Court of Justiciarie, and thair, be pair delyuerance, pronouceit be þe mowth and ſpeiking of Johnne Cokburn of Ormeſtonne, Chancellare of the ſaid Affyſe, ſtand and delyuerit the ſaid George Hwme of Spott, Acquit off art and pairt, red and counſale of the crewall, ſchamefull and abominable Murthour and ſlawchter of vmq^{le} our fouerane loirdis darreſt father, Henry King of Scottis, committit in the moneth of Februar, the 3^{er} of God I^m.V^c. threfcoir ſex yeiris, within his awin lugeing beſyde þe Kirk of Feild, &c. &c. (as before detailed): AND florder, of art and pairt, rede and counſale, of the treſſonabill attempting to tak perforce, be way of deid, James funtyme Erle of Mortoune, furth of our fouerane loirdis waird, quhairto he wes committit, for the horribill Murthour of our fouerane loirdis vmq^{le} darreſt father; and that, in the ſaid moneth of Januare, the 3^{er} of God I^m.V^c. fourſcoir 3^{er}is, as he was to be tranſportit furth of his Maieſteis Caſtell of Edinburgh to his hienes Caſteil of Dunbartane; thair to be keptit, quhill he be put to the knowlege of ane Affyſe: AND of the treſſonabill counſale-geving, to corrupt and ſeducer his keiparis, and vtheris haifing credit of his ſaidis wairdis and Capitanis pairrof, to þat effect; and pairby, treſſonablie hyding and conceling þe ſaid conſpiracie, he beand of the foirknowlege pairrof: AND auttour of art and pairt, red and counſale, of the treſſonabill attempting of the inbringing of the Inglis force, within the pairtis of Scotland; thairby to diſſolue the peax, of lang tyme keptit, betuix the realmes of Scotland and England; and be his perſuaſiounne, treſſonablie drawing and allureing grit poweris of Inglifmen, wele inarmit, to the nowmer of Ten thouſand perſonis or pairby, to the bordouris of England, foiranent the bordaris of Scotland; daylie manaffand and boiſtand weir, and to diſſolue the publik peax foirſaid; committit be him in þe ſaid moneth of Januar, the 3^{er} of God 1580 3^{er}is, quhen the ſaid vmq^{le} James funtyme Erle of Mortoune was in waird, for the crewall and treſſonabill Murthour of the ſaid vmq^{le} oure foueraine loirdis darreſt father: And ſeing the firſt purpois to miſgif, towardis the releif of the ſaid vmq^{le} James furth of waird, practizit and interpryſit þis purpois, thinkand pairby, that the ſaid vmq^{le} James ſuld recouer his libertie, and eſcaip tryell and pwniſchment: AND rychtſwa, of the treſſonabill hyding and conceling of the ſaid attemptatis, and caus quhairfoir þe ſamin wes attemptit, and quba was conſpiratouris pairin with him, quhome be þe ſamin wes attemptit; he being of þe foirknowlege of all the crymes and treſſonablie geuing counſale to þe ſaid Archebald funtyme Erle of Angus, and vtheris of the ſaidis conſpiraceis thairanent.

[Mr Willieme Oliphant, Justice-Depute.]

Fire-raising, &c.

Jun. 5, 1583.—ALEXANDER JARDENE of Apilgirth.¹

Dilaitit of the treſſonabill Birning of the Place of Litillgill.

The Juſtice, continewis the mater aboue writtin; in reſpect of the allegeancis proponit againis the name of Hammiltoune and Bailleis, and deidlie feid, vpoune the commoune caus; as alſwa, vpoune the ſaid Alexanderis peiris: And ordanit thame to be committit in waird, within the Caſtell of Edinburgh.

[Mr Johnne Grahame, Justice-Depute.]

Breaking Ward out of Caſtle of Edinburgh.

Aug. 5.—JOHNNE STEWART, watchman in the Caſtell of Edinburgh.

Dilaitit of the breking of the Kingis Waird of the Caſtell of Edinburgh, and convoying of the Laird of Apilgirth and Willieme Tailzefeir his ſerwand furth thairof.

¹ See Nov. 27, 1584.

The Justice ordanis Johnne Stewart to be committit in waird, quhill the Advocate be present for his perfute.

Fire-raising—Burning corn, &c.

Aug. 5.—JOHNE LINDESAY of Covingtoune, Mr James Lindefay and Robert Lindefay, his sounis.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the tressonable raising of fyre and birning of fyve stakis of beir, quheit and aittis, perteing to Mr Johnne Scharp, Aduocate.

The Constable of the Castell of Edinburghe askit instrumentis of the entrie of the Laird of Covingtoune and his sounis on pannell, conforme to ane Warrant direct to that effect. Compeirit Mr Johnne Frude, and produceit ane substitution, maid be Mr David MacGill, Aduocate, makand and substitutand him in his place, to perfew the Laird of Covingtoune and his sounis, for the crymes thairin contentit; and desyrit thame to be insert in proces.

The Dittay, which is insert at length, charges the pannell, ‘for the maist tressonable, awfull and horribill raising of fyre, within the barne-zaird of Horftoune, and coirnis standing stakkit within the samin, perteing to Mr Johnne Scharp, Aduocate; quhairby, be ane grit quantitie of powder and vtheris necessaris vsit be 3ow, at the leift of 3our cawfing, airt, pairt-taking, resetting, canceling and command, 3e maist tressonable and awfullie brint and destroyit to him, within be samin barne-zaird, lyand within the Sherefdom of Edinburgh, fyve stakkis of corne or pairby, contening be quantitie of foure chalder of victuall or pairby, of quheit, beir and aittis.—This 3e did, vpoune be xx or xxj dayis of March lastbypast, vnder scilence of nycht,’ &c.

The Justice, continewis the mater to the morne, be Interloquoutour, in the same force and effect as it now standis; and Ordanis the Laird of Covingtoune to be committit agane to waird, within the Castell of Edinburghe.

Aug. 6.—The said Laird of Covingtoune, willing that his innocencie be tryit, of the said cryme, conforme to the lawis of this realme; declarit, that he is now twyis presentit in this judgement, to that effect; lykeas, he offerris him self presentlie reddie to abyde tryell thairin, be the knowlege of ane Assyse, &c.

INTERLOCUTOR. The Justice, being ryple awyfit with the premisses, haifing consideratioune of the wechtines of the cryme, being ane mater of Tressoun; findis be Interloquoutour, that he can nocht gudlie proceed at this present, in the said mater; specialie, in respect of the absence of Mr David MacGill, Aduocate principall; and that the Justice is nocht in vse to resane ane substitute, to perfew ony crymes of Tressoun, sic as birning of coirnis; quhilk, for the weil of the countrie, requyris sufficient tryell. Secundlie, becaus the said substitute declarit, that he had resaneit na instructioun, informatioun or taikin of Dittay, fra our souerane lordis Aduocate, nor fra the pairtie offendit; bot onlie ane simpill Dittay but¹ taikimis, as fend fra the aduocate, delyuerit to him be Williane Somer-well, neir kinnisman to þe said Laird of Covingtoune. Thridlie, in respect of the saidis lettres of Affyse wer raisit be þe said Williame Somerwell, as wes notoure; and that þe officer executour of the samin confessit in jugement, that þe said Williame Somerwell gaif vp to him the names of Affyse, with the lettres; quhillkis wer summond be his directioun and at his desyre. Ferdlie, feing it is manifest, that inquisitione wes takin in this mater, at command of the Kingis Maiestie, be certane of the Loirdis of his hienes Priue Counsale, quhillkis now, be resoun of þe aduocattis absence, is suppressit and nocht produceit. Fyftlie, becaus the speciall pairtie and interest awner of þe saidis coirnis, mentionat in the saidis lettres and dittay, being ordanit be vertew þairof to be summond, wes nocht lawfullie warnit for his intres; in respect he wes nocht warnit quhill¹ 5esterday, eftir þe senfing of the Court, and the hour of caus neirly bypast; þe said day being assignit as peremptour, to þis persuit. And finallie, considering þat Mr James Lindesay and Robert Lindesay, sonis to þe Laird of Covingtoune, presentit þame selfis yesterday in jugement desyring þame to be put to þe knowlege of ane Affyse for þe said cryme, thay neir being atteichit, conuenit nor committit to waird; quik appiris ane grit noueltie, far by² þe accustumit ordour of this Court: and for diuerse vtheris ressonable causis and considderationis moveing him; specialie, becaus our said fouerane loirdis Precept commandit him to do justice in þe said mater, as occasioun fuld serue: Thairfoir continewit þe said mater, quhill he war awysit be the Kingis Maiestie and his hienes Secret Counfall pairanent: And ordanit þe said Laird of Covingtoune to be committit to waird within þe said Castell of Edinburghe.

¹ Without proofs or evidence in support of the averments therein contained.

The Laird of Covingtoun protestit, that he may be put to libertie, in respect he offerit him self, as said is, to the tryell of ane Affyse, and cawtioner for his entrie the thrid day of the Air or soner, vpoune xv dayis warning, vnder the pane of Fyve thousand pundis.

THE Justice continewit the mater quhill he be awysit, and ordanit him to be committit to waird.

[Mr Johnne Grahame and Mr Eduard Bruce, Justices-Deputes.]

Bigamy—Adultery.

Jan. 17, 1583-4.—ALEXANDER ABERCRUMBIE of Pitmeddene.

Dilaitit of the mareing (marrying) of twa wyffis, contrair the Actis of Parliament, and committing of Adulterie.

Continued to the Air of ‘Abirdene, tertio Itineris, vel xv dierum.’

[Mr Johnne Grahame, Justice-Depute.]

Fire-raising—Burning of Corns.

Feb. 1.—EDUARD MAXWELL of Tinwald, William Maxwell his sone.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the tresonabill birning of certane coirnis pertening to Robert Maxwell of Bratoch; committit vpoune the fyft day of Marche last-was.

‘Committit in waird to the Capitane of Blaknes.’

¹ Until.

² Beyond, contrary to.

PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannell.	PRELOQUITOURIS in perfute.	PERSEWARIS.
Robert Maxwell of Castelmilk,	Johnne Erl of Mortoun,	Robert Maxwell in Bratoch,
Johnne Maxwell in Portrak.	Lord Maxwell,	Mr David MacGill of Nisbet,
	Robert Maxwell of Duncowtedir.	aduocat.

Feb. 3.—Johnne Kirkpatrik appeirand of Ellisland, Robert Kirkpatrik of Bratoch, Roger Greirfoun of Lag, and fifteen others, fined in ‘fourtie pundis’ each, for absenting themselves from the Assyse; in consequence of which, the pannells were again ‘delyuerit to þe Capitane of Blaknes.’

Mar. 16.—They were recomitted, owing to non-summoning of a proper Assyse.

[Mr Williame Oliphant, Justice-Depute.]

Cattle-stealing—Perjury.

Feb. 10.—ARCHEBAULD CROSER, sone to Martene Croser.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the thiftuous steling, conseling, ressetting and away taking, fra George Ra and Thom Lindesay, travellouris, of lxx ky and oxin, cumand to Hallow-fair, in October 1582 3eiris; and of periurie and vther poyntis contenit in the Dittay.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mowth of Thomas Ker of Merfingtoune, stand and delyuerit the said Archebauld Croser to be culpabill, conuict and fylit.

SENTENCE. To be tane to ane gallous, besyde the mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and thair hangit quhill he wer deid; conforme to the lawis of the realme.

[Mr Johnne Grahame of Halzairdis, Justice-Depute.]

‘Erle of Gowries, Lord Ruthuenis and Dirktounis proces.’

May 4, 1584.—AT THE LADIE MARIS LUGEING IN STRIUELING, the ferd day of Maij, þe 3eir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxiiij 3eiris. In presens of the rycht honorabill Sir Lwes Bellenden of Auchnowle, knyght, Clerk of our souerane lordis Justiciarie, Robert Grahame of Chornik, Grahame, secund sone to Sir David Grahame of Fintrie, knyght, and Johnne Creychtoun, seruitour to the said Sir Lwes, witneffis in the mater and effect vnderwritin.

The quhilk day, compeirit in presens of Johnne Auchmowtie, and James Castellaw, bailleis of the burcht of Striueling, and me Mr James Bannatyne, Clerk Ordiner depute, in the office of Justiciarie and Notare publicet, ane discreit man, Mr Johnne Grahame of Halzairdis, quha in our presens, befor the witneffis foirsaidis, produceit our souerane lordis Commiffioun, vnder his hienes signet, off the dait, at the Castell of Striueling, the third day of Maij, the 3eir of God I^m.V^c. fourefcoir 3eiris foirfaid; makand him his Maieftis Justice, in that pairt, to fens and hauld Courtis of Justiciarie, for administratiounne of justice, vpoune quhatfumeuir perfoun or personis, tane, fufpect or dilaitit of the foir-knowledge, airt and pairt, of the treflonabill takking, fortefeing and withhauling of the burcht and Caftell of Striueling, and vtheris treflonabill and capitale crymes quhatfumeuir ; and conforme thairto, defyrrit the fanuin to be admittit, and him felf fworne, according to the ordour. Quha immediatlie thaireftir, in prefens of the faidis bailleis, me Notare and witneffis foirfaidis, be halding vp of his rycht hand, fwoir and gaif his ayth, that he fuld lelilie and trewlie ferue in the faid office of Iufticiarie, as Iuftice in that pairt, according to the tennour of the faid Commiffioun ; as he wald anfuer to our fouerane lord thairvpoun : And than incontinent cheft, creat and conftitut, Alexander Peblis meffinger, Alexander Craingalt and Johnne Hodge in Striueling, conjunctlie and fenerallie, in Officiaris ; and Robert Scott in Striueling, in Dempftare of Courteis of Iufticiarie ; thay being lykewayis fworne be thair grit aithis, gevin befoir the faid Iuftice, to ferue and minifter lelilie and trewlie in thair offices thairof, ilkane for thair awin pairtis, ay and quill thay be difchargeit, &c. Qubairvpoun, the faid Maifter Johne afkit instrumentis of me Notare publict and clerk foirfaid.

IT is much to be regretted, that during so important a part of the history of this country, the Criminal Record should be so defective. There are too good grounds for believing, that much of that valuable Record has been wilfully destroyed during this troublesome period. A great part of the earlier portion of those Volumes of the Books of Adjournal now extant, evidently consists of the 'Minute Books' of the Court. Accordingly, in the extraordinary matter of THE RAID OF RUTHVEN, no part of the procedure which took place under the above noticed Commission, is inserted in these Books. It was usual, no doubt, in these instances, for such Commissioners to report directly to the Privy Council, who had previously appointed the enquiry to take place ; and their proceedings did not of necessity, at least in that shape, form part of the proper Record of the Court of Justiciary. In other instances, however, the process of Treason and the Forfeiture was led before the three Estates of Parliament, and therefore could not enter the Books of Adjournal, unless ordained to be therein recorded. After diligent search, no trace of this Report is to be found amongst the Books or Warrants of the Register of the Privy Seal ; but fortunately, in the Parliamentary Record, Official Copies or 'Extracts' of the Verdicts and Processes of Forfeiture of the Earls of Morton and Gowrie are furnished, under the Attestations of William Stewart, junior Clerk of the Court of Justiciary, and of Sir Lewis Bellenden of Auchnoule, Lord Justice Clerk. Although the trial of the Earl of Morton thus occurs out of its regular chronological order, it has been thought proper to preserve it precisely as it has been inserted in the Books of Parliament.

‘ACT ratifeing the DOMES of FOIRFALTOUR led in Jugement aganis vniq^{le} JAMES sumtyme ERLL OF MORTOUN and WILLIAME sumtyme ERLL OF GOWRIE, convict of the crimis of Lefe-Majestie, and execute to the deith thairfoir.’¹

May 22.—IN prefence of the Kingis Maiestie and thrie Estatis convenit in this present Parliament, Maister David Makgill aduocat to our fouerane, prelocutour for his hienes, at his speciall command, schew and declarit, how thair is certane domes of Foirfalture gevin aganis certane personis for crymis of Lefe-maiestie ; speciallie, aganis vniq^{le} James sumtyme Erll of Mortoun and Williame sumtyme Erll of Gowrie : And becaus the memorie of tratouris fuld remane to the shame and slaunder of thame that ar cum of thame, and to be terrour to vtheris to committ þe like crymis in tyme cumming ; and becaus þe buikis of Adiornall may be tint and be oft handeling be worne away² and vperwayis the saidis domes of Foirfalture be destroyit ; desiring thairfoir, that it wald pleis his Maiestie and the saidis thrie Estatis to command the saidis domis of Foirfalture to be drawin out of þe buikis of Adiornall and attentictlie copeit, and the Kingis Maiesties great seall to be hung to the same ; and siclike, that þe saidis thrie Estatis fuld append thair seallis thairto, for the fortificatioun, approbatioun and confirmatioun thair of. The quhilke desyir the saidis thrie Estatis thocht verie reasounable, and be sensament of Parliament, thocht the same to be done and grantit, to append thair seallis to þe attentick extract of all Foirfalturis, baith gevin in Parliament and Justice courtis. Then incontinēt Sir Leues Ballenden of Ach-noull knyecht, Justice-clerk to our fouerane lord, produceit the attentick Extractes of the Domes of Foirfalture gevin aganis þe saidis vniq^{le} James sumtyme Erll of Mortoun and William sumtyme Erll of Gowrie ; to þe effect that þe famyn may be put and regiftrat in the buikis of Parliament to be extractit vnder our fouerane lordis great seall and the seallis of þe thrie Estatis, as said is. And attour our fouerane lord, with aduise and consent of þe saidis thrie Estatis, gaif command to Alexander Hay of Eifter Kennett, clerk of his hienes Register, to gif out þe attentict copy of the saidis Domis of Foirfalture, to pas as said is vnder his hienes great seall and vnder þe saidis thrie Estatis. Of the quhilkis Decretis of Foirfalture, gevin in our fouerane lordis Justice courtis, presentit as said is, and subseriuit be þe said Sir Leues Ballenden clerk of Justiciarie, and Williame Stewart zoungar, clerk be commissioun for þe tyme, respectiue, the tennour followis.

¹ From the Records of Parliament, Acta III., 304. ² The precaution thus judiciously taken, has been the means of preserving legal evidence of the procedure in these highly interesting cases.

CURIA JUSTICIARIE supremi domini nostri Regis tenta et inchoata in pretorio burgi de Edinburgh, primo die mensis Junij Anno Domini millesimo quingentesimo octuagesimo primo, per honorabiles et discretos viros Jacobum Strincling de Keir militem et Magistrum Joannem Grahame, commissarios in hac parte, per Commissionem s. d. n. Regis ac dominorum eius Secreti Consilij specialiter constitut. ad effectum subscriptum : Sectis vocatis et curia legitime affirmata.

Lese-Majesty — Murder of King Henry Darnley.

JAMES EARL OF MORTOUN LORD DALKEITH, &c.

JACOBUS COMES DE MORTOUN Dominus de Dalkeith, &c.

JUN. 1, 1581.—Accufatus, calumniatus, de arte, parte, preficientia, concealatione et non revelatione proditorie murthure quondam nobilissimi et chariffimi Henrici Regis Scotorum, patris f. d. n. Regis Jacobi sexti.

NOMINA ASSISE

Electe, jurate et admissæ super prefato Jacobo Comite de Mortoun, viz.

Colinus comes Argadie,	Joannes dominus Maxwell,	Joannes Gordoun de Locchinvar miles,
Joannes comes de Montroife,	Georgius dominus Setoun,
Andreas comes de Rothies,	Jacobus dominus Ogilvie,	Patricius Hepburne de Wachtoun,
Jacobus comes de Glencarne,	Jacobus dominus Inuermeith,	Patricius Lermonth de Daruesie miles,
Hugo comes de Eglintoun,	Hugo dominus Somervell,
Alexander de Sutherland comes,	Alex ^r Magister de Levingftoun,	Will ^e Levingftoun de Killyth miles.

The quhilk day the said James Erl of Mortoun being indytit and accusit, that in the monethis of Januar and Februar in the zeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxvj zeiris, he, accompaneit with vniq^{le} James funtyme Erl Bothuell, James Ormiftoun funtyme of that ilk, Robert alias Hop Ormiftoun his fader brother, Johne Hay funtyme of Tallo zoungar, Johne Hepburne callit Johne of Bewtoun and diuerse vperis his complices, craftelie and secretlie conspirit amaungis thame selfis, tratit, devisit and maliciousslie concludit the maist schamefull, detestable and vn-naturall murthour and patricide of our fouerane lordis vniq^{le} darrest father, Henrie King of Scottis, lawfull spous for þe tyme to his lienes darrest mother Marie than Quene of Scotland, and that within the burgh of Edinburgh, palace of Halieruidhous and vperis placeis thairabout : And to þe end he nicht bring his wikit, filthie and execrable attemptat better to pas, he, with the remanent personis afoirnamit, be thame selfis, thair seruandis, complices and vperis in thair namis, of thair causing, command, hounding, sending, pairtaking, assistance and rathabitoun, vpoun þe tent day of þe said moneth of Februar 1566 zeiris, at twa houris efter midnycht or thairby, come to þe lugeing beside þe Kirk of Feilde, within the said burgh of Edinburgh, quhair our said fouerane lordis darrest fader wes lugeit for þe tyme, and thair, be way of Hame-fukkin, brigancie and forthocht felony, maift vyldlie, vnmercifullie and treafounable flew and murtherit him, with Williame Tailleour and Andro MacAige his cubicularis,¹ quhan as they, burijt in fleip, wes takand the nichtis reft ; brint his hail lugeing foirfaide, and raft the fame in þe air be force of gun-pulder, quhilk a litill befor wes placeit and inputt be him and his foirfaidis vnder þe ground and angular ftanis and within the voltis, laiche and darne² pairtis and placeis thairof to that effect : And rycht fua, he, with þe remanent perfonis afoirnमित, marrowis³ of his mischeiff, be thame felffis, thair fervandis, complices and vþeris in thair namis, of thair caufing, commanding, hounding, fending and airt, pairt-taking, affiftance and rathabitoun, at þe tymis foirfaidis, refpectiue, gaif thair fauour, counfell and help to þe preparatioun of the faid horrible crymis : And ay fenfyne, hes fimulat, hid, [and] concealit the famyn in maift treafounable and fcrete maner ; and thairthrow had incurrit the panis of Lefe-maieftie and fuld haue bene pvniffit thairfoir with all rigour, be tynfell⁴ [of] landis and guidis and be extinctioun of fame, titillis, honour and memorie ; conforme to þe lawis of this realme. Likas, the remanent perfonis afoirnमित, his complices and confpiratouris with him in thir his treafounable impieties, wer alreadie tryit and foirfaltit for the fame-felff hienous and deteftable crymis ; and for the maift pairt, as they culd be apprehendit, had sufferit maift fhamefull deade thairfoir, according to thair deseruing. As at mair lenth is contenit in the Dittay gevin in anent the premisses, with the takinis and probationis produceit and vfit thairwith. Qubilkis being red to the faid James Erll of Mortoun and he anfuerand thairto, denyit the famyn ; be reafoun quhairof, the faidis Justice-deputtis refferit the famyn to the knowlege of þe Inqueift and Affife abonewrittin, quha wes fworne, refautit and admittit in prefence of the faid Erll.

VERDICT. And they being furth of Court removit and ryplie aduifit with the faid Dittay, takinis infallible and maift evident, with þe probationis produceit and vfit for verefeing thairof ; and thairefter enterand agane in Court, they all in ane voce, be þe pronunceing of þe mouth of Johne Erll of Montroife, Chancellair chofin be þe faid Affife, fyllit the faid James Erll of Mortoun of airt, pairt, foirknowlege and conceling of þe treafounable and vnnaturall murthour foirfaid.

SENTENCE. Efter þe quhilk convictioun, the faidis Justice-deputtis, be pronunciatioun of Andro Lyndfay dempftar of þe faid Court, adiugeit and for Dome gaif, That þe faid James Erll off Mortoun fuld be had to ane geibbett, befide þe mercatt-croce of the faid burgh of Edinburgh, and thair hangit⁵ quhill he wer dead ; and thairefter drawin, quartarit and demanit as ane tratour :⁶ And that all his landis, heretageis, offices and poffeffionis, takis, ftedingis, cornis, cattell, actionis, debtis, obligationis, guidis, movable and vmmovable and vperis quhatfumeuir, quhilkis pertenet to him, fuld and aucht apertene to our fouerane lord and to be applyit to his vfe be reafoun of efcheat of foirfalture, to be vptakin, vfit and difponit be his lienes at his pleafour.

¹ Grooms of the bed-chamber. ² Hidden, concealed. ³ Equals, partners. ⁴ Loss, deprivation.

⁵ Spotswood, p. 314, states that the King mitigated the sentence to beheading, &c. The Confession of the Earl of Morton shall be inserted in the Appendix. ⁶ Although burial was allowed, and 'his

Vpon the quhilk premisses Mr Robert Crychtoun of Eliok, advocatt to our fouerane lord, askit instrumentis and actis of Court.

EXTRACTUM ex actis Curie Justiciarie antedictae per me Willelmum Stewart Junioyem notarium publicum et clericum diete Curie, per Commissionem dicti s. d. n. Regis antedicti. specialiter electum et juratum, sub meis signo et subscriptione manualibus. Ita est,

WILLELMUS STEWART Junior
notarius publicus ac scriba diete Curie.

CURIA JUSTICIARIE S. D. N. REGIS tenta in Edificio Domine Mar, infra burgum de STRUETING, quarto die mensis Maij, anno domini millesimo quingentesimo octuagesimo quarto, per discretum virum Magistrum Joannem Grahame de Halzairdis Justiciarum in hac parte virtute Commissionis s. d. n. Regis specialiter constitut. : Sectis vocatis et curia legitime affirmata.

Reise-Majesty—Raid of Ruthven—Treasonably taking Burgh and Castle of Stirling, &c.

WILLIAME EARL OF GOWRIE LORD RUTHVEN.

May 4, 1584.—The quhilk day Williame Erll of Gowrie Lord Ruthven, being presentit and enterit vpon pannell, in presence of þe said Justice, and put to þe knowlege of ane condigne Assise of þe rycht honorable perfonis following, to witt :

ASSISA.

Coline Erll of Argyll,	James Erll of Arrane,	Williame Lord Levingftoun,
David Erll of Crawford,	George Erll of Mershell,	Patrik Lord Drummound,
Johne Erll of Montroife,	Alexander Lord Saltoun,	James Lord Ogilvie,
James Erll of Glencarne,	Hew Lord Somervell,	Alexander Maifter of Elphingftoun,
Hew Erll of Eglintoun,	James Lord Downe,	Sir Johnne Murray of Tillibardin, k'.

Dilatit and accufit of the treafounable crymis following, wes, be thair deli-corps carried by some base fellows to the common sepulchre, his head was fixed on the Tolbooth. The king afterwards granted the following Warrant to take down the head, which is preserved in the archives of the City of Edinburgh :

'REX. Prouest and baillies of our burgh of Edinburgh, We greit 3ow weil. It is our will and We command 3ow, that incontinent efter the sicht heirof, 3e tak down the heid of James sum tyme Erle of Mortoun of the pairt quhair it now is placeit, vpon 3our awld tolbuith ; swa that the sam heid may be bureit : For the quhilk this our lettre fall be to 3ow sufficient warrant. Subferyvit with our hand, At Halyrudhous, the aucht day of December, and of our reigne the sextene 3eir, 1582.'

uerance, pronouneit be þe mouth and deliuerance of George Erll of Mershell, Chancellair of the said Affise, found and declarit culpable and convict : That forsamekill as, in the beginning of Februar lastwes, Mr Dauid Home seruitour to þe Erll of Angus, and Mr James Erskyne seruitour to the Erll of Mar, come to him privile, vnder silence of nycht, within þe toun of Perth, and declarit to him how they wer directit be þe saidis tua Erllis, to certifie vnto him, that they wer baith of ane mynd, in following out and executing of thair treafounable devise, in taking of þe kingis burrowis of Sterling and Perth, at lest þe ane or the vper of thame : At the quhilk tyme, he aggreit with thame, in maner of the saidis Erllis, to rin thair cours in taking and fortefeing of þe townis foirfaidis, at þe least ane or vper off thame : Quhairefter, þe said Mr James reid¹ bak agane to þe said Erll of Angus, and affurit him, that he had aggreit to thair maist treafounable interprise. And thairthrow, he hes committit maist manifest Treafoun, not onlie in concealing of ane treafounable purpos of sa greit consequence, bot also mekill mair, in consenting and aggreing. ITEM, fyllit and convict, that forsamekill as, he vnderstanding that Mr James Erskyne, seruant to the Erll of Mar, wes travelland throw þe cuntrie, in Stratherne, Striulingshire and Angus, treatand and consultand with þe partakeris and assistaris with þe saidis Johne Erll of Mar, Archibald Erll of Angus,² Thomas Lyoun Maister of Glamis and Johnne Carmichaell of that Ilk 3oungar, vpoun thair treafounable interprise, in taking of the Kingis Maiesties frie burgh and Castell of Striueling and dyuerse vther treafounable purposes, he layit þe wayis for the said Maister James and garrit await for him be his seruandis, that þe said Mr James might be convoyit to him : And efter his cumming to him, þe said Erll enterit in conference with him, towardis the treafounable interprise attemptat be the personis abonewritin, towardis the said treafounable surprising and taking of þe said (burgh) and Castell. Quhilk treafounable interprise they brocht to effect, and reafounable tuik (the) faid toun and Castell of Striueling, fortefeit and furniffit the faid Castell with men and (munitionis?): Quhairthrow, he affittit thame in thair treafounable deid foirfaid and wes foirknawin of þe famyn, and wes art, pairt, red and counfell thairof; at least, treafounable concealit þe fame fra his Maieftie, contrair to his dewtie and dew obedience. ITEM, of the difobedience maid be him, in not randerin of Williame Drummoundis hous in Dundie to my Lord of Pettinweme, ane of our fouerane lordis Previe Counfell and Capitane of his hienes garde, efter þe intimatioun of our foueran lordis Commiffioun to him, maid be þe faid lord Commiffionair; bot keping the fame be þe ſpace of thrie houris or thairby thairefter. ITEM, of committing of ane maift hie Treafoun, in concealing of ane purpos of wechtie importance, quhairthrow þe lyif and eftait not onlie of our fouerane lord, bot alfo of his darreft mother be perrellit; quhilk had fallin out, gif he had not stayit and impedit it: And fua, not onlie maift vnnaturallic and treafounable committing maift hie Treafoun, in concealing of ane purpois of fa wechtie importance, bot alfo perfifting in the faid Treafoun, be continowance of his filence and not declaring of þe faid purpos, tending to þe perrell of his Maiefties lyf and eftate.

¹ Rode. ² ' Ane Act anent the arreisting, intromission and sequestratioun of þe eschaet guidis and debtis of þe rebellis befor they be convict or put to the horn ;' immediately follows the Act of Ratification of ' the domes of Foirfaltour ' above quoted, and states, that ' forsamekle as be Act of Parliament it is provided, that gif ony persoun or personis beis slanderit or suspect of Treafoun, they salbe tane and remane in firmance and thair guidis vnder fuir borrowis, quhill the tyme they haue tholit ane Affise quhidder they be quyt or foull : And trew it is and of veritie, that Archibald Erll of Angus, Johnne Erll of Mar, Mr Thomas Lyoun of Baldukie Maister of Glamis, with thair complices, quhilk laitlie tuik and detenit his hienes burgh and Castell of Striueling, rasand oppin weir aganis his hienes and his auctoritie, ar sensyne pairtliche fled and remanis out of þis realme, and pairtliche remanis hid and coverit within the same vnapprehendit as zit, &c. ' And they and thair freindis and fauoraris in the meantyme fellis, annaleis, disponis, cancellis and puttis away thair guidis, geir and debtis, and gevis acquittancis and dischargetis to thair dettouris, in manifest defraud of our souerane lord anent thair eschaetis ; sua that litill or na thing thairof salbe left to cum to his hienes vse and behalff, gif þe intromission of þe samyn be left, quhill they be convict or put to þe horne for þe said treafounable crymis : Thairfor our said souerane lord, with anise of his thrie Estatis, hes statute and ordinit, that all thair guddis, gear and debtis, maillis, fermis, rentis, &c. fall remane sequestrat in the handis of the Lord Thesaurar, ay and quhill thay salbe tryit quite or fowll of the saidis crymes, ' &c.

SENTENCE. And thairfoir the ſentence and dome of Foirfalture wes pronunceit aganis the faid Erll, be þe mouth of Robert Scott in Striueling, dempftar of þe faid Court; That þe faid Erll fuld be tane to þe ſkaffald beſide the mercatt-croce of Striueling, and thair his heid ſtrikkin fra his body and demanit as ane tratour: And that he hes foirfaltit and tint all his landis, heretageis, poſſeſſionis, takis, ſtedingis, offices, lyfrentis, actionis, debtis and vþeris guidis movable and vnmovable, to be applyit, vptakin and diſponit be our fouerane lord at his pleaſour, and to remane with him and his ſuceſſouris for euer, be reaſoun of eſchaet and foirfalture; as the proces maid thairvpoun beris.

EXTRACTUM de libris Actorum Adiornalis dicti s. d. n. Regis, tanquam ſententia Forisfacture dicti Comitis, per me Ludouicum Bellenden de Achnoull militem clericum Iuſticiarie eiusdem generalem, ſub meis ſigno et ſubſcriptione manualibus. LUDOUICUS BELLENDEN clericus Iuſticiarie.

1584.—APUD EDINBURGHE, vigesimo die menſis Auguſti anno domini 1584, s. d. n. Rege ipſo preſente, cum tribus regni ſtatibus; vnacum Johanne Irwing, deputato Mariscallj, Willelmo Henryſoun deputato Conſtabularij, et Magiſtro Johanne Arthour deputato Vicecomitis de Edinburgh, ac Andrea Lindsay Adiudicatore¹ officiarijs Parliamentj: Sectis prius vocatis et Curia affirmata.

¹ Dempſtar, deemſter.

Raid of Ruthven—Forfeiture of the Earls of Angus and Mar,¹ &c.

(Aug. 20.)—The quhilk day, Mr David Makgill of Nesbet, aduocate to our fouerane lord, productit ane Summondis of Tressfoun, dewlie execut and indorfit aganis Archibald Erle of Angus, Johne Erle of Mar, Dame Agnes Drummond Countes of Mar his spous, Dame Annabill Murray Countes of Mar his mother, Mr Thomas Lyoun of Baldeukey, Maister (and Tutour) of Glames, Dame Agnes Gra Ladie Home his spous, Dame Margaret Lyon Countes of Cassillis, Dame Dorthia Stewart Countes of Gowry, Adame (Erskine) Commendater of Cambuskymethe, Dauid (Erskine) Commendater of Driburgh, Williame (Erskine) Commendater of Paflay, Mr James Erskene brother to Robert Erskene of Lytill Sauchy, Johne Leslie of Buchane, Michael and William Elphingstonis, brether to the Lord Elphinstoun, George Dowglas of Park, James and George Dowglasse pair fouis, James Dowglas of Todhoillis, Johne Dowglas of Glaspene, William Dowglas of Boncle, (Williame) Dowglas his sone and apperand air, Robert Dowglas 3oungar of Lochlevin, Laurence Maister of Oliephant, Johne Maister of Forbes, Patrik Drummond apperand of Carnok, Johne Levingstoune 3ounger of Dynnypace, Johne Carmichaell 3ounger of that Ilk, Hew Carmichaell his sone, Williame Carmichaell of Rowntriecorce, Johne Lyoun 3ounger of Coffynis, James Lyoun of Eifter Ogill, Williame Lyoun of Balgellie, Hew Nesbet of Raschill, Patrik Home of Argaties, Johne Leslie of Largie, Johne Leslie of Authorteis alias Bannachy, James Hammiltoun of Haggis, Robert Hammiltoun of Corfe, Arthour Hammiltoun of Boithuelhauche, Mr Johne Coluill, chantour of Glasgw, Mr Patrik Quhitlaw of Newgrange, Johne Arbuthnocht of Lyntusk, James Murray of Pardowis, Vthreid M^cDowgall of Gartheland elder, Vthreid M^cDowgall of Garthland 3ounger, and Robert Eskene of Lytill Sauchy: Qubairby they were summoned to haue comperit befor the Kingis Maiestie and his Estaitis of Parliament this instant day, with continewatioun dayis, ffor certane crymes of Tressfoun contenit in the summondis rasit thairvpoun.

DITTAY against the EARLS OF ANGUS and MAR and their accomplices.

..... super proditorijs criminibus sequentibus dictis, scilicet, ARCHIBALDUM ANGUSIE et JOHANNEM MARRIE COMITES, suosque complices et alios specialiter ante nominatos, et eorum quemlibet, pro suis recentibus proditorijs Conspirationibus earundemque executionibus, modo subsequenti. QUANDOQUIDEM palam constat et est notum, quod in mense Aprilij, anno dominij millesimo quingentesimo septuagesimo octavo, immediate post acceptum imperij regimen in nostram personam, matura statuum nostrorum habita deliberatione, dum nos infra dictum

¹ Records of Parliament, Acta III., 332.

Castrum nostrum de Striveling permaneremus, Quodquidem tunc temporis fidissimj et predilectj nostrj Alexandrj Erskin de Gogar custodie commissum fuit, qui trium statuum nobilium et consulum nostrorum unanimi consensu, ex antiqua et nobilitate prestanti familia de Erskin oriundus et dicta cura dignus comprobatus est: Prefatus vero Johannes Marrie Comes, nihil jam prisce fidelitatis retinens om . . . arbitrio suo statuens ob horrenda facinora pre se nunc commissa declinans indignus omnium visus, idem ipsum nostrum Castellum proditorie ceptum, dictusque Alexander Erskin eiusdem Capitaneus violenter depulsus et remotus, cum diuersis alijs nobilibus viris, per nostrum Consilium deputatis nobiscum permanere, pro nostre persone firmiori tutela et rei publice vniuersę conseruatione, idque summa vi et violentia illata per antedictos Johannem Marrie Comitem, Dauidem Erskin Commendatarium de Dryburgh, Adamum Erskin Commendatarium de Cambuskyneth, Wilhelmum Commendatarium de Paislay, Robertum Erskin apparentem de Littill Sauchye, Magistrum Jacobum Erskin eius fratrem suosque complices, qui subito domesticos nostros seruitores ad voluntatis sue libitum amouerunt; alios vero sibi cognatos et sue factionis homines assumpserunt; certo proposito et animo deliberato, eorum subiectiōni nos perpetuo damnare et retinere; nunc hos vt sibi optimum visu erat promouere, nunc illos nostros nobiles et fideles ligeos prosequi odio et opprimere: Atqui in hoc facinore nedum suo sanguinj et cognatis pepercerunt, quorum partim merore perculsi mortem obierunt; neque in atrocissima fidelium nostrorum cruoris effusione modum ac modestiam vallam habuerunt, presertim infra portas dicti nostri Castrj, licet (in eo nobis residentibus) idem et campus omnis vndeque quatuor milliarijs proxime circumiacens, pacis propugnaculum, ara et asylum semper extitit et est. Quod facinus proditorium, presatus Comes sui que complices, tanquam probum opus approbari volentes, nos prefecto violenter per ipsos detentos Parliamentum statuere et tenere infra dictum Castrum compulerunt, erga mensem Julij anno antedicto, cuiusquidem Castrj tunc sese superiores et magistrōs modo supra scripto effecerunt, nosque contra animi nostri desiderium armorum presidio circumvallatos ibidem detinuerunt; qui certe locum Parlamento tenendo semper inidoneus est visus, quandoquidem more maiorum et veteri obseruata consuetudine, Parlamento in locis et vrribus accessui et recessui liberis tenenda sunt, vbj nobilium ac trium regni statuum vnusquisque libere loqui et suffragia dare possit; non vero in Castris, arcibus et fortalicijs, ipsorum vestibulis, portis et januis vndique armorum militum presidio circumceptis, per dictum Comitem ad hunc effectum deputat. nobilium autem ac statuum ne vllō quidem ingredi permisso sed tali comitante caterua vt prefato Comiti suis complicibus et deputatis antedictis cui ingressum patefieri perpeti collibuit, Protestatione etiam accepta tunc contra ordinem et locum tenendi Parliamentum: In quo tamen, pro se suisque complicibus prelibatis, antedictum suum proditorium nefas vt fidele seruitium approbari obtinuit, atque hec omnia in amplificandam gratiam et promotionem talium confecta sunt. Qui nefande quondam charissimi patris nostri murthure perpetratores extiterunt, scilicet, quondam Jacobi olim Mortonie Comitum aliorumque sociorum, qui convicti pro eodem scelere debitam et consuetam proditorum mortem digne perpeffi sunt. Postea ob communem reipublice quietem nostrique salutem prescripto audace periclitantem dictum Comitem de Mar, nobis intimum tanta benevolentia sumus amplexi, premijs et largitionibus munificentissimis, pre reliquis nobilibus, ipsum abunde remunerati eius pristinam dignitatem amplificauimus, quo certius ac melius eum nobis ac debito erga nos officio deuinciremus, in tali saltem fidelitate et singulari obseruantia qua suus olim pater patruusque Alexander Erskin antenominatus alijque sui primores nos nostrosque progenitores nobilissimos perpetuo ante, summa diligentia coluerunt: Atqui ille aduersum nos nostramque mentem institutum aliud nefarie et audacter prosequens, salubribus nostris consilijs quo se corrigeret et prodicionibus hujusmodi abstineret sepius adhibitis minime auscultans, Seditiones tamen vltra concitare et jurgia fouere, ne villo tempore destitit qua occasione permoti, nostri fideles subditi sese armatos in vnum compulerunt nobili nostra persona in dicto Castro, tanquam in carcere, per antedictum Comitem et suos complices detenta et custodita, modo supra scripto, vt in quo statu essemus et qua valetudine fruermur intelligerent, ac pro nostra salute et libertate ipsorum vitas periclitari et corpora morti obijcere non desinerent: Quocirca apud Falkirk conuenerunt in mense Augusto anno predicto; quoquidem tempore dicti Marrie, Mortonie et Angusie Comites siueque complices, nostram nobilem personam ipsorum potestati subjugatam in Castro nostro detinentes vt predictur inuitos nos compulerunt Proclamationes dirigere ad conueniendum nostros liegeos vnde per probam affectionem qua dicti nostri fideles subditi in recuperanda nostra libertate alliciti erant: Et per publicam Proclamationem cum obtemperantes alii nostri ligij se conuenerunt, dicti Comites et sui complices effecerunt quod in ijs possibile factu erat, vt huius regni subditorum partem alteram ad reliquorum extremam perniciem et necem eruentam, in arma subito irruere et prelium inire allicerent: Quo facilius hec patria, persona nostra nobilis, status publicus et auctoritas regia cuius externe gentij et inimicis preda procliuior fieret, nisi nos singulari omnipotentis Dei sapientia et prouidentia diuinitus nobis concessa repleti, dictas turbas tumultusque concitatos mox comprimeremus et sedaremus. PRETEREA dicti Marrie et Angusie Comites, in proditorijs suis ceptis perseverantes, suosque complices in eisdem fontes, prestiterunt; precipue, vbi dictus quondam Jacobus olim Mortonie Comes, de arte, parte, prescientia et conelatione horribilis et nefarie necis quondam charissimj nostri patris conscius dilatatus, ideoque in Castro nostro de Edinburgh incarceratus et paulo post hinc transportari in Castrum nostrum de Dunbartane iussus fuit, prefati Archibaldus Angusie Comes, Johannes Carmichall de eodem junior, Hugo Carmichall eius filius, Georgius Dowglas de Parkheid, Jacobus et Georgius Dowglas eius filij, proditorio more conspirantes, molientes et concludentes, violentam interceptionem et ablationem dicti quondam Comitis e manibus fidelium nostrorum subditorum ad ipsius conductionem per nos assignatorum, specialem nostram Commissionem ad hoc habentium : Idque in mense Januario, anno domini millesimo quingentesimo octuagesimo, sese in unum omnes cum suis complicibus, more bellico accincti, conveniebant, juxta rupes de Bred, ea intentione et ex certo proposito vt prefatum quondam Comitem interciperent, apprehenderent et vi armata auferrent. Quemadmodum etiam direxerunt quondam Archibaldum Dowglas olim Constabularium Castrum de Edinburgh, qui nuper morte multatus est, jubentes eum significare et ducem dicti Castrum certiore facere, vt dictum quondam Comitem retineret ac obseruaret apud se ; nostro interim iussu ipsum transportandi vt predicatur plane dato : Hinc manifestissime crimen Proditionis et Lesa Maiestatis committendo. Et ob hec pleraque alia proditoria scelera, dictus Angusie Comes sui que complices ante nominati, in Parlamento nostro tento apud Edinburgh, in mense Octobris anno domini millesimo quingentesimo octuagesimo primo Conuicti et sforiffacti decernebantur. Prefatus tamen Johannes Marrei Comes certo intelligens dictum Angusie Comitem ea frui conditione et ob causas prescriptas nostrum incurrisse indignationem, ipsum nihilominus in Castrum nostrum de Sterling intronisit, recepit, familiari tractauit, pactiones, Conspiraciones, diuersas consultationes et conclusiones secum iniit et deliberauit ; in magnum nostri contemptum totius patrie communisque pacis perturbationem atque adeo ne adhuc satisfactus ; immo ultra persistens, non modo in regni huius vniuersam subuersionem, sed nostre quoque salutis et auctoritatis regie periculum intulit. Postquam, Deo optimo maximo fauente, noster confanguineus fidelis honestus, virtutis exuperancia prestans et Christiane Religionis professor sincerus, quondam Esmus Leuine Dux, charissimus noster amicus, e sua natia patria Gallia profectus, se huc appulit inuolabilem ob ingentem zelum sue erga nos obseruantie : In qua, cum se fidissimum, integerrimum et obsequentissimum declarauerat, et in nos fidelis animi sui officio probe functus esset, proditorum scelerum et Coniurationum prescriptarum male conscios sese intelligentes, in eisdem inuestigandis patefaciendis que, metuentes prefatum quondam nobilem dominum Ducem graniter operam adhibiturum ob nostram salutem et incolumitatem atque ipsius sedulitate et integritate, reliquos Coniurationis impetus et conatus retardari pertimescentes pergere, nunquam destiterunt donec proditorie conspirarent : Cum quondam Wilhelmo olim Comite Gowrie domino Ruthwene, nobilem nostram personam apprehendere et captam detinere apud Castrum illius de Ruthwene, et hoc super vicesimo tertio die mensis Augustj, anno dominj millesimo quingentesimo octuagesimo secundo ; eodemque tempore fidos et dilectos nostros. Consules aliosque probos ligeos nobis inferuire appropinquantes, pro ipsorum internecone et cede, crudelissime inuasērunt et vulnerarunt ; tunc quoque Consulū et aliorum fidelium subditorum nostrorum quosdam captiuos ceperunt et custodierunt, ordinarios remouerunt, Precepta nostra, nobis repugnantibus, dicto quondam charissimo et fidelissimo nostro consanguineo dirigere impulerunt, eum inaudita celeritate huius regni finibus exterminandum curauerunt, personam nostram ad sui animi libidinem et desiderium (magna suorū fociorū caterua) stipatam, huc atque illuc deduxerunt per spaciū decem mensium deinde sequentium : Instituto certissimo et mente deliberata hujusmodi jugo seruitutis imperpetuum nos implicare et retinere, nisi ineffabili Omnipotentis benenolentia et auxilio nosmet ipsos hinc abdicaremus vicesimo sexto die mensis Junij proxime elapsis. QUE impia facinora jam explorata et proditōnes nefande jam patefacte, certissima sūt indicia et argumenta, ipsos ab initio fuisse fautores, defensores et promotores, talium qui reuera conspirauerunt contractum inierunt, subscripserunt et perpetrauerunt crudelissimam charissimi quondam nostri patris cedem. QUAMOBREM quidam ab hinc mortem condigne vt prescribitur perpeffi sūt : Ex supradictis etiam sole meridiano clarius patet, eos ipsos maliciose et maxime proditorie contra nos, nostram salutem, dignitatem, coronam et auctoritatem regiam, semper coniurauisse, clementia tamen ineffabilj humanitate modestiaque tanta in libertatis nostre recuperatione leniter sumus vsi, vt proditorie illius nostre captiuitatis et diurne custodie, ne quispiam author aut capitis periculum aut terrarum, bonorum jacturam vllam sustinuisse aut incurrisse videatur ; atque adeo prescripta scelera omnia et proditōnes impiissime per dictos Angusie et Marrie Comites suosque focios, consceleratos proditores particulariter ante nominatos, commisse, misericordia et lenitate nostra florescente, partim tunc temporis, venia data, obumbrate et inulte preterierunt, partim in dicto Parlamento in prefato Castro tento pro fidei seruitio approbate, alioquin naturali clementia et mansuetudine nostra remisse simpliciter et imperpetuum obliuioni tradite condonabantur : Quibus benemeritis et gratitudinibus cuiuspiam fidelis et grati subdit(i ?) montem (mentem ?) concitarj ac inflammari maxime decuit non modò manibus pedibusque ob . . . omnia facere vt vicissim obsequij sui et debite erga nos obseruancie fructum aliquod perciperemus, quinetiam cuius flagitio et proditorio sceleri nobis nostre auctoritati et liegibus repugnanti sese totis viribus opponere et oblectari summopere oportuit. NIHILOMINUS, contemptis et spretis hiscē omnibus, prefatus Archibaldus Angusi Comes, Johannes Comes de Mar, Agnetam Drummond Comitissa de Mar, eius sponsa, Annibalem Murray Comitissa de Mar senior mater dictj Comitj, Thomas Lyoune de Baldukye Magister et Tutor de Glammis, Agnis Gray Domina Hwme eius sponfa, Margareta Lyoune Comitiffa de Caffillis eius foror, Dorothis Stewart Comitiffa de Gowrie, Daud Erskin Commendatarius de Dryburgh, Adamus Erskin Commendatarius de Cambuskynmeth, Wilelmus Erskin Commendatarius de Paiflay, Joannes Carmichall de eodem junior, Hugo Carmichall eius filius, Patricius Drummond apparens de Carnok, Johannes Leflie de Balquhane, Magifter Wilelmus Leflie eius frater, Wilelmus Leflie (Robertus Erskin?) apparens de Littil Sauchye, Magifter Jacobus Erskin eius frater, Georgius Dowglas de Parkheid, Jacobus Dowglas et Georgius Dowglas eius filij, Jacobus Dowglas de Todhoillis, Johannes Dowglas de Glaspin, Wilelmus Dowglas de Boncle, Wilelmus Dowglas eius filius, Wilelmus Dowglas de Rountrecorfe, Wilelmus Connyghame filius natu fecundus dominij Drumquhaffill, Michael et Wilelmus Elphingftones fratres Robertj dominij de Elphingftoun, Johannes Lyoun junior de Coffynnis, Jacobus Lyoun de Eifter Ogill, Wilelmus Ogill (Lyoun) de Balgillie, Johannes Levingftoune de Dunypace junior, Magifter Johannes Coluile precentor de Glasgow, Magifter Patricius Quhitelaw de Newgrange, Hugo Nefbit de Rafchelhill, Patricius Home de Argatheis, Johannes Leflie de Largie, Johannes Leflie de Authorteis alias Bannachie, Robertus Dowglas junior de Lochlevin, Laurentius Magifter de Oliphant, Vthredus M'Dowgell de Garthland, Vthredus M'Dowell eius filius et heres apparens, Jacobus Hammiltoune de Haggis, Robertus Hammiltoun de Corfe, Johannes Magifter de Forbes, Johannes Arbuthnot junior de Lyntusk, Arthurus Hammiltoun de Boithuelhauch, Jacobus Murray de Pardoves, &c. Cum fuis complicibus, focijs et fautoribus, ex ipforum caufatione, directione, miffione, receptione, juffu, affiftentia et ratihabitione, perfeuerantes in fuis proditorijs determinationibus et conclufionibus aduerfum nos, noftram perfonam, auctoritatem et regiam coronam fufceptis, in menfibus Novembris, Decembris, Januarij, Februarij, Marcij et Aprilis proxime elapfis, maxime proditorie intercommunicarunt, tractauerunt, confultauerunt, deliberarunt, et mediantibus quibusdam perfonis, tandem concluferunt cum dicto quondam Wilemo olim Comite Gowrye, fuper nefanda et proditoria actione, ad intercipiendum et manus violentas imponendum in perfonam noftram nobilem, vt iterum more folito, eorum ditioni et potefitati facilius nos aftricti contra noftrę mentis libitum, ipforum voluntati et libidini omnino obtemperaremus, atque adeo ad eruentas manus inferendum in perfonas noftrorum nobilium Confulum et fidelium fubditorum perniciem, ad vniverfam rei publice difturbationem et authoritatis noftrę fubuerfionem. Poft multas tandem priuatas Conjuraciones, literarum hinc inde miffionem et receptionem per nuncios habitam cognitionem et proditorias ac nefarias fuas confpirationes facilius ad effectum perducerent, demum antedicti proditores fuique complices, decimo feptimo, decimo octauo, decimo nono, vicefimo, vicefimo primo, vicefimo fecundo, vicefimo

tertio, viceſimo quarto, et viceſimo quinto diebus menſis Aprilis ultimo elapſis, in unum armati conuenerunt, ac liberum burgum noſtrum de Striveling expugnarunt et ceperunt, Balliuos magiſtratusque eiufdem captiuos deduxerunt, Pontem, campanile, diuerſasque partes dicti burgi fortiter munierunt, mercerarios milites conuocauerunt vndique juxta Auftralia menia viam facilem per vicinos parietes adiacentes patefecerunt, prope ſcholam murum faxis et lapidibus congeſtis extruxerunt, cuius pars ad huc indiuiſa permanet, Caſtrum noſtrum de Striveling ſumma vi ſtrenuo oppugnarunt, paucos noſtros fideles ligeos eiufdem cuſtodes idem ipſum derelinquere et ſeſe dedere compulerunt, quos deinde tanquam captiuos aretiſſime mandauerunt cuſtodie, Johannem Gledſtanes Ormond Signeferum, alioſque noſtros nuncios, qui literas noſtras publice proclamare apud forum dieti liberi noſtri burgi dirigebantur, eaſdem debite executioni mandare impediuerunt, atque eas ab ipſis violenter furripuerunt, Proclamationes publicas fieri ad milites ſtipendiarios conducendum effecerunt; expreſſe contra Parliamentj Statuta, et in manifeſtam legum violationem: Perpetraſque hiſce omnibus nedum flagitijs faginati aut fatiſſacti, prefatum noſtrum Caſtrum de Sterling armatis viris, promiſſionibus bellicis ac cibarijs compleuerunt, et ſtrenuo munierunt, certo propoſito et animo deliberato idem ipſum contra nos auctoritatemque noſtram regiam pertinaciter et proditorie detinere ac tueri. Quaquidem occasione merito, nos commoti, ad expugnationem et recuperationem dicti Caſtri et burgi, exercitum ſedulo conuocauimus atque ipſi diligenter proceſſimus: hinc audacter et temerarie crimen ſumme proditiſſionis et Leſemaieſtatis committendo, in magnum noſtre auctoritatis contemptum et legum violationem. Atque adeo, pro ſua proditoria celatione et occultatione predictae Coniurationis, conſultatione, conſeſſione, contractu et executione eiufdem: IDEOQUE dictos Archibaldum Anguſtie Comitem, Johannem Comitem de Mar, Agnetam Drummond Comitiffam de Mar eius ſponſam, Annibalem Murray Comitiffam de Mar ſeniores, matrem dicti Comitis, &c. Conſpiratores, proditoriosque executores ad videndum et audiendum ſeſe et eorum quemlibet, reſpectu premiſſorum, crimen Leſemaieſtatis incurriſſe, per nos et trium regni noſtri ſtatuum decretum decerni et declarari; et ſuper predictis et alijs quamplurimis rebellionibus, tranſgreſſionibus et proditorijs criminibus, per prenomiſſas perſonas contra nos regnum noſtrum et auctoritatem regiam impie ac nefarie perpetratis; et dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, proponendis et oſtendendis ac juri parendum et ſuper huiusmodi iudicium noſtrum et noſtri Parliamenti, ſecundum leges regni noſtri expectandum et ſubendum, dictas viz perſonas, Conſpiratores, perpetratores et celatores eriminum precedentium reſpectiue, ad videndum et audiendum ſeſe et eorum quemlibet, intuitu premiſſorum, crimen Leſemaieſtatis incurriſſe, per nos et trium regni noſtri ſtatuum decretum decerni et declarari; et propterea ipſorum bona mobilia et immobilia, tam terras quam officia, aliasque res ad eos spectantes, nobis confiscari et perpetuo nobiscum in proprietate remanere, personarumque suas penam prodicionis et ultimi supplicii a regni nostri legibus inflictam subire: Et verius in premissis respondendum et imparendum intimando supra dictis Conspiratoribus et eorum cuilibet, quod siue dictis die et loco cum continuatione dierum comparuerunt siue non, Nos dictusque nostri Justiciarius, in premissis iusticia mediante, procedemus et procedet. INSUPER citetis, &c. ad comparandum coram nobis nostrorum Justiciario dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, ad perhibendum fidele testimonium in causa predicta, sub pena legis: et presentes literas debite executas et indorsatis earundem lateri reddatis: Et vos qui presentes executi fueritis sitis ibidem dictis die et loco coram nobis seu dicto nostro Justiciario, portantes vobiscum summationis vestre testimonium in scripto pro premissis seu ipsos testes. Ad quod faciendum vobis et vestrum cuilibet conjunctim et divisim vicecomitibus nostris in hac parte committimus potestatem. DATUM sub Testimonio nostri Magni Sigilli, Apud Edinburgh vicefimo quinto die mensis Maij, anno domini millesimo quingentesimo octuagesimo quarto et regni nostri decimo septimo.

Quhilkis haill personis abonevrittin war thrie sundrie tymes oppinlie callit at the tollbuyth wyndok, and nane of thame compeirand [exceptand Dame Anabill Murray Countes of Mar elder, Dame Agnes Drummond Countes of Mar young-er, Dame Dorathie Stewart Countes of Gourie, William Elphinstoun, Johne Leslie of Authorteis, William Dowglas of Bonkle elder, quho offerit thame to the tryell anent the poyntis contenit in the summondis of Tresoun: quhome the Estaitis of Parliament ordanit to reteir to pair lugeingis, thairin to remane quhill the morne at aucht houris, and thay than to compeir befor the Kingis Maiestie and Lordis of Articles, to ansuer to the said summondis,] and immediatlie pairefter the said Aduocat producit Richard Byning, &c. messingeris, executoris of the said summondis, quha maid fayth that thair said executionis, as thay beir, ar iust and trew, &c. Efter the verificatioun of the quhilkis executionis, the said Mr David Makgill, aduocat, producit thir twa wrytingis following, subseriuit be the Kingis Maiestie, off the quhilkis the tenouris followis:

Warrant to delete Robert Erskin of Lytill Sauchie from the Summondis.

‘REX.

‘MR DAVID MAKGILL of Nesbet our aduocat: Forfameikle as we vnderstand that thair is ane summondis of Tresoun directit aganis diuersle personis, for the late tumult and rebellious laillie committit aganis us, and that our seruitour Robert Erskene is chargeit thairwithe to compeir in our nixt Parliament, to be foirsalt for the causles contenit in the said summondis: Newirtheles, remembering the said Robertis gud and thankfull seruice done to us of befor, and for certane gud considerationis, we ar mowit nocht to insist aganis him in our nixt Parliament, be the said summondis rasit aganis him; that ze delet his name furthe of the samin and executionis pairis, to the effect he be nocht trublitt pairby in ony fort ; 3e kepannd þir pointis for 3our Warrant. Subscriwit with our hand, at Edinburgh, the xx day of August, and of our reinge þe xvij 3eir 1584.

(Sic subscribitur) 'JAMES R. MONTROISE, JAMES STEWART, BLANTYIR.'

Heir followis the tennour of the vther wryting :—

Warrant to delete Makdowgalls of Garthland from Summondis.

'OUR ADVOCAT we greit 3ow weil : Forfamekle as þairis summondis of Tressoun raift and execut at our and 3ow our Aduocatis instance in our name, aganis Vthreid M^cDowgall of Garthland, and Vthreid Makdowgall his sone and apperand air, ffor the tressonable suppryng and taking of our Castell and toun of Strineling, being in cumpanie with diuerse our conspiratoris contenit in the summondis raift pairvpoun ; at the leift, art and pairt þairof : ffor diuerse ressonabill causses and confiderationis moveing ws, it is our will that 3e extinct and deleit furthe of the said summondis the saidis Vthreid M^cDowgall and his sone, and pas fra that pairt of the said summondis, fafer as concernis thame, for the said cryme or ony vther crymes mentionat in the said summondis ; dischargeting 3ow of all persewing or insifting aganis thame for the famin, and of 3our office in that pairt. As alsua discharges the Lordis of our Parliament, our Justice generall and his deputis, of all proceding aganis thame ffor the premisses, simpliciter. Subscriwit with our hand at Edinburgh, the nyntene day of August, the 3eir of God I .V^o.lxxxiiij 3eiris.

(Sic subscribitur) JAMES R.

And according to the command of the saidis twa wrytingis, the said Aduocat, in presens of the Kingis Maiestie and Lordis of Articles of this present Parliament, past fra the persute of the saidis Vthrid M^cDowgall of Garthland, Vthrid M^cDowgall his sone and apperand air, and the said Robert Erkene of Lytill Sauchy : And thairfoir þair saidis thrie nemmis of command foirsaid war presentlie deleit furthe of the said summondis of foirfaltour : Wpoun the production of the quhilkis twa wrytingis and deleting of thame furthe of the said summondis, the said aduocat askit instrumentis, and immediatlie þaireftir, the Kingis Maiestie being personalie present, commandit the said Mr David Makgill, his hienes aduocat, to pas fra the persute of the saidis Johne Levingstoune 3ounger of Dinnypace, William and Michael Elphinstonis brether to the Lord Elphinstone, Williame Dowglas of Bonkle, and Williame Lyoun of Bagillie : And siclyk, commandit the said Clerk of registri and his deputis to deleit thame furthe of the said summondis of Foirfaltrie : Quhilkis war presentlie done, in presens of the Kingis Maiestie and Lordis of Articles, be the said aduocat, and Alexander Hay, Clerk of registri ; and þairvpoun þe said aduocat askit instrumentis. And siclyk, Johne Leslie of Authorteis alias Bennachy, being personalie present, producit ane Remissionn grantit be our souerane lord, vnder his hienes greit seill, Remittand the said Johne the foirsaid cryme and Tressoun contenit in the said summondis of Foirfaltour led aganis him : In respect of the quhilk, the said aduocat inlykuayis past fra þe persute of the said Johne Leslie ; quhairvpoun the said Johne askit instrumentis.

QUHILK SUMMONDS, with the executions and indorsationis thairof respectiue foirsaidis, being red first in presens of the Lordis Commissionaris of Parliament, vpoun the said xx day of August instant, and siclyk vpoune the xxj day of the samyn moneth thaireftir, specialie depute be his hienes Commissionn for haldin thairof, first in Latene and thaireftir in Scottis ; and the haill perones defendaris abonewrittine, being diuerse and syndrie tymes callit at the tolbuith windok, to haue comperit and ansuerit to the said summondis, and name of thame comperand, (exceptand the saidis Deame Annabell Mwrray Countes of Mar elder, Deame Agnes Drummond Countes of Mar 3ounger, Deame Dortha Stewart Countes of Gowrie,) the said aduocat, for verificatioun and probatioun of the foir-faidis executionis and indorfationis of the said summondis, repetit the Actis maid the saidis xx and xxj dayes of August instant : As the samyn, schawin and producit before the Kingis grace and thrie Estatis of this present Parliament portit. And siclyk thaireftir, the foirfaidis haill perfonis defendaris being of new oftymes callit at the said tolbuith windok to haue comperit before the saidis Lordis of Articles, and defendit the said summondis the foirfaid xx and xxj dayes of August instant rex^{ue} with continewatioune of dayes, and thay beand oftymes callit and nocht comperand, (exceptand as said is,) the said aduocat defyrit the saidis Lordis of Artieles Declaratioune, gif the reffones of the said summondis war relevant or nocht : Quha than declarit the samyn to be relevant, vponne the said xxj day of this instant moneth : At the quhilk tyme the said aduocat producit the haill wryttis and repetit the haill probationis contenit in the Actis maid the day foirfaid in presens of the Lordis of Articles, for probatioune of the said summondis. Quhilkis Lordis of Articles thaireftir fand the said summondis sufficientlie prowine aganis the perfonis vnderwritin.—And in semblable maner, the said haill summondis with the executionis and indorfationis thairof, being red baith in Scottis and Latene, in presens of the Kingis grace and thrie Estatis of this present Parliament, and the foirfaidis haill perfonis defendaris being of new callit, as of before, fyndrie tymes at the said tolbuith windok, and name of thame comperand (exceptand as said is) and the haill wryttis and vtheris probationis producit be him the day immediatlie ofbefore, quhilk he now lykwayes producit and repetit the samyn to our said souerane lord and thrie Estatis foirfaides, for prewing of the pointtis and artieles contenit in the said summondis, and thairfore defyrit farther proces in the said caus. And thaireftir, the said summondis with the probationis foirfaidis, being first sene, considerit and aduifit be the saidis Lordis of Articles, and now presentlie be the Kingis grace and thrie Estatis of this present Parliament : Quha findis and declaris that the haill reffoun of the said summondis are relevant and sufficientlie prowine aganis the perfonis particularlie vnderwrittine, and ilk ane of thame for thair awin pairt : And Ordanes Dome to be pronuncit and gevin thairvponne, be the mowth of Andro Lyndfay dempster of this present Parliament, depute and sworne thairto ofbefore ; of the quhilk Dome the tennour followis, pronuncit be the said Andro Lyndfay :

DOME and SENTENCE against the EARLS of ANGUS and MAR and their above mentioned accomplices.

(Aug. 22.)—This Court of Parliament schawis for law, that the saidis Archebald Erle of Angus, Johnne Erle of Mar, Dame Agnes Drummond Countes of Mar 3ounger, Maifter Thomas Lyoune of Baldukye Maifter of Glamis, Dame Margaret Lyoune Countes of Caillis, Dame Dorathia Stewart Countes of Gowrye, Adame Commendatar of Cambuskynmeth, Daud Commendatar of Dryburch, Williame Commendatar of Palslay, Maifter James Erkin brother to Robert Erkin apperand of Littil Sauchie, Johnne Leslie of Balquhane, George Dowglas of Parkheid, James and George Dowglasse his fones, James Dowglas of Todhoillis, Johnne Dowglas of Glatpene, William Dowglas sone and apperand air to Williame Dowglas of Bonkle, Patrik Drummond apperand of Carnok, Johnne Carmichale of that Ilk, Hew Carmichall his sone and apperand air, William Carmichall of Rantrecorse, Johnne Lyoune 3ounger of Coffynis, James Lyoune of Eiftir Ogill, Hew Nesbit of Rafechehill, Patrik Home of Argathies, Johnne Leslie of Lergie, Robert Hammiltoune of Corfe, Arthour Hammiltoune callit of Boithwelhauch, Mr Johnne Coluill chantour of Glasgou, Mr Patrik Quhytelaw of Newgrange, Johnne Arbuthnot apperand of Lyntusk, and James Murray of Pardows, and euerilk ane of thame, hes committit and incurrit the crymes of Tressoune and Lefemaiestie, in the haill pointtis and articles contenit in the said summondis, berand as is abonewrittine: And thairfore decernis and declaris all thair guidis movable and vnmovable, alsweill landis as offices and vtheris quhatsumeuer belonging to thame, to be confiscat to our said fouerane lord, and remane perpetualie with his hienes in proprietie for euer: And thair perones to vnderlye the pane of Treassoune and last pwnishment appointit be the lawis of this realme: And this I gif for Dome. Vpoune the quhilk declaratioune and pronounciatioune foirsaid, the said aduocat askit instrumentis.

THE quhilk day the Kingis grace and thrie Estatis of this present Parliament continewis that pairt of the summondis of Treassoune dewlie execute and indorfate, persewit be his hienes Justice and Aduocat aganis Deame Annabell Murray Countes of Mar elder, Deame Agnes Gray Ladye Home spous to the said Mr Thomas Lyoune of Baldukye Maifter of Glamis, Lawrence Maister of Oliphant, Johnne Maister of Forbes, Robert Dowglas (younger) of Lochlewin 3ounger, and James Hammiltoun of Haggis, tuiching the decerning of thame to haue incurrit the crymes of Tressoune and Lefemaiestie, ffor the caus specefeit in the said summondis; as at maier lenth is contenit thairintill, in the famyn forme, force and effect as it is now, but preiudice of partie, vnto the xx day of September nixttocum, with continewatioun of dayes; and than farder proces to be hade pairintill; at the quhilk day, Ordanis the said aduocat to produce sic wryttis, rychtis, ressones, documentis and probationes, as he hes or will vse, for prewing of the said summondis agane the said day, safar as concernis thair pairtis thairof: Quhairvpoune the said aduocat askit instrumentis.

High Treason — Raid of Ruthven — Forfeiture.

Aug. 22.—JOHNE ROSS of Cragie, as brother and apparent heir or successor of the deceased James Ross of Pettheavles.¹

The quhilk day Maister Daid Makgill, aduocat to our souerane lord, exhibite and producit lyke as he did syndrie tymes ofbefore, the summondis of Treffoune vnderwrittin, rasit and persewit at the instance of our souerane lord and his hienes Justice aganis Johne Ross of Cragie, as brother and apperaud air or successor to vmq^{le} James Ross of Pettheifles; quhairbye he was summoned to haue comperit before the Kingis Majestie and his Estatis, the xx day of August instant, with continewatioune of dayes, in his hienes Parliament to haue begune the said day, in the hour of caus, with continewatioune of dayes; to haue answerit vponne the pointtis of Treassoune and Lesemaiestie vnderwrittine, contenit in the said summondis, committit be his said vmq^{le} brother: And thairfore, the said Johne to haue hard, that the said vmq^{le} James committit the cryme of Treassoune in his lyvetye, for the caus vnderwrittine, &c. As at mair lenth is contenit in the said summondis. Off the quhilk the tennour followis: .

SUMMONS of TREASON against Johne Ross as brother of James Ross.

JACOBUS dei gratia Rex Scotorum, dilectis nostris Leoni Regi Armorum, Ilay, Albany, Ross, Rothefay, Snawdoun, Merchmond; Heraldis; Johanni Fergussoun, Roberto Stewart, Archibaldo Dowglas, Daidi Bryffoun, clauigeris; Ormond, Bute, Vnicorne, Carrik, Signiferis; Richardo Bynning, Joanni M^cLowren, &c., nunciis et eorum cuilibet, coniunctim et diuisim, vicecomitibus in hac parte, salutem. Mandamus vobis et precipimus quatenus summoniatis legitime et peremptorie, coram testibus, Johannem Ross de Cragye, fratrem germanum et apparentem heredem vel successorem quondam Jacobi Ross de Petthevels, personaliter si eius personalem presentiam commode habere poteritis, alioquin apud locum eius habitationis, necnon omnes alios et singulos interesse habentes seu pretendentes, per publicam proclamationem apud cruceas forales burgorum nostrorum de Edinburgh, Perth aliaque loca necessaria, ita quod huiusmodi summonitio ad eorum aures verisimiliter peruenire poterit, ad comparandum coram nobis nostrone Justiciario, vicefimo die mensis Augusti proxime futuri, hora caularum, cum continuatione dierum, in Parlamento nostro tenend. apud Edinburgh, . . . die mensis eiusdem, ad respondendum nobis seu nostro Justiciario in prefato Parlamento, et ad videndum atque audiendum per nos et trium regni nostri statuum, decretum et sententiam decerni dictum quondam Jacobum Ros de Petthevels crimen Lesemaiestatis in ipsius vita commississe, ob eius proditoriam artem, partem, auxilium, consilium, iuramen et assistentiam per ipsum prestitam et exhibitam, in nefaria illa Conspiratione cum quondam Wilelmo olim Comite Gowrye domino Ruithwene, in proditoria interceptione ac manus violentas iniectioe in personam nostram, apud illius Castrum de Ruithwene, super vicefimo tertio die mensis Augusti anno domini millesimo quingentesimo octuagesimo secundo: Atque adeo, ob illius prefcientiam, occultationem et concealationem eiusdem Conspirationis, vbi dictus quondam Wilelmus olim Comes de Gowrie, Johannes Comes de Mar, Magister Thomas Lyonne de Baldukye Magister ac Tutor de Glammis et prefatus quondam Jacobus Ross, cum diuersis alijs suis complicitibus, consilium proditorie iniierunt, deliberarunt, finaliter et ad effectum perluxerunt nefandum ac proditorium illud facinus, in apprehensione nostre nobilis persone apud Ruithwene tempore antedicto: In quoquidem

¹ From the Records of Parliament. Acta III. 344.

Castro, violenter nos detinuerunt ac custodierunt, contra nostre mentis libetum et voluntatem, per spatium diuersarum dierum et noctium; inde crimen summe prodicionis committendo. Eodemque tempore, fidos et dilectos nostros Consules ac alios probos ligeos nobis inferuendi studio appropinquantes, pro ipsorum interuentione ac cede inuaserunt et crudelissime vulnerarunt; tunc quoque Consulum et aliorum fidelium subditorum nostrorum quosdam, velut captiuos ceperunt et custodie mandarunt, ordinarios Gardie nostre milites remouerunt, Precepta nostra nobis repugnantibus charissimo et fidelissimo confanguineo nostra quondam Esno Leuinie Duci dirigere impulerunt vt quam citissime hinc discederet, eumque inaudita celeritate huius regni finibus exterminandum curauerunt, personam nostram ad sui animi libidinem et desiderium, magna suorum sociorum caterua stipatam continuo huc atque illuc deduxerunt, per spatium decem mensium deinde frequentium: Instituto certissimo et mente deliberata huiusmodi iugo seruitutis imperpetuum nos implicare et retinere, nisi ineffabilij Omnipotentis auxilio et beneuolentia nosmet ipsos hinc abdicaremus: Hinc manifestissime crimen Prodicionis et Lesemaiestatis committendo contra nos regalem nostram auctoritatem et in apertam legum violationem. Et propterea, ad videndum et audiendum nomen, memoriam et dignitatem dicti quondam Jacobi Rosi de Petheueles extinctam fore et esse decerni, armaque seu insignia sua e libro Armorum et nobilitatis deleri et cancellari, ita quod ipsius posterij ab officijs et honoribus in hoc regno nostro gaudent. sint inhabiles et incapaces dehinc imperpetuum; atque omnia bona sua terras et officia confiscari et nobiscum deinceps in proprietate remanere; iurimando supradicto Johanni Rosi de Cragie fratri ac heredi seu successori antenominato, alijsque quibuscumque interessentibus, quod sine compareant sine non, dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, Nos et Iusticiarius noster nihilominus iustitia mediante procedemus et procedet: Et presentes literas debite executas et indorsatas earundem lateri reddatis: Et vos qui presentes executi fueritis sitis ibidem, dictis die et loco, coram nobis vel Iusticiario nostro portan. vobiscum vestre summonitionis testimonium in scriptis, pro premisis vel ipsos testes. Ad quod faciendum, vobis et vestrum cuilibet, coniunctim et diuisim, vicecomitibus nostris in hac parte, committimus potestatem. Apud Edinburgh, vicefimo quarto die mensis Junij, anno domini millesimo quingentesimo octuagesimo quarto et regni nostri decimo septimo.

Quhilk summondis with the executionis and indorsationis thair of, being red first in presense of the Lordis Commissionaris of Parliament, vpoun the said xx day of August instant, and siclyk vpoun the xxj day of the samyn moneth thaireftir, specialie depute be his hienes Commissionne for halding thair of, first in Latene and thaireftir in Scottis: And the said Johne Rosi of Cragie comperand, quha was content tryell war tane vpoune the pointtis of the said summondis: The said aduocat, for verificatioune and probatioune of the foirsaidis executionis and indorsationis of the said summondis, repetit the actis maid the saidis xx and xxj dayes of August instant, as the samyn schrawin and producit before the Kingis grace and Lordis of Articles proportit. And thaireftir the said summondis, with the probatioune foirsaidis, being first sene, considerit and aduisit be the saidis Lordis of Articles and now presentlie be the Kingis Maiestie and thrie Estatis of this present Parliament: Quha findis and declaris, that the haille reassoune of the said summondis is relevant and sufficientlie prowine aganis the said viiith James Ros. And thairfore ordanis Dome to be pronuncit and gevin thairvpoune, be the mowth of Andro Lyndsfay dempster of this present Parliament, depute and fworne thairto of before : Off the quhilk Dome the tenour followis, pronuncit be the said Andro Lyndfay.

DOME of FORFEITURE. This Court of Parliament sehawis for law, that the said vni^{le} James Rofs of Pettheveles committit the cryme of Lefe-maieftie in his lyfityme, in the haill pointtis and articles contenit in the said fimmmondis berand as is abonewrittin : And thairfore, decernis and declaris the said vni^{le} James his name, memorie and honouris to be extinct, and his armes to be revin furth and deletit out of the buik of armes, fwa that his pofteritie newir haue place nor be hable heireftir to bruk or joife ony office, honouris or digneteis within this realme, in ony tymes cumming :¹ And all his guidis, landis, offices to be confiscat and remane perpetuallie with his hienes in propertie, for ever : And this I gif for dome. Quhairwpoune the said aduocat askit instrumentis.

The quhilk day Johnne Ros of Cragie proteftit, that quhatfumeuer thing done this infant day aganis vni^{le} James Ros of Pettheveles his brother, preiuge nocht him anent his landis, reuerfionis, romes, poffeffionis, fteadingis and rychtis quhatfumeuer pertening to his said vni^{le} brother : And fpecialie, anent the landis of Pettheveles, and the Reuerfionne thairof quhilk he hes of the famyn : In refpect he hes euir remanit, at all tymes bigane, our fonerane lordis trew lege and fubieft ; and knew nathing of his said vni^{le} brotheris doingis nor proceedingis : And pairwpoune askit instrumentis.

High Treason — Raid of Ruthven, &c.

Aug. 22.—OLIVER PEIBLIS of Chapellhill,² Jeane Thornetoune his fpous, and James Marfchell of Petearnis.

The quhilk day, the Kingis grace and thrie Eftatis of this prefent Parliament continewis the fimmmondis of Treaffoune execute and indorfate, perfewit at the instance of his Maieftie, his hienes Juftice and Mr David Makgill his hienes aduocat, tuiching the decerning of thame to haue committit and done certane pointtis of Treaffoune and Lefemaieftie : As at mair lenth is contenit in the said fimmmondis rafit pairwpoune, in the famyn forme, force and effect as it is now, but preiudice of partie, vnto the xx day of September nixtto cum, with continewatioun of dayes ; and thane farder proces to be hade pairintill as accordis : At the quhilk day ordanes the said aduocat to produce sic wryttis, rychtis, refpones, documentis and vtheris probationis quhilkis he hes or will vfe, for prewing of the pointtis of the said fimmmondis aganes thame agane the said day. Quhairwpoune the said aduocat askit instrumentis.

¹ An Act was passed in Parliament, Aug. 22, 'for dilhering of pe pofteritie of the perfonis that ar or fallhappin to be convicted of the treffonnable attemptat at Strueling.' ² He appears in Parliament, as Commissioner for the burgh of Perth, Jun. 12, 1590, and Mar. 3, 1596.—From Records of Parliament, III, 316.

[Mr Edward Bruce and Mr William Oliphant, Justices-Deputes.]

Slaughter.

Jul. 2.—GEORGE THOMESOUN, minister at Innerkip, George Maxwell of Newwerk, Robert Maxwell his serwand, Johnne Maxwell in Kulroife, Johnne Morefoune in Park, and Arthour Morefoun thair.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the crewall slauchter of vmq^{le} Robert Muntgumrie of Skelmurelie, and of vmq^{le} Williame Muntgumrie his sone and appeirand air; committit in Apryle lastwas.

[Mr Edward Bruce, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Jul. 3.—JOHNNE QUHYTEFURDE of that Ilk, Adam Quhytfurde, 3ounger of that Ilk, Thomas Quhytfurde his broder, Robert Muntgumrie of Skelmurelie, Williame Cochrane of that Ilk, Williame Mudye, burges of Paislay, Robert Sempill, burges yair, James Wilfoun, serwand to the Laird of Cochran, Gilbert Smyth, broder to Andro maister of Sempill.

Dilattit of airt and pairt of the crewall slauchter of vmq^{le} Patrik Maxwell of Stanelie, committit in Januar lastwas.

PRELOQUITOURIS for the Pannell.

The Maister of Eglingtonne, The Maister of Sempill, The Laird of Cauldwall, The Laird of Heiffilheid.
Mr Johnne Scharp, Mr Johnne Skene, Mr Johnne Prestoune,

PERSEWARIS.

James Maxwell of Calderwood, Sir Robert Maxwell of Dinwiddie, Maister David M'Gill of The Laird of Craiganace, The Laird Newark, Nisbet, (King's Advocate, Johnne Maxwell of Nethir Pook, [Gelis Wallace, The Relict,] for his hienes intres.)

Part of the pannells 'replegeit' to the Regality of Paislay, and the rest continued to the Justice-air of 'Renfrew, tertio Itineris.'

The Laird of Quhytefurde alone was 'put to the knowlege of ane Assyise;' who, 'eftir lang ressoning and deliberatioune had thair of, be the mouth of Robert Lindefay of Dunrod, ffand and declairet the said Johnne Quhytefurde of that Ilk, to be clene and acquit of airt and pairt of the said slauchter.'

[Mr William Oliphant, Justice-Depute.]

Abiding from the Host to pass towards Stirling.

Jul. 17.—GILBERT LAWDER of Balbardeis, Williame Lawder, his sone and appeirand air.

Dilaitit for remaining and abyding at hame fra our souerane lordis oift, raid and armie, ordanit to haif conuenit at Halirudhous,¹ and thairfra to haif past towards Striueling, [for refisting of the tressonabill attemptatis of certane tra-touris and rebellis, quhilkis had tane the said burcht and Castell of Striueling.]

The quhilk day, the personis enterit on pammell, produceit ane Licence, grantit to thame be the Kingis Maiestie and lordis of his hienes Secreit Counsale, exemeand thame fra oiflis, raidis and armeis ; quhilk exemption is of the dait, at Halrudhous, the xxiiij day of Apryle, 1584.

(Sic subseribitur.) JAMES R. HUNTLIE, LOCHINWARE.

[Mr Johne Grahame, Mr Williame Oliphant, Justices-Deputes.]

Forgery of Half-Merk Pieces, &c.

Jul. 30.—PATRIK M^cKIE in Quhithillis, broder to Archibald M^cKie of Myretoune.

Dilaitit of the tressonabill cryme of sforgeing, ssenzeing and sstryking of certane fals and adultrit mony, viz. half merkis, xxx l., xx l. and x l. pecis.

Jul. 31.—VERDICT and SENTENCE. The Assyise, be the mouth of Williame M^cCulloch of Myretoune, in ane voce, fylis the said Patrik M^cKe of art and part of the tressonabill sforgeing, seinzeing, counferfuting and sstraking of certane fals and adulterate money, sic as fals half-markis, xl d. pecis, to grit quantitie, callit Lochmabalies,² in cumpanye with Lawrence Nicholai Italiane and vtheris thair assistaris : And he thairfoir adjugeit, be Andro Lyndesay dempfter, to haif foir-faltit and tynt lyfe, landis and guidis, to be applyit to our fouerane lordis vse, and himself hangit to the deid, at the mercat croce of Edinburghe. AND the hail Assyis acquit the said Patrik of the fenzing of xxx l., xx l. and x l. pecis, plakkis and balbeis.

[Mr Johne Grahame and Mr Edward Bruce, Justices-Deputes.]

Assisting Earl of Angus in taking Burgh and Castle of Stirling.

Sep. 4.—GABRIELL MERSER of Sawling.

Dilaitit of the tressonabill assisting, art, pairt-taking with Archebald Erle of Angus, Johne, suntuyme Erle of Mar, Thomas Lyoun, suntuyme Maister of Glammis, and vtheris thair complices, in the tressonabill taking of the Burcht and Castell of Striueling, committit in the moneth of Apryle lastbypast, [and beiging of ane dry-ftane wall beside the scolehouis dure of Striueling ; and, furnessing of the said Castell with men, viuaris³ and munitione.]

¹ Many similar trials occur at this period ; some of them adding, ‘and for assisting with Archebald erle of Angus, Johne erle of Mar, Thomas Lyoun maister of Glammis, Johne Carnichell younger of that ilk, and vtheris thair complices, in the tressonabill taking of the burcht and Castell of Striueling.’ ² This word is very doubtfully written, being as like Lochmalcaries as the above. Perhaps it was some familiar or cant phrase for pieces struck or forged at Lochmaben. ³ Victuals, vivres.

VERDICT. The Assyise, ‘ eftir lang reffoning and mature deliberatioun had thairof, be thair delyuerance pronunceit be the month of Archebault Prestoun, Chancellare of the said Assyise, stand the said Gabriell to be clene and acquit’ of the said crimes.

[Mr William Oliphant, Justice-Depute.]

Incest.

Nov. 21.—GOTHRAY M^cCULLOCH of Ardwel.

Dilaitit of certane crymes of Incest, committit be him with Katherine M^cCulloch, his broder-dochter; and vtheris crymes contenit in the lettres.

Continued, to the Aire of ‘ Kirkcudbrycht, tertio Itineris, vel super premonitione xv dierum. Plegio, Jacobo M^cCulloch, rectore de Kyrk-Cryft.’

Fire-raising — Breaking of Ward, &c.

Nov. 27.—ALEXANDER JARDINE of Apilgirth, &c.

James Twedie of Drummelzeare become plege and fouirtie for Alexander Jardine of Apilgirth, Johnne Jardane and James Jardane his breder, Niniane Jardane and Will Bell his seruandis, Williame Jardane, callit Reid Will, at the Kirk of Sewerbie, (and) David Moffet in Sewirfyde; that thai fall compeir befoir our fouerane lordis Justice or his Deputtis, the third day of the nixt Justice-air of the sherefdom of Drumfreis, quhair thai duell, or fouer, quhen and quhair it fall pleis our fouerane loird, vpoun xv dayis warning, and vnderly the law for the tressonabill raising of fyre and birning of the place of Litolgill, per-tening to Dame Jeane Hammiltoune, Ladie Lanmingtoune: And for eschewing¹ furth of the Castell of Edinburghe, and breking of the waird thairof; and vtheris crymes contenit in the lettres direct thairvpoune, &c.

Treason — Assisting Earl of Angus, &c.

Dec. 2.—NINIANE NICOLL, in the bray of Cleifch.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the tressonabill airt, pairt-taking with Archebault, fuintyme Erle of Angus; Johnne, fuintyme Erle of Mar; Thomas Lyoune, fuintyme Maister of Glamis, and vtheris thair complices, in the tressonabill taking of the burgh and Castell of Striueling, aganis our fouerane lord and his hienes autoritie royall; committit in the moneth of Apryle lastbypast.

Continued to the Justice-air ‘ of Fyffe, tercio Itineris vel super premonitione xv dierum.’ ‘ Plegio, Henrico Stewart de Rosslyth.’

¹ Escaping. See Jun. 5, 1583.

Intercommuning with Earl of Mar and other Traitors.

Dec. 8.—DAVID HOME of Argatie.

Dilaitit of the trefsonabill haifing intelligence fra Johne funtyme Erle of Mar, Daid (Erskine) funtyme Commendator of Dryburgh, our fouerane lordis tratouris declarit, in the reffait of lettres fra thame, at the leift the ane or vther of thame ; and fpecialie, fra Patrik Home his broder fone, feruitour to Johnne funtyme Erle of Mar ; quhilkis lettres he refflaueit fra Robert M^cWillie, quhome he ref-fautit in his hous, in paffing and repaffing to thame in Ingland ; committit in the monethis of July, Auguft and September laftbypaft.

PERSEWAR, Mr Daid Makgill of Nilbet, Aduocat.

ASSISA.

George Dundas of that Ilk,	Henrie Quhyt, cordiner thair,	Geo. Craw, portionar of Reftoune,
Charles Murray of Cokpale,	Alex ^r Thomefoune, burges of Ed ^r ,	George Smyth, burges of Edin ^r ,
Mathow Stewart of Bavela,	Johnne Moffett, burges thair,	Andro Aytonne, broder to the laird
Robert Grahame of Knokdolaine,	Edward Johnnefoun, burges thair,	of Dinmure.
George Home of Aytonne,	Johnne Gordoun of Petlurg,
James Inglis, burges of Edin ^r ,	Patrik Creytoune of Lugtounne,

VERDICT. The Affyfe, be the mouth of George Dundas of that Ilk, chancel-lare, Fand the faid Daid Home to be culpabill, fyllit and conuict in contraue-ning of our fouerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in reffait of ane boy callit Rob M^cWillie, and conceling of the lettre fend be him, and fehawin be Johnne Ranye, fend fra Patrik Home out of Ingland ; and reffauing commendationis fra the Abbot of Dryburgh from Ingland, conforme to the faid Daidis deponitiounis fubferyuit with his hand : LYKEAS alua, the faid Daid wes fundin to be clene and acquit of the reft of the dittay.

SENTENCE. And thairfoir the dome of forfaitour was pronunceit aganis him be Andro Lyndfay thairefter, that the faid Daid fuld be tane to ane gippet, at the croce of Edinburghe, and thair hangit, quarterit and drawin as ane tratour ; and all his landis, takis, ftedingis, rowmes, poffeffionis and guidis, to be efchete to the Kingis vfe.

Praying publicly for the banished Ministers. Concealing treasonable Correspondence, &c.

Dec. 8.—MAISTER NICOLL DALGLEISCH, miniſter at Sanct Cuthbertis Kirk, near Edinburgh.

Dilaitit of the contraueing of our fouerane lordis actis of Parliament in lowing and authorifing in his publict prayaris of ſie miniſteris as ar in Ingland, declarit tratouris ; and for affiſing and fortefeing with the faidis declarit tra-touris.

Comperit Mr David Makgill, aduocate to our fouerane lord, and in his hienes name, as perfeware ; and defyrit proces vpoun the Dittay presentlie produceit be him in iugement vpoun the said Mr Nicholl, quhilk the aduocatt defyrit to be red to the said Mr Nicoll, in caice he wald object ony thing aganis the samin.

The said Mr Nicoll allegeit, that iugement wes deduceit aganis him 3ifterday befor the Kingis Maiestie and lordis of Secreit Counsale, and as appeirit to him conuict be thame and thair woting aganis him ; quhairthrow it is nocht necessar that he be of new acufit in ony vther iugement.—To the quhilk anfuert the aduocate, that the proceedingis aganis him in Secreit Counsale wes per modum consilij, and nocht be way of iugement, he nocht being judicialie acufit ; and sua the Justice aucht to proceed aganis him in the said matir in this iugement.

The said Mr Nicoll defyrit to knaw of the Lordis of the Secreit Counsale present, Assesouris to the Justice,¹ quhidder the proceedingis aganis him 3ifterday in Counsale wes per modum consilij, or as ane vther iugement : And the saidis lordis, for satisfaccioun of his desyre, declarit the saidis proceedingis to be per modum consilij.

INTERLOCUTOR. The Justice, be auise of his Assesouris, Fand be interloquitour, that the proceedingis aganis the said Mr Nicoll 3ifterday the sevint of this inflante, in the mater quhairfo he wes acufit, suld nawayis preinge him in this iugement, bot ordanit him nochtwithstanding thairfo, to haif his hail defensis aganis the Dittay produceit : Lykeas, the Justice, vpoun certane allegeances proponit be the said Mr Nicoll, and defensis vsit be him, as alsua the anfuert maid thairto be the Aduocate, and of the mirknes² of the nycht, continewit the mater in the samin forme, force and effect, as it is now, to the morne : And the said Maister Nicoll in the meantyme to be committit to ward, quhill he be tryit be the personis of Assyis chosin, suorne, and admittit ofbefoir, alswele vpoun his Assyis as vpoun the Assyis of the said David Home ; and warnit the saidis personis of Assyis to compeir the morne in the hour of caus, to delyuer, affirmative or negative, vpoun the poyntis of the said Dittay, ilk persoun vndir the pane of ane hundreth pundis.

Dec. 9. — Dilaitit, &c. ; and for conceling of ane Lettre fend be Mr Walter Baganqwall³ to his wyff, quhilk wes red be the said Mr Nicoll ; and vtheris crymes.

PERSEWARE, Mr David Macgill of Nitbet, aduocat to our fouerane lord.

Compeirit the personis of Assyis vnderwritten, viz. :

ASSISA.

Patrik Creyeltoun of Lugtoun,	Geo. Craw, portioner of Restoun,	George Dundas of that Ilk,
Alex ^r Thomefoun, burges of Ed ^t ,	Charles Murray of Cokpull,	Andro Aytoun, brother to Dimmur,
Johnne Moffet, burges thair,	Johnne Gordoun of Petlurg,	Henrie Quhyt, burges of Edin ^r ,
James Inglis, burges thair,	Robert Grabame of Knokdolan,	Eduart Johnestoun, burges thair,
George Smyth, burges thair,	George Home of Aytoun,	Mathow Stewart of Bavela.

The said Mr Nicoll, eftir diuerse allegeancis proponit be him in presens of the faid Justice and his Affesouris, and anfueries maid thairto be the faid Mr David M^cGill, aduocat to our souerane lord for his hienes intres, offerit him self in the Kingis Maiesteis will, off the speiking, that ‘ the Ministeris and vtheris wer persecute, and that the Kingis minestrie had spokin thay wordis mycht haif provokit ane Cristiane man to feir ;’ as also of the conceling of ane Lettre direct fra Mr Walter Bucanquall to his awin wyff, quhilk wes red and sene be him, concerning particular commendationis to him.

¹ As was formerly remarked, it was usual for some of the Lords of Privy Council to sit as Assessors with the Justice, especially in cases of Treason. The King himself not unfrequently sat in judgment, and his presence is occasionally noticed in the Record. ² Darkness of the night. ³ Balcanquall.

The Justice, nochtwithstanding that the faid Mr Nicoll come in the Kingis Maiesteis will, Ordanit the foirnaminis personis of Assyis, chofin, suorne and admittit vpoun the faid Mr Nicollis consent, to proceed to thair delyuerance.

And the faid Mr David M^cGill, aduocate, Protestit, in respect of the sentence gevin zisterday vpoun David Home of Argatie in the lyke mater of befoir, that in caice the faidis personis of Assyis clenge the faid Mr Nicoll, for Wilfull erreure and tinsale of baith lyffe, landis and gudis.

VERDICT. The Assyis be thair delyuerance, pronunceit be the mowth of the faid George Dundas of that Ilk, chancellare, stand the faid Mr Nicoll Dalglesch to be culpable, fyllit and comict for speiking that the Ministeris and vtheris wer persecutit, meaning to preve the samin persecution be occasioun of just feir confaut aganis the Ministeris vpoun alleget speich of the Kingis Maiestie, and sum of his Counsaile, quhilk wes cleirly provin be act of Counsaile ; and quhairfoir the faid Mr Nicoll come in his hienes will : AND alsua, conuictis the faid Maister Nicoll of conceling of ane Lettre direct fra Mr Waltir Bucanquhall to his wyff, quhilk was red and sene be him, contening particular commendationis to him, confessit be his awin word and writt ; and thairfoir come in his hienes will : AND acquit him of the hail rest of the dittay.

Abiding from the Raid of Stirling.

Dec. 16.—JOHNE HOLMES in Auldwallis, Thomas Patoun in Winterberriehill, and twenty two others.

Dilaitit for remaining and abyding at hame fra our souerane lordis oist, raid and armie, ordanit to haif conuenit at Halirudhous, in the moneth of Apryle lastbypast, and thairfra to haif past towardis the bur^e of Striueling, ffor repreffing of the tressonabill attempttis of certane tratours and rebellis, quhilkis had tane the bur^e and Castell of Striueling, and repreffing of thair insolences.

ASSISA.

Alex ^r Boyd in Kilmarnok,	Johnne Huntare in Richartoune,	William Burnis thair,
Hew Cuik in the hill of Kilmaris,	Johnne Wallace in Burnebank,	Adam Hog, seruitour to Bargany,
David Hammiltoun of Ladietoun,	Johnne Campbell of Auldornok,	Thomas Tait in Knokindail,
Johnne Hammiltoun in Grange,	Robert Stewart,	James Cuninghame in Inchegethir.
Thomas Patoun in Castlehill,	Johnne Knox,
	James Neilsoun in Glasgw,

VERDICT. The Affyis, be the mowth of the said Thomas Tait, chancellare, ffind the hail foirfaidis perfonis entirit vpoun pannell to be conuict, culpabill and fyllit for thair remaning and byding at hame fra our fouerane lordis oift, raid and armie, ordanit to haif conuenit at Halirudhous, and thairfra to haif pafit towardis the bur of Striueling, ffor repreffing of the treffonabill attemptattis of certane tratouris and rebellis quhilkis had tane the burgh and Castell of Striueling.¹

Regrating — Forestalling.

Jan. 20, 1584-5.—JOHNE WATSOUN in Leyth Wynd, Robert Gray in the Cannogait and fifty four others in Cannogait, Leyth and Edinburgh.

Dilaitit of contrauening of the Actis of Parliament for non putting of thair malt to the marcat, and for taking mair betuix the boll of malt and the boll of beir nor² is contenit in the saidis Actis.

Thofe refident in Cannogait, &c. are ‘replegiat’ to the Regality of Brochtoune, others to the Regality of Kelfo; and with regard to thofe refident in Edinburgh, they are ‘Remittit to the iurifdiction of the Prouest and bailleis of Edinburgh be refoun of the Kingis Lettres direct to Mr David M’Gill, aduocat, to pas fra thame, and difchairging of the Juftice of all calling, unlawing or proceeding aganis the inhabitantis of Edinburgh; quhilk lettres were fubferyuit be (the) Kingis Maieftie and Counfale of the dait the xv day of Januar 1584; quhair-vpoune Mr Johnne Scharp afkit instrumentis.’

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE, f. d. n. Regis tenta in pretorio de Edinburgh, per Magistros Eduardum Bruce, Joannem Grahame et Willelmum Oliphant, Justiciarios deputatos.]

Raid of Ruthven — Traitorous Conspiracy for seizing the King’s person.

Feb. 9.—MALCOLME DOWGLAS of Manis, Johnne Cuninghame of Drumquhaffill and James Edmestoune of Duntraith.

The quhilk day compeirit perfonalie in jugement, Maifter David Makgill of Nifbet, and producit the Dittayis vnderwrittin vpoun the saidis perfonis, of the quhilkis Dittayis the tennour followis.

JAMES EDMESTOUN of Duntraithis Dittay.—James Edmestoun of Duntruth, 3e ar indyttit and accufit, that contrair 3our naturall dewtie, 3e haveand our fouerane lordis gud countenance as ony vther fubiect of this realme of the lyke calling, hes mait vnappillie, vnthankfullie and treffonablie deniit and confultit with dinerfe vtheris 3our compliceis, viz. Robert Hammiltoun of Inchemachane, Johnne Cuninghame of Drumquhaffall, Malcolm Dowglas of Manis, Johnne Mufchet and Walter Dowglas in Litill Sauchie, in 3e monethis of October, Nouember, December and Januare lafbypaft, vpoun the plat laid be the sumtyme Erlis of Angus and Mar and pair complices, for pair treflonabill deidis presentlie fugitiues in Ingland, communicat to 3ow be Johnne Home alias callit Blak Johnne, pair melfinger, and þe said Johnne Mufchet, how his Maiesteis maift nobill perfoun at the hunting mycht have bene tane captiue and conuoyit to sum strenth in the Illis and bordouris of this realme, or ellis to sum frenth in the Illis of Loehlowmond, quhill the saidis declairit tratouris fugitiues had with thair complices ressaunt his maift nobill perfoun in pair handis; and conceling of þe famin.

¹ Various other trials occur at this period for abiding from the same raid, chiefly against fewars and burgesses. ² Than.

JOHNE CUNINGHAME of Drumquhassillis Dittay.—Johnne Cuninghame of Drumquhassill, 3e ar indyttit and accusit, that eftir mony and diuerse treflonabill Conspiraceis, consultit, deuifit, assistit and execute be 3ow and 3our partineris, aganis the Kingis Maieftie and quyett estait of the euntre evin to pat acceptant (attemptat?) of surpryng of his Maiesteis maift nobill perfoun, quhilk wes committit be 3ow and diuerse vtheris 3our treflonabill partakaris in the moneth of August I^m.V^c.lxxxij 3eiris, be taking of his Maiesteis maift nobill perfoun captiue in the hous of Ruthvene, caryng of the fame about gairdit at 3our pleasour, 3e being present and treflonable affisting to þe said fact; quhilk beand ouerseen² be his Maieftie, besyde money vtheris treflonabill offensis ouerlakit in 3ow, and 3our honour, lyff and landis spairit be his hienes clemencie, mycht have bene suffeicient motioune, to have mouit 3ow to desist fra all sic treflonabill deidis and interpryfis þairefter: Nochtwithstanding of þe quhilk, 3e maift ingratlie and treflonable, vpoun 3our accusitwmit malicious and vnhappie vnnaturalitie, hes in the monethis of October, Nouember, December and Januare lastwas, treittit, deuifit and consultit ane maift hie and vnhappie Trefloune aganis his Maiesteis maift nobill perfoun; quhairby nocht onlie the present estait of this commoun-wealth mycht have bene euertit,² but alsua, gif with 3our and 3our complices saistie his Maieftie culd have bene led captiue to the bordouris of this realme, to have bene ressaunt be his declairit tratouris now fugitiues in Ingland, or to sum fortracce or strenth within the Illis of Loehlowmunt in the Leuenox: Committand pairthrow maift hie and abhominabill Trefloune; and this is trow, and 3e can nocht denye þe famin:—FORDER 3e, in the saidis monethis lastbypast, at the leif in ane or vther of þame, hes confedrit, treittit and consultit with James Edmeftoun of Dunraith at diuerse tymes and places, sic as the Kirk of Strablene and at the Kirk of Killeme, vpoune the executioun of the interpryfis abouewrittin; and hes maift treflonable concelit the famin vnto the tyme of 3our lait entrie within 3e Castell of Edinbur^r and 3our examinatioun pairin, quhilk wes vpoun the sext day of this instant moneth; quhair 3e, be 3our Depositioun subferyuit with 3our awin hand, as alsua þe said day, being confrontit with the said James Edmeftoune, and that 3e knew that Blak Johnne Home wes directit fra the sumtyme Erlis of Angus and Mar and pair complices presentlie for pair Trefloune fugitiues in Ingland, wes be pair message direct to 3ow to propone þe platt for executng of the treflonabill interprifis aboue spacificit. As 3our said Declaratioun, subferyuit with 3our hand, heirwith produceit as ane part of 3our Dittay, dois testifie. And this is trew, and 3e can nocht denye þe famin.

MALCOLME DOWGLAS of Manis Dittay.—Malcolme Dowglas of Manis, 3e ar indytit and accusit, that eftir mony and diuers treflonabill Conspiraceis, consultit, dewyfit, assistit and execute be 3ow and 3our partinaris aganis þe Kingis Maieftie and quyett estait of þe countrey, quhairfore 3e being laillie forfaltit, had of his hienes clemencie, obtenit 3oure pardoun, and ouerfene in þe bruing of 3oure landis and heretage: 3it, 3e maift vnnaturalie, vnthankfullie and treflonable, in þe monethis of October, Nouember, December and Januar lastbypast, hes diuifit, treittit and consultit with diuers vtheris 3oure complices, sic as Robert Hammiltoune of Inchmauchan, James Edmeftoun of Dunraith, Johnne Cuninghame of Drumquhassill, Walter Dowglas in Lytill Sauchy and Robert Sempill sumtyme of Roiland, vpoun þe platt laid be þe sumtymes Erlis of Angus and Mar and pair complices, for pair treflonabill deid presentlie fugitiues in Ingland, eftir communicatioun pairof to þe faid James Edmeftoun of Duntraith be Johnne Hwme alias callit Blak Johnne, ʒe, in þe monethis foirfaid, confultit, conferrit, tretit and dewyfit with þe faid James Edmeftoun of Duntraith and þe remanent ʒour complices aboue writtin, att þe Kirk of Strablane and þe Kirk of Killelne, as alfo in ʒoure hous and place of Manis, qubair þe faid Robert Hammiltoun wes allowit be ʒow to be vpoun þe counfall pairof, and þair dewyfit how his Maiefteis maift nobill perfoune mycht att þe hunting be tane captiue and convoyit to fun ftreth on þe bordouris of þis realme, or ellis to fun ftreth in þe lles of Lochlomount, quhill þe faidis declarit traittouris fugitiues had, with þair complices, reffaut his Maiefteis maift nobill perfoune in þair handis : And to þe taikin, that þis is trew, ʒe directit ʒoure Lettres heirvpoun with Walter Dowglas of Lytill Sauchy to þe faidis rebellis, declarit traittouris, presentlie in England, and with Robert Sempill, quha being þe meffingeris and poiftis of þe faidis fugitiues had at þair pleafour, reffett and interteinment at ʒoure hous of þe Manis, in þe monethis foirfaidis : And þis is trew, and ʒe caynocht deny þe famin, in respect the faid James Edmeftoune of Duntraith and Robert Hammiltoun of Inchmawchane, presentlie with ʒow, awowit þe fame ; lykeas alſwa, James Dowglas and William Johnnftoun ʒoure feruandis, in þair Depofitiounes teftifeis the prefens of þe faid Robert Hammiltoun and Laird of Duntraith with ʒow in ʒoure awin hous, and refoirt of þe faid Walter Dowglas and Robert Sempill in ʒoure faid hous, quha had na vthir occafoun of refoirt to ʒoure faid hous bot for þe treffonabill cauffis foirfaidis.

¹ Pardoncd, overlooked.

² Overturned—Lat. euertere.

ASSISA.

William Lord Hay of ʒeftir,	Patrik Ogilvie of Inchmairtene,	Sir Thomas Stewart of Garne-
. Lord Seytoun,	Patrik Murray of Hangit-fchaw,	tullie, kny',
Thomas Maifter of Caſillis,	Johnne Sempill of Fowlwode,	Johnne Gordoune of Pitlurg.
Patrik Houftoun of that Ilk,	William Wallace of Ellertlie,	James Meinzeis of Weim,
Johnne Gordoun of Lochinvar, kt,	W ^m Makculloch of Mortoune,	William Hammiltoune of Sorne,
Johnne Murray of Blakbaronie,	Patrik Agnew, Shereff of Wig-	Thomas Kennedie of Barganye,
Robert Grahame of Knokdoliane,	toune, MacFarlan of that Ilk.

VERDICT. The Affyis, be thair delyuerance, pronunceit be the mouth of the faid William Lord Hay of ʒeftir, ffand and declarit the faid JAMES EDMESTOUNE of Duntraith, to be culpabill, conuict and fyllit off the vnhappie, vn-thankfull and treffonabill tretting and confulting with diuerſe vtheris his complices in the monethis of October, Nouember, December and Januare laftwas, vpoun the plat layit be the funtyme Erlis of Angus and Mar and thair complices, communicat to him be Johnne Home alias callit Blak Johnne, the meffinger, and Johnne Muſchet, quhow the Kingis Maiefteis maift nobill perfoune mycht be tane captiue at the hunting and conuoyit to fun ftreth on the bordouris, or fun ftreth in the Illis of Lochlomunt, quhill the faidis declarit Traitouris fugitiues in England had reffaut his maift nobill perfoune in thair handis ; and of the treffonabill concealing thairof conforme to his awin lettre and Depofitioune fend to the Kingis Maieftie, ſubſcryuit with his awin hand.—AND ſiclyk, ffand, pronunceit and declairit the faid JOHNNE CUNINGHAME of Drum-quhaſſill, to be culpabill, conuict and fyllit off the conference, tretting and confulting with James Edmeftoun of Duntraith at diuerſe tymes and places, ſic as at the Kirk of Strablane and at the Kirk of Killelne, vpoun the taking of the Kingis Maiefteis maift nobill perfoune captiue at the hunting, ſpecialie at that tyme about the taking of Dauid Home of Argatie; quhairby the lordis fugitiues in England mycht be releuit and this estait alterit; and of the conceling of the famin; conforme to his Depositionis subferyuit with his hand.—AND ryehfwa, ffand, pronunceit and declairit the said MALCOLME DOWGLAS of Manis, to be culpable, conuict and fyllit, that, forfamekill as James Edmeftoun of Duntraith hes testefeit vpoun his grit aith, that he declairit to the said Malcolmme Dowglas of Manis, that Johnne Home alias callit Blak Johnne, feruitour to Johnne fuintyme Erle of Mar, proponit to him, the taking of the Kingis Maiefteis perfoune at the hunting, amangis vtheris generall conferencis had be thame in the place of the Manis, in prefens of Robert Hammiltoun of Inche-mauchane, lykewayis affermit be the said Robert; quhillk purpois, the said Laird of Duntraith lykwayis testefeit, wes refusit altogidder be the said Laird of Manis, and nawayis thocht gud be him; and nochtheles, infafar as the said Laird of Manis hes concelit the famin, and nocht revelit it to the Kingis Maieftie; in ane voice, conuictis the said Malcolmme Dowglas of the conceling thairrof; and put him thairfoir in the Kingis Maiefteis mercye. In witnes quhairrof, the chancellare, in name of the rest Assyffouris, subferyuit the said conuictioun in the Minut buk.

SENTENCE. The famin day, eftir the said conuictioun, the Justice, be the mouth of Johnne Andro, dempstare of the said Court, adingeit and for Dome gaif, that the saidis Johnne Cuninghame of Drumquhassill and Malcolmme Dowglas of Manis fuld be tane to ane skaffauld, belyde the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit, quhill thair wer deid, and quarterit and drawin: And that all thair mouabill and vnmouabill gudis, landis, heretageis, possessionis, takkis, stedingis, offices, coirnis, cattell, lyfrentis, actionis and all vtheris quhat-funeuir quhillkis pertenuit to thame, aucht and fuld perteine to our fouerane lord, and to be applyit to his hienes vse, and to remane with him and his fuceffouris for euir, be refloun of Efcheit and ffoirfaltour.

Murder of Henric Darnley, King of Scottis.

AT EDINBURGH, within the Tolbuith of the famin, the xxvj day of Maii, the 3eir of God Im.Vc. fourfcoir sex 3eiris.

IN PRESENCE of the rycht honorabill SIR LWES BELLENDEN of Auchnowle, knycht, Clerk of our fouerane lordis Justiciarie, MR ROBERT DOWGLAS, prowest of Linclwdene, collectour generall of this realme, DOWGLAS of Quhittingheme, ane of the fenatouris of the College of Justice and PATRIK LETHINGTOUN of Saltcoittis, prefens of ane honorabill and discreet man, Willaime Litill, Prowest of Edinburghe, and me Maister James Bannatyne, Clerk-depute ordiner, in the office of Justiciarie, noter publict ; and produceit ANE COMMISSIOUNE, direct be our fouerane lord, vnder his hienes quarter-feill, off the dait at Halirudhouse, the twentie-fyve day of Maii, the 3eir of God I^m.V^c. fourscoir sex 3eiris, and of his Maiesteis regune the nyntene 3eir, Makand and constituand his louittis, MAISTERIS JOHNE PRESTOUNE and EDUARD BRUCE, coniunctlie and feueralie, his hienes Justices in that pairt, to fens and hauld Courtis of Justiciarie, for administratioun of Justice, vponne MR ARCHEBAULD DOWGLAS, dilaitit and suspect of the crewall, horribill, abhominabill and treffonabill MURTHOUR OF VMQUHILE HENRIE KING OF SCOTTIS of gud memorie, darrest fader to our fouerane lord ; and being actuallie present thairat in cumpanie with vmquhile James funtyme Erll of Bothwell and vtheris his complicis ; the tyme of the committing of the famin in the moneth of Februare, the 3eir of God I^m.V^c. threscoir sex 3eiris : Defyring the saidis personis to be sworne to minister justice lelilie and trewlie in the said mater, conforme to the tennour of the said Commissioun, law and consuetude of this realme. Quba immediatlie thairefter acceptit the said Commissioun vpon thame and befoir me notare and witnellès abouewrittin, be haulding vp of thair rycht hand, swoir and gaif thair aithis for ministratioun of justice lelilie and trewlie in the said office of Justiciarie as Justices in that pairt, conforme to the tennour of the said Commissioun, as thai wald ansuer to our fouerane lord thairvponne ; and than incontinent for deductioun of forder proces in the said mater, Ordanit thair officiaris of Justiciarie to fens Court, for obedience of the said Commissioun and acceptatioun thairof. Quhairvponne the said Mr Dauid Makgill askit instrumentis of me notare publict and clerk foirsaid.

(May 26, 1586.)—Compeirit Mr Dauid Makgill 3ounger. Aduocate, substitute to Maister Dauid Makgill of Nisbet, aduocate to our fouerane lord. in

CURIA JUSTICIARIE, f. d. n. Regis tenta in Pretorio de Edinburghe, vicefimo sexto die Maii anno domini millefimo quingentesimo octuagesimo sexto, per honorabiles et discretos viros, Magistros Joannem Prestoun et Eduardum Bruce, Justiciarios in hac parte dicti f. d. n. Regis, virtute sue Commissionis specialiter constitutos. SECTIS vocatis et Curia legitime affirmata.

IN the quhilk Court the saidis Justices produceit ane Precept direct to thame be the Kingis Maiestie, commanding thame to accept ane Commissioun of Justiciarie vponne thame, and to put Mr Archebauld Dowglas, dilaitit of certane heich poyntis and crymes of Treffoun, to the tryell of ane Inqueist : Off the quhilk Precept the tennour followis.

MAISTERIS JOHNE PRESTOUNE, EDUARD BRUCE, Aduocattis and Commisferis of Edinburghe, We greit 3ow weill. Forfamekill as, Mr Archebauld Dowglas is to be presentit vponne pe xxvj day of Maij instant in pe Tolbuyth of Edinburghe, to be tryit vponne certane heich poyntis of Treffounne, concerning pe murthour of our maist darrest fader ; and to pe effect pe mater may be pe bettir tryit we have directit our Commissioun vnto 3ow, creating and substituand 3ou our Justices in pat part, to pe effect contenit in pe said Commissioun. Thairfoir it is our will and We charge 3ow straitlie, and commandis, that immediatlie efter þe sycht of þir presentis, 3e accept the said Commissioun in and vpoun 3ow, gif 3our aith for administratioun in þe said Commissioun and put þe said mater to þe tryell of ane Inqueist, and do justice pairinto, according to the lawis of þis realme, but ony forder delay; as 3e will eschew our indignatioun. Subferyuit with our hand att Halirudhous, þe xxv day of Maii 1586.

JAMES R. P. MAISTER OF GRAY. LINCLUDEN.

Treasonable Conspiracy—Murder of King Henry Barnley.

Comperit personalie on pannell the samin day, in presens of the saidis Jugeis, May 26.—Mr ARCHEBAULD DOUGLAS, Parfoun of Glasgw.¹

Dilaitit of the horribill, crewall, vnmatural and tressonabill murthour, slauchter and paricide of vniq^{le} our fouerane lordis darrest fader, Henrie King of Scottis of gude memorie, and vtheris crymes; committit at the tyme and in maner at lenth vnderwrittin.

The samin day, comperit Mr David Makgill, aduocat, substitut to Maister David Makgill of Nisbet, aduocat to our fouerane lord, in his hienes name, as perseware; and exponit and declarit, that he had ressauit ane speciall Warrant and command, direct fra the Kingis Maiestie, chairgeing him to persew the said Mr Archebault, of the crymes aboue specifeit; quhilk he produceit in iugement, and desyrit the samin to be infert in proces; quhair of the temour followis.

‘ REX.

‘ Aduocat and 3our substitut, we greit 3ow hairtie weil. Forfamekle as we have apoyntit þe xxvj day of Maii instant, for presenting of Mr Archebault Dowglas, persone of Glasgw, to vnderlie our lawis, for airt and pairt consulting, treitting and executioun of þe maist horribill slauchter and murthour of our vniq^{le} darrest fader of gude memorie, We command 3ow, with all conuenient speid, to tak informatioun, be all meanis possibill, for accusatioun of þe said Mr Archebault of þe tressonabill crymes soirsaidis; and þat 3e persew him thairfor þe said day apoyntit, or ony vtheris dayis pairrefter to follow, be ane condignne Assyis, quhill he be ather foule or cleane² of the crymes soirsaidis: ffor the quhilk this present salbe to 3ow sufficient warrant. Subferyuet with our hand att Halirudhous, þe xxij day of Maij, and of our regne the nyntene 3eir, 1586.

‘ JAMES R.’

As also produceit in iugement, in presens of the saidis jugeis, Letteris direct for summing of ane Assyis to this day, vpoun the said Mr Archebault; quhair by ane sufficient nowmer of Assyis is fund. Quhilkis letteris ar of the dait, att Edinburghe, the xxij day of Maij, and of our fouerane lordis regning, the nyntene 3eir, 1586. Togidder with the Dittay, quhair of he is to be accusit: Offering him reddie to persew the said Mr Archebault of the samin, and crymes contentit thairin. Of the quhilk, the temour followis.

¹ He was cousin to Regent Morton, and was also one of the Ordinary Lords of Council and Session. Reference is made to Mr Arnot's Collection for a narrative of facts relative to this shameful and collusive trial. The acquittal of the Parson of Glasgow has justly been attributed to the unprincipled intrigues of Patrick Master of Gray, and of Rauldolph the English ambassador. See also Moyses' Memoirs, &c. ² Until he be found guilty or else acquitted.

DITTAY against Mr Archibald Dowglas, Parson of Glasgow.

Maister Archebald Dowglas, perfon of Glasgw : 3e are inditit and acenfit, that in the monethis of Januar and Februare, the 3eir of God I^m.V^c. threfcoir fex 3eiris, 3e being accompaneit with James funtyme Erle Bothwell, James Ormeftoun funtyme of þat Ilk, Robert alias Hob Ormeftonne his faderis broder, Johnne Hay funtyme of Talla, Johnne Hepburne callit Johnne of Bowtoun and diuerffe vtheris 3our complicitis, craftelie and fecreitlie confpyrit amangis 3our felfis, denyfit and maliciouſlie confultit, treitit and concludit þe maift ſchamefull, deteftabill and vnnaturall murthour and paricide of our ſouerane lordis darreft fader of gude memorie, Henry King of Scottis, ſpous for þe tyme to his hienes darreft moder Marie, then Qwene of Scottis ; and þat within þe burch of Edinburghe, Palice of Halirudhous, and vtheris places þairabout : And to þe end that 3e mycht bring 3our wickit and execrabil attempt bettir to pas, 3e with þe remanent perſonis afoir nammit, be 3our felfis, 3our ſerwandis, complices and vtheris in 3our names, of 3our cawſing, command, airt, pairt-taking, aſſiſtance and ratihabitoun, vpoun þe tent day of þe ſaid moneth of Februare, att twa houris eftir midnycht or þairby, come to þe lugeing befyde þe Kirk of Field, within þe ſaid bur^t of Edinburghe, quhair our ſaid ſouerane lordis fader wes ludgeit for þe tyme ; and þair, be way of hamefuckin, brigaurie¹ and foirthocht felony, maift wyildlie,² vnmercifullie and treſſonable, flew and muredreft him, togidder with Williame Tail3eour and Andro Makeaig,³ his cubiculeris,³ quhen as thay, bureit in ſleip, wer takand þe nychtis reft, brint his lugeing foirſaid, and raſit þe ſamin in the air, be force of gun-pulder, quhilk a little afoir wes placeit and mput be 3ow and 3our foirſaidis vnder þe ground and angulare ſtanis,⁴ and within þe woltis in laich and daruit⁵ places to þat effect : And quhairthrow, 3e haif incurrit þe panis of Leſe-maieſtie, and ſuld be pwneift þairfoir in all rigour, be tinſale⁶ of lyff, landis and guidis, and extinctionoun of fame, titill, honour and memorie, conforme to þe lawis of þis realme. Lyke as, þe haill perſonis, ſpecialie afoir nammit, 3our complices and conſpiratouris with 3ow in þis treſſonabill cryme, as þai culd be apprehendit, þai ſufferrit maift ſchamefull deid þairfoir, according to þair deſeruingis. ITEM, 3e ar indyttit and accuſit for þe treſſonabill Conſpiracie of þe ſaid deteftabill deid and murthour of our ſaid ſouerane lordis vnq^{le} darreft fader, the ſamin being oppniti⁷ to 3ow be þe ſaid vnq^{le} James funtyme Erle of Bothwell, and vtheris chief Conſpiratouris, quhairas of dewtie 3e wer obleift to haue reueleit þe ſamin, quhilk gif 3e hed done, the ſaid maift abhominabill, ſchamefull and crewall interpryſe of þe ſaid murthour had bene impeidit, and our said fouerane lordis darrest faderis lyff, be gude meanis, had been preserued : And pairfoir, your said foirknowledge and concealing in ane cryme sa haynous and tressonabill, wes neir alyke and equall to þe committing of þe deid : And pairfoir, ze aucht to be pwneist in lyff, landis, fame and honour, as said is.—To þe TAKIN¹ that ze war airt and parte, confultare, treittare, deuyfare and executer of þe said tressonabill, horibill, cryme and murthour, ze wer actuallie present pairat, and execut þe samin with your awin handis, vpoune þe said tent day of Februare, at twa eftir mydnycht, quhair, by þe preisse and thrang of peple, the tyme of þe executioun of þe said murthour, ze tint your mwlis,² quhilk being fundin vpoune þe morne at þe same place, wer acknawlegeit to haif bene youris. And ze wer euir pairafter in griter familiaritie with þe said vmq^{le} James sumtyme Erle of Bothwell, be þe participatioun of þe said abhominabill tressoun with him, to þe effect that ather of you mycht mainteime and support vtheris in your wickit deidis. And this is maist notourlie knawin, and ze can nocht deny.—To þe mair³ takin : Quhen ze wes to be attintit befor our fouerane lord and the lordis of his Secreit Counsale, for þe said abhominabill tressoune, vpoun þe first day of December, 1580 zeiris, ze gat secreit intelligence pairof, and nocht being habil to abyde þe law pairof, bot findand yourself maist giltie pairof in your conscience, ze wer fugitiue furth of this realme to þe partis of Ingland, quhair ze remanit diuerse zeiris pairafter ; planelie takand vpoune you þe said abhominabill cryme : Lyk as, schortlie pairafter, in þe moneth of Nouember, 1581 zeiris, ze wer foirfaltit for þe said cryme. As þe proces of foirfaltour beiris.—To þe mair³ takin : your maist familiare serwand, vmq^{le} Johnne Binning, quha for airt and pair-taking with you in þe said abhominabill and tressonabill cryme, wes conuict and put to death, in þe moneth of Junij, 1581 zeiris foirsaid, being ofttymes tryit⁴ vpoune your pair pairof, fermelie and constantlie deponit that ze wer airt, pairt, deuyfar and executour of þe said abhominabill murthour ; and þat ze wer actuallie and in proper person pairat ; quhairat also he abaid and tuk þe samin vpoun him, in presens of þe haill pepill bystanding, at his executioun.—To þe mair takin : Vmquhile James Erle of Mortoune, eftir his conuictioun and befor his death, nocht onlie confest, that he himself foirknew þe said horribill murthour, bot als, that ze your self wes þe reweillare pairof vnto him : And forder, þat ze wer actuallie at þe executioun of þe samin, as is maist notourlie knawin : Quhilk ze can nocht deny.

¹ Briganderie. O. Fr.² Vilely, baſely.³ Grooms of the bed-chamber.⁴ Corner-stones.⁵ Concealed, hidden.⁶ Loſs, deprivation.⁷ Revealed, diſcloſed.

THE said Mr Archebould, anfueraund to the Aduocat vpoun the Dittay produceit aganis him, as yit nocht red in his presens ; desyrit of the Justices that the famin mycht be red, befor thair entrie to forder proces, that he mycht anfuer thairto, for defence of his lyff. Quhairvnto thai condiscendand, and for fatiffeing of his defyre, caufit reid the famin oppinlie in jugement. Quhilk being red, he acceptit as it wes confaut, and offerit himself reddie to anfuer to euerie poynt, quhen he fuld be accusit befor the Affyis be the famin. And for his bettir defence, vfit and produceit ane Warrant direct be the Kingis Maiestie to the Justice, for admissioun of his lawfull defensis. Quhair of the tennour followis.

¹ In token, proof, or testimony. ² Mullis, 'a kind of slippers without quarters, usually made of fine cloth or velvet, and adorned with embroidery.' Dr Jamieson. They are afterwards described as 'welvat mulis' in the course of the trial. ³ Further. ⁴ Examined, probably upon torture.

‘ REX.

‘ JUSTICE, Justice-Clerk, and 5our deputtis, we greit 5ow weill. Forfamekill as we haif appoyntit pe xxvj day of this instant, for tryell of Mr Archebault Dowglas, of certane crymes of Lese-maiestie, to be laid to his charge, befor 5ow, in pe Tolbuyth of Edinburghe; and albeit it be our mynd pat pe said mater be handillit according to our honour and pe lawis of pis realme, 5it we intend nawayis that ony reffonabill defence or moyen be tane away fra pe said Mr Archebault, quhilk may be competent to him, ather of equity or ellis be our saidis lawis. Thairfoir it is our will, and we charge 5ow, that 5e hauld Court pe said xxvj day of Maij, and put pe said Mr Archebault to pe tryell of ane inqueist, vpoun sic heidis and articles of lese-maiestie as falbe gevin in Dittay; admittand neuerthles to pe said Mr Archebault, his hail lanfull defensis, safar as pe famin may be competent to him. Subferyuit with our hand att Hialirudhous, pe xxvj day of Maij, and of our regne pe nyntene 5eire, 1586.

(Sic subferibitur)

‘ JAMES R.’

Efter the production of the quhilk Warrant, and reffait thair of be the Justice, the said Mr Archebault, leinning to his innocencie, but¹ defyre of ony prolocutour to speik for him in this caus, allegeit, that the secund poynt of Dittay, tuiching the foirknawing and conceling of the said murthour, aucht nocht to be put to the knowlege of ane Affyis, be reffoune, that our fouerane loird, of his frie mercie and grace, had grantit to him his hienes Remiffioun for the famin: Quhilk Remiffioun he produceit in jugement, and tuik him thairto. Of the quhilk the tennour followis.

LETTERS OF REMISSION in favor of Mr Archibald Dowglas.

‘ JACOBUS Dei gracia rex Scotorum. Omnibus probis hominibus suis, ad quos presentes litere peruenerint, Salutem. Sciatis, quia ex nostris specialibus gracia et misericordia, Remissimus tenoreque presentium Remittimus, dilecto nostro Archibaldo Dowglas, vni ordinariorum dominorum Consilij et Sessionis, pro omnibus criminibus, transgressionibus et prodicionibus, per ipsum Archibaldum, aliquo tempore ante datum presentium, cuiuscunque granitatis ac qualitatis sint commiss., (conspiracione tamen, consilio, tractacione, arte, parte et executione, horribilis et detestabilis murthure nostri quondam charissimi patris tantummodo exceptis;) pro quibus dictus Archibaldus, cognitioni nostrorum legum subditus erit: Prouiso quod dictus Archibaldus precognitione et concealatione dicti horribilis murthure nullo modo oneratus sit; ad quod, Nos, pro diuersis grauibus consideracionibus Nos mouen., volumus et concedimus, quod dicta Remissio extendatur; et quod in eadem comprehendatur omnis offensio et crimen que dicto Archibaldo pro sua allegata precognitione et concealatione dicte horribilis murthure vt dictum est imputari possint. Et supra, dictum Archibaldum, sub firma pace et protectione nostra,

¹ Without.

infcipien. firmiter inhibemus, ne quis ei occasione predictorum criminum, transgressionum et prodictionum omnium antedict. (exceptis prius except.) malum, molestiam, iniuriam aut grauamen aliquod inferre presumat iniuste; super nostram plenariam floriffacturam; aut ad mortem ei inferat, sub pena amissionis vite et membrorum. IN cuius rei testimonium, has literas nostras Remissionis, pro toto tempore vite prefati Magistri Archibaldi duraturas, sub nostro magno sigillo, sibi fieri fecimus patentes. APUD Halirudhous, vicesimo primo die mensis Maii, anno domini millesimo quingentesimo octuagesimo sexto et regni nostri decimo Nono.

Quhilk Remission being redd oppinlie in judgement, and confidderit be the saidis Justices, they stand and pronunceit, that the secund pairt of the foirsaid Dittay, concerning the foirknowledge and concealing of the Murthour foirsaid, in respect thair of, fuld nocht be put to the tryell of ane Assyis. Quhairvpoun the said Mr Archebald askit instrumentis.

And the said Mr Archebald altogidder denyit the first pairt of the said Dittay, offering himself to the knowledge of ane condignne Assyis for the same, wes ordanit be the saidis Juges to be put to the tryell of the personis vnderwrittin, summond vpoun his Assyis, be vertew of our fouerane lordis lettres.

ASSISA.

Patrik Maister of Gray,	Gilbert Gray of Baldarran,
James Coluile of Eifter Wemis,	Mr Samuel Cokburne of Tempilball,
Robert Logane of Restalrig,	George Home of Spott,
Andro Gray of Dunnynald,	Patrik Johnnestoun, 3ounger of
Andro Logane, younger of Cotfeild,	Elphinstoume.

And becaus the remanent personis of Assyis, summond, be vertew of the saidis Lettres, to this day, being oftymes callit, compeirit nocht, and wer amerciat thairfoir, the said Mr Archebald sehorthie thairestir produceit ane Warrant and Precept, direct be our fouerane lord to the Justices and Aduocatis substitut foirsaid, Ordaning thame to supplie the nowmer of the absentis with sic gentillmen as mycht be gottin summond, ather within the burcht or at the bar: Quhilk Precept the said Aduocat, for his Warrant, desyrit to be insert in proces; quhair of the temmour followis.

‘ REX,

‘ JUSTICES and our Aduocat and 3our deput, We greit 3ow weill. We understand pat Mr Archebald Dowglas is enterit presenlie on pannell, and that his tryell stayis becaus pat sic personis as ar summond vpoun his Assyis compeiris nocht, and pat pair laikis 3it sum personis of ane perfyte nowmer. Therfoir, it is our will that, according to pe lawis of our realme, and pratick of 3our court, 3e supplie pe absentis with sic gentillmen as 3e may get, ather within our burcht of Edinburghe, or within pe bar, and caus same be sworne vpoun pe said inqueist, to pe effect pe said mater ressaue na langer delay; keipand this Precept for 3our Warrant. Subscryuit with our hand, att Halirudhous, pe xxvj day of Maij, 1586.

(Sic subseribitur.) ‘ JAMES R.’

Lyke as, the saidis Jugeis, flor obedience of the said Precept, causit be thair officiar, ane of our fouerane lordis messingeris summond the personis following to pas vpoun the said Mr Archebouldis Assyis, for compleating of ane full nowmer. Thay ar to say, REMAINDER OF THE ASSISE.

William Ker of Ancrum, 3ounger,	Alexander Baillie of Lital-Gill,
Mr Robert Fawfyde, 3ounger of that Ilk,	Gawin Carmichell of Wrichtiflandis,
James Logane of Parfonif-knowis,	Andro Ker of Grenheid,
George Hammiltoun of Prestoune,	Walter Ker, brother to the said Laird of Grenheid.

Quhilkis perfonis being callit and compeirand befor the saidis Justices, wes admittit be the said Mr Archebould to pas vpoun his Assyis, with the remanent perfonis aboue writtin, for tryell of his innocencie in the said caus, and joyuit be the Justices to the remanent of the nowmer admittit vpoun the said Assyis of befor : and thai all sworne be thair grit aithis, to delyuer vpoun the poyntis of the said Dittay, conforme to the ordour and consuetud of this realme, ordourlie be thair names.

And immediatlie efter the chesing and admitting and sueiring of the hail foirnamit perfonis of Assyis in jugement, as vse is, and the said Mr Archebould Dowglas being judicillie accusit of the horribill, detestabill and tressonabill crymes contenit in the first poynt of the Dittay foirsaid, the samin being denyit be him simpliciter, oppinlie, in presens of the saidis Jugeis ; and referrit to the tryell and knowlege of the foirsaidis perfonis of Assyis ; the said Aduocat-subsstitut, for the bettir instructioun and verefeing of the said Dittay and takinnis thairof, produceit thair, instantlie, the proces of ffoirfaltour led and deduceit aganis him for the samin in the Parliament hauldin and begun at Edinburghe the day of 1581 3eiris.

To the quhilk anfuert the said Mr Archebould ; and ffirst, to the first takin of the said Dittay, declairing that ‘ in þe preis and thrang of þe pepill þe tyme of þe executioun of þe said murthour that he tint his mwlis, quhilkis being fund vpoune the morne, wer acknawlegeit to haif bene his ; ’ that the samin wes alto-gidder vntrew ; desyring the samin to be verefeit, be ony perfonis quha wer present at the finding of the saidis mwlis, or had sene the samin at ony tyme thairefter ; and that the samin can nawayis appeir, be the Depositionis and declaratioune of the said vmq^{le} Johnne Binning, deponing, that the said Mr Archebould his maister, past in ane secret¹ and steilbonnett, armit, to the committing of the said horribill cryme, quhairby the passage betuix his lugeing and the place quhair the said murthour wes committit, being nawayis meit to ane perfon armit, to pas with welwat mulis to sic ane deid ; and nawayis lyklic, be gud appeirance nather, that na sic thing wes fund ; and the said takin, to be bot an allegeance.—Secundlie, anfueraud to the secund takin of the said Dittay, makand mentioun, that ‘ quhen he wes to be attemptit,¹ befor our fouerane lord and the lordis of his hienes Secreit Counsale for the said abhominable Trefoune, vpoun the last day of December, the 3eir of God I^m.V^c. and fourefcoir 3eiris, getting intelligence pairrof, wes fugitiue furth of this realme to the pairtis of Ingland for the famin, and that he schortlie thairefter, in the moneth of (Nov.) 1581 3eiris, wes foirfaltit for the said cryme ;’ exponit and declarit, that the occasioun of the absenting of him self of the realme wes throw just feir, quhairvnto ony persoun wald haif bene mouit, his gudis, geir, rowmes and possessionis being intronettit with, befor ony atteiching : Lyk as, he schortlie efter his passing furth of the realme, being informit that he wes dilaitit of the said horribill cryme quhairrof he wes innocent, safare as the famin come to his knowlege, the Quenis Maiesties of Inglandis Ambassadour being in Scotland for the tyme, in his name, offerrit to present him to the Kingis Maiestie, that he mycht be tryit of the said cryme, swa that² thair wer deput vnuspect Jugeis and personis of Affyis : Quhairvnto his hienes anfuerit, that he wald nocht indent with his subiect. And as for the proces of ffoirfaltour produceit, the famin can be na witnes nor takin to comiet him of the said cryme, in respect our fouerane lord had grantit vnto him, his hienes Letteris of Rehabilitioun, annulling the said sentence of ffoirfaltour, and declairing and decerning the famin, to be of na force nor effect, als weill in jugement as outwith, aganis him. Quhilkis Letteris he produceit in jugement, for verefeing of the said allegiance as the famin vnder the Grit Seill, off the dait at Halirudhous the xxj day of Maii, the 3eir of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir sex 3eiris, and of our fouerane lordis regme the nyntene 3eir, at mair lenth beiris.

¹ A shirt of mail privately worn under the usual dress.

Anfuerit the Aduocat, that the saidis Letteris of Rehabilitioun can nawayis tak away the proces of ffoirfaltour, the famin standand vnreduceit ; and ferrit the famin to be confidderit be the Affyis. And forder, for verefeing of the said Dittay, and thrid takin thairof, maid vpoun the said Johnne Binningis Declaratioun and Deposition ; produceit thre of the said Johnne Binningis Depositionis, maid thairanent, in presens of the Lordis of our fouerane lordis Secreit Counsale : The first, maid at Edinburgh the tent day of Maii, fourefcoir ane 3eiris, (1581) in presens of the Erle of Argyll, Chancellare, the Erle of Arrane, the Erle of Montrois, the Lord Ruthven, Mr Robert Creychtoun of Eliok, Aduocat, and Alexander Hay, Clerk of Register, subscriuit be the said Erle of Arrane and Alexander Hay : The secund, of the dait the eilevint day of Maii, in presens of the Erle of Arrane, the Erle of Montrois, the Laird of Bargany, the Laird of Arkinglase, the Gudman of Manderstoune and the Clerk of Register, subferyuit be the hail personis abouewrittin, auditouris to the saidis Depositionis : The thrid, daitit at Edinburghe the xv day of Maii, the zeir of God I^m.V^c. fourefeoir ane, in prefens of the Erlis of Arrane and Montrois, the Lard of Arkinglas, subferyuit be the saidis Erlis of Arrane and Montrois and the Clerk of Register : ffermelie and constantlie deponing that the said Mr Archebauld past to the deid-doing, the said Johnne Binning and Thomas Gairner his serwandis being with him in cumpanie, and that the said Mr Archebauld wes actualle thairat. And forder, produceit thre v^{thir} Depositionis, the ane maid be v^mq^{le} James Ormestoune funtyme of that Ilk, the v^{ther} be v^mq^{le} Johnne Hay funtyme of Tala, zomnger, and the thrid maid be v^mq^{le} Pareis, Ffrenchunan.

¹ Attainted, forfeited. ² Provided.

Anfuerit the said Mr Archebauld thairto, first, that the said v^mq^{le} Johnne Binningis Depositionis¹ can mak na thing aganis him, confiddering the famin ar altogidder variant and contrarious ; in the self-sam-tyme declairing, that he wes past to his bed, the nycht of the committing thairof, and that the said v^mq^{le} Johnne past furth of his chalmer to his awin dwelling hous to his bed, quhair he restit quhill the said abhominabill Murthour wes committit ; and heiring the crak¹ of the blawing of the Kingis hous in the air with powder, rais and come to his said Maisteris chalmer, quhair he fand him lyand in his bed, reidand on ane buk : and in ane v^{ther} pairt of his saidis Depositionis, declairing, that the said Mr Archebauld, efter that he had slepit in his awin chalmer that nycht of the committing of the Murthour, naue being with him bot the said Johnne and Thomas Garduer, and quhen it wes lait, past to the committing of the famin, accompaneit with thame, out at his bak zet ; quhilk is contrarious :² And declairing lykewayis, that vpoun the morne thairefter, he conuoyit the said Mr Archebauld to the Tolbuyth, quhilk culd nocht stand, feing the tyme of the committing thairof wes vpoun the Soneday befoir ffastinis-ewin, in the tyme of Vacance, quhen the Lordis fittis nocht, and that he wes nocht vpoun the Sessioum at that tyme ; and thairfoir desyrit the contrarieties of the saidis Johnne Binningis Depositionis to be confidderit be the saidis personis of Assyis, and thame to cognos thairin, to the bettir trying of his innoeence : And siclyk allegeit, that the said v^mq^{le} Johnne wes nawayis his serwand the tyme of the committing of the said horribill Murthour, nor zit come in his seruice be the space of twa zeiris thaireftir.⁷

Quhairvnto the said Aduocat anfuerit, that the Depositionis of the said v^mq^{le} Johnne Binning wer sufficient to testifie the said Dittay to be trew, feing in the hail heidis thairof he aggreis the said Mr Archebauld to be participant of the said tressonabill and v^mnaturall Murthour.—To the quhilk, anfuerit the said

¹ Report.² Contradictory.

Mr Archebault, That the saidis Depositionis, can not be sufficient to verifie the said Dittay, seing the said vni^q^{le} Johnne wes bot singularis testis, quhilk in civilibus, culd nocht be habil to preif ony actioun of geir, far-les in criminalibus, to tak away anie mannis lyff: And as to the fferd takin of the said Dittay, alleget maid vpon the Confessioun of vni^q^{le} James sumtyme Erle of Mortoun, anfuers, that na sic Depositionis wer producit in iugement nor zit to the Assyis; and thairfoir desyrit thame to have respect thairto, specialie in consideratioun that the said takin beiris that the said vni^q^{le} Erle of Mortoune, eftir his convictioun and befor his death, confessit that he him self foirknew the said horribill Murthour, as also that the said Mr Archebault wes the reuelare thairof to him, and actuallie at the executioun of the samin; and geveand and nocht grantand that the said Deposition had bene maid, zit the samin can testefie na thing aganis him; becaus of the law the Depositionis of ane conuict and condempnit persoun can nawayis be ressaunt to heir testimonie aganis ane vther. And forder, anfuers to the Depositionis of vni^q^{le} James Ormestoune sumtyme of that Ilk, vni^q^{le} Johnne Hay of Talo and vni^q^{le} Pareis, Frenchman, that the samin makis na thing aganis him, na mentioun being maid of him in ony of thair Depositionis; bot that the samin serues rather to the bettir instructioun of the personis of Assyis of his innocence: And fforder, the said Mr Archebault acceptit the saidis Depositionis of the saidis vni^q^{le} Johnne Hay, Pareis, Frenchman, and Laird of Ormestoun; and repeatit thame for his justifiatioun, anent that pairt of the Dittay, quhairin wes alleget, that he conspyrit with thame and vni^q^{le} James sumtyme Erle of Bothwell, vpon the tressonabill Murthour foirsaid, be ressaunt the contrair planelie appeirit be the Depositionis of the saidis personis: quhairin wes contenit the hail maner of the actuall doing of the deid be thame selfis and vtheris thair compliceis, and na mentioun maid of him; nather culd it appeir that he onywayis had knowlege thairof; desyring the personis of Assyis to reid and consider the samin befor ony delyuerance or writting.—Anfuersit the said Advocate, that the Depositionis of the said vni^q^{le} Johnne Binning ar sufficient to instruct the said Dittay, togidder with the notoriety of the said deid, seing the said vni^q^{le} Johnne abaid thairat to the hour of his death: And as for the said vni^q^{le} James Erle of Mortoune's Depositionis, the samin ar mair nor notoure to the personis of Assyis and to the hail cuntrie, and neidis na forder productioun: And thairfoir, in respect of the notoriety foirsaid, protestit, that in caice the saidis personis of Assyis clenge and acquit the said Mr Archebault of the said horribill and crewall Murthour, for Wilfull errour: Vpon the quhilk he askit instrumentis.

COMPEIRIT the samin day, Sir Williame Stewart of, sone lawfull to Andro Lord Stewart of Vchiltrie, as neir cousing and kinnisman to our soverane lord, and protestit, that in respect the said Mr Archebauld standis convict in Parliament of airt and pairt of the horribill and tressonabill Murthour and slauchter of the said v^mq^{le} Henrie King of Scottis, fader to our soverane lord, that in caice the saidis personis of Assyis clenge him thairrof, for Wilfull Errorr; and gif he sal happin to be fund culpabill heirefter of the samin, that his hienes sal haif sufficient actionne of Errorr aganis thame. Quhairvpoun he lyke wayis askit instrumentis.

And the said Mr Archebauld protestit in the contrair, in respect of his answeris and defensis foirsaidis, and that the Kingis Maiestie hes tane away the said sennement¹ of Parliament be his hienes Lettres of Rehabilitationne aboue writtin, producit in proces, of the dait foirsaid, annulling the said sennement: Quhairvpoun he askit instrumentis.

VERDICT. And immediatlie thairefter, the saidis personis of Assyis aboue writtin, chosin, sworne and admittit, as said is, remouit thame selfis furth of the said Court, for thair bettir delyuerance vpoun the poyntis of the said Dittay, and being altogidder conuenit, chuse and admittit Patrik Maister of Gray in Chancellor of the said Assyis; quha, efter lang reffoning had be thame vpoune the said Dittay, takimis and Depositionis producit, defensis and answeris maid thairto; thay and ilkane of thame, being ryplie auisit thairwith, all in ane voice, but² discrepance, votit, fand and delyuerit the said Mr Archebauld Douglas, person of Glasgw, to be clene and acquit of his being in cumpany, in the monethis of Januer and Februer, the 3eir of God I^m.V^c. threfcoir and sex 3eiris, with v^mq^{le} James sumtyme Erle of Bothwell, v^mq^{le} James Ormiston of that Ilk, v^mq^{le} Johnne Hay sumtyme of Talo, v^mq^{le} Johnne Hepburne callit of Boltoune and diuerse vtheris thair compliceis, craftelie and secreitlie conspyring amangis thame, deuising and malicioullie consulting, treiting and concluding the maist schamefull, detestabill and vnnaturall Murthour and paricide of v^mq^{le} our soverane lordis darrest fader v^mq^{le} Henrie King of Scottis of gude memorie, spous for the tyme to his hienes darrest moder Marie then Qwen of Scottis; and that within the toun of Edinburghe, palice of Halirudhouse and vtheris places thairabout; and for the bettir performing of the said wickit and execrabil interpryse and attempt, be him self and vtheris in his name of his cawfing, airt, pairt-taking, assistance and rathabitoun, cuming to the ludginge besyde the Kirk of Feild within the said bur^t of Edinburghe, quhair the said v^mq^{le} Henrie King of Scottis our soverane lordis darrest fader wes lugeit for the tyme, vpoun the tent day of the said moneth of Februar, the 3eir of God foirsaid, at twa houris efter midnycht or thairby; and thair be way of brigaurie, hamefuekin and foirthocht felony, maist wyldlie, vnumercifullie and tressonablie murthering and flaying of him, togidder with vmq^{le} William Tailzeour and Andro M^cCaig his cubicularis, quhen as thai, bureit in fleip, wes takand the nychtis rest, birning his ludgeing foirfaid, rasing of the famin in the air be force of gwn-powlder, quhilk a litill ofbefoir wes placeit and imput be him vnder the grund and angulour stanis, and within the woltis and laich and darnit placis to that effect. And being re-enterit agane in jugement in presens of the saidis Justices, be the mouth and declaratioun of the said Patrik Maister of Gray, Chancellor of the said Assyis, pronunceit the said Maister Archebault to be Acquit of the Dittay foirfaid and crymes contenit thairin: Quhairvpoune the said Mr Archebault Dowglas askit instrumentis.

¹ Sentence, finding, judgment. ² Without.

PROTEST by the Assise, that they should not be liable in Wilful Error.

AND immediatlie thairefter the said Patrik Maister of Gray, Chancellare of the said Assyis, for himself and in name and behalf of the remanent personis Assyfouris abouewrittin, askit instrumentis, that the Depositionis of the saidis vmq^{le} James Ormstoun of that Ilk, vmq^{le} Johnne Hay of Talo and vmq^{le} Pareis, Frenchman, maid na mentioun of the said Mr Archebault, nor contenit na thing aganis him: And in respect thair wes na thing produceit for verefeing of the said Dittay, quhairby the saidis personis of Assyis mycht haue bene perswadit to have delyuerit vtherwayis nor is abouewrittin, except the Depositionis of vmq^{le} Johnne Binning, quhilkis ar bot aue witnes, and altogidder variant and contrarious in the self, nor 3it was the said Dittay sworne nather be the Aduocat nor na vtheris his informaris; and that the proces of ffoirfaltour led in Parliament aganis the said Mr Archebault is tane away be the Kingis Maiesteis Letteris of Rehabilitatioune, and that na Depositionis of the said James sumtyme Erle of Mortoune wes produceit befor thame for fortefeing of the said Dittay, and that the said takin of Dittay bure the said vmq^{le} Erle of Mortoune to haif deponit efter his conuictioun: Thairfoir, confidering thai haif delyuerit efter thair knowleg, protestit that thai fuld incurre na Wilfull Error in ony tymes heirefter. Quhilk instrumentis and protestatioune thay, efter thair re-entrie agane in jugement in the said Court of Justiciarie, cawfit be oppinlie red of new in presens of the saidis Justices: and thairvpoune the said Patrik Maister of Gray, Chancellor, for himself and in name and behalf foirfaid, of new askit instrumentis, and protestit in maner abouewrittin.

THE famin day, Sir Archebault Naper of Edinwillie (Edinbelly) knycht, Sir Johnne Edmestoun of that Ilk, George Home of Wedderburne, Alexander Dalmahoy of that Ilk, Mowbray of Barnebugall, Francis Dowglas of Borg, Thomas Ottirburne of Reidhall, George Home of Broxmyth, Robert Lord Seytounne, Patrik Congil of that Ilk; oftymes callit to have compeirit befor our Justice or his deputtis, the saidis day and place in the hour of caus, to haif past vpoun the Assyse of the said Mr Archebault Dowglas, dilaitit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of our souerane lordis darrest fader of gud memorie; lawfull tyme of day biddin, and the saidis personis nocht compeirand to the effect foirfaid; thay and ilk aue of thame wer thairfoir americiat in the pane of Fourtie pundis.

[Mr Johnne Grahame, Justice-Depute.]

Abiding from the Raid of Dumfries.

May 22, 1587.—JOHNNE SKOWGALL of that Ilk, (plegio, Capitane Lauderdale,) Patrik Hepburne of Kirklandhill,¹ (plegio, M. Pat. Hepburne de Smetoun,) Alexander Aitchefoun of Gosfurd, (plegio, Thoma Marioribankis de Ratho,) Thomas Marioribankis of Ratho, (plegio, Alexandro Aitchesoune de Gosford,) William Hepburne in the Nungait² [of Hadingtoun?] (plegio, domino Abbate de Jedburghe,) Johnne Sydlarf of that Ilk,³ Gawin Dundas of Breiftynlne, James Cochran of Barbachla, Robert Bruce of Binning, James Stewinfoun of Hirdmanfcheillis, Johnne Hammiltoune of Eift Binning,⁴ James Rois in Tartrewin,⁵ (plegio, Alexandro Hume de Denis,) Mungo Tennent in Quhytkirk, (plegio, Jacobo Rychesoun de Smetoune,) Henry Sinclar of Quhytkirk, (plegio, eodem Jacobo,) David Monypenny of Pilrig,⁶ (plegio, Georgio Logane portionario de Boningtoune,) George Logane portioner of Bonyngtoun,⁷ (plegio, domino Pilrig,) Johnne Woulf of Wadelie,⁸ Williame Skirvene of Plewlandhill,⁹ Alexander Tod in Dirltoun, (plegio, Alexandro Robesoun ibidem,) Alexander Robefoun thair,¹⁰ (plegio, Alexandro Tod ibidem,) David Dundas in Brigend, (plegio, Joanne Dundas de Newlistoune,) George Biffett in Eiftfeild, (plegio, eodem [Joanne,]) James Veitch of that Ilk,¹¹ (plegio, Archibaldo Galloway in Langnudrie,) George Barroune in Auld Liftoune,¹² David Horfbur^t in Wefter Garntoun, (plegio, domino Innerleyth,) Archebald Dowglas of Stanypeth,¹³ (plegio Josepho Douglas de Pounferstoune,) James Tennent of Lennox,¹⁴ [Linhouse?] (plegio, Josepho Douglas ad satisfactionem,) Alexander Creychtoun of Drylaw,¹⁵ (provin to be in the north the tyme of the proclamation,) Alexander Creychtoun of Newhall,¹⁶ (nocht subiect to the raid be his uige,) Alexander Michelfoune of Mortoune, ¹ Thir twa defyrit to be replegeit to the Regalitie of Sanct Androus be Mr Johnne Arthour, and continewit to laft of Majj. ² Vltimo Majj. ³ Difchargeit be reffoun of his aig. ⁴ Ad Remiffionem f. d. n. regis. ⁵ Vltimo Majj. ⁶ Defyrit to be replegeit to Halyruiddhous, be the Justice Clarkis consent, vltimo Majj. ⁷ Replegiat. ⁸ Provin to be feik the tyme of the raid and difchargeit. ⁹ Difchargeit for his gret aig. ¹⁰ Vltimo Maii. ¹¹ Thir defyrit to be replegeit to Torpheedhin be Mr Johnne Grahame, Justice-Deput, and continewit to the laft Majj. ¹² Difchargeit and paf fra. ¹³ Defyrit be the Erl of Angus to be replegeit to Dalkeyth. ¹⁴ In voluntate. ¹⁵ Paf fra. ¹⁶ Difchargeit.

Johnne Stewinfoune of Hirdmanfcheillis,¹ Frances Boirthuik in Bancreif,² (plegio, Joanne Boirthuik eius filio cum seipso coniunctim et divisim ad satisfactionem,) Johnne Boirthuik his sone,³ Mr Patrik Hepburne of Gilmertoune, (plegio, Georgio Carkettill, burgen. de Edinburghe,) and Wauchop of Kaikmure, (plegio, M. Patricio Hepburne de Smetoune.) Dilaitit for contravening of our fouerane lordis Proclamatioun, in abyding fra the Raid appointit to follow our fouerane lord to Dumfreis, vpoun the ferd of Apryle laftwes.

PRIVILEGES of Burgesses of Edinburghe, as to Abiding from Raids, even though dwelling furth of the Burgh.

Compeirit Mr Johnne Scharp, for the faidis Alexander Aichefoun and Thomas Marioribankis, and alledgeit, that thay aucht nocht to be put to the knowledge of ane Assyis, for abyding fra the Raid, becaus thay ar burgefis of Edinburghe, and stent, watcht and waird with the burgefis thairof, quha past nocht in proper perfoun in to the Raid, bot fend men att the Kingis defyre, and wer stentit to that effect; of the quhilk stent, thai payit thair pairt: And lyke as, the said remanent Burgefis could nocht be trublit for abyding fra the said Raid, nane⁴ could thay.

The Aduocat anfuerit in the contrair, and allegeit that the seruice of thair perfounes aucht to be tane quhair thay remane,⁵ and becaus thay remane out of the bur^t, and hes landis lyand out of the bur^t quhair thay remane, ewin as thair landis ar subiect to ane stent by⁶ the stent of the bur^t; ewin swa thair perfonis fould ferue quhene the King makis his Proclamatioune.

The Justice continewis Interloquitour to the last day of Maij instant.

(May 31.)—INTERLOCUTOR anent Burgessis duelland out of Edinburghe.

THE Justice findis be Interloquitour, that the faidis Alexander Aichefoune and Thomas Marioribankis fall nocht be put to the knowledge of ane Assyis, in respect of the alledgiance proponit be thame, that thay wer burgefis of Edinburghe, and that thay stentit and skattit⁷ with the toune thairof. And this Interloquitour to extend in tymes past.

Henry Sinclar of Quhytekirk and George Logan portioner of Boningtoune affoilzeit,⁸ becaus thair moderis are lyfrenteris of their landis. James Veitch of that Ilk, George Barroune in Auld Listoune, David Dundas in Brigend, George Bissett in Eistfeild, affoilzeit, becaus thay haif nocht ffywe oxgangis⁹ of land. Alexander Tod in Dirltoune and Alexander Robefoun thair, affoilzeit, becaus thay haif na heretage.

¹ Ad remissionem. ² Voluntate. ³ Dischargeit be the Justice becaus the sone and father ar nocht bayth subiect to the Proclamatioun. ⁴ Neither. ⁵ Dwell, have their residence or place of abode. ⁶ Over and above, besides. ⁷ Paid assessment and taxations. ⁸ Absolved. ⁹ Ploughgates, ox-gates.

The remainder of the cases continued to the Justice-aire of Edinburghe, 'tercio Itineris, vel super premonicione xv dierum.'

Slaughter.

May 23.—ARCHIBALD MAXWELL, brothir to the Gudman of Dinwiddie, Williame Maxwell his sone and David Maxwell his seruand.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the crewall slauchter of vniq^{le} Robert Maxwell of Cowestanis, committit in Junii 1583.

Continued to the Justice-air of 'Dunfries, tertio Itineris, (vel super premonitione) xv dierum; per Preceptum regis.'¹

Treason—Counterfeiting King's Stamp, &c.

May 23.—PATRIK MAISTER OF GRAY.

Comperit Mr David M^cGill of Nilbet, Aduocat to our souerane lord, and prodeuceit the Dittay after specefeit and desyrit proces; of the quhilk the tennour followis.

DITTAY against the Maister of Gray.

PATRIK MAISTER OF GRAY, 3e ar indytit and accusit, that 3e haif laitlie, within þe space of þis 3eir bypast, writtin, delt and travellit to France, for findrie materis preiudiciall to þe Religioune presentlie profest be our souerane lord and his subiectis; and therefore, to haif had libertie of conscience, or otherwyis to fy (say) forme of Religioune, to haif bene vsit att ewerie manis awin appittite within þe realme; incontrair þe tennour of þe Actis of Parliament; incurrand þairthrow the panis contenit in þe samin. Secundlie, Indytit and accusit, that during þe tyme foirsaid, he hes intendit to deill with sum personis in France, that be þair moyane, throw his informacioun, oure soueranis mariage with þe King of Denmarkis dochtir (being ane deid honest and lauchtfull in prefens of God and men) mycht haif bene stayit; takand thairthrow vpoun him, without ony warrand, forder thane becumit ane subiect of his dewtie to haif done; specialiie, in that his intentione tendit to þe hindrance of þe Kingis mariage, being ane act proffitabill to þe commoun welth of þis realme. Thryllie, Indytit and accusit, for þe vndewtifull wryting of lettres, concerning the estait of his Maiestie and þe realme, in Inland; without his Maiesteis knowledge or command; thairthrow, exceding far þe dewtie of ane subiect. Ferdlie, Indytit, that he has travellit in materis quhilk mycht haif destroyit the estait of þis realme, quhilk trawell, gif it had tane effect, his Maiesteis perform mycht haif bene indangerit, committing þairthrow the cryme of Treffoune. Fyftlie, Indytit, for counterfitting of þe Kingis ftamp,¹ and putting of þe famin to ane letter writtin with his Maiefteis awin hand, without his command or auctoritie to do þe famin; and ficylke, for retening and keping of þe famin ftamp in his handis. Saxtlie, Indytit for diuers and findrie vtheris offences and crymes of Treffoun, alreddie declarit and confest be him to his Maiefteis felf; quhair of he is giltie; quhilk he can nocht deny. Lyke as, the hail pointis of Dittay aboue writtin ar of veritie, as he can nocht deny þe famin, nor na pairt þairof.

¹ Plegio, Roberto Maxwell de Dinwiddie milite.

The faid Patrik Maifter of Gray offerit himfelff and become in oure fouerane lordis will and mercie for the faidis crymes.

Slaughter—Hamesucken.

Aug. 30.—THOMAS BONKLE, cuitlar, burges of Edinburgh.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the felloune and crewall slauchter of vmq^{le} Peter Heriot, induellar in Leyth, brother germane to James Heriot of Trabroune; committit be way of Hamesuckin, within the toune of Leyth, vponne the xxix day of Auguft instant.

PERSEWAR, James Heriot of Trabroune.

VERDICT. The Affyis, being purgeit of partiall counfall, chofin, fworne and admittit, and the faid Thomas being accufit be Dittay, of the cuning be way of Hamesuckin to the faid vmq^{le} Petir Heriotis duelling hous in Leyth, and fetting vpon him foirnent the zett² thairof, with ane drawin fword, quhairwith he maift crewallie and fchamefullie flew (him); vpon fett purpois and provifionne, &c.; ffand, pronunceit and declarit the faid Thomas Bonkle to be ffylit and convict of the slauchter of the faid vmq^{le} Petir.

SENTENCE. The Juftice ordanit the faid Thomas Bonkle to be tane to the toune of Leyth, and thair, at place appointit, his heid and rycht arme to be ftrukin fra his bodie; and all his movable guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to oure fouerane lordis vfe, for the faid cryme. This dome pronunceit be James Nifbett, dempftar of Juftice Courtis.

Slaughter.

Jan. 23, 1587-8.—ARCHBALD M^cBRAIR of that Ilk.³

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Archibald Newall, burges of Drumfreis; committit in (the first day of) Apryle lafbypaft.

PERSEWAR, Mr David M^cGill of Nifbet, Aduocat.

PROLOQUITOUR, Mr Thomas Craig.

The Juftice, be Interloquitour, repellit the hail defenffis proponit zefterday, ¹ The King's casket, or cachet, a device invented to relieve his Majesty from subscribing so many official writs. This is still in use in Scotland in the case of signatures, and other official writs, formerly requiring the King's sign manual. The casket is now in the custody of the Keeper of the Great Seal. ² Gate. ³ See Jul. 2, 1588.

contentit in the Minute-buik and proces proponit for the faid Archbald M^cBrair, in respect of the anfuier maid thairto be the Aduocat, and ordanit him to be put to the knowledge of ane Affyife.

ASSISA.

George Dundas of that Ilk, Adam Wallace, merchand thair, Thomas Inglis, portionar of Auld John Lewingfoune of Belstane, Peter Cowdene, thair, Liffoune, Johnne Gordoune of Culquha, James Henderfoun, thair, William Naipar of Wrychtifhouffis, Johnne Maidland of Auchingaffill, Mathow Stewart of Bewelaw, Mungo Ruffell, burges of Edin', Williame Wallace of Johnfoune, Johnne Maure, burges thair.

VERDICT. 'The Affyife, be thair delyuerance, pronunceit be the mouth of George Dundas of that Ilk, Chancellor, ffand and declarit, the faid Archbald M^cBrair to be convict and fylit, as culpable and giltie of airt and pairt of the slauchter of the faid v^mq^{le} Archbald Newall; and clangeit him of ony Murthour, and the circumstance, viz. the casting of him in the watter of Neth,' &c.

SENTENCE. To be tane to ane scaffeld befyde the mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and thair his heid strikin fra his body; and all his movable guidis to be efcheit to our fouerane lordis vse, as convict of the slauchter of the faid v^mq^{le} Archbald.

Hurting and Wounding.

Feb. 9.—HOBIE NISBET, vagabund.

Dilatit of the hurting and wounding of George Park, creahman, duellare in Eister Fairny, in his hind-heid; and for taking of his purs fra him, with ten poundis money thairin; committit the xvij day of Januar lastbypast, betuix Kingorne and Bruntyland.

The faid Hobbie come in the Kingis Will for the faid cryme, and reffanit thairin be the Justice; and committit to waird within the Tolbuith of Edinburgh.

[Mr James Wardlaw, Justice-Depute.]

Cattle-stealing.

Mar. 25, 1588.—JAMES DALGLEISCH in Blacok,¹ Nicoll Bryden in Kittiflench.²

Dilatit of certane pointis of Thift, viz. The faid James for the inbringing of David Elliot callit the Carling, Hobbie Elliot callit Hob Billie and vtheris thair complices, commoun thewis, to the landis of Halbyre, beside the Lone-ftane; and steling furth thairof of ten kye; committit in October 1581; and vtheris pointis of thift contentit in the lettres. The faid Nicoll Brydin dilatit for the thifteous inbringing of Hobbie Armstrang callit the Pett, William Howatfoun in Bowthink, Walter and Hobbie Armstrang callit Helenes Hobbie and vtheris thair complices, to the landis of Freirtoun, pertening to the Laird of Corstorphin, and for the thifteous steling furth thairof of ane brown meir, with the haill infycht, guidis and geir, and vtheris crymes of thyft contenit in the lettres.

¹ Plegio, Jacobo Adamfoun, burgen. de Edinburgh.

² Plegio, Joanne Adamfoun, burgen. ibidem.

The perfounes on pannell askit instrumentis of thair entrie, and that thay offerit thame reddie to abyde the tryall of ane Affyis, for the saidis crymes, and all vtheris spacificit in the lettres; disaffenting to ony continewatioun: Protesting, in respect that na partie, nor the Aduocat, comperit nocht to persew, that na lettres be grantit aganis thame in tymes cuming.—Continued to the Justice-aire of Ediuburgh, ‘3^o Itineris, vel super premonitione xv dierum.’

[Mr Johnne Grahame, Justice-Depute.]

Fire-raising — Burning of the Place of Pitmeddene.

Maie 17.—WILLIAM LESLIE in Lytill Warthill,¹ Adam Watt at the Mylne of Westhall, Williame Lessell, messinger at the Kirk of Inch, Michaelles Leslie in the Inch of Warthill, Patrik Leslie, sone to James Leslie, burges of Abirdene.²

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the tressonabill Birning of the Place of Pitmeddene, togidder with the haill infycht guidis and geir being thairin, to the availl of ffyve thousand markis, pertening to Alexander Abircrumbie of Pitmeddene; committit in March lastbypast.

PERSEWARS.

Alexander Abircrumbie of Pitmeddene,
Mr David McGill, Aduocat.

PRELOQUITOUR for the pannell.

The Erll of Bothwell, The Lord Hwme,
The Coronall Stewart, Mr Thomas Craig,
Mr Alexander Lindfay, Mr Alexander King.

It wes alledgeit be the pannell, that na proces can be led aganis thaim, seing it is lycht³ that thay haif committit Tressoun, in birning of the said hous of Pitmeddene; and that all perfounes committeris of tressoune, sould be summond vpoun fourtie dayes wairning, and that thay ar nocht summond vpoune fourtie dayes wairning; thairfore na proces.—The Aduocat past fyrst fra that pairt of the lybell, makand mentioun of the Tressoune; and anfuert, that proces sould be had aganis thame, in respect of ane Act of Parliament, maid in King James the Fyft tyme, in the quhilk it is provydit, that ffyre-raising sould be summond as Slauchter.

The Justice continewit Interloquitour to the morne.

¹ Plegio, Normando Leslie, burgen. de Abirdene.

² Plegio, Domino Hume.

³ Luce clarior.

Hamesucken — Fire-raising, &c.

May 17.—WILLIAME LESLIE, apperand of Warthill.

Comperit Williame Leslie, apperand of Warthill, and exposit and declarit, that he vnderstuid that he wes speciallie contenit in the Lettres rait at the instance of Alexander Abircrumbie of Pitmeddene, Robert and James Abircrumbie his sonis, for summonding of him, to haif fund cautione, that he sould haif comperit this day and place, and vnderlyne the law, for cumming be way of Hamesukkin, accompaneit with Johne Leslie, apperand of Torquhane and diuers vtheris personis, his complicis, specifeit in the saidis vtheris lettres, assageing of the said Place of Pitmeddene; and for the tressonabill raising of fyre thairin, and birning and distroying of the said place, togidder with the hail infycht guidis and geir being thairin, pertening to the said Alexander Abircrumbie, to the awaill of fyve thowfand markis money; committit vpoune the penult day of March lastbypast.

And albeit, he wes nathir summond, be vertew of the saidis letteris, to find caution, nathir 3it fand he cautione for this comperance this day and place, to vnderly the law for the crymes aboue writtin; 3it nochtwithstanding he, for tryall of his innocencie, comperit and offerit him reddie to abyde the tryall of ane Assyis for the saidis crymes; disassenting to ony continewatioune, and requyrit of the said Alexander Abircrumbie of Pitmeddene, gif he wald insist in his persute thairfore: Quha declarit att the bar, in presens of the Justice, that he knew the said William Leslie to be innocent of the crymes aboue writtin; and thairfore wald desist fra all pursueing of the said William. Quhair-vpoun the said William askit instrumentis.

May 18.—The Justice findis be Interloquitour, that the Lettres rait be the said Alexander Abircrumbie aganis the personis thairin now on pannell, (William Leslie of Little Warthill being absent), sould be putt to ane Assyise, nochtwithstanding the alledgance proponit be thame 3istirday.

In consequence of only nine persons of Assise appearing, continued to the Justice-aire of ‘Abirdene, 3^{tio} Itineris, xv dierum.’

Sorcery — Witchcraft — Incantation, &c.

May 28.—ALESOUN PEIRSOUN in Byrehill.

Dilatit of the pointis of Wichcraft eftir specifeit.

ASSISA.

David Dagleifch, maltman in S' Andros,	Johne Hegie, maltman thair,	Robert Meluile thair,
David Guidlett, maltman thair,	Thomas Lentrene thair,	Alexander Blak thair,
Charles Warfoun, notar thair,	Florence Strang in Carnpykis,	Alexander Maltman in Anstruthir,
Thomas Rekie, maltman thair,	George Kinzeow thair,	Thomas Kinzew, baillie in Pittinweyme.
	James Chaiplane in Pittinweyme,

VERDICT. The said Alefoune, being put to the knowlege of ane Affyis of the perfonis aboue writtin, wes comiect be thair delynerance, of the vſing of Sorcerie and Wichcraft, with the Inuocatioun of the ſpreitis of the Dewill; ſpeciallie, in the viſioun and forme of ane Mr William Sympfoune, hir couſing and moder-brotheris-ſone, quha ſche affermit wes ane grit ſcoller and doctor of medicin, that haillit hir of hir diſeis in Lowtheane, within the toune of Edinburge, quhair ſcho reparit to him, being twell ʒeiris of aige; and thair cunning and ganging be the ſpace of ſewin ʒeiris, quhen ſcho wes helpit of hir ſeiknes, quhilk ſcho had quhan hir poiſtee¹ and power wes tane fra hir hand and fute; continewing thairby in familiaritie with him, be the ſpace foirſaid; dealing with charmes, and abuſing of the commoun people thairwith, be the ſaid airt of Wichcraft, thir diners ʒeiris bypaſt.—(2.) ITEM, for hanting and repairing with the gude nychtbouris and Quene of Elfame,² thir diners ʒeiris bypaſt, as ſcho had confeſt be hir deſpitiounis, declaring that ſcho could nocht ſay reddelie how lang ſcho wes with thame; and that ſcho had freindis in that court quhilk wes of hir awin blude, quha had gude acquaintance of the Quene of Elphane, quhilk mycht haif helpit hir: bot ſcho wes quhyles weil and quhyles ewill, and ane quhyle with thame and ane vthir quhyle away; and that ſcho wald be in hir bed haill and feir, and wald nocht wit quhair ſcho wald be or the morne: And that ſcho ſaw nocht the Quene thir ſewin ʒeir: And that ſcho had mony guid freindis in that court, bot wer all away now: And that ſcho wes ſewin ʒeir ewill handlit in the Court of Elfane and had kynd freindis thair, bot had na will to viſſeit thame eftir the end: And that itt wes thay³ guid nychtbouris⁴ that haillit hir vnder God: And that ſcho wes cunning and gangand to Sanct Androus in hailing of folkis, thir ſaxtene ʒeiris bypaſt.—(3.) ITEM, comiect of the ſaid airt of Wichcraft, in ſa far, as be hir Deſpitioune ſcho confeſt that the ſaid Mr Williame Sympfoun, quha wes hir guidſchire-ſone,⁵ borne in Striuling, his fader wes the Kingis ſmyth, lernit hir craft, quha wes tane away fra his fader be ane mann of Egypt, ane gyant, being bot ane barne, quha had him away to Egypt with him, quhair he remanit to the ſpace of tuell ʒeiris or he come hame agane; and that his fader deit in the meane tyme for opining of ane preiſt-buik and lukiug vponne it: And that the ſaid Mr Williame haillit hir, ſone eftir his hame cun-

¹ Pouſtie, poteſtas. ² The brownies or fairies, and the Queen of Faery, (q. d. elf-hame?) ³ These.
⁴ 'In the hinder end of Harveſt, on All-Hallowe'en, When our Good-neighbours does ride, if I read richt. Some buckled on a bnewand and ſome on a bean, Ay trotand in troups from the twilight; Some faidled a ſhe-ape, all grathed into green, Some hobland on a hemp-ftalk, hovand to the hight; The King of Pharie and his Court, with the Elf Queen, With many elfiſh Incubus was ridand that night. There was an Elf on an ape, an wafel begat, Into a pot by Pomathorne; That bratchart in a buſſe was borne; They fand a monſter on the morn, War faced nor a cat.'

Flying againſt Polwart, Watson's Coll. Part III. p. 12.

⁵ Grandfather's ſon, paternal uncle. He is called 'hir couſing and moder-brotheris-ſone,' above.

ing.—(4.) ITEM, that ſcho being in Grange-mure, with the folkis that paſt to the Mure, ſcho lay doun ſeik alane ; and thair come ane man to hir, cled in grene clathis, quha ſaid to hir, ‘ Gif ſcho wald be faithfull, he wald do hir guid ;’ and that ſcho ſeing him, cryit for help, bot nane hard hir ; and thane, ſcho chargeit him, ‘ In Godis name and the low he leuit one,’ that if he come in Godis name and for the weill of hir faull, he ſould tell : Bot he gaid away thane, and apperit to hir att ane vther tyme, ane luſtie mane, with mony mene and wemen with him : And that ſcho ſanit hir and prayit, and paſt with thame fordir nor ſcho could tell ;¹ and ſaw with thame pypeing and mirrynes and gude ſcheir, and wes careit to Lowtheane, and ſaw wyne punchounis with taſſis with thame : And quhene ſcho tellis of thir thingis, declarit, ſcho wes fairlie tormentit with thame : And that ſcho gatt ane fair ſtraik, the fyrſt tyme ſcho gaid with thame, fra ane of thame, quhilk tuke all the poiftie² of hir car fyde fra hir, the mark quhairof wes blae and ewill faurit ;³ quhilk mark ſcho felt nocht, and that hir ſyd wes far war.⁴—(5.) ITEM, that ſcho ſaw the guid nyctbouris mak thair ſawis,⁵ with panis and fyris ; and that thay gadderit thair herbis, before the ſone ryſing, as ſcho did : And that thay come verry feirfull⁶ ſumtymes, and fleit⁷ hir verry fair, and ſcho cryit quhene thay come : And that thay come quhyles anis in the aucht dayes, and quhene ſcho tauld laſt of it, thay come to hir and boiſtit⁸ hir, ſaying, ſcho ſould be war handlit nor ofbefoir ;⁹ and that thaireſtir thay tuke the hail poiftie of hir fyde, in ſic ſoirt, that ſcho lay tuentie oulkis¹⁰ thaireſtir : And that oft tymes thay wald cum and ſitt befyde hir, and promeſit that ſcho ſould newir want, gif ſcho wald be faithfull and keip promeis ; bot, gif ſcho wald ſpeik and tell of thame and thair doingis, thay ſould martir hir : And that Mr Williame Sympfoun is with thame, quha haillit hir and teichit hir all thingis, and ſpeikis and wairnis hir of thair cuning and faulſis hir ; and that he was ane 3oung man nocht fax 3eiris eldar nor hirlſelf ; and that ſcho wald feir quhene ſcho ſaw him :

¹ ‘ Anè earling of the Quene of Phareis, That ewill-win geir to Elphyne careis,
Through all Braid-Albaue ſcho hes bene, On horfbak on Hallow-ewin ;
And ay in ſeiking certayne nyghtis, As ſcho ſayis, with fur ſillie wychtis ;
And names out nyctbouris ſex or ſewin, That we belevit had bene in heawin.
Scho ſaid ſcho ſaw thame weill aneugh, And ſpeciallie gude Auld Balcleugh,
The Secretare and fundrie vther ; Anè Williame Symfoune, hir mother brother, Whom fra ſcho hes reſavit a buike, For ony herb ſcho lykis to luike :
It will inſtruct hir how to tak it ; In ſaws and ſillubs how to mak it ;
With ſtones that mekill mair can doe, In Leich-craft, whair ſcho layis them toe.
A thowſand maladeis ſcho hes mendit. Now being tane and apprehendit, Scho being in the Biſchopis cure, And keipit in his Caſtell ſure, Without reſpect of warldlie glamer, He paſt into the Witcheis chalmer.’

Legend of the Biſhop of St Androis, p. 321.

² Pouſſie, poteſtas, viz. took the power of her left ſide from her. ³ Diſcoloured and ill-looking.

⁴ Worse. ⁵ Salves, ointments. ⁶ Modern Scotch, ‘ fearsome,’ frightful. ⁷ Terrified.

⁸ Boasted, rated, ſcolded, threatened. ⁹ She ſhould be worſe handled than formerly. ¹⁰ Twenty weeks.

and that he will appeir to hir self allane before the Court¹ cum ; and that he before tauld hir how he wes careit away with thame out of middil-eird : And quhene we heir the quhirll-wind blaw in the fey, thay wilbe commounelie with itt, or cumand fone thaireftir ; than Mr Williame will cum before and tell hir, and bid hir keip hir and faue hir, that scho be nocht tane away with thame agane ; for the teynd of thame² gais ewerie 3eir to hell.—(6.) ITEM, of hir confessioun maid, That the said Mr Williame tauld hir of ewerie feiknes, and quhat herbis scho fould tak to haill thame, and how scho fould vse thame ; and gewis hir his directioun att all tymes : And in speciall, scho said, that he tauld hir, that the Bischop of Sanct Androus³ had mony feikneffis, as the trimbling fewer,⁴ the palp,⁵ the rippillis⁶ and the flexus ;⁷ and baid hir mak ane saw⁸ and rub it on his cheikis, his craig, his breift, stommak and fydis : And siclyke, gaif her directionis to vse the 3ow mylk,⁹ or waidraue¹⁰ with the herbis, claret wyne ; and with fume vther thingis scho gaif him ane fottin¹¹ fowll ; and that scho maid ane quart att anis, quhilke he drank att twa drachtis, twa findrie dyetis.¹²

¹ Before the Court of Elfame. ² A tithe, or tenth part of them. This singular part of the prevailing superstition, the Editor has seldom before met with. It suggests a strange idea of a kind of intermediate state of existence, maintained by the 'guid nichtbouris,' through the medium of evil spirits ; and for this extraordinary privilege, they were annually decimated, or forced to pay tithe to 'Sathanas,' their lord paramount. The wallydraigles of this foul nest were no doubt pitched upon for payment of the annuity, and Maister Williame was jealous of the fate of his unfortunate relative, Alisoun. In the introduction to the Tale of Young Tamlane, Sir Walter Scott remarks, 'This is the popular reason assigned for the desire of Fairies to abstract young children, as substitutes for themselves in this dreadful tribute,' (paying the kane, or teind, to hell.)

'Then I would never tire, Janet, In Elfis land to dwell ;
But aye at every seven years, They pay the teind to hell ;
And I am fae fat and fair of flesh, I fear 'twill be myfell !'

The Editor begs to refer the reader to the Essay 'On the Fairies of Popular Superstition,' in The Border Minstrelsy, edit. 1821, vol. ii. p. 109.

³ The celebrated Patrick Adamsone, Archbishop of St Andrews, 'fumus Papanorum hostis, inter quos delituit extremo vite dispendio !' That such a character as his grace should have stooped to take advice of a poor witch for the cure of his bodily infirmities, appears strange indeed. ⁴ Fever and ague. ⁵ Palpitation at the heart ? ⁶ Weakness in the back and loins. ⁷ Probably the flux. ⁸ Salve. ⁹ Ewe-milk. ¹⁰ Perhaps the herb woodroof ? ¹¹ Sodden. ¹² A pretty decent draught for an Archbishop ! The claret and capon would prove more acceptable to his grace than oceans of ewe-milk, and such like potations. In that cutting satire, 'The Legend of the Bischop of St Androis,' his trafficking with Witches is thus recorded.

— ' Sic ane feiknes hes he tane, That all men trowit he had bene gane ;
For leitchis mycht mak no remeid, Thair was na bute to him bot deid.
He feing weil he wald nocht mend, For Phetaniffa hes he fend,
With Sorcerie and Incantationes, Raifing the Devill with invocationes,
With herbis, ftanis, bukis and bellis, Menis memberis and fouth-ruing wellis ;
Palme-croces and knottis of fireafe, The paring of a preiftis auld tees ;
And in principio focht out fyne, That vnder ane alter of ftane had lyne
Sanet Jhones-nunt and the foure-levit claver, With taill and mayn of a baxter aver,
Had careit hame heather to the oyne, Cuttit off in the cruik of the moone ;
Halie water and the lumber beidis, Hyntworthe and fourtie vther weidis :
Whairthrow the charming tuik sic force, They laid it on his fat whyte horfe.
As all men saw, he fone deceitit : Thair Saga flew ane faikles beast.
This wald not ferre ; he fought ane vther, Ane devill duelling in Anitruther Exceeding Circes in conceatis, For changene of Whiffes meatis,' &c.

SENTENCE. The particulars of the procedure which took place in Court, and of the sentence pronounced against this unhappy woman, are not inserted in the Record : There is merely a marking in the margin of the Record, ‘ Conuicta et Combufta.’ The scene of her suffering was likely the Castle-hill of Edinburgh, where, after being ‘ wirreit at ane staik,’ she would be ‘ brint in affis.’¹

Slaughter.

JUN. 22.—ADAM CREYCHTOUN, fear of Ruthvennis.

Being enterit on pannell as becam in our fouerane lordis will of before in ane Court of Justiciarie, hauldin in the tolbuith of Edinburghe, the xxij day of Maij lastbypast, for certane crymes, viz. the slauchter of vniq^{le} James Creychtoun att the mylne of Ruthvennis, committit in the moneth of Februar lastbypast, and vniq^{le} Tyrie of Drumkilbo, committit in the moneth of December 1581 3eiris ; his hienes temperand justice with mercie, for certane respectis moving his Maiestie be his Precept, &c. Ordanit the Dome eftir following, to be pronunceit aganis him.

· REX,

‘ JUSTICE, Justice-Clark and 3our Deputes : We greit 3ow weill. Forfamekle as Adam Creychtoun fear of Ruthvennis, being callit and persewit before 3ow, for findrie crymes committit be him ; and speciallie, for þe crewall slauchter of vniq^{le} James Creychtoun att þe mylne of Ruthvennis, laitie committit be þe said Adam, vpoun fett purpois : ffor þe quhilk, he being apprehendit and putt in waird, within our Tolbuith of Edinburghe, and persewit conforme to þe lettres direct pairvpoun ; and nocht able to abyde oure lawis, he is becum in our will, to be pwneift pairfore às we pleis. And we mynding, that sic ane horribill fact fould nocht passè without som pwneifment, att the ernest fuit of oure rycht traist coufing, Johnne Erll of Mar Lord Erkein, and sum vthir respectis mouing ws, hes sparit the executioun of þe said Adam to þe death, for þe crymes foirsaid, vpoun þis conditione, that within þe space of . . . dayis nixt eftir þe dait heirof, that he fall depart furth of oure realme, and remane furth of þe famin, in perpetuall banefment and exyle, during all the dayes of his lyfytyme ; with certificatioun and¹ he fail3ie and do in þe contrar, that he being att ony tyme heireftir apprehendit ‘ Heiring how Witches wrang abusit him, The Kirkmen calld him and accused him,

And scharpie of theis pointis reprovèd him, That he in Sorcerie beleavit him, Whairthrow his faule mycht come to skaith, The Witche and he confessing bayth, Scho tuik some part of white wyne dreggis, Wounded rayne and blak hen eggis,
And made him droggis that did him gude,” &c.—DALYELL'S Scottish Poems, ii. 318.

¹ Whether the following entry in the Books of Privy Council has reference to a relation of ‘ Maister Williame,’ the Editor leaves to the reader to determine.

APUD Edinburgh, quinto Septembris, anno, &c. lxxvij^o (1577.) The quhilk day, Capitane Johnne Vddart become actit and obleift, as cautioner and fouirtie for Maister Thomas Symfoun, sumtyme seruand to vniq^{le} Thomas Daidfoun ypothicar, That the said Maister Thomas fall remane within this realme and nocht depart furth of the famyn in tyme cuming, without speciall licence of my lord Regentis Grace, vnder the pane of fyve hundreth merkis. And Johane Symfoun, minister at Kennowy, obleift him to releif the said Capitane Johnne of the premissis, and off all pane and dangeare that he fal happen to sustene thairthrow.

(Sic subscribitur) JOHNNE VDDART with my hand, JOHNNE SYMSOUN minister with my hand.

² An, if.

within our realme, be ony of oure judgeis or vtheris oure subiectis, that þe panis of death falbe execute vpoune him, without ony mercy. Quhairfore, it is oure will, and we command 3ow, that incontinent eftir þe sycht heirof, 3e infert þis oure Declaratioun in 3our act of Adjournall, to remane þairin as decreit of convictioune aganis the said Adam, in tyme cuning. Subferyuit with oure hand, att Dumfries, the aughtene day of Junij, 1588.

‘JAMES R. J. M. CANCELLARIUS.’

SENTENCE was pronounced by the Justice accordingly.

Slaughter.

Jul. 2.—ROBERT M^cBRAIR of Almagill.¹

Dilatit of the slauchter of v^mq^{le} Archibald Newall, burges of Drumfreis; committit in Apryll, 1587.

PERSEWARIS.

PRELOQUITOUR.

Efter Hill the relict, Mr David M^cGill, aduocat. Mr Johnne Ruffell, Johnne Halyday.

The said Robert M^cBrair produceit ane Precept, subferyuit be the King and his Chancillar, orderand the mater to be continewit; quhillk the Justice obeyit, ‘Drumfreis, tercio Itineris, xv dierum.’²

[Mr Williame Oliphant, Justice-Depute.]

Jul. 22.—Comperit William Commendater of Pittinweme, as Preloquitour for him, (the said Robert M^cBrair,³) and thair in judgement, in prefence of the said Justice-depute; feing that v^mq^{le} Archebald M^cBrair of Almagill (of that Ilk) was execute for the said slauchter, and that the said Robert was innocent thairof, offerit in the said Robertis name to refer for his part of the fatisfactioune of the said slauchter, gyft of escheit and vthir mater debatabill betuix him and Efter Hill, the relict of the said v^mq^{le} Archebald Newall, present att the bar, and persewar of him, to be modifeit and decydit be the Kingis Maiestie, or ony foure of his hienes Counfall: And the said Estir Hill anfuerand be Mr David M^cGill of Nisbet, aduocat for his hienes interes, lykewyis persewar, declarit that his hienes defyrit hir to persue the law; and s^wa refusit to refer the said mater in maner aboue written. Quhairvpoune the said Williame Commendater of Pittinweme alkit instrumentis.

(Jul. 23.)—This case was continued, first to July xxiiij.⁴

(Nov. 2.)—It was then delayed to Nov. ij, when the pannell produced Letters of Remission, granted by the King in his favor; Thomas Stewart of Gastoun and Walter Gladstamis of that Ilk, having become sureties, ‘ad satisfaciend. partibus.’

¹ See Jan. 23, 1587-8. ² Plegio, Johnne Lyndfay de Covintoune: ‘Releuit heireftir be his entrie.’ ³ Plegio, Andrew Blair de Ardblair. ⁴ When ‘the Kingis Maiestie haifing commandit the persewaris and defender, to submit all materis debetabill betuix thame, to four Lordis of the Sessioune, the Justice continewit this mater to the xxviiij day of Julij instant.’

[Mr Johne Grahame and Mr Williame Oliphant, Justices-Deputes.]

Slaughter—Witchcraft—Adultery.

Jul. 26.—JOHNE MYLLAR in Middill Cairny, and Meriory Blaikie in Cairny.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Williame Robertfoun in Cairny, in bewitching of him; committit in Apryle, 1585: AND for Adulterie committit be athir of thame with vthiris.

Continued to the Justice-aire of Perth, ‘tercio Itineris, xv dierum.’

[Mr Williame Oliphant, Justice-Depute.]

Incest.

Aug. 22.—SIR JAMES HAMMILTOUN of Crawford, knycht, and Marioun Hammiltoun his dochter naturell.

Hew Somerwall in Carfwall, oft tymes callit to haif produced our fouerane lordis lettres dewlie execute and indorsat, &c. to tak fouirtie of Sir James Hammiltoun and Marioun Hammiltoun, that thay sould haif comperit befor the Justice or his deputes the saidis day and place, in the houre of cause, and vnderly the Law for the fillthie cryme of Incest, committit be athir of thame with vther thir sax 3eiris bypast; lauchfull tyme of day biddin and nocht produce-and, the famin wes thairfore americiat in the panis contenit in the Actis of Parliament.

Slaughter.

Sep. 3.—MR ROBERT DOWGLAS, provost of Lynclowdene.

Robert Lord Sanquhar become pledge and fouertie, that the said Mr Robert Dowglas fall compeir before the Justice or his deputes, the thryd day of the nixt Justice-air of the sherefdome of Drumfries, or soner, quhene or quhair it fall pleis our fouerane lord, vpoun xv dayes wairning; and vnderly the law, for airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Sir Robert Maxwell of Dinwiddie, knycht, committit in October lastbypast; and vther crymes contenit in the lettres direct thairvpoun, vnder the panis contenit in the Actis of Parliament.

[Mr James Wardlaw, Justice-Depute.]

Reset of a Papist and Seminary Priest.

May 7, 1589.—JOHNE LOWRIE, duelland at the Waft-port of Edinburgh.

Dilaitit of the treflonabill Reflett, supplement, mantening, intercomoning and furneing of meitt, drink and herberie to Mr Robert Bruce, confessit and avowed Papist and seminarie Priest, commoun ennemie to Goddis truth and Cristiane government ; committit in July, Januar, Februar and March, 1588 and 1589. ITEM, for doing of fanour, ressetting, suppleing, mantening and defending of Mr Robert Bruce, seminarie Preist foirfaid, within his hous at the Waft-port, in the monethis foirfadis, he being oure fouerane lordis rebell.

PERSEWARIS, Maister David M^cGill.

PRELOQUITOURIS, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Alexander King.

It is allegit for the pannell, that in this judgment na perfoun can be put to the knaulege of ane Assyis, without thay wer summond vpoun xv dayis warning, except personis dilatit of Tressoun and tane in flagranti crimine. The Aduocat allegis that the samyn fuld be repellit, in respect that the said Johnne Lowrie wes constitut prifoner ; and the King may tak him furth of prifoun, and put him to ane Assyse.

May 8.—Johnne Lowrie, vpoun pannell, cummis in his Maiesteis will, for geving of meit and drink, as ane commoun tawerner, to Mr Robert Bruce, ane zeir syne or thairby in Januar lastbypast, a denner at athir tyme allanerlie,¹ without ony nichtis ludgeing ; and that vpoun the said Mr Robertis expenssis, nocht knawin him to be ane Preist : And denyis exprellie the haill remanent pointis of Dittay, sen ony deid done be him to the said Mr Robert sen the executioun of the last Proclamatioun, quhilk was vpoun the xxvj day of Februar lastwes. And vpoun the said Declaratioun and offer, takis instrumentis that he is ready to abyd ane Assyis for the rest of the Dittay.

Mr David M^cGill younger aduocat, produceit the Dittay and desyrit proces.

May 9.—The Justice accepts the offer of coming in the Kingis will, ‘ according to his hienes Warrant and Precept presentit in Jugement ; and ordanit caution to be ressaute of the said Johnne.’ His cautioners were, ‘ James Couper merchand, burges of Edinburghe, and Martine Lowrie, burges thair.’

[Mr James Wardlaw and Mr Edward Bruce, Justices-Deputes.]

Slaughter.

May 13.—ARCHEBALD WAUCHOP of Nudrie, 3ounger, George Boig ferwand to the Lard of Cragmiller, Williame Lauder brother to the Laird of Bannochie, Williame Craig ferwand to Craigmiller, Richard Bigum (Bigholme ?) also his ferwand and Thomas Kame, fmythe in Nudrie.

Dilatit of the slauchteris of v^mq^{le} James Giffert of Sherehall, v^mq^{le} Johnne Giffert his brother, and v^mq^{le} Robert Caife in Dalkeith, committit in July lastbypast ; and als of the slauchter of v^mq^{le} Johnne Edmeistoun, brother of David Edmeistoun of Wownnett ; committit in March lastwes.

¹ Only.

PERSEWARIS for Shereffhall. PERSEWARIS for Johnne Edmei- PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannell.
 Johnne Giffert, father-brother to stoun. Maister Thomas Craig, vmq^{le} James Giffert of Shereffhall, Sir Johnne Edmeiftoun of that Ilk, Mr Johnne Prestoun, James Hammiltoune, The Lord Hwme, The Laird of Brunftoun,
 Mr David M'Gill, Aduocat. The Laird of Sefkurd. The Laird of Ormeiftoun.

The Justice, eftir dyuerse and findre allegences and anſueris proponit and maid be ather of the parties, continewit the mater to the morne at ten houris.

[Mr Johnne Russell, Justice-Depute.]

May 14.—The quhilk day comperit Mr Johnne Russell, Aduocat, and presentit ane Commiffioun vnder the Signet, of the deit the said xiiij day of May, subscriyuit be the King and Chancelair, ordinand him to be Justice in the mater abouewrittin to Mr Edward Bruce and James Wardlaw: And according thairto, wes fuorne for administratioun of Justice.

Comperit Mr David Makgill of Neisbet, Aduocat, and produccit the roll of Assyise, subscriyuit with his hand.

PERSEWAR, Maister David Makgill. PRELOQUITOURIS, Mr Johnne Prestoune, Mr Thomas Craig.

Allegis, that the Justice can nocht proceed aganis the Laird of Nudrie and his complices, for the slauchter of vmq^{le} James Giffert, Johne Giffert his brother, and Richart Caife, in respect, thay haif fund caution, vpoun xv dayes warning, actit in the buikis of Adiornall; and in respect, thay are nocht tane in flagrante crimine, nor zit is that ane cryme of Leife-majestie; and thay being vnder caution, mvn¹ be warnit on fyftene dayis: And producit ane Act of Adjornall, subscriyuit be the Justice-Clerk. The Aduocat acceptis the Act, and thinkis the alleagence to be ressonabill.

The Justice findis the alleagence maid yesterday anent the caution vpoun fyftene dayis warning, nocht to be relevant in respect of the Kingis Warrant: And ordanis the saidis perfounes to be put to ane Assyise for all the crymes foir-faidis; bot continewis the Laird of Nudrie and remanent perfounes foir-faidis, and putting of thame to ane Assyise for slauchteris of the saidis James Giffert, Johnne Giffert his brother and Richard Caife, in respect of the act of Caution producit.

ASSISA.

- | | | |
|--|--|--|
| (1.) Maister Patrik Hepburne of Gilmertoun, | (6.) James Dunlop of that Ilk, | (11.) James Cochrane of Barbachla, |
| (2.) Williame Lauder of (in) Dunbar, | (7.) Mr Patrik Hepburne of Smetoun, | (12.) James Hwme in Dunbar, |
| (3.) Williame Wallace, 5ounger of Johnstoun, | (8.) Johne Spreull of Cowdene, | (13.) Williame Wallace, minister of Faill, |
| (4.) Neill Montgumrie of Langschaw, | (9.) James Creychtoun, 5ounger of Brunftoun, | (14.) Thomas Seytoun of Northrig, |
| (5.) Aula M'Cawla of Arncapill, | (10.) James Henderfoun, 5ounger of Dryden, | (15.) Sir Williame Lauder of Halletoun. |

¹ Man, must.

The Affyis defyrit the Dittay to be fworne, according to the ordour. The Aduocat allegis that the Kingis Dittay aucht nocht to be fworne be him. The perfonis of Allyife askit instrumentis that na man wauld fueir the Dittay.

VERDICT. Quhilkis perfonis of the Affyis abouewritten, being chofin, fuorne and admittit, pafte furth altogidder out of Court to the Counfaill-hous of Edinburghe, quhair thair efter the chefing of Neill Montgunrie of Langfchaw, Chancellair, thair reffonit vpon the haille poyntis of Dittay, and thairwith being ryply aduyfit, re-enterit agane within the faid Court, and be the mouth of the faid Chancellair, ffand, pronuncit and declarit the faidis Williame Lauder, Williame Craig and Thomas Kame, to be acquit and clengit of the flauchteris of vinq^{le} James Giffert of Sherehall, Johnne Giffert his brother and Richerd Caife; committit in July laftbypaft. As lykwayis, be thair delyuerance in prefence of the faid Justice-depnt, ffand, pronunceit and delyuerit, in ane voce, the faidis Archebald Wauchope of Nudrie, George Boig, Williame Craig and Thomas Kame, to be acquit, clengit and innocent of the flauchter of vinq^{le} Johnne Edmeftoun, brothir to David Edmeftoun of Wowmet, and of the hurting and wounding of George Dauidfoun in his . . . kne, be the fchoit of ane piftolett; and of the hurting and wounding of George Hwid, ferwand to the Lard of Edmeftoun, in his leg; committit the moneth of Merch laftbypaft.

APUD EDINBURGHE, xiiij Maij, anno 1589.—The quhilk day, at xij houris efter midnight or thairby, caution wes found for the perfonis of Affife as follows.¹

- (1.) James Adamefoun, burges of Ed^r, and Mr Thomas Fifcher, burges thair, Ten thowfand markis.
- (2.) James Adamefoun, burges of Ed^r, and Geo. Douglais, fear of Langnudrie, Three thowfand markis.
- (3.) Johnne Arnot, proveft of Edinburghe, Fyve thowfand markis.
- (5.) Thomas Fifcher, burges of Ed^r, Sir Williame Lander of Haltoun, knyght, Fyve thowfand markis.
- (6.) Johnne Watt, fmyth, burges of Ed^r, and . . . Cant, burges thair, callit Lard Cant, Fyve thowfand markis.
- (7.) James Adamefoun, burges of Ed^r, Ten thowfand markis.
- (8.) Johnne Arnot, proveft of Ed^r, and Johnne Watt, burges thair, Fyve thowfand markis.
- (9.) George Douglais, 3ounger of Langnudrie, and James Adamefoun, burges of Ed^r, Three thowfand markis.
- (11.) Johnne Arnot, proveft of Ed^r, Three thowfand markis.
- (12.) James Adamefoun, burges of Ed^r, and Mr Patrik Hepburne of Smetoun, Tua thowfand markis.
- (14.) George Douglas, younger of Langnudrie, and James Adamefoun, burges of Ed^r, Fyve thowfand markis.
- (15.) George Douglas, 3ounger of Langnudrie, and James Adamefoun, burges of Ed^r, Fyve thowfand markis.

¹ Instead of again enumerating the whole of the Assise, reference is made to the number prefixed to each Assisor's name, in the foregoing list. Montgomerie of Langfchaw, Henderfoun 3ounger of Dryden and Williame Wallace, did not find security.

The samyn day, ilk ane of the Assyfouris foirfaidis quha hes fund the said fourtie, obleift thame, thair aris, executouris and assignais, to freith, releif and keip skaithles thair cautionaris respective foirfaidis, of the fourtie abouewrittin, ilk ane of thame for thair awin partis as is aboue specifiet, and of all panis content thairin, at the handis of oure sowerane lord and his hienes thesaurair, and all vtheris quhome it effeiris.

[Mr Williame Oliphant, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

May 20.—THOMAS MAISTER OF BOYD, James Boid of the Kippis, Alexander Boyd, bailzie of Kilmernok, James Slofe of that Ilk, Thomas Roife in Bondland, and Johnne Craufurd in Welstoun.

Dilatit of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Mure in the Wall; committit in the moneth of Auguft, 1571.

PERSEWARIS.

Johnne Mure, eldest sone, Robert Stewart and Michael Stewart, kinifmen of the motheris fyde.

PRELOQUITOUR for the pannell, Mr Johnne Skene.

The partie past fra the perfute of Johnne Craufurd; quhairvpoun he askit instrumentis.

Letters of Remiffioun, granted by the King in favor of the parties, and Caution found for satisfiying the parties. Cautioners, Captain Thomas Craufurd of Jurdanehill, Johnne Schaw of Grenok, Williame Mure apperand of Rowallane and Thomas Master of Boyd, bind themselves to relieve the above sureties.

Slaughter.

May 20.—ROBERT LORD BOYD.

Robert Boyd of Banhaith, cautioner for the entry of Lord Boyd at the Justice-air of Ayr, or on warning of xv days, for the same slauchter.

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE s. d. n. Regis tenta in pretorio de Edinburgh superiore, xxiiij die mensis Maij anno 1589, per discretos viros Magistros Eduardum Bruce, Willielmum Oliphant et Jacobum Wardlaw, Justiciarios Deputatos.]

May 24.—The quhilk day the Justices abouewritten producit our sowerane lordis Commissioun efter specifiet; quhilk thay desyrit to be insert in the proces for thair Warrant; quhairof the tennour followis.

COMMISSION for the Trial of GEORGE ERLE OF HUNTIE, DAVID ERLE OF CRAWFURD and FRANCIS ERLE BOTHUELL.

‘JAMES, be the Grace of God, King of Scottis. To all and sundrie oure leigis and subdittis, quhome it efferis, to quhais knaulege thir oure lettres fall cum; Greting. Witt 3e Ws, to haif maid and constitut, and be thir oure Lettres, with the awyife of the Lordis of our Secreit Counfaill, makis and con-stitutis Mr Eduard Bruce, Johnne Coluile, Williame Oliphant and James Wardlaw, oure Justices in that pairt, conjunctlie and feueralie, to-þe effect vnderwrittin; Gewaud, grantand and committand to thame, oure full frie, and plane power, generall and speciall command, expres bidding and charge, Court or Courtis of Justiciarie, within our tolbuith of Edinburghe, to fett, begin, affix, hald and continew, as oft as neid beis; and thairin George Erle of Huntlie, Dauid Erle of Crawford, Frances Erle Bothueil, to call, and be Dittay to accuse, and to the knalege of Affyis to put, for certane tressonabill crymes and offencis committit be thame, tending to the subuersion of the trew Religioun, and perrelling of oure perfohn and estait; and as thay fal happin to be fund culpabill or innocent, to minifler and caus justice be miniftrat vpoun thame, conforme to the lawis of oure realme; fettis¹ to mak be callit, absentis to amerciat, trespaffouris to puneis, vnlawis, amerciamentis and efcheatis of the saidis Courtis to ask, lift and crave, and the samyn to our thesaurair and his deputtis, in oure name, to inbring and delyuer; affyis ane or ma to summond, cheis and caus to be suorne, ilk perfohn nocht comperand, vnder the pane of twa hundreth pundis; clerkis, serjandis, dempstaris or vtheris officiaris of Court neidfull to mak, creat, substitut and ordane: ffor the quhilk oure saidis Commissionaris falbe baldin to ansuer to ws pairvpoun. The quhilk to do we committ to ʒow, conjunctlie and feueralie, oure full power be þir oure lettres, delyuering þame be ʒow dewlie execute and indorsat agane to þe berar. Gewin vnder oure Signet, and subferyuit with oure hand, att Edinburghe, the xxiiij day of Majj, and of our regnne the xxij ʒeir, 1589.

‘ JAMES R. CANCELLARIUS.’²

High Treason, &c.

GEORGE ERLLE OF HUNTLE, Lord Gordoun and Badzenocht, &c., Frances Erll of Bothwell, Lord Creychtoun and Hailis, &c., and Dauid Erll of Craufurd, Lord Lyndesay, &c.

Dilatit of certane tressonabill crymes, contenit in Dittay to be gewin in be our fouerane lordis Aduocatt, following.

PRELOQUITOUR for the said Erll Crawford, Mr Johnne Scharp.

PRELOQUITOURIS for Frances Erll Bothwell, Mr Thomas Craig, Mr Johnne Prestoune.

PERSEWAR, Mr Dauid M^cGill of Nisbet, Aduocat to our fouerane lord.

Comperit the said Mr Dauid M^cGill, and produceit the Dittay vnderwrittin; quhair of the temour followis.

DITTAY or INDICTMENT against the Pannell.

GEORGE ERLLE OF HUNTLE, FRANCES ERLLE OF BOTHWELL, DAUID ERLLE OF CRAWFURD; ʒe and ilk ane of ʒow, ar indyted, for þe tressonabill traffiking with strangearis and minifteris of str(angearis), sic as Jesuites and feminarie preiftis, and sum excommunicate perfohnes, for alteratioun of þe religioun presentlie professit within þis realme, according to þe sinceritie of þe Ewangell, the quyet of þe same stableischt be commoun consent of oure s(ouerane) lord and thre Estaitis, in þe Parliament haldin att Lynlythqw, the t(enth) day of December 1585 ʒeiris; and to þe owerthrow of his hienes perfohne. And this ʒe and every ane of ʒow, with Coronall S(empill), Johnne Cowper,

¹ Secta, suits of Court.

² Sir John Maitland, Lord Thirlestane.

Robert Bruce, Mr Edmond Hay, Mr William Creychtoun, Thomas Nisbet, Johnne Chifholme sone to vniq^{le} James Chifholme of Cro . . . , David Grahame of Fintrie and diners vtheris, albeit native Scottifmen, (in þe haill monethis of 1588, att þe leift in ane or vther of þame,) zit in þis tressonabill traffique, ministeris (of) frangeris : And ze and every ane of zow, hes reffaut m . . . (men ?) and Spanisch gold fra þame ; att þe leift, ane or vther of þame ; to þe effect and for þe cauffis foirfaidis ; committing thairthrow, maist hie and manifest tressonne ; quhilk ze can nocht deny.—To þe taikin that this is trew, ze, Frances Erll of Bothwell, in somer lasthyps, to þe effect foirfaid, reffaut fra Cornall Sempill ane thowfsand crownis ; and laitlie fra France, (fra þe) Erll of Erroll, ane vther thowfsand crownis ; and distributit þe same be zoure selff and vtheris att zoure command, with vtheris sounes of money, reffaut be zow fra Mr Walter Lyndfay, to¹ waigeit fouldiertis, horsmen and futemen, rasit be zow laitlie, in þe monethis of March and Apryle ; expres aganis the Acte of Parliament, forbiddand raising of fouldartis, or waigeing of ony men of weir, except be speciall commissiounne of þe Kingis Maiestie, quhilk ze had nocht. In respect quhair of ze haif incurrit þe pane of Tressoun, as is abouewrittin.—And ze, George Erll of Huntlie, in lykewayis, hes reffaut þe sounne of three thowfsand crownis or þairby, the last zeir, fra David Grahame of Fyntrie, to þe effect foirfaid ; quhairthrow ze haif incurrit the lyke cryme. And this is trew, and ze nor ather of zow can deny þe same.—SECUNDLIE, ze and ather of zow ar indytit, for þe suffering of zoure selffis to be induceit be þe reffauing of þis money aboue specifit, to þe effect foirfaid, for contentment of þe strangearis, papistis ministeris, quha traffikit with zow, to þe tressonabill effectis aboue specifit, to haif maid and subscriuit ane Band, aganis zoure dewtie, being subiectis, and subscriuit þe same be zoure handis, and diners vtheris zoure complicis, sic as the Erlis of Montroise and Erroll att Stregmartene, Glentamer and Auld-Montroise respective, in þe moneth of March lasthyps ; Bandis being forbiddin be þe law of þe countrey ; besydis dyvers conventicle aithis, leagis and conspyraceis, haif bene maid be zow, in þe monethis of Februar and March, to þe tressonabill effect aboue specifit, reiterat and renewit be zow and diuerse vtheris zoure complices and pairt-takar is in þe toune of Sanct Johnnestoune, in þe moneth of Apryll lastwas ; att þe quhilk tyme, ze maist tressonablie tuik þe faid toune, and maid zoure selffis maisteris þairof, of playne intention to haif stuffit² þe famin, and kepit it aganis his Maiestie and his authoritie. For executing of þe quhilk conspyracie, ze and ather of zow, wer art, part, red and counfall, of þe convocattin of 3oure selffis, 3oure affistaris and pairt-takaris in armes, to haif takin the Kingis Maieftis hous and palice of Halyruidhous and his hienes perfoune, fupponit be 3ow to be thairin ; and to haif flayne findrie his gracis faithfull counfalouris and feruandis, ſpeciallie Sir Johnne Maidland of Thirlſtane, knycht, his Maieftis chancellor, with diuers vtheris : Quhairthrow, 3e mycht haif vfit his Maieftis perfoune, alterit and fubuertit þe preſent eſtait, att 3our awin will. For performing quhair of 3e tryiftit 3oure meting att þe Quarrell-hoillis, betuix Leith and Halyruidhous, in March laſt ; and 3e, Frances Erll of Bothwell, wraitt to Dauid Erll of Crawford, to haif cunit in armes to Leith, and to haif kepit þe appointit place and tyme be 3oure ſelf, as indeid 3e the Erll of Crawford come in armes, to þe effect þe . þe toun of Kingorne ; the Erll of Huntly, frome þe n (north?) partis to þe toun of Dumfermling ; the Erll of Montroſe, to þe Halzairdis in Auld Liſtoun ; and 3e 3oure ſelff, to þe ſaid place appointit. Quhilk 3e nor ather of 3ow can deny.—ITEM, 3e and ather of 3ow ar indytit, fforſamekle as his Maieſtie being aduerteift of 3oure treſſonabill Conſpiraceis abouewrittin, for his awin bettir preſeruatioune in keping his realme and liegis in quyetnes, haifing fend [Williame] Reidpeth, one of his Maieftis gaird, in Apryll laſtwes, with his Maieftis letteris to his louitt counſaloure and officiar, Mr Thomas Lyoun of Baldu(kie) Maifter of Glamis, his grace theſaurar to þe tounis of Dundee and Sanct Johnſtoun ; quhairthrow his Maieſtie, be convocating of his liegis, mycht repres þe rebellious aboue ſpecifeit ; 3e be your ſelff, ſeruandis and collegis, tuik the ſaid [Williame] Reidpeth, kepit and detenit him preſoner, impedit and ſtayit þe executioun of his grace's letteris for convocating of his trew liegis to þe maintenance of his eſtait and preſeruatioun of his Maieftis perfoun : Quhairthrow 3e declarit 3oure ſelffis to haif rebellit aganis þe ſame, and thairthrow to haif incurrit þe cryme of Treſſoun.—ITEM, 3e and ilk one of 3ow ar indytit and accuſit, that in þe moneth of Apryll laſt, in hie contempt of his Maieſtie and his auctoritie, 3e tuke vpoun 3ow to aſſage þe hous of Kirkhill, and war airt, pairt, red and counfall þairof, ffor exterminatioun quhair of 3e raſit fyre ; and in takin þairof, conſtrained the ſaid Mr Thomas Lyoun, being þairin for þe tyme, to rander him preſoner vnto 3ow, careit him with 3ow to þe hielandis and place of Auchindoune, kepit him captiue be a lang ſpace ; incurrand þairby the cryme of Treſſoun. Quhilk is trew, and 3e can nocht deny þe ſame.—ITEM, 3e the Erll of Bothwell ar indytit, that fforſamekill as 3e directit one commiſſionne to þe Erll of Erroll to Sanct Johnſtoun, to move þe Erllis of Huntly and Crawford with all þair to cum fordwart and joyne þame ſelffis with 3ow, on this ſyd of þe walter of Forth, before his grace forces wer aſſemblit ; quhilk 3e did, in þe moneth of Apryll laſt : Quhairvnto (thay) agreit ;

¹ Part of a line cut by binder from the top of this and some of the following leaves. The edges of the leaves are also pared, so as to take away several words. ² Victualled and furnished.

and 3it newertheles, for takin that this is trew, the Erll of Crawford for executione heirof, enterit in contemptuous termes with the Erll of Erroll. In respect quhairof, 3e and every ane of 3ow hes incurrit þe cryme of Tr(essoune).—ITEM, 3e and ather of 3ow ar indytit, that fforfamekill as his Maiestie and his counsalouris, vnderstanding þir tressonabill vproiris and conspiraccis, aboue mentionat, directit his herauld, Williame Rankelure, to mak proclamatioune att þe mercat-croce of Abirdene, for delyuerance and putting to libertie of his gracis thesaurar, officiar of estait and his gracis counsaloure: The said herald cumand to þe mercat-croce of þe said toune in his coit of armour, the same wes rest fra him, his Maiesteis letteris directit lykwyis to be proclamit for convocatioun of his faythfull liegis, wes maist contempteoullie and tressonablie takin fra him, in þe moneth of Apryll foirsaid, be 3ow and athir of 3ow, 3oure affestaris and pairt-takaris, sic as Johnne Lesley of Boquhane, Johnne Gordoune of Bukie and Murray of Cowbairdie; 3e and euerie ane of 3ow, being art, pairt, red and counfall þairof, kepit and mantenit with 3ow, in 3oure cunpany, the foirsaidis persounes, actuall doaris þairof. Quhairthrow 3e haif rebellit aganis his Maiestie and his authoritie, and þairby incurrit þe cryme of Tressoune: Quhilk 3e can nocht deny.—ITEM, 3e and ather of 3ow ar indytit for þe tressonabil making of proclamatiounes in his Maiesteis name, for convocating of his liegis in armes aganis his Maiestie and his authoritie, makand sklanderous and vntrew repourtis in þe saidis proclamatiounis, that his hienes wes kepit captiue aganis his will; efter þe tyme that his Maiestie maist wyillie and advysitlie ratifeit the Act of Pacificatioune and maid þe Act of Restitutioune, for quyeting of þe haill estait of this countrey; and þis donè with þe aduise of his Parliament, att Lynlythqw, the tent day of December 1585: Declaring alswa, that it fould be Tressoune to ony man to oppone him selff aganis the said Pacificatioun and Act of Restitutioun, and quyet estait of þe countrey than estableisht; and that the opponeris fould incur þe pane of lyffe, landis and guidis. In making of þe quhilkis Proclamatiounis, 3e and ather of 3ow hes vsurpit his Maiesteis authoritie; and in contrawening of þe said Act and contentis þairof, hes incurrit þe pane of Tressoune.—ITEM, 3e and ilk ane of 3ow ar indytit, for airt, pairt, red and counfall, of convocating and bringing togidder of ane oist and armie, on horse and fute, aganis his Maiestie; he with his faithfull and trew subiectis being vpoun þe ffeildis, for repressing of thir 3our tressonabill actis, conspiraccis and deuyfes befor reherfit; his Maiestie self, in propir persoun, with his oist and armie, haifing past fordwart fra his Palace of Halyruidhous, to the toune of Cowie, within the Sherefdom of Kincarne, quhair his Maiestie being in propir persoun, 3e haid convocat ane host of thre thousand persounes inarmit, maid oressounes and gais persuasiounis to thame, that 3e haid his Maiesteis guid-will and consent thairto; animating thame to cum fordwart ganis his Maieftie, promeing to¹ and is of weritie; and fa 3e come² of Abirdene with difpleyit banneris to þe Brig of Die, of mynd to haif affal3iet his hienes oift and armie, his grace maift royall perfoun being thairin; gif that a part of 3our faid armie, (being) his Maiefteis guid and faithfull fubiectis, induceit and perfuadit be errour to accompany 3ow, vnderftanding þair awin errour, haid nocht (knaung his Maiefteis awin perfoun to be in the ffeildis) alluterlie refufit 3ou, in 3our faid treffonabill procedingis. And this is trew, and 3e can nocht deny the fame.—ATTOUR, 3e Frances Erle of Bothuell ar indytit and accufit, that 3e in the monethis of Januar, Februar, Merche and Aprile laftbypaft, at leift in ane or vther of thame, hes reffaut fra minifteris and ferwitouris of strangeris, Papiftis, quhome 3e in dyueris tymes haid in cumpanie with 3ow, dyuerfe fowmes of monie to the rafing of men of (weir) and wagit men, or horfe and fute, expres aganis the dewtie of ane faythfull fubiect, and come fordwart with thame to Dal(keith), his hienes being in Edinburghe for þe tyme: Of þe quhilk wageit men (3e) rafit ane number of Inglifmen, Grahmis and vtheris, inhabitantis of Levin and Newcastle; the reft of 3our wagit nowmer, being outlawis, theiffis and rebellis, Scottifmen, sic as Robert Maxwell, brother and fonnes of þe lard of Greneheid; ftrak drummis and (raifed) vp men of weir on fut and hors, maid refidence with th(ame) at Dalkeith, come with thame to Leith and dyueris vtheris partis of the cuntrey, boftit³ and manaffit the trew fubiectis þairof with þair wtter wraik. And this treffonabill deid 3e reiterat (his Maieftie) being in the north in proper perfoun, for repreffing the vproris (aboue) writtin, in þe moneth of Aprill foirfaid; and campit 3our felff . . . (at) Dalkeith aganis his Maieftie, as gif 3e haid bene fubiectis in tyme of ware, denunciit to ane forrane prince and ene(my.) Quhairthrow, 3e haif committit maift hie and manifest Treffoun (aganis) his Maiefteis perfoun, Actis of Parliament and lawis of this realme. (And) this is trew, and 3e can nocht deny the fame. —ITEM, 3e and ilkane of 3ow ar indytit for the treffonabill and fpeking aganis the peax and quietnes of the cuntrey (and his) Maiefteis libertie concludit in Parliament be the Eftatis thairof, quhilk (3e and) euery ane of 3ow did at dyuers tymes, and fpecialie in the (moneth) of Merche laftbypaft, his Maieftie being vpoun the feildis and at his willing to perfuad his hienes, that he was fen the making of the (forefaid) Act at Lithqw, haldin and detenit captiue, and that he would lo (lofe his?) lyf gif he returnit to his awin toun of Edinburghe at quhat tyme alfo ettit vpoun the taking and apprehending of his gracis maift nobill (perfoun?) oppoining your self and euery ane of you to his Maiesties Actis of Parliament : It being provydit be the saidis Actis, that quhafoeur opponit conspiring abrogatioun or derogatioun pair of, directlie nor indirectlie, thay sould incur the pane of Trefloun and Leife-maiestie, to be execute with all rigour.¹ As the extract of the said Act, heirwith productit to schaw, beris. And this ze haif done, incurrand pairthrow the panis of Trefloun, as is abouewrittin.

¹ A line cut off by the binder's unskilfulness.

² Three words pared off here.

³ Threatened.

THE quhilk day, the said Dittay and euerie point thair of being oppinlie red in judgement, and efter diuers answaris maid thairto be the saidis Erllis of Huntlie, Bothwell and Crawford,

The said ERLI OF HUNTLIE declarit, that nochtwithstanding in his conscience he is innocent of sic odious crymes, as of before he denyit, zit haifing cum in vponne that resolute purposis, to submitt him self in his Maiesteis will ; and nocht willing ony wyise to be contradictour to his Maiestie ; hoping alwis that his Maiestie will wie² the circumstances of his accusatioun ; he submittit him self maist humblie in his Maiesteis will, following his intentioun that he had att the fyrst incuming : And that, of the hail pointis of the Dittay.—The Aduocat askit instrumentis of the Erll of Huntleis cuming in the Kingis will.—The Erll of Huntlie protestit, that they mycht be hard heireftir, nochtwithstanding his cuming in will, be all lesun meanis that he may, of law.

The samin day, the ERLI BOTHWELL, eftir the reding of the hail pointis of Dittay, and efter diuers answaris gevin thairto, and ane playne denyall thair of as thay wer lybellit, become in our souerane lordis will, for raising of men of weir, convocating of our souerane lordis liegis, brokin men, borderaris, and, as he alledgeit, pledgeis for staving of the truble of the bordouris, att Dalkeyth ; and bringing of thame to Leyth : And crawis his Maiestie maist humblie pardon thairfore.—The samin day, the said Erll of Bothwell become in our souerane lordis will, for subscripcioun of ane Band, insofar (as) it is contrar the law and Actis of Parliament, alwis nocht importing Trefloun : and offerit him redde to abyde the tryall of ane Assyis for all the rest of the crymes contenit in Dittay.

The samin day, the said DAVID ERLI OF CRAWFURD, eftir the reding of the said Dittay vnto him, and that he had answarit thairto and euerie point of the samin, denyit the hail pointis thair of, as thay wer qualifeit : And become in the Kingis Maiesteis will for being vpon the ground quhene my lord Thesaurer come furth of the hous of Kirkhill, or ony cryme his Maieftie may imput to him thairanent.

¹ Mutilated by the binder. The words of the Act (19 Jac. VI. cap. 21) are, ' And that na maner of persoun nor perfonis, of quhatsumevir qualitie or degree thay be, pretend to argun, impung, trauell, solist or lawbour, for pe infringeing, breking, wrafting, abrogatioun,' &c. ² Weigh.

.¹ in his Maiefteis will for being with the Erll of Huntlie Abirdene, but ony convocatioune vpoune his pairt, with of all perfwading of his hienes liegis againis his Maieftie, as is contenit in Dittay.

The Advocat atkit instrumentis of the becuming of the Erllis of Bothwell and Crawford in the Kingis will.—The said Erll of Bothwell protested, that na mair be putt to ane Assyise, bot safar as releuant of the law.

ASSISA.

The Lord Hammiltoune,	The Lord of Cathcart,	The Erll of Marfchell,
The Erll of Angus,	The Laird of Pittarro,	The Lord Seytonne,
The Erll of Mortoune,	The Constable of Dunde,	The Lord Somerwell,
The Erll of Atholl,	The Laird of Cloifburne,	The Lord of Altrie,
The Erll of Mar,	The Laird of Lag,	The Lord Dingwall.

The Advocat, eftir accusatioun of the saidis Erllis of Crawford and Bothwell be Dittay, in prefens of the saidis persounes of Assyise, protestit, in cais the Assyise clange thame, for Wilfull Erroure.

VERDICT. And immediatlie eftir chefing, fwering and admitting of the persounes of Assyis aboue specifeit, and accusatioun of the saidis Erllis of Bothwell and Crawford be the Dittay above mentionat; the saidis persounes of Assyis removit thaim felfis altogidder furth of Court to the Counfal-hous; quhair thay fyrst, be voting, chuse the said Willeame Erll of Angus Chancillar of the said Assyise, and thairefter reffonit and votit vpoune the pointis of the said Dittay, and gave thair determinatioun thairvpoun. With the quhilk determinatioun, being throuchlie auisit, thay re-enterit agane in Court, in prefens of the saidis Justice-deputes, quhair thay, be the mouth of the said Chancillar, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said David Erll of Crawford to be fylit, culpable and convict of the tressonabill taking of the tou of Sanct Johnestoun, in the moneth of Apryll lastwas, and maid him felff maister thairof, of playue intencionne to have kepit the samin aganis the Kingis Maieftie and his (authoritie).—[AND siclyke, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said] Frances Erll of Bothwell convict of airt, pairt, red and counfall of convocatioun of the kingis liegis, his assistaris and pairt-takarais, and cuming to the Quarrell-hoillis, in Merch or Apryle lastwas, for altering of the present estait.—AND siclyke, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said David Erll of Crawford to be fylit, culpable and convict of airt and pairt, red and counfall of convocattig of the kingis lieges, att the tyme quhen the Erll of Bothwell come to the Quarrell-hoillis, for cuming to the tou of Kingorne a-gait-wart, for alteratioun of the present estait.—AND felyke, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said David Erll of Crawford to be fylit and convict of airt, pairt, red and counfall of expugnatioun and affageing of the hous of Kirkhill, and rafing of fyre thairat, committit in Apryle lastwas : Incurrand thairby the pane of Tressoune.—AND felyke, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said David Erll of Crawford to be fylit, culpabill and convict of art, pairt, red and counfall of convocatting and bringing togidder of ane oist and armie, on hors and fute, aganis his Maieftie ; he, with his faithfull subiects, being vpoun the feildis for repressing of thair tressonabill conspiraceis and dewyfis above reherfit, his Maiefties selff in proppir persoune, with his oist and armie, haifing past fordwart fra his Palice of Halyrudhous to the toun of Cowie, within the Sherefdom of Kincardin ; quhair his Maieftie being in proppir persoune, he and the rest of his collegis convocat ane oist of thre thousand men, persounes inarmit, maid oressounes and perswasounes to thame, that thay had his Maiefties guid will and consent thairto, animating thame thairby to cum fordwart aganis his Maieftie, promessing to warrand thame at his gracis handis ; howbeit the contrar is and wes of veritie : And sa thay come fordwart fra the toun of Abirdene with displayit baners to the Bryg of Die, off mynd to haif affailzeit his hienes oist and armie, his gracis maist royall persoune being thairin, gif that a pairt of thair said armye, being his Maiefties gude and faythfull subiectis, induceit and perswadit be erroure to accompanye thame, vnderstanding thair awin erroure, had nocht knawin his Maiefties awin persoune to be in the feildis, and alluterlie refusit to assist thame in thair said tressonabill proceedingis.—AND ffand and pronunceit the saidis David Erll of Crawford and Frances Erll of Bothwell to be Innocent and acquit of the remanent poyntis of the Ditay aboue writtin.

¹ A line is pared away here.

THE KING would not consent to the execution of these Peers, and the matter was allowed to hang up for above two years, when the following entries occur in the Books of Adjournal, which are inserted here, rather than under their respective dates, for the sake of connexion.

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE, s. d. n. Regis tenta in Pretorio de Edinburghe, per Magistros Johannem Graham de Halzairdis, et Vmphridem Blynschelis, Justiciarios Deputatos.]

The Kingis will towardis the Erll of Huntlie.

(July 16, 1591.)—The quhilk day, comperit ane nobill and mychtie lord, George Erll of Huntlie, Lord Gordoun and Badzenoch, &c., being enterit on pannel ; appoyntit be his Maieftie to compeir this day and place, before the Justice or his deutes, to heir and see his hienes will declarit, anent the crymes quhairfore he become in will, in ane Court of Justiciarie, haldin in the tolbuith of Edinburghe, the xxiiij day of Maij, the 3eir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxix 3eiris : Comperit lykewyis, Mr David M^cGill of Cranftoun-Ryddell, Aduocatt to our fouerane lord, and productit ane Letter, subfcryuit be his Maieftie and Chancillar, direct to the Justice, Justice-Clerk and thair deutes, for pronunceing of the will vnderwrittin ; quhilk he defyrit to be infert and regiftrat in the buikis of Adior-nall. Quhilk defyre the Justice-deutes fundand reffonabill, ordenit the famin to be infert and regiftrat in the faidis buikis, according to the Aduocattis defyre and confent ; quhairof the temour followis.

His Maiefties Warrant.

JAMES, be þe grace of God, King of Scottis. To our Justice, Justice-Clark and pair deutes, greting. Forfanekill as, in ane Court of Justiciarie, haldin in our tolbuith of Edinburghe, be our Justices in þat pairt, constitute be Commiffioun, vpoun þe xxiiij day of May, the 3eir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxix 3eiris ; oure rycht traift coufing, George Erll of Huntlie Lord Gordoune and Bad3enoch, &c. being accuſt vpoune þe Dittay gewin in againis him, be our Aduocate, contening in effect þe Proces following : ffor þe treffonabill traffiking with ſtrangearis and miniſteris of ſtrangearis, ſic as Jeſuites, ſeminarie preiftis and excommunicat perfounes, for alteratioun of þe Religioun preſentlie profeſſit within our realme, according to þe ſinceritie of þe Evangell, to þe overthrow of our perfoun ; and reſſauing of money and Spain3ie gold, to þe effect and for þis caus foirfaid : And for ſubfcryveing of ane Band to þe treffonabill effect above writtin, att Stregmartene, Glentanner and Auld Montroiſe, aganis þe lawis ; befydes diuers vtheris articles : Aud treffonabill taking of þe toun of Sanct Johneftoune : And for airt, pairt, red and counfall of þe conuocatioune maid in armes for taking of our hous and Palice of Halyrudhous, and our perfoune ſupponit to haif bene pairin, and to haif flayne oure rycht traift coufing and counfalour, Johnne now Lord of Thirlſtane, oure chancillar, and diuers vtheris ; and for performing pairof tryſting to haif mett att þe Quarrell-hoillis, betuix Leith and Halyruiddhous, and cuming agaitwart in armes to þat effect, to Dumfermling : ffor þe treffonabill taking of Reidpeth, ane of our gaird, keping of him priſoner, and impeding of þe execution of oure lettres for þe maintenance of our eſtair ; ffor þe treffonabill aſſageing of þe hous of Kirkhill, raiſing of flyre, and taking of Thomas Maifter of Glammis our theſaurar, and keping of him captiue in þe place of Auchindoune : ffor airt, pairt, red and counfall of þe treffonabill taking of oure coit of armour fra Williame Ranelour, herald, makand oure Proclamatioun at oure mercat-croce of Abirdene : ffor þe treffonabill making of Proclamatioues in our name, for convocattig of our liegis, makand ſclanderous reportis, as thouch we had bene kepit captiue ; ffor þe treffonabill convocattig of ane oift and armie of our liegis aganis ws at þe brig of Die, of mynd to haif invadit our armie quhair we wer preſent in perfoune : ffor his treffonabill ſpeiking aganis þe peax and quyetnes of þe countrey (and) our libertie concludit in Parliament ; incurrand þe panes of our Act maid pairanent : As the faid Dittay att mair lenth proportis. Quhairof, albeit the faid Erll in his conſcience affermit him ſelff to be innocent, 3it haifing cum in vpoun þat reſolute purpois to ſubmit him ſelff in our will, and nocht willing to be contradictor to ws, hoping that we wald wie the circumſtances of his accuſatioune, he ſubmittit him ſelff maift humbly in our will ; as the Act of our Adiornall maid pairvpoun beris. AND NOW we haifing conſiderit þe humbill and voluntar ſubmiſſioun of oure faid coufing, and weit þe circumſtances of his faid accuſatioun, nawyis myndit to ſeik þe wrak and ſubuerſioun of þe nobill bluid and ancient hous of our realme, bot to recover and retene thame in dew obedience ; haif pairfore of our ſpeciall grace reſſauit and acceptit our faid coufing, George Erll of Huntlie, in our mercie and favoure ; and declaris our deerminat will be þir presentis, that he is and falbe frie, remittit and dischargeit of all þe crymes aboue writtin, contenit in þe said Dittay, ffor þe quhilkis he come in oure will as said is; and of all actionne criminall and ciuile that we haif, had, lies or may haif aganis him, his lyffe, landis and guides þairfore: As also reintegrattis and rehabilitatis him to his guid fame and warldlie honour, and to vse all lauchfull deidis, in judgement and outwith, as gif he had newir cum in oure said will, or that the saidis crymes nor nane of þame had newir been committit. QUHAIKFOR it is oure will, and we command 3ow, that 3e pronunce þis our will in Jugment, and registrat þe famin in þe buikis of our Adiornall, quhilk we command our aduocatt to see done and perfytit, and to consent to þe famin in our name. For þe quhi kis, thir presentis falbe to 3ow and him sufficient warrand. Gewin vnder our signet and subferyuit with our hand, att Halyruidhous, the auchtene day of Junii, and of our regnne the tuentie foure 3eir, 1591.

JAMES R. CANCELLARIUS.

(Jul. 16, 1591.)—And siclyke, the said Justice-depute, for obedience of the said charge and command, pronunceit and declarit oppinlie in Judgement his Maiesteis will aboue writtin, viz. that the said George Erle of Huntlie Lord Gordoune and Badzenoch is and falbe frie, remittit and dischargeit of all the crymes abouewrittin, contenit in the said Dittay, for the quhilkis he become in his hienes will as said is; and of all auctionne, criminall or ciuile, that his hienes had or may haif aganis him, his lyffe, landis and guides thairfore: As alsf, that his hienes reintegrattis and rehabilitatis him to his guid fame and warldlie honoure, and to vse all lauchfull deidis in judgement and outwith as gif he had newir cum in will, or that the saidis crymes nor nane of thame had newir been committit, in maner and forme as is aboue mentionat. Quhairvpoune the said nobill and potent lord askit Act of Court.

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE, s. d. n. Regis, tenta in Pretorio de Edinburghe xxv Julij, 1591, per M. Joannem Grahame, &c.]

Dome of Forfaltour pronunceit aganis Frances, sumtyme Erll Bothwell.

(Jul. 25, 1591.)—The quhilk day, comperit Mr Dauid M^cGill of Cranftoun-Ryddell, Aduocat to our fouerane lord, and produceit the Kingis Maiesteis Warrand, subferyuit be his hienes; and defyrit the famin to be infert and registrat in the buikes of Adiornull and Dome, to be pronunceit according to the ordinance thairof, vpoun Frances Erll Bothwell Lord Creychtoun and Haillis, &c. becum in will and convict of the crymes thairin contenit. Off the quhilk letter and Warrand the tennour followis.

The Kingis Maiesteis Warrand for pronunceing Dome.

AT EDINBURGHE, the tuentie fyve day of Junij, 1591 3eiris. Forfamekill as our fouerane lord, calling to mynd and haifing confidderit how Frances Erll of Bothwell Lord Creychtoun and Haillis, and Grit Admerall of þis realme, in ane Court of Justiciarie, haldin in þe Tolbuith of Edinburgh, the xxiiij day of May, the 3eir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxix 3eiris, being dilatit and accufit be dittay, and perfewit judicialle be Mr Daud M^cGill of Cranftoun-Ryddell, his hienes Advocat, in his Maiefteis name, for rafing of men of weir, convocattig of his hienes liegis, brokin men borderaris att Dalkeyth, bringing of pame to Leith; and ficylke, for fubfcriptionne of ane Band contrar pe law and actis of parliament; become in his hienes will for pe famin: And ficylke, being indytit and accufit be dittay for airt and pairt, red and counfall of convocatioun of his hienes liegis, his affiftaris and pairt-takarais, and cuming to pe Quarrell-hoillis in March or Apryle, in pe 3^eir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxviiij or lxxxix 3^eiris, for altering of pe prefent eftait, and putt to pe knowledge of ane condigne Affyife pairfore, wes be pair delyuerance fund culpabill and convict of pe famin. Quhilk will and dome his Maieftie haifing differit to haif bene declarit or pronunceit aganis the faid Erll, vpoun hoip of his better behaviour and amendment, in tymes paireftir. NEUIRTHELES, the faid Frances Erll of Bothwell, forgetfull of his hienes clemencie, being dilatit of crymes of Trefloune and confpiraceis aganis his hienes awin perfoune, and diftructionne pairfof be Nicromancie and Wichcraft,¹ wes pairfore committit to waird within pe Caftell of Edinburghe, thair to haif remanit quhill he had bene tryit of pe famin, be pe knowledge of ane condigne Affyife, or vtherwyis as accordis of pe law; fwa that he mycht haif bene declarit ather culpabill or innocent of pe famin: Nochtwithftanding, the faid Frances Erll Bothwell hes laitlie brokin pe faid waird (and) vpoun his perell efchewit furth pairfof, takand pairby the crymes of Trefloune vpoun him, quhairof he wes dilatit, and for pe quhilkis he wes committit within pe faid waird. THAIRFORE, our fouerane lord Ordanis his will to be declarit, and Dome to be pronunceit aganis pe faid Frances Erll of Bothwell, in maner and forme as eftir followis. That is to fay, that he, be pe committing of pe crymes aboue writtin, quhairof he become in our fouerane lordis will, and wes convict be ane condigne Affyife in maner aboue fpecifeit, hes committit Trefloune; and thairfore that the dome of Forfaltoure fall be pronunceit aganis him, that he hes forfalt lyffe, landis and guides; to be applyit to his Maiefteis vfe, to be vfit and difponit as his hienes fall think expedient. Subferyuit be our fouerane lord, day, 3^eir and place foirfaidis; and ordanis the Justice, Justice-Clerk and pair deputies to pronunce pe dome aboue writtin, aganis pe faid Frances Erll Bothwell this day, but delay: As thay will anfuer to his hienes pairvpoune.

JAMES R.

FOR obedience of the quhilk Warrant aboue written, the Justice deput ordentit the faid Frances Erll Bothwell, be cuming in will and convictionne of the crymes foirfaidis, in the Justice Court aboue writtin, to haif forfalt lyffe, landis and guides, and dome to be pronunceit thairvpoune: Quhilk wes pronunceit be the mouth of Williame Gray, Dempftar of the faid Court: And ordanit the faid Letter to be infert in the faid buikis of Adiournall.

[Mr Edward Bruce, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter — Convocation of the Nobles.

Jun. 19, 1589.—SIR PATRIK HOUSTON OF THAT ILK, knycht, Robert Sherair, ferwand to the faid Sir Patrik, Johnne Dik, ferwand to Patrik Houftoun his sonne, Patrik Widdome in Houftoun, Alexander Howftoun ferwand to Mr William Houftoun, Patrik Wancok, Robert Keffane alias Hill ferwand to the young Laird of Houftoun.

¹ Birrel in his Diary remarks, ‘The 22d day Junii, (1591,) the Earle of Bothwell brak ward out of the Caftell of Edinburghe, quha had beine ther in prifone fome 20 dayis befor, for allegit Vichcraft, and confulting with vitches, efpecially with ane Richard Grahame, to confpyre the Kingis death; and vpone the 25 of Junii, the faid Earl Bothwell wes forfaulted, and intimatione made thairof by opin proclamatione at the Croffe of Edinburghe.’—Dalyell's Fragments, B. Dairy, p. 25.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchteris of vniq^{le} William Cwninghame, oy^l of the auld Laird of Glengarnok, and vniq^{le} Johnne Cwningham his sone naturall; committit with convocatioune, of the causing of the said Sir Patrik, the ferd day of Apryle lastwes, vpoun fett purpoise and provisioune.

Continued to the Justice-air of ' Renfrew, tercio Itineris, vel xv dierum.'

Jun. 19.—SIR PATRIK HOUSTOUN of that Ilk, knycht.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the crewell slauchter of vniq^{le} Robert Mvre, brother to vniq^{le} Johnne Mvre of Caudwell, and vniq^{le} Andro Wilfoun in Wodfyde; committit in Aprile, lj (1551) 3eiris.

PERSEWARIS.

For the slauchteris of vniq ^{le} W ^m and Johnne Cwninghame, Johnne Cwninghame of Glengarnok, William Cuninghame younger of G.	For the slauchter of vniq ^{le} Andro Wilfoun, James Wilfoun.
---	--

PRELOQUITOURIS in perfute.

The Lord Fleming,	The M ^r of Sincler,	Capitane James Cwninghame,
The Lord Sempill,	The Laird of Balverie,	Mr Dauid M ^c Gill, aduocat.

PRELOQUITOURIS in defence.

Maister Johnne Schairp,	The Laird of Foulwode,	W ^m Foulertoun of Dreghorne,
Maister Johnne Prestoun,	W ^m Wallace 5 ^t of Johnestoune,	W ^m Wallace, ferwand to Ardgovan.

Efter dyuerse allegeancis and anfuers proponit be ather of the parties, the Justice ordanit the mater to pas to ane Assyise.

The proceedings are not inserted in the Record. There is, however, a marking on the margin, showing that, in reference to Sir Patrik, the first case was continued to the Justice-aire of ' Renfrew, tercio Itineris, vel xv dierum; Plegiis, Domino Keir et ipse ad relevandum.' In the second case, ' Ad Remissionem pro interfectione Andree Wilfoun; Plegiis, Wilelmo Foulertoun de Dreghorne et seipso, conjunctim et divisim.' As to Robert Sherair and the next four, the diet was ' past fra; ' Plegiis, Johanne Sempill feniore de Fulwod et Dom. Houftoun ad relevand.' Robert Kessane continued to the Justice-aire of ' Renfrew, tercio Itineris, vel xv dierum; Plegio, Dom. Houftoun.'

[Mr William Oliphant, Justice-Depute.]

Abiding from the Raid of Aberdeen.

Jun. 23.—GEORGE CRAW in Peillwallis, and William Craw in Swinwode. Dilatit for remaning fra the raid of Abirdene, ordanit to haif convenit at Oe, grandson.

Edinburghe with all possibill diligence, in Aprile 1589 : And for the treffonabill affisting to Frances Erle Bothuell, and vther conspiratouris aganis his Maieftie.

PERSEWAR, Maister Dauid M^cGill 3ounger, aduocat.

PROLOQUITOURIS in defence, Mr Thomas Craig, Mr Edmond Hay.

Continued to the Aire of ‘ Forfar, tertio Itineris, vel xv dierum. Plegiis, Jacobo Sydferf, burgen. de Edinburghe, et ad relevand. unusquisque pro sua parte.’

This is the first of many similar trials for abiding from this raid. They all appear to have been settled by composition with the Treasurer.

[Messrs Johne Grahame, Williame Oliphant et James Wardlaw, Justices-Deputes.]

Slaughter.

Jul. 7.—JOHNE WEIR, balzie of Lanerk, Johnne Bannatyne callit Katis Johne and fifteen others.

Dilatit of the slauchter of vniq^{le} Robert Johnnestoune, brother to James Johnnestoune of Westraw.

PERSEWARIS, Florie Somerwell, mother. The Aduocat.

Continued to Aire of ‘ Lanerk, tertio Itineris, vel xv dierum.’

[Mr James Wardlaw, Justice-Depute.]

Fire-raising — Slaughter.

Oct. 14.—JAMES JOHNSTOUN of that Ilk and Alexander Jardene 3ounger of Apilgirth.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the crewall slauchteris of vniq^{le} Alexander Bailzie of Lytillgill, Rachell Bailzie his dochter ; and for the treffonabill burning of the Places of Moit and Dauidschaw ; and for the slauchteris of vniq^{le} Andro Aichefoune and Katherine Forreft ; and for the burning of the place of Lytillgill ; committit in the monethis of Februar and July, respective, last.

PERSEWAR, Mr Dauid M^cGill of Cranfoun-Ryddell, 3ounger.

PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannell.

The Erl Bothwell,

The Lord Newbotill,

Mr Thomas Craig,

The Lord Heres,

Lochinver,

Johne Halyday.

Quha produceit our fouerane lordis lettres, dewlie execute and indorfat, purchest be his hienes Aduocat aganis the saidis perfonnes, for the crymes foirfaid ; and defyrit proces. The perfounnes on pannel askit instrumentis that thay offerit thame reddie to abyde the tryell of the law for the saidis crymes, disaffenting to all continewatioune and protesting for relief of thair cautioneris.

The samin day, eftir diuers allegeances proponit be the Aduocat aganis the pannell and productione of Lettres of Hoirning aganis the said Laird of Johnstoün, quhilkis wes produceit be Mathow Bailze, fone to the said vni^q Alexander; and lykewis the said Mathow produceit ane vthir Warrant subferyuit be the King, Ordaning this mater to be continewit quhill the morne.—‘Plegio, Murray de Blakbarony, vnder the pane of ten thowfand merkis.’

Oct. 15.—THE Pannell ask instrumentis of thair entrie and protestis for relief of thair cautione.—The famin day comperit Mathow Bailze, and produceit ane Warrant subferyuit be the King for continewatioune of the mater to the tent day of Januar nixtocum: Quhilk wes obeyit.—The pannell askis Instrumentis of productioun of the Precept be Mathow Bailze; and that thay difassentit to all continewatioun. ‘Plegio, Domino de Blakbaronye, sub penis content. in Actis Parlamenti.’

[Messrs Williame Oliphant and James Wardlaw, Justices-Deputes.]

Witchcraft, &c.

Oct. 28.—KATHERENE ROISE LADY FOWLIS.

Dilatit of certane crymes of Wichcraft.

PERSEWAR, Mr Daid M^cGill, Aduocat. PRELOQUITOUR, Mr Thomas Craig.

The quhilk day the said Katherene askit instrumentis of hir comperance, and that sche offerit hir reddie to abyde the tryell of ane Assyse, for all crymes that can be laid to hir charge; and in respect na persoun comperit to insist in hir persuit, protestit that sche fould be fred of the waird quhairin sche remanit this lang tyme, quhill tryell fould haif bene of hir, be ane Assyse of the saidis crymes, Quhilk tryell wes appointit this day.—‘DESERT.’ (See Jul. 22. 1590.)

[Mr Johnne Grahame, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Jan. 14, 1589-90.—ROBERT LINKHOP in Leith, Williame Downie thair, Johnne Watfoune thair.

Dilatit of the slauchteris of vni^q Mestres Jeane Kennedie, spous to Andro Meluile, Maister houshald to our fouerane lord, Sufanna Kirkcaldy hir fernitric, Johnne Clapene burges of Bruntyland, and dinerse vtheris persounes, to the nowmer of thre scoir of persounis, quhilkis wes in ane boit, be rimmand of the said boit vnder sei, &c.

PERSEWARIS.

Andro Meluile, Maister houshald, Alefoune Orrok for his spous, Mr Daid M^cGill, Aduocat.
for his spous, Johnne Clapene,

The Justice continewit the mater vpoune certane desyres desyrit be Johnne Bellendene baillie of the Regalitie of Brochtoune, to the thryd day of the nixt Justice-air of the sherefdom of Edinburghe, or foner vpoune fyftene dayis warning ; and ordenit the pannell to find caution for thair entrie.—‘ Plegio, Patricio Monypenny de Pilrig pro omnibus.’

PRELOQUITOURS for the pannell, Mr Thomas Craig, Mr Johnne Skene.

Feb. 3.—The quhilk day, comperit Johnne Bellendene, bailzie of the Regalitie of Brochtoune, and defyrit, that the perfonnes aboue writtin, duelland within the boundis of the said regalitie, dilatit of the crymes aboue mentionat, mycht be replegeit furth of this Court, to the priviledge and libertie of the said Regalitie ; and offerit to find cautionne of Coloraith, for administratioun of Justice : Quhilk defyre the Justice findand reffonabill, remittit the saidis perfonnes to the jurisdictionn of the said Regalitie and baillie thair of ; quha fand James Bellendene of Pendreich cautionne and souirtie for the administratioun of Justice to the parties complenand, and vnder the pane of law : Lyke as Patrik Monypenny of Pilrig become souirtie for the said Robert Linkhop, William Downie callit Laird Downie, in Leyth, come souirtie for the said William Downie mariner in Leyth ; and William Lytill burges of Edinburgh, become souirtie for the said Johnne Watfoun in Leyth, that thay fall comper before the Baillie of the Regalitie of Brochtoune and his deputis, within the tolbuith of the Cannogait, the xxv day of Februar instant, in the hour of caus, to vnderly the law, for the crymes, respectiue, aboue writtin ; vnder the panis contenit in the Actis of Parliament.

[Mr James Wardlaw, Justice-Depute.]

Sorcery — Witchcraft — Child-murder.

Apr. 28, 1590.—MEG DOW, now duelland in Gilmertoune.

Dilatit of Sorcerie and Witchcraft and for the crewell Murdreiffing of twa young infant bairnis, the ane pertening to Bessie Rae in Gilmertoune.

JONET POLLOK.

Dilatit of the casting of Jonet Archibald, hir awin barne, in ane coilheuch, of purpoise to haif drownit hir.

VERDICT. Thomas Tulloch in Edinburghe, chancillar of the Assyis, deliuered their verdict, ‘ that the perfonnes aboue writtin was convict and fund culpable of the crymes, respectiue, aboue writtin.

SENTENCE. The Justice, be the mouthe of James Scheill, dempstar, pronunceit dome aganis the said Meg Dow ; that is to say, to be tane to the Castellhill of Edinburghe, and thair wirreit at ane staik, and thairefter hir bodie brunt in asses ; and all hir moveabill guides to be efcheit, &c.

With regard to JONET POLLOK, there is merely marked on the margin of the Record, ‘ Wairdat. in Pretorio de Ed.’ ; but what was the result of her imprisonment, does not appear.

[Mr Johnne Grahame, Justice-Depute.]

Wearing and shooting of Pistolets within Palace of Holyroodhouse — Wounding, &c.

JUN. 4.—JAMES GYB, sone to vniq^{le} Daid Gyb, in Barrestounes.

Dilatit of contrauening of the Actis of Parliament and Secreit Counfall respective, in bering, wering and schuiting of pistolettis, in the moneth of Maij lastwas; and Junij instant, setting vpoune James Boyd of the Kippis the penult day of Maij lastwas, with ane bendit pistolett, and schuiting of him thairwith throw the rycht fute, and hurting and wounding of him with ane sword in the rycht hand; incontrair the tennour of the Actis of Parliament maid in the moneth of Maij lastwas, discharginge all maner of perfounes to invade vtheris vnder the pane of deid.

PERSEWAR, Mr Daid M^cGill.

The said James Gyb offerit him in the Kingis will for the cryme: Quhairvpoune the Aduocat askit instrumentis, and protestit for Wilfull Errour in cais the Assyis fall acquit, in respect of the offer.

VERDICT. The Assyis in ane voce, be thair delyuerance, ffyndis the said James culpabill, fylit and convict of vmbefetting of the hie way and passage, vpoune deidlie feid, rancour and malice to James Boyd of Kippis, burges of Edinburghe, the penult day of Maij lastbypast, foirnent the mercat-croce of the said burcht, the said James being gangand sobirlic vpoune the hie streit thairof, as within our fouerane lordis chalmer of peax, dredand na evill, harme, iniurie or perfuit of ony perfounes, bot to haif leuit vnder Godis peax and our fouerane lordis, and thair setting vpoune him, and crewallie invading him with ane pistolet and drawin sword for his slauchter; schuiting of him with the said pistolet and thre bullettis in the rycht fute, and hurting and wounding of him with his sword in the rycht hand, to the effusioune of his blude in grit quantite; vpoune set purpos, provisoune, auld feid and foirthocht felony; in con-trar the tennour of the Actis of Parliament and Secreit Counfall respective maid anent bering, wering and schuting of pistolettis, and hurting and wounding thairwith aganis the tennour of the Proclamatioune, gif it may be extendit thairto; in respect that the said James Gib confessit the invasioune, hurting and wounding of the said James Boyd in their presens, &c.

The samin day, comperit Mr James Carmichaell, Minister, and producit the Kingis Maiesteis Warrant, off the quhilk the tennour followis.

‘ REX.

‘ JUSTICE, Justice-Clark, our Constabill, Constabill depute, Maister houfhald and vther Judgeis quhatfumeuir, appoyntit to sitt this fourt day of Junij instant, in the caus perfewit be our Aduocat aganis James Gyb, sone to vniq^{le} Daid Gyb, in Borrowstounis, We greit 3ow weill. Forfamekle as the said James may ather offer himself at ony tyme in our will, or being convict be ane Affyis for the cryme underwrittin, may be remittit in our will: Leifit throw misknowlege or dowbting of our will, justice and executioun of our lawis be delayit or frustrat, We be thir presentis declairis, that forfamekle as the said James hes nocht spairit nor feirit, schamefullie and crewallie to scbute and hurt our loving subiect James Boyd of Kippis behind his bak, to the grit effusioun of his blude; and that within the boundis of our awin Palice and Chalmer, in proude contempte of Ws and mony of our Actis of Parliament, Secretit Counfall and Proclamatiounis past pairvpoune; and pairby hes offerit ane perellous preparatiue and example to the rest of our subiectis; this being the first fact committit in that forme, sen our returning to our realme or lang befor; quhilk, gif it be nocht condignellie pwneift, to the example of vtheris that may promeis to jame selfis impwntie, and encourageing to praktis the lyk, nane of our best assured subiectis, of quhatfumeur estait or conditione, may thynk jame selfis sure of pair lyves. THAIRFOIR, we declair that the said James Gib fall suffer the death, and be put pairto without ony delay, as he hes worthelie deseruit;¹ and this for declaratioun of our will in the said mater, quhilk 5e, and ilk ane of 5ow, fall nocht fail to do, and caus be done; as 5e will anfuere to Ws vpoune 5our dew obedience; keband pir presentis for 5our Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, att Halirudhous, the fourt day of Junij, 1590.

‘JAMES R. M. CANCELLARIUS.’

[Mr James Wardlaw, Justice-Depute.]

Jul. 11.—THE quhilk day, comperit Mr James Carmichell, brothir-in-law to James Boyd of the Kippis, and produceit ane Precept, direct be onre fouerane lord to the Justice, and desyrit the famin to be red; and conforme thairto that James Gyb, sone to vmq^{le} David Gyb, in Barrestounes, fould be presentit in this Court; and that the famin fould be obeyit, lyk as the Justice for obedience thairof, causit enter the said James on pannell, and reid the famin oppinlie to him: Quhair of the tennour followis.

‘REX.

‘JUSTICE, Justice-Clark and 5our deptes, We greit 5ow hairtie weil. Forfamekill as James Gyb, sone to vmq^{le} David Gyb, in Barrestounes, wes, be ane condigne Affyse, laitlie convict and condamnit to deid² before 5ow, for pe hurting and wounding of James Boyd of Kippis behind his bak, and vn-a-warfe in his rycht fute, with the schot of ane pistolett, and with ane sword in his rycht hand: Quhilk dome of deid wes pairrestir, vpoune certane respectis, mitigat be ws; and the said James decernit and condamnit to want his rycht hand, for pe cryme foirfaid: The executioun quhair of hes bene as 5it delayit, att pe ernist requeist and desyre of the said James Boyd of Kippis, to quhome the wrang and offence wes done; ane manne, mair willing apperandlie, vpoune repentance of his offender, to petie, pardoun and forgif, nor to seik revange of his offence, be schedding of mair blude; quhais Cristinne inclinatioun we can nocht bot allow. And now, being informit, that, in respect pairof, certane gentilmen ar takand pe burding vpoune jame for pe said James Gyb, hes for the afflythment of the said James Boyd, maid certane offerris, and bundin and obleift jame, coniuictlie and feucralie, vnder certane pecuniall panis, that the said James Gyb fall do sic homage to him, as he fall pleis command; and als that the said James Gyb fall willinglie baneife him self furth of our realme, and fall depart furth of þe fame, how sone he falbe releivit furth of þe Tolbuith of Edinburghe, quhairin he presentlie remanis; and fall newir returne agane within the same, nor ony pairt þairof, during all þe dayes of his lyfytyme; and fall do nor attempt na hurt nor skayth to þe said James Boyd, or ony of his, in ony tyme cuming: As in þe Band and obligatioune maid þairvpoune, ordenit to be registrat in þe buikis of Counfall, of þe dait, att Edinburghe and Sauchie, the twentie-fewin and twentie-nyne of Junij lastbypast respectie, at mair lenth is contenit. Quhairvnto the said James Boyd, as We ar credible informit, hes agreit; quhairby, 5it agane, We being movit of our clemencie, to mollyfie and of our royall auctoritie to dispens with the executioun of þe Domes pronunceit ofbefore, and to agrie to þe making of þe said Band, and to condiscend to þe baneifment foirsaid. OURE WILL is heirfore, and we charge 5ow, eftir þe fycht heirof, 5e call the said James Gyb before 5ow, the xj day of Julij instant; and of new pronounce and gif Dome of perpetuall Baneifment aganis the said James Gyb; and that with his awin consent; conforme to þe Band and obligatioune foirsaid, maid þairnent to þe said James Boyd, in all poyntis: And to interpone 5our auctoritie þairvnto; to haif þe strent, force and effect of ane dome and sentence criminal in all tymes cuming; lyke as we, be þe tennour of þir presentis, willing to mitigat justice with clemencie, especiallie quhair the offendit partie is futear þairof, ratefeis and appreis the said Band and obligatioun and baneifment contenit þairin, and all and sundrie vthir hedis, claussis, conditiounis, articles and circunstances contenit in þe said Band, allsweill vnamit and nocht exprest, as nameit and exprest in þir presentis, promittend. in verbo Principis, newir to do ony thing that may be preiudicial or derogatiue þairto, in ony foirt, in ony tyme cuming; dispensand of our auctoritie royall, with the said former dome or domes alreddie pronunceit, swa that the samin fall newir haif effect in tyme cuming, except in cais of contraventioune, and according to þe tennour of þe said Band. Lyke as, we also interpone oure auctoritie to þe said Band, and everie heid, claus and article þairof; and for þis effect, we ordaine and commandis 5ow, to insert þir presentis in our buikis of Adiornall, and to interpone 5oure decreit and auctoritie þairto; swa that, in cais of contraventioun of ony point of þe foirsaid Band, executorialis and executioun may pafs þairvpoune, according to the lawis of þis realme: And þe said Dome being pronunceit, that 5e putt him to libertie, be þe cause of þe said James Boyd; conforme to þe obligatioun foirsaid maid to him þairnent, that he may depart furth of our realme conforme þairto: Kepand þir presentis for 5our Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, at Halyruidhous, the nynt day of Julij, and of our regne the twentie-ithre 5eir, 1590.

¹ On the margin of the Record there is written, ‘Convict and baneift jis realme, with his awin consent and partie.’ ² The former Verdict of the Assise and Sentence are not inserted in the Record. It would appear that Boyd of Kippis had successfully used every influence with the King to mitigate the sentence.

SENTENCE. According to the quhilk Precept, the said James Gyb, being presentit on pannell, as said is, and being requyrit, Gif he wald consent to the said Dome of baneifment? Anfuerit, that he wes content thairwith. Thairfore, the said Justice-depute, be the mouth of the said James Scheill, dempstar, pronunceit and decernit, that the said James Gyb fall, with his awin consent, conforme to the Band and obligatioune abouewrittin, falbe perpetuallie baneist this realme: and interponis his auctoritie to the said Band, conforme to the said Precept, swa that executorialis may pas thairvpoune: And ordanit the said James to be putt to libertie, furth of the said Tolbuith of Edinburghe. Quhairvpoune, the said Mr James Carmichell askit act and instrumentis.

Baptizing and Celebrating Marriages after Excommunication.

JUN. 18.—SIR THOMAS KER in Auld Roxburcht, James Scott att South Syntoun-mylne and Thomas Newbie in Haffindane.

Dilatit for sustening of the proces of Excommunicatioun and contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in baptesing of bairnis and making of mariages, without ony functione.

The famin day, comperit Mr Dauid M^cGill of Cranftoun Ryddell, Aduocatt to our fouerane lord, and produceit the Dittay aganis the faidis perfounes : quhair of the temmour followis.

DITTAY against the Pannells.

SIR THOMAS KER, James Scott and Thomas Newbie, 3e and everie ane of 3ow, ar indytit and accusit, for lying vnder þe horrible sentence of Excommunicatioune, seperat fra the suffrage and prayer of þe Kirk, and merite of þe blude of Chryst, to þe damnatioun of 3oure saules, continewallie, fra þe xxvj day of March, the 3eir of God V^c. fourfcoir-aucht 3eiris.—ITEM, 3e and ewerie ane of 3ow, ar accusit, that fforfamekill as for 3our misbehaviour in 3oure functione of ministerie and rederfchip, 3e being lauchfullie depryvit in þe moneth of March 1582 and in September 1583, respective, 3e haif continewit, nochtwithstanding, in abusing of þe sacramentis in mareing of findrie perfounes and baptesing of bairnis.

Off the quhilkis crymes, thay com in our fouerane lordis will.

The King's Will and Sentence against the Pannells.

(Jun. 24.)—The quhilk day, comperit Mr Dauid M^cGill, Aduocat, and eftir the entering of the faidis Sir Thomas Ker, James Scott and Thomas Newbie, on pannell, as becum in will for the crymes of Excommunicatioune, and declarit owre fouerane lordis will ; quhilk wes, that thay fould act thaim selffis vnder the pane of deid, newir to abuse the Sacramentis nor functione in the Kirk ; as also, that thay fould be tane to the mercat-croce of Edinburghe, and stand twa houris, with paiparis on thair heidis, contening the cryme : Quhairvpoune Dome wes pronunceit.

The famin day, they ‘ actit þame selffis newir to abuse þe sacramentis, vnder þe pane of deid.’

[Mr Johnne Grahame, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Jul. 16.—JAMES TWEDIE of Drummelzeare, Adam Twedie of Dravay, Williame Twedie of the Wrae, Johnne Creychtoun of Quarter, Andro Creychtoun in Cardoune and Thomas Porteous of Glenkirk.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vniq^{le} Patrik Veitch, sone to W^m Veitch of Daik, (Dawick) ; committit in Junij lastwas.

PERSEWARIS.

Williame Veitch, Eldar of Daik, as fader, Veitch, 3ounger of Daik, as brothir.

PRELOQTOURIS for thame.

Williame Cokburne of Skirling,

Patrik Cokburne, Tutour of Langtounne,

. . . . Heriot of Trabroune,

Johne Cokburne of Newholme.

PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannell.

The Laird of Balfour,	Mr David Bailzie,	Mr Johnne Scharp,
James Hammiltoun of Libbertoun,	The Laird of Brunstounne,	Mr Thomas Craig,
Robert Forrefter, brodir to the Laird of Carden,	James Creychtounne of Carco,	Mr Johnne Ruffell.

The Justice, be ressonne that ane nowmer of Assyise could nocht be gottin to the faidis perfounes, continewit the mater; and ordanit the perfounes on pannell to continew in thair waird, as thay did ofbefore, quhill thay obtenit releif of his Maieftie.

The said day, the perfewaris produceit ane Warrant and Precept direct to the Justice, ordaning that the lyke caution, and vnder the lyke panis, be tane of the perfounes on pannell, as wes before; and that thay fould be retenit in waird.—The said day, Johnne Betounne of Balfoure and James Hammiltounne of Libbertounne become pledgeis and fouerteis, coniuinctlie and feuerallie, that the perfounes on pannell fall remane in waird, within the tounne of Edinburghe, vnder the pane of ten thousand markis.

Jul. 20.—Continued to the Aire of ‘Peblis, tertio Itineris, xv dierum.’

Witchcraft — Incantation — Sorcery — Poisoning.

THE following extraordinary case is one of the leading trials for Witchcraft at this unhappy period: and contains many curious particulars relative to that strange infatuation. ‘Katherine Roifs Lady Fowlis,’ who was daughter to Alexander Ross of Balnagown, was the second wife of Robert More Munro, the fifteenth Baron of Fowlis, a family of great antiquity, and possessed of considerable property in the counties of Ross, Sutherland and Inverness; having by that marriage, George Munro (of Obisdale), John and Andrew, and four daughters, Margaret, Janet, Marjory and Elizabeth. Robert More Munro had also, by his first marriage with Margaret Ogilvy, a daughter of the house of Findlater, Robert his heir, the intended victim of his stepmother and Mr Hector, who had succeeded his brother, (being served as heir to his father and brother, Oct. 7, 1589,) previous to the date of this trial. He had also by his first marriage three daughters, Florence, Christian and Catharine.—Robert Munro, ‘apperand of Fowlis,’ succeeded his father, and became sixteenth Baron of Fowlis, Nov. 4, 1588, and was four times married, viz. 1st, Marjory daughter of Kenneth MacKenzie Lord Kintail; 2d, Lady Eleanor Gordon daughter of the Earl of Sutherland; 3d, Janet Sinclair daughter of George Earl of Caithness; and 4th, Elizabeth daughter of Hugh Rose of Kilravock; by the last of these ladies he had one daughter, Margaret, who married Robert Munro of Assint.

It is necessary to have been thus minute in shewing the connexions of this family, to account satisfactorily for the Lady Fowlis entering into compact with such a crew of miscreants, and attempting such horrible practices. The purpose of all this Poisoning and Witchcraft was, that by removing Marjory Campbell the young Lady Balnagown, her brother George Ross of Balnagown might marry the young Lady Fowlis; and to do this effectually, it was necessary to destroy her stepson Robert. It may be remarked, that several of her familiars were led to the stake, and had died confessing the whole plot previous to Lady Fowlis’s own trial; her own ‘nourrice’ was destroyed through her foolish curiosity, in tasting of a ‘pyg of poyfoun,’ and ‘immediatlie thaireftir departit be the said poyfoun;’ and it is apparent that these facts were notorious.

The escape of Lady Fowlis and her stepson, Mr Hector, (see the following Trial,) can only be attributed to the very powerful influence of the parties. Besides other circumstances, which must occur on perusal of this remarkable case, the 'Inquest' bears all the appearance of a selected or packed jury, being in a very inferior rank and station of life to the pannel, contrary to the usual custom—and the private prosecutor is 'Mr Hector Monro of Fowles,' who was in a few hours to exchange places as pannel at the same bar for similar crimes! Hector Monro's Assise is also composed of burgesses and dependents on the families of Monro and Ross.

Jul. 22.—KATHERENE ROISS LADY FOWLIS.

Dilait of certane crymes of Witchcraft, following.

PERSEWARIS, Mr David McGill of Craufoun-Ryddell, aduocat, Mr Hector Monro of Fowlis.

PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannell, Mr Thomas Craig, Mr Johnne Chene.

The Aduocat produceit the Dittay vnderwritten, desyring proces thairvpoune; quhairof the tennour followis.

DITTAY against the Pannell.

KATHERENE ROISS LADY FOWLIS, Thow art accufit, ffor the vnnaturall abusing of thy selff, contrar the lawis of God, and exerceing and vsing thy selff maift vngodlie and wickitie, be the perversst Inchantmentis, Wichcraft, Develrie, Incantatiounis and Sorcerie, with the craft of poyfoun in maner vnderwrittin and following, particulerlie practefit, execute, devyfit and sett fordwart be thee, of thy speciall counfall, devyiffis, furth-sett and command, aganis Robert Monro thane apperand of Fowlis and Mariory Campbell, spous to George Rois apperand of Balnagowne, att the tymes and places particulerlie eftir specifit, in company with Cristian Roifs Malcome sone, and vtheris eftir specefeit. IN the fyrst, Thow art accufit, for the making of twa pictouris of clay, in cumpany with the said Cristiane Roifs and Mariorie Neyne M^cAllester alias Laskie Loncart, in the said Cristian Roifs westir chalmer in Canorth; the ane, maid for the destructionne and consumptionne of the young Laird of Fowlis, and the vther for the young Ladie Balnagowne; to the effect that the ane thairof sould be putt att the Brig-end of Fowles, and the vther att Ardmuir, for distructionn of the saidis young Laird and Lady: And this sould haif bene performit at Alhallowmes, in the year of God I^m.V^c.lxxvij 3eiris: Quhilkis twa pictouris, being sett on the north syd of the chalmer, the said Lofkie Loncart tuik twa elf arrow heides and delyuerit ane to ye (you) Katherene, and the vther, the said Cristian Rois Malcunfone held in her awin hand; and thow schott twa schottis with the said arrow heid, att the said Lady Balnagowne, and Lofkie Loncart schott thrie schottis at the said young Laird of Fowlis: In the meane tyme, baith the pictouris brak, and thow commandit Lofkie Loncart to mak of new vther twa pictouris thaireftir, for the saidis performes; quhilk the said Lofkie Loncart tuik vpoun hand to do: And thow wes present, and saw and hard this done, and nane present in the said chalmer except thow, the said Cristiane Roife and Laskie Loncart. And for the mair witneffing heirop, the said Cristiane Roife confest the famin, being accufit thairvpoune, in presens of Mr Martene Logie, notar publict, and Johnne Irving of Kinnok, Johnne Wilfoun in the Chanonrie, Williame Robertfoune thair, Donald Vrquhart thair, Robert Irving brothir to the said Johnne Irving, vpoune the xxiiij day of November, threfcoir sewintene yeires (1577). And for the mair verificatioun heirof, the said Cristiane Roifs, being atteicht and accufit for the saidis crymes, before rycht honourabill men, Walter Vrquhart, theref of Cromertie, and Robert Monro of Fowles, Justices to our fouerane lord, be his hienes Commiffioure, in ane Justice Court haldin within the Cathedrall Kirk of Roifs, the twentie aucht day of November I^m.V^c.lxxvij yeiris, confessit the samin, and wes convict be ane Assyis, and wes brint for the samin. This is manifest be the haill countrie of Roifs; quhilk thow can nocht deny.—(2.) SICLYKE, thow art accufit, for the conventioun with the said Cristian Roifs and Lorkie Loncart, in the moneth of November, I^m.V^c.lxxvij yeiris, of fett purposis for destructionne of the said young Laird of Fowles and the young Lady of Balnagowne, in thy barme in Drumnyn; and thair making ane stoup-full of poysonit new aill, quhilk wes devysit to be for the young Laird of Fowles, Hector Monro, the Lairdis brother, his bairnis, the haill sonis of vmq^{le} Johnne Monro of Vrquhart, Huheoune Mouro of Assent, Andro Monro of Newmore, and the remanent of the speciall of thair kynne; sa mony of thame, as mycht be apprehendit: And becaus the said stoup ranne out and the liquour that wes in itt, except ane lytill quantitie thairof, the said Katherene causit Donald M^cKay your awin boy tak; and taisting it, incontinent thaireftir tuik seiknes, and lay continewallie thaireftir poysonit with the liquour. And this was kepit in the kill of the said toun of Drumnyn, for the space of thrie nychtis, and the saidis Cristiane Roifs, Lorkie Loncart and thow, convenet the thryd day agane thairefter, in the said kill; quhair thow commandet Lorkie Loncart to mak ane pig-full of ranker poyfoune, that wald distroy schortlie the foirsaidis perfounes; at quhais command the said Lorkie Loncart maid the said poyfoun, and putt itt in ane pig, and send itt to thee. This the said Cristian Roifs confessit in judgement, being accufit as said is, and wes convict for the samin; as the Proces deduceit heiranent testifeis, and as the countrey knawis; quhilk thow can nocht deny. And swa, for vsing of the said poyfoun, expres aganis the saidis Actis of Parliament maid thairanent; incurrand thairby, the panis contenit thairin.—(3.) ALSO, thow art accufit, for assisting and geving counsal, in cumpany with the said Cristian Roifs and Lorkie Loncart, in sending of ane pyg of poyfoun with the nourrice to Angus Leithis hous, quhair the young Laird of Fowles wes for the tyme; of deliberat mynd to haif poysonit him thairwith: Quhilkis thow had in keping, and thy said nourrice bringand the said pyg fra the, it fell the way, vnder sylvence of nycht, and brak the pyg; and sche taistand of the samin, immediatlie thaireftir departit, be the said poyfoun: And the famin wes devyfit for poyfoning of the young Laird of Fowles; quhilk the said Cristiane confest judiciallic, being accusit as said is, and wes convict of the famin: And for the mair witnessing, the place quhair the said pyg brak, the gers that grew vpoun the famin wes so heich by¹ the natour of vther gers, that nather cow, ox nor scheip ewir previt² thair of yit; quhilk is manifest and notorious to the haill countrey of Roifs; quhilkis thow can nocht deny: And swa, for airt and pairt of the slauchter of your nourrice foirsaid, quha deit be the said poyfounne, albeit it wes devyfit for the young Laird; as is notour.—(4.) MAIR,³ thow art accusit, for airt and pairt, devyise and counfall, of the destructionne and poyfoning of the said young Laird of Fowles; In sa far as the said Cristiane confest, that sche saw Williame M^cGilliewareycht-dame, about Pasch,⁴ in the zeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxvij yeiris, delyuer to the, in thy awin handis, ane buill⁵ of Wichcraft, within the Stank of Fowles; quhilk thow ressaunt fra him, and putt itt in thy awin pouch incontinent; of sett purpos to bewich the said young Laird of Fowles thairwith; as is notoure.—(5.) FORDER, in signe and takin, that thow wes ane of the principall devyfaris of the young Lady Balnagownis poyfoning, Thomas M^cKain Moir M^cAllane M^cHenrik and vthir dewyfaris of the said destructionne and poyfounne, wes be thy convoy and command, ressaunt and intertinnit, in the said Cristian Roiffis hous, in the moneth of December 1577, be the space of fourtene dayes; being accusit as said is, confest the famin; quhilk thow can nocht deny.—(6.) THOW art also accusit, for airt and pairt of the poysonit drinkis maid be the, in cumpany with the said Cristiane Roiffe and Lofkie Loncart, M^cGillicuorie-dame, Katherene Roifs, Donald Roiffis dochtir; quhilkis drinkis wes maid for the young Laird of Fowles and his bairnis, Hector Monro and his bairnis, and the rest of thair kin; to that effect, that thy awin bairnis fould succed to the hous of Fowlis: And the drinkis also fould haif bene gevin to the young Lady Balnagowne, swa that the said young Laird of Balnagowne mycht marie the young Lady Fowles: And wes convict for the famin; as the Proces deduceit thairanent beris; quhilkis thow can nocht deny.—(7.) AND als, thow art accusit, for gewing command to the said Cristian Rois Malcunfounne, to gif ludgeing, herbric and intertinnement to Marioune Neyuane M^cAllester alias Lofkie Loncart, in somer 1577, of deliberat mynd, to consult with yow, anent the vsing of the said poyfounne; and be quhat way ye fould get the famin gewin to the said Laird; lyke as, ye spak with hir thairanent, in the said hous; as is notour.—(8.) AND mair, Thow art accusit, for sendeing of the said Cristiane, thre or foure tymes, for Johnne M^cNilland in Dingwall, in the moneth of Junij, 1577 yeiris; and the said Johnne cam to hir biging,⁶ and remanit thair ane nycht ; and vpoune the morne thaireftir, he cam to Fowles to the, and delyuerit to the ane elf arrow heid ; for quhilk ye gaif him foure schillingis money ; quhilk thow can nocht deny.—(9.) AND forder, thow art accufit, for the talking and commoning with Cristiane Myller, dochter to Robert Myllar smyth in Affin, in the toun of Katwall, in the moneth of Junii lxxvij zeiris, ane lang fpace, in cumpany with the said Cristian Roifs ; and in signe and takin, the said Cristian Myllar gatt ane half furlett of meill fra Johnne Keillis wyffe in Katuall ; quhilk the said Cristian Roifs confest, being accufit, and wes convict thairfore ; as the Proces thairof proportis.—(10.) AND also, thow art accufit, for faying to the said Cristian Roifs, that thow fould do, be all kyndis of meanis, quhair itt mycht be had, of God in heaven or of the Devill in hell, for the diftructive and doune-putting of Mariorie Campbell young Lady Balnagoune ; and fche wald nocht be the fyrft reveillar and confessar of ony thing vpoune the, that wes hir lady and mestres ; quhilk fche confest, being accufit, and wes convict of the fame.—(11.) LAST of all, thow art accufit, for being in cumpany with the said Cristiane Roifs and Thomas Caffindonifch, in the place of Drummyne, att Lovatt comoung, the young Lady Balnagoun being thair, in the moneth of Auguft, the yeir of God foirfaid ; and being fperit att be vtheris, quhat thow and Cristian Roifs and Thomas Caffindonifch wer doand thair, anfuerit, Gif thair wes ony devyife, thair it wes, for the young Lady Balnagoune wes in the kill with thame, and the famin wes confest be the said Cristian Roifs, before Rorie M^cKenzie of Arthirfailzie, and Rorie M^cRorie Alanfoune.—(12.) THOW art accufit, for the crewall flauchter, be thy craft of poyfoun foirfaid, of Marie Murdocht Moreis dochter, youre nourrice, quha deit eftir the taifting of the pyg of poyfoun, quhilk wes fend to the.—(13.) THOW art accufit, for gewing of aucht fchillingis money to the said Williame M^cGillieorie-dam to pas to Elgyne for bying rattoun¹ poyfoune ; quha wairit thairof bot faxtene penneis ; and brayit the fame poyfoune, and putt itt in ane pece ledder and delyuerit itt to the, in Junii, lxxvij zeiris, within Stank of Fowles ; Katherene Roifs, dochter to Sir David Roifs of Balnagoune,² being in counfall thairof : And to the mare verificacioun, thow delyuerit to him with the said aucht fchillingis, foure elnes liming claith for his labouris ; quhilkis he confest, being accufit judiciallie, and wes convict be ane Affyis, and brunt for the famin, as the hail countrie knawis.—(14.) ALSO, thow art accufit, for reffauing of certane poyfoun, quhilk wes brocht to the be the said Williame M^cGillieverie-dam, quhene thow zait (went) to thy chalmer, in that nycht in Williame Monrois hous, be the hand of Katherene Roifs, dochter to Sir David Roifs ; quhilk the said Williame M^cGillieverie-dam confest.

¹ Beyond. ² Preed, or tasted of that grass. ³ Moreover, farther. ⁴ Easter, Paise. ⁵ Small box. ⁶ Building or house, cot-house.

¹ Poison for rats, ratsbane.

² She afterwards married the well known Sir William Sinclair of Mey, who, when a boy, was a leader of the riot at the High School of Edinburgh, and killed John MacMorran, one of the bailies, while attempting to quell the disturbance, September 5, 1595.

being accusit; and wes convict be ane Affyse, and zaid to deid with the fame.—(15.) AND also, thow art accusit, for sending the said Williame M^cGillieveri-dame to the Egyptianis,¹ to haif knowlege of thame, how to poyfoun the young Laird of Fowles and the young Lady Balnagounne; quhilk the said Williame grantit, being accusit, and wes convict for the fame.—(16.) AND forder, thow art accusit, for ressaing of the rottoun poyfoune, quhilk the said Williame M^cGillieveri-dame confest he bocht fra Thomas Roifs, merchant in Aberdene, in Elgne, without ony filuer gewin thairfore; and thaireftir for poyfoun, quhilkis he bocht in Tayne, and delynerit itt to the, and thow baid him keip secreit sic thingis as thow patt² to his charge, anent the bying of the said poyfoune; quhilk the said Williame grantit, being accusit and judiciallie convict for the famin, be the Affyse.—(17.) ALSO, thow art accusit, for continewing in thy former wick-itnes and develrie, quhen Williame M^cGilliveri-dame was fend for be the, in the moneth of Maij, anno lxxvij, Donald M^cKy being messinger, to the toum of Taine; and thaireftir, he com to Fowles and spak with the, ane lang space, quhair thow sperit at him, Gif he had mair of the poyfane to gif the, for that poyfoune thow had gottin of befoir, was our³ litill to serve thy turne; and he said, he had nane ready at that tyme; and refuifit, without the Laird thi brothir waigeit.⁴ And siclyk, thow sperit at the said Williame, Quhidder the poyfoune foirsaid servit bettir to be gevin in eggis, browis or keill? And he answert, that thow fuld dres the famin as thow thocht guid, and grantit to the said Williame that thy brother, the young Laird of Balnagown, knew of the said poyfoune alsf weill as thow did; in taikin quhairof, thow fend furst to him out of the place, with Donald M^cKay, ane stoip of guid aill, with breid and cheis; quhilkis the said Williame grantit, being accusit, and was convict for the famin; as the Proces thairof beris, and is manifest to the hail contrey.—(18.) ALSE, thow art accusit, for quyet and lang conference with the said Williame M^cGillever-dame, in Williame Munrois chahner, in Culcragy, in October, anno lxxvij, Katherene Rofs being present, anent the former purpos of the down-putting of the young Lady Balnagowne; thow gaif him vfe of vadge;⁵ and on Witsumday evin, the said yeir, for the said cause, thow gaif him xx f. And siclyk, thow causit Johnne M^cFindlay Moir, in Miltonne of Catuall, to delyuer to the said Williame M^cGillever-dame, in sunmir the said yeir, ane firlot of meill; quhilkis he confestit, being accusit, and was conviete for the famin.—(19.) ALSO, thow art accusit, for causing of Agnes Roy, ane vther of the Vichis, to pas for Loske Loncart to speik with the, in midsummir, in anno lxxvj; quha spak to the, that thow wald gang in Hillis to speik the elf folk; and gif the cace wer, that the young Lady of Balnagown departit, that scho had spokin to the, gif the young Laird of Foulis deit, the young Laird of Balnagoun wald marry the young Lady Foulis (his) wyf: And thow gaif to the said Williame M^cGilleвори-dame fyve ellis linnig clayth, in the moneth of September, anno lxxvj; and on Pasche-day thaireftir, xvj s. be Williame Cuikis sone; quhilk the said Agnes confessit.—(20.) ALSO, thow art accusit, for the assisting with the said Agnes Roy, speciale, quhen scho was passing for Marrioune M^cKaine M^cAlester alias Loske Loncartis, cumand the way with hir, enterit in speking, and scho said, ‘Scho wald mak bodyis of clay hir self, Cristian Malcolmfone and Gradache Malcomfone;’ and quhen the said Agnes Roy sperit at hir, ‘To quhat effect the said bodyis of clay suld be maid?’ Quha ansuerit and said, ‘That ane of thame wald be maid to the young Lady Balnagoun, and the tothir to the young Laird of Fowlis.’ And the said Loske Loncart com that nycht to Canort, at midfomer, the yeir of God foirsaid: And alsé, Agnes Roy confessit, that thair was sik thingis, and taikinis betuix her and the, and Katherene Rofs Sir Daudis dochtir, that at quhat tyme the said Agnes Roy had cum in fra Williame M^cGalleвори-dam or Loske Loncart, vithe thair myndis and ansueris, to the and Katherene Rofs Sir Daudis dochter; in caise thair war ony man or woman in the company, quhilk they war nocht privat of thair secretis, than the signe and taikin was, that the said Agnes Roy suld vring and greip thair handis or stamp vudir feit; quhilkis promissis the said Agnes Roy confessit judiciallie, being accusit, and was convict be ane Affyise; as the Proces beiris.—(21.) THOW art accusit, for geving of twa ellis of gray cleyth and ane fark, with xij s. iiij d. money, quhilk Johne Syidferf delyuerit at thy command to Johne M^cFarcor, cuik to the young Laird of Balnagoun, quha had cum in thre tymis to Fowlis, and was in speking with the and Katherene Neynday at ilkan of the saidis tymes; and the said Katherene Neynday passing out of the said toun of Fowlis, tuik with her, at thy command, rattoun poyfoun to Ardmuir, and delyuerit it to the cuik, to mix it with ane kiddis neir,¹ quhilk the young Lady Balnagoun and her company fell that nycht:² And Katherene Neynday, being in Ardmuir that time, skunnirrit³ with it sa mekill, that scho said, that it was the fairest and maist cruell sicht that evir scho saw, seing the vomit and vexacioun that was on the young Lady Balnagoun and hir company; of the quhilk poyfoun, the young Lady Balnagoun contractit deadlie feiknes, quhairin scho remanis ye (yet?) incureable; as is notorie knawin, and was confessit be the said Agnes Roy, being accusit judiciallie, and was convict be ane Affyise thair of.—(22.) MAIR, thow art accusit, for causing of Lofkie Loncart mak ane poyfoun drink, devyfit be Lofkie Loncart, and reueilit to Katherene Rofs Neynday, and was ordanit to be gevin to the young Laird of

¹ Gipsies. ² Entrusted. ³ Too. ⁴ Hired him, was his employer. ⁵ Wages, feed, bribed or hired him.

¹ A kid's ear or kidney. ² A young deer, killed by the company in the chace. ³ Revolted at the sight.

Foulis and fuld haue bene maid in Neyn Schallonis hous, in Drummyn, at Alhallowmes, in anno lxxvij yeris.—(23.) MAIROUR, thow art accufit, for affisting of the said Gradoche Malcolmfoune, quha confessit, that Marioune Rofs alias Lofke Loncart, schew hir secretlie, that thow defyrit hir to cut of Robert Monroy apperand of Fowlis, and Hector Munroy of Killry, Huchoune Monroy of Affoun, Robert Munroy sone to the said Hector, with threttie of his best kinifmen, and Katherene Rofs dochtir to Sir Dauid Rofs; quhilk is notorious.—(24.) THOW art accufit, for affisting of Thomas M^cKane More M^cAllane M^cEuoch in all his vngodlie Wichcraft and Devilrie; and specialie, quhen the said Thomas was fend be George Rofs, young Laird of Balnagoune, to Farndrocht to the, convoyit with Donald M^cMilane and Johne Sutherland, brothir to Alex^r Sutherland, the first hous he com to, was Cristian Malcolmis hous in Tane, and was resauit plesandlie and weill intertinit that nycht be Cristiane Malcolmfoune, thow sperit at this ¹ gif it was hir that said, that hir brother wald be flaine; the Lairdis of Foulis ɛldar, youngar and thow, being at that tyme in Affin: And out of that departit Kandlochglais; quhilk tyme, was the xvj day of August, anno lxxvij yeris: And vpoune the morn thaireftir, being the xvij of August, thow com down out of Affin to Canort, and thair spak with the said Thomas at lenth, and thair defyrit him to vse his craft, for putting down of the said Mariorie Campbell young Lady Balnagoune; and thow promesit to reuard him gretumlie. And for mair sure performing of the said young Lady Balnagoune, thow directit George Cuik, sone to William Cuik in Foulis, to Taine, to twa vemen, (the ane callit Marioune Neynmane Adame M^cAlester alias Loske Loncart, and Cristiane Snyth dochter to Robert Snyth in Affint, quhilkis vemen ar haldin and reput rank commoune Vichis in the countrey,) for ane elf-arrow-heid, quhilk the said George Cuik ressauit fra the, and delyuerit in prefence of Cristiane Malcolmfoune; quhilk thow kepit in thy awin keping; lyk as the said Thomas confessit the samyn, being accufit, and was conuict thairof.—(25.) FORDER, thow art accufit, for the keping cumpanie with George Rofs young Laird of Balnagoune, in ane kill in Drummene, vpoune the xxiiij day of August, anno thrieseoir seivintene yeris, Cristiane Malcumfonis dochter and the said Thomas was present thair; the said George Rofs of Balnagoune standing, his bak at the dore, and ane vand in his hand, defyrit the said Thomas to do that thing quhilk he wes to put to his chairge, tuicheing the destructione of his wyfe and the young Laird of Fowlis; and he fuld giue him ane garmounthe of cleis² for his travellis; quhilkis the said Thomas confessit, being accufit, (and) wes conuictit for the samen, as the Proces beiris.—(26.) THOW art accufit, for affisting the said Thomas, Cristiane Malcomfoune, (and) Marioune Nieyn M^cAllaister, vpoun

¹ Left blank in record.² Suit of clothes.

the secund day of Julij, anno threfcoir fevintene yeiris, for making of ane pictur of butter to the said young Robert Monro Laird of Fowlis, in the said house of Caynort, be the devyse and consultatioun of the said Donald and Williame M^c-Gilleuerie, and the said pictur of buttir, eftir it wes maid, wes fet at the wall-fyd in the vester chalmer of the said hous of Coynard, and wes schot at with ane elf-arrow-heid be the said Marioune Neyuen M^cAlester alias Loske Loncart aucht tymes; quhilk pictur scho mist, and haid (hit?) na pairt thair of: And thow (and) Cristane Malcomfoune being present in the said chalmer, att the schotting of the said pictur, thinkand gane the pictur were hit, it wald be for the destructioun of the young Laird of Fowlis: Lykas, said Thomas was convict for the famin, and sufferit the deid.—(27.) ALS, thow art accusit, for being in cumpanie with Cristane Malcomfoune and Marioune Neyn M^cAllester alias Loske Loncart, with the devyse and consultatioun of Donald and William M^c-Gilliouois, made ane vther pictur of clay to the said Robert Monro young Laird of Fowlis, in the said hous of Conord; and so it was maid vpoune the morne, the vj day of Julii, anno lxxvij yeiris: Thay sat the pictur at the wall-fyd of the chalmer of the said hous, and wes schott be the said Cristane Neyne M^cAllester alias Loske Loncart, with the said elf-arrow, tuelf tymes, and mist the said pictur: And persauing that ye mist the famin efter everie schott, and maid the said pictur diuerse and findrie tymes, yit the famin tuk nocht effect to thair purpose; thow and the said tua womene, thy collegis, being present for the tyme, and uising¹ ane takin of the famin; the said Cristane Rois Malcomfoune haid provydeit thre quarteris of fine linning claithe for the picturis, giue² thay haid bene hit with the elf-arrow-heid, and the linning to be bound about the said picturis, and the picturis to haue bene erdit,³ vnder the Brigend of the Stank of Fowlis, fornent the zet:⁴ Of the quhilkis premissis the said Thomas was convict, and sufferit the dethe for the famin: as is notorious kuawin to the hail cuntrie.—(28.) AND siclyke, thow art accusit, and (art) ane that vnderstuid thy self giltie in thy conscience, of the crymes for quhilkis thay⁵ complices aboute wrettin wer convictit; and ane day or tua befor the burning of thame, thow vnderstanding that thay, being examinat, wald convict ye of Wychecraft, Sorcerie and poyfoune, in respect money of thame knew thay secrettis, and was practifeiris of thy devyis; thow came quhair tua notaris was, owt of the presence of ony Juge, and befor the fensing of ony Court, and ther, befor tua or thrie previe witneffis, declarit, that thow was bruttit and selanderit with Wichcraft and Sorcerie, and that thow was reddie bydand the tryall thereof; and seing thair was na manne to accuse the, thow requirit instrumentis ; albeit, for feir of thai vitious lyfe, thou neuer came iudicialie to offer the famin : And immediatlie eftir the taking of the said instrument, thow haid thy horfe alredie drawin furth of the stabill, and fled away with diligence, as fugitiue out of the cuntrie, to Cathenis ; quhair thow remanit, for the space of thrie quarteris of ane yeir ; in signum and takine, that thow thought not to byid in the tryall ; quhill at last, be lauborrous and moyane of vmq^{le} George Erle of Cathanis, hir (thy) husband wes persuadit rellæue him (thee?) home againe.—(29.) AND lykwayis, this instant yeir of fourfoir and nyne, the Laird of Fowlis purchest¹ ane Commissioun, for punishment of certaine Wichis and Sorceris ; Befoir any publicatioune thairof, and or² he micht have conuenient tyme to put the famin in executioun, in respect of the trublis that incuirit in the North, thow, knawing thai self giltie, and feiring to byd the tryall of ane Assyse, fand the moyane to purchese ane Suspensioun of the said Commissioun ; and causit insert in the said Suspensioun, nocht onlie thay awin name, and sic vtheris as was spesificet in the said Commissioun, but also certaine vtheris quha wer nocht spokin of : As the said Commissioun and Suspensioun thairof, produceit befor the Secreit Counfall, at mair lenthe beris : Quhilk, giue³ thow haid beine ane honest womane, and willing to abyd tryall, thow wald neuer have crafit Suspensioun of ony sic Commissioun ; but rather wald haue forderit the famin.

¹ Wishing, witching, using witchcraft to procure a token, or testimony of success, in their destruction of the young Laird of Fowlis. ² Gif, if. ³ Earthed, buried under ground. ⁴ Gate, yett. ⁵ These.

THE said Katherene, efter reding of the said Dittay, denyit the famin and hail pointis thairof ; and offerit hir reddie to hyde the Tryell of the perfounes of Assyis, summond to that effect.

ASSISA.

John Symfoune of Bannaus,	Donald Tailyeour,	burges of Andro M' Cullo,	burges of Tayne,
John Clwnes, sone to Alexander	Tayne,	William Rois thair,
Clwnes, burges of Cromartie,	John Reid Farquharfoune,	burges Alex ^r Hay,	burges thair, Donald Rofs Williamfoune,	thair,	Alex ^r M'Kenzie apperand of
in Gane,	Rannald M ^c Ser Duncanfoun,	Fardane,
John Roifs in Muldard,	burges thair,	Donald M ^c Gilliequhoan,	burges
Duncan Bayne apperand of	William Kemp in Dingwall,	in Dingwall.
Tulleich,	Alester M Donald M ^c Alester thair,

VERDICT. Quhilkis perfounes of Assyis, being all chofin, sworne and admittit to pass vponne the Assyis of the said Catherine, seho being accusit be dittay, thay removit furth of Court to the Assyis hous, quhair thay chofit John Symfoune of Benmaus chancellor of the said Assyis : And thairefter votit vponn the poyntis of the said dittay ; and being throughlie resolut thairwith, re-enterit agane in court ; quhair thai, be the mouth of the said Chancellor, in presens of the said

¹ An old forensic term, synonymous with procuring, or obtaining, by payment of the usual official fees.
² Ere. ³ If.

Justice-depute, ffind, pronuncit and delyuerit the said Catherine, to be innocent and quite of the hail poyntis of the dittay.

Quhairvpoun seho askit instrumentis.

THE samyn day, David Roifs of Holme and William Dolace apperand of Buddet, Donald Rofs of Balnamukkie, Thomas Vmphra in Elgyn and John Innes of Lewcheris, oftymes callit, to compeir befor the Justice or his deputes, the said day and place, in the hour of caus, to haif past vpoun the Affyis of the said Katherine, dilatit of the crymes aboue writtin; lawfull tyme of day biddin, and nocht comperand to that effect; thay and ilk ane of thame wes vulawit, in the pane of fourtie pundis.

Sorcery — Incantation — Witchcraft — Slaughter, &c.

Jul. 22.—MR HECTOR MUNRO of Fowles.

Dilatit of certane crymes of Wichecraft.

The samyn day, comperit Mr David M^cGill of Craufstoun Riddell, Aduocat to our souerane lord, as persewar, and produceit the Dittay vnderwrittin; quhair of the tennour followis.

DITTAY against the Pannel.

MR HECTOR MONRO, Ye ar indytit and accusit, ffor samekle as, it is Statute and ordanit, be the Actis of Parliament, that nane vse Sorcerie, Incantatiounis or Wichecraft; and that nane seik responnsis at Wichis, vnder the payne of deid, and confiscatioun of all thair guidis movable; as the saidis actis beris: AND trew it is, that ye the said Mr Hectour, in the month of August I^m.V^c.lxxxvijj yeiris, fend for Jolme M^cConeill-gar and his wyffe, and Johne Banes wyffe, in Lytill Alteis, thre notorious and commoune Wiches; and causit convoy thame to Johne Murrayes house in Bakine, quhair ye ressanit thame, but¹ knowlege of the said Johne; intertinneit thame with yow, be the sspace of fyve dayes or thairby, and socht responnsis and consultatioune att thame; quha poillit² the hair of Robert Monro, your brotheris heid, and plait the naillis of his fingeris, and tais, socht be thair develisch meanis to haif cureit him of his seiknes; quha wald haif vfit furth the rest of thair develisch craft, war nocht thay ferit to tarie with yow, be resfoun of your fader, quha wald haif apprehendit thame; and thay declarit to yow, that ye was owre³ lang in sending for thame, swa that thay could do na guid to the said Robert Munro your brothir:—Lyke as, ye, in the samyn moneth, for feir of your fader, convoyit thame away, vnder sylence of nycht: Quhilk is notourlie knawin to the hail countrey.—(2.) ITEM, Ye ar indytit and accusit, ffor samekle as, ye, in the moneth of Januar I^m.V^c.lxxxvijj yeir, haifing tane seiknes in the samyn moneth and yeir of God foirlaid, fend youre seruand Hector M^cHuchefoune M^cIntagart, to ferch and seik Marioune M^cIngaruch, ane of the (maist) notorious and rank Wichis in all this realme, quha brocht and convoyit hir to yow, on your awin horſe, to Johne M^cIntailzeouris hous in Alnes, quhair ye wes lyand ſeik att that tyme; quhair ye focht reſponſis att hir, and travellit to be curit be hir devilifch Incantaciounis and Wieheraft: Lyke as, ſche, eftir hir cumming to yow, gaif yow thre drinkis of walter furth of thre ſtanis, quhilkis ſche had; and eftir lang conſultacioun had with hir, ſche declarit, that thair wes na remeid for yow to recover your health, without the principall man of your blude ſould ſuffer death for yow; and ye and your complices, haifing raknit with your ſelffis, quha this ſould be, ſtand that it wes George Monro, eldeſt ſone to Katherene Roifs Lady Fowles: And than, eftir finding furth of this develifch devyce, for your releif, ye and the ſaid Wich concludit with your ſelffis, that nane ſould haif entres to the hous quhair ye lay, quhill¹ your brother George ſould cum: And eftir his cumming to yow, the ſaid Wich deſyrit, that ye ſould gif him your left hand, and ſould tak him be the rycht hand; and that ye ſould nocht ſpek aue word to him, before he ſpak fyrſt to yow:—Quhilkis iniunctiounis ye kept, ſeing thair wes nocht aue of your freindis that gatt entres to yow, quhill the ſaid Georges cumming; nochtwithſtanding that diners of thame come to viſſeit yow. And for the better performance of your develifch purpois, ye ſend for the ſaid George daylie, for the ſpace of fyve dayes, allweill to his duelling-hous, as to vthir partis of the countrey, quhair he wes att the huntis; deſyring him to cum to yow, quhair ye wes lyand ſeik: Lykeas, the ſaid George, feiring na ewill of yow, come as ane loving brothir to the ſaid M^cIntailzeouris hous, quhair ye wes; thair being nane with yow, bot the ſaid Wich, and your foſter-moder Criſtian Neill Dayzill, and hir dochtir: And eftir his cumming to yow, ye vſit the iniunctiounis gewin to yow in maner foirſaid be the ſaid Wich, and gaif your left hand in his rycht hand, and ſpak nocht to him for the ſpace of ane houre, vnto the tyme he fyrſt requyrit of yow, ‘How ye did?’ And ye anſuerit him, and ſaid, ‘The better that he had cum to viſſeit yow;’ and ſpak na mair to him, nochtwithſtanding ye ſend ſewin poiſtis² to him ofbefore. Swa that that nycht, att ane eftir mydnycht, the ſaid Wich, with certane of hir complices, paſt furth of the hous quhair ye lay, and tuik with thame ſpaidis, and paſt to ane pece of eird³ lyand betuix twa fondrie ſuperiouris landis, the kinge being the ane ſuperiour, and the Biſhop of⁴ the vthir; and maid ane graif of your lenth, and tuke vp the ower⁵ part thairof, and laid it aſyde; the ſaid eird being the neir the ſee flude: And this being done, ſcho come hame and conventit certane of your familiaris, that knew thir ſecreittis, and informit thame, quhat ſould be everie anes part, in taking of yow furth to be eirdit⁶ in the foirſaid graif; for youre releif, and to the death of your broder George :—Quhais anfuwer was, ‘ That gif George should depairt suddanlie, that the brute¹ wald ryife, and all thair lyves wald be in danger :’ and thairfoir willit hir to delay the said Georgis death ane space ; and scho tuke on hand to warrand him vnto the xvij day of Apryle nixt thaireftir : And efter thir plattis, laid be the said Witch, scho and certane your serwandis, in the said moneth of Januar I^m.V^c.lxxxviiij yeiris, pat yow in ane pair of blaukettis, and careit yow furth to the said graif ; and thay war all commandit to be dum,² and nevir to speik ane word ; vnto the tyme that scho and your foster-moder fould first speik with hir maister, the Dewill : And being brocht furth, wes laid in the said graif ; and the grene eird, quhilk wes cuttit, wes laid abone, and haldin doune with stalfis ; the said Witch being beyde yow : And the said Cristian Neill, your foster-mother, wes commandit to ryn the breid of nyne rigis, and in hir hand Neill younger, Hector Leithis sone ; and how sone the said Cristian had run the breid of the said nyne rigis, scho come agane to the graif, quhair ye was lyand, and inquiryt at the said Witch. ‘ Quhilk wes hir schois ?’³ Quha anfuwerit and said, that the said ‘ Mr Hector wes hir schois to leif, and your brother George to die for you.’ And this forme wes vfit thryife that nycht : And thaireftir, ye was careit hame, all the cunpanie beand dum ; and wes put in your bed⁴—To the taken, that ye was partaker of Wichcraft, and that ye allowit thairof, and socht resposis of the said Marioune the Witch ; how sone ye gat your health, be the dewelisch moyan foirsaid, ye past to Hector Monro of Kildrummodyis, your fader-brothiris hous, and tuke the said Witch with yow ; quhair scho wes interteneit, as gif scho had bene your spous, and gaif hir sik pre-eminence in your cuntrey, that thair was nane that durst offend hir ; and gaif hir the keping of your scheip, to cullour the matter, that ye knew hir nocht : And quhen the Kingis Maiestie requyrit yow to present hir to his hienes, ye refusit hir, vnto the tyme that the said Lady Fowles tuke in hand to preis, that scho was in your hous of Fowles ; swa that ye, aganis your will, wes compellit to present hir at Abirdene ; quhair scho being examinat before his Maiestie, and produceit the stanis scho gaif yow watter out of, the quhilk wes the deith of the said George ; haifing denyt of before, that ever scho saw yow with hir : And quhilk stanis wes delyuerit to the Justice-

¹ Without. ² Polled or cut. ³ Too.

¹ Until. ² Expresſes or meſſengers. ³ Land, earth, ground. ⁴ Left blank. ⁵ The over or upper part, the green ſod or turf. ⁶ Earthed, laid in this grave or trench.

¹ Fr. Bruit, report, hue and cry. ² Dumb, speechless. ³ This word at first sight seems to signify shoes, viz. that Hector should stand in George’s shoes, and George in Hector’s. It rather implies the choice of the sister-witch, after the lincantation was completed; who accordingly chooses Hector to live, and George to die. The whole ceremony is unique, and calculated to produce a very strong impression on the spectators, especially on the mind of their novice in the ‘graif,’ who afterwards appears to have been led by the nose by these hags, as effectually as if by St Dunstan’s far-famed pineers. ⁴ A pretty effectual cooler this must have been ‘at ane efter mydnycht,’ in the ‘moneth of Januar!’ St Januarius himself, or even Dr Grabame, the earth-bather, would have shrunk from such an ordeal with horror!

Clark in keeping.—ITEM, Ye ar indytit, for airt and pairt of the crewall, felhamefull and odious slauchter of the said vniq^{le} George Monro your brother, be the Inchantmentis and Witchecraftis vsit vpoune yow, and be your dewyife, be speking to him within your bed, taking of him be the rycht hand, conforme to the iniunctionis gevin to yow be the said Marioune Ingareach, in the said moneth of Januar I^m.V^c.lxxxviiij yeiris ; throw the quhilk Inchantmentis, he tuke ane deidlie feiknes, in the moneth of Apryle 1590 yeiris ; and continewand thairin quhill Junij thairefter, deceiffit in the said moneth of Junij, being the thrid day of that instant. To the mair testificationne, that ye ar giltie of the said cryme, ye being chargeit to present the said Wich, ye had hir vpoune your landis and bigingis, and within your toune ; and hes put hir afyd, the saxtene day of July instant.

QUHILKIS poyntis of Dittay, the said Mr Hector Monro allutirlic denyit ; and offerit him reddie to abyde the tryell of ane Assyse thairfore.

ASSISA.

Alexander M ^c Kenzie, apperand of Sturdrum,	Donald M ^c Gilliequhorne, thair, Johne Vaus of Lochlum,	Alexander Hay, burges thair, Thomas Manfoun, burges thair,
Duncaene Bayne, apperand of Tullich,	James Corbett, portionar of Arboill,	Johne Reid Farquharfoune, burges thair,
Williame Kempt, in Dingwall,	Andro M ^c Culloch, bailze of Tayne,	W ^m Innes, portionar of Midgame, Angus M ^c Culloch in Eistir Aird.
Rannald M ^c Ser Duncanfoune, burges of Tayne,	Donald Tailzeour, thair,	Robert Phayne, thair.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of the said Johnne Vaus of Lochlum, Chancellor, in presens of the said Justice-deput, fand, pronunceit and declarit the said Mr Hector Monro, to be acquit and innocent of all the heidis of the said Dittay : Quhairvpoune he askit instrumentis.

THE samin day, Alexander M^cThomas alias Thomfoune, burges of Tayne, and Johne Dingwall of Kildyn and Thomas Vmphray, burges of Elgyne, oft tymes callit to haif comperit before oure fouerane lordis Justice or his deputes, the said day and place, in the hour of caus ; to haif past vpoun the Assyse of the said Mr Hector Monro of Fowlis, dilatit of the crymes abouewritin, lauchfull tyme of day biddin, and nocht comperand, thay, and ilk ane of thame, wes vnlawit in the panes contenit in the Actis of Parliament, viz. Fourtie punds.

[Mr James Wardlaw, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Jul. 30.—JAMES VEICH apperand of North Syntoune, Andro Veich, brother to James Veich of Tourhop.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vniq^{le} Johnne Twedie, tutour of Drummalgear and burges of Edinburghe ; committit the xxiiij day of Julij instant.

PERSEWAR, Magdalene Lawfoun, the relict.

PRELOQUITOURIS, Mr Williame Somervall, Viccar of Kirbene, Mr David McGill, Aduocat.

PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannell.

The Erli Bothwell, The Lord Fleming, The Laird of Balcleuch, The Abot of Melroife,
The Laird of Ormifoune, The Laird of Greneheid, Mr Johnne Prestoune, Mr Alexander King.

The Justice, vpoun alledgeances proponit, and anfueris maid thairto in the Minute-buik, continewis all proceeding in this mater to the morne. ‘Wardat. vpoun allegeance.’

[Mr Johnne Grahame, Justice-Depute.]

(NOV. 28.)—The Justice, being auisit with the Interloquitour vpoun the allegeances maid be Mr Williame Oliphant, excufatorio nomine for Johnne Lord Fleming, concerning the nocht vnlawing of James and Andro Veichis, for the flachter of vmq^{le} Johnne Twedie, tutour of Drummelgear, and anfueris maid thairto be the Aduocat; fand, that thay fould be vnlawit, nochtwithftanding the faid allegeance.

The famin day, Williame Veich of Daik and Andro Broune of Hairtrie, as cautioneris and fourteis, coniunctlie and feuerallie, wer vnlawit, in the pane of ten thowfand poundis money of this realme, for the nonentrie of James Veich, apperand of North-Sintoune, and Andro Veich, brother to James Veich, apperand of Tourhoip, before oure fouerane lordis Justice, or his deputes.

Contrabention of the General Band, &c.

Aug. 6.—GEORGE HWME of Crammie-cruik, William Reidpeth of Grinlaw, George Hwme of Weddirburne, Patrik Hwme of Polwart and thirty-two others.

Dilatit of the contraventione of the Generall Band and of the Actis of Parliament, in nocht presenting of thair memme before the Justice or his deputes, in Justice Courtis; and for nocht removing of thair tennentis, fugitiues, of (off) thair landis; conforme to the faid Generall Band.

(Aug. 7.)—The greateft proportion of the pannells were acquitted; the remainder were either continued or ‘replegiat’ to the Regalities of Thirlstane, Jedburghe-fforest, Melroife, &c.

Taking of a Messenger, &c.—Besieging and taking the Place of Fedderat.

Aug. 8.—EDWARD CRAWFURD of Corbilhill, Johnne Crawford in Calane and Andro Innes in Turray.

Dilatit of the taking of Johnne Fairwadder, messinger, and deferteing of him in executioun of his office, he beand in the executioun thereof; and speciallic, in the executioun of our fouerane lordis lettres, purchest at the instance of Alexander Irving of Drum, aganis George Crawford of Fedderett; and for affageing of the Place of Fedderett, taking of the famin be strang hand: and vtheris crymes, contenit in the lettres direct thairvpoune.

Continued to the Aire of 'Abirdene, tertio Itineris, vel xv dierum.'

[Mr Humphrey Blyndschelis, Justice-Depute.]

Witchcraft—Slaughter, &c.

Aug. 17.—JONETT GRANT alias Gradoch in Colquhatstane and Jonett Clark alias Spalding in Blalach.

Dilatit of certane crymes of Wichcraft.

PERSEWARIS.

Mr Daud McGill of Cranfoun-Riddell, Aduocatt, The Laird of Wardes (Williame Leslie).

The faidis perfounes on pannell denyit the Dittay redd to thame; and offerit thame to the tryell of ane Affyse.

VERDICT. Arthoure Skene in Tulloch, Chancillar, delivered the Verdict of the Affyse, whereby 'thay ffland, pronunceit and declarit the said JONETT GRANT alias Gradoch, to be fylit and convict of the crewall Murthour of vinq^{le} Alexander Abircrumbie of Ley, be Wichcraft: AND of vinq^{le} Gordoune, fone to beld¹ Johnne Gordoune: AND of the slauchter and distructione of faxtene heid of nolt,² pertening to William Roife in Birsebeg: AND of the slauchter of vinq^{le} Elspet Reit be Wichcraft: AND als, of the raising of the Dewill, and feiking of help to Duncan Rychie: AND als, for the slauchter of Johnne Pantounis wyffe, be Wichcraft. ITEM, of the taking on hand, to haif distroyit the Laird of Cragievar, his fone and vtheris.—ITEM, fand and pronunceit the said JONET CLARK alias Spalding, to be fylit and convict of the slauchter of vinq^{le} Johnne Leslie of Wardes,³ be Wichcraft: ITEM, of the slauchter of the said vinq^{le} Elspet Reit: ITEM, for gewing of ane secreit member to Johnne Coutis; and gewing and taking of power fra findrie memmis memberis: ITEM, fylit of taking of Johnne Wattis secreit member fra him: ITEM, for bewiching of Caddell, fone to Allester Caddell in Bandorie: ITEM, fylit for taking in hand, to help Johnne Reoch in Dalquhing of his feiknes, be Wichcraft—ITEM, pronunceit the faidis Jonet Grant and Jonet Clark, to be fylit and convict for commoune notorious Wichis.'

SENTENCE. For the quhilkis cauffis, the Justice, be the mouth of James Scheill, dempftar, adiudgeit thame to be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburghe, and thair wirreit at ane staik, and thair body to be brunt in affis; and all thair movabill guides to be efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vfe, as convict of the faidis crymes.

¹ Bald. ² Cattle, oxen. ³ See the Trial of Bessie Roy, Aug. 18, 1590.

Sorcery—Incantation—Witchcraft, &c.

Aug. 18.—BESSIE ROY, nurreych¹ to the Laird of Boquhane.

Dilatit of the poyntis of Wichcraft following.

PERSEWARIS, Leslie, eldar of Wairdes, Mr Williame and George Lesleis his fones, Mr David McGill of Cranfoun-Ryddell, Aduocatt to our fouerane lord, for his hienes intres.

DITTAY aganis Bessie Roy.

BESSIE ROY, in Fetterneir, feruand to the Laird of Boquhane;² Ye ar indytit and accufit, that quhair, ye, beand duelland with Williame King in Barra, be the fpace of tuel yeiris fyne or thairby, and haifing pafit to the feild to pluk lint with vthir wemen, in prefens of thame maid ane compas in the eird, and ane hoill in the middis thairof: And thaireftir, be thy conjuratiounes, thow caufit ane grit worme cum fyrft out of the faid hoill, and creip owre the compafe; and nixt ane lytill worme, quhilk crap owre alfo; and laft, caufit ane grit worme cum furth, quhilk could nocht pas owre the compas, nor cum out of the hoill, bot fell doune and deit: Quhilk inchantment and Wichcraft thow interpret in this forme:—That the fyrft grit worme that crap owre the compas, was the Guid-man, Williame King, quha fould leve; and the lytill worme, was ane barne in the Guid-wyffes wamb, quhilk wes vnkawin to ony manne that fche was with barne; and that the barne fould leve; and thrydlie, the laft grit worme thow interpret to be the Guid-wyffe, quha fould die: Quhilk com to pas eftir thy fpeiking, quhow fone fche wes delyuerit of the faid barne. And this is manifefit to the hail countrey; quhilk thow can nocht deny.—ITEM, Ye ar indytit and accufit, for away taking, be Wichcraft, of ane puir womanis milk, callit Bessie Steill, quha cam to Williame Kingis hous in Bairoch, feking almes; and haifing fittin doune befyd the fyre, to gif hir barne fouk, thow in the meane tyme, being ane nurrifch thy felff, and perfawing the puir woman to haif mair abundance of milk nor thow had; and feing that the Guid-wyffe thy huffie³ fould haif detenit the puir woman, and gewin hir the barne to foster; thow, be thy develifch incantatiounes and Wichcraft, abftrakit and tuik away hir milk: And immediatlie eftir the puir woman wes pafit out of the hous, fcho perfawit hir milk to be taue away, come agane to the faid hous, and complenit to the Guid-wyffe, that the nwrifch had takin away hir milk; and faid, Gif fcho wer nocht reftorit to hir milk, fche fould devulgat the fame throw the countrey, and fehaw how ye had vfit hir. And thow, fering thy develifch craft to be revelit, faid to the puir womane, ‘Gif I haif thy milk, cum fic a nycht to me to this hous, and afk itt for Godis faik, and thow fall haif itt.’ Lyke as, the faid puir woman, being gled to reffaue hir milk agane, come that fame nycht as thow ap-poyntit hir, and lay in the hous befyd ye all nycht; and about the middis of the nycht, thow cryit vpon hir and walknit hir, and baid hir reffau hir milk; and incontinent sche walknit, and hir palpis sprang out full of milk, and remanit with hir thaireftir. This thow did, as is notourlie knawin to the hail cuntry, and thow can nocht deny.—ITEM, thow art indytit for ane commoun away-takir of wemennis milk in the hail cuntry, and detening the famin att thy pleasour; as the hail cuntry will testifie. The quhilk thow can nocht deny.—ITEM, thow art indytit and accusit, for the bevisching¹ of William Kingis wyfe of Barraucht, tuelf yeiris senfyne or thairby, for your diuilishe devyfe, eftir thow haid left hir seruice; thow causit propyne² hir with ane plaid of thine, quhilk beand full of inchantmentis and forcerie, being laid one hir bed, cauffit hir suddentlie thereftir depairt:³ Quhilk is notorius to the hail cuntry; quhilk thow cane nocht deny.—ITEM, thow art indytit for ane commoun theif, quhilk thow vñs be inchantment and flicht of the Diuill; for laithie, thow cam to Alexander Thines hous in the Benvie-end of Traichie, in the monethe of November lastwas; and thair, be inchantment, blew vp his duris and his hail lokkis of his house, and ftall out sic gere as thow plefit; and thaireftir lokit the duris and loctis, as thay wer abefoir: Quhilk thow cane nocht deny.—ITEM, thow art indytit and accusit, that laithie, beand murish to the Lard of Balquhene (John Leslie), in the moneth of Maij and Junij lastbypast, thow, be thy inchantment and forcerie, maid vp the hail lockis of the place, and vpunt⁴ the hail durris thairof, and ftall ane steill box out of ane coffer, quhairin wes gryt fowmes of gould and gould-smyth-work; quhair, one (on) being accusit thaireftir, thou allegeit, that ane blak manne came and gaif the famin to the; quhilk wes nothing but the illusionne of the Diuill: Quhilk yow cane nocht deny.—SICLYK, thow art indytit and accusit, for the crewall, airt and pairt and bevisching of vmq^{le} Johne Leslie of Cultis, quhair as thow trefekit with vmq^{le} Barbara Keand alias Leslie, with Jonet Grant, with Jonet Clark alias Spalding,⁵ lyk as thair Confessiounes and Depositionnes testifies thair vngodlie airt and pairt in the said murdour; quhairin diuerse vtheris was pertinens, sic as Marioune Bruce in Awldrain, Bessie Paull in the Cromar, quha ar fugitiues for the said cryme; and thow onlie estemit the instrument of all that mischeife: Quhilk is notorius be thair Confessiounes, and yow cane nocht deny.—SICLYKE, thou art indytit and estemit for ane notoriouse and commounne Wiche in the cuntry; and cane do all thingis, and hes done all mischeifis, that deuilrie or Wichcraft cane devyfe, in abstracking of mennis lyffis, wemennis milk, bestis milk, and bewisching of

¹ Nurse, Fr. nourrice.

² John Leslie.

³ Housewife, mistress.

¹ Bewitching.
burst up.

² Offer in gift, to make a present.
⁵ See Aug. 17, 1590.

³ Give up the ghost, die.

⁴ Opened,

bestis als weill as menne; lyk as thai diuerse practifis cane testifie ye : Quhilk ye cane nocht deny.

VERDICT. The Assyse, in presens of the said Justice-deput, ffind and pronounceit, be the mouth of the said Chancillar, (Arthour Skene in Tulluch,) the said Bessie Roy to be Innocent and acquit of all and findrie the poyntis and heidis of the Dittay abouewrittin. Quhairvpoune, the said Bessie askit act and infrument.

Slaughter by Witchcraft.

Aug. 19.—WILLIAME LESLIE of Crechie and Violat Auhinlek his spous.

Dilatit of the slauchter and distructioun of vni^q Johme Leslie of Wardes, younger, be Wichcraft; committit in Junij 1586.

PERSEWARIS.

Williame Leslie of Wairdes, as fader, George Leslie of Camellis, Mr Williame Leslie of Warthill, as brethir, Mr Dauid McGill of Cranstoun-Riddell, Aduocat, The Laird of Frendracht, 3 younger.

PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannell.

The Erll Bothwell, The Erll of Arroll, The Lord Home, The Laird of Boquhane, The Laird of Wauchtonne, Mr W^m Leslie of Cunlie, Mr Alexander King.

The pannell askit instrumentis of thair entrie, and protestit for releif of thair cautioune, and als offerit thame reddie to abyde the tryell of ane Assyse, for the crymes abouewrittin; disassenting to all continewatioune.

The Justice, for laik of ane sufficient nowmer of Assysouris, quhair of thair wes ane grit nowmer cassin,¹ continewit the mater to the thryd day of the nixt Justice-air of the Sheref dome of Abirdene, or soner, vpoun fyftene dayes wairning.—‘Plegiis, Francisco Comite de Erroll et Joanne Leslie de Boquhane, conjunctim et diuifim.’²

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE, s. d. n. Regis, tenta xxvj^{to} Decembris, 1590, per Magistros Johannem Graham et Vmphridem Blynschelis, Justiciarios Deputatos.]

Treasonably conspiring the Death of the King — Sorcery — Witchcraft — Incantation, &c.

Dec. 26.—JOHNNE FEANE alias CWNINGHAME, last duelland in Pref-toune.²

Conuict of diuers poyntis of Wichcraft, contenit in the Dittay.

¹ Cast, rejected on account of partiality, relationship, &c. Only two out of the whole ‘Roll of Assyse’ were sworn, as unexceptionable. ² He is designed ‘schoolmaister at Tranent,’ in the Historie of King James the Sext, p. 241; ‘Master of the schoole at Salt pans in Lothian,’ in the tract afterwards quoted; and in the course of these remarkable cases, he is termed ‘Register’ and ‘Secretary to the Devil.’

Comperit the famin Maister David M^cGill of Cranftoune-Ryddell, Aduocat to our fouerane lord, as perfewar ; and produceit ane Dittay agains the faid Johnne Feane.

ASSISA.

Johne Wilfoun in Edinburghe,	Robert Seytoun thair,	Thomas Craig thair,
Rychard Newtome in Tranent,	Robert Thrikie, merchand, burges	Johne Coluile thair,
Williame Stratherne thair,	of Edinburghe,	James Watfoun thair,
Patrik Halzeort thair,	Johne Donaldfoun, merchand thair,	Johne Hakit thair,
James Miltoun thair,	Robert Smyth, merchand thair,	Thomas Wrycht thair.

VERDICT. Quhilkis perfomes of Assyse, being chofin, fivorne and admittit vpoun the faid Johnne Feanis Assyse, he being accufit be Dittay of the faidis crymes : Thay removit thame felffis altogidder furth of Court to the Assys-hous, quhair thay chufe the faid James Watfoun chancillar ; and haif reffonit (vpoun the) pointis of the faid Dittay, and refoluit thairwith : Reenterit agane in the faid Court ; quhair thay, be the mouth of the faid Chancillar, fband, pronunceit and delyuerit the faid Johnne Feane alias Cwninghame, to be fylit and conviet, FYRST, That quhan the dewill apperit and come to him, quhen he wes lyand in his bed in Tranent, in Thomas Trumbillis chalmer, mwfand and panfand,¹ how he mycht be revengeit of the faid Thomas, quha had offendit him in nocht fpargeing² of his chalmer, as he had promesit, his face being toward the wall ; the dewill apperit to him with quhyte rayment, quhair he (the Dewill) fpak to him in thir termes, or ever he (Feane) fpak to him (the Dewill)—‘ Will ze be my ferwand and adore me and my ferwandis, and ze fall never want ?’ And als, that he fuld be revengit of his enemies ; lyke as, the faid deuill perfwadit him to burne Thomas Trumbillis hous, in respect he had nocht keipit promeis.—(2.) ITEM, Fylit, for fuffering of him felff to be markit be the dewill with ane rod, the fecund nycht that he apperit to him, in quhyte arayment as faid is, in his bed ; and for feinzeing of him felff to ly feik in the faid Thomas Trumbillis chalmer, quhair he wes ftrukin in grit extafies and tranfis, lyand be the fpace of twa or thre houris deid, his fpreit tane ; and fufferit him felff to be careit and transportit to mony montanes, as thocht throw all the warld ; according to his awin depofitionnes.—(3.) ITEM, Fylit, according to his awin confeffionne, for the abufing of his body with Margaret Spens, wedo in , promesing to haif mareit hir ; bot att Satanis command, he stayit ; quha faid to him, Gif he mareit hir, he fould tyne him and mekill riches.³—(4.) ITEM, Fylit for the fuffering of him felff to be careit to North-Berwik Kirk, (he being lyand in ane cloife bed in Preftoun-pannis,) as gif he had bene fouchand⁴ athoirt the eird, quhair Sathane commandit him to mak him homage with the reft of his fer-

¹ From ‘penfant,’ Fr. thinking, cogitating.

² White-washing or cleansing.

³ Riches, wealth.

⁴ This suggests the idea of skimming along the surface of the earth with the swiftest flight. ‘Souch-and’ also denotes a rushing sound, like that of an arrow whizzing through the air.

wandis; quhair he thocht he saw the lycht of ane candill standand in the middis, of his fernandis, quhilk apperit blew low¹; and Sathan ftwid, as in a pulpet, makand ane fermond of dowtfulm speichis, faying, ‘Mony cumis to þe fair, and byis nocht all wares;’ and defyrit him ‘nocht to feir, thocht he wes grymme: ffor he had mony fernandis, quha fould newir want, and fould aill na thing, falang as their hair wes one; and fould newir latt ane teir fall fra thair ene,² falang as thay feruit him’: And gaif thir leffonnes and commandis to him, as followis. ‘Spair nocht to do ewill, and to eit, drink and be blyth, taking rest and eife, ffor he fould raife þame vp at þe latter day glorioufflie.’—(5.) ITEM, Fylit, for the being in cumpany with Sathane att his conventiounes, quhair he saw Robert Greirfoune, Michaell Clark, Annie Sampfoune, with findrie vtheris; quhair he and all the rest kist him behind, and fum his erse; and att the same tyme, ffor the bewiching and possessing of Williame Hutfoune in Windiegoull, with ane ewill spreit.—(6.) ITEM, Fylit, for suffering him self to be careit to the see with Sathane; and att the fyrst, he wes skumand³ owre all the see without land,⁴ in ane boit, accompaneit with the perfounes aboue writtin; and being of the foir-knowledge of the lek that strak vp in the Quenis schip, as the dewill foirtald him.—(7.) ITEM, Fylit, for the raising of wyndis att the Kingis passing to Denmark, and for the sending of ane letter to Marioun Linkup in Leyth, to that effect, bidding hir to meit him and the rest, on the see, within fyve dayes; quhair Satan delyuerit ane catt out of his hand to Robert Greirfoune, gevand the word to ‘Cast the same in the see hola!’: And thaireftir, being mountit in a schip, and drank ilk ane to otheris, quhair Satane said, ‘ge fall suik þe schip;’ lyke as thay thocht thay did.—(8.) ITEM, Fylit, for assembling him self with Sathane, att the Kingis returning fra Denmark; quhair Satan promesit to raife ane mist, and cast the Kingis Maiestie in Ingland: And for performing thairof, he tuik ane thing lyke to ane fute-ball, quhilk apperit to the said Johnne lyke a wisp,⁵ and caist the same in the see; quhilk caufit ane vapour and ane reik to ryis.—(9.) ITEM, Fylit, ffor being in cumpany with Satan in the Kirk of North-Berwick, quhair he apperit to him, in the forme of ane blak mann within the pulpet thairof; and efter his out-cuminge of the kirk, poyntit the graues and ftwid aboue thame; quhillkis wer opnit in thre findrie pairtis, twa within and ane without; quhilk the wemen demembrit the deid corps and bodeis being thairin, with thair gulleis;⁶ and incontinent wes transportit, without wordis.—(10.) ITEM, Fylit, for opening of lokis, and speciallie ane lok in David Seytounis

¹ Blue flame, the candle burnt blue; an inevitable consequence of the presence of the ‘foul fiend.’

² It was part of this strange superstition, that after a person had renounced his baptism, and sworn fealty to Satan, he could thenceforth shed no tears.—‘Item, it is a vehement presumption, if the cannot weepe at the time of hir examination: and yet Bodin saith, that a witch may shed three drops out of her right eie.’—Scott’s Discoverie of Witchcraft, cap. 5.

³ Skimming.

⁴ Out of sight of the land.

⁵ Of straw?

⁶ Large clasp-knives.

younger in Tranent ; and siclyke, for the opening of the said Daudis foir 3ett, the key thairof being lyand vpoun the buird,¹ at the supper : As also, fylit, for the opning of ane lok be his forcerie, in Daud Seytonnis moderis, be blawing in ane womanis hand, him self sitand att the fyre syde.—(11.) ITEM, Fylit, for the being cumand furth of Patrik Vmplirais sonis hous in the mylne, vnder nycht, fra his supper ; and passand to Tranent on horsbak, and ane man with him ; be his devilisch craft, rasit vp foure candillis vpoun the horflis twa luggis, and ane vthir candill vpoun the stalff quhilk the man had in his hand ; and gaif sic licht, as gif itt had bene day lycht ; lyke as, the saidis candillis returnit with the said man, quhill his hamecuming ; and causit him fall deid, at his entre within the hous.—(12.) ITEM, Fylit, for the wiching² and possessing of the (said) Williame Hutfoune, with ane ewill spreit ; quhilk continewit with him tuentie sax oulkis ; lyke as, the said spreit departit and left him, how sone the said Johnne wes tane and apprehendit.—(13.) ITEM, Fylit, for being in company with Annie Sampfoune, Robert Grierfoun, Kaet Gray and vtheris, vpoun Hallowmes ewin ; thay embarkit in ane boit, befyde Robert Greirfounis hous in the Pannis, and faillit owr the sea to ane tryist thay had with ane vther witch : quhair thay enterit within ane schip, and drank gude wyne and aill thairin ; and thairefter caussing the said schip and boit to perisch, with the personis being thairin ; and than returning hame.—(14.) ITEM, Fylit, for the vsing be way of Witchcraft, of moderwart³ feit vpoun him, in his purse ; gevin to him be Sathan, for this caus, that sa lang as he had thame vpoun him, he fuld never want siluer.—(15.) ITEM, Fylit, for being in North-Berwik-Kirk, at ane conventionne with Sathan and vtheris witches ; quhair Sathan maid ane dewelisch sermon, quhair the said Johnne satt vpoun the left syde of the pulppett, narrest him : And the sermon being endit, he came doune and tuke the said Johnne be the hand, and led him widdersehinnis⁴ about ; and thairefter, causit him kyfe his erse.—(16.) ITEM, Fylit, for the chaiffing of ane catt in Tranent ; in the quhilk chaife, he was careit heich aboue the ground, with gryt swyftnes, and as lychtlie as the catt hir self, ower ane heicher dyke, nor he was able to lay his hand to the heid off :—And being inquiryt, to quhat effect he chaiffit the famin ? Ansuerit, that in ane conventionne haldin at Brunhoillis, Sathan commandit all that wer present, to tak cattis ; lyke as, he, for obedience to Sathan, chaiffit the said catt, purpoisslie to be cassin in the sea, to raise windis for distructionne of schippis and boittis.—(17.) ITEM, Fylit, that forsamekle as, be his airt of Witchcraft, Magick and Sorcerie, he gaif him self⁵ to declair to ony man, how long thay fould leve, and quhat fould be thair end ;⁶ gif thay wald tell yow the day of thair birth : Lyke as, he foirtauld the famyn to Marioun Weddell, that hir sone fould nocht leve

¹ Table.
gave out.

² Bewitching.

³ Mole's feet.

⁴ Contrary to the course of the sun.

⁵ Professed,

⁶ What death they should die.

News from Scotland, 1591.

xv dayes ; quhilk cam to pas as he spak.—(18.) ITEM, Fylit, for declaring of the lyke to Alexander Bouis wyffe in Edinburghe, and faying, hir sone fould be fehort quhyle in hir aucht ; as he died within a fehort fpace thairefter.—(19.) ITEM, Fylit, for the reffaving of thir directionis and commandimentis fra Satan : Firft, To deny God and all trew Religioune : Secundlie, To gif his faith to the Dewill ; and adoring him : Thridlie, He laid to the Dewill, that he fould perfvaid als mony as he could, to his focietie : Ferdlie, He dememberit the bodeis of the deid corps, and fpeciallie of bairnis vubaptesit : Fyftlie, He diftroyit men be fie and land, with coirnis, cattell and guidis ; and raift tempeft and fformie wedder, as the Dewill himfelf, blawing in the air, &c.—(20.) ITEM, Fylit, for ane commoune notorious Witch and Inchanter.

The SENTENCE is not engrossed in the Record, but a jotting made on the margin, ‘ Conuict of diuers poyntis of Witchcraft, and brynt.’

[The best illustration which can now be afforded of the extraordinary circumstances detailed in this and in some of the other Trials for Witchcraft, &c. of this period, is to give an exact reprint of an extremely rare Black-letter tract, considered to be unique ; and which appears to the Editor well worthy of a place here.¹ A pretty copious abstract from this curious fragment has already been given to the public, in the learned and ingenious Prefatory Notice to ‘ Law’s Memorials,’ edited by Charles Kirkpatrick Sharpe, Esquire ; to whom the Editor is indebted for the use of an accurate transcript, with which the present reprint has been carefully collated.² This tract was inserted in a small collection, published by the late eccentric David Webster, titled, ‘ Collectanea Scotica,’ but it is there very inaccurately edited.

The Confessions of Feane, Samson, &c., are said to have ‘ made the King in wonderful admiration, who, in respect of the strangenes of these maters, tooke great delight to be present at their examinations.’ It is very probable that the King’s presence at these examinations, and the frequent perusal of similar evidence against the numerous persons who were tried for Witchcraft at this time, laid the foundation for the royal work on ‘ Dæmonologie.’]

NEWES FROM SCOTLAND,

Declaring the damnable life of DOCTOR FIAN a notable Sorcerer, who was burned at Edenbrough, in Januarie last 1591 ; which Doctor was Register to the Dewill, that fundrie times preached at North Barricke Kirke to a number of notorious Witches; with the true Examinations of the said Doctor and Witches, as they uttered them in the presence of the Scottish King: Discouering how they pretended to bewitch and drowne his Majestie in the sea, comming from Denmarke; with such other wonderfull matters, as the like hath not bin heard at anie time.

¹ The Editor would have preferred inserting the ‘ Newes from Scotland’ in the Appendix to the reign of King James VI., but as that must of necessity be retarded for a considerable time, the explanations afforded in Feane’s Confessions would thereby lose much of their interest. ² Mr Sharpe’s transcript was taken from the Roxburghe Club copy.

Published according to the Scottish Copie.

Printed for William Wright.¹

TO THE READER.

THE manifold untruths which are spread abroad, concerning the detestable actions and apprehension of those Witches, whereof this historie following truly entreateth, hath caused me to publish the same in print; and the rather, for that fundrie written coppies are lately dispersed thereof, containing that the said Witches were first discovered by meanes of a poore pedler travelling to the towne of Trenent; and that by a wonderfull manner hee was in a moment conveyed at midnight from Scotland to Burdeaux in France, (being places of no small distance,) into a merchantes sellar there; and after beeing sent from Burdeaux into Scotland by certaine Scottish merchants to the Kings Majestie, that he discovered those Witches, and was the cause of their apprehension; with a number of matters miraculous and incredible: all which in truth are most false. Nevertheless, to satisfie a number of honest mindes, who are desirous to be informed of the veritie and truth of their confessions, which for certaintie is more straunger than the common reporte runneth, and yet with more truth, I have undertaken to publish this short Treatise, which declareth the true discourse of all that happened, and as well what was pretended by those wicked and detestable Witches against the Kings Majestie, as also by what means they wrought the same.

All which examinations (gentle Reader) I have here truly published, as they were taken and uttered in the presence of the Kings Majestie, praying thee to accept of it for veritie; the same being so true as cannot be reprov'd.

A TRUE DISCOURSE

Of the apprehension of fundrie WITCHES lately taken in Scotland; whereof some are executed, and some are yet imprisoned. With a particular recitall of their examinations, taken in the presence of the Kings Majestie.

GOD, by his omnipotent power, hath at all times, and daily dooth take such care, and is so vigilant for the weale and preservation of his owne, that thereby he disappointeth the wicked practices and evill intentes of all such as by any meanes whatsoever seeke indirectly to conspire any thing contrary to his holy will: Yea, and by the same power he hath lately overthrowne and hindered the intentions and wicked dealings of a great number of ungodly creatures, no better than Devils; who, suffering themselves to be allured and enticed by the Devil whom they served, and unto whom they were privately sworn, entered into the detestable art of Witchcraft, which they studied and practised so long time, that in the ende they had seduced by their forcerie a number of others to be as bad as themselves, dwelling in the boundes of Lowthinn, which is a principall shire or part of Scotland, where the Kingis Majestie useth to make his cheifest residence or abode : and to the ende that their detestable wickednesse, which they privily had pretended against the Kingis Majestie, the commonweale of that countrie, with the nobilitie and subjects of the same, should come to light, God of his unspeakable goodnes did reveale and laie it open in verie strange forte, thereby to make known to the world that their actions were contrarie to the lawe of God, and the naturall affection which we ought generally to beare one to an other : The manner of the revealing whereof was as followeth.

¹ There appears to have been another edition of this remarkable Tract, in all respects the same with the Roxburghe reprint. At least, in the Gent. Mag. vol. xlix, p. 393, it is reprinted, but bears at the foot of the title-page, 'At London, printed for Thomas Nelson.' Nelson was probably joint proprietor with Wright, each party affixing his name to the copies sold by him.

Within the towne of Trenent, in the kingdome of Scotland, there dwelleth one David Seaton, who, being deputie bailiffe in the said towne, had a maid called Geillis Duncane, who used secretlie to absent and lie forth of hir maisters house every other night : This Geillis Duncane tooke in hand to helpe all such as were troubled or grieved with anie kinde of sicknes or infirmitie, and in short space did perourne many matters most miraculous ; which things, for asmuche as she began to do them upon a sodaine, having never done the like before, made her maister and others to be in great admiration, and wondered thereat : by meanes whereof, the saide Davide Seaton had his maide in great suspicion that shee did not those things by naturall and lawfull waies, but rather supposed it to bee done by some extraordinarie and unlawfull meanes. Whereupon, her maister began to grow verie inquisitive, and examined hir which way and by what meanes shee was able to performe matters of so great importance ; whereat shee gave him no answer : nevertheless, her maister, to the intent that hee might the better trie and finde out the truth of the same, did with the help of others torment her with the torture of the pilliwinkes¹ upon her fingers, which is a grievous torture ; and binding or wrinching her head with a cord or roape, which is a most cruell torment also ; yet would shee not confesse anie thing ; whereupon, they suspecting that shee had beene marked by the Devill, (as commonly witches are,) made diligent search about her, and found the enemies marke to be in her fore crag, or fore part of her throate ; which being found, shee confessed that al her doings was done by the wicked allurements and entisements of the Devil, and that shee did them by witchcraft. After this her confession, shee was committed to prison, where shee continued a season, where immediately shee accused these persons following to bee notorious witches, and caused them forthwith to be apprehended, one after another, viz. Agnes Sampfon,² the eldest witche of them all, dwelling in Haddington; Agnes Tompfon of Edenbrough; Doctor Fian alias John Cuningham, mafter of the fchoole at Saltfans in Lowthian, of whose life and strange acts you shal heare more largely in the end of this discourse. These were by the saide Geillis Duncane accused, as also George Motts wife, dwelling in Lowthian; Robert Grierfon, skipper; and Jammet Blandilands; with the potters wife of Seaton; the smith at the Brigge Hallis, with innumerable others in those parts, and dwelling in those bounds aforefaid; of whom some are already executed, the rest remaine in prison to receive the doome of judgement at the Kinges Majesties will and pleasure.

¹ ‘ Pilliwinkis,’ or pinniwinks,’ a severe instrument of torture, apparently similar to the ‘ thumbiekins,’ or thumbscrews, afterwards used both in Scotland and England. From a quotation made by Cowell, in his ‘ Law Interpreter,’ this torture appears to have been applied to Robert Smyth of Bury, in the reign of Henry IV.—‘ Ceperunt infra predictam villam, et ipsum in ferro posuerunt et cum cordis ligaverunt, et super pollices ipsius Roberti, quoddam instrumentum vocatum Pyrewinkes, ita frictè et durè posuerunt, quod sanguis exivit de digitis illius.’ Cart. Abbatie S. Edmundi, MS. fol. 341. ² See her Trial, Jan. 27, 1590-1.

The saide Geillis Duncane also caused Ewphame Mecalrean¹ to bee apprehended, who conspired and performed the death of her godfather, and who used her art upon a gentleman, being one of the Lordes and Justices of the Session, for bearing good will to her daughter. Shee also caused to be apprehended one Barbara Naper,² for bewitching to death Archibalde lair Earle of Angus, who languished to death by witchcraft, and yet the same was not suspected; but that hee died of so strange a disease as the Physition knewe not how to cure or remedie the same. But of all other the said witches, these two last before recited, were reputed for as civill honest women as anie that dwelled within the cittie of Edenbrough, before they were apprehended. Many other besides were taken dwelling in Lieth, who are detayned in prison untill his Majesties further will and pleasure be knowne; of whose wicked dooings you shall particularly heare, which was as followeth.

This aforefaide Agnis Sampfon, which was the elder witche, was taken and brought to Halirind House before the Kinges Majestie, and sundry other of the nobilitie of Scotland, where she was straitly examined; but all the persuasions which the Kinges Majestie used to hir, with the rest of his Councill, might not provoke or induce her to confesse any thing, but stood stiffely in the deniall of all that was layde to her charge; where upon they caused her to bee conveyed away unto prison, there to receive such torture as hath beene lately provided for witches in that country: And for as much as by due examination of witchcraft and witches in Scotland, it hath lately beene founde that the Divell dooth generally marke them with a privie marke, by reason the witches have confessed themselves, that the Divell doth licke them with his tong in some privie part of their bodie, before hee dooth reeve them to bee his servauntes, which marke commonlie is given them under the haire in some part of their bodie, whereby it may not easily bee founde out or seene, although they be searched; and generally so long as the marke is not seene to those which search them, so long the parties that hath the marke will never confesse anie thing. Therefore, by speciall commandment, this Agnis Sampson had all her haire shaven off, in each parte of her bodie, and her head thrawne with a rope, according to the custome of that countrie, beeing a payne most grevous, which shee continued almost an hower, during which time she would not confesse anie thing, untill the Divels marke was founde upon her privities; then shee immediatly confessed whatsoever was demaunded of her, and justifying those persons aforesaide to be notorious witches. ITEM, The said Agnis Tompson (Sampson) was after brought againe before the Kinges Majestie and his Councell, and beeing examined of the meetings and detestable dealings of those witches, she confessed, that upon the night of Allhollow Even last, shee was accompanied, as well with the persons aforesaide, as also with a great many other witches, to the number of two hundreth, and that all they together went to Sea, each one in a riddle or cive, and went into the same very substantially, with flaggons of wine, making merrie and drinking by the way in the same riddles or cives, to the Kirke of North Barrick in Lowthian; and that after they had landed, tooke handes on the lande, and daunced this reill or short daunce, singing all with one voice,

¹ Ewphame Macalreane of Cliftounhall. See her Trial, Jun. 9, 1591. ² See her Trial. The persons composing the majority of those who acquitted her, were brought to trial for Wilful Error.

Commer goe ye before, commer goe ye,

Gif ye will not goe before, commer let me.

At which time shee confessed, that this Geillis Duncane did goe before them, playing this reill or daunce, uppon a small trump, called a Jewes trump, untill they entred into the Kirk of North Barrick.

These confessions made the King in a wonderfull admiration, and sent for the saide Geillis Duncane, who upon the like trump did play the saide daunce before the Kinges Majestie, who in respect of the strangenes of these matters, tooke great delight to be present at their examinations.

ITEM, The said Agnis Tompson (Sampson) confessed, that the Divell, being then at North Barrick Kirke attending their comming, in the habit or likenesse of a man, and seeing that they tarried over long, hee at their comming enjoyned them all to a pennance, which was, that they should kisse his buttockes, in sign of duety to him; which being put over the pulpit bare, every one did as he had enjoyned them: And having made his ungodly exhortations, wherein he did greatly inveigh against the King of Scotland, he received their oathes for their good and true service towards him, and departed; which done, they returned to sea, and so home again. At which time, the witches demaunded of the Divell, 'Why he did beare such hatred to the Kinge?' Who answered, 'By reason the King is the greatest enimie hee hath in the world.' All which their confessions and depositions are still extant upon record. ITEM, The saide Agnis Sampson confessed before the Kinges Majestie sundrie thinges, which were so miraculous and strange, as that his Majestie saide 'they were all extreame lyars;' wherat shee answered, 'she would not with his Majestie to suppose her wordes to be false, but rather to beleve them, in that shee would discover such matter unto him as his Majestie should not any way doubt of.' And therupon taking his Majestie a little aside, shee declared unto him the verie wordes which passed betweene the Kinges Majestie and his Queene at Upslo in Norway, the first night of mariage, with the answere ech to other; wherat the Kinges Majestie wondered greatly, and swore 'by the living God, that he believed all the devils in hell could not have discovered the same,' acknowledging her words to be most true; and therefore gave the more credit to the rest that is before declared.

Touching this Agnis Tompson (Sampson), she is the onlie woman who, by the Divels perswasion, should have intended and put in execution the Kinges Majesties death, in this manner. She confessed that shee tooke a blacke toade, and did hang the same up by the heeles three daies, and collected and gathered the venom as it dropped and fell from it in ane oyster shell, and kept the same venome close covered, untill she should obtaine anie part or peece of foule linnen cloth that had appertained to the Kinges Majestie, as shirt, handkercher, napkin or any other thing, which shee practised to obtaine by meanes of one John Kers, who being attendant in his Majesties chamber, desired him for olde acquaintaunce betweene them, to helpe her to one, or a peece of such a cloth as is aforefaide; which thing the saide John Kers denied to helpe her to, saying hee could not helpe her unto it. And the saide Agnis Tompson (Sampson,) by her depositions since her apprehension, saith, that if shee had obtayned any one peece of linnen cloth which the King had worne and fowled, she had bewitched him to death, and put him to such extraordinarie paines, as if he had been lying upon sharp thorns and endis of needles. Moreover she confessed, that at the time when his Majestie was in Denmarke, shee being accompanied by the parties before speciallie named, tooke a cat and christened it, and afterward bounde to each part of that cat, the cheefest parte of a dead man, and severall joyntis of his bodie: And that in the night following, the saide cat was conveyed into the middest of the sea by all these witches, sayling in their riddles or cives, as is aforefaid, and so left the saide cat right before the towne of Lieth in Scotland. This doone, there did arise such a tempest in the sea, as a greater hath not bene seene; which tempest was the cause of the perishing of a boat or vessell comming over from the towne of Brunt Ilande to the towne of Lieth, wherein was fundrie jewelles and rich giftes, which should have beene presented to the now Queene of Scotland, at her Majesties coming to Leith. Againe, it is confessed, that the saide christened cat was the cause that the Kinges Majesties shippe, at his comming forth of Denmarke, had a contrarie winde to the rest of his shippes then being in his companie; which thing was most strange and true, as the Kinges Majestie acknowledgeth, for when the rest of the shippes had a faire and good winde, then was the winde contrarie and altogether against his Majestie; and further, the fayde witche declared, that his Majestie had never come safely from the sea, if his faith had not prevayled above their intentions.

Moreover, the faide witches being demaunded, how the Divel would use them when he was in their company, they confessed, that when the Devill did recyvee them for his servauntes, and that they had vowed themselves unto him, then hee would carnally use them, albeit to their litle pleasure, in respect to his colde nature; and would do the like at sundry other times.

As touching the aforefaide Doctor Fian alias John Cunningham, the examination of his actes since his apprehension, declareth the great subteltie of the Divell, and therefore maketh thinges to appeare the more miraculous; for beeing apprehended by the accusation of the faide Geillis Duncane aforefaide, who confessed he was their Regefter, and that there was not one man suffered to come to the Divels readings but onelie hee: the faide Doctor was taken and imprisoned, and used with the accustomed paine provided for those offences, inflicted upon the rest, as is aforefaide. First, By thraving of his head with a rope, wherat he would confesse nothing. Secondly, Hee was perswaded by faire meanes to confesse his follies, but that would prevaile as little. Lastly, Hee was put to the most severe and cruell paine in the worlde, called the bootes;¹ who, after he had received three strokes, being inquired if hee would confesse his damnable actes and wicked life, his toong would not serve him to speake; in respect wherof, the rest of the witches willed to searche his toong, under which was founde two pinnes, thrust up into the heade; whereupon the witches did say, Now is the charme flinted; and shewed, that those charmed pinnes were the cause he could not confesse any thing: Then was he immediately releasd of the bootes, brought before the King, his confession was taken, and his own hand willingly set thereunto, which contained as followeth: FIRST, That at the generall meetinges of those witches, he was always present; that he was clarke to all those that were in subjection to the Divels service, bearing the name of witches; that alway hee did take their oathes for their true service to the Divell; and that he wrote

¹ A dreadful torture, which, to the disgrace of this country, was sanctioned by the Privy Council, to extort evidence from obdurate and perjured witnesses, and also Confessions from criminals of their own crimes and delinquencies; or to induce them to inform against or to criminate others, strongly suspected to be implicated. The boots, or bootikins, were chiefly made use of in extreme cases, such as High Treason, Witchcraft, &c. This horrid instrument extended from the ankles to the knee, and at each stroke of a large hammer, (which forced the wedges closer,) the question was repeated. In many instances, the bones and flesh of the leg were crushed and lacerated in a shocking manner before confession was made. Fian endured these tortures with almost incredible firmness. See the Trial of John Master of Orkney, Jan. 24, 1596, &c.

for them such matters as the Divell still pleased to commaund him. ITEM, Hee confessed, that by his witchcraft hee did bewitch a gentleman dwelling neare to the Saltpans, where the said Doctor kept schoole, onely for beeing enamoured of a gentlewoman whome hee loved himselfe ; by meanes of which his forcery, witchcraft and divelish practises, hee caused the said gentleman, that once in xxiii howers hee fell into a lunacie and madnes, and so continued one whole hower together : And for the veritie of the same, hee caused the gentleman to bee¹ brought before the Kinges Majestie, which was uppon the xxiiii day of December last, and beeing in his Majesties chamber, suddenly hee gave a great scritch, and fell into madnesse, sometime bending himself, and sometime capring so directly up, that his heade did touch the ceiling of the chamber, to the great admiration of his Majestie and others then present ; so that all the gentlemen in the chamber were not able to holde him, untill they called in more helpe, who together bound him hand and foot ; and suffering the said gentleman to lie still untill his furie were past, hee within an hower came againe to himselfe ; when, being demaunded by the Kinges Majestie, ' what he sawor did all that while,' answered, that ' he had been in a founde sleepe.' ITEM, The said Doctor did also confesse, that hee had used meanes sundry times to obtaine his purpose and wicked intent of the same gentlewoman ; and seeing himselfe disappointed of his intention, hee determined, by all wayes hee might, to obtaine the same ; trusting by conjuring, witchcraft and forcerie, to obtaine it, in this manner. It happened this gentlewoman, being unmarried, had a brother, who went to schoole with the said Doctor ; and calling the said scholler to him, demaunded ' if hee did lie with his sister,' who answered ' hee did.' By meanes whereof, hee thought to obtaine his purpose ; and therefore secretly promised, to teach him without stripes, so hee would obtaine for him three hairs of his sisters privities, at such time as hee should spie best occasion for it ; which the youth promised faithfully to performe, and vowed speedily to put it in practise, taking a peece of conjured paper of his maister, to lap them in, when hee had gotten them ; and thereupon the boy practised nightly to obtaine his maisters purpose, especially when his sister was asleep. But God, who knoweth the secrets of all harts, and revealeth all wicked and ungodly practises, would not suffer the intents of this divelish Doctor to come to that purpose which hee supposed it would ; and therefore, to declare that hee was heavily offended with his wicked intent, did so work by the gentlewomans owne meanes, that in the ende the same was discovered and brought to light ; for shee being one night a sleepe, and her brother in bed with her, sodainly cried outt to her mother, declaring that her brother would not suffer her to sleepe ; wherenpon her mother having a quicke capacitie, did vehemently suspect Doctor Fians intention, by reason she was a witch of her self; and therefore, presently arose, and was very inquisitive of the boy to understand his intent; and the better to know the same, did beate him with sundrie stripes, wherby hee discovered the truth unto her. The mother, therefore, being well practised in witchcraft, did thinke it most convenient to meete with the Doctor in his owne arte; and thereupon took the paper from the boy, wherein hee should have put the same haire, and went to a yong heyfer which never had borne calfe, nor gone unto the bull, and with a paire of sheeres clipped off three haire from the udder of the cow, and wrapt them in the same paper, which shee again delivered to the boy; then willing him to give the same to his saide maister, which hee immediately did. The schoole maister, so soone as he had received them, thinking them indeede to be the maids haire, went straight and wrought his arte upon them: But the Doctor had no sooner doone his intent to them, but presently the hayfer cow, whose haire they were indeede, came unto the door of the church wherein the schoole maister was, into the which the hayfer went, and made towards the schoole maister, leaping and dauncing upon him, and following him forth of the church, and to what place soever he went; to the great admiration of all the townes men of Saltpan, and many other who did beholde the same. The report whereof made all men imagine he did worke it by the Devill, without whome it coule never have bene so sufficiently effected; and thereupon, the name of the saide Doctor Fian (who was but a yoong man) began to growe common among the people of Scotland, that hee was secretly nominated for a notable conjurer.

¹ Here the first wooden cut is inserted.

All which, although in the beginning he denied, and woulde not confesse, yet having felt the paine of the bootes, (and the charme stunted as aforesayd,) he confessed all the aforesaid to be most true, without producing any witnesses to justify the same; and therupon, before the Kings Majesty, hee subscribed the sayd confessions with his owne hande; which for truth remaineth upon record in Scotland.

After that the depositions and examinations of the sayd Doctor Fian alias Cuninghame was taken, as already is declared, with his own hand willingly set thereunto, hee was by the maister of the prison committed to ward, and appointed to a chamber by himselfe; where, forsaking his wicked¹ wayes, acknowledging his most ungodly lyfe, shewing that he had too much followed the allurements and enticements of Sathan, and fondly practised his conclusions, by conjuring, witchcraft, inchantment, forcerie, and such like, hee renounced the Devill and all his wicked workes, vowed to leade the lyfe of a Christian, and seemed newly converted towards God.

The morrow after, upon conference had with him, he granted that the Devill had appeared unto him in the night before, appareled all in blacke, with a white wande in his hande ; and that the Devill demaunded of him, ‘ If hee woulde continue his faithfull service, according to his first oath and promise made to that effect :’ Whome (as hee then saide) he utterly renounced to his face, and said unto him in this manner, ‘ Avoide ! Satan, avoide ! for I have lifted too much unto thee, and by the same thou hast undone me ; in respect whereof I utterly forsake thee.’ To whome the Devill answered, that ‘ once ere thou die thou shalt be mine :’ And with that (as he sayd), the Devill brake the white wand, and immediately vanished fourth of his sight.

¹ The second wood-cut is inserted here.

Thus, all the daie, this Doctor Fian continued verie solitarie, and seemed to have a care of his owne soule, and would call upon God, shewing himselfe penitent for his wicked life ; neverthelesse, the same night, hee found such meanes that he stole the key of the prison doore and chamber in which he was, which in the night hee opened and fled awaie to the Saltpans, where hee was alwayes resident, and first apprehended. Of whose sodaine departure, when the Kings Majestie had intelligence, hee presently commanded diligent inquirie to be made for his apprehension ; and for the better effecting thereof, hee sent publike proclamations into all partes of his lande to the same effect. By meanes of whose hot and harde pursuite he was agayn taken, and brought to prison ; and then, being called before the Kings Highnes, hee was re-examined, as well touching his departure, as also touching all that had before happened. But this Doctor, notwithstanding that his owne confession appeareth, remaining in recorde under his owne hande writting, and the same thereunto fixed in the presence of the Kings Majestie and sundrie of his Councill, yet did hee utterly denie the same.

Whereupon the Kings Majestie, perceiving his stubborne willfulnesse, conceived and imagined, that in the time of his absence, hee had entered into newe conference and league with the Devill his maister ; and that hee had beene again newly marked, for the which he was narrowly searched ; but it coulde not in anie waie be founde ; yet for more tryall of him, to make him confesse, hee was commaunded to have a most straunge¹ torment, which was done in this manner following. His nailes upon all his fingers were riven and pulled off with an instrument called in Scottish a Turkas,² which in England wee call a payre of pincers, and under everie nayle there was thrust in two needels over even up to the heads. At all which tormentes notwithstanding, the Doctor never shronke anie whit ; neither woulde he then confesse it the sooner, for all the tortures inflicted upon him. Then was hee, with all convenient speede, by commandement, convaied againe to the torment of the bootes, wherein hee continued a long time, and did abide so many blowes in them, that his legges were cruft and beaten together as small as might bee; and the bones and flesh so bruised, that the bloud and marrow spouted forth in great abundance; whereby, they were made unserviceable for ever. And notwithstanding all these grievous paines and cruel torments, hee would not confesse anie things; so deeply had the Devill entered into his heart, that hee utterly denied all that which he before avouched; and would saie nothing thereunto, but this, that what hee had done and sayde before, was onely done and sayde, for fear of paynes which he had endured.

¹ Unusual, unaccustomed.
smith's pincers.

² O. Fr. Turquois, truquaise, tenaille à l'usage des marechaux, i.e.

Upon great consideration, therefore, taken by the Kings Majestie and his Councell, as well for the due execution of justice uppon such detestable malefactors, as also for example sake, to remayne a terrour to all others heerafter, that shall attempt to deale in the lyke wicked and ungodlye actions, as witchcraft, forcerie, conjuration and such lyke; the saide Doctor Fian was soon after arraigned, condemned and adjudged by the law to die, and then to be burned according to the lawe of that lande provided in that behalfe. Whereupon hee was put into a carte, and beeing first strangled, hee was immediately put into a great fire, being readie provided for that purpose, and there burned in the Castle Hill of Edenbrough, on a Saterdaie, in the ende of Januarie last past, 1591.

The rest of the witches which are not yet executed, remayne in prison till farther triall and knowledge of his Majesties pleasure.

THIS strange discourse before recited may perhaps give some occasion of doubt to such as shall happen to reade the same, and thereby conjecture that the Kings Majestie would not hazarde himselfe in the presence of such notorious witches, least therby might have ensued great danger to his person, and the generall state of the land; which thing in truth might wel have bene feared. But to answer generally to such, let this suffice; that first, it is well known that the King is the child and servant of God, and they but the servants to the Devil; hee is the Lords annointed, and they but vesseles of Gods wrath; hee is a true Christian, and trusteth in God; they worse than infidels, for they onely trust in the Devill, who daily serves them, till he have brought them to utter destruction. But heereby it seemeth that his Highnesse caried a magnanimious and undaunted mind, not feared with their inchantmentes, but resolute in this, that so long as God is with him, hee feareth not who is against him; and truelie, the whole scope of this Treatise dooth so plainlie laie open the wonderfull Providence of the Almighty, that if he had not bene defended by his omnipotencie and power, his Highnes had never returned alive in his voiage from Denmarke; so that there is no doubt, but God woulde as well defend him on the land as on the sea, where they pretended their damnable practise.

FINIS.

High Treason — Murder — Fire-raising — Oppression, &c.

Jan. 19, 1590-1.—ANGUS M'CONEILL of Dinnievaig (Lord of Kintyre,) and Lauchlane Maclane of Dowart (Lord of Ilay.)

[THE desperate atrocities committed by the rival Chieftains, Makoneill and Macleane, some of whose misdeeds form the subject of the following Trial, although unfortunately not without a parallel in the history of the feuds and conflicts of the Clans, yet they give such a gloomy picture of the barbarities then in some measure tolerated, or at least winked at, through the weakness of the arm of the law, that some explanation of the circumstances which gave rise to such scenes of horror and bloodshed seems necessary. This cannot be better done, than by giving a pretty copious quotation from the quaint but forcible narrative of the author of 'The Historie and Life of King James the Sext,' a work recently edited by Thomas Thomson, Esq. Deputy Clerk Register of Scotland, for the use of the Members of the Bannatyne Club. The limited impression of that work must plead the Editor's apology for quoting so largely, as comparatively few have access to this valuable book for reference.]

ANGUS MAK-ONEILL Lord of Kintyre had to his wyff the sifter of MACLEANE Lord of Ilay; and althocht thay war brether in law, yit the ane was always in sic suspicioun with the uther, that of ather fyde thair was fa litle traift, that almaist fendle or never did thay meit in amitie, lyk unto the common fort of people, bot rather as barbaris upoun thair awin guairde, or ather be thair messingeris. Trew it is, that thir Ilandish men ar of nature verie prouwd, suspicioun, avaricious, full of decept and evill inventioun aganis his nychtbour, be what way foever he may circumvin him. Befydis all this, thay are fa crewell in taking of revenge, that nather have thay regarde to perfon, eage, tym or caus; fa ar thay generallie all fa far addictit to thair awin tyrannicall opinions, that in all respects thay exceed in creweltie the maist barbarous people that ever hes bene sen the begynning of the world; ane example whareof ye fall heir in this historie following.—Angus Mac-Oueill understanding, be dyverse reportis, the gude behavior of Maclayne to be fa famous, that almaist he was recommendit and prayffit be the haill newtrall people of thais partis above him self; whilk ingendrit sik rancor in his hart, that he pretermittit na inventioun how he mycht destroy the said Maclayne. At last he devyfit to draw on a familiaritie amang thayme, and inveitit himself to be bancattit be Maclayne; and that the rather, that Maclayne fould be the reddier to cum over to his Ile with him the mair glaidlie, ather being requyrit, or upoun fet purpose, as best fould pleas him. And when Angus had sent adverteifment to Maclayne, that he was to cum and mak gude cheir, and to be mirrie with him certayne dayis, Maclayne was verie glaid thareof, and anfuerit to the messinger,—'My brother falbe welcome to me,' fayd he, 'cum when he list.' The messinger anfuerit, 'it wald be to morrow.' So when Angus arryvit in effect, he was rycht cheirfullie welcomit be his brother in law, wha remanit thair be the space of fyve or sax dayis. And when it was pervafit that Maclaynis provifion was almaist spent, Angus thocht it then tyme to remove. Indeid the custome of that people is fa gevin to 'gluttonie, and drinking without all meafure, that as ane is invetit to another, thay never funder fa lang as the vivers do left. In end Angus fayis,—'Beaus I have maid the first obedience unto you, it will pleas you cum over to my Ile, that ye may reslave als gude treatment with me as I have done with you.' Maclayne anfuerit that 'he durst not adventure to cum to him for mistrust;' and Angus said,—'God forbid that evir I fould intend or pretend any evill aganis you; bot yit, to remove all doubt and suspicion fra your mynd, I will geve you tua pledges, whilkis falbe sent unto you with diligence ; to wit, my eldest sone, and my awin onlie brother germain : These tua may be keapit heir be your freyndis, till ye cum sailie bak agayne.' Maclayne hering this offer, whilk apperit unto him voyd of all suspicioun, gave credence, and so decretit to pas with him to Kintyre ; and forder to testefie that bayth he simplie belevit all to be trew, and that upoun hoip of gude freyndship to continew, he thocht expedient to retene à onlie pledge, and that was Angus his brother, and wald cary with himself his awin nevoy the sone of Angus. Whether he did this to save himself fra suspicion of daynger, as apperantlie of the event he did it, or geve he brocht him bak agayne upon liberall favour, I will not dispute ; becaus I have tauld you afore the perfy nature and qualetis of thais Islandis people ; yit becaus Maclaynis education was cevile, and brocht up in the gude lawis and maners of Scotland from his yowth, it may be, that he hes had double consideratioun, ane be kynd, and another be art of honest deliberatioun. To conclude, to Kintyre he came, accompaneit with 45 men of his kynnisfolk, and stowt fervands, in the moneth of Julii 1586 ; whare at the first arryvall thay war maid welcome, with all humanitie, and war sumptuoslie bancattit all that day. Bot Angus in that meyne tyme had premoneit all his freynds and weilwillers within his Ile of Kintyre, to be at his hous that same nycht, at nyne of the clock, and nather to cum soner nor laitter ; for he had concludit with himself to kill thayme all, the verie first nycht of thair arryvall ; fearing, that geve he fould delay any langar tyme, it mycht be, that ather he fould alter his malicious intentioun, or els that Maclayne wald fend for sum greater forces of men for his awin defence. Thus he conceit his intent still, till bayth he fand the tyme commodious, and the verie place proper ; and Maclayne, being logeit with all his men within a lang hous, that was sumthing distant fra uther howsing, tuik to bed with him that nycht his nevoy, the pledge aforespokin. Bot within ane hour tharefter, when Angus had assemblit his men to the number of tua hundreth, he placit thayme all in order about the hous whare Maclayne then lay. Tharefter he came him self, and callit at the dure upon Maclayne, offring to him his reposing drink, whilk was forgottin to be gevin to him before he went to bed. Maclayne anferit, that he desyrit na drink for that tyme. Althocht, so be, said the uther, it is my will that thou arryfe and cum furth to ressave it. Then began Maclayne to suspect the falsset, and so arraisè with his nevoy betuix his shoulders, thinking that geve present killing was intentit aganis him, he fould save him self salang as he could, be the boy ; and the boy persaving his father with a naked sworde and a number of his men in lykmaner about, cryit with a lowd voyce, mearcie to his uncle for Gods saik ; whilk was grantit, and immediatly Maclayne was removit to a secret chalmertill the morrow. Then cryit Angus to the remanent that war within ;—samony as wald have thair awin lyvis to be saif, thay fould cum furth, tua onlie exceptit, whilk he nominat ; sa that obedience was maid be all the rest, and thais tua onlie feyring the daynger, refusit to cum furth. Angus seing that, commandit incontinent to put fyre to the hous, whilk was immediatlie performit, and thus war the tua men cruallie and unmearecessfullie brynt to the death. These tua war verie nar kynnisfines to Maclayne, and of the eldeit of his clan, renownit bayth for countfall and manheid. The rest that war preafoners, of the haill number aforetauld, war ilk ane beheadit the dayis following, ane for ilk day, till the haill number was endit ; yea, and that in Maclaynis awin fight, being constraynit thareunto with a dolorous advertisement, to prepare himself for the lyk tragicall end, howfone thay fould be all killit. And when the day came that Maclayne fould have bene brocht furth, miserablie to have maid his tragicall end, lyk unto the rest, it pleasit Angus to lowp upon his horse, and to cum furth for joy and contentatioun of mynd, evin to se and behauld the tyrannicall fact with his awin eyis. Bot it pleasit God, wha mearcifullie deilis with all man, and disappoyntis the decrees of the wicked, to disappoynt his intent for that day also, for he was not sa sone on horse, bot the horse stumblit, and Angus fell of him and brak his leg, and so was careit hayme.

The report of this falsset was careit to the Erle of Argyle, Lord Justice Generall of Scotland, wha immediatlie assemblit his freyndis, and thay thocht necessar to compleyne to the King for revenge.

The King directit letters to Angus, be an herauld at armes callit Ormond, commanding him to restore Maclayne in the hands of the Erle of Argyle. But the messenger was interruptit at the heaving port, whare he fould have tayne shipping toward Kintyre, and so returnit. Yit be exceiding travell maid be Argyllis freyns, and many unreasonable strait conditions grantit to Angus, at the last, Maclayne was randrit. Bot within few moneths tharefter, Maclayne maid sic preparatioun of armit men, and assēblit a great number of weill disposit persons, wha came with him to Kintyre for revenge of the former injurie; whare, what be fyre, what be sworde, and what be watter, he destroyit all mankynd, nayne except, that came in his way, and all sort of beast that servit for any domestik use or pleasure of man: And finallie, he came to the verie place whare Angus was mirelie camping, hulking for na sik suddan invasioun for the tyme; geve he had not bene horfit incontinent, and withdrawin him self to a strang castell whilk was nar by, he had bene weill recompanceit for his former traitorie.—It is a certayne rewill, that all fault growis greater be oversight and forgevenes; for geve transgressions be puneist in dew tyme, the Prence not onlie dois his dewtie in executing of justice, to the great contentatioun of the offendit person, and gude example to the posteritie, as a mirror of his gude lyf; bot also, he gevis a terror to all offenders weill to behave thayme selfis, for feare of regorous puneilment.

I have tauld you at lenth the barbarous proceedings of these Ilandishmen, wha althocht thay war writin for be the King, and subtellie traynit in to Edinburgh, in the yeir of God 1591, with promeis of the King saillie to pas and repas, unhurt or molestit in thair body or guddis; yit thay war bayth committit to warde within the Castell of Edinburgh, whare the King, according to equitie, reason, justice and gude policie, fould have put thayme to a tryall, and had thayme convict for sik odious unmearefull crymes committit be thayme, bayth aganis the law of God and man, war notwithstanding demittit frie to repas hayme agayne, for a small pecuniall sowme, and a thaymefull Remission grantit to ather of thame.—Historie and Life of King James the Sext, (Bannatyne Club's Edit.) 4to, Edin. 1825, p. 217.

THE quhilk day, Angus M^cConill of Dinmievraig, being enterit on pannel, accusit and persewit be Dittay, be Mr David M^cGill of Craufstoun Ryddell, Aduocat to our souerane lord, of the crymes following.

DITTAY against Angus M^cConill of Dinmievraig.

FYRST, for the maist heich poynt of Tressoune, committit be him: That he, be him selff and vtheris in his name, of his causing, aganis baith the estait of his Maiestie and Crown, as also aganis the estait of the countrey, in the monethis of September, October, November, December, att the leift in ane or vthir of thame, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxvij yeiris, tuik vp bandis of men of weir, strangearis, Inglisfen, retenit and kepit thame in cumpanie with him, vnder his waiges, within the countrey of Kintyre, the North and West Isles, invadand and persewand vpoun his partielerlie deidlie feid, borne aganis Lauchlan M^cClayne of Dowart, the said Lauchlane, his kyn, freindis, allya, affisteris and pairt-takarais, being subiectis and inhabitantis of his hienes realme: In the quhilk Invasioun, he, accompaneit with the said men of weare, strangearis, Inglisfen, maid sindrie slauchteris, byrningis, heirschippis and vthir notorious murthouris and opprefsiounes, vsurpand thairthrow, our souerane lordis auctoritie vpoun him; it being expresse prohibite, be the lawis and ordinance of the realme, that na man fould tak vpoun hand, nor attempt, to stryke drum, raise ony bandis of men of weare, on horffe or fute, without expres Commiffioun and fpeciall licence of his Maieftie and Counfall grantit thairto : Lyke as, alfo, it is prohibite, that na Inglifinen be brocht within our fouerane lordis dominioun, to protect and affuir ony of his fubiectis be ordour of hoftilitie, as men of weir, quhairbye the eftait of the cuntry or liegis thairof mycht be trublit, vnder the pane of Treffoune : Quhilk deid maift treffonabill, is notorious and can nocht be denyit be yow (him), be reffoune that ye (he) in your (his) Supplicationne, laitlie presentit to his Maieftie and Counfall in the moneth of July laftwes, fet doune the fame as ane poynt of your (his) Supplicationne ; allegeing the diffoluing of the faid Inglifinen of weir and directing of thame to Ireland, to haif bene a pairt of your (his) obedience ; nochtwithftanding the deid it felf is maift treffonabill ; quhilk ye (he) can not deny.—ITEM, For the treffonabill raffing of fyre, byrning and hereing¹ of the Landis of Mull, Terrie, Coill and Loyng, being a pairte of his Maiefteis propir landis, and of his hienes realme and dominioune : And then vnmercifullie flew, brynt to deid and murdreift twa hundreth perfounes, fubiectis to his Maieftie, men, wyffes and bairnis. And this wes done be him, his men, freindis, ferwandis, affifteris and complices in the moneth of the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxvij yeiris ; committand thairbye maift wyild, barberous and treffonabill creweltie.—ITEM, For airt, pairt, red and counfall, of the treffonabill ffyre-raifing and burning of the toune of Cairfaik, in Mwle, and hereing thairof, in the moneth of Junij laftbypaft ; in the quhilk treffonabill ffyre-raifing be him, at leift, he being airt, pairt, red and counfall thairof, reffet and ratihabitioune, M^cIlvray, ane of our fouerane lordis liegis, wes murdreift and flane.—ITEM, Forfamekill as, be Act of Parliament, it is ftatute and ordanit, that in caife ony of our fouerane lordis liegis wer flayne or murdreift, being vnder the credeit and power of the flayer, the committer of fik flauchter fuld be declarit tratour ; and the deid to be Treffoune, with foirfaltour of lyffe, landis and guidis : And trew it is and of veritie, that in the moneth of Junij laftwes M^cIlheynych and M^cIlheynych, being captiues and pefoners, detenit be him be the fpace of dyuerfe dayis, and takyn vnder affiurance betwix him and his partie Lauchlane M^cClane ; he, in the faid moneth, caufit bring thame out of preffoune, and in his awin prefence caufit ftryke of thair heidis without ony dome, and by² all ordour of law, vfurping his gracis auctoritie ; quhairthrow he hes incurrit the cryme of Treffoune and panes thairof.—ITEM, Forfamekill as (he) being ane landit gentleman, hes in all the depredatiounes, ffyre-raifingis, murthouris and heirfehips³ about writtin, and in the executing of everie ane of thame, committit manifft thift and ftouth reif of cattell, infycht and pleneiffing, ftollin, reffet and reft be him, his men of weir, kynnifinen, freindis, affifteris and pairt-takeris :

¹ Harrying, plundering, sacking, devastation.

² Past, contrary to, in defiance of.

³ Acts of

plundering and devastation.

quhairthrow, he be the Actis of Parliament hes incurrit the cryme of Treffoune, and aucht to suffer the pane thairof.

REFUSIT to pafs to ane Affyis, bot become in our foverane lordis will for the famin.

THE famyn day, Lauchlane M^cClane of Dowart, being accufit and perfewit be the said Mr David M^cGill, aduocat, (of the crimes following,) committit be him.

DITTAY against Lauchlane M^cClane of Dowart.

THAT he, be him felff, and vtheris in his name, of his cauffing, aganis the eftait of his Maieftie and Crown, as alfo aganis the eftait of the countrey, in the moneth of November 1588 yeiris, tuik vp bandis of men of weir, ftrangearis, Spanzertis, quha were ane pairt of the armie, callit ' THE HALIE LYG,'¹ deftinat for fuppreffion of all that profellit the trew and Cristian Religioune; and fwa to fubuert the eftait of the Kingis Maieftie, his Crown, countrey and commonne-welth thairof: Quhairthrow, thay wer fund and declarit, oppin and publict inimes, and fwa to be refisit, be Act of Counfall; as in the famin, of the dait the fyrft of Auguft 1588, att mair lenth is contenit: Neuirtheles, he retenit and keptit thame in cumpanie with him, vnder his waiges, within the Ile of Mylle, and remanent North and West Iles, invadand and perfeward, vpoun his particular deidlie feid borne aganis Angus M^cConill of Dinneveg; the said Angus, his kyn. freindis, allya, affifteris and pairt-takeris, being fubjectis and inhabitantis of his Maiefties realme: In the quhilk invafion, he, accumpaneit with the said men of weir, ftrangearis, Spanzertis, publict inimeis of the eftait, as said is, maid findrie flauchteris, heirfchipis, birningis, depredatiounes and otheris notorious murthouris and oppreffionnes; and fpeciallie, in the said moneth of November, he brint with fyre the landis of Canna, Run, Eg and Ellen-ne-Muk, and hereit the fame; he flew and crewillie mordreift Hector M^cCane Chammaniche and Donald Bayne his brothir, with ane grit nowmer of wyffis, bairnis and pur laboreris of the ground, about aucht or nyne fcoir of fawles, quha had efchakit the fyre, wes noch fpairit be his bluidie fword. And att that fame tyme, accumpaneit with the saidis ftrangearis, Spanzeartis, publict inimeis as said is, he tuik with him the cannoune, treffonable befageit the hous of Ardenmvrche, be the fpace of fax or fewin dayes, he caufit fchwit diuers fchottis thairat, and flew diuers gentilmenne thairin, callit²; vfurpand thairthrow his hienes authoritie: It being expreffie inhibite, be the lawis and ordinances of the realme, that na man fould tak vpoun hand to ftryke drum, rais bandis of men of weir, on hors or fute, (or) befaiige houffis, without expres Commiffioun and fpeciall Licence of his Maieftie and Counfall grantit thairto. Quhilkis deidis maift treffonabill, and fpeciallie the lifting of men of weir, Spanzertis, publict iniuicis as faid is, execute be him, ar notorious.—ITEM, Being accwfit and perfewit, that, florfamekill that, be Act of Parliament, it is flatute and ordenit, that in cais ony of our fouerane lordis liegis wer flayne or mureidreift, being vnder the credite and power of the flayer, the committer of sic flaughter fould be declarit traittoure, and the deid to be Treffoune, with forfaltour of lyffe, landis and guidis : And trew it is and of veritie, that in the moneth of Februar, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxvij yeiris, the faid Lauchlane, vnder affurance and freindschip, in compleiting of mariage betuix his moder and Johnne M^cEan of Ardnmurchin, that fame nycht eftir the mariage, he, accompaneit with his freindis, feruandis and complices, come to the hous quhair the faid Johnnis feruandis wer fleping, dredand na sic iniurie, as ye (he) thane execute, without mercy and pitie he mureidreift and flew Donald M^cEan Roy V^cEane, and Johnne Growane M^cIncolliff, with the nowmer of threfcoir faudes, men and boyes, his graces fubiectis ; and the faid Johnne (M^cEan of Ardnamurchin) his guidfader, with his boy, wer only faulff be the moyan of his mother : And thairby committing the cryme of Treffoune.—ITEM, For contravening of the foirfaid Actis of Parliament, and committing Treffoune, in fa far as, affurance being takin betuix him and the faid Angus M^cConeill, be the travellis of the Erll of Ergylle, in the moneth of July, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxix yeiris, quhilk wes appoyntit to indure vnto the fyrft day of May laftbypaft ; nochtwithftanding thair of, haifing na refpect to our fouerane lordis Proclamatioun, maid for keping of guid rewle in his Maieftis abfence furth of this realme, he, without ony feir of God, reverence of his hienes authoritie, nocht regarding his awin ayth, promeis, fubfcriptionne or ony kynd of honeftie, maift fchamefullie contravenit and violatit the faid affurance, quhen as, in the moneth of I^m.V^c.lxxxix yeiris, accompaneit with grit forces of men, bodiu in feir of weir, came to the landis and Ile of Ornenfay, brunt and herreit the famin ; immediatlie thaireftir come to the landis of Ardnavin in Ilay, and to the Ile of Gigay, pertening to the faid Angus, and thair, he nocht only treffonable rafit fyre and brunt and herreit the famin, bot alfo, maift wickitlie and vnumercifullie brynt to deid, flew and crewallie mureidreift men, wyffis and bairnis being thairin, nocht fpairing young nor auld ; being all his Maieftis fubiectis and tementis, inhabitantis of the faid Angus M^cConeillis lands, vnder traift and affurance foirfaid : Committand thairby maift manifft Treffoune, contrar the faid Act of Parliament ; and incurrand thairthrow the panis thairin contenit.—ITEM, For the treffonabill flyre-raifing, burning and herreing, of the hail landis of Ilay, being xxiiij myle of lenth, quhilk is a pairt of his graces propir landis and of his hienes realme and dominioune ; and thane maift vnumercifullie flew, brunt to deid and mureidreift Donald M^cDowthie Vayne, Duncan M^cComme in Ilay, Johnne Dow M^cNeill Veid, Alexander M^cRorie Rod, Gilliechallum M^cKay and M^cKay, brethir, Neill Dow M^cGillieveray, Gilliechallum M^cGilliechoane, and fourfoir gentilmen, befyde ane multitude of wemen, bairnis and pur laboureris of the ground. And this wes done be him, his men, tennentis, seruandis and complices, in the moneth of July lastbypast. Committand thairthrow maist vyld, barbarous and tressonabill crewaltie.—ITEM, Being accusit, fforfamekill as he, being ane landit gentilman, hes, in all the depredatiounis, fyre-rafigis, murthouris and heirshipis aboue writtin, and in executung of ewerie ane of thame, committit manifest thift, stouth-reiff of cattell, infycht and pleniffing, stollin, reffett and reft be him, his men of weir, kymmishen, freindis, affisteris and pairt-takeris : Quhairthrow, he, be the Act of Parliamant, hes incurrit the pane of Tressoune.

¹ The Holy League or Alliance.

² A line left blank in the Record.

Become in our souerane lordis will for the famin. ‘ INCARCERAT. in Castro de Edinburghe,’ until his Majesties will should be declared.

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE s. d. n. Regis, tenta in Pretorio de Edinburghe, xxvij January 1590, per Magistrum Vmfridem Blynscheles, Justiciarium Depntatum.]

Conspiring the King's Death — Witchcraft — Sorcery — Incantation, &c.

Jan. 27, 1590-1.—AGNES SAMPSOUNE in Nether Keythe.

IN ‘ The Historie of King James the Sext,’¹ the extraordinary personage, whose trial ensues, is designated ‘ AGNES SAMPSON, grace wyff, alias callit the wyfe wyff of Keyth.’ She is said by Arnot² to have been ‘ a grave matronlike woman, of a rank and comprehension above the vulgar ;’ and Archbishop Spotswod, in his History of the Church of Scotland,³ gives the following interesting notice : ‘ Most of this winter was spent in the discovery and examination of Witches and Sorcerers. Amongst these, Agnes Samson (commonly called The Wife Wife of Keith) was most remarkable ; a woman, not of the base and ignorant sort of Witches, but matron-like, grave and settled in her answers, which were all to some purpose. In her Examination, she declared that she had a familiar spirit, who, upon her call, did appear in a visible form, and resolve her of any doubtful matter, especially concerning the life or death of persons lying sick. And being asked, what words she used when she called the spirit, she said her word was, Holla, Master ; and that he had learned her so to do. She farther confessed, that the Earl Bothwell had moved her to enquire what should happen of the King, how long he should reign, and what should happen after his death ; and the spirit having undertaken to make away the King, after he had failed in performing and was challenged by her, confessed it was not in his power ; speaking words she understood not, but as she did take them, the words were, Il est homme de Dieu.’ This is confirmed by Sir James Melville in his Memoirs,⁴ and was probably contained in her judicial Confession, though not proved before the Assise. Her Trial, like the rest of the present Collection, is now printed at length for the first time. Mr Arnot, notwithstanding its interest, has reported it in a few lines ; for his plan admitted of only an outline, and this of but a few of the leading Cases. Should any of her Examinations be found among the Warrants of the Court of Justice or Privy Council, they shall be inserted in the Appendix.

¹ Bannatyne Club's Edition, (Thomas Thomson, Esq., Editor,) p. 241. ² Criminal Trials, p. 349. ³ Page 393. Lond. 1668. ⁴ Edition printed for the Members of the Bannatyne Club, (Thomas Thomson, Esq., Editor,) p. 295.

Dilatit of the particular poyntis of Wichcraft, contenit in Dittay.

PERSEWAR, Mr David McGill, of Cranfoun-Ryddell, Advocate to oure fouerane lord.

ASSISA.

Johne Spens, in Saltoune,	Robert Byris, thair,	Robert Dikfoune, in Boltoune,
Williame Bartram, in Carfra,	Robert Kyle, thair,	Williame Stenhous, in Barnis,
Edmund Bartram, in Hoipis,	Williame Stratherne, in Tranent,	Williame Peris, in Hadingtounne,
Dauid Robefoun, in Braidwod- fyd,	Gilbert Edingtounne, in Hading- tounne,	Mathow Young, thair,
(Chan.) Williame Quhyte, in Coillfoune-mylne,	Bernard Broune, thair, Robert Bagbie, thair,	James Richefoune, Alexander Young thair.

VERDICT. Quhilkis perfounes of Affyis, being chofin, fworne and admittit, efter acenfatioune of the faid Agnes be Dittay ; quha removit thame fellfis alto-gidder furth of Court to the Affyis-hous ; quhair, efter chesing of the faid Williame Quhyte chancellor, thay ressonit and votit vpoune the poyntis of the faid Dittay ; and being throuchlie resoluit thairwith, re-enterit agane in jugement ; quhair thay, be the mouth of the faid chancillar, faud, pronuncit and declarit the faid Agnes,

[Heir followes the Articles of hir Dittay, quhair of schoe was Convict, be number (53).]

(1.) To be fylit and convict, of foir-knowlege and telling be hir Witchcraft, that Williame Markeftoune, ferwand to Thomas Watfoune, in Inuerrefk, was bot ane deid man.—(2.) ITEM, fylit and convict, that Williame Blakeis sone fark being fend to hir, scho be hir Wichcraft declarit, that the feiknes that he had was ane elf-schot.—(3.) ITEM, fylit and convict, for vsing of Wichcraft, in hailling of Johnne Thomfoune in Dirletoune ; quha remanit crepill nochtwithstanding thairof.—(4.) ITEM, fylit and convict, for telling be hir Wichcraft, that Many Nicolfoune gudeman in North Berwick being feik, scho fould lay hir lyfe for hers, [his ?] quha nochtwithstanding deit thairof.—(5.) ITEM, fylit and convict, for schawing be hir Wichcraft, to ane pure woman quha was fend to hir, be the freindis of Dauid Lyndesay, tinkler in Dalkeyth, quha had lyin threttie oulkis feik, and had nocht spokkin thre dayes befor the faid pure woman come to hir, that gif he levit over Weddinfday, that he wald nocht die of that maladie ; quha mendit of the samyn, according to hir declaratioune.—(6.) ITEM, fylit and convict, that forfamekle as Johnne Peiny being in Prestoune, being one ane certane tyme verrie feik, scho, be hir incantatioune and prayer, maid him to con-vales of his feiknes.—(7.) ITEM, fylit, for vsing of hir prayer and incantatioune to haif haillit¹ Halyburntounne, guidman of Inchearne, being than in feiknes ; and declaring, that na cherurgeonrie nor phisic could help him ; quha deceiffit, as scho tauld the famin.—(8.) ITEM, fylit, for cuming to Bessie Aiken-

¹ Left blank in Record.

heid, spous to Thomas Vaus in Hadingtoun, and vsing hir prayer and dewelisch charmes for recovering of hir health to hir.—(9.) ITEM, fylit, that scho being fend for to the Lady Roslene, quha wes feik, scho knew be hir devilisch prayer, that the said Lady wes nocht hable to recover; and thairfore, scho wald nocht cum to hir.—(10.) ITEM, fylit and convict, that scho being brocht to Johnne Youngis wyfe, schipard att Bairfute, att Pasch¹ lastwas, that wes feik for the tyme, the said Agnes counfall being socht, anent hir health, scho declarit and anferit, that scho wald newir be weill salang as scho remanit vponne the ground² quhair scho wes for the tyme; bot desyrit, that scho sould be transportit of the said ground, and scho wald owthir die or mend; quha being transportit one hir command, schortlie thaireftir departit this lyffe.—(11.) ITEM, fylit, that scho had foir-knowledge be hir Wichcraft of diseasit perfounes, gif thay wald leve or nocht; or quha wes wicht³ perfounes. To wit, That gif scho stopit anis in hir prayer, the feik perfoun wes bewicht; and gif the prayer stopit twyis, the diseasit perfoune wald die.—(12.) ITEM, fylit and convict, that scho foir-knew of the Devill, and tauld Patrik Porteous, that he wald leve bot ellevin yeiris.—(13.) ITEM, fylit, that scho wes maid foir-knawin of the Devill, of the last Michelmes storne; and that thair wald be grit skayth, baith be see and land.—(14.) ITEM, fylit, that scho wes maid foir-knawin be the spreit,⁴ that the Quenis Maiestie wald newir cum in this countrey, except the King fetcht hir.—(15.) ITEM, fylit and convict, that scho lernit hir skill and prayer fra hir fader, quha tauld hir, that quhene scho wes fwitit⁵ to ony feik perfoune, and that gif scho stopit in hir prayer, scho wald nocht pas to the feik perfoun; and gif scho stopit nocht, scho wald pas, and the perfoun diseasit wald leve.—(16.) ITEM, fylit and convict, that scho be hir dewilysche prayer, tauld that James Kirkecaldeis wyffe, burges of Hadingtoun, wald convaless of hir feiknes.—(17.) ITEM, fylit, for hailing of Johnne Ker of, being feik in all mennis judgment to the daith, quha lay in Alexander Fairleis hous, in Langnudrie; and that be hir prayeris and incantatiounis.—(18.) ITEM, for hailing of Johnne Duncan, in Muffilburcht, of his feiknes be hir dewelisch prayeris.—(19.) ITEM, for the foirtelling of Ifobell Hammiltounis death, spous to James Powar; and telling that scho could nocht amend hir, except the dewill wes rasit; and hir gudman being ane spairand man, and wald nocht wair⁶ expensse, scho wald ne raise him; and tauld that scho wes bewicht; and this wes done sax or sewin zeiris fyne, or thairby.—(20.) ITEM, convict, for the curing of the guidwyffe of Camroun, quha gaid vpoun stiltis eftir hir birth, and that be Wichcraft.—(21.) ITEM, convict, for hailing of the Laird of Reidhallis sone be Wichcraft, quhome the cherurgeanis had gevin owir.—(22.) ITEM, fylit and convict, of the cwring of Robert Dikfoun in Bowtoun, in somer laftwas, quha wes suspect be the woman he gat the barne with, or hir mother, quha had putt sum quheit or vthir thingis¹ in his dowblett; and caufit him to leif of the said dowblett.—(23.) ITEM, for the cwring of Johnne Cokburn the Schereff of Hadingtounis wyffe, quha wes wicht be the wich of Mirrielawis, be the blast of ewill wind, one Hallaw-ewin.—(24.) ITEM, fylit and convict, of cureing, be hir Wichcraft, incantatioun and faying of develifch prayaris, of Alefoun Ker, spous to Johnne Restoun, of ane feiknes contractit be hir, be the meane of Catherene Gray, ane wich; with the quhilk feiknes sche wes diseasit, be the space of thre yeiris preceding that the said Agnes cureit hir.—(25.) ITEM, fylit and convict, of the vsing of hir develifch airt of Wichcraft, in cureing of, spous to Robert Caringtoun in Craprene (Traprene), qua wes bewichit be vni¹⁰ Johnne M^cGill, desyring the said Robert to pas and tak the said Johnne M^cGill, and gif him fair wordes, and desyre him to pas to his feik wyffe; and gif he said with fairnes, guid it was; bot gif he will (wald) nocht, desyrit him to cause ane young man ga to him, and inqyir quha gart him do itt, and to caus him cum to his wyffe; and gif he refut to cum, to bring him aganis his will; quha being brocht in her presens, sche wes twyis, in xxiiij houris, extreme wod and out of hir wit.—(26.) ITEM, acquit² of hir develifch practesis, and nanelie of hir passing to Natom Kirk vnder nycht, with the witch of Carbarrie and vtheris; and thair taking vp the bwreit people, and junting of thame,³ quhair of scho maid inchantit powder for Wichcraft.—(27.) ITEM, fylit, for cuming to Robert Bailzie in the Pannis⁴ sone, in somer laft, quha wes very feik for the tyme; and only graiping⁵ him, and speiking sum wordis of charming, went hir way, and the chyld wes cwrit and mail haill of his feiknes.—(28.) ITEM, convict, for hailing of Johnne Hammiltoun in Sammelstoun, quha being trublit with ane feiknes in his feit, he come to zow⁶ (hir), and ze (sche) fend him haill of the said feiknes, vpoun the morne eftir his cuming.—(29.) ITEM, fylit and convict, for cuming to James Libbertounis wyffe in Over Libbertoun, quha was feik, vsing of hir develifch prayeris for hir health, and said quhen (sche) past away, gif sche come nocht agane schortlie, sche wald depart awa; sche nocht returning, the said James wyffe de-partit within thre dayes.—(30.) ITEM, fylit and convict, for hailing of the Lady Kilbabertoune, be hir devilifch prayaris, quha wes difeasit of ane havie difeis.—(31.) ITEM, fylit and convict, for cureing of vmq^{le} Robert Kerfe in Dalkeyth, quha wes havelie tormentit with wichcraft and difeis, laid on him be ane Westlande Warlach, quhene he wes in Dumfreis; quhilk feiknes fche tuik vpoun hir felff, and keptit the famin with grit groining and torment quhill the morne; one quhilk tyme, thair wes ane gritt dyn hard in the hous; quhilk feiknes fche caift of hir felff in the cloife, to the effect ane catt or dog mycht haif gottin the famin; and nochtwithftanding, the famin wes laid vpoun Alexander Dowglas in Dalkeyth, quha dwynit and departit thairwith; and the faid vmq^{le} Robert Kers wes maid haill.—(32.) ITEM, convict, for the foirtelling, be hir develifch prayer, to vmq^{le} Patrik Hepburne in Banglais wyffe, that hir hufband, beand feik, wald die, becaus hir prayer ftopit; and thairfore, refufit to pas and viffeit him. Quhilk prayer wes reherfit be hir, in maner following:

¹ Easter. ² Land, property, residence. ³ Bewitched. ⁴ This term is frequently used par excellence to designate Satan, it being considered by the vulgar to be dangerous to use his name rashly. ⁵ Suited, or made suit to, on account of any, &c. ⁶ Disburse, lay out.

¹ Enchanted or bewitched. ² (On the margin) Nota, 'Acquit of yis.' ³ Taking away their 'joints,' or joints, for preparing charms, &c. See Articles 42 and 50. ⁴ Viz. Prestonpans.
⁵ Gripping, taking hold, groping. ⁶ From the appearance of the Record, it is evident, that 'the pointis' of the Indictment or Dittay had been engrossed, previous to the trial, to save time in Court. The Assise returned a 'special verdict,' rehearsing these pointis, and fyling or clenging the pannel, according to their impression of the evidence. The words 'yow' and 'ye' are usually altered to sche. In this instance, the clerk has omitted to do so.

AGNES SAMPSONE'S *Prayer to hir patientis for liff or daith.*¹

I TROW² in Almyehtie God that wroecht, Baith heavin and erth and all of nocht,
 In to his deare fone Chryft Jefu, In to pat anaplie³ lord, I trow, Wes gottin of þe Haly Gaiſt, Borne of þe Virgin Marie, Stoppit to heavin, that all weill pane, And fittis att his faderis rycht hand;
 He baid ws cum, and þair to dome Bayth quick and deid, as he thoctt comene.
 I trow als in þe Haly Gaiſt. In Haly Kirk my hoip is mait,
 That halyſchip quhair hallowaris winnis, To atk forgevenes of my finnis,
 And fyne to ryis in fleſch and bane, The lyffe that newir mair hes gane.
 Thow fayis, Lord, 'lovit mocht 3e be, That formd and maid mankynd of me.'
 Thow coſt me on þe aly croce, And lent me body, faull and voce,
 And ordanit me to heavinnis blifs; Quhairfore I thank 3e Lord of þis;
 And all 3our hallowaris lovit be, To pray to pame to pray to me,
 And keep me fra þat fellon fea, And from the fyn that faull wald flay.
 Thow, Lord, for thy bytter paſſioun in, To keip me frome fyn and wardlie ſchame,
 And endles damnatioune. Grant me the joy newir wilbe gane.

SWEIT JESUS CRISTUS. AMENE.

(33.) ITEM, fylit and convict, that the fyrſt tyme fche begane to ferue the Dewill, wes eftir the death of hir hufband; and that he apperit to hir, in liknes of ane man, quha commandit hir to acknowledge him as hir maifter, and to renunce Chryft; quhairvnto fche grantit, being movit be povertie and his promefis, that fche and hir bairnis ſould be maid ritch, and ſould gif hir power to be revangeit of hir inimeis : and eftir that, he appointit tyme and place for thair nycht meting ; and that tyme, in figne that ſche wes becum his ſervand, he markit hir in the rycht kne, quhilk mark ſche belevit to haif bene ane hurt ref-faut be hir fra ane of hir bairnis that wes lyand in the bed with hir ; quhilk hurt wes nocht hail for half ane yeir.—(34.) ITEM, fylit and convict, that the Dewill apperit to hir in liknes of ane dog, att quhome ſche focht hir hail reſponſis ; and quhene ſche putt him away, ſche chargeit him to ‘ depart on the law he lewis one ;’ quha with thay wordis is coniuirit and paſſis away.—(35.) ITEM, fylit and convict, for failling, with certane hir complices, out of North Bervik, in ane boit lyke ane chimnay, (the Devill paſſing before thame lyke ane ruk of hay,) to ane ſchip callit The Grace of God, in the quhilk ſche enterit, and the Dewill cauſit hir drink wyne, and gaif hir vthir guid cheir ; quhair of ſche and hir company gaif ane part to thame that wes in the flott boit ; and att hir being thair, ſche ſaw nocht the marineris, nathir thay ſaw hir ; and quhene thay come away, the Dewill raſit ane ewill wind, he being vnder the ſchip, and cauſit the ſchip periſch, and ſche delyuerit tuentie ſchilling to Gray-meill,¹ quha wes with hir in the ſaid ſhip, for his on-waitting.²—(36.) ITEM, fylit, vpoun hir awin confeſſioun, that ſche, be airt of Wichcraft, faillit to ane ſchip, quhair thair wes ane vncouth woman, and the Irſch tailzeour and his wyffe wes principallis thair ; and that Rychard Grahame wes ane vthir of the principallis, quha had wrocht mekle miſcheif.—(37.) ITEM, fylit and convict, for cuming to Aleſoune Ingliſ, David Robefounis wyffe, than being feik, quha chaift hir away, and wald nocht ſuffir 3ow (hir) to vſe 3our (hir) Wichcraft, to the hailing of his wyffe, becaus ſche wes brutit³ to be ane wich ; and haifing mett with the ſaid David Robefounis ſervand, ſche ſaid to him, ‘ Gif his maifter had nocht ſpokin the wordis he ſpak, his wyffe had bene ane hail woman, and gangand on hir awin feit.’—(38.) ITEM, fylit and convict, that quhene ſche wes ſend for to hail the auld Lady Edmeſtoun, quhene ſche lay feik, befor the ſaid Agnes departit, ſche tauld to the gentilwemene, that ſche ſould tell thame that nycht quhidder the Lady wald hail or nocht ; and appointit thame to be in the gardin eftir ſupper, betuix fyve and ten att ewn. Sche paſſit to the gairdene, to devyiſe vpoun hir prayer, one quhat tyme ſche chargeit the Dewill, calling him ‘ Elva,’ to cum and ſpeik to hir, qua come in owir the dyke, in liknes of ane dog, and come ſa neir to hir, that ſche wes effrayit, and chargeit him, ‘ on the law that he lewit on,’ to cum na neirar, bot to anſuer hir ; and ſche demandit, Quhidder the lady wald leiſ or nocht. He ſaid, ‘ Hir dayes war gane.’ Than he demandit, ‘ Gif the gentilwemen hir dochteres, quhair thay wer ?’ And ſche faid, that ‘The gentilwemen faid, that thay war to be thair.’ He anfuerit, ‘Ane of thame fould be in perrell, and that he fould haif ane of thame.’ Sche anfuerit, ‘It fould nocht be fa,’ and fwa departit fra hir 3owling. Fra this tyme quhill eftir fupper, he remanit in the wall.¹ Quhen the gentilwemen come in, the dog come out of the wall, and apperit to thame; quhairatt thay wer effrayit. In the mene tyme, ane of the faid gentilwemen, the Lady Torfen3e, ran to the wall, being forceit and drawin be the Devill, quha wald haif drownit hir, war nocht the faid Agnes and the rest of the gentilwemen gatt ane gryp of hir, and with all hir (their?) forceis drew hir abak agane, quhilk maid thame all effrayd. The dog passit away thaireftir, with ane 3owle. Than sche faid to the gentilwemen, that ‘Sche could nocht help the lady, in respect that hir prayer stopit; and that sche wes forie for itt.’ Mairowre, eftir that sche and ane of hir sifteris careit hir deid² to ane chalmer, quhair sche remanit frenettik thre or four dayes, and crippill ane quarter of ane 3eir, vntill sche vsit hir develisch inchantments to coniure the spreit agane, and sche abaid with hir the tyme that sche lay; and quhen sche could nocht byde langar hir selff, sche fend hir sone to byde with hir; and quhene ather of thame wes present, sche wes weill aneuch; but quhen thay baith left hir, sche wes als ewill as sche wes ofbefore.—(39.) ITEM, convict, for that sche haifing done pleasour to the gudwyffe of Gallowschelis, for the quhilk sche did nocht satisfie hir, sa sone als the faid Agnes defyrit; and thairfore sche faid to the faid guidwyffe, that ‘Sche fould repent it;’ and within few houris thaireftir, the faid guidwyffe tuik ane wodnes,³ and hir toung schot out of hir heid, and swallit lyke ane pott; quhairfore sche fend to hir the thing that sche defyrit, and prayit hir to cum to hir, and sche baid the feruand ‘Ga away hame, for the guidwyffe wes weill.’—(40.) ITEM, fyllit and convict, of the de-lyerie of ane letter, quhilk Johnne Fiene, clark,⁴ maid in George Mutis bak hous, in the Pannis,⁵ accompaneit with the guidwyffe of the hous, Gelie Duncan, Bessie Robsfoune, Jokkie Gray-meill, Jonet Gaw, Erisch Marioune, the wobsteris wyffe of Setoune, Robert Greirfoune, the guidwyffe of Spilmourfurd-mylne callit Meg Begtoune, Jame Sparrowis wyffe callit Kait Wallace, quha convenit thair for raising of storme, to stay the Quenes hame-cuming to Scotland; eftir consultatioun, quhether Gelie Duncan or Bessie Thomsfoune wes meitest to fend the letter with; and concludit to fend the faid Gelie, quhilk letter wes fend to Marioun Lenchop in Leyth. The effect quhairoff is this: ‘Marioun Lenchop, 3e fall warne the rest of þe sifteris, to raise þe wind this day, att ellewin houris, to stay þe Quenis cuming in Scotland.’ Lykeas, they that wer convenit att the Pannis fould do for thair part, beeist;⁶ and to meit thame that wer in the

¹ This is neither more nor less than a doggerel version of the Apostles' Creed; perhaps one of the monkish rhymes before the period of the Reformation, which Anny had got by heart. ² Believe.

³ In Lord Fountainhall's Abstract, he reads 'comely;' but the whole 'prayer' is so different from the above, that it has likely been taken from some other MS., or has been most unfaithfully transcribed. 'Anaplie' seems to be written for aneplic, 'aefald,' 'afald,' literally one-fold, sincere, without guile, &c.

¹ One of the warlocks who ‘ kept the dur’ at the grand convention at North Berwick, called by Sir James Melville, ‘ ane auld fely pure plowman.’ ² Attendance. ³ Reported—Fr. ‘ bruit.’

¹ Well, draw-well. ² In a swoon. ³ Madness. ⁴ ‘Register’ and ‘Secretar’ to the Devil. See his Trial, Dec. 26, 1590. ⁵ Prestonpans. ⁶ To the eastward.

Pannis; and att thair meting, thay fould mak the storme vniuerfall thro the fee. And within aucht dayes eftir the said Bill wes delyuerit, the said Agnes Sampfoune, Jonett Campbell, Johnne Fean, Gelie Duncan and Meg Dyn¹ bap-tefit ane catt in the wobstaris hous, in maner following: Fyrst, twa of thame held ane fingar, in the ane fyd of the chimnay cruik, and ane vther held ane vther fingar in the vther fyd, the twa nebbis of the fingaris meting togidder; than thay patt the catt thryis throw the linkis of the cruik, and passit itt thryis vnder the chimnay. Thaireftir, att Begie Toddis hous, thay knitt to the foure feit of the catt, foure jountis² of men; quhilk being done, the sayd Jonet fecht it to Leith; and about mydnycht, sche and the tua Linkhop, and twa wyfeis callit Stobbeis, came to the Peir-heid, and saying thir wordis, ‘ See that thair be na defait amangis ws;’ and thay caist the catt in the fee, fa far as thay mycht, quhilk swam owre and cam agane; and thay that wer in the Panis, caist in ane vthir catt in the fee att xj houris. Eftir quhilk, be thair inforcerie and inchantment, the boit perisclit betuix Leith and Kinghorne; quhilk thing the Dewill did, and went before, with ane stalf in his hand.—(41.) ITEM, fylit and conviet, for making of ane pictour of walx, to the similitude of Mr Johnne Moscrop,³ fader-in-law to Ewfame M^cCalzane, att the said Ewfamis desyre, for the distructioun of the said Mr Johnne, and past with the said pictour to ane bray abone ane walter on the landis of Keyth, and rasit the Spreit, quaha coniuirit the pictour to ferue for the distructioun of the said Mr Johnne; and delyuerit the famin to Jonett Drummond, feruitour to the said Ewfame; and baid hir putt the famin vnder hir guid-faderis bed-heid, or bed-feit: And this sche did, four zeiris fyne, before the said Ewphame wes delyuerit of hir last birth.—(42.) ITEM, fylitt and conviet, for putting of mwildis, or powder maid of menis joyntis and memberis,⁴ in Natoun Kirk, vnder Ewphame M^cCalzanis bed, tene dayes befor hir birth; quhilkis mwildis sche coniuireit with hir prayaris, for staying and flaiking of grinding the tyme of hir birth.—(43.) ITEM, conviet, of the taking of the pane and seiknes of the Lady Hirnestoune, the nycht of hir delyuerie of hir birth.—(44.) ITEM, fylit, of vsing of ane prayer and coniuiracioun, quhene sche haillit seik folkis; quhairof the temour followis.

AGNES SAMPSONES prayer and conjuration for hailling of seik folkis.

ALL kindis of illis that ewir may be, In Crystis name, I coniuere ye;
I coniuere ye, baith mair and les, With all þe vertewis of þe mefs,
And rycht fa, be þe naillis fa, That naillit Jesus, and na ma;
And rycht fa, be þe famin blude, That reikit owre þe ruithfull rwid;
Furth of þe flesch and of þe bane, And in þe eird and in þe stane.

I CONIUERE ÞE, IN GODIS NAME.

¹ Dunn. ² Joints of dead men. See Articles 26, 42, and 50. ³ Advocate. See Ewphame Makcalzean's Trial. ⁴ See Articles 26 and 50.

(45.) ITEM, fylit and convict, for the charming of George Dikfounes hors and cattell fra deing, quhair of thair deid threttene ky, oxin and horsis, be the ewill meanes of Johnne M'Gill ; and sche haifing reffaut ane stane of cheis, and half ane stane of buttir, fra the said Georgis wyfe, thair deit nane thaireftir.—(46.) ITEM, fylit and convict, for the charming of the ky and oxin of Rychard Spens, fermorer for the tyme in Hirneftoune, and James Qulyte in Gosfurd ; by going vp betuene twa and twa of thame in thair byre, fraiking of thair bakis and wambes, and faying, ' Aue Maria' oft owre.—(47.) ITEM, fylit, for being att the conventioun quhair Meg Stillcart, Gray and Jonett Campbell wes with hir, and ane vthir deid fenfyne, being altogidder fyve in number ; quhilk wes att the Kirk of Garvett, be-eist Burn-fyde.—(48.) ITEM, for being att the conventioun betuix Coulland and Carbarry, quhair thair was Agnes Straittoun, togidder with the Wich of Carbarrie, and hir self ; quhair sche quarrellit hir maister the Dewill, and that, in respect sche had newir gottin guid of him, and said sche wald renunce him, bott did it nocht ; and he promesit to hir att that tyme, that na thing fould ga aganis hir.—(49.) ITEM, fylit and convict, that sche, with the guidwyffe of Spilmour-fuird, Gelis Duncan, Bessie Thomfoune, Gray-meill, Agnes Stratoune, with certane vtheris to the nowmer of nyne, convenit att Foulfruthir, and thair had thair consultatiounis, how thay mycht wrak Dauid Seytoun and his guidis ; and first, Gelis Duncan, Bessie Thomfoun and Gray-meill, haillit¹ ane coird att the brig, and the said Agnes Sampfoune, cryit, ' Haill, hola !' the end of itt wes very heavie. And quhen thay had drawin, the Dewill cam vp att the end of itt, and sperit, ' Gif thay had been all guid feruandis ?' Than thay demandit him, ' Quhat way thay mycht wrak Dauid Seytoun and his guidis ?' He gaif to thame cleir thingis, as itt wer sum peces of glasse, brayit and mixit with sum peces of coirdis, and sum vthir thingis amangis thame ; and baid lay ane threid langis the mwre, and commandit to saw the peces of glas langis the mwre, swa that quhatfumeuir come owre fyrst, fould perisch suddandle. Bot the said Dauid being stayit to cum that day, as thay thocht he fould haif done, the wrak lichtit in the hyndis gudis and his dochter, quha ewir fence hes bene heavele vexit with terrible visiounes and apparitiounes, and hir body tormentit with ane ewill spreit, quhairwith sche hes bene posselt maist petiefullie ; quhair of sche wes the cheif instrument, reffauing guid deid fra James Porteous and Rychard Crummy to the end foirfaid ; and directit Bessie Thomfoune and Anny Stratoune to the place of Foulfruthir, to craif ane lok falt owre the dur heid, quhilk gif thay had gottin, the wrakment had lichtit on Dauid Setoune and his guidis ; and becaus the falt wes refusit, the wrakment lychtit vpoune the hyndis barne and his guidis.

¹ Hawled, or pulled a rope or cord.

CONVENTIOUN at the Kirk of North Beruik.

(50.) ITEM, fylit and convict, fforfamekle as fche confest before his Maieftie, That the Dewill, in mannis liknes, mett hir going out in the feildis frome hir awin hous att Keyth, betuix fyve and fax att ewin, being hir allane ; and comandit hir to be at North Beruik kirk the nixt nycht : And fche paffit thair on horfbak, convoyit be hir guidfone, callit Johnne Couper, and lychtit att the kirk-3aird : Or a lytill before fche come to itt, about ellewin houris att ewin, thay danceit alangis the kirk-3aird ; Gelie Duncan playit to thame one a trump, Johnne Fiene, miffellit, led all the reft, the faid Agnes and hir dochter followit nixt ; befydes thir, we Cait Gray, George Moitis wyfe, Robert Greirfoune, Cathere Duncan, Bessie Wrycht, Ifobell Gylour, Johnne Ramfayes wyffe, Annie Rychardfoun, Jonett Gaw, Nicoll Murrayes wyfe tail3eour, Cristiane Caringtoun alias Lukit, Mafie Aichefoun, Marrioune Paterfoune, Alexander Quhytelaw, Marioun Nicolfoune, Marioun Bail3ie, Jonett Nicolfoune, Johnne Gray-meill, Ifobell Lauder, Helene Quhyte, Margret Thomfoune, Marioune Scheill, Helene Lauder, Archie Henillis wyfe, Duncan Buchquhannane, Marioune Congiltoun, Bessie Gwlene, Bessie Broune the fmythis wyfe, Thomas Burnhill and his wyfe, Gylbert M'Gill, Johnne M'Gill, Catherene M'Gill, with the reft of thair complices, abone ane hundreth perfounes, quhairof thair wes fax men, and all the reft wemen. The wemen maid fyrft thair homage, and nixt the men. The men wer turnit nyne tymes widderschinnes about, and the wemen fax tymes. Johnne Fien blew vp the duris, and blew in the lychtis, quhilkis wer lyke mekle blak candillis, fking round about the pulpett. The Devill start vp him felff in the pulpett, lyke ane mekle blak man, and callit ewerie man be his name, and ewerie ane anfuerit, ' Heir, Mr.' Robert Greirfoune being namit, thay ran all hirdie-girdie and wer angrie ; for it wes promefit, that he fould be callit ' Ro' the Comptroller alias Rob the Rowar,' for expreming of his name. The fyrft thing he demandit, was ' Gif thay kepit all promeis, and bene guid feruandis ?' and ' Quhat thay had done fince the laft tyme thay had convenit ?'—One his command, thay opnit vp the graves, twa within and ane without the kirk, and tuik of the jountis¹ of thair fingaris, tais and neife, and partit thame amangis thame ; and the faid Agnes Sampfoune gatt for hir pairt, ane windene fcheit and twa jountis, quhilk fche tint negligentlie. The Devill comandit thame to keip the jountis vpoun thame, quhill thay wer dry, and thame to mak ane powder of thame, to do ewill withall. Than he comandit thame to keip his commandmentis, quhilkis war, to do all the ewill thay could. Before thay departit, thay kift his erfe. He had one him ane gown and ane hatt, quhilkis wer baith

¹ See Articles 26 and 42.

blak; and thay that wer affenblit, pairt ftwid and pairt fatt. Johnne Fiene wes ewer nerrest to the Devill, att his left elbok; Gray-meill kepit the dur.¹—(51.) ITEM, fylit and convict, that quhan hamelines wes contractit betuix hir and Barbara Naipar,² in Dalkeyth, Camroune-brig-end and foche places, the said Barbara lamentit vnto hir, that a man callit Archie had done hir grit wrang; and askit hir counfall, How to be avengeit of him? Quhais anfuwer was, that ‘Sche fould mak the help sche could.’ And eftir puttione³ betuix thame, the said Agnes preparit ane bony finall pictour of 3allow walx, quhilk sche inchantit and coniuirit vnder the name of Archie, in the eist end of the dowcatt of Craigmillar, in the Dewillis name; and gaif power to the said pictour, that, as it fould melt away before the fyre, fwa fould that man, quhais pictour it was, confwme and pyne away, quhill he wer vterlie confwmit; and fwa delyuerit the said pictour vnto the said Barbara; quha said vnto hir, ‘Tak guid tent, that na thing be wrocht to stay the purpos.’—(52.) ITEM, fylit and convict, that sche inchantit be hir forcerie, ane lytill ring with ane ftane in itt, to the said Barbara Naipar; quhilk ring sche reflautit fra the said Barbara, sche my^t sche my^t⁴ allure Dame Jeane Lyounis hairt, than Lady Angus,⁵ to love and favour hir; quhilk ring, sche

¹ Sir James Melville has preserved the following account of this singular transaction, in his Memoirs (p. 395 of Edition printed for use of the Bannatyne Club). Reference may also be had to the Trial of Johnne Feane alias Cwninghame, Dec. 26, 1590, &c.—‘About this tym, many Witches wer tane in Lowdien, wha deponit of some (witchcraft?) maid be THE ERLE BODOWELL, as they allegit, against his Maiesteis persone: Quhilk commyng to the said Erlis eares, he entred in ward within the Castell of Edenbrouch, desyryng to be tryed; alleging that the Deuell, wha was a lyer from the begynning, nor yet his sworn witches, aucht not to be credited. Specially, ane renowned midwyf callit ANNY SAMPSOUN, affirmed that sche, in company with nyn vthers witches, being convenit in the nycht befyd Prestoupannes, the Deuell ther maister being present standing in the midis of thame; ther a body of wax, schaipen and maid be the said Anny Sampson, wrappit within a lynnnyng claith, was first delyuerit to the Deuell; quhilk eftir he had pronuncit his verde, delyuerit the said pictour to Anny Sampson, and sche to hir nyxt marrow, and sa enery ane round about, saying, “This is King James the Sext, ordonit to be confumet at the instance of a noble man Francis Erle Bodowell!” Eftewart again, at ther meting be nycht in the kirk of North Berick, wher the Deuell, clad in a blak gown, with a blak hat vpon his head, preachit vnto a great number of them out of the pulpit, having lyk leicht candelis rond about him. The effect of his language was till knaw, what skaith they had done, whow many they had won to ther opinion sen their last meting, what succes the melting of the pictour had taue, and sic vain toyes. And becaufe ane auld fely pure plowman, callit Grey Meill, chancit to say, that “nathing ailit the King yet, God be thankit!” the Deuell gaif him a gret blaw. Then dyuers among them enterit in a raifonyng, maruelling that all ther deuellerie culd do na harm to the King, as it did till others dyuers. The Deuell anfuwerit, “Il est vn home de Dieu.” And certanly he is a man of God, and dois na wrang wittingly, bot is inclynit to all godlynes, justice and vertu; therfor God hes preferued him in the midis of many dangers. Now efter that the Deuell had endit his admonitions, he cam down out of the pulpit, and causet all the company to com and kifs his ers, quhilk they said was cauld lyk yce; his body was hard lyk yrn, as they thoct that handled him; his faice was terrible, his noife lyk the bek of ane egle, gret boumyng eyn; his handis and legis wer berry, with clawes vpon his handis and feit lyk the griffon, and spak with a how voice!’² See her Trial, May 8, 1591. ³ Sic. Perhaps parley, deliberation. ⁴ Sic. Probably meant for, ‘that sche mycht.’ ⁵ See May 8, 1591, in Note to Barbara Naipar’s Trial. SPOTTISWOOD, p. 372, in reference to the Earl of Angus’s death, says, “Never died any nobleman with greater regrate; and so much the more was his death lamented, that it was then thought and afterwards confessed, he was fend agane with hir dochter, within ten dayes thaireftir to the said Barbara, to be vfit to the effect foirfaid.—(53.) ITEM, for ane commoun notorious Wich, and vfar of Sorcereis and Iuchantmentis, with the invocatioun of the Dewill hir maifter, abusing the pure simple people, thairwith drawing thaine fra the lening to the mercie of God, and to beleive in the support of the Dewill.

SENTENCE.¹ For the quhilk caus, the said Agnes wes ordenit be the Justice, pronunceit be the mouth of James Scheill, dempftar, to be tane to the Castell (hill) of Edinburgh, and thair bund to ane staik and wirreit, quhill sche wes deid; and thaireftir hir body to be brunt in affis: And all hir movable guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vfe, &c.

Harricide.

Apr. 30, 1591.—JOHNNE DIKSOUN, sone and apperand air to vmq^{le} Johnne Dikfoun of Belchefter.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the crewall slauchter of vmq^{le} Johnne Dikfoune of Belchefter his fader, committit in July 1588.

PERSEWAR, Mr Dauid M^cGill, Aduocat for his Majesteis intres.

VERDICT. The Affyse, be the mouth of Johnne Farguefoun of Craigdarrauch thair chancillar, ffand the said Johnne Dikfoun to be fylit and convict of the slauchter of his said vmq^{le} fader.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk cryme, the Justice, be the mouth of James Scheill, dempftar, ordanit him to be brokin vpoun the row,² at the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

taken away by Sorcery and Incantation. In the time of his sickness, when the physicians found his disease not to proceed of any naturall cause, one Richard Graham, who was executed some years after for Witchcraft, being brought to give his opinion of it, made offer to cure him, saying, as the manner of these wizards is, "That he had received wrong." But when he heard that the man was suspected to use unlawful arts, he would by no means admit him, saying, "That his life was not so dear to him, as for the continuance of it some years he would be beholden to any of the Devil's instruments; that he held his life of God, and was willing to render the same at his good pleasure, knowing he should change it for a better." Notwithstanding her improper practices, this lady escaped criminal prosecution.—HOME of Godscroft remarks: 'ANNA SIMSON, a famous Witch, is reported to have confessed at her death, that a picture of waxe was brought to her, having A. D. written on it, which, as they said to her, did signifie Archibald Davidfon; and thee, not thinking of the Earl of Angus, whose name was Archibald Douglas, and might have been called David-son, because his father's name was David, did consecrate or execrate it, after her forme; which she said, if she had knowne to have represented him, shee would not have done it for all the world.'

¹ On the margin, 'Sentence contra Agnes Sampson, convict of Witchcraft.—To be brunt in the Castell-hill, &c.'

² Wheel. This was an unusual punishment in Scotland, and was reserved for cases of the utmost atrocity. An instance of a criminal being broken upon the wheel occurs in the case of Robert Weir, for the murder of John Kincaid of Warriestoun. See Jun. 26, 1604. He was sentenced to be 'brokin vpoune ane row quhill he be deid, and to ly thairat during the space of xxiiij houris: And thairefter his body to be tane vpone the said row, and fet vp in ane publick place, betuix the place of Wareftoun and the town of Leyth; and to remane thairupoune, ay and quhill command be gevin for the buriall thairof.'

[Per M. Vmphridem Blynschelis, Justiciarium Deputatum, et Assessores M. David Carnegie de Colluthie et D. Jacobum Meluile de Halhill.]

Witchcraft.

May 8.—BARBARA NAIPAR, spous to Archibald Douglas, burges of Edinburgh, (brothir to the Laird of Carfchoggill.)

Dilatit of findrie poyntis of Wichcraft, contenit in Dittay gewin in aganis hir, be Mr David M^cGill of Cranfoun-Ryddell, aduocat to our fouerane lord.

PERSEWAR, Mr David M^cGill, Aduocat to our fouerane lord for his hienes interes.

PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannell.

Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Johnne Mofcrop; Williame, Alex^r and Andro Naipar, burgesfis of Edinburgh.

The Justice efter proponing of diuerse allegeances be the pannell aganis the Dittay and anfuers maid thairto, ordanit the said Barbara to be putt to the triell of ane Assyfe, for the crymes contenit in Dittay.

ASSISA.

Johnne Brig, Maister portar to his Maieftie,	James Galbraith, Averieman to his Maieftie,	David Fairlie, merchand burges, Patrik Sandilandis, tailzeour,
George Brig, Maister of the Ail-fellar,	David Seytoun in Fowlfruthir,	burges of Edinburgh,
Walter Bell, att the Mylne of Deane,	William Justice, merchand burges of Edinburgh,	Mr Arch ^d Wilkie, burges of Cannogait,
Hector Clawie, burges of the Cannogait,	Johnne Seytoun, Crilman to his Maieftie,	An ^d Cuthbertfoun, burges of Edt, Robert Cwninghame, burges thair,
	Joh ^e Mowbray, merchand burges,	William Harper, burges thair.

VERDICT. The Assyfe, be the mouth of Robert Cwningham chauncillar, fband, pronunceit and declarit the said Barbara Naipar, to be fylit, culpabill and convict, of the feiking of consultatioun fra Annie Sampfoune ane Wich, for the help of Dame Jeane Lyoune Lady Angus,¹ to keip hir fra wometing, quhen sche wes in bredin of barne.—ITEM, For the consulting with the said Annie Sampfoune, for causing of the said Dame Jeane Lyoune Lady Angus to love hir, and to gif hir the geir awin hir agayne, and gewing of ane ryng for this purpois to the said Anny, quhill sche had fend hir ane courchie² of linning; and swa for contravening of the Act of Parliament, in consulting with her, and feiking of hir help, being ane Wich.—ITEM, For the consulting with the said Annie Sampfoune, anent the help of hir husband Archibald Dowglas, quhen he wes in the Westland, att the raid of Dumfreis ; hir husband being for the tyme vnder feid with the hous of Cowhill.—ITEM, For consulting with Rychie Grahame, ane Nieromanfer and abufar of the people, in feiking of help att him to hir sone ; and gratifeing him thairfore, with thre elnes of bombesie and fyve quarteris of broune. This was done in Johnne Ramsfayis hous, outwith the West-poirt of Edinburgh ; incontrar the tennour of the Act of Parliament maid thairanent ; att the quhilk tyme, sche inqyrit att the said Rychie Grahame, gif the King wald cum hame or nocht.—ITEM, For the hunting¹ and consulting with ane Wich and Nieromanfear, aganis the tennour of the Act of Parliament maid thairanent.—AND Acquit the said Barbara of consulting with the said Rychie, for ane stollin dowlet² of vmq^{le} George Ker hir husband.—ITEM, (Acquit,) for consulting with Annie Sampfoune, anent the making of vmq^{le} Archibald Erll of Angus pictour, to his distruction.—ITEM, (Acquit,) for being att the conventionne of North-Berwick ; and the haill heidis of the Dittay, except the heidis quhair of sche wes convict.

¹ Dame Jeane Lyon, Lady Angus, was eldest daughter of Patrick, ninth Lord Glammiss, who married, 1st, Robert Douglas younger of Lochleven, and was by that marriage mother of William Earl of Morton; 2d, Archibald eighth Earl of Angus, anno 1586, after he had divorced his second wife, a daughter of Lord Rothes, for adultery; and 3d, Alexander Lindsay, afterwards Lord Spynie, one of the Kings favourites. The death of the Earl of Angus in 1588, 'was ascribed to Witchcraft, and one Barbary Naipar in Edinburgh, wife to Archibald Douglas of the house of Cathogle, was apprehended on suspicion.'—HOME of Godscroft. Annie Sampson was also concerned in this plot against the life of Angus. Lady Angus does not seem to have been molested for trafficking with these hags, though her great grandmother, Lady Glammiss, was brought to the stake for Witchcraft, on more slender presumptions. ² Fr. Couvrechef, kerchief, a sort of head-gear then worn.

DOME pronunceit aganis Barbara Naper.

May 10.—The quhilk day ane Lettre productit, subferyuit be the Kingis Maiestie and his hienes Chancillar, for pronunceing of the dome vnderwrittin, aganis the said Barbara ; of the quhilk Precept the tennour followis.

‘ REX.

‘ JUSTICE, Justice-Clerk and 5our deutes, We greit 5ow weill. Forfamekill as Barbara Naper, spous to Archebald Dowglas burges of Edinburgh, wes convict in ane Court of Justiciarie, haldin in our Tolbuthe of Edinburgh, pe aucht day of May instant, for pe feiking of consultatioune fra Annie Sampfoune ane Witch, &c.³ Quhairvpoune, na Dome is pronunceit aganis hir as 5it. OURE WILL is heirfoir, and we charge 5ow, that incontinent efter the sycht heirof, 5e pronounce the Dome aganis hir, for the saidis crymes, according to the lawis of our realme and Actis of Parliament : That is to say, that scho fall be tane to the Castell-hill of the burcht of Edinburgh, and thair bund to ane staik beyde the fyre and wirreit pairat quhill scho be deid ; and pairefter hir body brunt in the said fyre, and all hir movabill guidis escheted to our vse as convict of the saidis crymes. As 5e will anfuer to ws vpoune 5our office and obedience. Quhairanent thir presentis fall serve 5ow as sufficient Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, at Halyrudhous, the tent day of Majj, 1591.

(Sic subferibitur) ‘ JAMES R. J. CANCELLARIUS.’

‘ DOME’ was pronounced accordingly, ‘ be the mouth and declaratioune of William Gray, Dempstar of the said Court.’

Eftir pronunceing of the quhilk Dome, the said Barbara declarit that scho was with barne ; and thairfoir alledgeit, that na executiounne of the said Dome culd be vfit aganis hir, quhill scho was delyuer of hir birth ;¹ and thairvpoune askit infrumentis.

¹ Haunting, frequenting the society. ² Dowblet? ³ Here the verdict of the Assise is inserted.

Rapt and Ravishing — Forcible Abduction.

May 27.—ROBERT CARNECROCE callit Mehle Hob, Robert Ramfay in Cummillie, Quintene Bouftoune in Edinburgh and Johnne Wallace in the Cannogait.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the Rapt and Raveifching of Jeane Ramfay Lady Warreiftoune, aganis the Actis of Parliament and lawis of this realme maid thairanent ; committit the xix day of March lastbypast.

PERSEWARIS.

Jeane Ramfay Lady Warreiftoune, George Ramfay apperand of Dalhouffie, Mr D^a M^cGill, Aduocat.

PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannell.

Mr Johnne Cramond,	Andro Ker, brother to the Lord	Johnne Wallace of Craigie,
Johnne Home 5ounger of Coldin-	of Newbottill,	Nicoll Cairnecroce of Calfhill.
knowis,

Continued to the Justice-aire of Edinburgh and Jedburghe, respectiue, ‘ Tertio Itineris, vel xv dierum. Plegio. Nicolao Carnecroce de Calfhill, pro omnibus.’

[Mr Johnne Grahame and Mr Vmphrey Blynschelis, Justices-Deputes.]

Wilful Error on Assise — Acquitting a Witch.

Jun. 7.—JOHNE MOWBRAY, merchand burges of Edinburgh,² and eleven others, being the majority of jurors upon Barbara Naipar’s Affyse.

Dilatit of manifest and Wilfull Errour committit be thame, in acquitting of Barbara Naipar spous to Archibald Dowglas, brothir to the Laird of Carschog-gill, of the poyntis of Tressoune and Wichcraft, vnder writtin.

PERSEWAR, Mr Dauid M^cGill of Cranstoun Ryddell, Aduocat to our fouerane lord.

The samin day, the perfonnes on pannell dilatit and accusit be dittay contenit in our fouerane lordis lettres, purchest att the instance of the Adnocat aganis them, and produccit be him in Judgement ; quhairof the tennour followis.

DITTAY against the Affysors on Barbara Naipars Inquest.

JAMES, be pe grace of God, &c. That quhair, Barbara Naipar spous to Archibald Dowglas, wes vpoun pe aucht day of Maij I^m.V^c.lxxxj 5eiris, accusit in ane Court of Justiciarie, haldin in pe Tol-buith of Edinburgh, ffor feiking help, respos and consultatioune, att Rychard Grahame, notoure and knawin Nigromancear, ane commoun abufar of pe peopill, baith aganis pe will and ordinance of God and Actis of Parliament and law of þe countrey : And specialie, fforfamekill as, during our fouerane lordis being att þe Brig of Die, before the commoun bell rang, for feir the Erl Bothwell fould haif enterit in Edinburgh, scho declarit to þe said Rychard, that sche hard ane woman say, that our fouerane lord wald gett skaith be ane taid or gangrell ; and desyrit of him, quhat he thoct þairof, and that he wald schaw to hir his opinioun þairof the morne ; quha consultit with þe Spreit¹ pairament, and reslaüt be his respous, that his Maiestie wald be trublit be conventioun of wemen, throw þe dropping of ane taid : and als, Rychard lauching vpoun hir, declairit pair, att þat samyn tyme, that scho, Effie M^cCalzan and Donald Robefoune fould be thre of þe doaris of itt : quhilk quhen scho hard, scho schuik hir heid : Quhilk wes affermit be þe said Richard Grahame, in hir and the saidis persounes prefens. AND siclyke, the said Barbara wes accusit, that scho gaif hir prefens, in þe maist develifsch and trefsonabill Conventiounne, haldin be hir and hir complices in þe Devillis name, vpoun Lambmes-ewin laft, att þe New-heavin callit Aitchefounes-heavin, betnix Mussilburcht and Prestoune pannis, fin his Maiestie come furth of Denmark ; quhair war assemblit nyne principallis, to witt, Agnes Sampfoune, Jonett Straittoun, Ewfame M^cCalzeane, hir selff, Johnne Fiene, Robert Greirfoun, George Moitis wyffe in Prestoune, Margrett Thomfoun in Struiling and Donald Robefoune ; quhilkis nyne persounes, the Devill, quha wes with þame in liknes of ane blak man, thoct maist weit to do þe turne for þe quhilk thay wer convenit ; and þairfore, he fett þame nyne nerrest to him selff, in ane cumpany ; and thay, togidder with þe wyffe of Saltoune-myle and þe rest of þe inferiouris, to þe nowmer of threttie persounes, standand skairse þe lenth of ane buird frae þe foirsaid nyne persounes, in ane vthir cumpany ; Agnes Sampfoune proponit þe distructione of his hienes persoune, faying to þe Dewill, ' We haif ane turne ado, and we wald fayne be att itt gif we could, and thairfore help ws to itt.' The Dewill anfuerit, he foud do quhat he could, bott itt wald be lang to, becaufe it wald be thoirterit ;² and he promesit to hir and þame ane pictour of walx, and ordenit hir and þame to hing, roist and drop ane taid, and to lay þe droppis of þe taid, mixt with strang wafsch,³ ane edder-ikyn,⁴ (and) the thing in þe foirheid of ane new-foillit foill, in his hienes way, quhair his Maiestie wald gang inowre or outowre, or in ony passage quhair itt mycht drop vpoun his hienes heid or his body, for his hienes distructione, that ane vther mycht haif rewlit in his Maiesties place, and þe ward⁵ mycht haif gane to þe Dewill. Att þe quhilk conventiounne, his hienes name wes pronunceit in Latine; and Agnes Sampfoun wes appointit to mak þe pictour and to gif it to the Dewill to be inchantit, quibilk scho maid in deid, and gaif itt to him ; and he promesit to giff it to þe said Barbara and to Effie M^cCalzan, att þe nixt meting, to be roistit. Margarett Thomfoun wes appointit to dropp þe taid. Thair wes ane appointit to feik sum of his hienes linning clathis, to do þe turne with. And Gelie Duncan, vpoun þe systene day of December laftwas, in þe said Barbareis face and Effie M^cCalzanis, avowit on þame baith, att þe fyrst sycht, sche saw hir estir hir cuming to þe Abay, and before sche had spokin thre perfyte speicis afoir hir. affermit that Agnes Sampfoune mett with hir and þe said Effie, in þe said Barbareis awin hous ; and the said Gelie Duncan and Bessie Thomfoune being pair also, togidder with Johnne Fiene, quha said to Gelie, that he wald ga West to his fader, and eikit forder, that thair wes ane taid hingand be þe helis thre nychtis, and droppit betuix thre oister schellis and nyne stanis, fottin thre nychtis ; att quhat tyme na man luikit or suspectit to haif hard ony sic thing : As the particular Depositionnes of þe said Donald Robefoune and Jonett Straytoun, quha constantlie abaid att þe samyn, quhilk wes repetit be þe Aduocatt ; the Depositionnes of Gelie Duncane and Rychard Grahame, ewerie ane for pair awin pairtis and circumstances, being confrontit togidder, manifestit and maid playne. AND siclyke, the said Barbara wes accusit, that sche gaif hir bodelie prefens vpoun Alhallow-evin laftwas, 1590 5eiris, to þe frequent conventiounne haldin att þe Kirk of North-Berwik, quhair sche danceit endlang þe Kirk²aird, and Gelie Duncan playit on ane trump, Johnne Fiene, missellit,¹ led þe ring; Agnes Sampfoun and hir dochteris and all the rest following þe said Barbara, to þe nowmer of fevin scoir of perfounes; of þe quhilk nowmer, wes Effie M^cCalzan, Katherene Gray, Margarett Aichefoun, Donald Robefoun, Robert Greirfounne, Katherene Wallace, Meg Bogtoun, Jonett Campbell, Jonett Logane, Johnne Gordoun alias Gray-meill, the portaris wyffe of Seytounne, Jonett Straytoun, Bessie Thomfounne, Catherene Duncane, Bessie Wrycht, Isobell Gylloun, Johnne Ramfayes wyffe, Anny Rychefoun, Jonett Gall, Nicoll Murrayes wyffe, tailzeour, Cristian Keringtounne alias Likkitt, Mafie Aichefounne, Alexander Quhytelaw, Marioun Nicolfoun, Marioun Bailzie, Jonett Nicolfoun, Isobell Lauder, Helene Quhyte, Margreth Thomfounne, Marioune Schaw, Helene Lauder, Malie Geddie, Duncan Buehquhannane, Marioun Congiltoun, Bessie Cowane, Bessie Broune, the smythis wyffe, Thomas Bronnhill and his wyfe, Gilbert M^cGill, Johnne and Catherene M Gillis, with diuerse vtheris, to þe nowmer aboue writtin: Att þe quhilk place and tyme, the wemene maid fyrst þair homage, and wer turnit sax tymes widderfounes about; Johnne Fyeu blew vp þe Kirk durris, and blew in þe lychtis, quhilkis wer lyke mekill blak cændillis, haldin in ane auld mannis hand, round about þe pulpett. And þe Dewill start vp in þe pulpett, lyke ane mekill blak man, with ane blak baird stikand out lyke ane gettis² baird; and ane hie ribbit neife, falland down fcharp lyke the beik of ane halk; with ane lang rumpill; eled in ane blak tatie gounne; and ane ewill favorit scull bonnett³ on his heid; haifand ane blak buik in his hand, callit on ewerie ane of þame, desyryng þame all to be guid ferwandis to him, and he fould be ane guid maifter to þame, and thay fould haif aneweb and newer want. For Robert Greirfoun and Johnne Fien (thay) stuid on his left hand; and the said Robert ffand grit fault with the Dewill, and cryit out, that all quhilkis wer besyd mycht heir, becaus his hienes pictour wes nocht gewin þame, as wes promefit; the said Effie M^cCalzan remembrand and bidand þe said Robert Greirfoun to speir for þe pictour, meaning his Maiesteis pictour, quhill fould haif bene roifit. Robert Greirfoun said thir wordis, ‘Quhair is the thing ze promefit?’ meaning þe pictour of walx, dewyfit for roifiting and vndoing his hines perfounne, quhilk Agnes Sampfounne gaif to him; and Robert cryit to ‘haif þe turne done;’ zit his hienes name wes nocht nameit, quhill⁴ thay that wer wemen nameit him; craifand in playne termes his hienes pictour. Bot he anfuerit, ‘It fould be gottin þe nixt meitting, and he wald hald þe nixt assemblic for þat caus the sone: It was nocht reddie at þat tyme.’ Robert Greirfounne anfuerit, ‘ze promefit twyis and begylit ws.’ And foure honest-like wemene wer very ernist and intant to haif itt: And the said Barbara and Effie M^cCalzane gatt þan ane promeis of þe Dewill, that his hienes pictour fould be gottin to þame twa, and that rycht sone: And þis mater of his hienes pictour wes þe caus of þat assemblic. In takin qubairrof, the Dewill commandit þe said Barbara and all her cumpany, to keip his commandementis; quhilk wer, to do all the ewill thay could: Also, thair wes þane thre deid corps tane vp and juntit; the naillis and juntis wer pairtit amangis þame. The Dewill commandit þame to keip þe juntis vpoun þame, quhill the famin dryit; and than to mak powder pairrof, to do ewill with. Eftir þe quhilk, thair homage being made, as the falloun is, in kissing of þe Devillis ers, thay pairtit for þat tyme, without ony mair done; except, that Effie M^cCalzane, Robert Greirfounne and the said Barbara, hapnit to be nameit þair; quhilk offendit all þe cumpany: And that thay fould nocht haif bene nameit with þair awin names; Robert Greirfoun, to haif bene callit Rob the rowar; Effie to be callit Cane; and the said Barbara, to be callit Naip. And trew this is, and provin be Donald Robefoun, Jonett Straittounne, Gelie Duncan and Bessie Thomfounne, quha ar zit on lyffe. QUHILK, being putt to þe knowlege of ane Inqueist; thay nochtwithstanding, vpoun þe nynt day of þe month and zeir of God foirsaid, Clengeit and Aequit, be favour and partial meanis, the said Barbara Naipare. That, forsamekill as, during his Maiesteis being att þe Brig of Die, the day before þe common bell rang, for feir the Erl Bothuell fould haif enterit in Edinburgh, sche declarit to þe said

¹ Home of Godseroft says, that ‘ nobody infisting in the persute of her, the was set at libertie.’

² It may be noticed, that the minority of this ‘ Affyse’ consisted of, the ‘ Maister of the Ail-fellar,’ the ‘ Crilman to his Maiestie,’ and David Seytoun in Fowlstruthir, probably his brother or relation.

¹ Par excellence, the Devil. ² Thwarted, frustrated ³ Stale urine. ⁴ The skin of an adder. ⁵ For ward, world ; perhaps it may be used in the literal sense, ward, rule, or government.

¹ Disguised, muffled, masked. ² Goat's. ³ An ill-faured, or ugly sort of skull-cap; a dress which fitted closely to the shape of the head, chiefly worn by judges and lawyers. ⁴ Until.

Rychard Grahame, that sche hard ane woman fay, that þe King wald get skaith be ane taid or gangrell, &c.¹ Qubairthrow thay, and ewerie ane of þame, could pretend na ignorance; att þe leift, nethir of law nor conscience could haif acquit hir pairf; the famin being verifeit, be þe constant assertioun and Depositoun of ane pairt of þe witnessis being present in Judgement for þe tyme, as is aboue writtin, and be þe Depositionis of þe vthir pairt produceit: And pairfore, did manifestlie and wilfullie err, contrar þe lawis and prattik of þe realme; Incurrand pairby the horribill cryme of Periurie, et penam temere jurantium super Affifan.

And thay, being requyrit be the Justice, HIS MAIESTIE being sittand in Judgement, quhidder thay wald abyde the tryell of the law and of ane Assyse for the saidis crymes, or cum in will thairfore? Eftir lang deliberatioun and consultatioun, thay refuset to abyde the tryell of ane Assyse thairfore; bot come simpliciter in his hienes will, for Ignorant errorr committet be thame, in acquyting of the said Barbara, of the crymes and poyntis of Dittay aboue herfit.

SENTENCE. Quhilk will, HIS MAIESTIE publictlic, in Judgement, in prefens of his hienes Lordis of Secreit Counfall, declarit to be, That he, understanding that it wes nocht Wilfull Errorr thay committit, in acquyting in maner foirsaid; and thairfore Ordenit, that the foirsaidis perfounes and ilk ane of thame falbe Affoilzeit fra all penalties in body, guidis or fame, in tyme cuming, Vpoune the declaratioune of the quhilk will, thay and ilk ane of thame askit act and instrument.

Treasonably Conspiring against his Majesty's life—Witchcraft— Sorcery—Murder, &c.

Jun. 9.—EWFAME MAKCALZANE,² (of Cliftounhall,) spous to Patrik Makcalzane alias Moscrop.

[EWFAME MAKCALZANE, the subject of the following remarkable Trial, was only daughter and heiress of Mr Thomas Makecalzane Lord Cliftounhall, one of the Senators of the College of Justice; a person distinguished alike for his general erudition and attainments, by the depth of his legal knowledge, and by his talents as a statesman. As this family is now extinct, and considerable curiosity must naturally be felt regarding the parentage of so extraordinary a character as Effy Makcalzane, the Editor has made some investigation in the public Records, where alone any traces are now to be found; and he hopes that the following brief notices will prove not unacceptable.

Mr Thomas Makecalzane had early followed the profession of the Law, and had, before the year 1556, entered as an Advocat. On Nov. 10, 1556, through the powerful interference of Mary of Guise, Queen Regent, the Magistrates and Town Council of Edinburgh were constrained to deprive him of his office of Assessor for the City, 'for evill, heich and vnplefand langage to hir grace,' in the discharge of his official duties; most probably, for the independent manner in which he had pleaded the rights of 'the Good Town. Nothing daunted, the Assessor protested against this decree, and, after the lapse of a few months, was restored, by command of the Queen Regent, Jun. 5, 1557.³ He was

¹ Here the evidence is recapitulated ² Called Effy (the familiar abbreviation for Euphemia), by Sir James Melville in his Memoirs, and by other contemporary writers. ³ Liber Statutorum Burgi de Edinburgh.

‘infett’ in the lands of Cliftonhall, anno 1557, when he is designed, ‘M. Thomas Macalzeane, advocatus, burgen. de Edinburge.’¹ ‘Maifter Thomas Macalzeane of Cliftounhall’ was appointed one of the Ordinary Lords of Session, under the style of Lord Cliftounhall, Oct. 20, 1570, on the demise of Henry Balnavis, Lord Hallhill. He obtained Letters of Remission, (apud Leith, May 2, 1572,) for his treasonably assisting James late Earl of Arran, and George late Earl of Huntlie, in detaining the burgh of Edinburgh against his Majesty. On Jul. 25, 1578, he was nominated by the Estates of Parliament to be one of the Commissioners ‘to treat vpon the Lawes.’ And on the same day he was appointed one of the Commissioners, with the Earls of Buchan and Ruthven, &c., to ‘decyde in ane caus betuix the Gordounis and the Forbefess’—a deadly feud then subsisting between these families and their retainers. ‘Honorabilis vir Magister Thomas Macalzeane de Cliftounhall, unns Senatorum Collegij Justicie,’ Dec. 1, 1578, constituted his only lawful daughter Euphenia Macalzeane his executrix and his assignee, to redeem the lands of Cliftounhall from Henry Macalzeane, advocate.² Dec. 4, 1584, Mr Henry Makealzeane, advocate, is ‘retoured’ as heir to William his brother, in the ten merk land of the town and lands of Carkettle, in the barony of Prestoun and shire of Edinburgh. ‘The 24 of Junij (1591), Euphane M^cKalzen ves brunt for Vithecrafte,’³—‘as a notorious Vitche.’⁴

At what date Lord Cliftounhall died, the Editor has not been enabled to determine precisely,⁵ and the investigation might occupy much more time than he can at present command, or than the importance of the enquiry demands; but, as his lordship was succeeded in his office of an Ordinary Lord of Session by John Lindsay, parson of Menmure, Master of the Metals, &c., who took his seat as a Judge, Jul. 5, 1581, he had probably died during the preceding month.

The sentence against Ewfame of course carried along with it a forfeiture of her Estates of Cliftounhall, &c. as well as her movable effects, on account of the treason of which she had been found guilty. She left three daughters⁶ by her marriage with Patrik Makealzeane, alias Moscrop, who was son and heir-apparent of Mr John Moscrop, advocate,⁷ a person of considerable eminence in his profession. Her husband took the name of Makealzeane, at the request probably of his father-in-law, or in compliance with the entail of the estate. These ladies, Martha, spouse of Mr David Ogilbie, Elizabeth, and Ewphame, spouse of Henry Sinclair of Qubitekirk, were formally Rehabilitated by Act of Parliament, his Majesty being ‘tuichit in honour and conscience,⁸ and now being of mynd that the faid foirfaltour and convictioun fuld onnawysis hurt or prejuge hir posteritie.’ The Act of Rehabilitation, dated Jun. 5, 1592,⁹ accordingly restored them to the estates belonging to their deceased mother and grandfather, burdened with a payment of 5000 merks to Patrik Makalzeane their father, ‘payit and delyuerit be the faid Patrik to our faid fouerane lord and his hienes donatour, for the Gift of Forfaltour of the faid vmq^{le} Ewfame.’ The King, however, clogged this act of grace with a very unpalatable reservation; for the lands of Cliftounhall were expressly reserved to his favourite, Sir James Sandelandis of Slamanno, knight, and to his heirs, to whom his Majesty had previously gifted that valuable property; and all action, which the deceased had against Mr Henry Macalzeane for the redemption thereof. These heiresses-portioners therefore could reap but little benefit from the succession; and the estate having passed to the family of Sandilands, and no male heirs existing, the name of Makcalzane of Cliftonhall became extinct. On Sep. 25, 1596, Ewfame the daughter was retoured, as heiress-portioner to her deceased grandfather, in certane small annualrents, payable out of some tenements in Edinburgh.

¹ Protocol-book of James Harlaw, Notar Public, from 1549 to 1585, in the General Register House. It was at this period by no means unusual for Advocates, Writers to his Majesty's Signet, and Notaries, to become burgesses of Edinburgh; but whether this was a necessary step, towards the exercise of their profession within the burgh, the Editor has not been able to determine. He is rather inclined to think it was a voluntary act; and that the reason of such persons purchasing the freedom of the burgh, was, that they might confer a right upon their descendants to become burgesses upon easier terms, and to obtain for them-elves other civic privileges. ² Probably his brother. See Harlaw's Protocoll. ³ Burrell's Diary, p. 26. ⁴ Marjoribank's Annals, p. 55. ⁵ He ‘died in the year 1581.’ Law's Memorials, p. 33. ⁶ Besides these daughters who survived her, she had at least two sons; ‘Thomas,’ mentioned at the commencement of the Trial, and another son, mentioned in article 18 of the Dittay. The means she used for ‘helping’ them, probably cut them off in early infancy. ⁷ On Dec. 2, 1573, Mr Johnne Moscrop, advocat, Katharine Iytil his spouse, and Patrik Moscrop (alias Makalzeane), his son and heir-apparent, got Remission for their treasonably being present at the field of Langside, May 13, 1563. ⁸ No wonder! ⁹ Acta Parl. 1592, cap. 132, fol. 608.

That a person, moving in the rank of society which Ewfame Makcalzane occupied, should have leagued with the obscure and profligate wretches who figure in the Trials for Witchcraft at this period, for the destruction of her sovereign, and that too by such unlikely and absurd means, seems irreconcilable with any ideas of sanity which can now be formed. It is evident, however, that she believed herself, as well as her associates, to be possessed of supernatural powers; and that she had the firmest reliance in infernal agency. The only reason which can be assigned for such frantic and detestable conduct seems to be, that she was devoted to the ancient Roman Catholic faith, and thus bearing personal hatred against the King and the Reformed Religion; she was besides a zealous partisan of Bothwell, and proved herself capable of using every means which he might suggest, or which she herself perversely considered to be most calculated to advance his interests and the predominance of her party. It is worthy of remark, that three days before Ewfame's cremation, Bothwell 'brak out of the Castell of Edinburghe, quha had beine ther, in prisone, some 20 dayis befor, for allegit Vitchcraft and consulting with Vitches, especially vith ane Richard Grahame, to conspyre the Kingis death; and upone the 25 of Junij,¹ the said Earle Bothuell wes forfaitted, and intimation made therof, by opin proclamation at the croffe of Edinburghe.² It is known that Bothwell had much traffick with Witches, and was himself esteemed an expert Necromancer.³]

Dilatit of certane tressonabill Conspiraceis interpryfit be Wichcraft, to haif destruytoure fouerane lordis perfoone, and bereft his Maiestie of his lyffe be that schameful and extraordinar meanis: And being airt and pairt thairof, vpoun the counfall (and) consultatioun with diuerse vtheris Wichis of hir societie: And diuers vtheris crymes of Wichcraft committit be hir, att lenth specifit in the Dittay maid thairvpoune.

PERSEWAR.

Mr David McGill of Cranfoun-Ryddell, Aduocat to our fouerane lord (for his hienes interest.) PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannel, Mr Johnne Moscrop, Mr David Ogilvie, Robert Ker in Duddingstoune, Henry Nisbet, burges of Edinburghe, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Johnne Skene, Aduocatis.

Comperit the said Mr David McGill, Aduocatt, and produceit ane Dittay, maid att lenth, aganis the said Ewfame; and contractit in thir heidis vnderwrittin, to be putt to the knowlege of ane Assyse: Quhairof the tennour followis.

DITTAY *against Ewfame Mackalzane.*⁴

EWFAME M^CALZANE, Ye ar indytit and accusit, (1.) For airt and pairt of the bewiching of Michell Marioribankis, be strykeing of him be Wichcraft, with ane extraordinar difeis, be taking of the power and habilitie of his rycht fyde, arme and leg fra him; be youre self, and your complices be your moyane; committit in Apryle 1577.—(2.) ITEM, Indytit, for consulting with Catherene

¹ The day of Ewfame's execution. ² Birrell's Diary, p. 25. ³ Law's Memorials, p. xliii. Spotswood, &c. ⁴ This is stated to be only an abstract of the Dittay, and 'contractit in thir heidis.'

Campbell, ane Ersch womane, knawin to be ane notorious Wich; and intertimeing hir in your awin hous and Barbara Touris hous, feiking help of hir to youre bairnis; speciallic to help youre sone Thomas, be youre airt; to quhome ye send his fark to that effect, with Helene Inglis your seruand, and twa xxx f. pecis, for hir help.—(3.) ITEM, For consulting with the said Catherene, anent the bewiching and slauchter of Patrik Moscrop, your husband, quhairby ye mycht gett ane vtheir guidman; and consulting with hir, quhome ye fould marie.—(4.) ITEM, Indytit, of airt and pairt of the traffiking with Agnes Somervall, spous to Gilbert Anderfone in Dunfermling, ane commoune trafficquar with Wichis; inquiring of hir, ‘Gif sche knew ony wittie or skilfull wemene in the countrey, that will owthir caus your husband love yow, or ellis gett your will of him;’ to quhome ye gaif twa fair cleane farkis of your husbandis, to be careit owre the walter,¹ to be inchantit be thame, att the same tyme your husband fell in feiknes. Quhilkis farkis, sche tuik with hir to that effect; and brocht hame agane be hir, inchantit: And thairby, feiking help, respons and consultatioune of Wichis, to the distructioun of your spous, be Wichcraft.—(5.) ITEM, Indytit, of airt and pairt of the poyfouning of the said Patrik Moscrop, your husband, vpoun deidlie malice contractit aganis him, the fyrst yeir of your mariage; be gewing to him of poyfoun, and cuist the rest thairof in the clofett; quhairby his face, nek, handis and hail body, brak out in reid spottis: Quhilk poyfoun wes expellit be his youth. And feing the same twke na effect, as ye dewyfit, ye still continewand in your vndewtifull behaviour and impatience to see him on lyffe, quhom ye preiffit be all meanis possibill to cutt away; the said Patrik being werreit of his lyffe, be the daylie truble he had in youre company, wes compellit, for faultie of his lyffe, to expone him selff to the seas, and to pas to ffrance in youre default. Lyke as, ye, to be quyte of him, sparit nocht, in all pairtis, to feik ane hundreth crownis, for his furnitour² away; and spairit nocht speik, that your guidman wes passand to France, and baid ‘the ffeind ga with him!’—(6.) ITEM, Indytit and accusit, that inereffing in youre dewelische consultatioune with Wichis, to the wrak and distructioun of the said Patrik your husband, and efter he had returnit out of France, ye, still inying his health, and feiking to distroy him be Wichcraft foirfaid; ye send your said husbandis dowblett, with Josias Coupar your seruand, airtie in the morning, to Catherene Campbell the Wich-wyffe, duelland in the Cannogait; quhilk dowblett the said Wich sprinklit with blude, and inchantit it with vtheris forcereis, and randerit itt agane to the said Josias your seruand; quhilk be brocht hame, afoir his maisteris ryfing: Eftir the quhilk, your husband contractit ane heaue diseis, and pynit thairin

¹ Water, a word frequently used in MSS. of this period.

² His outfit and furnishing for his voyage.

niony monethis; quhilk wes na naturall feiknes, as wes testifeit and declarit be the cherurgeanis. Lyke as, the said consultatioun wes reveillit thaireftir, be the said Josias your feruand, for the discharge of his conscience; and he, for that caus, past aff the countrey to Dankin.—(7.) ITEM, Indytit, that to mak hir (yow) perfyte and weill skillit in the said airt of Wichcraft, sche (ye) causit ane vther Wich, quha duelt in Sanct-Ninianis-raw, inaugwrat yow in the said craft, with the girth of ane grit bikar, turnand the same oft owre your heid and nek, and oftymes round about your heid; quhilk wes reveillit be Marioune Love, dochter to Catherene Lyell younger, to the said Katherene hir moder.—(8.) ITEM, Ye ar indytit, that ye, haifing confaut ane deidlie malice aganis the said Catherene and Walter Scott hir spous, for declaratioun of youre inawgwring foir-faid, sene and perfavit be the said Marioune Love; ye, be youre airt of Sorcerie and Wichcraft, bewiehit hir and hir husband, in thair bodeis, guidis and geir: And swa, for airt and pairt of bewiching of the said Catherene Lyell and Walter Scott, in thair bodeis, gudis and geir, to thair grit skaith and heirschip.—(9.) ITEM, Indytit, of bewiching, be your airt of Sorcerie, of vni^{le} Johnne Yonstoune, sone to Williame Yonstoune, your husbandis sifter sone, being ane young man of xvij yeiris of aige; be the quhilk Wichcraft he deit: And swa, for airt and pairt of the crewall Slauchter and Murthour of him; only, for reveilling of your vudewtifull behaviour to youre husband, he being familiar in your hous; as the takinnis contenit in the said Dittay att mair lenth verifeis.—(10.) ITEM, Indytit, that ye, haifing confaut ane deidlie malice aganis Jonet Cokburne, dochter to Johnne Cokburne, maltman in Hadingtoun, for the doun-bringing of your purs, belt, glas and claithis, out of the chalmer, and haifing laid down the same vpoun the buird,¹ your husband tuik vp your said purs, and wald haif opuit itt; but opuit it nocht: For the quhilk, ye said to the said Jonett, ‘Weill, madin, haif ze lattin pis be done? ze sall repent itt fra zoure hairt.’ Catherene Carrutheris alias callit Erisch Jonett and ye, laid in hir way and passage, sic inchantit mwildis² and powder, that in schort space thaireftir, thair came ane swarff³ owre hir hairt, and sic ane flasing⁴ in hir breist, as itt had bene sum quick thing,⁵ peching and panting, heaving vp hir body; quhair-with, sche is diseast half ane hour, ewerie tyme sche takis itt; oft in the nycht and oft in the day; continewing sumtymes half ane day; haifing mair strenth nor hir accustummit maner, in tyme of hir health: And swa, for laying of muldis and powder be Wichcraft and Inchantment, in the said Jonett Cokburnis gait; be the quhilk, sche confaut ane feiknes, and wes mekill trublit thairwith, and is yit, be your airt and Wichcraft —(11.) ITEM, For the crewall Slauchter and distruction of vmq^{lc} Ewfame Punfray be Wichcraft.—(12.) ITEM, For al-lwring, be your develifche Wichcraft, Inchantment and Incantatioun, of Josefph Dowglas of Punfraftoune, to love yow; vnder culloure and cloik (of) mariage with youre dochter; and for the distruction of youre husband: In taikin quhair-of, ye gaif him ane craig cheinzie,¹ twa belt cheinzeis, ane ring, ane emirent² and vtheris your jewellis.—(13.) ITEM, Indytit, for the consulting with Jonett Cwninghame in the Cannogait, als callit Lady Bothwell, ane auld indytit Wich of the fynest champ, 18 zeiris fyne or thairby, for to haif poyfonit Josefph Dowglas of Punfraftoune, and that be ane potioun of composit walter, quhilk ye fend Johme Tweddall youre feruand for, to be brocht vp to Barbara Toureis hous, in ane chopene stoup; quhilk wes refflaut be him, and delyuerit to the said Barbara.—(14.) ITEM, Indytit and accufit, for sending with Jonett Drummond your feruand, certane Wichcraft, of deliberat mynd to haif bewichit Marie Sandelandis, ane madin, att that tyme vnder promeis of mariage to Josefph Dowglas of Punfraftoune, sche being thane in the Braidfchaw; and to diffwad hir, fyrft, fra the said promeis of mariage of the said Josefph, becaus he had gewin his promeis and faith to ane vthir gentilwoman; and that he had the glengore³ him felf.—(15.) ITEM, Indytit, that be youre airt of Wichcraft, ye travellit to stay and imped⁴ the mariage of the Laird of Punfraftoune with Marie Sandelandis; and to that effect, directit Jonett Drummond, sumtyme youre nwrice, with sum of youre charmes and inchantmentis, to offend the persoun of the said Marie; quhairby, the said mariage mycht haif bene stayit.—(16.) ITEM, Indytit, of the feiking help, consultatioun and respous, fra Annys Sampfoun, as ane Wich, and knawin to be ane notorious Wich, for recovering of your jewellis and eidentis agane, fra the Laird of Punfraftoune; and be frequent sending of Jonett Drummond, your sumtyme nurrice, to the said Annys, to that effect, aboue sewin tymes; and in the ane of the tymes, sche rasit the Spreit, be voce and nocht bodellie; quha declarit, that the famin fould be delyuerit to the said Jonett Drummond, thair messinger fend to feik the respous.—(17.) ITEM, Indytit, of the bewiching of twa of the Laird of Punfraftounis bairnis, his eldest sone and doch-ter, to the deid.—(18.) ITEM, Indytit, of consulting and feiking help att the said Annys Sampfoune, ane notorious Wich, for relief of your payne in the tyme of the birth of youre twa fonnies; and refflaung fra hir to that effect, ane boird-flane,⁵ to be layit vnder the bowfter, putt vnder your heid, Inchantit mwildis and powder put in ane peice paipar, to be vfit and rowit in your hair; and att the tyme of your drowis,⁶ your guidmannis fark to be presentlie tane of him,

¹ Table. ² Earth taken from dead men's graves, &c. See Jan. 27, 1590. ³ Swooning. ⁴ Palpitation of the heart. ⁵ Live.

¹ Neck chain. ² Emerald. ³ Lues venerea. ⁴ Hindered, impeded. ⁵ Bored stone, probably a Fairy-stone,—a stone having a natural hole, formed by the action of water, &c. ⁶ Birth-pangs or throes.

and laid woumplit¹ vnder your bedfeit. The quhilk being praktesit be yow, as ye had refflaut the famin fra the said Annie, and informatioun of the vse thair-of; your seiknes wes cassin of yow, vnnaturallie, in the birth of youre fyrst sone, vpoune ane dog; quhilk ranne away and wes newir sene agane: And in the birth of your last sone, the same prakteis foirsaid wes vsit, and your naturall and kindlie payne vnnaturallie cassin of yow, vpoun the wantoune catt in the hous; quhilk lyke wyis, wes newir sene thaireftir.—(19.) ITEM, Indytit, for airt and pairt of the consulting with the said Annie Sampson, for the distroying of Mr Johnne Moscrop, your fader-in-law, be Wichcraft, about foure yeiris syne, or thairby: And to this effect, sending with Jonett Drummond your seruand, ane pictoure of walx, send in ane buist,² inclofit within ane guise,³ to the said Anny; and ane seruiett with heif, woimplit about the guise; quhilk pictour the said Annie gaif to the Dewill to be inchantit; and the famin being inchantit be him, wes send hame agane to yow with the said Jonett Drummond, for doing of the turne, as the said Annie declarit that itt sould serue.—(20.) ITEM, Indytit, for your deuilisch consultatioun with Agnes Sampson, pairtlye be your self, and pairtlye be the trafquicking of your auld agent Jonet Drummond, how to be re-vangeit vpoun Mr Johnne M^cGillis wyffe; and resolutioun being tane with Agnes Sampson, ane notoure Witch, sche send yow sum Wichcraft and Inchantments with the said Jonett Drummond, quhilk ye caist in att Mr Johnne M^cGillis windok; quhilk wes ane bairnis aiproune and halfclait,⁴ with sum thing bund thairin: And this mater being reveillit be vtheris, your seruandis, ye causit the said Jonett Drummond to deny the same, quhen itt wes laid to hir charge: Lyke as, sche hes confessit, that sche wes daylie and nychtlye trublit with terribill spectacles and visioumis; as, scho vissible, in ane chalmer flwre of youris, att twa eftir none, saw ane naikit man stand in the middis of the said chalmer, with ane quhyte scheit about him: As also, Jonett Aitcheson youre seruand, being send att twell houris att ewin to draw ane drink, saw lykewyis ane naikit man behind hir, with ane fark; the flewis of the ferk vpoun his leggis, and the taill about his heid; quhilk terrifeit hir: Quhilk visioumis man haif procedit of your dewilisch airt of Wichcraft: As also, the said Jonett Aitcheson wes trublit with hurchoumis.⁵ Quhilk Wichcraft foirsaid, wes cassin in agane, att the said Mr Johnne M^cGillis windok; and being fund and opuit out, kythit to be ane pictour of clay, and ane portrat of Elizabeth Home, spous to the said Mr Johnne, sewitt in ane windeine scheit; about the quhilk wes ane auld blak much⁶ woimplit, thairin inclofit fyve clewis of findrie culloures of worfett, as of

¹ Folded up. ² Box, chest. ³ Goose. An acceptable present, besides affording concealment from those less knowing than Anny. ⁴ A child's apron or pincloth, and neck-cloth. ⁵ Urchions, hedgehogs, Fr. hérisson; perhaps the term is used for imps of the Devil. ⁶ Mutch or cap, folded up.

blak, reid, orange, yallow and blew. Quhilkis Sorceries, Agnes Sampfoun confeffit ye maid youre felff. As alfo, the faid Agnes Sampfoune confeffit, that Jonet Drummond brocht to her the fame auld much, quhilk fcho inchantit ; lyke as alfo, the faid Jonet Drummond hes confeffit the careing¹ thairof to the faid Agnes.—(21.) ITEM, For making of ane pictour of flour and clay, for bewiching of Elizabeth Home fpoufe to Mr Johnnie M^cGill, and caufing caft the fame in att the faid Mr Johnneis kiching windok for that effect.—(22.) ITEM, Indytit, for airt and pairt of the flauchter and diftrictioun, be your devilifch craft of Wicheraft and Inchantment, of Liliis M^cCalzean, dochter to Mr Henry M^cCalzan,² ane barne of fex yeir auld ; and that be rubbing of hir face with youre naipkin, vpoune ane Soneday eftir noue ; quhen fche fell vpoune the calfey att youre cloife heid ; quhairby fche deit.—(23.) ITEM, Indytit and accufit, of the conventicle had att North-Berwik Kirk, tuentie dayes before Michelmes, 1590 ; and thair inqyryng for the Kingis pictour, gewin be Annie Sampfoun to the Dewill, to be inchantit, for the treflonabill diftrictioun of the King.—(24.) ITEM, Indytit, for being att the Conventioun haldin at the New-heavin callit the Fayrie-boillis, att Lanbmes laftwes, to the effect immediatlie aboue writtin.—(25.) ITEM, Indytit and accufit, for ane Conventioun haldin be yow and vtheris notorious Wichis, youre affociattis, att the Brvme-boillis ; quhair ye and thay tuik the fea, Robert Greirfoun being youre admerall and Maifter-manne, paff owre the fea in riddillis to ane fchip, quhair ye enterit with the Dewill, your maifter, thairin ; quhan, eftir ye had eittin and drukkin, ye caift owr ane blak dog that fkipplit vnder the fchip, and thairby, ye hewing the Dewill your maifter thairin, quha drownit the fchip be tumbling : Quhairby, the Quene wes putt bak be ftorme.—(26.) ITEM, Indytit, for confulting with the faid Annie Sampfoune, Robert Greirfoune and diuers vtheris Wichis, for the treflonabill ftaying of the Quenis hame-cuning, be ftorme and wind ; and rafing of ftorme, to that effect ; or ellis to haif drownit hir Maieftie and hir cumpany, be coniuring of cattis and cafting of thame in the fee, at Leith, and the bak of Robert Greirfounnis hous.—(27.) ITEM, Indytit, for airt and pairt of the diftrictioun of ane boit, betuix Leith and Kinghorne, and threfcoir of perfounes thairin, be your conventiounne be vthir Wichis, and be your and thair Wicheraft ; as is notour.—(28.) ITEM, For ane commoune Wielh.

THE quhilk day, the faid Dittay being red to the faid Ewfame in judgement, as itt wes produceit att lenth be the Advocatt, and drawin fummariie in heidis, as is aboue mentionatt : Eftir diuerfe obijectiounis maid aganis the famin be hir and hir preloquitouris, and diuerfe proteftatiounis maid in hir name, and an-fueris maid thairto be the Aduocat ;¹ the Justice fband, be Interloquitour, that the saidis heidis fould be putt to the knowlege of ane Assyse : And the Assyse being chofin, that sche mycht propone hir defenffis to the said Assyse.

¹ Carrying. ² Advocate.

ASSISA.

James Johnstoune of Elphin- stoune,	James Inglis, merchant burges of Edinburghe,	James Somervall of Humbie, Alexander Fairlie of Braid,
. Anstruthir, younger of that ilk,	James Elphinstoune in Bogie, Clemmett Kincaid of the Coittis, Grahame of Knokdolian, Dauid Prestoun of Craigmiller,
Mr Williame Leslie of Cumlie,	George Mowbray of Seyfeild, Balfoure of Bandone,
Johnne Logane, portioner of Couftoune,	Johnne Drummond of Slipper- feild,	Dauid Balfour of Bello.

INTERLOCUTOR. The Justice-deputis, be resfoun of diuerse objectiounes maid be the pannell, aganis the poyntis of Dittay aboue writtin, to the Assyse ; and anfuers maid thairto be the Aduocat ; and that they continewit quhill fewin houris att ewin : Continewit the mater to the morne, in the same forme, force and effect as it wes thane : And caufit incarcerat the said Ewfame ; and warne the Assyse to be present the morne att aucht houris in the morning, ilk perfoun vnder the pane of ane hundreth poundis.

(Jun. 10.)—INTERLOCUTOR. The Justice, be resfoune 3it of the objectiounis maid be the pannell aganis the poyntis of Dittay, and the Depofitiounis of findrie perfounes maid for vereficatioun thairof, and anfuers maid thairto ; thay haifing continewit quhill fewin houris att ewin : Continewit the said mater, in same forme, force and effect as is now ; and imprefonit the said Ewfame quhill the morne ; and wairnit the perfounes of Assyse to compeir the morne, ilk perfoun vnder the pane of ane hundreth poundis.

(Jun. 11.)—THE famin day, eftir proponing of the hail obiectiounis be the pannell aganis the Dittay, and vereficatiounis thairof, and anfuers maid thairto be the Aduocatt ; the above perfounes, being chofin, fivorne and admittit, thay removit altogiddir furth of Court to the Counfal-hous ; quhair thay remanit all that nycht ; and eftir the chesing of James Johnstoune of Elphinstoune Chancillar of the said Assyse, thay votit and resfonit vpoune the poyntis of the said Dittay ; and continewit pronunceing of thair delyuerance quhill the morne.

ARTICLES of CONVICTIOUNE and VERDICT of the Assyse.

(Jun. 12.)—THE quhill perfounes of Assyse, eftir lang deliberatioun and continewance in the Counfal-hous, vpoune the resfoning and voting vpoune the poyntis of the said Ewfame M^cCal3an

¹ It is perhaps to be regretted that no notice is preserved in the Record, of the long pleadings which occupied the whole of this and the two following days. Neither has any record been kept of the evidence adduced. Should the Depositions of the witnesses be found amongst the loose papers belonging to the Court, (which are very numerous, and have never been arranged or examined,) they shall be given in the Appendix.

Dittay; being throwehlie auifit thairwith, re-enterit agane in Court, and thair, be the mouth of the said James Johnstoun of Elphinstoune chancillar, stand, pronunceit and declarit the said Ewfame, (1.) To be Fylit, culpable and convict, of consulting with Catherene Campbell, ane Ersch woman with ane fallin neife, duelland for ane lang space in the Cannogait heid, ane notorious Wich; and intertinninge the said Catherene in hir awin hous, and in the hous of Barbara Toures, the relict of vinq^{le} James Harlaw,¹ feiking help of hir to hir bairnis; speciallie to Thomas hir sone, to quhome sche fend his said airt.—(2.) ITEM, of the bewiching, be hir airt of Sorcerie, of Johnne Yonstoun, sone to Williame Yonstoun, hir husbandis sifter sone, ane young man of fewintene yeiris of aige; quhairby he deit: And sva, for airt and pairt of the slauchter of the said vinq^{le} Johnne, be the said airt.—(3.) ITEM, of the consulting with Jonett Cwninghame in the Cannogait heid, alias callit Lady Bothwell, ane auld indytit Wich of the fynest champ, auchtene yeiris syne or thairby, for poysoning of Joseph Dowglas of Punfrautoune, and that be ane potioune of composit walter, quhilk sche fend hir seruand Johnne Tueddall for, to be brocht vp to Barbara Toures hous in ane chopene stoup; quhilk wes ressaunt be him, and delyuerit to the said Barbara.—(4.) ITEM, of the feiking help, consultation and respons, fra Annie Sampfoun, knawin ane notorious Wich, for recovering of hir jowellis and emdent² agane fra the Laird of Punfrautoune; and that, be the frequent sending of Jonet Drummond, sumtyme hir nurrice, to the said Annie to that effect, aboue sewin tymes.—(5.) ITEM, for consulting with Annie Sampfoun ane Wich, for getting of mwildis fra hir, to be vsit be the said Ewfame, in releif of hir payne, in hir birth of hir twa sonnes.—(6.) ITEM, of airt and pairt of the consulting with Annie Sampfoune, for distroying of Mr Johnne Mofcrop, hir fader-in-law,³ be Wichcraft, about foure yeiris syne or thairby; and to that effect, sending with Jonett Drummond hir seruand, ane pictour of walx, fend in ane buift inclofit within ane guise, to the said Annie, and ane feruiet with beiff womplit about the guise; quhilk pictour the said Annie gaif to the Dewill to be inchantit; and the famin being inchantit be him, wes fend hame agane to hir with the said Jonett Drummond, for doing of the turne; as the said Annie declarit to the said Jonet, that it fould serue thairto.—(7.) ITEM, fand hir culpabill, of making of ane pictour of flowre and clay, for bewiching of Mary Home, spous to Mr Johnne M'Gill, and causing cast the famin in att Mr Johnne M'Gillis kiching windok, to that effect.—(8.) ITEM, culpabill, for the tressonabill Conuenticill had be hir, Annie Sampfoune, Johnne Fiene and diueris vthiris, att North Berwik-Kirk, tuentie dayes before Michelmes 1590; and thair, inquiring for the Kingis pictour, gewin be the said Annie Sampfoune to the Dewill, to be inchantit be him, for the tressonabill distruction of the King.—(9.) ITEM, convict of the tressonabill Conuentione, haldin be him, hir and thame, att the New-heavin, callit Aichfounnis-heavin, att Lambies lastwas 1^m.V^c.lxxxx, to the tressonabill effect immediatlie aboue writtin, viz. in feiking of ane pictour, to the tressonabill distructione of the King.—(10.) ITEM, convict of commoune Wichcraft and Sorcerie, and vsing of the said Wichcraft aganis sındrie his hienes liegis.—(11.) AND ALS, Acquit the said Ewfame of the hail remanent poyntis contenit in hir Dittay foirsaid, quhair of sche wes accusit.

DOOM of Forfeiture and Sentence of Death.

(Jun. 15.)—The quhilk day, Ewfame M'Calzane, spous to Patrik Mofcrop alias M'Calzane, being presentit on pannel, as sche that wes convict of before, be ane condigne Assyse, in ane Court of Justiciarie, haldin in the said Tolbuith in Edinburgh, the tuelt day of Junij instant; for the consulting with Catherene Campbell, ane Ersch woman with ane fallin neife, &c. (here the above articles of conviction are rehearsed.)—For the quhilk crymes, the said Justice-depute ordanit the said Ewfame, be the mouth of Williame Gray dempstar, as culpabill and giltie thairof, to be takin to the Castel-hill of Edinburghe, and thair bund to ane staik and brunt in affis, quick,¹ to the death: And all and findrie hir landis, heretageis, takis, stedingis, roumes, possèssionnes, coirnis, cat-tell, guides and geir, to be forfaitit and escheit to our souerane lordis vsè.

¹ Probably the widow of the Notary whose Protocol-book has been quoted in the Notice prefixed to this Trial. ² Emerald stone. ³ He appears as one of the 'Prelocoutouris' in her defence.

[ANOTHER unfortunate hiatus in the Records of the High Court of Justiciary takes place at this period; the Books of Adjournal, from October . . 1591 to May 18, 1596, having been lost. The Editor has been at some pains in tracing the loss of this portion; and it is so far satisfactory that he is enabled to report, that this must have occurred previous to the time when Lord Fountainhall framed his MS. Abridgement;² which is still preserved in the Advocates' Library. That eminent lawyer leaves a blank for inserting notices of the proceedings, in case the Record should afterwards have been found; but he does not hazard any conjectures as to the time the missing volume had been taken away or destroyed. It is to be hoped that the volume may still be preserved; and that, if it has found its way into any public or private collection, it may yet be restored to the Clerk of Justiciary.

In a second MS. Collection, also preserved in the Faculty's Library, and understood to have been compiled by Lord Roystoun,³ it would appear that the same deficiency had still existed in his lordship's time. The following memorandum is transcribed from that Abstract:⁴

‘NOTA. As there is no Record from October 1591 to 17th May 1596, we are deprived of what pass in that intervall. I shall therefore notice what tryals are mentioned by Spotswood, during that time.

· First, he mentions, page 391, that David Grahame of Fintrie was found guiltie, and beheaded, 16 Feb. 1592, for being concerned in a Popish plott; the particulars whereof are there narrated, and in a printed Narrative, anno 1593, London.

¹ This was the severest sentence ever pronounced by the Court, even in the most atrocious cases. In ordinary instances of Witchcraft, the culprit was previously strangled at the stake, before being burnt. Ewfame Makealzean endured her fate with firmness and obstinacy to the last. She does not appear to have repented her crimes, but rather seems to have gloried in what she had attempted.

² ‘Ane Abridgement of the Books of Adjurnall.’ W. 1. 26. Sir John Lauder (Lord Fountainhall) was one of the fifteen Ordinary Lords of Session, appointed after the Revolution, Nov. 1, 1689. On his death, he was succeeded in his office by Andrew Fletcher, (Lord Milton,) Jun. 4, 1724, after having sat upon the bench for the long period of almost thirty-five years.

³ Sir James MacKenzie (Lord Roystoun) was appointed an Ordinary Lord of Session on the resignation of Lord Prestonhall, (R. Mackenzie,) Jun. 7, 1710, and was succeeded by Charles Areskine, (Lord Tinwald,) Nov. 29, 1744.

⁴ ‘Abstract of the Books of Adjournal,’ Advocates' Library, M. 5. 14. fol. 161.

‘ Stewart E. of Bothwell, in Aug. or Sept. 1593, tryed and acquit of consulting with witches against the King’s life. Vid. Agnes Sampson’s tryal, as mentioned, page 383, in Spottfwood.

‘ In the Parl^t, anno 1594, the Earls of Angus, Huntlie and Errol, are forfaulted, for the same treason and Popish plot for which Grahame of Fintrie was forfault in Feb. 1592.

‘ Allan Orme, servant to the Earl of Bothwell, and James Cochran, keeper of Blacknefs Castle, execute for art and part in Bothwell’s treason. Executed in Oct. 1594.’

In order to supply, in some measure, the want of this Volume of the Books of Adjournal, the Editor has ventured to insert in this place, rather than in an Appendix, pretty copious extracts made by him from the Records of the Privy Council of Scotland. These notices are, for the most part, necessarily taken merely in abstract. It is greatly to be wished, that the truly valuable mine of historical information contained in the Acts of Secret Council, may, through the liberality of His Majesty’s Commissioners on the Public Records, be speedily published, under the superintendence of the present Deputy Clerk Register; to whose indefatigable and well-directed exertions, the restoration of the Records of Scotland is mainly to be attributed. The present state of the Public Registers, and the facilities now afforded for consulting them, would reflect honour on any country.]

(May 19, apud Halirndhous.)—WILLIAME MAISTER OF ANGUS and DAVID GRAHAME of Fintrie, being baith personallie present, decernit to tyne thair lyverentis, being dilaitit and accufit, that thai had declynit fra the trew and Chriſteane Religioun, refusyng to reforte to the preicheing of Godis worde; and that, be ressoning or disperfing of buikis or lettres, thay had presumit to persuade his Maieſteis subiectis to declyne fra the professioun of the trew religioun, and thairthrow had incurrit the pane of tinfale (lofs) of all thair mouable guidis, togidder with the lyfrentis of thair landis, &c.

(May 21, apud Edinburgh.)—Alexander Guthrie, fear of Kincaidrum, become actit and obleift as cautioner and fourtie to WILLIAM DOUGLAS (MAISTER OF ANGUS), eldest sone lauchfull to Williame Erll of Angus, that he fall repair to the town of Dundee, within the space of foure dayis eftir the dait heir-of, and thairin remane, quhill he mak faill and depairt furth of this realme, within the space of fourty dayis thaireftir: And that he fall nocht returne agane within the same, without his Maieſteis licence obtenit to the same effect, vndir the pane of ten thousand pundis.

(Sic subſcribitur) ALEX^R GUTHRIE appeirand of Kincaidrum.

(May 24, apud Falkland.)—SIR JAMES DOUGLAS of Drumlangrig, knight, and his deputis, fufpended and difcharged ‘ of all vſing of the office of Baillierie’ of the regalitie of Mortonne, ‘ ay and quhill it be tryit quhidder he be denudit of the richt and poſſeffioun of the fame or nocht ;’ for ‘ cwming with convocatioun of his hienes liegis in armour, vpoun the xxvij day of Marche laſtbipaft, to the toun and landis of Penpont, quhair Thomas Kirkpatrik of Cloſburne, Shereff-depute of Drumfreis, with his memberis of Courte, wer fitting in jugement, in ane fenſit Courte haldin be him, and violent taking away of Johnne Wilfoun in Haghill furth of the ſaid Courte, eftir he was enterit vpoun pannell, and reddy to have vnderlyne the tryale of ane Affiſe, for certane crymes of thift committit be him, and flaying.’

(May 24.)—Proclamation againſt NINIANE CHIRNESYDE, ſeruitour to Frances Erll Bothuill, for treaſonably conſpiring the death of the king, ‘ be Witchcraft, Sorcerie and vtheris traterous and diabolicall meanis.’

(Jun. 25, 1591, apud Edinburgh.)—Proclamation againſt ‘ FRANCES ſumtyme ERLI BOTHUILL, that, notwithstanding of his Maieſtys clemency, &c. in ſuperceding, as of befor, the pronouncing of dome aganis him, in hoip of his converſioun, penitency and amendment, quhill now that his hienes, perſaving that he hes gevin him ſelf ower altogidder in the handis of Sathan, and that his ſpreit has ſa nichtelie prevalit into him, that he yit ſtill inſiſtis, without feir of God, or reſpect to honeſtie or ſchame of the warld, to continew in all kynd of filthines, helping treſſoun vpoun treſſoun, aganis God, his Maieſtie and this his native cuntrie, eur aſſiſting ſic perſonis, be force, counſall and vtherways, as wer and ar innemeis to God, his hienes, and ſocht the ſubuerſioun of the trew Religioun ; takand the mainteinance of tratouris, murtheraris and vtheris wickit perſonis, quha, to impetrat impvntie of thair wickit lyffis and libertie to do evill at all tymes, maid thair dependance vpoun him ; he having alſua now at laſt, for the better executioun of his wickit intentioun and treſſonabill conſpiracie aganis his Maieſteis avin perſoun, had conſultatioun with Nygromanceris, Witcheis and vtheris wickit and vngodlie perſonis, bayth without and within this cuntrie, for bereving of his hienes lyff, confeſſit be ſum of the ſame kynd, alreddy execute to the deid, and ſum vtheris yit on lyve, reddie to be execute for the ſame cryme : And being wardit within the Caſtell of Edinburgh quhill he had bene tryit of the fame, he hes now at laſt eſchopit, and ſua hes takin the ſaid treſſonabill cryme vpoun him, eftir that his hienes nochtwithſtanding had yeildit to ſum conditionis concerning his libertie : ffor the quhilk caus, and for the formar treſſonabill offence quhair of he wes convict, in maner foirſaid, his Maieſtie now at laſt hes cauſit pronounce the Dome and Sentence of fforfaltour aganis him ; as the ſamyn at mair lenth beiris : Swa that preſentlie he remanis a declarit rebell, tratour and innymie to God, his Maieftie and this his natiue cuntrie.'—Therefore 'that nane refset, fipple, felhaw fauour, intercommoun, nor haue intelligence' with him, &c.

(Jul. 21.)—The Lords declare a certain Letter of Relaxation, in favour of COLINE CAMPBELL of GLENLYOUN, 'to have bene and to be maift priuelie and furreptitiouflie purcheft¹ of his Maieftie, without his hienes priwitie or allowance; and thairfoir of nane avale, force nor effect.' And ordained the Letters of Horning, Caption, Treafon and Commiffion following thereupon, 'purcheft be Dame Agnes Sinclair Counteffe of Errole, and Alexander Gordoun of Strathdoun hir fþous, for his intres, to be put to forder executioun in all pointis.'—On Sep. 25, 1587, Campbell of Glenlyoun was denounced rebel and put to the horn, 'be virtue of twa feuerall letteris rafit at hir instance; the ane for nocht comperance, perfonallie, befoir his Maiefties and Lordis of Secreit Counfall, to have anfuerit to ane complaint maid be hir vþouu him; and the vther for not refloring and delyuering to hir of certane gudis, geir, inficht pleniffing, jowellis, gold, filuer and vtheris fþulzeit be him fra hir, or ellis the avale and pryces thairof perticulerlie fþecifeit and contenit in the faidis letteris. And becaus he remanit contempnandlie at the faid proces of horne vnrelaxt, the faid Dame Agnes pureheft letteris, be deliuerance of the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, quhairwith felo caufit charge him, and the keparis and detenaris of his duelling-houffis refpectiue, to rander and delyuer the famyn to the officiar execontour of the faidis letteris; as alfua, to entir his perfon in ward within the Castell of Blaknes, within a certane fþace mentionat in the fame letteris, vnder the pane of treffoun; quhilk chargeis he maift prouddie and contempnandlie difþobeyit; and thairfoir, felo wes forecit to crave his Maiefteis Commiffioun for perfute of him felf, and affageing of his houffis and ftrenthis with fyre and fwerd: fþor ftaying of the executioun quhairof, he hes of lait, be the moyen of fþum felhameles and vndifereit perfonis, preferring thair awin prevat gayne and commoditie to his hienes honour, maift priuelie, &c. purcheft ane letter vnder his hienes fþubfcriptioun and fþignet, relaxand him fra all and quhatfþumeuir proces of horne,' &c.

(Aug. 9.)—Proclamatioun for the perfute of the ERLLE BOTHWILE, 'fþor refifting of quhais treffonabill intentioun and practizes, reþreffing of the infolence of thame,² and the brokin men fþerit vp be thame on the Bordouris, and vtherwayis to the brek of his hienes peace, and difturbing of the quiet eftate of the haille He, his Maieftie intendis to tak the fþeildis in propir perfon.' Charges are therefore ordained to be given to 'the erllis, lordis, baronis, fþewaris, fþrehaldaris, laudit gentilmen and fþubftancious zemen, togiddir with the inhabitantis of burrowis, betuix fextie and fextene yeiris, duelland within the boundis of the Scherefdomes of Edinburgh principall, and within the Couftabularie of Hadingtoun, Berwik and Roxburgh, alfweill regalitie as ryeltie, that thay and ilk ane of thame, weill bodin in feir of weir addres thame felffis to repair to his Maieftie, at Edinburgh, vpoun the fext day of Auguft instant,' &c.

¹ Procured, obtained.

² Bothwell's abettors.

(Aug. 6.)—A 'BAND' between the LAIRDS of CESFURDE, BUKCLEUCHE, Home of Broxmouthe; Lauder of Bafs, Ker of Lyntoun, Douglas of Caverfe, &c. is recorded, wherein they bind themselves to use their utmost endeavours to take Bothwell, &c.; and, amongst other conditions, they engage to 'lay afyde all perticular querrellis, deidlie feidis and contrauerfeis ftanding amangis thame, and for na caus fall fehrink frome his Maiefties feruice.'

(Aug. 7.)—His Majesty 'finding sum of the cheif perfonis suspect culpabill in the lait diforderit contempt to have repentit thame thairof, and quhill tryell of thair pairtes to haue voluntarle offerit them felffis in his hienes ward,' difpenfes with the attendance of his subjects, having now abandoned the intention of Repairing to the Borders against BOTHWELL.

(Aug. 7.)—SIR WALTER SCOTT of Branxhelme, kny^t,¹ finds Sir James Scot of Balwery, kny^t, and Williame Scot of Abbotifhall, as sureties, that he 'fall depairt furth of this realme within the fpace of ane moneth,' and 'not returne agane within the famyn during the fpace of thre yeiris nixtocum, vnder the pane of ten thowfand pundis.'

(Aug. 29.)—SIR WALTER SCOTT of Branxhelme, kny^t, is relieved 'of his office and charge of keping of Liddifdaill,' 'becaus he is to depairt furth of this realme, be his hienes licence and permiſſioun, &c.'

COMMIſſIOUN for Examining of Witcheis.

(Oct. 26. Apud Halirudhous.) FORSAMEKILL as the Kingis Maieftie, with aduife of the Lordis of his Secrete Counſale, hes gevin and grantit, and be pir prefentis, gevis and grantis his hienes full pouer and Commiſſioun, expres bidding and charge to his trufty and weilbelouitt counſalouris, Sir Johnne Cokburne of Ormeftoun Juſtice clerk, Maifter David Makgill of Neſbitt Aduocat, as alſwa to M^{rs} Robert Bruce and Johnne Dunkiefoun Miniſteris, Williame Litill prouoſt of Edinburgh and Johnne Arnott burges pairof, or ony three of thame coniunctlie; all and findrie perfonis, alfweill pame quhilkis ar alreddy convict or vtheris quhilkis ar detenit captiue and hes confeſſit, and ſum that hes not confeſſit, as alſwa all ſie vperis as ar dilaitit, or that heireftir falbe accuſed and dilaitit, off committing, vſing and practizing of Witcheraſt, Sorcerie, Inchautment and vtheris divilifch divyfis, to the difhonnour of God, sklender of his worde, perrelling of þair awin faullis, abufeing of þe commoun people and grite contempt of God, his Maieftie, his autoritie and lawis : To call and convene befor the faidis Commiffionaris, or ony three of thame coniuuctlie, as faid is, alf-oft as neid beis, and thame to try, enquiry and examinat, thair Depofitionis to putt in write, and the fame to reporte to his hienes and his Counfale ; to the effect þai may be putt to the knaulege of ane Affyife, and iuftice miniftrat as affairis, or fie ordour takin with þame as to his Maieftie and his faid Counfaiil falbe thocht maift meit and convenient : The perfonis wilfull or refufeand to declair the veritie to putt to tortour, or fie vþir punifhment to vfe and caus be vfit, as may move thame to vtter the treuth : And generallie, all and findrie vtheris thingis to do and vfe, that heirin is requifite to be done : Fferme and ftable haldand and for to hald, all and quhatfumeuir thingis the faidis Commiffioneris, or ony thrie of þame coniuuctlie, as faid is, lauchfullie do heirin.

¹ Several others, of lesser note, find surety to depart the kingdom at this time.

(Oct. 28.)—‘ Francis Erll of Errole cheiff, James Lord Hay of Zefter and Williame Hay of Gourdie, with the remanent kin and freindis of vmq^{le} James Hay, fone to the faid Williame,’ having raifed Criminal Letters againft ANDRO HERING of Little Blair, Reid Johune Hering in Gilmertoun, Blak Johune Hering in Afflehill and James Hering in Morganftoun and thair accomplices, for the cruel and unmerciful Slaughter and Murthour of the faid James Hay, in Feb. 1589, ‘ quhen his Maieftie wes in Denmark ; the faid complenaris offerrit thame reddy to haue perfewit iuftice, gif thai could haue had ony certantie to haue the fame miniftrat,’ &c. The Earl of Errol accordingly applied for and obtained a Commiffioun, for fearching and bringing the murderers to iuftice. Letters of Caption were likewise granted, and Black John Hering fecured and placed in ward, and the others put to the horn ; but, in the meantime, Hering obtained a Refpite for feven years, in the face of thefe proceedings, of a recent Act of Parliament, and of the Kingis ‘ Declaratioun left and publiſhit at his departing to Denmark.’ A charge was therefore given to ‘ David Hering younger of Glaſclune, purcheffair of the faid Refpett,’ to appear before the King and Privy Council, bringing with him the Refpite, and to fee the fame declared null, ‘ or ellis to haue allegeit ane reffonable caus quhy the famin fould nocht haue been done :’ And the parties appearing accordingly, ‘ the Kingis Maieftie and Lordis of Secrete Counfale findis that thai ar nocht iugeis competent to the Reductioun and annulling of the faid Refpett ; and thairfoir Remittis this mater to the Iuftice general and his deputis, ordaning thame to proceid and minifter iuftice thairin, according to the Actis of Parliament, lawis and practieque of this realme obferuit in fic caiffis : And in the meantyme, that the faid Johune Hering be committit to warde within the tolbuith of Edinburgh, thairin to remane vpoun hes awne expenffis, ay and quhill he be tryit for the said slauchter and justice ministrat as effeiris.'

(Oct. 28.)—On the Complaint of JAMES LORD OGILVIE of AIRLIE, 'that quhair he hes bene his Maieftis faithfull and obedient fubject, fubmitting him felff alwayes to his hienes and the Lawis of the countrey, and thairby reposing him felff vnder his hienes protectioun, beleving to haue reffaut iniurie of na man; neuirtheles ARCHIBALD ERLI OF ERGYLE and his freindis, vpoun quhat motiue or occafion the said Lord knawis not, without ony deferving on his parte, hauing concludit the wrack of his hous or freindschip; and being infor-meit that he had reteirit him felff in fobir and quiet maner, to duell and mak his refidence in Glen-Ilay, finding the place convenient for thair interprife, the said Erl and his freindis fett oute certane brokin Hieland men, thay ar to fay, Johnne Campbell bruthir to Campbell of Lochinyell, Johnne Dow M^cCondoquhy in Inuerraw, Neill Leich in Lochquhabir, Donald M^cCarlich in the Laird of Glenvrquhyis landis, Allane Roy M^cMoig fone to the Laird of Glenco, Archibald Campbell of Perfie, Coline Campbell of Glenlyoun, Archibald Campbell his bruthir, Johnne M^cRannald in Lochquhabir; quha in the moneth of Auguft laftbypaft, to the nowmer of ffyve hundreth men of the cuntrey of Ergyle, duelland for the maift parte within the fame, and reffett thairin, with the guidis and depredatiounes vnderwritin, off fett purpois and deliberatioun to haue flane the said lord, and to haue wrackeit and fpuilzeit the countrey: Lyke as, vpoun the xxj day of Auguft laftbypaft, thay enterit in Glen-Ilay vnder filence of nicht, with fic force and violence, that the said Lord, lyand fa fer frome his freindis, vpoun fic fuddantie wes nocht able to refift thame, bot with grite difficultie and fchorte aduertifment, he, his wyffe¹ and bairnis haueing efchaiped, thay enterit in the countrey with fic barbarous crueltie, not fparing wyffis nor bairnis, bot murthowrit and flew all quhome thay fand thairin, to the nowmer of xvij or xx perfones; and fpuilzeit and away-tuke ane grite nowmer of nolt, fcheip and plenneffing, to the vtter wrack and vndoing of the hail pure inhabitantis of the cuntrey: Quhilk being maid knawin to his Maieftie, his hienes nocht onlie caufit ane affurance to be takin betuix the saidis pairteis, bot alfwa directit ane speciall Lettre to the said Erl and his freindis, to reteir² the saidis brokin men to their awin countrey, that the said Lord and his freindis wer nocht forder troublit with thame; with ane charge to thame felffis vnder the pane of Treffoun. Quhairupoun the said Lord and his freindis haueing dependit, hoiping to be in furetie thairby, and to haue reffaut na iniurie of new, during the affurance of the said Erl, nor nane of his; neuirtheles the brokin men, quha maid the inuafion abouewritin, haue-

¹ Jean, eldest daughter of William seventh Lord Forbes.

² Fr. retirer.

ing continuallie fenfyne remanit in the hillis, and haueing conuocat vnto thame felffis ane grit nowmer of fornaris,¹ quha, in the tyme of sic affiurance, hoiping with small travell to get geir, vilipending his Maiefties charge gevin to thame as faid is, and the faid Letteris nor perfonis foirfaidis, haueing na respect to his Maiefties Letteris, thay vpoun the . . . day of September laftbipaft, within the tyme of the affiurance, vudir filence of nicht invadit the inhabitants of Glen-Ilay and Glen-Clova, and hes murthourit and flane three or foure innocent men and women, and reft and takiu away ane grit pray of guidis ; fwa that the pur men duelland in Glen-Clova, Glen-Ilay and vtheris pairtis adjacent to the Month,² quha ar nocht able to make refiftance, ar fa opprest be the brokin men and fornaris houndit oute be the Erl of Ergyle and his freindis, and mantenit and reffett be thame, that nather be his Maiefties protectioun nor affiurance of the pairtye can thair lyveys and guidis be in furetie.'

The above-named perfons were accordingly charged to appear before the King and Privy Council, under the pain of rebellion. Lord Ogilvie appeared on the day appointed, to call them to account for these barbarities ; but none of them having come forward, they were ordained to be denounced rebels, &c.

(Oct. 28.) LICHTANE OF VSANE,³ Johnne L., Archibald and Alexander Ogiluy and Johnne Smith his feruandis, George Ogiluy fone to Alexander O. of Drummis, now feruand to James Lord Ogiluy, Williame and O. fonis to Johnne O. of Quheich, O. bruther to Innerquharritie, (and fundry others, fervants to the Lairds of Teiling and Balfour, &c.) were charged, ' that quhair vpoun the xvj day of August laftbypaft or thairby,' they, ' with convocatioun of his Maiefties liegis, to the nowmer of threfcoir perfonis or thairby, all bodin in feir of weir with jakkis, fpeiris, hacquebutis, piftolettis and vtheris waponis, invasiue, prohibite to be worne be the lawis of this realme and actis of Parliament, off the fpeciall caufing, fending, hounding oute, command, &c. of the faid Lord, come vpoun vmq¹⁶ Robert Campbell in Milhorne, Williame of Souttarhous, Thomas C. portionar of Kethik and Johnne C. of Muretoun, and maift cruellie and vnnereifullie murdreift and flew thame, vpoun fett purpois, prouiffioun and foirthocht fellouny, in hie and proude contemptioun of his Maieftie, and encouragement of vtheris to committ the like shamefull and cruell flaughteris heireftir,' &c.—The Letters raifed were at the instance of ' the wyffis, bairnis and remanent kin and friendis' of the deceafed perfons, charging the above parties to appear before the King and Council ; and they not obeying the charge, were ordained to be denounced rebels, &c.

¹ Vagabonds belonging to no clan, who lived by plunder and by taking free quarters, or sorning, as it was termed. ² Mountains, hill-country. Lat. Mons. ³ Ulysses-haven. Of this family was Robert Leightoune, Bishop of Dunblane, and afterwards Archbishop of Glasgow.

(Oct. 28.)—Bond by Robert Douglas of Cashogill, dated Oct. 23, 1591, recorded, whereby he binds himself as cautioner for Sir JAMES DOUGLAS of Drumlanrig, kn^t, that ‘ Thomas Kirkpatrik of Clofeburne, his men tennentis and seruandis, falbe harmeles and skaithles,’ under the pain of L.5000.

(Nov. 3.)—ROBERT LORD SEMPILL, having been charged to appear before the King and Council, ‘ to haue vnderlyne sic ordour as fould be prescruit, twicheing the obseruatioun of peax, quietnes and gude reule in the cuntrey, vndir the pane of rebelliou’—and not complying, he was ordained to be denounced Rebel, &c.

(Nov. 13.)—David Edmestoun of Wowmatt and James Laufoun of Humbie, become bound for Schir JOHNE EDMESTOUN of that Ilk, that he ‘ be him selff, and all thai that he is oblist to anfuer for be the lawis of this realme, &c., fall keip the Kingis Maiesteis peax,’ &c., under the pain of L.5000.

(Eodem die.)—Andro Logane of Coitfeild became cautioner for GEORGE HOPPRINGLE of Torwodlie, to the same effect as above, under the pain of L.2000.

(Eodem die.)—James Hoppringle of that Ilk and James H. of Quhytebank, became cautioners for JOHNE HOPPRINGLE of Buckholme; and Buckholme and Quhytebank for JAMES HOPPRINGLE of that Ilk—each under the pain of L.2000.

(Eodem die.)—James Douglas of Cavers, schereff of Teuiotdaill, became surety for WALTER TURNBULL of Bedreule, under the pain of 1000 merks.

(Nov. 17.)—WILLIAME CUNYNGHAME of Tourlandis denounced, for not finding caution.

(Eodem die.)—Patrik Cokburne, tutour of Langtoun, became surety for GEORGE HAITLIE in Hordlaw, under the pain of 500 merks.

(Nov. 19.)—JAMES EARL of GLENCAIRN ordained to be charged to find caution, to the extent of L.20,000 within eight days, ‘ or ellis within the same space, pas and entir his persone in warde be-North the watter of Erne and about the burgh of Perth, and thair remane and keip warde; and on nawayis transcend the said boundis, ay and quhill he be fred and relevit be his Maiestie, vnder the pane of rebelliou?’ And if he should fail, to denounce him rebel.¹ On Nov. 24, he is again charged to pass to ward, ‘ for contemptuous remaning at the horne, for none obeying of the Decrete Arbitrall pronunceit be his hienes and the Lordis of Counsaile and Seffioun, betuix the said Erll and Dame Annabill Murray Countesse of Mar.’ He is likewise charged, ‘ to rander and delyuer his houffis of

¹ A great number find similar surety at this period. From the above excerpts, which are given as specimens, some idea may be formed of the value of the Privy Council Records, in elucidating historical and genealogical enquiries.

Kilmarranók, Findlactoun, Stevinstoun, Kilmaweris and Glencairne, to the officiar executour of the saidis letteris,' under certification. On Dec. 15, he is charged to return a bond for L.20,000, under the pain of rebellion.

(Dec. 17.)—PATRIK LORD GRAY, being personally present, is ordained to 'bring, present and deliuer to his Maiesteis stabularis, vpoun the xij day of Januair nixttocum, his hienes awin hors, callit ,¹ quhilk wes vuhonnestlie tane away be James Gray sone to the said Lord, and sumtyme serwand to his Maieftie; as alsua, to bring and present the said James befor his hienes, or expell him furth of this realme, betuix and the last day of the said moneth of Januair; and failzeing heirof, that the said lord pas and entir his persone in warde within the Castell of Dumbartane;' under certification.

(Jan. 12, 1591-2.)—The Kingis Maieftie, with advise of the Lordis of Secrete Counsaile, ffindis and declairis, that DAVID HAMMILTOUN of BOTHUELLHAUCH, (otherwise designed of Monkton mains,) Isobell Sinclair and Alefoun Sinclair, heretrices-portionaris of the landis of Wodhoullie, aucht and fould be repoffessit to the landis, houffis, takkis, stedingis and possessionis whereof thay wer dispossessit, throw occasioun of the late trublis.²

(Jan. 12.)—A 'PROCLAMATIOUN aganis thame that rydis missellit'³ is recorded, stating 'that there is diuers and sundrie personis, arte and pairt-takeris with Frances sumtyme Erll Bothuile, in the latt treffounable CONSPIRACY attemptit within his hienes PALICE OF HALIRUIDHOUS, vpoun the xxvij day of December lastbipast, for bereving of his Maieftie of his lyffe and crowne, and that vthirwayis ar dilaitit and suspect to haue bene vpoun the foirknaulege and devise of the same Conspiracie, quhilkis nicht and day trauellis and rydis ouer all pairtis of this realme, with thair faceis couerit, and vtherwayis difagyfit,' &c. Therefore directs Proclamation to be made, 'that nane of thame tak vpoun hand to ryde or gang nicht or day, to or fra, in ony parte of this realme, with thair faceis coverit or vtherwayes difagyfit, in tyme cuning;' and to charge the lieges 'to tak and apprehend' all such persons; 'or, gif thay be nocht of pour sa to do, that they ryfe schowte, rais the fray, follow, concur and assist ilk ane with vtheris, to the taking and apprehending of thame,' &c.; under certification.

(Jan. 15.)—John Graham of Knokdoleane and John Stuart fear of Barcube, become sureties for Sir JOHNNE EDMESTOUN of that Ilk, kn^t, James Edmestoun of Duntreith, kn^t, and James alias Jacobe Edmestoun of Newtown, as principallis, for thame sellis, and takand the burding vpoun thame for thair haill kin, freindis,

¹ Left blank. ² They were formally restored by Act of Par. 1609, cap. 41. See Acts fol. 450.

³ Muffled, masked, disguised; commonly written mussallit. O. Fr. emmussallé.

furname,' &c. on the one part; and 'James Commendatair of Incheffray and Hary Lindfay of Kinfawnis, as cautioners for Schir JAMES CHEISHOLME of Dundorne, kn^t, as principall, for him selff, and takand burding for him for his haill kin,' &c. on the other part; that they should observe the contents of certain Letters of Slains, dated Nov. 25, 1587, granted by the 'cheiff kynnisfinen and freindis on the fader fyde and moder fyde of vmq^{le} Mungo Edmestoun, bruthir to James alias Jacobe E. of Newtoun,' who was slain within the burgh of Stirling, in Nov. 1585, 'under the pain of perjurie, infamy and tinfall of perpetuall credite, honnour and estimatioun, in tyme cuning; and forder, vnder the pane of 5000 merkis.'

(Mar. 8.)—A Proclamation made 'anent deserting of the Raid appointit for perfute of the ERLI OF HUNTILIE.'

(Apr. 4, 1592.)—PROCLAMATIOUN anent the Arrivall of Spanygartis. 'Forfamekill as it is vnderstand to the Kingis Maiestie and Lordis of Secreit Counfall, that thair is certane Spanishe shippis, riggit oute in weirlike maner, and presentlie in reddines to repair to the North Ilis and coiftis of this realme, and cheiflie to the pairtis ewest the cuntreys of Orkney and Zetland; for rubbing, spuilzcing and invading, as thay haue done ofbefoir, not onlie his Maiesteis awne subiectis, bot the Queene of England his darrest suster and cousin, and sic vther Princeis as standis in strait league of amitie and freindship with his hienes, occupiit this seasone of the yeir in thair lauchfull and accustumat trade of fisheing; be quhais labouris and industrie, grit commoditie wes randerit, and in speciall to the inhabitantis of this haill Iland,' &c. Therefore, desires that Robert Earl of Orkney, the sheriffs, &c. in the northern parts of the kingdom, 'that nane of thame tak vpoun hand to suffir or permitt ony Spanishe veshellis, Spanygartis, pyrottis or revaris, to have reflett or refuge in ony of thair portis,' &c. and to rise and concur in their expulsion.

(Apr. 14.)—'PATRIK MASTER OF GRAY and ROBERT GRAY youngair, his bruthir,' denounced, for not appearing 'to haue ansuerit to sic thingis as sould haue bene inquirit of thame at thair cuning, tuicheing the Reflett, intercommuning and haueing intelligence with Frances sumtyme ErlI Bothuile and his complices, culpable of the lait tressounable fact, committit within the Palice of Halyrudhous.'

[Adam Bishop of Orkney, Alexander Commendator of Culrose, Edward Commendator of Kinloss, John Earl of Mar, John Lord Thirlstane chancellor, Sir Robert Melville of Murdocairny, kn^t, treasurer, Walter Commendator of Blantyre keeper of the Privy Seal, Mr Richard Colburn apparent of Clerkingtoun secretary, Sir John Cokburne of Ormes-

toun Justice-clerk, Alexander Hay of Eister Kennet Clerk of the Rolls, Register and Councel, William Little provost of Edinburgh, Nicholas Cornwall of Bonhard provost of Linlithgow, specially appointed by a Commission from Parliament; with George Earl of Marischall, James Kynross deputy Constable, Mr James Fowles sheriff-depute of Edinburgh, and James Nysbite dempstar.]

May 4.—DAME MARGARET DOUGLASS COUNTESSE OF BOTHUILL, Frances funtyme Earl Bothuil hir spouse, for his interesse, and others.¹

Mr David Makgill, aduocat to our souerane, producit before the faidis Lordis Commissiouneris of Parliament,² ane Summondis of Tressfoune writtin on parchia-ment, gevin vnder the Quarter-seill, dewlie execute and indorfate aganis Dame Margaret Dowglas Countesse of Bothuill, &c. for certane crymes of Tressfoun, specifiet in the said Summondis: Upon the production of the quhilk and verificatioun of the indorfationis of the samyn be the messingeris, executouris thair of, and witnesses insert thairintill, the said Mr David Makgill, in his hienes name, askit instrumentis.—And the foirfaidis personis being thryce callit at the Tolbuith-windo of the burgh of Edinburgh, to haif comperit and to have anfuert to the said Summondis of Tressfoun, and name of thame comperand except Patrik Futhie of Futhies mylne, quha producit ane Remissioun grantit be our souerane lord vnder the Greit Seill, and ane Lettir subscryuit be the Kingis Maiestie, direct to the said Aduocat to pas from perfute of the said Patrik; vpoun the production quhair of he askit instrumentis: And als, Robert Ormestoun of Brigend comperit personalie, and was content to abyde ane tryall, for ony cryme contenit in the said Summondis of Tressfoun nicht be laid to his charge.

THE Lordis Commissiouneris of Parliament commandis the said Patrik Futhie and Robert Ormestoun to reitir to thair lodgeingis in Edinburgh, and thair to remane quhill thay be fend for be his hienes; and continewis to the morne.

May 25.—Quhilkis personis war thryise callit at the Tolbuith windo, quhair of nane comperit except James Lermounth in Kelso, Robert Ormestoun of Brigend, Johne Stewart of Foulage and Patrik Futhie of Futhies milne; and thairefter the hail executionis of the said Summondis of new verifeit, &c. quhair vpoun the said Aduocat askit instrumentis.—The said James Lermounth in Kelso comperit personalie, in prefence of the faidis Commissiouneris of Parliament, and offerit him ready to abyde tryall of law, vpoun quhatsumeuir crymes

¹ See the names specified in the following Dittay.
 the Parliamentary Records. Actu Parl. 1592, fol. 528.

² These proceedings have been taken from of Treffoun contenit in the said Summoundis, to be laid to his charge : And siclyk, the said Johnne Stewart of Foulege comperit persounalie, and wes content to abyde the tryall of law for the crymes of Treffoun laid to his charge, contenit in the said Summoundis : And als, comperit the said Robert Ormestoun of Brigend, and producit ane lettre subscriuit be the Kingis Maiestie, direct to the said Mr David Makgill aduocat, commanding him in his hienes name to pas fra the said Robert, and that pairt of the said Summoundis quhilk concernis him, and to deleit him furth of the said Summoundis ; vpoun the productioun quhairof, the said Robert Ormestoun askit instrumentis.

And the said Mr David Makgill producit Lettres of Relaxatioun, beirand, that the foirfaidis haill personis defenderis, sumbound be the said Summoundis of Treffoun, to be relaxt fra quhatfumeuir proces of horne led aganis thame or ony of thame, for quhatfumeuir cause or occasioun, preceding the dait of the said Lettre, quhilk is daitit at Dalkeyth the tent day of Maii, and of our fouerane lordis regnne the xxv yeir, 1592 ; and execute the xij day of the famin moneth of Maii, and regiftrat in the scherref court buikis the xxij day of the samyn moneth of Maii : And siclyk, thairvpoune askit instrumentis.—And siclyk, Mr Johnne Makgill aduocat comperit persounalie, and in name and behalf of Alexander Home, brother-germane to Williame Home of Prandergaift, protestit, that his absence at this tyme be not imput vnto him for contumacie, and pre- jure him not of his innocencie, anent the odious cryme of Treffoun laid to his charge, seing the caus quhairfoir he may not compeir is notour. And as to the cryme of cumming to the Abbay that nicht, contenit in the said Summoundis, in cumpanie with Frances sumtyme Erle Bothuell, he protestis he is maist innocent thairof ; as being that nicht vpoun the Wast Bordour of Scotland, mair nor thrie scoir myles fra the said Abbay ; quhilk he is content to veresie be honest gentlemen : And thairfoir protestis, that in caise it be not sufficientlie provin be sic as hard, saw and knew him thair, that na argument be groundit vpoun his absence, quhairby he may be prejudgeit of his innocencie ; according to the said protestatioun, gevin in be the said Mr Johnne at lenth in write ; and askit instrumentis vpoun the proponing and productioun thairof, excusatorio nomine for the said Alexander Home.—Mr David Makgill aduocat, present, tuik him to be advist with the Kingis Majestie, gif he fould gif command to the clerkis to deleit Robert Ormestoun furth of the said Summoundis of Treffoun or not, conforme to the ticket direct be his Maiestie to him to that effect.

The Lordis Commiffioneris of Parliament ordanis the saidis James Lermounth, Robert Ormestoun and Johnne Stewart of Foullage to retenir thame selffis to thair lugeingis within Edinburgh, thairin to remane ay and quhill thai be fend for be his Majestie.

REGE IPSO PRESENTE.

May 29.—The hail estaittis of Parliament chefit (the perfonis) vnderwrittin to be Lordis of the Articles.

PRO CLERO.	PRO NOBILIBUS.	PRO BARONIBUS.	PRO COMMISSARIIS BURGORUM.
Orchaden.,	Angufe,	Bas,	Williame Litle proneft and
Dunkelden.,	Marfchell,	Calluthy,	George Hereot goldfmyth,
Culrofe,	Glencarne,	Wadderburne,	for Edinburgh,
Landoris,	Montroife,	Airth,	James Drummond, for Perth,
Tungland,	Mar,	Tullibardin,	Patrik Lyon, for Dundie,
Kynlofe,	Seytoun,	Glenvrquhy,	Anthone Bruce, for Striuling,
Blantyre,	Lindefay,	Pittarro,	Williame Cuninghame, for Glasgw,
Incheaffray.	Spynie.	Barnebarrauch.	James Cokburne, for Hadingtoun.

OFFICERIS OF ESTAIT, Johnne Lord Thirlstane chancellor, Sir Robert Meluile of Murdocairny knycht, thefaurare, Sir Richart Cokburne of Clerkingtoun, knicht, secretaire, Dauid Seytoun of Parbroith comptroller, Sir Johnne Cokburne of Orneftoun, knicht, Justice-clerk.

The quhilk day the Kingis Majestie, and Mr Dauid Makgill of Cranftoun-Riddell his hienes aduocat, being baith perfounalie present, declairit, in prefence of the Lordis of Articles, that he infittit only at this tyme in perfute of the said Summoundis and tryall thair of, aganis the perfonis following: Thay ar to fay, Dame Margaret Dowglafs funtyme Countesse of Bothuell and Frances funtyme Erle Bothuell her spouse, for his interes, James Douglas funtyme of Spott, Archibald Vauchope younger of Nudry, Mr Johnne Coluile of Strathvrdie, Williame Stewart funtyme Constable of Dunbartane, Johnne Hammiltoun younger of Samelftoun, Williame Lermounth of the Hill, Johnne Vauchoop baillie of Nudrie, Robert Home younger of the Heuch, Hercules Stewart of Quhytlaw, George Auchineraw of Eift Restoun, Patrik Auchineraw thair, Mr Thomas Cranftoun younger of Moreiftoun, Johnne Cranftoun his brother-germane, Johnne Orneftoun of Smailhome, Robert Orneftoun his sone, James Stewart of Tymeis, Patrik Crummy of Carribdin and Dauid Orme of Mugdrum. And past pro loco et tempore frome the hail remanent perfonis, defenderis, specifiet and contenit in the said Summoundis of Tressfoun, except the foirfaidis speciall perfonis, presentlie nominat be his Majestie, as said is: And thairvpoun the said aduocat afkit instrumentis.

And immediatlie thairefter, the foirfaid Summoundis of Tressfoun raisit at our fouerane lordis instance, and execute aganis the perfonis vnderwrittin and ilk ane of thame, contrair quhome his hienes declarit he infittis at this tyme in tryall of the said Summoundis of Tressfoun, in maner foirfaid, being red in prefence of the Kingis Maiestie and Lordis of Articles, and the famyn being hard, fene and vnderstand be thame, and thay thairwith being ryplie advifit; the saidis Estaittis findis and declaris the reffoun and caus contenit in the famyn Summoundis of Treffoun relevant aganis the perfonis abovewrittin. And thairfoir admittis the famyne Summoundis to the faid aduocatis probatioun ; quha being perfounalie presert, declairit that he fould vse his probatioun with all expeditioun ; and the faid aduocat afkit instrumentis of the relevancie of the faid Summoundis, and that the faidis Estaites had fundin the reffoun of the faid Summoundis relevant.

Jun. 5.—The quhilk day Maister David Makgill of Cranftoun-Riddell, aduocat to our fouerane lord, ffor verefeing of the faid reffoun contenit in the faid Summoundis of Treffoun raifit aganis the faid Dame Margaret Dowglas Countesse of Bothuell and Frances funtyme Erle Bothuell hir fpous, for his intereffe, &c. producit and repetit the Extract of the Foirfaltour led and pronuncit befor the Justice and his deputis, aganis the faid Frances funtyme Erle Bothuell, fubfcriuit be the Laird of Ormeftoun Justice clerk, of the dait the twentie-ftyfth day of Junii, the yeir of God 1591 yeiris ; Depofitionis of certane witneffes, quha wer takin and execute to the death for the cryme libellit ; and Depofitionis of diuerfe vtheris witneffes, examinat befor the faidis Lordis of Articles in the faid mater ; the notorietie of the deid libellit, and cuning of the defendaris to the place of Halyrudhoufe the tyme libellit ; quhilk in mater of Hie Treffoun fould mak full probatioun : And that the Lordis of Parliament being the Greit Affyife of the cuntrie, of the daylie practique, quhatfumeuir perfone clengis not, of certane knowlege, the perfonis accufit, he fyles thame : And the commoun notorietie of this fact and Treffoun, and contumacie of the defendaris, is fufficient to mak na man to clenge thame : And wes content the foirfaid proces and Summoundis of Treffoun be haldin concludit : And defyrit the Estaittes to advife the proces, and to pronunce thair fentence of Parliament thairintill, according to the faidis probationis and thair confciences.—The quhilk day our fouerane lord and his hienes advocate pafit fra the faid Johne Wauchop baillie of Nudrie, and declairit that his hienes wald na wayes infift aganis him.

SUMMOUNDIS OF TRESSOUN, &c. against Dame Margaret Dowglass Countesse of Bothuill and others.

JACOBUS Dei gratia Rex Scotorum ; dilectis noftris Leoni Regi Armorum, Hay, Albanie, Roffe, Rothefay, Snadoun, Merchmount, heraldis ; Joanni Ferguffoun, Archibaldo Dowglas, Roberto Stewart et Dauidi Bryfoun, clauigeris ; Ormound, Bute, Vnicorne, Carrik, figniferis, nuncijs et eorum cuilibet, coniunctim et diuifim, vicecomitibus noftris in hac parte fpecialiter conflitutis : Salutem. Mandamus vobis et precipimus, quateuus fumnoneatis legitime et peremptorie, coram teftibus, Jacobum Dowglas de Spott, Magiftrum Joannem Coluile de Strathurdie, Herculem Stewart de Quhytlaw, Joannem Hammiltoun juniorem de Sammelftoun, Archibaldum Wauchop de Nudrie juniorem, Jacobum Stewart de Tynneis, Gulielmum Stewart quondam Conftabularium de Dunbartane, Gulielmum Lermounth in Hill, Magiftrum Thomam Cranftoun juniorem de Moreiftoun, Joannem Cranftoun eius fratrem, Robertum Home juniorem de Heuch, Joannem Ormestoun de Smailhome, Robertum Ormestoun eius filium, Patricium Crummy de Caribdin, Davidem Orme de Mugdrum, Georgium Auchincraw de Eist Restoun, Patricium Auchincraw ibidem, Dominam Margaretam Dowglas comitissam de Bothuell et Franciscum Stewart olim comitem de Bothuell eius sponsum, pro suo interesse, Conspiratores, perpetratores et celatores criminum Lese maiestatis subsequenter, personaliter, si eorum personales presentias commode habere poteritis; alioquin, apud loca eorum habitationum vel per publicam proclamationem, apud cruces forales burgorum nostrorum de Edinburgh, Hadingtoun, Lanerk, Dumfreis, Striuling, &c. aliaque loca necessaria; degentes vero seu existentes extra regnum nostrum seu certum nullum domicilium in eodem habentes, apud dictas cruces forales aliaque loca necessaria, super premonitione sexaginta dierum, sic quod hujusmodi summonitio ad eorum aures et notitiam verefimiliter pervenire poterit: Quod compareant coram nobis seu Justiciario nostro, vicesimo quarto die mensis Maii proxime sequen. in nostro Parlamento apud Edinburgh, die mensis tenend. hora caesarum, cum continuatione dierum, ad respondendum nobis nostro Justiciario in prefato Parlamento, super proditorii criminibus subsequentibus; dictos scilicet Jacobum Dowglas de Spott, Magistrum Joannem Coluile, Herculem Stewart, Archibaldum Wauchop de Nudrie juniorem, Joannem Hammiltoun juniorem de Sammeltoun, suosque omnes complices specialiter ante nominatos et eorum quemlibet, pro sua proditoria arte, parte, consilio et auxilio, in ipsorum recenti proditorio Conspiratione, consultatione et conclusione horrendi facinoris contra nostram honorabilem personam et vitam, per dictas personas commiss. vicesimo septimo die mensis Decembris vltime elaps. sub noctis silentio, in ipsarum proditoria Invasione Palatii nostri de Halyruidhouse, intrando ibidem, cum assistantia, confortio convocatione dicti Francisci quondam Comitis de Bothuell aliorumque homicidarum, oppressorum, latronum, ac hujusmodi insolentium virorum armatorum et a legibus nostris fugitivorum, ex deliberato animo et certa intentione violentas manus in nostram regiam personam imponere, ut vitam nostram vel nefarie extinguerent, vel nos captivos secum deducerent: Et ad hunc effectum, prefati Conspiratores directe accesserunt ad nostrum privatum conclave seu cubiculum, et ostiis ignem nefarie injecerunt, domesticos nostros presenti violenta morte minitendo, objurgandoque, nisi ipsis declarent ubi nos essemus, nulla vquam inquisitione per eos facta ob quamcunque aliam personam nisi propter nosmet ipsos: Ac preterea, violenter effregerunt malliis ostia interioris cubiculi Regine nostre charissime conjugis: Atque demum, ubi parum se promouisse et ad illorum invitatum scelus ac propositum nefandum peruenire non posse intellexerunt in eorum regressu non dum satisfacti, crudeliter et sine vlla misericordia, domesticos et familiarissimos nostros seruitores, ob nostram causam, interfecerunt et jugularunt: Hinc manifestissime crimen Summe Proditionis contra nos, nostram vitam, autoritatem regiam, et leges committendo; atque adeo, pro sua proditoria celatione et occultatione predictae Conjuracionis, consultatione, contractu et executione eiusdem. Ideoque dictos Jacobum Douglas de Spott, Magistrum Joannem Coluile, Herculem Stewart, Archibaldum Wauchop juniorem de Nudrie, ceterosque omnes suos complices particulariter ante nominatos Conspiratores proditorioseque executores, ad videndum et audiendum sese et eorum quemlibet, respectu premissorum, crimen Lese maiestatis incurrisse per nos et trium regni statuum decretum decerni et declarari, et super predictis et alijs quamplurimis rebellionibus et transgressionibus et proditorii criminibus, per prenominatas personas, contra nos, regnum nostrum et autoritatem regiam impie et nefarie perpetratis, et dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, proponendis et ostendendis et juri parendum, et super hujusmodi iudicium nostrum et nostri Parliamenti, secundum leges regni nostri expectandum et subeundum; dictas videlicet personas, Conspiratores, perpetratores et celatores criminum precedentium, ad videndum et audiendum sese et eorum quemlibet, intuitu premissorum, crimen Lese maiestatis incurrisse, per nos et trium regni nostri statuum decretum decerni et declarari; et propterea, ipsorum bona, mobilia et immobilia, tam terras quam officia, aliaque res ad eos spectantes, nobis confiscari et pro perpetuo nobiscum in proprietate remanere, personalque suas penam Proditionis et vltimi supplicii a regni nostri legibus inflictam subire; et vberius in premissis respondendum et juri parendum : Intimando supradictis Conspiratoribus et eorum cuilibet, siue dictis die et loco cum continuatione dierum comparuerint siue non, nos dictusque noster Justiciarius in premissis, justitia mediante, procedemus et procedet. Insuper citetis, &c. ad comparandum coram nobis nostro Justiciario, dictis die et loco cum continuatione dierum, ad perhibendum fidele testimonium in causa predicta, sub pœna legis : Et presentes literas debite executas et indorsatas earundem lateri reddatis : Et vos qui presentes executi fueritis sitis ibidem dictis die et loco coram nobis seu dicto nostro Justiciario, portan. vobiscum summonitionis vestre testimonium in scriptis, pro premissis seu ipsos testes. Ad quod faciendum, vobis et vestrum cuilibet, conjunctim et diuisim, vicecomitibus nostris in hac parte committimus potestatem. Datum sub testimonio nostri Magni Sigilli, apud Edinburgh, decimo die mensis Februarij, anno domini millesimo quingentesimo nonagesimo primo, et regni nostri vicesimo quinto.

Quhilk Summondis with the executionis and indorsationis thair of respectiue foirsaidis, being this instant day red in presence of his Maiestie and haill Estaittis of Parliament, first in Latyne and syne in Scottis, and the saidis haill personis defenderis respectiue abonewrittin, nocht past fra as said is, being thryise callit of new at the tolbuith windo of the said burgh of Edinburgh, to haif comperit and anfuert to the said Summondis and ressonnes contenit thairin ; and nane of thame comperand, to haif defendit in the said mater and to haif anfuert to the said Summondis, the said Mr David Makgill aduocat to his Maiestie, desyrit the saidis Estaittis declaratioun, gif the ressonnes of the said Summondis wer relevant : Quhilkis Estaittis and euery ane of thame, all in ane voce, stand the samyn relevant aganis the haill personis vnderwrittin. Thairfoir the said aduocat of new, for verefeing of the said resson contenit in the said Summondis of Tressoun, producit and repetit the Extract of Foirfaltour, led and deducit befor the Justice and his deputes aganis the said Frances suntyme Erle Bothuell, Depositionis of the saidis witnesses, the notorietie of the fact, and repetit the haill probationis repetit be him of befor, in the said mater this instant day ; and desyrit the saidis Estaittis of Parliament to advyse the said Depositionis of witnesses and vtheris probationis, and to pronunce thair sentence of Parliament thairintill, according to the samyn probationis and thair consciences : And thairefter, the Depositionis of the haill witnesses execute to the death, and of the witnesses examinat in presence of the saidis Lordis of Articles, haill writtis and probationis, being red, sene and considerit be the saidis haill Estaittis of Parliament, in presence of the Kingis Maiestie, and thair thairwith being ryplie advysit, the saidis lordis and Estaittis of Parliament Findis, discernis and declaris, that the saidis Dame Margaret Dowglafs suntyme Countesse of Bothuell, James Dowglafs of Spott, Archibald Vauchois younger of Nudrie, Mr Johnne Coluile of Strathurdy, Williame Stewart suntyme Constable of Dunbartane, Johnne Hamiltoun younger of Sammelstoun, Williame Lermounth of the Hill, Robert Home younger of the Heuch, Hercules Stewart of Quhytlaw, George Auchincraw of Eist Prestoun, Patrik Auchincraw thair, M^r Thomas Cranftoun younger of Morieftoun, Johnne Cranftoun his brother germane, Johnne Orneftoun of Smailhome, Robert Orneftoun his fone, James Stewart of Tynneife, Patrik Crummy of Caribdin and Daid Orne of Mugdrum, and euery ane of thame, hes committit and done oppin and manifest Trefloun aganis our faid fouerane lord, in all pointis and articles contenit in the faid Summondis.

DOOM. And thairfoir it was gevin for Dome, be the mouth of James Nyfbite dempfter of Parliament, in maner and forme as followis. This Court of Parliament fchawis for law, That the faid Dame Margaret Dowglas funtyme Counteffe of Bothuell, &c. and euery ane of thame, hes committit and incurrit the cryme of Trefloun and Lefe majestie abonewrittin ; in maner at lenth contenit in the faid Summondis : And thairfoir, decernis and declaris all thair guidis, movable and vnmovable, alfweill laudis as offices and vther thingis quhatfumeur, belonging to thame, to be confiscat to our faid fouerane lord, and to remane perpetuallie with his hienes in proprietie : And thair perfonis to vnderly the pane of Trefloun, and vtter and laft pvnifhment appointit be the lawes of this realme. And that I gif for Dome.

Frances sumtyme Erle Bothuell.

Jun. 5.—‘ The proces, convietion, fentence and dome of Foirfaltour, led, deducit and pronuncit of befoir, be his hienes Justice Generall and his deputes, in the Justice Court halden at Edinburgh Jul. 25. 1591,’ was Ratified by Parliament.

The difhercing of the pofteritie of perfonis (above) foirfaltit.

Jun. 5.—Oure fouerane lord and Estaittes of Parliament haifing confiderit the treflounable, erwell and vnmatural fact laillie committit be the perfonis following, in cumpany for the tyme with Frances sumtyme Erle Bothuell, &c. to wit, Frances Erle Bothuile, Archibald Wauchope younger of Nudry, &c. and diuers vtheris thair complices, in thair treflounable cuming to his Maiesties Palice of Halyrudhous, vnder filence of nicht, vpoun the day of December lafbypaft, invading, affeiging and perfewing of his Maiesties maift noble perfone, be fyre and fword, breking up his chalmer durris with foirhammeris, and eruellie flaying his hienes fervandis, cumand to his Maiesties refcourfe ; ane Trefloun and crueltie not hard nor fene committit be fubjectis, fa heichlie oblift to thair natie King and Prince, precogitat, confultit and aggreit vpoun to be put in executioun lang of befoir ; having alfua devisit meanis, in thair jugement, to preferue thair landis and guidis efter the committing of thair Trefloun foirfaid. Quhilk haynous and treflounable fact, as it paffes all vtheris in crueltie and euil example, fua it is thoct meit and expedient that ane condigne law and pvnifhment be fett down for extinguihing of the memorie of the treflounable perfonis foirfaidis and thair pofteritie, to be ane document to all aiges to cum and attempt the lyk : It is thairfoir ftatute and ordanit be oure fouerane lord and his faidis Estaittes of Parliament, that the faid Frances sumtyme Erle Bothnell, Dame Margaret Dowglas sumtyme Counteffe of Bothuile, James Douglas of Spott, Archibald Vauchop younger of Nudry, Mr Johnne Coluile of Straruidie, Williame Stewart sumtyme Conftable of Dunbartane, Johnne Hammiltoun younger of Sammelftoun, Williame Lermounth of the Hill, Robert Home younger of the Hench, Hercules Stewart of Quhytlaw, George Auchincraw of Eist Prestoun, Patrik Auchincraw thair, Mr Thomas Cranstoun younger of Moriestoun, Johnne Cranstoun his brother germane, Johnne Ormestoun in Smailhome, Robert Ormestoun his sone, James Stewart of Tynneis, Patrik Crumbie of Caribdin and David Orme of Mugdrum, thair bairnes, thair airis and baill posteritie, fall neur bruik land, benefice, honour, office nor dignitie within this realme, in ony tyme cuming: And als his Maiestie and Estaittis foirfaidis decernis, decreittis and deliueris, that all maner of infestmentis, alienationis, dispositionis, resignationis, contractis, bandis or obligationis, for making of infestmentis of thair landis and heretages, or ony pairt thair of, or annuelrentis furth of the famyne, togidder with all pretendit assignationis and dispositionis of thair tackis, stedingis, roumes, possessionis, guidis or geir, to ony maner of persone or personis, quhilk take not effect, be actual and reall possession, befor the committing of the foirfaid crymis, falbe null and of nane avail, force nor effect, in tyme cuming, as they had neur bene maid.

(Jun. 8.)—A Proclamation issued, forbidding all the lieges to ‘resset, supplie nor intercommoun with PATRIK MAISTER OF GRAY and Robert Gray his bruther.’

(Jun. 29.)—A Proclamation ‘for persute off THE ERLLE BOTHUILE.’

(Jun. 30.)—A PROCLAMATION ‘for presenting of prisionaris.’—That ‘as diners of the thevis and tratouris that laitlie assailzeit his Maiesteis persone within his awin PALICE OF FALKLAND, eftir thair grite spuilzie and heirschippis, committit vpoun the horsis and guidis of the faithfull and gude subiectis of this realme, in thair schamefull flicht and returning hamewart, ar takin be the way, in diners partis, within the shereffdomes and burrowis of Lanerk and Peblis; quhais takaris will nawayis present thame to justice, without they be compellit;’ therefore declaring that such persons shall be held as traitors.

(July 5.)—The King and Council having granted ‘Licence to WILLIAME ERLE OF ANGUS to remane in the cumpany and societie of Johnne Erll of Montrois, ay and quhill his Maiestie declair forder of his will and pleasour towardis him;’ therefore the Earl of Montrose binds himself, that during this time, ‘he fall nocht do nor attempt ony thing hurtfull or preiudiciall to his Maiestie, the present Estate, nor the Religioun,’ &c. The Earl only obliges himself, ‘for his gude behaviour, during the same tyme of his remaning;’ but would not bind himself for the entry of Angus when required.

(Jul. 8, apud Drumfreis.)—‘Promeis of reward to sik as fall reveill the reffettaris of the ERLLE BOTHUILE and his complices’ is only made, but in case of farther concealment, ‘they falbe persewit with fyre, sward and all vther kynd of rigour.’

(Jul. 11.)—JOHN EARL OF MORTON Lord Maxwell, created Warden of the West March, ‘dimittit be Sir Johnne Carmichaell of that Ilk, knight.’ He is ordained the same day ‘to mak redres for bigane attemptatis.’

(Jul. 12.)—It is declared, that ‘albeit Johnne Lord Maxwell be nominat and styllit Erll of Mortoun in the late Act, and in fundrie vther Actis and ordinances,' &c. 'zit the fame nominatioun and style fall nawayes hurt nor preuge the richte and titles quhilkis WILLIAME DOUGLAS ERLL OF MORTOUN Lord Dalkeith, hes and pretendis to have, as air of taillie to the Earldome of Mortoun; nor zit impair him in honnour, style, dignitie, preeminence and priuilegeis, quhilkis he hes and broukis, or may brouke and possès thairby,' &c

WARRANT for demolishing of the Housses of Tynneis, Horden (Harden) and Dryhoip

APUD PEIBLIS, xij die mensis Julij, anno lxxxij^o (1592.)—The Kingis Maiestie, with aduise of the Lordis of his Secreit Counsale, Gevis and grantis full pouer and Commiffioun, expres bidding and charge, be thir presentis, to his weilbelouitt Williame Stewart of Tracquair, to DIMOLEIS and caus to be dimoleift and cassin down to the ground, the place and houssis of TYNNEIS, quhilkis pernitit to James Stewart sumtyme of Tynneis; as alsua, the lyke pouer and commiffioun, expres bidding and charge, to Walter Scott of Gouldielandis and Mr Iedeon Murray, conjunctlie and feuerallie, to dimoleis and caus be dimoleift and cassin down to the ground, the placeis, houssis and fortaliceis of HARDEN and DRYHOIP, pertening to Walter Scott of Harden, quha, with the said James Steuart, wes arte and parte of the lait tressonabill fact, perpetrat aganis his hienes awin persone at Falkland: And that the foirfaidis personis caus the premisses be putt in execution with all convenient expeditioun in signe and taikin of the foirfaidis vthiris personis tressonable and vmmaturall defectioun and attemptat, committit be thame in manner foirfaid. As thay will anfuer to his hienes vpoun thair obedience.

(Jul. 13, apud Edinburgh.)—JOHN PENNYCUKE of that Ilk and MARK ACHESOUN of Achiefonitheavin, denounced rebels, for refetting the Earl of Bothwell and his accomplices.

(Jul. 13.)—JOHNE STEUART of Roisland finds surety (Richard Hereot y^r of Trabroun), 'that he fall nocht refett Matheu Hereot, denuncet rebell.'

Jul. 20.)—WALTER SCOTT of Hardenis ordered to be denounced rebel, for not appearing 'to have anfuerit to sic thingis as fould haue bene inquirit of him at his cwning, twicheing the late tressonable attemptat committit aganis his Maiesteis persone at Falkland, vpoun the xxviiij day of Junij lastbipast.

(Aug. 10, apud Dalkeith.)—PHILP SCOTT of, denounced for the treasonable refet of the Earl of Bothwell and his accomplices; and being present at the Raid of Falkland.

(Aug. 24, apud Castrum de Edinburgh.)—In 'the querrell and contrauerfie laitlie happymmit betuix ROBERT BRUCE of Clakmannane and the Prouost, bailies and Counfall of Perth,' 'the Kingis Maiesteie desiret the said Robert to informe his Maiesteie and the Counsale present, of the iniurie and offensès committit aganis him be the saidis Bailies, &c. cauffes and occasioun thair of; quha declarit, That he having certane guidis and geir cuming throu the same burgh, nocht bocht nor to be fauld thairin, the same guidis wer not onlie stayed and not sufferit to haue passage be thair portis, bot at last intromettit with be sum of thair nichtbouris, becaus his seruand caryar of the saidis (guidis) wald not pay custum thairfoir; quhilk being reportit to him, and he finding the same to be a novatioun, quhairwith his vnr^{le} father nor nane of his tennentis and seruandis wer burlynnit in his tyme, requirit the saidis Baillies, be his Missive Letter, to repair this injurie, and to caus his guidis be randerit agane without payment of ony custum, vthirwayes he wald vse the lyke forme of doing to thair nichtbouris,¹ in thair passage betuix thair toun and Dundee: And becaus thair refusit to satisfie this his ressonnable desyre, he take sum of thair nichtbouris repairing fra Dundee to the said toun, and take thair waponis fra thame; quhilk waponis he offerrit, be his vther Missive Letter direct to the saidis Baillies, to caus be delyuerit agane, be reffaving the lyke deliuerie of his saidis guidis; quhilk, as of befoir, not onlie being refusit, bot sum of thair nichtbouris, and in speciall Williame Inglis and Johnne Balfillie, come to his ground and landis of Gastounhall, vpoun the xvj day of August instant, and eit, trampit down and distroyit with thair horffis, the cornis growand vpoun the saidis landis; ffor the quhilk, thay being reprovit, thay vtterit sum iniurious wordis; quhairvpoun he wes movit to stryke ane of thame with ane pistollett, and in end to tak and retene thame in his place of Gastounhall, without forder iniurie done to thame: And that same nicht, the saidis Baillies, counfall and communitie, to the nowmer of personis or thairby, all bodin in feir of weir, come to his said place, and vpoun the morne, afoir day licht, foundit thair drwm, affegeit him thairin, dischargit hacquebutis and pistollettis in at the durris and windois thair of; and at last tressounable sett to fyre, and enterit perforce in the same place, at the ruif thair of; and eftir thay had cruellie hurte his seruand, with the schott of ane hacquebute, to the effusioun of his blude in grite quantitie and perrell of his lyffe, thay take him selff, and transportit him away with thame ane certane space, bairfutit and bairleggit, not suffering him to putt on his awne clathis; and spuilzeit and take away with thame his haill siluer-werk, bedding, clathis and all the plennessing of his hous: And all this wes done without ony Commissioun had be thame thairto: Vfurpand thairby vpoun thame his Maiesteis authoritie. To the quhilk it wes ansuerit be the saidis Baillies and counfall present,² that the taking of custum, for sic kynd of guidis as had passage be thair portis and brig, wes na novatioun, bot a forme of doing vsed be thame and thair prediceffouris in all tyme bigane, past memoir of man, according to thair liberties and preuilegeis grantit to thame to that effect; and thairfoir, in staying the said Robert Bruceis guidis, quhill the custume thairof had bene payit, thay committit na wrang: And forder allegeit, that albeit the first taking of sum of thair nichtbouris, and reteneing of thair waponis, wes ane offens done, na les to the contempt of his Maiestie then to thair particulair greif and hurte, 3it thay not onlie patientlie buir thairwith, bot causit restitutionoun to be maid to him agane of his saidis guidis, without payment of ony custum thairof: And thair-efter, thay directit Anthone Maxtoun, ane of thair awin nichtbouris, requiring him to suffer the saidis Williame Inglis and Johne Waffilbie (Balfillie) takin and detenit be him within the said place, eftir thai wer cruellie hurte and woundit, to haue libertie and fredome: Quhilk not onlie being refusit, bot at last, reporte being maid to thame that he had murdreift and slane the same personis; quhairvpoun, complaint and exclamatioun being maid be thair wyffis, bairnis and vtheris of their freindis, in end, Olipheir Peblis, shereff-depute of the sheresdom of Perth, to quhome a certane nowner of thair saidis nichtbouris gaif thair concurrence and assistance, past, according to the pouer grantit to thame be the Actis of Parliament, to the said Robert Bruce place foirsaid, and thair perforce recouerit thame furth of his handis; and tuke him selff away with thame, to be anfuerable to iustice.

¹ Townsman, inhabitants of the burgh.

² Olipher Young, Patrik Blair and Adam Anderfoun, bailleis of the said burgh, James Drummond dean of gild, Williame Merfer, Patrik Anderfoun, Thomas Burrell, Williame Stevinfoun, Robert Sym and Williame Jak, burgeses of the same burgh.

THE KINGIS Maiestie, with aduise of the saidis Lordis, ffindis and declairis, that baith the saidis parteis, be thair awin declaratioun and confessioun, hes offendit and contempnit his Maiestie, his auctoritie and lawis: And thairfoir, ordanis the said Robert Bruce to be committit to warde within his lienes Castell of Edinburgh; and the saidis Williame Merfair, Patrik Andirfoun, Thomas Burrell, Williame Stevinfoun, Robert Sym and Williame Jak within the Castell of Blaknes; thairin to remane vpoun thair awne expenffes, ay and quhill thay and thair compliceis, assistaris and pairt-takaris with thame in the committing of the foirsaidis crymes and offenses, be putt to the knaulege of ane Assise, befoir the Justice or his deputis; and that justice be ministrat as effeiris: And that feuerall warrandis be direct for thair ressett in warde, within the saidis Castellis.

(Ang. 29, apud Dalkeith.)—ALEXANDER LORD OF SPYNIE ordained to be put to the knowledge of an Assise before the Justice, in the Tolbooth of Edinburgh, the tuelf day of September nixtocum, for the treffounable ressett within his place of Abirdour of Frances suuntyme Erll Bothuell; and for intelligence had with him, or (until) that materis wes pakkit vp betuix thame, for the Raid of Falkland; quhairof the said Alexander is dilaitit, be Williame Commendator of Pittinweyme.' 'Certifeing alwayes the said Commendatour, that in cais the said Alexander fall, eftir tryall, be fund clene and innocent of the saidis crymes, that in that caise the pane and pvneishment, prescryuit in his hienes lawis and Actis of Parliament, falbe extendit and vfit aganis the said Commendatour with all rigour and extremitie.'

(Sep. 2.)—DAVID COCHRANE of Pitfour complained to the King and Council, that he had raised Letters against HARY LINDSAY of Kinfawnis, on the ground that the said Hary, 'with conuocatioun of his hienes liegis, to the nowmer of xl personis or thairby, all bodin in feir of weir, with jakkis, speiris, hacquebutis, pistolettis and vtheris waponis invasiue, prohibite to be worne be the lawis of this realme and Acts of Parliament, come vpoun the xxvij day of Julij lastbi-past, about twa houris in the moirning, to the place of Pitfour, quhair the said complener, his wyffe, bairnis and familie wer for the tyme, takand the nichtis rest, lippynning for na violence nor iniwrie of ony personis; and finding the zettis (gates) of the said place closed, sua that thay could nocht gett entres thairin, thay secreitlie hid thame selffis, in certane quiet pairtis aboute his hous, and directit ane boy to his zett, as giff he had cum with ane Missiue Letter to the said complenair frome the Laird of Lethindie, desiring entres, that he nicht delyuer the said Missiue; quhair of the said complenair being aduerteiffit, and lippynning for na thing les then that quhilk happynmit, he causit oppin his zettis, to haue lattin in the said boy; at the oppynning quhair of, the said Hary and his compliceis violentlie rusheit in at the zett, and being repulfit, and putt bak and the zettis closed, thay then be plane violence and force brak vp the same zettis, enterit within the said hous, intromettit with the said complenaris hail mouablis and plenneffing, and removit and expellit his wyffe, with nyne young bairnes, and his hail familie, furth of the said hous; vsing sic inhumanitie aganis his wyffe and bairnis, as the lyke hes not bene hard of to haue bene committit be a gentilman of his estait; quha, eftir the removing and putting of thame furth of the said hous, wald nocht sehaw thame that courtesie to remane in ane barne or byre, outwith his said hous; bot hes forceit thame to ly vpoun the feildis, aboute his awne wallis and zettis fensyne: And now hes placeit certane of the said complenaris vnfreindis, (enemies.) with quhome he standis vnder deidlie feid, within the said hous; quha keipis and detenis the same, and on nawise will delyuer the same to the said complenair, without compulsioun.' Lindsay was accordingly charged to deliver up the house, &c. and to answer before the King and Council for these acts of oppression. The parties having appeared along with 'Johnne Tuedie, present keipar of the said hous;' and 'in respect the said hous was randerit to the messenger, without tryale or cognitioun, ordanis vtheris letteris to be direct,' charging them 'to render and delyuer the samin, togidder with the guidis and geir quhilkis thay reffaut thairintill, vpoun inventair,' within fix hours thereafter, under the pain of rebellion, &c.

(Sep. 14.)— WEMYSS younger of Logie and Mr RICHARD DOUGLAS, fone lauchfull to the Laird of Qubittinghame, ordered to be denounced, for not appearing to have answered relative to Earl Bothwell, &c. Sir MICHAEL BALFOUR of Burlie also to be denounced, for not appearing to answer, concerning 'his Maieftis perfone and eftate,' &c.

(Sep. 14.)—PROCLAMATION 'to meit at Peiblis, in feir of weir, with xv dayes victuallis and prouifounn,' upon the xxv day of September, to accompany the King 'in propir perfone, to tak the feildis' againft BOTHWELL and his accomplices, 'inhabitantis within the boundis of West Tiviotdaill.'

(Sep. 23.)—ANDRO KER of Phairnihirst, Johnne Ruthirfurde elder of Hunt-hill, Williame R. younger of H., Williame Ruthirfurde proueft of Jedburgh and Williame Kirktonn baillie of Jedburgh, ordained to be denounced rebels, for failing to appear this day, to have answered 'twicheing the tressounable reffett, intercommuning and intelligence had be thame with Frances funtyme Erll Bothuill,' &c.

(Sep. 26.)—On account of the state of the haruest, 'be the lang continewance of this stormie and vnseasonable wedder,' the meeting at Peebles was postponed to the tenth day of October.

(Sep. 28.)—SCHIR JOHNNE LINDSAY of Ballingho knicht, to be denounced for failing to answer as to his intercommuning with Bothwell.

(Oct. 14, apud Jedburgh.)—A great number of the lesser barons on the Border, find security this day and afterwards, that they 'fall behave as deütifull and obedient subiects.' The Court is held 'at Haliruidhous' on Oct. 24.

(Nov. 4, apud Haliruidhous.)—An act is passed in favour of ALEXANDER LORD SPYNIE, in which the charge brought against him of intercommuning with Bothwell, &c.¹ is, after strict trial, found to be a malicious invention of Colonell Williame Steuart; the King and Council 'restoir and repone him to his honnour, dignitie, place and service he had of his Maieftie.'

(Nov. 9.)—A 'Commiffioun of Lientennandrie and Justiciarie' is granted to WILLIAM EARL OF ANGUS Lord Douglas and Abirnethie, in consequence of the King being 'informeit of the grite cruelteis, heirschippis and difordouris recentlie committit be the laules brokin hieland men of the Clanchattan, Clancameron, Clunrannald, and vtheris, pretending thair dependans vpoun the ERLIS of HUNTIE and ATHOILL, hes sa wrakit and shaikin lowfe findrie pairtis of the North cuntrey, that grite nowmeris of honnest and peaceable folkis, his hie-

¹ See Aug. 29, 1592.

nes subiectis, ar murthowrit, thair houffis brunt, now in the winter seasoun, thair guidis spuilzeit, &c. : With special pouer to intercommoun with the saidis Erllis and vtheris authouris and movaris of the saidis difordouris and crueltis, twicheing thair desifting from armes and hostilitie, and repairing of sic placeis as his Maiestie hes appointit, quhair the groundis, occasionis and circumstances of the saidis troubles may be hard, and the same redressit, &c. And ‘giff neid be, to display his Maiesteis banner, assege houffis, raise fyre and vse all vther force and weirlyke ingyue,’ &c.

(Nov. 16.)—A PROCLAMATION issued against the EARL OF BOTHWELL; and of new interdicting all subjects from intercommuning, &c. with him.

(Nov. 20.)—Another Proclamation and Declaration to the same effect.

(Dec. 8.)—All Refetters and Assifters of Bothwell, having been ordered, in time coming, to approach no nearer the Royal presence than ten miles, and many of them having disobeyed, Warrant is issued to the Provost and Bailies of Edinburgh to apprehend ‘DAME MARGARET DOUGLAS, CONTESSÉ OF BOTHWILE, Arch^d Wauchop younger of Nudrie, Williame Stewart sumtyme Constable of the Castell of Dunbartane, Johnne Hammiltoun younger of Samuelstoun, Williame Liermonth of the Hill, Hercules Stewart of Quhytlaw, Mr Thomas Cranstoun younger of Moriestoun, James Stewart of Tymeis, Sir James Scott of Balverie, Andro Ker of Farnyhirst, Watt Scott of Harden, &c., and all others received or that shall be received into favor, quhilkis fall nocht produce and schaw to thame, his Maiesteis Licence, for thair remaning within the same burgh.’

(Jan 5, 1592-3.)—A PROCLAMATION issued against ‘the coverit and biffy trauellis of JESUITES, Seminarie Preistis, borne subjectis of this realme, and sum vtheris, strangearis, and their tressounable CONSPIRACIE for inbringing of straugearis, SPANȜEARTIS, in this realme, this nixt spring or somer; to the ouerthrow of his hienes and all professing the trew Religioun with him, and to the ruyne and conquest of this auncient Kingdome and libertie,’ &c.

(Eodem die.)—Act passed, ‘allowing the apprehending and warding’ of WILLIAM ERLI OF ANGUS within the Castle of Edinburgh, ‘vpoun suspicioun confaut, that he wes guilty of sum tressonable Conspiracie, diuifit for subuerfion of the trew Religioun,’ &c.; ‘as planelie appearis be sum Letteris, laitlie apprehendit with Mr George Ker bruthir to the Lord of Neubottle, subferyuit be the said Erll and vtheris his colligis: As alsua, concerning the warding, tryell and examinatioun of the said Mr George, Hew Barclay of Ladyland, and sum vtheris, apprehendit for this same caus.’

(Eodem die.)—Another ACT, that in future, all persons suspected of such crimes, shall be called before the King and Council, ‘and giff thair aithis of veritie solempnitlie, that thay fall lelilie and treulie declair and depone the veritie,

&c., and conceill na pairt thair of; and in cais thay fall refuse to sweir and giff the said aith, that thair refusale, in that cais, falbe haldin as a Confessioun of the crymes quhair of thay ar or fall be delaitit and inquirit.'

(Jan. 8.)—MR ALEXANDER KING, Advocat, finds caution to the extent of L.5000, that he shall appear personally, on six days warning, and answer 'to sic thingis as falbe layed to his charge'. Robert Swintoun of that Ilk, Mr Michael Cheitholme, and Williame Fairlie, burgesis of Edinburgh, were his sureties.

(Jan. 12.)—Letters ordained to be directed, charging SIR JOHNNE KER of Hirsell, knight, and Mr WALTER LINDSAY of Balgawy, to appear and answer, 'concerning thair practizing in materis aganis the Estait of Religioun, his hienes persone and autoritie, and disturbing of the commoun quietnes of the realme;' under the pain of Rebellion.

(Jan. 17.)—PROCLAMATION 'to pas fordwart to the North with his hienes, for resisting and repressing of the authoris of the tressounable Conspiracie for the inbringing of Strangearis, and raising of Ciuile wear,' &c.; and 'for defens and maintenance of the libertie of Religioun from thraldome of conscience, and conquest and flaverie of Strangearis;' 'vnder the pane of tinfall of lyffe, landis and guidis.'

(Jan. 23.)—JOHNNE EARL OF MENTEITH finds Johnne Blair of that Ilk, Johnne Grahame of Knokdoleane and Robert Grahame of Thornik, as his cautioners, under the pain of 10,000 merks, 'that he fall on nawayis invade nor perfew WALTER LEKKY of that Ilk, his kin, &c., in the deidlie feid standing betuix him and his saidis freindis.' Johnne Earl of Montrois, Johnne M^r of Montrois, Mr Johnne Grahame of Halzairdis, Sir Duncane Campbell of Glenvrquhay, Williame Grahame of Balivie, Williame Grahame of Claverhous, and Williame Grahame of Panhollis, bind themselves to relieve the cautioners of their surety.

(Jan. 25.)—WALTER LEKKY of that Ilk, finds Johnne Murray of Polmais as his cautioner, under the pain of 3000 merks, that he shall not invade or pursue the EARL OF MENTEITH.

(Eodem die.)—Robert Jamesoun, burges of Air, ordained to deliver to Sir James Sandielandis of Slammannane, 'M^r (Maister) Knight, gentilman of his hienes chalmer,' the sum of 236 'crownis of gold,' delivered to him by James Campbell his fervant, who received the same from Mr George Ker, brother to Mark Lord Newbottle.

(Jan. 30.)—COMMISSION to ARCHIBALD EARL of ARGYLE, his hienes Justice Generall, for repressing the violence of 'the wicked CLANGREGOUR, the STEUARTIS of Baqhiddar and diuers vtheris brokin men of the hielandis,' &c.; with power to charge 'all and findrie personis of the furename of the MAK-

GREGOUR, and the STEUARTIS of Baquhidder, thair affittaris and pairt-takaris, to find fouirtie or to entir plegeis, as he fall think maift expedient, for obseruation of his hienes peace, quietnes and gude reule in the cuntrey,' &c. Power is also given to convocate the lieges, and to 'perfew and affege' their 'houffis and strenthis, raise fyre and vse all kynd of force and weirlyke ingyne,' &c.

(Eodem die.)—A number of 'MACKGREGOURIS' charged to appear before the Earl of Argyle, at Stirling, the . . . day of February next.

(Feb. 5, apud Sanct Androis.)—GEORGE ERLI of HUNTLIE, FRANCES ERLI of ERROLE and SCHIR PATRIK GORDOUN of Auchindoun, kn^t, ordained to be denounced rebels, for not appearing this day, to answer 'tuiching thair practizing and trafficquing with JESUITES, Seminarie Preiftis, and vtheris excommunicat and trafficquing Papiftis, aganis the flate of the trew Religioun,' &c.

(Feb. 12, apud Halirudhous.)—ROBERT LOGANE of Restalrig, to be denounced, for not appearing to have answered 'vpoun his tressounable Conspiring, consulting, trafficquing and diuising with Frances sumtyme Erl Bothuill, in fundrie tressounable purpoissis, aganis his Maieftis persone and autoritie.'

(Feb. 15.)—SCHIR JAMES CHEISHOLME of Dundorne, kn^t, to be denounced, for not appearing to answer, 'tuicheing his practizing and trafficquing, in fundrie tressounable materis, aganis the trew Religioun,' &c.

(Feb. 26, apud Abirdene.)—WILLIAME ERLI of ANGUS, Lord Douglas and Abirnethy, ordained to be denounced, for not appearing to answer, 'tuicheing the tressounable practizing aganis the estate of the trew Religioun, presentlie professit within this realme, his Maieftis persone, autoritie, estate and realme,' &c.

(Mar. 3.)—MR ROBERT KEITHE, brother to George Earl Marischall, to be denounced, for not appearing to answer a charge at the instance of the Earl and Robert Lord Altrie, his uncle, that 'quhair he, vnmmyndfull of his naturall dewtie towardis him, hes laitlie with his compliceis, violentlie, and be way of deid, takin the said Erllis hous of Akirgill, in Caithnes, and intrufit him selff in possessioun thair of, of intentioun to mak incurfiounis vpoun his tennentis and feruandis, occupiaris of his landis adiacent and belanging thairto; and to commit all maner of oppressioun, reif and heirshippis vpone thame: As lykknife, to compell thame to answer and mak payment to him of the mailles and dewteis thair of, by (contrary to) all ordour of law and justice, and to the grite contempt of his hienes auctoritie: Quhais insolence, albeit the saidis complenaris be able aneuch to repres and tak ordour with; yit, in respect of his hienes presence in the cuntrey, thay ar laith thairto, in hoip that his Maieftie fall prouyde remeid for pvnishment of sic insolence and enormitie.'

(Mr. a 9.)—A COMMISSION is granted to GEORGE EARL MARISHALL Lord

Keith and Altrie, constituting him his Majesty's Commissioner, within the bounds of the Sherifdoms of Kincardin, Aberdeen and Banf, 'to pas, searche, feik and tak GEORGE ERLLE OF HUNTLEY, WILLIAME ERLLE OF ANGUS, FRANCES ERLLE OF ERROIE, Schir Patrik Gordoun of Auchindoun, kn^t, Schir James Cheifholme of Dundorne, kn^t, Mr James Gordoun and Mr Williame Ogiluy, Mr Robert Abercrummy, and all vtheris Jesuites, Seminarie Preiftis and trafficking Papiftis, tressounable practizearis aganis the Estate of the trew Religioum, presentlie professit within this realme, his hienes persone, crowne and libertie of this cuntrey: AS ALSWA, the vtheris personis vndirwrittin, denunceit rebellis and putt to the horne, and fugitive fra his hienes lawis, for the tressounable FYRE-RASING and birning of the place of DYNNIBIRSELL and MURTHOUR of vmq^{le} JAMES ERLLE OF MURRAY: thay ar to say, the saidis George Erll of Huntlie, Schir Patrik Gordoun of Auchindoun, kn^t, Schir Thomas G. of Chuny, kn^t, William G. of Geycht, Robert Innes of Innermerky, Johnne Gordoun apperand of Lefmoir, William G. of the Craig of Auchindoir, Johnne G. youngair of Carnburrow, George G. his bruther, James Lorymer, Alexander Chalmer, feruitouris to the Laird of Innermerky, Patrik Gordoun of Letterfoury, Patrik G. of Corrachrie, Johnne G. younger of Auchannachie, Normond Leslie, Johnne Vans of Lochslyne, Johnne Gordoun of Auldtonleyis, Johnne Drummoud, Andro Wode, Johnne Edmestoun, Robert Dalgleishe, Williame Borthuik, George Gordoun of Crechie, James Moubray, George Gordoun bruthir to Patrik G. of Corrachrie, James Borthuik at the Brigend of Haillis, Johnne Chalmer fuster-sonne to the Laird of Geycht, and Williame Morifoun: togidder with the ressettaris, &c., and to bring them before the King and Council, or before the Justice or his deputies, to be punished for their demerits: AND also, 'to reprehs and resist, and as occasioun fallis oute or necessitie requiris, to tak and apprehend all thevis, revaris, fornaris, violent and maisterful oppressouris, hieland and lauland, brokin men,' &c. With power likewise to hold Courts of Justiciary, &c.—The following persons are added 'as Counfallouris to the said Erll, he quhais aduise, or ony three of thame conjunctlie, he and his deputis shall proceed in the execution of this present Commission, viz. Johnne Maister of Forbes, Robert Lord Altrie, Alexander Iruing of Drum, Schir Walter Ogilvy of Findletter, kn^t, Schir George Ogilvy of Dunlugus, kn^t, Alexander Frafer of Phillorth, James Creichtoun of Fren draucht, Williame Forbes of Tolquhone, George Johnnestoun of Caskyben, Williame Forbes of Monymusk, Williame Forbes of Corse, Johnne Wisbert of Pittarro, of Thornetoun, of Lowrestoun, of Balmame and Arbuthnott of that Ilk.'

(Mar. 9.)—A similar COMMISSION granted to JOHNNE ERLLE OF ATHOILL Lord Balvany, as his Majesty's Commissioner, within the bounds of the shires of

Elgin, Fores, Nairn, Inverness and Cromarty. He is instructed 'to concur, fortifie and assist' the Earl Marischall; 'and for this effect, to repair to him with his forceis, within the saidis boundis, at sic tymes as the necessitie fall sa require, or as he salbe advertit or defyr it be the said Erl Marischaell.' Symon Lord Frazer of Lovatt, Johnne Grant of Freuchy, Coline M^cKenzie of Kintail, Lauchlane M^cIntoshie of Dummauchtane, George Ros of Balnagowne, Mr Hector Monro of Foulis, Johnne Dunbar of Moynes schereff of Murray, Johnne Vrqhart tutour of Cromartie, Thomas Frazer tutour of Lovatt and Williame Suthirland of Duffus, are appointed his 'counfallouris.'

(Apr. 12, 1593, apud Halyruidhous.)—'JOHNNE BUCHQUHANNANE of Drumfoid and James B., sonis to Thomas B. of Blairlofk, Archibald M^cAirthure in (and) Airthure M^cAirthure in Ardindowane, Johnne M^cInlay, sone to the millar of Dunstuge, and George Buntene M^cIndoquhy, seruand to Thomas B. of Blairlofk,' ordained to be denounced rebels, &c. by virtue of 'our souerane lordis Letteris, rasit at the instance of Johnne Campbell of Ardkinglas, Maister Johnne C. of Auchinveling, Mr Dougall C. Deine of Breichin, Patrik and Robert Campbellis, brether to vmq^{le} Duncane Campbell; makand mentioun, that quhair the said Johnne C. of Ardkinglas, at the speciall directioun of his hienes, being cuming to the burgh of Edinburgh, vnder his Maiesteis protectioun, and being on his jorney, at Dumbertane, vpon the xxviij day of Marche last, accompanied onlie with four seruandis, in peceable and quiet maner, he tuik purpos to hald fordwart his jorney that same nycht efter supper, be resoun of the trublis quhilkis ar in that cuntrey, lippynning for nathing les than ony injurie or truble to haue bene intendit aganis him; notwithstanding, it is of the trewth, that Johnne Buchannane, &c. being advertit of the said Lard of Ardkinglas intencion to hald fordwart his jorney that nicht, thay associat vnto thame selffis findrie vtheris, brokin men and fugitives, to the number of tuentie-foir personis on horse and fute, all bodin in feir of weir, with lang hagbuttis, jakkis, pistolettis and vtheris waponis invasue, prohibite to be worne be the lawis of this realme and Actis of Parliament; and lay in ambushment in ane yaird, direct opposite to the gait, quhairby the said compleneris behuifit to pas, of sett purpos and prouisioun to haue murderit him in his by cuming: Lyk as, the said vmq^{le} Duncane and ane vther of his seruandis, being gangand a litle befoir him, and the personis foirsaidis suirly beleving that ane of thame had beine the said Lard of Ardkinglas, thay dischairgeit ane dufane of harquebuittis at the saidis tua personis, and schott the said vmq^{le} Duncane in the heid with ane of the same schottis; and thaireftir cuming furth of the yaird, finding the said vmq^{le} Duncane not to be deid, and still beleving he had beine the said Lard of Ardkinglas, thay schamefullie and barbarouly maglit and slew him with sweirdis, and cuttit of his heid:

And then, perceiving thame selfis to be disapointit, thay fehairplie followit the said Lard, sehott aucht or nyne hagbuittis at him, and had not failit lykwayis to haue flaine him, wer nocht be the Prouidence of God he eschaipit : Committing thairthrow maist sehamefull and barbarous Murthure, vponne sett purpos and prouisioun, in hie and proud contemptioun of his Maieftie and his authoritie, and euil example of vtheris to do the lyke, giff this remane vnpunisset.'

(Apr. 15.)—Johnne Lord Hammiltoun ordered to be denounced, for not presenting Mr PATRIK HAMMILTOUN, brother to George H. of Prestoun, Captane of the Castell of Brody in Arrane, as bound by the laws and the 'Generall Band,' to present and enter him before the King and Council, 'to be punist for his demerittis, proud contempt and rebellious;' and to have answered to a Complaint made by Abacueh Biffett,¹ writer to the Signet, that on 23, 25 and 28 days of September, 1587, Mr Patrick was denounced rebel, for not appearing before the King and Council, 'tuicheing thair (Mr Patrick's and John H. fear of Prestoun, his brother's sons) cruell perfuit and inuasioun of the said complener, within St Geilis Kirk of Edinburgh, in tyme of Parliament, and mutilatioun and dismembering him of the haill fingeris of his left hand,' &c.; and that 'sen the tyme of his denunceatioun, he hes maist sehamefullie and vnhonestlie mordreift and flane tua innocent men, to wit vniql^e David Stewart in Buit, and vniql^e Inglis, quha newer offendit him,' &c.; 'befydis mony vther and odious vicked deidis committit be him, vponne his Maieftis peceable subiectis, and speciallie, within the pairtis of Arrane, quhair he wes appointit Capitane of Brody, oppressand sic as may not resist him, baith be sey and land, and takand ranfomis and buiting² with wtheris his complices, that he houndit out to that effect; behaving him selff, in all respectis, as gif he wer not subiect to a fouerane lord and king,' &c.

(Apr. 17, apud Edinburgh.)—James Cheyne of Straloch became cautioner for PATRIK CHEYNE of Effilmonth, 'that he, be him selff and all that he is obleift to answeir for, be the lawis of this realme, fall behave thame selfis as dewtifull and obedient subiectis'—and that thay shall not 'tak pairt with George Erll of Huntlie, &c., nor na vtheris, Jefuitis,' &c., under the pain of 3000 merks.

(Apr. 21.)—A number of 'NORTHLAND MEN' find caution under large fums, that thay shall repair to the town of Dundee, upon the 24th day of April instant, ' and thair, ather fatisfie the Generall Assemblie of the Kirkis, quhilkis ar to be convenit thairin the same day, in sic thingis as concernis the trew Religiou, &c. ; and returne ane Testimoniall of the same satisfioun, to his Maiestie and Lordis of Secreit Counsale, within thre dayis nixt thairefter ; or ellis, within the same spaice, fall returne and enter thair personis in waird, within the burgh of Edinburgh,' &c.

¹ Habakkuk Bisset was clerk to Sir John Skene, Lord Clerk Register. He is the reputed author of 'Ane short Forme of Proces, presently vsed and observed before the Lords of Counsell and Session,' appended to Skene's Scottish translation of the Regiam Majestatem, published in 1609. This work forms one of the articles in a scarce volume, entitled 'A Compilation of the Forms of Process in the Court of Session, during the earlier periods after its establishment; with the variations which they have since undergone, and likewise some ancient tracts concerning the manner of proceeding in Baron Courts; published by order of the Commissioners lately appointed by his Majesty for Enquiring into the Administration of Justice in Scotland.' 8vo. Edinburgh, 1809. ² Free-booting? Taking booty.

Apr. 26.)—PROCLAMATION, that ' fforfamekle as thair is ane Justice Court proclamit and appointit to be haldin within the burgh of Hadingtoun, vpon the thrid day of Maij nixtocum, with continewatioun of dayes, be certane noblemen, barrones and vtheris, to quhome his Maiestie hes gevin full power and Commiffioun to call and convene befoir thame diuerse personis, inhabitantis within the boundis of the sherefdomes of Berwik, Lawderdail and Edinburgh, within the Conftabularie of Hadingtoun, committaris of the saidis crymes and enormities, and to proceed and minister justice vpon thame,' &c. ' And that necessar it is, that Commiffionaris be weill and substancioufflie accompaneit, with a force of his hienes guid subiectis.' Therefore, that the ' Erllis, lordis, barronis, fewaris and frehalderis, duelland within the saidis boundis, alsweill to regalitie as ryaltie,' be charged to repair to Haddington ' weill bodin in feir of weir, and with ten dayis victuallis and prouiffioun.'

ANENT the Tryall and punishment of the Ressetaris and assistaris of
THE ERLI BOTHUIL.

(May 1, apud Haliruidhous.)—Anent the Kingis Maiesteis Propofitioun to his nobilitie and baronis presentlie conuenit, concerning the present difordouris ower all the realme, and contempt of his hienes authoritie ; and speciallie, how his persoun might be gairdit, and the rebellious contempt of Frances sumtyme Erl Bothuill his affisteris and ressetaris repreit and puneffit ; it wes answerit, that the seruice and execution necessar for that effect, behuiffit to be done, ather be a force of waigait men, quhilk hardlie may be intertenit be ony vther moyen (to thair knowlege) nor be a generall taxatioun ; and that cannot be condiscendit vnto, without the consent of all the Estaittis convenit, the personis now present being vnable of thame selffis to resolue thairanent ; or then, the said execution behued to be maid, be ane force of his hienes subiectis, of all estaittis, to be convenit personallie in armes, be Proclamatioun : Notwithstanding, that thair fall appear na inlaik, in the det-bund guidwill and readynes of the noblemen, barrones and counsale present, to do all that lysis in thair habilitie, alsweill for the faulfgaird and preservatioun of his hienes persoun, as for the repreffing of the said sumtyme Erl his affisteris and ressetaris, without ony excuse or delay ; thay offerit thame selffis redy to remane and accompany his Maiestie, and to assist him with thair trew counsaile, or to pas in sic pairtis as fould be fund expedient, for seircheing and reprehending of the avowit and knawin offendaris ; and thocht meit, that vtheris quha ar suspect, fould be callit befor his hienes and his Counsaile, or his Justice ; and baith the ane foirt and the vther tryit and pvnifit, as thay fould be fund to haue merited ; with all vther personis knawin giltie, or suspectit as offendouris aganis the trew Religioun, or in vtheris odius crymis ower all pairtis of the realme, and justice to be ministrat and executit thairvpon with all possible expeditioun. FURTHER, seing his hienes clemencie, heirtofore schawin to the saidis Erllis assistaris and ressettaris, hes producit sa littill guid effect, bot be the contrair, hes bene sa contemptiouflie and ingraitlie abuiset ; efter ressoning, quhidder it wer mair convenient to schaw ony forder or lyk clemencie heirefter, or with seueritie to try and persew the offendouris, quhill the occasioun of the evill be takin away ; the noblemen, counsaill and barronis, presentlie declairit and concludit, that seueir justice wes maist expedient to be vsit and executit in tyme cuning, sen his hienes former clemencie hes bein sa far abuiset : And lykas, thay haue maist humblie craved of his hienes, that the conclusiounis sett down be commoun consent in counsaile, for the executioun of the premiffes, fall not be alterit nor brokin be ony thing, to be grantit or past his Maiesteis hand, without the knowlege and aduise also of the Counsaile sittand, at the importune suit of ony privat personis ; quhairvnto his hienes hes condescendit and promeifit :¹ Sa that the saidis noblemen, barronis, counsaile and vtheris now present, or that fall subscriue this present Act heireftir, lykwayis faithfullie promeifit vnto his Maiestie, that nane of thame fall heirefter speik or solist him in the fauour, or for spairing of ony personis that salbe thocht worthy to be tryit and pvnifit, for the cryme foirsaid, vnder the paine of his hienes repruif and indignatioun ; and to be estemit be him as fauoraris and partakaris with the said Erll, in all his tressonable and vicked deidis ; as alsua, faithfullie promeifit, not onlie to accompany his Maiestie, as is befor writtin, sa lang and in sic nwmer as his hienes fall think necessar, bot also to vse thair panes, and do thair exact diligence in seircheing, apprehending, trying and punisheing of the said Erll his assistaris, part-takeris and ressettaris, to the effect thay may suffer according to thair demerittis ; and to leif na maner of guidwill and effectuall doing vnperformit, in this behalf, that thay wald vse in thair particulair² deidlie feidis, aganis thair awin privat ennemies. AND finalie, the noblemen and vtheris present, being shireffis or ordinar judgeis,³ promittit the performance heirof, within thair awin boundis and jurisdictionis : as they will answer to God and his hiens thairvpon. IN witness quhairof, his Majesty and they hes subscriuit thir presentis with thair handis.

¹ This Act of the Privy Council shows, in a very strong light, how apt the king was to give way to private solicitations, and to vacillate in all matters of importance, when his feelings were worked upon by intriguing courtiers. ² Proper, peculiar, personal. ³ That is, such of them as were judges, &c.

(Sic subscribitur) JAMES R.

LENNOX. ARGYLE. MORTOUN. MAR. ALEX^r L. HUME. R. L. SEYTOUN. M^r OF GLAMMIS.
 JAMES LINDSAY. MELROSE. NEWBOTLE. LINCLUDEN. J. COKBURNE. BLANTYRE. R.
 COKBURNE. BASS. S^r WILLIAME KEITH. S^r GEORGE HWME. TRAQUHAIR. DUNYPACE.
 GEORGE HUME of Wedderburne. ALEXANDER HWME of Northberuick.

(May 2.)—THE COMMENDATAIR OF SANCT COLMIS INCHE, tutour of Murray, ordained to be charged, that he in no wise ‘cut down, distroy, mell and intromet with the wod of Down in Menteith, quhilk properlie appertenis to his Maiestie?’ And the lieges to be charged, ‘that nane of thame tak vpon^e hand to by (buy), blok or bargane with the said Commendatare or any vtheris, anent the said wod;’ under the penalty of paying double the value to his Majesty, and to be ‘puneist as distroyaris of policie,’ &c.

(May 3.)—On the complaint of Thomas Kirkpatrik of Clofburne, ‘that EDWARD MAXWELL of Tynwald, Edward and Johnne his sonis, Johnne M. of Kirkeconnell, Robert M. of Keltoun, Thomas and Robert his sonis, Johnne M. tutour of Aikinheid, &c. hes laitlie maid and subscriuit ane vnlauchfull Band and League, quhairin thay ar all bundin, sworne and obleist to manteine, defend and tak pairt, ilkane with vtheris, in quhatsumenir thair actionis, in the law, or by the law;’¹ accounting the action and querrell of onie ane of thame to be equall and commoun to thame all.’ And that in terms of this league, they on April 3, with ‘convocatioun of his hiens liegis, to the nwner of tua hundreth personis or thairby, all bodin in feir of weir, with jakkis, speiris, hagbuttis, piftolettis, &c. come to the compleinaris 20 f. land of Rouch-Ile, of purpos violentlie to haue intrufit Robert Greir thairintill; quhilk thay had not failit to haue done, wer nocht the said compleinar, being fairfeine of thair interpryse, assemblit certane of his freindis, to defens and maintenance of his awin possessioun.’ Having failed to answer a charge to appear this day, they were ordered to be denounced rebels, and their goods escheated, &c.

(Eodem die.)—Robert Galbraith of Culcreuch, ‘be the speciall counsale and devise’ of George Buchannane of that Ilk, having purchased a Commission of Justiciary, for pursuit of THE CLANGREGOUR, their refetters and assisters, with fire and sword, containing charges for convening the lieges to concur and assist him in its executioun; ‘quhilk Commissioun the said Robert hes not purchest vpoun ane intentioun to attempt ony thing aganis the Clangregour, bot vndir cullour thairof to extend thair haitrent and malice aganist ALEXANDER COL-

¹ Whether in terms of the law, or in opposition to it.

HOUN of Luss and ALLAN (AWLAY) M'CAULA of Ardincaple, thair kin and freindis, with all extremitie; and vndir cullour of fereheing and feiking of the Clangregour, to afflege thair houffes and rais fyre thairin; quhairof he hes alreddy gevin a fufficient pruffe, be the convocating of the hail name of Buchanane, for the maift parte in armes, (with quhome the faid Allane ftandis vndir deidlie feid.) and be quhais pouer and force he proceidis in all his actionis, &c. And albeit thay ar na les willing to perfew the Clangregour, with thair hail pouer and force nor (than) the faid Robert is, yit thai dar nocht ryfe and accompany the faid Robert to that effect, for feir of thair lyveis; in refpect of the deidlie feid ftanding betuix the faid Alexander Colhoun of Lufs and the faid Robert, throu the flaughter of vmq^{le} Donald M'Neill M'Farlane, houfhald feruand to the faid Robert, committit be the faid Alexanderis vmq^{le} bruthir; quhilk feid yit ftandis betuix thair houffis vnreconfiliat, and the faid Laird of Culcreuch daylie awaittis all occasionis to revenge the fame; and in refpect of the feid laitlie renewit betuix the faid Laird of Ardincaple and the Buchamanis, with quhais pouer, counfaie and force the faid Robert is affifted, in executioun of the faid Commiffioun, vfig thair aduife and directioun in all thingis thairanent; as alwa, in refpect of the grite grudge and haitrent ftanding lykwayis betuix the faid Laird of Ardincaple and the faid Robert, quha haueing bereft his awin moder, quhome the faid Laird of Ardincaple hes now maryt, of hir hail leving, he hes be ordour of law recouerit the fame furth of his hands; for the quhilk caus, the faid Robert feikis to haue his advantage of him, hes gevin vp kindnes, and denunceit his euill-will to him with folempne vowis of revenge.' On complaint made, ' the Kingis Maieftie, with auife of the Lordis of his Secreit Countaie, in refpect of the euill will and inimitie ftanding betuix the foirfaidis pairteis, thair kin and freindis, &c.; and pairtlie, for the flauchtir of vmq^{le} Petir Colhoun, committit be Johnne Buchanne Shereff-depute to the faid Robert Galbraith, be vertew of a Commiffioun, as he allegeit, EXEMIS (exemptis) the faid Alexander Colquhoun and Allane Macaula, thair kin, &c. fra all ryfing, convening or affifting the faid Robert, in putting the faid Commiffioun to executioun; and decernis the fame, in fa fer as it is extendit to the fereheing or feiking of the Clangregour within thair houffis, to be fuspendit and difchargeit fimpliciter, in tyme cuning.'

(Eodem die.)—PATRIK HEPBURNE of Richartoun, Thomas his bruthir, Nianiane Huik his feruand and Williame Otterburne feruand to vmq^{le} Alex. O., were ordained to be denounced rebels, for coming, ' with Williame Anderfone, presentlie in the Tolbuith of Edinburgh in waired, and thair complices, all bodin in feir of weir, with jakkis, fteilbonettis, vpon the ^exj day of Februare laftbipaft, about ten houris at evin or thairby, vnder filence and cloud of nycht, to the toun of Babertoun, quhair vmq^{le} Alexander Borthuik, sone to Adame B. in Wester Haillis, and vmq^{le} James B. thair freind and kynifinan, wer liand in the said vmq^{le} Alexanderis hous, in thair beddis, dredand na evill, &c.; the said Patrik and his complices foirfaidis, maist crewallie and barberouffie raft fyre in the houffis and chalmer quhair the saidis vmq^{le} Alexander and James lay, and brunt the famin houffis and chalmer, with certane vther houffis adjacent thairto; of sett purpois and prouifioun to haif bereft thame of thair lyves: And the saidis vmq^{le} Alexander and James and thair famelie, for eschewing of the said fyre, come furth of the saidis houffis, quhair the saidis perfonis maist tyrannouffie sett vpone thame, hurt and woundit findrie of thair feruandis, bairnis and wyffis, crewallie and vnmereyfullie murdreift and slew the saidis vmq^{le} Alexander and James, as also hurt and woundit Margaret Hoig, spous to the said Alexander, quha is yit in grit danger of hir lyff; committing thairthrow ane maist hie cryme of Treffoun aganis his Maiestie, to the great contempt of God, his hienes autoritie,' &c.

(May 8.)—JOHNNE LORD FLEMING ordained to be denounced rebel, for not appearing to find surety to 'compear before the Justice on May xxj, under the pain of 10,000 pundis,' to underly the law 'for beiring, weiring and schuitting with hagbuttis and piftolettis, and wounding of findrie his hienes subjectis, vpone the . . . day of Aprile lastbepaft.'

(Eodem die.)—ROBERT GALBRAITH of Kilerewch ordained to be denounced rebel, for not finding security in terms of the General Band; 'that he, be himself, and all sic as he is obleift to answer for, sould be answerable to justice and satisfie pairteis skaithit, vnder the pane of 2000 pundis; and forder, that thay sould not ressett, supplie nor intercommoun with ony perfon of the surname of Buchannane, Makgregour nor Makfarlane, quhilkis ar declairit fra his hienes lawis, or denunceit to the horne for crimiuall cauffis; nor furneise thame meit, drink, hous nor harbery,' &c.

(Eodem die.)—THE COMMENDATAIR OF SANCT COLMES INCHE ordained to be denounced for not appearing personally, and for not presenting Thomas Inglis his fervant, 'to haue answerit to sic thingis as sould haue bene inquirit of thame, tuicheing thair treffounable ressett, supplie and intercommouning with FRANCES sumtyme ERLI BOTHUILE,' &c.

(May 12.)—THE INHABITANTS OF KEILSO, except Williame Lauder, having come in his Majesty's will for the treasonable refet, supplying and intercommouning with 'FRANCES sumtyme ERLI OF BOTHUILL and his complices, at diuerse and findrie tymes, sen the proces and dome of forfeiture led aganis thame;' they find security that they shall 'satisfie his Maiesteis will, in siluer, prouiding the same his will exceed not the soweime of 2000 merkis money.'

(May 17.)—ALEXANDER LEVINGTOUN of Pantofkane ordained to be denounced rebel, for not appearing to answer ‘ tuicheing his tressounable reffett, supple and intercommoning’ with the Earl of Bothwell and his accomplices, &c.

(Eodem die.)—THE KING’S WILL towards THE INHABITANTS OF KELSO was this day formally declared, viz. ‘ That the present haill Inhabitanes of the said town and thair posteritie salbe freelie pardonit and remittit, &c. ; and that thir presentis be als sufficient for the suretie of thair lyves, landis and guidis, as gif the same wes past in forme of Remission vnder the Grite Seill, with all solempniteis requisite : And siclyke, that the saidis personis fall mak payment to his Maiesteis thesaurar of the soun of sevintene hundreth merkis money ; and forder, that thay fall find caution actit in the buikis of Secreit Counfall, that thay fall not reffett, supple nor intercommoun with the said sumtyme Erll nor his compliceis, furneis thame meit, drink, house nor harbery, nor haue intelligence with thame, priuatlie nor publictly, in tyme cuning, vndir quhatsumeur cullour or pretence ; vnder the pane of tua thousand pundis.’

(May 24.)—The Provost, bailies, council and community of THE BURGH OF PERTH make complaint, that notwithstanding their having submitted the adjustment of all differences between them and ROBERT BRUCE of Clakmannane ‘ to certane of his awin freindis, well affected to the removing thairof, and to the Kingis Maiestie as owerfman,’ yet that ‘ Johnne Wilfone and Johnne Nevene, with certane vtheris honest burgeffis and inhabitantes of the said burgh, passing toward the cietie of S^t Androse to the mercat thairof, in quiet and peceable maner, laitlie, vpon the xxij day of Aprile instant, wer vnbesett at the cobill¹ of Rind, in thair hie way, be the said Lard of Clakmannane, accompanyit with nyne horsemen and futemen, bodin with hagbuttis, jakkis and vther armour, and be thame maist cruellie and vnmercyfullie persewit for thair bodelie harmes and slauchteris : Lykas, the saidis Johnne Wilfone and Johnne Nevene, being baith hurt and woundit in diuerse and findrie partis of thair bodyis, to the effusion of thair bluid in grit quantitie ; the said Lard and his complices maist schamefullie tirit² thame baith naikit, and in maist barbarous and disdainefull maner skurgit thame with horse brydillis throw the town of Abernethie, as gif thay had bene thevis or haynous malefactouris, left the said Johnne Nevene liand thair for deid, and tuik the said Johnne Wilfone, naikit, as captiue and prissoner, away with thame, to quhat place the saidis compleinaris knawis nocht, nather ar certane quhidder he be deid or leavand ; vsurpand thairthrow vpon thame his hienes authoritie, to the manifest and proud contempt thairof, misregaird of all law and justice, and evill example of vtheris to commit the lyk barbaretie and insolence, vpon the guid and obedient subiectis.’—The Laird was charged to appear before the King and Council to answer for his conduct, and failing, is ordained to be denounced rebel. ‘Johne Erll of Gowry Provest of the said brugh’ appears to plead the cause of the inhabitants of Perth.

¹ Ferry-boat station, near the confluence of the rivers Earn and Tay. ² Violently stripped. Fr. tirer.

(Eodem die.)—WARRANT is granted to ‘Williame Ker of Cesfurd Wardane of the Middill Marche, and James Dowglas of Caveris Shereff of Roxburgh, and their deputtis, to pas feirch, tak and apprehend SIR JOHNE KER of Hirsell, kny^t, (quha being excommunicat and out frome the cumpany and societie of the faithfull, as alswa denunceit rebell, and put to the horne of a lang tyme bigane, hes remanit at the proces thair of senfyne, as he dois yit, vurelaxit; and refoirt- and to and fra in the cuntrie, as gif he wer his henes fre subiect; and continew- and in his filthie cryme of Adulterie, for the quhilk he wes excommunicat, &c.) quhaireuir he may be apprehendit within thair boundis and jurisdiction; and bring and present him befor his Maiestie and Counsaill, or befor his Justice or his deputtis, to be puneist for his demerittis,’ &c.

(May 26.)—Alexander Lord Levingstoun and Williame L. fear of Kilfyth become sureties for JOHNE LORD FLEMYNG, that he ‘fall pas and enter his perfoun in waird, within the boundis of the scherefdome of Striueling, within thre dayes nixt efter the dait heirof; and remane and keip ward thairin, and not transcend the boundis thair of, ay and quhill he be fred be the Kingis Maiestie, with auise of his Counsaile, vnder the pane of 10,000 pundis.’

[Adam Bishop of Orkney, Alexander Commendator of Culros, Edward Commendator of Kinloss, James Lord Lindsey, Adam Lord Vrquhart, Sir Robert Melville of Murdocarney, kn^t, specially appointed by a Commission from Parliament.]

Treasonable Conspiracy against the King—Invasion of the Palaces of Holyroodhouse and Falkland, &c.

JUN. 1.—FRANCES suutyme ERLL BOTHUILE,¹ Gilbert Penniccuik, Johne Rutherfurde of Hunthill elder, Thomas Rutherfurde of Hunthill younger, Symon Arnefrang younger of Quhithauch.

Being summoned, ‘for certane crymes of Treafone and Lesmajestie,’ the Advocate produced the summons and executions, with Letters of Relaxation, Mar. 16, 1592-3, bearing Bothwell ‘to be relaxit fra the procefs of Horning led aganis him.’

(Jul. 16.)—The ‘reasone and caus contenit in the same summondis’ is found relevant; and the Advocate declared, ‘that he fuld vse his probatioun with all expedition.’

¹ See Acts of Parl. 1593, &c.

[REGE ipso presente, cum omnibus regni statibus.]

PERSEWARIS, Mr David M^cGill and Mr Johnne Skene, Advocatis to our fouerane lord.

(Jul. 21.)—M^{rs} David Makgill and Johnne Skene, Advocattis to oure fouerane lord, for verefeing of the said reafone contenit in the said Summondis of Treffone rafit aganis the said Frances funtyme Erll Bothuill, producit and repetit the Extract of the Foirfaltour, led and promuncit befor the Justice and his deputtis, aganis the said Frances funtyme Erll Bothuill, fubferyuit be the Laird of Ormeiftoune Justice Clerk, of the dait the xxv day of Junij the yeir of God 1591, Depofitionis of certane witneffes examinat befor the faidis Lordis of Articles in the said mater ; the notorietic of the deid libellit ; and the cunning of the defendaris in to the Palice of Halyruidhous and Falkland, the tymes libellit ; quhilk in materis of hie Treffone fuld mak full probatioun ; and that the Lordis of Parliament, being the greit Affyis of the cuntrie, of the daly practik ; quhatfumeuir perfonis elengis nocht, of certane knowlege, the perfonis accufit, he fylis thame : And the commoun notorietic of this fact and treffone libellit, and contumacie of the defendar, is fufficient to mak na man to clenge him : And was content the foirfaid procefs and Summondis of Treffone wer haldin concludit ; and defyrit the Eftatis to aduifè the procefs and to pronunce thair Sentence of Parliament thairintill, according to the faidis probationis and thair confeiences. And immediatlie thaireftir the faidis aduocattis exhibite and producit befor the Kingis Maieftie and haill Eftaitis, lyk as thai did dyuerfe tymes ofbefoir, the Summondis of Treffone vndirwrittin, rafit and perfewit at the instance of oure fouerane lord his hienes Justice, aganis Frances funtyme Erll Bothuile, quhairby he was fummond to compeir befor our fouerane lord the thrid day of Aprile, fourfcoir threttene yeiris instant with continewatioun of dayis, to haue anfuerit to the poyntis of Treffone vndirwrittin, contenit in the faidis Summondis : Off the quhilkis Summondis the tennour followis.

SUMMONS OF TREASON against FRANCIS sometime EARL BOTHWELL and others.

JACOBUS, Dei gratia Rex Scotorum, dilectis nostris Leoni Regi armorum, Ilay, Albany, Rofs, Rothelay, Snawdoun, Merchemont, herauldis ; Johanni Ferguffone, Roberto Stewart, Alexandro Douglas et Davidi Bryffoun, clauigeris ; Ormond, Bute, Vnicorne, Carrik, figniferis et nunciis, ac eorum cuilibet, conunctim et diuifim, vicecomitibus nostris in hac parte fpecialiter conftitutis : Salutem. Mandamus vobis et precipimus quatenus fummonetis legitime et preemporie coram teftibus, Francifcum olim Comitem de Bothuile, Gilbertum Pennyenke, Johannem Rutherforde de Huntbill feniore, Thomam Rutherforde de Huntbill juniorem, Simonem Armeftang juniorem de Quithauche, Confpiratores, perpetratores et celatores criminum Lefe Maieftatis fubfequentium, perfonaliter, fi eorum personales prefentias commode habere poteritis, alioquin apud loca eorum habitationum, vel per publicam proclamationem, apud cruces forales burgorum noftrorum de Edinburgh, Hadington, Jedburgh, aliaque loca neceffaria ; degentes vero feu exiftentes extra regnum noftrum, feu certum nulum domicilium in eodem habentes, apud dictas cruces forales aliaque loca neceffaria, fuper premouitionē sexaginta dierum, sic quod huiusmodi summonitio ad eorum aures et notitiam verefimiliter prevenire poterit; quod compareant coram nobis seu Iudicario nostro primo die mensis Junij proxime sequen. in nostro Parlamento apud Ed^m tertio die mensis Aprilis sequen. Tenen. hora caularum cum continuatione dierum, ad respondendum nobis nostrone Iudicario, in prefato Parlamento, super proditorijs criminibus subsequen. IN PRIMIS, dictos scilicet Franciscum olim Comitem de Bothuile, &c. et eorum quemlibet, pro sua proditoria arte, parte, consilio, in ipsorum proditoria Conspiratione, consultatione et conclusione horrendi facinoris contra nostram honorabilem personam et vitam, per dictas personas commiss. xxvii. die mensis Decembris, anno domini 1591, sub noctis silentio, in ipsorum proditoria Invasione Palatii nostri de Halyruidhous, intrando ibidem cum assistentia, consortio et convocacione, aliarumque homicidarum, oppressorum, latronum ac huiusmodi insolentium virorum armatorum et a legibus nostris fugitivorum, et deliberato animo et certa intentione violentas manus in nostram regiam personam imponere, ut vitam nostram vel nefarie extinguerent vel nos captivos secum deducerent: Et ad hunc effectum, prefati Conspiratores directe accesserunt ad nostram priuatum conclauem seu cubiculum, et ostijs ignem nefarie iniecerunt, domesticos nostros presenti violenta morte mimitando objurgandoque, nisi ipsis declararent ubi nos essemus, nulla vnquam inquisitione per eos facta ob quamcunque aliam personam nisi propter nosmet ipsos: Ac preterea, violenter effregerunt malleis, ostia interioris cubiculi Regine nostre charissime coniugis; atque demum, ubi parum se promouisse et ad illorum inuisitatum scelus ad propositum nefandum peruenire non posse, intellexerunt, in eorum regrediu nondum satisfacti, crudeliter et sine vlla misericordia domesticos et familiarissimos nostros seruitores ob nostram causam interfecerunt et jugulauerunt: Hinc manifestissime crimen Summe Proditionis contra nos, nostram vitam, auctoritatem regiam et leges committendo. SECUNDO, prefatos Franciscum olim Comitem de Bothuile, &c. Et eorum quemlibet, pro sua proditoria arte, parte, auxilio et consilio, in sua proditoria Conspiratione, consultatione et conclusione horrendi facinoris contra nostram honorabilem personam et vitam per dictos Conspiratores commiss. xxviiij die mensis Junij anno domini 1592, in ipsorum proditoria Invasione Palatii nostri de Falkland intra vicecomitatem nostrum de Fyff, nobis ibidem intus pro tempore existentibus, accedendo ibidem cum assistentia et concursu homicidarum oppressorum, latronum, declaratorum proditorum et huiusmodi insolentium virorum armatorum et a legibus nostris fugitivorum, ex deliberato animo et certa intentione violentas manus in nostram regiam personam imponere, ut vitam nostram vel nefarie extinguerent, vel nos captivos secum deducerent: Et ad hunc effectum, predicti Conspiratores cum suis socijs accesserunt ad posticum dicti nostri Palatii, ejaculando tormenta fereā, et huiusmodi machinas eneas violenter idem posticum oppugnarunt, ut eo disrupto, facilius ingressi, prefatam suam coniurationem et horrendum facinus inceptum complerent: Hinc manifestissime crimen Summe proditionis contra nos, nostram vitam, auctoritatem regiam et leges committendo; atque adeo, pro ipsorum proditoria celatione et occultatione prefate Coniurationis, consultatione, conclusione et executione eiusdem. TERTIO, commemoratos Johannem Rutherford dom. de Hunthill seniore, et dom. juniorem, Simonem Armestrang juniorem de Qubithauche, et eorum quemlibet, pro sua proditoria receptione et auxilio prestito dicto Francisco olim comiti de Bothuill; et pro eorum proditoria assistentia, participatione et intercommunicatione cum prefato Francisco et suis complicibus, nostris proditoribus declaratis, contra leges et statuta regni nostri; idque in mensibus Aprilis, Maij, Junij, Julij, Augusti, Septembris, Januarij, Februarij, Marcij, anno domini 1592, et eorum quolibet respectiue, in locis de Hunthill, Jed, Hawik, Liddisdall: Hinc manifestissime crimen Proditionis contra nos, nostramque vitam, auctoritatem regiam et leges regni nostri committendo; atque adeo, pro ipsorum proditoria celatione et occultatione predictae sue intercommunicationis, receptionis et auxilij supraspecificat. QUARTO, prefatum Symonem Armestrang, pro sua proditoria arte parte et consilio in executando monetam adulterinam domi sue de Boyne in Liddisdall, in mensibus Aprilis, Maij, Junij, Julij, Augusti, Septembris, Octobris, Novembris, Decembris, Januarij, Februarij et Marcij, et quolibet eorum, anno domini 1591: Hinc manifestissime crimen Summe Proditionis contra nos auctoritatem re-giam et leges regni nostri committendo ; atque adeo, pro sua celatione et occultatione eiusdem. IDEOQUE, suprascriptos Conspiratores ad videndum et audiendum sese et eorum quemlibet, respectu premifforum, crimen Lese Majestatis incurrisse, per nos et trium regni nostri statuum decretum decerni et declarari : et super predictis et alijs quamplurimis rebellionibus et transgressionibus et proditorijs criminibus per prenominatas personas, contra nos, regnum nostrum, auctoritatem regiam impie et nefarie perpetratis ; et dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, proponendis et ostendendis ac juri parendum, et super hujusmodi iudicium nostrum et nostri Parlamenti, secundum leges regni nostri expectandum et subeundum, dictas viz. personas Conspiratores, perpetratores et celatores criminum precedentium, ad videndum et audiendum sese et eorum quemlibet, intuitu premifforum, crimen Lese Maiestatis incurrisse, per nos et trium regni nostri statuum decretum decerni et declarari ; et propterea, ipsorum bona, mobilia et immobilia, tam teras quam officia aliasque res ad eos spectantes, nobis confiscari et pro perpetuo nobiscum in proprietate remanere, personaque suas penam proditoris et vltimi supplicij a regni nostri legibus inflictum subire ; et vberius in premiffis respondendum et juri parendum : Intimando supradictis Conspiratoribus eorumque cuilibet, quod siue dictis die et loco cum continuatione dierum comparuerint siue non, nos, dictusque nostri Justiciarius in premiffis, iusticia mediante, procedemus et procedet. INSUPER citetis, &c^{us} ad comparandum coram nobis nostroue Justiciario dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, ad perhibendum fidele testimonium in causa predicta, indorsatas earundem latori reddatis ; et vos qui presentes executi fueritis sitis ibidem dictis die et loco coram nobis seu dicto nostro Justiciario, portan. vobiscum summonitionis vestre testimonium in scriptis pro premiffis seu ipsos testes : Ad quod faciendum vobis et vestrum cuilibet coniunctim et divisim vicecomitibus nostris in hac parte committimus potestatem. DATUM sub testimonio nostri Magni sigilli Apud Edinburghe, vigesimo tertio die mensis Marcij, anno domini millesimo quingentesimo nonagesimo secundo, et regni nostri vigesimo sexto.

Quhilkis Summondis, with the executionis and indorsationis thair of respectiue foirlaid, being this instant day red, in presence of his Maiestie and haill Estaitis of Parliament, first in Latyne and syne in Scottis, and the said Frances sumtyme Erll Bothuile being oftymes callit of new, at the Tolbuith window of the said burgh of Edinburghe, to haue comperit and ansuerit to the said Summondis and reffonis contentit thairin : And he nocht comperand to haue defendit in the said mater and to haue ansuerit to the saidis Summondis, the saidis aduocattis to his Maiestie, desyrit the saidis Estaitis declaratioun, gif the reafones of the saidis Summondis wer relevant aganis the said Erll Bothuile ; quhilkis Estaitis all in one voce fand the same relevant aganis him. Thairfoir, the saidis aduocattis of new, for verefeing of the said reffones contentit in the said Summondis of Treffone, producit and repetit the extract of Forfaltour led befoir the Justice and his deputtis aganis the said Frances sumtyme Erll Bothuill, Depositionis of the saidis witnesses, notorietie of the factis, and repetit the haill probationis repetit be him of befoir in the said mater this instant day, and desyrit the saidis Estaitis of Parliament to aduise the Depositionis of the saidis witnesses and vtheris probationis, and to pronunce thair Sentence of Parliament thairintill, according to the samyn probationis and thair consciences : And thaireftir, the Depositionis of the haill witnesses execut to the death, and of the witnesses examinat in presence of the saidis Lordis of Articles, haill wreittis and probationis, being red, sene and confidderit be the saidis hail Eftaitis of Parliament, in prefence of the Kingis Maieftie, and thay thairwith being ryiplie aduyfit, the saidis Lordis and Eftaitis of Parliament findis, decernis and declaris, that the said Frances fumtyme Erll Bothuile hes committit and done oppin and manifest Treffoun aganis our said fouerane lord, in all pointis and articles contenit in the said Summondis : And thairfoir it was gevin for dome, be the mouth of James Neifbit dempfter of Parliament, in maner and forme as followis.

DOOM OF FORFEITURE. This Court of Parliament fchawis for law, that the said Frances fumtyme Erll Bothuile hes committit and incurrit the crymes of Treffone and Lefe-Maieftie abonewrittin, in maner at lenth contenit in the refonis of the saidis Summondis. And thairfoir, decernis and declaris all his guidis moveable and vnmmoveable, alsweill landis as offices and vtheris thingis quhatfumeuir belangand vnto him, to be confiscat to our fouerane lord, and to remane perpetuallie with his hienes in propirtie, in tyme cumming ; and his perfoun to vnderly the pane of Treffone, and vtter pvnifhement appointit be the lawis of this realme. And this I gif for dome.

(JUN. 21.)—JAMES GRAY, fone to Patrik Lord Gray, ordained to be denounced rebel, for not appearing this day, to have answered ‘ vpoun his contemptuous reviffing and taking be force and violence of Katherene Carnegy, dochter to Johnne Carnegy of that Ilk, furth of the hous of Robert Jouffy merchand in Edinburgh, and carying of hir away and keiping hir captiue aganis hir will ; committit vpoun the tent day of Junii instant ; and als to have exhibite and presentit the said Katherene the said day, &c. to be putt to libertie,’ &c.

(Eodem die.)—SCHIR JAMES JOHNNESTOUN of Dunkellie knight, ordained to be denounced rebel, for not appearing to have answered ‘ to sic thingis as fould haue bene inquirit of him at his cuming, tuicheing his trefsonnable breking of warde furth the Castell of Edinburgh,’ &c.

(Eodem die.)—GEORGE SMOLLETT burges of Dunbartane, ordained to be denounced rebel, for not appearing to answer certain charges at the instance of the Provofts, bailies and community of THE BURGHS of GLASGOW and RENFREW, in regard that the said George had, ‘ vpoun sum finifter and wrang informatioun maid to his hienes, laitlie purchest ane priuey Letter or Commiffioun vnder his hienes fubfcriptioun and signet allanerlie, without auife of Counfale, tryale, cognitioun, or ony vthir proces preceding ; vnder cullour quhairof, haueing affociate vnto him felff certane debosheit men and vagaboundis, he not only maifterfullie and perforce oppreffes and revis the guidis and beftiall, clething and vtheris wairis, brocht be the Inhabitantis of the Ilis and vthiris pairtis of the Hielandis to the said burrowis, baith be fey and land ; bot takis, apprehendis and imprefonis thair perfonis, and fumtymes perfewis thame felffis be way of deid :

Qubairvpoun, the cheiff perfonis and vtheris inhabitantis of the faidis Hielandis, hes confaut sic haitrent and malice aganis the faidis complenaris, in particulier, as gif thay wer authouris and allowaris of this forme of doing, that thay haue deuunceit thair inimitie and ewill will to thame, takin alreddy fum of thair nichtbouris prifonairis, intromettit with thair guidis, and avowit to vse all kynd of rigour and extremitie aganis thame; qubairby, not onlie ar thay liklie to be defraudit and difapointit of that mutuall interchange quhilk hes bene had amangis thame, to the commoun benefeit of the haill inhabitantis of the Lau-landis and in-cuntrey, bot be tyme, Cinile weir is lyklike to follow, to the brek of the peax, and bringing on of mony inconvenientis, giff tymous remeid be nocht prouidit.' The King and Privy Council likewise difcharged the Commiffion, and decerned the fame to ceafe.

(Jun. 25.)—JOHNE LORD HAMMILTOUN gets a fufpenfion of Letters raifed at the inftance of Abacuch Biffett,¹ ' becaus the faid Lord hes found caution, that he fall remove, expell and hald the faid Mr Patrik Hammiltoun furth of his landis, rowmes, poffeffionis and bailliereis, during the tyme of his rebellioun, conforme to the Generall Band, vndir the pane of 1000 merkis.'

(Jun. 28.)—THOMAS KIRKPATRIK of Clofburne, his kin, friends, &c. exempted from the iurifdiction of ' Wardanerie and Justiciarie of Johnne Lord Maxwell, and fra all ryfing, convening or accompanying of him or his deputis, to ony dayis of trew heireftir: ' Becaufe it is of veritie, as it is notour, that the faid Lord and the faid complenair (Clofburn), thair kin and freindis, prefentlie ftandis vndir termes of vnfreindfchip and inimitie; and kyndues and freindfchip is gevin vp betuix thame, infafer as not onlie hes the faid Lord tane vpone him the patrocinie and defens of all the faid complenaris vnfreindis, bot alfwa, be all indirect meanis, hes huntit for his lyffe, and daylie awaittis the occafion to bereve the faid complenair of his lyffe; as nanelie, vpoun the thrid day of Aprile laft, the faid Lord conuocat and affemblit togidder of his kin and freindfchip, the noumer of tua hundreth perfonis or thairby, and directit thame to the faid complenaris landis of Rouch Ile, to haue difpoffeft him thairfra, vpoun intention alwayes, gif the faid complenair had cum to refift thame, to haue bereft him of his lyffe; and fenfyne, Thomas Greir of Barjarge and Gilbert Greir of Drum, men tennentis and feruandis to the faid Lord, with conuocatioun of vtheris his freindis and feruandis, to the noumer of fourefcoir perfonis or thairby, bodin in feir of weir, off the faid Lordis fpeciall caufing, &c. come to Bar-dannauch, being within the fchoit of ane hacquebute to the complenaris landis of Rouch Ile, and difchargeit ane grite noumer of hacquebutis and piftolettis at him and his seruandis, and had not failit to haue flane him, wer nocht he wes the bettir accompanyt for the tyme : Lykas, vpoun the last day of Aprile, the said complenair haueing directit certane of his freindis and seruandis to the burgh of Drumfreis, for findrie his effearis, the said Lord, vpoun aduertisment thairof, directit xxiiij of his men and seruandis, quha fercheit and focht the said complenaris seruandis throw all pairtis of the said burgh, quhair thay wer accusummat to hant and repair, stoggit beddis, and had not failit to haue flane his seruandis, gif thay had bene apprehendit ; and at that same tyme thay cruellie hurte Johnne M^cMudie, seruand to the Gudeman of Kerse, the said complenaris coufing. In respect quhairof, the saidis complenaris dar nocht ryfe, conuene nor accompany the said Lord, vules thay wald mak conuocationu of thair hail kin and freindschip, quhairvpoun sum grite inconuenientis will not fail to fall oute, without remeid be prouydit.—Lord Maxwell, though charged, failed to appear before the Council ; but Closeburn ‘ comperit be Roger Kirkpatrik his bruthir.’

¹ See Apr. 12, 1593.

(Jul. 5.)—SCHIR ARCHIBALD STIRLING of Keir, Matheu Colhoun his seruand, James Kinros feuar of Kippanros, and George Musfhett of Tolgarth, were ordained to be denounced rebels, for failing to have appeared and answered ‘ twicheing the slauchter of vniq^{le} Williame Sinclair of Galdquadmoir, Eduard and George Sinclairis his sonis, committit vpoun the thrid day of Junij last.’

(Jul. 7.)—AN ACT anent the weiring of Hacquebutis and pistolettis is passed. It is stated that the former ordinances had been disregarded, ‘ quhairthrow vile murthouris and frequent slauchteris hes not onlie bene committit within Kirkis and vtheris placeis, ower all pairtis of this realme, bot evin within the burgh of Edinburgh and suburbis thairof, ewest to his hienes Palace and place of residence, to the grite hafaird of his awine persone,’ &c. It then states various modes by which noblemen and others were drawn into street brawls and ‘ deidlie feidis’ by swaggering and turbulent persons, ‘ quhilkis wickit and vnhappy spirittis lykwayes ceiffis not to make and tell lesingis betuix his hienes, his nobilitie and gude subiectis, be previe or oppin speichis, and sumtymes be famous libelles and rymes disperfit or affixt, alwayes of mynd to saw and foster discord and dissension,’ &c. Command is therefore given to the Provost and bailies of Edinburgh and suburbs, and their officers ‘ the Capitane of his hienes Gaird, officiaris and Archearis of the same, and vtheris appointit for gaird during the tyme of this present Parliament, the Maister of his hienes Palice, and portair of the same, and all thair deputis, to ferche and feik for all hacquebutis and pistolettis borne, worne or schoitt within his hienes Palice or vtheris place of residence, or in the burgh of Edinburgh or suburbis thairof, and to take and intromett with the same, and to escheate the same to the behuif of the apprehendaris ; and convoy the personis of the beararis, weiraris and schuittaris to his hienes warde and presoun,' &c.

DELETIOUN OF WILLIAME GORDOUN of Auchindore furth of the Summondis of Foirfaltour.

(Jul. 21.)—Comperit personallie, Mr Johnne Skene, aduocatt to our souerane lord, and producit ane writting subferyuit be his Maiestie ;¹ off the quhilk the tennour followis.

‘ REX,

‘ Mr Daud M^cGill and Mr Johnne Skene, our ordiner Aduocattis, We greit 3ow weil : Forfamekle as We vnderstand, be veray credible narration maid to ws, that Williame Gordoun of Auchindore is altogidder innocet of the crymes ffor the quhilkis he is atteichit to be foirfalt, in this our Parliament, contenit in the Summondis of Treaffone direct furth aganis him and certane vtheris thairanent : Quhairfoir, it is oure will, and We expresse command 3ow and ather of 3ow, that with all guidlie diligence ye obliterate and delcit the said Williame Gordoun, name and furename, with his style, furth of the saidis Summondis and executionis thairof, sua that na kynd of procefs be led aganis him at the said Parliament, for ony cryme contenit thairin. And thir presentis falbe sufficient warrand to 3ow. Subferiuit with our hand at Haliruidhous, the xvj day of Julij, and of our regume the xxvj 3eir, 1593.

‘ Sic subferibitur, JAMES R.’

According to the quhilk writting, and for obedience of the samyn, the said Mr Johnne Skene as aduocat to our souerane lord, and in his hienes presence and estattis foirfaidis, desyrit the Clerk of register and his deputtis to delcit the said Williame Gordoun furth of the Summondis of Treffone and Lefe-maieftie perfewit be his hienes aganis the said Williame Gordoun of Auchindore and certain his complices, ffor the alleagit airt, pairt, counsaill and assistance, in the BIRNING of the Houssis and Place of Dunybrissell, committit vpoun the sevint day of Februar I^mV^c lxxxxj yeris, and cruell Murthuring and Slaying of JAMES, ERL of MURRAY thairin : Quha at command of his hienes lettre, presentlie in jugement, obliterate and delitit the said Williame Gordoun of Auchindoris name, furname and stile, furth of the bodie of the said Summondis of Treffone and executionis thairof. Quhairvpoun Mr Johnne Demster, aduocat, in name and behalf of the said Williame Gordoun, askit instrumentis.

(Jul. 21.)—The quhilk day, in presence of the Kingis Maieftie and Estaites of this present Parliament,² comperit Johnne Leslie of Balquhane, and producit the offeris vnderwrittin, for the pairt of Williame Erll of Angus, George Erll of Huntlie, Francis Erll of Erroll, Schir Patrik Gordoun of Auchindoun, kny^t, and Schir James Chifholme of Dundurne, knicht, personis dilatit and suspectit of the crymes of Lefemajestie ; off the quhilkis offeris, the tennour followis.

¹ See Acta Parl. A.D. 1593, fol. 15, &c. ; see also March 9, 1592-3.

² Ibid.

OFFERRIS presentit to the Estaitis, be the Laird of Balquhane, in name of the ERLIS of ANGUS, HUNTLIE and ERROLL, and vtheris.

In the first, fforfamekle as the saidis personis ar Indytit and accufit of Lese-majestie, for consulting and concluding for the inbringing of strangearis and subuerfioun of the Religioun, at lenth contenit in þair Summondis of Foir-faltrie, gif it will pleis 3our Maiestie and Estaitis, to select and cheis certane ather of 3our Maiesties Counsaill or Parliament, to intreat and commoun, ather with the saidis personis thame selffis or thair freindis, thay fall nocht onlie de-clair and mak notiffit thair innocence, and schaw thair guid will and obe-dience to 3our Maiestie and cuntry; bot also, thay neuir meanit nor attempt-it, nather directlie nor indirectlie, contrair 3our Maiesties personne, stait of þe cuntry, nor Religioun publictlie proffessit thairintill. ITEM, efter the triall of þair innocence, to tak away all occasioun of suspitioune, the saidis personis offeris for continwance of thair dewtifull seruicé vnto 3our Maiestie in tyme cuning, that thay fall neuir traffique nor haue intelligence with ony forreyne natioun or Prince, in hurt or preiudice of 3our Maiesties person, estait, com-moun weill and Religioune, bot to follow 3our Maiestie in all tyme cuning, as 3our maist obedient and humble subiectis, aganis quhatsumeuir 3our Maiesties vnfreindis: And securitie to be maid in sic sufficient forme as salbe thoct ex-pedient. ITEM, 3our Maiestie being satisfit, for removing of all kynd of sklander and euile confaut opinioune be the Kirk aganis the saidis personis, thay ar con-tent, efter commoning had with certane Ministrie, to be depute be your Maiestie and Kirk to that effect, in case þai, efter ressoning, may be throuchlie ressoluit, nocht onlie to satisfie the Kirk for ony sklander, bot also concerning the hail heidis and Articles of Religioune; vtherwayis, gif þai can nocht be throuchlie re-soluit, thay are content to depairt furth of the cuntry, thair to remane during 3our Maiesties plesour, or ay and quhill thay satisfie the Kirk in the premiissis: And to that effect, and in case foirsaid, maist humbly cravis 3our Maiesties licence. And in the meantyme, for 3our Maiestie and Kirkis better satisfiacione, the saidis personis fall remove out of thair cumpany all suspect personis of Religioun.

Quhilkis being red, hard and considerit be þe saidis Estaitis, and thairwith being adwyfit, the foirsaidis Estaitis, for thair advise to his Maiestie thairanent, findis it meit and expedient, in case the saidis noble men and vtheris foirsaidis, conforme nocht thame selffis vnto his Maiestie and his lawis, presentlie esta-blishit within this cuntry, anent the Religioun proffessit within the same, that his hienes grant thame Licence, vpon thair humble sute, to be maid to that ef-fect, to pas furth of the cuntry, vpon sic conditionis, and to sic vnsuspect places, as his hienes and his Counsaill fall preferue and appoint: And in case thay will nather conforme thame selffis, as said is, vnto his hienes and to the Religioun prefentlie professit, nather yit will pas furth of the countrie, conforme to the directionis to be gevin to thame; that his Maiestie and his said Counfaill tak ordour thairwith, as thay think maift meit for quieting of the cuntrie and Estait of Religioun. And in the meantyme, that thai remane vnder the Proces and Summondis of Foirfaltour, execut aganis thame in this present Parliament, quhill furder probatioun may be had and gottin of the crymes of Tressone and Lese-majestie libellit aganis thame thairintill.¹

(Jul. 26.)—An Act is passed ‘in fanouris of THE ERLL BOTHUILL and his compliceis,’ viz. Dame Margaret Douglas Countesse of Bothuill,² James Douglas of Spott, &c. Proclamation is ordered to be made, charging ‘all his hienes liegis, that nane of thame tak vpoun hand to sklander, murmour, reproche or bakbyte the perfonis abouewrittin or thair pairt-takaris, or onywayes molest or perfew thame, in bodyis or guidis, vpoun quhatsumeuir caus, cullour or cryme bigane.’ And that Letters be directed to relax them from the procefs of horn.

(Aug. 8.)—PROCLAMATION, relative to ‘ane schip of Prestoun laitlie arryvit in this Firth, cum furth of England, quhairin ar findrie perfonis and guidis suspect to be infectit with the pest.’ The ‘maisteris, skipparis, marinaris,’ &c. are charged ‘to addresse thame selffis with the said schip and guidis being thairin to Sanct Colmis Inche, and thair loife handle,³ and remane with the same schip and guidis, vnto the tyme pruiff and tryale be had, giff thay be foule or cleane of this disefafe,’ &c. Charge is likewise given to the liegis, to prevent communication with the ship.

(Sep. 11.)—‘THE CHEIFFIS and Principallis of THE BRANCHEIS OF CLANNIS’ are charged ‘to enter plegeis, for keeping of guid reule in tyme cuming; vnder the pane of executioun of the saidis plegeis to the death, in caife of transgressioun and not redres maid be the perfonis offenderis, for quhome the saidis plegeis lye,’ &c.

(Eodem die.)—A PROCLAMATION, convening ‘the Erllis, Lordis, &c. weill bodin in feir of weir, with tuentie dayis victuall and prouisioun, to meit his hienes at Peblis, vpoun the first day of Nouember nixtocum,’ for ‘invasioun of the cuntreieis ewest THE BORDOURIS, perturbaris of the commoun quietnes of the realme; vudir the pane of tinfall of lyffe, laudis and guidis.’

(Eodem die.)—A PROCLAMATION, ‘to meit Ludouik Duke of Lennox, Erll

¹ Oct. 30, (apud Lynlythgow.)—A Commission is granted to John Lord Thirlstane, Chancellor, the Earls of Marischall, Mar, Montrose and Rothes, &c. ‘to heir and consider the Petitionis of the Erllis of Angus, Huntlie and Errole,’ &c. Their decision was declared to be final. Acta Parl., fol. 44.—Jan. 18, 1593-4. They are declared to have amitted the benefit of the Act of Abolition, and that they be forthwith put to trial. Acta Parl. fol. 53.—Maii 20, 1594. The Advocates produced a Summons of Treason, but ‘nane of thame comperit.’ Acta Parl. fol. 55. And again on May 30. See farther proceedings, Jun. 8, 1594.

² See her Trial for the rest of the names, May 4, 1592.

³ And there unship their rudder and cast anchor.

Dernelie, Lord Tarboltoun, Methven and Aubigny his hienes Lieutenant, at Striuling, on Nov. 1, for invasioun, perfute and pvnishment of the rebellious and contemptuous perfonis, Inhabitantis of THE HIELANDIS and cuntreys adja-cent thairto.' In terms of the former Proclamation.

(Sep. 12.)—A PROCLAMATION to the Justices and Commissioners appointed by Parliament, &c. ' to proceid and minister justice vpoun all strang and idill BEGGARIS, vagaboundis, thevis and fornaris, or thair reslettaris and pairt-takaris in thair thifteous and wicked deidis ; and being convict, to pvnishe thame presentlie to the death, or vtherwayes, as thay fall find caus worthie,' &c.

(Oct. 9.)—A PROCLAMATION to meet his Majesty at Lauder, on Friday next, Oct. 12. It proceeds on the narrative, that ' the Kingis Maiestie being weareit with the mony and diuers complaintis of his hienes peceable and gude subjectis, herreit, wrakkit and oppreffit be thevis, brokin men, and vtheris difordourit perfonis, INHABITANTIS OF THE BORDOURIS of this realme, quhilkis daylie committis stouthis, reiffis, flauchteris of trew men, in the defens of thair awne guidis, and findrie vtheris crymes and enormiteis maist vnnaturall ; not onlie within the bowellis of this realme, bot als within the nichtbour cuntrey of England,' is determined to ' repress the insolence of the saidis difordourit perfonis, chieflie now, befor the winter seasoun approche, and the nichts grow lang.'

(Oct. 11.)—Letters appointed to charge FRANCES sumtyme ERLI BOTHUILL, James Douglas sumtyme of Spott, and Mr Johnne Coluill sumtyme of Strarudie, to appear before the King and Council, on Oct. xxv, ' to ansuer to sic thingis as falbe inquirit of thame, concerning maist Heich Treffoun committit be thame aganis his Maiesteis persone and estate ; and to vnderly sic ordour as falbe takin in that behalf,' under the pain of rebellion, &c.

(Oct. 25.)—THE EARL OF BOTHWELL, Douglas of Spott and Mr Johnne Coluill, ordained to be denounced rebels for not appearing, &c.

(Oct. .) —PROCLAMATION that as the EARLS OF ANGUS, HUNTLEY and ERROL, ' be diuerse thair lettres and vtherwise, hes maist humelie and eirnistlie craved ane Tryale,' for thair ' tressonnable Conspiracie,' committed in the month of January last ; and in order to prevent disturbances in the kingdom, ' in respect of thair gritnes and the place thay occupy,' that ' his gude subiectis forbear to mak conuocatioun or gadding in quhatsumeuir pairtis of the realme, be the perswasoun or sinister informatioun of ony perfonis ; bot be in reddynes to repair to his hienes self, as thay falbe aduertit be his awne Proclamatioun or Missive Letteris, and na vthirwayes : And that thay dissolue thair forceis, gif ony be alreddy conuocat, and depairt hame to thair duelling houffis, except sic perfonis as ar specialie requirit be his awne Letteris, to be presentit at the Conuention of the Nobility and Estates now at Lynlythgow,' &c.

(Oct. 31, apud Lynlythgow.)—A COMMISSION granted to Johnne Lord Thirlstane Chancellair, George Erll Marisshaell, Johnne Erll of Mar, Johnne Erll of Montrois, Andro Erll of Rothies and Alexander Lord Levingstoun, James Scott of Balvery, Johnne Murray of Tullibairdin, Alexander Bruce of Airth, knychtis, and George Lauder of Bafs, Williame Scott of Abbotishall and M^r David Carnegie of Culluthy, Alexander Hume of North Bernik Prouest and Clemett Cor, Commiffioners of Edinburgh, with the Commiffionaris of Dundee, Striuling, Lynlythgw and Coupar, with the officiaris of Eftate that fall happin to be present for the tyme, &c. ; and that Maisteris David Lindfay, Robert Bruce, Patrik Galloway, James Carmichaell, Robert Pollok and Johnne Duncanfoun, Minifteris, or sic of thame as beis present, haue accefs and audience quhen they haue ony thing, or fal happin to be callit vpoun for conference ; to heir and confidder the Petitionis of the ERLIS OF ANGUS, HUNTLIE and EROLE.

(Eodem die.)—PROCLAMATION ‘ that nane tak vpoun hand to invade, trouble or perlew the saidis Erllis and vtheris, feikaris of the said Tryale, in bodyis or guidis, during the tyme of the fame tryale ; vndir all hieft pane, charge and offens,’ &c.

(Nov. 6, apud Haliruidhous.)—PROCLAMATION ‘ that nane repair to Edinburgh bot sic as ar writtin for.’ A Convention had been called by the Eftates at Linlithgow ‘ to findrie noblemen, baronis and vtheris to conuene within the burgh of Edinburgh, vpoun the tuelft day of Nouember instant, and thair to treat, confult, deliberat and conclude vpoun findrie materis ; fpecialie, twicheing the fuirtie of the Eftate of Religioun and profefouris thair of, and fuirtie to be tane of all perfonis fufpectit or dilaitit to be aduerfaris of the fame, or trublaris of the quietnes of the cuntrie ; or in cais of thair diffobediens and contempt, how thay fall be perfewit or repreffit,’ &c.

(Nov. 26.)—‘ ACT OF ABOLITOUN,’ that Godis trew Religioun publictlie preichett and be law eftabliffit in the first yeir of his hienes reigne, fall only be profellit and exercifit be all his Maieftis lieges, &c.

(Dec. 22.)—A COMMISSION granted to ‘ WILLIAME LORD HEREIS, Schir Johnne Gordoun of Lochinvar, Alexander Steuart of Garleis, James Douglas of Drumlanrig, Thomas McClellane of Bombie, Thomas Kirkpatrick of Clofeburne, Williame Greirfoun of Lag, Alexander Jardaue of Apilgirth, Johnne Charterhous of Amysfeild and Charlis Murray of Cokpule, or to ony fevin, fyve or thrie of thame coniunctlie, his hienes full pouer, fpeciall command and charge, to conuene, treat and confult vpoun sic thingis as may tend to the obferuatioun of the peax and amitie with England ; eftabliffing and making of quietnes and gude reule, within the boundis of THE WEST MARCHE ; refifting and repreffing of the disturbaris thair of ; and committaris of thift, reffett of thift, reiff, murthour, slauchter, ffyre-raifing or vtheris oppreffionis and enormities ; quhairthrow the trew and peceable fubjectis may be preferuit and defendit from wrak and heirfchip : And to that effect, to convocat his hienes liegis within the boundis of the faid Marche, in armes, for perfute or defens, alfoft as neid beis ; vndir the pane of tinfale of lyffe, landis and guidis, &c. And for the bettir furtherance of the premisses, Justice Courte or Courtis, within the Tolbuith of Drumfreis, or ony vthir place, within the boundis of the faid Weft Marche, to fett, begin, afferme, hald and continew. The faid Commiffioun quhill the fyftene day of Februar nixtocum, and forder ay and quhill the fame be difchargeit, to indure.’ —THIS Commiffion was granted on account of ‘ the prefent troublit ftate of the Bordouris, fpeciallie in the Weft Marche thair of, foirament England, be occafion of the treffounable rebellious of SCHIR JAMES JOHNESTOUN of Dunfkillie knight and his compliceis ; quha, eftir impvntie, and his hienes grace and pardon reffaut, for findrie treffounable and wicked deidis committit be him and the thevis of his name, and vtheris, thair affiftaris ; at laft the faid Schir James tressounable brak warde furth of the Castell of Edinburgh, and be the faidis wicked thevis of his name and vthiris, maift crewellie and barbarouffie Murthourit the trew men, induellaris in the Sanquhair, in the defens and faultie of thair awne guidis ; continewing ftill in his treffounable deidis, as Birning of the Parroche-Kirk of Lochmabene, and slauchter of fun of his Maieftis fubiectis fend hither be JOHNE LORD MAXWELL, his hienes Wardane and Justice, for the furthfetting of his Maieftis authoritie : And at laft, vpoun the faxt day of December instant, cuning with convocatioun of his hienes liegis, and diuers Engliffmen, treffounable brocht within this realme, armed, in plane hoftilitie aganis the faid vni^{le} Lord Wardane and Justice, he beiring our fouerane lordis authoritie for the tyme, vmbefett, invadit, perfewit and maift cruellie and outragiouslie slew him and findrie Gentilmen of his name, and vtheris his Maiefties fubiectis ; drownit, lamyt, dememberit and tuke a grite nowmer of prifonaris, reft and fpulzeit thair horffis, armour, purffis, money and vtheris guidis ; and ftill continewis in thair rage, crueltie, heirfchip and waifing of the cuntrey ; in proude contempt of his hienes authoritie and Lawis.’

(Dec. 27.)—ALEXANDER LORD SPYNIE ordained to be denounced rebel, for failing to appear before the King and Council to have answered ‘ to fic thingis as fould haue bene inquirit of him at his cuning, tuicheing certane treffounable practizeis and Conspiraceis deuifit and attemptit aganis his Maieftis perfone and eftate.’

(Eodem die.)—ARCHIBALD WAUCHOP appeirand of Nudrie and Gilbert Pennyuik to be denounced rebels, for the fame reafon as above.

(Jan. 9, 1593-4, apud Edinburgh.)—HERCULES SCOTT bruthir germane to

Frances funtyme Erll Bothuill, and NINIANE CHIRNESYDE,—SYM ARMESTRANG y^r of Quhithauch,—JOSIAS STEUART bruthir germane to Andro Lord Vchiltrie,—and M^r THOMAS CRANSTOUN apperand of Mureiftoun, are severally ordained to be denounced rebels, for not appearing to answer concerning certain treasonable practices and Conspiracies, devised and enterprised against his Majesty's person and estate.

(Jan. 18.)—‘ACT OF THE TAXATIOUN of ane hundreth thousand pundis,’—‘the Quene his darrest bedfellow now shorthlie approcheing to the tyme of hir birth, to the conforte alswell of his hienes as of all his trew and faithfull subiectis.’

(Eodem die.)—‘ACT declairing the ERLIS of ANGUS, HUNTLIE and ERROLE to haue amittit the benefeit of the Act of Abolitioun.’

(Jan. 25.)—‘ACT of materis referit to the Secreit Counfaill.’—‘That thair first begin and tak ordour anent the PAPISTIS LORDIS, Jefuitis, Seminarie Preistis and excommunicat personis, and thair ressettaris; thaireftir, with FRANCES funtyme ERLI BOTHUILL, his complices and thair ressettaris; the Slauchter of his hienes WARDANE OF THE WEST MARCHE; the Slauchter of the TWA MINISTERIS; and all vtheris Slauchteris, Murthouris, Deforceing and dinging of Officeris of armes, in execution of thair officeis; cruell Oppressionis, and vtheris odious crymes,’ &c.

(Jan. 26.)—ROBERT STEUART and WILLIAME STEUART callit of Innermeith, and WILLIAME STEUART of Tulliemett, and ROBERT CREICHTOUN of Cluny, were ordained to be denounced rebels, for not appearing to have answered concerning certain treasonable practices and Conspiracies, &c.

(Eodem die.)—SCHIR JOHNE MELUILL of Carnbie ordained to be denounced rebel, for not appearing to have answered a charge, at the instance of the Tenants of his Majesty's proper lands of Kingsbarns; that he, having begun to erect a mill on the said lands, the tenants made ‘lauchfull interruptioun to him; for the quhilk he lies confaut ane deidlie haitrent and malice aganis thame, daylie invading and perfewing thame, &c.; as nanelie, vpoun the saxt day of October last, Thomas Fermour, ane of the saidis tenmentis, being cumand in peceable and quiet maner fra the citie of Sanctandrois to his awne houe, wes vmbefett in the hie way betuix the Grenelaw and Polduff be the said Schir Johne, James Meluille and Robert Betoun his fervandis, quha being missilit, (disguised, or masked,) bodin and furneist with hacquebutis, piftolettis, sverdis and vtheris wapones invafive, &c. and thair, maist cruellie hurte and woundit the said Thomas in diueris partis of his bodie, as nanelie, the said Laird struke him with ane pistollett vpoun the heid and feld him; quhairthrow he is almaist blindit of his left ee; and left him thair for deid,’ &c.

(Eodem die.)—ROBERT BUCHIANNANE of Spittel, Mungo B. in Tullichewne, and eight other Buchannanes, ordained to be denounced rebels, for not relieving George B. of that Ilk, of a Decreet Arbitral, pronounced by Ludovick Duke of Lennox, upon a Submissioun entered into by the Laird of B., taking burden upon him for his friends, on the one part, and Allane (Awlay) M'Caule of Ardincaple and his friends, on the other part; 'be the quhilk Decrete, the said George hes bene decernit to mak payment to the said Allane, and vtheris his friendis, of a certane sowne of money, for sum violence done, and attemptit aganis thame be the said George freindis.'

(Jan. 31.)—WILLIAM ERLI OF ANGUS, GEORGE ERLI OF HUNTLIE, FRANCES ERLI OF ERROLE and SCHIR PATRIK GORDOUN of Anchinoun, kn^t, charged 'to pas and enter thair personis in warde, within the feuerall wardis following,' viz., Angus, within the Castle of Blackness; Huntlie, within the Castle of Dunbartane; Errole, within the Castle of Edinburgh; and Sir Patrick, within the Castle of Thomptalloun; 'thairin to remane, vpoun thair awne expensses, ay and quhill thay be tryit, foule or clene, of the saidis crymes;' under the pain of Treason.

(Feb. 14.)—The King and Council Annul, revoke and discharge 'all and quhatsumeur COMMISSONIS of LIEUTENNANDRIE and JUSTICIARIE, preceiding the dait heirof.' This Act proceeds on the narrative, that 'a grite nowmer' of such Commissions had been 'paist and purchest be findrie noblemen, baronis and vtheris, within thir lait yeiris; quhilkis, for the maist parte, wer vsit ayther for thair awne particular proffeit, to the depaupering of honest men, his hienes gude subiectis, na commoditie followand to his Maiestie; to acquite sum personis of crymes, quhairof thay wer giltie, and deseruit pvnishment; or to be revengeit of vtheris, aganis quhome thay professit euill will and enimitie; as vn-happie experience, be the monyfauld slauchteris, and tressonable ffyre-raingis that hes bene committit within thir few yeiris, euidentlie declairit.' Charges are ordered to be given, that thenceforward 'nane of thame tak vpoun hand to vse or execute the same Commissions, or to mak convocatioun of his hienes liegis, vnder the pane of Tressoun.'

(Feb. 26, apud Striiling.)—PROCLAMATION against ALEXANDER LORD SPYNIE, ROBERT CREICHTOUN of Chuny, &c. charging the lieges, that none of them refet, supply nor intercommune with them, nor furnish them with meat, drink, house or 'harbory;' and that they assist the Sheriffs, &c. in apprehending them; under the pain of being held 'as arte and pairt-takeris with the saidis declairit tratouris.'

(Mar. 8.)—Act against the EARLS OF ANGUS, HUNTLIE and ERROL, ordaining them 'to be repute, haldin and perswet as tratouris; and the proces and dome of ffoirfaltour to be led aganis thame, conforme to the lawis of this realme, and Actis of Parliament ;'—they having failed to enter thair perfons in ward, as lawfully charged.

(Mar. 14.)—‘MR JAMES BETOUN of Creich, keipar of his hienes CASTELL and PALICE OF FALKLAND, charged to rander and deliuer the fane, with the plenneffing, guidis and geir being thairin, pertening to his Maieftis felff, vpoun Inventair, to the officeris executouris of the Letteris, within xxiiij houris ;’ and failing, to denounce him rebel : And alfo to charge DAVID MURRAY, fader-bruthir to M. of Balvaird, in like manner, to remove furth of the Park and Wood of Falkland : This is done in confequence of ‘his hienes darrest bed-fallow the Quene, now laitlie preiffing and requiring his hienes with the accomplifhing ‘of his promife, that his hail conjunct-fee and terce-leving, pertening to her within the lordfchip of Fyffe, fould be putt in hir awne poffeffioun.’

(Mar. 27, 1594, apud Edinburgh.)—A COMMISSION, granted to ‘ALEXANDER LORD HWME, Wardane of the Eift Marche ; SCHIR ROBERT KER, appeirand of Cesfurde, Wardane depute of the Middle Marche ; and SCHIR WALTER SCOT of Branxholme, kn^t ; eueryane of thame within thair awne boundis and iurifdictioun,’ to convocate the lieges, ‘alfwele to burgh as to land, regalitie as ryaltie, on horfe and fute, in weirlyke maner.’ This is done, in confequence of the King and Council ‘heiring of the treflounable intentioun of FRANCES fumtyme ERLI BOTHUILE, and vtheris his complices, his hienes declairit tratouris, be quhome certane cumpanyis and bandis of wageit men of weir, on horfe and fute, are rafit of lait ; for executing, as appeiris, of findrie treflounable practizeis and Conspiraceis,’ &c. And, ‘in cais thay or any of thame flee to houffis or ftrenthis, with power, &c., to direct their preceptis and chargeis for rendering of the faidis houffis, &c., vnder the panes of trefloun and hoirning ; the perfonis difobeyand, to caus denunce to the horne ; and thaireftir to Affege the faidis houffis, raife fyre and vfe all kynd of force and weirlyke ingyne, that can be had for wyning and recouerie thair of,’ &c. All perfons betwixt fixty and fixteen years of age, are charged ‘to ryfe, concur, fortifie and affift’ the Commiffioners.

(Mar. 29.)—PROCLAMATION, charging all the lieges within the age of fixty and fixteen, dwelling within the bounds of Edinburgh, Haddington and Linlithgow, ‘alfweill to burgh as to land,’ &c., to repair to Edinburgh, ‘vpoun Mononday nixt, the firft of Aprile nixt to cum, weill bodin in feir of weir, fpéciallie with jakkis, fteilbonnetis, fpeiris, or lang gwnis, with prouiffioun for the fpace of aucht dayis eftir thair cuning ; and to remane and attend vpoun his Maieftie, or vthirwayes to pas forward, as they falbe coumandit’ ; ‘for preventing, withftanding and repreffing of the proude and temerarious attemptatis of the faidis declairit traitouris (BOTHWELL, &c.) and vnnaturall fubiectis, and perfute of thame as occafion falbe offerit.’

(Mar. 31.)—The King and Council, understanding that ‘JOHNE ERLLE OF ATHOILL, accompanied with his freindis and seruandis, and vtheris his Maieftis liegis, perfwadit be him vpoun fun collourit pretens, ar to repair in weirlyke manner with all conuenient expeditioun, to the South pairtis of this realme, to joyne in cumpany and actioun with Frances sumtyme Erl Bothwill,’ &c.—Therefore, Letters are ordained to be directed, charging him ‘to diffolue his forceis and returne hame to his awne duelling place, and thair remane and contene him selff in quietnes, vnder his Maieftis obediens.’ The lieges who had joined with him, are charged to ‘pas hame to thair awne duelling houffis, within xxiiij houris.’ A free Pardon and Remiffion granted to thofe obeying—‘thame that refuiffis to accept his hienes grace and fauour, now quhen it is offerit, and dois in the contrair heirof, falbe alfwa perfewit as tratouris and Confpiratouris aganis his Maieftie and his authoritie, with the lyke rigour and extremitie, without fauour.’

(Apr. 2.)—PROCLAMATION for the ‘Erlis, lordis, &c., of the Sherefdom of Perth and Steuartreis of Stratharne and Menteith,’ &c., that they, ‘weill bodin in feir of weir, with aucht dayis victuallis, addres thame selffis to meitt his Maieftie, his Lientennent, or vtheris haueand his hienes pouer and Commiffioun, at the burgh of Stirling, vpone the fyft day of Aprile instant, for perfute and withftanding of the faidis declairit tratouris,’ &c.

(Apr. 9.)—PROCLAMATION to pass to the NORTH, along with ‘his hienes in propir perfoun, for perfute, refifting and repressing of the cheiff authouris of the treflounable Confpiraceis diuifit and maid aganis God, his treu Religiou, prefentlie profellit,’ &c. The ‘Erlis, baronis,’ &c. of the fheriffdoms of Fife, Kinrofs, Perth be-north the water of Erne, Forfar, Kincardine, to meet at Dundee on 29th April; Aberdeen, Banff, Elgin, Fores, Nairn, Inverness and Cromarty, to meet at Aberdeen on 2d May; ‘alfweill regalitie as ryaltie, togidder with the inhabitantis of burrowis, weill bodin in feir of weir, with xxx dayis prouiffioun,’ &c.

(Apr. 13, apud Brunt-Iland.)—PROCLAMATION againft ‘CAPITANE GEORGE STRANG, Capitane Robert Meluill, Mr Jerome Lindfay, fone to Mr David L. Miniſter, Mr Johnne Murray, David Orme of Mugdrum, Mr Allane Orme and Orme his bruthir, Robert Douglas, fone naturall to Schir George D., and Patrik Clapene, bruthir to the Laird of Carflogy, his Maieftis vmaturall and difobedient fubiectis, fugitiue fra his hienes lawis, for thair treflounable affifting, intercommuning, &c., with FRANCES sumtyme ERLLE BOTHUILL, and vtheris his compliceis, his Maieftis declairit traitouris, in thair treflounable and wicked deidis; and fun of thame for rafing baidis of men of weir; and vtheris for reffauing of wageis and entering vnder the charge and commandiment of thame and vthiris Capitanes and Commandaris, for feruing of the faidis tra-touris aganis his Maieftie,' &c. The lieges are therefore difcharged from furnifhing them with 'meit, houfe nor harbory,' &c.

(Eodem die.)—The Magiftrates of the 'Townis off the coift-fyde,' find caution to appear before the King and Council, 'to anfuer to fie thingis as falbe inquirit of thame, concerning thair affiftance, arte, pairt-taking, intercommoning or haueing intelligence with FRANCES fuintyme ERLI BOTHUILL,' &c., viz. 'The Magiftrates of KIRKALDY, under the pane of 2000 merkis; KINGHORNE, 1000 merkis; DYSART, 2000 pundis; PITTINWEYME, 1000 merkis; CARRAILL, 500 pundis; SANCT ANDROIS, 2000 merkis; ANSTRUTHER, 1000 pundis; and COUPAIR, 500 merkis.

(Apr. 23, apud Edinburgh.)—Thomas Mertoun of Cammo, and Williame M. younger of Cammo, become fecurity for HENRY LORD SINCLAIR, that he, his kin, tenants, &c., fhall obferve peace, quietnefs and good rule in the country; and in no wife invade, trouble nor perfue David Wemys of that Ilk, Johnne his fon, their kin, tenants, &c.; under the pain of 10,000 merks.

(Apr. 26.)—JOHNE ERLI OF ATHOILL to be denounced rebel, for not appearing to anfwer concerning his dealing and praetizing with Bothwell, &c.

(Apr. 29.)—PROCLAMATION, for the lieges to be in readinefs to repair to his Majefty, upon fix days' warning.

(May 2.)—ANDRO LORD STEUART OF VCHILTIE ordained to be denounced rebel, for not appearing to anfwer 'tuicheing his treflounable attemptattis, confpirit, practizit and putt in executioun aganis his Maiefteis perfone and eftate.'

Creasonably Conspiring and Trafficking against the Protestant Religion, &c.—'The Spanish Blanks.'

(Jun. 8.)—WILLIAME ERLI OF ANGUS, GEORGE ERLI OF HUNTIE, FRANCES ERLI OF ERROLL and SCHIR PATRIK GORDOUN of Auchindoun, kn^t.¹

The quhilk day, Mr David M'Gill of Cranftoun-Riddell and Mr Johnne Skene, aduocattis to our fouerane lord, productit, in prefence of the Kingis Maieftie and Eftaitis, lyk as thay did dyuerfe tymes ofbefoir, the Summondis of Treflone, rafit and perfewit at the instance of our faid fouerane lord and his hienes Juftice, aganis the faidis Williame Erli of Angus, George Erli of Huntie, Frances Erli of Erroll and Schir Patrik Gordoun of Auchindoun knicht; quhair-by thay wer fummond to haue comperit befor our faid fouerane lord, and his hienes Juftice, the xvij day of Maij laftbypaft, with continwatioun of dayes, to haue anfuerit to the crymes and pointis of Treflone and Lefemajeftie contenit in the faidis fummondis: The quhilk fummondis, reffonis and cauffis thairin contentit, being first red, in presens of the Kingis Maiestie, and in presens of the Lordis of Articles, thay fand the same summondis relevant. And thaireftir, this instant day, the same Summondis of Tressone being red in presens of the Kingis Maiestie and haill Estaitis; and the saidis thre Erllis and Laird of Auchindoun being thryse callit at the Tolbuith windo, and nane of thame comperand; the saidis haill Estaitis ffind the saidis summondis relevant; and thairfoir, thay admittit the same to the saidis aduocattis probatioun. And immediatlie thaireftir, the saidis aduocattis, for preving of the saidis Summondis of Tressone aganis the saidis [Erllis] and Lard of Auchindoun, producit, in presence of the Kingis Maiestie and haill Estaitis, the PROBATIONIS following; lyk as, thay producit the samyn probationis ofbefoir to the saidis Lordis of Articles, vpon the first day of the moneth of Junij instant. IN THE FIRST, thai producit AUCHT BLANKIS, in paper; tua thairof subferyuit be the said Erll of Angus allanerlie; vther tua be the said Erll of Huntlie allanerlie; vther tua subferyuit be the said Erll of Erroll allanerlie; and vther tua be the saidis thre Erllis and Laird of Auchindoun; all fend to Spayne. Quhilkis blankis hes na defigatioun on the bak, nor declaratioun of the causes for the quhilk thai wer fend, bot blank and quheit paper on baith the sydis, except the said subscriptionis.—ITEM, thai produce dyuerse and sundrie feillis of the saidis Erllis, imprentit in paper, fend with Mr George Ker to Spayne; to the effect vtheris feillis nicht be maid thair conforme to the samyn, to seill the saidis blankis, efter thai suld be fillit. Thay produce dyuerse and sundrie Depositionis of Mr George Ker, subferyuit with his awin hand; with ane Missive Lettre, writtin and subferyuit be him, vncompellit or coactit, bot of his awin frie will to the Kingis Maiestie; be the quhilk Depositionis and Lettre, the haill tressonable Trafficquing aganis the Religioun, the King, his estait and realme, is willinglie confessit and planelie declarit; and the tressonabill end and effect for the quhilk the saidis blankis and feillis wer fend, is maid manifest, viz. that thai wer fend to be fillit vp be the Counsaill of Spayne, and Mr Williame Creichtoun Jesuïte, with sic forme and securitie as thai suld deuyse, anent the sending in Scotland of monie, for lifting of men of weir and of Threttie Thowsand Spanzeardis to cum in this cuntrie, and land in the wast partis thairof; quhair of Fyve Thowsand suld haue remanit in this cuntrie, and beand coniuinct with the saidis Erllis, suld alter the Religioun and estait of this cuntrie.—ITEM, for preving the premiffes, thay produce certane Depositionis, subferyuit be vni^q^{le} David Grahame of Fintrie; conforme in all thingis to the Depositionis of the said Mr George Ker.—ITEM, thai produce the Dome of Foirfaltour gevin and pronuncit aganis the said vni^q^{le} Lard of Fintrie, contenand his Depositionis and Dittay; quhilkis ar conforme in all pointis to the said first resson of the summondis, and expresse verrifies and pre-vis the famyn : The quhilkis Treffone the said Laird of Fintrie confessit in judgement, and neur revoikit the same, bot 3eid (went) to the death thairwith, and wes justifiet and execute thairfoir.—ITEM, thay produce findrie Lettres writtin be Mr James Gordoun, vnder ane fenzeit name of James Crystefoun : And siclyk, ane Lettre writtin be Mr Robert Abercrummy, Jesuite, having ane fenzeit subsciption of Robert Sandiefoun : And ane Lettre writtin and subsciuit be the said vmq^{le} Laird of Fintrie, havand ane fenzeit name of David Forrester : Quhilkis Lettres planelie previs, conforme to the premisses, the hail Treffone libellit.—ITEM, thay produce Lettres writtin be Mr James Gordoun, in faouris and commendatioun of Mr George Ker, writtin to findrie personis in Spanzie, to preif, that he was purposit to pas to Spaine with the saidis blankis : Togidder with tua Obligatiounis, subsciuit be the saidis Mr James and Robert, in the quhilk thay confes the fenzeing and mutatioun of thair awin names, quhilk lykways may be easelie provin per comparationem literarum, and be inspectioun of the saidis Obligatiounis, that Sandefoun is Abircrummy, and Crystefoun is Gordoun : And as to the fenzeit name of the said vmq^{le} Laird of Fintrie, calland him self David Forrester, he confessit the same fals subsciption and name to be his awin hand-write and name, in his Depositionis, 20th Januar 1592 ; the quhilk lykways is provin, per comparationem literarum, be the subsciption of the Depositionis, and ane Lettre writtin and subsciuit with his awin hand, heirwith product ; quhilk Lettre is direct to the Kingis Maestie, and is repetit in modum probationis of the said libell.—ITEM, thai produce Lettres of Incident Diligence, quhairby the saidis Erllis, and Laird of Auchindoun, and Mr James Gordoun, and Mr Robert Abircrummy, ar summond to this Parliament, to heir and sic the subsciptionis of the saidis Blankis, and fenzeit subsciptionis, and feillis foirsaid, to be thair awin ; and being recognoscit, to preif aganis thame ; and to heir and sic all vther probatioun vfit, led and deducit aganis thame, as accordis of law : And repeatit the Depositionis of witnesses, in quantum, and the notorietye of thair subsciptionis and hand-write.—ITEM, becaus Mr George Ker and vmq^{le} Lard of Fintrie, Mr James Gordoun and Mr Robert Abircrummy, wer Traffiquing Papistes, trattouris and participantis of the Treffone libellit, lyk as thai ar 3it, (except the said Laird of Fintrie, quha wes execute for the same,) and thairfoir, it may be objectit that thair Depositionis fall mak na faith in this cause, the saidis aduocattis producis ane Interloquittour of the Lordis of the Sessioun, subsciuit be the Clerk of Register, findand thir infame personis, minoris, or personis beand fellowis or companiounis in the same cryme, may be witnesses in the causes of Treffone and heresie ; quhilk Interloquitour wes product and practizit in the accusatioun of vmq^{le} Ewfame McCalzeane.—ITEM, thai produce the Sentence of Excommuniatioun aganis the personis accusit, and also contrair Mr James Gordoun, vniq^{le} David Grahame of Fintrie.—ITEM, it is of veritie, that the King and thre Estaitis of this realme, in criminall caus, hes iurisdiction and pouer of ane greit Assise, and may iuge and decyde all crymes, conforme to thair consciences, and vehement presumptionis, conjectures and probabilities, quhilk may be collectit and gatherit in the causes; and speciallic, in the cryme of Tressone; as is manifest in the writtin law of this realme, callit Regiam Maiestatem, lib. 4. cap. 1. And the saidis aduocattis repetis, in forme of probatioun, the notoriety of the crymes libellit, and that of the law sufficit allegare notorium sed non probare, and the publict voce and fame, quhilk is ane vehement probatioun in criminibus clandestinis, and namelic, in the cryme of Tressone and Lesmaiestie, with the notoriety of the Tressone, and of the trafficking libellit, committit be the personis accusit at the Brig of Die, the yeir of God 1589 yeiris; ffor the quhilk, findrie of thame eum in his Maiesteis will for the samyn; quhilk is ane Confessioun of the cryme.—ITEM, thay repetit and producis ane Catalogue of fals and fenzeit names of certane Jesuittes and trafficking Papistes, contening also certane fenzeit names of the saidis Erllis, quha all did fenzie thair names, to the effect thai micht the mair surelie and quietlie vse the tressonabill traffique libellit.—ITEM, thay produce and repeittis, that the saidis Erllis and Laird of Auchindoun, being suspect of Tressone, and chargit to enter in ward, conforme to the Act of Parliament maid be King James the Secund, disobeyit the same; and thairby hes incurrit the pane of Tressone, be refone of thair contumacie; becaus of the law, he that is contumax may be condampnit, for his contumacie causses him be estemit as present, and inducis aganis him ane Confessioun of the cryme L.3 . . . ‘decernimus:’ And it is of treuth, that of the law he is callit contumax, quha is summond to ane certane day, be ane peremptour summondis, with certification, and comperis not the said day. L. Contumacia et ibi glossa ff. de re iudic.: And for verificatioun thairof, thay produce the Kingis Lettres, with the executionis thairof; quhairby the saidis Erllis and Laird ar chargit to enter thair personis in ward.—ITEM, thay produce ane act and decret of the Secreit Counsaill, maid at Edinburgh the aucht day of Merchie last wes, with the publicatioun thairof at the mercat croce of Edinburgh, vpoun the xij day of the said moneth, the yeir of God foirsaid; ffindand and declarand, that the saidis thre Erllis and Laird of Auchindoun hes contravenit the saidis chargis, and fuld be pvnissit, estemit and accusit as Traitoris.—ITEM, To the end that the saidis Erllis and Laird of Auchindoun thair contumacie and perseuerance may be knawin, in the tressonable Tressone libellit, without ony apperance of repentance or amendement, the saidis aduocattis repeittis the manifest Tressone committit be thame and ilk ane of thame, be resseting of certane strangearis, traffiqueris and tressonable mwtnineris and rafaris of feditioun aganis the estait of the realme and Religioun, quha laitlie arryvit and landit in the toun of Montroife, and ar presentlie, lyk as thay haue bene sen the tyme of thair arryving in this realme, reffett, helpit, supportit, assistit and mantenit be the saidis thre Erllis and Lard, and euerie ane of thame, to the owerthrow and euerfioun of this realme and Religioun presentlie professit within the same.—THE saidis aduocattis repetit the haill wreittis and vtheris premisses abone mentionat, as thai ar sett down in maner abone mentionat, with the notorietye of the deid; and that this Parliament is ane greit Assyse; sua that he, quha of his conscience can nocht clenge, he of necessitie mon fyle: And renuncit forther probatioun of the first reffone of the Summondis of Foirfalture.

¹ See Acta Parl. 1592-3, p. 283.

SUMMONDIS of TRESSONE and FOIRFALTURE aganis the ERLIS of HUNT-LIE, ANGUS and ERROLL, and SIR PATRIK GORDOUN of Auchindoun.

JACOBUS Dei gratia Rex Scotorum, dilectis nostris Leoni Regi armorum, Ilay, Albanie, Rofs, Rothfay, Snawdoun, Merchemont, herauldis; Roberto Stewart, Davidi Bryffone, Alexandro Douglas, Jacobo Chalmeris, clauigeris; Orment, Bute, Vnicorne, Carrik, signiferis; Joanni Blindscheillis Bute signifero, Roberto Frafer Vnicorne signifero, &c. nunciis; et eorum cuilibet, conjunctim et diuisim, vicecomitibus nostris in hac parte: Salutem. Mandamus vobis et precipimus quatenus summoneatis legitime et peremptorie, coram testibus, Willhelmum Comitem de Angus, Georgium Comitem de Huntlie, Franciscum Comitem de Erroll, Dom. Patricium Gordoun de Auchindoun militem., Conspiratores, perpetratores et celatores criminum Lese maiestatis subsequenitium, personaliter si eorum personales presentias commode habere poteritis; alioquin apud eorum loca habitationum, vel per publicam proclamationem, apud cruces forales burgorum nostrorum de Edinburghe, Hadingtoun, Lanerk, Abirdene, Perth, Bamff, &c. aliaque loca necessaria; degentes vero seu existentes extra regnum nostrum, seu nullum certum domicilium in eodem habentes, apud dictas cruces forales aliaque loca necessaria, super premonitione sexaginta dierum; sic quod huiusmodi summonitio ad eorum aures et noticiam verisimiliter peruenire poterit; quod compareant coram nobis seu Justiciario nostro, vigesimo die mensis Maij proxime sequen. in Parlamento nostro, apud Edinburgh, decimo octauo die mensis Maij predicti tenend., hora causarum continuatione dierum ad respondendum nobis nostrove Justiciario in prefato Parlamento, super proditoriis criminibus subsequenitibus: Dictos scilicet Guilielmum Comitem de Angus, Georgium Comitem de Huntlie, Franciscum Comitem de Errole, Dom. Patricium Gordoun de Auchindoun militem, &c., et eorum quemlibet, pro sua proditoria Conspiratione, consultatione et conclusione horrendi sceleris et facinoris ad exequendum destinati pro alteratione status regni nostri et vere Religionis inde professè, per nos nostrosque probos et fideles legios, secundum Dei omnipotentis Verbum, per Acta Parlamenti nostri approbate, et per leges nostras confirmate: Idque presertim, in mensibus Junii, Julii, Augusti, Septembris, Octobris, Nouembris, aut eorum aliquo, anno domini 1592, in ipsorum consilijs et conventionibus cum Magistro Jacobo Gordoun et M. Roberto Abircrummy, Jesuitis et seminaris presbiteris, et cum M. Georgio Ker et quondam Dauide Grabame de Fintrie, aut eorum aliquo, excommunicatis Papistis, super literis a M. Wilhelmo Creichtoun et M. Jacobo Tyrie, Jesuitis ex Hispania, missis et directis ad prefatum M. Jacobum Gordoun: Et in ipsorum proditoria consultatione et conclusione desuper habita; in quibus declaratur, quam diligenter, et quanta cura ipsi cum Rege et consilio Hispanie elaborauerunt, pro pecunia et militibus in Scotiam deportantis, ad extremam subuersionem et alterationem Religionis nunc professè, et invasionem regni Anglie; quod solum in hoc regardabatur, donec ex Scotia clarus quidem vir mitteretur cum literis certitudinis, et aliis vacuis cartis (sic Blankis), subscriptis per nobiles viros qui pro parte et nomine Catholicorum Promanorum in hoc nostro regno existentium sese obligarent et hypothecarent: Quequidem Litere (sic Blankis) implementur, cum aũfamento dictorum M. Wilhelmi Creichtoun et M. Jacobi Tyrie, in Hispania degentium, tanquam certiffima vincula, figna et fidejufiones predict. monete et militum, extenden. ad numerum 30,000 virorum armatorum, anno predicto, intran. verſus occidentalem partem hujus regni noſtri, prope Kirkeubreiche vel fluvium de Clyde, prout ventus nauigationi melius inferuiret. Ad cuius impij et proditorij facinoris perimpletionem, commemorate vacue Litere (ſic Blankis) partim Latine, partim Gallice, ſub diuerſis formis, vna cum Literis certificationis et fidei ſubſcripte fuerunt manibus prefatorum Wilhelmi Comitis Anguſie, Georgii Comitis Huntlie, Franciſci Comitis de Erroll, et D. Patricii Gordoun de Auchindoun militis palam profitentium et affirmatum ſe eſſe maiestatis regis Hispanie (ad quem iſte Litere mittebantur) humillimos et maxime obedientes fervitores: Quod ipſorum factum proditionis predictae manifeſte eos arguit, quod tum natura et fide ſint nobis ſuo Regi obligati (ad quem huiusmodi Litere vacue non erant miſſe) ligeantiam et fidelitatem nobis debitam proditori diſſoluerunt, et alieno et peregrino Regi, ſine noſtro conſenſu, fidem ſuam obſtrinxerint; et literas vacuas ipſorum manibus ſubſcriptas ad eum miſerunt, in quibus ſcribi et impleri potuit per eum et eius conſilium quicquid ipſis viſum eſſet quod poſſet eſſe nociuum et detrimentofum nobis, noſtre auctoritati regie, regno noſtro et ſubditis; quo ipſorum facto, nihil magis proditorium fieri et excogitari ab illis potuit. Poſtea eodem Litere (ſic Blankis) ad effectum ſupraſcriptum tradite et deliberate fuerunt, in menſe . . . anno domini 1592, dicto M. (Georgio) Ker, vna cum variis et diuerſis figillis dictorum comitum cere impreſſis: Quiquidem M. Georgius trans mare in Hispaniam nauigaturus, ad hoc ſceleratum opus exequend. electus fuit; idemque negotium in ſe libenter ſuſcepit, et iter ingreſſus ad Cumbram Inſulam vſque peruenit; cum plenaria commiſſione perſonarum ſupra-mentionat.; onus in ſe acceptantium pro omnibus aliis ſue factionis hominibus Catholicis Romanis, ad ſedulo laborandum pro pecunia et militibus recuperandis; cum ipſorum fideli permiſſione ad preparandum ſeſe ſuoſque viros et equites armatos, quo ad dicta pecunia extendere et ſatiſfacere valuerit; qui certo expectarent adventum et introitum dictorum Hispanorum militum, deducerentque maiorem numerum eorundem in Angliam, pro euerſione eiufdem et Religionis ibi profeſſe: Et quorum Hispanorum 5000 infra hoc noſtrum regnum pro perpetuo reſiderent, cum quibus antenominatos proditores, degenerati nobiles et huiusmodi omnes Papiſte Catholici illius ſecte in hoc noſtro regno degentes ſeſe conungerent, pro alteratione ſtatus eiufdem, et Religionis nunc profeſſe; quorum qui alterutrum euerit vtrumque euerit, cum inter ſe ita ſunt conjuncta vt vno pereunte alterum perire ſit neceſſe; et exaltatione miſſarum et Catholice Romane profeſſionis, ad euident periculum et detrimentum noſtre regie perſone, diſturbationem pacis regni noſtri, et alterationem vniverſi ſtatus eiufdem. Committendo inde nefandam et maniſeſtiſſimam Proditionem, contra Deum noſtrum omnipotentem, nos, auctoritatem noſtram regiam et leges. Ideoque antenominatos Guiliehmum Anguſie Comitem, Georgium Huntlie Comitem, Franciſcum Errolie Comitem, D. Patricium Gordoun de Auchindoun, militem, &c., ad videndum et audiendum ſeſe et eorum quemlibet, intuitu premiſſorum, crimen Leſe Majestatis incurriſſe, per nos et trium regni noſtri ſtatuum decretum decerni et declarari: Et propterea, bona, (mobilia,) et immobilia, tam terras quam officia aliaſque res ad eos ſpectantes nobis conſiſcari, et pro perpetuo nobiſcum in proprietate remanere; perſonaſque ſuas penas Proditionis et vltimi ſupplicii a regni noſtri legibus inſictas ſubire: Ac vterius, in permiſſe reſpondend. et juri parend: Intimando ſupra-dictis Conſpiratoribus et eorum cuilibet, quod ſue dictis die et loco cum continuatione dierum comparuerint ſue non, nos, dictuſque noſter Juſticiarius in premiſſis, juſticia mediante, procedemus et procedet. Inſuper, citetis, &c., ad comparandum coram nobis noſtrove Juſticiario dictis die et loco, hora cauſarum, cum continuatione dierum, ad perhibendum fidele teſtimonium in cauſa predicta, ſub pena legis; et preſentes literas debite executas et indorſitas earundem lateri reddatis. Et vos qui preſentes executi fueritis ſitis ibidem, dictis die et loco, coram nobis noſtrove Juſticiario, portan. vobiſcum ſummonitionis veſtre teſtimonium in ſcriptis pro premiſſis, ſeu ipſos teſtes: Ad quod faciend. vobis et veſtrum cuilibet coniunctum et diuiſum vicecomitibus noſtris in hac parte committimus poteſtatem: Datum ſub teſtimonio noſtri magni ſigilli, apud Edinburgh, decimo nono die menſis Marci, 1593, et regni noſtri vigeſimo ſeptimo.

THE quhilk Summondis, with the executionis and indorfationis thairof reſpectiue foirfaidis, being this iſtant day red, in preſens of his Maieſtie and hail Eſtatis of Parliament, firſt in Latyne and fyne in Scottis, and the faidis Williame Erle of Angus, George Erle of Huntlie, Francis Erle of Arroll and Schir Patrik Gordoun of Auchindoun kny^t, being oftymes callit of new, at the Tolbuyth vyndow of the faid burgh of Edinburghe, to haif comperit and anſuerit to the faid ſummondis and reſſone contenit thairin ; and thai nocht comperand, to haif defendit in the faid mater, and to haif anſuerit to the faid ſummondis ; the faidis Aduocatis deſyrit the faidis Eſtatis declaratioun, gif the reſſoun of the faid ſummondis wer releuant aganis the faidis thrie Erlis and Schir Patrik Gordoun of Auchindoun kny^t. Quhillkis Eſtatis, all with ane voce, fund the ſamin releuant aganis thame : Thairfoir, the faidis Aduocatis, of new, for verefeing of the faid reſſoun contenit in the faid Summondis of Treſſoune, producit and repetit the hail aucht Blankis, in paper ; twa thairof ſubſcryvit be the faid Erle of Angus allanerlie ; vther twa be the faid Erle of Huntlie allanerlie ; vther twa ſubſcryvit be the faid Erle of Arroll allanerlie ; and vther twa ſubſcryvit be the faidis Erlis and Lard of Auchindoune ; all ſend to Spane : And als repetit the hail vther probationis repetit be him of befoir in the faid mater, this iſtant day ; and deſyrit the faidis Eſtatis of Parliament to advyis the probatiounis foirfaidis led and deducit in the faid mater, and to pronunce thair ſentence of Parliament thairintill, according to the ſamin probationis and thair conſciences. And thairefter, the hail writtis and probationis, being red, ſene and conſiderit be the hail Eſtatis of Parliament, in preſens of the Kingis Maieſtie, and thai thairvithe being rypelie advyſit, the faidis Lordis and Eſtatis of Parliament ſſindis, decernis and declaris, that the faidis Williame Erle of Angus, George Erle of Huntlie, Francis Erle of Erroll and Schir Patrik Gordoune of Auchindoun kny^t, hes committit and done oppin and maniſt Treſſoune aganis our faid ſouerane lord, in all poyntis, articlis and maner contenit in the faid Summondis. And thairfoir, it was gevin for Dome be the mouthe of James Neſbet dempſter of Parliament, in maner and forme as followis.

DOME of FOIRFALTOUR. This Court of Parliament ſchawis for law, that the faidis Williame ſumtyme Erle of Anguis, George ſumtyme (Erle) of Huntlie, Francis ſumtyme Erle of Erroll and Schir Patrik Gordoune ſumtyme of Auchindoun kny^t, and ilk ane of thame, hes committit and incurrit the ſpeciall cryme of Treſſoun and Leſemaieſtie abonewrittin, the tymis and in maner at lengthe contenit in the reſſoune of the faid Summondis of Treſſoune : And thairfoir, decernis and declaris all thair gudis, moveable and vnmouable, alſweill landis as officis, and vtheris thingis qvhatſumewir belonging to thame, to be conſeicat to our ſouerane lord, and to remane perpetuallie with his hienes in propertie, in tyme cumning ; and thair perſonis to vnderly the panis of Treſſoune and vtter pwnishment, appoyntit be the lawis of this realme : And this I gif for Dome.

The interest which must be felt by all in the mysterious story of ‘ the Scottish Blanks,’ induces the Editor to give an accurate reprint of an extremely rare Tract, published under the immediate authority and revision of the King and Privy Council of Scotland, which he is fortunate enough to have in his own Collection. The original is marked, ‘ ex Pamphletis Roberti Mylne scribæ,’ a well-known Collector of Tracts, illustrative of the History of Scotland, who died Dec. 21, 1747, at the very advanced age of 105 ; having ‘ enjoyed his sight, and the exercise of his understanding, till a little before his death.’¹ The same Tract was reprinted under the direction of Queen Elizabeth’s Council ; but unluckily, it is ‘ done into English,’ and is otherwise inaccurately edited. It bears for imprint on the title-page, ‘ London, Printed by R. F. for John Norton. 1593.’

A DISCOVERIE

OF THE VNNATURALL AND TRAITEROUS CONSPIRACIE OF SCOTTISCH PAPISTES, against God, his Kirk, their native Cuntry, the Kingis Maiesties persone and estate. Set downe as it was confessed and subscribed bee M. George Ker, yit remaining in Prifon, and David Grahame of Fentrie, iustly executed for his Treason, in Edinburgh, the 15 of Februarie 1592. Wherevnto are annexed, certaine intercepted Letters, written by sundrie of that faction, to the same purpose.

Printed and published at the speciall command of the Kingis Majestie.

AT EDINBURGH,

PRINTED BY ROBERT WALDEGRAVE, Printer to the Kingis Majestie.

Cum privilegio Regali.

TO THE READER.

ANIE and dangerous poynts (good Reader) of vnnaturall and treasonable practises of Scottissh Papiists, or (as they will needes be styled) Catholicke Romans, against God, his Kirk, their native Country and the Kinges Majesties estate and persone, being discovered by Godes great and mercifull providence, partly by the depositions and confessions of some of the practifiers themselves, and namly, Master George Ker, who for that cause is imprisoned, and David Grahame of Fentrie, justly execute for the same also, in Edinburgh the 15. of Februarie 1592, and partly by diverse letters of sundrie of the practifiers, intercepted at diverse tims. It is thought good by the Kings Majestie, and his honourable Counsell, that the most substantiall paynts of the said depositions, should be faithfully taken out of the originals, which were deponed and confessed by the saide M. George, and David Grahame of Fentrie, before the honourable persons depute by the Kings Majestie, and his hienes Counsell to that effect, and subscribed with their own hands; and for the greater ease of the memory of the reader, should be summarly gathered into this forme following, which otherwise were scattered here and there in their depositions, according to the occasion of the diverse demands at diverse dyats: for the readier taking vp whereof, the times of the depositions and persons deponers, severally and coniuently as the matter craveth, should be set down in marginal quotations: As also, that some of the most remarkable letters of the practifers, should be joynd herunto word by word, quhilke were intercepted with Maister George Ker, and the rest decyphered and translated as after shall appeare; and so the whole together to be imprinted, and set fourth vnto the view of the world, to the glory of Gods Majestie (the only revealer of these secrets), to the comfort and edification of his Kirk, and the perpetuall detection and thame of the vnnatural enemy. Al quhilke things are so faithfullie done in this volume following, that no man how impudent so ever he be, can iustly chaleng it with any falsifying, forging, or changing one thing for another, to the wresting of the original depositions, in any the lest substantiall part therof, as by conferring this extract with the first records which are in the Clerks hands, most evidently shall appear, if any list to looke vpon them. Thou art therefore (good Reader) gretly to consider the goodnes of our God in this case, so watchfull over his Kirk, for the good and safetie thereof, by discovering sik deep and dangerous practises of the deadly enemy, euen then, when as we thinking nothing lesse, ar redy to be surprisid by their cloffe courses so cunningly and craftily conueied: as we may well say with the Prophet, our soule is escaped, euen as a bird out of the snare of the Fowlers, &c. As also, thou art to be wakened vp, to the earnest consideration of the diligence force and crueltie of our enemies (quhilke yet is nothing abated, but more eager presently than ever hertofore to atchieu their deuellish intent) and no waies to trust them or be secure, as though they wer sleeping and minding no danger to vs, while in the meane time, so deeply and deadly they conspire within and without, with so great force and craft against our Religion, landes, and lives, that they dare be bold in their pride, to assure the Spainezeard of no resistance heir to their cruell interprise, as by their awin bragging words hereafter in their Letters evidently shall appeir: yea, all kindly native Scottissh men, and true louers of the Christian religion, ought speedily and substantially to concur, to the withstanding and overthrowing of this our common enemy, within our awin bowels; whose vnnaturalnes, barbarity and hie attempt, can be matched with no example domestick or forraine that we read off, whether we consider the cruell barbarousnesse of the Spainezeards to whom they have sold their cuntry, King and people, (wherof let the monument written by one of their awin Fryers against the Spanissh cruelty, be a witness, wherouer they are masters, be a witness.) or whether we consider their most deceitful dealing, covering their most bloody purposes with cloake of most tender friendship, quhilke most closely they have counterfeited, by subscription to the true Religion, by hearing of the worde preached, and common profession thereof with vs, and participation of the Sacraments, by bandes, finally affinities, othes, and al attestations and lawes sacred and humane, that might seeme to procure credite amongst men, and many other things to bee enlarged in time and place, as mens callings in Kirke and policy craues: Consider, and consider again (good Reader) what should be the estate of all honest and godly men, their wiues and daughters: the estate of Kirk, common weale and Prince, yea and of these miserable wretches themselves, if their purpose to make the Spainezeard our master (for no man seruant nor fellow will that proud beast be) shuld tak effect: O miserie, miserie, miserie vspeakable, especially to themselves, if their wofull purpose surceede to their minde and farre proceeded practises. Wherfore yet again, it is hie time and more, that all good men and lovers of their native Cuntry be wakened vp to true repentance to the Lord, who so heauily threateneth, and in a part already striketh: and to a diligent and substantiall concurring, every one according to his calling and place, both in land and Burgh, to withstand these desperate attempts before they passe remedy, and tymely to prevent the farther danger, by assisting the execution of Justice vpon the rest of the detected traitors, without respect of persons; that so wee, labouring to take evill out of Israel, the Lord who hath so notabilly begun the work, may bring it to an happy end, to his glory and our comforts, through Christ our Lord. Amen.

¹ See Scots Magazine, 1747, and British Magazine, or London and Edinburgh Intelligencer, for 1747.

*
*
*

A DISCOURSE of the vniatvral and traiterous practises of THE SCOTISH
PAPISTS, against God, his Kirke, their native Country, and the Kings Majesties person and estate.

BY the Confessions and depositions of Master George Ker, and David Grahame Deponed bee
M. George Ker,
3, 5 & 6 of Feb.
1592. of Fentry. It is discovered, That in March, 1591, Master William Chrichtoun (who hath remained these two yeares bygone in Spaine) sent to Master James Gordoun, Iesuite, father-brother to George now Earle of Huntly, a gentle man called Master William Gordoun, sonne to the Laird of Aberzeldie, with letters, to let the Catholickes heere vnderstand, what travell Master William Criehtoun had tane with the King of Spain since his comming there: And that the said King had opened to him, that he had bene deceived by Englishmen, and wold from that time forth embrace the advise and way which the said Master William wold shew him, both for invading of England, and alteration of Religion within this realme. And for that purpose, the said Master William craved by this gentleman, to be sent to him so many blanks and procurations, as could bee had of noblemen here, for the assurance of his trafficke.

Vpon the sight and refate of the which blankes, sent with some other discreet gentleman, hauing the noblemens commission, to be filled vp with such conditions as shuld be capitulat and aggried vpon betwix the King of Spain, and Master William Criehton, quhilkis suld haue seruit as pledgis and suirties for the subscribers part, at the landing heir of the Spanisch armie. It wes concludit, that thair suld haue bein sent out of Spain, about the latter end of the spring, in this present yeir, 1592, an armie of thritty thousand men, to haue landed either at Kirkeudbright or at the mouth of Clyde, according to the opportunitie of the wind, quhair thay suld haue intrinsehit and fortifeit thame selfis, for the assurance of thame and thair schippis.

And first of all, money suld haue bein sent to the Catholikes heir, for raising of forces to supplie the said armie: Quhair of foure or fve thousand suld haue remainit within this Cuntry, quha with the fortification and assistance of the noble men, Catholikes, thair friends, and sik vther forces as the Spanisch money wald raise, suld haue immediatly after thair landing, begun to alter thair Religion, presently profest within this realm, or at lest procuret libertie of conscience, and Papistry to haue bein erected heir: And the rest of the armie suld haue past toward England the neereft way, fra their landing to the bordour.

Deponed be Fentry, 13 of
Feb. 1592.

Thir Letters sent fra Master William Criehton, beeing concredite be Master James Gordoun to Master Robert Abercumby, wer shawin be him to David Grahame of Fentry, at Abernethie, in Aprill, 1592.

Deponed be David Grahame of Fentry, the
13 of Feb. 1592.

And for effectuating of this mater, it wes anis thoct maist convenient that Schir James Chesholm, quha then wes an of his Majesties master houshaldis, fuld haue gone to Spaine with this Commission, in respect he was vtherwise bownit, towardis his vncler Master William Chesholme (callit Bishop of Dunblane), for Schir James had the first credeit of this erand with the nobill men; as he declarit to David Grahame of Fentry, that hee had delt with the Erlis of Huntly and Erroll, and conferrit with Master George Ker, ament this turne, about the time of the last Parliament, haldin in Edinburgh in Junii, 1592, as alswa, intercommuned again in his awin houe with the same Master George in October, 1592, tuiching the haille heidis of this despatch. Bot Schir James, not being abill to be sa soone reddy, and Master George Ker being bownit of the country, it wes thoct best that the same Commission fuld be geven to him, and that he fuld vndertak the carrying of the said Letteris: And swa hee wes employed in that erand, the rather, because baith his gnd-dames were Criehtons.

Deponed be Fentry, 13 Feb.
1592.

Thairefter, Master George beeing bownit to this jorney, and reddy to mak sail out of the Fairly-raide, at the west sey bank, upon the 27th of December, 1592. Then (be Gods providence) the said Master Georg was apprehended in the Ile of Cunray, and with him thair wes interceptit findrie missive Letters directit to this purpose. Amongis quhilk, thair wes aught blankis, quhair of one is subscrivit,

De vostre Majestie tres humble et tres obesant serviteur,

GUILLAME COMPTE DE ANGUSS.

Ane vther blanke is subscrivit,

*De vostre Majestie tres humble
et tres obesant serviteur,*

FRANCOYSE COMPTE DE ERROLL.

Deponed be
M. George Ker,
3 Feb. 1592.

And thir twa blankis were baith procurit of thame, be Schir James Chesholme, in their awin ludgeingis in Edinburgh, at the time of the last Parliament, in Junii 1592.

An vther blanke is subscrivit,

GULIELMUS ANGUSLE COMES.

Deponed be Fentrie, 13 of Feb.
1592.

An vther blanke is subscrivit,

Deponed be
M. George Ker,
3 Feb. 1592.

Which were baith procurit of thame be Master Robert Abircrumby, quha was the chiefest travellair in that matter, in October 1592.

An other blanke is subscribed,

GEORGIUS COMES DE HUNTLIE.

And an other is subscribed,

GEORGIUS COMES DE HUNTLIE.

Which were both, with the whole blanks, proponed first to the Erle of Huntly, by Master George Ker in Strathbogy, at his passing there. Deponed bee M. George Ker, 3 Feb. 1592.

Which six severall blanks before specified, shuld haue bene all filled with missive letters. by the advyse of Master William Crichton. Deponed be M. George Ker, 3 Feb. 1592; and be Fentry, 3 of Feb. 1592.

And the other two blankes, making out the number of eight, were both subscribed in the mids of two open throghs of paper in this mauer, GULLIELMUS ANGUSSLÆ COMES.

GEORGIUS COMES DE HUNTLY.

FRANCISCUS ERROLLÆ COMES.

PATRICIUS GORDOUN DE AUCHINDOUN MILES.

Which two last blankes were first subscribed by the Erle of Huntly, and Patrike Gordoun, in October, 1592. And thereafter, beeing sent with Master Robert Abercrumby to the Earles of Angus and Erroll, were subscribed by them in the same moneth of October, 1592. And these two blanks shuld have bene filled vp with procurations, and whatsoever shuld have bene thought meet by the said Master William Crichton, for the avowance of that which Master George Ker had in direction and credite of the subscribers; which credite he refaved fra the Earle of Huntlie, be the report of Master James Gordoun, and fra the Erles of Angus and Erroll, by thame selfis in Edinburgh, in the beginning of October, 1592. Deponed bee M. Georg Ker, 5 Feb. 1592.

And the summe of this his credeit, was an assurance that thir nobill men shuld raise an power of horsmen, and meit the Spanish armie at thir landing, and reciprocally to assist, accompanie and convoy thame in their passing to England, be all the forces thay culd procure vpon the King of Spains charges: And thir nobill men subscribers tooke the burding on thame, and interponit their bandis, for the concurrance of the hail Catholikes of Scotland in this cause; and thocht it meit amangis thame selfis, for the better secrecie, that nane vther shuld be crauit to binde, for this erand, but thay three. Deponed be M. Georg Ker, 5 & 6 Feb. 1592.

With thir aught blankis, subscribed as said is, there wes intereptit stampis in wax; of the Erl of Angus seilles of armes, sax; of the Erle of Huntleis seils of armes, foure; and of the Erle of Errols seillis of armes, three.

David Grahame of Fentry deponit, that he met sundrie times, sen this purpose wes in hand, with Master Robert Abirerumby; as namely, that the first knowledg hee had of this purpose, was be the said Mr Robert, in Dumfermling; and thairaftir in the Castle of Striviling, before Mr George Ker his preparation Deponed be Fentry 13 of Feb. 1592. Deponed be Fentry 14 of Feb. 1592.

to his Iornay, quhair Maſter Robert ſhew him, that this Commiſſion wes to be given to the ſaid Maſter George, to cauſe fill the blankis with Maſter William Creichtouns aduife, and that hee was to deliver the ſame blankis, with the vther Letters, to him who was to depart and carrie with him all this meſſage.

Like as, the ſaid blankis and Letteris, quhilkes were procurit for that erand, were all delivered by Mr Iames Gordoun and Maſter Robert Abircrumby to Maſter George Ker, to bee carryit bee him to Maſter William Creichton, Ieſuift; and to bee filled vp, at the diſcretioun and direction of the ſaid Maſter William, and of Maſter Iames Tyrie, quha wes beſt acquainted with the effairis thair.

FOR the vnderſtanding of the borrowit and counterfait names that occurres in the Letters following (good Reader,) thou ſhall finde thame interpret on the margent, quhair thay are poyntit out by this mark;* quhil interpretations are contained in the originall deſcriptiouns of the practiſars, and in ſome of thair interceptit Letters.

A LETTER directed from an Engliſh Ieſuift, and intercepted with Maſter George Kerr, the 27 of December, 1592.

GOOD FATHER, the incloſed to my Lord, I pray you reid and take it as writen to your ſelf: Quhat I writ to him, I writ to you; quhat I crave of him, I crave of you; quhat I hop of him, I hope of you; as of my patron and pedagog in ſpiritualibus, as of a man, whoſe diſcretioun and moderatioun I haue well experimented, in all caſes and at all times. If I had ſo farre oneiſaſhed and gon beſid my compas, as ſome good fellowes wald imagine, yet I wonder, that ſome good men, haith in their owne conceits, and vther meanis ſpirituall, will admit no exeufe, no ſatiſfaction, no purgation; quhen Saint Paul, to the Galathians, in moſt evident delites, ſettis downe this reull amongs the perfect and ſpirituall: Fratres, et ſi præ occupatus fuerit homo in aliquo delicto, vos qui ſpirituales estis, huiusmodi inſtruite in ſpiritu lenitatis, considerans teipſum, ne & tu tenteris. If I had ſpoken with you, at my laſt beeing in Italie, as I well hoped, I had perhaps made a better concluſion of my buſineſſe thaire, then I did to my awin content, and al my friendis ſatiſfaction, quhilk hop for all theſe ſormes. I will never give over, and quhen I leaue by your meanis, to be vnder the gude habering, I will writ to you of that ſubject. The Lord Seytoun, in quhais houſe I ſojorn ſometimes, ſalutis you. Of the effaires of the Catholikes heir, I leaue it to them to write and relate, by quhais meanis theſe Letters ſhall be convoyit. My Lord Seyton hath ane hauen of his awin, quhilke may be hereafter very commodious for our miſſions. Commend me I pray you to F. Barth, Pere, &c. Maſter Dudley Ilper, knight, and Iohn Thules, quhilk vpon ſome ſuden puſches of perſecution, mak their repair hither, ar in health, and ſalute 3ow. And Maister Syall, a Priest, dyed heir lately in Edinburgh. Love me, and pray for mee, I befeik 3ow all, solito. And if 3ow fend ony into these partis, let thame come furnished with all ample faculties as 3ow may ; let them inquire for one M. Ionas, quhilke will bee a token betuix vs. Our Lord blesse and fend vs to meit anis or we die. Seyton, this 2. of October, 1592.

Your ever most assured, JOHN CECILIO.

Blanke on the back.

A LETTER directit from the Erll of Angus, all writen and subscribed with his awin hand, intercepted with M. George Ker, the 27 of December, 1592.

MY maist affectioned commendationes premittit, this present is only to know of 3our welfare and friendis, and of the estate of maters where 3e remaine, and to be ane testimonie of my gud affection towards you. For God be praifed, if you were in this country, I could do you greater pleasure nor I was able to do before, albeit gude will inlaiked not at na time, as 3e knaw. The present bearer can informe 3ou of sik things as occurs with vs ; for we are heir dayly subject to alteration. Ye may credite him as my selfe, for so his vertewis dois merite. It is not needfull I trouble 3ow with his recommendation, feing he is to 3ow that he is to me ; 3ee knaw his honestie and good intention, and the causes of his parting ; to quhais sufficiencie referring the rest, my hartie salutations, and my bedfellows, with al our companie, 3oung and ald, remembrit vnto you and your gude company, commits you with tham to the protection of God. Edinburgh, the tenth of October, after our compt, 1592.

Yours ever at power, ANGUS.

Blanke on the backe.

To M. William Creichtoun.

A LETTER direct from M. James Gordoun to M. William Creichtoun, intercepted with M. George Ker the 27 of December, 1592.

TRAIST friend, after maist hartly commendationns, your friends that ar heir hath directit this present bearer to you, for full resolution of all your effairs in thir quarters : We have delayit over lang, I grant, but he will shew you the cause of all. The next best is, ye vse al expedition in time comming, against the next fomer, vtherwayis ye will tyne credite heir with your factours. If ye come, ye will finde ma friendis nor ever ye had, but vtherwise ye wil find fewar ; because the next fomer many ar bownit to vther countries, and will not abid on you na langer : Haist hame heir sum word to your friends, that we may put tham in gude hope of 3ou, and thay wil tary the langer. The bearer is an honest man, and verie sufficient ; ye may credite him as my selfe. I fuld haue cummit with him my selfe, wer it not I wes perswadit that ye wald remain on our anfwere ; and because I got an itop out of Flanders. As the bearer can shew you, yee haue gotten all that ye desirrit, thairfore mak haist. The bearer is cummit to you on his awin charge, therefore ye mon have respect to him. The last bearer that ye send, cam heir behind the hand, and hath gottin na satisfaction as zit; because nathing could be gottin heir, and we culd find na man but this, that wald passe on his awin charg; and I feare, that if hee had not come on his awin expensis, ye fuld not haue refavit answere sa soone; therefore ye fuld treate him the better. Wee will abide heir your selfe shortly, and I wald ye broght the rest of your friends with you that ar beyond sea; for if your block passës fordward, they mon be also present, vtherwise we mon cum and visit you. All vther effaires of this country, I will commit to the bearer, quha is faithful. Your wife and your bairnes commendis thame to you, and luikes to se you shortly. If I or Sandefoun, your friende, refais ony silver fra the bearer, ye shall be advertist be an vther tikket, how mekle it is, and subscrivit with baith our handis. The rest I will referre to the bearer. God preserve you from all evill. At Dundie the 20 of November, 1592.

Relative to the blankes.

The Spanisch ar-
mie.

The Catholick Romanes and their confederates.

M. Robert Abir-
crumby.

M. James Gordoun.

M. William
Creichtoun.

Yours maist affectioned at all his power, I. CHRISTESON.

Direct on the back,

To his assured friende, George Craufurd.

A LETTER directit, fra M. Robert Abircrumby, to M. William Criehtoun, interceptit with M. George Ker, the 27 of December, 1592.

EFTER my dew and humble salutations and offer of service, I regrate and lamentis havily, the sleuth and negligence your merchands hes vsit, in answering of your last suit ye proponit to thame. For appearandly, if they had made answer in due tyme our wares had bein heir in due time, with our great profite and consolation. The stay and stop of the matter appeirandly was lacke of expensis, that na man wald of his own charge, take that viage in hand; yea, some cravit a thousand crownes for his expensis. Swa the mater was anis halely given over, and almost clein forzet, vntill it pleasit God of his divine Providence to stirre vp this bearer, to take the turn in hand on his awin expensis: As hee hes bein ever bent in that cause, not only to spend his gudis, but als wa the thing that is mair deir to him, that is, his life: thairfoir, I thinke hee fuld be the mair acceptable, as also for the affinitie of bluid: for baith his guddames was Creichtouns. And as for witte and abilitie, of treating of they effaires, he is not inferior to nane of your merchands quhilk ye desyrit, as ye wil persave be experience, God willing. And albeit that he, of his couragious liberalitie and zeal to the cause, hes taue the mater in hand, on his awin charges, yet all your friends in these quarters thinks it very reasonable, that all fuld be refounded to him againe, Cum vsura, with promotion, till ony vther accident fuld fall out, for the well and furtherance of this cause, &c. But nowe I will say an word of him; and syn com to sum vther purposis of our own. If I had an thousand tongues, with as many mouthes, with Cicerois eloquence, I cannot be worthie enough in commendation of this gentillman to you and al your companie : As I fall let you vnderstand, God willing, if ever we fall chance to meit face for face ; and thairfore, whensoever ye may, prevent him with ony benefit, either be your self or any other. Abide not quhill hee crave it at you, for hee is the worst asker in his awin cause that ever yee converst with. Sed nunc ad alia. If ye be right remembrit, at your departing out of this, ye gave Master Iames Mackartuay an procuratory, to intrommit with Master Alexander Homes litill leving, hee hes heir in East Lowthiane ; the quhilk he pledit and obtenit in law, and tuke vp yeirly rentis thair of to his awin beluif, and givis his name of it. In this meane time, there falles out like cummirs tuichin that land, that we ar able to lose the hail ware first. The said Master Alexanderis narrest friendis and aires hes in iudgement proved him to be deid, and swa enteris aires to him. By this, the Laird of Spott his ovirlord is forfaitit, and swa the land wardis ; swa that we are able to tyne all, if remedie bee not found. Quhairfore, falling in consultation with Master Alexander King, he thocht best to sell the land to him, and we to vse the silver on an mair sure maner, of the quhilk ye fall refaue sum wrytings* from this bearer, the quhilks ye will vnderstand better nor I. Only I thinke if forme of moyan bee not vfit, we fall lose all, and better is to haue sum thing nor lose all. As to the price, set ye it downe, for he hes mentioned name as yet ; but hee will give als meekle as any vther, becaufe, as hee saies, hee hes sum land ly- and contigue to it. I pray yow for an hastie answer of this. I doubt not but yae have heard how thay young men, quhais faithers was flane bee the Laird of Ruthvenis, flew him againe, quhais lady is mariet to one Iames Reid. Cannay is come in the Constables handis, and your nevoy is private of it ; and that be the moyan, I trow, of Abraham your brother, but your Maich is litill better nor beggand. Drunkilbo is dead, and Thomas Tyrie is tutour. I pray you advertise mee bee what manner Master Stevin Wilfoun hes commit bee my Lord Levingstouns obligation, the quhilk ye had of the fourtie crownes, his L. was owin you ; for master Stevin hes gotten these fourtie crownes randerig the obligation quhilke yee had : I durst never make mentioun of the hundreth crownes fra the father, and fourty crownes fra the sosome, quhilk ye left mee power to crave, &c. My Lord Levingstoun is departed of this world. ye heard befor, that David Forester * had ane sosome, and now hes ane other borne in the Castle of Striviling, quhair he is in waird, hardly handlit. Thair is but ane of our nobilitie heere, quhilk hes of the K. of Spaine, ane pension well payit of twelve hundreth crownis. The quhilks appearandly are evill bestowit : For hee nor name of his, as yet, hes never done ony kinde of good, in the promotion of the Kingis matters ; quhairfore like pensiones were better bestowed on vthers, quha

The hyperbolical and ridiculous commendatioun of M. George Ker.

Thir writtis interceptit with the rest, ane charter and obligation to be past by M. Alexander Home of Palywel to M. Alexander King his aires and assignays of foure husband landis in the Lordship of Spott, with a missive letter direct bee him to that effect.

David Grahame of Fentrie.

Envy amangis the Papists thamesclis.

bearer hes done and dayly dois: and vthers, as he can shew yow, &c. Because I haue na vther thing to write, and haue bein lang enough, I commend mee to your prayers, and you to God. At Scotland, the 15 of December, 1592.

Yours at his power, ROBERT SANDESOUN.*

Direct on the back,

To his traitt friende, GEORGE CRAUFURD.

A LETTER directed to the King of Spaine, bee three noblemen of Scotland, quhair of twa hes sensyne returned to the professioun and defence of the treuth, bee thair aithes and subscriptions, quhairfore thair names are suppressed; the third his name expressed, (to witte the Earle of Huntlie,) because he continues as zit in his former wicked course. This letter, written by thame in name of the Catholicke noblemen of Scotland, cyphered in French, was intercepted in Januarie 1589, lately before the time of the Raide of the Brig of Die, thair- after was decyphered word by word, and translait in Scottis, as followes:

SIR, wee cannot sufficiently expresse bee speach, the great regrait wee have confavit, being frustrate of the helpe we haue so long had to see, this year past, the desired affects fall out, quhilke we attended of your Majesties preparations. And our displeasure hes beene sa mekle the greiter, that your armie navall fuld haue passed by sa neir vs, vnvisiting vs, quha expectit the same with sufficient forces, for the peaceable receipt and assisting thereof, against all enemies; in sike fort, that it fuld haue had na resistance in this country, and with our support, fuld haue given anugh adoe to England. At least, gif it had cummit heir to refresh it, it had preserved a number of vessels and men, quhilke we know have perished neir our Iles and vpon the coast of Ireland: And had discovered an incredible number of friends, in full reddinesse to haue run the same fortune with it, in sike fort, as wee dare well affirme, it fuld not haue founde half sa many men in England, for all that is spoken by the English Catholikes refugit there; quha by emulation, or rather bee ane vnchristian envie, extenuats ouer farre our meanes to aid yow, to magnifie thair awin only, and make themselvis to bee estemit able to doe all; to advance thameselvis thairby in credeit with your Majestie and sik as are about you; but by experience of this year past, hath sufficiently testified, they haue not selhavin themselvis, in sik number, to assist your forces, as we haue done. And therefore your Majestie, as maist wise as yee are, shall, gif it pleis you, mak sikk account of the ane, as yee neglect not the vther, and sa serve you with them baith, to the end ze pretend, with hazarding your forces for the particular of the ane or the vther. We remit to the declaration of some of your awin subjects that hes beene heir, the commodities and advantages of landing in thir partes, quhair the expensis bestowit vpon the equippage of an Galliasse, fall bring mair fruite to your service, than ye may haue of ten vpon the sey. And wee may assure your Majestie, that having anis sax thou-crumby.

M. Robert Abir-
M. William
Crichtoun.

They are sorry that the Spanisch flete past by, without landing
in Scotland.

The Spanyard should haue had gret assistance
in Scotland.

They haue in-formit the K. of spanis subjects wraikit heir of the meanis to doe gude bebanding in Scotland.

fand men heir of your owne, with money, ye may lift heir forces of this country, as freely as in Spaine, quha will serve yow na lesse faithfully than your owne naturall subjects. And albeit wee can not, without blame of presumption, giue your Majestie advise in your effaires thair: Alwayes in that, that may concerne your service heir, wee speake mair freely, as being vpon the place, and knowing by the ordinary experience, mony things vnknewin to ony of yours that are not heir. The overlate arrivall of your armie in our watters, tuke from it the commodities to reiteir it selfe in sik safetie, as it might haue done cunning foonar, be reason of the great winds that are ordinar heir in harvest: as alswa lacke of pylottis experimented vpon the coastes of Scotland, England and Ireland, appears to have bred great harme to the said armie; quhairvnto wee culd have remedie concerning Scotlands, to have sent pilotts from this, gif it had likit your Majestie to have servit your selfe with thame. Likewise, (saying better advise,) it seems to vs altogidder vnprofitable to fight the armie bee sea, gif it may be eschewit, for mony causes: And amangis vthers, becaus fike as fall haue fochten by sea, falbe vnabill, being wearie, to feight againe bee land against new forces: Sa the best fuld bee, to schift bee ane way or vther, for sparing of your men and vessels, and swa the English forces staying vpon the sea vnfoghten, fall be disappointed, and fall not come in time to assist thame, that falbe assailzeit be land. Attour, sending heir a part of your forces, before the vther, quhilke fuld goe the right way to England, and that secretly by the backe of Ireland: Your Majestie fuld compell the enemye to divide their forces, and it may bee, fuld cause thame send the greatest part heir, quhair yee might make thame believe the greatest part of your forces wer arrayvit, at least fuld cause thame disgarneis as meekle of England, and drawe a great part of their forces, quhilke wald resist your landing and invasion on that coast. And we may well promise, that having heir sax thousand of your men, and money to lift vtheris heir, wee fuld within sax owlkis after their arrivall, bee well farre within England, to approche and assist the forces quhilke your Majestie fuld cause enter thair. The knight William Sempill Colonell, can shew your Majestie the hail; to quhom we remit. Alswa, wee haue causit writ baith before and sen his depart, our money sik advises bee M. Robert Bruce, and causit adressed the same to my Lord Duke of Parme, to whome your Majestie remittit vs, from the beginning, in thir effaires. And seeing wee hope your Majestie is dewly advertised and informit, wee will end the present, kissing maist humbly your Majesties hand, praying God with all your affection, to grant you full accomplishment of all your holy interprises. From Edinburgh, this 24 of January, 1589.

Advise to the King of Spain how to assault this island hereafter.

Advise to the King of Spain how to assault this island hereafter.

With 6000 men sent from Spaine and money to levie a power in Scotland, they will in sax owlkis bee far in England.

Bruce is the mouth of these lords to the King of Spaine and the D. of Parme.

Your Majesties maist humble and affectioned servitours,

G. ERLE HUNTLIE, &c.

In name of the vther Lordis Catholiks of Scotland.

A LETTER direct fra the Erle of Huntly to the Duke of Parme, interceptit in Ianuarie, &c.

Letters resavit fra the Duke of Parme, be John Chesholme.

Support of 1000 crowns fra the D. of Parme.

He dissembles his religion for feare & pollicie.

He hes establish- ed gardis about the King at his awin devotion to be Maister of his person when occasion sal offer.

MY Lord, I haue reffavit from Iohne Chesholme, the letters it pleasit your hieneffe to writ, the 13 of October, full of maist Christian affection to the weill of our caufe : For the quhilkis I giue your hieneffe maist humble thankis. The support of ten thousand crowns, sent to that end, is reffavit be M. Robert Bruce, quhilkis shall not bee employed, but for helpe of the maist vrgent necessitie of the said caufe, as it hes pleasit your hieneffe to direct. After the departure of Colonel Sempill, I have found my selfe sa boastit on all hands, and preassit in sik fort be our King, that it behuifit mee to yeeld to the extreame difficultie of time, and subscribe with his Majestie, not with my heart, the Confession of thair Faith ; or vtherwise, I had bene forced immediatly to haue departit the cuntry, or to haue taken the fieldis for resisting his forces, and sik as hee might haue drawin out of England to his aide ; quhilk I could not have done, especially then, quhen be the returning of your armie in Spain, all hope of helpe was taken from vs ; but if on the one part I have failit, be the apprehensioun of dangers that threatened my ruine, I fall on the other part endeavour my selfe to amend my fault, (quhair of I repent me with all my heart) be sein effect, tending to the well and advancement of the caufe of God, quha hes put mee in sike credite with his Majestie, that sen my cuning to court he hes broken his former gairdis, and caufit me establis vthers about his person of my men, be the moyen of quhom and their captaines ar also mine, I may ever bee master of his person : And your support being arryvit, spulzie the hereticks of his autoritie, to fortifie and assure our enterprises ; quhairvpon I beseeke your hieneffe to send me your avise, and to assure your self of my vnchangeable affectiounes in my former resolutions ; albeit the outward actions bee forced to conforme thameselfis, suintimes, to necessitie of occasiounes, as M. Robert Bruce will mair amplie write to your hieneffe, to whom I remitte mee farder. Praying God, after I haue maist humbly kiffit your hieneffe hand, to give yow accomplishment of your holy enterprises. From Edinburgh, the 24 of Ianuarie, 1592.

Your hieneffe maist humble and affectioned servitour,

G. ERLI OF HUNTLEIE.

A LETTER fra the Erle of Erroll to the Duke of Parme, interceptit in Ianuarie, &c.

MY Lord, sen God of late, be the cleir licht of his holy Catholik faith, hes chasit from my vnderstanding the darkneffe of ignorance and errour, quhairin I have bene heirtofore murisheit ; I haue bene als soon perswadit in acknowledging of sa great ane effect of his divine grace towardis mee, that I am chiefly obligit to procure, sen I knaw the enterprises of his Maiestie Catholik, and your hienes tendes principally to that end, as also to the advancement of some civill cause, quhilk hes verie great affinitie and conjunction with ours heir. That I monestifie the present, the affection that I haue to the well of the ane and the vther, having ever before my conversioun bene ane of the number of your friendes and fervitours, for the respect of the last; to the quhilkes, the first of religioun, quhilk is the greatest and maist important that is in this world being joynt thereto, I am also become altogether yours; quhilk I besek maist humblie your hieneffe, cause it signifeit to his Majestie Catholik, and to promise him in my behalfe, that hee hes not in this country a mair affectioned fervant than I, neither zet your hieneffe, as ye fall vnderstand mair ample of my intentionn in particular, be him, bec whom your hienes shall ressaue this present. To whom, after I haue maist humblie kissed your hand, I besek the Creator to give yow the accomplishment of your holy desires. From Edinburgh, this 24 of Januarie, 1589.

Your hieneffe maist humble and maist affectioned fervitour,

FRANCIS ERLL OF ERROLL.

A LETTER fra Robert Bruce, to Monsieur Francisce Aguirre Espaignell, &c. interceptit in Januarie 1589. Writen in French, and tranflatit in Scottis, as followis :

MONSIEUR DE AGUIRRE, I have refavit your Letter, of the nynt of November, writen from Handwerp, quhairby, I was glad to vnderstand of your arrivall thair and helth, and that ye haue guydit your selfe sa wisely in execution of al that I committed to yow. Your Master, quha at my request hes gevin yow entertenement, hes givin mee the like testimony of your behaviour, and hes promisit mee bee his Letters, to have you in the favourable commendation I desirrit, and to employ you in gude occasions. Gif he fend you heir again in thir parts, cause sette you on land neare Seytoun, quhair I pray you to enter secretly, and there ye fall be keptit quhil I may come and finde you.

[The rest of this Missive, being set downe in obscure times (terms?) is to be sene in the originall.]

A LETTER fra Robert Bruce to the Duke of Parme, intercepted in Januarie 1589, lately before the Raid of the Brig of Die, cyphered in French, decipherit there after, and tranflatit in Scottis, as followes :

MY LORD, Monsieur Chesholme, arryvit in this country five dayes after, his departing from thair, and with thair requisite dilligence, cam to the Erle of Huntly in his awn house in Dumfermling, quhair having presented to him your hienes letters of the 13 of October, hee declarit ampie to him the credite givin him in charge, conforme to the tenour of the letters from your hieneffe: quhair thay perceavit your hieneffe great humanitie and affection, to the advancement of the glory of God in this country, with vthers consolations maist convenient,

The causes of the Papists are inseparable for the K. of Spaines service.

Letters sent be John Chesholme from the D. of Parme to the Erle of Huntly, and receavit bee him at Dumfermling.

10,000 crounis
receavit from the
D. of Parme, bee
Bruce, to bee emploied for the King of Spaines service
in Scotland.

The money is to bee distributed among the Catholike nobilitie
in Scotland.

The Erle of Huntly wald haue a third part to himselfe.

Quhat ever this nobleman hes beeine at this to moderat the dolour and displeasure conceavit be the heartis of the Catholiks, be reafoun of the succes of your armie, against thair hope and expectation. Alſwa, ſum dayes thereafter, as the commoditie offerit to mee to refave the money, the ſaid Cheſholme deliverit to me ſax thousand twa hundreth three ſcoire twelve crounes of the funne, and three thousand ſevin hundreth Spaniſch piſtols: And likewiſe hes cariet himſelfe, in all his actions ſenſyne, verie wiſely, and as become a man of God: Chiefly then, quhen vpon the ſuſpition conceavit of his ſa ſudden returning, the king ſent to gar take him. I ſhall behave my ſelfe, be the grace of God, in the keeping and deſtribution of the money laſt ſent, and of that quihilk reſtes yet of the firſt ſowme, according to your hienes preſcriptionn, and as I ought to anſwere to God in conſcience, and to your hienes in criedite, and to the hail world in the reputation of an honeſt man: And ſal minnage it in ſik fort, that be the grace of God, thair ſhall be fruite drawin thereof, pleaſant to your hienes. It is true that I finde (as all vthers wald doe, that walde interpriſe ſik a charge heir) my ſelf involved in great difficulties: For on the ane part, I am in great danger of the heretikes, and of thame of the faction of England, be reafoun of the oppin profeſſion that I make of the Catholike Religion, and of the ſuſpition that the laſt hes of my ſecrete practiſes and dealing againſt thame: On the vther part, I haue meekle adoe to moderate the appetite that ſum Catholicke lordis hes, to haue the money preſently, for the hope quihilk they give of ſum pretendit occaſionns, that will never fall out as they promiſe. The Earle of Huntly made inſtance to haue the third part of the ſowme quihilk was ſent heir, alſe ſoone as it was delyvered to me; but he hes not tuitchit, nor ſhall not twitch hereafter a malzie, but vpon gude takins. I haue payed him in the meane tyme, with inexpugnabill reaſonis, quhairof in the end he is contented. I beſeik your hienes, bee the firſt letter it ſhall pleas you to write in thir partis, to the Catholicke lordes, to remove ane errour from three, quaha hes writen thair in name of the remanent, that moves them to thinke, be reaſoun thay were the firſt that made offer of thair ſervice to the King Catholike, that all the money that comes heere ſhould be parted in thre, and immediately after the arrivall thereof delyvered to thame, without giving part to vtheris, quihilke beſide thame are in great number to the King Catholikes ſervice and yours, and alſwa deliberat to hazard after their power, for the advancement of this cauſe, as thay are; of whom the vtheris will not depend in ony fort, in the accepting of the moyans that cummes from your liberalitie, but acknowledge thame as comming directly from your hienes, to quhome onely they will bee bound and obleiſt, and not to the vther three. Of the quhilkes, the Erle of Mortoun, hes litherto contented himſelfe with reaſon: As alſwa the Earle of Huntly, hes never ſchawin himſelfe ſubject to money, bot ſen he hes beene inducit be the third, to wit, my Lord Claud Hamiltoun his vncle, quha is sum quhat covetous of geir, and thocht vnder sike pretext to make his profite. The saide Earle of Huntly is constrained to remaine at Court : He is fallin from his constancy in his outward profession of the Catholike Religioun, partly for having lost all esperance of your support before the returning of the saide Chesholme, because of his lang stay there, partly by the perswasion of sum politicks, partly to eschew the perrills imminent to all thame that calles thamefelfis Catholikes, partly to keepe himfelse in the favour of his King, quha preasit him greatly to subscribe the Confession of the Heretikes, and to league with England. Bot for all this, his heart is na wise alienat from our cause ; for he hes the fowl ever gude, albeit he haue not sik vigour to persevere, and execute sik as is requisite, in sa great an enterprife ; but thay may helpe thay defects, putting beside him a man of credite, resolute to assist him, as we haue advised to doe, sen the Barron of Fentry is put in waird be the King, in the Towne of Dumdie : Swa that he darre not gang out of the portes thereof, vnder the paine of a great fowme, quhill the occasion may bee offerit to depart the cuntry, within the tyme limited. And I bee the Kings commandement, an dischargeit to come neir the said Erle ; because they have attributed to the said Laird of Fentry, and mee, his constancy in the Catholik Religion, and his absence from Court against the Kingis wil : His wairding hes sum quhat hinderit our course, and permittes mee not to move him, as it hes pleasit you to command mee, and as I desire to dispence the money conjunctly with me ; sa that for suppleing of the default of him, I haue associat to the same end, a very honest man and very wise, callit Father William Criehtoun Iesnift, quha wes detenit sum yeiris in the towne of Londoun, after hee was tane vpon the sea, cummand toward this from France. Likewise, I fall helpe my selfe be the prudence of Schir James Chesholme, eldest brother to the said Iohn, quha brought the money from your hienesse. For hee is a man confident, wise, ane on our part, and very litle suspect. In the mean time, the ane part of the money is in the principall house of my Lord Lvingstoun, a very Catholike Lord, the vther heir in Edinburgh, in great enough suirtie , to helpe as it fall neid the Lords Catholiks, quha will conveene heir very soon to resist, to the defyinges of thame of the faction of England, quha in the same time are purposit to remaine at Court, with forces, to range all things at their fantacie. As for the like fowme or greater, quhilk your hienesse willis to cause follow the last sent heir, it is good in all eventis, it were very soone sent heere, secretly, to help the necessitie that may fal out, and to cause things incline to our side, quhen they are in ballance, as their is great appearance thay will bee, be the occasioun foirsaid : And in case that necessitie requires na distribution, the said fowme fall bee keepit and reservit to better occasions, or quhill the arrivall of your forces in this Ile.

tyme, it is not to bee obiectit to him now after his aith and subscription geven to the contrare.

The Earle of Huntly dissembles his Religion, first, for feare and policie, after to work his matters the better.

Sir James Chesholme, brother to Iohn Chesholme, a confederate.

The money is in my L. Livingstonis chiefe house, and at Edinburgh, to serve the Catholike noblemenis turnis that are shortly to assemble.

Mair money promised be the Duke of Parme.

It is meant that Spanish forces sould arrive in this Iland.

Thair is fufpition, as alfo arguments probable anugh, that Thomas Tyrie, quha hes brought heir your hieneffe letters to our King, hes not behavit himfelfe according to his duetie : For hee hes accommodate himfelfe in his behaviour, mair after the affectionn of our Chaucellar (quha is of the faction of England, and abufes the credeit hee hes with the King) nor according to the inftructions given him thair. Hee hes not presentit nor made mention to the King of Colonell Sempills letter, quhair of I haue caufit present the copie to his Majeftie be the Erle Bouthwell, as gif it had beene fent to him with an vther of the faid Colonellis to himfelfe, quhilk hee refavit from Thomas Tyrie at his arryvall, quha hes reported to the faid Chaucelar, all that Segneur don Bernardino fpak to him, in Parife, to the difadvantage of the faid Chaucellar. Alfo, hee hes reportit to the King, that my Lord Bifhop of Dumblane, beeing returnit thair, fpake to your hieneffe and to vthers, many things to the great prejudice of his hienes : And it is beleevd alfo, that he is the caufe of the fufpitioun quhilk is conceavit of the coming of the faid Iohn Chefholme, newlie to the faid Bifhop. However it be, the vther reports foirfaid, quhilk he hes made, hes not fervit to conciliat, but to alienate the affection of the King, of the Chaucelar and mony otheris heretickes from the faid Segneur don Bernardino, the faid Bifhop, and Catholickes heir, that hes had adoe with thame. As for mee, albeit I fpak not willingly to the difadvantage of ony whatfomever, chiefly of thame whome I haue recomendit, as I did the faide Thomas Tyrie to the faid Don Bernardino, yet I will preferre the love of the trenth to men, and wald not in concealing thereof, bring prejudice to the publick well, nor to the fidelitie that the an aught to vthers, and fpecially to that we aught all to the King of Spain, and your hieneffe, to quhome I am prefently fervand, particularly addicted, bee the obligation of five hundreth crownes of fee, and fourty for monethly entertainment, quhilk it hes pleafit your hienes to give mee friely in name of the King of Spaine, vnbeing required for my part, nor vther thing for my particulare to this present ; bee reafoun quhair of, I am the mair bound to give your hienes maift humble thanks, and to endeavour my felfe to deferve, be my maift humble and faithfull fervices, als weill the faid entertainment, as the recompense it hes pleafit your hieneffe to promife me of your grace and favour. The faid gift of your liberalitie, come to me weill to purpofe, feing bee reafoun of the danger of my perfon, it behuifit mee to augment my ordinarie tryne for my greater fuirtie, quhilke I was not able langer to have borne out without helpe. For from all the lordes of Scotland, I have not retyred but a part onely of the money, quhilk I fpendit traveling, for the well of this caufe in Spaine with his Majeftie Catholike, and with your hieneffe in the low countries. As for the foure hundreth crowns imployed for the deliverance of Colonell Sempill out of prifon, I haue put in it compt with

They compt our King amangis the heretickes.

Bruce fervand to the King of Spaine, and to the D. of Parme, hes ane penfion of 40 crownes in the moneth, and 500 crownes of ferill.

Bruce hes negotiat in Spaine with the K and in the law countries with the D. of Parme.

the remanent quhilk I deburfed of the first fowme, according as it hes pleasit your hieneffe to command me. The Earle of Mortoun, to quhome I haue given consolation bee writ in prifoun, hes instantly prayed me alfo be write to remember his maift affectioned fervice to your hienes. Finding himfelf greatly honourit be the care it pleasit yow to have of him. Be the grace of God he is na mair in danger of his life, be way of iuftice; it not beeing poffible to his enemies to prove againft him ony thing quhilk they had fupposed in his accusatioun: As alfo the Kinges affection not fa farre alienate fra him as it hes bene heeretofore: And incaife thay wald noye him, or that it were prefently requisite for the weill of our caufe to deliver him, wee have ever moyan to gette him out of prifoun, and abides not in the meane time, bot the Kings will towarde his liberty, only to avoide all perfuit that thay wald make, gif wee delyvered him extraordinarily. Quhen they offerit him in the Kings name his libertie, gif he wolde fubfcribe the confeffion of the Heretikes faith, he anfwerit hee walde not doe it for the Kings crowne, nor for a hundreth thoufand lives, if he had them to lofe; and hes offerit to confound the Minifters be publicke difputation. I fall folicite the lords, his friends, to procure of the King his libertie very foone: for hee importes mair the well of our caufe, nor ony of the reft, be reafoun of his forces, quhilkes are neare England, and the principall towne of Scotland, and the ordinarie refidence of our kings: As alfwa, he is the lord the maift refolute constant and of greateft executioun of ony of the Catholickes. It is na fmall marvell, considering the moyanes the heretickes hes to harme vs, and thair warldly wit fa far passing ovsr, and thair evil will and intentionn againft vs, that wee fubfift. Truly, wee cannot bot attribute the effect thereof to God, quha (then when the certain newes of the returning of the arme of Spaine be the backe of Ireland, were difperfit through this country, and the heretickes of the faction of England triumphant, and the constancie in the outwarde profeffion of the Earle of Huntly and others wes braunglit) caufit the Earle of Angus to die, quha wes cheiffe of the Englifch faction, and the felfe fame time fufcitat fum diffentionn amangis the hereticks, bee refoun of fum offices that fum pretendit to vfurpe aboue vthers at Court, and bee the instant prayers and haly perfwasions of twa fateres Iefuiftes, convertit to our holy faith twa hereticke Earles of the first of authoritie and power amangis them, the an quhair of is callit the Earle of Erroll, constable of Scotland, convertit bee Father Edmond Hay: The vther called the Earle of Crawford, convertit bee the faid Father William Crichtoun. Thaye are baith able and wife young lordes, and maift defirous to advaunce the Catholicke faith, and your interprites in this Ile, quhilk they are deliberate to testifie to his Majeftie Catholicke and your hienes by their owin letters, quhilke be the grace of God, I fall fend be the first commoditie. In the meane tyme, they haue Quhat ever this nobleman hes bene at this tyme it is not to bee obiectit to him, now efter his aich and fubfcription given to the contrare, gif he remaine constant.

The King of Spain and D. of Parme hes inter-prises to bee executed in Scotland.

The Iesuists and priests doe great hurt in Scotland.

Heereof it is evident, that the declining to papistrie drawis with it defection fra our native Kingis obedience to the service of the K. of Spain and D. of Parme.

The Papist lords did sende bee Creichtoun, to move the Spanish flot to land in Scotland.

required me to mak yow offer of thair maist humble and maist affectioned service, promising to follow quhat sumever the said Iesuistes and I fall thinke good to bee done, for the conservacion of the Catholikes, and to dispose and facilitat the executioun of your enterprises heir, quhilk thay may doe mair easly, nor thay that are knowne to bee Catholikis, quhais actions are ever suspitious to the heretikes, for thair Religioun, quhair of thir two Earles hes not yet made outward profession; but in that, as in the rest, thay submit them selfis to our will, and to that we finde maist expedient. The saides fathers of that company makes great fruite in Scotland, and sa soone as ane lord or other person of importance is converted bee thame, they dispose and inclyne in the very meane time their affection to the service of the King of Spaine, and your hienesse, as a thing inseparablie conjoined with the advancement of the true Religon in this country. Gif I had commandement of your hienesse, I walde give thame sume litle almous in your name, to help thame and eight vthers, quhair of foure are also Iesuists, and the vther foure ar seminarie priestes of Pontawmouffone in Lorane; quhilkis are all the Ecclesiastickes, that produces sa great spirituall fruite in Scotland, and acquires to zow heir sik augmentation of your friendes and fervantis. After the pairting of Colonell Sempill from this, the lords sent letteris with the said Father Creichtoun and vther gentlemen, after the armie of Spaine, to cause it land in this cuntry; bot it had taken the way to Spaine few dayes before their arrivall at the Iles, quhair it had refreshed the selfe, sa that it was not possible for them to attend on it. Thay of this country that are of the faction of England, were in a marvellous feare, during the incertitude of the landing of the said armie, and confesses plainly, if it had landit heir, thay had bein alluterly wrakkit. The Erle Boithwell, quha is Admirall of Scotland, and als galzerit a lord as ony is in the country, albeit hee make profession of the new Religion, yet is he extremly desirous to assist zow against England, having listid and entertained all this sommer, (vnder pretext to ga dantoun the Iles) sum trowpis of men of weir, quhilk, together with his forces ordinaris, suld haue ioyned with yours, gif thay had cummit heir. He suffers himselfe to bee peaceablie gydit be me, notwithstanding the diversity of our Religion, and hes oftentimes said, that if the Catholickes wald giue him suirtie to possesse, after the restitution of the Catholickes Religion, twa abaies quhilke he hes, that hee suld even presently bee altogether ane of ours: Hee intends to send the Colonell Halkerstoun, to accompanie certaine captaines and gentilmen to Spaine, and almaist foure hundreth souldeours all saife from the nawfrage in our Iles. And because thay are in great necessitie, he is purposed to accomod thame with ships, victuals and vther things necessare, to testifie thairby to the King of Spaine, the affection hee hes, to doe him maist humble and affectioned service: And gif we think it good, hes offerit himfelfe to ga out of t'ie country, and to ga offer himfelfe to your hieneffe in the Law Countries, and be your advife thairafter, doe the like to his Majestie Catholike in Spaine. Bot heerevpon, wee fall advife vpon the maist expedient : Gif wee may alwayes be affurit of him, he will bee alse profitable for the well of our cause, as ony lord in Scotland : For he hes great dependance about this towne, quhilke is the principall of Scotland, as alswa, vpon the fronterris of England. Hee hes offerit to maintaine and defend me against all that wold attempt againis me. Wee haue chofen for every Catholike lord a gentleman of the wisest and faithfull Catholikes, and belovit of their friends, to serve thame of a counsell, and to conveen at al occasions, to resolve the maist expedient that may concern the well of our cause, according to the will and intentioun of thair lordis, quha hes obleist thamefelfis to approve and execute thair resolutions, and nawise to contraveine the same. And bee that moyan, we hope to proceede with greater soliditie and effect, than wee have done heirtofoir : Alwayes, thir fall knaw na thing of our intelligences thair, nor our snall intentiounes, bot according to the exigence of the effaires fall be in hand, and that superficially, and without discovering our selfis over farre.

A counsell of chosen men for every Catholike lord are erected be Bruce for the execution of Catholike interprises.

Your hieneffe fall vnderstand, bee the particulare Letters of the lordis, that quhilke restes to bee said to yow by thir presentis : Be refoun quhairof, I will make end, maist humbly kissing your hienes handis : And prayand God to give yow all the gude hope and felicitie ye desire. From Edinburgh, the 24 of Ianuarie, 1589.

Your hieneffe maist humble and maist affectioned fervitor,

ROBERT BRUCE.¹

(Jun. 12.)—Charges ordained to be given to the keepers and withholders of the ‘ placeis, houffis, touris and fortaliceis of STRATHBOGY, Boig of Geycht, Innernes, Slanes, Douglas, Bothuill, Drymmen, Ruthuen in Badzenauch, Crawford, Auchindoun, Gartlie, Peill, Birnes, Balgawy, to rander and delyuer the samyn to the Heraldis, pursevantis or vthiris officeris, executouris of the faides Letteris ; and to remove thame selfis and thair seruandis furth thairof, within xxiiij houris,’ under the pain of Treason.

(Jun. 13.)—ROBERT LOGANE of Restalrig, ordained to be denounced rebel, for not appearing before the King and Council, to answer a charge at the instance of Robert Gray burgefs of Edinburgh ; ‘ makand mention, That quhair vpon the secund day of Aprile last, he being passing in peceable and quiet maner to Beruik, for doing of certane his lessum effearis and busynes, lippynning for na trouble nor injurie of ony personis; treuth it is, that Johnne alias Jokkie Houldie and Petir Craik ('houfhald') feruandis to Robert Logane of Restalrig, with three vthiris thair compliceis, vmbefett his hie way and passage, befyde the Bowyrod; quha not onlie reft and fpuilzeit fra him nyne hundreth and fiftie pundis money quhilk he had vpoun him, bot alswa, maift cruellie and barbaroufliie invadit and perfewit him of his lyffe, hurte and woundit him in the heid, and fraik him with diners vtheris bauch fraikis vpoun his body, to the grite danger and perrill of his lyffe, to the said complenaris vtter wrak and euill example of vthiris to committ the lyke rubberie and violence,' &c. Logan failed to appear and to present these persons, for whom he was responsible.

¹ In the Advocates' Library, there is also a copy of the same Tract, printed verbatim with the Edition from which the present has been taken. It is chiefly in Black Letter. Another Edition was ‘ printed at London by T. Snodham, and are to be fould at the house of T. Este, 1603.’

(Jul. 11.)—Johnne Eler 'citenair of the toune of Dankene,' as procurator for Joachym Eler, Michael Meves and other citizens of Dauskene, obtain Letters for charging 'PATRIK ERLLE OF ORKNAY, Johnne Forret of Fingask, and David Hoppringle, mercheant and burges of Edinburgh, for the wrangous, violent and maisterfull spoliatioun and away-taking fra the saidis perfewaris, of ane ship of the toune of Dankene, callit 'The Ark of Noy' (Noah,) with hir ankeris, cabillis, towis, furnitour, and certane vtheris guidis and geir.'

(Jul. 22.)—PROCLAMATION, that 'the Kingis Maiestie, now finding the effectis of the traiterous practizeis of his disloyall and maift vnthankfull and vn-naturall subiectis safer (so far) procedit, as THE JESUITIS, the pernicious springis and instrumentis of thir euills ar returnit; not simplie, bot accompanyit with strangearis, and furnist with money to steir vp and prosequete a publict wear, aganis God, his trew Religioun, his Maiesteis persoun and authoritie,' &c. 'For resisting and repressing of quhilk maift tressounabill and odious attemptis, his Maiestie willis and effectuuflie requiris all Ministeris of Godis worde, within the haill Presbitereis ouer all the realme, eirmistlie to travell with all his hienes faithfull and gude subiectis of all esteatis, alswell to burgh as to land; to tak this mater in harte, as that quhilk importis the present dangear and hasard of thair Religioun and conscience; the lyffis of thame selffis, thair wyffis, bairnis and kynnisfolkis; the conqueist of thair natine cuntrey and of thair awne landis, levingis and guidis, vailzeantlie defendit be thair worthie foirbearis, vnto this age; fra that maift crewell and vmmereifull Natioun of Spanje and thair adherentis: And to that effect, to move the Baronis and gentilmen in euerie shyre or prsbiterie, and the Prouest and bailleis of ilk burgh, to convene with all speid, in sic convenient placeis as thay fall think maift expedient, to advise vpoun the best and maift expedient meanis to resist and repres the intestine and foreyne inemeyis of trew Religioun, &c.; and to reporte vnto his Maiestie thair guidwillis, and offeris to prepair thame selffis with armour and victuallis, to pas forward with his Maiestie, vpoun the nixt aduertisment.'

(Jul. 25.)—A COMMISSION granted to 'ARCHIBALD ERLLE OF ERGYLE

Lord Campbell and Lorne, JOHNNE ERLI OF ATHOILL Lord Balvany, and JOHNNE LORD FORBES,' constituting them 'his hienes Lieutenantis and Justiceis within the boundis of the sherefdoms of Abirdene, Banff, Elgin, Fores, Narne, Inuernes, Cromartie and Tarbett,' to 'pas fordwart, ferehe, feik, tak, apprehend, or vtherwise to persew to the deid, with fyre, sverd and all kynd of rigour and extremitie, all his hienes declairit TRAITOURIS, rebellious and vnnatural subjectis, Jesuitis, Seminarie Priestis, Trafficquing Papistis, and thair refettaris,' &c.

(Eodem die.)—PROCLAMATION calling the Earls, Barons, &c. of the shires of Edinburgh, Haddington, Berwick, Roxburgh, Selkirk and Peebles, to repair to his Majesty, at Edinburgh, Aug. 26; those within the bounds of Lanark, Dumfries, Wigton, Ayr, Tarbet, Bute, Renfrew, Dunbarton, Linlithgow, Stirling, Clackmannan, Kirkeudbright and Ammandale, Kile, Carrick and Cunninghame, at Stirling, on Aug. 27; Fife, Kinross, Perth, Stratherne and Menteith, at Perth, on Aug. 28; Forfar and Kincardine, at Brechin, on Aug. 29; Aberdeen, Banff, Elgin, Forres, Nairn, Inverness and Cromarty, at Aberdeen, on Aug. 31; 'and fra thyne to pas fordwart as thay salbe commandit, for resitting and repressing of the tressounable practizes and conspiraceis of the saidis vnnatural subjectis, or persute of thame, as occasioun salbe offerit.' Licences to be granted to the 'ageit, diseasit and infirme, thay payand sic ressounable compositioun thairfoir, for the furtherance of this seruice, cheiflie the payment of the wageis of horsmen and futemen,' &c. These Treasons are said to have been highly aggravated, by their taking place 'evin in this tyme appointit for his hienes baptifine of his darrest sone the Prince, quhome God in his mercie hes grantit to the conforte of this natioun; be the assistance and witnessing of the souerane Princeis his maist deir freindis and allyes, and commoun welthis, his narrest and gude nichtbouris.'

(Jul. 31.)—KANȜEAUCH M^oKANȜIE of Kintail was charged to appear and produce a Commission of Justiciary, 'maist inordourlie past aganis the tennour of the Actis; and specialie, gevand him pouer to proceid aganis persones dilaitit of tressounable Fyre-raising, quhilk is onlie propir to the Justice Generall and his deputis, and aucht na to be tryit befor ony inferiour judgement.'

(Aug. 2.)—ANDRO KER of Fairnyhirst, Thomas Ker his brother, Thomas Ker of Caveris and Robert Ker of Newtown, having been denounced rebels, 'for subscriyving of ane Assiurance to Schir Robert Ker appeirand of Cefsurde.' They are charged 'to pas and entir thair personis in warde, within the Castell of Dunbartane;' until they obtain themselves relaxed from the process of horn.

(Aug. 15.)—WILLIAME HAY of Linplum to be denounced rebel, for not answering to a charge at the instance of M^r David Ogill minister at Humberie, and

M^r George Chalmer minister at Bar, ‘that quhair, thay being defyrit be certane freindis, at his speciall directioun, to haue conuenit with him at ane tryift, vpoun the ground of his awne landis, for removing of the contrauerfie betuix him and the said M^r David, anent the richt of the vicarage of Barro;’ they on 8th instant attended, when Hay ‘came and mett thame, accompanied with three of his seruandis in armes, and befor the vttering of ony speicheis to thame, he shamefullie and unhonnestlie persewit thame of thair lyveis; thay haueing na thing, faulffing thair buikis in thair handis, shoit and dischargeit his pistollett at the said M^r David, off sett purpos and prouisioun to haue slane him thairwith; and he happyning with the same shoitt to fall, the said Williame belevit he wes slane, and left him for deid; and thaireftir followit and persewit the said M^r George and presentit ane bendit pistollett at him, quhilk misgave, cheiffit him three quarteris of ane myle, and had not faillit to haue slane him, wer nocht he gatt entres within the portis of Hadingtoun, and wes releuit be the inhabitantis thair of.’

(Aug. 17, apud Striuling.)—PROCLAMATION, referring to the circumstance of the preceding Proclamations having been issued, in regular form;—‘nocht-withstanding, be ressoun of the present seasoun and nature of the yeir, and lait haruest liklie to follow, be that occasioun, the grite grudge and murmuring of a grite nowmer of his Maiesteis gude subiectis, giff thay salbe drawne frome thair harvist, cheiffie at that tyme quhen as thair coirnis ar ripe and redde to be shoirne; respecting heirwithall the grite scairflie of viuers and vtheris necessaris for men and horsis, and grite derth that hes followit and yit continewis be that occasioun; and last, the want of ane thousand wageit men on horse and fute, thocht necessar for this purpos and yit not tane vp.’—Therefore the lieges are ordained to convene at the before-named places, on the last day of September—first, second, third and fourth days of October, ‘for resisting and repressing of the tressounable practizes,’ &c.

(Aug. 24.)—PROCLAMATION, charging ‘all and findrie noblemen, gentilmen and vtheris his lienes faythfull and gude subiectis, huiffaris of the honour of his lienes and thair natine cuntrey, that thay and euery aue of thame preas be all gude means possible to intertene the Ambassadouris [‘of findrie Princeis and Com-moun-welthis, darrest and narrest freindis to our souerane lord and lady, repairit to this burgh of Striuling to the BAPTISME OF THE PRINCE, darrest sone to our souerane lord,’] and the gentilmen and vtheris being in thair cumpanyis, freindlie and courteoufflie: And that thay may performe the same the mair effectuallie, that thay retene nane in thair cumpany bot sic as ar discreit, courtas, of gude inclinatioun, and honest behauiour; nawayes factious, querrellous, bot sic as will vtterlie forbeir to invade or persew ony maner of persone or personis, or mak prouocatioun of displeasour, in worde, deide, or countenance outhir for auld feid or new, or for quhatfumeuir caus or occasioun, in coming to this toun, remaning thairin, or depairting thairfra,' &c.

(Sep. 10, apud Haliruidhous.)—ACT anent THOMAS FOULLIS, goldsmith and burges of Edinburgh, in which it is narrated, That in consideration of the sum of £14,598 'presentlie lent and deliuerit to the Kingis Maiestie, and vthirwayis hes debursit in certane his hienes awne particulair effairis,' 'his Maiestie hes presentlie confignit and delyuerit in his handis twa Drinking peccis of gold, weyand in the hail fyftene pundis and fyve vnce of Gold.' And in case of non-payment of the above sum, betuix and the first day of Nouember next, 'Ordanis him and Thomas Achiefoun his Maiesteis Maister cunzeour, to stryke down and cunzie, and caus the saidis twa drinking peccis of gold to be strukin down and cunzeit, in ffyve pund peccis;' 'The superplus, giff ony beis, to mak furthewmand and delyuer to his Maiesteis selff.'

(Eodem die.)—Another 'Drinking pece of gold, weyand tuelff pundis and fyve vnce of gold,' configned, on the same conditions, with Thomas Achiefoun Maister Cwnzeour, for payment of £6000, advanced by JOHNNE ARNOTT burges of Edinburgh. Achiefoun becomes cautioner for his Majesty; and for his relief, he is empowered to 'stryke down and cunzie' the Drinking pece, if the money be not paid within the time stipulated; and after satisfying Arnott, to pay the surplus to his Majesty.

(Eodem die.)—JOHNNE ARNOTT gets Assignation of the ffe-w-farms and ffe-w-mailes of his Majesty's proper lands of Colbrandispeth, for 'this instant crope and yeir' 1594, and of the crops and years 1595 and 1596; and also the ffe-w-mails of his highness's proper lands of Orkney and Yetland, of the years 1595 and 1596; for sums expended before the 'inewming of the strangearis to this honnourable tyme of the baptizing of the Prince,' viz. £5000 for 'wyne and beir;' and '8000 markis, to the intertenyng of his Maiesteis and the Quenis grace, his darrest bedfellowis, awne houffis, quhan all vthir moyane failit;' which, with 'annualrent,' then amounted to £11,500.

(Eodem die.)—'PROCLAMATIOUN FOR THE NORTH.' The 'Erlis lordis,' &c. ordained to meet at Edinburgh, Sep. 30, at Dundee, Oct. 4, and at other times as specified in Letters to be directed, at Aberdeen; with thirty days' victuals and provison, after their reaching Aberdeen;—'for resisting of the tref-founable practizeis of the saidis declairit tratouris,' &c.

(Sep. 30.)—ACT in favour of THOMAS FOULLIS goldsmith, burges of Edinburgh, that he had 'presentlie, at his Maiesteis eirnist desire, lent and debursit the fowme of £12,000, for outredding of findrie his hienes effearis, speciallic the payment of the wageis of horfemen and futemen, leveyed for the advancement of his hienes authoritie and feruice in the North pairtis of this realme.' Until repayment, ten per cent interest is stipulated to be paid.

PROCLAMATION against FRANCIS sumtyme ERLL BOTHUILL.

(Eodem die.)—FORSAMEKLE as the vnnaturall and maist odious Rebellionis of FRANCES sumtyme ERLL BOTHUILL, is now manifested to the hail world, in hie and manifest contempt of our souerane lord and his auctoritie; first, breking warde onte of the Castell of Edinburgh; Invading his Maiestie vndir cloude of nicht, at his Palaceis of Haliruidhous and Falkland; Awaiting on his Maiestie, at his ouerpaffing at the Ferreyis of Leith and Kinghorne; Seiking at findrie tymes, besyde the burrowis of Edinburgh and Linlythgow, to haue feased on his hienes persone, at the hunting; Entering in his presence, in maist irreverent and barbarous maner, the xxiiij day of July, the yeir of God 1593, at his Palice of Haliruidhous foirfaid; Clengeing him selff of the odious cryme of Witchecraft, in a Judgement, qubair he wes baith Juge and pairty; Preafing his Maiestie (yea almaist compelling him aganis his harte, giff he had not preferit his honnour and libertie of his Crowne to his awne lyffe,) to capitulat with him, in materis maist foule and ignominious: And the thryd of Aprile last, in his dispyte of his Maiestie, ewning with displayed baneris in sight of strangeris and in his hienes awne presence, committing presumptuus insolenceis vpon his hienes gude subiectis: By quhilkis tressounable and continuall indigniteis, the said sumtyme Erll, labouring his Maiestie now the space of three yeiris and mair, he hes perturbit his hienes and his estate, in sic forte, as he had na lafair to correct the practizaris with strangeris for subuerfionn of Religioun and amitie betuix the tua realmes, qubairvnto baith his hienes awne conscience and eirnit prayeris of his gude subiectis urged him; till now, of lait, his hienes, hoiping be his lang patience, to haue moved the said sumtyme Erll to sum conformitie and humiliatioun, he assignit the secund day of October nixt to cum, for going fordward in that Cristeane seruice aganis the saidis Practizaris; bot the said Boithuell, shaiking of all Religioun (with opinioun qubairof he had abused the simple people, during the space of three yeiris foirfaid), and making shipwrak of all homestie, hes enterit in freindschip with the saidis Practizaris, ressaunt thair gold, and promised to thame, befor the said secund day of October nixt, ather to apprehend and posses his hienes persone, or then, giff he sett fordward to the North, sua to perturb the South pairtis of this realme, be surprising the Castellis of Blaknes, Thomptalloun, Bruchtie, Brint-Iland, Ile of Man, and be vthiris incurfionis; as his hienes sould be forced, vndoing justice with the said practizaris, to returne with shame and discredite: And to that effect, the xij of September instant, or thairabout, to haue invadit his Maiestie, vndir filence of nicht, at his

Palice of Halyruidhous foirfaid, without spairing ony persone, from the vtter zeit (outer gate) to his bed chalmer; haueing, for that purpos, three or fourefcoir of his rebellious complices warned to haue concurred with him, at the place and tyme foirfaid; and immediatlie eftir his Maiesteis apprehensioun, to haue caryed him captiue to the Castell of Blaknes, (the keipar quhairof, being corrupt, is now execute for his demeritis,) thair till haue detenit his hienes, till his disordourit outlawis had cum frome the Bordouris, quha wer indeid vndir wairning to haue mett the xv of this instant, at Jedburgh, and fra that to haue haisted to Bothuill for his releiff; and to his Maiesteis perpetuall shame, how sone thay had hard of his captiuitie, giff God of his mercy had not, be Letteris vndir the said Bothuillis awne hand, quhilkis wer found vpon M^r Allane Orme, aue of his seruantis, detected the names of his associattis, quhairby sum of thame wer apprehendit, and the rest fugitiue, and his Maiestie through devyne grace deliuerit of that most dangerous Treasoun: And as the said Bothuillis dissembled hypocrisie, thir three yeiris past, had procured to him the fauour of ower mony of his people, be the quhilk he was inabled to work all thir insolencies aganis his hienes, so wes his Maiestie, not onlie aganis his naturall inclinacioun, (being moir inclynnit to pitie nor to pynishe,) forced nochtwithstanding, to pynishe sum of his dependaris, for the terrour of vtheris; bot be the same fauour of the people borne to the said Bothuell, his hienes wes distracted and disabilled to proceed in the gude caus foirfaid, with that eirnistnes that he intendis: And so, be the ignorant and foolish affectioun of his liegis borne to the said Bothuill, he was impeshed and haldin bak fra that quhilk thay maist desirit, and he wes maist willing vnto; ffor thay, conforting the said Bothuill, maid him bauld, euerie three monethis to mak a new Conspiracie; quhilk forceit his hienes, for faultie of his lyffe and honnour, to neglect all vtheris actionis, and onlie to prouyde aganis his barbarous and disperat invasioun: Bot seing his defectioun from the trew Religioun, quhairwith, in maner foirfaid, to this hour, he hes cloiked all his Treasonis, is now manifest be his actionis, all Letteris send to the Ministeris beiring his accord with the saidis Papistis; his hienes hoipis that nane of his gude subiectis, treulie professing the said Religioun, fall conforte or harbour him heireftir, ony mair; bot, in respect the saidis Papistis and he now being all joyned in aue rebellious societie, haue maist shamefullie abused his hienes said liegis, thay fallie pretending his hienes fauour, and Bothuill als fallie pretending a cloik of Religioun: HIS HIENES ordanis Letteris to be direct to Officeris of armes, thereffis in that parte, chargeing thame to pas to the mercat croceis of the heid-burrowis of this realme, and vtheris placeis neidfull, and in his hienes name and authoritie to mak publicatioun heirof, that nane pretend ignorance of the same: And to command and charge all and findrie his hienes lieges, ordanit be his formair

Proclamatioun to attend vpon his Maiestie, that thay convene thame selffis, in maist sensible and substantious maner, to accompany and defend his Maiestie, in his maist Cristiane seruice; quhairin euery ane of thame, eftir a measure, hes als grite interest as him selff, and on the succes quhairof dependeth the estate of the said Religioun, stabilitie of his Crowne, and thair faultie: As alswa, commanding and chargeing famony of his Maiesteis subiectis as ar permittit to remane at hame fra this present Raid and Armeie, faithfullie to assist and concur with his hienes Lientenent, Williame Erll of Mortoun, and all vtheris his Maiesteis officeris, Commissionaris, or Wardanis, for repreffing of the said Bothuill, or ony vtheris his Maiesteis rebellis insolenceis, during his hienes absens and remaning in the North; according to his Maiesteis Commission gevin to the same effect: Certifeing thame that dois in the contrair, thay salbe repute and haldin guilty of all crymes committit be the saidis rebellis, and persewit and pvnish thairfoir with all rigour and extremitie, in example of vtheris.

(Oct. 1.)—‘PROCLAMATIOUN, for concurring with ARCHIBALD ERLL OF ERGYLE and JOHNNE LORD FORBES, Lientenentis in the North pairtis of this realne.’ The lieges are charged, ‘that thay and ilk ane of thame, weill bodin in feir of weir, addres thame selffis and joyne in cumpany with the saidis Lientenentis, concur, assist and tak ane efauld and trew parte with thame, following thair directioun in the persute of the saidis declairit tratouris,’ &c.

(Oct. 2.)—LICENCES for ‘abiding from the Raid’ are ordained to pass the Signet and to be duly registered, otherwise to be held as null.

(Oct. 4.)—‘PROCLAMATIOUN for concurring with BUCKCLEUCH (Sir Walter Scott of Branxholme kn^t), Keipar of Liddisdale.’ The Wardens of the East and Middle Marches and the lieges are directed to ‘ryife, concur, fortifie, assist and repair to the said Sir Walter, at all tymes as thay salbe requirit thairto, be his Missive Letteris, &c. for persute, taking and apprehending, resisting and repreffing of the insolence of his hienes declairit traitouris,’ &c. This Proclamation proceeds on the narrative, that the King had ‘gevin and disponit to him the office thairof (the Keepership of Liddisdale), heritable, in tyme cwming.’

(Eodem die.)—‘PROCLAMATIOUN to assist THE LAIRD OF CESFURDE, WARDANE’ (of the Middle March). The lieges within these bounds, ‘and in speciall, the inhabitantis of the burgh of Jedburgh,’ are charged to concur, &c. as in the former Proclamation.

(Oct. 8, apud Dundee.)—ACT in favour of Sir JAMES SKRYMGEOUR of Dundop kn^t, Constable of Dundee, that ‘albeit his Maiestie hes appointit ane of his hienes Page of Honour to beir ANE CORNETT BLANCHE befoir his hienes, during the tyme of the present Raid, for the bettir attendaunce to be gevin be his houfhold feruandis on his Maiefteis awne perfone; yit fall the fame nawayes derogat nor preiuge the faid James Infeftmentis,' &c. viz. 'the place and preferment of BEIRING HIS HIENES BANER AND STANDART before his Maiefteis perfone and his fuceffouris, at tymes of Oiftis, Weiris, Raidis, Armeis and Battellis;'—'nather fall the fame Blanche Cornett be borne nor vfit eftir his Maiefteis Baner and Standart foirfaid beis difplayit, bot the fame Blanche Cornett rollit vp.'—'And in the meantyme, quhill tryall be tane, the faid Blanche Cornett fall not be borne, except during the tyme of this prefent Raid.'

(Oct. 16, apud Abirdene.)—PROCLAMATION, that 'his Maieftie, with aduife of the Lordis of Secreit Counfale, hes concludit and refoluit to remane and not to depairt furth of thir North pairtis, vnto the tyme the fame be quieted and fetled, to Godis glorie, his hienes obediens, eafe, refofe and fairtie of all his faithfull and gude fubiectis,' &c. The 'Erlis, Lordis, Baronis, fubftantious ffewaris and landit Gentilmen, &c. togidder with the inhabitants of burrowis, duelland within the boundis of the fherefdom of Perth, (except the inliabitantis of the Kerfe, be neth the Watter of Ilay, allanarlie,) Struiling, Linlythgw, Renfrew, Dunblane, the Cuntreis of Ros and Ardmannauch, &c. to repair to his Maieftie, at Abirdene, vpoun the xxvij of October infant; and fra thyne to pas forward,' &c.

(Oct. 19.)—'ALL HOUSSIS, quhairin God hes bene difhonnourit, ('be committing of Ydolatrie and prophaning of the sacramentis,') ordanit to be caffin down.'—'In fpeciall the placeis, fortaliceis and houffis of STRATHBOGY, SLANES and NEWTOUN,—and that, in figne and memorie of the vnmaturall defectioun and rebellioun of the awnaris and poffeffoures thairof for the tyme, aganis God, his Maieftie and his authoritie.'

(Oct. 23.)—'The CAPITANES and Commandaris of his Maiefteis horfemen and futemen falbe anfuerable to the inhabitantes of THE BURGH OF ABIRDENE, for payment to thame of the ordinair chargeis and expenffis of the perfonis vndir thair charge,' &c.

(Eodem die.)—Act in favour of THE BURGH OF ABERDEEN, abfolving their Provofft, &c. for not apprehending and prefenting 'Mr James Gordoun, fadirbruthir to George fumtyme Erll of Huntlie, eftir his landing at the raid and heavin of Abirdene, nor yit for lating to libertie of certane ftrangearis quhilk arrayvit and landit with him,'—nor for refetting with declared traitors, &c. 'at the horn for the Murthour and Slanchter of vniq^{le} James Erll of Murray.'

(Eodem die.)—'Thuentie ftane wecht of poulder, togidder with certane mat-tokis, gavillokis and vtheres werklwmes and materiallis for dimoliffing and cafting down of houffes and fortaliceis, valuat and eftimat in the haill' to £548, 6s. 8d. to be refteored to the Burgh of Aberdeen, or the value of fuch as may be loft or deftroied, &c. to be paid.

(Oct. 28, apud Terrisoule.)—‘ACT anent the down-casting of STRATHBOGIE.’

(Nov. 4, apud Abirdene.)—‘CAPITANE THOMAS KER and JAMES KER his bruthir’ ordered to be denounced, for not answering ‘twicheing thair treffounable assistance, &c. with George fumtyme Erll of Huntlie,’ &c.

(Nov. 7.)—‘ACT, quhair THE BARONIS gaif thair Aithis to assist the Lieutenents.’ The names inserted are ‘Marishaell, Forbes, Lovat, M^cKanzie, Grant, M^cIntoshe, Buchane, Finlatter, Drum, Innes, Phillorth, Effilmouth, Frendraucht, Straloch, Muchallis, Duffus, Vrie, Corfe, Monymusk, Corfindae, Toquhone young-air, Tutour of Cromartie, Alter, Auchtirallen, Boquhallie, Towy-Barelay, Wardres, Ravynniferag, Ludquharne, Pitcaple, Pittindreich, Hairthill, Birnes.’

(Eodem die.)—‘COMMISSIOUN of Lieutenmandrie’ granted to ‘LUDOUK DUKE OF LENNOX, Lord Darnelie, Tarboltoun, Methuene and Aubigny, his Maiesteis Lientenant and Justice, within the boundis of the Schirefdomis of Abirdene, Banff, Elgin, Fores, Narne, Innernes and Cromarty, alsweill to Burgh as landwart, regalitie as ryaltie.’ It is directed chiefly against the Earls of Huntlie, Angus and Errol, ‘Mr James Gordoun, William Ogiluy, Robert Abircrumby, and all vtheris Jesuites,’ &c. and their refetters.

(Eodem die.)—‘DECLARATIOUN in fauouris of the Erll Marishaell and vtheris,’ that the burning and destroying of the place and fortalice of BALLOGY, of the month of October last: and thereafter demolishing the place and fortalice in NEWTOUN, ‘wes and is done be his Maiesteis expres command, allowance and approbatioun.’

(Nov. 8.)—‘WARRANT for making off BANDIS’ is granted to ‘the Baronis, &c. of the North partis, alswele for the suirtie of the trew Religioun and of thame selfis and all vtheris professouris thair of, as for resisting of the Invasioun of his Maiesteis declairit traitouris,’ &c. And this, notwithstanding of all Acts to the contrary.

(Nov. 28, apud Haliruidhous.)—‘ARCHIBALD ERLI OF ERGYLE promittit, band and oblist him to mak all the personis of the Surnename of Campbell, &c. auferable to justice; and that he fall ather cause thame satisfie pairteis skaitheit, swa that na complaint salbe ministrat to his hienes; or then entir thame befor his hienes or his Justice, to vndirly tryall and pvnishment, as effeires;’ ‘conforme to the temour of the Generall Band, lawis and Actis of Parliament.’

(Dec. 19.)—THOMAS FOULLIS, goldsmith, ordained to retain Jewels belonging to his Majesty, till payment should be made to him of 5900 merks due by the King, ‘for certane chenzeis and goldsmith werk:’ viz. ‘Threttene small diamontis with chattonis of gold; auchtene chattonis of gold sett with rubeis; and fyve grit rubeis sett in chattonis of gold, enamelat reid, quhyte and blak.’

(Eodem die.)—‘ RATIFICATIONOUN OF THE DUKE OF LENNOX COMMISSIONOUN, with a pouer to him to grant Remissionis.’

(Eodem die.)—CLAUD and ALEXANDER HAMILTON, fons of James H. of Levingftoun, ordained to be denounced rebels; for coming with their accomplices, ‘ bodin in feir of weir, of the speciall caufing, command, &c. of the said James, and of Agnes Cokburne his spous, betuix tuelff and ane eftir none, to the ffauld of Preiftinche, quhair fhamefullie and barbaronlie thay hocheit and flew with fwordis fevin young ky with calff, fax oxin, and fyve foittis and queyis of three yeir auld,’ &c. ‘ And not content heirwith, thay come, vpoun the xxv of November laft, furth of the place and Peill of Levingftoun to the place of Bynnis, quhair Patrik thair eldar bruthir duellis, and thair, efter thay had dynnit (dined) and confultit with the said Patrik, thay come to the milne of Philpftoun, pertening to James Lord Lindfay of the Byris heritable, and to David Dundas of Preiftinche in tak and affedatioun, and brak the flanes, quheillis, hopper, huipis and gangand graith of the said milne all in peceis, ftrak and dang thair millaris, held bedit pistollettis to thair breiftis, and caufit thame fweir that thay fould duell na langair at the said milne,’ &c. :—And that ‘ vpoun the laft day of Nouember, they come to the barneyaird of Dudingftoun and patt fyre in three of the ftakkis, of purpois and intention to haue brint the haill barneyaird.’ Lord Lindfay of the Bires, and Dundas of Preftinch, appeared perfonally to purfue the Hamiltons before the King and Council; but they all abfented themfelves. [See Feb. 3. 1594-5.]

(Jan. 9. 1594-5.)—WILLIAME POLWART, of Rottonraw, ordained to be denounced rebel, for not appearing to anfwer to a Complaint at the instance of SARA HUNTER, relict of Andro Jouffy, merchant, burgefis of Edinburgh: That upon Dec. 23 laft, he ‘ with vtheris his compliceis, bodin in feir of weir, come vndir cloude and filence of nicht to the complenaris duelling place, within the burgh of Edinburgh, quhair fho wes, &c. and eftir that the said Williame had craftelie gottin hir yett oppin, he appointit ane nowmer of his compliceis to awaitt at the said yett, to impede and ftay all thofe quha fould happin to cum to the said complenaris releiff; and he him felff, with the reft of his infolent compliceis enterit within hir houfe, and be ane verie barbarous and vncoumelie behauiour, did quhat in thame lay to haue reviffed hir, and to haue caryed hir with thame quhair thay pleifit, and to haue rubbit and fpuilzeit hir houfe; quhilk they had not faillit to haue done, wer not be the Prouidence of God fho wes deliuerit of that dangeir, be the help of fun of hir nichtbouris.’

(Jan. 19.)—‘ PROCLAMATIOUN that naie cum to the Conventioun or place of his Maieftis refidence, bot fic as ar writtin for.’

(Eodem die.)—‘ THE KINGIS Declaratioun, ament THE LAIRD OF JOHNNE-
VOL. I. 2 X

STONIS PLEGEIS.—That ‘ in cais ony perfone of the name of Johnneftoun, or vtheris for quhome certane plegeis ar now enterit, fall commit stouth-reiff, oppreffion or blude, in thair thifteous deidis ; or contraveue any of the condicions for the quhilk thay ar now enterit, at ony time heireftir,’ if the principal party committer of the theft, &c. be not given up ‘ to anfweir for thair awne deid, and to vndirly tryale and pvnifhement thairfoir, as appertenis, within xv dayis nixt eftir requifitioun,’ ‘ the plege or plegeis of that branche or brancheis fwa offending, to be execute to the deid :’ And that Sir James Johnneftoun of Dunkellie kn^t, and Sir Walter Scott of Branxholme kn^t, (‘ quha hes gevin Band for fulfilling of certane condicions’) ‘ falbe haldin to enter vther plegeis,’ &c.

(Feb. 3.)—JAMES HAMILTON of the Peill (of Levingftoun,) Agnes Cockburn his fpoufe, and James, John, Claud, and Alexander, their fons, were ‘ denunceit rebellis ;’ (See Dec. 19, 1594.) and Alexander Cockburn and Hector Lockhart, their fervants, were alfo ordained to be denounced rebels, for not anfwering a complaint at the instance of ‘ James Lord Lindfay of the Byris, David Dundas of Preftinche, and John Yallowleis, Meffinger (at arms) : That upon the xij January laft, the faid Johnnie Y. accompanied with Michael Bynnie feruand to the faid Lord, and Thomas Huttoun feruand to the faid David, as witneffis to him, with foure feuerall Letteris and chargeis ; and hauing paff to the Place of the Peill, and at the yett thairof, the faid Agnes, &c. cwming furth at the faid yett, tuke the faid meffinger be the craig (throat), ftruck him vpon the heid, armes and fhoulderis, and gaif him mony bauch fraikis with piftollettis ; held bendit piftollettis to his breift, caufit thame to fweir neur to vfe ony Letteris agains thame ; and in end, with mony threatningis and minaffingis, in ane verie barbarous and vncouth maner, forceit the faid Meffinger to eit and fwallie the hail copyis of the faidis Letteris, and tuke the principall Letteris frome him ; and thaireftir, fhamefullie and cruellie dang the faid Witneffis with bendit piftollettis and quhinzearis, and left thame for deid : The lyke of quhilkis fhamefull and prefumptuus infolenceis hes fendle bene hard of in the In-cuntrey ; the preparatiue quhair of will not fail to breid a greitair contempt of all law and iuftice, through the hail realme, giff this be fufferrit to pas ouer vnpvnift.’

(Feb. 4.)—PROCLAMATION ‘ anent the fhuiting with hacquebutis and piftollettis.’

(Feb. 11.)—The SUBSCRIPTIONIS off the FOIRFALTIT LORDIS recognosceit. FORSAMEKLE SCHIR JAMES SCOTT of Baluery, knicht, being fufpectit and dilaitit of trafficque and intelligence with his Maieftis declairit Tratouris, rebellious and vnmaturall fubiectis ; and thaireftir taken, apprehendit, and at laft committit to warde, and findrie tymes examinat thairvpoun ; in end, he planelie confellit and declairit, That in the moneth of Auguft laftbipaff, he, being in cumpanie with WILLIAME sumtyme ERLLE OF ANGUS, GEORGE sumtyme ERLLE OF HUNTLEIE, FRANCIS sumtyme ERLLE BOTHULL, FRANCIS sumtyme ERLLE OF ERROLE, GEORGE ERLLE OF CAITHNES and vniq^{le} SCHIR PATRICK GORDOUN of Auchindoun kn^t, in ane Oifflair-hous, besyde the Kirk of Memmure; thair wes produceit be the said sumtyme Erlle of Angus, certane Heidis and Articles, altogiddir writtin with his awin hand, quhairupoun ane Band wes appointit to be maid : Quhilkis, eftir thay wer red in thair presens and audiens, and had aduifit, consultit, concludit and aggreit thairupoun, at last thay all subseriuit the fame with thair awne handis; lyke as, the said Schir James gaif his subseription thairto, as witnes : Quhilkis Heidis and articles being thaireftir committit to his custodie and keiping, he laithie produceit and delyuerit the samin to his Maiestie; he quhome, and be the Lordis of his Secreit Counsaile and Sessioun, and certane vtheris best acquainted with thair hand-writtis and subseriptionis, the samin being sene, considerit and tryit, and thaireftir comparit and conferrit with vtheris thair hand-writtis and subseriptionis, THE KINGIS MAIESTIE and the saidis Lordis hes Recognosceit, and as thay weill and treulie vnderstand, Recognosceis the Subseriptionis of the saidis Heidis and Articlis, quhairupoun the said Band wes appointit to be maid as said is, to be the verie subseriptionis and hand-writtis of the personis particularlie aboue mentionat. And for the bettir resolution and satisfioun of his Maiesteis gude subiectis heiranent, Ordanis ane Act to be maid heirupoun, ad futuram rei memoriam.

(Sic subseribitur) JAMES R. EX CERTA SCIENTIA.

J. T. CANCELLARIUS. MAR. ORKNAY. J. L. LINDSAY. ALEX. L. HWME. FLEMING. ALLANE LORD CATHCART. THO. M^r GLAMMIS. BLANTYRE. NEUBOTTLE. R. SECRETARIUS. LINCLOUDEN. ALEX. HWME. TRACQUAIR. CULLUTHY. (David Seton of) PARBROTH, comptrollair. S. JO. HWME (of Spott). P. YOUNG.

(Eodem die.)—JOHNNE ERLLE OF MONTROIS and . . . MAISTER OF MONTROIS find caution (Sir Johnne Murray of Tullibairdin) ‘ that thay fall compeir personallie, befor the Kingis Maiestie and Lordis of Secreit Counsaile, and ansuer and vnderly sic ordour as falbe preseryuit to thame, tuicheing the lait vnhappy accident quhilk fell oute betuix thame and thair freindis, on the ane parte, and THE LAIRD OF CALDER and SCHIR JAMES SANDIELANDIS of Slamannane Maister knight, thair kin and freindis vpon the vther parte, vponne the last day of Januar lastbipast;’ the Earl under the pain of £2000, the Maister under the pain of 2000 merks.

(Feb. 12.)—ACT aganist JAMES DOUGLAS, sometime of Spott, that ‘ not onlie deseruis the said James Douglas maist rigorous and extreame pvnishment, for thir particulair, besydis the formair crymes for quhilkis he wes foirfalt; bot the censuris of the Kirk aucht to proceed aganis him,’ &c.

(Feb. 14.)—ANDRO MAKFARLANE of Arroquhair, Andro Dow M. and Malcolme Beg M. to be denounced rebels, for not appearing, to haue vndirlyne sic ordour as fould haue bene prescriuit to thame, tuicheing the obseruatioun of his hienes peax, quietnes and gude reule in the cuntrey,' &c.

(Feb. 17.)—ACT ' anent the DUKE OFF LENNOX proceedingis in the North ;' and ' exonerig' him and his counsellors, as having discharged their duty faithfully.

(Eodem die.)—ACT ' anent dimoleiffing of the Place, houffes and Fortalice of the CRAIG, pertening to Johnne Ogiluy.' Patrick Lord Gray and Patrick Master of Gray, got full Commiffion, as Sherifs-principal of Forfarshire, to take all necessary steps for that purpose.

(Feb. 28.)—Harie Steuart of Cragyhall becomes surety for the entry of JAMES SANDIELANDIS of Calder, &c. (See Feb. 11.)

(Mar. 5.)—JAMES MASTER OF OGILUY finds surety (David O. of Quhytefeild,) that he shall not supply, refet nor intercommune with ' Johnne Ogiluy of Craig, nor na vtheris his Maieftis declairit tratouris and rebellis,' &c., under the pain of 2000 merks. He is denounced rebel on Mar. 27.

(Mar. 15.)—ACT against his Majesty's Traitors and rebels.

(Eodem die.)—PROCLAMATION against refetting, supplying or intercommuning with declared Traitors, &c.

(Mar. 26. 1595.)—' PROCLAMATIOUN that nane transpote ERLIS OF HUNTIE and ERROLE within this Kingdome.'

(Mar. 28.)—DAME JEANE GORDOUN, COUNTESSE OF SUTHIRLAND, finds surety, under the pain of 2000 merks, that she shall not refet, supply nor intercommune with any of his Majesty's declared Traitors, &c.

(Jul. 18.)—PROCLAMATION, ' that nane furueis THE REBELLIS IN IRLAND.' ' Forfamekle as ANGUS MAKONEILL of Dunhyveg and Glennis, and DONALD GORME of Slaitt, accompaneit with a nowmer of rebellious and disobedient subiectis, inhabitantis of the Ilis, ar myndit, as the Kingis Maieftie is informit, to transpote thame selffis ouer to Irland and to joyne with the ERLI OF TYRREWNE, ODONEILL and vtheris of the rebellious people of that land, for troubling of the quyet estait thair of; as alsua, findrie of his Maieftis subiectis, inhabitantis within the schirefdomes of Lanerk, Renfrew, Dunbartane, Tarbett, Bute, Air, Wigtoun and baillereis of Kyle, Carrik and Cwninghame, daylie furniffes the rebellis of Irland with victuallis, waponis, poulder, bullett and vthir munition of weir; be the quhilk doing, the peace and amitie standing betuix his Maieftie and his darrest suster and coufine the Quene of England, thair realmis, dominionis and subiectis may be gritelie endangerit:' Therefore Proclamation is ordered to be made, that the liegis shall in no wise ' assist, tak pairt, ryde, gang, accompany, nor yit furneis and fell ony kynd of victuall,' &c. under the pain of Treaſon.

(Nov. 26.)—PROCLAMATION ‘ament the arryvaill of ſtraungearis of that maift cruell and vnnmercifull natioun of Spayne and thair adherentis.’ The Clergy are called upon to exhort the lieges ‘to tak this mater in hairt, as that quhilk importis the preſent dangeir and hafard of thair religioun and conſcience, &c. : ‘And to the effect thay may the bettir convene, with ane vniforme mynd in this caus, to vrge all and findrie perſonis, amangis quhome deidlie feid and eleift¹ is preſentlie ſtanding, to ſubſcriue and gif aſſuranceis ilkane of thame to vthir ; and quha refuiſis, to reporte the ſamin to his Maieſtie ; quhairthrow his hienes may tak ordour with thame as appertenis.’

(Nov. 27.)—PROCLAMATION that the lieges ‘prepair them ſelffis and be in full reddyne, weill bodin in feir of weir, to mak WAPPONSCHOWINGIS and gif Muſtouris, vpoun the ſecund day of Februair nixt, in preſens of the Schereffis, ſteuartis, proueſtis and baillies of burrowis ; ilkane of thame within thair awin boundis.

(Eodem die.)—GEORGE MURRAY, ſone to Johnne Murray of Spainjiedaill, Robert Hoppringle, ſone to the Gudeman of Quhytebank, Andro Douglas, ſone to George Douglas, feruand to the Laird of Ceffurde, Raguel Bennett, ſone to vmq^{lc} Mungo Bennett in Chaſteris, . . . Adair, ſone to . . . Adair of Kin-hilt, . . . Kirktoon, ſone to . . . Kirktoon of the Tour, and Malcolme Cockburne, ſone to . . . , make ſupplication to the King and Council, ‘That quhair, it is nocht vnknewne, how that thay this langtyme bigane have bene detenit in warde within the tolbuith of Edinburgh, for the vnhappy accident² quhilk fell oute in the perſone of WILLIAME SINCLAIR, ſone to the Chancellair of Caithnes, be the ſlauchter of vmq^{lc} Johnne M^cMorane, burges of this burgh, quhair of thay and euery ane of thame ar innocent, and ar willing to abyde tryale thair-upoun, befor ane vnſuſpect Juge : And becaus the Proueſt and Baillies of this burgh, to quhome Commiſſioun wes given, to juge vpoun the ſaidis complenaris, wer partiall, thay being in effect baith juge and pairty, it pleiſit his Maieſtie, vpoun thair Supplication gevin in heirnupoun, to ordane M^r Mark Borthuik, Juſtice Depute, to ſitt with the ſaidis Proueſt and Bailleis, vpoun Mononday the xxvij of October laſt, and to putt thame to the knaulege of vnſuſpect Aſſiſe, the maift halff of thair peiris, they being all for the maift parte the ſonis of Baronis and gentilmen, and to proceid and miniſter juſtice vpone thame, conforme to the lawis and practique of this realme : At quhilk day, thay being enterit vpoun pannell, befor the saidis Prouest, bailleis and Justice depute, thair tryal wes continewit to the morne thairefter, the xxviij day of the said moneth ; at quhilk day, albeit they might have justlie declynnit the saidis Prouest and bailleis, and had mony gude argumentis of law and practique to have preferuit thame fra the tryale of ane Assise, yit thay be thair freindis and prolocutouris, freelie offerrit thame selffis to tryale. prouyding that ane condigne and vnsuspect Assise wer gevin to thame, viz. of Gentlemen outwith the toun of Edinburgh, according to his Maiesteis ordinance ; quhilk being refuiffit, thay wer coupellit to vse thair lauchfull defenffis : Quhairupoun the saidis Judges, perceaving that thay could not gett thair intent aganis the saidis complenaris, and mynding na thing ellis bot to wearie and wrak thame with expenffis, thay continewit thame to the fourte of Nouember : and vpon that day, maid ane new continewatioun ; quhairby it is euident, that thay intend to hald the saidis complenaris in continewall warde ; and atther to compell thame to becwm in will for that cryme, quhair of they ar innocent, or then to submitt thame selffis to ane Assise of the burgefiss of this burgh, quha will not fail maist partiallie to proceid aganis them,' &c. Having heard parties, the King, ' with auise of the saidis Lordis, Ordanis the saidis perfewaris to be putt to the knaulege of ane Assise of thair peiris, of landit gentlemen duelland outwith the burgh of Edinburgh, for the crime foirsaid ; within the tolbuith of Edinburgh. vpon the first day of December nixtocum, in presens of M^r Mark Borthuik, Justice depute, to quhome his Maiestie adjoins Schir Robert Meluill of Murdocairnie, kn^t, thesaurair depute, M^r Johnne Skene, clark of Register, and Schir Johnne Carmichael of that Ilk, kn^t. to be Assessouris ; secluding all vtheris assessouris,' &c. With certification, that if appearance is not made against them, they should be put to liberty, on finding caution, &c.

¹ Rancorous grudge or offence ; literally an eye-sore ; what hurts or offends the eye. ² See the ſpirited account given of this affair of the Inſurrection of the Boys attending the High School of Edinburgh, (in conſequence of the Magiſtrates denying them their uſual ‘privilege’ of a day’s play, &c.) in the Extracts made from the Diary of Robert Birrell, which immediately follow theſe ſelections.

DISCHARGE of a LETTER granted to the COUNTESS OF BOTHWELL.

(Nov. 29.)—FORSAMEKILL as the Kingis Maiestie laitlie subscriuit and past ane Letter to DAME MARGARET DOUGLAS, sumtyme COUNTESSE OF BOTHUILL, movit thairunto vpon hir humble sute, and profrating of hir self in his hienes way and presens ; quhilk Letter, as his Maiestie is informed, scho immediatlie thairefter, not oulie causit proclame in sındrie pairtis of this cuntrey, and thairby take occasioun to resortie publictly quhair scho pleisit ; lyke as, a grite nowmer of persones hes resortit and intercommonit with hir sensyne : Bot als, scho hes directit and had intelligence of lait with Frances sumtyme Erll Bothuill, hir spous, in the realme of France, vanelie vanting of hir credite at his Maiesteis handis, and perswading him of that fauour ; quhilk, in respect of his monstros factis, is not to be loked for : nather is it nor wes it his hienes meauing, that the said Letter fould haue bene proclameit, nor sho tane sic libertie thairby, as sho hes done ; bot onlie, fould haue feruit for remaning of hir felff and hir bairnis within the place of Mostour, that hir freindis nicht sumtyme haue resortit to hir, without dangeir of his hienes lawis : And thairfoir, feing sho hes safar abusit his Maiesteis fauour, grantit to hir be the said Letter ; his hienes, with aduise of the Lordis of his Secreit Counsale, hes annullit and dischargit and be thir presentis annullis and dischargetis the same Letter and contentis thairof, simpliciter, in tyme cwming ; ordaning the same to ceis and to haue na forder force nor effect at ony tyme heireftir. And that Letteris be direct to mak publicatioun heirof, be oppin proclamatioun at the mereat croceis of Jedburgh, Kelfo, Hawik and all vtheris placeis neidfull ; quhairthrow nane pretend ignorans of the same.

(Apr. 1.)—PROCLAMATION ‘ aganis trafficquing with STRANGEARIS,’ ‘ except it be betuix marcheant and marcheantis, in materis concerning marchandice allanerlie, without the speciall aduise, licence and consent of his Maiestie had and obtenit thairto, vndir the pane of deid.’

(Dec. 2.)—PROCLAMATION for assembling of the lieges at the Towns of Leith, Inverkeithing and Bruntifland, S^t Andrews, Dundee, Montrose, Inverness, Cromarty, Kirkcudbright, and Air, ‘ weill bodin in feir of weir, to repair vpoun the first aduertifment, vndir the command of the schirreff of ilk shyre, and sic vtheris as the same schereff, with aduise of the Baronis within the boundis particularlie aboue mentionat, fall cheis to that effect, to the said townis, to joyne with and supplee the fute-forceis, in resistit to the landing of the Enemy, in thay pairtis ; vndir the pane of tinfale of lyffe, landis and guidis.’

(Dec 3.)—PROCLAMATION ‘ that nane accompany THE ERLL OF MAR and LORD LEVINGSTOUN to thair day of law.’ It is stated that ‘ as it is vnderstand to the Kingis Maiestie and Lordis of his Secreit Counfall, that thair is a grite nowmer of his hienes liegis, of all esteatis of personis, quhilkis ar warnit and requirit be Johnne Erll of Mar Lord Erskin, Alexander Forrestair of Garden, and vtheris the kin and freindis of vmq^{le} Dauid Forrestair, burges of Struiling, on the ane parte ; and Johnne Levingstoun youngair of Dumnypace, . . . Bruce youngair of Airth, and certane vtheris thair colligis, on the vther parte ; to be present at ane dyet appointit to be haldin within the tolbuith of Ed^r, vpoun the xx day of December instant, for thair vnderlying of his hienes lawis, for the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Dauid : Amangis quhilkis personis, thair being deidlie feid and contrauerfie presentlie standing, at the leist amangis a grite nowmer of thame, it is to be feirit, that vpoun the first occasioun of thair meiting, sum grite inconuenient fall fall onte, to the brek of his hienes peax,’ &c.

(Dec. 10.)—ACT ‘ ament THE DERTHE.’ The King and Council ‘ being wonderfullie movit at the present derth of all fortis of victuall, this seasoun of the yeir, vniuerfallie throu all pairtis of this realme, and the grite penuritie and indigence quhairunto the pair handy-labouraris, and vtheris his hienes fubiectis of all esteatis ar redactit be that occasioun, the same derth still daylie increffing, and fostherit, pairtlie be the auaritious gredynes of a grite nowmer of perfonis that hes bocht and byis victuall afoir it cum of the ground, and that foirstallis and keipis the same to a derth, and pairtlie, by the shameles and indifcreit behaviour of the ownaris of the same victuall, quha refuiffis to threfhe oute and bring the same to oppin mercattis,' &c. It is therefore declared, that after Proclamation made, all forestallers, &c. shall be strictly punished, in terms of the statutes, and their victual 'efcheated' to his Majesty's use. All costly apparel, banquetings, &c. are deprecated; and it is declared that the former Acts relative thereto shall be strictly enforced.

(Dec. 11.)—THE King and Council, 'with the speciall auife and consent of SCHIR JAMES JOHNNSTOUN of Dunskeillie kn^t, being personallie present, ffrethis and releuis all PRISONARIS takin be him, his freindis, assistaris and pairt-takararis, at ony of the lait Conflictis quhilkis happynnit to fall oute betuix thame and the surname of MAXWELL, thair freindis, &c.: As alsua, Dischargeis all Bandis, Obligationis, or vtheris securiteis quhatfumeuir made be thame or ony of thame, to the said Schir James Johnnestoun, his freindis, &c. ather for thair entree agane, vpoun certane dayis wairning, payment of sommes of mony in name of Ranfoim: Decerning the same Bandis to be null,' &c.

(Dec. 23.)—'CHARGE AGANIS PERSONIS VNDAR DEIDLIE FEID,' to appear before the King and Council 'at Haliruidhous;' and 'that they keip thair ludgeingis eftir thair cuning, quhill thay be speciallie fend for,' &c. 'Thay ar to say, ROBERT MAISTER OF EGLINTOUN and PATRIK HOUSTON of that Ilk, to compeir personalie; the said Maister accompanied with his freindis, not exceeding the noumer of threescoir perfonis, and the said Patrik not exceeding the noumer of xxiiij perfonis,¹ vpoun Jan. xv nixttoeum: JAMES ERLI OF GLENCAIRNE and . . . CUNYNGHAME of Glengarnok, vpoun Jan. xvj: JOHNNE ERLI OF MONTROIS and FRANSIE of Thoirnidykis, on Jan. xxvij: HEW CAMPBELL of Lowdown, schereff of Air, . . . SANDIELANDIS of Calder, and SCHIR JAMES SANDIELANDIS of Slammannan, Mr . . . CRAUFURDE of Kerse,² and . . . SPOTTISWODE of that Ilk, vpoun Jan. xxvj: DAVID ERLI OF CRAUFURDE, and . . . GUTHRIE of that Ilk, vpoun Feb. viij: SCHIR THOMAS LYOUN of Auldbar kn^t, and . . . GAIRDIN of that Ilk, vpoun Feb. x: ALEXANDER LORD LEVINGSTOUN, SCHIR ALEXANDER BRUCE eldair of Airth, and ALEXANDER COLQUHOUN of Lufs, vpoun Feb. xvij: JOHNNE ERLI OF MAR, ALEXANDER FORRESTAIR of Garden, and ANDRO MAKFARLANE of Arroquhair, vpoun Feb. xx: JAMES LORD BORTHUIK, . . . PRESTOUN of Craigmillar, Mr GEORGE LAWDER of Bafs, and CHARLIS LAUDER fone and air of vinq^{le} Andro Lauder in Wyndpark, vpoun Jan. v: SCHIR JOHNNE EDMESTOUN of that Ilk, and Mr WILLIAME CRANSTOUN appeirand of that Ilk, vpoun Jan. vij: GEORGE ERLI MARISHAEL, and . . . SEYTOUN of Meldrum, vpoun Mar. i: JAMES CHEYNE of Straloch, and WILLIAME KING of Barrauch, vpoun Mar. iij: JAMES TUEDY of Drummelzeair, vpoun Mar. x: CHARLIS GEDDES of Rauchane, vpoun Mar. xij: —To vnderly sic ordour as falbe preferiuit, tuicheing the removing of the saidis ffeidis, &c. With certification, that if they fail, ‘thay falbe repute, haldin and perfewit with fyre and fwerd, as inemeis to God, his Maiestie, and to the common wele and quietnes of this thair natiue cuntrey, with all rigour and extremitie.’

¹ The number of followers allowed in the other instances are in the same proportions, according to the rank of the respective parties.

² Altogether not exceeding the number of sixty persons.

(Dec. 25.)—Mr JOHNNE MACKANZIE, Minister at Vrra, ordained to be denounced rebel, for not appearing, to answer a charge at the instance of Alexander Bane of Tulloch, and Alexander Bane, (younger) ‘fear’ of Logy, ‘for his insolenceis, oppin and manifest oppreffionis committit vpoun thame; as namlie, he reflett and huirding within his house, of Johne McGillichallum Rasa, ane commoun and notorious theiff and lymmair and denunceit rebell, be oppin and avowit thift, in the moneth of May last; quha come to the said M^r Johnis house, vpoun fett purpos and prouisioun to ly derne (hid) and quiet thair, quhill he nicht find the commoditie to murdreis Hucheon Makeoneill Bane and Duncane Bane, fone to the said Alexander Bane youngair: Lyke as, eftir he had remanit with the said Mr Johnne the space of xlviij houres, vpoun fuir knaulege had be the said Maister Johnne of his barbarous and wicked intentioun, he come furth of the said house, vndir silence of nicht, be the said M^r Johnis preuitie and foirknaulege, to the duelling place of the said Hucheoun Makoneill Bane, of fett purpos and prouisioun to haue execute his barbarous and wicked intentioun; quhilk he had not faillit to haue done, wer nocht the said Hucheoun, getting fin informatioun of his intentioun, convoyed him selff with the said barne away: And fensyne, the said M^r Johnne come to the said complenaris landis of Vrra, and cuttit his plewis and rigwiddeis; and thairby, and be vtheris the lyke oppin and manifest oppreffion, hes layd and haldis the saidis landis waift, &c.

(Jan. 12, 1595-6.)—Mr WILLIAME CRANSTOUN appeirand of that Ilk, ordained to be denounced rebel, for not entering ‘his persone in warde, within the Castell of Thomptalloun,’ in terms of the command issued by the King and Council, on Jan. 9.

(Jan. 15.)—JOHNNE HALDEN, dagmaker and others, to be denounced rebels, for not answering ‘tuicheing the Riot committit be thame laitlie, vpoun the . .

day of Januar instant, aganis the Prouest and Bailles of the Burgh of Edinburgh, in thair convoy and taking to warde of James Lord Borthuik?

(Jan. 17.)—JAMES ERL OF GLENCAIRNE ordained to be denounced rebel, for not appearing before the King and Council, ‘ tuicheing the removing of the ffeid and contrauerfie standing betuix him and Robert Maifter of Eglintoun and his freindis.’

(Jan. 28.)—JOHN and ALEXANDER FOSTER (FORRESTAIR) ‘ fones to the Laird of Garden, Alexander Forrestair of Myethill and Walter F. fone and appeirand air to Duncane F. of Puldoir,’ to be denounced rebels, for not appearing before the King and Council, for coming with their accomplices, on Dec. 30, ‘ bodin in feir of weir, with daggis, pistollettis, &c. to Johnne Roishill officiair of armes, being executing Letteris of Hoirning aganis Alexander Forrestair of Garden, and certane vtheris parrochionaris of the Ruid-Kirk of Striuling, the said officiair being in the very meantyme, of the reiding the same Letteris, publictly, at the mercat-croce of the burgh of Striuling; pullit him down af the same croce, dang him with pistollettis on the heid, and with the gairdis of thair swardis, and cruellie hurte and woundit him in diueris partis of the body, to the effusion of his blude in grite quantitie; and thaireftir, violentlie and perforce rest the same Letteris, and thair raif thame all in peccis; in hie and proude contemptioun of his Maiesteis auctoritie and lawis.’

(Eodem die.)—PROCLAMATION, that none of the liegis ‘ reffett, supplee, thaw fauor nor intercommune’ with ‘ THE FORRESTAIRS;’ under certification, that they ‘ falbe apprehendit, persewit and pvneit, with na les rigour and extremitie to the deid, nor (than) gif thay had reffett Frances suuntyme Bothuill,’ &c.

(Jan. 29.)—JAMES CUNYNGHAME appeirand of Glengarnok, ordained to be denounced, for not ‘ compeiring personalie’ before the King and Council, ‘ tuicheing the removing of the ffeid standing betuix him and Schir Patrik Houftoun of that ilk kn^t and his freindis,’ &c.

(Feb. 5.)—PROCLAMATION for a general Wapponshawing, on May 5. ‘ Marcheantis-traffiequaris in vtheris cuntreys,’ are commanded ‘ to by, prepar and bring hame corllettis, pickis, murronis and all vthir kynd of armour; sell and mak penny thairof to all his hienes subiectis, vpoun reffounable pryceis.’ It proceeds on the narrative ‘ of the preparatioun and intentioun of mereyles strangearis, to arryve in this Iland this nixt spring, for moving of a publict wear aganis God, his trew Religioun,’ &c.

(Feb. 12.)—On the complaint of THE COUNTESS OF EGLINTOUN (Dame Helen Kennedy,) Hugh Earl of Eglintoun, only lawful son of the deceased Hugh Earl of E, Robert Maister of Eglintoun his Tutor, and the kin and friends of the late Earl, ' That quhair, the said v^mq^{le} Erll, being maist shamefullie and cruellie slane be Johnne Cunynghame of Rofs, bruthir to James Erll of Glencairne, Alexander C. callit of Poquhene his seruand, Alexander C. of Aikatt, Williame C. his bruthir, Patrik C. in Bordland, Johnne and David Maxuellis, brethir to Patrik M. of Newark, and Johnne Ryburne, vpoun sett purposis, prouisioun and foirthocht felony, the saidis complenaris persewit thame for the same slauchter, criminallie, befor the Justice and his deputis ; and thay, takand the cryme vpone thame, absentit thame selfis frome tryale, and wer thairfoir denunceit and registrat at the horne ; quhairat maist contempnandlie thay remanit diuers yeiris thaireftir, quhill now of lait, as the saidis complenaris ar informed, that the saidis personis hes purchest ane Remissioun or Respett for the said slauchter, quhairby thay intend to tak away the saidis complenaris lauchfull persute ; sua that in steid of justice, quhilk thay euir luiked for, conforme to his Maiesteis solempne vow and promeis maid to that effect, thay ar now movit to lament to his hienes the want of justice, throu the said Respett or Remissioun, &c. They farther stete, that there has been ' na affyithment nor satisfacioun maid to the saidis complenaris for the said slauchter, nor Letter of Slanis grantit thairupoun ;' and that therefore, in terms of the Acts of Parliament and Secret Council, and ' ane louable pratique past in the lyke caise, at the instance of the relict and ten faderles bairnis of v^mq^{le} Luk Struiling of Baldorane, aganis Thomas Kincaid and Johnne Jak his seruand,' the Respite or Remission was ipso facto null.—Robert Master of Eglinton having appeared for the complainers, and James Earl of Glencairn and William Cunningham of Caprington for the defenders, the King and Council remitted ' this mater, to be decydit befor the Justice or his deputis, as accordis of the law.'

(Feb. 21.)—PROCLAMATION regarding ' THE SPANISHE PREPARATIOUN to arryve in this Iland, for moving of a publict wear,' &c. ; charging all the lieges within the ages of 60 and 16 ' to be in full reddynes,' within 24 hours, ' to convene and repair to sic partis and placeis as thay salbe aduirteist,' &c.

(May 21, 1596.)—SIR JAMES JOHNNSTOUN of Dunskeilie kn^t. ' as maister, landisflord or cheiff to Johnne, James and Williame Johnnestonis, brethir, in Haisliebray, Niniane J. in Rowantrie-know, and Williame J. sone to James J. of Haisliebray, for quhome he is obleist to ansuer be the General Band,' &c. is ordained to be denounced rebel, for not appearing and presenting these persons to have answered, ' tuicheing the shamefull, cruell and v^mmercifull slauchter of v^mq^{le} Mr Williame Johnnestoune, Person^e and Minister at Lochmaben ; committit be thame laitlie, vpoun the fourte day of Marche last.'

(May 22.)—PROCLAMATION for THE ILIS.—THE KINGIS MAJESTIE, his Nobilitie, Counsaill and Estetis presentlie comenit, CONSIDDERING the proude

Rebellioun, defectioun and difobedienc of the Inhabitantis of THE ILIS and HIELANDIS of this realme, subiect for the maist parte, thir mony yeiris bygane, to all kynd of insolence, barbaritie and crueltie, not onlie in committing of vyle and beifflie Murthowis, Slauchteris, reif, thift, oppin heirschippis, oppreflionis and depredationis vpoun his Maieftis peceable and gude subiectis, inhabitantis of the cuntreieis nixt adiacent ; bot euery ane of thame maist vnnaturallie puttand violent handis in vther, besydis innumerable vtheris tressounable, monstros and odious crymes, committit be sum of the cheiff personis, inhabitantis of the saidis Ilis ; ffor the quhilk, the sentence of Foirfaltour is led aganis thame ; quha nochtwithstanding remanis peceable in the cuntrey, without feir of God or of his Maieftie, nawayes acknaulegeing thair offens, nor yit his hienes as thair souerane lord and King ; nather payand thair mailles and dewities, exactiones and custumes to his Maieftie, his Comptrollair and ordinair officialis ; the same mailles and dewiteis and custumes being a grite part of his hienes propirtie, rent and patrimonie of his crowne, quhairupoun his princelie porte and estate fuld be sustenit : AND thairfoir, his Maieftie is resolut to repair, in propir persone, to the saidis Ilis and Hielandis, with all conuenient expeditioun, for abandouning and reduceing of the saidis rebellious, vnnaturall and difobedient personis, to the acknaulegeing of his hienes and his lawis ; and compelling of thame to mak payment of his Maieftis propir rentis and dewiteis, in tyme cuning : For quhilk purpois, necessar it is that his hienes be weill and substantiouse accumpnyed, with a force of his faithfull, loving and gude subiectis ; and thairfoir, his Maieftie, with aduise of his Nobilitie, Counfall and Esteatis foirsaidis, Ordanis Letteris to be direct, chargeing all and findrie Erllis, Lordis, Baronis, fewaris and freehaldaris, betuix saxtie and saxtene yeiris, vailzeant (worth) in yeirlic rent the fowme of three hundreth merkis, ather in heritage or annualrent, within the boundis of the haill sherefdomis, steuartreis and baillie-reis within the realme, togidder with the inhabitantis of burrowis within the saidis boundis, alsweill regalitie as ryaltie, be oppin Proclamatioun, at the mercat-croces of the same burrowis ; that thay and ilkane of thame, weill bodin in feir of weir, with schippis, crearis, boitis and all vtheris veschellis, and prouisioun, requisite and necessair for transporting of thame to the saidis Ilis, and fra Ile to Ile, within all the boundis of the same Ilis and Hieland pairtis, during all the tyme that thay salbe occupiit in that seruice ; addres thame selffis to meit his Maieftie, at the burgh of Dunbartane, vpoun the first day of August nixto-cum, prouidit to imbark and pas fordwart thairfra to the saidis Ilis and Hielandis ; and to attend and accumpny his hienes, for the space of fourtie dayis eftir thair cuning, to the effect foirsaid ; vudir the pane of tynfall of lyff, landis and guidis.

[THE Editor has thus endeavoured to supply, from the most authentic source, a pretty copious Selection of the leading Cases which occurred before the Privy Council of Scotland, during the interval unfortunately vacant in the Records of the Court of Justiciary, through the loss of the Volumes from 1591 to 1596; which period, doubtlessly, occupies an interesting portion of the History of this country. To some of his readers, perhaps, an apology is due, for the insertion of so many State Papers, and of notices of matters, not strictly embracing the immediate objects of this Compilation; but, in extenuation of this trespass, it may be remarked, that the leading features of these times were so peculiarly distinguished by open defiance of the King and Parliament, and by the frequent and daring Conspiracies enterprised against the Royal person, as well as by Bothwell's Treasons, and the Popish and Spanish Plots, for the overthrow of the Government and of the Religion of the Country, that such Illustrations as those he has ventured to select, may, by many others, be considered as necessary Historical elucidations, at least as convenient appendages to such a Collection as the present.]

Before closing his Extracts, which are intended in some measure to supply this hiatus valde defendus, the Editor must farther draw upon the valuable stores contained in 'THE DIAREY of Robert Birrel, burges of Edinburghe,' which was, for the first time, given to the public by John Grahame Dalryell, Esquire, in his 'Fragments of Scottish History,' Edin. 1798. The reading has been taken from the original MS. in the Advocates' Library, W. 5, 10. There is also in the same Library, among Wodrow's MSS., (W. 7, 26,) another copy, which is, apparently, a Transcript of the former.]

NOTICES extracted from 'BIRRELL'S DIARY.'

(Sep. 6. 1591.)—THE EARLL OF BOTHUELL made a stoure in the ABAY OF HOLYROUDHOSSE, quho came in over the hous in the South fyde of the Palace; and the said Earll, taking too grate presumption, he, with his complifels, strake with ane hammer at his Maiesties chalmber dore: And, in the meane tyme, the haill noblemen and gentlemen of his Maiesties houffe raised, quho thought to haue taken the said Earll Bothuell and his complices. The said Earle fled; yet he returned at the South fyde of the Abay, quher the said Earll and his complifels slew his Maiesties Maister Stabler, named William Shaw, and one with him, named M^r Peeiter Shaw. Bot the King's folks took 8 men of Bothuill's factione; and one the morrow, hangit tham all, with out ane Afflyffe, betnix the Girth croffe and the Abay gaite.¹

[1591,
Sep. 6.]

(Dec. 28.)—THE King's Maiestie came to St' Geill's Kirk, and ther made ane Oratione, abent THE FRAY made by BOTHUELL, and WILLIAM SHAW'S SLAUGHTER, bes Maister Stabler.

(Feb. 7, 1591-2.)—THE EARLL OF HUNTLY came to the hous of Dunbristole in Fyffe, quher THE EARLL OF MURRAY, with a few bumber, wes for the tyme, being his auen houffe. The chiefie

¹ 'This tumult was called the first Road of the Abbey.'—Sir James Balfour's Annals, I. 390.

[1591-2,
Feb. 7.]

mane that ves with him ves Dumbar thriffe of Murray. The Earll of Huntley¹ fett the said houfs in fyre: The Earll of Murray being vithin, vift not quhither to come out and be flaine, or be burned quicke; yet, after advyment, this Dumbar fays to my Lord of Murray, ‘ I vill goe out at the gaitt befor your lordfhippe, and I am fure the peopell will chaarge one me, thinkeing me to be your lordfchip; fua, it being mirke vnder night, ye fall come out after me, and looke if that ye cane fend for your felue.’ In the meine tyme, this Dumbar, Tutor to the thriffe of Murray, came furth, and rane difperatly amonge the Earle of Huntlies folks, and thay all rane vpon him and presently flew him. During this broyllle vith Dumbar, the Earll of Murray cam running out at the gaitt of Dunebriffell, quhilke ftands beyde the fea, and ther fate him doune amonge the rocks, thinking to have beine faue; bot unfortunatly the said Lord’s enapefcull-tippett, quberone ves a filke ftringe, had taken fyre, vich bewrayed him to hes enimies in the darknes of the night, himfelue not knowing the fame; they came doune one him on a fuddaine, and ther moft creuelly, without mercey, murthered him.²

Feb. (12?)—AT quhilke tyme, one CAPITANE JOHNE GORDOUNE, takin upon the 12 of Februarij: Himfelue ves headitt, and hes man was hangitt.

(Feb. 28.)—RICHARD GRAHAME ves brunt at the Croffe of Edinburghe, for Vitcherafte and Sorcery.

(Mar. 18.)—ANE Proclamatiōne, that THE YOUNG EARLL OF MURRAY should not perfew THE EARLL OF HUNTLY, in refpect he, being vardit in the Blacknes for the fame Murder, ves villing to abyde ane trayell, faying, that ‘ he did nothing bot by hes Maiefties Commiffione, and fua ves nather airt nor pairt of the Murther.’

(May 12, 1592.)—THE EARLL OF BOTHUELL and hes complices ver denuncit rebells and fummond to the Parliament quhilke ves to be haldin at Edinburghe, the 12 day of Julay; quherin the said Earle, with all his quhole complices, wer all of them forfaitted.

(Jul. 17.)—THE EARLL OF BOTHUELL, with his complices, made a FRAY AT FALKLAND, hes Maieftie being ther: And thereafter, hes Maieftie cum over the vatter. And vpon the 26 day of this fame mounthe, hes Maieftie made ane Oratione concerning the fame, in the grate Kirke of Edinburghe. Imediatlie after the fray, Bothuell and hes men came ouer the vater; and ther ver 18 of them taken in Cader-mure, and in vther pairts neir Cader-mure, laying fleiping, for vant of reft and interteinment; and immediatly after ther taking, they were all brought to Edinburghe and hangitt.

(Jul. . . .)—AT the fame tyme the LAIRDS OF NIDRIE and SAMUELSTONE, ver takin by Johne Lord Hamiltone, and vardit in the Caftell of Draffin, and came to Edinburghe, thinking to haue gottin grace to them from his Maieftie. He came doune to hes Maieftie’s lodging at the Nether-bow, and going in to Mr Johne Laings hous, quher hes Maieftie lodgett, the gaurd ftandeing aboue the port vith ther hagbutts, guns and uther veapons; the forsaid gaurd, feing my Lord Hamiltone, for honor of his Lordfchipe, fhott ane volley at my lord: Ther ves ane man, fpeiking to hes lordfchipe, fhott through the head; ane vther, by him, fhott through the legge; and ane bullet ftrooke the lintell of the gaitt, iuft aboue my lord’s head quher he floode; yet no more harme donne: So that, by meir accident, the said Lord Hamiltone had moft haue beine flaine, and not through aney ciuill vill. The Lord Hamiltone, feeing that he could gett no grace to the said tuo gentlemen, he fent vord to hes baitard fone Schir Johne, quho convoyed the said tuo gentlemen away, and vent vithe them him felue, for their more fafety.

(Jul. 31.)—FRANCIS HAY EARLL OF ERROLE ves put in vard in the Caftell of Edinburgh, for Papiftry

(Oct. 18.)—THE EARLL OF ANGUS vardit for Papiftry.

(Nov. 7.)—HES Maieftie did receaue againe THE LAIRD OF NIDRIE in his fauor, and reftorit him to his former dignity and eftait.

¹ ‘ It was giuen out and publickly talked, that the Earle of Huntley was the only instrument of perpetrating this facte, to fatisfie the Kingis jefolie of Murray; quhom the Queine, more rashlie then wyslie, some few dayes before, had commendit in the King’s heiringe, with too maney epithetts, of a proper and gallant man.’—Balf. Annals, I. 390.
² ‘ Vpon the 7 day of Februarii 1592, the Earle of Murray was slaine by the Earle of Huntly, maist creuelly, at Dunnybristle; and with him the Sheriffe of Murray.’—Marj. Annals, p. 56.

(Nov. 17.)—THE LADEY OF BOTHUELL ves received into his Maiesties fauor.

(Nov. 18.)—ANE Proclamatiōne, that no man receaeuid the EARLE OF BOTHUELL ; and siclyke, [1592,
Nov. 17.] that all thoffe that had receaued hes Maiesties fauor, quho had bene with the Earll of Bothuell, should not come neir his Maiestie vithin 20 milles, vnder the paine of death.

(Nov. 23.)—ANE Proclamatiōne, that no man should receatt THE COUNTESSE OF BOTHUELL, giue her interteinment, or to haue aney commerce or society vith her, in aney cais ; quha had beine bot fo laity receaued in his Maiesties fauor befor, viz. one the 17 day of the fame mounthe. Behold the changes of Courte !

(Nov. 30.)—JOHNE CACHOUNE ves beheidit at the Croffe of Edinburghe, for Murthering of his auen brother the LAIRD OF LUSSE.

(Dec. 2.)—CAPITANE JAMES STEUARTE¹ came to the King, quho had beine banished since the Read (Raid) at Streiueling befor, wich wes aboute the 1 day of Nouember 1585.

(Dec. 17.)—THE MINISTERS ver accusit by the King for opiu Treaffone, in speiking aganis hes Maiestie ; yet hes gooduefs past it ouer at that tyme.

(Dec. 31.)—MR GEORGE KER ves broght to Edinburghe out of Calder, and putt in vard, for cariing of Letters out of the countrey frome the Papists to the King of Spaine.

(Jan. 1. 1592-3.)—THE EARLL OF ANGUS ves commandit to vard in hes auen ludging, and straitly keipit till the morrou, and then ves convoyet to the Castell of Edinburgh, for sending Letters to Spaine to the Spanisch King, vith M^r George Ker.

(Jan. 3.)—ANE Proclamatiōne to resist THE PAPISTS ; and all men to stand to the Religione presently professed vithin this realme ; in vich his Maiestie hes beine brought vp into frome bis youth : And siclyke, charging all suspected Papists to come and subfcryue ane Band, that they fall not liue as Papists, bot in Religione conforme to that presently professed.

(Feb. 8.)—THE EARLLS OF HUNTLEY and ERROLE ver denuncit rebels and putt to the home, for not compeiring to subfcryue the Band concerning Religione.

(Feb. 14.)—SCHIR ALEXANDER STEWART and MR JOHNE GRAHAME sles be SCHIR JAMES SANDILANDIS at the fitt of Leithe wynd.

(Feb. 15.)—THE EARLE OF ANGUS brake ward out of the Castell of Edinburghe ; quha hade beine in, sen the first of Januar befor, for sending Letteres to Spaine.

(Feb. 17.)—DAUID GRAHAME beheidit at the Croce, for opin Treafone, callit Lord of Fentres.

(Mar. 15.)—THE KING'S MAIESTIE came hame fra THE NORTHE, quhair he haid beine sex veikis befor, and haid causit cast doune the palace of Strabogie, and ane place callit the Slanis, ane place callit the Newtoun, and ane place for the tyme quhilk belongit to M^r Walter Lyndefay, callit the Brumbous, vith ane hous of Sir Johne Ogilveis callit the Craige. His Maiestie had with him 5 bandis of men of weir out of Edinburghe, Capitanes George Todridge, James Inglis, James Williamfone, and C. Dauidson and Geddes.

(Mar. 20.)—ANE Proclamatiōne at the Croce, chairing the EARLIS OF HUNTLE, ANGUS, ERROLE, with diuers GENTLEMEN and IRISMEN of THE ILLIS, to compeir to the Parliament for diuers poyntis of Treafoun.

(May 19. 1593.)—KATHERINE MUIRHEID brunt for Vitchcraft ; and quha confest fundrie poyntis thairof.

(Jun. 4.)—THE LAIRD OF JONESTOUNE brak ward out of the Castell of Edinburghe.

(Jun. 20.)—MR GEORGE KER brake waired out of the Castell.

(Jul. 21.)—THE Parliament haldin ; the EARLE OF BOTHUELL forfaultit, and his armes rewine² at Croce of Edinburghe be the Heraldis.

¹ Quho called himselue Earle of Arran.—Balf. Ann. I. 392.

² Torn and defaced.

[1593,
Jul. 24.]

(Jul. 24.)—At 8 hours in the morning, the EARLE OF BODWELL, the LAIRD OF SPOTT, MR WILLIAME LESLIE and MR JOHN COLVILL, came in to the King's chalmer, weil provydit with pistoll. This Earle with his complices come not this way, provydit with pistollis and drawin swordis, to harme the Kingis Majestie any wayis; bot becaus he could not get prefence of his Maiestie, nor speiche of him, for the Homes, quho wer courteouris with the King, and enimeis to the said Earle Bodwell; sua thai cam in into hes Maiesteies chalmer, resolweing thame selff not to be haldin bak till thai fould have spokin with him: And sua, after thai come in, his Maieftie wes comming fra the bak stair and his breikis in his hand, in ane feir; howbeit he neidit not. The foirsaid Earle Bodwell and his compleffis fell vpon thair knies, and beggit mercie at hes Maieftie; and his Maieftie, being wyfe, merciful, a noble Prince of grate pitie, not defyrour of bluid, grantit thame mercie, and refautit thame in his fawour: And at 4 hours efter none, causit proclame thame his frie ledgis. And vpon the 27 day, the same Proclamatione of the Earle of Bodwellis peace wes renewit at the Croce, with Heraldis and sex trumpettis founding for joy.

(Aug. 10.)—ANE new alteratioun oferid againe.

(Sep. 20.)—THE said EARLE BODWELL chairgit be ane Proclamatione at the croce, that he fould not come vithin 10 myllis to the Kingis Maieftie, vnder the pane of deathe.

(Oct. 11.)—THE Kings Maieftie ryding to ane day of Law, the excommunit Lordis mett him; quhom he refautit in his favoris, viz. HUNTLIE, EROLE, ANGUS, Schir JAMES CHISSIM, with fundrie wtheris.

(Oct. 31.)—ANE CONVENTIOUNE haldin at Leithe, for the same purpos, concerning Angus, Huntlie and Errole and thair compleffis.

(Nov. 2.)—ANE Proclamation, that na man truble the said PAPISTIS LORDIS, bot to refaue thame and interteine thame as his faithfull and trew subiectis, as thai will be anfueraill to him.

(Nov. 7.)—SMETOUNE hangit, for braking of ward, with Mr George Ker, out of the Castell of Edinburgh.

(Eodem die.)—ANE Proclamatione that na man fould repair to the toune of Edinburgh, without leue grantit be his Maieftie; quhilk Proclamatione greiuit the tonne, and speciallie the Ministeris.

(Nov. 27.)—ANE Proclamatione of the Act of Abolitioun in fauouris of the PAPIST LORDIS.

(Dec. 7.)—THE LORD MAXWELL flaine be the Laird of Jhonstoun.¹

(Dec. 11.)—THE EARLE BODWELL put to the horne; quhilk day the said Earle Bothwell and KER OF SESFUIRD met and faucht twa for twa.

(Dec. 27.)—THE EARLE OF BODWELL, nor the LAIRD OF JONESTOUNE, na man fould refait thame, nor give them interteinment.

(Jan. 22, 1593-4.)—THE Act of Abolatioun quhilk wes maid, null and to na effect.

(Feb. 19.)—PRYNCE HENRIE wes borne, at the pleafour of Almighty God, quhilk day befell on Tuyfday.²

(Mar. 13.)—HIS MAIESTIE come to Mr Robert Briuffe preiching, being Sunday; quhair Mr Robert Bruce said to hes Maieftie, that 'God wald fleir up na (more) Bodwellis nor (than) ane, that wes enimies to him nor (than) Bodwell; if he reuengit not and faucht not Godis quarrell and battelis on the Papistis, before he faucht or reueng his awine particular.'

¹ 'In the mounth of December 1593, Sir Johnne Houstone (mistake for Jhonstone) of that ilk slew Johnne Lord Maxwell, quha had betrayed the Laird of Houstone (Jhonstone) under frendshipe and alliance; and it was rumored, that he had purchased ane Commissione of the King to pas vpon the Laird of Houstone (Jhonstone) with fyre and suord, albeit that they war sworn frinds and bound vpe in alliance and of bloode; and in ane veray grate persuit, the Laird of Houstone (Jhonstone) slew him in his auen just defence.' Marj. Annals, p. 57.—'This yeir endit with the Lord Maxwells slaughter by the Laird of Jhonston, the 6 of this mounth of December.' Balf. Ann. I. 334. ² 'Vpone Tuesday at 5 hours in the morning, the 9 day of Februarij 1593, Anna, daughter to the King of Denmarke, and Queeine of Scotland, wes deliuered of ane sone to King James the Sext, in Streueling, the 4 yeir after her coming in Scotland, the 27 yeir of the said King James raing and 28 of his age.'—Marj. Annals, p. 58.

(Apr. 3, 1594)—THE KING, being ludgit in Robert Gourlayis ludging, he come to the fermone; and thair, in prefens of the hail peiple, he promeit to reveng Godis caus, and to baniſhe all the PAPISTIS and thair requyſit the hail peiple to gang with him aganis Bodwell, quha wes in Leithe for the tyme. The ſame day, the Kingis Maieſtie rais and the toune of Edinburgh in armes. THE EARLE OF BOTHWELL, quha wes in Leith, heiring that his Maieſtie wes cumming doune, with the toune of Edinburgh, he reaſe with his fyue hunder horſe, and come out of Leithe and raid up to the Halkhill, beſyde Lexington (Reſialrig), and ther ſtuid till he ſaw the King and the toune of Edinburgh approching neir him. He drew his companie away throw Duddingſtoun. My Lord Home followit till the Wowmit; at quhilk place the Earle Bodwell turnit, thinking to have a bet of Home; bot Home ſled and he followit; yit, be chance, little bluid. The Kingis Maieſtie ſtud himſelf, and ſeing the ſaid chaité.¹

(Apr. 5.)—SICLYKE, the King raid out to haue tane Bothwell, bot gat him not.

(Apr. 29.)—WILLIAME HEGIE hangit, for reſaueing the Earl of Bothwell.

(May 17.)—MY LORD HOME maid his repentance wnto the New Kirk, befor the Aſſembly. ypone his kneis.

(Jun. 8.)—THE Parliament haldin; at quhilk tyme, the Earles of ANGUS, HUNTLIE, ERROLE, MACKLEN, MACKONEILL and AUCHINDOUNE wer all forfeaulted.

(Aug. 30.)—THE PRINCE baptized, and named HENREY FREDERICK, by the grace of God.²

(Sep. 16.)—ANE Proclamatione that nae man refait nor intertene THE EARLE BODWELL.

(Sep. 17.)—ALLANE ORME³ hangit for intertenuing of the Earle of Bodwell.

(Sep. 24.)—JOHNE GIBSONE hangit, and James Cochrane hangit, for intertenuing of the Earle of Bodwell.

(Oct. 3.)—THE BATTELL OF GLENLIUET⁴ fouchin betuix the Earl of Argyll, Generall for the King, aganis the EARLIS of HUNTLIE and ATHOLL and thair aſſoſiatis. The ſcheiffe, of not,⁵ that wes flene on Huntlie and Atholl fyid, wer, the Laird of Gight, Aſſinlie, Mr William Gordone, the Guidman of Dorth (Dort) and hes ſone. This Dorth was brother to Abergeldie. Thre brethren of Tillaoundey, and the younge Laird of Drumdelgie.

(Oct. 15.)—THE CAPITANE OF BLACKNES wes hangit, for reſaueing and intertenuing the Earle Bodwell.

(Dec. 4.)—ANE Proclamatione, chairing all men not to haue to doe with the Earle Bodwell.

(Eodem die.)—CAPITANE RALLIE hangit for counterſetting the Grait Seall aganis the mercheantis.

(Jan. 13, 1594-5.)—GEORGE MWR hangit, for ſlaing of twa Miniſters, viz. Mr David Blayth and ane Aikman.

(Jan. 19.)—THE young EARLE OF MONTROIS faucht anc combat with SCHIR JAMES SANDLANDIS at the Salt Trone of Edinburgh, thinking to haue revengit the Slauchter of his cuſine Mr Johne Grahame, quha wes thair ſlaine with ane ſhot of ane piſtoll, and four of his men flane with ſwordis, viz. Johne Craufurd, Johne Graham, George Dundas and Alexander Boner.

¹ Marjoribanks dates this affair the 2d of March, and ſays, ‘The King, all this tyme of the chace, was ſtanding ypone the Borrow-mure of Edinburgh.’—Annals, p. 59.

² This ceremony took place at Stirling, within the Chapel Royal. David Cunninghame Biſhop of Aberdeen officiated. For a particular account of this ſplendid ceremonial, ſee ‘A True Reportarie of the moſt triumphant and royal accompliſhment of the Baptiſme of the moſt excellent, right high and mightie Prince, Frederik Henry, by the grace of God, Prince of Scotland. Solemnized, the 30 day of Auguſt 1594. Printed by R. Walde-graue Printer to the K. Maieſtie. Cum Privilegio Regali.’ Quarto, Black Letter, pp. 30. This remarkable Edition was purchaſed, by James Maidment, Eſquire, at the ſale of the Library of the late Archibald Conſtable, Eſquire, who conſidered it Unique. One other copy, however, is known to have been in the Royal Library at Copenhagen. Several Reprints were published early in the next century. See alſo Birch’s Life of Henry Prince of Wales, &c.

³ ‘Brother to the Laird of Mugdum, (Mugdrum).’—Balf. Ann. i. 395.

⁴ ‘At this tyme, thair wes grate appearence of troubells in Scotland, throughe the forfeaulted Earlls of Huntly and Errole; quha with ther complices gadrett anc grate pouer of men againſt the Earlle of Argyll, being the King’s lieutenant, and faught ane grate Battell in the North, near Strathbolgie, at ane part called the Ledderfute; wich battel was called by ſome the field of Glenliuet, and by others the battle of Belriunes, &c.’ Marj. Annals, p. 60. See alſo, in Dalryell’s Poems of the Sixteenth Century, ‘The Battell of Belriunes.’ And MS. Adv. Library, W. 3, 19.

⁵ The chief perſons of note.

[1594-5,
Feb. 14.]

(Feb. 14.)—ANE of the Keiperis of the Wardes, in the Castell of Edinburgh, wes hangit, for latting the Earle of Angus out of ward.

(Feb. 18.)—HERCOLLES STEWART hangit, and ane Johne Syme, for bearing companie and intertenuing his awin brother, and the Earle of Bodwell.

(Feb. 23.)—THE EARLE BODWELL excommunicat.

(Mar. 10.)—ANE horrible tempest of snaw, quiche lay vpon the grund till the 14 of Apryll thairefter.

(Maij 26, 1595.)—JOHNE GILCRYST, Henderfone and Huttoone, all thrie hangit, for making of fals wrettis and presing to warifie (verify) the same.

(Jun. 11.)—ANE callit CUMING THE MUNCKE, hangit, for making of ffalfe wrettis.

(Jul. 19.)—JAMES LAIRD OF ENDERMARKIE and his seruand heidit, as partakeris of the MURDER OF THE EARLE OF MURAY and Patrik Dumbar, in Danniburfell in Fyff; quaha wer flaine the 7 of Februar 1591.

(Aug. 14.)—CRISTIANE JOHNSTOUNE, ane widdow in Edinburgh, rareft be Patrick Aikenheid. The toune wes put in ane grait fray be the ringing of the commone bell. The said Cristiane wes followit and brocht back fra him; swa that the said Patrik got no advantage of hir.

(Sep. 15.)—JOHNE MACKMORRANE flene be the schot of ane pistoll out of the Scholl; this Johne Macmorane, being Baillie for the tyme. The bairnis of the said Gramer-scooll came to the Tounis Counsell, conforme to thair yeirlic custome, to seek the priuledge; quaha wes refusit: Upone the quhilk, ther wes ane number of scollaris, being gentilmennis barnis, made ane mutinie, and come in the nicht and tuik the scooll, and provydit thame selfis with meit, drink, and hagbutis, pistolit and sword: They ramforcit the dores of the said scooll, swa that the refusit to lat in thair Maister nor na wthir man, without they wer grantit thair priuledge, conforme to thair wountit vfe. The Prouost and Bailzes and Counsell heiring tell of the same, thai ordanit Johne Mackmorane balzie to goe to the Gramour-scooll, and tak sum ordour thairwith. The said Johne, with certane officeris, went to the Hie scooll, and requysit the scollaris to oppin the doris: Thay refusit. The said Bailzie and officeris tuik ane geist (joist or beam) and ran at the bak dore with the geast. Ane scollar bad him desist frome dinging vp the doir, wtherwayis, he wouit to God, he sould schute ane pair of bullettis throw his heid. The said Bailzie, thinking he durst not schute, he and his assistaris ran still with the geast at the said doir. Thair came ane scollar callit William Sinklar, sone to Williame Sinklar chanfler of Catnes, and with ane pistollet schot out at ane window, and schott the said Bailzie throw the heid, swa that he diet presentlie. The haill tounis men rane to the scooll, and tuik the said bairnis, and pat thame in the Tolbuithe: Bot the haill bairnis wer lattin frie, without ane hurte done to thame for the same, within ane schort tyme thairefter.

(Sept. .) —THE LADIE BODWELL refusit in fanour with the King, in Glasgou.

(Oct. 20.)—GILBERT LAWDER flaine, in Linlithgow, be the Cranstounis.

(Nov. 22.)—FOUR HERALDIS sitting drinking, twa of thame fell in words, viz. John Purdie and Johne Glaidstanis, the said Johne Glaidstanis stikit Johne Purdie at the table: And the said Glaidstanis being apprehendit, he wes beheidit vpon the 25 day of the same moneth of November, for the same slauchter.

(Dec. 3.)—THE LADIE BODWELL banischt yit anes agane. Bot within sex dayis thairafter, the said Ladie purchit ane Letter of paice, subseruyit be his awin Maiesties hand.¹

(Jan. 5, 1595-6.)—ANE Proclamatione, declaring perpetuall PEACE betwix Scotland and England; and that nane of the Bordereris invaid ane another, wnder the pane of deathe. Sic lyik, at this same tyme, the generall mufteris proclaimed to be haldin the 2 of Februar nixt.

¹ Amongst the constancies of the Courte this yeire, one was remarkeable; that at Glasgou, in September, the King receauit the Countesse of Bothuell to his fauor the 22d day at night; and one the 3d of December, agane proscriued and exyled her, wnder the paine of death; yet gaue her a Letter of Protection, wnder his auen hand, within 6 dayes thairefter. Balf. Ann. i. 398.

[1595-6,
Jan. 5.]

(Mar. 2).— CAMPBELL OF ARKINLES wes tane for the Slaughter of Campbell Laird of Cadder: And on the 4 day, he thollit ane Affyise; and contenuit day till day, till the 8 of Apryill, he wes convyit to the Blaknes till ward; and at lengthe he wes maid frie.

(Apr. 6, 1596).—THREE men hangit, viz. PATRICK DOUGLAS, PATRICK BYDE and ane SYME. This Douglas wes a theiff or murderer and brunt; and haid contentit long wnfufspekit to, be ony man.

(Eodem die.)—THE LAIRD OF BUCKCLEUCH past to the Castell of Carlell with 70 (men) and tuik out Will Kymmonthe out of the said Castell; the said Will lyand in ironis, within the irone yett. This he did with schowting and crying and found of trumpet; putand the said toune and contrie in sick ane fray, that the lyik of sick ane waffaledge wes nevir done since the memorie of man, no in Wallas dayis!

(Apr. 14).—MR WILLIAM SCHAW wes strukin throche the bodie with ane raper, be FRANCES MOWBRA, sone to the Laird of Barnbougall.

(Maii 31).—ANE Proclamatioune, chairgeing all men betuix 60 and 16 to be in radines, betuix that and the first day of August, to pas with the King to the Iyllis.

Trial of the Earls of Huntlie and Errol ordered.

Maij 24, 1596—(Apud Haliruidhous.)—The Kingis Maiestie, haueing oftymes tane grite panes and traellis for quieting of the troublit estate of the North Cuntrey, kytheit be the effectis that followit vpoun the personis and levingis and houffes of the principall authouris of the said trouble; besydis the expelling of thame selfis furth of the cheif pairtis and placeis quhair thay maid thair commoun residence: In end, it wes thoct meit be his Maiestie, his Counsaile, noblemen and baronis of the cuntrey, and vthiris resident with his hienes for the tyme, that befor his Maiesteis returning furth of the same cuntrey, his hienes sould constitute and appoint ane Lieutenant, to mak his residence and remaining thairin in his Maiesteis absence, for obviating and withstanding of all forder practizeis, gif ony sould preis tobe attemptit; and reducing and contenting of the inhabitantis thairof, vndir his Maiesteis obediens: And albeit findrie Noblemen, then present with his Maiestie, wer burdynnit to accept that charge vpoun thame, yit few or nane could be movit thairunto; sum excusing thame selfis be thair inhabilitie, and vthiris for want of present preparatioun; sua that delay of tyme in this cause being then thoct tobe verie dangerons, his Maiestie wes movit at last, of verie necessitie, to burdyn his darrest counsing LUDOUIK DUKE OF LENNOX Erll Darnelie Lord Torboltoun Methuene and Aubignie, with the said charge, eftir the same wes refuseit tobe acceptit be all personis then present with his hienes: Lyke as his Maiestie wes forceit to furneis him with a counsaill of certane noblemen, besydis forceis of horsmen and futemen, for the bettir executionn of that charge; quhairin he continewit almaist during all the tyme of that winter seasoun: And becaus it wes then thoct tobe verie troublesum and falsheons, and almaist vnpossible that he sould remane still in thay pairtis, furneit with the saidis forceis, seing the money appointit for that eirand with grite difficultie (could) be had: In end, he wes movit, of verie necessitie, be his Maiesteis allowance, to oversee the passing furth of this realme to the pairtis beyond sey of George sumtyme Erll of Huntlie, and Frances sumtyme Erll of Errole, cheif authouris of the said trouble, vpoun Bandis alwayes gevin that thay sould not returne agane within this realme, without his hienes speciall Licence; and that during the tyme of thair absens, thay sould not trafficque to the prejudice of the trew Religioun, presentlic professit within this realme, his hienes persone, crowne and estate; vndir certane pecuniall panes, mentionat in the saidis Bandis maid thairupoun: And in respect thair of, to promeis lykwayes, be his hienes allowance, that the pointis foirfaidis of the said Band being obseruit and keipit, thair wyffis in that caise fould haue intromiffioun with thair rentis and leving, during the tyme of thair absens: Quhilk promeis, his Maiestie, his nobilitie, counsale and esteatis presentlie conuenit, findis, that his hienes can nawayes violat, without spott and dirogatioun of his princelie honour: AND thairfoir hes Suspendit, and be the tennour heirof Suspendis all forder executioun tobe vsit aganis the saidis sumtyme Erlis, tuicheing the Intromiffioun with thair rentis and leving, ay and quhill eftir tryale it falbe fundin and declairit, that thay haue trafficque to the prejudice of the said trew Religioun, as his Maiestie is informit; quhilk tryale his hienes fall tak and caus be tane, be-tuix and the feist of Lambmes nixtoecum; quhairvnto findrie of the Ministerie, being now personalie present, promittit to hald hand: And incais, eftir tryale, it falbe onywayes foundin, that thay haue had trafficque, to the prejudice of the said trew Religioun, and consequentlie aganis his Maiestie, his persone, crowne and Estate, or vthirwayes to haue contraenit ony parte of the said Band, aganis the tennour of the samin; then and in that caise, not onlie fall his hienes caus intromiffioun to be had with thair rentis and leving, and the samin haillelie inbrocht to his hienes vse; bot lykwayes, thair cautionaris falbe callit and perfewit for contrauentioun of the saidis Bandis, and the panes contenit thairintill vptakin of thame, with all rigour and extremitie, in example of vtheris.

(Dec. 16, 1597.)—AN Act of Parliament was passèd, Reducing the Forfeitures of the Earls of Huntlie, Angus and Errol, and of vmq^{le} Sir Patriek Gordoun of Auchindoun kn^t, for not entering in ward and obeying the charge of Treason, Mar. 8, 1593: And also Reducing the Doom of Forfeiture, pronounced Jun. 8, 1594: It likewise Restored them to their lands, honours, dignities, offices and estates, &c. Acta Parl. 1597, fol. 123, &c.

(Dec. 16.)—Another Act was passèd, abolishing ‘all actionn and accusatioun, payne, penaltie and pwnillement following thairvpoun, competent to his hienes aganis the saidis persons, or ony of thair compliceis or assistaris, for ony fact or deid committit be thame or ony of thame, thair compliceis and assistaris foirfaidis, sen the first day of Maij 1592 5eiris.’—(Jun. 30, 1598.) The Earl of Angus got a ‘Commission’ from Parliament, appointing him ‘his hienes Lieutenant and Justice within the boundis of the Eisl, Middill and West Marcheis of this realme, foiranent England, and all the scherefdomes of the samyn; togidder with the scherefdomes of Poblis, Selkirk, Eist Lowthiane, Niddifdaill, Galloway, Kyle, and Ouer Ward of Cliddifdaill, allweill to burgh as to landwart, regalitie as ryaltie, (the inhabitants of the burrowis of Air and Irwing onlie except); and that during his hienes will allanerlie: And siclyke, Wardane and Justice within the boundis of the said West Marche and scherefdomes and burrowis apperteing thairto, for the space of ane yeir nixtoecum.’—(Jul. 31, 1598.) The Earl of Angus accepted this Office, and promised faithful discharge of his duties, &c.]

Sir Walter Scott of Branxholme's relieving Kinnmont Mill out of the Castle of Carlisle, &c.¹

ACT anent the LAIRD of BUCKCLEUCH, &c.

May 25.—(Apud Haliruidhous.)—ANENT the demand maid in name and for the Kingis Maiesteis darrest Suster the Quene of England, be Robert Bowis hir ambassadour, heir resident, flor redres tobe gevin to hir of the allegeist outrageous fact done be Schir Walter Scott of Branxholme knicht and his compliceis, at the Castell of Carlile, proportand: That florfaemekle as the said Schir Walter, knawne to be a publict officiar, with his saidis compliceis, vpoun the xiiij day of Aprile lastbipast, in weirlyke maner and hostilitie invadit hir Majesteis realme of England, assailzeit violentlie hir Castell of Carlile and subjectis, and committit vtheris haynons offenfis contrair to the league and amitie betuix the tua realmes; gevand thairby aue just and manifest occasioun of violatioun of the same: Thairfoir requiring the said Schir Walter tobe baith deulie fylit for his fact, and delyuerit to his said darrest iuster, to suffir the panes tobe execute vpoun him for the samin; as the said demand at mair lenth proportis.

¹ See Acta Parl. 1596, fol. 99.

The said Schir Walter, being lauchfullie warnit, and compearand personalie befoir his Maiestie, his nobilitie, counsaile and esteatis presentlie conuenit, and the said fact being havelie layed to his charge be the Kingis Majestie—ffor justifeing of his awne parte, denyit that euir he had ony intentionn to invade the realme of England, or to assailzie ony of his said darrest iusteris houffis: Lyke as, na deidis of hostilitie, sic as slauchter, depredatioun of guidis, fyre rasing, or taking of prisonairis, nor yit the actuall taking, or his intentionn to tak the said Castell, is relevantlie qualifeit aganis him in the said demand; bot that he allanerlie simpillie recouerit Williame Armestrang of Kynmouth, ane subject of Scotland, furth of that parte of the Castell of Carlile, quhair maist injustlie he wes detenit for the tyme; as maist wrangullie he had bene tane ofbefoir, within the realme of Scotland, be Thomas deputie to the Lord Scrope Wardane of England, accompanyed with a force of sax hundreth armet men, within the tyme of ane general assuurance, takin at a day of trew; to the quhilk the said Williame had repairit, at the speciall command of the said Schir Walter, in quhais name, as Keipar of Liddisdale, the said day of trew wes keipit: Be the quhilk breking of the assuurance, the said Schir Walter ressaivit ane oppin and manifest injurie, to the dishonour of his Majestie his souerane, and of the realme of Scotland: Quhilk dishonour and wrang can not justlie be excuseit, he pretens of the said Williames stopping of the following of ane lauchfull tred, feing the said forme of following wes nawayes lauchfull; and albeit it had bene lauchfull, yit the stopparis thairof could not lauchfullie haue bene takin be the said Inglish deputie, at his awne hand, within the realme of Scotland: Quhairby it is evident, that the onlie wrang quhilk wes in all this mater, wes committit be the said Lord Scrope and his deputie, be invading the realme of Scotland in weirlyke maner, and taking of prisonairis within the same, in tyme of peace, and vndir assuurance of a day of trew, as said is: In quhilk the said Wardane continewit, be his wrangous detening of the said prisonair and refusall of redres, eftir lauchfull requisitoun maid to him for that effect, be Lettres sent to him be the said Schir Walter, and als be the said Ambassadour at his Majesteis requeist, eftir that the said Schir Walter, vpoun the said Wardane of England his denyale of justice, had maid baith sute to the said Ambassadour and als his humble complaint to his Majestie: Quhilk wrang and denyale of justice, movit the said Schir Walter to attempt the simple reconerie of the said prifonair, in sic moderat ane fassoun as wes possible to him: being onlie accompanyed with fourefeoir horsemen, and vndir silence of nicht, without ony vther deid of hostilitie done be him for the tyme; quhilk simple recouerie of the said prifoner, mon necessarlie be estemit lauchfull, giff the taking and detening of him wes vnlauchfull, as without all questioun it wes, and mon be swa estemit be all ressonable and indifferent personis.—For the quhilkis ressonis, the said Ambassadouris demand to fyle and delyuer the said Schir Walter, to suffir panes for the said fact, is altogidder vnressonable, and wald tend gritlie to the dishonour of his Majestie and his hail realme.

Quhilkis ressonis being at length hard and confidderit be his Majestie, his nobilitie and esteatis foirfaidis, it wes thocht maist meit and comuenient be thame, that conforme to the ancient treaties of peace and custum obseruit betuix the realmes, this mater of mutuall allegiances of notour injureis done betuix the officiaris of the twa realmes aucht and sould be intreatit be Commissionaris; quhilk his Majestie is maist willing and promittis for his hienes parte, with all possible diligence, to send to meit vpon the bordour, for tryale of the saidis allegeit wrangis, and making of redres for all extraordinair wrangis quhilkis falbe tryit to be done be his Majesteis subiectis, at sic tyme and place as falbe condiscendit vpon: The said Ambassadour being reddy to caus the lyke be done for the parte of England: Vnto the quhilk Commissionaris his Majestie fall giff expres command to caus mak full satisfioun and redres, conforme to the ancient treaties of peace; to the effect, that now, in sa necessar ane tyme, quhen the hail Ile is minassit be the commoun inemey, thair be na just occasioun, for his Majesteis parte, of breking of the happie amitie quhilk salang hes continewit betuix the tua realmes.

[Mr Robert Leirmond and Mr Johnne Campbell, Justices-Deputes.]

Resetting and Intercommuning with Bothwell after his Forfeiture.

Maij 29. 1596.—DAME AGNES SINCLER COUNTES (DOWAGER) OF ERROLE.¹

Dilatit of the tresonabill Trafficking and Resfauing fra frances sumtyme Erle Bothwell, sen his sforfaltour; and speciallie, sen his passing furth of the realme.

Comperit M^r Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne and William Heart of Livielandis, aduocattis to our souerane lord, and produceit ane Warrant of his ¹ She was daughter of George, fourth Earl of Caithness, and second wife of Andrew, seventh Earl of Errol.

Maieftis, to the Juftice to proceed, and the Aduocattis to infift in hir perfute ; defyring to be regiftrat, quhairof the tennour followis.

WARRANT to purfue and to adminifter Juftice.

REX,

JUSTICE, Juftice Clerk and your Deputis, and Aduocate ; We grete you wele. Forfamekill as We haif appointit this day, for ye perfute and tryell of Dame Agnes Sincler Countes of Errole, of certane crymes of Treffoun, quhairof ſhe is dilatit and ſuſpect : It is our will pairfoir, and We command you our ſaid Juftice, Juftice Clerk and your deputtis, to proceed and miniſter iuſtice vpon hir, conforme to ye Lawes of our realme : And pat ye our Aduocate infift in ye perfute of hir : As ye will anſuer to ws pairvpon : Quhairanent hir prefentis falſe to you a warrand. Subſcryueit with our hand, At Halyrudehous, ye xxix day of May, 1596.

(Sic ſubſcribitur)

JAMES R.

Comperit the ſamin day M^{ris} Johnne Scharp and Johnne Nicholfoun, aduocattis and proloquitouris for the ſaid Dame Agnes, and produceit ane Warrand, deliuerit be the Lordis of ſeffioun, charginge thame to compeir in hir defence : quhilk charge was vfit be James Chalmer Maſer ; and defyrit the ſame to be regiftrate, quhairof the tennour followis.

SUPPLICATION and WARRANT for Advocates to defend the Counteſs of Errol.

MY Lordis of Counſale, vnto your ll. humilie menis and ſchawis, We your ſeruitouris, Dame Agnes Sincler Countes of Errole and Alexander Gordoun of Strawawin¹ my ſpous, for his intereſ. That quhair, we are to be accuſit this day, befoir ye Juftice and his deputis, for Allegeit Intercommoning with Frances ſumtyme Erle of Bothwell, or for ſum vthir forgeit crymes, quhairof as ye Lord knowis We ar maift innocent : And albeit for ye better defence of our innocencie pairanent, and for proponing of our lawfull defenceis, it be neidfull to ws to haif certane Aduocattis to procure pairintill, We being to be accuſit on our lywes ; and pat ye haifing of preloquitouris in ſic materis is permiſſibill and accuſtomit of ye Law and daylie practice ; nochtpeles, pair will name of ye Aduocattis procure for ws in ye ſaid materis, without your ll. command. Heirfore we beſeke your ll. pat we may haif command to M^{ris} John Scharp, John Ruffell and John Nicholfoun aduocattis, to compeir befoir ye Juftice and his deputis, and procure for ws in ye ſaidis materis, vpon our reſſonabil expenſis. According to Juſtice and your ll. anſuer, we beſeik.

APUD ED^l. xxix^o Majj 1596. Fiat ut petitur.

(Sic ſubſcribitur) . . . J. P. D. R. SECRETARIUS. Mr JAMES JOHNSTOUN.

PERSEWARIS, Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne, Mr William Heart of Livelandis.

PRELOQUITOURIS in defence, Mr Johnne Scharp, Mr Johnne Nicholfoun, Mr Johnne Ruffell.

The ſaid Dame Agnes requires of the Juge that ſhe may haif hir huſband to aſſiſt in hir defence.

The Juſtice findis hir ſufficientlie authoriſit with preloquitouris :—Allegeit, that hir huſband being in this toun, ſould be heir to aſſiſt.

FIRST, It is allegeit for the ſaid Dame Agnes, that the Dittay, anent the allegeit crymes contenit thairin, is generale, nocht condiscendand vpon the moneth of the committing of the allegeit crymes, preceſſie ; bot reſoluand alternatiue in ane of the xij monethes: quhowbeit he fuld preceisslie lybel the monethe, if the law, per legem Libellorum Diges. de Accusationibus.—Secundlie, Allegeit the Dittay to be alluterlie¹ irrelevant, infafar as the famin is confaut vpon the refait of onye Letteris fra the Lady Boithwell, being in the tyme lybellit in our fouerane lordis faifgard and protectioun: And quhair it was menit² that the tennour of the lettres was to fupport Frances funtyme Erle Bothwell, (nocht granting the veritie thairof), the defyre of fupport be onye of Boithwellis freindis can newir infer a tressoun aganis thame fra quhome the fupport is askit, except it had bene qualefeit that the said fupport was grantit; for albeit the defyre to fupport ane trattour may be tressonabill, yit the refuse of the fupport can nawyise be criminall. Thridlie, As to the last point, twicheing the allegeit resfaut of Lettres fra the Maister of Cathanes,³ (nocht grantand as said is,) repetis the former answer, with this additioun, that the Maister of Cathanes standis the Kingis subiect, newir being forfalt. Ferdlie, As to that point, twicheing of ane Obligioun inclofit within the Ladye Boithwellis Lettre, the famen is verrie irrelevant, nor inferris na cryme, except thair had bene fowmes delyuerit, for it may stand, that the Ladye Boithwellis Lettre being refufit, the famin with the Obligioun mycht be revin, as it was trew indeid. As to the qualificatioun of the conceling, quhair thair is na cryme thair is na conceling, for the conceling man be of a cryme.

¹ Strathowne, or Strathdon, the ſon of Alexander, third Earl of Huntly, and ancestor of the Gordons of Cluny.

The Aduocate answers to the ffirst allegiance, anent the generalitie of the tyme, that it aucht to be repellit; becaus the Dittay will stand releuant in onye day of the hail yeir, the Erle Boithwell standand forfalt all that yeir; and it being Tressoun to traffique for him, and to concele the famin: Answrand to the secund allegiance, fayis that it is nocht set down nakitlie in Dittay, that the Letteris was resfaut fra the Lady Boithwell, as the cryme quhairvpon the pannell is acufit; bot, that the Lettre contenit tressonabill traffiquing and procuring of money for my Lord Boithwell, than standand forfault. The resfauing and conceling thairof was lykwyffe Tressoun, in the persoun of the resfauear and concelar; becaus it is manifest of the law, that the knowlege and conceling of Tressoun is Tressoun. Quhair it is affermit be the pannell, that the Letter and Obligioun resfaut wes revin and brunt, the persewar acceptis the famin in quantum; and yit the famin purchessis nawyis the knowlege and conceling; becaus it wes nocht aneweh, in caise it had bene trew that the defender had rewun and diftroyit the saidis Lettre and Obligioune, (the contrar quhair of is maist trew;)

¹ Altogether, entirely.

² Complained.

³ John Master of Caithness, her brother, (who died in 1577,) married Dame Jean Hepburn, only daughter of Patrick third Earl of Bothwell, who was Francis Earl of Bothwell's mother. The person here alluded to might be John Master of Berriedale, son of William Lord Berriedale, and grandson of George fifth Earl of Caithness.

bot it behowit hir, of hir dewtie and alledgeance, to haif revelit the treffonabill directing thairof, and to haif manifestit hir awin innocencie, be refusall and reveling, and be deteining of the messingir quha wes in hir hous and power, sche haifing sic knowlege of his treffonabill travelling and traffiking in that mater; quhilk the Aduocat repetis, as ane anfuier to the haill alledgeance.

The Defender repetis hir former anfuier, and eikis thairto, that thair can nocht be ane concealing in Treffonne, quhair thair is nocht tractatus in Treffoun; tractus est duorum vel plurium in eodem consensu. Thair is na consent heir qualesfeit, that ony support wes grantit, 3e (yea) be the contrair, it wes refusit; and the propofitioun de fiendo subsidio and the refusing thairof nocht facit tractatum, itaque, thair is nather cryme nor concealing. The aduocat acceptis the alledgeance in quantum, and anfuieris, that the famin elydis nocht the Dittay, quhilk is nocht only foundit super tractatu, sed super silentio et celatione; and the Doctouris and speciallie Angelus affirmis, that the knowlege of ony kynd of Treffoun and concealing thairof, be him quha may preif it, is Treffoun: And trew it is, that my Lady Bothwellis wryting for money and supply to my Lord Bothwell hir husband, being the Kingis rebell, is Treffoun; quhilk being knawin to the defender, and habill to haif bene verefeit be the Lettres reslavit be hir fra my Lady Bothwell to that effect, hir concealing thairof is expres Treffoun: Lyke as, the lyke cryme wes fand Treffoun, in the pairt of David Home of Argattie, in anno 1584¹ or thairby; quha, for reding and concealing of ane Letter direct fra his brother-sone,² being thane foirfalt in Ingland, to ane of his awin tennentis, for support fra him of money and vtheris his privat effairis, wes thairvpoune put to ane Assyise, convict thairof and thairfore execute: And M^r Nicoll Dalgleisch,³ being accusit for reding of commendatiounis, writtin in ane Letter, fend be M^r Walter M^cCanquall to the said M^r Nicoll, in ane Letter writtin to the said M^r Walteris wyffe; the Dittay, foundit vpoun the said cryme, wes fund relevant; he wes put to the knowlege of ane Assyise, and he wes convict thairof. And this cryme specefeit aganis this present pannell, being mair odions of the selff and relevant of the law nor the said vthir crymes aboue mentionat, the famin aucht to be fand relevant, nochtwithstanding the haill alledgeance maid in the contrair.

The Defender anfuieris to the pretendit practikis, that thair is nane of thame produceit: and protestit, that before ony of thame be red be the judge or the King and Counfall, that thay may haif inspectioun of thame, that sche may anfuier thairto: And in caise ony sic thing wer as is alledgeit, it is nocht pertinent in this caise, speciallie M^r David Home of Argatie, quha is allegeit to haif red ane Letter, writtin be ane declarit Tratour: As to M^r Nicoll Dalgleifch, he wes newir convict. And forder, the Act of Parliament, maid att Lynlythqw in four-foir and fyve zeir (1585) retretis,¹ and for maist vrgent cauffis hes retretit all sic processis, and hes ordenit the memorie thair of to be bureit for ewir, that thay fould nocht be hard in judgement thaireftir.—Anfuerit the Aduocat, that the Act of Parliament, maid att Lynlythqw, contenis restitutiounes gratie et non juris; and albeit it haif redintegrat² the personis forfaltit being on lyff, and the posterite of thame being deceifit, to thair fame, honour and leivingis, yit it alterit nocht decisiones juris, foundit vpoun the Commoun Law and nocht vpoun particular Actis maid aganis the personis foirfaltit.

¹ See Dec. 8, 1584.

² Patrick Home, 'servitour' to the Earl of Mar.

³ Minister of St Cuthbert's, near Edinburgh. See Dec. 8, 1584.

The defender repetis the former anfuer, with the Act of Parliament and cauffis thairin contenit; quhilk Act of Parliament rescindis the hail processis, per expressum, as gif thair had bene speciall decreitis gewin vpoune ilkane of thame.

The Justice continewis to Monunday the last of Maij.

(Maij 31.)—The Justice continewis Interloquitour, in the alledgances proponit betuix the Lady Erroll and the Kingis Advocattis, to the secund of Junij nixtocum. [No farther entries occur in the Record.]

Slaughtering, selling, and eating of Flesh in time of Lent.

May 31.—WILLIAM BARRIE, flescheour in Dundee, and thirteen others ‘flescheouris’ of Dundee and Perth.

Dilatit of contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in slaing and eitting of flesch in Lentrone lastwas.

Only one of the pannell ‘fylit and convict;’ another continued to the aire of Perth; and the others found to be ‘cleane and acquit.’

Eating Flesh in time of Lent.

May 31.—[DAVID] ERLL OF CRAWFURD.

Mr John Halyday produceit the Kingis Licence, subscryuit be his Maiestie, granting the Erll of Crawford licence to eit flesche, and Thomas Stewart to mak reddie flesch, (in time of Lent).

The Aduocat allegis the Licence is null, in respect it is past but³ compositioun, and nocht conforme to the Act of Parliament.—The pannell alledgis, that na proces fould be led in this Judgement, becaus befor the criminall perfuit, ane precognitioune ciuile aucht (to have taken place), and it importit ane pecuniial pane allenarlie.—The Aduocat anfueris, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Act of Parliament, ordaining that the Thesaurar fall accuse thame, and being convict, thair escheitis and vulawis falbe tane vp.

¹ Lat. Retractare.

² Lat. Redintegrare.

³ Without.

[Mr Robert Leirmond, Justice-Depute.]

Child-Murder.

JUN. 1.—ISSOBELL PRATT, seruand to Cristopher Lyndefay in the Grange.

Dilatit of the crewall Murthour and slauchter of ane infant bairne, procreat betuix hir and John Abircrumbie wrycht, eftir the bairne wes quick borne; committit in the Grange the fewintein of Majj lastwas.

VERDICT. The Affyse, in ane voce, ffylis the said Issobell Pratt of the murderiffing of hir awin barne, be strangling of the barne, ane man chyld, be nipping of the bairnis chraig.¹

SENTENCE. ‘Fylit and Convict. Sufpen.’

Shooting with Daggs and Pistolets—Hurting and wounding.

JUN. 1.—JAMES CREYCHTOUN of Ruthvennis, Dauid Home his seruand, Stephin Currou of Logiemegle, Johnne Cuning in Glaswall and Abimilech Crech, burges of Edinburghe.

Dilatit of contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in bering and wering of (and schuting with dagis and) pistolettis; and hurting and wounding of John Ker, seruitour to Dauid Wod of Craig, in the body and rycht hand, George Ker in the heid, and James Ker in the left hand; and mutilatioun of the said James of twa fingeris of his left hand.

Comperit James Reid, Constabill of the Castell, and produceit ane Testimoniall subscryuit be Dauid Ramsay, Minister at Elyth and Ruthvennis, testifeing Cristopher Creychtoun in Megle and Alexander Creychtoun to be lyand deidlie hurt: And ALS, produceit the Kingis Precept, ordaining the Justice to continew the mater, vpoun fyftene dayis wairning, vpoun the said Cristopher and Alexander Creychtoun, in respect thay ar lyand deidlie woundit.—The Justice admittis the Kingis Warrant, the Thesaurar being present and consenting thairto.—Continued to the Aire of ‘Forfare, tertio Itineris, (vel super premonitione) xv dierum.’

Shooting with Pistolets—Hurting and wounding.

JUN. 2.—DAUID WOD of Craig, Mr James Wod, brother to the Laird of Craig, Robert Wod, broder to Thomas Wod in the Grange, and John Ker, seruitour to the Laird of Craig.

¹ Squeezing or pinching of the child's throat or windpipe, craig.—The same mode of suffocation which was recently practised by the infamous Burke and his gang, in the West Port of Edinburgh.

Dilatit of the hurting and wounding of Cristell (Christopher) Creychtoun, feruitour to James Creychtoun of Ruthvennis, be the schot of ane pistolet in the bodie and arme, to the effusioun of his blude in grit quantitie; and thairby, for contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in bering, wering and schuting with pistolettis; committit in March lastbypast.

It wes allegeit be Mr Johnne Scharp, aduocatt, that Dauid Wod of Craig can nocht be vnlawit for the entrie of Dauid Wod, sone to the Laird of Bonington, and George Ker, becaus Johnne Ducie, Minister of Monroise, testifeit to Walter Commendater of Blantyre (Treasurer), that thay wer vnable; quhilk was confest be the Thefaurar.—Continued to the Aire of ‘Forfar, tertio Itineris, xv dierum.’

[Mr James Fowlis, Justice-Depute.]

Murder—Theft.

JUN. 7.—JOHNE PENNYCUK in Dykemuke.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the crewall Murthour and Slauchter of vni^{le} Johnne Cowane; and of Hurting of Alexander Young in Cowter, and chaiffing of Cuthbert M^cClellen at the West Port of Edinburghe; and for airt and pairt of the thifteous steling of thre naigis fra thame; committit the xxij day of May lastbypast, &c.

PERSEWARIS, Robert Lord Sanquhar, Johnne Dryburcht in Ravinbauch, Williame Dryburcht thair, John Wauchop, baillie in Nudrie, Johnne Creychtoun of Bruntoun, Robert Miller in Stanyhill, Sir Archibald Naper of Edinbellie, kny^t, Mr Williame Hairt, aduocat.

VERDICT. The pannell is ‘fyllit’ of eight seperate acts of Theft, &c. and ‘for Common thift, commoune Reffett of thift, inputting and outputting of thift, bayth auld and new.’

SENTENCE. To be tane to the Gallows of the Borrow-muir, and thair to be hangit quhill he be deid; and his heid and rycht hand to be strikin off, and put and hung vponne the West-port; and all his movabill guidis to be escheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vs^e, &c.

[Mr Jacobus Fowlis Justiciarius, per Commissionem s. d. n. Regis constitut.]

Slaughter.

JUN. 8.—THOMAS GARDYN, sumtyme in Bandoch, now in Legatstoun.

Comperit James Guthrie of Gagye, and produceit our fouerane lordis lettres deulie execute and indorfate, purchest be Iffobel Wod Ladye Guthre, the relic; James Guthre of Gagye, Dauid and Gabriell Guthries, sones; with the kyn and freindis of vni^{le} Alexander Guthre of that ilk; to tak fouertie of Thomas Gardyn, sumtyme in Bandoch, now in Legatstoun, that he sould compeir befoir our Soueranis Justice and his Deputis this day and place, and vnderlye the law for art and part of the crewall slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Alexander Guthre of that Ilk; and desyrit proces thairvpoun, and protestit, that he as cautioner be relevit of his cautionarie.

Comperit Mr David Peirfoun, and produceit ane Warrant of his Maiesteis, datit at Lynlythqw, the ferd day of Junij instant, to desert the dyet; and desyrit that the famin be obayit; quhairof the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice-Clerk and your deputis, We grete you wele. Forfamekill as it is vnderstand to us pat our vtheris Lettres ar rasit, at the instance of the bairnis, kyn and freindis of vmq^{le} Alexander Guthre of that Ilk, and our Aduocattis for our intres, for calling of Thomas Gardyn of Bandoch to vnderlye our lawis befor you, vpoun the viij day of Junij instant, for art and part of the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Alexander, as our saidis Lettres at lenth beris: Nochtwithstanding quhairof, in respect We haif alreddie causit pat deidlie feid standing betuix the houffis of Gardyn and Guthre, amangis vtheris, to be assurit and submittit to certane of our Counsaile, Barrownis and Ministeris, for reconciliatioun and remouing pairof; all sic persuittis wald in the mene tyme be stayit pat may hinder the same: AND pairfoir it is our will, and We command you, pat vpoun the sycht heirof se desert the said dyet, appointit the said aucht day of Junij instant; and on nawyise vnlaw the said Thomas nor his cautionar for nocht entre pairat, bot desist fra all maner of proceding pairin; pat according to the submissioun, the remaning of the feid may be the bettir handillet, and proceid without impediment. As se will ansuer to us vpoun your office and obedience: Quhairanent jir presentis falbe your warrant. Subscryueit with our hand, at Lynlythqw, the ferd day of Junij, 1596.

(Sic subscribitur) JAMES R.

Quhilk Warrant the Justice obayit, and thairvpoun desert the said Court, in respect of na contrair warrant produceit.

Consulting with Witches, for Destruction of Earl of Orkney, &c.— Witchcraft—Poisoning—Murder.

June 24.—JOHNE STEWART Maister of Orkney.

Dilatit of consulting with vmq^{le} Margret Balfour, ane Wich, for the distructioun of Patrik Erll of Orkney, be poyfoning.

PERSEWAR, Mr Williame Hairt Aduocat to our fouerane Lord.

PRELOQUITOURIS for the Pannell.

My Lord Barnbarrocht, Mr W^m Leslie, Mr Johnne Nicolfoun, Thomas Kennydy Tutour of Caffillis.

The famin day, Patrik Erll of Orkney being ofttymes callit, to compeir this day and place, to haif insfitt in persuit of Johnne Maister of Orkney for the crymis contenit in the Lettres, as he that wes lauchfullie summond to that effect, comperit nocht; quhairvpoun the said Maister of Orkney askit instrumentis.

The said Mr Williame Hairt aduocat insfitt in persuit of the said Johnne Stewart, for the crymes contenit in the lettres: That is to say;

DITTAY against THE MASTER OF ORKNEY.

FORSAMEKILL as the said Johne Maister of Orknay, brother germane to Patrik Erll of Orknay, vpoun the fyrst, secund, thryd, ferd, fyft, faxt and remanent dayes of the monethis of October, Nouember, December and Ianuar, att the leift in fimm of the dayes of the monethis foirfaidis 1593, Conspyrit the Murthour of the said Patrik Erll of Orknay, his brother, consultat and dewyfit thair-ament with vinq^{le} Alyfoune Balfour, ane knawin notorious Wich and exeunte to the death for Wichcraft; and that att the tymes foirfaid, within the said vinq^{le} Alyfounis hous in Ireland¹ in Orknay, how thay mycht haif bewicht the said Patrick Erll of Orknay his brother, and bereif him (of life) be Sorcerie and Wichcraft: Quhilk the said Alyfoune grantit and confest the tyme of hir execu-tioun and diuers tymes of befoir: LYKEAS, the said Johne, in the foirfaid moneth of November, and in ane or vthir of the dayes thairof, schortlie eftir the deceife of vinq^{le} Robert Erll of Orknay, than past to M^r Williame Mwdeis hous, in Wallis in Orknay, accompaneit with James and Williame Stewartis, his brether, Patrik and Olipher Sinclaris, Thomas Palpla and vtheris thair complices, quhair the said Johne with the saidis personis consultit, conspyrit and dewyfit how to murthour the said Patrik Erll of Orknay his brother, be poysoning, or vthirwayes, be craft and quyet dealing. LYKEAS, the said Johne hyrit and conduceit the said Thomas Palpla his feruitour to poyfoun the said Erll of Orknay, quha tuk the sam in hand; and being accufit thairof, confest the famin, and wes execute thairfoir to the deid: LYKEAS also, the said Johne, with the assistance of the said Williame Stewart his brother and thair complices foirfaidis, consultit, dewyfit and concludit att the tyme foirfaid, to haif murtherit the said Patrik Erll of Orknay, att ane Bankynet in Dauid Moucreifis, in Kirkwall in Orknay; quhilk the said Williame Stewart his brother hes confest diuerse tymes sensyne: LYKEAS, the said Johne Stewart, in the moneth of December thaireftir, in the yeir of God foirfaid, att the leift in ane of the dayes of the said moneth, consultit, dewyfit, conspyrit and interpryfit to haif enterit in, secreitlie, in the said Patrik Erll of Orknayis chalmer, within the Place of Birza in Orknay, thair to haif slayne and murtherit him in his bed. Committing thairby, att the leift doing that in him lay, be the meanis foirfaidis, to haif slayne and murdreift the said Patrik Erll of Orknay.

The famin day the said Mr of Orknay declarit, that albeit the fimmondis be altogidder irrelevant in the thre heidis thairof, viz. Wichcraft, Poysoning and Murdering of his brother, anent the speciall circumstances and factis alledgeit done and interpryfit be the said Maister of Orknay, and that it is newir lybellit that ony effect followit vpoun the said pretendit purpois of consultatioun, quhilk is alwyife denyit and is maist fallie forgeit; yit newirtheles, in respect of his innocencie, he is content to abyde the ordinar tryall of all the poyntis and crymes specifeit in the said summondis.

¹ Yreland, or Yrland, 'a town' in the parish of Stennes or Stenhous.

The famin day the Aduocat produceit his Maicsteis Warrant, and defyrit the famin to be infert; and forder defyrit the concurs of my Lord of Orknay, as he that wes lauchfulle wairnit to that effect; quha being callit comperit nocht; and the said Aduocat defyrit proces, and tuik instrumentis, that the partie opponit nocht aganis the famin. Followis the tennour of the Kingis Warrant.

REX,

MR THOMAS HAMMILTOUNE of Drumcarne, and Williame Hairt of Lewielandis, aduocattis to our fouerane Lord. We greit 3ow weill. It is our will, and We command 3ow, that incontinent eftir þe sycht heirof, 3e compeir before our Justice or his Deputis, in ane Court of Justiciare to be hauldin in our Tolbuith of Edinburgh the xxij day of Junij instant, and insist in per suit of Johnne Stewart, Mr of Orknay, summond be vertew of our vtheris Lettres, purchest att 3our inslance aganis him, ffor þe alledgeit consulting, enterpryng and dewysing of þe slauchter of Patrik Erl of Orknay; and that 3e nawyis consent to prorogatioun or delay of þe said mater to ony vthir day, nochtwithstanding of ony directioun purchest or to be purchest in þe contrar heirof: For þe quhilik þir presentis falbe to 3ow ane warrant. Subscryuit with our hand, Att Halyruidhous, þe xvij of Junij, 1596.

(Sic subscribitur)

JAMES R.

ASSISA.

Laurence Bruce of Cultman- Lundie,	Sir Wm. Stewart of Houftoun, knycht,	Frances Robertfoun, burges thair, Williame Tod thair,
Hew Sinclar of Burgh,	Thomas Otterburne of Reidhall,	Johnne Makie thair,
Alexander Lord Spynie,	Patrik Chene of Effilmouth,	Johnne Dik thair,
Robert Lord Sanquhar,	James Ogilvie of Balfour,	Patrik Kennedie burges thair.
. . . Mr of Ogilvie,	Andro Bauchop, burges of Ed ^r ,

The said Maister of Orknay produceit ane Declaratioun vnderwrittin, togidder with ane Instrument, quhilik thay defyrit to be infert in the proces.—Item, the summondis is foundit vpoun thre heidis, viz., Wichcraft, Poyfoning and Murthering of his brother: As to the ffyrst point, albeit the speciall circumstances of the mater be nocht speciallie qualifeit and sett down in the summondis, yit he is content to abyde ane Assyse thairof, in respect of his innocencie. And as to the Confessioun of Alefoun Balfour, to remember the Assyse, that the said Alefoun wes, be vehement tortour of the caschielawis,¹ quhairin sche wes kept be the space of fourtie-aucht horis, compellit to mak the said pretendit Confessioun: Likeas hir husband callit Tailliefeir, being ane man of lxxxxj yeiris of aige, togidder with hir eldest sone and hir dochter, wer all kept at anis and at the same instant in waird, befyde hir, and put (to) tortouris att the same instant tyme; the fader beand in the lang Irnis of fiftie ftane wecht; the sone callit in the buitis with fiftie sewin fraikis;¹ and the dochter, being sewin yeir auld, put in the pinnywinkis;² to this effect, that hir said husband and bairnis beand swa tormentit befyde hir, mycht move hir to mak ony Confessioun for thair releif: Lyke as thaireftir, immediatlie eftir hir reliefe out of the said torment, sche revoikit the said Confessioun: And thaireftir, in presens of the hail toune, before the Assyse, and att the tyme of her executioun, sche declarit oppinlie, that the said Confessioun wes altogidder fals and extortit: The notorietye quhair of is referrit to the Assyse. ITEM, the vthir twa heidis, anent the poysoning and the murthering, (albeit the same be nawayse relevant poyntis of ony tyme, becaus it is nocht alledgeit that thair followit ony thing vponne the saidis pretendit consultatiounis, nor yit that the same cam ad actum proximum;) the Maister being altogidder innocent of the said pretendit forgeit accusatiounis, refusis na tryell: And as to the Confessioun maid be Thomas Palpla, the same wes in lyke maner extortit of him, he being kepit in the caschielawis ellewin dayis and ellewin nychtis;³ tuyise in the day, be the space of fourtene dayis, callit in the buitis, he beand naikit in the meane tyme, and skairgeit with towis,⁴ in sic soirt, that thay left nather flesch nor hyde⁵ vpon him: In the extremitie of the quhilk tortour the said pretendit Confessioun wes drawin out of him: Quhilk pretendit Confessioun he ewir revoikit and recantit, immediatlie as he wes frie of the tortour; and att last, publictlye, the tyme of his executioun, he oppinlie revokit the samin, quhilk wes referrit to the Assyse.

¹ This instrument of torture is elsewhere called caspicares. Dr Jamieson conjectures the word to signify 'the warm hose.' No doubt the application of intense heat to the limbs, during the infliction of the torture, was usual in various countries. After encircling the leg with an iron frame-work, it was put into a moveable furnace or chauffer, and during the progress of heating the iron, the intended questions were successively put. This exquisite pain must have induced the unhappy sufferer to confess almost any thing that might be proposed. Perhaps the instrument may, from this last circumstance, have obtained the soubriquet or nickname from an old French word, Casse-loix.

Follows the tennour of the instrument produceit.

DECLARATION OF ALESOUN BALFOUR, at the place of her Execution.

APUD KIRKWALL, vpon pe Heding-hill of pe same fastene day of December 1594. IN presens of Thomas Swyntoun Minister at Kirkwall, Johnne Stewart Reidar pair, Mr Gylbert Body Minister att Holm, Alexander Somerwall in Deirnes, Johnne McKenzie, David Moncreif seruitour to my Lord Erll of Orknay, and Gylbert Pacock, with findry vthiris. The quhilk day, in presens of me notar publict vnderwritin and witnessis soirfaisdis, ALESOUN BALFOUR, being condampnit for hir alledgeit poyntis of Witchcraft, and led to pe Hill to pe place of Executioun; sche, in presens of me and witnessis soirfaisdis declarit and tuik vpon hir faull and conscience, as sche wald anfuere att pe day of judgement, quhen the secreitis of all hairtis salbe disclofit, that sche wes als innocent and wald die als innocent of ony point of Witchcraft as ane barne new borne: AND als, being inquiryt vpon hir faull and conscience to declair ' quhat sche knew of pe Laird of Stenhons, and to quhat effect he gaif to hir pe walx pat wes fund in hir purs?' Quha pan presentlie declarit, be hir pairt of Paradyce, and as sche wald anfuere to þe lewing Lord, that sche knew na thing to þe auld Laird of Stenhous bot honestie; and þat his Lady, being subiect to the colick, notour to hir, willit þe Laird to gif hir ane peace walx, a fowre ȝeir bygane ſyne, to mak ane implaister; to be imployit be hir to his Lady, for remedie of hir ſaid diſeiſe, and na vthirwyis, as ſche wald anfuere to þe lewing God of heavin and aeirth: And ſaid þan playnlie, þat ſche wald die with the ſame confeſſioun; lykeas, ſche thane deit conſtantlie pairwith. AND ſiclyke, being inquyrit and accuſit be þe Perſoun of Ropher, ‘gif ſche wald abyde be hir fyrſt Depoſitioun, maid in þe Caſtell of Kirkwall, vpoun the day of December inſtant?’ Quha anſuerit, þat þe tyme of hir firſt Depoſitioun ſche wes tortourit diuerſe and ſeueral tymes in þe Caſchielawis, and ſudrie tymis takin out of þame deid,¹ and out of all remembrance ap^r of guid or ewill; as lykewyis hir guidman being in þe ſtokis, hir ſone tortourit in þe Buitis, and hir dochtir put in þe Pilliewinkis, quhairwith ſche and þay wer ſwa vexit and tormentit, þat pairtie to eſchew ane gretar torment and pwneſchement, and vpoun promeis of hir lyffe, and guid deid be þe ſaid Perſoun, fallie, aganis hir faull and conſcience, ſche maid þat Confeſſioun, and na vthirwyis: For þe quhilk, ſche aſkit þe Lord mercy and forgiuenes; and conſtantlie deit pairatt. Quhairvpoun all and ſudrie þe premiſſis, Thomas Ballendene fear of Ewe tuik act and inſtrument.

¹ See Fian's Trial, p. 219, &c. and the Trials for Witchcraft. ² See p. 215. ³ This fact is quite inconsistent with the application of intense heat. Perhaps the instrument may have been similar, in its construction, to the Witches' bridle, mentioned in the notice prefixed to the Trial of Bessie Dunlop. See page 50. ⁴ Ropes, cords. ⁵ Skin. A most disgusting and frightful instance of the iniquities practised under form of law; which, indeed, would disgrace the most barbarous tribe of Indians!

(Sic ſubſcribitur,)

*Ita eſt, JACOBUS NEVENE, notarius publicus
ac teſtis in premiſſis rogatus et requeſitus: Teſte manu propria.*

After the quhilk Declaratioun, the Juſtice patt the ſaid Johne to the tryell of the Affyſe. Quhilk perſounes being choſin, ſworne and admittit, and the ſaid Johne Maifter of Orknay, being accuſit be Dittay of the ſaidis crymes, in thair preſens, he denyit the ſamin. Eſtir the production of certane euidentis and inſtrumentis, quhair the ſaidis vni^q^{le} Alyſoun Balfour and Thomas Palpa maid revocatioun of thair Depoſitiounis and Confeſſiounis, alledgeit maid in preiudice of the ſaid Johne Maifter of Orknay; the Affyſe tuik inſtrumentis, that thair wes na thing producit for verifiatioun of the Dittay, and that the ſaid Dittay wes nocht ſworne.

The ſaid perſoun on pannell aſkit inſtrumentis of the cheſing of the Affyſe but oppoſitioun.²

VERDICT. The Affyſe removit altogidder furth of Court to the Counſal-hous, quhair thay, be pluralitie of vocis, chuſe Robert Lord Sanquhar Chancillar of the ſaid Affyſe; and thairefter reaſonit vpoun the poyntis of the Dittay, and haifing votit thairvpoun, eſter voting and reſolutioun, re-enterit agane in Court, quhair thay, be the mouth of the ſaid Chancillar, ſtand the ſaid Johne Stewart Maifter of Orknay to be Acquit and innocent of the haill crymes and poyntis of Dittay particularlie above mentionat, quhair of he wes accuſit.

[Mr James Fowlis, Juſtice-Depute.]

Forcible Abduction—Raviſhing.

Jun. 30.—ALEXANDER FLEMING of Barrochan, Patrik Fleming and Mr James Fleming, his ſonis, &c.

¹ In a swoon, or ‘dead-faint.’

² Without challenge upon his part.

Comperit Patrik Maxwell of Dargavell, and produceit our fouerane lordis lettres, dewlie execute and indorfate be the said Patrik him selff, Marioun Porterfeild his spous and Rabeca Maxwell his dochter, to tak fouirtie of the said Alexander, Patrik and Mr James, and vtheris thairin contenit, that thay sould haif comperit this day and place, and vnderlyne the law for airt and pairt of the cuming to the said Patrik Maxwellis duelling-place of Dargavell, and Reveifching of Rabeca Maxwell his dochter furth thairof, and taking of hir away with thame to the place of Barrochane, and keping hir in strait firmanse, be the space of fyftene dayis or thairby; committit vpoun the thryd day of Nouember last-past, and vtheris crymis contenit in the lettres direct thairupoun.

This mater ordenit to be continewit, be the Priour of Blantyre thefaurar and the Justice Clark, be thair Precept.—Sir Patrik Houftoun of that Ilk became pledge and fouirtie for Alexander Fleming of Barrochane, Patrik F. his sone and apperand air, Mr James F. alse his sone, Hew F., James F., James Henryfoun and Peter Cuming, fernandis to the said Alexander; Robert Fleming in Covenlie, Gabriell Reid in Barrochane, Williame Houftoun thair, Patrik Houftoun thair, Williame Reid in Hillis, Patrik Fleming in Aylie, Thomas Kellocht in Craighall, Matho Patrik thair, Johnne Allane in Cruik, James Fleming in Corflie, Patrik F. att the kirk of Killellane and Alexander Alschonar in Wod, and that thay fall compeir before our fouerane lordis Justice or his deputis, the thryd day of the nixt Justice-air of the sherefdome of Renfrew, or soner quher or quhen it fall pleis our fouerane Lord, vpoune fyftene dayes wairning, and vnderly the law for the said crimes.

Forcible Abduction, &c.

Jul. 5.—WILLIAME BANNATYNE of Corhous.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the away-taking of and reifing of Margret Hammiltoune, dochter to Johnne Hammiltoune of Auchnaglène, furth of Johnne Weiris hous of Dargavill.

PERSEWARIS.

Johnne Hammiltoune of Auchnaglène,
Mr Williame Hairt, aduocat to our fouerane lord.

PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannell.

Mr Thomas Craig,
Mr Alexander King.

The said Williame Bannatyne tuik instrumentis of his compeirance. Compeirit James Reid, Conflabill of the Castell of Edinburgh, and tuik instrumentis that he had presentit Williame Bannatyne of Corhous before my Lord Justice, and enterit him on pannell, conforme to the Warrant direct be the Lordis of Counfall to that effect.—The said day comperit Mr James Hammiltoune of Caudor and Williame H. of Hillis and James H. of Bardowie younger, and tuik instrumentis of the production of our fouerane lordis (letteris) dewlie execute, purchest be Johnne Hammiltoune of Auchnaglene for summondung of ane Affyise to Williame Bannatyne of Corhous.—As also comperit Johnne Hammiltoune of Auchnaglene, and inffitit in perfruit of Williame Bannatyne of Corhous, and thairvpoune tuik instrumentis.—The said Williame Bannatyne of Corhous tuik instrumentis, that Williame Hammiltoune of Auchnaglene, being desyrit to fweir the Dittay gewin in aganis him, declarit, he wes fa informit, be brute,¹ that he did the famin; bot he wald nocht tak it vpoun his conscience that the famin wes trew done be him.

The persewar and the aduocatt protestit for Errour, in caise thay Acquyte the said Williame Bannatyne.

*DITTAY against Williame Bannatyne of Corhous.*²

FORSAMEKILL as the said Johnne Hammiltoune haifing placeit Margret Hammiltoune his dochter, ane bairne of ten 3eir auld or pairby, with Johnne Weir in Dargavill, hir moder-brother, to haif bene educat and brocht vp be him, vntill hir lauchfull and perfyte age; lipning that nane sould haif interruptit hir educatione and vbringung, or attempted ony violence or iniurie aganis hir; nochtwithstanding quhairof, it is of veritie, that Williame Cwninghame tutour of Boningtonne, accompaneit with certane bretherene and feruandis of Williame Bannatyne of Corhous, mountit vpoun the said Williamis awin hors, be his special causing, directione, sending and bounding out, all bodin in feir of weir, with vnlauchfull and foirbidin wappinnis, come vpoun þe xxvij day or pairby of March last-bypast, vnder sylence and cloud of nycht, to þe said Johnne Weiris duelling-hous of Dargavill, lyand within þe sheresdome of Lanark, and violentlie enterit pairin; fyrst, schamefullie and vnhonestlie persewit the said Johnne Weir of his lyffe, reft his purs fra him, quhairin thair wes ane grit quantitie of gold and siluer, hurt and woundit him in diuers partis of his body, and left him lyand for deid; and thaireftir, violentlie tuik the said Margret away with pame, fyrst to þe place of þe Corhous, quhair sche wes ressaüt and keptit all that nycht, be þe knowledge, allowance and pruitie of þe said Williame Bannatyne, and paireftir, be his directione, convoyit hir away to sum partis of þe Bordour, quhair sche wes keptit and detenit: The away-takeris of hir remaning continewallie sensyne in hous and cumpany with the said Laird of Corhous; quha intendit, in hir minoritie, to move hir to findrie purpossis, altogidder to hir difadvantage.

Wes putt to the knowledge of ane Affyis, and in thair presens, wes accusit be Dittay of the crymes aboue writtin; quha denyit the famin straitlie.

VERDICT. Eftir the quhilk accusatioune, thay past altogidder furth of Court (to) ane secreit place in the eird of the said Tolbuith, quhair thay convenit and chuse Robert Scott of Thirlstane chancillar, and eftir chesing of him past to voting vpoun the pointis of the Dittay foirsaid; and being resolut thairwith re-enterit agane in Court, quhair thay, be the mouth of the said chancillar, ffand, pronounceit and declarit the said Williame Bannatyne of Corhous to be clene, innocent and acquit of the crymes aboue writtin.

¹ Fr. Bruit, report, rumour. ² This crime affords a striking picture of the times; which, by reference to the Criminal Records, will be found one of very frequent occurrence. Heiresses were forcibly carried off by some powerful Baron or Laird, who had perhaps been disappointed in effecting a marriage for themselves or sons, by fair means. A fitting opportunity was watched, and the young lady relieved of the tediousness of courtship, by getting a priest on the other side of the Border to marry them 'out of hand.' Abductions were also common on the part of relations, competing for the guardianship of the heiress.

Umbesetting the High way — Hurting and Wounding, &c.

Jul. 7.—THOMAS EWING at the Mylne of Ogilvie.

Dilaitit of airt and pairt of the hurting and wounding of Williame Broun in Nether Baddinhaith, in diuerse partis of his body, to the effusioun of his blude in grit quantitie ; be gewing of him of faxtene bludie woundis in the body, be way of murthour, vnder sylence of nycht ; committit in the moneth of August lastbypast.

PERSEWARIS.

Williame Broune in Nether Baddinhaith,
Mr Thomas Hammiltoun, (King's Advocate).

PRELOQUITOUR for the pannell.

Mr Johnne Moncreif.

The said Williame Broun produceit the lettres aganis the said Thomas Ewing, dewlie execute and indorfat, and tuik instrumentis thairvpoune.—The Aduocat produceit his hienes Warrant, ordaining him to infist in perfruit of Thomas Ewing.—The persewaris askis instrumentis that the said Williame askit instrumentis.

The persewaris (pannell?) alledgis, that the lybell is irrelevant foundit ; becaus that nather slauchter nor mutilatioun followit thairvpoun ; and it appertenis to the shereff.—The aduocat anfuersis, that the alledgiance aucht to be repellit, becaus the defender is nocht persewit vpoune ane intendit murthour, vpoune foirthocht felony vnder sylence of nycht, quodquidem consilium homicidij cogitati, per industriam et insidias peruenit ad actum ; quhilkis qualiteis being conjoynit, makis the lybell relevant.—The persewar (pannell?) anfuersis, non est crimen lese maiestatis, et nihil peruenit ad actum.—The aduocat alledgis, that the alledgiance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the lybell.

The Justice findis the lybell relevant.

VERDICT. The Assyse, for the maist pairt, Acquit the said Thomas Ewing ; fforfamekill as he, vpoun the xxvj day of August lastbypast, accompaneit with Williame Ewing his brother, vnder sylence and cloud of nycht, vmbesett the hie way and passage to Williame Broun in Nether Baddinhaith, vnder sylence of nycht, be way of Murthour and Brigancie, vpoun the croft of his Landis of Nether Baulhaith ; and thair, with swordis and quhingaris, crewallie invadit him for his slauchter and murthour, hurt and woundit him thairwith, be gewing of him of faxtene bludie woundis in the heid, and diuerse vtheris partis of his body, to the effusioun of his blude in grit quantitie ; vpoun sett purpois, provi-fioun and foirthocht felony ; and for casting of him be the heillis in ane burne callit the Stankburne, belewand he wes deid, of purpois to haif drownit him. Pronounceit be the mouth of Nicoll Towart (in Blakfurd), Chancillar (of the said Assyse).

Hurting and Wounding—Theft, &c.

Jul. 28.—HARY AUCHINCRAW, in Fowldene.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the thifteous steling of ane lokit gold and siluer bag, fra Robert Gray, merchand burges of Edinburgh, togidder (with) lxxxxij fyve pound pecis, fyve four pownd pecis, thre dowbill duikatis, thre dowbill crose duikettis, fyve auld roif-nobillis, fyve fouerane angellis, thre dowbill myllrais, v lib. Scottis siluer; committit in Apryll 1594.

It is allegeit be the said Hary Auchincraw, that na continewatioun aucht to be grantit this day, becaus all Justice courtis ar peremptour; lykeas he being summond to this day, he comperit personallie, offering him reddie to abyde ane tryell; quhairvpoun fyftene personis of Inqueist ar callit, reffaut and admittit; swa that thair being na alledgeance maid be the partie, nor na vthir lauchful impediment proponit in the contrar, this proces can nocht be delayit, feing he can nocht be obleift to find cautione; and quhidder he be acquit or fylit, he aucht nocht to find caution, feing he is present within the bar.

The Aduocat allegis that the Justice mycht continew the mater to the morne.

The Justice continewis to the morne. ‘Plegio Bernardo Borthuik de Collie-law—pena V^c mark.’

Jul. 29.—[‘Dilatit of setting vpoun Robert Gray, merchand burges of Edinburgh, and hurting of him in diuerse partis of his body: and for the thifteous steiling fra him of certane gold and siluer.’] The said Hary Auchincraw comperand, desyrit the Assyise to be callit quha wes admittit zisterday; and offerit him reddie to vnderly the law, for the cryme aboue writtin, and desyrit the Justice to put him to the said Assyise; quhairvpoun he askit instrumentis. The partie on pannell takis instrumentis of his offer to vnderly the law, and disassenting to all continewatioune; and protestit that he be nocht continewit, in (virtue) of his oft comperance in the mater, at twa feuerall dyettis of befor. The pannell protestit, that in respect Robert Gray being within the bar, as also M^r Williame Hairt, aduocat, his persewaris being present and refusit to persew, that na lettres be grantit in tyme cuming.

The Justice continewis to gif ansuer the morne. ‘DESERT, in respect Robert Gray comperit nocht to persew, nor the aduocat.’

Slaughter of a Messenger at Arms.

Jul. 29.—PATRIK BARCLAY of Towie.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slaughter of vinq^{le} Williame Mure, messinger in Deir; committit in the moneth of Februar lastbypast.

PERSEWARIS, Janet Keyth relict, M^r Williame Mure as sone, M^r Williame Hairt (King's Advocate.)
PRELOQUITOURIS for the Pannell, M^r Johnne Schairp, M^r James Donaldsoun.

The purfewaris tuik instrumentis of productioun of the lettres aganis Patrik Barclay of Towie, and proteffit for relief of thair cautioneris.

The said M^r Williame Mure produceit the Kingis Maiesteis Warrant, ordaining the mater perfewit, aganis Patrik Barclay of Towie, to be continewit to the nynt of August nixtocum.

The Justice Continewis the actioun to the morne, to be auyisit with the Counfall. ‘ Plegio, Magistro de Elphinstoune.’

HIS MAIESTIES WARRANT.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice clerk and 5 our deputis, We greit 5ow weill. Forfamekill as our vtheris lettres ar purchest, att pe instance of pe relict, bairnis, kyn and freindis of vmq^{le} Williame Mure, melfinger in Deir, for calling of Patrik Barclay of Towie before 5ow, in our Tolbuith of Edinburghe, the xxix day of July instant, to vnderly our lawis, ffor airt and pairt of pe slauchter of pe said vmq^{le} Williame Mure: As also, our vtheris lettres ar direct for calling of diuerse personis, seruandis to pe Lady Erroll, to compeir before 5ow in pe Tolbuith of Edinburghe, the xxix day of July instant, to vnderly our lawis ffor airt and pairt of pe slauchter of pe said vmq^{le} Williame Mure: As also, our vtheris lettres ar direct for calling of diuerse personis, seruandis to pe Lady Erroll, to compeir before 5ow, in the Tolbuith of Edinburghe, the nynt day of August nixtocum, to vnderly the law, ffor pe taking of Williame Keyth of Ludquhairne, and vtheris crymes contenit in pe saidis lettres: AND haifing confideratioune, that pe slauchter of pe said Williame Mure fell out, vpoun pe taking of pe said Williame Keyth, and executione of our vtheris Letteris, aganis pe personis committeris pairof; for eschewing of pe trubling of ane Affyse, quha ar to be summond vpoune bayth the saidis crymes, We haif thoicht it guid to continew the dyet, for pe slauchter of pe said vmq^{le} Williame Mure, to pe said nynt day of August nixtocum, to pe effect the personis of Affyis be nocht putt to pe dowbill travell. Thairfoir, and for diuerse vtheris confideratiounis moving ws, it is our will, and We command 5ow, that incontinent estir pe sycht hereof, 5e continew pe peruit of pe lettres purchest aganis pe said Patrik Barclay of Towie, for pe Slauchter of pe said vmq^{le} Williame Mure, to pe nynt day of August nixtocum; swa that pe crymis contenit in ap^r of pe lettres may be tryit be ane Affyis: And tak sufficient cautionn for pe entrie of pe said Patrik Barclay, pe said day: Qulhairant thir presentis falbe to 5ow ane warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, att Dunfermling, the xxix day of July, 1598.

(Sic subferibitur)

JAMES R.

(Jul. 30.)—The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the productioun of ane Warrant of the Counfall, and desyrit the famin to be ingroft. The pannell takis instrumentis, that the parteis, being oft tymes callit, comperit nocht. The Aduocat past fra the pairt of the summondis bering Treffoune.

ASSISA.

Andro Reid of Colliestoune,	Patrik Leafk of Haddo,	Sir George Ogilvie of Dunlugous,
Alex ^r Blakhall of that Ilk,	M ^r Alexander Innes,	Williame Forbes of Corfindae,
Patrik Cheue of Effilmont,	Thomas Leafk of Auchinad,	Williame Leafk of that Ilk,
Alex ^r Wod of Colpnay,	Archibald Bruce of Pitfowlis,	Abraham Forbes of Blaktoun,
James Chene of Straloch,	Robert Drummond of Drill,	Robert Innes of Coitis.

The Affyse, be pluralitie of vocis, chese Sir George Ogilvie of Dunlugus (Chancellor.)

VERDICT.—The Affyis, in ane voce, Acquyte Patrik Barclay of Towie of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vniq^{le} Williame Mure, Messinger; committit be Patrik Cantlie, than his seruand, of the speciall causing, hounding, fending, directing, command, assistance and ratihabitatioun of the said Patrik, in the moneth of Februar lastbypast, vpoun sett purpois, prouisioun and foirthocht felony.

The quhilk day comperit Patrik Barclay of Towie and produceit ane War-rand delyuerit be the Counfall, and defyrit the Justice and the Aduocat to infist in persuit, according to the tennour thairof; quhilk the Aduocat defyrit to be infert in proces, quhairof the tennour followis.

My lordis of Privie Counfall, vnto your ll. huimlie menis and selhewis I your seruitor, Patrik Barclay of Towie, That quhaire, Jonet Keyth, be relict, with pe bairnis and freindis of vniq^{le} Williame Mure, messinger, within pe sherefdome of Abirdene, being sterit vp, movit and persvadit be pe instigatioun of sum of my vnfreindis, hes nocht only now, but att diuers tymes ofbefore, vpoun pair wrangus narratioun, purchest Lettres and pairwith causit charge me to vnderly pe law, for pe alledgeit airt and pairt of pe slauchter of pe said vniq^{le} Williame Mure, messinger, committit be Patrik Cantlie, my alledgeit seruand, vpoun the faxtene day of Februar lastbypast, 1595, the said vniq^{le} messinger thane being in executionne of his office, &c. According to pe quhilkis Lettres and chargeis, I, pe said Patrik Barclay, being alluterlie innocent of pe said cryme, fand cautioun and fouertie, in dew tyme, att ewerie charge, to haif vnderlyne pe law for pe famin, to diuerse dayes bypast; and att last, to pe xxix day of Julij instant, before the Justice (and) his deputis; and comperit perfonalie att all pe said dyettis bygane, as I did this day before the said Justice, offering me reddie to vnderly pe law for pe said cryme, pair being sufficient number of Inqueist summond and comperand att ewerie day to compeir pairvpoun: As the Justice, deputis and clarkis, with the actes takin pairvpoun will testife: Newirpeles, the saidis persewaris, or rap^r my inimeis, quha sterit pame vp pairto, hes att diuers tymis bygane purchest Lettres subferyuit be our souerane lord, direct to pe Justice and his deputis, to continew pe dyettis quhairvnto I wes chargeit in pe said mater; and namelie, this day hes procureit and produceit his Maiesteis Letter vnder his subscriptionne, vpoun sinister narratiounne, to continew the samen vnto pe nynt day of August nixtocum; to pe quhilk continewatioun I dissentit, and offerit me reddie, presentlie, as I do zit, to vnderly pe lawis for pe said crymes, quhairof I am innocent. AND feing the Justice depute hes continewit his Interloquitour to be gewin pairvpoun quhill the morne, and is to tak your ll. aduise, quhidder he fall proceid or nocht, nochtwithstanding the said privie letter of continewatiounne; and that it is also veritie that I and my freindis, with the personnes of Inqueist, hes bene put to gret trubellis and expensis now and ofbefore, in keeping of all pe dyettis in pe said mater, alfweill principall as continewatiounne, purchest be pe persewaris and my vnfreindis; and that thair intentioun is to trubill me and my freindis pairby, in cuming heir fyue feoir of myles att ilk dyet, and in waisting our rentis and substance in attending pairvpoun: And that the said slauchter wes only committit be pe said Patrick Cantlie, vpoun ane particuler quarrell and feid betuix him and the said vniq^{le} William Mure, quhairof I wes newir participant, airt nor pairt. Heirfoir I befeik your ll. to tak sic ordour in pe premissis, that I and my freindis fall nocht be trublet to keip ony forder dyettis in pe said mater, bot that proces may be grantit and followit out pairtill the morne, bot forder delay; and to that effect, to caus the parteis persewaris, being heir present, and oure souerane lordis Aduocat, to summond and haif reddie ane Affyse to pafs vpoun famekill of pe saidis Lettres as falbe fund relevant; quhairvnto I am willing to anfuier instantlie, as I wes att all dyettis ofbefore, bot ony forder delay: And your ll. anfuier huimlie I requyre.

(Sic subferibitur in dorfo,) Apud Edinburghe, xxix Julij, J^m.V^c.lxxxv. The Lordis of Seereit Counfall Ordanis the Justice, Justice Clark and pair deputis, to proceed and minister justice vpoun pe complainer within writtin, the morne, but forder delay or contineuatioune; conforme to pe lawis of his realme: And that the Aduocat insist in pe perfruit of him; as thay will ansuer to his Maiestie and pe saidis Lordis pairvpoun.

(Sic subferibitur) BLANTYRE. . M. R. 3OUNG.

The famin day, Jonet Keyth the relict, and M^r Williame Mure as sone, with the kyn and freindis of v^mq^{le} Williame Mure messingir in Deir, being oft tymis callit to insist in perfruit of the said Patrik Barclay of Towie for the said slauchter, the lauchfull tyme of day biddin and nocht comperand; the Justice ordenit Mr Williame Hairt Aduocat to compeir and insist in perfruit, quha comperit and produceit ane roll of Assyse of the personis aboue writtin.

The famin day, Patrik Barclay of Towie, being enterit on pannel, as summond be vertew of our souerane lordis lettres, purchest att the instance of Jonet Keyth the relict, with the bairnis and remanent kyu and freindis of v^mq^{le} William Mure messinger, and being persewit be Mr Williame Hairt aduocat, indytit and accusit:

DITTAY against Patrick Barclay of Towie.

FORSAMEKILL as Williame Keyth of Ludquharne, Alexander Keyth his sone and M^r Samuell Keyth his proper sone and our souerane lordis aduocattis, haifing rafet his bienes letters att pair instance, for chargeing of pe said Patrick Barclay of Towie and Patrick Cantlie his fernand, now rebell and att pe horne, for pe caus and cryme vnderwrittin, to haif said fouirtie that thay fould haif comperit before pe Justice or his deputis in pe Tolbuth of Edinburgh, att ane certane dyett speciallie contenit pairin, for certane haynons and tressonabill crymis contenit in pe famin; thay directit pe saidis lettres to pe said v^mq^{le} W^m Mure messingir, for putting of pe famin to due execution; quha haifing ressuait the famin, vpoun pe xvj day of Februar lastbypast, he past be vertew pairof, vpoun pe famin day, to pe place of Towie, quhair the said Patrik Barclay wes present for pe tyme; and becans he could nocht apprehend his personall presens, he chargeit him pairatt; and sicylke chargeit the said Patrik Cantlie rebell personallie, soinent pe 3ett of pe said place and delyuerit him ane copie. Estir pe quhilk charge, the said Patrik Cantlie past in fra pe said messingir to pe place of Towie, to the said Patrik Barclay his maister; and estir he had spokin with him, and had gottin directioun fra him, to pe effect vnderwrittin, peraising the said W^m Mure messingir to be past away, he come furth vpoun the said Laird of Toweis best hors, followit the said v^mq^{le} W^m Mure on horbak, as he was rydand away in sobir and quyet maner, to put pe saidis lettres to forder executionne vpoune vtheris pairin specifeit, dredand na ewill, harme, iniurie or perfruit of ony personne, bot to haif lewit vnder Godis peax and our souerane lordis; in respect he wes in execution of his office, and presentit our souerane lordis persoun, till pe place and landis of, quhair he overtuik the said v^mq^{le} W^m Mure; and pair, the said Patrik Cantlie, of pe speciall causing, hounding, sending, directing, counsaling, refetting agane with pe bludie hand, airt, pairt-taking, command, assistance and ratihabitoun of pe said Patrik Barclay his maister, sett vpoune him and maist crewallie and awfullie, fyrst with ane drawin sword, strak the said v^mq^{le} W^m Mure in pe bak, to the effusioune of his blude in grit quantitie; and pairestir, with ane pistolet chargeit with bullett, schot the said v^mq^{le} W^m throw pe body, and maist schamefullie and crewallie slew him pairwith: Estir pe quhilk slauchter, he immediatelie pairestir returnit agane to the said place of Towie, quhair the said Patrik Barclay of Towie ressuait him, with pe hett bludie hand: And swa, the said Patrik Barclay of Towie is airt and pairt of þe crewall slauchter of þe said vinq^{le} W^m Mure messinger, committit in þe executioun of his office, vpoune sett purpois, provisioun and foirtocht felony, in hie and maifest contemptioun of our souerane lordis autoritie and lawis.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be mouth of the said M^r George Ogilvy of Dunlowgus knyecht, chancillar, stand, pronunceit and declarit the said Patrik Barclay of Towie to be cleane, innocent, and acquit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of the said vinq^{le} Williame Mure messinger; committit in the maner foirsaid.—Quhairvpoune he askit actis and instrumentis.

Uttering calumnious speeches and slanders against the King.

Aug. 3.—JOHNNE DIKSOUN in Lyne, Inglisman.

Dilatit for contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in vtering of Calunnious speichis and sklanderis aganis our souerane lord, and calling of him ‘ane bastard,’ &c.

The aduocat (Mr Thomas Hammiltoun) produceit the Depositionis of certane witneffis; and protestit for Wilfull Error, in caise thay clange.

The Assyse tuik instrumentis, that Johnne Diksoun come in his Maiesteis will, for ony speich he spak aganis his hienes, quhilk wes in his drukinnes.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of Robert Smyth (merchand in Edinburgh) chancillar, stand, pronunceit and declarit Johnne Diksoun, Inglisman, in Lyn, to be ffylit, culpable and convict, for contravening of our souerane lordis Actis of Parliament; and speciallie, of ane Act maid be his hienes, in anno 1584, and in anno 1585, rateifeit be ane Act maid in anno 1594; in famekill, that vpour the xxv day of Julij lastbypast, being the Sabbath day, Archebauld Gairdenar, ane of his Maiesteis cannoneiris, haifing requyrit the said Johnne Diksoun to vyre his boit¹ to gif place to his Maiesteis ordinance; he fyrst ansuerit, that ‘he wald nocht vyre his boit for King or Kafard;’ and thairefter, maift prouddie, arrogantlie, sklanderoufflie and calunnioufflie callit his Maiestie ‘ane bastard King;’ and that ‘he wes nocht wordie to be obeyit.’

SENTENCE. The Justice depute, be the mouth of Williame Gray dempftar, ordenit the said Johnne Diksoun to be tane to ane gibet, standand beneth the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thairvpoun to be hangit quhill he be deid,² &c.

Uttering and bending base coin.

Aug. 6.—ALEXANDER KELMAN in Garuiocht, and Williame Gairdin sone to W^m G., sone to Robert G. in Culroisfe.

VERDICT. Fand to be ffylit, culpabill and conviet of the outputting of false and adulterit coinage of the patren of ten-shilling-pees, to the similitude of our fouerane lordis trew coinzie, to findrie perfounes.

¹ Veer his boat. ² See the Cases of Tennent, Oct. 10, 1600; Cornwall, Apr. 25, 1601; and Ross, who was executed on Sept. 10, 1618.

SENTENCE. The Justice, be the mouth of Johnne Nisbet dempstar, ordenit the saidis Alexander Kelman and Williame Gairdin to be tane to ane gybbet, vnder the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thair hangit quhill thai be deid; and all thair guidis to be efcheit.

Horse-stealing—Theft, &c.

Aug. 6.—SYMONE MOFFET in the Ryneclewis.

Dilatit and fylit for the thifteous steling of xxx naigis (horfes) and meris; and alsé of ane cloik, ane hairt of siluer owrgilt, ane woux,¹ ane Camrige owrla,² &c.; committit in Junij last; and of Common Thift.

SENTENCE. To be hangit quhill he be deid, vpoun the said Gibbet; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit.

Slaughter.

Aug 7.—GYLBERT PACOK, seruitour to the Maister of Orknay.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of (the slaughtar of) vmq^{le} Hary Colvile (Perfoun of Vrquhart); committit the nynt of Julij lastwas.

PERSEWARIS, James Merfar as brothir, James Coluile brothir sone, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune.

PRELOCUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Rychard Spens, George Abirneithie.

The persewaris produceit the Dittay aganis Gylbert Pacok, for the slaughtar of vmq^{le} Hary Coluile Perfoun of Vrquhart, and desyrit proces.

The pannell alledgis, that na proces can be led agane the said Gylbert this day, be reafoun he is nather tane in flagranti crimine, quhairof he is innocent; nor yit contumax, nor demuceit for ane crime; and swa, be the custum of the Court and Act of Parliament, he aucht to be summond vpoun xv dayes wairning. This wes decydit betuix Maidland and Crouner Prestounis brether, in this fami: Justice Court, and in all vtheris perfounes, quha wes presentit on this forme, on pannell: In respect quhairof, na proces can be had agane the defender, vnto the tyme he be summond vpoun xv dayes wairning.—The Aduocat anfuert, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, becaus the defender in effect wes tane in flagranti crimine; infasar as he, haifing committit slaughtar contenit in his dittay, the complent thairof being maid to his Maiestie, he directit his Commissioun for taking of him; be vertew quhairof, he wes apprehendit, and now presentit to Justice. As to the practik alledgeit betuix Crouner³ Prestounis breder and Maidland, it can nawayis militat in this cais, becaus Maidland wes accusit for ane cryme committit in Flanderis, mair nor ane yeir eftir the committing thair of; and this man is apprehendit incontinent, sa fone as the cryme come to his Maiesteis knowlege, and sa fone as his hienes Commiffioun could tak effect. As to the defenderis alledgeance of his innocence, it is mair propper to be tryit be ane Assyse nor¹ to be credite for his affirmatioun.—It is anfuerit (replied), that the alledgeance standis relevaut, nochtwithstanding the anfuer maid be the Aduocat and his lordschipis informeris, for heir I am vpoun the proceffe castin of the Justice Court and Act of Parliament, the wordis quhair of admittis na extentione nor interpretatioun, being ft . . . ;² and the Act preceiffie beris, that ane partie nocht apprehendit in flagranti, quhilk is in ipso delicto, falbe wairnit vpoun xv dayes wairning; the custum of the Court, swa vniuerfallie obseruit, thair is newir ane word ex incontinente contenit in the haill Act. As to the Kingis Commiffioun, direct for apprehensioun of the man, the forme of the Commiffioun standis according to the custum of Commoun law and practik, quhilk is but³ preiudice of the parteis lauchfull defensis; swa that nowther the directing of the Commiffioun, nor apprehensioun of me, be vertew thair of hurtis me in my lauchfull defensis; and the priuiledge is grantit to me, be his hienes lawis: And albeit, I haif the priuiledge vpoun xv dayes wairning, be his hienes lawis, yitt that all occasioun of giltienes may be tane away, and that I wes maift innocent of the fact and cryme quhairvpoun I am to be accusit, desyring alwayis⁴ to haif the gyft of his hienes lawis, I cam in the countrey, and remanit in the countrey, nocht being fugitiue, and to abyde his hienes lawis, according to the lawis of the countrey: In respect quhair of, my alledgeance standis relewant.—The Aduocat acceptis the alledgeance in quantum, and thairby inferrit ane vehement presumption agane the defender of giltienes, in respect he refusis to abyde ane tryell of the cryme presentlie laid to his chairge; and forder, repetis the maner of his taking contenit in the fyrst anfuer, and referis to the Judge.

¹ Watch.

² Cambric overlay, a sort of ruff.

³ Colonel.

The Justice ffindis, nochtwithstanding of the said defenderis alledgeance, that the mater aucht to pass to the knowlege of ane Assyse.

Allegeis, that James Stewart of Gramsly can nocht pass vpoun his Assyse, becaus he is brother to my Lord of Orknay; becaus my Lord of Orknay is persewar, and hes gewin informatioun bayth to the Aduocat and vtheris, for persuit of the matter.—James Stewart repellit, becaus he gaif partiall counfall.—Henrie Sinclair of Loquhoy repellit, for partiall counfall.—Eduard Scolay repellit, for partiall counfall.

The Aduocat, for instructioun of the Assyse, produccit his Depositionis.

The said Gylbert tuik instrumentis (that) he revokit his Depositionis.

VERDICT. The Assyis (thirteen in mumber) being sworne and admittit vpoun

¹ Than.

² This word is obliterated in the Record.

³ Without.

⁴ Nevertheless.

the Assyse of Gylbert Pacok, removit furth of Court to the Counfallous and votit vpoun the poynt of the Dittay, eftir chefing of James Maifertoun (Merchand in Edinburgh) chancillar, and being throwehlie auisit thairwith, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said Gylbert to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of airt and pairt, red and counfall of airt and pairt of the slauchtir of vinq^{le} Hary Coluile; committit the nynt of Julij lastbypast.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thair his heid to be strikin fra his body; and all his movables escheate and inbrocht.

Hamesucken—Assieging House of Ludquhairn—Taking captive, &c.

Aug. 9.—WILLIAME MOWAT in Turreyf, (feruand to Alexander Hay eldest sone to vinq^{le} Andro Erll of Erroll).

Dilatit for cuming with convocatioun of our souerane lordis lieges, bodin in weirlike maner, with lang culveringis, dagis and pistolettis, &c., contrar the tenour of the Actis of Parliament, be way of Hamesuckin, to the place of Ludquhairne, and asseigeing of Williame Keyth of Ludquharne thairin; entering thairin be force, taking of him captiue and prifoner:—And for maisterfull Reifing and away-taking, furth of the said place of Ludquhairne, of the said Williamis hail infycht pleneiffing and writtis: And tranfpoirting and careing of the said Williame Keyth of Ludquharne captiue and prifoner to the place of Ardmakhorne; quhair thay detenit him, be the space of aucht dayes or thairby; vsurp and thairby of our souerane lordis autoritie vpoune thame; committit in the moneth of October lastbypast.

PERSEWARIS.

Williame Keyth of Ludquharne, Mr Thomas Hamiltonne of Drumcarne aduocat to our souerane lord.

The Aduocat produceit ane command of the Kingis Maiestie, subferyuit with his hand, with ane vthir Warrant subferyuit be the Lordis of Sessioune, commanding the Justice to proceid and minister justice in the said mater, quhairof the tenouris follow.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputis, We greit you weil. It is our will, and we command you, that vpoun the sycht beirof, you faille nocht to proceid and minister justice, in the eriminall caus to be persewit before you, att the instance of the Laird of Ludquharne and our Aduocattis for our interes, aganis certane personis contenit in the Lettres raisit pairament, for the taking of the said Laird, and vtheris crymes speeciallie expressit pairin, vpoun the nynt day of August instant; but all forder continewatioun or delay; nochtwithstanding of quhatsumewir vthir command, Warrant or objectionne, maid or to be maid, gewin or to be gewin in the contrar; anent the quhilkis and panis pairin, we dispens. As you will answer to us, vpoune your offices and obediencie: Quhairament, thir presentis falbe your sufficient warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, att Dunfermling, the nynt day of August, 1596.

(Sic subfribitur,)

JAMES R.

Followis the tennour of the SUPPLICATION, and WARRAND gewin be the Lordis of Seffioune.

My Lordis of Counfall, vnto 3our ll. humlie menis and schawis, I 3our seruitour, William Keyth of Ludquharne, That quhair I haif raifit criminall lettres be 3our ll. delyuerance aganis William Dwikat, (Duiget or Duguid,) Hary Ramfay, Archd. Herring, Robert Creychtoun and Alex. Harvie, seruandis to Dame Elizabeth Dowglas Countes of Errol, Alex. Hay eldest sone to vmq^e Andro Erll of Erroll, William Mowat his seruand, Patrik Con of Auchry, Alex. Hay in Ardmakhorne, Alex. Hay in Auchquharne, Patrik Cruikfehank in Ardifrie, James Butter in Gask, Thomas Hay pair, Johnne Hay and Patrik Cantlie, seruitour for pe tyme to Patrik Barclay of Towie,¹ Gylbert Stewinfoune in Ogftoune, Thomas Craigie in Lochcow, Johnne Findlater pair, Johnne Stewinfoune and Thomas Gybfoun pair, Johnne Moffie pair, Wm. Sym smyth in Mytoun of Sorvie, Patrik Sym att pe mylne of Sorvie, Thomas Cruikfehank sone to Patrik C. in Ardifrie, Patrik Hay in Haddo, Gylbert Gray in Bannatwhill, James Gray pair, Patrik Hay in Over Ardinakhorne; and certane vtheris pair complices, specefeit in pe saidis Lettres, for pe crymes and cauffis pairin containit; quhilkis ar dewlie execute and indorsat vpoun pe foirnameit perfounes, and pay pairby fummond to compeir before the Justice generall and his deputes in pe Tolbuith of Edinburgh, the nynt day of August instant, in pe hour of caus; lykeas I am reddie to persew the saidis lettres. NEURYELES, as I am informit, Ludouik Duik of Lennox, att pe instigation and perswasoun of pe said parteis, intendis to vse and produce ane pretendit Commissioun of Lietenandrie within pe boundis of pe North, and be vertew pairof, to repledge the saidis personis fra the said Justice generall and his deputis to his jurisdictionne and Court of Justiciare, to pe grit hinderance of Justice; albeit, the said pretendit Commissiounne aucht nawayis to impeid nor slay justice, to be ministrat to all his Maiesteis lieges, be pe Justice generall and his deputis; the samin being grantit cumulatiue, and nocht priuatiue: Lykeas, I am nocht liabill to persew justice aganis the foirnameit perfounes in pe North pairtis of pis realme, in respect of pe grit multitude of my parteis, and pat pe Laird of Balquhan, Lieutenentis depute, is sifter and bræir bairn with pe said Patrik Con of Auchry, ane of pe cheif committeris of pe crymis contenit in pe saidis Lettres. QUHILK being considerit be his Maieftie, his lienes hes directit his Warrant to pe Justice generall and his deputis, to proceid and minister justice in pe said mater to ws parteis, nochtwithstanding pe said pretendit Commissioun: As pe samin, subseryuit be his Maieftie, heir present to schaw, beris. NOCHTYELES, pe said Justice generall and his deputis refusis to obey pe samin, without pay be compellit. Befeikand heirfore 3our ll., pat I may haif command to ane maser or vthir officiar of armes, to pass and charge pe said Justice generall and his deputis, to proceid and minister justice in pe said mater to ws bayth parteis, as accordis of pe law, nochtwithstanding of pe said pretendit Commissioun of Lieutenandrie or Justiciarie, grantit to pe said Duik of Lennox; or ony vthir Commissioun, Letter or previe charge, purebest, or to be purchest att his Maiesteis handis, in hinderance of justice; and 3our ll. anfuere.

(Sic subscribitur)

H. BIKARTOUNE.

(Sic deliberatur) APUD EDINBURGH, nono Augusti, anno lxxxvj, Fiat vt petitur.

(Sic subscribitur) BLANTYRE, M. J. LYNDASAY, Clericus Registri.

Compeirit M^r Thomas Rollok, procuratour for the Duik, and produceit ane Commissiounne granted to his lordschip be his Maieftie, of the tennour and contentis thairin contenit, of the dait, at Abirdene, the aucht day of November 1594; with ane Act of Secreit Counfall ratifeing the samin, of the dait, in December I^mV^clxxxiiiij yeiris; with lettres directit fra the Kingis Maieftie and Lordis of Secreit Counfall, of the dait in March lastwes, discharginge the Justice and Aduocat to proceid aganis quhatfumeuir perfonis dnelland within the boundis contenit in the Dukis Commiffioun, within the quhilk the faidis haill perfonis callit to this day, for the taking of the Laird of Ludquhairne, dnell: And lykewayis tuik instrumentis, that the Justice wes difchargeit to proceed in the faid mater be James Lowrie, meffinger; and that for all of the faidis parteis: And allegeit, that the Justice could nawyis proceed, in refpect of the writtis and difcharge aboue mentionat, nochtwithftanding the Kingis Maiefteis previe delyuerance, authorifit be the Lordis of Sefsioun, quhilkis ar nocht of that ftrenth and effect as to tak away the ftrenth and effect of the writtes aboue fpecifeit. The advocat anfuerit, that the faid alledgeance aucht to be repellit, nochtwithftanding the writtis produceit, quhairvpoun the famin is foundit; in refpect of the Kingis Maiefteis expres Warrant in the contrar, togidder with the delyuerance of the Lordis of Counfall, alreddie produceit be the perfewaris, and of the Judgis notorietie that the Dukis Commiffioun is difchargeit and renunceit; lykeas the Warrantis produceit be the perfewaris tendis to the doing of Justice, and the vtheris Warrantis, produceit be the faid Mr Thomas Rollok, to the delay and hinderance of justice; and thairfore aucht nawyis to be refpectit, and the Judge aucht to proceed and minifter justice nochtwithftanding thair of.

¹ Vid. Trial of Barclay of Towie, (viz. Tollie or Tolly,) Jul. 29, 1596.

It is forder allegeit that the Judge can nocht vnlaw the parteis nor thair cautioneris this day, in refpect thay ar in bona fide and mycht juftlie hyde away; this, in refpect of the Commiffioun and Lettres of Difcharge publictlic grantit, and the previe Warrant and delyuerance nather intimat nor declarit to thame, thare wes na neeffitie to thame to compeir, nor thay can nocht be put thairby in mala fide.—The Advocat anfweris, the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, as nawyis compitent to the proponer, bot onlie to the parteis abfent, quhais contumacie aucht to be pwneift for thair nocht compeirance.

THE Justice ffindis proces, and ordanis the cautioneris fand for thair compeirance this day to be vnlawit, &c.

The cautioneris are accordingly amerciati as follows: for Patrik Con of Auchry, fyve hundreth markis; for Alex^r Hay in Nether Ardnakhorn, ij^c markis; for Alex^r Hay fone to vmq^{le} Andro Erll of Erroll, ij^c markis; and the remainder, in j^c markis each.—And that ‘the principall perfonnes nocht comperand to be denunceit rebels and put to the horne, and all thair movabill gudis to be efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vfe, as fugitives fra the lawes for the crymes aboue writtin.’—Continued to the Air of ‘Aberdene, tertio Itineris, xv dierum.’

Theft—Spuilzie.

Aug. 12.—HENRY WALKER in Elrig and seven others.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the taking of Niniane Thomfoune feruitour for the tyme to Gylbert Pennycuick, brothir to the Laird of Pennycuick; and for that (he) thifteouslie stail, concealit and away tuik fra him sax hundreth markes money, ane pair of reid silk schankis,¹ thre pair of worfet schankis, twa pair of stemming fokis,² aucht farkis, xij ruffis of camrige and lanie,³ ane pair of mwles,⁴ ane pair of pantounis,⁵ twa pair of marrekynne schone;⁶ committ the secunde day of Nouember 1585.

The persounis on pannell desyrit the said Gylbert Pennycuick to gif his ayth de calumnia, quhidder he hes guid caus to persew the dittay or nocht. The said Gylbert ansuerit, that he had guid caus, as he wes informit. Thaireftir the said Gylbert declarit vpoun his knowledge, so far as he kennis, thay wer thair.—Thaireftir it wes alledgeit be the pannell that na partie, vpoun information, can be had to persew in Criminall caussis, and speciallie in the actioun of Thift; seing Gylbert Pennycuick was nocht actuallie thair him selff, bot the guidis and geir alledgeit spuilzeit and stollin wes tane fra his fernand, callit Ninian Thomfoun, as the lybill beris; quha presentlie nather comperis be him selff nor his procuratour to persew.

‘THE Justice thaireftir desertit the matir.’

Murder.

Sept. 17.—JOHNE CAMPBELL of Arkinglase.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the crewall murthour and slauchteris of vni^{le} Sir Johnne Campbell of Calder knycht, committit in Februar 1591; and vni^{le} . . . M^{inturner} wechman (watchman) of the place of Taneftrie, (seruitour to Duncan Campbell of Innerlewir.)

The Justice-depute produceit ane Warrant, subscryuit be his Maiestie; quhair-of the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputis. It is our will, and We command you, pat ye sit and proceid in þe criminall Lettres rasit att our instance and att þe instance of our aduocattis aganis Johnne Campbell of Arkinglas, according to þe tennour of þe Lettres rasit pairanent; keband þir presentis for your Warrant. Subscryuit with our hand, at Dunfermling, the xvj of September 1596.

(Sic subseribitur)

JAMES R.

The Aduocat produceit ane vther Warrant, direct fra his Maiestie to him, quhair-of the tennour followis.

REX,

ADUOCATTIS, or ony ane of you; It is our will, and We command you, that ye persew and follow furth the lettres raft att our inflance and 3ouris aganis Johnne Campbell of Arkinglas, and perfew him according to pe tennour of pe lettres, as 3e will anfuer to ws vpoune 3our office; kepand þir prefentis for 3our warrand. Subferyuit with our hand, att Dunfermling, pe xvi day of September 1596.

¹ Stockings. ² Tamine or taming, Fr. estamine, Lat. stamen; viz. socks made from prepared flax. ³ Cambrick and lawn. ⁴ Slippers, usually made of velvet. ⁵ A sort of slipper, or more probably pattens, being a sort of elug having wooden soles, with latches to tie; they were formerly much worn by people of all ranks in Edinburgh. ⁶ Shoes made of marekin, (Fr. marroquin;) or dressed goatskin. This case is quoted, chiefly on account of this enumeration of apparel.

(Sic fabferibitur)

JAMES R.

The faid Laird of Arkinglas takis instrumētis of his comperance, and proteffit that the Laird of Arncapill his cautioner be fred; as lykwyis proteffit for Alexander Bifchop of Brechin, Sir James Edmeftoun of Duntreith knycht, Alex^r Meinzeis of Weyme, Sir James Skrymgeour of Didvp knycht, Awla M^ccalley of Arncapill, Colene Campbell of Blairnerne and George Balfour of M^ccormaftoune, quha become actit cautionaris and fourteis for the faid Johnne Campbell of Arkinglas, vnder the pane of fourtie thowfand pvdīs, that he fould compeir before the Juftice or his deputis, the thryd day of the nixt Juftice-air of the Sherefdomē qubair he duellis, or foner vpoun fyftene dayes wairning and vndirly the law for airt and pairt, red and counfall of the flauchter and murthouris of vmq^{le} Sir Johnne Campbell of Calder knycht, and vmq^{le} M^cinturner; that thay and ewerie ane of thame fould be frie and relewit of the faid cautionarie, in refpect of the faid Johnne Campbell of Arkinglas comperance this day, being lauchfullie fummond att the inflance of the Kingis aduocattis, to vnderly the law for the faidis flauchteris; and the hail parteis being dewlie and lauchfullie wairnit to haif comperit this day and place, to haif infistit in perfuit of him, for the faidis flauchteris.

PERSEWAR, Mr Wm. Hairl, aduocat.

PRELOQUITOUR for Arkinglas, Mr Alex. King.

The Juftice continewis the mater to the morne that the King may be fpokin in this mater.

(Sep. 18.)—Continued to the xxij of Sep. ‘Plegio, Domino Arncapill.’

(Sep. 23.)—The famin day, comperit Johnne Campbell of Arkinglas, and offerit him reddie to abyde the tryall of the law, for the alledgeit airt and pairt of the flauchter of vmq^{le} Sir Johnne Campbell, &c.; and proteffit for releif of the Laird of M^ccawley, his cautioner.

The Juftice, in refpect name of the kingis aduocattis comperit to perfew him, Defertit the dyet, and ordenit the cautioner of the faid Laird of Arkinglas to be releuit.

Slaughter.

Oct. 14.—JOHNNE MAISTER OF ORKNAY.

Comperit James Merfer as brother to vmq^{le} Hary Colville Parfoun of Vrquhart, and produceit our fouerane lordis Lettres, dewlie execute and indorfat and perfewing thairof, purchest be him felff, to tak fouertie of Johnne Stewart Maister of Orknay, that he fould haif comperit this day and place, in the hour of caus, and vndirly the law for the alledgeit airt and pairt of the flauchter of the faid vinq^{le} Hary Colvile; quhairvpoun he askit instrumentis, and proteffit for releif, (that) Alexander Maister of Elphinstoune, cautioner for reporting and perfwewing of the faid Lettres be relewit.

The faid James Merfer tuik instrumentis, that the Maister of Orknay comperit nocht; & proteffit for proces aganis him & his cautioneris, feing the hour is past.

Mr Thomas Nicolfoun comperit, and allegeit na proces fould be deducit aganis the Maister of Orknay and his cautioneris, feing the King and Counfall hes ordenit the mater to be continewit; and that he offerit cautionne for the entrie of the faid M^r of Orknay the morne. The faid Mr James Mercer allegeis, that thair wes na ordinance produceit of continewatioune; and that na cautionne aucht to be ressaunt, in respect the partie comperit nocht nor enterit.

The quhilk day, Hary Commendatour of Sanct-Colmes-Inch and Sir George Elphinstoun of Blythifwod knycht, oft tymes callit, as cautioneris and fourteis, conjunctlie and feuerallie, for Johnne Stewart M^r of Orknay, to haif enterit and presentit him before our fouerane Lordis Justice or his deputis, the saidis day and place, in the houre of caus, to haif vnderlyne the law for the dewyng and airt and pairt of the slauchter of vinq^{le} Hary Coluile seruitour to Patrick Erll of Orknay; committit be Adam Gordoune, brother to the Guidman of Auchanuaquhy, and diuerse vtheris his complices, in the moneth of Junij lastbypast; lauchfull time of day biddin and nocht enterand, the faid Johnne Master of Orknay, as faid is, the saidis Hary Stewart Commendatar of Sanct-Colmes-Inch and Sir George Elphinstoune, as cautioneris conjunctlie and feuerallie, wer vnlawit for his nocht entrie, in the panis contenit in the Actis of Parliament: Lyke as, the faid Joⁿ M^r of Orknay wes adigeit to be denunceit our fouerane lordis rebell and put to the horne; and all his movabill guidis ordenit to be escheit and inbrocht to his hienes vse, as fugitiue fra the lawis of the realme, for the faid cryme.¹

Slaughter.

Oct. 26.—SIR PATRIK BANNATYNE of Stenhoufe.

James Merfer produceit our fouerane lordis Lettres dewlie execute and indorfat, purchast be him as broder, with the kyn and freindis of vinq^{le} Hary Coluile Parfoun of Vrquhart, aganis Sir Patrik Bannatyne of Stenhoufe.

Slaughter.

Oct. 26.—WILLIAM BANNATYNE of Gairsey, and James Lokie, wryter in Edinburgh.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vinq^{le} Mr Hary Coluile Parfoun of Vrquhart; committit in Junij lastbypast.

¹ On the margin, opposite this last entry, 'This Act, ordanit be his Ma^{ties} Warrant, to be extinct and deletit.'

DITTAY againſt Williame Bannatyne of Gairfay and James Lokie.

FORSAMEKILL as, thay, haifing confaut ane deidlie feid, rancour and malice aganis þe faid vni^{le} Hary Coluile, confultit, deuyfit and interpryfit his crewall flaechter, with Johnne Stewart, brother german to Patrik Erll of Orknay, Adame Gordoune, and diuers vtheris pair complices: Lyke as, the faid Adame, accompaneit with Alex^r Dunbar of and Thomas Tweddell feruitour to þe faid W^m Bannatyne of Gairfay in Orknay, and dinerse vtheris pair complices, to the nowmer of xxx perfounes or þairbye, all bodin in feir of weir, in þe moneth of Junij laſtbypaſt, ſchippit in ane ſehip of Dyfart, at Muntrois, and faillit to Orknay; quhair þe faid Thomas Tweddell paſt aſchoir, to þe faid Williame Bannatynis hous of Gairfay, brocht furth of þe faid hous victuallis and mwnitioune, with þe quhilk he furneiſt þe faid ſehip, and pairefter faillit to zetland to Burwick and paſt over land to Neip in Neſtrig, quhair þe faid vni^{le} Hary was for þe tyme, doand þe faid Patrik Erle of Orknay, his maiſteris lefull eſſairis and buſſines, traifing na ewill, harme, iniurie or perſuit of ony perſonis, but to haif lewit vnder Godis peax and our ſouerane lordis; and þairvpoun, the tuelt day of Julij laſtbypaſt, the faidis perfounes maiſt ſehamefullie, crewallie and vmerciſullie ſlew the faid vni^{le} Hary Coluile; and thay and ilk ane of þame were airt and pairt þairof; the ſamin being committit of þe ſpecial cauſing, dewyſing, counſaling, hyring, conduceing, command, aſſiſtance and ratehabitoune of þe faidis Williame Bannatyne and James Lokie: Lykeas, the faid W^m Bannatyne of Gairfay, directit the faid Thomas Tuaddell, his ſeruitour, to his place of Gairfay in Orknay, quha eſtir coming to þe faid place, brocht out munitionn and victuallis to furneis him ſelf and remanent perfounis, committeris of þe faid flaechter: Committit vpoun ſett purpois, proviſioun, foirthocht fellony, in hie and maniſeſt contemp-tioune of our ſouerane lordis authoritie and lawis, in ewill exampill, &c.

PERSEWARIS.

James Merſer as brother, James Coluile, brother to the Laird of Cleiſch, Mr Jeremie Lyndefay.

PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannell.

Mr Thomas Bellenden, The Gudeman of Leſ . . . , Mr Johnne Nicolſoune, Mr Thomas Nicolſoune.

The Pannell askis instrumentis of thair compearance, and proteſtit that thair cautionaris (be releuit.)

The pannell alledgis, that the Lettres of Hoirning ar ewill execute aganis W^m Bannatyne and James Lokie, and ar null in the ſelf; becauſe the defenderis, long before the chairge and executionis thairof, and be the ſpace of ane half yeir preceding the cryme committit, had thair duelling place in Edinburgh, and hes maid thair reſidence thair continewallie ſenſyne; ſwa that the faidis chargeis and executionnis, being maid in Orknay, and nocht cumming to thair knowledge, ar altogidder ineffectuall; as alſo the faid denunciatoune is null, nocht only for the cauſ foirfaid, bot alſo becauſe the faidis defendaris had fund cautionn, actit in the buikis of Adionnall, before the faid pretendit denunciatoune: In reſpect quhair-of, thay are wranguillie demunceit for nocht finding of cautionne. The perſewaris alledgis, that the letters of (are) lauchfullie execute, in reſpect thay are execute att thair duelling hous.

THE Justice findes the Letters of Hoirning null, in reſpect the cautionne wes fund lang befor the denunciatoune, &c.

The perſewaris produceis the Depoſitiounis of Gylbert Pacock and Williame Stewart, quhair thay deponit aganis William Bannatyne; togidder with ane Band, subferyuit, betuix Adam Gordoune, W^m Bannatyne and Thomas Tueddell on the ane pairt, and James Lokie on the vther.

The perfounes (on pannell) takis instrumentis, that thair is na thing produceit for verificatioun of the Dittay, except the Band produceit, alledgeit subferyuit be the pannell, Adam Gordoun, Thomas Tueddell and the Maister of Orknay; and the alledgeit Depositionis of vniq^le Williame Stewart and Gylbert Pacok: And anfueraud to the pretendit Dittay, and verificatioun thairof, produceit; alledgeis, that the said Dittay is na wyis of veritie, nor zit is the famin ony wyis verefeit be the writtis produceit; speciallie, seing the Dittay is sett down with thir circumstances, that the pannell wes airt and pairt of the said slauchter, the famin being committit of thair speciall causing, dewyfyng, consulting, hyring, condeucing, command, assistance and rathabitoun, and that the said Williame Bannatyne directit the said Thomas Tueddell, his seruitour, to his place of Gairfay in Orknay; quhilkis ar the substanciall pointis of the Dittay, and as thay ar sett down conjunctlie in the famin; sa all the saidis substanciall pairtis and everie ane of thame aucht to be cleirly verefeit and provin, speciallie in respect that in all actiounis criminall, probationes debent esse luce meridiana clariores. L.ultima C. de Probationibus. And as to the pretendit assertioun, contenit in the lybell and in the Dittay, bering that Thomas Tueddell wes seruitour to Williame Bannatyne, the contrar thairof is of veritie; ffor it is notourly knawin that he wes ane officiar of armes, haifing his awin hous, wyffe and famelie; and the Band produceit preifis manifestlie the assertioun of the said persewar, in safar as it proportis, that the said Thomas Tueddell wes ane speciall contraker for him selff, alyke principall with all the rest of the perfounis contenit in the Band; quhairas, gif he had bene the said Williame Bannatynes seruand, it is nocht probable that the Maister of Orknay wald haif contractit or bandit with ony of the said Williamis seruandis, the said Williame Bannatyne being bund to serue him be the said Band; swa that quabatsfumenir deid alledgeit to haif bene done be the said Thomas Tueddell, can nawyis tuich the said Williame, and thairfore aucht nawyis be respectit be the Inqueist: And as to the pretendit Depositionis of Williame Stewart and Gylbert Pacok, the famin makis na thing to the purpois, and can preif na thing, aganis ony of the pannell, ffor diuerse cauffis: First, becaus thair Confessiounis, maid extrajudiciallie, merite na fayth; nather authorisit be the Justice (or) Justice-Clarkis subscriptione, nor yit done in thair presens: Secundlie, becaus thay ar extortit Confessiounis be the defunctis freindis, and maid in presens of the Erll of Orknay, quha schew him selff partie in that cause, att quhais appitite and desyre the famin wer maid; as the Depositionis beris the famin to be maid, in his presens: Thrydlie, the saidis Depositionis ar maid be tua perfounes that ar giltie of the said cryme, and wes actuall committeris of the said slauchter, quhilk can nawyis prejudge ony thryd partie; feing it is manifest, bayth of the Cannoune and Ciuile law, that socius criminis, and he that is giltie of the samyn cryme, can nocht be witnes aganis ony thryd persoun, and his Depositioun can nawyis be preiudiciall to him: This is expresse decydit in Cap., Veniens; et in Capitulo, Personas de testibus; et in Capitulo, Primo de confessis; quhair the text, and the glose, and all the Doctouris contendes, Quod nulli de se confesso credendum est contra alios, excepto Crimine Lese maiestatis; et quod confessio contentis de se et crimine, si non est aduersus alios, admittenda. This famin is decydit in L. finali, C. de Accusationibus, quhair the law iuhibitis expresse all Judges, to speir ony questiounis att sic persounes as confessis the crymis thame selfis, quhilk may preiudge onye thryd persoune; and declaris all sic Depositiounis that ar maid be giltie persounis, and that hes tane the cryme vpoun thame, to be irrite and of nane availl, insofar as thay may be preiudiciall to ony thryd persoune: Ferdlie, becaus the saidis Depositiounis contenis na substantiall point aganis ony of the pannell; for it is newir deponit, in ony of thame, aganis ony of the pannell, that thay wer actual doaris, consultaris, committeris or dewyferis of the said deid; bot ar naikit assertiounis of the reherfall of vthir men, quhilk can preiff na thing in ane ciuile caus, mekill less in ane criminall; and thair is na thing contentit in any of the saidis Depositiounis quhilk preiffis that point of the Dittay, that Williame Bannatyne directit Thomas Tueddell to the doing of the turne, quhilk is the maist substantiall point of the Dittay aganis him; and that point nocht being provin, thair is na wound nor deid alledgeit committit be the said Thomas Tueddell, quhilk may infer ony preiudice to the said Williame: for it can nocht be verifeit, nather is itt of veritie that he wes his seruitour att the tyme lybellit, nor ane zeir of before; and gewand and nocht grantand that he had bene his seruand, yit the maister can nocht be obleift for the fact and deid of his seruand, except his causing and directioun had bene clerlie provin; for, according to the commoun rewle of the law, that ane fould nocht be pvneift for ane vthir, it is cleir and manifest, that the maister can nocht be obleift for the faultis of his seruandis, nor the father for the faultis of his sonis, bot the contrar; as is playnlie diffydit in Bartol. in L. Ne quidem ff. de Incendio, ruina et naufragio, and be all the Doctouris in L. de Seruis ffugitiuis; quhair it is expresse concludit, that the fault of the seruandis or subiectis, aucht nawyis to be hurtfull to thair maister: And as to that pairt of the Depositioun, bering, that Mr Archebald Wilkie said to ane of the deponeris, that ‘ Williame Bannatyne wes the wyte of all the Maister of Orknayis plattis laying,’ the contrar thairof is of veritie, and falbe cleirly provin be the said Mr, and Depositioun, gif neid beis: In respect quhair of, the saidis pretendit Depositioun can work na thing aganis the pannell. And as to the Band produceit, the famin can preiff na part of the Dittay ; for thair is na mentiounne maid of any sic interpryis in the said Band ; bot the famin is ane naikit and generall Band, of the said Williame and James service to the Maister of Orkuay, and of his maintenance and defence ; quhilk is maist lesum of the law, and contenis na kynd of probatioun nor presumptioun aganis the pannell, or ony of thame ; speciallie, seing that the said Band wes maid for ane just necessar caus, viz. ffor reconciliatioun of the deidlie feid, quhilk had continewit ane lang tyme of before, betuix the Maister of Orkuay and thame ; and thairvpoun, had followit grit effusioun of thair blude, as is notour to the haill toune of Edinburgh ; quhair the said Maister of Orknay diuerse tymes assailzeit the said Williame Bannatyne, and wes woundit, with twa or thre of his seruandis ; and the notorietie heirof is kuawin to the persewar, quha wes reddie with him, att diuerse tymis, to haif resistit the Maister of Orknay and his furie : In respect quhairof, the said Williame, being ane meane gentilman, and haifing to do with sa potent ane aduerfar as the Maister of Orknay, had maist just caus to bind vp the stratest band of freindschip with the said Maister of Orknay, 3e (yea), and (if) it wer to feill it with his awin blude, for his releif ; and sic ane generall Band of freindschip, can newir mak nor couviet all the persounis contenit thairin, of all the deidis and malifices that sal happin to be committit be ony ane persoun contenit in the Band : And thairfoir, albeit all the rest of the persones contenit in the Band, except the pannell, had bene committeris of the deid lybellit, yit that can nawyise mak the pannell to be giltie thairof, seing thay wer nather airt nor pairt of the famin.

The persewar, for ansuer, desyrit the Assyise to merk the Depositionis and the Band produceit ; and protestit for wilfull errour, in caise thay acquit.

VERDICT. The Assyise, be pluralitie of votis, chude Andro Rychartfoune (merchand), burges of Edinburgh, Chancillar, and thairefter reasonit vpoun the pointis of the Dittay ; and being throwehlie awyfit thairwith, together with the Depositionis and Band produceit, and ansueris maid thairto, &c. fand, pronun- ceit and declarit the saidis Williame Bannatyne and James Lokie to be Innocent, cleane and acquit of the haill crymes aboue writtin, contenit in Dittay : Quhair- vpoun thay askit instrumentis.

NOTA.—James Merfer tuik vp the Depositionis and Band produceit be him.

Slaughter by Witchcraft and Sorcery.

Oct. 30.—ALESOUNE JOLLIE, spous to Robert Rae in Fala.

Dilatit of the alledgeit airt and pairt of the slauehter of vmq^{le} Iffobell Hepburne, spous to Johnne Edmestoun in Fala, be Wichcraft and Sorcerie ; com- mittit in the monethis of Apryle and Maij, 1596.

PERSEWAR, Mr Williame Hairt, aduocat.

PROLOQUOTOUR for the pannell, Mr Thomas Craig.

Comperit the Aduocat, and produceit Lettres of Secreit Counfall, of the dait the fyft of October instant; commanding the (Justice), Justice-clark and thair deputis, to sett ane Court to this (day), and to caus summond ane Assyse to Alesoun Jollie, for the cauffis of Wichcraft contenit in the lettres; commanding also, Johne Edmestoun and James Hepburne in Bancreif, apprehenderis and dilataris of the said Alesoun, to compeir to infist in the perfuit, conforme to thair delatioune, execute be Williame Porteous messinger; commanding also the Aduocat, to infist in perfuit of the said Alesoun, the said day. Be vertew quhairof, the saidis Johne Edmestoun and James Hepburne are lauchfullie wairnit, to compeir and infist in the perfuit of the said Alesoun. And siclyke, produceit vthiris Lettres, purchest at the Aduocattis instance, for chairgeing of the saidis Johne Edmestoun and James Hepburne, to compeir and infist in perfuit of the said Alesoun, and for summondng of ane Assyse, execute be the said Williame Porteous; and thairwith produceit ane Dittay.

The Justice depute produceit ane Warrant, subseryuit be the King, att Lynlythgw the xiiij of October instant, commanding him to putt the said Alesoun to the tryell of ane Assyse, for the crymes contenit in the Dittay.

The Pannell askis instrumentis of the productione of the saidis Lettres, with the executiounis thairof, and that the said Johne Edmestoun and James Hepburne, being lauchfullie summond, oft tymes callit, lauchfull tyme of day biddin and comperit nocht, in respect thay know the danger of the law: And als, the said Alesoun offerit hir to the tryell of the law, but ony delay or continewatioune.—The aduocat, efter accusatioune of the said Alesoune, produceit ane Confessioune maid be vmq^{le} Jonet Stratoune, ane Wich, of the dait, att Tranent, the tent of September lastbypast; quhairby scho confest, that Alesoun Jollie had caufit hir bewich the said vmq^{le} Iffobell Hepburne.

The Assyse chuse Sir James Newtoun (in Crichtoune) Chancillar of the Assyse.

DITTAY of Alesoun Jollie for Sorcery, Witchcraft, Incantation, Poisoning, &c.

ALESOUN JOLLIE, spous to Robert Rae in Fala; 5e ar indict and accusit, fforfamekill as, 3e, haifing confaut ane deidlic haitrent, rancour and malice aganis vmq^{le} Iffobell Hepburne, spous for the tyme to Johne Edmestoun in Fala, for the alledgeit redeming of ane aiker of land fra the said Robert Rae and 5ow; quhairin 3e wes in possessioun be the space of twa 5eiris or thairby; 5e, accompaneit with vmq^{le} Jonet Stratoune, ane notorious Wich, consultit, dewysit and interprysit, within 5our awin duelling-hous in Fala, and within the said vmq^{le} Jonettis duelling-hous in Hefildane, in Lauderdaill, the crewall and abhominabill murthour and slaughter of the said vmq^{le} Iffobell Hepburne; and that, in the monethis of August, September, October, Nouember, December, Januar, Februar and March, in the 5eir of God I^o.V^o.lxxxv 5eiris, att the leif in ane or vthir of the saidis monethis: Lyke as, 5e hyrit, conduceit and seduceit the said vmq^{le} Jonet Stratoune, to performe the said crewall murthour and slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Iffobell; quha, in the saidis monethis and 3eiris of God foirfaidis, att the leift in ane or vthir of the famin, of 3our airt, pairt-taking, consulting and only quarrelling, be Sorcerie, Wichcraft, Incantatioune, Poyfoning, or vther dewelisch or extraordinar meanis, laid ane heavie feiknes vpoun the said vmq^{le} Iffobell Hepburne, quhair of sche deceiffit in the moneth of Maij, the 3eir of God 1^m.V^c.lxxxv 3eiris; and swa, wes crewallie mordreit and flayne be 3ow and the said vmq^{le} Jonet Stratoun, be Wichcraft and Sorcerie, vpoun set purpois, provisioune and foirthocht felony.

Off the quhilk Dittay and crymes foirfaidis, the Justice-depute putt the said Alefoun to the tryell of ane Assyis of the perfounes vnderwrittin; that is to say, James Veitch, in Dalkeyth, &c.—The said Alefoun denyit the famin.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of the said Chancillar, fstand, pronunceit and declarit the said Alefoun to be Innocent, acquit and clangeit of the hail crymes aboue writtin: Quhairvpoun the said Alefoun askit instrumentis.

Slaughter.

Nov. 4.—JOHNE BOYD, burges of Edinburghe.

Dilatit of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Jonet Lyell, spous to Williame Stewinfoune; committit in December last-was.

PERSEWAR, Williame Stewinfoune mariner in Leith.

PRELOQUITOURIS, in perfuit, Mr Rychard Spens, Walter Henryfoune.

Comperit Williame Scharp, and desyrit to continew the mater, becaus that Williame Stewinfoune and he ar hurt; that he may haif place heireftir to persew.

DITTAY of Johnne Boyd burges of Edinburgh.

FORSAMEKILL as, he, haifing confaut ane deidlie rancour and malice aganis vmq^{le} Jonet Lyle, spous to Williame Stewinfoun mariner in Leyth; in je moneth of December lastbypast, come to je toun of Leyth, to je said Jonetis duelling hous pair; and estir he had intysitt hir to pas furth of hir said hous and by (buy) ane half barrell of inzeounis¹ to je said Johnne Boyd, he remanit within hir said hous, past to je almerie,² quhair scho had certane meill;³ in je quhilk meill, he mixt certane poyfoune, of purpois to poyfoun and destroy hir; quha the famin nycht, buik⁴ the meill in bannokis (and) eit pairof; estir je quhilk eitting sche tuik ane vehement vometing and laxatt, and je famin nycht deceiffit pair-by: And swa, he mait crewallie, tressonable, vnnaturallie and barbaroullie slew and mordreit the said vmq^{le} Jonet Lyle, vpoun sett purpois, provisioun and foirthocht felony.

VERDICT. The Assyis chesis Williame Rae (elder, cuitlar in Edinburgh) chancillar; and, in ane voce, Acquittis the said Johnne Boyd of the Dittay vnder (aboue) writtin.

Slaughter by Witchcraft and Sorcery.

Nov. 27.—CRISTIAN STEWART in Nokwalter.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Patrik Ruthvene, be Wichcraft and Sorcerie.

¹ Onions. ² Cupboard, she having been too poor to have a 'meal-girnel.' ³ Oatmeal. ⁴ Baked.

PERSEWARIS, Alexander Ruthvene, brother to the defunct, Mr W^m Hairt, Kingis advocate.

The quhilk day, eftir accufatioun of the faid Cristian Stewart in Nokwalter, be Dittay, in prefens of Walter Robefoun and vtheris perfounis of Affyis, of airt and pairt of the flauchter of vmq^{le} Patrik Ruthven be Witchcraft; the faid Alex^r Ruthven, for verifeing of the faid Dittay produceit the Depofitiounis of the faid Cristiane, maid att the burcht of Perth, in my Lord of Gowreis ludgeing thair, the xvij of Auguft 1596, in prefens of Mr Patrik Galloway minifter, Mr Williame Couper minifter att Perth, Archebald Monereif minifter, Mr Alexander Lyndefay and Thomas Gaw notar: Togidder with the Depofitiounes of the faid Cristian, maid in the faid ludgeing, the xix of the faid moneth of Auguft, in prefens of the faid Mr Patrik Galloway, Mr Williame Couper, Mr Williame Rynd, Johnne Roife and Henry Eldar notar; all fufcryuit with thair hand: Togidder with ane vther Depofitioun, maid in the ludgeing foirfaid, the xxj day of the faid moneth of Auguft: Togidder with ane vther Depofitioun, maid be the faid Cristiane Stewart, maid att Edinburgh the xij of September 1596, in prefens of Mr Robert Bruce minifter of Godis word in Edinburgh, Clement Con ane of the bailleis thairof, Mr Gylbert Monereif doctor of medicine, fufcryuit with thair handis; testifeing hir, to haif tane ane clout fra Ifobell Stewart, to bewich the faid vmq^{le} Patrik: Togidder with ane Declaratioun of the dait att the day of, 1596, fufcryuit be Sir George Hwme and Williame Stewart, testifeing that the faid Cristian Stewart deponit in September lafbypaft, in Lynlythgw, in prefens of his Maieftie, that fche bewichit the faid vmq^{le} Patrik.

VERDICT. The Affyis, being chofin, fwrone and admittit, remowit furth of Court to the north end of the Tolbuith, quhair eftir cheeking of Michael Ratt-ray in Pittindyne chancillar, reafonit vpon the poynt of the faid Dittay; and being throuchlie auifit thairwith, reenterit agane in Court, quhair thay, be the mouth of the faid Chancillar, fand the faid Cristiane Stewart to be Fylit, culpabill and convict of the bewiching of vmq^{le} Patrick Ruthvene, be casting of Wichcraft vponne him with ane blak clout: And for airt and pairt of the flauchter of the faid vmq^{le} Patrik; committit in Junij laft: And for commoun Wichcraft.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk crime, fche wes ordenit to be tane to the Cattlehill and thair to be brunt.¹

¹ On margin of the Record, 'FYLIT and BRUNT.'

UNIVERSIT

This book is D

University of California
SOUTHERN REGIONAL LIBRARY FACILITY
405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90024-1388
Return this material to the library from which it was borrowed.

NO PI-

STAC

OCTAL

ASUAL

RECIT

REC

REC

REC

S

JA

AI

UCLA LAW LIBRARY,

MAR 28 1996

I.L.L.

~~NON-REMOVABLE~~

JUL 05 2005

DUE 2 WKS FROM DATE RECEIVED

ZU-AS

JCLA ACCESS SERVICES

Interlibrary Loan

11630 University Research Library

Box 951575

Los Angeles, CA 90095 1575

3 1158 01140 1750

UC SOUTHERN REGIONAL LIBRARY FACILITY

D 000 012 201 0

D
0
0
0
0
1
2
2
0
2
8

UC SOUTHERN REGIONAL LIBRARY FACILITY

nia

of Talmy's letters Book I

I. Honorable for my duty at present... please note... of July 1600
Talmy to the collector
under the seal

III.

and better of your note... I take note...
of July
I am very ill at present...
Talmy to the collector
under the seal

III.

Honorable for all my duty... I take note...
of July 1600
Talmy to the collector
under the seal

CRIMINAL TRIALS
IN SCOTLAND,

FROM A.D. M.CCCC.LXXXVIII TO A.D. M.DC.XXIV,

EMBRACING THE ENTIRE

REIGNS OF JAMES IV. AND V., MARY QUEEN OF SCOTS, AND JAMES VI.

COMPILED FROM THE ORIGINAL RECORDS AND MSS.

WITH

HISTORICAL NOTES AND ILLUSTRATIONS,

BY

ROBERT PITCAIRN, ESQ.

WRITER TO HIS MAJESTY'S SIGNET, F.S.A. SCOT. AND HON. F.S.A. PERTH, &c.

VOLUME SECOND.

EDINBURGH:

WILLIAM TAIT, PRINCE'S STREET; AND LONGMAN, REES, ORME, BROWN, GREEN, AND LONGMAN, LONDON.

M.DCCC.XXXIII.

PRINTED AT THE BANNATYNE CLUB PRESS BY BALLANTYNE AND CO.

5
915
913
v.2

TO THE PRESIDENTS AND MEMBERS OF THE BANNATYNE AND MAITLAND CLUBS,
THIS SECOND VOLUME OF A COLLECTION OF ANCIENT SCOTTISH CRIMINAL TRIALS, ORIGINALLY PROJECTED BY THEIR MUCH LAMENTED ASSOCIATE, THE LATE
SIR WALTER SCOTT, BART.,
AND COMMENCED UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF THESE DISTINGUISHED LITERARY INSTITUTIONS
BY ONE OF THEIR NUMBER, IS GRATEFULLY AND RESPECTFULLY DEDICATED,
BY THE EDITOR.

CRIMINAL TRIALS
AND OTHER PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THE HIGH COURT OF JUSTICIARY.

[Mr James Fowlis, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Dec. 15.—GEORGE DOWGLAS in Glaspen.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vniq^{le} James Stewart of Newtoun ; committit the secund of Nouember instant.

PERSEWAR, James Stewart, eldest sone.

PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannell.

Mr Johnne Nicolfoune,	George Dowglas youngar of Langnudrie,
Mr Robert Lyntoune,	William Carmichell of Rowntrie-corfe.

The persewar askis instrumentis of the productioun of the Lettres, dewlie execute and indorfat, purchest be thame aganis James Dowglas of Torthorwell, Charles Dowglas in Anderfchaw, John Dowglas his stap-sone, Johne Tuedie in Howgait, George Inglis, and James Bannatyne thair, quhair thay ar denunceit rebellis and put to the horne. The said George Dowglas in Glaspen askis instrumentis of his comperance, and that he offeris him reddie, to vnderly the law for the slauchter of James Stewart of Newtoun.—Comperit the Kingis Aduocat and produceit ane Warrant, subferyuit be the King, ordaining the mater to continew. The pannell takis instrumentis of the offer, and desyris that the Justice minister justice in the said mater, nochtwithstanding the Kingis Warrant.

The Justice admittis the Warrant ; and ordanis the partie to fynd caution thairfoir, to the ordour.

Continued to the air of ‘ Lanark. Plegio Wilelmo Carmichell de Rowintre-corfe et Johanne Carmichell in Howgait, conjunctim.’

Witchcraft.

Dec. 16.—JONET GRAWIE.

Dilatit of certane crymis of Wichcraft.

PERSEWARIS, Effie Crummie spous to Capitan Skrymgeour, Mr Williame Hairt aduocat. The mater desert, be the laik of ane Assyse, quha wer nocht summond.

Printing a vitiated Act of Parliament.

Feb. 2, 1596-7.—ROBERT WALDEGRAIF, Prentar to his Maieftie.

The quhilk day, Robert Waldgraif, Prentar to his Maieftie, being enterit on pannell, accufit and perfewit be Mr Williame Hairt aduocat to our fouerane lord, ffor the treffonabill Imprenting of ane alledgeit Act of his hienes Parliament, as fett furth be his Maieftie and thre eftaitis of Parliament, haldin att Edinburgh the penult day of Maij 1592, intitulat, ‘ ffor þe abolifching of þe Actis concernig the Kirk ;’ and treffonablie vitiat, adulterat and alterit fra the originall Act of Parliament, rotit and agreit vpoun be his hienes and thre eftaitis in the Parliament foirfaid, contenit in the Register of his hienes Actis of Parliament, dewlie thaireftir publeifcht : ffor the quhilk treffonabill cryme (he) is wardat, to be pwneift be tinfel of lyffe, landis and guidis.

The faid Robert Waldgraif declarit, be his ayth, in prefens of God in heavin, that the faid Act of Parliament quhairvpoun he is challengeit, wes newir formit, vitiat or alterit be him, nor na vther of his knowledge ; and forder declaris, that fa far as his memorie can ferue him, quhilk is now waik, in refpect of his infirmitie and lang feiknes, that the faid Act wes fend and delyuerit to him be ane in the Clark of Registeris name, quhome he fupponis to haif bene his feruand for the tyme ; as he fal anfuer to God in the latter day : And gif ony wrang be done, in the altering of the faid Act, the famin is done be him quha brocht it to the faid Robert and without his knowledge : And forder declarit, that he had his Maiefteis Warrant, to prent all the Actis of Parliament concerning the Kirk, quhairof he tuik this to be ane : And nochttheles, infafar as his Maieftie is offendit, or fault may be imput to him in the mater, he becumis in his Maiefteis will and mercy ; declaring vpoun his faull and confcience, he newir offendit his Maieftie, in thocht, word or deid.

The Justice-depute continewit to tak the faid Robert in will, vntill he knew his Maiefteis mynd.

PERSEWAR, Mr Williame Haert aduocat.

Feb. 4.—The Aduocat produceit ane Warrant direct to the Justice, Justice Clark or his deputis, to put Robert Waldgrave to the tryell of ane Affyfe ; quhairof the tennour followis.¹

The Affyfe being fworne, the Aduocat produceit the Act of Parliament prentit be him felff, acknowledgeit be him, confest addit to the buik produceit, att the leift prentit fvntime eftir the reft : And forder produceis the extract of the rycht Act of Parliament, vnder the fubfcription of the Clark Register, far different fra the viciat and adulterat Act.

¹ Most unfortunately, this interesting document is not inserted in any part of the Record preserved. This Volume is evidently the scroll-book used in Court, from which the proper Register was afterwards extended.

The said Robert Waldgrave anfuert, that he had the Kingis Warrant for prenting of the hail Actis concerning the Kirk; and alledgeit that the Clerk of Registeris or sum (ane) brocht the said Act, in his name, to be prentit; bot he can nocht declair the manis name quha brocht it. It is anfuert be the aduocat, that gif ony Warrant be had of his Maiestie, it wes ane generall Warrant gewin to him, before he prentit the buik; bot had na Warrant to prent this Act, quhilk wes prentit eftir the prenting of the buik. The said Robert produceit ane Gift vnder the Previe feill, geving him Licence to prent the Actis of Parliament.

The Assyse, in ane voce, chuse James Skeddowie (merchand in Edinburgh) chancillar.

VERDICT. The Assyse, in ane voce, fyles the said Robert Waldgrave, for the tressonable Imprenting of ane alledgeit Act of his hienes Parliament, as sett furth be his Maiestie and thre Estaitis, in the Parliament haldin att Ed'. the penult day of Maij, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfcoir and tuell yeiris, intitulat 'anent the aboleifching of the Actis contrar the libertie of the trew Kirk and aboleifching of the iurisdictionne, penultimo Maij 1592,' and tressonable viciat, adulterat and alterit fra the originall Act of Parliament, votit and agreit vpoun be his hienes and thre estatis in the Parliament foirsaid; contenit in the Register of his hienes Actis of Parliament, dewlie thaireftir publeifchit.

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE tenta in Pretorio Ville de Leyth, xj Februarij 1596, per Magistrum Jacobum Foullis, Justiciarium Deputatum. ASSESSOURIS, (Walter Lord Blantyre) Thesaurer,¹ (Andrew Stewart, third) Lord Ochiltre, (Sir John Skene of Curriehill) Justice Clerk,² (Sir John Cockburn of Ormiston) Clerk of Register,³ Sir Robert Meluill.⁴]

Treason—Convocation of an unlawful Assembly, &c.

Feb. 11.—ROBERT HAMMILTOUNE of Inchmauchan, Williame Kirkaldy of Grange, Sir James Edmestoun of Duntraith, elder, Edmestoun younger of Duntraith,⁵ and [James] Lokart of Leis, eldar.

Dilaitit of certane tressounabill crymes, committit be thame the xvij and xvijj dayis of December (lastwas,) aganis his Maiestie and his Counsalouris.

PERSEWARIS,

Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcairne, aduocate, Mr Williame Hairt of Levelandis, aduocate.

PRELOCUTOURIS for Robert Hammiltoune,

Mr T. Craig and Mr Johnne Nicolfoune, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Alex. King, Mr Johnne Dempstar.

¹ He was also one of the Extraordinary Lords of Session. Ordinary Lords of Session.

² Lord Curriehill, also one of the Ordinary Lords of Session.

³ Lord Ormiston, one of the Ordinary Lords of Session.

⁴ Of Murdocairnie, one of the Extraordinary Lords of Session.

⁵ 'Delait, in respect of the Thesauraris declaratioun he was nocht chargeit.'

The saidis Aduocatis (persewaris) producet the Dittay vnderwrittin, and siclyke producet ane Warrant, quhairof the tenmour followis.¹

Compeirit M^{rs} Thomas Craig, Alex^r King and Johnne Nicolfoun, and producet ane Warrant subferyuit be the Lordis of Sessioun, ordaining thame to compeir for the pannell; and defyrit the famin to be registrat. The said Mr Johnne Dempstar produceit ane vther Warrant, subferyuit be the saidis Lordis of Sessioun; quhilk the Judges admittit, in respect of the Act of Parliament. The said Mr Johnne Russell produceit ane vther Warrant, for James Lokhart of Ley; quhilk the Judges lykwayis admittit. Quhairvpoune the saidis procuratoris tuik instrumentis.—Mr Johnne Russell tuik instrumentis, that the Judge admitis him, for the Lairdis of Duntraith and Ley.

The Lord Ochiltrie declynis him self to be Assessor, in the persute aganis the Laird of Grange.

The pannell takis instrumentis, that the aduocat declairis he produceis ane cowmone Dittay² aganis the hail pannell.

The hail pannell adhairis to the declinatour of my Lord Ochiltrie, in respect the Dittay is cowmone.—The Kingis aduocat takis instrumentis, that Mr Thomas Craig declairis, that the grund of the argument quhilk will declyne my Lord Vchiltrie, in persute of the Laird of Grange, is foundit vpoun inimitie standing betuix the Laird of Pharnihurst and the Laird of Grange; quhilk Laird of Pharnihurst is guid-brother³ to the said Lord Vchiltrie.—The Laird of Duntraith takis instrumentis, that he propones his declinatour aganis my Lord Vchiltrie, becaus the pannell is cowmone. Declairis, gif he him self war vpoune the pannell his allane, he wald nocht declyne my Lord Vchiltrie.

It is allegit aganis the hail Assessoris, that thay can nocht be Assessoris nor Judges in this caus, becaus thay hane all gevin counsle in this caus, and hes fund this cryme to be Treffone, without citatioun of partie.—The Laird of Duntraith and Laird of Lies passe fra the alledgeance foirsaid, aganis the Assessoris and the lau⁴.—The aduocat takis instrumentis, that the pannell will nocht declyne the rest of the Assessoris for this cause, nor vse ma⁵ declinatouris.

THE Justice ordanis the Laird of Grange to be removit of pannell this day.

It is allegit be Mr Thomas Craig for the rest of the pannell, seing the Laird of Grange hes bene anes pannellit (and) anes accusit, . . . vpoune ane comynoun Dittay, as my Lord aduocat hes declairit, and that my Lord Vchiltrie hes declynit him self as Assessor to the Laird of Grange, becaus of inimitie and assist-only, common to them all, i. e. they were not charged upon separate Indictments.

¹ The principal Register for this period is unfortunately lost. The Volume preserved is merely the Court Book or scroll, from which the proper Record was afterwards made up.

² One Dittay

³ Brother-in-law.

⁴ This and the preceding sentence partially deleted. The plea was retracted.

⁵ More,

or farther objections against the Assessors.

ing in deidlie feid with the Laird of Grange, betuix the Laird of Grange and Pharniherft, and as partie to the Laird of Grange, the Lord Vchiltrie can nawayis be Affeffour to the reft of the pannell, qui priuent consimilem causam; feing the Dittay is cowmoune, fa thair defences is cowmoune, and Interlocutour vpon the ane defence fall be Interlocutour vpon the vther: And as he him felf can nocht fit vpon the Laird of Granges land and heritage, to fit vpon the defences in his awin perfoune, fa he can nocht fit vpon the lyk defence in consimili causa, quhilk may prejudge the Laird of Grange; speciallie in respect, the Laird of Grange is als pannell this day, and the defens was proponit for him and the reft coniunctlie, and fund relevant in his perfoune; and to the effect that this defence fould nocht be competent to the reft of the personis pannell, he is removit of pannell this day; the quhilk letter part of this alledgeance aucht to be referrit to the Judge and Affeffouris. Quhairvponne thay tuik instrumentis.

The aduocat alledgit, the former alledgance aucht to be repellit; becaus thair is na continentia cause vponne this cryme, becaus euerie perfon is vponne pannell super facto proprio et delicto personali; lyk as the declinatour proponit aganis my Lord Vchiltrie, is only for ane personall caus of evill will betuix the Laird of Pharniherft and the Laird of Grange, quhilk is nawayis competent to the reft of the pannell: As to the circumventioun and defraud of the law, remittis to the Judge and Affeffouris quham it tuiches.—Anfueris, the grund is nocht laid be the saidis accipientis¹ vponne continentia cause, quhilk is tantum in civilibus. bot only vpon this, qui priuent consimilem causam, et allegantium socij ejusdem criminis. The Laird of Grange being als pannell, for this sam cryme, this day, quando ex pacto vnus prejudicabis alteri, quhilk is nocht lesum of the law directlie, far les in this caus, be removeing of the Laird of Grange of pannell. And quhair it is allegit, that the Judge is nocht bund to gif anfuer, it is anfuerit thairto, that quhair anie declinatour is referrit to judge, he aucht to gif ane anfuer vponne his conscience; lyke as, this pairt of the alledgeance is referrit to the Judge and Affeffouris conscience, quhither the Laird of Grange is removit af pannell purpoissie?

The Judge, with advyse of his Affeffouris, repellis the alledgeance proponit for the personis presentlie vponne pannell.—The Judge ordanis the dittay to be red to the hail pannell.

The pannell takis instrumentis, that my Lord Aduocat the first and second heidis of dittay and will perfew the reft heidis;² as also declairis, that he will infist aganis euerie ane of the pannell vponne the saidis heidis.

The aduocat declairis, that he vffis the hail speaches vterit be Mr Walter³ in ¹ Excipients.

² Record mutilated.

³ See the Trial of Walter Balcanquall.

Pulpitt, contenit in the ffirst article of the Dittay, as meanis vfit be him to steir vp auditouris to seditionne; quhilk the pannell hard and allowit, be pertuineing to the new Kirk, and doing the actionis, and vtering the tressonabill speiches contenit in the first Article of the said Dittay, and being airt and pairt thairrof. And forder, the Aduocattis (haldis?) thir woirdis ‘conceilling and nocht reveilling of the preiching,’ pro deleto; quhairvpoun the pannell takis instrumentis.—It is allegit be the pannell, that na proces (lies) aganis the pannell, becaus Mr Walter Balcanquell, quha is alledgit to be author of the Conspiracie and alledgit feditious Conventioun is nocht callit; and alledgit the practik betuix Lyndsfay of Blariefadden and the Laird of Kerfe, the Lady Boydis aduocat.—The aduocat anfuers, the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay.¹

It is alledgit, that the Conventioun in the New Kirk is na cryme, let be² a cryme of Tressoun; becaus it is na cryme, of the Law, convening, except it be in airmes; and the Conventiounes of Sinodellis and presbytereis, and generall (Affsemblies?) ar allowit be his hienes Actis of Parliament; as alsé, of all perticuler fessionis of Kirkis.—The aduocat anfuers, the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay.

It is forder allegit, that the Convocation is na cryme, becaus it is allowit be speciall Act of Secreit Counsaile maid in anno 1590, demanding all Erles, Lordis, Barronis, gentilmenne, frehalderis and inhabitantis of burrowis and vtheris liegis quhatfumeuir, of quhat rank degrie foeuir thay be, to convene thame felfis befor the Ministeris, be thair Missaue lettres or messingeris, at quhatfumeuir places or dayis thay fall think expedient; and thair to gif thair Confessionis of thair fayth and subscriptionis thairto, and to the Generall Band maid and subseryuit be his Maiestie and certane of the Estatis, tuching the maintenance and defence of the trew religioun, his hienes person and estait, for withstanding all forrane propagaturis, tending to the trubling thairrof, and forces tending to the trubill thairrof. And trew it is, that thair, being exhortit be the Ministeres, haveing power be the said Act to convene with thame, to the effect foirsaid, viz. for maintenance of the trew Religioun, and withstanding of the ennemeis thairrof, and na vthirwayis; nather the said Ministerie did wrang in convening, nor the pannell in convening at thair command. And forder, thair was speciall Proclamatioun execute at his Maiesteis command, vpone the ix day of December lastbypast, quhairby his hienes, with advyse of the secreit Counsaile, expresselie declairit, that his mynd and intentis was nevir to discharge ony laufull Assembleis of the Kirk estableischt be the lawis, becaus the Sessionis, bayth of the Kirk, Presbytereis, Sinodell and Generall Assembleis, and all actis laufullie maid be the Ecclesiasticall Judge-mentis, and als the hering of the word, fall stand and be yet as of befoir, ratefeing and approveand the samin; and declairing, that it was nevir his Maiesteis mynd nor intention to impung or preiudge the samin, in ony foirt; and declairing all vtheris Proclamatiounes and vnlawfull convocatiounes, maid in airnes, to be dischargit. And his will is, that the said conventioun was onlie maid to the effect foirsaid, without all armour, and in sober maner, and was maist lauchfull in itselff, and was dissoluit be the pannall without airmour: And the discharge of conventionis with airmour, is a permissioun of the conventionis without airmour, tending to the lauchfull effect. L. cum Prece. ff. de Judicijs. In respect quhairof, thay did na wrang, and can nocht be put to the tryell of ane Assyse for the said Convocatioun. And for preifeing the said alledgance, the saidis excipientis producit the Act of Secreit Counsale, in prent, with the coppie of the Proclamatioun, of the daitt the ix of December last. It is ansuerit be the Advocat, the alledgance aucht to be repellit, becaus the Act of Counsale producit gifis nocht absolute power to all Ministeris to convocat and convene the legis with thame, at thir plesour; bot the particuler Commiissioneris to convocat the legis resident within the boundis of the Commiission, for the causis exprestit in the summondis; and to wit, for geving Confessioun of thair ffayth, subferying the Band for defence of the Religioun, his Maiesteis estait and persoun, and withstanding of the sforane preparatioun, maid be strangeris, in contrair thairof; quhilk is nawayis aggreabill to the case set down in ditta; becaus the samin beiris, that the legis was convocat be Mr Walter Balcanquell, haueing na power gevin to him be the said Sessioun to convocat his hienes leigis; and the personis convocat war nocht subiect to thair jurisdictione, bot sum of thame inhabitantis of the Sherefdom of Fyfe, sum of Angus and Mairnis, vtheris of Tueddell, Cliddislaill and Leninox; and sua, nawayis subiect to the Commiissioneris of the sherefdom of Edinburgh. Last, thay war nocht convocat to the effectis contentit in the Act of Counsale; bot be the contrair, to invaid his Maiesteis maist nobill persoune and tronbill his estait, as the dittay beiris; nather can the samin Act mak ony fayth, becaus it is nocht authorizit be the subscriptione of the Clerk of Counsale, bot imprentit be Robert Waldegraue, quha is convict be ane Assyse of falssefeing of his hienes Actis of Parliament. And for the mair cleir verificatioun of the falsat of the said Act, the advocatis producis his Maiesteis authentik beirand na sic Act of Counsale to be; and as to the coppie producit be the defenderis, of the daitt the nynt of December, non facit fidem, becaus it is nocht subferyuit autentiklie.

¹ (On the margin,) ‘Repellis the alledgeance.’

² Not to mention.

To the quhilk it is ansuerit be the pannell, that the foirsaid alledgance standis relevant, nochtwithstanding (the alledgance?) made in the contrair; and speciallie, anent that pairt of the alledgance tuching the Convocatioun, and that the same is nocht a tressonabill cryme; to the quhilk there is na anfuer maid be my lord aduocat. And quhair it is alledgit, that the Conventioun is only limitat to the particular boundis quhair the parteis duellis, it is anfuerit, it is na argument to mak the Convocatioun vnlauchful; ffor gif it was lauchfull to convene in thir tua sehyres, it is lauchfull to convene in quhatsumener vtheris placeis; bot speciallic, that pairt of the alledgance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the expres woirdis of the Act, giving power 'to convene quhatsumenir dayes and placeis.' And quhair it is alledgit, in the secund part of the alledgance, that thair was na power to the said Mr Walter to convene; it is anfuerit, that thare is expres power gevin to Mr Robert Bruce and certane vtheris, quha (were) preffent in the said place, to convene: And the said Mr Walter and the hail Prebiterie, est unum corpus, and quhatsumenir he did was be the directioun of the rest of the brethren haifing power. And quhair it is alledgeit, that thair haif only power to tak Confessioun of the ffayth and subscriptioun of the Band; it is replyit, that the said Conventioun was only to that effect, and to gif Confessioun of the Religioun, and for the maintenance thair of. As to the argument maid anent the Act, that it is only printed, and nocht subferyuit be the Clerk of Counfall, and that Waldegraue is convict for ffalfe imprenting of the Act of Parliament; it aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Priviledge permittit; the Warrant subferyuit be the King past the Privie seill and registrat in the buik thair of; lyke as, the samin Act of Secreit Counfall, as it now standis printit, is registrat in the buikis of secreit (Counfall), as falbe verifeit be the Register: And as to Walgraves convictioun, est super alio facto, and nocht for this act; and quhatsumenir convictioun subfequent deduceit aganis him, it can nocht preindge this pannell, and that quhilk wes lauchfullie maid of before. Last, as to the argument maid anent the Proclamatioun, it nawyis militatis, accepting alwyis the dait thair of, quhilk wes vpoun the xxiiij day of Nonember lastbypast, and is interpret be ane posteriouir Proclamatioun, maid vpone the ix of December thaireftir; and declairis all Actis maid in fauor of the Kirk to stand effectuell, and dischargeis Convocatiounis maid in armes alluterlie. And the pannell protestis that this argument, maid anent the Conventioun in the New Kirk, may be fenerallie diseussit fra the vther subfequent cryme, anent the taking of armes and affageing of his hienes persoun, seing the Conventioun may be lauchfull and the vther vnlauchfull. In respect of the quhilkis premissis, absolutour¹ aucht to be gewin to the conventioun in armes.—The Aduocat repetis his former anfuer.

The pannell offeris thame reddie to be put to the tryell of ane Assyis for the SECUND heid, the samin being maid speciallic anent the names of his Maiesteis seruitouris and his counfaiouris.

¹ Acquittal. Lat. absolvere.

As to the THRYD point of the Dittay, anent the Conventioun in Mr Robert Bruce galrie, and directioun of certane Commiffioneris, with fuitis to his Maieftie: firft, as to the conventioun maid efter none, repetis the anfuer maid of-befoir; speciallie, that the famin is lauchful, and permittit be expres law, and wes nocht maid in armes: And forder, his Maieftie directit my Lord of Marr and my Lord Vehiltrie, and defyrit to convene with Mr Robert Bruce; as also, directit Traquair and Cefurd, that the Articles of thair greiffis¹ fould be presentit to his Maieftie and his Counfall, at efter none; and fwa, did na wraug, nather in thair conventioun nor directioun of the Commiffioun, feing the famin procedit be his Maiefteis allowance, and wes vthirwyis lauchfull, for the caus aboue specificit.—The Aduocat anfwerit, that the said alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay and anfueris maid to thair alledgeances, foundit vpon the alledgeit lauchfulnes of thair Convocatioun; as lykwyis, the said alledgeance can nocht be reffaut in this place, becaus it is meri facti, and is nocht instantlie verifeit, nather is it open to the Judge, but man be remittit to the Affyise; and gif the Judgeis will dip vpon the tryell of it, the famin man be repellit, nocht only as irrelevant, bot also vntrew, as is notourlie knawin to the Judge and Affeffouris: And for thair better refolution, maid cleir be his Maiefteis Declaratioun, subferyuit with his hand, presentlie produceit.—It is anfuerit be the pannell, acceptand alwyis his Maiefteis Declaratioun produceit, in quantum, that nocht only is thair alledgeance sufficientlie verifeit, becaus it is notour to the Judge and his Affeffouris; bot also, it is verifeit be the Aduocat, and pingeis² bayth the Conventioun cuning doune.

FINALLIE, as to the last cryme contenit in the Dittay, it is nather relevant nor contenis ony maner of cryme; ffor fyrft, as to the Conventioun vpon Fryday att ewin, it is anfuerit vt supra. Nixt, as to the procureing of Nobillmen and vtheris to be vponne thair faction, and pairt-takeris of thair caus, non releuat; feing it nather condiscendis quhat Nobillmen, quhat factioun, or quhat caus; or quhat the Noblemen wes defyrit to, nor quhat messageis wes direct, be quhom, or to quhom, or to quhat effect, and quha wes the beraris of the said message; and fwa, it contenis na tressonabill crym: Bot speciallie, it is newir affirmit that thir perfonis on pannell directit, or procureit ony messageis to be direct, to ony tressonabill effect.—The Aduocat anfuerit, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Dittay berand, that thay convenit to auife how to procure the assistance of ane factioun, to fortifie and assist thame in thair tressonabill interpryfis, contenit in the preceding Articles of the Dittay. Lyke as, the said last Article beris playnlie, that the lettres direct and the Band proponit, tendit to the famin effect. The pannell defyrit the Aduocat to produce the Band.

¹ Grievances.² To peenge or pingie, to complain.

(Feb. 12.)—INTRAN. Robert Hammiltoun of Inchmauchane, Sir James Edmestoun of Dunraith, and James Lokart of Ley.

INTERLOCUTOR on the relevancy of the Dittay, &c.

(1.) The Judge Repellis the alledgance, anent the fyrst discussing of Mr Walter Balcanquall. (2.) The Justice findis the fyrst part of the Dittay concerning Convocatioune, and the circumstances qualifeit and contenit in the said first Article Relevant; and Ordanis the famin conjunctive to pas to the knowledge of ane Assyse, nochtwithstanding the alledgance maid aganis the famin. (3.) Item, the Justice findis it is nocht necessar that the Aduocat condiscend particulerlie vpoun the names of the Kingis Counsalouris or domestik seruitouris; and findis that point of the Dittay releuant, as it is confaut, nochtwithstanding of the alledgance maid in the contrar. (4.) The Justice findis the thryd point of the Dittay releuant; and Ordanis the famin to be put to the knowledge of ane Assyse, becaus it is coincident with the circumstances contenit in the fyrst Article. (5.) The Justice Ordanis the Aduocat to condiscend, in speciall, vpoun the names of the Nobilitie to quhome the Missiues wes direct; and being condiscendit vpoun, findis it releuant.

The famin day, Mr Andro Blakhall maid fayth.

The Pannell askis instrumentis of the haill Interloquitour pronouneit.—The Aduocat declaris that he passis fra that part of the article, concerning the directing of the Missiues, pro loco et tempore. Quhairvpoun the haill pannel askit instrumentis.

INTERLOCUTOR. The Justice, estir that my lord Aduocat had deleit certane wordis, anent the directing of Missiues, fand the rest of the latter point of the Dittay releuant; and ordanit the famin to be put to the tryell of ane Assyse.

The aduocat takis instrumentis (that he) repetis the conclusioun of the last heid, in the conclusioun of ewerie ane of the pointis of the Dittay.

ASSISA.

James Foullis elder of Colingtoun, Thomas Kennedie of Ardmillane, Thomas M^cDougall of M^cKair-
George Logane of Boningtoun, Johnne Naper, younger of Mer- stoune, Patrik Home of Aytoun, ehinstoun, . . . Kennedy of Penquhirry,
. . . Stewart of Dunduf, James Ritchertfoun of Smetoun, . . . Mure of Auchindrane.¹
Mr James Foullis y^r of Colingtoun, Walter Dundas of that ilk, EXCEPTIONS against the persons summoned to pass upon the Assise.

Mr Johnne Ruffell produceit ane exemptioun for the Laird of Corstorphin, vnder the Previe seill. The aduocat alledgit the famin aucht nocht to be admittit.—Mr Alex^r King producet ane exemptioun for the Laird of Bass, and repeittis the Act of Parliament, in respect he is a Counfallour. The aduocat repeittis his former anfuert hairaganis.—Mr Johnne Nicolfoun produceit ane exemptioun for the Laird of Cokpen. The aduocat repeitis the former anfuert hairto.—The pannell allegit that Johnne Kennedie of Banquherrie can nocht pas vpone the Assyis, becaus he is nocht a barroune, and sa nocht thair pair.

¹ The infamous John Mure, the Murderer of Sir Thomas Kennedy of Culzean. See the extraordinary Trials of John Mure, Jun. 24, 1602, &c., and of the Lairds of Auchindrain, elder and younger, and James Bannatyne, Jul. 1611.

INTERLOCUTOR. The Justice, with auise of his Affeffouris, in respect thair is nocht ane sufficient number of Assyis present this day, continewis the dyet to the xiiij of Februar instant, and the hail number of Assyise present and summond to this (diet), to compeir vpoun the said xiiij day, vnder the pane of twa hundreth markis : And continew Interloquitour, vpoun exemptiones to the said day : And ordanit the pannell to remain in waird, as thay did ofbefoir.

The famine day, William Sinclar of Roifling, Cokburne of Clarkingtoun, Johnne Lewingstoun of Prestoun, Andro Ker of Phairnieherft, Henry Pitcarne of Ramfys-Forfar (Forthar,) Sir Johnne Carmichael of that Ilk, and Patrick Mofcrop, burges of Edinburghe, oft tymes callit to haif compeirit before our fouerane Lordis Justice or his deputis, the saidis day and place, in the hour of caus, to haif past vpoun the Assyis of James Lokert eldar of Ley, Sir James Edmestoune of Duntrait knycht and Robert Hammiltoun of Inchmauchane, dilait of certane Treffonabill crymes, committit be thame, vpoun the xvij and xviiij dayes respectiue of December lastbypast, as thay wer lauchfullie summond to ; the lauchfull tyme of day biddin and nocht comperand, thay and ilk ane of thame wer thairfore vnlawit, in the pane of ane hundreth markis.

(Feb. 14.) It is allegit be the pannell, that na vther personis of Inqueist aucht to be callit or ressaunt this day, vnto the tyme it be proceidit quhair it left, viz. that the tuelf personis of Inqueist quha wes summond be the Kingis Maiesteis Thesaurer, conforme to the roll produceit be the Thesaurer, in judgment, and thairefter war ressaunt but objection, with consent of all the parteis, being the first callit ; but that res non est integra to accept ony vtheris, except thay be lauchfullie absent : speciallie, it being of veritie that thay ar all heir present, and thairfoir thay being anes buikit, ressaunt, be consent of parteis, and now present in this Tolbuith (of Leith), accoirding to the Justice commandment, chargeing thame to be present, vnder the pane of ij^c merkis, na vther personis can be surrogat in thair place.—The Aduocat answaris, that the nominatioune of the saidis personis and the buiking of thair names can woirk nathing in this caus ; becaus salang as the personis of Assyse is nocht fuorne and admittit, omnia sunt integra, to the Judge, quha may ather call thame of new, sueir and admit thame, or call vtheris and omit the first. As to the allegit consent, it is altogidder denyit.—It is answarit, that the summonding, buiking, setting down of the Assyse is ane sufficient consent and ressaunt, speciallie the famin being done in presens of the aduocat, without contradictioun ; and the saidis deidis nocht being privie, bot iudiciall deidis, quhilkis in all caussis, bayth Criminall and Ciuill, bindis bayth the parteis. The aduocat repeitis his former answar.

INTERLOCUTOR. The Justice, (with) auise of his Affeffouris, Repellis the alledgeance proponit be the pannell ; and ordanis that the Assyfouris, summond to this day, to be ressaunt ; in respect that the Assyse that wer buikit the xij of Februar, and continewit to this day, wes nocht fuorne.

Quhairupoun the pannell akit instrumentis.

It is allegeit be the pannell, that Sir Robert Ker can nocht pas vpon the Assyse, for thre cauffis: first, becaus he hes informit and solisic against the Laird of Grange, quha was pannellit vpon the famin dittay et habet causam coniunctam: Nixt, becaus he is domestik seruitor to his Maiestie; and, as in ciuill judgementis betuix his Maiestie and ony of his subjectis, he could nocht be witness, mekil les can he be Assyfour, to cognosce vpon ane cryme allegeit committit aganis his Maiesteis persone: Thridlie, nocht only is he seruand to his Maiestie, bot he is partie allegeit to be grevit; infasar as it is expresse set down in the Dittay, that his Maiesteis haill seruandis was commandit 'to be soupit of the gait and to soup the calfay with thame,' quhilk is the maist speciall circumstance of the haill Dittay, and the famin addmittit coniunctlie with the haill circumstances: And thairfoir, he being ane of his Maiesteis domestik seruandis and ane of his houshold, be the Dittay he is partie, and consequentlie can nocht be ane Assyfour—The Aduocat answers, that the first pairt of the allegeance aganis the said Sir Robert, as haueing gevin partiall counsall aganis Williame Kirkcaldie, is nawayis competent to this pannell, becaus delicta sunt personalia, and thair is nocht sic a thing as continentia cause or causa coniuncta in this cace, quhair euerie man is challanget for his awin offence, personallie and principallie, and nocht as complecis to the said Williame or ony vther. Nather is the secund pairt proponit aganis the said Sir Robert, as domestik seruand to his Maiestie, onywayis relevant; becaus the deutie of a subiect comprehendis the haill effectioun that can be borne to the Prince be his natieue subiect, and the qualitie of a domestik seruand eikis nathing thairto: And as the Kingis Maiestie mycht sit in persone and judge in his proper cause, or depute his counsallouris or domestikis to be judges or Assesouris, sa may thay be Assyfouris: Lyk as, thair is dyuerse practikis past in the Kingis proper cauffis befor the Justice, as laitlie the cauffis aganis Ewfame M'Kalzeane and Barbara Naper, quhair the maist pairt of the Assyfouris war domestik seruandis to his Maiestie; this famin alledgeance being than proponit and repellit. As to the last obiection, that he is partie grevit, it is als irrelevant, becaus the pannell hes na partie bot the Kingis Maiestie, and ar only accused for Treffone aganis his Maiestie and estait; and thairfoir the said alledgeance aucht to be repellit.

It is forder allegit aganis The Laird of Sesfurd, that he can nocht be vpon this Assyse, in respect of the deidlie feid standing betuix Robert Hammiltoune on the ane pairt, and the kin and freindis of William Home of Coldounknowis, quha is secund and thirdis with the said Laird of Cesfurd, on the vther pairt.—It is answert be the aduocat, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, except it war qualifeit, the said Laird of Cesfurd to be partakear of the said deidlie feid; and forder, it is na relevant obiectionn aganis the vthir tua, becaus it may verie weill be, that the ane be clene and the vther tua foull, aut contra.—It is anfuert, that the caus is fa conjunct and can nocht be devydit, and thair is litescontestatioune maid in this caus aganis thame all.—The aduocat anfueres, thair is na litescontestatioune maid, vnto the tyme an Assyfour be fuorne.—Anfuert be the pannell, that the repelling of the defenffis and proceiding to the electioun of the Inqueist and proponing of the objectionis aganis said perfonnes, is nocht litescontestatioune.

It is alledgit aganis The Laird of Carmichell, that he can nocht pas vponè this Assyfe, in respect of the objectionis proponit aganis the Laird of Sesfurd, and nanelie the said deidlie feid, quhilk the pannell repetis, standing betuix the said Robert Hammiltoune and the laird of Waftra, for the slauchter of his father, to quhome the said Laird of Carmichell is thrides of kyn: And forder, allegis that bayth he and the Laird of Sesfurd ar of his Maiesteis Counfall, quhais slauchter is allegit to be conspyrit; the famin being speciall circumstance of the Ditta, sua that they are bayth parteis in effect.—The aduocat repetis his former answèr, and that thair being counfalouris to his Maieftie, makes thame to be mair qualifeit and les suspect to pas vponè this Assyfe. The pannell repetis the famin alledgeance maid aganis the Laird of Cesfurd, auent the feid betuix Robert Hammiltoun of Inchmauchane, to quhom the Laird of Pharniherst is kynifman in the lyk degree.—The aduocat repetis his former answèr, maid to the obiection aganis the Laird of Sesfurd.

It is allegit, that Sir Thomas Erskene can nocht pas vponè this Inqueist, in respect of all the alledgances proponit aganis the Laird of Sesfurd, except the deidlie feid, as secund and thirdis of kyn and betuix; and forder, he is nocht ane barroun, thair being tua barronis vponè the pannell.

The pannell proponis aganis The Sir Robert Meluill Youngar, that he can nocht pas vponè this Assyfe, in respect of the haill alledgeances proponit aganis the Laird of Sesfurd, quhilk thai repeat: and forder alleges, that the said Robert is na barroune.—The aduocat anfuert, that he is barroun of Brunteland.—The pannell anfuert, that his Infeftment is tane away be Act of Parliament.

It is alledgit, that The Guidman of Mauderstone is na barroune.

It is allegit, that The Laird of Ruthven can nocht pas vponè this Assyfe, in respect he is nocht xxv zeiris of aige; and as he may nocht be a juge nor a tuteur, na mair can he pas on ane Assyfe.—It is anfuert be the aduocat, that the famin aucht to be repellit, in respect he is past xxj zeiris.

THE Justice Repellis The Laird of Ruthven, in respect of his awin declaratioune, that he is nocht xxj zeiris of aige.

As for The Laird of Robertland, repetis the haill alledgeances maid aganis the Laird of Sesfurd : And forder, it is alledgit that he can nocht pas vpone this Affyse, in respect of the deidlie feid standing betuix the Cunninghames and Montgomeries ; the Laird of Duntraith being thridis of kyn with the Erle of Eglintoune that deid in the Camogait.—The aduocat anfuers, it aucht to be repellit, except he be partaker of the feid, quhair of the contrar is notour.—It is allegit, the Baud makis the feid.

ASSISA. Sir Johnne Gordoune of Lochinvar, Thomas Makdougall of M^eKairfoun.

The pannell repeitis the haill allegeances aganis Sir Hew Carmichell Youngar, quhilkis war maid aganis the father.—The aduocat repeitis his anfuers.

It is allegit that Mr Williame Leslie of Cuullic can nocht pas vpone this Affyse, in respect that he is a Prelat ; and forder repeitis the haill allegeances maid aganis his Maiesteis domestikis.—The aduocat anfuers, it aucht to be repellit, in respect of the present estait of the Kirk.

It is allegit aganis Mr Patrik Mortoun, that he is nocht landit, and that he is a kirk-man, and can nocht be reffaut. The aduocat repeitis the former anfuers.

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE tenta in Pretorio de Leyth, per M. Jac. Foulis, J. D.]
Forgery of an Act of Parliament, and getting it printed and circulated.

Feb. 21.—Mr JOHNNE HOWIESOUNE, Minister att Cambuslang.

Dilatit of the tressonabill falcifeing, forgeing and feinzeing of an alledgeit Act of Parliament intitulat, ‘ Anent the aboleifching of þe Actis contrar the libertie of þe trew Kirk and aboleifching of þe Jurisdictione, as maid in þe Parliament haldin att Ed^r the penult day of Maij, the 3eir of God I^mV^olxxxxij 3eiris ;’ corruptand thairby ane trew Act of Parliament concerning the said mater, maid be the Kingis Maieftie and thre estaits, in the Parliament haldin at Ed^r vpoun the fyft day of Junij, the 3eir of God I^mV^olxxxxij 3eiris, intitulat, ‘ ffor aboleifching of þe Actis contrar the trew Religioune ;’ quhilk trew Act being tressounable falcifeit, corruptit, alterit, and in sum partis eikit be him, and in vther substanciall articles thairof pairit ; as the famin, conferrit with the said fals Act schawin and produceit, bure, he delynerit the said fals Act in the moneth of Maij or thairby, in the yeir of God I^mV^olxxxiiiij 3eiris, to Robert Waldgrave, prentar, moveit, perfwadit, vrgeit and intyfit the said Robert to imprent the famin and publeis itt, as haifand the Clark of Register autentik Warrant of the famin subferyuit with his hand, and the Kingis Maiesteis priueledge for imprenting thairof : And incontinent eftir the said Mr Johnnis causing, command, assistance and ratihibitionne, the said Robert had imprentit the famin, the said Mr Johnne bocht and reffaut fra the said Robert fourtie or fiftie copeis thairof, and tressonable publeiffit and difperfit the famin amangis our fouerane lordis liegis ; in manifeft and oppin contempt of his hienes authoritie and lawis, and he wes authour, perfwader, airt and part of the falfceing, imprenting and difperſing thairof, and thairby committit Hie Treffoun, and aucht and fould incur and vnderly the pane thairof.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne, aduocat.

The ſaid Mr Johnne Howiefoune becumnis in the Kingis will, according to his Confefſioun, maid att Halyruidhous the xv. of Februar instant. The ſaid Mr Johnne takis instrumentis, that he apperis heir vnſummond and vnwardit. The ſaid Mr Johnne Howiefoun alledgeis, that he knew na thing of that Act of Parliament that he gaif in to be prentit to Robert Waldgrave, quhairof he is preſentlie accuſit, bot that it had been the trew Act according to the Register ; and that he gaif it to him as it was gewin to him be Gylbert Tailzeour, ſafar as he kuawis, with vthir Actis of the Generall Aſſemblic ; and that Robert Waldgrave, being defyrit be ſum of the bretherene, to print that Act quhilk wes pronuncet att Dundie to the Generall Aſſemblic thair, the ſaid Mr Johnne, thinking that it had bene trew as he had it in his buik, delyuerit the ſaid buik to the prentar, quhilk contenis mony maer Actis nor the ſaid Act : And als, he gaif him no command to prent the ſaid Act. And as to the Dittay, as it is conſauit aganis him, denyis it euerie word, except ſafar as greis with his Depoſitioun and Declaratioun ſubſeryuit with his hand, and his preſent declaratioun. For the quhilk he becumnis in his Maieſteis will.

The aduocat produceis Mr Johnne Howiefounis Depoſitioun, ſubſeryuit with his hand, togidder with Robert Waldgrais Depoſitioun, togidder with the fals imprentit Act, with the autentik Act ſubſeryuit be the Clerk Register, for veriſeing of the Dittay. The Aduocat proteſtis, inſafar as be the Depoſitioun produceit in proces, ſubſeryuit with the ſaid Mr Johnnis awin hand, it is confeſt, that he delyuerit the ſaid Act quhilk wes prentit be Robert Waldgrave, for the quhilk the ſaid Robert wes wairdit ; and that he had na Warrant of the Clark of Register, nor ony vther, to delyuer that Act to be prentit, quhilk wes done be him of ignorance ; ffor the quhilk he become in his Maieſteis will : As lykewyis, be his Declaratioun dytit be him ſelff and writtin, in proces, the famin Confefſioun and becuming in will is in effect repetit and mair amplie declarit, and of his awin buik produceit out of his awin hand, to be ſene be the Aſſyſe, and confeſſit to haif bene delyuerit be the pannell to Robert Waldgrave, as contenand ane copie of the Act, quhilk ſum of the bretherene of the Miniſterie blameit the ſaid Robert to haif omittit in the impreſſioun of the remanent Actis of the Kirk : And that be conference of the copie thairof contenit in the ſaid buik with the imprentit Act, it is fund to agrie with the ſaid prentit Act word be word, and the said copie and prentit Act being red to the Assyis and fund altogidder difconforme to the trew and autentik Act extractit and subseryuit be the Clark of Register, lykewyis produceit in sam proces, the said prentit Act omittand mony of the substanciall heiddis of the trew Act, and in vthir partis eikand clauffis and articles nocht contenit in the said trew Act: And that it is confessit lykewyis be the pannell, that he bocht diuerse of the said prentit Actis fra the said Robert Waldgrave, as vtheris Ministeris did, and disperfit sum of thame to Ministeris, quhilk man of necessitie infer foirknowledge of the prenting of the said Act, and ratihabitoun eftir it wes imprentit; in cais the Assyis acquyte the pannell of airt and pairt of the said cryme, protestis for Wilfull errour.

The said Mr Johnne Howiesoune Protestis, that na thing alledgeit be his Majesteis aduocat can ony wyis hurt or indamage the said Mr Johnne, vnles that he had confessit that he had athir forgeit or writtin the Act quhairvpoune he is accusit, quhilk he did nocht; nor 3it gaif ony copie thairof to Robert Waldgrave, bot only schew to him the said buik, with the leif thairof laid in, quhair the Act standis yit as it did thane; nather did he gif him ony command to imprent the samin; and thairfore the said Mr Johnne alledgeit he aucht to be acquyte of the Dittay according to Justice and guid conscience; quhilk he belewis the Assyis will do, and will nocht tak innocent blude vpoune thair heidis.

VERDICT. The quhilk day, Mr Johnne Howiesoune Minister at Cambuslang being enterit on pannell, dilatit, accusit and persewit be Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne and Williame Haert of Lewielandis aduocattis to our fouerane lord for his hienes interes, for the tressonable falsefeing, &c. (here the Dittay is repeated.) The quhilkis crymes, the said Mr Johnne, eftir reding of his said Dittay and accusatioun, alluterlie¹ denying, eftir diuerse alledgeances and declaratiounis maid be him of his innocencie thairof, and answaris maid thairto be the Aduocattis, he offerit him to the tryell of ane Assyise for the saidis crymes: And thairfore the Justice-depute patt him to the tryell of ane Assyis of the persones vnder written, thay ar to say Cornelius Cudbert Merchand burges of Edinburghe,² &c. Quhilkis persones being chosin, sworne and admittit, and the said Mr Johnne Howiesoune being accusit, be Dittay, of the crymes aboue writtin in thair presens: Lyke as the saidis persewaris produceand the said Mr Johnnis Deposition subseruyit with his hand, maid in presens of the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, att Halyruidhous the xv of this instant, togidder with the Deposition of Robert Waldgrave subseruyit with his hand, maid in the Tolbuith of Edinburgh, quhair he wes wardit, the sewint of Februar instant, togidder with the said fals im-

¹ Entirely, altogether.
and 'burgeffis' of Edinburgh.

² It is not necessary to insert the names. They are all 'merchandis' prentit Act of Parliament, and the trew Act of Parliament extractit furth of the Register, subferyuit be Mr Johnne Skene Clark of Register, to the saidis perfonnes of Assyis, for verifeing of the Dittay; thay remowit altogidder furth of Court, to the Counfal-hous, quhair thay eftir chefing of the said Archibald Geddes (merchand burges of Edinburgh) chancillar, be pluralitie of votis, thay reafonit vpoun the pointis of the said Dittay, and thaireftir votit thairvpoune; and being throuchlie refoluit thairwith, reenterit agane in Court, quhair thay be the mouth of the said Chancillar, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said Mr John Howiesoun Minifter of Cambuflang, to be fylit and conuict of the delyuerie of ane alledgeit Act of Parliament intitulat, ‘Anent þe aboleifching of þe Actis contrair þe libertie of þe trew Kirk, and aboleifching of þe iurifdiction as maid in þe Parliament haldin att Edinburgh þe penult day of Maij 1592;’ and that in the moneth of Maij or thairby, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxxiij yeiris, to Robert Walgrave prentar, to be prentit. Quhilk alledgeit Act is eikit, alterit and pairt¹ fra the trew Act of Parliament maid be the Kingis Maieftie and his thre Eftaitis, in the Parliament haldin att Edinburgh, the fyft day of Junij I^m.V^c.lxxxij yeiris, intitulat, ‘ffor aboleifching of þe Actis contrair þe trew Religiou:’ As the famin, extractit and subferyuit be the Clark of Register beris: And eftir the famin being prentit, for refsauing and bying of ane certain number prentit copeis thairof fra the said Robert,² and diftributing and difperfing of the famin amangis our fouerane lordis liegis: And ffand the said Mr Johnne Howatsoun to be cleane, innocent and acquit of all vthiris pointis, heidis and clauffis, contenit in the Dittay and accufatioun aboue writtin, gevin in aganis him.

[Curia tenta in pretorio de Leyth, per M. Jac. Fowles, J. D.]

Forging and Uttering Base Coin.

Mar. 15.—ALEXANDER NEILSOUN (ARNEILL) burges of Glasgw.

Dilatit of the trefsonabill fforgeing, counterfuting, prenting and out-putting of ffals and adulterat money, sic as twa penny-plakis, half markis and fourtie penny pecis, to the avail of ffyve hundreth poundis worth, (within his awin hous in the New Wynd of Glasgw); committit in the hail monethis (of the years) 1592-93-94 and 95, and in the monethis of Apryll, Maij, Junij, Julij, August and September laft.

VERDICT. The Assise (with the exception of four, who ‘ffyle’ him of out-putting of fals twa-penny-plakis) Acquit the said Alexander Arneill.

¹ Pared, abridged.

² See the case of Robert Waldegrave printer, Feb. 2, 1596-7, &c.

Murder — Hamesucken.

Apr. 11, 1597.—PATRIK CWNINGHAME, seruand to vmq^{le} Dauid Edmestoun of Burnhouffis.

Dilatit of art and part of the crewall murthour and slauchter of vmq^{le} George Prestoun of Halthrie ; committit in September, anno Declaris, that he past away with the said vmq^{le} Dauid Edmeston of Burnhouffis, and that he was haldand his horse quhill he come bak.—Mr Johnne Prestoune takis instrumentis vpoune the admissioun and fwering of the Assyis.

VERDICT. The Assyis in ane voce convictis and fylis the said Patrik Cwninghame, seruitour for the tyme to vmq^{le} Dauid Edmestoun of Burnhouffis, off art and part of the crewall Murthour and slauchter of vmq^{le} George Prestoune of Halthrie ; committit the vj of December 1588, be way of Murthour and Hamesuckin, vpoun fett purpois and prouisioun.

SENTENCE. ‘ Convict et decollat.’¹

[Mr Williame Haert of Leiclandis, Justice-Depute.]

Parricide.

Jun. 15.—WILLIAME MOW, hatmaker, burges of Edinburgh.

Dilatit of the abhominabill cryme of Paracide, in hurting and wounding of Andro Boirthuik burges of the Cannogait, his guid-fader ;² committit the xiiij day of Februar lastbypast.

PERSEWAR, Mr Robert Lyntoun Aduocat substitute to Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne.

The quhilk day, the said Justice-Depute produceit the Warrant vnderwrittin, quhilk he desyrit to be infert in proces ; quhair of the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE and Aduocatis, We greit 3ow weill. It is our will and we command 3ow, that vpoun the sicht heirof 3e fall nocht to insift in accusatioun and tryell of pe vnworthie attempt of Williame Mow hatmaker, aganis Andro Boirthuik his guid-fader : And gif he becum in our will for pe fame, that 3e accept and put him immediatelie to libertie, vpoun sufficient cautioun fund be him, to vnderly quhat ewir we fall declair heireftir to be our will, for his said cryme ; vnder pe pane of ane thowfsand poundis : Kepand 3is present for 3our warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Falkland, the xij day of Junij, 1597.

(Sic subferibitur)

JAMES REX.

The quhilk day, William Mow hatmaker, burges of Edinburghe, being enterit on pannell, accusit be Dittay and persewit be Mr Robert Lyntoun, substitute aduocat to Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne aduocat, of the abhominabill cryme of Paricide (and) Brigancie³ vnder nycht ; committit be him vnder nycht, vpoun the xiiij day of Februar lastbypast, of fett purpois, precogitat malice and foirthocht felony, vnder cullour of freindschip, as eftir followis, to wit.

¹ The sentence and execution are recorded on the margin. ² Father-in-law. ³ O. Fr. briganderie.

DITTAY of Williame Mow.

FORSAMEKILL as he haifing confaut ane deidlie haitrent, rancour and malice aganis Andro Boir-thuik baillie in the Cannogait, his fader-in-law, feiring that the said Andro fould haif difponit his laudis, heretage and guidis by¹ him, he haifing na airis maill gottin of his awin body to fuceid to him; the said Williame, vpoune the said xiiij day of Februar lastbypast, being the Sabboth day eftir the preiching, tuik in heid to execute his abhominabill fact foirfaid; and trafoonable, vnder cul-lour of freindschip and familiaritie, perfwadit his said fader-in-law to pas with him, in the foir-nycht,² furth of his awin hous in the Cannogait, be Pleasance, to the Schenis,³ quhair he affermit to the said Andro, that his guidbrothir Henry Tait hurt Johnne Fynlafoune feruand to the Laird of Roifling, quhair of he wes lyke to die, and desyrit thair to speik with him; and durst nocht, for feir of his lyffe, to be fene in the day lycht: And that he wald putt the said Williame in possession of his steiding and guidis; albeit thair wes na sick thing of veritie, bot falllie deuyfit be the said Williame be subiectioun⁴ of the Ewill Spreit; to the effect that vnder fylence of nycht, the said Williame Mow mycht haif the better oportunitie to haif murthourit his fader-in-law foirfaid, secreteilie in the feildis, vnder fylence of nycht as said is. And he haifing craftelie convoyit the said Andro to the place foirfaid, thair being na sic tryift⁵ and meting as the said Williame affermit to him, the said Andro and the said Williame returnit to the Potter-row,⁶ and the port being steikit, becaus of the nycht,⁶ he perfwadit the said Andro to pas in the nerrest throw the Bak-row⁷ be the Toun wall, being ane priue passage that leidis to Pleasance; and thair, vnder fylence and cloud of nycht, he secreteilie, crewallie and vnumercifullie sett vpoune his said fader-in-law, behind his bak, with ane drawin quhingar⁸ in his hand, gripit him be the craig,⁹ and gaif him twa grit straikis in the heid; doing thairby that in him lay, thair secreteilie vnder nycht to haif murthourit his ageit father-in-law foirfaid, for greid of geir and land; quhilk he had accomplisheit, gif God had nocht strenthenit the said Andro to mak sum defens for his lyff, be griping of the said Williame in his armes, and casting of him vnder the said Andro to the ground, and thrawing of his drawin quhingar furth of his hand; and nochttheles, haifing the said Williame in his will, spairit his lyffe: Quhairby the said Williame wes giltie of the cryme foirfaid, and aucht to be pwnceit thairfoir.

Eftir the quhilk accusatioun, and reding of the Dittay to the said Williame Mow, he maist humblie submittit him selff, and become in our fouerane lordis will for the samin, and haill crymes and offences contenit in the said Dittay. In quhais will the said Justice reslauit him, and ordanit the said Williame Mow to find caution, for fatisfacioun of the said Will, vnder the pane of ane thowfsand poundis; and the samin being fundin to be putt to libertie. Lyke as, Robert Cowdoun in Dalkeith, Williame Veich thair, Thomas Stewinfoun in Bryans and Robert Waddell baxter burges of Edinburgh, become actit and obleift as cautioneris and fouerteis, coniunctlie and fenerallie, for the said Williame Mow, that he fall vnderly quhat ewir our fouerane lord fall declair heirefter to be his Majesteis will for the saidis crymes, vnder the pane of ane thowfsand poundis; Lyke as alsua, thai become pledges and fouerteis for the said Williame Mow, that the faid Andro Boirthuik, his kyn, freindis, tennentis and feruandis falbe harmles and skaythles of the faid Williame Mow, and of all vthir wyis, quhome he may stop or latt,¹ and that he nor thay falbe nawyis trublit, moleffit or perfewit be him, vthirwyis nor be ordour of law and Justice, vnder the faid pane of ane thowfand poundis : As alwa the faidis Cautioneris obleift thame and ilkane of thame to vther, to freyth, releif and keip skaythles vtheris² pro rato for the fourt pairt of the faid penaltie, att the handis of our fouerane lord, his hienes Thesaurer and all vtheris quhome it efferis.—Williame Mow also obliged himself, in due form, to relieve his cautioners.

¹ Past. ² The early part of the evening. ³ Districts of Edinburgh, then without the walls of the city. ⁴ Suggestion. ⁵ Appointment. ⁶ The Potter-row-port being shut at that time of night (Sunday). ⁷ The Back-row stood in the line of the city wall, apparently where Drummond street is now built. ⁸ A sort of short sword, cutlas or hanger. ⁹ Throat.

Slaughter.

Jul. 11.—ALEXANDER YOUNG, ane of his Majesteis Ischeris, Thomas French and James Dot, his feruandis.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slaucher of vmq^{le} George Mylne in Pittinweme, committit in Apryle lastbypast.

Mr Thomas Hammiltoun, aduocat, produceit his Maiesteis Warrant ; quhair-of the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clerk and your Deputis ; We greit you wele. Forfamekill as it is vnderstand to us, that there is tua fenerall dyattis appointit to our seruitour Alex^r young, ane of the Ischeris of our chalmer, the ane the xj day of Julij instant, att the instance of our aduocat ; and the vpr^r att the instance of the partie, the xxj day of jis instant, ffor calling of the faid Alex^r to vnderly our lawis before you, for airt and pairt of the alledgeit slaucher of vmq^{le} . . . Mylne in Pittinweme ; as the Lettres respective beris : Nochtwithstanding, being credible informit that the mater is submittit to freindis, to be takin away in amicable maner, and the paking vp^s pairof liklie to be effectuat, seing our informatioun proceedis of the freindis of apher⁴ of thay parteis to quhome the famin is submittit : It is thairfore our will, and we command you, that ye desert bayth the faidis dyattis and Lettres, and ceis from calling or proceeding aganis a^r of the faidis parteis or pair cautioneris pairatt, in defalt of pair comperance or vpr^r wayes ; that the mater may be better handlit and reconcelit be the freindis : As ye will anfuere to us, vpoun your offices and obedience ; keipand pir presentis for your warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Sanct Androus, the day of July 1597.

(Sic subscritur)

JAMES REX.

Quhilk Warrant being red, the faid Justice depute admittit the famin, and ordenit the lettres rasit to this day, att the instance of the Aduocat, aganis the faid Alex^r Young and his feruand, and the vther Lettres rasit, att the parteis instance, aganis the faid Alex^r and his feruandis, for the slaucher of the faid vmq^{le} George Mylne, to the xxj day of this instant, to be Desert. Quhairvpone, the faid Alex^r Young askit instrumentis.

¹ Let, hinder, control.

² To free and relieve each other, &c.

³ Adjusting, settling, compromising. ⁴ Each, either of these parties.

Slaughter.

Jul. 23.—ANDRO REWLL, Wobster (weaver) in Corstorphin.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vinq^{le} Johnne Rewll his sone, ane barne of xij 3eir auld; committit the (xxj) of Junij lastbypaft.

VERDICT. The Assyis chufc Robert Varnour (of Auchindinny) Chancillar; and in ane voce ffylis Andro Rewll, wobster, of the murthour and slauchter of Johnne Rewle, his sone, committit ane moneth fyne, betuix Corstorphine and Edinburghe, be the straik of the plwmet¹ of his sword vnder the vayne organe.²

SENTENCE. For the quhilk, the Justice, be the mouth of Williame Gray, dempstar, (ordanis) that the said Andro Rewle falbe tane to the Castel-hill of Edinburghe, and thair his heid strikin fra his body; and all his movabill guidis ordenit to be efcheit to our fouerane lordis vsf.

Slaughter.

Jul. 27.—ROBERT POOK (POLLOCK) in Nethirplace, James Vrie in Paratais, Alexander Wallace in Pooktoun and George Tod thair.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vinq^{le} Jonet Biggar, spous to Andro Gilmour in Benwartbank, and ane infant barne in hir wamb; committit the xx day of Maij lastbypaft.

PERSEWARIS, Andro Gilmour in Benwartpark, and Robert Gilmour thair.

Continued to the Air of 'Renfrew tertio Itineris, xv dierum. Plagiis, Jacobo Tennent de Lennox (Linhoufe), Jacobo Vrie et Alex. Wallace, conjunctum et divisum ad relevand.'

Treason—Assisting Bothwell in taking Leith—Raid of Wlowmet or Edmonstone-edge.

Aug. 15.—PATRIK Sleich, sumtyme in Birkinfyde.

Dilatit of breking of waird, he being in Sir George Homes hous in the Cannongait; and for the tressonabill accompaneing of Frances sumtyme Erll Bothwell, James Douglas sumtyme of Spott, quhill thair cuming in to the Abay of Halyrudhous, in the moneth of Julij 1593 3eir.³—ITEM, for the assisting of the Erll Bothwell and Sir James Dowglas, at Leith and the Raid of Wlowmet; commit in Apryll lxxxiiiij (1594.)

The Advocat produceit the Kingis Warrant to put the said Patrik Sleich to ane Assyse.—The advocat protestis for Willfull errorr, in caise thay (the assise) acquit the said Patrik Sleich of the Dittay; in respect of his awin Depositionne produceit, subferyuit be the Justice Clark, the Aduocates selff and the Justice Depute; in the quhilk he confessis the cryme, albeit he deny the famin now. The aduocat (also) desyris the Warrant produceit be him, subferyuit be his Maiestie, to be infert in proces; quhair of the tennour followis.

¹ So termed, from lead being usually run into the plummet or pommel of a sword, to balance its blade. ² The jugular vein. ³ This appears to be partially deleted, perhaps owing to the Dittay being so fully narrated in the Verdict of the Assise.

REX,

ADUOCAT, We greit 3ow weill. Forsamekle as We haue commandit our Justice, Justice clark and thair deputis to put Patrik Sleich, presentlie wairdit within our Tolbuith of Edinburghe, to pe knowledge of ane Assyse with all diligence, for his tressonabill being in cumpany and assisting of Frances sumtyme erll of Bothwell att pe conflict att Edmeftoun-edge. It is pairfore our will, and we command 3ow, that 3e forme ane speciall dittay vpoun pe saidis crymes, and insit in perfit of him for pe same with all instance: As 3e will anfuere to ws vpoun 3our office; kepend pir presentis for 3our warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Falkland, the fyft of August 1597.

(Sic subfcribitur) JAMES REX.

VERDICT. The Assyse, be the mouth of James Lokert, elder of Ley, Chancellor, Fand, pronounceit and declarit the said Patrik Sleich to be fylit, culpabill and convict: Forsamekill as he, in the moneth of Apryll, J^m V^c lxxxiiiij yeiris, come tressonablie, in cumpany with Frances sumtyme Erll Bothwell and vtheris his cumpanie, to the number of iiij^c personis, vnder Capitan and cornett, bodin in feir of weir, &c., to the toun of Leith, quhair thay tressounablie tuik the said toun, the Magistrates thair of and Tolbuith of the famin, of purposis to haif forfeit the said toun: And seing his Maiestie come with ane number of his trew subiectis, to besedg thame thairin, thay drew thame selff furth thair of to the landis of Nudrie, quhair his Maiestie, with his cumpany, following, on horse and fut, thay tressonablie sett vpoun thame and chaisit thame, tuik ane grit number of his trew liegis, hurt and woundit ane vthir pairt thair of; and s^{wa}, he comittit oppin and manifest Tressoune.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk cryme, the Justice depute Ordanit the said Patrik to forfalt his lyffe, landis and guidis, and to be tane to ane gibet att the mercat croce of Edinburghe, and thair haugit quhill he wes deid: Pronounceit be William Gray, dempstar.

Bearing and Wearing of Pistolets.

Oct. 18.—WILLIAM HAMMILTONE, seruitour to David Dundas of Preistinch, and Alexander Mowbray, brother to vniq^{le} Johnne Mowbray of Barnbowgall.

The quhilk day, the personis aboue writtin being enterit on pannell, dilatit of airt and pairt of contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in bering and wering pistolettis vpoun thair personis, within the burcht of Edinburghe, in the moneth of August lastbypast: For the quhilk thay wer tane and apprehendit be Henry Nisbet, proveest of Edinburghe: And being demandit of the Justice quhidder thay wald cum in his Maieftis will thairfor, or abyde the tryell of ane Affyfe for the famin? Thay declarit, that thay, the tyme of thair challengeing, wer myndit to pafs furth of the bur^t of Edinburghe with thair piftolettis; and nochtwithftanding, thay wald becum in his Maieftis will, for ony offens done be thame to his Maieftie, in bering of the faidis piftolettis, or to the faid Proveft of Edinburghe, or ony vtheris.

NOV. 1.—THE KINGIS WILL about William Hammiltoun, fervitour to David Dundas of Preiftinch.

The quhilk day Williame Hammiltoun, being enterit ou pannell to heir our fouerane lordis will declarit, for the cryme vnderwrittin; compeirit Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne, aduocat to our fouerane Lord, and produceit the Warrant vnderwrittin, and defyrit the famin to be regiftrat, quhairof the tenour followis.

APUD LINLYTHGW, xx^o Octobris, anno lxxxxvij. FORSAMEKILL as Williame Hammiltoun, feruand to David Dundas of Preiftinch, being takin, apprehendit and committit in waird, and pairefter presentit to iuftice, accufit and perfewit, for bering and wering of piftolettis, and prefenting of þe fame to the Proveft of Edinburghe; the faid Williame become in his Maieftis will, for þe faid cryme, being verry haynous and capitall, mereting feueir punifchment: ʒit his Maieftie, of his fpecial grace and mercy, forbering that rigour and extremetie, quhilk worthielie may be vfit aganis þe faid Williame, and mitigating iuftice with mercy, hes declairit, and be þir presentis declairis, his Maieftis will as followis, to witt: That the faid Williame, within þe fpace of fourtie dayis eftir þe dait hereof, fall depair and pas furth of þis realme, remane as exylit and baneift furth þair of during his lyftyme; and on na wyis return agane within the famyn, vnder þe pane of deid: And ordanis his Maieftis Juftice and aduocat to caus ane Act of Adiornall to be extendit heirvponn; and publicatioun heirof to be maid att all places neldfull, quhairwith nane pretend ignorans of þe famin.

(Sic fubferibitur) JAMES R.

SENTENCE of perpetual Banifhment. According to the quhilk Warrant, the Juftice Depute pronouncit his Maieftis Will aboue writtin, and ordaneis the faid Williame to be baneift this realme for the cryme aboue (writtin) during his hail lyftyme; and on nawyes to return agane within the famin, vnder the pane of deid.

Sortery and Witchcraft.

[APUD LINLYTHGW, Mr Williame Haert of Lewielandis, Justice-Depute.]

Oct. 19.—CAPITAN PATRIK HERING.

The quhilk day, comperit Sir Williame Menteith eldar of Keufe, kny^t, Williame Menteith, his foun and aperand air, and Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne, aduocat to our fouerane lord, for his hienes interes, as perfewaris, and produceit his Maiefties Lettres, dewlie execute and indorfat, purchest att thair instans, aganis Capitan Patrik Herring, be vertew of the quhilkis lettres said Capitan Patrik Herring is lauchfullie demuncit his Maieftie rebell and putt to the horne att the mercatt croce of Striuling, vponne the aughtene day of October instant, for nocht finding of caution, that he sould haif comperit before the Justice or his Deputis this day and place, and vnderlyne the law for certane crymes of Sorcerie and Witchcraft, as att lenth specifit in the saidis Lettres: And protestit for releif of thair caution, fundin for perfeit of the saidis Lettres and forder proces aganis the saidis Capitan Patrik Herring; quhairvpon thay askit instrumentis.

Comperit Williame Ilwid in Stirling, and produceit ane Letter and Precept, directit fra his Maieftie to the Justice, Justice Clark and thair deputis, and deyrit the famin to be obeyit and insert in proces; of the quhilk Precept the tenour followis.

REX.

JUSTICE, Justice clark and your deputis, We greit you weil. Forfamekill as our lout, Capitan Patrik Herring is summond, att the instance of the Lairdis of Kerfe, eldar and younger, to vnderly the lawis befor you and your deputis, in the Tolbuith of Lynlythgw, the nyntene day of October instant, for certane crymes of Wichcraft alleget aganis him; We, for findrie reasonable cauffis and consideratiounes moving us, willis and commands you and ilkane of you, to continew the said day and all proceeding agenis the said Capitan Patrik Herring in the said cryme, vntill the tent day of December nixtocum, to be haldin in the Tolbuith of Striuling; dischargeing you and ilkane of you and your deputis, be the presentis, of ony calling or proceeding in the said mater vntill the foirsaid day and place: The Cautioneris of baith the saidis parteis standand in the same forme and effect as thay ar now, vntill the said day; but preiudice of ap^r of the saidis parteis. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Dunfermling, the xvij day of October instant, 1597.

(Sic subscribitur) JAMES R.

Vpon the production quhair of the said Williame askit Instrumentis.

It is alleget be the persewaris, that nochtwithstanding of the Warrant produceit, that the Justice aucht to proceed and minister justice to the parties, according to the lawis and Actis of Parliament, becaus the Warrant produceit is ane privat Warrant, to the hinderance of justice, quhilk my Lord Justice, be Act of Parliament, is ordenit nocht to respect, but to proceed nochtwithstanding of the famin: As also, the Warrant contenis ane command to continew the dyet, quhilk can nawyis be done, be the ordour and practik obseruit in the countrey; seing in continewatiounis, quhilkis ar actis judiciall, it is necessar that the judgement be establisht be the presens of thre personis, the Judge, the persewar and defender; and the defender being now absent, thair can be no lauchfull continewatioun maid, bot the certificatioun of the Lettres man be grantit aganis him: And gif he be nocht alreddie lauchfullie denunceit, he aucht to be putt to the horne of new; and gif na caution be fund, as thair is nane, his cautioner sould be vnlawit.

The Justice, in respect of my Lord Aduocatis answer, and be reason of absence of partie defender, without quhais personal comperance thair can be na certane comperance to ony certane day, and in respect also of his Maiesteis Letter, discharging all proceeding this day, Defertis the dyet, to new wairning to the thryd day of the nixt Justice Air of the Sherefdome quhair the said Capitan Patrik Herring duellis, or soner, vpoun xv dayes wairning. Quhairvpoun the saidis perfewaris askit instrumentis, Witchcraft—Sorcery—Incantation, &c.

NOV. 12.—JONET STEWART, in the Cannogait; CHRISTIAN LEWINGSTOUN, in Leyth; BESSIE AIKEN, thair; and CHRISTIAN SAIDLER, in Blakhous.

Dilatit of the crymes of Witchcraft vnderwrittin.

VERDICT. The quhilk day, the personis of Assyse being chofin, sworne and admittit; and the personis on pannell being accusit, be Dittay, in thair presens, of the crymes vnderwrittin, removit furth of court; quhair, eftir chusing of Henry Lummidane (in Edinburghe) Chancellor of the said Assyise, thay reasonit and votit vpoun the poyntis of the said Dittay; and being throughlie anysit thairwith, reenterit agane in Court, quhair thay, be the mouth of the said Chancellor, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said CRISTIANE LEWINGSTOUN to be fylit and convict of the abusing of Thomas Gothray, baxter in Hadingtoun, vnder pretext of Witchcraft, quha adressit him self to the said Cristian as ane wyfe woman, haifing knaulege in the foirsaid airt, and sayd to hir that he was witchit, and that his geir went fra him; quhilk scho affirmit to be trew, and promesit to help him, and fuld lat him sie quhair the Witchcraft was laid: Lyke as, the morne thaireftir, scho tuke him doune his awin stair and hakkit¹ a hoill with ane knyffe, and tuke out a lytill polk of blak plading, quhairin was sum pickellis of quheit, sum threidis of wirset of diuerse cullouris, hairis and naillis of mennis fingeris, and affermit that he was witchit be that meanis; and baid his wyffe keip² thame in hir aprone, and cast thame in the fyre; quhilk was done immediatlie thairefter: And than scho sayd, gif scho had nocht fund out this geir, thay wald haif bene wrakkit bayth in body and geir: Quhilk scho deponit in presens of my Lord Justice, vpoun the tent day of Julij lastbypast, to be of veritie: And forder sayd, that scho laid in this graith her self, in the nycht, in a hoill vnder the stair; and nochtheless maid Gothray and his wyffe to beleif it was Witchcraft layd in be ane vther: Lykewyis, at the samyn tyme scho affermit that hir dochter was tane away with the Farie-folk, and declarit to Goth-

¹ Howkit, dug.

² Keep, is perhaps used for kep, catch, indicating that the witch directed Thomas to toss them towards his wife, who would receive them in her apron, &c.

rayis wyff, than being with barne, that it was a man chyld fcho was with ; as it provit in deid : And that all the knowlege fcho had was be hir dochter, wha met with the Fairie.—ITEM, indytit and accusit, that fcho and CRISTIAN SAIDLER, being consultit be Robert Baillie, mafoune in Hadingtoun, to cure his wyffe, quha allegeth hirselff to be bewitched, fcho, at the said Cristian Saidleris desire to gang and cure hir (went;) and than the said Cristian Saidler bad hir tak thre pyntis of sweit wirt,¹ and seith it with a quantitie of fresche butter, to a pynt ; quhilk fcho gaif hir to drynk : And siclyke, to gif hir a bath in a pot of wodbind and roset hett togidder ; quhilk fcho did, bot avallit not ; doing thairbye, baith fcho and the said Cristian Saidler, that in thame lay to abuse the said Robertis wyffe, promessing to cure hir be hir craft, quhilk fcho was nocht able to do : And this was done vnder cullour of Withecraft.—ITEM, indytit and accusit lykewyis, that schortlie befor fcho was apprehendit, fcho was fend for be the said Cristian Saidler to hir hous, and at hir cuming the said Cristian desyrit hir to gif her selff furth for a wyife wyffe and a woman of skill ; and said to Andro Pennycuke of that Ilk, being than seik in her hous, that fcho fend for hir as being a wyife-woman to help him ; and than the said Cristian Saidler bad hir tak weill in hand to haille him, and put him in gude hope : And the said Andro than sayd, that he had bene in the Cannogait with JONET STEWART, and that fcho had done him na gude, and beleiffit that fcho had witchit him ; and that the sayd Jonet sayd ‘ he suld never haif a day to do weill :’ And than fcho, be the said Cristian Saidleris counsaile, bad get a reid cok ; quhilk wes done : quhilk fcho slew and tuke the blude of it, and fcho buke² a bannok thairof with floure, and gaif the said Andro to eit of it ; quhilk he could not preif.³ And thaireftir, fcho, at the said Cristian Saidleris desyre, tuke anc of the said Androis farkis, quhilk fcho gaif to her, and bad her dip it in the wall⁴ at the bak of the hous ; quhilk fcho did, and brocht it in agane ; quhilk Cristian Saidler put vpoun him, wat as it was, being verie evill at eife, and gaif him to vnderstand that he wold get his health be this meanis ; albeit that it wes onlie plane abusione, as the event declarit : And than the said Andro desyrit hir to gang to Jonet Stewart, and craif his health at hir hand for Godis sake.—AND siclyke, fund, pronunceit and declarit the said JONET STEWART to be fylit, culpabill and convict, for cuning to Bessie Inglis in the Kowgait, being deidlie seik, and lycht and tuke aff hir fark that was than vpoun hir and her mutche, and waifschit thame in a South-rynnand water ; quhilk fcho did, as fcho sayd, at command of vni⁵ Michael Clark, snyth in Lafwaid ; and put the fark wat vpoune hir at midnycht, and said thryis over, ‘ In þe name of þe flader, þe Sone and þe Haly Ghaist ;’ and fyrit the water,⁵ and brunt stray at

¹ Worts, the fermented stuff from which ale is brewed.

² Baked.

³ Prece, taste.

⁴ Draw-well.

⁵ Put red hot iron into it.

ilk newke of the bed, as the said Michael had leirnit hir ; quhilk was done, vnder pretext and cullour of Witchecraft.—ITEM, for hailling of women of the wedonynpha,¹ and specialle of Bessie Aitkyn and syndrie vthiris, be taking of ane garland of grene-wodbynd, and causing of the patient to pass thryife throw it ; quhilk thairafter scho cuttit in nyne peices and cast in the fyre ; quhilk scho affermit scho leirnit, with the rest of hir cures, fra ane Italean strangear callit Mr Johne Damiet, ane notorious knawin Enchanter and Sorcerer ; quhilk was lykewyis done vnder the pretext of Witchecraft.—ITEM, fylit for hailling of syndrie perfones diseasit of the falling evill, be hingand of ane stane about thair nek fyve nyctis ; quhilk stane scho affermit scho gat fra the Lady Crawford ; and swa for abusing of the peple vnder pretext of Witchecraft.—AND siclyke, ffrand, pronunceit and declarit the said CRISTIAN SAIDLER to be fylit and convict for abusing of the peple vnder pretext and cullour of Witchecraft ; and specialle, that scho and the said Cristian Levingstoune, refoirting oft in hir hous, and consultit and devyfit in sik thingis, and nemelie defyrit the said Cristian to tak weill vpon hand to cure ane Gray in Hadingtoun, quha was alledgeit to be witchit, and come to the said Cristian house to seik remeid thairfor : Lyke as also, Robert Bailzie come to hir house, craving of her remeid for his wyffe, quha was bewitchit, and scho fend the said Cristian Levingstoune to Hadingtoun to her, and bad her tak brwne and cammamyne and seith in quhyte vyne, and gif it to the seik woman to drynk, for the seiknes of her hairt.—ITEM, fforfamekill as Andro Pennyeuke being diseasit, be the space of xx oulkis, in hir hous, of the vnderfute,² as scho affermit, and culd nocht hail hir (him), scho fend for the said Cristian Levingstoune, and baid her tuik weill in hand ; and scho said to the said Andro, that scho fend for ane wyife-woman, quhilk was the said Cristian Levingstoun, quha had skill and wald hail hir (him) : And eftir hir cuming, thay take a reid cok, flew it, buke a bannok with the blude of it, and gaif the samyn to the said Andro to eit : And thairefter, scho gaif the said Cristian ane of the said Androis farkis, and baid hir dip it in the well behind hir hous, and scho did it, at hir command ; and scho put the samyn vponne him wat ; quhairthrow he maist haif sownit³ amang thair handis ; thairby abusing the pure gentleman, under cullour of Sorcerie and Witchecraft.—ITEM, that vnder cullour of hir craft and hailling of diseasit perfounes, scho affermit that scho culd hail Leprosie ; lyke as, scho tuk in hand to hail the Young Laird of Bargany, ¹ A wed, a disease peculiar to women in childbed and to nurses. It occurs among the singular enumeration of diseases in Sir John Roull's Cursing, one of the Poems in the Bannatyne M.S.—'The cruke, the cramp, the colica,—The worm, the wareit wedonynpha,—Rimburfin, ripplis and belly-thra.' It is also known by the name of wyten-on-fa.

² In Sibbald's Glossary, the word 'undergore' occurs, as expressive of a 'state of Leprous eruption.'
³ He had almost swooned or fainted away.

quhilk scho affermit scho did, with cure of saw,¹ maid of quick-silver, and rubbit it on the patient, quhilk scho alleget scho leirnit at hir fader; albeit scho did the samin be vnlessum meanis, scho haifing na sik knowlege as to cure Leprosie, quhilk the maist expert men in medecine are not abill to do.—ITEM, that vinq^{le} Robert Hunter, being diseasit with a flaw in his face, quhilk scho affermit to be Leprosie, scho vsit a cure vponne him mixt w^t quick-silver and gaif him in drynk: God knowis how it wes composit, bot the gentillman deit within xij houris thair-estir, as wes notourlie confest be hir selff, and can nocht be denyit; quhairby scho was giltie of his death, be hir craft, ministring to him vnlessum thingis, quhairof he deit suddendie; and swa scho abusit the said Robert Hunter.—ITEM, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said BESSIE AITKYN to be fylit, culpabill and convict for abusng of the peple, in geving her furth to hail seik perones, be putting of thame throw ane girth² of wodbind, thryis thre tymes, and vsit thir wordis, ‘ This in þe name of þe Father, þe Sone and þe Halie Ghaist: ’ Quhilk cure scho practizit vpon Marionne Wallace in Marlingis-wynde and diuerse vtheris, for a dolour in thair lunze;³ quhilk quhen scho declarit to Jonet Stewart, scho affermit that the said Jonet bad hir tak reid nettellis and Alex^r,⁴ and bath hir with, and seith Alex^r with fresche butter and rub vpon hir; and to put the said Marionne Wallace ix times throw the girth of wodbind, at thre feuerall tymes, and xxiiij houris to be betuix ilk tyme; quhilk scho did.—ITEM, for vsing of the lyke to, a wyffe of Cramond, for curing of hir diseise, quhome scho past throw the girth of wodbind nyne times; and forder, scho tuke Bessie Henderfoune doune the bak-lyde of Nethir Crawmond, and take vp nyne sopis⁵ of salt watter and put in a stolp;⁶ and being all in bed or sche come agane, scho waifche⁷ the seik woman, callit Vchiltrie, frome the crowne of hir heid to the foill of hir fute, being haldin vp betuix twa susteris; and syne scho did that in Geillis⁸ name: This was done to Williame Kellis wyffe, and said that his wyffe had twa meidwyffes, and the last had done his wyffe evill; and counsaillat him to fend for hir, and ask his wyffes health thryis at hir for Godis saik; and baid him, at hir away-ganging, cast a fyrie coill, and twitche⁹ hir thairwith; and sayd forder, gif the said Bessie had not cum, the said Williamis wyffe had deit: Lyke as also, scho maid a saw¹⁰ of reid nettellis and butter and wodbind, and laid it to the patientis lunzie, as Jonet Stewart had done to hir of before; and pat hir throw the girth: Lyke as, scho causit to bath hir lunzie with scheippis doung.—ITEM, scho confest that scho leirnit of Janet Stewart to tak rawff¹ Spainzie seid, and steip it amang quyte wyne, and gif it to driuk, for the fawing-evill.²—ITEM, scho confest alsua, that James Johnstoune, cuning to craif hir counsale anent his diseis of , scho baid him get a grene gwife,³ with four or fyve kitlingis,⁴ and put the kitlingis in the guise wambe, and roist the famyn; and with the juse and drippingis to rub him; bot put the famyn never in practize vponne him.—ITEM, forder ffand, pronunceit and declarit the saidis Cristian Lewingstoune, Jonet Stewart, Cristian Saidler and Bessie Aitken to be fylit, culpable and convict of commoune abusaris of the peple, be geving thame selffis out for Witcheis, and to vnderstand that thai had craft of Sorcerie, abill to haif curit diuerse grit diseiffis and seiknesses; quhill be na naturall meanis of phisik, or vther lawfull and Godlie wayes, thay war abill to performe.

¹ Salve or ointment. ² Hoop or circlet. ³ Loins; it ought to have been written ‘lunzeis.’

⁴ An herb, vulgarly called ‘Aleflander,’ stinkin’ Alfchinder, or ‘loveage,’ with black leaves. Lactolus atrum, ligusticum, levisticum. ⁵ Soups, sops, or small quantities; probably as much as could be taken up in the palms of the hands joined, at nine times. Literally, as much liquid as can conveniently be contained in the mouth.

⁶ Stoup, a wooden vessel for holding water. ⁷ Washed. ⁸ St Giles, the tutelar Saint of Edinburgh. ⁹ Touch. ¹⁰ Salve.

SENTENCE. For the quhilkis crymes, the said Justice Depute Ordaint the saidis persones.⁵ and ilk ane of thame, to be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburghe, and thair to be wirreit⁶ at ane staik, quhill thay war deid; and thair bodeis to be brunt in affes, and all thair movable guidis to be escheit: Quhill was pronunceit be the mouth of [William] Liddell, Dempstar of the said Court.

Sedition — Treason — Besieging the King, &c. in Tolbooth of Edinburgh.

Jan. 20, 1597-8.—EDWARD JOHNNESTOUN, merchand burges of Edinburgh.

Dilatit, accufit and perfewit be Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcairne, aduocat to our fouerane lord, of the Dittay vnderwrittin: That is to say,

DITTAY against the Pannell.

EDWARD JOHNNESTOUNE, merchand burges of Edinburgh, 3c ar indytit, fforamekill as, diuers wickit and malicious personis, invying the quyet estait of the Kirk and commoun wealth of this countrey, haifing preiffit be leis, calmneis, fals clamouris and misreportis of his Maiesteis vertewous procedingis, to rais diffentioun betuix his hienes and the ministeris, and diuers vther his subiectis; perfewerit swa maliciouslie in thair godles practeis, in the monethis of September, October, Nouember and in the beginning of December, in the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxxvj, to dispose the haertis of the nauchtieft and warft inclynit peopill to miscontentment and rebellious, till at last, vpoun the xvij day of the said moneth of December, takand thair avantage, be occasioun of his Maiesteis chargeing of sum inhabitantis of Edinburgh aff the toune, with quhais extraordinar and suspect behaviour his Maieftie wes than offendit, to abuse the Ministrie, nocht oulie with ane vehement fray¹ of thair awin priuatt perrell, bot also of the extreme danger of the Kirk and Religioune, incussit thairby sic terrour to thame, that thay defyrit the Nobillmen, barrounis, gentilmen and burgesfis, being att the preiching the said day, to repair to the New Kirk; quhair, eftir conference and deliberatioun vpoun the remeidis of the confaut danger, haifing concludit to promeis ayfald² concurrence to vtheris, in the defence of Religioune, and renewing of the Covenant maid to that effect, be thair solemp aithis, and extensioun of thair rycht handis: Ane number of the saidis seditious leyaris, authouris of the reportis and diffentioun foirsaid, being present, and persaving that to be ane verrie convenient tyme, and sic occasioun, to performe thair preceding proiectis; incontinent, of thair vphaulding of thair handis at the New Kirk, began, in maist confusit and tumultuous maner, to cry, ‘To armes!’ and to exhort thair associattis to stik³ certane of his Maiesteis nobilitie, counsalouris and domestik seruandis: Quhair ye being present, and airt and pairt of the said tressonabill and rebellious tumult, ischeit⁴ with thame, furth of the said New Kirk to the callay,⁵ in ane grit number; and dispersing your selfis in diuerse quarteris of the callay, cryit, ‘To armes!’ to ‘Stryke þe swasch!’⁶ and ‘Ryng

¹ Probably the same as raff, denoting plenty or abundance of Spanish seed. ² Epilepsy, falling sickness. ³ A green goose. ⁴ Kittens. ⁵ Bessie Aiken, one of the pannells, pleaded her venter (pregnancy); which, as had formerly been decided in the case of Barbara Naipar, was sustained. After childbirth, and sustaining 'lang punefishment, be famine and imprifonment,' in the Tolbooth of Edinburgh, she was at length banished for life, in compliance with a Warrant from the King. See Aug. 15, 1598: But by what process of reasoning his Majesty came to so enlightened a conclusion, it is difficult to conjecture! Bessie's extreme poverty puts bribery out of the question. ⁶ Strangled, worried.

¹ Fear. O. Fr. Effroy, effray, frayeur. ² q. d. One-fold, single, unfeigned, hearty concurrence with each other. ³ Stab, assassinate. ⁴ Issued, rushed forth. ⁵ Causeway, street. ⁶ The alarm-drum. Dr Jamieson, in his valuable Dictionary and Supplement, defines this instrument (but apparently with some hesitation) to be a trumpet. In all the instances the Editor can recollect of having met with the ‘swasche’ or ‘swesche,’ in the ancient Records and in other MSS., reference is uniformly made to its being struck, not sounded or blown. As the instrument is one now entirely forgotten or unknown, some enquiry has been made by the Editor into the subject; and, without offering any farther remarks, the following curious notices are given, being the result of considerable researches. In the Lord Treasurer of Scotland’s accounts, anno 1542, the following entries occur.

‘In the first, deliverit to be x coittis and x pair of hois to the four playeris on the veolis, four trumpetis of ware, and twa taburneris’ (drummers), lxij li. xvj s.
(1544.) ‘Item, to tua men that playit vpoun the swesche, quhilkis had thair tabrounis brokin thair, [at the ‘Assège of Glasgw’] be the Irifche men,’ xliiij s.
(1548.) ‘Item, vij Aprilis, ane to play throw the toune with the swesche, to raise certane men of weir, to pas to Yaisler,’ iij s.

FROM the Treasurer’s Accounts, as recorded in the Burgh Court Book of Canongate;

(Nov. 15, 1576.) ‘Item, gevin to Carsane the Swascheur, that day we moufterit, xxx s.
‘Item, the famin day, gevin to the Pyper, at the Baillies command, viij s.
‘Item, the famin day, gevin to ane Bonet-maker fallow, to play on my Lordis swasche, vj s. viij d.
‘Item, vpoun the tent of October, gevin for ane swasche to our moufteris, iij li.
‘Item, for TWA STICKIS TO THE SWASCHE,’ vj d.

Besides these, numerous other entries occur in the Lord Treasurer’s Books, at different dates, of pe commoun bell' affirming the Religioume to be in danger, and his Maieftie to be accompaneit with ane number of nobilitie and counfalouris, Papiftis, and ini-meis to the Kirk: And be that policie, haifing convocatt and fteirit vp your affociattis, to the number of ffour or ffyve hundreth men, with jakis, knapfkais, corflattis, hagbuttis, piftolettis, pikis, halbertis, fwerdis, gantillettis and vtlieris wappinnis inuafine, ye and your faidis affociattis, treflonable and feditiouflic in-cloft his Maieftie within the Tolbuith of the faid burcht, quhair his hienes wes for the tyme with his Counfall, in his gown,¹ in maift peceabill maner, for admi-niftratioun of iuftice, and difcharge of that poynt of his princelie dewtie to his peopill: And the faidis feditious rafkallis and ye incloft the Kirk-ftyle, and haill paffageis of the faid Tolbuith, and acces to the famin, gairdit thame with forceis of armit men, debarrit be force and violence fic of his Maiefteis faithfull fubiectis and familiar feruitouris, as preiffit to haif enterit within the faid Tol-buith, to haif bene ather releifaris of his perrell, or pairt-takarais thairof; boiffit and dang² gentilmen, and vttheris his Maiefteis feruandis, aff the calfay; flayit fic as wes with his Maieftie to ifch furth of the Tolbuith, except fic particuleris as focht and obtenit your licence; minaffit fic as wes within the Tolbuith for his Maiefteis defens, bidding caft furth certane of his counfalouris and feruandes att the windois, and boiffit that ye fould lift thame; and vterit infineit fic tref-sonabill and feditious fpeichis, and continewing thairin be the fpace of twa houris; treasonable befegeit his Maieftie, in fwa barbarous, contemptuous and rebellious maner, as wes newir vfit of before, ather³ fene in this countrey, or hard of in ony vther; till att laft, the weill affectit magiftratis, and certane dewtiefull inhabit-antis of the faid burcht, with diueris gentilmen, being thairin for the tyme, haif-ing affemblit thame felffis in fic number and preparatioun, as ye could nocht gudlie haif refistit perfewering in your will; bot, laiking power to performe your maift trefonabill interpryis foirfaid, wer forceit to reter⁴ your felffis, and fuffer his Maieftie to be relewit, in difpyte of your malice and treasonabill rebel-lioune. Quhilkis crymes, particulerlie aboue fpecifeit, wer committit att the tyme, and in maner foirfaid, of your counfaling, dewyfyng, interpryfyng, caufing, fleirring vp, command, affiftance and ratilhabitioun; and ye wer airt and pairt thairof. Quhilk ye can nocht deny.

payments to fwefchcouris and tabrounaris. The present quotations shall be closed by another singular extract.

(Oct. 14, 1596.) 'Johne Sandis beenm actit to firyk the fuyfe throw this burgh, at four houris in the mornyng, and at aucht houris at evin; and for his diligence thairintill, Robert Bennat is becum actit cautioner to the Beilleis and Counfall of this burgh, under the penaltie of ten pundis.

(Eodem die.) 'Andro Angle becam actit to ring the bell daylie, at four houris in the mornyng, and at aucht houris at evin, &c—Actis, Ordinancis and Statutis of the Burgh of Culros.'

¹ Sitting in council in his robes of state, and therefore unarmed.

² Threatened, brow-beat, and drove.

³ Either, or.

⁴ Retire, withdraw. Fr. retirer.

Quhilk Dittay, being red in the said Edwardis prefens; and being inquiryt, gif he wald abyde ane Affyis thairfore, or cum in his Maieftis will for the famin? Anfuert, that he wald nocht cum in will of the Dittay, as it is confaut; and he produceit ane Supplicatioun efter fpecificeit.

EDWARD JOHNNESTOUNIS SUPPLICATIOUN to the Lords of Secreit Counfall, and thair Deliuernance.

SOUERANE lord, vnto your Maieftie and Lordis of your lienes Secreit Counfall, huimlie meinis and fchawis your graceis feruitour, Edward Johnneftoun: That quhair, vpoune occafion of fum fpeichis vnhappellie vterit be me in your Maieftis prefens, vpoun the xij day of this infant, tending to my purgation of the tumult and vproir, quhilk fell furth in the town of Edinburgh, vpoun the xvij day of December, 1596 zeiris, it pleafit your lienes to committ me to waird within the Tolbuith of Edinburgh, thair to remane quhill I wes tryit be ane Affyis of the famin. Quhilkis fpeichis wer maift vnaufittlie fpokin, and with my haert I repent the vtering pairof; maift huimblie craving your Maieftis pardoun pairfore, and for that suddane and vnhappie commotioun, quhilk fell furth the said xvij day of December 1596, quhairatt I wes prefent, althocht vpoun na ewill intentione nor purpois aganis your Maieftie, or ony of your counfall: ¶ Sit, feing your lienes wes fa heichlie offendit pairat, nocht only condemn I the famin as rafch and vnaduisittlie done, bot alfo fra my haert I repent I wes prefent that day. Maift huimblie befeiking your Maieftie, accordig to your wountit grit (mercy) and clemencie, to pardoun me for the famin, protefting folempnelie, be Godis grace, I falbe mair war¹ and circumfpect in all tyme cuming, in the faythfull and loyall difcharge of my dewtie to your Maieftie; for quhais lang leif and prosperous eftait I fall continewallie pray: And for my efcheit, quhilk your Maieftie difpouit, I am content to, being relewit out of waird, quhilk I huimblie craif, to fatisfie the donatours pairof att your Maieftis fycht, accordig as vthiris neychbouris² hes done: And fwa, your Maieftis gracious anfuert maift huimblie I befeik,

(Sic deliberatur)

APUD EDINBURGH, xix Januarij 1597. -

The Lords of Secreit Counfall Remittis the anfuert of the complement within writtin to the Kingis Maieftie.

(Sic fubferibitur)

FVVIIE.

According to the quhilkis, he becummis in his Maieftis will: And as to the Dittay produceit, denyis the haill pointis thairof, except fa far as is contenit in the Supplicatioun aboue writtin.

And thaireftir, the said Edward Johnneftoun, eftir the reding of the Dittay aboue writtin, produceit be the said Aduocat, declarit, that fafar as his Maieftie thinkis of his honour and confcience that he is giltie of ony poynt of the said Dittay, he beand in his Maieftis will thairfore; for fatisfacioun of the quhilk will, Archibald Johnneftoun merchand burges of Edinburgh, become pledge and fourtie; and the said Edward Johnneftoun obleift him to releif the said Archibald of the caution aboue writtin, and of all danger that may follow thairvpoune.

¹ Wary, cautious.

² Fellow-citizens, townsmen.

(Jan. 21.)—THE quhilk day Eduarde Johnneftoun burges of Edinburgh, being enterit on pannell, to heir and fie our fouerane lordis Will declarit, anent the crymes quhairfoir he become in his hienes will, in ane Court of Justiciarie haldin be the said Justice-depute, in the Tolbuith of Edinburghe, the twenty day of Januarie infant: For fatisfactione of the quhilk will, Archibald Johnneftoun merchand burges of Edinburghe become actit and oblist cautioner and fouirtie in the buikis of Adiornale; as ane act maid in the said Court, the said twenty day of Januare, at mair lenth proportis.

Comperit Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Druncairne aduocat to our fouerane Lord, and producet in judgement to the said Justice-Depute, twa Warrantis subferyuit be his Maieftis hand: Of the quhilk tua warraundis the tennour followis.

The tennour of the first Warrant.

FORSAMEKLE as Eduarde Johnneftoun, merchand burges of Edinburghe, being pannellit and accusit for airt and pairt of the treaffonnabill cryme of Treaffoun and Liefnaieftie, committed be him and his complices vpoun the fevintein day of December lxxx sextein (1596) yeiris, aganis our royale perfoun, and certane of our nobilitie and counfalouris, being within our Tolbuith of Edinburghe for administration of Justice to our liegis, in quiet and peciabill maner; is cum in our will for the said cryme: Thairfoir We, for declaratioun of ane parte of oure will anent the said Eduarde, nochtwithstanding of his merite of death and confiscatioun of all his movabill guidis and geir and fforfaltour of his landis for the said cryme, haue neurtheles, of our grace, elemency and mercy, pardonit and remittit to him his lyif, We decerne and ordaine þe said Eduarde, for him self and takand the burding on him for his wyif and bairnis, and all vtheris having rycht of thame to the obligatioun vnder writtin, to superceid all executioun compitent to him and his bairnis or ony of þaim vpoun ane Obligatioun maid and subferyuit be Thomas Fonlis goldfmyth, burges of Edinburghe, and his cautioneris, to the said Eduarde and his foirfaidis, quhairby the said Thomas and his saidis cautioneris, for þe soume of Aucht thousand markis ressaueit be þe said Thomas fra þe said Eduarde at þe making þairof, become bund and oblist to pay the said soume to þe said Eduarde or his foirfaidis, or vþirwyis to content and pay to thame ane grite quantatie of victuell theirfoir, or to grant quhatfumeuir securitie of infestment of landis for þe famin, in maner specifcit in þe said Obligatioun, of quhatfumeuir dait or daitis þe famin be of; and that ay and quhill the said Thomas and his foirfaidis ressaue payment of the said soum fra ws and our Comptroller, according to ane Act and ordinance maid anent the fatisfactione and pament of þe saidis Thomas debtis restand be ws to him; sua that the said Eduarde or his foirfaidis fal haue na actioun nor executioun vpoun the said Obligatioun, ather principall soume, proffreit þairof, or victuell þairin contenit aganis the said Thomas and his cautioneris, quhill thay ressaue pament and fatisfactionn of þe said soum of Aucht thousand markis fra our said comptroller; and orldanis the said Obligatioun, haill strenth, force and effect þairof to ceis and be suspendit in the mentyme, quhill the tyme aboue specifcit; at the quhilk tyme, þe said Thomas and his cautioneris salbe onlie oblist to pay the said principall soume of Aucht thousand markis, togidder with the annuelrent of ten markis for ilk hundreth¹ þairof, for all 3eiris and termes that the said Eduarde fall happin to want the said principall soume, and fall nocht be afrietit to pament of ony griter proffreit for the said soume, nochtwithstanding of quhatfumeuir claus or conditionn in þe said Obligatioun: And for the mair securitie, we ordane þis oure declarioun of ane parte of oure will to be infert and regiftrat in þe buikis of Adiornall, with lettres to pas þairupoun, in form as effeiris. Subferyuit with oure hand, At Haliruidhous, the xxi day of Januare, 1597.

¹ Interest at the rate of 10 per cent.

(Sic fufcribitur)

JAMES REX.

Followis the tennour of the ither Warrant.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clerk and 5 our deputtis, We greit 5ow weill: Forfamekill as in ane Court of Justiciarie haldin be 5ow in our Tolbuith of Edinburghe, the twenty day of Januar infant, Eduarde Johnneftoune, merchand burges of Edinburghe, is becum in our will, for his airt and pairte of the Infurrectioun movit aganis ws and oure counfalouris within oure burghe of Edinburghe, vpoun the xvij day of December, 1596 5eiris; and that Archibald Johnneftoun, merchand burges of Edinburghe, is become oblift and actit in 5our buikis, for fulfilling our will to be pronuncit pairament: Qubairfoir, We movit with clemencie, mixing mercy with iustice, albeit the faid Eduarde meritit rigorous pvnifchement, be thir presentis declairis our Will in þat behalf, as followis, to wit: We Decerne and ordane the faid Eduarde Johnneftoune and his cautioner to content and pay to our familier feruitour, Sir George Home of Spott, donatour to þe faid Eduarde his efcheit, the foun of Thrie thousand and fyve hundreth markis, betuix and the tent day of Februare next; and als, to gif ane sufficient difcharge to our faid donatour for his intromiffioun with qubatfumenir fumes of money perteing to þe faid Eduarde, vpliftit be þe faid Sir George and vþiris in his name in ony tyme bygane: Qubilk We declair falbe in full contentatioun for þe faid Eduard his efcheit, and of all farder pane and cryme we may lay aganis the faid Eduarde, for þe caus foirfaid: Ordaining alsua lettres of Pounding and Horning vpoun ane fimpill charge of fex dayes to pas and be direct at the faid Sir Georgis instance aganis þe faid Eduard and his cautioner, for fulfilling heirof and pament to him of þe faid fomme; for fua is oure will be þir presentis. Subferyuit with oure hand, At Edinburghe, the twenty ane day of Januare, 1597.

(Sic fufcribitur)

JAMES REX.

According to the qubilkis Warrantis, the faidis Justice-Depute pronuncit and declairit our fouerane lordis Will aganis the faid Eduard Johnneftoun; and decernit and ordanit him to fulfill the haill pointis, artieles, and clauffis contenit thairin; and that lettres be direct heirvpoun aganis the faid Eduard and his cautioner for fulfilling of the premissis, conforme to the tennour of the faidis Warrantis.

Forgery — Counterfeiting a Discharge.

Feb. 8.—JOHN HALYDAY, burges of Edinburghe, Thomas Marioribankis, notar thair, James Lowrie, fone to vniq^{le} James Lowrie burges of Edinburghe, Johnne Wynzettis, funtyme kater to his Maieftie, Alexander Lowrie, baxter in Edinburghe.

Dilatit of the counterfiting, falfcifeing and dewyfyng of ane fals and counterfit Difcharg, alledgeit maid be Capitan Williame Nifbet to James Lowrie, of the fomme of thre hundreth markis, centenit in ane Obligatioun maid be the faid James to the faid Capitan Williame; and of ane Inhibitioun following thairvpoun.

VERDICT and execution of SENTENCE. ‘Fylit and hangit.’

Falsely acting as a Notary.

Feb. 8.—JOHNNE MOSCROP, wryter in Edinburghe.

Dilatit of gewing of him selff for ane notar, he nocht being (ane); and subferyuing as notar diners obligatiounis.¹

The Dittays in this and the preceding case are recorded, and contain the particulars of the forgeries; but they are not worthy of being inserted.

VERDICT. The Affyis, ‘be the mouth of Johnne Stoddart of Sheilgrene chancellor, fand, pronunceit and declarit the said perfounes vpoun pannell to be fylit, culpable and convict of the particuler crymes aboue writtin, quhair of everie ane of thame was accusit.

SENTENCE. The said Justice-depute ordanit thame, be the mouth of Williame Liddell dempstar of the said Court, to be tane to ane gibbet besyde the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thairon to be hangit quhill thai be deid; and all thair movable guidis to be escheit and inbrocht to our souerane lordis vsê, as convict of the saidis crymes.

Unbesetting the Highway—Wamesucken—Shooting of Hagbutts and Pistolets, &c.—Murder.

Feb. 15.—JOHNE MURE of Auchindrane and others.

The samin day Matthow Dunduff of that Ilk alias Stewart, oft tymes callit as cautioner and fouirtie for Johnne Mure of Auchindrane, John Mure sone to Quintene Mure in Carcloy, David Sinclar and Johnne Schaw, feruitour to the said Johnne Mure, and Patrik Davidfoune, feruitour to the said Mathow Dunduff alias Stewart. AND siclyke, the said Johnne Mure of Auchindrane, oft tymes callit as cautionir and fouirtie for ALEXANDER KENNEDIE, sone to Hew Kennedie of Craigneill, David Mure feruitour to the Laird of Bargany, Johnne Dunduff alias Stewart, sone naturall to the said Matthow, to haif enterit and presentit thame before our souerane lordis Justice or his deputis this day and place; ffor cuning vpoun the thryd day of Januar lastbypast, vnder sylene and cloud of nycht, with convocatioun of our souerane lordis lieges, bodin with hagbuttis and pistolettis to the toun of Mayboll; and eftir thay had stellit² thair horffis att the Guid-wyffe of Knokdais zettis in Mayboll, thay convoyit thame selffis secreteilie to Thomas Nasmythis zaird in Mayboll, nixt adiacent to Sir Thomas Kennedeis duelling hous in Mayboll, as place meitest for accomplisshing of thair crewall, vngodlie and barbarous murthour and slauchter of the said Sir Thomas Kennedie; quhair thay stuid, darnit betuix tua edzis,³ awaiting for his slauchter, and to haif murtherit him be way of Brigancie, Hamefuekin and Vmbefetting of his hie gait, and way of foirthocht felony, precogitat malice, confpyrit and dewyfit murthour: And thay, perfaving the faid Sir Thomas Kennedie, with Dame Elizabeth M^cGill his fþous, Thomas Kennedie thair eldeft fone, Mergaret and Helene Kennedeis thair dochteris, cuming furth of the faid Thomas Nafnythis duelling hous, and cumand throw his yaird betuix the twa edzis, kepit thame felffis darnit,¹ quhill the faid Sir Thomas wes within fax ellis to thame quhair thay lay; quha fuddanelie vmbefet the faid Sir Thomas, his fþous and bairnis, or² he could be war³ of thame, he dredand na harme nor inuirie of ony perfoune, and fþeciallie of the perfonis aboue writtin, thay ftandand with him in apperand favour and freindfhip, att the leift but⁴ ony profeffioun of feid or vpgewing of kyndnes; and thane fehott and delafcht⁵ aucht fehott of hagbuttis⁶ and piftolettis att the faid Sir Thomas; and he, being nocht habill to fufstene thair force and malice at that tyme, eftir he had reterit him felff with his wyffe and bairnis, thay perfewit thame with diuerfe ythiris fehottis, and crewallie infiftit and invadit thame for thair flauchteris; as the markis of the faidis fehottis vpoun the wallis, duris and yettis⁷ of the faid Thomas Nafnythis duelling hous and yairdis may cleirlye testifie: As lykewyis, eftir thay had delafcht thair haill hagbutis and piftolettis att him, thay maift crewallie and vnmercifullie invadit and perfewit the faid Sir Thomas Kennedy to the Kirk Yaird of Mayboill, quhair thay wald nocht haif failzeit to haif flayne him, gif be the provifioun of God, and darknes of the nycht, he had nocht bene feperat fra thame, and efchavit thair bludie handis. As at mair lenth is contenit in our fouerane lordis lettres, rafit at the instance of the faid Sir Thomas Kennedie of Culzean, and Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcairn, Aduocat to our fouerane lord for his hienes interes, thairvpoun: lauchfull tyme of day bidden and nocht enterand thame, the faidis cautioneris, refpectiue, wes vnlawit for nocht entrie of the faidis perfonis in the panis contenit in the Actis of Parliament, viz. The faid Matho Dunduff alias Stewart, wes vnlawit for nocht entrie of the faid Johnne Mure of Auchindrane, in the pane of ffyve hundreth markis; and for nocht entrie of the faid Johnne Mure, fone to Quintene Mure in Careloy, David Sinclar and Johnne Schaw and Patrik Dauidfoun, for ilk ane of thame, in the pane of ane hundreth markis: And the faid Johnne Mure of Auchindrane wes vnlawit for non entrie of the faid Alexander Kennedie, fone to Hew Kennedie, in the pane of twa hundreth markis, and for nocht entrie of David Mure and Johnne Dunduff, alias Stewart, for ather of thame, in the pane of ane hundreth markis.

¹ On the margin, ‘Convict and hangit.’

² Put up, placed or stabled, stalled.

³ Concealed or hidden between two hedges.

¹ Hidden, concealed. ² Before. ³ Aware. ⁴ Without. ⁵ Discharged, old Fr., deslacher.
⁶ A sort of large musket, or harquebus. ⁷ Yetts, gates.

Lyke as, the saidis principall perfounis nocht comperand, wes adiudgeit to be demnceit our fouerane lordis rebellis and putt to his hienes horne; and all thair movabill guidis ordanit to be efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vse, as fugitives fra his hienes lawis, for the saidis crymes.

Umbersetting the Highway — Hamesucken — Shooting of Hagbutts and Pistolets, &c. — Murder.

Eodem die.—MATHOW STEWART of Dunduff (alias DUNDUFF OF THAT ILK.)

Dilatit of cuming be way of Brigancie, vnder seilence and cloude of nycht, to Thomas Nasmythis zaird in Mayboill, and vmbefetting the hie gaitt to Sir Thomas Kennedie of Culzeane, and schuting of pistulettis and hagbuttis at him, be way of Hamesuckin; committit the thrid day of Januar lastbypast.

PERSEWARIS, Sir Thomas Kennedye of Culzeane, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune aduocat.
PRELOQUITOURIS for the pannel, The Laird of Craigiehall, (viz. Hary Stewart.)

The said Hary Stewart takis instrumentis of the entrie of Matho Stewart of Dunduff; and protestit, that he as cautioner be relewit.

The said Hary Stewart becom pledge and fouirtie for Mathow Stewart, that he fall compeir before our fouerane lordis Justice, &c. the saxtene day of Februar infant, &c.

Feb. 16.—THE quhilk day, Matho Stewart alias Dunduff of that Ilk, (vnder protestation that he grantis nocht the lybell to be relewant anent the hamesuckin and foirthocht felony, quhair of name of thame is qualifeit, bot ar only mentionat be way of narration, to induce the cryme quhairvpoun the Dittay is resoluut, viz. the convocatioun, and schuting of pistolettis; and that he grants nocht the schuting, wering or having of hagbutis or pistolettis, vpoun him selff that nycht); he is content to submitt himselff to his Maiesteis will, anent the cryme of Convocatioune, and being present with the perfounes contenit in the summondis, sum of thame being his fernandis, haifing and schuting of pistolettis att Sir Thomas Kennedie of Culzean that nycht: And cravis my lord Justice to report to his Maieslie and his Counfall, and reslaue ansvier thairvpoun.

The aduocat produceit the Kingis Warrant; quhair of the tennour followis:

REX,

MR THOMAS HAMMILTOUNE of Drumcainr our aduocat, We greit 3ow weill. It is our will, and we command 3ow, that incontinent efter pe fycht heirof 3e infist in perfruit of Matho Dunduff of pat Ilk, alias Stewart, dilatit of certane crymes contenit in our vthiris lettres, rasit att pe instance of Sir Thomas Kennedie of Culzeane, and att 3our instance for our interes; quhilk wes continewit to pis day: And that ay and quhill the said Matho ap^r becom in our will, or be convict of pe saidis crymis be ane Affyis : And þir presentis fall be to 50w ane sufficient Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyruidhous, the xvj day of Februar, 1597.

(Sic subfcribitur)

JAMES R.

In respect quhairof, and of the command gevin be his lienes, in prefens of my Lord Justice, craves proces, disaffenting fra all continewatioun ; and offeris in- safar the relevancie of the lybell in all the pointis thairof, as the famin is con- fault, gif ony particular allegance wer maid aganis the famin.

The Justice, with auife of the Nobill-men present, continewis the mater in the same estait quhill the morne. ‘ Plegio, Domino Craighall, vndir the pane of Thre thousand poundis.’

Feb. 17.—The quhillk day, Matho Stewart of Dunduff being enterit on pannell, persewit be vertew of our fouerane lordis·lettres, purchest att the in- stance of Sir Thomas Kennedie of Culzeane and Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne aduocat to our fouerane lord, thay comperand personallie and insist- and in his persuit of the crymis eftir specifeit ; that is to say ;

DITTAY against the Laird of Dunduff.

FORSAMEKILL as he and his complices contenit in the saidis Lettres, vpoune ane lurking malice and deidlie laitrent borne aganis the said Sir Thomas Kennedie, causeles, and but ony accusatioun gewin or offerit vpoun his pairt, eftir mony consultatiounis and wicket dewyfis bad be thame for his slauchter, thay laitlie, vpoun the thryd day of Januar lastbypast, directit Alexander Kennedie, sone to Hew Kennedie of Craigneill, to await vpoun him to lerne his dyett ; lykeas, the said Alexander wes familiar with the said Sir Thomas att his hous, and that famin day vpoun the feildis, and att Corrag- well, be taking of his guid nycht, and taking aff his hatt, according to his wountit familiaritie with him ofbefore ; and swa, thay haifing vnderstand be the said Alexander Kennedie, that the said Sir Thomas wes to soun that nycht in Thomas Nasmythis duelling hous in Mayboill, lyand within the Baillerie of Carrik, and Sherefdom of Air, quhair he did remane and repair ; thay, with convocatioun of our fo- uerane lordis Liegis, to the number of ten persounis or thairby, bodin in feir of weir,¹ all inarmit with hagbutis, pistolettis and vpiris wappinnis inuafue, come thane vnder sylence and cloud of nycht to the said Toun of Mayboill ; and efter thay had stellit thair horffis att the Guidwyffe of Knokdais zettis in Mayboill, thay convoyit thame selfis secreitlie within the said compleneris hous, as place meiteft for accomplisment of thair maist crewall, vngodlie and barbarous interpryise ; quhair thay stuid dar- nit² betuix tua ed₅is awaiting for his slauchter, and to haif murderit him be way of Hamefuckin, Brigancie and Umbefetting of his hie gait, and be way of foirthocht felony, precogitat malice, con- spyrit and dewysit murthour, &c.³ He being airt and pairt thairof ; demereiting thairby maist hie and worthie pwneischment ; to the grit contempt of our fouerane lordis authoritie and lawes of this realme, and to the maist barbarous example of vthiris to committ the lyke.

And being inquiryt, quhidder he wald abyde the Tryell off ane Affyse, or cum in his Maiesteis will for the saidis crymes ; the said Matho declarit that he had nather hagbut nor pistolett the nycht aboue writtin, contenit in the lybell, nather yit fehot ony ; nochtwithftanding thair of, he becumis in his Maieftis will for the faidis crymis contenit in the lettres : Quhairvpoun the faid Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne aduocat askit instrumentis. And ficlyke, the faid Matho Stewart of Dunduff becumis in the Erll of Caffillis, and Sir Thomas Kennedie of Culzeanis will for the crymes aboue writtin, contenit in our fouerane Lordis lettres, rafit att the instance of the faid Sir Thomas Kennedie and Mr Thomas Hammiltoun ; his lyffe and landis being exceptit : And actit and obleift himfelf to vnderly thair judgement, quhat ewir thay fould decerne thairanent ; quhairvpoun the faid Sir Thomas Kennedie of Culzean askit instrumentis.

¹ Arrayed in a warlike or hostile maner. ² In concealment. ³ The remainder of the Dittay is the same as is contained in Johnne Mure of Auchindrain's case, (Feb. 15,) q. v.

‘ Wardit in the Caftell of Edinburghe.’

Feb. 28.—The quhilk day, Matho Stewart of Dunduff being prefentit on pannell, to heir and fe our fouerane lordis will declarit, anent the crymes quhairfore he become in will. in ane Court of Jufticiarie, haldin in the Tolbuith of Edinburghe, the xvij day of Februar instant ; The faid Juftice depute produceit his Maieftis Lettre, directit to him, for the declaratioun of his hienes will, quhilk he defyrit to be red in judgement to the faid Matho Stewart of Dunduff, and the famyn being red, to be infert and regiftrat in proces ; quhair of the tenour followis.

DECLARATION of the King's Will.

JAMES, be pe grace of God, King of Scottis, to our Juftice generall and your deputeis, greiting. Forfamekill as, in ane Juftice Court, haldin in pe Tolbuith of our bureht of Edinburghe vpoun pe fewintene day of Februar, J^m. V^c. fourfoir and fewintene 5eiris, be our lowit Mr Williame Haert of Lewielandis Juftice depute, to our rycht traift coufing and counfalour, Ar^s. Erll of Ergyll Lord Campbell and Lorn our Juftice generall, Matho Stewart of Dunduff being acenfit be Sir Thomas Kennedy of Culzeane, kny^t, and Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne, our aduocatt ; that the faid Matho and his complices, contenit in our lettres direct pairvpoun, vpoun ane lurking malice, &c. [Follows the Dittay.] The faid Matho Stewart become in our will for pe crymes contenit in our faid vpiris lettres ; and als become in pe will of our rycht traift coufing and counfalour, Johnne Erll of Caffillis, Lord Kennedy, &c., and of pe faid Sir Thomas Kennedy of Cuilzeane, kny^t, for pe crymes foirfaidis ; his lyfe and landis being exceptit ; and actit and obleift him felf to vnderly our judgement, our faid rycht traift coufingis and the faid Sir Thomas’ judgement, quhat ewir we or thay fould decerne pairanent ; as ane Act of our buikis of Adiornall maid pairvpoun att mair lenth proportis. We, be pir our Lettres, publeifch and declairis our will toward the faid Matho Stewart of Dunduff in manner following: That is to fay :—fforamekill as We haif fene and confidderit the declaratioun of pe will of our faid rycht traift coufing Johnne Erll of Caffillis, and of pe faid Sir Thomas Kennedy, aganis quhome the faid wickit interpris wes dewyfit, berand in effect, that thair will is that the faid Matho Stewart of Dunduff falbe baneift tthis our realme of Scotland, and als the realmes of Ireland and Ingland, and all Iles, landis and dominiones pertaining to ony of pe faidis realmes, and that induring pe willis of our faid rycht traift coufing and counfalour and of pe faid Sir Thomas Kennedie, and ay and quhill thay bayth coniunctlie and in ane voce declair the contrairie, will be writt ; and that he fall depairt to quhat realme or countrey he pleafis (except as befoir exceptit) betuix pe dait hereof and pe fyftene day of Maij nixtocum, and fall remane furth of pe faidis realms of Scotland, Ireland and Ingland, and all Iles, landis and dominionis appertening to ony of þe saidis realmis ; and fall nocht returne withine our realme without Licence of our said rycht traift counsing Johnne Erll of Cassillis and the said Sir Thomas Kennedie, coniuinctlie, had and obtenit pairto in writt : And als, vnto þe tyme of his departing furth of our realme to þe places quhair he is baneist, he fall na wyis repair within þe toun of Mayboill, nor ane myle about, nor na vj^r pairt quhair our said rycht traift counsing and the said Sir Thomas sal happin to be, vndir þe pane of Fyve Thowfand merkis money of our realme, to be payit to þe said Sir Thomas, his airis and assignais, in cais of contraventioun of ony point of þe premiffis : And þe said payne to be applyit to þe vse, vtilitie and proffeit of þe said Sir Thomas, his airis, executouris and assignais allanerlie : QUHILK Declaratioune of pair will we ratifie, approve and affirne in all pointis, heidis and circumstances, and be þir presentis decernis and ordanis þe same as ane pairt of our will, to be reallie and with effect fulfillit and obeyit : And that it fall nocht be lesfum to þe said Matho Stewart of Dunduff to contravene the famin directlie or indirectlie, for quhatfumewir caus or occasioun, be our outter declaratioune to be maid be ws heireftir, or ony licence or dispensatioun to be grantit in hurt or preiudice of þir presentis. And fforde, We will and declair, that the said Matho Stewart of Dunduff fall consent and pay to our Thesaurar, in our name, the soume of Ane thowfand merkis money of þis realme, togidder with þe vnlaw and amerciamentis in þe quhilkis he standis cautioner for certane his complices, part-takeris of þe said cryme. THAIRFORE it is our will, and We requyre zow, that incontinent estir þe sycht heiros, ze caus the said Matho Stewart of Dunduff to be presentit in ane Justice Court befor zow, and to mak publicatioun of our will, as said is, and to caus dome to be pronunceit aganis him, conforme pairto ; and that sufficient cautioneris and fouerteis be fundin be þe said Matho Stewart, for fulfilling and obeying pairto : And that he be reenterit in waird, within our Castell of Edinburghe, and that he remane in fuir firmance pairtill, ay and quhill the said Caution and fouertie be fund, to þe effect foirfaid : As ze will anfuer to ws pairvpoun. The quhillk to do, We commit to zow our full power, be þir our present Lettres. Geuin vnder our Signet, and subferyit with our hand, Att Halyruidhous, the last day of Februar, and of our regne the xxxj zeir, 1597.

(Sic subscribitur)

JAMES R. . A. ELPHINSTONE.

According to the quhilk Letter, and his Maiesteis Will declarit thairin, the said Justice depute, be the moutlie of Williame Liddell, dempstar of the said Court, pronunceit dome agane the said Matho Stewart of Dunduff, and publeifclit the hail premiffis to him ; and decernit and ordanit the said Matho to fulfill, obtemper,¹ and obey the famin in all poyntis, and to find sufficient cautione and fouertie for obedience thairof ; and delyuerit him to James Nisbet, ane of the Bailleis of Edinburghe, to be reenterit agane in waird within the Castell of Edinburghe, to remane in fuir firmance thairintill, ay and quhill he find sufficient caution and fouertie to the effect foirfaid, conforme to his Maiesteis will aboue reherfit. Quhairvpoun the said Sir Thomas Kennedie of Culzean askit actis and instrumentis.

Mar. 1.—At a Court held this day, a document, declaring the Will of the Earl of Cassillis and Sir Thomas Kennedie, was produced, dated at Edinburgh the penult day of February 1597, and ordained to be registered in the books of adjournal. It is precisely in the terms rehearsed in the Declaratioun of the King's

¹ Comply with, obtemperare.

Will. Vponn the publeifching and declaration of the quhilk will, Mr Alex^r King, aduocat, in name of the faid Erll of Caffillis, Lord Kennedy, &c., and the faid Sir Thomas Kennedie of Culzean for him felff, afkit actis and instrumentis.

Willful Fire-raising—Burning of Corns.

Mar. 8.—JOHNE KEITH, fear of Troup; Williame Roife, his feruand; Williame Keir and Williame Dalgarno, feruitouris to George Erll of Marfchell.

Comperit James Chene of Straloch, and produceit our fouerane lordis Lettres, dewlie execute and indorfat, as the famin beris; togidder with ane Precept, direct fra his Maieftie, ordaining the Lettres vnderwritten to be defert; quhairof the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputis, We greit you well. Forfamekill as it is vnderstand to us, that our louitt, James Chene of Straloch, haifing fund caution to you, according to the ordour, for agane bringing of our Lettres, rafit att his and our aduocattis instance, for our interes, for calling of Johnne Keith, fear of Troup, Williame Roife, his feruand, Williame Keir and Williame Dalgarno, feruitouris to our rycht traift coufing, George Erll of Marfchell, to vnderly our lawis before you, in our Tolbuth of Edinburgh, vpon the aucht day of March instant, for the treafounabill Raifing of fyre and birning of his coirmis of Crwvy, in the moneth of Nouember laft, vnder the panis contenit in our Actis of Parliament: The faid James Chene of Straloch directit ane boy with our faidis vpiris lettres, to haif caufit the famin be execute aganis the faidis perfonis; quhilk boy, in his returne pair-with hither, wes vmbefett in the way beyde Sanct Laurence Kirk, be ane young man vnkawin to him, and nocht only bereft of our faidis vpiris lettres and vpiris fummondis, quhilkis he had vpon him for the tyme, bot als him felff wes strikin xiiij or xv fraikis in the heid, and left him lyand for deid; quhairby the reporting of our faidis vpiris lettres, dewlie execute and indorfat att the faid day, is impedit, and the faid Laird of Straloch forceit to raife new lettres, quhilk requyres ane langer and ane new day: In respect quhairof, it is our will, and we command you, that vpon the fycht heirof, ye defit aganis the faid James Chene of Straloch, or Johnne Cuming, fear of Ernfyde, his cautioner, for nocht reporting of our faidis criminal lettres, dewlie execute and indorfat vpon the faid aucht day of March instant, conform to the Act maid pairament. As ye will anfuer to us vponne your office and obedience, kepann thir presentis for your Warrant, Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyrudhous, the fourt day of March, 1591.

(Sic fubfcribitur) JAMES R.

Quhilk Precept the Justice admittit.

[Mr Williame Boirthuik, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter—Mutilation.

Maij 15.—JOHNE INNES, alias M^cCARIE, burges of Elgyne, Johnne Innes, younger, his fone.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the flautcher of v^mq^{le} Williame Hay, faderis brother to Williame Hay of Mayne; and of v^mq^{le} Agnes Leslie, the relict of v^mq^{le}

Mr Alex^r Dowglas, funtyme proveft of Elgyne, (and for airt and pairt of the mutilatioun of the faid Williame Hay of Mayne of his left hand); committit (vpoun the xxj day of March laftbypaft, vpoun fett purpois, provifionne and foirthocht felony, within the burcht of Elgyne.)

PERSEWARIS.

Mr Alex^r Hay, ane of the Clarkis of our foverane lordis feffionne, (for Williame Hay's slaughter;)

Mr Thomas Hammiltoune, advocat, (for Agnes Leflie's slaughter.)

PRELOQUUTOUR (for the pannell).

Mr Johnne Ruffell.

The aduocat produceit his Maiefteis Warrant, for perfuit of the Lettres, purcheft att the instance of the kyn and freindis of vniq^{le} Williame Hay and vniq^{le} Agnes Leflie.

Comperit Mr Johnne Ruffell, prolocntour et excusatorio nomine for Johnne Innes, eldar, burges of Elgyne, and produceit ane Testimoniall, fubferyuit be the Bailleis of Goruiock, testefeing that the faid Johnne Innes eldar, fchipit thair, to haif bene transportit fouth to this burcht, to vnderly the law, for the flauchter contenit in the Lettres quhairwith he is fummond; and be aduerfar wynd being continewallie fenfyne, could nocht compeir personallie: And in lyke manner produceit ane vther Testimoniall, fubferyuit be Alex^r Hay, minifter att Dippill, testefeing the inhabilitie of the faid Johnne Innes; and rycht fwa, produceit ane vther Testimoniall, fubferyuit be Mr Thomas Gordoune, notar publict, testefeing this famin inhabilitie: And in refpect thairof, proteftis that na proces can be led aganis the faid Johnne nor his cautioneris. The aduocat anfueris, that the Testimoniall aucht nocht to be reffauit, in refpect of the Act of Parliament and practik of this judgement, admitting na affoinzeis¹ for the non comperance of parteis fummond to vnderly the law, bot sic as ar verifeit be the ayth of ane Minifter and twa witneffis, deponand vpoun thair awin certain knowledge.

The Justice ordainis proces, in refpect of the Act of Parliament.

The perfons fummond on the Affyfe, protefted their comperance, and that they be not fummond in time coming.

The Justice ordained James Petrie, burges of Elgyne, cautioner for the faid Johnne Innes, elder, 'to be vnlawit in the pane of Twa hundreth markis; also ordanit the faid Johnne Innes, eldar, to be denunceit our foverane lordis rebell, and putt to the horne; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to his Maiefteis vfe, as fugitive fra his hienes lawis for the faidis crymis.—Continued to the Air of Elgyne, tertio Itineris.'²

¹ Essoyne, Old Fr., excuse for non-appearance in Court, &c., by oath that party is sick, &c. ² On Jul. 25, Williame Gordoune of Geicht, as cautioner for Johnne Innes, elder, is fined 400 marks, being 'double of the panis contenit in the Act of Parliament, becaus he wes at the horne.' Innes is of new denounced rebell, and his goodis ordained to be efcheit.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Taking Captive and Prisoner — Bailies' Jurisdiction — False Imprisonment.

JUN. 2.—MR JAMES HAY of Rannes.

Dilatit for taking of Alexander Rychardfounne, in Fynnauchtie, captiue and presoner.

PERSEWARIS.

Alexander Rychardfoun in Fynnachtie,
Mr Thomas Hammiltounne.

PRELOQUUTOURIS for the pannell.

Mr Johne Scharpe, aduocat, Mr Johne Dempstar,
Mr Robert Cokburne.

It is allegeit, that the taking of the persewer is na cryme, in respect that Mr James Hay had sufficient power, be reafoun of his Infeftment and Lettres of Baillierie, quhilk gaif him power, as it proportis. The baill clauffis quhair of being presentlie produceit, he repectis ane speciallic, that claus thairof, that he hes power to pwneis transgressouris secundum juris ordinem; and this persewar being dilatit for ane recent thift of twa scheip, quhilk wes stollin fra Gilbert Paterfoun, the ane quhair of he fauld to Leonard Coull, the vther to Elisabeth Alexander, bayth duelland within the said barony; and this persewar being brocht before (an Assise?) and the skynnys being schawin to thame, he confest that he fauld the scheip; and swa he (the pannell) committit na cryme, nor did na wrang, gif he had detenit him, quhill he (the pursuer) fand caution, as law will; and he finding caution, he lait him to libertie: Quhilk caution he fand in the Court-buik, as the act produceit in the Court-buik beris.—The Aduocat allegeis, that the alledgance aucht to be repellit, for twa cauffis; fyrst, becaus the Infeftment of the Baillerie produceit, gewis na power to the pannell of jurisdiction criminall, or of ony thing that may import potestatem vite et necis, or to tak or impresoun the Kingis frie liegis; secundlie, in caise ony sic power could be pretendit, be vertew of the said Infeftment, the samin could newir be extendit farder nor ane power of ane Barroun baillerie, quhilk can na wyis gif authoritie to the partie infest to deteine the Kingis frie liegis, alledgeit tane vpon the suspicion of ane cryme, attoure¹ the space of xxiiij houris; nather makis this Infeftment ony mentionne of pitt and gallous, quhilk ar the only terms quhairby Jurisdiction is gewin to Barrounis, of thair Bailleries of materis criminall: Attowre, it is to be markit, that the Act of Court verifeis the detentioun of the persewar fyve dayes eftir his taking.—Ansueris the defender, that, in this caise, it is altogidder impertinent to disput de vita et necis, pit et galluse; quia de hoc non agitur; and the Baillerie gewis sufficient authoritie of the apprehensoun of ony suspect of Pykerie,² and to keip him quhill he found sufficient cautioun, as law will; according to the custum of all barrounis and baillereis, quhilk wes newir callit in questioun ofbefore.—The Aduocat answers, he that hes nocht power to cognos and desyde in ane caus criminall, hes nocht power to tak, and imprefoun, and detein ane frie liege.

¹ Above, further than, beyond.

² Petty theft.

The Justice continewis Interloquoutour to Tyisday; and ordanit the said Mr James Hay to find cautioun, and remit the partie apud acta.

(Jun. 6.)—The Justice continewis Interloquoutour in the said mater, to the morne, &c.

(Jun. 7.)—The Aduocat produceit ane Warrant, subseruyit be his Maiestie, direct to the Justice, &c.; quhairof the temour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice-Clark and your deputis, We greit you weill. It is our will, and We command you, that, vpon the sycht heirof, ye navyise proceed in ye criminall caus persewit before you this day, at ye instance of Alexander Ryelbarthoun, and our aduocat for our interes, aganis Mr James Hay of Rannes, for ye violent taking, detening and withhoulding of ye said Alexander in captivitie and presonne, vsurping pairby our autoritie, conforme to ye lawis of our realme: And that ye continew your Interloquoutour to be pronouneit pairin vnto ye tyme that forder tryell may be taken pairnent: Quhairfore, it is our will, and We command you, that ye navyis proceed heirintill, bot that the said mater be continewit the said Interloquoutour quhill the thryd day of ye aire, or vperwayis vpon fyftene dayes warning; as ye will answer to us vpon your office and obedience: Quhairnent thir presentis falbe your warrant. Subseruyit with our hand, Att Edinburgh, the sewint day of Junij, 1598.

(Sic subseribitur) JAMES R.

It is answerit, that the said Letter aucht nocht to be admittit, in respect it is ane privie Letter aganis Justice and the Act of Parliament; and als, his Maiestie directit ane command in the contrar, to do justice.

The Justice continewis the mater, to the morne, &c.

(Jun. 8.)—INTERLOCUTOR. The Justice findis, that the mater fall nocht pass to ane Inqueist, in respect of the allegiance proponit, sufficientlie verifeit.

Quhairvpon Mr James Hay of Rannes and his proloquoutour askit actis and instrumentis.

Oppression — Inflicting Torture for Discovery of supposed Theft.

Jul. 13.—JAMES CRAWFURD, goldsmyth, burges of Edinburgh; Magnus Anderfoune thair; and Johne Anderfoune, fensar (tailzeour burges) thair.¹

Dilatit for taking and apprehending of Margret Gairdner, dochter of vmq^{le} Williame Gairdner in Sammelfoune, and stryking of ² hir fingar in ane harrow boir,¹ byrning hir with hett tayngis,² vpon the schoulderis, and vnder the oxfteris,³ &c. ; committit in the moneth of Februar lastwas.

¹ The case was continued from Jul. 10 and 11 to this day. The barbarities inflicted by these wretches, in attempting to discover if this poor girl knew of Crawford's purse, supposed by them to have been stolen by her, have seldom been equalled. ² Off.

PERSEWARIS, Margret Gairner, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne.

Comperit Margaret Gairner, and past fra the perfuit of the saidis perfounes simpliciter, for the saidis crymes.

The advocat substitute⁴ Mr Thomas Wilfoun aduocat, his depute.

The pannell denyis the Dittay, and produceis ane Declaratioune, subscryuit be Margaret Gairner, quhairby sche hes declarit the pannell to be innocent.—The said Mr Thomas Wilfoun protestit for Wilfull Errour, in caise the Assyis acquit, nochtstanding of the Declaratioune, quhilk is priuatlie purchest, sen sche verifeit the contrair aganis James Crawford, in presens of the King and Counsal.—The Assyfe protestit in the contrar, seing that (there is) na thing produceit for instructioun of the Dittay, nor na partie comperit to sweir the Dittay ; bot, before thair chesing, sche past simpliciter fra the accusatioune.

The Assyis chesis Phillop Mowbray⁵ chancellor.

SPECIAL VERDICT. The perfounes of Assyife being chosin, sworne and admittit, eftir accusatioun of the saidis James Crawford, Magnus Anderfoun and Johne Anderfoun, be Dittay, of the crymes eftir specifeit, they remowit alto-gidder furth of Court to the Counsalhous, quhair thay reasonit vpon the pointis of the Dittay ; being resolut thairwith, thay re-enterit agane in Court, quhair the said perfounis of Assyis, all in ane voce, Acquitt the said perfounes of the DITTAY vnderwritin, to witt : That thay, in the moneth of Februar lastbypast, come to Margaret Gairner, dochter to vniq⁶ Williame Gairner in Sammeltoune, sche being in peciabil maner, in fernice with Jhone Hewie, burges of Edinburgh, without ony kynd of offence committit be hir to thame ; and thair, maist violentlie patt handis on hir perfoune, tuik hir captiue and presoner furth of hir said maisteris duelling-hous, and convoyit hir to the said Magnus Anderfounis duelling-hous, within the said burecht ; quhair thay, with all kynd of regour and threatningis, chargeit hir to confes that sche had ane purs with money thairin, perteing to the said James Crawford, alledgeit tynt⁶ be him in the said Johne Howeis hous ; and becaus sche wald nocht confes the haifing thairof, being maist innocent and cleane of the away-taking of the famin, thay immediatlie the famin nycht, careit hir captiue to ane hous besyde the said burecht, sche being ignorant of the maister of the said hous ; and thair, compellit hir to put hir

¹ One of the bores or perforations through which the teeth of the harrows are thrust. ² It may be inferred from the Dittay, that the instrument made use of by these monsters, was common kitchen tongs, heated ' quhill pe blaidis pairof wes reid-hett,' which were first applied to the shoulders and back, until ' the famin grew cauld ;' and, after being a second time made red hot, thrust under the arm-pits of their unhappy victim. ³ Arm-pits. ⁴ Substituted. ⁵ Of Cassillhill. ⁶ Lost.

fingar in the boir¹ of ane harrow, dang wadgeis² in the said boir about hir said fingaris, quhairby thay raif³ the flesch thairof, and cuttit the fennounis,⁴ and brak the banis of the famin, and forceit the blude to burst out at the endis of hir saidis fingaris;⁵ manassing and terryfeing hir, with the said crewaltie, to confes the haifing of the said purs, quhilk scho had nocht : And thaireftir, becaus of hir denyall, thay hett ane pair of taingis of irne in the fyre, quhill the blaidis thairof wes reid-hett, and syne patt thame betuix hir schoulderis, and vpoun hir bak, quhill⁶ the famin grew cauld ; and thaireftir hett the saidis taingis of new agane, and laid the blaidis thairof vnder hir bair oxsteris,⁷ threatning hir to confes the haifing of the said purse : And thaireftir convoyit hir captine to ane hous in Libbertoune, quhair thay detenit hir bound, be the space of fourtie-aucht houris, with the mair ;⁸ during the quhilk space, sche gatt nather meit nor drink, and lay in point of death.⁹

Quhairvpoun the saidis perfounis askit instrumentis.

[Messrs Williame Boirthuik and Williame Haert, Justices-Deputes.]

Adultery.

Jul. 31.—ALEXANDER HAY of Delgattie.¹⁰

Dilatit of the cryme of Adulterie, committit with Elizabeth Clark, dochter to vniq^{le} Williame Clark in Deir, and with Katherene Anderfoun and Elizabeth Perie, seruandis to the said Alexander Hay ; committit in the hail monethis of the 3eiris of God, I^m.V^c.lxxxvj, lxxxvij, lxxxix, and lxxxx 3eiris.

PRELOQUUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Williame Oliphant, Mr Johne Russell, Mr Johne Chene.
PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne, aduocat.

The pannell askis instrumentis, that the aduocat insistis vpoun the hail Actis of Parliament, and speciallic in the Act ane hundreth and fyve of King James the Sext, haldin in the Parliament 1581 yeiris.

It is alledgeit for the pannell, that the mater can nocht be putt to the knowledge of ane Inqueist, becaus the fundament of this perfuit is foundit vpoun the Actis of Parliament ; and trew it is, be Act of the Quene, our fouerane lordis moder, quhilk is the fyirst, it is statute, that notorious Adulteraris, eftir admonitioune preceeding, fall die the death : Trew it is, that, in the hail summondis,

¹ Hole or perforation. ² Drove wedges. ³ Tore, lacerated. ⁴ Sinews. ⁵ A process infinitely more cruel than the thumb-screw, or the 'piliuie-winkis.'
⁶ And upwards. ⁷ Until. ⁸ Arm-pits.
⁹ It is obvious that this unlucky creature had been bribed by Crawford to withdraw her prosecution ; and on this account, the Dittay not having been sworn, and no evidence adduced, the Assise had no course left, but to return a verdict in the terms above written ; for the verdict of 'Not Proven' is of comparatively modern invention, after Juries were freed from the degrading trammels under which they had previously laboured. At this period they were bound to return a verdict of 'Fylit' or 'Acquit,' Guilty or Innocent.
¹⁰ See another Trial against him 'for Adulterie with Barbara Forbes, his allegeit spous,' Nov. 25, 1598, &c.

it is nocht alledgeit, that the defendar is ane notorious Adulterar, or wes admonifcheit, or committit ony cryme of Adulterie eftir admonitioun; and of the law, statutis quhilk ar penall ar maift ftraitlie to be interpret, and fuffer na executioun. Forder, as to the fecund Act maid be our fouerane lord in the Parliament, in anno 1581, it is only ane explanatioun of the former Act, in that pairt tuiching the qualitie of ane Notorious Adulterar; and thairfore, the hail circumftances fett down in the former Act ar vnderftand, of the law, to be re-peittit in the pofteriour; and fpeciallie, tuicheing the faid admonitioun, namelie in confideratioun of baith the faidis Actis, all Adulteraris ar nocht appointit to be pwneift, bot Notorious Adulteraris, eftir admonitioune: And forder, the faidis Actis of Parliament hes newir bene in viridi observantia, nor zit ony perfoun putt to ony tryell, nather man nor woman, and fwa of the Law contraria difsuetudine tollitur, according to the Commoun Law, quia et multis peccatum manet impunitum.—It is anfuerit be the aduocat, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in refpect of the fummondis, quhilk is altogidder conforme to the Act of Parliament of ane hundreth and fyve in number, in the Actis of Parliament 1581 yeiris, feing the famin contenis ane expres qualificatioun of expres, notour, and manifft Adulterie, be procreatioun of childrene in that vnlauchfull communicatioune; quhilk is fa publict and manifft, that it neidis na admonitioune, nather can it be amendit be abftinence eftir admonitioune: And be the faid Act, admonitioune is only ordanit to be vfit quhen parteis ar fufpect, quhais contumacie eftir admonitioune, in that caife, makis thair cryme notour and equall to the vtheris twa qualiteis of Notour Adulterie, contenit in the faid Act. And quhair it is affermit be the defender, that the regour of this Act hes nocht bene putt to executioun, the contrar thairof is manifft, be infinit examples extant in the Adjornall buikis.

It is forder alledgeit peremptorie, contra istam instantiam, that this mater can nocht be putt to ane Inqueift, becaus the ground thairof is the cryme of Adulterie lybellit, and the Commiffaris fentence gewin thairvpoun; quhilk fentence proceding vpoun the deponitiounis of twa or thre fubornit witneffes. Thair is ane fummondis of Reprobatur¹ intentit for imprewing of thair Depofitiounis, quhilk being reprovin, confequentlie the fentence will fall; and gif the faid Reprobatur wer pronunceit in the excepietis fawour, it wald furneis him ane infallabill defence in this Judgement;² at the leift, wald elide the hail probatioun that wald be vfit be vertew of the faid fentence; quhairof it followis, that the dependance of the faid ciuile judgement man furneis ane exceptioun in this criminall, that na proces falbe deduceit in this meane tyme: And becaus the faid

¹ An action for leading a new proof, or to re-prove the facts libelled.

² Before this Tribunal.

Commissaris decreit is nocht as yit produceit, bot purposlie is heireftir to be vsit in modum probationis, to the Assyse, the excipient is content presentlie, the said decreit nocht being vsit for ony kynd of probatioun, feing the famin is reprovit be the said Reprobatur, and the effect thair of is in pendente, he is content presentlie to renunce all exceptioun, dilatour or peremptour, and that the lybell in facto, falbe putt to the knowlege of ane Assyse: And forder, in caise my Lord advocat wald producè the Decreit instantlie, he is content to anfuier thairto.— It is anfuierit be the aduocat, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the summondis contenand ane cryme verry releuantlie sett down, and nawyis relatiue to ony precedand ciuile decreit; nather can thair ony thing done heirament, ciuile, before the Commissaris, or to be done heireftir, stay the present tryell of this cryme in this Judgement: And as to the productione of the alledgeit decreit, or disputatioun thairvpoune, it is altogidder impertinent; becaus the persewar has nather vsit it, nor alledgeit ony sic decreit, nather in his summondis nor in his anfuieris.

Aug. 1.—[A very long preliminary discussion took place, as to the relevancy of the Libel, &c. which it is not thought necessary to insert; as it would be uninteresting to the general reader, and does not bear on any point which can be of use to the Criminal Lawyer, in modern practice.

The following Judgement was pronounced.]

THE Justice repellis the hail alledgeancis proponit aganis their relewancie of the fyrst member of the summondis, alsweill dilatorie as peremptorie; and assoilzeis fra the last pairt, vt libellatur: And as to the last defence, foundit vpoun the Remissionne,¹ the Justice supercedis to gif anfuier thairto, quhill he speik with his Maiestie vpoun Furisday.²

The Aduocat, thaireftir produceit ane Warrant, direct be his Maiestie to my lord Justice, &c.; quhair of the tennour followis.

REN,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputis, We greit you weill. Forfamekill as ye fyrst day of August is appointit to Alexander Hay of Delgattie, for his comperance before you, to vnderly our lawis, for ye filhie cryme of Adulterie, committit be him with Elizabeth Clark. It is our will pairfore, and we command you to proceid and minister justice in ye said mater, conforme to ye lawis of our realme, nochtwithstanding quhatsumeuir warrant or command gewin, or to be gewin to you in ye contrar. As ye will anfuier to us pairvpoune: Quhairnent, thir presentis falbe vnto you ane warrant. Subscryuit with our hand, At Falkland, the fyrst day of August, 1598.

(Sic subscriptur)

JAMES R.

¹ Letters of Remission were granted to Hay of Dalgettie, 'for his being at the Feild of Gleneviot, in company with the Erlis of Erroll and Huntlie, and for his airt and pairt thair of.' The Letters likewise Remit him 'of all vther crymes and offences quhatsumeuir, preceding the said Feild of Gleneviot,' 'quhill wes in the moneth of September, 1594—exceptand onlie Wiechcraft, Thift and Murthour.'
² Thursday.

Aug. 3.—The Justice Repellis the alledgances, foundit vpon the Remiffioun; becaus thair is nathing produceit, to verifie. Quhairvpon the aduocat askit instrumentis.

ASSISA.

Patrik Ogilvy of Inchmartene,	Tho ^s . Abircumbie of Murthlie,	Magnus Mowat of Boquholle,
Sir James Scott of Balwerie,	Sir Patrick Dowglas of Kilspindie,	Andro Meldrum of Drumbrek,
Sir Thomas Kennedy of Culzeane,	Williame Blair of Bagillo,	Johnne Creychtoun of Innernytie,
Sir James Halyburtonne of Pitcur,	Gilbert Pennycuke of that Ilk,	Andro Murray of Balwaird,
Alex. Blair apperand of Balthaok,	James Lokkart of Ley,	W ^m Murray, apperand of Tulliebairdyn.

Exceptions were taken against Ogilvy of Inchmartin, on the ground of partial counfel, &c.; and that he, in consequence of a 'special letter, before he wes summond, at the speciall defyre and requeist of the Erll of Erroll, cum to this toune.'

It is forder alledgeit, that the lettres criminall wer rafit be the Erll of Erroll¹ him self, and his seruandis att his command; the expensis thair of payit be him; the Assyise summond att his command and directioun; he hes informit my Lord aduocat in this persuit as partie; he hes causit the Assyis to be summond, vpon his expensis; he hes writtin particuler Missines to the Gentlemen of the Inqueist to cum heir, before thay wer summond: Quhilkis factis, and ewerie ane of thame, gewis ane sufficient testimony that he is partie; and zit of superabundance, it is forder eikit, that he hes solifeit my Lord Justice him self, as partie, sen the intentioun² of this caus; and lykewyis, vpon the secund day of August instant, past to his Maiestie in Falkland, insifit³ with his hienes that this mater sould be putt to the knowledge of ane Inqueist, in preiudice of the excipient:⁴ Quhilk lykewyis is referrit to my lord Justice declaratioun.—It is ansuerit be the aduocat, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit; yit as ofbefoir, in respect of his Maiesteis Warrant preceding the raising of the lettres, the lettres thame selfis proceeding vpon ane delyuerance of the Lordis, grantit vpon the persewaris Supplicatioun subferyuit with his hand, and of the Roll of the Assyis, lykewyis subferyuit be the persewar; and albeit the alledgeance mycht appear to contene ane relevant caus quhairfore my Lord of Errollis self could nocht pas vpon this Assyis, as alledgeit to haif gewin partiall counfall, in maner qualifeit in the said exceptioun; yit the samin can nawyis exclud his kynnismen and freindis fra passing vpon the said Assyis: For partial counfall is ane personall impediment, to stay the gewar thair of to pas vpon the Assyise of that persoun aganis quhom he hes gewin partiall counfall; bot is nocht extendit to his kynnismen and freindis.

¹ In another place it is stated, that the Earl of Erroll, 'has solifeit and travellit with his Maiestie, in his cause, as partie.' ² Since the cause was intentit, or raised. ³ Urged. ⁴ The pannel.

And quhair it is alledgeit, that my Lord of Erroll is partie, it is verry absurd ; ffor possiblie my Lord of Erroll could nocht qualifie ane entres that mycht mak him ane partie, nather can he tyne or wyn¹ in this cause ; and gif he wald compeir att the bar, and seik to be admitted as partie to persew, albeit the defender kepit sylence and maid na alledgance in the contrar, my Lord Justice wald nocht, nor could nocht of his office admitt him.—It is answerit be the Laird of Dalgat- tie, that that exceptioun quilk wald declyne the Erll of Erroll, wald declyne his haill kyn and freindis : And in effect, it is granted be my Lord aduocat that the Erll of Erroll can nocht pass vpoun this Assyse ; ergo, nane of his kyn and freindis can. It is nocht affermit in this caise that the Erll of Erroll hes gewin partiall counfall, bot expresse that he is partie ; to witt, in fortificatioun of the former alledgances, nocht only the saidis Lettres Criminall, quhairvpoune this persuit is foundit, wes rasit to him and att his command, bot the messingeris executouris thair of, bayth vpoun the partie and vpoun the Assyse, execute the samin att his speciall directioun : In lyke maner, besydes the haill particuler circumstances numerit of befoir, he hes sollicit the haill persounis of Inqueist quha wer sunmond to Monunday last, to remane in this toun, quhilk Assyis fould be chofin, as thay wald do him singuler pleasour : And this, with the former arguments, being tane coniunctlie, man infer simpliciter the Erll of Erroll to be partie.—The Aduocat answerit, that thair can be na partie bot ane persewar or defendar, or ane partie admittit for his interes ; and nane of the saidis qualiteis is alledgeit aganis the Erle of Erroll, nor can be provin be this proces ; nather can ony extrajudiciall probatioun, by the proces, be admittit in this persuit, for his Maiesteis interes, without concurrence of ony priuate partie.

The Justice, be Interloquitour, ffindis my Lord aduocat only partie in this persuit ; and the alledgances maid be the pannell aganis the Erll of Erroll sufficient and releuant, being provin to seclud him to pass vpoun this Assyis ; bot na argument to seclud the Laird of Inchmartene. Quhairvpoune the persewar and defender askit instrumentis : And repellis the fyrst argument maid about the four-half-about.²

The Assyse being sworne, and the partie being accusit be Dittay of the filthie cryme of Adulterie, committit with Eliz. Clark, the Aduocat produceit ane Decreeit of the Commissaris of Edinburghe, of the dait the penult day of November, 1596 zeiris, berand the cryme lybellit, in the selff same termes as the Dittay beris, to haif bene sufficientlie verifeit and provin aganis this defender. In respect quhair of, in caise the Assyse clange, the persewar protestis for wilfull errour.

¹ Lose or gain.

² It had been objected that Inchmartin ought not to pass on the Assise, ' because, be þe Act of Parliament and commoun practik of þis realme, he is nocht of þe four-half-about. The aduocat refusit to answer, because þis mater is nocht ane Perambulatione.'

[There follows a very long argument, on the relevancy of the Decreet of the Commissariés, which it was contended ought not to be received as proof in such a case, especially seeing that an Action of Reprobator was then in dependence, &c. Although this argument is very ingeniously conducted by the counsel for both parties, it would occupy a much greater space in this Collection than its importance seems to demand.]

VERDICT of the Assise, including the Dittay.

THE samin day, Alexander Hay of Delgatie being enterit on pannell, dilatit, accusit and perfewit be vertew of our souerane lordis Lettres, purchest at the instance of Mr Thomas Hammiltoun, advocat to his hienes for his interes : That quhair, it is expresse prouydit, statute and ordainit be diuerse his hienes Actis of Parliament, that na maner of perfoune or perfounes within this realme commit the fylthie and abhominabill cryme of Adulterie, vnder the pane of deid and confiscatioune of all thair movabill guidis ; as the said Actis at mair lenth beiris. And trew it is and of veritie, that the said Alexander Hay of Delgatie being in the moneth of Januar, 3^{er} of God I^m.V^c. fourfoir foure 3^{eris}, mareit in face of Haly-Kirk, with Elizabeth, dochter lauchfull to Robert Lord Altrie ; and efter the said marriage, the said Alexander and his said spous, haifing duelt, remanit and cohabitait togidder, and continewit in mutuall societie and mutuall intertenement to vtheris, at bed and buird, as become man and wyffe lawfullie joyuit in mariage, be the space of diuerse 3^{eris} and monethis immediatlie following the said mariage ; nochtwithstanding qubair of, the said Alexander, vnmynndfull of his dewtie towardis God and the said Eliz^z, his spous for the tyme, and of the faythfull promeis maid be him to hir the tyme of the solempnizatioune of the said mariage maid betuix thame, quhilk was the tyme foirfaid : He in the monethis of Marche, efter the xxv day thairof, Apryle, Maj, Junij, Julij, August, September, October, November, December, Januar and Februar, and Marche before the xxv day thairof, the 3^{er} of God I^m.V^c.lxxxvj and lxxxvij 3^{eris} ; at the leif in ane or vther of the saidis monethis and yeiris of God respectiue foirfaid, maist schamefullie frequentit, secretlie, the company and societie of Elizabeth Clark, dochter to v^mq^{le} William Clark at the Kirk of Deir, and gaif the vse of his bodie to hir in the said fylthie and abhominable cryme of Adulterie : AND also, in the saidis monethis respectiue aboue writtin, the 3^{er} of God I^m.V^c.lxxxix and lxxxx yeiris respectiue, at the leif in ane or vther of the samyn, the said Alexander Hay of Delgatie gaif the vse of his bodie in the fylthie cryme of Adulterie and carnall copulatioune, as said is, with the said Elizabeth Clark : And that within the places of Delgatie and Sanden, in the hallis, chalmers, voltis, felleris, loftis, wardropis, orcheardis, parkis and feildis thair of ; and speciallie in quyet cavernis of Sanden and heicthis thairof : In the quhilk fylthie cryme of Adulterie the said Elizabeth Clark bure, and thair was procreat betuix thame, ane barne ; and the said Alexander causit Alexander Watt, his steward, tak vpoune him to be the fader thairto ; albeit the said barne was gottin of the said Alexanderis awin bodie, in the fylthie cryme of Adulterie with the said Elizabeth Clark, as said is : And thairthrow, hes contravenit the tennour of the saidis Actis of Parliament, and hes incurrit the panis thairin content.—For the quhilk crymes, the said Justice Depute put the said Alexander to the knowlege of ane Affyise of the perfounis vnderwrittin ; thay ar to say, Patrik Ogilvie of Inchemertene, &c. : Quhilkis perfounes of Affyis being chofyn, sworne and admittit, efter accusatioune of the said Alexander, of the crymes aboue writtin, be Dittay, and production of ane decreit of the Commiffaris of Edinburghe, of the dait at Edinburghe, the penult day of November, the 3^{er} of God I^m.V^c.lxxxvj yeiris, be our souerane lordis Aduocat, for verefcing of the Dittay ; thay removit all furth of Court to the Counsale hous, quhair thay chust the said Sir Thomas Kennedye of Cul3cane, chancillar of the said Affyis, and reffonit and votit vpoun the poyntis of the Dittay ; and being throuchlie resoluit thair with, reenterit agane in Court, in presens of the saidis

Justice-deputis, quhair thay, be the mouth of the said Sir Thomas Kennedy chancellor, stand, pronunceit and declarit, for the maist part of the said Assyis, the said Alexander Hay of Delgatie to be Cleane, innocent and acquit of the cryme of Adulterie aboue writtin, alledgeit committit with Elizabeth Clark, in the quhilk cryme seldo bure, and thair was procreat betuix thame, ane bairne; committit in the monethis, yeiris and placeis respectiue aboue specifeit, at the leist in ane or vther of thame; and of the haill accufatiounes and Dittay aboue writtin.¹

Quhairvpoun the said Alexander askit actis and instrumentis.²

Slaughter.

Aug. 1.—GEORGE WAUCHOP, broder to vniq^{le} Archibald Wauchop, aperand of Nudrie Marfshell.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vniq^{le} David Edmestoun of Wowmet; committit in Januar 1596.³

PERSEWAR, Alefoun Home, the relict.

PROLOQUUTOUR, Patrik Home of Polwart.

Robert Hepburn (in Haillis, cautioner for the pannell) tuik instrumentis of the entrie of George Wauchop, and protestit that he as cautioner be releuit.—The pannell askis instrumentis, that Alefoune Home passis fra the perfuit of him this day.

Continued to the Aire of 'Edinburghe, tertio Itineris, xv dierum. Plegio Roberto Hepburne in Haillis.'

[Mr Williame Haert of Leiclandis, Justice-Depute.]

Witchcraft — Sorcery — Incantation, &c.

Aug. 15.—BESSIE AIKIN

Being presentit on pannell, the said Justice-depute caused intimat and reid to hir his Maiesteis Precept direct to him, quhair of the tennour ffollowis.

REX,

MR WILLIAME HAERT, our Justice, We greit 5ow weil. Forsamekle as, Bessie Aikene, being convict before 5ow be ane Assyse,⁴ wes committit to waird in our Tolbuith of Edinburghe, in respect seldi wes þan with bairne, quhairby the sentence pronunceit aganis hir could nocht be putt in executioun; quhair seldi hes remanit this 5eir bygane, and delyaerit of ane infant, and hes sustenit lang pwneischment be famine and impreisment: Thairfoir, tempering justice with mercy, we haif pardonit and pardonis hir lyffe; and willis and commandis 5ow, that 5e caus present hir befor 5ow, and decerne hir to be baneist our realme, and to depairt within xx dayes; with certificatioun, gif seldi be apprehendit heireftir, seldi salbe execute to þe deid: And to þat effect, that 5e putt hir to libertie furth of our said tolbuith : For þe quhilk this falbe to ʒow ane fufficient warrand. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Dalkeyth, the xv day of Auguft, 1598.

¹ There is a memorandum irregularly entered before the Verdict, which shows what was the state of the vote. It stood as follows:—'The Lairds of Boquhallie, Pennycaik, Tillybairdin, Balvaird, Innernytie, Culzeane, FYLIF the said Alexander Hay of Delgatie of þe dittay vnderwrittin: And þe Lairdis of Drumbrek, Kilspyndie, Inchmartene, Balgillo, Murthlie, Pitcur, Balwerie, Balthyok, and Ley, ACQUITT him.'

² See Nov. 25, 1598, where another Trial, 'for Adulterie with Barbara Forbes, his allegeit spous,' occurs. ³ Robert Birrel thus records this murder. 'David Edmonstou of the Wowmit flaine be Thomas Christifon, be the thott of ane gun.' ⁴ For Witchcraft, &c. See Nov. 12, 1597.

(Sic fufcribitur)

JAMES R.

According to the quhilk precept, the Juftice, be the mouth of Williame Blak, decernit and ordanit the said Bessie Aiken to be Baneift this realme, and newir to returne within the famin, vnder the pane of deid ; with certificationn, gif ſche be apprehendit thairin, ſche falbe pwneift to the death : And ordanit hir to depart within xx dayes eftir the dait heirof ; and to that effect, to be putt to libertie furth of the Towne of Edinburghe.

Slaughter — Shooting of Piſtolets, &c.

Oct. 31.—JOHNE ARNOT ʒounger of Wodmylne.¹

Dilatit of the ſlauchter of vniq^{le} Johnne Murray, ſone to Murray of Aiket, and ſeruitour for the tyme to Patrik, Commendatour of Lundoris : And for beiring and weiring, and ſchuiting of piſtolettis ; committit in September laftwas.

Comperit Charlis Murray of Haykit, and produceit our ſouerane lordis Lettres, dewlie execute and indorfat, purcheft at his inſtance, aganis Johnne Arnot, to vnderlye the law, for the ſlauchter of vniq^{le} Johnne Murray : As alfo, produceit ane vther Lettre, for chargeing of Andro Aytoun of Dinnure, and Henrie Pitkarne of that Ilk, as cautioneris for the ſaid Johnne Arnot, to enter him this day ; (quha) proteſtit for releif of thair cawtionis.

Comperit Mr David Wardlaw, and produceit ane Warrand, for continewatioune of the perſuit of Johnne Arnot, to the third day of November nixt to cum ; off the quhilk, the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Juſtice Clark and ʒour depntis ; We greit ʒow weil. Forſamekle as We haif borne ane ernoſt intentionn to ſie juſtice miniſtrat with all regour in this accident that intervenit in þe ſlauchter of vniq^{le} Johnne Murray, ſeruitour to Patrik, Commendater of Lundoris, be Johnne Arnot, ʒounger of Wodmylne ; and heirtofoir, in our awin perſoun, hes tane panes in that mater : And now, be reſſoune of our vther grit adois,² We ar forcit for ſum dayis to be abſent ; and We nawayis being willing that ony proceding be pairintill quhill our returne : Thairfoir, We haif thoct meit and expedient that ʒe fall continew and prorogat the perſuit and dyet, quhill þe thrid of November nixt ; and nawyis proceid pairin, quhill þe ſaid day ; always retening that ſame cawtionne for the ſaid Johnne Arnot, quha was reſſauit for him ofbefoir ; or vpirwayes, that ʒe cauſe him to be wairdit within our tolbuith of Edinburghe, thair to remane quhill the ſaid thrid day : Quhilk nawayes ʒe fall fail to do. And ʒe will anſuer to ws, vpoune þe diſcharge of ʒour offices and ʒour dewtifull obedience ; Qubairnant þir preſentis fall remane to ʒow for warrand. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyrudelous, the laſt day of October, 1598.

(Sic fufcribitur)

JAMES R.

¹ The objections to, and arguments on the relevancy of the Libel, in this Caſe, are ſo important, and the Counfell, on both ſides, being men of ſuch eminence in their profeſſion, the Editor has thought it neceſſary to give the whole at length, as preſerved in the Record. ² Business, affairs.

Andro Aytoune of Dinmure and Henric Pitcarne of that Ilk become plegeis and fourteis, coniunctlie and feuerallie, for Johne Arnot younger of Wodmylne, that he fall compeir befoir our souerane lordis Justice or his deputis in the Tolbuith of Edinburghe, the thryd day of November nixt to cum, to vnderlye the law for airt and pairt of the slauchter of vniq^{le} Johne Murray, feruitour to Patrik, Commendator of Lundoris ; vnder the pane of Ten thousand pundis.

PERSEWAR, Charles Murray of Ayket, as father.

PRELOQUOUTOURIS.

My Lord of Lundoris, Tyllybairdin younger,
My Lord aduocat, The Laird of Balvaird,
The Laird of Polmais.

PRELOQUOUTOURIS for the pannell,

Mr Johne Scherp, Mr Thomas Craig, Mr Jo. Ruffell, Mr Will. Oliphant, Andro Arnote minister of Scotland weill, Alexander Drummond of Medope.

Nov. 3.—The pannell askit instrumētis, that nane of the kyn and frendis of vniq^{le} John Murray compeiris to persew, except the father, with the preloquoutouris nominat.—The aduocat declairis, that he infistis only vpoune the lybell, infafar as it is foundit vpoune the Actis of Parliament only. Quhairvpoune the perseweris askit instrumentis.—The perseweris declairis that thay adhair to my Lord Aduocatis declaratioun.

It is allegit for the pannell, that the publicatioune of the Actis of Parliament quhairvpoune the persute is foundit allanerlie, now aucht to be schawn and produceit, befoir ony forder proces ; becaus the publicatioun thair of is expresse lybellit, and the lybell makis relationu thairto ; and the leigis can nocht be constitute in mala fide, befoir the famin Actis be lauchfullie publeifchit ; and speciallie, the Actis quhairvpoune the summondis is foundit, quhilkis imponatis¹ a heich and grit pane aganis the hail inhabitantis of the realme, to witt, amputatioun of the richt hand, and escheit of thair hail guidis moveabil.—The aduocat declairis the alledgeance meritis na ansuer.—The persewer acceptis the aduocatis ansuer ; and allegit, that the pannell, adherand to the former alledgeance, can nocht be compellit to enter in disputation vpoune the Summondis or Dittay proponit aganis him, quhilk is foundit expresse vpoune that publicatioun of the Actis of Parliament, befoir the famin publicatioun be ather proponit or replyt, and the manner of publicatioun ather is knawin to the Judge, after the productioun or allegatioun, quhilk the Judge, be the lawis of this realme, may find to be ane sufficient publicatioun : For it is certane, be the lawis of this realme, that ane Act of Parliament vnpublicifit can never constitute the legis in mala fide, nor be na sufficient ground, quhairby they may be persewit, accensit criminalle nor ciuillie ; speciallie, in respect of dyuerse Actis maid anent the publicatioun of the Lawis of this realme, and speciallie, anent the Act maid in the 3eir of God I^m.V^c.lxxix, that the Actis of Parliament could nawayis constitute the legis in mala fide, befor the famin was publesit. It is forder allegit, that quhanfoeuir the publicatioun of Lawis and Statutis is of neecessitie, the famin aucht to be first verifeit. And trew it is, that the publicatioun of the Actis of Parliament is speciallie appointit be expres Act of Parliament; nather can the famin vnpublicifchit bind the leigis, or induce ony knowledge to tham.—The aduocat anfuers, the former alledgeance, aucht to be repellit, in respect of the Summondis.

¹ Imposes. Lat. imponere.

The pannell declaris that thai will cum and propone the rest of thair alledgeances in ordour, att command of my Lord Justice, quhilk the pannell is willing to obey; vnder protestatioun alwayis, that my Lord Justice, the tyme of the discussing of the allegeance alreddie proponit, and of the rest to be proponit, geve ane direct anfuers to the first allegeance, anent the publication of the Actis of Parliament, quhairupon the lybell is foundit; speciallie, in respect that the first Act of Parliament, maid in the 3eir of God lxvij, quhilk is the special Act quhairvpon the lybell is foundit, is of sic importance and antiquitie, and in effect is tane away be the contrair consuetude, that the haill legis of this realme sal be in danger in the panis thairin contenit, gif the famin fall be reput as ane Law quhairvpon thay may be accusit criminallie. And for verificatioun of this allegeance, that the publicatioun of the Actis of Parliament is requisit, it is allegit be the pannell, that the famin, be ane special Act, in the 3eir of God I^m.V^c.lxxix, is expreslie statute.—The aduocat allegis that this allegeance is thyrse repetit, and thairfoir meritis na forder anfuers.

SECUNDLIE, the partie, to wit Charles Murray, with the remanent kyn and freindis, has na actioun competent to thame to persue the first tua memberis of the summondis, becaus the partie hes qualifeit na dammage nor intreis sustenit be thame thairthrow.—The aduocat anfuers, the secund member is verrie competent to the partie informer, becaus it contenis ane hosteill invasioun of the said vmq^{le} Johne Murray with pistolets, prohibeit be the Actis of Parliament, in persute quhair of his parentis hes verrie guid entreis to informe ane Affise.—It is anfuers, becaus the allegeance proponit for the pannell is proponit aganis tua feuerall memberis of the summondis, and the anfuers maid be my Lord aduocat is only maid for sustening of the entres of the partie aganis the secund member, containing the invasioun of the said vmq^{le} Johne Murray, as is allegit, that my Lord Justice, befor all forder proces, aucht to geve ane anfuers to the allegeance proponit aganis the entres of the partie for the first member.—My Lord (advocate) declairis that he insistis only vpon the first member of the summondis, for the Kingis intreis; quhairvnto the partie adheris. Quhairvpon the pannell askis instrumentis.

It is forder allegit be the pannell, that thair is na cryme qualefeit in the feeund member that may geve the partie onie entreis to perfew the famin ; becaus the famin contenis na cryme quhairupon the pannell may be pwneift, at the de- fyre of the partie ; and albeit he wer convict of the famin cryme, the partie, be the lawis of this realme, can repoirt na affythment nor fatisfaction thairby, feing it is never lybellit in the fecund member, that ony damage hes followit thair- upoun, quhairby the partie was hurt or preiudget.—It is anfuerit be my Lord Aduocat, the partie perfewis nocht allauerlie for his awin entreis ; bot haifand entreis as is qualifeit befoir, affiftis the aduocatis perfute.—It is anfuerit be the pannell, that the defender can nawayis be drawin in queftion for his lyfe, or ony member, be ane partie quha hes na entreis ; and albeit the faid aduocat may be fund to haif entreis in our fouerane lordis name, to quhom and quhais entreis the pannell fall anfuer with reuerance, as effeiris ; that is na juft cauf to compell him to enter in difputation with a partie that hes na entries ; and thairfoir, the De- fender defyres my Lord Juftice anfuer directlie, quhither, gif the partie hes en- treis, to infift in the perfute of the fecond member of the fummonds or nocht ; for gif the partie be fundin to haif na entreis, he aucht nawyis to be refpectit in this perfute, as ane informer ; and nekill mair, man be excludit as ane perfewar ; feing na partie, be the lawis of this realme, can be hard to informe and concur as ane partie, as our fouerane lordis aduocat, vules thair be ane fpeciall entreis competent to him, and that the famin entries be exprefslie qualefeit : And that is nocht only obseruit in cauffis criminall, quhilk ar of the grittist importance, bot alfo in cauffis ciuill, quhairintill na perfon will be admittit to perfew, with- out thair be ane fpeciall entres qualefeit, as faid is.—It is anfuerit be the aduo- cat, the fummondis contenis the parteis intreis, in refpect of the Inuafionne maid aganis him ; and quhair it is allegit, that the parteis frendis can pretend na af- fythment, thay conclude na affythment, bot puneifchement, quhilk is verrie competent to thame, for the iniurie done to the defunct. As to the comparefoun tane fra the intreis of parteis in Ciuill perfutis, it is nocht pertinent ; becaus in ciuill actionis, the perfeweris intreis man tend to ane concludioun, foundit ather super lucro captando vel damno vitando ; bot in Criminall perfutis, the conclu- fioun tendis only ad penam, quhilk is alyk competent to bayth the perfeweris, and fatisfies alyk baith thair intentionis, in refpect of the offence committit aganis thame, as is qualifeit be the fummondis.

It is anfuerit be the defender, that the Inuafionn qualifeit in the fecund mem- ber of the fummondis, contenis na cryme quhairvpoun ony partie may be per- fewit to vnderly the law, before the Juftice generall and his deputis, at the in- ftance of ony particuler partje, and at ane particuler dyet ; feing thair is nathing qualifeit for the partie in the fecund member of the fummondis, bot effectus sine effectu, quhilk is punieifcheable in the cryme of Treffoun or Laifmaieftie ; and the partie, without concurse of our souerane lordis Aduocat, he him self; or could nevir be hard to persue the secund member of the summondis vpoun the inuasioun thairin qualifeit, att ony particular dyet, befor my Lord Justice or his deputis; quhilk cryme could nocht be put to the knowlege of ane Inqueist, albeit the partie war present, and maid na alledgeance in the contrair; seing the Justice could put nathing to the knowlege of ane Inqueist, bot that eryme, quhairvpoun puneishment might follow. And as to that pairt of the reply, bearing that the argument, fra the comparisoun of Ciuell cauffis to the Criminall, is nocht pertinent, it is allegit, that in Ciuill cauffis, quhair our souerane Lord and his hienes aduocat hes entreis, the summondis continis tua conclusiois, quhairvpoun tua feuerall effectis follows the puneishment of the partie transgressour; to our souerane Lord, and a commoditie to the partie: And the lyk is inpoirtit be Criminall persute, quhair the partie hes ony entreis, to wit, the puneishment at the instance of our souerane lord and the Assythment to the partie.—It is answert be the Aduocat, that the weiring, bering and vsing of pistolettis, being prohibit be the Actis of Parliament, vnder the panes thairin contenit, the partie persewit or skaithet thairby hes verrè guid entreis to persue the offender ad penam: And quhair it is alleget, that in this caice thair is only effectus sine effectu, the lybell is nocht foundit super mero effectu, sed super conatu qui peruenit ad actum: And to the rest of the alledgeance, repeitis the former answert.—It is answert, that thair is na skaith qualifeit inferrit to the partie; and thairfoir the answert and lybell, in that pairt, is nawyis competent to the parteis; speciallie, in respect that thair is nathing qualeseit, bot ane naikit inuasioun be allegit presenting, quhairvpoun na deid is qualifeit to haif followit; et sic est effectus et tantum conatus, qui cum effectu idem est; quhairvpoun na deid hes followit, as said is.

THRIDLIE, it is allegit, that the first member of the summondis is altogidder irrelevant and generall, in that pairt thairof, beiring, that the defender hes borne and worne pistoletis, in findrie vtheris partis of Fyfe, by¹ the landis of Woidmylne and Monymale: nocht condiscending in speciall vpoun the vther pairtis within Fyfe; be the quhilk generalitie the defender is preiudget of his defensis; ffor gif the persewer had condiscendit vpoun the vtheris pairtis, thair is sufficient defensis competent to the defender to haif elydit that part of the lybell; seing he possesses vtheris landis in Fyfe by the landis of Monymale and Woidmylne, sic as the Landis of Pittowie, Pinckerton, &c.: Attour the lybell is altogidder irrelevant and generall, anent the landis of Woidmylne, nocht condiscending vpoun the speciall pairt thairof; seing be the lawis of this realme he is nocht forbidden to beir pistolettis or selute thairwith, within his awin duelling-place, houffis, or gairdis, quhilkis ar all of the landis of Woidmylne ; in respect quhairof, the lybell, in the tua former pointis of the first member, is altogidder generall and irrelevant.—It is anſuerit, that the ſummondis is verrie relevant, in ſa far as the ſamin beiris that the defender buir and vſit piſtoletis vpoun the landis of Wodmylne (and) Monymale, exprefſlie, and vther pairtis of Fyfe, quhilk is relevant aneuch ; for the haifing and weiring thairof being forbidden in the haill realme and in everie pairt thairof, it wes nocht leſſum to the defender to haif thame in ony pairt of Fyfe : And quhair it is allegit, that the defender, duelland in Woidmylne, it was leſum to him to haif piſtoletis within his awin hous, clois and yaird, and that in respect thairof, the lybell nocht bearing the ſpeciall pairt of the lands of Woidmylne, vpoun the quhilk the defender buir and had the ſaidis piſtoletis, it is nocht relevant ; it is anſuerit, that the ſummondis ſtandis verrie relevant, beirand that he had and bure the ſaidis piſtoletis vpoun the ſaidis landis, contrair the Actis of Parliament ; quhairby it is cleirlye ſignifeit, that he had the piſtoletis, quhair, by Act of Parliament, he mycht nocht haif thame : Attour, the haifing of the piſtoletis within his hous, yaird or cloiſe, being ane deſenſe allegit competent to the partie, the perſewer was nocht obleift to mak ony mentioun thairof in his ſummondis ; bot gif thay propone ony allegeance vpoun the generalitie of the ſummondis, quhairby thay find thameſelfis preiudgeit in the particular deſenſe competent to thame in maner foirſaid, gif my Lord Juſtice ordane the perſeweris to condiscend, thay ſall conforme thameſelfis to his direction.

¹ Forbye, besides. See p. 59, where the Lord Advocate restricts the libel.

It is anſuerit be the defender, that the beiring and weiring of piſtoletis ar nocht forbidin be the Actis of Parliament, within all the pairtis of the realme ; becaus the Act of Parliament maid thairanent contenis certane limitationis and exemptionis, as the actis beiris, repeitit heir breuitatis causa. As to the ſecund member of the anſuer maid for ſuſtening of the relevancie of the lybell, beiring, that the piſtoletis war boire, woirne and vſet, incontrar the tennour of the Actis of Parliament, quhairby it is ſignifeit, that the ſamin wair boire, woirne and vſet vpoun the pairtis forbidin ; that pairt of the anſuer is na wyis relevant, ſeing it aucht to haif bene ſpeciallie lybellit, in quhat pairt the piſtolettis war boire, worne and vſet, and the lybell maid relevant and ſpeciall in that point ; to the effect that the partie mycht haif bene hard to haif vſet his lauchful deſenſis, and to haif diſpute with the perſeweris, quhither the place qualifeit in the lybell was lauchfull or vmlauchfull. Anſuerand to the thrid member of the reply, quhilk contenis ane offer maid be the perſeweris to condiscend vpoun the ſpeciall place, gif my Lord Juſtice thinkis the ſamin neceſſar ; it is allegit be the defender, that pairt of the anſuer nawayis to be relevant ; becaus my Lord Juſtice, of his office, aucht only to judge vpoun the lybell as the ſamin is ſet down, quhairwith the partie was fummond lauchfullie, and thairupon had allegeances maid thairaganis to gif ane direct anfuer, relevant or nocht relevant : And the partie is nocht haldin, of reffone, to anfuer to ony declaratioun to be maid at the bar, quhilk confiftis in facto, quhairupon the Affyfe ar obleift to geve thair determinatioun ; and ‘ the place ’ being ane speciall point, quhairupon tryell aucht to be tane be the Affyfe, quhilk nocht being relevantlie fet down in the lybell, the famin can nawyis be fupleit be ony declaratioun to be maid.—The perfewaris, to efchew prolixitie, be thair declaratioun, reftictis the woirdis of the lybell anent the haifing of piftoletis vpon the landis of Woidmylne, infafar as the famin may appeir to comprehend the hous, clois and yaird, to ‘ the landis of Woidmylne, ’ outwith the houfe, clois and yaird ; albeit the faid declaratioun be nawyis neccffar, becaus the perfewer was nocht obleift to lybell the defenderis exceptioun.—It is anfuerit, that the faid declaratioun aucht nawyis to be reffauit, the famin confifting in facto, tending to fa heich ane cryme to the defender, and nawyis being lybellit, for the refone foirfaid : And quhair it is allegit, that the perfeweris ar nocht obleift to lybell the defenderis exception, it is anfuerit, that the perfeweris ar obleift of the Law to fet down ane relevant lybell, quhairupon the cryme lybellit may be inferrit ; and the Judge aucht to geve ane direct anfuer vpon the relevancie thairof ; and the lybell can nawyis be fuppleit be ony new declaratioun maid at the bar, in prejudice of the defender.

The perfewer anfueris, that the fummond is relevant of the Law ; and gif thair war nocht ane perticuler exceptioun proponit in facto aganis the allegit generalitie of this woird, (‘ the landis of Woidmylne, ’) my Lord Justice wald find the famin relevant of the Law, as conteneand ane speciall tyme, place, with all vther circumftances requifit ; and fua the famin being only quarrellit be ane alledgeance in facto, the famin may be fufteinit be ane reply in facto.—It is anfuerit, that the faid allegeance confiftis altogidder in jure et non in facto, and is proponit aganis the irrelevancie of the fummond, in the affumptioun, quhilk is mair large nor the propofitioun ; and ane irrelevant lybell can nawyis be fufteinit be ane reply confifting in facto.—The alledgeance is in facto, beand privata jura rei, cannocht be knawin to the perfewer ; and thairfoir aucht nocht to be lybellit, nather can he be aftrictit to lybell negative for the refpect of thair privat defence in facto, in facto particulare. It is anfuerit, that the perfewer can nocht be hard to alledge mifknawledge, be limitationis, reftictionis and exceptionis contenit in the Actis of Parliament, quhairupon the lybell is foundit.—It is anfuerit be the aduocat, the hail factis comprehendit in the fummond is man be affirmatiue, and referrit to the Affyfe ; and na negatiue can be lybellit be the perfewer.—It is anfuerit be the defender, that the factis lybellit, quhairvpon the Affyfe aucht to tak cognitioun, aucht nocht to be fet down mair amplie nor the law is maid, quhairupoun the famin is foundit; sua that the Affyse, of necessitie, may cognosce vpon ane affirmatiue, limitat and restrict as the Law preserues.

Nov. 4.—The pannell takis instrumentis, that Charles Murray of Aitkit, with the kyn and freindis of vni^q^{le} Johne Murray, comperit nocht, being oft tymes callit to that effect; and that he offerit him self reddie to anfuere as effeiris.

Comperit Rodger Eschtoun, seruitour to his Maieftie, and producet the Warrant vnderwrittin, quhair of the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice-Clerk (and your deputis), we greit you weil. It is our will, and for certane caussis and considderationis moveing vs, We command you, that, vpon the sicht heirof, you continew the criminall cause perfeit befor you, at the instance of Charles Murray of Aickett, and remanent kyn and freindis of vni^q^{le} Johne Murray, and our aduocat for our entres, aganis Johne Arnote of Woidmylne, for the slauchter of the said vni^q^{le} Johnne, beiring, weiring and schuiting of pistolettis, aganis the tennour of the Actis of Parliament, and vperis crymes contenit in our vperis letteris direct pairupoun; and that unto the thrid day of the nixt Justice-Air of our thersedome, quhair the said Johne Arnote duellis, or sone, vpon the fiftene dayis wairning: Takand the famin or vperis new cautionn for his compeirance, vnder the samyn pane contenit in the former Act; or then enter and delyner him in waird within our Castell of Edinburgh, to remane in the meane tyme. As you will anfuere to vs vpon your office and obedience; keipand your presentis for your warrant. Subseruit with our hand, Att Halyrudhous, the sferd day of November 1598.

(Sic subscribitur)

JAMES R.

The Justice ordanit the personis vnderwrittin to be ressaunt cautioneris, in maner following:

Sir Patrik Hepburne of Lufnes kny^t, Johne Toures of Innerleyth, James Creichtoun of Ruthvennis, Thomas Abircrumbie of that Ilk, Alexander Blair, apperand of Bathayoke, Johne Traill of Blebo, Henrie Pitcairne of that Ilk, Andro Aytoun of Dymwre, Robert Lummisflene of Airdrie, and David Betoun, fear of Balfour, become pledges and souerteis coniuictlie, vnder the pane of ten thousand pundis, (viz. to ilk ane of thame, vnder the pane of ane thousand pundis,) for Johne Arnot of Woidmylne, that he fall compeir befor our souerane lordis Justice and his deputis, the thrid day of the nixt Justice-air of the sheresdome of Fyfe, or sone, vpon the fiftene dayis wairning; to vnderly the law, for the slauchter of vni^q^{le} Johnne Murray, seruitour to Patrik Commendater of Lundoris; and for beiring and weiring of pistolettis.—The samyn day, John Arnote, younger of Woidmylne, band and obleist him, his airis, exeuntouris and assignais, to freith, releif and keip skaythles his cautioneris aboue writtin of thair said cautionn, and of all danger, coist, skayth and expensis, that thay or ony ane of thame may incur thairthrow.

[Mr William Haert et Mr William Boirthuik Justices-Deputes.]

Bearing and Weiring of Pistolets.

Nov. 3.—JAMES LOKHART, younger of Lie, Thomas Gairdner elder, and Thomas Gairdner younger.

Delaitit of contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in beiring and weiring of pistoletis.

PERSEWARIS, Adame Somervell, Thomas Somervell, and Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne.

It is allegit be James Lokhart, younger of Lie, that Allane Lokhart and Laurence Broun to be feik; and producet Mr William Birny, minister at Lanerk, quha, being sworne, deponit that Allane Lokhart had bene feik in the het feiknes¹ tuentie dayis befor Setterday lastwas; bot convaleffit, lyand aboute the claythis: And that Laurence Broun was lyand bedfast, vnhable to travell to this Court.—‘Continewit to the morne.’

Nov. 4.—Continued to the Air of ‘Lanark, tertio Itineris, vel xv dierum.’ Pledge, William Hammiltoun of Dynserf. Lokhart becomes pledge for Allan Lokhart and Laurence Broune.

Lying in Wait, &c.

Nov. 4.—GILBERT LORD SOMERVELL, Thomas Somervell, portioner of Grainge, Adame Somervell, feruitour to the said Gilbert, W^m Somervell in Amphorlay, James Somervell in Grenefeild, Hew Elder in Carnewath-mylne, and Hew Paterfon in Carnewath.

Delaitit for lying await for James Lokhart, younger of Lie; and for cuming to his chalmer, vnder silence of nicht, within the burch of Edinburgh.

PERSEWARIS, James Lokhart, younger of Lie, and Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcairne.

James Lokhart, younger of Lie, passis fra that pairt of the lybell perfewit at his instance aganis my Lord Somervell and his freindis, fa far as the famin tuiches ony pairt of thift; reserving alwayis his actioun ciuillie aganis thame thairfoir. Quhairupoune my Lord tuik instrumentis, for him self, and the remanent impannellit.

Compeirit James Lokhart, elder of Lie, and declairit vpoun his faull and conscience, that he nevir knew of the raising of the Lettres, at his sones instance, aganis my Lord Somervell and his complices; bot was reddie to assist and defend the said Lord, in all his honest actiones: And thairupoun cravet instrumentis.—Continued to the Justice-air of ‘Lanark, tertio Itineris, vel xv dierum.’ Pledge, David Somervell of Plane, for fa mony as he was for befor; my Lord for the rest.’

¹ Fever, scarlet fever?

[Mr Williame Borthuik, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

NOV. 10.—JAMES LYOUNE of Eifter Ogill, and Williame Lyoune in Balgillie.

Comperit Mr Thomas Rollok, aduocat, and produceit ane Warrant, subferyuit be his Maieftie and the fecretar, quhilk was admittit be the Justice ; quhairof the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice-Clark and your deputis, We greit you weil. Forfamekle as the day of is appoyntit and assignit to James Lyoune of Eifter Ogill, and Williame Lyoune in Balgillie, ffor pair comperance befor you in our Tolbuith of Edinburghe, to vnderlye our lawis for þe flauncher of vniuersall Alexander Cowtis ; nochtwithstanding, for certane causis and confidderationis moving us ; especiallie, for efchewing of forder troubill and inconvenientis, quhilkis be þe keeping of þe said dyet may fall out : It is oure will, and we command you expresse, be þir presentis, to desert þe said dyet, and to desist and ceise fra all proceeding pairin ; dispensing with þe personall comperance, allweill of þe defendaris as of þe persewaris, and with nocht reporting of þe lettres ; and that ye nawayes vnlaw þame nor pair cawtionaris, nochtwithstanding quhatsumever warrant or command gevin or to be gevin and direct to you in the contrair : As ye will anfuer to us pairvpoune : Quhairnent þir presentis falbe vnto you ane Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, At Edinburghe, þe vij day of November, 1598.

(Sic subferibitur)

JAMES REX.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Spuilzie, &c. — Liability of Earl of Argyle for the Campbells and Macgregors.

NOV. 14.—ARCHIBALD ERLL OF ERGYLL,¹ as principall ; and James Seytoun of Tillybody and James Schaw of Sauchie, as Cautioners, to enter John Dow Campbell M^cCondochie, &c.

Comperit Alexander (James ?²) Maister of Elphinstoune, togidder with Maisteris Alexander King and Johne Halyday, his preloquutouris ; and as procuratouris for Alexander Elphinstoune, brother to Robert Lord Elphinstoune, Andro Sym in Wester Rossie, William Hirdman thair, Ninian Henryfoun,³ &c. ; and produceit our souerane lordis Lettres, dewlie execute and indorsat, chargeing Archibald Erll of Ergyll Lord Campbell, as principall, James Seytoun of Tillybody and James Schaw of Sauchie, (as cautioners,) to enter John Dow Campbell M^cCondochie, tutour of Immerraw ; Duncan Campbell, his sone ; Patrik Campbell, brother to the said Johne ; Lauchlane Campbell, brother-sone to the said Johne ; Archebald and Duncan Campbellis ; John Dow M^cGregour, brother to the Lard of M^cGregour; John Dow, Andro Dow, founes to vmq^{le} Ewine M^cGregour; Gre-gour M^cGregour and Johne Dow M^cGregour, founes to Allester Skorach; Patrik Makgregour, fone to Patrik Dow M^cGregour; and James M^cGregour, fone to Dun-can Glene.

¹ The Earl of Argyle is here pursued, as the King's Lieutenant of the bounds or district within which these Campbells and MacGregors resided ; in which capacity he had found security for the lawless tribes over whom he had command ; they in their turn becoming liable to him in relief, under separate bonds. ² He is designed James in the entry, Dec. 1. ³ The other pursuers, being the Master of E.'s tenants, are here enumerated, as having been injured by the Campbells and MacGregors.

PERSEWARIS, Alexander Elphinstone, brother to Robert Lord Elphinston, and others.

PRELOCOUTOURIS, Alexander Maister of Elphinstoun, Mr Alexander King, Mr Johnne Halyday. PRELOCOUTOURIS for the defenders, Mr Williame Oliphant, for Archibald Erle of Argyle; Mr Thomas Craig, for James Schaw of Sauchie; Mr Robert Lyntoun, for James Seytounne of Tilliebodie.

The Justice continewis, with consent of partie, to the xxj day of the said moneth of November.

Nov. 21.—The Justice assynis the first of December to the defenderis, to gif in thair defensis.

Dec. 1.—Comperit Johne Halyday and Mr Alexander King, prelocoutouris for James Maister of Elphinstoun and his Tennantes, as persewaris, aganis the Erll of Ergyll.—Comperit Mr Jolne Scharp and Williame Oliphant, as prelo-quantouris for the Erll of Ergyll and his cautioneris; and produccit the defensis, quhilk wes delyuerit to Mr Alexander King.

The Justice assignit the fewint day of December to ansuer.

Dec. 7.—Aufwers to the Defences were lodged. The Justice continewis the pronouncing Interlocoutour in the said mater literatorie.¹

Besieging Place of Ashintullie — Taking Prisoner, &c.

Nov. 24.—*SIR JAMES STEWART of Auchmadies,² *Sir James Stewart of Ballieachan, Patrik Butter, fear of Gormok,³ *James Stewart of Bodinschawis, *Robert Stewart of Facastell, *James Stewart of Force, David Donald of the Grange,⁴ *Alexander Robertfounne of Fafcallie, *Alexander Stewart of Cullelony, Patrik Blair of Ardblair,⁵ William Chalmer of Drumloch,⁶ James Ramfay of Ardbikie,⁷ George Campbell of Crwnan,⁸ William Wod funtyme of Latoune,⁹ David Campbell of Eister Denheid,¹⁰ *John Falow, younger in Balbrogie,¹¹ Robert Alexander in Cowper,¹² Colene Falow in Grange,¹³ Patrik Campbell of Kethlik,¹⁴ John Sowter in Cowper-grange, James Blair in Brunstounne, Sir Walter Rollok, tutour of Dumerub, Henrie Durhame in Falow, Johne Pitcairnis at the Mylne of Kilour, *David Arnot of Incheok, *George Cwneiftoun of Ettradour. Laurence Narne of Alliefargie, Archibald Herring of Drimny, Archibald Campbell of Perfar.

¹ No further notices are entered in the Record; so it is likely the matter had been privately compromised. ² Those marked * did not 'compear.' ³ Plegio, Domino Drumloch. ⁴ Plegio, Colene Falow in Grange. ⁵ Plegio, Laur. Merfar of Mekillour. ⁶ Plegio, Pat. Butter of Gormok. ⁷ Plegio, W^m Wod of Banblane. ⁸ Plegio, Byfchop of Brechin. ⁹ Plegio, James Ramfay of Ardbikie. ¹⁰ Plegio, Byfchop of Brechin. ¹¹ Plegio, eodem. ¹² Plegio, Bifchop of Brechin. ¹³ Plegio, eodem. ¹⁴ Plegio, Colene Campbell of Landy.

Dilatit for Affageing of the Place of Affintullie, and taking of Andro Spalding of Affintullie; committit in the moneth of November, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxvij yeiris.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoun, aduocat.

The aduocat produccit his Maiesteis Warrant, for continewatioun of the dyett to the xv of December nixtocum.—The Laird Arbokie and Williame Wod sumtyme of Latoun, now of Banblane, David Campbell of Denheid, Williame Chalmers of Drumlochy, Archibald Herring of Drimmy, offerit thame to Affyse; and disaffentit to the continewatioune; quhairvpoun thay askit instrumentis. Johne Pitcarne, att the Mylne of Innerkelour, askit instrumentis.—The famin day, Johnne Erll of Atholl, oft tymes callit as cautioner and fouirtie for Sir James Stewart of Auchmadeis, &c. to haif enterit and presented thame, &c. wes vnlawit for nocht entrie of the saidis Sir James, &c. for ilk ane of thame, in the pane of fyve hundreth merkis: Lykeas, the saidis persones principall, wer adjudgeit to be denunceit rebellis, and put to the horne, and all thair movabill guidis escheit, as fugitiues.

Adultery.

Nov. 25.—ALEXANDER HAY of Delgetie.

Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcairne, aduocat to our fouerane lord, produccit his hienes Lettres, purehest at his instance, to tak fouertie of Alexander Hay of Delgetie, that he sould haif compeirit this day and place, and vnderlyne the law for the cryme of Adulterie, committed be him (with Barbara Forbes, his allegeit spous).

Compeirit Mr Johnne Ruffell, aduocat, excusatorio nomine for the Laird of Delgatie, and allegeit na proces (lay) aganis the said Alexander, becaus he is deidlie feik, nocht abill to travell, and comperis lyand within my Lord Sinclairis place in Ravinfluik; and offeris to verifie the famin lauchfullie.—Comperit Mr Williame Murray, minister of Dyfert, as Minister of the parochin, quhair the Laird of Delgatie lyes, and being solempnlie sworne, depones, vpone certane knowlege, that the said Alexander was deidlie feik, and could nocht travell.—Compeirit lykwayis, Alexander Cryftie, bailzie of Dyfert, ane of the witneffis vfeit, deponet that the Laird of Delgatie is lyand bedfast, hevelie disseit, and nocht habill to travell.—Compeirit lykwayis, William Craig of Craightoun, and deponet that the said Alexander was lyand bedfast, and deidlie feik, as appeirit to him.

The aduocat defyrit that this dyet may be continewit to Tyfday, becaus the Minister and the witneffes hes nocht deponit constantlie of his feiknes; quhill that his Maiestie be aduerteist thairof, and direct Mediceneris to tak tryell thairof.

The Justice continewis this matter to the penult day of November instant; and ordanet the Laird of Delgetie to find new caution for his compeirance that day.

The famin day, compeirit Alexander Bonar of Balgirscho, and become pledge and fourtie for Alex^r Hay of Delgetie, that he fall compeir befor my Lord Justice and his deputis, in the Tolbuthe of Edinburghe, the penult day of November instant, in the hour of cause, in cais he be habil to travell, and vnderly the law for the cryme of Adulterie, committit with Barbara Forbes, his allegeit spous; vnder the panes contenit in the Actis of Parliament.

PRELOQUUTOIRIS for the pannel, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Williame Oliphant.

Nov. 29.—Comperit the Aduocat, and alledgeit that the Laird of Delgatteis cautioner aucht to be vulawit, and him selff aucht to be denunceit to the horne, for his non entrie this day; and the famin aucht nawyis be delayit, in respect of ony affoinzie¹ of feiknes; becaus the mater being continewit to this day, to the effect his Maiestie mycht direct ane Doctor of Medicine to visseit the defender, and to try his present estait, and to report the famin to my Lord Justice; I offer me to preif, be Mr Thomas Moriesoune, doctour of Medecine, quha, conforme to his Maiesteis command, hes visseit the Laird of Delgattie, that he mycht haif travellit and keipit this dyet without hasard of his lyffe; quhais declaratioune, being present, I desyre my Lord to ressaue. To the quhilk it is ansuerit, excusatorio nomine, as ofbefoir, that the Declaratioun of Doctor Moriesoun, in preiudice of the said Laird of Delgattie aucht nocht to be ressauit, for tua caussis: ffyrst, becaus it is dictum unius testis, quha, of the law, neque probat civiliter neque criminaliter, speciallic in sic a mater of grit consequens; nixt, becaus of the law testi non jurato non creditur: And trew it is, that Doctor Moriesoune wes nather directit in presens of partie to this effect, nor yit sworne in presens of partie; and quhatsumewir prewie directioun hes bene gewin to him extra-judiciallic, the famin can nawyis preiudge the Laird of Delgattie: Nixt, gewand² that his depositions mycht be ressauit, quhilk is altogidder denyit, and that the famin mycht mak faith, it is certane that the famen, of law, quod alleganti impedimentum danda est probatio et non contra; and trew it is, that the alledgance of the feiknes is proponit be Delgattie, quha, as he verifeit the famin vpoun Satterday last, be the Minister and twa witneses, conforme to the Act of Parliament and ordour obseruit in this Judgement; yit, as ofbefore, he offeris him to preif presentlie, the continewatioun of the said feiknes in the persoun of Delgattie, and that he is altogidder vnhabill to travell, without perrell of his lyffe; and in respect thairof hes tane medicine, and is presently vnder medicine; and this he offeris him to pruiiff be the depositions of ane famous Doctor, viz. Doctor Medicine,³ and the Testimoniall of Archibald Myddie, ypoticar, quha ministrat the said medicine.

¹ Essoyne, essoigne, Old Fr. An excuse for non-appearance in Court, &c., on oath that the party is sick, &c. ² Esto, allowing, or granting for the sake of argument. ³ An amusing mistake of the Clerk of Justiciary for 'Doctor Schomer.'

To the quhilk it is anfuerit be my Lord aduocat, that the fyrft alledgancē is nocht relevant, becaus the Kingis Maiefteis directioun in this caife aucht nawyis to be repute the deid of ane priuat partie, bot the command of the maift fouerane Judge: Nixt, the testimony of the faid Mr Thomas can nocht be rejectit, becaus he is allegeit singularis; becaus this is nocht ane mater of ordinar probatioun, quhilk mycht fall sub sensu communi omnium hominum indifferenter, bot may be only provin be Doctouris of Medicine, quibus et periti in sua arte capiendum est: Laft, the offer of the contrar Declaratioun can nawyis be reſpectit, becaus it is procureit be the defender, to eſchew the tryall of ane haynous cryme; and the taking of medicine imports na feiknes. As to the faid Mr Thomas aith, it could nocht be properlie tane, quhill now, that he is reddie to mak judiciall Report, conforme to his Maiefteis directioun; quhilk the perſewar produceis and deſyres to be red; craifand my Lord Juſtice anfuer thairto, and that his lordſhip will haif regard that the faid Mr Thomas, in this caife, is testis omni exceptione major; being knawin to haif ſpent mony yeiris in the ſtudie of his ordinar courſe of medicine, and to haif paſt the haill degreis thairrof.

The faid Warrant being red, the Aduocat took instrumentis thairupoun.

THE faid MR THOMAS MORIESOUNE, s^r.¹ doctor of medicine, being ſworne, declarit, that on command of his Maiefteis Commiſſioun, he paſt vpon Mounday laſt to Ravinſheuch, and betuix thre and four houris eſtir none fand the Laird Delgattie lyand on his bed: He declarit his commiſſioun to him fra his Maieſtie, inquyrit the cauſe of his diſeiſe, quhilk he declarit was ane indigeſtioun and eruditie of his ſtommok, with ſchottis² throw his body, quhilk he ſaid was be exces and travell; to the quhilk the Doctour eikit,³ that intemperance helpitt itt: And forder declaris, that he fand him feik and deſyrit him to tak medicine; and thinkis, he wald haif bene war⁴ of his trauell; and nochttheles, be his opinioun, he mycht haif travellit to Edinburgh to this dyett, without danger of his lyfe.

MR MARTENE SCHOMER, Doctor of Medicine, being ſworne, deponit, that the Lady Delgattie being heir in Edinburgh, ermiſtly deſyrit the deponer to paſs to hir huſband in Ravenſheuch, quhair ſche affermit he wes deidlie feik: He tuik Ar^d Mwdie, ipoticar, with him, with ſic remedeis as he thoect agreabill for the feiknes declarit be his wyffe: Thay come vponn the xxviij day of this inſtant to Ravinſheuch, quhair thay fand the Laird of Delgattie, verry heavelie diſcaſit, tormentit with vehement painis in his ſtommok and in his melt,⁵ with ane grit ſqualling of his haill belly, that he mycht not ſuffir him to tuich his bellie, ſtommok, nor melt: Thairvponne, for remedie of his neceſſitie, inſtantlie he gart gif him ane cleiſter, and applyit ſicyke, fomentationis to his melt, maid vnetioune of vleis,⁶ and left the poticar with him to miniſter ſic medicines as ar neceſſar for him. And in end, declaris vponne his conſcience, as for the preſent as he fand him, he mycht nocht travell to Edinburgh, 3e^r he mycht not ſet vp in his bed, for dolour, nor mycht nocht cum to the ſture: And declarit, that he cam fra the Laird of Delgattie this laſt nycht, att midnycht.

And forder, the procuratouris for the faid Laird of Delgattie ſend for Ar^d. Mwdie, ipoticar to the doctor; quhilk thay deſyrit to remane in proceſs.

The Juſtice continewis this mater to Fryday the fyrſt of December.—Alex^r Bonar of Balgirſcho became ſurety for his appearance, ‘ gif he be abill to travell.’

¹ Probably ſenior.

² Now termed ſhooting pains, or ſpasmis.

³ Added, ſubjoined.

⁴ Worse.

⁵ The ſpleen.

⁶ Oils or unguents.

⁷ Yea.

Dec. 1.—The Justice continewis the mater to the third day of the nixt Justice-air of Abirdene, or soner, vpoun xv dayis wairning, eftir he be convalett; in respect of the said Laird of Delgateis diseasé. Alex^r Bonar of Balgirscho became pledge and fouertie.¹

Bearing and Clearing of Pistolets.

Dec. 9.—SIR JAMES DUNDAS of Arnestoun, knycht.

Dilatit for contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in bering and weiring of pistolettis.

PRELOCUTORIS for the pannell, Mr Johne Sharpe, Mr Williame Oliphant, Mr John Moncreif.
PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltounne.

It is alledgeit be Sir James Dundas, that he can nocht be putt to the knowledge of ane Affyis for the cryme libellit, in respect of the limitation and exceptioun contenit in the Act of Parliament; be the quhilk it is promittit, that it fall be lesum to all men, in ganging, remaning and repairing to oistis, raidis and assembleis, to beir, weir and vse pistolettis: And trew it is, before the tyme lybellit, the said Sir James wes commandit be Williame Erle of Angus, being than Leutenant, as he is yitt, to accompany him, att ane Justice Court, appointit to be hauldin att Peblis, vpoun the nynt and tent dayes of October: ffor obedience of the quhilk command, the said Sir James did na wrang to provyde him selff of armour, vpoun the said aucht day; the said Sir James, att that tyme, being domestik feruitour² and proper dependor vpoun my Lord of Angus, lyke as he wes diuers zeiris ofbefore: And this alledgeance, safar as concernis my Lord of Angus command gewin to him, and the haulding of the said Justice Court, is offerit to be verifeit presentlie, be my Lord of Angus awin declaratioun, quha is personallie present. The Advocat answaris, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect alsweill of the place quhair the cryme is lybellit to be committit, to witt, in the hie way passand fra Nudrie to Kirklistounne, as in respect of the qualitic of the pannell nawayis duelland within the boundis of my Lord of Angus Leutenandrie; nathir can my Lord of Angus declaratioun be ressaunt in this cause, becaus his lordschip, in presens of my Lord Justice, hes raknit the said Sir James to be within degreis-defendand to his lordschip, baith in affinitie and confanguinitie: And his lordschip declaratioun ex post facto, in cais it mycht be ressaunt in this place, fra the quhilk the persewar altogidder disassentis, yit the famin can work nathing; becaus the Act of Parliament allowis allauerlie the wering of pistolettis, in ganging to Raidis and Proclamatiounis, and to perfonnes chargeit be his hienes Lettres and authoritie.

¹ See Feb. 15, 1600.

² This affords a striking illustration of the former definitions given of the word 'feruitour,' which by no means bears the modern interpretation of a menial or 'servant.' In this instance, a knight and baron, of considerable rank and power, is termed 'domestik feruitour;' and besides, the same person is described as being related to the Earl of Angus, 'baith in affinitie and confanguinitie.'

Before the Judgeis Interlocutour, the said Sir James Dundas past fra his alledgeance, albeit the famin may be ane sufficient reafoun to exeme him fra all penaltie : And fyrst, that his Maiestie fall nocht tak the said Sir James to be ane contradictour to his hienes lawis ; and secundlie, att my Lord of Angus speciall desyre, be quhais command he addrest him selff to Peblis, haifing the saidis pistolettis ; and als, speciallie confydand in his Maiesteis benignancie, he referring him in his Maiesteis will for this challenge. Quhairvpoun the Kingis aduocatt tuk instrumentis.

Besieging the Place of Assintullie.

Dec. 15.—PATRIK BUTTER of Gormock, &c.¹

Dilatit of the Assageing of the Place of Assintullie, &c.

This case was continued to 16. 19. 20. and 21 December ; on which last diet, the Justice continued it farther to the xxij December.²

Fire-raising—Theft—Woughing and Slaying Horses and Cattle.

Dec. 21.—WILLIAM ROISE of Kilrawick, Huchonne Roise his sone (and apperand air,) David Roise of Holm, John Rois in Cantray, David Rois in Lyne, Alex^r Roise in Lenocho, Alex^r Rois alias Roy, Walter Rois in Kilmany and Johne Rois in Rymoir.

Dilatit for the tressonable Byrning of George Dunbaris hous in Alwne (Clwne ?) and thifteous steling fra him of his hail lufycht, guidis and geir, worth twa thowfand markis ; of hoching of and slaying of ten horse and threfcoir of nolt, pertening to the said George Dunbar.

PERSEWAR.

Johne Dunbar of Meynes.

PRELOQUOTOUR for the pannell.

Mr Williame Oliphant.

Mr Williame Oliphant tuk instrumentis that the Laird of Moynes comperis to persew.—The pannell takis instrumentis of thair entrie, and protestit for releif of thair cautioneris ; and tuk instrumentis that na persoun comperit to persew, bot Johnne Dunbar of Moynes.

The famin (day) the said Johnne Dunbar in Meynes produceit ane Warrant, subscryuit be his Maiestie, vndaittit, ordanung the Justice and his deputis to desert the Lettres purchest be him selff and George Duubar in Clwne and William Falconer his guid-sone, aganis ALLANE CAMROUN of Locheldy (Lochiel ?) and his complices. Quhilk Warrant, the Justice wald nocht admit ; and ordanit the cautionn for reporting of the Lettres dewlie execute and indorsat vpoun thame, to be vnlawit, for nocht reporting thairof vpoun the said Allane and his complices, samony as the saidis Lettres are nocht execute vpoun.

¹ Vid. Nov. 24.

² No farther procedure appears on Record.

Thairefter, it wes alledgeit be the pannell, that na proces fould be gewin aganis thame, for ony cryme contenit in the Lettres, committit aganis the said George Dunbar and Williame Falconer; becaus thay compeir nocht, nather hes Johne Dunbar of Moynes ony interes to perfew; bot the cautione fand for perfuit of the saidis lettres, att the instance of the said George Dunbar (and) Williame Falconer, fould be vnlawit, for nocht perfuit thairof.—To the quhilk it wes anfuert be the said Johne Dunbar of Moynes, that he hes sufficient interes to perfew the haille crymis, seing the crymis wes done to him and vpoun his landis, and thay wer his tennentis; and he wes reddie to perfew for the haille crymes, and swa the cautione could nocht be vnlawit.

THE Justice findis that the said John Dunbar could nocht perfew the pannell for ony cryme that wes done aganis George Dunbar and Williame Falconer, bot for the burning allanerlie: And ordanis the cautione to be vnlawit for nocht perfuit of the lettres, safar as the samin concernis the said George Dunbar and William Falconer.

Therefter, before pronouncing of the Dome, Dischargeit to vnlaw the cautione for nocht appeiring and perfute of the lettres, bot the Assyse only, and Ordanit the Warrant vnderwritin to be insert and registrat in the buikis of Adiornall, quhair of the tenour followis.

· REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputis, We greit you weil: Forsamekill as þe xxij day of December instant is assignit to Allane Camroune of Bothell (Lochell?) and certane vperis of his clau and complices, for þair comperance befor you, to vnderlye our lawis for þe tresonabill Fyre-raising in þe duelling hous of George Dunbar in Clwne, and in ane vther coitter hous pertening to þe said George: Putting of violent handis on Mariorie Dunbar, his spous, and Isobell Dunbar, spous to Williame Falconer; and for þe maisterfull reif of certane guidis pertening to þame; and for diuerse vperis crymes specifeit in þe criminall lettres raist þairvpoun. Nochtwithstanding, for certane caussis moving vs, it is our Will, and We command you to desert þe said dyet, and desist fra all proceeding þairintill; dispensing with þe personall comperance of þe said Allane and his complices, as also with þe þerewaris and þair cautioneris for nocht reporting of þe criminall lettres dewlie execute and indorfat; And that þe deleit furth of þe buikis of our Adiornall the Act maid anent þe reporting of þe saidis Lettres; quhairthrow þe samin haif na effect nor executioun heirefter: Quhairanent thir presentis salbe vnto you ane Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyrudehous, þe xxij day of December 1598.

(Sic subfribitur) JAMES R.

[No Assisers appeared, in consequence of which thirty persons summoned, are 'ilkane of þame þairfoir unlawit, in þe pane of I^e merkis.']

The quhilk day Williame Rois of Kilrawik, &c. being enterit on pannell, as summond be vertew of our souerane lordis lettres, purchest at the instance of Johne Dunbar of Moynes, George Dunbar in Clune, William Falconer in Leth-inbar, to compeir this day and place, to haif vnderlyne the law, for cummyng with thair complices, to the nowmer of ij^c (200) men, brokkin men¹ and forneris,² all bodin in feir of weir,³ with bowis, dorlochis,⁴ twa handit swordis, steil-bonnetis, habershounes,⁵ lang hagbuttis⁶ and pistolettis, expreflie prohibite to be borne, worne, vsat or schot with, be the actis of Parliament and Secreit Counsale respectiue, vnder diuers panis contenit in the samyn; laitlie vpoune the aucht day of October instant, haifing confaut ane deidlie feid, raneour and malice aganis the saidis compleneris, come vnder sylence and cloude of nycht, be way of Brigancie⁷ and Hamefueken,⁸ to the said George Dunbar duelling hous in Clwne, pertening heritable to Johne Dunbar of Moynes; and thair, be thame selffis and thair said complices, of thair speciall caufing, hounding, sending, directioun, maintening, quarrelling, airt, pairt-taking, command, assistance and ratihabitoune,⁹ tressonable rasit fyre in the said George Dunbaris duelling hous in Clunne, and bigginges thair of: And nocht content thairwith, put violent handis in Mariorie Dunbar, spous to the said George, and in Iffobell Dunbar, spous to the said Williame Falconer, tyrrit¹⁰ thair claithes of thame, and schot¹¹ thame moder-nakit¹² furth of thair said duelling hous, befor the samyn was brynt and distroyit: The said Iffobell Dunbar, spous to the said W^m, being than lyand in grit dolour and distres of the birth of ane man-chyld, quhair of scho was delyuerit bot foure dayis ofbefoir; quhilk man-chyld, they but pitie or compaffioun, kait furth of the said hous to the mydding:¹³ Lyke as thay, at that samyn tyme, thisthouflie stall, concealit, reffet and away-tuk fra the said George Dunbar, furth of his said duelling hous, his hail infycht-pleneiffing,¹⁴ guidis and geir, extending to the valour and quantitie of twa thousand markis; togidder with ten horsis and threfoir of nolt, and maist schamefullie and vnworthelie hocht¹⁵ and slew aughtene ky and oxin pertening to the said George Dunbar, as his awin propir guidis and geir: And swa, they and ilk ane of thame war airt and pairt of the said crymes: As at mair lenth is contenit in the Lettres direct thairvpoune:—Offerit thame selffis reddie to abyde the tryell of the law and of ane Assyes, for the saidis alleget crymes, diffasenting fra all continewatioune: And in respect that na partie comperit to perfew thame, except the said Johne Dunbar of Moynes; nather yit was thair ane sufficient Assyis of thair rank summond to this day and place, to pas vpoune thair Assyis; bot as appeirit, of meir malice be the partie persewar, thay being maist innocent of the saidis crymes: And thairfoir, first, protestit for releiff of David Brodie of that Ilk, Patrik Dunbar of Couze, Johne Rois, sone to Angus Rois, burges of Narne, and Johne Rōis, provest of Narne, cautioneris and souerteis respectiue, summonit for thair entrie this day and place, to the effect foirsaid, be releiffit; quhilk was admittit: Lyke as also, that thay be nocht astrictit to fynd new cawtionne, for thair entrie gane, to vnderlye the law for the saidis crymes, seing thay haifing obeyit the charge of the saidis Lettres, and haifing cum sevin scoir of myles for tryell of thair innocencie of the saidis crymes; and the caus of delay of thair tryell proceeding fra the partie persewaris, quha nather comperit to persew, as said is, nor summond ane sufficient nowmer of Assyis, as said is: Lyke as, thay being presentlie content to abyde the tryell of ane Assyis of quhatsumevir personis at the bar. Quhilk protestationne the said Justice, for the caussis foirsaidis, admittit. Off the quhilkis, all and syndrie the premissis, thay askit notis (actis) and instrumentis.

¹ Broken men, outlaws, separated from every clan by their crimes, and depending upon plunder for their subsistence. Scatterlings is a synonymous word in English, and which Dr Johnson terms 'an elegant word.' ² Men who, without homes, secured free quarters to themselves by violence, and were a dreadful and merciless scourge to the poor and unprotected tenants and labourers of the ground. ³ In warlike array. ⁴ Short swords or daggers. ⁵ Habergeons, (awbyrchounes) coats of mail, composed of plate or chain mail, without sleeves. Grose, Jamieson. ⁶ A large kind of musket. ⁷ Open and violent robbery. Fr. briganderie. ⁸ Assault and violence done to a person in his own house or home. ⁹ Confirmation, ratification. Law Lat. Ratihabere, pro ratum habere. ¹⁰ Tare, rent. Fr. tirer. ¹¹ Pushed them by force. ¹² Stark-naked. ¹³ Midden, dunghill. ¹⁴ Household furniture, &c. spraichrie. ¹⁵ Hamstrung.

Slaughter.

Dec. 29.—JOHNE CREYCHTOUNE of Crawfordtoun, William Creychtoun, brother to Mr Robert C. of Carco, James Creychtoun, son to John C. of Crawfordtoun, and Williame M^cGowne in the Maynis of Crawfordtoun.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vni^q^{le} Patrik Maxwell, callit of Dalquhorne.

PERSEWAR, Mr Alexander Maxwell.

The Justice continewis this mater to the morne.

Dec. 30.—Continued to the Air of ‘Drumfreis tertio Itineris, vel super premonitione xv dierum.’

Slaughter—Wearing and Shooting of Pistolets.

Dec. 29.—JAMES CREYCHTOUNE, in Tounheid, sone to vni^q^{le} Williame Creychtoun, tutour of Sanquhar, and Johne Edzer of Ingliftoun.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vni^q^{le} Patrik Maxuell of Dalquhorno; and for contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in bering, wering and schuting with pistuletis; committit in the moneth of lastbypast.—Mr Robert Creychtoun of Carco, and Williame Creychtoun in the Tounhead of Sanchar, fined ‘ij^c merkis,’ and ‘fyve hundreth merkis,’ for non appearance of James Creychtoun and Johne Edzer, ‘to haif vnderlyne the law’ for the said crimes. Creychtoun and Edzer are adjudged to be denounced rebels, and ' all thair movabill guidis to be efcheit,' &c.

Slaughter.

Jan. 2. 1598-9.—ROBERT TULLOCH of Tannachie, Thomas Tulloch, his fone, and James Barelay in Mekill Tarrie.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Williame Dowglas, fone to Williame Dowglas of Erlifmylne.

PERSEWAR, W^m Dowglas of Erlifmyll.

PRELOQUITOUR, Mr Johne Scharp.

The pursuer produces the Letters duely executed. Comperit Mr Johne Scharp, excusatorio nomine for Patrik Dumbar of Blarie, as fouertie for Robert Tulloch, &c. and alledgis, in respect of the notorietic of the storme, thay being vpoun thair jurnay, thay can nocht compeir.

The Justice continewis to Furifday (Thurifday).

Jan. 4.—The pannell takis instrumentis of thair entrie, and protestit for releif of thair cautioneris.

Continued to the aire of ' Elgyne and Forres tertio Itineris, vel super premonitione xv dierum.'¹

Slaughter.

Jan. 4.—WILLIAM WOD of Baublane, (sumtyme of Latoune.)

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of umq^{le} Robert Frafer, (Unicorn Purfuivant; committit in the moneth of October yeiris.)

The said Laird of Latoune produceit ane Warrant, subfcriuit be the King and his Counfall, quhair of the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputtis, We greit you weil: Forfamekill as our vperis lettres ar purchest att pe instance of Katherene Rynde, the relict, with pe bairnis, kyn and freindis of vmq^{le} Robert Frafer, Vnicorne Purfevant, for calling of W^m Wod of Latoune befor you in your Tolbuith of Ed^r the fourt day of Januar instant, in pe hour of caus, to vuderlye pe law for alledgeit airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Robert; quhilk slauchter, amang mony vperis, wes committit in the feild struckkin betuix our rycht traitt consing George Erle of Huntlie and Archebald Erle of Argyle. And nochtwithstanding, for diuerse considerationis moving ws, We, in our lait Parliament haldin at Ed^r, the nyntene day of December, the 3eir of God I^mV^e fourfcoir sevintene 3eiris, haif Remittit and put in obliuione, all Slauchteris and crymes quhilkes war committit at pe said feild, or at any tyme preceding, sen pe first day of Majj, the 3eir of God I^mV^e fourfcoir tuelf 3eiris; swa that thay suld nawayis be callit in memorye be ws or ony of our subiectis, in ony tyme heirefter; putting pe samyn, with all actiounes, accusatiounes, pane, penaltie and puneishment following pairvpoune, in perpetuall obliuione: Quhairfoir, and in consideration of the premisses, it is oure wille, and we comand you, that incontenent efter pe sycht heirof ye desert the said dyet; swa that the said Williame

¹ Vide Mar. 3. 1598. and Mar. 8. 1600.

Wod nor his cawtioner be nawyis trublit, vnlawit nor adiudgeit for his nocht entrie, the said fourt day of Januar instant, or ony vther day þairefter, befor 3ow, for þe caus foirfaid, contenit in þe said act; dischargeing 3ow and 3our deputtis of all proceding pairintil and of 3our offices in þat pairt, be thir pre-fentis. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Dalkeith, the ferd day of Januar, the 3eir of God Im.Vc.lxxxvij 3eris.

(Sic subferibitur) JAMES REX. ANGUS. VCHILTRIE. ELPHINSTOUNE. SECRETARIUS.

The samin day, comperit William Dunbar, Minister of Dyke, and produceit the Letter vnderwrittin,¹ testifeing the inhabilitie of Alexander Tulloch, quhy he may nocht compeir this day; and thaireftir being sworne, he deponit, that Alex^r Tulloch wes vnhabill to travell without perrell of his lyffe; quhilck letter was subferyuit be the Moderatour of the Prisbeterie, viz. James Dundas, Mini-ster att Alve, and . . . Balfour, Minister at Narne.

THE Justice admittis the excuse, and ordanit the mater continew for the said Alex^r Tulloch to the thrid day of the air of the Shereffdome of Elgyne and Fores, or soner vponne fyftene dayis wairning. The said Robert Tulloch askit instrumentis, that the Guidman of Erlifmyll perfew him for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Williame, for the resfatt, and nocht for the actuall committing thairof.

Jan. 5.—The Justice nocht being throughlie avyfit, continewit it, to gif anfuer quhill this day; and ordanit the pannell to fynd cautionne for his entrie to the day and place, in the hour of caus, to vnderlye the law for the said cryme; quha fund Wod of Balbegeno, cawtioner and fouertie to the effect foir-faid, be vertew of our foverane lordis lettres, purchest at the iustance of Katherine Rynd, the relict, Joⁿ Frafer, eldest sone, with the remanent faderles bairnis, kyn and freindis of the said vmq^{le} Robert: The quhilck day, the said Joⁿ Frafer comperand as perfewar, and the said Williame Wod as defendar, quha protestit for releif of his cawtioner; the said Justice depute admittit his Majesteis Pre-cept, and Ordanit the dyet to desert. Quhairvponne the said W^m Wod askit actis and instrumentis.

Wearing and Shooting of Pistolets — Slaughter, &c.

Jan. 26.—JOHNE ARNOT of Wodmylne.

Dilatit for contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in bering, wering and sehuting with pistuletis vponne the ffeildis and landis of Wodmylne, at vmq^{le} Johne Murray, feruitour to Patrik Commendator of Lundores.²

The samin day, the said Johnne Arnot being enterit on pannell, declairit with ane sorrowful hairt for his offence committit aganis his Maiestie, and offence done to my Lord of Lundoris, nocht to contend aganis thame, or in ony foirt to irritat thame, quhome he is fory to haif offendit fa helie. He comperit in Judgement, nocht to mak ony defence, in his offence committit aganis his Maieftie, be vmbefetting and tranfgreffing of his lawis, in bering and wering of piftolettis, bot fimplie and humbly to cum in his Maiefteis clemencie and will; quhilk he offerit in all pointis to fulfil: And nocht only to obey his Maieftie thairanent, bot lykewyis to vnderly his Maiefteis will, concerning quhatfumewir fatisfactioun to be maid in all foirt of honoure and humbill obedience to my Lord of Lunderis, and Laird of Tillybairdin, as maifter and cheif to vmq^{le} Johne Murray; and in geir and vthirwyis to Charles Murray and his freindis, for Affythment of the Slauchter of the faid vmq^{le} Johne; quhairin abfolutlie I put my felff in his Maiefteis clemencie and will.

¹ This Letter does not appear in the Record.

² Continued from 23. and 24. Jan.

Quhairvpoun, the faid Mr Thomas Hammilton askit instrumentis.

The famin day, Sir Patrick Hepburne of Lufnes, knycht, and Johne Touris of Inverleith, become pledgis and fouirteis, coniunctlie and feveralie, for Johne Arnot Younger of Wodmyll, that he fall remane in waird within the tolbuith of Ed^r, and fall nocht depart furth thair of quhill his Maieftie declaris his will, in the quhilk he come, for bering and wering of Piftolettis; vnder the pane of Fyve thowfand merkis.

Umbefetting the Highway — Masterful Theft, &c.

Jan. 30.—GEORGE HOME in Aytoune.

Dilatit of vmbefetting of Williame Murray, burges of Ed^r, vpoune Coldinghame-mwre, and maifterfullie Steilling fra him of ane thowfand threfcoir fevin pundis iijf. iiijd. in gold and filuer.

Comperit Mr Daid Guthre, as preloquitour for W^m Murray, quha hes speciall interes in this mater; and defyrit this mater may continew, quhill the morne, that he may cum fufficientle instructit with probatiounes, that (he) can nocht haif for the present.—The pannell defyrit that he mycht be putt to the knowledge of ane Affyse of countrey men.

Jan. 31.—Comperit W^m Murray, merchand burges of Ed^r, and produceit ane Warrant, fubferyuit be the Kingis Maieftie; quhair of the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE CLARK and 3our deputtis, We greit 3ow weil. It is our will, and We command 3ow, that vpoune þe fycht heirof, to ftay and continew all proceding aganis George Home, for his allegeit reife fra W^m Murray, or putting of him to þe knowledge of an Affyis þairfoir, till 3e reffau our forder Warrant þairanent; keping him in fair waird in þe meyntyme. As 3e will anfuer to ws; keping þis present for 3our Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, At Ed^r, þe penult day of Januar, 1598.

(Sic fubferibitur)

JAMES REX.

Forging and uttering base coin — Treason.

Feb. 9.—ELSPETH SKIRLING, spous to Johne Hepburne induellare in

Sanct Marie Wynd, Marioune Hepburne hir dochter, Mariorie Fyn, dochter to Johnne Fyn in Bruntiland, and Helene Bruce, spous to Raff Wallace skynner, burges of Edinburgh.¹

Dilatit of the tressonabill Counterfitting, fforgeing and Prenting of false and adulterat testanis with the croce vpoune thame; and Outputting of the iamyn amangis our Souerane lordis liegis.

PERSEWAR, Mr Robert Lyntoune, substitute for our fouerane lordis Aduocat.

ASSISA.

Johne Mofman goldfmyth in Edr,	Hew Lyndefay goldfmyth,	James Trotter (fmyth),
Johne Cwninghame goldfmyth thair,	Thomas Smyth merchand,	James Crawford goldfmyth,
Williame Stalker goldfmyth thair,	Johne Hog in the Potter-raw,	Robert Vaus tailzeour,
Abrahame Hammiltoune fmyth,	Robert Thomfoune goldfmyth,	Dauid Heriot, goldfmyth,
Robert Cokkie goldfmyth thair,	Williame Harper merchand,	Robert Schaw stabler.

The quhilk day Elspett Skirling, &c. being enterit on pannell, dilatit and accusit, for airt, pairt, red and counfall of the tressonabill fforgeing, ffalcyfeing and prenting in calmis, maid of trie,² fillit vp with calk,³ of fals adulterat money, sic as Scottis testanis with the croce, to the similitude and liknes of our fouerane lordis trew money; quhilk thay, in the monethis of August and September lastbypast, and Februar instant, tressonablie fforgeit, counterfit and prentit within the duelling houffis respectiue of the said Elspett Skirling and Rauff Wallace, in Sanct Mary Wynd, and tressonablie outit⁴ the famin amangis our fouerane lordis liegis in Bruntyland, Edinburghe and Potter-raw: Quhilk craft of the falcifeing of the said money, the saidis Marioune Hepburne and Helene Bruce lernit be the instructionne of Hew Bruntoun Inglifinan, quha vsit and praktesit the famin in the saidis houffis, att Fafternis-ewin lastbypast: Lykeas, thay, att diuers and findry vtheris tymis, treasonablie fforgeit, prentit and Coinzeit ane number of the saidis fals testanis, quhilk wes outit be the said Mariory; committand thairby oppin Treassoun:—Wer putt to the knowlege of the Assyise aboue writtin; in quhais presens the saidis perfonnes, being accusit be dittay, of the crymes aboue writtin:

VERDICT. Eftir chesing, fwering and admitting of the quhilk Assyis, and accusatioun foirfaidis, the saidis perfonnes of Assyis past all furth of Court to ane loft in the Tolbuith, quhair thay chuse Williame Harper Chancillor of the Assyis, and reasonit and votit vpoun the pointes thairof, and being resolutit thairwith, re-enterit agane in Court, quhair thay, be the mouth of the said Chancillare, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said Elspett Skirling, Marioun Hepburne and Helene Bruce, to be culpable, ffylit and convict of the saidis crymes; and the said Marjory Fyn, to be acquit and innocent thairof.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk caus, the Justice-depute, be the mouth of Wil-

¹ See the Case of Rauff Wallace, Feb. 24, 1598-9. ² Wooden moulds. ³ Chalk, Lat. calx.
⁴ Vended, uttered, put out.

liame Blak dempftar, ordenit the saidis Elfpet Skirling, Marioun Hepburne and Helene Bruce, to be tane to the Castellhill of Edinburgh, and thair fyrst to be wirreit at ane staik, and thaireftir to be brunt in affis; and all thair movabill guidis to be efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vsê, as culpabill of the saidis crymes.

[Mr Robert Murray, Justice-Depute.]

Murder.

Feb. 13.—ALEXANDER SPENS, wobster (weaver) in Cruikstoun.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the crewall Murthour of vmq^{le} Johne Donald, Wobster in Cruikstoun.

PERSEWARIS, Christian Donald and Marioun Donald, as sifteris.

VERDICT. The Assyis, by the mouth of thair chancellor Williame Hoppriggill in Clentis, sfaund ' the said Alexander to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the crewall Murthour and slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Johne Donald, wobster in Cruikstoun; committit in the moneth of August lastbypast, vnder fylence and cloud of nycht, vpoune the landis of Cruikstoun.'

SENTENCE. The Justice-depute, be the mouth of Williame Blak dempftar, Ordanit the said Alexander Spens to be tane to the Castlehill of Edinburghe; and thair his heid to be striken fra his body; and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Slaughter.

Feb. 20.—ROBERT STEWART, brother german to Patrik Erll of Orknay and Sir Robert Creychtounne of Cluny, knycht.

The quhilk day comperit Mr Thomas Willfoune aduocat, and produceit our fouerane lordis lettres, dewlie execute and indorfat, purchest be George Meldrum apperand of Haltoun, Robert, Williame and Meldrum as fonis, with the kyne and freindis of vmq^{le} Mr Williame Meldrum of Montcoffer; for charging of Thomas Lewingstoun of Baldone, as cautioner for Robert Stewart, Brother-german to Patrik Erll of Orknay; and Johnne Creychtounne of Innernytie, as cautioner for Sir Robert Creychtounne of Cluny, knycht, to haif enterit and presentit thame this day and place, to haif vnderlyne the law for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Mr Williame Meldrum; and protestit that Alexander Lord Spynie, and David Lyndsay of Quarrelhill, cautioner for reporting and perfuit of the saidis lettres, be relewit. Quhilk wes admittit: quhairvpoun he askit instrumentis.

The samin day comperit Mr James Donaldfoune aduocat, and produceit his hienes Precept; quhair of the temour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and 3our deputis, We greit 3ow weil. Forfamekill as our vperis lettres ar purchest att pe instance of pe bairnis, kyn and freindis of vinq^{le} Mr Williame Meldrum of Montcoffer, for chargeing of Johne Creychtoun of Inuernytie, as cautioner and fouretie for Sir Robert Creychtoun of Cluny, kny^t, and Thomas Lewingftoun of Baldone, as cautioner and fouirtie for Robert Stewart, broper-german to our rycht traift coufing, Patrik Erll of Orknay, to entir and present pame before 3ow in our Tolbuith of Edinburghe, the tuentie day of Februar instant, in pe hour of caus, to vnderly our lawis for airt and part of pe Slauchter of pe said vinq^{le} Mr Williame Meldrum. For keping of pe quhilk dyet, as We ar credible informit, bayth the parteis intendis to mak grit convocatioun of pair freindis, and vperis our liegis; quhairvpoun grit inconvenient may enfew, to pe difquyeting of our peciabill subiectis and present estait; quhilk We haif thocht guid to prevent, be pe delay of pe perfsuif of pe said mater on the said day: Quhairfore, and for diuers vperis reasonabill cauffis and confideratiounis moving ws, it is our will, and We command 3ow, that incontinent, eftir the fycht heirof, 3e desert the said dyett, fwa that the saidis perfones, nor pair cautioneris, be nawyis callit, adijudget nor vnlawit for pair non comperance att pe said day, naper 3it the cautioner for reporting and perfsuit of pe saidis lettres be vnlawit, for nocht productioun pairof: Difchargeing 3ow of all proceding aganis the saidis perfones and pair cautioneris, on pe said day, of 3our offices in pat pairt; nochtwithftanding of pair nocht comperance and entrie; with the quhilk We dispens be pir presentis. Subferyuit with our hand, At Haliruidhous, the xx day of Februar, 1598.

(Sic fubfcribitur) JAMES R. W. ELPHINSTOUN. SECRETARIUS.

Quhilk Precept, the Justice admittit. Quhairvpoune the said Mr James Donaldfoune askit actis and instrumentis.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Forging and uttering base coin — Treason.

Feb. 24.—RAUFF WALLACE skynmer, burges of Edinburghe.¹

Dilatit for airt and part of the trefsonabill fforgeing and prenting of ffals and adulterat money, fik as fals Scottis testans and Inglis testanis.

PERSEWAR, Mr Robert Lyntoune aduocat-depute.

The Justice produceit the Warrant vnderwrittin, direct to him be his Maiefte; quhairof the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE Clark, aduocat and 3our deputtis, We greit 3ow weil: It is oure will, and We command 3ow, that incontinent, eftir pe fycht heirof, that 3e put Ralf Wallace, presentlie in waird, and dilatit of ffals cunzie, to pe knawledge of ane Affyis; and being conviet, that 3e fie him pwneift, according to his demereittis; as 3e will anfuer to ws pairanent. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halirudehous, the xxiiij day of Februar, 1598.

(Sic fubfcribitur)

JAMES REX.

The Aduocat produceit the Dittay, eftir chefing, fwering of the Affyfe, togidder with the Depofitiounis of Rauff Wallace and his fpous, and Marioune Hepburne for verifeing of the Dittay.

¹ See the Case of Elspeth Skirling, &c. Feb. 9, 1598-9.

ASSISA.

Hew Lyndefay goldfmyth,	Thomas Mulliegan merchand,	James Trotter fnyth,
Archebald Somerwell merchand,	Johne Giffert merchand,	Robert Vaus in St Marie Vynde,
Robert Thomfoune goldfmyth,	Johne Blak maltman,	Johne Coningham goldfmyth,
Robert Nicolfoune merchand,	Dauid Palmer goldfmyth,	Jo. 3oung tailzeour in the Cannogait,
Thomas Huchefoune sword-flipper,	Johne Chalmeris merchand,	Peter Spens dag-maker thair.

The said Rauff denyit the hail Dittay and his Depositionis; and declarit, that quhatewir he confest, it wes for tortour.—The Aduocat protestis for Wilfull errour, in cais thay acquit, in respect of his Confessioun.—The said Rauff produceit ane instrument of his declaratioune of innocencie, and that he deponit and confest all thingis be exquisite tortour.

VERDICT. The Assyse being convenit foliter allane, chose Johne Cwninghame chancillar, and past to reasoning vpoun the pointis of the said Dittay; and haifing votit and resoluit thairwith, callit the Justice to Judgement, quhair thay, be the mouth of the said Chancillar, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said Rauff to be Cleane and acquit of airt, pairt, red and counfall of the tressonabill Counterfitting, fforgeing, ffalceifeing and Prenting of fals and adulterat money, sic as fals Scotis testanis and Inglis testanis; quhilkis wer tressonablie (and) fallie counterfittet, forgeit and prentit, be Hew Bruntoune Inglisman, quha, in the monethis of Januar and Februar, in the 3eir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxxvij yeiris, before the ffeist of Fafternis ewin, caist the famin within the said Rauffis duelling hous in Sanct Marie Wynd, the said Rauff being present thairat: Lykeas he, eftir casting of the famin, trefonablie conceit the tressonabill prenting and forgeing thairof, and outing of the famin, be the said Hew Bruntoune and v^mq^{le} Helene Bruce, his (Rauff's) spous.—ITEM, ffand and pronunceit him to be ffylit and Convict, fforfamekill as he, knawing, that about Fafternis-ewin bygane ane yeir, v^mq^{le} Helene Bruce his spous was tane and apprehendit for the tressonabill outing of fals Inglis testanis, coinzeit be the said Hew Bruntoune Inglisman, within hir duelling hous; he, the nycht of the apprehending of hir, vnderstanding that the said Hew wes the cause of his apprehensioune, for outing of the said fals coinzie, tuik and apprehendit him, and nochtwithstanding thairof, he trefonablie patt him away, and wald nocht present him to Justice, he being maist giltie of the said trefonabill cryme; and thairby, he committit maist oppin and manifest Trefoune.

The whole persons of Assyis find Caution, ' that thay fall entir thair personis in waird, within the Tolbuith of Edinburghe, vpoun Tyisday nixtoeum, before nyne houris, ilk persoun vnder the pane of Fyve hundreth pundis; except Johnne Giffert, James Trotter, Robert Nicolfoune and Johne Blak, for ilk ane of thame, vnder the pane of Fyve hundreth merkis.

(Mar. 2.)—Rauff Wallace being presented on pannell, to haif hard Dome pronunceit aganis him, as he that wes convict of the taking of Hew Bruntoune, Inglifman, and latting of him to libertie, conforme to the convictionne, the said Rauff declarit, that he wald cum in his Maieftis will, for that thing quhair of he was convict ; and proteffit, that na wrang fould be down to him, feing, quhen he tuik the said Hew, he offerit him to Alexander Perfoun, Baillie, and thair-eftir he pait and focht the Bailleis of the Cannogait, quhom he could nocht gett ; and or¹ he returnit, the perfonis quhom-with he wes left, patt him away.

RAUFF WALLACE DOME.

(Mar. 3.)—The Justice-deput produceit ane Warrant, direct fra his Maieftie to him, to that effect ; quhair of the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice-clark and your deputis, We greit you weill. Forfamekill as Rauff Wallace, fkykker in Edinburgh, being laillie accusit, and put to the knowledge of ane Assyse, for certane tressonabill crymes of fals cunzie, prentit in his hous, for the quhilk his wyffe wes laillie execute, the said Rauff is convict be the said Assyis of the tressonabill taking and away-putting of Hew Bruntoune, Inglifman, forger and prenter of the said fals cunze, within the said Rauffis hous, knowing him gyltie pair of, at the tyme quhen the said Rauffis wyffe wes takyn in Leyth, ane zeir syne or pair-bye, for the outputting pair of ; and for the nocht presenting of the said fals cunzeour befor our Justice, to haif bene pwneit for his offence ; for the quhilk, the said Rauff come in our will : And We, being perfytelie informit, that the said Rauffis wyffe declarit vpoune hir conscience befor hir death, diuers tymes, befor the prenting of the said fals cunzie, and that he pat the said fals cunzeour away, for hyding and feir of detecting of his and his wyffes gyltines ; quhairbye he is worthie of extreme pwneifment. Thairfor it is oure will, and We command you, that ye hald Court, and gif and pronounce ye lyke dome aganis him, as was gevin aganis his vmq^{le} spous ; to be takyn furth to ane staik, and wirreit, quhill he be deid, and his bodie brunt in asses, quhill he be deid,¹ in exampill of vperis : And this on-nawis ye leve vndone : As ye will anfuer to us vpoune your obedience ; for the quhilk pir presentis falbe to you ane warrant. Subscryuit with our hand, Att Halyrudhous, the thrid day of Marche, 1598.

(Sic subscribitur)

JAMES REX.

According to the quhilk Warrant, the said Justice-depute, be the mouth of Williame Blak, dempstar of the said Court, decernit and ordanit the said Rauff Wallace to be tane to the Castell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair to be wirreit at ane staik quhill he be deid ; and thairefter his bodie to be brunt in asses ; and all his landis, heretage, and his movabill guidis, to be foirfalt and escheit, &c. as convict of the tressonabill taking and apprehending of the said Hew Bruntoune, Inglifman, quha cunzeit fals cunzie within the said Rauffis duelling-hous ; and nocht presenting him to Justice, conforme to the Act of convictionne.

Wilful Error on Assise.

Feb. 27.—THOMAS MILLIGAN, merchand-burges of Edinburgh, and fourteen others.

Dilatit, for airt and part, of the manifest and Wilfull Error committit be

¹ Before, ere.

² These four words are evidently a clerical repetition.

thame, being admittit vponne the Affyis of Rauff Wallace, fkyinner, &c. and Acquitting him of the fyrst point of the Dittay.—Continued to Mar. 2.

Mar. 2.—The case again continued to Mar. 9.

(Mar. 9.)—The Justice defertis the dyet, in respect that the Thesaurer and the Aduocat, being oft tymes callit to persew, comperit nocht; quhairuponne the persounes aboue writtin comperand, askit instrumentis.

Slaughter.

Mar. 3.—JAMES BARCLAY, in Mekill Tary.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the slauchter of vniq^{le} Williame Dowglas, sone to Williame Dowglas of Erlifmylne.¹

Comperit Mr James Dundas, chanter of Murray, and Minister of Aloo, and produceit the testimoniall.—The pannel takis instrumentis of his offer to ane Affyse; and protestis, that he be nocht trublit in tyme cuming.—Only seven Affisers appear, who, in like manner, protest, ‘that thay be nocht trublit in tyme cuming vpoun this Affyse; quhilk wes admittit.’—Testimonial subscriyuit be Mr Johnne Stratoune, Minister att Raffort, direct fra the Ministeris of the Presbiterie of Forres, of the dait, att the Kirk of Forres, the xv of Februar, 1598, testifeing that thay had sene the said Alexander (Tulloch, sone and apperand air to Robert Tulloch of Tannoquheis), and that he wes vnhabill to travell; quhilk excuise maid be the Minister of Aloes, togidder with the Testimoniall, the Justice admittit.—Continued to the thryd day of the nixt Justice-air of Elgyn and Forres, or soner, &c. on xv days wairning.

Slaughter.

Mar. 16.—PATRIK CAMPBELL of Kethik, Andro Sym, his seruand, Williame Spalding, in Kethik, and John Drummond of Coquhalzie, and five others.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the slauchter of vniq^{le} Williame Hay, sone to Williame Hay of Gourdie;² (committit vponne the secund day of Februare lastbypast, vponne set purpois, prouisionne, and foirthocht felonie).

PERSEWARIS, Andro Hay, apperand of Gourdy, Laurence, Robert, and Patrik Hay, as breyder, (brothers), Johnne Stewart, appeirand of Airtillie, Johnne Halyday, aduocat.

The cautioners for Campbell, Sym, and Spalding, who did not appear, are ‘amerciati in the pane of ffyve hundreth merkis’ for Campbell; and for each of the others, ‘ane hundreth merkis.’ The principal to be denounced rebels, &c.

The Justice continued this case ‘to the thrid day of the nixt Justice-aire of Perth, or soner, vponne fyftene dayis wairning.’

¹ See Jan. 4, 1598-9. ² See Mar. 20, 1598-9.

[Mr Williame Hart and Mr Robert Murray, Justices-Deputes.]

Theft.

Mar. 17.—ROBERT QUIHIPPO, indueller in Edinburgh.

Delaitit for certane crymes of Thift.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcairne, aduocat.

PRELOQUOUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Mr Thomas Craig, Cornelius Tennent, Williame Home, brother to Sir George, The Guidman of North Beruik, Mr Samuuell Home.

The Aduocat produceit the Warrant, direct fra his Maiestie, Ordaining him to infist in the perfute ; as also ane Warrant to the Justice, to proceed and minister Justice in the said mater, togidder with the Dittay.

It is allegit, that Mr Williame Hairt, as Justice, can nocht be Judge in this mater ; becaus his wyfe, callit Margaret Carnecors, and the Guidman of Gallowfcheillis, ar ferdis of kyn, viz. thair grandfyris ar tua brether : Quhilk rekning he offeris him to verifie instantlie, be gentillmen and vtheris witneffis vnsuspect ; in respect the Judge declairis he knawis nocht the rekning : Quhilk Guidman of Gallowfcheillis is partie in this caus, be this qualificatioune, viz. he purchest the Warrant fra his Maiestie, to tak the defender ; he assistit the Bailleis in taking of him ; he feit the officer to summond the Assyse ; and hes gevin the Aduocat informatioun ; and is vpgever of the Dittay.—The Aduocat answeris, the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, becaus thair is na vther partie or persewer heir bot him self, as Aduocat for his lienes entris ; nather can the Guidman of Gallowfcheillis haif ony entreis, in perfute of this Dittay : farder, repeitis the decisioum gevin in the action persewit be the aduocat aganis the Laird of Delgetie, in the lyk caice ; and the Interlocutour alreddie pronounceit vpon this alledgeance.

The Justice repellis the alledgeance, in respect the Aduocat is only persewer ; as also, that Mr Robert Murray is also Judge, aganis quhome thair is na declinatour.—Quhairvpoun the defender askit instrumentis, and protestit for remeid of law.

It is allegit be the defender, that he can nocht be put to ane Assyse, in respect that he (is) nocht deprehendit in a mater of Tressoun, nor in flagranti crimine ; and thairfoir, fould haif bene summond vpon a fyftene dayis wairning.—It is answerit be the Aduocat, the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the crymes set down in the Dittay, quhilkis, in Thift allanerlie, may be tryit summerlie without ony delay, according to the practik ; and the pannell is brocht to the bar out of the Kingis waird.

The Justice repellis, in respect the Dittay is only for thift ; quhairvpoun the Aduocat askit instrumentis.

The defender, of his awin consent, defyris Tyfday nixtocum, to the effect that he may cause the partes contentit in the Dittay compeir, and cleir the Dittay.—The aduocat takis instrumentis of the pannellis desyre, quhairby he eschewis present tryell, and craves proces.

The Justice ordanis proces.—The defender thaireftir desyrit, that feing my Lord Aduocat is nocht obleift to fueir ony Dittay, that thairfoir it may be knawin to the Justice befor the electioun of the Inqueist, gif ony partie vpon one of the articles contentit in the Dittay, will fueir the famin to be of veritie.—It is anfuerit be the Aduocat, the alledgeance meritis na anfuer.

Follows the ASSISE, and Objections to Assisers.

The aduocat takis instrumentis, that David Seytoun declairis, that thair is feid standing betuix him and the pannell.

It is allegit, that Alexander Dikfoun in Edgearno can nocht pass vpon the Assyse; becaus it is of veritie, that he was in companie with the Laird of Samelstoun, vpon the grund betuix Kidlaw and Newtown mylne, at the committing of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Williame Qulippo, the defenderis brother, quha was slane be the Laird of Samelstoun; for the quhilk the defender beiris feid aganis the said Alexander.—The Aduocat anfueris, that the allegeance aucht to be repellit, vnles the pannell wald allege, that the Assyfour was airt and pairt of the said slauchter for his hund vpoun the grund: He nocht geving assistance to Samelstoun in the fact, can work nathing aganis him; nather the pannellis beiring of feid aganis the assyfour, vnles thair was ane just caus of feid gevin be the assyfour.—To the quhilk it is anfuerit, that gif the said Alexander was to be accuset criminallic vpon his lyfe at the same defenderis instance, as being vpon the grund the tyme of the committing of the said slauchter, and sua being airt and pairt thairof, na Assyse could clange him; and consequentlie, he can naways be sufferit to pas vpon this Assyse.—The Aduocat askit instrumentis, that Alexander Dikfoun being swoirne, declairis that he saw nevir the defenderis brother.—Alexander Dikfoun in Edgearno, being swoirne, deponis, that the day of the committing of the slauchter of this defenderis brother, thair being ane hunting apointit betuix the Laird of Samelstoun, elder, and the Laird of Colstoun, his maister, thay met; and the said Patrik Hammiltoun, now of Samelstoun, haifing huntit his haulk, and followit on horsbak, the rest being on fute, except the Lairdis of Colstoun, and Auld Samelstoun, and the said Patrik Hammiltoun following his haulk, forgadderit with the deponeris brother, and hurt him; and thaireftir came bak to the hunteris, and schew that he had allanerlie hurt him, and saw na forder; the said Patrik and the deponeris brother being a myle frome thame.

The pannell allegit, that Thomas Woid in Grange can nocht pass vpon this Assyse; becaus thair is blude betuix thame.—The said Thomas confessit the alledgeance to be trew.

It is allegit aganis The Laird of Rochlaw, that he can nocht pass vpon this Assyse; becaus the Laird of Rochlawis wyfe is thridis of kyn to the Laird of Spottiswoid; quhilk Laird of Spottiswoid, with the kyn and freindis, standis vnder deidlie feid with the defender, for the slauchter of the said Laird of Spottiswoidis brother.

It is allegit, that Archebald Geddes, younger, burges of Edinburgh, that thair was bluid betuix him and the defender.

It is allegit aganis James Lanfoun and Johne Reidpeth, that thair is deidlie feid standing betuix thame, and the defender vnreonceillit.—It is confest be the said James Lanfoun and Johnne Reidpeth, that thair beir the defender at evill will.

It is allegit aganis George Rutherford, that he is the Laird of Sesfuirdis man, quha is partaker of the Laird of Spottiswoidis feid.

The Aduocat takis instrumentis, that the pannell, out of his awin mouth, objectis aganis Mr James Home, fen being ane vnfreund to Hardeis, as pairtaker with him in his thift.

It is allegit aganis Patrik Hoppringill, that he can nawayis be vpon this Affyse; becaus thair is deidlie feid, standing as yet vnreconfeillit, betuix Williame Hoppringill, his brother sone, and the excipient, quha come and perfewit him for his lyfe, at the house of Blindley.—It is anfuert be the Aduocat, that the allegiance is nocht relevant, becaus it is nevir allegit, that Patrik Hoppringill is pairtaker of the feid, or that his brother-sone is at feid with the pannell, for his awin caufe: And as to his brotheris sones affifting of the Bailleis in his taking, that was lauchfull, and can impoirt na feid; ffordr, the alledgeance of kyn with the Guidman of Gallowfcheillis is generall.—The Aduocat takis instrumentis.

The pannell takis instrumentis, befor the reiding of the Dittay, that thair is na perfewer comperis to fweir the Dittay.—The Aduocat takis instrumentis, that he offeris to verifie the Dittay, and to caufe the Guidman of Gallowfcheillis fweir the famin to the Affyse: In respect quhairof, and of the notoriety of the pointis of the Dittay, in cais that thair chainge, protestis for Wilfull Error aganis the Affyse.

The Aduocat protestis, that the allegiances maid be the defender may be minutit, to the effect that it may be schawin to the Kingis Maiestie, quhidder this Judgement be lauchfullie vsct or abusct.

For verificatioun of the Dittay, the Aduocat producet ane Miffaue Lettre, direct be Sir Williame Seytoun to the Laird of Traquair.

THE quhilk day, Robert Quhippo, burges of Edinburghe, being enterit on pannell, perfewit and accusct be Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcairne, aduocat, of the crymes eftir specifct; that is to say:

THE DITTAY against Robert Quhippo.

(1.) FOR airt and part of the thifteous Steilling, conceilling, refcting and away-taking of ane blak meir and ane broun horfe, pertening to Baldie Watt in Adinstoun, furth of the landis thairof; committit with his complices, in the moneth of November I^m.V^c. fourfcoir sevintene yeiris.—(2.) ITEM, ffor airt and pair of the thifteous Steilling, conceilling, refcting and away-taking of ten oxin and fyve ky, furth of the landis of Soutray-barnes; quhilkis ky and oxin pertenit to Robert Wodell in Tranent, and was pasturand and in girfing vpon the saidis landis; committit in the moneth of August I^m.V^c. fourfcoir systene yeiris.—(3.) ITEM, fforfamekill as James Hoppringill, sone to Williame Hoppringill, haifing in the moneth of August, 1595 yeiris, delyuerit to the said Robert Quhippo the fowme of lxxxvij li. to be convoyit to George Hoppringill of Blindlie, for woll coft be the said James fra the said George: And in the meane tyme he consultit with James Hardie, his compaignoun, ane notorius theif, how he sould detene the said fowme; and agreit, that the said James sould sett vpon him at Wompla-buth, in his passing to Blindlie with the said siluer; lyke as, he meitand with him thair, causit the said James cut his claythis, as gif ane number of theifis had set vpon him and had tane the said siluer, with his naig frome him; with the quhilk siluer he nevir pairtit; bot, be confert, flaw the said siluer; and was airt and part with the said James Hardie in steilling thairof.—(4.) ITEM, fforfamekill as the said Robert, accompaneit with France¹ and France, brether to the Laird of

¹ French, Frank.

Thornydykis, came in the moneth of Februare or thairby, in the yeir of God, 1590, to vmq^{le} Thomas Bailleis duelling hous in Sanct Johnes Kirk, and thair brak vp the dur of the stable and thifteoullie ftaw, conceillit, reffet and away-tuik foure hors pertening to the said vmq^{le} Thomas, and convoyit the famin away with him; and he was airt and pairt of the thiftous steilling thairof.—(5.) ITEM, ffor famekill as the said Robert, accompaneit with dyuerse cowmone theifis, his complices, to the number of sax perfonis, on hors and fute, quhairof foure vpone hors and tua on fute, of the quhilk number Thomas Hardie in Boundmybrig was ane, all bodin in feir of weir,¹ with fuoidis, secreittis² and vtheris waponis invafive, laillie, vpone the xj day of Januar lastbypast, vnder fylence and clud of nycht, betuix fyve and sax houris at evin, as notorius briganes,³ vmbefet the way betuix the burgh of Edinburgh and toun of Leyth to Peter Paterfoun, fernitour to Johne Fyndlafoun burges of Dundie, as he was, in sober and quyet maner, gangand furth of the said burch to the toun of Leyth; and thair, with drawn fwoirdis fett vpone him, and gaif him dyuerse bouche fraikis,⁴ and maisterfullie ftaw, rest and away-tuik fra him tua batis, ane fwoird, ane pair of buitis, ane pair of spures, ane bonet-caice⁵ full of evidentis,⁶ ane nicht bonet,⁷ with tua pair of schankis,⁸ being thairintill; pertening to the said Johne Fyndlafoun.—(6.) LYKEAS, he, the famin nycht, betuix the houris foirfaidis, fet vpoune George Herper and George Martene, boitmen in Borrowstoun-nefe, as thay war passand in sober and quyet maner, fra the said burch of Edinburgh to the toun of Leyth, dredand na harme, &c. and maisterfullie ftaw, rest and away-tuik fra the said George Martene fourfcoir li. money; and fra the said George Herper, ane ten s. peace.—(7.) LYKEAS, he, the famin nycht, about the houris foirfaidis, maisterfullie fet vpoune dyuerse our fouerane lordis leigis, passand betuix the said burch of Edinburgh and toun of Leyth, and ftaw, rest and away-tuik fra thame thair cloikis and purffis.—(8.) ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the thiftious steilling, conceilling, reffeting and away-taking of thre ky, furth of the burch of Lynlythgw; quhilkis ky pertenit to Johne Tulloch smyth thair; committit in the moneth of September, anno 1596 yeiris.—(9.) ITEM, ffor airt and pairt of the thiftious steilling, conceilling, reffeting and away-taking of foure ky and twa oxin, pertening to Waterstoun, his awin man, in Kydlaw, furth of the toun and landis thairof; committit in July 1597 yeiris.—(10.) ITEM, ffor cowmoun thift, cowmone reffet of thift, inputting and outputting of thift, infang and outfang thift, fra laud to land, fra towne to contrie, baith auld and new.

VERDICT. The Justice-depute, eftir dyuerse allegeances maid be the said Robert and his preloquoutouris, quhairfoir the said Robert fould nocht be put to the knowlege of ane Assyse, for the saidis crymes, &c. pat the said Robert to the knowlege of ane Assyse; and he being accusit be Dittay in thair presens, quba denyit the famin, thay removit furth of Court to the Over-Tolbuthe of Edinburghe; quhair thay, being convenit thair allanes, ffirst, be pluralitie of voits choisit the said Mr Patrik Hepburne of Smetoune chanceller of the said Assyse, and thaireftir reffonit and voitit vpone the hail pointis of the said dittay; and being throughlie advyset thairwith, re-enterit agane in Court, in presens of the saidis Justice-Deputis; quhair thay, be the maist pairt, be the mouth of the said Chanceller, stand, pronunceit and declairit the said Robert Quhippo to be Cleane, Innocent and Acquit of the hail crymes aboue writtin; except, that thai fand

¹ Warlike array.

² Chain-mail, secretly worn under the ordinary dress, 'Pyne doublets.'

³ Robbers, Fr. brigands.

⁴ Heavy, severe or deadly strokes.

⁵ Anglicè, 'Band-box?'

⁶ Title-deeds, vouchers, or legal documents.

⁷ Night-cap, Fr. bonnet-de-nuit.

⁸ Hose, stockings.

him culpabill and convict of airt and pairt of the theftious steilling, conceilling, reffeting and away-taking of ten oxin and fyve ky furth of the Landis of Soutray-barnes; quhilkis ky and oxin pertentit to the said Robert Weddell in Trauent, and was pasturand and in gerfing thair, vpon the saidis landis; committit in August, 1595 3eiris.—ITEM, of the airt and pairt of thiftious steilling, conceilling, reffetting and away-taking of foure hors fra vmq^{le} Thomas Bail3ie of St Johnes Kirk, furth of his stable thair; committit in the moneth of Februare or thairby, I^m.V^c.lxxx ten 3eiris.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk caus, the saidis Justice-Deputis, be the mouthe of Williame Blak dempster, Ordanit the said Robert to be tane to the Gibbet besyde the mercat croce of Edinburghe, and thairvpone to be hangit quhill he was deid; and all his moveabill guidis to be escheit, &c.

[Mr William Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Mar. 20.—GEORGE RATTRAY, seruitour to the Laird of Craighall, and Thomas Lathreis, cherurgeon in Perth.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Williame Hay, sone to Williame Hay of Gourdie.¹

The Aduocat protestit for Wilfull Errorr, in respect of the verificatioun of the cryme, and of his Confessioun, verifeit be the Laird of Auchey and Mr Patrik Hay.

VERDICT. The Assyis being chosin, sworne and admittit, remowit altogidder furth of Court, to the heich Tolbuith of Edinburghe, &c.; and be the mouth of Williame Dowglas of Erlismylne, chancillar, all in aue voce, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the saidis George Rattray and Thomas Lathreis to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of airt and pairt of the crewall Slauchter of vmq^{le} Williame Hay, sone to Williame Hay of Gourdie; committit in the moneth of Februar lastbypast, within Andro Gybis duelling hous in Perth.

SENTENCE. To be tane to the mercat croce of Edinburgh, and thair, thair heidis to be strikin fra thair bodeis; and all thair movabill guidis to be escheit and inbrocht to our souerane lordis vse.

Abiding from the Raid of Stirling—Forfeiture.

Apr. 20, 1599.—JAMES CONNELL in the Maynis of Fleminghill and Twelve others.

¹ 1598-9, Feb. 16. 'The Slauchter of William Hey, sone to the Gudeman of Gourdie, in Andro Gibis hous in the Kùkgait (of Perth), be the Laird of Craighall, Rettray and his complices. Thomas Lafreis chyrurgiane wes thair; quha sufferit for it.' Fleming's Chronicle, MS. Adv. Library. See also Mar. 16, 1598-9.

PERSĒWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcairne, aduocat.

PRELOQUUTOIRIS for the pannell, Mr Johnne Nicolfoune, Mr Richart Spens.

Comperit Johne Grahame of Knokdolian, and produceit our fouerane lordis lettres, deulie execute and indorsat, &c.—The Aduocat produceit ane Act of convietioune, of the dait the xiiij day of December, 1584, quhair the perfounes aboue writtin wer convict ffor thair contemptibill (contemptuous) remaning fra the Raid of Striuiling, quhilk wes in the moneth of Apryll, 1584 yeiris; and defyrit dome to be pronunceit aganis thame, as thay that wer convict in maner foirfaid.—The pannell askis instrumentis, that thay defyre the Aduocattis aith, quhidder the Laird of Knokdoliane be his informer or nocht: And als, alledgis that he is informer of the aduocat in this perfuit, and that he wes present att the bar for the said purpois; and defyrit the Laird of Knokdolianis aith thairvpoune; quhairvpoune he askit instrumentis.

The Justice findis that the Aduocat fould nocht gif his aith, nor yit declair quha fould be his informer.

Alledgit that na dome can be pronunceit aganis Johnne Wrycht in Bankhous, becaus he wes nocht convict of the cryme quhair of the rest wes convict.—The Aduocat in the contrair.

It is alledgit for the hail pannell, that na dome of fforfaltour can be pronunceit aganis thame, vpoun the convietioune produceit; becaus the famin is gewin and pronunceit in the 3eir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxiiij 3eir, fen the quhilk tyme oure fouerane lord, with auise of his estaitis in Parliament, in the moneth of December, 1585 yeiris, hes be expres Act of Parliament annullit all crymes and offences committit aganis his Maiestie, for the quhilkis his Maiestie may haif ony particuler interes, be quhatsumewir perfoun or perfounes, men or wemen, within this realme; and hes declarit the famin to be voyd, of the selff, and of nane avall, force nor effect; as att mair lenth is contenit in the fyrst article of the Pacificatioun maid att Lynlythgw, heirwith produceit; quhilk Pacificatioun, in all the heidis and articles thair of, is ratifeit and apprewit be his Maiestie and Estaitis of Parliament, in the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxvij yeiris, eftir his hieneis perfyte age: Lyke as also, in the famin Parliament, thair is ane generall abolitioune of all crymis and offences committit be quhatsumewir his hienes liegis, fen the tyme of his hienes Coronatioun, to the day and dait that may follow thairvpoun, maid and grantit to quhatsumewir personis: And trew it is, that the crymes contenit in the convietioune produceit, concernis his Maiesteis interes allanerlie; and the famin, with the convietiounis following thairvpoun, precedis the said Pacificatioun; and thairfore, be the expres prouisioun thair of, ar null of the selffis.—It is anfuert be the Aduocat, that the alledgeance is nawyis relevant, nather can it stay dome to be pronunceit aganis the pannell, conforme to the convictioun produceit ; becaus the Actis of Parliament, quhairvpoun the alledgeance is foundit, contenis only ane abolitioun of crymes committit be his Maieftis profellit rebellis, in the commoune trubles ; and is nawyis menit of sic as abaid att all tyme att his Maieftis obedience, and wer newir ather foirfalt, baneift, or demunceit rebellis, for the said commoune caus : For gif the said Act mycht be ane warrand to this pannell, it mycht also weill ferue to be remiffioun to all sic as ather committit thift, or oppreffioune, or transportit forbidden guidis, foirstallit victuallis, or regratit the mercatis, before the said Act, in the yeir of God, 1585, quhilk wer absurd ; and thairfore the pannell, newir haifing bene pairt-takeris of the commoun trubles, can nawyis inioy the benifite of the said Act, maid allanerlie for that caus, for fatling of the saidis trublis ; and nawyis to procure impunitie to sic as haifing abidden att his Maieftis obedience, hes committit ony crymes ; vtherwyis the said Act, quhilk wes maid for pacefeing of the countrey, and vniting of his hienes guid fubiectis, fould haif bene ane generall Remiffioun to all thewis, brigands, oppreffouris, and vtheris diforderit people of the countrey ; quhilk na man will alledge.

To the quhilk it is replyt, that the generall Abolitioun and Act of Pacificatioun hes twa pairtis ; ane thairof, quhilk is confaut in favouris of thay (thofe) profellit rebellis contenit in the anfueris, sic as repoffeffioun of thay perfounes difpoffest for the commoune caus ; vpoun the quhilk pairt of the Pacificatioun the defenderis alledgeance is nocht foundit : The fecund pairt thairof is maid and confaut in favouris of the hail liegis ; be the quhilk, all crymes, offences and attemptis, committit aganis his Maieftie, and for the quhilk his hienes hes particuler interes allanerlie, ar altogidder annullit and aboleifchit ; except the speciall crymes and speciall perfounes committeris thairof, mentionat in the saidis Actis of Pacificatioun and Abolitioun ; quhilk exceptioun makis the said law to be generall and vniverfall, to all kynd of crymes quhilkis ar nocht exceptit ; and it is na absurd thing to grant, that his Maieftie hes gewin ane pardoun and remiffioun to all crymes and offences mentionat in the said anfuer, quhen the famin is limitat to ane certane tyme ; and speciallie, quhen the famin is maid be his hienes with auife of Parliament, for eftableiffing of ane generall peax and quyetnes within the countrey : And quhen it is menit that thiftis, reiffis and oppreffiounes, be this constructioun, will fall be this Act of Pacificatioun ; it is anfuerit, that the saidis crymes concernis particuler parteis, and nocht the Kingis interes allanerlie ; and the parteis interes is nocht difchargeit be the said Act of Parliament ; and this cryme concernis the Kingis interes allanerlie.—It is anfuerit be the Aduocat, that the excepting of fun crymes in the Act, is only menit of crymes committit be the saidis perfounes aganis his Maieftie, the tyme of the commoun trubles ; nather can the famin Act be extendit to ony crymes committit be ony vther perfounes ; for it is notoure, that in all Justice Courtis, fen the yeir of God 1585, dittay hes bene tane, and tryall and pwneifment hes followit, for all foirt of crymes committit before the said Parliament, haldin in the 1585, be sic perfounes as wes nocht pairt-takeris of the commoun trubillis.

The Justice continewis Interloquoutour to the morne, and ordanis the perfonis comperand to find caution.

Apr. 21.—SENTENCE. The Justice Ordanit na proces againis Johnne Wrycht in Cabrokhill. The said Justice-depnte ffind, that Doune fuld be pronunceit aganis thame, in maner following : And be the mouth of Williame Blak dempftare, Ordanit that the saidis perfonis, and ilkane of thame, fuld fforfalt their landis, heritages, takkis, fteidingis, cornis, cattell, guidis and geir ; and the famyn to be efcheit, to our fouerane lordis vfe : And to pas in ward within our Tolbuith of Edinburghe, thairin to remane induring his hienes will ; as convict in ane Court of Justiciarie, haldin in the Tolbuith of Edinburghe, the said xvj day December, the 3eir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxiiij 3eiris foirsaid, be the vinq^{le} Mr Johnne Grahame Justice-depnte, for abyding fra our fouerane lordis oift, raid and airmye, quhilk wes ordanit be his hienes Proclamatioun to haue convenit at Halirudhous, in the moneth of Aprile, the 3eir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxiiij yeiris, and thairfra to haue past forduarde to the burgh of Striueling, for repreffing of the trefsonabill attemptatis of certane his Maieftis tratouris and rebellis, quhilkis had fupryfed the said burgh of Strineling and Castell thairof.

Using False Weights and Measures.

Maij 18.—JOHNE CARSTAIRS, citiner¹ in Sanct Androus.

Dilatit for contravening of the Actis of Parliament in vring of fals vechtis and mefouris.²

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne, aduocat to our fouerane lord.

PRELOQUOUTOURIS, Mr Johne Scharp, Mr Johne Ruffell, Mr Henry Balfour, Mr Robert Leremont.

Comperit Mr Robert Weymis, and produceit ane Precept, fubferyuit be his Maieftie, quhairof the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE-GENERALL and 3 our deputtis, We greit 3 ow hairtie weill. It is oure will, and We, for certane reffonabill cauffis and confiderationis moving ws, Command 3 ow and 3 our clarkis, to continew 3 our Court appoyntit to be haldin in our Tolbuith of Edinburgh, 3e xvij day of Maij instant, anent 3e accufatione led at 3e instance of our aduocat, aganis Johne Carstairis, merchand, citiner in Sanct

¹ Citizen.

² This Trial is inserted, not so much on account of any peculiar importance which the Editor attaches to the case ; but because it highly illustrates the constant importunities which must have been practised, in soliciting Warrants from the King ; and the strange vacillation displayed by him in granting these Precepts. It is altogether a ludicrous, as well as a melancholy instance, of the absurdity of the King's perpetual interference with the judicial proceedings of the country.

Androis, for þe cauffis contenit in our vperis lettres, direct furth þairanent : Dischargeing 3ow of all proceeding þairin aganis him or his cawtioner, vnto þe thrid day of þe nixt Justice air of our Sherefdome of Fyfe, or that he be wairnit of new agane vpoun fyftene dayis wairning : And that nocht-withstanding quhatfumevir Warrant, gevin or to be gevin to 3ow in the contrair ; quhairanent þir presentis falbe 3our Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, At Halyrudehous, the auchtene day of Maij, and of our regne þe xxxij yeir, 1599. (Sic subscribitur) JAMES REX.

Comperit the said Johne Carstairs, and produceit the Precept vnderwrittin.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and 3our deputtis, and our aduocat, We greit 3ow weil : Forfamekill as We vnderstand that our louit Johne Carstairs, merchand citiner in Sanct Androns, is, vpoune sinister repoir and informatioun maid of him, summond to vnderlye our lawis, for allegeit vsing of wrangous wechtis and meafouris : And feing, We perfytelie knaw the said Johne to be alwayes innocent of þe said cryme, and that the informaris name is nocht insert in the criminall lettres raist þairanent : Thairfor, it is our will, and We command 3ow, that nochtwithstanding þair of, in caise ony informar compeir in the said cause, that 3e insit in the persute þair of, minister justice þairintill, and put the samyn to þe knowledge of ane assyis ; and albeit na informar compeir in þe said mater, that 3it nochtwithstanding þair of, the Lettres being repoirtit, deulie execute and indorfat, 3e proceid þairintill and put þe samyn to the Tryell of ane Assyis ; and gif neid beis, that 3e cause summond ane assyis of sik persounes as ar presentlie within þis burch, or may be had at þe bar for þis effect : And sail3eing of the repoir of þe saidis lettres, that 3e direct na sik lettres aganis þe said Johne in ony tyme heirefter, vpoune ony sik informatioun, quhairbye the said Johne may be molestit or trublit, he and his freindis put to extraordinar chargeis and expensis, in attending vpoune ony sik dyet, in ony tyme heirefter : Quhairanent þir presentis falbe sufficient for 3our Warrant : And for 3our forder Warrant, it is our Will that þir presentis be registrate in þe buikis of Counsale, ad futuram rei memoriam. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyrudehous, the xvij day of Maij, 1599.

(Sic subscribitur)

JAMES REX.

THE BAILIE-DEPUTE of the Regality of St Andrews permitted to sit in judgement, with the Justice-depute.

Maij 19.—Comperit Mr Robert Leirmand as procuratour and depute for the Laird of Derrie, stewart of the Regalitie of Sanct Androns, and desyrit Johne Carstairs to be replegeit to the Regalitie of Sanct Androns ; at the leif, that the said Stewartis-depute, lauchfullie authoresit, may sitt in judgement with the Justice, according to the provisioun of the Act of Parliament.

The Justice refusis the Replegiatioun, becans the Kingis aduocat wes fyrst challanged before the Justice generall ; and Admittis Williame Leirmond, Baillie-depute, to sitt with him in Judgement, to see justice ministrat as efferis : Quhais rycht of Baillerie being sene, he satt down in judgement.

The aduocat askis instrumentis of the swering of the Assyse, and protestis for Wilfull Error in cais thay acquit.—The hail Assyse askit instrumentis, that nather witnes nor probatioun wes produceit to thame, for verificatioun of the dittay.

Comperit Mr Henrie Balfour, Aduocat, and produceit his Maiesteis Warrant, quhair of the teunour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and 3our deputtis, We greit 3ow weil. Seing, the mater criminall perfewit at our instance and our aduocat, aganis Johne Carstairs, citiner of Sanct Androis, wes continewit 5ifterday to be nyntene day of Maij instant, quhairanent We find our selfis indirectlie circumvenit;¹ and We being of deliberat mynde, that justice falbe ministrat indifferentlie to our haill liegis, to be effect that malefactoris may be pwneiflit, and sik as ar innocent may be defendit, be thair innocencie: Heirfoir, it is oure will and We commaund 5ow, that the said mater be put to the knowlege of ane Inqueist, without ony forder delay or continewatioune, the said xix day of Maij instant; and that 5e proceid and minister justice pairintill, as accordis of the laws: And in cais ony of the personis of the Inqueist summond to pass vpoune the Assyis be absent, that vperis be elected and chosin in pair place; nochtwithstanding ony letter, charge or directione, gevin or to be gevin be ws in the contrar. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyrudehous, the xix day of Maij, . . .

(Sic subscribitur) JAMES REX.

Comperit lykewyis, the samyn day, Mr Robert Lyntoune, substitute for Mr Thomas Hammiltoune aduocat to our souerane lord, and produceit his Maiesteis Warrant; off the quhilk the tennour followis.

REX,

MR THOMAS HAMMILTOUNE of Drumcarne, our aduocat: It is oure will, and We command 5ow, that 5e insist in our name in the perfeit of the lettres criminall, raisit at our instance aganis Johne Carstairs, citiner of Sanct Androis, for vsing of fals wechtis and mesouris, as is alledgeit: And that 5e sic the said mater be put to the knowlege of ane condigne Assyis, to the effect the veritie may be tryit, and justice ministrat as accordis of the law: As 5e will be answerabil to ws vpoune 5our dewtie and obedience, nochtwithstanding ony vther Letter gevin, or to be gevin be ws in the contrar. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyrudehous, the xix day of Maij, 1599.

(Sic subscribitur) JAMES REX.

Followis the DITTAY against John Carstairs.

THAT quhair, it is statute and ordenit be our souerane lordis maist nobill progenitour, King James the fourth, of worthie memorie, in his hienes Parliament, hauldin at Edinburghe, the xxvj day of Junij I^m.iij^o.lxxiiij (1474) yeiris, that all thai that vsis fals measouris and wechtis, dissaueand the pepill, sould be indytit as falsaris, and dittay ordanit to be takin thairof be the Justice Clark; as att mair lenth is contenit in the said Act of Parliament, off the dait aboue writtin; quhilk is ratifeit and approvin in all Parliamentis that ewir hes bene haldin sennyne be our souerane lord and his hienes maist noble progenitouris, of worthie memorie: Neuirtheles, it is of veritie, that the said Johne Carstairs hes maist fraudulentlie and fallie, contrar the tennour of the saidis Actis of Parliament, lawis and constitutiouns of this realme, daylie and continewallie thir sax yeiris lastbypast, in vsing of his industrie and traffique of merchandice, vsit wechtis and measouris, in bying, bloking and intaking of all foirt of geir fra the commoun peple, with grit wechtis and lang elvand,² far mair gritar and langar nor the commoun course of the countrey, and of the citie quhair he duellis, and throw all the mercatis of this realme quhair he hantis,³ frequentis, and makis his residence and mercats: And agane, in felling, weying, and gewing furth of the samin merchandice, wair and guidis, with les measouris and schortar elvand, to his hienes leigis: Lyke as, the said Johne Carstairs hes bein oft and diners tymes

¹ Circumvented, imposed upon.

² Elm-wand, or yard in measure.

³ Haunts, visits.

trappit and snairrit in his dowbill fraudes, falsfett and dissait, in vsing of the saidis fals wechtis and meafouris, bayth in the Citie of Sanct Androus, and in findrie vtheris our souerane lordis mercattis and publict places of this realme; and specialle, att findrie tymes, be Daudid Watsoun, deane of Gild of the said Citie, and his Gild breder; and at last wes acensit, tryit and conuict of the said cryme of falsfett and fraudulent vsing of the saidis fals wechtis and meafouris, before the said Deane of Gild and Gild breder, in the moneth of the 3eir of God I^m.V^c.lxxx 3eiris; as the conuictioun att mair lenth beiris.

VERDICT. The Affyis, be the mouth of Stevin Philp, merchand in Sanct Androis, thair chancillar, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said Johne Carftaris, to be Innocent and Acquit of the said crymes.

[CURIA JUSTICIARIE tenta in Templo de Falkland, xvj Junij 1599, per M. Wilelmum Haert et per Andream Meluile, Magistrum domus,¹ f.d.n. Regis.]

Assault within the Palace of Falkland.

Jun. 16.—MR PATRIK MYRTOUNE, ane of his Maiesteis Maister carveris, and JOHNE RAMSAY, ane of his Maiesteis familiar serwandis.²

DITTAY against Mr Patrik Myrtoune.

FORSAMEKILL as he, vpoune the tent day of Junij instant, being in his Maiesteis chalmer in the Palice of Falkland, and enterand in conference with Johnne Ramsay, ane vther of his Maiesteis familiar serwandis, efter sum contentious purpose past amangis thame, vusemelie for sik ane place, he nather regairdit the dewtie aucht to his Maiestie his souerane prince, as his borne subject, nather the mair strait obligatioune quhairby he was bund to his hienes, as his awin proper serwand; he tressonable and malitiousslie struike the said Johne Ramsay vpone the face with his hand, and gaif to him ane cuff,³ his Maiestie being in his cabinet within the said chalmer: And swa, alsweill in respect of the neirnes of the fact, committit sa neer his Maiesteis awin persoune, as that the samyn was done within his awin bed chalmer, he hes tressonable transgressit his hienes lawis and ¹ The Chamberlain and Master of the Household had jurisdiction in all offences committed within the King's Palace and certain bounds. The Lord High Constable had likewise similar powers, but more extensive than either of these other officers. Fortunately the whole facts in this very singular case have been pretty fully detailed in these proceedings. ² The well known Sir John Ramsay, (brother of George first Lord Ramsay of Dalhousie. He was afterwards created Viscount of Haddington, Lord Ramsay of Barns and of Melrose in Scotland, Baron Kingston upon Thames and Earl of Holderness in England. Ramsay, at that time one of the King's Pages, was the principal instrument in saving King James VI. from assassination, at Perth, on Aug. 5. 1600, when assaulted by Mr Alexander Ruthven, brother to the Earl of Gowrie. Ruthven was twice stabbed by Ramsay with his dagger and thrown down the staircase, where he was dispatched by Sir Thomas Erskine and Dr Hugh Herries. It was he also who subsequently rushed upon the Earl of Gowrie, and pierced him through the heart. See Trials for the GOWRIE CONSPIRACY, Aug. 22 and Nov. 1600, Aug. 12, 1600, Jun. 24, 1609, &c. ³ A slap or slight blow.

Actis of Parliament maid thairanent, and hes incurrit the panis thairof: Lyke as also, he vpoune the morne thairefter, being the elleuint day of the said moneth of Junij, vpoune ane new rencounter maid betuix the said Mr Patrik and the said Johne Ramfay, within the Inner cloise of the said Palace, his Maieftie being within the famyn, he maift contempteuflie and vndewtifullie drew his sword and preiffit to haif ftrykkin and flane the said Johne thairwith, gif he had nocht bene stayit be certane of his Maiefteis ferwandis, being thair present for the tyme; quhairbye, he hes also transgrefsit his lienes Actis of Parliament and Lawis of this realme, and hes incurrit the panis thairin contenit.

DITTAY against Johne Ramsay.

Forfamekill as he, vpoune the tent day of Junij instant, being in his Maiefteis bed-chalmer, within his Palice of Falkland, quhair his Maieftie was for the tyme, within the cabinet thairof; and haifing enterit in certane vnsemelie and contentious purposis, with Mr Patrik Myretoune, ane of his Maiefteis carveris; and he vndiferetioune of his language and behaviour, entering in sik quarrelling with vtheris;¹ and that in end, all dewtie being forget² on ather fydes; and nather respecting tyme, place, nor the neirnes of his Maiefteis awin persoune, the said Johne maift vнадwyfedlie and vndewtifullie gaif to the said Mr Patrik the ley;³ quhairvpoune the said Mr Patrik ftryking him with his awin hand vpoune the face, the said John thairbye contracting ane deidlie quarrell aganis him, vpoune the morne thairefter, the elleuint day of the said moneth; being resolut to revenge his particuler,⁴ without ony regaird of the Kingis Maiefteis honour and his awin dewtie, his Maieftie being his native Prince and gracious maifter; wilfullie and malitiouflie, vpoune set purpois and foirthocht fellonye, assailziet and invadit the said Mr Patrik within the Inner cloise of the said Palice, his Majestie being within the said Palice for the tyme, and tressonable struck the said Mr Patrik with ane batoune⁵ vpoune the arme and heid, and thairefter drew his sword to haif flane him thairwith, gif he had nocht bene stayit, be certane of his lienes gentlemen and ferwandis being present for the tyme: Quhairbye he has tressonable transgrefsit his lienes lawis and Actis of Parliament maid thairanent, and hes incurrit the panis thairin contenit.

PENSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne, aduocat to our fouerane lord.

ASSISA.

Andro Lundy of Conland,	Robert Arnot, Baillie in (of) James Boig, fellarman,
Mr Frances Bothwell, seruitour	Falkland,	James Blyth, in Falkland, to his Ma ^{tie} ,	William Henryfoun, seruitour to	James Lundie, seruitour to her
Johne Drummond, Ischar to his	his Ma ^{tie} ,	Ma ^{tie} ,
Ma ^{tie} ,	Johne Boig, Maister portour,	Robert Galbraith, Pantrieman,
Hary Balfour, seruitour to his	William Craig, ailman,	James Lyddell, Ypotifar.
Ma ^{tie} ,	John Awerie, in Falkland,

¹ Each other. ² Forgotten. ³ The lie. ⁴ Personal quarrel. ⁵ The blow with the baton was given to aggravate the previous offence, and to afford an opportunity of immediate combat.

Mr Patrik Myrtoune, eftir reiding of the Dittay, defyrit tryell to be tane of the Dittay laid to his charge ; and als, nochtwithftanding, he wald humblie fubmit him to his Maieftis will.—The faid Johne Ramsay, eftir reiding of the Dittay laid to his charge, declarit that he could nocht deny the Dittay, bot wald maift humblie fubmit him felff in his Maieftis will.—Quhairvpoune and the faid Mr Patrikis will, the faid Mr Thomas Hammiltoune askit instrumentis.

VERDICT. Quhilkis perfonis of Affyis being chofin, fworne and admittit, eftir the accufatioune of the faidis perfonis be dittay of the crymes refpective aboute writtin, removit furth of Court to ane quyet place of the faid kirk, quhair thay electit and chufe the faid Johne Drummond (of Slipperfeild) Chancillar, &c., and ffind, pronunceit and declarit the faid Mr Patrik Mortoune to be fyllit, culpabill and convict of the crymes aboute writtin, contenit in his Dittay : And als ffind, pronunceit and declarit the faid Johne Ramsay to be fyllit, culpabill and convict of the crymes aboute writtin, contenit in the Dittay foirfaid.¹

[Mr Robert Murray, Justice-depute.]

Theft of a Coffer with Writings, &c.

JUN. 21.—GRISSELL MATHOW, ferwand to James Seytoun, burges of Aberdene, and William Calder, workman in Abirdene.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the thifteous Steling of ane coffer with writtis and evidentis furth of the faid James (Seytounes) hous, pertening to Mr George Seytoun ; committit in the moneth of May lafbypaft.

James Seytoun takis instrumentis that Griffell Mathow was never feduceit to mak the Confessionis quhilkis ar writtin ; and alfo, that the thing that he confest befor the Sherefe of Abirdene and baillies thairof is trew, and he abydes at the famyn ; and farther, that the Depofitione, now producit, was maid in the faid James Setounis awin hous, quhair thair was na tortour nor ynes presentit to hir. Seho (Griffell Mathow) confeffis lykewyis, that feho maid that Confefiounne vncompellit. Eftir reding of the Dittay, feho ratefeit the faid Declaratiounne maid be hir ofbefoir, and confest the famyn to be of veritie.

William Calder declairis that he brocht the coffer down the flair.

Mr Alexander Peblis takis instrumentis, that thay declair thay maid the fame Depofitionis, abydes thairat and declairis the famyn to be of veritie.

DITTAY against Grissell Mathow and William Calder.

FORSAMEKILL as thay, in the moneth of May lafbypaft, being intifit and feduceit be James King, burges of Abirdene, to thifteoufflie steill and gif to him the maift fecreit coffer quhilk Mr George Seytoun, Tutour of Meldrum, had, standand in the faid James Seytoun's duelling hous in the Braidgait of ¹ The King's Will is not inserted, and no farther entries occur. Owing to Ramsay's youth and other circumstances, it is likely that both were placed under arrest for a short time. At all events, both of them were afterwards restored; and it is likely that they received a suitable reprimand.

Abirdene, with his gold and siluer being thairin; and the said Griffell being seruitrice within the said hous, and knawing the hail secretis thairof, after conference with the said James, sche desyrit him to cum about ellewin houris att ewin, the nycht of the away-taking thairof, to the said James duelling hous; and thair sche sould delyuer to him the maist secret coffer quhilk the said Mr George vsit; sche supponing that his gold and siluer wes thairin: Lyke as, the said James, accompaneit with the said Williame Calder, in the moneth of May lastbypast, vnder sylence and cloud of nycht, about xj houris att ewin or thairby, come to the said James Seytounis duelling hous, to ane chalmer vpoun the turnpyke heid thairof, quhair thair wes ane new coffer, bandit with quhyte irne, pertening to the said Mr George, standand, and thair the said Griffell delyuerit the said coffer to the said Williame, quha brocht the samyn doun to the hall dure, quhair the said James King was standand; and thairfra 5e and he thifteoullie concealit, ressett and away-tuke the said coffer, quhairin thair wes certane writtis and euidentis, doun the stair; and convoyit the samyn furth of the turnpyke 3ett, doun the cloise, and throw Capitan Keiris 3aird and to Fyveis wallis, quhair thay fett doun and brak vp the fyde thairof with ane quhingar,¹ and thifteoullie stall and away-tuke furth of the samyn, twa bunfchis of letteris and writtis: And swa, thay and ayther² of thame ar airt and pairt of the thifteous steilling thairof, concealing, ressettting and away taking of the samyn coffer, with the writtis thairin, furth of the said James duelling hous: Quhilk coffer pertenet to the said Mr George, as said is, as wes notourlie knawin.

VERDICT. The Assyis being chofin, sworne and admittit, and in thair presens the saidis Griffell Mathow and Williame Calder accusit be Dittay; and eftir thar Depositionis, maid att Abirdene the sewint, and att Edinburghe the xiiij dayes respectiue of Junij instant, quhairin thay confest the hail Dittay aboue written, wer produceit to thame, for verifeing thairof; and efter reding thairof in thair audience, the saidis persounes remowit furth of Court to ane quyett pairt of the said Tolbuyth, &c.; and be the mouth of Patrick Con of Auchry, chancillar, stand, pronunceit and declarit the saidis Griffell Mathow and Williame Calder to be culpabill, ffylit and convict, &c.: Quhairvpoun the said James Seytounne askit actis and instrumentis.

[Mr William Hairt and Mr Robert Murray, Justices-deputes.]

JUNE 23.—SENTENCE. The Justice-deputtis, be the mouth of Williame Blak, dempstar, decernit and ordanit the said Grissell (Mathow) to be tane to the North Loch of Edinburghe, and thair DROWNIT³ quhill scho be deid; and all hir movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

[Mr Robert Murray, Justice-depute.]

JUN. 27.—The Justice Depute Decernit and ordanit the said Williame Calder to be skourgit throw the burch of Edinburghe, and Baneist the said Burch, and lykewayis baneist the burch of Abirdene; and never to returne within the said burrowis, vnder the pane of deid.

¹ A short sword, hanger or cutlass. ² 'Ik-ane,' each, either. ³ This is the first, perhaps the only instance, of sentence of Drowning, pronounced during the reign of James VI. by the High Court of Justiciary. It was common in all Regality and Barony Courts, having a feudal right of 'pit and gallows,' to inflict death upon women in this manner. The North Loch of Edinburgh was the scene of execution, in all such cases, where sentence was pronounced by the Baillies of Edinburgh, or by the Baillie of Regality of Broughton. The bones of some of the culprits have often been turned up, when the surface of the ground required to be disturbed.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Bearing of Pistolets — Slaughter.

Jun. 23.—PATRIK DUNBAR, sone to Johne Dunbar of Leacht.

PERSEWAR, John Tait, as broder to the said v^mq^{le} Charles Tait.

PRELOQUUTOUR for the pannell, Mr Johne Nicolfoune.

The quhilk day, anent the crinniall actiounes and cause, persewit in ane Court of Justiciarie, haldin in the Tolbuith of Edinburghe, the xxij day of Junij instant, at the instance of Johne Tait, as brother to v^mq^{le} Charlis Tait, younger of Adamehill, aganis Patrik Dunbar, brother to Johne Dunbar of Leacht, for contravening of our souerane lordis Actis of Parliament, in bering and weiring of pistuletis, vpoun the landis of Bar, Kilmarnok and toune thairof, vpoune the xxiiij, xxv, xxvj, xxvij, xxviii and penult dayes of October lastbypast; at the leift, in ane or vther of the saidis dayis: And siklyke, for airt and pairt of the felloune and crewall slauchter of the said v^mq^{le} Charlis Tait; committit vpoune the penult day of the said moneth of October lastbypast, with sword and schot of pistuletis in the toune of Kilmarnok, vpoune set purposis, provisiounes and foirthocht felonye: At the quhilk xxij day of Junij instant, the said Patrik comperand with Mr Johne Nicolfoun, his preloquutour, and enterand on pannell, conforme to aine charge gevin be vertew of our souerane lordis lettres, purchest at the instance of the said John Tait, to David Dunbar of Baldork as cawtioner, quha wes chargeit to enter him to vnderlye the law for the crymes foirfaidis; and alledgeit that na proces culd be led aganis him, for beiring, weiring and schuting of pistuletis; nather culd he be put to the knowlege of ane Assyis thairfoir: because he hes obtenit our souerane lordis Remissioune, vnder the Greit Seill, for the samyn: As the said Remissioune, of the dait, at Halyrudehous, the xx day of Februar, produceit, beiris: And siclyke, it was alledgeit be the said Patrik and his preloquutour, that na proces can be led aganis him, nather could he be put to the knowlege of ane Assyis, for airt and pairt of the slauchter of the said v^mq^{le} Charles Tait, becaus it is of veritie that the said v^mq^{le} Charles, being chargeit be Robert Giliuerie, messinger, vpoune the xxv day of March, the yeir of God I^m.V^c. lxxxvj yeiris; and that be vertew of our souerane lordis lettres, purchest at the instance of George Dunbar in Leshessok, as fader, with the remanent kyn and freindis of v^mq^{le} George Dunbar, seruitour for the tyme to James Chalmer of Gaitgirth, to haif fund sufficient cawtionne and fouertie to him that he suld haif comperit before our souerane lordis Justice or his deputis, in the Tolbuith of Edinburghe, the xxj day of Apryle nixt thaireftir, in the yeir of God foirfaid, and vnderlyne the law for airt and pairt of the slauchter of the said v^mq^{le} George Dunbar, in defalt of fynding of the said fouertie, and for his disobediencie and contemptiounes; the said Robert Giliuerie, messinger, be vertew of the saidis lettres, vpoune the secund day of the said moneth, past to the mercat croce of the burch of Air and thair lawfullie denunceit the said v^mq^{le} Charles Tait our fouerane lordis rebell, and put him to his hienes horne, as the extract of the saidis Lettres of Horning, dewlie execute, indorfat and registre, vnder the signe and subcriptionne mannall of Williame M^cKerrell, shereffe clark of Air, produceit to the saidis Jugeis, at mair lenth beris: And swa, the said v^mq^{le} Charles wes slayne att the horne.

With the quhilkis alledgeances, the said Justice depute, nocht being avyfit, continewit to pronounce his Interloquoutour thairin to this day and place; and ordanit the said Patrik Dunbar to find cautioune for his entrie; quha fand Williame Dunbar of Enterkyn cawtionne and fouertie for his comperance; lyke as, the said Patrik Dunbar, comperand and entrand on pannell this day, with the said Mr Johne Nicolfoune his preloquoutour, and the said Johne Tait, as persewar, oftymes callit, lawfull tyme of day biddin, and nocht comperand to persew, the said Justice Depute ffand be Interloquoutour na proces to be led aganis the said Patrik Dunbar, nather yit that he salbe put to the knowledge of ane Affyis for the crymes foirsaidis; in respect of the alledgeance abouewrittin, verefeit.

Slaughter.

Jul. 4.—ANGUS WILLIAMSOUNE alias M^cINTOSCH, in Termit, Johne and Angus his sonis, Lauchlane Williamfoune, George M^cCooneill Reoch, at the Brigend of Inuernes, and Allester M^cAchane VicGillichallum.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of v^mq^{le} Allester M^cRannald sone to Allane M^cRannald of Eifter Leyis.¹

The quhilk day, comperit David Hammiltoune, agent,² and produceit our fouerane lordis lettres, dewlie execute and indorfat, (except the summonding of ane Affyis,) purchest be Johne M^cRannald, sone and apperand air to Allan M^cRannald of Eifter Leyis, as brother, with the remanent kyn and freindis of v^mq^{le} Allester M^cRannald, sone to the said Allane, to tak fouertie of Lauchlane Williamfoune, alias M^cIntosche, &c., that thay sould haif comperit befor our fouerane lordis justice or his deputtis, this day and place, in the hour of cause, and vnderlyne the law, for airt and pairt of the slauchter of the said v^mq^{le} Allester M^cRannald. Quhairvpoun he askit instrumentis.

Comperit the samyn day, Angus Williamfoune of Tarnit, &c., and exponit and declarit, that thay war summond be Johne Rofs, messinger, and that be vertew of our fouerane lordis Lettres, purchest at the instance of Johne M^cRannald, sone and apperand air to Allane M^cRannald of Eifter Leyis, as brother, with the remanent kyn and freindis of v^mq^{le} Allester M^cRannald, sone to the said Allane, to fynd sufficient cawtioun and fouertie that thay fuld haif comperit befor our foueraue lordis Justice or his deputtis this day and place, in the hour of caufe, and vnderlyne the law for airt and pairt of the slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Allester M^cRannald; and thay, for obedience of the said charge, fstand Lauchlane M^cIntofche of Danachtan cawtioner and fouertie for thair entrie, to the effect foirfaid; ffor quhais relieff, and tryell of thair innocencie in the said cryme, thay comperit, as said is, and enterit on pannell; and protestit for relief of thair said cautioner: As lykewyis, offerit thame reddie to abyde the tryell of ane Assyis, and vnderlye the law for the said cryme; dissaffenting fra all continewatioune: In respect quhairof, and that na partie comperit to perfew thame, being oftymes callit, and lawfull tyme of day biddin, thay lykewyis protestit, that na lettres be grantit in tyme cuming, for trubling or fsummonding thame for the said cryme: Quhairvpoune thay askit actis and instrumentis.

¹ See Jul. 20, 1599.

² This is the earliest instance the Editor has met with of an Agent appearing, as procurator, at the bar of the Court of Justiciary.

[Mr Robert Murray, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Jul. 13.—JAMES GRAHAME, brother-german to vmq^{le} David Grahame of Fyntrie.

Dilatit for the slauchter of vmq^{le} Johne Crawford, seruitour for the tyme to vmq^{le} Robert Erle of Orknay; committit in the moneth of December yeiris, within the Kirkzaird of Fernay, vpoune fett purpois, provisioune and foirthocht felonye.

PERSEWAR, Marioune Boyes, relict.

The said James Grahame alledgeis, that he can nocht pass to ane Assyis, becaus he hes obtenit the Kingis Respect¹ for the said cryme, for the space of xix yeiris nixt, efter the dait thairof, quhilk is of the dait, at Falkland, the nynt day of July instant; and takis² him to the said Respect.—It is alledgeit be the persewar, that the said Respect is contrair the Actis of Parliament, and thairfoir is null in the selff; it being grantit, without satisfacioune of partie.—It is ansuerit be the pannell, that the grace³ of ane King can nocht be tane away be ane Act of Parliament; and the Kingis handis can nocht be clofit in granting of the samyn.

The Justice admittis the Respect, in respect the pannell is reddie to find cawtioun to satisfie⁴ the partie, as law will. Williame Stewart, brother to Johne Erle of Atholl, becomes fouirtie that he fall satisfie the said Marioune Boyes, persewar, as law will.

¹ Respite, dated at Falkland, Jul. 19. Assythment.

² Betakes.

³ Royal prerogative.

⁴ Viz. for the

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Jul. 20.—ALLANE M^cRANNALD of Eifter Leyis.¹

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the slauchteris of vmq^{le} Donald Williamfoune, in, and for the slauchter of vmq^{le} Alexander and Johne Hayis, in Kilrawik. PERSEWARIS, James Hay, sone lauchfull to vmq^{le} Alexander, and brother to vmq^{le} Johne, with thair remanent kyn and freindis ; Johne Williamfoune, as brother, with remanent kyn and freindis.

The pannell offerit him reddie to abyde the tryell of ane Assyis, and vnderlye the law, for the saidis slauchteris, dissaftenting fra all continewatioune : In respect quhairof, and that na partie comperit to insist in his persute, protestit first for releif of his cawtioneris, (Alexander Ruthvene, pensioner of Rofs, and Alexander Bayne, fear of Logie) ; as also, that he be nawyis trublit, persewit nor summond for the slauchter of the saidis personis in tymes cuming ; and lykewyis protestit that the dyet shuld desert.—The Justice ordanis this dyet to desert.

Slaughter.

Jul. 25.—WILLIAME AUCHINCRAW, in Swynwod-heucheid, Hary Crow (Auchincraw), in Eift Restoune.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} George Hwme of Spot ; committit in the moneth of September, the yeir of God, I^m.V^c.lxxxxj yeiris, vppone set purpois, provisioune and foirthocht fellowye.

Comperit Williame Home, brother to the Gudeman of Manderstoune, togidder with Jeane Hammiltoune, relict of vmq^{le} George Home of Spot, and Annas Home, dochter, and produceit our fouerane lordis lettres, dewlie execute and indorsat ; quhairvppone thay askit actis and instrumentis.

Patrik Cokburne, Tutour of Langtoune, called, as cautioner and fouerte for the saidis Williame and Hary ; lawfull tyme of day biddin, and nocht enterand, he was vulawit, and amerciat in the panis, contenit in the Actis of Parliament, viz^t ij^c markis, for non-entrie of each of the saidis Williame and Hary : Lyke as, the said Justice-depute adjudgeit the saidis Williame and Hary Auchincrawis to be denunceit our fouerane lordis rebellis, and put to the horne, and all thair movabill guidis ordanit to be efcheit and inbrocht to our fouerane lordis vse, as fugitiues fra his lienes lawis for the said cryme.

Forging and Counterfeiting, and Uttering Base Coin.

Nov. 24.—JOHNE MURRAY, Leiche,² in Dunfermling ; Walter Murray, his brother, in Creiff ; Williame Thomefoune, snyth, in Cowper-in-Angus ; Williame Sympfoune, seruitour to Arthour Snyth, in Qubitefeld ; and Thomas Frafer, in Banff.

¹ See Jul. 4, 1599.

² Physician.

Dilatit for airt, pairt, red and counfale of the tressonabill fforgeing, ffalfefeing and counterfitting of fals cunzie, sik as fals ten-schilling peiceis, twa-mark-peiceis, fyve-pund-peiceis, fyftie-schilling-peiceis, hat-peiceis, pistuletis and crownis.

ASSISA.

Johne Irving of Kynnok, Adame Wilfoune goldfmyth thair, Johne Mofman y^r, merchand thair, Hew Lyndefay goldfmyth in Ed^r, Andro Naper merchand in Ed^r, Danid Meldrum of Segie, Robert Fairlie goldfmyth thair, W^m Williamfoune merchand in Ed^r, George Mowtray of Seyfeild, R^t Thomfoune goldfmyth thair, James Crawford goldfmyth thair, W^m Stalker goldfmyth thair (Ed^r), Johne Lamb goldfmyth thair, Archibald Geddes merchand thair, Thomas Somervell maltman thair.

The aduocat takis instrumentis of the Confessioune of Johne and Walter Murrayis, of the first, secund and thrid poyntis of thair Dittay, and of Williame Sympfounis.—The aduocat takis instrumentis of Williame Thomesounis Confessioune of the fforgeing of the yrnis for prenting of fals pistuletis; and that he was airt and pairt thair of.—The aduocat takis instrumentis of Thomas Fraseris Confessioune of his knowlege of the cunzeing of the counterfit money, contenit in his Dittay; and of the conceling of the samyn fra the Kingis Maieftie and his Justice.

The Justice produceit the Warrant vnderwrittin, ordaning the samyn to be insert in proces; quhair of the tennour followis.

REX,

LORD JUSTICE and Justice-Clark, We greit 3ow hairtie weill. It is oure will, and be pir presentis, We desyre 3ow, concerning Johne Murray, brother to Walter Murray, tane laillie in Duunfermling, and dilatit of fals cunzie; becaus he first confessit and declarit pe veritie of his awin and his complices proceding pairin, he being convict with his complices for pe said cryme; that 3e moderat the dome aganis him, in maner and forme as efter followis, to wit, that he be Bancist pis our realme of Scotland, and decernit to pafs furth of pe same, within pe space of aucht dayis, and never to returne pairto agane, during all pe dayis of his lyfytyme, vnder pe pane of deid, to be execute aganis him with all rigour: And pis to be insert in 3our sentence; ffor the quhilk, pir presentis falbe 3our Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyrudehous, the xxiiij day of November, 1599.

(Sic subscribitur) JAMES REX.

Follow the DITTAYS against the whole Persons on Pannell.

JOHNE MURRAY and WALTER MURRAY, being enterit on pannell, Dilatit and aceussit of the crymes vnderwrittin, to wit, ffor the tressonabill outing¹ of fals and adulterat money, sik as x f. peiceis and twa mark peiceis, amangis our sonerane lordis liegis, to the similitude and likenes of his hienes trew money; quhilk fals money, extending to the sowme of xxiiij lib. money, the said Johne ressaunt fra George Drummond, saidler in Banff, to be outit twa 3eir syne or thairbye; quhair of he delyuerit ane pairt to the said Walter Murray, his brother, and thay passit throw fyndrie partis of the cuntrie about Banff and Turra, to haif outit the samyn; and haifing onlie outit ane few nowmer thair of, becaus thay war sa conspeckell,² that thay culd nocht pafs; the said Johne come bak to the said George Drummond, and delyuerit sa mony thair of as was nocht outit to him agane: Be outing and conceling of the quhilk fals cunze, thay and ather of thame committit Tressoune. ITEM, lykewyis for the tressonabill outing of fals and adulterat cunze, sik as fals fyve-pund peices, and fyftie-schilling peiceis, and dissaueing of our souerane lordis liegis thairbye; quhilkis Hans Johnstoune, Fleming and Thom Reid, his prenteis, of thair speciall counfale, directionne, outred and furneiffing, about twa 3eir fenfyne or thairbye, prentit in the places, (and) to the nowmer following, to wit : In the tonne of Kyn-cardyn, fyftie foure falſe fyftie-ſchilling peiceis : Item, in the Eift-ferrie of Dundie, xxxij fyftie-ſchilling peiceis ; quhilkis thay and the ſaid Hans pairtit amangis thame ; committand thairbye Treſſoune.—ITEM, The ſaid Johne and Walter Murrayis, and WILLIAME SYMPSONE, ſeruitour to Arthour Smyth, in Quhitfeild, being indytit and accuſit, for the treſſonabill ſforgeing and conceling of xiiij ſcoir of falſ Hat-peiceis, Crownis and Piſtuletis, quhilk the ſaid ARTHOUR SMYTH and Williame Sympſoune, of the ſpeciall command and counſale of the ſaidis Johne and Walter Murrayis, cunzeit about zule¹ laſtwas, of braſs, and delyuerit the ſamyn to the ſaid Walter, quhilk he brocht away with him to Dunfermling ; ffor the hundreth quhairof, he ſuld haif payit to the ſaid Arthour the ſowme of ten markis : And becauſe he had na money to pay thairfoir, he left with him ane plaid and ane pair of ſchankis, and promeiſt to gif him ane yrne ſtadie ;² quhilk wes done be the knowledge of the ſaid Johne Murray and Williame Sympſoune, quha treſſonablie conceillit the ſamyn ; and ſwa, committit oppin and maniſt Treſſoune.—WILLIAME THOMESOUNE, ſmyth in Cowper-in-Angus, being indytit and accuſit of art, pairt, red and counſale of the treſſonabill ſforgeing, cunzeit and prenting of falſ Piſtulettis, quhilkis George Drummond, ſaidler, and Arthour Mwle, gude-brother to the ſaid Williame, of the ſaid Williamis knowlege and conceilling, about twa zeir ſen fyne or thairbye, treſſonablie ſforgeit of braſs, in the burch of Perth, and vpoune the Craigis of Kynnogle ; ffor outred of the quhilk cunzie, the ſaid Arthour forgeit ane pair of yrnes for the prent of the ſaidis Piſtulettis, quhilk the ſaid Arthour Moule gravit about ane yeir fyne or thairbye ; and ſwa, the ſaid Williame treſſonablie conceillit the ſamyn.—Lykeas, THOMAS FRASER, ſtokker of Piſtulettis in Banff, being indytit and accuſit of the treſſonabill conceilling of the ſforgeing, prenting and counterfitting of xxx falſe Piſtulettis of braſs, to the ſimilitude of trew Piſtulettis, quhilkis Hanſe Johnſoune, Fleming, and vni^{le} Thomas Lathreis, cherurgean in Perth,³ and George Drummond, ſaidler, than indweller in Banff, about thre yeir ſenfyne or thairbye, cunzeit and prentit in the ſaid Thomas buith in Banff ; quhilkis Piſtulettis the ſaid Thomas ſaw vngyt ; be conceilling quhairof he committit Treſſoune.

¹ Vending, circulating, putting out, uttering.

² Kenspeckle, conspicuous, glaring.

VERDICT. For the quhilkis crymes, the ſaidis fyve perſonis, and ilkane of thame, was put to the knowledge of ane Aſſyis, of the perſonis (above) writtin, &c. ; and, efter cheiffing of the ſaid George Mowtray of Seyfeild chancellor, thay reſſonit and votit vpoune everrie poynt of the ſaidis crymes ; and being thruchlie avyſit, efter longe reſſoning and voiting thairin, &c. thay ſtand, pronunceit and declarit the ſaid Johne and Walter Murrayis, Williame Sympſoune, Williame Thomſoune and Thomas Fraſer, to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of the crymes of Treſſoune reſpectiue aboue writtin.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk cauſe, the ſaid Juſtice-depute, be the mouth of Robert Galbrayth, dempſtar of the ſaid Court, Ordanit the ſaid Walter Murray, Williame Sympſoune and Williame Thomſoune, to be tane to the Caſtell-hill of Edinburgh, and thair to be wyrrait at ane ſtaik, and thair bodeis to be brunt in aſſes ; and all thair landis, heritageis, takis, ſteidingis, rowmes, poſſeſſionis, to be forfeitit, eſcheit and inbrocht to our ſouerane lordis vſe : AND als, at command of our ſouerane lordis Precept, aboue written, Ordanit the ſaid Johne Murray to be Baneift this realme ; and to paſs furth thairof within aucht dayes ; and nevir to returne agane within the ſamyn, vnder the pane of deid : Quhilk was pronunceit aganis the ſaidis perſounes for Dome. And continewit the pronouncing of dome aganis the said Thomas Frafer, quhill he was forder avyfit thairwith.

¹ Yule, Chriſtmas. ² Stithy, a ſmith's anvil. ³ See his trial, Mar. 20, 1598. He was beheaded at the market-cross of Edinburgh, along with George Rattray, for manſlaughter.

‘ Oker’ — Taking usurious Interest.

Dec. 4.—WILLIAME WILLIAMSOUNE, merchand-burges of Edinburgh.

Dilatit of contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in taking of fyftene markis for the laue¹ of ilk hunder of foure hundreth markis, lent be him to Gylbert Maifertoun and Johnne Mofnan, merchandis burgefis of Edinburgh ; committit at the feiftis of Whitfounday and Martimes 1598, and Whitfounday 1589 yeiris ; and for taking of fyftene markis for the lane of ilk hundreth markis of fourtene hundreth markis, lent be him to Williame Scott of Balwerie ; (thairby) committand oker.²—Continued to Feb. 8.

‘ Oker’ — Taking usurious Interest.

Dec. 4.—MARGARET TINDALL (TINWALL), the relict of vmq^{le} Archibald Dowglas of Stanypeth.

Dilatit of Okeran, and contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in taking yeirlie of tuentie markis for the annuel-rent of ilk hunder merkis of fewin hundreth merkis, lent be hir to Johnne Harlaw, as principal, Robert Scott and Johnne Bannatyne, burgefis of Edinburgh, his cautioneris.—Continued to Feb. 8.³

[Mr Robert Murray, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Dec. 14.—ALEXANDER GUTHRIE, eldar of Kincaldrum, David Guthrie, younger of Kincaldrum, Johnne Rynd, younger of Kerse, Arthour Erskyn, portioner of Auchterforfar, Gedeon Guthrie, in Lytill Lowre, Williame Guthre of Langlandis of Guthrie, Alexander Guthrie, fear of that Ilk.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} James Guthrie, sone to Alexander Guthrie (elder) of that Ilk ; committit in Junij lastbypast.

PERSEWAR, Mr Robert Lyntoune, Aduocat substitute.

The Justice continewis this mater to the morne ; and the Affyse comperand, war wairnit personalie to compeir the morne ; ilk perfoun, vnder the pane of twa hundreth mark.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne, aduocat.

Dec. 15.—Continued to xvij of Dec. ; the Inqueist of new to compeir the said day.

Dec. 18.—Continued to the Justice-air of the sherefdome of Forfare, or soner vppone xv dayis wairning.

¹ Loan, usage or interest. ² Usury, extorting usurious or unlawful interest for the use of money lent. ³ No farther proceedings are recorded.

‘ The first Day of the Yeir appointit to be the first Day of Januar zeirle.’

[The following curious document, which was referred to in a Note to p. 1, (Mar. 15, 1568-9,) is now, for the first time, printed from the Records of the Privy Council. It was uniformly acted on throughout the kingdom after the first day of January, 1600.]

APUD HALIRUIDHOUS, xvij Decembris, lxxxix^o (1599.)

THE KINGIS MAIESTIE and Lordis of his Secreit Counfall, vnderstanding, that, in all vtheris weil governit commoun welthis and cuntreys, the first day of the zeir begynis zeirle vpoun the first day of Januare, commounlie callit ‘ NEW ZEIRIS DAY ;’ and that this realme, onlie, is different fra all vtheris, in the compt and reckning of the zeiris : And his Maiestie and Counfall, willing that thair falbe na disconformitie betuix his Maiestie, his realme, and liegis and vtheris nichtbouris cuntreys, in this particular ; bot that thay fall conforme thame selfis to the ordour and custum obseruit be all vtheris cuntreys ; especialie, feing the course and seasoun of the zeir is maist propir and ansuerabill thairto, and that the alteratioun thairof importis na hurte nor preiudice to ony partie : THAIRFOIR, his Maiestie, with aduise of the Lordis of his Secreit Counfall, Statutis and Ordanis, that, in all tyme cuning, the first day of the zeir sal begin, zeirle, vpoun the first day of Januar ; and thir presentis to tak executioun, vpoun the first day of Januare nixtoeum ; quhilk salbe the first day of the I^m. and sex hundreth zeir of God : And thairfoir, Ordanis and Commandis the Clerkis of his lienes Seflioun and Signet, the Directour and Writtaris to the Chancellerie and Preuey Seall, and all vtheris Jugeis, Writtaris, Notaris and Clerkis within this realme, that thay and euerie ane of thame, in all tyme heirefter, date all thair decreittis, infestmentis, charteris, seafingis, letteris and writtis quhatsumeur, according to this present ordinance ; compting the first day of the zeir, fra the first day of Januare zeirle ; and the first day of the I^m. and Vj^e zeir of God, fra the first day of Januare nixtoeum. And Ordanis publicatioun to be maid heirof, at the mercat-croceis of the heid burrowis of this realme ; quhairthrow, nane pretend ignorance of the fame.

Slaughter.

Dec. 19.—WILLIAME M^cINTOSCHIE of Esseich, Duncan M^cIntosche, sone to Lauchlane M^cIntosche of Donachtan, and others.

Comperit Mr Donald Campbell, and produceit our fouerane lordis lettres, deulie execute and indorsat, purchest be Allester M^cGregour of Glenfray, as Cheif and neir kynnisinan to vniq^{le} Patrik M^cGregour, in Cadderlie, Johnne Hay of Vrchye, as brother, with the kyn and freindis of vniq^{le} Williame Hay ; and siclyke, Johnne M^cConeill V^cIntailzeour, sone to vniq^{le} Donald M^cIntailzeour, in Barglas, and Donald M^cGilleis, as fader to v^mq^{le} Dowgall M^cGilleis ; to tak fouerte of Williame M^cIntofche of Effeich, Duncan M^cIntofche, fone to Lauchlane M^cIntofche of Donachtan, and diuers vtheris perfonis thairin contenit ; be the quhilkis Lettres, the faidis perfonis ar, vpoune the fevint day of December instant, denunceit rebellis, and put to the horne, in default of finding of fouerte, to haif comperit befor the Justice or his deputis, to haif vnderlyne the law for the slauchter of the faidis v^mq^{le} perfonis. Quhairvpoune he askit actis and instrumentis.

Shooting of Hagbutts and Pistolets — Ambesetting the Highway.

Dec. 27.—ALEXANDER BLAIR of Bagray.

Dilatit for beiring and weiring of hagbuttis and pistulettis, contrair the tenour of the Actis of Parliament, and vmbesetting of the hie gait and passage to Johne Creychtounne of Inuernytie, in his cuming hame to his duelling-place of Inuernytie, and sehuting of hagbuttis and pistulettis at him ; committit vpoun the xix day of September lastbypast.

Williame Bonar of Rossye become plege and fouertie for Alexander Blair of Bagray, that he fall compeir before our fouerane lordis Justice or his deputis, the thrid day of the nixt Justice-air of the sherefdome of Perth, or soner, vpoune xv dayis wairning, and vnderlye the law, &c.

Hamesucken — Slaughter.

Jan. 8, 1600.—THOMAS GAIRDYN of Legatstoune.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of v^mq^{le} Alexander Guthrie of that Ilk ; committit in the moneth of October, the yeir of God, I^m.V^c.lxxx and fēwin yeiris, be way of Hame-suckin, belyde the Place of Inuerpeffer, vpoune sett purpos, provisioune, auld feid and foirthocht felony.

PERSEWAR, Alexander Guthrie, younger of that Ilk.

The pannell produceit our fouerane lordis Remissioune vnder the Greit Seill, of the daitt, att Aberdene, the first day of August, I^m.V^c. fourseoir and nyne yeiris, grantit be his hienes for the said cryme, and tuik him thairto : Quhilk was admittit be the Justice-depute, quha ordanit him to find cautionn and fouirtie to satisfie the partie, as law will : Lyke as, the said Thomas, for obedience of the said ordinance, stand Williame Stewart of Seytoun, George Gardin of Latoune, and him selff.

Hamesucken — Slaughter.

Jan. 8.—DAVID GAIRDIN, brother-german to Thomas Gardin of Legatstoune.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the said crime, was adjudged to be denounced rebel, and put to the horn, for non-appearance to vnderlie the law ; and David Peirfoun of Cairny, his cautioner, was amerciaded in the pain of 100 marks.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Adultery.

Feb. 15.—ALEXANDER HAY of Dalgettie.¹

Dilatit for the cryme of Adulterie; committit with Barbara Forbes, his alledgeit spous.

The Laird of Delgattie takis instrumentis of his entrie, and protestis for relief of his cautioner.

The Justice continewis to the xij of March nixtocum. Johne Frazer of Creichie becomes fouirtie, &c.

Forgery — Falsifying and counterfeiting a Charter, &c.

Feb. 15.—FYNLAY FERNIE, sone to vmq^{le} Alexander Fernie of Nig, Robert Innes, notare, and James Tarbart, wryter.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the ffalsifeing, fforgeing and counterfitting of ane fals Chartour and Instrument of Seasing; quhilk Chartour is alledgeit maid be vmq^{le} Alexander Ferne of Nig to vmq^{le} Alexander Ferne, his sone and apperand air, &c.

[The Dittays are each inserted at length in the Record. That against James Tarbet's only is here given, the others being little else than repetitions in point of form.]

DITTAY against James Tarbett.

JAMES TARBETT, Ye ar indytit and accusit, for being airt and pairt of the fforgeing, ffeingeing and counterfitting of ane fals Chartour, as maid be vmq^{le} Alexander Ferne of Nig to vmq^{le} Alexander Ferne, his sone and apperand air, of all and hail the fyve oxgait of land of Pitcalzean, twa oxgait of land callit the Quarter-land of Nig, with the fourt pairt of the kill thairof, and superioritie of ane oxgait of land in Meig, and of the Croftis callit M^cWaldene, M^cCoreis, Croft-cullin, Ballafinath, Smythifcroftis, Meringis and thair pertinentis; daitit the xx day of Marche, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxv yeiris, albeit writin be yow, and Johne Kennedie at your command, according to the hail tennour of the bodie thairof, within thir nyne or ten yeiris lastbypast, aff ane copie thairof in paper, delyuerit to yow be Johne Irving and Fynlay Ferne; to quhome ye redelyuerit the said Chartour, writin be yow, and at your command, as said is, in parchement; to the effect, the samyn mycht be to thame ane principal Chartour; the dait of the samyn beand ane pairt of the bodie of the Chartour, being fourtene or fyftene yeiris anterior to the vryting of the samyn: Lyke as, within thre dayes eftir the wryting of the said Chartour, ye saw Fynla Ferne, in Kait Thomas taverne, at the drynking of ane pynt of ryne with ane Johne Irving, subfryve the samyn with his hand, with the name of 'Alex^r Ferne,' his fader: Quhilk Chartour is improvin,² and declarit fals and feingeit aganis the said Fynla Ferne, in foro contradictorio, be the Lordis of Counsale; and he ordanit to be pwneist in his perform and guidis for the samyn; quhairof ye are airt, pairt, red and counsale, and hes conceillit the samyn.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltounne of Drumcarne, aduocat to our fouerane lord.

PRELOCUTORIS for James Tarbet, Mr Richard Spens, Mr Thomas Wilfoune.

Of the quhilk Dittay, the said James Tarbett become in our fouerane lordis will.

¹ See Nov, 25, 1598, &c.

² By Action of Reduction-Improbation on the ground of forgery, &c.

VERDICT. The Affyse, be the mouth of Thomas Inglis, in Paflay, chancellor, ffand and pronouceit the faidis Finla Fernie and Robert Innes culpabill and convict of the crymes respectiue aboue writtin.

SENTENCE. The Justice-depute, be the mouth of Robert Galbraith, dempftar of the said Court, ordanit thame to be tane to ane Gibbet, befyde the mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit quhill thay be deid ; and all thair movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

Feb. 16.—ASSISA, super Jac. Turbet.

Sir Jo ⁿ Creychtoun of Inuernytie, Williame Hay of Linplum,	Dunbar of Entirkyn,
Sir Ja ⁿ Edmeiftoune of Duntraith, Mr James Watfoune, portioner of Gawin Hammiltoune of Roploch,		Edward Maxwell of Tynwall,
. Somervell elder of Cam-	Sauchtoune-hall,	Awlay M ^c Caulay of Ardincapell, nethan, Crawford of Beireroftis,	James Carmichael of Pityfchaw.
Sir James Maxwell of Calderwod, Jo. Robertfoune of Smythfoune,
John Blair of Bagillo,	Mr George Frafer in Edinburgh,

Mr Thomas Hamiltoune of Drumcarne, aduocat to our fouerane lord, prodeuceit the Warrant vnderwrittin.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice-Clerk and your deputis, We greit you weil. It is oure will, and We command you, that, vponne ye sycht heirof, ye put James Taret, wryter, to the knowlege of ane Affyis, for ye cryme of ffalfet, confessit be him, in his Depositionne; and efter his convictiounne, that ye pronouce ye dome of hanging aganis him, and cause him immediatlie to be execute to ye deid ; As ye will anfuer to us vponne your offices and obedience: Quhairnent, thir presentis falbe your Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, At Halyruidhous, the xvj day of Februar, 1600.

(Sic subferibitur) JAMES REX.

VERDICT. The Affyis, be the mouth of thair chancellor, Sir James Edmeiftoune of Duntraith, kny^t, ffand, pronouceit and declarit the said James Taret to be ffylit, culpabill and convict of airt, pairt, red, counfall and conceling of the fforgeing, ffeiuzeing and ffalfseing of the said Chartour, as is contenit in the accusatiounne aboue spacificit.

SENTENCE. To be tane to ane Gibbett, befyde the mercat-croce of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit quhill he be deid ; and all his movabill guidis to be efchete, &c.

Slaughter.

Feb. 16.—WILLIAME CRAIG of Craigfoune.

Dilatit for airt and pairt of the cruell flauchter of vmq^{le} Patrik Forbes of Carnehill ; committit in the moneth of Maij 1579, on the landis of Carnehill, of fett purpose, prouisiounne and foirthocht fellounie.

For quhilk actioun the said Williame tuik him to his Maieftis Respect, (Respite,) under his hienes Priuie Seill, At Halyruidhous, Februar xx, 1585 ; and ffund Patrik Lord Glamis, and him self fouirtie, conjunctlie and feuerallie, to fatisfie the parteis, conforme to law.

[Mr William Haert and Mr Robert Murray, Justices-Deputes.]

Abiding from the Earl of Angus' Raid at Dumfries.

Feb. 21.—GEORGE CAMPBELL of Cefnok,	{ Plegio, Daniele Cwninghame de Dalbeythe.
Johnne Schaw of Sornebeg,	Domino Haning.
George Lokart of Bar,	Archibaldo Lokert burgen de Ed ^r .
Mr Matho Rose of Haning,	{ Dischargeit, in respect provin he duellis in Glasgou, &c.
Johnne Wallace of Carnell,	Domino Lochnoreis.
Dauid Blair of Edentoun,	Domino Corfbie.
Williame Dunbar of Entirkyn,	Domino Bar.
Dauid Foullertoun of Corfbie,	Domino Edentoune.
Edward Wallace of Seweltonne,	Domino Carnell.
Hary Stewart of Barskimming,	Absent.
Williame Crawford of Lochnoreis,	Domino Carnell.
Hew Cwninghame of Laigland,	Jofias Stewart de Boningtonne.
Allane Lord Cathcart,	{ Continewit tertio Itineris xv dierum: Plegio, Joh. Cathcart de Carltonne.
Johnne Cathcart of Cairltonne,	Domino Ardmillene.
Johnne Dalrumpill of Stair,	Domino Lochnoreis.
Johnne Campbell of Shankiftoune,	Eodem.
Bernard Farguefoun of Kilcairren,	{ Dischargeit be the Thesaurar, in respect of his aige, with consent.
Hew Kennedy of Girvanmanis,	Absent.
Johnne Corry of Kelwod,	Domino Lochnoreis.
Hugh Kennedy of Bennene,	Domino Barganye.
Walter Mwir of Cloncaird,	Eodem.
Thomas Kennedy of Ardmillane,	Domino Carltonne.
Walter Kennedy of Knokdone,	Absent.
Johnne Kennedy of Blaquhane,	{ Gilberto Kennedy de (Bargany?) tertio Itineris xv dierum.
Matho Stewart of Dunduff,	Domino Auchindrane.
Johnne Mure of Auchindrane,	Domino Dunduff.
Mr Lambert Kennedy of Kirkmichell,	Absent.
Johnne Dauidfoun of Pennyglene,	Domino Kelwod.
Fargus Kennedy of Knokda,	Domino Carltonne.
Johnne M ^c Alexander of Dalreoch,	Domino Knokda.
Gylbert Kennedy of Bargany.	Domino Carltonne.

Dilatit for abyding fra the Leutennentis Raid of Drumfreis, appointit be Archebald Erll of Angus to haif convenit thairat.

Comperit Johne Halyday Aduocat, and produceit the Warrant vnderwrittin, for Girvanmanis, (Hew Kennedy), and alleget that the Justice could nocht vnlaw his cautioner, nor adiudge him selff to the horne.

REX,

THESAURER, Aduocat, Justice, Justice Clark with your deputtis, We greit you weil. Vnderstanding, that our rycht traift counsing and counsalour, Andro Lord Vchiltrie, his kyn freindis, men, tennentis, seruandis and dependaris wer, vpoun the respect of James Dowglas of Torthorwald being in the company of our rycht traift counsing the Erll of Angus our Leutennent for the tyme, exemit frome his jurisdiction and obedience of his Proclamatiounis publeifchit for convening of our subiectis within the boundis of his Leutennandrie; and that nochtwithstanding you our saidis Thesaurer and aduocat hes raist our vperis lettres at your instance, and amangis vperis hes caufit charge Hary Stewart of Barckymming and (Hew) Kennedy of Girvanmanis, twa speciall kynnismen, freindis to our said counsing the Lord Vchiltrie, to compeir before you our Justice and your deputis, vpoun the xxj day of Februar instant, to vnderly our lawis within our Tolbuith of Ediuburgh, for alledgeit nocht obedience of our Proclamatioun, chargeing subiectis within the boundis of Kyle, Carrik and Cwninghame, to meit our seid Leutennant att Drumfres, vpoun the day of lastbypast, for the furtherance and advancement of our seruice, att our West Bordour. It is pairfoir our will, and We command you, our said Thesaurer and aduocat, that vpoun the sycht heirof, you pass frome the persuit of the saidis Hary and (Hew) for the said caus, and deleit pair names furth of the criminall summondis intentit att your instances aganis pair. And lykewyise, that you our Justice and Justice Clark dispence with pair non-comperance of the said persones befor you at the said dyett; and on nawyis vnlaw or proceed aganis pair or pair cautioneris, for pair nocht comperance att the same dyett, nochtwithstanding of ony vper command, gewin or to be gewin to you in the contrar; as you and ilkane of you will be anfuereabill to us vpoun your office and obedience; Quhairanent pair presentis fallbe your Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyruidhous, the day of Februar, 1600.

(Sic subfcribitur)

JAMES R.

MONTROISE CANCELLARIUS, LENNOX, R. COKBURNE, JO. PRESTOUNE, FYVIE.

The said Johne Halyday produceit ane Letter subferyuit be the King and Counfall, discharginge the Justice of all proceeding aganis the Laird of Caprintoune, &c.

We vnderstanding that our louittis, William Cwninghame of Caprintoune and Daniell Cwninghame of Dalbeyth, being chargeit be vertew of Proclamatioune, to haif mett our rycht traift counsing, Williame Erll of Angus, our Leutennent and Wardane of our West Marcheis, att Drumfres, or sic vper partis contenit in our said Proclamatioun, for persuit of the disobedient personis within our said Wardanrie, in the moneth of Februar, 1^m.V^c.lxxxxviiij 5eiris: And that for obedience pair of, and command of our said Proclamatioune, thay addressit pair selffis in weirle maner with pair freindis and seruandis to our said raid; and James Dowglas of Torthorrell, being our rebell, and lying att our horne, for the slauchter of our vnq^{le} counsing, James Stewart of Newtonne, and pair neir kynnisman, being pair in company att the said raid with our said Leutennent; swa that the saidis Williame Cwninghame of Caprintoune, George Campbell of Cefnok, nor the said Daniell Cwninghame, could nocht guidlie remane att our said raid, (the said James Dowglas being in pair company): Quhairvpoun thay haifing than menit pair vnto us, We, for eschewing of gritar inconuenient, than faithfullie promittit in verbo principis, and gave licence to pair, pair freindis and seruandis, to pas hame fra our said Raid, and that thay should pairrestir, att na tyme addres pair selffis to ony raid with our said Leutennent, (the said James Dowglas being in company with him,) bot that thay should remane att hame, and incur na skayth nor danger pairthrow.¹ And als, that the saidis Williame, George and Daniell, being lykewyis chargeit agane, to haif mett with our said Leutenent att our said burch of Drumfreife, vpon þe xxij day of September lastbypast, (with quhom the said James Dowglas wes þan in cumpany,) swa that thay mycht not addres þame selffis þairto: Thairfoir, and according to our said promeis, we haif frelie Remittit, and be þir presentis Remittis the saidis Williame Cwninghame, George Campbell and Daniell Cwninghame þair kyn, freindis and seruandis of all offence, cryme and panis committit be þame, for abyding fra þe saidis raidis or ony of þame; Dischargeing heirfore our Thesaurer, Aduocat, Justice, Justice-deputis and vperis officeris quhatsumevir, of all calling, atteiching, areifsting, pointing, vulawing, trubling or intronetting with þe saidis personis, thair freindis or seruandis, or ony of þame, for abyding fra þe saidis raidis or ony of þame, and of þair offices in þat pairt for ewir; nochtwithstanding ony lettres, proclamatiounes and charges direct þairnant: Quhairnant and hailt panis contentit þairin, We haif dispensit, and dispensis be þir presentis. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyruidhous, the xvj day of Februar, 1600. (Sic subfcribitur) JAMES R.

LENOX, MONTROISE, CASSILLIS, VCHILTRIE, FYVIE, BLANTYRE, SECRETARIUS.

The Justice continewis to gif ansuer to the Kingis twa Lèttres produceit, to the morne.

It is allegeit na proces aganis the Laird of Blarquhan, in respect of the Leutenentis Licence produceit, to remane fra the Raid; and that he had xxiiij personis dependeris at the Raid.

WE WILLIAME ERL OF ANGUS, Lord Dowglas and Abirmethie, Lieutenant to his Maiestie our þe Eist, West and Middill Marchis of Scotland anent Ingland, be þe tennour heirof gewis and grantis Licence and libertie to þe rycht honourabill John Kennedie of Blaquhane, elder, to remane and abyde att hame fra our Raid and Proclamatioune, quhilk is proclameit be ws to convene att Drumfreis, the xxij day of þis instant of September, and paireftir to pass forwart with ws towardis þe Bordouris, and þair remane, with xx dayis prouisioune, according to our Proclamatioune: Quhilk we be þis present promittis and grantis þis our Licence to þe said John Kennedy of Blaquhan to remane and byde at hame fra our said Raid and Proclamatioun; And that in respect of his present diseise: Be þis present, subferyuit with our hand, Att Drumfreis, the xvij day of þis instant of September, a thousand fyve hundredth fourfeoir and nyntene zeiris; befoir þir witnessis, Williame Bannatyne of Corhous, Williame Cwninghame tutour of Bonytounne.

(Sic subfcribitur)

W. ANGUS, LEU^r.

It is allegeit be Mr Matho Roijs of Haining, that he wes nocht subiect to the Proclamatioun, becaus he duelt the tyme of the Proclamatioun, and ane zeir befoir and senfyne in Glasgw; and he hes nocht ane hous in Kyle.—The Aduocat allegis the contrar: In respect of the summondis, he fowld be put to ane Assyse and thai fould cognos thairvpoun.

It is allegeit for Bernard Farguesou, that he is past the age of the Proclamatioune: Quhilk alledgeance wes admittit be the Justice, and he dischargeit and put away.

¹ This Letter affords a striking illustration of the insecure and disturbed state of the country, and the weakness of Government. Douglas of Torthorwald, residing so near the Borders, seems to have been too powerful a subject to be sued, even for the Slauchter of a Steuart, 'cousin to the King.' Although at the Horn for this Slauchter, the Lieutenant scruples not to accept of the assistance of this rebellious subject to restore peace on the Borders, instead of delivering him up to justice for his crimes!

It is allegeit for the Laird of Sewelton, that he hes nather land nor heretage; and thairfoir, nocht subiect to the Proclamatioune.—The Aduocat allegis that he sould pass to ane Affyse.

The Pannell cummis in (the King's) Will; except sa mony as produceit the Kingis Warrant.

Feb. 22.—The quhilk day comperit Sir Hew Campbell of Terringane, knycht, and produceit our souerane lordis Will; and defyrit it to be infert and registrat, &c.

THE KINGIS Will for the Barrounis of Kyle and Carrik.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clerk and your deputis; We greit you weill. Forfamekill as the persones vnderwritin, thay ar to say, Johnne Schaw of Sornebeg,¹ &c. become laittie in our will, for pair remaning and byding att hame fra pe oist² and Raid proclameit and appointit to haif mett with our Leutennent in Drumfreis, vpoun pe . . . day of September last. Thairfore, We haif declarit oure will as followis, to witt: That We haif Renunceit and dischargeit, and be pir presentis renunceis and dischargeis all actione and caus, criminall and ciuile, quhilk We had, haue, or ony wyis may haue, move or perfew, aganis pe saidis persones for pe caus foirsaid: And Remittis and forgewes pame frelie for ewir: And Ordanis this our declaratioun of our Will, to be als effectuell for pair suirtie in tyme cuming, as gif thay had particuler Remissionis pairvpoune vnder our greit feill. Oure will is heirfore, and We command you to pronunce and delyuer pis oure will, giudiciale; and caus thir presentis be actit and registrat in our buikis of Adiornall: As also, that ye deleit furth of our saidis buikis, pe Act quhairby Hew Kennedy in Balloch wes vnlawit for nocht entrie of Walter Kennedy of Knokla, minor, before you for pis fame caus: As ye will anfuer to ws pairvpoune: Quhairnent thir presentis falbe vnto you ane warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyruidhous, the xxij day of Februar, 1600.

(Sic subferibitur)

JAMES R.

Quhilk the Justice causit publeife Giudicillie, and declarit to be our souerane lordis will, as is aboue writtin: Quhairvpoune the persones on pannell present for the tyme askit actis and instrumentis.—The Justice admittit the Letteris produceit, &c.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Slaughter.

Mar. 4.—WILLIAME STEWART brother (german) to the Lord Vchiltre, and Williame Stewart sone naturall to Sir Williame Stewart of Carstairs, kny^t.

Mawife Aikman, the relict of vmq^{le} Robert Cathcart, (wryter in Edinburghe) produceit our souerane lordis lettres deulie execute and indorfat, purchest be hir selff with the bairnis and kyn and freindis of the said vmq^{le} Robert, for charging of Walter Mure of Cloncaird, as cautioner and fouerte for Williame Stewart brother to the Lord Vchiltre, and Williame Stewart sone naturall to Sir Wil-liame Stewart of Carstairs, kny', this day, &c. to vnderlye the Law for the slauchter of the said vmq^{le} Robert, (committit the third day of Junij, 1590 :) Quhairvpoun scho askit instrumentis and protestit for relief of Allane Cathcart of Drumjowan, cawtioner for reporting of the saidis Lettres to this day.

¹ It has been thought unnecessary to repeat the names.

² Host, army.

The Justice (in obedience to a Warrand from the King) continewis this dyet to the morne, the fyft day of Marche instant.¹

Mar. 5.—Continewis the mater to the xxix day of Maij.—Williame Stewart of Seytoun becomes pledge and fouirtie that thay fall compeir, &c.

Maij 29.—The perfonen on pannell takis instrumentis of thair compearance, and protestis for releve of thair cawtioune; and als, in respect that na partie comperit to perfew thame, produceit the Extract of our foverane lordis Remissionne, quhairof the temmour followis.

PRECEPTUM REMISSIONIS Willelmi Stewart fratris Andree domini Stewart de Vchiltre, et Willelmi Stewart filij quondam domini Willelmi Stewart de Houstoune, pro arte et parte Interfectionis quondam Roberti Cathcart scribe die mensis anno domini, I^m.V^o. nonagesimo commisi; ac pro omnibus actione et crimine que inde sequi aut prenominatis personis inde quouifmodo imputari poterint, &c. Apud Falkland, decimo quarto die mensis Augusti, anno domini millesimo quingentesimo nonagesimo nono.

HEC est vera copia abbreviationis, Precepti Remissionis superscript. content. in libro Secreti Sigilli s. d. n. regis extract. de eodem copiat. et collationat. per me DANIELEM HAY, notarium publicum ac ejusdem Secreti Sigilli scribam.

Slaughter.

Mar. 8.—ROBERT TULLOCH of Tannoquheis, and Alexander Tulloche, his sone and apperand air.

Dilatit for air and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Williame Dowglas sone to Williame Dowglas of Erlifnyll.²

Comperit the Aduocat, and produceit ane Precept direct fra his Maiestie; quhairof the temmour followis.

REX,

MR THOMAS HAMMILTOUN of Drumcarne our aduocat. It is our will, and We command 3ow, that 3e perfew our criminall letres, rasit att 3e instance of James Dowglas, and remanent brep^s, kyn and freindis of vmq^{le} Williame Dowglas, sone to Williame Dowglas of Erlifnyll aganis Alexander Tulloch, sone and apperand air to Robert Tulloch of Tannochie, for vnderlying of our lawis for 3e slauchter of 3e said vmq^{le} Williame Dowglas: And that 3e insist with the saidis persewaris, in persuit of 3e saidis Lettres the aucht day of March instant, or ony vper day or dayes neidfull and convenient; kepannd 3ir presentis for 3our Warrand: And this 3e faill nocht to do, nochtwithstanding of ony command gewin or to be gewin in 3e contrar. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyruidhous, the aucht day of March, 1600.

(Sic subseribitur)

JAMES R.

Comperit Mr Johne Scharpe aduocat, and produceit ane Warrand subferyuit be his Maiestie; quhairof the temmour followis.

¹ See May 18, 1604.

² See Jan. 2, and Mar. 8, 1598.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputis, We greit ȝow weill. Forfamekill as We ar informit that Robert Tulloch of Tannoquhie is chargeit as cautioner for Alexander Tulloch his sone, to enter and present the said Alexander, vpoune þe aucht day of March, befoir ȝow, to vnderly our law for alledgeit airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Williame Dowglas, sone to William Dowglas of Erlifmyll. It is our will, and We command ȝow, for diuers cauffis moving ws, to suffer and permitt the said dyett to the fastene day of Maij nixt; and that ȝe defist and ceis fra all calling, vnlawing or proceeding aganis the said Robert Tulloch, or aganis the said Alexander Tulloch his sone, the said day, for pair nocht comperance, Quhairnent we dispens be þir presentis, discharginge ȝow þairof, and of your office in þat pairt; and that nochtwithstanding ony vpir command or Warrant, gewin or to be gewin to ȝow on þe contrar: As ȝe will ansuer to Ws vpoun your obedience. Subscryuit with our hand, Att Halyruidhous, the aucht day of Mairch, 1600.

(Sic subscribitur)

JAMES R.

Comperit the Gudeman of Erlifmyll, togidder with Mr Thomas Hamiltoune, and produceit ane vther Warrant subscryuit be his Maiestie; quhairof the tenour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputtis, We greit ȝow haertlie weill. It is our will, and We command ȝow, that incontinent eftir þe sycht heirof, ye proceed and minister in þe actionne and caus perfewit att þe instance of þe kyn and freindis of vmq^{le} Williame Dowglas, sone to Williame Dowglas of Erlifmyll, the aucht day of March instant, aganis Alexander Tulloch, apperand of Tannocheis, and his cautioner, for þe crewall slauchter of þe said vmq^{le} Williame Dowglas; and that but ony prorogatioun, continewatiounne or delay to be grantit; and that nochtwithstanding of ony Precept or command, purchest or to be purchest, in þe contrar heirof, Quhilk We annull be þir presentis. Subscryuit with our hand, Att Halyruidhous, the aucht day of March, 1600.

(Sic subscribitur)

JAMES R.

The said Mr Thomas Hamiltoun of Drumcarne aduocat lykewyis alledgeit, that the last Precept fould be admittit, in respect of the Act of Parliament, defyring justice to be ministrat; and that the Precept produceit be Mr Johne Scharp aucht nocht to be admittit, in respect it is contrar the Act of Parliament, and that my Lord of Angus declarit that it wes his Maiesteis will that the last Precept fould tak place, seing that he at the granting of the fyrst wes wrangulie informit.

The Justice-Depute, mynding to haif continewit the mater to Tyisday nixtocum, quhill the Kingis Maiesteis mynd wes knawin, ordanit Mr Johne Scharp, producar of the Precept for Robert and Alexander Tulloch, to find caution for the entrie of the said Alexander Tulloch the said day; quha refusit to find the said caution: And in respect thairof, Ordanit the said Robert Tulloch to be vnlawit for nocht entrie of the said Alexander Tulloch his sone; and the said Alexander to be denunceit rebell and putt to the horne.

Adultery.

Mar. 12.—ALEXANDER HAY of Delgatie.¹

¹ See Nov. 25, 1598, Feb. 15, 1600, &c.

Dilatit for the cryme of Adulterie, committit with Barbara Forbes his allegeit spous.

Continued to July x. Johne Frissell of Creichie becomes plege and fouertie.

Privileges of the Faculty of Advocates — Not liable to pass upon Assises.

Mar. 12.—MR JAMES M^cGILL of Rankelowr-Nethir, Aduocat, allegeit, that becaus he is ane ordinar Aduocat, lawfullie admittit be the Lordis of Counfall, with all privilegeis and immuniteis; thairfoir he aucht nocht to pass vpoune ony Inqueist: And for verificatioune thairof, remittit the samyn to the notoriemie of the Juge and hail memberis of Court: Quhilk, the said Juge acknowlegeing to be of veritie, thairfoir hes declarit and declairis, that the said Mr James is frie fra all Assyffis, and aucht nawyise to be vnlawit for his absence thairfra at ony tyme heirefter, during all the dayes of his lyftyme, in respect of the Privilege of his said Office.—Quhairvpoune the said Mr James askit instrumentis.

Slaughter.

Mar. 12.—ANDRO MURRAY of Balwaird and Anthon Murray his ferwand.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} David Lundie, sone to Mr George Lundie of Gorthie; committit vpoun the xxv of March 1598 yeiris, be-tyde Inglis-Tarbert, vpoune sett purpoise, provisioune, and foirthocht fellonye.

PERSEWAR, Walter Lundie, as brother.

The Justice, with consent of partie, continewis this mater to the morne, the xij of March instant, &c.

Mar. 13.—Sir Johne Creychtounne of Inuernytie, as cawtioner, was vnlawit and amerciati for nocht entrie of the saidis perfounes, viz. for Andro Murray, in the pane of Ane thousand markis, and for the said Anton, twa hundredth markis: Lyke as, the Justice-depute adjudgeit the saidis Andro and Anthon to be denunceit our souerane lordis rebellis, &c. and all thair movabill guidis to be escheit, &c.

[Mr William Haert and Mr Robert Murray, Justices-Deputes.]

Slaughter in a Single Combat or Duel.

Jun. 5.—ROBERT AUCHMOWTIE cherurgeane, burges of Edinburghe.

[THE Editor has thought this case of so much importance, as to demand the insertion of all the legal objections and arguments of both parties, which fortunately have been preserved at considerable length. The Case of Auchmowtie, is the earliest instance preserved on Record, of a party committer of Manslaughter, in a Duel, or 'Singular-Combat,' suffering death; where nothing unfair was proven by the public or private prosecutor. It thoroughly illustrates the state of the Law and practice, and the opinions then entertained, by the most eminent Scottish lawyers and statesmen, on this interesting subject. The ancient Law, and especially the practice, relative to Criminal Trial for single combats, seem to be now imperfectly understood, owing perhaps, in some measure, to the obscure state of the Records; for few would choose to encounter the labour, or could afford the time, necessary to be expended in examining the Books of Adjournal, merely for the purpose of illustrating an individual case. Although the arguments are somewhat prolix and redundant, it was deemed best to give them in the precise form in which they stand in the Record.]

Dilatit, of airt and pairt, of the Slauchter of vniq^{le} James Wauchop, sone to George Wauchop of Gleghorne (Clegghorne, burges of Edinburghe); committit the xx day of Apryle lastbypast.¹

PERSEWARIS, George Wauchop of Gleghorne, fader to the defunct; Mr George Wauchop, brother; Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne, Aduocat.

PRELOQUOUTOURIS for the pannel, Mr Johne Scharpe, Mr Alexander King.

Mr Johne Scharpe and Mr Alexander King produceit ane delyuerance of the Lordis of Couufall, purchest at the instance of Robert Auchmwtie; quhairbye thay ar chargeit to compeir this day, befoir the Justice or his deputis, to procure² in defence of the said Robert, for the slauchter of the said vniq^{le} James: Quhairvpoune thay askit instrumentis.

The perfewaris produceit the Dittay underwritten.

DITTAY against the pannell.

ROBERT AUCHMWTIE cherurgeon, burges of Edinburghe, ye ar indytit and accusit, fforfamekill as ye, haifing confautit ane deidlie hatrent and malice aganis vniq^{le} James Vauchope, sone to George Vauchope of Gleghorne, merchand burges of Edinburghe, laitlie, vpoune the xix day of Apryle lastbypast, tuke on the Singular-Combat with the said vniq^{le} James, but³ licence of our fouerane lord,

¹ The following account is given by George Birrell, in his 'Diarey,' p. 48. 'The 2 of Apryll, being the Sabothe day, Robert Auchmuttie, barber, ('barber-chirurgeon,') flew James Wauchope, at the Combat, in St Leonardis Hill; and vpon the 23, the said Robert put in ward in tolbuthe of Edinburgh. And in the maine tyme of hes being of ward, he hang ane clok without the window of the irone hous, and ane wther within the window thair; and faying, that he wes feik and might not fie the licht. He had aqua fortis continuallie feithing at the irone window, quhill at left the irone window wes eittine throw; swa, vpone a morneing, he causit his prentes boy to attend quhen the toune-gaird fould haue deffolvit; at quhilk tyme the boy wattit on, and gaue his maister ane tokine that the said gaird wer gone, be the schaw or waiff of hes hand curche. The said Robert hang out a tow, quhairon he thoicht to haue comeit doune: The said gaird spyit the waiff of the hand curche; and swa the said Robert was disspointit of his intentioun and deuyse. And swa, on the 10 day, he wes behedit at the Croce vpone ane scaffolt.'

² To act as Procurators, or Advocates, in defence of the Pannel.

³ Without. It was by no means unusual, in these turbulent times, for such licenses to be granted by the King, both in exercise of his ancient Feudal prerogative, and as the only means which could then be devised for preventing bloodshed to a more frightful extent. Only a few years before, a remarkable instance is recorded by Birrell, Mar. 15, 1597. 'Ane singill Combat fochein betuix Adame Bruntfeild and James Carmichaell. The said Adame Bruntfeild challengeit James Carmichaell for murdering of his vniq^{le} brother Stephen Bruntfeild, Capitane of Tantalloune. The said Adame purchest ane Licience of his M. and faucht the said James on Barnbowgall Linkis, befoir fywe thousand gentilmen; And the said Adame being bot ane young mane and of a mein statur, flew the said James Carmichaell, he being als abill a lyik man as wes leweing.'—In a MS. Hist. of Scotland, Adv. Lib. A. 4, 35, it is recorded, 'thai mett in ane small inche be the sic neir to Barnbugell; my Lord Duke and sandrie utheris being thair Judges.'

and provokit him thairto, that he vpoune the morne thairefter, being the tuentie day of the said moneth, and the Sabboth day, fuld meit yow, bodin¹ with fword and gantillet, vpoune St Leonardis Craigis,² beyde this burch of Edinburgh, near to our souerane lordis Palice of Halyrudehous, quhair his Maiestie was in proper perfoune for the tyme; and thair to fecht with you the Singular-combat, for certane iniurious wordis fallin out betuix you and him: Lyke as ye, vpoune the said xx day of Apryle, being the Sabboth day, airtie in the morning, betuix fyve and sax houris, accompaneit with vtheris your complices, come to the said place appoyntit, callit St Leonardis Craigis, and thair awaittit vpoune the said vmq^{le} James cuning to yow; quha, haifing kepit the said tryift³ at the said hour and place, ye and your complices foirfaidis sett vpoune the said vmq^{le} James, and maist schamefullie and crewallie, with fwordis, fraik him in the face and vpoune the heid, and gaif him foure bludie woundis thairon; and thairbye maist barboroutlie, crewallie and tyrannouflic flew the said vmq^{le} James Vauchope, vpoune fet purpois, provisioune and foirthocht felonye; in hie contemptioun, &c.

ARGUMENTS and PLEADINGS *of the Parties.*⁴

The said Dittay being red, the Pannell askis instrumentis of the tennour thairof, and speciallie of that pairt, quhairin it is alledgeit that the pretendit Slauchter contenit thairin procedit vpoun the provocatioun to ane Singular Combat, and that vmq^{le} James Wauchop refortit to the place appointit, and it is alledgeit that he wes thair slayne: And alledgeit, that the mater contenit in the Dittay aucht nocht be putt to the knowledge of ane Assyse, becaus the said vmq^{le} James, the tyme of the said alledgeit slauchter, and be the space of diuers yeiris ofbefore, wes the Kingis rebell, putt to the horne, for noncompearance, to ansuer to his Maiestie and the Counfall, for the tressonabill reffett, intertinnement and intercommuning of vmq^{le} Archibald Wauchop, sumtyme apperand of Nudry-Merchall, than standand vnder proces of siorfaultour, for the cauffis thairin contenit: quhilkis Lettres of Hoirning wer execute aganis him, and wer direct vpoun ane Decreit, gewin be his Maiestie and Lordis of his hienes Secret Counfall, of the dait, att Halyruidhous, the xxij day of Februar I^m.V^c.lxxxvij yeiris: And for verificatioune of the said alledgeance, the preloquantouris produceit the Decreit foirfaid, with the Extract of the Lettres of Hoirning, with the executioun thairof: And thairfore, in caise the Dittay wer of veritie, quhilk is nocht grantit, the slauchter of ane rebell, quha had na protectioun be his Maiestie nor be the Law, and speciallie vpoun ane Singular-combat takin on be bayth the pairteis, is nocht ane cryme pwneifabill: And thairfoir, the Dittay fould nocht be putt to the knowledge of ane Assyse.

It is ansuerit, be the Aduocat and perfewaris, that the alledgeance foundit vpoun the Hoirning produceit is nawyis relevant; becaus the said Hoirning is and wes null, fra the beginning, and is sa declarit be decreit of the Lordis of Counfall and Sessioune, in Maij last, heirwith produceit: And feing, it is of lyke⁵ of the Law, 'nocht to be att the horne,' and 'nocht to be lauchfullie putt to the horne,' the persoun that wes slayne, newir being lauchfullie denunceit, he man⁶ be repute newir to haif bene att the horne : In respect quhairof, this mater aucht to pass to the tryell of ane Assyse ; and for verificatioun of the answere, producit the said Decreit.—It is answerit be the preloquoutouris for the said Robert, that thair alledgeance is maist relevant in itt selff, and concludis necessarlie : And as to the answer, it is na argument aganis the relevancie, bot it apperis to be ane reply to elide the allegeance, howbeit it wer relevant, and is foundit upoune ane Decreit obtenit before the Lordis of Counfall and Sessioune, presentlie producit ; quhilk Decreit the preloquoutouris defyris to be red, befor thay mak ony forder answer thairto.

¹ Furnished or provided with. ² Perhaps that part of Salisbury-crags opposite to St Leonard's-hill, situated within the King's-park; and then resorted to in affairs of honour. On Mar. 11, 1597, 'William Gluffer and James Hepburne slew ane another at the fingell-combat, on the hill callit Sant Leonardis Craigis. The said twa wer buriet on the morne thairefter.'—Birrel. ³ Appointed meeting.

⁴ In order to condense these legal disputations as much as possible, they are thrown into a small-sized type. ⁵ Alike, of equal import. ⁶ Must of necessity.

The said Decreit of the Lordis of Counfall and Sessioune being red, the preloquoutouris for the defender acceptit the famin in quantum ; and answerand to the persewaris alledgeance, sayis, that the Hoirning producit, procedit vpon the Decreit of his Maestie and the Lordis of his hienes Secreit Counfall, for the said vni^o James Wauchopis contumacie, being challengeit vpon ane cryme of Treasoun ; quhairin the Lordis of Sessioune nocht being Judgeis competent in the fyrst instance, mekill les could thay be Judgeis compitent in the secund, to retreat¹ the Decreit of our souerane lord and Lordis of his hienes Secreit Counfall ; and swa, the former Decreit, being alledgeit to be reduceit be the Lordis of Sessioune, quha wer nocht Judgeis, the said fyrst Decreit standis in effect ; and consequentlie, the proces of Hoirning following thairvponne. Attovre the said Decreit is gewin for null defence and nocht comperance of my Lord Thesaurer and aduocat nocht comperand, quha wer only summond, and the said Robert Auchmowtie, quhais prefens could nocht be misknawin, in respect of the fact intervenient, and being in preafoun for the challenge of the said alledgeit slauchter, the tyme of the executioun of the summonds and deductioun² of the haill proces ; and he was nawyis summond. And mair-owre, the said actioun of Reductiounne, quhairvpon the said Decreit reductiue procedit, is intentitt att the instance of Mr George Wauchop, as air apperand, to the effect that he mycht be Retourit ;³ and of his susteris, to the effect that thay mycht be decernit executouris, to the effect that thay mycht recover the said James heretage and movabill guidis, and to that effect allanerlie ; the effect of the Lordis Decreit reductiue can nocht exceid the intentioun and defyre of the persewaris. And quhair it is alledgeit be my Lord Aduocat, that the said proces of Hoirning being reduceit, it is all alyke as gif it had newir bene execute ; it is answerit thairto, that the said allegeance is allaterlie⁴ irrelevant of the Law, becaus it is sufficient for the said Robertis Defence, that att the tyme of the said alledgeit slauchter, thair wes anie decreit of his Maestie and lordis of Secreit Counfall standand, be the quhilk, lettres wer ordanit to be direct, to denunce him rebell for his non comperance, in ane mater of Treasoun ; the said Decreit beirand that he wes lauchfullie chargeit and comperit nocht. Vpon the quhilk Decreit, our souerane lordis lettres of Hoirning wer direct, and the samyn dewlie and lauchfullie execute and dewlie registrat in the Shereffis buikis ; swa that nane could pretend ignorance thairof : And gewand⁵ that the saidis Lordis mycht haif bene Judgis to the Reductioun of the charge⁶ of the fyrst lettres and to the Decreit gewin be his Maestie and the Lordis of Secreit Counfall thairvponne, quhairvponne that pretendit Reductiounne procedis, allanerlie⁷ vpon this reafonne, that the executioun of the charge to compeir befor his Maestie and Loirdis of Secreit Counfall, wes nocht subscryuit, att the leif, wes nocht stampit, be the officer : As to the subscruptioun, it wes nawyis necessar be the lawis of this realme, and thairfore the caus of gewing of the saidis Lordis Decreit man be ascryuit allanerlie to the wanting of the stamp. It is also of veritic, that the said James Wauchop continewit in his rebellious be the space of four yeiris or thairby, and newir quarrellit the famin in his tyme ;⁸ and thairfore, quabsumewir thing is done be the saidis Lordis Decreit aucht nawyis preiudge the Defender in his Defence of the alledgeit cryme, committit of before, he being now challengeit vpon the said alledgeit slauchter.—

¹ To recall, retract, or set aside.

² Leading, carrying on.

³ A form of law, proceeding on a writ issued from Chancery, by which a person is returned by an Inquest, as heir to a party deceased.

⁴ Altogether, entirely.

⁵ Giving, or granting, for the sake of argument.

⁶ An official notification given by a Messenger at arms to the party against whom a writ is issued, and certified by the officer serving, in an instrument, termed an 'Execution,' which is usually indorsed upon it.

⁷ Only, scely.

⁸ During his lifetime.

And that pairt of my Lord Aduocattis anfuwer, beirand, 'that the Reductioun of the Hoirning eftir the flauchter, is alyke as gyf the Hoirning had newir bene execute,' is allenarie irrelevant of the Law, in this mater, and fubiect quhairvpoun the queftion ftandis; for, be the Lawis of all natiounis, ane rebell, fpeciallie for ane caus of Treaſoun, may be flayne, and that flauchter is nocht pwneifabill be the lawis; quhilk is of veritie, nocht only quhen the proces of rebelloun is maift juftlie and ordourlie procedit, bot als this famin ground of the law is als trew, quhen be a Decreit of the Prince and bis Counfall ony perfoun, challangeit vpoun Treaſoun or ony vthir cryme, comperis nocht bot difobeyis, and thairfoir is ordenit to be declarit and publeift as rebellis; and quhair publicatioun is maid dewlie and fufficiently, and quhair the famin is regiftrat in the proper registeris appertening thairto, as is cleirlye verifeit in this caice be the writtis produceit, the gritteft point of this queftioun ftandis in the propofitioun: For verificatioun quhairfof, the defender alledgeis thir places of the Law and of the Doctouris, as followis, to preif this conclufioun, Quod Bannitum, cuius bannum iniuſtum aut nullum eſt, impune licet occidere. Alexander, concilio 65, lib. 3, numero 6, et deinceps. Baldus, confilio 142, lib. 4.—Phillippus Decius, confilio 482, lib. 4.—Nellus a Sancto Germano, in Tractatu 'de Bannitis.'—Bartolus, in lib. 'Si ex lege facta de Adulterijs,' Verba Bartoli ad queftionem, 'de eo qui interfecit non legitime exbannitum,' et dicit, 'fi interficiens nullitatem ſciebat, tum punitur; ſecus, ſi hoc ignorabat et quod ignorans, non puniatur;' reddit rationem Dicjus, qua occidens deceptus eſt, auctoritate publice ſcripture.—Bartolus in L. 2, § 'hec actio,' ff. vi bonorum raptorum. Hec Bartoli verba, 'Occidens bannitum cuius bannum non tenebat, excuſabitur a pena homicidij.'—Joannes Andree in additionibus ad ſpeculat. in Tit. de Obligationibus et ſolutionibus, concludit, quod 'ſi quis banitus fuerit propter pœniam non ſolutam et poſtea ſoluerit, banno tamen non cancellato occiſus fuerit, non tenetur pena homicidij.'—Bartolus in L. genero ff. de his qui notantur infamia, hec verba, quod 'ſi quis occidit illum quem credebat eſſe exbannitum, vel adulteravit illam quem credebat non mixtam, quod non puniatur pena homicidij nec adulterij.'—Item, Julius Clauus, § finali, in his criminibus in verbo 'Homicidium,' quhair he treitis this queftioun att grit lenth; quhair rebelloun is nocht formall, or quhen thair is ane play, na nullitie, gif the rebelloun be fund in the regifter and nocht cancellat, nor na Relaxatioun, as we call it in the famin Regifter, occiſor non teneatur pena homicidij.

Item, the Defender defyris my Lord Juſtice, for ſchortnes, to reſſaue the buikis contenant the places alledgeit, and to confidder the famin, as accordis; ſpeciallie, ſeing the queftioun is nocht only vpoun the defenderis lyffe, bot als it may bring in ane dangerous preparatiue throw all this realme; that eftir a man be flayne, being fund att the horne be vertew of ane Decreit, and the hoirning newir being quarrellit during all his tyme, and the Hoirning being retreit¹ allauerlie, for want of ane ſlamp vpoun the fyrſt charge of ſummonds, quhairfof all men mycht pretend juſt ignorance, be reaſoun that the ſaidis lettres of Hoirning with the Decreit wer regiftrat, lyke as, the ſaid Hoirning wer ſtampit, and the ſaidis Lettres of Hoirning and chargeis wer reduceit, in confequentiam; for the charge wes newir regiftrat nor miſterit² to be regiftrat. It is alſo gritlie to be weit³ that this flauchter procedit nocht vpounne ony lang precogitat malice, bot vpoun ane quarrell tane betwix twa young men in thair heit, vpoun ane ſingular combat, fochin⁴ the tyme and place appointit; quhilk nedit nocht his Maieſteis Licence, becaus the ſaid James Wauchop wes nocht his lieg, bot rebell, as ſaid is.

It is repliyt be the perſewaris, as ofbefore, that the haill former alledgances aucht to be repellit, becaus the famin being foundit vpoun the ſaid Hoirning, and vpoun the priuledge of the Law to flae rebellis, the ſaid Hoirning falling, the haill alledganceis following thairvpoun lykewyis fallis, for the cauſis foirſaidis: And quhair it is alledgeit, that the Decreit annulling the Hoirning is null, becaus it wes gewin be the Lords of Seſſioun, nocht being Judgeis competent; and for the non comperance of the defender ſummond, and that the famin can be na forder extendit nor to the perſewaris interes lybellit, it aucht to be Repellit, in respect of the Decreit standand, to the validitie quhairof and jurisdiction of the Lordis of Sessioun gewaris thair of my Lord Justice is nocht Judge; nather can ane Decreit, gewin vpon the nullitie of ane Hoirning for ane nullitie of the law, be restrictit to the particular interes of ane partie perfewar, bot being fund null of the Law, att the instance of ony lauchfull partie, man be null, quoad omnes mortales; nather is thair ony relevant caus contenit in the saidis alledgeanceis, quhairfore the said Robert Auchmowtie sould nocht haif bene summond to the gewing of the said Decreit, for his cryme and malifice could nocht mak him necessar partie in the Reduction of the Hoirning, execute at my Lord Thesaureris instance, aganis the defunct. And quhair the alledgeance beris, that the Decreit of the Lords of Secreit Counfall and lettres rasit thairvpon, with the denunciatioun and registratioun of the famin, being formall, and exstant publictly in Registeris, can nocht be tane away in consequentiam, for nullitie of the fyrst charge, that is altogidder irrelevant of the law; quhairby it is exprellie provydit, that na man can be lauchfullie denunceit to the horne, vnles he be fyrst lauchfullie chargeit: The Decreit produceit, with the lettres and denunciatioun following thairvpon, can newir subsist, becaus thay proceid nocht vpon ane lauchfull charge, bot vpon ane charge altogidder null of the law, and declarit to haif bene sa fra the beginning, be the Decreit produceit: And quhair it is affermit be the pannell, that the law of all natiounis, licet rebelles impune occidere, for verificatioun quhair of thay cite Alexr, Bartolus, Baldus, Nellus, Decius, Julius Clarus and vtheris, it is anferit, that na respect aucht to be had in this caice to the said alledgeances, becaus the defunct wes newir rebell be vertew of the Horning produceit; becaus it is exprellie statute, be Act of Parliament, that all chargeis and executiones of Lettres of Horning falbe stampit with the messenger executouris stamp, beirand the fyrst lettres of his name and surname, vthirwyis, incaise ony of the executionis necessaris want the solempneteis of the law, the Horning is altogidder null; and it is of veritie, that the only charge quhairvpon the Decreit and Hoirning produceit procedis, wantis the said solemnitie, as is declarit in the Decreit-reductiue produceit; and thairfore the said Horning is, and wes fra the beginning null; quhilk nullitie being ane nullitie of the law, is and hes alwyis bene compitent to haif bene proponit, be way of actioun or exceptione: And seing the famin could newir haif debarrit the said vmq^e James, being on lyffe, fra his defence, or haif bene objectit to him as ane lauchfull impediment to him; sa the famin can nocht stay nor delay the lauchfull tryell and pwnishment of his slauchter, speciallie, becaus the said Horning is nocht only null of the law, bot declarit null be sentence of the ordiuer Judge: And quhair it is allegit be the pannell, that many inconvenientis may follow to the liegis, gif ane Horning, exstant in the Register att the tyme of the slauchter committit, in the perfun of the pretendit rebell, the famin falbe na warrand to the committer of the slauchter; gif ony place be to motiues, in this judgement, my Lord Justice hes to confidder how mony grittar inconvenientis may enfew, gif ane fals or null Hoirning, exstant in the Register, falbe ane sufficient warrand to murthour ony of his hienes frie liegis without perrell or puneifment. And as to the haill authoriteis of the Doctouris alledgeit, thay ar sett doune vpon ane generall propositioun, proceding, nimirum non fiante statuto, quod licet bannitum impune occidere; possit quis puniri ob interfectionem illius, cuius bannum de Registro non erat cancellatum, vel cuius bannum erat nullum? Quhilk can nocht militat in our caice, becaus thair is na statute nor Law in this countrey gewing power to all men to slae sic as ar att the horne; mekle les to slae sic as wes newir lauchfullie att the horne; igitur, &c.

¹ Retracted or ſet aſide.² Needed, had occaſion to be.³ Weighed,⁴ Fought.

The Defender, be his preloquoutouris, Repetis thair former alledgeances, insofar as the famin contenis thair objectionis aganis the Decreit-reductiue, and remittis the famin to my Lord Justice, speciallie in that pairt, quhairin the Justice-generall, in ane mater criminall, properlie appertening to his jurisdiction, may judge in ane mater of Treafoun or Reductioun of ane Decreit gewin vpon ane challenge of Treafoun; in the reductioun of the quhilk Decreit, thay could na mair be Judgeis nor thay mycht be judgeis in the principall caus or mater. And quhair it is reasonit be the perfewaris, that the proces of Hoirning is reduceit, the defenderis adheris to the anferis maid be thame ofbefoir; and eikis thairto, that the perfewaris alledgances ar nocht relevant, nocht specifeand that the said proces of Horning wes reduceit before the said alledgeit slauchter; for the reduction supervenient, and speciallie for the alledgeit want of ane stamp, quhilk is the only reasoun of the said reduction, is na caus to take the defenderis lyffe; speciallie, the want of ane stamp nocht being in the denunciatioun of the Horning, bot in the executioun of the charge, quhilk wes nather registrat nor necessar to be registrat: And forder, it is anfuert be the Defender, that of the Law and practik of all natiounis, and speciallie within this realme, na man is pwneit for the slauchter of ane rebell; and quhensoeuer the rebelloun wes proponit aganis the accusatioun, the Justice newir patt that slauchter to the knowledge of ane Assyis, quhilk, as is belewit, my Lord Advocat will nocht deny; swa that the argument is nocht vpoun that generall; ffor it is out of all dout, that my Lord Advocat makis the questioun vpoun the Reduction of the horning: To the quhilk it is anfuert, be the maist part of the wryteris on the Law, that howbeit the proces of rebelloun eftir the slauchter wer fund informall or null of the law, that declaratur can nawyis preiudge the partie defender; and this is maist equitabil and agreeand to reasoun: And it apperis, that thair is na anfuert maid to the conclusioun of the Doctouris of the law; bot that thay found thame selfis, in the countreis quhair statutis ar maid, that it fould be lessum to ony privat man to slay ane rebell, and that in this realme thair is na sic statute or ordinance: To quhilk it is anfuert, that the Justice-Generall followis the dispositioun of the Commoun Law and the consuetude of all natiounis: and als, it is knawin to be ane inveterat consuetude of this realme, att this tyme, and by the space of twentie zeiris bypast, that quha soewir is challengeit vpoun ane slauchter and vpoun rebelloun wes newir putt to the knowledge of ane Assise; and thair is na questioun that ane consuetude inviolabile oberfuit is of gritar force nor ane writtin law, L. 'non dubium,' ff. 'de legibus;' and as the Doctouris concludis, that ane rebell, quha wes declarit formallie rebell, may be slayne vnpwneit, sa thay conclude, quhair the proces of rebelloun is newir drawin in questioun the tyme of the rebellis lyfytyme, bot eftir his deccis, albeit the famin be null, the slayer still (shall) nawyis be pwneit: Now, this is owre proper questioun, an Bannitus vel rite vel nulliter bannitus, possit impune offendi? The affirmatiue thairof is cleirlye verifeit be the allegatiounis before reberfit, in the quhilkis the Doctouris adduces diuers grit praktesis and decisiounis in findrie of the maist famous Judgementis¹ of Europ, quhair the slayaris of rebellis, albeit vnjustlie declarit rebellis, and quhais rebelloun wes declarit null: Quhilkis allegatiounis ar nawyis refutit be my Lord Advocat, that quhen the rebelloun is fund null eftir the slauchter that the slayar falbe pwneit.

It is anfuert be the perfewaris to the fyrst part of the alledgance, anent the jurisdiction of the Lordis of Sessioun, anent the Reduction of the Horning produceit, that albeit thay could nocht haif bene judgis compitent to the tryall of the cryme content in the charge vrit aganis the defunct, yit thay wer maist compitent judgeis to the Reduction of the Hoirning, for the nullitie of the law thairin content; nather aucht thair ony respect to be had to the dait of the decreit of Reduction, gewin sen the slauchter of the said vnr^{le} James Wauchop, becaus the famin, being ane Declaratur of nullitie of the said charge and denunciatioun following thairvpoun; lyke as the famin charge and Hoirning following thairvpoun mycht haif bene alledgeit and declarit null in this Judgment, be way of exceptioun, gif it had bene produceit in this Judgment, quhilk is nocht necessar now, in respect of the Declaratur and Decreit produceit: And as to the generall ground of the Law proponit for the pannell, quhilk thay wald mantene be ane alledgeit custum of this Court, quhilk thay wald mak equivalent to ane statute, becaus thay haif na Law nor Act of Parliament to warrand the said propositioun; the said alledgeit custum of this Court can nawyis warrand this propositioun, becaus it wes newir fund be ony sentence or Interloquoutour of this Court, that it wes lesum to slae ane man being at the horne; bot quhensoewir the pannell proponit sic ane defence, the griteft favour that wes grantit to thame, in respect thair-of, wes to continew the mater to the thryd day of the Air or soner, vpoun xv dayes wairning; quhilk can nocht be grantit in this caice, becaus it is sufficientlie verifeit to my Lord Justice, that the defunct deit nocht rebell, and that the Hoiring vñt in thair defence is and wes null fra the beginning, and wes null of the law; quhilk is the principall reply quhairvpoune the perfewaris infistis: And yit, for satisfioun of the defenderis argument, that of the law, licet Bannitum impune occidere, licet illius bannum fuerit nullum, it is anfuert, and the perfewaris fall verifie be the authouris citat be the defenderis, that the contrar is trew of the law; as is affermit be Bartolus in L. ‘vt vim,’ numero primo ff. ‘de Justicia et jure,’ in thir wordis, ‘Bannitus est referuata defensio, ergo illicita est offensio;’ et infra, ‘fed ego dico, quod de jure communi non licet occidere Bannitos.’ Forder, for corroboratioun of the reply, foundit vpoun the nullitie of the Hoiring, and that thairfore can furneis na defence to the pannel, the perfewaris citatis¹ Bartolus ad legem quartam, § ‘condemnatum,’ ff. ‘de re iudicata,’ his verbis; ‘non jure Bannitus, non dicitur exbannitus, nec potest impune offendi.’ Idem ad Legem penultimum, ff. ‘de adimendis legatis;’ et ad legem ‘vxor,’ numero tertio, ff. ‘de Donationibus inter virum et uxorem;’ et lege, ‘non putant’ § non queuis,’ ff. ‘de bonorum possessione contra tabulas.’—Forder, it is ane propositioun mantentit be all the Doctouris, quod ‘non licet Bannitum in ciuitate tolleratum impune occidere, quia talis tollerantia in ciuitate preflabat illi securitatem, tamen de banno nondum fuerit cancellatus.’ Sallicetus in Lege, ‘nullus,’ capitulo ‘de Judeis;’ et sequitur Joannes de Anama in capitulo ‘sicut;’ extra ‘de Indicijs,’ dicens ‘hoc esse singulare dictum et se vidisse seruari in Bononia;’ Joannes de Arnono, singulari decimo; Hippolitus de Marcilijs, singulari 77. Phelmus in capitulo, ‘sicuti Judei’ in fine; Et ibi Johanes de Anonia extra ‘de Judeis.’—And it is manifest that the defunct, continewallie estir the alledgeit Hoiring to the hour of his deceis, had publict resoirt within this burcht, and had acces and permissioun to do his lauchfull effairis thairin bot ony impediment, bot of the knowledge, permissioun and allowance of the Magiftratis and Counfall thairof, it being knawin that he wes the Kingis frie liege, and nawyis lauchfullie denunceit at the horne: Lyke as, the pannell wes his familiar companzeoune, frequentit his conversatioun, borrowit and lent, eit and drank with him, as his awin confessioun beris; and swa can newir be hard to say that he wes rebell.—Fynallie, the pannell can newir be hard to found ony defence vpoun the foirsaid ground of the law, quod licet Bannitum impune occidere, becaus it is certan of the law ‘quod impunitas occidenti Bannitum non conceditur, quando non ob publicam vtilitatem sed ob priuatum odium vel priuatas inimicitias quis bannitum interficit hunc enim vel ut homicidum debet Iudex punire.’ Bartolus in Lege ‘de Delictoribus,’ lib. ij: Ludouicus Romanus in Lege ‘si quis in graui,’ § ‘vtrum,’ ff. ‘ad Senatam consultum;’ Felicius in capitulo ‘in Ecclesiorum,’ numero 10, 11, vel 12, ‘de Constitutionibus.’ Marcilius consilio nono, numero 28, et consilio 10 numero 42. Baldus in Lege ‘decuriones,’ capitulo, ‘de his qui notantur infamia,’ &c., ‘hanc sententiam probant Doctores omnes’ ad Legem ultimum, Capitulo ‘de maleficis et machematicis,’ in fine, his verbis, ‘aut proprium fortassis inimicum sub huiusmodi vindicti nomine occidens’² And it is notour and confest be the pannel to the Kingis Maestie, and att his examinatioun, that he slew the defunct, not for ony respect of his pretendit rebellious or for seruice to his Prince, bot for his awin particuler quarrell and combatt, vudertane vpoune the pannellis provocatioun and cartell in writ; quhilk falbe sufficientlie verifeit to my Lord Justice, gif he think itt expedient. In respect quhairof, the haill former alledgeances aucht to be repellit, and the dittay aucht to be putt to the knowledge of ane Affyis.

¹ Tribunals, courts of Justice.

It is anfuert be the defender, that the Lordis of the Sessioun could newir be Judgis to the Reductioun of the Hoiring, becaus it procedit vpoun ane decretit gewin be the King and Counfal; to the Reduction quhairof the saidis Lordis wer nocht Judgis; and swa the Decreit standand, thay could be na Judgis to the reductioun of the Hoiring.—To the secund pairt, quhair it is alledgeit, that it wes newir found in this Court, that itt wes lesum to ony persoun to slae (ane re)bell, &c. it is anfuert, that quhen rebelloun is proponit the judgement and gif neid beis nocht only continewatioun of the mater wes do decisiounis, wes directlie the allegatioun maid of the Doctouris (by) the Perfewaris; the defendar referis to the buikis,¹ hinc inde. As to the argument (of) ane rebell being tolerat in ane citie can nocht be offendit, the maist part of the Doctouris concludis indistinctlie, that he may be offendit quhidder he be tollerat or nocht; and mair, althocht he obtenit the Kingis grace, and the grace be nocht registrat, potest impune occidi; fa it is in this caise, quhair thair is na Relaxatioun registrat: Attowre, the reply wes newir fund relevant be the practik of this realme, and it wer ane grit danger gif swa war. Item, that pairt, it is nocht lesum to slae ony rebell privati odij causa, &c. it is nocht relevant, ffor the maist part of all the wryteris are in the contrar; and be the practik of this realme, non queritur, vtrum fit publici boni an privati odij causa?

¹ Cite or quote.

² Part of this page torn away here, by which several lines are rendered unintelligible.

The perfewaris ceisand to repeat ony thing that is alreddy said, answers only to twa pointis, qubilkis femis to be newere proponit be the defenderis; the ane, that the Doctouris affermis, that ane rebell haifing obtenit the Kingis grace, may be slayne but perrell of Law, gif his grace be nocht registrat; quhilk is altogidder contrair the lawis and practik of this countrey, becaus in crymes of rebelloun committit to the Kingis Maiesteis only particular offence, his Maiesteis awin is grantit to the rebell preiugeis haill crymes, and makis him to be lauchfull subject, that may nocht dit but pwnement, and his in that cause nedit na quhair it is nixt alleget wes newir practesit, that ane man being slayne att the horne, and his kyn and freindis perfewing the flear before the Justice, that ony proces wes grantit in the mater: It is answers be the perfewaris, that in ane actioun altogidder lyke to this caise, verry notour to my Lord Justice and all the memberis of Court, the Laird of Arkinglas, being accusit for the slauchter of the Laird of Caddell, alledgeit, that na proces could be grantit in the said mater, becaus the defunct wes slayne att the horne; and for verificatioun thairof producit Lettres of Hoirning dewlie execute, indorsat and registrat aganis the defunct, att the instance of Mr James Harvie, advocat: To the quhilk it wes answers, that the said Hoirning wes reduceit, and sa could nocht stay proces: It was duplyit, that the Reductioun could nocht preiudge the pannell, becaus the actioun of the Reductioun wes intentit estir the deceise of the Laird of Caddell, and sa could nocht mak him nocht to haif deceissit att the horne, nather could the said defender be preiudgeit, he nocht being callit thairto, speciallie seing the perfewaris of the Reductioun, to witt the relict and bairnis of the defunct, becaus lang before the intentioun of the said Reductioun, thay had summond the said Laird of Arkinglas to vnderly the Law for the said slauchter, and for his nocht comperance had putt him to the horne; to the quhilk it wes answers, that the Hoirning being null fra the beginning, and declarit sa be the Decreit of the Lordis, the Decreit wes drawin bak to the tyme of the denunciatioun, and sa the defunct deit nocht att the horne, nather wes it necessar to thame to call the said Laird of Arkinglas to the said Reductioun, becaus his cryme could mak him to haif na interes in thair ciuile caus and thay had done sufficiently calling the partie rasar of the lettres, and the Kingis Thesaurar and Advocat for his Maiesteis interes: In respect of the qubilkis answers, verifeit be the Decreit producit, my Lord Justice repellit the haill defensis proponit be the pannell vpoun the said Hoirning, declarit the samin null, and fand forder proces in the said mater.—In respect quhairto, being ane case sa lyke to this present cais, that thair can na a poynt of disconformitie be alledgeit betuix the caissis; Repeatand the former answers thairwith, the haill alledgeances proponit be the defenderis aucht to be Repellit.

It is answers be the defenderis, as to my Lord Advocat alledgeance anent the Princeis grace and admissioun to his sycht, omnino id non relevat, without ane relaxatioun.—Item, anent the secund alledgeance, foundit vpoun ane practik, anent the accusatioun of Arkinglas; answers, that thair is na thing schawin to verifie; and protestis, that it be nocht respectit, vnto¹ itt be schawin, that we may anfuert thairto.—The Aduocat referis the notoriety thairto to my Lord Justice.—It is anfuert be the defender, that that alledgeit notoriety can nocht preiudge him, without he saw it, and might anfuert thairto.

¹ The Books or authorities formerly quoted by the pursuer.

THE JUSTICE continewis Interloquoutour to the fewint of Junij instant.

[Mr William Haert, Justice-Depute.]

Jun. 7.—The Defenderis desyris the practik alledgeit for Arkinglas to be sene, before ony forder proces; quhilk can nocht be refusit, bayth in respect of the Act of Parliament, be the quhilk it is statute, that all the verificatiounes of the accuser sould be produceit in presens of partie, quha can nocht be preiudgeit be the pretendit knowledge of the Judge or memberis of Court, speciallie in ane accusatioun capital.—The perswaris anfuertis, that the Act of Parliament alledgeit be the defenderis, is only anent the verificatioun of the cryme to be produceit to the Assyis; and that na vther verificatioun sould be ressaunt, fra² the Assyis be incloft, nor wes alledgeit and produceit in presens of partie before the inclofting; and concernis nocht the alledgeances of the Law nor practik maid and to be decydit before my Lord Justice, in the quhilk his awin knowledge and conscience is his onlie warrand.—Anfuert the defender, that in ony mater criminall, thair may be twa kynd of defensis to him; ane to impeid the mater to pass to ane Assyse, the vther, to purge be the Assyis, quhen thay ar chosin: In this cause, thair is ane exception peremptour proponit, quhairfore this mater sould nocht pass to ane Assyse, to the quhilk thair is diuers anfuertis, and replyis maid; and speciallie the last, foundit vpoun the said pretendit practik quhairvpoun my Lord Aduocat apperis maist to be foundit; and gif ony sic practik be, it sould nocht be respectit without the productioun thairto, be reafoun that in ane ciuile cause of leift consequens, ane decisioun alledgeit and nocht produceit wald nocht be respectit, and gif the said alledgeit practik wer schawin, the defender wald reafoun that it wald nocht militate in this cause: And the Judge can haif na warrand in this caus to judge vpoun his conscience; the practik nocht being produceit, and the partie nocht being hard.—Anfuert the perswaris, that thair reply is nocht foundit vpoun the practik alledgeit, bot vpoun the Decreit of Reductioun of the Hoirning vsit be the defenderis; the effect of the quhilk decreit being impugnit be the defenderis, the said Decreit is mantenit be the perswaris to be ane lauchfull ground, be law, reafoun, and practik, to mak the said hoirning null fra the beginning; and for my Lord Justice bettir satisfactioun, the said practik is alledgeit, quhilk being notour to his Lordship, as done in ane actioun quhair as himself was perswar, it nedis na forder productioun nor verificatioun; ffor the relevancie of the said reply dependis nocht vpoun the practik, bot is relevant of the law, albeit the practik be allegeit for forder bleiring³ of the mater, and that quhilk is notour to the Judge, in jure vel praxi, nedis na forder verificatioun.

The defender anfuertis, that insofar as my Lord Aduocatis reply is foundit vpoun the law, he referis him to the lawis alledgeit be him of befor for his defence, and sayis, that thairby it is cleirly decydit that the defence proponit is of the law maist relevant, desyring the Judge, as he will anfuert to God and his Maiestie, that ewerie place alledgeit be confidderit be him and his Assessoris⁴ before the Interloquoutour: And quhair my Lord Aduocat anfuertis, that the relevancie of his alledgeance dependis nocht vpoun the practik, gif his lordship will anfuert directlie that it falbe na pairt of the verificatioun or confirmatioun of the reply, his lordship fall nocht be vrgit with the productioun thairto: bot, seing my Lord Aduocat affermis that that practik is fa notour and weil knawin to my Lord Justice in that mater, quhilk wes perswit at his awin instance; that knowledge, how grit it war, can nocht tak away the defenderis defensis, quhilk he can nocht propone, that practik nocht being schawin; speciallie, considdering the name of this judgement, and the wechtines thairto vpoun lyffe and deid, and it may verry weil stand, that the argumentis of the defence wes nocht maid in the vther cause

¹ Till.

² From the time that the Assise are inclosed.

³ Confusing, blinding.

⁴ The Assessors

are not marked in the Record; but it has formerly been remarked, that it was the daily custom to have Assessors, and that they are only occasionally named in the books of Adjournal.

quhairin the practik wes alledgeit : And farder, it is ane vndoutit ground of the law, that judgementis fould nocht proceed vpoun examplis, bot vpoun the lawis : And it is ane vther ground, that ony thing judgeit aganis ane perfoun can nocht be hurtfull to ane vther ; and the defender hopis that the Judge will nocht tak vpoun his conscience to proceed vpoun that practik, quhill it be fene be the partie and his objectiounis hard.

It is anfuert, that it is na forder neecessar to produce the practik alledgeit notour to the judge him selff, nor to produce ane law and Act of Parliament ; and swa thay ceis to insist ony forder vpoun that poynt. As to the last pairt of the last anfuert, that the Judge aucht to decerne be law and nocht be examplis, it apperis that that anfuert can nocht weill agrie with ane vther anfuert maid be the partie in this famin proces, that the practik and custum of the Court hes the force and effect of ane Law ; quhairvpoun thay inferrit that it wes lesum, be the practik of this countrey, to slay ane man att the horne, quhilk wes nocht sa relevantlie alledgeit be thame as this practik is be the perfewaris, becaus thay alledgeit na decisioun in termes for thair argument, as in this caice. As to the last pairt, quod res inter alios acta, alios non preiudicat, that is vnderstand to be confiderit in facto ; bot quhair in lyke caissis that is decernit be the Judge to be Law, quhilk may astrik¹ him of Law and reason to the lyke decisioun in thingis thaireftir falling furth, it is nocht to be confiderit ratione rei, sed ratione paritatis rationis, quhilk makis the constant² decisiounis of the Judgis in caissis bypast, to haif the effect and strent^h of Law in thingis present and to cum.

The Defender anfuert, that thair is na difconformitie of his former anfuertis to ony of his vther alledgeances maid in this proces, ffor it is certane, that be the constitutionis of the maist pairt of all the Nationis, quod licet Bannitum impune offendere ; and it is ressaunt as ane commoun law within all the Judgementis³ within Europ, and within this realme ; and quhairwir it is alledgeit, it stopis the pannell to pas to ane Affyise ; and it is certane that thair is ane grit difference betuix ane Law confiderit, and ane example : ffor ane Law is ane thing quhilk is perfyte of itt selff ; ane consuetude hes the effect of ane law, quhair it is groundit vpoun mony factis and decisiounis, in foro contradictorio, quhair the parteis ar hard ; bot vpoun ane singlar act thair can nocht be ane consuetude induceit ; and gif the practik alledgeit vpoun this singlar act wer exhibite, the partie wald propone, that that practik war nocht in the termis of this caus : And thairfoir, the defender repetis his fyrst desyre vpoun the productioun of the practik ; and gif it be nocht produceit, the anfuert maid thairvpoun fould nocht be respectit.—And forder, the defender alledgeit, that be⁴ the perfewaris verefeis nocht thair intencion ; and thairfoir referris him to the buikis.

The perfewaris and defenderis being inquirt, gif thay wald say forder, declarit that thay wald say na forder.

INTERLOCUTOR. The Justice continewis this mater to Tyisday nixtocum, the tent day of Junij instant, becaus he is nocht throuchlie auisit with the alledgeances, defensis and anfuertis proponit, hinc inde.

The famin day, Mr George Wauchop, ane of the perfewaris, produceit his Maiesteis Warrant, quhairof the temour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputis, We greit you weill. Forfamekill as Robert Auchmowtie, chirurgiane, is presentlie in waird, for þe slauchter of vmq^{le} James Wauchop, the parentis of the said James haifing lamentable suted⁵ att our handis for Justice, quhilk We of our Royall dewtie can nocht refuse. IT is our Will pairfore, and We command you, that you, with all convenient diligence, eftir the sycht heirof, you proceed and minister justice vpoun the said Robert, for the slauch-

¹ Restrict.

² Uniform, undeviating.

³ Tribunals, Courts of judgment.

⁴ Besides, forbye.

⁵ Suited, sued, made suit.

ter of the said vmq^{le} James: And gif ony difficultie aryise, that 3e vse the auise of þe wyfest and maist lernit men, in discufsing þairof, quhom 3e fall adioyne to 3ow as Affeffouris. And this 3e faille nocht to do, nochtwithstanding of quhatfumewir Warrant, directioun or command, gewin or to be gewin to 3ow on þe contrar. As 3e will answer to ws þairvpoune; quhairanent thir presentis falbe 3our warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, At Striueling, the penult day of Maij, 1600.

(Sic subferibitur)

JAMES R.

Vpoun the production quhairof, he askit instrumentis; as also askit instrumentis, that the Justice continewit to proceid and gif Interloquoutour in the said mater, quhill the tent day of this instant.

[Mr Robert Lyntoune, substitute to the Aduocat, in his absens.]

Jun. 10.—The famin day, George Wauchop produceit the Kingis Maiefteis Warrant, and desyrit the famin to be infert, quhairof the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and 3our deputis, We greit 3ow weill. Forfamekill as it is schawin to ws, that the commoun course of justice, quhillk We ar maist willing fould be participat to our haille liegis, it is verry fair hinderit and delayit be verry friuolous subterfugeis in þe persuit intentit be George Wauchop aganis Robert Auchmowtie chirurgiane; quhairin as We of our princelie dewtie hes ewir bene of intenioun, that in þat mater justice fould haif place; swa We wald na occasioun wer gewin to þe partie persewaris justlie to mak complent to ws of þe stay of justice heirintill: Thairfore it is our command, that all excuiffis sett a pairt, without ony delay quhatfumewir, 3e proceid and minister justice in þe said mater: As ye will answer to ws vpoun þe dewtiefull discharge of your office. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Falkland, the nynt day of Junij, 1600.

(Sic subferibitur)

JAMES R.

INTERLOQUOUTOUR aganis Robert Auchmowtie.

THE Justice Repellis the haille Defensfis proponit in the twa Courtis of before, for the defender, in respect of the answaris maid thairto on the Law and vtherwyis be his Maiefteis aduocat: And thairfore, ordanis the said Robert to be put to the knowledge of ane Assyise, for the Dittay produceit be the aduocat aganis him, tuicheing the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} James Wauchop.

Thaireftir, the said Robert declarit that he wald cum in his Maiefteis will, for the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} James Wauchop.

The Persewaris askit instrumentis of (the) Justice Interloquoutour, and that the said Robert declarit he wald cum in his Maiefteis will, for the Slauchter of the said vmq^{le} James: And thairefter, produceit ane Warrant direct fra his Maieftie; quhairof the temmour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and 3our deputis, We greit 3ow weill. It is our will, and We command 3ow, that in cais Robert Auchmowtie, att his accusatioun for þe slauchter of vmq^{le} James Wauchop, becum in our will for þe famin, that 3e refuse to accept him in will, and putt him to þe knowledge of ane Assyis, proceid and minister justice vpoun him, conforme to þe lawis of our realme: As 3e will answer to ws vpoun 3our office and obedience; kepand þir presentis for 3our warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Falkland, the aucht day of Junij, 1600.

(Sic subferibitur)

JAMES R.

In respect of the quhilk Warrant produceit, the Judge ordenit the said Robert to be putt to ane Assyise.

The said Robert declarit in oppin audience, in presens of God, that Johnne Auchmowtie and James Chalmeris cam nocht neir him att the combat betuix him and vni^{le} James Wauchop; and that thay vewit the feildis only, that the Baillie of Nudreis fonis war nocht to supplie him.

ASSISA.

William Naper merchand-burges of Edinburgh,	Robert Halyburtoune merchand- burges thair,	Johne Stenhop of Stenhop-mylne, Thomas Marschell merchand thair,
Patrik Kennedie saidler burges thair,	Alex Broune merchand thair, James Lychtounne merchand thair,	Alex ^r Fairlie of Braid thair, Andro Watfoune, merchand thair,
Johne Henderfoun maltman in Plefance,	Andro Naper merchand thair, Johne Landis merchand thair,	Johne Heriot tailzeour merchand thair.
Johne Ramsay of Quhytehill,	Johne Aitkyn merchand thair,

VERDICT. Quhilkis personis of Assyis, being chosin, sworne and admittit, and the said Robert accusit be Dittay of the crymes abouewrittin, quhilkis war also sworne be the saidis George and Mr George Wauchopis to be of veritie; removit altogidder furth of Court to the Counsale-hous, quhair thay, eftir cheffing of the said Alexander Fairlie of Braid Chancellor, ressonit and votit vponne the poyntis of the said Dittay; and being throuchlie avysit thairwith, re-enterit agane in Court, quhair thay, be the mouth of the said Alexander Fairlie of Braid, Chancellor, ffand, pronunceit and declarit the said Robert to be fylit, culpabill and convict of the slauchter of the said vni^{le} James Vauchope, committit the xx day of Apryle lastwas, vponne St Leonardis-Craigis.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk cause, the said Justice, be the mouth of Robert Galbraith, dempstar of the said Court, Ordanit the said Robert Auchmowtie to be tane to ane skaffald, besyde the mercat-croce of the burch of Edinburgh, and thair his heid to be strykkin fra his bodie; and all his movabill guidis to be escheit and inbrocht to our souerane lordis vsf, as culpabill of the said cryme: Quhilk wes pronunceit for dome.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.]

Treasonable Reset and Intercommuning with a Declared Traitor.

JUN. 11.—SIR JOHNE CRANSTOUNE of that Ilk, knycht, and Mr Williame Craustoune, fear of that Ilk.

Comperit Mr Williame Craustoun, fear of that Ilk, and produceit ane Warrant, direct fra his Maiestie, Ordaning the perfuit aganis him and his gud-fader to be continewit, as followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputis, We greit 5ow weill. It is our will, and for certang cauffis and consideratiounis moving ws, We command 5ow, that, vponne the sycht heiroy, 5e continew the dyet appointit for þe Lairdis of Cranftoune, eldar and ʒounger, for thair comperance befoir ʒow, to vnderly þe Lawis for þe crymes contenit in our lettres direct þairanent, vnto þe xvij day of Junij instant; and on nawayis proceid aganis þame, nor þair cautioners, fund for þair comperance þat day: As ʒe will anſuer to ws vpoun ʒour office and obedience; keþand þir presentis for ʒour War-rand. Subſeryuit with our hand, Att Falkland, the fyrft day of Junij, 1600.

(Sic ſubſcribitur)

JAMES R.

Mr Robert Lyntoune, aduocat ſubſtitute, produceit the Kingis lettres, purcheft att the inſtance of Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne, aduocat, aganis Sir Jolne Cranftoune of that Ilk, and Mr Williame Cranftoune, fear of that Ilk, for the Reſſett of Mr Thomas Cranftoune, funtyme of Morieftoune.—The ſaid Mr Williame Crauſtoun proteſtit, in reſpect that Mr James Watſoun, miniſter of Crauſtoun, comperit and teſtifeit the ſeiknes of Sir Jolne Crauſtoun of that Ilk, quha mycht nocht compeir. As alſo he comperit him ſelff, and wes reddie to find new (caution); that the Laird of Coldinknowis, cautioner for thair entrie be releuit; quhilk the Juſtice grantit.

James Dowglas of Caveris, ſcheref principall of Tewiotdaill, becomes pledge and fourtite, &c. for thair entrie the xvij day of Junij inſtant.

(Jun. 18.)—Being enterit on pannell, perſewit and accuſit be Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne, aduocat to our ſouerane lord, for his lienes interes, of the crymes following: That is to ſay, DITTAY againſt Sir Johnne Cranſtoun, kn^t, and Mr Williame Cranſtoun.

THAT quhair, it is expreſſie provydit, ſtatute and ordenit, be diuers lovabill Actis and Statutis of Parliament, that na maner of man tak vpoune hand, oppinlie and notourlie to rebell aganis our ſouerane lord; and rycht ſwa, it is ſtatute and ordenit, that nane of our ſouerane lordis liegis reſſett, ſupplie, mantene, do favouris and intercommoune with maniſt and notorious rebellis, and ſic as hes notoriouſlie committit Treſſoun, ather be help or be counſall, vnder the pane of treaſoun and forfaltour of thair lyffe, laudis and guidis: As the ſaidis Actis and Statutis in thame ſelffis att lenth beris, quhair of nane of our ſouerane lordis lordis liegis juſtlie can pretend ignorance. Neuirtheles, it is of veritie, that Mr Thomas Cranſtoun, funtyme apperand of Morieftoun, ffor diuers heich crymes of Treaſoun and Conſpiraceis, committit be him aganis his Maieſtie and Eſtait, in cumpany with Frances funtyme Erll Bothwell, and namelie, in the Conſpiracie prakteſit att his lienes Palice of Halyruidhouſ, in the moneth of December, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxxj yeiris, being forfaltit in the Parliament haldin att Edinburgh, in the moneth of I^m.V^c.lxxxxij yeiris; and thaireftir, of new, haifing committit the lyke treaſounis and attemptatis aganis his Maieſteis perfoun and eſtait, in the monethis of Junij, Julij, Auguſt, September, October, Nouember, December and Januar, or in ane or vther of the ſaidis monethis, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxxiij yeiris, he wes ſummond to haif comperit before his

Maieftie and Lordis of Secreit Counfall, to haif anfuerit for the faidis crymes and attemptatis ; and for his nocht comperance, wes decernit to be demunceit our fouerane lordis rebell, and putt to the horne ; and in respect thair of, be expres Act of his hienes Secreit Counfall, maid att Striueling, in the moneth of Februar, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxxiij yeiris, it wes statute and appointit, that nane of our fouerane lordis liegis fould tak vpoun hand to reflett, fupplie or intercommon with the faid Mr Thomas, or to furneis him meit, drink, hous, harbrie, nor vtherwis haif intelligence with him, priuatlie or publictie, be lettres, meffageis or ony vther maner of way, vnder the pane of Treaſoun. AND yit the faid Mr Thomas, continewing in his former Treaſoun and rebellious, he of new, in the moneth of Apryle, the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxxiiij yeiris, come in cumpany with the faid Frances funtyme Erll of Bothwell, James Dowglas funtyme of Spott, v^mq^{le} Hercules Stewart, brother to the faid Frances, v^mq^{le} Archibald Wauchop funtyme younger of Nudrie, and diuers vtheris his Maieftis rebellis, forfaltit traittouris, afflitit with certane elannit men of the Bordour, oppin thewis and rebellis, to the number of fax hundreth men, bodin in feir of weir,¹ with jakis,² ſpeiris, ſteil-bonnettis, hagbuttis, piſtolettis and all vther weirlyke prouifionis, and in profellit hoſtelitie, with cumpaneis of wad-geit³ men, diſplayit cornettis and bennaris, cam to the toun of Leith ; and thair-eftir, in thair retreat, betuix the Wowmet-edge and the Borrow-mure of the burch of Edinburgh, his Maieftie being in proper perſoune vpoune the feildis, invadit and perfewit diuers our fouerane lordis faithfull ſubiectis, perfewit thame for thair flauchteris, with drawin ſwordis, ſperis and ane grit number of ſchottis of hagbuttis and piſtolettis, and woundit ane number of thaim, to the grit effuſioun of thair blude, tuik diuers perſounes, ſpuilzeit thame of thair horſſis, armour and guidis : Quhairby, the faid Mr Thomas, being vpoun the ground, ane of the cheif leidaris and conductouris of the faidis rebellis, committit publict, profellit and maniſt Treaſoune : And continewallie ſenſyne, knawing his giltines in the faidis crymes being notour, hes bene fugitiue fra the lawis. Quhilkis rebellious being ſa grit and maniſt, and quhilkis of thame ſelfſis fould haif movit all the guid ſubiectis of the realme, to haif refuſit quhatſumewir maner of aid and ſupplie to the faid Mr Thomas : Yit it is maift trew, that Sir Johne Crauſtoun of that Ilk, knycht, cheif and ſpeciall kynniſman to the faid Mr Thomas, and Mr William Crauſtoun, fear of that Ilk, brother to the faid Mr Thomas, quha could nawyis miſknaw the faidis Conſpiraceis, treaſounis and rebellious, diuers and ſindrie tymes ſen the faidis yeiris, I^m.V^c.lxxxxiij and lxxxxiiij yeiris, bot ſpeciallie in the monethis of Januar, Februar, March, Apryle, Maij, Junij, Julij, Auguſt, September, October, November and December, in the yeir of God I^m.V^c.lxxxxix yeiris, att the leift in ane or vther of the faidis monethis, willinglie and wilfullie Reflett, fuppleit, intercomonit, gaif acid and counfall, hous and harbrie, meit and drink to the faid Mr Thomas Cranftoun, in his duelling-place of Nether Craling, fuppleit and intercomonit with him thairin, be the fpace of diners dayes and monethis, att thair pleafour; quhairby thay and ather of thame hes contrawenit the lawis, ftatutis and Actis of Parliament and Secreit Counfall, and hes incurrit the panis thairof, viz. of Treafoune and ffoirfaltour of thame felffis, thair lyffis, landis and guidis; quhairin thay aucht to be convict, in example of vtheris to comitt the lyke attemptatis in tyme cuning.

¹ In warlike array.² Short coats of chain or plate mail.³ Hired.

AND the faidis Sir Johnne and Mr Williame Cranftounis, being inquyrit, gif thay wald abyde the tryall of the law and of ane Affyfe, for the cryme foir-faidis; thay produceit the LETTER vnder writtin, for anfuer.

WE will nocht contend with his Maieftie; bot in pis mater, as in all vper thingis, we ar content to fubmitt our felffis to his Maieftis guid pleafour and will; protefting alwyis, that we can newir acknowledge our felffis to be giltye of ony cryme or offence; and fa, befeikis his hienes to confidder of ws, as of his Maieftis maift obedient faithfull and humble fubiectis.

(Sic fubferibitur) CRANSTOUN, W. CRANSTOUN.

The Juftice, nocht being auisit with the anfuer, continewis this mater to the morne, qu' ill he vnderftand his Maieftis mynd thairanent: And Ordanit the faidis Sir Johnne and Mr Williame Cranftoune to keip thair houffis.

(Jun. 19.)—The faidis Sir Johnne Cranftoune and Mr W^m Cranftoune tuik instrumentis of thair comperance, and proteftit for releif of thair fouirtie; and thaireftir produceit the Warrant vnderwrittin, quhairof the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice-Clark,oure Aduocat and your deputtis. It is our will, that Sir Johnne Cranftoun of pat Ilk, kny^t, and Mr Williame Cranftoun, fear pairof, be commandit to pair ludgeing, without finding of ony cautione for pair comperance befoir your heireftir: Quhairanent pir presentis falbe your Warrant. Att Haliruidhous, the xix of Junij, 1600. (Sic fubferibitur) JAMES R.

The quhilk Precept the Juftice admittit, and ordanit the faid Sir Johnne Cranftoun and Mr Williame Cranftoune to pas to thair ludgeing.

Hurting an Ox in the Plough—Pannel Banished.

JUN. 14.—GEORGE DEMPSTAR, fone to Dauid Dempstar, citiner,¹ (in Brechin).

Dilatit of hurting of ane ox pertening to Thomas Collace of Pitforquhie, with twa fraikis in the bak, quhilk ox was gangand in his pleuch, teilland his ground of the landis of Pitforquhie; committit in the moneth of Marche lafbypaft.

The faid George declaris, that he wald cum in his Maieftis will for the faid crime.—The Juftice declaris, he will put him to ane Affyfe.

¹ Citizen or 'indweller;' not a burges.

SENTENCE. The Affyis, be the mouth of thair Chancillar, Andro Wod, brother to Balbegno,¹ ffaud the said George to be ffylit, culpabill and convict.

The Justice delyuerit the said George Dempftar to Thomas Geddes, baillie, to be re-enterit in waird within the Castell of Edinburgh, quhill his Maieftes mynde wes knawin auent the dome.

DOME aganis George Dempftar.

Sentence was not pronounced, until Jul. 4, when the following entry occurs in the Record.—The said George Dempftar produceit his Maieftes Warrant, quhairof the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice-Clark and 3our deputis, We greit 3ow weil. Forfamekill as George Dempftar, fone to David Dempftar, citiener in Brechin, being convict before 3ow, in ane Justice-court, hauldin in our tolbuith of Edinburgh, the fourtene day of Junij laftbypast, for pe hurting of ane ox pertening to Thomas Collae of Pitforthie, quhilk wes teilland the ground of pe landis of Pitforchie; wes committit to ward, within our Castell of Edinburgh, quhill our mynd wes declarit pairanent: Thairfore, we command 3ow, that, eftir the fycht heirof, 3e caus present him on pannell, and pronounce dome, That he be Baneift our realme, during our will, for pe said cryme; and that he pas furth pairof, within fourtie dayis eftir pe dait heirof; and nocht to returne pairin, but our speciall licence; vnder pe pane of deid: ffor pronouncing quhairof, thir presentis falbe 3our warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyruidhous, the thryd day of Julij, 1600. (Sic subferibitur) JAMES R.

According to the quhilk Warrant, the Justice-depute, be the mouth of James Lowrie, dempftar, Ordenit the said George Dempftar to be baneift this realme, during our fouerane lordis will; and to pas furth thairof, within fourtie dayes eftir the dait heirof; and that he returne nocht thairin, but speciall licence of his Maieftie; vnder the pane of deid.

[Mr Robert Murray, Justice-Depute.]

Wearing and Shooting of Hagbutts and Pistolets, &c.

JUN. 24.—ADAM SCHAW, (in Castell-Cawill), brother to George Schaw of Glenmure.

Comperit Johne Halyday, aduoecat, and produceit ane Precept, direct be the Kingis Maieftie; quhairof the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice-Clark and 3our deputis, We greit 3ow weil. It is our will, and We command 3ow, that, vponne the fycht heirof, 3e continew the criminall actioun persewit att pe instance of our aduoecat aganis Adam Schaw of Glenmure, for bering and sehuting with hagbutts and pistolettis,² contrar pe tennour of our lawis and Actis of Parliament, vnto the fyrst day of Julij nixt;

¹ The others were Alexander Keyth, fone to the Laird of Ludquharne, Johne Ramfay callit of the Forth, James Ramfay of the Rinde, Thomas Wilkie portioner of Sauchton, Johne Dunbar of Moynes, Johne Stevinsoune of Hermefcheillis, George Barroune of Kynnaird, Nicoll Dalzellmylne, Andro Brodie, Alexander Horfburch of Harkes, Archibald Hammiltoune, fynyth, and Williame Broune, indueller in Edinburgh. ² He is dilated ' for bering, wering and sehuting of pistolettis, and hurting and wounding of George (Charles ?) Campbell of Horfcluech in pe rycht arme.'

and reffæue new caution conforme to þe ordour ; as 3e will anfuer to ws þairvpoune : Quhairanent thir presentis falbe 3our Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyrudhous, the xx day of Junij, 1600. (Sic subfcribitur) JAMES R.

The Justice, nochtwithstanding of the Precept produceit, vnderstanding his Maieftis mynd, continewis the mater to the morne. Gylbert Pennycuik (of that Ilk) becomes pledge and fouirtie, &c.

Jun. 25.—Charles Campbell of Horfeleuch produceit the Kingis Maieftis Precept, ordaining the Justice to continew the perfuit to the xxvij day of Junij instant, &c.

Jun. 27.—Gylbert Pennycuik of that Ilk anerciaded in the pane of ffour hundreth markis, for non-production of the faid Adam Schaw ; who is ordanit to be denunceit our fouerane lordis rebell, and putt to the horne, and all his movabill guidis to be efcheit, &c.

[Mr William Borthuik, Justice-Depute.]

Wearing of Pistolets, &c.—Remission on Payment of Fine.

Jul. 1.—GEORGE SCHAW of Glenmure.

Being enterit on pannell, as he that was lawfullie fummond to compeir befor the Justice or his deputtis, to heir his hienes will declarit, anent the bering and wering of pistulettis.—Comperit lykewyis Andro Lord Stewart of Vchiltrie, and produceit ane Precept direct fra his Maieftie, &c.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice-Clark and 3our deputtis, We greit 3ow weill. Forfamekill as George Schaw of Glenmure become in our will, in ane Court of Justiciarie, haldin in þe Tolbuith of Edinburgh, the xvij day of Maij lastbypast, for bering, wering and scluting with hagbutis and pistulettis, and hurting of Charlis Campbell of Horfeleuch þairwith ; as ane Act maid þairvpoune beiris : Sen the quhilk day, the faid George hes payit and delyuerit to ws þe fowme of ffyve hundreth markis, in full fatisfactione of our will for þe faid cryme thairfoir : And for declaratioun of our faid will, wit 3e, that We haif Remittit, and be þir presentis Remittis, the faid George Schaw for þe faid cryme, and renanceis and dischargeis all actionne, tryell (criminal) and civill, that We, our Thesaurer or aduocat may haif aganis þe faid George Schaw, for þe famyn cryme : Dischargeing our Thesaurer and Aduocat of all calling, trubleing or persewing of him þairfoir, in tyme cuming. And þis We pronouce to be our will ; and cause þir presentis to be infert and registre in our buikis of Adiornall, ad perpetuam rei memoriam : Quhairanent thir presentis falbe 3our warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, At Halyrudhous, the first day of Julij, 1600 3eiris. (Sic subfcribitur) JAMES REX.

Quhilk Precept being red and produceit in judgement, the Justice authoreisit the famyn to haif full effect to the faid George Schaw for the faid cryme, conforme to the tennour thairof in all poyntis. Quhairvpoun the faid George askit actis and instrumentis.

[Mr Williame Haert, Justice-Depute.]

Abiding from the Raid of Dumfries.

Jul. 2, 3, & 4.—JOHNE ROSS of Drumgrange, George Logane of that Ilk, James Boifwell, feare of Auchinlek, Johne Boifwell of Duntrine-gemen, Robert Mure of Knokmarloch, Robert Wallace of Holmestoune, Hew Wallace of Boigheid, W^m Cwninghame of Polquharne, George Schaw of Glenmwre, and W^m Wallace of Lytill Cefnok.

Dilatit for abyding fra the Raid of Drumfries, ordenit to haif convenit with Archbald Erll of Angus Lieutenant, in September lastwas.

[A variety of procedure takes place, in these and some other similar cases, but not of sufficient importance to be inserted at length. Some of the parties are fined, others discharged, &c.]

Adultery.

Jul. 10.—ALEXANDER HAY of Delgattie.

George Sinclair of Maij and James Forbes of Lethindie, become pledgeis and fouerteis, conjunctlie and feuerallie, for Alex^r H. of D., that he fall compeir be-foir the Justice or his deputis, &c., the xvj day of Julij instant; for the cryme of Adulterie, committit with Barbara Forbes, his alledgeit spous.—Johne Frafer of Strichin, cautioner for his entrie, is relieved of his caution.

Jul. 16.—The case is continued to the next Justice-air of ‘Abirdene, tertio Itineris, (vel premonitione,) xv dierum.’ Williame Rois of Kilraik becomes pledge for his appearance.

Slaughter — Hurting and Wounding.

Jul. 15.—JAMES MAISTER OF OGILVIE,¹ Sir Johne Ogilvie of Craig, Mr David Ogilvie, Frances Ogilvie, all brether; James Gordoun, feruand to the Maister, Patrik Guthre of Pitmowes, Johnne Barclay, sone to George Barclay of the Syde.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vmq^{le} Patrik Rynd, sone to W^m Rynd of Kerfe; and of hurting of Alex^r Lord Spynie, in the heid; committit in March lasthypast.

Mr Olipher Colt produceit ane Warrant, direct to the Thesaurer and Aduocat for deleiting of Patrik Guthrie; quhairof the tennour followes.

REX,

THESAURER and Aduocat, We greit 3ow weill. It is our will, and We command 3ow, that, vpoun the sycht heirof, 3e deleit Patrik Guthrie of Pitmoweis furth of þe criminall summondis rafit at your instance aganis the Mr of Ogilvie, and sic as accompaneit him on þe feildis att þe late Conflict betuix him and our coufing the Lord of Spynie; fwa that he be nawyis callit nor perfeit thairfore: As 3e will anfuer to ws vpoun your offices and obedience: Quhairnent thir presentis falbe your warrand. Subferyuit with our hand, att Halyruiddhous, this xxvij day of Junij, 1600.

¹ See Jul. 25 and 29, and Aug. 14.

(Sic fubferibitur) JAMES R.

Quhilk Precept, the Justice, with auife of Alexander Maifter of Elphinstoun, and Mr Thomas Hammiltoun, admittit; and ordenit na proces aganis the said Patrik Guthre nor his cautioner.—The Lord Advocate having produced a Warrant from the King to that effect, the Justice continued the case to the xxv of July.

Slaughter.

Jul. 24.—HECTOR BANNATYNE of Kames.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the slauchter of vniq^{le} Johne Spens of Vester Kames.

PERSEWARIS, Niniane Spens, eldest sone, Patrik Maxwell of Newark, George Spens in Edinburgh, Mr Sanderis Maxwell.

PRELOQUOUTOURIS for the pannel, Mr Thomas Craig, Mr Johne Russell, Sir Johnne Hammitoune, the Lard of Garthland, the Lard of Corhous.

The persewaris takis Instrumentis of the productione of the lettres, and takis instrumentis for releif of his cawtionne.—Alledgeis, that na preloquoutour can be hard, nor yit aucht the defender to be hard, becaus the defender is att the horne for the said caus; as the lettres dewlie execute and indorfat, produceit, beiris.—Anfueris the preloquoutouris, that the partie may procur¹ for him self; and thay will compeir vpoun thair awin perrell; and declaris thay accept the Horning.—And it is alledgeit for the pairt of the said Hector Bannatyne, and alledgeis, that the famin is null, becaus in Act of Parliament, in anno lxxxxvij² (1597), it is speciallic provydit, that all executiounis of Horningis falbe regiftrat in prefens of the Shereff-clark, ane notar, and foure witneffis; quhilk is nocht done, becaus the executiounis of the Hoirning is nocht regiftrat, conforme thairto.—Anfueris the persewaris, that the lettres and executiounis ar sufficientlie regiftrat; and abydis at the lettres, executiounis and regiftratioun, as thay ar produceit, and ar sufficient: And forder alledgeis that the Justice is nocht Judge to the nullitie of the Horning.

The Justice ordanis the preloquoutouris to compeir in defence, nochtwithstanding of the Horning produceit.

Forder, (the persewar) alledgeis, that the preloquoutouris can nocht compeir, in respect of ane Horning produceit, be the quhilk the Lard of Kames is denunceit att the instance of Ninian Stewart, fear of Kilchattan, for nocht reslauing of the said Ninian immediat tennent to the landis contenit in the lettres, of the dait the xj August 1592 3eiris.—Anfueris the preloquoutouris, that the Hoirning is null, in respect the executionis ar nocht regiftrat.

¹ Procure, i. e. act as procurator, speaker, or counsel, in his own behalf and defence. ² Acta Parl. 1597, cap. 36, fol. 139.

The perfewaris passis fra thair alledganceis produceit be thame, for this day only, &c.

Alledgeis, that Ninian Spens can nocht perfew in judgement, becaus he is minor, vnauthorifit with tutouris and curatouris.—The famin day, the said Ninian creat Patrik Maxwell of Newark and Mr Alexander Maxwell curatouris ad lites. The pannell askis instrumentis, that the Laird of Newark and Mr Sanderis¹ ar chosin preloquoutouris.

Alledgis that this mater can nocht be put to the knowledge of ane Assyse, for the cryme, albeit he wer nocent,² (he being maist innocent;) becaus the said vmq^{le} Johnne Spens wes lauchfullie denunceit rebell and put to the horne, vpoun the fourt day of Julij 1592 yeiris, att the instance of the said Hector Bannatyne and Charles Bannatyne, for nocht obedience of ane Decreit of the Lordis of Counfall; quhilk Hoirning wes regiftrat vpoun the famin fourt day of July 1592 yeiris; as the famin, produceit, beris.—The perfewaris askis instrument of the alledgeance.

The perfewaris alledgis, that the Horning is null, becaus he is relaxt; as the lettres of Relaxatioun and executiounis produceit beris.—The defender acceptis the Relaxatioun; and anfueris, that the said vmq^{le} Johnne Spens stuid rebell, be vertew of the Horning produceit, nochtwithstanding of the Relaxatioun; becaus it is of veritie, that he is denunceit rebell at the instance of twa speciall parteis, viz. at the instance of Hector Bannatyne of Cames, in the fyrst place; and lykewyis at the instance of Charles Bannatyne, in the secund place, and for dinerse cauffis and for diuers effectis: And trew it is, that this Relaxatioun produceit relaxis him fra the horne, infafar as he wes put to the horne at the instance of Charles Bannatyne, and nawyis is relaxt fra the horne, infafar as he is at the horne at the instance of the Laird of Cames, and for ane caus only; quhairas the Decreit hes mair cauffis quhairvpoun the saidis lettres procedis; and swa, he standis yit effectuellie at the horne, at the instance of the Laird of Cames, as yit vnrelaxt: And forder, the Laird of Cames is nather summond nor appointit to be summond be the suspentioun. And forder, the said relaxatioun is null, becaus the executioun of the Relaxatioun is nather stampit nor subscriuit; quhairas the Act of Parliament Ordanis the executioun to be stampit with twa lettres:³ And repetis the Act of Parliament maid in the tyme of King James Fyft.—Thrydlie, the said Relaxatioun is null, in respect thair is na officer contentit in the letteris of Relaxatioun.—Thaireftir, the perfewaris produceit the extract of the relaxatioun.

¹ Viz. Mr Alexander Maxwell.
Messenger's or Officer's name.

² Guilty.

³ Viz. With a seal, bearing the Initials of the Anfueris the perfewaris, ffyist, that the officer relaxis the said vni^{1e} Johnne Spens, for the cauffis contenit in lettres of Horning, and hes suspendit the officer executour of the horning fra ony forder executioun, for the cauffis contenit in the Decreit of the Lordis; and thairfore, before ye tak away the Relaxatioun, the Judge can nocht cognos vpoun the nullitie of the Horning, bot the Lordis¹ man be Judgis thairto. As for the secund pairt, allegis that the said lettres of Relaxatioun ar sufficientlie stampit; as the extract of the Relaxatioun beris. Thridlie, declaris that the officeris name is contenit in the extract, and the officer makis mentioun of the officeris stamp as affixit, as the samin beris. Forder, alledgis, that thay will abyde be the principall Lettres of Relaxatioun and the extract thairof; and gif thair be ony difference betuix the principall and the extract, wyte² the extractor.

The Justice Continewis the mater to the morne.

The samin day, Hector Bammatyne of Cames, being sworne, Declarit that he dred³ bodelic harme of Patrik Maxwell of Newark, Mr Sanderis Maxwell his brother, and Ninian Stewart of Kilchattane.

Jul. 25.—The Cafe continued to the Justice-air of ‘Buit, tertio Itineris, xv dierum.’ Plegio, Domino Johanne Hammiltoune de Litrik milite.

Slaughter — Hurting and Wounding.

Jul. 25.—JAMES MAISTER OF OGILVIE and others.⁴

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarne, aduocat to our souerane lord.

PRELOQUUTOIRIS for the pannell, Mr Johnne Ruffell, Williame Oliphant, Francis Erle of Erroll, Erle of Buchan, The Lard of Fyndlater, My Lord of Aldbar.

Mr David and Frances Ogilveis ar content presentlie to abyde the tryell of ane Affyis. The remainder of the pannell, declarit, that they wald nawyis enter in proces with his Maiesteis aduocat, for the cryme contenit in the lettres, insofar as his hienes hes actioun competent to thame for the samin crymes, or ony of thame; bot offerit thame felfis in his grace will thairfore; protesting that thair becuming in will, &c. fould nawyis be hurtfull or preiudiciall to thame or nane of thame, for quhatfumewir actioun or exceptionne compitent to thame or ony of thame, aganis quhatfumeuir persoune or persounes, haifing interes to persew for the saidis crymes; quhairvpoun the said Mr Thomas Hammiltoune askit instrumentis.

The Justice continewis the mater to the morne; and warnit the Affyis to the morne.

¹ Of Council and Session. ² Throw the blame upon the Extractor. ³ Not dread (suffered), but feared or dreaded. Letters of Lawburrows appear, by the Record, to have been granted against these parties, which were afterwards deleted as ‘past fra be pe Lord of Cames.’ ⁴ See Jul. 15 and 29, and Aug. 14.

The Justice, in our fouerane lordis name, acceptit the pannell (and other under named) in his hienes will for the crymes aboue writtin; and Ordenit thame to pass in waird to thair Iudgeingis within this burch of Edinburgh, and to remain thairin quhill thay be fred be his Maiestie: And to that effect, to find cautione to keip thair said waird, ay and quhill sufficient caution be fundin be thame that thay fall fatisie his Maiesteis will to be declarit.

James Ogilvie of Balfoure becomes pledge and fouertie for James Maister of Ogilvie, &c., as above, 'vnder the pane of Fyve thousand poundis.' Sir Johnne Ogilvie of Innerquharratie kny^t, becomes pledge and fourtie for Mr David O., Frances O., brether to James M^r of O., and Johnne Barclay, that thay fall compeir befor our fouerane lordis Justice or his deputis, the thryd day of the nixt Justice-air of the sherefdom of Forfar, or soner quhen or quhair it fall pleis our fouerane Lord, vpoun xv dayis warning, &c.

Shooting of Hagbutis and Pistolets — Hurting and Wounding.

Jul. 26.—JOHNNE OGILVIE, callit Reid-Johnne, Alexander Ogilvie, callit Blak-Sandie, James Ogilvie of Boigfyde, Johnne Barclay sone to George Barclay of the fyde, and Johnne Lyoune, seruand to the Maister Ogilvie.

Dilatit of bering, wering and schuting of hagbutis and pistolettis; and for hurting of Alexander Lord Spynie, &c.

The parteis 'became in will;' and found caution, as in the former case.

Abiding from the Raid of Dumfries.

Jul. 29.—GEORGE KENNEDIE of Glenmuk,

Dilatit for abyding fra the Raid of Dumfries, quhilk was convenit with Williame Erle of Angus, Lord Dowglas, and Lieutenant, in the moneth of September lastbypast.

The pannel become in our fouerane lordis will thairfore. And thaireftir the said George produceit his Maiesteis will; quhair of the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputies, We greit sow weil. That nochtwithstanding George Kennedie of Glenmuk obtenit oure Licence, with certane v^{rs}, for pe caus following, zit he is to entir on pannell before sow, in our Tolbuith of Edinburghe, the xxix day of Julij instant, in pe hour of caus, and is to be persewit be our traist coufing and counsalour Alex^r Maister of Elphinstoun, our Thesaurer, and Mr Thomas Hammiltoun of Drumcarne, our aduocat, for abyding fra our Raid of Drumfries, hauldin be our rycht traist coufing and counsalour Williame Erle of Angus, in pe moneth of September lastbypast; and at pe said day is contentit to cum in our will for pe said cryme. Thairfore ze fall, incontinent eftir pe sycht leiros, resiane the said George Kennedie in our will; and pronounce and declar this to be our will, as followis: That the said George, before he pas aff pannell, content and pay to our Thesaurer the fowme of ane hundreth poundis; and that in full satisfioun of our will, for his abyding fra the said Raid; and forder pronuce and declair, that the said George Kennedy falbe remittit and forgewin of all vj^r pane and penaltie that we may lay to his charge, in tyme cuming, for abyding fra þe said Raid; and that he be nawyis callit, trublit, molestit nor perfewit for þe famin, in tyme cuming; nochtwithstanding of ony vj^r Warrant that may be direct in þe contrar heir-of: And eaus thir presentis be regiftrat in our buikis of Adiornall for the said Georgeis better securitie. Subferyuit with our hand, At Lynly', the xxvij day of Julij 1600 3eiris.

(Sic subferibitur) JAMES R.

The Justice, with auife of the Thesaurer, continewit the mater to the morne, quhill the Thesaurer wer auifit with the blank contenit in the said Letter.

Shooting with Hagbutis and Pistolets — Slaughter.

Jul. 29.—ALEXANDER LORD OF SPYNIE,¹ Sir Johnne Lyndefay of Balinscho, (Wodheid knycht,) Alexander Lyndefay of Faifdew, (Fesdow,) Harie and Gilbert Rind (sonis to Williame Rind, of Kerse,) Harie Lyndefay, sifter sone to the Laird of Pitcarlie, (servitour to the said nobill Lord,) Andro Brydie, Mr Patrik Lyndefay, David Balfour, brother to Burlie, James Lyn, Preift, David Lyndefay, father brother to the Laird of Blariefedden, Alexander Lyndefay at the myll of Fynevin, David Gardin of Leis, and Harie Lyndefay of Blariefedden.

Dilatit for contravening of the Actis of Parliament, in bering, weiring and schuting with Hagbutis and Pistolettis: And for art and part of the Slauchteris of vmq^{le} Lowrence Burne and James Irnis, seruitouris to the Maister of Ogilvie and Sir Johnne Ogilvie.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltounne (of Drumcairne, aduocat to our fouerane lord.)

PRELOQUUTOURIS for the pannell, Mr Johnne Scharpe, Mr Alex^r King, and Mr Thomas Wilfounne.

The Lord of Spynie produceit the Kingis Warrant, vndervrittin, desyring the famyn to be admittit; and declarit that he and the personis on pannell vald abyde thairat; quhair of the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and 3our deputis, We greit 3ow weill. Forfamekill as, vpoun þe xvij day of þis instant, Alex^r Lord of Spynie and certane his compliceis and þair eautioneris wer adjudgeit and decernit in certane panis and vnlawis, for þair nocht entrie and comperance before 3ow, our said Justice and 3our deputis, to haif vnderlyne our lawis, for certane crymes specifeit and contenit in þe Criminale lettres rasit þairvpoun: Nochtwithstanding, ffor certane caussis moving ws, It is our will, and we command 3ow to discharge the saidis vnlawis, and deleit the Actis furth of our buikis of Adiornall, quhairby thay wer decernit in the saidis vnlawis, swa that na executioun follow þairvpounne heireftir: And that 3e tak new eautioun of þe said Lord and his compliceis, that thay fall compeir before 3ow, our said Justice, and 3our deputis, vpoun þe xxix day of þis instant, and vnderly our lawis for þe crymes specifeit in our saidis lettres: And that thay fall renucee all exceptioun of nocht lauch-full citatioune, vponne fyftene dayis warning; fwa that, in caife of pair nocht comperance, thay may allweill be denunceit to our horne as thair cautioneris vnlawit, in respect of pis our favour now fehawin vnto pame: As 3e will anfuer to ws pairvpon: Quhairanent thir presentis falbe 3our War-rand. Subferyuit with our hand, Att Halyrudhous, the xvij day of Julij 1600 3eiris.

¹ See Jul. 15 and 25, and Aug. 14.

(Sic fubferibitur)

JAMES R.

Comperit Alex^r Lord of Spynie, Sir John Lyndefay of Wodhead, knyght, &c., quha denyit expreflie that poynt of the fummondis anent the fehuting, bering and wering of hagbutis and piftolettis in maner lybellit, and offerit to abyde tryell thairanent: And in fafar as the fummondis may appeir onye cryme, anent the flaughter of vmq^{le} Lowrence Burne and James Irnis, vponne the fourt day of Marche laft, declarit and affermit that quhat ever fell out thairanent, was in thair maift juft and lauchfull defence; as is manifelt be the Confeflioune of partie and act of Adiornall maid thairanent, vpoun the xxv day of Julij instant, be James Maifter of Ogilvie, Sir Johnne Ogilvie of Craig, and thair compliceis, than comperand on pannell; quha being convenit, adiornayit at the instance of his hienes aduocat for his Maieftis interes vponne the faid xxv day of Julij instant in this Jugement, lying await for the faid nobill Lord, his kyu and freindis, for thair Slaughter and vmbefetting of thair hie-way befide the place of the Leyis, as thay war rydand furth the way, in fober and quyet mauer; the faid Maifter, Sir Johnne and thair compliceis, vnderftanding be thair fpyis and watcheis, that the faid nobill Lord was to cum furth of his duelling place of Kinbrakmouth to the Place of Gairdyn; the faid Maifter, Sir Johnne Ogilvie and thair compliceis, vponne fet purpois, provifionne and foirthocht felonye, ad-dreff thame felffis, in armes and wappynnis invafive, with hagbuttis, piftolettis, jakis, fecreittis, fteilbonettis, gauntilettis, lance-ftaffis and vtheris, to the nowmer of . . . perfonis or mae; and thair fhot, thair hagbuttis and piftolettis at the faid nobill Lord, his kyn, freindis and ferwandis, being in cunpany with him, hurt and deidlie woundit the faid nobill lord in the heid, and left him lyand for deid; and crewallie, with thair hagbuttis and piftolettis, fhot vmq^{le} Patrik Rynd his ferwand throw the bodie to the deid, vponne the fourt day of Marche laftby-paft; as in the fummondis perfewit thairanent and act of Adiornall maid thair-vponne, at lenth is contenit. AND trew it is, that James Maifter of Ogilvie, Sir Johnne Ogilvie of Craig and thair compliceis, pannellit, comperand perfonalie vponne the faid xxv day of Julij instant, become in his Maieftis will for the faidis haill crymes and poyntis of the faidis Summondis, be Act of this Court, as the famin beris; and thairby hes confeflit and affermit the famyn crymes, Slaughter, fehuting of piftolettis to that effect, invafionne, perfuit, lying await and vmbefetting of the faid Nobill Lord, his kyu, freindis and company, in his hie-way and paffage frome his awin hous, rydand thairfra in fober and quyet maner, as faid is ; quhairbye it is evident, that quhatever fell out be occasioun fairsaid, on the pairt of the faid nobill Lord, was in his awin maist just and lawfull defence, and remanent on pannell, his freindis and cumpany ; as is expresse affermit be the faid Act of Adiornal and Confessioun of pairtie thairanent. The quhilk Act of Adiornal and summondis quhairvpoune the samyn procedit, with the haill poyntis and menⁿeris thairof, the faid nobill Lord and remanent personis on pannell repeittis, &c. ; and yit, infasar as the faid summondis now perfewit may apper to import ony cryme for the slauchteris fairsaidis, the faid nobill Lord, &c. declarit that thay vald nawyis enter in proces with his Maiestie or his hienes aduocat for the samyn slauchteris, infasar as his hienes may haif actione compitent thairfoir, in thair contrair ; bot offerit thame in his graces will for the famin Slauchteris, committit in thair defence, as faid is ; protesting, that this thair offer or becuming in will for the faid slauchteris, for his hienes interes, as faid is, fall nawyis be preiudiciall to thame or ony of thame, anent quhatsumeuir actione or exceptioun compitent to thame, or ather of thame, aganis quhatsumeuir personne or personis haifand interes to perfew for the samyn Slauchteris, as accordis of the law : Quhairvpoune the faid nobill Lord and remanent personis on pannell askit actis and documentis.

The Aduocat askit actis and instrumentis, that the faid Alex^r Lord of Spynie, &c. becom in will, as faid is.

The famin day, Alexander Maister of Elphingstoune produceit HIS MAIESTIS WILL, towards my Lord of Spynie ; quhairof the tennour followis.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputtis, We greit your weill. Forfamekill as Alexander Lord of Spynie, Sir Johne Lyndefay of Wodheid, knyght, David Gairdyn, Harie and Gilbert Rindis, David Balfoure, David Lyndefay, Harie Lyndefay seruitour to the faid nobill Lord, Alexander Lyndefay of Faidlow, ar becom in our will, for the slauchter of certane our subiectis, committit be pame in the Conflict, quhilk happynnit and fell out betuix pame, and James M^r of Ogilvie and pair complices ; howewir the same be allegit to haif bene committit in pair awin defence. Thairfoir it is oure will, and We command and ordane, that the faid Lord of Spynie, for him selff, and takand the burding ou him for his faid brother and remanent complices fairsaid, fall remane and keip waird in his ludgeing, within our burch of Edinburgh ; and on nawyis remove pairfra, quhill We declair our will towardis pame ; vnder the pane of Fyve thousand pundis : As alwa that he, for him selff, and takand the burding on him as faid is, fall falsifie and fulfill our will to be declarit as faid is, vnder the faid pane. And that ye cause pronunce this our will and pleafour aganis the faid Lord and his complices indiciallie ; and mak ane act pairvpoune : Quhairanent this presentis fallbe your warrand. Subscryuit with our hand at Lynlythq, the . . . day of Julij, 1600 youris. (Sic subscribitur) JAMES R.

According to the quhilk, the Justice Ordanit, &c. Harie Lyndefay of Kynfawnis become plege and fouerte for Alexander Lord of Spynie, &c. vnder the faid pane.

Harie Lyndefay of Blariefedden, Mr Patrik Lyndefay, Alexander Lyndefay

at Fynnevin-mylne, James Lyn and Andro Brydie, tuke instrumentis of thair comperance, and that they offerit thame reddie to abyde the tryell of ane Assyis of the crymes contenit in the lettres produceit aganis thame. Whereupon the Justice continued the matter to the Justice-air of 'Forfar, tertio Itineris, vel super premonitione xv dierum.' Alexander Lord of Spynie, becomes 'plege and fouerte' for their entry.

[Mr Williame Hairt, Justice-Depute.

ASSESSOURIS, Mr Edward Bruce and Jolne G . . . stoune.]

Fire-raising — Houghing of Cattle — Murder — Theft — Resetting Rebels, &c.

Jul. 29.—JOHNNE ROISE of Ballivot.

Dilatit of the Burning of the (duelling hous of) Clunie, pertening to George Dunbar thair ; And for the thefteous Steling of the said George Dunbaris hail infycht and pleineiffing (guidis and geir, to the valour of) twa thousand markis worth, ten horsis, threscoir nolt ; And for Hoching of xvij oxin and ky pertening to the said George :—Item, for airt and pairt of the Slauchter of vinq^{le} Robert Roife, (sone to Daudid Roife of Lyne) :—Item, for the Murthour of Huchfoune Roife in Logy : And for ressett of Daudid (M^cWilliam:e) Roife Williamfoune and vtheris, rebellis at the horne, for the thift abouewrittin : And for Commoun Thift ; as at lenth is contenit in the dittay.

The Justice-Depute produceit the Warrant vnderwrittin.

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice Clark and your deputis, We greit you weill. It is oure will, and We command you, that according to our former directione, ye put Johnne Rois of Balliwot to the tryell of ane Assyis, the morne, the xxix day of July instant, for sik crymes as he is dilatit and suspect gyltie of ; and befor his putting to the same tryell of ane Assyis, that ye reaxaminat him vpoune his faul and conscience,¹ for the better clering of the treuth of sik thingis as war inquyrit of him ofbefoir : As ye will anfuer to us vpoune your offices and obedience : Qubairanent pir presentis falbe your Warrant. Subferyuit with our hand, At Lynlythqw, the xxvij of July, 1600.

(Sic subferibitur)

JAMES R.

PERSEWAR, Mr Thomas Hammiltoune of Drumcarn, aduocat to our fouerane lord.

PRELOQUUTOURIS for Mr Johnne Roife.

The Laird of Ballingoune, The Barroun of Kilraik,² Mr Jolne Ruffell, Mr Williame Oliphant.

The samin day, the Aduocat tuik instrumentis, that Johnne Roife declarit that he wald abyde the tryell of Assyfe. Thaireftir, he declarit that he wald vse his Aduocatis counfal and aduife.

The Aduocat takis instrumentis, that Mr Johnne Ruffell declarit that this gentilman wes misufit be tortour aganis the Law.

¹ It appears that the torture was used in this case, 'be my Lord Justice, att his Maiesteis directione.' See Objections against The Laird of Duffous, p. 144. ² William Roife of Kilravock.

Allegeis that Mr Edward Bruce can nocht be Judge nor Assessor, becaus the Chantour of Murray and Deane and subdeane, quha ar of kyn to the said Mr Edward Bruce, hes bene dilatouris and accusaris and informeris in this caus; and swa he can nocht be Judge nor Assessor.—The Aduocat answeris, that this exceptioun can nocht be hard aganis my Lord of Kinloss,¹ albeit it mycht be aganis the proceis thame selfis.

The Deane of Murray being demandit and inquiryt, gif he has gewin counfall aganis Johnne Roife, denyit the samin. Robert Dunbar, being sworne, denyit that he ewir gaif counfall in perfuit of Johnne Roife; and declarit (he) assistit the Sheref of Murray in executioun of the Kingis Commissioun in taking of Johnne Roife, and wes his freind, and faulfit his lyffe.—The said Mr Johnne Russell takis instrumentis of the said Robert Dunbaris declaratioun.

Alledgeis Johnne Roife, that he can nocht be put to the knowlege of ane Assyis for Thift, Slauchter or Murthour, quhill² he be summond vpon fyftene dayes wairning, and soner haif ane copie of the Dittay.—The aduocat answeris, that the alledgeance aucht to be repellit, in respect of the daylie practik of this hous, that persons tane be vertew of his Maiesteis Commissioun and putt in waird, may be brocht fra the waird to the pannell,³ and putt to ane Assyis but⁴ ony citatioun or delay: And it is of veritie, that this defender wes tane, be vertew of his hienes Commissioun, in the moneth of Apryll lastbypast, and hes bene detenit in waird continewallie senfyne, and hes bene diuers tymes examinat vpon the crymis contenit in his Dittay, as is knawin to my Lord Justice.—It is duplyt be the pannell, that the propositioun contenit in the said argument ressaues⁵ ane distinctioun, viz. parteis committit to waird be the Kingis Commissioun, for ane cryme done aganis his hienes, may, without ony citatioun, be presentit in judgement; bot be the contrar in delictis priuatis betuix partie and partie, sic as thift, ressett of thift, slauchter and murthour, as the partie aduerfar is purchesser of his Commissioun priuatlie, vpon his awin information, he can nawyis wyn that vantage, that summerlie, without dittay or copie thair of delyuerit, or lauchfull citatioun, he fall be summarlie be put to ane Assyis, as is in this caise: Swa that the Kingis Commissiounis ar of diuers natouris; sum gewin be his Maiestie without sute or informatioun of partie, vtheris gewin be informatioun. As to the nixt poynt, that he wes tane be Commissioun, thair is na Commissioun schawin; et rite omnia, it is desyrit to be schawin, that the partie may obiect aganis it.

Thaireftir, the pannell resswmit the argument aboue writtin, for the Ressett of

¹ Mr Edward Bruce was Commendator of the Abbacy of Kinloss, and by courtesy, termed 'My Lord of Kinloss.'
² Until.
³ From imprisonment to the bar of the Court.
⁴ Without.

⁵ Receives, admits of.

David Roife and vtheris contenit in the Dittay, att the horne, for Fyre-raſing and thift. It is alledgeit, that as tuiching that pairt of the dittay concerning the ffyre-raſing, I ſould nocht be put to ane Affyis ; becaus ffyre-raſing is ather delictum publicum or priuatum ; gif it be priuatum, I ſould be ſummond vpoune fyftene dayes wairning ; gif it be publicum, I ſould be ſummond vpoun fourtie dayis wairning, quhilk is nocht done.—The Aduocat repetis his former anſuer, with the practikis of Arkinglas, tane in this toun, preſentit on pannell ; Robert Quhippo, for thift ; Rauff Wallace, for fals cuinzie ; Pacok, for the ſlauchter of vmq^{le} Hary Colvile, and diners vtheris. As to that pairt of the allegance, that Thift, Murthour and ſlauchter, and Reſſett of thift, quhilk ar capitall crymes, ar priuata delicta, he makis na anſuer ; becauſe it is ignorantia juris to call thame priuata delicta.—To the quhilk it is anſuerit be the pannell, that as to the particuler practikis nominat, thair is na thing produceit ; and aganis the ſamin practikis, thir particuler practikis ar alledgeit : The perſuit movit be the Laird of Cwninghameheid and the Bairnis of the Laird of Waterf-toun, aganis David Wylie ; in lykemaner, the perſuit movit be the freindis of vmq^{le} Coronall Preſtounne, aganis Maidland alias Broune ; in the quhilkis, it wes fund be the Juſtice, that nochtwithſtanding thay wer tane, thay aucht to haif had fyftene dayes wairning. As to the nixt argument, tuiching delictis priuatis, repetis his former anſuer.

It is alledgeit, that Johnne Roife of Ballivot can nocht be put to the knowledge of ane Affyis for the Slauchter and Murthour of Huchſoune Roife, becaus that in the moneth of December, 1588 yeiris, he wes acquit lauchfullie be Affyife of the ſaid cryme ; as the Teſtimoniall of the dait, the thryd of December, vnder the feillis and ſubſcriptiounis of Lauchlan Angus M^cintofch in Termit, Johnne Cuthbert in New Caſtelhill, burges of Inuernes, &c., and ſubſcryuit be Johnne Dunbar, Johnne Wilſoune, Alexander Gaderar, notaris and clarkis.

ITEM, It is alledgeit, that the Slauchter of Robert Roife ſould nocht be put to ane Affyis, becaus it wes done in the defence of his lyffe, in his awin hous, quhair he wes aſſageit be xxiiij perfounes, for recovering of ane Decreit of Removing.

ITEM, As to the Reſſett of rebellis, he can nocht be put to ane Affyſe, becaus thair is na thing produceit to teſtifie thame to be at the horne. Secundo, gif it wer produceit, non eſt crimen capitale.

As for George Dunbaris thift of Clwnie, and for Reſſett of thift, hoching of oxin, and for the Fyre¹

As to the generall, for Commoun-thift and Reſſett of thift, it is ſa generall that it ſould nocht be put to ane Affyife.

Anſueris the Aduocat, to the Teſtimoniall of the clangeing produceit, that the famin can nocht stay proces, becaus the cryme being treflonabill, for the Slauchter of Huchfoun Roife vnder traift, the famin could nawyis be perfewit, bot ather at the instance of the kyn and freindis of the defunct for thair interes, or of the Aduocat for his interes ; and swa this Testimoniall, nocht proceeding vpoun sic perfute, is null. As to the secund, anent the Slauchter of Robert Roife, that the famin fould be repellit, be reffoun the defender produceis nocht his decreitis and lettres, quhairby he wald allege the fact to be jure factum ; and the allegiance can nocht stay the mater fra ane Affyse. As to the thryd, anent the reffett of rebellis, contenit in the dittay, (it) aucht to be repellit, in respect of his hienes Commiffioun, gewin, for taking of the defender and his saidis compliceis, as denunceit rebellis, for the saidis crymes ; lyke as, Lauchlan Roife in Leanwradich, being rebell, and tane with the defender furth of his hous, wes fenfyne put to the knowlege of ane Affyise, and wes convict and execut for the saidis crymes. The Aduocat lykewyis takis instrumentis, that painnell refusit to abyde ane Affyis for Commoun Thift and Refsett of Thift ; quhilk ar relevant crymis, being subioynit to ane particuler Dittay. To the quhilk, it is anfuert schortlie, fyrst, as tuiching the Testimoniall anent the Murthour of Huichfoun Rois, albeit it be sett doune in the Dittay to be treflonabill, he remittis the famin to the confideratioun of the Justice. The secund part of the argument alledgeit be the Aduocat, aucht to be repellit ; in respect of the Testimoniall produceit. As to the nixt, tuiching the Slauchter of Robert Roife, the excipient declaris, that he proponis that the famin may be coniunctlie discussit, be the Affyse, with the Dittay. As to the thryd poynt, considering the Refset of rebellis, allegis, na thing produccit to verifie the rebellis.

¹ A blank is left for filling up the plea of law.

INTERLOCUTOR of the Justice-Depute.

THE JUSTICE Findis, that Johnne Roife of Ballivot falbe putt to the knowlege of ane Affyis, for the Burning of the Clwne, and for the steilling of George Dunbaris guidis, and hoching of the oxin. The Justice ffindis na proces aganis the said Johnne Roife for the Murthour of Huchfoun Roife, in respect of the Testimoniall produceit, testifeing him to be acquit. Findis, that Johnne Roife fould nocht be putt to ane Affyse, for the Slauchter of Robert Roife, quhill he be summond vpoun fyftene dayes wairning, except he wer att the horne for the said slauchter. The Justice Ordanis the Horning (to) be produceit, quhairin David McWilliame and his compliceis wer at the horne, for the Burning of Clwne and Thift, or (before) he be put to ane Affyse for the Refsett of thame. Ordanis Commoun Thift to be put to ane Affyse, in respect of the particuler Thift put to ane Affyse.

The Aduocatt takis instrumentis of the Interloquoutour. Allegis the aduocat, that Johnne Roife wes chargeit of befoir vpoun fyftene dayes wairning, for the Slauchter of vmq^{le} Robert Roife, and produceit the lettres quhairby he wes chargeit ; and swa he can nocht pretend ignorance that he wes wairnit vpoun fyftene dayes wairning.—It is alledgeit be Johnne Roife, that he wes nocht summond, att the leif lauchfullie summond ; becaus he is nocht summond att his duelling, and na duelling hous desiguit ; and secundlie, it is allegeit, that the charge makis na mentioun that he knokit sax knokis.—The Aduocat alledgis, that he wes lauchfullie fummond, as the executioun beris ; and ane copie affixt bayth att his duelling and att the mercat croce.

The Aduocat produceit ane Hoirning aganis Dauid M^cWilliamme Roife and Lauchlan Roife and vtheris, quhome Johne Roife reffett.—(Johne Roife) alledgis, that the Horning is null, becaus the personis quha ar fummond and alledgeit to be att the horne are nocht chargeit vponne fourtie dayes.—It is anfuert be the Aduocat, that the Horning is lauchfull, becaus thay ar lauchfullie put to the horne for thift and hoching of oxin.

The said Mr Johnne Russell alledgeit for Johnne Roife, before Interloquoutour, that he can nocht be putt to ane Affyse for Reffett of rebellis ; becaus he is nocht fummond vponne fyftene dayes wairning thairfore ; and wes nocht fummond for Reffett of rebellis ofbefoir. It is alledgeit forder, that the Horning quhairby the rebellis is putt to the horne, quhom for, and for quhais reffett he is to be put to ane Affyis, is null ; becaus it is nocht regiftrat conforme to the Act of Parliament, in prefens of ane Notar and foure witneffis.—It is anfuert be the Aduocat, that Johnne Roife can nocht be hard to obiet aganis the Horning, becaus the defender, be the famin Lettres, is chargeit to find caution, and for difobedience is denunceit and tane for the famin cryme, be vertew of ane Commiffiounne rafit vpon the saidis lettres.—The aduocat addis forder, that the hoirning is fufficient, becaus the perfoun att the horne is lauchfullie denunceit.

THE JUSTICE continewis Interloquoutour till the morne ; and wairnit the Affyse to compeir the morne att tuell houris.

Jul. 30.—THE Aduocat passis fra that pairt of the dyttay, concerning the Reffett of Dauid M^cWilliamme Roife, rebell, and vtheris his complicis, pro loco et tempore : Quhairvpon the defender askit instrumentis.

It is alledgeit for Johnne Roife of Ballivot, that tuiching of that point of the dittay, concerning Robert Roife, the defender aucht nawyis to be put (to) ane Affyse ; becaus he is nocht chargeit vpon fyftene dayes wairning ; and infafar as it is alledgeit that thair wes ane anteriour citatioun vfit aganis him for the said cryme, the famin is nocht lauchfull ; feing it is euident, be the executiounis, that he is nather chargeit personallie, nor att his duelling place, conforme to the Act of Parliament ; and infafar as thar is mentioun maid of ane duelling place, trew it is, the famin is nocht defignit ; it being of veritie, that the tyme of the charge, and diuers monethis ofbefoir, and diuers monethis thaireftir, he duelt with his hous and famelic in his place of Slenes and duelling hous of Narne, att the quhilkis, and nather of thame, he is nocht chargeit : And gewand¹ that the executioun mycht respect the place of Ballivot, quhair he is alledgeit to be char-geit, yit it can nocht sustene the executioun ; becaus he offeris him to preve, be witnes att the bar, that he duelt att his duelling place of Narne, the tyme of the charge, diueris monethis ofbefore, and diueris monethis senfyne : And nocht only is the duelling place nocht designit, bot thair is na mentioun of knoking, conforme to the Act of Parliament. It is forder alledgeit, that the partie enterit on pannell wes nocht tane for this cryme, viz. for the slauchter of Robert Roife, bot be vertew of ane Commissioun ; quhilk Commissioun procedit vpoun ane Hoirning ; quhilk Hoirning is null, and consequentlie the Commissioun fallis. It is forder allegeit be the said Johnne Roife, that na proces can be deduceit in this mater, without the Commissioun and Hoirning be produceit.

¹ Giving, or granting, for the sake of argument.

THE JUSTICE findis, that the said Robert (Johnne) Roife false put to the knowledge of ane Affyis for the Slauchter of Robert Roife, nochtwithstanding of the alledgences proponit be the said Johnne Roife.

The Aduocat takis instrumentis of the Interloquuntour.

OBJECTIONS *against the Affise.*¹

It is allegeit aganis the Laird of Duffous, [William Sutherland,] that he can nocht pas vpoun the Affyis of Johnne Roife, becaus he is thrydis and ferdis² of kyn with Dumbar, sheref of Murray ; quhilk sheref of Murray hes behavit him selff as expres partie aganis the said Johnne in this perfute ; fyrst, in causeing of him to be tane and apprehendit in the moneth of May lastbypast ; nixt, in purchessing of ane Commissioun for his apprehensioun, and executing of the famin, be him selff, his freindis and assistiris ; causing of him to be brought to Edinburghe, and thairefter transporting of him out of Edinburghe to Forres ; patt him in irnis thair ; brocht him bak in irnis ; purchest warrandis to that effect ; hes gewin informatioun to his Maiesteis Adnocat ; hes sollicit and procureit in this caus ; the persons of Inqueist gewin vp be him ; and fra the beginning, hes behavit him selff as partie ; procureit fra his Maieste Warrandis to tortour him ; and eftir the taking of him, hes brunt his bigingis and his houffis, within fyftene dayes eftir the taking of him ; and hes brunt his victuall, writtis and eidentis, being thairin ; haifing nather Commissioun, fyrst nor last, for doing of ony of the premissis ; and be him selff and his seruandis, freindis and assistiris, speciallie David Dumbar of Daldork, Williame Dumbar of Entirkyne, Patrik Dumbar, sheref-depute of Elgyn and fforres ; quha comperis personalie, and informis the Aduocat, quhilk he can nocht deny vpoun his conscience, hes perfewit this excipient with all regour.

And forder, Johnne Dumbar younger of Craichla, being requeisit be the Sheref Murray to pas vpoun this Affyis, hes purchest Licence fra him to pafs hame : And as to the Commissioun, the famin wes grantit to Johnne Dumbar of Moynes, quhilk procedeit vpoun ane reafoun of Horniog quhilk is null ; and swa, fra the beginning all is null, and consequentlie the Sheref Murray maun be eftemit ane profest partie, but (without) ony Warrant.—The Aduocat anfueris, that the alledgance is nocht relevant, ffor quhatewir the Sheref Murray did in this mater, haifand the Warrant of his Maiesteis Commissioun and directione, as is notour to my Lord Justice, the executione thairof tending only to Justice, can import na declinatour aganis him selff, mekill les aganis his kynnifman, aganis quhome thair is na relevant alledgeance maid, ather of feid or partiall counfall.—To the quibilk it is anfuerit, ffyrst, that thair is na Warrant produceit ; nixt, he had na Warrant ather to burne houffis, nor to tak and apprehend the partie ; bot speciallie, for burning of the hous eftir the partie wes ap-prehendit ; ffar les had he ony Warrant to gif vp ane Affyis, to gif vp dittay, to crave ane tortour, or to do ony of the particuler deidis contenit in the former alledgeance : And quhen ewir ony partie ingyues him felff willinglie, in that quhilk nawyis appertenis to his office, he man be eftenit as partie. And forder, the notorietye of this alledgeance is remittit to my Lord Justice, that the Sheref Murray, be him felff and his freindis, hes delt with his Majestie, the Officeris of Estait, the Lordis of Secreit Counfall, in preiudice of this partie, for away-taking of his lyffe. And last, quhatsumewir Commiffioun can be pretendit, ather in his name, or in the persoun of the Laird of Moynes, is alreddie fallin, and can be na Warrant ather to the ane partie or the vther ; becaus it procedit vpoun ane Horning, quhilk is alreddie null. And swa, all that he hes done, is done but (without) ane Warrant, and consequentlie, man be eftenit to be done be him as ane partie. Attoure,¹ it is of veritie, that the Sheref Murray, without ony Warrant, efter he had brunt the hous of Ballivot, quhilk wes eftir the taking of the said Johnne Roife be the space of fyftene dayes, violentlie, att his awin hand, tuik Johnne Roife eldest sone, and apperand to Johnne Roife of Ballivot, constitute him presoner and captiue, quhill² thaireftir he wes compellit to find cautione for his releif.

¹ It has been thought of importance to preserve these curious objections at length. They strongly illustrate the remarkable state of the manners and customs of this District of Scotland at this period ; and besides, show the practice of the Court, in such matters, in a very striking manner. ² Within the third and fourth degrees of kin, or relationship. This was a statutory disability, and very frequently pleaded.

It is forder alledgeit, that the said Laird of Duffous can nocht pass vpoun the said Johnne Rosses Affyse, becaus thair is deidlie feid³ standand vnrecounsalit, betuix the Sheref Murray, his kyn and freindis on the ane pairt, and the said Johnne Roife, his kyn and freindis on the vther pairt ; nocht only for the caussis foirsaid, bot als wa for the burning of the hous of Ballivot, and taking of his eldest sone ; with the quhilk Sheref Murray, the Laird of Duffous is standand in consanguinitie, in maner foirsaid. It is forder alledgeit aganis the said Laird of Duffous, that he can nocht pass vpoun the said Johnne Rosses Affyse, becaus ane of the speciall pointis quhairfore the said Johnne Roife wes tortorit, wes for the burning of the coirnis of James Sutherland, brother to the Laird of Duffous ; in respect quhairof, the said Laird of Duffous can nocht passe vpoun his Affyis, seing the tortoring of him for the caus foirsaid importis ane deidlie feid.—The Aduocat repetis his fyrst anfuere, eikand, That the inquestioun of the burning of James Sutherlands coirnis att Johnne Rois, in his tortour be my Lord Justice, att his Maiesteis directionne, can import na feid aganis the Laird of Duffous.

Forder, it is alledgeit, that quhen the Sheref Murray fould haif put Johnne Roife to ane Affyis in Forres, the said Laird of Duffous came, as partie, with the Sheref to ingyue him felff⁴ vpoun his Affyse.

The Laird of Duffous, being sworne, declarit that he cam to Forrese, be command of the Kingis Maiesteis Letter, and as summond vpoun his Affyis, and nocht to persue the said Johnne Roife.

It is forder alledgeit be the said Johnne Roife, that the Laird of Duffous can nocht pass vpoun his Affyis, becaus thair is deidlie feid standand betuix the Sheref Murray, his kyn and freindis on the ane pairt, and Johnne Roife of Ballivot, his kyn and freindis on the vther pairt, for the crewall slauchter of vmq^e Allester Roife, quha wes slayne be the Sheref Murray his kyn and freindis, in the moneth of Majj ; quhilk vmq^e Allester Roife and Johnne Roife ar brether bairnis : And repetis the kyn⁵ betuix the Laird of Duffous and the Sheref of Murray. In lyke maner, thair is deidlie feid standand vnrecounsalit, betuix the Laird of Duffous, his kyn and freindis on the ane pairt, and the said Johnne Roife, his kyn and freindis on the vther pairt, ffor the crewall slauchter committit be George Roife, quha is secund and thrydis of kyn with the said Johnne ; quhilk George Roife slew Johnne Stewart, seruant to James Sutherland, brother to the Laird of Duffous.—The Aduocat anfuereis, that the slauchter of Allester Roife can import na feid, becaus he wes put to the tryell of ane Affyse, and ordourlie conuict for Thift, and execute to the deid. As to the secund, anent the slauchter of Johnne Stewart, it is nocht relevant, except Johnne Roife wald alledge, that the Laird of Duffous wes pairt-taker of that feid.

Anfuereis the pannell to the fyrst, that the alledgeance standis relevant, except my Lord Aduocat wald

¹ Moreover, besides.

² Until.

³ Deadly feud.

⁴ To offer himself voluntarily, as an 'ultrionous witness,' without lawful citation to that effect.

⁵ Details the relationship.

instantlie verifie be writt, be quhat authoritie the said vmq^{le} Allester wes put to ane Affyse, and att quhat instance, and for quhat caus.—The Aduocat takis instrumentis that the Barroun of Kilraik declarit Allester Rois to haif bene heidit.—As to the nixt argument alledgeit be the aduocat, berand, that alledgance of the slauchter of Johne Stewart is nocht relevant, &c. ; it is anfuert for Johne Roife, that the slauchter of Johne Stewart, quha wes feruitour to James Sutherland, brother to the Laird of Duffous, committit be George Rose, makis him and his haill freindis to be pairt-takeris of the deidlie feid.

Alledgis, that Alexander Young burges of Elgyn, can nocht pafs vpoun the Affyse of Johne Roife, becaus he is nocht ane landit man ; Secundlie, he is feruand to the Laird of Duffous : Quhilk the Laird confest.—The Aduocat allegis nocht relevant, becaus ane burges may be a pair to ane landit man, nocht being ane barroune.

It is alledgeit, that James Ruthirfurd burges of Elgyn, can nocht pafs vpoun the said Johnis Affyse, becaus he is sister sone to the Laird of Tarbet, quha is vnder deidlie feid with Johne Roife for the slauchter of vmq^{le} Allester Roife.—The Aduocat alledgis, nocht relevant, in respect of his argument maid of befoir aganis the Sheref Murray.—It is alledgeit forder, be pannell, aganis James Ruthirfurd, that the Laird of Tarbet wes att the burning of the hous of Ballivot eftir the apprehensioune, and att the taking of Johne Roifis eldest sone.—The Aduocat anfuert, that quhat wes done in the burning, and taking of John Roifis sone, wes done be vertew of the Commiffiounne.

It is alledgeit aganis Robert Dumbar of Burgye, that he can nocht pas vpoun the said Johnne Roifis Affyse, becaus he wes att the burning of Johne Roife of Ballivot (his house) and taking of his eldest sone. Forder, it is alledgeit that George Dumbar, quha had his hous brunt, mareit Robert Dumbaris sifter. [‘Repellis Robert Dumbar.’]

It is alledgeit, that George Brodie burges of Edinburghe, can nocht pafs vpoun Johne Roifis Affyis, becaus he is thryd and ferdis of kyn with the Sheref Murray, for his Gudame wes the Auld Shereffis sifter : Nixt, he wes att the taking of Allester Roife.—Aduocat anfuert, that the taking of Allester Rose wes lauchfullie take, be the Sheref Murray as ane judge compitent.

It is alledgeit aganis Mr Johne Dowglas of Neday, that he can nocht pas vpoun his Affyse, becaus he is thrydis of kyn with the Sheref Murray, for his Gudame wes the Auld Shereffis sifter : Secundlie, thair is deidlie feid standand betuix Mr Johne Dowglas and Johne Rose ; becaus Mr George Innes, sifter and brether bairnis with Johne Roife, slew Mr Johne Dowglas moder : Forder, his brother Mr Alexander Dowglas, wes playne dilatour¹ of Johne Roife to the King.—The Aduocat anfuert to the freindschip² of the Sheref Murray as of before : As to the feid, referris to the said Mr Johne Dowglas ayth. [‘Stand by.’]

It is alledgeit aganis George Lokart of Bar, that he can nocht pafs vpoun Johne Rose Affyse, becaus he is nocht within the foure-half-about : Secundlie, the Sheref Murray and the Laird of Baris wyffe ar thryd and ferdis of kyn. [‘Bar, stand by.’]

It is alledgeit aganis Thomas Gilzeam of Monachtie, that he is nocht xxj yeiris, and that he has na land. [‘Repellit Thomas Gilzeame.’]

It is alledgeit aganis Johne Huntar, that he is na burges ; quhilk wes confest.

The King's Will against James Maister of Ogilvie and Alexander Lord of Spynie.³

Aug. 14.—Comperit Alexander Maister of Elphingstoune, thesaurer to our souerane lord, and produccit ane Act, containing his Maiesteis Will aganis the saidis personis, &c. ; quhilk Act the said Justice-depute pronuncit and declarit judicialle to the faidis parteis, and ordenit the famyn to be regiftrate in the buikis of Adiorvall, and to haif the ftreth of ane Act thairof, with executoriallis to pas thairvpoune, &c. ; quhair of the tennour followis.

¹ Accuser ; informer against ; he who gave up the Dittay. ² Relationship. ³ See Jul. 15, 25, & 29.

AT HALYRUDEHOUS, the fourtene day of August, 1^m.VI^o. 5eiris. Forfamekill as Alexander Lord of Spynie, and certane his compliceis, on þe ane pairt, and James Maifter of Ogilvie, and certane his compliceis, on þe vther pairt, ar becum in his Maieftis Will, for þe Slauchteris and vtheris crymes committit be þame, at þe Conflict quhilk hapnit and fell out betuix þame, in þe moneth of laft : The Kingis Maieftie pairfoir hes declarit, and be þir presentis declairis, his hienes Will, as followis : THAT is to fay, becaus the faid Maifter of Ogilvie and his complices, befydes the slauchter committit be þame, hes violat and contravenit his hienes lawis and Actis of Parliament, maid aganis the bering, wering and schuting of hagbutis and pistoletis, that thairfoir he fall mak payment to his hienes, and to his Maieftis Thesaurer, in his hienes name, of þe sowme of fyve thowfand pundis ; quhair of þe sowme of ane thowfand markis betuix and þe first day of September nixtocum, and the remanent of þe faid sowme betuix and the tent day of November nixtocum : AND that the faid Lord of Spynie fall lykeways mak payment to his Maieftie and his Thesaurer, in his hienes name, of þe sowme of fyve thowfand markis ; quhair of ane thowfand markis betuix and the faid first day of September, and þe remanent of þe faid sowme betuix and the faid tent day of November nixtocum : As also, that the faid Lord of Spynie, for him selff, and takand the burding on him for þe haill personis quha wer in cumpany with him at þe faid Conflict, on þe ane pairt ; and the faid Maifter of Ogilvie, for him selff, and takand þe burding on him for þe haill personis quha war in cumpany with him att þe faid Conflict, fall subfcriyue ane Submissioure of þe feid and contraverfie betuix þame to his Maieftie, and sik of his hienes Counsale as his Maieftie fall thynk meit : And forder, that the faid Maifter of Ogilvie fall within þe space of sex dayis enter his perfoun in Waird, within þe burcht of Hadingtounne, and þair remane, or in ony pairt beeif¹ þe faid burcht : And that þe faid Lord of Spynie fall, within the famyn space, enter his perfoune in Waird, within the burcht of Lynlythqw, and þair remane, or in ony pairt bevest² þe famyn burcht ; ay and quhill this Declaratioure of his Maieftis Will be fullie fatisfeit and obeyit be þame, in all poyntis : And that thairefter thay be fred be his Maieftie. And ordanis and commandis the Justice, Justice-Clark and þair deputtis to pronunce þis his hienes Declaratioure of his Maieftis Will judicialle, and to cause regiftrate þe famyn in þe buikis of Adiorvall.

(Sic subfcribitur) JAMES REX.

For pronunceing and declaratioure quhair of, David Hairt, feruitour to the faid Alexander Maifter of Elphingstoune, askit actis and instrumentis.

The Earl of Gowrie's Conspiracy.

[THE GOWRIE CONSPIRACY has long been reckoned as one of the darkest pages of Scottish History ; and the subject has, perhaps, given rise to a greater profusion of controversial tracts, and to more difference in opinion among historians, than almost any other passage in our Annals. Having been so fortunate as to recover the Original Autograph Letters of Robert Logan of Restalrig amongst the ' Warrants' of the Parliament, and of the Privy Council, of Scotland ; and having, besides, after considerable research, discovered many other illustrative

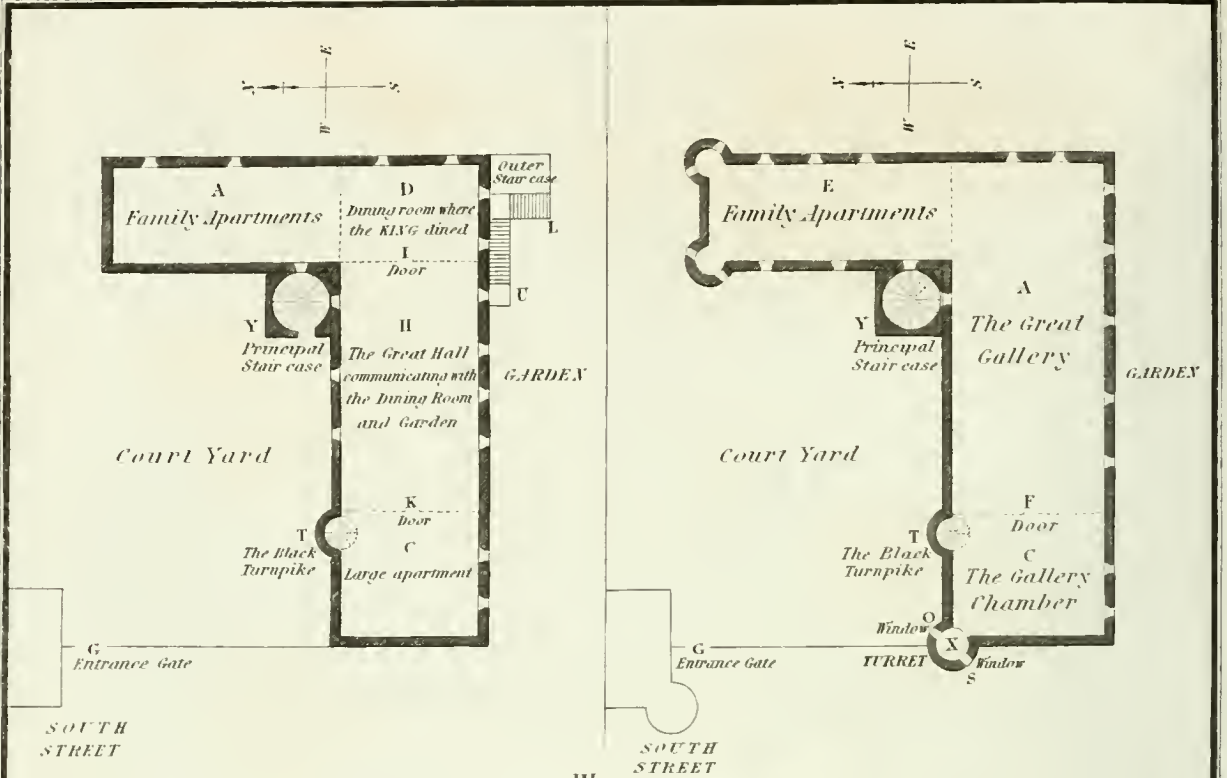

¹ To the eastward of.

² To the westward of.

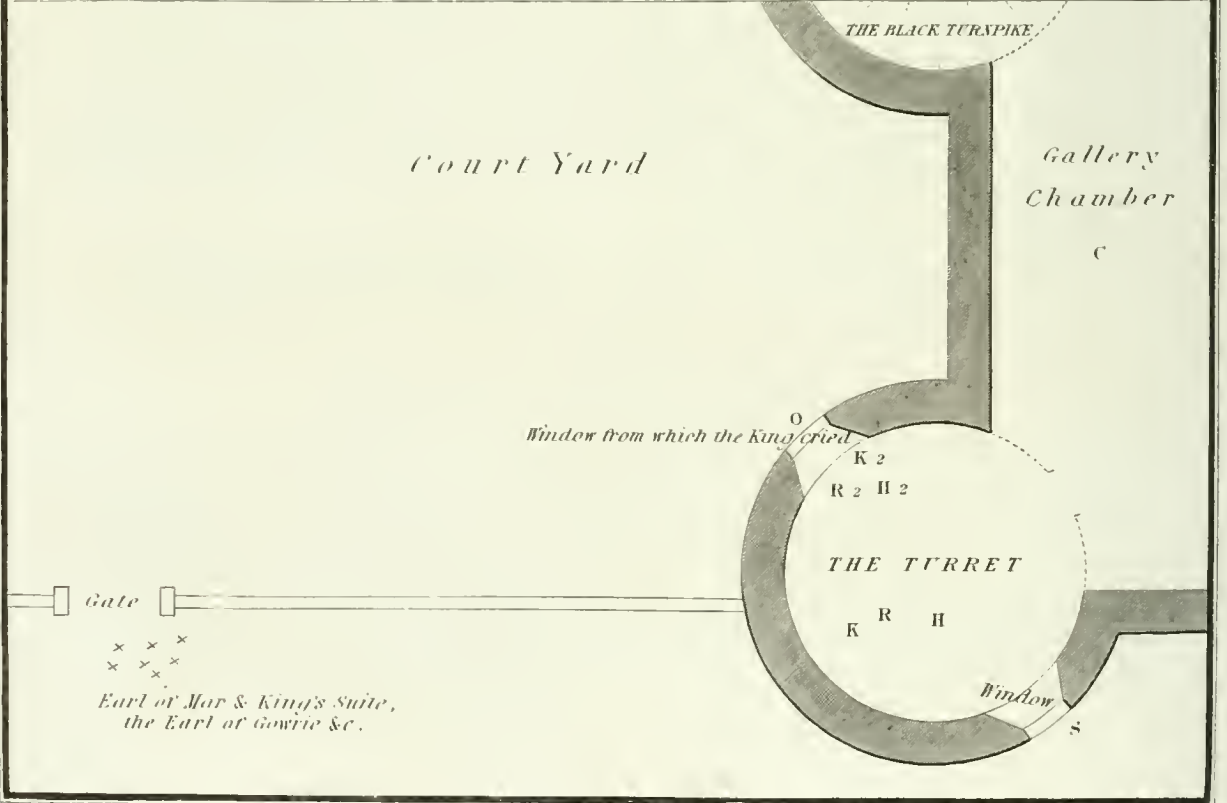

Gowrie's Conspiracy.

Engraved for M^r Pitcairn's Criminal Trials.

I FIRST FLOOR. above the Kitchen or Ground floor. II SECOND FLOOR. above the Kitchen or Ground floor. PLATE II.

III THE TURRET into which the KING was taken.

W H Lizars sculp^t

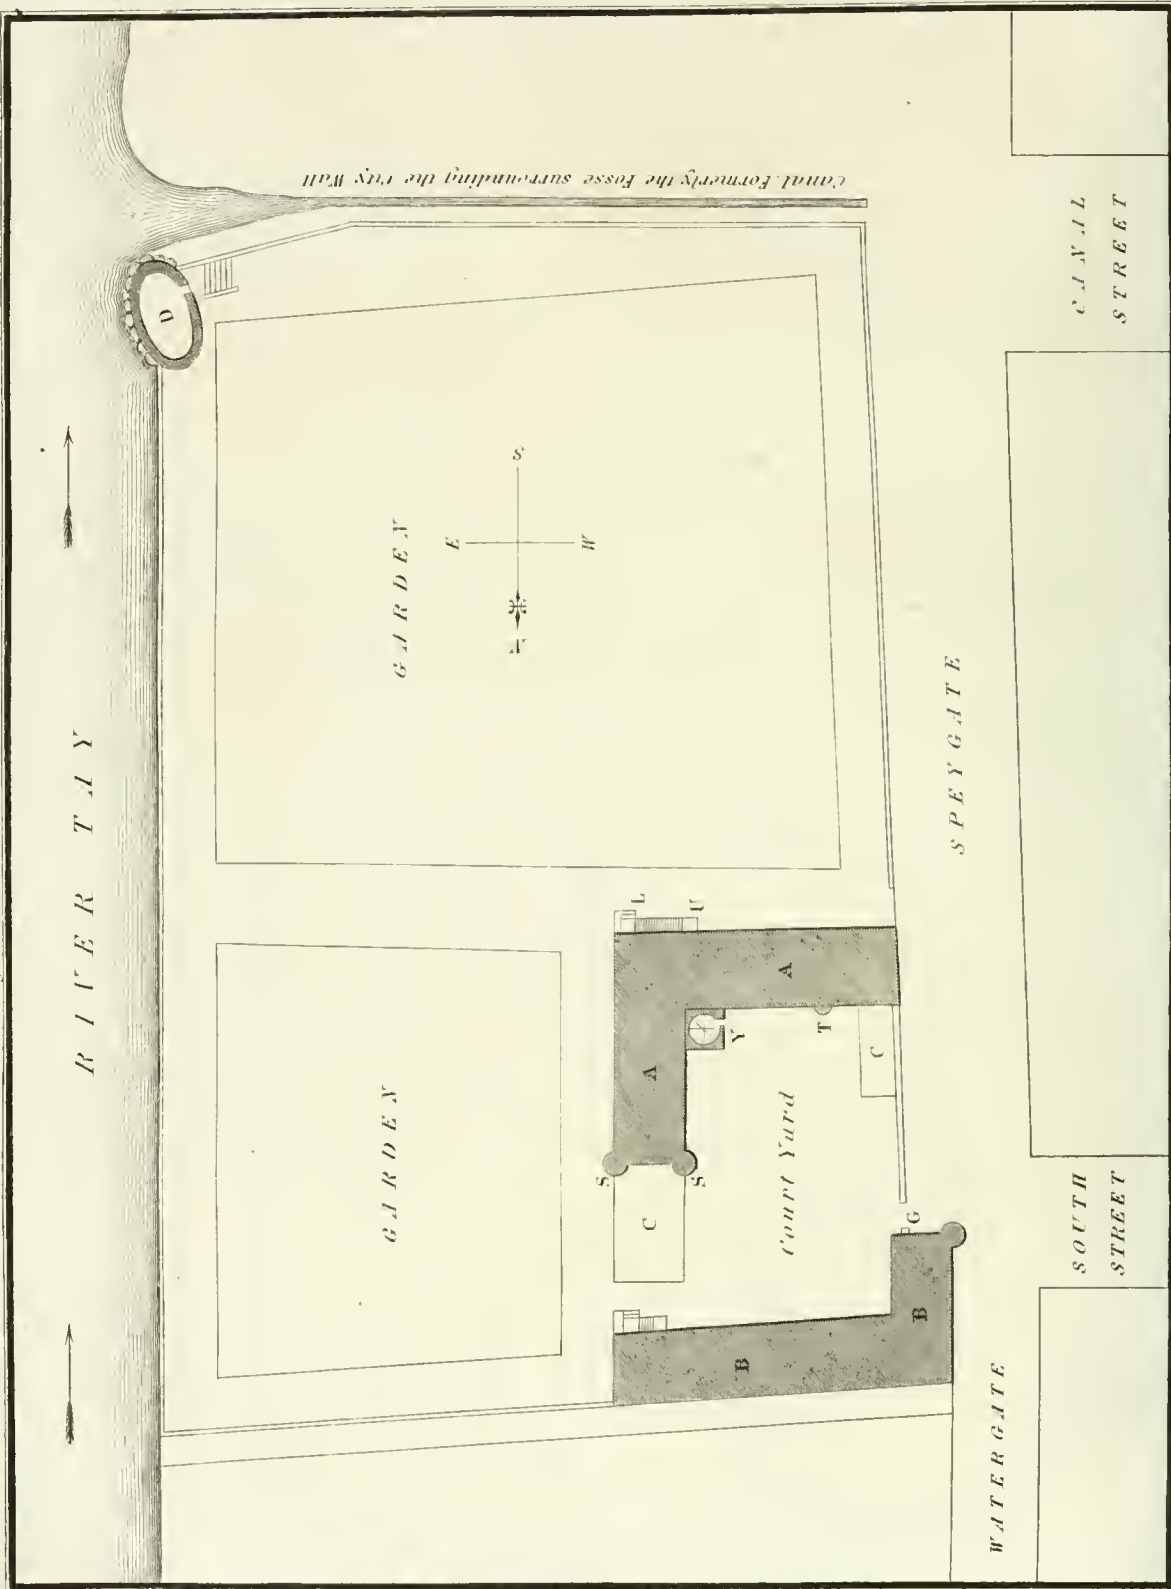

K, R, H, Position of the King, the Master of Ruthven and Andrew Henderson, on their entrance into the Turret & at the commencement of the Struggle. K 2, R 2, H 2. Their relative Situations, at the time the King cried for help.

Gowrie's Conspiracy.

PLAN OF GOWRY HOUSE & ADJOINING GROUND, A.D. 1806.

COL. II.

PLATE I.

J. R. 1806

A.A. The ancient portion of Gowry House, consisting of three floors and attics. B.B. The more modern portion of Gowry House. C.C. Temporary Sheds, latterly used for Artillery. D. The Monks Tower. G. The Entrance Gate. S.S. Two Towers. T. The Black & Turpiter. L.U. Flight of Steps leading to the Garden.

documents, tending to throw additional light upon this obscure and much-contested point, the Editor had intended prefacing the present Article, by a short Sketch or Narrative of the whole facts and circumstances upon which the reality and truth of this extraordinary drama must now be considered as hingeing. After mature deliberation, however, this purpose has been abandoned, chiefly because the introduction of such disquisitions is, in some measure, unsuitable to the plan and intention of this Collection, and, if indulged in, would encroach on space which is so much better occupied by extracts from the original and graphic pages of the Books of Adjournal. It seems to be more consistent with the nature of this work, to collect and place in juxta-position the entire authentic information which can now be procured from original and undoubted sources. With this view, therefore, considerable labour has been expended in searching the Public Records, and the unexhausted and truly valuable stores of the Faculty of Advocates, whose MS. Collections have been as carefully and extensively examined, as the other laborious avocations of the Editor would permit.

This arrangement is the less to be regretted, as so many excellent, though certainly most conflicting Accounts, have been written, both for and against the reality of this Conspiracy. Mr Parker Lawson, the ingenious author of the Life and Times of Archbishop Laud, has recently treated of this subject, in a concise and able manner, in his 'History of Remarkable Conspiracies.' The Editor, having heard of the work when it was in the course of going through the press, gave that gentleman free access to his entire Collections, partly with the view of saving the necessity of such a Disquisition as that which he had himself contemplated; and in order that the truth of this Conspiracy might, by Mr Lawson, be thoroughly sifted and placed upon an unquestionable foundation. The reality of the Gowrie Conspiracy has now, as is conceived, been satisfactorily made out by Mr Lawson, who has embraced views similar to those entertained by the Editor; and, after a patient examination of the whole of the evidence and materials, which have now been collected, has come to the same conclusions.

The Editor has only farther to remark, that the result of his enquiries and examinations of Original Documents are now offered to the Public; and that these Papers, a great portion of which are here for the first time published, are arranged, either in the order of their dates, or according to their apparent importance, and their bearing on the question. If they have swelled out to an undue size, the Editor hopes their novelty, and historical interest, will make ample amends. They have, at a considerable additional expense to the Editor, been condensed, as much as regard for the uniform typography and appearance of the book would permit.]

[CURIA JUSTICIARE, f. d. n. Regis, tenta in Pretorio de PERTH, xxij August 1600, per Magistrum Wilelmum Haert, Justicium Deputatum.]

Aug. 22.—MR THOMAS CRANSTOUNE and George Craigingelt, seruitouris to vniq^{le} Johnne Erll of Gowrie ; and Johnne M^cDuff alias Barroune, in Strabrand.

Dilatit of airt and pairt of the Treasonable crymes vnderwrittin ; committit aganis HIS MAIESTIE, the fyft of August instant.

The quhilk day, comperit Mr Thomas Hamiltoune, aduocat to our souerane lord, and produceit his hienes Warrant, directit to the Justice ; quhair of the tennour followis :

REX,

JUSTICE, Justice-Clerk and your deputis, We greit you weill. It is oure will, and We command you to put Mr Thomas Cranstoune, Johnne Barroune and George Craiggelt, to þe knowlledge of ane Affyis, for þe lait traitterous Conspiracie deuyfit and intendit to be execute aganis ws, at Perth : And thay being convict, that ye cause dome to be pronunceit aganis þame, to hang þame to deid : And that ye sie the same dome put to executione, without delay : Quhairnent thir presentis falbe your Warrant. Subscryuit with our hand, At Falkland, þe xxj day of August, 1600.

(Sic subscribitur)

JAMES REX.

ASSISA.

James Bower, notar in Perth,	Robert Broune, Kepar of his	George Murray, burges of Perth,
Andro Rae, baillie thair,	Maiesteis wyne fellar,	Patrik Seill, thair,
Johnne Ogilvie, faidler thair,	James Liddell, Potifar to his	Johnne Pullour, merchand thair,
David Rynd, flescheour thair,	Maieftie,	Andro Gellatlie, merchand thair,
Thomas Elgyn, thair,	James Bog, aid to the Maister	Williame Jak, baxter thair,
James Balnavis, flescheour thair,	Portar,	Patrik Drummond, skynner thair.

It wes alledgeit aganis Robert Broune, that he can nocht be putt on his Affyse, becaus he bure sword that day, and beris quarrell att him (Mr Thomas Cranstoune ?) The said Mr Thomas askit instrumentis, that Robert Broun declarit he bure quarrell aganis Mr Thomas sen that day, for the perfruit of his Maieftie.—The Aduocat askit instrumentis, that the said Robert declarit that it wes for perfruit of his Maieftie the King, quhilk can be na quarrell ; and thairfore he can nocht be put off the Affyse.

The Justice admittis Robert Broune vpoune the saidis personis Affyis.

It is allegeit be Mr Thomas Cranstoune, that James Liddell can nocht be vpoune his Affyse ; becaus he misreportit of him at Falkland.

The advocate produced the several Dittays, which follow.

DITTAY against Mr Thomas Cranstoune.

MR THOMAS CRANSTOUNE, Ye ar indytit and accusit of airt and pairt of the detestabill, horribill and tressonabill Conspiracie attemptat aganis our souerane lordis maist nobill personne, be vniq^{le} Johnne Erle of Gowrie and vniq^{le} Mr Alexander Ruthven, his brother : Forfamekill, as the saidis vniq^{le} Erle and Mr Alexander his brother, haifing maift develiffie concludit amangis thame fellfis trefsonable to Murthour his Maieftie, thair natie Prince : And for that purpois, the Erle haifing directit the faid v^mq^{le} Mr Alexander, vpoune the fyft day of Auguft instant, to his Maieftie, the faid v^mq^{le} Mr Alexander, v^mg incredibill craft and diffimulatione, haifing efelie perfwadit with his fair wordis, vtterit in maift humbill and loving maner, his Maieftie to ryde with him to St Johnftoune ; and the faid v^mq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie, haifing with the lyke deffait of mynde and hwmilitie of behaviour, reffautit his Maieftie, and drawin him to his ludgeing ; immediatlie efter denner, the faid v^mq^{le} Mr Alexander requeffit his Maieftie to gang with him to the Gallerie chalmer of the faid lugeing, quhilk his Maieftie reddelie did, fufpecting na ewill, bot mefuring the intentionis of that diffaitfull traittour with the finceritie of his hienes awin hairt : In the meyn-tyme, the faid v^mq^{le} Mr Alexander, haifing lokkit behind him diuerfe duris, led his Maieftie to the Cabinet of the faid Gallerie chalmer, quhair he had preparit Andro Henderfoune, familiar feruand to the faid v^mq^{le} Erle with ane fecret,¹ plait-flevis, fword and quhingear, be expres command of the faid Erle, to await vpoune the faid Mr Alexanderis cuming, and do quhatfoever he commandit him ; and thair, finding tyme and all vther occasionis to concur for performing of his maift abhominabill trefloune, haifing coverit his heid, and drawin Andro Henderfounis quhingear, he maift horriblie and crewallie presentit the famyn to his Maiefteis hairt, vowing instantlie to flay him for the death of his v^mq^{le} fader, convict and execute to the death, be ordour of Justice, for Heich Trefloune : And fynding him felf funquhat diffapoyntit, be the faid Androis withdrawing of his quhingear furth of his hand ; and, as it pleafit God, funquhat dafchit be his Maiefteis graif and constant fpeicheis and reffonis, he trefsonable caufit his Maieftie sweir that he fuld keip fylence, and remane prifoner in that chalmer, quhill he returnit fra his brother, with quhome he wald confult. And fwa, haifing trefsonable imprefonit his Maieftie, and lokkit the dur vpoun him, and incontinent returning within the chalmer, he trefsonable fwoir that his Maieftie behovit to die ; and preiffing to haif bund his Maiefteis handis with ane gartane,² quhilk he had lowfe in his handis for the purpois ; and fynding his Maieftie to refift, he putting his rycht hand to his fword to haif drawin it, and with the vther maift crewallie and vmercyfullie haifing grippit his Maieftie mouth and berd, of purpois baith to hald him and hinder him to fpeik ; neuirtheles, his Maieftie, extraordinarlie ftreuthennit be the mercie of God, stayit him to draw his fword, and cuming to the wyndok foirnent the way to the Spay-point, cryit for ‘ Help’ to my Lord of Mar, and vtheris his faythfull fubiectis ; quhair the faid Erle of Mar, with diuerfe vtheris his Maiefteis deutifull fubiectis and ferwandis, being of accident drawin thair, be the maist tressonabill devyise of the said vinq^{le} Erle of Gowrie, be ane bruit¹ gevin out be yow the said Mr Thomas Cranstoune, that 'his Maiestie wes riddin away,' thairbye to induce his hienes ferwandis to ryn to thair horsis, and thynking to follow the King, to poist of (off) the toune, and to leif him destitute of all help: That deveilleifelh inventioun, proiectit for the mair secret and assurit executioun of his Maiesteis slauchter, turneing, be the providence of God, to the beginning of his Maiesteis saistie and releif; all faythfull subiectis, feing his Maiesteis exceding danger, haistit for his releif; bot preiffing all to enter the way, thay saw his Maiestie drawin to the said chalmer be the said vinq^{le} Mr Alexander, and being secludit be sa mony durris, lokkit, in that passage, be the said vinq^{le} Mr Alexander, of set purpos: At last, Sir Johne Ramfay, led doubtleslie be the spreit of God for his Maiesteis saistie, ran vp the bak turnepyke,² being ane vnaccustumit passage, and enterit be ane dur of the said chalmer, quhilk anfuert to the said turnepyke; quhilk dur wes opnit of accident, be the said Andro Henderfoune; quha, being confoundit with horrour of sa heich tressoune, quhen he saw it at the poynt of the executioun, baith hairt and hand being tane fra him, be the power of God, protectour of his Maiesteis innocencie; the said Sir Johne Ramfay entering in the chalmer, and feing the horribill violence vsit be the said vinq^{le} Mr Alexander to bereve his Maiestie, destitute of armour or wappynnis, of his lyffe, ran to his help; and haifing gevin to the said Mr Alexander sum straikis with his quhin-gear,³ expellit him furth of the foirsaid chalmer. During the quhilk space, the said vinq^{le} Erle, persaising his tressoune discoverit, and being vpoune the Hie street of the said burcht of Perth, accompaneit with thre or four seoir of personis or thairbye, he come foirnent the duelling-hous of Archebald Makbreg, haifing na provocatioun, nor knawin nor sene cause to vse ony wappynnis, drew his twa swordis, and thairbye gaif example to his haill cumpany to do the lyke, and altogidder ruschit langis⁴ that pairt of the gait,⁵ with drawin swordis to the 3et⁶ of his lugeing; his Maiestie being thairin for the tyme, in maner foirsaid: And thair, ye the said Mr Thomas, enterand with your drawin sverd befor the said Erle, he commandit yow to enter vp the Blak-turnepyke; lyke as ye and he tressonablie ran vp the said turnepyke, accompaneit with Alexander and Harie Ruthvennis, Hew Moncreif, Patrik Eviot and diuerse vtheris your complices, and cuning to the said Gallerie chalmer dur, within the quhilk his Maiesteis maist nobill persoun was for the tyme; and thair, fynding the said Sir Johne Ramfay, Sir Thomas Erskyne and Doctor Herreis at the dur for his Maiesteis defence, ye tressonable invadit and persewit thame for thair slauchteris, repulfat thame perforce, and enterit within the samyn chalmer, hurt and woundit thame, and everie ane of thame ; and left nocht of the persute of the said horribill Tressoune, quhill the said vmq^{le} Erle, being slane within the said chalmer, and ye haifing reffawit twa deidlie woundis, disparit of performing your interpryis, fled doune the cloise, quhair ye tressonable commandit to gaird and keip the bak yet ; and assistit ane nowmer of seditious rebellis, quha had inclufit and beseageit his Maiestie within the said ludgeing. Quhairbye, ye haif committit maist Heich, manifest and abhominabill Tressoune ; and ar airt and pairt thairof.

¹ A coat of chain-mail of proof, secretly worn under the usual dress.

² Garter,

¹ Fr. bruit, a report or rumour. ² For 'blak turnepyke,' a winding staircase, commonly in a turret. The term is still used in Scotland. ³ A sort of cutlass or short sword, a hanger. ⁴ Along, alongst. ⁵ Street or road. ⁶ Gate.

DITTAY against George Craiggyngelt.

GEORGE CRAIGGYNGELT, Ye ar indytit and accusit of airt and pairt of the maist crewall, abhominabill and tressonabill Conspiracie attemptit aganis our Souerane Lord, be vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie your maister, and vmq^{le} Mr Alexander Ruthven his broder, vpoune the fyft day of August instant. Forfamckill as, Johne sumtyme Erle of Gowrie, and vmq^{le} Mr Alexander Ruthven his broder, haifing maist crewalie, vnnaturallie and tressonable Conspyrit his Maiesteis Murthour ; and, for performance thairof, vpoune the fyft day of August instant, the said vmq^{le} Mr Alexander, be directioun of the said Erle, haifing maist dissaitfullie drawin his Maiestie to Perth : And, efter his demer, haifing perswadit his hienes to gang quytlie his allane to the Gallerie chalmer, and thair, tressonable, with the drawin quhingear of Andro Henderfoune, quhome he had laid than in wait, armit with secreit, plait-flevis, sword and quhingear, to assist him and do quhat he directit, according to the command gevin to him be the said vmq^{le} Erle his maister, haifing preiffit to haif slane his Maiestie ; and being sumquhat stayit be sik graif perswasionis, as God at that tyme furneiffit his Maiestie to stay the rage of that tressonabill angre, he take his Maiestie sworne that he suld keip sylence, and remane presoner in the foirsaid chalmer, till he returnit : And than lokkand the dur, and incontinent returnand, he declarit his Maiestie behovit presentlie to die ; and preiffing to bynd his handis, and incensit be his resistance, haifing layit his rycht hand to draw his sword, and being stayit be his Maiestie with his vther hand, haifing vnnaturallie and crewallie tane his Maiestie be the berd and the mouth, to hald him and stay him fra crying ; nochtwithstanding quhairrof, his Maiestie, be the assistance of God, wan to the windok that luikis to the Spay-poynt, and thair cryit for ‘ Help ! ’ During the quhilk space, the said vmq^{le} Erle, haifing raifit ane fals brute, that ‘ the King wes away ; ’ thairbye to haif inducit all his hienes serwandis to poist to overtak him, vpoune the way to Falkland : Quhill thay wer making haist to get thair horsis, and abyding vpoune thame, betuix the said lugeing and the poirt, it pleffit God, that my Lord Duke, the Erle of Mar, and certane vtheris his Maiesteis weill affectionat subiectis and serwandis, saw and hard his Maiesteis cry ; quha rymmand to his releve, and fynding na man to enter, being excludit be sa mony duris, lokkit of set purpos be the said Mr Alexander at his vpgooing : At last, it pleasit God to direct Sir Johne Ramsay vp the Bak-turnpyke, quhair, fynding the bak dur of the said chalmer opnit be Andro Henderfoune, quha, stupefeit with the vnspcakabill horror of the sycht of the said Tressoune, preparit him selff to flie thairfra ; the said Sir Johne enterit, and in his faythfull and dewtiefull hairt of his Maiestie, geveing sum sfracis with his quhingear to the said vmq^{le} Mr Alexander, pat him perforce furth of the said chalmer : And than, the said vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie, seing his Tressoune discouerit, and in danger to be dissapoyntit, casting of the mask of his depest dissimulatione ; being vpoune the Hie streit of Perth, accompaneit with thre or four scoir of his complices, without ony occasioun gevin to him, or sycht of ony contrair partie,¹ drew his twa swordis, and thairbye causit the rest draw thair sverdis ; and than tressonablie come, in hostile maner, to the yet of the said duelling-houise, quhair his Maiestie was for the tyme, and tressonablie entering with drawin swordis, Ye the said George Craiggingelt, than meting him with ane drawin twa-handit sword in your hand, the said Erle commandit to keip the bak yet, quhilk ye tressonablie did ; and ye, with Mr Thomas Cranstonne, Alexander and Harie Ruthvennis, Hew Moncreif, Patrik Eviot and vtheris his complices, rinnand vp the Blak-turnpek, to the chalmer quhair he knew his Maiestie to be for the tyme, tressonablie and perforce enterit thairin, sfrac fra the defence thairof Sir Thomas Erskyne, Sir Johne Ramsay and Doctour Herreis, his Maiesteis serwandis, and persewit thame for thair slauchteris, and crewallie woundit thame, and insffit in the crewall and vnumercifull perfruit of this abhominabill Tressoune to the verrie death : During the quhilk tyme, Ye the said George Craiggingelt, obeying the tressonabill command of your said vmq^{le} maister, tressonablie enclofit the said bak yet ; and assistit be ten or twelf rascallis, your complices, tressonablie besegit his Maiestie, your soueranis maist nobill persoune ; and remanit with your twa-handit sword drawin, in your hand, attour² the space of twa houris, at the said bak yet, and in the cloise of the said lugeing, and sufferit na man to haif entrie or passage at the said yet : And lykewyis, tressonablie minasfit his Maiesteis domestik seruitouris, being inclusit and besegeit with his Maiestie within the said lugeing, for thair slauchteris, boisting³ to hang thame, and avowing that thay suld all die ; ye herand and seand Harie and Alexander Ruthvennis, and vtheris your complices, call for poulder to blaw vp the said lugeing, and causing bring ane jeist⁴ to ryn at the yet thairof, and ding it vp, that thairbye thay mycht haif enterit perforce, and crewallie Murderit his Maieftie, and his faythfull ferwandis, being with his Maieftie thairin. Quhairbye ye haif committit maift Heich and manifest Trefloune; and ar airt and pairt thairof.

¹ Adversary. ² Above, more than. ³ Threatening. ⁴ A jcist or beam, to be used as a battering-ram to force open the gate.

DITTAY againſt Johne Makduf alias Barroune.

JOHNE MAKDUF alias BARROUNE, Ye ar indytit and accufit for airt and pairt of the treflonabill Conſpiracie attemptit be vinq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie, and vinq^{le} Mr Alexander Ruthven his broder, aganis the Kingis Maieftie, vpoune the fyft day of Auguſt inſtant. Forſamekill as the ſaidis vinq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie, and vinq^{le} Mr Alexander Ruthvene, having ſecreitie Conſpyrit his Maieſteis Murthour; and for affectuating thairof, the ſaid vinq^{le} Erle having directit his brother Mr Alexander the ſamin day to Falkland, to perfwaid his Maieftie to cum to S^t Johnſtoun, to the ſaid vinq^{le} Erles lugeing; quhair, efter he had dynit, the ſaid Mr Alexander, having drawin him to the ſaid Gallerie chalmer, and lokkit the haill durris efter him, and having Andro Henderfoune lyand in wait, be directione of the ſaid vinq^{le} Erle, armit with his ſecreit, plait-flevis, ſword and quhingear, and commandit be him to do quhatſumever the ſaid vinq^{le} Mr Alexander his broder fuld bid him; the ſaid vinq^{le} Mr Alexander drew the ſaid Androis quhingear, and myntit¹ to have flane his Maieftie thairwith; and being pairtlye ſtayit be the taking of the quhingear fra him, and pairtlye be the maieftie of his nature, prait² and reaſonis vſit be him, to ſtay his treflonabill furie; haifing promeſit to advyſe with his brother, takand in the meyntyme his Maieſteis ayth, that he fuld remane preſoner, and keip ſilence; he paſſit furth, lokkit to the dur, and ſchortlye thairefter returning, ſwear abhominablie, that he behovit inſtantlye to die: And preiſſand to haif bund his Maieſties handis, to the effect he mycht the mair eſelie have murtherit him, his Maieftie, be the aſſiſtance of God, maid ſik reſiſtance as he wan to the windo of the ſaid chalmer; and ſeing certane his hienes faythfull ſubiectis, cryit for ‘Help’ aganis the murthorer, preiſſand to bereave him of his lyffe. And the ſaid vinq^{le} Erle, cairfull to withdraw all meanis of help or ſuccours frome his Maieftie, having cauſit raiſe ane fals rumour of his Maieftie paſſing away, quhilk him ſelf and Mr Thomas Cranſtoun his ſerwand aſſermit to be trew, and that his Maieftie was paſt Mid-Inche;³ be occaſion of the quhilk rumour, my Lord Duke, the Erle of Mar, and vtheris his Maieſteis ſerwandis, being run to ſeik thair horſis, to follow his Maieftie, quhome thay ſupponit to be away; ſeing and hering his Maieſteis preſent danger, ran to his releve, bot being ſtayit be the duris, lokkit of ſet purpois be the ſaid vinq^{le} Mr Alexander, could nocht haif accels; quhill at laſt, it pleaſit God to direct Johne Ramſay to rin vp the Blak-trumpyke;⁴ and

¹ Made an attempt, essayed.

² Talk, persuasion. It is not unlikely that this is a mistake of the transcriber, for ‘grace.’

³ Past the middle of the South Inch of Perth.

⁴ Turnpike. The

thair, fynding the dur of the said chalmer opuit, be the said Andro Henderfoune, preiffand to flie furth of the fame, abhorrand the fylthines and crewaltie of the said Treaſoune, the said Johne Ramſay enterit, and diſchargeand his native and bund dewtie to his Prince, gaif to the said Mr Alexander ſum woundis, and expellit him furth of the said chahner; quha, falling in the fute of the said trumpeke; albeit ye the said Johne Barroune, hard, ſaw and knew his Maieſteis perrell, nawyis movit thairwith, nor preiffand onywyis, according to your dewtie, to mak him ony releif; bot be the contrair, preiffand to aſſiſt the said treſſonabill attemptat aganis his Maieſtie, ran furth to the Hie ſtreit, quhair the said vinq^{le} Erle was for the tyme, and declarit to him that his said vinq^{le} broder wes ſlane; and thairbye incenſit the said Erle to draw his ſwordis, and furiouſlie ran with his complices to his ludgeing, quhair his Maieſtie was for the tyme; and treſſonablie enterit thairin, and paſſit vp to the dur of the chalmer, quhair his Maieſtie was for the tyme, and invadit his Maieſteis ſerwandis, being thair for his Maieſteis defence, and perſewing thame for thair ſlauchteris, dang¹ thame in diuerſe pairtis of thair bodeis; and inſiſtit in the treſſonabill executioun of his Conſpiracie foirſaid, to the verrie death; quhome ye treſſonablie movit, be your aduerteifment, to the executioun of the said treſſonabill Murthour, with his awin handis: Lyke as, ye followit him in the said treſſonabill interpryife, and enterit within the said lugeing; and in the cloiſe, at the bak zet, haveing incourageit all men to aſſiſt the said vinq^{le} Erle, did quhat in yow lay to ſteir vp all men to fortifie the said vinq^{le} Erle in his said Conſpiracie: And thairbye, ye was airt and pairt of the said maift horribill Treafon.

THE said Aduocat produceit, for verificatioun of the Dittays; in the fyrſt, the Depoſitiounis of Andro Henderfoune, to prove the devyſe and actuall executioun of the Treafoun lybellit; and vſit the ſamin aganis the hail pannell. And, for verificatioun of Mr Thomas Crauſtounis particuler Dittay, produceis the said Mr Thomas thrie Depoſitiounis, ſubſcryuit with his hand, and cognofeit be himſelf: Togidder with George Craigingeltis Depoſitioun, ſubſcryuit with his hand. And, in lyke maner, produceit the said Georgeis Depoſitioun aganis him ſelf: And the Depoſitioun of Johne M'Duff alias Barroun, for verificatioun of his Dittay. Togidder with the Depoſitioun of Olipher zoung, James Drummond and David Rynd, auent the bringing of ane jeift to force the zett, his Maieſtie being thairin: And alſo, the said Davidis Depoſitioun, that he hard Alexander Ruthven cry for powder.

Repetis the xxv Act of King James the ſecund, expreſſing that the Invaſioun of the Prince, and aſſalzeing of ony caſtell, place or hous, quhair his Maieſtie is, is Treafoune: And lykewyis, the hundreth threſcoir and fyftene Act of the proper name Turnbull is ſtill vulgarly pronounced Trumbull, and was at this period commonly ſo written; the word turnpike ſeems to have been ſimilarly corrupted. ² Violently ſtruck and thruſt at.

Kingis xiiij Parliament ; bering, that the frykeing, hurting or flaying of ony perfour within the Kingis Inner-Chalmer, Cabinet or Chalmer of peace, the Kingis Maieftie for the tyme being within his Palice, to be Treafoune. Repetis the notorietie of the fact, and the knowlege of the Affyis thame fellfis ; and gif thay clange,¹ Proteftis (for) Wilfull and manifet Errour.

VERDICT. Quhilkis perfonis (of Affyis) being chofin, fworne and admittit ; and the faidis Mr Thomas Cranfton, George Craiggigelt and Johne M^cDuff alias Barroune, being accufit, in thair prefens, of the particuler Dittayis refpective foirfaidis, and crymes contenit thairin ; quhilkis wer verifeit, be thair awin Depofitionis, diuerfe Actis of Parliament, and vtheris Depofitionis produceit be the faid Aduocat ; the faidis perfonis of Affyis, immediatlie thairefter, pafte alto-gidder furth of Court, to the Over-hous of the faid Tolbuith ; quhair thay, efter chefing of the faid Andro Rae chancellor, reffonit vpoune the pointis of the Dittayis refpective foirfaidis, and votit thairvpoune ; and eftir longe reffoning and confultatioune vpoune the famyn, being throughlie avyfit thairwith, re-enterit agane in Court, in prefens of the faid Justice-depute ; quhair thay, be the mouth of the faid Andro Rae chancellor, ffind, pronunceit and declarit the faidis Mr Thomas Cranftoune, George Craiggigelt and Johne Makduff alias Barroune, to be Fylit, Culpabill and Convict of airt and part of the maift crewall, abhominabill and treffonabill Conspiracie, attemptit be vni^q^{lc} Jolme Erle of Gowrie, and vni^q^{lc} Mr Alexander Ruthven his brother, aganis the Kingis Maieftie, committit vpoune the fyft day of Auguft infant : As at mair lenth is contenit in the Dittayis refpective abouewrittin, laid to thair charge.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk caufe, the faid Justice-depute, be the mouth of Williame Lyell,² dempftar of the faid Court, Decernit, Ordanit and Adjudgeit the faid Mr Thomas Cranftoune, George Craiggigelt and Jolme Makduff alias Barroune, to be tane to ane Gibbet, befyde the mercat-croce of Perth, and thair to be HANGIT quhill thay be deid ; and all thair Landis, heritageis, takis, ftedingis, rowmes, poffeffionis, guidis and geir, to be fforfalt and efcheit to our fouerane lordis vfe, as Convict of the faidis crymes.³

¹ Cleanfe, i. e. find the pannels Not Guilty, or Acquit them. ² ‘ Jolme Fendraucht’ is deleted, and ‘ W^m Lyell’ interlined, and alfo the name is written on the margin. ³ ‘ Upon Saturday, the 23d of Auguft, Mr Thomas Cranftoun, George Craiggigelt and John Baron, officer of Strabran, attenders upon the Earl of Gowry, were hanged in St Johnfton, for drawing their fwords in the time of the tumult ; yet confefed they nothing which might finell of knowlege of any Conſpiracy.—Mr Thomas Cranfton, brother to Sir John Cranfton of that Ilk, exhorted the people to forbear impreccations againft themſelves ; for he had now found by experience, that they wanted not their own effect. For that he himſelf had vfed three kinds of impreccations, viz. “ God nor a fword go through me !”—“ I ſhall be taken for a Traitor !”—“ God nor I be hanged !”—“ I have been taken,” ſaid he, “ for a Traitor ; but I thank God, I am nocht one. I was ſtabbed through with a fword at this laſt tumult ; and now, I am to be hanged !” He conceived a fervent prayer, at which time, in the miſt of a cloudy darknefs, glanced a ſudden brightnefs, to the aſtoniſhment of the beholders.’—From Calderwood’s MS. Church Hiſtory, in the Univerſity of Glaſgow.—Scott’s MSS. Adv. Lib.

DEPOSITION OF MR THOMAS CRANSTOUN.¹

AT THE BURCH OF PERTH, and within the duelling hous of Johne Pitcarne thair, the sext day of August, the yeir of God I^m and sex hundreth yeiris.

Quhill day, in prefens off Mr Patrik Galloway Minifter to his Maieftie, Oliuer Young, Andro Ray bail⁵eis, James Adamfone dene of gild, Williame (Jak) dekin of the baxteris, and Henrie Elder commoue clerk, wreter heiroy, burgefes of the faid burch of Perth,

MR THOMAS CRANSTOUNE, fwytyme feruitour to vmq¹⁰ Johne Erle off Gowrie, being appellit on his confciencie, as he vald anfuer to God, feing he was vpoune his deid bed, as appeirit to thame, deidlie vondit with twa ftraikis, Deponit as followis. THAT vpoune the fyft day of August instant, he being in the ludgiug, hering ane vncertane rumour and brute² of the Kingis furth-going to the South Inche, came donne the bakftair to the gardin 3eard, qubair my lord his maifter wes ganging, as he rememberis, with my lord Duik, or with fwme vther nobill man; to qubome the faid Mr Thomas faid, 'The report and brute is, my lord, that his Maieftie is gane to the South Inche.' Qubairvpoune my lord defyrit him to 'to hawe his hors readie, that he nicht follow;' quha' anfuerit, 'they³ war in Scone; and fa being his Maieftie in the Inche, it vald be hard or they come furth thairof⁴ and to ourtak his Maieftie.' Thaireftir, he followit my lord through the hall to the wtter clois, and thairfra the faid Mr Thomas paffit to the bak clois to feik his boy, for fending of him to Scone for the hors; qubome he culd nocht find: And quhill he wes thair, he hard ane tumult and din; and thairvpoune come throch the wtter clois to the for-3eatt, inquiring all the gett,⁵ 'Quhat the matter fuld be?' And in the end, feing my lord his maifter ftrugling befor the 3eatt, with certane of Tullibardins feruandis, young Tullibardin being present; he, fwa far as he nicht, with the help that was present, freithit⁶ my lord fra present ftrugling. In the meane quhill of the faid ftrugling, my lord fell on his henche and elbo; bot ryfing agane, paffit vp the gait, foirnent Archebald Makbrekis, qubair he drew his tna fuordis furth of ane tkabert; quhillk the faid Mr Thomas feing, being jowp alane,⁷ lwit his clok fall,⁸ and lykwayis drew furth his fuord, inquiring of my lord, 'Quhat the fray was, and quhat he wald do?' To qubome my lord anfuerit, 'He wald gang in to his awin hows, or die be the way.' Qubair to the faid Mr Thomas replyit, he vald gang befor him; bot prayit his lordfchip to tell him, 'qubome at he fuld ftraik, becaus he knew nocht quha was pairtie.' And fua, tindyng fordvard to the 3eatt, ane pat ane feilbonet on my lordis hede; quha it vas he knowis nocht. Proceeding fordvard, at the awld turnepect dur, the Maifter of Gowrie was lyand, quhidder deid or hurt he knew nocht; and nocht perfyttie knawing quha than it was, becaus he saw nocht his face; fpearing quho it was, my lord baid, 'Vp the flair!' And he paffing fordvard, at my lordis command, nawayis knawing quha followit, my lord come to ane chamber, quhair he faw Sir Thomas Erkin, Doctour Hereis and Jhone Ramfay ftaudin with drawin fuordis; quhillk Doctour Hereis, prefenting his fuord to ftop the entrie, Mr Thomas faid to him, '3eall theiff! dar thou?' Doctour Hereis anfuerand, 'A Mons⁹ Cranftoune!' Quhillk Mr Thomas faid, 'Theiff! gif thou be innocent of 3one fklauchter, come furth and I fall varrand the.' Thairefter, my lord and Jhone Ramfay jokit:¹⁰ The reft ftraik fwme ftraikis at Mr Thomas, and he at thame. Quhow my lord and Jhone Ramfay fehed¹¹ he knew nocht, alvyis¹² Mr Thomas deilling with the reft. Jhone Ramfay ftraik the faid Mr Thomas throw the body; and thairefter wes ftrukin at, he belewis be Doctour Hereis, bot nocht throch the body. Quhillk Mr Thomas, miffing my lord, lap¹³ out at the dur and come furth of the place. Efter all, Mr

¹ From the original, preserved among the Warrants of Parliament, General Register House.

² Fr. bruit.

³ His horses were at Scoon, his usual residence.

⁴ Ere they could be sent for from Scoon, a distance of two or three miles.

⁵ Way.

⁶ Freed, delivered.

⁷ Apparently, in extremity of peril, without adequate means of assistance. Perhaps from O. Fr. 'jupper,' to shout or cry aloud. 'Jupperty,' in old Scots, signifies a dangerous enterprise, from O. Fr. 'jeu-perdu—or rather, 'jeu-parti,' a hazardous game.

⁸ Disencumbered himself of his cloak, by dropping it on the ground.

⁹ For Monsieur, as is afterwards explained.

¹⁰ Probably for 'yokit,' or engaged in combat. 'Jowkit,' would signify a dexterous evasion of thrusts; but there was no room in that apartment for such a display of the art of self-defence.

¹¹ Separated.

¹² Ever, continually.

¹³ Leaped, sprung.

Thomas protestit, in prefens of God, that he nether was with my lord, nor with the Maister; nether hard spokin with any of thame, befor this twmult, nocht sax wordis, fourtene dayis ofbefoir: And protestit lykvyis, in the prefens of God, that he newer knew my lord nor the Maister to have pretendit¹ any thing aganes the Kingis persone: And forder protestit, that na suspitioune be tane of his name, as being callit Mr Thomas Cranstoune; becaus it is of weritie, that he passit furth of this cuntrie vpoune the third day of Februar I^m.V^c. fourfeoir nyne yeiris, and retwrnit nocht thairefter thairto quhill the morne efter Peace-day,² in the yeir of God I^m.V^c. fourfeoir sewentene yeiris: Quha passing thairefter to France, quharfra he came hether, remanit quhill he come hame with the Erle of Gowrie. And in the mair verificatioune heirof, the said Mr Thomas subscrivit thir presentis with his awin hand.

(Sic subscribitur)

M. P. GALLOUAY, witness.

OLIPHER YOUNG, Bail⁵e, witness.

A. RAY, Balius, witness.

MR THOMAS CRANSTON.

JAMES ADAMSONE, witness.

VILLIAME JAK, witness.

HENRIE ELDER, witness.

*CRAINGELTIS DEPOSITIOUNE.*³

AT FALKLAND, the xvj day of August, 1600. IN presence of my Lordis Chancellor, Secretar, Justice Clark, Comptrollar, Schir George Home of Spot, Schir Patrik Murray and Mr William Hert, Justice.

GEORGE CRAINGELT being examinat, Deponis as followis. DEPONIS, that he newir hard the Erll of Gowrie, sen his hamecuming, speik any thing anent the misfkying or revendge of his fatheris deathe, nether in priuat or publict. Deponis, that he desirrit, at all tymes, Mr William Rind, quha had my lordis eare by⁴ ony man, to perswaid my lord to keip him self in the Kingis favour and obedience; in respect of jelse of that wes amangis thame: Quha anfuerrit, that he sould do all that he culd to perswaid my lord sa to do; and that it wes best sa to do.

Being inquirit, gif he, being in cumpany at the latter meit,⁵ befor my lordis ganging to Strabrand with Andro Henryfoun and Mr Williame Rind, said, that 'thair apperit to be sum elast⁶ betuixt his Maiestie and my lord; and that it wes verray meit it wer foirfene; and quhat fuld eum of it?' Anfuerrit, that he denyis it planelie, that euir he spak it or hard of sic a thing.

Denyis, that during my lordis being in Strabrand, nather yit in St Johnstoun,⁷ estir his cuming fra Strabrand, he knew ony man or page to cum fra Court to my lord; or that he commandit to gif thame any meit or drink.

Deponis, that my lord and his broder vsit at all tymis maist familiar conference, quhen my lord had na vthir cumpany.

Deponis, that at my lordis being in Strabrand, Sandie Ruthven come fra Dunkeld to my lord: And that vpoun Fryday, my lord directit Capitane Ruthvene to ryde, and tell my Lady that he wes to cum; and Capitane Ruthven mett my lord at the cobill,⁸ and raid bak to Dunkeld with my lord; quhair he, having sowpit, returnit to his bed to Trochene, the deponer being in cumpany.

Denyis, that he knew any thing of the Maister or Andro Henryfonis ryding to Falkland, vpoun the Tyisday the fift of August. Declairis, that he wes lyand in his naikit bed that day; quhill estir the Kingis cuming, that Thom Eldar and Johnne Barroun come till him and baid him ryise, and said 'the King wes cum.' Quhilk he did, and come to the kitcheing, quhair he fand na appeirance of meit for the King; and thairfoir fend out to Duncane Robertfonis houfe, quhair he gat a murefoule.⁹ And thaireftir, this deponar causit mak reddy a schoulder of muttoun and a hen; quhilk wes lang in doing. And that he thaireftir went vp and brocht doun sum straberries and dressit fyve or sex disebis of dessert: And in the ganging vp the stair, met the Maister of Gowrie buittit, and inquirit at him, 'Quhair he had bene?' Quha anfuerrit, 'Ane eirand nocht far af.' And the deponar inquirit agane, 'Quhat movit

¹ Designed, plotted.

² 'Pais,' 'Pasche,' Easter.

³ From Original, among Warrants of Parliament.

⁴ More than.

⁵ Probably the last service or course, or the dessert at dinner.

⁶ Grudge, cause of offence;

literally, eye-sore.

⁷ Perth.

⁸ Ferry-boat.

⁹ Muir-fowl, grouse.

the King to cum fa suddanlie, vnluikit for?' Quha anfuert, that 'Robert Abircrumby, that fals knaiff, had brocht the king thair, to caus his Maieftie tak ordour for his debt.'

Deponis farther, that the Erll of Gowrie that day neur fpak word to the deponare, nor defirit him to mak any prouifioun for the Kingis cuming.

Deponis, that, eftir the Kingis dennar, he gart tak vp the Duk and the Erll of Maris dennar: Quhilk endit, he caufit James Erkin and the feruandis dyne; lyke as, the deponar fat down with thame, and fat quhill thai hard a tumult on the gait. And then he and the rest at the table raife, and went altogidder to the cloife, quhair the deponar faw the Maifter lyand deid, at the fute of the Blak turnepyke; and that the deponar cryit then, 'Quhair is my lord?' And faw na body befyde the Maifter; and that he ran out at the 5ett, and mett my lord at the 5ett, cumand in with tua drawin fuordis in his hand, a knappifcall¹ bonat on his heid, and a cumpany of ten or tuelff with drawin fwordis with him. Rememberis, that Mr Thomas Cranftoun and Hew Moncreiff wes with my lord, quha enterit togidder, with thair drawin fwordis, in at the Blak turnepyke. And the deponar herd ane cry, 'Keip the 5ett!' Quhilk movit him to rin in about the nuke of the houfe, to the bak 5ett of the 5aird,² to fe that na man ifchit that way; with whom pafit a nowmer of ten or tuelff rafkallis of the toun. And the deponar being thair, Mr Thomas Cranftoun come till him, and baid 'Keip that 5ett!' And deponis, that lykuife that he faw Mr Williame Rind in the 5ard, and baid his fister ga hir way. And that Mr Thomas and Mr Williame pairtit fra him thair, immediatlie, without forder fpeche. And that the deponar, having remanit thair a quhill, come bak to the cloife, quhair he faw Hary Ruthven cum down the Blak turnepyke; quha faid to the deponar, that 'my lord wes hurt vp in the chalmer.'

Being thaireftir inquirit, 'Quhair he gat the twa-handit fword, quhilk he had drawin in his hand?' Anfuert, that quhen he raife with the rest fra his dennar, hering the tumult, he pafit to the pantrie to feik his fword, quhair the Dur wes fteikit;³ and fa he went vp to my lordis chalmer, quhair he fand the twa-handit fword; and come immediatlie down to the cloife with it; and faw Mr Alexander Ruthven lyand deid in the Blak turnepyke, as faid is.

Declaris, that he neur fpak a word with Cryftie that day; or that euir he fpak a word with him, of the fufpitioun betuix the King and my lord, at ony vther tyme.

Denyis, that he wes vp the Blak turnepyke ony tyme that day.

Denyis, that eftir the dennar, he baid Barroun or Cryftie the Portar follow him; or that he and they went in at the Blak turnepyke togidder.

Deponis thairefter, that Johne Barroun and Barroun Fandowie brocht the Maifter out of the chalmer, quhan he wes flaying, down the Blak turnepyk stair; and that the faid John Barroun fpak that to this deponare.

Deponis, that befoir my lordis ganging to Strabrand, vpoun a nyecht at ix houris at evin, my lord gart ifche⁴ the chalmer, quhair remanit onlie Mr William Rind, Mr Thomas Crauftoun and a tail5eour: And that vpoun the morne thairefter, that Mr Williame Rind declairit to the deponar, that my lord wes feyand⁵ on a py dowblett,⁶ with⁷ the taill pecis for the wamb.

(Sic fubfcribitur)

G. CRAINGELT.

¹ Often written 'knapschaw,' and 'knapschay.' A 'steel-bonnet,' or helmet, fitting close to the skull, of a round form. It seems often to have been fitted into the usual bonnet, or other head dress, and worn along with the 'secret,' or chain-mail, to avoid the appearance of being fully armed. ² Yard, garden. ³ Shut, fastened.

⁴ Make void or empty; he desired those in the chamber to retire, excepting, &c. ⁵ Trying, assaying. ⁶ Often called a 'Secret,' being a kind of chain or plate armour strongly quilted into the breast of the dress, for the sake of concealment. There have been many conjectures as to the meaning of the word 'py,' or, as it is more frequently written, 'pyne;' which appears to the Editor to be from O. Fr. peigne. 'Faire peigne,' to give one the slip, to elude by craft or stratagem, &c. Mr Arnot thinks it was so called, from being 'worn by pions or foot soldiers.'—Trials, p. 31. But there was no occasion for their armour being concealed. It is worthy of remark, that in the struggle between Mr Alexander Ruthven and the King, when Sir John Ramsay came to the King's rescue, the latter instantly exclaimed, 'Fy! strik him laich, becaus he hes ane pyne-dowlit vpoun him!' ⁷ The words, 'the theis (thighs) and,' are deleted from the Deposition.

THIS deponar, being re-examinat this day, at efternone, deponis, that the tumult raife at the end of the latter meit; and that he, with his Maiefteis officeris, ran furth of the hall; and that he went to the pantrie to feik his fword, and the dur being steikit, he went vp to my lordis chalmer, quhair he fand ane twa-handit fword, and come doun immediatlie to the cloife, drew it and keift the skabert away, quhan he faw Mr Alexander Iyand deid in the fute of the Blak turnpyke: And then immediatelie went to the zett, and mett my lord cumand in thairat, with tua drawin fwordis in hand, and ane cumpany with drawin fwordis with him. And that the deponar come bak to the cloife with him, quhill my lord enterit, and his cumpany with him, in at the Blak turnpyke; and then the deponar hard a cry gang-and, 'Keip the bak zett!' Quhairvpoun he past to the bak zett; bot quha cryit, he knew not. Being inquirit, 'Quhy he went not vp with my lord, his maifter, in at the Blak turnpyke?' Deponis, that the heiring of the cry, to gang to keip the bak zett, movit him to gang thair.

(Sic fubfcribitur)

G. CRAIGINGELT.

APUD EDINBURGH, quarto die mensis Novembris anno domini millesimo sexcentesimo, per dominos Commissarios subscriptos, viz. Joannem Comitem de Montrose Cancellarium, Alexandrum Magistrum de Elphingstoun thesaurarium, D. Jacobum Elphingstoun de Bارتون secretarium, Petrum Episcopum Dunkelden., Jacobum Commendatarium de Inchechaffray, Edwardum Commendatarium de Kinlose, Marcum Dominum Newbuttil, Alexandrum Dominum Fyvie; Thomam Fischer et Georgium Hercott pro Edinburgh, Alexandrum Rutherford pro Aberdeen, Jacobum Forret pro Glasgow, Jacobum Drummond pro Perth; Commissarios s. d. n. Regis specialiter constitutos, per Commissionem, datum sub testimonio Magni Sigilli; Vnucum Thoma Scott deputato Mariscalli, Gulielmo Henrysoun et Gulielmo Hay pro Constabulario, Daniele Grahame et Joanne Frazer pro Vicecomite, et Thoma Cannayuhane adjudicatore.

The Earl of Gowrie's Conspiracy—Forfeiture of the Brothers of the late Earl, &c.

NOV. 4.—WILLIAME RUTHVEN as brother and heir apparent to vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie, and Mr Alexander Ruthvene and his tutors and curators, &c.: ALEXANDER and HARIE RUTHVENIS, sonnes to vmq^{le} Alexander Ruthvene of Foreland, HEW MONCREIF, brother Germane to Williame Moncreif of that ilk, PATRIK EVIOTT, brother to Colene Eviott of Balhouffie, and ANDRO HENRYSOUN chalmerlane of Scone.

The quhilk day Maister Thomas Hammyltoun, aduocat to oure Souerane lord, producit, in presens of the saidis lordis Commissionaris,¹ ane Summondis of Treaftoun, dewlie execute and indorsat aganis Villiame Ruthven, brother and apperant air to vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie and Maister Alexander Ruthvene, and the said Williames tutouris and curaturis, gif he ony hes, and all vtheris haveand or pretendand to have interes in the mater of Treaffoun vnderwrittin; to heir and sie it be fundin and declarit, that the saidis v^mq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie and Mr Alexander Ruthven to haue committit Treaffoun aganis our souerane lord, in bereving of his Maiestie of his lyfe, at Sanct Johnstoun, the fyft day of August last bipast. The quhilk summondis being callit thryse at the bar, and the said Williame Ruthven nawayes comperand; and thairefter, Johne Blinself Hay, herauld, comperit and maid fayth, that he lauchfullie summonit the said Williame Ruthven at the zett¹ of Dirltoun, vpoun the tuentie aucht day of August last bipast, and that vpoun the samyn day he summond him at the marcat croces of Edinburgh, Hadingtoun, schore and peir of Leyth; and that vpoun the penult day of August, the yeir of God foirsaid, he summond the said Williame Ruthvene at the marcat croce of Perth, Seone, and Kinroschire, and his tutouris and curaturis, gif he ony hes, and all vtheris haveand or pretendand to haue enteres in the foirsaid actioun and cause of Treaffoun; and that he execute the samyn summondis of Treaffoun at the samyn places, befoir William Ramsay trumpatar, Robert Eldar messinger in Edinburgh, Thomas Wallis and Williame Baxter postis in Edinburcht, Dauid Gray thair, and Dauid Young thair, Vpoun the verificatioun of the executioun of the said summondis of Treaffoun, and that the said Williame Ruthvene nor nane vtheris comperit in the said mater, the said Aduocat askit instrumentis.

¹ See Records of Parliament, Acta. 1600, fol. 192.

And siclyk, the said Aduocat producit ane vther Summondis of Treaffoun, rasit at the instance of oure souerane lord and his hienes Aduocat, aganis ALEXANDER and HARIE RUTHVENIS sonnes to v^mq^{le} Alexander Ruthvene of Freland, Hew Moncreif brother germane to Williame Moncreif of that Ilk, Patrik Eviott brother to Colene Eviott of Balhouffie, (and Andro Henryfoune chalmerlane of Scone,²) to heir and sie thame decernit to haue committit Treaffoun and Lesemaiestie aganis oure souerane lord, at Perth, the fyft day of August last bipast; as at mair lenth is contenit in the said summondis. The quhilk summondis being thryse callit at the tolbutth window, and nane of the saidis persones comperand, except the said Andro Henryfoun, quha, at command of the saidis lordis Commissionaris of this present Parliament, wes brocht furth of the tolbutth of Edinburcht, and brocht and presentit be George Todrik baillie of Edinburcht befoir the saidis lordis Commissionaris. And immediatlie thairefter, comperit personalie in presens of the saidis lordis Commissionaris Johne Blinself Hay herauld, and maid fayth that he lauchfullie summond the said Andro Henryfoun, personalie apprehendit within the said tolbutth of Edinburcht, vpoun the tuentie aucht day August last bipast; and also, that he vpoun the penult day of the samyn moneth of August summond the saidis Alexander and Harie Ruthvennis, Hew Moncreif, and Patrik Eviott and the said Andro Henryfoun at the mercat croces of Perth, &c. Vpoun the verificatioun of the executionis of the foirfaidis fummondis of Treassoun, and that nane of the foirfaidis perfones comperit to defend in the said mater, except the said Andro Henryfoun, the said Mr Thomas Hamyltoun of Drumcarne, aduocat to our fouerane lord, askit instrumentis. And siclyk, the said Aduocat askit instrumentis that he presentlie producit, in prefens of the faidis lordis Commiffionaris, oure fouerane lordis Letter of Relaxatioun, gevin vnder his hienes signet, at Edinburcht, the thrid day of October lastbypast, berand, the said Williame Ruthven, Alexander and Harie Ruthvenis, Patrik Eviott and Hew Moncreif and Andro Henryfoun to be relaxit fra all Horningis execute aganis thame at the instance of quhatfumeuir perfones, at the mercat croce of Edinburcht, vpoun the tuentie day of October last bipast; and alsé, berand the faidis perfones to be relaxit from all Hornings, at the mercat croce of Perth, vpoun the tent day of October the yeir of God foirfaid; and lykwyes, to be relaxit, at the marcat croce of Hadingtoun, vpoun the last day of the samin moneth of October last bipast: The quhilkis Letter of Relaxatioun, executionis and indorfationis thairof, wer dewlie and lauchfullie regiftrat in the Schiref court buikis of the schirefdomes within the quhilkis they wer relaxit fra the faidis Horningis.

¹ Gate.

² Afterwards ordered to be deleted.

The lordis commiffionaris of this present Parliament Ordanis the said Andro Henryfoun to be tane to the tolbutth of Edinburcht, to be kept thair in waird as he wes ofbefoir: Quhilk Andro wes instantlie delyuerit to the said George Todrik baillie. Quhairvpoun the said Aduocat lykwayes askit instrumentis.

REGE ipso presente, cum omnibus regni statibus. Vnacum Francisco Comite Arrolie Constubulario Scotie, Georgio comite Mariscalli, et Daniele Grahame deputato vicecomitis de Edinburcht et Dauide Lyndesay adiudicatore.

Nov. 11.—The quhilk day, the said Maister Thomas Hammyltoun, aduocat to our fouerane lord, of new producit the said fummondis of Treassoun dewlie execute and indorfat, aganis WILLIAME RUTHVEN, brother and apperant air to vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie, and Maister Alexander Ruthven his brother, and the said Williames tutouris and curatouris, gif he ony hes, and all vtheris haveand or pretendand to haue interes in the said mater of Treassoun, to heir and sie it be fundin and declarit, that the said vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie and Maister Alexander Ruthvene his brother committit Treassoun aganis oure said fouerane lord, in maner specefeit in the said fummondis, vpoun the fyft day of August last bipast: The quhilk Williame Ruthven, his tutouris and curatouris and all vtheris haveand or pretendand to haue enteres, being thryse callit at the tolbuth window, and the said Williame Ruthven nor nane vtheris in his name comperand to haue anfuert to the said fummondis ; quhairvpoun the said Aduocat askit instrumentis. And thairefter, the said Johne Blinfell, Ilay Herald, comperit personalie in prefens of the Kingis Maiestie and estaitis, and maid fayth that he lauchfullie fummonit and warnit the said Williame Ruthven, at the place of Dirltoun, vpoun the xxviij day of August last bipast ; and that vpoun the famin day he fummond him at the mercat croces of Edinburcht, Hadingtoun, and at the schoir and peir of Leyth : And alse, that he vpoun the penult day of the said moneth of August, fummond the said Williame Ruthvene at the mercat croces of Perth, Scone and Kinroschire, &c. : As the executionis thairof beris. Vpoun the verificatioun of the executionis of the quhilk fummondis of Treassoun, and that the said Williame Ruthven nor na vtheris in his name comperit nocht to defend in the said mater, the said Aduocat askit instrumentis.

And siclyk, producit ane vther fummondis of Treassoun, rasit at the instance of our said fouerane lord and his hienes aduocat aganis Alexander and Harie Ruthvenis, sonnes to vmq^{le} Alexander Ruthven of Freland, Hew Moncreif, brother germane to Williame Moncreif of that Ilk, Patrik Eviot brother to Colene Eviot of Balhouffie and Andro Henryfoun chalmerlane of Scone, to heir and sie thame decernit to haue committit Treassoun and Lesemajestie aganis oure said fouerane lord, at Perth the fyft day of August lastbipast ; in manner contenit in the fummondis of Treassoun rasit thairvpoun. The quhilkis perfones being thyrse callit at the tolbuth window, and nane of thame comperand, except the said Andro Henryfoun, quha comperit be Mr Thomas Henryfoun ane of the Commisaris of Edinburgh, quha producit this writting vnderwrittin, subscrivit be the Kingis Maiestie ; quhairof the temour followes.

REX,

ADUOCAT, it is our will, and We command 3ow, that vpoun the fycht heiroy, 3e delete Andro Henryfoun, chalmerlane to vmq^{le} John Erle of Gowrie, his name, furth of 3e fummondis of Treassoun and Forfaltour, rasit and execute aganis him, ffor his being airt, pairt, red, counsaill and conceilling of the lait Treassoun, conspyrit be the said vmq^{le} Erle, his vmq^{le} brother and complices, aganis oure perfone : As 3e will anfuert to ws thairvpoun : Keipand thir presentis for 3our warrand. Subferyuit with our hand, At Halyrudhous, 3e xj day of November, 1600.

(Sic subscribitur) JAMES R.

Conforme to the quhilk command, the said Aduocat instantlie delete furth of the said fummondis of Treassoun the said Andro Henryfoun, and scorit his name furth thairof. Quhairvpoun the said Maister Thomas Henryfoun askit instrumentis.

And thaireftir, comperit personalie in prefens of the Kingis Maiestie and estaitis, Johne Blinfell, Ilay Herald, and maid fayth that he lauchfullie fummonit and warnit the saidis Alexander and Harie Ruthvenis, Hew Moncreif and Patrik Eviott, vpoun the penult day of August lastbipast at the marcat croces of Perth, &c. Vpoun the verificatioun of the executionis of the foirfaid summondis of Trefsfoun, and that nane of the foirfaidis perfones comperit to defend in the said mater, the said Maister Thomas Hammyltoun, aduocat to oure fouerane lord, askit instrumentis, &c.

REGE presente, &c.

Nov. 15.—The quhilk day, Mr Thomas Hammyltoun of Drumcarne, aduocat to our fouerane lord, producit in prefens of the Kingis Maiestie and haill estatis of parliament, lyk as he did diuerse tymes of before the said tua summondis of Treassoun, &c., the quhilkis tua summondis, reffones and causes thairin contenit, being first red in prefens of the Kingis Maiestie, and in prefens of the Lordis of Articles,¹ they fand baith the samyn summondis relevant. And thair-estir, this instant day, baith the saidis summondis of Treassoun being red in prefens of the Kingis Maiestie and haill estaittis, and the said William Ruthven, his tutouris and curatouris, and all vtheris haveand, or pretendand to haue, enteres; the saidis Alexander and Harie Ruthvenis, Patrick Eviott and Hew Moncreif, being thryse callit at the tolbutth window, and nane of them comperand, the saidis haill estaittis fand baith the saidis summondis, reffones and causses thairin contenit relevant; and thairfoir they admittit the samyn to the said Aduocattis probatioun. And immediatlie thaireftir, the said Aduocat, for preving of the pointis of baith the saidis summondis of Treassoun, producit the Lettre of Horning, dewlie execute and indorfat aganis the saidis Alexander and Harie Ruthvenis, Hew Moncreif and Patrik Eviott, and that they were denuncit rebellis and put to the horne, for the crymes of Treassoun thairin contenit. And repetit the haill Depositionis of the witnesses examinat befor the Lordis of Articlis: And the Depositionis of vmq^{le} Mr Thomas Cranstoun and George Craingingelt; and thair executioun to the death, for the foirfaid cryme of Treassoune. And last, the said Aduocat repetit the notoriety of the deid of the said Treassoun, togidder with the haill circumstances of the said mater; and renuncit forder probatioun for preving of the pointtis of baith the saidis summondis of Treassoun; and desyrit the said proces to be advyfit. And thairvpoun the said Aduocat askit instrumentis.

The quhilk day, the said Aduocat, estir that he had repetit and producit all his probatiouis to the saidis hail Estaitis, quhilkis he wald vse, for preving of the pointis of the saidis summondis of Treassoun, rasit and persewit at the instance of our said souerane lord and his lieues Justice, aganis the said Williame Ruthven, bruther and apperant air to the said vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie and Alexander Ruthven his brother, his tutouris and curatouris, and all vtheris haveand, or pretendand to haue interes, in the mater of Treassoun vnderwrittin ; quhairby they wer summond to haue comperit befor our said souerane lord and his Estaitis of Parliament, at ane certane day bigane, with continewatioun of dayes, to haue anfuert to the pointis and crymes of Treassoun and Lefemaieftie contentit in the saidis summondis : Off the quhilk summondis the tennour followes :

¹ LORDS OF THE ARTICLES. EPISCOPI, Dunkelde, Brechmen.—ABBATES, Halyrudhous, Lundoris, Blantyre, Inchaffray, Kinlofe, Townglannde.—COMITES, Lennox, Arroll, Marschall, Mar.—DOMINI, Setoun, Levingstoun, Newbnttill, Fyvie.—BARONES, Sir James Hammyltoun, Innerweik for Hadingtoun, Craighall for Fyff, Kinnard for Forfar, Drum for Kincardin, Inchemartine for Perth, Tutour of Cromartie for Cromartie—COMMISSARIJ BURGORUM, Thomas Fisher and George Hereott for Edinburgh, Constable of Dundie for Dundie, James Drummond for Perth, Alexander Rutherford for Aberdene, James Forrest for Glasgow, George Bruce for Culrose, Laird of Darrie younger for Sanctandros, Johne Williamfoun for Striviling.

SUMMONDIS of TREASSOUN aganis WILLIAM RUTHVEN, as bruther and apperent air to vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie, and Alexander Ruthven his brother.

JACOBUS, Dei gratia Rex Scotorum, dilectis nostris Leoni Regi Armorum, Merchemount, Hay, Rofs, Rothefay, Albanie, et Snawdoun, Heraldis ; Roberto Stewart, Daudi Brysoun, Alexandro Dowglas et Jacobo Chalmeris, clavigeris ; Ormount, Bute, Vnicorne, Carrik, signiferis, nuncijs ac eorum cuilibet, coniunctim et diuisim, vicecomitibus nostris in hac parte, salutem. Mandamus vobis et precipimus, quatenus summoneatis legitime et peremptorie, coram testibus, Willielmum Ruthvene fratrem et heredem apparentem vel successorem quondam Joannis Comitis de Gowrie et quondam Magistrum Alexandri Ruthven sui fratris, personaliter, si eius personalem presentiam commode habere poteritis, alioquin apud locum sue habitationis ; si vero extra regnum nostrum fuerit, quod summoneatis dictum Willielmum Ruthvene et omnes et singulos eius tutores et curatores, si quos habet pro suo interesse, necnon omnes et singulos alios interesse habentes seu pretendentes, per publicam proclamationem, apud cruces forales burgorum nostrorum de Edinburgh, Hadingtoun, Perth, aliaque loca necessaria, super premonitione sexaginta dierum, ita quod hujusmodi summonitio ad eorum aures et notitiam verefimiliter peruenire poterit, ad comparendum coram nobis nostroue Justiciario quarto die mensis Nouembris proxime futuri, hora causarum, cum continuatione dierum, in Parlamento nostro tenendo apud Edinburgh primo die dicti mensis Nouembris sequentis, ad respondendum nobis seu nostro Justiciario in prefato Parlamento, ad videndum atque audiendum, per nos et trium regni nostri statuum decretum et sententiam decerni, dictos quondam Joannem Comitem de Gowrie et quondam Magistrum Alexandrum Ruthven eius fratrem, crimen Lefemajestatis in ipsorum vita commississe. PROPTEREA quod, omni Dei metu, Principis respectu, et legum rejecta reuerentia, nostrorumque immemores beneficiorum, qui ob paterna crimina Maieftatis damnatos ab exilio, infamia et egestate reductos, ad summas opes summofque honores ereximus, ingenitum tamen in nos prodentes odium, incredibilemque nostram benevolentiam, incredibili atque inaudita ingratitude compenfantes, in mense Julio proxime preterito, et initio Augusti instantis, proditionem nostram pernitiem et necem conspirarunt : Quoque scelerata et nefaria consilia facilius exequerentur, dictus quondam Joannes Comes de Gowrie, quinto die Augusti instantis, dictum quondam Magistrum Alexandrum Ruthven fratrem suum Falcolandiam summo mane misit, vt nobis persuaderet, se, inscio dicto Comite fratre suo, ingentem auri vim ab obscuro homine quodam repertam detexisse, ac thesaurum ipsum repertoremque eius clam omnibus artissime mandasse custodie, donec omnia pro nostro jure nobis declararet, sperare autem nos talis sui erga nos officii memores et auri portione et omni alio fauore se remuneraturos, expedire vero ad vitandum suspicionem, ut sine ullo comitatu, prohibeat sequi domesticorum solita turba, Pertham secum proficere; quo in suam nos potestatem ex animi sententia redactos minori negotio trucidarent. Cuiusquidem tragedie mandatas sibi partes, dictus quondam Magister Alexander, incredibili calliditate et confidentia, agens suavissima oratione vultuque ac verbis benevolentiam, reuerentiam, fidem humillimumque erga nos obsequium spondentibus, quod cupit facile persuadet, Nosque, nihil vel fraudis vel periculi subesse suspicantes, paucissimis, ipsique inermibus, comitati ferius inparatas ducentem insidias, sicuti Pertham contendimus. Comes interim nos adventare stipatoribus, armis, aliisque omnibus ad defensionem necessariis destitutos, primo per Andream Henderfoun, secundo per Andream Ruthvene, per dictum Magistrum Alexandrum premissos, monitus, ac postremo per ipsum Magistrum Alexandrum certior factus, et execrandam Coniurationem callidissime dissimulans, obuiam nobis extra urbem progressus, intra menia et aedes suas detestando facinori destinatas perfide deduxit: Ibi dum prandii specie aliquandiu, donec omnia ad cedem necessaria pararentur, detinet, in secretius cubiculum cum dicto quondam Magistro Alexandro fratre suo et dicto Andrea Henderfoun, quem lorica et galea armare se iusserat, ingressus, dicto Andree imperat, ut quicquid dictus Magister Alexander iuberet strenue exequeretur; ipsumque Andream quid imperare vellet curiosius sciscitantem, obserato ostio, donec ipsi ad perpetrandum facinus redirent reliquit. Ac rebus ita dispositis, dictus quondam Magister Alexander ad dictum cubiculum, magnifica se ibi promissa perfecturum affirmans, nos facile attrahit: Vero Comes, quo omnino omnino opem auxilij spem nobis in tanto discrimine eriperet, ramorem de nostro per posticum subito decessu, per certos familiarum suorum spargens, eumque dictus Comes et Magister Thomas Cranstoun eius seruus, verum esse charissimis consanguineis nostris Ludouico Lennoxie Ducis et Joanni Marrie Comite paucisque alijs domesticis nostris qui forte aderant impudenter asseuerantes; ut comites nostri ita decepti, citatis equis, ex urbe prorumpentes Falcolandiam, quo nos contendere dictus Comes affirmabat, celerrime sequi niterentur. Dictus interim quondam Magister Alexander, multis a tergo obseratis ostiis, ad illud tandem conclave in quo dictum Andream Henderfoun armatum, ut diximus, in insidijs locaverat, nos perduxit, scelestissimoque perpetrando facinori tunc aduenisse tempus ratus, tecto capite, in nos proditorie irruit, ac sedissimis prosequutus conviciis presentem mortem admoto ad jugulum nostrum pugione minatus est: Nos vero et resistere quantum inermibus licuit, et persuadere nitentes, ut a seuo detestando et proditorio scelere, sine vlla iusta causa aut vllius boni futuri spe suscepto, desisteret et ad saniora consilia rediret; promissa etiam attemptate Proditionis si recipisceret venia, rapidum perditissimi hominis furorem paulatim ita retudimus ut se Comitem quid de nobis flatuere vellet consulturum responderet; et in dicto cubiculo, captiuos nos obserato post se ostio relinquens: Moxque rediens, moriendum instanter nobis esse pronunciauit, ac colligari manus nostras, quo vincum facilius interficeret, vocato ad auxilium suum dicto Andrea Henderfoun, conatus quum mori potius quam talem ferre ignominiam, paratos nos et strenue resistentes cerneret enses stringere, nosque eo conficere proditorie parans, nos, nullis armis, nullis comitibus sed sola Dei Omnipotentis ope fulti, fortiter resistere cepimus: et manus illius firmiter retinentes, post diurnam luctam, cubuli fenestram que precipuam Parthie plateam respicit, eo invito, aperuimus, et dictos nostros fidos consanguineos Ludouicum Lennoxie Ducem, Joannem Marrie Comitem, qui ibi forte equos suos ut nos consequerentur expectabant cernentes, ad auxilium aduersus horrendam Proditionem, et vim vite nostre allatam vocavimus: Cumque illi de nostra magis quam sua salute solliciti in neglecto discrimine celerrime procurrerent. Pervenire tamen ad dictum cubiculum, tot ostijs, per dictum Magistrum Alexandrum de industria oclusis, nequiverunt, donec mira Dei Omnipotentis misericordia, fidelissimus nobis adulescens ac familiaris seruus Joannes Ramsay, alio aditu forte ascendens, dicti cubuli ostium aliud, quo dictus Andreas Henderfoun horrore suscepti facinoris territus profugerat, apertum reperiens ingressus, ac vite nostre a dicto quondam Magistro Alexandro vim intentam cernens, opem strenuissime tulit; et aliquot vulneribus dicto Magistro Alexandro inflictis, nobis iuuantibus cubiculo eiecit. Dictus autem quondam Joannes Comes de Gowrie, dum paucos qui forte aderant domesticos nostros auxi-lium nobis ferre parantes perspexit, omni tandem reiecta dissimulatione, delibatum facinus propriis manibus perpetrare, nobisque presentem mortem inferre decrevit, atque duobus strictis ensibus ipse armatus, et centum aut eo circa stipatus confectis, qui gladiis, lanceis aliisque armis omnes muniti erant, a Via in aream edium suarum irrumpens, recta ad cubiculum in quo inclusos nos esse noverat properavit, dictumque Joannem Ramsay, Dominum Thomam Erkeyne et Hugonem Heres medicum, experite omnes erga nos fidei seruos, qui forte accurrerant vitam suam pro nostra salute profundere, et aditu dicti cubiculi in quo tunc eramus, dictumque quondam Comitem prohibere nitentes, proditorie invadens, dicto Magistro Thoma Cranstoune, Hugone Moncreif, Alexandro et Henrico Ruthvenis, Patricio Eviott, multisque alijs domesticis et consanguineis suis stipatus ferociter repulit, et dictum cubiculum in quo nobilissima sacratissimaque persona nostra tunc fuerat, dictis nostris fidelibus seruis propugnantibus summo impetu repulsis, et vi ingressus, ac nos ad cedem immanissime ac proditorie persequens, dictos nostros fidelissimos seruos multis vulneribus faucios, fere oppressit; nec aliter a detestande Proditionis feroci ac pertinaci executione destitit, quam a dictis nostris fidelissimis seruatoribus confossus cecidit priusque immanis anima corporis sedem quam detestande nefarie et horrende Proditionis consilium et executionem deseruit. Hincque dicti quondam Joannes Comes de Gowrie et quondam Magister Alexandro Ruthven eius frater, crimen proditionis et Lesemajestatis commiserunt, contra nos, regalemque nostram auctoritatem, et in apertam legum omnium violationem. ET PROPTEREA, dictus Willielmus Ruthven, frater et heres apparens vel successor dictorum quondam Joannis Comitis de Gowrie et quondam Magistri Alexander sui fratris, omnesque tutores et curatores dicti Willielmi, si quos habet pro suo interesse, omnesque alij interesse habentes seu pretendentes, ad videndum et audiendum, per nos et trium regni nostri Statuum in Parlamento decretum decerni, quod dicti quondam Joannes Comes de Gowrie et quondam Magister Alexander Ruthven eius frater, crimina Lesemajestatis et Proditionis prescripta in sua vita commiserunt: Ideoque nomen, memoriam, et dignitatem dictorum quondam Joannis Comitis de Gowrie et quondam Magistri Alexandri Ruthven sui fratris extinctum esse et fore decerni, armaque et insignia sua de libro Armorum et Nobilitatis deleri, ac cancellari, itaque ipsorum posterum ab officiis, honoribus, dignitatibus, successibus, possessionibus, bonisque omnibus, mobilibus et immobilibus, juribus, titulis, spe successione, et alijs quibuscunque in hoc nostro regno gauden. et possiden. seu vilo modo claman. sint inhabiles et incapaces dehinc imperpetuum; atque omnia bona, terras, redditus, officia, beneficia, honores, dignitates, successiones et successorum spem omnem et apparentiam, jura, titulos, possessiones, aliaque jura et bona, mobilia et immobilia, et alia quecunque, que ad dictos quondam Joannem Comitem de Gowrie, et Magistrum Alexandrum Ruthven eius fratrem spectabant, aut vilo jure, titulo, successione spe, possessione, aut aliquo modo spectare vel pertinere poterant, confiscari, in nos devolui, ad nos pertinere, et nobiscum deinceps in proprietate perpetuo remanere. Intimando dicto Willielmo Ruthven heredi apparenti aut successori antedict. dictisque tutoribus et curatoribus suis, si quos habet, aliisque omnibus interesse haben. vel habere tenden. siue compareant siue non, dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, nos et Justiciarius noster nihilominus, Justicia mediante, procedemus et procedet. INSUPER citetis Magistrum Joannem Moncreif advocatum, Alexandrum Blair Juniores de Balhiock, Georgium Hay de Nethertoun Priorem de Charterhous, Robertum Graham de Thornik, Joannem Grahame de Balgoun, Andream Hay Ballium de Perth, Alexandrum Peblis burgensem ibidem, Joannem Murray de Arbeny, Willielmum Robertson notarium in Perth, Gilbertum Richardson ibidem, Willielmum Rynde ibidem, Davidem Rynde ibidem, Joannem Rentoull ibidem, Georgium Forrest ibidem, Thomas Burrell ibidem, Henricum Leyis ibidem, et Robertum Crystie janitorem quondam Comitis de Gowrie; Ludouicum Lennoxie Ducem, Joannem Comitem Marrie, Patricium Commendatarium de Lundoris, Joannem Grahame de Vrubill, Dominum Thomam Erkene de Gogar, Dominum Joannem Ramsay, Dominum Hugonem Heres milites, Robertum Galbraith, Robertum Broun, Jacobum Boig, Jacobum Liddell et Joannem Boig in lie ail-cellar, Magistrum Petrum Hay, ad comparandum coram nobis, nostroue Justiciario, dictis die loco cum continuatione dierum, ad perhibendum fidele testimonium in causa predicta, sub pena legis: Et presentes literas debite executas et indorsatas lateri earundem reddatis. Et vos qui presentes executi fueritis, sitis ibidem dictis die et loco, coram nobis vel dicto nostro Justiciario, portantes vobiscum summonitionis vestre testimonium in scriptis, pro premissis, seu ipsos testes. Ad quod faciendum, vobis et vestrum cuilibet coniunctim et divisim vicecomitibus nostris in hac parte committimus potestatem. Datum sub testimonio nostri magni sigilli. Apud Edinburghe vicefimo sexto die mensis Augusti anno domini millesimo sexcentesimo et regni nostri anno tricesimo quarto.

Follows the EXECUTIONIS of the foirfaid Summondis.¹

Vpoun the xxviiij day of August, the 3^eir of God J^m and sex hundreth 3^eiris, I Johne Blinshell, Hay Herald, ane of the schireffis in that pairt within constitute, past, at command of thir our souerane lordis lettres and summondis of Treassoun, to the duelling hous of Alexander Adamefoun in Edinburgh, in vmq^{le} M^r Thomas M^cCalzeans' clofe, quhair Williame Ruthven, brother and apperant air or successor to vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie, and vmq^{le} Maister Alexander Ruthven, his brother, maid residence; and lykwayes, to the Castell of Dirltowne, quhair the said Williame resortit and maid sumtyme residence with Dame Dorathie Stewart, Countes of Gowrie, his mother, becaus I culd nocht apprehend him personalie; and at euerie ane of the saidis duelling houffes rex^{ue}, with my displayt coitt of armes and found of trumpett, eftir I had knokit sex feuerall knokis at euerie ane of the saidis duelling houffes rex^{ue} be vertew of the saidis lettres, in his lienes name and authoritie, I summond, warrit, and chargit the said William Ruthvene, &c.

THE said Maister Thomas Hamiltoun of Drumcarne, aduocat to oure souerane lord, desyrit the saidis Estaitis declaratioun, giff the reffoun of the said summondis wes relevant aganis the said Williame Ruthvene, quhilkis Estaitis all in ane voce stand the famin relevant aganis the said Williame: Thairfoir the said Aduocat, of new, for verifeing of the said reffoun contenit in the said summondis of Treassoun, producit and repetit the saidis Lettre of Horning, execute and registrat aganis the said Williame Ruthven, the haill Depositionis of the witneses examinat befor the Lordis of Artielis, with the Depositionis of the saidis vmq^{le} Maister Thomas Craustoun and George Craingelt, thair executionis to the death for the famin crymes, the notorieite of the said fact of Treassoun and haill circumstances of the said mater; and als^e repetit the haill vther probationis repetit be him of befor in the said mater this instant day; and desyrit the saidis Estaitis of Parliament to advyse the probationes foirsaidis, led and deducit in the said mater, and to pronounce thair Sentence of Parliament thairintill, according to the famin probationes and thair consciences. And thaireftir, the haill wryttis and probationes being red, sene and considerit be the haill Estaitis of Parliament, in presens of the Kingis Maiestie, and they thairwith being ryplie advyfit, the saidis Lordis and Estaitis of Parliament findis, decernis and declaris that the saidis vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie and Maister Alexander Ruthvene, his brother, committit and did oppin and manifest Treassoun aganis oure said souerane lord, in all pointis, articles and maner contenit in the said summondis: And thairfoir it wes gevin for dome, be the mouth of Dauid Lyndefay, dempster of Parliament, in manner and forme as followes:

SENTENCE against the deceased EARL OF GOWRIE and MR ALEXANDER RUTHVEN, &c.

THIS COURT of Parliament sehawes for law, that the saidis vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie and vmq^{le} Maister Alexander Ruthven, his brother, committit the foirfaid cryme of Treassoun and Lese-majestie, in thair lyfetymes, aganis our souerane lord and his authoritie royall, in maner at lenth contenit in the said summondis: And thairfoir decernis and declairis the name, memorie and dignity of the said vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie and vmq^{le} Maister Alexander Ruthven, his brother, to be extinguischt, and thair armes to be cancellat and delete furth of the buikis of armes and nobilitie, sua that thair pofteritie fall be vnhabill and incapabill in all tyme cumming to bruik, poffes or inioy ony offices, honouris, digniteis, fuceffionis, poffeffionis, and all gudis, moveable and immoveable, richtis, titillis, hope of fuceffion, and vtheris quabafumeuir, within this realme; and all gudis, landis, rentis, offices, benefices, honouris, digniteis, hope and apperance of fuceffion, richtis, titillis, poffeffionis and vtheris gudis and geir, moveable and immoveable, and vtheris quabafumeuir, quhilkis ony wayes pertenis to the faidis vmq^{le} Jobne Erle of Gowrie and vmq^{le} Maifter Alexander Ruthven, his brother; or quhilkis, be ony richt, titill, hoip of fuceffion, poffeffion, or ony vther maner of way, nicht haue belangit and pertenis to thame, to be confiscat, devoluit in oure fouerane lord, and to appertene to his hienes, and in all tyme cuming remane in propirtie with his Majestie for euir. And forder, his Majestie and Estaitis foirfaidis, in deteftatioun of the faid horribill, vnnaturall and vyill Treaffoun attemptit be the faidis vmq^{le} Jobne fumtyme Erle of Gowrie, and vmq^{le} Maifter Alexander Ruthven, aganis his hienes awin lyfe, Decernis, flatutis and ordainis, that the dead bodeis of the faidis Treatouris fall be caryit vpon Monnday nixt to the mercat croce of Edinburcht, and thair to be hangit, quarterit and drawin, in prefeus of the haill peopill; and thaireftir the heidis and quarteris of their carcages to be affixit vpon the maift patent pairtis and places of the burrowis of Edinburcht, Perth, Dundee and Striviling. And this I give for dome.

¹ A small portion of one of the 'Executions' is here given, to show the solemnities, and 'the pomp and circumstance of state' then prevalent, in all official 'charges' for Treason. It is unnecessary to insert the whole of the Executions. They are all in the same style.

SUMMONDIS of TRESSOUN aganis ALEXANDER and HARIE RUTHVENIS, Jones to vmq^{le} Alexander Ruthven of Freland, PATRIK EVIOTT and HEW MONCREIF.

JACOBUS, Dei gratia Rex Scotorum, dilectis nostris Leoni Regi Armorum, Ilay, Albanie, Ros, Rothofay, Snawdoun, Merchemount, Heraldis; Roberto Stewart, Davidi Bryfoun, Alexandro Douglas, Jacobo Chalmeris, clavigeris; Ormound, Bute, Vnicorne, Carrik, signiferis, Nuncijs, et eorum cuilibet coniunctim et diuifim, vicecomitibus nostris in hac parte, salutem. Mandamus vobis et precipimus quatenus summoneatitis legitime et preemporie, coram testibus, Alexandrum Ruthven et Henricum Ruthvene filios legitimos quondam Alexandri Ruthven de Freland, Hugonem Moncreif fratrem Wilhelmii Moncreif de eodem, Patricum Eviott fratrem Colini Eviot de Balhouffie, Conspiratores, peccatores et celatores criminum Lesemajestatis subsequentiim, personaliter si eorum personales presentias habere poteritis, alioquin apud loca suarum habitationum, et per publicam proclamationem apud cruces forales burgorum nostrorum de Edinburcht, Perth, Hadingtoun, aliaque loca necessaria, degentes autem vel existentes extra regnum nostrum, seu certum nullum domicilium habentes, apud dictos cruces forales, aliaque loca necessaria, super premonitione sexaginta dierum, ita vt hujusmodi summonitio ad eorum aures et notitiam veresimiliter peruenire poterit: quod compareant coram nobis seu Justiciario nostro quarto die mensis Nouembris proxime futuri, in nostro Parlamento apud Edinburgh, primo die dicti mensis tenendo, hora caufarum, cum continuatione dierum, ad respondendum nobis nostrone Justiciario in prefato Parlamento, super Proditoris criminibus subsequentiibus; dictas, viz. personas et eorum quemlibet, pro sua proditoria arte, parte, consilio et auxilio, nefaria et execranda Conspiratione, consultatione, conclusione et perpetratione horrende seuissimeque Proditionis, contra nobilissimam et sacratissimam nostram personam et vitam, per dictas personas et quondam Joannem Comitem de Gowrie, quondam Magistrum Alexandrum Ruthvene eius fratrem, quondam Magistrum Thomam Cranftoun et Georgium Cragingelt eius seruos, aliosque suos complices, ipsorum nomine, ex sua causatione, mandato, assistentia, et ratihabitione, quinto die Augusti instantis, modo subsequenti, commisse et perpetrare. CUM enim dictus quondam Joannes Comes de Gowrie et dictus quondam Magister Alexander Ruthvene eius frater, eximia nostra benevolentia, innumerisque cumulati beneficiis, inaudita atque incredibili ingratitude, in nostram perniciem Coniurassent; dictusque Comes dictum quondam fratrem Falcolandiam ad nos, dicto quinto die Augusti, misisset, vt eximii commodi obiecta nobis spe Pertham nos alliceret, additis ei Andrea Henderfoun et Andrea Ruthven, itineris socijs, qui dicti Magistri Alexandri iussu de nostro se responso celerrime monerent, dictusque quondam Magister Alexander susceptas in se tragedii partes tam callide et simulate egisset, ut nos, omni prorsus suspitione vacuos, facile in suam sententiam pertraxerat, et solita conitum turba sequi prohibita, Pertham secum deduxerat: Premisso interim dicto Andrea Henderfoun, qui nos adventare premoneret; Comes vero, dicto Andree lorica, galeo, gladio armare sese iussu, Andree Ruthven adventum expectat, atque ab eo etiam adventare nos certior factus, nec vultu tamen nec verbis se tali quicquam scire pre se ferens, more solito providere incipit: Ac tandem per ipsum Magistrum Alexandrum, nos apud portam urbis adeste monitus, obviam procedit et in edes suas proditorii facinoris destinatas ducens, prandij specie aliquandiu detinet, donec dictum Andream Henderfoun cum dicto quondam fratre in secretius cubiculum vocat; ibique dicto Andree imperat, ut quicquid dictus Magister Alexander juberet sedulo exsequeretur: Et repente ad nos reuersus, paucos familiarum qui nos sequuti erant primo ad prandium: Mox, eo finito, ad hortum, ab ea edium parte remotum, eo consilio invitat, ut nullis arbitris, dictus quondam Magister Alexander, qui prestare que promiserat se velle simulans, ad dictum cubiculum nemine familiarium nostrorum conscio, nos attraxerat, ut securius, sine strepitu vlllo, vlloue impedimento, nos conficere posset. Cumque dictus Comes, quo omnem prorsus auxilii spem nobis eriperet, falsum rumorem per quondam Magistrum Thomam Cranstoun, feruum suum, de nostro subito descessu sparsisset, nostrique omnes familiares, ipso quoque Comite, adhibito iurejurando, id affirmante, verum esse credentes, in viam precipites prorumperent, ut concensis equis, citato nos cursu Falcolandiam sequerentur. Dictus, interim, Magister Alexander omnia pro voto successisse, tempusque perpetrando facinori advenisse ratus, multis post se obferatis ostiis, ad dicti cubiculi conclave nos ducens, dicto Andrea Henderfoun armato prodeunte, dictus Magister Alexander ferociter et proditorie in nos irruit, fedissimisque et falsissimis proscindens conviciis, admoto ad jugulum nostrum pugione, presentem næcem minatus est: Nos vero, comitibus, armis, omnique alia humana ope destituti, ac soli Divini numinis auxilio fulti, gravissima oratione, et si desisteret et ad saniora consilia rediret, promissa etiam Proditionis impunitate, iniquissimi hominis furorem paulatim ita repressimus, ut cum fratre consulturum se, quid de nobis statuere vellent, dixerit; et, iurejurando prius a nobis extorto, captiuos nos silentisque in suum reditum in dicto conclavi remansuros, obferato post se ostio, nobis inclusis, egressus; breuissimaque interposita mora, rediens, moriendum nobis instanter pronunciauit: Cumque proditorie colligare nobis manus, quo minori negotio victos interimeret, niteretur, nosque strenue resisteremus ensẽ suum dextera stringere, sinistra vero uocem nobis precludere faucesque abstruere cepit; nos vero, Dei Omnipotentis presenti ope confirmati, ac fortiter reluctantes, invito eo, ad fenestram que precipuam urbis plateam respicit prevenimus, ibique dilectos nostros consanguineos Ludovicum Lennoxie Ducem et Joannem Marrie Comitem conspicientes, qui illic forte equos ut nos consequerentur expectabant ad ferendum nobis aduersus horrendam Proditionem et presentem mortem auxilium, vocauimus: Illi autem, tam insperate Proditionis immanitate percussi, cum ad opem nobis ferendam celerrime qua nos conscendisse audiuerant, tot ostijs per dictum quondam Magistrum Alexandrum, de industria oclusis, frustra procurrent; benigno tandem laud dubie Dei Spiritu ductore, familiaris noster Joannes Ramsay, adolescens, insolita forte conscendens via per aliud dicti cubicali ostium, quod dictus Andreas Henderfoun, proditorii facinoris horrore attonitus, ut se inde proriperet, nuper aperuerat, ingressus, ac dictum quondam Magistrum Alexandrum mortem nobis pertinaciter intentantem ceruens, aliquot inflictis ei vulneribus, nobis adiuuantibus, vix e cubiculo expellere potuit; cum dictus quondam Comes, detectam nostro clamore Coniurationem perspiciens, quod frater non potuit propriis ipse manibus perficere, desperato et proditorio animo properat, et strictis duobus quos gesserat ensibus, e via in aream edium suarum, centum aut eo circa stipatus conscis armatis, irruit, ac dicto quondam Magistro Thoma Cranstoun prevnte, dictus quondam Comes, dictique Alexander et Henricus Ruthvene, Hugo Moncreif, Patricius Eviot aliique eorum complices, recta ad cubiculum in quo nos antea inclusos noverant prorumpentes, nullo nobis ad respirandum, nullo domesticis ad opitulandum dato spacio, dictum Joannem Ramsay, Dominum Thomam Erskyne et Hugonem Heres medicum, qui soli forte ex nostris accurrerant et aditu cubiculi dictos proditores prohibere conabantur, feniffime invadunt, ac fummo impetu, iis repulfis, cubiculum vi ingreffi nosque ad cedem rapidiffime querentes, dictos nostros fideliffimos fervos, pro noſtra ſalute fortiffime dimicantes, multis illatis vulneribus, fere opprefferunt; donec dicto Comite confoſſo, dictiſque quondam Magiſtro Thoma Cranſtoun, Hugone Moncreif et Patricie Eviott, aliquot vulneribus ſanciis, e cubiculo expulſis, ad aream confugere coacti fuerunt; ibique convocato perditiffimorum hominum ingenti multitudine, aditus omnes edium ocluſerunt, diſpoſitiſque vndique preſidijs, proditorie nos obſidione cinxerunt; et trabem, vt oſtia confringerent, adferentes, pulverem etiam tormentarium querebant, quo edes in quibus nos obſidebant ex fundamentis convulſas atque in aerem ſublatas ſubverterent proditorie, nosque et dictos nostros conſanguineos et familiares, alioſque fideles ſubditos nobiſcum obſeſſos, incendio et ruina obrutos proditorie necarent; crucem etiam, et laqueos ac fediffima omnia alia mortis genera, iis omnibus qui nobiſcum edes propugnabant ſeuiffime minati: Aliquot etiam e noſtris vulneratis ad mortem fere, in obſidionis proditorio propoſito perfeverauerunt, donec augente fidelium ſubditorum ad nos concurſu conjurati, omnibus contra improbam ipſorum ſpem ſuccedentibus, paulatim ſeſe ſubducere coacti ſunt: Hincque dicte perſone, et earum quelibet, crimen Leſemajeſtatis contra nos, regalemque noſtram authoritatem et leges commiſerunt. IDEOQUE dictus Alexander Ruthvene, Henricus Ruthvene eius frater, Hugo Moncreif et Patricius Eviot, Conſpiratores, proditorique executores et celatores facinorum predictorum, ad videndum et audiendum ſeſe et eorum quemlibet reſpective, premiſſa crimina Leſemajeſtatis commiſiſſe, per nos et trium regni noſtri Statuum decretum decerni et declarari; et ſuper predictis et pluribus aliis rebellionibus, tranſgreſſionibus et proditoriis criminibus, per ipſos reſpective, contra nos, regnum noſtrum et authoritatem regiam, impie et nefarie perpetratis, dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, proponendis et oſtendendis, reſpondendum ac Juri parendum; et ſuper iſſdem Judicium noſtrum et Parlamenti noſtri ſecundum leges regni noſtri expectandum et ſubeundum, dictas viz. perſonas, Conſpiratores, perpetratores et celatores criminum predictorum rex^{us} ad videndum et audiendum ſeſe et eorum quemlibet, intuitu premiſſorum, crimen Proditionis et Leſemaieſtatis incurriſſe, per nos et trium regni noſtri Statuum decretum decerni et declarari; et propterea, perſonas ſuas penam Proditionis et vltimi ſupplicii a regni noſtri legibus preſcriptam ſubire, ipſorumque omnium bona, mobilia et immobilia, tam terras quam officia, beneficia, aliaque omnia ad eos ſpectantia, vel ad eos vilo modo pertinere poterunt, nobis conſiſcari, et pro perpetuo nobiſcum in proprietate remanere; poſteroſque eorum ab honoribus, dignitatibus, officijs, beneficijs, ſucceſſionibus, aut vllis bonis, mobilibus vel immobilibus, in regno noſtro obtinendis vel poſſidendis, eſſe et fore dehinc imperpetuum inhabiles et incapaces: Et vltius, in premiſſum reſpondendum et juri parendum: Intimando ſupradictis Conſpiratoribus et eorum cuilibet reſpective, quod ſive dictis die et loco cum continuatione dierum comparuerunt ſive non, nos dictuſque noſter Juſticiarius in premiſſis, juſticia mediantem, procedemus et procedet. INSUPER citetis preimptorie, coram teſtibus, Magiſtrum Joannem Moncreif Aduocatum, Alexandrum Blair juniorem de Balthyok, Georgium Hay de Nathertowne, Magiſtrum Petrum Hay, Robertum Grahame de Thornik, Joannem Grahame de Balgowne, Joannem Murray de Arbanie, Andream Hay balliuum de Perth, Alexandrum Peblis, Willielmum Robertſoun, Gilbertum Richardſon, Willielmum Rynd, Davidem Rynd, Joannem Rentowll, Georgium Forreſt, Thomam Burrell, Henricum Leyis ibidem, Robertum Chryſtie janitorem dicti quondam Comitum, Ludovicum Lennocie Ducem, Joannem Marrie Comitem, Joannem Grahame de Vrquhill Dominos Thomam Erkeyne, Joannem Ramſay et Hugonem Heres milites, Robertum Galbraith, Robertum Broun, Jacobum Bog, Jacobum Liddell et Joannem Boig in lie ail-cellar, ad comparandum coram nobis, dictone noſtro Juſticiario, dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, ad perhibendum fidele teſtimonium in cauſa predicta, ſub pena legis; et preſentes literas debite executas et indorſatas earundem latori reddatis: Et vos qui preſentes exequuti fueritis, ſitis ibidem, dictis die et loco, coram nobis ſeu dicto noſtro Juſticiario, portantes vobiſcum ſummonitionis veſtre teſtimonium in ſcriptis, pro premiſſis, vel ipſos teſtes. Ad quod faciendum vobis et veſtrum cuilibet, coniuictim et diuiſim, vicecomitibus noſtris in hac parte, noſtram committimus poteſtatem. Datum ſub teſtimonio noſtri magni ſigilli, Apud

Edinburcht, vigeſimo ſexto die menſis Auguſti, anno domini milleſimo ſexcentefimo, et regni noſtri Trigefimo quarto.

Quhilkis eſtatis, all in ane voce, ſſand the ſamin relevant aganis the ſaidis Alexander and Harie Ruthvenis, &c.¹

SENTENCE. This Court of Parliament ſchawis for law, that the ſaidis Alexander Ruthven, Harie Ruthven his brother, ſonnes lauchfull to vniq^{le} Alexander Ruthvene of Freland, Hew Moncreif brother to Williame Moncreif of that Ilk, and Patrik Eviott brother to Colene Eviott of Balhouffie, committit the crymes of Treaffoun and Leſemajeſtie aganis oure ſouerane lord and his authoritie royall, in maner at lenth contentit in the ſaid ſummondis. And thairfoir, decernis and declaris thair perſones to vnderly the panis of Treaffoun and Leſemajeſtie, and laſt puniſchement preſcryvit be the lawis of this realme: And all thair gudis, moveabill and immoveabill, alſweill heretages as offices, benefices and vtheris qualatſumeuir pertening to thame, or quhilkis nicht onywayes belang or appertene to thame, to be conſiſcat to his Maieſtie, and to remane with his hienes in propirtie for euir: And thair poſteritie to be now and in all tyme cummyng vncapabill and vuhabill to bruk and poſſes, within this realme, ouy honouris, digniteis, offices, benefices, ſucceſſiones, or vtheris gudis or geir, moveabill or immoveabill. And this I gif for dome.

Documents Illuſtrative of the Earl of Gowrie's Conſpiracy.

No. I.

DEPOSITIONIS² of the WITNESSES examinat in preſens of the Lordis of Articles, for preving of the ſaidis tua Summondis of Treaffoun.

(1.) THE DUKE OF LENNOX, ſworne and examinat, deponis, That vpone the fyft day of Auguſt laſt bipaſt, this deponar for the tyme being in Falkland, in companie with his Maieſtie, he ſaw Maifter Alexander Ruthvene ſpeikand with his grace, beſyd the ſtabillis, betuix ſex and ſewin in the mornyng: And ſchortlie thaireſtir, his Maieſtie paſſing to the Hunting of the buk, and haveing ſlane ane, in the park of Falkland, his hienes ſpak to the deponar, deſyryng him to accompanie his Maieſtie to Perth, to ſpeik with the Erle of Gowrie: And incontinent thaireſtir, this deponar ſend his ſeruand for ane vther horſe, and for ane ſword, and lap on and followit his grace: And as this deponar ouertuk his grace, Maifter Alexander Ruthvene wes ſpekand with his Maieſtie: And ſchortly eſtir the deponaris cummyng to the King, his hienes raid a pairt and ſpak with this deponar, ſaying, ‘ ge can nocht gueſs quhat erand I am rydand for! I am going to gett ane poiſe³ in Perth; and Maifter Alexander Ruthvene hes informit me, that he hes fundin ane man that hes ane pitcher full of cunzeit gold of great fortis.’ And in the mentyme, his hienes inquirit at this deponar, ‘ Off quhat humour he thocht Maifter Alexander Ruthvene to be of?’ Quha anſwerit, that ‘ he knew nathing of him bot ane honeſt diſcrete gentelman.’ And eſter that his hienes had declarit to this deponar, the hail circumſtances of the man quha had the said gold, the place quhair it wes fundin, quhair it wes keipit, this deponar anfuerit, ' I lyk nocht that (schir,) ffor that is nocht lyklic.' And they rydand befyd the brig of Erne, his Majestie tauld to this deponar, that Maister Alexander desyrit him to keip that mater of the pois clofe secrete, and to tak na bodie with him. And than his hienes, baith at that tyme, and thair-estir in Sanct Johneftoun,¹ within the Erle of Gowreis hall, said to this deponar, ' Tak tent quhan I pass with Maister Alexander Ruthvene and follow me.' And as his Majestie wes within ane myle to Perth, estir that Maister Alexander had comeit ane certane space with his hienes, he raid away and gallopit to Perth befor the rest of the cumpany, towardis his brotheris ludgeing; off purpose, as the deponar belevis, to advertise the Erle of Gowrie of his Majesteis cumming thair: And as his Majestie wes within tua pair of butelangis² to the towne of Perth, the Erle of Gowrie, accompaneit with diuerse perfonas, all on fute, mett his hienes in the Inche, and salutit him. And immediatlie thairestir, his Majestie, accompanyit with this deponar, the Erle of Mar, Lundoris, Inchaffray, Schir Thomas Erskene, Laird of Vrquhill, James Erskene, Williame Stewart, Schir Hew Heres, Schir Johne Ramsay, Johne Murray, Johne Hammyltoun of the Grange and Johne Grahame of Bagowne, past altogidder in the Erle of Gowries hall, the said Erle of Gowrie and Maister Alexander Ruthvene being baith present with thame; and estir thair entrie, his Majestie cryit for ane drink, quhilk wes lang of cumming: And it wes ane hour nixt efter his first cummyng, befor his Majestie gat his dennar: And the tyme that his Majestie gat his deserte,³ the Erle of Gowrie come to this deponar and to the Erle of Mar and remanent perfonas foirfaidis, and desyrit thame to dyne; quhilk they did in the hall: And quhan they had neir hand dynit, the Erle of Gowrie⁴ come frome his Majesties chalmers⁵ to the hall and callit for wyne, and said that he wes directit frome his Majestie to drink his scoll⁶ to my lord Duik and the rest of the companie, quhilk he did: And immediatlie estir the scoill had passit about, this deponar raise frome tabill, to haue awaittit vpoun his Majestie, conforme to his former directioun; and than the Erle of Gowrie said to this deponar, that ' his Majestie wes gane vp quietlie sum quiet erand: ' And syne the said Erle of Gowrie cryit for the key of his zaird,⁷ and passit in company with this deponar to the 3aird, accompanyit with Lundoris and Schir Hew Hereis and certane vtheris. And schortlie eftir thair being in the 3aird, Maister Thomas Cranftoun¹ come down to the 3aird, cryand, ‘ The Kingis Majestie is loppin on² and riddin throwche the Inche.’ And then the Erle of Gowrie cryit, ‘ Horffis, horffis!’ And the said Maister Thomas Cranftoun answerit to him, ‘ 3our horse is in Scone;’ quhilk the Erle of Gowrie maid him nocht to heir,³ bot cryit ay, ‘ Horse, horse!’ And the deponar and the Erle of Gowrie cum furth of the 3aird, throw the hall, to the clofe and come to the wtter 3ett;⁴ and this deponar speirit⁵ at the porter, ‘ Gif the King wes furth?’ Quha answerit, that ‘ he wes assurit that his Majestie wes nocht cum forth of the place.’ Than the Erle of Gowrie said, ‘ I am sure he is furth; alwayes⁶ stay, my lord Duik, and I fall gang vp and get your lordschip the veritie and certantie thair of: And the said Erle of Gowrie passit vp, and incontinent come down agane to the cloise, and he affirmit to this deponar, that ‘ the Kingis Majestie wes furth at the bak 3ett and away.’ Quhairvpoun this deponar, the Erle of Gowrie, and Mar and haille company, past furth at the foir3ett of the Iudgeing, and stude befor the famin 3ett vpoun the hiegait:⁷ And as they wer standing thair, advyseing quhair to feik the King, incontinent, and in this mentyme, this deponar hard ane voce, and said to the Erle of Mar, ‘ This is the Kingis voce that cryis, be quhair he will.’ And sua they all lukand vp to the Iudgeing, they saw his Majestie lukand furth at the window, wantand his hat, his face being reid,⁸ and ane hand gripand his cheik and mouth; and the King cryit, ‘ I am murtherit! Treassoun! My Lord of Mar, help! help!’ And incontinent this deponar, the Erle of Mar and thair cumpany, ran vp the stair to the Galry-chalmer, quhair his Majestie wes, to haue releivit him: And as they past vpe, they fand the dure of the chalmer fast; and seing ane ledder standing besyd, they raschit at the dure with the ledder, and the stoippis of the ledder brak: And syne they send for hameris; and nochtwithstanding lang forceing with hammeris, they gat nocht entrie at the said chalmer, quhill⁹ eftir the Erle of Gowrie and his brother wes baith flane. That Robie Broun past about be the bak dur and come to his Maieftie and assurit his hienes, that it wes my lord Duik and the Erle of Mar that wes strikand vp the chalmer dure; and than the hammer wes gevin throw the hoill of the dure of the chalmer, and they within brak the durris and gaif thame entrie: And at thair first entrie, they saw the Erle of Gowrie lyand dead in the chalmer, Maister Alexander Ruthvene being slayne and takin down the stair befor thair entrie. And at thair first entrie within the said chalmer, quhair the hear.

¹ As narrated after the former Summons.

² From the Originals, preſerved amongst the Warrants of the Parliament of Scotland, General Register Houſe.

³ A board, or hoarded treaſure.

¹ Perth. ² Butt-lengths, the length of two pair of butts. ³ The dessert consisted chiefly of strawberries, even at that time a favourite fruit in Scotland. They are often noticed in the Treasurer's books during the preceding century. ⁴ Gowrie had previously dined at half past 12 o'clock, as soon as he heard of the King's having consented to visit Gowrie house.—See Andro Henderson's Deposition, &c. ⁵ According to usual etiquette, the King dined apart from the rest of the guests, and was waited upon by his entertainer, though this appears to have been done in an ungracious manner. ⁶ This ancient custom was, in some measure, equivalent to the modern practice of drinking healths. The King's scoll was drank by deputy on this occasion, Gowrie, in his Majesty's name, drinking 'to my Lord Duik,' &c. Frequent allusions are made to a similar custom in Shakspeare, &c. ⁷ Garden, orchard and pleasure ground attached to Gowrie's house.

¹ See his Trial, Aug. 22, 1600.² Mounted, leapt on.³ Affected, or pretended not to

⁴ Outer gate.⁵ Enquired, asked.⁶ Nevertheless, at least.⁷ The Highgate, or High Street of Perth.

⁸ Red, inflamed.⁹ Until.

Kingis Majestie wes, the deponar saw findrie halbertis and swordis striking vnder the dure of the chalmer and fydis thairof, be reffone the samin wes na cloise dure ; and knew nane of the strikeris in, except Alexander Ruthven, ane of the defendaris, quha desyrit to speik with this deponar throwch the dure, and sperit at him, ' For Godis saik, my lord, tell me how my lord of Gowrie dois ? ' To quhome this deponar ansuerit, ' He is weill. ' And the said deponar bad the said Alexander to ' gang his away, and that he wes ane foill ; and that he wald gett litill thankis for that labour. ' And in this mentyme, as they, continewand in striking with halbertis vnder the dure, Mekill Johne Murry,¹ seruand to Tullibardin, wes frikin throw the leg. And howfone the said Alexander Ruthven had hard the said lord Duik speik, he and his hail complices past frome the foirsaid dure, and maid na mair trubling thaireftir thairat ; and past down to the cloise and stude thair : And saw nane of the remanent defendaris present at the doing of the violent turnis that day, except be report, bot the said Alexander Ruthven : Bot sayis, that he saw Hew Moncreif, Harie and Alexander Ruthvenis, and Patrik Eviott with the Erle of Gowrie, at the Kingis denner that day, and ofbefoir. And thaireftir, loukand ouer the chalmer window, he saw George Craingelt and Alexander Ruthvene, and diuers vtheris of the Erle of Gowreis seruandis, quhome this deponar knew nocht, standand with armes, within the close : And als, saw vtheris persones carying ane gest² frome the towne, to the close of the Erll of Gowries ludgeing. And declaris, that thair aboad findrie persones within the said close, and in the Hie-streit, befoir the said Erlis ludgeing, cryand and makand tumult, be the space of tua houris and mair, nixt eftir the death of the said Erle of Gowrie and his brother.

(Sic subscribitur)

LENNOX.

(2.) THE ERLE OF MAR sworne and examinat, deponis conforme to the lord Duk of Lennox Deposition, in all thingis substantiall ; except, his lordschip saw nocht Mr Alexander Ruthven in Falkland, quhill about ten houris, the day libellit ; schortlie befoir the slaying of [the] buke : And als, ouertuk nocht his Majestie that day, quhill his Majestie wes neir the Brig of Erne : And that eftir thair dennar, my Lord of Mar passit nocht to the zaird, in company with the Erle of Gowrie, bot passit to the chalmer quhair the king dynnit ; and saw nathing of the gest.³

(3.) ANDRO HENDERSOUN, chalmerlan of Scone, sworne, deponis, That he is of the age of threttie aucht yeiris. Declairis, that vpoun Monunday at nicht, the fourt day of August lastbipast, this deponar being, eftir supper, in companie with the Erle of Gowrie (and) Maister Alexander Ruthvene, within my lordis

¹ John Murray of Arbany. ² Joist, beam. ³ The using of the joist or beam to break open the outer gate,—not the 'gest,' 'gist,' or action, according to the old English acceptation of the word.

awin chalmer, the Erle of Gowrie inquirit at this deponar, quhat he had to do the morne? To quhome this deponar anfuerit, that he had to do, to ryd to Ruthven to speik with the tenmentis: Than the Erle of Gowrie anfuerit, ‘ Stay that jorney, ze man¹ ryd to Falkland, in company with my brother Maifter Alexander, and tak Andro Ruthvene with zow: And that ze be redie to ryde, be four houris in the morning: And haift zow bak with anfuer, as my brother directis zow, be wrytt or otherwayes: And lett Andro Ruthven remane with my brother.’ And the morne, eftir four houris in the morning, they raid all thrie togidder to Falkland; and cummand to Falkland, they lichtit at Johne Balfouris hous: And feing that Colonel Edmond wes thair, they ludgeit in ane Lawes houe: And the Maifter fend this deponar, about sewin houris in the morning, to fie quhat the Kingis Maieftie wes doand: And as he wes within the Palice, he faw the Kingis Maieftie cummand furth mid-clofe, butit.² And than he returnit bak agane to the Maifter, and fald to him, ‘ Haift zow, the Kingis Maieftie is cummand furthe.’ And incontinent the Maifter followit his Maieftie and fpak with his Maieftie, foirament the equire:³ And the King layit his hand on his fchulder and clappit him; quhair they fpak togidder be the fpace of ane quarter of ane hour. And thaireftir, the Maifter directit this deponar, to ‘ ryde to Perth, in haift, as he luiffit the Lord Gowreis honour and his; and aduertefe his lordfchip, that his Maieftie will be thair, with ane few number, incontinent; and caufe mak his denner reddie.’ Than this deponar anfuerit, ‘ Sall I ryd prefentlie?’ The Maifter anfuerit, ‘ Na, bot ftay a quhill, and follow the King and me, quhill I speik with his Maieftie agane.’ And as his Maieftie wes rydand throw the flop of the park dyk, the Maifter fpak his Maieftie: And immediatlie thaireftir, the Maifter bad this deponar to ‘ pas to Sanct Johneftoun, with all poffibill diligence,’ according to his former directioun. And at this deponaris cummyng to Perth, quhilk wes fchortlie eftir ten houris in the morning, he enterit in the lord of Gowreis chalmer, quhair he faw his lord speik with George Hay and Maifter Petir Hay: And howfome my lord of Gowrie faw this deponar, he come afyd to this deponar, and inquirit, fecreitlie, ‘ Quhat word he had brocht frome his brother? and gif he had brocht ane letter?’ This deponar anfuerit, that ‘ he had brocht na letter.’ ‘ Quhat anfuer’ (than fald he) ‘ haif ye to me?’ This deponar anfuerit, that ‘ the Maifter, his brother, bad tell his lordfchip, that the Kingis Maieftie wald be thair incontinent; and bad haift his denner.’ Than the Erle defyrit this deponar to follow his lordfchip to the Cabinat, and fperit at him ‘ how his Maieftie had tane with his brother?’ He anfuerit, that ‘ he wes weill tane with: And quhan he did his courtesie, the King layd his hand vpoun his fchulder.’ The Erle fperit, ‘ Quhat number of perfones

¹ Must.

² In boots, prepared for riding.

⁴ Equerry, stables.

wes with the King at the hunting? Quha anfuerit that ' he knew nocht weill ; bot thair wes findrie of his awin with him, and sum Inglifinen.' And than the Erle sperit, ' Quhat nobillmen wes with him? ' He anfuerit, ' Nane ; bot my lord Duik.' And thaireftir, this deponar past to his awin houe, in the towne ; and tuk aff his buttis, and returnit to the Erle within ane hour. And howfone the Erle saw him in his chalmer, he callit vpoun this deponar, and bad him ' put on his secrete and plate sleiffis.' The deponar inquirit, ' To quhat effect? ' The Erle anfuerit, ' I haue ane Heland-man to tak, in the Scho-gait.' And than this deponar passit to his awin houe, and put on his secreitt and plait sleiffis, come bak agane to the Erle of Gowreis houe : And about half hour to ane, the Erle command this deponar, ' Tak vp my demnar.' And this deponar passit and tuk vp the first seruice, be reffone George Cragingelt¹ was feik. And incontinent, the said Erle passit to his demnar, accompanyit with Maister Johne Moncreif laird of Pitcreif, Mr James Drummond, Alexander Peblis barroun of Findowie : And sehortlie eftir the first seruice wes sett down, my lord sittand at the tabill with the foirfaid company, Andro Ruthven come in frome the Maister, and roundit to the Erle ; bot hard nocht quhat he said. And sehortlie thaireftir, this deponar passing down, to tak vp the second seruice, Maister Alexander Ruthven and Williame Blair come in to the hall, my lord sittand at his demnar : And howfone my lord saw thame, he and his haill companie raise frome the table. And than, this deponar, herand my lord on fute, bade this deponar fend for his steill bonat and gantilat, beleevand that my lord wes going to tak the said Heland-man : And as the deponar perfavit my lord passand to the Inche, and nocht to the Scho-gait, he fend hame his steillbonat, and cast his gantilat in the pantrie : And thaireftir followit the Erle to the Inche, quhair he saw the said Erle meitt his Maiestie, the Duik, and the Erle of Mar, and come in altogidder to the Erlis houe. And eftir his Maiestie had cum to the Erlis ludgeing, the Maister of Ruthven sperit at this deponar, ' Quhair the key of the Galry chalmer wes? ' Quha anfuerit, that he handlit nocht the said key sen the Erle come in Scotland. Than the Maister bad this deponar speik to Maister Williame Rynd, to gif to him the said key. And the Maister, passand vp towardis the galry, Mr Williame Rynd followit him, and gais to him the said key. And thaireftir, immediatlie eftir his Maiesteis dounfitting to his demnar, Maister Thomas Cranstoun come to this deponar, and bad him ' gang to the Erle of Gowrie? ' Quhilk this deponar did. And the Erle of Gowrie, in the vtter chalmer, quhair the King dynit, spak to this deponar secreteilie, and bad him pas vp to the galry to his brother. Sua he passand vp, and the Erle followis him : And they beand all thrie togidder, in the galry chalmer, quhair of he had the key fra Maister Williame Rynd ; the Erle faid to this deponar, ‘Tary still with my brother, and do ony thing he biddis 3ow.’ Than this deponar turnit to the Maister, and sperit, ‘Quhat will 3e do with me, schir?’ Than the Maister spak to my lord, ‘Lett Andro Henryfoun gang in to the round of the chahner, and I will loik him in, and tak the key with me:’ Quhair this deponar abaid half an hour or thairby, lokkit his allane, haveand his secrete, plate flewis, fword and quhinger with him, and wantand his fleill bonnat. And all this tyme, this deponar, fearand sum ewill to be done, fatt vpoun his kneis and prayit to God. And about the end of the half hour, Maister Alexander oppenis the dure of the round, and enterit first within the samin, haveand the Kingis Maieftie be the arme, and puttis on his hatt on his heid, drawes furth this Andro Henderfoun deponaris quhinger, and sayis to the King, haveand the drawin quhinger in his hand, ‘Schir, 3e man be my prifoner! Remember on my fatheris dead!’¹ And as he held the quhinger to his Maieftis breift, this deponar threw² the samyn furth of Maister Alexanderis handis. And the tyme that the Maister held the quhinger to his Maieftis breift, the King wes beginnand to speik, the Maister faid, ‘Hald 3our towng, schir, or be Chryft 3e fall dee.’ Than his Maieftie anfuert, ‘Maister Alexander, ye and I wes verie great³ to-gidder: And as tuicheing your fatheris deid, man,⁴ I was bot ane minor; my Counfall nicht haue done ony thing they pleiffit: And forder, man, albeit 3e bereve me of my lyfe, 3e will nocht be King of Scotland, for I haue baith fonnes and dochteris: And thair is men [in] this towne, and freindis, that will nocht leiff it vnrevangeit.’ Then Mr Alexander anfuert, sverand with ane great aith, That ‘it was nather his lyfe nor blude that he cravit.’ And the King faid, ‘Quhat rakis,⁵ albeit 3e tak of your hat?’ And then Maister Alexander tuk af his hatt. And the King faid, ‘Quhat is it 3e crave, man, and⁶ 3e crave nocht my lyfe?’⁷ Quba anfuert, ‘Schir, it is bot ane promeis.’ The King anfuert, ‘Quhat promeis?’ The faid Maister Alexander anfuert, ‘Schir, my lord my brother will tell 3ow.’ The King faid, ‘Fetche hither 3our brother.’ And syne the faid Maister Alexander faid to the King, ‘Schir, 3e will nocht cry, nor oppin the window, quhill I cum agane?’ And the King promeffit fua to do. Then Maister Alexander passit furth and loikkit the dure of the round; and passit twisted by violence; the past tense of the verb to throw. ³ On very familiar terms. ⁴ A familiar and homely phrase used in Scotland, rather expressive, at least in this instance, of a desire to soothe one who is unreasonable, than as indicating any mark of contempt or hauteur, as the mere English reader might naturally imagine. It seems equivalent to ‘my lad,’ or ‘my good fellow.’ ⁵ Recks. A reproof for appearing covered in his presence; which shows much greater firmness and presence of mind than could have been expected, even from the most resolute mind, under such circumstances.

¹ Craingelt seems to have been Master of the Household to the Earl of Gowrie.

¹ Death. See a succinet and able account of the Raid of Ruthven and Gowrie Conspiracy in Constable’s Miscellany, vol. xliii., by John Parker Lawson, M.A., p. 223 to the end. ² Wrenched,

⁶ If. ⁷ The King, from the outset of this hazardous parley, assumed very high ground; and in no instance does he seem to have lost his presence of mind and perfect self-possession. See note to Sir John Ramsay’s Deposition, No. 7, and the whole Narrative and Examinations.

nocht frome the dure, as he beleves.¹ In the mentyme, the King enterit in conference with this deponar, ‘How can ze in heir, man?’ And this deponar answerit, ‘As God leves, I am schott in heir lyk as ane dog.’ His Maieftie answerit ‘Will my lord of Gowrie do me ony ewill, man?’ This deponar answerit, ‘I wov to God, schir, I fall die firft.’ And than the King bad this deponar ‘oppin the window.’ And he oppinit the window that luikit to the Spey tour. The King answerit, ‘Fy! the wrong window, man.’ And thaireftir this deponar, passing to the vther window, narrest his Maieftie, to oppin the samin, befoir he gat to the window, Maister Alexander oppinit the dure and come in agane, and said to his Maieftie, ‘Be God, schir, thair is na remede!’ And than he leippis to the King, and gatt him be baith the handis, haveand ane gartane in his handis. Then the King answerit, ‘I am ane frie Prince, man, I will nocht be bundin.’ Sua his Maieftie castis loufe his left hand from Maister Alexander; and at that samin time, this deponar drawes away the gartane frome Maister Alexander; and his Maieftie leippis frie frome the said Maister Alexander; and the said Mr Alexander followes his Maieftie, and with his leaft hand about his Maieftie’s craig² puttis his richt neiff³ in his Maieftie’s mouth. Sua his Maieftie, werfland⁴ to be quit of him, this deponar puttis his hand out of his Maieftie’s mouth: And thaireftir, the deponar pat his left hand over his Maieftie’s leaft schulder, and pullit vp the brod of the windo, quhairvnto the said Maister Alexander had thruſchit⁵ his Maieftie’s heid and schulderis; and with the force of the drawing vp of the window, it preiffis his Maieftie’s body about his rycht syd to the window; at the quhilk tyme, his Maieftie cryis furth, ‘Treasfoun! Treasfoun!’ Sua the Maister said to this deponar, ‘Is thair na help with thee? Woe worth thee, thow will caus ws all die.’ Sua trymling,⁶ the Maister pat his hand on the gaird of his awin fworde; and incontinent the Kingis Maieftie pat his hand on the Maisteris handis, and stayit him frome drawing of his fworde: And this wayes, they baith being glaspit togidder, cummis furth of the cabinat to the chalmer; And in the mentyme, this deponar threw⁷ about the key, than standing in the dure of the heid of the turnepyk, quhilk enterit to the chalmer, and oppinit the dure thairof, to eschew him self, and to lett his Maieftie’s seruandis in: And howfone he oppinit the dure, Johne Ramfay cam in at the samin dure, ¹ This circumstance is elsewhere stated. Henderson infers that he did not leave the back of the door, either from his not hearing his retiring footsteps, or from his too precipitate return; which last, alone, would show he had had no conference, on so momentous an occasion. The fact seems to be, that Ruthven was completely abashed by the dignified and collected demeanour of the King; and having become quite unnerved by the desperate situation in which he now felt himself placed, he availed himself of the King’s proposal to call for Gowry, to retire and ‘screw his courage to the sticking point.’ Appalled by the awful circumstances of his Treason, and conceiving that it was now too late to retrace his steps, he seems to have stifled every feeling of reason and religion, and desperately to have rushed forward to the conclusion of his conspiracy, with headlong and insane fury.

³ Fist.

⁴ Wrestling, struggling.

⁵ Forcibly thrust.

⁶ Trembling with emotion, violent passion, and exertion.

⁷ Thruwed, turned.

with ane halk in his hand, and passit to the Kingis Maiestie and said about him and drew his quhinger : And as he saw him myntane with the quhinger, this deponar passit furth at the said dure, and passit down the turnpyik.

(Sic subscribitur) A. HENDERSOUN.

AND as the deponar passit throw the cloise, and come to the foiryceitt, the deponar saw the Erle of Gowrie standing befor the yett, accompanyit with diuerse perfones, of quhome he rememberis nane ; bot rememberis weil, that the Erle had this deponaris knaipfehall¹ on his heid, and tua swordis drawin in his hand. And immediatlie thaireftir, the deponar passit to his awin ludgeing, quhair he remanit quhill the King passit furth of the towne : And than the deponar passit to the Brig, and walkit vp and down be the space of ane hour, and returnit nocht agane to the Erlis ludgeing that nicht. And the tymes of his entrie to his house that nicht, this deponaris wyf inquirit at this deponar, ‘ Quhat truble wes within the place ?’ To quhome he anfuerit, ‘ Weill is me, of ane thing, that gif I had nocht bene thair, the King had bene twyfe stikit² this nicht ! Bot wais me,³ for the thing that is fallen out !’ And this deponar, being demandit be Maister Johne Moncreif, eftir his returning from Falkland, ‘ Quhair haue ye bene with your boittis on ?’ Anfuerit, ‘ He had bene tua or thrie mylis beyond Erne.’ And durst nocht tell him the veritie, be resson the Erle of Gowrie had dischargit him to tell the erand he send him, to ony bodie. And forder, this deponar declaris, that quhan he saw the Erle of Gowrie standing with his drawin swordis, befor the yette, this deponar spak nocht to the Erle, nather yit the Erle to him at that tyme ; bot he passit to his awin house.

(Sic subscribitur) ANDRO HENDERSOUN.⁴

¹ Steel-bonnet. ² Stabbed. ³ Woe is me ! ⁴ It may here be remarked, that the pusillanimous conduct of Andrew Henderson tended, both at the time, and even now has been considered as strongly fortifying the idea of a plot on the part of the King to put down the family of Gowrie, and to seize upon their estates. But it is obvious that the King would not have chosen so ‘ weak a vessel’ to be the means of effecting so daring a deed. This blockhead seems to have been utterly paralyzed by the novel and difficult situation in which he was placed. When locked up in ‘ the round of the chalmer,’ or turret, by Mr Alexander Ruthven, where the scene of action was to take place, he first craved direction from above, ‘ and all this tyme (about half an hour) satt vpoun his kneis, and prayit to God.’ Notwithstanding, he was little better than a passive spectator of the struggle ; and after ‘ eschewing him self,’ by which means he ‘ lett his Maiesteis seruandis in,’ he passed his ill-fated master, Gowrie, without uttering a word, and ‘ passit to his awin ludgeing, quhair he remanit quhill the King passit furth of the towne ;’ and then, in a ‘ quandary,’ saunters about on ‘ the brig, be the space of ane hour !’ This was not a man to be intrusted with playing a principal part in so hazardous a game. Nor would the King, constitutionally feeble, and unfit by nature for violent muscular exertion, have been so insane as to risk his person, unarmed, and habited merely in a slight hunting suit, without even a dagger or weapon of any sort, to contend with an athletic young man, such as Ruthven was, perfectly skilled in the art of self-defence, armed with a sword and ‘ pyne-doublet,’ or secret coat of mail—and this conflict, too, in a remote tower, out of the probable reach of aid from any others who had been intrusted with this plot. This circumstance, by itself, would go far to disprove the very idea of any Conspiracy on the part of the King against Gowry and his brother. But when one takes into consideration the total ignorance of the whole of the hunting party, the King’s sole attendants, who had merely time to send for fresh horses and their side-arms, when they, on the hunting-field, heard, for the first time, of the proposed visit to Perth, such a proposition seems the height of absurdity.

(4.) THE ABBOTT OF INCHECHAFFRAY, sworne and examinat, deponis, That vpoun the fyft day of August laftbipast, this deponar, being in Falkland, about fevin houris in the mornyng, he mett Maifter Alexander Ruthvene, accompanyit with Andro Ruthvene; and at that tyme, onlie salutit the said Maifter Alexander, without ony conference forther at that tyme: And at that tyme, he saw the said Maifter Alexander enter in conference with his Maieftie, vpoune the grene, betuix the stabillis and the parke; quhilk conference, induring for the space of ane quarter of ane hour: And the said Maifter Alexander accompanyit his Maieftie quhill they come to the medow. And at his returning frome his Maieftie, this deponar defyrit Maifter Alexander to difchone¹ with him, be reffoun his awin culd nocht be fafone be preparit. To quhome Mr Alexander anfuerit, ‘ He nicht nocht tarie, be reffone his Maieftie had commandit him to await vpoun him.’ And as this deponar paffit to Falkland, levand Mr Alexander behind him, he mett his horfe with his man cummand frome Falkland to him. And then this deponar, eftir he had difchonit in Falkland, he tuik his jorney the hieway to Inchechaffray: And the deponar, being bot ane mile a north Strameglo, his Maieftie, accompanyit with my lord Duik, Lundoris, the Laird of Vrquhill, John Hammyltoun of the Grange, Finlaw Tailzeour and Maifter Alexander Ruthven cam by this deponar, rydand the hieway to Perth: Than incontinent this deponar horffit and accompanyit his Maieftie to Perth, quhair he saw the Erle of Gowrie meitt his Maieftie in the Inche; and paffit in company with his Maieftie and his Nobill men and feruandis to the Erle of Gowreis ludgeing, quhair they dynit altogidder. And eftir denmar, this deponar being in the chalmer at the north end of the hall, word paffit throw the hall, that his Maieftie wes paffit away and riddin towardis Falkland: And than this deponar, in company with the Lord of Mar, and remanent present for the tyme, paffit to the cloife, and frome that to the Hie-ftreit: And the Erle of Gowrie being present with thame, defyrit thame to stay, quhill he returnit, and advertesit thame of the veritie thairof: And incontinent the Erle of Gowrie paffit vp the stair, and returnit bak and certefeit the deponar and his collegis of his Maiefties depairture. Than the lord Duik, this deponar, and remanent, cryit for thair horfis, to follow the King. Than, as they wer standand vpoun the Hie-ftreit, they hard ane cry and ane voce: And the Duik first declarit, ‘ I am affiurit yon is his Maiefties voce, be quhair he will him self.’ And immediatlie thaireftir, this deponar saw his Maieftie loukand furth at ane windo of the round, wantand his hat, and his face reid, cryand ‘ Fy! Help, my lord of Mar! Treffoun! Treaffoun! I am murderit!’ And at that famin instant, be his judgement, his Maieftie wes pullit, perforce, in at the famyn window. And incontinent thaireftir, this deponar paffit in haift vpe with the Erle of Mar and my lord Duik, to the chalmer within the galry ; quhair he saw, hard and did, in all thingis conforme to the Dukis depositioun.

¹ To breakfast. Old Fr. desjeuner.

(Sic subscribitur)

INCHEAFFRAY.

(5.) THE ABBOTT OF LUNDORIS, sworne and examinat, deponis conforme to the Lord Duik of Lennox, in all thingis : Addendo, that eftir dennar, quhan word wes of his Maieftis depairtour towardis Falkland, and that they had altogidder cum down to the porter, and had inquirit at him, ‘ Gif the Kingis Maieftie wes gane furth ? ’ The porter anfuerit, ‘ He wes nocht passit furth : ’ And the Erle of Gowrie affirmit that ‘ He wes passit furth at the bak zett : ’ And the porter said to the Erle of Gowrie, ‘ That can nocht be, my lord, becaus I haue the key of the bak zett.’ And eftir that his Maieftie had cryit furth of the windo of the round, ‘ Treassoun ! Treassoun ! ’ &c. this deponar saw James Erskayne incontinent lay handis vpoun the Erle of Gowrie, vpoun the Hie-ftreit. And immediatlie Schir Thomas Erskayne grippit the Erle of Gowrie, ‘ Fy, Tratour, this is thy deid, thou fall die ! ’ Then the Erle of Gowrie anfuerit, ‘ I ken na thing in the mater.’ Than, instantlie, the Erle of Gowreis men ruiggit the said Schir Thomas Erskayne and James Erskayne fra the Erle of Gowrie ; quha incontinent ran the sspace of half ane pair of butlandis frome thame, towardis Glenvrquhis house, and drew furth his tua swordis,¹ and cryit, ‘ I will ather be at my awin house, or die be the gait.’ And incontinent thaireftir, the said Erle, accompanyit with threttie perones or thairby, passit within the said place, quhair his Maieftie wes for the tyme : And schortlie thaireftir, the deponar, as apperit to him, saw ane multitude of people caryand ane jest towardis the place.

(Sic subscribitur)

LUNDORIS.

(6.) SCHIR THOMAS ERSKEYNE, of the age of threttie-six zeiris, Sworne, deponis conforme to the Lord Incheffray and Lord of Lundoris : Addendo, that immediatlie eftir this deponar hard his Maieftie cry furth of the windo of the round, ‘ Fy ! Help ! I am betrefit ! They ar mureffing me ! ’ he ran with diligence towardis the place, to haue helpit his Maieftie : And befor his entrie, feing the Erle of Gowrie, this deponar and his brother grippit him be the nek, and said to him, ‘ Tratour, this is thy deid ! ’ Quhilk Erle anfuerit, ‘ Quhat is the mater ? I ken nathing ! ’ Immediatlie the Erlis seruandis feuerat him frome this deponar and his brother ; and than this deponar enterand within the clofe, he forgadderit with Schir Hew Hereis, quha demandit of the deponar, ‘ Quhat the mater menit ? ’ And in the mentyme, the deponar hard Schir Johnne Ramfay cryand out at the turnepyk heid, ‘ Fy ! Schir Thomas, cum vp this turnepyk, ewin to the heid.' And as this deponer had passit vp fyve stoppis of the turne-pyke, he feis and meittis with Mr Alexander Ruthvene, bludit in tua partis of his bodie, viz. in his face and in his neck: And incontinent this deponar cryis to Schir Hew Heres and vtheris that wer with him, 'Fy! This is the Tratour! Strik him!' And incontinent he wes strikin be thame and fell: And as he wes fallin, he turnit his face and cryit, 'Allace! I had na wyte of it!' This deponar being standing abone him in the turnepyk. Thaireftir, this deponer past to the heid of the turnepyk, and enterit within the chalmer at the end of the galry, quhair the king and Schir Johne Ramsay wes thair allane present: And at the first meting, this deponar said to his Maiestie, 'I thoct your Maiestie wald haue concredited mair to me, nor¹ to haue commandit me to await your Maiestie at the dure, gif ze thoct it nocht meit to haue tane me with you.' Quhairvpoun his Maiestie ansuerit to the deponer, 'Allace! the Tratour diffavit me in that, as he did in the leave;² ffor I commandit him expresse to bring you to me: Quhilk he promesit to me to do, and returnit bak as I thoct to fetche you; bot he did nathing bot steikit the dure.'³ Schortlie thaireftir, Schir Hew Heris followit this deponar in to the chalmer, and George Wilfoun seruant to James Erskyne: And immediatlie thaireftir Maister Thomas Cranstoun, with his sword drawin in his hand, enterit within the said chalmer; and the Erle of Gowrie followit him within the same chalmer, with ane drawin sworde in euerie ane of his handis, and ane knapscale⁴ on his heid; quha struck at this deponar and his collegis, ane certane space. Lykas, they defendit thame and struck agane: And that samyn tyme, the said deponar wes hurte in the richt hand, be Maister Thomas Cranstoun. And this deponar hard my Lord of Gowrie speik sum wordis at his entrie, bot vnderstandis thame nocht. And last, Schir Johne Ramsay gaif the Erle of Gowrie ane dead straik: And than the Erle leanit him to his sword; and the deponar saw ane man hald him vpe, quhome he knew nocht: And howfome the Erle fell to the ground, Maister Thomas Cranstoun, and the remanent quha accompanyit him, depairtit, and passit down the turnepyk. And the deponar rememberis, that at that tyme, thair wes ma perones in the chalmer with the Erle of Gowrie, by⁵ Mr Thomas Cranstoun; bot knew nane of thame; except he believes, that ane blak man⁶ that wes thair in company within the chalmer, wes Hew Moncreif, brother to the Laird of Moncreif; bot the deponar knawes nocht weil, quhidder or nocht it wes Hew Moncreif.

¹ It appears that these swords were, according to a custom then prevalent in Italy, worn in one scabbard, and served for double defence, as the sword and dagger. The Earl was singularly skilled in the use of arms.

(Sic subscribitur) SR THOMAS ERSKYNE.

(7.) SCHIR JOHNE RAMSAY, of the age of Tuentie thrie zeiris or thairby, Sworne, deponis, That immediatlie eftir he had dynit, the day libellit, in the ¹ Than. ² Leave, the rest. ³ Shut the door. ⁴ A 'steel bonnet,' or defence for the head. ⁵ Besides, forbye. ⁶ Dark-complexioned.

Erle of Gowreis houfe, he tuk his Maieftie's hawk¹ fra Johne Murray, to the effect the faid Johne nicht haue dynit: And the deponer, miſſing his Maieftie, and forgaddering² with the Laird of Pittinereif in the Erle of Gowreis hall; and demanding of Pittinereif, 'Quhair his Maieftie wes?' The faid Laird firſt convoyit the deponer to the chalmer quhair his Maieftie dynit; thaireftir to the zaird, hoiping that his Maieftie had bene thair: And miſſing his Maieftie in the zaird, the faid Laird convoyit the deponer vp to ane fair gallerie, quhair this deponer wes nevir befor; quhair, haveing remanit ane certane ſpace, behalding the gallerie, they come baith down to the cloiſe, quhair they mett with Maifter Thomas Cranftoun in the middis of the cloiſe, quha faid to thame, that 'His Maieftie wes away vpoun horfbak at the Inche.' Quhairvpoun this deponer and Pittinereif ſunderit;³ and the deponer paſſit furth of the zett to his ſtable, to haue gottin his horſe: And being ſtanding at the ſtable dure, he hard his Maieftie cry, knew his hienes voce, bot vnderſtude nocht quhat he ſpak: Quhairvpone he immediatlie cummis within the cloiſe, and finding ane turnpyk dure oppine, he enteris within the ſamin, and rynnis vpe the turnpyk, quhill he cummis to the dure vpoun the heid thair of: And heiring ane ſtrugling and dyn of mennis feitt, he ran with his hail force at the dure of the Turnepyke heid, quhill he enteris to the chalmer at the end of the gallerie, the deponer haveing in the mentyme his hawk on his hand: And haveing dung⁴ vpe the dure, he ſeis his Maieftie and Mr Alexander Ruthvene in vtheris armes, ſtryveing and worſlying⁵ togidder, his Maieftie haveing Maifter Alexanderis heid vnder his arme, and Maifter Alexander being almaiſt on his kneis, had his hand vpoun his Maieftie's face and mouth: And his Maieftie, ſeing the deponer, faid, 'Fy! Strik him laich, becaus he hes ane pyne dowlit⁶ vpoun him!' Quhairvpoun the deponer kaiſt the hawk fra him, and drew his quhinger, quharwith he ſtrak the faid Maifter Alexander: And immediatlie eftir he was ſtrukin, his Maieftie ſchoitt⁷ him down the ſtair, quhairat this deponer had enterit. Thaireftir this deponer addreſſis him to ane window, and lukand furth thairat, and ſeand Schir Thomas Erſkeyne, the deponer cryit, 'Schir Thomas, cum vp this turnepyke, ewin to the heid.' In this mentyme, his Maieftie pat his fute vpoun the hawk leiſche, and held hir ane lang tyme, quhill the deponer come and tuk hir vp agane:⁸ And than Schir Thomas

¹ This hawk is reported to have been preſented to the King this day, by John Murray of Arknay, commonly called 'Meikle John Murray.' ² Meeting. ³ Separated. ⁴ Struck, forced.

⁵ Wrestling, ſtruggling. ⁶ Secret doublet, or chain ſhirt of mail. ⁷ Forcebly thruſt, thruw, or pushed.

⁸ In the whole of this prolonged and deſperate ſtruggle, the King, although unarmed and defenceleſs, (being habited in a green hunting-dreſs, with a hunting-horn ſuſpended round his neck,) exhibited extraordinary preſence of mind, and no ſmall ſhare of personal bravery, proweſs and dexterity, in parrying off the attacks of an athletic young man, bent upon ſo deadly an errand, and provided with 'a ſecret' or 'pyne doublet,' capable of turning the ordinary thruſt of a ſword or dagger, and beſides furniſhed with neceſſary weapons. It has become fashionable to ridicule the puſillanimity of Erfkein enteris. And in the rest, deponis conforme to Schir Thomas Erfkeyne, in all pointis. And forder sayis, that quhan this deponar enterit first within the chalmer, he saw aue man standing behind his Maiesteis bak, quhome he nawayes knew; nor rememberis nocht quhat apperrelling he had on; bot eftir that this deponar had strukin Maister Alexander, he saw that man na mair.

(Sic subscribitur)

SR JOHNE RAMSAY.

(8.) JOHNE GRAHAME of Vrquhill, sworne and examinat, deponis conforme to the Lord Duik of Lennox and Erle of Mar, in all thingis; Reddens eandem caussum scientie: Addendo, that this deponer, the tyme that he wes at dennar in the hall, with my lord Duik and the Erle of Mar, he saw the King and Maister Alexander Ruthven pass throw the hall, vp the turnepyke, towardis the gallerie: And as this deponer, Johne Hammyltoun and vtheris wer followand, Maister Alexander cryit bak, ‘Gentlemen, stay, for sua it is his hienes will.’

(9.) JOHNE GRAHAME of Balgowne, of the age of fyftie yeiris or thairby, mareit, deponis conforme to the lord Duik, in all thingis; Addendo, that this deponer, the day libellit, efter the death of the Erle of Gowrie and his brother, and herand his Maiestie reporte that Maister Alexander preffit to haue bund his hienes handis with aue gartane, this deponer fand aue gartane at the cheik of the round dure, among the bent;¹ and immediatlie thaireftir, this deponer presentit the famin gartane to his hienes, and at the sicht thairof, his Maiestie said, that ‘the famin wes the gartane, quhairwith Maister Alexander preffit to haue bound his handis.’ And then Schir Thomas Erfkeyne grippit to the famin gartane, and said, that ‘He wald keip it.’ Quhilk he hes yit in keiping.

(Sic subscribitur)

J. GRAHAME of Balgowne.

(10.) I MAISTER JOHNE MONCREIF deponis, as eftir followes, to wit. That day, I wes still present with my lord of Gowrie, vnto the tyme I hard his

James VI., but it is hard to conceive how far the bravest man, if unarmed, and placed in similar circumstances, could have surpassed him in courage, or have displayed more coolness, address and self-possession, than did the King, throughout all this perilous transaction. Although constitutionally and habitually timid, and being destitute of the advantage of a healthy or robust frame; these infirmities being likewise aggravated, in no small degree, by the broils and conspiracies in which he found himself incessantly involved, James on many occasions showed, when personally placed in difficult emergencies, that he was not unworthy of the royal blood from which he was descended.

¹ Before carpets were generally used in this country and in England, it was customary, in lieu of this modern luxury, to strew rushes, or withered ‘bent,’ (a sort of coarse grass, ‘hair grass,’ growing on muir-lands, sandy grounds, &c.) on the floors of halls, &c. On the arrival of guests of distinction, it was a mark of civility and polite attention to have the floors strewed with fresh bent or rushes. The older English writers, especially the Dramatists and Satirists, inveigh loudly against the filthy odours generated by the stale and rancid straw or rushes on the floors of English halls; owing to the frugality or slovenliness of the landlord. Carpets are, to this day, rarely used in many places of the continent of Europe, to the no small annoyance of British travellers; and, perhaps from this cause, (the recent introduction of carpets into general use,) it is reproachfully remarked, of ‘the most polite nation in Europe,’ that a Parisian spits without remorse on the finest drawing-room carpet, and this too in presence of ladies.

Maieftie cry, ‘ Treaffoun !’ And faw him put his arme furth at the windo of the round ; and then left him ; for I confavit in my heart, that it wes ane plane Treaffoun confpyrit aganis his Maieftie : And wes inducit heirto, in refpect of the prefumptionis following : Firft, I faw the Kingis Maieftie and vmq^{lc} Maifter Alexander Ruthvene, my lordis brother, gang furth at the hall dure, thair allanes, quhair as his Maieftie had na wapponis, and Maifter Alexander had ane fworde : Nixt, I faw his Maieftie cum in quiet and fober maner to the towne, quhairthrow apperantlie he wald haue na ewill purpofe in his mynd : Item, the faid Maifter Alexander rydand to Falkland, in the morning, wes obfcurit¹ fra me and my brother Hew, quhair he wes ; and I haveing inquirit of my brother Hew, ‘ Quhair he wes riddin to ?’ He knew nathing thair of ; fua that nather he nor I culd gett tryell of the famin : Item, I haveing inquirit at Andro Henderfoun him felf, quha raid to Falkland with the Maifter, and returnit tua houris befoir him, fylit me,² and anfuerit, that he had bene tua or thrie mylis abone the towne : And alfe, the faid Andro had ane vther dwblit on him nor he vfit commounlie, and wes mair bukfun ; and, as apperit, micht haue contenit ane fecret³ : Item, that day, being the Counfaill day of the towne, my lord excusit him felf, in refpect of his adois :⁴ Item, I haveing preafit him to fubfcrive ane Confirmatioun of ane ladyis, firft ; refusit, in refpect foirfaid ; alwayes⁵ paffit it thaireftir : Item, my lord taryit langer fra his denner nor he vfit ; and albeit Andro Ruthven, quha wes with the Maifter, come and roundit to my lord at the burde, he maid him to misknaw all thingis, vnto the tyme the faid Maifter Alexander come him felf ; and than raife from the buird and mett his Maieftie : Item, my lord obfcurit altogidder, that he knew the cumming of ony man, quhill the Maifter come : Item, Maifter Thomas Cranftoun was the firft that I hard cry, ‘ The Kingis Maieftie is away !’ Item, eftir my lord Duik, and my lord of Mar, and his Maieftis feruandis wes in the clofe, my lord of Gowrie come bak agane to the hall, fayand, ‘ The King wes away ;’ fua that, as I thocht, he wald haue ilk man thinkand fua. And I thocht his Maieftie wes not reffavit with that heartlie intertenement, as becam : Item, eftir his Maieftis ryding away, my brother Hew come to my houfe, and I inquiring of him, ‘ Quhat he thocht of thir materis ?’ Anfuerit, ‘ Befoir God, fafar as I can perfave, I trow it fall kyth⁶ to be ane plane Treaffoun, one my lordis pairt :’ And I fperand at him, ‘ Gif he knew ony thing thair of ?’ Anfwerit, ‘ He knew nathing, bot he and Harie Ruthven, eftir all thingis wer endit, fell in conference heiranent ; and he thocht thingis wer lyklye.’ Last, Andro Henderfonis Lettre moves me maift of all. And, vpoun my faluatioun and condemnatioun, I knaw na forder in this secret mail, worn quilted in the dress.

¹ Hid, concealed.

² Evaded the question ; literally, ‘ jinked me.’

⁴ Business, affairs.

⁵ Yet, notwithstanding.

³ Pyne doublet or secret mail, worn quilted in the dress.
⁶ Turn out.

mater, nor yit can remember of ony vther circumstance or presumption nicht haue inducit me to confave the former Treassoun, quhilk I apprehendit in maner foirsaid. (Sic subscribitur) MAISTER JOHNE MONCREIF.

(11.) ANDRO RAY, ane of the Bailleis of the burgh of Perth, be thir presentis, testefeis vpoun my conscience and in the sicht of God, as I fall ansuer to him in the great day, That vpoun the fyft day of August I^m and sex hundreth yeiris, I being in the v^mq^{le} Erle of Gowreis ludgeing, quhan his Majestie wes thair, saw his Majestie eftir his dennar, accompanyit with the Maister of Gowrie, ryse frome the tabill, and gang furth of the chalmer quhair he had dynit, bot to quhaitt place I knaw nocht; being behalding the said v^mq^{le} Erle of Gowreis intertenement of the nobillmen, in drinking of his Majesteis schoill to thame, quhilk his Majestie, befor his ryfing frome the tabill, had commandit him to do: And that eftir that the lordis, viz. my lord Duik, my lord of Mar, my lord Lunderis, and my lord of Inchaffray, with findrie of his Majesteis gentilmen and seruandis, accompanyed with the Erle of Gowrie in persone, ane schorte space eftir dennar, had missit his Majestie and inquirit, 'Quhair he suld be?' They went to the foirgaitt, and speirit at the portar, 'Gif he saw the King ga furth at the foir yeitt?' And hard the portar ansuer, that 'His Majestie wes nocht gane furth that way.' Also, That the Erle of Gowrie said to the porter, 'ze lie, knaif! He is furth.' And the porter replyt, that 'he suld gif his heid, in caise his Majestie went furth.' Yit, vpoun the Erle of Gowreis assurance, that 'his Majestie wes furth to the Inche,' the lordis ruscht out in haist at the foiryett, and speiring, 'Quhair the King wes?' I being with thame, I saw ane ding vp the lang scoirit window, in the north syd of the turrett, vpoun the Hiegait; bot quha dang it vp I knaw nocht. And forder, saw cleirly his Majestie, beir heidit, schut¹ furth his head and arme at the foirsaid window; and hard his Majestie crying loudlie, 'Fy! Treassoun! Treassoun!' And, 'Murther! Help! Erle of Mar!' Quhairvpoun I, being verie agast and wonderfullie astonied at that cruell and terribill sicht, and pitiefull and wofull cry, I nocht knowing quhat the mater meinit, bot persaveing his Majestie in extreme and great danger, ran with all possibill diligence throw the streittis, crying loudlie, 'Fy! Treassoun! Treassoun aganis the King! For Goddis saik, all honest men haist and releif the King!' And commandit to ryng the commoun bell, that all men nicht cum in haist to his Majesteis relief. And than I returnit, with all possibill diligence, with ane great number of the people with me, and come afoir the foirsaid turret and window, quhair I saw his Majestie first crye out: And than I cryit out, 'How is the King?' Bot my lord Duik and my lord of Mar answeirit, 'The King is weill, (praifit be God).' Than I cryit agane vp to his Majestie, and schew his Majestie that the Bailleis and towneschip wes thair cum, in all haift, to supplie and releif his Majestie; and thairfor, besocht his Majestie to command, 'Quhat wes his Majesties will and best to be done?' And than his Majestie bekuit furth his hand to me and to the peopill, commanding me to 'caufe the peopill retein thame to thair ludgeing.' Quhilk commandment I incontinent obeyit, and comandit all maner of man to retein thame felfis to thair ludgeings: And elykwyes, past to the marcat croce, and be oppin proclamatioun, comandit, in his hienes name, that all men fuld retein thame to thair ludgeingis, vnder the pane of Treassoun: Quha obeyit, incontinent eftir my charge. And this I testifie to be of veritie, be the fayth and trewth of my body; safar as I justlie can remember. In witnes of the quhilkis, I have subscryuit thir presentis with my hand, At Perth, the threttene day of October, the yeir of God I^m and sex hundreth yeiris, befor thir witneffis, Maister Patrik Galloway Minister to his Majestie, James Drummond of Letchill, Oliver young, Constantyne Mallice, Thomas Johnestoun, Bailleis, Henrie Eldar, clerk, Robert Anderfoun, Andro Arnott and Williame Jak, burgesfis of Perth.

¹ Shoot, push, thrust.

(Sic subscribitur)

ANDRO RAY, Baillie, with my hand.

PATRIK GALLOWAY witnes,

JAMES DRUMMOND witnes,

OLIVEIR YOUNG bailzie witnes,

THOMAS JOHNSTOUN baillie witnes,

ROBERT ANDERSOUN witnes,

ANDRO ARNOTT witnes,

WILLIAME JAK witnes,

HENRIE ELДАР, scribe, witnes.

(12.) ROBERT CRYSTIE, porter to vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie, of the age of threttie yeiris, solutus, deponis, That he wes porter to the Erle of Gowrie, the fyft day of August, libellit; lyk as, he wes be the space of fyve oukis ofbefoir: And schortlie eftir the denner, this deponar saw my lord Duik, the Erle of Mar, the Erle of Gowrie cum to the cloise, and my lord Duik speirit at this deponar, 'Gif his Majestie wes passit furth of the cloise?' The deponar ansuerit, that 'he wes nocht furth.' Then the lord of Mar said, 'Billie,¹ tell me the veritie, gif his Majestie be furth or nocht.' And he ansuerit, 'In treuth he is nocht furth.' The Erle of Gowrie, lukand with ane angrie countenance, said, 'Thow leid!² He is furth at the bak yett, and throw the Inche.' Than this deponar ansuerit, 'That can nocht be, my lord, for I hane the key of the bak yett, and of all the yettis of the place.' Thaireftir, this deponar hard and saw his Majestie hikand furth of the window of the round, and cryand 'Treassoun! Treassoun! Fy! Help! Help, my lord of Mar!' And incontinent, my lord Duik and Erle of Mar and vtheris ran vp the great turnepyke to the gallerie: And thaireftir, the lord of Gowrie come from the Hie-streitt, within the cloise, haveand ane steil-bonnet on his heid, and ane drawin sword in ilk hand, accompanyit with Alexander and Harie Ruthvenis, Patrik Eviott and Hew Moncreif, Maister Thomas Cranftoun, all haveand drawin swordis in thair handis; and passit altogidder, with my lord, vp the auld turnepyk. Bot quhat wes done within the house and place thaireftir, kennis nocht, bot be reporte; nether saw he ony gest¹ brocht to the place, be ony of the towne: And kennis na mair in the mater.

¹ Brother, fellow; a familiar and jocular mode of address; equivalent to 'my lad,' or 'my man.'

² Lied, told a falsehood.

(Sic subscribitur) ROBERT CHRYSTIE.

(13.) ALEXANDER BLAIR, younger of Balthayok, sworne and examinat, deponis conformis immediate precedenti, except, that he saw nocht my lord of Gowrie pas with his company and drawin swordis vp the turnepyk: Bot saw Alexander and Harie Ruthvenis and Hew Moncreif cum down the litill turnepyk, quhair they and my lord had ascendit; the saidis thrie personis, haveand drawin swordis in thair handis: Bot saw nocht Patrik Eviott thair. And this deponer sayis, that eftir the tumult wes rissine, and this deponar preffand to enter within the place, he wes a litill stayit² be thame in the place; bot they yeldit attanis,³ and the deponar gat entrie. Lykwayes, he saw ane gest brocht in frome the towne, and sett vp at the wall of the cloise; bot quha brocht the famin in, he kennis nocht.

(Sic subscribitur) A. BLAIR apperand of Balthayok.

(14.) GEORGE HAY, Priour of Charterhouse, of the age of tuentie aucht yeiris or thairby, mareit, deponis conformis to the lord Duik of Lennox, in all thingis, eftir his Majesteis entrie in Sanct Johnestoun, the day libellit; addendo, that that samyn day, the deponar haveand ado, in Sanct Johnestoun, with the Erle of Gowrie, and speikand with him, in his awin place, he saw Andro Henderfoun cum in, buttit, from Falkland; and hard the said lord Gowrie inquire of the said Andro, 'Quha wes with his Majestie in Falkland?' And thaireftir, the said Erle tuk the said Andro Henderfoun to the cabinat; and eftir ane certane space, the Erle cummand to the chalmer, he gaif this deponar his dispathe, sayand, that he had to do that day, and nicht nocht awaitt on his erand, and bad him cum ony vther day.

(15.) MAISTER PETIR HAY, of the age of threttie yeiris or thairby, mareit, deponis conformis to George Hay, in all thingis; the witnes immediatlie preceding.

(16.) ROBERT GRAHAME of Thornik, sworne and examinat, deponis conforme to the Duik of Lennox, eftir that his Majestie enterit in Perth.

(17.) OLIVEIR ZOUNG baillie in Perth, sworne and examinat, deponis, That the day libellit this deponer wes in the Erle of Gowreis ludgeing, quhair he saw the King dyne: And, eftir denner, saw the Kingis Majestie and Mr Alexander Ruthven pas, thair allanes, throw the hall and vp the turnepyk. And immediatlie thaireftir, this deponer pafst to his ludgeing in the towne, quhair he abaid quhill the crye and tumult raife. And incontinent, this deponer, rymand to the place libellit, his Majestie cryit out at the window, and commandit this deponer, be name, to stay the tumult of the people; the quhilk this deponar obeyit and did: And saw Hew Moncreif cummand furth of the place libellit, his face being bludie, and Harie Ruthven, aue of the defendaris, at the mouth of the Wattergait, with aue drawin fworde in his hand. And kennis na mair in the mater.

¹ Joist, beam.

² Delayed, detained.

³ At once.

(18.) JAMES DRUMMOND of Pitcarnis, fworne and examinat, deponis conformis immediate precedentj, in omnibus; addendo, That as this deponar, immediatlie eftir the cry rais, wes cumand to the place libellit, he meittis vpoun the Hie-ftreit, Alexander Ruthven, aue of the defendaris, haveand aue drawin fword in his hand, and cryand, ‘Fyre and pulder!’¹ And kennis na mair in the mater.

(19.) WILLIAM RYND, flesccheour in Sanct Johnestoun, of the age of threttie yeiris, or thairby, mareit, deponis, That he saw within the cloise of Perth, eftir the frey raife, Patrik Eviott and Hew Moncreif, baith bluidand, haveand drawin fwordis in thair handis.

(20.) HENRIE LEYIS, burges of Perth, fworne and examinat, deponis conformis to James Drummond and Williame Rhynd; bot he saw nocht Patrik Eviott thair.

(21.) GEORGE WILSOUN, feruand to James Erfskyne, of the age of tuentie four yeiris, or thairby, solutus, deponis conforme to Schir Thomas Erfskyne, in all thingis; be reffone this deponer wes in company with the said Schir Thomas, eftir the first time that he and James Erfskyne grippit the Erle of Gowrie, and wes findrit fra him be his feruandis. And immediatlie thaireftir, this deponer accompanyit the said Schir Thomas Erfskyne vp to the turnpyk, into the chalmer quhair his Majestie wes; quhair he saw as the said Schir Thomas hes deponit, in all thingis.

(22.) DAVID RYND, flesccheour in Perth, fworne and examinat, deponis conformis to James Drummond; and hard Alexander Ruthven cry for pulder; bot saw nocht Patrik Eviott.

(23.) GILBERT RITCHESTSOUN, in Perth, of the age of tuentie four yeiris or thairby, solutus, deponis conformis to James Drummond in all thingis, and David Rynd.

(24.) JOHN MURRAY of Arbanj,² of the age of fyftie aucht yeiris or thairby, mareit, deponis: The day libellit, the deponer come to Sanct Johnestoun, eftir dennar, quhair he hard his Majestie cryand furth at the window of the round, ‘Fy! Treaffoun! My lord of Mar! Help!’ Incontinent thaireftir, my lord of Mar and the Duik ran vpe the broad turnepyk, and the deponar followit thame in the clofe, quhair he faw the lord of Gowrie, haveand ane steil-bonnet on his heid, and tua drawin fwordis, ane in ilk hand: And faw the faid Erle pas vp the turnepyk, accompanyit with certane his feruandis, haveand drawin fwordis in thair handis, of quhome he knew nane.

¹ Fire and gunpowder.

² Commonly called ‘Meikle John.’

(25.) THOMAS BURRELL, burges of Perth, fworne and examinat, deponis conforme to James Drummond; addendo, That the tyme of the fray, this deponar, enterand within the cloife of the place libellit, he faw ftanding in the clofe, with drawin fwordis in thair handis, Alexander and Henrie Ruthvenis and Hew Moncreif, bledand in his face. And at that famin tyme, this deponar faw Maifter Thomas Cranftoun cun doun the blak turnepyk; and he tuk furth of his hand his sword, and hard the faid Alexander Ruthven cry for ‘Fyre and pulder.’ And faw nocht Patrik Eviott thair.

(26.) GEORGE¹ FORREST, tailzeour in Perth, of the age of fourtie yeiris or thairby, mareit, deponis; The day libellit, he faw George Craigingelt and Walter Cruikshank, allakey,² ftanding in the yaird with drawin fwordis.

(27.) WILLIAME ROBERTSOUN, notar in Perth, of the age of threttie four yeiris or thairby, mareit, deponis, The day libellit, this deponar, beand within the clofe of the place libellit, he faw the lord Gowrie ftanding in the clofe, accompanyit with fevin or aucht perfones, of quhome he knew nane; the faid Erle than haveing ane steill-bonnet on his heid, and ane drawin sword in ilk hand; at the quhilk ficht, this deponar being affrayit, pafte furth of the place: And kennis na mair of the mater.

(28.) ROBERT GALBRAITH, fernand to the Kingis Majeftie, of the age of threttie yeiris, deponis conformis to the lord Duik of Lennox, in all thingis; be reaffoun this deponer, all that day, wes in company with his Majeftie. And eftir that his Majeftie had cryit out at the window, ‘Treasfoun!’ this deponer followit the Duik and Earle of Mar vp the turnepyk: And deponis, as they haue deponit.

(29.) ROBERT BROUN, feruand to the Kingis Majeftie, deponis conformis immediate precedenti, in omnibus; becaus this deponer, the tyme libellit, accompanyit Johne Hamyltoun, to feche the hammeris vp to the galry: And this deponar pafte vp the litill blak turnepyk, and at his firft entrie within the chalmere, he faw the Erle of Gowrie lyand dead; thair being at that tyme in company with his Majeftie, Schir Thomas Erskene, Schir Hew Heres, Schir Johne Ramfay, and George Wilfoun.

(30.) JAMES BOG, porter to his Majeftie, fworne and examinat, deponis, That he faw the Kingis Majeftie and Maifter Alexander Ruthven pas throwch the hall to the chalmer. And saw, that day, George Cragingelt with ane drawin sword in his hand, accompanyt with certane rascallis. And, in ceteris, deponis conformis to the lord Duik and Erle of Mar, in all thingis.

¹ ‘Alexander’ is deleted and ‘George’ inserted.

² Old Fr. Lacquay, laquais, a footman.

(31.) JOHNE BOG, seruant to the Kingis Majestie in the aill cellar, sworne and examinat, deponis conformis to James Bog.

(32.) ALEXANDER PEBLIS, burges of Perth, of the age of threttie yeiris or thairby, mareit, deponis, The day libellit, this deponar being within his awin house, foiranent the Erle of Gowres ludgeing, howsone his mother hard the common bell ryng, scho lokkit the dure and held him in all the tyme: And saw at that tyme the Erle of Gowrie enter in at the yett, with tua drawin swordis, ane in ilk hand: And ane allakey¹ put ane steil-bonnet on his heid. And ane certane space thaireftir, the deponar saw Hew Moncreif cum furth of the place, with ane bludie heid, and Patrik Eviottis man, lykwayes bleidand. And also, saw Patrik Eviott cum forth of the yett; bot rememberis nocht gif he had ane sword in his hand. And saw Alexander Ruthven also cum furth, with ane sword drawin in his hand. (Sic subscribitur) ALEXANDER PEBLIS.

NO. II.

INTERRAGATORIS² to be demandit of the Witnesse, sworne and admittit, in the actiounes and caus of Foirfaltour persewit aganis Williame Ruthuen, brother, air and successour of vniq^{le} Johnne sumtyme Erle of Gowrie, and vniq^{le} Mr Alexander Ruthuen his brother; Alexander and Harie Ruthuenis, Hew Moncreif and Patrik Eviott.

FIRST to inquyre, Geif they knew that the vniq^{le} Erle directit the said Mr Alexander, Andro Henderfoun and Andro Ruthven to his Maiestie, to Falkland, to persuade him to cwm to Sanct Johnestoune?

Gif thai saw the said Mr Alexander cwm to his Maiestie, to Falkland, vpoun the fyft day of August, lastbypast?

Gif thai knew that the said Mr Alexander directit Andro Henderfoun and Andro Ruthuen, seu-rallie, to foirwarne Gowrie that the King was cuming to Perth that day?

Gif thay saw the saidis Andro Henderfoun and Andro Ruthuen, befor the Kingis cuming, cum to Gowrie and speik secreteilie with him? Geif thai knew that Gowrie commandit Andro Henderfoun to put on his armour? Or geif thai knew that the said Andro patt on his secreit the said day?

Gif the said Mr Alexander come to Gowrie, befor the Kingis cuming, and spak with him secreteilie? How the King was accompaneit? And geif his seruantis had ony vther armour or vapounes nor³ fuordis?

Gif they saw Mr Alexander, Andro Henderfoun and the Erle gang wp to the gallerie chalmer, the tyme of the Kingis dinner?

Gif, efter the Kingis dinner, they saw the said Mr Alexander, with his fuord about him, convoy the King his allaine, without ony vapounes, to the gallerie chalmer?

¹ This was Walter Crookshanks. He is not known by the Editor to have been brought to Trial, or otherwise punished. ² From an original paper, preserved amongst the Warrants in General Register House. ³ Than.

Gif thai hard vmq^{le} Mr Thomas Cranftoun declair to the nobilmen, and to the Kingis fervandis, that his Maieftie was riddin away ?

Gif they hard the faid Erle awow the fame to thame, with greit aithis ?

Gif they faw his Maieftie fehut¹ out his bair heid and airme out at the windok of the turret aboue the 5ett, and cry ‘ Treafoun ! Help ! I am Murderit ! ’ The faid Mr Alexander haifing his hand at his hines faice and his throt ?

Gif they faw Andro Henderfoun, in the turrat, at that tyme ?

Gif they faw the faid Mr Allexander treaffonable efforing him felf to murder his Maieftie ?

Geife they faw Gowrie, with his tua drawin fwordis, accompaneit with ane greit number of his compliceis in airoes, twrn aff the calfay of Sanct Johneftoun into his awin cloife, with vmq^{le} Mr Thomas Cranftoun, the faidis Allexander and Harie Ruthuens, Hew Moncreif, Patrik Eviot, and ryn al-togidder wpe the Blak turnpyke of the faid ludging, feik his Maieftie for his flauchter, and invade and perfew Schir Johnne Ramfay, Schir Thomas Atkin and Schir Hew Heirreis, in his hines defens, and hurtt and wond eweriane of thame ? And geif they faw Georg Craingelt, Georg Dewar and ane greit number of vtheris of Gowreis fervandis and dependaris, befett the foir-5et and bak-5et, and incloife his Maieftie within the faid ludging, flay the entreffes and paffagis thairof, and affeidg his Maieftie thairin, and cry, ‘ Greine coittis, 5e fall all die ! 5e fall all be hangit ? ’

Gif they faw the faidis defendaris perfew the duris of the chalmeris, quhair his Maieftie and his fernandis was, and ftryk in thairat, with dravin fuordis, and halbartis, and Jedbrugh flaveis ?

Gif they faw Allexander Ruthuen caus bring ane jett, treaffonable to haue brokin wpe the dooris of the faidis chalmeris and ludging ?

And geiue they faw him feik powder in the mairechant buithis, to haue blavin the faid ludging in the aire, with his Maieftie and all that was thairin ?

No. III.

REPORT by the BAILIES and TOWN COUNCIL OF PERTH of the EXAMINATIONS and ‘ DEPOSITIONS OF THE INDUELLERIS OF PERTH,’² taken by them, by command of the KING and PRIVY COUNCIL.

APUD PERTH, quarto die mensis Septembris, anno Domini millesimo sexcentesimo.

QUHILK day, the Bailleis, counfall and decanes of craftis of the burcht of Perth, being convenit within the New Kirk of the famin, Comperit Jasper Howp, indueller in Edinburcht, presentit his Maieftieis Miiffiue, directit to thame, clofit ; quhilk being with all due reverence reflaut and oppnit, the tennour followis :

TRAISt FREINDIS, We greit 5ow hairtie weil. We haue thoecht meit, for diuerse respectis and confiderationes, to continew the dyett appointit for 5our comperance befoir our Counfell, vpone Tuif-day nixt ; and haue directit tua of our Counfell particularlie to acquent 5ow with our will and plefour in that mater. Quhairvnto, as 5e respect 3our awin fuintie and weil, 5e will conforme 5our felffis. And fua, affuring 5ow that it fall nocht be neidfull to 5ow to kepe the faid dyett, We commit 5ow to God. From Striveling, the xij of September, 1600. (Sic fubfcribitur) JAMES REX.
[And writtin on the bak thairof,]

To our traift freindis, the BAILLEIS, Counfall and comunitie of our burt of PERTH.

LYKE AS, vpone the xvij day of September instant, in prefens of the faidis Bailleis, counfall and decanes, siklyke connenit, within the said New Kirk, Comperit the rycht honorabill Schir Robert Melwill of Murdocardny, kny^t, and Schir Daid Murray of Gosperte, kny^t, Comptroller to his Maieſteis, tua of his hienes Counfall, and declarit, that, conforme to his Maieſteis General Letter, direct of befoir, they wer direct in Commiſſioun, to impairt to the ſaidis Bailleis and Counfall his Maieſteis mair particular will and pleaſour, anent the trying of ſic within thair ſaid bur^t as miſbehavit thame ſelfſis wpon the fyft day of Auguſt laſt. Quhilk wes, that the Proueſt, bailleis and counfell fuld, be thame ſelfſis, try thair awin nychtbouris quha wer amungis thame, ather in word or deid, that kythit¹ buſſie wpon the ſaid fyft day of Auguſt laſt; quhen as the wmq^{le} Erle of Gowrie and the Maieſter his broder did that in thame ley, to haue putt in executione thair intendit Treſſoune, aganis his Maieſteis perſone; and that thairin they fuld leave na fort of tryell ontane,² as they reſpectit thair awin fuirtie; quhair-by, ſic giltie perſones mycht be pwneit for thair offence according to thair meritt, and innocētis nocht preiudgit: And that, betuix and the day of , they report thair diligence to his Maieſtie thairanent. Quhilk deſyre, thocht godlie, honeſt and equitabill, the ſaidis Bailleis, counfall and decanes, with all faithfullnes and diligence, promittit to obey.

¹ Shoot, push, thrust.

² From the Original, preserved in the General Register House, and now printed for the first time.

APUD PERTH, vigefimo ſecundo Septembris, anno Domini Milleſimo ſexcentefimo. Quhilk day, Proueſt, bailleis, counfall and decanes of craftis of the bur^t of Perth, being convenit within the New Kirk of the ſamin, eſter lang reſſonyng haid be thame wpon the forme and maner of the trying of thair awin nychtbouris,³ conforme to the Commiſſioun declarit to thame be his Maieſteis Commiſſionaris, direct to thame for that effect; Ordanit the tryall to be deducit, in maner following, viz. That the Proueſt, Mr Johne Malcome and Williame Cowper, Miniſteris; Conſtantine Malice, Andro Ray, Thomas Johnſtoun, bailleis; James Drummond of Leithhill; James Adameſone, dene of gild; Robert Mathow, theſaurar; Robert Anderſone, Andro Arnot of the Counfall, and Henry Elder, clerk, fall be Examinatouris and reſſaueris of the hail townis Depoſitiounis.

And becaus it is neceſſar, that the Examinatouris depone firſt thame ſelfſis, thairfoir, that ſua mony of thame (except the Proueſt) as wes nocht in the toune, wpoun the ſaid fyft day of Auguſt laſt, viz. the tua Miniſteris, Conſtantyne Malice, baillic, Robert Anderſone and Andro Arnot, fall reſſaue the remanent thair colligis Depoſitiones; and thairefter, thay all concurrand togidder, to reſſaue the Depoſitiones, firſt of the remanent Counfell and decanes, and thairefter of the hail inhabitantis of the ſaid bur^t, begynnand at the Water-gait quarter, and ſua ordourly throw the hail quarteris and ſuburbis of the ſamin bur^t. And for that effect, the ſaidis perſones appointit for the examinatioun foirſaid, to convene within the ſaid New Kirk, at ſevin houris in the morning, to continew till nyne; to meit thairefter at ten, to remane quhill tuelf; to meit at tua eſter none, and to diſſolue at ſex houris at evin; and to follow furth this ordour daylie, quhill the tryell be endit; begynning the morne, at ſevin houris in the mornyng. The officiar of everie quarter to be redy for warnyng of thair quarteris, as they fall be commandit. Everie perſone to compeir wnder the pane of ten pundis. The drum to paſ about the toun for that effect; and the Examinatouris, nocht keping the preceiſe tymes of conventioun, without ane lauchfull excuſe, to incur the penaltie of tuentie ſchillingis, toties quoties, vnforgevin.

Everie perſone to be ſuorne, to teſtifie the veretie, wpon thair conſcience, and in the ſicht of God, and as they fall anſuer to him in the grait day; and to be examinat wpon the hedis and artikles following, viz.

[HEADS and ARTICLES of EXAMINATION.]

Giff they haid ony foirknowledge off the wyld and vnnaturall Treſſoune, intendit aganes his Maieſteis perſone, wpon the fyft day of Auguſt laſt, be the wmq^{le} Erle of Gowrie and the Maieſter his broder?

Giff they com to the ludgeing, with thair armour, to aſſiſt that filthie fact?

¹ Showed, or proved themselves.

² Untaken.

³ Neighbours, townsmen.

Giff they thame selfis vterit or hard ony onreverent speches gevin to his Maieftie, or to ony of his lieues feruandis ?

Giff they faw ane jeift¹ brocht to the ludgeing ?

Giff they hard ony crying of 'Grene-cottis !' 'Bludie botfcheris !' 'Tratouris !' 'Murderaris !' 'ze fall all die !' 'Giff ws furth our Prouest !' Or ony fielyke evill wordis ?

Giff they hard ony cry for 'Fyre,' or 'Powder ?'

Giff they faw ony mynt² at ony of the Kingis Maiefteis feruandis to ftrik thame ?

Giff they know ony thing of the faid wyld Treffounne that is nocht sperit at thame ? Or, ony forder nor is contenit in the faidis Artiklis ? Or gif, fen the faid fyft day of Auguft, they hard ony thing, that in ony fort may cleir the faid mater ?

AND becaus they ar informit, that he, quha wpone the faid fyft day of Auguft, within the toune of Dundie, fuld hane vterit thai filthie and vnnaturall speches aganes his Maieftie, quhilkis demerittis extreme pwnement, is JOHNE LAMB fone to Robert Lamb, burges of this bur^t, quha being fearcit and foelt, can nocht be apprehendit within this toune :

(1.) The faid ROBERT LAMB, his father, being fworne wpone his intelligence, quhair he fuld be ? Deponit that he paf^t out of this bur^t ten dayis fyne, to quhat pairt he culd nocht tell ; bot as he fupponit, he wes ather paf^t to Striuling, Glesgow, or to the hieland pairtis of Lorne ; in the quhilkis pairtis the faid Johnne wfs his pair handling and traffek. Quhairfoir, the faidis Bailleis, Counfall and deeanes, ordanit Thomas Johnestoune, baillie, to fie and conduce sex abill men, and with all diligence to pafs to the faidis pairtis of Striveling and Glesgow, to fearce, feik and apprehend the faid Johnne Lamb, and as ocafionn beis offerit, to fend tua and tua of his cumpanie to Lorne and wtheris pairtis quhair beft knowlege may be haid of the faid Johnnis being, ay and quhill they apprehend him ; and the thefaurer to fatisfie the faid Thomas his expenffis to that effect.

23 Septembris, 1600. Befoir none.

IN PRESENCE of the faidis EXAMINATOURIS, COMPERIT the perfones following ; quha being fuorne wpone the retro-writtin Artiklis, deponit every ane, as followis.

(2.) OLIUER ZOUNG, baillie,³ fuorne, deponit that efter he wes commanding the pepill hame, at his Maiefteis command, the entres of the foir zett was kepit be certane of the Erle of Gowryis feruandis, with drawin fwordis ; amangis quhome Thomas Biffett cordiner wes ; quhilk Thomas, fua fone as he wes commandit be the deponer, depairtit fra the zett. Saw nor hard na forder, be reffoune of his bilynes, in difpafcheing of the pepill.

(3.) THOMAS JOHNSTONE, baillie, deponit, that he cuming thair at the found of the bell, faw ane tumult befor the Erle of Gowryis ludgeing ; and being defyrit to gang hame be the Laird of Balthyok and zoung Tullybardin, he immediatlie depairtit ; and in the away passing, faw Alexander Ruthuene yonger ryn throw the Water-gait, with ane drawin fuorde, cryand, 'Falfé Tratouris !' Ignorat cetera.

(4.) JAMES DRUMMOND deponit, he faw Alexander Ruthuene younger wpone the gait⁴ with ane drawin fuord, cryand, 'Fy for powder ! He is deid ! He is flane !' Saw fielyke, Johnne Rentoull standing in the feir zett, with ane drawin fworde, haiffing ane steill bonett, ane fecreit and gantullat. Ignorat cetera.

(5.) JAMES ADAMESCNE deponit, that being in his awin clofe gadgeing⁵ ane falomond barrell, to mak ane millour⁶ thairof to wther barrellis, Johnne Tenendyfe wyff, officiar, knokit werie loudlie at ¹ Joist, or beam. It is termed a single roof-spar in the course of the examination.

² Threaten, make attempt to strike.

³ This active and zealous Magistrate died Dec. 29, 1603, as is recorded in Fleming's Chronicle.

⁴ Street.

⁵ Gauging.

⁶ Measure, size, pattern.

his zett, cryand, ' Allace ! Thair is mony wapnys about the Kingis hous : And they say the King is fehott.' Quha, at the hering thair of, com suddandlie furth, quhair he saw Andro Ray, baillie, cryand, ' Fy ! Treffoune ! Cum and relewe the Kyng.' And immediatlie stoppit doune foirnent the ludgeing ; quhair, how sone he come, saw the Duik and the Erle of Mar, declaring the King wes weill ; and defyryng all men to depairt to thair houffis. Quhairat, and efter he laid fene the Kingis hand putt out at the wyndo, he incontinent depairtit hame. Ignorat cetera.

(6.) ROBERT MATHOW deponit, that he, cuming at the found of the bell, hard Violet Ruthvene and Margaret Monereiff, relict of wmq^{le} Thomas Lafreise, cryand, ' Bludie boitfchearis !¹ Depairtit at the command of the Bailleis and clerk. Ignorat cetera.

(7.) HENRIE ELDER deponit, being in his awin chalmer quhen the bell wes ringing, quhilk wes ceiffit befor he culd wyn to the South-gait-end, quhair he, heryng the Nobill men that wer aboue, crying for the Bailleis to command the pepill hame, he with the saidis Bailleis dispafehit the pepill : And thaireftir, immediatlie past to the mercat croce, and thair, in his hienes name, commandit all maner of men to pas to thair houffis, wuder the pane of Treffoune : And returnyng thairfra to the ludgeing agane, all the pepill laid removit thame selffis, except suu of the wmq^{le} Erle of Gowryis ser-vandis, quha wer standing in the foir entrie of the zett, with drawin fwordis ; amangis quhome, Thomas Biffett, cordiner, wes ; quha, howsone he wes commandit be Oliuer zoung, bailzie, and the deponer, patt wp his sworde and depairtit. Saw Alexander Ruthuene cuming furth at the foir-zett with ane drawin fuorde, and sayde to the deponer, ' Theiwis ! ze ar vnworthie of sic ane Prouest !' And, ' Giff he leuwe, he fall remember on this day.' Ignorat cetera.

ALL the Examinatouris concurrand,

(8.) MR HENRIE ANDERSONE deponit, he saw ane fallow, bering ane singill roiff spar on his schoulder, cuming fornent the foir-zett of the ludgeing thairwith : Culd nocht discern quha buir the famin, for the tumult, and being occupit, hering the Bailleis cry for his Maieftis helth and will : And immediatlie thaireftir depairtit. Ignorat cetera.

(9.) PATRIK BLAIR deponit, he come thair with the clerk ; and or² he culd win thair, the bell wes rung out, and the Nobill men wes commanding all hame. Quha thairat depairtit, leaving the Bailleis and clerk commanding hame the pepill : And being at the croce, saw Alexander Ruthuene, yonger, first address him to the merchant-buyth of Blais Powrie, and thairefter to the merchant-buyth of Johnne Lawrie. Knew nocht quhat he wes feiking, in respect of the distance betuix thame. Ignorat cetera.

(10.) WALTER GRAY deponit, that he wes furth in the South Inche ; and gatt na entrie. Ignorat.

(11.) PATRIK GRANT deponit, he come with his armour, at the found of the bell, foirnent the ludgeing. Hard Williame Rynd, flescher, being in the auld brokin houfe aboue the foir-zett, cry furth at the wyndo thair of, ' The Prouest is slane !' Saw also Patrik Lamb, sawfter,³ cuming throw the Water-gait, with ane singill roiff spar on his schowder. Saw Alexander Ruthuene cum furth of the ludgeing, with ane drawin sworde, cryand, ' Fy on zow all ! Thair is ane Nobill man tynt⁴ this day.'

(12.) JOHNE OGILBY, decane, deponit, that at the found of the bell he com thair ; saw ane man cuming to the place with ane jett on his schowder. Knawis nocht quha it wes. Hard Jolne Rentoull cryand, ' Grene-coittis ! ze haue committit murther !' And the deponer reprovowg him, he anferit, ' ze ar nocht gude nychtbouris⁵ in ane towne, that helpis nocht zour Prouest.' Ignorat cetera.

(13.) WILLIAME JAK, decane, deponit he com befor the ludgeing, at the found of the bell, with ane Rofs-aix,⁶ or halbert ; and spering be the way, quhat the mater menit ? The pepill cryit, ' The King wes slane !' And he na soner com thair, nor he hard all crying, ' The King wes weill !' And he depairtit. Ignorat cetera.

¹ Butchers.

² Ere, before.

³ Sawyer,

⁴ Lost.

⁵ Citizens, townsmen.

⁶ Lochaber-axe.

(14.) DAVID RYND, decane, deponit he com with his armour to the ludgeing, at the found of the bell; and feing wtheris pafs wp the blak turnepyk, he followit wp; quhair he saw Hew Moncreiff strikking in wnder the chalmer dur with ane Jedwart staff,¹ and wald nocht be stayit be the deponer. Saw Patrik Lamb, lawfter, on his sehowder, but ony help, bring in ane roiff spar, foirment the foir zett of the ludgeing. Hard Alexander Ruthuene cry, 'Fy, bring powder!' Ignorat cetera.

(15.) THOMAS BISSETT, decane, deponit, at the found of the bell, he com thair. Confessit he fluid in the entrie of the foir zett, with ane drawin sword; and how sone Oliner zoung and the clerk commandit him hame, he depairtit. Denyit all the rest.

(16.) ANDRO CUDBERT, decane, deponit, he wes in the Wod of Methuene that day, quhill evin. Ignorat.

(17.) WILLIAME MATHIE, decane, deponit he com at the found of the bell. Saw ane man cuming throw the Water-gait, with ane spar on his sehowder; bot knawis nocht quhat he wes that buir it. Ignorat.

(18.) WILLIAME ROBERTSON, decane, deponit he wes nocht thair.

23 Septembris, 1600. Efter none.

THE NAMES OF THE QUARTERIS.

(19.) GILBERT RYCHERDSONE deponit, at the found of the bell, he com foirment the ludgeing, past wp the Blak turnepyk, quhair he saw . . . Bruce, sone to Williame Bruce, with ane drawin fuorde, eryand in wnder the dur, 'My lord Duik, for Godis sailk, tell me how the Kyngis grace is?' And the deponer cryit ower the wyndo, 'Cum wp and help the Kyng and the Prouest!' And being commandit hame, he depairtit to the croce, quhair he saw Alexander Ruthuene, crying at Johne Lawreis merchant-buyth, 'Cum donne and gif us powder!' But nane anfuerit. Ignorat cetera.

(20.) WILLIAME RYND, flescher, deponit, that he, being slaying flesche, hering the commoune bell, com donne foirment the ludgeing, with ane fuord, enterit in at the foir zett and wp the blak turnepyk, quhair he saw Hew Moncreiff with ane Jedwart-staff, Patrik Eviot and his man with drawin fuordis: And being thair, hering the pepill commandit hame, he eryit ower the wyndo, 'It wes the Kyngis will that all fuld gang hame;' and thairwith euist ane sklait stane² ower the wyndo among the pepill, quhilk they fay fell on ane talzouris heid: And sua depairtit him self. Ignorat cetera.

(21.) THOMAS LAMB deponit, he com nocht thair, quhill all the pepill wes depairting. Ignorat.

(22.) THOMAS ROBERTSONE, alias DENIS, deponit, that at the begynnynge of the trubill, he wes in the wmq^e Erle of Gowryis kitscheing, helping to mak the denner reddy, with Robert Smythis man, quha wes principall cuik: Being demandit, 'Quha tuik wp my Lordis denner?' Anfuerit, Andro Henderfone, chalmerlane, tuik wp the first seruice; and betuix the first and the secound seruice, Andro Henderfone past furth with my lord, to meit the Kyng. Being siclyke demandit, 'Giff he hard ony word, that the Kyng wes to cum that day to the toune?' Anfuerit, 'Nane, quhill they gaid furth to meit his Maiestie.' Being forder demandit, 'Giff the said Andro Henderfone wes in the kitscheing, the tyme quhen the ery raise?' Deponit, he enterit nenir within the kitscheing, efter his outganging to meit the King; and giff wtherways it may be fund that he wes thair, he is content to be hangit.³ Deponit forder, efter the ery, he com furth of the kitscheing, saw the Maister lyand deid, at the Blak turnepyke fute; and my lord with ane fuord in everie hand, ane steill-bonet on his heid, accompanyt with certane his servendis, stap ower the Maister, and pas wp the Blak turnepyk; sua the deponer com furth. Knawis na forder.

(23.) MYCHAELL BAXTER, talzour, deponit, That at the begynnynge of the trubill, he wes

¹ The Jedburgh staff, or pike, was, from its peculiar construction, celebrated in those days, both as a weapon of offence and defence. ² Threw a slate stone. ³ This strange mode of expression is intended as an earnest asseveration of the truth; and was probably made on a second or third repetition of the same question.

fehapan and cloik in his awin hous, quhilk is in the bak clofe of the wmq^{le} Erle of Gowryis ludgeing. Com nocht furth of the bak clofe, quhill¹ at the desyre of Andro Ruthuene, bot² ony wapnis. Helpit to beir wp the Maister, being deid, to the North chalmer, in the ludgeing on the wther fyde of the clofe. Ignorat cetera.

(24.) JAMES BOWER, notar, deponit, at the found of the bell, he com thair, in his armour, nocht knowing quhat the mater wes. Cryit wp to the Erle of Mar, 'How the Kyngis Maieftie did?' Quha anfuert, 'His Maieftie wes weill.' And thairefter sperit,³ 'How the Pronest, my lord, did?' Quha anfuert, siclyk, 'Weill.' Desyrit thairfoir, that his lordschip wald be sua gude as to latt him fie thair faces, that he mycht depart. Quha anfuert, 'I may be ane messinger to 3ow.' Desyrit him thairfoir to depart hame; quha obeyit and depairtit. Ignorat cetera.

(25.) ROBERT TAL3EOUR deponit, he com thair at the found of the bell, with his armour. Saw Patrik Lamb, fawfter, bring ane singill roiff spar on his schowder, foirnent the foir-3ett of the ludgeing; quhair Andro Ray, baillie, caufit him east the famin doune. Hard Violet Ruthuene eryand, 'Thewis! Lymmeris! Tratoris! and Bludie Theiwis!' Depairtit away, at command of Oliuer 3oung baillie. Ignorat cetera.

(26.) WILLIAME ROBERTSONE, notar, deponit, he being thair but ony wapnis, saw nor hard na thing bot ane tumult. And being demandit anent Andro Henderfone, deponit, that efter the Kingis Maieftie haid eryit, 'Tressoune!' And the tumult thairupone arryng, the said deponer wes standand at the foir 3ett, with young Tallybardin and his serwandis, quha ischewing in at the 3ett to relewe the King, the deponer, ane schort space thairefter, followit in to the clofe; the said Lairdis serwandis standing togidder thair. Saw the Maister of Gowrie, lyand deid, at the fute of the turnepyke; quhair, ane schort quhyle thairefter, he saw the said Andro Henderfone cum out of the said turnepyk, ower the Maisteris belly: And he inquiring at him, 'Chalmerlane, Jesus! quhat menis the mater?' Quha maid him na anfuert. And as the deponer rememberis, Johne Murray of Arbeny, and wtheris quhome the said Johne can tell wes present thair. Ignorat cetera.

THE EXAMINATORIS Ordanis the Clerk to writt, with all diligence, for the said Johne Murray.

(27.) WILLIAME STENESONE deponit, at the ringing of the bell, he com befoir the ludgeing, with ane fuord; and entering to the 3earde, saw George Craiggigait with ane tua-handit fuord, and wtheris nychtbouris; at quhilk tyme, James Boig cryit ower ane wyndo, 'Away hame! 3e will be all hangit.' And depairting, he saw standing in the entrie at the foir 3ett, stepping the entrie with drawin swordis, Johne Rentoull, Thomas Biffett, with wtheris of my lordis serwandis. Hard Violet Ruthuene ery to the ronnd,⁴ 'Bludie Tratoris, that hes mureift thair innocentis! Grene-coittis!'

(28.) ARCHIBALD STEIDMAN deponit, that he being enming furth of Archibald M^eBrekis, quhair Andro Ray, baillie, meiting with him, commandit him to ryng the commoune bell; quhilk he did. Com nocht thair. Ignorat cetera.

(29.) BLAISE POWRIE deponit, that he being sitting at Thomas Foulis buyth wyndo, he saw the Dnik and the wmq^{le} Erle of Gowrie cum furth at the foir 3ett. Quhilk Erle of Gowrie wes putt per force ane litill space wp the calfay; and beyde Archibald M^eBrekis, the wmq^{le} Erle of Gowrie drew his fuordis, and com bak agane, forward to the ludgeing, and enterit thairat: At the quhilk tyme, he deponit, he depairtit hame. Knawis na forder.

(30.) JONET ELDER, spous of the said Blais, being examinat and fuorne, deponit, that all the tyme of the tumult, scho wes at hir buyth dur. Alexander Ruthuene yonger com to hir, with ane drawin fuorde, and creavit for powder; quhilk scho alluterlie refusand, he perforce tuik fra hir keyis, ¹ Until.

² Without.

³ Enquired, asked.

⁴ She called up to the round or tower of the 'Ludgeing,' where the nobility then were with the King.

and rypit the buyth; quhair, he finding nane, ran away with the keyis, and he keift thame fra him wpon the calfay.

(31.) GEORGE FORREST, talzeour, deponit, that at the ringing of the bell, he com with ane halbert to the ludgeing, past to the garding yearde, quhair he saw George Craiggelt and Walter Cruikshank, baith with drawin fuordis, George being ane tua-handit fuorde. Hard George Craiggelt cry, 'Grene-cottis! Wo worth 3ow, for 3our heir cuning, and the thing 3e haue done this day!' And ane cryit out to Walter Cruikshank, 'It wes ane evill halff leaff' and ane dryuk 3e gaiff ws this day; 3e fall hing for it.' Forder, he saw ane bering ane spar to the ludgeing; bot knawis nocht quha huir it. Ignorat cetera.

(32.) JAMES MAR, wrycht, deponit, that he being at the dur of his awin buyth, he saw Patrik Lamb, sawfter, bring on his schowder ane single roiff spar to the foir 3ett of the ludgeing. Ignorat cetera.

24 Septembris, 1600. Afoir none.

(33.) THOMAS FOULIS, fmyth, deponit, that he wes schoand Robert Browis horfe; he saw the Erle of Gowry gang in at his awin 3ett, with tua drawin fuordis. Hard Violet Ruthuene cry, 'Bludie boitfcharis! Traturis! Grene-cottis!' He saw Johue Rentoull, Thomas Biffett and wtheris quhome he knew nocht off, the Erlis fernandis, stand in the foir entrie of the foir 3ett, with drawin fuordis; and wald nocht fuffer the Prouest to enter in at the 3ett. Ignorat cetera.

(34.) THOMAS GREIG deponit, that he com nocht neir the ludgeing, bot saw Patrik Lamb, sawfter, bring ane spar throw the Water-gait on his awin schowder. Ignorat cetera.

(35.) DAVID RONALDSONE, cordiner, deponit, that he com thair with na wappyn, bot he hard Violet Ruthuene cry, 'Fy! Theiwis! Bludie boitfcheris! Wo worth 3ow, grene-cottis!' And hard Alexander Ruthuene say, 'Wo worth this day, for eur!' Ignorat cetera.

(36.) GEORGE DAUIDSONE, lorymer,² deponit, that for obedience of the bell, he com to the ludgeing, enterit within the clofe, bot taryit nocht. Saw Andro Blair, ferwand to the Laird of Balthyok, creave the halbert fra Robert Talzeour, quha refusit; quhairat he tuik him ane kuff.³ Hard na speches bot all cryand, 'How dois the Kyngis Maiestie?' Ignorat cetera.

(37.) ARCHIBALD MACBREK deponit, that befor ony cry gevin be the King, he saw the Duik, the Erle of Mar and the Erle of Gowrie standing befor the foir 3ett. Hard ane cry, lyke to the Kingis voce. He than saw Schir Thomas Erskyne enter in grippis with the Erle of Gowrie, quhair the Erle wes putt all moist on his kneis; quhairat the Erle stappit bakward all maist foirnent the deponeris hous, and thair he drew his tua fuordis, bot he culd nocht dignosce⁴ ony perfone that wes with him. The deponer in the meanetyme start in for his fuorde, and cuning furth with his drawin fuorde and dager, the Laird of Glenwrquhay said to him, 'Quhair away and the King in the ludgeing?' Quhairat he layit fra him his fuorde,⁵ and stoppit doune to the place but ony wayyn. Being interrogat, 'Quhat euill speches he hard vterit aganes his Maiestie, or his hienes fervandis?' Deponit, he hard nane, bot all cryand, 'How dois his Maiestie? Lat ws sie his face.' And thairefter, hard thame cry, 'Lat sie our Prouest! How dois our Prouest?' Hard Alexander Ruthuene say, 'It can be na war⁶ nor it is! Latt ws to the hous.' And thairwith the deponer depairtit. Knawis na forder.

(38.) HENRIE LEISE deponit, that he, at the found of the bell, com to the 3ett, and enterit within the clofe of the Erle of Gowryis ludgeing; quhair he saw Hew Moncreiff bluiding, and Alexander Ruthuene yonger cum down the Blak turnepyk. Saw Patrik Lamb, sawfter, bring in to the clofe ane roiff spar, and cast it doune thair. Hard Alexander Ruthuene cry, 'Fetche ws powder!' Ignorat cetera.

¹ Bad half loaf, &c.; in allusion to the scraps, or shabby fare afforded by Gowry to the King and his attendants.
² A spurrier, or spur-maker; a dealer in horse accoutrements, such as bits, bridles, &c. They were usually saddlers. Old Fr. lorimier.
³ A cuff, slap, or slight blow.
⁴ Recognise, distinguish. Lat. dignoscere.
⁵ In reference to the Proclamation against bearing arms within a certain distauce of the King's person.
⁶ Worse than it is.

(39.) HENRIE BANNEWIS (Balnaves) deponit, wes in the ludgeing befor the tumult. Pafst furth, at the defyre of Schir Thomas Erfkynne, to by him ane pair grene filkin schankis.¹ Befoir his returnyng, the King had dynnit: And haiffing tauld his anfuer, he pafst wp the gait; and being on the calfay he hard ane tumult; and luyking behind him, he saw the lord of Gowrie with his fuordis in his handis, and hard all the pepill cryand, 'The King is flane!' And thairwith he pafst him² for his wapis; and cuming doune to the foir 3ett, he saw Hew Moncreiff cuming furth: Sperit at him, 'Quhair the King wes?' Anfuerit, he knew nocht. Saw nocht the King, nor hard him speak ony thing ower the round: And immediatlie thairefter, depairtit hame. Ignorat cetera.

(40.) THOMAS TALZEOUR deponit, he wes but ony wappyn. Saw Joline Rentoull and Thomas Biffett resist the Laird of Balthayok, in the entrie of the foir 3ett; and wtheris of the Erle of Gowryis fervandis, being than with thame. Ignorat cetera.

(41.) ANDRO JAMES deponit, he saw Patrik Lamb bring ane trie on his schowder to the foir 3ett, and hard ane cry out of the ludgeing, 'Quhair away kneave with that trie?' Mett Hew Moncreiff cuming furth at the 3ett, bluding. Depairtit at command. Ignorat cetera.

(42.) PATRIK QUHYTTOK, cordiner, deponit, that he being standing on the calfay, he saw the wmq^{le} Erle of Gowrie, befyde Archibald M'Brekis hous, haiff tua drawin fuordis in his handis; and hard him say, 'He wald fordward to his awin ludgeing.' Hard Violet Ruthuene cry wp to the place, 'Bludie boitscheouris! Tratouris! Theiwis!' and siclyke evill speches. Ignorat cetera.

(43.) PATRIK BRUCE deponit, he being on the calfay, he saw the wmq^{le} Erle of Gowrie, at his awin 3ett, all maift fall doune to the eird. Hard Violet Ruthuene cryand, 'Tratouris!' &c. Ignorat cetera.

(44.) ANDRO POLL deponit, at the found of the bell, he com to the ludgeing, with ane halbert; and being in the clofe, he saw Patrik Lamb, sawfter, bring in on his schowder to the clofe, ane spar of fir, quhilk he sett aff his schowder to the wall, betuix the turnepyke and the feller dur. Saw Mr Thomes Cranftoun cum down the Blak turnepyk, bluding: And sua depairtit hame, at command. Ignorat cetera.

(45.) ANTHONNE MAXTOUNE deponit, he com doune the gait with the young Laird of Tullybardin, quhen the nobill men wer sitting at thair dennar. Wes wpone the calfay, quhen ane cryit out off the round; bot knew nocht quhais voce it wes, and, as apperit to him, the cryar wes halff braithles. Saw my lord Duik, my lord Mar and the Erle of Gowry cum furth at the foir 3ett: Efter sum strugling, he saw the Erle of Gowrie gang ane pece wp the gait, quhair he hard the said Erle say, 'He wald gang into his awin hous.' Saw na wapis in his handis, at the quhilk tyme he pafst wp the gait, returnyng bak agane at the found of the bell but ony wapis. He hard Violet Ruthuene, cryand, 'God latt neur ane of 3ow haue sic plantis of 3our awin!' And hard Alexander Ruthuene say, 'Fy on 3ow, Bailleis and hail toune! Is this all the help 3e mak this day to 3our Prouest!' And sua depairtit hame, being commandit. Ignorat cetera.

24 Septembris, 1600. Efter none.

(46.) ALEXANDER PEBLIS deponit, that during all the tyme of the tumult, he wes lokkit in his awin hous, and luyking out at the wyndo. Hard Thomas Biffett cryand wp to the round, 'Is my Lord of Gowrie allywe?' 'Giff he be nocht allywe, he suld haue amendis of all that wes thairin!' And James Bower cryit wp the ellyke speches. Wald nocht depairt, quhill they saw my lord of Gowrie; and ane of thame tua cryit wp, 'Grene-cottis! we fall haue amendis of 3ow!' Vagging thair handis wp, sayand, '3e fall pay for it!' Hard Thomas Elder in Balbuchtie, cry wp, for 'Ane sicht of the Erle of Gowrie.' Hard Robert Talzeour cry, 'Tratouris and theiwis, that hes flane the Erle of

¹ It appears that the whole of the royal party were dressed in green hunting-suits. Balnavis is sent to purchase green-silk stockings for Sir Thomas Erskine's dress suit.

² Perhaps for 'hame,' home.

Gowrie ! Saw Johne Rentoull, Thomas Biffett, and wtheris of the Erlis fervandis, stand in the entrie of the foir 3ett, with fuordis in their handis ; and wald nocht cum fra it. Saw ane of the Erle of Gowryis allakeyis,¹ at the entrie of the 3ett, putt ane steill bonett on the Erlis heid. Hard Violet Ruthuene and wtheris wemen cry, 'Tratouris ! Theiwis ! The Erle of Gowrie haid anew to tak meit and drynk fra hame,² bot hes nane to revenge his deid !' Ignorat cetera.

(47.) PATRIK LAW, tal3eour, deponit, he com na forder nor the duelling hous of Archibald M^cBrek ; quhair he, hering the nychtbouris commandit hame, be the Bailleis ; he depairtit to his awin hous : And being at the croce, he saw Alexander Ruthuene cum to the merchant-buyth of Blais Powrie and Johne Lawrie, cryand for ' Powder,' bot gatt nane. And thairefter, ane gude space, saw the said Alexander cum wp the callay, and pas furth at the Hie-gait-port. Ignorat cetera.

(48.) THOMAS 3OUNG, tal3eour, deponit, he wes bot new cum in to the toune. Hard nor saw nathing, bot all cryand wp, for ' Ane sicht of the Kingis face ;' and ' Giff his Maieftie wes weill ?' Except, he hard Mr Alexander Bannewis, Redar, cry wp to the round ; bot tuik nocht tent quhat he said. Ignorat cetera.

(49.) JOHNE HENDERSONE, baxter, deponit, he cuming thair at the found of the bell, and being standing abone Archibald M^cBrekis hous, he saw ane, bering ane trie on his schowderis, to the ludgeing ; bot knawis nocht quha it wes, except be report senfyne, it wes the man that is in the irnis.

(50.) JOHNE BROUNE, wobster, deponit, he com at the found of the bell, with ane staff. Hard na thing, bot hard fum cryand, ' God fend ane drap of grace to his Maieftie !' verie pitifullie. Knawis nocht quha it wes. And sua depairtit, being commandit. Ignorat cetera.

(51.) JOHNE LAWRIE deponit, he com at the found of the bell. Hard na thing, bot all cryand, ' The King is weill.' And he anfuerit, ' God be thankit.' And lykewayis deponit, that quhen he cam hame, his wyff tauld him, that in his absence, his buyth-dur being lokkit, Alexander Ruthuene lap in at the buyth-wyndo, and rypit³ all the buyth for powder : Wald nocht depairt, quhill his wyff maid faith⁴ that they had na powder. Siclyke, him self saw ane, bering ane trie to the ludgeing on his schowder ; bot knew nocht quha it wes ; and hard ane gentill man cry ower the wyndo, ' Quhair away kneawe ? Lay doune the trie !' Quhilk trie, the Baillie caufit the man cast down. And swa depairtit hame. Ignorat cetera.

(52.) ALEXANDER MACDUFF deponit, he com, at the found of the bell, foirnent the ludgeing, with his wapenis ; quhair he saw ane cast furth ane sklait out aff⁵ the heid of the Blak turnepyke, and fell ane tal3eour at the foir 3ett. Saw also ane mekill man bringing ane singill roiff spar to the ludgeing, on his schowder ; but knawis nocht quha it wes. Depairtit sua sone as he wes commandit. Ignorat cetera.

(53.) GREGOUR MAKREGOUR, skynner, deponit, he saw the Erle of Gowrie gang bak fra his awin ludgeing, foirnent Neill Robertsonis hous, quhair he than drew furth twa fuordis, and Mr Thomas Cranstoune drew ane fuorde, and pass in togidder at the 3ett. Hard ane cry out at the over⁶ round, ' Treffoun !' Bot knawis nocht quhais voce it wes. Saw Patrik Lamb, sawster, bring ane spar on his schowder to the hous. Ignorat cetera.

(54.) JOHNE BROUNE, notar, deponit, that he saw my lord Duik and my lord of Gowrie cuming furth at the 3ett ; and spering, ' Gif his Maieftie com furth ?' And gaiting word that his Maieftie wes nocht cum furth, they wer altogidder at my lord of Gowryis 3ett ; and ' Treffoun !' being cryit furth at ane skoir wyndo, that luikis to the Water-gait, Schir Thomas Erskyne tuik my lord of Gowrie be the gorget, and sayd, ' O Tratour ! This is thy deid !' Or the lyke terme. And thairefter, they being sinderit, my lord of Gowrie pass wp the gait, and haiffing tua fuordis in his hand, befor Dunneane Robertsonis hous, sayd, ' He wald nocht tary furth of his place, his Maieftie being thair, and Treffoun thairintill !' And thairefter, the deponer depairtit hame to his hous ; and com doune agane with ane oath, or ' faith and troth.'

¹ A footman, or servant, a lacquey. O. Fr. lacquais.

² From, off.

³ Him ?

⁴ Ransacked.

⁵ He took her

⁶ Upper.

halberty, and staid befor the zett of the place, quhill his Maiestie patt furth hes hand at the fayd wyn-do, and fayd, ' I am weill.' Thairefter, the said Johne anfuert, ' Praised be God;' and past hame.
Ignorat cetera.

(55.) JOHNE GAW, merchant, deponit, he com thair at the found of the bell, bot tareyit nocht ane malmond of ane hour. Ignorat.

(56.) GEORGE HUNTER deponit, he wes that day in the place of Kynnard. Ignorat.

(57.) PATRIK FLEMING, merchant, wes nocht that day in the toune. Ignorat.

(58.) WILLIAME HALL youngar, nocht thair. Ignorat.

(59.) MALCOLME HALL, baxter, com nocht. Ignorat.

(60.) JAMES BLAIR, merchant, deponit he com thair, bot tareyit nocht. Ignorat.

(61.) ROBERT EDUARD deponit, he wes thair, bot tareyit nocht. Ignorat.

(62.) ROBERT BLAKWOD deponit, he wes all the tyme fleipand. Ignorat.

(63.) JOHNE ROBERTSONE, merchant, was thair, and depairtit at command of the Bailles. Ignorat.

(64.) JOHNE PULLOUR, merchant, wes nocht thair. Ignorat.

(65.) JAMES LAFREISE deponit, he wes nocht in the toune that day. Ignorat.

(66.) THOMES CRAMBY, flesour, wes all that day in Strowyhill. Ignorat.

(67.) JOHNE COVENRIE com nocht furth of his maisteris hous. Ignorat.

(68.) JAMES IRLAND com at the found of the bell; bot depairtit, fa fune as he wes commandit be the Bailles. Ignorat.

25 Septembris, 1600. Befoir none.

THE peronis following wer examinat wpon the preeiding Artiklis, and fuorne; quha deponit, That thai that cam to the ludging, tareyit nocht thair, bot depairtit in all haift, at command of the Bailles and clerk; and fua knew nathing: And the wther pairt that followis, wes nocht in the toune, as is heirefter devydit.

(69.) ANDRO GOW, talzeour, wes in the toune, bot com nocht.

(70.) HENRIE TALZEOUR wes thair, bot tareyit nocht.

(71.) ALEXANDER MONCREIFF com befor the ending. Ignorat.

(72.) WILLIAME MERSAR wes thair. Ignorat.

(73.) ALEXANDER MYCHELL, nocht thair. Ignorat.

(74.) ALEXANDER CRAIG, cordiner, thair. Ignorat.

(75.) ADAME ANDERSONE, nocht thair. Ignorat.

(76.) JAMES GILL, thair. Ignorat.

(77.) JAMES BLYTH, nocht thair. Ignorat.

(78.) PATRIK OLYPHANT, nocht thair. Ignorat.

(79.) ALLANE ROBERTSONE, nocht thair. Ignorat.

(80.) GEORGE ARCHIBALD, thair. Ignorat.

(81.) THOMAS GAW wes nocht thair. Ignorat.

(82.) JOHNE PITCARNE wes nocht thair, wes feik. Ignorat.

(83.) JOHNE THOMSONE, flescher, wes in Dunkeld, com nocht hame quhill the morne thairefter.
Ignorat.

(84.) THOMAS JOHNESTOUNE, wobster, cam nocht fua far doune. Ignorat.

(85.) ROBERT LETHAME wes nocht thair. Ignorat.

(86.) ROBERT THOMESONE, feik, nocht thair. Ignorat.

(87.) THOMAS RYND com nocht neir the ludging. Ignorat.

(88.) THOMAS ELGYNE wes flepand. Ignorat.

(89.) SAMPSONE MAR, nocht thair; except he past hame for his fuord and com nocht bak. Ignorat.

- (90.) ANDRO THOMESONE, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (91.) PATRIK BONER wes nocht in the toune. Ignorat.
- (92.) ROBERT MURRAY wes in Collace. Ignorat.
- (93.) MATHO GALGEAR wes thair but ony wapnis. Hard na thing. Ignorat.
- (94.) GEORGE ZOUNG wes nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (95.) JOHNE NEVING wes thair, tareit nocht. Ignorat.
- (96.) ALEXANDER ADAMSONE wes in Gleggow. Ignorat.
- (97.) ALEXANDER SMYTH com thair at the found of the bell. Past away at command of the Kingis mouth, and his fervandis. Ignorat cetera.
- (98.) PATRIK DRUMMOND wes nocht in the toune. Ignorat.
- (99.) JAMES BANNEWIS wes nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (100.) GEORGE HORNE deponit, he wes in Faulkland. Ignorat.
- (101.) ROBERT STENESONE wes in the Mcirmis. Ignorat.
- (102.) DUNCANE FORRESTER, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (103.) MATHO CHAIR, nocht thair, nor in the toune.
- (104.) THOMAS WILSONE wes nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (105.) ARCHIBALD ZOUNG, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (106.) JAMES ZOUNG, in the Querrell (quarry). Ignorat.
- (107.) JOHNE ELDER, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (108.) JOHNE DRUMMOND deponit, he was in the toune; com with ane staff, bot nocht sua far doune as the ludgeing. Ignorat.
- (109.) ANDRO RAMSAY, sleping all the tyme. Ignorat.
- (110.) ALEXANDER ADAME, feik, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (111.) HENRIE SCHERPE wes nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (112.) JOHNE GREIFF, in the malte-barne. Ignorat.
- (113.) ALEXANDER CARRINWATH com nocht fa far doune. Ignorat.
- (114.) JOHNE ANDERSONE wes in Wigtoun. Ignorat.
- (115.) THOMAS CRE com nocht sua far doune, being halff deid quhen he hard the King wes slane; Bot heiring his Maieftie wes weill and faiff, he prafit God and past hame. Ignorat cetera.
- (116.) ANDRO KEIR com nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (117.) JAMES PATTOUN, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (118.) ADAM KELTIE, sleping. Ignorat.
- (119.) WILLIAME JOHNSTOUNE, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (120.) JOHNE RODGIE, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (121.) ALEXANDER MONCREIFF wes in Auchtergavin. Ignorat.
- (122.) ADAME WILSONE cam nocht fa far doune. Ignorat.
- (123.) PATRIK FLEMING, notar, wes thair; hard na thing bot all men lamenting the Kingis estait hevelie. Had na wapnis. Ignorat.
- (124.) PATRIK WILSONE wes thair; hard na thing, bot saw the Magistratis putting away the pe-pill. Cetera ignorat.
- (125.) JOHNE LAMB, wobster, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (126.) STEVIN BLAK, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (127.) MATHO ALLANE com nocht sua far doune. Ignorat.
- (128.) JOHNE RYCHIE, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (129.) ANDRO GELLATLIE, hering the bell, past to the lit-hous (dye-house) quhair his wyffe wes, for the keyis, to get ane wapin; and befor he com thair all wes stenfchit. Ignorat.
- (130.) ROBERT NARNE, talzeour, deponit, that he wes in Mukerfie. Ignorat.

(131.) ALEXANDER FARIE, decane of the Walcaris (fullers), deponit, he wes in the wod of Methuene. Ignorat.

(132.) ROBERT BROUN deponit, at the found of the bell, he com to the ludgeing with ane sword; quhair he saw Hew Monereiff cum forth bluiding, with ane drawin fuorde. Ignorat cetera.

(133.) DONALD JOHNSTOUNE deponit, all the pepill wes returning hame befor he com, and he returnit with the rest. Ignorat.

(134.) WILLIAME DOG deponit, he wes in Cragy. Ignorat.

(135.) THOMAS HALL com nocht neir the ludgeing. Ignorat.

(136.) DONALD CORNELL wes in the Eifter Rynd. Ignorat.

(137.) STEPHANE PHILP deponit, he wes nocht thair quhill the Kingis depairtour. Ignorat.

(138.) ROBERT GRANT hard the bell and com nocht. Ignorat.

(139.) JAMES MAXTOUN wes cumand with his halbert; and meiting Oliuer Young baillie, he commandit him bak, or than he fuld brek his heid! Ignorat.

(140.) JOHNE DRUMMOND com at command of the bell; and depairtit suddandlie at command. Ignorat cetera.

(141.) GEORGE DIXSOUN wes thair; depairtit at the first command that wes gevin. Ignorat cetera.

25 Septembris, 1600. Efternone.

(142.) DIONEIS CONQUEROUR elder hard the bell, bot com nocht thair. Ignorat cetera.

(143.) GAVYN DALZELL wes in Dalzell. Ignorat.

(144.) THOMAS LISK, hering the bell, com with ane halbert; and at the first command that wes gevin be the bailleis, he depairtit. Ignorat cetera.

(145.) CHARLIS QUIHTE wes in the toune and cum nocht. Ignorat.

(146.) JOHNE SMYTH, maltman, (wes) in the toune, com nocht. Ignorat.

(147.) WILLIAME DUNCANE, skynner, com with ane fuord. Ignorat.

(148.) JOHNE DYKIS com als far as Archibald M'brekis, with ane fuord; and at command of Andro Ray baillie, depairtit. Com na forder. Ignorat cetera.

(149.) DAVID GRANT com with Thomas Gaw to Duncane Robertsonis round, quhair they tareit all the tyme. Ignorat.

(150.) PATRIK STEILL, hering the bell, quhen he wes fchering (reaping) in the Moirtoun-lauch, com in to the toune, quhen all the tumult wes ceffit. Cuning foirneut Gabriell Merfaris, saw Oliuer Young and Andro Ray bailleis, commanding all hame. They commandit him, and he obeyit. Com nocht to the ludgeing of all (at all, ava). Ignorat cetera.

(151.) ROBERT YOUNG cum to the ludgeing; past away at command of the bailleis. Ignorat cetera.

(152.) ADAM GRAY wes at his litt-fat (dying-vat); hard the bell; com nocht. Ignorat.

(153.) PETER CRAIGDELIE com nocht thair. Ignorat.

(154.) ROBERT FLEMING wes in Gavyne Dalzellis. They lokkit the 5ettis, and he gat not furth. Ignorat.

(155.) JOHNE BOIG yonger wes in the wod of Methuene. Ignorat.

(156.) THOMAS ARCHER com na forder nor the croce. Ignorat.

(157.) ROBERT RUTHIRFURDE wes in the walk-mylne (fulling-mill). Ignorat.

(158.) ALEXANDER MAISSOUN cam na furder nor the Salt mercat. Ignorat.

(159.) WILLIAME RUTHVENE, ane of the maris (town officers), wes in Langforgoun, summondng ane Assyse. Foirknew na thing. Ignorat.

(160.) ALEXANDER MAXTOUN, cuming doune to the ludgeing, be the gait, wes commandit hame, be the bailleis and young Tullybardin. Ignorat.

(161.) JOHNE BURRY cam nocht sua far doune. Ignorat; and but armour.

- (162.) ANDRO GRANT wes in the South-ferry of Portincraig. Ignorat.
 (163.) HENRY BROUNE, notar, cuming thair, wes commandit hame. Ignorat.
 (164.) JOHNE BROUNE, wobfiter, hard the bell; com nocht furth. Ignorat.
 (165.) WILLIAME McBEITH wes in Forgoune at ane brydall. Ignorat.
 (166.) JOHNE EDMUND wes in Dundie; and being interrogit 'Gif he saw Johne Lamb sone to Robert Lamb, merchant, thair?' Deponit he saw him thair tua dayis ofbefoir, bot nocht that day.
 (167.) GEORGE DRUMMOND com thair, quhen the bailleis wes discharging all away. Hard na evill speeches. Ignorat.
 (168.) THOMAS COK wes lyand feik. Ignorat.
 (169.) JOHNE WENTOUNE wes in the North Inche. Enterit nocht in the toune. Ignorat.
 (170.) WALTER BURNEHILL came nocht sua far doune. Ignorat.
 (171.) JAMES DONALDSONE com na forder nor the Salt mercat; with armour. Ignorat.
 (172.) JAMES LAMB wes resflaving collis (coals) in the South Inche. Enterit nocht in the toune. Ignorat. And becaufe he culd not gait entres in at the Port, he causit the horfe leid the collis throw the Inche, throw the Lang-calfay, the New-raw, Leid-syde, and to his hous.
 (173.) JOHNE COLTE, merchant, com nocht. Ignorat.
 (174.) DAVID JAKSONE yonger wes in Aberdalgie. Ignorat.
 (175.) ANDRO LYELL come; tareit nocht. Ignorat.
 (176.) DAVID MONCREIFF, baxter; com thair; past way at command of the bailleis. Ignorat.
 (177.) JOHNE BROUNE, ikynner, wes thair. Ignorat.
 (178.) ANDRO CRYSTIE, wobfiter, wes thair. Ignorat.
 (179.) JOHNE HEWAT, tal;eour, com nocht. Ignorat.
 (180.) JAMES HENDERSONE, baxter, cuming to the end of the Water-gait, he hard the Bailleis commanding the pepill hame; quhilk he obeyit. Com na forder. Ignorat.
 (181.) ROBERT BROUNE, maltman, com to the end of the gait, and na forder. Ignorat.
 (182.) ROBERT LIDDELL, cordiner, com at the found of the bell. The Duik bidding all, ower the round, to gang hame, he spak up agane to his lordschip, and desyrit to fie the King and the Erle of Gowrie. And his lordschip anfuert, 'ze fall fie the King.' And sua, the Kingis Maiestie, beiknyng with his hand, and commanding all to depairt, he obeyit. Cetera ignorat.
 (183.) JAMES SYME, baxter, wes thair; bot depairtit, sua sone as the bailleis commandit him. Ignorat cetera.
 (184.) JOHNE ANDERSONE yonger hard the bell, and com nocht. Ignorat.
 (185.) JOHNE COLTE, maiffoun, wes in Innemytie. Ignorat.
 (186.) JAMES SANDERIS, merchant, wes in the Stormond. Wes nocht in the toune thre dayis thairefter. Ignorat.
 (187.) ROBERT MURRAY yonger wes in the North Inche. Ignorat.
 (188.) JOHNE MERTYNE, baxter, wes cuming to the ludgeing at the found of the bell; meiting with the bailleis at the Rattoun-raw, wes commandit hame, and obeyit. Ignorat.
 (189.) THOMAS DOO, baxter, com nocht sua far doune. Ignorat.
 (190.) THOMAS SYME, tal;eour, com nocht sua far doune, be a gude fpace. Ignorat.

26 Septembris, 1600. Befoir boue.

- (191.) JOHNE MAISSOUN, nocht thair. Ignorat.
 (192.) JOHNE BURNET, nocht in the toune. Ignorat.
 (193.) PATRIK RODGIE wes in the Parkhill. Ignorat.
 (194.) THOMAS McLAWRENE wes feik. Ignorat.
 (195.) JAMES MURRAY wes thair, but ony wapbis. Tareit nocht. Ignorat.

- (196.) ALEXANDER RYCHERDSONE, agit, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (197.) ROBERT KYNNEIR wes thair. Deponit he hard na crying, bot all for ane sycht of thair King. Ignorat cetera.
- (198.) THOMAS DUFF wes thair. Saw nor hard na thing; bot saw ane man, quhome he kend nocht, bringing ane jeist on his schowder, quhen he wes departing. Ignorat cetera.
- (199.) ROBERT BLAIR, lister (dyer), nocht in the toune. Ignorat. Wes than working outwith the Castell-gavill-port, at ane litt-fatt.
- (200.) JAMES KEDDIE, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (201.) ANDRO ALLANE, smyth, com thair; tareit nocht. Ignorat.
- (202.) MARCUS SCOTT com nocht. Ignorat.
- (203.) JOHNE RUTHUENE wes in Dunkeld. Ignorat.
- (204.) JOHNE DASOUN, talzeour. Ignorat.
- (205.) JOHNE GREGOUR, nocht in the toune. Ignorat.
- (206.) ADAME PAULL, nocht in the toune. Ignorat.
- (207.) JOHNE MURRAY, talzeour, wes in Cragy. Ignorat.
- (208.) ROBERT TYRIE, porter, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (209.) WALTER BOIG com, bot tareyit nocht. Ignorat.
- (210.) JAMES CROBIE com nocht fua far down as the ludgeing. Ignorat.
- (211.) JOHNE ROBERTSONE, maltman, wes sleping. Ignorat.
- (212.) ROBERT WATSONE com nocht neir the ludgeing. Ignorat.
- (213.) ROBERT LAMB, wobster, wes feik. Ignorat.
- (214.) WILLIAME WENTOUNE com nocht. Ignorat.
- (215.) WILLIAME BARIOCHT, skynner, com nocht. Ignorat.
- (216.) WILLIAME HUNTER, couper, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (217.) EWIN BURRY wes thair, efter all wes ceiffit. Ignorat.
- (218.) JOHNE BARIOUNE, alias Mc'Duff, or (ere) he com, all wes commandit hame. Ignorat.
- (219.) ANDRO BURRIE com nocht fua far as to the ludgeing. Ignorat.
- (220.) ANDRO ROGIE wes in Lorne. Ignorat.
- (221.) LAWRENCE CHALMER com nocht to the ludgeing. Ignorat.
- (222.) PATRIK NEVING com, and at the first discharge depairtit. Ignorat.
- (223.) ARTHOUR LUFFRENT com nocht. Ignorat.
- (224.) WILLIAME ROBERTSONE com na forder nor the croce. Ignorat.
- (225.) JAMES GELLATLIE com nocht fra his buyth. Ignorat.
- (226.) WILLIAME MAXWELL wes in Skone. Ignorat.
- (227.) WILLIAME MALICE wes thair; depairtit incontinent. Ignorat.
- (228.) WILLIAME COK wes in Methuene. Ignorat.
- (229.) DUNCANE BROUNE wes nocht within the port. Ignorat.
- (230.) JOHNE BLAK wes in the Claypottis. Ignorat.
- (231.) PATRIK WYLIE wes lyand feik. Ignorat.
- (232.) GEORGE M'GREGOUR elder, nocht in the toune. Ignorat.
- (233.) JAMES BISSETT wes in his hous, quhair his wyff wes lyand feik: and gif he had cum furth, his wyff wald haue gane lycht.¹ Ignorat.
- (234.) JOHNE SCHERAR, lyand feik. Ignorat.
- (235.) THOMAS NYCOLL, notar, wes in the toune; hard the bell, bot com nocht neir the ludgeing. Ignorat.
- (236.) ALEXANDER GRANT, merchant, wes in Glesgow. Ignorat.

¹ Delirious; the delirium or 'light-headedness' attending fever, &c.

- (237.) WILLIAME WILLIAMESONE, baxter, com lang efter the ringing of the bell ; and at his cuming, they wer all departing. Ignorat.
- (238.) ALEXANDER ROBERTSONE hard the bell, bot com nocht. Ignorat.
- (239.) ARCHIBALD BROUNE, at the found of the secund ringing of the bell, cuming to the place quhair the tumult wes, saw the bailleis commanding all hame ; he departit. Ignorat cetera.
- (240.) JOHNE HENDERSONE, baxter, wes in Rait. Ignorat.
- (241.) JOHN LAYNG, maltman, being gating collis¹ in the South Inche, at the found of the bell : Tareit na langer at the hous, nor (than) he hard his Maieftie say, ‘ Gang hame all ! I am weil ! ’ Cetera ignorat.
- (242.) JOHNE LENDELL, baxter, hard the bell ; he and Williame Scherpe, sittand in Gabriell Merfaris laich feller, quhair of they steikit² the dur, and they culd nocht gait furth. Cetera ignorat.
- (243.) WALTER ƆOUNG, baxter, hering the bell, com to the croce ; and hering the tumult wes at the Erle of Gowryis lodgeing, he com thair ; and meiting all the pepill returning hame, being comandit by the bailleis, he also returnit. Ignorat cetera.
- (244.) JOHNE KYNLOCH, tailzeour, wes thair at the found of the bell, hot tareit nocht ; haid na wapnis. Ignorat.
- (245.) WILLIAME CLERK wes meiting³ collis all the tyme, in the South Inche. Ignorat.
- (246.) THOMAS DRUMMOND, skynner, wes in the Moirtoune. Ignorat.
- (247.) PATRIK PRIOUR, baxter, hering the bell, com to the ludgeing ; fua sone as the bailleis comandit the pepill hame, he departit. Ignorat.
- (248.) JAMES FARGUSONE, baxter, com nocht to the ludgeing, quhill all wes departing hame. Ignorat cetera.
- (249.) THOMAS NYCOLSOUN, baxter, wes lang in cuming ; mett all the pepill returning hame, and he past na forder. Ignorat.
- (250.) JOHNE JAK, belman, wes nocht neir the ludgeing he ane gude sface. Ignorat.
- (251.) ANDRO GIB wes fleping. Ignorat.
- (252.) THOMAS SMYTH com nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (253.) ROBERT CUDBERT, nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (254.) ANDRO WILSONE, baxter, hering the bell, hard that thair was ane tumult of pley⁴ at the Erle of Gowryis ludgeing. Cuming thair, wes incontinent comandit hame be the bailleis, quha obeyit. Ignorat cetera.
- (255.) ANDRO MALCOLME elder, baxter, wes in the South Inche all the tyme ; ane man of thre-fcoir ten yeris of age. Ignorat.
- (256.) JOANE BEIRNE, skynner, of the ellyke age, wes nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (257.) ANDRO DONALDSONE, merchant, hering the bell, wes cuming to the ludgeing ; but mett all pepill returning bak. Past na forder. Ignorat.

26 Septembris, 1600. Efter none.

- (258.) JAMES STOBIE, skynner, com nocht out of his house. Ignorat.
- (259.) WILLIAME ROS, at the Charter-hous-Ɔett, wes sehering out of the toune, and culd nocht gait entres at the port. Ignorat.
- (260.) JAMES TYRIE, com thair, immediatlie befor the ceiffing of the tumult, and na foner. Ignorat.
- (261.) JOHNE KEMPIE, talzeour, com nocht thair. Ignorat.
- (262.) GEORGE LAMB, baxter, deponit he wes in Dundie, all the nycht of befor ; hot come to the toune befor xij houris at none : Com nocht out of his hous to the ludgeing, at na tyme of the tumult. Being interrogat, ‘ Giff he saw John Lamb, sone to Robert Lamb in Perth, in the toune of Dundie

¹ Getting coals.

² Shut, locked.

³ Measuring.

⁴ A tumultous broil or quarrel.

the day of thair departour?' Deponit, the said Johne Lamb led George Wodis horfe to the Port of Dundie, be four houis in the mornynng; and he left the said Johne thair behind him. Ignorat cetera.

(263.) WILLIAME HAY, litfter, wes in the toune, bot com nocht to the ludgeing. Ignorat.

(264.) DAVID JAKSONE elder wes schering befyd Balhouffie, and befor he com in to the toune, the Kyngis Maieftie wes ryding away. Ignorat.

(265.) WILLIAME HAMMILTOUNE, merchant, com nocht qubill the bailleis wes commanding all the pepill hame; and he obeyit amangis the rest. Ignorat cetera.

(266.) DAVID DRUMMOND, meffinger, deponit, he com thair at the found of the bell; tareyit na langer nor he hard the pepill commandit away. Ignorat cetera.

(267.) ALEXANDER CHALMER, maltman, wes in the Banchellis. Ignorat.

(268.) THOMAS BONAR, merchant, wes thair; bot knawis na thing.

(269.) THOMAS CATHRO wes in the baick-hous, and mycht nocht win furth, except he had tint his haill baiking. Ignorat.

(270.) ALEXANDER FORBES, saidler, at the found of the bell, com thair with his wapnis. Hard na thing, bot ane command gevin to the bailleis to caus the pepill gang hame; and he incontinent, at the hering thairof, obeyit, and pait hame. Ignorat cetera.

(271.) WILLIAME GLES, saidler, wes thair with his wapnis; saw nor hard nathing, bot all crying for the Kingis welfair.

(272.) CRYSTIE WILSONE, baxter, com nocht furth of his hous. Ignorat.

(273.) ARCHIBALD GULE, talzeour, com nocht furth of his buyth. Ignorat.

(274.) GEORGE SYMPSONE, of thre fcoir yeris, cuming, saw the bailleis putting away the pepill. He com nocht neir. Ignorat.

(275.) ANDRO MALING, skynner, com nocht neir the ludgeing. Ignorat.

(276.) OLIUER CAR wes in the tonne, bot com nocht thair. Ignorat.

(277.) GEORGE MALCOM, baxter, iij^{xx} (three score) yeris, com nocht furth. Ignorat.

(278.) JOHNE NEVING wes in the Ferry Portineraig. Ignorat.

(279.) ALEXANDER GLES, of iij^{xx} ten yeris. Ignorat.

(280.) ANDRO LATHANGIE. Ignorat.

(281.) PETIR BALMANNO, wes that haill day in Dunkeld. Ignorat.

(282.) JOHNE OLYPHANT, lyand bedfast. Ignorat.

(283.) WILLIAME M^cANDRO wes in Bachiltoune. Ignorat.

(284.) GEORGE JAK, baxter, (wes) in Abirbrothok. Ignorat.

(285.) ROBERT COK deponit, he wes drinking in Gabriell Merfaris hous, with James Liddell and James Setoune, tua of the Kingis servendis. Eftir 'Treffoun' wes cryit, he depairtit hame. Ignorat.

27 Septembris, 1600. Befoir none and eftir none.

(286.) ANDRO RYND, baxter, wes all that day grinding in the mylne of Ruthuen. Ignorat.

ALL thir perfones on this fyde, wer in the toune, and com nocht neir the Ludgeing. Ignorat.

- | | | |
|-----------------------------------|-------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| (287.) Robert Lamb, | (295.) David Gles, | (303.) Williame Houp, talzeour, |
| (288.) Williame Scherpe, | (296.) David Allane, fnyth, | (304.) James Ros, |
| (289.) David Wrycht, | (297.) Johne Pait, | (305.) Patrik Foulis, |
| (290.) Williame Malcolme, baxter, | (298.) Mr Thomas Mug, | (306.) Andro Merfar, |
| (291.) Rychard Blak, | (299.) Walter Sympfon, | (307.) Johne Adamefoun, |
| (292.) Williame Lawder, | (300.) Patrik Jakfon, myller, | (308.) Thomas Rollok, |
| (293.) Johne Boig elder, | (301.) Robert Keir, | (309.) Alexander Broune, |
| (294.) George Wilfone, | (302.) Johne Mar, ftaibler, | (310.) Patrik Pittillo, |

- | | | |
|-----------------------------------|----------------------------------|--|
| (311.) George Wod, | (321.) Williame Souter, | (331.) Williame Roddome, |
| (312.) George Adamfone, | (322.) Wm. Smythe, cordiner, | (332.) Patrik Malcome, |
| (313.) James Roberfone, fkyner, | (323.) Thomas Stobie, | (333.) Wm. Robertfone elder, |
| (314.) Johne Monypenny, cuper, | (324.) Andro Scherpe, wobfter, | (334.) Andro Luffrent, |
| (315.) Archibald Smyth, | (325.) Thomas Souter, | (335.) Dougell McLawrene, |
| (316.) Edmund Finlafone, | (326.) Thomas M ^c Ky, | (336.) Patrik Mug, |
| (317.) Williame Ruffell, wobfter, | (327.) Andro Lowdoune, | (337.) Williame Aleifter, |
| (318.) David Donaldfone, | (328.) Luik Reid, | (338.) Henry Hall, baxter, |
| (319.) Johne Marfchell, fkyner, | (329.) Walter Cudbert, | (339.) Johne Henryfoun, merch ^t , |
| (320.) David-Cryftie, wobfter, | (330.) Patrik Quhyte, | (340.) Williame Myller. |

THIR perfones following wer nocht in the toune of Perth, vpon the fyft day of Auguft, 1600, viz.

- | | | |
|--|---|-----------------------------|
| (341.) Alexander Wychtoun, | (346.) James Berne, | (351.) Williame Walcare, |
| (342.) James Nycoll, ftabler, | (347.) Alexander Drummond, | (352.) James Haggart elder, |
| (343.) Andro Mathow, | (348.) Finla M ^c inneis, | (353.) Alexander Merfer, |
| (344.) Angus Cardny, | (349.) Robert Muglie, | (354.) George Quhattene, |
| (345.) Johne Conqueriour, mer-chand, | (350.) Johne Robertfone, mer-chand, | (355.) Andro Fifcher. |

WE, vnder fubfcryveand, TESTIFEIS, That it is of veritie, we hard euerie thing writtin ofbefoir in this buik, according to the fingular Depofitiones of everie perfone contenit thairinto ; quhilkis wer particularlie fuorne and examinat, in our prefenfes, in the firateft maner as we culd devyfe, wpone everie artikill contenit in this buik. Subferyuit with our handis, At PERTH, the ellevint day of October, the yeir of God J^m. and fex hundred yeiris.

OLIVIER GOUNG, Bail⁵e,

A. RAY, Balius,

M. P. GALLOUAY.

THOMAS JHONESTOUNE, bail⁵e,

JAMES DRUMMOND,

ROBERT ANDERSON,

ANDRO ARNET, w^t my hand,

ROBERT MATHOW, w^t my hand,

} Witnes to þe 24, 25 and 26 dayes } Examination.

WALTER GRAY, w^t my hande,

M. WILLIAM COWPER,

HENRICUS ELDER, Notarius,

Scriba communitatis burgi de Perth, manu fua.

NO. IV.

THE EARLE OF GOWRIES CONSPIRACIE againft the Kingis Maieftie of Scotland, At Saint John-ftoun, vpon Tuefday the fift of Auguft, 1600.

LONDON. Printed by Valentine Simmes, dwelling on Adling-hill, at the Signe of the White Swanne, 1600.¹

[The prefent Reprint of what has been termed ‘ The King’s Narrative,’ and ‘ The Account published by authority,’ has been made from the Earliest English Edition, of 32 pages small quarto, Black Letter. There were likely at least two Editions printed at Edinburgh, by Robert Waldegrave and by Robert Charteris, immediately after the Trials for the Conspiracy took place; in order to quiet, as well as to satisfy the public mind, which had been much inflamed by Mr Robert Bruce and the other refractory Ministers of Edinburgh; who greedily availed themselves of this opportunity of expressing their incredulity, by way of avenging themselves against the King, for his obstinate adherence to Episcopacy, &c. In Herbert's Edition of Ames's Typographical Antiquities, p. 1521, notice is taken of an Octavo (mistake for small Quarto) Edition, at Edinburgh, printed by Robert Charteris 1600, 'cum privilegio Regio;' three sheets and a half. As Ames quotes Harl. Miscel. III. 76, where this Tract is inserted, it is likely that he never saw the original, which is so extremely scarce, that a copy cannot now be traced. Lord Hailes reprinted this Tract, as the first number of an intended series of Papers relative to the Gowrie Conspiracy; but either he did not live to finish this work, or, more probably, he abandoned the undertaking, owing to the want of proper materials. His lordship says, 'This Account was published by authority, at Edinburgh, about the beginning of September 1600; for Nicolson, Queen Elizabeth's agent in Scotland, sent it to Sir Robert Cecil, on the 3d of September 1600. Paper Office.' He also remarks, that 'it appears by a Letter from Sir John Carey, Governor of Berwick, to Cecil, 4th of September 1600, that some TREATISE had been published in Scotland, IN VINDICATION OF GOWRIE. Paper Office.' This last-mentioned Treatise must have been privately circulated in MS., or, if printed, the impression had been seized at press. Not a vestige of the Tract remains. Even the Title, or an abstract of the facts and arguments, is unnoticed by any of the numerous contemporaneous writers who profess to espouse the cause of the Earl of Gowrie. The Rev. James Scott, in his History, 8vo, Edinburgh, 1818, p. 5, quotes a MS., in the Library of the Society of Antiquaries, Perth, which he terms 'Stewart's Collections,' in which it is stated, that 'after the Earl of Gowrie's death, a small Treatise was published in his Vindication, but was suppressed. Some copies of it were, however, preserved; and Sir Robert Douglas has said, that his brother Sir William had seen one of these Vindications, and that also several old gentlemen in Perthshire had owned that they had seen it.' On this subject, it shall only farther be noticed, that among the Correspondence of the indefatigable George Paton, one of the profoundest and most meritorious of our Scottish Collectors, (a pretty large portion of which has fortunately been recovered and preserved by the Faculty of Advocates, Edinburgh,) a Letter occurs, addressed by Mr Paton to the eminent Antiquary, Richard Gough, Esquire, 27th May 1782, from which the following passage is extracted. 'Did you ever see the counterpart or answer to K. James's Account of E. Gowrie's Conspiracy, or that published by authority? The answer I am assured was printed, but suppress; altho' a copy or so may be preserved; which, if discovered, might throw some light on that dark passage of our Scots History. E. Cromarty's credulity and weakness of judgment is conspicuous in his account of that Tragedy, by his narrating the influence of spells, and notice of a few pretended magic characters, written on parchment or paper, found in the unhappy Lord's pocket; which were nothing else than a few chymical characters, known to every practitioner now-a-days in that art; which science both the brothers acquired in their travels thro' Italy. It is almost unnecessary to add, that even Mr Gough could not afford any information on the subject.]

¹ Preserved in the Library of the Faculty of Advocates. Simmes printed another Edition in 1603, after King James ascended the English throne, small quarto, pp. 32, in Roman letters, a copy of which the Editor saw, pene David Laing, Esquire.

A DISCOURSE of the vnnaturall and vile Conspiracie, attempted against his Maiesties person, at Saint Johnstoun, vpon the fift day of August, being Tuesday, 1600.

His Maiestie hauing his residence at Falkland, and being daily at the buck-hunting (as his use is in that season) vpon the fifth day of August, being Tuesday, hee raide out to the parke, betweene sixe and seuen of the clocke in the morning, the weather beeing wonderfull pleasant and seasonable. But, before his Maiestie could leape on horse back, his Highnesse being now come downe by the equerie; all the huntmen, with the hownds, attending his Maiestie on the green, and the Court making to their horses, as his Highnesse selfe was, Master Alexander Ruthwen, second brother to the late Earle of Gowrie, being then lighted in the town of Falkland, hasted him fast downe to overtake his Maiestie before his on-leaping, as hee did. Where meeting his Highnesse, after a very lowe curtesie, bowing his head vnder his Maiesties knee, (although hee was neuer wont to make so lowe courtesie) drawing his Maiestie aparte, hee beignes to discourse vnto him (but with a very deiected countenance, his eyes ever fixed vpon the earth) howe that it chanced him, in the euening before, to be walking abroad about the fields, taking the ayre solitarie alone, without the towne of Saint Johnstoun, where his present dwelling with the Lorde his brother was, and there, by accident, affirmed to have recounted a base like fellow, vnknowne to him, with a cloke cast about his mouth; whom, as hee inquired his name, and what his errand was, to be passing in so solitarie a part, being from all waies; the fellow became on a sodaine so amazed, and his tongue so faultered in his mouth, that, vppen his suspitious behaviour, hee begonne more narrowly to look vnto him and examine him; and perceiving that there appeared something to be hid vnder his cloke, hee did cast by the lappes of it, and so finds a great wide pot to be vnder his arme, all full of coyned gold in great peeces; assuring his Maiestie, that it was in very great quantity. Vpon the sight whereof (as he affirmed) hee tooke backe the fellow, with his burthen, to the towne, where hee, priuatly, without the knowledge of any man, tooke the fellow, and bound him in a priuy derved house; and after locked many doores vpon him, and left him there and his pot with him, and had hasted himselfe out of Saint Johnstoun that day, by foure howers in the morning, to make his Maiestie advertised thereof, according to his bound dutie; earnestly requesting his Maiestie, with all diligence and secrecie, that his Maiestie might take order therewith, before any know therof; swearing and protesting that he had yet concealed it from all men, yea from the Earle his own brother. His Maiesties first answere was (after thanking him for his good will) that it could not become his Maiestie to meddle any waies in that matter, since no mans treasure that is a free and lawful subject can, by the law, appertaine unto the King, except it be found hid under the earth, as this was not. Wherevnto he answered, that the fellow confessed unto him, that he was going to have hid it under the ground; but could not take leasure, at that time, to enquire any further of him. Wherevnto his Maiestie replied, that there was great difference betwixt a deede and the intention of a deede; his intention to haue hid it, not being alike as if it had bene found already hidde. Maister Alexanders answer was, that hee thought his Maiestie ouer scrupulous in such a matter, tending so greatly to his Maiesties profite; and that, if his Maiestie deferred to meddle with it, that it might be, that the Lord his brother, and other great men, might meddle with it, and make his Maiestie the more adoe. Whereupon the King, beginning to suspect that it had bene some forraine gold, brought home by some Jesuites for practising Papistes, (therewith to stirre up some new sedition, as they haue oftentimes done before,) inquired of the said Maister Alexander, what kinde of coyne it was, and what a fellow he was that carried it? His answer was, that so farre as hee could take leasure to see of them, that they seemed to be forraine strokes of coyne; and although the fellowe, both by his language and fashions, seemed to be a Scots fellow, yet he could neuer remember that he had seene him before. These speaches increased his Maiesties suspicion, that it was forraine coyne brought in by some practising Papistes, and to be distributed into the countrie, as is before sayd; and that the fellow that carried it, was some Scots Priest, or Seminarie so disguised, for the more sure transporting thereof.

Whereupon his Majestie resolved that he would send backe with the said Maister Alexander a seruant of his owne, with a warrant to the Prouost and Bailiffes of Saint Johnston to receive both the fellow and the money at Maister Alexanders hand; and, after they had examined the fellow, to retaine him and the treasure till his Maiesties further pleasure was knowne.

Whereat the sayd Maister Alexander stirred maruelously; affirming and protesting, that if eyther the Lorde his brother, or the Bailiffes of the towne were put on the counsaile thair of, his Majestie would gette a verie badde count made to him of that treasure; swearing, that the great loue and affection hee bare unto his Maiestie, had made him to preferre his Maiestie, in this case, both vnto him selfe and his brother. For the which seruice, hee humbly craued that recompence, that his Maiestie would take the paines once to ride thither, that he might be the first seer thereof himselfe; which being done, hee would remit to his Majesties owne honourable discretion, how farre it would please his Majestie to consider upon him for that seruice.

His Highnesse being stricken in great admiration, both of the vncouthnesse of the tale, and of the strange and stupide behauiour of the reporter; and the Court being already horsed, wondring at his Maiesties so long stay with that Gentleman, the morning being so faire, the game already found, and the huntsmen so long staying in the fields on his Maiestie; he was forced to breake off, only with these wordes, that hee could not now stay any longer from his sport, but that hee would consider of the matter, and, at the end of his chase, give him a resolute answer, what order hee would take therein. Wherevpon his Maiestie parted in haste from him, towards the place where the game was.

Maister Alexander parting from his Maiestie very discontent, that indelayedly he raide not to Saint Johnston, as hee desired him; protesting that his Maiestie would not find euery day such a choise of hunting as he had offered to him; and that he feared that his Maiesties long delay and slownesse of resolution would breede leasure to the fellow, who was lying bound, to cry, or make such dinne, as would disappoynt the secrecie of that whole purpose, and make both the fellow and the treasure to be meddled with, before any word could come from his Maiestie; as also, that his brother would misse him, in respect of his absence that morning, which, if his Maiestie had pleased to haste, he might haue prevented, arriving there in the time of his brothers and the whole townes being at the sermon; whereby his Majestie might have taken such secret order with that matter as he pleased, before their out-coming from the church. But his Majestie, without any further answering him, leaping on horse backe, and riding to the dogs, where they were beginning to hunt, the said Maister Alexander stayed still in that place, where hee left his Maieftie; and hauing two men with him, appointed by the Earle his brother, to carry backe vnto him the certayne newes, in all hafte, of his Majefties comming (as heer-after more particularly fhall in this fame difcourfe be declared.)

He directed the one of them, called Andrew Henderfon, Chamberlaine to the faide Earle, to ride in all hafte to the Earle, commanding him, as he loued his brothers honour, that he fhould not spare for fpilling of his horfe, and that hee fhould advertife the Earle, that he hoped to moone his Maieftie to come thither; and that he fhould not yet looke for hym, the fpace of three houres thereafter, becaufe of his Maiefties hunting; adding thefe wordes, ‘Pray my Lorde my brother to prepare the dinner for us.’ But his Maieftie was no fooner ridden vppe to a little hill above the little woodde, where the dogges were layde on in hunting, but that, notwithstanding the pleafant beginning of the chafe, he could not flay from mufing and wondering vpon the news. Wherevpon, without making any body acquainted with this purpofe, finding John Nefmith, Chirurgian, by chance riding befide him, his Maieftie directed him backe to bring Mafter Alexander with him; who being brought unto his Maieftie, and hauing newly directed, as faid is, one of his men that was with him backe to my Lord his brother, his Majeftie vnknowing or fufpecting that any man living had come with him; then tolde him that he had bene aduifing with himfelfe, and in refpect of his laft wordes, fo earnest with him, he refolved to ride thither for that errand in his owne perfon, how fooner the chafe was ended, which was already begunne. Like as his Majeftie, vpon the very ending of thefe wordes, did ride away in the chafe, the faid Maifter Alexander following him at his backe; no other creature being with his Highnes bot he and John Hamilton of Grange, one of his Maiefties mafter-ftablers, the reft of the Court being all before in the chafe, his Maieftie onely being caft back, vppon the flaying to fpeake with Maifter Alexander, as is before faid.

The chafe lafted from about feauen of the clocke in the morning, vntill eleven and more, being one of the greateft and foreft chafes that euer his Maiefty was at: all which time, the fayde Maifter Alexander was (for the moft part) euer at his Maiefties backe, as is fayd. But there neuer was any ftop in the chafe, or fo finall a delay, that the fayde Maifter Alexander omitted to round his Majeftie, ernestly requesting him to haften the end of the hunting, that he might ride the fooner to Saint Johnftoun. So as, at the death of the bucke, his Maiefty, not flaying upon the curry of the diere (as his ufe is) fearcely took time to alight, awayting vpon the comming of a frefh horfe to ride on, the greatnes of the chafe hauing wearied his horfe.

But the faid Maifter Alexander would not fuffer the King to flay in the parke where the bucke was killed, while his frefh horfe, which was already fent for, was brought out of the equerie to him, (although it was not two flight-shot off betwixt the parte where the bucke was killed and his Maiefties equery); but with very importunity forced his Majeftie to leap on agayne upon that fame horfe, that he had hunted all the day vpon, his frefh horfe being made to gallop a mile of the way to ouertake him; his Maieftie not flaying fo much as vpon his fword, nor while the Duke and the Earle of Mar, with diuerfe other Gentlemen in his company, had changed their horfe; onely faying vnto them, that hee was to ride to Saint Johnftoun to fpeake with the Earle of Gowry, and that he would be prefently backe againe before euen.

Wherevpon fome of the Court galloped backe to Falkeland as faft as they coulde, to chaunge their horfe, but could not ouertake his Maieftie, vntill hee came within foure miles of Saint Johnftoun. Others rid forward with their horfes, wearied as they were, whereof fome were compelled to alight by the way: and, had they not both refrefhed their horfes, fed them, and given them fome graffe by the way, they had not caried them to S. Johnftoun: the caufe of his Maiefties feruants felowing fo faft, vndefired by him, being only grounded vpon a fufpition they had conceiued, that his Maiefties intention of riding, was for the apprehenfion of the Mafter of Oliphant, one who had late laid downe a vile and proud oppression in Angus. For repairing of the which, they thought that his Maieſtie had ſome purpoſe for his apprehenſion.

But the ſayde Maſter Alexander, ſeeing the Duke and the Earle of Mar, with diuerſe of the Court, getting freſh horſe for following of his Maieſtie, earneſtly deſired him that hee wold publiſh to his whole traine, that ſince he was to returne the ſame evening, as is afore ſaid, they needed not to follow him; eſpecially, that he thought it meeſteſt his Maieſty ſhould ſtay the Duke and the Earle of Mar to follow him, and that he ſhould only take three or foure of his own ſeruants with him; affirming, that if any Nobleman followed him, hee could not aunſwere for it, but that they would marre that whole purpoſe. Whereuppon his Maieſtie, halfe angry, replied, that hee would not miſtruſt the Duke nor the Earle of Mar in a greater purpoſe than that, and that hee could not vnderſtand what hinderance any man could make in that errand.

But theſe laſt ſpeeches of Maſter Alexanders made the King beginne to ſuſpect what it ſhould meane; whereuppon many and ſundry thoughts beganne to enter into the Kings mind; yet his Maieſtie could neuer ſuſpect any harme to be intended againſt his Highneſſe by that yong Gentleman, with whom his Maieſtie had bene ſo well acquainted, as he had not long before bin in ſuite to be one of the Gentlemen of his chamber: ſo as, the fartheſt that the Kings ſuſpition could reach to, was, that it might be that the Earle his brother had handled him ſo hardly, that the yong Gentleman, being of a hie ſpirit, had taken ſuch diſpleaſure, as hee was become ſomewhat beſide himſelfe, which his Maieſtie coniectured, as well by his raiſed and vncouth ſtaring, and continual penſiuences all the time of the hunting, as likewiſe by ſuch ſtrange ſorte of vnlikely diſcourſes as are already mentioned.

Whereuppon the King tooke ocaſion to make the Duke of Lennox acquainted with the whole purpoſe, enquiring of him very earneſtly what he knew of that yong Gentlemans nature, being his brother in law, and if he had perceiued him to be ſubiect to any high apprehenſion? His Maieſtie declaring his ſuſpition plainly to the ſaid Lord Duke, that he thought him not well ſetled in his wits; alwayes deſiring my Lorde Duke not to faile to accompany him into that houſe, where the alleadged fellow and treaſure was.

The Lord Duke wondered much at that purpoſe, and thought it very vnlikely; yet hee affirmed, that he could neuer perceiue any ſuch appearance in that Gentlemans inclination. But Maſter Alexander perceiuing his Maieſties priue conference with the Duke, and ſuſpecting the purpoſe as it appeared, came to the King, requeſting his Maieſty very earneſtly he ſhould make none liuing acquainted with that purpoſe, nor ſuffer none to goe with his Maieſty where hee ſhould convoy him, but himſelfe only, vntill his Maieſty had once ſeene the fellow and the treaſure; whereunto his Maieſty, half laughing, gaue anſwere, that he was no good teller of money, and behooued therefore to have ſome to helpe him in that errand. His reply was, that he would ſuffer none to ſee it but his Maieſties ſelf at the firſt, but afterwarde he might call in whom hee pleaſed.

Theſe ſpeeches did ſo increaſe his ſuſpition, that then hee beganne directly to ſuſpect ſome treaſonable deuife. Yet many ſuſpitions and thoughts ouerwhelming one, euery one another in his mind, his Maieſtie could reſolue upon no certain thing, but rode further on his iourney, betwixt truſt and diſtruſt, being aſhamed to ſeem to ſuſpect, in reſpect of the cleaſneſſe of his Maieſties own conſcience, except he had found ſome greater ground. Maſter Alexander ſtill preſing the King to ride faſter, though his owne horſe was ſcarcely able to keepe company with the King for wearines, hauing ridden with him all the chafe before. The King being come two mile from Falkland, Maſter Alexander ſtayed a little behinde the King in the way, and poſted away the other ſeruant Andrew Ruthuen to the Earle his brother, aduertizing him how farre the King was on his way to come thither. Then how ſoone ſoouer the King came within a mile of (Saint) Johnſtoun, he ſayde to his Maieſty that he would poſt in before, to aduertife the Erle his brother of his Maieſties comming: who, at his incomming to him, was ſitting at the miſt of his dinner, neuer ſeeming to take knowledge of the Kings comming til his brother told it him, notwithstanding that two of his seruants had aduertised him thereof before. And, immediately vpon his brothers report, rising in haste from the boord, and warning all the seruants and friendes to accompany him to meete his Maiestie; who met him with three or foure score men, at the end of the Inbe, his Maiesties whole traine, not exceeding the number of fifteene persons, and all wythout any kinde of armour, except fwordes, no not so much as daggers or whingears; his Maiestie stayed an houre after his comming to the sayd Erles lodging to Saint Johnstoun before his dinner came in. The longfomenes of preparing the same, and badnes of the cheere, being excused vpon the fouldaine comming of his Maiestie, vnllooked for there.

During which time, his Maiesty enquired of Maister Alexander, when it was time for him to goe to that priuate house, about that matter whereof he had informed him; who answered, that all was sure enough, but that there was no haste yet for an houre, til the King had dined at leisure; praying his Maiesty to leaue him, and not to be seene to round with him before his brother, who, hauing missed him that morning, might thereupon suspect what the matter should meane. Therefore his Maiesty addressed him to the Earle, and discoursed with him vpon sundry matters; but could get no direct answer of him, but halfe wordes, and imperfect sentences.

His Maiesty being set downe to his dinner, the said Earle stood very pensieue, and with a dejected countenance, at th' end of his Maiesties table, oft rounding ouer his shoulder, one while to one of his seruants, and another while to an other; and oft times went out and in to the chamber. Which forme of behaviour he likewise kept before the Kings sitting downe to dinner; but without any welcoming of his Maiestie, or any other hearty forme of entertainment. The Noblemen and Gentlemen of the Court that were with his Maiestie standing about the table, and not desired to dine (as the use is when his Maiesty is once set downe, and his first seruice brought up) vntill his Maiesty had almost dined. At which time, the Earle conueyed them forth to their dinner, but fate not downe with them himselfe (as the common maner is), but came back, and stood silent at the end of the Kings table, as he did before; which his Maiesty perceiuing, beganne to entertayne the Earle in a homely manner, wondring hee had not remayned to dyne with his ghests, and entertayne them there.

His Maiestie being ready to rise from the table, and al his seruants in the hall at their dinner, Maister Alexander standing behinde his Maiesties backe, pulled quietly vpon him, rounding in his Maiesties eare, that it was time to goe, but that he would faine haue bene quit of the Earle his brother, wishing the King to fend him out into the hall to entertayne his ghests. Whereupon the King called for drinke, and, in a merie and homely maner, sayd to the Earle, that although the Earle had seene the fashion of entertainment in other countries, yet he would teach him the Scottish fashion, seeing hee was a Scottish man; and therefore, since he had forgotten to drinke to his Maiesty, or sit with his ghests and entertayne them, his Maiesty would drinke to him his owne welcome, desiring him to take it forth and drinke to the rest of the company, and in his Maiesties name, to make them welcome. Whereupon, as he went forth, his Maiesty rose from the table, and desired Maister Alexander to bring Sir Thomas Erkin with him; who desiring the King to goe forward with him, and promising that hee should make any one or two follow him that hee pleased to call for, desiring his Maiesty to command publikely that none should followe him. Thus the King, accompanied onely with the sayd Maister Alexander, comes forth of the chamber, passeth through the ende of the hall, where the Noblemen and his Maiesties seruantes were sitting at theyr dinner, vp a turnepecke, and through three or foure chambers, the sayde Maister Alexander euer locking behind him euery doore as he passed; and then, with a more smiling countenance than he had all the day before, euer saying he had hym sure and safe enough kept; vntill at the last, his Maiesty passing through three or foure sundry houses, and all the doores locked behind hym, his Maiesty entred into a little study, where hee sawe standing, wyth a very abased countenance, not a bondman, but a freeman, with a dagger at his girdle. But his Maiesty had no sooner entred into that little study, and Maister Alexander with him, but Maister Alexander locked to the study doore behinde him ; and at that instant, changing his countenance, putting his hatte on his head, and drawing the dagger from that other mans girdle, held the poynnt of it to the Kings breast, avowing now that the King behoooued to be in his will, and vsed as he list ; swearing many bloody oths, that if the King cryed one word, or opened a window to looke out, that dagger should presently go to his heart ; affyrming, that he was sure that now the Kings conscience was burthened, for murdering his father. His Maiefty, wondring at so sodaine an alteration, and standing naked, wythout any kinde of armour but his hunting horne, which he had not gotten leysure to lay from him, betwixt these two traytors which had conspyred his life, the sayd Maister Alexander standing (as is sayd) wyth a dagger in his hand, and his sworde at his side ; but the other trembling and quaking rather like one condemned, than an executioner of such an enterprife.

His Maieftie begunne then to dilate to the saide Maister Alexander, how horrible a thing it was for him to meddle with his Maiefties innocent blond ; assuring him, it would not be left vnreuedged, since God had giuen him children and good subiects ; and if they neither, yet God would raise vpper stocks and stoncs to punish so vile a deede.

Protesting before God, that he had no burthen in his conscience for the execution of his father ; both in respect that, at the time of his fathers execution, his Maiefty was but a minor of age, and gnyded at that time by a faction which ouerruled both his Maieftie, and the rest of the cuntry ; as also, that whatsoeuer was done to his father, it was done by the ordinarie course of law and justice.

Appealing the saide Maister Alexander vpon his conscience, how well he at all times since had deferred at the hands of al his race, not only hauing restored them to al their lands and dignities, but also in nourishing and bringing vp of two or three of his sisters as it were in his owne bosome, by a continual attendance vpon his Maiefties deereft bedfellow in her priuy-chamber.

Laying also before him the terrors of his conscience, especially that he made profession, according to his education, of the same religion which his Maieftie had ever professed : and namely, his Maiefty remembered him of that holy man, Master Robert Rollocke, whose scholler he was, assuring him, that one day the said Maister Roberts foul would accuse him, that he had neuer learned of him to practise such vnnatural cruelty : his Maiefty promising to him, on the word of a Prince, that if he would spare his life, and suffer him to go out again, he would neuer reueale to any flesh liuing what was betwixt them at the time, nor neuer suffer him to incur any harm or punishment for the same.

But his Maiefties fear was, that he could hope for no sparing at his hands, hauing such crueltie in his looks, and standing so irreuerently couered with his hat on, which form of rigorous behaviour could prognosticate nothing to his Maieftie but present extremity. But, at his Maiefties perswasive language, he appeared to be somewhat amazed ; and, vncouering his head againe, swore, and protested that his Maiefties life should be safe, if he would behaue hymselfe quietly, wythout making noyse or crying ; and that he would onely bring in the Earle his brother to speake wyth his Maieftie. Wherevpon, his Maiefty, enquiring what the Earle would doe with him, since (if his Maiefties life were safe, according to promise,) they could gayne little in keeping such a prisoner. His answer only was, that he could tell his Maiefty no more, but that his life should be safe, in case he behaued hymselfe quietly ; the rest, the Earle his brother, whome he was going for, would tel his Maiefty at his coming. With that, as he was going forth for his brother, as he affirmed, he turnd hym about to the other man, saying these wordes vnto him, ‘ I make you here the Kings keeper till I come backe agayne, and see that you keepe him vpon your owne perill ;’ and therewithal sayd to his Maieftie, ‘ You must content yourselfe to haue this man now your keeper, vntill my coming backe.’

With these wordes, he passeth forth, locking the doore after him, leauing his Maiefty with that man he found there before him. Of whome his Maiefty then enquired, ‘ If he were appoynted to be the murtherer of him at that time, and howe farre he was vpon the counsell of that Conspiracie ?’ Whose answer, with a trembling and astonished voyce and behavior, was, that, ‘ as the Lord should judge him, he was neuer made acquainted with that purpose, but that he was put in there perforce, and the doore lockt vpon him, a little space before his Maiesties comming: as indeede, all the time of the sayd Maister Alexanders menacing his Maiefty, he was euer trembling, requesting him for Gods sake, and with many other attestations, not to meddle with his Maiefty, nor to do him any harme. But because M. Alexander had, before his going forth, made the King sweare he should not cry, nor open any window, his Maiefty commanded the said fellow to open the window on his right hand, which he readily did: so that, although he was put in there to use violence on the King, yet God so turnd his heart, as he became a slaue to his prisoner.

While his Maiefty was in this dangerous estate, and none of his owne seruantes nor traine knowing where hee was, and as his Maiesties traine was arising in the hall from their dinner, the Earle of Gowrie being present wyth them, one of the Earle of Gowries seruants comes hastily in, assuring the Earle his Maister, that his Maiefty was horsed, and away through the Infhe; which the Earle reporting to the Noblemen, and the rest of his Maiesties traine that was there present, they all rushed out together at the gate, in great haste: and some of his Maiesties seruants enquiring of the Porter, 'When his Maiefty went forth?' the Porter affirmed, that the King was not yet gone forth. Wherevpon the Earle looked very angerly vpon him, and sayd he was but a liar: yet turning him to the Duke, and to the Earle of Mar, said, he should presently get them sure worde where his Maiefty was; and with that, ranne through the clofe, and vppe the staires. But his purpose indeede was, to speake with his brother, as appeared very well by the circumstance of time; his brother hauing, at that same instant, left the King in the litle study, and ranne downe the staires in great haste.

Immediately after, the Earle commeth backe, running agayne to the gate, where the Noblemen and the rest were standing in a maze, assuring them that the King was gone, long since, out at the backe gate; and if they hasted them not the sooner, they would not overtake him; and, with that, called for his horse; whereat they rushed all together out at the gate, and made toward the Infhe, crying all for theyr horses: passing all (as it was the prouidence of God) vnder one of the windows of that study wherein his Maiefty was. To whom Maister Alexander very speedily returned, and, at his incomming to his Maiefty, casting his handes abroade in a desperate manner, saide, he could not mend it, his Maiefty behooued to die: and, with that, offered a garter to bind his Maiesties hands, with swearing he behooued to be bound. His Maiefty, at that word of binding, said, he was borne a free King, and should die a free King. Wherevpon, he griping his Maiefty by the wrest of the hand, to haue bound him, his Maiefty releued himselfe sodainely of his gripes: wherevpon, as hee putte his right hand to his sword, his Maiefty with his right hand seized vpon both his hand and his sword, and with his left hand clasped him by the throat, like as he with his left hand claspt the King by the throat, with two or three of his fingers in his Maiesties mouth, to haue staied him from crying. In this maner of wrestling, his Maiefty perforce drew him to the window, which he had caused the other man before to open vnto him, and vnder the which was passing by at the same time the Kings traine, and the Earle of Gowrie with them, as is saide, and holding out the right side of his head and right elbow, cryed, that they were murdering him there, in that treasonable forme: whose voice being instantly heard and knowne by the Duke of Lennox, the Earle of Marre, and the rest of his Maiesties traine there, the saide Earle of Gowrie euer asking 'what it meant?' and neuer seeming any waies to haue seen his Maiefty, or heard his voyce; they all rushed in at the gate together, the Duke and the Earle of Marre running about to come by that passage his Maiefty came in at. But the Earle of Gowrie and his seruants made them for another way up a quiet turnepeeck, which was euer condemned before, and was only then left open, (as appeared) for that purpose.

And in this meane time, his Maiefty, with struggling and wrastling with the said Maister Alexander, had brought him perforce out of that study, the doore whereof, for haste, he had left open, at his last incomming; and his Maiefty having gotten, (with long strugging) the sayde Maister Alexanders head under his arme, and himfelfe on his knees, his Maieftie droue him backe, perforce, hard to the doore of the fame turne-pike; and as his Maieftie was throwing his fworde out of his hand, thinking to haue ftricken him therewith, and then to haue fhotte him ouer the faire, the other fellow standing behinde the Kinges backe, and dooing nothing but trembling all the time, Sir John Ramfay, not knowing what way firft to enter, after hee had heard the Kinges cry, by chance findes that turne-peck door open, and, folowing it vp to the head, enters in into the chamber, and findes his Maieftie and Maifter Alexander ftugling in that forme, as is before fayde: and after he had twife or thrife ftricken Maifter Alexander with his dagger, the other man withdrew himfelfe, his Maieftie ftill keeping his gripes, and holding him clofe to him: immediatly thereafter, he tooke the fayd Maifter Alexander by the fhoulders, and fhotte him downe the faire: who was no fooner fhotte out at the doore, but hee was met by Sir Thomas Erfkine and Sir Hew Hereis, who there, vpon the faire, ended him; the fayde Sir Thomas Erfkine being caft behind the Duke and the Earle of Mar, that ran about the other way, by the occafion of his meddling with the fayde late Earle in the ftreete, after the hearing of his Maiefties crie. For vpon the hearing thereof, hee had clafped the Earle of Gowrie by the gorget, and cafting him under his feete, and wanting a dagger to haue ftricken him with, the fayd Earls men rid the Earle their Maifter out of his handes; whereby hee was caft behinde the reft, as is fayd: and miffing the companie, and hearing the fayde Sir John Ramfayes voyce vpon the turn-peck head, ran vp to the fayd chamber, and cryed vpon the fayd Sir Hew Hereis and another feruant to follow him: where, meeting with the fayd Maifter Alexander in the turne-peck, he ended him there, as is fayd: the fayd Maifter Alexander crying, for his laft wordes, ‘Alas! I had not the weight of it.’ But no fooner could the fayde Sir Thomas, Sir Hew, and another feruauant, winne into the chamber where his Maieftie was, but that the fayde Earle of Gowrie, before they could gette the doore fhut, followed them in at the backe, hauing caft him directly to come vp that priuy paffage, as is before faid: who, at his firft entrie, hauing a drawne fworde in euery hand, and a fteele bonet on his head, accompanied with feuen of his feruants, euery one of them hauing in like maner a drawn fworde, cried out with a great oath, that they fhould al die as traitors! Al the which time, his Maieftie was ftill in the chamber; who, feeing the Earle of Gowrie come in, with his fwordes in his hands, fought for Maifter Alexanders fword, which had fallen from him at his out-fhutting at the doore; hauing no forte of weapons of his owne, as is fayde: but then was fhut backe by his owne feruants that were there into the litle ftudie, and the doore fhut vpon him: who, hauing put his Maieftie in fafety, re-encountred the faide Earle and his feruants, his Maiefties feruants being onely in number foure, to wit, Sir Hew Hereis, Sir John Ramfay, and one Wilfon a feruant of James Erfkins, a brother of the fayd Sir Thomas, the fayde Earle hauing feuen of his owne feruants with him: yet it pleaſed God, after many ftrokes on all handes, to giue his Maiefties feruants the victorie; the fayde Earle of Gowrie being ftriken dead with a froke through the heart, which the faid Sir John Ramfay gaue him, without once crying vpon God, and the reft of his feruants dang ouer the faire with many hurtes, as in like maner the fayde Sir Thomas Erfkine, Sir Hew Hereis, and Sir John Ramfay, were al three very fore hurt and wounded.

But al the time of this fight, the Duke of Lennox, the Earle of Mar, and the reft of his Maiefties traine, were ftriking with great hammers at the vtter doore whereby his Maieftie paſt vp to the chamber with the faid Maifter Alexander, which alfo he had lockt in his by-comming with his Maieftie to the chamber; but, by reaſon of the ſtrength of the faid double doore, the whole wall being likewife of boordes, and yeelding with the ftrokes, it did bide them the ſpace of halfe an houre and more, before they could get it broken, and haue entrefſe: who hauing met with his Maieftie, found (beyond their expectation) his Maieftie deliuered from ſo imminent a perill, and the fayde late Earle the principall conſpirator lying dead at his Maiefties feete. Immediatly thereafter, his Maieftie kneeling downe on his knees in the midft of his owne feruants, and they all kneeling rounde about him, his Maieftie, out of his owne mouth, thanked God of that miraculous deliuerance and victory, affuring himselfe, that God had preferred him from so dispaired a perill, for the performing of some greater work behind, to his glorie, and for procuring by him the weale of his people, that God had committed to his charge. After this, the tumult of the towne hearing of the slaughter of the sayde Earle of Gowrie their Prouest, and not knowing the manner thereof, nor being on the counsell of his treasonable attempt, continued for the space of two or three houres thereafter, vntill his Maiestie, by oft speaking out to them at the windowes, and beckoning to them with his owne hand, pacifying them, causing the Bailies and the rest of the honest men of the towne to be brought into the chamber; to whome hauing declared the whole forme of that strange accident, he committed the house and bodies of the said traitorous brethren to their keeping, vntill his Maiesties further pleasure were knowne. His Maiestie hauing, before his parting out of that towne, caused to search the said Earle of Gowries pockets, in case any letters, that might further the discovery of that Conspiracy, might bee founde therein. But nothing was founde in them, but a little close parchment bag, full of magicall characters, and wordes of inchantment, wherein it seemed that hee had put his confidence, thinking himselfe neuer safe without them, and therefore ener caried them about with him: Beeing also obserued, that while they were vpon him, his wound, whereof he died, bled not; but, incontinent after the taking of them away, the blood gushed out in great abundance, to the great admiration of all the beholders; an infamy which hath followed and spotted the race of this house for many descents, as is notoriously knowne to the whole cuntrie. Thus, the night was farre spent, being neere eight houres at euening, before his Maiestie could (for the great tumult that was in the towne) depart out of the same. But, before his Maiesty had ridden foure myles out of the same towardes Falkland, although the night was very darke and rainy, the whole way was clad with all sort of people, both horse and foote, meeting him with great ioy and acclamation. The frequencie and concourse of personnes of all degrees to Falkland the rest of the weeke, and to Edenburgh the next, from all the quarters of the cuntrie, the testimony of the subiectes hearty affection and ioy for his Maiesties deliuerie, expressed euery where, by ringing of bells, bonifiers, shooting off guns of all sorts, both by sea and land, &c. with all other things ensuing thereupon, I haue of set purpose pretermitted, as well knowne to all men, and impertinent to this discourse; contenting myselfe with this plaine and simple narration; adding onely, for explanation and confirmation thereof, the Depositions of certaine persons, who were either actors and eie-witnesses, or immediate hearers of those things that they declare and testifie; wherein, if the reader shall find any thing differing from this narration, either in substance or circumstance, he may vnderstand the same to be vttered by the deponer in his owne behoofe, for obtaining of his Maiesties princely grace and fauor.

APUD FALKLAND, 9th August 1600. In presence of the Lord Chancellor, Lord Treasurer, Lord Secretary, Lord Comptroller, Lord Aduccate, the Lord Incheffray, and Sir George Home of Spot, Knights.

JAMES WEIMIS of BOGY, of the age of 26 yeere, or therby, sworne and examined vpon the forme and maner of behauiour of late Johnne Earle of Gowrye, the time of his being with him at Strabran; or if he had heard the sayd Earle make any motion of the Treason intended against his Royall Majestie? Depones, that he neither heard, nor saw, any appearance of any such intention in the said Earle.¹

Demaunded, 'If he was in any purpose with the said Erle, anent any matters of curiositie?' Depones, that at their being in Strabran, some of their company found an edder, which being killed, and knowledge thereof comming to the Earle, the Earle sayde to this deponer, Bogy, 'If the edder had not bene slaine, yee should haue seene a good sport; for I should haue caused her stand still,² and shee should not haue pressed away, by pronouncing of an Hebrew word, which in Scottisli is called holineffe; but the Hebrew word the deponer remembers not of: and that the Earle sayde, hee had put the same in practise oft before. And this deponer inquiring of the Earle 'where he get the Hebrew word?' The Earle answered, 'In a cabbalist of the Jewes, and that it was by tradition:' And the deponer inquiring, 'what a cabbalist meant?' The Earle answered, 'It was some wordes which the Jewes had by tradition, which wordes were spoken by God to Adam in Paradise; and therefore, were of greater efficacie and force than any wordes which were excogitate since, by Prophets and Apostles.' The deponer inquiring 'If there were no more requisite but the word?' The Earle answered, 'That a firme faith in God was requisite and necessary; and that this was no matter of maruel amongst schollers, but that al these things were naturall.' And that the Earle shewed to this deponer, that he had spoken with a man in Italie, and first hearing, by report, that he was a nigromancer, and thereafter being informed that he was a very learned man, and a deep theologue, he entered in further dealing with him, anent the curiositie of nature.

¹ This evidence is inserted with the view of proving, not the traitorous purposes, but the sorceries of Gowrie. How far this end has been attained, the reader is left to decide.—Hales. ² It was an ancient superstitious notion, and which had not ceased in the days of Gowrie, that serpents might be rendered innocuous by means of certain charms and incantations. The writers, who treat of Magic, insist on this among other fooleries. Delrius, Disqui-

Depones further, that the saide Earle reported to him, that he being at musicke, he fell in company with an other man, who staring in the Earles face, spake to the rest of the companie thinges of him, which he could neuer attaine unto, nor be worthy of: and therefore that the Earle reproached him, and desired him to forbear these speeches. And that he met againe with the said man in a like company, who did begin with the same language which hee had spoken before: and that the Earle sayd to him, 'My friend, in case yee will not hold your peace from speaking lies of me, I will make you hold your peace, by speaking truth of you;' and said vnto him, within such a space he should be hanged for such a crime; and so it came to passe. This deponer, inquiring of the Earle, 'who told him that?' He answered merrily, 'That he spake it by guesse, and it fell out so.' And that the Earle sayd further, that 'it was nothing to make an herbe fleshe, which would dissolve into flies;² and that likewise it was possible that the seed of man and woman might be brought to perfection otherwise than by the matrix of the woman:'³ And that this deponer counselled the Earle to 'beware with whom hee did communicate such speeches:' who answered, that 'hee would speak them to none, but to great schollers; and that he would not have spoken them to this deponer, if he had not knowne him to bee a fauorer of him, and a friend of his house, and would not reveale the same againe, seeing hee knewe they would be euill interpreted amongst the common forte.' (Sic subscribitur) J. WEIMYS OF BOGIE.

APUD FALKLAND, 20th August 1600. In presence of the Lordes Chancellour, Treasurer, Advocate; Sir George Home of Spot, Sir Robert Meluill, and Sir James Meluill, Knights.

MAISTER WILLIAM RYND, sworne and examined, and demanded, 'where he first did see the characters which were found upon my Lord?' Depones, that he, having remained a space in Venice, at sit. Magic. l. 2, q. 13, p. 147, 148, speaks of it with much seriousness. The form of the incantation may be found at length in Wierus, De Prestigijs Daemonum, lib. 5, c. 4, 5, 10. Perhaps all the learning of Gowrie did not exempt him from believing that such incantations were possible, and even lawful; but from this circumstance, to assert that he was a magician, may seem too hasty a conclusion.—Hailes.

¹ 'One Colvil hath sent the King the collection of the fortune to befall Gowrye, upon his nativity, written with the Earle's hand, in French, at Orleans, and there found, containing that he should return, be in great credit, seek for a wife, and yet dye with his sword in his hand, before he should be married.' Nicolson to Cecil, 12th November 1600. Paper Office. It would seem that the sorcerers with whom Gowrie conversed, differed in their opinion of his future fortunes.—Hailes.

² While the doctrine of equivocal generation prevailed, this absurdity found credit. Augustin. lib. 3, d. Trinitate. c. 7, says that magicians can speedily produce 'animalia imperfecta, muscas, vermes, ranas, et hujusmodi insecta, et alia quae ex putrefactione nascuntur, non creando, sed activa passivis applicando.' This opinion is followed by the rabble of schoolmen; and perhaps Gowrie might have attempted to produce so imperfect an animal as a flie, by the proper application of actives to passives.—Hailes.

³ Of this Paracelsus speaks: 'Non parva dubitatio et questio inter aliquos ex antiquis philosophis fuerit, an naturae et arti possibile esset hominem gigni extra corpus muliebri et matricem naturalem? Ad hoc respondeo, quod id arti pygryca, (i. e. chemica) et naturae nullo modo repugnat, immo autem possibile sit!' He subjoins the receipt at length, but it is so licentious and so absurd, that I must be excused from inserting it in this work. It may, however, be observed, that, according to Paracelsus, men formed by this receipt need to learn nothing; for that, as they are made by art, they know every thing; an advantage which persons who come into the world in the natural way, never enjoy.—Hailes.

his returning to Padua, did find in my Lordes pocket the characters which were found vpon him at his death: and the deponer inquiring of my lord, 'Where he had gotten them?' My lord answered, that 'by chance he had copied them himselfe:' and that the deponer knowes that the characters in Latine are my lords owne hand-writing; but he knowes not if the Hebrew characters were written by my lord. Depones further, that when my lord would change his clothes, the deponer would take the characters out of my lords pocket, and would say to my lord, 'Wherefore serues these?' And my lord would answer, 'Can you not let them be? they do you no euill.' And further, the deponer declares, that sometimes my lord would forget them, vntil he were out of his chamber, and would turne backe as he were in an anger, vntil hee found them, and put them in his owne pocket: Depones further, that he was sundry tymes purposed to haue burnt the characters, were it not that he feared my lordes wrath and anger; seeing, when the deponer would purposely leave them sometimes out of my lordes pocket, my lord would be in such anger with the deponer, that for a certayne space he would not speake with hym, nor could not finde his good countenance. And that (to this deponers opinion) my lord would neuer be content to want the characters off hymselfe, from the first time that the deponer sawe them in Padua, to the houre of my lords death. Being demaunded, 'For what cause my lord kept the characters so well?' Depones, that, to his opinion, it was for no good; because he heard, that, in those partes where my lord was, they would give sundry folkes breeues.¹ Depones further, that Maister Patricke Galloway lette this deponer see the characters, since that hee came to this towne of Falkland, and that he knowes them to be the very same characters which my lord had. Depones also, that, on Monday the fourth of August, the Maister, Andrew Henderfon, and the deponer remained in my lords chamber, till about ten houres at euen, and after a long conference betwixt the lord and the Maister, my lord called for Andrew Henderfon, and after some speeches with him, dismissed them. Denies that he knew of the Masters or Andrew Henderfons riding to Falkland; and after Andrews returne from Falkland upon the morrow, howbeit he did see him booted, yet he knew not that he was come from Falkland. Depones, that my Lord being at dinner when the Master came in, the deponer heard my Lord say to the Master, 'Is the King in the Inthe?' and with that he did rise, and saide, 'Let vs goe.' But the deponer knowes not what the Maister said to my Lord. Being demaunded, if he did see any kind of armour or weapons, except swords, in the Kings companie? Depones that he did see none. It being demaunded, how the deponer was satisfied with my lords answer made to him, concerning the Kings coming to Saint Johnstoun, saying that hee knew not how he came? Declares that he thought my lord had dissembled with him, and that he behoued to haue knowne it, seeing his brother was come with his Maiestie before that he demanded of him, and that he had conferred with my Lorde priuile. Depones that he knew not that the Maister was ridden to Falkland, vntil after his Maiesties coming to Saint Johnstoun, that Andrew Ruthven told him; because the deponer inquired of Andrew Ruthven, 'where the Master and he had bin?' And that Andrew answered, 'they had been in Falkland:' And that the Maister hauing spoken with the King, his Maiesty came forward with them: and that this conference betwixt the deponer and Andrew Ruthven was in the yard, when my lord was there. And Andrew Ruthven shewed to the deponer, that Andrew Henderfon was directed by the Maister, to shew my lord that his Maiestie was comming. Depones also, that, in his opinion, the Master could not haue drawne the King to my lordes house, without my lordes knowledge: and that, when hee heard the tumult, he was resolved in his heart the Maister had done his Maiestie wrong; and that no true Christian can thinke otherwise,² but that it was an high treason, attempted against his Highness by the Master and the Lord. Depones also, that, to his opinion, the Kings whole company was within a dozen of men. (Sic subscribitur) M. W. RYND.

¹ Epistles, schedules, or small treatises. The word here means magical writings, amulets, &c. ² To this narrative the following expressions, in a letter from Nicolson to Cecil, 21st of August 1600, may be properly subjoined: 'Mr William Rynd, the pedagogue, hath been extremely booted, but confesseth nothing of that matter against the Earl or his brother.' Paper Office.—Hails. He could not confess any fore-knowledge; for it is evident, that he had purposely been kept in profound ignorance of the Plot, which was known to Gowrie and his brother alone. Rind's firm adherence to Henderson's Deposition, is a very strong fact, and deserving of the utmost credit.

22d August 1600.—Master WILLIAM RYND sworn and re-examined, if euer he heard the Earle of Gowrie vter his opinion, aenit the duetie of a wife man in the execution of an high enterprife? Declares, that, being out of the countrey, he had diuerse times heard him reason in that matter, and that he was euer of that opinion, that ‘ he was not a wife man, that hauing intended the execution of a high and dangerous purpose, communicate the same to any but to himselfe;’ because keeping it to himselfe, it could not be discovered nor disappointed:’ which the deponer declared before, vnrequired, to the Controller, and Master William Cowper Minister at Perth: And hearing the depositions of Andrew Hendersoun read, and being enquired, vpon his conscience, what he thought of the fact that was committed against his Majesty? Declares, that upon his saluation, that he beleeuves Andrew Hendersoun has declared the circumstances truly. (Sic subscribitur) M. W. RYND.

APUD FALKLAND, 20th August 1600. In presence of the Lordes Chancellour, Treasurer, Advocate, Controller, Sir George Home of Spot, and Sir James Meluill, Knights.

ANDREW HENDERSOUN sworn and examined, and demanded, ‘ What purpose was betwixt him and the Earle of Gowrie vpon Monday at night, the fourth of this instant, in the said Earles chamber?’ Depones, that the Earle inquired of him, what he would be doing upon the morne? And he answered, that he was to ride to Ruthwen: The Earle said to him, ‘ You must ride to Falkland with Master Alexander my brother, and when he directs you backe, see that ye returne with all diligence, if he send a letter or any other advertisement with you.’ Depones, that the Master directed him to fend for Andrew Ruthven to be in readinesse, to ride with them the morrow, at foure houres in the morning. Declares, that they comming to Falkland, about seuen houres in the morning, the Master staid in a lodging beside the pallace, and directed the deponer to see what the King was doing; and the deponer finding his Majesty in the close comming forth, he pass’t backe, and told the Master, who immediately address’d himself to his Highness, and spake with his Maiesitie a good space, beneath the equirie: and after his Maiesitie was on horsebacke, the Maister commeth to the deponer and commaunds him to fetch their horses, and bade him haste him, as he loued my lordes honour and his, and aduertise my lord, that his Maiesitie and he would be there incontinent, and that his Maiesitie would be quiet: And the deponer inquiring of the Master, ‘ if he should go presently?’ He did bid him leape on and follow him, and not to goe away vntil he spake with the King: And the Maister having spoken with the King, at a breach of the park wall, he turned backe, and bade the deponer ride away; and the deponer making his returne, in al possible hafte, to Saint Johnstoun, he found my lord in his chamber, about ten houres, who left the companie he was speaking with, and came to the deponer, and asked, 'Hath my brother sent a letter with you?' The deponer answered, 'No: but they will be all here incontinent, and bade the deponer desire my lord to cause prepare the dinner.' Immediately thereafter, my lord took the deponer to the cabinet, and asked at him, 'how his Maiestie took with the Maister his brother?' The deponer answered, 'Very well! and that his Maiestie laide his hand over the Maisters shoulder.' Thereafter my lord inquired, 'if there were many at the hunting with the King?' The deponer answered, that he 'tooke no heede, but they who were accustomed to ride with his Maiestie, and some Englishmen were there;' and that my lorde inquired, 'what speciall men were with his Maiestie?' And that the deponer answered, he did see none but my Lord Duke. And within an houre thereafter, when the deponer came in from his owne houle, the Earle bade him putte on his seeret, and plaitte sleenes, for he had an Hyland man to take; which the deponer did incontinent. And about twelve houres, when the deponer was going out to his owne houle to his dinner, the steward came to him and told him, that George Cragingelt was not wel, and was laine downe; desired him to tarry and take up my lordes dinner: and about halfe an houre after twelue, my lord commanded him to take up the first seruice. And when the deponer was commaunded to take up the second seruice, the Maister and William Blaire came into the hall to my lord. The deponer remembereth himselfe, that Andrew Ruthven came before the Maister a certain space, and spake with my lorde quietly at the table; but heard not the particular purpose that was amongst them. And so soone as the Maister came to the hall, my lorde and the whole company rose from the table: And the deponer hearing the noyse of their forthgoing, supposed they were going to make breakes for Maconilday:¹ And the deponer sent his boy for his gantlet and steil-bonnet; and seeing my lorde passe to the Inthe, and not to the shoo-gate, the deponer did cast the gauntlet in the pantry, and caused his boy to take his steele-bonnet to his owne houle: And he followed my lord to the Inthe, and returning backe with his Maiestie to the lodging, beeing directed to get drinke. And the Maister came to the deponer, and did bid him cause Maister William Rynde to sende him vp the keye of the galerie chamber; who past vp and delivered the key to the Maister: And immediately my lorde followed vp, and did speake with the Maister, and came downe againe, and directed Maister Thomas Cranstone to the deponer, to come to his lordship in his Maiesties chamber. And that my lord directed him to go vp to the gallery to his brother; and immediately my lord followed vp, and commanded the deponer to bide there with his brother, and to do any thing that he bade him: The deponer inquired at the Maister, 'What have ye to do, sir?' The Maister answered, 'Ye must go in heere, and tarry untill I come backe; for I will take the key with me.' So he locked the deponer in the round, within the chamber, and tooke the key with him. Shortly thereafter, the Maister returned, and the Kings Maiestie with him, to the said cabinet in the rounde; and the Maister opening the doore, entered with the King into the said rounde: And, at his verie entrie, covering his head, pulled out the deponers dagger, and held the same to his Maiesties breast, saying, 'Remember ye of my fathers Murder? Yee shall now die for it:' And minting to his Highnes heart with the dagger, the deponer threw the same out of the Maisters hand: And swore, that as God shall iudge his foule, if the Maister had retained the dagger in his hand the space that a may goe fixe steps, he would have stricken the King to the hiltes with it: But wanting the dagger, and the Kinges Maiestie giuing him a gentle answere, he said to the Kinges Maiestie, with abominable oathes, that, if he would keepe silence, nothing shoulde aile him, if he would make such promise to his brother, as they would craue of him: And the Kinges Maiestie inquiring, 'What promise they would craue?' He answered, that he would bring his brother.

¹ It was natural for the King and his Ministers to enquire, who were the accomplices of Gowrie and his brother; and when no accomplices could be discovered, to impute this to the caution of Gowrie. This appears to be the reason of the question put to Rynd. Spotiswood says, History of the Church of Scotland, b. 6, p. 461. ‘ I remember myself, that meeting with Mr William Couper, then Minister at Perth, the third day after, in Falkland, he shewed me that, not many days before that accident, visiting by occasion the Earl at his own house, he found him reading a book intitled De Conjuratiombus aduersus Principes; and having asked him, ‘ what book it was?’ he answered, That it was a collection of the Conspiracies made against Princes, which, he said, were foolishly contrived, all of them, and faulty either in one point or other; for he that goeth about such a business should not, said he, put any man on his counsel.’ From the title and contents of this book, Lord Hailes was inclined to think that it was the Latin translation of Machiavel’s discourses on Livy, b. 3, c. 6. Gowrie might very innocently read that discourse. Machiavel thus explains his intentions in writing it: ‘ E non mi è parso da lasciare indietro il ragionare delle congiure, essendo cosa tanto pericolosa à i principi et à i privati, perche si vede per quelle molti piu principi haver perduta la vita et lo stato, che per guerra aperta: perche il poter fare aperta guerra con un principe è conceduto à pochi, il potergli congiurar contra, è conceduto a ciascuno. Dall’ altera parte, gli huomini privati non entrano in impresu piu pericolosa ne piu temeraria di questa: perche la è difficile et pericolosissima in ogni sua parte. Donde ne nasce che molte se ne tentano, e pochissim e hanno il fine desiderato. Accioche adunque i principi imparino a guardarsi da questi pericli, e che i privati piu timidamente vi si mettino, anzi imparino ad esser contenti à vivere sotto quello imperio che dalla sorte è stato loro preposto, io ne parlero diffusamente non lasciando in dietro alcun caso notabile in documento dell uno e dell’ altro.’ It may be observed, that the conjectures which the King and his Ministers formed, were afterwards fully disproved, in their own opinion, when Logan of Restalrig and Bour appeared to have been conscious of the purposes of Gowrie.—Hailes.

¹ This expression is obscure. Henderson, in his evidence at the trial, says, that he believed Gowrie was going to take the Highlandman. The expression here has probably the same meaning. To make breakes for Maconilday, i. e. to make breeches for the son of black Donald, may signify, to secure the Highlandman and commit him to prison. Thus, stone-doublet is a vulgar English phrase for a prison.—Hailes,

So he goes forth, and lockes the doore of the round vpon his Maiefty and the deponer; hauing first taken oath of the King, that he should not crie, nor open the windowe. And his Majesty inquiring of the deponer, 'What he was?' He answered, 'A seruant of my lords.' And his Majesty asking of the deponer, 'If my lord would doe any euill to him?' The deponer answered, 'As God shal iudge my soul, I shal die first.' And the deponer pressing to haue opened the windoe, the Maister entred, and said, 'Sir, there is no remedie; by God, you must die:' and having a loofe garter in his hand, pressed to haue bound his Maiesties hands; and the deponer pulled the garter out of Maister Alexander his hand. And then the Maister did put one of his hands in his Maiesties mouth, to haue stayed him to speake, and helde his other arme about his Highnesse necke: and that this deponer pulled the Maisters hand from his Highnesse mouth, and opened the windowe: And then his Majesty cryed out thereat; wherevpon his Highnesse seruants came in at the gate; and this deponer did runne and open the doore of the turnepecke head, whereat John Ramfay entered: and the deponer stode in the chamber, vntill he did see John Ramfay giue the Maister a stroke; and thereafter, priuily conueyed himselfe downe the turnepecke to his owne house: and the deponers wife inquiring of him, 'What the fray meant?' The deponer answered, 'That the Kings Majesty would haue bene twice sticked, had not hee releened him.'

(Sic subscribitur)

ANDREW HENDERSOUN with my hand.

FURTHER, the sayde Andrew Henderfoun depones, that after his returning from Falkland, on the fift of this instant, Maister John Moncrief inquiring of him, 'Where he had bene?' He answered, 'That he had bene beyond the bridge of Erne;' and sayes, that he gaue that answer to Maister John, because my lord commanded him to 'let no man know that he was to ride to Falkland.' And that my lordes direction to him was, to 'come backe with his brother Maister Alexanders answer, and to leave Andrew Ruthwen to awaite vpon the Maister.'

(Sic subscribitur)

ANDREW HENDERSOUN with my hand.

FURTHER, the sayde Andrew Henderfoun depones, that, when he had taken the Maisters hand out of the Kings Maiesties mouth, and was opening the windoe, Maister Alexander sayde to him, 'Wilt thou not helpe? Woe betyde thee, thou wilt make vs all die!'

(Sic subscribitur)

ANDREW HENDERSOUN with my hand.

No. V.

DE EXECRABILI ET NEFANDA FRATRVM RVVENORVM in serenissimi SCOTORVM REGIS caput CONJURATIONE,¹ apud Perthum, Augusto mense, an. 1600, Vera ac dilucida NARRATIO. Cui præmissa est, Prefationis loco, velitatio cum Lectore in fide et assensu commodando paulo religiosiore. His accessere ad Regem Soteria Carmine Heroico.

Ecce improbi tendunt arcum, aptant sagittas suas nervo ad jaculandum in caligine contra rectos corde. Atqui istis propositis destruentur: Iustus enim quid operatus est?—
Psal. 11, vers. 2 et 3.

EDINBURGI excudebat ROBERTUS CHARTERIS, Typographus. 1601. Cum privilegio Regio.

¹ From a copy in the Library of the University of Edinburgh, having the signature of Sir James Balfour at the foot of the Title-page, 'Ja: Balfourius Kynardie Miles, Leo Arnorum Rex. 1629.' The Editor is indebted to Mr David Laing for the following curious abstracts from the Records of Aberdeen:—'1601. The inhabitants ordered to accompany the Magistrates through the town, singing Psalms and praising God. The Cross to be decked; wine to be drunk with spiceries, and glasses broke.' Vol. xl. pp. 104 and 106.—'Mr Thomas Cargill to be paid £20 for his Latin Treatise, congratulating the King on his deliverance from Gowrie's Conspiracy.' Ibid. p. 179.—'See also, under the year 1619, ordered to be celebrated.' Vol. xlix. p. 529.

AD LECTOREM pro intemerata Narrationis huius fide.

PRÆSCRIPTIO.

EN tibi, Lector, narrationem, quam Tragicis siue prodigiosis, per me licet, hactenus inferas, vt de intemerata narrantis fide nihil addubites. Narrationem quidem certe, quæ ordinem, euentumque pessime facinoris puriter simpliciterque proponit: at consilia, causas, finesque rerum, quarum pleraque in ambiguo, aut incomperta, nec exponit vbertim, nec (quod Historiæ est proprium) de rebus ipsis indicat. Et Narrationem nudam adeo simplicemque, vt in ea verborum apparatus, orationisue ornamenta magnopere si desideres, frustra sis. Res enim per se nimis atrox ac inuidiosa, lenocinium et quæsitis arte colores circumponi sibi non patiebatur, quo fæco comptior et calamistris, eo maiorem forsitan Lectori serupulum iniectura. Veritatis enim, ait ille, simplex est oratio. Atque adeo prodigiosis adferbere non dubitavi: Tum ex meo ipsius sensu, qui consilium, et modum, atque euentum facinoris, et vniuersam rei gestæ rationem, omnia certe agnosco miraculo proxima. Tum multo magis, mi Lector, ex tuo: quem ego audio in præcipuis Tragoediæ huius actoribus duo potissimum admirari: Vnum in Rege, qui insidij appetitus: alterum in proditore, qui istiusmodi fraudem architectatus. Nam et affine prodigio tibi videtur, Principem admirabili solertia ingenij, singulari iudicij acumine, maximo rerum vsu, ab homine adolescente, puluerem scholasticum non ita multo ante egresso, tum occasione leuicula ac prope futili in fraudem inductum: tum etiam cum fraudem vel maxime suspectaretur, summi discriminis incuriosum. Nec rursus miraculo carere videtur, hominem adolescentem (hic mihi comitem ipsum intellige, qui calciamentum confuit, non fratrem fraudis ministrum qui confutum modo induit) vix duos supra viginti annos natum, ampliter a natura, vberius a doctrina informatum, in magna domi re, bona foris fama, summa apud omnes gratia, in caput Principis fui ob singulares virtutes omnibus carissimi, et de illo imprimis optime meriti, sine probabili aliqua causa conspirare. Et tamen si voti compos factus esset curiosus alieni operis arbiter Momus, ac fuissent illæ in pectore fenestræ per quas daretur aditus ad introspicendum in adyta mentis vtriusque: foret hic, opinor,

*Nil adeo magnum, neque tam mirabile quicquam,
Quod non paulatim minuant mirarier omnes.*

Vidisses enim in Rege præter alias dotes Regias, niucam puramque mentem, insolentem malarum artium, vt fraudes struere, ita metuere nesciam: vidisses fidem Sanctissimum humani pectoris bonum. Contra in proditore malam mentem, impurum animum, simulandi dissimulandique artificem, Afutam rapido sub pectore Vulpem: hominem quam foris inanis tectorij fulgore visendum, introrsum tam turpem, luridum, virulentum. Neque fraudem ipsam capitalem habes nunc clarius oculis subiectam, quam cogitati facinoris causas, consilia, finem, tum sensibus animoque comprehensa teneres: adeo quid ille tanto flagitio volebat, quid captabat, aut meditabatur, liquido dignosceres. Verum vtcunque vota non fruatur suo Momus, si tibi otium humani ingenij lubricum et defultoriam fortunæ vicissitudinem æqua iudicij lance mecum expendere: simul animis rationem renocare ad veritatem: nihil opinor, reperitur etiam in istis quæ miraculo proxima videbantur, adeo fidei absonum quod tuum, vel mediocriter sapientis assensum debeat remorari. Nam si quos stupor, aut lior, aut alius quispiam adfectus ita præpedit: vt obstinauerint animo ad illustrissimum veritatis Solem mero meridie caligare, ad horum ego aures pro cymbalo non sum futurus. Te tantum, Lector benignior, qui in omni negotio intentus ac suspensus ambulare cupis: in fide autem et assensu potissimum tardus lentusque esse amas, eum eo, vt semitam qua eatur in viam paratus sis ingredi: te inquam, pro virili iuuare est animus: et serupulum istum vnum aut alterum, qui te sollicitum habet eximere: ne si inani credulitate iam tempore ipso prope fati confutata, hæere aut fluctuare porro pergas, cum isthac tua religione (vt parcissime loquar) dignus esse odio videare. Atque vt id magis fiat ordine: de Principis fiducia primum paucis: dein de sceleris instinctore pluribus disseram. Nam quod tibi videtur parum dignum regio fastigio, nec principii fati decorum, pro auri olla caput in discrimen mittere: equidem non repugnarem, si vero vinceret vel anrum Regi tantum in mente fuisse: vel de insidijs et vitæ periculo saltem iudicio cuiusquam illi constitisse. De discrimine concepta magis quam iniecta suspitio, fecit aliquantisper animi pendulum: sed dum rectoris vir spiritus religioni habet, absque manifestis indiciis alienam virtutem suspitione violare, quid mirum si ea sollicitudo mox vertit in fiduciam? Quod si auri cupidine velut inescatam ipsius simplicitatem putas, quam vellem præstantissimi Regis ingenium iuxta mecum exploratum haberes. Neque enim modo quibus ille intime notus, sed et communiter omnes qui e vulgo id sciunt, splendens hoc aurum, quod aliis mortalibus præstringat oculos, illum plane negligere, atque oculo (vt poeta loquitur) irretorto adspicere. Ille ne vt salutem suam et publicam auro contra charam non habeat: cui tam amplæ, tamque frequentes pecuniarum conquirendarum rationes, salua et vita et existimatione, curæ cordiue impendio nunquam fuerunt? Basileiam graphice admodum et magnifice (vti decebat et Deam et Iove prognatam) in oratione de regno depingit Dion Chrysofostomus. Aurum quidem copiosum habentem iuxta pedes cumulatum, sed cuius aspectu nihil afficiatur: magis omnigenis quæ folium ipsius circumiecta sint, animalibus delectetur. Et tu audebis credere Regem clarissimum expressissimam mercede Basileias Ideam: quippe quem venationis auocamentum mirifice capit et rapit, aurum nec capit nec tenet, relicta ferarum confectatione, speratam auri prædam vel periculo capitis persequaturum? Imo contra, hoc vnum in eo populares desideramus, maiore ad rem attentionem, in opibus congerendis, thesauris accumulandis, sicuti vtilitatibus promouendis studium vehementius. Sed nimirum Herculem vnicum vitæ ad virtutem instituendæ exemplar ille sibi proposuit ad imitandum. Quem quod memorant nudum incessisse Leonis duntaxat exuvias indutum, id eo sensu viri rerum intelligentes accipiunt: quod neque aurum neque argentum, neque vestimenta pretiosa in magno pretio habuerit, omnia nisi vt exercendæ liberalitatis essent, nullo loco numeraverit. Ad eundem modum Rex noster aurum, argentum, altaque in fortunæ ditione posita, quæ miseri mortales misere capiunt, in postremis ducit: ea non appetens nisi ad vnicam gratificandi facultatem: in subditorum benevolentia, amicorumque fide firmissimum regni præsidium, et maximum Imperij instrumentum positum existimans: hunc thesaurum etiam Regiæ Perfarum gazæ anteponebat. Quare meo quidem animo, quidlibet causæ committere potius, quam vt auri cupiditatem principi munificentissimo obrudas. Ego magis adducor vt credam rei novitate inductum, aut incolunitatis publicæ studio, dum ab auro extraneo non iniuria metuit rerum domi turbandarum materiam. Et quanquam auri inspiciendi provinciam vni e purpuratis suis poterat demandare, et nullo suo discrimine ad se deferendum curare: tamen qui morum in eo candorem, et promptam suis omnibus humanitatem reputabit, etiam hic antiquum obtinere nihil mirabitur. Quid est enim Rege humanissimo familiaris, quam comiter invitatum in nobilium virorum ædes cum lubentia itare: idque quantum potest rarissimo comitatu? Nempe quia moderata ac pacifica multorum annorum gubernatione id se consecutum arbitrabatur, vt amore civium et benevolentia septus, munimento alio non egeret: innocentia suæ præsidio contra vim omnem satis firmiter munitus. At enim, inquires, hominis erat parum considerati, postquam subolissent illi insidiæ, non cogitare tum sæculum quo viveret in quo nusquam tuta fides: quam ipse personam sustineret. Certe quidem nec ævum ignorabat ad fraudem, perfidiam et veteratorias artes affabre factum: neque illud nesciebat, cum qui multorum se custodem profiteatur ex sapientum seito, Sui primum capitis custodem esse oportere; sed cogitabat rursus nihil esse causæ, cur adversus ipsum fallaciam intenderent, eoque Magnum animum decere magnam fortunam. Imo, vt est historiarum omnis ævi exequentissimus, non fugiebant eum exempla illustrium virorum, qui etiam tum, cum cædes et venena suspicarentur, maioribus animis quam successibus in vitæ periculum incurrisset. Meminerat capitale fuisse Dioni, cum insidias a Calippo opinione præcepisset, quod amicum et hospitem formidare nollet. Nec minus funestum Antipatro Callandri filio, qui ad cœnam vocatus a Demetrio, qui cum ipso pridie cœnasset, non recusavit vna ire, licet sibi valde metueret, ne videretur ei diffidere, qui ipsi filius fuisset. Meminerat Herculem Alexandri ex Barsine filium, a Polyperchonte ad cœnam invitatum, cum et suspectam haberet eam invitationem, et excusasset incommodam valetudinem, subdola hominis versipellis oratione vt in suum ipsius exitium vna proficisceretur, adductum. Quæ quidem et alia eiusdem modi exempla quanquam eum admonebant, quantum posset adire periculi: tamen animo interritus cœptum vrgebat: quod amoris fiducia suspiciones non admitteret: et animus recte factorum conscientia erectus ancipitem fidei metum, et periculorum cogitationem averfaretur ac dispelleret. Fecit igitur vt decebat virum fortem: fecit quod ante eum excelfo plerique animo: fecit quod aliquando ille Regum invictiffimus Alexander, qui injecto a purpuratis fuis metu de perfidia medici pro medicata potione venenum propinaturi, postquam secreta æftimatione expendiffet quid in vtramque partem spes aut metus subiecerant, tandem fatius iudicavit (ait Curtius) alieno mori scelere, quam metu suo. Nam et Sereniffimus nofter Princeps, cum aliquandiu animum in diverfa verfaffet, decrevit tandem cuiuslibet difcriminis euentum potius expectare, quam eius hominis, que sperabat amiciffimum, et sciebat multis magnifque beneficijs fibi pigneratum, fidem prædammare. Itaque quamvis Dionî, Antipatro, et alijs, qui fuorum infidijs circumventi, eiusmodi confidentia magno confiterit: certe vt olim Alexandro (referente Curtio) Sua temeritas cœffit in gloriam: ita, Deo immortalî haud dubie totius huius actionis clamum moderante, isthæc siue fiducia, siue temeritas est, Regi mitiffimo non in gloriam modo cedere debet, sed et in fecuritate. Ecquis enim erit ille tam male volente Genio natus, qui in posterum audebit attentare adverfus eum, cui Deum nullo loco deesse animaduernerit: et extremis præfertim temporibus videt opem adferre præsentiffimam? Iniurium fit, imo vero impium, non eius claritate flagrare ardentius: admiratione plus teneri, magis ac magis venerandum sacrofanctumque habere eum, qui Numini eximie charum esse, valentiffimæ in desperatiffimis rebus suppetiæ clare testificantur. Et enim qui in hoc negotio sola rationum humanarum momenta intuetur, næ ille non solum tota via, sed et toto aberrat cælo. A cælo enim et provida illa mente, quæ ferie nobis incognita, supera inferaque moderatur ac gubernat, univërfa huiusce negotij dispensatio est. Vidit nimirum æterna illa mens regem pium, probum, beneficum comitate et morum facilitate nulli homini secundum, eo natum seculo, cuius hæc labe, virtuti et innocentie invidere velle: atque nihil ignominiosius credere, modesta simplicitate, et probitate in summa fortuna. Ideo visum illi in clariffimo Principe rarum ac singulare exemplum prodere, fidiffimam esse custodiam Principis ipsius innocentiam: periclitari eam posse, et oppugnari: at nec expugnari nec opprimi. Vidit itidem periculum esse, ne a Diuinæ opis ciniçique amoris fiducia, securior esset quam tutior: eoque eum qui amoris excubijs septum sese putabat, paulo momento terrore suorum succinxit: vt in loco admodum lubrico temperamentum adhibere meminerit: integritatem quidem confertis (vt aiunt) manibus retentam, sed simul, generose cautus, et citra ignamiam circumspectus. Vidit denique in ea incidisse tempora, quibus, ipso auspice ac duce, magna illi mouenda moliendaque essent. Itaque placitum benigniffimo Parenti in Principe eius Aufpicis ductuque magna ausuro, præter superiora, permulta quidem et prælustria fauoris sui experimenta, vnum insignitiffimum pateræ benignitatis documentum edere: tum ad iungenda et efficacius hominum studia, tum ad animum ipsi hæc veluti amoris tessera, in omnem deinceps vitam firmiter obfigillandum. Vt in periculis obeundis, aut laboribus pro Nominis sui gloria, Regni ornamento, dignitatis amplitudinifque Regiæ incremento suscipiendis nunquam fatifcat, aut deficiat animo, sed post acceptum Diuini præsidij tam certum arrhabonem, auxiliares Numinis copias in rebus quamlibet arduis perpetuo sibi spondeat cum poeta: Dii me tueantur, diis pietas mea curæ est. Nam si summus Ille rerum arbiter, Scotorum Regi feciffet opinionem quo maxime vellet modo bonitatem suam experiri, quanquam profecto nescio an alio aliquo maluiffet, hoc vnum scio certiore quam expertus est, ne optaffet quidem. Quamobrem, mi Lector, desine ingenij tui acumine non tam Regis optimi, quam Dei ipsius consilium, sollicitare: vana cogitationum mittens, Providentiæ decreto te permitte: quod Deo placuit, idem vt tibi non displiceat æquum cense, atque in Trismegisti Solomonis veriverbio acquiesce. Cor Regis in manu Dei ad inclinandum illud quocunq; vult. Item. Vt Cæli altitudo aut profunditas terræ inperferutabilis est, ita inperuestigabilis est Regis animus.

Iam altera parte admirandum ac prope incredendum tibi videbatur, iuvenem, natalibus clarum, opibus florentem, domestica externaque disciplina liberaliter institutum, prudentiæ doctrinæque opinione apud omnes ordines gratiosum, pessimo post homines natos flagitio omnium expectationes ludificari, seque cum illustri familia in probri nunquam intermorituri præcipitium pessum dare. At ego contra tristem ac miserabilem fortasse casum vt agnosco, certe novum aut incredibile nihil video: nisi quemadmodum de parricidio, declamat. 377. loquitur Quintil. Quædam esse crimina, quæ ipsa magnitudine fidem non impetrant. Neque enim negabo meum ipsius affectum, principio imperare sibi non potuisse, vt non aspectu primo doleret et miseraretur fortem hominis, qui facinore infando se cum familia indignissime perditum iuisset. Sed cum discussa vulgarium opinionum nebula rectæ Rationis Sol mihi face sua pectus illustravit, adeo mirari desij: vt prope fortem hominis vltra nihil miserarer. Ecquid enim perspicerem hic niniopere novum aut incredendum? Nempe quod homo adolescens, opibus, ingenio, doctrina præstans, dum animo suo plus fatis obsequitur, nefario scelere se obstrinxerit. Atqui memineram scripsisse Platonem, In magnis ingeniis vt magnas virtutes, ita insignia vitia inesse consuevisse. Et si audimus Senecam, Nullum esse magnum ingenium sine mixtura dementiæ. Itaque qua homo non impossibile, qua adolescens credibile: qua vel fortis fortunæ turgidus, vel doctrinæ ingenijque fiducia ferox, vero non absumile mihi videbatur. Vulgi imperiti ad obliquos inopinatosque eventus attoniti et obstupescens solet hæc esse querimonia. Qui potuit accidere? Quis putasset? At qui sapientia supra vulgum, et exploratos habent modice casus humanos, eos improvisus istiusmodi fortunæ ictus nihil percellit: neque digitum transfuersum de recti iudicij gradu dimovebit. Illi enim flectentes oculos ad communem fortem, ad varios et reciprocos rerum humanarum fluxus, humani nihil se alienum putant: post primogeniam principum parentum noxam, quemque nostrum hæc et deteriora (si quid est improbus) posse admittere satis intelligunt: quando verum nimis et illud verbi, Cuius potest accidere, quod cuiquam potest.

At proba educatio, ais, et eruditio multa, non sinebant hominem concipere animo tantum nefas. Fateor equidem in bona institutione ad vitam recte instituendam non exiguum esse momentum, cum ad naturæ commoda accedit probæ educationis disciplina. Verum

Multa est opera opus ficturæ, qui se fictorem probum

Vita esse agendæ expetit.

Atque vt de domestica parricidæ huius educatione mihi cauere fortasse vt non nolis: an exoticam pariter et transmarinam audebis præstare disciplinam? Eam tu pariter mecum non ignoras Polypodis capiti perfimilem, in quo bona et mala: aut certe hortis Ægyptiorum, vbi Φάρμακα μειγμένα λυγρὰ καὶ ἐσθλά. Venenata salutaribus permixta. Et quam vellem illa vt non præponderassent. Sed vt fuerit vtraque non omnino mala, quis nescit, perinde ac res omnes humanæ natæ sunt volvi, mutari, verti: ita adolescentis indolem, vel pravis consulatoribus obrepentibus, vel malarum cupiditatum illecebris obiectis corrumpi depravarique facilem? Certe non temporum magis, quibus nihil fluxius, quam morum in hominibus vicissitudinem agnoscit idoneus æstimator Tacitus, Rebus, inquit, cunctis inest quidam velut orbis, vt quemadmodum temporum vices ita et morum vertantur. Et exempla si requiris, millena aliquot aut ego proferre, aut tute tibi possis subijcere, qui paullo momento ab honesto in prauum abstracti. Vnum modo Neronem mihi vide. Cui elogium hoc tribuit, qui inter Imperatores cognomentum meruit Optimi. Optimos quosque Principes longe absuisse a quinquennio Neronis. At ille idem post bipedum omnium nequissimus, et nullo non scelere infamis. Itaque si lubet hominem sua et iusta æstimatione censere, disce a Platone cenfore æquissimo et scientissimo. Qui cum Heliconi Cyziceno daret literas ad Dyonisium, commendavit quidem hominem, vti humanum et permodesum. Sed in calce commendatitiarum adscripsit, laudare se hominem, hoc est, vt ille interpretabatur, animantem natura mutabilem. Atque ita profecto se res habet. Solus ipse mundi Rector æternum in benignitate sua perseverat immobilis et immutabilis: alia omnia stare loco nescia: homo maxime, non in dies solum, sed et in horas versatilis.

Quod petiit, spernit: repetit, quod nuper omisit:

Æstuat, et vita disconuenit ordine toto.

Vt meritissimo Poetarum optimi bullæ, somnio, vmbre, frondibus ac folijs humanum genus æquiparauerint: adeo volubili sunt homines ingenio, leves, mobiles, atque foliorum instar, ad quamvis auru-lam instabiles. Neque novum mirumue sit, eum hominem quem æternus Pater faburra bonæ mentis, aut rationis subsidio contra æstus turbidiorum affectuum non stabiliverit, in scopulos offensæ plus quam tragicæ cupiditatis vento abripi. Sed enim, iniquies, eruditio multiplex et interior animi cultus retinaculi vice esse debent, ne illum affectuum æstus tranversum abriperet. Certe quidem si legitimum literarum usum confectatus fuisset, et culturæ patientem accommodasset aurem. Sed, prout sunt tempora, vereor ut rectum studiorum finem aut sequutus ille fuerit, aut affectus. Videas alium literarum peritia frui ad oblectationem: alium ad dignitatis et famæ incrementum: non neminem ad memoriam sui post exactum vitæ curriculum in ævum prorogandum. At quotusquisque eas vult esse instrumentum vitæ per virtutem ac decus agitandæ? Ecquis præstantis doctrinæ adminiculis subnixus, discit affectus magis ac magis habere in potestate? Ecquis sensus animi suapte natura contumaces ad obsequium rationis redigere? Ecquis contra temerarios fortunæ casus celsior et erectior stare? Cum tamen verus ac genuinus iste sit studiorum finis, quo firmior adversum fortuita Rempublicam capeffas. Atqui adolescens hic litteras, credo, magis illecebram ad peccandum esse voluit. E Platonis schola multi tyranni exiisse dicuntur, neque Philosophiæ, neque magistri ipsius culpa: sed scientiæ opinione præferoces, solos se dignos existimarent qui alijs dominarentur. Quid si isthic vitium compar? Fecit saltem ut solent qui animo subdoli ac perfidiosi. Literarum velo pessimarum cupiditatum scenam innumbravit, quo tectius atque occultius se putabat delictarum, eo laxiores habenas ad quidvis audendum animo suo permittens. Quid? quod animum scientiæ studio flagrante non coercuit? quid si literarum intemperantia laborans modum non tenuit? quid si nimis multa scire voluit? et ea nec bona, nec fructuosa, nec legibus concessa.

*Musis animus dum mollior infet,
Et quæ mox imitere legas: nec desinat unquam
Tecum Graia loqui, tecum Romana vetustas.*

Hoc studium in quod incumbere, stadium quod decurrere illustres adolescentes decet. At illum multifaria ingenij dote, et versatili solertia usum ad naturæ recondita inquirenda, et ea quæ supra nos, ad magicas et illicitas artes addiscendas nimis multa loquuntur, de quibus mox dicemus. Vis igitur scire, Lector, quid de multiplice huius hominis cognitione existimandum habeas? En tibi viam ad censendum, præbit Philosophus non ignobilis. Diogenem memorant, cum in hominum vita Præsides provinciarum, Consultos iuris, Philosophos, Medicos considerabat, dicere solitum, se nihil invenire homine solertius et sapientius: sed cum oculis deflexeret ad somniorum Interpretes, divinos, coniectores, ariolos, nihil ineptius et stolidius. Idem hic in pari causâ cense. Quamdiu bonis disciplinis iste animum excoluit, fuerit sapiens, eruditus et adprobus. At postquam Servatoris sui desertor ad dæmonem velut inducijs factis transijt, curiositate non ferenda illusionum diabolicarum socius ac particeps esse fatagens, sit tibi ille idem improbus, insipiens et execrabilis. Et miraberis deinceps, sive se noxio illi Genio mancipaverit, sive cum salutis suæ hoste acerrimo quasi colludere sustinuerit, iam superis animum illi lymphantibus, in pessima facinorum præcipitasse. Itaque non est quod de causa qua impulsus, controversiam ultra mihi facias. Nam quod ais magnum aliquid spe devorasse, quia verum sit illud Arbitri: Sicut muta animalia cibo inescantur, sic homines non caperentur, nisi spe aliquid morderent. En tibi viam maxime compendiariam, quæ elatioris animi adolescentes agat in præceps, curiositatis nimis et magicorum ludibriorum studium. Quis est enim in rebus æstimandis tam frutex, cui ex subiecta narratione cælo clarius non appareat, vanitatis magicæ fuisse confectatorem? Qui illi perpetuus itineris comes, idem characteres perpetim circumgestasse testis est. At characteres eos Magicos fuisse, et modus servandi loquitur, et eorundem voces nefandæ clamant ita manifesto, ut ridiculi sint, si qui cum ineptis suis interpretamentis reclamant. Scribit Athenæus literas Ephesias (ita vocabant antiquitus notulas, siue voces Magicas) ἐν σκυταρίοις ῥαπτῶσι, id est, in consutilibus pelliculis olim a Magis cum cura adseruatas. Et notulas itidem Govvrius suas libellulo inscriptas in pellicula consutili custodiebat. Quod si nescis quam efficaci crediderit eas esse virtute, id ex ipsis notularum verbis percipe. Quibus si fides, omnes potentes ad bonos Spiritus attrahendum, et malos propulsan-

dum. Huic vim adscribit perficiendi mirabilia, et indubitatae in praelijs victoriae comparandae: illi vim optata impetrandi. Nonnullas etiam efficaces esse voluit adversas hominum valetudines et molestias: ab alijs contra ipsam divinarum legum inevitabilem potestatem (horresco verba referens) promptissima remedia pollicetur. Quid? quod pro ariolo ac futurorum praescio haberi se discupiebat, et suam in rebus Magicis solertiam apud familiares non dissimulabat. Sed quod apud notos praedicebat Italum quemdam qui apud vulgum maleficus audiebat familiariter sibi cognitum, hinc credo esse fundi nostri calamitatem. Quis est enim in noscendis adolescentum nostri aevi ingenijs adeo peregrinus, qui non continuo subodoretur Govvrium haereditaria ea scabie pravae curiositatis prurientem, atque in patris ac aui mores institutaque euntem, consuluisse Magum hunc, quae fors maneret eum, aut quo fato esset periturus: et veteratoris spiritus astu (ita ut sit) ambigua aliqua responsione fucum illi factum. Quemadmodum enim hedera proceram arborem complexa non dimittit, priusquam eam ad tabem nexu suo perduxerit, ita novum non est etiam praeclearissima ingenia, quae se vanitati Magicæ semel addixerunt, ab eius contubernio non ante explicari, quam in inextricabiles malorum casses praecipitaverint. Habes igitur, Lector, ab aliqua dictione Magica, quae illi commeritum ab Rege exitium praenuntiaverit, vnam haud dubie infelicis suscepti causam. Quod si tentas descendere in temetipsum, reperies cuique nostrum suas etiam esse et internas, ut pereundi, ita et in furias et quodvis scelus quamlibet chothurnatum ruendi causas. Habemus enim in nobis tres adversarias potestates, Ambitionem, Cupiditatem, et Voluptatem, quarum ministerio impostor ille Genius, omnia sapientiae praecepta salutariaque monita ex animo expectorans, solertissimum quemque impellit in fraudem. Neque magis solens est ferrum consumi sua rubigine, aut exedi lignum sua teredine, quam homines etiam existimatissimos intercutibus his vitijs laborantes, ad miserabilem exitum perducere. Ergo ut nullum Govvrium characterem circumgestaverit, at vero, hunc vere tergeminum humani generis hostem in pectore, in venis, inque medullis circumferebat. Neque opinor de vindictae cupiditate mecum pugnabis, quando ipse minister sceleris hoc mantelo celandae fratris perfidiae est usus: cum dictitaret se paternum supplicium caede patris patriae ultum ire. At ego ambitionem magis suspectam habeo, quae, ut tu scis, fortunatorum: ut ille ait, Commune est nobilitatis malum. Quod si iustabis non esse credibile ut per Regis interitum ille regnum affectaverit. Qua enim spe potiundi? quibus copijs? aut qua virium fiducia? tam alieno tempore, Rege ipso iam tum tribus liberis felici, atque vno horum masculo, puero supra quam credi possit in ea aetula et animi et corporis viribus inclito: Nobilitate vero reliqua et Principi suo, ut cum maxime addictissima, et tranquillitatis cupientissima. Agnosco equidem si quam ille animi mentem habuisset, nunquam fuisse processurum eo recordiae, ut flagitio tam pudendo augmentum Imperij verticem violare, se sacraque Christiana quae profitebatur, conscelerare non timeret. Sed nimirum stultis ac fallacibus cupiditatum delenimentis deceptus, et imaginariae felicitatis velut fulgetris animi oculos illi praefringentibus, verum videre non potuit: neque futura satis praevidere.

An aeger animus falsa pro veris videt?

Namque (ait ab aetate recentiori scriptor) Ambitio et cupiditas oculorum merae suffusiones, veras rerum species nos videre non sinunt, imagines ludibundas oculis obtendentes, visus ludificatriculas. Scilicet titulosae amplitudines, stipatorum frequentia, opes, cognitiones, affinitates: salutantium, deducantium, imo assentantium turba, populi applausus, iuveni harum rerum insolenti tantos animos fecerant, ut neque satis se cogitaret, neque pericula expenderet, quae erat aditurus: dum animo obsequitur suo, res cavendas et admittendas iuxta despiciens. Neque mirum id cuiquam videbitur lucifugi Spiritus artes versutisque edocto. Qui impostor solertissimus, non alios cupiditatum quas dixi praestigijs magis sibi mancipat, quam quos fortunatos, temeritatis alumnos, natalibus, opibus, clientelis, inflatos, aut prudentiae scientiaeque opinione nimium sibi confidentes, deprehendit id genus homines suo arbitrio imprimis permittente Providentia. Quamobrem, mi Lector, cum probe cognita atque explorata habeas tum isthaec humanarum cupiditatum blandimenta, tum illa veteratoris Spiritus commenta, putidum sit coniu- rationis consilium deinceps quærere: pene improbum, si illud non capis, de scelere ipso amplius ambigere. Rem factam habes, coniurationem aëre ipso liquidiozem, facinus inter ea quæ ab ævo condito infidiosissimum, atrocissimum, periculosissimum. Et tu etiamnum quæres et euntabere de causâ? Quid si fortassè eam non expedit? Illud scio, si de causâ liquido constaret et sine, mehercle et parricidas magis oderis, et scelus damnare vehementius. Sed quaecumque fuerit in patrando consilium, saltem noxam illi luculentam nocuisse noscuntur: et pleræque fraudis circumstantiæ in narratione subiecta tanquam in tabella syncere, puriter et ex fide tibi exhibentur. Per quas singulas tecum ire suadet animus, iubet studium veritatis, flagitat meus in te amor, sed ne defundar coerect, et habenas amori ultra permittere vetat, tum acumen tuum qui isthæc per te melius potes et debes, tum verbum illud veta, Non debet enormior esse prologus quam fabula. Itaque quisquis es explica tantum atque exente tuam ipsius intelligentiam, ego spondebo neque rem ipsam in obscuro, neque te diutius in vado hæsitacionis versaturum. Ait Romanus ille Sophus: Vnius sententiam sequi non esse vitæ, sed factionis. Tu igitur quo meliorem civem, et Regis reique publicæ amantiorem, quo a factione factiosisque alieniorem probare te studes, eo magis decet te bonis aceredere, et de suo Principe pie recteque sententium coronæ populariter suffragatorem accedere. Si suspiciosus esse pergis, Nunquam deerit suspicioni argumentatio, ait Seneca: Sed simplicitate opus, et benigna rerum æstimatione. Imo si audis eundem sapientem: In quibusdam rebus satius est decipi, quam diffidere. Vbi vero id tolerabilius, quam vbi falsus existimatioque Principis vertitur? Audi non me, sed consiliarios magni Regis apud Curtium. In suo quemque periculo magnum animum habere, cum de salute Regis timetur credulos esse debere, vana quoque deserentem admittere: et tamen an tibi vllum a fraude periculum, hic, vbi nihil supra fidem, nihil ex vano haustum, vbi tam fidi auctores, vbi viri partim illustres et spectabiles, partim parricidarum amicissimi et intimi, testes sunt, et cognitores, fidi, locupletes, omnique exceptione maiores?

Quare nimio satius est, vt opus si te ita esse, quam vt animo lubet, Qui animum vineunt, quam quos animus, semper probiores eluent.

Quod si fortassè nonnulli qui omnem fortunarum suarum spem in hoc homine collocaverant, a destinatione sua longe iacentes, malevolentia æstro perciti, non deerunt oppedere veritati: at vos saltem ex hypophetarum ordine, Divino, vti par est, nomine instructos, veritatis emissarios, æquissimum est tam obviam tamque manifestam veritatem obvijs vnius amplexari. Et quanquam consilio valetis plurimum, tamen quando etiam summi gubernatores in tempestatibus a rectoribus admoneri solent: hoc ab homine amico vobis instillari finite. Sicuti vos decet arbitros esse et preitores omnium officiorum ad pietatem religionemque pertinentium: ita vos omnium subditorum maxime convenit Pitharchicos esse, et Principibus edictis æquanimitè obsecundare. Quo intentius ad Dei opera speculanda animi aciem dirigitis, eo liquidius quam nos e vulgo Deum adspicitis, in Regis optimi periculo discutendo sese sensibus nostris ingerentem et inferentem. Eapropter vos decet eum primis et istam impietatem execrari, et eius auctorem, quo magis vana quadam simulatæ pietatis specie vobis imponere studebat, hoc lubentius suis verisque coloribus depictum populo spectandum propinare: vtrumque tam strenue atque sublimiter: quam clare atque exaudilibiter damnare. Interest enim exempli in vniuersum, vestrum ordinem hic recte sentire, cuius omnia dicta, facta, significata magnopere pertinent ad exemplum. Neque hic modo, vt facitis vos officiosos exhibete: sed, si me auditis, etiam alias, tum in accipiendis, tum in obeundis non illicitis Religiosissimi benignissimique Principis imperijs non sepulofam obedientiam, sed obsequiosam alacritatem adferre. Ambigua laudis civis est, ait vetus scriptor, qui debitis reipublicæ officijs non sua sponte, sed iussus, fungitur. Quicquid enim imperio cogitur, exigenti magis quam præstanti acceptum refertur. Vt deforme obsequium in isto ordine nemini bono probatur: ita abruptam contumaciam æquis fatis sanus non damnabit? Sicuti adulari imperanti non fas, sic nec vltro irritare et sine libertatis, sine incautæ pietatis obtentu pericula provocare. Si Principum ingenia non nostro modulo metiri: sed ad æqui bonique regulam æstimare possemus, est certe cur Deo maximas referamus gratias, quod imperamur ab eo Principe, qui (vt parcissime dicam) modestam loquendi viuendique libertatem a subditis vsurpari æquissime ferat. Verum quia et non inmemores moneo, et opinione mea longius isthæc prouexit oratio, vt iam tandem præfari definam, nec fit, quod dicitur Το πισύγμυ μισζον τῆ δουλάκμ, infratam sacco maius, ad te a quo cœperam redeo, Lector, Epicharmæ sapientiæ nervo olim nimis inlærentem: at nunc in compertissimâ veritate neque diffidentem vt opinor, neque hesitantem, imo prope non vltra admirantem. Et profecto, vt sunt Divina, humanaque, quid est cur magno opere mireris, vel iuvenem adspirante inconsulto popularis auræ fauonio, et fortuna veluti sacco collante in cogitationes erraticas et impias vanescentem, infolentiæ fastusque sui Deo pœnas pendere? Vel Regem optimum ac piissimum, non ab euanidis bonis in mancipio fortune positus estimationem captantem, sed ab animo bene composito et fiducia in Deum firmiter subnixo, veram solidamque gloriam petescentem, eiusdem Dei benignitate eminentissimum transmittere diferimen? Si quid est in his exemplis insolens aut mirum, inde ad vitam recte instituendam documenta potius tibi fume. Ergo qua vides iustitiæ Divinæ feueritatem prodigiosis eventibus in facinorosos destrectam, hinc disce inter obsequia Fortunæ cautus incedere: nec scelere cothurnato in offensionem Numinis a quo provocatio non expectanda, sciens prudensque impingere. Rursum qua vides æternam illam mentem pro Rege excubantem, et hostium in caput ipsius iuratisissimum siue animum obnubilantem, siue consilia corruptentem, siue conatus eludentem: quem Deo vnice charum vides hunc tu quoque disce in oculis ferre, magis magisque charum, venerabilem ac sacrosantum habere: at neque facto violare, neque verbo ledere, neque suspitione offendere: imo vt rectori huic parentique nostro Magnus ille mundi Arbiter ac Rector perpetuus Adfles, Præstes, ac Sospitator fiet, mecum ex animo precare.

No. VI.

‘ A SHORT DISCOVERSE of the good ends of the higher Providence, in the late attemptat against his Maiesties person. Printed by ROBERT WALDEGRAVE, 1600.’

[THIS Tract, which is in duodecimo, pp. 28, is in the valuable Collection of Mr David Laing, by whom it was purchased at a sale of the Library of the late Mr Archibald Constable, who considered the book to be unique. Of the author nothing is known; but it may be conjectured to be one of the compositions of Mr Patrick Galloway, who so zealously defended his Majesty’s character, in his Sermons, &c. It is to be hoped that Mr Laing will soon reprint this rare little volume, and add one more to the many Tracts illustrative of this most mysterious subject. The following extracts may be taken as a fair specimen of this interesting little volume.]

‘ THE ETERNALL Providence hauing giuen many markes, euen from the firste conception of his Maiestie, that he is appoynted for great things: and willing at last, before his approaches to his destined right, now in the good age of his sister of England (whome he hartilye witheth long to liue, and who hath euer had him in the deare account of hir owne soune) that he should be encouraged, be a speciall signe of his high protection and hand with him, and therewith also, haue a further triall, both of his owne and his peoples hearts, invred him first with a dangerous (I must say it) excessse in a Prince; for clemencie, goodnes and truste, howfoeuer of their nature good, may haue also their owne excessis; whilk, in the fortune and happs of many potentats, haue so often redounded to their perrell and overthrowe, that Princes haue greater cause to feare sick persons as they haue faued, restored, or made vp, then where they haue done ane iniurie. And though sick benignitie worketh euer to good, in the honest and acknowledging hearte, (as his Maiestie hath had good tryall in manie,) yet when it meeteth with ambitious and vngrate persons, it lyeth oppen to sik requytales, as he hath also found in the traytor of GOWRIE and his brother the MAISTER, his destined hangman of his Princis life. But God would so haue it, and that his Maiestie also should abandon him selfe in the armes of their treacherie, and measuring others be his owne sinceritie, shoulde neither suspect fraude and false measure, neither remoueo his trust from the place where hee had heaped vp so many benefites : But, in the simpleness of his purest hearte, being so few, should come in their reach, and being sole and vnarmed, should be brought in the place of death.'

' Our excellent Princis vnattainted hearte was of sick puresnes in the behalfe of the tratore, the newe Angel of Italie, (whose vncertaine maner of port, over popular shoves, with certaine his motions to his Maiesties selfe, might haue well ynough shewen the armes of his hearte,) that leaving the small tryne whilk he had at the chafe, accompanied only with his cousings, the Duke and the Earle of Marre (whome God would haue to be witnessis of that whilk should happin,) hauing no other than his hunting horne, he came in their towne, in their house, and the verie snare prepared for his death; where they, beeing ayded with his single heart, and repose in themselues, vnder deceaueable shoves, fand best to invite him; and violating, vnder sick trust, the naturall and publicke faith, attempted the same, he neuer hauing done them anie outrage, but contrarily, with all good fauors, honors and digniteis, enen courted them in a fort, and their whole house. O moste wicked treacherie! to thirste the dropes of the innocent bloud of their King, who hath so farr restored, prefered and honored them! For to lay to his charge the death of their father,' &c.

' Yea, and in these essays, that we heere speake of (so little comerce haue sick designs with Gods assistance, or their own wit) their hart may sayle them, their resolution may wauer, the partie may dash them, or his humanity mease! them: a dread, a suspect, a word, or a looke may alter the case: and finally, the protection of God may intercede, withstand, or confounde them. The Earle was ouer wise, the Maister ouer foolish, the other² ouer timide: his Maiesties presence, his resolute heart, his matching the one, his threatning the other, his gayning of time, and calling for ayde, haue their owne regards. But that he leened, and venged himselfe like a good knight, it was of the protection, mercie and influence of Him, bee whose good ordour Kings do rule,' &c.

No. VII.

EXTRACTS from the RECORDS OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

PROCLAMATIOUN of Thankisgeving, for his Maiesteis delyuerie.

APUD EDINBURGH, sexto die mensis Augusti, anno 1600.

SEDERUNT.—Cancellarius, Fyvie, Thesaurarius, Secretarius, Aduocatus, Comptroller, Collector, Clericus Registri, Spot.

FORSAMEKLE AS it is laitlie cum to the knowlege of the Lordis of his heynes Preuey Counsale, of ane lait intendit Treafoun be vni^qle JOHNE ERLLE OF GOWRIE, and MR ALEXANDER RUTHVEN his brother germane, aganis the persone of his Maiestie, quhome God preserve; and becaus his heynes, praist be God, be his mychtie hand, by³ all expectatioun, is fauit and preferuit: THAIRFOIR, willing that thankis be gevin to Almightie God, the onlie instrument of that preseruation: And in consideratioun of the small boundis of any of the Perroche Kirkis, within this burgh, to containe the multitude, the saidis Lordis hes thairfoir thocht meetest, be oppin Proclamatioun at the mercat croce of this burgh, to notifie the said happie deliuerance of oure fouerane lord fra the said perrill and danger, with the death of the saidis traitouris, sua worthelie deseruit: And thairfore, requireing thame, as it is the pairt of all his deutifull subiectis, to rander thankis to God, for his said deliuerie; and in taikin of thair joy, caus the haill bellis within the burgh to be rung; and at nycht caus mak banefyreis, alfewell within this burgh as within the Cannoin-gate and village of Leyth, efter the accustumat forme obseruit in the lyke caissis, for the vttering of the joy of his Maiesteis happie deliuerance: And hes Ordanit Mr David Lindsay to prais God, within the Kirk for the same; and Ordainis the people to accompany him to that effect.

¹ Maze, bewilder.

² Andrew Henderson.

³ Contrary to, against.

CHARGE, for keiping of the CORPIS of vmq^{le} the Erll of Gowrie and his bruither.

Aug. 1600.

APUD FALKLAND, septimo die mensis Augusti, anno 1600.

SEDERUNT.—Lennox, Cancellarius, Mar, Thesaurarius, Secretarius, Computorum Rotulator, Spot, Kinlofs.

FORSAMEKILL AS vmq^{hill} JOHN ERLI OF GOWRIE and MR ALEXANDER RUTHVEN, his brother, being in the actual execution of a maist horrible and traterous Conspiracie aganis the Kingis Maiesteis royall persone, within the said Erllis awin ludgeing, within the burgh of Perth, it les pleisit God, maist miracoulouffie to deliuer his Maieftie fra thair intendit Treafoun, and to turne thair traterous practizeis vpon thame selffis, quha hes worthelie sufferit death, as they wer in the actual perfute of his Maiesteis persone. Quhairfore, necessar it is, that the corpis of the saidis vmq^{hill} Erll and Mr Alexander be keptit and preferuit, quhill forder ordoure be tane on this mater, as appertenis. AND thairfore, Ordanis Letteris to be direct to officeris of armes, schereffis in that pairt, chairgeing thame to pas, command and charge the baillies of the burgh of Perth, to preferue and keip the corpis and bodyis of the saidis vmq^{hill} Erll and Mr Alexander, vnbureyit; ay and quhill they vnderstand forder of his heyneis will and pleasour thairanent. As they will ansuer to his Maieftie, vpon thair obedience, at thair heicheft charge and perrell.

(Eodem die.)—LETTERIS, for arreiffing the Rentis of vmq^{le} the Earl of Gowrie.

(Eodem die.)—CHARGE, that name of the name of RUTHVEN repair towardis thair Maiesteis.

(Eodem die.)—CHARGE, for randerig the said vmq^{le} Erllis castellis, touris and fortaliceis of Ruthven, Strabrane, and ludgeing within the burgh of Perth, with the guidis and geir being thairintill, vpon Inventair, to his Maiesteis Thesaurair, &c.

(Eodem die.)—ACT, that na thing be disponit of the Erldome of Gowrie, bot be auise of the Lordis of his Maiesteis Preuey Counsaile.

(Aug. 12. Apud Halyruidhous.)—ACT, mortifeing L.1000 yeirlye to the Pair, furth of the reddiest of the fruitis, rentis and dewteis of the Abbay of Scone; in perpetuall memorie of the said happie deliuerie.

(Eodem die.)—ACT, aganis the passing of Giftis of the Erldome of Gowrie.

(Eodem die.)—ACT, aganis the MINISTERIS OF EDINBURGH.—FORSAMEKILL AS vmq^{hill} Johnne Erll of Gowrie and Mr Alexander Ruthven, his brother, haueing maist trateroullie diuifit and conspirit the death and distructioun of the Kingis Maieftie, oure souerane lord, be sic a detestable and horrible manner, as hes not bene hard of in ony kingdome or age; it pleisit Almichtie God, quha euir hes had a cair of his heyneis persone, maist miracoulouffie and wounderfullie to deliuer his Maieftie of that detestable Treafoun; efter the quhilk happie delinerie, and thankis gevin thairfore be his heyneis to God, his Maieftie immediatlie, be writ, acquentit the Lordis of his heyneis Preuey Counsaile, alswele of the said intendit Treafoun as of the said happie deliuerie, and desyrit thame to command the Ministers of Edinburgh to haue conuenit thair feuerall flokis in thair awin kirkis; and thair, publictlye to haue intimat to the people the said Treafoun, and to haue gevin thankis to God for the said deliuerie of his Maiesteis noble persone. Lyke as, the saidis Lordis, haueing conuenit befor thame Maisteris Robert Bruce, James Balfoure, Mr William Watfoun and Mr Johnne Hall, Ministeris of Edinburgh, vpon the sext day of August instant; and the saidis Lordis haueing at lenth oppymit vp vnto thame the hail forme, maner and circumstancis of the said Treafoun, quhilk wes alsua afferuit in thair presence be a honnest and famous gentilman quha wes present, and a ey witnes at Perth with his Maieftie: And for thair farther satisfacioun, the saidis Lordis haueing produceit and sclawin to thame his heyneis awin Missiue and write in this matter; and thairfor, according to his heyneis directionn, haueing instantlie delt and travellit with the saidis Ministeris, and haueing commandit thame to haue repairit to thair pulpettis and kirkis, and to haue certifiat the people of the said Treafoun, and to haue thankit God for the said

Aug. 1600. happie deliuerie; the saidis Ministeris, maist vndewtifullie untrusting¹ his Maieſtie and the vndoubtitt treuth of this horrible Treafoun, refusit to obey his heyneſ and the saidis Lordis: For quhilk, they and Mr Waltir Balcanquell, Miniſter, quha wes abſent the ſaid firſt day be reſſoun of his ſeikneſ, being now callit, and compeirand befor his Maieſtie and a grete nowmer of his heyneſ Preuey Counſale; and his Maieſtie and his Counſale haueing hard thair pretendit excuſſes, and finding thame ſtill conſtant in thair diſtruſt and doubt, be thair wilfull and obſtinat reſuſaill, ȝit to aſſair and certifie the people of the ſaid intendit Treafoun aganis his Maieſtie, nochtwithſtanding the conſtant and trew reporte and declaratioun quhilk thay haue hard, alſweill of certane of his Maieſteis Nobilitie, quha wes preſent with his Maieſtie at Perth, as be the Lordis of his heyneſ Prewey Counſale, and be his heyneſ awin Miniſter.² THE KINGIS MAIEſTIE and Lordis of Secrete Counſale, thairfore Findis, decernis and declairis, that the ſaidis Mr Robert Bruce, Mr Walter Balcanquell, Mr James Balfoure, Mr Williame Watſoun and Mr Johnne Hall, hes maist vndentifullie behauit thame ſelfis to his Maieſtie, in the mater aboue writtin; and that they ar not worthie to be ſufferit to ſpeik or preiche publictly to his heyneſ peopill, at ony tyme heir-efter: And thairfore, his Maieſtie and the ſaidis Lordis hes diſchargeit, and be thir preſentis diſchargeis the ſaidis fyve Miniſteris of all preiching, or ſpeiking publictly to his hienes ſubiectis, in ony pairt of this realme, at ony tyme heir-efter, vnder the pane of deid: And forder, Ordanis thame to remove and depairt furth of the burgh of Edinburgh, within forty-andcht houris eſter the dait heirof; and onnawye to reſorte or repair, in ony pairt, within the ſpace of ten myllis to the ſaid burgh of Edinburgh, heir-efter, vnder the ſaid pane of deid. And Ordanis intimatioun to be made heirof, be oppin Proclamation at the mercat croce of Edinburgh; quhairthrow nane pretend ignorance of the ſame.

(Eodem die.)—‘GEORGE CRAGINGELT, HEW MONCREIFF, ANDRO HENDIRſOUN chalmerslane of Seone, PATRIK EVIOT brother to the Laird of Bowſie (Balhouſſie), HARY and ALEXANDER RUTHVENIS brether to Mr William Ruthven,’ were ordained to be denounced rebels, for non-appearance before the King and Council, ‘to haue anſwerit to ſic thingis as ſould haue bene inquirit of thame at thair comeing, and layd to thair charge, tuicheing the lait treafounable CONSPIRACIE diuiſit aganis his heyneſ royall perſone, be vniquhill JOHNNE ERL OF GOWRY, and Mr Alexander Ruthven, his brother.

(Aug. 13.)—CHARGE iſſued againſt ‘the remanent of the MINISTERIE OF EDINBURGH quha ar not diſchairgit, with the hail Deaconis and Elderis of the Seſſionis of the Kirkis of Edinburgh, that they keip thair ordinar tymes of meiting in thair ſaid Seſſionis, &c. and gif thay failȝie, or do in the contrair, that incontinent thairefter the ſaid Herald, maſer or officer denounce them rebellis,’ &c.

(Eodem die.)—‘ACT, anent the ſuppleing of the vacand placeis of the Miniſteris of Edinburgh.’

(Aug. 19. Apud Falkland.)—ANDROW JOINESTOUN, bvrgeſ of Perth, ordained to be denounced rebel, for failing to appear before the King and Council, ‘to haue anſwerit to ſic thingis as ſould haue bene inqyrit of him, at his cumming, and layd to his charge, tuicheing the lait treſonable CONSPI-CIE,’ &c.

(Aug. 21.)—‘ACT, anent ane ſolempne THANKISGEVING for his Maieſteis deliuerie;’ with ‘aduyſe of the Commiſſioneris of the Generall Aſſemblye, to be maid and keipit, in all the Kirkis of this realme, vpon the laſt Tuyſday of September nixt, and the Sabbothe nixt and immediatly following thairefter.

(Aug. 22.)—WILLIAM MONCRIEF of that Ilk fined in the ſum of 100 crowns of the ſun, and SIR JOHN MELUILL, ‘apperand’ of Carnebie, Kn^t. in the ſum of 50 crowns, for ‘thair mutuall geving of leyis to vtheris, in preſence of the Lordis of Secreit Counſale, ſittand in judgement for the tyme, vpon the tuentie-ane day of Auguſt iſtant.’ And . . . RANSAY, younger of Balmonthe, was alſo ordained to pay 60 crowns to the Treafurer, for ‘the perſuit and inſaſioun of . . . Ballenden, vpoun the Hie-freit of the burgh of Edinburghe vpoun the fourtein day of August instant, his Maieftie being, for the tyme, within the Palice of Halyrudhou; and for the fame, is becum in his Maieftieis will.' Aug. 1600.

¹ Distrusting, doubting.

² Mr Patrick Galloway.

(Eodem die.)—JOHN ERL OF ATHOLL, Alexander Lord of Spynie, . . . Rynd Laird of Kerfs, Gairdin elder of Leyis, and Gairdin younger of Leyis, on the one part; and JAMES MASTER OF OGILUY and Sir John Ogiluy of Craig, kn', on the other part, were charged 'to subferyue and delyuer to the officeris executouris of the saidis Letteris, sic forme of Affurance as falbe presentit vnto them, within sex howris nixtefter the chairge, under the pane of rebelloun,' &c.

(Aug. 31. apud Glasgwe.)—'CHARGE, aganis the AULD MINISTERIS OF EDINBURGH.' It is flated that 'his Maieftie is credebelle informed, the saidis perfonis, not onlie still continewis in thair infidelitie and blindnes, malicioullie and wilfullie refuifing to acknawleg the certane treuth of this mater; hot, to his Maieftieis forder contempt, they hant and reforte in all pairtis of this cuntrie, difperfung mony vntrew brutis and rumouris aganis his hienes, practifing be all meanis to foster and interteny his Maieftieis fubiectis in the lyk wilfull errour and blindnes with thame felffis, and to lay vpoun his Maieftie, the burding of that, quhilk maift traiteroullie wes deuyfit and intendit aganis his hienes awin perfoun.' The Minifters are therefore ordained to appear before the King and Secret Council 'at Striviling, or where it fall happin his Maieftie to be for the tyme, Mr William Watfoun on Sep. 9, Mr Walter Balcanquall and Mr John Hall on Sep. 10, Mr Robert Bruce and Mr James Balfour on Sep. 11; 'to vnderly fic forder punifchment, as his Maieftie and lordis of his hienes Counfell fall inioyne vnto them; vnder the pane of rebelloun,' &c.

(Sept. 10, apud Striviling.)—MR WALTER BALCANQUELL, MR WILLIAM WATSON and MR JOHN HALL, appeared in prefence of his Majefty and the Lords of his Secret Council, 'and of thair awin frie motive, confellit and declairit, that they wer now fullie and throuchlie perfuadit and affurit of the treuth of the Treafonable and vnnaturall CONSPIRACIE, deuyfit and intendit to haue been execut aganis his hienes at Perth, vpoun the fyft of August laft, be vniq^{le} JOHNE ERLE OF GOWRIE and Mr Alexander Ruthven his brother; and that, fein thair remouing fra the brughe of Edinburghe, thay had not directlie nor indirectlie delt nor tranellit, be publict reafoning or priuat conference, to put ony of his hienes fubiectis in diftruft or doubt of that mater; and that they wald, in publict, manifeft and declair thair said perfuafoun and affurance of this mater, and move his Maieftieis fubiectis to do the lyk, and gif thankis to God for the fame.'—This declaration having been gratiouly received, Mr Walter Balcanquell was ordained to 'repair and adref himfelf with all guidlie diligence to Tra-nent, Dalkeithe and Muffilburgh; the said Mr Williame Watfoun to Dumbar and Dunc; and the said Mr Johne Hall to Dumfermling, Sanct Androis and Perth; and thair, in the ordiner Kirkis thair of, and upon ordinar preiching dayis, that thay preich to the people; and, in thair Sermonis, that thay mak ane publict and manifeft Declaratioun of thair awin affurance and perfuafoun of the treuth of the said Treafoun, intendit be the said vniq^{le} Earl and his Brother; and craue God and his Maieftie pardoun for thair ouer lang flawnes and doubting thair of; and thairwithall to moue all men to gif thankis to God for his Maieftieis delyuerie; and fchairplie to rebuik all fic perfonis quha continewis doutfull heirin: And that thay report to his Maieftie ane Testimoniall of the Minifter and eldaris of the townis and Kirkis foirfaidis of thair conformitie to the premiffes; that thairefter, his Maieftie may tak forder ordour with thame, as falbe thocht expedient.'

(Eodem die.)—'THE BAILZEIS of the burgh of PERTH, representing the hail bodie of the fame,' are charged 'to compeir perfonallie, befor his Maieftie and his Counfell at Linlithgow, vpoun the faxtene day of September instant, to anfuer to the contempt and indignitie done to his Maieftie,' in regard that, after the King's delivery from the Treafon devised by the Earl of Gowry and his brother, 'his hienes luing for na forder danger or inuafoun at that tyme; nochtwithftanding, it is of treuth, that his hienes wes of new affälzeit and perfewit be a grit nowmer of the communitie and inhabitantis

Sep. 1600. of the burgh of Perth, all in armes, quha environed his Maieſteis hous on all pairtis, affeigit and perſewit his hienes within the ſame, vittering maift irreuerent and vndentifull ſpeiches aganis his Maieſtie, his Nobilitie, and certane of his ſeruandis and guid ſubiectis, quha accompaneit his hienes for the tyme, and could nawayis be moved to forbeir thair tumultuous and inſolent behauiour; bot did quhat in them lay, be crying for fyre and poulder, and rynnng with jeſtis at the zettis of the ſaid hous, to haue blawin vp the zettis of the ſaid houſe, and to haue exponeid in haſard the lyfes of his Maieſtie and his guid ſubiectis.¹

(Sep. 11.)—MR ROBERT BRUCE appeared before the King and Council, and obſtinately ‘contnewit doubtfull and nocht throuehlie reſoluit of the trefounable and vnnatural Conſpiracie,’ &c. He is ordainid ‘to remove and depairt furth of this realme, betuix and the aucht day of October nixtocum, and onnawyis to returne agane within the ſame; nor yit repair within the realme of England, without his hienes licence had and obtenit to that effect, vnder the pane of deid: And in the meantyme, quhill his depairture, that he remane in the Place of Airthle, for making of his prouiſioun and furniſhing; and that he addres him ſelf to the ſaid place, this preſent day. And ordanis the Maſter of Counſell to pas and mak intimatioun heirof to the ſaid Mr Robert, that he pretend na ignorance thairof.’

(Eodem die.)—MR JAMES BALFOUR, having declared himſelf perfectly ſatiſfied with the truth of Gowrie’s Conſpiracy, &c. he is ordainid ‘for ane prouif of his amendement and dewtifull behauiour in tyme commeing, and for ſatiſfactioun of his hienes ſubiectis, quha be his errour and blindnes hes bein careit with ony ſiniſter opinioun or doubt of the ſaid mater, fall repair and addres him ſelf with all guiddie diligence to the townis of Dundie, Montrois, Arbroith and Brechin; and thair, in the ordinar Kirkis thairof, and vpoun ordinar preiching dayis, that he preich to the people, and in his Sermoun, that he mak ane publiet and maniſt declaratioun of his awie assurance,² &c.

(Oct. 18, apud Halyruidhous.)—MR JOHN HALL is ‘reſtoirit, redintegratid and reponed to his full libertie, baith to repair agane to the ſaid toun (Edinburgh), and to diſchaig his former functioun and calling.’

(Nov. 3.)—His Maieſty’s ‘Maifter Porteris and the Iſchearis of his Maieſteis chalmeris’ are ordainid ‘diligentlie to ſearch all ſik perſones entering within his Maieſteis Palice, quhome thay ſhall ſuſpect to be armed with ſecretis, jakis, corſlettis or ony vther offensive armour, fauſſing³ thair fuerdis and quhin⁵earis,’ &c.

(Eodem die.)—FORſAMEKILL as the grit and monſtrous bavis⁴ and cumpanies commonlie awaiting vpoun Noblemen and Baronis at Parliament and Conuentionis, and repairing within his Maieſteis Palice, and to his hienes awin preſence, is not onlie offensive and diſpleaſant to his Maieſtie, bot verie diſhonourable to the natioun, &c.; ‘the Capitane of his Maieſteis Gaird and houſe, and his hienes Maifter Porteris,’ are ordainid to gif diligent attendance, and ſee this preſent Act reſſane the dew effect and executioun in all pointis; and for this effect, to debar all ſik perſonis as ſhall preſent thame ſellſis, and craue entrie within his Maieſteis zettis, with ony ma nowmeris nor is heirin particularlie preſcryuit and inoynd vnto thame: That is to ſay, enerie ERLE with tuelf perſonis; enerie LORD with aucht perſonis; and enerie BARROUN with four perſonis, gif he be allane, or gif he be in cumpany with ony Nobleman, with his page and him ſelf. And that the ſaid Noblemen and Baronis conforme them ſellſis to this preſent ordour, vnder the pane of incurring of his hienes wraith and indignatioun.’

¹ This ſmells very ſtrongly of a counter Conſpiracy, on the part of his ſapient Maieſty, againſt the well-lined purſes of the citizens of Perth!—For never was a more pitiful attempt made, to extort a fine from unoffending and loyal citizens. The wonder is, that theſe brave burghers, hurrying to the ſpot, and merely hearing that ‘the Green-coats’ had ſlain the Earl of Gowrie, their Provost, and the Maſter of Ruthven, (who were both greatly beloved,) ſhould have diſperſed ſo peaceably, on the bare aſſertion of the Bailies, that the King was ſafe; without any explanation being afforded them of the cauſe of this bloodſhed and uproar! ² In the ſame terms with the other Act, dated Sep. 10. See May 21, 1601, of theſe Extracts. ³ Saving, or excepting, their ſwords, &c. ⁴ Beuies.

(Nov. 12.)—ACT, againſt reſetting of JESUITES, or ſupplying them ‘with meit, drink, houſe or Nov. 1600. herborie,’ under the pain of Treafon.

(May 21, 1601.)—THE ACT of Council, dated Aug. 12, 1600, diſpenſed with, ſo far as regarded Mr James Balfour, Mr Walter Balcanquell and Mr William Watſoun.¹

(Jun. 16.)—‘ACT, anent the fyft day of Auguſt.’ The liegis are commanded ‘to keip the ſaid fyft day of Auguſt 3eirlie, ſolemne fra all fort of handy labour, wark, and ſerious occupatioun, quhillk onnywyife may diſtract thame fra the foirſaid exerciſe of thankifgeving to God;’ ‘and reioyſing for his hienes happie preferuatioun, wrocht ſa meraculouſlie be Goddis divyne Providence.’

NO. VIII.

EXTRACTS from the ACCOUNT BOOKS of the LORD HIGH TREASURER OF SCOTLAND.

ITEM, be his Ma ^{te} is ſpeciall command, to Robert Ker, paige of honour, thrie ellis grene freis, to be his hunting claithis, at xliiij ſ. the elne, inde ,	vj li. xij ſ.	Jul. 1600.
Item, vj quarteris of lining, to lyne his breikis, at vij ſ. the eln, inde ,	x ſ. vj d.
Item, ane quarter vnce of ſilk thairto,	vij ſ. vj d.
Item, half ane elne and ane quarter grene ſteming, to be him ane pair of fokis,	xliij ſ. ix d.
Item, lykwayis be his Ma ^{te} is directionn, to Johnne Ramſay, Johnne Murray, George Murray and Johnne Auchmowtie, aughtene ell greine freis, to be thair hunting garmentis, at xliiij ſ. the elne, inde ,	xxxix li. xij ſ.
Item, thre ell grene ſteming to be thair hunting fokis, at iij li. v ſ. the elne, inde ,	xliij li.
Item, to Finlaw Tailzeour four elles grene ſteming, to be his hunting claithis, at iij li. x ſ. the eln, inde ,	xliij li.
Item, lykwayis to Johnne Achefoun, James Cokburne and Robert Walker, huntifmen, to be garmentis, nyne ellis grene ſteming, at iij li. x ſ. the ell, inde ,	xxxj li. x ſ.
Item, be his Ma ^{te} is ſpeciall command, to Williame Colquhoun, in drinkſiluer of ane cairt that wes preſentit to his hienes,	x li. xij ſ. iij d.
Item, lykwayis be command, to George Murray, to be gevin to ane boy in drinkſiluer, at the preſenting of ane halk to his Ma ^{te} ,	v li. vj viij d.
Item, for mending and repairing of hir Maieſteis litter-geir, ſaidillis, harneſſing, braſis, and all vtheris neceſſaris thairto, as the particular, ſubſcrinit be Robert Stewart, Maifter ſtabular, producit, beiris,	xij li. xij ſ.
Item, delynerit to his Maieſteis ſelff, to play at the cairtis, in the moneth of Febr 1600, the tyme his Maieſtie wes in the cunzie-houſe of Ed ^r , at the mariages of the Erle of Sutherland and Mr of Forbes, ſex fyve-pund-pees, being omittit in the preceeding compt, inde ,	xxxij li.
Item, to his Ma ^{te} is fyve ordiner paiges, for thair allowance in ſchone and vther ſmall neceſſaris, the month, comptit,	vij li. x ſ.
Item, to Johnne Achefoun, James Cokburne and Robert Walker, huntifmen, for thair ordiner allowance the ſaid moneth,	lx li.
Item, to Alex ^r Monereiff, Falconer, for his ordiner allowance this moneth,	j ^c li.
Item, to ane boy paſſand of Ed ^r with clois Letteris to the Erles of Athoill and Gowrie,	xxxii ſ.
Item, to ane boy paſſand of Falkland, of new, with clois Letteris to my Lord Incheaffray and Mr Ruthven,	xxiiij ſ.

¹ See Sep. 11, 1600, &c. of these Extracts.

- Aug. 1600. Item, the furnitour following, delyuerit to James Inglis, tailzeour, to be twa pair of buittis and tua pair of fokis to his Ma^{tie} for the buk-hunting,
- Item, fyve quarteris of grene Inglis stemming, to be ane pair of fokis, at iij li. x f. the eln, inde, iij li. vij f. vj d.
- Item, fyve vnces and tua drop-wecht of filuer pafmentis, to put vpoun the saidis fokis, at v li. vi f.
vij d. the vnce, inde, xxvij li. vj f. viij d.
- Item, ane quarter and ane half of taffatie thairto, iij li.
- Item, half ane vnce of filk, xv f.
- Item, for ane pair of buittis to his Ma^{tie}, vj li. xij f. iij d.
- Item, ane quarter and ane half quarter veluet, to the heidis thairof, v li. xij f.
- Item, ane vnce of braid pafmentis, to put thairon, xxx f.
- Item, half ane vnce of filk, xij f.
- Item, tua pair of gartanis, liij f. iij d.
- Item, ane eln of broun Frenche stemming, to be ane vther pair of ryding fokis to his Ma^{tie}, vij li. x f.
- Item, fyve vnces and tua drop wecht of golden pafmentis, to put vpoun the heidis thairof, xxvij li. vi f. viij d.
- Item, ane quarter and ane half of taffatie thairto, iij li.
- Item, half ane vnce of filk, xv f.
- Item, for ane vther pair of buittis, vj li. xij f. iij d.
- Item, ane quarter and ane half quarter veluet, to the heidis thairof, v li. xij f.
- Item, vnce of braid pafmentis thairto, xxx f.
- Item, half ane vnce of filk, xij f.
- Item, tua pair of filkin gartanis, liij f. iij d.
- Item, lykwayis be command of his hienes Precept, to William Elphinstoun, for the price of ane horfe; as the said Precept producet testifies, with acquittance, iij^cxxxij li. vj f. viij d.
- Item, be his hienes Precept, to Andro Lord Stewart of Vchiltre, I^m li.
- Item, lykwayis be command foirfaid, for ane cheinzie and ane belt of goldfnyth work, fet with pearle, with ane pair of garniffingis in the lyk wark, fet with pearle, propynit, in his Maiesteis name, to Sir George Elphinstounes wyffe, the day of hir mariage, v^clxxx li.
- Item, be command of his Maiesteis Precept, to Peter Brambill, Frenche pavier;¹ as the said Precept, with his acquittance, producet vpoun compt, proportis, iij^cxxxij li. vj f. viij d.
- Item, to the herauldis, trumpetouris and officeris, pafland with displayit coittis, to divulgat, at the marcat croce of Edinburgh, the Treafoun intendent aganis his Maiesteis perfoun at Perth, x li.
- Item, to certane warkmen that handillit the artailzerie of the Castell of Edinburgh, that wer schot, on the sext of August, iij li. iij f.
- Item, for hay to be furrage to the cannones, the said day, and the vther day that his Maiestie come to Edinburgh, xxxij f.

¹ Perhaps this may be the Rope-dancer, who is alluded to by Melville, in his MS. Diary, as follows: 'At that tyme, (the end of August 1600) being in Falkland, I saw a foscambulus Frenchman play strang and incredible pratticks, upon stented (stretched) takell, in the Palace-clos, before the King, Quein and hail Court. This was politikle done, to mitigat the Quein and peiple for GOWRIE'S slaughter.—Even then was Hendersone tryed before ws; and Gowrie's pedagog, wha haid bein buted.'—Melville's Diary.—A most amusing account is also given of another mountebank, an Englishman, who performed in Edinburgh two years before. 'The 10 of Julii, (1598,) ane man, sune callit him a Juglar, playit sick sowpill trikis vpone ane tow (rope) quhillk wes festnit betuix the tope of St Geillis Kirk stippit and ane stair benethe the Croce callit Josias cloise heid; the lyk wes neur sene in this contrie, as he raid doune the tow and playit sa many pavies on it.'—Birrel's Diary, MS. Adv. Library. This person was very liberally rewarded for his 'sowpill tricks' by his Majesty, besides the contributions he would doubtless obtain from the Magistrates and citizens. : ITEM, be his hienes speciall command, to an Inglis sportour, that come down upon ane tow fra the cok of the steppill of Edinburgh, xx li.' Another entry, in the same month (Sept. 1598), probably refers to the same person: 'ITEM, lykwayis to David Weir, sportour, be command, vj li. xiijs. 4d.'—Lord Treasurer's Accounts, General Register House. The name is likely to have been Vere.

Aug. 1600.

Item, for earving of the Poulder to the Castell, and of ane barrell of fewintene flane wecht to the trone, to be weyt, quhilk his Maiestie ordanit to be fend to Dunbartane Castell, . . . xxv f. iiij d.

Item, be his Maieftie's command, to the trumpetouris, that day that his Maieftie came to the croce of Edinburgh to declair the maner of the Treaoun intendit aganis his hienes perfone, . . . vii. vj f. viij d.

Item, to William Leflie, being direct of Falkland in greit haift, to bring the Justice and his clerkis to Court, iij li. vj f. viij. d.

Item, to Robert Logane, being direct on hoifbak, to bring fra Mr Williame Fullartoun, the Depositiones of Mr Thomas Cranfoun and George Craigengelt, to be presentit to the Justice at Perth, iij li.

Item, delyuerit to Johnne Achefoun, huntifman, four d^o (dozen?) of couppillis, and ane lyoun to ilk d^o for his Maieftie's houndis, xli.

Item, for furniffing to his Maieftie's buck-hunting, of colleris and lyounis of all fortis, stinclit and faffit, lx li.

Item, to ane boy passand of Edinburgh with clois Letteris, from the Counfall to his Maieftie, being in Falkland, xvj f.

Item, to ane boy passand of Falkland with a clois Letter to my Lord Chancellor, being in Edinburgh, xv f.

Item, to a boy passand of (Edinburgh?) with a clois Lettre, fra the Chancellor to his Maieftie, being in Falkland, xvj f.

Item, to ane boy passand of Edinburgh, with some directions to Daid Moyfie, being at Falkland, xiiij f.

Item, to ane boy passand of Edinburgh with clois Letteris to my Lord Newbotill, Justice Clerk and Mr Daid M Gill, xxiiij f.

Item, to Ar^d Dowglas maifer, passand with ane Act of Seerit Counfall to the croce of Edinburgh, and thair, efter found of trumpet, difchargit M^{rs} Robert Bruce, James Balfour, Walter Balcanquell, Williame Watfoun and Johnne Hall, of all forder preiching, in priue or in publict, within ony pairt of this realme, xxj f. iiij d.

Item, to the said Archibald, passand with ane vther Act of Seerit Counfall, to the said mareat croce, and thair, efter found of trumpet, commandit M^{rs} Peter Hewat and George Robertfoun, and the Elderis and Deaconis of all the four Kirkis, to conuene at thair ordinar dyetis, for obseruing thair aceustumat difcipline in the Kirk, xxj f. iiij d.

Item, to William Forfyth, messinger, passand with Letteris to the mareat croce of Edinburgh, and thair, efter found of trumpet, difcharget baith men and wemen brukand the surname of Ruthven (not) to cum neir his Maieftie's perfoun, within ten mylis, xxj f. iiij d.

Item, to William Forfyth messinger, passand with ane Warrant of the Seerit Counfall, to charge Mr Andro Lamb to preiche in the Hie Kirk of Edinburgh, on Sunday the fewintene of August instant, xij f. iiij d.

Item, to Ar^d Dowglas maifer, passand with Letteris to charge the Ministerie of the Pretbiterie of Edinburgh, that thair, at the nixt exerceis, on Tyifday the nyntene of this instant, take sum gude ordour amang thame selfis, how the vacand places of the Ministerie of Edinburgh may be suppleit and feruit, vnto the tyme ordour be tane for planting of new Ministeris at the said Kirk, xxj f. iiij d.

Item, to ane boy passand of Edinburgh with a clois Letter to the Bailleis of Edinburgh, xvj f.

Item, to ane boy passand of Edinburgh with a clois Letter to Mr James Meluill, Minister at Antruther, Mr Robert Wilkie, Rectour of St Androis, Mr George Gledstanis, Minister thair,¹ xxiiij f.

¹ Similar entries occur of 'clois Letteris' to Mr Robert Howie, Minister at Dundie; Mr James Nicolsoun, Minister at Megill; Mr Johnne Caldeleuch, Minister at Newburgh; Mr Andro Lamb, Minister at Leith; Mr James Law, Minister at Kirklistoun; Mr James Spottiswood, Person of Calder; Johnne Clappertoun, Minister at Chirreside; Mr William Row; Mr Daid Lindesay, for the Synode of Edinburgh; Mr William Couper for Perth; Mr James Nicolsoun, for Anguss; Mr Robert Wilkie, for Fyiff; Mr James Brysone, Minister at Durisdeir, for the Synode of Nythdail; Mr Johnne Welsche, Minister at Kirkeowbrycht, for Galloway, &c. &c.

Aug. 1600. Item, to Robert Elder, messinger, passand of Edinburgh, with Letteris, to charge Ramfay, younger of Balmonth, Johne Ramfay callit the gunner, to compeir befor the Counfall at Falkland, the xix of this instant; to heir and sie thame decernit to haue incurrit the pane contenit in the Act, maid for the restraint of the fechtng, within a myle to his Maiesteis persone, iij li.

Item, to William Forfyth, messinger, passand of Edinburgh, with Letteris, to charge Daudid and Johnne Ramfayis, brether to the Laird of Dalhouffy, and Hew Brawnden, to compeir the said day, for the samin purpos; and for sunmondng of certane witneffes to preiff quhilk of thir pairteis wes onfetteris, xxxij f.

[Letteris are also sent to the Lord President, Lord Advocate, Johne Oliphant, Register to the Compter, &c.]

Item, to Robert Elder, messinger, passand of Falkland, with Letteris, to charge Mr William Row, Minister at Forgounndynie, and sextene of his parochineris, to compeir befor the Counfall, the xxj of this instant, liij f. iij d.

Item, to Johnne Bennet, messinger, passand with Letteris, to the marcat-croce of Falkland and Cowper in Fyiff, and a trumpetour with him, discharginge baith men and wemen of the surname of Ruthven, not to cum neir his Maieste within ten mylis, xl f.

Item, to William Forfyth, messinger, passand with Letteris to the marcat-croce of Edinburgh, and thair, efter found of trumpet, chargeing the hail Ministeris within this realme, to keip thair Provinciaill Assẽmbleis, the thrid day of September nixt, for publick thankif-gevin, for his Maiesteis preserva-tioun, xxj f. iij d.

Item, to Johnne Blenscheillis, Ilay Herald, passand with twa feuerall Summondis of Treafone to the mercat-croce of Edinburgh, peir of Leith, with croces of Hadingtoun, Kinrofs, Perth, Scone, and feuerall duelling-houffis of Dirltoun, Ruthven, Perth, and Scone, and vther duelling-houffis of the personis following; and thair, efter displayit coit and found of trumpet, lawfullie summonit, warnit and chargit William Ruthven, brother and air to vm^qle Johne Erle of Gowrie, and Mr Alexander Ruthven, his brother, Harie and Alexander Ruthvenis, sonis to vm^qle Alexander Ruthven of Frieland, Hew Moncreiff, brother to the Laird of Moncreif, Patrik Eviot, brother to the Laird of Boufie, and Andro Henderfoun, chalmerlane of Scone, to compeir (befoir) our fouerane lord and his Justice, the fourt of November nixt, in his Parliament, &c. xx li.

Item, to William Ramfay, trumpetour, passand to accompany the said Herald, to the pairtis aboue wittin, viij li.

Item, to the witneffes, &c. vj li.

Item, for achtene copeis to the said Summondis of Treafoun, v li.

Item, for translating of the twa summondis out of Latin in Inglis, v li. vj f. viij d.

Item, to William Forfyth, messenger, passand of Edinburgh with Preceptis of Parliament, to be delyuerit to the Erle of Mortoun, the Lordis Seytoun, gester, Newbotill, Home, the Lairdis of Rosling, Bafs, Wedderburne, Cesfarde, Traquair, Robert Scot of Haning, the Commendateris of Melrose and Haliernidhous, the Bailleis of Tynninghame, Lauderdaill, the Sherefis of Edinburgh principall, Edinburgh within the constabularie of Hadingtoun, Berwik, Jedburgh, Selkirk, Peblis, the Prouest and Bailleis of Edinburgh, Hadingtoun, Cokkany, North Bernik, Dunbar, Lauder, Jedburcht, Selkirk and Peblis; and with Lettres to be publisehit at the marcat-croces of Hadingtoun, Dunfe, Jedburgh, Selkirk and Peblis; chargeing the Ministeris, within thais boundis, to keip thair Provinciaill Assẽmbleis, the thrid Tyifday of this instant, for publick thankif-geving for his Maiesteis delyuerie,¹ vij li.

Item, to aue boy passand of Glasgou to Edinburgh with Letteris, to caus charge the ffyve Minif-¹ Similar entries occur for payments to other Messengers for delivering Precepts and publishing Letters at the market-crosses of the various burghs, &c. throughout Scotland.

- teris of Edinburgh to compeir afoir his Maieftie and Counfall, the nynt, tent and ellevint dayis of this Sept. 1600.
 infant, xxvj f. viij d.
- Item, to James Furde, meffinger, paffand of Edinburgh to execute the famin Letteris, at the faidis ffyve Miniſteris dwelling-houffis, and at the marcat-croces of Edinburgh, Hadingtoun, and Couper in Fyiff, v li. vj f. viij d.
- Item, to Andro Home meffinger, paffand to the marcat croce of Edinburgh, and thair, eftir found Oct.
 of trumpet, inhibit the reſſait or intercomoning with Henrie and Alexander Ruthvenis brether to Mr William Ruthven of Frieland, and Hew Moncreiff brother to the Laird of Moncreiff, and Patrik Eviot brother to the Laird of Balhouffy, xxj f. iiij d.
- Item, to ane boy paffand of Edinburgh, with a clois Lettre to my Ladie Gowrie, xij f.
- Item, to William Forfyth meffinger, paffand of Edinburgh with Lettres to charge Mr Richart Ogill Miniſter at Innerveik, and Gibfoun brother to James Gibfoun Miniſter, with certane witneſſes in the toun of Dalkeith and Eift Lowthiane, to the number of xij perſonis, to compeir afoir the Counfall, the penult of this infant, to anfuer vpoun ſum vnperntinent aplicatiounes maid in thair Sermones, v li. vj f. viij d.
- Item, to ane boy paffand of Edinburgh, with a clois Lettre and ſum directiones; with a clois Lettre and ſum vther directiones to young Tullibardin, for tranſporting of the corpis of Gowrie and his brother, xxxij f.
- Item, to ane boy paffand of Edinburgh, with a clois Lettre to my Lord Aduocat, xvj f.
- Item, to Johnne Blynſcheillis Ylay Herald, paffand of Edinburgh, with Lettres, to ſummond Mr Johne Moncreiff, Alexander Blair younger of Bathok,¹ &c. to compeir befor our ſouerane lord and his Juſtice, at the approaching Parliament; to beir witneſſing, in the actioun and cauſe of Treafoun, intentit and perſewit aganis William Ruthven, brother to vmq^{le} Johne Erle of Gowrie, and certane vtheris, that ar to be convenit for the ſame Treafoun, xvj li.
- Item, to Johnne Blenſcheillis Yla Herald, Robert Elder meffinger, William Forfyth meffinger, Nov.
 William Ramfay trumpetour, William Baxter, Thomas Wallis and David Young, being ſewin in number, for ſupport of thair expenſis in attending fra the firſt of November, that the Parliament wes ſenſit, to the ellevint thairof, that the Lordis of Articlis wes choſin, for uerifeing of the executioun of the ſummondis of Treafoun intentit aganis Johnne ſumtyme Erle of Gowrie, xiiij li. vj f. viij d.
- Item, for the armes² of the perſones that wes foirfaltit, xvj li.
- Item, to the painteris for Schir Johnne Ramfayis pinſell, xx li.
- Item, for carying the quarteris of the lait Erle of Gowrie and his brother, to be affixt on the maift eminent places of Striuling, Perth and Dundie; and for a creill,³ hay, and falt, vij li. vij f.
- Item, to ane boy paffand with his Maieſteis Warrandis, to be delyuerit to the Magiſtratis of the faidis burghis, for this effect, iiij li.
- Item, to Andro Home meffinger, paffand with Lettres to the marcat croce of Edinburgh, and thair, eſter found of Trumpet, commandit and chargit all and ſindrie Erlis, Lordis, Prelatis, Commiſſioneris of barrones and burrowis, that thair, and ilk ane of thame, ryding on horſbak, cled with fute mantillis, and vther abuilgementis, requiſit for the honour of the preſent Parliament, repair, attend and accompanie his Maieſtie, everie ane in thair awin rankis, at lenth ſet down in the faidis Lettres, xxj f. iiij d.
- Item, to William Forfyth meffinger, paffand with Lettres to the marcat croce of Edinburgh, and thair, eſter found of trumpet, commandit and chargit all and ſindrie Nobill men and Barrounes quhilkis ar repairit to the Parliament, that nane of thame reſort within the Palice, with ony ma companie nor is particularlie preſeryuit to thame, xxj f. iiij d.

¹ Here follow the names of the other witnesses.² In token of degradation, the armorial bearings of the Traitor were torn in pieces and trampled upon, at the time of execution of the sentence.³ A kind of basket.

Nov. 1600. Item, to Alexander Stobo messinger, passand with Lettres to the marcat croce of Edinburgh and Cannongait, and thair, efter found of trumpet, inhibit all his hienes liegis, that nane of thame fuld repair towardis ony places of his Maiesteis residence, armit with secreitis, jakis, plait-slevis, or ony vther bid armour, xlf.

Item, to Robert Elder messinger, passand with ane Act of Secret Counfall to the-marcat croce of Edinburgh and Cannongait, and thair inhibit all his Maiesteis lieges, that nane of thame fuld repair within the rankis of the personis keeping gaird, vpoun the hie streit of the calfayis of Edinburgh and Cannongait, except sic persones as falbe appointit to await vpoun his hienes Nobilitie and estaitis, vnder the pane of deid, xlf.

Item, to Andro Home messinger, passand with Letteris to the marcat croce of Edinburgh, and thair, efter found of trumpet, inhibit the reffett, supplie or intercommoning with Jesuittis, xxjf. iiijd.

Item, to Andro Home, messinger, passand with Lettres¹ to the marcat croce of Edinburgh, and thair, efter found of trumpett, requirit that quhafoewer of his hienes liegis will bring to him twa of his houndis that ar raikit away, fuld be gratifeit with a horse worth, j li. xxjf. iiijd.

No. IX.

EXTRACTS FROM THE RECORDS OF THE BURGH OF PERTH; and from THE COURT BOOKS OF THE SHERIFF OF PERTHSHIRE.

[THE EDITOR, having been impressed with the conviction that much interesting information might still be gleaned among the Records of the Burgh of Perth, relative to the Gowrie Conspiracy, applied for leave to examine the Books and papers of that ancient City. Immediate access was most liberally granted by the Lord Provost; and the Town Clerks readily afforded every facility, for this purpose; but, owing to the very neglected state of ancient Records, common to almost all the Burghs of Scotland during the last and preceding century, the greatest part of the old Papers, such as Royal Letters, &c. (with the exception only of Title-Deeds and other important writings) had been allowed to be destroyed, as useless lumber. The Council Records and Court Books were, according to the usual custom of Scotland, at the commencement of the seventeenth century, kept very briefly. What follows, is all that bears upon this question, of any general interest. The same facilities were politely afforded, towards examining the Records of the Sheriff's Court. These, however, only notice the appointment of the new Sheriff and his deputy, an abstract of which also follows.]

(1.)

CURIA CAPITALIS BURGII DE PERTH, tenta in pretorio ejusdem, sexto die mensis Octobris, anno domini millesimo sexcentesimo, per Alexandrum Blair juniorem apparentem de Balthiok, Prepositum dicti burgi, Oliuerum zoung, Constantinum Malice, Andream Ray et Thomam Johnestoun, balliuos eiusdem; affirmata.

Quhilk day, conuenit within the Counfall (houfe) of the burch of Perth, the auld Counfell of the famin, viz. James Drummond, Robert Anderfon, Patrick Blair, Mr Henrie Anderfone, Walter Gray, Williame Hall elder, Patrik Grant, Gabriell Marfar. DECANES of craftis, Johne Ogilbie, Williame Jak, the said Patrick Grant, Andro Cudbert, Williame Mathie, David Rynd, Williame Robertfone, Alexander Farie. Quhilkis persones aboue writtin, being conuenit for electing of thair Magistratis, according to the ordour; Comperit the said Oliuer zoung, baillie, and producit his Maiesteis clofit Letter; of the quhilk the tennour followis.

¹ There are other two entries; one payment of L.5, 6s. 8d. to proclaim the Letters at Linlithgow, Stirling and Glasgow, and another of L.3, 6s. 8d. for proclaiming at Couper in Fife and Dundee. Other payments are made in January 1601, declaring, that whoever should detain any of the King's hounds 'raikit away,' should 'incur his Maiesteis indignatioun.'

REX,

TRUSTIE freindis, We greit 3ou hartlie weill. Haiffing pruiif and experiance of the loyaltie, affectioun and gude feruice of 3ou, the present Prouest, Bailleis and Counsale of þat our bur^t of Perth, We are nawayis myndit that 3e fall be alterit, at þis tyme of 3our electioun approcheing: And thairfoir, haif thoct gude to will and desire 3ou, with sic of 3our nichtbouris as hes wote in electioun of Magistratis within our said bur^t, to continew 3ou and euerie one of 3ou in 3our particular offices within þe same, without alteratioun or change; quharby We may haue a forder testimony of 3our gud will, honest dewiteis and feruice. Sua We commit 3ou to God. Frome Brechin, this xxviij day of September, 1600.

(Sic subscribitur)

JAMES R.

(Indorsed) To our trusty freindis, The Prouest, Bailleis, counsell, decanes of craftis, and vtheris baiffand wote in the Electioun of Magistratis, within our bur^t of Perth.

Quhilk being red, the saidis Prouest, counsell and decanes, all in an voce, bot wariance, obeyit his Majesteis Lettir, with all hartie gud will; And thairfoir, continewis the present Prouest, baillies and Counsell, for the 3eir to cum. And becaus of the departour of Oliuer Peblis and of Andro Henderfone, quha is regiftrat at the horne and fummond for Treasoun, the Counsell, be moniest woittis, hes electit and chosin Adame Anderfone and Gawyn Dalzell to be in thair places, for filling of the Counsellis number.

(2.)

(1601, Sept. 14.)—ORDANIS the Bailleis to ward Andro Henderfone, Chalmerlane, as cautioun for Thomas Broune, for x li. money of Bludie-wytt, committit be the said Thomas to James Stirling, wpone the fyft of September instant.

(1601, Nov. 2.)—Allowis of the spyce and wyne gyffin be the Deane of gild to my Lord and Lady Athollis, quhilk extendis to four pundis xj. f. iiij d.: and to pay himselff of the first casualties in his hand. Allowis also to Andro Arnot baillie, of the spyce and wyne giffin be him to Mr Patrik Galloway, Alexander Peblis and Oliuer Colt, quhilkis extendis to sewin pundis sex schillingis; and ordanis the thesaurar to repay to him agane.

(1608, Aug. 4.)—The Counsell hes ordanit, that the fyft day of August¹ and the fyft day of November, be perpetuale kepit heireftir, for his Maiesteis preferuatioun, according to his Maiesteis desire; becaufe thir tua dayis are preceillie kepit in England and Scotland.

(1611, Jul. 23.)—PROCLAMATIOUN anent the v day of August. Ordanis the fyft day of August to be solemlie kepit; and the proclamatioun to pas about the toun, viz. 'FORSAMKILL as, feing it pleist God, of his great mercie, to gewe delinerance to our fonerane lord the Kingis Maiesteie, frome that conspyred Trestoun, within this burch, aganes his Maiesteis maist sacred persone; it becumis ws thairfoir and his gude subiectis to reioyce and be thankfull thairfoir. I thairfoir command and charge, that all the inhabitantis within this burch and suburbis thairof, this day, as being that day of the moneth quhairon his hienes wes deliuerit, gif testificatioun of thair joyfull hartis, by resorting to the hering of Godis word, at the ringing of the bellis, by setting out of bonfyris, and all wther godlie declaratioun of thair willing and contentit hartis.'

(3.)

CURIA CAPITALIS VICECOMITATUS DE PERTH, tenta in pratorio ejusdem, ultimo die mensis Septembris, anno domini millesimo sexcentesimo, per honorabilem Guilielmum Murray apparen. de Tullibardyn, Viccomitem principalem dict. vicecomitatus. Sectis vocatis, Curia legitime affirmata; idque virtute literarum Commissionis, f. d. n. Regis, quorum tenores sequuntur.

JAMES, be the grace of God, King of Scottis, to all and findrie our leigis and subiectis, quhome it effeiris, to quhais knowlege thir our Letteris fall cum, greting: Forfamekill as, þe office of our scherefschip of our scherefdome of Perthe presentlie vaikis, be deceis of vmq^{le} Johne Erll of Gowrie, quha vorthelie sufferit deathe, in pe actuall executioun of ane horribill and vnnaturall Conspiracie, intendit aganis our awin persone be him; and feing, pat our leigis and subiectis, inhabitantis within our said scherefdome, and vpairis hawing enteres to fuit justice, befoir our schereff of Perthe, ar graittlie prejudgit, throw pe want of an schereff to minister justice vnto pame: As also, feing pat pe heid Court of our said scherefdome now schertlie approcheis: And We, willing pat pe samyn Court salbe haldin, and all thingis proper to be handlit and done in pat judgement, at that tyme, salbe formalie and dewlie profequite and followit furth, as accordis: Thairfoir, We have maid, constituit and ordanit, and be pe tennour heiros, makis, constituitis and ordanis our veil-belouit Williame Murray, appeirand of Tullibardin, our Schereff of our scherefdome of Perthe, &c. &c. Gewin vndir our signet, and subferyuit with our hand, at Dundie, pe tuentie-sewint day of September, and of our regne pe threttie-four 5eir, 1600.

¹ Previous orders exist, in these Books, relative to the observance of the day. The present was selected, as showing the continuance of the custom for a number of years.

(Sic subferibitur) JAMES REX.

LENOX. HUNTLEE. MAR. COMPTROLLER.
SECRETAR. JO. PRESTOUN. MR ALMUSER.¹

THE Schereff foirsaid, hes nominat and creat Mr Johne Moncreiff of Eister Moncreiff schereff-deput of pe said scherefdom of Perth,² Alexander Campbell and Johne Murray, officearis; quha being present, hes gewin thair aithes for dew and lawchfull administratioun of thair offices, ay and quhill thai be difchaigrit.

No. X.

EXTRACTS from the RECORDS of the CITY OF EDINBURGH.

Sexto Augusti, 1^m.VJ^o.—THE quhilk day, ALEXANDER LORD FYVIE, President, Proveist of this bur^t, Williame Maull, Richerd Doby, Thomas Fischer and Thomas Geddes, bailzeis; David Williamfone, deyne of gild; Johne Jakfone, thefaurer; Henrie Nesbit, Roger M^cNacht, Johnne Moriefoun, Williame Hammitoun, Robert Hereis, Williame Speir, Archibald Adiefou, David Hammitoun saidler, Robert Cokkie goldfmyth, Patrik Sandilandis deacone of the tailzeouris, Robert Bannatyne deacone of the skynneris, David Heriot deacone of the goldfmythis, and Andro Scott deacone of the chirurganes. My Lord Prouest exhibit and causet be red before thame, and in presens of Mr Robert Bruce, Mr James Balfour, and Ministeris of this bur^t, ane Lettre Misfue direct from Falkland to his lordschip, be David Moyfes writter, declayring, at lenth, the forme and maner the tressonabill Conspiracie intendet be vmq^{le} Erle of Gowrie and Mr Alexander his brother, for inythoring of his Maiestie in the said lordis hous, yisterday, at afternone, the fyft of this moneth; and how his Maiestie, be the Prouidence of God, escaippet the samyn. And als, producet ane vther Lettre, presentet be Sir Patrik Mvrray, direct be his M. to my Lord Chancellare, anent the sam mater; and bering ane command to the Ministrie, to conveyne thair flokis, and pray to God for his Maieftis delyuerie; and als, that the Castell fuld schwitt thair haill ordinance; and the haill bellis of this bur^t fuld regne, for joy of his Maieftis preservatioun. QUHILK being red and publikt to the said Ministeris, beand personallie present, thay tuik thame to thair advysement; and the said Prouest, Baillies and Counsell, for thair partis, thanket God for his Maieftis preservatioun; and ordanet that the haill bellis of this bur^t fuld be rung, and bayne-fyris fet furth. And appoyntes Thomas Fyfehear and Thomas Geddes to pas to the Secreitt Counfall, and declair to thame the tounis mynd; and to inquire quhen the said bellis fall ryng, and quhow lang.

(Aug. 6.)—THE said Prouest, Baillies and Counfall, beand convenit, at afternone, fyndis expedient, and ordanis, that Thomas Fyfehear and Androw Scott be direct to Falkland, to his Maieftie, with thair Lettre Miffiue, to congratulat his Maiefteis delyuerie, requyre his Maiefteis owercoming, and to offer the tounis feruice.

¹ The Master Almoner.

² The preceding entry is dated Aug. 2, Mr Johne Moncreiff being Sheriff-depute. His reappointment is of course dated Sept. 30, 1600.

(Aug. 8.)—The Baillies, deyne of gild, thefaurer, and maift pairt of the Counfall, beand convenit, vnderftanding that his Maieftie is to cum ower the watter on Monunday nixt.¹ Thairfore, fyndis expedient, that the haill Counfall meitt his Maieftie the faid day, in thair beft armour; and ordanis at the nichtbouris be wayrnet to that effect, ilk perfoun vnder the payne of xx li.

(Aug. 15.)—The Baillies, thefaurer and maift pairt of the Counfall beand convenit, ordanis Johne Jakfoun thefaurer, to pay to Thomas Fyfehear baillie, the fowme of twenty-ane pundis xj f. for the expenffis deburfet be him and Andro Scott to Falkland to his M. be directioun of the Counfall, and for thair expenffis maid at his Maiefteis landing at Leyth.

(Oct. 3.)—Item, to pay to the lokman,² xlvi f. viii d. deburfet be him for transporting of the buittis fra Falkland to this bur.³

(Nov. 28.)—Ordanes Patrick Eleifs thefaurer to pay to the pephereris and tua extraordiner drummeris nyne merk, and to the townes twa fwafcheris, sax li. fyve f. for thair feruice at this laft Parliament; quhilk falbe allowit to him in his comptis.

NO. XI.

EXTRACTS FROM ROBERT BIRREL'S 'DIAREY.'⁴

The 5 day of Augufte, his M. the King, being invittit be the Earle of Gowrie to bankit with him, in the faid Earle his hous at St Johneftoune; the faid Earle and his brother bearing, or haueing malice and deidlie hatred in thair haitis, aganis the King, thair naturall Prince; thair haid devyfit a way to haue tane his lyiff: Bot the Lord preventit ther intentioun. The maner of the Conspiracie wes—Quhen they fund occatioun that his M. haill Nobillis and courteouris wer gone furthe, the twa brether defyrit his M. to goe and fie thair cabinet. His M., a blif fould! thinking of no ewill, went with thame, quhair they enterit in grips with him, with dageris, to haue flaine him. The King of Kingis, the great God, gaue him ftrethe, fua that he cuift the M^r of Gowrie vnder his feit; and befor the Lord his brother come to his M. he cryit our ane window, 'Trefone! Trefone!' In the maue tyme, the foirfaid twa brether had ane mane, ftanding behind the tapeftrie, in armes, with ane twa-handit fword in his hand; quha wes ordeinit, giue thair fould come any helpe, he fould come furthe and keipe the dair till the Murder fould be done. Bot it pleafit God that he wes maid powerles, and could not ftir out of the place quhair he fluid. In the meine tyme, that hes M. and the twa brether are at the wriffelling, Thomas Erkeine and Johne Ramfay, hes Ma. Page of honour for the tyme, come rinnig vpe to the cabinet, quhair thair presentlie wes hand payment. At the leift, the twa brether, Confpyreris of his M. baithe wer ftikit; and the Lord preferuit the holy, innocent Prince.

(Aug. 6.)—The newis come to Edinburgh, the 6 day of Auguft, that his M. had efcappit fic ane danger; quhairat, thair wes fic joy, that the cannonis fehott, the bellis range, the trumpettis foundit, the drumes ftrak. The toune raife in armes, with fhutting of mukettis, cafting of fyir-workis and baill-fyirs fet furthe, in fic maner, the lyik wes nevir fene in Scotland, ther wes fic daunceing and mirines all the nicht.

(Eodem die.)—The fame 6 day, in lyik maner, the Earle of Montrois being chanfeller, the Mafter

¹ 'The morne' deleted, and these words interlined.

² The public executioner. Down to a pretty recent date, this officer had a right to his lock, or dishful of meal, out of every sack exposed for sale in the market of Edinburgh. This odious tax was afterwards commuted.

³ This functionary is again sent for, with the buittis, on Apr. 16, 1602, by warrant from his Majesty. They are ordered to be sent at the town's expenses; and accordingly the Treasurer is desired to defray the Lockman's charges, until his return with his infernal instrument. The punishment of 'the buittis,' therefore, can scarcely be supposed to have been very frequent, when the pair belonging to the City of Edinburgh was the only pair to be had. Other entries, in the Town Council Records, prove this fact clearly.

⁴ From Original MS. Adv. Lib. Edinburgh.

of Elphingtoun thefaurer, Sir David Morray comptrower, Sir James Elphinstoune secretar, Sir Johne Prestoun collectour, with fundrie wtheris Nobellis, went to the Croce of Edinburgh; and thair, hard Mr David Lyndefay mak ane orifone, and the hail peiple sett doune on thair kneis, gifing thankis to God for the Kingis deliuerance out of sic ane grait danger.

(Aug. 11.)—The 11 day of August, being Monday, the King came owir the watter. The toune, with the hail fubarbis, met him vpon the Sandis of Leithe, in armes, with grait ioy and schutting of mufcattis and thaking of pickis. He went to the Kirk of Leithe, to Mr David Lyndefays orifone. Thairefter, the toune of Edinburgh haueing commit vpe to Edinburgh, and standing at the Hie-gaitt, his M. past to the Croce, the Croce being hung with tapestrie, and went vpe thairon, with his Nobillis. Mr Patriek Galloway, being thair, made ane Sermon vpon the 124 Psalm. He declairit the hail circumstance of the Trefone proposit by the Erle of Gowrie and his brother: Quhilk, the King testefeit be hes awine mouth, sitting vpon the Croce all the tyme of the Sermon.

(Aug. 12.)—The next day following, at 6 houris at evine, the ffywe Ministeris of Edinburgh banisclit, be oppine Proclamationne and found of trumpet, at the Croce; for not afirment the Kingis wordis, quhilk he ratifiet at the Croce: Thair names, Mr Robert Bruce, Mr James Balfour, Mr William Watfone, Mr Walter Mackankwell, Mr Johne Hall; and chairget thame, that thai com not within tene myllis to his M. nor within ten myllis to Edinburgh; and chairging thame not to teiche and preiche, wnder the pane of daithe.

(Aug. 13.)—The 13 day, ane Proclamatioun, dischairging the Sessioun of the Kirk to fitt with the Elders and deakinis, wnder the pane of horneing and denouncing thame hes M. rebellis.

(Eodem die.)—The 13 day, ane wther Proclamatioun, chairging the hail name of Ruthen not to come neir the King, within tene myllis, wnder the pane of Treassone.

(Aug. 22.)—The 22 of August, thair wes execut in Perth 3 of my Lord Gowreis feruantis, viz. Mr Thomas Cranftoun, George Craingelt and ane callit Barroue.

(Aug. 28.)—The 28 of August, the hail freindis, tutouris and curatouris, and bairnis, pretending any richt to the Earldome of Gowrie, fummoned to compeir to the Parlement, the first day of Nouember.

(Sep. 10, 11.)—The 10 and 11 dayis of September, the Minister(is) accusit before the King and Counsell, in Stirling; at quhilk tyme, thai got leuwe to come hame, bot not to preache within the toune.

Mr Robert Bruce commandit to remane in Earth (Airth.) Thairefter, the said Mr Robert Bruce commandit aff the countrie, yitt he remanit the space of 4 dayis; and thene he wes chairgit, that he come nather in Scotland, England nor Ireland.

(Sep. 30.)—The last of September, the King commandit that the fyft day of August fould be keipit as ane soleme day, with preiching and pryer, and thanksgivinge, for hes preservatioun from the Treassone of Gowrie, and his brother and his compleffis.

(Oct. 9.)—The nynt of October, ane Proclamatioun, chairging all thame of the name of Ruthane to pas out of the cuntrie; in speciall, Alexander, father brother to the said Earle, and the said Earle his twa brether.

(Nov. 3.)—The 3 of Nouember, Mr Robert Bruce tuik fea and maid fail at 10 houris at evine, efter he had gotten fundrie chairges to pas out of the cuntrie, wnder the pane of Treassone.

(Nov. 15.)—The 15 of Nouember, being the ryding-day of Parliament, the Earle Gowrie and his brether, and his fathers brother, with twa other and his muncreis¹ of their dependers all forfaulted.

(Eodem die.)—The same day, Sir Thomas Erken maid Lord of Direltoun, Johne Ramsay and Hew Hares knychtit, and Sir Thomas Erkenis man made gentleman.

(Nov. 19.)—The 19 of Nouember, the Earle of Gowrie and his brother haulit² to the gibbit and ¹ This seems unintelligible. The other MS., in Advocates' Library, reads 'mantles,' which by no means clears the matter. The scroll from which the MS. was copied, probably read 'hev muncreif,' (Hew Moncrief,) which had been written so indistinctly as to puzzle the transcriber.

² Hauled, dragged in a hurdle.

hangit and quarterit : And thairefter, thair twa headis fet vpoun the haid of the prifone-hous ; thair to stand quhill the wind blaw thame away.

(Dec. 19.)—The 19 of December, thair wes banifchit of the Ministrie Mr Williame Vاتفone, Mr James Balfour, Mr Valter Balcanquell.

(Aug. 5, 1601.)—The 5 day of Auguft, keipit holy day, with pretching baith befor none and efter noon in all the Kirks of Edr. Bail-fyris fet out : Graitt merthe and joyfulnes, for hes M. prefervatioune frome sic ane danger, as the Lord preferue him fra the lyik.

(Nov. 18.)—The 18 day, ane Proclamatioune maid, that all thame of the name of Ruthane fould change thair names ; and that thai come not neir the King be 10 mylles, wnder the pane of Treffone.

No. XII.

EXTRACTS from FLEMING'S CHRONICLE.—MS. Advocates' Library.

(May 20.)—The Erll of Gowrie come to Perth, efter fewin 3eiris peregrinatioun in wther cuntreis.

(Jun. 28.)—The executioun of David Drummond, for the slauchter of George Ramfayis man ; the first Justice Court that ewer Johne Erll of Gowrie held, efter his returne.

(Aug. 5.)—The Slauchter of Johne Erll of Gowrie, and Mr Alexander his brother, in the Erllis awin ludgeing in Perth, be Johne Ramfay and Doctour Heres, his Maieftis feruandis. Praifit be God ! the King wes faiff fra thair intendit Treafone aganes his facred perfone. The toun knew nothing till the commoun bell rang.

()—The Toun of Dundie being aduerteifit, come all wp in armes to haive spoilzeit the burch of Perth ; bot praifit be God, the King knew the toun of Perthis part to be frie.

()—Mr Thomas Cranftoun, George Craingelt and Johne Barroun, feruantis to the Erll of Gowrie, wer hangit at the croce of Perth, for art and part of the Conspiracie.

(Sep. 29.)—Thair wes bonesyres fett furth in Perth, and all partis of the cuntrie, for his Maieftis deliuerie from that Treafone ; and preiching appointit ewerie Tuifday in ewerie burch.

(Oct. 30.)—The coirpis of the Erll of Gowrie and his brother wer transportit to Edr, to the Parliament, to be hauldin the first of November ; and wer foirfaltit, the xj of November.

()—Johne Ramfay wes knychtit of West Barnes, and Hew Heres of Cowlland.—Sir Thomas Erkyne maid Lord Dirltoun.

()—Andro Henderfone fett to libertie, and receivit his office of Chalmerlanrie.

(15 Aprilis, 1601.)—The Kingis Maieftie come to Perth, and wes maid burges at the mercat croce. Thair wes aucht punfcheonis of wyne fett thair, and all druckin out. He reffaut the banquet fra the toun, and subferiuit the Gilde-buik, with his awin hand, ' JACOBUS REX, parcere fubiectis et debellare fuperbos.'

No. XIII.

MEMORIALS of DISCOURSES, SERMONS, and ORATIONS, delivered immediately after the Occurrence of GOWRIE'S CONSPIRACY.

[A GREAT variety of Orations, &c. delivered on the occasion of the Conspiracy, have been printed, both in Scotland and in England, on the recurrence of the anniversary. It has been thought of considerable importance, towards elucidating this subject, to print such of those memorandums of Original and unpublished Discourses, as have been preserved by the indefatigable Calderwood and Wodrow, in their MS. Collections. They undoubtedly contain the very expressions made use of by various of the orators, who then addressed the people, so recently after the occurrence took place. The intrinsic curiosity and value of these specimens of popular oratory, cannot fail to be appreciated, independently of their connexion with the immediate object of their introduction in the present Collection.]

(1.) DISCOURSE ON PSALM CXXIV. BY MR PATRICK GALLOWAY, one of the Ministers of the King's Household.

[THIS Discourse was delivered at the Cross of Edinburgh, in presence of King James, on Monday 11th August, 1600. On that day, his Majesty crossed the Firth, and landed at Leith; when, to use the words of a contemporary writer, 'The citizens of Edinburgh were attending upon him in their armes. Mr David Lindfay, minister at Leith, takes him to the kirk, exhorteth him after thanksgiving to performe his vow, made before times, of performance of justice; at which words he smyled, and talked with these that were about him, after his unreverent manner of behaviour at sermons. Thereafter, he went up to Edinburgh, and sat upon the merkato-croce, cloathed with tapestry, accompanied with some of the Nobility, where Mr Patrick Galloway made a sermon to the people convened about the cross and the King, in harangue, both tending to persuade the people that Gowrie and his brother had verily conspired the Kings death, and were slain in the execution of the interprize.'—Calderwood's History, MS. Adv. Library, Vol. V. p. 393.—This and the other Discourse by Galloway have been often referred to, by writers on the subject of the Gowrie Conspiracy. It is probable that the first of them contains all that was delivered at the time; and the Sermon, to which the other 'harangue' served as the Application, does not seem to have been preserved.—See Bannatyne Club Miscellany, Vol. I. p. 141.]

DAVID, the King, composit this psalme, efter that he had bein freed fra the grit danger of his deedlie enemies. In it, he dois thrie thingis especiallie,—[he] fettis doune his danger, his delyuerie fra the danger, and his thanckfulnes to God for his delyuerie; and in sick fort, that almost all the thrie is includit in euerie verse. His danger was this, that he had fallin into the handis of men, and men oulie, naturall men, that had not ane spunk of grace, or of that spreit; and the thing that agregis¹ his danger, is the properties of thir men, crueltie and craft; quhillk becomes rather bruit beistis then men. Their crueltie is fett doune be tua comparisounes, ane taine fra beistis, ane other taine fra the watteris;² fluidis, proud and fuallein, that with thair force caries with them euerie thing that is objected to thair force. Thair craft is fett doune, be ane similitude, tane fra the fouller, quha be his craft oucoueris the poore foull with his nett and catchis it. This is the danger Dauid was in! Or I gang foruard, I obserue ane lessoune, and that for your Majesties vse. Sir! I fie this is not the first tyme that kingis, good kingis, euen kingis quhome the Lord hes chofin according to his auin bert, hes fallin be Godis permissioun, vnto the handis of men, men cruell and craftie, and hes bein delyuert also fra thame. But quhairto? Not to the end, they fuld leif according to the fassoune of the world, bot that they fuld be new men, and schau ther gratitude to God, as Dauid did; heiroy, quhillk we fall speick heirefter. As to his delyuerie, it wes not fra man bot fra God, and therfor he opinlie proclames, that excep the Lord had bein with vs, men had fuallouit him vp, according to the fassoune of beistis; and therfor, he tackis him to God, quhilk is his gratitude, and ascryves his delyuerie halie to him, quhil he fayis, ‘our help is in the name of the Lord.’

¹ Aggravates. ² In the manuscript the letter v is generally substituted for w; thus, 'watteris,' for 'watteris,' &c. 'with,' for 'with,' &c.; a peculiarity, which it is not thought necessary should be here adopted.

This, schortlie, concerning the danger that Dauid was in; his delyuerie, and his thanckfulnes for his delyuerie. The lyck caus we haue in hand, presentlie. Our King, our Dauid, our Anointed, has bein in danger deedlie, and is delyuerit, praised be God! For the quhilk, baith he, and ye, and we, hes occasioun to be grate and thanckfull to the Majestie of God, the delyuerer. As to his danger, it is lyck Dauidis, he fell in the handis of men, and men onlie: For, as to that man GAURIE, let nane thinck, that be this tratourous fact of his, our Religioune hes reffaut onie blot; ffor ane of our religioune was he not, bot a deip diffimulat hipocreit! Ane profound Atheist! Ane incarnall deuill, in the cot of ane Angel! As is maist euident, bayth be this tratourous fact, quhilk he had attemptit; and also, be findrie other things, quhilk we have receaut be his familiaris, and the maist deir and neir of his freindis; as the bookes quhilk he ufet, quhilk preiffes him, plainlie, to have bein ane studier of magick, and a conjurer of deuillis, and to haue had sua monie at his command. His maner of living out of the countrie, in hanting with papistis, yea the Pape himself; with quhom he had not conferance onlie, bot farder, hes maid couenand and bandis with him: As appeiris verie weill; for sen his hame comming, he has treuellit maist eirnestlie with the King, and his Majestie hes receaued fra him the hardest affalt, that euer he did, fra him; I say, to reuolt fra Religioune; at leist, in inuair sinceritie, to interteine purpose with the Pape, and he himself promeisit to furneis intelligence!—Wes sick ane man of the religienne? Or can onie man say that our religioune is stamed, be the doings of sick ane man? Na not! He wes nothing but ane man; and our Dauidis danger wes, that he had fallin in the handis of men. Nou, that ye may knau the danger the better, I fall receite the historie to you; enen as it wes befor my God, quha ane day salbe my Judge, as he sal beir me record, and befor my Prince and Soweraine, and befor yow all, quha ane day fall stand vp and beir witnefs agans me, in cais, in ony point, I lie.

On Twyfday last was, Alexander Ruthven cam to Facland to his Majestie, and fand him at his pastyme, and defyrit him to ga to St Jonstoun; and sua, he leidis him fra Facland to Perth, as ane maist innocent lamb, fra his palice to the slauchter-hous. Thair he gettis his denner, ane cauld denner, yea, ane veri cauld denner! as they kend quha was thair. Efter denner, Alexander Ruthven leidis his Majestie up ane turnpeyk, and throuch ane trans, the dore qubairof, sa sone as they had enterit in, chekit to with ane lok; then throw ane galery, quhais dore also cheket to; throw ane chalmer, and the dore thairof cheket to also; and, last of all, bringis him to ane rounde, skairs fax feit breid, and fax feit weyd, and the dore thairof he lokkit also; in the quhilk, their was standing ane armit man, with ane drawin dagger in his hand, to have done this filthie turne, the maist unnaturallie, and contraire that dutie quhilk we aw to Princes. Then Alexander coweris his heid, and says, ‘I am fuir thy hairt accusis thé now! Thow was the deid of my father; and heir is ane dager to be awengit upon the for that deid!’ Now, judg ye, guid people, quhat danger your Dauid was in! quhen, as ane innocent lamb, he wes closit wp betuix twa hungerie lyounis, thrifing for his blud; and four lokks betuix him and his freindis, and his servandis; sua that they nicht neither beir nor harkin him. This was his danger! But quhat fort of delyverie gat he? It was holy miraculous, altogether to be ascrywit to God, and no part to man! And amang mony that occurrit, I fall poynt out unto you fyue or fax circumstances, quhilk ye will all call and acknawleg to be miraculous! And first, his Majestie, standing betuix twa armit men, without all kynd of armour, hawing nathing on but his hunting-horne about his neck; quhen he, at his entry, fuld have bein astonisheit at the sight of ane armit man to tak his lyf, yeit, on the contrair part, this man was sa astonisheit at his sight, that he nicht nether moue fute nor hand: Was not this miraculous? But yeit, farder, quhen Alexander had tane him be thegorget, and had haldin the dager to his breist, not twa vnce (inck) fra it, sua that their was skers twa vnce betuix his deid and his lyf; yeit, ewin then, be his gracious, christiane, and maist lowing wordis, he ouercame, the traitour. The wordis wes this: ‘Maſter! conſider that ye ar ane Chriſtiane; and farther, that hitherto ye haue bein tranit wp in the principallis and groundis of Chriſtianitie! And then couſidder, Maſter, how ye wes brocht up in the ſchuill, quhilk hes fend fo mony noble and haly youth, the Colledge of Edinburgh, vnder Mr Robert Rollok, that haly man, and maiſt worthy of all gud memory, quha wald never haue teichit yow to put hand in your Prince! And laſt of all, Maſter, ſuppois ye taik my lyf, nether ye nor your brother will be King efter me; ye (yea), the ſubjects of Scotland will ruit yow out, and all your name!’ Thir wordis ſua movit the hart of the traitour, that he beguith to enter in conditionis with the King, and maid him fueir (quhilk he alſo did) that all theis thingis ſould be forȝeit; and that efter, he ſuld ever be ſaworable to him and his brother: And ſua, he gaid forth to his brother, fra quhom he reſavit commiſſiounne to diſpach him haſtely. He then coming wp agane, brings ane pair of ſilk gartanis in his hand, and efter he had lokkit the door, ſayis, ‘Tratour, thou man die! And thairfor lay thy handis together, that I may bind thé:’ To the intent, na doubt, that he being bund, thei nicht haue ſranglit him, and caſtin him in a coif, or pit, quhilk thei had preparit for that uſe; that na blud being found, his freindis nicht niſs him without ſuſpiciounne, and not witt quhair to ſeik him. Now heir is the thrid miracle! The King anſueris the traitour, ‘I was borne ane frie Prince! I have liſt hetherto ane frie Prince! I ſal never die bund!’ With this, every ane of them greips to vtheris gorgetis, quhill in waſſling the King ouercoms, and getis him under him. Now is not this miraculouſ? Will ony conſider it? The Maſter of Gourie, ane able young man, in comperifounne with the King, I am aſſurit had ſtrength doubill, yea and threfald greiter nor the King, and yeit is ouercome and caſtin vnder. Quhill thei ar thus worſling, up comes John Ramſay, be the black turnpyk, and at the Kings command, gives the Maſter ane deid ſtraik. Now yeit ane miracle! My Lord being in the cloſe, quhen he hard that the Maſter was ſlayne, ſa he had bewiehit the hartis of thir people of Parth, be the counterfeit vertewes he had begun to kyth among them, that gif he had cryit, ‘My brother is murtherit!’ the ſame people had ſaikit that ſame haill hous: Bot yeit, ſa the Lord directis be his Providence, that he coms vp the ſteir, immediatlie, with aucht with him: And mark, how that ſame word quhilk thei had preparit to be ane word for the keiping cloſ of thair knavrie, God vſit as ane mein for the preſervatiounne of the Prince: For thei had appointit this for their wachword, ‘The King is gane to the Vuice!’¹ Quhilk word his ſervandis heiring, ran about to meit his Maſteſtie in the Vuice; and going by the window, quhair the King and the Maſter was worſling, hard the Kings ſkreichs and cryis; quhilk hes tane ſic impreſſiounne in their hairt, that, ſa long as they leiſ, will never gang out of them, and is heir ſitting to beir witneſs to it. The cry was, ‘Treaſounne! Fy! Help, Yearle of Marr! I am murderit!’ The Kingis ſervandis heiring his cryis, incontinent cumſ vp this black turnpyk: Now yeit ane miracle! Into the chamber with the King is only four; twa ladis and twa men, and ane of the men mutilate:² My Lord, ane man weill exerceiſit in his arms, coms vp, and aucht with him; and at the firſt, calſ vp all thir four in ane nuik;³ and never ſtayis, quhill Jone Ramſay chancit to cry, ‘Fy upon the, cruel Tratour! Hes thou not done evil anuch ells? Thou hes gotten the Kingis lyf ells, and wald thou have ouris to?’ At quhilk ſpeiche, he drew ane lytle bak; and in bak-going, he gat the ſtraik quhair of he deid.

This is the vary [trewth] of the fact, quhilk I haue reſavit, (not be the Kingis Maſteſtie,) bot be him quha ſuld haue bein the doar of the turne. He is livand yeit; he is not ſlaine; ane man weil anuch knavne to this tounne; Andro Henderfounne, chamberlane to my Lord of Gourie. This day I reſavit ane letter fra him, wrytin be his awin hand, ſubſcryvit be his awin hand: Ony man that wald ſie it, come to me, and ſie gif thei can knaw his hand-wryt, for their ſatiſfactionne. The tennour of the letter is this: ‘It is of treuth, that on Twyſday laſt, I was commandit be my Lord of Gourie, to ryd with his brother to Falkland; fra the quhilk he fend me bak againe to tell my Lord, that the King was comming, and to bid prepar for his comming. My Lord commandit me to put on my secreit, and my plait fleif, and to wayt on the Master, and do quatever he bad me. At the Masteris lighting, I went to him, and tauld him of my Lordis command, quhilk I had refawit. He taks me with him up a turnepyk, throw ane trans, ane gabrie, and chamber, and loks me into the round that gois aff the chamber: at quhilk doing, I beguith to grow fleit, and suspect sum evil agans the King; and then I tuik me to my kneis to pray, that it wald pleis his Majestie never to suffer me to be imployit to sick ane turne: And quhill I was fetting on my kneis, Mr Alexander come into the round [with the King in his hand.] The rest of his narration differs almost nothing from this¹] quhilk ye have hard, according to the Kingis informatioun: This only, he felchew the maner how he chappit² to have bein thus: Quhen the King and the Master war worling, he opnit the dore and gaid doune be the black turnepye,—be the quhilk the Kingis servands came up, and saifit him.

¹ The South Inch of Perth.

² ‘Dr Herries,’ Sir Hugh Herries of Couſland had a club foot, which would of courſe impede his motions in fencing.

³ At the firſt onſet or aſſault, forces or drives them up into a corner.

This is the verity, quhilk will fatisfy ony gude subject; for as for thir romuris that gois, that the King was ane doar, and not ane sufferer; ane persewar, and not persewit, it is not true, nor lickly:—For think ye, hawin sick ane turne in his hand, he wald go to thair towne, in quhilk he was sa meikle esteimit, accompanyt with sic few folks, only ten persouns; and sic men, quha as I am assurit wald have bein content to have bled their hail blud with my Lord of Gourie, and it had not bein in ane actioun agaus the King! The Duik his good brother, the Yearle of Mar his good father, quha, at that unhappie and curfit tyme he was baptizit, gave him the name. As for sik as will not be fatisfit with this, let them perisich in their incredulitie: Their is evidencis anuch of the verity. Now, quhat am I that speikis thir thingis? Ane, (as I will prctest befor God,) quha lowit the Yearle of Gourie better nor ony flesch in the eirth, acceptis his Majestie.³

(2.) EXTRACT from a SERMON on the Conversion of Zaccheus, Luke, cap. xix.
By MR WILLIAM COWPER, one of the Ministers of Perth.

[THIS Discourse was preached in St Giles's Church, Edinburgh, Sunday, August 24, 1600. Cowper had been sent for, to preach in one of the vacant churches of Edinburgh, after the Ministers there had been banished from the town; as stated in Mr Bruce's Account of his Troubles at that time. The Application only of Cowper's Sermon has been copied, as being all that relates to this transaction. The MS. volume containing it, along with other of his Sermons, supposed to be in his handwriting, at one time belonged to the late Mr Scott, one of the Ministers of Perth, who has made particular mention of it in his History of John Earl of Gowrie. It had formerly been the property of George Adamson, and subsequently belonged to Mr James Cant, the well-known Editor and annotator of an old Historical Poem by Mr Henry Adamson, from whom Mr Scott obtained the MS.]

QUHAT fall we doe then, bot haue our recourse to that grace of Jefus Christ, that onlie is able to change vs? And especiallie, let vs seek it at this tyme, that now we abyde not in the hardnes of our heart, quhen the Lord, both by his word and works, is sa fast calling for our repentance; and I think, amongst all the works of God that feruis to humble us, this last miserable enent is one of the first.

I know there is mony of yow bot thinks of it as I did my self quhen I heard first of it: I thought, indeid, he had sufferit as ane innocent; and quhat greif then it wrought in me, my owne conscience beareth me record! The lose of an earthlie cretur went neuer so neir my heart. And the first thing that ever chiled my affectioun toward him, wes ane appeirance that he had gone without the compas of godlines;¹ quhilk maid me then to say thir words vnto my people; ‘ I know,’ said I, ‘ it is light that first mon satisfie your discontentit myndis; and, thairfore, the Father of Light fend light! Bot I am forrowfull from myne heart, that the light that is, maks against him quhom we loued; and if this light break out as it is begunne, we will find our selues disappoyntit of our hope!’ And that quhilk I spake than vnto thame, I speake presently vnto yow: ‘ The light, that hitherto God hes discouerit in that matter, enclynes to the cleiring of his Majesties innocencie, and layis ane blame on the other.’ And if ye craue my reffoun, I say, it is the testimony of his seruant, that presentlie is in prisoun;² quhilk, in my judgment, is mekle to be regairdit: For I haue knowen him now this four or fyue yeiris bygane, and can give him no other witnes, bot that quhilk both toune and countrie will giue vnto him; that is, the testimonie of a man that feareth God, and delt vpryghtlie with all men. And quhair as, some of yow thinks that he is bot ane suppositiis man, and that his Depositioun is rather a policie then any veritie; that is mair incredible to me, nor any other thing of this actioun vnto yow; and if my testimonie can haue ony credit with yow, I will beare to yow record, that it is verifeit vnto me by honest men of our toune, that he wes seene come down the stair from that chalmer quhairin the King wes, before ony of the Kingis seruants enterit vp, except only John Ramsay, or before my Lord enterit in. And quhat his Depositioun is, I will tell yow shortlie,³ &c. Now, [before] I leaue this, there is thrie thingis I will touch shortlie: The ane is concerning the bretherin of the Ministrie: This doing of myne may seeme to condampne thame in a fault; bot I hope no wise man will thinck so, quhen he considereth, that ane preachour may speake that with ane warrand, quhilk ane other may not. The nixt thing concernis his Majestie: We are to craue of God, that this wairning may work amendement in him, and a great caire to purge the countrie of the great contempt of the Gospell, and of the innocent blud, quhairwith it is defyled: For I saw neuer yet thir great temporall delyuerances fra danger, quhair they wrought not a turning of the heart vnto God, bot they were ay for-rinners of ane greater temporal judgement. And the last concernis yow that are his People: I exhort yow, in the name of God, to thinke reverentlie of your Prince; remembering, that Salomon binds your consciences not to speake ill of him, even in your secreit chalmers.

¹ In the MS., which is in a contemporary hand, with a few corrections, apparently by the author, some words are illegible; but are supplid from Calderwood who has inserted both of the Discourses by Galloway in his History.—MS. Hist. vol. v. ² Escaped. ³ Calderwood, mentions, that after the foregoing 'harrangue' was ended, they sung the 124th psalme; and makes the following remark: 'Mr Patrick Galloway his harangue did not perswade many, partly, because he was a flattering preacher, and partly, because others were named before Henderson to be the armed man in the studie; to wit, Oliphant, Leslie, and Younger, who was slaine.' Henderson is described as 'a man of low stature, rudie countenance, and brown bearded,' and the King himself being asked 'by the Goodman of Pitmillie, "whether Henderson was the man?"' Answered, That "it was not he, he [the King] knew that surick well enough."

(3.) The APPLICATION of the XXX PSALME, Prechit be MR PATRIK GAL-LOWAY, the last of August, 1600, befor his Majestie, in Glasgow.

Now I suld end, gif I had not to let you sie, in the Applicatioun of this Psalme, that as Dauid and his pepill had than just occasioun to prais God, sa our Dauid and we haif now just occasioun to prais God: Dauid than in danger, our Dauid has now bene in danger; Dauid than delyuerit in the heich mercie of God, our Dauid now delyuerit in the heich mercie of God. Now, the Lord of Hevin, that is present with us, as he has gevin us proif of the ane, sa mot he gif us the proif of the wther, that we may be thankfull for this great grace; for, concerning the danger, Dauid was neuer in gretar danger nor our Dauid; his delyuerance, neuer mair magnificent than the delyuerance of our Dauid; and thairfor, we haif as just occasioun, as euer Dauid had, to prais God. Tak tent then; I think thair is heir na small number that neuer hes hard the danger quhairin the Kings Majestie has bene in; or gif thair haif hard, than haif thair hard a poysontit wntreuth. Thairfor, to cleir the treuth, I will thaw yow the storie trewlie.

His Majestie, be persuasioun of the Maister of Gaurie, was led fra his pastyme to Sanct Jhouestoun, (tak tent that ye may efchew fals informatioun!) Quhen he comis thair, and enteris in my Lordis

¹ This, Mr Scott, in another place, asserts to be ‘ the Earl’s being infected with the weak and eriminal credulity of those times, with regard to pretended Prophecies and use of Enchantments. That he was so infected seems to be incontestable.’ ² Alluding to the evidence of Andrew Henderson. ³ The Deposition of Henderson is not contained in the Manuscript, but it had been read to the people at this place; at least an abstract of it would be recited.

Judging, efter ane cauld denner, and ane far caulder welcome, his Majestie is tane be the hand be the Master of Gaurie, and led wp ane stair, thre or four durris all lokit on his bak, nather friend nor servant with him; and thair is fitting a man, preparit to joyne with the wther, to the tressonabill murdering of his Majestie! Quhen he is fet betuixt these twa, the Master of Gaurie, a vyll traitour! na foner cumis the King in, but to testifie that all reuerence of a Christian to his God, and of a subject to his prince, was strampit wnder fute, he puttis on his hat, drawis his dager,¹ and fays, ‘ I fall now be avengit on thé for my fatheris slauchter.’ But the Lord flayit the dager, that he duelt not sryk with it. Quhen the ire of this traitour was sumthing mitigat, be the Kingis modest language, he gois out, leifing the wther man to keip him; appeirandlie, to get furder resolutionn of his brother. Agane he cumis in, as a wod lyoun, and enteris wpon his Majestie, with his gartanis to bind him. Nobill men, and citizens of St Jhonestoun, hard his Majestie cry, ‘ Tressoun! I am mureidreit!’ as the voyce of ane half deid man. Let vyle knavis fay athort the cuntrie quhat they will, this is the treuth! I ken weill thair is mony furmises of the pepill castin in withal, to breid ane evill confait of the Kingis Majestie, in the hairtis of the pepill. I will tell pairt of thame. This is ane: ‘ How can it be sik a nobill man as the Erle of Gaurie, sa weill brocht up, culd haif fosterit sik a tressoun?’ This wald appeir to carie sumthing with it; but, in very deid, hes na probabilitie. If the Erle had bidden still in Scotland, and keipit that education quhilk he gat wnder that worthie man, Mr Robert Rollok, he mycht perchance not haif attemptit sik ane tressoun. But quhen he zeid to Padua, thair he studieit Nigromancie: his awin pedagog, Mr William Rin, testifies that he had these characters ay upone him, quhilk he luist sa, that gif he had forgot to put thame in his breikis, he wald rin up and down lyk a mad man; and he had thame wpon him quhen he was slain: And as thair testifie that saw it, he culd not bleid sa lang as thair war wpon him. He that this wyfe castis of all reuerence to his God, quhat reuerence can he haif to ane eirthlie king? Ane wther questioun, I ken, wilbe muist. Sum will fay, ‘ Sall we trew² that he culd haif devyfit, his allane, sik a tressoun?’ ‘ Culd he haif enterpryfit sik a work without a bak?’ I dout not bot he had ane bak! The Lord discouer it! And I am assurit he fall at last discouer it! And, as I haif said befor to your Majestie, I fay yet, and ye try it not out, ye fall yit sum day mak us all ane sorrowfull morning; if ye rype not wp the fontaine thair of, it is a manifest tempting of God! And I exhort your Majestie and Counfall to do it, as thair will anfuere to God, befoir quhom thair falbe countit traitouris, one day, if thair keip up the leif chope of it, quhilk they can try out. But to meit the questioun, it is na meruell, suppois it be hid, for the Erle of Gawrie was a man of exceeding great seecreie; thair was not ane man he wald reveil it to. His awin pedagog, Mr William Rin, said, that the Erle, talking of tressoun against Princes, said, that ‘ gif the rycht hand wist quhat the left hand was doeand, he was not to be compted a man:’ and thairfoir, I trow indeid, thair was none wpon the foreknowledge of the executionn but the Erle, and his brother, and the Deuill, that led thame bayth. I ken thair wilbe a third questioun, ‘ Is thair nane can beir witnes to it?’ God forgiue thame that fay, ‘ the King is a partie, he can not be beleuit;’ and thow war a guid Christian, thow fould rys up and fay, I am ane partie, and the King, that neuer hes bene a liar, suld be beleuit him self, and not sik suspicious furmises spred abroad. But I go on: Thair was thair nobill men, his Majesties seruandis, and citizens of Sanct Jhonestoun, quha saw his Majestie carieit thair without ony wapin, but his hunting horne about his craig; fowr durris all lokkit wpon him; my Lord Duke, the Erle of Mar, baillieis and burgefles, faw his handis in the Kingis face and throt. If they will not beleue thame, quhom will thai beleif? Fy wpon wncredulous and malicious hairtis! I fay mair for the treuth: Andro Henderfoun, a man to that hour approuit guid and zealous, and without fpot all the dayis of his lyf; this man, perforce, is put into the rowme, without ony foreknowledge; this man yit liveth; euerie man hes acces to him; this man, as befoir he was maid be God ane inftrument to faif the King, fa now he is maid ane inftrument of the Kingis honour, to tell the treuth. I muft fpeir heir, becaus fum fayis, ‘Quhill we fie him die on the fcaffald for it, we will neuer beleif it!’ Fy on it! that his Maieftie fould execut him that fauit his lyf, for thair plesour! I man fay, in my confeience, that man is rather worthie of rewaird nor of punillment; and I trow, not a man that feiris God, but he will consent to it. But he was put in, be the prouidence of God, to be ane inftrument of your delyuerance. Now, as ye haif hard the danger, tak tent alfo how he was delyuerit. As Dauid faid, ‘Lord, thow hes exalted me, and not maid my fois to rejoys ouer me,’ iustlie may your Maieftie fay, ‘I was in deidlie danger, and thow, Lord, hes luikit on me.’ Quhen I confider his Maiefties delyuerance, I man fay, thair was not ane circumstance of that actionn, but ilkane is a wonderful preferatioun! First, quhen the Erle of Gaurie and his brother takis that man, and puttis him in, and fayis to him simplie, ‘Do quhat my brother commandis thé,’ they thought he fuld haif put to his hand to do the turne; but God cumis down fra hevin, and alteris the man. Na foner cumis the King in, but he cryis, ‘Allace! allace! wo is me!’ Is not this ane great work of God? He that fuld haif flane his Maieftie, is maid ane inftrument of his fafetie! And quhen the Master of Gawrie is bringand down, to flay his Maieftie, he withhaldis his hand. Thridlie, quhen the master of ane cruel tiger is maid as it war ane dow, faying, ‘I will promeis yow your lyf, fir, gif ye will hald your twng.’ Fy, tratour! Quhat had he to do with his Maiefties lyf? But he is mitigat be the Kingis modeft wordis! ‘Ye and I cum in wnder freindship; ye ar a Christian, brocht wp under that guid man, Mr Robert Rollok; quby wald ye put handis in your Prince?’ With this he gangis out, and shortlie cumis in agane, and as a tiger enteris upon his Maieftie. This is a mervell! He was far beyond the King in strenth; and yit the leving God fa strenthened his Maieftie, that he gat him wnder his fute. And laft, quhen the Erle of Gawrie caufit cry, ‘The King is away!’ they, running out to follow his Maieftie, heir his voyce. Agane, quhen the Erle, and fevin men with him, cumis in againft fowr, he himfelf is flane be these fowr, and the rest of his cumpanie hurt and put to flicht. Yea, had Gawrie bidden still on the calfay, and faid, ‘The tratouris about the King hes flane my brother,’ all the men of Sanct Jhonestoun had rushit in with him. But the Lord wrocht wtherwys! And thairfor, as Dauid faid, fa fuld your Maieftie fay, ‘O Lord, I will magnifie thee, becaus thow hes exalted me.’

¹ Calderwood, who strenuously professes disbelief of the whole matter, makes this observation:—‘ In this harangue Mr Patrick saith, that Mr Alexander “ drew his dagger,” which would seem to be his own dagger, and not the armed man’s standing in the study, as is related in the discourse. But it is certain that Mr Alexander had no dagger. But leaving this speech as ambiguous, it is to be considered, That Mr Patrick doubteth not but he had a back to the enterprize, and prayeth the Lord to discover it, exhorts the King and Counsel to try out the fountain of it: And yet, forgetting himself, he saith immediately after, That the Erle was a man of exceeding great seecreie; and there was no man to whom he would reveal it; and that he believed there was none upon the foreknowledge of the executionn, but the Erle, and his brother, and the Devil. The circumstances that are most unlikely, Mr Patrick turnes all into miracles; but here is need of a true and seen miracle indeed, to make unseen miracles to be believed.’—Calderwood’s Hist. MS. Advocates’ Library.

² Trow, believe.

Now, becaus it is faid, als fallie as ‘the fone fhynis not,’ the King 5eid to Sanct Jhonestoun to flay the Erle of Gawrie, (sic is the spreitis of malicious hairtis!) I wald now haif you, indifferent pepill, quhen the Master of Gawrie cumis to Falkland, and muifis him to come to Perth, I think not threttene in his companie, Judge gif he wald have come to Sanct Jhonestoun, qubilk was Gawries Londoun, thair to haif flane him? Agane, if he wald haif brocht my Lord Duke, the Erles guid brother, and the Erle of Marr his godfather, with him, gif he had bene myndit to flay him? Judge laft of this, quhen his Maieftie is led be the Master of Gaurie, and seperat fra all his folkis, put in ane lytill round, haifing natling but a hunting horne about him! Let indifferent pepill judge heir, whether his Maieftie wald haif bene myndit to flay the Erle of Gaurie or not? Now, quhen I haif fhawin yow the danger, and Deryne delyuerance, fie quhidder our Dauid fuld not fay, ‘I will magnifie thé, O Lord, becaus thou hes exalted me!’ Quhair he fayis, ‘Sanctis fing praisis for me!’ Sie gif we have not juft occaifoun to prais God for the delyuerance of our Dauid; for wofull had bene the eftait of Scotland, yea wofull darknes, if the Lord had not wrocht this delyuerance! The Lord gif your Maieftie a thankfull hairt, and to ws, your fubjectis thankfull hairtis, for your delyuerance!’

(4.) 'ANE ORISOUN,' delivered before the King in Glasgow.

[THE following curious paper is taken from Calderwood's MSS., preserved in Wodrow's Collections, Vol. xliii. No. 59, Advocates' Library. Calderwood records, in his Church History, that when the King arrived in Glasgow, there was likewise 'an ORATION made to him, be one, in name of the Town; congratulating him for the delivery out of the late danger; with a commemoration of their service to him and his progenitors.'—Cald. Church Hist. MS. V. 420. This concludes all the Original MSS. known to the Editor, which preserve notices of popular Addresses of this description, on the subject of the Gowrie Conspiracy. The Editor has again to acknowledge the attention of Mr David Laing, who obligingly communicated his transcript of this paper, which agrees with another copy made by the Editor; and has also been collated with the original Manuscript.]

ALTHOCHT, maist gracious Sovereigne, it lies bein breiffie, in the Latine tung, declairit, quhat is the dewtifull luif of your Hienes subjectis towardis your Majestie, and grit rejoicing for that happie delyverie of your Majesties maist noble persone, fra that trefunabill and detestabill attempt and Conspiracie agaes your Majestie, at Saint Jhonstoun, yit, please your Majestie, let it not seame tedious, in few wordis, for the satisfioun of the present auditour, touching the fume of the mater spokin, quhilk I tak up be this. That albeit, we haue had oftintymes ane joyfull sight of your Hienes presence, praying for your Majestie preservatioun and prosperous reigne; becaus our dewtie, prescryvit be God and rewle of nature did so requyre: For nane thair is sa ignorant, misknawing materis of estait, quha may not know, that in your Hienes preservatioun standis his awin; and that vpon his Majesties lyf dependis the lyf of all. Nevertheles, seing laillie God, of his mercie vnderfull towardis your Hienes and ws your Maiesties subjectis, hes delyverit your Majestie fra the detestabill, cruell, and maist barbarous Conspiracie, attemptit be vnuquhill Jhone Ruthven, Erle of Gowrie, and Mr Alexander his brother, we haif grit mater of joy and glaidnes of heart, and gritter then can be expreffit be outwart signes. For glorious and happie vas that day quhairin your Hienes subjectis did sie your Majestie delyverit out of that feirfull danger, and present perrel of your Hienes lyf, for thair is na man quha may not sie, quhen your Hienes, the father of the commoun veill vas preservit, that the haill estait, lyklye to decay, vas preservit frome ane feirfull desolatioun and wofull miserie, quhilk had enfewit vpon the haill inhabitans of your Hienes realm. Therefoir, your Hienes subjectis, of ane naturall and inteir luif towardis your Majestie, acknowlegis, vith thankfull hartis, the presence of Almightie God, vatching at all tymes ower your Maiestie; and in speciall, this vnderfull benefeit of your hienes preservatioun; rejoicing gladly for the same, and viffing maist earnestlie that your grace may enjoy ane long lyf, beautifeit vith the all bliffingis of the Almightie God. Your Maiestie beholdis how the faces and countenance of all men are set vpon your hienes, quhat manifest signes and evident taikinis apeiris of that exceiding glaidnes and joy, quhilk, conceavit in hart, burstis furthe in tung, vord and countenance! Behold! the cite of Glesgw, quhilk honoris and reverencis your Maiestie, thair supreme lord and King, vith dewtifull honour and singlar obeyfance, as it var raist out of the place, comes furthe as becomes, maist humblie presenting thair service to your hienes, rejoicing for that happie delyverance, and praying to the mightie God, that all thingis may befall happelie and prosperouffie vnto your Maiestie. It is not vnknawin to yow, maist gracious Sovereigne, quhat affectioun, luif and honour, the citizenis of Glesgw hes born and done vnto your Maiesteis maist nobill progenitouris, not spairing to fched thair bluid and hafert all they had; vith quhat dewties and all kynd of guid affectioun thair haue honourit your Maiestie; and how oft your grace hes had a proif of thair maist villing obedience in your Maiesties service: It fowld not seame strang, gif be quhat meane thair can be abill, thair schaw plainlie, maist evident signes of thair guid vill and maist invart luif quhilk thair beir towardis your Maiestie. Quhairfoir, nocht staying your grace vith longe speiche, ve mak ane end; praying the eternall and everlasting God to preserve your hienes, multiplie his grace, sheane above vpon yow; gif vnto your Maieftie ane long lyf, vith eane happie and prosperous reigne; and laft, that croun of eternall felicitie, throw the rychteous meritis of the Lord Jefus. AMEN.

No. XIV.

THE TRIAL OF GEORGE SPROT, Notary in Eyemouth, his DYING CONFES-SION upon the fcaffold, together with various ILLUSTRATIVE DOCUMENTS.

[ALTHOUGH the proceedings against SPROT took place, fo late as the month of Auguft 1608, (being eight years after the Conſpiracy of John Earl of Gowrie and his brother,) and though the conſequent Forfeiture of ROBERT LOGAN of RESTALRIG, in the year 1609, ought each to be inserted, according to the ſtrict chronological order laid down at the commencement of this work; the Editor conſiders it neceſſary, in theſe inſtances, to depart from this rule; ſo as to give a connected and comprehensive view of the entire evidence which our Public Records afford, of this moſt extraordinary tranſaction. The value and intereſt of theſe Papers, it is truſted, will be conſiderably enhanced by this arrangement; and to avoid confuſion or miſtakes, as to dates, &c. they ſhall be carefully noted on the margins. The ſources from which the Editor has procured theſe materials, are in every inſtance mentioned; but wherever this circumſtance is not taken notice of, they muſt be conſidered as taken from the Records of the Court of Juſtiary.]

(1.) Mr Williame Hairt, Juſtice-Depute.

Aug. 1608.

High Treason — Concealment of Gowrie's Conspiracy, &c.

(Aug. 12, 1608.)—GEORGE SPROTE, Notter (notary) in Haymouth (Eyemouth.)

Dilaitit, accuſet and perſewit be Sir Thomas Hammiltoune of Bynnie, of certane treſſonable crymes, contenit in his DITTAY following.

GEORGE SPROTE notter in Eymouth, Ye ar indytit and accuſet, ſforfamekill as vmq^{le} Johnne ſumtyme Erle of Gowrie, haifing maiſt crewallie, detaiftabillie and treſſonabillie conſpyrit, in the moneth of July or thairby, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. yeiris, to Murder our deir and moſt gracious ſouerane, the Kingis moſt ſacred Maieſtie; and haifing impairtit that devillifch purpois to vmq^{le} Robert Logane of Reſtalrig, quha allowit of the ſamyn, and maiſt willinglie and reddelie vnder-tuik to be pairtaker thairof; the ſamyn cuming to your knowlege, at the tymes and in maner perticulerlie eftir ſpecifeit, ye maiſt vnnaturallie, maliciouſlie and treſſonable conceillit the ſamyn; and was airt and pairt thairof, in maner following. IN the firſt, in the ſaid moneth of Julij, the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. yeiris, eftir that ye had perſauet and knawin that dyuerſe Letteris and meſſages had paſt betuix the ſaid ſumtyme Erle and the ſaid Laird of Reſtalrig, ye being in the place of Falſt-Caſtell, ye ſaw and red the begynning of ane Letter writtin with the ſaid vmq^{le} Robert Logane of Reſtalrig his awin hand to the ſaid vmq^{le} Johnne ſumtyme Erle of Gowrie, of the tennour following:

Aug. 1608.

‘ MY LORD,¹

‘ MY maist humbill deutie and fernice hertlie rememberit : Att the ressait of 3our lordschipis letteris, I am so confortit, that I can naper vtter my joy, nor find my self sufficientlie abill to requyte 3our lordschip with dew thankis, and persuaid 3our lordschip, in that matter, I fall be als fordwaird for 3our lordschipis honour, as gif it war my awin caus ; and I think pair is na leving Christiane that wald nocht be content to revenge that Macheveliane maffacrene of our deir freindis, 3e,² howbeit, it fould be to ventour and haizaird lyfe, landis, and all vther thingis ellis my heart can bind me to tak pairt in that mater, as 3ow fall find bettir pruif pairof : Bot ane thing wald be done, that 3our lordschip fould be circumspect and be earnest with 3our broper, that he be nocht rasche in ony speiches tuiching þe purpois of Padua.’³

And ane certane space eftir the executioun of the foirsaid Treffone, the said vni^{le} Robert Logane of Restalrig, haifing desyrit Laird Bowre to delyuer to him the foirsaid Lettre, or ellis burne it ; and Boure haifing gevin to yow all tickettis and letteris quhilk he than had, ather concerning Restalrig or vtheris, to sicht⁴ the samyn, becaus he could nocht reid him self ; ye abstractit the aboue writtin lettre, and retenit the samyn in your awin handis, and dyuerse tymes red it ; contening forder in substance nor⁵ is formerlie sett down, according (to) thir⁶ woirdis following.

‘ MY LORD,

‘ 3E may easilie vnderstand, that sic ane purpois as 3our lordschip intendis, can nocht be done raschlie, bot with deliberatioun ; and I think, for my self, it war maist meit to haif þe men 3our lordschip spak of, reddie in ane boit or bark, and addrefs þame as thay war takand passyme vpone þe sie, in sic fair somer time :⁷ And gif 3our lordschip could think guid, aper to cum 3our self to my house of Falsé-Castell, be sie, or send 3our lordschipis broper, I fould haif þe place verrie quyet and weill provydit, eftir 3our lordschipis adverteisment ; and persuaid 3our lordschip, 3e fould be als sure and quyet heir, quhill we had settillit our plat,⁸ as gif 3e war in 3our awin chamber ; ffor I trow, and I am assurit, we fall heir woird within few dayis, fra thame 3our lordschip knawis of ; for I haif cair to sie qnhat schipis cumis by. 3our lordschip knawis I haif keipit my Lord Bothuell quyetlie in this hous, in his grittest extremities, say the King and his Counfall quhat thay lykit : And I hoip, gif all thingis cum to pas, as I trust thay fall, to haif baith 3our lordschip and his lordschip at ane guid dyner afor I die : et hoc jocosè, to animat 3our lordschip : And dout nocht, my lord, bot all thingis fall be weill, and I am resoluēt, quhairof 3our lordschip fall nocht doubt of ony thing of my pairt, 3e,⁹ to perrell lyfe, land, honour and guidis ; 3e, the haizard of hell fall nocht effray me fra þat ; 3ea, thocht þe skaffold war alreddie set vp ! The soner þe matter war done it war þe better ; for þe Kingis buk-hunting will be schortlie, and I hoip it fall prepair sum dantie cheir for ws to dyne aganis þe nixt 3eir. I remember weill, my lord, and I will nevir forget sa lang as I leve, that mirrie spoirt 3our lordschipis broper tauld me of ane noble man at Padua, for I think that ane parasteue¹⁰ to this purpois. My lord, think na thing that I commit the secrecie heirof and credeit to this beirar ; for I dar nocht only ventour my life, land and all vther thing I haif in his credeit, bot I durf haizard my faull in his keiping, gif it war possible, in earthlie men ; ffor I am sa persuadit of his treuth and fidelitie, and I trow, as 3our lord-

¹ It will readily be observed, that a mere abstract of part only of these reasonable Letters had been considered, by the public prosecutor, as necessary to be engrassed in the ‘ Dittay’ of Spret. Proper transcripts of these epistles will be found in the following Article, under No. XV. Restalrig’s Forfeiture, Jun. 24. 1609, where they were produced in evidence, and recorded in the Books of Parliament. ² Yea. ³ See another allusion to this ‘ purpois’ in the next-quoted letter. ⁴ View, inspect. ⁵ Than. ⁶ These. ⁷ Summer time. ⁸ Plot, conspiracy. ⁹ Yea. ¹⁰ From παζαστάρης ? qui a latere stat ; a parallel instance, a ‘ parapatine.’

Aug. 1608. ſchip may ask him, gif it be trew he wald ryde to Hellis 3ettis¹ for me? And he is nocht heglyit of my pairt to him. And pairfoir, I dout nocht bot pis will perſuaid 3our lordſchip to geve him truſt, in this matter, as to my ſelf. Bot I pray 3owre lordſchip direct him hame with all poſſible haift; and geve him ſtrait command, that he tak nocht ane wink ſleip quhill he ſie me agane, eftir he cum frome 3our lordſchip. And, my lord, as 3our lordſchip deſyres in 3our Letter to me, aper ryve and burne,² or ellis fend bak agane with pe beirar; for ſa is the faſioune, I grant.'

Quhilk Letter, writtin everie woird with the ſaid vmq^{le} Robert Logane his awin hand, was ſubſcryuit be him efter his accuſtomet maner, with this woird 'Reſtalrig.'³ AND albeit, be the contentis of the foirſaid Letter, ye knew perſytlie, the treuth of the ſaid maift treſſonable Conſpiracie, and the ſaid vmq^{le} Robert Logane of Reſtalrig his foirknowlege, allowance, and giltienes thairof; lyk as, ye was affurrit thairof, by his reſſauncing of dyuerſe Litteris fend to Gowrie for the ſaid purpois, and be ſindrie conferences betuix the ſaid vmq^{le} Robert Logane of Reſtalrig and vmq^{le} James Bour alias callit Laird Bour, in your preſence and heiring, concerning the ſaid Treſſoun, alſweill in the ſaid moneth of July, immediatlie preceeding the ſaid Treſſone, as at dyuerſe vtheris tymes, ſchoirtlie thaireſtir; as lykwayis, be the reveilling thairof to yow be the ſaid vmq^{le} James Bour alias callit Laird Bour, quha was vpon the knowlege and devyſe of the ſaid Treſſone, and was imployit as ordiner meſſinger be the ſaid vmq^{le} Robert Logane of Reſtalrig to the ſaid vmq^{le} Erle of Gowrie, in the trafſique of the ſaid damnable Treſſone; quhairby, your knowlege, conceilling and giltines of the ſaid treſſoun was vndenyable: 3IT, for forder manifeſtatioun thairof, about 3ule,⁴ in the yeir of God I^m.Vj^c. and tua yeiris, the ſaid vmq^{le} Robert Logane of Reſtalrig him ſelf ſchew to yow, that Bour had tauld him, that he had bene ſumquhat raſche to let yow ſie ane Letter quhilk come fra the Erle of Gowrie to the ſaid Laird of Reſtalrig, quha than vrget yow to tell, quhat ye vnderſtuid be that Letter! To quhome ye anſwerit, that ye 'tuik the meaneing of it to be, that he had bene on the purpois and counfall of Gowreis Conſpiracie.' And he anſwering to yow, that 'quhat evir he had done, ye war his awin; bot gif ye wald ſueir to him, that ye ſould nevir reveill any thing to ony perſone, he ſould be the beſt ſicht that evir ye ſaw.' And in taikin of forder recompance, he than gaif to yow tuelf pundis of ſilver. NEUERTHELES, albeit ye perſytlie knew the haill practeis and progres of the ſaid Treſſone, frome the begynning thairof, as ſaid is, alſweill be your ſicht of the ſaidis Letteris, as alſo be your conferences with the ſaidis vmq^{le} James Bour and vmq^{le} Robert Logane of Reſtalrig; yit, during all the dayis of the lyftymes of the ſaidis vmq^{le} Robert Logane of Reſtalrig, and of the ſaid vmq^{le} James Bour, quha bayth levit quhill⁵ the yeir of

¹ The gates of Hell.

² Tear and burn.

³ It was at this time uſual for the leſſer Barons to take the name of their lands as their common title; and they ſubſcribed their Letters, &c. in the ſame manner, as is now cuſtomary with the Nobility.

⁴ Chriſtmas.

⁵ Till.

God I^m.Vj^c. and fax yeiris, or thairby, be the space of fax yeiris efter that ye Aug. 1608.
 knew thair giltines of the tressonabill Conspiracie foirfaid, ye maist tressonabillie conceillit the samyn : And sua, ye was and is airt and pairt of the said maist haynous, detestabill and tressonable Conspiracie : And thairfoir, ye aucht and fould incur, vnderly and suffer the sentence and pane of Heich Treafone. To the taikin¹ that ye haif nocht only be your Depositiones, solempnelie maid and subseryuit with your hand, in presens of many of the Lordis of his Maiesteis Counfall, and of the Ministeris of this toun, of the dait the fyft, fyvetene and xvj of July lastbypast, and tent day of August, confessit everie heid, poynt and article of the Dittay ; bot also, by dyuerse vtheris your Depositiones subseryuit with your hand, ye haif Ratifeit the samyn, and swoir constantlie to abyde thairat, and to seill the same with your bluid : Quhilk ye can nocht deny.

ASSISA.

William Trumbill of Airdrie, Harbert Maxwell of Cavenfe, James Tennent of Lynhons.²

Quhilkis perones of Assyse being chosin, sworne and admittit, estir accusatioune of the said George Sprote befor thame of the saidis tressonabill, haynous and detestabill crymes, contenit in the Dittay foirfaid, and reiding of the said Dittay of new agane, in his and thair presens, the said George Sprote, of new, agane confessit, in the said Assyse presence and audience, the foirfaid Dittay, and everie poynt thairof to be trew and of veritie. Quhairvpone my lord Aduocat, as ofbefoir, askit actis and instrumentis ; and in respect thairof Protestit, in cais the said Assyse clange him of the said cryme, for Wilfull and manifest Errour.

VERDICT. The said Assyse haveing with grit deliberatioun gravelie confid-drit the tennour and haill circumstances of the said Dittay, and constant Judi-ciall Confessioun thairof be the pannell, alsweill in presens of the Justice and Assessoris,³ as thairestir, in presens of the saidis Assysouris thame selfis ;⁴ thay all voittit, vpone the haill tennour of the said Dittay ; and being ryplie and weill advyset thairwith, thay all in ane voce, be the mouth of the said Harbert Max-wall chancellor, fband, pronuncet and declairit the said George Sprote, according to his awin Confessioun, Judicialle maid in thair presence and audience, to be ffylet, Culpable and Convict of airt and pairt of the said maist haynous, detestabill and tressonabill Conspiracie contenit in his Dittay aboue writtin, and of the knowlege and conceilling thairof.

SENTENCE. For the quhilk caus, the said Justice-Depute, be the mouth of George Cheislie, dempster of Court, be his sentence and dome, decernit and or-¹ In proof, token, or testimony. ² The rest are 'mercheand burgesfis' of Edinburgh, being persons in the same rank of life with the pannell. ³ The Assessors are not inserted in the Record.

⁴ That is, while the Jury had retired to consider their Verdict, Sprot had once more solemnly affirmed the truth of his previous Confessions and Depositions.

Aug. 1608. danit the said George Sprote to be tane to the mercait croce of the bur^t of Edinburgh, and thair to be hangit vpone ane gibbet, quhill he be deid ; and thaireftir, his heid to be strukin frome his body ; and his body to be quarterit and demanit as ane tratour ; and his heid to be put vp vpone ane prik of irne abone the Tolbuth of Edinburgh, quhair the rest of the Conspiratouris heidis standis : And his haille landis, heritages, takis, steidingis, rowmes, possessiones, guidis and geir, to be forfeitit and escheit to our souerane lordis vse, as culpable and convict of airt and pairt of the treasonable and detaistable crymes aboue specifieit, and conceilling thairof. Quhillk was pronuncet for dome.

(2) SPROTTIS DEPOSITION vpon the skalfolde.¹

AT EDINBURGH, the xij day of August 1608, GEORGE SPROTT, notar in Eymouth, being brocht to the scaffold and place of executioun, he, in publict audience of the haille people, at the foure nykeis² of the scaffold, ratified his former Depositions, anent his knowledge and concealing of Restalrigis guyltines of Gouryis Treasoun ; ffor the w^{ch^e} he humblie craved God and his Maiestie (humblie) forgifnes ; being most forie and grievit that he had offended God and the Kingis Maiestie, in concealing suche a vyld, detestable and vnnatural Treasoun, interprist be the Erll of Gowry and Laird of Restalrig aganis his natural King, so goode and so godly a Prince, who hes evir bene sa gracious to his subiectis and to this haille Yland ; protesting, that yf he had a thousand lyveis to rander, and wer able to suffer ten thousand deathis, it is not sufficient satisfioun and recompence for his sa foull and horrible offens ; and that God had preservit him frome mony great perellis, when his lyffe wes in extreame danger, to bring him to this publict declaratioun of that detestable and horrible fact, in testifeing of the treuth, as he said publictly, in presence of all the people, in thir wordis following. To my owne schame, the schame of the Devill, and (the) glorie of God, for satisfioun³ of the consciences of all these, yf ony be, that hes or can mak ony doubt of the treuth of this so cleir a mater. And he acknowledgeis, that his hanting with Restalrig, who wes a man without Religioun, and subiect to mony other vyceis, and his ingyreing⁴ of himself in thir materis, efter the first sight of Restalrigis Lettres writtin to Goury : And his continuall beiring of company with Restalrig and Laird Bour, who wes irreligious and without feir of God, brocht him frome one syn to another ; and consequentlie, vpon this grevous (sine,) ffor the whiche most iustlie, worthelie and willinglie, he is now to rander his lyffe: And he desyrit all the people (present) to be war of evill company, and Aug. 1608. uamelie, of the company of these who ar voyd of Religioun: And he desyrit that this his Declaratioun mycht be insert in his proces: As alwa, he desyrit the Ministeris of Godis worde to publishe this his Declaratioun to thair flokis frome thair pulpettis; and tooke enery one of thame who wer present be the hand, with thair promeis to do the same, saying vnto thame, that 'this wes the most glorious day that evir his eyis did sie;' and, with these wordis, he prostratis him self and fallis vpon his kneis, in presence of the haill people, and maid a verie pithie prayer, beginning in this forme, as followis. 'O fader! how fould I call thé fader that am so vnworthie to be callit thy sone! I haiff wanderit astray lyke a lost scheepe, and thow of thy mercy hes brocht me home (vn)to thé, and hes preservit my lyfe frome mony dangeris vntill this day, that I mycht reveill these hid¹ and secreit misteries, to my awne shame and thy glorie; and thow hes promissit, that whensoever a sinner, frome his hairt, will repent and call to thé with vnfeizit repentance, that thow will heir him and giff him mercy!' And so he continewit a goode space, in a most fervent prayer, to the great admiratioun and reioysing of all the people, and in a better forme and maner nor² ony of the beholderis and heiaris can be able to sett down in wryte; the same not being writtin in the present tyme, becaus thair wes no place of writting vpoun the scaffold, in respect of the prease and multitude of people. And, going vp the ladder, he desyrit libertie to sing the sext Psalme, and requestit the people to accompany him in singing thairof: Whiche being grantit, and he being at the ladder-head, the same wes tane vp and sounge be him self, with a very loud and myghtie voce; and wes assistit with above the number of fyve hundreth personis, who, with tearis, accompanied him in singing (of) that Psalme: After the ending wherof, he repeittit and ratefeit his said former Deposition: And with that, recommending his soule to God, he wes castin over, and so endit his mortall lyffe. In witness quhairof, we, vnder-subferyvaris, who, for the most parte, wer all of ws vpoun the scaffold with him, and remanit with him vntill þe tyme of his death, and otheris of ws in so convenient placeis neir to the scaffold, that we did heir all that wes spokin be him, haif subferyvit thir presentis with our handis.

¹ From the Original, preserved in the General Register House. On the back of the paper is marked 'Bookit,' which shows that this was the copy from which the authentic Register kept of this extraordinary investigation was filled up. The copy preserved in the Records of Parliament, which was taken from this paper, is less accurate than the present Official 'Extract ;' on which account the Editor has preferred retaining the orthography of James Prymrois, who was Clerk to the Privy Council. The principal variations are marked by parentheses. ² Nooks, corners. ³ 'Satisfeing,' in Parliamentary Record. ⁴ B. Lat. Ingyro, to encircle or entangle, as with the folds of a serpent.

(Sic subfcribitur.) GLASGU.³ B. Galloway.⁴ A. Brechin.⁵ Balfour of Burley. Haliroodhous.⁶ Jo. Prestoune, Cl^s Reg^j. Pa. Schairp. M. P. Galloway.⁷ Jo. Hall. Walter Balcanquell. M. P. Hewat. M. H. Blyith. Charlis Lumnifden. Richard Dobie, baillie of Edinburghe. William Speir, baillie. James Annislie, baillie of Edinburghe.

TENET cum principali, J. PRYMROIS.

¹ 'Hye,' in Parliamentary Record. ² Than. ³ Archbishop Spottiswood. ⁴ Gavin Hamilton, Bishop of Galloway and Abbot of Dundrennan. ⁵ Andrew Lamb, Bishop of Brechin. ⁶ John (Bothwell) Lord Holyroodhouse. ⁷ 'Maister Patrik Gallouay, Minister to the King.'

Aug. 1608. (3.) THE ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY'S ACCOUNT of the Examinations, Trial and Execution of GEORGE SPROTT, &c.

[THE following scarce Tract was published by DR GEORGE ABBOT, then Dean of Winchester, who was an eye-witness of the facts he has narrated. This very eminent person was the second of the eight Divines of Oxford who were appointed to translate a large portion of our present version of the New Testament, in the year 1604. He accompanied the Earl of Dunbar to Scotland, in the year this Tract was published, (1608,) to assist in effecting the establishment of an Union between the Churches of England and Scotland; and conducted himself with so much moderation, as thereby to lay the foundation of his future preferments. Previous to that period, Dr Abbot had been three times Vice-Chancellor of Oxford; and in December 1609, was elected Bishop of Litchfield and Coventry. A few weeks afterwards, he was translated to the See of London; and was, on November 2d, 1609, elevated to the exalted station of Archbishop of Canterbury, the Primate of all England.

Sir William Hart's Report of the Trial and Examinations, &c. is printed here, only in so far as it contains additional matter. His attested copy of the proceedings had been taken by Dr Abbot to England, when he returned; and being personally so much impressed with the extraordinary circumstances which he had witnessed, he readily complied with the desire of his friends to publish it, accompanied by an original preliminary Dissertation of his own, explanatory of the remarkable facts narrated in the Report.]

THE EXAMINATIONS, ARRAIGNMENT and CONVICTION of GEORGE SPROT, Notary in Aye-mouth: Together with his constant and extraordinarie behaviour, at his death, in Edenborough, Aug. 12, 1608: Written and fet forth by Sir William Hairs Knight, L. Justice of Scotland. Whereby appeareth the Treasonable detvice betwixt John late Earle of Gowry and Robert Logan of Restalrig, (commonly called Lesterig,) plotted by them, for the cruell MURDERING of our most gracious SOVEREIGNE. Before which Treatise is prefixed also, A PREFACE, written by G. ABBOT, Doctour of Divinitie and Deane of Winchester, who was present at the sayd Sprot's Execution.

LONDON: Printed by Melch. Bradewood for William Aspley. 1608.

A PREFACE TO THE READER.

AMONG those troubles and crosses, wherewithall our heauenlie Father is pleased to exercise his best children, while they remaine in this tabernacle of their flesh, there is no one more frequent, than such euil and slanderous reports, as the virulent tongues of malicious persons, out of a hatred to their vertues, are desirous to lay vpon them. For there was neuer age nor countrey, wherein either man or woman was adorned with rare and eminent qualities, for the seruice of God, and aduancement of true religion, but immediatly such as were ill-affected began to imploy their wits, and beat their braines, Aug. 1608. how by calumniation and forged imputations, they might obfcure the luftre of thofe fingular parts, which their quicke but enuious eye had difcovered in them. That worthy Moyfes, the meekeft¹ man vpon earth, is reproched as ambitious, and charged by Core, to² take too much vpon him. That admirable Daniel was³ accufed to the King as a contemner of his greatneffe, and violater of his lawes. It was objected to zealous and iuft Nehemiah by⁴ Sanballat, that himfelfe and the people of Iuda intended a rebellion. Paul and Silas, two great inftruments of Gods glory, were complained vpon as feditious perfons, and⁵ difturbers of the peace and quietneffe of the city. The old Chriftians, men no doubt of vertuous behauiour, yet becaufe, in time of perfecution, they affembled themfelues together in the night, for the worfhip of their God, and profefion of their faith, were reported by the Gentiles to haue the Feafts of⁶ Thyeftes, (that is, to eat the flefh of children,) and to do as Oedipus did, that is, promifcuoufly to commit fornication with their mothers, fifters and daughters. Yea, their owne⁷ feruants were brought by the terrours of the Infidels to accufe them of fuch crimes. Tertulian complaineth of this, declaring that it was objected to the Chriftians,⁸ that they killed a babe new borne, and in the blood thereof did dip their Eucharift, and fo eat it; as alfo, that fuffering their dogs of purpofe to ouerturne their lights, they in the darke committed inceft with their mothers and daughters. Hence it grew as a kind of prouerbe, That it was the part of the Chriftians to doe good, and yet to be ill fpoken of. So⁹ Euagrius reporteth, touching that holy and bleffed Emperour Conftantine the Great, that the Ethnicks laded him with many falfe criminations, becaufe he tooke away their Heathenifh fuperftitions, and in place thereof aduanced the feruice of Chrift Iefus.

In all which accufations, and other of like nature, (if we looke aduifedly into them,) we fhall perceiue, that both Sathan hath his worke, and euill men haue a part, yea that God himfelfe hath a finger. Sathan hath his worke, becaufe, (as Cyprian, writing of Cornelius, faith,) It is¹⁰ euermore the worke of the Diuell, that he may with lies teare the feruants of God, and, by falfe opinions fspread concerning them, may defame their glorious name; that fuch as are bright in the light of their owne confcience may be fordidated, or dimmed, by the reports of other. Euill men haue their part, either becaufe, with Zoilus, when they¹¹ can do no hurt to the good and vertuous, at leaft they will fpeake ill of them; or els, becaufe, (as Hierome writeth,)¹² It is the folace of euill men to carpe at the good, thinking that by the great number of offenders, the guilt of their faults is diminished and abated. Nay, God hath a finger in it, to trie and fharpen men, and by that meanes to fit them to himfelfe. For flanders haue that force in them, as Gregory well noteth, fpeaking thus: ¹³ Going thorow almoft all examples, we finde, that there hath not beene one good man whom the naughtineffe of euill men hath not tried: for, that I may fo fpeake, the fword of oure foule is not brought to the exactneffe of fharpneffe, if the file of other mens naughtineffe hath not rubbed and fretted it. Againe, in as much as we fhould grow into deepe and dangerous fecuritie, if it were not for fuch remembrances, our heauenly Father is contented that by fuch calumniations we fhould be rowzed from the fleepineffe and drowzineffe of the world. ¹⁴ Pliny writeth, that the Lion is fubiect to no fickneffe, but only a faftidium, or fulneffe of ftomacke: wherewithall when hee is oppreffed, the way to cure him is to offer him fome contumely; which is by tying an Ape neere him: for the Lion is fo moued and vexed for the time, with the tricks which the Ape plaieeth, that hee riddeth and putteth ouer that, which fo much before offended him. Euen fo God vfeth the contumelies of bafe perfons, and the reproches of the vileft, to rowze vp men of excellent fpirits, that they furfet not in voluptuoufneffe, and fo confequently be lulled afleepe in idle fecuritie, to their owne harme and peraduenture ruine.

But be it for one or all thefe reafons, certaine it is, that in our age, as well as in times by-paft, the

¹ Num. xii. 3.
Hist. lib. iv. 7.

² Num. xvi. 3.
7 Lib. v. 1.

³ Dan. vi. 13.
⁸ Tertull. Apolog. cap. ii.

⁵ Act. xvi. 20.
⁹ Euagrius, Eccl. Hist. lib. iii. 40.

¹⁰ Cyprian, Epist. ad Antonian. lib. iv. 2.

¹¹ Aelian, Hist. lib. xi. 10.

¹² Hieron. Epist. x. ad Furiam.

¹³ Gregor. Hom. 38. in 40. Hom.

¹⁴ Plin. Nat. Hist. lib. viii. 16.

Aug. 1608. deereft children of God haue tafted of this triall, and haue been forced to endure very horrible imputations and ftaining afperfions, which the venomous tongues of vngodly men haue ftried to caft vpon them. It were no very hard matter to name ftange calumniationes, which haue been inuented by the vaffals of Antichrift, and publifhed by the adores of the beaft in diuers books, (which are no better than defamatory libels,) againft Gods feruants of the higheft ranke vpon earth, becaufe they ouerturned the ftongholds of idolatry, and gane free paffage to the Gofpell of Chrift Iefus. But I forbore to giue fuch particuler inftances, and rather leane to the confideration of the wife, whether it may euer be hoped, that fuch irreligious creatures (who haue folde themfelues to Sathan the accufer of the brethren) will make fpare to lath and fcourge fuch fingle perfons as ftand in their way, and hinder their defignes; when they make no confcience to brand our holy faith, and the generalitie of our profeflion, with reports moft odious, and fuch as muft needs be acknowledged for abominable, if they fhould be true: but in footh are, in the fight of God, of angels and men, before heaven and earth, but plaine fictions and forgeries, conteining in them no parcell of veritie. Of which fort are thofe defamations, which a countryman of ours, without all fhame, auoucheth in a ¹ Pamphlet not long fince put out, and publifhed to the world; That the Proteftants are bound in confcience, neuer to afke God forginenefle of their finnes: That the Proteftants are bound in confcience to auoid all good works: That the Proteftants make God the author of finne; the only caufe of finne: That man finneth not: That God is worfe than the Deuill. And that of ² Roffeus, writing againft the French King now reigning: Hominum animas cum corporibus interire, et homines a brutis pecoribus nihil differre. Euangelicorum infinita millia credunt. Infinite thoufands of Proteftants do beleue that the fouls of men die together with their bodies, and that men do nothing differ from brute beafts.

Such truthleffe, fhameleffe, and graceleffe afertions, they haue not fticked to proclame openly in the face of the funne. The knowledge whereof fhould caufe all men indifferently affected, not to be credulous or light of beleefe, when they finde gall and bitterneffe caft out of the mouth or penne of an enemy of the Gofpell againft any contending for the truth, though it be but a private man; but efpecially to fufpend their iudgements, when perfons of higheft quality, for maintaining Gods caufe, are traduced by an enemy, or defamed by fome vile one, whofe tongue and pen indeed is no flander, as we commonly fpeake. For thefe great ones are the fpecial marke whereat malice doth aime; and as poifon ordinarily hafteneth to the heart, fo doth enuie let drine at the head, at thofe who be moft eminent in the State and Commonwealth. When Cato the elder lined, there was not in all Rome fo woorthy a man as he: for (as ³ Pliny noteth) he was the beft orator, the beft leader or generall in the field, the beft fenatour or counfeller that was in that citie: yet was he fo intreated as neuer man was, being publifhly called to his anfwer foure and fortie feuerall times, whereby one while his fame was hazard-ed, another while his life: and yet alwayes he was honorably, or, as the yoonger Pliny hath it, ⁴ gloriously abfolued and acquitted. Doubtleffe there was againft him a great deale of fpleene, a very great deale of malice. From the touch whereof, euen Kings and Princes are fo farre from being free, that they are more fubieet to it than any other perfons: which made ⁵ Antifthenes to fay, That it was a kingly thing, when thou haft done wel, to be ill fpoken of for thy labor. And if we be defirous to fee a famous example of this, there is no one more notable than that of holy Dauid, who being firft a Prophet, and afterwards a King, (but in both moft vnfpotted touching the crimes layd againft him,) yea being a man after Gods own heart, yet was accused and charged with many hainous iniquities; which caufed him to complaine both before and after his coming to the crowne: as vnto Saul: ⁶ Wherefore gineft thou an eare vnto mens words, that fay, Beholde, Dauid feeketh euill againft thee? And to God himfelfe: ⁷ O Lord my God, if I haue done this thing, meaning, which they layd vnto him: if there be any wickednesse in my hands, intending, such as they would fasten vpon him, then let Aug. 1608. the enimie persecute my foule and take it. And in another place, speaking to the slanderer aduersarie, ¹ Thy tongue imagineth mischief, and is like a sharpe razor that cutteth deceitfully. And yet further: ² The proud haue imagined a lie against me. So in the next Psalm: ³ Deliuer my foule, O Lord, from lying lips, and from a deceitfull tongue. These things, and that the ⁴ drunkards did make songs vpon him, did many times exceedingly grieue him, that he who laboured to seeme innocent, should be reproched as nocent: that he who was but the patient, should be held for the agent; that the man wronged, should be reported to do wrong vnto other; that he whose life was fought, should be termed by Shimei, ⁵ a man of blood, and a murtherer. This troubled and grieued him about measure. For it is the property of innocency and integritie, that if it may finde no other reward, yet it would gladly shine in the simplicitie and sinceritie of it selfe. But when there was no other helpe to be freed from those slanders, Dauid had one assured remedie; that was, to retire himselfe to the Lord, and commend his cause to his Maker: As he excellently doth in the three and fortieth Psalm; where, being oppressed by the malice of his aduersaries, and complaining of it in the first verse: ⁶ Iudge me, O God, and defend my cause against the vnmmercifull people: deliuer me from the deceitful and wicked man; he helpeth himselfe in the last verse, rebuking the impatiency which he found in his owne foule, and directing his affections vnto another course, ⁷ Why art thou cast downe, my foule? and why art thou disquieted within me? Wait on God: for I will yet giue him thanks: he is my present helpe and my God.

¹ Certaine Articles or forcible reasons printed at Antwerpe 1600. ² Ross. contra Henric. Gallum. cap. iv. v.
³ Plin. Nat. Hift. lib. vii. 27. ⁴ Plin. de viris illustrib. ⁵ Diog. Laert. in Antisth. ⁶ I Sam. xxiv. 10.
⁷ Psal. vii. 3.

Many men haue been desirous to haue their fame cleared from the reproches of their enemies, and haue sought meanes to haue their hearts eased from the disturbances and distempers whereinto false accusations haue put them. Zeno is much commended, that with such calmnesse he could turne aside those bitter taunts which some bestowed on him; for being asked, how he did bear himselfe against euil speeches: ⁸ I do, saith he, as if an Embassadour should be sent vnto me, and I should returne him without an answer. This for a philosopher, who was but an heathen man, was an excellent resolution. But in these words of Dauid, there is a way more noble than Zeno could conceiue; that is, to looke vp to our great God, and commit all to him, expecting his good leasure. It is not enough when a man, being priuy to his owne innocencie, doth not boile within himselfe, or fret against the wicked (which are things ⁹ forbidden vnto vs), but he must goe a step farther, and propose to his owne heart some more notable example. And in this case, who is rather to be imitated by a Christian than our Sauior Christ? Concerning whom S. Chrysofome said well: That ¹⁰ when he cast out diuels, and did innumerable good things, and yet was ill spoken of; against those men who said, that he had the Diuell, he did not fend any thunderbolt, he did not ouerthrow those blasphemous mouthes, he consumed not with fire those vnchaste, vngratefull, vnworthie tongues of theirs: but only with these words put aside those euil speeches; I haue not the Diuell, but I honour him who sent me. This is most truly related of our Sauior; but there was in him somewhat els, which is better obserued by S. Peter: ¹¹ When he was reuiled, he reuiled not againe; when he suffered, he threatened not, but committed it to him that iudgeth righteously. And this, committing it to him that iudgeth righteously, was the course which Dauid vsed: to wait patiently on the Lord, to cast vp his eyes to heauen, and commending to God the integrity of his waies, to leaue all to his disposing. And this is the very lesson which hee teacheth both himselfe and other. For in the seuen and twentieth Psalm, hauing spoken of his ¹² aduersaries, of false witnesses which rose vp against him, and such as speak cruelly, he concludeth with this document, Hope in the Lord; bee strong, and hee shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord. Which is the most sound instruction, that any creature can haue: to looke vp to his Creator (to whom all hearts are open, and no priuie

¹ Psal. lii. 2. ² Psal. cxix. 69. ³ Psal. cxx. 2. ⁴ Psal. lxxix. 12. ⁵ 2 Sam. xvi. 7. ⁶ Psal. xliii. 1. ⁷ Verse 5.
⁸ Diog. Laert. in Zenon. ⁹ Psal. xxxvii. 1. ¹⁰ Chrys. Homil. 1. de incompreh. Dei natura. ¹¹ 1 Pet. ii. 23.
¹² Psal. xxvii. 12, 14.

Aug. 1608. thing can be secret) and to commend to his providence, to his fatherly care and wifedome, the vnspottednesse of his waies, and the simplicitie of his conuerfation. And assuredly that God who is the God of truth, will bee the patron and protectour of innocencie in his seruants. It is a strong consolation which Dauid giueth in this case: ¹ Commit thy way vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shall bring it to passe. And hee shall bring forth thy righteoufnesse as the light, and thy iudgement as the noone day. But it followeth: Wait patiently vpon the Lord, and hope in him: As if that must bee the meanes to attaine thy desire; not to run before thy Maker, and appoint him the time when thy integrity shall bee cleared, and the dimming clouds of obloquy shall be blown from thy estimation; but to leaue that to his managing, to his dispose and direction. For as S. Chryfostome telleth us; ² If it be in the power of God to giue vnto vs, it is also in his power to giue when himselfe pleaseth. It is said of him, that hee doth all things ³ in measure, number and waight. But if before the number bee full, or the measure be vp, thou wilt limit him the time when thy innocencie must appeare: thou takest on thee to be wiser than the Lord, and in a fort mounting vp into his throne in heauen, thou doest iustle him out of his seat of maiesty and eternity. If thou wilt set downe the decree for time or place, or the manner of purging thy selfe, or how the wickednes of thine enemies must be displaid, thou makest thy selfe the Iudge, and the Lord of heauen and earth shall be but thy executioner. Leaueth the maine then to him (which doth not fore-close thee, but that thou mayst vse all honest meanes to lay open thy vnspottednesse) and thou shalt haue reason with Dauid to thanke him, and say: ⁴ He is my present helpe and my God.

And in truth it is strange to see the Lords worke in this behalfe, how, when the fame of his seruants hath bene vniustly denigrated by false accusations, hee taking the matter into his hands hath, in his good time, dispelled all mists of slander. Heereof Dauid himselfe had singular experience. For when Saul was informed that Dauid fought his life, and by the often ingeminations of malicious men this was taken for a truth, and Dauid was accordingly persecuted, and in danger to be murdered, God put Saul ⁵ two feuerall times into the hands of Dauid, that easily hee might haue slaine him: which being entertained as an inuincible argument of Dauids fidelity, Saul himselfe, by the irrefragable evidence of truth, was forced to cry out, ⁶ Thou art more righteous than I: for thou hast rendered me good, and I haue rendered thee euill. And a second time: ⁷ I haue sinned: come againe, my sonne Dauid, for I will doe thee no more harme, because my soul was precious in thine eyes this day: behold I haue done foolishly, and haue erred exceedingly. Eusebius hath such another example, of ⁸ Narcissus the Bishop of Ierusalem, who was a vertuous and worthy man, and yet by three persons was accused of a hainous crime. The story doth not cleerely deliuer what it was; but by circumstances it may be gathered to bee incontinency. These three, to giue the more reputation to that accusation wherewithall they charged him, did vse diuers imprecations and execrations on themselves, if those things were not true which they obiected against him. As the one wished that himselfe might be burnt, the second that he might die of a loathsome disease, the third that he might lose the sight of his eyes. This constant and consenting crimination so affected Narcissus, though priuie to his own vprightness, that he withdrew himselfe from his abode, and liuing priuately, commended his righteous cause to God; which had such effect, that not very long after, the first of his accusers was indeed consumed with fire, the house being burnt in which he remained: the second died of the same disease which he wished vpon himselfe: and the third being much affrighted with the punishment of his fellows, had remorse of his sinne, and came and openly acknowledged the conspiracy of them three against innocent Narcissus; but withall, he had such feeling of his owne iniquity, that powring out continuall teares, hee lost the sight of his eyes with the rheume that descended. A most memorable narration to their comfort, who, being wronged by men in their fame or good name, commend their cause to God. Like to which is that of Theodoret, ⁹ who reporteth, that Eufathius the Patriarke of Antioch had many combats with the Arrians for defence of Christs truth : and when he still preuailed againſt them, they, out of their malice, ſuborned a harlot to accuſe him of fornication, and openly to maintaine, that a childe was his which ſhe held in her armes : by which meanes hee was conſtrained to flie to the ſame ſuccour that Narciffus formerly had done ; which had ſuch force with Almighty God, that within a while after, the harlot was ſtricken with a grieuous ſickneſſe, which wrought in her ſo powerfully, that ſhee freely confeſſed the combination of the Arrians againſt the holy man : and how ſhee was ſuborned to accuſe him wrongfully, whereof ſhe was now ſory. But whereas ſhe had ſaid that Eufathius was the father of her childe ; that indeed was true of another Eufathius, but not of the Biſhop of Antioch. Wherein we may behold, that euen ſo long agoe equiuocation was in uſe, but it was with leand¹ perſons, as heretikes and harlots : but withall Gods worke appeareth, that he will not euermore ſuffer innocencie to be oppreſſed, and truth to be wronged ; but at the laſt veritie ſhall breake forth, as the Sunne which was darkened with a cloud. And this mercifull fauor of God to his ſeruants was not onely in the ages paſt, but our dayes haue experiments of the very like occurrents ; as in a famous caſe lately acted at Edinborough may eaſily be diſcouered : whereof, becauſe I was an eye-witneſſe, at my late being there by the commandement of his Maieſtie, I haue thought it my dutie, in honour to God and loue to his truth, to declare what I ſaw and heard ; that this following Treatiſe, penned by an honourable perſonage of Northe Britaine, might not goe forth vnaccompanied with the Declaration of one of South-Britaine, for ſo much as hee beheld.

¹ Psal. xxxvii. 5, 6. ² Chrys. in Psal. cxxix. ³ Sapient. xi, 17. ⁴ Psal. xliii. 5. ⁵ 1 Sam. xxiv. 4, c. xxvi. 7. ⁶ 1 Sam. xxiv. 18. ⁷ 1 Sam. xxvi. 21. ⁸ Euseb. Eccl. Hist, lib. vi. 8. ⁹ Theodor. Eccl. Hist. lib. i. 20, 21.

THERE are few in this Iland of any vnderſtanding, but haue heard of the traiterous and bloodie attempt of the EARLE GOWRIE and his brother againſt the perſon and life of our moſt bleſſed Souereigne. Wherein, albeit there were ſuch euidences and arguments, as that any man who would haue taken notice thereof, might haue been ſufficiently informed therein, enen at the very firſt ; and afterward by the cleere depositions (for moſt pregnant circumſtances) and ample atteſtations of many perſons of honour and qualitie, the Parliament of that Kingdome tooke full knowledge thereof ; and accordingly proceeded to the forfeiting of the whole Eſtate of that Earle, and of his heires for euer ; yet ſome humorous men, whom in that reſpect I may iuſtly terme unthankfull vnto God, and vndutifull to their King, out of ſond imaginations, or rather, if you will, ſeditious ſuppoſitions of their owne, did both at home and abroad, by whiſperings and ſecret buzzings into the eares of the people (who were better perſwaded of them than indeed there was cauſe) employ their wits and tongues to obſcure the truth of that matter, and to caſt an imputation where it was leaſt deſerued. Which when God had permitted for the ſpace of ſome yeeres to ranckle and feſter in the bowels of thoſe who were the authors of it ; the ſame God, in his wiſdome, at laſt meaning to cure them, if they would be cured, of that maladie, diſcouered, that in the ſame treaſon, although carried neuer ſo ſecretly, there were other confederates, of whom hitherto the world had taken no kinde of knowledge. And albeit two of the perſons intereſted in that buſineſſe were lately dead, and departed vnto far greater torment than all the earth could lay vpon them (vnleſſe they died repentant), yet it was apprehended that a third partie remained, who had fore-knowledge of that conſpiracie, and was able to vtter much of the ſecrets of it : one GEORGE SPROTT, a Notarie, inhabiting at Ayme-mouth, a place well-knownen in that countrey. Which matter, or ſome part thereof, being made knowen to an² honourable perſon, a moſt faithfull ſeruant to his Maieſtie, firſt by ſome words that fell from Sprott himſelfe, and afterwards by ſome papers found vpon him, it was ſo wiſely caried, and ſo prudently brought about, by the great care and diligence of that noble man (God Almighty bleſſing the buſineſſe) that ſo much was reueiled, as followeth in this Treatiſe, vpon the acts to be ſeene ; which are heere ſet downe at large, word for word, as they agree with the proceſſe originall, and other examinations, that ſuch as haue bene auerſe may at laſt receaue ſatisfaction. Touching all which, I thall ſay nothing, but only report that which beſell vpon the day of his

¹ Lewd.² The Earle of Dunbar.

Aug. 1608. death, when hee suffered for that treason. Having then the sentence passed on him, vpon Friday the twelfth of August 1608, in the fore-noone, and publickly being warned to prepare himselfe to his end, which must be that after-dinner, he most willingly submitted himselfe vnto that punishment, which (as he then acknowledged) he had iustly deserved. And being left to himselfe til dinner-time was expired, then came to him, into that priuate place where hee remained, some of the ¹ reuerend Bishops, diuers L.L. of the Session, two of the English Ministers there imployed by his Maiestie, with diuers other Ministers of the towne of Edenborough. Before whom, he first acknowledged and auouched his former confession to be true, and that he would die in the same; and then falling on his knees in a corner of that roome, where he and they then were, in a prayer to God vttered aloud, he so passionately deplored his former wickednesses, but especially that sinne of his for which he was to die; that a man may iustly say, hee did in a sort deiect and cast downe himselfe to the gates of hell, as if he should there haue bene swallowed vp in the gulfe of desperation: yet presently laying holde vpon the mercies of God in Christ, he raised himselfe, and strangely lifted vp his soule vnto the Throne of Grace, applying ioy and comfort to his owne heart so effectually, as can not well be described. In the admitting of this consolation into his inward man, he burst out into teares, so plentifully flowing from him, that for a time they stopped his voice. The sight and hearing whereof, wrought so forcible an impression in those persons of honour and learned men who beheld him, that there was scant any one of them, who could re-fraine teares in the place, as diuers of themselves that day did witness vnto me. The effect of his prayer, was the aggrauating of his crime, in concealing the treason against the Kings Maiestie; into which hee said, God did most iustly suffer him to fall, by reason of his former wickedness, which he had so desperately multiplied, in despight of God and his holy Word. And thereupon, going on with many sensible speeches and most feeling comparisions, hee insisted on the fearefull and dreadfull danger wherein hee was, if the Lord in iudgement should looke vpon him. Notwithstanding, at last he proceeded: ‘ Yet most mercifull father,’ whereat he made a stay, and repeating the word father with a marvellous loud and shrill voice, he added, ‘ why should I call thee father, that haue so many wayes and so horribly transgressed thy commandments, in all the course of my life, but especially in concealing this vile, fearefull and diuellish treason against my most gracious Soueraigne? Lord, Lord, there is nothing belongeth to me but wrath and confusion!’ And so went on in a strange vnaffected current of words, lively expressing the sorrow of his heart. Yet there he stayd not, but spake forward to this purpose: ‘ Notwithstanding, Lord, thou hast left me this comfort in thy Word, that thou hast sayd, Come vnto me all ye that are weary and laden, and I will refresh you. Lord, I am weary, Lord I am heauily laden with my sinnes, which are innumerable: I am ready to sincke, Lord, euen to hell, without thou, in thy mercy, put to thy hand and deliuer me. Lord, thou hast promised by thine owne word, out of thine owne mouth, that thou wilt refresh the weary soul.’ And with that he thrust out one of his hands, and reaching as high as hee could, with a louder voice and a strained, cried, ‘ I challenge thee, Lord, by that word, and by that promise which thou hast made, that thou performe and make it good to mee, that call for ease and mercie at thy hands. Lord heare mee, Lord pardon mee, Lord comfort me by thy holy spirit: assure my conscience of the forgiuenesse of my sinnes, and say to my soule, that thou art reconciled.’ And so after many zealous petitions vttered to the like effect, he applied to himselfe the mercies of God in Christ Iesus, in whom he assured himselfe of God’s fauour, with earnest request, that he might continue in that assurance to the end, wherof he nothing doubted.

Afterward, being brought to the scaffold, where he was to die, he vttered many things, among which I obserued these: He acknowledged to the people, that he was come thither to suffer most deservedly: That hee had bene an offender against Almighty God, in very many respects; but that none of his sinnes was so grieuous vnto him, as that for which he must die: wherein, notwithstanding, he was not an actor, but a concealer only. That he was ingyred in it by the Laird of Rastalrig and his seruant the Laird of Bour, both which, hee sayd, were men that professed not religion. Whereupon he exhorted men to take heed how they accompanied with such as are not religious; because, sayd he, with such as make not profession of religion, there is no faith, no trueth, no holding of their word, as himselfe had tried and found. But touching the treason, for the concealing whereof he was condemned, he added, That he was preferred aliuē to open that secret myserie which so long had layen hidde; That God had kept him since that attempt of the Earle Gowrie from verie manie dangers, but notably from one, when being in apparent hazzard of drowning, he was strangely deliuered; 'which,' said he, 'was Gods worke, that I might remaine aliuē vnto this happie and blessed day, that the trueth might be made knowne. And now I confesse my fault to the shame of my selfe, and to the shame of the Diuell; but to the glorie of God. And I doe it not either for feare of death, or for any hope of life, (for I haue deserued to die, and am vnworthie to liue) but because it is the trueth, which I shall feale with my blood. My fault,' sayth hee, 'is so great, that if I had a thousand liues, and could die ten thousand deaths, yet I might not make satisfaction, that I should conceale such a treason against so gracious a King.' These and the like words, when hee had spoken vpon one side of the scaffold, hee turned him to the second side, and afterward to the third, (that all the people might heare) where he spake to the same purpose as formerly he had done. And here it may not be forgotten, that in the vttering of these things his tongue serued him verie well, with words readie and significant; his memorie was perfect; his countenance reasonably erect and full of alacritie, without all feare of death; his voice was loud and audible on euery part; which was the more strange, because at the times of his examination, as also that very fore-noone, at the houre of his arraignment, his speech was low and weake; but now so strong, as if God of purpose had giuen him power to deliuer his words in such a manner, that all the people might heare and vnderstand.

¹ Archb. of Glasc., Bis. of Brickh. (Brechin), L. Halyrudeh., Lord Collector, Lord Register, Lord Justice, D. Maxey, M. Hodson, M. P. Galoway, M. I. Hall, N. Ch. Lumsden, with others.

When this aboue-mentioned declaration had bene made, Sprot returned to that part of the scaffold where he first began to speake, and there falling on his knees, he vttered a prayer to the same purpose, as is set down in this ensuing Treatise. And hauing ended the same, one of the Ministers praied againe, and the prisoner ioyned with him, That God would forgiue his finnes, and receiue his soule to mercie. After which, Sprot, standing vp, made diuers requests: First, that what he had deliuered by this Confession on the scaffold, might be put into his Proesse, that the world might take notice of it. Secondly, that such as were present (as they might haue opportunity) would be futers vnto the King, that his Maiestie would forgiue him this offence, for the which, he sayd, he craved pardon of God, of his Soueraigne, and the world. And thirdly, hee desired those of the Ministerie which were present, that wheresoever they came, they would proclame in the pulpit his confession of his crime, his sorrow for the same, and his full hope that God would pardon him. And to the end that this might be performed, hee tooke the hands of such Ministers as stood neere about him, so binding a promise on them. And heere, being told by the said Ministers and other persons of qualitie, that being so neere his departure out of the world, it concerned him to speake nothing but the trueth, and that vpon the perill of his soule: he answered, that to the end that they should know, that hee had spoken nothing but the veritie, and that his Confession was true in euerie respect, hee would (at the last gasp) giue them some apparent token, for the confirmation of the same. Then fitting himselfe to the ladder, the Executioner commeth to him, and, as the manner is, asking forgiuenesse of him; 'With all my heart,' sayth hee, 'for you doe but your office, and it is the thing I desire; because suffering in my bodie, I shall in my soule be ioyned vnto my Sauour.' Ascending vp to the ladder, he desired the people to sing a Psalmē with him, which they did with many a weeping eye. Hee named the sixt Psalmē, and beginning it or taking it vp himselfe, in euerie verse or line thereof hee went before the people, singing both lowd and tunably vnto the very end. Then once againe confirming and auowing his former confession, he covered his owne face, and commending his soule to God, hee was turned off the ladder; where hanging by the necke some little while, hee three seuerall times gaue a lowd clap with his hands, that all

Aug. 1608. the standers by might heare : which was the signe or token (as it seemeth) which he a little before had sayd that hee would giue at his last gaspe, for the ratification and auowing of those things, which by his confession hee had so many times declared and deliuered. These things were done in the open sight of the funne, in the Kings Capitall towne, at the Market-crosse in Edenborough, in the presence of diuers thousandes of all sorts ; of the Nobilitie, of the Clergie, of the Gentry, of the Burgeses, of women and children, my selfe, with the rest of the English Ministers, standing by and looking on, and giuing God the glorie, that after so long a space as eight yeeres and eight dayes (for so it was by iust computation after the attempt of Gowrie) he was pleased to giue so noble a testimonie vnto that, which by some maligners had bene secretly called in question, without any ground or reason. I haue reported at length those particulars, which I heard and saw ; which that honourable personage who wrote this Treatise following doth somewhat more briefly deliuer, but yet both of vs very truly, as thousandes can witnesse.

Out of both these narrations there may diuers obseruations be gathered. As first, how hainous a thing it is in the sight of God himselfe, for subiects of what nature or qualitie soeuer to enter into conspiracie against the life and person of the Lords Anointed ; for Almighty God hath threatened to discouer these traiterous enterprises ; and if no other way, yet by some strange and miraculous fashion. Hee who spake against cruell imaginations of the heart,¹ Curse not the King, no not in thy thought ; for the fowle of the heauen shall carie the voice, and that which hath wings shall declare the matter ; what will he do, when acts of hostilitie in rebellious maner shall be entred into ? And doth his Diuine Maiestie disclose it, and will he not also punish it ? The example of that Earle Gowrie, among thousandes of others, may be a sufficient instruction in this behalfe, who, for his Soueraignes loue and gracious fauor, testified in many respects, and intended many more wayes vnto him, returning nothing but vngratefulnessse and traiterous resolutions, digged a pit for another, but by Gods iudgement fell into it himselfe : and did not only lose in one day his fidelitie, estimation and life, but ouerthrew his house and all the honour of his familie, thorow succeeding generations. Therefore farre be at all times from any noble heart to walke in his wayes, or vpon any occasion to entertaine such discontentment as may grow to vndutifulnesse ; for when the wrath of God shall ouertake men offending in this kinde, and the iustice of a King shall once proceed against them, what horror must there needs be in their bowels and conscience ? what trembling and affrighting in their very soule ? If this poore man Sprot, for concealing that odious combination, found such touches in himselfe, and such remorse in his heart, what quaking and dreadfulnessse, may we thinke, will fall on him who is guiltie of the highest act of treason and rebellion ?

Secondly, wee heere may see the Lords protection ouer Christian Kings and Princes ; whom, as hee placeth next himselfe in maiestie and authoritie, and calleth them by his owne name, I haue said,² Ye are Gods ; so he blefseth and vpholdeth them, as his Deputies and Vice-gerents, men representing himselfe, especially if sincerely they serue and feare and loue him. He is a God of order, and loueth subordination in all kingdomes and countreys, where if hee grace, countenance, and protect inferiour Magistrates, what will hee doe to the heads and chiefe gouernours of his people, who are next to his owne greatnessse ? Hee hath set them aboue other in honour and glorie, which causeth them to be more obserued according to their state : but withall, the prayers of their subiects are powred out for their welfare, day and night, and at all times ; which concurring with their owne requests to God, do find acceptance with the Highest, to their noted prosperitie and eminent felicitie. It preferueth from many perils, to haue at all houres and seasons the prayers and supplications of faithfull men and women hovering ouer their heads, which may be perpetuall remembrancers for them to their heauenly Father, if by human fragilitie and vnauidable imperfections they should forget themselues.

Thirdly, we may note, more particularly, the sauing health of God upon our gracious Souereigne ; to whom as the Lord hath giuen many blessings and much happineſſe beyond all his progenitours, ſo hee hath maintained and protected his perſon in a marvellous and ſtrange maner, not onely from his cradle vnto this day, but (as it is very well knowen) from before his coming into the world. And how did the Lord free his ſeruant euen from the brincke of the pit, and from the gates of the graue at the time of Gowries attempt? As alſo ſince that day, when thoſe wicked ſonnes of Belial, the ſtaine of the land and countrey wherein they were borne, intended that Powder-treaſon? Which, as on the one ſide, it expecteth at the hands of his Maieſtie a greater thankfulneſſe to God the King of kings; ſo, on the other ſide, it calleth for vs who fit peaceably vnder his ſhadow, euerlaſting tokens of gratefulneſſe to ſo mercifull a Lord, and heartie obedience to our Souereigne, whom God hath raiſed vp, defended, protected, maintained, vpheld with his extraordinarie fauour to no common end; but to the enlarging of his Church, to the further ruine of Antichriſt; to the vnitng of Kingdomes, to the comfort of all the godly diſperſed thorow Europe. And happy is hee, not who can finde deuices, and caſt imaginarie perils to hinder ſuch a worke, but who in his poore place can with a faithfull heart giue furtherance to the ſame.

¹ Eccl. x. 20.

² Psal. lxxxii. 6.

Aug. 1608.

Fourthly, as many blessings from heauen haue been powred on the head of his Maieſtie, ſo it is not the leaſt, that tanquam e poſtliminio, after ſo many yeeres, and that as from the bones of a dead man, when liuing men would not beleene it, God hath giuen farther light to the opening of the Conſpiracie of that vngodly Earle Gowrie, which ſome few perſons, affected more to a rebell that is dead, than to their liuing Souereigne, did endeouour to diſguiſe and make at their owne pleaſure. The ſtrange conceits of whome I can neuer ſufficiently woonder at; that men profeſſing conſcience and zeale to the trueth, ſhould, vpon no kind of ground or ſhew of probabilitie, ſuffer ſuch vnreuerent thoughts to enter into their hearts, eſpecially againſt his ſacred perſon, whoſe life hath bene ſo immaculate and vnſpotted in the world, ſo free from all touch of viciouſneſſe and ſtaining imputation, that euen malice it ſellie (which leaueth nothing vnſearched) could neuer finde true blemiſh in it, nor caſt any probable aſperſion on it. Againſt his ſacred perſon, whom as they muſt acknowledge to be zealous as Dauid, learned and wiſe as the Salomon of our age, religious as Ioſias, carefull of ſpreading Chriſts faith as Conſtantine the Great; ſo if they will ſpeake trueth, they muſt confeſſe to be iuſt as Moſes, vndeſiled in all his wayes as Iehofaphat or Hezechias, full of clemencie as another Theodoſius, farre from ſpilling the blood of any of his Nobilitie, but rather ſparing thoſe who haue liſt vp their hand againſt him. Notwithſtanding, when prepoſterous affection had ſo blinded theſe men, that they would not ſee this trueth, the Lord hath giuen light yet once more, to the rectifying of their iudgements. A ſingular example of Gods vnlimited and vnbounded wiſdome, who will doe things as he liketh. That when as S. Iohn ſayth, ¹ Qui ſordeſcit, ſordeſcot adhuc, He that liſt to be preuiſh, and refractarie, and ſeſe-conceited, did thinke hee might haue perſiſted and died in that peeuilneſſe and refractarie conceit, and ſuppoſed that neuer any thing in this world ſhould haue been able to reforme him, may ſee before his face ſo illuſtrious a testimony of his miſconceited fancie, and almoſt vnſatiſſiable vndutifulneſſe, that vnleſſe his face be hardened and his heart obdurate againſt both heauen and earth, he muſt ceaſe to be peruerſe. God is the God of trueth; and he who is the protectour of innocency in the pooreſt, will certainly be the maintainer and defender of integritie and ſinceritie in his nobleſt and deareſt ſeruant. It is fit that he ſhould haue his owne will, to put off and prolong his mercies till the time which ſeemeth good to himſelfe, that men may wait vpon him, and patiently expect, and ſtill tarie the Lords leiſure: yea, that his power may be knowen, who can bring light out of darkneſſe, an good out of euill, and truth out of treaſon; who can giue hope beyond hope. But when hee is once reſolued that things acted in ſecret ſhall be preached vpon the houſe top, that iniquitie ſhall be opened, that ſimplicite ſhall be cleered, and innocencie diſburdened of ſcandalous imputations, if men would not ſpeake, or children found out the trueth in the ſtreets, ² yet the verie ſtones ſhall crie, as our Sanionr once answered to the

¹ Apoc. xxii. 11.² Luc. xix. 40.

Aug. 1608. maligning Pharisees. Blessed be the God of iustice, who cleereth vp the fame of his holy ones, when malice would obscure it.

Lastly, heere may be a warning to men of mine own profession, I meane the Ministers of the Gospell, that in cases of highest nature between a King and his rebell, they conceine not things to the woorst, and (because they will be opposite to him whom most of all they should honor) by buzzings and whisperings, and secreet suggestions, without all ground of trueth, labour to sow sedition in the eares of women and children, or in the mindes of men either weake or ill disposed.¹ For as the ² lips of the Priest should alwayes preferue knowledge, so should they preferue trueth. And we are to go before our flocks and congregations, in obedience and obsequiousnesse vnto the Christian Magistrate, not in sowing sedition, or making of mutinies, to the disturbance of the State. Who should sticke closer to Moyse, welding so huge a charge, than Aaron and his tribe? And who should rather labour to doe his Prince all right, than the Minister of the Gospell, who, next after teaching men their dutie to God, is made to teach obedience and respectiuenesse vnto Kings? And who more deserueth to be chastised than he, if he wilfully transgresseth?

These things I thought not amisse to obserue to thee, Christian Reader, before thou come to the perusing of this plaine and true narration, touching the examination, arraignment and death of the person here described. God Almighty bleesse the Kings Majestie, grant vnto him many dayes full of pietie and felicitie; and after this mortall life expired, send him an euerlasting crown of glorie, through Iesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Thine in the Lord,

GEORGE ABBOT.

THE EXAMINATIONS, &c. of GEORGE SPROT, Notary in Aye-mouth.

THOUGHT good (gentle Reader) for satisfaction of the true hearted and well-affected subjects to their gracious Souereigne, and closing of the mouthes of his malicious enemies, to spend a little time in discourse of a strange and almost miraculous accident, that fell out of late, aent the renealing of the practises of GOWRIES treasonable CONSPIRACIE, intended against his Highnesse royall person. Which purpose was hidden and concealed, vntill the time it pleased God to moue one GEORGE SPROT (who was prinie thereto) to manifest and confesse the same, as by this that followeth may appeare.

This Sprot, after diuers examinations, being moued with remorse of conscience, for the long concealing of the fore-knowledge of this treasonable conspiracie, confesseth, declareth and deponeth, with the perill of his own life, That he knew perfectly, that ROBERT LOGANE, late OF RESTALRIG, was prinie and vpon the foreknowledge of Gowreis treasonable conspiracie. And for the greater assurance of his knowledge, deponeth, That he knew there wer diuers Letters interchanged betwixt them, aent the treasonable purpose aforesayd, in the beginning of the moneth of Iuly, 1600. Which Letters James Bour, called Laird Bour, seruitor to Restalrig, (who was employed mediatour betwixt them, and priuy to all that errand) had in keeping, and shewed the same to Sprot, in the place of Fast-Castle. The first of Gowreis Letters, containing in effect, as followeth:

GOOD LAIRD OF RESTALRIG,

YOU vnderstand what conditions should haue beene betwixt vs, ofbefoir. Indeed, I purposed to haue come by your house; but vnderstanding of your absence in Lothiane, I came not. Alwayes, I with you either your selfe to come West, or els to send some sure messenger, who may conferre with mee, aent the purpose you know. But rather would I with your selfe to come, not only for that errand, but for some other thing that I haue to aduise with you.

¹ This is an evident allusion to the blind obstinacy of Mr Robert Bruce.

² Mal. ii. 7.

To the which Letter Restalrig wrate an answer, and sent the same to the Earle of Gowrie, by the Aug. 1608. said James Bour, of the tenure following: [The Letter is here inserted.¹]

Which letter, written every word with Restalrigs owne hand, was subscribed by him after his accustomed maner, 'Restalrig:' And was sent to the Earle Gowrie by the sayd James Bour. After whose returne within five dayes, with a new letter from Gowrie, he staid all night with Restalrig in Gunnes-greene:² and Restalrig rode to Lothiane, the morne thereafter; where he staid five or six dayes. Then, after his returning, past to Fast-Castle; where he remained a certeine short space. And farther deponeth, that he saw and heard Restalrig reade the last letter, which Bour brought backe to him from Gowrie, and their conference thereanent. And heard Bour say, 'Sir, if ye thinke to make any commoditie by this dealing, lay your hand to your heart.' And Restalrig answered, that he would do as he thought best. And farther sayd to Bour, 'Howbeit he should sell all his owne land that he had in the world, he would passe thorow with the Earle of Gowrie; for that matter would giue him greater contentment, nor if he had the whole kingdome: and rather or hee should falsifie his promise, and recall his vow that hee had vowed to the Earle of Gowrie, hee should spend all that hee had in the world, and hazard his life with his Lordship.' To whom Bour answered: 'You may doe as you please, Sir, but it is not my counsell, that you should be so sudder, in that other matter. But for the condition of Dirlton, I would like very well of it.' To whom Restalrig answered, 'Content your selfe, I am at my wits end.' And farther Sprot deponeth, that he entred him selfe, there-after, in conference with Bour, and demanded, 'what was done betwixt the Laird and the Earle of Gowrie?' And Bour answered, 'that hee belceued that the Laird should get Dirlton, without either golde or siluer; but feared that it should be as deare vnto him.' And Sprot inquiring 'how that could be?' Bour sayd, 'They had another pie in hand nor the selling of any land:' But prayed Sprot, for God's sake, that hee would let be, and not trouble himselfe with the Laird's businesse; for he feared, within few dayes, the Laird would either be landleffe or lifelesse. And the said George Sprot being demanded, 'if this his deposition was true, as he would answer vpon the saluation and condemnation of his soule; and if hee will go to death with it, seeing he knoweth the time and the houre of his death to approach very neere?' Deponeth for answer, that hee hath not a desire to liue; and that he knowes the time to be short, hauing care of no earthly thing, but only for cleering of his conscience, in the truth of all these things, to his owne shame before the world, and to the honour of God, and safetie of his owne soule; that all the former points and circumstances contained in this his deposition, with the deposition made by him the fift day of Iuly last, and the whole remanent depositions made by him sen that day, are true; which hee will take on his conscience, and as hee hopeth to be faued of God, and that he would seale the same with his blood. And farther, being demanded where this aboue written letter, written by Restalrig to the Earle of Gowrie, which was returned againe by James Bour, is now? Deponeth, that hee abstracted it quietly from Bour, in looking ouer and reading Bours letters, which he had in keeping of Restalrigs; and that he left the aboue written letter in his chest among his writings, when hee was taken and brought away, and that it is closed and folded within a piece of paper.

This foresaid deposition was made by him the tenth of August 1608, written by Iames Primerose, Clerke of his Maiesties Priuie Counsell, and subscribed with the sayd George Sprot's owne hand, in the presence of the Earle of Dunbar, the Earle of Lothiane, the Bishop of Ross, the L. Schune, the L. Halyrudehoufe, the L. Blantyre, Sir William Hart, his Maiesteis Iustice, Mr John Hall, Mr Patricke Galloway, Mr Peter Hewart, Ministers of the Kirkes of Edenborough. Subscribed with all their hands.

And also, the eleuenth day of the foresaid moneth and yeere, the said George Sprot being re-examined, in the presence of a number of the Counsell and Ministers aforesaid, and it being declared to ¹ As the Letters are inserted at length, from the Originals, preserved in the General Register House, Edinburgh, it has been thought unnecessary to reprint them here, in abstract.

² A house of Restalrig's.

Aug. 1608. him, that the time of his death now verie neere approached, and that therefore they desired him to cleere his conscience with an vpriight declaration of the trueth; and that he would not abuse the holy name of God, to make him, as it were, a witnesse to vntueths: and specially, being desired that he would not take vpon him the innocent blood of any person, dead or quick, by making and forging lies and vntueths against them: Deponeth, that he acknowledgeth his grieuous offences to God (who hath made him a reasonable creature) in abusing his holy name with many vntueths, fen the beginning of this proceffe: but now being resolved to die, and attending the houre and time when it shall please God to call him, he deponeth, with many attestations, and as he wisheth to be participant of the kingdom of heauen, where he may be countable and answerable, vpon the saluation and condemnation of his soule, for all his doings and speeches in this earth; that all that he hath deponed fen the fifth day of Iuly last, in all his fenerall depositions, were true, in every point and circumstance of the same; and that there is no vntueth in any point thereof. And hauing desired Mr Patricke Galoway to make a prayer, whereby he might be comforted now in his trouble; which was done: The said deponer, with many teares, after the prayer, affirmed this his deposition to be true: and for the confirmation thereof, declared, that he would seale the same with his blood.

And the next day thereafter, being the twelfth of the foresaid moneth of August, the said George was brought forth and presented in iudgment vpon pannell, within the Towlebewth of Edenborough, before Sir William Hart of Preston, his Maiestis Iustice; and there, in a fenced Court holden by him that day, assisted by the honourable persons following, his ASSESSORS in that errand: They are to say,

Alexander Earle of Dumfermling,	Dauid Earle of Crawford,	Michael L. Burley,
L. Chancellor,	Marke Earle of Lothiane,	Sir Richard Cokburne of Clark-
George Earle of Dunbar, Treasur-	Iohn L. Abernethy of Saltoun,	intoun, Knight, urer,	James L. of Balmerinoth, Secre-	Mr Iohn Preston of Fenton Barnes,
Iohn Archbishop of Glascow,	tarie,	Collector Generall,
Dauid Bishop of Ross,	Walter L. Blantyre,	Sir Iohn Skeyue of Currhill,
Gawin Bishop of Galloway,	Iohn L. Halrudehouse,	Knight, Clerke of Register;
Andrew Bishop of Brechine, was delated, accused, and pursued by Sir Thomas Hamilton of Binning, Knight, Aduocate to our Souereigne Lord, for his Highnesse Entries, of the crimes contained in his Inditement, produced by the said Aduocate; whereof the tenure followeth. [Here follow the Dittay and proceedings in the Court of Iusticiary, in terms similar to those recorded in the Books of Adjournal.]

The doome being pronounced, the said George was conuoyed to a priuie house; where he remained at his secret meditation, and afterwards in conference with the Ministers and others, vnto the time all things was provided necessarie for his execution: and being brought to the place where he was to die, he, in publike audience of the whole people, at the three sides of the scaffold, ratified the former depositions made by him concerning the treasonable practices intended and deuised betwixt Gowrie and Restalrig, for the murdering of our most gracious Souereigne, and bereauing his Highnesse of his life, and his owne knowledge and concealing of their guiltinesse. [Here a copy of Sprot's Confession is inserted. See a correct transcript of this extraordinary paper, p. 260.]

By this Narration aforegoing, each man may learne, that the contrining and plotting of treason against Kings and Princes, is a thing odious in the sight of God, and therefore ordinarily is disclosed by him, at first or at last, by one meanes or another: and that it is not good to conceale any such Conspiracie intended by enemie or friend, because the life and safetie of a Christian King, who is the common Father of the Countrey, ought to be dearer to all good men, than the loue or acquaintance of any whatsoener: who howbeit hee make shew of manie faire things in him, yet in this alone, That hee purposed euill against the Lords Anointed, sufficiently declareth himselfe to be of a rebellious and vngodly disposition. And how wofull the fruit is either of such traitourous resolutions, or of the concealing of them, may be seene (as in a glasse) both in the fudden end of the Earle Gowrie, and in the execution of this George Sprot with more deliberation. Aug. 1608.

(4.) NARRATIVE OF SPROTT'S EXECUTION, &c.

[IN the course of pursuing the researches necessary to be made, owing to the task which the Editor had imposed upon himself, of collecting such original and authentic information, bearing upon all the facts connected with Gowrie's Conspiracy, as could now be procured, he discovered the following curious fragment, among the voluminous MS. Collections of Wodrow, preserved in the Library of the Faculty of Advocates, in an anonymous MS. marked 'Hist. of Church of Scotland.' Rob. III. 2, 9. It is evidently written by some person who entertained ideas unfavourable to the reality of the Conspiracy; but, notwithstanding the turn he attempts to give to the declarations of Sprott, and certain gratuitous assertions occasionally introduced by him, on the whole, it unquestionably establishes the author's belief of the veracity of Sprott, and the truth of his dying Confessions; and being written by a professed partisan of the family of Gowrie, this paper becomes more important than had it contained a fulsome detail, and concluded with a panegyric on the King.]

UPON the xij day of August 1608, thair wes ane man hangit at the Croce of Edinburgh, for conceiling of the Treffoun committit be the vni^q^{le} Erle of Gowrie, in maner aforwrittin. The manis name wes callit George Sprott, uottar in Eymouth. The maner of his reueiling of the said Treffoun, wes in this forme. The said George wes apprehendit in the moneth of Aprile, or thairby, 1608, vpoun sum informatioun that he had maid of the said Treaffoun of before: And being brocht to Edinburgh, and thairefter examinat be the Lordis of Secrete Counfall, thair wer producit Letteris quhilkis wer fund in his hous, writtin be the vni^q^{le} Laird of Restalrig that last deceffit, ane godles drunken deboschit man in his tyme, direct to certane perfonis, quhais names culd not be maid knawin, feing the Letteris were not direct on the bak; making mentioun of the proceeding of the said Erle of Gowreis Treffoun, and about sum meiting thairanent, to have bene betuix the Erle and his brother and the said Laird of Restalrig, in his hous of Fafcastell: And being particularlie examinat, he clerit many thingis to the Counfall, and causit findrie men of rank to be suspectit. And to the effect he nicht the better declare the mater, he ressauit sum choppis (strokes) in the buittis, and abyding, that thay Letteris wer writtin be the Laird of Restalrig, and be his Depositionis that he had deponit. It wes thoct very strange be mony, that the Erle of Gowrie and his brother fuld have communicate sic ane hich turne, to the knowledge of sic ane deboschit drunken man as the Laird of Restalrig; and yit, all that saw the writtis and knew the Laird of Restalrigis handwritt, affirmit it wes the same. And thairefter, the said George being vrgit to depone quhat forder he knew in the said mater, to the forder satisfioun of the Counfall, and being buittit to that effect, he than with grite and solemne aithis declairit that all wes fals that he had writtin or said in the said mater; and willit thame that wer his auditouris, that gif euir at ony tyme thairefter he fuld say or write Aug. 1608. vtherwayis, that thair fuld be na credit gevin thairto.¹ And sua, the mater lying over till my Lord of Dunbaris cuming into this cuntrey, he than caufit tak the said George Sprot furth of waird, and caufit cure his leggis, quhilkis wer very ewill woundit with the buittis; and thairefter caufit present him before the Counfall; quhan he ratifeit all that euir he had said first in the said mater, and declairit, that albeit the Letteris wer writtin and deuyfit be him selff,² yit the subiect quhairupoun he wrait thame wes trew; and declairit that he wes preuy to the knawledge of the said Tressoun, and dilatit all the particular circumstances of his knawledge. And thairefter, vpoun the day foirsaid, being put to the knawlege of ane Assyse, he planelie confessit him selff to haue bene preuy to the knawlege of the said Tressoun, and that thairfore, he deseruit maist worthelie to die. And thaireftir, being brocht to the place of execution, quhair thair wes present with him findrie of the Counfall and findrie of the Ministrie, with grite nowmer of people; and being posit, as he sould be partaker of lyf eternall, that he sould declare the veritie, maist planlie confessit, that he had nather promise of lyf, nather rewaird to his wyf and bairns efter his deceas, nor ony vther thing that movit him, bot simple the grudge of his awin conscience. And sua, declairit that quhat he had deponit in the said mater wes trew; and that he wes preuy to the knawlege of the said Tressoun, and cravit God pardoun thairfore; and besocht the pepill to pray for him; and sua deit very penitent. And thairefter, his body wes brokin and quarterit, and his heid putt vp besyd the Erle of Gowreis.

No. XV.

Forfeiture for High Treason—Gowrie's Conspiracy.

ROBERT LOGAN, eldest sone to vniq^{lc} ROBERT LOGANE of RESTALRIG.

[It is not the purpose of the Editor, here, to enter into any vindication of the conduct of the Lord High Commissioner and the Parliament of Scotland, for their insisting so rigidly on the Forfeiture of the heir of the deceased traitor Restalrig. Such were then considered to be the Laws of this country, in

¹ It seems clear, that this retraction of his former voluntary Confessions, was only extorted from Sprott by the extremity of the torture suffered by him in 'the buittis.' For no sooner is he rid of them, and patiently examined on oath before the Privy Council, than he explicitly declares the truth of his previous Declarations; and these he, with unswerving confidence, continued to repeat, until the moment of his death. The administration of the torture to this person to so exquisite a degree (however reprehensible the practice unquestionably was), proves the extreme anxiety of his examiners to draw out the truth from this person, even though this should be to the discredit of the King's repeated attestations. Their integrity, therefore, is deserving of the highest praise—for had they been acting as mere time-servers, it would have been enough for them to have encouraged Sprott in his repeated asseverations.

² This assertion is entirely gratuitous on the part of the anonymous writer, and is disproved by the Declarations, so fervently emitted by Sprott, as a dying man, attested by many respectable and unexceptionable witnesses, such as Archbishop Spottiswood, several members of the Privy Council of Scotland, the Ministers of Edinburgh, the Bishop of Galloway, and the Bailies of Edinburgh, &c. In addition to this, the testimony of such a host of witnesses, at the Forfeiture of Logan of Restalrig, proves the authenticity of these Letters beyond the shadow of a doubt; if any effect is to be given to human testimony, in such a matter.

aggravated cases of High Treason; and it is by no means unnatural that this Parliament should have pressed for their most rigorous enforcement, immediately after the occurrence of so unexpected a discovery. The extraordinary disclosures of the real facts and circumstances attending the origin and progress of the Conspiracy, which had been so long concealed by Sprutt, and his unswerving adherence to his Confessions, had an irresistible effect upon the opinions of such portions of the community, as had, till then, remained in their incredulity. These doubts unquestionably originated with the perverse conduct of Mr Robert Bruce, whose talents and integrity were universally respected by the Presbyterian party, and had placed him in the situation of leader and organ of that body. The injudicious attempts which were made by the King and Council, to concuss him into a public profession of implicit reliance on every item of 'the Account published by authority,' and to force upon him, not only the subscription of a certain formula, but besides publicly to recite this paper, and to preach upon the subject, in the exact terms pointed out to him, from the pulpit all over the kingdom, tended much to rouse the suspicions of the doubting. His stubborn and bold spirit, which had in it much of the intrepidity of John Knox, could by no means brook such indignity, and accordingly he went into the banishment which was awarded him. The particulars of his extraordinary correspondence, and the conferences he had with the King, shall be given in the present Collection.

One remarkable circumstance attended these Cases of Logan and Gowrie.¹ The dead bodies of the traitors were actually produced in Court; and, in the latter case, sentence was pronounced against the corpses of the Earl of Gowrie and Mr Alexander Ruthven. In Logan's case, his bones, which had been buried for several years, were dug up and produced at the bar; but no warrant for burning or public exposure is contained in the doom of Forfeiture; and the Editor does not find that such was resorted to, although the matter excited the strongest feelings and the utmost detestation of his memory. On this subject, it may be interesting to many, to notice some illustrations of so extraordinary a subject.

Sir George Mackenzie, in his Treatise on the Criminal Law, B. I, Title 6, § 22, says, 'Albeit the bones of the defunct traitor are ordinarily taken up and brought to the pannel, in pursuits of this nature, as was done in the forefaulter of the Laird of Restalrig, yet this is not necessary.' Lord Hailes, in an interleaved copy of the Earl of Cromarty's Account of the Conspiracy, remarks, 'He is certainly in the right; for the bones of a traitor can neither plead defences, nor cross-question witnesses; and upon this matter, there is no difference whether the accused person be absent in body or present in bones!' Paulus Jovius, in the History of his own Times, vol. i. Lib. 2, p. 50, Edit. Venetiis, 1553, notices a similar instance. 'Innocentium namque Catiam Opicini propinquum Ludouicus Sfortia aliquot antè annis facti functum, objectis quibusdam criminibus, è sepulchro in jus vocari damnarique jusserat, ut bona illius veluti convicta judicio per leges fisco addicarentur. Quod sicuti inauditum et execrabile visum est, ita illi singularem invidiam concitavit.' Bishop Guthrie also in his Memoirs, Glasg. 1747, p. 250, mentions, in the case of Archibald Lord Napier, 'The Committee resolved to raise his bones, and pass a sentence of forefaulter thereupon: And for that end, Letters were raised and ordained to be executed at the pier and shore of Leith against Archibald Lord Napier his son, then under exile, for his loyalty, to appear upon sixty days' warning, and to hear and see the same done. And when his friends were startled at the noise of it, and made enquiry what was meant by it? They found it was only to draw money from the present Lord Napier, for the use of some sycophants that expected it: And so, they advanced five thousand merks to that end; and thereupon the intended forfaulter was discharged.' See also Limborch, Historia Inquisitionis, lib. 4, c. 8, pp. 357, 363.

¹ See also the case of Francis Mowbray, Jan. 31, 1603; who, in his attempt to escape from the Castle of Edinburgh, (where he had been confined on a charge of High Treason,) by means of cutting his blankets and letting himself down from his window, fell, and expired in a few hours. His body was brought to the bar, before an Assise; and ordered to be gibbeted, drawn, and quartered, &c. The case of the Archbishop of Spalato, 1624, Somers's State Tracts, vol. ii. p. 30, may likewise be referred to, as illustrative of this practice.

June, 1609. Sententiæ Tholosanae, pp. 162, 167, 248, &c.—‘Accusati post sepulturam, decretumque ut more majorum punirentur.’—Tacit. Annal. 15.—‘Cum accusatores ac testes perorarent, respondente nullo, miseratio quam invidia augebatur.’—Tacit. Annal. 3.

The first recorded instances, in Scotland, occurred in the reign of King James V., viz. the case of Robert Leslie, and that of James Colville of East Wemyss, Dec. 4, 1540, which were continued from time to time to 1542; when by Act of Parl. cap. 13, it was declared, that all such actions, in future, against the heirs of deceased Traitors, must be led within five years after the decease of ‘pame pat notourlie committis or fall committ crimes of Leife-maieftie aganis pe Kingis perfoune, aganis pe realme for evertioun of pe famin, and aganis paim pat fall happin to betraife pe Kingis army, alanerlie.’—Acta Parl. vol. ii. p. 415. The practice was founded on the Civil Law, Corpus Sur. Civ. Dig. ad L. Juliam Maj. L. ult.—It is only necessary, in farther illustration, to refer to our learned Commentator on the Criminal Law, Hume on Punishment for Crimes, vol. ii. p. 458; Mackenzie on Crimes, p. 29, No. 22; and Mack. Obs. on Stat. pp. 136-7.

As will be seen by the Warrant inserted at the end of these proceedings, the Lord Advocate was directed, by the Privy Council, to prepare the summons against Logan’s representative, and to insist in its pursuit, after thoroughly investigating Sprott’s Conviction and Confessions, and examining the witnesses, whose depositions follow. Sir Thomas Hamilton’s Report to his Majesty has been recovered among the Denmylne Papers, and is also appended. It need hardly be remarked, it is a most important and interesting document.]

(Jun. 24.)—SIR THOMAS HAMYLTOUN of Bymie knycht, Aduocat to oure fouerane lord, producit in prefens of the noble and nichtie lord, the Erle Marfchall Commiffionar and in prefens of the hail Estaittis, lyk as [he] did diuerfe tymes of befoir, ane Summondis of Treaffoun, raist and perfewit be oure said fouerane lord, and be the said Aduocat aganis Robert Logane eldest sone to vnq^{le} Robert Logane of Restalrig and his tutouris and curatouris, gif he ony hes, and all vtheris haveand or pretendand to haue interes in the said mater, for thair interesse; to haue answert to the said summondis, and to the crymes of Treaffoun and Lefema^{tie} conteuit thairintill: The quhilk summondis and reffones and causses thairin contenit, being first red in prefens of the lordis of Articlis of this present Parliament, they fand the samyn summondis relevant: And thaireftir this instant day, the samyn summondis of Treaffoun and reffones and causses thairin contenit being red, in prefens of the said Lord Commiffionar and of the hail Estaittis of Parliament, the said Robert Logane eldest sone to the said vnq^{le} Robert Logane of Restalrig and his tutouris and curatouris, and all vtheris haveand or pretendand to haue interes, being thryse callit at the tolbutth window, to haue answert to the said summondis of Treaffoun, and comperit nocht, the saidis hail Estaittis fand the said Summondis of Treaffoun raist be our said fouerane lord and his hienes Aduocat aganis the said Robert Logane and his foirsaidis, and the reffoun and cause contenit thairin, maist relevant causses of Treaffoun committit be the said vnq^{le} Robert Logane of Restalrig his father, in his lyfytyme: And thairfoir the saidis Estaittis, all in ane voce, Admittit the samyn summondis of Treaffoun, and reffoun and cause of Treaffoun contenit thairin, to the said Aduocat, in oure foverane lordis name, his probatioum : Quhairvpoun the said Aduocatt, in name June, 1609. of his hienes, askit actis and Instrumētis.

SUMMONS of Treason and forfeiture of the Memory and Estates of the deceased ROBERT LOGANE of RESTALRIG.

JACOBUS Dei gratia, Magne Britannie, Francie et Hibernie Rex, fideique defensor: Dilectis nostris Leoni Regi armorum, Merchemount, Ilay, Rofs, Rothefay, Albanie et Snawdoun, hierauldis; Dauidi Bryfoun, Alexandro Dowglas, Jacobo Chalmer et Magistro Willelmo Stewart, clavigeris; Ormount, Bute, Vnicorne, Carrik, signiferis, nuncijs, ac eorum cuilibet, coniunctim et diuisim, vicecomitibus nostris in hac parte specialiter constitutis: Salutem. Mandamus vobis et precipimus, quod summonetis legitime et peremptorie, coram testibus, ROBERTUM LOGANE filium primogenitum et heredem apparentem quondam ROBERTI LOGANE DE RESTALRIG, personaliter, si eius personalem presentiam habere poteritis; sin minus, apud domicilium et locum habitationis sue, necnon dictum Robertum Logane eiusque tutores et curatores, si quos habet, omnesque alios interesse habentes seu pretendentes, per publicationem apud cruces forales burgorum nostrorum de Edinburcht, Hadingtoun, Dunse, Grenlaw, aliaque loca necessaria, ita vt huiusmodi summonitio ad eorum aures et notitiam verisimiliter peruenire possit; ad comparandum coram nobis nostrove Commissionario et Justiciario, ac regni nostri Scotie Ordinibus, in Parlamento nostro apud Edinburgh, vel vbi nos nostrumve Commissionarium ac Justiciarum et dicti regni nostri Ordines pro tempore convenire contigerit, tenendo duodecimo die mensis Aprilis proxime futuri, hora caufarum, cum continuatione dierum; ad respondendum nobis seu nostro Justiciario in dicto nostro Parlamento, necnon ad instantiam dilecti et fidelis consiliarij nostri Thome Hammyltoun de Bynnie militis, nostri Aduocati, pro nostro interesse: Et ad videndum et audiendum, per nos aut nostri Commissionarij, Justitiarij et trium dicti regni nostri Scotie Statuum, decretum et sententiam decerni dictum quondam Robertum Logane de Restalrig, crimina Lefemaieftatis infra-scripta in vita sua commississe, eorumque conscium et participem fuisse, eaque approbasse et caelasse: Ideoque Memoriam eius damuari, et bona omnia mobilia et immobilia, jura aliaque omnia ad eum infra dictum nostrum regnum spectantia, nobis confiscari et perpetuo nobiscum modo infra-scripto remanere debere; ob causas et rationes sequentes. QUUM enim quondam JOANNES olim COMES DE GOWRIE et quondam MAGISTER ALEXANDER RUTHVENE eius frater, nulla prouocati iniuria, sed multis magnisque devincti nobis beneficijs, in necem nostram, menſe Julio aut eo circa, anno Domini millesimo sexcentesimo, ingrate, crudeliter, nefarie, et proditorie Coniurassent; et de asciscendis in sceleris consilium et partem focijs consultantes, neminem ad tam immane nefas aut suscipiendum aut parandum aptiorem promptioremve dicto quondam Roberto Logane de Restalrig existimarent: Ideoque dictus quondam Joannes olim Comes de Gowrie dictum quondam Magistrum Alexandrum Ruthven suum fratrem ad dictum quondam Robertum Logane de Restalrig misisset, cum vt dicti horreni sceleris consilium et executionis destinatum ordinem ei significaret, tum etiam vt eum hortaretur vt eos consilio et auxilio suo, in tam nefando facinore perpetrando iuaret; dictus quondam Magister Alexander dictum quondam Robertum Logane de Restalrig, in Vico Canonicorum opportune conveniens, omnem Proditionis feriem ei patefecit, dictusque quondam Robertus Logane pro sua ad scelera omnia naturali et inveterata propensione, adeo gratam sibi eam coniurationem esse declaravit, vt fide data et accepta, crebrisque cum dicto quondam Magistro Alexandro ea de re, in dicto menſe Julio, habitis sermonibus, omnem tandem tuto et secrete peragendi criminis ordinem proditorie constituerunt; atque in ea crudeli et scelestissima voluntate, dictus quondam Robertus Logane de Restalrig, non solum pertinaciter et proditorie perseueravit, sed crebris nuntijs Literisque per quondam JACOBUM BOUR de Bourhouſe alias Laird Bour vocatum ad quondam Comitē de Gowrie missis; quibus dicti quondam Comitē Literis super ea re acceptis, respondebat dictum quondam Joannem olim Comitē de Gowrie

June, 1609. enixe ad constantiam in prefato scelere prosequendo et perpetrando proditorie hortatus est, arcemque suam de Failecastell, natura et arte munitissimi, post scelus proditorie peractum, paratum tutumque coniuratis refugium futurum promisit, si tribus aut quatuor socijs comitatus dictus quondam Comes eo se recipere in cymba piscatoria vellet. Et quamvis nomen nostrum et de cæde nostra expressam mentionem in dictis Literis, quondam Robertus Logane, vt in tam sædis proditionibus fieri solet suppresserit; ea tamen adeo dilucide et perspicue habita temporis et circumstantiarum facti in dictis Literis descriptione expressit, vt nil clarius manifestiusque esse possit. Cum tandem, quinto die mense Augusto, anno Domini millesimo sexcentesimo, quem cædi nostre diem destinauerunt, dictus quondam Joannes olim Comes de Gowrie missõ ad nos Falcolandiam dicto quondam Magistro Alexandro Ruthvene fratre suo, fraudulenter et nefarie nos Pertham pertraxisset, et in secretius cubiculum, exclusis viris nobilibus domesticisque nostris, qui et pauci et inermes, instituta eo die venatione relicta nos eo secuti erant, dictus quondam Magister Alexander duxisset, ibique vim vite nostre proditorie afferre enixe conatus fuisset; Nosque Divino favente Numine, licet et armis et alia omni humana ope destituti, tam atrocem violentiam diu propulsassemus, donec clamore nostro accitis, qui in propinqua Urbis platea nostrum ex Urbe exitum operiebantur fernis nostris, Dei mira Providentia, Dominus Joannes Ramfay, (Vicecomes Hadingtonie,) accurrens, et dictum quondam Magistrum Alexandrum nos opprimere conantem cernens, stricto pugione in pectus ipsius addacto, cum fugere coegit; quem Dominus Thomas Erskynne, (Fentonie Vicecomes,) ad auxilium nobis in dicto discrimine ferendum, pro eximia sua in nos fide properans, dictum Magistrum Alexandrum lethalibus vulneribus confecit: Ac dictum quondam Joannem olim Comitem de Gowrie, ad ceptum scelus perficiendum, multis stipatus Coniuratis, ferociter accelerantem, dicti Vicecomites de Hadingtoun et Fentoun prohibere conantes, summoque cum vite sue discrimine, nostrum periculum propulsantes, et vitam nostram honestis vulneribus acceptis protegentes; tandem dictus Vicecomes Hadingtonie dicti quondam Comitis cor, proditionem spirans et sanguinem nostrum avidissime sitiens, ense sua ferociter et feliciter transfixit. CUIUS Proditiõnis, quamvis nos dictum quondam Robertum Logane de Restalrig reum esse ignoraremus, ipse tamen sua damnatus conscientia, ac semper timens ne dictus quondam Jacobus Bour, dicte Coniurationis conscius, rem omnem detegeret; sepius cum dicto Jacobo egit, vt fidem sibi de ea Proditiõne celanda obstringeret; tandemque per dictum quondam Jacobum certior factus quondam Georgium Sprott notarium in Aymouth, tum visis ipsius quondam Roberti ad dictum quondam Comitem de Gowrie ea de re Literis scriptis, apud Gwinnifgrene, priusquam clausæ fuissent pluribus diebus ante patratum scelus: Et post detectam Coniurationem (quod dictus quondam Jacobus Bour literarum prorsus ignarus, dicti quondam Georgii opera in legendis scriptis omnibus ad eum missis vel pertinentibus vtebatur) qualem etiam dicti quondam Roberti Literas super ea Coniuratione apud dictum Jacobum Bour fortuito vidisse, quare dicto quondam Comite de Gowrie, postquam eas legisset, ad dictum Robertum Logane reportandas, dictus quondam Jacobus Bour retinuerat. SICQUE Coniurationis perfectam noticiam habere, eiusdem dictum quondam Robertum conscium esse et participem intelligere, dictus quondam Robertus Logane de Restalrig cum utroque diligentissime egit, multisque vnicuique eorum datis muneribus, persuasit vt dictam Proditiõnem pro perpetuo cælerent, obtinuitque vt se viuo nunquam revelaretur: Neque prius horrendum illud dicti Roberti maiestatis crimen detectum fuit, quam dictus quondam Georgius Sprott, Divino vt apparuit inspirante numine, ad vindicandam nostram ab improborum calumniis famam, predictam proditoriam Coniurationem, et dicti quondam Roberti Logane eiusdem reatum, multis constantissimis Confessionibus, vltro patefecit; et dicti quondam Roberti Literas quas a dicto quondam Jacobo Bour acceperat prolatis manifestavit; ac constanti, pia et penitenti ob tam horrendum facinus, tam diu cælatum, morte feliciter confirmavit. CUIUS crudelis, nefarij et proditorij facinoris, et Lese maiestatis criminis, dictus quondam Robertus Logane de Restalrig, in vita sua, fuit ars et pars, conscius et particeps: Idque ipsius persuasione, hortatu, consilio et auxilio, susceptum et perpetratum fuit, dictusque quondam Robertus dictum scelestissimum Maiestatis crimen ad mortem et in morte proditorie cælauit: ET PROP-

TEREA, dictus Robertus Logane, filius et heres apparens dicti quondam Roberti de Logane de Restalrig, Juno, 1609. eiusque tutores et curatores, si quos habet, omnesque alii interesse habentes seu pretendentes, ad videndum et audiendum nomen, Memoriam et dignitatem dicti quondam Roberti Logane de Restalrig extinctum fore et esse decerni, armaque et insignia sua de Libro Armorum et nobilitatis deleri et cancellari, ita ut ipsius posterius ab officiis, honoribus, dignitatibus, terris, tenementis, prediis, redditibus, possessionibus, omnibusque bonis, mobilibus et immobilibus, juribusque et alijs in hoc regno nostro Scotie possidendis et gaudendis, sint inhabiles et incapaces de hinc imperpetuum; atque omnia bona, terras, predia, tenementa, atque alia quecumque bona, mobilia et immobilia, jura aliaque ad dictum quondam Robertum Logane de Restalrig pertinentia, vel que ad illum post initum scelestæ factionis et proditorii criminis supradicti consilium pertinuerunt, spectarunt, vel ad illum villo modo pertinere vel spectare potuerunt, nobis confiscari et ad nos pertinere, et pro perpetuo nobiscum in proprietate remanere: Intimando dicto Roberto Logane filio et heredi apparenti dicti quondam Roberti Logane de Restalrig, eiusque tutoribus et curatoribus, si quos habet, omnibusque alijs interesse habentibus vel pretendentibus, quod siue comparnerint siue non, dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, Nos, dictusque Commissarius et dictus noster Justiciarius dictique regni nostri Scotie Ordines in prefato nostro Parlamento, justitia mediante, procedemus et procedent. INSUPER summoneatis ad comparandum in dicto Parlamento nostro, dictis die et loco, cum continuatione dierum, coram nobis dictouo nostro Justiciario et Commissario ac dicti regni nostri Ordinibus, ad perhibendum fidele testimonium in premissis, sub pena legis: Et vos qui predictas has nostras literas executione mandaueritis, sitis ibidem, portantes vobiscum dicte summotionis testimonium et ipsos testes. Ad quod faciendum, vobis et vestrum cuiilibet, coniunctim et divisim, vicecomitibus nostris in hac parte, nostram plenariam tenore presentium committimus potestatem. Datum sub testimonio nostri Magni Sigilli, apud Edinbur, decimo quinto die mensis Februarij, anno domini millesimo sexcentesimo nono, regnorumque nostrorum annis quadragesimo secundo et sexto.

And immediatlie thairefter, the said Sir Thomas Hammyltoun of Byunie kn^t, aduocat to our souerane lord, in his hienes name, for preving of the pointtis of the said summondis and resson and cause of Treassoun and Lesmajestie contenit thairin, Repetit diuerse Missive billis, all writtin and subscryuit be the said vnr^{le} Laird of Restalrig, all the Depositionnes of the witnesses examinat befor the Lordis of Articlis of befor, and befor the Lordis of Secret Counsaill, George Sprottis Depositionnes and conviction, and his execution to the death for the famin cause of Treassoun of Gowrie; togidder with diuerse wryttis and vtheris probationis, quhilkis were presentlie producit befor the saidis Estaittis be the said Lord Aduocat, in our souerane lordis name, for preving of the foirsaid summondis of treassoun, and resson and cause of lesmajestie contenit thairin: Off the quhilkis Missive billis and Depositionis, producit be the said Aduocat in oure souerane lordis name, for preving of the said summondis of Treassoun and reassoun thairin contenit, aganis the said Robert Logane and his foirsaidis, the temouris followes.

LETTERS by ROBERT LOGAN OF RESTALRIG to the EARL OF GOWRIE, &c. relative to the projected CONSPIRACY against THE KING.

[AS HAS formerly been remarked, the ORIGINAL LETTERS of THE LAIRD OF RESTALRIG, with the Examinations of the Witnesses, have been recently discovered among the Warrants of Parliament, &c. preserved in the General Register House, Edinburgh; and the Editor has been thereby enabled to give a faithful transcript of these interesting documents. At the time the Records of Parliament of this period were framed, and for a long time afterwards, it did not seem to be the practice, or to be

June, 1609. considered of any consequence, even in such important cases, to give a literal transcript; all that was aimed at, was to give the words employed, generally, without attending, in the slightest degree, to the spelling, &c. So very inaccurately have they hitherto been given in any printed Collection, that they may be said to be now, for the first time, accurately laid before the Public. As an instance of this total disregard of minutiæ, not one of the characteristics of Logan's handwriting have been attended to, even in engrossing the Letters in the Records of Parliament; although they are there so scrupulously examined and detailed by the Witnesses. So extremely dissimilar are they also in other particulars, that they must have been merely read over or dictated to the transcriber, one of the under Clerks of Parliament, who probably had been unable to decipher any part of these remarkable Letters, which are written in a very difficult hand. In consequence of their great importance, a Fac-simile of a portion of Logan's Letters has been given; and a Plate accompanies this Part.]

(I.) LETTER, Robert Logan of Restalrig to

RY^T HONORABIL SIR,

MY dewty with fervise remembred. Pleise yow onderstand, my Lo. of Gowry and some vtheris his Lo. frendis and veill villeris, qha tendaris his Lo. better preferment, ar vpoun the resolucion ye knaw, for þe revange of that cawse; and his Lo. hes vrettin to me anent þat purpose, qhairto I vill accorde, in case ye vill stand to and beir a part: And befoir ye resolve, meet me and M. A. R.¹ in the Cannogat on Tyfday the nixt owk, and be alle var as ye kan. Indeid M. A. R. spak vith me fowr or fywe dayis syn, and I hew promised his Lo. ane answar vithin ten dayis at farrest. As for the purpose, how M. A. R. and I hes sett down the cowrse, it vill be ane very esy done twrne, and nocht far by that forme, vith the lyke stratagem, qhair of ve had conferense in Cap. h.² Bot in case ye and M. A. R. forgader,³ because he is someqhat confety, for Godis faik be very var vith his raklese toyis⁴ of Padoa; ffor he tald me ane of the strangest taillis of ane nobill man of Padoa that ever I hard in my lyf, resemling þe lyk purpose. I pray yow, Sir, think na thing althocht this berare onderstand of it, for he is the special secretair of my lyf; His name is Lard Bower, and vas auld Manderstonis man for deid & lyf, and evin sa now for me. And for my awin part, he fall knaw of all that I do in this varld, salang as ve leif togidder, for I mak him my howsehald man: He is veill vorthy of credit, and recommend him to yow. Alvyse to the purpose, I think best for ovr plat that ve meet all at my howse of Fastcastell; ffor I hew concludit v^t M. A. R. how I think it fall be meitteft to be convoyit quyeteft in ane bote, be sey;⁵ at qhilk

¹ Mr Alexander Ruthven. It has been deemed proper to print these Letters, most scrupulously, according to the Originals. ² The Record of Parliament reads this 'B^{is} h.' ³ Meet together.

⁴ In Parl. Rec. 'to this,' by an absurd blunder of the Clerk of Parliament. ⁵ It is obvious, that it would have been the height of insanity in the brothers and their accomplices to have murdered King James; at all events, to have done it in Gowrie House. Mr Alexander Ruthven merely intimated to the King that he was his prisoner;—and subsequently, when he desired him to permit his hands to be bound, it was probably for the purpose of dragging him down to the river side, after being muffled up; and then to convey him to the boat which they appear to have provided, where he would lie bound, until they could set sail for Fastcastle, on the departure of the King's attendants. The subsequent struggle, and fatal termination of their enterprise, had never been contemplated; for they certainly reckoned on the unshaken fidelity of Andrew Henderson.

tyme vpon fwre adwartiment I fall hew the place very quyett and veill provy- June, 1609. dit : And as I receve yowr answer I vill post this berair to my Lo. And ther-foir I pray yow, as ye luf yowr awin lyf, becawfe it is nocht ane matter of mowife,¹ be circumfpect in all thingis, and tak na feir hot all fall be veill. I hew na vill that ather my brother² or yet M. W. R.³ my Lo. auld pedagog knaw ony thing of the matter, qhull all be done that ve vald hew done; and than, I cair nocht qha get vit, that lufis vs. Qhen ye hew red, fend this my letter bak agane vith pe berar, that I may fe it brunt my felf, for fa is the fasson in fik erandis; and if ye please, vryt yowr answer on the bak herof, in case ye vill tak my vord for the credit of the berair: And vse all expedicioun, for the twrne vald nocht be lang delayit. Ye knaw the kingis hwnting vill be schortly, and than fall be best tyme, as M. A. R. hes affwred me, that my Lo. hes resolved to interpryse pat matter. Lwkinge for yowr answer, committis yow to Chryftis haly protec-tioun. Frome Fastcastell, the awchten day of Julij, 1600.

(Sic subferibitur) Youris to vtter power redy. RESTALRIGE.

(2.) LETTER, Robert Logan of Restalrig to Laird Bower.

LARD BOWER,

I PRAY yow hafte yow vaft to me abowt the erand I tauld yow, and ve fall confer at lenth of all thingis. I hew recevit ane new Letter fra my Lo(rd) of Go(wrie,) concerning the purpose p^t M. A. his Lo. brothir spak to me befoir, and I perfeif I may hew avantage of Dirlton, in case his other matter tak effect, as ve hope it fall. Alwayfe I befeik yow be at me the morne at evin, for I hew affwred his lo. fervand, p^t I fall fend yow over the vatter vithin thre dayis, vith ane full resolucion of all my vill, anent all purposes: As I fall indeid recommend yow and yowr trustiness till his lo. as ye fall find an honest recompense for yowr panse in the end. I cair nocht for all the land I hew in this kingdome, in case I get a grip of Dirleton,⁴ for I este me it the plesantest dwelling in Scotland. For Goddis cawfe, keip all thingis very secrete, that my lo. my brothir get na knowlege of ovr purposes, for I (wald?) rather be eirdit quik.⁵ And swa lwking for yow, I rest till meitting. Fra the Kammogait, the xvij day of July.

(Sic subferibitur) Yowris to power redy. RESTALRIGE.

I am verie ill at ease and thairfoir speid yow hither.

¹ Sport. It is no mumery or child's play. ² See Note to Letter (5.) ³ Mr William Rhynd.

⁴ The estate of Dirleton, in the county of East Lothian, was a very valuable barony, which the family of Gowrie acquired by the marriage of William, second Lord Ruthven, to Janet, eldest of the three heiresses of Patrick Lord Halyburtoun and Dirltoun. Their son Patrick (the chief instrument in the murder of Rizzio) was styled 'Lord Ruthven and Dirltoun;' which title continued, till the extinction of the family. Restalrig seems to have been promised this barony, as a bribe or reward for his participation in the Conspiracy; and he dwells on the idea with evident delight. ⁵ Buried alive.

June, 1609.

(3.) LETTER, Robert Logan of Restalrig to

RYT HONORABLE SIR,

ALL my hartly dewty v^t humbill servise remembred. Sen I hew takin on hand to interpryse v^t my lo(rd) of Go(wrie) yowr speciall and only best beloved, as ve hew fet down the platt alreedy, I vill request yow that ye vill be very circumsppek and vyse, þ^t na man may get ane advantage of vs. I dowt nocht bot ye know the perell to be bayth lyf, land and honowr, in case the mater be nocht vyllie vsed : And for my avin part, I fall hew ane speciall respek to my promise þ^t I hew maid till his lo. and M. A. his lo(rdfchipis) brother, althocht the skafald ver set vp. If I kan nocht vin to Fakland þe first nycht, I fall be tymelie in S^t Johnestoun on the morne. Indeid I lipnit for my lo(rd) him self or ellise M. A. his lo. brother at my howse of Fast(castell), as I vret to thame bayth. Alwyse I repose on yowr advertifiment of the precyfe day, v^t credit to the berar ; for howbeit he be bot ane filly ald gleyd¹ carle, I vill answer for him þ^t he fall be very trew. I pray yow, sir, reid and ather bwrne or fend agane v^t the berare ; for I dar hafard my lyf and all I hew ellise in the varld on his message, I hew sik pruif of his constant trewth. Sa committis yow to Chryftis holy protection. Frome the Kannogait, the xxvij day of July, 1600.

(Sic subferibitur) Yowris till all power v^t humbill servise redy.

RESTALRIGE.

I vse nocht to wrytt on the bak of ony of my letteris concerning this erand.

(4.) LETTER, Robert Logan of Restalrig to the Earl of Gowrie.

MY LO.

MY maist humbill dewty v^t servise in maist hartlie maner remembred. At þe refset of yowr lo(rdfchipis) Letter I am so comforted, especially at yowr lo. purpose, communicated onto me thairin, that I kan nather vtter my joy nor find my self habill how to enconter yowr lo. v^t dew thankis. Indeid my lo. at my being last in the town, M. A. yowr lo. brother imperted somqhat of yowr lo(rdfchipis) intencioun anent þ^t mater onto me ; and if I had nocht bein busyed about sum turnis of my avin, I thought till hew cummit over to S. Jo.² and spokin v^t yowr lo(rdfchip.) Yit alwayse my lo., I befeik yowr lo., bayth for þe saiftie of yowr honowr, credit, and mair nor that, yowr lyf, my lyf, and the lyfis of mony vtheris qha may perhapis innocently smart for þ^t turne estirwartis, in case it be reveilled be ony ; and lykwayse, the vtter vraking of ovr landis and howfis, and extirpating of ovr names, lwke that ve be all alsé svre as yowr lo. and I my self fall be for my avin part, and than I dowt nocht, bot v^t Godis g(race,) we fall bring our matter till ane fine, quhilk fall bring contentment to vs all that ever vissed for þe revenge of the Maschevalent¹ maffakering of owr deireft frendis. I dowt nocht June, 1609. bot M. A. your lo. brother hes informed your lo. quhat cowrse I layid down, to bring all your lo.(rdschipis) affociatis to my howse of Fa(steastell.) þe fey, qhair I fuld hew all materiallis in reddynefs for thair faif recayving a land, and into my howse; making as it ver bot a maner of passing time,² in ane bote on þe fey, in this fair somer tyde; and nane other strangeris to hant my howse, qhill ve had concluded on the laying of owr platt, quhilk is alredy devyfed be M. A. and me. And I vald vis that your lo. wald ather come or send M. A. to me, and thereftir I fowld meit your lo. in Leith, or quyetly in Restal(rig) qhair ve fowld hew prepared ane fyne hattit kit,³ v^t succar, comfeditis and vyn; and thereftir confer on matteris. And the soner ve broght owr purpose to pass it ver the better, before harwest. Let no^t M. W. R. your awld pedagog ken of your comming, bot rather vald I, if I durft be sa bald, to intreit your lo. anis to come and se my avin howse, qhair I hew keipit my lo(rd) Bo(thwell) in his greteft extremityis, say the K(ing) and his Counfall qhat they vald. And incaise God grant vs ane happy swceefs in this erand, I hope bayth to haif your lo. and his lo., v^t mony otheris of your loveris and his, at ane gude dyner, before I dy. Alvyse I hope that the K(ingis) bwk-hunting at Falkland, this yeir, fall prepar fum daynty cheir for ws, aganis that denner the nixt yeir.⁴ Hoc jocosè, till animat your lo. at this tyme; bot eftirvartis, ve fall hew bettir occasion to mak mery. I protest, my lo. before God, I vis nathing v^t a bettir hart, nor to atchive to that qhilk your lo. vald fane atteyn onto; and my continewall prayer fall tend to that effect; and v^t the large spending of my landis, gudis, yea the haserd of my lyf, fall nocht afray me fra that, althocht the skaffald ver alredy sett vp, before I fowld falsify my promise to your lo. and perswade your lo.(rdschip) therof. I trow your lo. hes ane pruisse of my constancy alredy or now. Bot my lo. qharas your lo. desyris, in your letter, þ^t I craif my lo. my brotheris mynd anent þis mater, I alvterly disfasent fra that, þ he fowld ever be ane counsalowr therto; for in gude fayth, he vill newir help his frend nor harme his fo. Your lo. may confyde mair in this ald man, the beirer heiroy, my man La(ird) Bowr, nor in my brother; for I lippin my lyf and all I hew else in his handis; and I trow he vald nocht spair to ryde to Hellis-yet to plesowr me; and he is nocht begylit of my pairt to him. Alvyse, my lo. qhan your lo. hes red my Letter, delyver it to the berare agane, ¹ Machiavelian, after the cruel policy of Machiavel; alluding to the beheading of William Earl of Gowrie, May 28, 1584.

¹ Squinting.² Saint Johnston (Perth.)

² Feigning pastime, or a pleasure sail.

³ Coagulated milk; prepared, by milking from the cow upon butter milk, kept till it is pretty sour, so sharply, as to form a sort of froth.

The mess is made in a particular kind of wooden bicker or kitt, having a pin or plug near the bottom, by which the whig or whey is allowed to escape, after having stood for several hours. It is also called 'sour cogue,' and 'Corstorphine cream;' and, if properly made, is a very palatable dish, eaten with sugar and cream; though some prefer it in its sour state, for when fresh, it has a very agreeable acidity.

⁴ At the anniversary dinner, in commemoration of their enterprise.

June, 1609. that I may fe it brunt v^t my awin ein ; as I hew fent yowr lo. Letter to yowr lo. agane ; for fo is the fallone I grant. And I pray yowr lo. rest fully perfwaded of me and all that I hew promefed ; for I am refolved, howbeit I ver to dy the morne. I man intreit yowr lo. to exped Bowr, and gif him ftrait directioun, one payn of his lyf, that he tak never ane vink fleip, qhull he fe me agane ; or ellife he vill vtterly vndo vs. I hew alredy fent ane other Letter to the gentill man yowr lo. kennis, as þe berare vill informe yowr lo. of his anfwer and fordvardnefs v^t yowr lo. ; and I fall fehaw yowr lo. forder, at meting, qhen and qhair yowr lo. fall think meitteft. To qhilk tyme and ever committis yowr lo. to the proteccioun of the Almychtie God. From Gunifgrene,¹ the twenty nynt of Julij, 1600.

(Sic fubferibitur) Yowr lo. awin fworne and bund man to obey and ferve v^t efauld² and ever redy feruife to his vtter power till his lyfis end.

RESTALRIGE.

PRAYIS yowr lo. hald me excufed for my vnsemly Letter, qhilk is nocht fa veil vrettin as mifter³ ver ; ffor I durft nocht let ony of my vryteris ken of it, bot take twa fyndry ydill dayis to it my felf.

I vill never forgett the gude fporte that M. A. yowr lo. brother tald me of ane nobill man of Padoa, it comifs fa oft to my memory. And indeid it is a paraftevr⁴ to this purpofe ve hew in hand.

(5.) LETTER, Robert Logan of Refialrig to

RY^T HONORABILL SIR,

MY hartly dewty remembred. Ye knaw I tald yow at owr laft meitting in the Cannogat that M. A. R. my lo. of Go(wries) brother had fpokin v^t me, anent þ^e matter of owr conclufion ; and for my awin part I fall nocht be hindmeft : And fenfyne I gat ane Letter frome his lo. felff, for þ^t fame purpofe ; and upon the reflait therof, onderftanding his lo. franknefs and fordvardnefs in it, God kennis if my hart vas nocht liftit ten ftegefs ! I poftit this fame berare till his lo. to qhome ye may concredit all your hart in þ^t alfveill as I ; for and it ver my very fowll, I durft mak him meffinger therof, I hew fic experiense of his trewth, in mony other thingis : He is ane filly ald gleyd earle, bot vonder honeft : And as he hes reportit to me his lo. awin anfwer, I think all matteris fall be concluded at my howfe of Fa(fteftell) ; for I and M. A. R. concluded that ye fowld come v^t him and his lo. and only ane other man v^t yow, being bot only fowr in company, intill ane of the gret fifching botis, be fey, to my howfe, qher ye fall land afe faiffly as on Leyth fchoir ; and the howfe agane his lo. cumming to be quyet : And qhen ye ar abowt half a myll fra fchoir, as it ver paffing by

¹ A residence of Logan's.
as it ought to have been.

² Sincere, hearty ; literally, one fold.

³ Need, q. d. so well

⁴ Apropos, in point.

the howse, to gar set furth ane vaff.¹ Bott for Godis fek, let nether ony knowlege June, 1609. come to my lo. my brotheris eiris,² nor yit to M. W. R. my lo. auld pedagog ; for my brother is kittill to scho behind,³ and dar nocht interpryse, for feir ; and the other vill diffwade vs fra ovr purpose v^t ressones of Religion, quhilk I can newer abyde. I think thair is nane of a nobill hart, or caryis ane stomak vorth a penné, bot they vald be glad to fie ane contented revange of Gray Steillis deid ;⁴ And the soner the better, or ellse ve may be marrit and frustrat ; and thierfor, pray his lo(rdschip) be qwik, and bid M. A. remember on the sport he tald me of Padoa ; for I think v^t my self that the cogitacion on þ^t fowld stimulat his lo(rdschip). And for Godis cawse vse all your cowrses cum discrecione. Fell nocht, fir, to fend bak agane this Letter ; for M. A. leirit me þ^t fasson, that I may se it destroyed myself. Sa till yowr cumming, and ever, committis yow hartely to Christis holy protection. From Gunnisgrene, þe last of July, 1600.⁵

(6.) THE DEPOSITIONS of the Witnesses producit.⁶

(i.) M^R ALEXANDER WATSONE, Minister at Coldinghame, of the aige of l. (fyftie) 3eiris, mareit, deponis, the fyve Missiue Letteris subscryvit be the Lard of Restelrig, and producit in proces be þe lord Aduocat, for preving of the ressonne of Treffoune persewit aganis Robert Logane, sone and apperand air to Robert Logane of Restelrig, being schawin to this deponar ; and he haveing at lenth sichtit and considerit the famin, Deponis, that he takis vpoun his conscience, that he verelie belewis that the saidis fyve Missiuues, and euerie ane of pame, ar werralie and trewlie writtin be þe said vmqle Robert Logane of Restelrig, with his awin hand : And giffis this resson of his knowlege ; that nocht onlie he thinkis that the carecter of euerie letter þairof resemblis perfytlie the said vmq^{le} Robertis hand wryit, euerie way ; bot also aggreis with his fassoun of spelling, quhilk he

¹ A 'vaff,' or signal. ² ALEXANDER (fifth) LORD HOME married Agnes, sister of Patrick (sixth) Lord Gray, and widow of Sir Robert Logan of Restalrig. By her, (who afterwards became the wife of Sir Thomas Lyon of Auldbar, Lord High Treasurer of Scotland,) he had one son, Alexander, who became sixth Lord Home, on his father's death, Aug. 11, 1575. This Lord, then, was 'brother' to Logan of Restalrig, writer of this Letter, being the son of Logan's mother ; and it seems most probable that he is the person here meant. He was created Earl of Home and Lord Dunglass, Mar. 4, 1604. See Douglas's Peerage, vol. i. p. 736 ; Crawford's Peerage of Scotland, p. 222 ; Thomas Crawford's Notes on Buchanan's History ; also Nisbet's Heraldry, p. 151, quoted there. Sir Henry Nevill to Sir R. Cecyll, 29th Nov. 1599. 'The Lord Hume also, since his coming hither, goeth openly to Mafs.'—Winwood's Memorials, vol. i. p. 134. See also p. 156. He was employed on a secret Embassy to Rome in 1599.

³ Cannot be trusted ; an allusion to the hazard of shoeing a treacherous or ill-broken horse, in the hind feet. ⁴ To be revenged for the death of his father, William Earl of Gowrie, who was beheaded May 28, 1581, for his treasonable part in the Raid of Ruthven. He was known, among his contemporaries, by the chivalrous soubriquet 'Greysteill,' a hero of popular romance.

⁵ The signature has been purposely torn off. This had been done, probably by Restalrig or by Laird Bower, at all events previously to the production of the Letter in evidence ; as appears by the following memorandum, in the Books of Parliament : 'The subscryption is ryvin fra this last Letter.'

⁶ 'APUD ED^B, xx Junij 1609. WITNESSES producit be the Aduocat aganis Robert Logane, sone to the Lard of Restelrige, for cognosching of the Lard of Restelrigis hand wryit and subscryption of þe flywe Missiue Billis producit, all wryttin and subscryuit be Restelrige.'

June, 1609. hes particularlie remarkit, in euerie ane of the saidis Miffiue Letteris, in thir pointis following: first, that he newir vseit to wrytt ane ‘z’ in the begyming of ony word, sik as ‘zow,’ ‘zouris,’ ‘zeild,’ ‘zea,’ and siclyk; bot ewir wrait ‘y’ in steid of the said ‘z.’ That he wrait all wordis begynning with ‘w’ with ane singill ‘v;’ and quhan that letter ‘v’ fell to be in the myddis or end of ane word, he wrait ane doubill ‘w.’ That quhen he wrait ‘quhen,’ ‘quhair,’ ‘qlk,’ or ony sik word, quhilk vris to be writtin and spellit be vtheris with ‘quh,’ he wrait onlie ‘qh,’ ‘qhen,’ ‘qhair,’ and siclyk: Quhaneuir ane word began with ‘con,’ he newir wrytt ‘con’ at lenth, bot with ane ‘o.’ Quhan euir ‘t’ fell to be in the end of ane word, he wrait it without ane straik throw the ‘t;’ and did be lyk quhan ewir ‘t’ fell in ony pairt of ane word: And, for forther confirmatioune of the premisses, he produceit thrie Letteris, writtin euerie word, and subscryvit be the said vmq^{le} Robert Logane of Restelrig; and comparing same with the fyve vther Miffiues producit be the Aduocat, shew euidentlie be direct conformitie of the samin, alsweill in the character and trew resemblance of the handwrait, as in the spelling and wryting of euerie wrytt, sillap, and letter: according to the particularis aboue specifit.

(Sic subscribitur) M^R ALEX^R WATSONE.

(ii.) M ALEXANDER SMYTHE, Minister at Chyrnefyde, of the aige of xxx zeiris or thairby, mareit, deponis, that he wes weill acquentit with the vmq^{le} Lard of Restelrig, be resoun he vas petagog to his barnis; and hes sene werray mony of his handwrittis: And haveing sene, red, and at lenth considerit the fyve Miffiue Lettres, producit be the Aduocat, and inquirit ‘gif he knew the samin to be the Lard of Restelrigis proper hand wryt?’ Declairis, vpoun his great aythe, That he certanlie belewis the saidis fyve Letteris, and euerie word thairof, to be the Lard of Restelrigis proper hand wryt; becaus he findis the carrectar pairof to aggrie, euerie vay, with the chap¹ of his ordiner wryting; and remarkit, werray particularlie, the maner of Restelrigis spelling of mony wordis, vtherwayes nor vther men vres commounlie to wryt and spell; according to the haill particularis remarkit of befoir be M^r Alex^r Watfoun, be witnes immediatlie preceding: And in these pointis, and all vtheris, is conforme to the said M^r Alex^r Watfounis Depositioune, in all thingis: Reddens caussum scientie, becaus he wes perfyttie acquentit with the Lard of Restelrigis hand wryt, in his lyfetyne, and wes petagog to his barnis mony zeiris, and in his companie.

(Sic subscribitur) M^R ALEX^R SMYTH.

(iii.) SIR JOHNNE ARNOTT, Provest of Edinburcht, of the aige of lxx zeiris, or pairby, mareit, deponis, that he wes weill acquentit with Robert Logane of Restelrig, and with his hand wryt; becaus he had ressaunt diuerse of his Lettres him self, and sene mony vtheris lettres writtin be him: And the fyve Miffiues producit be the Aduocat, being shawin to him, and he haveing sene and confiderit þe famin, rememberit that he had sene, red and perfitlie confiderit the June, 1609. famin of befoir; and efter gud advyfment, is refoluit, that the faidis fyve Letteris ar als certantlie the Lard of Reftelrigis hand wryit, as the Letteris writtin be the deponar, at ony time, ar his awin hand wryit: And fua takis on his confcience, that the foirfaidis fyve Miffiue billis, producit be þe Aduocat, ar the proper hand wryit and fubfcriptionn of the faid vmq^{le} Lard of Reftelrig, be his jugement: And for verificatioun thairof, hes producit four writtis, all writtin be the faid vmq^{le} Lard of Reftelrig, and fend to this deponar, and to Archibald Johneftonne; aggreand perfytlie, in fpelling and carrecter, with the faidis Miffiues. (Sic fubfcribitur) S. J. ARNOTE.

¹ Shape, structure.

(iv.) ALEXANDER CUIK, fcheref clerk of Bervik, of the age of 1 (flyftic) 3eiris or þairby, maryit, deponis, that he wes weill aequentit with the vmq^{le} Lard off Reftelrig, and hes sene mony and findrie of his writtis, and reffaut diuerfe of his Lettris, direct to him felf: And being defyrit to fie and confidder the fyve Letters producit be the Aduocat, and to declair quhidder he knew and eftemit the famin to be all written be vmq^{le} the Lard of Reftelrig; deponis vpon his confcience, that he belewes and eftemis the faidis hail Lettres to be all writtin be the Lard of Reftelrig; reddens cauffam scientie, becaus nocht onlie the carrecter aggreis euerie vay with the chap of Reftelrigis hand wryit, bot also the fpelling, in mony particularis, quhairin Reftelrig differrit frome vþer menis forme of wryting; and in the particularis thairof, deponis conformis to the twa first witneffes, the Ministeris of Coldinghame and Chyrnefyde, reddens eandem cauffam scientie. (Sic fubfcribitur) ALEX^R CUIK.

(v.) WILLIAME HOME in Aytoun-Mylne, of the aige of xxxiiij 3eiris or þairby, maryit, deponis that all the fyve Miffiuis abonevrittin, being fhawin to this deponar, and haveing at lenth confiderit euerie ane of thame, takis vpoun his confcience, that, to his knowlege, that the faidis fyve Miffive Lettres ar all writtin and fubferyvit be the vmq^{le} Lard of Reftelrig; for þe fpéciall reffonis contenit in the Depofitionis maid be M^r Alex^r Watfoun, M^r Alex^r Smyth, Ministeris, and Alex^r Cuik, fcheref clerk of Bervik; to quhome he is conforme in all thingis, reddens eandem cauffam scientie. (Sic fubfcribitur) WILLIAME HOME.

(vi.) JOHNNE HORNE, notar in Aymouth, of the aige of xliij 3eiris or þairby, folutus, deponis, the foirfaidis fyve Miffive billis, being at lenth fichtit and confiderit be this deponar; declairis vpoun his confcience, to his knowlege, all the faidis fyve Miffives ar the Lard of Reftelrigis proper hand wryttis and fubfcriptionn; for the reffones abone vritten, in the depofitioun of Williame Home, reddens eandem cauffam scientie. (Sic fubfcribitur) J. HORNE.

(vii.) M^r WILLIAM HOG Miniſter at Aytoun, of the aige of xxx 3eiris or þairby, mareit, deponis, that he knew weill the Lard of Reftelrig, and hes ſome June, 1609. of his writtis ; and producit ane Letter, writtin be Restelrig to the Lard of Aytoun, all writtin with Restelrigis awin hand wryit : And haveing considerit the fyve writtis producit be the aduocat, declaris, that he thinkis þame lyklike to his wryittis, and þat the famin appeiris to be verie lyk his wryitte, be the conformitie of letteris and spelling. Sic subscribitur) M^r W^m HOGG.

AL. CANCELLS.

[GEORGE SPROTT'S CONFESSION follow here. See p. 260.]

The quhilkis Missive Billis, and hail Depositionnes abone writtin, and vtheris wryttis¹ and probatiounes producit now presentlie be the said lord aduocat, he repetit, for preving of the said Summondis of Treaffoun and cause þairin contentit ; and renuncit forder probatioun : And thairvpoun the said Aduocat askit Instrumentis. And lykwayes the said lord Aduocat producit, in presens of the said Commissionar and hail Estaittis of Parliament, oure souerane lordis Lettres of Relaxatioun, berand the said Robert Logane eldest sone to the said Robert Logane sumtyme of Restalrig, to be relaxit be Robert Logane messinger, fra the proces of all Horningis, at the marcat croces of Hadington, Dunse and Grenelaw, vpoun the sevint and aucht dayes of Aprile respectiue 1609 zeiris ; and at the marcatt croce of Edinburgh, be Johne Moncur messinger, vpoun the ellevint day of Aprile, the yeir of God foirsaid ; as at mair lenth is contentit in the saidis Lettres of Relaxatioun, of the date the sext day of Marche last bipast, and registrat in the Clerk of Registeris buik, the ellevint day of Aprile 1609 yeiris : Vpoun the production of the quhilkes Lettres of Relaxatioun, the said Aduocat lykwayes askit instrumentis : And desyrit the hail Estaittis to consider of the saidis probationes producit and repetit be him, and to advise the said proces of Foirfaltour, and to gif furth thair decreitt thairintill, according thairto.

And siclyk, the said Sir Thomas Hamnyltoun of Bynnies kny^t his heines Aduocat, eftir that he had repetit and producit all his probationis to the saidis hail Estaittis, quhilkis he wald vse for preving of the pointis of the said summondis, and ressones and causses thairin contentit, he reproducit the said summondis of Treaffoun befor the saidis hail Estaittis, raisit and persewit at the instance of oure said souerane lord and his heines Aduocatt aganis the said Robert Logane and his tutouris and Curatouris, and all vtheris haveand or pretendand to haue interes, quhairby they wer summonit to compeir befor oure souerane lord and his Estaittis of Parliament at ane certane day bigane, with continewatioun of dayes, to haue hard and sene it be fundin, that the said v^mq^{le} Robert Logane of Restalrig committit Treaffoun and Lefemajestie, in his lyfetyme ; and to heir and sie his fame, name and posteritic abolishit ; and to haue ansuerit to the hail pointis and crymes of Treaffoun and Lefemajestie contentit in the said summondis.

¹ The foregoing Deposition and Confession of George Sprott is engrossed in the Record, immediately after the testimony of the Witnesses, who proved Logan's handwriting. See No. X. (3.)

The quhilk Summondis, with the executionis and indorfatiounis thairof, being June, 1609. this instant day red, in prefens of his Maiesteis Commiffionar and Eftaittis of Parliament, firft in Latine and thaireftir in Scottis; the faid Robert Logane, being oftymes callit of new at the tolbutth window of the faid bur^t of Edinbur^t, to haue comperit and anfwerit to the faid fummondis of Treaffoun and reffones and cauffes thairin contenit; and he nocht comperand to haue defendit in the faid mater, and to haue anfuerit to the faid fummondis, the faid Sir Thomas Hammyltoun of Bynnie kny^t aduocat to oure fonerane lord, defyrit the faidis Eftaittis declaratioun, gif the reffones of the faid fummondis wer relevant: The quhilkis Eftaittis ffind the faid fummondis, and reffone and caufe thairin contenit relevant, &c. And thaireftir, the hail Depofitiounes of the Witneffes, Miffive billis, and haill wryttis and probatiounis, being red, fene and confiderit be the foirfaidis haill Eftaittis of Parliament, and they thairwith being ryplie advyfit, the faid Lord Commiffionar and Eftaittis of Parliament ffindis, decernis and declairis, that the faid vni^q^{le} Robert Logane of Reftalrig committit and did, in his lyfetye, oppin and manifefte Treaffoun, in all the pointis, artiellis and maner, contenit in the faid fummondis: And thairfor, it wes gevin for Dome, be the mouth of Dauid Lyndefay dempfter of Parliament, in maner and forme as followes.

DOME OF FORFEITURE. This Courte of Parliament fchawis for law, that the faid vni^q^{le} Robert Logane of Reftalrig; in his lyfetye, committit the foirfaid cryme of Treffoun and Lefemajefte; and that he wes airt and pairt, giltie and pairtaker thairof, aganis oure faid fouerane lord and his autoritie royall; and that the foirfaidis cruell, wicked and treaffounable crymes were interpryfit be his caufing, perfuafoun, counfaill and help; lykas, the faid vni^q^{le} Robert Logane of Reftalrig treaffounable conceillit the foirfaid cryme of Lefemajefte, to his death, and in his death; in all maner at lenth contenit in the faid fummondis: And thairfoir, Decernis and Declairis the name, memory and dignitie of the faid vni^q^{le} Robert Logane of Reftalrig to be extinct and abolifheit, and his armes cancellat, rivine and deleitt furth of the buikis of Armes and nobilitie; fua that his pofteritie fall be excludit, and be vnhable to poffes or inioy ony offices, honouris, digniteis, landis, tenementis, rowmes, rentis, poffeffionis or gudis moveable or vnmovable, richtis and vtheris quhatfumeuir within this kingdome, in all tyme cumming: And that all the faidis gudis, landis, rowmes, tenementis and vtheris gudis, moveable and vnmovable, richtis and vtheris quhatfumeuir, pertening to the faid vni^q^{le} Robert Logane of Reftalrig, or quhilkis nicht onyways haue pertentit to him at ony tyme, fen his Confpyring of the faidis treaffounable crymes, to be efcheat and foirfaltit to our faid fouerane lord, to appertene and to remane perpetualie with his Majefte in propirtie. And this I gif for dome.

Feb. 1609. (7.) WARRAND to the Aduocat, to libell a Summondis of Foirfaytour aganis the airis of RESTALRIG.¹

Feb. 14. 1609.—THE Lordis of Secrite Counsale, ordainis and commandis Schir Thomas Hammiltoun of Bynnie kn' his Maiefties Aduocat to libell ane Summondis for florfeyting of the memorie of vmquhill ROBERT LOGANE of Restalrig, for airt and pairt of GOWRYIS TREASOUN, to be perfewit in this approching Parliament: And that the said Lord Aduocat infist in the perfute of the said fummondis, at the Parliament, as becomeith him of his dewtie and office. Qubairnent the extract of thir presentis salbe vnto him a warrant.

(8.) LETTER, Sir THOMAS HAMILTON of Binnie kn', Lord Advocate, (afterwards Earl of Haddington,) to KING JAMES VI. containing an interesting Account of RESTALRIG'S FORFEITURE.²

PLEIS YOUR MOST SACRED MAIESTIE,

ACKNOULEDGEING my self bund, in dewtie, to rander accompt to your Maieftie of the seruices properlie belonging and committed to my chaarge, I haue tane the bouldnes to wryte of oure progres in the FORFALTOURIS intented aganis the LORD MAXUELL and the Memorie of RESTALRIG, before the Lords of Artielis. Oure first proceeding wes aganis the Lord Maxuell, whairin albeit thair wes no compeirance for the defender, yet sum of the Lordis of Articles kything more scrupulous and precise, in findrie poyntis of that proces, nor (than) we did foresie or suspect; and heiring thairefter, that findrie of that number had preconfaied hard opinions of Restalrig's proces, the knoulege thair of, whilk wroght feir and mistrust in the myndes of dyuers your Ma^{ties} weill affected seruandis, did breid in the Erle of Dunbar fuche caire and seruencie to remoue these impedimentis, that bending his wittis, in more passionat maner nor he visis to expres in common and indifferent maters, he did trauell so earnestlie with the nobilmen and hail remanent Lordis of Articles, and solicted sum of the most learned and best experimented of your Ma^{ties} Counfall, to furneis reafons and light, to the cleiring of the probatioun of that most haynous Treasoun; and gane to my self so earnestlie chaarge, and furneished so pregnant, judicious and cleir groundis, to confirme the Summondis, and manifest the verie circumstances thair of to the worlde, that he left no travell to me, bot the repetition of the substance of his information. To the whilk, haveing so neirlie conformed my discourse, as possible I could, it pleased God, that the Lordis of Articles, being happelie prepared, be the Depositionis of dyuers honest men of the Ministrie, and vther famous Witnessis, who recognofeing vmq^{le} Restalrig's handwrit, in his tressonabill Missiues produced be me, with verie sensibill and forcibill reafons and causis of thair constant and confident affirmation, that these Missiues wer writtin be him: Whan the probatioun of the fummondis wes referred to the Lordis votes, thay stand vniformallie, all in ane voce, the said fummondis to be so cleirlye provin, that thay seimed to contend who sould be abill most zealoullie to expres the satisfaction of his hairt, not onlie be most pithie wourdis, bot be tearis of joy; dyuers of the best rank confessing, that that whair of thay dowted, at thair entrie in the howse, was now so manifest, that thay behoued to esteeme thame Traitours who sould any longer refuse to declaire thair assured resolution of the treuth of that Treasoun. Swa, hoping your Maieftie will graioullie pardoun my boldnes, in offering to your Maieftie this rude relation of their purposes, concerning my chaarge in your Maiefties seruice, I besseik God, who hes so mercifullie preserued your Ma^{tie} from the horribill devyffes of your develishe enemies, and so miracoullie detected thair hellishe practises, long to protect and preserue your Maiestie from all hairmes and dangers, and to grant your Maiestie all happines and contentment. EDIN- June, 1609.

¹ Acta, Secreti Concilij. ² From the original, preserved in the Denmylne Collection of MSS. Adv. Library. The remarkable Case of John Lord Maxwell, his escape from the Castle of Edinburgh, his forfeiture and execution, &c. are inserted in this Collection, under the proper dates.

BURGH, this 21 Junij, 1609.

Your most sacred Maiesteis most bundin and faithfull feruant,

S. TH. HAMILTON.

To the KING's Most Excellent Maiestie.

(9.) WARRANT from King JAMES VI. to the Lord Clerk Register, to engross LOGAN of RESTALRIG's Letters and SPROTTE's DEPOSITIONS, in the Records of Parliament.¹

JAMES R.

IT is o^r pleaso^r, will and expresse command, that in the inserting in the Parliament Register, of the proces of forfeito^r of the disceafed trayterous LAIRD of RESTALRIG, that you shall, at all length, ingrosse the Missive Letters, and so muche of SPROTTE his depositions, as doeth concerne that mater: for doing whereof, these presents salbe vnto yow a sufficient Warrant. Given at Royfston, the xxth of Januar, 1610.

To o^r trusty and welbeloued counfello^r Sr Johne Skene of Curryhill, knight, Clerk of our Register.

No. XVI.

JOHNSTON'S NARRATIVE of the Conspiracy of John Earl of Gowrie, taken from his contemporary MS. History of Scotland.²

ABOUT the end of Februar 1600, WILLIAME (JOHNE) ERL of GOWRIE³ com out of France, throw England, and com till Edinburcht, accompanyit with his brother Sr Alexander Ruthven, with ane great number of nobilmen, gentilmen and wtheris; and ludgit in the heid of Foster's wynd:⁴ And in the moneth of Junij nixt thaireftir, as he was going from his lugin to the Kingis Ma^{tie} in the Abay of Holirudhous, accompanyit with 7 or 8 of his houfhald seruandis; and as he was going throw the lang galrey of the Abbay, Coronell Stewart,⁵ (of quhom we maid mention at the taking of wmq^u Williame Erl of Gowrie at Dundie,) cuming furth from the King, and the said Erl perfaving him cuming from the Kingis chalmer dure, being at the far end of the galrie, (leif sum tumult fould haue happned be schouldering fum of thame or thair servandis) the said Erl begane to go afyd⁶ till (he) lat the said Coronell pas by him: Bot the fame being espyed by ane of the said Erllis servandis, going in the rank befoir him, callit Mr Thomas Kinroscher, (he) said ardentlie till him, 'Quhat! My Lord, ar ye going back for ony man heir? Com fordward, my Lord, bauldlie!' Quhilk going afyd first, and than cuming fordward agane, being sene by Coronell Stewart, he went in agane to the King,⁷ 'Schir, it will pleis your Ma^{tie} heir ane strang mater, that for guid service done to your grace I fuld be so evill rewardit as I am! Heir comes in the Erl of Gowry, and I sic he myndis till begin first at me; but be war of the best of your all!' Heirwith the said Erl enterit in his Ma^{ties} chalmer, and the Coronell went out thairof. Bot thair was nothing of that purpos spokin betuixt his Ma^{tie} and the Erl that tyme. Bot the Coronellis wordis to the King, being repointid to the Erl, he ansuerid, 'Aquila non captat muscas!'

¹ From Original, among the warrants of Parliament preserved in the General Register House, Edinburgh.

² This MS. is preserved in the Library of the Faculty of Advocates, Edinburgh, JAC. V. 2. 2. Fol. 633, b.

³ There is a running margin preserved, which shall be marked at the foot of the page. 'The Erl of Gowrie comes out of France.'

⁴ Forrester's Wind, near the site of the present County Hall and the Libraries.

⁵ 'The Erl of Gowrie and Coronell Stewart, in the galry of the Abay.'

⁶ Avoided him, by giving place and stepping aside.

⁷ 'Coronell Stewart his speitches to the King.'

Aug. 1600. In the beginning of August, the King being at hunting, betuixt Falkland and Pearth, (as eftirward was repoirtid be his Ma^{tie} and his followeris,) the Erll of Gowry and his brother, haveing still caryed ane deidlie haitred and ane abhominabill rancour at the King, becaus of thair fatheris executioun, as forsaïd, interpryfit ane most pernicious and damnable Conspiracie aganis his Ma^{tie} in thair ludging, in Pearth. So that wpone Tyfday, being the 5 day of August, the same 3eir, 1600,¹ (notwithstanding of his Ma^{ties} manifold kyndnesses, quhilk he had schawin to theise tuo brethren, and especially in reftoiring to pame thair fatheris hail patremony, landis, rentis and honouris, being foirfaltit, and be public Act of Parliament brocht into the Croune,) the said Erll and his brother, haveing resolued to put thair wicked Treafone to executioun, thocht they could find no better occasioun than presentit at that tyme; and thairfoir, they wald asfay quhat could they do. So to bring the same to pas, Sir Alexander Ruthven, Maister of Gowry, spying his tyme convenient,² wpone the foirsaïd day, the King being in Falkland, and cuming furth at that Palace at 7 houris in the morneing, till go to the hunting, (accompanyid with verrie fewe in number, except onlie Lodouik Duik of Lennox, quho had maryit Maistres Jean Ruthven, sifter to the said Erll of Gowry, and Johnne Erll of Marr, brother-in-lawe to the Duik of Lennox, and of auld alyat with the said Erll,) being ane gentilman of brawe personeage and behaviour, and weill lykkit of be his Ma^{tie}, com to him befoir he was montit on horsback, and said theise wordis: ‘ Schir, gif your Ma^{tie} war at lazer, I wald gretumlie comunicat to 3our grace ane hid and mysticall secreit, quhilk I dar not discover to my brother, wpone na condition, nor to na wther man leivinge, except to 3our Ma^{tie} onlie!’ The King wfeing the ordinar forme of courtesie, quhilk he vfit till all Nobill men, went a pairt with him from his awin company, and harkned quhat he wald say. Than, said he,³ ‘ Schir, pleis 3our grace, the wther day, as I was walking alloun athort the feildis, I met ane certane man, wknawin to me quhat he was, quho tauld me of ane great treafour of gold quhilk he had fund; and he schew me quhair the same was: Quhairwpon I tuik the man with the treafour, and brocht him and it baith to my brotheris ludging at Pearth. Bot, Schir, I feir nothing mair nor my brother get wit of it, befoir 3our grace sie ather the man or it, and that he tak boith the man and the treafour to himselff, to 3our Ma^{ties} great preindice (to quhom it richtlie apperteinis⁴) and to my great hinderance of 3our heines gratification. And thairfoir, Schir, I maist humble beseik 3our Ma^{tie} that 3e reveill not this thing till any man quhatsumever; bot lat be 3our hunting, and fend away 3our company, except it be tuo or thrie of 3our awin domestick servandis, that 3e may go thither with all diligence.’ The King heiring the gentilman speiking sick a rair purpose, admirit⁵ thairat, and thocht weill it had bene nothing bot sum vaine imagination, and that he had bene beyfde himselff: Bot aftirwards, heiring him speik so confidentlie, and confirmeing the same, be ane aith, to be trew, he thocht better of it, and promeist that eftir he had hunted ane bour or tuo, he fuld ryd drectlie with him. And so the said Schir Alexander tuik his leve of his Ma^{tie}.

About ten houris, the King left his hunting;⁶ and the said Schir Alexander cam till him againe, thinking the tyme verrie weirrifum till him; and without geweing the King leve to change his hunting-horse, causit him ryd drectlie to Pearth with him, (befoir his onwaitteris, being wandering throw the feildis, had cum till him,) his Ma^{tie} haveing nather sworde nor dager, bot his hunting borne hingand about his neck.

The forsaïd Duik and the Erll of Mar, persaving the King so sudanlie to leve his pastyme, and talk that way, wonderit verrie mekill pairat, seing nane of pair servandis war as 3it cum neir thame; 3it thay followit him, in all haist: So that cuming till Pearth, his hail servandis quhilk was cum to him, was bot about 14 or 15 in number. Now Sr Alex^r waited all this tyme so neir to the King, that he had not leve⁷ till schaw any of his attendantis his purpos; except onlie, he roundit to the Duik, that

¹ ‘The Erll Gowrie his Conspiracie.’ ² ‘Sr Alex^r Mr of Gowry com to the King at Falkland.’ ³ ‘His speitch to the King.’ ⁴ ‘As treasure trove.’ ⁵ ‘Marvelled, wondered.’ ⁶ ‘The King gois to Pearth.’
⁷ Opportunity.

‘ he was going to fie a ritche treafour;’ biding him wait wpon him, quhan he went thairtill. Befoir Aug. 1600. his Ma^{tie} com to the toun, he began to be fumqubat afrayid, quhat þe mater could meane? Bot, calling to mynd the great luiff quhilk he bure to the 3oung man, as alfo the great bountifulnes quhilk he had fehawin, baith to his brother and to all thair freindis, he went fordwart without ony forder feir.

His Ma^{tie} cuming neir to the toun, the Erll of Gowry him felff, accompanyit with 40 or 50 gentlemen, com forth pairof and met his Ma^{tie},¹ and convoyit him till his ludging, in Pearth, (as appeirit, with all dewtiful reuerence) excuifing him felff, that he wnderftude not of his Ma^{ties} cuming thither that day, to þe end that he nicht haue bene better provydit for him. The denner being reddie, the King fat doun at tabill and dyneit: And eftir he had dyneit, the Erll himfelff convoyit the Duik and the Erll of Mar to ane great hall neir thairto, leiving the King with the Mr of Gowry and the reft of his fervandis. This being done, and all thingis being in redynes, Schir Alex^r faid to the King, ‘ Now, Schir, quhill the Duik and the Erll of Mar and the reft of 3our Ma^{ties} attendaris ar at denner, it is maift convenient that 3our Ma^{tie} go and fie the treafour and the man!’ Quhairto his Ma^{tie} willinglie agriet. So, going thairfra, Schir Alex^r caryit him throw ane fair galrie,² and than throw ane wther chalmer, ftill cloifing everie dure faft behind him, faying, that ‘ it was 3it better lockit wp;’ and than led him within the thrid chalmer and fteikit³ to the dure thairof. This being done, he oppinit ane lytill studie dure, in the quhilk thair was ane airmed man, appointit to ‘be his murderer!’ Thair was alfo in the faid chalmer ane bred,⁴ with the pictour of wmq^{ll} William Erll of Gowry, (with ane courting hinging befor it) who was execut at Striviling:⁵ And fehawing to the King, thair, the man, with his fatheris pictour; without all dewtiful obedience or reverence, moft prouddie he pat his hat wpon his heid,⁶ and pointing till his fatheris pictour, faid, ‘ Rememberis thow not of the Murder of my father, quhais pictur that is? Does not now thy confcience accus thé of his innocent blude? I fall be revengit now wpon thé! Now for him thow fall die!’ The King, greatlie affrayit thairat, quyetlie anfuerit,⁷ ‘ My freind, quhat guid can my blude do to 3ow? I never defervit this at 3our handis! As concerning 3our fatheris death, he diet be way of justice; being convict of Heich Treafone, be my Governouris, the tyme of my menortie, and his haill landis and lordfchipis, rentis and honouris war foirfaltit be oppia Parliament, and broecht in to the Croun: And 3it, notwithstanding thairof, quhan I com till maioritie, I remitid all quhilk pertenuit to 3our father, to 3our brother and 3our handis! And lykwayis, 3our hous, be me, is maid now mair honorabill nor euer it was befor! I am 3our King! 3e ar a Chriftiane, and hes bene nurifchit with ane quho never wald haue counfallit 3ow to haue murderit 3our King! Quhat can 3e gaine be my death? I haue childrene to be my airis and fuceffouris to my Croun! My people will rwin 3ow and 3our hous for ever; fo that 3ou and 3our pofteritie fall be quyt cutit aff; and nothing fall remaine of 3our name bot euerlafting fchame and infamie! It war better to for3et all bygaines, and lat ws retourne quhair we com fra; and I promeis to 3ow, be the faith of a King, nevir to think wpon any thing that is paf, now, betuixt 3ow and me!’ All this tyme, the Tratour was fo affrayit with himfelff, that (as God wald) he had no power to harme the King, albeit he had his drawin dager in his hand.

Efter the Duik and the Erll of Mar and the reft of the Kingis attendantis had dyneit, the Erll of Gowry faid to thame, that ‘ the King had gone furth another way.’ But the faid Duik making fpeir- ing⁸ for him, at the common people about the 3etis, and porteris thairof, hard that he was not 3it cum furth; fo that he ftayit ftill, not thinking wpon no evill.

Theife wordis betuixt the King and Mr of Gowry being endit, the faid Mr caufit the King tweir

¹ ‘ Erll of Gowrie com and met the King.’

² ‘ The Mr of Gowrie schaves Treasoun instead of the Treasour.’

³ Closed, shut.

⁴ Board; an oil painting on oak or pannel.

⁵ This highly graphic and dramatic circumstance is not stated by any of the Historians; nor is it adverted to in the Depositions, or in the Account published by authority; though it greatly heightens the force of Ruthven’s language, when about to commence his treasonable attack.

⁶ ‘ The proud and treasonable wordis of the Mr of Gowrie to the King.’

⁷ ‘ The Kingis

anfuwer.’

⁸ Inquiry.

Aug. 1600. till him, solemlic, to ȝeild himself prisoner to the armed murderer standing befyd him,¹ without ather oppining the windows, or any wayis crying out thairof, till adverteife his followeris of his danger, till he com againe fra speiking with his brother: Quhairvnto he solemlic gave his aith. After the Mr of Gowrie was gone furth of the chalmer, the King, taking couradge to him selfff, commandit that appointit Murtherer to oppin the windois, for he wald not oppin thame him self, becaus of his aith; or wtherwayis, he sould be revendgit wpone him: Quhilk window he half oppined. This being done, presentlie the Mr of Gowrie com in fra his brother, and said to the King, 'Now thow most die!' And thairwith, having a silk ribbon in his hand, and thairwith griping the King till bind his airmes: The King feing that, taking conradge till him selfff, anfuertit, 'I was borne a frie King! I have leivit a frie King! And baith in bodie and mynd I fall die a frie King! And, Tratour! thow fall die befoir I die!' And feing him put his hand till his sword, the King so gripid his throit with his left hand,² and his sword airme with his right hand, that he could not get the sword drawin. The Mr, on the other pairt, griping the King so fast as he could, thay baith wrallit togidder, a certane space, in the chalmer, till his Ma^{tie} with him weirit³ neir the oppin windo; and feing it half oppin, cryit with a lowd voice, thrie tymes, 'Treatone! Treatone! Treatone!'

The Duik and the Erll of Mar and the rest of the Kingis servandis, being in feuerall pairtis, heiring the Kingis voice cryinge 'Treatone!' ran in all haift feuerall wayis to find the King. The Duik and the Erll of Mar ran to the entrie quhair the King had gone in at;⁴ and finding all the dures hard lockit, could not win till they gat foir-hammeris and brak up the same. During all this tyme, the King and the said Mr being wralling togidder, thay baith fell wpone the flure, and the King fell aboute him. So the Mr, feing he could not get him self moveit, he commandit the appointit Murderer now to 'slay the King!' Bot he anfuertit, that 'he could not help him.' At this instant, ane certane ȝoung gentilman, quho had laitlie bene Paidge of honour to his Ma^{tie}, callid Johnne Ramsay, knawing ane certane privat entrie, throw ane lytill heich turnpyke, till the chalmer quhair the King was, went that way; and finding the dure cloisit, brak wp the same with his fute; and finding the King aboute the Tratour, with the Tratouris sword in his hand, the said Johnne pullit out his dager and strak at the said tratour two or thrie tymes: Bot becaufe it did him no hurt, be reafone of his doublet of pruiiff quhilk he had wpone him, as the King suspectit, he bad him 'stryk laich, at his bellie;' quhilk he did 3 or 4 tymes; and so slew him.⁵ This being done, St Thomas Erskene knight and Hereis doctour of Medecine, com in till his Ma^{tie}, and feing him saiff, praisit God.

Presently the Erll of Gowry, heiring the tumult, and awaiting the end of thair treatone, preifit verrie fast till rin and do that quhilk his brother could not get done: bot be sum of the Kingis servandis, feing him in sick a raige, he was stayit a quhyll: Bot, geting fra thame, he ran till ane chalmer, and tuo drawin swordis in his handis, com wp with 7 or 8 of his best servandis, the lytill turnpyk, be the quhilk Johnne Ramsay had past, befoir, avowing, 'quhom ever he fand in his way, theise swordis sould go throw thame!' And being in the midis of the turnpyk, Johnne Ramsay, heiring sick a din, com doun thrie or four stapis with his raper in hand; and meiting the said Erll, about tuo stapis laicher nor⁶ he was, said to him, 'Now my Lord! quhat will ye have mair? The King is slaine els!' ⁷ ȝit the said Erll so preafed to go fordwart, that the said Johnne, feiring forder evill, ran his raper throw his bodie;⁸ and all his servandis fled away feuerall wayis. All this was done befoir the Duik or Erll of Mar com neir the King.

The brute⁹ heirof going throw the toun, thair arraisé so great a tumult that the haill commoun people com about the hous,¹⁰ not knawing what the mater was, crying allowd, 'ȝat if they sawe not the Erll of Gowrie quicklie, thay sould put the house in ffyre!' And fo contenewit, till the King sent for the Balleis of the toun, and tauld the haill forme thairof; and than thay quyetide the people.

¹ 'The Mr of Gowry caussit the King sweir himself presoner.' Gowrie.'

³ By degrees worked himself near the window.

⁵ 'Johnne Ramsay slayis the Mr of Gowry.'

Erll of Gowry slaine by Johnne Ramsay.'

⁹ Fr. bruit.

² 'The Kingis wrasing with the Mr of

⁴ 'The Duik and Erll of Mar seikes the ⁶ Lower than.

⁷ Already.

⁸ 'The

¹⁰ 'The toun of Pearth in a Mutany.'

This is the Kingis relation of this florie. Qnho wald knaw ony forder of it, lat thame reid ane lytil Aug. 1600. buik, quhilk he caufit, himself, prent pairwpone. Bot this cuning to the earis of fum of the Miniftrie, and wther commoun people of the land, hardlie could thay beleive it to be trew; quhilk pat great fufpitioun betuixt the King and many of the people.

Schortlie eftir, the deid bodies of the said tuo brether war brocht till Ed^r and hangit wp at the Crofs pairof, and thair heidis and airmes put wpon the tolbuith of Edinbur^t and wther feuerall and oppin pairtis of the land.

No. XVII.

ANE CONSPIRACIE dewyffit be THE ERLL OF GOWRIE to flay HIS MAIESTY.¹

Now, as ye haue hard befoir, THE ERLL OF GOWRIE was execut iu Stirling, for talking the King in his hous of Ruthweine: This Erll had behind him four fons,² and ane gud number of dochteris, quha had bene mareyitt to findrie Nobill menne of the land.³ His eldest fone, being be his moder putt to the schoillis in Italie, passit his courfe in Padua; quha returnis to Scotland, about the 13 of Apryll, 1600; and at his hame cuning was kyndlie refauitt be his Prince, and mekill thoct of be all menne; for he wes ane braw manne off perfone, ane grit seholler, weill trauellit, and estemit werry wyife; and abuiß all, wes thoct to be ane Nobill man of gude Religioune, and that feiritt God and luiffit iustice; Yitt, in vardlie cairing,⁴ specially contrair the Kingis perfoun; heward ane rewendge hairt for the bluid of his fader: ffor, being inquiritt be fum, 'Gif he wes to beir querrell at Crowner⁵ Stewartt,' quha had beine the principall taker of his fader, at the tyme of his executioun? His anfuer wes, that 'ane egill killed na fleis,'⁶ meaning that his rewendge fuld nocht be fo law.⁷ And heaffing to his secund broder, ane gallant manne, quha wes styllit 'Maifter,' and had to name Mr Alexander Ruthwene. Thay dewyife to tak his Maieftis lyff, in the Erllis awin hous in Sanct Johnnefoune; becaus the Erll wes Prowest of that famin towne. And to draw his Maieftie to the famin hous and toune, thay dewyife this, that the Maifter fuld ryd to the King, and schaw his Maieftie, that my Lord his broder had tane ane stranger passand throw the cuntrey, quha had grantit the heaffing of ane gritt pois of gold, quhilk wes ane grit riches; as also he had confessitt mony thingis, quhilk his Maieftie wald be weill pleiffit of; and that he and pois and all wes in his broderis hous, in Sanct Johnnstoun; bot my Lord wald nocht mell with him, befoir⁸ his Maieftie war present.

His Maieftie, being in Falkland, wes ridding out to the hunting, and was on the feildis quhenne the Maifter of Gowrie schew him all this; the quhilk quhanne his Maieftie hard, nocht heaffand no fufpitioun of Treassoune, incontinent leiffis his pastyme, and rydis with the Maifter to Sanct Johnnstoun, not passing 20 in number; the Duke of Lennox and the Erll of Mar being in his company: And at his Maieftie cuning, the Erll of Gowrie semit as giff he had not bene aquent with his cuning, and thairfoir culd not mak his Maieftie sic intertenement as he wald haue wiffit. Bot the denner being enditt, the Duke and the Erll of Mar went to the zaird, to eitt chirreis: The Erll of Gowry gois with ¹ From an Original MS. Hist. of Scotland, Anon. Adv. Lib. Edinburgh, A. 4. 35. ² (1.) James, second Earl of Gowrie, who was restored in 1586, and died at the early age of 14, in 1588. (2.) John, third Earl of Gowrie. (3.) Mr Alexander Ruthven, born at Perth, Jan. 22, 1580-1. (4.) William, who was skilled in alchemy, &c. died abroad. (5.) Patrick, who was for many yeas confined in the Tower, London. His daughter married Sir Anth. Vandyke. ³ (1.) Mary, married to John Stewart, fifth Earl of Atholl. Their daughter Dorothea was married to William Murray, Master of Tullibardin, who was of the King's retinue, at the time of the Conspiracy. (2.) Jean, married to James Lord Ogilvy. (3.) Sophia, married to Ludovick Duke of Lennox. (4.) Elizabeth, married to John Lord Grahame, Master of Montrose, afterwards the fourth Earl of Montrose. (5.) Lillias, married to Sir Robert Gordon of Lochinvar. (6.) Dorothea, married to Sir John Wemyss of Pittencrief. (7.) Catherine, died unmarried. (8.) Beatrix, married to Sir John Home of Coldingknows, who was Lady of the Bedchamber, and in terms of the strictest intimacy and friendship with Queen Anne of Denmark. ⁴ In the estimation of the world. ⁵ Colonel. ⁶ His words were, 'Aquila non captat muscas.' ⁷ Low, mean. ⁸ Until.

Aug. 1600. thame, leiffing his Maiefty and the Maifter to beir him cumpany; the Maifter heaffand ane feruand of his broderis in the chalmer, keipit fecreitt, all in harnifs,¹ quha had this directioun, to ‘abyd thair and to do quhat the Maifter direckitt him.’ Now the Nobill men being in the 3aird, the Maifter fayis to his Maiefty, ‘Pleis 3our grace, go fie the eirand 3our Maiefty com for.’ The King arryffis and gois with him wp to the chalmer, quhair the Maifter barring the dur, fayis, ‘3e man be bond,² heaffand ane gartane to bind his handis with, and drawand ane daggour, fayis, ‘Remember on the deathe of my fader!’ This Andro Henderfoun, quha wes cumand out in harnefs, heiring his Maiefty fay, ‘I wes borne ane frie Prince, and I will nocht 3eild villingly:’ The Maifter perfeiffing² to frek, his Maiefty haldis the hand and the dagour baith, and fayis to Henderfoun, ‘Saiff the Prince lyff!’ At the quhilk word, the man being amaffit, fluid still; and his Maiefty, being worfthelling with the Maifter, cumis neir ane windo, quhair he cryis outt, ‘Treffoun! The King is slayne!’ Sir Thomas Erkeyne and Doctour Hairreyis being standand law,³ heiris the famin, and cumis wp the foir entrie; bot Johnne Ramfay, his Maiefty peadge, be fortoun, vith the vord, rinnis wp the bak-flair; passing and entiring in the chalmer, findis his Maieftie and the Maifter in grippis, as ye haue hard. This Henderfoun being fled away privellie, Johnne Ramfay, at his cuming, frekis the Maifter throw the body, and releffis his Maiefty of him; and thairefter, Sir Thomas Erkeyne and Hew Harreyis cumis wp and fraikis him also. The cry is reafft be Gowreyis folkis, that ‘the King is away and lopin on!’ Quhairwpon thay com out of the 3eird, with all fpeid, to get horfe: Bot the Erll of Gowrie cuming frst, findis his broder lyand on the stair deid, drawis tua fuordis quhilk he veir bothe in ane skabertt, and cumis into the chalmer, the King being putt into the Cabatt, frekis at thame then that wes on the fluir, and hurttis Sir Thomas Erkeyne ou the hand, and Johnne Ramfay on the thie; and wes lyk to haue had the victorie of thame all; bot Johnne Ramfay fayis, ‘My Lord, we are bot feruandis, his Maieftie is slayne!’ At the quhilk vordis, my Lord puttis down the pounttis of his fuordis to the fluir, and standis still. Johnne Ramfay, takand the awantage, fraikis out and fraikis him throw the body; quhair of he fallis deid. The rest of the Nobill men cumis wp and mannis the hous.

The toune of Sanct Johnnestoune ryffis and cumis to the 3ett of Gowreyis hous, and cryis for their Prowest; and be mekill ado, was pacifeyit, be the Kingis mowth. The quhilk being done, the King lowpis on horfe and cumis to Falkland; and than our the wattir to Edinbrughe. And on the nynt day of August, Mr Patrik Galloway maid ane preitching at the Corfe of Ed^r, giffand God thankis for the delyuerance of his Maiefty; and the preitching being endit, the Kingis Maiefty, out of his awin mowth, declairis the hail forme of this tressoun to the pepill; and desyrit the Ministeris of Ed^r to schaw the famin to the pepill out of pulpitt on the nixt Sabothe; the quhilk thay refusiffet, saying, ‘it wes nocht pertinent to thame,⁴ nor thay had no warrant of the Word for thame to preiche sic doctreyne.’ His Maieftie, being heallalie offendit with thame for thair refusiffal, commandis thame ten myllis of⁵ the toune of Ed^r, discharging thame to preiche, vnder the payne of deithe. The hail name of Ruthwene wes chargit nocht to com within ten myllis of his Maiefty. The Ministeris being accusiff befor the Counfell, the 10 day, gatt that fauour to remayne in Ed^r, bot not to preiche; bot Mr Robert Bruce was chargitt to pas aff the cuntryis of Scotland, Ingland and Iyrland.

The bodyis of the Erllis of Gowrye and his broder war brocht owir the water, and hung on the gybett benethe the Corfe of Ed^r, and on the 15 day of Nonember, the Erll of Gowry, his broder and fader-broder was foirfaltitt; and Sir Thomas Erkeyne maid Lord of Dirltonne, Johnne Ramfay and Schir Hew Haireyis maid knyghtis of; airmis wes giffin to Sir Johnne Ramfay be his Maiefty, to witt, ane fuord and ane bludy dagour, by⁶ the airmis of the Ramfayis.

This attempt wes thoct to be dewyffit be strangeris and forane Princes, bot specialle the Papiftis;⁷

¹ Armour. ² Some words are evidently omitted here. ³ Below, beneath. ⁴ It did not pertain to their office, nor were they warranted by the Holy Scriptures, &c. ⁵ Off, distant from. ⁶ Forbye, besides. ⁷ It is rather a singular coincidence, that John Earl of Gowrie actually joined the Popish Lords who were defeated and sum thocht that thair war sum of Ingland prewie to the famin. He was in his hame-cuming Aug. 1600. intertenyt be all cuntreyis quhair he come, as ane Prince, an nocht lyk ane subiect: Gif he had bene ane gude subiect, it had bene ane grit loife of him.

No. XVIII.

DOCUMENTS RELATIVE TO THE CONDUCT OF MR ROBERT BRUCE AND THE MINISTERS OF EDINBURGH, &c.

[AMONG the variety of extraordinary incidents arising out of the Conspiracy of John Earl of Gowrie, perhaps no feature is more singular, than the obstinate resistance of MR ROBERT BRUCE of Kinnaird, a younger son of the family of Bruce of Airth, in Stirlingshire, and one of the Ministers of Edinburgh, a ruling spirit in the Assemblies of the National Kirk; and his refusal to return public thanks, for the King's deliverance from this danger. It may be asserted, without the fear of contradiction, that few instances can be adduced, even in the History of the most troublesome periods of the Scottish Church, of sterner and more inflexible adherence to principle (whether real or imaginary), than that displayed, for so long a series of years, by this keen antagonist of Episcopacy and Kingly prerogative; for he would not yield to the demands of the King, or the entreaties of his friends, down to the period of his death, in 1631. It is not easy, even with the most charitable allowances for exasperated feelings of party spirit, to designate Mr Robert's conduct by a gentler epithet, than that of a revengeful retaliation against his sovereign, for certain oppositions made by him, in the affairs of the Church; and especially, for his strenuous attempts to introduce Episcopacy. Great tact and ability were displayed by this remarkable person, in his repeated 'Conferences' and disputations with the King and Council; and his Majesty's unusual and continued lenity and forbearance, show, in the strongest light, how much the opinions of Bruce were known to be valued and followed by the people; and that the Court attached the utmost consequence to the benefit of his influence with all classes. It is clear, that they strained every nerve to get him persuaded, by fair means, publicly to declare his conviction of the truth of Gowrie's Conspiracy and guilt, and of the King's innocence. Like a second John Knox, Bruce appears, previous to this event, to have assumed and maintained the undisputed sway of the Church; and it seems obvious, that King James and his Council did not dare to adopt those measures, which, in other instances, would have been immediately followed up, with the utmost rigour and extremity. Had Bruce been merely a Minister of the Kirk, of an ordinary stamp, a single week in October 1593. But he was pardoned in consideration of his tender years, and probably from the King's partiality to him individually; at all events, it would charitably be inferred by the King and Council, that he was under the influence of the Earl of Atholl.

Aug. 1600. would not have elapsed, before his head would have borne Gowrie and the Master of Ruthven company, on the top of Edinburgh Tolbooth, for his daring and treasonable conduct.

The sources from which the following Collection of Papers has been formed, are Calderwood's MS. Church History, Wodrow's MSS., and the Buik of the Universal Kirk, from none of which, are any reprehensions against Mr Robert Bruce to be looked for; but, on the contrary, every thing is so stated by them as to exhibit their Champion in the light of one 'persecuted for conscience sake.' There is a 'Narrative by Mr Robert Bruce, concerning his troubles,' in Calderwood's MSS. Adv. Library, M. 6. 9. No. 36, which has been printed in the Miscellany of the Bannatyne Club. It contains a considerable portion of the Conferences here given; but varies in language, and in other respects; and may be referred to by those who have access to that valuable work, and who wish to look more minutely into this unparalleled affair.]

(1.) CONFERENCE between the MINISTERS of Edinburgh and THE KING.

UPON Tuifday the 12 of August, the Ministeris of Edinburgh were charged, be a Macer, to compare before the King and Counfell. The King demanded at Mr Robert Bruce, in name of the rest, 'Why they had disobeyed him and his Counfell, and would not praise God for his delivery?' They answered, 'they had not disobeyed, but was all ready to have praised God for his Majesties delivery, generally; as they did, upon the Sabbath immediatlie following; but they could not descend unto particulars, to qualifie what sort of danger it was; in respect they had noe certainty.' 'Had yee not my Letter,' sayes the King, 'to shew yow the certaintie?' 'Sir,' sayes Mr Robert, 'your Letter did bear noe particular, but made mention only of a danger, in generall, and we were content to follow it.' 'Could not my Counfell,' said the King, 'assure you of the particulars?' And withall addresseth himself to the President, 'Assured ye not them?' sayes the King to the President. The President answered, 'Yes, Sir, we all assured them of the certaintie of that Treafone.' 'Sir, with their honourisleave,' said Mr R. 'they had received noe information, except David Moyfes Bill and John Grahame of Balgonie his Report, who came in the mean tyme, when the Lords were sitting at Counfell; and the tuo Reports did foe fight against other, that noe man could find anie certaintie.' The Secretar ryfed up and said, 'they agreed very weill.' The President said the like. Mr Robert answered, 'he had David Moyfes Letter to shew, which would testifie the contrare.' The King asked at last, 'Now, are yee yet perswaded? Yee have heard me, yee have heard my Minister, yee have heard my Counfell, yee have heard the Earl of Marr, touching the Report of this Treafone; whither are yee yett fully perswaded or not?' 'Surely, Sir,' sayes Mr Robert, 'I would have farther light, before I preached it to perswade the people. If I were but a private subject, not a Pastor, I could rest upon your Majesties report as otheris doe.' Then the King asked Mr James Balfour, 'Are yee fully perswaded?' He answered, 'I will speak nothing to the contrarie, Sir.' 'But are yee not perswaded?' sayes the King. 'Nott yett, Sir,' said he. Mr Williame Watfone answered after the same maner. Mr Walter Balcanquall said, that he would 'affirme all that Mr David Lindfay preached in pulpite, in presence of his Maiestie yesterday.' 'What said Mr David?' sayes the King. 'Mr David founded himself upon your Majesties report, and made a faithfull rehearfall of your report; and foe fall wee.' 'Think yee,' sayes the King, 'that Mr David doubted of my report?' Mr David was sent for incontinent. They said unto him, 'Are yee not certainly perswaded of this Treafone?' 'Yes, Sir,' sayes he, 'I am perswaded, in conscience, of it.' 'Now,' sayes the King, 'Mr Walter, are ye freely perswaded?' 'Indeed, Sir,' sayes he, 'I would have farther time and light.' Then the King asked at Mr John Hall, 'Are yee fully perswaded?' He answered, 'I would have the civill tryell going before, Sir, that I may be perswaded.' Then the King asked at Mr Petter Hewat, 'Mr Peter, whether are yee yett perswaded or not?' 'Sir,' sayes he, 'I suspect not your Proclamation.' 'But whether belevee yee it or not?' sayes the King. 'The President heard,' said he, 'what I said the last Sabbath.' The President beganne to justifie him, but the King insisted, saying, 'Lett me hear himself. Whether belevee yee my Proclamation or not?' sayes the King. 'Sir,' sayes he, 'I belevee it.' Soe they were all removed, and after a great space the Macer cometh to them with a roll in his hand, wherin all thair names were written, and a score drawn upon Mr Peter and Mr George Robertson's name. Mr George and Mr Peter were not called in. The rest were called. The Chancellor pronounces the Sentence, &c.

(2.) LETTER, THE KING to the MINISTERS of the Synod of Edinburgh.¹

TRUSTIE FREINDIS, We greet you heartily well. The Ministeris of Edinburgh being discharged pair preaching, be us and our Counsell, for pair unatural and unduetifull behaviour towards us, in this late danger, wherof it pleased God miraculously to deliver us; We have, by advice of the same Counsell, resolved that they shall never be restored agane to pair own places; since, in that case, We dread noe less than the hazard of our life and perrelling of our state; as We have more particularlie declared to the Commissioneris,² by whose advice pair rowmes are declared to be vacant, that operis may be provided therto. Lyke as, for the same effect, We, by advice of the same Commissioneris, have appointed a meeting at Ed^b, upon the second of October next, not only upon order taking in that mater, but for consulting upon such oper things as shall be thocht good to be proponed in name of the Kirk, for the weall of our and their estate, at our first Parliament, appointed the first day of November next: And therfor, have thought good to will and desyre you to direct two of the most wisest and best affected of your number to keep the said dyett, and instructed sufficiently to give ther advice and concurrence with the said Commissioneris in the premises; as you will testifye your dewtiful affection towards us, and the quietnesse of our and your estate. And in respect of our said happy deliverie upon a Twif-day, We have, by the advice foresaid, appointed that every Twifday hereafter shall be a day of ordinar preaching, within every burgh within the boundis of the Synods; and in like maner commanded, by our publick Proclamation, that the last day of September next, and the Sunday next thereafter be kept solemnly, for givinge thankis to God for our deliverie of such ane evident danger; which We have thought meet also to intimate unto you, by this our particular Letter, beside our Proclamation, that you pretend noe ignorance. And soe, Wee committ you to God. From Stirling, the 24 of Agust, 1600. To our trusty freindis, the MINISTERIS of the SYNOD of EDINBURGH. JAMES R.

To be delivered to them by Mr David Lindsay, our last Moderator.

LETT your Synod be convened the third Twifday of September next, for directing of Commissioneris for the effect foresaid.

(3.) LETTER, MR ROBERT BRUCE³ to THE EARL OF MAR.

MY LORD,

AFTER my very hearty commendations of service, fearing that this lingring of mine should give Sept. 1600.

¹ Calderwood's Church Hist. MS. Advocates' Library, vol. v. p. 518.

² Of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland.

³ During this interval, the following correspondence is recorded by Calderwood, on this subject, but not of sufficient interest to merit insertion here:—

1600. Sept. 18.	Letter, Mr Peter Hewat to Mr Robert Bruce,	Vol. v. p. 532
Sept. 22.	Do. Mr Robert Bruce in reply,	533
Sept. 18.	Do. Mr James Balfour, Mr Walter Balcanquhall and Mr John Hall to Do.	536
Sept. 22.	Do. Mr Robert Bruce in reply,	537

Sept. 1600. occasion to sinister impressions, and nourish the people in lewd opinions (wherunto they are over much bent, of will) of ther Prince, I thought it my duety, my Lord, to prevent such suspicions, and to signifie my minde unto your L. as be this Letter I doe; that if ever God open my mouth, ather in that place or any ooper place, I will promise, be his grace, to suit them and divert them from such cogitations as flew from perversitie of nature, rather then from ane solide ground. This I may doe safelie, and fall doe farther, when God shall grant me farther light; for your L. takes me up wrong, if yee be of that mind, that it is not conscience that moves me to this, but only preposstrous affection to persons. My actions, my Lord, shortly will be my best judges and witnessses, ather with me or against me; and in the mean tyme, I would crave this favour of your L. if my service will not be acceptable to his Ma. within the country, that he would suffer me, with his Licence and favour, whill this storm be settled, to depart. I will not fash your L. with farther Letter; but, if I durst say it, my conscience sayes to me, I deserve good will of your L. alwayes. The Lord in his mercie direct your L. in all your affaires, and take you and yours under his tuition and defence, both now and ever. OF AIRTH, pe 22 of September 1600. Your L. to his power to be commanded, with service.

MR R. B.

(4.) LETTER, the EARL OF MARR, in reply to MR ROBERT BRUCE.

SIR,

I RECEIVED your Letter, wherein yee desired me to be a dealler at his Ma^s hand, that yee may have a Licence to passe furth of pe countrie, if better cannot be (whereof I would be very sorry.) I shall leave nothing that in me lyes to doe that which yee desired me; but yee must give me leave, even to speak with yow. I think yee are farr in the wrong, to your self and all your weall willers, that is soe hard of credit, in soe manifest a mater; and now, seeing it has come to such ane hight, I fear his Ma. shall be very hard in it; for I darr take it on me, before God in heaven (that is my only witnessse, in writteing these words unto yow,) that pe most mischant Treafone that ever was intended against a Prince, was that day intended against his Ma. be my LORD OF GOWRIE and his brother. This I may baldly write, in respect of pat I saw; and if I had occasion to speak with yow, I beleve to let yow see it evidentlie. Alwayes, Sir, I beseech yow evin to resolve with your self upon that; which I am assured of in conscience yee may; and that, in respect I knew it to be the truth. I remit pe rest to pe bearer, whom I know yee will credit. And soe, I committ yow to God. OF STIRLINE, the 24 of September, 1600. Your loving freind, MARR.

As to that part of your Letter, concerning your good will toward me, in truth I never thought ooperwife; nather merited I ever other at your hand, nor yet fall doe.

June, 1602.

(5.) LETTER, MR ROBERT BRUCE to THE KING.¹

[THE following Letter has been collated with a more correct transcript, preserved in 'The Booke of the Univerfull Kirk' Adv. Library, W. 1. 14, p. 329; from which this Extract has been taken. 'Anent the request made be the Moderator, in name of the haill Assemblie, to his Ma., in favouris of Mr Robert Bruce; His Ma. declarit, that he wald doe in that matter, be the advyce of the Commisfioneris of the Generall Assemblie, and (as) Mr Robert, be his awne behaviour, should give him occasion. And because Mr Robert Bruce had, be his Missine direct to his Ma. before his departure out the countrie, as also by the ratificatione and farther examinatione and explanatione thereof, in write, at Perth the 26 of July, 1602, declarit his resolutione of HIS MA. innocencie, and guiltines of the EARLE OF GOWRIE and his brother; and promised to divert the people, so farr as in him lay, from their lewd opinions and uncharitable constructions, anent his Ma. actiones, namely in this turne. June, 1602. Therefore his Ma. defyrit the determinations of the Assembly, quhither, if the said Mr Robert fould lykewife make the same declaration in pulpit, according as it is at lenth set downe in the said Missive and explanation thair of, at Perth? Qubair of the tennor follows, &c. The quhilk, the hail Assembly, after voteing, thought not only reasonable, but also concludes, that the said Mr Robert aucht to do the same.' This affords the most satisfactory explanation of Mr Robert Bruce's conduct, and sets it in the true light in which it ought to be viewed. The subsequent behaviour of this zealous and able man, when all the previous circumstances of his personal altercations with the King are taken into consideration, is far more questionable than, in charity, without such explanation being afforded, might have been conceded.]

¹ Calderwood remarks, 'Mr Robert Bruce, eight dayes before the time appointed for his departure, directed a Letter to the King, be the Laird of Balvaird; wherein he took his good night, and made a repetition of the former offers, in as reverent and humble maner as he could.'

PLEASE YOUR MA.,

HEARING that your Ma. was nothing relentit of your former wrath against me, and being now upon the point to shew my obedience unto your Ma's laft charge, I could not omitt this, as my laft dewtie, to intreat your hiens clemencie, and to mitigate the extremitie of this intendit wrath. I am not ignorant of that speech, that 'pe wrath of pe Prince is the messenger of death,' foe that I craue that the Lord, for Christ sake, may adde his blessing, and work affectionatly¹ in your grace, as he fall see expedient for his awne glory, and your Ma's perpetuall preservation. Then, to be thort, to shew my conformitie with the rest of my breither of the Ministry, as at all tymes, foe now especially, to shew both my reverence to your Ma., and to clear my suspectit affections herein, I offer to give to the ffather of our Lord Jesus Christ, in him and throw him, most heartilye thankis, for all your Ma. deliveries, from your cradle to this present houre; but namely, for that deliverie which he grantit to your Ma. in S. Johnstone, on Tuifday the fyfth of August, farr above all our deserts and your Ma's expectation. I offer also to feir up the people to that same dewtie; and attour, to divert the people, foe farr as in me lyes, from ther leud opinionones and uncharitable constructions of your Ma. actions; and namely, in this turne. Finallie, ther is noe dewtie that your Ma. can crave of me, without the manifestt offence of God and hurt of my own conscience, but I will doe it, with alfe good a heart as ever I did anie thing in the earth; that if by anie means I might testifie my good affectione toward your Ma. my Sovereigne, and to enjoy my naturall air and such uther comforts as the Lord hes given me under your Ma's raigne, quhilk I maist humblie crave of your Ma., beseekeand the Lord to move your heart hereunto, for Christ's sake. Soe, waiting of your H. answer, in all humilitie, I take my leave.

MR ROBERT BRUCE.

(Upon the back thereof.) AT PERTH, the 26 of June 1602. Farther, concerning the heids within containit, I am resolvit of his Ma'ties innocence and the guiltinefs of the Earle of Gowrie and his brother, according as it is declaret be the Act of Parliament: And therefore, acknowledges the great mercy of God towards his Ma's hail Kirk and countrie, in his Ma. delyverance; for the quhilk, I thank God from my heart.

(Sic subscribitur)

MR ROBERT BRUCE.²

(6.) NOTA. THE ANSWER to this is not preserved by Calderwood, as explained by him in the following terms.

Mr Robert was upon his journey to the ship, and Balvaird³ returned with his answer to his wife. He shewed her that his Ma. had interlyned the Letter, and eeked⁴ some words upon the margent:

¹ 'Effectually,' in Book of Univ. Kirk.

² This postscript or indorsation, Calderwood most unfairly omits. This is by no means a solitary instance of such conduct. It must be obvious to any one who carefully peruses the various Conferences, &c. that he uniformly studies to place Bruce in the character of the hero of his book, and in the interesting attitude of a person persecuted for conscience sake, and cruelly trampled upon by the constituted authorities.

³ Sir Andrew Murray of Balvaird.

⁴ Addeled.

Oct. 1600. and if Mr Robert condescended not to these words, and wes not content to utter them in pulpit, there was noe byding for him in Scotland. He desyred also, that he might keep the interlyned Letter a while, promysing to redeliver it; but he gave it to his uncle Sir Patrik Murrey, and was never redelivered. In the meantyme, Mr Robert returned to Restalrig, upon Thursday at night,¹ the penult of October. The ship was not as yett out of the harbourie, it being great in quantitie,² and heavie loadned, and the floods³ also decreasing, there was litle hope of out-getting. Alwayes Cornelius Inglis, sonne to James Inglis the owner of the ship, was moved to emptie her of a great part of her loading; but the deid neep⁴ was so great, according to the course of the moon and custome of that sea, that they looked not for her floating: But, by⁵ ther expectation, and farr by the custome marked in those seas, 80 years before, where the waters sould have decayed, against the custome they increafed, till they put her on floatt⁶ and convoyed her out; and thereafter returned to their own naturall course, and continued in ther ebnessè for five weeks after. The ship faired furth on Saturday the first of November, and was drawn up to the Queens-ferrie, where she lay at anker. Upon the third of November Mr Robert went up to the ship. Two of the Ministers certified him, that he was to be charged, vnder the paine of Treafone, to retire to the ship within 24 houres; which made him to make the greater haste. Soe he raid to the Queens-ferrie, accompanied with Sir William Cranstoun and his sone; and after supper took ship. Two bailliffes went with him to the shipe, and Mr Thomas Gray and a Notar, John Maky. He took instrumens in the hands of the Notar, that he obeyed the Act. They returned in a boat. It was marked by them that returned, that, by⁶ custome, there appeared foe great a light, which served them to read, and the mariners and skippers to take up sail; although it was neer midnight. Soe they drew to sea, by God's blessing, and arived at Deep⁷ in France, upon Saturday the 8 of November.

(7.) LETTER, MR ROBERT BRUCE to HIS WIFE.

A long letter is inserted in Calderwood's MS. Church History, Vol. V. p. 584 to 591, in which he treats of his 'persecution,' &c. He subscribes himself, 'Your loving husband, not wearie I assure yow of the Lords croffe, but wearie of the treicherous flatterie of men.' It is dated, 'Off Berwick, the 5 of this instant of June.' And on Sept. 29, 1601, Mr Patrick Simson, Minister at Stirling, writes him, inviting him to return to Edinburgh.—See Calderwood, p. 692.

Jan. 1602. (8.) 'A CONFERENCE between MR ROBERT BRUCE and some (Commissioners) directed from the King.'

THE KING appointed Mr Robert Bruce to come to Craigmiller, to conferr with some appointed be him. Mr Robert took Mr Patrick Simsone with him, to be a witneffe to thair dealing: Soe, upon the 15 of Januar (1602), they mett at Craigmiller. They proponned three things to him: (1.) That he would approve the book sett out upon Gowrie's Conspiracie: (2.) That he would purge the King, in such places as the King sould appoint him to preach in: (3.) That he would crave the King pardon, for his long mistrust and disobediense. All the three were refused be Mr Robert, after long conference. They gave him some Articles and Instructions, in write, and craved his Answer in write; the tennor wherof followeth.

INSTRUCTIONS for his Majesties Commissioners directed to Mr Robert Bruce.

WHETHER, if he be throughlie resolved now, of the forme and maner of that treafouable attempt committed against his Ma. at Perth; and speciallie, of his Ma's honest minde, intention and miraculous deliverance, and of GOWRIE's and his brotheris vile and bloody Conspiracie, intended to be taking away of his Ma^s life; as is particularly sett down in the printed book and Acts theranent, or not? As his doubting of that turne hes been the principall cause of the doubt of many, and of his H. slander in that point, if he be willing to utter in pulpit, in such places as fall be appointed, his resolution therein, according to the forme of the said Articles, as clearly, as any his Ma^s good subjects have done; craving pardon, and excusing his long incredulity, and the slander arising therupon; and wishing the people that anywise doubted pairof, as they were ever ready to conceive doubts upon unjust grounds, only moved by his example, foe now to be contented, be his means, rightly to be resolved thairof.¹

¹ This must have been done by stealth, and in contravention of the Charge which confined him to Airth, &c. See p. 233, &c. ² Size, burthen. ³ Flood tides. ⁴ Neap tide. ⁵ Contrary to. ⁶ Contrary to. ⁷ Dieppe.

(Sic subscribitur) JAMES R.

(9.) THE SECOND CONFERENCE of MR ROBERT BRUCE with THE KING.

IN the beginning of Aprile, the Erle of Marr directed a Letter to Mr Robert Bruce, at the King's direction, to come to Brechin, with diligence. Immediatly before the receipt of the Letter, he was exercised in prayer, with shedding of tears. When he come to Brechin, as soon as the King saw him, he raise, and come forward to the place where he stood; and looked, as appeared to Mr Robert, very lovingly. He caused void the house,² none remaining but the King and Mr Robert. The King asked, 'If he was resolved?' He answered, 'Yes.' He asked next, 'What moved him?' Mr Robert answered, 'Sundrie things, namely, my Lord of Marr his deep swearing; for I thought (said he) that a Christian, of his quality, could not forswear himselfe, for all the gear in the world!' 'How could he swear?' said the King; 'he nather saw nor heard!' 'I cannot tell that, Sir,' said Mr Robert, 'but indeed he swore very deeply.' The King, understanding what was the forme of the oath, which he repeated to him: 'What was the cause, then,' said the King, 'yee would not trust me?' 'Sir,' said Mr Robert, 'Your Ma. took noe paines to informe.' 'I sent,' said the King, 'Sir Thomas Areskine to yow.' 'As for Sir Thomas Areskine,' said Mr Robert, 'I trusted him in a part; but thair were other things that I thought hard.' 'What was that?' said the King. 'That part which concerned the MASTER of GOWRIE and your Ma.' said Mr Robert. 'Doubt yee of that?' said the King. 'Then yee could not but compt me a murtherer!' 'It followeth not, if it please you, Sir,' said Mr Robert; 'for yee might have some secreitt cause.'³ The King deduced the whole Tragedie, from the beginning. Mr Robert uttered his doubt, where he found occasion. The King heard him gentlie, and with a constant countenance; which Mr Robert admired.⁴ At last, the King urgeth him to preach the Articles which were sent to him. Mr Robert answered, he had 'given his answer already to these Articles; and had offered to the Ambassadors that which all men thought satisfaction, yea more than preaching.' 'What is that?' said the King. 'That I will subscribe my resolution,' said Mr Robert. 'Trust you it?' said the King. 'Yes, Sir,' said Mr Robert. 'If ye trust it, why may yee not preach it?' said the King. 'I shall tell yow, Sir,' said Mr Robert; 'I give it but a doubtfome trust; for I learn this out of Bernard, "in doubtfome things, to give undoubted trust, is temeritie; and in undoubted things, to give a doubtfome trust, is infirmity!"' 'But this is undoubted,' said the King. 'Then bear with my infirmity!' said Mr Robert. 'But yee say it is more than preaching?' said the King. 'Sir, I ought to preach nothing but the word of God,' said Mr Robert. 'Obedience to Princes, suppose they were wicked, is the word of God,' said the King. 'I durst lay a waiger, ther is noe expresse word of King James the Sixth, in the Scripture.' 'Yes,' said Mr Robert, 'if thair be a King there, there is word for yow also.' 'The whole Kirk has done it already,' said the King; 'yee must not be singular!' 'Sindrie have not done it,' said Mr Robert. 'Shew me one!' said the King.

¹ The Answers are general and evasive; and as the substance is contained in the following most remarkable CONFERENCE with the King, at Brechin, it seems only necessary to refer the curious to Culderwood's Church History, MS. Vol. V. p. 598, &c. ² The Chamber. A common mode of expression at this time. ³ Occasion, necessity.

⁴ Lat. admirare, marvelled; or wondered at.

Apr. 1602. 'Your Ma. muft bear with me,' faid Mr Robert; 'for it were againft the rule of Charitie to harme my brethren.' He defyred the King to convey the Miniftrie, to fee what they would injoyne him to doe. 'That needeth not,' faid the King; 'none darr or will refufe but yee; and therefore yee are the fole and only ground of my flander.' Mr Robert, to clear him of this imputation, faid, 'I have offered to fubfcribe my Refolution, in what language your Ma. pleafeth; which none have done but I.' 'Where is your Refolution?' faid the King. 'I fent it in write to your Ma.,' faid Mr Robert. 'That which yee fent was too generall,' faid the King; 'but what fault find yee in my Articles?' 'I cannot remember all; but one thing I remember,' faid Mr Robert, 'yee would have me to refolve according to your book; and who can doe that?' 'There is never a falfe word in that book,' faid the King. 'Yes, Sir, there are findrie.' 'Weill then,' faid the King, 'wee fall putt out that claus out of the Articles. What other fault find yee?' 'I cannot remember now,' faid Mr Robert. 'Have yee not the Articles?' faid the King. 'I gave them to Sir Patrick Murray,' faid Mr Robert. 'I am fure,' faid the King, 'yee have kept the Copie.' Mr Robert, perceiveng the King's drift, to urge him farther, thought it not expedient to produce the copie. 'Weill,' faid the King, 'ftay heer till Sir Patrick Murrey come.' Yet, after fupper, Mr Robert gott licence to returne home, till the next advertifment.

Sundrie other things paff between the King and him, in conference; as namelie, Mr Robert defyred, that he 'and others of the Miniftrie be not urged to hurt thair confciences; and that his Ma. would not think, that honeft men would fell their foules; howbeit their bodies and geir fall be at his command.' 'I underftand not what ye mean,' faid the King, 'be felling of your foules; but I fall gar the beft of you fay and gaine fay!' 'That may be, Sir,' faid Mr Robert, 'and that yitt they fay not againft confcience.' 'Yee fall not find the like in me,' faid the King; 'my faying fall be alwife one.' 'It fetteth not to compare with your Ma.,' faid Mr Robert.—He prayed in heart, all the time, thus—'O Lord! keep my heart unto thee! and fave me frome the danger that this traitourous and falfe heart is like to caft me unto!'

(10.) THE THIRD CONFERENCE of MR ROBERT BRUCE with THE KING.

MR ROBERT BRUCE, after his Conference with the King at Brechine, was confined in the parioch where he had his dwelling place, and fuffered to preach noe where ells. He received a Letter from the King, to come to him, to Perth, the 24 of June. When he come and entered in the King's chamber, no other was fuffered to enter but Sir Patrick Murrey. The King asked, 'Where the Articles were?' Mr Robert answered, that he had redelivered them to Sir Patrick Murrey. Sir Patrick produced them. After they were read, the King asked, 'If he was willing to preach according to thefe Articles?' 'Not, Sir,' faid Mr Robert, 'if it pleafe you?' 'Why?' fayis the King. 'Because my preaching is the mater of my Inftiutions and Commiffion: No Prince hath the power to give inftiutions to another Princes Ambaffader. I am the fone of God's Ambaffader and preacher!' 'But,' faid Mr David Lindfey,¹ 'yee offered to preach to that effect, before yee went out of the country.' Wherupon, Sir Patrick produced Mr Robert's Letter; which was read, in the audience of the King and Commiffioneris. 'Weill,' fayes Mr Robert, 'yee refused this offer, foe am I not bound to it.' 'Will yee goe from the thing yee have offered?' fay they. 'Weill,' fayeth Mr Robert, 'will this Letter fa-tisfie yow? Sall I be noe farther urged, in cafe we condefcend to this Letter?' 'Nay,' quoth the King, 'yee may fay all this and not be refolved! Say truely, was yee refolved at that tyme or no?' 'Not indeid,' faid Mr Robert. 'How fay yee then, that yee will give thanks for my deliverance, that day?' faid the King. 'Yes, Sir,' faid Mr Robert, 'I have caufe to give thanks for your prefervatione, fuppofe yee had caft your felf in danger.' 'I told yow that,' quoth the King; 'yee fee what he meant.

¹ He was Minister of Leith, and preached the Oration before the King the day of his landing after the Conſpiracy.

—Are yee now refolved?’ ‘Yes, Sir,’ said he. ‘That’s but the duety of a subject, when yee have done,’ said the King. ‘Are yee refolved to preach?’ ‘I am discharged to preach the pleasures of men,’ said Mr Robert: ‘Place me where God placed me,¹ and I shall teach fruitful doctrine, as God shall give me grace: But we have not that custome to be enjoyned to preach; nor I dare not promise to keep that injunction. It lyeth not in my hand to make a promise; I know not certainly what God will suffer me to speak; I may stand dumb. Therefore, Sir, leave me free; and when I shall find myself to be moved, be God’s spirit, and to have the warrant of his word, I shall not fail to do it.’ ‘That is plaine Annabaptistry! That is a caball and tradition,’ said the King: ‘Yee shall preach as the rest have done, or else I cannot be satisfied. Yee shall goe!’ ‘I pray your Ma.’ said Mr R. ‘sett down your disjunctive, and the one, God willing, shall be as welcome to me as the other. I have racked certainly a peace of my heart, to please your Ma.; now seeing your Ma. cannot be satisfied, except I make shipwrack of all, lett me goe, in God’s name. Suppose I have some commodities, as other mean gentlemen have, in your Ma’s countrie, yett, Sir, I never defyred to have seen your Ma’s face, or your countrie either, except I had been certainly informed that your Ma. was satisfied!’ ‘What warrant had yee? Who informed yow foe?’ said the King. ‘If it please yow, Sir,’ said Mr Robert, ‘I had first a warrant from the mouth of both your ambassaders, who assured me their satisfaction should be yours.’ ‘I trust,’ sayeth the King, ‘they will not say, suppose of all this new kinde that is knitt up betwixt yow.’ ‘Surely, Sir,’ said Mr Robert, ‘I am persuaded they will say it, and heere is a brother, (meaning Mr Patrick Simfene,) that has heard my Lord of Marr say as much. Beside this, if it please yow, Sir, I have your Ma’s own warrant, be Letter.’ ‘What!’ sayeth the King, ‘my Letter?’ ‘Your Ma’s Letter,’ sayeth Mr Robert, ‘willeth me to send in my resolution, in write; and thereupon, promised to be satisfied. And soe I did; and therefore, I ought not to be urged any farther.’ ‘My Letter beareth noe such thing,’ sayeth the King. ‘If it bear not, Sir, it shall turn to my own paines,’ said Mr Robert. ‘I have it beside me.’ The King went in to his Cabinet, and walked up and down a reasonable space. In the mean tyme, the Commissioners dealt with Mr Robert, almost each one after another. He would have gladly gone out of the house, but the door was locked; soe he behoved to stand, till the King come out of the Cabinet. At last, the King cometh out. The Commissioners say to him, ‘Sir, seeing it is soe, that Mr Robert alledgeth such promises, yee shall leave the preaching free to his own will: But let us come to his subscription in the rowme thereof.’ ‘Are yee content,’ sayes Mr David and the rest, ‘to subscribe the King’s innocencie and their guiltinesse?’ ‘Not in these terms,’ answered Mr Robert. The King urgeth him the more earnestly, and sayeth, ‘I will not only have yow clearing mee, but my whole company.’ ‘As for your Ma’s company,’ sayes Mr Robert, ‘they have no need of my clearing; rather will they seek it. I am bound to your Ma., and I will doe all that lyeth in my possibility.’ ‘Then yee must subscribe my innocencie,’ said the King. ‘Your own conscience, Sir, can doe that best,’ said Mr Robert. ‘It is very hard for me to do it!’ ‘Why is it hard?’ said the King. Laith² was Mr Robert to answer, least he should irritate him; but he insisted. Then said Mr R. ‘Your Ma. will not be offended if I speak freely?’ ‘Not,’ said the King. ‘I was reading,’ said Mr Robert, ‘upon Ammandus Polanus, touching the slaughter of the Magicians, when the King of Babell commanded to slay. Ammandus disputeth the question, whether the King of Babell did weill or not? First, he sayeth, animi gratia, it would appear that he did weill; for he had the plaine law of God for him, in manie places: Yett he concludes against the King, that he did not weill; for, howsoever he had the Law, yett he looked not to the Law nor had regard to God nor his glory: Therefore sayeth he, howsoever the Magistrat hath the sword and may most justly execute, yett if he have nothing but his own particular³ before his eyes, God nor his glory, he is a Murderer!—Now, Sir, I pray, what can I or any man say, what your Ma. had before your eyes? Or what particular yee had?’ ‘It is true,’ sayeth the King, ‘and therefore I will give yow leave to ¹ Restore me to my pulpit.² Loth, unwilling,³ Quarrel, offence, or cause.

Jan. 1602. pose me upon the particulars.¹ ‘Then, first, it please yow,’ said Mr Robert, ‘Had yee a purpose to slay MY LORD?’ ‘As I shall answer to God,’ sayeth the King, ‘I knew not that my Lord was slaine till I saw him in his last agonie; and was very forie, yea prayed in my heart for the same.’ ‘What say yee then concerning MR ALEXANDER?’ said Mr Robert. ‘I grant,’ said the King, ‘I am art and part of Mr Alexander’s slaughter; for it was in my own defence.’ ‘Why brought yee him not to justice,’ said Mr Robert, seeing yee would have had God before your eyes?’ ‘I had neither God nor the Devil, man, before my eyes,²’ said the King, ‘but my own defence!’ Heer the King beganne to fret. He took all these points ‘upon his salvation and damnation,’ and that he ‘was once minded to have spared Mr Alexander; but being moved, for the time, the motion prevailed.’³ Farther, Mr Robert demanded of the King, ‘If he had a purpose, that day, in the morning, to slay Mr Alexander?’ The King answered, ‘upon his salvation, that day in the morning he loved him as his brother!’ Mr Robert, be reason of his oathes, thought him innocent of any purpose that day, in the morning, to slay them: Yett, because he confessed he had not God nor justice before his eyes, but was in a heat and mind unto wrong, he could not be innocent, before God; and had great cause to repent, and to crave mercie for Christ’s sake!

In end, Mr Robert yielded to subscribe his resolution, according to the Act of Parliament; which he did, Partly because, in his judgment, it was the duty of a subject to reverence the lawes of the Country, except he knew them, certainly, to be contrarie to the word of God: Nixt, he was bound to free himself of that imputation which was layed to his charge, partly be the King himself, partly by others, directed to him from the King, that ‘come death, come life to him, come what would come of him, the whole blame should lie upon him, in respect he was the author of the slander!’ Thirdly, because he made a faithfull promise to him, that ‘noe more should be craved of him.’ Soe, upon these three respects, he gave his resolution, in write; not that he was perswaded, in his conscience, for any thing that he could learn, be himself, or from God’s Spirit, after prayer, as he himself recordeth in the Historie of these proceedings; but, in respect there was a strait and publick Law, he thought good to follow it, till God gave him farther light. All the Commissioners, and Mr Patrick Simfone, who accompanied him, subscribed as witnesses. Wherupon Warrant was granted to him to travell abroad in the countrie; provided he come not neer Edinburgh, be four milles.

Nov. 1602. (11.) MR ROBERT BRUCE drew neer to Edinburgh, in tyme of the Assëmbly. George Heriot and John Robertfone, Commissioners for the Town of Edinburgh, made mention of his reposition;⁴ wherunto the Assëmbly applauded. But the King and the Moderator⁵ alledged they had fundrie things to proponne, before that were granted. The King defyred to have the Interlocutor of the Assëmbly, ‘whither Mr Robert should be enjoyned to utter in pulpit, that which he had offered in his bill before his banishment, and the resolution which he had subscribed at Perth, after his returne, or not?’ Mr John Hall⁶ being first asked, answered, ‘Ther could be nothing done in that mater, whill⁷ the parties were first heard.’ Soe it was thought meet that Mr Robert should be sent for: But the mater was delayed till the end of the Assëmbly; and howbeit he was nather called nor heard, they voted that he should publish in pulpit his bill and resolution.⁸

¹ Grounds of quarrel or grudge. ² That is, in the heat of the struggle and the deadly encounter in which he was engaged, he had no leisure for reflection, but looked only for the means of ridding himself of his antagonist. ³ On cool reflection, and at that distance of time, the King is inclined to think it might have been in his power to have saved Mr Alexander’s life. But this he admits, after being in the knowledge of all the facts and incidents, which he could not at the time have contemplated. Had he attempted to have taken him alive, in all human probability, it would have cost his own life and that of his party: for Gowrie, as Provost of Perth, and adored by the citizens, could have in an instant overpowered the handful of followers attending upon the King, in this hasty and unprepared visit. ⁴ The fact of his being reponed or reinstated. ⁵ Mr Patrick Galloway. ⁶ The Moderator of the former Assembly. ⁷ Until. ⁸ It is unnecessary to pursue this matter farther. The Editor hopes that Wodrow’s Life of this remarkable person, together with the Lives of other eminent public characters, written by Wodrow, shall soon be published. The publication of these Lives would prove a valuable accession to the History of Scotland, and could hardly fail amply to repay the person who undertook such a task.

(12.) LETTER, the Laird of Beltries (Sir James Sempill¹) to Mr Robert Bruce. Nov. 1602.

SIR,

I INQUIRED of his Ma. yesternight, if he had any new intention anent yow? He answered, none, but that yee sould enter and doe your duetie, as was told yow of before. His Ma. alledges, yee never bide long at one resolution; ffor, after my excuseing yow of your not abilitie for preaching the last Sabbath, as yee willed me to doe, yett he sent Mr Henry Blyth to the Moderator, to enquire if yee sould teach? This I was ignorant of; but yett I answered, that it was upon a fear that possessed yow, of a new offence, in not teaching; and soe that was done for the full assurance of his Ma^s minde in it. To the purpose, Sir, yee fall enter, if yee please, on Sunday next, and advertise his Ma. two or three dayes before; inquireing, if he please to speak with yow? At your entry, yee must doe (as his Ma. speche is) the duty of a good subiect and of a good pastor; not to say, simply, yee are resolved, which yee have done already; but yee must endeavour to remove all scrouple from the auditor; as well in cleiring his Ma^s innocencie, as of your guiltinesse. These are his Ma^s own words: And my poor advice is, to satisfie his Ma.; feing, (with manie) I think it may and would be done, being a thing able to do good to the King and whole Common-weall, to knitte the hearts of his people to him, by removeing scrouples, if any be, or by confirming them in the concewed truth; which, be your silence in this mater, will be called againe in question be them. The Lord give yow that resolution which may best serve for his glory. HILYRUDHOUS, this Tuifday the last of Nov^r 1602. Keep this ticket for both our warrants.

(13.) MR ROBERT BRUCE'S ANSWER to Beltries' last Letter.

SIR,

I WAS upon my journey homeward, when I received your last Letter; and hearing that yee were gone in the country, I delayed any answer till your returneing. Therefore, now, Sir, for answer; first, I say, that if Mr Henry Blyth had any such commiſſion of me, or if the honest man will say soe in my name, I will be content to take that imputation upon me: but otherwise, as it is true indeed, I received wrong, I am noe wayes ambitious of it. For I have been twice thrust into it, and as oft out of it; and I have noe will that his Ma. be compelled to use his Royall office upon the remanent of my frail life. For these four or five yeares bygane, I have been continually under a lingering and dwyning death, which I am assured has been more troublefome and tedious to me, both in body and minde, then that hour of death fall be, when euer it fall please the Lord to call me therto. I have not forgott these voices, that oftentimes I wounded to hear, 'that his Ma. dreadeth us bodily harme.' These things maketh me to look or I leap, and to advise weill or I enter; yett I speak nott this, as if I were minded to shake off my duety that I ought to my flock: But if it would please his Ma. to suffer us to stand in that liberty wherein the Lord hes placed us, and to speak in the chair of truth, as the word and spirit of truth sould direct us, I would promise, be God's grace, when ever the word sould give us occasion, as oft tymes it will, that then, from the authority of the word, I fall repreſſe all sinister constructions of his Ma. actions, and by the authority thereof, beat down all seditious and insolent humors of subiects, that would presse to usurp upon your superiours; and soe, from the word, as moved therby to speak upon these matters; which must have a farr greater grace nor² to speak be way of injunctions, or speak as it were a cunned lesson,³ or ane A B C putt in man's hand. The one deuty smelleth of Divine Theologie, the other of Court Theologie, and does noe good to the cause, but hurts greatly: And as God liketh of a cheerfull giver, soe when the people seeth these things to come freely, of my self, without constraint, nor yett putt unto my head, they will reverence them the

