What is Baltic Amber?

Baltic amber beads come from a resin from the Baltic region of the world, the most popular areas are Lithuania and Poland. Amber is known all over the world to aid in pain relief. We recommend wearing the Baltic amber closest to the painful area for the best relief. Baltic amber contains 3-8% of succinic acid which is the precursor to acetylsalicylic acid, otherwise known as one of the active ingredients in aspirin. Which explains why so many people boast of wearing Baltic amber for relief from migraines, teething, tooth aches, arthritis, carpal tunnel syndrome and sports injuries. Baltic amber comes in a variety of colors and shapes. Colors range from golden tones and opaque cream colors, to olive green, deep cherry and several shades of browns. Colors do not matter when it comes to the effectiveness of amber, it's purely a person preference. Beads come in a large variety of sizes as well from small beads to large beads. Shapes available are slender chips, baroque (rounded beads), and flatter olive shaped beads.

Clasp Options

The Amber Monkey offers two different clasp options, both which are made to strip out or pull apart at a minimum 15 lbs pull force for 10 seconds to prevent choking.

Sizing

The Amber Monkey manufactures several different lengths of Baltic amber jewelry. When putting a Baltic amber necklace on a child, be sure that the necklace does not go over the child's chin as it should never go into their mouth. We recommend at least a two finger allowance so that the necklace is not too tight.

Following are the sizes and ages that we have found to be average; however it is always best to try on the jewelry to ensure a correct fit.

5.5" - up to age 2 years bracelet

7"-8" - adult bracelet

10"-11" - up to age 12 months or an adult anklet

Pet collars have a screw clasp and metal beads spaced out between the raw amber chips. The metal beads help to create a static to "resonate" the baltic amber which is said to help to reduce or eliminate fleas and ticks on your pet.

What is Hazelwood?
