151 STATE STREET.

To Our Patrons:

CHICAGO, January 1st, 1888.

With many thanks for past favors, we take pleasure in handing you herewith our Thirty-second Annual Illustrated Catalogue and Price List, for 1888, an index of contents for which will be found on page 200; would also respectfully refer you to page 201, for suggestions in regard to ordering goods, Discounts, &c., &c.

During the present year we have made many important additions, thereby increasing our facilities in all Departments, and if kindly favored with a share of your trade, will pledge ourselves that the most untiring diligence and care will be exercised in filling all your orders.

The Engravings in this Catalogue are correct and accurate illustrations of the goods which they represent and are all drawn to the actual size, with the exception of some of the Chains and larger pieces of Silver Ware. Clocks and Mantel Ornaments, where the dimensions are given with the description. The Chains, however, all show a section of the full size, and, in a few instances, show the entire length also, but where the dimensions are not given the articles quoted are the exact size of the illustrations.

Having studied carefully to call everything by its proper name and avoid all exaggerations, we can safely say that all articles listed in this book will look even better than the illustrations, so that our Customers at a distance can order as intelligently and with the same confidence from this Catalogue as though they were making their selections in person from our Safes and Show Cases.

The late improvements in the art of Engraving render it possible to show a perfect fac-simile of any article, even to the most minute detail, and this has enabled us to entirely dispense with and discontinue the old practice or custom of sending out goods on approval or selection, but if any article ordered from this Catalogue, which is not engraved or made specially to order, should, upon examination, fall short of the expectations of the purchaser, or fail to come fully up to all requirements, it can be returned at our expense and the purchase money will be cheerfully refunded.

On the next page will be found a brief description of the most popular precious stones in use at the present day, with their chemical composition and a few of their leading characteristics, which we trust may be found interesting as well as useful to our patrons.

We Warrant all Watches regularly for 2 years, during which time we perform free of charge all repairs, cleaning, &c., that may become necessary in the course of ordinary wear, and if, after the expiration of this time, Watches are sent to us to be cleaned regularly once a year, for which our charge would be $1.50, we give an additional Warrant of from 5 to 10 years, according to the grade of movements as follows, viz.: 5 years on all 7 and 9 jeweled movements, 7 years on all 11 and 13 jeweled movements and 10 years on all 15, 17 and 19 jeweled movements. From this it will be seen that on a B. W. Raymond movement the expense would be nothing for the first two years and for the next ten years could not exceed $1.50 per year. Extraordinary repairs, however, such as would result from a fall or other accident to the Watch, are not included in this guarantee.

We manufacture ourselves everything in the line of Solid Gold Goods, but do not make anything in Rolled Plate, although we keep constantly in stock a complete and varied assortment of Fine Rolled Gold Plate Jewelry, of the latest styles and patterns, made by the most reliable of Eastern manufacturers, and which, for appearance and finish, elegance of design and ornamentation, can not be excelled by any other goods of the same grade, and, excepting the question of durability, are fully equal in other respects to solid gold.

We do not keep in stock or handle any of the cheaper grades of Watches, Jewelry or Silver Ware, etc., of any description, fully believing in the old saying (which is a true one), that the best is always the cheapest in the end, and our prices will always be found as low as consistent with first-class material and workmanship.

In the present work we would ask your special attention to a few of our great specialties, viz.: WATCHES and DIAMONDS, our stock of which, especially in Watches, is much more complete and varied in assortment than ever before, thereby affording the opportunity of selecting a choice jewel or a time-piece of real merit at a moderate price.

Would also ask your attention to our fine and extensive assortment of Solid Gold and Stone Rings, all of our own make, and our Plain Eighteen-Carat Rings; the latter are also our own make, and each Ring bearing our Stamp is warranted and guaranteed to be full Eighteen-Carat Fine by United States Mint Assay. We do not manufacture any Plain Gold Rings of a lower grade than Eighteen-Carat Fine.

Our stock of Silver-Plated Ware is composed of the very best and heaviest plated goods there are made, and the quality is always guaranteed. We make NO CHARGE FOR ENGRAVING Name, Initials, etc., on any article coming under this class, which includes Spoons, Forks, etc., etc.

In our Watch-repairing Department we employ the most skillful workmen, and are prepared to execute the most difficult and complicated work at the most reasonable rates. When Watches are sent to us to be put in order, we furnish estimate of cost of repairs needed, by return mail, if desired, and await final orders before putting any expense on them. All work warranted for two years.

Watches or Jewelry sent us for Repairs, or for other purposes (in order to insure prompt attention), should be accompanied (in same package) by letter of instructions, with full name and address.

We can make to order any special designs in Solid Gold or Silver Goods, and will furnish estimates of cost upon receipt of letter, which should describe as accurately as possible the articles desired, giving dimensions, etc. When possible, a Pencil Sketch (even if not an artistic representation) should be enclosed, in order to give us a general idea of what is required.

We issue new Catalogues on or about the 1st day of November in each year, and shall be pleased to mail our latest at any time and to any address (postage prepaid), upon receipt of application by letter or otherwise.

As there are many, no doubt, who are still unacquainted with the reputation of our house for fair and honorable dealing, we would cheerfully refer you to the agents or managers of any of the three Express Companies doing business in this city, viz.: AMERICAN EXPRESS CO., UNITED STATES EXPRESS CO., ADAMS EXPRESS CO.

Would also refer you to L. J. GAGE, ESQ., VICE-PRESIDENT FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF CHICAGO, or to ANY OTHER OLD ESTABLISHED BUSINESS HOUSE IN THE CITY.

Thanking you for past favors, and soliciting your future orders, we remain,

Very truly yours,

E. V. RODDIN & CO.

PRECIOUS * STONES.

THEIR LEADING CHARACTERISTICS, CHEMICAL COMPOSITION, &c., &c.

Diamond—The most precious of all Gems, has been known from early antiquity; the name adamant which signifies "The Indomitable," was given it by the Greeks on account of its excessive hardness. Its constituent principle and chemical composition is pure crystallized carbon. It possesses positive electrical properties, simple refraction, and its specific gravity is 3.6. There is no other stone or mineral substance that will cut or produce the slightest impression on the Diamond except another Diamond, hence they have to be cut by grinding them against each other, and the dust created by this process is used for polishing them. The Diamond producing countries are India, Brazil and South Africa. Notwithstanding the persistent attempts and countless costly experiments of the most celebrated chemists and scientists all over the world, especially during the last three centuries, to create the Diamond by artificial means, there has been absolutely nothing as yet produced that bears the slightest resemblance to the real stone. The "so-called imitations" that are frequently advertised under a variety of fancy names, such as "Alaska Diamonds," "Parisian Diamonds," "Lefever Diamonds," "Ophir Diamonds," &c., &c., are composed of a material called "Strass" or "Paste," which can only be distinguished from ordinary glass by the presence of about 50 per cent of Oxide of Lead among its constituents. The commercial value of these artificial productions ranges from twenty-five to fifty cents per dozen. There is such a strongly marked individuality or distinctive character to the Diamond, that when the eye once becomes accustomed to its wonderful refractive power, it can at a glance be readily and to a certainty distinguished from any other substance or stone without the aid of mechanical appliances.

Ruby. Sapphire. Emerald.—The chemical composition of these three precious stones is crystallized alumina, nearly pure with only faint traces of foreign matter, generally the Oxide of Iron. Their specific gravity ranges from 3.9 to 4.2, and all possess the singular phenomenon of double refraction. The Ruby ranks first for price and beauty among all colored stones; its color is the perfect red of the painter's palette. Pegu, in Asia, is the fatherland of these precious stones. The Sapphire varies in color from the deepest to the palest blue, but the choicest specimens are those in which the tint verges upon green. At the present day they are found in Arabia and the Brazils. The Emerald, when it is entirely transparent and possesses a green tint of a beautiful quality, is one of the most rare and precious of gems. The finest specimens are found in New Grenada and the Valley of the Harrach, in the Province of Constantine, Algeria. The Ruby, Sapphire and Emerald rank next in value to the Diamond in the order in which they are named.

Pearls—Are found in certain Salt Water Shell Mollusca that exist in all parts of the world, but the two regions that produce the most beautiful Pearls are the Persian Gulf and the Straits of Manaar, which separate Ceylon from the peninsula of India. Owing to their variable conditions of size, form and color, it is very difficult to establish their commercial value, but, those of considerable dimensions with a pure whiteness, showing a delicate reflection of azure, are very rare and of high price.

Opal—The Opal is chiefly formed of Silica, and although it has no color that can be called its own except a faint bluish tinge, analogous to the material of which it is composed, its true beauty and great value is owing to its being traversed by a multitude of fissures filled with air and moisture which reflect all the prismatic colors. Hungary and Mexico furnish the greater number to commerce at the present day. The affection that the ancients entertained for this beautiful gem was unbounded. The Roman Senator Nonnius preferred exile to parting with a brilliant Opal which Mark Antony coveted.

Aqua-Marine—Has the general composition and constitution of the Emerald, except that the color, a very light sea green, is much feebler, and, although an inexpensive stone as compared with the Emerald or Sapphire, it retains its brilliancy in artificial lights, a property which the Sapphire does not possess. Aquamarines are found in Brazil, Siberia and the Ural Mountains.

Moon Stones.—The composition of this popular stone is chiefly Silica, with a small proportion of Alumina and faint traces of the Oxide of Manganese; it has the curious property of emitting a beautiful silvery light from both sides in a perpendicular direction to the line of its axis. It is worn as an amulet by the Orientals to insure happy marriages and protect them from harm and danger, and is much esteemed for the good luck it is fancied attaches to the wearer.

Ceylon Pebbles—Are formed of Crystallized Silica and Oxygen; being extremely hard they are capable of receiving a very fine polish. They are very durable and always retain their original lustre.

Garnets.—There are two species of Garnets—the Oriental and Bohemian. The lustre and beauty of the Oriental Garnet places it far above the other in commercial value; the tint most esteemed is a violet red. It is composed of a double silicate of Lime and Alumina. They are found in Pegu, in Asia, Brazil and Ceylon. The Bohemian Garnet is composed of a double silicate of Alumina and Iron, and are found in great abundance in Bohemia, Saxony and other parts of Germany.

Turquoise—Is composed chiefly of Alumina; the blue color is due to the presence of a combination of phosphoric acid, copper and iron. Harmonizing well with Diamonds and Pearls makes it an object of some commercial consideration, but being very abundant does not reach a high price except in specimens of a very unusual size. They are found near Meshed, in Persia.

Onyx.—The Onyx is the most celebrated variety of all the variously tinted Agates. Those that exhibit marked contrasts of color in bands as black and white, or white and carnation red in alternate layers, are most desirable on account of the resources offered by it to the skill of the cameo cutter and engraver.

Amethysts—Are Crystals of Quartz of a beautiful violet color, and the finest specimens are found in the environs of Carthage, in Spain. The ancients believed that wine, when drank from an Amethyst cup, lost the power of intoxication; accordingly the attributes of Bacchus and Silenus are frequently found engraved upon ancient cups of Amethyst.

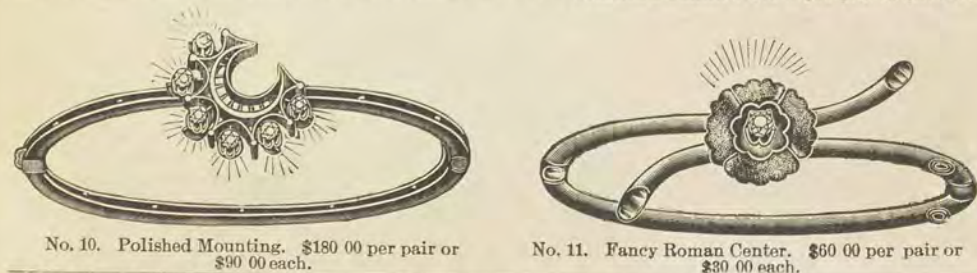

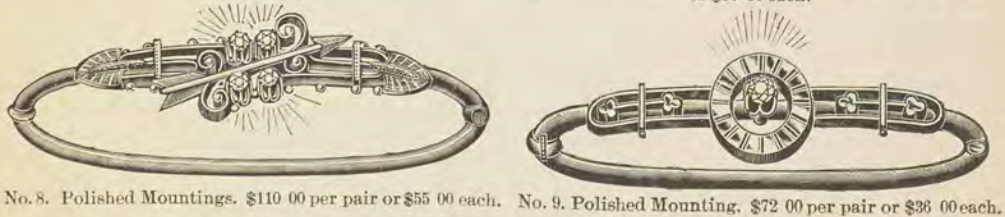

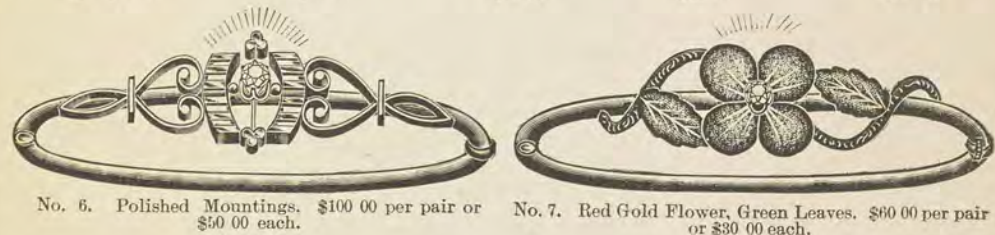

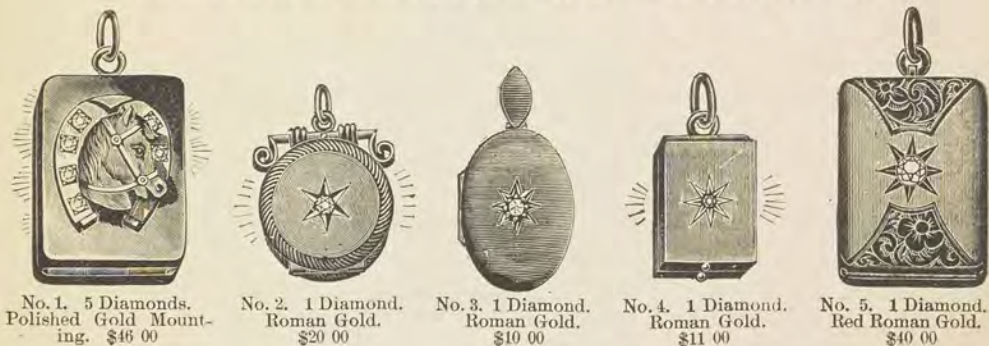

Doublets.—This mode of imitating the Ruby, Sapphire and Emerald can be traced back to the fifteenth century. It is done by taking a thin flake of Oriental Garnet for the top and a piece of Quartz for the bottom of the stone and uniting the two parts by means of a transparent cement, in which is incorporated a coloring matter in harmony with the stone that it is intended to represent. They are largely used in the manufacture of Jewelry and are rapidly increasing in popularity on account of their beauty and durability.

DIAMONDS.

OUR Stock of Diamonds comprises nearly all the latest and most fashionable and desirable styles in Rings, Lace Pins, Ear Rings, Ladies' and Gents' Scarf Pins, Collar Buttons, Studs, Bracelets, etc., etc., mounted in fine 18 and 14 Carat Gold. Making a specialty of this particular branch of the jewelry business, importing the stones direct and mounting them in our own factory, we are enabled to offer superior advantages in low prices, combined with first-class workmanship. All the Diamonds we quote are FIRST QUALITY, perfectly cut, free from defects and white in color. We do not deal in or handle any second quality, imperfect or off color stones. Will furnish designs and estimates for any special styles of Diamond work if you will describe the patterns and give sizes of stones required, and in order to convey as correct an idea as possible of the weights of Diamonds quoted in this Catalogue, we illustrate below the exact size of perfectly shaped stones weighing from 3-32 of a Carat up to 3 Carats as follows, viz.;

In case you do not wish to have package registered it will come under the head of Regular Mail, and the cost will be 10 cents less than the rates in either class, sealed or not sealed, as above, this being the actual cost of registering fee.

The articles marked with a star (*), on account of size and weight can be sent one in a package only.

In ordering bills of goods with several items, it is not necessary to calculate the postage on each article separately. The above figures are intended more to convey a general idea of what the cost would be.

Whenever more than is absolutely necessary for stamps is received, we always return the difference in package.

Very respectfully,

E. V. RODDIN & CO.
