

Civil Law - Law of the Land

Law of land, Land is different from each other, customs of the people who lives on a piece of land, different from each country.

Maritime Admiralty Law - Law of Water

Law of Money, money and banks are the same all over the world.

The money is the law of water.

Example_of_commerce_in_water:

"When a ship pulls into harbor, a ship is always female. Ship is always female, by law. Any type of ship is female. Because `she` delivers the product, without her you will not have any product. `She` is a term used for all ships.

When the ship pulls in to harbor it brings '800,000,000$' worth of products such as cars, television etc.

Everyone of these products must have its own certificate of manifest, because the ship was not here before. The ship just arrived here with 800,000,000$ worth of products, so it has manifested. So the `she`, the ship brought in 800,000,000$ worth of business.

So `she` came in on water, and where the ship parks is at the dock, and where ship sits is called "its birth". `She` is sitting in her birth, and `she` is producing a maritime admiralty product, because she came in on water. So therefore each product has to have its own certificate of manifest. Because `she` is giving birth to a product.

So therefore when you were born you came out of your mothers `water`, her water broke. And by law you are considered an maritime admiralty product. `She` delivered you, in the delivery room, `she` delivered the product. And so you came out of water you are an maritime admiralty product, so you have to have a "birth certificate". And the "birth certificate" has to be signed by the dock, because thats where the ship is sitting at.

And if you are born dead, they just lost a product."

If you own the car or the television or whatever it is you must know how much does it weight, what color is it. Does it have air conditioning? Is it a 2-door or 4-door. Is it Mexican or some other race of people. How much does he weight? Does he have both eyes? Does he have all fingers? These are all the vital signs a maritime admiralty product, because they are gonna sell you. They will have to know if the kid has two feet or not, because if he doesnt, it will be extra expensive. So YOU are a maritime admiralty product. And therefore you are being bought and sold around the world today. The security number on your original birth certificate goes directly to the Department of Commerce. And from the Department of Commerce they put that directly out on the stock market in New York City, and now people are buying and selling your body. And you dont even know it. You are worth 6,5 to 7 million dollar now on the New York stock exchange and you didnt even know it.

Further quote from Maxwell:

This is the type of stuff that most people dont know anything about, and there is a reason why most people have never heard any of this. Because it doesnt have anything to do with football. It has nothing to do with sports, basketball or any of that stuff that kids love to play.

You know thats what you always give the kid a ball. Tell the kid to go out and play ball.

"I dont care what ball. Basket ball, football, pingpong ball, golf ball. I dont care, get the damn kid out of here and let him play with a ball!"

Let them go out and play ball, and send some movie stars and send some of them chumps that we own. Send them out there and let them be on TV, so you can see them on the basketball game, they'll always show celebrities at the ball game.

Because that makes all the schmucks interested in going out with the movie stars and watch a ball game.

Because that makes all the schmucks more interested in going out watching a ball game. "Well not me, im going to get an education. I wanna know who's running this country. How it works. Who set up our goverment, and who gave us our religions. Where these religions come from.

The whole idea of Christianity is nothing more than a `sun` worship. The `sun` is our risen savior. Of course the `sun` is your risen savior. You dont own the `sun`, Africa doesnt own the sun. So who owns the `sun`? Well obviously God owns the `sun`, well its God's `son`. And God's son is the light of the world, of course the sun's the light of the world, what the hell else lights the Earth that isnt the sun? So God's `sun/son` lights the world, he's the light of the world, he is our `risen` savior. Of course he is your risen savior, if he doesnt rise you're dead in six weeks.

And the Egyptians said the sun gives off energy, and energy is life. Thats why you have the life of a battery. When the battery goes dead, no energy. So the Egyptians said the sun is pure energy. And its giving its energy to us so that we might live. So God's `sun/son` is giving his life, so you might live. So of course its the sun giving its life. Its giving its energy so that you can grow, and the plants can grow.

And once you begin to understand religion, where it comes from, the whole story of Jesus is nothing more than a metaphor. There was no Jesus, there was no Abraham, no Isaac nor Jacob. It was no Moses, no king Salomon. None of those people in the bible ever lived. These are metaphor's for something far deeper, that the ancient writers were trying to you in a methaphor. There's a symbolic story. And if you dont get the symbolism, you will go for your whole life and trouble. Because you didnt know how to read the symbols. You dont know whats really going on behind the scenes.

You drive down Los Angeles and you'll see all the spraypainting on the walls, you think its a bunch of kids that are destroying property. Those symbols mean something. And if you dont know what they mean you better stay out of their terrotiry. And so if you go on a bicycle ride on China, you better read the Chinese symbols, because you're gonna get killed if you dont know how to read the symbols. And thats what most people dont know anything about, how this world really in fact works.

But once you figure out how the courts work, how education works. Education is nothing more than a 12 step program.

Example:

"In one of the many ancient religions of Egypt was the religion of Horus. Horus was the sun in his rising. He was a God, God of the sun. And Horus walked across the sky in 12 steps. That was a 12-step program. Thats why alcaholics have a 12 step program. You have a 12-step program, you go to first grade to the twelfth, its a 12-step program."
