LIBER # 76 THE COOL ZEPHYRS BLOW

Personal & Confidential

SIXTH DEGREE

The International College of Esoteric Studies Inc., is a registered non-profit institution and exists for the purpose of disseminating information on the Traditional Esoteric Arcana. The lectures/instruction contained in this Liber comprise material which was previously delivered orally to an esoteric group and has subsequently been given to the College for its use. Under these circumstances the College does not claim to be the author or originator of the contents of this Liber which is distributed in good faith. This Liber is loaned, not sold, to the receiving member as an incident of membership, for personal and private study, and its acceptance by the student is an acknowledgement that it is being held in trust for the College and is to be returned to it upon request.

DEVOTED TO THE ADVANCEMENT AND MYSTICAL ENLIGHTENMENT OF MAN

Many students of the Mysteries, especially in this day and age, cannot understand why there seems to exist a forbidden knowledge. Why does authority suppress information on 'flying saucers'? Why have certain scrolls and tablets, which have been discovered in the last quarter century, remained unavailable for public examination? Why are the recent discoveries which refer to previous advanced civilizations being played down? and why do the public universities and colleges fight shy at the knowledge that lies outside the realms permitted them by statutory law? Why does everybody have to conform to knowledge and standards and be programmed into certain patterns of behaviour that perpetuates the worldwide idea of 'good and evil' - of 'politics', 'religion' and 'law'?

Why have the youth of today sought for an 'alternative society' - only to find themselves back into the 'rut' again? Not knowing that they sought in the wrong directions and were given false guide posts and certain 'doors' were being shut in their faces?

These are pertinent questions - yet how many have been affected by these same situations? The real answer lies in the great fact that an 'alternative society' has existed for thousands of years alongside and interpenetrating this world of false values which the average man experiences. Because its philosophies and systems are entirely opposed to the philosophies and systems of the false world it is greatly feared; thus all information, keys to its discovery, are suppressed along with a craving desire to extinguish every fact relating to its existence by the ruling prince of this world of darkness. Finally, because the greater majority of people in this world are constantly kept under an hypnotic spell by the lords of darkness they cannot possibly, under any fair circumstances, come to learn of the true realm of Light. This is the answer to all those questions previously asked.

One early writer, who was aware of this other society wrote, "Know you not, that to whom you yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants you are to whom you obey." (Romans, chap. 6 v.16) This means that one can only experience and reap the rewards of the way of life that he leads. Thus, if one follows the ways of a false society then he can experience nothing more than a life of suffering and frustration.

This manifesto comes to you from a ruling Prince of Light within this 'other Society'. This other kingdom, or 'spiritual domain', operates side by side, or interpenetrates the third dimension of what is known as the 'British Isles'. According to Ancient Tradition this would appear, from a researcher's point of view, that the ruling Prince Adept for this area on the planet is making himself known and felt. This information, given at this time, is felt necessary to those who are seeking it because there are difficult times ahead in the world and the pure and faithful lovers of the Light of Truth have need of protection and solace.

That confusion is to become evident on this planet as has never been witnessed before since the 'Flood' can be seen from a statement in our possession from a reliable source, we quote, "Therefore, from 1975, the 'Gods' (meaning the ruling hierarchy) have decreed that the best way to destroy the false vestiges of the wisdom is to make men mad and irrational in their search for themselves as the God incarnated in matter". Looking around now one can see it becoming more evident. So it is - those who are 'babes in the Light' will be openly vulnerable to the onslaughts from the false sources.

These islands have been, since the original Motherland was destroyed, a haven for advanced spiritual students and the Intelligent Hierarchy of this Solar System has maintained a Sacred Sanctuary that has remained hidden from the profane for many centuries. One of the best known, and popular, channels of information is contained in the story of Joseph. The former head of The Sanctuary for the Gnosis writes, "Sometime in 37AD there arrived on the west shores of England - possibly Avalon, the Isle of Apples, certain strangers of Culdich, 'guidam advenae' reportedly coming from Egypt. The leader of the strangers was known as Joseph of Arimathea, an Initiate of Serapis and Christos in Egypt." Further he states, "The Welsh Bards tell us that great scholars from Phoenicia, Egypt, Chaldea, India, Greece and then, finally Rome made pilgrimages to Britain to be trained in their wisdom and magical practices. It was therefore from Britain that the Torch of Civilisation was passed from them to other nations during the period of six thousand years according to Herodotus." Other ancient historians also support this claim.

Facts relating to the existence of a 'spiritual hierarchy' can be found in all the Scriptures, Sacred Writings and Mystical Teachings the world over. The Essenes revealed this fact in their Scrolls. The Essenes speak of 'the Realms of Light' and the Mystical Teachings hint at Great Light Energy Beings living in Universal Space. We know these Suns, Quasars, and Pulsars, etc. to be Intelligent Forces working to maintain Order in the Cosmos.

The quite ordinary truths have been grasped upon by 'priestly organisations', who classify themselves as 'religions' for the purpose of disguising the facts and presenting them in such a way as to appear 'spiritual', 'metaphysical', 'mystical' or 'theological' so as to keep a veil over the eyes of those who would investigate farther to discover that they did not need priests any longer. This 'cover-up' has been so effective that when an agent from the Real World comes to earth he is feared - called a 'crank' and treated with contempt by the worldly-wise.

Many incidents of beings from the higher 'Light Spheres' visiting earth are recorded in the aforementioned writings and a completely distorted ideas has been given about them by the present established religions and psuedo occult bodies. Impressions have been given that these 'beings' appear under strange circumstances, sometimes appearing as strange 'ethereal' creatures or establish some kind of psychic contact or use 'telepathic' or 'voice-transmission' methods to communicate.

If we are to believe that life in a united organism called the Universe - and much nearer home - our Solar System - then we should accept the fact that Intelligent Life is manifest throughout the whole system. Planets are merely areas of 'group consciousness' peopled by intelligences of like nature. At times beings from other areas come to Earth, in the usual manner, to maintain a balance of forces and energies throughout the system. This 'system' is referred to as the 'Hierarchy'. This 'Hierarchy' is not as one is envisaged by humans. Authority is not delegated like authority is dispensed in this world. There is a two-way system of 'giving and receiving' for the 'greater' beings are but higher permutations of individual 'minds' or states of consciousness. For example, a 'Sun' is sometimes called a 'Christ', and this 'Sun' is the sum total of all the 'minds', or 'individualities' within its own system and is aware of all activity, within this system, simultaneously. Lesser beings, governors of principalities for specific areas for activity, are Its emissaries, ministers, or princes, known popularly as 'Sons of God' comprise what is called the 'Hierarchy'. Many leaders of groups on this planet do not like the idea of this hierarchy and preach against it; but just as we cannot do anything about the Sun continually shining, we cannot do anything about the way the Universe functions.

The scriptures refer to this 'Hierarchy' as the 'Heavenly Kingdom'. Erroneous teachings are also given regarding this 'Heavenly Kingdom'. It has been taught that this is a state apart from man's natural existence and that entry is possible only at death or through the systems given by the particular religions. Systems of 'Communion' 'Masses', other rituals, 'Prayers', 'Meditations' and 'Hymn Singing' or other chants are used to keep the minds of people in an ignorant state, away from reality, and always dependant upon their 'spiritual pastors' and Masters unto whom they offer their servitude.

This 'Kingdom of Heaven' does not exist in another dimension of time and space. It has always existed in this same dimension as this so-called 'material' world and occupies exactly the same area, in time and space, in a three dimensional state. The wrong teachings regarding 'good and evil' have caused much human suffering such as wars and disease and have been perpetuated by an uninitiated priesthood who act in ignorance with their organised 'religions' and repressive dogmas.

This 'Enchanted Place' is a permanent state here and now. It has been here as long as man has been on the planet. It is a domain of Perfect Order, Peace, Love, Purity and Truth - it is the only state of Reality that exists in the whole Universe. Where there are vehicles prepared for Its reception - there it is and the right conditions are experienced within this three-dimensional existence. In these Isles as in other places on this planet, a state exists - the point where 'Heaven' meets 'Earth' - a true Sanctuary of the Sun, the Cosmic Christ. An incarnated being exists who is focalised to use the dissolving forces, solar powers, for the purpose of instituting the further processes of 'spiritualising' these islands so that once again the false teachings of men must cease and true order be manifest in this area. Whom are you going to serve? Are you prepared for a complete change of experiences? Is your life pure enough and free from 'worldly' philosophies to enter into the 'spiritual' dimension of these islands?

The present 'Church of England' is not the true successor of the Ekklesia instituted by Joseph as some are led to believe. It is merely a breakaway faction of the Roman Church and subscribed to the teachings of this when it broke away. Thus it is classified as 'Protestant' along with the other numerous sects that have continued in a breakaway process from the Church of Rome.

The Ekklesia - founded by Joseph - taught entirely different doctrines. The true church, or Ekklesia, in these islands comprised a synthesis of the existing Druid teachings and the up-dated information on the Christos teachings as was applicable to that day and age. Since many of the subjects taught are taught in the orthodox schools today, such as the arts and sciences, the established Ekklesia maintain the original solar doctrines and teachas them to suitable pupils. Because instruction can only be effective when orally given, benefits are thus only available to students who allow themselves to gravitate in our direction and are willing to undergo the training enabling them to become awakened Sons of Light.

Further quotes from the teacher who reinstated the ancient authority for the modern Chrestian Ekklesia.

"Pythagoras transmitted his authority and his knowledge acquired in the Mystery Schools to his immediate pupils who, in turn, by right of succession, gave it to their students. These eventually included Socrates and Plato. This authority was consequently passed on to the Platonic School which later joined with the school of the Electic Theo-Sophia originated by Ptolemy Soter, Pharoah of Egypt, in the third century B.C. Thus it came, legally, into the possession of the Chrestian Ekklesia, commonly called the Gnostics.

The term Gnostic, according to Koine Greek, means: "The Knowledge and Experience of the Things that are within the septenary nature of the Pleroma". There are two Paths open to the Gnostic: he may become erudite in all aspects of the Gnosis in the first place; this becomes the 'path of theory', which will then lead him into the 'path of action'. OR he may choose the Way of Life, wherein he seeks to become perfected in the Gnosis, which leads to Illumination or Oneness with God."

The Ancient Culdee Church were not referred to as 'christian' but 'chrestian' meaning good or gracious men and followers of 'the way' or walking in the path of 'righteousness'.

Julius Ceaser in 54 B.C. stated that the Druids teach the immortality of the soul and states that they regarded it as the main incentive for leading a pure and virtuous life.

Another writer said that they, the Druids, worshipped only One God. It is written that their motto was "The Truth against the World". In the Sacred Teaching this motto has much deeper significance.

The Culdee Church never accepted the Church Council of Nicea as does christendom today - thus showing that the dogmas and doctrines of the Roman Church are accepted as being the Ancient Catholic Doctrines. The Ancient Doctrines are Universal (truly Catholic) and harmonious with the Vedantic teachings of the East and hold within themselves the Secret Solar Knowledge which has never been divulged by any Initiate and therefore have never been written down.

The evidence supporting these claims can be found in the writings of Gildas AD425-512 who stated that "Christ, the True Sun, afforded His light, the knowledge of His precepts to our island in the last year, as we know of Tiberius Ceaser". This would be circa AD37.

The Chrestian Ekklesia maintained a pure form of Gnosticism. The established churches have sought to depreciate Gnosticism and have published many manuscripts claiming to be Gnostic which really were papers written, as text matter, on certain subjects upon which to base an entry into the realms that the present-day churches refuse to discuss - hence the loss of their authority as spiritual bodies. True Gnosticism attempts to prove Cosmic Truths by their application to practical everyday living and its speculative philosophies are based upon helpful inspirational writings that harmonise by Divine Logic to a state of Cosmic Order and Harmony.

The historian Suetonius refers to the followers of The Way as "Chrestians". Orthodox theologians were under the impression that it was probably his effort to record the name of Christ. This reveals their ignorance of many of the facts of early 'Christianity' - this is, however, mainly due to the attempts of orthodoxy to conceal ancient texts.

As proved by the late founder of the Chrestian Ekklesia this 'Church' are the legal and moral successors of the earlier 'Gnostic' schools of Serapis and Christos and it still maintains the ancient Solar teachings in their pure form under its present Overseer.

CLASSIFIED

THE CHRESTIAN EKKLESIA IN ANGLIA

The Chrestian Ekklesia in Anglia claims a true succession through from the Ancient Mystery Schools to the present day - including that of the early Celtic Church in Britain which stemmed, traditionally, from Joseph of Arimathea.

Support for the claim that Joseph was an Initiate of the Ancient Schools is this: upon the tomb, reputed to be his, is a Caduceus engraved upon it between the letters J. and A.. The Caduceus is still used in many of the Eastern Orthodox Churches showing their links with the former Messenger of God. Joseph's tomb is found at Glastonbury in Somerset.

The confusion regarding this history of the early Church lies in the fact that the "Followers of the Way", in those days, did not refer to themselves as "christians" and where the words "chrestian" or "chrestos" appeared in the original manuscripts the theologians and historians believed them to be mistaken forms of "christian" or "christos" and changed the words to suit. It is now known that the original terms were the correct ones and conveyed very definite meanings.

The Ancient system was based upon a still older tradition stemming from the pre-flood era. There were three grades of initiation

- a) CHRESTES, a hearer or learner for five years
- b) CHRESTOS, a knower for a further year, and
- c) CHRISTOS, or PERFECTED ONE.

According to Clemens - the CHRESTOS was "The Way" in the same manner as Jesus said that He was the Way. Whereas the CHRISTOS was the object of The Way.

Even as recent as John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, one finds in his sermons reference to the fact that, during one period of his life, he realised that he was only "almost a Christian".

The "Culdee" Church was later merged into the Established Church owing to many pressures being placed upon it and its true mysteries were, finally, covered over as the Church Political gained power.

The late Founder of the Sanctuary of the Gnosis writes: "In 1953, Richard, Duc de Palatine began the restoration of the Gnosis in this century under diverse designations culminating in the Brotherhood and Order of the Pleroma; first in England and then in the United States. Therefore, the Pleroma can rightly claim to be the moral and legal successor to the ancient Gnostic Philosophy beginning with Pythagoras. It is interesting to note," he writes, "that this claim was acceded to by the College of Propaganda of the Roman Church."

This same succession was passed on through the Pre-Nicene Catholic Church whilst the late founder of the Chrestian Ekklesia was in England and is, at this present time, operating under the protection of the Melchisedek Order.

What ever man does he can never suppress the channels of the Divine Mysteries. In every age there are those who come to us with the True Light shining from within their hearts. This is the Secret Church of Christ at work within the world.

This sacred School in Britain stands unique in the light of the facts mentioned and we feel that it can supply a great need during this period of great confusion by helping the true seeker for the Light to understand certain areas of spiritual knowledge that have been overlocked by the Established Church.

"Why, o earthborn man, have you given yourselves over to death when, within yourselves, you have the power of immortality? Repent, you who have walked with error and ignorance; go from darkness and corruption and receive your immortality."

Hermes Trismegistus

During this period when humanity is desperately trying to find answers to its problems, with seemingly nowhere to look for guidance, it behoves all those engaged in the task of enlightening others in Divine or Cosmic Truths to find a common ground for co-operation in their efforts.

There are numerous sects all claiming to be "christian" - yet on the arguments of dogmatic and doctrinal differences seek to maintain their "walls of partition" and will not even court harmony at the human level.

In the past the established church has waged wars against those who would not accept its creeds and, equally, those who disagreed with this church led campaigns of vehement opposition. All this argument and differing opinions is unnecessary when really everybody is claiming to follow "the way".

It cannot be denied that the established church and all the breakaway sects are, at the very basic level, trying to live by the standards put forth in the New Testament teachings and no-one can deny that all those who love God and follow His teaching are His, by adoption, who or wherever they might be. What are the basic and essential marks of a true follower of the way? Let us look at what Jesus says in the Gospels and what the writings of St. Paul say. "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them that despitefully use you, and persecute you that ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans the same? Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." (Matthew chap. 5, verses 44-48) "But if ye be led by the Spirit, ye are not under the law. Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these: adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings and such like But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy peace longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance; against such there is no law." (Galatians chap. 5, verses 18-23)

Could one have the basic teaching spelt out more clearly than this? Which church or group can claim complete adherence to these tenets? Who can point a finger at who? Following the truth of God is shown not to be in organisations, ceremonies, ordered prayers and hymns; but in a pure heart and mind that is wholly acceptable only to the Father.

All churches and groups can be agreed at this level for it is in the observance of this teaching that the human family can work together as a harmonious unit helping and guiding those who fall short of their responsibilities to the family. Only when the fruits of the Spirit are attained can the Heavenly Father establish His rule here on Earth. To try to force these standards by political legislation is of no avail for Our Father is the Intelligence that governs all things and He does not allow His ways to be infringed upon by the actions of human beings. Even though the church tries to suppress the breaking forth of a new Light, a further revelation of His Truth, He will continue to send His messengers who will finally draw all men from outworn institutions resulting in their final collapse. To those who believe in the Power of God - who would dare to oppose Him?

The Christian Church is desperately trying to prove the historical existence of Jesus whilst others are trying to prove otherwise. If they have been teaching and believing the same doctrines for nigh on two thousand years, what is that which is creating fear in this time? Why all the doubts and uncertainties?

If we remain true to the practicing of His continued Presence why are we worried because we see the churches empty?

It matters not whether He "walked upon England's mountains green" or lived to a ripe old age and was buried in India. Those are trivial matters and will not help us to understand the deeper mysteries of His Love at work in our lives and His Wisdom in the working out of human affairs. Again, on the one hand, we see the devotees of one religion working diligently to further the sayings of their Teacher, or Leader - for example, the Buddhists seek to propagate the Doctrines of Buddhism because they can see that what he, Gautama, taught would bring release from pain and suffering. On the other hand the Christians believing that they have had a special revelation from God in the person of Jesus Christ try to spread his message in the hope that one day all the Earth will become christian.

There must come a time in this situation when certain barriers appear that will prevent either cult fulfilling their aims. These barriers are the human, or mortal, elements attributed to man himself. Furthermore, the error is perpetuated by believing that a revelation of Truth can come from only one "Son of God" or Messenger of Truth. In each case the fault lies in believing that disciples have understood the true content of what the Teacher has meant. One has to learn that any great transmitter of Divine knowledge knows that such terms as wisdom, truth, harmony, peace and love are not the private property of any particular school; but are terms used to describe, although inadequately, the nature of the Universal Intelligence we call God.

The fruitfulness of the vine lies in the quantity and quality of the fruit it has produced from within itself and not from anything it has gathered from the outside.

Many students of the Way are looking for the Kingdom of Heaven to appear outside of themselves. They are looking for a "new world order", a "new age", amidst this confusing materialistic world; but because the Great Teachers have assured us that it is not to be found out there we are simply wasting our time and we are never going to find it. Our environment cannot be changed until we discover the location of Perfect Order within ourselves - the heart of all manifestation.

There is the danger, too, of engaging in certain theological discussions regarding doctrines and historical facts. Whether, or not, there was a Jesus the real power lies in the application of the teaching itself. Because of this the Elders of this Order state that we are not here to prove the identity of historical personalities. The Great Teachers abhorred the adoration of their persons.

It is because these Teachers revealed the Cosmic process of unfoldment and release from the materialistic world systems, in their lives, that we who order the schools to which they, themselves, belonged ask our students to regard, for their own sakes at this stage, all scriptures as purely allegorical and "mythical". It is really the Love and Righteousness expressed in one's life which determines the reality of the Kingdom of Heaven in one's experience on Earth.

Not until the disciple has relinquished all claims to his earthly status, possessions, thoughts and actions can he be truly transformed into a Child of Light. Our science and philosophy is not drawn from the knowledge and experience of this world; but is founded in that Truth which has been before the world was. That is why it is difficult for the "worldly rich" man to enter our state of consciousness.

T. B. Whitney, in his little book "The Way of Melchisedec", writes "Melchisedec, then is the way of the Son's oneness with the Father. The Levitical priesthood were in office for a time only; they were offering atonement for the sins of the people of God as Creator. Where at-one-ment is made between the Father and the Son there is no sin to be atoned for. The Son of God does not sin, has no disease, and never dies. When once this consciousness is attained, The Christ is formed in us."

To you, the disciple of Light, this means that, if you have fulfilled the way of right living it is now possible to enter in to the greater permutation of consciousness wherein you can glimpse your permanent and real state of being - not by your own efforts but by the power of the Christ allowed to work within you.

The real, and only valid, way to achieve what has come to be called "Christ-Consciousness" is to strip one's self of all reliance upon sensual evidence - or in other words - one must not accept the facts as they appear in this physical world. Because that which is already Real and True of 'God' and the Universe is here and does not need to be brought into experience - so, after you have "Cleansed" yourself of your personal attachments, discover that Self which is really you. The real work lies, then, in a "watchfulness" and a continual serving at the altar of truth within the mind and heart of the disciple. When the demands of materialism cease to tempt him he becomes a priest forever - warding off the false claims of materialism for others.

"Thou art Peter - The rock upon which the Mystical and True Church of the Cosmic Christ is built."

Peter - the Sacred Monogram of the only true Initiator. The qualities of Purity, Truth and Righteousness are the necessary requirements of him who dares to stand on the threshold of the way to the within - the Hallowed Sanctuary of the true Self - the I Am of all Creation.

Before Time and Space became apparent there was, and still is, that which transcends all Creation, all Revelation, and yet remains uncomprehended and untouched by the grossness of activity. It then looked upon the reflected Light of It's own glory and the worlds became revealed to consciousness, or were born - yet the worlds were but reflections and contained no reality for they ceased to be when the Light was withdrawn.

Out of that Self-Activeness of the Ineffable - the Only One Self-Existent and Self-Completed One emanated Seven Sons - the sevenfold facets of It's Own Reflected Light - yet Its Own Light remained uncomprehended to Itself, for It could only know Itself by virtue of the observation of the reflection of Its own Purity and Glory.

Thus - all that which we perceive here in this illusion of time, space, form, colour and active life is but the reflection of the living Ideas in the One Consciousness. When the Ineffable ceases to reflect upon Its own Ideas all creation ceases to be and He remains intact and sufficient unto Himself.

Man is the generic term for God's Word which is True of Himself. Man as a whole unit is the Son of God - the Christ. The Christ is God's Perfect Idea of Himself. God and His Son, therefor are one and the Same Being.

God becoming revealed in Conscious Activity is Father-Mother in Principle proceeding into manifestation as Son-Daughter as reflections of His Own Glory.

God, as Father, impregnates His Own Mind, His Objective Self and Mother, with His own life, creation, and this becomes His own Offspring: Christ-Maria. (The own Sun as supporter of His world.) Thus God is His own Mother and, or of, His own Offspring.

".....You are raised up and do triumph by reason of what has been done for you. Ptah has overthrown your enemies for you according to the promise." (Book of the Coming Forth by Day) These words would sound familiar to "Moses" as he shared in the mysteries of the Egyptians. Similar words were echoed by Jesus centuries later. The true meaning of a resurrected life has been known since man has been known.

The redeeming power of God's Truth has always been available to man in every age and country. Those who cling to outmoded beliefs in personalities are not obeying the words of those whom they profess to follow. Many followers of certain faiths believe that they cannot be perfect - yet Jesus told his followers to be perfect - this leaves no room for human excuses. God told Abram to be perfect - what more can a man be than perfect? Nothing can be higher than perfection so we should strive to realise our perfection in God.

The great prophets of old maintained and taught the Eternal Truths to men. Sects are born out of a desire to follow a person. To come to know what the truth about life is one has to free himself from all human attachments and opinions or suppositions. Even written scriptures can be misunderstood. The "Christ" or "Messiah" is the redeeming power of the Truth of God and Man and is not a person - not even Jesus, Moses, Buddha or Krishna. The Son of God is he who fulfills the Universal Truth of God in his life. "Beloved now are we the sons of God" (1 John chap. 5 verse 1).

The reward of him that overcomes the false suggestions of the world is again re-echoed in the words of Jesus in St. John chap. 16 verse 33. "I have overcome the world." Organised religion, whilst it has certain uses, refuses to grow and falls into the snare of materialism. The true sons of God go forward accepting the challenge in Hebrews chap. 6 verses 1 - 3. We, as God's sons, must also become priests in the eternal Order of Melchisedek.

That the everpresent power of the redeeming certainty of God's Truth has always been with us can be discovered by a careful study of all scriptures as far back as our present written history is available. You need not look farther than the Old Testament here so take up this book and check the following :
(Compare similar incidents in the New Testament.)

First of all note that the Rock of Truth is nothing to do with "St. Peter" in the New Testament or of God's church on earth. See Deuteronomy chap. 32 verses 1 - 4.

These promises have always been available. They were even at that time. Man fails to realise that the world in which he lives is but a reflection of his own thoughts and actions.

On Prayer Jesu's prayer is addressed directly to the Father (Matthew 6 : 9 - 15). To pray to "saints" or anybody other than God is idolatry.

The Holy Spirit Numbers 11 : 24 - 25 compare with Acts 2 : 1 - 4
Also Note. The "Messianic" chapter in Isaiah (53) is written in the past tense !

The Right Conditions for one following the Truth Mark 4 : 11 - 12
Matthew 7 : 21 - 27 and 19 : 16 - 26

The truth of the resurrection and restoration to wholeness was taught before the Flood - enacted in the Temples of Egypt. Protected by "Moses" and made available to the greater mass of people by Jesus. The real truths have been preserved by the Priests of Melchisedek. Not by the priesthood within the organised church.

It is difficult for the worldly-minded to conceive of a state wherein doctors, psychologists, sociologists and politicians are un-necessary, and the established church, appears worldly-minded on this, but, nevertheless - such a state is available here and now. Human knowledge - no matter how intelligent or profound it might appear - is, as the great teachers say, nothing more than "learned ignorance".

Prophecy of the New Community 1 Corinthians 3 : 16 - 17
Ephesians 2 : 20 - 22 Hebrews 8 : 2 and 10

The Qumrum Scrolls prophecy that it would be Melchisedek who would come in the days of fulfilling. Jesus attained the office of High Priest according to this highest Order, and so His work is to reveal, unto His co-workers, the consummation of their efforts to live by His standards. This day is now.

When the revelation was made regarding the Messiah two thousand years ago few accepted the message and today, when His fore-runners are heralding the reality of His ruling presence on this planet, we trust that more hearts are ready for a deeper realisation of God's power.

The Order of Melchisedek is no false dream - a "modern invention", a supposed faction of religion - aliens from space. It is an integral unit within the Divine System guiding sincere followers of the Truth on to the Perfection and Fulfilment of God's promise to man and we know it is difficult to prove a prophecy until it has happened; but if that which is to come to pass is of great importance to the recipient it comes too late, and is overlooked, if it overtakes him when he is unprepared. The story of the wise and foolish virgins show this to be true. If you have been patiently waiting for a new revelation of God's Truth and feel that something must happen anew to you then be sure that you are not put off because a new Light does not appear as you have been conditioned to believe how it should. The Gospel stories show that the people of Jesu's time were expecting a New Light which conformed to their way of expectation; but when God moves He does not act according to the desires and hopes of mortals. God moves and reveals His Truth in a way that is to help you become more aware of His Relationship to you and not in any way that is to your material advantage. He is interested only in His Son born and nourished within your heart - and when you have put off the false dreams of your own making, His Perfect Son stands revealed in His Kingdom on Earth. For you this can become literal Truth here and now with the help of this ministry.

A G A P É

"The highest of all forms of love - that which is most commonly associated with spirituality and absorption into complete comprehension of the Cosmic Force - is AGAPÉ. AGAPÉ is that love of which Master Jesus spoke, for agapé cannot be attained without the transcendence of the illusion of isolated ego-identity. It is the experience of all as One. Agapé is the realisation that there are but two forms of existence within the entire spectrum of Being - Love, and the absence of love - for this Love is akin to the Light of Illumination. It is the Love that is complete, and all other forms of Love are but shadows of it."

Truth does not change to suit changing political climates or the opinions of "liberated" humans. Truth is that very Principle by which the Universe was established and by which quality it is maintained. This is the Divine Knowledge as taught by all the Great Teachers who have revealed that the already established Laws within the Cosmos cannot be revoked.

In spite of all man's efforts to deal with his problems here on the earth. In spite of his various disciplines he must fail to bring about a happy integrated society unless he allows himself to be guided by the already established Cosmic Principles and not to rely upon his continual policy of experimental suppositions.

The Laws which enable us to live together as a healthy, happy and whole community were already in existence before humans appeared on the Earth - so it is only in ignorance that human beings struggle for the answers to all their problems.

The only way and the right attitudes have been taught to mankind by the Great "Spiritual" Teachers that have appeared from time to time in different countries and have left proof of their teachings by the concrete evidence of the power demonstrated in their lives. Yet, in spite of all this evidence, it seems that the earth's inhabitants prefer to invent theories of their own and be lead headlong into a turmoil of human conflict and suffering.

The proof of the profound Love of the Universal Intelligence, the Divine Parent, for Its own, in spite of the apparent waywardness, is expressed in the scriptural text attributed to Jesus, "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which killest the prophets, and stonest them that are sent unto thee; how often would I have gathered thy children together, as a hen doth gather her brood under her wings, and ye would not!" Luke chapter 13, verse 34. The existing great Religions maintain their authorities from written manuscripts, scriptures, that contain the teachings which have been remembered and written down by disciples of the religion, or system, stemming from the Teacher, Prophet or Founder of that particular sect.

As all Creation is the Emanating Consciousness, in varying degrees, of the Prime Source these Teachers received their knowledge from Intelligent Beings operating within a "higher" state of Cosmic Awareness. This is the Divine Hierarchy spoken of in the Scriptures. Each Teacher has his own system of "Oral Teaching" which is never known, or revealed by the disciples, outside of the Teacher's own "Ekklesia". These teachings cannot be written down because they affect the disciple differently in his own individual case.

This Spiritual Hierarchy (we call it Spiritual so as to distinguish its mode of function from systems operated by humans) has always been in operation and will remain so until mankind has graduated from this earthly existence to an awareness of Divine Sonship.

The Secret Doctrines of Israel and the Christos are revealed in the teachings of the Order of Melchisedek an order of conscious "Sons of God" which has worked secretly and powerfully behind the scenes through centuries of varying degrees of religious beliefs. We say the "Order of Melchisedek" because this is how it has come to be known in the West by many well-known mystics. It is known by other names in other areas of teaching. The term "Israel" causes much confusion in the minds of many students. To us it does not refer to any particular nation but to the spiritually elect of God. As an example let us quote Jesus in "The Gospel of the Perfect Life". "And one said unto him, 'Lord wilt thou at this time restore the Kingdom of Israel,' And Jesus said, 'My kingdom is not of this world, neither are all Israel which are called Israel. They in every nation who defile not themselves with cruelty, who do righteousness, love mercy, and reverence the works of God, who give succour to all that are weak and oppressed - the same are the Israel of God.'"

The Order of Melchisedek is representative of those made perfect through the Christ (see Hebrews chapter 6, verses 1-3)

In the Qumran Scroll, classified as 11Q Melchisedek, it asserts that Elohim is already in command of His People. This scroll also proclaims that in the Jubilee Year His own Sons shall be freed from worldly attachments. The "Jubilee Year", to the sincere seeker, refers to that period of fulfilling all the necessary requirements to ensure "salvation". Striving to attain maturity by following the way the blessed ones arrive at the consummation of that which is promised in Christ. Now at the "Capstone" of their work they become perfect in Him and enter into the priesthood not made at the hands of men but ordained by God for the service of Him in this dark world. This, the Order of Melchisedek, is that order of the Divine Government of God in the Cosmos - Order in its truest sense.

The true Ecclesia of Christ, or Church of Elohim is, therefore, not an organisation consisting of priests conducting services which includes rituals with congregations in attendance saying prayers and singing hymns. It is those beings, who, with the love and knowledge of God written in their hearts live to reflect His Light in this world. A true Son of God is one whose Love, Purity and Righteousness is his NATURAL state.

It is God's Love which requires every human to become transformed into an immortal Son of God. This way is open to all who are sincere and who are not afraid to forsake everything to achieve it. Looking around in the world today it is plain to see that this is the time of reaping what has been sown in the past. No-one can escape his rewards - whether they be good or bad. Enter the path of holiness now so that you might build anew for the future.

The Scriptures of Judaism, Christianity and of all great religions, the world over, contain the mythical, metaphysical and historical backgrounds of their founders. Also all scriptures contain the records and stories of successive holy men, or saints, their explanations of the teachings and their individual experiences of Truth.

In this light, no one religion possesses anything different from the other. Neither can one claim more authority or better teachings than another. This kind of thing leads to sectarianism, divisions and even war. It is also in error to believe that a founder of a religion is the sole possessor of Divine Authority and that there has been only one inspired "Son of God" or that a certain Great Religious Teacher is the only "World Teacher". The only World Teacher is God's Own Revelation of His Truth to man by whatever means He chooses. We should not worship Jesus, Gautama, Krishna or Mohammed or any of the saints. Jesus, himself, said "He that believeth on me, believeth not on me, but on Him that sent me" (St. John 12 : 44). Our devotions should be, solely, committed to the First Cause - the Only One Intelligence which reveals the Teachers and all things to man. That which is True of the Universe has ever been so and ever will be so in spite of man's changing hypotheses in respect to life, its origins and future. Regular set prayers and rituals do not allow the mind to move towards wonderful new horizons, and set creeds and dogmas keep one firmly cemented in materialism. The Universal Intelligence is not subject to our whims and fancies neither does It regard our acting as priests or missionaries on Its behalf, not does It smile benignly on our efforts to appease "Him". Such efforts of man are based upon the error of equating God with human traits.

The Universal Intelligence is changeless, deathless, infinite and perfect in all that It reveals or emanates. We try to define Divine Qualities by way of our limited senses and hence give rise to finite forms. It has been said that the Universal Intelligence, God, acts like a Father and this is indeed so because He sends all "good" to ^{His children in} His Divine Compassion for us being trapped in the illusions of our own making. The greater fact is that because all expressed is Him and Himself in manifestation it would be in error to suppose that He, or It, acted in any way unfavourable to Himself. Thus because we, as mankind, are, in reality, His very Life and Expression it must follow that we are of His Nature and incapable of death and suffering.

Suffering is the result of identifying ourselves with our own self-asserted opinions of what we believe life to be instead of resting in the Way That It IS. Because there is only the One Life it follows that we all share in this equally and "you" or "I", as seeming individuals, are, in truth the total expression of this Life and It is the Only True Self that we desire to know.

"If," says the Buddha, "only the Reality exists there can be only the banishment of the unreal." "Westerners" have misunderstood the meaning of the state of Nirvana. It means the destruction of that which is believed to be real and cannot possibly mean the destruction of Truth Itself. The Holy Bible and the Bhagavad Gita claim that this God can never be destroyed or be different from what He has ever been.

When St. Paul, in the Christian Bible, states that there is "Only one God who is Father of All" and "in whom we live, move, and have our being" it is not different from the Buddha stating "All there is is the Reality" or in the "Tao Te King" which refers to the "all-pervading Tao in which all things depend for life"; or the Bhagavad Gita teaching that "I give life to all form".

The student might wonder at this point "What is the practical value of this kind of knowledge?"

The answer lies in the fact of the knowledge itself because when one becomes consciously aware of the stability of Truth and relies on the All-pervading presence of the Divine Intelligence he realises that there is nothing to fear or worry about and eventually one is able to prove the illusory nature of all human suppositions. One does not have to concern oneself about "the fall of man" or about disease and death because he comes to learn the way of freedom from all this and knows how to rest forever in the Eternal.

In an Eternal, beautiful and pure life we cannot consider time and space in relation to It. In our work to release ourselves from the unnatural state we should not allow the claims of human knowledge, and worldly sciences, to deter us. Human knowledge is transient, unreal, and possesses no truth or substance. We belong to That Which IS. The legend of the "Sons of God" is no myth. What has happened is that man's true state has been obscured by false beliefs and opinions.

All that which appears as death, suffering and discord is called "Illusion" - it can also be called a false dream or evil. It is therefore, this "evil" which is to be, and can be, destroyed. This is the allegorical battle of the "flesh" warring against the "spirit". It is written that man is made in God's image. This cannot mean the physical body because it is associated with mortality and death. God cannot die because He is the Eternal Mind, or Spirit - so man must be eternal spirit also !

It is impossible for God to die or suffer and this is true of man. The world of pain and suffering must, therefore, be no more than a false dream and possesses no power over man. Why did Jesus heal sickness if it is a natural state? and why did He seek to overcome the "world" if it was our true state - or something God had created? The Great Teachers point out the uselessness of trying to change the world. We cannot experience changes for the better until we change ourselves. Some followers of religion teach that God lets us suffer in order to teach us lessons or to learn to know Him better. This does not appear to be the method of a Loving Heavenly Father !

Jesus, Gautama and many others showed man how to become free from this world of pain and suffering and proved its falseness by revealing the Reality of Life. Conception of evil becomes easier to destroy when one realises its nothingness. The Tibetan Buddhists tell us that pain and suffering can be banished like "snowflakes falling into boiling water."

There were special centres on the Earth during the period of the Egyptian Mysteries and whilst the existing temples received their instructions from these centres they were not necessarily part of the then official "set-up". When the Egyptian temples were closed in the fourth century (Circa 384 by Theodosius) orthodox christianity took over and the Higher Priesthood was severed from the church - and so it is to this day.

The Mediterranean area provided much of the basic material used in the reorganised religion of Christianity. Plato and Pythagoras are said to have learned their knowledge from the Egyptian priests and much of our western thought is attributed to these great Greek "thinkers".

The existing Roman Catholic Church has its system based on much the same lines as the ancient Egyptian system, with its journeys to stations and various festivals. It can be learned from existing historical data that little has changed except for the terminology.

Such symbols as the Bread and Wine, the Cross, Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh are pre-Christian - therefore the present churches possess no right to claim them as unique to their own particular faith. The gospel of St. John is also a restatement of the older teachings brought into line with the christian doctrines - for example, the God Ra of the Egyptians is said to have created the world by speaking the "Word of Power".

Melchisedek is the great initiate from whom we all receive the concept and possibility of attaining the status of perfection whilst still in the flesh. Thus it was that in the teachings of Jesus a system was hinted at wherein one might attain this state - not by beliefs, doctrines and regular religious practices - but by total subjection to the Will of God.

St. Paul describes Jesus as being a priest "after the order of Melchisedek" (see Epistle to the Hebrews) and he, Jesus, acted as the revealer of the way and guardian of its mysteries. St. Paul provided us with the keys to the subtler points and indicated the wide divisions between that which is doctrinal and that which is the reality itself. From the point of view of the Melchisedek teachings the doctrines and dogmas of religion are nothing more than continual reminders of our obligations and these often fall short of that which was originally intended so if this is understood we are able to keep them in their right perspective.

We should try to remember that this consciousness of perfection cannot be, in any way, manipulated or influenced to be any more than what it already is. What takes place during any ritual, religious or otherwise, is a work with the energies already released from the nucleus of every one of those present. The true experience of God actually stems from communion with the "nucleus" itself - and this is only possible when impressions through the senses are known for what they are worth.

This process must be maintained continually - or as far as it is possible by the adherent - however, one does find that after a while this consciousness takes over and directs one's life of itself.

Do not run away with the idea that the senses are not important - in truth they are very important. One does not have to "kill out" or deny the senses for these are your "sacred vessels" through which you give expression to the power radiating from within so as a priest of the higher consciousness it is your responsibility to keep them clean and pure. The purer we are able to maintain our senses the more can our inner life reveal itself and transform the other atoms and cells of our bodies. During this process our bodies become a more effective "filament" for the Light to dissolve the impurities produced, in the world of effects, by those who live in the "shadows". In the light of this knowledge we fulfill our everyday responsibilities to our fellows, we do our jobs correctly, do honest business without becoming involved in the effects thus the power from our "inner sanctuary" radiates through every action without our personal intrusion into it.

A priest in a church is bound by the rules of his church and his thoughts and actions have to revolve solely around the doctrines and dogmas but a priest of this order is free from such obligations for he knows that THAT to which he belongs touches the hearts of all men and leaves him free to mix as the "spirit" moves him. We also know that THAT to which we contribute is THAT to which all men are seeking - and that which we know we are is that which all men must eventually become.

We have heard much talk as to what form the "new religion" will take. Some say it will come as a unification of all the present religions. Some are saying this and some are saying that and many are chasing unfruitful ends in work such as "church unity" to bring this about. Let us look at this differently. Since this Intelligent Light Energy, or what you will, has Its own inherent pattern - which eventually will take form - is aware of what It is Itself and what It is about, It will therefore give Its own expression to men and women who are in harmony with Its pattern. As we have mentioned before - this Intelligence cannot be moved or influenced to do anything that is apart from It fulfilling Its own will. Therefore to attempt to create a channel, or way for expression for It, by human means is a waste of energy. If we want to share in Its plan it is we who have to deal with ourselves and place ourselves at Its disposal and on Its terms. So also, a priest ordained by men is not necessarily a priest in the eyes of God - it is only the person who is directed by the Will of God who is one to be reckoned with.

That which is called Extra Sensory Perception, E.S.P. for short, from our point of view is another source of extraneous knowledge because it is only a means of gaining information from the higher or lower frequency ranges of the senses and information gained thus is unreliable in respect to the truth of Reality. What one who has developed the ability of E.S.P. does is to get more insight into the world of effects and whilst this might be very interesting it still leads one away from the Source wherein the secret of life lies.

What has actually taken place in the development of E.S.P. is this:- In a "normal" way our senses are receptive to only a limited range of the life, or light spectrum. Our eyes are responsive to one octave of the light frequencies. Our ears are only responsive to a short range of sound waves and in like manner our feelings, or touch, are limited. Thus we are only aware of form and expression according to the receptive quality of our organs. By various exercises it is possible to "hot-up" our sensual organs so as to make them acute to frequency ranges outside their "norm" and awareness of the rarer fields of matter is achieved. By this method one becomes more conscious of the expressive nature of the universal soul only and does not as some believe, provide any clues to that which takes place at the Source or that centre from which the essence of life stems. Because impressions through the senses must take on some kind of form - or in sound, taste or smell etc. the impressions gained through E.S.P. can only be thus.

The Divine Centre of things, in a manner of speaking, is abstract to the senses and therefore cannot be perceived by them so we are limited to describing it by abstract descriptions only.

Power from the Source can only be allowed to flow when our attention is fixed on an abstract conception. This automatically by-passes the senses and the life from within reveals itself in our experiences.

In the practice of pure religion this works out by maintaining an unwavering faith in the reality of the "Abstract Principles" under all circumstances in spite of what evidence the senses present, - then, and only then will the full glory of the truth be manifest.

To become a "Priest of the Most High God" is all a matter of fulfilling the principles laid down. It is in error to suppose that this priesthood such as was achieved by Jesus, is an honour bestowed on certain individuals. No great teacher has indicated that he was specially selected or a chosen instrument. The mistake, by students, lies in the fact that if they believe this attainment impossible it leaves room for a wide area of excuses for personal weaknesses and let themselves off from the many pitfalls by assuming "Well it is only human nature".

This "human nature" attitude gets us nowhere and shows that a total misunderstanding exists of this so-called "human nature". To argue that Adeptship, or Mastership, is only a calling of the "few" leaves, by our own will, the Earth with precisely that amount - a few. Perfection is the goal of humanity and as long as we delay this we virtually hold creation in suspense - such is our responsibility. Man, by his falsity, actually draws across his own vision the temple veils to hide it from view and dares him who would tear them away to reveal the light.

This noble office of priesthood is offered freely from the inner sanctuary - to him who will walk in from the outer courtyard with a pure heart. He will take with him wherever he goes the "Sacred Ark of God" and remain a priest forever.

Anthropologists now tell us that man has been on this Earth some four million years. Aztec records tell us that there has been three great civilisations on this planet and that our present one is the fourth - stemming from the "Deluge" around ten to twelve thousand years ago.

In spite of all this, in spite of all the great Spiritual Teachers we have had - the numerous schools and groups at present in existence, man has not yet solved the problem of that which he refers to as "Evil". Thousands still suffer pain, suffer lack, loneliness and frustration. It would appear that in spite of all that which the Spiritual Teachers tell us a state of harmony, wholeness and peace on Earth is but a dream of the future.

The Spiritual Quest is a personal one and "evil" can only be destroyed by eliminating it from our consciousness. A formidable task - yes - but unless one is prepared to live a disciplined and moral life he cannot achieve his complete realisation as a Son of God. His latent dishonesties, hates, wrong views will bound him and cloud his vision until he either submits to the pure consciousness or is transformed into an "animal". One has only to study the history of so-called "great men" to see what we mean.

Would it not seem that, if reincarnation were a fact, that we, as those earth's peoples over again, have failed to learn, or progress, over the area of time?

The answer to all these problems lies in the great Truth that this world of appearances in which we seem to live is as false and unreal as ghosts are to unbelievers.

Is there any way of realising this? Through the ages there has been schools set aside, on various parts of the globe, for the purpose of training pupils to develop a state of mind that enables them to see what is Real and what is Unreal in the Cosmic Scheme. They are taught that all that is witnessed through the window of the human senses is based upon mere assumption and that human sciences are based upon unreliable hypotheses.

There is a fixed Principle throughout the whole Universe and this Principle is the very nature of that Intelligence behind and governing all things - and this Great Intelligence cannot be influenced in any way by human whims or fancies - neither does It conform to standards set up by human beings.

Once a person comes into a direct understanding of this Truth he is able to align himself with this Principle and come to know his own Eternal nature.

Many groups, sects and even the larger religious organisations teach this Principle in garbled and much misunderstood language; but really it is a Power which cannot be taken lightly or regarded as non-existent. This is, in very Truth, the only real Power in the universe and that to which humans cling is, in very Truth, a transient non-entity. In one moment of the Universal Intelligence's wavering of Itself - man's world is no more - not even his own brand of religion or truth,

Therefore, the sincere student of God, or whatever name it be given, should strive to understand the true nature of the Universe. In this respect he should not confine himself to what he sees and hears via the human senses. He should come to learn that there are many, and greater, things to be discovered in the realms of mind far beyond the reaches of the human senses and that he is really and truly under Higher Powers that can reduce his own theories to nought. Such an approach filled with humility and respect is required of the student before he can know his spiritual nature.

The majority of spiritual students believe in the real presence of Good and Evil. The Son of God knows that the human understanding of Good and Evil is a theory based on supposition only - that the world in which pairs of opposites appear is just a dream world which can be transcended by seeking to know that which is Permanent and without change.

The Real, or True, Good that we speak of has NO opposite - it is an existing state of consciousness that knows not Good or Evil, as humans know it, and remains unaffected by their seeming presence. This perfect state of consciousness is sometimes called the "Christ".

In this school students are taught that this state of "Christ Consciousness", together with the effects appearing in real experience, is attainable by completely by-passing the state of dual-consciousness at the human level. Slowly and surely one has to withdraw himself from reliance on any other help, belief or power appearing on the screen of sensual knowledge. Such is the task of the one who seeks to know Perfection - he has to become one with Perfection Itself. This means that no other form of knowing exists.

Disease and death, which are seemingly imperfect states, can have no part or presence in an already existing whole and eternal state. One cannot transcend and know the other. One has not attained Perfection until he has eliminated all transient knowledge from his experience.

To commence this journey, sometimes called "The Way", one should begin to purify his thoughts and actions. He should try to see that all creation is really rooted in the Perfect and Real State. Suffering, pain and death should be seen as but dreams, possessing no Power or Reality over man. One should learn that there is but One Supreme Life and Power being expressed here and now and that personalities are but false masks seeking to hide the Permanent Reality and Truth of Being.

Only then can the disciple come to know his Christed State - for in the words of Jesus, "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God" can be at one with that for which he has given up all things to attain.

Herein lies the knowledge that the organised institutes of "Christianity" have sought to eradicate by persecution and called "heresy", to put people off, so that they might establish power over the minds of the masses in teaching that there was only one "Christed One" and that he was a unique personality whom all should worship because only he could do anything for anyone. Many sayings of Jesus reveal that this dogma is a complete invention for he taught that many could become exactly the same as he.

We have mentioned before that the allegories contained in the Holy Bible give clues to important spiritual truths. In this lesson we will take a look at the deeper teachings and show you how to see that the Bible contains more than at first glance.

First of all let us remind you that there are many layers of meaning contained therein - from the simple teaching to the higher profound truths. You will also see that what we have already taught has been there all the time.

In Genesis chapter 2, verses 16 & 17, it can be clearly seen that the "fall of man" is represented in eating the fruit of the "tree of the knowledge of good and evil". This is at elementary level precisely what it means and why humans have given it other twists shows their desire to evade the real issue.

Chapter 5 of Genesis gives a list of the Patriarchs. In the Order of Melchisedek (which existed before the Flood) we give the names of Adam who represent second Adam who was our first agent in the flesh; Seth who was like unto Adam; Enoch a type of Christ; Methuselah who handed down the authority of High Priesthood to Noah who was to appoint his successor for the next cycle. Like his predecessors, Noah walked with God. In the Sumerian version of the Flood he, Noah, is referred to as Ziusudra - Sumerian, Utna-napishtim - Babylonian - this implies that names in themselves do not count as it is the allegorical meaning which is more important. Chapter 9 of Genesis tells of the re-instatement of God's Covenant with man. Chapter 12 brings in Abram, later Abraham, who through his discipline, the conquering of the five kings - of the controlling of his five senses, maintained the true doctrines and was visited by Melchisedek, Chapter 14.

In the introduction to the Book of the Cave of Treasures, translated by Sir Wallis Budge, he writes... "The narrative of the descents made by Seth and his companions from the mountain of Paradise into the plain is certainly based on historical fact; and though Melchisedek has not yet been identified in the Cuneiform inscriptions, there is every reason to believe that he existed, and that he was a founder of a pure form of religion, and a great ruler as well as a priest".

Because we are in a very important period for man this self-same Melchisedek is making Himself known to all who will receive Him.

Moses appears later because man had fallen deeper into materialism. Being fully trained in the tradition of the Priest Kings in the sacred line of Patriarchs in Egypt he was to lay the foundations for the coming of the very embodiment of the Christ Himself. By this final act it was the plan of the Hierarchy to leave the door of the mysteries wide open to all who fulfilled the teachings. No longer would people have to receive office at the hands of Archons or Hierophants; but could by their own efforts where-ever they were receive the "divine office" of a son of God. Since Jesus assumed the office of High Priest of our Order all work is operated from the "inner levels" of Divine Consciousness. This is one of the reasons why the Sacred Schools ceased to operate on the physical level during the period when Christianity became a dogmatic religion - hence the loss of power in the churches today. The secret fraternities and orders since this period (early 4th century) were inspired by agents from the "inner levels" but the organisation and administration of such societies was never under the authority of a "proper" Hierophant. It is only now in this period of the final stages of the plan of the Hierarchy that such offices will become reinstated because humans, more than ever before since the Flood, can come to realise their Divine Status. All work is operated, as we have said, from the "inner levels" and true information regarding the correct methods cannot be obtained by "psychic" investigation, divination or any other techniques which involve the use of the senses.

In the 6th chapter of Exodus is God's re-statement to Moses of the restoration of Divine Sonship to the faithful. In the terminology used Israel represents the "chosen ones" or those who live by the laws of God and Egypt represents the world of effects of the glamorous illusions of the senses. When the "chosen ones" were released from Egypt it was possible to build the Sanctuary - chapters 36-40. This also represents the saying of Jesus, "Where two or three are gathered together in my name (in the purpose of love and truth) there am I in the midst".

The first five books of the Bible are known as the Pentateuch, a Greek term, but to the Jewish people are known as the Law, or Torah. These books also represent the strict discipline of adherence to the Law before the higher mysteries of life can be understood. It is said that Samuel was also the head of a Sacred School.

Before the next important stage could be implemented there must be some people who had fulfilled the necessary obligations before the Teacher arrived. Moses had had visions of the next stage - the "Promised Land" - the reinstatement of man in the Garden of Eden. It should be noted that the Christ was referred to as the "Anointed One". This symbolised that He was of "Royal" descent. This "Royal" title indicates His office in the Order of Melchisedek - for it is said of the Patriarchs that they maintained the offices of Royalty, Priesthood and Purity within themselves. Melchisedek is the King of Salem - Salem is another name for Jerusalem; but the Jerusalem we speak of is the Holy City of God not built with hands - the abode of pure souls. Christ is also the Prince of Peace who wears the "Crown of Glory". Note the "Crown" indicates His state of attainment. Students of the Kabbalah will understand this.

Dogmatic Christianity teaches the importance of the worship of the man Jesus and bases its claims on the historical content of the four Gospels. Whilst leading theologians and historians agree on the fact that there is no historical evidence for the existence of the Jesus of the Gospels, the churches still maintain their dogmas.

Like the stories of the Old Testament the story of Jesus is an allegory and according to some - the gospels are really ritual manuscripts based upon the experiences which one must go through before he reaches enlightenment. However there are extant records to prove that a certain Jesus, or Jeshu, did live some number of years earlier than the "gospel" Jesus. There is also the references to the "teacher of righteousness" in the Qumrum texts which could also fit in. What we can say is that somebody did exist and give a teaching like that referred to in the gospels and that this is the doctrine of that which is understood as the Christ. The divinity of this man Jesus who embodied the "Christ" level of man's consciousness can be seen in the fact that he taught that this same quality or nature was in every man and that, as we have often repeated, we are all sons of God joint with him, but still the churches persist in putting him on a pedestal out of the reach of their congregations. However, we will not enter into a debate on facts. It is the teachings contained within these gospels which are more important.

The fourth gospel, as we have mentioned before, contains a christianised recapitulation of the earlier "higher level" teachings as one can see if it is read carefully.

The Acts of the Apostles tells the story of Paul and others and their experiences - again containing valuable allegories.

Now the controversial Epistle to the Hebrews is a document that has managed to survive the exclusion given to other books of a similar nature and reveals the actual keys to the attainment of the perfect priesthood - and as we often quote this epistle we will deal with some of the keys here.

Chapter 1 extols the supremacy of man as the sons of God and of his inheritance of kingship. Man is greater than the angels because he has extended himself out in to the perimeter of God's activity.

Chapter 2 explains the mystery of the divinity of man and the necessity of the One made Perfect to involve himself in the affairs of those who are subject to the illusion so that he can show them absolute proof of the Reality of man's place in the Divine Kingdom.

Chapter 3 deals with the necessity of sincerity and receptivity to the Truth before the experience of God's promises can be had.

Chapter 4 touches on the "time and space" notion which must be eliminated before the experience of the "rest" or fulfillment is accomplished. Verses 12 and 13 show the intense power of God to dispel illusion.

Chapter 5 stresses the importance of discipline by adhering to the principles before perfection can be reached. Many people today would have to commence right from the start before any hope of release was obtainable. Our teaching is directed to those who are prepared for the "strong meat" - which brings us to the message of* Chapter 6. All that we ever knew, or now know, must be stripped away and we are left with nothing save the absolute Power of God.

Chapter 7 assures us of our divine priesthood by a complete sacrifice to God. By living according to the teaching of this Order one becomes no more subject to the law, because his life is merged with the Source. This teaching is now available to sincere persons.

Chapter 8 refers to the reinstatement of man in the Garden of Eden. The pattern shown on the Mount is the state of the perfect man as apart from the people, or dwellers of the plains. The Cave of Treasures, or the abode of the Patriarchs, is situated on this Mount and according to the archaeologists the Garden of Eden is to be located on a mountain. A mountain represents that situation wherein one beholds the whole panorama of God's work.

Chapter 9 reveals the supremacy of God's nature revealed in Man. Without adherence to the ordinances rituals and ceremonies as shown at the beginning of Chapter 6. The former things must pass away before a "new" revelation can be understood.

Chapter 10. Here we have the faults revealed of the many who attend the various religions of other "spiritual" groups. Do we have to continue in the habitual observance or attendance to the existing set patterns? For example, particularly we have noticed in the "healing" groups, does one have to "pray" at regular intervals to be healed doubting that the first prayer was not heard or acted upon? Does the power of God manifest in little doses according to the times man sets aside for this to happen? Is God's power "controlled" according to man's devices? If one resorts to a repetition of his faith it shows that he does not really believe in the first place. Verses 26 and 27 shows how it stands at present.

Chapter 11 gives examples of what faith in the Ever-present Reality can bring about. Moses (verse 27) "saw" the invisible. This means that he possessed more than what is generally understood as being faith. This was not a blind faith but a true understanding of the nature of God.

Chapter 12. Here again is shown the pattern of events before one arrives at the "holy city" of God. This chastening is the kind of process which appears to the senses. The message of verses 12-18 is that one has to straighten himself out before he can enter the final mysteries. The personal training given by us is similar to this. The choice is that the candidate sees which side he is on. The more his illusions are stripped away the more his real nature is revealed. The degree of "suffering" is determined by himself.

Verses 21-23 gives the allegorical language of those who have attained.

Chapter 13. As respecting verses 1 and 2 it is possible to meet genuine "angels" in the flesh and by being responsive to the Reality one's awareness will be quickened by recognition of the fact. A subject reserved for personal students.

Verse 9 restates the need to remain unmoved by the illusions of the world.

Our True Heritage

Because, in Truth, all men and women are the Sons and Daughters of God, the Heavenly Father, we should not count ourselves as being of any particular earthly race or country. There can be no peace on Earth whilst there are those who dwell in their own darkness of racial concepts. There can be no peace whilst followers of Life, Light and Love refer to themselves as European, Asian or African, and squabble over territorial rights. To seek to possess land and large amounts of property, and to believe that one has a right to possess areas of this planet, and exploit them solely for personal gain, is one of the main causes of the mass suffering, of starvation and disease, of this age.

In the Epistle to the Ephesians, it is written, "Ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow-citizens with the saints and of the household of God." Yet Christendom remains divided on the issues it claims to follow. "Christian" still hates "Christian" and is willing to fight should one threaten the possessions of another.

This planet is a satellite of the Sun and it is upon the life-giving emanations from our Sun that all men rely for their existence. Even our very thoughts and the ability to think and to do comes from the Sun. Without the Sun we would have no consciousness or experience of being. In this light we are all Sons of the Sun. The Sun principle is the "Melchisedek" consciousness mentioned in the scriptures. It is the doorway through which every man must walk to become aware of his maturity and immortality. It is the way that all must go to awaken to the "fulness of the Godhead bodily" - the path of true gnosis - the Christ in every man revealed on Earth.

In truth every human is searching for Love, Happiness and Peace. Those whom we see as thieves, murderers and power-seekers are really looking through the dark veil of their own imaginings to reach their goal.

In reality every being is a beautiful star shining in the manifested world of God's own consciousness. According to the Gospel of St. John, God's word is the "Light of every man who came into the world". Thus, to the awakened Son of God, sects and cults (Christianity being one of these also) cease to exist. Every organised religion is simply a system of dogmas and doctrines invented by men who believe that within these religions they can help other to live an ordered life.

We have seen that all men are really seeking for the right way. The failure to achieve happiness is caused by the built-up ideas one has of one's self and and others - also regarding the laws of life.

Man has faith in many things. "Faith is in getting, or receiving", says the Gospel of Philip - "Love is in giving". The reign of Love and Peace on Earth does not refer to the supremacy of any particular organised religion, but to the expression of Love in every human heart towards his fellows.

The power behind the Christ Sun is the True Ruler of our Solar System and the Universe. The wonderful thing is that our Sun cannot be affected or mis-used by man in any way; neither can its purpose be thwarted or its power swayed. It is a living symbol of the nature of God. The Sun's nature and essence is Pure Love. This Pure Love is the Living Substance of all manifested Life. Therefore, all creatures are one and are united in the Oneness and wholeness of this Holy Love.

The Holy Love of our Sun cannot be organised by groups, neither can any knowledge of it be accurately defined by theologians, astronomers or physicists: it remains ever a mystery save to those who become its co-workers - the Sons of the Sun.

Helping our fellow men and women to find happiness can be likened to one seeking a loved one lost in a mist. The mist of human inventions clears and the loved one appears in the light just as he, or she, has always been, but unknown to him- or her-self.

The Holy Love of the Solar Consciousness, which is the symbol of the Ascended Christ or Melchisedek - the Order of the Perfect Man, can be reached in the heart of every human being by the recognition of the same. In silent communion with Cosmic Love we feel free. We share the vibrant up-lifting power that pulsates in the heart of every being throughout the Universe for the Universe is centred in man. In this untouched centre all Life is One. Love, Peace and Joy are the realities of this inner kingdom.

To find true happiness one should look beyond the doctrines of "good and evil". As long as we acknowledge the continued fight between two opposing forces, we are never going to be free. The Light and Love of God is shown in the life of every creature, therefore, nothing is either "good" or "bad" in a conflicting sense. When we can come to learn that all men and women are brothers and sisters in one large family, wars will cease. We come to love our "enemies" because we realise there are no enemies to hate. Pain and suffering too will cease because these are the effects of an inner conflict or wrong view of life. Health, wholeness, harmony and plenty are the sure evidence of a life free from the misguided philosophies of this world and human supposition.

Introduction

Most of the works about Gnosticism have been written from an orthodox christian's point of view. Even the publication and reviews of the Nag Hammadi Library has been the work of orthodox christians. The manuscripts contain an amount of Gnostic Teaching written in the familiar cryptic language which seeks to convey an inner spiritual meaning and does not relate to any actual "historical", or factual, incident of the people and places concerned.

Orthodox christians are so used to looking at an objective life and teaching of the man Jesus - whereas the name Jesus, his associates, his journeyings refer to spiritual processes actually taking place in the life of him who walks Jesus-like or Christ-like in his life here and now. The Gnostic "heaven" is a reality here and now. Because man reflects the eternal he cannot die - so he cannot expect "resurrection" from a state which never occurs!

"Resurrection", to the Gnostic, means leading an entirely new and enlightened life in the eternal moment.

To ask a Gnostic Christian if he believes in Jesus Christ does not mean does he believe in a person of this name who is supposed to have lived, died, resurrected and saved the world - it means does he believe in "the Way, the Truth and the Life?" That is - the way of a dedicated, pure life studying and applying the Truth or the Gnosis of the Soul.

* * * * *

There have been several books written about ancient Britain and many about the first "christian" church. Some argue for and others argue against the truth of the existing claims. The present day Christian Church has so overlaid its dogmas and doctrines over the facts and teachings of the Celtic Church that little is now known of what it really taught. The question can still be asked, "who was this Joseph who brought the Christos Cult to these Islands in the first century A.D.?"

What is more startling is the admittance, within the Scriptures, that the bible stories are but allegories. See Galations chapter 4, verse 24. Here, the supposed writer, Paul, gives us the clue. If this statement is taken to be correct then the complete "history" from Abram, anyway, is but an allegory. Thus the New Testament books giving genealogy of "Jesus" from Adam can have nothing to do with an actual living person.

In the light of the above then - all names of supposed living persons must conceal some other meaning than that of actual personalities. Melchisedek, Joseph of Arimathea Jesus and Mary, Peter, John and all the apostles contain hidden spiritual meanings instead.

Regarding the true facts on the historical Jesus let us see here where many researchers have tried, and failed, to establish any real evidence for the actuality of such a person. There have been, however, many people who have reflected similar happenings in their lives and have demonstrated remarkable powers and have taught "the way of enlightenment" to their pupils.

One researcher claims that he can "prove", without a doubt, that Jesus was Onias the Just and gives his data to support the evidence. Another does exactly the same thing and "proves" that the Gospel Jesus was modelled on Apollonius of Tyana. There is real evidence still extant regarding this teacher - proof is available of him actually owning a house. Then there is the Teacher of Righteousness mentioned in the Qumrum Scrolls - the writings of the Essene Brotherhood. Many prefer to accept him as this same Jesus.

Another group says that Jesus is the Jeshu ben Pandira mentioned in the Talmud for he actually lived and died exactly as the Old Testament predicted. Furthermore, there is one who can "prove" that the name "Jesus Christ" is never mentioned by the early Church Fathers but was the result of the agreement to join together the names of the Druid Sun God Hesus, or Yesu, with the Hindu saviour Christna at a council convened around the fourth century A.D.

A certain Muslim sect claims that Jesus was revived by medicines after the Crucifixion, lived to a ripe old age and was buried in Srinagar - they have his tomb! We feel that if the facts are true it should prove to be the body of Apollonius because it is known that he escaped death and went to study with the Brahmins and, possible, died there.

Recent archaeological discoveries by the Israelis reveal more disturbing evidence. They claim that many of the Christian sites such as the Via Dolorosa, the Tomb, etc. were not, or could not have been, in existence during the supposed time of Jesus so in spite of all the evidence that is possible to acquire the result is a stalemate.

When the men, who were trying to be honest about the background of the Christian Religion, wrote "The Myth of God Incarnate" there was a great outcry from those who were satisfied to rely on "belief only" - whether, or not, the facts could be proved. All the facts, to date, really show that, somewhere along the way, from the eighth century onwards, the allegories teaching a spiritual "Christ within" have become "carnalised into the belief in a man who actually appeared within the "time and space" area within the world and that "this man" was able to cancel out the "sins" for those who "believed in him". Let the happenings of the past centuries and the lives of the "christians" today speak for the proof of this event'.

The key, within the scriptures themselves, which was known by the Gnostic Christians, as opposed to the "christian" christians as they have been called, can be found in the writings attributed to one St. Paul where he warns of relying on, "endless genealogies", Titus 3 : 9, and we can discover that the "other Jesus" he mentions in 2 Corinthians 11 : 4 is the "historical" one which has to be proved by a genealogy, which, if his statement in Galatians is believed to be correct then he, Paul, must be referring to the Inner Cosmic Christ, within. See: 2 Timothy 3 : 16 & 17; Titus 1 : 1-3; Romans 16 : 25 & 26; Epistle to the Ephesians; Colossians chapter 1 and 2 : 9 & 10.

The mystical teachings that can be discovered in the Holy Bible, with the right keys, agree with the highest teachings contained in the books from the Eastern religions and indicate that a traditional knowledge, regarding God and man, has been known by initiates the world over stemming from around some 200,000 years ago. Thus this "Paul" is admonishing his students to follow the true Gnosis of God which can be discovered only within the area of mind. The "Gospel Jesus", in this light, is taken to be the pattern of experiences had by everyman who follows the path to the "Ascension" - or release from the illusion of "the world".

"Jesus", says the Gospel of Philip in the Nag Hammadi Codices, means "redemption" or the way to redemption. Nazarene refers to "the Truth". "Christ" the Messiah "the measured" or anointed. Thus "Jesus", the "Nazarene", the "Christ" indicates that the one following the discipline, or measure, the Nazarene, reveals the Christ, truth, in the secret, or hidden, name of Jesus. This teaching coincides with the hidden meanings, given for his name, in the Acts of John in the Apocryphal New Testament. To the Gnostics all Scriptural names and places represent the cryptic language of the Mysteries and not to actual persons or geographical locations.

The "Resurrection" of the "christians" is believed to be the man Jesus resurrecting from an actual rock tomb - whereas the Gnostic Christians, as revealed in the Nag Hammadi Codices, teach that the Resurrection is an already established spiritual Truth. To live the life of a "resurrected one" means that one will eventually experience this spiritual Reality in this life here and now - says these Scripts.

The Established "Christian" Church, along with many new sects today, have taught a Christ of "envy and strife" (Phillipians 1 : 15 & 16) and they have destroyed the very roots of that element of mystical union within their teachings which they could do with today. This church is now trying to use other props to support the movement by introducing such borrowed exercises from other teachings such as "christian yoga", "christian Zen", pop music and "miracles" that might swell the numbers within the congregations.

The Gnostics believed in a total Spiritual interpretation of the Scriptures as opposed to the "christian" christians who believe in an historical Christ. Since the recent publication of the Nag Hammadi Library it is possible that they will be ridiculed by narrow-minded readers. So accustomed are the Orthodox Church Theologians to giving a materialistic view of the Scriptures that an entirely misunderstood view of these Scripts might be given.

All Scriptures, including the Greek Mythos, were, and still are used by the Christian Ecclesia for they see these as mere devices, or systems, to help one awake to God-realisation - which is the goal and final destiny of everyman. As the Gospel of John puts it "the light that lighteth every man who comes into the world". This Light is the natural reality of being, veiled by earthly ideas and suppositions, which is imminent and transcendentant.

To try to interpret the Gnostic Scrips from a materialistic point of view surely makes nonsense of them. The strange allegories and seemingly "historical" happenings are never intended in Gnostic teachings to be physical realities. Thus, the average orthodox christian finds it most difficult to divorce the spiritual myth from its seeming disorganised appearance and as long as one looks for rationality and history he will never break the code of the Gnostic Cryptic language. In like manner as the Greek myths reveal inner truths so too - the Gnostic stories reveal the Gnosis of the Soul. So, which must be disappointing to orthodox Christians, this Nag Hammadi Library cannot reveal any more information, or facts, to prove the life of a historical Jesus.

To believe that the Eternal Christ has been "saving" mankind from ignorance for a mere two thousand years is evidence that those who believe it are still in darkness.

"Now we are told in Heb.vii.28 that "The law maketh men priests which have infirmity; but the word of the oath,which was since the law, maketh the Son who is consecrated for evermore." This Son,we are to understand, is a priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec, which, being interpreted, means King of Righteousness, King of Peace. As God sware by Himself there was a witness in Himself,and, as the Son is one with the Father, the witness is in the Son also; for there cannot be a Father unless there be a Son,nor a Son unless there be a Father. We have abundant testimony in the Bible that this Divine Nature is ours "by the Grace in which we stand". "For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the Sons of God".(Rom.viii.I4). "And I will be a Father unto you and ye shall be my sons and daughters," saith the Lord Almighty (2 Cor.vi. 8)."

" The Way of Melchisedec" by L.B.Whitney.

Light, as the physicists describe it, is a form of electro-magnetic energy emanated by the Sun or other source.

This light is divided up into many octaves for the purpose of observation and investigation.

Mankind is, physically, aware of only one of these octaves of light, among the many, in the whole range of electro-magnetic light spectrum.

In spite of all this man is under the impression that he can discover his origin - and that of the Universe - by the observation of a few particles put to test in a laboratory. This is the ignorance of man in activity. Forgetting that the Universe operates as a mighty, self-governed, unified Whole, man believes that he can learn the mysteries of this Universe by the observation of the behaviour of a single particle.

If a visitor from outer space were to land on a cannibal island he would, probably, assess the intelligent life on this planet by observing the behaviour of one human being. He might be tempted to say that all humans were dark-skinned, hunted with spears, and ate other people.

If man really desires to fathom the depths of the Univers he has to observe the movement of every Sun, planet, life-form and atom operating as a unified whole - in every dimension simultaneously - which is, of course, a sheer impossibility..

The Christ says "I am the Vine, ye are the branches". Can the branch of a tree learn the Source, Life and Origin of the Whole Tree? Can one unit know the experience of every other leaf, twig and branch of the Whole Tree? Not as a mortal can he ever come to know any of these things - so all that he has learned is but as ashes in the dust. The Whole situation could be likened to a man who believes that he can see all that goes on in a public park by looking through a pin-hole in the fence.

In spite of all we have said here we should not spurn the human condition for herein lies the key to the Hall of Double Truth which was portrayed in the mysteries by two features.

This means that the teachings of "non-duality" and "duality" are valid as far as human understanding can fathom. Can a feather scratch a diamond?

Our Sun is one of the mightiest of all visible symbols as evidence for eternal life. Its Light is the greatest "physical symbol to our five senses - for without the Sun all life in our Solar System; including all the ultra-dimensional aspects, would be non-existent - whatever one might believe about God or any other doctrines. To the Ancients the Sun was the very visible form of God, their actual Father, and they knew themselves to be, in very essence, Sons of the Sun. They possessed secret knowledge on how to commune with their Father knowing that they were the living forms of His Radiant Light Energy. This knowledge became "lost" as these True Sons were persecuted and murdered, through the successive generations, by those who sought political power - among those being the fore-runners of the established church and political systems of today.

What those within the established and publicly "recognised" institutions do not know is the knowledge of the already established "Spiritual" world which is peopled by intelligences that come and go within the "material" realm to help those struggling to free themselves from the illusory and false "sciences" in the world of materialism. The worldly sciences are founded on knowledge supposedly acquired by experimenting on life as it appears within the area of the human senses and this leads those engaged in such researches to make many contradictory and "dead-end" conclusions. To investigate any form of life one has to take into consideration the other many areas of consciousness in which form, or forms, are manifest. Unless a subject is understood from all its potentials, its true source and its relationship with all other forms, it is not rightly understood and so "specialised" or particular "branches" of science are invalid as far as true knowledge is concerned.

The established church is supposed to be an authority on "God" - yet still refuses to act on the information that this "God" reveals from time to time and still seeks to maintain its authority on outworn creeds and dogmas.. Divine Truths are continually being revealed to man according to his understanding of that Power Which Rules the Cosmos - and no person has the right to dictate or legislate what steps another MUST follow. The exercise of such powers shows a seeking for power over lesser minds to keep them in subjection to certain standards. The establishment is guilty of this at all times. Until one can free himself from the attachment of the teachings put out by the Churches, Universities and Colleges that are allied to the body Political he stands little chance of being reborn as a Divine Son of God.

This does not mean that one should immediately react and go all out against the way of the world - it is they who will react against us- as is usually the way. We are not against people; but against the systems they follow.

Because we are sincerely seeking to know the truth which makes us free we come to learn the TRUE way of Love and Wisdom - and so just quietly refuse to accept any other knowledge.

Quite a lot of knowledge, even in the so-called "spiritual" field is based, solely, upon supposition. For example, there is much discussion going on, during this time, about "Reincarnation". This is because many are trying to recall the "lost" teaching regarding this - for there was a proper knowledge of this subject transmitted in the schools before they were suppressed by the existing church. We say that unless one receives the true facts about "reincarnation" from within your own source you stand little chance of understanding it correctly. One does not find the answers in books.

There are many pseudo-sciences given out to the public in the understanding that these teachings are "esoteric knowledge". A few of the more well-known ones are popular astrology, tarot, ouija boards, numerology, talismans and some forms of "magic". Some popular forms of meditation do little more than relax the physical body and do not confer any awakening of true spirituality.

We would like to mention here that true spiritual development is not concerned with facts or figures as they appear in this area of the senses. Our Heavenly Father is not concerned with communicating information regarding the dates, numbers, or the size and shape of things. This misunderstanding has grown from the allegories appearing in the Holy Bible where God has supposedly communicated this kind of information. The Bible was written in Cryptic language so as to conceal the genuine teachings from the uninitiated. (We can also assure you that, in all the thousands of books that have been written on the mysteries and their teachings, that not one Initiate has yet divulged the true teachings. Such is the power of the Final Truths that they would destroy those who are unprepared.) The Universal Intelligence is not interested in our contributing to the arts and sciences, as some in charge of certain religious institutions believe. These are the transient and fore-ever changing aspects of our beliefs and unbeliefs. Today's moral standards are tomorrow's stumbling-blocks..

The Universal Intelligence, God, communicates only such information as is beneficial to our spiritual growth. This means that the true Spiritual Teaching is concerned only with the nourishment and growth of the "immortal soul" in each of us and does not always provide for the achievement of comfortable conditions and success within the material world.

Over the past half-century many interesting discoveries have been made in the fields of Spiritual Science. One or two groups, working entirely independent of each other, have re-discovered the true, legal and moral, techniques used by the ancient Sun Kings and Priests which enabled them to manipulate the right functions of community living and organise the conditions necessary for harmonious growth. These secrets are, however, still guarded by those concerned and form the basis for a return to the True and Ancient Religion that was followed by all men before the mythical Flood. This means that all that which is now publicly accepted as being "exoteric" or "esoteric" teaching is obsolete as far as the true doctrines are concerned. The "Golden Age" is again re-focussed in man's direction and he has now the opportunity to reclaim his original angelic nature. The Great Central Lodge of the true mysteries is again open to all.

From what we have said it would appear that there seems little to rely upon in the systems and teachings remaining in the world. What we are really saying is that man should look in new directions for his future existence. No matter how lofty any teaching appears in this world it is only a mere Shadow of the Real.

There is much talk about "lost secrets" and "secret powers"; but to the re-born Son of the Sun there is nothing hidden or lost.

Let each Son of Light greet the Sun of Righteous each day realising that Our Father is incarnate in each and every man.

We say that just as the revelations of the Christ some two thousand years ago cut across the teachings of that time - so does that which is now re-discovered cut across that which is, at present, accepted by many today.

* * * * *

The secrets of the power exercised by the ancient Sun Priests is based upon the hypotheses that everything we ever knew, now know and ever will know is emanated from the Sun's own "Spiritual Centre" because the Sun is an intelligent agent in its own right that is in communion, and operating in conjunction with, the overriding Intelligence of the whole Cosmos.

This means that all the forces, powers and energies emanated by the Sun are intermingled and evenly dispersed throughout the whole electro-magnetic Light beams. Thus, those waves and particles that are considered dangerous to the human organism by today's scientists are not dangerous when encountered in their oneness with the whole Light Spectrum. It is only when technologists isolate these "rays" to perform specific functions as "X-rays", "Gamma" rays, etc. that they become hazards to man when they are used indiscriminately.

Whilst certain other isolated rays such as ultra-violet is considered to have a damaging effect in humans it is known in the inner sacred schools that highly developed "spiritual" beings are capable of absorbing large amounts of "ultra-violet" rays and emanate the same in their normal existence. This means that the more "spiritually" evolved a person becomes the more adaptable he is to the "higher" frequency rates occurring in the realms of Light. This indicates that the many dimensions of conscious awareness and separate existence are all contained in the Sun's own physical organism, the Solar System, and the Sun's own "mind" or active Intelligence Quality.

It can be seen now why the great teachers stressed the importance of "Light" in their teachings. Light in its physical qualities is responsible for the worlds of form as we know them. Life, Colour and Beauty all stem from the sensual experience of Light in our physical bodies which are really co-agulated conditions of light energy. In fact if it was not for Light we would be non-existent.

The entreatment to "follow the Light" and to become "Enlightened" are encouragements to man to broaden his understanding regarding the Organism to which he belongs and not to get "bogged down" in his own narrow concepts. The seeker for Light is encouraged to adapt himself to become aware of the immortal nature within the whole realms of Light so that he becomes a more efficient vehicle for the God-Sun to use. Thus he becomes really a Son of the Sun.

Mortals, as we know them, perish at death and if their experience of "resurrection" has not been had in the human state they remain attached to the physical "living and dying" state until they have consciously come to know their true state. As "mortals" we are continually "experiencing birth and death". As Immortals we overcome the experience of "birth and death" and become actively conscious individuals in our immortal state and do not have our consciousness withdrawn as in the previous state when one was consciousnessless before returning.

Thus we possess a "continuity of consciousness". We become conscious of our immortality. One can readily see how one then knows where he has come from, who he is and where he is bound.

The physical light-body of man is, therefore, a computer in which all the knowledge of our Solar System is locked. Once man learns how to unlock the secrets of himself extraordinary powers are at his disposal. The keys to this unlocking were given during the candidates progression in the Sacred School.

These ancients believed that every organ, and part of their bodies had its corresponding Principle in the invisible worlds and by certain techniques, still known today, were able to align themselves with these other worlds therefore enabling them to commune with the intelligences in higher spheres.

To commune with intelligences in "higher spheres" does not mean the way it is done in modern spiritualism which, in the main, only acquires information relative to a "mortal" experience. There is a vast difference between information obtained from "passed over" humans (whose knowledge is relative only to the human state) and intelligences that are already at seemingly fixed parts within the Solar Hierarchical structure.

Genuine knowledge from the higher levels of being are concerned only with the ways and means of progression through the higher experiences in Cosmic Consciousness. Usually, messages obtained by "psychic" means are concerned only with encouraging us onwards in the philosophies and teachings we already have and can give us no new information past the temporary "post-mortem" states - whereas true "spiritual" information can be acquired only from the levels of consciousness that transcend the existing "post-mortem" states - that is - from humans that have supposedly "gone-onwards" or "forwards" within the "time and space" sequence of recent occurrences. The quest for advanced knowledge must transcend all that which is known within the mortal state and, as the ancient schools taught, to fully understand the teachings of the "Gods" or "Immortals" one has to first come into the experience of his own immortality - this is the true resurrection of the "immortal soul" in man.

This also indicates that those who believe that they can acquire "higher knowledge" or obtain true enlightenment without the observation and application of the true moral teachings contained in the already existing scriptures, as basic and incomplete as they may be, are simply deceiving themselves and their followers. Unless one has learned to discipline his unbalanced human nature and made an attempt to purify his thought processes he will not be ready for the more "advanced" frequencies of Solar or Cosmic Consciousness.

The Solar Teachings are the most ancient and natural teachings on this planet. They were preserved by the Patriarchs who were the Sun Priest Kings and who come and go through the ages to present the teachings anew.

The Solar Initiates are prepared to teach you if you are sincere and devoted to your personal enlightenment.

It is the Sun of God which is the Son of God for us.

The Life Essence in which we "live, move and have our being" is an Intelligence to be reckoned with. In spite of our own hypotheses and concepts about Life and our use or misuse of It, sooner or later we find that our human pursuits come to naught. The sooner we learn to co-operate with Cosmic Energies the sooner will humanity be liberated.
