Opening Council S. M.

(Outer and Inner doors closed)

M.—* Ill. Comp. of Tyre, shall we resume our labors in the Secret Vault?

✓ D. M.—Ill. King Solomon, it is my ardent desire to see the Secret Vault completed and the sacred treasures safely deposited therein, that I may return to my own country with the satisfaction of having faithfully discharged my duty to the craft.

M.—* Comp. C. of the G., are all present Select Masters?

C. G.—Illustrious Master, all present are Select Masters.

M.—Is our number complete?

C. G.—I find the number three times three.

M.—See that the Companions are in order as Select Masters.

C. G.—Comps., be in order as S. M.
(Comps. rise, face the E and give sign of pl ou ey.)

C. G.—Illustrious Master, the Companions are in order.

M.—* Comp. C. of the G., you will see that the Secret Vault is securely guarded.

C. G.—Comp. Steward, see that the Secret Vault is securely guarded, and inform the Sent., that the Ill. M. is about to open _____ Council, No. _____, of Select Masters. Direct him to take due notice thereof and guard accordingly.

Stew.—(Opens door without alarm) Comp. Sent., the Ill. M. is about to open _____ Council, No. _____, of Select Masters. Take due notice thereof and guard accordingly. (*Closes door and gives  , answered by Sent. *** ***)*)

Stew. Comp. C. of the G., the Sent. is at his post, and the Secret Vault is securely guarded.

C. G.—Ill. M., the Secret Vault is secure.

M.—Comp. C. of the G., are you a Select Master?

C. G.—I am acknowledged as such, and have wrought my regular hours.

M.—What are those regular hours?

C. G.—From IX at night until XII, the time when prying eyes are closed in sleep.

M.—Where were you greeted as a Select Master?

C. G.—In a legally constituted Council of Select Masters, assembled in a place representing the Secret Vault erected by K. S. under the Sanctum Sanctorum of the Temple.

M.—How many compose a Council of Select Masters?

C. G.—IX or more.

M.—When composed of only IX who are they?

C. G.—The Illustrious Master, Deputy Master, Principal Conductor of the Work, Treasurer, Recorder, Captain of the Guard, Conductor of the Council, Steward and Sentinel.

M.—The Steward's station?

C. G.—At the entrance to the Secret Vault.

M.— (All officers except Master, rise.) Comp. Steward, your duty?

Stew.—To guard the entrance to the Secret Vault with sleepless vigilance.

M.—The Cond. of the Council's station?

Stew. In the South.

M.—Comp. C. of the C., your duty?

C. C.—To prepare, introduce and conduct all candidates for reception and greeting, examine visitors and see that they are properly accommodated.

M.—The C. of the G's. station?

C. C.—In the West.

M.—Comp. C. of the G., your duty?

C. G.—To guard well my post, and suffer none to pass it but the select, the faithful, and the worthy; to aid in organizing and preserving order and decorum in the Council; to obey the commands of my chief, and be near at hand to see them duly executed.

M.—The Recorder's station?

C. G.—On the left (or right) of the Illustrious Council.

M.—Comp. Recorder, your duty?

Rec.—To observe the will and pleasure of the I. M. and record the proceedings of the Council so far as the same are proper to be written.

M.—Comp. Prin. Cond. of the W., whom do you represent?

P. C. W.—H. A.

M.—Your duty?

P. C. W.—To sound the silver trumpet at early dawn and eve of day, when the Sun's first and last rays gild the mountain tops, announce high twelve, and proclaim the time for refreshment and labor.

M.—The D. M's. station?

P. C. W.—On the right of the I. M.

M.—Comp. D. M., your duty?

D. M.—As the representative of H. K. of T., with the I. M. in Council, to exhibit the fellowship of Kings; to brighten the chain of friendship; to furnish memorials of the ancient craft, and to aid and support my chief in all the requirements of his office.

M.—The I. M's. station?

D. M.—In the East of the Ninth Arch.

M.—His duty?

D. M.—As the representative of Solomon, K. of I., in Council, to recite the secret traditions; to illustrate the moral principles of our order; to cherish the worthy, and hold in due veneration the ancient landmarks.

M.—Comp. C. of the G., what is the hour?

C. G.—Nine at night.

M. (rises).— Since it is nine at night, it is the time to resume our labors. The Companions will repair to their several stations, and after the regular alarm of the mystic nine, each will resume his labor as he may be directed. Give your orders accordingly.

C. G.—Companions, it is the order of the I. M. that you repair to your several stations and, after the regular alarm of the mystic nine, each will resume his labor as he may be directed.

Work R. M. Degree

(In this degree the M., D. M. and P. C. W. represent K. S., H. K. T. and H. A.)

K. S.—Comp. C. G., see that the Candidate is prepared and presented.

C. G.—Comp. C. of C. (response) Prepare and present the Candidate(s).

(The C C retires to the preparation room and prepares the Candidate by divesting him of his outward apparel, his shut sleeves turned up, wearing apron as a F. C., and places a golden bowl in his hand. They enter without alarm, pass down to the North-East corner of the room, where the P C W. as H A., stands at a table. There should be on the table several articles as described in 1st Kings, vii:48-50.)

C. C.—G. M. H. A., I have a piece of work for your inspection.

(G M. H. A. takes the bowl, examines it carefully and says.)

H. A.—This is a beautiful piece of work. The Companion who wrought it is worthy of the confidence of the craft and in due time shall receive his reward.

K. S.—G. M. H. A., what is the hour?

H. A.—High 12, I. K. S.

K. S.—It being high 12, call the craft from Labor to Refreshment.

H. A.—Comps., it is the order of Ill. K. S. that the craft be now called from Labor to Refreshment. Take due notice thereof and govern yourselves accordingly.

(K S. and H K T. retire from East H A. goes to the Altar. C. C. addresses candidate:)

C. C.—It is now high 12, at which hour it is the custom of G. M. H. A. to enter the S. S. and offer up his devotions to Deity.

(Conducts candidates to the West where they stand in line facing the East)

H. A.—(Prays. Discretionary, or the following:)

The Lord is my shepherd: I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His Name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever—Psalms, xxiii.

(As the prayer is concluded, the C C. and Candidate proceed toward the South, the C C saying)

C. C.—Grand Master H. A. having concluded his devotions, let us await his return by way of the South Gate.

(H. A. goes to Trestle Board in S E corner for Inspection As H. A. leaves Trestle Board, C of C with Candidate meet and stop H. A. at South Gate)

C. C.—G. M. H. A., when shall I receive the M. W.?

H. A.—My worthy friend Adoniram, I do not know that you will ever receive it, for it is agreed by S., K. of I., H., K. of Tyre, and myself, that the M. W. can only be given when the Temple is completed, and then only in the presence of all three.

(H. A. turns to pass toward the West, when he is again interrupted)

C. C.—G. M. H. A., suppose one of you three, even you yourself, should be removed by death prior to that event, how shall I then receive it?

(H. A. stops, stands meditating a few moments, then, taking the Candidate by the right arm, moves slowly around the Altar, going with the sun, saying:)

H. A.—Comp. Adoniram, death is a theme not lightly to be broached by those who are subject to its power. The young may die, the old must die, and the wisest knoweth not how soon. There is none that escapes the inexorable doom. The youngest E. A. upon the checkered pavement below dwells ever in the shadow of death, while the invisible hand extends equally above King Solomon on his ivory throne. We walk upon the ashes of the generations who have gone this way before us, to which our ashes must in turn contribute. It is not for me, Comp. Adoniram, to hope for an exemption from the common doom of man. I may not live to see the Temple completed; the M. W. may be lost, but if I die (in front of E.  and pointing down) it will be buried there.

(Circumambulates 2nd time)

H. A.—Comp. Adoniram, death terminates the labor of a man. Thenceforth the generations may build and occupy, but he will not be there. The teeming brain, the skillful hand, and the sinewy arm are alike useless and superfluous in the grave. As our Most Excellent King Solomon has said, "The dead know not anything; their love, their hatred and their envy is now perished; neither have they any more a portion forever in anything that is done under the sun." What an incentive is this to a faithful use of our time and our faculties, that we should build industriously while our strength endures, and labor to complete our work ere the week closes and the Sabbath of Eternity sets in.

My work, Comp. Adoniram, is not complete, though I have labored long and faithfully to execute it. I may not live to see the Temple completed, but if I die () pointing down) it will be buried there.

(Circumambulates 3rd time)

H. A.—Comp. Adoniram, it is through the gate of death that we find an entrance to the place of wages, refreshment and rest.

The Supreme Master of the Universe, before whom we bow in adoration, and whose All-Seeing Eye has marked our labors in the Lodge below, promises to spread before us, in the Celestial Lodge above, all the joys and glories of His Eternal Sabbath. After the strong hand of death has leveled all in the humiliation of the grave, the Almighty Hand of the Supreme Master shall prevail, and exalt every worthy brother to the glorious companionship of that undissolving Lodge. There the designs upon the Trestle Board will be seen completed. There the adoration of the 12th hour will be everlasting joy. There the noontide bliss will eternally shine. There the scales of doubt and darkness shall fall from my eyes, and the wise purposes of the Divine Architect will be displayed in all their splendor.

With this light of faith beaming upon me, Oh death, where is thy sting? Oh grave, where is thy victory? My hope, Comp. Adoniram, rests in the higher Lodge to which I am advancing. I may not live to see the Temple completed, but if I die () pointing down), it will be buried there.

(H. A. passes around to the East, leaving the Candidate with the C of C. in the South)

K. S.—(from floor) G. M. H. A., what is the hour?

H. A.—One hour past high 12, Ill. K. S.

K. S.—It being one hour past high 12, call the craft from Refreshment to Labor.

H. A.—Companions, it is the order of Ill. K. S. that the craft be now called from Refreshment to Labor. Take due notice thereof and govern yourselves accordingly.

C. C. (to Cand.)—The craft being called from Refreshment to Labor, we will repair to our labors.

(Pass out to preparation room)

SECOND SECTION.

(K S. and H. K T. seated in the East Gavel of H A. on his table, his chair or pedestal is draped in mourning. A period of time is supposed to have elapsed since the first section, during which the death of G. M. H. A has occurred C. of C with candidates in anteroom advances to door and gives * * * * * .)

Steward—Comp. C. of G., there is an alarm.

C. G.—Attend to the alarm.

Steward—(*Goes to the door and gives * * * * , opens door and says:) Who comes here?

C. C.—Comp. Adoniram, who seeks an audience with K. S.

Steward—Wait until your request has been made known and an answer returned.

(Closes the door and reports)

Steward—Comp. C. of G., the alarm was caused by Adoniram, who seeks an audience with K. S.

C. G.—I. K. S. (response) Comp. Adoniram seeks an audience with Your Majesty.

K. S.—Let him enter and be received under the wings of the Cherubim.

C. G.—(to Steward) Admit him.

K. S.—Comps. assemble West of Altar preparatory to forming Cherubim. (Cherubim is completed by interlacing fingers or by touching back of hands, and touching walls, beginning at South Wall, at time indicated by the reading of K. S.)

Stew.—It is the order of I. K. S. that you enter the Sanctuary and be received under the wings of the Cherubim.

(C of C enters with candidates and advances to Cherubim.)

K. S. (reads)—And Solomon made all the vessels that pertained unto the House of the Lord; the altar of gold and the table of gold, whereupon the shew-bread was; and the candlesticks of pure gold, five on the right side and five on the left before the oracle; with the flowers and the lamps and the tongs of gold; and the bowls and the snuffers, and the basins and the spoons and the censers of pure gold; and the hinges of gold both for the doors of the inner house, the Most Holy Place, and for the doors of the house, to wit, of the Temple.

So Hiram made an end of doing all the work that he had made King Solomon for the House of the Lord. And he set the Cherubim within the inner house; and they stretched forth the wings of the Cherubim, so that the wing of the one touched the one wall and the wing of the other cherub touched the other wall, and their wings touched one another in the midst of the house.

And behold I come quickly and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

Blessed are they that do His commandments, that they may have a right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city.

(As soon as this is finished the C. of C. and Candidate pass under the wings of the Cherubim and advance toward the East.)

K. S.—My worthy Companion Adoniram, why do you thus break in upon our meditations, and for what purpose do you seek an audience with us?

C. C.—Ill. King Solomon, the Temple is now completed; in all things I have endeavored faithfully to serve you, and I have now come to claim my promised reward.

K. S.—Companion Adoniram, it grieves me to inform you that I cannot now comply with my promise, nor suitably reward your long and faithful service by communicating to you the M. W. The word can only be given in the presence of three. Since my promise was made a great calamity has befallen the Craft. Grand Master H. A., as you are aware, has fallen, a martyr to his trust, the victim of a foul assassination. Neither the M. W. nor a key to it was found on or about the body, and by his death I fear the M. W. is forever lost. You must remain content with a substitute.

C. C.—Ill. King Solomon, your words recall to my mind a conversation I had with G. M. H. A. just prior to his death. On a certain day near high twelve I carried up a piece of work for his inspection. When the Craft was called from labor to refreshment I did not retire with the rest but lingered behind that I might speak to our Grand Master after he should have concluded his devotions and drawn his designs upon the trestle board. When G. M. H. A. was passing out by way of the South Gate I accosted him and asked when I might expect to receive the M. W. He replied that it was uncertain that I would ever receive it, as the M. W. could only be communicated when the Temple should be completed and then only in the presence of your Majesty, your illustrious Companion of Tyre and himself. Whereupon I said, "Suppose that one of you three, even you yourself, should be removed by death prior to that event, how shall I then receive it?" He did not immediately reply, but remained for a few moments in deep meditation, and then taking me by the arm, we walked slowly around the Temple courts three times. As we walked he discoursed in the most solemn manner on the subject of death, but assured me that even though he should be taken hence the M. W. would not be lost, and each time as we came opposite the East Gate he struck the ground and, pointing downward, said, "If I die, it will be buried there."

The Craft was soon after called to labor, and I returned to my work; nor did I ever again have an opportunity to converse with him upon this subject.

K. S.—Your story is fraught with deep meaning, Comp. Adoniram, and the information you have furnished is of the highest import.

My worthy Comp. of Tyre, how may we suitably reward Adoniram for the discreet silence he has observed regarding the disclosures just made as well as for his long and faithful service?

H. K. T.—Ill. K. Solomon, the faithful service of Adoniram, as well as the commendable discretion he has exhibited, should not go unrewarded, and as we cannot communicate to him the M. W., I propose that he be elevated to the rank of Inspector of Works, in place of him whose death we now mourn; and, as such position will place him in close companionship with ourselves, I further propose that he be honored with the title of R. M.

K. S.—My Ill. Comp. of Tyre, your suggestion is both wise and timely, and to it I cheerfully accede.

(C of C and candidates advance to the East and stand facing K S who descends and places the mantle of H A. upon the shoulders of the Candidate, changing apron to M. M.)

K. S.—Comp. Adoniram, upon your shoulders I place the mantle formerly worn by G. M. H. A., but before you can assume your new rank, or exercise the prerogatives of a R. M., it will be necessary for you to enter into a new obligation, which contains nothing that will conflict with any duty you owe to God, your country, your neighbor or yourself. With this assurance, are you willing to take the obligation? (Candidate answers.)

Comp. C. of C., conduct him to the C. of G. in the West, who will teach him how to advance to the Altar for the eighth time in Masonry in due and ancient form.

(C of C. returns with Candidate to the West)

C. C.—Comp. C. of G., it is the order of Ill. K. S. that you teach this Cand. how to advance to the Altar for the eighth time in Masonry in due and ancient form.

tarily placed themselves in a position to give the M. W., when suddenly realizing that one of their number was missing, they placed their hands upon each other's shoulders and K. S., pointing downward, asked "Wh do y s th?" H. K. T. replied, "A bkn Tr." Then both throwing up their hands, K. S. exclaimed "A". H. K. T. replied "P. H." HISTORICAL LECTURE.

(K. S. directs Candidate to rise and approach the East. Resumes his station and gives the following history.)

K. S.—After the S. S. was completed and a portion of the furniture deposited therein, Adoniram, on a certain day near high twelve, went there to deposit one of the holy vessels. At high twelve, when the craft were called from labor to refreshment, Adoniram did not retire with the rest but lingered behind with H. A., whose custom it was at that hour to retire to the S. S. for his noon-day devotions, after which he drew designs for new work upon the trestle board. Adoniram, knowing what his habits were, awaited him at the South Gate and asked when he might hope to receive the M. W. The conversation which ensued between the two craftsmen, and the soliloquy on death by our Grand Master became the foundation upon which was erected this degree of Royal Master.

This conversation having been related to King Solomon by Adoniram, the M. W. was deposited in the S. V., as will be more fully explained to you in the succeeding degree, to which this is preparatory.

After the untimely death of G. M. H. A., the two surviving Grand Masters instituted this degree of R. M. in token of their respect for his memory, and as a partial substitute for the M. M. degree. Being unable to form the Triangle in giving the M. W., as one of their number was dead, they substituted the Broken Triangle, being the nearest they could come to the original.

They first conferred the degree upon the noble Adoniram, and then upon other particular friends of H. A. As his friend, we now confer it upon you, and we give it as illustrative of the M. M. and R. A. degrees.

The furniture of the S. S., in the completed and dedicated Temple, consisted of many holy vessels made of pure gold, but the most important article there was the Ark of the Covenant, called the Glory of Israel, which was seated in the midst of the holy place under the wings of the Cherubim. It was a small chest, or coffer, three feet nine inches long, two feet three inches wide and deep. It was made of wood, excepting only the mercy seat, but overlaid with gold, both inside and out. It had a ledge of gold surrounding it at the top, into which the cover, called the mercy seat, was let in. The mercy seat was of solid gold, the thickness of a hand's breadth. At the two ends of it were two cherubs, looking inward toward each other, with their wings extended; which, embracing the whole circumference of the mercy seat, met on each side, in the middle; all of which, the Rabbis say, was made out of the same mass without any soldering of parts.

Here the Shekinah, or Divine Presence, rested, and was visible in the appearance of a cloud over it. From hence the Bathkol issued, and gave answers when God was consulted. And hence it is that God is said in the Scriptures to dwell between the Cherubim; that is, between the Cherubim on the mercy seat, because there was the Seat or Throne of the visible appearance of His Glory among them.

This concludes the degree of R. M. You will now retire with your Conductor, while necessary preparation is made for the succeeding degree.

K. S., entering preparation room, from outer room, is about to pass into S. V. when he is stopped by Zbd.

C. C. (speaking for Cand.)—Illustrious K. S., behold, thou hast long been pleased to call me thy friend, and yet I learn that there is a secret work going on with which I have not been made acquainted. How have I lost your majesty's favor?

K. S.—Thou has not lost my favor, friend Zbd, but I cannot now explain the nature of this work. Be content, for the time will come when a door will be opened for thy reception.

(K. S. opens door and passes into S. V., taking his seat in the East. All the candidates except one or two are now brought in and seated near East, so they may hear and see what is done in ninth arch.)

K. S.—Comp. H. A., what is the hour?

H. A.—Nine at night, Ill. K. S.

K. S.—My Ill. Comp. of Tyre, shall labor be resumed in the S. V.?

H. K. T.—Ill. King, behold, we three have erected this Ninth Arch of the Secret Vault, and it is my ardent desire to see the remainder of the vault completed and the sacred treasures deposited herein, so that I may return to my own country with the knowledge that though in the years to come our beautiful Temple may not escape the ravages of time and barbarous force, and death may have removed us beyond the veils of these earthly tabernacles, yet here may be preserved to future generations of our brethren the most valuable secrets of our Craft.

K. S.—My Illustrious Companion, thy desires are mine own. Companion Captain of the Guard.

C. G.—Ill. K. S.

K. S.—Summon the workmen and let labor be resumed on the S. V.

C., now enters alone through partly open door of preparation room, just inside of which Ahishar is asleep.*)

(C. G. at entrance to first arch)

C. G.—Who comes here?

Cand.—A worthy brother desiring speech with K. S.

C. G.—Give the S. W. and T. of yo en.

Cand. I cannot.

C. G.—An intdr! An intdr!

(Comps gather around Cand. with drawn swords. The three G M's enter hurriedly from the Ninth A.)

K. S.—Comp. C. G., what is the cause of this alarm?

C. G.—An intruder is entering the Vault.

K. S.—Put him to instant death.

(The C of G. raises his sword as if about to carry out the order of K S, when, suddenly recognizing the intruder, he stays his hand and exclaims.)

C. G.—Ill. K. S., are you aware upon whom you are about to execute this sentence? This is none other than your particular friend Zbd.

K. S.—Zbd! Comp. C. G., bid him flee and let him forthcoming with confidence, or you will show us the escape.

(C. G. places chains upon Cand. and retires with him to a place not near the rest of candidates.)

K. S.—(To H. K. T. and H. A.) Ill. Companions, let us return to the Ninth Arch for consultation. (They return to the 9th A.)

K. S.—My Ill. Comps., it grieves me that Zbd should have attempted to enter the Secret Vault without our permission. As you are aware, he has long been my particular friend and favorite. If it were possible, I should be glad to pardon him. My worthy Comp. of Tyre, what is your opinion?

H. K. of T.—Ill. King Solomon, our obligations are such that but 27 can be admitted. Our number is complete. How then can he be pardoned?

K. S.—My worthy Comp. H. A., what do you say?

H. A.—Ill. King Solomon, it would seem that curiosity and disobedience prompted him to enter. He should therefore suffer the penalty.

K. S.—It seems indeed impossible to save him. Let us return to the first arch and announce our decision.

(They return to the first arch.)

K. S.—Bring forth the prisoner.

(All candidates are now brought to the first arch.)

K. S.—My unfortunate friend Zbd, your curiosity and disobedience have cost you your life. I have consulted with my colleagues and find them inexorable. The nature of our obligation is such that I cannot pardon you. You must therefore prepare for death.

(C. C. and Cand. fall upon their knees.)

C. C.—Ill. K. S., I pray Your Majesty to remember my great and sincere attachment to your sacred person, your service and your secrets. Of late, finding a secret work going on with which I was not made acquainted, I feared I had lost Your Majesty's favor, and grieved in silence, until, unable to bear it longer, I humbly made known my fears to Your Majesty, when you directed me to remain content, for a door would soon be opened for my reception.

This assurance satisfied me. This evening, having important business to communicate to Your Majesty, I sought you, as usual, in your private apartment.

On finding the door open, I took it for granted that it had been left open for my reception and entered. I beg Your Majesty to believe that it was not curiosity or disobedience that led me hither, but fervency and zeal in Your Majesty's service.

H. K. T.—Ill. K. S., if this be true, Zbd is not guilty of the charge alleged against him. His offense was owing to an unguarded expression of your own. He ought to be pardoned and admitted one of your S. Ms.

K. S.—My worthy Comp. of Tyre, how can that be? Is not our number already complete?

H. A.—'Tis true, Ill. K. S., our number is already complete, but Ahishar, the Stew., is no longer worthy of our confidence. He is sleeping at his post. Let him be dismissed and executed, and Zbd appointed to the work.

K. S.—My worthy Comp., I thank you for this advice. It shall be done. Comp. C. of the G., let Ahishar be put to death instantly.

C. G.—Ahsr, Ahsr! Awake! Arouse! Thou art condemned to death.

Ahi.—Mercy! Mercy! Is there no mercy?

C. G.—None for you. It hath been extended to another.

(Taken out. C of G returns and reports)

C. G.—Ill. K. S., your order has been duly executed.

K. S.—'Tis well.

K. S.—Zbd, are you willing to take upon yourself a solemn obligation to keep the secrets of the Royal Vault?

Z.—I am.

K. S.—Then rise. Comp. C. C., free him from his shackles and conduct him to the altar.

SECOND SECTION

K. S.—Zabud, my Illustrious Companions being deeply impressed with the zeal you have displayed in our service, have, in unison with myself, determined to reward your devotion by admitting you to the secrets of the Ninth Arch.

God has revealed to us in His Word that this city and the temple which we are now erecting will, at some future period, be destroyed, the nation carried away into captivity, where the worship of the true God will cease for a time among them, and the forms and ceremonies which He has enjoined upon us to pursue will also be forgotten. To avert so dire a calamity from the Craft and the Jewish people, He has enjoined upon us in His Word to deposit the sacred treasures which the people most revere in a secret and secure place, for He has promised us that in three score and ten years he will restore this people to the land which they now inhabit, and He will put it into the heart of a Prince of the House of Judah to rebuild the Temple to His Holy Name, and He will give him a sign as a reward and encouragement for his zeal and fidelity, and the sign shall be the recovery of the Word.

(K S turns to H A., saying)

K. S.—My Worthy Companion and Master Builder, have the craftsmen completed the copy of the Ark of the Covenant?

H. A.—Illustrious King Solomon, the work has been completed, and I will have the Overseers of the Work place it before you.

(H A goes to the anteroom and heads a procession bearing the Ark into the room He superintends placing it upon the pedestal before K S. and remains at the end of the "A".

Lights, except those in the East, may be out or dim when the "A" is brought into the room.

Two or four companions bear the Ark and two companions follow, one bearing the Pot of Manna and the other Aaron's Rod.)

K. S.—The most mysterious and sacred piece of furniture of the Temple, the Ark of the Covenant, Israel's great palladium in battle, housed for so many years in caves of the mountains, or under tents in the desert, has at last found a resting place within the Holy of Holies of the Temple.

The Master Builder has prepared this copy of that Sacred Ark, and, also, imitations of the Pot of Manna and Aaron's Rod, to be placed herein as a memorial for the benefit of the Craft in general and the Jewish nation in particular. These are to be deposited here in the security of the Ninth Arch, that the memory of the sacred treasures so much revered by our people may not be lost through the vicissitudes of time.

H. K. T.—(Descends and after examining the characters on the Ark, says:) Here have been placed upon the sides of the Ark the date of the present Year of Light and the initials of our names.

(H. K. T. and H. A. remove cover. Take Pot and Rod from carriers. All carriers return to seats.)

K. S.—(Takes the Book of the Law and reads:) "And Moses said, this is the thing which the Lord commandeth; fill an omer of it to be kept for your generations, that they may see the bread wherewith I have fed you in the wilderness, when I brought you forth from the land of Egypt. And Moses said unto Aaron, take a pot and put an omer full of manna therein, and lay it up before the Lord, to be kept for your generations. As the Lord commanded Moses, so Aaron laid it up before the testimony to be kept."

H. K. T.—In humble commemoration of that divine command, I now deposit this imitation of that sacred Pot of Manna in this Ark, lest in time to come the people shall forget how, for forty years, their fathers, led through the wilderness by a pillar of cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night, were fed with that manna which fell from heaven, fresh every morning and new every night.

(H. K. T. slowly and reverently places the Pot in the Ark, and then K. S. reads further from the Law.)

K. S.—"And the Lord said unto Moses, bring Aaron's Rod again before the testimony, to be kept for a token."

H. A.—Obedient to that divine command, I now deposit this imitation of that sacred Rod of Aaron, which budded, blossomed and yielded almonds in a single night while laid up before the testimony in the Tabernacle of the Congregation and as a remembrance of how the fruits in their due season were fed to the C. of I. in their long wanderings through the wilderness.

(H. A. slowly and reverently places the Rod in the Ark and then K. S. reads further from the Law.)

K. S.—“And it came to pass when Moses had made an end of writing the words of this Law in a book until they were finished, that Moses commanded the Levites, which bare the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord, saying, Take this Book of the Law and put it in the side of the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord your God, that it may be there for a witness against thee.”

K. S.—For the information of future generations, should this Temple be destroyed, and its sacred vessels and holy furniture be defiled and dispersed among the nations, I propose that we deposit within the Book of the Law this Key to the characters on the sides of the Ark and engraved on the golden triangle upon the lid of the Ark.

(Rolls the key within the Scroll of the Law.)

K. S.—In further commemoration of that divine command, I now deposit this Book of the Law.

(H. K. T. and H. A. now place the lid on the Ark. K. S. gives three raps with the gavel on the corner nearest his right hand, hands the gavel to H. K. T., who gives three raps on the corner nearest his right hand, and hands the gavel to H. A., who does likewise and returns it to K. S., who says.)

K. S.—In order to perpetuate the true pronunciation of the M's. W., which was pronounced by those without our sacred mysteries, “Adonai,” the Great and Sacred Name has been engraved within the center of this golden triangle. On the sides of the triangle has been engraved the name of Deity in three languages of the Gentiles, the Chaldaic, the Egyptian and the Syriac.

Should the Children of Israel ever be carried into captivity and remain so long as to forget their mother tongue, on their return, by means of this key, if found, the Word may be restored.

(H. A., much impressed and following K. S.'s words closely, bends over the triangle and says.)

H. A.—The M's. W.?

K. S.—Yes, my friend, the M's. W. My Illustrious Companions, I now propose that we place our Grand Master's Squares on the sides of the golden triangle, so that should the wisdom of future generations discover and bring to light this copy of the Ark of the Covenant with its sacred treasures of deposit, it may be known and distinguished that this is the M's. W., deposited by us in this Year of Light. Here do I place the Square of the ruling Grand Master, Solomon, King of Israel.

H. K. T.—Here do I place the Square of Hiram, King of Tyre.

H. A.—Here do I place the Square of H. A., the Master Builder.

K. S.—(Raising his hands to heaven, says:) Oh, Thou wondrous hope of Israel, whose glory surpasseth the power of man to conceive, before whom we bow in humbleness of heart, behold us from amidst Thy glory in the heavens, and vouchsafe to Thy people on this occasion that protecting care and favor which is beyond the power of human tongue to proclaim; for, not until it has been announced that time shall be no more, will it be known on earth or in heaven how much we owe to Thee; then, when the books are opened, and the angels unfold the record, heaven's arches will re-echo with the songs that celebrate Thy glory.

(K. S. pauses a moment with hands uplifted and says)

K. S.—All is finished.

HISTORY.

K. S.—In giving the history of this degree, we revert to the building of the Temple.

Our three Grand Masters, S., K. of I., H., K. of T. and H. A., being in possession of the writings of Moses and the Prophets, well knew that if the Children of Israel deviated from the laws therein contained, their enemies would be let loose upon them, their cities and Temple sacked and destroyed, and all the sacred treasures of the S. S. would be forever lost. In order to prevent this evil, they agreed to erect a secret vault underground, leading from K. S's most retired apartment and ending under the S. S. or H. of H.

This S. V. was divided into nine arches or apartments. The Ninth Arch was erected by our three G. M's. as a place wherein to deposit a true copy of all the holy vessels and sacred treasures contained in the S. S. above; also, to meet in Grand Council to confer the M. M. degree when the Temple should be completed. There were employed on the other eight Arches, twenty-two men from Gebal, a city of Phoenicia, together with Ahishar and Adoniram, all of whom were well skilled in the arts and sciences generally, but particularly in sculpture. Their hours of labor were from nine at night until twelve, the time when all prying eyes are closed in sleep.

During the erection of this Vault, a circumstance occurred which characterizes this degree and upon which the ceremony of initiation is founded.

One of K. S's. particular friends, whose name was Z., discovered that there was a secret work going on with which he had not been made acquainted, and for a long time he grieved in silence. At length he complained to K. S., and received for an answer, "Be content, friend Z., the time will come when a door shall be open for your reception," meaning that when the Temple should be completed he should receive the M. M. Degree. This satisfied him.

One evening, having some particular business with K. S., he went to his most retired room in search of him, and, finding the door of the S. V. open, and not guarded as usual, by the Steward, Ahishar, who was sleeping at his post, he took it for granted that it had been left open for his reception, whereupon he entered and was dealt with as you have already learned.

When the Ninth Arch was completed, our three Grand Masters deposited therein an exact imitation of the Ark of the Covenant, and placed within it an imitation of the Pot of Manna and Aaron's Rod, and also a true copy of the Book of the Law, or all the writings of the Bible up to that period.

That it might be known by whom and for what purpose it was deposited, they placed on three sides of the Ark the initials of their names, and on the fourth, the time when, meaning, "Deposited in the Year of Light 3000, by S. K. of I., H. K. of Tyre, and H. A., for the benefit of the Craft in general, but the Jewish nation in particular."

The M. W. was then placed on the top of the A., engraved on a triangular plate of gold, on the sides of which, in certain mysterious characters, were engraved the Key or cover words, by which the M. W. may be revealed. A key to these characters was placed inside the A., in the Book of the Law, so that if the Children of Israel should ever be carried into captivity and remain so long as to forget their mother tongue, yet, on their return, by means of this key, if found, the W. might be restored; and that it might be known and distinguished as the M. W., when found, they placed on the top of the A. their three Jewels, one on each side of the triangle, knowing that a description thereof would be handed down to the latest posterity.

Thus was preserved the long lost M. W., now the G. O. W., or G. and S. N., which R. A. tradition informs us was first communicated by God to Moses at the B. B., and remained in use until near the completion of K. S. Temple.

It was then lost at the death of our G. M. H. A., and lay buried in darkness 470 years, when, as you are aware, at the building of the Second Temple, after the Babylonish captivity, through the merits of Jeshua, Zerubbabel and Haggai, it was again restored to the Craft, in whose possession we trust it may forever remain.

CHARGE TO THE CANDIDATE.

Companion, having attained to this degree, you have passed the circle of perfection in Ancient Craft Masonry. In the capacity of S. M. you must be sensible that your obligations are increased in proportion to your privileges. Let it be your constant care to prove yourself worthy of the confidence reposed in you, and of the high honor conferred, in admitting you to this select degree. Let uprightness and integrity attend your steps; let justice and mercy mark your conduct; let fervency and zeal stimulate you in the discharge of the various duties incumbent upon you; but suffer not an idle or impertinent curiosity to lead you astray, or betray you into danger. Be deaf to every insinuation which would have a tendency to weaken your resolution, or tempt you to an act of disobedience. Be voluntarily dumb and blind, when the exercise of those faculties would endanger the peace of your mind, or the probity of your conduct; and let silence and secrecy, those cardinal virtues of a S. M., on all necessary occasions, be scrupulously observed.

By a steady adherence to the important instructions contained in this degree, you will merit the approbation of the select number with whom you are associated, and will enjoy the high satisfaction of having acted well your part in the important enterprise in which you are engaged, and now having wrought your regular hours, are admitted to participate in all the privileges of a S. M.

(C. C. clothes Can. as a S. M. and conducts him to a seat.)

M.—() Comp. C. G., it is my order that _____ Council No. _____ of S. M. be now closed and stand closed until its next stated assembly, unless especially convened by order, of which due and timely notice will be given.

Proclaim this to the Companions present, that, having due notice thereof, they will govern themselves accordingly.

C. G.—Companions, it is the order of the I. M., etc.

M.—Companions, attend to giving the Sgs. (done)

(Battery as in opening.)

CHARGE AT CLOSING.

Companions, being about to quit (depart from) this sacred retreat, to mix again with the world, let us not forget, amid the cares and vicissitudes of active life, the bright example of sincere friendship so beautifully illustrated in the lives of the founders of this degree. Let us take the lesson home with us; and may it strengthen the bonds of fraternal love among us: incite our hearts to duty, and our desires to wisdom. Let us exercise Charity, cherish Hope, walk in Faith. And may that moral principle, which is the mystic cement of our fellowship, remain with us and bless us. Amen.

(Responses—So mote it be.)

M.—Comp. C. of C., attend at the Altar and close the Great Light. (Done)

M.—I now declare the Council duly closed. Comp. C. G., inform the Sent.

C. G.—Comp. Stew., inform the Sent.

Stew. (Opens door without knocks)—Comp. Sent., the Council is closed. Comp. C. G., the Sent. is informed.

C. G.—I. M., your order has been obeyed.

M.—*.

Prayer To Be Used in Councils on Occasion of the Death of a Companion.

“Our Father, as we stand in humility before the mystery of death we ask Thy pity for our ignorance and helplessness. Wilt Thou comfort and guide those who are saddened by the passing of our Companion, and ease their sorrow through fine memories and loyal friends. Help us to imitate his virtues, and to so live that we may achieve that immortality in which we believe. Inspire us to live lives which are manly, strong and clean, and to be worthy of eternal life.”
