r for Williame Kirkpatrick, younger of Kirkmichael, and desyrit the samyn to be insert and registrat in the Buikis of Adiornall, to the effect foirfaid; and alledges, that the said cryme of Taking and Incarceratioun of Young Kirkmichell, can nawayis be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse, in respect of the said Letter and contents thair of: And for better securitie, desyret, as of befoir, the said Letter and Declaratioun to be insert and registrat in the Buikis of Adiornall, therin to remane ad futuram rei memoriam.

My Lord Aduocat takis instrumentis of the productioun of the said Letter and Declaratioun thairin contenit. The Pannell declairis he will vse na vther defence in this matter, bot the allegeance immediatlie preceeding, and renunes all vther exceptiones proponit be him in this caus of befoir for this cryme, or competent to him aganis the same. My Lord Aduocat producet HIS MAIESTEIS LETTER, and desyret the clause following, insert thairintill, quhilk concernis this persute, to be insert in the Buikis of Adiornall; quhair of the tennour followis.

AND as for that vther poynt of your Letter, concerning the forder following of that persute intentit aganis YOUNG DRUMLANERIG, sforasmuch as We understand that he, being laitlie reconceillit to Kirkmichell younger, is to compeir befoir our Justice at þe day and place specifeit in your last Summondis raisit against him, and þairby (for clearing him self of that cryme quhair of he is accuset) to alledge that he did naper violentlie apprehend, nor detene the said Kirkmichell. It is þairfoir our speciall pleasour, that at þe foirfaid dyet ʒow continow ʒour perfute againt him, and that vpon his allegeing þe foirfaid exceptioun, ʒow do demand of him, gif he will nocht halilie rely pairupoun, renunceing all vther exceptions formerlie proponit in his defence : And vpon his Declaratioun that he will do so, ʒow fall than insist for remitting þe Tryell and furdur consideratioun þair of to the Lordis of our Counsell ; insisting, in the meane tyme, earnestlie, that theafe vther exceptions heirtofoir vsed in his defence, being so dangerous, and by no president warranted, may nocht heireftir be recoirdit in the Registeris of Ad-iornal, as lauchfull or tollerable Defences to be proponit in the lyk Caissis, in ony tyme cuming :¹ Quhairin, nawayis douting of ʒour cair and reddines, We bid ʒow ffairweill. Frome our Court, AT QUHYTEHALL, the nynteneth of Merche, 1612.

¹ Heir-apparent.

² Contrary to; without.

And in respect thair of, and of the allegiance proponit be the pannell and his Judiciall Declaratioun, that he renunes all his former Defenssis, proponit of befoir in this cause, for this cryme, or competent to him aganis the fainyn, except vpon the particuler allegeance foundit vpon Kirkmichellis Declaratioun aboue mentionet, subscryuit be him, and producet be the pannell this day ; ffirft, desyres, accoirding to his Maiesteis commandment, that the tennour of the former Defenssis proponit be the pannell in this cause, be deletit furth of the Register of Ad-iornal ; quhilk the Justice hes presentlie ordanit to be done : And nixt, desyret my lord Justice, that he will be advyset with the Counsell, concerning the allegeance aboue writtin, proponit this day be the pannell. My Lord Aduocat declairit that he past fra the perfute of the pannell, for the last pairt of the Summondis, for the beiring and weiring of pistolettis at this tyme and place : Quhairupone the pannell askit instrumentis.

INTERLOCUTOR and Decision of the Justice and Lords of Secret Council.

THE JUSTICE, In respect of this Letter producet be Mr Alexander King, subscryuit be the Laird of Kirkmichell, and circumstaues contenit thairin, with advyse of the Lordis of Secret Counfall, ffindis that this matter can nocht be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse : And siclyk, in respect that the pannell hes this day past fra the hail former Defenssis proponit be him in this cause, for the said cryme, of befoir, in maner contenit in his former Declaratioun, the Justice, with advyse of the Lordis of Secret Counsell, sittand this day in Counsell, Ordanis the hail former allegeances proponit in that matter of befoir, to be deletit furth of the Buikis of Ad-iornal.

Quhairvpon my Lord Aduocat askit instrumentis ; lyk as the pannell also askit instrumentis, vpon the first pairt of said Interlocutour.

Slaughter.

Feb. 12, 1612.—ROBERT SCOTT and ADAME SCOTT, Bailleis of Hawik ;
Jok Scott, belman in Hawik ; Williame Donald, alias Nymbill, in Hawik ; John Lidderdaill, thair, callit Jok
the Deacone ; Hob Scott, thair, callit Hob the Lonkie ;

¹ It is obvious that steps had been taken by the Officers of the Crown, in this remarkable Case, to procure the private agreement of the parties ; and on this being effected, the 'dangerus' Defences, so boldly and ably urged by the eminent Counsel and fore-speakers, would forthwith be expunged from the Record ; or, at all events, never be permitted to be cited as precedents in future. The Defences were accordingly withdrawn, on this understanding, that the matter would be privately adjusted by the Lords of the Privy Council, as umpires. No deletion appears on the face of the Record.

Jok Schorte, thair ; and Williame Johnneftoun, feruitour to Mariones Hob.

Dilaitit for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Ellote in Redden, callit Johnne of Rynfiegill, committit within the said Jok Schortis duelling hous in Hawik, in the moneth of July, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and ten yeiris.

PERSEWAR, Bessie Ellote as relict, with the ffyve fatherles bairnes, &c.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, Mr Thomas Nicholfoun and Lawrence Scott, Advocatis.

The perfewar producet the Letteris deulie execute and indorfate ; and in respect thairof, and that scho offeris hir self reddie to perfew, protestis for the releif of George Elphingftoun of Glenfakisbarneheid, and Williame Elphingftoun his brother, of thair cautionerie.

It is allegit, that the Dittay is nawayis relevant to be put to ane Assyfe, in respect that the Dittay beiris that he was fund lying deid in the Irnes ;¹ bot it is of verritie, that vpone the morne thaireftir his committing to waird,² he hangit him self in his awin belt ; and sa, haifing desperatlie put hands in him self, the pannell can nocht be put to the Tryell of ane Assyfe, as airt or pairt of his death.—It is anfuert, aucht to be repellit, in respect the allegeance is contrair to the lybell.

THE Justice remittis the matter, anent the Slauchter of the defunct, and tryell of the treuth of pannellis allegeance, concerning the putting handis in him self, to the knowlege of ane Assyfe.

ASSISA, Jok Ellote, in Braillie, Will Scott, in Branxholme, George Airmeftrang, in Grundunfyde.³

Robert Layng, being fuorne, in presens of the pairtie and Assyfe, and being inquyret concerning Jok Ellotes death, quhat he kenis thairof ? Deponis, he is ane mercheand ; being in the Kirkzaird of Hawik priking fimum skynnis,⁴ and heirring that Jok Ellote was hingand in the steppill,⁵ come, vpone the repoirt thairof, into the steppill, quhair he saw the defunct hingand, in his awin belt ; quhilk belt he cuttit, and thair being lyfe in the defunct, was brocht out, bot shortlie thaireftir he deceift.—Robert Scott, being examinat and solempnelie fuorne in the premisses, est conformis precedenti, in omnibus

VERDICT. The Assyfe, all in ane voce, be the mouth of James Greiff in Bowmanehill, chancellor, fband, pronuncet, and declairit the saidis perfonas, and ilk ane of thame, to be Cleane, innocent, and acquit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter aboue specifcit.—Quhairvpone thai, and ilk ane of thame, askit actis and instrumentis.

¹ Irons, or fetters.

² After his commitment to prison or confinement.

³ Nimiane

Quhigholme in Peilbrae, (now written Whigham or Wigham), and nine other 'Assyfouris' names follow.

⁴ Being a leather merchant.

⁵ The accomodation for prisoners (in England as well as Scotland) was at this period of the most wretched description. Steeples were often fitted up with fetters in their square or lower parts, riveted into the wall, where these luckless victims were detained until Trial, without any Jail allowance. In cases of Witchcraft, &c., iron collars were added ; and it is highly probable that cases of suicide were by no means infrequent, owing to the desperate circumstances of these miserable creatures. See Sir Walter Scott's Letters on Demonology, &c.

“RODGER SCOT, Capitane of the Airmetage, Robene Ellote of Dunlabyre, Robene Ellote of Copfchaw, Frances Ellote his brother;” and nine others of lesser note, “vnlawit and americiat, ilk ane of thame, in the pane of ane hundreth merkis,” for thair nocht compeirance to haif past vpon the Assyse.

Irreuerend Speeches against the King, his Council, &c.—Theft, &c.

Mar. 11.—WILLIAME TUEDIE, callit Coill-hoill, in Heuchbrae.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of certane poyntis of Thift, &c. : And for certane vnreuerent and diflanefull fpeiches vtterit be him aganis the Kingis Maieftie, his hienes Counfell, and Iuftices of peax.

DITTAY againft the Pannell.

FORSAMEKILL as it is statute and ordanit, be dyuerfe Actis of Parliament, alfweill maid in his hienes awin tyme, as in his hienes prediceffouris tyme, of guid memorie, that na maner of perfone or perfones presume nor tak vpon hand to vtter or geve out felanderous, reprochefull, or treflonabill fpeiches, aper be woird or writ, aganis HIS MAIESTIE, his Counfell or Nobillitie, vnder the pane of deid; as the faidis Actis at lenth beiris: Nochtwithftanding quhairof, it is of verritie, that pe faid Williame Tuedie, in the moneth of December laftbypast, haifing committit, ofbefoir, dyuerfe Oppreffiones aganis findrie of his hienes peceable subiectis, and speciallie aganis Richerd Powrie, Minister at Dawik, quha haifing complenit vpon pe faid Williame Tuedie to the Iuftices of peax within the Sherefdom of Peiblis for pe famyn, thay directit Johnne Mathiesone in Stobo, and James Ruffell, tua of the Conftabillis of the faid Scherefdom, to fummond and arreift him, to compeir befoir thame, in the Tolbuth of Peiblis, at ane certane day, to haif ordour tane with him for the faidis Oppreffiones; quha, according to pair directioun, cam and fummond and arreiftit pe faid Williame, firft in his Maieftis name, and than in the name of pe Lordis of his hienes Secreit Counfall, and of the faidis Iuftices of peax, to the effect foirfaid; nochtwithftanding quhairof, he, altogidder vmyndfull of his deutie, firft towardis his God, our Souerane lord, and Lordis of his hienes Secreit Counfallis auctoritie, and of the faidis Iuftices of peax, his hienes Judges and ordiner Magiftrattis; nocht only irreuerentlie, reprochefullie, and felanderuffie vtterit and gaif vnfemelie fpeiches to the faidis Conftables againft the faidis Iuftices of peax, be faying that he ‘wald nocht gif ane fcab of his erfe for thame!’ And defyret thame ‘to cum and kifs his erfe!’ Bot lykwayis, the faid Williame, at pe fame tyme, maift treflonabillie, vnreuerentlie, felanderuffie, and vndewtiefullie faid to the faidis Conftables, that he ‘wald nocht gif pe fcab of his erfe’ for his sacred Maieftie and Lordis of his hienes Secreit Counfell; and bad ‘his Maieftie and thame cum and kifs his erfe!’ And fua, be vttering of the faidis treflonabill, vndeutifull, vnreuerent and felanderus fpeiches, he hes contravenit pe tennour of pe faidis Actis of Parliament, and incurrit the panes of death appointed aganis pe contraveneris pairof: Quhilk aucht and fould be execute vpon him, with all rigour, to the terrour and exampill of vperis. AND ficyk, being Indytit and accufet, ffor cuming, in pe moneth of November 1583, to Carrane-mouth, in Stobo-hoip, and pair thiftiouffie ftaw,¹ reft, and away-tuik, fra tua cowmoun Thevis, xxiiij auld fcheip, quhilkis war ftowin² be pame furth of Cliddifdaill: And for letting the faidis Thevis to frie libertie, and nocht prefenting of pame to pe Iuftice. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the fteilling and away-taking of ane beir ftak,³ contening tuelf fchevis of beir, committit in Januar, 1600 zeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the fteilling of ane quhite wedder-lamb, pertening to Williame Ruffell in Eiftertoun of Stobo, furth of the Knovell-fald; committit in the moneth of Junij, 1601 zeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of pe Slauchter of vmq^{le} Eduard Curres in Braidfurd, be cafting of ane ftane at him, quhairwith he ftrok him ane deidlie fraik on the hert; be the quhilk fraik, he tuik bed and dwynet in pe fpace of ane zeir, and in end deceiffit of pe faid hurt; committit in Junij, 1596. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the fteilling of ane blak zeild⁴ kow, fra James Foulden in Harro of

¹ Stole.

² Stolen.

³ Stack of barley.

⁴ Barren; not giving milk.

Stobo, furth of the Hammer-bank, callit the Braid-flak-heid, in the moneth of November, 1607 3eiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling fra Patrik Mathiefone, in Harro, of ane quhyte 3ow,¹ furth of pe grund of Harro, in the moneth of December, 1607 3eiris. ITEM, for dryveing to ane bucht² at pe Blak-hill-ftell, in Harro-heid, of aucht 3owis, pertening to Johnne Alexander, in Harro-heid: And ffor the thiftious clipping of the said aucht scheip, and steilling and away-taking of the hail aucht fleiffes of woll; committit in the moneth of Junij, 1602. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling, cutting-doun, and away-taking of tuelf grit allour-treyis,³ furth of Dawik-woid, in the moneth of August, 1607 3eiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the Murthour and Slauchter of Mathiefone, his spoufe, be striking her in dynerfe partis of hir body, quhairof fcho deceiffit pairetir. ITEM, ffor Cowmone Thift, Cowmone Reffet of Thift, outputting and inputing of Thift fra land to land, fra cuntrie to cuntrie, baith of auld and new.

PERSEWAR, Sir Thomas Hammiltoun of Byres, kny^t, Aduocat to our fouerane lord.

PRELOCOUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Laurence M^cgill and Mr Dauid Aytoun, Aduocatis.

It is allegit, that the pannell aucht to haif bene citet vpone xv dayis wairning. It is anfuerit, aucht to be repellit, in respect the pannell is brocht furth of waird to the Bar; quha hes bene wairdit this foure monethis for the crymes lybellit.—It is allegit that Johnne Mathiefone can nocht pas vpone this Assyfe, becaus he is partie and vpgeter of the Dittay, and is Constable, to quhome the allegit speiches was vtterit. Aucht to be repellit, in respect of the perfute at the instance of the Minister of Dawik, quha perfewit the pannell afoir the Counsell, for injurie done; and the said Johnne Mathiefone was alredie reffaut Witnefs, and examinat be the Counsell; and fa may be ane Assyfour.⁴

ASSISA.

Johnne Mathiefone, Constable of the parochin of Stobo; James Ruffell, Constable thair; James Rammage, Constable thair; Johnne Reidschaw in Wester Hoprew; Adame Ruffell, smyth thair.⁵

The Aduocat, for verificatioun of the Dittay, &c., producet ane Decreit of the Lordis of Secreit Counsell, finding the speiches aboue writtin to be cleirlye provin; and protestit for Wilfull Errour, in caife thay Acquit.—The pannell askit instrumentis, that nane compeir to sweir the Dittay.

VERDICT. The Assyfe, all in ane voce, be the mouth of the said Johnne Mathiefone, chancellor, fband, pronuncet, and declairit the said Williame Tuedie to be fyllit, culpable, and convict of the fclanderus, reprocheful, and vnreuerent speiches vtterit be him aganis his Maestie, his hienes Secreit Counsell and Justices of the peace, in maner specifcit and contenit in the first Article of his Dittay, and Decreit of the Lordis of Secreit Counsell, producet, for verificatioun thairof: And as to the remanent crymes aboue writtin, contenit in the said Dittay, fband, pronuncet, and declairit the said Williame to be Cleane, innocent, and acquit thairof.—Quhairvpone the said Williame askit instrumentis.

¹ Ewe. or alder-tree.

² 'Ewe-bucht,' a pen or fold, where sheep are sheltered at night.

³ The aller

⁴ The admission of this person and his fellow-Constables, was contrary to every principle of justice; and very strongly shows how extremely arbitrary the proceedings of the Court were, at this period.

⁵ Ten other names are inserted, but they were persons of no note.

THE Justice continewis the pronunceatioun of Dome, to ffryday next, that in the meane tyme he may tak advyfe with the Lordis of Secretit Counfell thair-anent.

(Mar. 13.)—SENTENCE. The Justice, with advyfe of the Lordis of his hienes Secretit Counfell, be the mouth of Alexander Kennydie, dempfter of Court, decernit and ordanit the said Williame Tuedie, in Heuchbra, to be SCURGET through the Burgh of Edinburgh: And thaireftir to be BANISCHET furth of his Maiesteis haill dominionis: And nawayis to returne agane within the famyn, vnder the pane of hanging to the deid, but¹ forder Dome: And being scourget throw the towne, that the Magistratis of Edinburgh returne him bak agane to his waird, within thair Thevis-hoill, thairin to remane quhill ane schip be provydit to transpourt him furth of his Maiesteis dominions, in maner foirsaid.

Slaughter.

Mar. 13.—ALEXANDER FRENCHÉ, Tutour of Thorniedykis,² and James Wicht, at Gordoun-mylne, his sifter-sonne.

Dilaittit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Cranftoun, brother to Patrik Cranftoun of Corbie; committit be thame vpon the grund and landis of Boun, in the Merse, vpon the tent day of Februare lastbypast, be wounding of him in the heid, leg, and dyuerse vtheris pairtis of his bodie, to the effusioun of his bluid in grit quantitie: Off the quhilkis fraikis and deidlie woundis the said vmq^{le} Johnne nevir thaireftir convalescit: bot, vpon the first day of Merche instant, depairtit this lyfe, of the saidis hurtis and woundis.

PERSEWAR, Patrik Cranftoun of Corbie, as brother.

The persewar, be his grit aithe, declairis that he hes most caus to persew: And fuers the said Dittay to be of verritie, and takis instrumentis thairupoun; and Protestis for Wilfull Errour, gif the Assyse Acquit. As also, for verificatioun thairof, haifing vsfet and producet the Depositiones of certane famous Witnesse, quhilk was oppinlie red in Judgement.

VERDICT. The Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouth of Hew Bell in Blithe, chancellor, stand, pronuncet, and declairit the said James Wicht to be ffylet, culpable, and convict of the crewal and vnmerciefull Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Johnne Cranftoun. AND siclyk, for the maist pairts, Declairit the said Alexander Frenche, to be ffylet, &c.—SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair, thair heidis to be strukin frome thair bodeis; and all thair moveable guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to his Maiesteis vse, as convict, &c.

¹ Without.

² See the Trial of Sir Patrick Chirnesyde of East Nisbet, and others, Nov. 8, 1616, for Forcible Abduction and Marriage of Adam Frenche of Thornydykes, &c.

Raid of Glenfrwne—Fire-raising—Slaughter.

May 8.—DOUGALL M^cGREGOUR alias Dougall M^ccandochie, Callum M^cgregour callit M^ccalexter scoir,¹ and Duncane M^ccarlich Culzame M^cgregour.

Dilaitit for being in companie with THE LAIRD OF M^cGREGOUR and his complices, at the Raid and ffeild of Glenfrwne,² in the moneth of ffebruarye 1603 yeiris, aganis the Laird of Lufe, his kyn and freindis: And for being in cunpanie with the Laird of M^cgregour, at the burning of Barnehill, pertening to Colene Campbell of Laweris,³ quhair thai flew nyne men and thre bairnes; Robert Abroche M^cgregour, and Johne M^cfadrik, being thair with thaim.

THE Justice continewis the puting of the perfones foirfaidis to ane Affyse to Thurisday nixt.⁴—Thaireftir, the perfones on pannell, be Ordinance of the Counfall, war ordanit to be delyuerit to the Erle of Lynlythgow, and he to hald Court vpon thame, conforme to ane Commiffioun gevin to the said Erle to that effect.

Treasonable Intercommuning with John, sometime Lord Maxwell, &c.

May 16.—NINIANE AIRMESTRANG callit Ninianes Thome, sone to Thomas Airmestrang; and Johnne Amulliekyn, in Cruikis.

Dilaitit ffor the tressonabill Refset, fupplie, Intercowmoning, and accompaneing of JOHNNE, sumtyme LORD MAXWALL,⁵ his Maiefteis declairit Tratour, fforfalt in Parliament, for dyuerse crymes of Treafone and Lefmaieftie, at lenth fpecifeit and contenit in the proces and dome of fforfaltour deducet aganis him: And namelie, the said Johnne Amulliekyn, for Refsetting, Suppleing, and Intercowmoning with the said sumtyme Lord Maxwell, within his awin duelling hous in the Cruikis, and in his barne thairof, vpon the tuentie fax day of Apryle last-bypast; at the quhilk tyme, he haifing reffaut fra the said sumtyme Lord Maxwell the fowme of ten pundis; he, for obedience of the said Lord Maxwell's directioun, past thairwith vpon the morne thaireftir to the Toun of Dumfreis, to the said Niniane Airmestrang, quhair thay bocht ane hagbut and ane pair of fchone,⁶ quhilk was delyuerit be the said Johnne Amulliekin to the said Niniane, to be gevin to the said sumtyme Lord; conforme to the said Johnne Amulliekyn his Depositioun, maid be him in prefens of my Lord Chancellor, and vtheris Lordis of his Maiefteis Previe Counfell: AND ficlyk, the said Niniane, for Intercowmoning and keiping companie with the said Johnne, sumtyme Lord Maxwell,

¹ M^callaster scoroch, q. d. buck-toothed.

² See Jan. 20, 1604.

³ This person is understood to have been Colin Campbell of ABERUCHILL, and the Barnehill, which is here stated to have been burned, is likely to have been some appendage of that property.

⁴ In consequence of the subsequent order, no further procedure took place before the High Court of Justiciary.

⁵ See his Trial, Jun. 24, 1609, &c., III., 28, &c.

⁶ Shoes.

declairit Tratour, in the said moneth of Apryle lastbypast, be the space of fyve dayis togidder, in the Langwoid and Schillingtonehill; and for bringing of ane hagbut fra James Louk, and delyuering the same to the said Lord Maxwell, his Maiesteis declairit Tratour; and bringing of the said vther hagbut, with the pair of schone ressaunt be him fra the said Johnne Amulliekyn, within the toun of Dumfreis, and delyuering the samyn to the said Lord Maxwell; as at lenth is contenit in thair Dittayis. IN doing quhairof, the saidis Johnne and Niniane had committit manifest Treafone: And thairfoir, according to the Lawis of this realme, had incurrit the panes and pwneischment of tynfell¹ and fforfaltour of lyfe, landis, and guidis, to be inflictit vpon thame; to the terrour of vtheris.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Dauid Bailzie, burges of the Cannogait, chancellor, ffand, pronuncet, and declairit, all in ane voce, the saidis Johnne Amulliekyn, and Niniane Airmestrang, and ather of thame, to be ffylit, culpable, and convict of the crymes aboue specifeit in thair Dittay; and that in respect of thair awin Judicial Confessioun and Depositiones product.—SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit vpon ane gibbet, quhill thai be deid: And all thair landis, heritages, guidis, and geir, gif thai ony haif, to be fforfaltit and escheit to his Maiesteis vse, as convict, &c.

‘Unbesetting the hie-way’—Slaughter.

JUN. 3.—GAWIN HORNE in Inner Kethie, and Isobel Jak, mother to the said Gawin.

Dilaitit, accusit, and persewit, that thei with their complecis, being bodin in feir of weir, with swordis, durkis, and vther vapones invasue, laillie, vpon the faxt day of Januar lastbypast, haifing confaut ane deidlie feid, rancour, and malice causles, aganes wmq^{le} Patrik Low in Naderdaill, came vnder silence and clud of nycht to the toun of Nether Kethie, quhair he was going hame to his duelling hous, in maist peciabill maner, vnder Godis peax and our souerane lordis, and thair Unbeset his hie-way and passage,² and crewallie Invaiddit him for his Slauchter, hurt and voundit him in his body and breist, with durkis and swordis, to the effusione of his bluid in grit quantitie: Of the quhillkis hurtis he newer convalessit, bot continewing bedfast in grit dollour and diseis thairof, vnder the cuir of chirurgeneas, be the space of fourtein dayes, or thairby; quhill at last, the said wmq^{le} Patrik, vpon the twenty day of the said moneth of Januar, depairtit this lyfe: And swa wes crewallie and vnmercifullie flane be thame; and thei and ather of thame wer airt and part of the said crewall Slauchter.

¹ Loss; deprivation. ² Waylaid; lurked, or lay in ambush for, for the purpose of ‘besetting.’ See various Trials in this Collection, where this phrase repeatedly occurs. The highway was likewise said to be ‘umbeset,’ when one party blocked up the road with his retainers, for the purpose of daring his rival to pass—or to give battle, and thus force a passage, if he could.

PERSEWAR, Andro Low as fone. PRELOCOUTOUR for the persewar, Mr Williame Livingstoun.
PRELOCOUTOUR for the pannell, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Aduocat.

Protestis for Wilfull Errorr in caise they Acquit.

Mr Johnne Ruffell takis instrumentis, that thair is nane to sweir the Dittay bot ane young boy of saxtene yeir awld ; and swa can mak na faith.—Produces ane instrument subferyuit be the Justice of Peax and the Constabill, for verificatioun of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Patrik Low and cleiring of the samyn, subferyuit be the said Constabill, Johnne Innes of Knokcorth, ane of the Constabillis of peax ; and schavis that Williame Smairt confessit that he hurt and voundit the said vmq^{le} Patrik.—Quhilk cryme the pannell alluterlie denyit.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of George Leslie in Drunblair, chancel-ler, for the maist pairt, ffand, pronuncit, and declairit the saidis Gawin Horne and Issobell Jak to be Clein, innocent, and acquet of airt and pairt of the said Slauchter.

Abiding from the Raid of the Isles.

Jun. 5.—ROBERT MAXWALL of Potterak, Alexander Fergusone of the Yle, Johnne Charteris in Redingwoid, Johnne Wallace in Carnezeill, Thomas Edzer in Holme, and Mr Samuell Kirkpatrik.

Dilaitit for Contravening the Proclamatioun in abyding fra the Raid of the Yles, in anno 1608.

PERSEWAR, Andro Lord Stewart of Vchiltrie.

My Lord Vchiltrie passis fra perfute of Mr Samuell Kirkpatrik. He also passis from the pursuit of Hew Douglas and Thomas Douglas in Dalvene.—Williame Greir provin to be feik, be the Depositioun of Johnne Broun, Minister of Glencairne.—James Fergusoun of Crochedow, provin to be feik, be the said Ministeris Depositioun.

THE Justice continewis this matter to the morne, in eodem statu quo nunc est.

Jun. 6.—IN respect na pairtie compeiris this day to insift in thair perfute, Protestis for thair cautioneris releif ; and that thai be nocht charget or trubillit for the said allegit cryme, in ony tyme cuning. And thairupoun askit instrumentis.

Mutilation and Demembration.

Jun. 12.—WILLIAME RUTHERFURD of Synewallis, and George Well his seruand.

Dilaitit for the Mutilatioun and Demembring of James Weir, feruitour to Williame Weir in Softlaw ; committit in ffebruar 1611, of the forncst finger of his left hand.

PERSEWER, James Weir.

PRELOCUTORIS in defence.

Sir Robert Stewart, Mr Johnne Rutherford, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Johnne Dauling.

JAMES WEIR, feruitour to Williame Weir in Softlaw, Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the Mutilatioun of Williame Rutherford of Synewallis of his . . . hand, at the leift of the mid-finger thairof; committit in ffebruar 1611.

PERSEWAR, Williame Rutherford of Synewallis.

PRELOCUTORIS in defence.

The Laird of Blaikwoid, The Laird of Lammington, The Laird Symontoun,
The Guidman of the Caveris, Robert Hammiltoun, Aduocat.

It is allegit be Mr Johnne Ruffell, that the Dittay is altogidder irrelevant; and thairfoir can nocht pas to ane Assyse: And as to that article of the Dittay, concerning the demembring James Weir of the finger, quhilk is the only point that fould be tryit in this Judgement, nather mutilatioun nor demembratioun is relevant; becaus, except the haille hand had bene cuttit af, it can nocht be comptit demembratioun; and the finger is nocht ane member, sed tantum est pars membri. It is forder allegit, that this Dittay aganis Rutherford and his man can nocht pas to ane Assyse, becaus, gif ony mutilatioun or hurting was done to Weir, the samyn was done in Rutherfordis awin defence, he being in sober maner passand out the hie-way, convoyand ane gentilman to his hors; at quhilk tyme, vnder nycht, Weir, with ane drawin fuord, invaidit Rutherford; and sa, gif ony hurt wes gevin to Weir, it was in Rutherfordis defence.—It is anfuert, that the Dittay is relevant, nochtwithstanding of the allegeance; and desyres the Assyse to cognosce, quhidder the samyn was done in Weiris defence or nocht; quhilk Weir altogidder denyis.—It is allegit be James Weir, that the lybell at the instance of Williame Rutherford aganis him can nocht pas to ane Assyse; and gif ony mutilatioun was done to the said Williame Rutherford, the samyn was done in Weiris awin defence.

Compeirit, Williame Lord Cranftoun, Commiffioner for his Maiestie, and desyret my Lord Justice, that thir tua perfutes, movet in this Judgement, may be remittit to the Commiffioneris, to be tryit befor thame, feing the factis lybellit was done within the boundis of thair Commiffioun: And siclyk, feing thair is ane Court affixt to be haldin within the boundis thairof, quhair justice fall be ministrat to ony partie, conforme to the Lawis of this realme.

THE Justice continewis this matter to Thurisday nixt, vnto the tyme he be advyset with the Counsell, concerning my Lord of Cranstones desyre.

Lawburrows are granted at the instance of the parties against each other, viz. ‘Mr Johnne Rutherford become souertie and Lauborris for Synlawis and his ferwand, &c. vnder the pane of ffyve hundreth merkis, and thre hundreth merkis. William Rutherford of Synlawis for the said Mr Johnne, vnder the pane of thre hundreth merkis. And James Douglas of Todhoillis for George Weir of Blaikwoid, and for the pannell James Weir, vnder the pane of ane thowfeand pundis, and thre hundreth merkis.'

Thaireftir the Justice abfolutelie, without forder continuatioun of this matter, Remittit the tryell of baith thir actiones, perfewit be ather pairtie aganis vtheris,¹ to the Commiffioneris, to be cognofcet and tryet be thame as accoirdis of the Law.

Abiding from the Raid of the Isles.

Jun. 25.—ROBERT HEREIS, in Lafoun, and five others.²

Dilaitit for contravening of his Maiefteis Proclamatioun, in nocht paffing forward with Andro Lord Stewart of Vchiltrie, his hienes Lieutenant, to the Raid of the Yles, in anno 1608.

PRELOCOUTOURIS in defence, Mr Johnne Halyday, Mr Johnne Belfis.

The perfones on pannell takis instrumentis of thair compeirance, and declairis that thay war nawayis fubiect to the tennour of the Proclamatioun; in respect thai ar nather Erles, lordis, barrones, feweris, frehalderis, or landit gentilmen; and gif the famyn can be tryit³ that thai war sic men, the tyme of the making of the faid Proclamatioun to the faid Raid, thay ar content to affigne, and be thir presentis assignis, thair haill landis and heritages to the Kingis Maieftie, &c. And in respect thair is na pairtie perfewer present to infist in thair perfute, protestis for thair cautioneris releif, and that thai be nocht callit or perfewit, for this matter, at ony tyme heireftir.

Slaughter.

Jul. 1.—ROBERT FORBES, fone to James Forbes of Mylnebowie.

Dilaitit, accuset, and perfewit by DITTAY following.—FORSAMEKILL as he, accompaneit with Williame Forbes, callit of Mylnebowie, and Patrik Forbes his brother, now rebellis and att the horne for the cryme vnderwrittin, and diueris vtheris thair complices, haifing confaut ane deidlie feid, rancour, and malice aganis the faid vmq^{le} Johnne Ker, vnderftanding him to haif bene att the Kirk-toun of Skene, att the mariage of his wyfes fifter; thay, vpone the fyftene day of October laftbypaft, darnit thame⁴ in the hie-way, betuix the faid Kirk-toun of Skene and the faid vmq^{le} Johnne Ker guidfatheris hous, in . . . , quhair the faid vmq^{le} Johnne had his refidence for the tyme; and thair, bodin⁵ with fwordis, dageris, gantilletis, and vtheris wapponnis invafive, lay att wait all that day for the faid vmq^{le} Johnnis hame-cumming: Lyke as, about the ewening, vnder filence and cloud of nycht, the faid vmq^{le} Johnne, lipning for na ewill, harme, or instructed.

¹ By both parties against each other.

² This case was continued from Jun. 23.

³ Proved;

⁴ Hid; concealed themselves.

⁵ Furnished; provided.

iniurie of ony personnes, bot to haif past hame to his hous in peceabill maner, vnder Godis peax and our fouerane lordis, haifing tane his hors with ane young woman on behind him ; in his hame-passing to his said guidfatheris duelling hous, was vmbesett in the hie-way, be the foirnameit persones ; quhair, befoir ewir he wes aduertesit of thame, thay, with thair wappinnis foirsaidis, maist schamefullie strak him fra his horse, and maist crewallie inuidit him for his slauchter, gaif him twa crewall and deidlie straikis in the heid with their swordis, and hurt and woundit him in dyverse pairtis of his body ; to the effusioun of his blude in grit quantitie : Off the quhillkis crewall woundis, he newir thaireftir convalessit, bot continewand in grit dolour and payne thairof, vnder the cuir of chierurgeonis, be the space of elleuin oulkis¹ or thairby thaireftir ; quhill² at last, the said vni^{le} Johnne Ker, in the moneth of Januar lastbypast, deceissit of the saidis deidlie woundis ; and swa wes crewallie and vnmerciefullie slayne be the saidis (persones) : And the said Robert Forbes is airt and pairt of the said crewall slauchter of the said vni^{le} Johnne Ker ; committit vpoun sett purpois, prouisioun, and foirthocht felony.

PERSEWAR,

Johnne Ker at the mylne of Clwney, as father ; Alexander Gordoun of Clwny, assistit in this persute.
PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, Mr Johnne Ruffell, (Advocate.)

It is allegit, that this matter can nocht pas to ane Assyse, becaus in November 1611, eftir the allegit hurting, this persewar haifing intentit actioun befoir the Counsell aganis Williame Forbes of Mylnebowie, and Patrik Forbes, his brother, committeris of the slauchter, to haif hard and sene thame decernit to haif committit ane oppin and manifest Ryote and Oppressioun : ffor preving of the quhillk complent befoir the Counsell, the said Johnne Ker vsset the pannell as ane witness to verifie the same ; and sua, haifing anes vsset him as witness in the said matter, thai can nevir be hard to follow him as pairtie. For verifeing quhairrof, producet the Counsellis Act, and ane testificat of his summonding, subseryuit be Alexander Watfone, messinger. Ansuweris, thair was na witness led in the proces afoir the Counsell ; and albeit at that tyme na knowlege of the pannellis giltines was cleirly knawin, yet that can nocht liberat him fra pwneischment, his giltines being tryit³ thaireftir.

THE JUSTICE remittis the same to the Assyse.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Alexander Thome in Eister Cairny, chancellor, all in ane voce, ffind, pronunceit, and declairit the said Robert Forbes to be Cleane, innocent, and acquitt of the slauchter of the said vni^{le} Johnne Ker ; and of airt and pairt of the said Slauchter.

¹ Weeks.

² Until.

³ Proved ; established.

Slaughter.

Jul. 3.—THOMAS MAXWALL of Arenyning,¹ brother to Alexander Maxwell of Logane; Johnne Huttone, messinger in Carlingwark.

Dilaitit of the crymis fett down in the Letteris and DITTAY following. FOR-SAMEKILL as the said Thomas, accompaneit with Johnne Maxwell, sone to the said Alexander Maxwell of Logane, now fugitiue and at the horne for the slauchter vnder writtin, vpon the tuentie nyne day of Apryle lastbypast, haifing con-sauet ane deidlie feid, rancour, and malice againt vmq^{le} Johnne M^cnacht of Kilquhannatie, and vnderstanding that thair was ane tryft² affixt to be keipit at the toun of Carlingwark, betuixt him and Dauid Maxwell of Newark, the said day; the said Thomas and Johnne, his brother-sone,³ and vtheris thair complices, bodin⁴ with fuordis, quhingeris, and vtheris wapponis inuasiue, come to the said toun of Carlingwark, quhair the said vmq^{le} Johnne M^cnacht was rydeing vp and down, attending vpon the said Dauid Maxwell of Newarkis cuning, in sober and quyet maner for the tyne, lipning for na harme, iniurie, or perfute of ony persone, bot to haif leuit vnder Godis peax and our souerane lordis; and haifing first violentlie drawin him af his horse, and thaireftir compellit him to pas with thame in to Johnne Huttone messengeris hous, in Carlingwark, thay thair, efter dyuerse ruche⁵ and hard speiches vtterit to him, drew thair quhingeris and fuordis, and within the said hous persewit him for his slauchter: The said Thomas Maxwell grippit him be baith the airmes, and held him, vnto⁶ the tyme the said Johnne Maxwell, his brother-sone, gaif him tua sfracis, the ane at the hert, and the vther on the left airme: Off the quhilkis, he immediatlie thaireftir deceffit; and sa was crewallie and vnmerciefullie slane be the saidis Johnne and Thomas Maxwellis: And thay and ather of thame ar and war airt and pairt of his said slauchter; committit vpon fet purpois, prouisioun, and foirthocht felonie; in hie and manifest contempt of our souerane lordis auctoritie and lawis.

PERSEWARIS, Johnne M^cnacht, burges of Edinburgh, neir kynfinan; (Capitane) Charles Geddes of Rachan; [Margaret Gordoun, Lady Kilquhannatie, the relict, with the thrie fatherles bairnes, kyn and friendis of vmq^{le} Johnne Maknacht of Kilquhannatie.]

PRELOCUTOURIS for the pannell, Alexander Maxwell of Logane; Johnne Maxwell of Couhaithe; Robert, Maister of Maxwell; Mr Williame Maxwell of Caveris; Mr Alexander King, Aduocat; Adame Cunninghame, Aduocat; Sir Robert Maxwell of Spottis; The Guidman of Cowhill.

The persewaris, vnderstanding Johnne Huttone to be innocent of the slauchter, passés simpliciter fra his perfute; quhairupoune Johnne Huttone askis instrumentis.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of James Camane of Killochie, chancellor, all in ane voce, sband, pronunct, and declairit the said Thomas Maxwell to furnished.

¹ In the Dittay called of Aremein.

⁵ Rough; uncouth.

² An appointed meeting.

⁶ Until.

³ Nephew.

⁴ Provided;

be Cleane, innocent, and acquit of the slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Johnne M^cnacht of Kilquhannatie, and of being airt or pairt thairof.

Alexander Maxwell of Logane become plege and fouertie for Thomas M. his brother germane—and Capitane Charles Geddes of Raehan, and Johnne M^cnacht, mercheand burges of Edinburgh, ather of thame become pleges and fouerteis for vtheris,¹ that thai and ather of thame fall obserue and keip his Maiesteis peax to all our fouerane lordis legis, and nawayis to molest or trouble thame in thair perfonas, guidis, or possessiones, vtherwayis nor² be ordour of law and justice; ather of thame vnder the pane of ffyve hundreth merkis.

Murder under trust—Slaughter—Theft.

Jul. 11.—PETRIE M^cGILLIEVORICHE in Brachloche.

Dilaitit of the crewall Murthour and Slauchter of Duncane M^callaster and M^cgilliecreist,³ his tua sifter-sones; and for dyuerse poyntis of thift, (viz.) FOR airt and pairt of the crewall and abhominabill Murthour vnder Trust of vmq^{lo} Duncane M^callaster, his sifter-sonne, be schuitting him with ane hagbut throw the body; committit in the moneth of Apryle, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and thre yeiris. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thiftious steilling, at the leist ressetting, of fourtie s^cheip, pertening to the Guidman of Campbell-Burnet. AND for airt and pairt of the thiftious steilling of tua oxin and ane kow, pertening to Johnne Leith in Edingerroche; committit a tua yeir fyne, or thairby. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the steilling fra Adame Leith of foure oxin; committit a tuelf yeir fyne, or thairby. ITEM, for cowmoun thift, cowmoun resset of thift, outputting and inputting of thift, fra land to land, fra cuntrie to cuntrie, baith auld and new.

PERSEWAR, Mr Williame Oliphant of Newtoun, Aduocat to our foueran lord.⁴

ASSISA.

Williame Forbes of Monymusk, Younger,	George Jope in Cowclarachie, Johnne Woid in Mylnebowie,	Mr Johnne Horne, seruant to the Laird of Fren draucht,
Mark Mawer of Mawerstown, Edmond Gradane in Kinloche,	Andro Meldrum of Dumbrek, Alex. Irwing, Younger of Lenturk,	Johnne Forbes, seruitour to my Lord Forbes,
Williame Lummisden, brother to the Laird of Cufelnie,	Patrik Mortimer, Mr Patrik Grant, Minister at	George Gordoun, seruitour to the Laird of Lesmoir,
Tho ^s Cowie, burges of Abirdene,	Cromedaill,	Mr Robert Elphingstoun, Tutour of Glak.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of the said Williame Forbes of Monymusk, chancellor, all in ane voce, ffind, pronuncet, and declairit the said Patrik to be ffylet, culpable, and convict, according to his awin Confessioun, set down in his Depositiones, of the crymes respectiue aboue specified.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thair, vpone ane gibbet, to be hangit quhill he be deid: And all his landis, heritages, &c.,

¹ For each other. ² Otherwise than by form of Law.
in the Dittay or proceedings of this murder of M^cgilliecreist.

³ No mention is otherwise made
⁴ He appears here for the first time, in the Record, as Lord Advocate.

guidis and geir pertening to him, to be fforfault and efcheit to his Maiefteis vfe, as convict and culpable of the faidis thiftious and abhominable crymes.

Slaughter, &c.

Jul. 17.—SUBMISSION betwixt GEORGE (fifth) ERLE OF CAITHNES, (WILLIAM) LORD BERRIDAILL, his fone, and (JOHN seventh) ERLE OF SUTHERLAND.¹

Compeirit Mr Johnne Manfone and Mr Johnne Sinclair, feruitouris to George Erle of Caithnes, and producet ane WARRANT of THE LORDIS OF SECREIT COUNSALL, anent the deferting of the criminall perfutes appointit, hinc inde, aganis the Erles of Caithnes and Sutherland, to be difputit and reffouit afor the Juftice this day : off the quhilk Warrant the tennour followis.

MY LORDIS of Secreit Counfell, vnto your lordfchipis humlie meanis² and fchawis, we your feruitouris, GEORGE ERLE OF CAITHNES, LORD BORRIEDAILL, his fone, ffor our felffis, and in name of our friendis and fervandis, quho ar charget in the matter vnderwritten : That quhair, pe xvij day of Julij instant is appointit vnto ws for our compeirance befor pe Juftice and his deputis, in the Tolbuthe of Edinburgh, to vnderly the Law, for the flautcher of Neill Nathmarne ; the hurting and wounding of Johnne Gordoun of Golfpitour, Donald M^cky, fear of Far, and fome vther friendis and feruandis to THE ERLE OF SUTHERLAND ; the taking and detening priffoner of Angus M^cWiliame,³ and for certane vtheris crymes, fpecifeit and contenit in the Letteris raifit and execute aganis ws at pe instance of pe faidis perfones, and of his Maiefteis Aduocat for his hienes intreis : Lyk as, pe Juftice intendis to proceid in pis matter aganis ws, althocht it be of verritie, that howbeit we wer moft willing and reddie to haif fubmittit our felffis to the Tryell of the lawis, for pe hail crymes contenit in the faidis Letteris ; and for this effect, to haif presentit our felffis in judgement befor the Juftice the day foirfaid : Zit it was your lordfchipis plefure to burdene ws with ane Submiffioun of all matteris queftionable betwix ws and the Erle of Sutherland, and M^cky and pair freindis ; in the quhilk Submiffioun, pir matteris ar speciallie and perticulerlie comprehendit : AND feing thay ar now in your lordfchipis handis, vnder Submiffioun, as faid is, the dyett appointit to ws afor pe Juftice aucht to defert. Heirfoir we befeik your lordfchipis to geve command to the Juftice, Juftice clerk, and pair deputtis, to defert pe faid dyet, and to defist and ceife fra all proceeding pairintill, and to difpens with our perfonall compeirance : Quhairanent pir presentis falbe vnto thame a Warrant, and your lordfchipis anfuer.

APUD ED^B, xvj Julij, 1612. ffiat ut petitur. AL. CANCELL^S. J. PRYMROIS.

At command of the quhilk Warrant, the Juftice ordanit baithe the dyettis appointit, hinc inde, to this day to defert.

Lykas, Johnne Gordoun, appeirand of Sydra,⁴ compeirand perfonallie in judgement, in name of Sir Robert Gordoun, brother to my Lord of Sutherland, Dun-cane M^cky, fear of Far, Johnne Gordoun, appeirand of Gordoun of Golfpitour, ¹ Vid. Jul. 30, 1612. In order to a proper understanding of this FEUD, reference may be made to Gordon's History of the Family of Sutherland, Edinburgh, 1813, p. 317, &c. It would occupy too much space to give a suitable outline of the various disputes in which these families were embroiled.

² Complains ; literally, moans.

³ Alias Herrach (Herraugh).

⁴ The eldest son of John Gordon of Sidderay.

and producet the Letteris raifit be thame, and remanent complineris infert thairin, aganis my Lord of Caithnes, my Lord of Berriedaill, his fone, and remanent defenderis thairin contenit; be the quhilkis, thay and everie ane of thame ar charget to find caution for thair compeirance befor the Justice or his deputis, this day and place, in the hour of caus, to vnderly the law for the slauchter of Neill Nathnear, vniq^{le} Airthour Smyth, taking captiue and priffoner of Angus M^cWilliame, alias Herrach, but Commiffioun; and dyuerse vtheris crymes fpecifeit in the faidis Letteris—askit instruments, and proteftis for relief of the faid Sir Robert Gordoun, kny', of his cautionerie.

Slaughter—Fire-raising—Theft—Intercommuning with Clan Gregor.

Jul. 28.—GREGOUR BEG M^cGREGOUR, fone to vniq^{le} Gregour M^ceane; Gregour M^cAllaster Gal t¹ Johnne M^cinleithe;² Johnne Dow M^cgilliephadrik V^crobert; Allaster M^callaster V^ccoule; Patrik M^cgregour Craiginfche; Duncane M^ccoule cheir; Patrik Roy M^cGregour, fone to Johnne M^cphadrik, in Rannache; Gregour M^ceane V^ccoulcheir; Johnne Dow Moir M^cgregour, in Rora.

Being all presentit vpone pannell, dilaitit, accuset, and perfewit be Dittay, at the instance of Sir Williame Oliphant of Newtoun, kny', Aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hienes intreis, of the crymes respectiue following, viz. THE faidis Gregour Beg M^cgregour, Gregour M^cAllaster Galt, Johnne Dow M^cinleith, and Johnne Dow M^cgilliephadrick V^crobert, ffor airt and pairt of the tressonabill raising of ffyre, burning and distroying of the hail houffis and biggingis of Glenlocha and Achallader: And for the Slauchter of M^ccoleane, bowman to the Laird of Glenvrquhie, with dyuerse vtheris perfones, to the number of aucht perfones: Burning of thre 3oung bairnes, dochteris to Johnne M^ckifchak: And for Steilling of fax scoir ky and oxin furth of Glenlyoun, committit in Apryle, 1604. AND siclyk, the faidis Allaster M^callaster V^ccoule, Patrik M^cgregour Craiginche, Duncan M^ccoule cheir, Gregour M^ceane V^ccoule cheir, and Patrik Roy M^cgregour, fone to Johnne M^cfadrik in Rannache, being indytit and accuset, ffor airt and pairt of the burning and distroying of the hail houffis and bigingis vpone the fourtie merk land of Abervrchill, pertening to Colene Campbell: And for the Slauchter of Duncane Wobster, Johnne Seatone, Patrik Stavache, Johnne M^cgillievorich: Burning of the thre dochteris of Johnne M^ckifchak, steilling and away-taking of auchtene scoir ky, faxscoir peife of horfis,³ aucht scoir scheip and gait, pertening to the faid Co-son of rough, or dark John.

¹ The stranger, or travelled.

² M^cinleiche, son of the leech, or doctor. Query, M^cindreiche?

³ One hundred and twenty piece of horses, as we say head of oxen.

lene : And lykwayis for burning of the mylne of Bolquhafter, with the hail houffis, and bigingis vpon the grund and landis of Carne, Downe, and Dillater, pertening to Robert Campbell of Glenfalloche, and of his hail houffis and bigingis vpon his landis of Ardcanknockaur;¹ committit be thame in the moneth of Junij, 1611. ITEM, the said Gregour M^cgregour Beg, ffor airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vinq^{le} Solomon Lany, alias Buchannane; committit at the Kirk of Kilmaheug, at tuentie yeir fyne, or thairby. ITEM, the said Johnne Dow Gilliephadrik, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling and away-taking furth of Glenfynles of ane grit heirfchip² of ky and oxin, pertening to the Laird of Lufe and his tennentis : And Slauchter of vinq^{le} Johnne Reid, wobfter, and Patrik Lang, iervand to the Laird of Lufe; committit vpon the saidis landis of Glenfines, in the moneth of December, 1602. AND ficlyk, the said Johnne Dow Moir M^cgregour, in Rora, ffor steilling and away-taking of ane grit number of guidis,³ pertening to my Lord Ogilvie, furth of Glenylay : And ficlyk, for taking and keiping of the Ileand calit Ileand-Varnak,⁴ againft his Maieftis Commiffioner, and herreing⁵ and oppreffing of the hail tennentis and inhabitantis of the cuntrie about;⁶ taking and inbringing of thair hail guidis and beftiall, to the number of aucht fcoir ky and oxin, xvij fcoir fcheip and gait, quhilkis war eittin and flane be thame, wih in the said Ileand.⁷ ITEM, the hail foirnamet perfones indytet and accufet, ffor cowmone thift, cowmone reffet of thift, cowmone foirning,⁸ and oppreffing of his Maieftis peceable and guid fubiectis; and for Intercowmoning with the reft of the furname of M^cgregouris, fugitiues and at the horne, and ffurneiffing of thame with meit, drink, and money; and keiping of tryftis, counfallis, and gaddingis⁹ with thame, contrare the tennour of his Maieftis Proclamations—war all put to the knowlege of ane Affyfe of the perfones following.

ASSISA.

Colene Campbell, appeirand ¹⁰ of Glenvrquhie,	James Campbell, feruitour to the Laird of Lundie,	Johnne M ^c dowgall of Raray, Duncan Menzeis of Comereite,
Johnne M ^c farlane of Arrochar,	Duncane Campbell, Capitane of Carrik, ¹¹	William Sterling of Achyle, Mr James Schaw of Knokhill,
James Campbell of Laweris,	Johnne Drummond, feruitour to my Lord of Perth,	Johnne Buntene of Ardoche, Mr James Kirk, feruitour to my Lord of Argyle.
Dauid Drummond, feruitour to my Lord of Perth,	Alexander Menzeis of that Ilk, Alexander Schaw of Cambusmoir,

The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the fivering of the Affyfe, and proteftis for

¹ Ardchenachrochtan, the now celebrated inn and farm at the Trossachs. ² Plunder, or spoil.
³ Stock, cattle. ⁴ A small Island, near the western extremity of Loch Katrine, on its north shore, opposite Portnellan. ⁵ Spoiling; plundering. ⁶ Circumjacent. ⁷ The Clau-Gregor had a garrison here, in January 1611; and were besieged by Campbell of Glenurchy's second son, Robert Campbell of Glenfalloch, who abandoned the siege, owing, as is alleged in the Book of Taymouth, to a storm of snow. ⁸ Taking free quarters by violence, &c. ⁹ Appointed meetings, councils, and gatherings, or convocations. ¹⁰ Heir-apparent. ¹¹ Captain of the Castle of Carrik, on the banks of Lochfyne.

Wilfull Errour, in caice thay clange the pannell of the crymes contenit in thair Dittay; in respect of the notorietye thair of, and of thair Confessioun.

VERDICT. Eftir accusatioun of the foirfaidis perfonen enterit vponne pannell of the crymes respectiue aboue writtin, be our said souerane lordis Aduocat, quhilk was verifeit be thair Depositiones and Confessiounes, maid in presens of ane grit number of the saidis perfonen of Assyse, the said David Drummond, chancellor, in name of the said Assyse, all in ane voce, exponit, pronuncet, and declairit the saidis perfonen on pannell, in respect of thair awin Confessioun, to be flylit, culpable, and convict of the crymes respectiue aboue specifeit, contenit in thair Dittayis.—SENTENCE. To be tane to the Burrow-mure of Ed^r, and thair to be hangit quhill thair be deid; and thair haill landis, heritages, and annuelrentis, takis, possessiones, guidis and geir pertening to thame, to be fforfalt and escheit to his hienes vse, as convict and culpable of the saidis crymes.

Slaughter — (Pannel ordained to satisfy the Private Party, notwithstanding of the King's Remission, and 'Letters of Slains' from the Eldest Son of the Deceased.)

Jul. 29.—WILLIAME MURRAY, sone to Williame Murray in Glasfurd, sumtyme fervand to James Hammiltoun of Evindail.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the crewall Slauchter of vmq^{le} Archibald Stevinfoun, in Gallowfarvene; committit with schottis of hagbuttis and pistolettis, vponne the xxiiij day of Marche, I^m.Vj^c. and aucht yeiris.

PERSEWARIS, Archibald and Thomas Stevinfonen, as sones; Agnes Finlay, as relict; Gawin Stevinfone, baxter, burges of Ed^r, as neir kynfinan.

The said Williame tuik him self to our souerane lordis Remissioun, grantit to him vnder his hienes Grit Seall, vponne the nynt day of Januar lastbypast, beirand,¹ that his Maiestie, of his speciall grace and mercie, had pardonet and forgevin the said Williame all actioun, cryme, and offence that mycht be imput² to him, for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Archibald; and in respect thair of, and of his Maiesteis clemencie, mercie, and pardoun expressit thairin, allegit, that the Justice could nawayis put him to ane Assyse, for the said crymes.—To the quhilk it was ansuerit be the persewaris, that the foirfaid Remissioun is null, and thairfoir sould nocht be admittit; in respect, be Act of Parliament, maid be our souerane lord and thre Estaitis, in the moneth of Julij, 1593, cap. 174, it is expresse provydit, statute and ordanit, be his Maiestie and Estaitis foirfaidis, that na Respekt nor Remissioun be grantit to ony persone or perfonen, at na tyme thaireftir, that passis to the horne for thift, reif, slauchter, burning, or heirschip, quhill the pairtie skaithed³ be first satisfeit; and gif⁴ the samyn be

¹ Bearing.

² Imputed.

³ Until the party injured, &c.

⁴ If.

vtherwayis grantit, without satisfioun of pairtie, all sic Respettis and Remiffiones to be null, alswell be way of exceptioun as reply: And trew it is, that the pairtie persewar is nawayis satisfeit, conforme to the said Act; and thairfoir, nochtwithstanding of the foirsaid Remiffioun, the pannell fould be put to ane Assyse, for the said cryme.

To the quhilk it was duplyt be the pannell and his prelocoutouris, that the foirsaid Remiffioun man¹ be admittit, in respect the samyn is grantit vpon the sicut of ane Letter of Slanes gevin be Andro Stevinfoun, eldest lauchfull sone to the said vmq^{le} Archibald, and nerrest of kyn to him, with consent of Agnes Finlay his mother, and Mathow Thomesone, his vncle, beiring satisfioun maid to the said Andro for the said slauchter: And for verificatioun thairof, producet the said Letter of Slanes, of the dait the penult day of Julij, I^m.Vj^c. and ellevin yeiris: And vpon the productioun thairof, togidder wth the Remiffioun aboue writtin, askit instrumentis.

THE JUSTICE, in respect of the Letter of Slanes producet, Admittis the Remiffioun; and ordanis the pannell to find caution to satisfie the pairtie, conforme to the lawis of this realme.—James Murray of Guidisburne, and Gawin Murray of Vdftounheid, become cautioneris, &c.

Slaughter.

Jul. 30.—DONALD M^cKY, fear of Far, Johnne Gordoun, younger of Golfpitour, and vtheris.²

Dilaitit ffor being airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Sinclair of Stirkeo, and James Sinclair of Dyn, and remanent crymes contenit in the Letteris.

Compeirit personallie George Murray, seruitour to my Lady Sutherland, quha produceit ane Warrant of the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, &c. off the quhilk the tennour followis.

JUSTICE, Justice clerk, and 3our deputis. Qulairas, thair ar Letteris direct at pe instance of George Sincler of Dyn, as brother to vmq^{le} James Sinclair of Dyn, and mother-brother to vmq^{le} Johnne Sinclair of Stirkeo, and Sir Williame Oliphant of Newtoun, kny^t, Aduocat to our souerane lord, for his hienes intreis, aganis Donald M^cky, fear of Far, Johnne Gordoun, 3ounger of Golfpitour, Adame Gordoun in Geartie, Murdo Neill, Johnne Williamesfoun in Achines, Neill Mcallaster Neillfoun and Donald Myller, seruitouris to the said Donald M^cky, fear of Far, and remanent persones defenderis, pair complices, contenit in the saidis Letteris, chargeing thame to compeir befoir 3ow, in the Tolbuth of Edinburgh, the penult day of Julij instant, to vnderly the law, for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of pe saidis vmq^{le} Johnne and James Sinclairis. And seing all matteris questionable betuix THE ERLE OF SUTHERLAND and M^cKY, and pair kyn and freindis, on the ane pairt, and THE ERLE OF CAITHNES, his kyn and freindis, on the vther pairt, is be our moyane and travellis submittit; in the quhilk Submissioun the saidis tua Slauchteris of pe saidis Johnne and James Sinclairis ar speciallie comprehendit, and pe decyding pairof restis in our handis, to be difensit be ws. IT is pairfoir our Will, and

¹ Must.

² Vid. Jul. 17, 1612.

We command 50w to DESERT þe said dyet appointit to þe said penult day of Julij instant, for tryell of þe saidis crymes, and naways to proceid in vnlawing of the saidis perfones defenderis, or þair cautioneris; dispensing with thair non-copeirance, in that respect: Quhairanent þir presentis fall be to 50w ane sufficient Warrant. Subferyuit be ws AT ED^R, the xxv day of July, 1612.

AL. CANCELL^S. LOTHIANE. S^R T. HAMILTOUN.

At command of the quhilk Warrant, the Justice ordanit the said dyet to desert, &c.

Slaughter—Bearing, Weiring, and Shooting of Hagbutts and Pistolets.

Jul. 31.—JAMES HALL of Foulebar; Mr Williame Hall, indueller in Dumbarten, his brother-germane; Thomas Stewart, at the Ferrie-boit of Inchymane.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the crewall Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Montgomerie, younger of Scottistoun; committit with schottis of hagbuttis and pistolettis, within the burgh of Renfrew, in the moneth of November, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir nine yeiris: And als, for contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in beiring and weiring of hagbuttis and pistolettis, schoiteing and slaying of the said vmq^{le} Johnne Montgomerie younger thairwith, at the particuler tyme and place aboue mentionet.

PERSEWARIS.

Johnne Montgomerie, elder of Scottistoun, as father; Sir Williame Oliphant of Newtown, kny^t.

PRELOCOUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Alexander King, Mr Laurence M^gill, Aduocatis.

Sir Johnne Buchannan of that Ilk, kny^t, become fouertie for Thomas Stewart his entrie, vpon xv dayis wairning, to vnderly the law for the slauchter aboue writtin, vnder the panes contenit in the Actis of Parliament.—The said James Hall, and Mr Williame Hall, his brother, tuik thame selffis to tua feuerall Remissiones, grantit to thame be our fouerane lord; the ane beirand, that his Maiestie, of his speciall faouour and grace, remittis and gevis pardoun to the saidis James Hall of Foulbar, and to Mr Williame Hall, his brother, for airt and pairt of the slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Johnne Montgomerie Younger of Scottistoun, and for all actioun and cryme that may follow thairupoun, or may be imput to thame thairfoir; quhilk is daitit at ffalkland, the aucht day of Julij, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir fyftene yeiris (1596), vnder his hienes Grit feill: The vther of the saidis Remissiones beirand, that his Maiestie, of his speciall grace and mercie, gevis pardoun and remiffioun to the said James Hall, feruitour to Archibald Erle of Argyle, and to the said Mr Williame Hall, his brother, and to ather of thame, for all cryme and offence that mycht be laid to thair charge, ffor thair beiring, weiring, or schuiting with hagbutis and pistolettis, contrair to his Maieftis Actis of Parliament, at ony tyme bygane, preceeding the day and dait of the same Remiffioun, quhilk is daitit at Edinburgh, the tent day of Julij instant, I^m.Vj^c. and tuelf yeiris.

THE JUSTICE admittit the famyn, nochtwithstanding of dyuerse allegeances maid be our fouerane lordis Aduocat in the contrair; and Ordanit the saidis perfonnes vpone pannell to find cautioun to fatisfie the pairtie, conforme to the lawis of this realme: Quhairupone the saidis James and Mr Williame Hallis askit instrumentis: And for obedience of the said ordinance, ffand, with thame selfis, Williame Sempill of Foulewood, and James Wallace of Johnnstoun, cautioneris for thame, to fatisfie the pairtie, &c.

Slaughter, committed by a Youth fourteen years of age.

Aug. 26.—JAMES MIDDELTOUN, sone to vmq^{le} Robert Middeltoun, tailzeour, burges of Edinburgh.

Dilaitit off airt and pairt of the crewall Slauchter of vmq^{le} Clement Mauchane, sone to vmq^{le} James Mauchane, mercheand, burges of Edinburgh, be streking of him with ane durk, vnder the schorte ribbis, vppwardis, on his left fyde, the lenth of aucht or nyne inches, vpone the diaphragma, or midreid, quhilk is ane noble pairt; committit within the burgh of Edinburgh, within the duelling hous or ludgeing of Alexander Hunter, burges thair, vpone the threttene day of August instant: Off the quhilk crewall and deidlie straik sa gevin to him, he nevir thair-eftir convaleschet, bot immediatlie thaireftir taking bed within the foir chalmer of vmq^{le} Henrie Lummifden, chirurgane, to the quhilk he was led and cayreit, remanit bedfast in grit dollour and pane, vnder the cure of chirurganes, the fpace of nyne dayis togidder, or thairby; and at last, vpone the xxij day of August instant, about nyne houris afoir none, he depairtit this lyfe, of the said deidlie straik: And sa, was crewallie flane be the said James Middeltoun, vpone set purpois, prouiffioun, and foirthocht felonie; in hie and manifest contempt of our fouerane lordis auctoritie and lawis.

PERSEWARIS, Mr James Mauchane, as brother; Sir Williame Oliphant of Newtoun, kny^t, Aduocat to our fouerane lord.

PRELOCUTOURIS in defence, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Laurence M^cgill.

The persewaris producet the Dittay, with the roll of the Assyse, and desyret proces.—THE JUSTICE Ordanit the Dittay to be red.

Mr Laurence M^cgill, prelocutour, in name of Johnne Carmichell, decone of the Tailzeouris, Alexander Miller, tailzeour to his Maicstie, and of the mother and certane vtheris the pannellis freindis, befoir ony forder proces, and to eschew forder disputatioun in this matter, offerit to the persewaris, that for thair satisfioun for the slauchter aboue writtin, that thai war content to caus the pannell ather imbrace the Sentence of perpetuall Banishment; or vther wayis, to thair power,¹ to mak sic vther satisfioun, baith of honour and guidis, to the perfewar, as be the advyſe of friendis ſould be inioynet to him, his lyfe being faitit.—The ſaid Mr James Mauchane, as brother, and perfewar of this mater, for anſuer declairit, that, ſeing his brother is flane, aganis the Law of God and his Maieſteis lawis and Actis of Parliament, refuifet altogidder to enter in capitulation of agrement of this matter; and thairfoir deſyret that juſtice be miniſtrat, accoirding to the lawis of this realme.

¹ To the utmost extent of their means.

THE JUSTICE, in reſpect of the perſewaris anſuer and deſyre aboue writtin, Ordanis proces.

It was allegit be the pannell and his prelocoutouris, that this matter ſould nocht pas to the knowlege of ane Affyſe ffor tua cauſſis; ffirſt, becaus he is nocht wairnit vpon e fyftene dayis wairning, conforme to the Act of Parliament; ſecundo, he was nocht tane in fragranti crimine; in reſpect be the Dittay it is affirmet, that the fact was committit vpon Thurisday the xij day of Auguſt instant, and vpon the fyftene day of the ſaid moneth, being Setterday, was tane be the Magiſtratis of Edinburgh, as ſuſpect giltie and culpable of the ſaid fact, albeit¹ the Magiſtratis of the ſaid bur^t had na power ſa to do, the tyme limitat to thame being expyret, viz. xxiiij houres allanerlie² eftir the committing of the fact; and ſa, he nocht being tane in fragranti crimine, bot within thre dayis eftir the allegit time of the committing thairof, the pannell, of all equitie, aucht to haif bene ſummond vpon fyftene dayis wairning.—It is anſuerit be my lord Advocat, that the foirſaid allegeance aucht to be repellit, in reſpect of the Dittay beiring the ſlauchter to be committit vpon the xij day, be the pannell, and he to be tane and apprehendit be the Magiſtratis vpon the xv day thaireftir, and committit to waird; quhairin he hes remanit to this hour. And ſa, the Slauchter being committit recentlie, and the pannell tane thairfoir in fragranti crimine, he aucht to be put to ane Affyſe, but³ ony citatioun preceeding; ſpeciallie, in reſpect he is brocht fra the priſſone to the bar, be the Magiſtratis, his takeris.

THE JUSTICE Ordanis the pannell to pas to ane Affyſe, nochtwithſtanding of the former allegeances.

It is forder allegit be the pannell, that my lord Juſtice can nocht put the pannell to the knowlege of ane Affyſe, for this cryme; becaus, be ane text of the Cowmone Law, de delictis puerorum, the fyft of the Decretallis, it is ſpeciallie declairit, that minoris within xiiij yeiris of age committing crymes, ar nocht doli capaces, quhilk can nocht be eſtimat to be done be thame ex certa ſcientia; and thairfoir, can nocht be perſewit thairfoir: Lyk as, in the accident that fell furth be the ſcolleris of the Grammer-ſcole of Edinburgh, in ſlaying of Johnne M^cmorane, being ane bailzie, and in the executioun of his office, this allegeance being proponit in the perſute intentit aganis thame for the ſaid Slauchter, it was ffound, be Interloquitour of the Judge, in reſpect of thair minoritie, that thai war nocht doli capaces, and sa wer affoilzeit,¹ and na perfute followit furth aganis thame: Quhilk practique the pannell repeittis, and sayis, that in respect of the Cowmone-law and practique aboue writtin, he being minor et non doli capax, he can nocht pas to ane Affyse for the said cryme. Secundo, the slauchter aboue writtin was nocht committit vponne set purposis or foirthocht fellonie; in respect thair was na querrell betuix the defunct and the pannell ofbefoir, bot only the defunct missing his dager, quhilk was tane fra him be Capitane Erskine, quha also was with him in companie, and was cassin vp be him vponne ane almerie heid,² the defunct, for wanting thairof, challanget the pannell, and maist outrageouflic abufet him, baith with langaige and fraikis;³ lyk as, the pannell, finding him self sa vset, and feing ane durk vponne the buird besyde him, tuik vp the said durk and defendit him self thairwith, vponne the quhilk durk, haldin out be the pannell for his awin defence, the defunct ran him self; and sa was the caus, him self, of his awin slauchter: And thairfoir, fould nocht pas to ane Affyse.

¹ Although.

² Only.

³ Without.

To the quhilk it is anfuert, be my lord Aduocat, that the foirfaid allegeance of minoritie fould be repellit, becaus it is nocht condiscendit be the proponer of the said James Middeltone's age, quhidder he be past xiiij yeiris or within the samyn, quhilk of necessitie man⁴ be condiscendit vponne; becaus he being past xiiij yeiris of age, est doli capax, and sua may be perfewit and pwneist to the daith for the slauchter: Always,⁵ to mak the matter cleir to my lord Justice, it is affirmet be the persewer that he is past sevintene yeiris of aige, befoir the committing of the slauchter, as is manifest, nocht onlie be ocular inspectioun, bot be the extract of the tyme of his birth furth of the Register of the Kirk-buikis of Edinburgh, he being baptizet vponne the 23 day of Julij I^m.V^c.lxxxv.—As to the practique allegit betuix Johnne M^cmorrane and the Chancellor of Caithnes sone, and the rest of the bairnes, quhome the pannell allegis to haif bene perfewit for the said Johnne M^cmorrane's slauchter, it is certane that all the bairnes that war perfewit and accuset for that slauchter war within fourtene yeiris of age; and thair was na Interlocutour gevin in that cause, bot the matter was tane vp be his Maiesteis expres Warrant.—And acceptis the Confessioun of the durk in his handis, and Slauchter thairwith.

Thaireftir the pannell, for fatisfeing the desyre of my lord Aduocatis allegeance, condiscendis that he was within fourtene, at the leist fyftene yeiris of age, the tyme of the committing of the slauchter lybellit. And quhair, it is allegit and affirmet that the haill bairnes perfewit for Johnne M^cmorrane's daith war within fourtene yeiris, thair is na thing product to verifie the samyn. And last, as to the Tes-

¹ Absolved; dismissed.
by words and blows.

² Cast or thrown by him on the top of a cupboard or press.

³ Both

⁴ Must.

⁵ Nevertheless; at all events.

timoniall producet be the perfewar, anent the pannellis baptifme; ffirst, it is anfuerit, that na fayth can be gevin thairto, becaus it is nocht regiftrat; secundo, it hes na witneffes; tertio, of the Law, teftibus et non teftimonijs credendum eft.—The perfewar repeitis his former anfwer, with the Testimoniall extractit furth of the Kirkis Register.

The Justice Repellis the allegeances proponit be the pannell; and Ordanis him to be put to the knowlege of ane Affyfe.

ASSISA.

Jo ⁿ Quhyte, culteller, burges, Edr,	Patrik Craig, mercheand, burges of Edr,	James Cathkyn, librar, burges Edr,
Johnne Naper, tailzeour in Poketfleve,	Johnne Mitchelbill, mercheand, burges thair,	Dauid Laufone, mercheand, burges thair,
Johnne Gilbert, tailzeour in the Cannogait,	Patrik Meayne, couper, burges thair,	Thomas Cuthbertfone, culteller,
Johnne Smyth, mercheand, burges of Edr,	Robert Young, maltman,	Troyalus Laufone, baxter, burges of Edr,
Clement Ruffell, mercheand, burges thair,	James Halyburtoun, mercheand, burges of Edr,	Johnne Johnneftoun, tailzeour, burges of the Cannogait.

It was allegit aganis Johnne Quhyte, that he can nocht be admittit vpon this affyfe, becaus vtro citroque gessit se hoc negotio, in furtherance of this perfewer, in perfute of the pannell; and desyret the Judge to tak his ayth thairupoun, and to purge him of partiall counfall; quha being fuorne, declairit, that he had gevin na partiall counfall in that matter: In respect quhairof, the Justice admittis him vpon the Affyfe.

The Defender, eftir his accusatioun be Dittay of the Slauchter aboue writtin, vpon his confcience, denyis the famyn; and allegit, that thair was nathing producet to the Affyfe to verifie his giltines of that fact.

Mr James Mauchane, perfewer, and brother to the defunct, being fuorne, gaif his ayth vpon the Dittay, that he had just caus to perfew the pannell for the slauchter of his brother: And repeitis to the Affyfe the notoriety of the slauchter, in maner fet down in the Dittay.—My Lord Aduocat takis instrumentis of the sweiring of the Affyfe; and repeitis, for their forder instructioun, the offer maid be the pannell to the perfewer, ather to imbrace the sentence of Banifchment, or vtherwayis, in honour or guidis, to mak satisfioun to thair power; quhairin the pannell hes confest his giltines of the fact, in maner fet down in the Dittay. And proteftis, in respect thair of, for Wilfull Errour aganis the Affyfe, in caice thay acquit.—It is allegit be the pannell, that the offer allegit maid be him to the pairtie perfewer, in the begyning of the cause, was nocht maid be him, bot be Johnne Carmichell, deacone of the Tailzeouris, and vtheris his brether, the pannellis freindis and weill-willeris, out of thair awin box,¹ quhilk offer was nocht maid to induce ony Confessioun of the cryme, sed ad evitandum litigationem.—My Lord Aduocat, as ofbefoir, repeitis the offer, and notorietye of the fact committit; and protestis for Wilfull Errour, gif the Assyse acquit.

¹ Out of the box or funds belonging to the Incorporation.

VERDICT. The Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouth of the said James Cathekyn, buikfeller, fband, pronuncet, and declairit the said James Middletoun to be ffylet, culpable, and convict of the crewall slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Clement Mauchane; committit at the tyme and in maner specifeit in the said Dittay.—SENTENCE. The Justice, be the mouth of John Dow, dempster of Court,¹ decernit and adiudget the said James to be tane to the Mercat-croce of Ed^r, and thair his heid to be strukin frome his body; and all his moveable guidis and geir, gif he ony hes, to be escheit and inbrocht to his hienes vsê, as convict of the said Slauchter.²

Horse and Sheep Stealing—Theft—Perjury.

Sep. 18.—ALEXANDER IRWING, sone to vmq^{le} Gilbert Irwing of Wyfbie, James Irwing, sone to vmq^{le} Williame Irwing, brother to the said vmq^{le} Gilbert.

Dilaitit, accuset, and persewit, be Dittay, at the instance of Williame Mannecht in Echt, and Alexander Wilfone, gairdner thair, and be Sir Williame Oliphant of Newtown, kny^t, aduocat to our souerane lord, off the feuerall pointis of Dittay following, viz.

FOR airt and pairt of steilling and away-taking of thre lynning wobbis furth of the houffis of Gulielandis, pertening to ane pure woman thair; committit in Julij, 1610 yeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling of sevin naigis and meiris³ furth of the landis of Moufwall and Drummwre; committit in the moneth of October, 1610 yeiris. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the thiftious steilling and away-taking of aucht scheip furth of Dronnok, fra James Quhyte thair; committit in September, 1609. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling and away-taking of tua naigis and ane mere, pertening to Johne Gillespie, and George Ker, in Robiequhat; committit in October, 1610. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the thiftious steilling and away-taking of sax oxin furth of the landis of Lochirgrane, within Drummwre; committit be the said Alexander, in the yeir of God I^m. sax hundreth and aucht yeiris. For the quhilkis feuerall crymes, the saidis Alexander and James Irwingis being arrestit to the Justice Court, haldin be the Commissioneris in the Tolbuthe of Dumfreis the fyftene day of October, I^m.Vj^c. and ellevin yeiris, thay, for thair non-compeirance, war declairit fugitiues and put to the horne, as rebellis and fugitiues, for the saidis crymes. ITEM, the saidis James and Alexander Irwingis war indyttit and accuset, at the instance of the saidis persewaris, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling and away-taking furth of the waird of Echt of ane gray naig, pertening to the said Williame Mannecht, and of ane broun naig, pertening to the said Alex^r Wilfoun, gairdner in Echt; committit vnder silence of nycht, vpon the first day of August lastbypast; quhilkis tua naigis war brocht Southe ower be thame to Ed^r to Thomas Lokeis hous, at the Wast-Point thairof, quhair thair war keipt for the space of thre dayis and thre nychtis ; and vpon the . . . day of the said moneth, being Mononday, the ordinar mercat day of the said burgh,¹ presentit thame to the horse-mercat thair of to be fauld, quhair the saidis tua horsis war challanget in thair possessioun, be Airthour Forbes of Sonnabony ; and thair thairefter apprehendit and committit to waird within the Tolbuth of Ed^r, thair to haif remanit quhill thair tryell. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling and away-taking of ane horse furth of the Heuch of Duris, pertening to Thomas Frazer, sone to the auld Laird of Duris ; committit in Junij lastbypast. ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling, conceilling, and away-taking of ane blak horse, pertening to Johnne Clark in Auchrosle ; committit in the moneth of Maij, 1^m.Vj^e. and ten yeiris. ITEM, ffor the detestable and odious cryme of Periurie, in the periureing and mensveiring² of thame selfis, the tyme of thair examinatioun and vptaking of thair Depositiones ; the said James Irwing, be his grit aithe, affirmeing him selff to be namet Johnne Poole, quhairat he still abaid quhill the contrair was verifeit vpon him, and he maid to confes the treuth thair of ; quhilk was also sworne and affermet be the said Alex^r Irwing, that the said James was namet Johnne Pole. ITEM, thay and ather of thame war indytit and accuset for Cowmone thift, Cowmone reffet of thift, fra the South to the Northe, and fra the Northe to the Southe, in outputing³ of the famyn.

¹ This person appears, for the first time, as dempster, in the Record.

² See Nov. 18, 1618, when, after six years' imprisonment, the party relents, and Myddiltoun goes into voluntary exile for life. This arrangement is sanctioned by the Privy Council and the Justice, to whom the matter had previously been submitted.

³ Riding horses and mares.

My lord Aduocat, for verifeing the first point of Dittayis, producet ane Precept of the Commiffioneris, be the quhilk the pannell ar denuncet fugitiues, for certane poyntis of thift gevin vp aganis thame ; and repetis the sueiring of the Dittay be the tua persewaris, anent the steilling of thair tua naigis : And in respect thair of, and of the notorietye of the pannellis thiftious lyfe, protestis for Errour, gif thay acquit.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Johnne Abercrombie, in Leith, chancellor, ffind, pronuncet, and declairit the saidis Alexander and James Irwingis to be fflylit, culpable, and convict of the haill crymes respectiue, aboue expremit.— SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castell-hill of Ed^r, and thair to be hangit vpon ane gibbet, quhill thay be deid : And all thair guidis and geir to be escheit, &c.

Slaughter.

Nov. 5.—JOHNNE HAY, seruitour to James Hendersone, chirurgane.

Dilaitit, accuset, and persewit be Cristiane Adamesone, the relict of vmq^{le} Niniane Paterfone, staibler in Ed^r, and Sir Williame Oliphant of Newtoun, kny^t, Aduocat to our souerane lord, of the crymes following, viz.

FORSAMEKILL as the said Johnne Hay haifing, in the moneth of Maij bypast, hyret and conducet the said vmq^{le} Niniane Paterfones horse to Roifling-mylne, for hame-bringing of pe said James Hendersones bairne ; and pe said Niniane haifing past with him, of purpois, at his lichtig,⁴ to haif attendit vpon his said hors, the said Johnne Hay, be the way, directit the said vmq^{le} Niniane to ryn befoir, and to attend⁵ his cuming, becaus he was him selff to repair to Lefuaid, thair to speik with his saper and vtheris his freindis ; lyk as, about ten houris at evin, the said Johnne, haifing cum to the said mylne, atogidder ouerfet with drink, and sa, nawayis being able at that tyme of the nycht, and in sa beifstlie estait, to governe him self, let be to haif horfet and cayreit befoir him his said maisteris bairne, without danger of bothe pair lyves ; becaus pe said vmq^{le} Niniane maid sum oppositioun and resistance to that his intentioun, in ryding at pat tyme of the nycht ; he pairfoir, in his beifstlie rage and furie, ran vpon

¹ Now held on Wednesdays.
Fr. attendre.

² Manswearing.

³ Selling ; disposing of.

⁴ Alighting.

⁵ Await.

him, and with his kneis and feit possit¹ him vnder his feit, best and dang² him in þe heid, bellie, breiftis, and fydis, and brak and birfet³ his haill intrallis within him : And nocht being fatiseit with that his crewall and outrageous abuse, the said vmq^{le} Niniane, being rissin vp on his feit, the said Johnne come to him and hurritit him maist violentlie over the brae besyde þe mylne, of purposis to haif drowned him in the dambe, quhilk, be resone of þe said downeward fall, he had nocht failseit to haif done, war nocht, be þe Providence of God, he was haldin and stayit be þe stobe and rute of ane trie, his face and heid, nochtwithstanding, being maist schamefullie demanit⁴ and hurt, be occasioun of þe said fall : Off the quhilkis straikis, hurtis, and woundis, sa gevin to the said vmq^{le} Niniane, in maner foirfaid, he nevir paireftir convalessit ; bot being borne and cayreit hame to his duelling hous, tuik bed, quhairin he remanit bedfast, in grit dollour and payne, continuallie paireftir, to þe tyme of his daithe ; and at lenth, vpone Lambes day⁵ paireftir, quhilk was þe first day of August lastbypast, he deceiffit of þe saidis hurtis and woundis ; and at þe hour of his daith, and dyuerse tymes of befoir, during his feiknes, left his deid,⁶ and þe only cause pairof, vpone þe said Johnne : And sa was schamefullie, crewallie, and vnmercifullie flane be þe said Johnne Hay ; and he is airt and pairt of þe said crewall slauchter, committit vpone set purposis, prouisione, and foirthocht felonie ; in hie and manifest contempt of his hienes auctoritie and lawis.

PRELOCUTORIS in defence, Gilbert Hay, as fader to the defender ;

Mr Lawrence McGill, Adame Cuninghame, Johnne Elphinstone of Schank.

It is allegit, be the pannell, that this lybell is nocht relevant, in respect the perticuler day of the moneth of the allegit committing of the fact lybellit, is nocht condiscendit vpone.—To the quhilk it is ansuerit be the persewar, that the allegeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Sunmondis beirand the cryme lybellit to be committit, be this defender, in the moneth of May last ; and that be the straikis gevin to the defunct, at that tyme, he deceiffit thairof in August thaireftir.

THE JUSTICE, nochtwithstanding of the allegeance, in respect of the persewaris ansuer, remittis this matter to ane Assyse.

VERDICT. The Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouth of Thomas Inglis, burges of Ed^r, chancellor, ffand, pronuncet, and declarit the said Johnne Hay to be clene, innocent, and acquit of the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Niniane, and of airt and pairt thairof.—Quhairupoun the said Johnne Hay askit instrumentis.

Theft.

Nov. 24.—THOMAS MOWAT, sumtyme seruant to Williame Lord Keith.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the thiftious steilling and abstracting fra Williame Lord Keyth, his maister, of ane purse, togidder with sax scoir Angellis of gold, being thairintill, vnder nycht, furth of ane foir chalmer in Ed^r, quhair his said maister was ludget for the tyme ; committit vpone the xijj day of Marche last.

This case was continued to Dec. 23, Jan. 29, Feb. 5 and 12 ; and at length was prorogated to the Justice-air of 'Sterling, tertio Itineris, vel super premonitione xv dierum.' No procedure is recorded, saving these continuations, owing to the absence of Lord Keith, &c.

¹ Pushed. Fr. pousser. ² Beat and struck. ³ Bruised. It is sometimes in the Record expressed by 'brast,' burst. ⁴ Used ; treated. ⁵ Lammas-day, 1st August, or the Feast of St Peter ad Vincula (in bonds) ; supposed to be so named, because lambs were offered at this Mass, in commemoration of the command of our Saviour to the Apostle, 'Feed my lambs.' This metaphorical expression was, as usual, seized upon by the Romish Church, and converted into a source of substantial profit. ⁶ Death.

'Englisch Pirattis'—Piracy—Theft.

Feb. 2, 1613.—JOHNE DAVIDSON, borne at Ratleiff, belyde Lundoun, Johnne Lowis, borne in Cairleill, baith Inglish Pirattis.

Dilaitit of Piracie and Thift, committit vpon dyuerse his Maiesteis subiectis, bothe in Ingland and Scotland, viz.

FOR the thiftious steilling of ane schip-boit furth of Ratleif; committit vpon the fourtene day of Januar last, and passing thairwith to the sie: AND for airt and pairt of the buirding of ane catche or oister-bott, and thiftious away-taking of the samyn, vnder silence of nycht; and passing thairwith, furth of the river of Thames to Liefwall, quhair thai buirdit ane Harwadge Hoy, and be way of maisterful thift and stouthe-reif, rest and away-tuik furth thairof ane piece of stuf worth threttie schillingis sterling, togidder with breid, beir, and vther victuallis: AND thairfra, foranent Harwadge,¹ persewit and buirdit ane Yarmouth bark, and tuik furth thairof thre caidis of reid heiring, and ane half barrell of quhyte heiring, with the barkis topfail, the skipperis cloik, and ane stand of apparell, laid over with siluer laise: AND thaireftir, come to Yarmouth-Raid, quhair thai persewit and buirdit ane Scottis bark, pertening to Alexander Law in Kirkcaldie, inuidit the skipper with his companie, being thairin, hurt and woundit the said Alexander Law, skipper, in the heid: AND for dyuerse vtheris crymes of Pirracie, at lenth specifeit in the Dittay.

Quhilkis ('feuerall crymes') war confessit iudiciallie be thame to be of verritie.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Walter Lukkie, skipper in Leyth, chancellor, stand, pronuncet, and declairit the saidis Johnne Davidson and Johnne Lowis to be ffylet, culpable, and convict of the perticuler crymes of Thift and Pirracie aboue specifeit.—SENTENCE. To be tane to the Sandis of Leithe, within the fluid-mark thairof, and thair, vpon ane gibbet to be hangit quhill thay be deid; and all thair moveable guidis to be escheit, &c.

Fire-raising—Burning—Murder—Theft—Piracy.

Mar. 30.—NEILL M'CLAUD, sone-naturall to vni^q^e Rorie M'claud, sumtyme of LEWIS.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the crewall Burning of dyuerse houffis, erectit and biggit be the Lairdis of Balcomie, Airdrie, Wormestoun, &c. vpon THE ISLE OF THE LEWIS, and for dyuerse vther crymes, set down in his DITTAY following.

¹ Opposite to Harwich.

NEILL MAKCLAUD, sone naturall to vmq^{le} Rorie Mcclaud, sumtyme of Lewis. 3E ar indytit and accuset, fforamekill as, from 3our verrie 3outhe, 3e being tranet vp in all maner of barbarous crewaltie and wicketnes, and following pe pernitiuous example of 3our godles parentis, kynsfolk, and cuntrie people, haifing committit innumerable oppreffiones, heirfchipis, and violent factis aganis sic perfones as 3e mislyket, duelland within the cuntrie of THE LEWIS, and vtheris HIELAND YLES pairabout, to the heich offence of Almychtie God, displefour of the King's Maiestie, contempt of his royall authoritie, and violatioun of his hienes lawis; ffor forder manifestation of 3our extreame and vnnaturall mischancie,¹ vnderstanding that THE KINGIS most excellent Maiestie, for repressing of the abhominable villaneis, crewalteis, and oppreffiones committit be 3ow and 3our affociatis duelland within pe Yleand of the Lewis, out of his princelie wisdome, had directit ane grit number of his hienes peceable and guid subiectis furth of pe Lawlandis, bodin² with all maner of furnitour, and necessar prouisioun for pair intertenement, towardis pe said Ile of pe Lewis, thair to haif plantit and sett down Tounes and Villages, and to haif establischet all guid ordour and ciuilitie; of purpois, pairby, to haif extirpat and ruteit out pe name of barbaritie furth of thais pairtis: 3E, accompaneit with Tormond Mcclaud, 3our broper, and with tua hundredth barbarus, bludie, and wicket Hielandmen, foirneris and avowed malie-factouris, ancient inhabitantis and lawles perfones within the Lewis, quhome 3e conuenit to 3our selff, to resist and withstand the purpois and godlie intentioun resoluēt vpone be his Maiestie, anent pe quyeting of pat cuntrie—come, all bodin in feir of weir,³ with bowis, darloches, tua-handit-fuordis, hagbuttis, pistolettis, and vperis wappones invasiue, in oppin and hosteill maner, about a fourtene 3eir syne, or pairby, to the said Ileand of the Lewis, quhair vmq^{le} WILLIAME LORD PITTINWEME, the Laird of Wormestoun, the Laird of Fingask, the Laird of Balcomy, the Laird of Airdrie, accompaneit with dyuerse Inlandis Gentilmen, his Maieftis peceable and obedient subiectis war landit, and in planting of dyuerse houffes, pairtie of tymmer, and pairtie of stane and fail,⁴ for pe tyme, lipning for nothing less nor to haif bene inuidit and withstuid in thais pair vertiuous⁵ proceedingis; and pair, maist fearcelie inuidit and perfewit the saidis Lawland Gentilmen and pair companeis, maist crewallie murdreit and flew vmq^{le} Robert Traquair, vmq^{le} James 3oung, vmq^{le} Wedderburne, and dyuerse vtheris, te the number of tuentie tua perfones, maist tressonabillie put handis in the persone of the said Laird of Balcomie, be taking him as captiue and prissoner: AS ALSO, maist tressonabillie raist fyre, brunt and distroyit to the grund the haill houffis erectit vp be thame, with pe victuall and furnitour of meill, malt, and vther prouisioun, to the avail⁶ of tuentie thonfeand merkis: AND pair-estir, be way of maisterfull Thift and Stouth-reiff, thiftioulie flall and away-tuik the haill horsis, ky, oxin, scheip, and vther bestiall, pertening to pe said Lawland gentilmen, to the avail of ten thowfeand pundis. And 3e, the said Neill, ar airt and pairt of the saidis tressonable and barbarus crymes, and was pe speciall ringleider and Chiftane, with the said Tormond, 3our broper, in putting of the samyn to sic mercieles executioun: quhilk 3e can nocht deny. ITEM, 3e ar Indytit and accuset, fforamekill as Johnne Pullet and Robert Blair, burgeses of Perth, haifing past, with ane Schip pertening to thame, to Loche-Browme, to the fischeing, 3e, vnderstanding pairof, come with ane number of thevis and lymmeris, 3our affociatis, to pe number of fourtie men, or pairby, all bodin in feir of weir; and haifing devydit 3our companie in tua severall companeis, and enterit in tua boittis, 3e pairestir rowit af pe land towardis the said schip; and pair, as Pirattis, Thevis, and Sea-roberis, estir discharging of dyuerse muscattis, hagbuttis, and vperis ingynes of fyre-work at the said schip and companie pairof, 3e buirdit the samyn, intromettit with the haill furnitour, mercheandice, wyne, claithe, and vper prouisioun being pairintill, difarmet the merchandis, skipper, and marineris, and tuik af pame pair haill cletthing, and abul3ementis,⁷ pat tua (of) pe companie of the said schip a land, and in maist pitiefull⁸ maner murdreit and flew pe rest of the companie, to the number of sevin or aucht men; and pairestir, particular quality. ⁵ Virtuous; honourable.

¹ O. Fr. meschancie, meschanceté, wickedness.

² Provided.

³ In warlike array.

⁴ Thickly cut turf, of a

⁶ Value.

⁷ Dress; apparel.

⁸ Piteous.

disponit vpon the said Schip, mercheandice and guidis being pairin, at pair plefour: And the said Neill was and is airt and part of the Thiftis and crewall Murthouris aboue writtin. ITEM, 3e ar indytit and accuset, fforfamekill as 3e, perfeveiring in 3our former devillifche and abhominable tred of lyfe, 3e, accompaneit with dyuerse thevis, foirneris, and brokin men, 3our complices, to the number of thre hundreth perfones, or pairby, all bodin in feir of weir, with fuordis, durkis, bowis, darloches, hagbutis, mufeattis, and pistolettis, refolveing with 3our selff to putt the hail Lawland Gentilmen being than within the said Ileand of pe Lewis to pe fuord, quhairby thay nor na vperis fould haif any power or commandiment in that Ileand to withstand 3our wicket attemptis, in the moneth of Apryle, the 3eir of God I^m.Vj^c. and fevin 3eiris, 3e of new agane come to that pairt of the said Ileand, quhair pe said Lawland Gentilmen had biggit dyuerse Townes and Villageis, and erectit dyuerse houffis: And the bettir to bring 3our wicket refolutioun to pas, 3e, in freindlie maner, humbillit and offerrit 3our selffis to becum peceable and obedient people, and desyrit thame to accept 3ow in seruice, to quhome 3e wald be willing to do all maner of guid and steidable¹ offices, as 3e fould be imployit, in regaird 3e fand (as 3e declairit) pair cuning to pat land to be for na evill intent, bot for guid: And pe saidis Gentilmen, beleveing 3our fair promeissis, and lipning nathing les pan that ony Treafone fould haif bene practizet be 3ow, haifing grantit 3ow sum ouersight,² 3e, with 3our affociattis, maist tressonabillie, vnder trust and freindschip, and in pe dark and maist quyet tyme of the nycht, enterit within the Campment belanging to the said Lawland Gentilmen, raist ffyre, and brunt and distroyit with fyre ane hous erectit and pertening to Sir George Hay of Nether Liff, ane vper hous pertening to the Laird of Airdrie, ane vper hous pertening to the Laird of Wormestoun, ane vper hous pertening to Johnne Dalgleische, with dyuerse vperis houffis, newlie buildit within the said Ileand, and alangis pe Sea coist pairof, brunt and distroyit the hail victuallis, furnitour, insicht and pleniffing being within the saidis houffis, to the avail and estimatioun of ten thowseand pundis: And at pe samyn tyme, maist crewallie Murdreist and Slew vniq^{le} Patrik Giffert, fervand to the Laird of Airdrie, with dyuerse vtheris fervandis and office men within the said Campment, in pair cuning out of pe saidis houffis, to save thame selffis frome the rage and violence of the ffyre, being all his Maiesteis faithfull and guid subiectis: And 3e, the said Neill, ar and war airt and part of the saidis tressonable and crewall factis. AND finallie, 3e, the said Neill, in regaird of 3our former abhominable lyfe, feiring 3our awin apprehensioun, and haifing, for 3our gritter suretie and releiff, fled af pe Mayne and Continent-land to ane Craig callit Birsay, ane myle within ane Loche, quhilk 3e nammit and fortifeit with men, munitioun, and all maner of prouisioun for 3our intertenement; and haifing also tua boittis provydit, for 3ow and 3our complices passage and repassage fra pe land to pe said Craig, 3e, with 3our affociattis, during 3our abyding within the said Craig, and keeping pairof, come a land, and ran dyuerse furrowes³ throw the cuntrie, and in maist thiftious maner flaw, rest, and away-tuik with 3ow, to pe said Craig, dyuerse guidis and bestial fra pe inhabitantis of the cuntrie about, namelie, fra Gilliechallum McAllaster Coule and Gilliechallum Mcconell, fra aper of thame, tuelff ky and oxin; quhilkis, with dyuerse heirschchipis of coirne, victuall, and vther necessaris, flouin and rest be 3ow, was transpourtit be 3ow to pe said Craig, in maist thiftious maner; quhair-upoun 3e disponit and interteneit 3our selffis at 3our plefour: And 3e, the said Neill, was airt and part of the saidis crymes. To the taikin, 3e haif confessit the hail premisses to be of verritie, the tyme of 3our lait Examinatioun, in presens of the Lordis of his Maiesteis maist honourabill Previe Counsell.

The pannell, be the interpretatioun of Andro Monro, Duncane Cunninghame, and James Logie, fuorne to the trew interpretatioun of all that fall be anfuertit be the pannell,⁴ Confest the hail poyntis of Dittay producet aganis him. Quhair-

¹ Serviceable.

² Oversight; superintendence.

³ Forays.

⁴ This is one of the earliest instances on record of sworn Interpreters being allowed to Highlandmen or foreigners. The practice had no doubt been common long before this period, though the circumstance has not been entered in the Books of Adjournal.

upoune the Aduocat tuik instrumentis. In respect of the quhilk Judiciall Confessioun, the Justice referrit the samyn to the Tryell and knowlege of ane Assyse. And for forder verificatioun of the said Neillis giltines, producet his Depositiones tane in prefens of the saidis Lordis of Secret Counfall, confessing the hail premisses to be of verritie. And in respect thair of, Protestis for Wilfull Errour aganis the Assyse, gif thay acquit.

VERDICT. The Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouth of David Weymes, skipper in Leyth, chancellor, stand, pronuncet, and declairit the said Neill, be reasone of his awin Judiciall Confessioun, to be ffylet, culpable, and convict of the hail tressonable crymes of ffyre-raiseing, Burning, Murthour, and feuerall Thiftis at lenth sett down in his Depositiones, and Dittay foundit thairupoune.—

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit vpone ane gibbet, quhill he be deid; and thaireftir, his heid to be strukin frome his body, and affixt and fet vpone ane priket, aboue the Neper-boll Point¹ of the said burgh: And his hail landis, heritages, takis, steidingis, rowmes, possessiones, guidis, and geir, pertening to him, to be forfalt and escheit to his Maiesteis vse, &c.

Slaughter.

May 19.—JOHNE WEIR, callit of the Quhytecleuch; Mungo Weir, his brother.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Hammiltoun, mercheand burges of Edinburgh; committit be thame in the moneth of September, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and aucht yeiris: AND siclyk, the said Mungo Weir, for airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Walter Couthird, in Crawford-Johnne; committit at Lambes last, be schuiting him throw the body with ane pistolett.

PERSEWARIS, Jonet Small, the relict of vmq^{le} Johnne Hammiltoun; Williame Hammiltoun, as brother; Johnne and Mungo Couthirdis, as sones to vmq^{le} Walter Couthird.

ASSISA.

Johnne Gordoune of Earlstoun, Johnne M^cmathe of Corfbank, Eduard Creichtoun of Peiltoun, Johnne Creichtoun of Craufurdstoun, Harie Gordoun of Kilsture, Johnne Masone, burges of Edr.²

Quhilkis crymes war judiciallie confest be thame to be of verritie, in prefens of the said Justice and Assyse.

VERDICT. Fand the saidis Johnne and Mungo, accoirding to thair awin Judiciall Confessioun, to be ffylet and convict of airt and pairt of the said Slauchter.—SENTENCE. To be tane to the Mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and thair, thair heidis to be strukin frome thair bodeyis: And all thair moveabill guidis and geir to be escheit, &c.

¹ The Nether-Bow-Port.

² The rest of the Assise were burgesses.

Slaughter.

JUN. 2.—DAVID ERLE OF CRAWFURD; Harie Lyndfay, callit of Blarie-fadden; Harie Stewart, sone to vmq^{le} James, Lord Stewart of Newtown; and Johne Bellenden, fervandis to the said Erle.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the crewall Slauchter of vmq^{le} Sir Walter Lyndfay of Balgaweis; committit betuix the Citie of Brechin and the Place of Edzell, vpon the xxv day of October, 1605 yeiris.¹

PERSEWARIS, Margaret Lyndfay, as dochter; Duncane Hunter of Ballagane, hir spous; Sir Williame Oliphant of Newtown, kny^t.

PRELOCUTORIS in defence, Mr Alexander King, Mr Robert Lermonthe.

Continewit, of consent, to the ix day of Junij instant. My Lord of Tulliebairne² cautiuon for the entrie of the pannell, this day aucht dayis, the ix instantis.

JUN. 9.—Margaret Lynd with consent of the said Duncane Hunter of Ballagan, hir spous, for his entreis, being baith personallie present, passis simpliciter fra the persute of the said Dauid Erle of Crawford, &c., and renunes all actioun, instance, and persute quhatsumeuir, &c. And forder, product to my Lord Justice, his Maiesteis Remmissioun grantit to the said Erle and remanent his complices, enterit vpon pannell for the said slauchter, daitit at Newmercat, the xxiiij of Nouember, I^m.Vj^c. and aucht yeiris, togidder with tua feuerall Letteris of Slanes, the ane grantit be Dauid Lyndfay of Balgaweis, sone to the said Sir Walter, daitit the xx of Nouember, 1607, the vther gevin and grantit be the said Margaret, with consent of hir said spous, daitit the sevint day of Junij instant, beiring satisfioun and Assythemment to be maid be the said Erle to thame for the foirsaid Slauchter, &c.

THE JUSTICE Admittit the protestatioun, and Ordanit the said dyet appointit to this day to desert; as also, that Johne, Lord Lindfay of Byres, Harie Lyndfay of Kinfawnes, and Maister of Tilliebairne, cautioneris for the said Erle, sould be fred and exonerit, &c.

Incest — Adultery.

JUN. 16.—JAMES STEWART, sone to Allane Stewart, Capitane of Dalkeith.

Dilaitit, accuset, and persewit be Sir Williame Oliphant of Newtown, knycht, for his hienes intreis, of the cryme vnder written, viz. FORSAMEKILL as the abhominable, vyld, and filthie vyce of Incest, being sa odious and detestable in the presence of Almychtie God, and be the same eternall God his expres woird, sa cleirlye condempned: Thairfoir our souerane lord, out of his godlie dispositioun and zeale, be dyuerse his hienes Actis of Parliament, hes expresse statute and ordanit, that quhatsoeuir persone or persones committis the said abhominable cryme of Incest, fall be pwneifched to the deith; as the faidis Actis of Parliament in thame selffis proportis: Nochtwithftanding quhairof, it is of verritie, that the faid James Stewart, being marrit with Aleifoun Clogie, his lauchfull fpons, dochter to Johnne Clogie, cordiner, burges of Edinburgh, maift schamefullie, but¹ feir of God, or respect to our fouerane lordis lawis, hes gevin the vfe of his body to Katharene Clogie, his wyfes sifter; in the monethis of Marche, Apryle, and Maij, I^m.Vj^e. and tuelff yeiris, in his and hir journeying togidder betuix the burgh of Edinburgh and the toun of Elgyn, and within the faid toun of Elgyn: In the quhilk filthie and incestuous copulation, scho hes procreat to him ane bairne; committing thairthrow the detestable crymes of Incest and Adulterie, to the heiche displefoure and offence of Almychtie God, violatioun of the Kingis Maiefteis lawis, and evill exampill of vtheris to ryn in the lyk filthie and abhominable vyce, gif the famyn be sufferit to remane vnpwneift.

¹ See this Collection, Jul. 8, 1607, and Sep. 19, 1609.

² William, second Earl of Tullibardine.

VERDICT. Fylet, culpable, and convict of the faid cryme.—SENTENCE. To be tane to the Mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be wirreit at ane staik, quhill he be deid; and thaireftir his body to be brunt in asches: And all his moveabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Theft—Slaughter—Fire-raising—Oppression, &c.

Jun. 22.—DUNCANE M^cPATRICK M^cGREGOUR, Allafter Cafe (Cafs)² M^cgregour, Johnne Dow M^ccondochie Vayne M^cRobert, Patrik Roy M^ccoulecheir, Ewin Crowbache³ M^cgregour, Johnne M^cneill Corroche.⁴

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of dyuerse pointis of Thift, Slauchter, Burning, and Oppreffhoun following, viz. THE faid Duncane M^cpatrick M^cgregour, ffor being in cumpanie with Gregour M^ccondochie Glen, at the burning of the Castell of Achallader and landis of Glenlocha: And ffor being at the ffeild of Benvek,⁵ quhair vmq^{le} Patrik Dow M^cnab, Donald Campbell Oig, fone to Johnne Campbell, and dyuerse vtheris, to the number of fevintene perfones, war flane: And ffor airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Allane M^cdougall, fervand to the Laird of M^ccoule. THE faid Allafter Cafe M^cgregour, ffor the crewall slauchter of vmq^{le} Neill M^cweyane, chopman, be ftreking him in the bellie with his awin knyfe, quhairof he deit: ITEM, ffor cowmone foirning, thift, and oppreffhoun. THE faid Johnne Dow M^ccondochie Vayne, ffor being at the ffeild of Glenfyules, and of airt and pairt of the heirschip,⁶ rest and tane away af the Landis, pertening to the Laird of Lufe and his tementis: ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the fteilling of certane ky and horsis, pertening to Walter Sterling of Ballagan, furth of the parochin of Campsie: ITEM, ffor being in companie with the rest of the

¹ Without. ² Short-tempered; passionate.

³ Deformed.

⁴ Hasty; precipitate.

⁵ Bintoik?

⁶ Spoil; booty; plunder.

CLAN-GREGOUR at the Burning of Abervrchle, and heirship brocht furth thair-of: As also, ffor airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne M^cgillip, ane fidler, vnder my Lord of Tulliebairne: And for cowmoun Thift and foirning.¹ THE said Patrik Roy M^ccoule-cheir, ffor being in companie with Duncane M^cewin M^cgregour, callit THE TUTOUR,² at the Burning of Abervrchle, quhair fevin men war flane, thre bairnes war brunt, tuentie ky and oxin war stowin, rest, and away-tane: And for Cowmone-thift, Soirning, and Oppreffioun. THE said Ewin Crowbach M^cgregour, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling of ane meir fra Robert M^claren: And ffor airt and pairt of the steilling of tua horsis fra M^c-Innerich, in Cregan: And for breking of ane pur mannis hous in Kynnaldie, taking of the said pur man and binding vp his eyne, and steilling and away-taking of the hail inficht pleniffing of the said hous: And for steilling of ane kow fra Donald M^cconcill Vayne, furth of Johnne Stewart Neilsones landis. THE said Neill Corroche, ffor being in companie with the said Duncane M^cewin M^cgregour, callit the Tutour, at the Burning of Abervrchle, and slauchter and heirship aboue writtin, committit be thame: And ffor affisting and taking pairt with the rebellis and fugitiues, that tuik in the Ile callit Ileand-Vernache; and in taking in to the said Ile of aucht scoir ky and oxin, aughtene scoir schein and gait, stowin, rest, and away-tane fra the Inhabitantis of the cuntrie about: And siclyk, ffor airt and pairt of the steilling of ffyve ky fra James Chisholme, Don-drwne: And for cowmone Thift, Soirning, and Oppreffioun.

War all fax put to the knowlege of ane Assyse of the perfones vnderwritten.

ASSISA.

Mr James Kirk, fervand to my Lord of Argyle,	Johnne Buntene of Ardoche,	Allaster M ^c Rannald of Gargow-oche, ⁵
Johnne Stewart Neilfoun of Granniche,	Allaster Colquhoun V ^c James, in Calvin,	George Stewart of Downe-Machreif,
Johnne Makfarlane of that Ilk,	Robert Alexander, notter in Drymmene,	Johnne Stewart of Pitfowrie,
Dauid Drummond, callit the Chalmerlane,	Johnne Buchannane, fervand to my Lord of Madertie,	Patrik Stewart of Balliachan,
Alex ^r Schaw of Cambusnoir,		Dauid Chirnefyde of Poffo.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of the said Johnne M^cfarlen of that Ilk, chancellor, ffind, pronuncet, and declairit the saidis fax perfones vponne pannell,

¹ Taking free quarters by force and violence. ² The TUTOR OF GLENSTRAE, styled, in the Record of Secret Council, 21st December, 1613, 'Duncan M^cEwin of Moirinfche, Tutour of Glenstrae.' In the same Record, 31st January, 1611, he is spoken of, to the prejudice of his Ward, as 'now callit THE LAIRD;' and, in the Justiciary Record, 8th May, 1612, as 'THE LAIRD OF M^c-GREGOUR!' In a Letter from the King, from his Court at Roystoun, 23d October, 1611, to the Scottish Council, (who took it into consideration 17th November following,) he is described as 'Duncan M^cEwne, alias Duncane THE TUTOR.' He was cousin-german of Allaster M^cGregor of Glenstray, executed at Edinburgh in 1604; and was Tutor to Gregor M^cGregor, otherwise John Murray, nephew and heir of Allaster, and who, on the King's recommendation, was restored to the Lands of Glenstray, in 1624. Duncan the Tutor assumed the protective surname of DOUGLAS, in compliment, probably, to the Dowager Countess of Argyle. ⁵ Lineal ancestor of Macdonald of Keppoch. In the Record, he is sometimes styled 'the Laird of M^cRannald.'

be reffone of thair awin Confessiones, maid in prefens of the maist pairt of the said Affyse, to be ffylet and convict of the haill crymes aboue reherfit.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Burrow-Mure of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit vpon the cownoun gibbit, quhill thay be deid : And all thair moveabill guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to oure fouerane lordis vsê, as culpable and convict of the saidis crymes.

Fire-raising — Slaughter — Intercommuning with MacGregors — Slaughter and Houghing of Oxen, &c.

Aug. 3.—DONALD DARG¹ M^cALLANE, fervand to Johnne Calder ; Donald M^ceane V^cAllaster Bayne ; Johnne M^cfyndlay M^cquiben.

Dilaitit of the crymes respectiue following, viz. THE saidis Donald Darg M^callane, and Donald M^ceane V^callaster Bayne, ffor being in companie with Johnne and Donald Calderis, fones to Thomas Calder in Delneis, vpon the xxj day of Maij last, at the tressonabill Raifeing of ffyre, burning, and distroying of the Hall, kitching, and remanent office-houffis within the precink of the clois of Clwnes, pertening to Colene Campbell of Clwnes : And ffor airt and pairt of the said ffyre-raifeing and burning. As also, ffor airt and pairt of the Slauchter of four horsis and meiris, being vpon the landis of Clwnes at that tyme, pertening to the tennentis thair of : As also ffor cuming, vpoun the xxiiij day of the said moneth, bak agane to the saidis landis of Clwnes, and thair, for airt and pairt of the Burneing of the haill houffis and biggingis within the Myd-toun of Clwnes, callit the Thornyfurd, and Burning of tua barnes and ane stable, in the Nether-toun, quhilkis war left vnbrunt ofbefoir : AND siclyk, ffor airt and pairt of the crewall Slauchter and Hocheing² of threttie heid of ky, oxin, and vther bestiall, pertening to Mr Williame Campbell of Breachlie his tennentis ; committit vpon the xxv day of the said moneth of Maij last : AND ffor airt and pairt of the crewall and vnnatural Slauchter of fourtie heid of guidis, within the Forrest of Leonache ; committit vpon the Monoday befor St Colmes-mefs last. AS ALSO, the said Johnne M^cfyndla M^cquiben, off airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{1c} Patrik M^cgreffie Roy in Budzet, with ane durk ; committit be him a tua yeir fyne, or thairby : AND for being in cumpanie with Robert Abroche M^cgregour, his kyn (and) freindis, Thevis and Soirneris, be the space of ane moneth, in dyerse thair wiket and thiftious deidis.

Quhilk Dittay was verifeit be the saidis perfones Depositiones, producet in proces.

The Aduocat repeittis the Depositiones alreddie producet, and in the Clerkis keping ; takis instrumentis of the fweiring of the Affyse ; and protestis for Wilfull Error, gif thai acquit.

¹ Red-skinned ; ruddy-complexioned. Roy signifies red-haired.

² Ham-stringing.

ASSISA.

George Monro of Tarrell, Johnne Mcgillievorich, fervand James Borthuik of Lochehill,
 Alexander Bayne of Logie, to Colene of Bothe, Johnne Stewart of Apyn, Hew Campbell of Ballangowne, James Dumbar of Bothe, Mr James Kirk, fervand to my Lord Argyle.¹

VERDICT. The Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouth of Alexander Bayne of Logie, chancellor, fband, pronuncet, and declairit the saidis thre perfonen on pannell, accoirding to thair awin confessione, to be fylet, culpable, and convict of the crymes respectiue aboue specifeit.—SENTENCE. To be tane to the Burrowmure of Edinburgh, and vpon the cownone gibbet thair of to be hangit, quhill thay be deid; and all thair moveabill guidis to be escheit, &c.

Stouthreif—Theft—Bearing and Shooting of Hagbutts and Pistolets, &c.

Sep. 3.—GILBERT CRANSTOUN, father-brother to vni^q^o Patrik Cranstoun of Corfbie.

Dilaitit of the crymes following, viz. FOR the thiftious steilling, conceilling, and away-taking, be way of Maisterfull thift and stouth reif, furth of the stable of Corfbie, of ane gray stanet horse,² pertening to Patrik Cranstoun of Corfbie, his brother sone; committit be him vpon the tent day of July last. ITEM, for airt and pairt of the thiftious steilling, conceilling, ressetting, and away-taking of tua schein, pertening to Andro Vaiche in Hammiltoun, vpon Lyne watter; and of four schein pertening to James Tuedie, his fervand; and of tua schein pertening to Johnne Stewart, in Stobo; tua vther schein pertening to James Fouldane, thair, &c.;³ flowin be the said Gibert and his complices, furth of the boundis of Hammiltoun, vpon Lyne Commoune, in the moneth of ffebruar, I^m.Vj^o. and tuelff yeiris. ITEM, for contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in beiring and weiring of hagbutis and pistolettis, and schuitting of George Home of Bassinden thairwith, in his left thie;⁴ committit in the moneth of September, 1609 yeiris. ITEM, for Cownoun Thift, and cownoun resset of thift, outputing and inputing of thift, fra land to land, fra cuntrie to cuntrie, baith of auld and new.

VERDICT. Fylet, culpable, and convict of the haill crymes aboue writtin.—SENTENCE. To be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit vpon ane gibbet, quhill he be deid; and all his moveable guidis to be escheit, &c.

Hearing, Saying, and Celebration of the Mass, &c.

Sep. 14.—MR ROBERT PHILLOPE, Preift; James Stewart, callet James of Jerusalem.

¹ The rest of the Assise were tradesmen.
 other petty thefts narrated in the Dittay.

² Stallion.
⁴ Thigh.

³ It is unnecessary to detail the various

Dilaitit of faying and heiring of Messis, contrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament, &c.

FORSAMEKILL as, be dyuerse Actis of Parliament, speciallie be the fyft Act of our fouerane lordis first Parliament, and be the first Act of his hienes fourtene Parliament, it is speciallie provydit, statute, and ordanit, that na maner of persone or persones, of quahatsumeuir degre or condition may be of, preswme nor tak vpon hand to say Mefs within this kingdome, or zit heir Mefs, nor be present pair-at; vnder the pane of deid, with confiscatioun of thair hail moveabill guidis; as the saidis Actis of Parliament in thame selfis proportis: Nochtwithstanding quhairof, it is of verritie, that the said Mr Robert Phillope, Preist, quha ressaunt the ordour of Preistheid in Rome, haifing remanit furth of this kingdome sen the zeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir nuntene zeiris, studeing the Catholique Romane Religion; in the moneth of Maij lastbypast, he returnet hame to this cuntrie, off purposis and intention (as he hes declairit) to convert faules to the Romane Religion; sen the quhilk tyme of his hame cuming, viz. in the monethis of Maij, Junij, and Julij lastbypast, for performing of his former Idolatrous intention, expres contrair the tennour of pe saidis Actis of Parliament, as ane Seminarie Priest, and perverter of his Maiesteis guid subiectis from the trew Religion, professit presentlie within pis realme, he hes seducet and conferrit with dyuerse of his hienes subiectis, doing quhat in him lay, be his fals and hereticall doctrine, to pervert pair faules from the treuth, and to convert thame to his erroneus opinioun: AND for that effect, hes, within the said space, said and celebrat, to pe number of sax or sewin Messis, in dyuerse pairtis and places of pis realme, secreitlie, in dyuerse houffis within the samyn, namelic: ANE of the saidis Messis was said be him in grit solemnitie, with his Mefs-claithes, consecrat alter, Mefs-buik, and with his vther superstitious rites and ceremoneis belanging pairto, within foure or fyve myles to the burgh of Dumfreis, Mr George Aflowane, sone to the Laird of Garroche, being Clerk pairto, and bringer in of the fyre to lycht pe candillis; quhairin the said Mr Robert hes contravenit pe tennour of the saidis Actis of Parliament, and incurrit the panes and pwnesment mentionat pairtill, quhilk aucht and sould be execute vpon him, with all rigour: LYKAS also, it is of verritie, that James Stewart, callit of Jerusalem, indueller within the burgh of Ed^r, being ane oppin and professit Papist, keiping and beiring companie with Jesuitis, Seminarie Preistis, and excommunicat traffiqueing Papistis, and ane cowmone ressoner in all companeis for pe said Romane Religion, aganis pe trew Religion, professit be his Maiestie and his hienes loyall subiectis within this his kingdom, expres contrair the tennour of pe saidis Actis of Parliament, in the monethis of Januare, Februare, Marche, Apryle, Maij, Junij, Julij, August, September, October, November, December, in the zeiris of God I^m. sex hundreth and nyne, sex hundreth ten, sex hundreth ellevin, and sex hundreth tuelff zeiris,¹ at the leif, in ane or vther of the saidis monethis and zeiris of God, he hes hard and gevin his bodielie presence to dyuerse Messis, said be dyuerse Preistis within this realme, in dyuerse places of pe same; and namelic, the said James Stewart, avowing himself to be ane Catholik Romane, in pe zeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and nyne zeiris, or pairby, was present at ane Mefs said be Mr Patrick Anderson, Jesuite, within his duelling hous of Patrik Abercrombie in Ed^r, in the Laird of Leyis land, befyde the buriall zaird of the said burgh: Lyk as, the said James Stewart, accompaneit with the said Johnne Logane, portioner of Restalrig,² about ane quarter of ane zeir pairrestir, was present at the heiring of ane vther Mefs, quhilk was said in the said James awin duelling hous in Ed^r, a litill aboue the Nether-boll-Poirt, quhair he duelt for pe tyme, be Johnne Burd, Preist, quha was brocht to pe said hous be pe said Johnne Logane to the effect foirlaid, nane being present at that Mefs bot pe Preist, the said James Stewart and his wyfe, with the said Johnne Logane, and ane vther blak man. ITEM, schoirtlie pairrestir, the thrid Mefs was said within the said James Stewartis duelling hous in the Cowgait of Ed^r, quhair he duelt for pe tyme, the said James being present him self at the heiring and faying pairto be the Preist. BE the quhilk wilfull heiring and present-being at pe saidis feuerall Messis respectiué foirfaidis, the said James Stewart hes contravenit þe tennour of the saidis Actis of Parliament, and hes incurrit the panes and pwneifchment mentionet pairintill, quhilk fould be execute vpon him with all rigour, to the terrour of vperis.

¹ ' There was a Messe the same moneth (May 16:3) in Edinburgh, in James Stewart's house, who was called James of Jerusalem. The Preist and the said James fled. Sundry of the company were taken and wairdit.—Calderwood's M.S. Church Hist. Adv. Lib.

² See his Trial, immediately following the present.

Quhilk Dittay being red, in prefens of the saidis Mr Robert Phillipe and James Stewart, and thay accuset, be vertew thairof, of the feuerall crymes aboue speci-feit ; thay and aither of thame confessit, in face of judgement, that thai had contravenit his Maiesteis lawis and Actis of Parliament, in heiring, saying, and being present at dyuerse Messis, in maner specifeit in thair Dittay, ffor the quhilk thay offerit thame selffis, and become in his Maiesteis will : Quhairupoun instrumentis was tane be my Lord Aduocat.

Nochtwithstanding quhairof, the Justice ordanit thame to be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse.¹—The Aduocat, for verificatioun thairof, repeittit to the saidis perfones of Assyse thair former Judiciall Confessioun maid of thair crymes, aboue specifeit ; and thairwith producet thair Depositiones and Confessiones, maid in prefens of dyuerse Lordis of his Maiesteis Previe Counfall, and of the Ministeris,² subferyuit with thair awin handis ; and tuik instrumentis vpon the production thairof.

VERDICT. Fylet, culpable, and convict of the contravening of his Maiesteis Actis of Parliament, viz. the said Mr Robert Phillipe, for saying of the feuerall Messis set down in his Dittay ; and the said James Stewart, for heiring and being present at the feuerall Messis, also set down in his Dittay : conforme to their awin Depositiones, and ratificatioun thairof in judgement.

THE JUSTICE Ordanit the perfones convict to be returnet to waierd,³ thairin to remane, in strait firmance, vnto the tyme DOME be pronuncet aganis thame.

(Nov. 19.)—COMPEIRIT Sir Williame Oliphant of Newtoun, kny^t, Aduocat to our fouerane lord, and producet ane Warrant, direct fra the Lordis of his hienes Counfall to the Justice ; quhairof the tennour followis.

JUSTICE, Justice clerk, and your deputis : 3ow fall, vpon the sight heirof, appoint ane Justice Court to be haldin within the Tolbuthe of Ed^r, at suche convenient and lauchfull day as 3ow fall think meit ; and pair call befor 3ow JAMES STEWART, callit of Jerusalem, and MR ROBERT PHILLOPE, Preit, and pronunce DOME aganis thame, vpon the Sentence of convictioun alreddie gevin aganis þame, as followis, to wit : Decerne the saidis James Stewart and Mr Robert Phillope to be BANISCHET his Maiesteis dominiones ; and to depairt furth þairof, within the space of ane moneth ; and nevir to returne agane within the samyn, without his Maiesteis Licence had to that effect, vnder the pane of deid. Quhairanent þir presentis fall be 3our Warrant. AT ED^r, the xvj day of November, 1613.

AL. CANCELL^r. SANCTANDROIS. ARGYLE.

‘ DOME ’ pronounced, according to the terms of the above Warrant.

Hearing of the Mass.

Sep. 16.—JOHNE LOGANE, portioner of Restalrig.

Dilaitit for the wilfull heiring of ane Mefs, and being present thairat, in com-

¹ All tradesmen.

² Of the gospel ; clergy.

³ Prison.

panie of James Stewart, callit of Jerusalem; quhilk Mefs was said in James Stewartis hous, a littill aboue the Nether-boll-Poirt of Ed^r, quhair he duelt for the tyme, in the yeir of God I^m. sex hundreth and nyne yeiris, or thairby, be Johnne Burd, Preift.¹

Andro Logane of Coitfield protestis, in respect of the entrie of the pannell this day, that the vnlaw quhairin he was adiudget the last dyet,² be nocht buikit nor gevin out aganis him: And producet the Counfallis Warrant, subscryuit be my Lord Chancellor, daitit the xv of this instant, Ordaning the said vnlaw nocht to be buiket; bot the said Johnne Logane, for quhome he became cautionn, and now enterit vponne pannell, to be put to ane Tryell for the cryme specifcit in his Dittay.

My lord Aduocat producet the Dittay; and efter reiding thairof, desyret the pannell to be put to the Assyse for the crymes specifcit thairintill.

It is allegit be the pannell, that, as to the first Act of the first Parliament halden be our souerane lord and Estaitis, he can nocht, be vertew thairof, incur the pane and pwneifchment of daith mentionat in the Dittay, becaus the maist that the said Act extendis to, is only daith to be inflictit for sic as the thrid tyme fall be fund culpable and convict of heiring of Mefs, or beis wilfullie present at the heiring thairof: And trew it is, that in the said Dittay, producet aganis him, thair is only mentioun maid of ane Mefs hard be him: Igitur, &c.—To the quhilk it is anfuertit be my lord Aduocat, that he infistis only in persute of the pannell for contravening the first Act of his Maiesteis fourtene Parliament, maid aganis wilfull heiraris of Mefs, sen the moneth of Junij 1594, quhilk is the dait of the said Act, quhairvponne the Dittay is speciallie foundit: In respect quhairof, the pannell sould be put to ane Assyse, for heiring, and wilfullie being present at ane Mefs, in maner, and at the tyme contenit in the Dittay.

It is forder allegit be the pannell, that he can nocht be put to ane Assyse for contravening the Act of the xiiij Parliament, becaus he nevir was present at ane Mefs within this realme, bot anes, sen his cuming out of Flanderis, quhilk is four or fyue yeir syne; and the Act aucht only to be extendit aganis sic as hes hard mony Messis: Lykas, the pannell was drawin to the said Mefs be senistrous informatioun, and at the instigatioun of James Stewart, quha inveitit him to his hous to the heiring thairof; and sa, in effect, come thairto contrair his will; for the quhilk cryme he is maist penitent, and craves first God, and nixt his Maieftie and Counfall, and the Kirk, pardoun for the samyn: Lyk as, in respect of his penitence and greif for the said offence, he was ressaunt in fauour with the Kirk and Seffion of the parochin quhair he duellis ; and hes fenfyne borne office in the Seffion thairof, refoirtit continuallie to the heiring of the woird, and at all tymes was present at the celebratioun of the Communioun and ministratioun of the Sacramentis : Protefting, be God's grace, to continew ane trew and constant Profeffour of the trew Religioun, presentlie profeflit within this realme, to his lyves end ; and for the offence aboue writtin maift humlie becumis in his Maiefteis will.—It is anfuerit be my lord Aduocat, that the allegiance maid be the pannell is na relevant caufe, of the Law, to ftay the puting of him to the tryell of ane Affyfe, vpone the Dittay lybellit ; becaus all perfones man be comptit wilfull heiraris of Mefs that cumis voluntarlie thairto, and patientlie abydis and heiris the famyn ; and it is nocht allegit be the pannell that he was compellit to cum and heir that Mefs ; nather can the famyn be fufteinit, except he purge the famyn be ane violent deid compelling him to refoirt thairto : And albeit the pannell hes communicat fenfyne, and borne office in the Kirk, he anis haifing wilfullie hard Mes, quhilik is ane cryme capitall, be the faid Act of Parliament, na deid done be him, without his Maiefteis pardoun and Remiffioun pafte, can purge that cryme : And forder, to mak it knawin that he was ane wilfull heirar of the Mefs lybellit, it is affirmet that he come to James Stewartis hous at the Nether-boll, and brocht with him Johnne Burd, Preift, quha cravet feruice, James Stewart then being fleiping in his bed ; and being walknit, he anfuerit, that for releif of his confcience he was content to heir him : And than the Mefs was faid in the faid James Stewartis hous, quhair thairefter thay dynet altogidder. This is verifeit be James Stewartis awin Depofitioun, fufcryuit with his hand, and heirwith product, for verifeing the premisses.

¹ The Dittay is conceived in terms precisely similar to the preceding case. ² On Sep. 14. This marking is inserted—'MP. The Guidman of Coitfeild being vnlawit þis day, for nocht entrie of Johnne Logane, portioner of Restabrig, to haif bene tryit for þe said crymes; the Act of buiking þairof, be þe Counfallis Warrant, was (in respect of Johnne Loganis entrie in ward) difcharget.'

THE JUSTICE Repellis the allegiances aboue writtin, and ffindis the Dittay relevant ; and Ordanis the pannell to pas to the tryell of ane Affyfe, for the cryme lybellit.

VERDICT. The Affyfe, all in ane voce, be the mouth of Thomas Fifcher, mercheand, chancellor, fand, pronuncet, and declairit the faid Johnne Logane, conforme to his awin Depofitioun, fufcryuit with his hand, and ratificationis thairof maid in judgement, in thair prefens and audience, to be ffylet, culpable, and convict of the heiring of ane Mefs faid be the faid Johnne Burd, Preift, within the duelling hous of the faid James Stewart ; in forme and maner, and at the perticuler tyme fpecificit in the faid Dittay.

THE JUSTICE Ordanit him to be tane bak agane to waird within the Tolbuth of Ed^r, thair to remane quhill DOME war pronuncet vpone his former convictioun, &c.

(Nov. 26.)—The Lord Advocate produced a Warrant of the Privy Council, dated ‘ at Ed^r, the xvj day of November, 1613,’ ordaining the Justice to ‘ pronunce DOME aganis him, vpon þe Sentence of Convictioun alreddie geven aganis him, as followis, viz.⁷

SENTENCE. That he mak payment to his Maiesteis Thesaurer depute and Reffauer, in his Maiesteis name, of the sowme of ane Thowseand pundis money, as a fyne imposit vpone him.

Incest and Murder.

Sep. 24.—JOHNE RAMSAY of Pryour-Lethame.

Dilaitit for the filthie and abhominable cryme of Incest, committit be him with Margaret Ramsay, his awin dochter : As also, for airt and pairt of the crewall Murthour and slauchter of vmq^{le} Williame Ofett, his awin fervand ; and remanent crymes contenit in the Letteris.

Mr Vmplra Blinshell, Aduocat, as bailzie and procuratour for George, Archebifchope of St Androis, Lord of Regalitie thairof, quha exponit and declairit that the said Johnne is duelland within the boundis of the regalitie of St Androis, and thairby is subiect to the said Lord of Regalitie, his judgement and jurisdic-tioun, for the crymes aboue specifcit : And thairfoir Protestit, that quhatsoeur war done be the Justice this day, fould nawayis preiudge the said Lord of St Androis, nor his privilege of Regalitie thairof.

Michell Ramsay of the Forther vnlawit and americiat in the pane of fyve hundredth merkis, for nocht entrie of the said Johnne. And siclyk, that the said Johnne, for his nocht compeirance, be demuncet rebell and put to his hienes horne ; and all his moveabill guidis to be escheit, &c.¹

Fire-raising—Houghing of Cattle—Oppression, &c.

Nov. 5.—THOMAS CALDER, in Delneis ; Robert Caddell (Calder), sone to Johnne Caddell in Flines.

Dilaitit for airt and pairt of the coming to the landis of Clunes, pertening to Colene Campbell of Clwnes heretable, and maist tressonable and awfullie Rasing of ffyre in the hall, chalmeris, barnis, byris, and scheip-coit thairof, and burning and distroying of the samyn, and be Maisterfull Oppressioun, hoching² and slaying of thre meiris (mares) and ane horse, pertening to the said Colene ; committit vpoun the xxij day of Maij lastbypast, vnder sylence and cloud of nycht. AND siclyk, for cuming to the said landis of Clunes, on the xxiiij day of the moneth of Maij lastbypast, att tuell houris in the day licht, and willfullie, awfullie, and tressonabillie Rasing of ffyre, in ane toune,³ callit in Ersch⁴ Andraane, and in

¹ No farther notice is taken of this case, which had likely been quashed by Archbishop Gladstones, (translated from the See of Caitness, A.D. 1606,) or privately compromised within his Regality.

² Hamstringing.

³ Farm-steading.

⁴ Gaelic.

Scottis Thorne-furd; and to the Cot-toun of Clune, and Burning and distroying of the famin, togidder with the haill infycht and pleneiffing, pertening to the said Colene Campbellis tementis thair: And fwa, for committing of oppin and manifest Treafoun.

PERSEWARIS, Colene Campbell of Clunes; Sir Williame Oliphant of Newtoun, kny^t, Aduocat, &c.

THE Justice, of consent of the persewaris, Continewis this matte to the fyftene day of December nixt.

(Dec. 15.)—James Cuning of Alter, cautioner for the said James, vnlawit and amerciati in the pane of tua hundreth merkis, for his non-entrie; and Colene Campbell of Both, cautioner for the said Robert Calder, in the pane of ane hundreth merkis: And the pannels Decernit to be denuncet our fouerane lordis rebellis, &c., and all thair movable guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Murder—Theft—Fire-raising.

NOV. 24.—ALLANE CAMRONE alias M^cEandowie of Lochzell; Eugen Camrone in Caldort; and Allane Dow in Clinfelphairne, &c.

Dilaitit for airt and pairt of the crewall Murthour and Slauchter of Johnne Camrone, alias Bodache, Allafter Camrone of Glennevas, and vmq^{le} Ewin M^cconcell V^cewin, and remanent crymes of Murthour, Slauchter, Thift, and ffyre-raifeing, at lenth specifcit and fett down in the Letteris.¹

James Gordoun of Knokaspek, as cautioner, for repoirting the Letteris, deulie execute and indorfate, purchest at the instance of Marie Neane Jeane Oig, the relict of the said Johnne; Meriorie Ewin, the relict of the said Allafter; Marie Neane Lauchlane V^callane, relict of vmq^{le} Ewin; with the remanent kyn and freindis, producet the saidis Letteris, deulie execute, &c., be the quhilkis thair ar all denuncet rebellis, and put to the horne.

Usurpation of King's authority—Destroying green Corn, &c.

NOV. 26.—WILLIAME FORBES, elder of Monymusk; Robert, Johnne, and Mr James Forbis, his thre fones; Johnne Forbes, callit of Burnegranes; James Geillis and Johnne Farquhar, domestik feruitouris to Monymusk; and George Raitt, in Coiff.

Dilaitit for vsurpatioun of his Maiesteis authoritie, in taking of Williame Dowgat, (Duguid?) feruitour to George Gairdin; committit the 24 of Julij last: And for contravening the Actis of Parliament, in cutting of certane grene growand coirnes, pertening to Gilbert Menzeis of Pitfoddellis, growand vpon his landis of PERSEWARIS, Gilbert Menzeis of Pitfoddellis; Williame Dowgat, feruitour to George Gairdin; Sir Williame Oliphant of Newtoun, kny^t, Aduocat.

¹ The Dittays are not inserted in the Record.

THE Justice, with advyse of my lord Aduocat, Continewis this dyet to the thrid day of the Air (of Aberdeen), or foner, vpone xv dayis wairning; and Ordanis caution to be fund be the pannell. Plegio, Joanne Kynnaird de eodem.

Cutting and Destroying Corn.

Nov. 26.—MARGARET IRWING, Lady Pitfoddellis; Gilbert Menzeis of Pitfoddellis, hir spous, for his entreis; David Knowis, his domestik fervand; Johnne Ramfay, his greif; Johnne Philp, Williame Daveny, Williame Dougatt, and Johnne Ramfay.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the contravening of our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in cutting and distroying of coirnes; committit in the moneth of July lastbypast.

PERSEWARIS.

Williame Forbes, elder of Monymusk; Sir Williame Oliphant of Newtoun, kny^t, Aduocat.

This case¹ also continued to the same Air. Plegio, Pitfoddellis.

Slaughter.

Dec. 1.—HEW SOMERVELL of Drun.

Dilaitit for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Bryfone, in Gilmertoun, be gevin to him of dyuerse straikis, hurtis, and woundis, with ane lang battone or girth-fling,² in his sydis, schouleris, breift, and bellie, and dyueris vtheris partis of his body, at the dur of his duelling hous in Gilmertoun, vpone the xxiiij of September last; off the quhilkis straikis, he haifing tane bed, and remaning bedfast the space of aucht dayis, in grit dollour and pane, deceiffit thairof vpone the first day of October thaireftir.

PERSEWARIS, Agnes M^cindo, the relict; Patrik and Margaret Bryfone, as bairnes.

PRELOCUTOURIS in defence, Mr Thomas Hoip, Mr Laurence M^cgill.

It is allegit be the pannell, that the Dittay is nocht relevant, in sa far as it is nocht qualifeit thairin, that the cryme was committit vpone foirthocht fellonie; without the quhilk war condiscendit vpone, na cryme can be inferrit: And thairfoir, as the Dittay is qualifeit, it can nocht pas to ane Assyse. And forder, it is affermit be the pannell, that the said Johnne Bryfonis death nawayis proccidit vpone ony straik or hurt gevin to him the tyme lybellit; bot be the contraire, the said Johnne, that same day of the allegit ressaucing of the straikis, past to the Coilpot-hill, and thairfra with his coillis³ come to Ed^r, quhair he fauld the famyn ; and passing hame, that same nycht, to his awin hous, lay down haill and feir ;¹ and his haill famelie being visseit with the hett-fever,² be the space of ane moneth ofbefoir, the said Johnne being also visseit thairwith, in aucht dayis thair-estir, sa reaget thairin, that in end, at the tyme lybellit, he deceiffit of the said ffever, notourlie knawin to the haill cuntrie about. And sa, can nocht pas to ane Assyse, for ony cryme set down in the summondis.

¹ It is obvious that the preceding cases arose out of the deadly feuds which then raged between the families of Monymusk and Pitfoddels. No information is afforded by the Record, how these Cases terminated—but from their withdrawal to ‘the Air,’ it is likely they were compromised by the intervention of mutual friends.

² Dr Jamieson interprets this word to signify a pole from which a girth, gird, or barrel hoop is made.

³ Coals. GILMERTON, at that period, as well as now, was famous for its collieries and stone quarries, and appears to have been, even in these early times, peopled by a most barbarous and regardless race. The recent atrocious case of Rape and Murder is too fresh in the public mind to require any farther notice of the proverbially savage nature of the colliers and carters inhabiting that village. A bare allusion to the evidence adduced in that shocking Trial is more than enough to justify the preceding observation.

THE Justice findis the Summondis relevant, nochtwithstanding of the former allegiances : and Ordanis the famyn to pas to ane Assyse.

ASSISA.

Mr Pat. Edmeftoun of Wowmet,	Nicoll Crawford, in Nether Lib-	Mr Jo ⁿ Wardlaw, in Libbertoun,
George Ramsay, Nether-houffis,	bertoun,	Symone Henderfoun, thair,
Robert Eddislaw, in Lefuaid,	Henrie Arnote, in Lefwaid,	Dauid Ramsay, in Pethheid,
Nicoll Ramsay, thair,	Michael Craufurd, at Libber-	Geo. Pacok, in Nether Libbertoun,
Gilbert Hay, thair,	toun-Kirk,	Thomas Andro, in Lefuaid.

It is allegit be the pannell (that) George Ramsay, Robert Eddislaw, Nicoll Ramsay, can nocht be reffaut vpon his Assyse, becaus thai ar tennentis, haifing na frie landis of thair awin ; and the pannell being ane landit Gentilman, within the degrie of ane Barroune, halding his landis of Drun, and vtheris pertening to him, immediatlie of the Kingis Maiestie, fould thairfoir be tryit be his peiris, viz. be Barrones ; at the leift, the maist pairt of thame fould be in that rank ; igitur, &c. Repeitis the former allegiance aganis the remanent Assyfouris of the lyk qualitie.

THE Justice, vpon tryell of the said George Ramsay and remanent Assyfouris rank and estait, finding thame to be honest, substantious men, Admittis thame vpon the said Assyse.

VERDICT. The Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouth of Thomas Andro, in Lefuaid, chancellor, fand, pronuncet, and declairit the said Hew Somervell of Drum to be Cleane, innocent, and acquit of the said slauchter.

Witchcraft—Poisoning—Treasonable Murder.

[THE CASE OF ROBERT ERSKINE, which follows, and the subsequent Trial of his three sisters, HELEN, ISOBEL, and ANNAS,³ afford very lamentable proofs of the baneful effects of an all-engrossing spirit of covetousness. There cannot be a doubt that the sordid avarice of these individuals, habitually indulged, and permitted to acquire the entire ascendancy over their minds, rapidly terminated in the perpetration of the highly revolting crimes for which their lives were justly forfeited to the offended laws of their country.

It is melancholy to reflect that these atrocious criminals, whose cold-blooded and calculating crimes form the subject of these Trials, were immediate descendants of the eminently good and pious John Erskine, Baron of Dun, and Superintendent of Angus and Mearns, one of the most active promoters of the Reformation of Religion in Scotland, whose character and public services are well known. This excellent man died Mar. 12, 1591, in the 82d year of his age, having, throughout his long and useful life, bestowed much of his time in attending to the religious and moral education of his children and their numerous descendants. The Superintendent was the eldest son of John Erskine of Dun, by Margaret Ruthven, daughter of Sir William de Ruthven, first Lord Ruthven, and relict of Alexander, second Earl of Buchan. He married Lady Elizabeth, third daughter of David, seventh Earl of Crawford. John Erskine, the next Baron of Dun, married Margaret, eldest daughter of James, fifth Lord Ogilvy of Airlie. His son, John Erskine of Dun, married Margaret Keith, second daughter of Robert Lord Altrie, last mentioned. This Baron was succeeded by John Erskine of Dun, who married the Honourable Margaret Lindsay, daughter of Sir Alexander Lindsay, first Lord Spynie, (slain 1607,) and was probably the father of Robert and his sisters, Helen, Isobel, and Annas. David Erskine of Dun, the brother of these criminals, and father of their victims, John and Alexander Erskine, married Jean, eldest daughter of Patrick Maule of Panmure, by Margaret daughter of John Erskine of Dun.

¹ Whole and sound.² Probably the Scarlet fever.³ See their Trial in this Collection, Jun. 22, 1614.

It must therefore be obvious, owing to the high respectability of the ancient Family of Dun, and the rank and power of the numerous connexions of the pannels, that every influence must have been used for averting the stain of a public Trial and an ignominious execution; but their crimes were of too deep a dye to admit of the public prosecutor waiving this imperative duty.

One very striking feature of this remarkable Case is, that the brother was urged forward to the perpetration of this crime by the repeated suggestions and solicitations of his sisters; who, with desperate wickedness, goaded him forward to consent to the act. These wretched females were both the prime movers and the actors in this shocking tragedy. Their brother appears to have been a passive instrument in their hands.

It only remains for the Editor to state, that, after much research, he has only been able to procure the following notices, from an authentic source.¹

(Nov. 30, 1613.) ‘ROBERT ERSKINE, vncle to THE LAIRD OF DYNNE, being examinat be foure of the Counfell, depute to that effect, vpon the practize of poifone aganes his tua nephewes, the brether of the Houfe of Dynne; after dyuerfe denyallis and confrontationes with fome who avowed that mater vpon him, he is come to a cleere Confession of the hail treuthe of that mater; to wit, that he wes a deallar, confultor, and confentar to the Murthour of his tua nephewes by poyfone; and that his thre fisteris wer the first movearis of him to that wicked deide, that therby he might atteane to the right of the leving of Dynne. Direction is gevin to the Justice to putte him to the tryall of the lawes, and Commiffion is gevin to the Erle of Mar to apprehend the three fisteris, and fome otheris gevin vp be the said Robert, as guyltie, and to presert thame here to there tryell.’—(Dec. 1, 1613.) ‘Robert Erskyne wes this day execute for the practize of poifone, wherin he wes a counfellour and confentar aganes the tua bretherine of the Houfe of Dynne.’]

Dec. 1.—ROBERT ERSKYN, sone to Johnne Erskyn, appeirand of Dwn, callit Johnne of Logy.

Dilaitit, accufet, and persewit, be Sir Williame Oliphant of Newtoun, kny^t, Aduocat to our souerane lord, for his hienes intereis, of the crymes following, viz.

DITTAY against Robert Erskyn.

FORSAMEKILL as, be the Law of the Almychtie God, loveable Constitucionnes of all Christiane kingdomes, and Municipall Lawis of this realme, all Witchcraft, Sorcerie, Consultatioun with Witches, seiking of help or resposnes of thame, and vsaris of Poyfone or Poyfoneable herbis, quhairthrow ony Cristiane man, woman, or bairne may take hearme, is prohibeit and discharged, vnder the pane of deid, confiscatioun of all the offendouris moveabillis, and dyuerse vtheris grevous panes and pwneifchmentis, at moir lenth expreffit in the faidis Lawis, Actis, and Ordinances : Nochtwithftanding quhairof, it is of veritie, that þe faid Robert Erskyn, being blinded with the godles and infatiable defyre of þe landis and leving of Dwn, and knowing perfytlie that he could nevir attene to be full Laird pairof, fo long as Johnne and [Alexander] Erskynis, the tuo lauchfull fones of vinq^{le} Dauid Erkin, his elder lauchfull brother, was on lyfe : ffor removeing of the quhilk impediment, vpone a pretendit mifcontentement confauet be him and his thre fifteris, Ifobell, Helene, and Annas Erkinis, becaus vinq^e Erskyn of Dwn, quho was fone-in-law to the Laird of Pitcur, vpone his deid-bed had nominat Johnne Erkin, Minister at St Ceres Kirk, to be Tutour Testamenter to the faidis tuo ʒoung boyis, his brother-fones, and that be þe faid nominatioun of Tutorie, the faid Robert, as nerrest agnat of bluid to thame, was defraudit of the charge of pais bairnes and þair Eftait ; albeit þe faid Robert his cheif difcontentment was, becaus, be þe furvieing of the faidis tuo bairnes, ʒour (his) rycht of fuceffioun to the faid leving was impeidit. The faid Robert, þairfoir, ffor removeing of the faid impediment, in his devillifch difpofitioun, conuenit to him felff his faidis thre fifteris, Ifobell, Annas, and Helene, within the Place¹ of Logy, about Mydfomer, in the ʒeir of God I^m. fex hundreth and ten ʒeiris, and þair treited, confulted, deliberat, and refolued vpone the destruction and Murthour of þe faidis tuo ʒoung childrene, his broper-fones,² be Witchcraft and Poyfoun : AND for this effect, tuo of his fifteris, haifing proponit to ane Dauid Blewhous, that gif³ he wald vndertak to get ane Witche, that, be fun finifterous meanis, wald tak away the lyves of þe faidis tuo boyis that war betuix þe faid Robert and the leving of Dwn, that þe faid Dauid fould reffauie for his rewaird ane poffeffioun, for his lyftyme, out of the landis of Dwn, and fyve hundreth merkis of filuer ; and promeift to caus þe faid Robert, vpon the morne þaireftir, ratifie to þe faid Dauid the former conditioun : Lykas, fchortlie þaireftir, þe faid Robert, cuming to the faid Dauid Blewhous duelling hous, and haifing forgadderit⁴ with him þair, he þan demandit of þe faid Dauid, quhat he had done concerning the purpois inpairtit be his fifteris to him, anent þe diftrucioun of þe faidis tuo bairnes ? And becaus, be þe anfuer maid be him to þe faid Robert and his fifteris, the faid Robert could nocht get his wiket purpois effectuat be þe faid Dauid Blewhous, thairvpon the faidis Annas and Helene, his tua fifteris, of the fpeciall caufeing, fending, hounding out, airt, pairt-taking, counfell, and devyfe, paff, in ane evening, fra þe faid Place of Logy, over þe Cairnemoth, towardis þe Mure-ailhous, and þair forgadderit with ane woman, quha namet hir felf Jonet Irwing, ane notorious Witche and abufer of þe people ; and eftir conference with hir in the faid purpois, thay, for accomplifchment pairof, reffaut of hir ane grit quantitie of herbis, quhilkis war brocht with thame (with iniunctioun how to vse the saidis herbis) hame to Logy. Quhilk being fene be þe said Robert, in þair handis, and he altogidder distrusting that thais herbis war hable¹ to do that wicket turne for the quhilk þai war brocht, ffor elering of his dout, he, togidder with Johnne Kirk, past over þe Month towardis the Mure-ailhous, quhair he consultit and conferrit with the said Jonet Irwing, Witche, off quhome at þat tyme he refaueit ane full resolutioun that þe herbis delyuerit be hir to his sifteris was forceable aneuche to effectuat þe former wicket turne: LYK AS, schortlie þaireftir, þe said Robert, returning hame agane, he concurrit and consultit with his sifteris in all þair wicket resolutiones, to þe tyme that þe said poyfoneable drink was gevin be þame to the saidis tuo boyis; quha þaireftir, be þe said Robert his counfall and advyse, tuik þe saidis herbis, and steipit þame amangis aill ane lang space; and þaireftir, it being in deliberatioun betuix þe said Robert and his sifteris, quhidder it fould be cassin out or vsed, in end, it was vniformelie aggreit and concludit amangis thame, that þe drink quhairin the saidis herbis war steipit fould be gevin to the saidis tuo boyis: ffor accomplisment quhair of, tuo of the saidis sifteris, accompaneit with Gilbert Campbell, his horse-boy for þe tyme, haifing also in companie with thame the said Johnne Erskine, the eldest of the saidis tuo boyis, past altogidder furth of Logy to þe burgh of Montrois, quhair þe vther boy with his mother remanit and duelt for þe tyme; and þair, of þe said Robert Erskine his knowlege, counsell, and devyse, the said poyfoneable drink was gevin to the saidis tuo boyis, his brother-sones: Quhilk drink, eftir þair ressaueing þairof, wrocht so violentlie vpone þame, that immediatlie þaireftir thay tuik sic ane extraordiner preise² of vomeiting, that na persone expected for þair lyfe: Be occasioun of the quhilk poyfoneable drink, sa miniftrat and gevin to thame, the said Johnne Erskine, the eldest of the tuo, contracted sic a deidlie diseas and seiknes, that his skyn turning all blak, and his hail nobill pairtis inwardlie consumeing, he daylie and continuallie þaireftir dwynet³ in grit dollour and pane, to the tyme of his death, viz. to the terme of Witsonday last; at quhilk tyme, he in maist lamentable maner deceiffit, of the said vennemous and poyfoneable drink, vttering befor his death thir or the lyk woirdis, to all sic as war present, “Wo is me, that I evir had richt of successioun to ony landis or leving! ffor gif I had bene borne sum pure coitteris sone, I had nocht bene sa demanet,⁴ nor sic wicket practizes had bene plottit aganis me for my Landis!” AND sa, was crewallie and tressonabillie Murthoret; and be þe foirsaid vnlawfull and poyfoneable drink, cuttit aff be þe said Robert Erskine, his uncle: And he was airt and pairt of the said treasonabill Murthour, and of þe dannable consulting and devyseing with the said Jonet Irwing, ane notorious Witche, ffor making and ministrating of þe said poyfoneable and vennemous drink, for the saidis tuo bairnes Murthour and destruction. LYKAS, the vther of the saidis tuo boyis remanis as zit fair vissit with intollerable payne, and seiknes vniuerfall throw his haill body, be occasioun of the said drink gevin to him at þe time foirsaid; off quhais lyfe þair is na hoip. TO THE TAIKIN of the quhilkis premisses, þe said Robert being examinat be the Lordis of his Maiesteis Previe Counfall; quhairupoune, eftir lang deilling with him þairintill, in end, come to his Confessioun, in maner specifeit in his Depositiones: Lyk as, he being charget, be vertew of Criminall Letteris, to haif compeirit and fund caution that he sould vnderly the Law for þe saidis crymes, was, for his nocht finding caution, denuncet to the horne, and declairit fugitiue fra his Maiesteis Lawis, for the crymes aboue specifeit; at the quhilk Hoirning he hes ever sen syne remanit vnrelaxt þairfra. As þe saidis Letteris of Hoirning, producet aganis him, in the self proportis.

¹ Minutes of Privy Council Proceedings, Denmylne MSS. Adv. Library. Balf. Annales, II. 44.

¹ Mansion-house.² Nephews.³ If.⁴ Met.

¹ Lat. habilis.² Literally, press.³ Pined away.⁴ Treated.

Eftir reiding of the quhilk Dittay, and accusatioun of the said Robert Erskine, be vertew thair of, of the crymes aboue expremit, quhilkis war Confessit be him to be of verritie, the Justice, of his awin consent, referrit the samyn to the Tryell of ane Assyse of the perfones following.

ASSISA.

Mr Ja ^s Durehame of Duntervie,	Sir George Ramfay of Dalhouffie,	Johnne Beatone of Falay,
Mr Francis Bothuell, brother ger-	Mr Alexander Seatoun of Gormok,	Patrick Maxwell of Newark, mane to vinq ^{le} Johnne, Lord	Cuthbert Cunninghame, Proveist	Aulay M ^c caulay of Ardiacapill,
Halyrudhous,	of Dumbarten,	Duncane Menzeis of Comerie,
Robert Falconer of Ballandro, Menzeis of Weyme,	Mathow Bailzie of Littillgill.
Sir Johnne Prestoun of Vallafeild,	Patrik Auchterlonie, Dunlope of that Ilk.

Quhilkis crymes the said Robert Erskine of new, in the said Assyse presens and audience, confessit and acknowlegit to be of verritie. Quhairupoun instrumentis was tane be our said fouerane lordis Aduocat; and quha, for the said Assyse forder resolution, producet to thaine the said Robert Erskines Depositiones, subscriuit with his hand, and dyuerse of the Lordis of his Maiesteis Previe Counfall; togidder with the saidis Letteris of Hoirning, beiring him to haif bene fugitiue fra his Maiesteis lawis, continuallie sen the committing of the said fact.

VERDICT. The Assyse, all in ane voce, be the mouth of Mr James Durhame of Duntarvie, chancellor, be resson of his former Depositiones, and ratificatioun thair of, maid in judgement, ffand, pronuncet, and declairit the said Robert Erskin to be Giltie, culpable, and convict of airt and pairt of the Murthour and distruction of the said Johnne Erskine, his brother-sonne, be ministrating to him and his said brother of the poyfoneable drink, in maner specifeit in the said Dittay.—SENTENCE. To be tane to the Mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and thair his heid to be strukin from his body: And all his moveabill guidis to be escheit, &c.¹

¹ See the Trial of Helen, Issobel, and Annas Erskine, Jun. 22, 1614.

Horse and Sheep Stealing.

