The Grand Mystical Lodge

about us

The Grand Mystical Lodge is an international project which aims to create a global community of people who are interested in spirituality and mysticism in a wide range of meaning. The purpose and mission of the project is the personal and also collective development of members, particularly the extension of knowledge, abstract perception skills, artistic sensibility, understanding of social diversity in religious and spiritual range. The intention is to establish an international community to exchange experiences and to create a platform for future development of the project.

The project has started to develop as an internet presentation on social networks. Further expansion is planned.

At the beginning, The Grand Mystical Lodge offers readers experiences from our lodge, which has co-existed since 2004 in the heart of Europe. We continue to work and use our colleagues sources, who have experimented and educated themselves in esoteric and occult traditions for more than 100 years ago. We have several entirely unique materials, ancient occult practices, manufacturing processes as well as our own practice. We issued for the public 12 occult and esoteric books. Some of them have not been published in the world yet, as Grimoire Smrzovka dating from 1496. We also created an entirely unique handcraft bibliophilies like color printed CLAVICULA SALOMONIS with beautiful illustrated fonts or unrepeatable Marduk's diary - true occult diary created by still living experimental scholar. We offer you stories and materials that lead to enlightenment: some in a direct way, others with progressive education, but also with hidden mystery.

Please invite your active friends and colleagues. If you help us to expand our project to a sufficient size, we will bring you interesting competition with unique prices as well as creating other interesting offers.

GUARD YOUR SECRETS !

Science writes astronomical amounts for those who are convinced of the existence of the supernatural. But what is actually the true meaning of these deliberately provocative offers?

Already in the early years of the 20th century, devices that are supposed to help uncover the world beyond material existence, began to construct. Sophisticated recording technology is produced, special photographic processes are used. The mystical Horev club experimented the most with these inventions. It was a club which combined several strange factors. For example, it was a specific emulsion for coating photographic plates, special lenses filters, of course there was also the timing of exact astral time and very debilitating preparation of people, who participated evocations and ancillary works, was common. The results were really unique - photos of a human aura, spherical creatures, spiritual existence, or even a kind of "window" through the gap of time and matter. Such experiments were carried out and are still carried out in many occult lodges, completely out of the public eye, even outside access of ordinary members. You will never see books, propositions, publications from this experimental activity. We could say that the world is ready to accept such things - but the opposite is true. Nowadays, keeping secrets is much more important than it has ever been. And the reasons? Just look at what is happening with all alternative treatments and medications. If multinational pharmaceutical corporations cannot grab them for themselves, they will be outlawed through political lobbying. This is the work of official science. What cannot be monetised by science itself, controlled or at least heavily taxed, will not exist in the world at all!

So if you find any secrets - treasure it! Rudely and selfishly keep it to yourself. Without any remorse, without shame! That's the only way it will survive and will accompany you to the end of life.

BLACK MOON, JULY 26TH 2014

During this night, on July 26th 2014, the black moon is occurring in the zodiac sign of Leo. It is a period of your dreams and thinking about your aims, which you wanna achieve during next days. If you want your wish to come true, light a candle every evening from this black moon till a full moon.

Two mystical methods as old as humanity itself. They already existed in the most primitive human era and still exist today, in the modern era of technology, they are present in the majority of the population, although in a very limited form, as a religious aspect, speech or minor unconscious acts. With regard to the development of the ideas of quantum physics, we can even say that in the future world these methods will experience a big boom. The super-civilisation larded with mystical doctrine will certainly be very interesting.

Incantations and performing rituals is actually nothing absurd, as the limited scientific community tries to convince us. It is actually quite amusing that even the most renowned opponents of mystical teachings themselves carry a number of very intense rituals, they just don't understand the continuity; for which the science has a patent. Although the actual ritual was limited to a number of procedures, such as the systematic arrangement of things or ideas before starting work, teaching, or other activities, yet they are obsessed with the same ritualistic aspect as a human thousands of years ago. And that stack of papers and scientific tools replaced stone mace and lasso for hunting mammoths, it is also understandable for the scientists, I hope.

INCANTATION AND RITUALIZATION

However, rituals of the higher level, require something more than mere learned systems of our normal behaviour. In order to more accurately plunge into these mysterious terms, let's say that during ritualization we perform another, additional activity along with our intention, enabling us to ensure a smoother course or better result of our intention. Perhaps at this point we should say that if ritual practices didn't work, they wouldn't have survived for thousands of years. The tradition of our ancestors didn't consist of things that weren't verified by practice and experience. When a shaman healer couldn't heal, he was hit on the head with a stone and replaced with a new shaman. If something didn't work, there was no reason to repeat it. The fact that today we just don't understand such simple and logical systems is already a topic for another article. The ritual has always proved its functionality. But there is a rate of its present action. And this rate is directly linked with ourselves. Paradoxically, we can say that even a dour scientist carries out its ritualization activity a lot better, without hesitation, than people in occultism or esoterics. Therefore, the results are almost always significant. The same can be said for the placebo effect, which with no apparent cause - not exposed to any doubt - performs what should be performed. The word faith - an unshakable faith in the act itself - is crucial and it has to be long and carefully trained.

Trivial exercise, a game with old occult grimoires, with ancient scholars' manuscripts can be an excellent guide for us. Maybe once, after months and months of exercises, we can understand that the scholar was actually mentally so advanced that today their books are read by immature children with the mentality of pre-schoolers. Small, endlessly repetitive ritual actions with a simple form of incantation can be practiced until it starts to change the world around us. We just have to watch carefully how the world behaves and not be dragged by the herd like cattle from a corral fence to a corral fence. We must not subside in one exercise! Not skip to another, because it seems to us that nothing is happening. This undermines the will, faith in our abilities. Why should another exercise work, when the first one didn't work out?! We don't have to say it, our subconscious does it for us - and breaks a path toward that coveted doctrine, capabilities to ritualise and curse with excellent results.

In the world of heavenly will, in the world of the cosmic universe, there is no human morality! One of the things why the described mysterious doctrine won't work for occultists and esoterics is that all of them are Christians. Even the fiercest Satanists are Christians only. They work with concepts, definitions, principles and the moral laws of the Christian world. When you cross the threshold of that the universe has no moral boundaries and knows no Christian religion, you will see things around you beyond the next boundaries, the most mystical magic boundary.

ILLUMINATI & KABBALAH

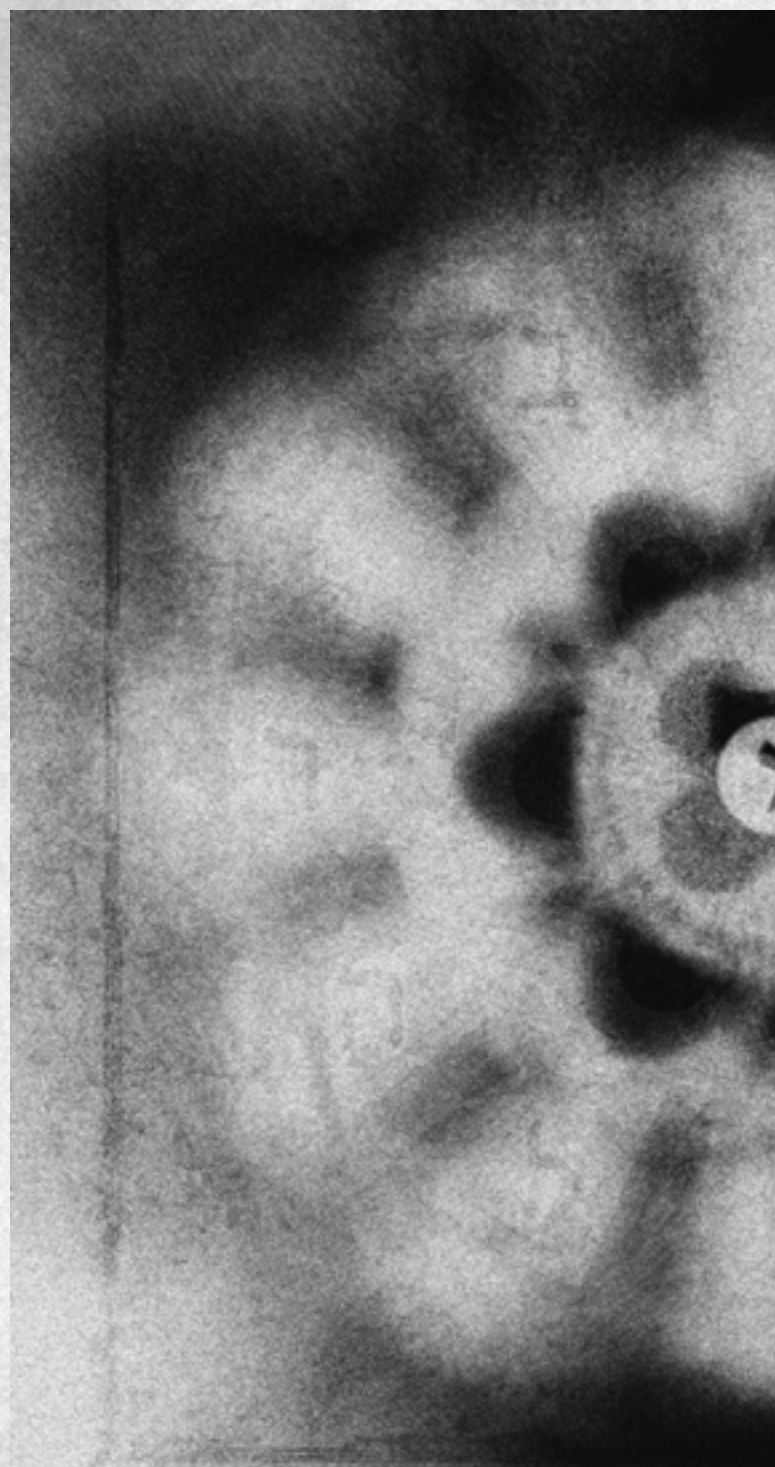

There are a thousand and one reasons to study, explore and dedicate time to Kabbalah. Kabbalah is a very old cultural tradition that shows the evolutionary way of human thinking, changes in religious discourses and demonstrates an important fragment to Illuminati, literally the key to understanding the natural human connection to spirituality, often changing into deep mystery in front of our eyes.

Although today, Kabbalah is mistakenly associated with Madonna's red niche tied around the wrist, it is a form of ancient tradition, where there was no such thing as religion. We must always realise the root of nations and their legacy that religion came to them much later, when they were forced by a modern academic public to squeeze into boxes, forms, and utterly incomprehensible boundaries of academic dogmas. Until then, there was no such thing as religion, only social cultural traditions with natural and understandable expression of piety.

The word "natural" is the alpha and omega of Kabbalah. The alpha and omega of a human. An absolute nightmare for the scientific community. Naturalness leads a human through the way of development by symbiosis with the environment - in everyday matter and absolute concept. Such a development is perfectly fine. It is not limited development through the way of academic dogma, which we mandatory follow, or we will face punishments for disobedience. This isn't a natural development, but dressage of slaves and animals. At the time of Heathen, thanks to this naturalness, groups of completely different religious traditions were able to coexist side by side, and no one was surprised about that. Even until very recently Jewish and Muslim communities quite commonly existed side by side, even though it was a Muslim country, the Jews had the right to exercise their own government for their minority on the territory. A beautiful example is the coexistence of the Celtic culture along with the incoming Slavic in the centre of Europe, at the time of antiquity. Cultures influenced each other, permeated with spiritual themes, adopted symbols, stories. Celts also accepted and tolerated the existence of the early Christians completely normally. The same also happened in Nordic countries. The fact that the world has always been full of belligerent conquests, had nothing to do with the spread of religion of another tradition - on the contrary - any crossing of cultures was then more like a thorn in the eyes of their leaders. Violent and fanatical genocides were introduced by Christianity, wanting to join the world as one flock with one pimp, so they introduced the dogma - religio, as an idol and proof of their superiority over other nations naturally evolving. Christianity has never had anything else. In the ancient times, there was only a certain form of Kabbalah in every culture, in every corner of the world.

It is a great and profound mistake to think that Kabbalah is only a kind of superstructure reserved for the Jewish faith. Who doesn't only sit at home, but goes through a practical
